14th DISTRICT COURTHOUSE: The former Bank Building, has since 1970, been the permanent home of 14th District Court. Built in 1901 by Frank P. Glazier, in memory of his father, George P. Glazier, the local banker, it had been the home of banks and businesses from the time of its construction until it was donated to Washtenaw county by Chelsea State Bank in 1969.

Former Bank Building Now Houses 14th District Court

Chelsea's banking institutions got their start in 1868. It was then that George P. Glazier of Parma and Michael J. Noyes of Chelsea formed a partnership and established the first Bank Exchange. Later on, a State Bank emerged from this partnership and, steady progress has been made since that time with two notable exceptions. One was the forced closure of Glazier's bank in 1907 and the second, the "Bank Holiday" of the 1930's.

Today in Chelsea, stands a mammoth stone structure, the former bank building and present location of 14th District Court. The building, constructed in 1901, was built by Frank P. Glazier in memory of his father, the local banker.

The younger Glazier followed his father's footsteps as president of Chelsea Savings Bank while establishing Chelsea's first interstate manufacturing business, Glazier Stove Works in 1891. But, by 1907, Frank P. Glazier suffered financial failure involving the Stove Works, the bank and all other interests.

One of a number of buildings constructed under the influence of Frank P. Glazier, the bank building was regarded as one of the finest of its kind in southeastern Michigan. The massive stone structure with mammoth stone columns in front and on each side of the entranceway attracted attention as soon as one approached from S.

Main St. and gave an impression of "solidity" and stability, those qualities characteristic of banking institutions. Upon entering the building, the visitor was greeted with the sight of huge mahogany doorways and marble casements and trimmings. Within the lobby, the full effect of banking architecture was realized in a splendid array of mahogany, marble and glass forming counters, paying and receiving windows and furniture. A flood of daylight, without direct rays from the sun, was cast over the entire business office from a dome in the center of the high ceiling.

Upon closure of the Glazier bank, the building was sold to Nathan S. Potter, a Jackson capitalist, of the Michigan Portland Cement Co., founded in 1911. The building served as the home of business offices until 1923 when the state of Michigan leased the property from the company for $75,000 per year with an option to buy. The state vacated the offices but operated the plant as an annex to the state prison, using convict labor wherever possible.

The vacant, imposing building was purchased in 1927 by another Chelsea bank, the Farmers and Merchants Bank, which had been organized in 1908. The announcement of the purchase from the Potter estate came the week of Feb. 24, 1927, following several weeks of consideration by the bank's directorate. At the time of the purchase, the institution's capital exceeded $50,000 with surplus and profits of $80,000 and assets totalling nearly $1 million.

On July 9, 1927, the Farmers and Merchants Bank moved from its former location on N. Main St. to its new and pretentious banking home. With the exception of a burglar alarm installed during remodeling procedures, the safe and vault were built at the same time as the building.

It was banking business as usual until Feb. 13, 1934 when, at the regular meeting of the Boards of Directors of the Kempf Commercial and Savings Bank and the Farmers and Merchants Bank, consolidation of the two was voted, subject to the ratification by a majority of stockholders of the two institutions.

The main reason for the proposed consolidation was to economize in operations and to provide broader banking facilities to the community. As of Feb. 24, 1927, approximately 250 stockholders voted, by a two-thirds margin, to ratify the merger of the bank to be known as Chelsea State Bank.

On Feb. 27, officers of Chelsea State Bank were chosen. Paul G. Schaible was elected president while vice-president and cashier was John L. Fletcher and Carl J. Mayer was chosen for the position of assistant cashier. Chelsea's two financial institutions, the Farmers and Merchants Bank, founded in 1908, and the Kempf Commercial and Savings Bank, established in 1876, ceased to exist as separate units and joined together with combined resources totalling approximately $1 million.

Chelsea State Bank remained in the Glazier bank building until March 1968 when all operations were moved into new facilities at 305 S. Main St., its present location. Construction of the new Chelsea State Bank building began in May 1967 on land purchased by the bank in 1966. Formerly located on the corner where a gas station and three homes that were either demolished or moved prior to bank construction.

Nearly Everyone Escapes Doldrums for Big July 4th Holiday

Grocery stores were jammed full of eager customers loading up for the holiday week-end. Hot dogs, hamburger, buns of every size imaginable, ketchup, mustard, relish and other barbecue staples were drained from the shelves of area markets as tentative plans for typical Independence Day feasts and activities became reality. Grocery baskets were filled with fresh vegetables, cases of beer and pop, snack foods, meats and other holiday staples.

The expressways heading north were heavily traveled, motor vehicles moving slowly and bumper-to-bumper in many interchanges. Cottages lining area lakes were filled with families, friends, couples and a pet or two. Traditional Fourth of July celebrations got their start earlier than usual.

Though the usual morning rush hours associated with week-days were evident during the first three days of last week, Thursday and Friday found the roads nearly barren of any vehicle transporting workers to their places of employment. Instead, I-94 was the route for many eager "thrill-seekers" hoping to find themselves a campground or park in which to pitch their tents, set up their campers or leave their trailers.

Families hauling boats, bicycles, motorcycles and other recreational equipment set sail for a place in the sun, some peace of mind and a week-end escape from the hustle and bustle and trials and tribulations of everyday life.

By Thursday evening, all but a few state campgrounds in the Lower Peninsula were filled to capacity; lakeshore hotels and motels followed suit. The Upper Peninsula, for the time being, remained relatively quiet.

Gas prices took a slight dip, facilitating easier or, at least, less expensive travel, boating or motorcycling.

From every available public grill, aromatic breezes offered the passerby a brief whiff of summer 1981. Hot dogs, hamburgers and an occasional steak or two sizzled throughout the area. Potato salad, macaroni salad, cole slaw were laid out in plastic bowls. Potato chips, Fritos, packaged and home-made dips lined red and white gingham-covered picnic tables throughout Michigan at both parks and rest areas.

Ice cold pop, beer and wine loaded multi-colored coolers and were clutched in the fists of thirsty people eager to celebrate the three-to-four-day week-end with the swig of a cool brew. Kool-Aid filled the stomachs of thirsty children frolicking with beach balls, Frisbees, and puppies.

Wastebaskets, filled to capacity—there never seem to be enough—overflowed with edible remnants of the day and empty packages and bottle caps.

Cheers and jeers echoed across the recreational parks as victory-oriented baseball and softball players took part in any of countless area games. Volleyball, golf, swimming, sailing, waterskiing and other participation sports earmarked July 4, 1981 like a favorite page in a classic novel.

Fireworks burst upwards, filling the skies with multi-colored streams of light. Firecrackers popped or exploded, depending on their intensity. Sparklers, held in young hands, flickered madly. Emergency flares lined the shores of waterways and lakes, giving the spectator feelings of unity with others participating in the festivities. Citronella candles in fishnet-lined primary-colored candle holders burned diligently, stunning eager, hungry insects.

Sunburns, mosquito bites, poison ivy, hangovers, stomach aches (a minor case of food poisoning, perhaps?) and exhaustion, never intentionally planned, were unconsciously beckoned from "vacationers" taking full or more than full advantage of the annual celebration.

Thriving on every last second of free time before being forced back to the monotony of typical daily life, hurried travelers, not anxious in the least to return to their "niche in life," haphazardly packed away their recreational equipment, foods and families and sped back to their modest homes in suburbia, already making plans and organizing thoughts for their next multiple-day escape from the "real world."

But how many of these people seeking the rest and relaxation of the Fourth of July even stopped to recall its origins either while enroute to or from or while enjoying their respective tourist spots. How many realized that in 1776 our forefathers fought for the freedoms we now enjoy, giving their lives to ward off oppression in order to provide their future descendants with a life more unrestrained than they ever could have imagined?

Think about it.

At an organization meeting held Monday evening, the Chelsea Board of Education set its millage request for the upcoming Aug. 15 special election and began establishing its priorities for the 1977-78 school year. The request was reduced from five mills to 3.8 mills in hopes of receiving an okay by voters in the Chelsea School District.

