RED ROSES FOR YOUR VALENTINE? Sandy Zeeb, co-owner of Chelsea Greenhouse, arranges a bouquet of that all-time favorite Valentine flower. To meet the enormous demand, local florists will be carrying roses from California and South and Central American countries, along with Michigan roses, of course. To keep roses fresh as long as possible, Mrs. Zeeb suggests dissolving the floral preservative which comes with the flowers in luke-warm water. Cut the stems on a diagonal and put them in the warm water. (Cold water closes stem pores and water would never get to the blossom.) Several days later re-cut the stems. Only the stems should be in water, because immersed leaves will cause bacteria to grow. Roses should be kept cool if they are to open slowly.

Although the independent truckers strike may hold up Valentine flower shipments from California to other parts of the country, Chelsea area florists say they will have roses for your sweetheart.

Valentine Flowers Shipped By Air from Central America

That rose may be more exotic than you thought, though. It may be flown from South or Central America or California to grace your bud vase.

Red roses, which stand for love in floral tradition, are "the Valentine flower," agree Sandy Zeeb and Carolyn Strieter, local florists.

Unfortunately February's climate isn't conducive to growing that flower in Michigan because of short hours of sunlight and fuel expenses needed to keep greenhouses warm enough, said Jim Gaunt, of Sibley Rd. and president of the florist wholesaling firm, Southview Inc., a supplier in Romulus for southeastern Michigan.

Although he says he would prefer to buy Michigan roses and keep something in the local economy, there just aren't enough roses to go around in February—a case of high demand and low production.

California growers face another dilemma, however. There isn't enough time between the Rose Bowl and Valentine's to raise an adequate rose crop. Gaunt has his California roses shipped by air, he says, because it just takes "too much time" to ship the fragile flower by truck. That's why the truck strike isn't the problem the air traffic controllers' strike was.

South American growers, who are lucky enough to have a major floral holiday during their summer, are becoming major suppliers, said Gaunt, but probably won't take over the market unless fuel costs become prohibitive and land values in warm climates become too tempting for U.S. growers.

Fifteen years ago there were 20-25 major gladiola growers in Florida, he said, but now there are only three. Condominiums have replaced flowers.

Local roses have their advantages, he said. They may mature longer on the plant, stay in water until they are in the customer's bud vase and need to be handled less than a rose packed with several hundred others on a plane from Costa Rica to Miami and on to Michigan.

His firm "won't be turning down any quality roses" for Valentine's from anywhere, he said, because retail florists have such a demand for them.

Sweethearts young, old and in the middle ask for roses, said Sandy Zeeb, co-owner of Chelsea Greenhouse.

Although Chelsea Greenhouse will be opened Sunday afternoon Feb. 13 and open an hour earlier and close an hour later than usual on Monday, Feb. 14, Valentines isn't their biggest single day for flowers, she said. It runs third to Easter and Mother's Day.

Men and women buying Valentine flowers write very romantic messages on the cards which accompany their gift, said Carolyn Strieter, owner of Garnett's Flower & Greenhouse on E. Middle St. The flower buyers aren't shy about it either—they're "really cool" about giving flowers.

Fire Ruins Home On Mester Rd.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a five-room frame house at 8250 Mester Rd., Lyndon township, last Saturday morning with an as yet unestimated but large loss.

The house, owned by Dr. V. P. Laursen of 4115 Clark Rd., Ypsilanti township, was vacant at the time of the fire. Tenants reportedly had moved out three days earlier.

The blaze was discovered by a neighbor who was walking her dog and saw smoke coming out of the house. She called in the alarm, and the Chelsea fire department responded with three trucks, followed shortly after by two tanker-pumpers from Dexter with reserve supplies of water.

When Chelsea firemen arrived, smoke was pouring out of both ends of the house through the roof, and flames were shooting out of windows. Despite their efforts, the interior was gutted before control was achieved two hours later. The roof and exterior walls remained standing, although badly damaged.

"It just had too much of a start before we got there," said Chelsea fire chief Bud Hankerd, who directed the control work. "We had plenty of water and manpower, but there was no way to save the house."

An attached two-car garage was saved with only minor damage.

Chelsea Youth Drowns In Mill Lake When Car Breaks Through Ice

A 17-year-old Chelsea youth drowned and three other young persons survived a tragic accident on Mill Lake shortly after midnight Sunday when the car in which they were riding broke through thin ice.

Dead is Robert R. Murphy, 17, of 6220 Stofer Rd., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murphy, owners of the Sir Pizza restaurant in Chelsea.

The other three occupants of the car managed to find solid ice and walk ashore to safety. They are Paul Hoffmeyer, 20, of 201 Buchanan St., Chelsea, the driver; Todd I. Miller, 20, of 236 Adams St., Chelsea, and Debbie Ann Kranich, 21, of 14100 Riker Rd., Dexter township.

Sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident reconstructed it this way:

The four young people were in a 1973 two-door Ford Pinto, which Hoffmeyer drove onto Mill Lake from the public access site off McClure Rd. sometime between midnight and 8 p.m. The car had gone about 1,000 feet offshore in a southeasterly direction when it broke through thin ice over a spring-hole.

All four persons escaped from the sinking vehicle and began swimming in search of solid ice.

They kept talking to each other in the darkness and cold water, when Murphy suddenly fell silent. Hoffmeyer helped Miss Kranich to safety, returned, and dove in search of Murphy but could not locate him.

The three survivors then crawled out on the ice and walked to the Burns Camp on the southeast shore of the lake, and summoned help.

First on the scene was a

Chelsea police department car, followed shortly by a sheriff's department unit. Deputies called for a helicopter equipped with floodlights to hover over the scene, while divers searched for Murphy. They located him and brought him to shore, where he was pronounced dead by drowning.

The other three persons were treated for cold and exposure.

Hoffmeyer told sheriff's deputies he had driven out on the lake a few days earlier, but in a different direction.

George Rob, manager of the Waterloo Recreation Area in which Mill Lake is located, said the spot where the car went through had been "open water" two days earlier. Like most of the lakes in the area, Mill Lake is spring-fed. It is shallow for the most part but has a few deep holes where the springs are. These spots sometimes never freeze over and, at most, develop only a thin layer of ice even in a severely cold winter.

Boy, 10, Dies As Tractor Rolls on Him

Joseph J. Lozier, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lozier of 17230 Washburne Rd., Sharon township, died yesterday in the Mott Children's Hospital, Ann Arbor, of injuries suffered Saturday when a tractor he was driving rolled over and pinned him underneath.

He was treated first at the Chelsea Hospital emergency room and then transferred to the Ann Arbor facility, suffering severe chest and other injuries.

Sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident said the boy was driving a tractor pulling a manure spreader when the rig jack-knifed on a slippery downhill grade on Washburne Rd. near his home.

Young Lozier was pinned beneath the tractor for an undetermined length of time before a passing motorist came on the scene and reported the accident.

Sheriff's personnel, the Chelsea fire department and nearby residents worked together to free the boy.

Lloyd Heydlauff Dies Suddenly Thursday Night

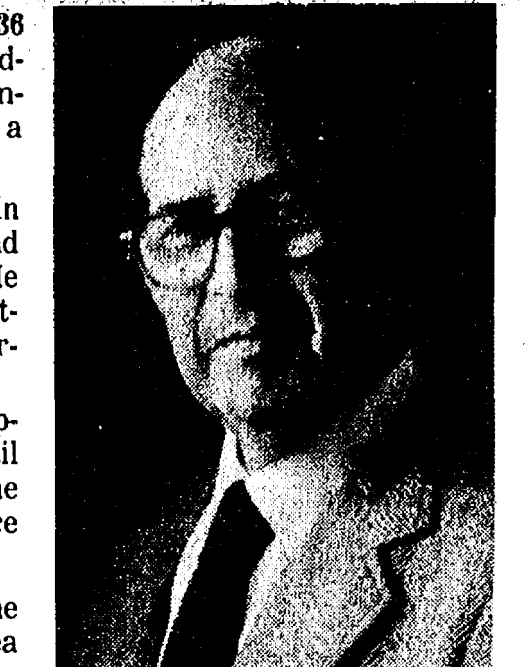

Lloyd R. Heydlauff of 38 Cavanaugh Lake Rd. died suddenly Feb. 3 at Chelsea Community Hospital. He was 75 and a life-long resident of the area.

He was born May 31, 1907 in Sylvan township to George and Ruby (Hoeteling) Heydlauff. He married Leona Mae McCoy Notten March 29, 1930, and she survives him.

Mr. Heydlauff was in the appliance business from 1930 until his retirement in 1978 and was the founder of Heydlauff's appliance store in Chelsea.

