CHELSEA MILLING EXPLOSION: An explosion of unknown origin occurred at Chelsea Milling Co. early Saturday morning as a sugar tank exploded, burning one employee, Dale Horning, and causing minimal damage. The sprinkler system discharged, however, causing considerable water damage. Production was interrupted until early this week and clean up began immediately.

Saturday Explosion Rocks Chelsea Milling Co. Plant

Chelsea Fire Department received a call at 6:59 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 17 regarding an explosion in a mixing room at Chelsea Milling Co.

Injured in the explosion was Dale Horning, 37, who received burns over much of his body. He was the only person in the room when a single sugar tank exploded.

Cause of the blast is unknown though, according to Chelsea Fire Chief Bud Hankerd, sugar dust is highly combustible.

Fourteen Chelsea firemen arrived at the scene upon notification and worked until 7:52 a.m. The explosion itself caused minimal damage though the discharging of the sprinkler system caused considerable damage and interrupted production.

Horning was transported to Chelsea Community Hospital for stabilization by ESS. According to a Chelsea Milling spokesman, he is resting comfortably at University Hospital.

Though cause of the blast has not yet been determined and the extent of damages is, as of this printing, still unknown, clean up should be completed early this week when production will resume.

Included among New Zealand's bounty are beaches, glaciers, mountains and tropical forests.

Trick or treat is scheduled from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m., followed by an assembly in the municipal parking lot for costume judging and preparation for the annual parade. JC Fitness Run Scheduled Sunday

The Chelsea Jaycees are planning a scenic fitness run through the beautiful hill-covered area of Bush and McClure Rds. This benefit run will be held Sunday, Oct. 25.

According to Harold Allen, the Jaycees selected the McClure/Bush area for the run because of its scenic beauty. In addition, good-sized hills will afford a challenge to anyone taking part in the six mile race.

Entry fees for the six mile race will be $6 including a T-shirt designed by local artist John Houle of The Loft or $4 without the T-shirt. These entries, made after Oct. 18, will be charged an additional $1 and there is no guarantee that T-shirts will still be available.

In addition to the six mile race, a two mile fitness run will take place for those lacking the necessary multiple-mile stamina. Cost for this run is $6 with a T-shirt and $4 without a T-shirt.

Combined with local jogging and running enthusiasts taking part in the Jaycees-sponsored events, corporate teams of four or more runners may participate at a tax-deductible charge of $250.

Following the completion of the run(s), the Chelsea Jaycees will present trophies to the first and second place finishers in each category.

Registration forms are available at Chelsea Dairy Queen on S. Main St. and should be completed and mailed to Chelsea Jaycees, P. O. Box 277, Chelsea.

All proceeds generated by the scenic run will be put into the Chelsea Jaycees Needy Children's Christmas Fund.

For further information regarding this sporting event, contact Harold Allen at 428-9324 or Wendell Wagner at 475-2571.

Rockwell International Reveals Plan To Close Chelsea Plant Feb. 1

Rumoured for more than a year and coming at a time when bad news in the business world is commonplace and far from unexpected, Rockwell International Corp. announced Friday, Oct. 16 that it will close its Chelsea plant Feb. 1, 1982.

The company also said that it is currently negotiating with a potential buyer for the facility and its business which could result in maintaining operations at the Chelsea plant.

A company spokesman said that if an agreement can be reached between Rockwell and the potential buyer and the UAW and a new contract between the buyer and the union is ratified by Nov. 1, 1981, the sale will be completed. If an agreement cannot be reached by that date, the plant will be closed as of Feb. 1.

The company said it will then work with the employees and their representatives regarding termination and employment opportunities.

The Chelsea plant employs approximately 60 people in the production of springs, clips, wire forms and assemblies for the automotive industry. The spokesman said the plant had become non-competitive in a market served by literally hundreds of smaller and lower cost producers.

Should the Chelsea Rockwell plant close, it will come after 46 years of operation in the community. Rockwell-Standard Corp., Spring Division in Chelsea was founded in 1935 as a part of the Falls Spring and Wire Co. of Detroit. Originally its principal products were mechanical springs. During the next four years wire forms, clips and small stampings were added to the product line. In 1939, the operation was moved to Chelsea and became known as the Chelsea Spring Co. To almost everyone in the Chelsea area it was known as the "Spring Plant."

The "Spring Plant" was sold to the Standard Steel Spring Co. of Coraopolis, Pa., in 1950 and became known as the Chelsea Spring Division of Standard Steel Spring Co.

In 1953, its name was changed again following the merger of the Standard Steel Spring Co. with the Timken-Detroit Axle Co. This new name was Rockwell Spring and Axle Co., later changed to its former name, Rockwell-Standard Corp., Spring Division.

From 1968 to 1978, Rockwell-Standard Corp. was called North American Rockwell Corp. and, in 1979, according to tax rolls, the name became Rockwell International.

Its principal products were mechanical springs, wire forms, moulding clips, wiring clips and small stampings. Its customers included all the automobile producers, many of the major appliance, truck, and agricultural equipment manufacturers. The extensive customer list included producers of building supplies, mechanical rubber products, conveying equipment and manufacturers of many specialty items.

United Way Campaign Reaches 43% of Year's Goal

Two weeks into the Chelsea United Way fundraising campaign, chairman Don Peck reports that $20,637.80 has been pledged and/or contributed. The figure was announced Friday, at one of four weekly meetings of the campaign personnel, and makes up 43 percent of this year's intended goal.

The second week's contributions were based mainly on corporate donations and a total of $9,556 was offered. In addition to the successful door-to-door business and industry campaign, this year's mail campaign is also faring well.

In hopes of reaching their 1981 goal of $47,850, Peck "feels good about the response."

The United Way campaign will end Friday, Oct. 30.

Gertrude Eppler Phys. Ed. Complex Dedicated at BGU

On Thursday, Oct. 2, the Gertrude M. Eppler Physical Education Complex on the Bowling Green State University campus in Bowling Green, O. was dedicated to honor a former faculty member who was responsible for phenomenal growth and development of programs now encompassed within the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Miss Eppler's career as a physical educator spans a period of nearly 50 years, the last 28 of which were spent at Bowling Green State University.

A native of Chelsea, Miss Eppler spends her winters in Sun City, Ariz. She graduated from high school at age 16 and taught sports at the high school level before entering college. She received her bachelor's degree from Michigan State Normal School, now Eastern Michigan University, and earned her master's degree at the University of Michigan.

Miss Eppler joined the faculty of BGU in 1941 after having taught physical education in Michigan public schools and had supervised physical education programs in a school for handicapped children at Eastern Michigan.

She was chairman of the Women's Division of the Health and Physical Education Department at Bowling Green from its beginning in 1943 until her retirement in 1969. During that time, the department grew from a staff of three to a total of 20 full-time instructors and 300 women majors.

Several members of the Eastern Michigan University faculty attended the dedication of the facility. Miss Eppler lives with Miss Augusta Harris, a retired faculty member from EMU in Sun City, Ariz. In the summer months, they live in a cottage at Blind Lake.

The Gertrude M. Eppler Complex is composed of three segments: the previous men's gym built in 1923—Eppler South—the Women's Building constructed in 1938—Eppler North—and a new center section, joining the other two buildings—Eppler Center. The center section was constructed on the site of the former University Natatorium.