Monday night's Lima Township Board meeting erupted into a heated shouting match punctuated by cries of "recall" and "resign" aimed at Supervisor Robert Musolf, as the supervisor and board members failed in their fifth attempt to complete appointments to the Lima Township Planning Commission.

A two-hour tornado warning issued for Livingston and Washtenaw counties Friday, sent area residents scurrying for safety shortly after 9 p.m. that evening, when they were alerted to the danger of the approaching turbulence by a blast of Chelsea's weather warning signal.

Members of American Legion Post 31 convened recently to elect officers for the 1977-78 year. Voted into office were Larry Gaken, commander; Harold Halliburton, first vice-commander; Tom Franklin, second vice-commander; Herman Reed, chaplain; Merle Barr, Sr., historian; Lena Behnke, finance officer; and Garry Grossman, adjutant.

Legislation To Consider
Transportation Tax Package
The legislature will be shooting for year-end approval of a package of bills, being readied for introduction, to restructure and increase transportation taxes.

The legislation will come at a time when falling revenues from the current system of per gallon fuel taxes and weight-based license fees has already forced a few local road agencies to shut down for the summer and for other state and local agencies to institute cuts in service and maintenance.

Representative Mary Brown (D-Kalamazoo), who will sponsor the legislation, said the system needs to be restructured to provide tax revenues based more on the value of fuel because the increase in "the cost of gas and the cost of road construction and maintenance follows closely together."

The current system has not only failed to keep pace with inflation, but has actually taken a dip as fuel consumption falls and vehicles get lighter.

The proposal would change fuel taxes from 11 cents per gallon sale price to 11 percent on the wholesale price—currently about $1.20 for lead-free gasoline. As the wholesale price of fuel rises, so would the tax revenue as it would be computed on a percentage basis.

A flat $28 passenger vehicle registration fee would replace the current sliding scale starting at a minimum of $20. The average license fee is $26 on a 4,000 pound vehicle. With vehicle weights being reduced as a fuel economy move, state revenues would decline.

Truck licensing fees would be increased by some 30 percent.

And, more general fund money would be used to supplement public transit systems while distributing the funds under a new formula utilizing current allocations as a base.

Brown said she hopes for summer-long discussions by interested groups in order to allow for House approval by October. (The legislature will return to session following a summer recess in mid-September.)

Revenue estimates for the package are not readily available, but Brown said the concept of the tax system is more important now than the particular rates of taxation.

"The problem is there and needs to be solved and there are the vehicles. If someone can come up with a better mousetrap, they're welcome, but we need the mousetrap," she said.

Brown added that given the past history of gaining approval on tax measures, the timetable would be very tough to meet, but noted that conditions in the 1982 election would be worse.

Bill Davis, of the Michigan Municipal League and one of several representatives from local road interests enlisted to help devise a new tax plan, said there is a real need for more dollars.

He said it is a problem that every legislature in the country is facing or will face. He noted that Indiana already has moved to a fuel tax based partly on value and Minnesota has increased its tax to 13 cents per gallon.

Michigan needs to restructure its taxes because "continuing to tax vehicles on weight and tax fuel on gallonage is directly inverse to keeping up with our needs," Davis said.

Transportation Director John Woodford said he is not ready to endorse any plan but added two things need to be addressed—stabilizing revenues and allowing for future growth to deal with inflationary increases.

Woodford said he has not assessed how much money is needed by state and local road agencies. He noted he is only trying to fulfill a responsibility to operate and maintain existing facilities.

He said the reduced revenues have forced the department to eliminate about 350 employees, eliminate the "bare pavement" policy in the winter for all but a few high-traffic roads and eliminate roadside paving.

Your Health Options

By Beverly Chethik

Director of Health Education, Washtenaw County Health Dept.

When I was a young girl my doctor said I had a curvature of the spine. What are the chances that my son will have the same condition?

Scoliosis is another name for a "sideways bending of the spine." Although the cause for the curvature is unknown in 85% of the cases, there does seem to be a tendency for scoliosis to "run in families." A family history exists in about one third of the children who develop scoliosis.

Scoliosis is common in both boys and girls, but boys are affected less frequently and are less likely to have serious curvatures. For every six girls who are affected, only one boy has a curvature of the spine.

Scoliosis most frequently develops during adolescence. It is usually detected in children between the ages of 10 and 14—at a time when a child is having a growth spurt. The curve may increase rapidly, within a few months.

Regardless of "family history," it is recommended that all parents be on the look-out for early signs of scoliosis. Early detection is critical. If a curvature is identified before a severe curve develops, treatment may begin immediately and continue as the child grows rapidly.

It is recommended that parents observe their shirtless children from the rear, paying particular attention to the following:

—Is one shoulder higher than the other, or is one shoulder blade more noticeable?

—Do your child's hips tilt? Is one hip more prominent than the other?

—Is there an obvious curve when you "trace" your child's backbone with your finger?

—Does one side of your child's back appear more prominent when the child bends forward?

Parents who answer "yes" to any of these questions are advised to discuss their observations with their physicians.

Several school districts in Washtenaw county now provide periodic scoliosis screening for students. You might contact your school about a screening program.

YOUR HEALTH OPTIONS appears in this paper each month. If you have a health related question, please write to this paper, Attn: YOUR HEALTH OPTIONS or directly to the Washtenaw County Health Department, Health Education Office, Box 8645, Ann Arbor 48107.

Great Lakes Islands Are Top Vacation Spots

They loom up suddenly out of the water in the early morning mists. By mid-day, they are dark green emeralds sitting on a sea that can be gray, blue or green—or all three—on any given day. At night, they are black hulks on a lily sea... or all silver, if the moon is full. They are the Unknown Islands of the Inland Seas.

There are some islands in the Great Lakes that have been celebrated as prime vacation/resort destinations for thousands of visitors for the better part of a century—Mackinac Island, in the Straits of Mackinac; Belle Isle, in the Detroit River; and Put-In-Bay and the Bass Islands, in Lake Erie.

But the Unknown Islands of Lake Michigan, Lake Superior and Lake Huron—Beaver Island, South Manitou, Isle Royale, Les Cheneaux (The Snags), Drummond Island and Bois Blanc (Bob-Lo) Island—are pristine jewels were man can escape himself in an environment that has not changed appreciably in a thousand years. Let us begin.

Beaver Island in blue Lake Michigan—32 miles off the Charlevoix harbor—is one of the world's unique retreats.

Here are historical sights dating back more than a century, visitor accommodations, water sports, snow sports and miles of scenic beauty for relaxation or recreation.

Known as "Michigan's Emerald Isle," Beaver Island, 13 miles long and six miles wide is the largest and most extensively developed island in a group of 13.

Two car ferries and two air services carry visitors to the island. In the summer the ships make two or three round trips daily. Planes leave at the convenience of passengers. On the island are seven inland lakes, three of them providing good fishing for game and panfish, and hunting is excellent in the fall.

The island community of St. James boasts several stores, restaurants, bars, hotels, motels, a modern medical center, and other services.

South Manitou is a camper's paradise. As part of the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore, it is being preserved as a wilderness. There are three campgrounds on the island with plumbing available.

A motorized tour is available to see old farms and hear of their history, the tallest lighthouse on the Great Lakes, and the rusting hulk of the ill-fated "Francisco Morazan"—the libran freighter that went aground Dec. 1, 1980, during a Lake Michigan storm.

There is a virgin White Cedar forest with world champion sized trees, sand dunes that rival Sleeping Bear, the site of a once bustling community with an important harbor, and rare wild flowers growing in abundance.

There is also plenty to see and do within walking distance of the harbor and air field: lunch at the island marina or picnic on the beach, visit the Coast Guard Village, swim in the crystal clear water, or hike on unparalleled beaches.

Isle Royale, is a wilderness archipelago in Lake Superior, a roadless land of wild creatures, unspoiled forests, lake and scenic shore, accessible only by boat or floatplane. Here you are close to nature, whether camping, hiking, fishing, canoeing, or studying the hundreds of wild flowers, trees, mammals, birds or insects.

