Faith in Action Aids The Needy

Faith in Action, Inc. of Chelsea, celebrated its first Christmas by sharing the spirit of the holiday season with 70 area families.

Several volunteers spent many hours co-ordinating the distribution of toys and food baskets, said Jo Ann Carruthers, Faith in Action house manager.

Each basket included enough food for three meals on Christmas Day. Chickens and capons were donated by Lakeview Farms and hams were provided by Chelsea Community Hospital, Carruthers said. Cavanaugh Lake Store donated canned and boxed foods.

Sunday school children from First United Methodist church donated more than 100 toys, which they wrapped and decorated, for other children.

Carruthers said several monetary donations were received from other area churches and local residents.

"It is very heartwarming to receive calls from people wanting to help others," she said.

Christmas and Thanksgiving food baskets (the organization coordinated the distribution of Thanksgiving dinners to 50 area families this year) will be a yearly Faith in Action program. Based on the support the organization received this year, volunteers hope to serve even more people in 1984, Carruthers said.

"Doing something like this really makes the holiday season seem joyful to me," she said. "People really do care about each other and in these times, it helps to be reminded of that."

CHELSEA'S FAITH IN ACTION organization provided 70 Chelsea families with Christmas food baskets and toys. Jo Ann Carruthers, left, shown here with Katie Chapman, said the gifts pictured were only a small portion of the donations made by the group.

Treasurer And Assessor To Run Again

Both treasurer Mary Harris and assessor Charles (Skip) Winans, II, will run for reelection to their present village offices.

"Definitely, yes," Mrs. Harris said when asked if she intends to seek a new term in the election scheduled for March 6. "I will file for nomination, and I hope to be re-elected. As far as I know, there have been no complaints about my service in office."

Winans, who is employed full time as an assistant to village administrator Frederick A. Weber, said he will seek the assessor post again.

"It fits in with the rest of my job," Winans said, "and I haven't heard of anyone else who wants to be assessor. It's not one of those things that a lot of people go looking to do. An assessor doesn't win any popularity contests."

Chelsea Civic Foundation Seeks Gifts

The Civic Foundation of Chelsea reminds area residents that one of the very special gifts you can give at year-end would be to the Civic Foundation.

Individuals and corporations may send membership contributions ranging from $15 to $1,000 or more, or may make general contributions to further the work of the Foundation.

The Civic Foundation, in little more than one year, has made two significant grants. One grant was made to the Chelsea Senior Citizens to initiate Lifeline in the Chelsea area. Lifeline is a per-

Low Temperature Marks Break All Seasonal Records

This has been the week that was in weather, climaxing in the coldest Christmas Day recorded locally in more than 100 years.

Christmas Eve day, last Saturday, was even colder. The temperature never rose above zero.

Thus, west Washtenaw county joined most of the rest of the nation in celebrating the worst weather Christmas holiday period since records have been kept.

A year ago on Christmas Day, the high temperature was 62 degrees. Skiers, snowmobilers and ice fishermen cursed the elements as winter sports plans for the holiday season had to be abandoned for lack of cold and snow. It was like either late fall or early spring out there. You could have mowed your lawn had you wanted to.

What a difference a year makes.

This holiday season's spell of tough, wintry weather began last Wednesday night and Thursday morning with an eight-inch snowfall. Another inch-and-a-half was added in small amounts over the next three days.

Meanwhile, temperatures were dropping out of the bottom of the thermometer.

The mercury hit an official 9 below zero on Thursday night, rose to a plus nine the following day, then sank on Friday night to hit 20 below early Saturday morning. Saturday's high was -1, making it by far the coldest Dec. 24 ever recorded hereabouts.

It moderated a little bit on Sunday, Christmas Day. The overnight low was only 11 below zero, and the thermometer crept into single-digit plus figures after a weak sun came out.

It was seven below early Monday morning, but managed to make it into the low teens by early afternoon, before dipping again.

Slightly below-zero temperatures were forecast for early yesterday, with a high up toward 20. Then there is supposed to be a two-day period of near normal late-December readings, with some snow, followed by another New Year's weekend that will bring more under-zero readings.

There is a Christmas song which starts out, "I can't remember a worse December," and whoever wrote the lyrics more than 30 years ago proved to be a prophet. In terms of sheer cold, this December of 1983 has been the worst ever since records have been kept.

Last Saturday produced the most problems as high winds drove the wind-chill factor down to record lows in the minus 50's and 60's. Those same winds blew blinding and drifting snow across highways and slowed holiday travel to a crawl and, in some case, a dead stop. I-94 at Jackson was closed by state police for several hours in both directions, and many local roads became impassable before the wind died and they were plowed out.

There were numerous minor accidents but nothing reported of a serious nature by area police agencies. Rescue vehicles were able to reach occupants of cars that were damaged or simply marooned by "freezing up" on the road.

Local service stations reported a brisk business in calls to jump-start vehicles whose engines wouldn't turn over in the cold, and sales of jumper cables and batteries were strong.

Owners found out the hard way whether they had bought winter-tough vehicles and taken care of them right.

Financial Writers See Solid, Steady Growth Throughout New Year

By Babson's Reports Inc.
Wellesley Hills, Mass.

