THERAPIST PATTI BENSON works with patient Ellden Brookhart of Brighton, a stroke victim, using a "bio-feedback" machine to determine the extent to which he can use his hands and arms. Results of tests like this help determine individual treatment programs for patients in Chelsea Community Hospital's Rehabilitation Unit.

CCH Rehabilitation Unit Building Excellent Reputation

Rehabilitation. In medical terminology, that is a six-syllable word which means treating injured or crippled patients so that they can function as nearly normally as possible. The Rehabilitation Unit at Chelsea Community Hospital is a special place, so well known for its intensive "hands-on" care and treatment that patients come there from all over the state. It is a unique facility of its kind in Michigan. Most patients are referred from other hospitals, including the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor. Most are elderly, and most (about two-thirds) have suffered cardiovascular accidents (strokes) which have left them partially paralyzed, typically on one side of the body. Hand, arm and leg movement may be affected, as may speech and other functions. About one-third of the patients are younger people who have suffered severe head injuries. The Chelsea hospital admits only eight patients at a time to its Rehabilitation Unit, and the treatment given is highly personalized. Average stay is 7-8 weeks. Upon admission, each patient is checked and tested to determine what his or her potential capabilities are, and a treatment program is then designed to achieve that potential. Emphasis is placed on developing each patient's ability to carry on the basic functions of daily living so that they can be as self-sufficient as possible. Also stressed is teaching hobby-type skills so that, upon release, the patient will have something interesting and important to do and will not simply vegetate. It is not a miracle-working process, in the sense that persons who have permanently lost the use of a limb or the ability to talk (just two of many examples) are "cured." Rather, it is a program designed to help patients take maximum advantage of the powers they still possess. Treatment given includes muscle rehabilitation, occupational and recreational therapy, and speech pathology. Not all patients receive all of those. It

RE-LEARNING TO WALK: Doris French, 85, of Jackson, is assisted by therapist Karen Koblis on an apparatus designed to teach patients how to recover their ability to walk. Mrs. French is presently confined to a wheelchair.

Faith in Action Officially Open

Faith in Action House is located behind the Chelsea Community Hospital near the Specialty Clinic entrance. A phone has been installed now so as of Monday, Feb. 14, volunteers will be taking calls for Faith in Action at 475-3305 between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Available goods for distribution are canned foods, clothing and emergency fuel assistance (limited.) Programs available to the community are the Outcounty Parent-to-Parent Program and Parents Anonymous Group. Faith in Action requests donations of baby and toddler clothing, diapers, powdered milk and boxed meals (i.e. macaroni and cheese). Volunteers to answer phone calls are needed also. They are still in need of an electric typewriter and a secretarial desk.

FAITH IN ACTION members, the Rev. Jerrold Beantown, left, and JoAnn Carruthers accepted a $45 check from Gari Feldman, representing Chelsea Child Study Club, last week in front of Faith in Action's new headquarters. The check will go in an emergency assistance fund which the service group uses to help with needy persons' heating costs primarily and their miscellaneous expenses such as diapers and prescriptions, said Ms. Carruthers. The house near the emergency entrance of Chelsea Community Hospital was donated to Faith in Action by Madeleine Vallier.

Home Meal Service Needs More Drivers

The Chelsea Home Meal Service is once again appealing for volunteer drivers, according to spokeswoman Mary Ann Merkel. The agency supplies hot noon meals to home-bound persons. "Many of our volunteer drivers are away or ill," Mrs. Merkel said. "We especially need a driver on Wednesdays, and we could also use some substitutes and back-up people." Drivers pick up the prepared and packaged hot meals at 11:15 a.m. at the Chelsea Methodist Retirement Home. Delivery requires about an hour. New drivers receive some orientation training, Mrs. Merkel said. Interested persons should call Joyce Manley, 475-2795.

Winter Carnival Starts Today at Chelsea High

Chelsea High school's winter carnival inter-class competition to encourage school spirit begins today with featured activities such as coming to school dressed like a toddler, a snow or mud bowl, hall decorating contest, pep-rally and dance to follow the Lincoln basketball game. The week's activities are sponsored by the student council. Today is youth dress-up day and girls hush day. Students who wear an appropriate costume each of the four dress-up days will score points for their class. Girls will be given pins to wear mid-day. If a girl talks to a boy after that, he gets to have her pin. The boy collecting the most pins Tuesday, and the girl who gets the most from boys Wednesday, win free admission to the post-ball game dance. Wednesday is punk dress-up (or down) and boys hush day. Thursday is dress-up day. Girls should wear dresses and boys a tie and jacket. A snow or mud bowl will be held at 4 p.m. at the football field. Each team must have seven boys and seven girls. The freshmen will play the sophomores, followed by the juniors vs. seniors. During the bowl games, teams may build their snowmen, which will be judged on the basis of best construction at the end of the bowl games. Friday, blue and gold dress day, will begin with a hall decorating contest from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. in the "fishbowl" area in the recreation building. Each class will have a wall to decorate on the theme, "Bulldogs beat the Railsplitters," a real welcome for Lincoln fans that night. During the afternoon pep rally, each class will have an "air band" team to imitate a current hit band and a three-legged race team. A dance will follow the Lincoln game. If blue and gold is worn, admission will be cheaper. The class which wins the four-day spirit contest will be announced at the dance.

Plan Comm. OKs Zoning Ordinances

Chelsea village planning commission tabled the Eisele convenience store site plan for further information and recommended approval of two zoning ordinance amendments at their Feb. 9 meeting. One ordinance amendment would establish a restricted industrial district and the other would establish a planned industrial development along the guidelines of a planned unit development. These two amendments, which could be used to solve the dilemma of Tregets Tool and Engineering Co.'s requested rezoning of the old two-cycle fuel plant property on Old US-12, will now go to village council, which has the final say. The Eisele site plan will be delayed until dimensions of the parking spots, driveway width, a cross section of paving materials, exterior lighting, sign dimensions and height, and location of trash containers are provided on the site plan.

Last of 4 Escapees Back in Jail

The last of four prisoners who broke out of the Washtenaw County Jail on Nov. 20 is back in custody after being arrested in Kentucky last Thursday. He is Bruce Wayne Jackson, 26, of Ypsilanti, under sentence for burglary.

Jackson and three other men escaped from the jail by squeezing through a six-inch opening between bars protecting a window. They made the opening with a piece of metal torn from a desk in the jail, got out of the building, climbed a 12-foot fence, and ran off. One was recaptured the following day, and two others were caught in early December in Oakland, Calif., and Clare, respectively. Jackson managed to stay on the loose for 2½ months until county sheriff's department detectives tracked him to McKee, Ky., where he was arrested by police officers there on information provided by Washtenaw authorities. He reportedly intends to fight extradition back to Michigan, where he faces charges of escaping jail in addition to his 2½-year burglary sentence.

Music Boosters Preparing Benefit

Three sources of funding will finance the Chelsea High school symphony band's and vocal group Contemporary's April 20-24 tour to Chicago. Proceeds from the students' November cheese and sausage sale will go towards the trip, and students are expected to pay a portion individually. The balance will come from proceeds from the Chelsea Music Boosters tour benefit, from 2 to 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 27 at the Wolverine Lounge. The group will leave Chelsea the morning of Wednesday, April 20 by chartered bus and give concerts that day at Tecumseh High school, Albion College and in Olivet. They will spend the night in the gym at Battle Creek Pennfield High school. They will perform at Pennfield, Three Rivers High school and York Community High school in Elmhurst, Ill., April 21. Kevin Miller, now the orchestra director at York, was the former Chelsea school district orchestra director. Students will sleep on gymnasium floors in Elmhurst for the next two nights. They will perform in the Chicago area April 22 and attend either an evening concert or play. On Saturday, April 23 they will sight-see, have a banquet, and leave Chicago in the evening. They are expected back in Chelsea in the wee hours of April 24.

FARMER OF THE YEAR: Joe T. Merkel, Sr., received the Chelsea Kiwanis Club's "Farmer of the Year" award at the club's annual Farmers Night banquet. Making the presentation is Kiwanian William J. Rademacher.

Joe T. Merkel, Sr., Named Kiwanis 'Farmer of the Year'

Joe T. Merkel, Sr., of 744 S. Main St. received the Chelsea Kiwanis Club's "Farmer of the Year" award at the club's annual Farmers Night banquet on Jan. 31. Merkel is retired from agriculture but was an active farmer in the area for many years and has also served on the Chelsea village council and the Sylvan township planning commission. William J. Rademacher, who prepared and presented the citation to Merkel, described him as "an outstanding citizen who has done a lot in his own way to help and be a friend to other people. He is a very warm, perceptive person." Merkel is 83 years old and has been married to his wife, Florence for 62 years. About 75 farmers attended the special Kiwanis dinner, joining approximately 50 club members. Featured speaker was James Anderson, dean of the Michigan State University College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, who spoke on current agricultural practices in China, which he recently toured. The banquet was held in the Chelsea High school cafeteria. The meal was prepared by school personnel and served by the Key Club, a student group sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and directed by assistant principal Sam C. Vogel. Paul Frisinger and Herman Koenn were co-chairman of the committee which selected Merkel to receive the "Farmer of the Year" award.

Negotiations are under way to house Fontana-Taylor Amulance Service's over-sized ambulances at the "Little Red" building at the Chelsea Fair grounds. Earl Heller, executive vice-president of the fair, and John Fontana are expected to meet this week. Now it takes an ambulance 20-25 minutes to get to a medical emergency in Chelsea.

Four Chelsea wrestlers, John Whitaker 155 pounds, Bart Bauer 145 pounds, Alan Augustine 191 pounds and Chuck Young at 132 pounds, have qualified for regional competition Feb. 24 at Willow Run on the basis of their finishes at last week's district tournament.

Chelsea school board voted to drop agricultural mechanics, foundry and short story classes, combine British and ancient literature, and add introduction to journalism, advanced welding and fabrication and advanced soils, plants, animals and farm management for the upcoming school year at their Feb. 19 meeting.

Susan Cobb, 4½, helped rescue playmate Billy Osinski, who had fallen into the icy waters of the creek in Veterans Memorial Park Tuesday. She went into the water up to her knees and told him to grab onto the bar under the footbridge, and then grab her hand. She then pulled him to the bank of the creek. The creek was off-limits for both children.

Members of the Congregational church, the first church founded and built in Chelsea, are celebrating the 100th anniversary of its founding this week. For eight years, it was the only church in the village. The congregation worshipped in schoolhouses until a church was built in 1852, the second building in the village with a basement and the second to have furnace heat. That church burned in 1894. Only the organ was saved for the new church, built on the same site and dedicated in 1895.

Education has changed a great deal in the last 30-40 years, Wilfred Clapp, assistant superintendent of public instruction in charge of surveys, told the Chelsea Agricultural school district planning committee last Thursday. At that time not many students graduated from eighth grade and even less from high schools, whose curriculums were set up for only the college-bound. During the 1920s high school graduation was seen as important and is now common, but the curriculum hasn't changed that much. He suggested the committee make a 25-year plan, and consider eventually building a separate elementary school, since the local birth rate is so high.

Options Being Presented To Blanchard Tax Proposal
 Several options to Governor James Blanchard's income tax proposal—ranging from increasing the sales tax to 6 percent to installing state-owned slot machines—have been presented to the House Taxation Committee since the governor presented his proposal in late January.

Committee Chairman H. Lynn Jondahl (D-East Lansing) said the proposals indicated a "consensus" from legislators that taxes will have to be raised to balance the state deficit and hoped that cost figures on what each proposal would raise could be developed by mid-February.

Meanwhile, House Speaker Gary Owen of Ypsilanti called for House co-operation in completing action on a tax proposal by the end of the month. He urged House members to present all tax and budget cutting proposals to both the Taxation and Appropriations Committee as early as possible.

The options were in response to Blanchard's proposal for a 1.5 percentage point permanent increase in the personal income tax rate, with an additional .25 percentage point included to cover an estimated $800 million deficit due to deviations from generally accepted accounting principles.

Among the options presented to the committee was one by Representative Thomas Scott (D-Flint) to tax advertising sold by newspapers, radio and television stations, magazines and other media.

Scott did not suggest the proposal replace the Blanchard plan, but asked committee members to analyze it to see how much revenue could be raised if the tax were imposed April 1.

Scott also proposed an amusement tax—similar to that urged by former Governor William G. Milliken in 1982—with a tax on theater and sporting event tickets and cablevision, but not on video games.

Freshman Representative Jerry Bartnick (D-Temperance) called for an increase in the sales tax to 6 percent which would be dedicated totally to education (higher education as well as K-12) once the state's deficits are eliminated.

Under the state constitution of 1963, any proposal to increase the sales tax must be approved by the voters. A proposal put on the ballot now could not take effect until mid-May, because of time requirements both for the election and to implement the tax.

Jondahl said an increase in the sales tax might be employed as a replacement to the income tax increase in future years.

Representative Michael Benane (D-Detroit) asked for revenue figures if the state installed and operated slot machines, on much the same premise as the daily lottery games, located in such places as bars.

Meanwhile, Blanchard, bolstered by a poll showing substantial public support for a tax hike, began a seven-city tour to gain backing for his proposal for solving the state's budget problems.