In the original plans for the new construction, the entire area was to have been renovated, but a shortage of funds for the project resulted in the approval of revised renovation plans in 1979-80, which were implemented at a cost of $1.2 million.

Fire Dept. Answers 20 Calls in September

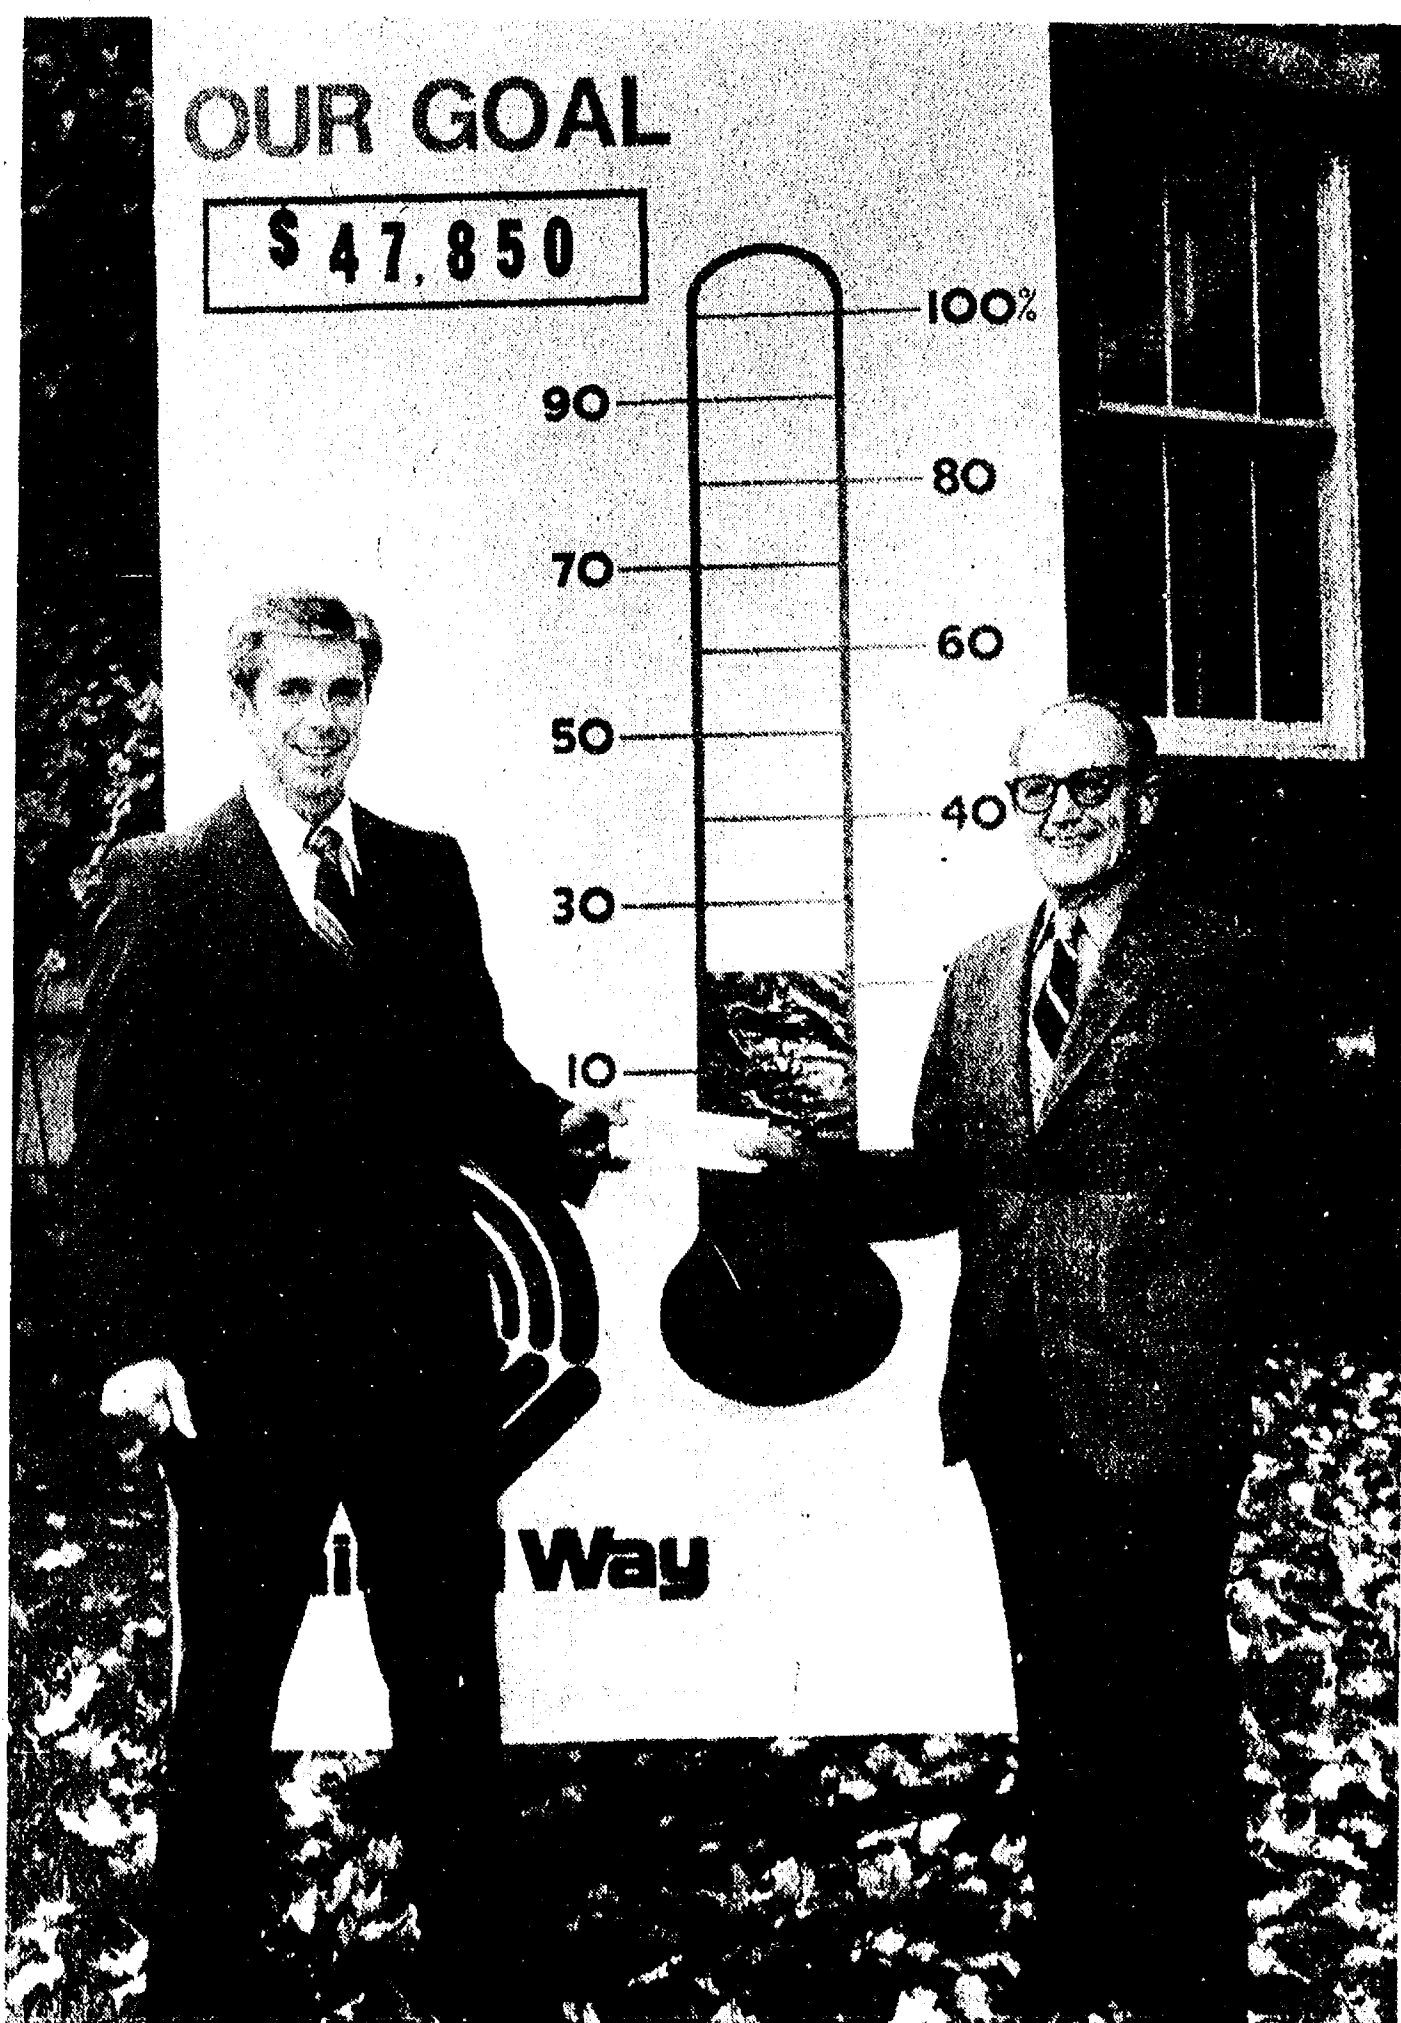

During the month of September, Chelsea Fire Department answered a total of 20 calls as compared to 20 calls during the preceding September. Total number of the year thus far is 214 calls while this time last year found that the Chelsea Fire Department had received and responded to 239 calls.

Seven of the 20 calls were received from within the village last month while six were answered in Sylvan township. Lyndon township was the scene of three fire calls while Lima township requested the firemen on two occasions and Dexter and Waterloo needed Chelsea Fire Department assistance on one occasion each. The total calls involved 201 manhours.

Of the calls answered, 11 involved rescue requests, while there were three car fires, two smoke investigations and one electrical pole incident. The remaining three incidents included a dryer fire, a chimney fire and an automatic alarm.

By township, the village requested the Chelsea firemen on one smoke investigation, five rescues and one dryer fire. Sylvan township accounted for four rescues, a chimney fire and an electrical pole incident. Three car fires took place in Lima and Dexter townships, reporting two and one, respectively. One rescue each was reported in Lyndon and Waterloo townships while Lyndon also required one smoke involved.

Survey Says Public Does Not Want Further Education Cuts
According to results of a survey commissioned by the Michigan Education Association, 60 percent of Michigan's adults would not favor a tax cut funding for education.

In releasing the survey results, Keith Geiger, president of MEA, said the survey "indicates very clearly" that should the legislature enact any tax cut, the people do not want the requisite spending cuts to come from education.

After a voter defeat in June of a property tax shift, the governor and legislative leaders feel property tax reform is still being demanded by the people. Such a tax reform would be completed through legislative action during the current fall session, which would require many budget cuts, both on a state and local level, to absorb the loss in revenues.

Special interest groups, such as the MEA, are trying to make an early case that the cuts should come in other areas and not in theirs.

Geiger said the survey was commissioned to get a sense of how Michigan residents felt about taxes and education.

The results showed that people generally did not think they were getting good value for their tax money, with only 16 percent saying they received excellent or good value from their federal taxes, 18 percent from state taxes, 29 percent for local city or township taxes and 30 percent for education taxes.

But, the survey showed that 50 percent of the respondents felt the quality of education in their local area was good or excellent. About 47 percent feel current over-all education spending is about right with 19 percent thinking it was too large and 21 percent thinking it was too small.

In specific areas, 31 percent felt not enough money was spent for either gifted or handicapped students and 28 percent felt not enough was spent on extracurricular activities and individual pupil needs.