He was past president of the Village of Chelsea, the Chelsea Kiwanis Club, and Chelsea Chamber of Commerce. He also served on the Chelsea Community Fair board and was a member of First United Methodist church.

Survivors include his widow; one daughter, Mrs. William (Marlene) Rademacher of Chelsea; one son, George F. Heydlauff of Chelsea; nine grandchildren; one great-grandson; and one brother, Willis of Chelsea. He was preceded in death by one sister, Mrs. Walter (Elsie) Kalmbach and one brother, Clifford Heydlauff.

LLOYD R. HEYDLAUFF

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Monday, Feb. 7 at First United Methodist church with the Rev. Marvin McCallum officiating.

Burial was in Salem Grove Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Lloyd Heydlauff Memorial Fund in care of Chelsea High school.

Funeral arrangements were made by Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel.

Detroit Youth Charged With Grocery B&E

A 17-year-old Detroit resident has been arrested and charged in a break-in at the Jiffy Market on Dec. 28, Washtenaw county sheriff Tom Minick has announced.

Rodney Grames of 13816 Collingham, Detroit, was arraigned last Friday before District Judge Karl V. Fink on a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny and was released on personal recognizance. A preliminary examination was set for 2 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 15, in Judge Fink's Chelsea courtroom.

The Grames family has property holdings in Washtenaw county, including an apple orchard on North Territorial Rd.

Sheriff Minick praised Detective Paul Wade for "excellent investigative work" which led to the arrest and also paid tribute to "many local citizens who assisted by giving Paul tips and information."

Wade declined to disclose details of the investigation because to do so might prejudice the pending court case. He did say that he is continuing to investigate and there could be more arrests. "There are some other possible suspects, and I'm working on that aspect of the case," he said.

"Before we get through, it's possible some other criminal incidents may be cleared up."

Gene Shoemaker, owner of the Jiffy Market which had been broken into five times in 14 months, praised Sheriff Minick and Detective Wade for the interest and attention they have given the case.

"The sheriff came out and talked to me, and Paul (Wade) has been in here many times. I'm very grateful for the effort they have made," Shoemaker said.

The market owner, who had publicly threatened to hide in the store and come up shooting if someone tried to break in, said he had received many offers from persons volunteering to help him protect his property.

"People are going out of their way to drive by during the night just to check and see if anything suspicious is happening," Shoemaker said.

The Jiffy Market is located at Werkner and Sibley Rds., across from the Dana Corp. plant.

Shoemaker also thanked The Standard for publicity given to his burglary problems. "A lot of people must read your paper," he said, "because we sure have gotten a lot of attention since your stories were printed."

"I just hope this will be the end of the problem. All we want to do is operate our business peacefully."

After the Dec. 28 burglary, which involved removing a pane of unbreakable plastic "glass" from the market's front door, Shoemaker reinforced the door with steel bars and also added extra bars, chains and locks to other entrances to the building.

A sign on the front door proclaims that persons entering unlawfully "will be shot."

"Somebody mailed that sign to me after reading about the break-ins, and I decided to put it up," Shoemaker said. "It might make someone think."

Scott Powers' 78 pure-bred Duroc hogs were destroyed by the Michigan Department of Agriculture Feb. 8, when tests showed they were contaminated by polybrominated biphenyl (PBB). The hogs represented what was to be his livelihood following graduation from Chelsea High school this year. The Powers' farm on Scio Church Rd. is the only farm in the county which is still quarantined. Scott's brother Rod lost his hogs and beef cattle in 1974 for the same reason.

Police Chief George Meranuck announced his resignation effective May 19 at the village council's Feb. 6 meeting. He is 61, began with the Chelsea police department in 1967 and had been a 25-year veteran with the Detroit Police Department before that. The "informal public meeting" on proposed improvements to M-52 Feb. 1 was a disappointment to local residents. The state department of transportation had said local opinion on needed improvements would be sought, and instead presented a list of their priorities.

FUNERAL HOME

"I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO SAY . . ."

Does the question of knowing the "proper" thing to say at the visitation keep you from going to a wake or funeral? It shouldn't!

Your appearance at a wake or funeral is always a support and expression of love to the bereaved. The words you express as you embrace or extend the clasp-of-hand can add a sincere feeling of warmth and concern — but the words aren't nearly as important as your "just being there."

Here are some expressions you might consider:

"John was such a fine person. I will miss him."
"My warmest sympathy to you and the family."
"Mary was such a dear friend."
"Mary enjoyed life and shared her joys so often with others."

You may find it easier to say these words of comfort if you practice them beforehand when you are alone. Sometimes just hearing yourself say the words out loud makes them easier to express to others.

New Taxes, Budget Cuts Outlined By Blanchard

Governor James Blanchard wasted no time in his first State of the State message to the Legislature and outlined a program to erase a current budget deficit of some $900 million and provide long-term revenues with a proposal for new taxes and $225 million in budget cuts.

A 38 percent income tax increase — including a temporary "debt" surcharge — coupled with a $225 million budget cut is the governor's blue print for solvency.

Blanchard, who once said a tax hike would be a last resort, said he saw no other choice and called for quick legislative action.

"We must act and act decisively now, to rescue Michigan from the precipice of bankruptcy and bring her back and onto solid ground of financial responsibility," he said.

Blanchard's tax proposal would set the personal income tax rate at 6.35 percent, up from the current 4.6 percent, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Of the total 1.75 percent increase, only .25 percent would be temporary.

That amount will be designated to retire the accumulated $800 million accounting-cash flow deficit and put the state back in accordance with accepted accounting methods.

The state is already allocating about $100 million a year from a cigarette tax increase to the cash problem.

The new income tax surcharge would provide about $112.5 million over the rest of this year and $150 million over a full year.

The permanent income tax increase of 1.5 percent (a 32.6 percent hike) would produce an estimated $675 million for the remainder of the current fiscal year ending Sept. 30. The higher rate would produce an additional $900 over a full fiscal year.

On budget cuts, the Department of Social Services would take general fund cuts of $60 million of the total $225 million. The governor also calls for the Department of Mental Health to take cuts of $18 million and for K-12 school aid and colleges and universities to each take a $25 million cut.

Other recommended cuts include $50 million from other departments, $5 million from payments to private schools, $15 million in revenue sharing to local governments and the entire $25 million general fund appropriations for building projects.

Aids to the governor said the outline of recommended cuts was not meant as a full-fledged preview of the executive order — which is not expected for at least two weeks — but rather a general initial position of the governor in negotiating the form of the final cuts.

For that reason, many of the specifics are still lacking, including how $50 million would be divided among the 17 departments other than social services and mental health.

The proposed cuts would not affect each program equally. The cut proposed for Social Services, for example, represents 3.6 percent of its general fund budget and a $2 million cut for community colleges represents a 1.5 percent cut in the general fund budget.

Additionally, the governor identified 30 programs and boards he will recommend be eliminated to save a total of $4.5 million.

Parent Self-Help Support Groups Will Hear Counselors

Representatives of three area parent self-help support groups will make a special presentation to interested persons at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 3, in the Chelsea High school media center.

Chris Dimanin, guidance counselor at the high school, said the program is aimed at parents who may be experiencing problems in dealing with their children of high school and middle school age.

Such problems may include managing anger in parent-child relationships, troubled behavior in the school and in the family, alcohol and drugs, and violations of the law.

Guest speakers will be representatives of Parents Anonymous, Families Anonymous and Toughlove. Basically, these groups provide opportunities for participants to work with other parents who are experiencing similar concerns and problems with their children, Dimanin said.

Persons interested and planning to attend are asked to call the Chelsea High school counseling office at 475-9131 and leave their names with Jeanette Sweet. Questions may be directed to Dimanin at the same number.

K. of C. Plans Fish Fries for Every Friday

Knights of Columbus, Chelsea Council 3092, has announced plans for their third annual fish fry, Grand Knight Jerry Gondek reported.

The fish fries will be held Friday evenings from 5:30 to 8, beginning Feb. 18 and extending through March 25, at St. Mary's Gym on Congdon St. The knights sponsor these annual fish fries to help promote community fellowship throughout Lent.

The "all you can eat" dinner includes fried fish, cole slaw, french fried potatoes, dinner rolls and butter, coffee, tea, or milk. Delicious home-made pies and cakes will be available from the K. of C. Ladies Auxiliary. Gondek says you won't leave hungry.

Co-chairmen for the community event are Bob Guerin and Al Zangara.

Parent-Adolescent Issues on Agenda

Suzanne Moshur, clinical psychologist at Chelsea Community Hospital, will conduct the first in a series of meetings on parent-adolescent issues for interested parents of high school students.

The sessions will be held from 7-8:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 24, in the Chelsea High school board room. Several more meetings will follow, the number depending on interest shown and problems raised.