Forests dominate the scenery and the ecology of the park. Evergreens and hardwoods meet on Isle Royale and form an outstanding example of forest in transition. The interior and upland regions of the park have pure hardwood stands, whereas the cool, moist shores and lake borders tend to have mixed conifer forests.

More than 200 kinds of birds have been listed. The red squirrel abounds. Other common mammals include beaver, red fox and snowshoe hare. Moose are found throughout the park, and are often seen wading in the shallow inland lakes. The last wolf pack in the eastern United States, rarely observed by people, preys upon the moose, culling the herds and keeping the population down to levels the island can support in a delicate ecological balancing act.

Lodge and housekeeping facilities are available from late June to Labor Day.

Les Cheneaux Island. If there was ever a "water wonderland" it's the 35 beautiful wooded islands and channels of crystal-clear water located off the upper peninsula of Michigan about 35 miles east of St. Ignace in Lake Huron.

A visit to "The Snags" area offers exciting fishing for northern pike, herring, yellow perch and smallmouth bass. You'll find plenty of sheltered waters, too, for swimming, boating and water skiing.

The area is excellent for deer and small game hunting, fall color tours, and for snowmobiling. A number of communities provide services and accommodations and such other recreational pursuits as golf and tennis.

Drummond Island. This "Gem of Lake Huron" is located just off the eastern tip of the Upper Peninsula. It is reached by ferry from the village of De Tour and its 136 square miles consist of natural wilderness surrounded by sky blue waters.

Here you can see the remains of Fort Drummond, a British stronghold in the Revolutionary period, or you can visit the dolomite quarry, one of the largest in the Great Lakes area.

The waters off Drummond Island are famous for superb fishing and boating, and Potagansing Bay offers some of the finest duck hunting in the world. There is a full complement of recreational facilities, including a nine-hole golf course, tennis courts, yacht harbor, campgrounds and trailer parks.

Bois Blanc Island, in Lake Huron off Cheboygan in the Lower Peninsula, is 22,000 acres of prime wilderness hunting area, with approximately 60% of it owned and open to hunting. Some of the best deer hunting in Michigan, or the United States for that matter is right here.

For bird hunters, great flights of blacks, mallards, bluebills, teal, partridge, woodcock and Canada Geese make Bois Blanc a stopping place in their annual migrations.

There are also thousands of acres of virgin forest, sparkling lakes, and lush meadows for nature lovers in one of the last natural outposts in Michigan. Accommodations are available.

These are principal "Unknown Islands," perhaps the ones that are most accommodating to visitors. There are, of course, hundreds of others, most of them uninhabited, or limited to one or two families; but these seven, along with their better known relatives, make island hopping in the Great Lakes at once an exciting and restful vacation.

Theatre Workshop Plays Set for July 17

These are paragraphs written by children who are participating in the Children's Theatre workshop. They are telling about the plays they will be presenting Friday, July 17.

The Children's Theatre Workshop has started their rehearsals for the plays to be performed on July 17 at 6:30 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

One play, directed by Paula Haist, is off to a great start. The title is "Miss Louisa and the Outlaws." It's about an old one-room school teacher and her class when two outlaws choose the school to hideout until they can make their getaway. The teacher, Miss Louisa, using "courage," plans to hold them back so they will miss the freight train.

On July 17, at 6:30 p.m., the musical "Stormy Weather" will be presented at the Chelsea High school Auditorium. Tickets will be sold for 50 cents by members of the cast. Cast members are Amy Henderson, Pam Brown, Kris Mattoff, Christopher Walters, Charity Loring, Gayla Bauer, Kathryn Morgan, Kelly Ghent, Becca Lee, Jeff Mason, and Kathleen Holmes.

The play was written and directed by Doug Beaumont, assisted by Carin Brown.

"Hurray for Hollywood" is the title of one of this year's summer workshop performances. It has an excellent cast and a great director, Brian Myers. It will be staged Friday, July 17 at 6:30 p.m. The story consists of a group of people bound to Hollywood and what they go through to get on the American Bandstand show. We hope that you will come and have a good time with us on the 17th.

"Shoemaker and the Elves" is a German folk tale rewritten as a play by Bart Bauer. Lee Riemenschneider and Jill Schaffner, who play the shoemaker and his wife, are going to have everything taken away by the villain, an evil tax collector played by Dianna Parker. There will be a song and dance performed by the first, second, third and Boss elf, who are Amy Dmoch, Laura Comeau, Mercedes Hammer and Cindy Kvarnberg. The rest of the cast includes Kelly Kuzon as the lady, Shannon Fredette as the boy and Amanda Holmes as the queen.

Our play, "The Decision Maker" is originally written and directed by Phil Powers.

The play is about a little boy named Jonathon who is rejected from his group of friends until he comes across a large sum of money and is torn between giving the money back to the owner or teacher, police officer and served spending it. Will Jonathon make the right decision? Come to our play and find out.

Babe Ruth No. 1 Posts 3-1 Record

Chelsea No. 1 has gotten off to a very fine 3-1 start in the 1981 Babe Ruth League.

On June 23, Chelsea No. 1 traveled to Dexter and crushed the host team, 16-3, in five innings. Ron Dunn pitched three innings of excellent baseball, allowing just one hit. Jim Ritter and David Bushway each had one hit for Chelsea.

On June 26, Chelsea No. 1 faced Chelsea No. 2 and came out with a hard-won 11-4 victory. Jay Marshall pitched the complete game. Ron Dunn had three hits, a double and two singles while Darin Rowe, David Bushway and Jeff Salyer each contributed two singles each.

Chelsea No. 1 took their 2-0 record into a game against Manchester No. 2 June 30 and remained undefeated with a 9-2 victory. Jim Ritter struck out 10 hitters to take the win. Jim Toon had two singles as did Ron Dunn, who also added six RBI's.

Chelsea met Jackson at Jackson Friday, July 3. After falling behind early with a 6-0 disadvantage, Chelsea No. 1 fought back but lost, 12-7. Darin Rowe collected two singles for Chelsea No. 1. Jim Ritter hit a tremendous double.

Chelsea No. 1 now sports a 3-1 record under the leadership of Coach Akel Marshall.

Special Precautions Needed To Cook Meat in Microwave Oven

Microwave ovens can perform magic in minutes, but homemakers should be certain to allow enough cooking time to assure the complete doneness of pork roasts and chops.

Carolyn Lackey, Michigan State University Extension food and nutrition specialist, notes that pork must be cooked throughout to destroy any microorganisms that might be present.

Pork has been known to contain trichinae, she explains, small threadlike worms that cause trichinosis in man. Though trichinosis occurs only rarely in this country, anyone cooking pork should still take precautions against it.

"Cooking is the best way to make raw pork safe from trichinae," Lackey says. "Pork heated to 170 degrees F throughout is recommended."

Though most cooks are aware of that necessity, Lackey believes that the increasing use of microwave ovens mandates a reminder of the importance of following proper cooking procedures.

Microwave cooking involves different principles than cooking in traditional ovens, she points out.

"Microwaves heat the food directly," Lackey explains, "but do not cook the food from the inside out as some people think. When thick foods like roasts are cooked, the outer layers are heated and cooked primarily by microwaves, but the inside is cooked mainly by the slower conduction of heat from the hot outer layers."

Cold spots in a cooked product may result from variations in the distribution of water in the food, the uneven distribution of microwaves or the blockage of the microwaves by bone in meat. If temperatures in these pockets do not reach at least 170 degrees F, trichinae, if present, may not be killed.

Lackey advises that consumers follow manufacturers' guidelines for cooking meat in microwave ovens and recommends these additional precautions when cooking pork:

—Rotate dishes during the cooking period.

—Let the product sit for several minutes after cooking, as recommended by manufacturers, to assure more uniform temperature distribution in all parts of the product. (The effectiveness of the "dwell" time can be increased if the food is wrapped in aluminum foil after cooking.)

—After the dwell time, check various places with a meat thermometer.

If any part has not reached at least 170 degrees F, cook the meat more thoroughly. Be certain to check the temperature at the center of the cut and near the bone.

