Rubbish Pick-Up Slated

If you need a little push—like a deadline—to get your spring cleaning done, Monday, April 25 would be a good goal.

The village will have its annual spring rubbish pick-up that day. Rubbish should be put out at the curb early that morning, by 7 a.m.

The village public works department will haul away anything you can carry to your curb.

Faith in Action Starts Local Food Drive

Faith in Action has announced a community food drive April 19-23. Its purpose is to replenish the food supply at the Faith in Action house for distribution to Chelsea school district residents in need.

During the two months that the Faith in Action house has been open, more than 50 different families have been provided food, and the supply is almost gone.

Previous food donations have come from many sources, including local churches, the Big Boy restaurant, General Motors and Seva Foundation. Individuals from the community have donated potatoes, eggs, canned goods, and cartons of macaroni and cheese. Park Produce is a weekly contributor of fresh fruit and vegetables.

Goods needed include boxed dinners, breads and desserts, jarred dinners such as spaghetti sauce, high protein food sources such as peanut butter and tuna fish, and canned items such as soups and fruits. Products such

Arthur Dils On Ballot for School Board

Incumbent Arthur E. Dils will be the only official candidate for the one school board trusteeship position to be decided by the June 13 election.

Dils was the only person who filed a petition, due at the school April 11.

The trusteeship will not be the only question on the ballot, however. The half-mill for school property maintenance is up for renewal.

Depending on final figures on local assessments, a millage increase for operating funds may be added to the ballot, but nothing is firm on that yet.

There may be no need for it; the board may decide to just make budget cuts, or it may ask for a millage increase. That question will be answered at either the April 25, May 2 or May 16 meetings.

OH TO BE A BELOVED BEAGLE IN SPRING! Misty, a beagle puppy which Michelle Ball, right, got April 10, took her first spring ride through the village last week courtesy of her 12-year-old owner and her owner's friend, Maria Kattula, also 12.

School District Must Decide Soon on Plans For Drain Clean-Up

Chelsea school board must decide soon whether or not to participate in clean-up and renovation of the Palmer-Baldwin drain.

The school owns 12-13 percent of the 932 acres in the watershed, but by law it and the village of Chelsea, which owns 15 percent of the land, are exempt from drain assessments, Fred Mills, school district assistant superintendent, told the board at its April 11 meeting.

The board could choose to pay however, if it felt the improvements would be too great a financial burden (without its help) on the other property owners in the watershed.

Total cost of the three-phase project is estimated at $249,400. Assessments seem to be the only way to pay for the project, said

Mills. County and state funds are not available.

The school district has several options, he said. It can decide to not participate, which would probably stop the project at least for now, pay a specific amount or pay on a percentage basis of land it owns for its contribution to the run-off.

Calculating the school's portion of run-off would be difficult, Mills said in an interview later in the week. "How can anyone measure the number of gallons of water which flow off the Beach school parking lot?"

The school system acknowledges it does contribute to the run-off, he said, so it would not consider voting for the project but not contributing financially towards it.

He would not recommend the project, he said, if the expense, even with the school's participation, would cause any of the property owners in the watershed to lose their land.

The school will benefit most from the second and third phases of the project, he said. He wouldn't recommend the school's participation if other property owners agreed to only the first phase, estimated to cost $92,400.

Mills has contacted the two largest private property owners in the watershed, Butch Downer and Bernard Herrst, who each own more than 200 acres in the watershed.

Herrst, who led the original push for the drain project, said in an interview Wednesday, his estimated assessment, $15,000, is too high for him to be interested in the clean up.

Water coming up from a hole in the drain under his property east of Freer Rd. has made 32-33 acres that he farmed 10 years ago, unusable, he said. Weeds and brush have grown up on that land.

He would rather lose the use of those watery acres, he said, than pay the drain assessments.

If he got any payback on his investment in the drainage project, he said, it would just take too long, especially if he keeps that land as farmland, which he intends to do.

James E. Murry, county drain commissioner, has the final say-so on the project. But he has said he will not force it down anyone's throat.

Fringe Benefits Hit 14.73% of School Salaries

An analysis of school district personnel fringe benefits presented to the school board at their April 11 meeting, shows benefits are 14.73 percent of school salaries.

Total salaries are $4,522,581, and fringe benefits total $666,089.

The district pays $290,780 in health insurance; $40,897, dental insurance; $44,014, annuities, in lieu of health insurance; $248,053, retirement; and $44,345 in workers' compensation.

Surprise Storm Dumps 10" of Snow on Chelsea Early Sunday Morning

A surprise spring storm which apparently hit hardest in the Chelsea area dumped an estimated 10 inches of snow early Sunday morning and caused a temporary civil defense emergency when westbound I-94 was blocked near the Kalmbach Rd. interchange.

About 25 motorists stranded along I-94 from Kalmbach eastward to M-52 were given emergency shelter at Chelsea High School until traffic could be reopened.

The problem started when two semi-trailer trucks jack-knifed across the freeway about 4 a.m. Sunday, plugging traffic. The trucks and the drifted snow were cleared away by 8:30 a.m., and movement resumed at slow speeds.

The County Road Commission and sheriff's department, and the Chelsea village police, fire and civil defense agencies participated in the emergency, along with the high school. State police were in charge.

Assistant Chelsea school superintendent Fred Mills said he was called about 4:30 a.m. and asked to open the high school as an emergency shelter. He summoned Ron Joseph, supervisor of buildings and grounds; Tom Shanahan and Dan White, maintenance workers; and Judy Bunten and Judy Boyer, food service personnel.

Paul Bunten, Sylvester Wojcik (South school principal) and Ron Nemeth (athletic director) came in to help.

Rising temperatures brought on a thaw by mid-morning Sunday, and much of the snow had disappeared or turned into sloppy slush by the end of the day. The melting continued on Monday. Schools were open, and buses ran normally.

The Sheriff's department road patrol station at Chelsea reported two personal injury traffic accidents attributable to the storm.

In one, on the east-bound Baker Rd. exit off I-94, a resident of Flat Rock, Mo., Regina Hagermann, 20, was hurt when a van driven by her husband, Raymond, 21, slid off the ramp and rolled over.

Mrs. Hagermann, who is six months pregnant, and the couple's two children were sleeping in the back of the van when the accident occurred. She was taken to University Hospital in Ann Arbor for back and neck injuries. The other occupants were unhurt.

The other accident was recorded on Werkner Rd. at the Waterloo Rd. intersection and involved two vehicles whose drivers were blinded by snow. Injured was Michael A. Hendricks, 22, of 20560 North Lake Dr.,

Gregory. He was treated at Chelsea Community Hospital for leg, ankle and foot injuries.

Sgt. Don Wenk of the sheriff's department said Hendricks was driving north on Werkner in a pick-up truck equipped with a snowplow blade. The blade was "up" but was still low enough to hit a deep drift, raising a cloud of snow.

A following car, driven by Kerry A. Kargel of 13253 Island Lake Rd., hit the Hendricks truck on the left side. Neither driver could see because of the unexpected snow cloud, Sgt. Wenk said.

March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon Slated Saturday

One of the four county walk-a-thons for the March of Dimes will be held in Dexter Saturday, April 23. Registration for the 13-mile walk begins at 8:30 a.m. at Dexter High School, and the walk begins at 9 a.m., also at the high school.

Ida Zanmiller, president of the March of Dimes board of directors and a Dexter resident, is in charge of the Dexter walk.

Washtenaw county is in a rather unusual position in regards to March of Dimes funding. The county chapter turns in 60 percent of funds raised to the national chapter, which uses it for public health education, research on treatment and prevention of birth defects and medical services.

Since much of the research in these areas is done in this county, Washtenaw usually ends up getting more funds returned than were raised here.

Last year's single walk-a-thon raised more than $10,000, so the local March of Dimes chapter is optimistic about proceeds from four walks.

The Dexter walk-a-thon begins at the high school, to Parker, Gross, Steinbach, Easton, Dancer, Trinkle, Shield, Baker and back to the high school. Maps will be given out to walkers.