"Adolescence is a confusing, changing time for both the young person going through it and his/her parents," said Susan Carter, high school guidance counselor. "Parents can feel overwhelmed, frustrated, sad, angry. The rules don't seem to work anymore, and new ones are difficult to establish."

Parents (but not children) are invited to the first meeting in the series, which is co-sponsored by the high school and the hospital. The topic will be "Communicating With Your Adolescent." There is no charge.

Dearborn Man Ruled Not Guilty in Case of Shooting Rare Hawk

Judge Karl V. Fink of the 14th District Court last week found a 20-year-old Dearborn man not guilty of shooting a rare red-shouldered hawk in the Pinckney Recreation Area last October.

The bird, which was picked up alive and taken to Dr. Merlyn Minick at Eastern Michigan University, died last month despite intensive treatment for pellet wounds in the head and a wing.

Judge Fink acquitted Jihad Maki because none of the state's witnesses could testify that they actually saw Maki fire the shot which brought the hawk down. There were several other hunters in the vicinity at the time.

A party of four Ann Arbor hunters heard a shot and saw the bird drop. Two went to tend to the injured hawk. Two others took out in pursuit of a person they thought to have been the shooter, saw Maki get into his car and drove away, and obtained his license number.

On the basis of the circumstantial evidence Conservation Officer Craig Wales arrested Maki and charged him with shooting a species of bird protected by both state and federal laws.

"It was a touch-and-go kind of case," Wales said, "and I can't criticize Judge Fink for his verdict. There was no direct evidence to show that Maki had shot the hawk or had even fired his gun. I just hope that all the publicity this incident has been given will deter others from shooting at hawks and other protected species."

Flowers . . .

Usually a dozen roses is the upward limit to Valentine purchases, she said, which range also to the single daisy. Some customers request bunches of violets.

People in this area do buy flowers, she said, which bodes well for the local romantic climate. Children often come in her shop to buy flowers for their mothers, starting a sure-to-please, flower-buying habit early in life.

She will also be open Sunday afternoon.

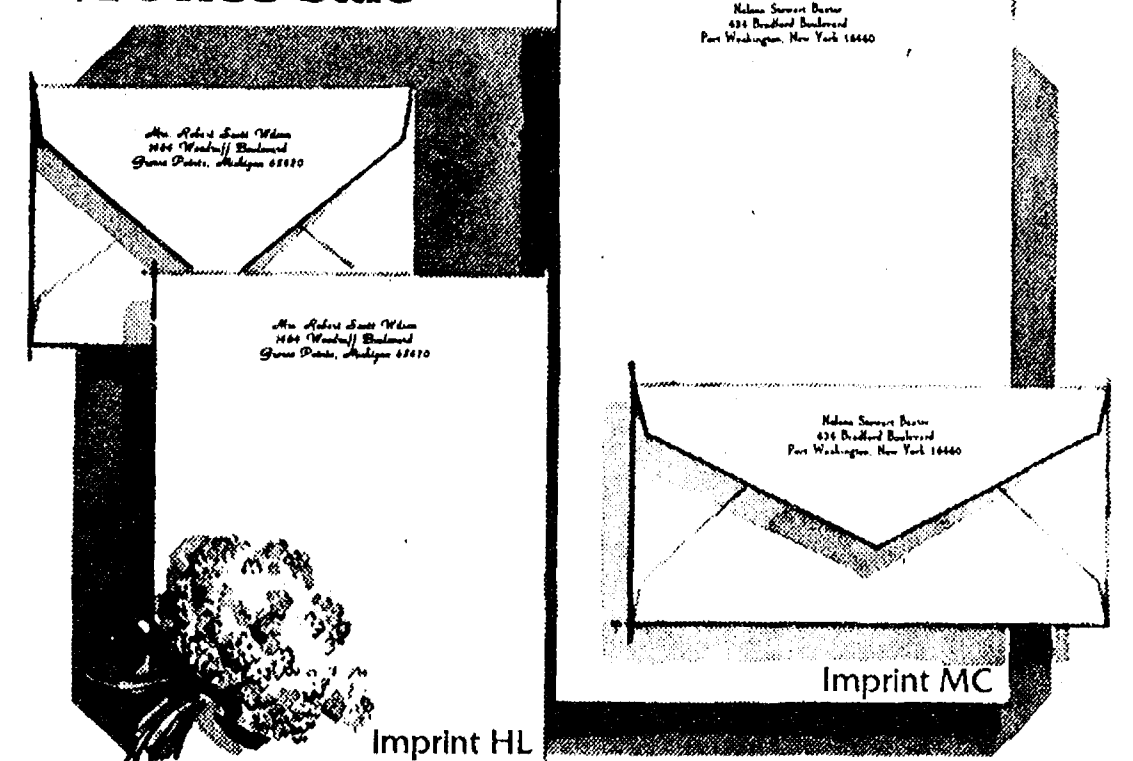

Both florists said red, the traditional color of love, is the one asked for. White roses, which stand for purity, are a traditional bridal flower.

If things are a bit rocky between you and your sweetheart, this Valentine's Day, you may of may not want to send yellow roses. They stand for jealousy.

College Week Scholarships Available

The Michigan division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will again provide scholarships for some Michigan residents to attend College Week, a four-day experience in informal learning at Michigan State University.

In 1982, the association contributed more than $6,000, providing scholarships for more than 65 persons to attend College Week.

College Week, an annual event sponsored by the Michigan State University Co-operative Extension Service Family Living Education program, held on the MSU campus in East Lansing, attracts more than 1,200 persons, who come from every county in Michigan. This year, it's scheduled for June 20-23.

While at College Week, participants attend classes and workshops, sleep and eat in a residence hall, have the opportunity to go on tours, attend the theatre and participate in a wide variety of growth experiences.

"This year, more than 60 classes are being offered," says Wilma Miller, MSU College Week program co-ordinator. "Topics cover such subjects as microwave cooking, handling stress, financial estate planning, solar and other energy options, family communications and leadership development."

Dr. Wayne W. Dyer, psychologist and author of "Your Erroneous Zones" and "The Sky's the Limit," will give the keynote address. His topic is "how to be a no limit person." There will also be an outdoor barbecue and a variety of after class programs such as color selection and energy efficient homes.

"Any interested person may apply for a National Farm and Garden scholarship by contacting the MSU Extension Home Economist in his/her county. Deadline for applying is Feb. 15. In Washtenaw county, call Helen Fairman at 973-9510 to request an application form."

Biddy Basketball

Biddy basketball leagues for 7-11-year old boys and girls began their seasons Jan. 22 at either the high school or Beach Middle school gymnasium.

Biddy, which the dictionary defines as "female domestic fowl," "toothless, old ewe," and "elderly gossip woman" is a traditional name in many towns for youth basketball leagues, said David Sweet, who is organizing Chelsea's league.

The league's goal is to teach children the game, he said, so no league standings will be kept.

WBA League

76'ers 16, Pistons 14

The 76'ers, coached by Gerald Shaff, squeaked by the Pistons, coached by Jack Risner, 16-14, Jan. 22. Strong defense by Greg Tone, Eddie Waller and Mike Kelly combined with balanced scoring by Robert Jaques, Paul Taylor and Nicole Hensen to give the 76'ers a hard-fought win. Pistons were led by Pat Steele, Nicholas McCalla, Mike Tremper and Dennis Clark.

Kings Defeat Knicks

The Kings ambushed the Knicks in the second game. Total team defense and excellent hustle by Jeff Gietzen and Steve Martin was the key to the win, said coaches Dale Petsch and Dennis Hafley. Martin led scoring with 10 points. Chris Durham made an amazing half-court shot.

The Knicks had over-all good team play, but couldn't hit open shots. Jeremy Wolf and Jeremy Beauchamp led the Knick offense, while John David Alford led the defense.

Bucks 14, Nuggets 8

The Bucks defeated the Nuggets, 14-8. The Bucks played well for a first game. Mark and Mike Eder were the big offensive punch for the Bucks, while other team members contributed desire and hustle. Nuggets had four players split scoring. Jason Allen, Ken Slane and Eric Brown contributed defensively and offensively.

ABA League

Lakers 29, Pacers 12

The Lakers beat the Pacers, 29-12, Jan. 22, but it was a closer contest than the score suggests. Chris Wilson led Laker scoring with 10 points. Kyle Plank had some fine passes, and Randy Seitz a well-executed floor game, said Laker coach Jim Wilson.

Jude Quilter led the Pacer attack with six points, followed by Garret Kern and Chris Hagen. The team showed good hustle.