—If a meat thermometer is not available, make sure that no pink color is present in the meat of juice. Make small cuts next to the bone and into the thickest part of the meat to check for doneness.

Canadian Wheat to China

Canada sold 1.4 million metric tons (51.4 million bushels) of wheat to China, according to the Canadian Wheat Board, a federal grain marketing agency. It was the latest sale under an agreement that provides for the sale of a minimum of 8.4 million metric tons (306.6 million bushels) and a maximum of 10.5 million metric tons (385.8 million bushels) of Canadian grain to China in the three years ending July 31, 1982. Delivery will be made from Pacific Coast ports over six months, starting Aug. 1.

Future plans for fund-raising projects and a tour will also be discussed.

The picnic is a pot-luck with each one asked to bring a dish to pass and table service. Meat and beverage will be provided.

Patricia Paulsell Teaching Summer Class In Germany

Michigan State University German Department's eight-week summer study program in Mayen, West Germany, will be taught this year by Professor Patricia Paulsell of Chelsea.

Mayen is a town in a rural area called the Eifel, which is south of Bonn. In many ways, Mayen is similar to Chelsea.

There are approximately 30 MSU sophomores and juniors participating in the program. They live with families in Mayen and have classes in the town hall to study and discuss a variety of subjects regarding German language, literature, business, history, culture and government. Week-end excursions have been planned to provide first-hand experiences which supplement studies.

The group will also go to East Germany and West Berlin for a week at the end of August.

In addition to teaching the Mayen program, Dr. Paulsell will visit several German corporations that are sponsoring internships for other students who have completed courses in German Business Communications at MSU.

Eight students are now working for the summer in Germany at companies such as, Ford Motor, Ross, Thyssen Steel (Budd), Ex-Cell-O and Gehring. These students will improve their fluency in both conversational and professional German while gaining insight into the problems of doing business in the international marketplace. Each country has an American counterpart or subsidiary in Michigan and has been very enthusiastic with the MSU program.

Mrs. Paulsell will also host her family and in-laws as part of their tour of Europe this summer. Her daughter, Karen, a sixth grader at Beach Middle school, will visit Italy and Austria with her grandparents in July. Pat's husband, Don, will join all of them in Mayen during August to tour parts of northern Germany, to research genealogical records on the Paulsell (Baltzell) heritage, and to accompany the group to West Berlin.

In 1941, the UAW (CIO) won recognition at Ford Motor Co. after a 10-day strike. The union and the company signed a union-shop agreement—the first with a major automobile manufacturer, according to "Important Events in American Labor History, 1778-1978," a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Correction

In the June 23 issue of The Chelsea Standard, an error appeared in the 14th District Court proceedings. Charles P. Moore was sentenced on charges of impaired driving to $300 fines and costs to be paid by Aug. 1 or 15 days. The Standard regrets any inconvenience this may have caused.

With about $70 billion worth of Savings Bonds now being held by Americans, the government has a low-cost, relatively stable means of financing the public debt.

Food Safety Precautions Listed in Free Booklet

Sometimes you can tell food is spoiled because it smells "funny." That's your clue to throw it out, to avoid the dangers of food poisoning.

However, sometimes you can't tell. Germs that cause food poisoning often don't change the taste, odor or appearance of food. To help you know what to watch out for, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Quality Inspection Service has a new booklet. For your free copy of Food Safety, write to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 653J, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Poultry preparation requires special care. If you prepare the bird the day before you plan to cook it, store the stuffing in a separate container in the refrigerator. Don't leave it in the bird or it can get contaminated. Right before roasting, stuff the bird loosely enough to allow the heat to penetrate. Refrigerate leftover poultry and stuffing in separate dishes—within two hours after serving.

When you shop for canned foods, don't buy or use food from containers that leak, bulge or are severely dented or damaged. Don't buy or use jars that are cracked or have loose or bulging lids. Don't taste or use food that has a foul odor or any food that spurts liquid when the can is opened. These foods could contain botulism, a rare but often fatal toxin.

Home-canned foods improperly prepared cause most incidents of botulism. So, if you can your own vegetables, meat or poultry, always use a pressure canner. A boiling water bath, an oven, a steamer, or an open kettle will not heat low-acid foods enough to kill the bacteria that cause botulism. Always follow canning directions carefully, and take each step in order. Do not take shortcuts. Make sure your equipment is in good working order.

And what can you do when your freezer fails? If your freezer will be fixed within two days or if the power will go back on within that period of time, you'll probably be able to save your stored food. Keep the freezer door closed—don't keep opening and closing it to check on the food. A fully loaded freezer will keep food frozen for two days. A half-full freezer will only keep food cold for a day. And, meats that still contain ice crystals or have been maintained at 5 degrees Celsius (40 degrees Fahrenheit) for less than two days may be safely refrozen. Some quality may be lost, but the product is still edible. But, throw out any food that has an unusual color or odor. Never refreeze ice cream because it could be contaminated.

If it looks like your freezer will be off for more than two days, use dry ice. Place 25 pounds of dry ice in the freezer soon after the power goes off. A half-full freezer should stay cold enough to keep food for two to three days, and a full freezer should keep food frozen for three to four days.

When you order Food Safety (free) you'll also receive a copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the free Catalog lists over 200 selected free and low-cost federal consumer booklets.

Two Chelsea Students On Dean's Honor List At Adrian College

A total of 201 Adrian College students were named to the Dean's List for the spring 1980-81 semester. Among them, two Chelsea natives earned this distinction.

To achieve this honor, a student must maintain a 3.5 grade point average as based on a total of at least 12 credit hours of graded work. A grade point average of 4.0 translates into all-A work.

WCC Offers Free Workshop on Emotional Stress

Anger, irritation, resentment—expressing them is often difficult and repressing them can lead to depression. Washtenaw Community College and Networks-Counseling Center are offering a free, four-session workshop on Expressing "Negative" Feelings, to help interested persons deal with these emotions.

Classes will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays, beginning July 8. Suzanne Hallett, Ph.D. and Lorraine Lafata, facilitators for the workshop, say they will draw on group discussion and role play techniques to help participants build an awareness of how they can more effectively handle negative feelings.

There is no fee for this course, which meets in the Adult Resources Center, 140 Student Center Building on the Washtenaw Community College campus, 4800 E. Huron River Dr., Ann Arbor. Community members who wish to attend are, however, asked to register in advance. For information or to register, call College staff members at (313) 973-3528.

Views On Dental Health

By ROBERT A. BURNS, JR., DDS, P.C.

WHY DENTAL FLOSS?

Dental plaque is the primary cause of tooth decay and gum disease. A tooth brush can help remove plaque from visible surfaces but cannot remove it from between the teeth and beneath the gum line. Though waxed floss may be easier to use, either waxed or unwaxed floss may be used to remove plaque from these hidden areas. Here's how to use it:

Cut off about 18 inches of floss and wrap the ends around the middle fingers, leaving about 2 inches between the hands. Guide it with thumbs for the top teeth and index fingers for lowers. Pass the floss gently between two teeth, sliding several times to the gum and back along the side of one tooth. Repeat the scraping on the side of the adjacent tooth and move on until all teeth are flossed.

A word of caution: Always control the floss. Try never to snap the floss suddenly between two teeth as the gums may be sensitive. Use a gentle, sawing motion. If gums bleed, you may be flossing too hard, or they may be in poor health. It makes sense to have your dentist or hygienist demonstrate the flossing method to you. It will help insure the future health of your teeth and gums.

If you have dental health questions you would like to see answered, please mail them to the address below.

Real Estate

By PAUL FRISINGER
REALTOR

METRIC SYSTEM COMING

The real estate industry—and the country—is one step closer to metric measurements with a Senate bill passed in mid-December. The bill encourages voluntary conversion within the next two years on the part of industries and other groups. The Metric Board would serve as consultants to those industries undertaking conversion.

The National Association of Realtors has established a Metric Conversion Committee, whose objective is to identify both problems and opportunities as they affect the real estate industry.

What will it be like to sell real estate under the metric system? For one thing, inches, feet and yards will be replaced by meters, centimeters and decimeters.

