THAT'S A $3 MILLION CHECK: State Transportation Director James P. Pitz (left) presented a bona fide $3 million check to Norman Kennedy (center), chairman of the Washtenaw County Road Commission, here last Monday. Road commissioner Herman Koenn of Chelsea is at right. Pitz and county officials inspected work being done on repaving Old US-12 west of Chelsea to the Jackson county line. Construction equipment is in the background. The county is borrowing a total of $6 million from the state highway bond issue, and Monday's $3 million was the second installment.

State Transportation Head Lauds County Road Work

State Transportation Director James P. Pitz was so impressed with Washtenaw county's road improvement program that he made a special trip from Lansing last Monday to take a look at it.

Washtenaw last summer took out a $3 million loan from the $135 million state highway bond issue, and is borrowing another $3 million for road improvement work to be done in 1984.

With the total of $6 million, about 90 miles of county roads are scheduled to be improved and upgraded, Washtenaw County Road Commission managing director Tom Vaillencourt said.

Pitz and the three members of the road commission toured several of the projects already completed or underway. The commissioners are Norman Kennedy of Ypsilanti, chairman; Herman Koenn of Chelsea, vice-chairman; and Bent F. Nielsen of Ann Arbor.

Also along on the tour were Larry Minick of Willis, a member of the County Board of Commissioners who serves as a liaison person with the road board, and several staff members of the Department of Transportation and the County Road Commission.

As part of the festivities accompanying the event, Pitz presented a replica of the check for the first

$3 million of the program and a real check for the second $3 million.

"We'll frame the first one and cash the second one," Kennedy said.

Gov. Blanchard initiated the $135 million bond program as a way of initiating immediate improvements to local roads and streets and also to create jobs, an estimated 5,000 in all state-wide.

Money borrowed from the bond issue has to be paid back with interest; it is not a gift from the state. The advantage is that the bond fund has made available a large sum of money "all at once" that otherwise would have dribbled in over many years, Vaillencourt said.

"Using this $6 million loan, we hope to complete about 90 miles of road improvement projects this year and next," Vaillencourt said. "This is the best thing that has happened for Washtenaw county roads in a long time. Some of these roads we are working on had not been improved in 40 years."

First step on the road tour by state and county officials was the work on 6.2 miles of Old US-12 from the Pierce Rd. interchange west to the Jackson county line at a cost of $593,000. The job involves repaving and widening and features a novel method of grinding up the old asphalt surface and laying it back down as part of the base for new paving.

Washtenaw is one of 31 Michigan counties and nearly 100 municipalities that have tapped the state's $135 million highway bond issue for repair of deteriorating roads and streets.

Besides the $6 million loan to the road commission, the communities of Dexter, Saline and Ypsilanti have borrowed a total of $800,000 for local street improvements.

"Washtenaw county, through this loan program, is repairing about 90 miles of county roads, roads most in need of improvement," Pitz said. "That is precisely what this program was designed to do—repair the roads most in need, and to generate jobs."

Counties and municipalities have borrowed $73 million of the $135 million, and have added another $25 million in local funds for improvement projects totaling $98 million. The rest of the bond issue is being used for improvements on state highways.

State-wide, the local projects are generating about 3,100 jobs and the state highway phase of the program another 2,000 jobs in the highway construction industry.

Produce Company Rejects Chelsea Site, Will Locate in Saline

The wholesale produce distributing company which had expressed interest in locating in Chelsea's fledgling industrial park has opted to go to Saline instead.

A spokeswoman for Crosset Co. of Cincinnati, O., has announced that it plans to build a new plant on a 7.89-acre site in Saline's industrial park. The 31,400-square-foot facility will initially employ about 70 persons.

The decision is contingent on approval of a $2.9 million bond issue by the Saline City Council. The low-interest bonds would be paid off by the Crosset Co.

Crosset buys produce—vegetables and fruits—for resale of grocers. It presently operates in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia, and is expanding into Michigan.

The operation at Saline will involve "breaking down" bulk shipments of produce for delivery to retail outlets in Michigan.

"They were interested in Chelsea, but we just weren't in a position to give them the answers to the questions they asked," village president Jack Merkel said.

"We haven't completed the engineering plans for our industrial park. We couldn't quote land prices or give assurances on services. We just plain weren't ready for an inquiry of this kind this soon."

The 70-acre Chelsea industrial park site south of Sibley Rd. was purchased by the village earlier this year. The Ann Arbor engineering firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May has been retained to prepare a development plan. Its report is due next spring.

As an indication of just how unready Chelsea officials were to deal with the inquiry from the Crosset firm, the village council has set a public hearing for Tuesday, Dec. 6, on a proposal to make the Sibley Rd. site an Industrial Development District. That designation, if approved, would give tax breaks to companies that eventually locate in the park.

Sesquicentennial Quilt on Display at Christmas Bazaar

A Sesquicentennial quilt, made by a group of area women, will be on display at the Community Christmas Bazaar at Sylvan township hall Saturday, Nov. 12 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The quilt, which bears the Chelsea Sesquicentennial logo designed by Kim Forner, will be part of an upcoming sale to raise money for the celebration.

Sesquicentennial T-shirts, hats, stationery and coloring books will be for sale at the Christmas Bazaar. A sign-up sheet will also be available for anyone who would like to become involved in planning the Sesquicentennial celebration, which will be held June 30 through July 4.

Meningitis Case Reported in School

A case of meningitis has been confirmed in a 15-year-old Chelsea High school student who is now a patient at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Meningitis is a bacterial infection of the central nervous system, Dr. Mary Westhoff, a Chelsea pediatrician, said. The meninges are the coverings of the brain and spinal cord. The disease is contracted when bacteria gets into the nose and throat. While Westhoff says the disease is mildly contagious, she stressed that there is no cause for alarm among parents of high school students.

"The kids in her class are no more at risk of getting the disease than anyone else in the community," she said.

Westhoff said the symptoms of meningitis include fever, chills, and a stiff neck.

"Anyone who experiences a lot of headaches or a stiff neck should be checked by their physician as a matter of course," she said. "But it is not necessarily meningitis."

Chelsea school officials sent a memorandum home with students Monday explaining that a case of meningitis had been confirmed, but stressing that students were in no particular danger of acquiring the disease from casual school contact. Superintendent Ray Van Meer said.

Proposal Solicited for Plan To 'Revitalize' Downtown

The Ann Arbor landscape architecture firm of Johnson, Johnson & Roy has been invited to submit a proposal for "revitalizing" Chelsea's downtown business area.

That was the upshot of a breakfast meeting held a week ago Tuesday at Chelsea Community Hospital, hosted by the Ann Arbor Trust Co. and attended by 31 local business operators, property owners, government officials and a newsman.

Carl Johnson, representing the architects, said that a plan could be developed for between $3,500 and $4,000, which would be paid for presumably by persons affected. If all involved contributed, the cost would be about $100 each, it was estimated.

Johnson suggested that a first step should be a day-long "workshop" to which businessmen, owners of commercial property and village officials would be invited.

"We would need to get some feedback from you on what you want to do here," Johnson said. "We would want to build our plan on positive ideas that you give us. We would not want to come up with some 'pie in the sky' approach that does not have your support."

Johnson will submit his proposal to Mark Heydlauff, president of the Downtown Merchants Association, a sub-group of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce. Heydlauff, William J. Bott of the Ann Arbor Trust Co. and Jack Merkel, village president, were instrumental in having the meeting called.

Jeweler George Winans pushed the suggestion that Johnson, Johnson & Roy be asked to come up with specifics. "Let's get going," Winans said. "Let's get everybody working together and do something."

A show of hands and a voice vote taken among the persons present showed no opposition to the idea, which at this stage involves no commitment of funds from anybody.

The decision to take the step came after George Sass of Johnson, Johnson & Roy delivered a slide-talk prepared "after we walked the streets of Chelsea and took a good look at what you have here."

Sass summed up the village as "a delightful place which has some problems but also a lot of opportunities."

"Chelsea is close-knit, it almost seems like a family," Sass said. "Its strength lies in its neighborhoods, its historic homes, its trees, the old light fixtures, the parks, the clock tower, the old depot. It feels like a village, and it is."

Sass suggested that Chelsea needs better directional signing. "Everybody who lives here knows where everything is, but newcomers don't," he pointed out.

He described a need for more off-street parking lots to maintain buffer zones between commercial and residential areas, and upgrading of rear entrances to business places to make them more appealing to shoppers.

"You can do a lot with some paint, attractive signs and plantings of trees, shrubs and flowers," he commented.

The biggest problem confronting the downtown business area is Main St. itself, Sass and Johnson indicated. The street carries M-52 state highway traffic through town and is heavily

Industrial Waste Treatment Program Moving Forward

The cat-and-mouse game of complying with state requirements for treating Chelsea's wastewater continues.

The village is supposed to develop and put into effect a monitoring and pre-treatment program for industrial wastes by February of next year. It is also supposed to have its sewage treatment plant upgraded by September of 1988.

Meanwhile, the money needed to accomplish all that continues to be unavailable because the Department of Natural Resources has so far declined to put Chelsea high enough on the priority list to qualify for a federal grant.

"I suggest you continue to comply with the requirements and deadlines that the DNR schedule calls for," a representative of Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout of Toledo, consulting engineers to the village, said at last week's village council meeting. "You should be able to show that any failure is not your fault."

The state-mandated industrial pre-treatment program calls for detecting discharges of 13 toxic substances into the village waste treatment system. It further requires that Chelsea enact a law to force local industries to pre-treat their wastes so that none of those 13 substances get into the disposal stream.

The monitoring program is supposed to detect discharges of zinc, copper, nickel, chromium, cyanide, lead, cadmium, mercury, arsenic, selenium, silver, phenolic compounds and polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBNs).

"I'm sure we don't have any local industries discharging any of those," village administrator Frederick A. Weber said. Except for chromium, those materials just aren't used in any Chelsea plant, and the one that uses chromium is already pre-treating to remove it from its wastewater.

"However, if they want us to look for those things, we will," Weber said. Chelsea would need an additional $1,800 to set up the monitoring program, on top of what the village has already received for developing plans for the as yet unfunded new waste treatment plant.

"It isn't a large amount of money, and I think we probably can get it," he added.

Also needed is passage of a village ordinance to require in-

FUNERAL HOME

What Protection Should I Have For My Family?

Most people feel the responsibility to assure their family or survivors a reasonably smooth adjustment to life without you. Fulfilling this responsibility helps greatly in your peace of mind.

Life insurance protection, written up by a knowledgeable agent to suit your situation, is an important step.

A will is an essential document that will assure your estate will be directed as you desire. State laws vary so a competent lawyer in the state of your residence is your best advisor. Important items to include in your will might include the naming of an executor, your bequests of significant properties, trust funds, and any memorial or remembrance gifts.

Pre-planning your funeral arrangements is also a great relief to your survivors. You definitely will relieve their burdens in their hours of sorrow and we can help you with this without cost or obligation.

Keep in mind that safe-deposit boxes are usually inaccessible for some time after a death. A small savings account or a book or Traveler's Checks which are immediately available will help until the estate is settled.

Governor Opposes Nuclear Waste Storage in Michigan

Governor James Blanchard recently declared his opposition to Michigan becoming a site for one of the U. S. Department of Energy's high-level waste storage projects.

Michigan is one of 17 states formally under consideration for a "crystalline rock" waste site to be opened early in the next century and the DOE has reported renewed interest in a salt bed similar to others in four of the six states being studied for a site to be opened by 1998.

In a letter to DOE Secretary Donald Hodel, Blanchard asked for more information regarding those studies and raised questions about agency procedures, but firmly stated, "I believe it is unlikely that a high-level repository can be located in Michigan that will adequately protect our water resources and the safety of our citizens."

"Our proximity to the Great Lakes and high water table make underground storage of radioactive waste in Michigan risky, at best. Yet we will be unable to defend our rights without adequate knowledge of federal activities," the governor said.

Congress has authorized governors to veto locating a waste project in their states, subject to Congressional override.

Nuclear power plants in Michigan generate the kind of waste that would be deposited in the facility, but David Dempsey, the governor's assistant for environmental matters, said the Great Lakes and underground water supplies give that state particular reasons to be exempt.

"We don't want to co-operate. We want to exercise our rights," he said.

Dempsey said the governor was disturbed about reports the DOE is again studying salt formations near Alpena but despite requests for an updated status of that study, no information has been provided. He said the site's location near Lake Huron make it a particular problem.

Regarding the Alpena study, Blanchard in his letter said: "I strongly oppose this course. In general, I am disturbed about the vagueness and lack of public information associated with the high-level siting process. But I am particularly disturbed that I have learned of your Department's interest in the Salina Salt deposits only through informal comments and news accounts."

Granite formations in the Upper Peninsula are also under consideration and the governor noted a public hearing in Marquette drew more than 400 persons.

The hearing held by a task force on high-level radioactive waste resulted in recommendations but did raise several questions about procedures used by the department and the criteria it will use in selecting a site.