The poll showed 68 percent of those surveyed would support a tax increase in Michigan if it were necessary to straighten out the state's financial affairs. Some 27.8 percent of the respondents expressed opposition to the new tax while 6.2 percent were undecided.

The random telephone poll of 500 persons conducted by Nordhaus Research also showed that 71.2 percent expect Blanchard to raise taxes while 22.2 percent disagreed with that statement.

Among other questions, 59.6 percent agreed that Michigan will be unable to compete with other states if citizens are not willing to pay for services such as education and law enforcement.

The survey also showed that 65.2 percent of the respondents believed the governor and Legislature could solve the financial problems "if they had the courage to make some tough decisions about taxes and spending."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers got to talking about problems and solutions during the session at the country store Saturday night, and about all they could agree on was that there is to many of one and to few of the other. Bug Hookum said our farmers are in the worst fix of all, because they got problems that to the rest of the world are solutions.

Bug said if there is anything we ain't got a glut of it ain't the farmers' fault. Bug had saw where the Reagan Administration has come around to the thinking that the farm solution is not to farm. The Federal Government can't sell grain it bought from farmers that couldn't sell it, so President Reagan wants to give it back to em as a bribe not to grow more.

Clem Webster said he had been doing some reading on the President's Payments in Kind, and he was of a mind that farmers don't find it near as confusing as FDR would find it familiar: Paying farmers not to farm ain't a new deal, Clem said, it's a new twist on the old New Deal that used not-farming as a way to hold down production and hold up prices. What is surprising, Clem said, is that the farm problem now was a solution two year ago.

We got more corn, soybeans and wheat than we can sell, Clem said, and we're having trouble giving it away. When Russia opened up as a grain market, farmers were told to grow more. But the embargo in 1980 turned Russia to Argentina and Canada, and economies in our other main buyers, Poland and Mexico, are so bad they can't pay interest on what they owe us. So we have built up Federal surpluses that cost $12 billion last year and looks to cost $18 billion this year.

Bug said he was all set fer not farming, but he couldn't decide what not to raise. He said he can't not grow enuff wheat on his little place to interest the Government, but he had seen where marywana is a crop that is causing the Government trouble, so he figured to qualify fer a Payment in Kind fer not raising marywana on a few acres. Since he can't sell the stuff legal, Bug said, he'll just take payment in cash. If USDA would give him enuff corn not to raise corn, Bug went on, he'd sign up to not raise chickens.

Ed Doolittle was of a mind that turning the grain back to the farmers would help them and help the Government cut the cost of storing all the surplus. Ed had saw where the Senate is talking about cutting another $100 million off storage by giving surplus to charities fer feeding the poor. And Ed said President Reagan wants to trade surplus butter to Russia for nickel, which is somepun our farmers can't grow.

Personal, Mister Editor, I see where England is serving popcorn in school lunches, so another market is opening up. If the English will buy surplus corn we could give em surplus butter to go on it. And what else would they need? They could eat popcorn fer breakfast, drink water fer dinner and swell up fer supper.

Yours truly,

Uncle Lew.

WCC Offering Course in Basic Auto Tune-Up

The automotive staff at Washtenaw Community College is offering a six-week Saturday morning class beginning Feb. 26 in Basic Tune-up. The class is open to the public and will be held in the College's Automotive Services Building at 5115 Carpenter Rd.

The course deals with the procedure of doing a minor tune-up. It will cover the theory of the ignition system, both conventional and electronic. There will be time provided to perform service operations on your own vehicles. Operations include replacing spark plugs, replacing and adjusting ignition points and condenser, setting ignition timing and adjusting the carburetor.

The course will meet once a week. Class size is limited to 18. It is recommended but not required that students provide their own hand tools.

Participants may register for the class by calling WCC staff at 434-1555 Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Secy. of State's Office Survives Budget Cut

The Secretary of State's branch office at Main and Middle Sts. in downtown Chelsea will remain open, a spokesman for the Department of State in Lansing assured The Standard last week.

Ed Boucher, director of Public Information for the Department of State, said the Chelsea office is not on the list of 12 branches to be closed as part of Gov. Blanchard's program to cut spending to help balance the state budget.

"The Chelsea office was spared primarily because of its location midway between Ann Arbor and Jackson," Boucher said. "It serves a large geographical, mostly rural area whose residents would otherwise have to go into Ann Arbor or Jackson to obtain service."

Originally it was announced that 14 branch offices would be closed. The number was reduced to 12 when it was found that the selected dozen would save the amount of money required to be cut from the Department of State budget, Boucher said.

There presently are 187 branches in Michigan. When the cutback program is completed, there will be 175.

ON YOUR FEET

By Dr. Howard Reznick and Dr. Paul L. Tai PODIATRISTS

RUNNER'S ANKLE AND FOOT PAIN

If you've been running for awhile, no one has to tell you how important healthy feet are for comfort and full enjoyment of the sport. But if you're feeling any abnormal discomfort, your feet may have a structural imbalance that needs correcting.

You may not notice any problem when you first take up the sport, when you're making short runs. But as your endurance builds, stress caused by improperly balanced feet will send you a clear message. If you have an unstable heel, for example, Morton's foot (flattening of the longitudinal arch) you will begin to feel the pain.

Sometimes an unstable heel will develop a condition known as "jogger's ankle," causing pain on the outside of the ankle. This can happen when a foot rolls outward and leans on the ankle excessively. Each time you follow the curve of a road or track your feet have to bear up to six times the weight of your body. This can injure the ligaments if there's a weakness in your ankles.

Structural imbalances in your feet can be controlled by your foot specialist, alleviating the pain and discomfort, and helping to improve your performance.

Staffan-Mitchell FUNERAL HOME

FLOWERS AT FUNERALS

In ancient days, fragrant flowers and strongly scented spices were ever-present at funerals. Wild flowers lent a natural beauty to the tribal funerals along with a "living" tribute to the departed tribesman. Flower and spice fragrances "perfumed" the area.

Today, flowers have retained an important place in funeral service. Today we can't always pick our own flowers so we have florists who design and produce breathtakingly beautiful floral pieces.

Flowers add a bright, colorful beauty to a setting which may seem somber to some, but flowers still add beauty to a casket and provide a hint of delicate fragrance. Floral pieces treat kindly our senses of sight and smell. Still a "living" tribute, they are an emotional contribution to the comfort of the surviving family, a testimonial that the funeral, indeed, is for the living!

As an expression of sympathy and love, flowers serve admirably when the sender cannot be present to offer condolences. Most florists have developed special floral arrangements for funerals.

If you have questions about funeral flowers, ask us — better still, ask a florist!

Woman's Club Plans Annual Valentine Tea

Members of the Woman's Club of Chelsea celebrated its birthday Feb. 8 in the club room of the Mokune Library.

A business meeting was held, and plans for the Valentine Tea Feb. 14 at the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home were described by Betty Osterle, chairperson. Dr. Garr will be guest entertainer for the occasion.

Club members played fun games with prizes, which were won by Joyce Vogel and Linda Cole. This was followed with a beautiful birthday cake made and decorated by Jo Spade.

Hostesses for the evening were Myra Colvin and Pat Scholz.

The March 8 meeting will be at the library. Carol van Reesema will give a program on preventative health. Guests are welcome.

Child Study Club Members Enjoy Skiing Session

Members of Chelsea Child Study Club and their husbands had their Feb. 8 meeting at Judy Nemeth's home, where they enjoyed an evening of cross country skiing.

Following the outing, co-hostesses Kathy Frisinger and Carol Ghent served a sumptuous dessert.

CPR classes will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Feb. 15, 22 and March 1 at Chelsea Community Hospital.

The club will have a business meeting Feb. 22.

Kinder Klub Conducts Auction of Hand-Made Items

The Feb. 8 meeting of the Chelsea Kinder Klub was held at the home of Clara Ewald. The hostess served punch and cheese and crackers to arriving members and guests. Following a business meeting, Therese Doll acted as auctioneer for a sale of hand-made articles donated by members. Cake and coffee were served after the sale.

The club will meet next on March 8 at the home of Elaine Stahl. The meeting will feature a demonstration on molded and chocolate candies.

Modern Mothers Hear Discussion on Stress Management

Modern Mothers met at Jeanene Riemenschneider's home last Tuesday evening to hear Alice Rhodes speak on stress management.

Ms. Rhodes, director of recreational therapy at Chelsea Community Hospital, explained how to pinpoint stress in one's life to the 20 members and two guests present.

A lively and informative discussion followed as members volunteered ways used to effectively cope with excess energy produced from stress.

Releasing this energy is important, said Ms. Rhodes, so it won't build up and be discovered later as a disease.

A short business meeting followed during which raspberry ice cream and coffee were served by co-hostesses Gloria Greenleaf and Debbie Arend.

The next meeting will be Feb. 22 at Judy Wahl's home. Sandy Zeeb, co-owner of Chelsea Greenhouse, will demonstrate flower arranging. For information, please call 475-9856.

Winter Programs Offered Women In Middle Years

"Woman to Woman," a new evening group being offered by Soundings: A Center for Women in Middle Years, will provide support and information for any woman who wants to be with other women to explore mutual concerns. Beginning at the end of April, the group with Rosalie Luscombe as leader, will meet for six weeks from 7:30 to 9:30 on Thursday evenings.

"Group members can help each other develop greater self-understanding. They can also look at new ways to set goals for the future and give each other support for any changes they may wish to make in their lives," Luscombe explains.

In addition, Soundings will again offer "Effective Assertiveness for Positive Change." This group, led by Betty Kaufman, will focus on increasing the ability to express feelings and opinions directly and honestly and to respond appropriately, at home and on the job, to criticism and unfair demands. Group activity will include learning and practicing behaviors which can strengthen self-confidence and reduce tension and anxiety in interpersonal relationships. Group meetings will be on Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 and will continue for six weeks.

"Lifelines," a support group for recently separated and divorced women, will also be offered in Soundings' winter program. This group has been available continuously since Soundings began services in 1978. This session of the group, with Lynne Carbeck as leader, will meet for eight weeks on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30.

All groups will be held in the Soundings' meeting room at Bach School, W. Jefferson at Fifth St., in Ann Arbor. Pre-registration for these groups is required; meetings will begin when registration is completed. Call 665-2606 for additional information.

Cub Scout Pack 435 Holds Pinewood Derby

Honors were well divided in Cub Scout Pack 435's annual Pinewood Derby held last week. The competition involves building and racing wooden model cars, and prizes are awarded for both speed and design.

Race winners were Jason Martell, first; Jason Allen, second, and Eric Crombez, third. Design winners were Scott Cordell, first; Brian Zangara, second, and Michael Kelly, third.

The pack will hold a Blue and Gold banquet on Sunday, Feb. 20, beginning at 1 p.m., and on March 12 will attend a Detroit Pistons professional basketball game in the Pontiac Silverdome. The trip to the Pistons game will include a tour of the team's locker room and a basketball clinic put on by players and coaches.

Historical Society Seeks Museum Space

Chelsea's first piano needs a museum. Now it's sitting in Ben Bowers' workshop, and he moves it from corner to corner to get it out of his way. The late Ruth Wilkinson gave it to him. Her father had brought it to Chelsea.

The piano will stay at Bowers' until the Chelsea Historical Society can find museum space for it and other antiques and Chelsea memorabilia society members have stuffed into their attics and basements.

The society has been looking for museum space for many years, but the fast approaching Chelsea sesquicentennial in June of 1984 has made their search more urgent.

What they would like, members said at their meeting Feb. 8, is downtown display space which would be easily accessible for older history buffs, with enough windows to put up enticing displays but not too many for security reasons.

They see the museum as an ongoing project, not just a temporary sesquicentennial display, so they are also interested in space which can be heated to help preserve the antiques.

Both they and the sesquicentennial committee are interested in the railroad depot, and are researching the title on that property. Since they are unsure of ownership, they don't want to put all their eggs in one basket.

The historical society's collection is rather vague now, since bits and pieces are stored in attics all over the area. A permanent location would allow them to catalogue their collection, which has good examples of adult and children's period clothing and historical photographs of early Chelsea, and actually encourage future donations.

Several local persons have said they would donate and loan collections if they knew their gift would be displayed and taken care of—instead of closeted.

If you have vacant space or know of some, contact Ben Bowers, society president, at 475-8281. That piano is still intact. Bowers said he would be willing to restore it if it could be seen.

Treasury Favors Deferred Taxes for PIK Participants

The U.S. Treasury Department has announced it will support legislation to allow participants in the Payment-in-Kind (PIK) program to pay tax on the commodities when sold. The legislation will avoid adverse tax consequences to farmers who participate in the PIK program. The commodities received by the farmer will be excluded from gross income and will have a zero basis for income tax purposes. Thus, the farmer will realize income only at the time he sells the commodities.