On budget cuts, 26 percent said there should be no cuts in state spending on education.

That figure was more than twice as high as felt there should be no cuts for the elderly or social security or police protection.

Only about 3 percent of the respondents said there should be cuts in welfare and 6 percent said cuts in aid to families with dependent children.

When asked if they would likely support a tax cut if it meant less spending for education, 60 percent said no.

The same question asked about other programs resulted in 52 percent not wanting a cut if it would mean less money for mental health, 47 percent for Medicaid, 42 percent on public health, 34 percent on prisons, 20 percent on ADC and 15 percent on welfare.

In another section, those surveyed said most (57 percent) of school financing should come from the state, with 35 percent coming from local taxes.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Lately the papers read like the whole country is on fire. It looks like everybody is suffering somepun called burnout. According to this piece Bug Hookum bring to the country store Saturday night, dogcatchers now are going up in smoke. Bug give his report at the start of the session, and he opened the door to a world of woe.

Bug said a professor of sychology at the University of Alabama done a study and couldn't come up with much to say in favor of being a animal control officer, as dogcatchers are called on the college level. The doctor found that dogcatching is one of the top five most stressful jobs in American society. Furthermore, the professor was worried that he couldn't find any young people that want to be dogcatchers when they grow up. Some go into animal control to help the community, he said, but most do it because it's the only job they can find. Why ever they do it, he reported, they git no respect, and what really burns em is that they face life-or-death situations every day. They got to decide which animals live and which is doomed to the gas chamber.

General speaking, the fellers agreed that a dogcatcher's life is not a barrel of laughs, but Zeke Grubb, fer one, was of a mind that pressure on them must be short of that on doctors that deal in life or death of people. Zeke recalled that doctor and nurse burnout is right up there with teachers, preachers, policemen and airplane controllers. Zeke noted that the professor that run the dogcatcher stress test didn't say what the other top five are, but he'd be willing to bet that doctors rank close behind football coaches. If the air traffic people didn't have enough stress on the job, Zeke declared, think what their illegal strike got for em now that they've found out the country can keep flying without em, was Zeke's words.

Ed Doolittle picked up on the doctor stress. He had saw where a doctor in England quit to be a butcher. The doctor said he couldn't live on the $130 a week he was paid as medical officer at the Oldham Royal Infirmary, and he could make a third more cutting meat, with no problems at all from his patients. Ed said doctors over here might take up plumbing to make more money, but right now the worst stress most of em have is trying to figger the stock market. Fer his money, Ed said, burnout comes with every territory, and the feller that can't handle it ought to get in another line of work. Ed said it looked to him like burnout was just a new word fer gitting in a rut and figgering yours is deeper than anybody's.