Among those questions is to what extent population density will be a factor in determining a site. Dempsey said the fear is that such areas will be considered the most politically desirable sites.

Dempsey said the letter does not say so explicitly, but the governor hopes the DOE will conduct an environmental assessment of the effects of the waste storage on the Great Lakes.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Democrat Clem Webster had already worked up a good head of steam when he got to the country store Saturday night, and he started popping off as soon as the session started. Clem said he was full agreed when whoever said resigned Secretary of Interior James Watt was President Reagan's lightning rod, and that he would go so far as to say ever President needed one, but that was no excuse for the Administration to keep stirring up storms just to hear the thunder and see the flashes.

Actual, Clem went on, Watt was just the one everybody heard because he was forever saying the worst things at the worst times. The fact is, he claimed, the President has done more than set the foxes to guard the henhouse. He has put them right in here with us chickens. Watt was carrying out Reagan's orders, or he wouldn't be around as long as he was, Clem said, and this new feller will do likewise because he knows where his bread is buttered to.

What we use to call taking care of the land now means taking care of business, Clem said. Fer instant, there's John Crowell running the U. S. Forest Service. Before he got to be one of the foxes he was a lawyer for the Louisiana Pacific Corporation, the outfit that buys the most timber from national forests. Clem had said that since Crowell got in the henhouse the agency he heads has dropped the price of national forest timber to one sawmill in Alaska from $73 a thousand board feet to $3. Fer another instant, look at James Harris, head of the Office of Surface Mining. He comes from Indiana where as a state legislator he stood foursquare agin Federal restrictions on strip mining. You don't have to ask where he stands on selling Federal coal, was Clem's words.

Robert Burford is a rich rancher, Clem noted, so President Reagan put him in charge of the Bureau of Land Management that does big business in leasing federal grazing lands to ranchers. When it comes to politics as the art of the possible, Clem allowed, there ain't no room for conflicts of interest, and when a man in the highest political office sets his mind to someone he thinks everything is possible.

Most of the fellers mulled over Clem's claims, but Republican Ed Doolittle natural took strong exception to em. Ed said natural resources ain't worth anything until you use em, and if you don't use some resources like timber you lose em. What we got to do, Ed said, is look at life as a compromise, and to his thinking that's what the Reagan Administration is doing. When you start crying about saving the coyote instead of the lambs and calves these critters eat, you're falling right into the habit of worrying about the criminal and forgetting the victim, was Ed's words.

Fer sure, Ed went on, if the only choice we got this winter is to burn Federal coal and dirty the air or keep the air clean and freeze, you don't have to wonder what side us chickens will come down on, either.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Despite fears that bats are rabid, only 10 people in the United States and Canada have died of disease from bats in more than 30 years. In contrast, more people are killed annually in the U.S. by dog attacks, bee stings or lightning.

School Board Cites Several For Outstanding Achievements

Several people were given special recognition for their outstanding contributions to the Chelsea school district at the Monday evening meeting of the Board of Education.

Becky Schlupe, a high school senior, was recognized for her achievement in the recent U. S. Senate Leadership competition. Schlupe finished in second place in regional competition. She is also a member of the National Honor Society, senior class representative on the student council and a cheerleader. She recently served as co-chairperson of the homecoming committee.

Also recognized were Ken Larsen, golf coach, and five members of the golf team; Kurt Elsenbeiser, Doug Otto, Eric Schaffner, Mike Carignan and Jim Ritter. The team recently placed second in state golfing competition.

Athletic Director Ron Nemeth was recognized for the time he spent working on the recent renovation of the high school football field and track. The board thanked Nemeth for the many evening and weekend hours he spent working on the projects.

ON YOUR FEET

TOO MUCH PRESSURE ON YOUR TOES

If too much pressure is exerted on your toes when you walk, you will probably develop one or more corns because of the constant friction and irritation. A corn develops when there is an increase of epidermal cells that cause pressure on the papillae of the skin. Unlike a callus, which develops in flat planes, a corn is shaped like a cone, with the tip penetrating deeply into the tissue. Any direct pressure on a corn may cause severe pain.

Soft corns are usually found between the toes and often in pairs with one facing the other. They form when one toe rubs against another at a site of bony prominences. Another kind of corn is called seed corn because it tends to develop in even larger groups. Seed corns are small, sometimes as tiny as a pinhead and are usually found on the soles of the feet.

Corns, like calluses, are not problems in themselves but symptoms of foot disorders that need the professional help and treatment of your podiatrist.

TOM MULL

Tom Mull Will Direct School Play

Chelsea High school senior Tom Mull, 17, has been chosen as the director of the 1983 Stage and Drama production, "My Sister Eileen."

Mull will direct the 22-member cast of the comedy in the Dec. 15 performance.

"My Sister Eileen" is the story of two women from Columbus, O., who moved to New York during the 1940s.

Mull has been active in several Chelsea plays since his debut as a high school freshman as Charlie Clay in "Me and Juliet." He has also portrayed Count Mounjoy in "The Mouse That Roared," Mayor of the Munchkins in "The Wizard of Oz" and a gangster in the Chelsea Player's production of "Kiss Me Kate."

Revitalizing Downtown Area

travelled. The last survey, made in 1978, showed 14,000 vehicle movements on a typical weekday.

"The street is narrow, the sidewalks are narrow, and both vehicle and pedestrian traffic are heavy," Johnson noted. "One possibility would be to route through traffic around town, but that could create some other problems. Another is to handle the existing situation better. I believe we could come up with some ideas. Sidewalks possibly could be widened in spots, traffic slowed down, and wider turning radiuses provided at some intersections. Those are all possibilities that need to be discussed."

Both Johnson and Sass urged that the village preserve the historic flavor of its downtown buildings. "You have a rich architectural tradition here, and you should keep it and enhance it," Johnson urged.

He emphasized that it would require a strong coalition of businessmen, property owners and government, working together, to accomplish anything in the revitalization of Chelsea's downtown. "You can't do it any other way," he declared.

Johnson, Johnson & Roy designed Ann Arbor's Main St. "promenade," a kind of semi-mall, and created something similar in Birmingham, Michigan's most affluent community.

The alternative to such downtown redevelopment probably includes out-lying commercial strips and shopping centers, Johnson indicated, suggesting the village can prevent those if it takes timely action to do so.

Joyce Grames Heads Insurance Company Health Clinic in Detroit

Joyce Grames, owner of Webb's North Lake Apple Orchard, on Sept. 19 accepted the position of "company registered nurse" for Michigan Mutual Insurance Co. She will be in charge of the Health Clinic at Michigan Mutual's home office in Detroit.

Grames was reportedly chosen over other R.N. applicants because of her experience and expertise in working in the Medical Unit of the Detroit Police Department. She retired from the Detroit Police Department in 1981. She has a Bachelor of Science in nursing from the University of Michigan.

Football Cheerleaders Cited For Their Outstanding Work

They stand at the sidelines, not in the center of the field, and may not get as much recognition as the players. But according to their coaches, the Chelsea High school football cheerleaders do a tremendous job of raising team spirits.

Nineteen students, freshman through seniors, participated in football cheerleading this season.

Cheerleading advisors Sue Starkey and Helen Bareis have a lot of praise for the young women.

"The junior varsity and freshman cheerleaders have cheered for their teams no matter what the weather," Starkey said, "Let's hear a big 'rah' for them."

Bareis, advisor for the varsity cheerleading squad, said the cheerleaders were a "very enthusiastic group."

"The varsity cheerleaders have worked hard the entire season," she said.

Members of the varsity cheerleading squad this year were: Debbie Morris and Becky Schlupe, co-captains, Paula Bridges, Patti Barth, Carla Sears, Kendra Neibauer and Kelly Harness.

Members of the junior varsity squad were: Jennifer Swearingen, Kerry Henderson, Sladjana Janicevic, Missy Connell, Christie Favers, Sonya Steele and Karen Hawks.

Homecoming Queen's Attendant Omitted

Phoebe Strong, a Chelsea High school junior, was a member of the 1983 homecoming queen's court. Her name was omitted in an article in the Nov. 2 issue of the Chelsea Standard.

Freshman football cheerleaders were Dawn Thorne, Donna Guinan, Sarah Noah, Kristie Centilli and Bev Martin.

The organization, established in 1980, has been largely inactive during the past year.

Well, this is it... January 1, the day Michigan Bell breaks away from AT&T. I'm almost afraid to pick it up.

Don't be silly. What could happen?

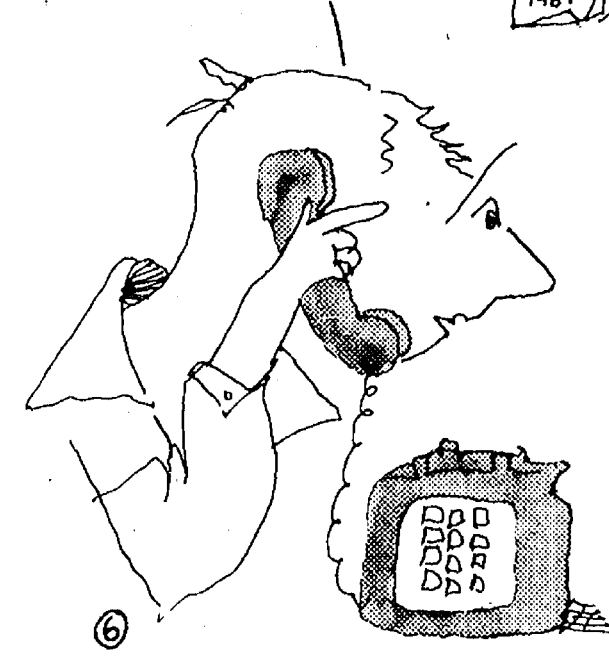

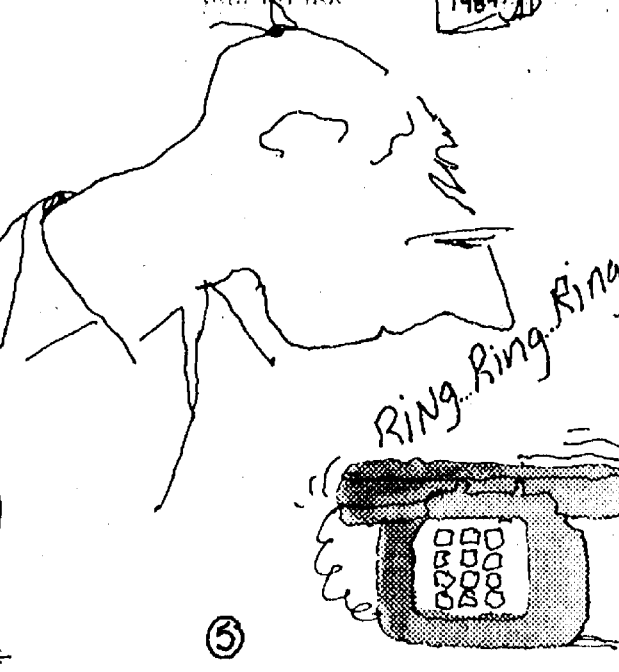

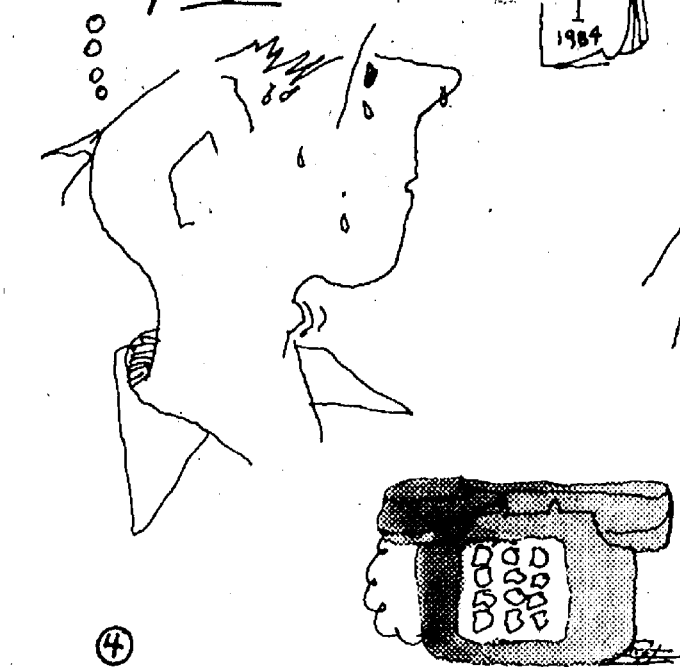

Good grief! What if nothing happens?! What if there's no dial tone?

I'll never hear Edna's voice again! Or Rudy in Laguna Beach! Or My Mom next door!

Mom? Of course it works. I told you all along.