A year ago the American economy was mired in the trough of a recession which had dealt out severe punishment. The impact upon some regions reportedly was on a scale not seen in a half century. Understandably, therefore, the chorus of derision concerning the Reagan Administration's sustained hopeful views on prospects for the economy was multi-decibel, and—save for the pyrotechnics of the stock market—public sentiment seemed devoid of hope. But undaunted by the deep gloom which enveloped the nation, Babson's Forecast indicated that a more hopeful view toward business for 1983 was in order.

The note of encouragement was predicated upon the handful of vital improvements which had developed during 1982. Chief among the clues of an impending healthier economy cited were the radically diminished levels of inflation and interest rates. Also, there were benefits to be reaped from corporate efforts to curtail overhead and operating expenses, improve productivity, wring out burdensome inventories, and rebuild financial strength. The upshot was an economy on sounder ground than in a number of years, presaging better business in 1983 than was generally perceived in the waning days of 1982.

Recovery Exceeded Expectations

While first quarter 1983 showed betterment along the lines the cautiously optimistic Babson forecast had envisioned, the business upturn seemed tentative and offered no hint of the impending surge of economic vitality. During the second 1983 quarter, strength in personal consumption expenditures and home building produced an incredible 9.7% advance in the real GNP. While the pace of the upturn tailed off somewhat thereafter, the economy's performance for the year as a whole clearly outstripped expectations.

Confidence, Credibility, Momentum

In viewing prospects for 1984, Babson's Reports rests its case for an extension of the business upturn in 1984 upon three key considerations: confidence, credibility, and momentum. The strength of the economy throughout 1983 has rejuvenated business and consumer confidence, which is being translated into demand for goods and services, and more expansive—though still wisely guarded—inventory accumulation and capital-expenditure budgets in business circles. Furthermore, there has been a deepening conviction that the economic recovery has staying power. Unlike the state of public sentiment a year ago, and even as recently as mid-1983, fears that the upturn in business is headed for an early demise are largely confined to those still unable to establish employment connections. In short, the economic recovery has now gained unquestioned credibility. Its forward thrust has been building for some time and there is still considerable momentum going into 1984.

1984—Solid, Consistent Business Pace

Following the explosive display of vigor last spring, the tempo of economic activity tempered somewhat in the final two quarters of the year. In the third quarter real GNP advanced at an annual rate of nearly 8%, and our estimate for the final 1983 quarter is on the order of a 5 1/4% gain. While the distinct deceleration is viewed with discomfort in some circles, Babson's feels that the throttling down of the rate of business advance from the lofty 9.7% pace of the second quarter was a good sign. The slower tempo renders the economic upturn sustainable for a longer period of time than might have been the case had the convulsive upward vault last spring been succeeded by equally forceful advances. Such a scenario would have meant an overheated economy with resultant dangerous strains upon the nation's productive facilities, manpower, material resources, and financial structure, a condition disastrous to the vital task of keeping inflation and interest rates tolerable.

Hence, Babson's expects the economy to experience the second phase of its now year-long cyclical expansion in 1984. Our forecast is for economic activity to trend consistently upward throughout the year but, with pent-up consumer and business demand less compelling, the further upswing in business will proceed on a smoother basis, devoid of the out-sized bulge which had occurred in 1983's second quarter. Many hitherto laggard industries will join in, making for a sturdier, broader advance in 1984. Fundamentally, the steadier upward progression in business will be more tenable, albeit less spectacular due to the likelihood that the element of volatility will be diminished.

Look for New Sources of Upthrust

During 1983 home building, automobile production and consumer spending provided much

School Commission Wants Guidelines, Not Mandates

The final report of the Michigan Commission on High Schools on how to upgrade the public school system retains the state's traditional emphasis on statewide guidelines rather than setting mandated standards and programs.

But, the recommendations presented recently to the State Board of Education, which is to use the report plus four others in forming its proposals in January, would cost at least $10 million to implement, state officials reported.

Superintendent of Public Instruction, Phillip Runkel, said the "vast majority of the recommendations will be adopted" by the board and the final proposals adopted will probably cost more than that figure.

He said the board will likely include some items not in the commission report and added he would like reorganization of K-12 districts and improved teacher training given more emphasis.

"If Michigan wants quality education, it will have to pay for it. If we want to abandon our future, we will abandon our schools," Runkel said.

He added he believes the state can accomplish its goals through recommendations rather than mandates because "history has indicated schools will follow when we provide the leadership."

He said, however, the board may impose mandates on class size. For small or poor schools, he said legislation may be required to provide co-operative planning and pooling of resources to meet recommended standards.

Among the more difficult recommendations to be achieved, Runkel said, will be increasing the time in a school year: 185 instructional days rather than 180 and 1,000 hours instead of 900, with financial incentive for schools exceeding those minimums.

The commission noted the state has just one state high school graduation requirement and recommended the board adopt new guidelines which the local board should be urged to adopt over a four-year period.

They include four years of communications skills, two years of mathematics, two years of science, three years of social studies, two years of either foreign language, arts or vocational education/practical arts, one year of physical education, and a half year of computer education.