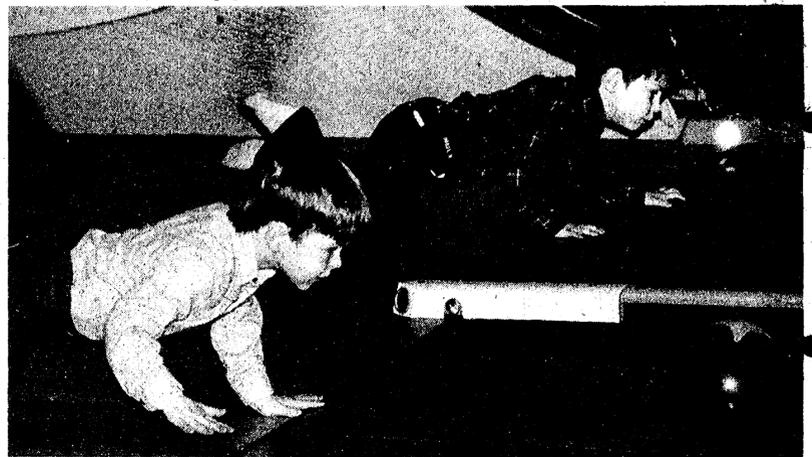

The proposed legislation will treat farmers who receive the commodities for diverting acreage from agriculture use under the PIK program as if they had grown the commodities themselves. It will give farmers the option of deferring taxes until the 1984 tax year. For purposes of special farm estate tax valuation rules, the proposed plan would treat the farmer as if he had actually produced the commodities on diverted acres.

Congress will be asked to act quickly on the legislation so farmers are aware of the tax status before the sign-up deadline of March 14.

Cobblestone Farm Will Open in May For Public Tours

The City of Ann Arbor, Department of Parks and Recreation, will be opening Cobblestone Farm, on a regular basis to the public during May, 1983. Tours of the facility will be given on weekends from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and weekdays by special reservation.

In order to provide this service, volunteer guides will be needed. Persons will be asked to attend three instructional sessions: March 5, 12, and 19 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Sessions will include a history of the farm, its inhabitants, the restoration project, interpretive background, tips and techniques for speaking before a group. Volunteers will then be asked to offer their service as often as they are able.

Interested persons may contact Emilie Polens, Cobblestone Farm Supervisor, at 994-2928 for further information.

Letters to the Editor

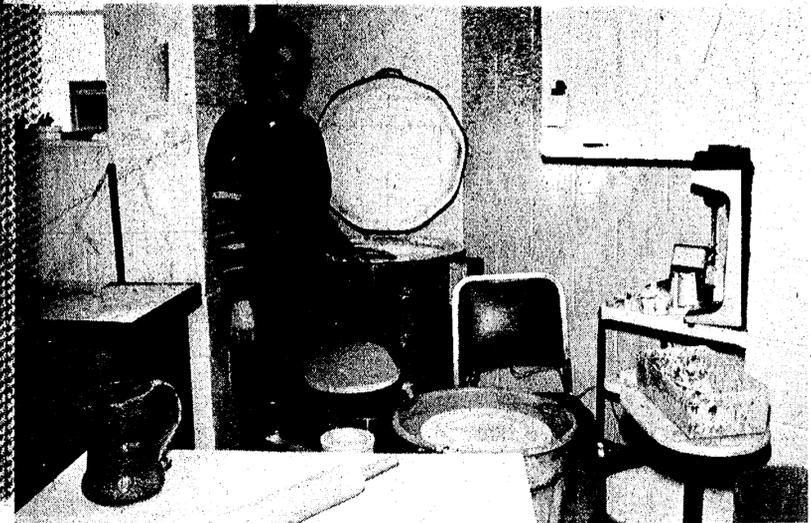

To the Editor,
It recently came to my attention that the Chelsea School Board voted to purchase "an Energy Management System" for $64,500—50% paid for by a grant and 50% from maintenance millage. If the grant is from the "Federal Government," the taxpayer energy effort to produce the grant would be in the neighborhood of 5 times the $32,475 or near $162,375 taxpayer energy effort. The 50% paid for by millage would require near 3 times taxpayer energy effort or $97,425—making a total over 1/4 million ($259,800) taxpayer energy effort to pay this bill not to include thousands in interest paid on the borrowed money or maintenance on the equipment.
This interest places cheap unearned wealth in the hands of unscrupulous opportunists who claim loans, forgiven loans and outright gifts do not buy favors from the recipients and do not help destroy the Republic our Founding Fathers left for us to keep in 1776. Will this save energy? Not in 500 years. Would you have voted for this if you had known the facts?
Ray Coulter,
Grass Lake.

Dear Mr. Editor,
Everyone at one time or another during their life time has something occur which really throws them for a loop. One then loses the three great gifts, Faith, Hope, Charity, either totally or just one at a time. Discouragement sets in and one raises hands to head and says "why me, Lord?" Recently I came across the following writing, and, if in your kindness, you would print this, than just maybe someone of your many readers may be touched by it at moment of their deepest need. Title is: "Footprints."
One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand; one belonging to him, and the other to the Lord.
When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.
This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it. "Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me."
The Lord replies, "My son, my precious child, I love you and I would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you." (author unknown)
I for one, am so glad "unknown author" took the time to share with us all.
Mrs. Millie Warner.

Rehabilitation Unit

depends on their individual needs.
Rooms in the Rehabilitation Unit are decorated and furnished to be as cheerful and "homey" as possible in a hospital environment. Patients are encouraged to bring in personal items and to form friendships with doctors, nurses, and therapists; who in turn make special efforts to be friendly.
Those who are able participate in such activities as bowling, swimming, and other "field trips" outside the hospital. Those who can't be that active engage in hobby activities such as working with tile, leather, yarn, painting and drawing materials, paper, wood and pottery clay.
Some just try to learn to walk or talk, dress themselves, and get to the bathroom unaided.
Like all forms of hospital-medical treatment these days, the rehabilitation therapy offered at Chelsea Community Hospital does not come cheap. Costs range on the order of $350 a day and up, depending on specific types of treatments given. Almost all patients receive financial help from either government or private insurance.

Beach Students Match Wits in Quiz Bowl Meet

Just about the time you get the paper this morning, 10 students at a time will be hovering over buzzers and wiping their sweaty hands at Beach Middle school. It's the annual school quiz bowl championship—a duel of quick minds and quick fingers on the button.
Can you name five evergreen trees with needles less than one inch long? Or give the plural possessive form of valley or tomato (without writing it down); or know which direction the blade on a table saw moves? or name six Egyptian gods or goddesses—and be sure enough of your answer to hit a buzzer within 10 seconds. Of course you or a teammate have to hit that buzzer before five eager members of the opposite team do.
The school's champion, to be decided from three grade champions at a school-wide assembly, will go on to the Southeastern Michigan Conference quiz bowl tournament Saturday, Feb. 26 in Saline.

Quiz bowl competition and the conference spelling bee were set up by middle school principals to provide competition and recognition for capable students, said Alan Conklin, middle school principal and "quiz master" for Beach school competition. (Quiz master reads the questions and makes sure the room is quiet enough for each contestant to hear.)
Questions review material covered in the classroom but also motivate further learning. During preliminary competition if no one can answer a question correctly, Conklin goes right on to the next one. Students are allowed to look up the answers to these difficult questions, such as the evergreen one, before the next round of competition.
Paper, pencils and calculators may not be used at the quiz bowl.
Normal questions are worth five points, and three and five part bonus questions are worth 15 points. But answering a bonus question is a gamble, because points are taken off for wrong answers.
For a bonus question the team may hold a short conference before the team captain answers for the group.
Teachers are asked to turn in 12 questions apiece. The departmental chairman eliminates duplicates and passes the questions along to Conklin, giving him about a bank of close to 500 questions. Each school brings 300 questions along to the conference tournament.

Teachers recommend students in the four academic disciplines of math, science, English and social studies. The fifth member is at-large from any area. Considering the table saw question and one which asked what the stitch "knit two, purl two" is called, that at-large student is very important to the team.
During the seventh grade preliminary rounds, it was obvious some students hit the button when they thought they had a reasonably good chance of answering the question—but didn't wait to be absolutely sure. No one could afford that time luxury. Occasionally there is an "Oh no!" when a student got ahead of himself.
Some of the questions are quite

Alert Sheriff's Deputy Recovers Stolen Tools

It's against the law to back up a vehicle on a freeway, and an alert Washtenaw sheriff's deputy, Mike Oltersdorf, who spotted someone doing it on I-94 near Baker Rd. last Thursday wound up recovering a trailer load of stolen tools worth several thousand dollars.
Arrested was James Johnson, 34, who was arraigned before District Court Judge Thomas F. Shea on a charge of possessing stolen property. Johnson also faces charges of burglary and larceny in Illinois, and may also be charged with the federal offense of transporting stolen property across a state line.
Sheriff Thomas R. Minick said Deputy Oltersdorf saw Johnson backing up a car and trailer in the right (fast) lane of traffic on

I-94 after apparently overshooting the Baker Rd. exit and trying to return to it.
Subsequent investigation showed that Johnson was hauling more than $5,000 worth of tools which had been stolen in Illinois and were being brought into Michigan for resale, Minick said.

District Court Coverage Limited to Chelsea Cases

The Standard would like to clarify what it covers in the district courts, because there has been a misunderstanding comparing our coverage to other local papers. District 15 courts may report such a case. So if you see it elsewhere and not in The Standard, understand we are not giving anyone preferential treatment. That person committed his or her offense outside the territory we cover.

Cases arising in Lyndon, Dexter, Webster, Northfield, Sylvan, Lima, Scio, Sharon, Freedom, Manchester and Bridgewater townships are heard at 14th District Court 3 in either Manchester or Chelsea. Felony arraignments and felony preliminary examinations are heard at Court 3, but then such cases go to Circuit Court for trial and sentencing.

The Standard reports all final criminal sentences given in Court 3 (which are therefore less than felonies) from the above townships—it doesn't matter who it is.

Court 3 also hears cases from Salem, Superior and Ann Arbor townships at the county service center on Hogback Rd., but because of distance from this area, these cases are not reported in The Standard.

If a Chelsea resident is arrested for impaired driving in a southeastern township, Ann Arbor, or Ypsilanti, another court will handle the case. Other local newspapers which may report cases from all four District 14 and

Lively Frog Found On Ground Hog Day

Marty Heller, 12, of 20640 Sager Rd. found a frog in the pond behind his home Feb. 2, Ground Hog's Day. School was out that day because of an ice storm, but it got very warm that afternoon, so the frog came out of hibernation. Marty, the son of Earl and Kay Heller, is now keeping the frog, which hasn't been named, in a terrarium.

Job Security Via Vocational Classes

Throughout America the "Educational Spotlight" this week is on Vocational Education. The theme is "Vocational Education - An Investment in People." Several years of follow-up studies on Chelsea High school graduates have shown higher pay and greater job satisfaction where the graduates had completed vocational training and were employed in work related to that training.

The studies also showed that Vocational Education is often a "stepping stone" to continued education (college) in the occupational field. For example, a high percent of graduates of Health Occupations, Electronics, and Office Occupations continued their education in related areas. Surprising to many educators, the percent of "Vocational Graduates" continuing education is nearing that of "General Education Graduates." A key difference is that more "Vocational Graduates" have made a career choice and have job skills.

Is the training relevant and will jobs be available for graduates of a high school vocational course? The latest U.S. Department of Labor data lists the 37 occupations for which there will be high job growth during 1980 - 1990.

Students in Chelsea High school have access to Vocational Education Programs in their 11th and 12th grades which can prepare them (or start the preparation) for 62% of the top growth occupations. Not surprising, the top two occupational areas are secretary and nurse/nurse aide.

Current Vocational Educational programs at Chelsea High school are: Agriculture, Auto Services and Health Occupations with Building Trades being run jointly with the Dexter program.

However, through a cooperative arrangement with neighboring schools, students have a wide choice. The South & West Washtenaw Consortium provides the operating "umbrella" for Vocational Education in Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan and Saline school districts. The Vocational Programs which are available to all juniors and seniors include: Agriculture, Auto Service, Building Trades, Cosmetology, Child Care, Distributive Education, Electronics, Food Service, Graphic Arts, Health Occupations, Machine Shop, Office Procedures, Welding & Fabrication and Co-operative Education.

Besides preparing for occupations with high employment outlook, Vocational Education enhances the academic areas as English, math and the sciences are applied in real or simulated work settings. A current concern with youth is the lack of good work attributes. A special emphasis in Vocational Education is on job getting and job succeeding skills. Recently, many local employers participated in "Introduction to Employment" seminars and discussed the importance of worker attributes with vocational students. Many attributes or attitudes can be learned and Vocational Education with a concentration of hands-on learning best develops positive work attitudes.

For further information on the programs or for employing a vocationally trained student or graduate call the Consortium office, 662-9898.

David Wojcicki Is 'Good Citizen'

David Wojcicki, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Wojcicki of 718 Taylor St., Chelsea, was one of 10 Washtenaw county high school seniors selected to receive Good Citizen Awards from the Sarah Caswell Angell Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR).

The awards were presented during a ceremony held last Saturday in the William L. Clements Library on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor.

Nominations for the awards were made by participating schools and were based on scholarship, leadership, dependability, service to home, community and church, and patriotism. Wojcicki and the other county winners have the opportunity to enter competition for the DAR of Michigan Good Citizen Award to be presented in East Lansing in early April.

