Spraying Advised As Precaution Against Encephalitis Outbreak

To combat mosquitoes carrying Eastern Equine Encephalitis, the Michigan Department of Public Health has called for limited ground spraying of Malathion in northwest Washtenaw county, northeast Jackson county and southeast Ingham county, thereby reversing an earlier decision not to spray.

This spraying will be done primarily at public campgrounds with large numbers of campers, such as the Waterloo and Pinckney Recreation Areas and will be performed by Michigan Department of Natural Resources personnel. The ground fogging, according to health department instructions, should be performed nightly. In addition to the fogging procedures, birds are being trapped and mosquitoes collected in hopes of learning more about EEE.

Silver Lake and Half Moon Lake beaches have not been scheduled for spraying and are used primarily for day use. Nevertheless, three campgrounds within Waterloo Recreation Area—Portage Lake located in Jackson county and Green and Sugar Loaf Lakes in Washtenaw county—will receive the Malathion fogging in hopes of destroying the EEE-carrying mosquitoes which breed in the swampy areas interspersed throughout the recreation area.

Still, some apprehension exists. Spraying must be done during the evening and with all of the Waterloo wetlands, if one spot is sprayed, the mosquitoes can breed elsewhere.

All public campgrounds and recreational facilities within the area where cases of Eastern Equine Encephalitis have been confirmed, have been posted with health department letters warning patrons of the disease and precautions that should be taken to help avoid contact.

According to Barry Johnson of the Washtenaw County Health Department, the Village of Chelsea has been recommended to spray for mosquitoes within the village limits to reduce the chances of possible exposure to the highly fatal Eastern Equine Encephalitis. Three cases of the disease that has killed eight

Economics To Top Fall Legislative Agenda

The fall legislative session will be dedicated to improving the economic conditions of Michigan. Both the governor and legislative leaders have placed the highest of priorities on legislative solutions to aid in making the state a better place to maintain a business, expand one and/or relocate new ones.

Governor William G. Milliken and Republican leaders reached agreement at a summit on Mackinac Island on the basic outlines of an economic development plan that would receive legislative action this fall.

Details of the agreement, however, were not announced to allow for discussions with Democratic leaders, labor and business interest groups.

Management and Budget Director Gerald Miller did say that over the next three years, the plan could mean some $2 billion in individual and business tax cuts. He added, however, that state income tax cuts would not be part of the package.

The package would also deal with workers and unemployment compensation changes; incentives for small business, high technology and foreign trade and investment; and increased promotional programs to attract new businesses.

Miller said the workers compensation changes could actually be the most significant part of the tax package. Changes in the tax structure would include single business tax and property tax relief.

Meanwhile, Senate and House Democrats have a plan of their own designed to give business tax incentives and property tax relief to make Michigan a better place to live and do business.

Milliken later announced he will recommend legislation to help state businesses take advantage of research and development in the new federal tax cut law.

The governor, who along with California Governor Edmund Brown, Jr., recently led a National Governors' Association Task Force on Technological Innovation, said the tax bill can cause a very significant flow of research and development funds in the state.

The tax cut measure includes a 25 percent tax credit for increases in research and development expenditures and contains special incentives for university projects and for industry donations to university programs.

Milliken said the state tax programs could include economic incentives or special state efforts to make Michigan businesses aware of available federal incentives and to help them take advantage of them.

Both the executive office and the legislature are thinking business climate this summer and aiming toward programs this fall to solve some of the problems plaguing state businesses and industries.

It remains to be seen how quickly they can pull together to accomplish these goals so necessary to the health of the state.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

It's been said that reason is what sets us apart from the rest of the animals. We can do it, and they can't. But if you had of took in the session at the country store Saturday night, you would of got the idea that a heap of our reasoning is unreasonable. The fellers discussed research that man's reasoning and questioning has got him into.

Clem Webster kicked off the session with a report that his old lady had got a reminder of some of the odd turns of human nature at her yard sale the Saturday before. She put out a sofa that had been stored in the barn since she replaced it five year ago. She wanted to git rid of it, so she put a "free" tag on it. By the middle of the afternoon nobody had moved it, so figgering Clem was going to have to lug it back to the barn anyhow she priced it at $35. Five minutes later, Clem said, she saw two wimmen arguing over which one saw the sofa first, and which husband could load it in which pickup.

You just can't figger folks, Bug Hookum allowed. He had saw where the State of California is using a $860,000 National Highway Safety Council grant to pay drivers $55 a day to smoke pot, drink liquor and drive. The idea, the article said, is to find out what these drugs do to drivers. What Bug wanted to know is how finding out is going to make California roads safer. If they don't know yet what driving drunk can do, spending another $860,000 ain't going to help, was Bug's words.

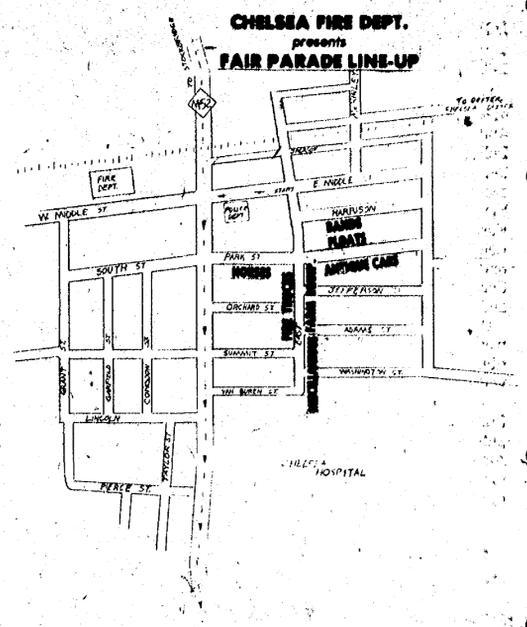

Meanwhile, Zeke Grubb reported, research at Arizona State University has found jogging hogs have better looking legs, but that what they eat is more important to their health. Students tested 54 pigs, dividing them in three groups and feeding them different. Some in each bunch was chased around a track a mile ever day fer five months. The joggers and the student chaser got in pritty good shape, Zeke said, but the pigs that eat fat-free food and laid in the shade done best. All this proves chasing hogs is one way to git students to exercise, or that the better a hog eats the better a hog is to eat, or that hams that run in the sun is leaner than hams made in the shade. Zeke said he ain't sure which.

Ed Doolittle tossed a project in the pot. He had saw where Denmark has come out with a new improved egg. A factory there takes eggs out of their old fashion shells and reshapes em into longer eggs that are easier fer airlines and restaurants to handle. Fer sure, Ed said, when you can invent a better egg somebody's bound to beat a path to your door.

Personal, Mister Editor, the best project on the agender was separate research at the University of North Carolina, John Hopkins University and in Israel that showed folks that go to church at least onct a week have better blood pressure, fewer heart attacks and strokes and better livers than backsliders. Church is good fer you as well as good to you, but I wonder how many in the study weren't in church cause they were home sick. This would change the statics, since sick folks run a high risk of gitting sicker.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

School Board Briefs

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, Aug. 17 were: Feeney, Schumann, Heller, Dils, Grau, Comeau, Superintendent Van Meer, Assistant Superintendent Mills, Principals Williams and Wojcicki, Community Education Director Rogers, guests.