Spurs Down Celtics

The Spurs, coached by Stan Starkey, beat the Celtics, coached by Tom Steele, in an exciting run and gun game. Leading the Spurs' hustling, swarming defense were Pat Taylor, Eric Crombez and Adam Hodge. Chad Starkey led scoring with 23 points, followed by Chad Raymond, Lance Satterthwaite and Erich Hammer.

For the Celtics, Tom Steele and Alex Hammerschmidt scored six points each. Matt Weiss and Kristen Bohlander hustled on defense.

NBA League

76'ers Defeat Rim Shots

The 76'ers defeated the Rim Shots Jan. 22. Good team effort in rebounding, steals and hustle were keys to the win, according to coach John Baker. John Collins and Dave Kvarnberg each scored 10 points.

Rim Shots coach Al Cordell said he was pleased with the flashes of good basketball the team showed, but they still need to work. He says they will improve as the season progresses.

Saline Valley Project Gets 'Clean Waters' Nod

Saline Valley Project, a southeastern Michigan farmers group working to curb erosion and pollution from land runoff, has earned the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association's 1983 "Clean Waters" award.

Each year, the group presents its award to a community, industry, business, group or individual for helping protect or clean up waterways, one of the state's most valued resources.

Project co-ordinating committee chairman Earl Doeltzky and Ron Struss of the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service accepted the award at the Outdoor Writers' Feb. 5 meeting in Cadillac.

The $2.4-million program covers 313 square miles of the Saline Valley in Washtenaw and Monroe counties, including Mill Creek, the Saline River and the River Raisin watersheds, which empty into Lake Erie.

Combining federal funds with money from participating farmers, the project, through educational, technical and financial assistance, helps control erosion and cut runoff of fertilizers, pesticides and animal wastes flowing into the waterways.

The Saline Valley Project is the only one of its type in Michigan and is administered through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Ann Arbor and Monroe.

Sen. Pollack Named to Appropriations Committee

State Senator Lana Pollack (D-Ann Arbor) has been appointed to the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee by Senate Majority Leader William Faust.

In addition to her appointment on the prestigious Appropriations Committee, Senator Pollack was also appointed to the five-member Senate Education Committee.

Senator Pollack, who was elected to her first term in the Michigan Legislature last November, is one of several Senators on the Appropriations Committee who received an additional committee assignment.

"It is my understanding that the appointment of Senators serving on the Appropriations Committee to other committees has been avoided because of the tremendous workload of that committee," Senator Pollack explained. "However, there has been some discussion that lawmakers with a strong interest, such as my interest in education, may be more effective by serving both on a committee that deals with their interest and the Appropriations Committee."

The commission is seeking a representative from either the northeast or southwest sections of Washtenaw county.

One-page resumes should be addressed to Carol Hampton, Controller/Administrator's Office, County Administration Building, P.O. Box 8645, Ann Arbor 48107. Those resumes received by Feb. 21 will be submitted to the Board of Commissioners for their consideration on March 2.

Dave Rowe Insurance Moves Office

If the next time you go to a downtown office and there's a polite note telling you the business has moved a few doors down, don't be surprised.

Another downtown office has done the shuffle.

Dave Rowe, Farm Bureau Insurance agent, occupied what were once the law offices for Keusch & Flintoft at 121 S. Main St. Feb. 1. The Loft is expanding into the spot he occupied for eight years above Vogel's and Foster's at 107½ S. Main St. Plans are not firm yet for what The Loft will do with the extra space.

Rowe more than doubled his office space with his move. Although his former office felt like home, he said, they just needed more room.

He has no present plans for expanding the staff beyond the present three, he said, unless his sons Darin and Patrick, who share a part-time position, want to join the business someday.

The recent moves by him, Keusch & Flintoft to 119 S. Main, Rademacher & Musbach to 109 W. Middle St. and the expansion of The Loft, he said, show that local businessmen have confidence in the area and intend to stay in Chelsea.

Village Buys Compactor For Landfill

The Chelsea Village Council voted last week to buy a second-hand John Deere "compactor" for use at the sanitary landfill at a cost of $42,000.

The heavy-duty machine looks like a front-end loader and will perform such tasks as piling and compressing trash materials in the landfill, covering them with dirt, and packing them down. It will replace a smaller, less efficient piece of equipment now being used at the landfill.

The council authorized the purchase from AIS Construction Corp. after village administrator Frederick A. Weber and other employees inspected the compactor and recommended that it be bought.

"It's in good condition and should serve us very well," Weber said.

In other business, the council discussed the possibility of lighting the new Dana Corp. softball complex at Veterans Park but decided to take no action at this time.

Weber said a lighting system would cost about $45,000 to install, and money is not available at this time. Construction of the two diamonds and support facilities was completed with the help of federal and state grants, along with a gift of the land by Dana Corp.

The grants for the project have been used up, and no more are immediately in sight.

"It would certainly be nice to have the diamonds lighted," Weber said, "and we haven't given up on the idea. With lighted fields we could attract tournaments as well as providing more playing time for local teams. It's a matter of finding the financing."

The council opened bids from private firms offering to conduct the 1982-83 village audit but tabled them until its next meeting on Feb. 15.

Also tabled was a proposed agreement between the village and the owner of a vacant lot immediately north of the McKune Memorial Library, which is presently being used as a public parking lot by library employees and patrons, and others. The owner, John Mitchell, is seeking tax relief on the basis that his private property is being used for a public purpose.

★ A Parents Guide to the Testing Program

APTITUDE AND ACHIEVEMENT TESTS (First of a Two-Part Article)

Hundreds of millions of test papers are written in our public schools every year. Most of these are teacher-made tests or tests provided by publishers for use with particular textbooks or other instructional materials. But a minority of these tests—a critical minority—are standardized tests. As a guide to the understanding of standardized aptitude and achievement tests, I would like to define some terms.

Standardized aptitude and achievement tests are ways of finding out what kind of school work a student is capable of and what kind he/she is presently doing. Combined with other information, like course grades and comments from teachers, these tests can help give a picture of the total student. Many standardized tests are available, but they all are designed to help give a better understanding of each student's skills and abilities.

"Aptitude" refers to the ability to do school work. This test exists to test a student's ability in different areas: i.e., math, language arts. Many factors come into play here, including cultural and family environment, familiarity with the English language, the child's health, and more.

"Achievement" refers to the level of student skills and knowledge in particular areas such as reading, math, or problem solving.

Simply stated, aptitude measures what a child has the ability to do, and achievement measures what the child is actually doing.

All of these tests tell teachers and parents many things about an individual student and about the school. The same test is given in schools all over the country. This is why they are called "standardized," and the scores are based on the average performance of the children taking the test, usually called the "norm." This means a student's scores can be compared to those of his classmates and to those of children the same age in other schools.

The tests help tell us what a student can do and is doing in relation to others in the same grade.

Once we know this we can take steps to improve many weak areas and develop an educational program for each student. People should remember that tests are only one indication. They measure certain things, but do not measure everything. Test scores by themselves do not give a full picture of a student as a student or as a person.

Beach School Musicians Score in District Festival

Six soloists and four ensembles of band and orchestra students at Beach Middle school received top honors among about 2,000 students from southeastern Michigan competing at the District 12 solo and ensemble festival Jan. 29 at Franklin High school in Livonia.

Each group or student played a prepared piece before a judge, received a rating, with I being the highest, a written evaluation and oral comments from some judges.

The district extends from Washtenaw county east to Detroit and south to the Ohio line.

There were no quotas on ratings, said Warren Mayer, Beach school band director, so theoretically everyone could get I ratings.

The Beach school band and the high school orchestra will compete at the district festival March 12, and the high school band and junior high orchestra March 19. There is no state festival for middle schools.

Those who won I ratings in solo competition were eighth graders, Charna Street, flute; Norman Weber, string bass; Kathy Jorgenson, cello; Susan Schmunk, cello; Linda Mullison, piano; and Carol Palmer, piano.

Those ensembles which won I ratings were a seventh grade brass quintet comprised of Paul Damm, cornet; Mike LaVigne, cornet; Mat Doan, french horn; Chris Gleske, trombone; and Scott Westphal, tuba; a seventh grade percussion ensemble made up of Dale Cole and Martha Weber, mallets; David Freitas, tympani; John Cattell, bongo drums; Ken Beauchamp, claves and Domingo Hermosillo, suspended cymbals; an eighth grade clarinet duet of Denise Pratt and Kim Clutter, and an eighth grade woodwind duet of Sally Wilson, flute and Deana Slusher, clarinet.

Those who took II ratings in solos were Randy Hafner, cornet; Robert Kornexl, piano; and Karen Grau, viola.