Entrants were asked to write and submit an essay on the subject, "Our American Heritage and Our Responsibility for Preserving It."

Wojcicki's citation from the DAR read, in part: "David Wojcicki is from Chelsea High school where he earned respect for his ability as a leader by being chosen captain of the football and basketball teams. In addition to demonstrating outstanding skills in those two sports, he earned a letter on the track team. He was chosen a delegate to Boys State, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. For excellence in scholarship and school activities he was named to the National Honor Society. For his all-around outstanding performance as a student at Chelsea High he was honored by the American Legion. He plans to continue his education in the fall by attending college where he plans to major in business administration.

Candy Sale Set To Benefit Beach Orchestra Fund

Beach Middle school orchestra students will begin a candy sale Feb. 18 to benefit the middle school Orchestra Booster Scholarship Fund and to purchase sweaters for orchestra students.

The bags of Reese's Pieces (which Elliott, the boy star of E.T. used to lure E.T. out of the woods) will cost 50 cents.

Cash prizes will be awarded by grade level to students selling the most candy. There will be an over-all prize. Runner-ups will receive E.T. posters.

Students must have a signed consent form to participate in the sale. Money will be collected on posted days before school begins. Candy will be distributed after classes on these same days. No candy will be sold during school hours.

The candy sale is being sponsored by the Orchestra Boosters, who are parents of orchestra students.

Designer Bread

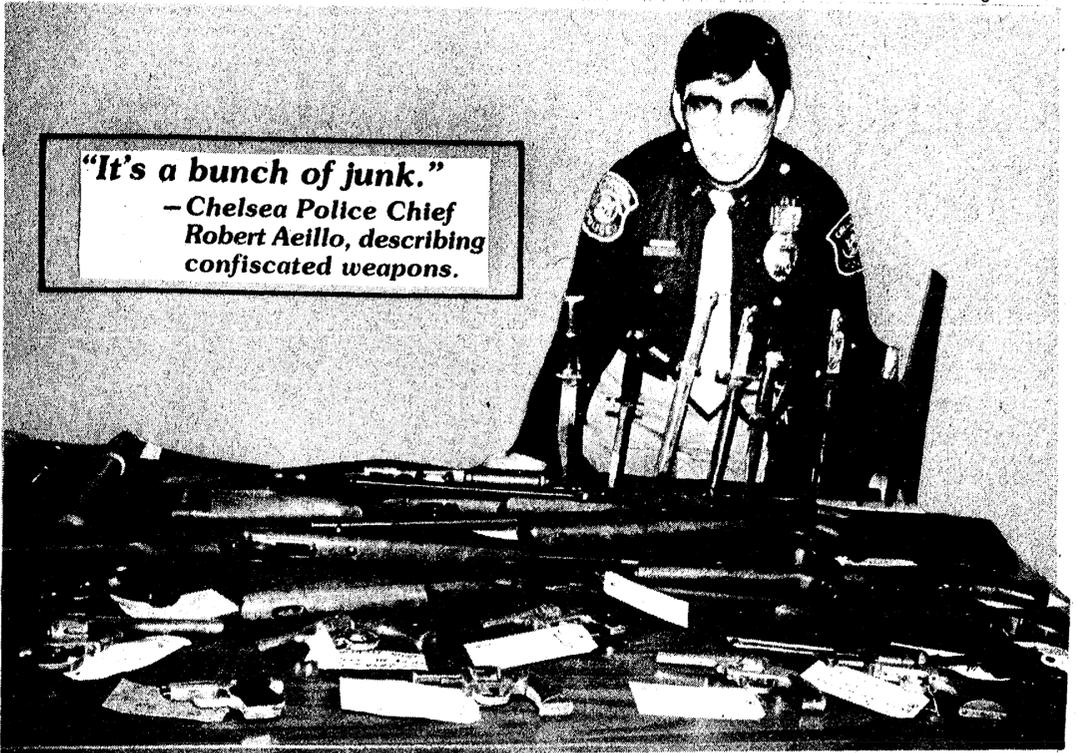

Calvin Klein, Gloria Vanderbilt and Jordache don't have the complete edge on the designer market. A New York gourmet shop has come up with designer bread—with red and green stripes. It is sold for $4 a pound. However, the farmer still only gets 4.8¢ for his share.

"It's a bunch of junk."
—Chelsea Police Chief Robert Aeillo, describing confiscated weapons.

CONFISCATED WEAPONS: Chelsea police chief Robert Aeillo displays weapons—guns, knives and billy clubs—confiscated by his department. The collection will be taken to State Police headquarters in Lansing and destroyed.

Confiscated Weapons To Be Destroyed By State Police

Crime is not exactly "big" in Chelsea, but there is enough of it so that the village police department gradually accumulates a collection of confiscated weapons—mostly guns but also including knives, bayonets and billy clubs. Sometime during the next few days, as soon as a specific appointment can be arranged, a large assortment of lethal objects will be transported by car to State Police headquarters in East Lansing, where they will be destroyed in a high-temperature furnace.

The weapons are kept under lock and key in the village police office until there is no possibility that they will be needed as court evidence or for any other legal purpose.

There are procedures whereby items of substantial value, such as antique firearms, may be exempted from the destruction process, said Chelsea Police Chief Robert Aeillo, but nothing the department will ship to East Lansing is worth salvaging.

"It's a bunch of junk," declared Aeillo, who is an expert on firearms. A Standard reporter who also knows something about guns confirmed that appraisal.

"Criminals don't ordinarily possess or use high-quality weapons," Aeillo explained. "They use 'cheopies' that are difficult to trace and which they can throw away without losing much. People who own expensive guns aren't the ones who commit crimes. Responsible gun owners don't give us any trouble.

Even though of little value, there are some curious items in the Chelsea police collection, including a couple of shotguns with barrels sawed off short and stocks cut down to handgun-grip size, so they can be wielded as two-handed pistols. One has a crude sub-machine gun-type handle. They would be deadly at close range, and most shooting crimes are committed at point-blank distances.

There is a revolver manufactured in the United States back about 1900, which later was used in the British army and somehow found its way back to this country. It has no antique value because it was a mass-produced model, and this specimen is in poor condition besides. There are half a dozen military bayonets which have been fashioned into wicked-looking knives, and three billy clubs which apparently were turned out on home lathes.

Most of the handguns fall into the "Saturday night special" category—cheap, nickel-plated affairs that in some instances

For People Who Want To Quit Working Someday

ANN ARBOR TRUST'S DESIRABLE RETIREMENT PLAN

Everyone should be able to enter retirement with sufficient financial resources to enjoy this very special part of their life. But every day we hear of elderly persons whose savings have been gobbled up by inflation and taxes, and who can barely scrape by on their Social Security and limited pension benefits. You can avoid that possibility by opening an Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

Our DESIRABLE Retirement Plan allows you, as a working person, to contribute up to $2,000 each year to your IRA and deduct the entire contribution from your current taxable income.

If you've been wanting to save for retirement, but just can't seem to get started, you'll like our Floating Rate Account that allows you to make regular contributions of $25 or more after an opening deposit of just $100. You'll earn a high rate of interest, and the rate will be adjusted quarterly.

If you find it more convenient to make a deposit of $1,000 or more, you may prefer our Fixed Rate Account where the rate in effect when you make your opening deposit remains constant during the term of the deposit. Both of these plans offer terms of deposit ranging from 18 to 60 months. Interest is compounded quarterly, and each account is insured to $100,000. How's that for safety, convenience and flexibility?

Need more information? Just complete the form and we'll send you all the details. Don't delay taking this step towards a secure financial future.

Bulldog Cagers Fall Flat in Showdown Battle Against Saline

A funny thing happened last Friday night on Chelsea's projected march to the Southeastern Conference basketball championship. The Bulldogs went down to Saline and got their socks knocked off, 63-53, in a game that wasn't as close as the final score.

The home team Hornets purely and simply dominated every phase of the game — offense, defense, rebounding, ball-handling, you name it — while a seemingly confused Bulldog team never quite figured out what was going on, much less what to do about it.

Chelsea jumped out to an early 6-2 lead and appeared to be in control, then fell flat, scoring only two more points in the first quarter. Saline surged to a 15-8 margin at the end of the opening period and stretched it to 29-20 at half-time.

The Bulldogs made a bid to come back in the third quarter when Chelsea coach Robin Raymond put in his "Gold" (reserve) team. By hindsight, he perhaps might better have left them in, as the subs cut the deficit to three.

The first stringers promptly frittered away the opportunity with a series of missed shots and defensive lapses that enabled Saline to take charge of the fourth quarter and win going away with the help of fine free throw shooting when Chelsea was forced to foul to get the ball.

"We just plain played poorly," said a grim and dejected Bulldog coach Robin Raymond. "I thought we were ready, but we weren't. We didn't do anything well. They beat us at both ends of the court and everywhere in between. Chuck Hager had a pretty good floor game, but nobody else played up to par."

Saline used a four-corner (sometimes called a box-and-one) offense which is one of the oldest strategies in the basketball book, and made it work beautifully, repeatedly springing players loose for easy close-in shots.

On defense, the Hornets employed a variation of the so-called "match-up zone," and they executed that very well, too, aided by poor Chelsea shooting.

Most surprising of all was Saline's dominance on the boards with a 2-to-1 rebounding advantage over the bigger Bulldogs.

"I wish I could say that Saline surprised us with some of the things they did, because that might be an excuse," Raymond said. "The fact is that they did exactly what we knew they were going to do, because they do it all the time. We practiced against the four-corner offense and the match-up zone on the morning before the game."

"Our biggest letdown was on defense. When you are not shooting well, and we weren't, you have to play good defense to stay in the game. We didn't."

The spacious Saline gym with its large court may have been a factor. The Bulldogs are not accustomed to playing on a floor that big.

David Wojcicki led Chelsea with 17 points. Dave Kiel had 12 and Marty Steinhauer 11. Nobody else came close to double figures.

A victory would have put Chelsea in the driver's seat in the scrambled race for the Southeastern Conference championship, and that is what disappointed Raymond most of all.

"Our foremost goal this season is to win the SEC, and we blew a chance to take charge," he lamented.

However, the Bulldogs' title hopes remain very much alive. They have three conference games left, all at home, against Lincoln, Tecumseh and Milan. If they win all three, they will at least tie for the championship.

Chelsea plays a non-league game at Adrian tonight and hosts Lincoln on Friday in a contest that has to be considered "crucial" at this stage. Lincoln is in second place, a notch ahead of Chelsea, in the SEC race. Tecumseh is first.

Chelsea led, 19-9, at the end of the first quarter and had the game put away for all practical purposes. It was 32-22 at the half and, following Western's third-quarter charge which the Bulldogs quickly answered, 46-34, going into the fourth quarter.

The game was a milestone of sorts, in that it marked the last time Chelsea and Western played as Southeastern Conference cage rivals. Western is dropping out of the SEC at the end of this school year to join a Jackson county conference.

The Panthers have not fared well in SEC competition in most sports in recent years. In basketball this season they are 0-8 in conference play, and figure to be winless the rest of the way.

"They are improving," Raymond noted.

down a dozen, Chuck Hager 9 and Steinhauer 8. Kiel, who gets better with every game, also had two blocked shots.

Raymond was pleased with his team's total defensive effort, which once again kept the opposition from penetrating for easy, close-in shots. "Even if we don't take the ball away, our defensive aim is to make our opponents work for their shots, and we did that well against Western," he said.

JV Cage Team Nips Saline

Weak free throw shooting in the fourth quarter by the Bulldogs junior varsity basketball team almost gave Saline a win Friday night.

Chelsea intercepted an in-bounds pass with less than a second to go to preserve a 51-50 win.

That victory and the 42-38 win over Jackson County Western Feb. 8 away upped the Bulldogs' over-all record to 9-6 and their league record to 6-3.

Chelsea had been making close to 80 percent of their free throw attempts in their last few games, but could only sink five of 18 attempts in the fourth quarter against Saline.

The Bulldogs had dominated the game until then, leading, 29-21, at half-time and, 40-31, at the end of the third quarter.

Saline pulled within one point with six seconds to go. They missed a field goal. With four seconds to go, Chelsea missed the front end of a one-and-one free throw, and the Hornets got the rebound. They called time-out at mid-court with a second to go, but the Bulldogs intercepted their in-bounds pass to finish ahead.

Saline has had only two losses this season in league play, both to Chelsea.

The Bulldogs shot very well from the floor, making 18 of 38 field goal attempts for 47 percent to Saline's 20 of 54 for 37 percent. Chelsea made 15 of 32 free throw attempts for 47 percent, a low percentage for them. Saline made 10 of 20. Saline had 35 rebounds to Chelsea's 25.

Dave Steinhauer had 17 points, five rebounds; Jason Pierson, nine points, six rebounds; and Mark Henson and Scott Jones, eight points each.

Chelsea had two chances to put the Western game away, said coach Paul Terpstra, but the Bulldogs' inconsistent play and a lack of intensity at times kept Western in the game.

Chelsea led, 15-6, during the second quarter, but the Bulldogs only had a 18-15 lead at half-time. With three minutes to go in the game, Chelsea led, 36-24, but again Western came back to tie it up at 38-38 with 13 seconds left.