Actual, broke in Clem Webster, he had saw where no matter what you do taking a vacation from it won't help. A report from Michael Reese Medical Center says burnout is hotter on vacation than on the job, because most families spent so much time trying to do so much on vacation they never relax and come home more stressed then ever. What's a feller to do, Clem ask, if the strain off the job is worst than the strain of the job.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Lioness Club Members Tour Spaulding for Children Home

Chelsea Lioness Club had the opportunity this month to visit the home that houses Spaulding for Children and to hear a presentation by Joan Nagy, developmental director of this unique adoption agency.

The tour was the first of many the home plans to give to interested groups.

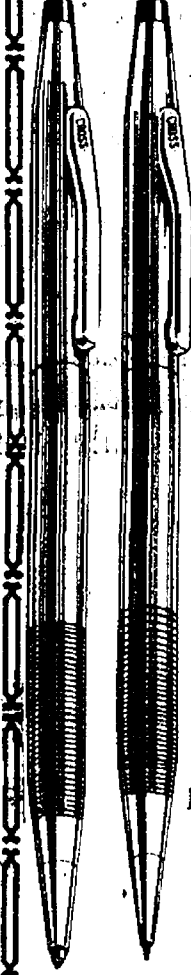

The Lioness Club members were able to see all of the home built by the Spaulding family more than a century ago. The home was recently renovated with money from a Kresge Foundation grant, but it still maintains the warmth and charm of the original farmhouse. Most of the rooms are used for office space now, yet Spaulding family treasures may be seen throughout, and one room is maintained as a museum room with furnishings from the original home.

Spaulding for Children began in 1968 when Warren Spaulding opened his home to help children in need. No children reside there. The agency works on behalf of children who are in foster homes or institutions. Spaulding for Children is unique in that it seeks homes for children whom other agencies consider unadoptable, such as the older child, the non-white child, the physically or mentally handicapped.

The agency has a very high success rate because of extensive work to match the child to his or her adoptive family and long term follow-ups of the child and his or her new home. The majority of the funding for this work comes from private fund-raising. Only about one-third of the support comes from the state.

The Lioness Club members found the evening spent at Spaulding for Children to be interesting and enlightening.

Methodists Conducting Stewardship Campaign

Members of the First United Methodist church of Chelsea have proven stewardship campaigns can be exciting and fun, and now they're out to prove it again.

More than 35 members of the church filled the roles of "trail bosses" and "route riders" for their third annual Pony Express "run."

The Rev. Marvin McCallum, pastor, said the campaign was based on teamwork—the same concept employed by the Pony Express more than a century ago.

Twenty-nine leaders of the church were designated trail bosses to supervise the relaying of stewardship "saddlebags" to all of the church's families on Pony Express routes.

The names of 10 church families were written on a run route list on each saddlebag. A family filled in an "estimate of giving" card, sealed it in an envelope and inserted it in the saddlebag, which was then hand-carried to another family on the route.

"We've used this unique approach for the past two years, and we've proven stewardship campaigns can be pleasurable, in addition to having their serious moments," the Rev. McCallum

Fall Forum Discussion Studies Cults

"Cults: What Are They?" is the last in a series of Fall Forums at St. Paul United Church of Christ, 14600 Old U.S.-12. The topic will be discussed Sunday, Oct. 25, between the hours of 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

The speaker is Dr. John C. Cooper, Ph.D., professor of systematic theology and Dean of Academic Affairs, Wimbrenner Theological Seminary, Findlay, O.

Dr. Cooper is a highly-respected author, having published more than 25 books, among the most recent being "Not For A Million Dollars," now in four translations, and regarding cults and their impact on society; and "The Joy of the Plain Life," concerning what the gospel has to say about economics and lifestyles.

He earned his Ph.D. from the Divinity School at the University of Chicago and he has traveled extensively through Asia, Latin America, Africa and the rural United States. Throughout his career, he has addressed such diverse gatherings as writers' conferences, civic groups, college convocations, and physician's conventions, and was recently selected and listed in the Outstanding Educators of America.

The Forum is open to the public, with a $2 donation payable at the door. The Forums are sponsored by the Church and Mission and Board of Christian Education Committees of St. Paul church.

said. "Hard sell is out with this program," he continued.

Bill Eisenbeiser, finance chairman, said each member is asked simply to estimate the amount he or she will be able to give the church during the coming year.

That decision, he said, is made without anyone "looking over their shoulder."

The church had a large turnout of the "Key Workers" last Sunday for a Chuck Wagon Breakfast and fellowship.

The Pony Express "run" at Chelsea United Methodist church has covered one to two weeks during the past two years, and this year church leaders decided to conduct a one-week drive.

"Our Pony Express runs the past two years were received with such enthusiasm and were so successful that we are confident only one week will be necessary this year," Eisenbeiser said.

Trail bosses began distributing the stewardship saddlebags among members at 1 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 18. From that point, the bags will be carried from member to member until Friday, Oct. 23 at 5:30 p.m. when the estimate of giving cards will be totaled in the church office.

And, if this year is like the past two, the total will set a new record for the church.

The church's goal this year is $113,000.

"The leaders of the campaign have increased their estimates of giving for the coming year by 12 percent, and I am confident the other members will do likewise," Eisenbeiser said.

"We trust each family to act responsibly in making a decision about the amount they will share with others during the coming year."

UNICEF Campaign Starts Oct. 25

Kermit the Frog, star of Jim Henson's Muppets and chairman of the 1981 National UNICEF campaign, has issued a challenge to Chelsea area residents and to all Americans. Kermit asks that this year's national UNICEF campaign be the "most successful ever" by everyone contributing generously to the United Nations Children's Fund.

Church Women United of Chelsea are again sponsoring this campaign; they believe in the UNICEF program to help children all over the world. UNICEF Week from Oct. 25 to Nov. 1. During that time, children will be going from door to door asking area residents to fill their UNICEF boxes with contributions. Containers will also be found in local places of business. Several community churches are adding in the supervision of this collection.

Proceeds from this campaign will be sent to the U. S. Committee for UNICEF and will benefit the neediest children of Africa, Asia and Latin America. UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, provides equipment, training and supplies for primary health care, improved nutrition and safe, clean water supplies for children and their families throughout the developing world. Join Kermit in helping children help other children.

Automated Elbow Grease

The rotary washing machine was patented long before such machines were electric. Hamilton Erastus Smith gained a patent for a device which used a hand crank, causing a perforated cylinder within a wooden shell to revolve, turning and washing clothes at the same time. The many fascinations of early domestic living are part of the lure at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, which houses a wide array of household helpers in its collections, including a c.1880 "Standard Perfection" rocker type washing machine and a c. 1899 "Boss" washer.

Fellowship Baptist Church Changes Meeting Time

Fellowship Baptist church has changed its meeting time from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. each Sunday at the Rebekah Hall on M-52. Persons of all faiths and all walks of life are welcomed.

The Baptist Church Fellowship, of which Fellowship Baptist church is a member, is a group of churches which have united in an effort to proclaim the Doctrines of Grace, according to the Bible.

The fellowship is sponsoring a Reformation Rally at the Grace Baptist church in Canton, on the corner of Michigan and Sheldon Rds. The date is Friday, Oct. 30, beginning at 2 p.m. The closing message at 7:15 p.m. will be on the great truth brought to light by Martin Luther on Justification by Faith.

Speakers at the rally will be the Rev. Norman Street and Dr. Harilee Bordeau, both of Flint, and the Rev. LeRoy Cole of Altus.

Serving with dignity and concern for more than 100 years.