Ensembles which took II ratings were a seventh grade woodwind duet of Karen Paulsell, flute and Jill LaCroix, clarinet; a seventh grade woodwind trio of Laura Walton, flute; Amy Dmoch, oboe and Kelly Stump, clarinet; a seventh grade woodwind trio of Merideth Johnson, flute; Anna Muncer, flute and Michelle Wireman, clarinet; a seventh grade alto saxophone trio of Sharon Colombo, Kim Allen and Robyn Hafner, seventh grade; a seventh grade violin duet of Marcie Kyte and Dena Stevens; and a string quartet of David Teare, Diane Bruck, Karen Grau and Howie Merkel.

Those who took III ratings in solo were Diane Bruck, violin, seventh grade and Deana Slusher, piano.

Ensembles taking III ratings were an eighth grade woodwind duet of Charna Street, flute and Sara Noah, clarinet; and a violin duet of Kim Degener and Shannon Dunn.

Planning Commission To Review Site Plan For Convenience Store

The site plan for the Eisele convenience store on N. Main St. (no official street number has been assigned yet) will be reviewed by the Chelsea village planning commission at their 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 9 meeting in the council chambers.

Planning commission will also hold public hearings on two zoning ordinance amendments, one to establish a restricted industrial district and the other to establish a planned industrial development along the guidelines of a planned unit development.

Their recommendations on the two amendments will be forwarded to the village council, who will make the final decision.

Thomas and Joan Eisele of 770 Book St. own the .92 acre lot, which is to be a convenience store, said Joan Eisele, but gasoline will not be sold. They plan to concentrate on food, personal care products and are applying for a license to sell beer and wine. She will operate the business.

The L-shaped parcel, rezoned general commercial last fall from industrial, shows 31 parking spots to the south side of the existing building. That number meets ordinance requirements for a store that size, nearly 5,000 square feet. A delivery truck area is shown to the east.

Two parking places closest to the south-side entrance are designated for the handicapped.

Drainage is shown to the southwest corner of the lot into an existing storm drain.

Although existing grass is shown on the site plan, no other landscaping is planned at this time, said Mrs. Eisele.

Police Dept. Reports Quiet January

Chelsea village police department activity in January was down slightly from December, which was also a very quiet month.

Traffic and parking violations accounted for most of the incidents in the department's monthly report to the village council. Bad checks continued to be the main source of criminal complaints.

There was one instance of forgery at the Chelsea State Bank, and a counterfeit $5 bill was passed at McDonald's.

An indication of the lack of activity is that auxiliary police were called on for only 20.5 hours of the time during the month, or about 2½ person-days. In a normal month auxiliary time will approach 100 hours.

Debate Team 13th in State Tournament

Chelsea High school's varsity debate team took 13th out of 24 teams at the state championship debate tournament Feb. 3-5 at the Kalamazoo Hilton.

Chelsea's record for the three days was 7-9. They met Waterford Mott High school, who went on to win the championship for the third straight time, in the third round and lost 0-2. That loss kept them out of the quarter-finals, said coach Brian Kruger.

David Moore and Gretchen Vogel argued the affirmative side and Allen Cole and Jeff Koepfle the negative side of the question, "Should the U.S. significantly curtail arms sales?"

Taxpayers should be aware of many medical costs which are not allowed as deductions. Some examples are non-prescribed vitamins, health foods and diet pills, trips for rest and relaxation and toothpaste — even if recommended by your dentist.

Bulldog Cagers Do Everything Right in Dominating Dexter

Some "big games" live up to their advance billing, and some don't. Last Friday's Chelsea-Dexter basketball game was one that didn't as Chelsea won an 83-61 victory that was as decisive as the score.

In a jam-packed and noisy Chelsea gym the Bulldogs charged out to a 10-0 lead after three minutes and did not give Dexter a chance to get into the game. The Dreadnaughts never quit, as they well might have. They scrapped to the end, but couldn't get an opening for a comeback.

Dexter Coach Jim McCormack summed it up well when he said: "They hit their early shots, and we missed ours. They went out ahead, and we never got an opportunity to catch up. Usually, a team hits a dry spell somewhere during a game. Chelsea didn't. They just kept putting the ball in the basket."

Chelsea Coach Robin Raymond said pretty much the same thing in different words:

"We played 32 minutes of solid, consistent basketball. We did everything well. We were an excellent team throughout the game. We were pumped up, and ready to play, and everybody contributed. If we could always play that well, not many teams would beat us."

Chelsea's consistency is shown in their quarter-by-quarter scoring — 19, 21, 22, 22, 21. The 83-point total is high for a high school basketball team matched up against a quality opponent which plays tough defense.

The Bulldogs shot well, hitting 32 of 64 (50 percent) from the field and 19 of 32 (60 percent) from the foul line. They committed only 15 turnovers — a low number for the run-and-shoot style of offense they play — and dominated the boards with a 32-20 rebounding edge. They also played tight defense, forcing the Dreadnaughts to wait for shots when they needed to put the ball up in a hurry.

Big Bulldog center David Kiel was the game's dominant and decisive player, as he pumped in 22 points and hauled down 15 rebounds. Dexter simply had nobody to handle him under the boards.

Dave Wojcicki turned in perhaps his best game of the season with 19 points, including seven field goals on a dazzling variety of long jumpers and break-away layups. He also handed out a bundle of assists.

Marty Steinhauer, still playing on two hurting knees, and Carl Pate contributed 10 points each, and sophomore guard Eric Schaffner had 8.

For Dexter, Eric Sing put in 17, Felipe Gumucio and Gary Hosmer had 9 each and Bob Haggerty 8. Gumucio, an excellent point guard and playmaker, had eight assists.

After scoring the game's first 10 points Chelsea moved out to a 19-8 first-quarter lead and stretched it to 40-27 at the half. The third-quarter count was 62-40 with the Bulldogs staging one of their trade-marked after-intermission spurts. The fourth quarter was even, 21 points apiece, as both coaches substituted freely once it became certain that Chelsea was going to win big.

The first three minutes were all-important. Chelsea has been troubled by slow starts all season long, and has had to battle from behind in most of its games. Raymond changed the pre-game warm-up routine, seeking to get his Bulldogs into high gear from the opening tip-off.

"I can't really say whether the new drills made any difference," Raymond said, "but we'll stay with them. Something certainly worked."

Wojcicki fired in a 20-footer a few seconds into the game, added a couple of free throws a minute or so later, and the Bulldogs were off and running, never to be headed.