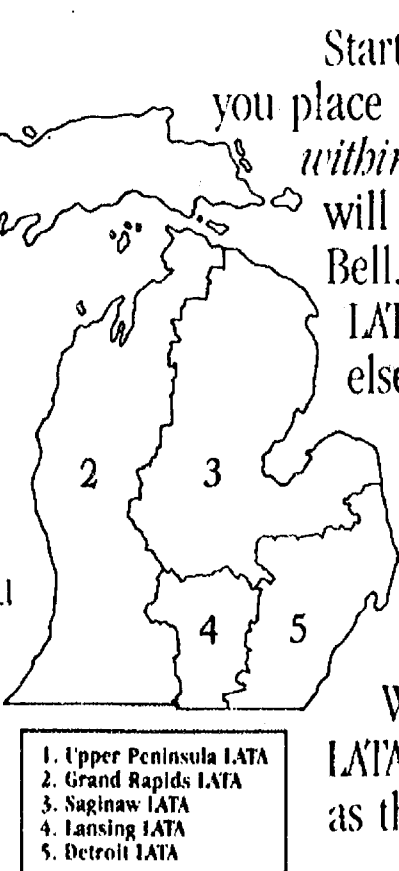

Come January 1, you'll still get through to Edna in Engadine or your mom next door... as quickly and efficiently as ever.

You've probably heard about the sweeping changes taking place in the telephone industry, and maybe you've been wondering just how they'll affect the telephone service in your home or in your business.

As a matter of fact, when you pick up your phone on January 1, you may be very surprised to learn that your service has changed very little. For one thing, you will be able to dial your local and long distance calls exactly as you did before. About the only immediate change will be how your calls are billed. That's where LATAs come in.

LATA is a new word to all of us. It stands for "Local Access Transport Area." In Michigan there will be five LATAs (which happen to closely approximate our Area Codes—see map). For now, the important thing about LATAs is this:

Starting January 1, 1984, whenever you place a local or long distance call within the LATA in which you live, you will be billed for that call by Michigan Bell. When you place a call from your LATA to another LATA in Michigan or elsewhere, you will be billed by another long distance carrier. Some carriers may elect to have Michigan Bell include their charges in the bill Michigan Bell sends you. Others may not, and will bill you directly. We'll be telling you more about LATAs and other calling information as the details unfold.

So, as the expression goes—"not to worry." You'll still have your phone service—as good as ever—because we're working to make the changes in your phone company better changes for you. After all...

IT'S AT&T WE'RE SEPARATING FROM... NOT YOU.

Facts down the line.

Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal, day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. We also suggest that you watch for our informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. 1 800 555-5000

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

During the course of earning a couple of college journalism degrees I listened to several lectures on the dangers and evils of "trial by newspaper," the process of "convicting" somebody in the press before his case gets into court.

I have forgotten a lot of what I learned in school, but those lessons have stuck with me because I believed they taught important principles basic to the American way of government. One is that a person accused of a crime innocent until proven guilty. The other is that it is the role of the courts, not the press, to determine guilt or innocence.

That is a rather round-about way of getting into some comments about the slavery charge which has been brought against Ike and Margarethe Kozminski and their son, John Kozminski, who live on a Lima township farm and have been accused of keeping two freed hands in involuntary servitude.

Let me make it plain that I am not going to come down with any pronouncement on whether the Kozminskis are guilty or innocent of the charge. That isn't my job as a news reporter. The plain and simple truth is that I don't know, and I have had access to all the "information" that the Ann Arbor News and Detroit Free Press, in particular, have printed as facts. The collection is, at best, a mish-mash of hearsay and innuendo, along with records of the Kozminskis' past legal involvements which have nothing whatever to do with the slavery charge.

Nor is it my job to defend the Kozminskis. That is what lawyers are for.

I have talked to Ike Kozminski three times on the telephone, but have never met the man. The phone conversations were in connection with his proposed development of an "egg factory" near Stockbridge, an idea which he eventually withdrew because the Ingham County Board of Commissioners reneged on a promise of financial assistance. Kozminski was courteous over the phone and gave direct, informative answers to my questions, which is more than I can say for a lot of people whom I have interviewed over the years.

Margarethe Kozminski is the secretary of a local bowling league and brings its scores into The Standard every week. She is a pleasant person, nice to talk to.

I wouldn't know John Kozminski if he walked up and introduced himself. To the best of my knowledge I've never seen or talked to him.

None of that has anything to do with whether or not the Kozminskis held two men in involuntary servitude. A couple of newspapers have made and published their judgments, but I'm reserving mine until the courts decide the case. When the facts come out, I will write them, and The Standard will print them.

What bothers me is that the newspaper "trial" of the case has probably made it impossible for the Kozminskis to get a fair trial anywhere within the circulation areas of the two papers that have, in effect, already convicted them in print.

I'm not a lawyer but my guess is that, if the case does eventually go to trial, the Kozminskis' attorney will ask for a change of venue on grounds that pre-trial publicity has made it impossible to select an impartial jury. That could mean moving the proceedings somewhere outside of Michigan.

I feel fortunate to have been backed up by my boss, publisher, Walter Leonard of The Standard, in deciding that we were not going to crucify the Kozminskis and "convict" them in print before the case ever got into court.

We'll print what happens, when it happens, and if that means being beaten on some sensational headlines, so be it. There is still some ethical journalism around, and I'm proud to be a part of it.

My only regret is that the Kozminskis have, as of this writing, declined to talk to me about the case, despite repeated attempts to contact them by phone and in person. Another lesson you learn in journalism school is to make every effort to get both sides of any story that involves a controversy, and especially of any story which implies that somebody has done something wrong.

I might not write a word after the interview, because it could prejudice the legal case, but would feel a lot better knowing the other side of the story. There always are two sides. That was still another lesson learned in school that has stuck with me over the years.

CREEPY CRAWLY CREATURE: The Chelsea Community Hospital cardio-pulmonary unit recreated the spider from the children's story Charlotte's Web to take third place in the hospital's recent pumpkin decorating contest.

RABBIT WINNER: This pumpkin, cleverly disguised as the white rabbit from Alice in Wonderland, was created by nurses at the Chelsea Community Hospital west station. The pumpkin-rabbit captured second place in the hospital's recent pumpkin decorating contest.

Pumpkin Decorating Contest Winners Named

Pumpkins disguised as all sorts of fairy tale creatures showed up at Chelsea Community Hospital recently to be judged in the third annual pumpkin contest.

Each department in the hospital decorated or carved a pumpkin to resemble nursery rhyme or fairy tale creatures. Pumpkins were judged by individual votes. Participants dropped money into containers for their favorite entries. The money raised will be donated to the hospital's Children's Center for the purchase of educational equipment.

Winners of the money judging contest were: housekeeping, first place for Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs; west nursing station, second place for the white rabbit from Alice in Wonderland; cardio pulmonary, third place for Charlotte's Web and the intensive care unit, fourth place for The Wizard of Oz.

The event was organized by Diane Teachout and Kris Adler. Judging the design of the pumpkins were Gayle Johnson and Mrs. Costas Kleanthous.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

Being employed at the Chelsea Police Department for over three and a half years, I've had many occasions to dispatch our fire department.

Recently I found myself on the receiving end when the Chelsea Fire Department's Rescue Unit was mobilized.

Their response was prompt and professional and I would like to publicly thank those special people who give so much of their time and themselves to serve us. Judy Tobias.

Dear Editor,

I have been reading and hearing many of the concerns of the Chelsea community regarding the Cassidy Lake prison. I am very concerned about the present situation also but I am more concerned about the future. I am really concerned about a society that produces so many prison candidates. I will agree that those who break the law must pay for their crimes. However, prisons are only a temporary place that criminals are sent for a certain period of time. Do you think all prisoners just sit there and repent and say, "When this is over and I get back home, I will never do another bad thing again?" No! Prison is often a place to go to learn how to be a better criminal.

The basic problem now is America is no longer good and is ceasing to be great. Many symptoms indicate that America now stands at a crisis point. Consider the following:

Divorce: Five out of nine marriages end in divorce. That's 56% folks. Why? (No nation in history has survived a 40% divorce rate.)

Abortion: Abortion in the U.S. alone has been responsible for more deaths than resulted from the Nazi holocaust or the genocide of Cambodia. Why?

Pornography: The smut industry rakes in $4 billion annually for organized crime bosses (more than the legitimate film and record industries combined) which victimize children and contribute to sex related violence. Why?

Drug Abuse: Escalating drug abuse has led to an estimated 500,000 heroin addicts. Millions of other Americans are dependent on a wide variety of other drugs including alcohol. Why?

"Violent Crime": One murder is committed in the U.S. every 27 minutes! Violent crime rose 174% during the 1970's. Why?

Political corruption... Rising teen-age pregnancies... Epidemic of venereal disease... Widespread tax evasion... Militant homosexuality... High suicide rate. Why?

We are all facing more serious problems in the future unless we

County Road Work Lauded

(Continued from page one) the county program include 7.1 miles of Scio Church Rd. from Parker Rd. to M-52; 4.08 miles of Jackson Rd. between Wagner and Baker Rds.; 4.76 miles of Waterloo Rd. from M-52 west to the Jackson county line, and 3.56 miles of Pleasant Lake Rd. between M-52 and the River Raisin.

In the next phase of the program, which is still on the drawing boards, the following projects are tentatively scheduled in west Washtenaw:

Huron River Dr. between M-14 and Mast Rd., 9.38 miles, $855,000.

Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd. between Zeeb Rd. and M-14, 2.51 miles, $217,000.

Pleasant Lake Rd. between Parker and Saline-Ann Arbor Rds., 5.02 miles, $473,000.

Austin Rd. from Manchester west to the county line, 4.31 miles, $316,000.

The cost figures are road commission estimates, and Vaillien-court hopes that history will repeat and bids come in lower. "That happened with this year's program, and so we were able to do more work than we had planned on," he said.

"We've put about $4 million worth of estimates into next year's $3 million program in the hope that the bids will be lower than we anticipate. If they aren't, we will have to cut the program accordingly."

Bids are being sought this month on next year's program, which includes 11 eastern Washtenaw projects in addition to the four in the western part of the county.

"We (west Washtenaw) have gotten our fair share of the projects so far, and I think we will continue to," Koenn commented. "We have to understand that the eastern part of the county also has a lot of roads that need work."

DIETLE HOME: Gold and glass and tiny white lights will accent the beauty of the Christmas tree at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dietle. Participants of the Christmas Walk will view a variety of Christmas decorations, many from Mexico and others which are handmade. The family also decorates a Christmas tree on the back lawn.

MATTOFF HOME: The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mattoff will be one of eight houses featured in the Dec. 4 Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary Christmas Walk. One of the focal points of the home will be the large decorated blue spruce tree. The family also uses many natural materials, such as pinecones and greenery, as Christmas decorations. Branches, vines and corn husks are used to form the family's nativity scene.

Hospital Auxiliary Sponsoring Annual Home Christmas Walk

The nip is just beginning to be felt in the November air, but already members of the Chelsea Community Hospital auxiliary are gearing-up for their Christmas Walk.

Eight Chelsea homes will be featured in this year's Christmas Walk, which will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 4.

Participants of the walk will view the varied Christmas traditions and decorations of the people who live in the local homes.

Tickets for the walk will be on sale at Chelsea State Bank, both the main and branch offices, Chelsea Pharmacy and Chelsea Community Hospital. Ticket price is $8.

Jeanene Reimenschneider is chairperson for the Christmas Walk. Gloria Mitchell is chairperson of the auxiliary ways and means committee.

Mitchell said proceeds from the event will be used to pay for the many hospital and community services the auxiliary committee provides.

In the past year the group has been involved in many community service projects including blood banks, Health-O-Rama and the hospital booth at the Chelsea Community Fair, Mitchell said.

Volunteers have also worked to raise funding for speech and occupational therapy department scholarships, the child care component of the Parents Anonymous Group and the "Be a Champ" program for Special Olympics.

Auxiliary volunteers conduct tours of the hospital, and provide daily services, such as mail and flower delivery, to hospital patients.

Mitchell said members of group crochet and sew stuffed toys for young patients and have given over 800 toys to children so far this year.

The volunteers assist in county-wide disaster drills and have purchased many items, including a Christmas tree, a portable community booth, an audiovisual tape machine for the hospital, and a number of photographs which decorate patient rooms.

In addition the group sponsored a Chinese Nurse Executive and operates the hospital's Arbor Nook Gift Shop.

Mitchell said all of the auxiliary's activities are supported through the Christmas Walk as well as bazaars, bake sales, wardrobe raffles and other events.

CHelsea Police Chief Robert Aeillo will present a drug awareness program for parents of elementary school children during a meeting of the Parent-Teacher North Association, Thursday, Nov. 17.

Kozminskis' Pre-Trial Hearing Delayed Week

Members of the Ike Kozminski family continue to refuse to talk to news reporters about the involuntary servitude (slavery) charges brought against them by federal authorities.

One did disclose, however, that their appearance before a U. S. magistrate in Detroit, previously scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed until Nov. 17.