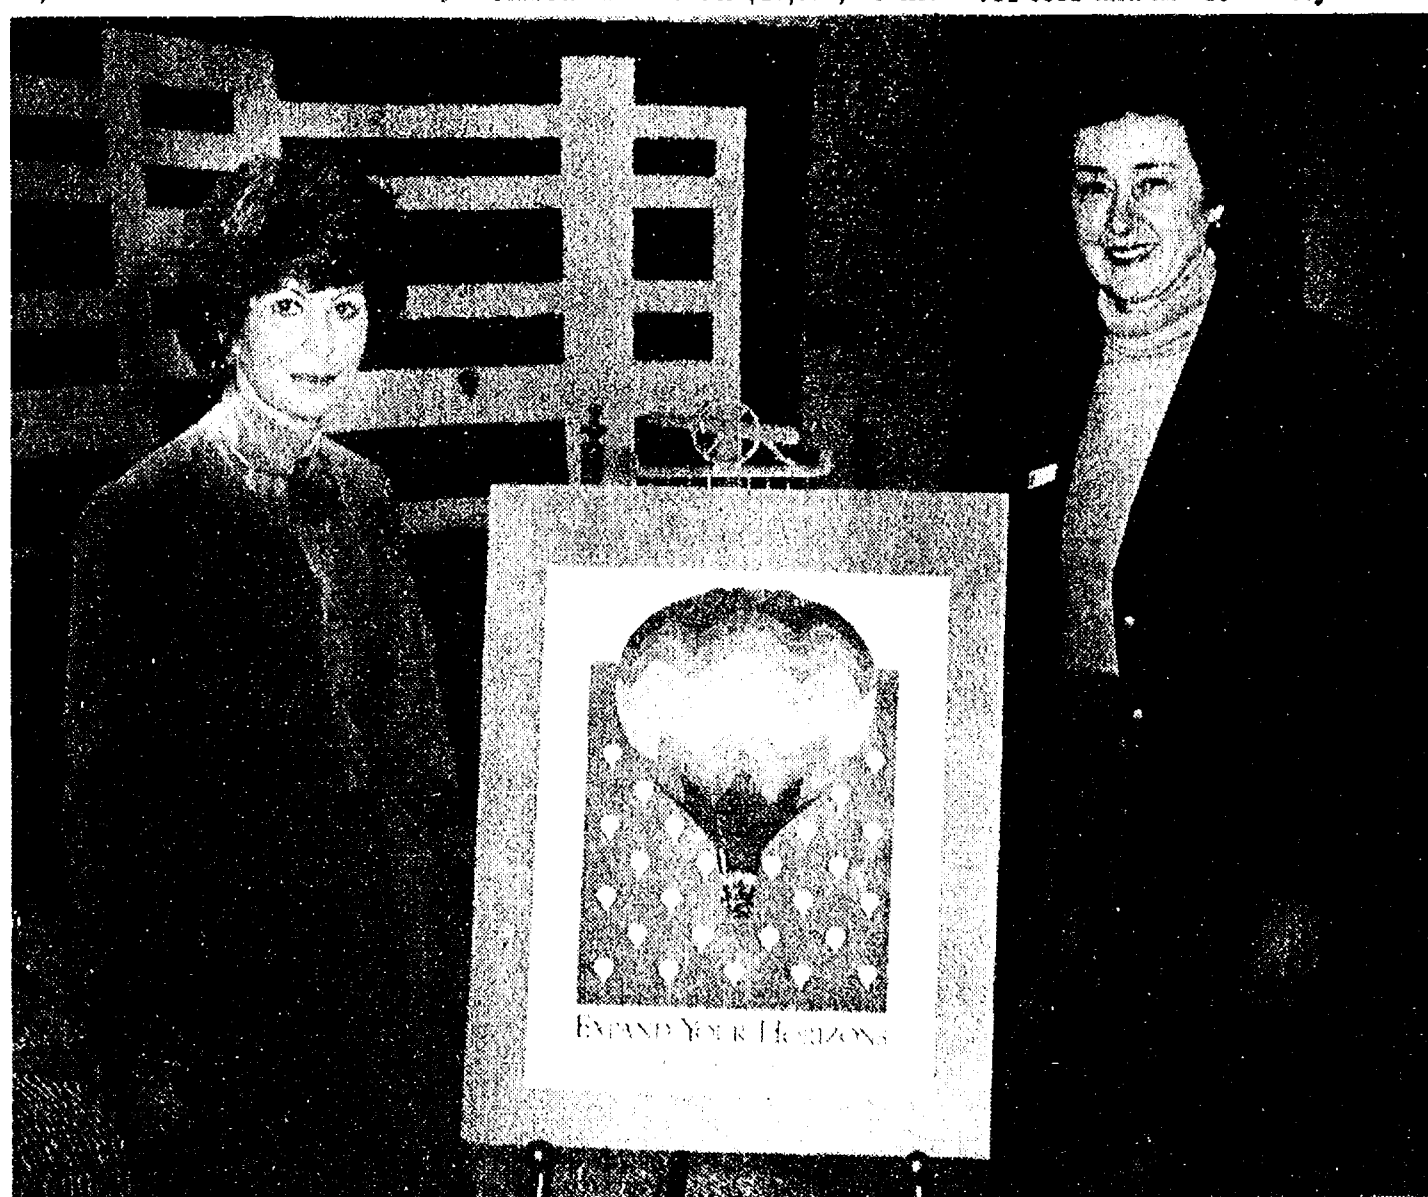

At each check point, approximately every two miles, walkers may get water and free snacks such as apples and candy bars, but if anything more substantial is wanted, such as a sandwich, a walker should bring along his own.

The Red Cross will be available if anyone is injured, and the National Guard will transport any walkers who get too tired back to the high school.

Comfortable shoes such as sneakers or broken-in hiking boots should be worn.

This week-end March of Dimes chapters all around the country will be sponsoring similar walks.

For more information, call 761-6331 and ask for Betsy.

EXPAND YOUR HORIZONS: Jan Tupper (left), director of volunteer services at Chelsea Community Hospital, and Marjorie German, president of the hospital auxiliary, display the official poster for National Volunteer Week being observed by hospitals across the country this week. The Chelsea hospital has 165 volunteers who last year donated 19,000 hours of time for a variety of free services. More help is needed, and citizens are urged to "Expand Your Horizons" by volunteering.

Hospital Auxiliary Volunteers Honored for Contributions

If you think that hospital care costs are high, imagine how much higher they would have been at Chelsea Community Hospital last year had not 165 persons contributed a total of 19,000 hours of free time toward operating the facility.

Average out those 19,000 hours as being worth $6 per hour, which is probably low according to current wage and salary scales, and you come up with a figure of $114,000 that the hospital would otherwise have had to pay.

This week, April 17-23, is National Volunteer Week, according to Jan Tupper, director of volunteer services at Chelsea hospital, and the hospital is taking steps to honor its volunteers.

Yesterday afternoon, 165 helium-filled balloons were to be released from the patio outside the hospital dining room—one for each of the 165 volunteers. The balloon launch was to be followed by a tea for the volunteers and hospital staff members.

Mrs. Tupper, who lives in Dexter, began work at the hospital as a volunteer herself, and six years ago was hired to administer the volunteer program.

"I can't say enough about all the good things that these 165 people do for us," she said. "We thank them all the time, but this the club's annual fall auction of home-made crafts. The rest went to the club's scholarship fund. Social services will use the funds for emergency assistance to clients in the Chelsea school district.

The village's tax rate for 1969 will stay the same as it was for 1968, 6.30 mills, village council decided at its Tuesday meeting. Although the millage rate is the same, the village budget has increased by $18,000 to $379,664 due to increased revenues from assessments and taxes shared with the state, such as the sales tax.

SHOULD I EVER DIP INTO MY CAPITAL?

In her book, "Life is for Living," Theresa Morse maintains that a widow's capital is not always an untouchable commodity, nor need it be sacred. It is intended to be used sensibly for the sake of security but also to help make a better, happier life for yourself.

Ms. Morse points out that, if for all the years before you were widowed, you and your husband managed your finances without your children's advice, there's little reason to begin now.

Feel free to do what is important to YOU, without endangering the bulk of your capital. A trip or a special gift to yourself or others may seem extravagant to your children, but extremely meaningful to YOU.

Project the use of your capital wisely, reserving funds for emergencies, but, as Ms. Morse indicates, your welfare and happiness comes first and "your life is for living."

Advice regarding major finances can be sought from a banker or accountant, both professionals on whose skill you may rely.

Businesses Pessimistic on Economic Outlook
President Reagan's economic recovery programs have been of little help in the depressed Michigan and northern Ohio areas, and small business failures in the region will exceed the national average, say business leaders surveyed by pollsters Touche Ross.

A Touche Ross survey of businesses in the sunbelt last year showed substantial support for the president's economic program, but Philip W. Jennings, a partner in the company's Lansing office said the survey revealed that businessmen in the area have become disenchanted with supply side economics.

In the survey of executives at 1,042 small and medium-sized businesses, 78 percent said the president's supply side economic philosophy has not benefited their companies and 32 percent of those do not ever expect to benefit.

The single largest group of businesses surveyed (21 percent) were non-auto related manufacturing, followed by retail (19 percent), auto related manufacturing (15 percent), service (14 percent) and construction (11 percent).

Less than half (46 percent) of the executives said the 1981

Economic Recovery Act has helped their companies, chiefly because of changed tax rates and accelerated cost recovery, and 33 percent expect no effect from the 1982 Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act while 50 percent anticipate only a moderate effect.

About 73 percent of the Michigan executives and 54 percent of the Ohio executives expect small business failures in their states to exceed national figures.

The businesses (86 percent) were in Michigan's Lower Peninsula; 14 percent in northern Ohio want more help from their state governments.

About 80 percent of the Michigan businesses surveyed said further changes in worker's compensation law would be a significant factor in spurring economic recovery and 73 percent said businesses cited the need for unemployment compensation changes and 55 percent said business tax changes would be of significant help.

The economic recovery will begin sometime in the next 12 months, said 37 percent of the executives, but with 70 percent of the businesses seeing only a gradual upturn in the economy extending beyond one year, 66 percent said they would curtail capital expenditures during the next year and 68 percent said they would not increase their labor force in the foreseeable future.

Schools, local governments, colleges and universities will get, by June 30, 85 percent of the state payments due them up to that point, including funds withheld from the last fiscal year, under a payment plan recently announced by state Treasurer Robert Bowman.

Except for about $70 million released to particularly hard-pressed governments, the state has not made any payments in 1983, deferring about $500 million because of its own cash problems.

The schedule calls for the release of $416 million on April 18, another $299 million on May 23 and an additional $296 million on June 30, or about 85 percent due by that date.

Bowman said the remaining 15 percent, or $338 million, will be prorated over the next three months so by Sept. 30, governments and educational institutions will have received all their appropriate funds.

Bowman said the payout plan represents "the most the state could do at this time." He added the payment plan is possible only because of the tax hike amount and timing approved by the Legislature last month.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle has been thinking about trading pickups for a year, so he'll git around to it by late summer. He was talking at the country store Saturday night about the trouble he's having with salesmen and booklets that tell about extras and recent inventions on new trucks.

Fer instant, Ed said, the last time he was in the market he could talk about horsepower and cylinders, and now all they tell you is in liters and EPA estimates. Ed said he got his fill of liters back when gasoline was so high service stations got ashamed of pricing gallons and starting selling liters. But that was a liquid liter, and the 3.6 liter wrote on the side of a pickup is somepun else.

The feller that runs the store butted in to say he was having the same problems with his stock. Use to, he said, he could buy a case of washing powder and each box was marked "Net Wt. 1 Lb." He knewed how much he paid by the pound and how much he had to sell it fer. Now everthing is in odd ounces to match grams, boxes are called "Family Bonus Pac" and they got a little box glued to a big box and a 25 cent off coupon if you buy a "Giant Economy Size" tube of toothpaste and send in two box tops fer a free potholder.

The fellers was general agreed that everthing is harder to figger out. Clem Webster said he saw where deregulated airlines is scrambling so hard and gitting so mixed up til one of em stopped and realized the other day it was offering a gimmick where the longer your trip the less you pay. But folks are gitting back to basics in some things, Clem allowed. He has saw where Crime Stoppers are catching on all over the country. This is a way to help people help police. Businesses put up money to pay rewards to folks that give information about crime to police. This is how crime was fought before people decided they didn't want to be involved. Just recent, Clem saw by the papers where this small-time drug dealer give Crime Stoppers a big boost by saying he was quitting because he was sick of his friends ratting on him.

The same approach now is being tried in high schools, where students are paid cash reward for reporting students with drugs. What we got to learn agin, Clem declared, is that we are betraying ourselves if we don't report crime because criminals are not friends of law abiding people.

New ideas keep coming along. Zeke Grubb said the way crime is going and prisons is overflowing we might do better turning the crooks loose and locking up the rest of us. If we can hold out long enough, Zeke allowed, the bad guys will kill off one another til it's safe to walk the streets agin.