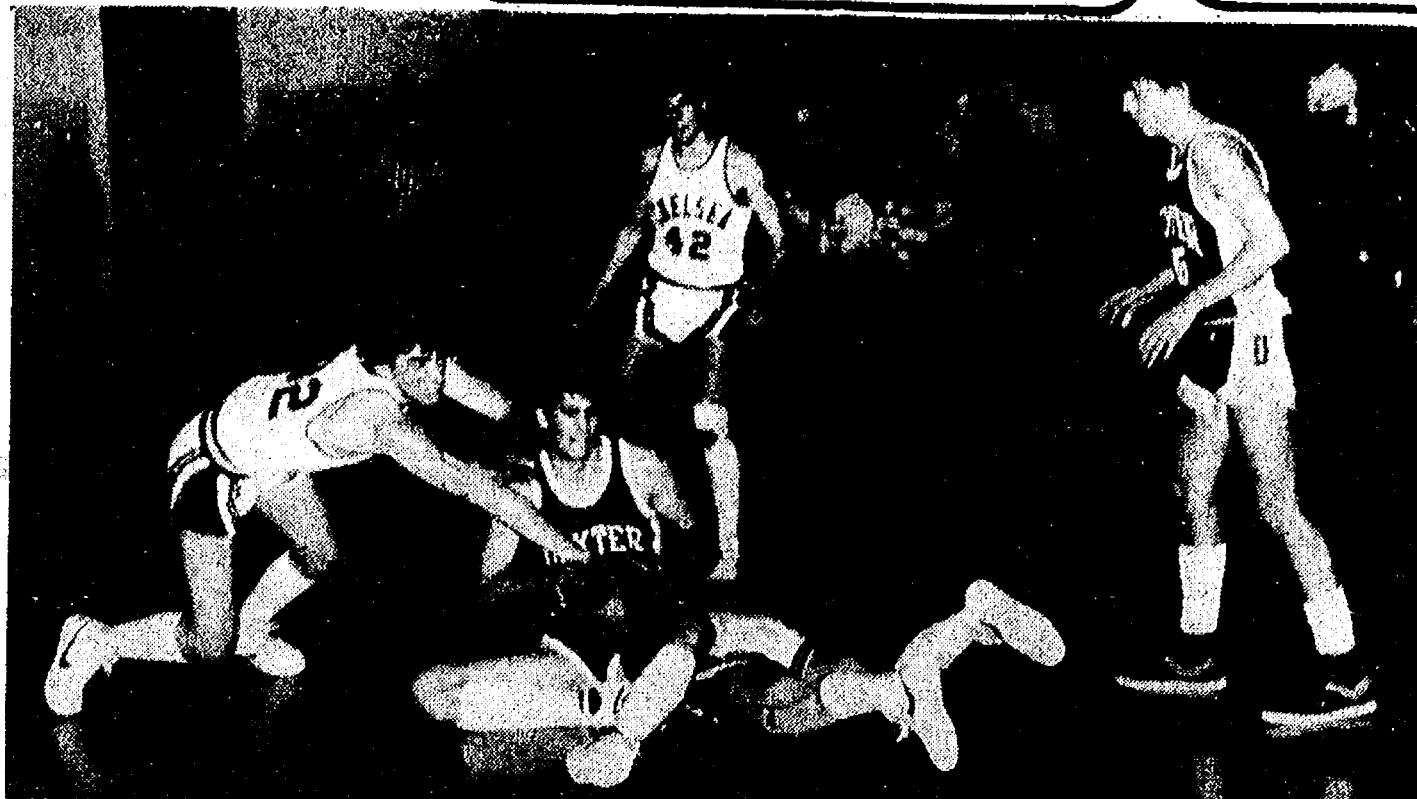

Dexter, meanwhile, may have been intimidated a bit by the loud and partisan crowd, although McCormack downplayed that factor. "I don't think we were scared," he said. "We just plain missed some early shots we should have made, and that turned out to be the difference in the game. We may have been wound up a little too tight at the start."

"We came over here believing we could win not only this game but all the rest of our games," he added. "We were in control of our own destiny in the Southeastern Conference race (Dexter is the defending champion). I still think we can win it, but now we need help. Somebody is going to have to beat Chelsea for us. We don't get another chance at them."

Raymond is confident his squad can break the deadlock with Tecumseh and go on to win the SEC title. "We play Tecumseh here late in the season, so that issue is up to us. We're on a good roll (six wins in a row) right now, and all we have to do is keep on winning. We're playing good ball. We just have to maintain our intensity and desire."

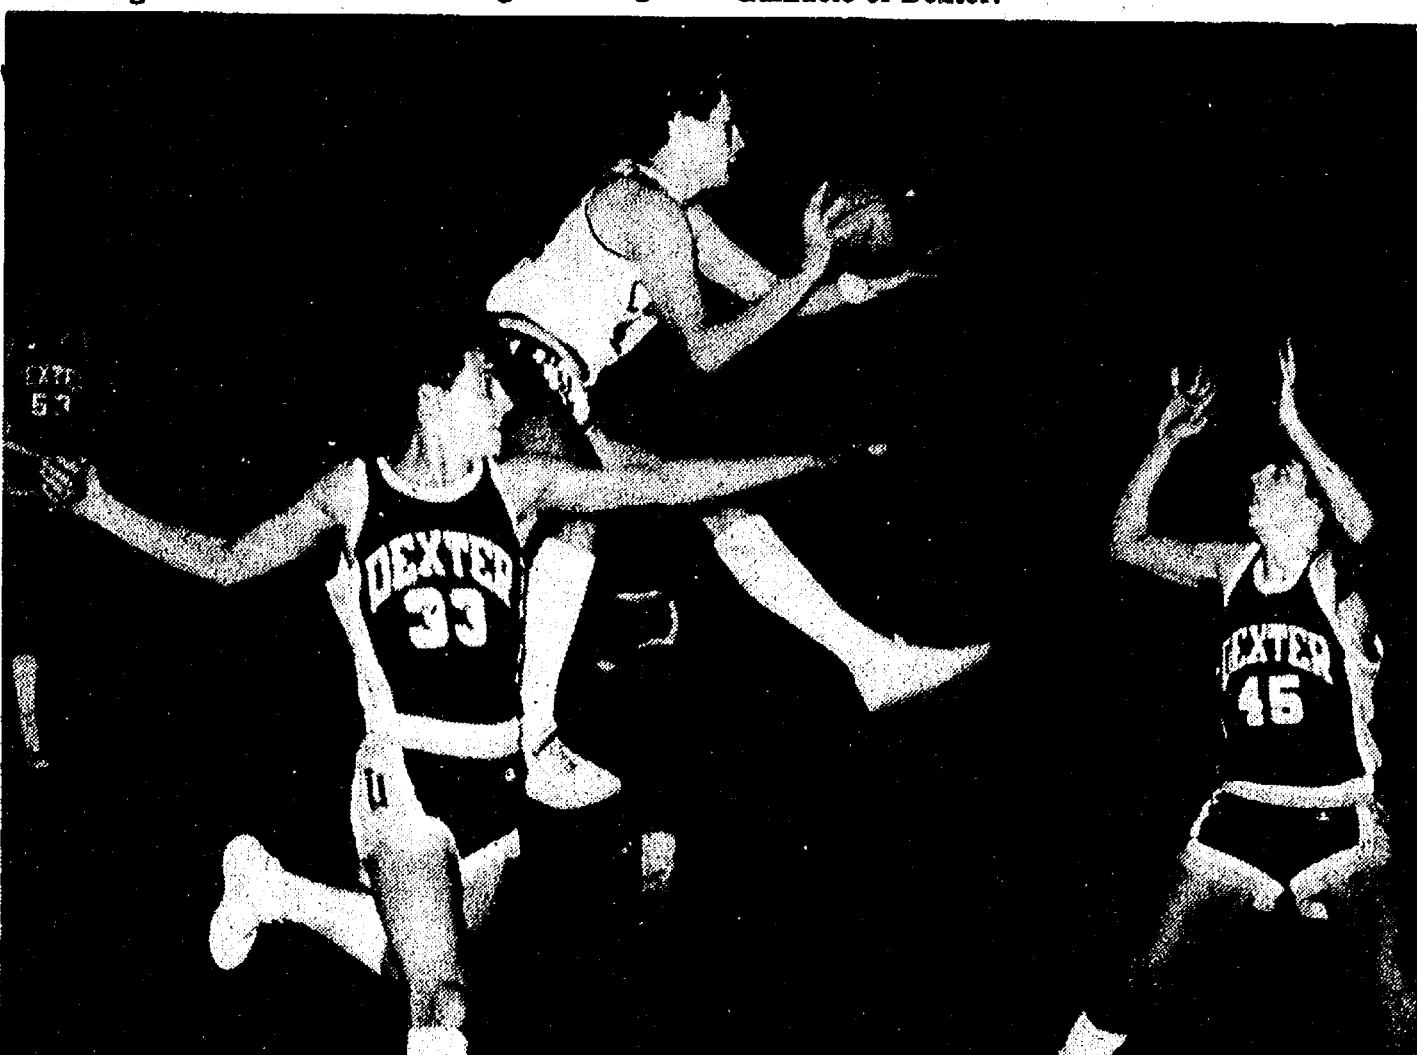

The victory gave Chelsea a 10-3 season record, one of the better ones around, and put them at 5-2 in the SEC, tied with Tecumseh for the lead. Dexter dropped into a third-place tie with Lincoln at 5-3 (7-7 over-all) and is by no means out of the running.

The game left the regular-season series between the two arch-rivals squared at one game each. Dexter defeated Chelsea 60-57, in overtime in a contest at Dexter on Dec. 17.

SCRAMBLE: Typical of the intense play during last Friday's Chelsea-Dexter basketball game was this battle for the ball, being held by Dexter's Eric Sing with Chelsea's Chuck Hager coming in to try to take it away. Stretched out on the floor is Bulldog Dave Wojcicki. Watching the action are Marty Steinhauer (42) of Chelsea and Felipe Gumucio of Dexter.

GOING UP: Chelsea's Carl Pate goes high in the air to get off a shot, as Dexter's Dan Schlaff

(33) and Felipe Gumucio apply defensive pressure.

SEC ROUND-UP:

Chelsea in Tie for League Lead With Win Over Dexter

It was baseball pitcher Satchel Paige who uttered the immortal statement, "Don't look back, somebody may be gaining on you." He was about 60 years old at the time, and still hurling winning games in the Major Leagues.

Paige's warning seems to sum up this winter's Southeastern Conference basketball race, in which leadership changes from week to week and nobody has yet been able to take charge.

Following last Friday night's round of action, Dexter dropped out of the SEC lead after being blitzed by Chelsea, 83-61.

Chelsea moved up into a first place tie with Tecumseh, which continues to confound everybody by hanging tough. The Indians defeated Jackson County Western, 57-39, to hold on to a share of the league lead.

Lincoln stayed close with a 69-66 victory over Saline, dropping the Hornets out of the title chase. Lincoln and Dexter are tied at 5-3 behind the two league leaders.