Dear Editor:
As your County Commissioner, I want to invite public comment on our Budget Wednesday night, Oct. 21, 7 p.m. at the County Administration Building (former Ann Arbor Post Office on Main St.)

I'm worried that people may be misled by a recent letter which was inaccurate. The figures given for the county millage rate included more than the county's operating millage. The figures included special millages voted by the taxpayers, drain assessments, and debt retirement. Commissioners can't budget these dollars, only the operating millage.

Secondly, citizens and taxpayers should know that we reduced the county's operating millage each year for the last three years. We are nowhere near our legal maximum level of 5.6 mills which we used to levy in the past.

The administrator's proposed budget is sound and balanced, although at a slight increase over last year. He's proposing going from 5.03 mills to 5.19 mills. This is not an 18% increase as some people say. It amounts to 16¢ per $1,000 valuation or $6 per house which has a market value of $75,000.

The increase proposed in our budget means we still have some cutbacks in programs. We will have about 50 less staff. We all have to tighten our belts because of inflation and decreases in revenues, particularly from the federal government.

It's important though that this budget will maintain services to the western part of the county from the Sheriff's Department and the Library. We will keep most programs in the Health Department and for the elderly. If the county doesn't budget and pay for these services, the burden is shifted to the local townships and villages. And taxpayers will be paying for sheriff's services, for instance, without the help of the county.

Let us hear from you!

George Merkel,
County Commissioner,
District 2

Many species of birds prefer to bathe in dirt rather than water, according to National Wildlife magazine. Ruffed grouse, ring-necked pheasants, wild turkeys, larks, wrens, and quail regularly get dirty in order to come clean by tossing dirt at themselves with their wings or beaks. Dirt removes excess oils, stops the spread of parasites, and improves the insulating quality of their plumage.

A SURE SIGN OF AUTUMN: John J. Ford of East St. spent part of Friday, rake in hand, gathering the leaves that had fallen or blown onto his lawn. Bright, crisp weather made for perfect

Youth Concert Auditions Slated By Symphony

Washtenaw County students will be selected through competitive auditions to perform as soloists with the Ann Arbor Symphony at a Youth Concert to be presented on Wednesday, Dec. 16 in Hill Auditorium, according to a statement by Edward Szabo, conductor of the orchestra.

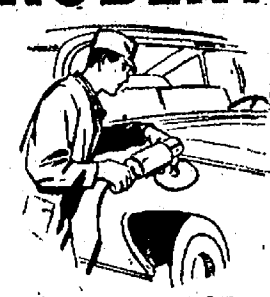

Winning students will receive an award of $25 in addition to a solo appearance with the orchestra. The auditions will be held Saturday morning, Nov. 14, at the University of Michigan School of Music, Room 2032. Students will be notified of their audition times.

Auditions are open to any student who is both a resident of Washtenaw county and also attends a public, private, or parochial school in Washtenaw county. Students may audition in keyboard, voice, or orchestral instruments.

The audition number should not exceed the length of, for example, one movement of a concerto. Students must provide their own accompanists which are required for the audition.

Only students in grades 9 through 12 are eligible to participate. Students interested in auditioning should ask music teachers in their schools for application blanks or direct their inquiries to Edward Szabo, 2775 Seminole Rd., Ann Arbor 48104, or call 971-0162. Applications must be received by the deadline date of Nov. 2, in order to be considered. Students will then be notified of their respective audition times through the mail by Nov. 10.

Views On Dental Health

By ROBERT A. BURNS, JR., DDS, P.C.

PROBING THE POCKETS

Stephen K., a 46-year-old accountant, noticed that his gums bled when he brushed his teeth or bit into an apple. He visited his dentist who commenced examining him by inserting a little "perio" probe between his teeth and gums to find the extent of the "pockets." After an X-ray examination showing the amount of tooth-supporting bone loss, he was given the bad news. He had advanced periodontal disease and would lose at least three teeth which were beyond help and have to undergo extensive care to hopefully save the other 29.

Of the 125 million adults who still have their teeth (20 million have already lost theirs), about 100 million have some periodontal disease. And in 32 million, it is in an advanced stage, meaning that they too will become toothless unless they undergo extensive treatment.

There is no need for periodontal tooth loss. Learn to clean your teeth properly and they should last a lifetime like they are supposed to. Ask your dentist to help.

If you have dental health questions you would like to see answered, please mail them to the address below.

Question: We've read about Goodyear wanting to move its plant out of Jackson because it costs too much to operate in Michigan. What are you doing to help keep business here and attract new business?

Governor: Many of the issues raised by Goodyear officials in Jackson are being discussed by Republicans and Democrats alike and will be addressed when the legislature returns this month. We have started the momentum to address what I consider the priority of this session: the strengthening of Michigan's job and business climate.

Some of the specific issues we will examine include business tax relief, including the single business tax, capital acquisitions and other incentives for small business. We will look at ways to reduce the costs of workers' compensation and unemployment insurance. We will be working to attract high technology industries, and foreign trade and investment, with a multi-million dollar promotional program to assure business that Michigan means business.

We are pledged to achieve property tax relief for business and homeowners alike, which will include relief on 1981 winter and summer taxes.

Question: Three years ago you supported the formation of the Toxic Substance Control Commission accomplished since then, and do you favor its continuation?

Governor: I did support and signed into law Public Act 77 in 1978, which created the Toxic Substance Control Commission as the co-ordinating body for handling toxic wastes and chemicals. Since its formation, the Toxic Substance Control Commission has put into operation a system of controls that ranks far ahead of other states.

The Toxic Substance Control Commission has helped bring about legislation to license disposal sites, coordinated efforts in handling chemical accidents like the recent Bridgman train spill, and worked with the departments of Public Health and Natural Resources to find safe public land for future disposal.

The PBB incident taught us many lessons about dealing with toxic chemicals, and the basic philosophy behind the Toxic Substance Control Commission is one that I support and accept. Therefore, I will recommend that its authorization be extended when its original commission expires next year.

If you have a question for the Governor, please sent it to: Ask the Governor, Executive Office, Press Section, Lansing 48909.

Thanks to you... it works... for ALL OF US

The nation's largest estuary, the 4,400-square-mile Chesapeake Bay, yields an average of 125 pounds of seafood per acre to sport and commercial fishermen annually. More than 200 species of fish feed and spawn there, and the bay is a major wintering area for waterfowl. Unfortunately, pollution threatens the bay's wildlife. Every day an estimated 400 million gallons of municipal sewage are dumped into it. Toxic chemicals seep into the estuary and about 800 tanker oil spills occur each year.

We live out in the country, and we've been noticing bad odors coming from the septic tank area. What can we do about it?

One of the first signs of a malfunctioning disposal system is a bad smell coming from the drainfield area. This sign—as well as toilets that back up, drains that won't drain, and excessive moisture surfacing over the drainfield—is a warning! You should immediately contact the Health Department at 994-2492!

If you let the problem go, the failed drainfield will present a health hazard to you, your family and your neighbors too.

It is possible to have a system function with a minimum of trouble—but you should set up and follow an on-going maintenance schedule.

- Don't use special additives. They will not increase the life of your system; they may even shorten it.
- Don't allow large volumes of water (such as several large laundry loads) to enter the system on a single day. You will reduce the amount of waste water if you do full loads of laundry or dishes.
- Don't dispose of plastics or diapers or cloth in the sewage system.
- Don't put grease or oil down the drain.
- Fix all leaking fixtures or toilets immediately.
- Don't plant a garden or build outbuildings or room additions over the drainfield or the expansion area.