More relevant to Realtors, land measures will be in square meters and hectares instead of square feet and acres. Space in buildings will be rented by square meters instead of square feet. Listing information on for-sale homes will probably have to carry dual sets of measurements for a period of time.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at FRISINGER REALTY CO., 935 S. Main St., Chelsea. Phone: 475-8681; evenings 475-2821. We're here to help!

File Float Plan With Coast Guard

Missing and overdue boats are one of the most common search calls received by the Coast Guard, usually from a worried relative or friend when someone has failed to return from boating within a reasonable time. Often the person reporting knows only that the missing party went "out somewhere in a medium-sized boat." The Coast Guard can only launch a general search in such a case with little chance of success.

The Coast Guard does not want to discourage the reporting of missing or overdue boats. It does, however, want to make the public aware of the benefits of filing a "Float Plan" before making any boat trip. The "Float Plan" filed with a responsible person on shore will save worry, time and money for all concerned. It saves worry because people on shore will know what time to expect you home instead of worrying when you are gone longer than they think you should be. It can save time if you are in trouble because the Coast Guard will know where to look for you and that can save you hours of discomfort or danger. It can save money in tax dollars saved by the possession of accurate information in a search case.

A "Float Plan" can be very informal: just the necessary information left with a responsible person on shore. This includes: (1) an accurate description of your boat including make, model, year, color, size, registration number and what communications equipment you have on board; (2) exact details of where you are going, including routes to be taken; (3) estimated times of departure and arrival for each leg of the trip; and finally, (4) names and ages of the people on board. Prepared "Float Plan" forms are included in many state and federal boating safety publications.

A "Float Plan," once filed, should always be updated with any changes of plan and terminated when you finish your trip. Frequently, extensive searches are launched for overdue boats only to find them safely tied up in harbor. Remember, it works both ways. When you are in trouble, you want help as fast as possible. Give the Coast Guard the information it needs through a properly filed "Float Plan" and, if you need help, the Coast Guard will be there.

For further information about float plans, contact Louise Walker, Flotilla Vice-Commander of Flotilla 17-03 of the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, at 313/662-5176, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily.

"South Pacific" Rated One of The Chelsea Standard

"South Pacific," the Pulitzer Prize winning musical play generally regarded as the best of the Rodgers and Hammerstein shows—on par with their other masterpieces such as "Oklahoma!", "Carousel" and "The King and I"—will be presented by the Chelsea Players at the Chelsea High school auditorium, July 23-26. Sue Williams and Joe Diederich, both residents of Chelsea, will be starred in this bittersweet romance of the war days on a South Seas island, as Nellie Forbush, the Navy nurse from Little Rock, Ark., and

Emile de Becque, the exiled French planter, of whom, in her indecision, Sue will sing two of the most famous songs of the show, "I'm In Love With a Wonderful Guy," and "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair." Joe, of course, will be singing the show's immortal love songs, "Some Enchanted Evening" and "This Nearly Was Mine."

The second rueful romance in this production will be enacted by Doug Beaumont and Heidi Van Blaricum as Joe Cable, the Marine lieutenant and Liat, the Tonkinese girl with whom he falls in love, and yet refuses to marry because of the racial difference between them. Both romances are touched with the accents of two worlds meeting, of alien individuals thrown together in a remote part of the world against the background of war's boredom and violence.

Ruth Kenny will play the part of the rowdy Tonkinese woman, Bloody Mary, eager to sell souvenirs and to profit in every possible way from the American troops on her island, who sings the haunting song about the nearby, other Eden-like island, "Ball Ha'i", as well as the memorable song of domestic bliss, "Happy Talk."

Ric Foytik will be making his stage debut in the role of the irrepressible Seabee, Luther Billis, the conniver, the flingler, the man of strategy and big dealer of the sort that was represented by at least one man in every war-time military unit in the 1940's. In this role, Ric has the assignment of leading the male chorus in the exuberant song of the woman-hungry warriors—"There Is Nothing Like a Dame."

Other leading roles will be played by Harland Wood as the peppery Naval Captain George Brackett, and Mike Long as a regulation Naval Commander, William Harbison. Portraying Emile's French-speaking half-Polynesian children, will be Don Matcheck as Jerome and Kerry McArthur as Ngana.

4-H EXCHANGE PROGRAM: Participating in an exchange program through their local 4-H clubs, 22 Iowans are in the Washtenaw county area this week, hosted by fellow 4-H'ers. The week-long activity is part of a reciprocal endeavor began last year when Beth Heller, Linda Bristle and Jon Goderis, among others, traveled to Crawford and Monona counties in Iowa last year. Local participants in this year's exchange include, front row, left to right, Jon Goderis, Wendy

Iowa 4-H Members Visiting Area in Exchange Program

Wednesday evening began a one-week exchange program between local 4-H members and persons sharing the same interests in Iowa. A total of 22 high school students from Crawford and Monona counties, Ia. are reciprocating a similar exchange trip held last summer. Local 4-H'ers involved in this project are members of the Rogers Corners Herdsmen and the Terrific Tailors. Eight of the visitors are currently spending their week with local families; others are scattered across Washtenaw county.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heller and daughter Beth, are hosting Jeanine Bieffeldt, 17, of Charter Oak and Penny Jo Sonnichsen, 17, of Deloit. Beth Heller visited the Bieffeldt residence during last year's program. Visiting with the Elmer Bristles is Tammy Klinker, 15, also of Charter Oak; Linda Bristle also participated in the program one year ago.

The Leonard McCalla farm is hosting 15-year-old Jurt Freese of Vale while the Dave Wolfgangs are playing host to Marilyn Chapman, 16 of Manilla and Kelly Henningsen of Denison, who turned age 16 Sunday. Visiting the residence of the Louis Goderises is Ronnie Collison, 15, of Blencoe. John Goderis was among the Chelsea group to visit Iowa early last summer.

Since their arrival, the Iowans have been through a group orientation period which outlined their main farming-based activities. Thursday, following the basic orientation program, members of the visiting group were shown through the Environmental Protection Agency on Plymouth Rd. Friday, activities included touring the University of Michigan Botanical Gardens and a luncheon, followed by tours of the McCalla swine farm and the Burmeister dairy farm on Steinbach Rd. in Ann Arbor.

A field trip to Independence Park was planned for Saturday as well as free time to spend with host families. Sunday, too, was to be spent as seen appropriate by individual families.

Monday's touring included a number of real tourist attractions including Greenfield Village, the Dearborn Hyatt Regency Hotel and the Renaissance Center in downtown Detroit. Finally, on Tuesday, visitors were treated to a tour of the Michigan State Police Crime Lab located in Northville.

Tuesday night, the visitors' final evening in the Chelsea area, will feature a swimming party as well as a family pot-luck and dance at the Farm Council Grounds. The group will head back to their homes tomorrow, July 8.

According to Mrs. Heller, the visitors were amazed at the number of trees in the area as well as the pavement of most roads. She explained that most of these 4-H'ers had never flown in a jet before and that they came from small towns where beans, corn, hogs and cattle were the typical crops raised.

Under the Black Lung Benefits Reform Act of 1977, miners disabled from pneumoconiosis (black lung) are eligible to receive monthly payments and medical treatment, and survivors can also qualify for benefits, according to the publication "U.S. Department of Labor."

Girls Softball Team Wins Two in Ann Arbor League

The Chelsea Women's Softball Club summer softball team opened play in Ann Arbor's 18-18-Year-Old Girls Fast-Pitch League on Monday, June 22 and came away with a close 5-2 win over Gabriel Richard.

Chelsea's ace pitcher, Amy Unterbrink, opened the season by striking out 13 batters and tossing a one-hitter at Richard. Unterbrink dominated the game from the mound while Shelly Weber and Lauri Cobb produced the winning margin with their bats. Weber led the hitters with two hits while Cobb drove in the winning runs with a two-run triple in the third inning.

Kim Boyd chalked up Chelsea's second win of the season on the following Friday against a young Dekter team. Boyd struck out seven batters in three innings of work while giving up just one hit and one run as the Chelsea girls took a commanding lead in the game.