Final, Mister Editor, I see by the paper some archeologists think they have dug up the Garden of Eden on the southern shore of the Sea of Galilee. This item has nothing to do with crime and pickup trucks, but it could be a shocker fer folks that thought the source of everthing was on the western shore of the Potomac River.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

ON YOUR FEET

TENNIS TOE

If you've been playing tennis and develop a severe, throbbing pain beneath the toenails of one or more toes, you may be suffering from "tennis toe."

Sometimes the symptoms include a swelling along with a purple discoloration under the nails. Usually the first and second toes are the ones that are affected. The discoloration is caused by a breaking of the blood vessels under the toenail.

Good and properly fitted tennis shoes are the best precaution. They will give you the best possible traction for the sudden stops, twists and turns as you stroke away at the ball. These sudden movements force your feet to the front of your shoes and can often result in "tennis toe." You'll need treatment from a foot specialist.

Tennis is a wonderful sport because it gives the whole body a good workout. It also demands a lot of stamina and agility to play well. This puts stress on your feet.

Any foot problems that result should be treated before they become worse. If you want to play at your best take care of your feet.

Maggie Green's Place Located Above Garnett's

Maggie Green's Place, a gift shop specializing in dried and silk flowers, opened April 2 in the space over Garnett's Flower & Greenhouse, 112 E. Middle St.

The two businesses share more than a common entrance. They can accommodate one's interest in live flowers on the first floor and preserved on the second.

Vicki Welch, who has more than 20 years experience in flower shops and who moved to Chelsea 1½ years ago, owns Maggie Green's.

Although flowers are her specialty and the store's drawing card, she also carries handmade woven soft goods such as shawls and placemats, wooden decoys, cutting boards and cut-outs such as rocking horses, hand-dipped candles and pottery.

Although she has a few pieces made by Chelsea craftsmen and more from Plymouth and other parts of the state, she would like to show more local work, she said.

Eventually Welch, who once taught flower arranging, greenhouse work and how to run a retail business in a vocational school, would like to offer flower arranging classes in her shop.

But that is in the planning stages. She was still unpacking boxes last week and putting the finishing touches to the site of what was Mrs. Dussenberry's gift shop until January.

One may buy either finished arrangements or the materials to do one's own arrangements at Maggie Green's, such as a plain grapevine wreath, ribbons and baby's breath.

Welch chose the business' name, which she said she wished "there were a good story behind!" to give the store the sense of the casual flavor of "a country store."

The store definitely has a homey feel—it was once an apartment and the former kitchen is now display space.

Welch, who now lives on Wilkinson St., grew up in Milford and both her parents worked in flower shops. When she visits a new place, she visits the flower shops the way others visit monuments, which is how she got to know Garnett's and its owner, Carolyn Strieter.

There has been some confusion created by the new store. Garnett's has not been sold—Strieter continues to own it. Her shop just has a new upstairs neighbor.

Flintoft April 13 at the nursery playground, St. Barnabas Episcopal church.

The Flintofts joined the co-operative nine years ago, which was the nursery's second year of existence. Peter is the legal advisor, and Carol has served on several nursery boards. They have both been very active with the group.

They have four daughters, Anna, 11, Carrie, 9, Rebecca, 6, and Jessica, 5.

The log roll was made by parents of children in the nursery.

Extension Service Offers Seminar On Meat Substitute

If you're interested in saving money on your food bill you'll want to attend a "Corner on the Kitchen" demonstration April 19 at 1 p.m. or 7:30 p.m. sponsored by Co-operative Extension Service, 4133 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor.

The program features Carolyn Roi, president of a local food manufacturing plant, who will demonstrate dishes made from tofu—"the meat without a bone." This highly nutritious meat substitute is low in fat, cholesterol and price. She will show how its versatility lends itself to appetizers, main dishes and desserts. One dish that will be demonstrated has money saving features; it substitutes tofu for part of the meat in a Sloppy Joe recipe. Another dish has a low cholesterol, low calorie version of cheesecake, replacing cream cheese with tofu.

All foods will be available for tasting. Reservations may be made by calling 973-9510. A $2 entry fee will cover the cost of ingredients.

All extension programs are open to the public and handicapped access is available.

School Board Has Budget Decisions

If preliminary predictions about the school's portion of the property tax hold true—the school getting $500,000 less this year—the school board may have to make painful budget cuts or ask for a millage increase at the June election.

The "easy" cuts, which don't reduce staff and programs, such as eliminating capital outlay, no new buses, cutting back on teaching supplies and textbooks, have already been taken, Fred Mills, the school district's assistant superintendent, told the Chelsea school board at their April 11 meeting.

He should be getting more final information about local assessments this week. Six townships had not submitted their tax rolls to the county as of last week's meeting.

Chelsea is an off-formula school district, which means most of its 1982-83 budget of $6.9 million came from property taxes. Because of frequent executive orders by the governor delaying what little state aid Chelsea qualifies for, Mills describes state monies as "zero for all practical purposes."

Absentee ballots must be ready at least 20 days before the June 13 election. If the board decides it wants to put another millage question (The ½ mill for maintenance is already on the ballot), it must make a decision at either its April 25, May 3 or 16 meetings.

Cancer Society Starts Funds Drive

"In these days of very tight money, it's important that the citizens of Chelsea know how the American Cancer Society spends every dollar it receives from them," said Lois Emmert, chairman of the 1983 educational and fund-raising Cancer Crusade which begins on April 23.

"Last year in Michigan the ACS raised a total of $5,269,544 which includes $1,366,846 in legacies," Emmert said. "Of this approximately $3,973,244 went into programs of research, education, service and rehabilitation. Fund raising accounted for about 15% of each dollar or about $790,431, while management of the Society's affairs took about 9.6% or $505,869."

Emmert listed several items and services the Society offers to the public free of charge, with the help of its 1,200 local volunteers.

1. Prostheses for women who've had breast surgery for cancer.
2. Loans of items such as wheelchairs, hospital beds, commodes, walkers, etc.
3. "I Quit Kits" to help smokers stop.
4. Film showings for both lay and professional groups on various aspects of cancer.

5. Artificial limbs.
 6. Non-chemotherapeutic drugs.
 7. Ostomy irrigation equipment for patients who've had ostomy surgery.
 8. Educational literature and posters on cancer.
 9. Homemaker services.
- "These are just a few of the things the contributions of our friends and neighbors pay for in the fight to control cancer and improve the quality of life for cancer patients," Emmert said.
- "When American Cancer Society volunteers knock on doors in April, I hope that everyone will give as much as possible. For people who would like to volunteer, there's still time to do so. Just call 668-8857."

Village Ends Lease on Oak Grove Owned Lot

A lease agreement between the village of Chelsea and the Oak Grove Cemetery Association on a one-acre vacant lot located at the north end of Madison St. has been terminated by mutual agreement.

That opens the way for the cemetery association to sell the lot to Donald A. Cole, who wants to move onto it a house he now owns at 208 W. Middle St. Cole would use the vacated Middle St. property for additional parking at the Cole-Burghardt funeral chapel.

"We (the village) leased the land originally with the idea of establishing a kind of mini-park, with playground equipment and other recreational facilities," village administrator Frederick A. Weber said.

"It turned out that neighboring residents didn't want the park, so all we have done is mow the grass and keep the property up. We didn't get any advantage from the lease. Now the cemetery association can do whatever it wants to with the lot."

Cole's plan to move a house onto the property is contingent on favorable action by village authorities to rezone the land from agricultural to two-family residential.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
I'm glad to see that my suggestion to level the McKune Library at least started the gears of some innovative minds working. Mr. Whitaker and Mr. Cianciolo offer some very interesting new perspectives on the downtown parking problem. I cannot, however, support Mr. Kruger's suggestion to have the Pump and Pantry relocate farther south on M-52 and to build a tramway to it. I know that failing to pursue this course will cost the community over 2,000 jobs, but I feel an alternative can be found which will also offer now opportunities for employment.

It is no secret that the downtown area has gone through some troubled times in the last few years. Many landmark businesses, such as Utrog's, F&M Restaurant, and the Chelsea Hotel, have gone forever. I feel, however, that the downtown area will someday be revitalized. In the meantime, it would not be in our best interest to have one of the healthy businesses, the Pump and Pantry, leave the downtown area. Besides, a tramway would only bring the riff-raff out of the inner-village and into the suburbs. Things are getting bad enough as it is. The Jiffy Market man is, presumably, still spending many restless nights sleeping among the fresh produce to ward off burglars. Why aggravate the problems this community already has?

Instead we should look at the world around us for a way to bring people back to the inner-village. Let's consider the success of shopping malls such as Briarwood. This design, coupled with that of a drive-thru beer vault, could spell a whole new era for downtown Chelsea. If the downtown area were enclosed and all of the stores provided with drive-up windows, people could conveniently pick up their merchandise simply by driving down Main St.

This would eliminate the parking as well, since everyone would be able to shop from their cars. It will also provide plenty of jobs, and save the McKune Library from destruction.

I urge anyone interested in supplying jobs, preventing crime, and saving the library to support this plan to create the world's first Drive-Thru Chelseawood.

That's my view.
Steve C. Lewis.

To the Editor
At Tuesday night's meeting, the Lima Township Planning Commission unanimously passed the following Resolution:

"Be it resolved that the Lima Township Planning Commission supports the nomination of the South Lima Rural Historic District to the National Register of Historic Places, and has no present or future plans to place any restrictions on this district."

Lima Township Planning Commission.

To the Editor,

It is important to correct misconceptions concerning last week's nomination of the South Lima Rural Historic District to the National Register of Historic Places, and to clarify its significance. The National Register is simply a list of local, state and national cultural resources worthy of preservation.

There is nothing in a National Register listing that restricts private property owners. There are neither building regulations nor land use controls, and private property rights are not infringed upon in any way.

Property owners can rest assured that the Planning Commission has not and does not plan changes to the Lima Township Zoning Ordinance relative to the nomination.

Although theoretically local government officials have the discretion to preserve an area through local zoning ordinances, this has not proven to always be the right way to approach the issue. Indeed, a number of local governments in the United States, including Michigan, have attempted to enact local historic district ordinances. These, however, can be restrictive and do not seem to serve the best interests of everyone involved. This is a "stick" rather than a "carrot" approach. History has shown that such approaches typically do not work over time. Any zoning changes desired are best left up to individual property owners who wish to take special steps to preserve their own property, and who are fully informed of the resulting rewards and restrictions (in the same fashion that PA 116 now serves to preserve farmland).

It is unfortunate that assumptions have been made linking the historic district and zoning. While Brian Urquhart's Letter to the Editor of April 5 was well intentioned, I'm sure, it raises unrelated concerns and issues which are unfounded and which only serve to flame unnecessary fears. The topics of National Registry and local historic districts are, in fact, totally unrelated and such fears are unfounded.