Runkel said he would like more emphasis on technology education as well, and would like to see schools increase their use of telecommunications.

The commission also said school boards should set competency standards regarding reading and mathematics skills for advancing from one grade to the next and for graduation.

For teachers, the commission recommended strengthened certification standards and requirements by local boards for teachers to participate in professional development programs.

It said teachers should be certified in content areas as a condition of assignment to a class.

Runkel said he does not expect Michigan to join those states which are requiring teachers to pass competency tests, but it should do a better job of assuring quality training for teachers.

The commission urged increases in staff development funds to improve teaching skills in English, science, mathematics and computer technology.

BookCrafters Announces Management Promotions

William G. Nuffer, president of BookCrafters in Chelsea, has announced two management appointments effective Jan. 1.

Phil Knight has been promoted to vice-president, marketing. During the nine years that Knight has been with BookCrafters, he has worked in and managed the customer service area and most recently served as general manager, marketing. He is responsible for much of the progress in the sales and marketing areas of the company.

Carol Kvarnberg has been promoted to corporate administrative and planning executive to reflect her responsibilities as manager of the clerical staff and as co-ordinator and resource person for the strategic planning committee. She has served as a member of the clerical staff, executive secretary and administrative services manager.

BookCrafters, headquartered in Chelsea, employs 340 persons at two manufacturing locations—Chelsea and Fredericksburg, Va. The company offers complete book manufacturing, including printing, binding and related services.

Fund Raising Drive Ongoing At Hospital

"Say 'Yes' to Chelsea Community Hospital" is the theme of a year-end appeal for contributions.

"Insurance and patient fees cover most of the cost of the services which Chelsea Hospital provides, but each year there are many worthy programs and community needs which must go unmet because of budget restrictions," said Art Dils, chairman of the hospital's Board of Trustees.

"Contributions are that essential extra margin which enables Chelsea Community Hospital to provide the services which have come to be so important to us."

"In this season of sharing I urge area residents to say 'Yes' to Chelsea Community Hospital and consider a gift today," he added.

Tax deductible contributions may be sent to: Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Chelsea Community Hospital, 775 S. Main St., Chelsea, Mich. 48118.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers was looking back some and ahead a lot during the session at the country store Saturday night. All of em survived Christmas in great shape, and like Bug Hookum reminded em, they had come out looking and feeling a heap better than they deserve. It was Bug that looked over his shoulder to this time 10 year ago.

That winter was more than one of our discontent, Bug allowed, because it folloed the fall of our fall from grace, in a manner of speaking. That October the OPEC countries tightened their grip around our throats, and by Christmas we all knowed our lives would never be the same. We saw 30 cent a gallon gasoline vanish forever, and from that fall on we have seen everthing we and our Governments do determined by energy. Petroleum in politics, Ed went on, is like hitting in baseball. If you got oil they got to play you, and if you ain't got it they can't play you.

The fellers was full agreed on the place of petroleum today. Ed Doolittle said he has been doing some reading on other ways to run the world, but none comes close yet. He had saw where the U. S. Synthetic Fuels Corp. That was set up three year ago still is trying to figger how to give away $15 billion fer private outfits to use in coming up with alternative energy. One way, Ed said, is the $465 million Peat Methanol Associates is spending on a plant in coastal North Carolina that will turn out 5,000 barrels of methanol daily when it gits going in 1985.

The trouble with these projects, Ed said, is that they use up as much petroleum as they turn out in alternative fuel.

Actual, Clem Webster claimed, we are gitting alcohol production down to where it is better than a break even deal, and he sees by the papers where the Japanese have come up with a engine that runs on steam from salt water and no gasoline at all. In Brazil, Clem went on, cars and big trucks are running fine on nothing but soybean oil.

What all this proves, Clem declared, is that necessity is the mother of invention. We're doing things we wouldn't of tried to do if the Mideast hadn't forced us to, and we learned that even if we got a glut of oil right now they can shut off the tap any time and send us right back to waiting in line at the service station.

Personal, Mister Editor, I worry about what oil based world politics is doing to the way we think in this country. I know we wouldn't be in Lebanon if it weren't fer oil, and I got a feeling we wouldn't of jumped on Grenada so quick. We are gitting to trigger happy fer our own good and the safety of the rest of the globe. I see from reports of Christmas toy sales that our children are feeling the shift. One of the top selling toys this year was GI Joe, and his maker said demand run way ahead of supply. Sales of toy guns has doubled in the last two year, and you got to figger kids that grow up playing war is more apt to make war.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Like icing on the cake, we hope that your New Year is trimmed with love and laughter. Have a happy!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As president of the Chelsea High School Symphony Orchestra, the group which played two of the more offensive pieces at the Dec. 12 Christmas Concert, I feel it is my responsibility to respond to the letter from Pat Stierle in last week's issue of The Chelsea Standard.

Pat Stierle thought it a "shame" that such "dull, weird-sounding selections as 'Modal Festival,' 'Capriol Suite,' and especially 'Variants on a Medieval Tune,' were allowed to be included, what "with all the truly beautiful Christmas music available."