The Environmental Health Office of the Health Department has published a pamphlet about avoiding problems with your septic tank. For your own copy of "You Can Have A Trouble-Free Sewage Disposal System" call 973-1488 or write the Health Department.

YOUR HEALTH OPTIONS appears in this paper each month. If you have a health related question, please write to this paper, attn: YOUR HEALTH OPTIONS or directly to the Washtenaw County Health Department, Health Education Office, Box 8645, Ann Arbor 48107.

Good Things Growing In Michigan

By Margaret G. McCall
 October is National Porkfest month. Celebrate by preparing an all-pork dinner with "good things growing in Michigan." This is one of the major hog-marketing months of the year and you can find excellent pork buys now.

Sliced baked ham is delicious in sandwiches, but for a different filling combine chopped or ground cooked ham with any one of these: mustard and mayonnaise, catsup and a dash of Tabasco, chopped dill pickle with mayonnaise and a little dill weed, or finely chopped chutney and a bit of curry powder.

For Ham and Squash Rings, arrange slices of cooked acorn squash and ham in a shallow baking dish and bake for 40-50 minutes. Mix one-half cup maple syrup, three tablespoons butter, one-fourth teaspoon each of cinnamon and cloves. Pour over squash and ham. Bake, covered for 25-30 minutes, spooning glaze over ham and squash occasionally.

Enrollment Down 6.3% At MSU

Fall term enrollment at Michigan State University totals 42,094, which represents a decline from last year's 44,940 and is in line with revised projections made by university officials last month.

Provost Lee Winder indicated that a combination of factors contributed to the 6.3 percent decline, including changes in the financial aid available and the problems families and students face because of economic conditions in the state.

The total includes 36,294 students from Michigan.

Winder also noted significant reduction from 7,084 to 6,087 in the number of first-time freshmen. The number of graduate students declined from 7,060 a year ago to 6,499.

The College of Business continues to enroll the most students, 7,300 this year compared with 7,869 in fall of 1980.

Engineering is second with 4,498 (4,334 last year); Social Science, 4,427 (4,931); and Agriculture and Natural Resources, 4,314 (4,538).

Other enrollments include: Natural Science, 3,501 (3,735 in 1980); Communication Arts and Sciences, 3,297 (3,219); Education, 3,100 (3,628); Arts and Letters, 2,401 (2,698); Human Ecology, 1,619 (1,725); Veterinary Medicine, 1,111 (1,260); Human Medicine, 1,039 (1,116); Lyman Briggs, which is now Lyman Briggs School, 873 (907); James Madison, 859 (890); Nursing, 584 (684); Osteopathic Medicine, 396 (410); Urban Development, which is now Urban Affairs Programs, 75 (125).

In the 42,094 total this fall, 21,557 are men and 20,537 are women. The number of married students decreased from 3,904 year ago to 2,970 this fall.

INFLATION AND THE HOMEOWNER

Hamburger, up 63%. Fresh milk, up 53%. Gas and electricity, up 70%. Postal service, up 75%. Toothpaste, up 31%. Physicians' fees, up 89%. And men's haircuts, up 53%.

Most families don't need the Consumer Price Index to remind them of the soaring increases in the cost of living since 1967.

Inflation isn't all bad, however. True, prices of everyday commodities and services have risen dramatically. But those people who have invested wisely will find the value of their investments also have grown.

One of the most common investments—though most people don't think of it that way—is the family home. As an investment, housing has more than kept pace with inflation. While the overall Consumer Price Index "market basket" of goods and services in 1975 averaged about 61 percent higher than the 1967 basket, increases in residential construction costs substantially exceeded that rate of growth—83%. That's why real estate investment is considered the best inflation hedge of all.

You-Pick Orchards Offer Apple Varieties

Juicy, crisp apples may be plucked off trees by visitors at 109 orchards in Lower Michigan, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"At pick-your-own orchards, the buyer is assured of tree-ripened fruit and usually has a greater choice of apples than stores offer," noted James Drury, Auto Club Travel Operations Manager.

"More than 30 varieties are available from the orchards on our list, varying from red delicious—an apple-eater's favorite—to Northern Spies—a popular choice for pies," he said. "Orchard growers can advise buyers of the best choice for home use."

Auto Club suggests pickers call ahead to make sure the apples they want are available. Many farms surveyed would not specify the date of the fall harvest's end, explaining that season length is determined greatly by buyer demand.

Orchard-goers can take their own containers to hold pickings or get baskets, bushels or sacks from orchard operators. Free containers are provided at more than half of the orchards.

Sun hats and work gloves are advised for apple pickers. Ladders are needed for tall trees, but the fruit of dwarf trees easily can be reached by adults of average height.

A few operators run cider mills along with their pick-your-own orchards. Some will press cider from apples picked by the buyer.

Travelers can make day-long outings of their visits to several pick-your-own facilities. Wagon rides through the orchards, walking tours of farm operations and antique museums are among the attractions. Also, many operators sell home, caramel apples and light lunches and provide picnic tables for visitors.

Pre-harvest price estimates range from $3.50 to $9 per bushel, varying with types of apples. Some growers said they reduce prices as the selection dwindles near season's end.

Gerald A. Myers Receives License As Surveyor

The Michigan Society of Registered Land Surveyors and its seven affiliate chapters sponsored the annual Certificate Presentation dinner held at Long's of Lansing, Oct. 17.

This dinner honored the registrants who successfully passed the 1981 state examination for land surveyors.

The speaker, Raymond J. Foresman, Jr., J.D., a partner in a Lansing law firm, spoke on "Professional Liability in the 80's—Today A License—Tomorrow A Lawsuit."

The certificates were presented to the 1981 registrants by a member of the State Board of Registration for Land Surveyors.

Among those so honored and receiving their certificates or state licenses to duly practice the profession of land surveying in the state of Michigan was Gerald A. Myers, L.S., of Chelsea. He is employed as a surveyor for McNamee, Porter and Seeley, Ann Arbor.

Historical Society Sees Architectural Survey Results

The Chelsea Area Historical Society met on Monday evening, Oct. 12, at the McKune Memorial Library.

The membership was presented with the findings from the architectural survey done last fall in Chelsea. Karen Bean, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University with a master's degree in historic preservation, gave a slide presentation. She explained the different types of architecture and several Chelsea homes and businesses were shown and described.

Several members are currently hard at work making plans to open a museum of history of the village. It is a very great undertaking and it is anticipated that it won't take long for their dream to become a reality.

With the death of Otis Titus, the Historical Society has lost a fine member. Plans for an appropriate memorial will be finalized at the Nov. 9 meeting.

These two pigments are in the leaves all year long, but can't be seen in the spring and summer because they are covered by the green chlorophyll. HORNET SAM POPE, ball in hand, is hauled down by Rod Robeson and Russell Harris Friday night during the "game of the year" for both Saline and Chelsea. Defending league champions, the Saline Hornets managed to pull off a 48-21 victory at the hands of a hardworking and poor playing Chelsea team to maintain their stance atop the Southeastern Conference standings.