Meanwhile, the two men who have allegedly been held against their will on the Kozminskis' Lima township farm for the past 11 years have filed suit for $117,000 in back wages. The suit was filed by the Michigan Department of Labor in behalf of Robert Fulmer and Louis Molitoria. It claims the $3.35 an hour minimum wage for work done during the past three years, the maximum time allowed for pressing back-wage claims.

A Labor Department spokesman said the two men were helped in preparing the suit by representatives of the Michigan Department of Social Services.

The Nov. 17 federal hearing in Detroit is comparable to what is called a preliminary examination in the state court system. The U.S. Department of Justice, specifically the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will be required to present sufficient evidence to bind the case over for trial. Otherwise, it will be dismissed.

JV Girl Cagers Have 'Hot' Night, Down Milan

The Chelsea junior varsity girls basketball team had a sweet victory last Tuesday defeating Southeastern Conference champions Milan, 46-27.

The win brings the team's record to 9-7 over-all and 5-5 in the conference, with only one game left in the season.

Coach Paul Terpstra was pleased with the win, especially since the Milan team had defeated Chelsea, 44-29, earlier in the season.

Good playing during the second and third quarters and good shooting from the floor assured Chelsea of the win, he said.

The junior Bulldogs shot 39 percent from the floor, probably the best they have shot all season, Terpstra said.

Leading scorer was Jenny Cattell with 25 points. She was followed by Kris Mattoff with 13 points. Both Cattell and Mattoff shot 50 percent from the floor, Terpstra said.

Zerkel led in rebounding with seven. Mattoff and Laura Anderson had six rebounds each. Cattell led with five steals.

In all the team had 14 steals and only 11 errors, a ratio Terpstra calls, "pretty good."

The team next plays Tuesday, Nov. 15 at Jackson Northwest.

PLAN SAFETY PROGRAM: Chelsea police chief Robert Aello and Sandy Benes of the Michigan Child Safety Council display materials to be used in a continuing educational program on safety and drugs in the Chelsea school system.

Police Plan Child Safety, Anti-Drug Abuse Program

The Michigan Child Safety Council of Jackson and the Chelsea Police Department are co-operating again this year on a program to promote child safety and drug education in the community.

Contributions totalling $1,609 will be sought from local business and industry to underwrite the program's cost. It works out to be about 98 cents per child. More than 4,200 pieces of literature will be provided to the police department for distribution to local youngsters.

Topics included in the program include smoking, drinking, drug abuse, fingerprinting for identification purposes, anti-choking techniques, and sexual molesting.

Sandy Benes of Jackson is the co-ordinator for the Child Safety Council and will be in charge of soliciting funds in Chelsea.

Police chief Robert Aello and members of his force will present the safety and anti-substance abuse programs in local schools.

Aello said:

"We in the Chelsea Police Department have recognized the ever-growing problems with child accidents and drug abuse involving our youngsters. In order to help combat these expanding community problems, we have now initiated a well-rounded and diversified child safety and drug educational program within our own department."

"Over 4,200 pieces of educationally sound safety materials, developed in co-operation with this department, will be provided to our youngsters here. These materials have been designed by the National Child Safety Council, which is a federal tax-exempt, not-for-profit organization. A qualified staff of creative educators has prepared the various materials, making them excellent teaching aids for all ages."

"It is our plan to make this meaningful program a continuing one that will utilize effective safety and drug educational materials all year. We believe that through education we can help to curtail the rising child accident rates and also curb the juvenile crime rates within our area. The total amount of financial support needed for this program has a budget of $1,609.16, based on 98 cents per child, and we earnestly seek your helping hand."

TAXES and YOU

Several changes in federal income tax laws may effect your 1983 obligation to Uncle Sam. Proper planning could help you reduce your tax burden.

Casualty losses, charitable contributions, credit for the elderly, form 1040A, medical expenses, tax rates, and the two-earner deduction have all changed for this or next year. You may be able to benefit from these changes if you know how.

Since, starting in 1983, you can deduct contributions to individual retirement accounts and claim the credit for child and dependent care expenses on form 1040A, the cost of preparing your return may be reduced or perhaps you could do it yourself; along with reducing your taxes.

We would be happy to discuss these and other methods of reducing the tax bite taken each year; just call Gus Steger at

Chelsea Footballers Close Out Season On a Cold Note

It was cold at the Pinckney football field last Friday night, and so was the Chelsea varsity grid team which was soundly trounced and lost to the Pirates, 27-12. The score was closer than the contest, which Pinckney dominated.

"We were just plain out-played in every phase of the game," a dejected Chelsea coach Gene LaFave said. "What is most disappointing is that we had 367 yards in total offense and only scored 12 points. We moved the ball all over the place except into the end zone. That's been the story of our season, and it's why we ended up at 4-5."

Despite the incentive of needing a victory to post a winning mark for the season, the Bulldogs came out flat, especially on defense. Pinckney found out early that it could run wide and turn the corners and that there were some gaps in the edges of the pass coverage zones, and took advantage of the openings.

It was a good, close ball game for 10 minutes. The Pirates scored first on a 30-yard pass-and-run play midway through the opening quarter, but Chelsea came back to tie things at 6-6 on a sustained drive ending in a five-yard touchdown burst by Jay Marshall.

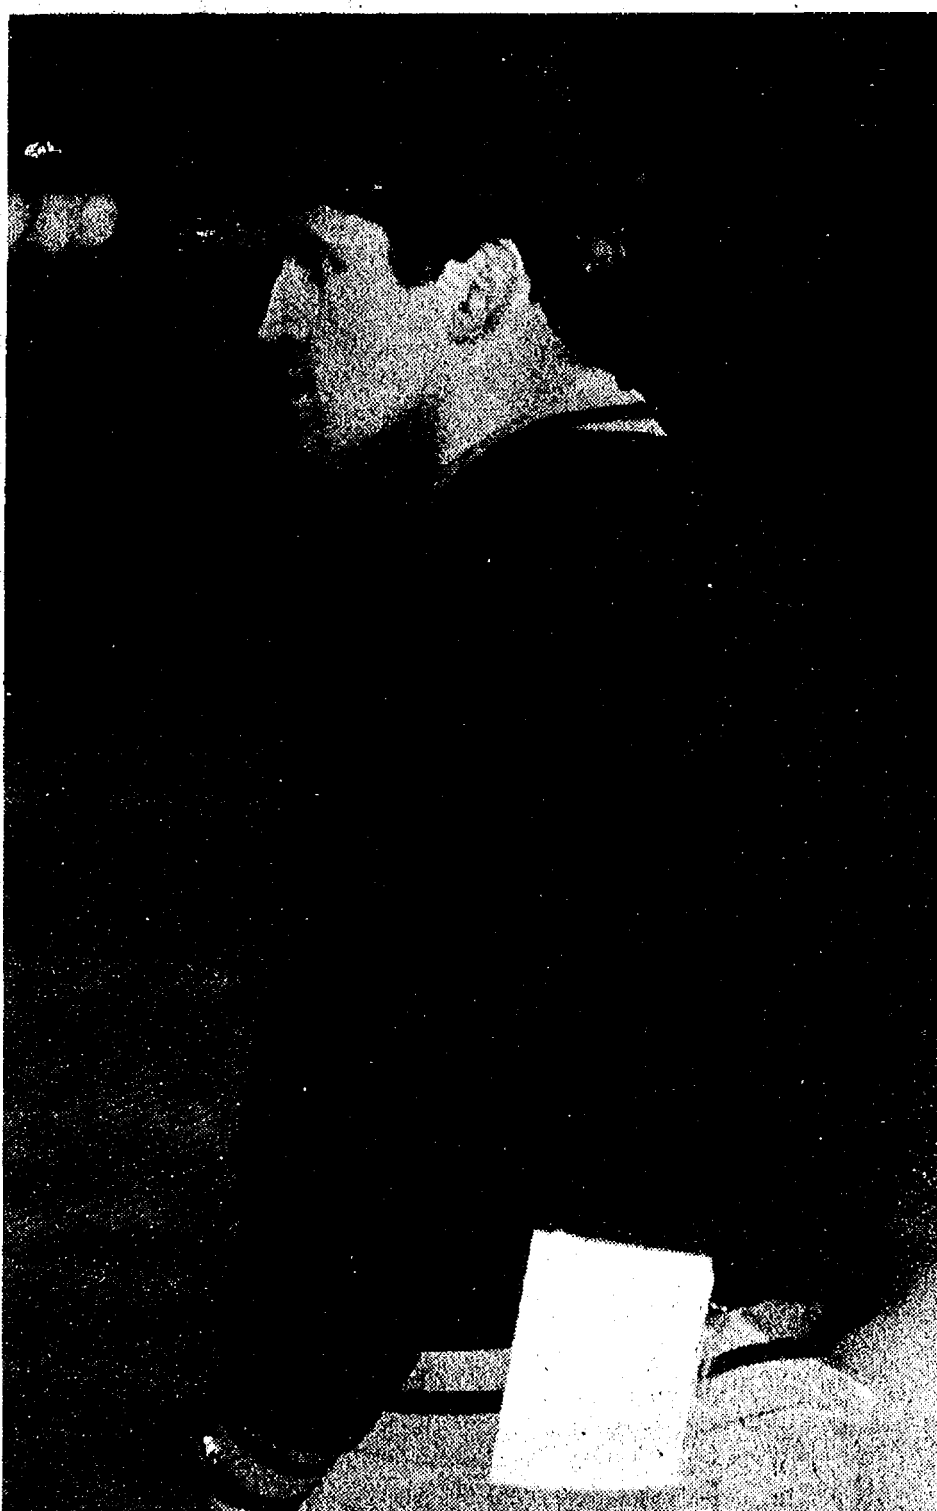

Pinckney proceeded to take command by dominating both sides of the scrimmage line from there on, and the outcome was never much in doubt.

Scott Crabtree scored the game's next three touchdowns, the first on a 28-yard run midway through the second quarter. The Pirates completed a pass for two points and took a 14-8 margin into the locker room at half-time.

They expanded their lead to 21-6 early in the third quarter on a four-yard dash by Crabtree plus a kicked extra point.

The Bulldogs had a golden opportunity to get back into contention on their next possession but blew it by lining up offense on a fourth-and-one play at the Pinckney five-yard line. An apparent first down was nullified, a pass fell incomplete, and the Pirates took over the ball. They then drove 90 yards to put the game on ice with Crabtree going over from two yards out.

Chelsea scored late in the game on a three-yard scamper by Scott Miller, who throughout the season demonstrated a remarkable ability to get across the goal line although called on infrequently to carry the ball.

After having been announced as disabled because of a knee injury suffered in practice during the week before the Mason game, quarterback Marty Steinhauer recovered fast and played all but the first offensive series against Pinckney.

"His doctor cleared him the day before the game," LaFave said, "and it surprised me. I didn't plan to use him unless we got behind early and needed his passing ability to help us catch up. That's exactly what happened. Marty played very well. It certainly wasn't his fault that we lost. He's an excellent competitor, and he gave us a gutty performance."

Unfortunately, the news from the game wasn't all good for the Steinhauer family. Marty's brother, David, suffered a knee injury early in the contest and sat out the rest of it. The severity of the hurt remains to be determined.

The game was also marked by the debut of freshman Todd Starkey in a varsity role. He started as a wide receiver in place of the injured Dave Walter and did well, catching three passes.

"As far as I can remember, that was the first time during my five years here that I've ever started a freshman in a varsity game," LaFave said. "We've been hurt so badly by injuries this season that we have had to dig deep to find able-bodied players. Starkey is a very promising athlete, and he played a good game, especially considering that he had almost no experience as a receiver. He's been the quarterback on the freshman team."

The Bulldogs wound up the season with a 4-5 record, 3-2 in the Southeastern Conference. They finished in a three-way tie for second place in the SEC. After dropping three of their first four games the Bulldogs rallied to take three in a row before losing the last two to miss the opportunity for a winning record.

freshmen. Ash tutored the Bulldog freshmen last year and was moved up to varsity coach after Robin Raymond resigned to go to Ann Arbor Pioneer. Wilson replaces Paul Terpstra, who declined reappointment as JV coach, and Hendricks takes over for Ash.

Basketball Coaching Staff Vacancies Filled By Two

New Chelsea High school basketball coach Paul Ash got two pieces of good news earlier this week.

First, he has a couple of assistants whose appointments were approved by the board of education Monday night. They are Martin Wilson of Hamburg, who will coach the junior varsity, and Ted Hendricks of Ypsilanti, who will tutor the freshmen.

Second, Marty Steinhauer's knee injury turned out to be not as serious as first thought, and he will be ready to play basketball provided he isn't further hurt. He has two tender knees, but they seem to be made of rubber. He heals quickly. Walking on crutches during the Chelsea-Mason football game on Oct. 28, he was back in grid practice the next week.

Steinhauer, a senior and co-captain, is one of the keys to Ash's plans for this winter's season. "He's left-handed and is a natural to play on the left corner of what I see as a big and strong front line," Ash said. "I'm sure relieved to know that he apparently is going to be able to play."