Board approved the minutes of the Aug. 3 meeting.

Board approved Board policies, thus completing a review of all Board policies, and a new policy manual will be issued at a September meeting.

Board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Carl Kalcec, high school small engines/metal shop teacher. Kalcec will accept a position at Milford.

The Board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Deborah Saravolatz, Beach Middle School French teacher. Mrs. Saravolatz is changing careers.

The Board officially set the next meeting for Tuesday, Sept. 8 because of the Labor Day holiday.

The Board approved lunch prices for the 1981-82 school year: $.90 per student and $1.30 per adult. Reduced-price lunches will be $.40 and milk will be $.10.

Board approved the federal guidelines for free and reduced lunches.

Board awarded the low bid on $2,500,000 tax anticipation notes to the Harris Trust and Savings of Chicago at 12.40%.

The Board certified the tax levy for the 1981-82 school year as follows:

1981 Tax Levy
General Fund
Allocated	11.22 mills
Extra voted	21.00 mills
Total	32.22 mills
Debt Retirement
1956 DRF	.70 mills
1965 DRF	.90 mills
1974 DRF	1.90 mills
	3.50 mills
Total Levy	35.72 mills

The Board of Education reduced the debt retirement by 1/2 mill for the 1981-82 school year.

The Board approved a revised low bid for a 1981 14-foot van food service vehicle. The bid was awarded to Palmer Motor Sales ($10,785.00). The original bid had contained an error and all bidders were notified to resubmit another bid.

The Board approved a contract for Ann Schaffner to teach half-time physical education at Beach Middle school, and to coach girls basketball and girls track.

School Lunch Prices Hiked

At the regular meeting of the Chelsea School District Board of Education held Monday evening, Aug. 17, the Board approved increased lunch prices for the 1981-82 school year.

New rates will be 90 cents per student lunch and $1.30 per adult lunch while reduced price lunches will be offered at a cost of 40 cents and milk will be available for 10 cents.

The new rates have become effective because of an increase in food and labor costs and a 41 percent decrease in Federal reimbursement for each meal.

The 40-cent charge for reduced price meals is also mandated by Federal regulations.

Personal Note

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald F. Gentner of Farnsworth Rd., Stockbridge, returned home Saturday, Aug. 22 from a two week vacation in the Hawaiian Islands in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. Enroute home, they spent several days in Aurora, Colo. visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Duane L. Gentner.

Dr. Hawks Assists SEVA In Survey of Nepal Blindness

HIGH MORTALITY RATES for Nepal's youth are exemplified here. Approximately 46 percent of all youngsters die before reaching the age of five, doctors are few and diseases numerous.

RUGGED MOUNTAIN PATHS were traveled on foot enroute to many tiny villages scattered across the Nepali countryside. Being situated high in the Himalayan Mountains, Nepali farmers are forced to terrace their farm land in order to grow and maintain their crops.

SEVA Foundation (Society for Epidemiology and Voluntary Assistance) was created by a small group of individuals dedicated to eliminating smallpox, the first major disease to be eradicated world-wide. Dr. Nicole Grasset, a French-Swiss physician, worked with SEVA and the World Health Organization (WHO) as a leader in the smallpox project.

Upon the realization of smallpox eradication, the next task for these organizations was to eradicate 95 percent of all preventable blindness within five years. The small, rugged kingdom of Nepal was selected as a starting point. Nepal, nestled high in the Himalayas, is one of the 10 poorest countries in the world and it is predicted that as many as 300,000 of its 14 million inhabitants are blind.

Nepal is approximately 500 miles long and seven miles wide. Its northern tip borders India, to the south is China. Climate is varied as well, ranging from tropics in the south to cold in the north.

Last winter, Dr. William Hawks, an ophthalmologist from Chelsea, travelled to Nepal with a team of Chelsea-based SEVA volunteers including Dr. Larry Brilliant to assist in compiling a statistical analysis of blindness in Nepal. Five teams were organized to complete a survey of blindness within the tiny country.

Dr. Hawks first met Brilliant two years ago and was introduced to the SEVA concept. He had expressed an interest in Nepal and in blindness though he had never been involved in a public health basis of detection and treatment. Hawks was invited to travel to Nepal to assist in the program, an offer he gladly accepted.

Hawks arrived in mid January and was one of a number of experts from throughout the world to begin the survey that was organized with co-operation of the University of Michigan and the Center for Disease Control in Georgia, among others.

Upon arrival, it was realized that only nine ophthalmologists worked in Nepal and that the population was 95 percent rural; a majority of the populace had never visited a doctor.

The survey included a total of 111 random sites to be visited and approximately 45,000 persons to be examined. Five teams of qualified personnel were organized; Dr. Hawks was a team leader for one of the groups.

Prior to the team's arrival at a given site, each location would receive a letter from the Nepal government and WHO requesting that villages co-operate with the survey. In many of the villages, Hawks was the first non-Nepali to ever set foot there, a privilege. During his stay, he examined a total of 6,705 people within 20 villages scattered across the country.

The trek through Nepal to Hawks' team's designated sites involved beginning in the low-lying areas and hiking through the mountains along rugged paths. Initially, it took 21 hours to trek into the first secluded village. Eventually, an Evergreen helicopter was donated for a specific time period and was staffed by the company's number one pilot. This means of transportation added an entirely new dimension to the survey.

While in Nepal, Hawks and his team members ate staple foods such as rice, greens and potatoes. Occasionally, the surveyors were treated to boiled buffalo's milk. The rugged, steep countryside was terraced to provide for agriculture including crops of corn and mustard seed.

Houses were clustered on hilltops and electricity was minimal. Firewood was a precious commodity following years of deforestation; the government is now sponsoring a reforestation project to assist in replenishing the stripped land.

Startling facts were realized while in Nepal. Forty-six percent of all children die before the age of five, few doctors result in innumerable cases of untreated disease and primary education is provided free only until the third grade.

Nonetheless, Hawks did discover an orphanage in which a former Hamilton, Ontario woman cared for numerous youngsters. Hawks befriended those within the orphanage, purchasing shoes for each orphan and a soccer ball for the group. In return, the children laughed, smiled and sang songs for him.

Dr. Hawks was given a surprise when, on April 20, he was flown to Katmandu to meet his wife, who had been flown from Chelsea to join him. The couple returned home together May 10.

Throughout his three and one-half months in Nepal, Dr. Hawks reached some understandings. "Despite all of our educational privileges, good health and other advantages, their culture is perhaps as meaningful and good as ours if not more so," he explained. Still, through all of the physical suffering and poverty, Hawks saw a marvelous, diverse and enchanting people. Nevertheless, his experience reinforced the privilege he feels to be an American.

SURVEYING THE POPULACE while in Nepal last spring, Dr. William Hawks, left, was often the first non-Nepali to set foot in many of the isolated villages he visited throughout the tiny, rugged kingdom.

WHILE PARTICIPATING in the SEVA and World Health Organization's blindness project, Chelseaite Dr. William Hawks, became acquainted with and fascinated by many Nepali inhabitants. In surveying rural villages and setting up treatment facilities, SEVA hopes to eradicate preventable blindness within just a few short years.