We are pleased that the township has been recognized. Listing in the National Register is not only an honor, but it also makes a variety of benefits available to property owners:

a. Listing makes private property eligible to be considered for federal grants-in-aid. New legislation under the "jobs" bill provides 50% grants to owners for rehabilitation and preservation projects which provide work.
b. Listing provides protection by requiring comment from the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation on the effect of federally assisted projects on historic resources.
c. Listing makes owners who rehabilitate historic properties eligible for federal tax benefits.

At present there is a 25% tax break.
d. Listing recognizes and enhances rural agriculture characteristics of the township and stimulates individual pride of ownership.

I sincerely hope the citizens of Lima township share the excitement of this designation with pride.

If anyone has questions or concerns, please feel free to call me at 475-2306.

Kenneth Burkhalter
Chairman,
Lima Township
Planning Commission.

Dear Editor,

We are writing concerning the proposed industrial park. What we can not understand is why the Village Council can grant the rezoning changes for it, yet we have a company all ready in Chelsea that's willing to stay here and they will not rezone for them. The building they would have used is an eyesore right now and the company would have repaired and landscaped the area. We are all concerned about unemployment yet here the Village Council is pushing a company right out of the area.

It is time the Village Council gets its head out of a hole and realizes what they are doing.
Kenneth and Susan McCalla.

To the Editor,

An open letter to the Lima Township Historic Society and all property owners of Lima township.

We attended the board meeting at Lansing, April 7 that was voting on the nomination of 9,400 acres of Lima township as an Historic Site. There were five of us there in opposition and about 14 in support. Mrs. Denham voiced surprise that there was this last-minute concern and opposition. 41 letters of opposition had been received by the society. To submit an objection, you must send a notarized statement to the Lansing State Historic Preservation Officer.

Before the voting, we requested our land be released from this site. We were denied. Without our knowledge or consent our buildings were photographed and sketched by persons, unseen by us, for the preservation society. They did not ask our permission! We came home from shopping and a note was stuck in our door saying the deed was done. We have one vote on this project. All the property owners are in this together or we are all out. Our one vote on our property means nothing. A majority of all the owners must object with a notarized statement or it will be automatically passed at the National Society.

At least 90 percent of the owners we have contacted don't even believe their property is involved. No one asked their permission either. They don't believe their objection is even necessary because they don't believe anyone can do this to their property.

This all started with people trying to protect their property from the parks development. They had to bring out the historical significance of the area to keep it out of the park. Now they are playing right into their hands. How long before this preserved property, with their state and federal grants will become public domain. Why should tax money be put into this area if the people who provide that tax money can't come out and enjoy their investment. Enough property owners must object or all our investments are down the drain.

We cannot understand why all the rush about this or how a board can vote on anything as important as this without contacting the individual owners.

We first learned our property was involved on April 4, 1983. They were hoping to sneak it through without anyone knowing what was happening. Once this is passed by the National Board it is forever. From then on we have to

Grass Lake Health Fair Scheduled

A Health Fair is scheduled for April 23 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at the Grass Lake Lions Community Center. It is a project co-sponsored by the Grass Lake Lions Club, Grass Lake Medical/Dental Center, and Chelsea Community Hospital. It provides free health screening as well as health information of interest to the community.

The health screening items will be offered to individuals over age 18. Free tests will include vision, blood pressure, height, weight, hearing, and colon cancer screening. A blood chemistry test for anemia, cholesterol, diabetes, gout and liver disease will be available for a $7 handling charge. Health-O-Rama test results may signal a need for further medical attention. If any abnormal or unusual results are obtained from the screening, appropriate referrals will be recommended by the available health counselors.

Resource volunteers who are providing items of interest to the public are varied and interesting. These include: general nutritional counseling, prescription drug information, childbirth education, physical fitness— aerobics, drug and alcohol abuse, mental health, testing for fluoride, emergency resuscitation techniques, use of herbs, chiropractic, and Hospice information (home care of terminally ill.) The Grass Lake Volunteer Fire Department will have their rescue truck and emergency equipment available for inspection. Participants are encouraged to ask questions of the resource volunteers. Free health literature will be available.

Please mark Saturday, April 23, on your calendar and take full advantage of the learning and free screening available to you. Child care will be available.

Spring Bird Walk Stated Saturday at Hudson Mills Metropark

A spring bird walk will be held at Hudson Mills Metropark near Dexter on Saturday, April 23, at 10 a.m.

Park Naturalist Andy Retzlaff will lead a 1½-hour walk to look for returning birds. Persons should bring binoculars and meet at the Hudson Mills Metropark office.

This program is "free," however, advance registration is required. For information/registration, contact the Nature Center at Kensington Metropark, phone 685-1561 (Milford).

maintain our buildings and land just as they are. If anyone tells you different, ask them what the word preservation means. If it doesn't mean anything to us, why do we want to be in it at all. People we have contacted have told us once your buildings have been accepted by the Historic Society, they will even tell you the color and kind of paint you must use. Once the State and National Society get their names on our property all our property values go down. We cannot believe this can happen in America. Just so a few people can get their names in the history books.

Please, all land owners involved, really believe this is happening to your property. We can't contact you all personally but if you will call us we do have forms we will be glad to bring to you. They will accept all objections until May 1, 1983. They can be notarized at your bank. We do still have time. Save our property. This is still America, after all!

Forensics Team Leads in Qualifying for Regional Events

Chelsea High school led the qualifying for the forensics regionals April 23 at Dearborn Edsel High school with seven district champions and qualifiers in 18 events from the April 12 district tournament held at the high school.

Ann Arbor Huron qualified for seven events; Dearborn Divine Child, four; and Greenhills and Saline, one each. Dexter and Ann Arbor Pioneer had no regional qualifiers.

The Bulldogs are in an "excellent position" to repeat as state Class B champions, said Bill Coelius, forensics coach. It was one of the toughest district tournaments, but the team had a strong showing, as it has had for the past eight years.

This is the first year four top placers at the regionals will go on to the state tournament May 7. Before only three progressed, but there were more regional tournaments than this year.

Last year Chelsea qualified at the regionals in seven events for the state championships, and Coelius says they could qualify more this year.

District champions are Carrie Parkins, drama; Eric Kruger, and Tim Benjamin, duo; Gayla Bauer, drama for grades 9-10; Damon Mark, humorous; Sue Riemenschneider, storytelling; Gretchen Vogel, extemporaneous; and Derek Hodgkin, sales.

Other qualifiers include Marge Lewis, second, drama; Sue Nye, second, drama 9-10; Thom Mull, second, story telling; Allen Cole, second, extemporaneous; Mary Grifka, second, sales 9-10; Tom Nemeth, second, sales open; Ron Satterthwaite, Chad Freyre, Shane Brown, Doug Otto and Mark Bentley of the "Star Trek" team, second, multiple reading; Jeff Koepele, second, improvtu; Dan Fenton, second, information; Mike Smith, third, serious; and Becky Schlup, third, oration. Laura Koepele, sales 9-10, and Bob Clark, radio news, are alternates for their events.

Pamphlets on Nuclear War Distributed

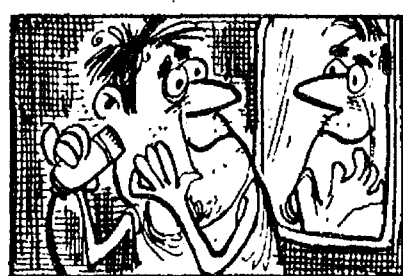

April 10, was "Delivery Day" for residents of Washtenaw county. Hundreds of people participated in delivering on foot thousands of pamphlets on the subject of civil defense in the event of nuclear war. Included were about 1,000 households in and around Chelsea.

The pamphlets were prepared by several area groups and agencies, including the Physicians for Social Responsibility and the Washtenaw County Office of Emergency Management.

They were distributed to inform and remind people of the enormous destructive potential of nuclear war and the unworkability of effective civil defense efforts in the aftermath of even a single one-megaton blast striking Washtenaw county.

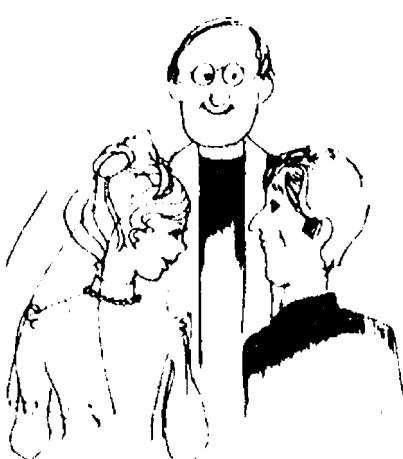

The authors of the pamphlet conclude that "the only practical approach in this situation is to prevent nuclear war."

Anyone who didn't receive a pamphlet or would like extra copies should call the Washtenaw County Office of Emergency Management at 971-1152 or Interfaith Council for Peace at 663-1870.

Detroit Nabbbed In Widely-Used Bank Fraud Plan

A Detroit man wanted state-wide for bilking banks through an elaborate check cashing scheme, was arrested in Dexter last Wednesday when he tried it once too often.

Held in the county jail under $10,000 cash bond is Daniel McDonald, 34, charged with uttering and publishing fraudulent checks. Where he will eventually be prosecuted depends on which of the 10 police agencies holding warrants on him receives priority.

Sheriff's detective Paul Wade said McDonald's capture resulted from alertness by employees of the Great Lakes Federal Savings & Loan branch in Dexter, who recognized him from descriptions in a newsletter circulated among Michigan banks.

The suspicious employees called the sheriff's patrol station across Main St. from the bank, and Deputy Charles Cornell nabbed McDonald as he came out.

At first the suspect insisted that he was Edward White of Detroit, giving the name and address he had used to open an account in the Great Lakes branch at Saline. Under questioning by Wade, McDonald finally admitted his identity and was put under formal arrest and jailed.

Wade said McDonald's method was to obtain stolen identification items and checks, use them to establish bank accounts, then write checks into the account. "He would offer a $1,000 check, put maybe half of it on deposit, and take the rest in cash," Wade explained.

"He had about two days to work before the money checks cleared on the account. Then he would go somewhere else and do it all over again, using different identification and checks. He apparently was 'making' several thousand dollars a week, and it appears that up to half a million may be involved."

Besides the 10 charges of bank fraud, McDonald is also wanted for escape from the Detroit city jail.

John Whitaker Chosen for Adrian Honor Society

John Whitaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edson Whitaker of Chelsea, has been inducted as a charter member of the Golden Gavel Leadership Honor Society chapter newly established at Adrian College to recognize campus student leadership and support. He was one of 19 students selected for initial membership.