Beth Unterbrink finished up the game for Chelsea on the mound as the Chelsea girls won, 28-3. Missi Lazarz and Amy Unterbrink led the Chelsea hitters with three hits each, as Missi collected two singles and a double, and Amy had two singles and a home run.

On Monday, June 29 the Chelsea girls again took the field with Unterbrink on the mound and came away with a 3-0 win over Little David's Muffler. Unterbrink improved her first outing by throwing a no-hit shutout against Little David as she struck out 17 batters of the 21 outs needed for the game.

Julie Patrick turned in a fine defensive performance in the field at shortstop in support of Unterbrink's pitching.

The Chelsea girls found runs hard to come by for their own team as Jean Haney, the Little David's pitcher threw a fine game. However, Lauri Cobb came up with the big hit of the game in the second inning as Missi Lazarz singled to lead off the inning and Cobb then drove an 0-2 pitch to the fence for a two-run homer with the winning edge. Chelsea picked up an insurance run in the seventh inning as Beth Unterbrink singled and Kim Boyd reached base on a fielder's choice and then Shelly Weber drove Boyd home after Boyd had stolen second and third base.

On Wednesday, July 2, the Chelsea Ann Arbor Traveling team, sponsored by the Chelsea Women's Softball Club, squared off against the Chelsea Howell Traveling team, sponsored by the Chelsea Recreation Department in a friendly doubleheader as both teams felt that they needed the game experience.

In the first game, the Ann Arbor team came away with a hard fought 19-4 win that saw two fine young pitchers square off in a pitcher's duel. Joann Tobin took the mound for the Howell team while Beth Unterbrink faced the Howell batters for the Ann Arbor team. Both teams started slow as Tobin held the more experienced Ann Arbor hitters in check and took a 3-2 lead into the fourth inning. However, the Ann Arbor travel team broke the game open in the fourth and fifth innings. Beth Unterbrink pitched her first complete game for the Chelsea Ann Arbor Travel team and gave up just four runs on four hits, walking eight and striking out six.

Donna Popovich led the Howell hitters with two solid base hits while Venus Roberts and Joann Tobin each collected a single. JoEllen Bell and Venus Roberts each scored twice. The Ann Arbor hitters were led by Cathy Doll and Shelly Weber with three hits each, while Ann Weber, Karla Peterson, Sara Comeau, Lauri Cobb, Amy Unterbrink and Beth Unterbrink each had two hits.

In the second game the Ann Arbor Travel team put together a nine-run second inning and five innings of no-hit pitching by Kelly Hawker to come away with a 13-1 win. Hawker struck out five and walked seven on her way to her first no-hitter in her first pitching appearance for the Chelsea Ann Arbor Travel team.

Shelly Weber continued to pound the ball as she collected three hits, while Julie Patrick, Lauri Cobb and Amy Unterbrink each had two hits. Coach Waller commented that the major difference in the two games was that the Ann Arbor travel team has more of the older girls from the high school varsity team on it and that "we are just a little older, stronger, and more experienced."

"The recreation team that travels to Howell played two excellent games. Karen Tobin, who coaches the Howell team did us a real favor in playing us just before our District Tournament in Ann Arbor" this Saturday. Joann Tobin and Donna Popovich are both fine pitchers and the experience of facing them should be a real help in our District competition."

SEC CHAMPIONS AND 18-18 LEAGUE CONTENTERS: The 1981 Chelsea High school girls softball team ended their season with a 28-5 over-all slate and were 11-0 in the Southeastern Conference, good enough to win them top spot in the conference. Now, many of the same players are participating in Ann Arbor's 18-18-year-old softball league and doing more than holding their own. Members of the team are, back row, left to right, Coach Charles Waller, Maggie Sweet, Amy Unterbrink, Ann Elisele, Amy Hume; middle row, left to right, manager Kelly Hawker, Lauri Cobb, Shelly Weber, Kim Boyd, Kim Schmid, manager Beth Unterbrink; front row, left to right, Jennifer Ringe, Cathy Wade, Cara Feeney, Kelly Hense, Anita Powell and Mary Jo Elisele.

The Orange Plus found themselves in a precarious position of having to use two pitchers for the first time. Michaela Scripser and Karen Weber put a good effort into their positions and were helped by Allison Chasteen who also had some time on the mound for the Orange Plus.

Spaulding Agency Plans Annual Ice Cream Social

Spaulding for Children is holding its annual Ice Cream Social and Open House on Sunday, July 19, from 2 to 5 p.m. Everyone is invited to come to the Spaulding farmhouse, on Waltrous Rd., south of Chelsea, for an afternoon of fun and relaxation.

Games, prizes, crafts, and a magic show done by Boyer & Fitzsimmons will delight young and old. There will be lots of food, ice cream and cake and time to relax with family and friends.

The farmhouse, which was given to the agency by Warren Spaulding, has been restored this year. Adults who are interested in seeing the Centennial farmhouse are welcome to come on the house tours to be given throughout the afternoon. The farmhouse is a symbol of the agency's work of finding families for older and handicapped children who have no family of their own, but live in foster care homes and institutions. The ice cream social is an opportunity for adoptive families and friends of Spaulding to gather together to celebrate belonging.

The Spaulding farmhouse is located just east of Highway M-52, 1 mile south of I-94. From M-52, take Jerusalem Rd. east to Waltrous Rd., and Waltrous Rd. south 1/2 mile. For additional information, please call (800) 475-8693.

EMU Regents Approve Hike In Tuition

Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents approved an 18.3 percent increase in tuition rates for undergraduate students who are residents of Michigan at its regular monthly meeting June 24. Tuition will increase from $30 per credit hour to $35.50 per credit hour.

Tuition for non-resident undergraduate students will be $89 per credit hour, an increase of $14 per credit hour of 18.7 percent. Graduate students who are residents of Michigan will pay $50 per credit hour, an increase of $8 per credit hour or 19 percent, while non-resident graduate students will pay $120 per credit hour, an increase of $15 per credit hour or 14.2 percent.

With the 18.3 percent increase, Eastern will still rank 13th or 14th lowest in tuition and required fees of the 15 state colleges and universities. Eastern is one of only eight of the state colleges and universities that did not raise its tuition at mid-year during fiscal 1980-81 to combat reductions in state appropriations.

Estimates of tuition increases at all of the state colleges and universities this year range from zero at Wayne State University (for lower division undergraduates only) to 34 percent at Saginaw Valley State College. The average increase among the 15 colleges and universities is expected to be approximately 16.8 percent.

The new rates will be effective with the fall 1981 semester.

There are more than 16,000 established trees and shrubs on the Michigan State University campus in East Lansing.

POT-LUCK PICNIC: Prior to the end of the regular school year, a pot-luck lunch was held for residents of St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys. Basking in the sun, the boys feasted on a variety of home-made delicacies before leaving to spend a week with their families before the summer session of school got underway.

St. Louis Boys Busy With Many Year-End Activities

The past month has been a busy one at St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys.

Friday, June 5, before the regular session of school was completed, a number of special activities took place. That day, the boys competed in Olympics-type competition, featuring assorted field events. Thereafter a pot-luck lunch was held.

Award certificates were later distributed to residents for their accomplishments during the school year and a special program of songs and skits, directed by Mrs. Judy Durgan, followed.

The boys then left for a one week visit at home with their families.

Beginning Monday, June 22, St. Louis residents returned for their summer program entitled, "Learning Together," a series of experiences which take the students from classroom learning to natural experience featuring a great many field trips and outings.

On June 30, the socialization portion of the summer program got underway. That day, a baseball game between the inmates at Cassidy Lake and the boys of St. Louis School took place. Then, on July 1, the younger residents traveled to Jackson to visit the Space Center; the older boys went to the Detroit Express-American League All Stars soccer game at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Friday, July 3, just in time for the Fourth of July holiday, all residents of St. Louis School again went home for a week-long family visit.

One-third of all American families own United States Savings Bonds. Their money grows at an average annual rate of 9 percent if Series EE Bonds are held to an 8-year maturity. Older Series E Bonds are now earning 8.5 percent interest per annum.