L. Estleman Novel Coming Out Sept. 17

Former Dexter Leader reporter Loren D. Estleman is having yet another novel published. Estleman, who had been a freelance writer while working with The Dexter Leader, resigned his position last fall to begin concentrating on his writing of novels full-time.

Famous for his Sherlock Holmes-type writing style, Estleman's latest endeavor, "Angel Eyes," follows a similar literary pattern and is being published by Houghton Mifflin Co. of Boston. Publication date is set for Thursday, Sept. 17 and the new novel will then be available at bookstores throughout the area.

The first state-wide relief program was initiated in New York in 1931, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Four-Way Stop Signs Help in Rural Areas

Accidents in 10 rural intersections in Michigan decreased dramatically when two-way stop signs were replaced by four-way signs, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) reports.

A MDOT study of the intersections showed over-all accidents dropped approximately 61 percent after switching to the four-way system. One intersection, at M-50 and M-52 in Lenawee county, showed an accident reduction of 88 percent after three years of four-way stop control.

MDOT safety officials said estimated savings resulting from the sign changes because of reduced casualties and property damage totaled $760,200. There were 182 fewer injuries and 15 fewer fatalities from accidents at all 10 intersections after the signs were changed.

Maurice Witteveen, the department's chief of traffic and safety, cautioned that the study does not mean more stop signs should be placed at all high-accident intersections.

"We have found that too many stop signs can lead to disrespect for traffic controls in general," Witteveen said. "But in certain places, such as rural intersections with a low volume of traffic traveling at relatively high speeds, the safety benefits stemming from more stop signs far outweigh the cost of lost time and fuel."

"Careful analysis of any changes in traffic controls must always be made for effective results," he added.

Red School House Became First Office For Fair Association

Taken from a 1953 story in The Chelsea Standard

In an agreement announced by the Chelsea Agricultural Schools, the Red School House on Manchester Rd. was acquired by the Chelsea Community Fair Association for use as an office building on the fairgrounds in 1953. Hundreds of local residents were pleased to learn that the country school they attended in their youth has escaped the demolition crews.

First organized in 1834, the little Red School House had played a long and important role in the community. The last classes were held at the school in May, 1948 with Mrs. Walter Zeeb as teacher. After that time, pupils in the district were sent to Jewett-Stone School and Everett school, thereafter, to Manchester.

The Red School House had been a landmark at the corner of Manchester and Pritchard Rds. for more than 65 years. The Chelsea Community Fair Association bid for the building and the Board of Education accepted it.

Chelsea School District became the owners of the Red School House district when the Red School district voted to consolidate with the Chelsea School District. The decision to sell came about when Chrysler Proving Grounds sought to acquire the property on which it was located so as to straighten its eastern boundary.

Lloyd Heydlauff, President of the Chelsea Community Fair Association, confirmed the purchase of the school building and said that a definite decision as to the exact site for the building would be decided quickly. Familiar family names included in the list of pupils through the

Hospital Child Care Center Ready for Fall

September is always a time for new beginnings and so it is at the Chelsea Community Hospital Child Care Center.

"Me, Myself, and I" is to be the first unit of study for September. This unit is designed so that children may learn more about themselves and each other; their likes and dislikes, their joys and fears. Emphasis will be placed on the children seeing themselves as special, unique individuals.

"Our Senses" will be the theme for the week of Sept. 14 through 18. During this unit, the children will explore the many uses of their five senses. Musical instruments, the "touch box," tasting and smelling experiments, and games of "I Spy" will also be used to help the children become more aware of the gift of their senses.

During the week of Sept. 21 through 25, "Fall" will be the unit of study. The children will participate in discussions about the names and characteristics of the various seasons, as well as take nature walks along the nearby Chelsea Fitness Trail to observe the beauties of this season first-hand.

"Community Workers" will be the theme for the week of Sept. 28 through Oct. 2. Visits from the local firefighters, police officers and nurses will highlight this unit. The children will become more aware of the various types of jobs around the community.

Chelsea Community Hospital Child Care Center emphasizes the growth and development of the total child: mentally, emotionally and physically. Organized nursery school activities take place throughout the day interspersed with several child directed activity periods. In general, the children are guided through the arrangements of room and equipment, through the schedule by direct interaction with the teachers and through limits which are set to protect the children, the equipment, and the learning environment. Total freedom can be as harmful as no freedom. Through a balance of all these factors, it is hoped that the child will develop an inner control and an inner desire to experience all his or her world has to offer, thus laying the foundation for further learning.

The Center is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday and is located at St. Paul's church. Openings are available now for the fall program. For further information, call Corinne Childs or Kathy Youmans at 475-1920.

Spraying Advised

horses since Aug. 8, have been reported within one mile of the village limits.

Village President Charles Ritter has expressed interest in the ground spraying for possible EEE carrying insects but has explained that the financially strapped village has neither the equipment nor personnel to combat the present problem. In addition to the high cost involved in spraying the village at least once every five days until the first frost of the fall, what good would it do to spray in Chelsea when other communities which have received similar recommendations will not or cannot apply the necessary insecticides to kill the mosquitoes?

Ritter perceives the EEE mosquito problem as a matter of state-wide concern. Should funds be made available to help alleviate the high cost of such a spraying endeavor, he is more than willing to comply with the Health Department's suggestions.

Still, despite the advantages of destroying a large amount of the mosquito population, spraying or fogging of insecticides will not kill the larvae, Ritter explained.

Eastern Equine Encephalitis is only contracted by two animals: horses and humans. Birds carry the disease and it has no effect on them and there have been no cases of other animals, farm or domestic, contracting the highly fatal illness.

Farm Bureau Leader Applauds Federal Tax Cut

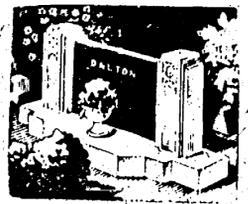

The president of the state's largest farm organization congratulated President Reagan and the Congress for "taking a giant step forward in putting our nation back on the road to economic health" through the tax cut law signed Aug. 14.

Elton R. Smith, Kent county dairy farmer who heads the Michigan Farm Bureau, said the new law will be a "shot in the arm" for Michigan agriculture.

"This tax legislation makes valuable changes in depreciation and credit rules," he said. "It also lessens the tax burden when family farms are passed from one generation to the next."

"Reagan's tax cut package will be a major factor toward increasing income for the state's farmers and agribusiness," Smith said. "Farm Bureau economists estimate that the tax cut will save Michigan farmers nearly $99 million. Once these savings are invested in new machinery, buildings and equipment, the potential impact of the tax savings could add over $406 million to our state's ailing economy."

"This financial boost to our farmers will increase productivity and assure consumers of an abundant supply of wholesome food," the farm leader said.

Huron Valley Prison Opens Near Ypsi

Huron Valley Men's Facility near Ypsilanti, the state's newest correctional facility, received its first group of prisoners on Thursday, Aug. 20.

This 411-bed maximum security prison, which is adjacent to the state's major women's prison in Pittsfield township, will house men who require intensive security because of their long sentences or because they have not gotten along well in other facilities.