A graduate of Chelsea High school, John is a speech major. He has been an officer in student government, news director of the college radio and television stations, and editor of the campus newspaper. He is a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

finalists in a haiku competition and short story contest respectively. With them is their English teacher, John Groesser.

CHS Students Are Finalists In State Writing Competition

Chelsea High school students, Felicia Passow and David Lane, are finalists in state writing competitions, it was announced recently.

Passow, a senior and the daughter of Donald and Phyllis Passow of 908 Cavanaugh Lake Rd., is one of six state finalists in the Haiku competition sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English. Haiku, a form of Japanese poetry known for its simplicity of form and image, is also a difficult type of poetry to write well.

Lane, a junior and the son of Wilfred and Donna Lane of 636 N. Main St., is one of three short story finalists in the state in the annual Detroit Free Press writing contest, which had more than 5,000 entrants. His story was based on a personal experience.

Both students' entries have been entered in national competitions by the contest sponsors.

Hospital Auxiliary Volunteers Honored for Contributions

week is an opportunity for the whole community to say a special thank you.

"We have a very large and very active group of volunteers for the size of our hospital and the population of the area we serve. Most are from Chelsea, but many come from Dexter, Manchester, Grass Lake and other surrounding communities.

"They are men and women of all ages. Many are elderly, but we also have many teen-agers and young adults. The hospital auxiliary represents a real cross-section. They share a desire to do something to help in an important area of need."

What services do the Chelsea Community Hospital volunteers perform? These are some of them:

Operation of self-supporting hospital gift shop, with the help of a part-time manager who does the accounting. This activity involves 58 volunteers every week.

Staffing the information desk, a seven-days-a-week responsibility.

Work in the patient service program—picking up meal menus, delivering mail and flowers, providing escort service through the hospital.

Helping in the hospital's several therapy programs—physical, occupational, speech, recreational and others.

Serving in community service projects such as the blood bank, health-o-rama, blood pressure clinic and school health fairs.

Raising funds through fashion shows, flea markets, raffles and other events to buy special equipment for the hospital. Recent purchases include a "Betsy Breast" life-sized doll used to help women learn how to examine themselves for breast cancer symptoms, and gardening tools for the recreational therapy program.

One group of volunteers provides beauty shop services to women patients one day a week.

Another comes in every Wednesday afternoon to stuff and sew toy animals for child patients—several hundred per year. One of the dozen or so women who work on the animals is blind.

Other than thanks and appreciation, volunteers receive nothing for their services except meals while on duty. They pay their own transportation and other costs of serving.

"We try to treat them just the same as our paid workers while they are on duty in the hospital," Mrs. Tupper said. "We want to let them know that they are part of our team."

Volunteers also do "a lot of private things on their own," Mrs. Tupper added. "They buy clothes and toys for children who come into the hospital and obviously need things. They care about everybody."

People volunteer for work at Chelsea Community Hospital for many reasons—to learn new skills, prepare for career changes, test new experiences, become integrated into a new community, fill lonely hours, receive academic credit or whatever.

For most, however, it is a labor of love, and the only real reward is appreciation, and that is what National Volunteer Week is all about. The slogan for the week is "Expand Your Horizons—Be a Volunteer." Chelsea hospital has 165, but could always use more.

The hospital auxiliary is headed by an executive council consisting of Marjorie German, president; Gale Johnson, president-elect; Millie Kropp, secretary; and Vera Briston, treasurer.

On the board of managers are Beverly Hawks, hospital service; Mary Doan, community service; Gloria Mitchell, ways and means; Mary Beckwith, public relations; Jan Tupper, patient service and information desk, and Lucy Engle, Arbor Nook (gift shop).

Persons interested in volunteering may call Mrs. Tupper at 475-1311, Ext. 319.

Paul Bunyan Laid to Rest in Unmarked Grave

One of the giant fiberglass statues of Paul Bunyan, which once flanked the entrance at Paul Bunyan Food Systems, Inc., Jackson Rd., (nicknamed P.B.'s), was buried last week at the Chelsea landfill. It had just made a brief appearance at Chelsea High school.

The decapitated, one-legged Bunyan greeted students and staff at the school Monday morning, April 11 in the fishbowl garden of the gymnasium building. The 13-foot Bunyan was tall enough to be resting his hands on the fishbowl roof.

School custodians took him out over the roof, which is how neighbors who saw the pranksters say he came in Sunday. The custodians took him apart after Tom Urquhart, owner of the restaurant, told school officials they could dispose of him.

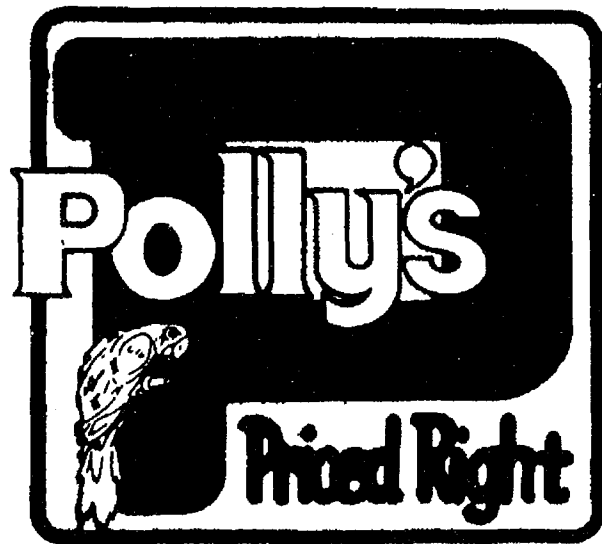

They took the pieces to the dump, where Bunyan was buried Tuesday without ceremony in an unmarked grave.

At one time two 20-foot statues of Bunyan and a 10-ft. statue of the blue ox Babe graced the entrance of the restaurant. About a year ago one was destroyed by pranksters who dragged it behind a vehicle to Pioneer High school in Ann Arbor, said Urquhart, who has owned the restaurant for about 13 years.

The other Bunyan was lying down in the back of the restaurant. Someone was supposed to pick it up several months ago and take it to Virginia, but they never came by.

Spruce trees have now replaced the statues at the restaurant.

A CHANGE OF HATS: Chelsea police chief Robert Aeillo (left) and patrolman Frank Kornexl model the new broad-brimmed hats recently adopted as official headgear by the department.

The new hats provide more protection from sun and rain than the old billed caps and, with a strap across the back of the head, are more secure in the wind.

Police Sport New Hats

If the Chelsea policeman you see on the street or driving patrol looks different, it's because he is wearing a new-style hat recently adopted by the department. The new headgear is a round, broad-brimmed "campaign" hat. It looks something like what sheriff's department personnel wear, but is distinctively different in that it is blue and is blocked on all four corners of the crown.

"Our old billed caps were worn out, and we had to get something new," Police Chief Robert Aeillo said. "We looked at all available styles, and the majority of our personnel voted for this one."

"It offers some protection from sun and rain and snow, and the strap across the back of the neck keeps it from being blown off in the wind, which was a constant problem with the old-type caps," Aeillo added. "I think the new hats are a definite improvement."

Also new is a change in the shoulder patches that Chelsea policemen wear. Instead of the State Seal of Michigan the patches show the Village Seal of Chelsea.

"We found out we could make that change at no added cost, and it seemed like a good idea," Aeillo said. "After all, we represent the village of Chelsea, and we are proud to display our own distinctive seal."

Boy Scouts Join in Giant Food Drive

One of the largest food collection drives ever undertaken in southeastern Michigan—mobilizing 10,000 Boy Scouts in seven counties (Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw, and Wayne)—is planned in an effort to help address the problem of hunger in southeastern Michigan.

Sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America, the "Scouting for Food" collection and distribution drive will provide food for needy persons in the seven-county area.

"Scouting for Food" involved 10,000 Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts who dropped off collection bags at homes starting April 16. Pick-up of food-filled bags is scheduled Saturday.

The food drive is designed to collect non-perishable foods which may be packaged and distributed by United Way agencies. If each residence contributes five pounds of food, "Scouting for Food" will collect approximately one million pounds of food for needy families throughout the seven-county area.

Food banks in each county will serve as collection stations on Saturday. Once the Scouts and their leaders canvass their neighborhoods for filled food bags, they will take the food to the closest food bank. The food will then be dispersed through a number of United Way agencies.

The Washtenaw county food bank will be located at 2301 Platt Rd., Ann Arbor.

Each food collection bag will be imprinted with instructions to the householder as to the types of items needed and the approximate time of pick-up.

Boy Scouts in the Chelsea-Dexter area will participate in food collection drive.

Visiting Fire Chief's Van Burns on I-94

Henry Wetmore of 11732 Bunker Hill Rd., Pleasant Lake, is chief of the Henrietta township fire department in Ingham county. He also is, or was, the owner of a 1972 Dodge van which caught fire as he was driving it west-bound on I-94 in Lina township on Monday, April 11.

Chelsea firemen were on the scene within 10 minutes of receiving the call, but could not save the vehicle, which was destroyed with an estimated $5,000 loss.

"Some engine part failed, the engine overheated, and the fuel ignited," Chelsea fire chief Paul E. Hanked said. "We put it out, but the van was a total loss."

"I suppose it must be embarrassing for a fire chief to have a fire," Hanked remarked, "but, let's face it, it can happen to anybody. It could have been me."

Fluoride Testing Machine OK'd for Village Water

The village council has authorized administrator Frederick A. Weber to sign an agreement with the Michigan Department of Public Health for a fluoride testing machine to be used here.

The equipment will test the amount of fluorides in the village water supply and is available at no cost. Trace amounts of fluorides are added to drinking water as a tooth decay preventive recommended by most dental authorities.

BULLPUP MURAL: Eric Bell, left, and Dan Dent, both eighth graders at Beach Middle school, are shown with the mural they designed and painted on the wall of the school cafeteria.

Art Works, Prints Will Be Displayed

Works of artist Tom J. Whitaker of Salyersville, Ky., will be on display at Merkel's furniture and carpet store in Chelsea April 18-30.

Original watercolors and limited edition prints will be included in the collection and will be for sale. The paintings represent scenes and memories of eastern Kentucky.

MURAL GROUP EFFORT: The new wall mural at Beach Middle school is due to student council members who served on an aesthetics committee which designed a school survey, Minto Van Reesema, left, Kristie Centilli, Angie DeFant and Matt Hubal; the two mural designers, Rob Lyerla, left center, and Steve Blough; and mural painters, Amy Dmoch, Dena Stevens, Jason Creffield, and Cris Zerkel. Hubal, Lyerla and Blough also helped paint. Painters who were absent for this photograph are Randy Ferry and Stacey Murphy.