Jones made a 16-footer to put the Bulldogs ahead by two. Western muffed their in-bounds pass, and then they fouled Keith Neibauer on Chelsea's inbounds play. He made both foul shots to make it a four-point win.

Chelsea made 15 of 43 field goal attempts for 35 percent to Western's 13 of 41 for 32 percent. Chelsea made 12 of 15 free throw attempts for an excellent 80 percent, while Western made 12 of 16 for 75 percent. Both teams had 28 rebounds. The Bulldogs had 10 steals and 23 turnovers.

Henson had 12 points; Neibauer, nine points and nine rebounds; Steinhauer, eight points, six rebounds; and Pierson, seven rebounds.

The Bulldogs play Adrian at 6 p.m. tonight away and play Lincoln at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 18 at home.

David Kiel Developing into Outstanding Basketball Player

David Kiel is 16 years old, stands 6 feet 5 inches tall, weighs a solid 215 pounds—and is still growing. He is likewise developing into an outstanding basketball player who, if he keeps on improving as he has been, will get more attention from college recruiters a year from now.

A junior, Kiel centers this year's so far very successful Chelsea High school basketball team and has become a dominant name in game statistics on scoring and rebounding. He is averaging about 15 points and 13 rebounds per contest, and is getting better almost every time out.

His game-to-game improvement is notable to anyone who has followed the Bulldogs closely this season.

"If you think he has come along fast this year, you should have seen him last year when he was kind of an awkward bundle of arms and legs," says Kiel's coach, Robin Raymond.

Like many big-growing young men, Kiel has matured more slowly than "normal" individuals who reach their full height at 6 feet or under. Besides that, he is a "young junior" whose Sept. 13 birthday allowed him to start school early. Most high school juniors are 17.

"David's size is his most important attribute," Raymond says, "but he has talent as well. As important as anything is his attitude and dedication. He wants to improve and excel, and he works hard at it. He is very coachable. He wants to learn how to play better, and I want to help him."

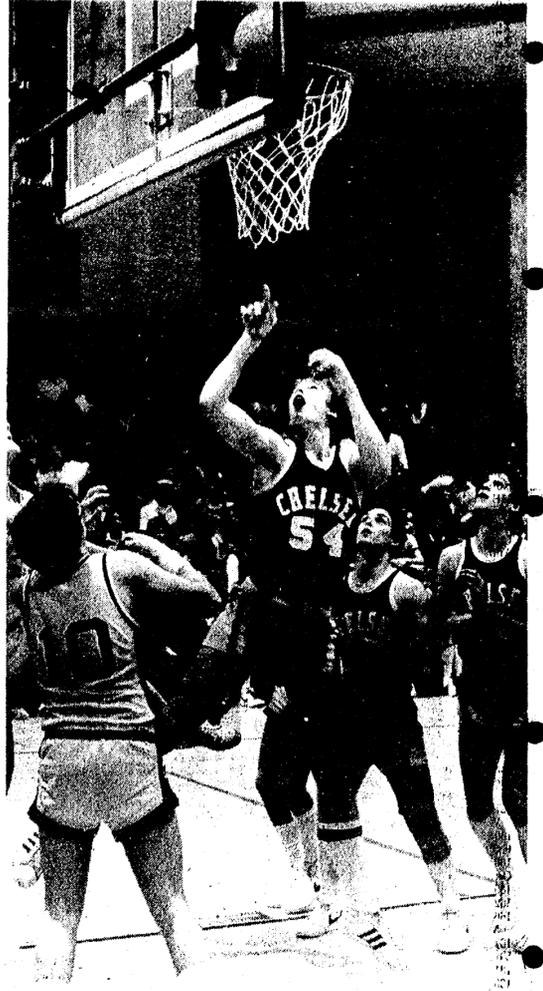

Kiel regularly shows up early for practice, and he and Raymond play "one on one" before the regular team drills begin.

"David is not a born shooter," Raymond explains, "but he is getting better with practice. That's what we work on in those early practice sessions. A year ago he couldn't hit consistently from more than six feet. Now he's putting the ball in from 10-12 feet, and by next year he'll be shooting well enough from outside that nobody will be able to afford to leave him unguarded. That will add an extra dimension to his game."

Meanwhile, Kiel has learned to can free throws about 70 percent of the time from the 15-foot foul line. His style at the line looks a bit awkward, but the ball usually goes in, which is what counts.

Kiel has also learned to jump, and do it under control. Chelsea has missed getting very few tip-offs this season on the center jumps which start each quarter of play. More important, Kiel has come a long way toward mastering the art of going up to get the ball on rebounds off the boards, instead of waiting for it to come down to him.

Kiel has likewise improved his defensive skills, to the point where some opposing centers have chosen to back off rather than go up against him in the battling underneath. His size and strength (he presses 200 pounds in the weight room) are formidable.

As the biggest player on the court in most of the games he plays in, Kiel is a natural object of attention from officials, but has been pretty successful this season in avoiding foul trouble. "He doesn't get called for very many 'cheap' fouls," Raymond explains, "even though he's a target. When he and somebody else collide, one of them is likely to go down on the floor, and it usually isn't David."

Kiel is a quiet young man who doesn't say a lot but obviously can think for himself. An excellent student, he is a member of the National Honor Society, and does not have to worry about his academic future when his high school days are over.

"I would like to try college basketball," he says, "and just hope I can get to be good enough. I know I have to keep on improving, and I enjoy working at it."

Frosh Cagers Win Thriller Over Milan

Mark Mull hit four key free throws in one-and-one situations during the last 20 seconds, enabling Chelsea's freshman basketball team to win a thriller at Milan, 42-38, last Thursday night.

Chelsea coach Paul Ash described it as "a very tough defensive game on both sides." Chelsea got down by as many as nine points midway through the third quarter, then rallied to cut the margin to four going into the final period.

The Bulldog frosh then applied a pressure defense which held Milan to just three fourth-quarter points, and Mull's clutch shooting from the line won it.

Mull had 13 points for the game, and Dan Bellus and Ken Martin added 12 apiece.

"It was a very good ball game," Ash summarized. "The defensive play was excellent by both teams. There were a few real good offensive plays, although neither team shot very well. Mull's free throws made the difference. He did an outstanding job under pressure."

Cagers Play Well To Down Western

Easy, yet not so easy. That pretty well describes Chelsea's varsity basketball win over Jackson County Western, 73-56, last Tuesday night. The Bulldogs stormed out to a 19-4 early lead, but the pesky Panthers kept coming back and at one point in the third quarter narrowed the gap to seven points.

Chelsea put on a spurt and widened its margin to the eventual 17-point difference, climaxed by a 27-point fourth quarter which was the Bulldogs' biggest eight-minute output of the season.

"We knew we were going to win," Chelsea coach Robin Raymond said. "The only question was, by how much. We out-match them in talent, but Western plays very well with what it has. Give them credit, they never quit trying. It could have been a 40-point blowout for us if they had let up."

Western tried to stop the hot-shooting, high-scoring Bulldogs with a zone defense, but Chelsea was able to work the ball inside to Marty Steinhauer and David Kiel, who finished with 23 and 18 points, respectively.

Dave Wojcicki added 17 and had seven assists on pinpoint passes to players posted up inside.

Chelsea held a big edge, 42-27, in rebounding, with Kiel pulling

ONE TRUCK OR A FLEET OF THEM!

It really doesn't matter a lot whether you're a fleet owner/operator or have just one truck to keep on the road. Your maintenance problems can be just as costly to you.

Jim Giles, Supervisor of the A&L Fleet Supply counter, says, "We know that having the right part in the proper quantity is important. We strive to keep our inventory in such a manner that 'out-of-stock' is never an answer."

"The computer system we've installed helps a lot — keeps us in better communication with the warehouse. Then the manufacturers' schools and training classes help keep us up to date on what's going on."

"We review our lines and stocking procedures on a regular basis."

We've recently expanded some lines — Signal Stat lights, AP Heavy-Duty exhaust systems, and the TRW Heavy Duty truck parts."

Give Jim and the other Fleet Supply counterpeople the test next time you need one part (or a whole lot of them)!

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

Look at the two Chelsea-Dexter basketball games this season, and you can see the importance of getting off to a good start. Except for horse racing and long-distance running, there are almost no sports in which an early lead does not prove decisive.

In the first Chelsea-Dexter game, back on Dec. 17, Dexter charged out to a 36-23 half-time lead. Chelsea came back and went ahead at one stage, 45-44, but ran out of gas and Dexter won in overtime, 60-57.

The rematch on Feb. 4 was a different story. This time Chelsea took an early 10-0 command, and Dexter never came close to catching up, eventually bowing by 22 points.

Take it from an old basketballer, playing behind is never easy. The physical and emotional drains of coming back are fierce. It's a whole lot easier to get out ahead and stay there.

Chelsea coach Robin Raymond was worried that his team lacked a "killer instinct," which is perhaps too strong a phrase to put forth the idea that, once you get an opponent down, you don't let him back up. The Bulldogs kept the pressure on, and never gave Dexter an opening to come back.

Give credit to Dexter in their 83-61 loss to Chelsea. They kept trying even though it was obvious they were up against a whirlwind force that wasn't about to be denied. They never gave up, and they played good basketball right to the end. The Dreadnaughts played well enough to win against most teams on most nights. They simply were out-matched by a Chelsea team which played up to the limit of its ability.

There could be a rubber game in the rivalry for the championship of Dexter-Chelsea Rd., depending on the pairings for the district tournament.

Both Chelsea and Dexter High schools are in a district which also includes Jackson Lumen Christi, Brooklyn Columbia Central, Tecumseh and Jackson Northwest. Lumen Christi will be favored to win, mostly because it usually does. The Titans blew out Chelsea, 78-57, on Jan. 14.

Bulldog Coach Robin Raymond thinks his team can match up with Lumen Christi, a perennial state Class B athletic power in all sports, if it plays like it has in recent games. "One problem," he added, "is that the districts are going to be played in the Lumen Christi gym, and that gives them an advantage."

I wrote about this a week ago, and am repeating it for emphasis. The one sour note during the Chelsea-Dexter game was the hollering while players were at the foul line shooting free throws. It was about equally bad on both sides, and a disgrace to the students and fans of both schools.

It's not just the students, who could possibly be excused for not being old or smart enough to know any better (although I don't think so). Where I was sitting, the most noise was being made by a couple of middle-aged ladies (?) whose lung power matched their ample size. It was with some fear that I finally told them to shut up, because both were bigger than I am. (I weigh only 180 pounds.)

Question: Do you so-called basketball fans know what is just possibly the most difficult athletic feat of all?

Answer: Shooting a free throw amid deaf silence. If you really want to shake a player up, be quiet.

GLENN PRINZING and FRANK WALLER are members of the Chelsea varsity "Gold" team, a unit made up of reserves which Coach Robin Raymond substitutes as a group when the starters need a breathing spell. Prinzling plays in the backcourt, is aggressive on defense and a good outside shooter. "Glenn is very tough on the court," Raymond says. "He doesn't budge an inch for anybody, and he makes very few mistakes." Waller can play at either guard or forward. Raymond calls him "an offensive-minded player who can go either inside or outside depending on what he is asked to do."

SEC ROUND-UP

Tecumseh Back in Lead As Saline Humbles Chelsea

Nobody has taken Tecumseh's bid for the Southeastern Conference basketball championship very seriously, figuring the darkhorse Indians would fall by the wayside once the competition got really tough.

The fact is that Tecumseh holds the lead all alone with the race entering its winding-down stage. The further fact also is that nobody has been able to hang on to a lead for more than a week in the wacky SEC race.

Frosh Cage Team Drops Milan Game

Chelsea's freshmen played their best basketball of the season during the first 28 minutes of their game at Stockbridge last Monday night, according to coach Paul Ash.

Unfortunately, they followed with their worst four minutes and so let an excellent effort go down the drain, losing, 61-58, in a game which Ash said "we had every chance to win and should have."

The Bulldog frosh were ahead by five points with four minutes to go, and seemingly in charge, when "we suddenly lost our momentum," according to Ash.

A series of Chelsea turnovers and missed close-in shots gave Stockbridge the opportunity to take the lead and win.

A bright spot was Dan Bellus' outstanding performance, his best of the winter, as he scored 22 points, including 12-for-16 from the foul line. Ken Martin had 18 and Mark Mull 16. The trio accounted for all but two of Chelsea's scoring total.

At 12-4, Lincoln owns the best overall record in the league. Chelsea comes next at 11-4. Tecumseh is only 7-6, but six of those victories have come in conference play.

Last Tuesday's results: Tecumseh 43, Milan 42; Chelsea 73, Western 56; Lincoln 68, Dexter 61.

Last Friday's results: Saline 63, Chelsea 53; Milan 53, Dexter 47; Lincoln 84, Western 74.

Key games this week include Lincoln at Chelsea and Saline at Tecumseh Friday night. No SEC action is scheduled tonight.

CONFERENCE CHAMPS: Jeff Morgan (foreground) and Travis Rudd practiced during the season, and it paid off at last Saturday's Southern Conference wrestling championship meet as both won individual championships.