Pat Stierle made no mention of the two pieces from Handel's "Messiah" (including the "Hallelujah Chorus"), the "Christmas Suite," "Christmas Sing Along," and the many other pieces that were DIRECTLY Christmas-related.

It was stated that in Pat's "way of thinking, Christmas is a joyous celebration, a time for happy hearts." The Christmas concert WAS a joyous celebration, using music of all kinds for the festivities. I don't think I know anyone who would want to listen to 2½ straight hours of "Deck the Halls" or "Jingle Bells."

I guess the real reason I'm writing is that with all the rotten things happening in the world (i.e. Lebanon), I can't believe anyone would criticize the selections performed at a school music program. Someone's priorities seem slightly mixed up, and I don't think it's the priorities of the musicians in the Chelsea schools.

ON YOUR FEET

TO JOG OR NOT TO JOG

A few years ago, jogging was considered a fad. Many people who pooh-poohed it, who thought it silly or boring, have since taken it up and are finding that it enriches their lives in a variety of ways.

This is particularly true for people who have been leading sedentary existences. Also, they are the ones who probably should be most cautious. It's important to remember that the entire body should be gradually involved in exercise. But nowhere is quick, increased movement felt as painfully as in the feet.

The feet must be gradually initiated. Tendons and muscles may lack muscle tone or strength, or the tendons may be stiff and tight. Sudden exercise after a long, sedentary period puts a terrific strain on them. Unused muscles will ache and pain if they are put to work to long too soon.

Begin slowly and build up. And to minimize stress and jarring, it would be wise to run on a cinder track, dirt, or grass, rather than on concrete. Most importantly, visit your podiatrist if you experience any foot pain that won't go away.

An Expectant Parent class will be conducted by Mary Westhoff, M.D., pediatrician, and her staff, on Thursday, Jan. 5, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The class will be held at the Chelsea Pediatric Center, Beach Middle school, 445 A. D. Mayer Dr., Chelsea.

Topics to be covered include Preparing for the New Baby, Breast vs. Bottle Feeding, Health and Sick Care, Immunizations, Car Seats, Infant Care, Signs and Symptoms of Illness, Changes in Family Structure, and An Introduction into the Practice of Pediatrics.

Parents six months pregnant to near term are welcome. Refreshments will be served.

The class is free of charge; however, registration is requested, but not necessary. To register, please call Dr. Westhoff's office at 475-9175.

Demonstrations Offered on Use Of Microwave

Cooking with microwaves can be exciting and rewarding, once the techniques are mastered. But in the interim, it can be frustrating.

To help you on your way, the Co-operative Extension Service is offering two demonstrations. Helen Fairman, Washtenaw county extension home economist, will demonstrate the basic concepts of microwave cooking Tuesday, Jan. 10, and Joan Toole, author of two microwave cookbooks and specialist in microwave cooking since 1965, will show how to convert conventional recipes to microwave Jan. 26. Both demonstrations will be offered from 1-3 p.m. and again from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in the Extension's barrier free meeting room at the Washtenaw County Service Center, 4133 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor.

Time will be allowed for questions and answers and taste testing.

To register call 973-9510. Cost: Microwave Basics—$2.00 to be collected at the door. Recipe Conversions—$5.00. Please send check or money order to Co-operative Extension Service, P.O. Box 8645, Ann Arbor 48107.

Merkel Undecided On Second Term As Village President

Chelsea voters will choose a village president on March 12, and incumbent Jack Merkel says he is undecided whether to seek a second two-year term.

"It is an honor and a privilege to serve as village president, and I have appreciated the opportunity," Merkel said. "It has been a challenging, mostly enjoyable two years."

"On the other side of the coin, the job of being village president takes a lot of time away from my business and family, and it doesn't pay except in satisfaction."

"I honestly haven't decided yet whether to run again or not. 'It's going to come down to a question of being able to afford the time. I won't make up my mind for several weeks yet.'"

Deadlines for filing nominating petitions for the offices of village president, three trustee positions on the village council, treasurer, assessor, and two places on the library board is Monday, Feb. 6. Petitions must be signed by at least 15 but no more than 50 registered village voters. Blank petition forms may be secured from the village office, 104 E. Middle St., clerk Evelyn Rosenreiter said, and must be properly filled out and returned by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 6, to make a nomination valid.

The first Congressional attempt to guarantee jobs to those who wanted them was the Full Employment Bill of 1945, which stated that all Americans "have the right to useful, remunerative, regular, full-time employment." However, the measure was defeated, according to a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Sheila Erskine, N. Harcourt Wed in Texas

Ralph and Bonnie Erskine of Mester Rd., Lyndon township, announce the marriage on Nov. 12 of their daughter, Sheila Marie Fuller Erskine, to Norman Lynden Harcourt of Dallas, Tex.

The bridegroom is the son of Norman Harcourt of Wichita, Kan., and Irene Smith of Duncanville, Tex.

Kimberly Long was maid of honor, and James Coonrod served as best man.

Mr. Harcourt is employed as shop foreman at United Metal Fabricators in Dallas.

The couple is presently living in Garland, Tex., and plan to move to Chelsea after Jan. 1.