Beach Middle School Group Completes Mural Painting

When Beach Middle school students were surveyed about what they would like done to improve the interior and exterior of the school, a mural was the number one choice.

Now they have one, courtesy of the student council, Judy Parker, art teacher, art students and school administration.

Improving the aesthetics of school buildings and campuses was one of the school board's goals this year. At Beach, the student council appointed a committee of Angie DeFant, Kristie Centilli, Minto van Reesema and Matt Hubal to work with the principal, Alan Conklin, on this goal.

The committee designed a survey for the student body to find out their preferences—wall murals.

Mrs. Parker organized a group of students who painted the two murals, primarily on their own time. Those students were Eric Bell, Dan Dent, Steve Blough, Jason Creffield, Cris Zerkel, Stacey Murphy, Amy Dmoch, Dena Stevens, Matt Hubal, Rob Lyerla and Randy Ferry.

When the weather improves, the students plan to spruce up the outside planters.

Planners Set Hearings For May 10

Chelsea planning commission set two public hearings at its April 12 meeting.

The public hearing on the rezoning of the property on Madison St., bounded by the railroad tracks on the north and cemetery drive on the south, will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 10 in the council room of the municipal building. That land is now zoned agricultural, and Donald A. Cole, the applicant, would like it changed to two-family residential, so he may move a house to the lot.

A public hearing at that time will also be held on an ordinance to add sign setbacks and sign area requirements to the I-2 light industrial district and to the I-3 restricted industrial district.

St. Andrew's Reports Theft

A sterling silver chalice valued at $400, a flagon (pitcher) worth $600 and a $3 bottle of communion wine were stolen over the weekend from St. Andrew's United Church of Christ in Dexter, the sheriff's department reported.

Method of theft was not immediately determined, but there were no signs of forcible entry into the church.

Boys Track Team Swamps Lumen Christi In Frigid Weather

"It was C-O-L-D out there." That is how Chelsea track coach Pat Clarke described last Thursday's track meet at Jackson Lumen Christi which his Bulldog squad won overwhelmingly, 92-40, in its first dual outing of the spring.

Despite the cold, windy weather, there were some good times, heights and distances recorded on a day when competitors could not have been blamed for hesitating to take off their warm-up suits.

Junior Scott Cooper paced Chelsea with wins in three events. He won the long jump with a personal-best leap of 19'3", took first in the 400-meter run at :55.5, and came back to run a leg on the winning 1,600-meter relay team.

Also having a fine afternoon was junior Allen Cole, who filled in ably for all-state distance runner Mark Brosnan, out with illness. Cole won the 1,600-meter (about one mile) run with a time of 4:54.2 and the 3,200-meter (about two miles) in 10:33.

(Meters and yards and miles are going to cause confusion for this reporter and his readers all season long. A meter is 39.37 inches, a yard 36 inches. A mile is 1,760 yards; 1,600 meters equal 1,750 yards. There are 91.4 yards in 100 meters. Some tracks that Chelsea will run on this spring are laid out in yards, some in meters. Comparing and evaluating times run for the differing distances requires doing some arithmetic. Keep your calculator handy.)

David Wojcicki was also a triple winner. He came home first in the 100-meter dash in :12.3, and ran legs on the winning 400-meter and 800-meter relay teams. To round out the day he placed third in the long jump.

Senior Matt McCallum returned to track action after a year's layoff by winning the 110-meter high hurdles in :16.2, a Lumen Christi track record, placing second in the 300-meter low hurdles, and anchoring the victorious 1,600-meter relay quartet.

Bulldogs Will Try Again To Open Home Baseball Season

Chelsea's varsity baseball team will try again tomorrow to open its home schedule, against Brooklyn Columbia Central, after last Saturday's doubleheader with Pinckney was called off because of cold and wet conditions.

last Saturday's doubleheader with Pinckney was called off because of cold and wet conditions.

Girls Track Team Downs Fowlerville

Bulldog girls track team won the last five events for a convincing 78-45 win over Fowlerville April 16 to end their losing streak in style.

Bill Bainton, girls track coach, said he expected a much closer meet since several key team members weren't competing. But other Bulldogs had good early season times to take important seconds and thirds.

Sue Young's four firsts included a sweep of the 100 and 200 meters, the first sprint sweep by a Chelsea runner since Debbie Honbaum did it in 1978.

The freshmen, who comprise more than 50 percent of the team, ran well, said Bainton, with strong finishes by distance runners Pam Buckberry in the 1600 and Kim Collins in the 3200. Another freshman, Stephanie Roberts, ran a solid race to take second in the 800.

A list of events and places follows:

Shot put—Bree Meier, first, 23'11½"; Kay Bauer, second.

Discus—Kay Bauer, second.

High jump—Amy Wolfgang, third.

Long jump—Sue Young, first, 14'5"; Stephanie Grant, third.

100 hurdles—Kerry Henderson, second; Debby Tift, third.

100—Young, first, 14.1.

1600—Sandra Frame, first, 5:49.7; Wendy Wolfgang, second; Pam Buckberry, third.

400—Laura Damm, first, 1:04.4; Dawn Zaneb, third.

300 hurdles—Amy Wolfgang, first, 51.3; Tift, third.

800—W. Wolfgang, first, 2:41.8; Stephanie Roberts, second.

200—Young, first, 28.9; Damm, second.

3200—Frame, first, 12:27.4; Kim Collins, second; Mary Ann Richardson, third.

1600 relay—Young, A. Wolfgang, W. Wolfgang, Damm, first, 4:28.3.

April Weather Often Stops Sports Events

April showers bring May rescheduling for Bulldog sports teams.

Games are usually called by 2:30 p.m. the day of the match, said Ron Nemeth, school district athletic director. He tries to wait as long as he can before calling off a game, because rescheduling can be difficult. Sometimes a decision is made just before the visiting team would have to get on the bus.

Lightning will delay matches but not necessarily postpone or cancel them, he said. That is one of the few weather conditions which will stop a track meet.

Games played on fields such as softball and baseball will often be called sooner than a sport such as tennis, whose courts can dry quickly under the right conditions.

Although some professional sports teams have even used helicopters to help dry fields, in Chelsea it's up to the sun.

When in doubt, call the school after 2:30 p.m. the day of the match.

In 1869, the Colored National Labor Union became the first national black labor organization, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a publication of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Thinclads Romp Over Fowlerville

Chelsea High's track team won its second dual meet in three days last Saturday, defeating Fowlerville, 95-37, to run its season record to 2-0.

Senior Matt McCallum paced the Bulldogs by winning both hurdle events and anchoring the 1,600-meter relay team. His times in the hurdles were both personal career bests.

Junior Allen Cole again came through with a pair of wins in distance events, capturing the 800- and 1,600-meter runs.

Gar DeYoe, a junior, recorded a personal best with a heave of 129'9" to win the discus throw.

"We're improving, but we still have a very long way to go," Chelsea track coach Pat Clarke said. "The lopsided scores last week are deceiving. We aren't ready yet to handle the kind of competition we will face in the Southeastern Conference."

Clarke expressed concern about his ace distance runner, Mark Brosnan, who missed his second consecutive meet because of a severe strep throat infection which has responded slowly to treatment.

"Mark has lost 10 pounds, and is going to need time to regain his conditioning. If he can't come back soon, he may not be able to reach his peak by the time of the state meet," Clarke commented.

Chelsea placers by events:

110-meter high hurdles—Mc-

Callum first (:15.6), Mike Hintzen second.

100-meter dash—Dave Wojcicki second.

300-meter low hurdles—McCallum first (:41.6), Mark Spayd second.

200-meter dash—Kevin Richardson second, Randy Krichbaum third.

400-meter dash—Scott Cooper first (:54.6), Kyle Kemmish second.

800-meter run—Cole first (2:12.3), Steve Hunn second, Frank Waller third (a slam).

1,600-meter run—Cole first (4:47.8), Tim Bowdish second, Eric Green third (a slam).

3,200-meter run—Jared Bradley first (10:59.9), Green second, Tom Nemeth third (a slam).

400-meter relay—Hintzen, Wojcicki, Richardson, Krichbaum.

800-meter relay—Wojcicki, Kemmish, Richardson, Krichbaum.

1,600-meter relay—Richardson, Cooper, Kemmish, McCallum.

Discus—DeYoe first (129'9"), Waller third.

Shot put—Hintzen second, DeYoe third.

High jump—Waller second, Jason Pierson third.

Long jump—no Chelsea places.

Pole vault—Eric Buckerry first (11'6"), Dan Fenton second.

Girls Track Team Looks to Freshmen

Determination, a quality always found in top athletes, was present in all the ranks of the Bulldog girls track team at their first meet April 14, which they lost, 92-31, to Jackson Lumen Christi, said coach Bill Bainton.

At the end of the meet the stiff winds were making the runners very cold, he said, and many races finished into a strong headwind. Yet everyone continued pushing hard, with some second heat competitors having better times than first heat runners.

Chelsea had three firsts, four seconds and four thirds against a Lumen Christi team, which is expected to do quite well at the regionals. In some of the events such as long and high jump, to place one would have had to break the Chelsea school record.

Firsts went to Carol Warren, 400 meters, 1:05; Sue Young, 200, 28.9; and the 1600 relay of Laura Damm, Amy Wolfgang, Wendy Wolfgang and Carol Warren, 4:38.

Bulldogs who took seconds were Sharon Glassford, shot put, 27 feet; Amy Wolfgang, 300 hurdles, 53.3; Wendy Wolfgang, 800, 2:41; and Sandra Frame, 3200, 12:27.4.

Thirds were taken by Kay Bauer, shot put, 25'1½"; Young, 100, 14.6; Damm, 400, 1:06.6; and Stephanie Roberts, 800, 2:48.0.

More than half the team are freshmen, and their performance will tell how well the team does this year.

Bainton said he was pleased three freshmen, Damm, Roberts and Amy Wolfgang, placed.

Their next meet is Thursday, April 21 against Tecumseh away. The Chelsea Relays will be held at 4:30 p.m. Friday, April 22 at Dexter.

Softball Invitational Tourney Will Feature Two State Champions

The first Chelsea Invitational Softball Tournament this weekend features two defending state champions, Chelsea, Class B, and Gabriel Richard, Class D.

It's going to be a "class tournament," said Ron Nemeth, school district athletic director. With such good teams, it may be the strongest tournament in the state.

Preliminary rounds begin at 3:30 p.m. Friday, April 22. Chelsea will play in a pool with Pinckney, East Lansing and South Haven, one of the top four Class B teams last season. Teams in the other pool are Howell, Bedford, Ann Arbor Pioneer and Gabriel Richard.