Wrestlers Place 3rd in Conference

Chelsea High's varsity wrestlers wound up third in the over-all Southeastern Conference standings following last Saturday's SEC championship meet at Lincoln in which they finished fourth.

If that seems confusing, it is because of the point formula used to determine final placings in the league—a combination of points earned in dual meets during the season and in the conference meet.

The final standings are:

Team	Points
Saline	24
Western	20
Chelsea	12
Dexter	10
Milan	10
Tecumseh	8

Lincoln does not compete in wrestling.

In last Saturday's SEC meeting, Saline finished first with 215.5 points, followed by Western with 126.5, Milan with 115, Chelsea with 104.5, Tecumseh with 101.5 and Dexter with 83.5.

Volleyball Team Slumps in 2 Losses

Dexter's varsity volleyball team is "in a slump" according to the girls coach Sheryl Hoekstra. The Dreadnaughts lost two games this week, dropping them to second place in the Southeastern Conference with a 4 and 2 record and a 10 and 2 overall record.

On Monday, Dexter played Saline at Saline and lost the match in two games, 15 to 3 and 15 to 7.

Severs in the first game were Candace Ianni with two points and Maureen McCallum with one point. Spikers were Kim Gehring with four, Missy Virgne with two, Ann Farrell with one, Angie Radtke with two and Sue Claffey with one.

Serving in the second game were Missy Virgne with three points, Maureen McCallum with two points, Angie Radtke and Candace Ianni with one point. Spikers were Maureen McCallum with five, Angie Radtke with five, Kim Gehring with five, Candace Ianni with seven and Missy Virgne with seven.

Thursday's game against Tecumseh was another two-match loss, 15 to 8 and 15 to 10.

Serving in the first game were Kim Gehring with three, Missy

Virgne with two, Sue Claffey, Maureen McCallum and Candace Ianni with one each. Candace Ianni added two spikes.

Serving in the second game were Maureen McCallum with seven, Missy Virgne, Trisha Eisele, and Candace Ianni with one each. Spikers were Candace Ianni with five and Angie Radtke with three.

The Bulldogs go to Charlotte this coming Saturday for the district meet, and Kargel said he hopes to qualify "four or five" from his team for the regional meet.

Bulldog JV Beaten Twice

Bulldog junior varsity girls volleyball team had trouble with serves in their 8-15, 15-8, 3-15 loss to Milan Feb. 10 at home.

In their best-played match of the year, they lost to Tecumseh, 15-13, 11-15, 8-15, Jan. 7 at home.

Inconsistent serving against Milan was the difference in the Milan match, she said. Chelsea had trouble getting serves over the net in the first and third games, but not the second game.

The team's league record is now 2-5.

Their next home game is at 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 17 against Saline.

Grapplers Win Two Contests

Chelsea wrestlers tuned up for the Southeastern Conference meet (see separate story) with two impressive wins in a three-way dual meet with Pinckney and Jackson Lumen Christi last Wednesday night here.

The Bulldog grapplers defeated Pinckney, 33-19, and Lumen Christi, 59-6.

Going into the SEC finals at Lincoln with a 3-3 league record in dual meets (8-5 over-all) Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel was optimistic that his team would show well but probably not well enough to finish first.

"We have shown a lot of improvement during the season, especially in the heavier weight classes," Kargel said. "We can no longer be taken for granted at any weight. But I'm not sure we have developed enough depth yet to challenge for a team title. We're still using four or five freshmen in every meet and, although they have made a lot of progress, their inexperience still shows. There is just no substitute for experience."

"We have some excellent individuals in the lower weight classes, and I expect them to do well in the conference meet and also at the district meet at Charlotte on Feb. 19.

"The problem in the district meet will be that the district we are in is one of the two toughest in the state, and a boy is going to have to be very good to finish among the top four at his weight and so qualify for the regionals."

In the 33-19 victory over Pinckney, the following Bulldog matmen were winners:

Pete Hanna (98 pounds), 13-0 superior decision; Mark Rosentreter (105), fall in 2:53; Bill Hanna (112), 6-2 decision; Ernie Bristle (119), 13-3 superior decision; Travis Rudd (132), 8-2 decision; Scott Dault (138), 8-1 decision; Eric Stofflet (145), 6-4 decision; Dave Gipson (167), 7-6 decision; John Bowdish (185), 11-7 decision.

In the 59-6 rout of Lumen Christi, Chelsea winners were:

Pete Hanna (98), fall in :55; Rosentreter (105), fall in 1:49; Bill Hanna (112), 13-1 superior decision; Bristle (110), 13-12 decision; Jeff Morgan (126), fall in 3:44; Rudd (132), fall in :50; Dault (138), fall in 3:29; Stofflet (145), fall in 2:53; Gipson (167), fall in 3:01; Bowdish (187), 10-7 decision; Rick Proctor (heavy-weight), fall in 1:20.

Swimmers At Beach Win Pair

Beach Middle school Bullpup boy and girl swimmers had a winning week. They beat Dundee, 67-49, Feb. 9 away and beat Riverview Seitz, 64-52 Feb. 7 at home.

Jenny Picklik had a fine meet against Dundee, said coach Von Acker. The team has done a good job this season to make their record 5-2.

Their last meet of the season is the Erie Mason Invitational Saturday, Feb. 19.

Results from the Riverview meet follow those from Dundee.

200 medley relay—Cathy Hoffman, Sarah Weis, Kelly Kuzon, Jeff Mason, first; Jenny Picklik, Kim Clutter, Susan Schmunk, Mark Pletcher, third.

200 free—Darren Girard, first; Jenny Shaff, fourth; Riverview: Jeff Nemeth, first; Laura Stephens, second.

100 IM—Weis, first; Picklik, third; Riverview: Weis, second; Girard, third.

Beach Volleyball Teams Lose to Saline, Dexter

Beach Middle school seventh and eighth grade girls volleyball teams began their seasons with losses to Saline Feb. 8 at home and to Dexter Feb. 10 away.

The eighth grade team lost to Saline, 12-15, 6-15, and lost to Dexter, 8-15, 15-0, 6-15. In that shut-out second game, always a thrill in volleyball, Tylene Greenleaf had 14 service points in a row. Her serving was supported by good play from teammates.

The seventh grade team lost to Saline, 13-15, 14-16, and to Dexter, 7-15, 15-4, 6-15 in a well-controlled match, said Ms. Martin.

Boys Swim Team 2nd in Invitational

Bulldog boys swimming team took second to Monroe in the Freshman-Sophomore Invitational Saturday, Feb. 12 at Cameron Pool.

Monroe had 304 points; Chelsea, 247; Milan, 216; Fordson, 191; Wayne, 168; and Lincoln, 108.

Chelsea's medley relay team set a meet record and qualified for the state meet. Don Skiff swam a state meet consideration time in the 100 free.

An asterisk beside a name in the results indicates a swimmer who placed and recorded a career best time at the meet.

200 medley relay—Craig Miller*, Mike Coffman*, Brent Bauer*, Don Skiff, first, 1:48.33; state meet qualifying time; Chad Freyre, Randy Hampton*, Todd Brown, Mark Westhoven, ninth, 2:23.52.

200 free—Chad Freyre*, 14th, 2:27.28, drop from 2:33.0.

200 IM—Dan Degener*, third, 2:21.97, drop from 2:24.2; Mike Carignan*, fifth, 2:27.72, drop from 2:34.1; Miller*, ninth,

Swim Team Extends Dual Meet Record to 8-2

Chelsea boys swimming team extended their dual meet record to 8-2 with a 67-60 win over Cherry Hill Feb. 8 away.

Steve Ramsey qualified for the state meet in the medley relay. As of now, 13 swimmers have qualified for that meet, at least one in each event.

The team has two away meets, today against Jackson and Feb. 22 against Willow Run, before the Chelsea Invitational Feb. 24.

An asterisk beside a name in the results indicates a swimmer who placed and recorded one of the 10 career best times the Bulldogs swam against Cherry Hill.

200 medley relay—John Hoffman, Ted Merkel, Dave Nicola, Steve Ramsey, 1:47.72; Craig Miller, Mike Coffman, Brent Bauer, Kent Noll, 1:52.06; Mike Carignan, Dave Cox, Scott Pryor, Chad Freyre, 2:04.58.

200 free—Sean Oxner*, first, 1:49.43; Don Skiff*, third, 1:58.00; Darrin Fowler*, sixth, 2:03.36.

200 IM—T. Merkel, third, 2:20.64; Dan Degener*, fourth, 2:24.20; Kevin Colombo, fifth, 2:24.26.

50 free—John Drew, second, 23.28; Ramsey, third, 23.95; Tim Dmoch, fifth, 28.97.

Diving—Kraig Leach, first, 184.00; Tim Hampton, second, 100 breast—T. Merkel, second; 1:08.95; Coffman, fourth, 1:10.03; Cox, fifth, 1:19.57.

400 free relay—Nicola, Skiff, Drew, Oxner, 3:29.53; Ramsey, Noll, R. Merkel, Hoffman, 3:14.89; Colombo, Carignan, Fowler, Degener, 4:01.91.

SWIMMERS OF THE WEEK are Steve Ramsey, standing in water, David Cox, seated on block, and Darrin Fowler. Ramsey, a junior, had specialized in backstroke since he joined the varsity team as a freshman, but has excelled in sprint freestyle this year and should qualify in the 50 free for the state meet, according to the coaching staff. Cox, a sophomore, is a first-year swimmer who has improved a great deal since the start of the season. He swims freestyle, breaststroke and individual medley. He gives the team depth and has the potential to be a great Bulldog swimmer. Fowler, a junior, specializes in distance freestyle, and has made great improvements in his 200 free, 200 IM and 100 free times this year. He works hard, never misses a practice and is always willing to help out any way he can.

In observance of President's Day we will not transact business on Monday, February 21st.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Dealing with tragedies is the least pleasant aspect of reporting news. I have been accused many times of being a ghoul, and worse, because I have had the unhappy task of asking questions and writing stories about incidents which involved death and destruction. Believe me, I don't like it and have never gotten used to it after 35 years of doing it. If there were not some more positive factors—the good news—I would have quit the business long ago.

That is by way of prelude to some comment on the awful accident on Feb. 6, when a car broke through the ice on Mill Lake and a 17-year-old young man was drowned. What a waste. The only "good news" out of that mishap is that three other young persons escaped with their lives. They have to be among the luckiest people in the world.

Survival time in the 39-degree water beneath the ice on a Michigan lake in winter is on the order of 5-10 minutes. Either you get out of the water within about that span of time, or you die. Death may be by drowning (asphyxiation) or exposure (hypothermia). Neither way is recommended.

Back on Jan. 18 I wrote in this column about the hazard of venturing onto lake ice and said, among other things, that I had never felt comfortable about driving a car onto a frozen lake. I wish I had put my words more strongly, and will do so now.

Based on my experience of more than 35 years of walking on and fishing in southeastern Michigan lakes, there is no lake—repeat NO LAKE—in Washtenaw, Jackson or Livingston counties—that is EVER safe for motor vehicle travel. That statement encompasses the most severe winters the area has ever experienced, and my memory includes some really cold ones very different from this almost spring-like season.

Lakes around here are of two general types—spring-fed and river-fed. Except for the Huron River chain of lakes, most are spring-fed, which means that they lie in "kettle-holes" and get their water from springs bubbling up from the bottom. River-fed lakes are simply wide, flat places in a river where the water flow spreads out and covers adjacent lowlands.

In both kinds of lakes there are places where safe ice seldom or never freezes. By "safe ice" I mean the three-inch minimum necessary for walking without worry about breaking through.

Spring-fed lakes are by far the most treacherous. The spring-holes are small and hard to locate, especially in winter, when they may be covered by skim ice and a blanket of snow. Moving currents through river-fed lakes usually can be spotted, because they rarely freeze over. Inlets and outlets are almost always open, and anyplace more or less directly between should be suspected. You can track a current by testing the ice around the edges.

When I learned about the Mill Lake tragedy from Sheriff's Department personnel, I didn't need to be told where in the lake it had happened. That spring-hole has been there all during the 35 years that I have fished on the lake at every time of the year. Most of Mill Lake is shallow enough that you can wade in it, but there are a few deep holes, and every one of them is fed by a spring.

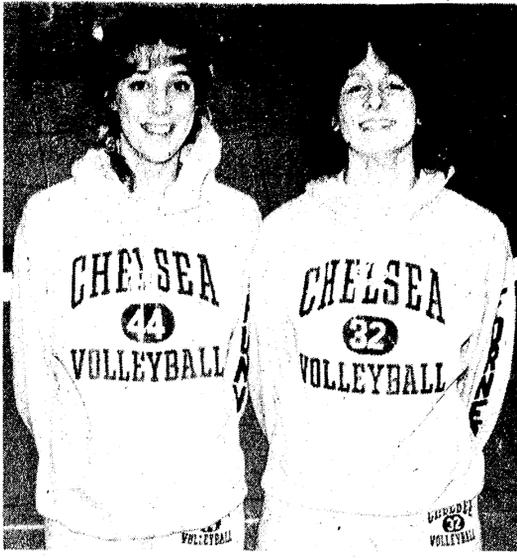

The hole where the car went through is the deepest. I know, because it's a good place to fish, and I have done very well around its edges, especially in winter. You creep up to it cautiously, testing the ice as you go, and stop when you reach the three inch safe limit. Take two more steps, and you can be in a lot of trouble, like over your head in icy water.