Milan had a week off from SEC action but remains in contention for the conference title at 3-4, if you believe the prognostications that an 8-4 mark might be good enough to earn at least a tie for the championship.

This week's double-round of conference games should do a lot to decide "who's who" in the SEC.

Tonight, Chelsea plays at Western, Dexter at Lincoln, and Tecumseh at Milan. On Friday, Chelsea travels to Saline, Dexter plays at Milan, and Lincoln entertains Western.

Any team which wins twice during that go-around would have to be considered a favorite to capture the conference crown.

As Chelsea coach Robin Raymond put it, "I think after this week there will be two real contenders left. The question is, which two?" There were no SEC games last Tuesday night. In non-league play Chelsea defeated Mason, 75-73, in double-overtime. Milan blew out Carleton Airport, 78-52, and Lincoln trampled Erie Mason, 70-53.

Coaches Hope For Support In Saline

Chelsea basketball coach Robin Raymond would like to see a large turnout of Bulldog fans at Friday night's game at the Saline High school gym.

"That will be a big game for us," he said, "and we sure could use some fan support down there. Saline will be tough, especially on its own court, and will be looking to avenge their 77-55 loss to us here last month. They are a better team than their record shows, and they are always hard to beat at home."

Raymond credited the large turnout of Chelsea supporters with playing a big part in the Bulldogs' 83-61 victory over Dexter last Friday night.

Freshman Cagers Defeat Western

Chelsea's freshman basketball team learned a lesson and won a game at Jackson County Western last Thursday. The score was 51-43.

"I think the boys learned that you can't take any team lightly," Coach Paul Ash said. "At least I hope they did. They had beaten Western badly early in the season, and thought this game would be easy. It wasn't. Western has improved tremendously, and we were lucky to win."

The contest was even going into the fourth quarter, but Chelsea finally forged ahead by three points, forcing Western to come out of its zone defense and try to get the ball. As a result Chelsea fashioned a 17-5 last-period scoring edge and won going away.

Ken Martin led the Bulldog frosh with 18 points, Tim Bowdish had 9 and Dan Bellus 8.

Double Overtime Nets Chelsea Win

Watching Chelsea High school's basketball team this winter is a pastime not recommended for the weak-hearted. They win most of the time, but rarely do it easily.

Last Tuesday's home game against Mason was another heart-stopper — a 75-73 double-overtime victory similar in most ways to the Bulldog's triple-overtime win over Milan five days earlier.

The difference was, in the words of Coach Robin Raymond, that "we didn't play well against Mason, except in the last few minutes of regulation time and the two overtimes. When you play as poorly as we did and still win, you have to be a little bit lucky."

Still, the Bulldogs won it, despite getting off to a dreadful start and having to play "catch up" the rest of the way.

Chelsea was behind, 14-6, late in the first quarter when Raymond yanked his starters off the floor and inserted his "Gold" team of second-stringers. The subs responded by narrowing the gap to 16-11 at the end of the period.

The first unit came on strong to put Chelsea up by a point, 35-34, at the half, then flattened out again in the third quarter as Mason (also Bulldogs) moved out in front, 55-49, as the final period began and held onto a 64-60 lead with two minutes to play.

As they had at Milan five days earlier, the local Bulldogs rallied down the stretch. First Eric Schaffner and then Marty Steinhauer hit two free throws each to tie the count at 64. Mason had a chance to win in regulation time but missed a foul shot with two seconds left.

Chelsea's strategy during the first overtime was to hold the ball and play for one shot. They controlled it for 2:48 of the three-minute period, then lost it on a turnover, and Mason hit a two-pointer with seven seconds remaining.

As he did at Milan, Carl Pate came to the rescue, dribbling the length of the floor and putting in the tying basket as time ran out.

Both teams played run-and-gun in the second overtime, but Chelsea did it just a little bit better, scoring nine points to Mason's seven. David Kiel had five of Chelsea's tallies and Steinhauer the other four. Mason missed a long shot at the buzzer that could have sent the game into still another extra period.

Dave Wojcicki had 20 points for Chelsea including 8 of 9 from the foul line. Kiel turned in 16 points and 14 rebounds, and Steinhauer had 13 points. Pate and Schaffner scored seven apiece, and substitute guard Glenn Prinzing made four free throws when they were badly needed in the early going.

Cager of the Week

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

More miscellaneous gleanings off the note pad:

Reader wonders why Saline even considered calling a time-out with second to play in that wild game against Dexter, which Dexter won on a technical foul conversion because Saline took one time-out too many. Obviously, Saline would not have asked for time had not someone, bench or on the floor, lost count of the delays already taken. Each gets five in a game, and that's it. The only exceptions are referee's cuts, which officials can call at their discretion, usually to half-accuse of an injured player or a hazardous condition (water or some foreign substance) on the floor.

However, there are legitimate reasons for a team to call time with second to play, provided it has the option. It doesn't happen often, basketball games have been won and lost in the last second with one preparing to put the ball in play from the end line in a tie game. The clock doesn't start until the in-bounds pass is touched by someone on the court. A second is not a fleeting instant, it is a significantly measurable length of time.

In one second an offensive player can field a perfect pass and put up a shot — probably not a good shot but nevertheless a heave that has a chance. In one second a defensive player can intercept the in-bounds pass and shoot. More important than either of those possibilities is the potential for a foul at the instant of contact between the ball and its receiver.

I suspect that whoever asked for the Saline time-out simply wanted to tell his team, "Whatever you do, don't draw a foul on the in-bounds pass. Let's go into overtime and take our chances."

The strategy is sound — provided you have counted accurately up to five.

Last week I criticized some basketball coaches who misbehave themselves outrageously with their antics on and off the bench. This time around I have a few words for a few fans who apparently lack the understanding of what constitutes sportsmanlike conduct in the stands.

I refer to those idiots who boo and whistle and cat-call while a player is at the free throw line. This has to be obnoxious human behavior at its lowest ebb.

Sure, as a partisan rooter you disagreed with the call which went against your team. Yes, the call could have been wrong. (I've seen some outrageously bad officiating in the football and basketball games that I have witnessed during the past five months, and will get into that in a couple of weeks.)

But why take it out on the players? They don't blow the whistles and decide who goes to the line for how many free throws.

If you think shooting foul shots is easy, go out and try some. You folks who are making all the noise could not, with a possible few exceptions, put the ball in the basket if given a ladder and allowed to set it up underneath the hoop.

Give the players a decent chance. After all, you are there to watch them entertain you. Let them do it without deliberately distracting them.

Gene LaFave, Chelsea High school's head football coach, took exception to a statement I made a couple of weeks ago in which I said that wrestling involves "almost as many" boys in the school system as does football.

Gene is right, and I was wrong. If you count the kids involved in "flag" (non-tackle) football the margin is close to 2 to 1 in favor of football. Otherwise, it's about 3 to 2.

All I can say is, great. I was and still am impressed by the number of boys who are wrestling this winter. And Gene's numbers which tell me that he has more than 200 boys involved in football are just as impressive.

I'm still learning my way through Chelsea schools' total athletic program and like what I have seen during the five months that I have been reporting it. There appears to be an opportunity for just about any student to compete at some level in some sport, according to his or her ability and interest. The kids who really want to play get a chance.

The coaches I have met and gotten to know — including LaFave and also Robin Raymond, Pat Clarke, Jim Tallman, Ken Sullins, Jerry Kargel, Wayne Walton, Paul Ash, Ron Lazzo, Paul Terpstra, Chris Dimarin, Jim Ticknor and some others whose names I have probably left out — are all first-class folks. So is Ron Nemeth, athletic director, who runs the sports program.

SEC Searching for New Members

The Southeastern Conference board of directors has voted to expand its membership to eight schools if possible, and is looking for possible new affiliates, SEC president Robert Brinklow, principal of Milan High school, has announced.

With Jackson County Western leaving the conference at the end of this school year, the SEC will be down to six members — Chelsea, Dexter, Lincoln, Milan, Saline and Tecumseh. Western is joining the new two-tiered conference in Jackson county, primarily to reduce travel costs.

"A six-team league is really too small for good scheduling and competition," said Chelsea athletic director Ron Nemeth. "It means just five league football games and 10 basketball games, and other sports in proportion depending on whether you play once or twice around."

The Southeastern Conference at one time did include eight schools, but was reduced to the present seven when Novi dropped out.

How successful the SEC will be in recruiting new members remains to be seen. There are no Class B "independents" in the area, so any school seeking to join the SEC would have to sever an affiliation with some other conference.

Brinklow said "feelers" are being put out to schools which might be interested.

The SEC is a "principals conference" with school principals in control of the board of directors. Athletic directors serve in an advisory capacity only.

There has been considerable realignment of conference memberships around Michigan in recent years as schools have sought to reduce costs and increase gate receipts by building up rivalries with closer-to-home opponents.