Preliminaries continue Saturday morning and early afternoon. At 3:30 p.m. Saturday, the teams with the second best records in their pools will play at Chelsea High school. Fourth place teams will play then at Beach Middle school.

At 5 p.m. the number one pool teams will play at Chelsea High school, and the number three teams will play at Beach.

Athletes' Grade Average Higher

One would assume that all the time an athlete spends at practice, traveling to games and at games would be a real drain on his or her grade point average.

But that's not true in Chelsea. Bulldog athletes average a higher GPA than non-athletes—the cliché "bright jock" applies here.

The discipline needed in any sport probably helps the athlete mature earlier, said Ron Nemeth, Chelsea athletic director, who assembled the statistics for the Chelsea school board.

The student athlete has less time available for schoolwork after practice, so he really plans and organizes his day to get it all done.

Planning for something "you really want to do," said Nemeth, such as swimming, basketball or volleyball, is a lot easier than squeezing in a task one feels forced to do.

On an 11-point scale, the career GPA for Chelsea athletes now enrolled as of the end of fall term is 6.39, between C+ and B-. Career GPA for non-athletes is 5.49 and for all students 5.95, both between a C and C+.

Student athletes number 342 out of 803 students over-all. Fifty-nine percent of the athletes are in the top 10 percent of their classes, and 16 percent are in the bottom 10 percent of their classes.

Although the Milan athletic director assembled similar statistics, said Nemeth, they were broken down into each sport and again by sex—boy basketball players could be compared to girl basketball players.

Nemeth didn't do that, he says, because, "An athlete is an athlete—it doesn't matter whether it's a boy or girl or what sport they play."

His stats show another interesting trend. Grade point averages for athletes, nonathletes, and students in general go up as the student gets older—again the maturity factor.

The goal of high school sports is to give students a chance to play, said Nemeth, so academic eligibility requirements are a compromise between not wanting an athlete to get so far behind he flunks out of school and setting standards so high the average student is discouraged from trying out for a team.

Academic ineligibility isn't much of a problem in Chelsea, he said. In the three years he has been athletic director, only two students became ineligible for a team.

Michigan High School Athletic Association requires a student-athlete to pass 15 credit hours of schoolwork. Chelsea's requirements say a student must pass three academic courses a term.

Seniors, who have completed most of their graduation requirements, have to watch that Chelsea requirement, and make sure they have enough academic classes in their schedule.

To be eligible for college sports governed by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, a student must have a high school career GPA of 2.0/4.0, a C average which is 5.0 on Chelsea's 11-point scale.

Chelsea doesn't have a tutoring program specifically for athletes, said Nemeth, but does have tutoring for any student in academic difficulty.

Chelsea Relays At Dexter

It's confusing all right, but field events for the eighth annual Chelsea Relays will begin at 4:30 p.m. Friday, April 22 at the Dexter High school track. Running events begin at 5 p.m.

This is the third time the Chelsea meet has been held at Dexter. Chelsea's track has deteriorated so much, it is unsafe for meets, and its lighting is inadequate for a night meet.

The meet, which features 15 teams this year, is becoming one of the more competitive small relays in the area, said Bill Bainton, Bulldog girls track coach. No team has won the meet more than once.

Meet format is all relays, with field event winners determined by best total distance.

The spotlight this year will be on the distance medley, said Bainton. State cross country champion, Kelly McKillen of Dexter, and her teammate, Lisa Goltman, will be paired against all-staters Jennifer Rioux and Kelly Champagne of Livonia Ladywood, who were second and third to McKillen at the cross-country championships.

Jackson Lumen Christi, which won the team cross country championship, and Hartland, which was runner-up, are both expected to field strong distance teams.

Chelsea's hopes in the distance races rest on cross country all-stater, Sandra Frame, sophomore Mary Ann Richardson, and freshmen Kim Collins, Stephanie Roberts and Pam Buckberry.

Conference powers, Saline and Milan, will have the top sprint teams, said Bainton. Milan returns long jumpers Pat Taylor and Lisa Breitenwischer, who set a meet record in that event last year. The long jump could also be one of Chelsea's stronger events with Sue Young and Sharon Glasford.

Other teams competing include Tecumseh, the defending champion, Airport, Erie-Mason, Hillsdale, Brooklyn Columbia-Central, Linden, Monroe St. Mary and New Boston Huron.

Construction Starts on New Party Store, Music Shop

Construction has begun on The Tower Mart convenience store and Keynote Music store building on N. Main St., appropriately just north of the Chelsea clock tower.

As of last week, the interior floor was being built up to raise it higher above the level of the parking lot. Warren Porath is the general contractor.

The convenience store, owned by Thomas and Joan Eisele of 770 Book, will be in the front of the store closest to Main St., with storage in part of the back. Entrances to both stores will come off the side parking lot.

Keynote Music, owned by Pat and Jim Stirling, is currently a catalogue business for instrument sales operated in their Chelsea home.

With the move, the business will expand to feature string, woodwind and brass instruments, accessories, sheet music and a repair department to be run by Al Townsend, a trombonist, leader of the big band, The Ambassadors, and a former member of Gene Krupa's band.

Mrs. Stirling, a piano and cello instructor, will continue teaching—the store space will have two studios for teaching, with a flexible divider between them, so it can become one studio.

The Stirlings plan to arrange the rest of the display space, said Mrs. Stirling, so they can accommodate larger evening classes such as beginning guitar, music appreciation or a class on how to read music.

Accessories they plan to carry include strings, shoulder pads, resin, cases, valve oil, woodwind reeds, music stands and metronomes. Along with sheet music, they will carry teaching and accompaniment records.

They also continue showing instruments in homes, and pick-up and delivery for instrument repair.

Not every village the size of Chelsea could accommodate a business such as theirs, but the school district's strong instrumental and choral program makes this area a good location for them. The business is also already established through catalogue sales.

Many towns much larger than Chelsea no longer have string programs, said Mrs. Stirling, and some have cut out band programs.

They have lived in Chelsea for 12 years, and the amount of musical activity and interest is amazing, she said, while she sanded a bridge for a cello she is adapting to fit a four-year-old.

The first strike in which women participated occurred in Pawtucket, R.I., in 1824, according to a publication of the U. S. Department of Labor, "Labor Firsts in America."

Mushroom Expert Will Speak at Nature Center

Dr. Alexander H. Smith, Michigan's and perhaps the world's foremost authority on wild mushrooms, will present a slide talk on spring mushrooms at 2 p.m. Saturday, April 23 at the Waterloo Nature Center. A $2 fee will be charged for the program.

Dr. Smith is the original author of "The Mushroom Hunter's Field Guide," the best-selling and most authoritative popular guidebook to wild mushrooms ever published in the United States. His daughter, Nancy Smith Weber, is co-author of the most recent edition.

He is professor emeritus of mycology (the science of mushrooms and related fungi) at the University of Michigan and former curator of the U. of M.

Herbarium. He lives in Ann Arbor.

Of principal interest to spring mushroom hunters in Michigan are the several species of morels, which begin to fruit in late April and continue through mid-June. Most kinds of morels are edible and choice; a few are questionable and even dangerous. Some species of "false morels," which fruit at about the same times and places as the true ones, are definitely poisonous.

Dr. Smith will instruct on how to identify the various spring mushrooms. He will also examine any specimens brought in by persons attending the program, identify them and discuss their merits from an edibility standpoint.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

I greet the arrival of spring with joy. The annual reawakening of nature's cycle of life assures me that I have managed to make it through another winter and will, with some luck, enjoy living through the nine months of spring, summer and fall. When you get into your late 50's, that is a happy feeling. Winter is a time to survive; the rest of the year is a time to savor.

There is so much to do out in the open now that spring has come and warm weather, if not assuredly here yet, is certainly on the way.

There are hikes to be taken, birds and animals to be found and observed. There are fish to be sought, and now and then caught. There are flowers and shrubs and trees to watch as they bloom and leaf out. There are morels to be gathered. Those are the rites of spring for the out-in-the-open person.

Every spring I am both elated and disheartened by the numbers of wild things that I see dead along the roads. Elated because so many more creatures than one could think possible have managed to make it through the pinch period of winter. Disheartened because so many are sacrificed under the wheels of automobiles before they have had a chance to reproduce their kind.

During one 20-mile drive from Ann Arbor to Chelsea last week, I counted nine squashed cottontail rabbits, three raccoons, three skunks, two opossums, two fox squirrels, one gray squirrel, one woodchuck, one red-winged blackbird, one pigeon and four small birds that I couldn't identify without stopping—an appalling toll. All were fresh kills.

It is comforting, in a way, to know that there is such a surplus of wildlife out there that we can squander so many so needlessly and still have enough left to keep a reasonable abundance. What is disconcerting is the knowledge, based on 44 years of driving, that most of the slaughter is unnecessary and that some of it undoubtedly is downright deliberate.

Yes, there are times when you can't avoid hitting some creature that suddenly darts or flies into the path of your car. There are many more times when you can, with controlled braking or a gentle swerve that doesn't take you off the road and endanger yourself, your passengers or your vehicle.

If it comes down to a choice between hitting some wild thing and risking an accident—and every experienced driver recognizes that choice when it confronts him—there is only one decision to make: hit it and keep your car under control.

That goes for a deer or a rabbit or a turtle lumbering across the road.

Should you have to hit something, do the decent thing and stop to be sure it is dead. It almost always will be, but once in awhile it won't. If the bird or animal you have hit is obviously injured beyond hope of recovery, kill it as quickly and humanely as possible.

If your vehicle is typical, it has a tire iron stashed somewhere in the rear end. A sharp blow on the side of the head with a tire iron will kill anything that lives in Michigan (including humans, as has unfortunately been proven in a large number of murder cases). Bludgeoning some small animal to death is not a pleasant experience—as I can testify from having done it a couple of times—but is far to be preferred to letting the creature agonize.

Spring is the season of the year when wildlife is most on the move. The movement occurs primarily during the hours between dusk and dawn, because wild things generally do their resting during the day. The spring activity is impelled by two primal drives: hunger and sex. Animals and birds are looking almost frantically for winter leftovers and early spring green-ups.

that might make a meal, and they are searching for mates. Their wanderings often take them across roads and their needs—especially the urge to reproduce—make them heedless of danger. A male cottontail rabbit that dashes across the road under the wheels of your car in pursuit of a female on the other side has more important things on his mind than dodging traffic.

During 44 years and more than two million miles of driving, I have inevitably hit a few living things, most fortunately not including another human being. I have managed to miss many more without getting into an accident. I drive slowly and cautiously at night in the springtime, and I keep glancing to the sides of the road, looking for shapes and reflected eyes which warn there is something live that might ignore my car's approach.