Why drive a car out on the ice of Mill Lake, or any other lake around here?

There is no reason to do it, in the middle of the night or at any other time. Mill Lake is small, and you can walk across any dimension of it in 15 minutes of less.

The same can be said for every other lake that I know of in this area.

The outdoors has its hazards, and they have to be respected. Treat the out-in-the-open with the understanding that it can hurt you and even kill you if you don't play by the common-sense rules imposed by nature. Driving a car, or even a snowmobile, out on a southeastern Michigan lake in winter is a violation of those rules. Why take the chance?

Cross Country Ski Trails Open at Nature Center

The public is invited to use the hilly and sometimes challenging trails of Waterloo Nature Center for cross country skiing.

Skiers may observe the tracks of mice, deer, pheasant and other animals which thrive amidst

Cross Country Skiing

The City of Ann Arbor, Department of Parks and Recreation cross country ski center has opened for the 1983 season. The ski center is located at the Huron Hills Golf Course, 3465 E. Huron River Dr., Ann Arbor. Rentals, lessons, ski merchandise, and concessions are available Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Because of the modest snow base groomed trails are not available at this time. For further information please call 971-9841.

The Women's Bureau reports that in 1981 there was not much difference between the wage of women workers with 4 or more years of college and male workers who had only 1 to 3 years of high school—women workers earned $12,085, compared to $11,936 for men.

snow and ice. Plan to stop at Mill Lake to admire the vista of inland lakes formed by glaciers.

Sounds are also important in a winterscape. Snow is soft and cushioned at certain temperatures and becomes crackly and crunchily when the mercury drops. One may also hear squirrels chatter and startled deer snort.

The Oak-wood's and Mill Lake loop trails are more than four miles long. Parking at the nature center is free and does not require a state park motor vehicle permit as do other places in Waterloo Recreation Area.

There is a $1 trail fee per person which helps offset trail maintenance. Members of Waterloo Natural History Association do not have to pay.

Area maps are available at the booth in the parking lot. For more information, call the nature center at 475-8069 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday. Please leave a message if no one answers the call.

To get to the nature center, take I-94 to exit 157. Head north on Pierce Rd. as far as one can go. Turn left on Bush Rd., drive ¼ mile and the nature center is on the left.

Biddy Basketball Provides Thrillers

ABA

The ABA Recreation Basketball League for 8-10-year-olds saw its fourth week of action on Feb. 6.

Celtics 36, Pacers 28

In the first game of the day the Celtics, who were led by Tom Steele and Matt Weis, each with 14 points, defeated the Pacers, 36 to 28. Alex Hammerschmidt, Kristan Bohlander and Pete Defant led the Celtic defense.

The Pacers' attack was led by Garret Kern with 8 points. Rob Northrup, Jay Crombe and Jamey Ketner also added to the scoring for the Pacers, while Chris Haugen and Kate Dllworth provided good team play.

Spurs 34, Suns 31

In the second game the Spurs narrowly defeated the Suns, 34 to 31. Chad Starkey with 16 points and Chad Raymond's 10 points led the Spurs' offense. Grant Kidd, Lance Satterthwaite and Butch Michaud provided strong defense and rebounding. The Suns were led in a late charge by the shooting of Carey Ruthberg and the hustle and defense of Todd Redding.

Lakers Draw Bye

The Lakers drew a bye for the week. To take advantage of the off week, several offensive and defensive plays were practiced. Duane Penhalligon, Joe Fowler, Greg Garen and Steve Kuhl have shown considerable improvement since the beginning of the season. The coaches have been pleasantly surprised with the individual performance and progress of each player and, more importantly, with the over-all team improvement.

The next games are scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 19.

NBA

Cougars 37, Rimshots 35

The most exciting game of the season took place on Feb. 5 in the 11- and 12-year-old NBA Division.

The Rimshots and Cougars clashed in an overtime thriller. The Cougars prevailed, 37-35, on the scoring of Alan Beckwith and Craig Maynard. Craig Maynard topped all scorers with 25 points, while the Cougars were led defensively by Eric Frisinger, Jeff Garen and Steve Williams. The Rimshots were led by Ward

Beauchamp and Don Gerstler, while Ken Beauchamp, Adam Heeter and Greg Clark provided rebounding and defense.

Spartans 35, 76'ers 22

In the second game of the day, the Spartans, led by Junior Morseau's 18 points defeated a tough 76'ers squad, 35-22. Tough defense by the Spartans and a poor shooting day for the 76'ers led to the win.

Scott Geitzen and Loren Keeze led the Spartan defense, with Jeff Prentice and Brett Hansen rebounding aggressively.

The 76'ers were led by Jeff Marshall's 8 points and Dave Kvarnberg's 7.

Others playing well for the 76'ers were John Collins, Jim Beaver and Scott Baker.

Last week all teams were off because of the Patriot's weekend, with play resuming the weekend of Feb. 19.

WBA

In the 7- and 8-year old WBA Division of the Chelsea Biddy Basketball program, the Kings defeated the Bucks, 28-21, the Pistons lost to the Nuggets, 34-12, and the 76'ers outlasted the Knicks, 33-17.

Kings 28, Bucks 21

Steve Martin led the Kings in scoring with the help of Lee Skyles, Chris Durham and Dan Stahl, while Jeff Gietzen, Chris Davis played good floor games. Robert Coelius and Steve Raddle led the Bucks in offense and defense.

Nuggets 34, Pistons 12

A balanced attack in which six different players scored often led the Nuggets in their win over the Pistons. Key passes by Jason Allen and Ken Slane led to several baskets, while Colby Skelton and Mike Peterson applied the defensive pressure. Linda Schaffer, Tim Bowens and Nick McCalla led the Pistons.

76'ers 33, Knicks 17

The final game saw Robert Jaques, Eddie Waller, Nicole Hansen and Paul Taylor providing enough offense to spark the 76-ers to their win over the Knicks. Sean Grafund and Greg Tone shut down the Knicks' offense. Duffy Quartermaine and Andrew Parker led the Knicks

David Wojcicki Accepts Hillsdale Scholarship

David Wojcicki will enroll in Hillsdale College with both academic and athletic scholarships, his father, Sylvester Wojcicki, principal of South school, told The Standard.

Wojcicki, a three-sport athletic star at Chelsea High school, is also an excellent student and a member of the National Honor Society. A senior, he will graduate in June and enter Hillsdale in the fall.

His athletic scholarship is in football. As Chelsea's quarterback he earned all-state honorable mention in each of the last two seasons and co-captained the team which won the Southeastern Conference championship last fall. A fine passer and gifted runner, he also played in the defensive backfield.

Wojcicki is captain and scoring leader of this year's varsity basketball team, playing as a combination guard-forward to take advantage of his multiple talents as a shooter, ball-handler and defender. He earned all-region basketball honors last year.

He is a pole vaulter on the track team.

We're looking for Junior Board of Directors

At Domino's Pizza, we work hard to keep our products the best, most nutritious they can be. Our young customers deserve nothing less.

That's why we're starting the Domino's Pizza Junior Board of Directors. We want to know first-hand what kids think. We need their ideas.

The Junior Board of Directors will give us the chance to meet with kids regularly.

They'll test our pizza, review our programs and hopefully, tell us how to do our job better.

To get started, we're sponsoring an essay contest open to youngsters age 8-12. To enter, just tell us in 100 words or less "Why I should be on the Domino's Pizza Junior Board of Directors."

Entries will be reviewed by a panel of judges, and nine winners will be invited to join our Junior Board of Directors.

To enter, send your essay by February 28, to:

CARD OF THANKS

To those who expressed their sympathy in so many beautiful and practical ways during our recent bereavement, we extend our heartfelt thanks.
The Robert Murphy family.

THANK YOU

Words cannot express our many thanks to our children Janet Tupper, Gloria Jordan, Gerald Wheeler, Glenn Wheeler, Karen Jones, Dan Wheeler, Eileen Howard and our grandchildren for the wonderful Christmas and Anniversary Celebration. Also a special thanks to the Webster Church, and our Dexter, Chelsea and Webster families and friends who are remembering us with cards, flowers and telephone messages. At this time in our lives during Mildred's illness, these all brighten our day. Your thoughtfulness means far more than you can imagine. May God bless each and everyone of you. Sincerely,
Francis & Mildred Wheeler

In Memoriam 17

IN MEMORIAM
TO MY DARLING WIFE
HELEN GOLTRA
"MY THOUGHTS OF YOU"
There's never a night time passes
Or a morning kissed with dew
That I don't drift in memory
Aglow with thoughts of you.
For each thing I do reminds me
Of the love we used to share
All the truly happy hours
Filled with bliss beyond compare.
Seems as though you're still beside me
I can almost hear you sigh
And in silent conversation
I await your warm reply.
Perhaps I'm a fool to linger
On the things beyond recall
But somehow the past holds treasures
Dreams which matter most of all.
It's been said, time changes all things
And in part I guess it's true
Still, with every passing moment
Grow my tender thoughts of you.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE
Default has been made in the terms and conditions of a certain mortgage made by NICOLA AVRESZTEAR and SANDRA K. RESZETAR, husband and wife, Mortgagee, to Huron Valley National Bank (now known as Comerica Bank - Ann Arbor), Mortgagee, dated April 17, 1978, and recorded in the office of the Washtenaw County Register of Deeds on April 12, 1978, in Liber 1645, Page 151, Washtenaw County Records, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice for principal, interest, late charges and escrow shortages the unpaid sum of $55,473.70; and no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the debt secured by such mortgage or any part thereof.
NOW THEREFORE, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statutes in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, March 17, 1983, at 10:00 a.m., said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale at public auction to the highest bidder at the west entrance to the Washtenaw County Building in Ann Arbor, Michigan, of the sum of $55,473.70 plus interest continuing thereon at the rate of 12% per annum, plus all legal costs, charges, and expenses, including attorney fees allowed by law and any sums which may be paid by the Mortgagee to protect its interest in the premises.
The premises to be sold are located at and commonly known as 474 Courtland, Ypsilanti, in the Township of Ypsilanti, Washtenaw County, Michigan, and described as follows:
Lot 86, Normal Heights Subdivision, part of the southwest quarter of Section 5, Ypsilanti Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan, according to the plat thereof as recorded in Liber 3 of Plats, page 29, Washtenaw County Records.
Such premises consist of a residential property less than three acres in size. The redemption period shall expire at the end of six (6) months from the date of sale.
Dated: February 15, 1983.

'Wizard of Oz' Cast Preparing for Opening

A cast of 62 and a pit orchestra of 25 Chelsea High school students have been practicing two months to present the musical "The Wizard of Oz" at 8 p.m. Feb. 24 and 25 and at 3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 26 at the high school auditorium.

Please note the dates, since the show is earlier this year, and performance dates have been changed since the original announcement.

Musical numbers in the show are "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," to be sung by Dorothy (Amy Wolter); "If I Only Had A Brain," by the scarecrow (Thad Bell); "If I Only Had A Heart," by the tin man (Mike Smith); "If I Only Had The Nerve," by the lion (Tim Benjamin) and the whole cast singing "We're off to See the Wizard."

The "jitterbugs" dance a frenzied, fast-paced attack on Dorothy and her companion. Ann Stock, a sophomore ballerina, joins them and also does a featured dance with the townspeople. Susan Bauer choreographed these numbers and also the guards' and ghosts' dances.

Social Worker Joins School District Staff

Having a social worker on the school staff to evaluate students potentially handicapped by emotional impairment is required by law, said Dr. Henry DeYoung, director of Chelsea school district's special education program.

The school board approved a half-time contract for Vicki Utke effective March 4 at their Feb. 7 board meeting.

Along with initial evaluations, she will re-evaluate the 75 emotionally impaired students in the Chelsea district every three years as part of the diagnostic team comprised of social worker, general education teacher, special education teacher and parents. She will also work with other children in crisis and their parents.

A resident of Dexter, Ms. Utke has been employed as a school social worker for five years with the Wayne-Westland school district.

Margaret LeGassick, the former Chelsea social worker, became ill in September and died just before Christmas. Social workers at other schools in the region substituted for her.

Four Candidates Seek Library Board Posts

Two last-minute candidates for the McKune Memorial Library board of trustees completed the list of nominees for the March 14 Chelsea village election. Deadline for filing was 4 p.m. Monday, Feb. 7.

Seeking seats on the library board are Daphne Hodder of 129 South St. and Robert W. Riemschneider of 215 Congdon St. They will be running against incumbents Fred Harris of 415 S. Main St. and Katherine Wagner of 319 Congdon St.

The election will be held at-large, meaning that the two candidates with the highest vote totals among the four will win.

Otherwise, there were no additions to the candidate list published in last Tuesday's edition of The Standard.

Four persons—incumbents Lyle D. Chriswell of 201 Wilkinson St., Herman Radloff of 413 Madison St. and Jerry J. Satterthwaite of 415 McKinley St., and newcomer Richard L. Steele of 211 Lincoln St.—are contesting three positions on the village council. The top three vote-getters will be elected in the at-large balloting.