SEC ROUND-UP:

Saline Upsets Chelsea, 48-21, Still Undefeated in League

Milan 13, Dexter 8

Winless Milan and Dexter battled it out at Friday night to cap Dexter's Homecoming week on a sour note, defeating the Dreadnaughts, 13-8.

Leading the Milan attack was Nick O'Hair who rushed for more than 100 yards and made an important interception for the Big Reds.

Dexter's crowd, however, cheered Pat Quigley on as he completed a 33-yard pass interception and ran through the Milan uprisings to wipe the goose eggs off the Dreadnaughts' scoreboard.

All scoring was completed in the second quarter as the defensive squads of each team held off the other following intermission.

Saline 48, Chelsea 21

Defending SEC champions, the Saline Hornets, buzzed into Chelsea Friday night for the game of the season as they stung the Bulldogs, 48-21, to remain undefeated in conference play.

The upset began early, as the Hornets ran the opening kick-off 70 yards and through the Bulldog uprisings for a quick 6-point lead. Chelsea came back and Preston scored from one yard away and kicked the extra point as the Bulldogs managed their only lead of the game.

Saline countered with a second touchdown in the first quarter. By halftime, Saline had managed to take a 20-7 lead.

In the third quarter Wojcicki managed a four yard pass to Chuck Hager for Chelsea's second touchdown but Saline managed to add 22 points in the quarter. John Preston scored again in the fourth quarter and ran the ball across for two points to end Chelsea's scoring opportunities.

Reason for the loss, Chelsea mistakes.

Tecumseh 7, Mason 0

The Indians struck early in the first quarter as Tim Connors pounced on a Mason fumble and Jim Quinn ran 14 yards to score. Tecumseh played a strong game, rushing for 283 total yards and their third Southeastern Conference win.

Tecumseh's Indians take on the powerful Saline Hornets this Friday.

Lincoln 22, Western 21

In a questionable officiated game Friday night, the visiting Lincoln Railsplitters slipped past Jackson County Western at Parma to win, 22-21, following the call back of three touchdowns.

Lincoln held a 16-7 lead at the half and added six additional points in the fourth to squeak past the Panthers, as Dan Johnson rushed for 200 yards.

JV Girl Cagers Win Two Contests

The Chelsea JV girls basketball team chalked up two non-conference victories over Stockbridge and Eaton Rapids to run their winning streak to four and five out of their last six outings.

Against Stockbridge, Chelsea jumped out to a 9-4 first quarter lead on baskets by Karla Peterson, Sarah Comeau, Anne Weber, Jane Wood and a free throw by Samantha Collinsworth. However, Stockbridge rallied in the second quarter, outscoring the Bulldogs, 9-4, to lead, 13-11, at the half. Chelsea took charge in the second half as they outscored Stockbridge, 22-6. Leading the second half charge were Peterson with eight points and Collinsworth with 10.

For the game, Collinsworth led with 11 points while Peterson had 10. Michelle Parmer had three and Sarah Comeau, Jane Wood, Anne Weber each added two points. Kelly Hawker added a

Bulldogs Tumble from Ranks of Undefeated In 48-21 Loss to Saline

Chelsea's Bulldogs came out Friday night and played hard but not well against the defending Southeastern Conference champions, the Saline Hornets. The Bulldogs were defeated, 48-21, in a contest to determine the SEC leaders.

Despite their hard work, Chelsea's offensive effort was riddled with errors and the Bulldog defense was overwhelmed by the Saline offensive line.

On the opening kick-off, Saline was able to run the ball the length of the field and through the Bulldog uprisings to record their first six points. This early attack, however, was countered by John Preston's one-yard run and successful kick as the Bulldogs took their only lead, 7-6, of the game.

Before the end of the first quarter, Saline managed to score again, this time from 14 yards out. The two-point conversion play failed. Chelsea was held from any and all scoring opportunities in the remainder of the half while Saline moved up to a 20-7 half-time advantage.

In the second half, Chelsea's problems continued as the Hornets added an easy 22 points in the third quarter, accountable to Chelsea's numerous fumbles.

Still, the Bulldogs came back as David Wojcicki passed four yards to Chuck Hager.

The teams traded touchdowns in the fourth quarter as Preston made a five-yard run into the Hornet end zone and ran for the two-point conversion, preceded by a nine-yard run by Saline.

Chelsea travels to Lincoln this Friday to take on a strong Railsplitter team.

Kicks Soccer Team Wins Three More

The Chelsea Kicks soccer team continued their way to the top by defeating three more top teams.

On Tuesday, the Kicks traveled to the Hartland area where they handed the Huron Valley Racers an 11-1 loss. Leading scorer for the Kicks was Vince Salyer with three goals. He was followed by Roberto Castillo, Tom Vandervoort and Dave Lange with two each while Tim Pennington and John Popovich each added one goal.

The Kicks then hosted Pioneer High school on Friday to a 3-1 victory. Chelsea dominated most of the game. On a pass from Greg Ackley, Roberto Castillo made a quick goal early in the game. He then came back with his second goal.

In the second half, John Mitchell scored on a good pass from Tom Vandervoort. Then on Saturday, the Kicks traveled again to Hartland to play Hartland High school. The game started out without either team making any mistakes or giving up any goals. Then, with the Kicks down by one goal, Dave Lange broke the ice with a hard kick to the opposite side of the goal.

Hartland began to put pressure on the Kicks' defense. With Brian Schultz, John Wilcox, John Mitchell, Greg Ackley and Chris Burkhalter, the Kicks stopped Hartland's many attacks. Toward the end of the second half, Vince Salyer scored two quick goals to bring a 3-1 victory to the Kicks.

The Chelsea team has four more games. On Tuesday, they host Jackson Parkside and on Friday, they travel to Ann Arbor. Saturday the team will host Hartland and on Tuesday, Oct. 27, they will play host to Ypsilanti High school for their final game.

JV Gridders Slip Past Saline, 6-0

Chelsea High school junior varsity football team slipped past the Saline Hornets, 6-0, Thursday night to up their season slate to 4-2 over-all and 4-1 in the Southeastern Conference.

Chelsea scored the only points in the game in their opening possession on a 12-play, 67-yard drive. Scott Cooper scored from two yards out. The extra point attempt was stopped.

The balance of the game was a defense-oriented contest, neither side recording any more points. It was, according to the coach, a good game as Saline managed to slip inside the Chelsea 40-yard line just four times while Chelsea got into the Saline end on three occasions.

On Chelsea's first drive, the team scored. Inside the Saline 40 on the second occasion, Steinhauer intercepted a pass and made it to the 33, by the fourth down, Chelsea managed to reach the 15-yard line. Scott Cooper recovered a fumble for Chelsea's third time inside.

On Saline's third chance inside the Chelsea 40-yard line, the Hornets drove from their own 11 to within one inch of Chelsea's goal line. In three plays inside the Chelsea two-yard line, Saline was held off and the game was taken by Chelsea.

Defensively, the Bulldogs were strong with Chris Gallas contributing on 18 tackles. Steinhauer tallied 10 tackles, Scott Cooper 11, and Dave Walter, and Jeff Morgan each had 12.

Statistically, both teams each had eight first downs and Saline rushed for 177 yards and added 16 through the air for a total of 193 yards. Chelsea totaled 106 rushing and 57 passing for a game total 165 yards.

Rushing for Chelsea, Cooper gained 52 yards on 13 carries while Morgan added 46 yards on 20 carries.