Others in the finals include Richard Dotts and Glenn Boyer, each with 19-11 marks; Duane Boyer, 18-12; Ginny Wheaton, 17-13; Rodney Houle and Tom Pennhallegon, 16-14, and Skip Schluppe, 15-15.

Schluppe earned the last spot in the finals by scoring more points in his losing games than Gini Schirmacher, who also compiled a 15-15 record. She is the first alternate in case one of the finalists does not show up.

Other alternates are Fremont Boyer and Leslie Williams, who both finished at 14-16 and had identical "loss" totals of 1,722 points each.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Fishing out on the open ice without benefit of shelter is a sport for the rugged individualist who elects to gut out the weather. The rewards come in two dimensions: (1) beating the cold, and (2) catching fish. There is satisfaction in both.

Fish, especially panfish, can sometimes be caught remarkably fast through the ice. Many times I have taken a limit of bluegills or perch in less than half an hour, wielding two rods and shaking the fish off the hook as I brought them up. Those bits of furious action usually occur during the first hour of morning daylight and the last hour before evening darkness. I have had very little luck ice fishing during the middle of the day and consider the effort a waste of time if the objective is to catch fish, which sometimes it isn't.

Maybe the best reward of all for the ice fisherman lies in the cooking and eating of the catch. Fish never taste better than when caught from just-above-freezing water, promptly cleaned, and properly cooked.

There is another kind of ice fishing, accomplished in a shanty or hut, and it offers different sorts of satisfaction, the main one being that you can be as warm and comfortable as you would be in your own living room.

Shanties are used mostly by fishermen equipped with spears and seeking pike and muskellunge. That is a long and lonely waiting game. The shanty provides the darkness which allows you to look down into the water, to a depth of 10 feet or more, and watch what swims through the hole you have cut in the ice. Shanty fishing has a fascination all its own, because it offers the opportunity for to observe what goes beneath the surface.

You can wait for days to see a pike or muskie, but while away the time smaller fish swim through you have a baited hook there, you can get some idea to fish behavior as they approach, ignore, back off, and attack or not. The experience helps you to understand why you don't invariably catch fish at times of the year when you see them.

Shanties have a big disadvantage in that they are relatively immobile. Once you have a shanty out on the ice and frozen in place you don't want to move it until it takes it ashore in advance of the spring break-up. Meanwhile, if the fish may have swum to some other sector of the lake, and you may find yourself staring through a hole at nothing except bare bottom for hours at a time.

Most ice shanties are crudely simple affairs, barely big enough to hold a fisherman or two and their gear. They are generally built along the lines of an old-fashioned out-house, with about the same dimensions and creature comforts (except for the holes). They are almost always home-made, constructed out of plywood or particle board.

So long as it carries the name and address of the owner in four-inch-high letters and is removed from the ice before it drops through, any kind of ice shanty is "legal."

I have seen and fished out of elaborate shanties that were equipped with built-in bunk beds, table and chairs, porta-potty, everybody dies from something sooner or later, coal became a scapegoat, and still is.)

When I paid the $1 daily rental fee on the coal-burning shanty on Whitmore Lake, the owner handed me a grocery sack full of coal. It was a nuisance to carry but well worth the trouble. The stove was a home-crafted affair, made by welding some pieces of sheet metal together and cutting holes for a draft and a vent.

But, oh boy, did it work! Ten minutes after putting in a few lumps of coal, pouring on a little fuel oil and letting it soak, and tossing in a lighted match, you could start shucking clothes.

I never caught many fish out of that shanty, but had a lot of joyous days just being in it.

Chelsea is still ranked third in the state Class B coaches' poll with a 7-2 dual meet record, and Lakeview is ranked fourth.

Thirteen Bulldog swimmers have now qualified for the March state championships. Their next meet is at 7 p.m. tonight away against Cherry Hill. The freshman-sophomore invitational begins at 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 12 at Cameron Pool.

An asterisk beside a name in the results indicates a swimmer who placed and recorded one of the 29 career best times the Bulldogs swam against Lakeview.

JV Volleyball Team Loses to Jackson Western

Chelsea girls junior varsity volleyball team lost to Jackson County Western, 9-15, 15-8, 5-15, Feb. 3 at home.

Western had a really good server in the first game who rattled the team a bit, said coach Sandy Mandel, and Western had 10 points before the Bulldogs got going on their offense.

Chelsea had a good second game, sparked by Cathy Basso's serving, she said. Basso served seven straight points and nine total in that game.

Beach School Swimmers Enter First State Meet

Bullpup boy and girl swimmers had many excellent times at the first state meet for junior high school students Feb. 5 at Cameron Pool.

No team scores were kept for the seven teams competing, Beach, Swartz Creek, West Ottawa, Monroe, Milan, Mason and West Hills from Bloomfield Hills.

Cathy Hoffman had an excellent meet with drops in all her times, said coach Von Acker, who was pleased with how everyone swam.

Beach Middle school wrestlers absorbed their first loss of the season last Thursday, bowing 47-33 to Saline, after trouncing Dexter, 64-10, earlier in the week. Their season record is now 4-1 with two meets left on the schedule.

The Chelsea grapplers dropped only two matches in the Dexter meet. Chelsea winners included Bryan Kidd (75 pounds), fall; Tyler Lewis (82), forfeit; Rob Finch (103), decision; Ron Bogdanski (110), decision; Lee Riemenschneider (117), decision; Steve Rosentreter (124), fall; Greg Rudd (131), fall; Ron Grifka (138), fall; Chris Zangara (147), fall; Andy Box (157), forfeit; Curtis Heard (169), fall; Randy Ferry (heavyweight), forfeit.

Trucker Strike Causes No Local Problems -Yet

Getting anyone to talk about the independent truckers' strike is like getting a plump woman to tell her weight.

Local businesses which use independent truckers for shipping fear retaliation if it is known whether or not independent truckers are working for them during the strike.

They will say violence on the road is a reality, and truckers are driving scared.

Local independent truckers contacted by The Standard refused to comment or return calls.

Although truckers had hoped they could use food shortages for leverage in their demands to drop proposed increases in gasoline taxes and user fees, Chelsea area stores have bulging produce bins.

Polly's Market, with even exotic produce such as avocados and seedless white grapes in bountiful supply last Friday, has had no late or missing shipments, said Charlie Rushlow, manager.

Other local food retailers do wonder if the one-week old strike will have more impact this week as metropolitan produce supplies dwindle.

Road violence in Michigan is usually at night and in the southern third of the Lower Peninsula, according to a spokesman for the Michigan State Police post in Jackson.

State police are not giving trucks escorts here, although that is happening in states such as North Carolina, which had the only reported fatality from strike violence.

Nails have been placed on I-94 on the west side of Jackson county and in the Battle Creek area.

Friday morning there were only four trucks in the rest area east of Baker Rd., when normally there are four or five times that many.

A waitress at the Wolverine Truck Plaza at Baker Rd. said business there is down 25 percent. Truckers interviewed at the truck stop said they were apprehensive, but none had suffered any damage or personal trauma.

They had heard "stories" about bricks and rocks being thrown from overpasses and shots fired at tires.

One trucker said he wondered why President Reagan hadn't cracked down on the striking truckers the way he did on the air traffic controllers and call out the military to insure safety.

There is no difference between government-employed controllers and private, independent truckers, he said. "Look, trucks are more important than airplanes."

Independent truckers make up about 15 percent of all truck drivers. They number about 100,000, of whom 30,000 belong to the Independent Truckers Association which called the strike.

Four Now Seeking Election to Council

At least one contest is guaranteed in the March 14 Chelsea village election, with the filing of a nomination petition by Richard L. Steele of 211 Lincoln St. for a seat on the village council.

Three council (trustee) seats are open, and all three incumbents—Jerry Satterthwaite, Herman Radloff and Lyle Christwell—are seeking re-election.

Council members are elected at-large on a non-partisan basis. Whatever the number of candidates, the three with the highest village-wide vote totals will be the winners.

Village Clerk Evelyn Rosentreter, who is also up for re-election but had no announced opposition as of last Friday, said "a couple of other" nominating petitions for the council had been taken out but not returned.

Deadline for submitting petitions, which must bear the names of at least 15 persons registered to vote in Chelsea (but no more than 50) was 4 p.m. yesterday afternoon.

Also up for decision are two seats on the McKune Memorial Library board of trustees. Incumbents Fred Harris and Mrs. Frederick Wagner are seeking re-election and had no opposition as of last Friday.

Mrs. Rosentreter said she anticipates that about 300 persons will vote in the March 18 election.

"We hope for more than that, of course," she said, "but I think the estimate of 300 is probably realistic."