CLOWNING AROUND: Doodles the Clown entertains boys from St. Louis School, making balloon animals, telling jokes and "clowning around" in general during a recent all-school picnic prior to the end of the school semester.

School Lunch Alternative Plan To Be Tested

An alternative to USDA's present practice of donating agricultural commodities for the national school lunch program is to be tested in 60 of the nation's schools over the next three years.

USDA Food and Nutrition Service Administrator G. William Hoagland said 30 of the test schools will receive cash equal to the value of the commodities while the other 30 schools will operate under the current donation program. USDA said it will

Good Things Growing In Michigan

By Margaret G. McCall
It's time to join the robins' chorus, "Cherries are ripe." Cherries are among the good things growing in Michigan, and we have led the nation in production of red tart cherries for many years.

We don't do badly in sweet cherry production either, generally ranking fourth among the states. We're expecting a good crop of sweet cherries this year, and they should be available through July, so you can eat your fill.

Last year we harvested 58 million pounds of sweet cherries, 149 million pounds of tart cherries, according to Michigan Department of Agriculture statistics.

Sweet cherries are one of the healthiest snack foods, and healthiest, you can find. Kids love 'em, and so do adults. If you're in the Traverse City area or along the southwestern lake shore, you'll find roadside stands with washed sweet cherries that will sweeten your journey.

Since fresh sweet cherries are so good they need no embellishment, I almost hesitate to suggest other uses. But here's a favorite classic, Cherries Jubilee.

Prepare two pounds of sweet cherries by washing, pitting and stemming. Combine one cup of sugar, two cups water, and bring to a boil. Add the cherries and cook just until heated through—be sure not to overcook. Keep warm. In a small saucepan, heat 6 tablespoons of kirsch, cognac or brandy, ignite and pour over the warm cherries. Serve at once over vanilla ice cream.

You can poach the cherries ahead of time, then reheat and finish the procedure at the dinner table, using a chafing dish, to impress your guests with a flaming finale to dinner.

EMU Regents Approve Hike In Tuition

Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents approved an 18.3 percent increase in tuition rates for undergraduate students who are residents of Michigan at its regular monthly meeting June 24. Tuition will increase from $30 per credit hour to $35.50 per credit hour.

Tuition for non-resident undergraduate students will be $89 per credit hour, an increase of $14 per credit hour of 18.7 percent. Graduate students who are residents of Michigan will pay $50 per credit hour, an increase of $8 per credit hour or 19 percent, while non-resident graduate students will pay $120 per credit hour, an increase of $15 per credit hour or 14.2 percent.

With the 18.3 percent increase, Eastern will still rank 13th or 14th lowest in tuition and required fees of the 15 state colleges and universities. Eastern is one of only eight of the state colleges and universities that did not raise its tuition at mid-year during fiscal 1980-81 to combat reductions in state appropriations.

Estimates of tuition increases at all of the state colleges and universities this year range from zero at Wayne State University (for lower division undergraduates only) to 34 percent at Saginaw Valley State College. The average increase among the 15 colleges and universities is expected to be approximately 16.8 percent.

The new rates will be effective with the fall 1981 semester.

There are more than 16,000 established trees and shrubs on the Michigan State University campus in East Lansing.

POT-LUCK PICNIC: Prior to the end of the regular school year, a pot-luck lunch was held for residents of St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys. Basking in the sun, the boys feasted on a variety of home-made delicacies before leaving to spend a week with their families before the summer session of school got underway.

St. Louis Boys Busy With Many Year-End Activities

The past month has been a busy one at St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys.

Friday, June 5, before the regular session of school was completed, a number of special activities took place. That day, the boys competed in Olympics-type competition, featuring assorted field events. Thereafter a pot-luck lunch was held.

Award certificates were later distributed to residents for their accomplishments during the school year and a special program of songs and skits, directed by Mrs. Judy Durgan, followed.

The boys then left for a one week visit at home with their families.

Beginning Monday, June 22, St. Louis residents returned for their summer program entitled, "Learning Together," a series of experiences which take the students from classroom learning to natural experience featuring a great many field trips and outings.

On June 30, the socialization portion of the summer program got underway. That day, a baseball game between the inmates at Cassidy Lake and the boys of St. Louis School took place. Then, on July 1, the younger residents traveled to Jackson to visit the Space Center; the older boys went to the Detroit Express-American League All Stars soccer game at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Friday, July 3, just in time for the Fourth of July holiday, all residents of St. Louis School again went home for a week-long family visit.

One-third of all American families own United States Savings Bonds. Their money grows at an average annual rate of 9 percent if Series EE Bonds are held to an 8-year maturity. Older Series E Bonds are now earning 8.5 percent interest per annum.

CLOWNING AROUND: Doodles the Clown entertains some boys from St. Louis School, making balloon animals, telling jokes, and "clowning around" in general during a recent all-school picnic prior to the end of the school semester.

School Lunch Alternative Plan To Be Tested

An alternative to USDA's present practice of donating agricultural commodities for the national school lunch program is to be tested in 60 of the nation's schools over the next three years.

USDA Food and Nutrition Service Administrator G. William Hoagland said 30 of the test schools will receive cash equal to the value of the commodities while the other 30 schools will operate under the current donation program. USDA said it will examine the cost effectiveness, impact on food procurement patterns and impact on government agricultural price support and surplus removal programs of the two systems.

Good Things Growing In Michigan

By Margaret G. McCall
It's time to join the robins' chorus, "Cherries are ripe." Cherries are among the good things growing in Michigan, and we have led the nation in production of red tart cherries for many years.

We don't do badly in sweet cherry production either, generally ranking fourth among the states. We're expecting a good crop of sweet cherries this year, and they should be available through July, so you can eat your fill.

Last year we harvested 58 million pounds of sweet cherries, 149 million pounds of tart cherries, according to Michigan Department of Agriculture statistics.

Sweet cherries are one of the healthiest snack foods, and healthiest, you can find. Kids love 'em, and so do adults. If you're in the Traverse City area or along the southwestern lake shore, you'll find roadside stands with washed sweet cherries that will sweeten your journey.

Since fresh sweet cherries are so good they need no embellishment, I almost hesitate to suggest other uses. But here's a favorite classic, Cherries Jubilee.

Prepare two pounds of sweet cherries by washing, pitting and stemming. Combine one cup of sugar, two cups water, and bring to a boil. Add the cherries and cook just until heated through—be sure not to overcook. Keep warm. In a small saucepan, heat 6 tablespoons of kirsch, cognac or brandy, ignite and pour over the warm cherries. Serve at once over vanilla ice cream.

You can poach the cherries ahead of time, then reheat and finish the procedure at the dinner table, using a chafing dish, to impress your guests with a flaming finale to dinner.

Ask the Governor

Question: It seems like we're paying an awful lot for pop and beer since the "Bottle Bill" took effect in 1978. Has this bill been effective? Is the deposit really worth it environmentally?

Governor: Studies are showing that the bottle deposit law in Michigan has been greatly beneficial to our environment. A new study by the Department of Transportation shows that litter along Michigan's highways has been cut in half since the banning of throwaway containers in 1978. The law has played a significant role in helping the state to consume fewer natural resources, as a result of recycling and refilling. These processes also result in less solid waste which must eventually be buried in landfills.

According to a legislative committee report on the effects of the bill, each year 15,000 tons of aluminum and steel and 65,000 tons of glass are being recycled instead of buried in the ground. The ban also has resulted in great savings of energy, bauxite, iron ore and dune sand. The Department of Transportation's annual study on highway litter has found that a significant number of the cans and bottles picked up last year were throwaways from other states, where they are allowed.

It is a fact that prices have increased since the deposit law took effect. But the consumer price of these drinks—especially beer—is not an accurate measure of the law's effect in a time of high inflation when all costs are rising sharply. We also must take into account the savings incurred in state litter cleanup costs. We must consider, further, the value of maintaining Michigan's reputation as a pleasantly clean place to vacation, travel and live. An additional factor affecting beer prices is the restriction on brand competition. Proposals have been made to deregulate the malt beverage industry, lifting price advertising restrictions on these products and permitting a greater price competition. This could prove beneficial in generating competition between brands and, consequently, in driving prices down.