Defensively, the JV Bulldogs were sharp and the offense was capable of moving the ball enough to win. Two games remain against Lincoln and Mason.

Girls Cross Country Closes First Season

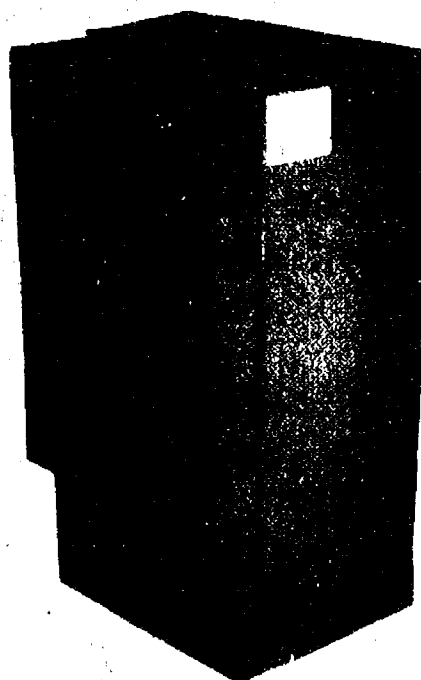

Chelsea's girls cross country team came up with a fine effort for their final dual meeting at Inverness, but unfortunately it was not tough enough to stop powerful South Lyon in a 21-34 loss.

Sandra Frame led the Bulldog ladies with a new course record time of 20:27 to finish second. Kathy Degener ran her finest race of the season, finishing fifth at 21:57. Other Bulldog placers were Kim Boyd, eighth at 22:12, Mary Ann Richardson, ninth at 22:33, Wendy Wolfgang, 10th at 23:17 and Sharon Guinan, 11th at 23:27.

The loss leaves the girls' final season record at 3-5 over-all and 2-3 in the Southeastern Conference.

"The girls performed admirably against fine competition," said Coach Pat Clarke. "All of the top six girls who ran today are underclassmen, which speaks well for next season. We have accomplished our goal of building a competitive girls cross country team at Chelsea," Clarke concluded.

Farm Leader Praises Proposed Budget Reductions

Robert Delano, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, called President Reagan's proposed $13 billion cuts in federal spending "an appropriate step toward economic soundness." According to Delano, the 3 million member-family organization is pleased that President Reagan and his administration recognize that the major cause of high interest rates which are hurting farmers is the significant intrusion by the federal government in the credit market.

"Private enterprise cannot withstand competition from a huge federal government which is currently absorbing 45 percent of all new credit," Delano said. "The goal of the economic recovery program is to reduce federal involvement in the economy and to balance the budget, which would eliminate federal deficits and the necessity for substantial federal borrowing. In the long run, this would make credit available to everyone at lower rates."

Besides being on a $5 bill, Abraham Lincoln's portrait is also on a $1,000 savings bond.

Bill Would Suspend Driver's License of Convicted 'Turfers'

A bill recently reported out of the Michigan House Roads and Bridges Committee would suspend the license of any driver convicted of using a motor vehicle to maliciously destroy agricultural crops, lawns or gardens. The offense is sometimes known as "turfing."

"We feel that this bill is a good companion to Public Act 159 of 1980 that provides for restitution to victims of turfing," said Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau. "We've seen an increase recently in the number of incidents of crops maliciously destroyed by motor vehicles."

The bill still has to go to the floor of the House and, if approved there, on to the Senate. Nelson said the measure appears non-controversial and has a good chance of passage.

Lions Club Continues Pumpkin, Cider Sale

The Chelsea Lions will continue their annual pumpkin and cider sale this Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 24 and 25, with stands located at the Chelsea State Bank branch on Main St. at Old US-12, at the corner of M-52 and Werker Rd. and at the North Lake Store at North Territorial and Storer Rds.

This will be the last week-end of the Lions' fund-raising project prior to Halloween.

The "Molly Maguires," a secret society of Irish miners in the anthracite fields, first came to public attention in 1862. The "Mollies" were charged with acts of terrorism against mine bosses and went out of existence in 1876 when 14 of their leaders were imprisoned and 10 were executed, according to a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Former Chelseaites Dies in Los Angeles

Word of the death of Roy J. Maier of the Bel Air section of Los Angeles was received early Wednesday evening, informing a close Chelsea friend that his death had occurred early that morning.

Mr. Maier was born Jan. 8, 1897 in Chelsea, the son of John and Minnie Maier.

He may be remembered by the older citizens of the village as "that red-haired kid who was always playing his horn."

When the word of his death was received, funeral arrangements had not been completed though it may be assumed that the funeral services and burial took place in Los Angeles.

Anyone wishing further information may call 475-2955, where a considerable amount of Chelsea history may be obtained in regards to the Maier family.

'SAFE BOATING TIPS'

From Ann Arbor Flotilla 17-03,
U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary

★ Know First Aid Basics . . .

"Pleasure boaters should be thoroughly familiar with the basics of first aid," according to Albert Chaffee, Commander of Ann Arbor's Flotilla 17-03 of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary.

"Minor accidents occur quite frequently on the water, where trained medical help is often miles away. Someone aboard should know what to do until the accident victim can be transported for treatment," he continued.

Here are a few specific suggestions:

—Always carry a first aid kit and instructional manual aboard your boat.

—Treat minor burns with cold water or ice. Never apply ointments to severe burns; cover them with a sterile dressing. Get professional help.

—Stop bleeding with direct pressure on a bandage over the wound.

—Use mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and cardiac massage if an accident victim is not breathing.

—Update your first aid knowledge by taking a Red Cross first aid course.

Prevention is better than cure. Take a boating course from the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary. For information about these classes, call Chaffee at 313/449-4874, between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Frost Is on the Punkin

"When the frost is on the punkin' and the corn is in the shock, That's the time for coho fishin', cider mills, and a color walk."

James Whitcomb Riley may turn over in his grave at the cavalier use of his hallowed stanza to promote autumn in Michigan, but he couldn't deny the sentiments. These are the days and nights, the times of the year when most residents agree that Michigan is at her best.

Within a few weeks her forests will be ablaze with color, the mighty coho and chinook salmon will begin their annual return to upriver spawning grounds, and game fishing begins in earnest on the Great Lakes.

There are more than 90 cider mills in Michigan, and several are historic sites, over 100 years old, and many offer interesting and tasty surprises. A week-end drive to one of them for a cup of fresh squeezed cider and a fresh hot doughnut has become a Michigan tradition. And, while you're at it, take home an extra gallon of cider and a dozen more doughnuts for Halloween snacking.

Autumn week-ends are also football week-ends, and pigskin fans have developed the tailgate picnic to a high art at such universities as Michigan, Michigan State, Western, Eastern, Central, Northern, and a host of smaller private and public colleges and universities.

All you really need is a ticket to a football game . . . any game will do, a six pack and some burgers and dogs; or champagne and cold chicken if your taste runs to crystal stemware, linen napery and bone china, (cider and doughnuts will do very nicely, too) a fashionable station wagon with a tailgate or a flivver with a trunk, and let the good times roll.

For a quieter, more sedentary mini-vacation, how about an antique treasure hunt or browsing Michigan craft shops in such havens as Paradise, Marquette, Saugatuck, Rockford, or Lexington. Or just ambling along forest walking trails, or following motor trails among some of the lushest color this side of the fabled New England mountains, and a lot closer to home.