Village Clerk Evelyn Rosentreter of 527 Arthur St. is unopposed for re-election.

Changes Made in Corn, Soybean Insurance Plans

An opportunity to obtain higher yield guarantees, payment for replanting expenses, larger indemnities for total losses and increased protection against quality damage are among the improvements recently announced for Federal Crop Insurance policies on corn and soybeans.

According to Barbara Cranson, field representative of the Federal Crop Insurance Corp., the changes were made following extensive discussions with farmers and producer organizations and become effective for policies covering 1983 crops.

One major change enables policyholders to obtain production guarantees based on 10 years of above average yields even though they may have yield records for as few as three years. Growers who produce corn to feed to their own livestock may be able to qualify with complete records for only one year. Information concerning the program, known as Individual Yield Coverage, is available from the county ASCS office.

Starting in 1983, farmers whose insured crops are damaged or destroyed while there is still time to replant will be paid an indemnity to cover up to the full cost of replanting.

Another change in policies for corn and soybeans has the effect of significantly increasing the amount of the indemnity payment to farmers who suffer the total loss of an insured crop. Previously, indemnities were reduced to reflect the fact that policyholders who experienced a total loss had no harvesting expense.

Federal Crop Insurance policies provide protection against all unavoidable causes of loss and are sold and serviced by private insurance agents who have met the requirements for FCIC certification. According to Cranson, the Federal Government pays up to 30 percent of the premium cost, with the exact amount of the subsidy dependent on the level of coverage the policyholder selects. The ASCS office has a list of certified agents.

School Board Briefs

The Board approved a gift of a 1977 vehicle valued at $1,500 from Michael Nadeau.

The Board approved a contract, effective March 4, with Vicki Utke, half-time social worker.

The Board approved changing the April meeting dates to April 11 and 25.

The Board approved the following high school curriculum changes: ART: Drop Printmaking. Add Ceramics and Jewelry II, Drawing and Painting II, Drawing and Painting III, Crafts II.

SOCIAL STUDIES: Drop Anthropology. Add Advanced U.S. History and Advanced U.S. Government.

HOME ECONOMICS: Change course name from Marriage and Family to Family Life.

BUSINESS: Add Business Management as a one-semester course. Change title of Office Procedures course to Model Office.

ENGLISH: Change title of Writing Improvement course to Basic Sophomore Writing. Add Advanced Sophomore Writing.

SCIENCE: Change title of Advanced Physics and Chemistry to Advanced Chemistry.

The meeting adjourned at 10:14 p.m.

WCC Community Scholarship Program Offered

Washtenaw Community college has established a Community Scholarship program for which applications are now being accepted. The scholarships are to cover tuition for enrollment in the Fall 1983 and Winter 1984 semesters. Also included are funds for books and supplies for each of these semesters.

Winners of the scholarships will be selected on the basis of (1) significant contribution to the community, (2) previous grades, (3) vocational goals and (4) a recommendation.

Applications for the scholarships are available from the Financial Aids Office in Room 223 of the Student Center Building. For further details, call WCC staff at (313) 973-3523 or write them at P.O. Box D-1, Ann Arbor 48106. Completed applications must be returned by May 15 to the Financial Aids Office.

Beverly A. Hirth

4100 Scio Church Rd.
Ann Arbor

Mrs. Beverly A. (Gross) Hirth, 42, of 4100 Scio Church Rd., Ann Arbor, died Feb. 3 at University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

A lifelong resident of Washtenaw county, she was born April 28, 1940, in Chelsea, the daughter of Harold and Hazel Winkle Gross. She was married to Lee W. Hirth on May 2, 1959. He survives her.

Mrs. Hirth was a 1958 graduate of Dexter High school and for the past three years had been employed in customer accounting at the Ann Arbor Bank and Trust Co. She was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church in Ann Arbor.

Surviving besides her husband are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Gross of Dexter; a son, Jerry L. Hirth, at home; a sister, Mrs. Mark (Deborah) Staphish of Chelsea; four brothers, Robert and Ray Knickerbocker, Harold F. Lawton and Timothy Gross, all of Dexter; her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Esther Gross of Dexter and several other relatives.

Funeral services were held Feb. 5 at the Muehlig Chapel in Ann Arbor. Burial was in Bethlehem cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the St. Paul's Lutheran Church 75th Anniversary Offering.

Elmer G. Maute

13820 Sager Rd.
Grass Lake

Elmer G. Maute of 13820 Sager Rd., Grass Lake, died Wednesday, Feb. 2 at Chelsea Community Hospital. He was 83 and a long-time farmer in the area.

Mr. Maute was a member of St. John's United church of Christ, Francisco; a member of Excelsior Lodge No. 116 F. & A.M. of Grass Lake and Grass Lake Eastern Star No. 159.

He is survived by his close friend, Verna Ashford of Grass Lake; two nephews, Lloyd and Dwight Riemenschneider; five nieces, Peggy Cole, Lois Briggs, Virginia Schuhr; Joan Grieve and Patricia Ronan; and several cousins.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 5 at Chas. J. Burden & Son Funeral Home, Stormont Chapel, Grass Lake, with the Rev. Paul McKenna officiating.

Burial was in East Cemetery, Grass Lake.

Kimberly Smith in Film for TV Feature On Interlochen Camp

Kimberly Smith, a junior at the Interlochen Arts Academy, has been filmed for a future presentation of the popular television series, KIDSWORLD. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith of Chelsea.

The 13-minute feature story, described as the longest ever filmed for KIDSWORLD, gives TV viewers a tour of the Interlochen campus and features highlights of concerts put on by 13 of the school's large and small performing music groups.

Kimberly is a horn player in the Interlochen Arts Academy band.

Louise Donaldson

136 Cavanaugh Lake Rd.
Chelsea

Mrs. Benjamin (Louise) Donaldson of 136 Cavanaugh Lake Rd. died Feb. 9 at her home. She was 86 and formerly of Dearborn.

She was born April 26, 1896 to Charles and Bertha (Frith) Sackett. She married Benjamin Donaldson June 13, 1916, and he preceded her in death Sept. 26, 1980.

Mrs. Donaldson helped found Church Women United in Dearborn and in Chelsea when she moved here. She was a member of First United Methodist church in Dearborn and also in Chelsea.

While in Dearborn, she was the driving force in the consolidation of the Ladies Aid, Woman's Home Missionary Society, and Woman's Foreign Missionary Society into Woman's Society of Christian Service. She served as the group's first president from 1940-44.

During summers she arranged to have groups of five or six girls from a Detroit social service agency spend two weeks at a time living with her at her Cavanaugh Lake cottage. She also sponsored the immigration of two young Korean women and a young German man after World War II.

Her listing in a 1960s edition of Who's Who described her as "the foremost church woman in America." She was active in the Woman's International League for Peace and Freedom, and as a member of the NAACP she marched in Selma, Ala., and in Washington, D.C. with Martin Luther King.

Survivors include two sons, Wilbur M. Donaldson of Maumee, O., and Dr. David D. Donaldson of Sarasota, Fla.; a foster daughter, Fosun Kim of Ypsilanti; seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Memorial services were held at 1 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 13 at First United Methodist church with the Rev. Marvin McCallum officiating.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Friends Service Committee, 1420 Hill St., Ann Arbor or to the charity of the giver's choice.

Funeral arrangements were made by Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel.

James C. Graves

43134 Westwinds, Canton
(Formerly of Chelsea)

James C. Graves of 43134 Westwinds, Canton, died suddenly Friday, Feb. 4 at home. He was 74 and a former Chelsea resident.

He was born May 4, 1908 in Sandusky to Edwin and Bertha (Campbell) Graves. He married Mary Sweet, and she survives him.

Mr. Graves retired from Ford Motor Co. engineering department in 1970. When his son Roger Graves became a Chelsea police officer, he and his wife moved here. In 1979 they moved to Canton.

Survivors include his widow; two sons, Roger Graves of Marshall and Robert Graves of Farmington; a daughter, Joan Pierson of Riverside, Calif.; eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday, Feb. 7 at Harry J. Will Funeral Home in Livonia. Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery, Livonia.

Gladys M. Bumpus

317 Mechanic St.
Stockbridge

Gladys Marie Bumpus, 57, of 317 Mechanic St., Stockbridge, died Feb. 8 in Jackson.

She was born Oct. 23, 1925, at Fitchburg, the daughter of Aaron and Bertha (Fausner) Frinkel, and had been employed for 30 years by North American Rockwell Corp.

Surviving are a son, Jerry A. of Williamston; a grandson, Steven; her mother, Mrs. Bertha Campbell of Jackson, and a sister, Mrs. Helen Yulich of Jackson.

Funeral services were held Feb. 11 at the Caskey Funeral Home in Stockbridge with the Rev. David Selleck of the Stockbridge United Methodist church officiating. Burial was made in Oaklawn Cemetery, Stockbridge.

Anthony Woodward

Hamburg
(Formerly of Chelsea)

Anthony Dale Woodward, 23, of Hamburg, a former Chelsea resident, died Feb. 14 at his home after a two-year illness.

He was born March 9, 1959, the son of Vernon and Wilma Woodward, and was married to his wife, Brenda, on July 4, 1981. She survives.

Mr. Woodward was employed at Palmer Motors in Chelsea and later at Industrial Tectonics in Dexter before illness forced him to retire.

Other survivors include his parents; a brother, Larry, and a sister, Sabrina.

Funeral arrangements are being made by the Cole-Burghardt Chelsea Chapel.

"DESCRIBE SEVA?" Judy Gallagher, administrative assistant at Seva Foundation of Chelsea, was one of several Seva staff members interviewed Thursday by Channel 7's news team. Seva, an international foundation established to prevent unnecessary blindness and based at Spring Lake, was given 700 pounds of soap products for a Christmas gift package fund raising project.

Jerry Stanecki, the station's "news hawk" who is interviewing Mrs. Gallagher in this photograph, was collecting soap in the metropolitan area to send to Poland. The news team of Stanecki, a sound man and camera man, visited Seva to do a feature on them and to pick up the 60 cases of soap products. An air date for the feature has not been set.

Changes Approved In Curriculum

To graduate from the four-year Chelsea High school, one only needs to take one year of mathematics and one year of science. Three years of social studies and English are required. But stricter graduation requirements in the future (more academic courses) wouldn't surprise John Williams, high school principal, he said, while discussing high school curriculum changes approved by the school board Feb. 7.

The changes approved for the 1983-84 school year included adding honors sections of U.S. history and U.S. government, dropping anthropology; adding a one-semester course in business management; adding an honors section of sophomore writing, changing the advanced physics and chemistry course to advanced chemistry; dropping print making, and adding ceramics and jewelry II, drawing and painting II, drawing and painting III, and crafts II.

The course name marriage and family living was changed to family life; office procedures' name was changed to model office, and writing improvement's name was changed to basic sophomore writing.

All these changes should not require additional teacher time, said Williams, but additional textbooks and supplies may be needed for new courses.

There had been only one level of U.S. history and government,

Kathleen Daniels on Dean's List at Fordham

Kathleen Treado Daniels of New York City made the Dean's List for fall semester at Fordham University. A grade point average of at least 3.5 is required to be eligible for the honor.

Daniels, a senior at the Lincoln Center campus and due to graduate in May, is the daughter of Robert and Daphne Hodder of Chelsea and of the late Howard Treado, Jr.

Louis XVI, King of France in the late 18th century, found it difficult to keep awake in the royal council.

Women Take 2 Top Prizes In Cribbage

Cribbage used to be thought of as a "man's game," but don't tell the women of Chelsea that. Women took two of the three top places in the Chelsea Jaycee cribbage tournament, including the all-important first prize.

Winner was Ginny Wheaton with a 10-4 record in last Tuesday night's playoffs, in which the eight contestants played a double round-robin.

Skip Schluppe finished second at 9-5, and Gini Schirrmacher came in third at 8-6. Third place was decided on the basis of a tie-breaker rule under which the player scoring the most points in losing game wins. Glen Boyer also had an 8-6 won-loss mark, but was 20 points behind in the "lost games" column.

Mrs. Schirrmacher got into the finals as an alternate, because Tom Pennhallegon did not show up.

David Boyer, Duane Boyer, Rodney Houle and Richard Dotz finished in the fifth through eighth positions. David Boyer had led the field in preliminary play.

Trophies were awarded to the top four finishers.

Fire Dept. Reports 20 Runs for January

The Chelsea fire department made 20 runs during January, compared to 24 during the same month a year ago. Seven of the calls were in the village, five in Sylvan township, three each in Lima and Dexter townships, and two in Lyndon township.

Three members of the fire department attended a class on hazardous materials, held at Macomb Community College. The department paid 75 percent of the instructional cost.

Wealth and Agriculture

According to Benjamin Franklin: "There seems to be three ways for a nation to acquire wealth. The first is by war, as the Romans did, in plundering their conquered neighbors. This is robbery. The second by commerce, which is generally cheating. The third is by agriculture, the only honest way, wherein man receives a real increase of the seed thrown into the ground in a continual miracle."