The first 20 prisoners received at the institution on Thursday were transferred from the Marquette Branch Prison, the state's only other maximum security prison.

Additional prisoners will be gradually transferred to the prison over a period of the next four months, allowing the new staff time to get used to the new prison.

Warden William F. Grant said 110 employees are currently employed at the prison and that a total of 284 employees will be on board when the prison is fully staffed later this year.

In addition to five housing units, the prison contains an academic and vocational school, an infirmary which will also serve the women prisoners at the prison nearby, a power plant which services both prisons and a food service facility which already serves the women offenders and the Phoenix Correctional Facility near Plymouth.

Construction of the new maximum security prison for men began in April, 1979 and cost the state slightly more than $20 million.

MAKE CLOTHES-BUYING CHEAPER

In these years of high inflation, you wonder what value you're getting for your money. IFI, along with the BBB, has published a list to help the consumer judge how long a garment can be expected to last.

- 5 Years: formal wear, leather coats, tablecloths
- 4 Years: jackets, sport coats, wool slacks
- 3 Years: sweaters, robes, raincoats, sport shirts, dresses
- 2 Years: cotton or synthetic suits, dress shirts, children's wear

Older garments are still useful, but the fabrics are not as sturdy or the colors sharp, and they will soil more easily.

Taking good care of your clothes will add years to their service. Regular cleaning will prevent a build-up of soil, which weakens fabrics. Drycleaning is gentler on fabric finishes and colors than washing and steam pressing helps fabrics retain their luster and feel.

BUILD OR BUY?

A decision to get your own home can usually be boiled down to three choices: (A) Buy or build a new one; (B) Buy an older home, or (C) Buy a "young" (five or six years old) resale house. There are pros, cons, advantages, and disadvantages regarding the above choices.

A new house can be more or less custom-made, at least with regard to decoration, personalized features, etc.; however, as with many new things, there could be "Shake-down" problems. There's also the matter of landscaping costs for lawns, trees, shrubs, and bushes.

An older house often means lots of space; the rooms may be big, giving you more area than some similarly priced new homes. But then there's often the matter of repair and modernization costs.

The "young" resale house answers the needs of many people. It's been "broken-in," it shouldn't need repairs, and there's established landscaping, among other advantages. What's the answer? Only YOU can say! Come in and talk to us. We list all types and can advise you with regard to your needs and wants.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at FRISINGER REALTY CO., 935 S. Main St., Chelsea. Phone: 475-8681; evenings 475-2621. We're here to help!

Drunk Driver Arrested After Hitting Tree

A one car head-on collision on Old US-12 one tenth of a mile east of Silver Fox Dr. occurred at approximately 11:45 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 20, according to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

According to reports, a car driven by a Chelsea man, was traveling westbound on Old US-12 when the driver lost control, crossed the right shoulder and traveled approximately 200 feet before striking a tree head-on.

The driver was arrested by Washtenaw County Sheriff's Deputy Joseph Yekulis for driving under the influence of alcohol. He received a minor facial laceration and his wife, who was riding in the car as a passenger, received a minor head injury and was transported to Chelsea Community Hospital by Pontana Taylor Ambulance Service.

Volunteer Ambulance Service Being Studied

To ascertain that an ambulance will always be available for use by and for the Village of Chelsea and other areas serviced by the Chelsea Fire Department, the organization of a volunteer ambulance service has been discussed for more than one year. Within the past two weeks, that discussion has now spread into an all-out attempt to recruit various skilled persons to man the ambulance service once instated.

An organizational meeting will be held Monday, Aug. 31 at the Chelsea Fire Hall, beginning at 7 p.m. at which time future plans will be discussed.

The Chelsea Fire Department is seeking persons with certain credentials to assist in the staffing of the ambulance service. This service will be provided not as a fire department function by a separate organization using the fire department as a basis.

Types of individuals needed in forming the ambulance service include state licensed Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT's), licensed ambulance attendants, paramedics and first responders with valid CPR cards. All potential volunteers must be able to present their credentials at the organizational meeting. Volunteers are not required to be members of the Chelsea Fire Department.

PRE-SEASON WORK-OUTS: Members of the 1981 Chelsea Bulldogs took to the field last week for five days of conditioning. Al Johnsen Named to WMU Hall of Fame

Pre-World War II baseball performer Albert Johnsen, former Chelsea Superintendent of Schools, along with a host of other athletic stand-outs are the 1981 inductees in the Western Michigan University Athletic Hall of Fame.

This announcement was made Monday, Aug. 17 by Dr. Leo VanderBeek, chairman of the organization's board of directors. The WMU Athletic Hall of Fame was inaugurated in 1973 and now includes 40 members. Induction ceremonies will be held on campus Friday and Saturday, Oct. 9 and 10.

Johnsen lettered three times as a shortstop-first baseman and hit .282 as a senior in 1933 and captained a 12-1 team. He played on two Michigan Collegiate Conference winners.

A native of Sidney, Johnsen then spent two years in the Cincinnati Reds' farm system. He entered teaching in 1934 and spent 40 years in this profession, 35 of which were as a school superintendent, in Chelsea (1938-52), Willow Run (1952-61), Benton Harbor (1961-68) and Godwin Heights (1969-74).

In 1966-67, Johnsen was president of the Michigan Association of School Administrators and was the first superintendent to serve on the Michigan Teacher Tenure Commission. He now resides in Stanwood and is assistant state director of the National Retired Teachers Association and vice-president of Michigan Senior Educational Leaders, an organization for retired superintendents.

Upon his induction, Johnsen will join an honored group including Dave Arnold, Sam Bishop, John Bork, Don Boven, Ray Bray, Horace "Hap" Coleman, Sam Dunlap, M. J. "Mike" Gary, Harold Gensichen, John Gill, Ron Hibbard, Judson Hyames, Oscar Johnson, Dave

John Miller Places 3rd in 'Small' Race

The first male pilot ever accepted as a contestant in the Annual Michigan "Small" Race held at the W. K. Kellogg Regional Airport in Battle Creek Saturday, Aug. 15 finished third in the three-legged round robin cross country flight of more than 250 statute miles.

Pilot John Miller of McKinley Rd. and his co-pilot, Randy McClure of Troy, flying a Cessna 172N 160 horse power aircraft, finished third over-all in the 25th race after finishing with the third best speed, closest to the handicap speed for his airplane.

The first male pilot and his cohort received $400 in cash and trophies following their successful testing of skill, proficiency and safety in flying.

The race was sponsored by the four Michigan Chapters of the Ninety-Nines, an International Organization of Women Pilots formed in 1929 by Amelia Earhart, and the Michigan Aeronautics Commission. Traditionally, women pilots only have been permitted to race but men have served in the cockpit as co-pilots.

Intra-Squad Scrimmage Set for Friday

As a conclusion to football camp, the Chelsea High school Bulldogs will appear in the intra-squad Blue and White Scrimmage Friday evening, Aug. 28 at the CHS football field. The first contest of the season will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

According to Coach Gene LaFave, the scrimmage will follow a week-long conditioning and practice schedule of full pads and equipment. It should prove to be the culmination of weeks of hard work and the competing squads should be relatively equally matched.