Much of Ash's thinking revolves around the other co-captain, senior David Kiel, who has grown an inch since last winter and now measures 6-6.

"He's still growing and may catch up to me," commented Ash who is 6-7. "More important, he has matured a lot. I've been watching him play football and can see that he is quicker and better co-ordinated than he was a year ago. I think he's going to be improved all the way around—shooting, rebounding, defense. He could be very good. I'm looking forward to coaching him."

Chuck Hager right now looks to be a fixture on the right side of the front line. He came out of the reserve ranks at mid-season last winter, and developed into a steady, dependable starter.

Hager is 6-3 and Steinhauer 6-2. Flanking Kiel, they could combine to give Chelsea a tall and tough front wall which most opponents would find difficult to match up against in terms of both size and ability.

The backcourt is another matter, and right now both starting guard slots are up for grabs. Junior Eric Schaffner, who saw considerable playing time last year as a sophomore, may have the inside track on one. He's a good ball handler and can hit the basket from outside.

Senior Glenn Prinzing is a possibility, as is Marty Steinhauer's brother, David, who was brought up from the junior varsity late last season.

"The biggest problem we have, obviously, is to compensate for the graduation loss of David Wojcik," Ash said. "You don't replace a Wojcik because you don't often come up with a boy who has his combination of skills. You have to adjust and change your strategy accordingly. I think we have the potential talent to make the changes. Basically, we have to find some outside shooting ability to keep opponents from clogging the middle and shutting us down inside."

Also returning from last year's 14-8 team which was co-champion of the Southeastern Conference and runner-up in the district tournament are seniors Jeff Martin and Jerry Hammerschmidt.

Thus, seven spots on the varsity roster look to be locked up. Ash said he plans to have 12-15 players on his squad but isn't sure yet exactly how many and who they will be.

"I'm going to be realistic and include only those boys who will have an opportunity to play," he said. "It's not fair to ask a kid to put in all the time and effort of practicing if he isn't going to get some playing time. I want to use a lot of people. I want good reserves who can go in and hold their own while giving the starters a breather."

Ash stressed that he plans no drastic changes in Chelsea basketball. "Robin Raymond has established a fine program here, and I want to keep it going. Maybe we can build on the base that Robin has laid, and we're sure going to try."

Helping him in the effort will be Wilson, 37, who operates his own printing sales company out of Hamburg. He did not play college basketball and has no coaching experience except in "club" basketball in Illinois. "I'm a student of the game," he said.

Hendricks, the new freshman coach, is a student at Eastern Michigan University. He played one year of college ball at Alma but has not coached before. He, too, is eager and chomping at the bit to get going. At 20, he is going to be one of the younger coaches around, not a whole lot older than his players, but that doesn't bother him.

None of the three—Ash, Wilson, Hendricks—is on the Chelsea school faculty—and all will handle their coaching assignments on a "commuter" basis as additions to their other work.

Speaking for the group, Ash promised that all three will spend the time required to do the coaching job right. "For my part, I have some flexibility in my work schedule," he said, "and I've saved all my vacation time. You can depend on it that we will be here when we are supposed to be, and then some."

SPORTS
NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

Readers of this column know that athletic injuries bother me, even though I realize they are an inevitable by-product of all sports competition, and especially football which is a fast-moving game of violent physical contact. My concern is to suggest that injuries be reduced to the minimum by eliminating those that may be avoidable.

Perhaps I'm a little bit over-sensitive on the point. My personal participation in sports has left me with a right ankle that turns over when it shouldn't, a left shoulder that doesn't work quite right, and a lower back that wakes me up in the middle of almost every night.

None of those injuries was suffered in football, by the way, just to indicate that other sports can get you hurt, too. You take the injury risk when you elect to play any game, which nobody forces you to do. After all, you can get hurt stumbling on a staircase, slipping in the shower, or falling out of bed. One of the nastiest injuries I know of was suffered by a man who lost his footing getting off a bus and tore an Achilles tendon. He was on crutches for two months and still doesn't walk normally. He was riding the bus because he was trying to be patriotic and heed the call to conserve fuel during the 1973 Arab oil embargo crisis.

I also have a thing about poor officiating in athletic contests, and I'm going to keep harping on that, too, because I think the problems are related. Unless my memory is playing tricks, I have never before seen so much "late hitting" in football as I have this fall. A "late hit" is defined here as a tackle out-of-bounds, a deliberate charge into a play after the whistle, piling on after the whistle, or just plain taking a whack at somebody when there is no reason or need to.

Officials could put a stop to most of it by flagging infractions early in every game and letting all concerned—players, coaches, spectators—know that they aren't going to tolerate that kind of unnecessary roughness and unsportsmanlike conduct. It's remarkable what a couple of 15-yard walk-offs will do to curb over-exuberance in hitting.

One flagrant example of a non-call occurred in a game I covered a couple of weeks ago. I remember it well because I almost got involved in the play in a couple of ways. Standing on the sidelines, I saw a pair of 200-pounders coming right at me and scrambled to get out of the way. When it was over, I had one foot on the running track, a good 10 yards beyond the boundary line. The helmet of the ball-carrier was brushing my other foot, even though he rolled at the last instant to avoid me.

It was an outrageous late hit, and I looked for a penalty flag to be thrown and 15 yards walked off. No flag. Instead, the official threatened to eject the coach who protested the non-call. Had that threat been carried out, I would have learned from personal experience what the penalty is for a reporter running out on the field and saying some strong words to an official. There undoubtedly is a rule against that somewhere in the fine print of the book.

The official later asserted that he "didn't see" the out-of-bounds hit. Baloney. He was as close to it as I was, and that was too close for comfort.

A week later, an otherwise excellent game between two good, well-coached and fired-up teams was marred by an epidemic of late hitting.

Whenever I hear a football team described as being "very physical," I cringe. Translated into what happens on the field, "very physical" usually means hitting late.

I sympathize to some extent with officials. They have a very tough job to do, including enforcing some rules that are essentially unenforceable. There is no way you can decipher and understand the rules on the field, for example, much less try to make players conform to them in all their details. Result is that all but the most flagrant holding infractions are overlooked. The rule against blocking below the waist is ridiculous. It was written to prevent the so-called "crack-back" block, but the authors wrote it in such a way that it should be flagged either on every play or never.

However, there is no mistaking late hitting. It is a clear, visible, highly observable violation of both the letter and the spirit of the game. And the rules against it should be enforced—hard and tough.

Doug Otto Named
All-State Golfer

Chelsea's Doug Otto has made the all-state Class B high school golf team, one of 10 honored throughout Michigan from Class B schools.

Otto, a junior, had a 39.4 stroke average in nine-hole match play during the recently completed season, shot an 18-hole 73 in the regional tournament, and was third in the state tourney with a 75. He was the medalist in half of Chelsea's matches this year and was named "most valuable" on the squad for the second year in succession.

"I think Doug's greatest attribute is his consistency," Bulldog golf coach Ken Larson said. "He doesn't hit the ball as far as some other players, but he is almost always straight on his drives and fairway shots. He's a good chipper and a great putter. He plays the game 'down the middle' and stays out of trouble. He should be even better next year."

Otto, Mike Carignan and Eric Shaffner are scheduled to return next fall to the Chelsea team which finished second in this year's state tournament. Two others among the squad's top seven are also expected back.

"If we can find a dependable fourth player, we have state championship potential," Larson said.

Members of the all state golf team will be honored at a banquet at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center on Nov. 18.

FOOTBALL ROUND-UP:

Saline Clinches
Spot in Playoffs

There was celebration in Saline last Friday night as the Hornet football team demolished Riverview, 57-18, to clinch both a 9-0 season and a berth in the state playoffs.

There was little joy in either Chelsea or Dexter as both schools lost games they were favored to win. Chelsea went down to Pinckney, 27-12, and Dexter was dropped by Stockbridge, 22-0.

In other action involving Southeastern Conference teams, Lincoln trounced New Boston Huron, 51-12, Tecumseh lost to Mason, 20-6, and Milan was blown out by Hartland, 61-0.

Saline piled up a 50-0 third-quarter lead over Riverview before coach Jack Crabtree ended the slaughter by putting in his reserves to finish the game. The Hornets had only one close call all season long, a narrow 8-0 victory over Lincoln.

Chelsea ended a disappointing campaign with a flat performance against underdog Pinckney, which will begin playing in the Southeastern Conference next fall. Chelsea wound up at 4-5 for the year, and Pinckney at 2-7.

Dexter finished at 5-4, its first winning season since 1977, despite the loss to Stockbridge. Inability to move the ball on offense hurt the Dreadnaughts.

Lincoln finished its second-half-of-the-season comeback on a high note after dropping its first five games. The victory gave the Railsplitters a 3-6 record for the season.

Re-entering football competition after sitting out 1982 because of budget cuts, Tecumseh was dumped by always-tough Mason and ended with a 3-6 mark. The Indians started strong early in the season, but inexperience eventually caught up with them.

Milan, which normally is tough, had a disastrous season, losing eight in a row after winning its opener, and finished at 1-8.

Girl Harriers Place Eighth in State With Fine Finish

Finishing among the top 10 teams in state class B competition was the third and most important goal set for the Chelsea High school girls cross country team this season, and they made it, with a couple of notches to spare.

The Bulldog lady harriers finished eighth in the state meet held last Saturday over the Tyrone Hills course at Linden.

As it has all fall, Chelsea's exceptional depth paid off as all seven girls on the state meet team placed among the first 125 finishers, ranging from 36th to 144th. Teams were restricted to a maximum of seven entrants each.

"It has been an exceptionally good season for the girls, and I'm very, very pleased," said a happy coach Pat Clarke. "At the beginning we set three goals. We wanted to win the Southeastern Conference championship, finish high enough in the regional meet to qualify for the state, and finally be among the first 10 in the state. We achieved all three. The girls have every right to be proud of their accomplishments."

Jackson Lumen Christi won, as expected, with a score of 91 to second-place Hartland's 180. "You don't see that kind of run-away at a state meet very often," Clarke said.

"Lumen Christi is just plain awfully good, and they have all but one of their top runners coming back next year."

Chelsea's prospects for 1984 look good, too, with all eight leading runners scheduled to return. "Assuming they all do come back and continue to improve as they should, we have the potential to move up several places. We won't beat Lumen Christi—nobody will—but we should be stronger. We have several girls with the potential to run under 20 minutes."

The first-place time in this year's state meet was 18:50. Chelsea placers and times were:

Kim Collins, 36th, 20:39.
Amy Wolfgang, 41st, 20:48.
Robin Mock, 51st, 21:03.
Stephanie Grant, 83rd, 21:42.
Melanie Flanagan, 84th, 21:42.
Laura Damm, 88th, 21:45.
Mary Ann Richardson, 124th, 22:34.

Green Runs Well In State Finals

Although the Chelsea boys cross country squad failed to qualify a team for last Saturday's state meet, Eric Green made the field as an individual and finished a very respectable 74th with a time of 18:03.

"Eric ran very well in a strong field," coach Pat Clarke said. "It was an excellent meet with a lot of fine runners."

Nature Center Offers Workshop On Wreath Making

Waterloo Nature Center will conduct a dried flower wreath workshop Saturday, Nov. 12 from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Participants will make 12-inch wreaths suitable for door or table decorations from dried flowers and seed pods. The class will be conducted by Connie Moore of Garnett's Flower and Greenhouse.

Swim Pool Rated Among County's Best

The Charles S. Cameron swimming pool at Beach Middle school has been named one of the county's 30 best operated pools by the Washtenaw County Health Department.

David Plueddemann, assistant public health engineer for the county, said in a letter to Superintendent Ray Van Meer that the Chelsea pool was among the best maintained of 152 pools around the county.

The pools were reviewed during the summer of 1983 and checked for water quality, maintenance of equipment, compliance of state regulations and the way problems which developed were handled.

Clarke Will Coach Junior High Wrestlers

Pat Clarke will continue to coach the Chelsea junior high wrestling program this winter. He had resigned the position earlier but agreed to return after a replacement could not be found, he said.

Girls Varsity Cagers Win First Tourney Game

It was a great week for the Chelsea varsity girls basketball squad.

First the lady Bulldogs conquered Milan, 49-46. Then the team, got by the first round of Southeastern Conference tournament play, by beating Tecumseh, a team which had defeated them twice in the current season, 47-28.

Coach Jim Winter was happy. The win over Milan came in the last regular league game of the season.

"We finally played four quarters of good basketball on offense and on defense."

Winter said his team's defense was especially good.

"It was nice to beat a team that is considered really good," he added.

The team led throughout the game, letting Milan get close only toward the end when Chelsea player Beth Unterbrink fouled out.

"Then they started giving us problems with their press,"

Winter said. But with only seconds left Anne Weber had two successful free-throws.

Top scorer was Unterbrink with 12 points. Samantha Collinsworth had 10 points and Kristi Headrick had eight points.