I'm lucky. I've never hit anything big like a deer, or a cow or sheep or pig that has gotten loose, or even a domestic dog. I also like to think that, as an out-in-the-open person, I have been extra careful and have saved some wild lives that would otherwise have gone to waste beneath my tires.

Amtrak Will Listen To Depot Proposals

Old railroad depots in Michigan were built more substantially and with more character than in other parts of the country, Edward Jenkins, Amtrak real estate representative, said. He had looked at the exterior of Chelsea's depot two weeks ago while passing through town.

Many depots in other states are not worth saving, he said, but Michigan Central built a lot of "neat looking" stations, with an attention to detail and materials which makes them distinctive.

Amtrak, the owner of the depot, is willing to give local community groups or developers financial advice about developing the Chelsea depot, said Jenkins, who could not get inside the depot the day he was here. Amtrak will also share what it has learned from depot renovations in Ann Arbor, Albion, Battle Creek and Ypsilanti.

To submit a proposal for the Chelsea depot, write Don Pross, director of station development, or Jenkins at National Railroad Passenger Corp., 400 North Capital St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20001.

The Board reviewed continuing tenure, tenure and probation recommendations for the teaching staff. These recommendations were presented by the building principals and will be acted upon at the April 25 meeting.

The outdoor project which is funded from the maintenance millage has been temporarily put on hold pending a review of the total district needs for 1983-84.

Assistant Superintendent Mills

reviewed with the Board a meeting pertaining to Palmer-Baldwin drain. The meeting was held at the request of County Drain Commissioner James Murray. Murray met with Village Administrator Weber and Fred Mills. The Palmer-Baldwin drain runs from Trinkle Rd. to Letts Creek north of the railroad tracks and Chelsea-Dexter Rd. A branch off the drain runs from the cemetery property through the Beach school property and east until it connects with the drain. The Drain Commissioner is recommending a three-phase project estimated at $250,000.

Assistant Superintendent Mills

reviewed the 1982-83 fringe benefit costs for the Board of Education. In reviewing the 1982-83 budget, it is easy to ascertain that the cost of fringe benefits has become an enormous cost to the school district. The total salaries for the Chelsea School District personnel for 1982-83 amount to $4,522,581. Total cost of fringe benefits, which include health insurance, dental insurance, paid retirement, and worker's compensation, amounts to $666,089. The cost of fringe benefits for school district personnel is 14.73% of the salaries.

The Board approved a resolution to borrow $3,000,000 in anticipation of operating tax collection for the year to end June 30, 1984, due and payable Dec. 1, 1983, to pay for operating expenses for the 1983-84 school year. The district will solicit bids by advertising in the Michigan Investor and The Chelsea Standard.

High School Principal John Williams

presented the Board with a list of course offerings with potential low enrollment for 1983-84. The administration will be reviewing student requests for these courses and the feasibility of offering classes with 15 or fewer students.

The Curriculum Committee reported that the subcommittee on student underachievement is formulating some recommendations which will be presented to the Board in the near future.

The Board recessed to executive session at 9:05 p.m. to review personnel matters and the forthcoming CEA negotiation procedures. The Board returned to public session at 11:05 p.m.

Board adjourned at 11:06 p.m.

DNR Monitoring Landfill Closely

Chelsea has received a license to go on operating its sanitary landfill on Werkner Rd. northeast of the village, with the proviso that it do something soon to bring the site into compliance with state environmental protection rules.

In renewing the landfill license the Department of Natural Resources made these stipulations:

1. Additional wells to monitor groundwater on and around the site must be completed by May 1 of this year.

2. A "long-term option" must be decided and approved by July 1.

3. Engineering plans to carry out the long-term option must be completed by Nov. 1.

4. Work on the option must be started by May 1, 1984, and completed by Sept. 1.

Chelsea's landfill has been identified by the DNR as a possible source of groundwater contamination because it is located on porous soil which may allow wastes, including toxic chemicals, to filter down into the water table.

There is no evidence that is happening, or ever will, but officials of the DNR's waste management division are concerned that it might someday in the future. Existing monitoring wells have not so far turned up any sign of contamination.

The required new wells will help the village and the state keep closer track of what may be percolating into the ground water in and around the landfill, and where it may be moving.

Village administrator Frederick A. Weber said compliance with the state directive could mean putting in a clay base or a synthetic liner to contain liquids leaching out of the landfill.

Another option would be to abandon the site and find another one with impermeable soils—something not easy to find in west Washtenaw county.

Still another would be for Chelsea to give up burying its solid wastes and instead have them hauled to some other landfill for burial.

Whatever course the village chooses will cost money beyond what it is presently spending for waste disposal.

Weber said that about 45 acres of the 80-acre landfill tract have been filled, but the other 35 remain usable and could meet village needs for many more years provided the operation is brought into compliance with the state's very strict Solid Waste Management Act.

The new license specifically prohibits dumping of liquid wastes into the landfill without special permission from the DNR or the county health department.

That, however, does not alter the fact that some solids become liquid as they decompose, and that the liquids seep downward toward the water table. Complicating the problem is that nobody knows for sure what, if any, toxic materials may have been put into the landfill in the past and may still be there, working deeper into the soil.

In a related action, the village council has renewed agreements with Sylvan, Lyndon, Dexter and Lima townships under which their residents may continue to use the Chelsea landfill to get rid of household trash.

The townships will pay annual flat fees for the privilege, and may charge their residents individual fees to offset the cost. Users must obtain identification insignias for their vehicles.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, April 11, were Feeney, Schumann, Heller, Dils, Grau, Snyder, Comeau, Superintendent Van Meer, Assistant Superintendent Mills, Principals Williams, Conklin, Wojcieki, Assistant Principal Vogel, Athletic Director Nemeth, guests.

Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by President Ann Feeney.

The Board approved the minutes of the March 21 meeting.

Board of Education members will be in attendance at the County School Officers Association dinner on Thursday, April 14.

The Board established the date of Saturday, June 4 for its annual goal-setting session.

Assistant Superintendent Mills indicated that the State Equalized Valuation figures could not be verified at this time. The County Board of Commissioners indicated that it probably will be 7 to 10 days before figures pertaining to SEV can be verified. This delay makes the projections on the 1983-84 budget more difficult. If there is an aggregate loss in SEV, more reductions or the possibility of increased millage will be addressed.

The outdoor project which is funded from the maintenance millage has been temporarily put on hold pending a review of the total district needs for 1983-84.

The Board reviewed continuing tenure, tenure and probation recommendations for the teaching staff. These recommendations were presented by the building principals and will be acted upon at the April 25 meeting.

Assistant Superintendent Mills reviewed with the Board a meeting pertaining to Palmer-Baldwin drain. The meeting was held at the request of County Drain Commissioner James Murray. Murray met with Village Administrator Weber and Fred Mills. The Palmer-Baldwin drain runs from Trinkle Rd. to Letts Creek north of the railroad tracks and Chelsea-Dexter Rd. A branch off the drain runs from the cemetery property through the Beach school property and east until it connects with the drain. The Drain Commissioner is recommending a three-phase project estimated at $250,000.

Assistant Superintendent Mills reviewed the 1982-83 fringe benefit costs for the Board of Education. In reviewing the 1982-83 budget, it is easy to ascertain that the cost of fringe benefits has become an enormous cost to the school district. The total salaries for the Chelsea School District personnel for 1982-83 amount to $4,522,581. UP FOR SALE: The former IPSCO (Industrial Plastics Specialty Co.) plant on the north side of the Conrail tracks at the east end of Cavanaugh Lake Rd. is for sale. The Ryerson-Haynes Co. of Jackson had been looking at the plant, but gave up the idea when Tregets Tool & Engineering Co. lost its bid to have property on Old US-12 rezoned so it could remain in the Chelsea area. The two firms have common interests. Instead, Tregets will move into the Jackson area, and Ryerson-Haynes will stay there. A Pennsylvania industrial real estate firm is trying to market the IPSCO plant.

Village Water Rate Hike Seems Almost Certain

Chelsea residents will pay substantially more for water if either of two proposals put forward by the consulting engineering company of Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May is adopted by the village council.

The Ann Arbor firm submitted its report, titled "Village of Chelsea Water Rate Study," earlier this month. The council received the document April 5, after having authorized the study on March 17 at a cost of $2,500.

The report, signed by Ashok K. Singhal, a vice-president of Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May, includes these findings:

"The existing water rates in the village were adopted on March 30, 1971. Since then, the cost of producing water in the village has increased considerably, resulting in operating deficits for the water fund during the past several years.

"Due to the deficits realized in the water fund, the water system has operated on a very tight repair and maintenance budget whereby system repairs and replacements are made only when required to maintain system operation.

"Other improvements necessary to the water distribution and water treatment facilities have been neglected due to lack of funds.

"The present rate structure has resulted in small users subsidizing large users. For example, 3-4-inch meter users account for 24.6 percent of present water consumption, yet they provide only 16.66 percent of total revenue.

"On the other hand 3/4-inch and smaller meter customers account for 57 percent of water consumption and 65.81 percent of total revenue."

Water use has declined during the past three years, from a high of 171.3 million gallons in 1979 to 141 million gallons in 1982. Although the report doesn't say so, the decrease presumably reflects loss of industry during that period.

In offering two proposals for restructuring and raising Chelsea's water rates, Singhal said that both provide for allocating costs to customers on a fair-share basis, and for generating revenue sufficient to keep the water fund in the black for the next five years.

Under the first option, an average residential customer would experience a one-time rate increase of 71 percent. Large (business and industrial) users would find their bills hiked by 115 percent. Those prices would hold for five years.

The second alternative calls for an immediate hike of 41 percent for residential users and 80 percent for large consumers, with automatic annual increases at 8-10 percent per year to offset anticipated rising costs of operating and maintaining the system.

It presently costs about 90 cents to deliver 1,000 gallons of water to Chelsea users. Current charges are well below that amount, averaging about 65 cents per thousand gallons.

Under alternative one, rates would increase to more than $1 per thousand gallons. Under alternative two, the initial hike would be smaller with an average charge of 90 cents per gallon, but there would be boosts every year.

The consultants recommended that, whatever else is decided, the village should charge fees of $200 per year for all private fire protection sprinkler systems (to cover monitoring and periodic flow tests), $150 for filling swimming pools, and $10 for shutting off or turning on water mains at curb stops.

Police Report Normal, Quiet Month for March

Village police activity increased in March over February, but it was still a quiet month. Radio runs for March totaled 249, up from 192 the previous month.

During March the department logged 29 case reports, 14 accident reports, 57 traffic violations and 66 parking tickets. "It was a pretty normal, quiet month," police chief Robert Aeillo said.