The 1981 varsity Bulldogs have been working extremely hard during their first week of practices held last week. LaFave explains that he is "pleased with the way things look," offensively, they look "decent" and defensively "they have improved."

Girls Track Team Are Helping Supervise Parking at Fair

Chelsea High school girls track members are reminded that they are asked to help supervise parking for the Athletic Boosters at the 1981 Chelsea Community Fair on Saturday, Aug. 29 from 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

All volunteers should meet Coach Bill Bainton near the main gate at 5 p.m.

Freshman Gridders To Meet Wednesday

Freshman football work-outs will begin Monday, Aug. 31, according to Coach Jim Tallman.

Prior to the first practice, an organizational meeting will be held Wednesday, Aug. 26 at the Chelsea High school auditorium, beginning at 9 a.m. All persons interested in going out for the 1981 freshman football team should report to the auditorium at this time.

Manchester Fall Sports Cancelled

All fall sports have been cancelled in the Manchester School District following an unsuccessful bid for a 4 mill increase last week as voters turned down the request for partial funding of the athletic program. Had the increase been approved, Manchester athletes would have contributed necessary fees to make up the unpaid half of the athletic programs.

Nevertheless, placing a similar request on an upcoming ballot has been suggested, a plan that, if approved, could reinstate the winter sport schedule. Another plan has been suggested involving a fund-raiser to pay for winter sports. Still, letters have been sent to cancel all football, cross country and golf competitions between Manchester and other school districts.

Ricardo's Captures Men's Softball Crown in Play-Off

Following a successful men's recreational softball season, two Chelsea teams battled it out in a three-game play-off series last week. Placing first in the Recreation Council summer standings was Ricardo's while Heydlauff's ended their regular season in second place.

Tuesday night it began with Heydlauff's taking the first game, 7-5. This contest was followed by the second game of the double-header, a game in which Ricardo's managed to tie up the series, 1-1 with a 4 to 3 decision in six innings. The second game was called after six innings because of darkness.

The tie-breaking championship game was played Wednesday evening at Beach Middle school. Both teams played excellent defense and Howard Flintoft hit a home run with two men on base to clinch his team's victory. Ricardo's soundly defeated Heydlauff's, 5-2 and took the 1981 Chelsea Recreation Council Men's Recreational Softball Championship.

Friday morning, the news of the victory was visible for all to see as the windows of the side-by-side village firms were painted with congratulations and condolences for the first and second place softball teams.

BOBBY KOENGETER swings into action Wednesday evening for his Ricardo's team during the final game of the men's softball championship.

Heydlauff's catcher Tony Robards kneels, prepared for a missed ball. Ricardo's won the third and final game, 4-3 to take the village crown.

High School Grads Job Clinic Slated

Chelsea and Dexter High school 1981 graduates seeking permanent employment are eligible for a free two-day Job Clinic to assist youths individually to develop job-getting skills, locate job openings, set-up actual interviews and prepare for them. The Job Clinic will be small, personal, intensive and provide an opportunity to work together with former classmates toward finding permanent employment.

The Clinic will be held at Chelsea High school on Monday, Aug. 31 and Wednesday, Sept. 2 between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. To register for this Clinic sponsored by the South and West Washtenaw Consortium, call 426-4008 or 682-9898.

Sand Box Treasure Hunt Slated Friday After Kiddies Parade

North Lake Co-Op Nursery School will be presenting its annual children's event again this year.

Knowing how children love sand, the school will offer a "treasure hunt" in a large sand-box; all children will be hunting for buried pennies and ribbons will be awarded to the first three winners in each age group.

All participants will be given a ride ticket and children ages three through five are welcome to participate.

The sand box treasure hunt will be held Tuesday, Aug. 25 at the fairgrounds show arena immediately following the Children's Parade.

Parachute Unit Will Be Dropped Over Fairgrounds

Chelsea VFW Post 4076 will sponsor a military free fall at the Chelsea fairgrounds Saturday, Aug. 29 at approximately 2:15 p.m.

The 12th Special Forces Parachute Unit will be dropped free fall by a 70th Division (training) Huey helicopter. Both units are from the U. S. Army Reserve, located in Livonia and Fraser. The drop is dependent upon the weather and availability of the aircraft.

Schools Open Tuesday, Sept. 8

The 1981-82 academic year for students within the Chelsea School District will begin Tuesday, Sept. 8 with a full day of school for all students.

School buses will run at the regular times beginning the first day of school and the cafeterias will be open for lunch beginning Sept. 8 as well, according to Fred Mills, assistant superintendent of schools.

Dear Class of 1971:

Those of us who were on the planning committee would like you to know how delightful it was to see you all once again, and we would like to thank you for joining in our reunion. We only hope it was as enjoyable for you as it was for us.

I know that I speak for all of the committee when I say that being on the planning committee was a truly enjoyable and gratifying experience, as well as the fact that it brought us, and our friendships, together once again.

There are several people who deserve special thanks and recognition for their efforts and contributions. They are: Mr. John Bouillon for his donation to our class; Tim Ortring of Timothy's Catering, and his staff, for the hearty and delicious meal; Todd Ortring and his artistic talent for providing us with a memorable keepsake—our guestbook; Doug Schrotenboer for stepping in at the last minute as bartender and Bootleg Band for keeping us "in tunes." We also thank those class members who gave more than their fair share of the required fee.

But the person who is most deserving of our thanks and recognition is Bob Salyer for assuming the responsibility of Chairman of the Planning Committee. Through his extra efforts, along with careful delegation of responsibilities, we were able to come through with a successful, and joyous class reunion. Thank you, Bob, it was great. And thanks to all of you.

Father Gabriel, Dean of the State Russian Orthodox Churches, is responsible for the church's establishment.

Russian Orthodox Parish Organized

A Russian Orthodox parish, dedicated to St. Vladimir, evangelizer of the Slavic people, will hold a Liturgy at 10 a.m., Saturday, Aug. 29, in the downstairs chapel of the St. Francis of Assisi Catholic church, 2250 E. Stadium Blvd., Ann Arbor. The Very Rev. Fr. Gabriel, Dean of the State Russian Orthodox Churches, will establish the parish.

A great deal of interest has been shown from people in Ann Arbor and the surrounding communities interested in the tradition of Orthodoxy. Father Gabriel hopes the new parish will keep that tradition alive in the area. The decision to establish an Ann Arbor parish is also due to the great number of students at the University of Michigan who wish to maintain their traditional orthodox faith while in the Ann Arbor area.

The Bishop Alpy of Cleveland, Vicar for the Archdiocese for Chicago and Detroit, will be in attendance to personally observe the potential of this new parish. For further information regarding the church and services, call M. McKee 994-3148.

Views On Dental Health

By ROBERT A. BURNS, JR., DDS, P.C.

PAUL REVERE - THE DENTIST

How about a little dental trivia? History records Paul Revere as the man who made the important ride on the night of April 18, 1775, as well as being a skilled silversmith. But the history books never mention the fact that Paul Revere was a practicing dentist. A student of John Baker, the first English dentist to come to America, Paul not only carved false teeth from ivory but concocted a dentifrice that contained abrasive substances and various mixtures such as cuttlebone, brown-sugar candy, saltpeter and gunpowder, butter and bread crumbs. We don't know if it sold too well.