Council OKs Police Car, Radar Gun

Village Motor Sales submitted the low bid on a new Chelsea police car and will deliver it at a net cost of $8,746.

The village council voted to accept the bid from among three received. The other bidders were Palmer Ford ($9,625) and Faist-Morrow ($10,431).

"The three cars offered are pretty much the same," police chief Robert Aello said in recommending that the Village Motors bid be accepted. "All three bids met our basic specifications."

The car, a Plymouth Gran Fury equipped with a special "police package," is priced at $10,746, minus a $2,000 trade-in allowance.

The council also voted to buy a new radar speed-gun surveillance unit at a net cost of $1,534 to replace the present device which is worn out after nine years of service. The purchase will be made from Kustom Electronics of Shawnee Mission, Kan.

"It is one of the few radar units made that has been accepted by the courts as being reliable for purposes of evidence," Aello said.

Deliveries will be arranged so that both the patrol car and the radar unit will not be billed until after the village's new fiscal year begins on March 1. There is no money in this year's budget to pay for either purchase.

Good Growth Year Predicted

of the upthrust for the economy's recovery. Now that recovery is giving way to expansion, it appears that fresh sources of impetus will provide the leadership for business in 1984. Babson's anticipates that new residential building will remain in a high range, though upward momentum from this sector waned in the later stages of 1983. After mortgage rates moved back upward there was a definite leveling off in home building. Thus 1984 is not likely to experience a fresh upsurge akin to 1983's first half.

Spurred by active demand at the retail level, automobile production was stepped up as 1983 progressed. This provided good upthrust to the economy. Babson's expects new car purchases to hold up well in 1984. Production rates in the year ahead will not show much added acceleration from rates which have prevailed this past fall.

Except for a few soft spots early in the year, retail trade was an important fuel for the climb in business during 1983. This culminated in a very gratifying display of vibrance as the year drew to a close. However, whereas new home building and auto production seem destined to be bolstering influences for the economy in 1984, consumer spending cantinue to generate fresh upward impetus for business over the year ahead. Additional vitality will likely be contributed by business capital spending, defense expenditures, and business inventory accumulation, although all will be of only moderate upward intensity.

Gross National Product
Babson's Reports forecasts that the nation's real gross national product (the value of goods and services produced, in 1972 dollars) will trend consistently upward in 1984, although there may be some tapering off late in the year. The rate of quarterly increases will probably range around 5½%, slightly below the estimated 6.2% average for 1983 due to the more moderate advance. Nevertheless, the steady, sustainable upturn will have a good deal of substance and enable 1984's average quarterly reading of the real GNP to post a 5½% year-to-year increment versus the estimated 3½% average gain estimated for 1983.

Industrial Production
The Federal Reserve Index of Industrial Production is also expected to chalk up good gains in 1984. For this indicator—which measures physical volume (not dollar value) of output of the nation's factories, mines, and utilities—the further upward trek will be pretty consistent as was the case in 1983. Look for industrial production to average about 5% above the past year. This year-to-year increase will only approximate the estimated gain for 1983, but in some respects the achievement may turn out to be more formidable. For example, production in 1983 snapped back from the low point for the recession and while an increasing number of industries did experience more vibrant operations as the year progressed, consumer-oriented lines and suppliers thereto led the rebound. We look for broader participation in 1984's advance as industries which normally lag turns in economic cycles commence to benefit from the expansion phase.

Business Inventories
Doubts concerning the probable vigor and durability of the business recovery were followed by surprise over the outburst of vitality in the second 1983 quarter. Consequently, businessmen were slow to shift their thinking on inventory policy, and stockpiles were worked further downward through midyear before some rebuilding took place in the second half. We forecast that inventory accumulation will be distinct and persistent in 1984. This development will figure prominently in the upward trends of both the gross national product and industrial production. The largely hand-to-mouth buying policies of 1983 will give way to increased emphasis upon forward buying. More comfortable inventory positions will be deemed necessary since productive capacity utilization is approaching the theoretical level of maximum efficiency and there is no sign of abatement in demand. However, memories are still vivid concerning the recent period of inventory liquidation, and renewed accumulation will, doubtless be approached gingerly.

Business Capital Expenditures
Business investment in new plant and equipment did not play much of a role in the recovery phase of economic activity in 1983. This was quite normal since there was a good deal of idle productive capacity available. However, capacity utilization rates over-all have risen past 80%, and the point of theoretical maximum efficiency is no longer far distant. Thus, in recent months there have been increasing reports of planned boosts in capital outlay budgets. This trend should continue, and become more pronounced in 1984. Lending credence to this is the fact that business has been able to strengthen its financial position. Also, in recent years unprofitable and only marginally profitable plants have been either closed or sold. Thus, business is better positioned to step up capital outlays. Still, we look for such projects to be selective and geared primarily toward productivity enhancement rather than large-scale expansions of production capacity. Our forecast is for a 10% hike in 1984 business capital spending over 1983, after two "down" years in such investments.