A very good defense was instrumental in the win over Tecumseh in the SEC tournament currently being played at Lincoln High school.

"The good news is that we beat them," Winter said. "The bad news is that it took us that long."

Winter said it "felt good to beat someone who has beaten you."

Top scorers in the game were Unterbrink with 16 points, Collinsworth with eight points and Headrick with seven points.

Headrick and Joann Tobin led with five rebounds each.

Chelsea was scheduled to move on in the tournament to play Milan last night.

"We know we can beat them now," Winter said. "The problem is, they know it too."

Girls Swimming Team Barely Misses Qualifying Times for 2 State Relays

The Chelsea girls swimming team barely missed attaining state qualifying times for two relays during a meet with Adrian Tuesday, Nov. 1. The team also lost the meet, 115-49.

Acker said the team is working hard as the season draws to a close, trying to achieve times to qualify them for state competition in the medley and free relay events. In the meet against Adrian, Chelsea missed the state qualifying time in the medley relay by two seconds and in the free relay by 2.7 seconds. Coach Von Acker says he believes the team will achieve the qualifying score before the season ends.

Despite the loss, several team members swam well, Acker said. Freshman Susan Schmunk swam the 200 I. M. for the first time this year and finished second with what Acker calls an "excellent time" of 2:35.39.

Another freshman, Laura Stephens, had her best time in the 500 free event, finishing in 6:13.28.

"I'm hoping she breaks the six minute mark by the end of the season."

The team record now stands at 2-10. The swimmers were scheduled to compete against Jackson yesterday. On Thursday, Nov. 17, they will host the Chelsea Invitational.

Following are the scores of Chelsea swimmers in the meet against Adrian.

200 medley relay—The team of Schmunk, Stephens, Dawn Borders, and Paula Colombo, second, 2:08.08.

200 free—Missy Young, fourth, 2:31.47 and Tammi Mullaly, fifth, 2:41.98.

200 I. M.—Schmunk, second, 2:35.39 and Becca Lee, fourth, 2:50.74.

50 free—Borders, first, 27.54 and Anne Albrecht, 35.16.

100 fly—Young, second, 1:18.72.

100 free—Tammi Mullaly, fourth, 1:14.38 and Albrecht, fifth, 1:26.88.

500 free—Stephens, first, 6:13.28 and Lee, fourth, 6:47.52.

100 back—Colombo, second, 1:11.55.

400 yard free relay—the team of Borders, Schmunk, Colombo and Stephens, first, 4:06.65. The team of Lee, Young, Albrecht and Tammi Mullaly, third, 4:53.81.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

The firearm deer season opens next Tuesday, and I will not be a part of it because of vision problems which make it impossible to handle a gun with complete confidence of safety, but I will recall many memories from seasons past in which I did have a piece of the action.

The element that I will remember most about hunting deer was the camp life and camaraderie that went along with it. The act of hunting deer, the expectation of an opportunity to shoot one, and occasionally doing so—all were important parts of the total experience. But best of all were the incidents that accompanied the annual ritual of going hunting.

Deer hunting has changed a lot during my lifetime, as have a lot of other things. Like many other old-timers, I'm not sure that all the changes have been for the better.

Nearly three-quarters of a million people still go deer hunting in Michigan every fall, and that's good. They harvest a lot more deer every fall than they did 30 to 40 years ago, and that is also good. The hunter success ratio is about one in four, which is much higher than it used to be.

In a quantitative sense Michigan deer hunting is vastly improved. As just one example, the southern Michigan herd which now provides more deer in the bag than does the Upper Peninsula, didn't even exist when I began hunting deer. There were some deer down here, but they were protected under a no-hunting closure law that wasn't amended until 1948, the year of my 22nd birthday.

The quality of deer hunting has likewise changed. More and more, it's a day-trip experience, something done out of your own home, a motel room, or maybe a pick-up camper, an excursion undertaken in haste for one day or one weekend under frantic time pressure. That probably is in keeping with the faster pace of modern living. We are told that technology has provided us more leisure and therefore more time to relax and enjoy. If so, we haven't learned very well what to do with it.

Going deer hunting used to mean establishing a camp somewhere two or three days before the season opened, and then spending at least a week of hunting time in it. The camp might be a log cabin or tarpaper shack built for the purpose years before and opened for use only during deer season. Some of those permanent camps were elaborate affairs with the amenities of a first class resort, but most were pretty, simple with a minimum of furniture and facilities.

The camps I remember most fondly were made in tents, big and heavy wall tents that took an unbelievable amount of labor to erect but were mighty comfortable when you finally got the job done. They were heated with wood stoves which miraculously never set the whole works on fire and burned us all alive. The food was hearty and abundant, although a steady diet of grease-fried meals began to take a toll on the digestive system after a few days. You slept on the ground in a big, lumpy sack of bedding and were generally so tired at the end of the day that it didn't matter.

The most fun was had in the evenings after all the chores were done and there were a few hours to share friendship with your hunting companions before time to go to bed early in preparation for the next day. Tall stories were told, small-stakes poker games played as if winning or losing a couple of dollars really meant something, and some liquor (almost always bourbon whisky) consumed.

(Let me add that I never saw anybody drunk in one of those camps. There was a gentleman's agreement that all would get up in the morning and go hunting with a clear head and steady hands. I heard tell of a couple of cases involving men who violated that unwritten rule and were simply told to leave and never come back.)

Funny thing, I don't remember killing many deer out of those camps. Most that I stayed in were located in spots that weren't especially good deer country. One camp that stands out in memory was pitched season after season in a spot that was a virtual biological desert, but had an unfailing water supply from a flowing spring and an abundance of dead and down timber for firewood. I never glimpsed a legal buck there, much less shot one, but it was a great place to spend a few days every late fall.

Most of the present generation of deer hunters will never have experiences like those, because most of the camps are gone, and they will therefore miss the essence of what hunting is really all about. If I were going deer hunting this fall, I would pitch a tent camp somewhere—if only 10 miles from home—and try to persuade a few good friends to share it with me. I might or might not take home a deer, but I sure would have a good time.

Work on Niehaus Field Set for Spring

The football season is over, but further work on Chelsea High school's Niehaus Field will wait until spring, athletic director Ron Nemeth said.

The remaining work is primarily a patch-up job to repair damage by an impromptu game of touch football on the newly laid sod before it was ready to be used.

"We decided it would be better to wait for the ground to settle after a winter freeze and a spring thaw, so that we can get the final grading and crown exactly right," Nemeth said. "There is still quite a lot to be done."

Chelsea played its first three scheduled home football games at Dexter because of construction delays in the renovation project.

Hot Air Balloon Inflation Delights Grade School Pupils

The balloon rippled and billowed, the bright blue and green and red and brown fabric bobbing first to the right and then to the left as the North Elementary school children shrieked their approval.

And all the while "Captain Wizard" smiled.

"There's nothing that 'Captain Wizard' and his wife 'Captain Sunrise' (known in all but ballooning circles as Blake and Jeane Thomson) like better than the delight their hot air balloon brings to non-initiates.

"The most fun is seeing the look of people's faces," Thomson said. "Hot air ballooning is the oldest form of flying, but people are absolutely mystified by it."

Thomson and a number of assistants inflated the 70 by 60 foot balloon for the young students early last Friday morning. He said he and his wife, who live in Gregory, usually fly a couple of times each week in the early morning or early evening, when wind speeds are below 10 mph. The wind should be strong enough to help carry the balloon, but not strong enough to be detrimental, he explained. Following the demonstration, Thomson presented a 30-minute slide show about hot air ballooning which he has developed.

The Thomsons, who own a benefit consulting firm, began their ballooning careers a number of years ago.

"I took a ride eight years ago then I took another ride one week later," Thomson said. "Then I decided I'd rather fly than ride."

The couple purchased a used hot air balloon, the first of four which they have owned. They have named their current balloon "Glub" and dubbed it the "World's Largest Flying Goldfish Bowl." The colorful balloon features a large red fish in a bowl, with a cat's paw creeping over the edge.

They have also started a hot air ballooning company, Aloft Unlimited, and offer balloon rides to neophyte ballooners.

"It's something people do just once in their life, unless they get hooked like we did and then they've got real trouble," Thomson said, laughing.

Because taking a ride in a hot air balloon is such a rarity, the couple likes to make the most of a special occasion for their customers.

Everyone who takes a ride in "Glub" receives a certificate and a small enamel balloon pin. The Thomsons forgo an old ballooning tradition which requires that a small amount of dirt and a measure of champagne be dumped on the heads of first-time balloonists to celebrate their safe return to earth. Instead they place "just a couple of drops" of champagne on their customer's heads and give them a glass of the beverage to drink.

Ballooning has become a very important part of the couple's lives since that first ride eight years ago.

The personalized license plate on their van reads "BALLOON" and their business cards for Aloft Unlimited feature a tiny hot air balloon in place of the o in "Aloft."

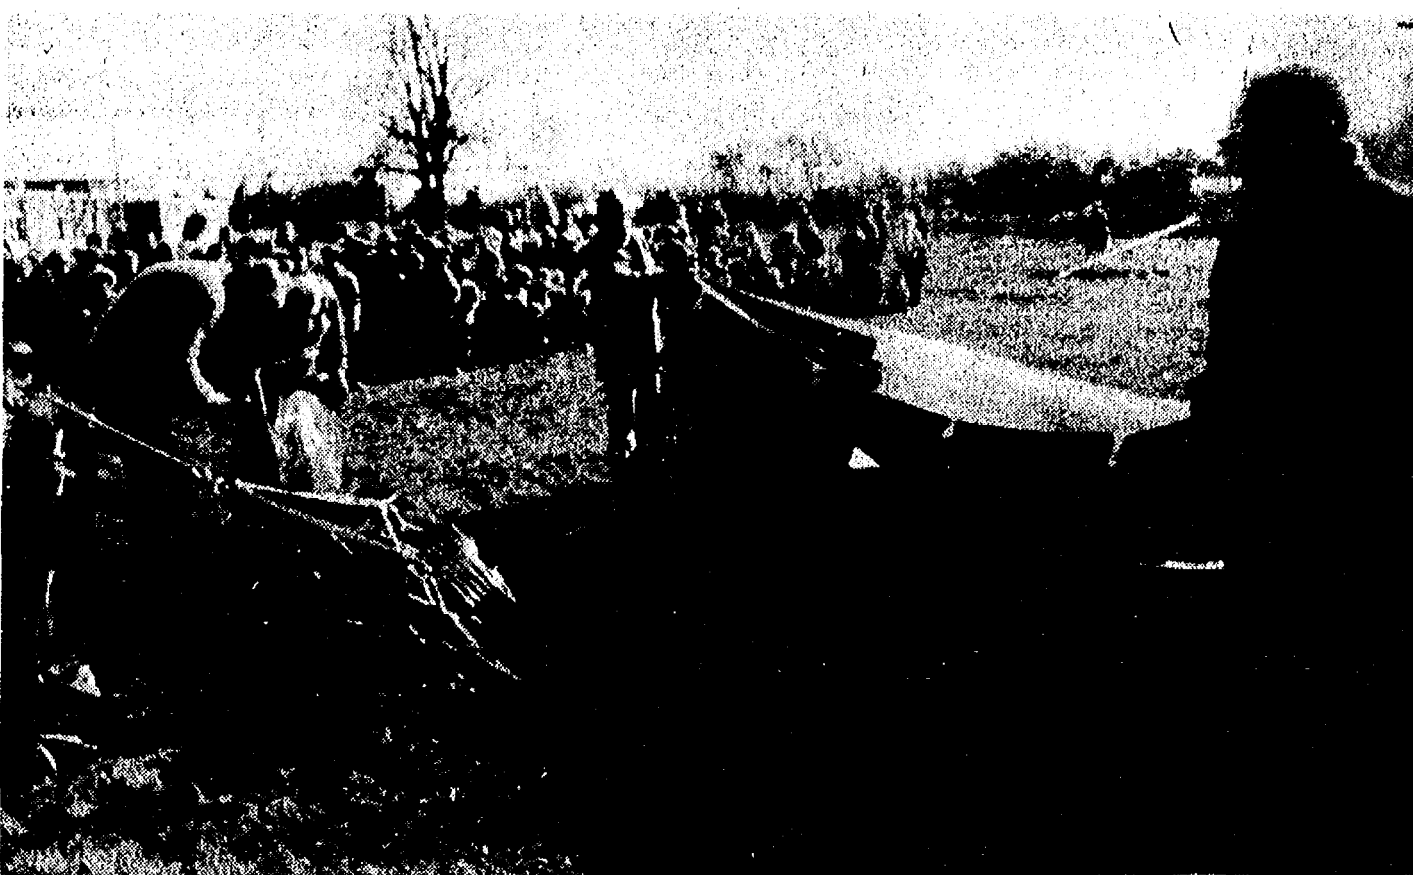

Thomson is currently president of the Michigan Balloonists Association, which boasts 80 members. For the last four years he has also acted as an official at various hot air balloon competitions in the United States and Canada.