How far back does the use of nitrous oxide (laughing gas) go in the annals of dentistry? In 1884, Dr. Horace Wells, an American dentist, demonstrated the properties of nitrous oxide by using it on himself while having his own tooth extracted. How much dental care is needed today? It has been estimated that if every dentist spent 24 hours a day, every day of the year, just filling cavities, there would still be one billion cavities left unfilled in the United States. If you have dental health questions you would like to see answered, please mail them to the address below.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Would you believe that I just finished addressing letters to Noriko Togashi, and Reiko Koike, in Japan? These are wives of our Japanese house guests of Aug. 15 and 16.

Yes, a touch of Japan culture was ours for two short days in the persons of Mr. Koike, and Mr. Togashi. Their age was 51 and 47. They are exchange persons on seminar at U. of M. for one month. Both are teachers by profession. Mr. Koike being appointed to Teacher's Consultant for Hokkaido Board of Education. Both have had more than 20 years of experience as teachers. English is the special language subject. Their relating of school system operation in Japan is one of wonderment and envy.

Did you know, Mr. Editor, there is no such person as a school "drop-out?" A teacher takes great pride in education there, and there is no less pride in the student. If a student has a problem it is the teacher's responsibility to follow up on that student. Home visits are a regular part of a teacher's schedule. There is such pride in the ability to learn, that the wasting of this gift is not tolerated. Pride and dedication motivates learning. Family support and love is key. The family structure is the key, and priceless pearl to them.

These very intelligent men, our guests, were no different than you and me. They shared their thoughts, joys and sorrows with us. Mr. Togoashi, for instance, revealed to us his father was killed in World War II, and his son of 16 died in a tragic boating accident only two years ago. The loss of his son is very fresh to him and his family.

One can travel the world over, but one finds that people are the same, everywhere. We, Bob, my husband and I, shall never forget the joy of sharing our life and home with these gentlemen. We shared thoughts. Their words and ways of Japan was the next best thing to being there.

So much has been said of World War II, that the stigma is still carried as a mark on both the Japanese and Americans. It is in opportunities such as this that tell us all who share in a War suffer because of it. These people we now know, never dropped a bomb, or pulled a trigger, on anyone, but in another time, the leaders of our countries did and many of us to this day carry prejudices in the heart on both sides of the ocean. It is in listening, sharing, and opening our hearts that we soon discover that most beautiful fact, we are all human beings on pilgrimage home.

We wish to thank Church Women United of Chelsea for this very precious experience. I wish to personally thank Fr. Joseph, director of St. Louis school for his tour, and as Mr. Togashi, and Koike, put it as we left, "There is so much kindness, and warmth here." Thanks to the staff at Cassidy Lake Tech school, for their co-operation as our guests shared in Chapel Prayer Service there.

All in all, this experience Bob and I shall always treasure, and do recommend to everyone who can do so, to out reach and take advantage of these opportunities such as Church Women United offer with exchange students and visitors as these.

By the way, the whole project was handled in a very commendable way by all involved. The 25 Japanese guests in Chelsea, Manchester area, with their Host Family reunited Sunday afternoon in Pierce Park for a good olde USA-summertime picnic. What a nice send-off indeed!

Mrs. Millie Warner.

To the Editor:

In August or September, 1981, the Congress will vote on whether to increase the National debt to one trillion dollars.

The passage of this bill would cause the cost-of-living to go up. If we persist in our mad course of expending the quantity of money and credit, we will be promoting inflation in our country which will destroy our free enterprise economy and we will be easy prey for communism. We should all let our congress know that deficit spending must be stopped.

Mary L. Waite, Dexter.

Editor:

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the Chelsea Modern Mother's Club for their continuing support of the Waterloo Nature Center. Time and again, this organization has stepped forward in the interest of providing recreational and educational opportunities to the citizens of Chelsea and the surrounding area. These women typify the meaning of the term "modern mother" in their far reaching concern for the community.

Through their contributions, the construction of a relief map of the entire Waterloo Recreation Area will be made. The estimated size of this map will be 5 by 6 feet and will graphically show the glacial formations that are typical of this area. Completion of this display will most likely be in the spring.

Emily Polens, co-director, Waterloo Nature Center

Dear Editor:

It was news to read on the front page of The Standard that "Three inmates escaped from Cassidy Lake Technical School." This was what sells papers, and also keeps the community informed. However, with just that report and no more it forms prejudice of one type or another. A recent definition for "prejudice" was "Prejudice starts with the simple perception of difference, whether that difference is physical or psychological."

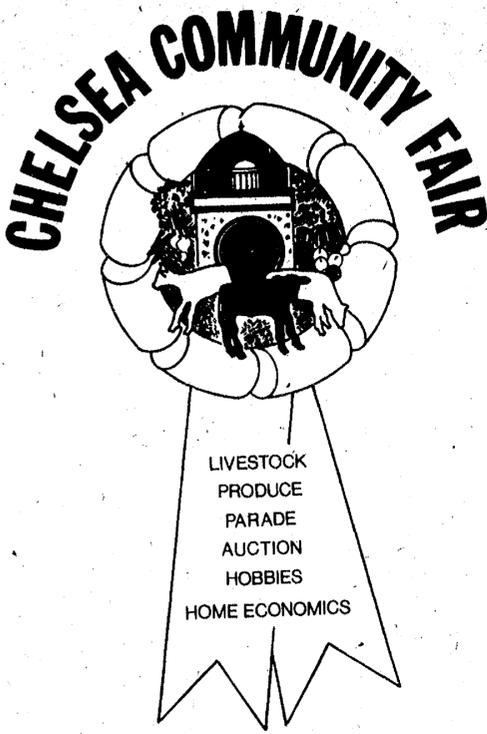

I would like to share this with you. There are about 220 inmates at Cassidy Lake. Everyone is an individual human being, from assorted backgrounds. Some come from "good homes," where they were given everything but love, a wise love and attention at the right time in their lives. Some are from broken homes where love was divided and shared. Some come from one foster home after another with no solid roots, no firm love foundation.

During their time at Cassidy Lake, they are given an opportunity to learn a trade. Maintenance, mechanics, welding and classroom GED and religious faith sharing. There have been, through my years sharing with the men since 1978, young men, ages 18-24, who have left Cassidy Lake and gone on to working in honest jobs. The very ones they were trained for. Others rejoined their families and went to college to study law, business management. Others went out into the world to join youth programs to help keep others from going through what they lived.

When, Mr. Editor, you write of those who escape, maybe you could mention the hundreds who stay and are very much aware of who they are, what they have done, and where they are. The young men I know myself are filled with the dedication to be somebody. To pick up the pieces and start all over again. To prove to man they can make it with a lot of help, a lot of patience and a lot of prayer. If all one sees is "name and number," God sees the total person, and He is still molding their perfection just as He is in you and me.

Millie Warner, Acting Catholic Chaplain.

Jim Smith Heads PATCO Local 346 at Oakland Airport

ON STRIKE: Jim Smith of Dexter, an air traffic controller at the Pontiac Airport is involved in the continuing negotiations between PATCO and the F.A.A. as president of the Local at Pontiac Tower. To Jim, being an air traffic controller offered a great deal of personal satisfaction and he hopes a settlement can soon be reached. With Jim are his children, Diane and Douglas.