Building and Construction
A stellar performer during portions of 1982 and 1983, new housing starts will likely be a sustaining influence at best to economic activity in 1984. While demand for housing is still compelling, the level of mortgage rates turned back upward in 1983. Although still well below the unbearable high rates of the late 1970s and early 1980s, and although the availability of mortgage credit is also better than it was then, the "affordability" factor is less of a plus for home buying than it was during much of the past two years. Hence, Babson's forecast is for new private non-farm housing starts to average around 1.7 million in the year ahead, approximating the achievement for 1983.

Employment—Personal Income
During the first half of 1983 there was only a minuscule downward shading in the unemployment rate. This was a point of vocal discontent among the jobless and the Administrations critics. The unemployment rate was, and still is, serious indeed, but those who equated the painstakingly slow improvement with an emaciated economy blithely overlooked the healthy, unmistakable uptrend in non-farm employment totals, month after month. Babson's foresees a continuation of the favorable employment climate. Look for non-farm employment to move higher in 1984 on the strength of a broader roster of industries sharing in the economy's expansion. However, it will be difficult to duplicate the sparkling performance in which substantive and virtually uninterrupted monthly employment gains were racked up in 1983. The encouraging, and surprisingly distinct, reduction in the jobless rate over the second half of 1983 also will be difficult to repeat in 1984. However, some downward shading is likely, and the unemployment rate will average 7½%.

High levels of employment and expected wage hikes should enable personal income to trend higher in 1984. Indeed, Babson's expectation is that the year-to-year gains in personal income will average higher than the achievements of 1983. Moreover, with the final part of the three-stage federal income tax cut for individuals in effect for full 1984—versus only a half year in 1983—the advance in take-home pay will be even more substantive. However, there is some question as to the degree of betterment in real buying power, as inflation is currently expected to be up at least moderately in 1984. Nevertheless, personal income should be a plus for consumer confidence.

Consumer, Government Spending
Although spotty at times early in the year, retail trade was a vital force helping to lift the economy in 1983. The superb Christmas selling season mirrored heightened consumer confidence. While some of the pent-up demand was satiated during the past year's buying, the optimistic personal income-employment scenario we envision for 1984 will be more than equal to the task of boosting retail trade 10% over 1983.

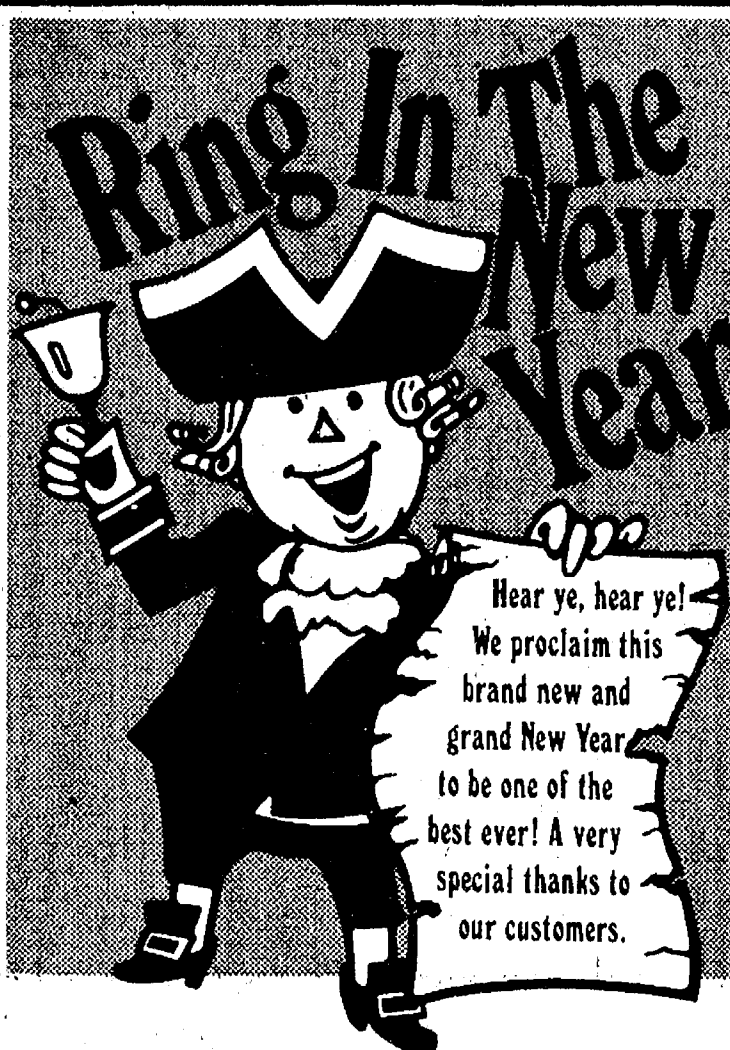

Another source of vitality for the economy in 1984 will be government expenditures. An important aspect will be outlays for defense, which will spur demand for manpower and raw materials. But there will be increased expenditures for a wide range of basic services at the federal level also.

Corporate Profits—Dividends
The strong business recovery produced a snapback in corporate profits in 1983. However, benefits of cost-cutting and productivity-enhancement programs initiated during the recess-sion heightened profitability, enabling the past year to rack up an estimated 15% gain in corporate profits after taxes. We forecast an even more impressive advance in net corporate profits—up as much as 25% in 1984.