Ballooning is a hobby that has turned out to be more than just a way to spend spare time for the couple.

"It's my way to escape from life," Jeane Thomson, said.

Her husband agrees.

"We've sure had a lot of fun," he said.

GETTING READY: It takes Blake Thomson (far left) about four assistants, several minutes, a large fan and a lot of air pressure to inflate "GLUB" his 70-foot tall hot air balloon.

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO RIDE? Spectators on the ground at Blake Thomson's hot air balloon demonstration at North Elementary last Friday seemed about equally divided. Some said they might like to take a balloon ride some day while others said they were just as content to keep both their feet on terra firma. But everyone thought the balloon was pretty.

Resolution In Support of 14th District Court In Chelsea, Michigan

WHEREAS, the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners has received a recommendation from its staff that a centralized 14th District Court would be constructed at Hogback and Carpenter Roads, Pittsfield Township, and that the present 14th District Court located in the Village of Chelsea, Saline and certain functions of the Ypsilanti Court, would be substantially reduced and relocated to the future Hogback and Carpenter Road facilities;

AND WHEREAS it appears to the TOWNSHIP OF DEXTER, that a full time District Court to serve Western Washtenaw County is necessary to the people of this TOWNSHIP;

AND WHEREAS the former Chelsea State Bank building, a building of historical importance and beautiful architectural design and detail was given to Washtenaw County for the purpose of establishing a District Court in the Village of Chelsea, at no cost to the County;

AND WHEREAS there appears to be the possibility of expansion of said facility in Chelsea at a substantially lower cost than the construction of the proposed new facility;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED AND IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, that the TOWNSHIP OF DEXTER, respectfully request the Board of Commissioners of Washtenaw County, and their representatives, to meet with its constituents, and its representatives, to consider the cost, inconvenience and substantial injustice which would result from the relocation of the present judicial functions of the 14th District Court from Western Washtenaw County to the proposed new location.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Board voices its strong opposition to the attempt to centralize and remove the 14th District Court from the people of this TOWNSHIP.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we urge the Board of Commissioners of Washtenaw County to personally inspect the 14th District Court facilities in Chelsea, Michigan, and to consider expansion of that facility as the appropriate remedy to any existing inadequacies.

BE IT RESOLVED that the Clerk is hereby authorized to forward to the chairpersons of the Board of Commissioners of Washtenaw County a true copy of the within Resolution.

Dated: October 18, 1983.

Trustees Present: Merkel, Riemenschneider, Satterthwaite, Keezer and Steele.

Trustee Absent: Radloff.

Others Present: Police Chief Aiello, Fire Chief Hankerd, Civil Defense Director Schantz, Superintendent of Public Utilities Hafner, Michael Hughes, Don Thompson, Arlene Presley, Charles Presley, Emmett Hankerd, John Henkle, John Graber, Robert Thornton, Zoning Inspector Carl Sanderson, Marvin Salyer, Lee Fahrner and Bill Mullendore.

The minutes of the regular meeting of October 4, 1983 were read. Motion by Keezer, supported by Merkel, to approve the minutes as read. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

A public hearing was held on a proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance to zone 7.17 acres east of Wilkinson Street to Planned Unit Development (PUD). The property is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Salyer and Mr. and Mrs. John Devall. The petition for rezoning was filed by Robert Thornton (Application No. 83-02). There were no oral or written statements in opposition to the rezoning. A resolution was submitted by the Planning Commission containing the Planning Commission's findings that PUD area plan conforms to the General Development Plan of the Village and the Chelsea Zoning Ordinance. A resolution was submitted by the Planning Commission recommending that the Village Council approve the Area Plan prepared by Beckett and Raeder dated 9/6/83, subject to certain conditions.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, this Village Council held a public hearing on proposed Ordinance No. 79-AA, "AN AMENDMENT TO ORDINANCE NO. 79 TO REZONE A CERTAIN PROPERTY FROM AG-1 AGRICULTURAL DISTRICT AND RS-2 SINGLE FAMILY RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT TO PUD PLANNED UNIT RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT - PART OF THE SOUTHWEST QUARTER OF SECTION 12, T2S, R3E" and Area Plan of the Planned Unit Development (PUD);

and, WHEREAS, concerns were expressed regarding the impact of storm drainage; and,

WHEREAS, this Village Council reviewed the findings and recommendations of the Chelsea Planning Commission; now,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that this Village Council concurs with the findings of the Chelsea Planning Commission with respect to the standards set forth in Section 15.554, a copy of which is attached to these minutes as APPENDIX A; and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that upon the recommendation of the Chelsea Planning Commission, proposed Ordinance No. 79-AA, "AN AMENDMENT TO ORDINANCE NO. 79 TO REZONE A CERTAIN PROPERTY FROM AG-1 AGRICULTURAL DISTRICT AND RS-2 SINGLE FAMILY RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT TO PUD PLANNED UNIT RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT - PART OF THE SOUTHWEST QUARTER OF SECTION 12, T2S, R3E" be adopted and the Area Plan consisting of two (2) sheets prepared by Beckett and Raeder dated September 6, 1983 be approved in accordance with Section 4.4.8.D.1.1 (C.O.Z.C. 15.554 D.1.1.), subject to the following conditions:

1. The street and the lateral sanitary sewer and water main and appurtenances be constructed to Village standards and, together with a 60 foot right-of-way, shall be dedicated to the Village of Chelsea, between Wilkinson Street and the east property line. The 8 inch water line shall be constructed to the east property line, and shall be properly terminated so that the line can be extended, at some future time, to the 8 inch water line in Grant Street. The 8 inch lateral sanitary sewer and the 8 inch water main shall be located in the 60 foot future street right-of-way in accordance with Village standards.

2. The sanitary sewer lateral should be extended west to the 24 inch sanitary trunk sewer, and the lift station eliminated, if an easement can be obtained across the Consumers Power Company property, and if the intended connection is feasible.

3. Storm water detention shall be provided on site, and shall have adequate capacity, based on the following design criteria:

a) The detention system shall be designed to hold a 100 year storm of 24 hour duration.

b) Discharge rates shall not exceed current discharge rates under undeveloped conditions.

c) Discharge from the detention ponds may be required to be delayed until after the design storm event has passed, and until capacity will become available in existing storm sewers, if such delay is determined to be necessary to prevent overloading of storm sewers and downstream flooding.

Acceptable design of the detention system might require changes in the layout of the approved area plan, and/or deletion of one or more dwelling units. The detention system shall be regularly and properly maintained by the condominium association, so that the ponds will function as designed and the ponds will not become nuisances.

4. Conversion of the development to a rental complex shall constitute a change in the type of dwelling and shall require prior amendment to the area plan as provided in Section 15.558 of the Zoning Ordinance.

5. The water in the pond shall be augmented as necessary to maintain a minimum level, and shall be maintained in a fresh condition to prevent stagnation, and to prevent the pond from becoming a nuisance. Details shall be provided in the final site plan. Maintenance of the pond shall be the continuing responsibility of the condominium association.

6. A fire hydrant shall be provided along the emergency fire lane, opposite the southwest corner of the building in the southeast corner of the site.

7. Details of development phasing shall be provided in each final site plan. The Village Planning Commission may require construction of the street, and water, sanitary sewer, and storm drainage facilities beyond the phase boundaries, if such construction is necessary for proper and safe access and the proper functioning of utilities.

8. The planning Commission may require, if public safety so indicates, at the time of final site plan review, placement of the proposed sidewalk on the north side of the street right-of-way.

BE IT ALSO FURTHER RESOLVED, that upon compliance with the aforementioned Section 4.4.8.D.1.1. of the Zoning Ordinance (C.O.Z.C. 15.554 D.1.1.) the Village Clerk be and is herein directed to publish the above Ordinance No. 79-AA in The Chelsea Standard along with this Resolution and Appendix A of these minutes.

RESOLUTION IN SUPPORT OF

14TH DISTRICT COURT IN CHELSEA, MICHIGAN

WHEREAS, the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners has received a recommendation from its staff that a centralized 14th District Court would be constructed at Hogback and Carpenter Roads, Pittsfield Township, and that the present 14th District Court located in the Village of Chelsea, Saline and certain functions of the Ypsilanti Court, would be substantially reduced and relocated to the future Hogback and Carpenter Road facilities.

AND WHEREAS it appears to the VILLAGE COUNCIL of the VILLAGE OF CHELSEA, that a full time District Court to serve Western Washtenaw County is necessary to the people of this village;

AND WHEREAS the former Chelsea State Bank building, a building of historical importance and beautiful architectural design and detail was given to Washtenaw County for the purpose of establishing a District Court in the Village of Chelsea, at no cost to the County;

AND WHEREAS there appears to be the possibility of expansion of said facility in Chelsea at a substantially lower cost than the construction of the proposed new facility;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED AND IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, that the VILLAGE COUNCIL of the VILLAGE OF CHELSEA, respectfully request the Board of Commissioners of Washtenaw County, and their representatives, to meet with the VILLAGE COUNCIL and its representatives, to consider the cost, inconvenience and substantial injustice which would result from the relocation of the present judicial functions of the 14th District Court from Western Washtenaw County to the proposed new location.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this VILLAGE COUNCIL voices its strong opposition to the attempt to centralize and remove the 14th District Court from the people of this village.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we urge the Board of Commissioners of Washtenaw County to personally inspect the 14th District Court facilities in Chelsea, Michigan, and to consider expansion of that facility as the appropriate remedy to any existing inadequacies.

APPENDIX A

1. The proposed development conforms to the adopted General Development Plan (GDP), as described in the Village Planner's report, dated 8/5/83 (Section 1 of Factors to Consider, and Section 5 of the Rezoning Petition Report). The revised area plan now complies with the two policies of the General Development Plan cited in Section 2 of the above Factors to Consider, namely:

a) The area plan proposes that the street through the site be dedicated to the Village as a public street, for future extension east to Grant Street. This will provide the interconnection called for in the GDP. While the proposed street will be a local residential street, rather than a major street as proposed in the GDP, and will not necessarily be an extension of Lincoln Street, the change in function is a logical and acceptable change in the GDP.

b) The site will be integrated into the Chelsea community by the public street and its future extension to the east, and by the sidewalks that will be located in the street right-of-way.

(Section 15.554D3-a)

2. The proposed development conforms to the intent and regulations of the PUD zoning district and the zoning ordinance (Section 15.554D3-b)

3. The proposed development will be adequately served by public facilities and services, as follows.

a) Wilkinson Street has sufficient capacity to handle the additional traffic that will be generated by the proposed development. The existing capacity of Wilkinson Street is 9,000 vehicle trips per day, whereas current traffic volume is estimated as 2,000 vehicle trips per day. The site, when fully developed as proposed, will generate 216 vehicle trips per day.

b) Police protection will be adequate, as evidenced by the Police Chief's letter of August 24, 1983.

c) Fire protection will be adequate, with the addition of the emergency fire lane from the southeast corner of the site, addition of a fire hydrant opposite the southwest corner of the building in the southeast part of the site, and provision of an 8 inch water line through the site.

d) Storm drainage will be adequate. The site will have on-site storm water detention areas capable of temporarily storing a 100 year storm of 24 hour duration. The storm water will be released under controlled conditions into Village storm sewers, after the storm conditions have passed. The site will discharge by sheet flow no more storm water runoff, and probably less, than it presently discharges.

e) The eight inch water line through the site will provide adequate water service. The line's future extension to the east to the 8 inch line in Grant Street will provide a loop in the system. In the meantime, the line will be connected to the two four inch water lines in Wilkinson and Dale Streets. While the four inch lines provide minimal service, the service will be adequate. (See Engineer's letter dated 9/6/83.)

f) Sanitary sewer service is adequate for the proposed development. The site has two options for service: 1) connect with the 24 inch sanitary sewer west of Wilkinson Street; or 2) connect with the 10 inch sewer in Wilkinson Street. The latter will require a lift station on-site; the former will require an easement through the Consumers Power property but will eliminate the need for a lift station. Consequently, the first option is preferred, but either will adequately serve the site. (See Engineer's letter dated August 23, 1983.)

g) Refuse pick-up and disposal will be provided by the Village. (Section 15.554D3-c)

4. The area plan provides a unified open space system. The open space areas are based on existing natural features and topography, and flow without interruption throughout the site. The plan also permits future open space connections to the southeast and east. (Section 15.554D3-d)

5. The street right-of-way, including the sidewalk and utilities in it, is to be dedicated to the Village. This will assure the public's right to use these facilities. The open space and other common facilities will be owned and maintained by the condominium association. The condominium association will also be responsible for maintaining the drainage system and the permanent pond. (Section 15.554D3-e)

6. Traffic to and from the site will not be inconvenient for, or hazardous to, the proposed development or the neighborhood. Wilkinson Street has ample capacity to carry the increased traffic that will be generated by the development. The 28 peak hour vehicle trips will be able to turn between Wilkinson Street and the project street without causing congestion or hazard. The intersection of the proposed street with Wilkinson Street is well-spaced in relation to other streets, being approximately 600 feet south of Chandler Street and 1000 feet north of Wellington Street. The plan provides for pedestrian circulation across the site, in an east-west direction, and for future extension of this walk east to Grant Street. The dwelling units will be single-family attached units, owner occupied, and will be built at a density of 3.94 units per acre. Therefore, these units will be compatible with the character and density of the existing neighborhood. (Section 15.554D3-f)

7. Section 15.554D3-g does not apply to this petition; the proposed development does not propose a mix of housing unit types or non-residential uses.