Although much of the fanfare of the nation-wide air controllers strike has begun to dwindle, the majority of PATCO's members have stood by their original decision to strike and still believe in the need for reform.

Jim Smith of Forest St. in Dexter has been an air controller at Oakland Airport in Pontiac for more than six years. He is president of the PATCO union Local 346 that represents the controllers of Pontiac Tower in Oakland.

Jim's belief in the union ideals still stand. According to him the decision is based not on a momentary judgment but on three years of attempted bargaining.

This bargaining began in 1978 when the PATCO union and the FAA signed what Smith described as "the best contract available under the present bargaining situation." This was as much as the union could achieve under federal laws, which bar negotiations concerning money, hours, working conditions, etc.

As soon as the 1978 contract went into effect, PATCO began a program to determine a proposed 1981 contract seeking support from the congress. An Air Traffic Controllers Act of 1981 was sent to both the Senate and the House of Representatives and are at present stalemated in subcommittees.

On Aug. 2, the PATCO organization with the consent of 80% of their membership went on strike against the FAA.

Jim's personal reasons are similar to those of any other striking air controller, the cost of living adjustment, wages, retirement benefits, working conditions, hours and recognition of a stressful occupation.

Regardless of how widespread the conditions, each situation is very real and personal just as it is to Jim, his wife Nancy and their two children Diane and Doug.

Jim describes the air controller's job as requiring constant attention. A continuous monitoring of aircraft over which he has total control but ultimately no control. His duty is to observe and direct, to absorb each situation and deal with it most effectively. He does this knowing that the final act is in the hands of the pilot.

The stress for Jim is daily, mounted by a situation where there is little chance for relief from the eight-hour work day. The daily accumulated pressure does not end when he leaves the tower. The momentum begins as the day begins and builds to a peak not easily reversed.

A daily diet of this mounting pressure with few days recuperation in between is the basis of much of PATCO's decision to strike.

High on their list are retirement and medical benefits with the recognition that such mounting mental stress is bound to require medical treatment.

The future of Jim Smith and his family is uncertain, at best, but he holds a strong belief that a fair and just agreement can eventually be reached. Jim's optimism in a settlement is based, first on his belief that the airways are unsafe at present. "I would not fly and I wouldn't recommend anybody to fly."

He cites a number of facts to substantiate this. Those in supervisory positions are now taking over many of the jobs held by striking controllers. According to Jim, most supervisors are elevated to that position when the stress of a controller's job has become too much for them to handle. Controllers who were not capable of completing their training period are being recalled. He cites also a wide difference between military and civilian air traffic controllers and denounces the two-week training period as insufficient time to develop expertise.

Jim also sees mounting adverse effect on the American economy as reason to believe that a settlement will soon be reached.

Much of Jim's time at present is spent at PATCO headquarters in Dearborn. "I'm just waiting things out for a while longer. I'm more optimistic now. I can see pressure building nation-wide. I can foresee some kind of agreement in another month."

Cong. Dunn's Questionnaire Respondents Want Less Welfare

In a recent issue questionnaire sent to residents of Congressman James Dunn's district, overwhelming response was evident. Of major concern was the issue of the federal budget and potential increases, decreases and maintenance. Some startling conclusions were drawn from responses.

Of interest, 58.6 percent of those who returned the questionnaire were in favor of increasing the defense budget, 36 percent favored increasing funds to mass transit and 66.7 percent thought more spending in the area of energy research was a good idea.

Decrease of the welfare budget was voted by 78 percent while 84.7 percent favored a decrease in taxation and 74.1 percent thought foreign aid spending should be cut. Spending for various federal programs such as health, revenue sharing to localities, economic development funding, Social Security benefits and agriculture were given the go ahead at the present financial rate by a majority of voters answering the questionnaire.

Congressman Dunn will appear at the Jackson District Library, 244 W. Michigan, Wednesday, Aug. 26 beginning at 7:30 p.m. for one of his final Town Hall Meetings for the month of August. Persons interested in speaking out on the issues, asking questions or discussing problems are encouraged to attend this meeting.

St. Joseph Hospital Has Option To Buy Ambulance Service

Fontana Taylor Ambulance Service was granted a loan from the National Bank and Trust Co. and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital obtained an option to buy the financially troubled Washtenaw county-contracted ambulance service last week in an attempt to save it from extinction.

In addition, possible renegotiation of the firm's service contract with the county has been discussed.

Fontana Taylor, owned by John and Nancy Fontana, revealed its financial troubles earlier this month and requested subsidy increases from $50,000 to $181,000, payments to cover non-paying indigents and jail inmates transported for hospitalization. This query, by the contracted firm handling approximately 90 percent of the county's ambulance runs, was originally refused though a glimmer of agreement was expressed Wednesday of last week.

All rests upon a stipulation between Fontana Taylor, the Catherine McAuley Health Center and the National Bank and Trust Co. that complete restructuring of the ambulance company's financial management takes place. The eventual outcome must be in accord with the organizations providing financial support to Fontana Taylor.

Chelsea Fairgrounds

Old US-12 at Old Manchester Rd., Chelsea

Giant Fair Parade Slated Saturday

Fair History Tid-bits

At 1 p.m. Saturday, midway through the final day of the ongoing Chelsea Community Fair, a local police car will lead off the parade. Drums sounding, the American Legion color guard will begin its march along Main St. Close behind, the Chelsea High school marching band and the parade marshals will follow as the Chelsea Community Fair Parade proceeds to the fairgrounds.

Spectators along Middle and S. Main Sts. will watch as the Chelsea Fair Queen and all of the Queen candidates pass by on floats which have been under construction for some time. In addition, antique automobiles and tractors, some of which will participate in the Antique Tractor Pull, will join the procession.

Both modern and antique fire trucks from surrounding towns will take part as will modern farm machinery, commercial vehicles and additional floats. Too, the Grand Champion Beef, Sheep and Swine will be accompanied by their proud owners.

The parade will end at the main gate to the fair where all the floats will remain on display.

All participating floats must be on Park St., prepared for judging at noon and all others taking part should be in line by 12:30 p.m. Hot rods or other racing vehicles must either be towed or on a trailer.

Children on bicycles should not be in the parade and first, second and third place prizes will be given in both the youth and adult categories.

In The Chelsea Herald, July 13, 1899, a notation was made that the main part of the fair building and two wings had been purchased by the Glazier Stove Works and would be moved on the lot north of the stove factory at the corner of North and Main Sts. to be fitted up and used as the oven department of the stove company.

In 1886, the subject of fairs came up in The Chelsea Herald. According to the voice of the community, the first fair, under the new organization "Western Washtenaw and Eastern Jackson Agriculture Association," was held in Chelsea Sept. 28, 29, 20 and Oct. 1, 1886.

In 1966, Denny Tallent, then 91, had the honor of being the first Parade Marshal of the Chelsea Community Fair parade. In 1969, Lulu Sweeny became the first woman honored as the parade marshal. The Fair Board further honored her with a free helicoptered ride for which she took time off from her job as cashier at the fair restaurant.