Babson's forecast is for more liberal dividend disbursements in 1984. There will be instances of dividend hikes and extras over the year ahead.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

Here are some personal New Year wishes, offered for whatever they may be worth.

I wish you joggers whose personal schedules include running in the streets or along road shoulders during the early morning and late evening hours of winter would invest a few dollars in fluorescent reflective tape and fasten lots of it to your jogging suits.

You who don't display such self-protective materials are running a bigger risk than you may realize. You are hard to see at dawn and dusk, especially if you are wearing a gray sweatsuit which seems to be the norm. (If I were going to run during any time other than broad daylight, I would clothe myself in blaze orange, right down to my shoes.)

I haven't hit any early-morning or late-evening jogger, or even had a near-miss, but I can see the potential for an accident. A couple of times I've picked you up in my car headlights at distances too close for my comfort, and I suspect yours. I want to share the right-of-way with you and give you a wide margin of safety. On some slippery morning I might skid trying to avoid you, and that could mean a calamity. I probably wouldn't be hurt, but you undoubtedly would be, and I would pay in both money and mental anguish. Please light yourselves up. The life you save might very well be your own.

I wish people who do business with The Standard would observe our deadlines and do things on time. Getting out a newspaper is not easy even if everything goes right and schedules are met, and it gets really hairy when the requests for "late" ads and news stories come pouring in.

We try to be accommodating, and we pay for it in terms of some ungodly long and late hours. There occasionally are legitimate reasons for calling or bringing in a late ad or a news story. But when somebody calls me on Tuesday morning, the day we go to press, to tell me about something that happened the previous Wednesday and demands that it be put in the paper, I get a little uptight.

Our deadlines are set to meet a production schedule which requires that the paper be finished and sent to the printer early on Tuesday afternoon so it can be delivered to post offices and newsstands at a decent hour on Tuesday evening. We haven't met that schedule very often in recent weeks, and late ads and news stories that shouldn't have been late are the primary reason why.

I get the feeling that people are taking advantage of us.

We have some excellent reasons for asking that display ads for the following week's edition be submitted by 5 p.m. on Thursday, classified ads by noon on Saturday, news stories by 10 a.m. on Monday, and pictures set up so they can be taken by 5 p.m. on Friday.

If those deadlines are met, we then have some flexibility to handle legitimate late material.

As a veteran of more than 35 years in the news and information business, I can assure you of one thing: the later we receive something, the greater the chance for doing a less than good job in handling it. When you are rushed, you make the kinds of mistakes caused by the pressure of hurrying. That is how most typographical errors and other misinformation get into newspapers. The old saying that haste makes waste applies in spades.

We aren't perfect, and never will be, but we could come a lot closer if people would give us the time to do the job right. Then, if we don't do it right, it is clearly our fault, not yours.

Business Forecast

Farm Outlook

The nation's farm sector is still deeply beset by problems. However, a ray of light did appear in some sectors in 1983. With some easing in the ultra-strong U.S. dollar likely in 1984, slightly better farm exports could develop. This could nudge over-all farm prices somewhat higher and make for further moderate recovery in farm incomes. But many farmers are still in deep financial trouble, and farm surpluses remain burdensome despite 1983's disastrous crop output.

Inflation—Prices

Despite the strong business recovery, inflation remained very tolerable and of the "creeping" variety in 1983. There were only upward shadings early on, but the trend bent more noticeably upward later in the year. However, brisker demand ranging from raw materials to finished goods is bound to spawn a wider array of price markups and boosts in costs over the coming year. Babson's predicts that monthly advances in the Consumer Price Index will average around 5½% in 1984, less commendable than in 1983, but of only moderate intensity.

Still generally adequate supplies of materials and productive capacity will prevent runaway industrial prices in 1984, but quotes will be higher. Although key farm carryovers are still burdensome, the effects of the drought last summer presage hikes of varying degree in agricultural and food prices (particularly livestock and meat).

Interest Rates—Money & Credit

Early 1984 months, and perhaps to midyear, could see some slippage in short-term interest rates of around 1½-2%, but look for a flip back thereafter, overall, not much change in either short- or long-term rates. Babson's expects the Federal Reserve to continue to balance its monetary policy between reasonable business credit needs and keeping the lid on inflationary pressures, a course dictated by prospects of substantial federal budget deficits in coming years.

Foreign Affairs

1983 was a touchy year for the U.S. on the foreign affairs front. While Babson's foresees some modest easing of tensions, the numerous sectors of raw sensitivity abroad render dramatic betterment unlikely. Recently chilled U.S.-Soviet relations are not likely to degenerate into an open break, but commencement of serious talks on nuclear and conventional arms limitation reduction must also be viewed as remote. There will be improvement in foreign trade, but in view of the languid economic recovery abroad, progress in this arena may also be only moderate. The task of materially lifting American exports is exacerbated by the strong dollar, but this factor could at best ease somewhat in 1984.