Bike Thefts Boom

Chelsea Police Department reported a rash of bicycle thefts in the village within the past couple of weeks. Bicycle owners are reminded to secure their bicycles so as to prevent loss of equipment.

Bicycles should be locked when left for any period of time and bicycle licenses may be purchased at the Chelsea police station at a cost of 50 cents per bicycle. Purchase of a license could very possibly aid the police in returning found bicycles that had been reported missing earlier.

A First Automobile, Built Later On

George Baldwin Selden filed a patent on May 8, 1879, on a self-propelled vehicle powered by an internal combustion engine.

Satisfied with that step at the time, he went no further. In later years, with the rise of many different auto manufacturers, Selden went to court to prove he held the sole patent. He went so far in 1904 as to build a working, full-sized model of his vehicle to prove it, but to no avail. Henry Ford and the Duryeas were allowed to continue their fledgling businesses. Selden's 1904 model of the 1879 patent machine is on exhibit in the Transportation Collection of Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn.

According to a legislative committee report on the effects of the bill, each year 15,000 tons of aluminum and steel and 65,000 tons of glass are being recycled instead of buried in the ground. Farm Management Tour To Visit Farms In Washtenaw County

How well does farming survive near a major metropolitan area? This is the primary question to be answered during the State Farm Management Tour July 16.

The event, to be held in Washtenaw county, with one stop in Wayne county, is sponsored by the Michigan State University Co-operative Extension Service. The nine farms were selected because of the quality of their management. The tour is part of Extension's effort to help increase awareness of sometimes unique farming practices.

MSU Extension specialists will conduct public interviews with each of the farm managers at 9:30 and 11 in the morning and at 1:30 in the afternoon. There will be no noon program.

The farm stops include one cash crop operation and two each of dairy, sheep, swine and beef. The stops are as follows:

CASH GRAIN—Keith and Barry Talladay, 6033 Judd Rd., Milan; program at 9:30 a.m.—This 1,700-acre operation is a corporation managed by Keith and Barry Talladay. It produces corn, soybeans, wheat and barley and about 300 head of cattle annually. The corporation also operates several farm-related businesses, including a 200,000-bushel grain elevator. The Talladays are experimenting with various fertilizing methods to compare productivity, returns and alternative production systems.

BEEF—Herbert Diuble, 7650 Waters Rd., Ann Arbor; program at 11 a.m.—Some 240 acres of cropland produce wheat, corn, hay and oats to support 55 purebred Angus brood cows. The main source of income for this farm is the sale of breeding stock.

Stanley and Beverly Post, 10389 Burmeister Rd., Manchester; program at 1:30 p.m.—the corn, rye and hay produced on 360 acres are marketed through more than 400 cattle sold annually. The feeding program consists of corn silage, wet brewer's grain and mineral-pack hay.

DAIRY—Earl Horning, 11834 Pleasant Lake Rd., Manchester; program at 11 a.m.—This 400-acre farm, founded in 1877, produces corn, alfalfa, wheat and oats to support a herd of 130 animals, 70 of which are milking. The DHIA rolling herd average is 11,000 pounds of milk per cow per year. The housing system includes a new heifer barn and calf hutches for raising young stock.

Leonard and Jim Burmeister, 5575 Steinbach Rd., Ann Arbor; program at 1:30 p.m.—The Burmeisters farm 340 acres, producing corn, hay and wheat to support 130 Holsteins, including 60 now milking. They DHIA rolling herd average is 16,000 pounds. New cow housing, a new milking facility and a card system for monitoring breeding and health are highlights of this stop.

SHEEP—George Lawton, 48101 Joy Rd., Plymouth; program at 9:30 a.m.—The Lawton operation consists of 30 registered Suffolks on 16 acres in the midst of a housing development. It's marked by efficient management and handling facilities.

Louell Roehm, 9221 W. Waters Rd., Ann Arbor; program at 1:30 p.m.—Roehm, a well known sheep shearer, has a commercial ewe flock of 266 animals on 194 acres. This diversified farm operation also includes some chickens, hogs, feeder steers and dairy cattle.

SWINE—Larry and Elaine Briggs, 10431 Platt Rd., Milan; program at 11 a.m.—The Briggs family operates a farrow-to-finish swine enterprise of 70 sows. Their three-way crossbreeding program uses Durocs, Hampshires and Yorkshires. A cash grain operation carried out on 1,200 acres—400 owned—includes corn, soybeans and wheat. Plans include doubling the number of sows and increasing the number of animals marketed to 2,000 per year.

Bill and Jean McCalla, 4100 Stone School Rd., Ann Arbor; program at 1:30 p.m.—The McCallas have about 50 purebred Yorkshire sows and 50 purebred Chester White sows. They sell about half of the stock they raise to commercial hog producers as breeding stock. The rest is marketed locally. They also raise 600 acres of corn, 200 acres of wheat and 20 acres of hay. A new 10-acre modular farrowing facility augments an older 24-pen unit. The enclosed finishing facility can handle 340 head at once.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Every year for the past three or four years, as well as this year, Chelsea Recreation has sponsored a Senior Miss softball team. Last year, the team was coached by Richard Ball and Cindy Barels, without too many complaints.

This year, the team is coached by Karen Tobin and again, Richard Ball. At the games it is not unusual to see the sidelines filled with parents and friends of the players, cheering and rooting for the team, which is great.

However, at the second game of the season, this was not so great. One of the players arrived over half an hour late which caused a conflict between the parent and coach. This was because the player was not allowed to play. During this episode, in front of players and parents alike, unreasonable language was used toward the coach. As a result, the player no longer showed up to play.

Another parent complained because her child did not play in one game. This was only because she had not been at practice for at least one week.

Again a complaint against the coach was brought about. A complaint also about a child not playing enough. This parent gave a strong impression that it was because of the players who registered late. Yet, if these players were removed from the team, there would be only four or five remaining.

As a result of these complaints and others, the team has had to face the loss of a coach. We would like all of the parents to know that it is not easy being a coach and if you think you can devote your time and effort and do a better job—LET'S SEE YOU DO IT!

Disappointed members of the team and the other coach.

WCC Workshops Slated July 13 on Sexual Harrassment

Sexual Harassment on Campus is the subject of two three-hour workshops at Washtenaw Community College on Monday, July 13. Section 1 will be offered from 9 a.m. to noon; section 2 begins at 1 p.m. and ends at 4 p.m.

Facilitators Susan Weiner, M.S.W. and June Gottlieb, M.S.W. say the workshops will explore the emotional, mental, and physical components of sexual harassment on the campus. Participants will become aware of what sexual harassment is, what their rights are, how to deal with a harasser, and where to go for help.

The workshop, co-sponsored by Tapestry, will meet in the Adult Resources Center, 140 Student Center Building, on the main campus of Washtenaw Community College, 4800 E. Huron River Dr., Ann Arbor. There is no fee for either section of the workshop, but advance registration is requested. For information or to register, please call College staff at (313) 973-3528.

Rec. Council Nets $1,700 in Popcorn Sale

Within just two short weeks, the Chelsea Recreation Council, with the help of youngsters and parents, raised in excess of $1,700 to help alleviate the high costs of this season's youth softball programs.

The successful popcorn sale featured decorator tins and/or multi-pack popcorn complete with salt and oil, and was under the fine co-ordination of Warren Porath, a member of the Recreation Council Ways and Means Committee.

According to Lynn Fox of the Recreation Council, the sale went very well and members of the Council are very pleased with the whole-hearted support and response from the community.

Distribution of popcorn began late last week and is expected to take less than one week to complete.

John Baker, president of the Chelsea Recreation Council, expressed sincere appreciation to both parents and children who took the time to participate in fund-raising activity to benefit Chelsea's highly popular and widely attended softball program.

Benefits under the Black Lung Benefits Reform Act of 1977 are administered by the U.S. Department of Labor's Office of Workers' Compensation Programs, according to the publication "U.S. Department of Labor."