Fair History Tid-bits

In 1889, Frank P. Glazier gave a first-class Eight Day Clock to the lady taking the most premiums on canned fruit at the Chelsea Fair. Winner of the prize was Mrs. C. A. Updyke.

The Chelsea Fair opened on Wednesday, Sept. 18, 1895 with fair weather and closed Friday, Sept. 20. Due to high winds, the scheduled balloon ascension was a failure.

In 1970, the Vern Otto family-Scott, Vern, Todd and Troy-entered a total of 29 entries in the fair, more than anyone else in the vegetable division. They won a total of nine ribbons and captured first, second and third place in the watermelon division.

Judges Chosen for Fair Queen Contest

Four judges from diverse occupational backgrounds were selected by the 1981 Chelsea Community Fair Queen contest directors Cindy Bradbury and Margot Koenn.

First on the list of judges is Carl Cederberg, a former Detroit newscaster of 28 years. Cederberg was news director at WWJ and then worked for WJBK-Channel 2. He worked for six years with Channel 10 in Jackson and is now semi-retired, working part-time at the Ypsilanti radio station WSDS.

Fran Coy, owner-stylist of Fran Coy's Hairstylist on Wagner Rd., Ann Arbor, is the second judge. She was the 1980 Cosmetologist of the Year in Michigan and is a member of the Washtenaw county Coiffeur Committee and the American Hairdressers Association.

Dr. Henry Peiper was also selected as a judge. He is the Director of the Office of Studies Abroad and Senior Scholarships at the College of Literature, Science and the Arts at the University of Michigan. He is also assistant director of the Center for Western European Studies.

MSU graduate Rosanne Bloomer completes the panel. She earned a degree in business administration at MSU and is currently branch manager of Production Credit Association, Ann Arbor. She is a member of the Advisory Committee of the Washtenaw County Planning Commission and the Washtenaw County Rural Land Use Committee.

The 1981 Fair Queen contest will be held immediately following the 6 p.m. Children's Parade, Tuesday, Aug. 25 inside the large tent near the main fairgrounds entrance.

Balloon Ascension, Sky Diving Events Added Attractions

Two added attractions are slated for the 1981 Chelsea Community Fair, according to the Chelsea Fair Board. On Wednesday, Aug. 26, a hot air balloon ascension will take place at approximately 6 p.m., weather permitting, near the new arena. David Schaffer of Chelsea, the 1981 National Hot Air Balloon Champion, will pilot the balloon. Nevertheless, if inclement weather should result, the balloon flight will take place on Friday, Aug. 28, at approximately 6 p.m.

In addition to the balloon ascension, a group of sky divers will fall from the sky and land in the new arena at the Chelsea Fairgrounds on Saturday, Aug. 29. This event will take place at approximately 2:30 p.m. and will follow the annual Chelsea Community Fair parade, scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

The first Demolition Derby for fairgoers was held Thursday, Aug. 29, 1974.

Local Persons Will Be Riders in Donkey Races

Something new and different will be used at the Chelsea Community Fair, Aug. 25, 26, 27, 28, and 29 when donkey racing will be presented as a grandstand attraction. The donkey racing event will be held at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 27.

The event will be an added attraction because the riders in the five heats of donkey racing will be area residents, members of various service clubs, fraternal and military organizations and any other interested persons will take part.

The 1981 donkey races are planned to run in five heats with the two winners of each heat competing in the championship race at the end. The animals are ridden bareback and with only a halter.

All donkeys and handlers are furnished by the Mel Hummitch Theatrical Agency, Inc. of Sheboygan, Wis. Trophies are awarded to the first, second, and third-place finisher in the championship race to be run at the completion of the five initial heats.

In 1975, Chelsea Community Fair offered its first horseshoe pitching contest, sponsored jointly by pitching enthusiasts Jim Daniels and Fred Petsch. The contest was well received with a total of 30 entries.

1943—Because so many persons have work connected with the World War II effort, it has been unanimously voted by members of the Chelsea Community Fair Association to not have a fair this year. Fairs are discontinued until 1948 because of the war.

1950—Dorr Whitaker, Everett Van Riper, Paul Schaible and Reuben Lesser are designated as a committee to investigate the possibility of securing a permanent site for the Community Fair. Grounds are located at the corner of Manchester Rd. and Old US-12.

HEAD OVER HEELS: The 1980 Chelsea Community Fair donkey races caused a great deal of commotion as riders vying for a position in the finals were dumped, bucked or thrown from their independent mounts. This year's contest will feature prominent local residents in comedy situations. The event will be held Thursday, Aug. 27, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

First Community Fair Held in 1937

The first Chelsea Community Fair was held on Saturday, Nov. 13, 1937 in the Chelsea High school gymnasium. It was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea and the Future Farmers Club of the high school.

Thereafter, annual Chelsea fairs were held continuously from 1937 through 1943. No fairs were held during 1944, 1945, 1946, or 1947 because of the American involvement in World War II.

Fairs were resumed in 1948, when the location was changed from the school grounds to the Chelsea Implement Co., located on M-92, now M-52. In September, 1950, the announcement was made that the Chelsea Community Fair would be held on the grounds located at the corner of Manchester Rd. and Old US-12. John Glick, president of the Chelsea Fair Board, and Lloyd Heydlauff jointly took up the option on the site so the fair could be held there beginning in 1950. E. B. Sorensen was the former owner of the plot.

Upon their purchase, Glick and Heydlauff offered the Fair Board the option to purchase the site at the same price the duo had paid, should members of the board decide that the Manchester-Old US-12 site was the location they desired. The Chelsea Community Fair is still held there today.

In 1962, a new feature was introduced at the fair. An exhibit of baby animals was introduced for the delight of youngsters. In charge of the exhibit were Don Beeman and Leroy Heller.

Fair History Tid-bits

In 1890, the Western Washtenaw and Eastern Jackson Agricultural Society decided not to hold a fair. A new society called The Chelsea Union Agricultural Society was organized in its place. Officers were John Waltrous, president; Frank Sweetland, vice-president; W. Stocking, vice-president; Fred Wedemeyer, secretary; W. P. Schenk, treasurer; and George Whitaker, marshal. Included among the Board of Managers were the aforementioned as well as Fred Vogel, Hugh Sherry, C. M. Davis and Walter Dancer.

In 1937, Chelsea's first Community Fair was held Saturday, Nov. 13, in the high school gymnasium.

The Articles of Incorporation and By-Laws for a society to be known as the Chelsea Community Fair were prepared by attorney James C. Hendley and approved by the club in 1938.

Powder Puff Heat Added This Year To Demolition Derby

Chelsea Community Fair has a new attraction this year. The ever-popular Demolition Derby will include a Powder Puff heat. The event will be held Wednesday, Aug. 26 at 8 p.m. Entry forms are available at The Parts Peddler on Main St. and The Wolverine Bar, in Chelsea.

In 1893, a total of 1,572 paid admissions to the Chelsea Fair were recorded.

1942—War Bonds were sold at auction with Billy Rogell, former Detroit Tiger shortstop and current member of the Detroit City Council, acting as auctioneer.