8. The proposed development will not produce noise, odors, or other external effects that are not common to low density (single-family) residential areas. Adjacent properties will be protected from vehicular lights by landscape screening. (Section 15.554D3-h)

9. The area plan is based upon the existing natural features - the existing pond and stand of trees are the focal point of the plan and will be preserved. The plan is also laid out to utilize the existing land form and will therefore minimize the amount of grading required. (Section 15.554D3-i)

10. The proposed street follows the natural topography of the site and is designed as a local residential street - its intended function. This street provides adequate access to the site and the plan provides for its extension east to Grant Street at a future time. (Section 15.554D3-j)

11. The sidewalk in the public street will provide for major pedestrian circulation through the site. This walk can be extended in the future to Grant Street, thereby providing pedestrian access to the center of the Village and to South Elementary School. A sidewalk across the site's Wilkinson Street frontage can be provided as part of a future special assessment district for a sidewalk between Chandler and Wellington Streets. (Section 15.554D3-k)

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

Editor's Note: The following letter has been sent to Gov. Blanchard, Sen. Pollack, Rep. O'Connor and Corrections Dept. Director Perry Johnson.

Dear Governor Blanchard:

This letter is being written to you in regard to the situation at Cassidy Lake Technical School, located at 18901 Waterloo Rd., Chelsea. As residents of the area (the camp is located within two miles of our home) we are very concerned with the security, or lack of, at the facility. We have been victims of escapees in the past and are by no means eager to be victimized again. Our home was broken into, ransacked and robbed. The violation of our privacy was one thing, but the fear expressed by my children for months afterwards is something else again. I am angered by the fact that my preschool children need to fear that a "robber" is going to again cause us problems.

We have two small children and I certainly am concerned for their safety. It is important that they be allowed to play outside, but I resent having to worry about them whenever they are outside. We have bought a dog for this very reason. He will be companionship for them, but more importantly, protection.

The evening of Aug. 25, 1983, angered me even more. This was the day that three escapees entered the home of a nearby resident and stole knives, among other things. When you are confronted by four police vehicles and helicopters on the drive home after work it is not a very comforting situation. I can honestly say that I was damned afraid to enter my home that particular evening. The feeling that there could be someone in my home again had me very worried.

I am a tax-paying citizen along with countless others in my area and I am tired of paying said dollars for escapees to run away so that I feel I have to lock myself and my family inside. I personally would like to see the entire camp closed. I do not see that heightened security or even a fence is going to eliminate the situation.

The inmates at the camp are not clothed in uniforms, so that we area residents cannot tell whether anyone walking down the road is a "good" guy or otherwise. We are at the mercy of these offenders and can do nothing about it. I certainly want to be able to protect my children, myself and my home, but I do not want to become a "criminal" just because I may have been victimized.

I have no idea how this problem is going to be resolved, but if you yourself have ever been a victim of any such crimes, then you may possibly understand how the residents here feel. And if you have never been a victim, I can only hope that you never have to be. I only wish that you would try to understand our feelings and concentrate long and hard on finding a permanent solution to a situation that will only continue to worsen if not resolved.

Sincerely yours,

Dan & Pam Holloway

Dear Editor,

Well it seems that nobody is listening to us. We are really scared, afraid, and feel we have to arm ourselves to feel safe.

I've lived in Chelsea all my life. I got married, had children and moved to Waterloo. I have to protect my family as my parents would, maybe more. Am I wrong?

I care about Chelsea. I bank at a grocery shop and buy most everything here. I want to support and believe in it all.

I've been to picket at Cassidy Lake peacefully and what has it done? That is what makes us feel why vote, our vote doesn't make any difference anyway. But we DO care, otherwise we wouldn't be there or here.

So, what do we do? Sit back and see what happens? NO, we won't. We won't stop! It may be one question at a time, but every one is a good one and we'll hang in there for what we believe in.

What if they said because you work at Cassidy Lake Technical School you had to live within 40 miles? Could you do it? How would you feel? What would you do?

Vickie Wilkerson Eresten

Two Chelsea High school band members performed with the U. of M. marching band during half-time festivities at Saturday's game and at the Detroit Lions game at the Pontiac Silverdome Monday evening.

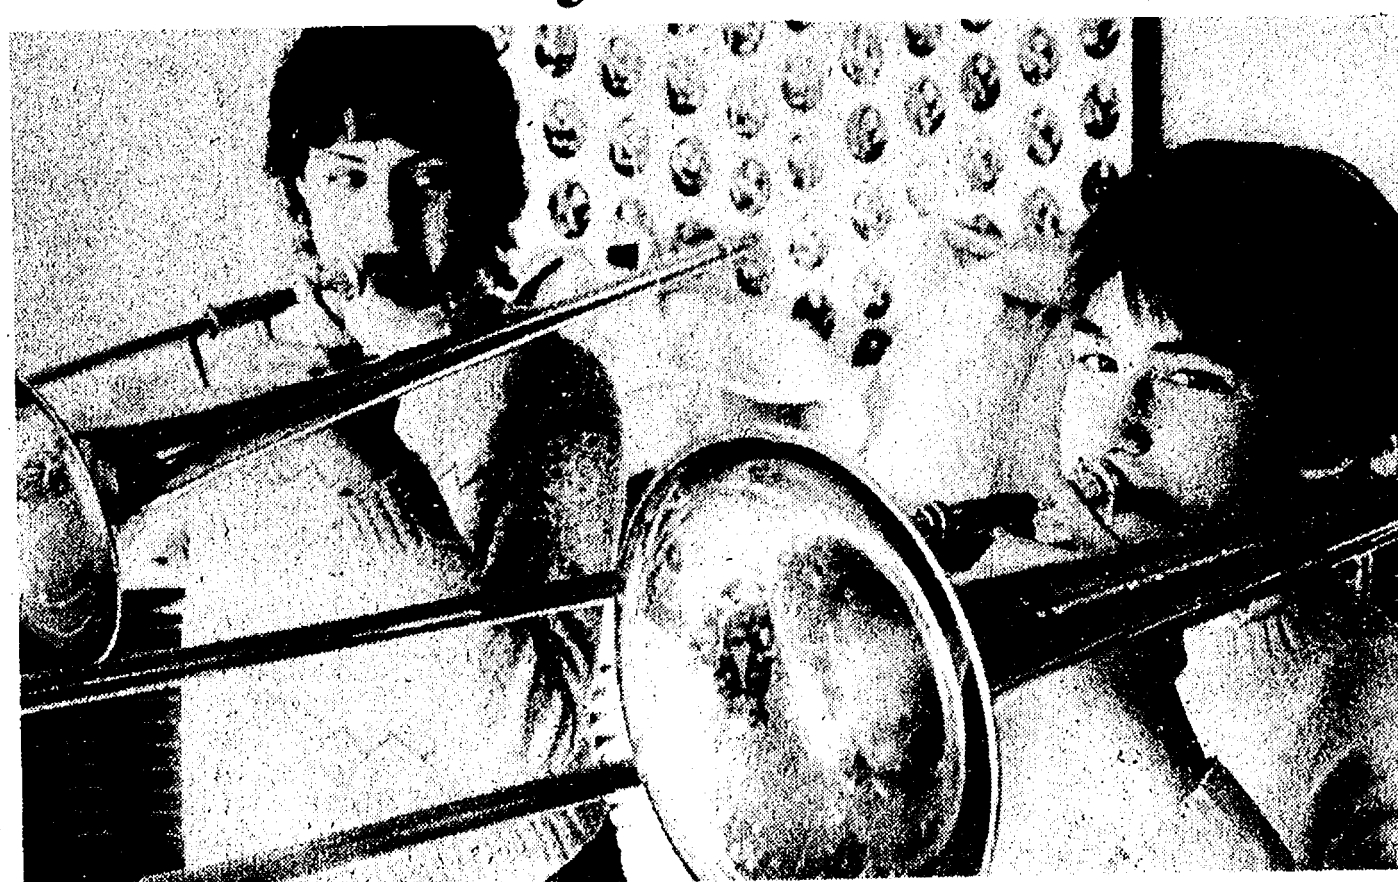

Jennifer Lindsay, a sophomore, and Mark Freitas, a junior, were among 34 high school trombonists from the southern part of the state who were invited to perform with the college band.

The students performed at half-time during the U. of M. game with Purdue Saturday. On Monday they traveled to Pontiac to participate in pre-game and half-time shows with the university band for the Detroit Lions and the New York Giants game.

Bill Gourley, Chelsea band director, said he was asked by the U. of M. band to recommend two trombonists to participate in the events.

He said performing with the U. of M. band was an excellent experience for the two students.

"It's just a great thing U. of M. has done for them," he said. "It's a real honor for all the hard work they do."

Sewer Line Extension Cost Could Vary

It would cost about $20,000 to extend a 21-inch village sewer line to the former two-cycle fuel plant on Old US-12 which the Fellowship Baptist church has expressed an interest in buying.

If constructed, the approximately 400 feet of trunk sewer would fit into plans for future expansion of the village sewer system into other properties in the vicinity.

An alternative would be to put in an eight-inch line, which would serve only the fuel plant site and could not be added onto. That would cost about $12,000.

The cost difference between a 21-inch conduit and an eight-inch line is about $18 a foot, village administrator Frederick A. Weber estimates.

The question is, who should pay the difference, the church or the village? The village council discussed that at some length last week and came to no conclusion, although some individual opinions were expressed to the effect that the village should cost-share the project in some way if it insists on a 21-inch line.

"I'm not sure the church can afford either alternative," Weber said, "and that has to be explored. What I am pretty sure of is that the state will not grant a permit for a septic tank on the property because of the soil conditions. If it's going to be used for any purpose, it is probably going to require a sewer."

The property is presently vacant, and its title-holders owe about $4,000 in back taxes.

Athletic Code Is Updated

More stringent rules regarding transportation to athletic events are the most notable changes in the updated Chelsea High School Athletic Code, approved by the Board of Education Monday.

Under the new rules, students must ride to and from athletic events on school district approved transportation, Athletic Director Ron Nemeth said.

In the past students were required to ride to the event with the team but were allowed to ride home with their parents following the event.

The new rule is an effort to promote cohesiveness among team members, Nemeth said.

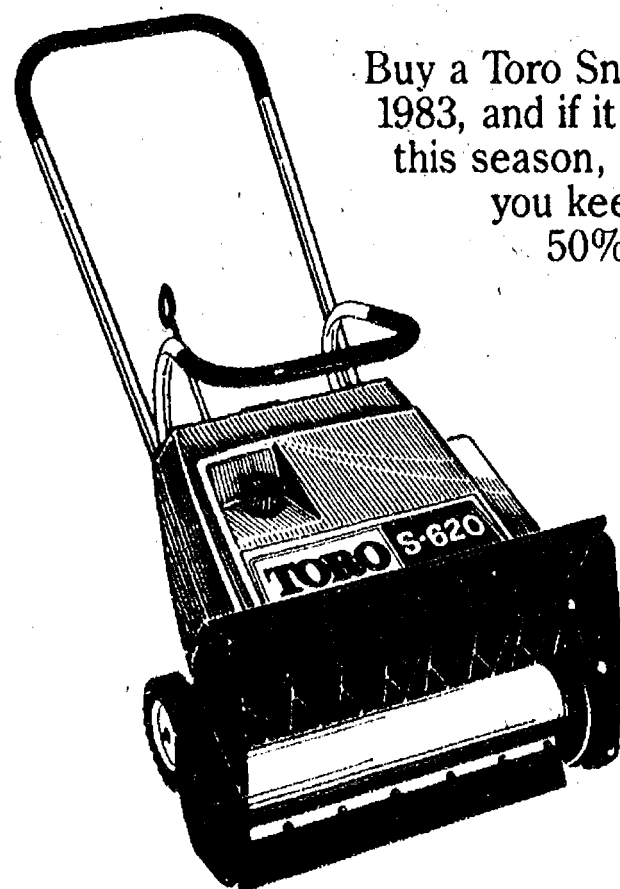

"When you win the game you win together. When you lose the game, then you lose together."

In certain cases, when it is necessary for a student to get from another type of school activity to an athletic event, the school would likely approve another form of transportation, other than the team bus, Nemeth said.

Nemeth said other changes in the updated code are minor.