Stock and Bond Outlook

Despite an advance of more than 250 points on the Dow Jones industrial average during 1983, the stock market was sluggish at times and beset by strong cross-currents. Over much of the year investors worried about the possible effects of looming massive federal deficits. Nevertheless, the stock market did advance into new high ground with plenty of room to spare. The DJIA paraded past the 1200 mark and near year's end had the 1300 level dead in sight. What can the market do for an encore in 1984? Basically, Babson's Reports is still optimistic over prospects for the year ahead. At this point, it is premature to think in terms of an imminent reversal of the uptrend which began in August of 1982. Babson's feels that there is still significant headway to be made over the year ahead. For the record, our forecast is for stock prices to trend higher in 1984 with the Dow Jones industrial average fluctuating between 1150 on the lower end of the year's range and 1450 on the upside. If stronger than currently expected momentum develops, the DJIA could even be thrust into the 1500 area. An important premise for our optimism is the forecast that investor confidence will be heightened by expectations that corporate profits will experience signal betterment quantitatively and qualitatively. A strong reelection bid by President Reagan and reasonably well-confined levels of inflation and interest rates are also central to sustained investor confidence.

Thus, Babson's recommends adhering to an investment policy which is primarily optimistic. Investors can still find good values for growth, capital appreciation, and income to build and augment investment portfolios suitable for individual requirements. The bond market is not expected to experience material change in the year ahead.

Snow Blower Stolen At Thetford Corp.

An Ariens snow blower valued at $700 was reported stolen from the Thetford Corp., 7101 Jackson Rd., last Thursday, sheriff's deputies said.

Sewer Rates Will Increase 10 Percent Beginning on Jan. 1

Rates for sewer service will increase 10 percent effective Jan. 1, the village council decided at its Dec. 20 meeting.

The average home-owner will pay about 50 cents more per month, or $1.50 on the bill which comes out quarterly, trustee Loren Keezer said in recommending that the council approve the increase.

The council vote to adopt the rate hike was unanimous among the five trustees and president Jack Merkel who were present. Trustee Joe Merkel was absent because of illness.

"We face a $5,400 deficit at the end of the fiscal year on Feb. 29 unless we act now," Keezer said in advocating the increase. He is a member of both the ways and means and wastewater treatment committees.

Village administrator Frederick A. Weber projected that the 10 per cent hike "will bring us out very close to even" at the end of the year. The alternative would have been to borrow money from some other village fund source and pay it back later. The water and sewer fund is required to be self-supporting.

Council OKs Payment to Engineers

The village council has approved an additional payment to the Toledo, O., firm of Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout for engineering work on the village sewage treatment system.

Trustee Richard Steele cast a no vote against the proposal and explained:

"I need to know some things before I approve paying these people any more money. It seems like we're spending a lot and not getting much for it. I would like some more information."

Village administrator Frederick A. Weber said the extra payment is part of a change in the contract under which Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout is performing services to the village.

"Things keep changing, and the state keeps requiring us to do new things that weren't expected when we signed the contract. It all costs money."

Other trustees present (Joe Merkel was absent) and president Jack Merkel voted to approve the additional expenditure.

Foster Homes Needed for Neglected Children

Reported cases of child abuse and neglect have increased dramatically in Washtenaw county over the past two years. This has resulted in a corresponding increase in the number of children who must be placed in out-of-home care. The Department of Social Services is in need of more family foster homes to provide care for these children and to work with the agency regarding their return home.

Children who come into care are all ages and come from all racial and ethnic groups. Especially needed are families who are willing to care for children ages 10-17, groups of brothers and sisters, emotionally impaired children, pregnant teens, sexually abused children and black children of all ages.

Foster parents work with the Department as members of a team. They need to be able to provide love, security, and patient understanding for children who are suffering the traumatic effects of being separated from their families. Foster parents arrange for the child's medical and dental care, work with the schools, and plan recreational activities. They also provide transportation for visits with biological families and, when appropriate, work directly with the child's family in the interest of reuniting the child with his or her family.

Three orientation classes are offered to help prepare families for the foster care experience. The next series starts on Jan. 10, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Department of Social Services, 2350 W. Stadium Blvd., Ann Arbor. If you would like to attend or know more about our program, please call Pat Ruby at 994-1694.

Michigan's estimated 1983 defense expenditures represent $119 per capita, considerably below the national average of $539, and fifth among midwest states.

Former Chelseaite Gives Final Performance

James Bartch was a young boy living in Chelsea when the principal of his school volunteered to pay for his singing lessons, giving him the first big break of his long 75 year musical career.

There was only one string attached to the generous offer. "I owed him nothing, but I had an obligation to polite society," Bartch said.

Many decades later, he thinks he finally paid off that debt.

As an observance of Veteran's Day, Bartch, himself a veteran, organized a 1,000-voice choir and presented a patriotic musical program entitled "God and America" in the Augusta Georgia Civic Center.

The program, which was two years in planning, is Bartch's conducting finale. He will be 91 in June.

Bartch moved to Chelsea in 1900 with his mother, Virginia, when she married William Hammond.

say I had a wonderful stepfather, very wonderful school mates and an excellent school system," Bartch said.

He began studying music when he was 15, taking 10 lessons for $10 from Jackson music teacher Gilbert H. Wilson.

That was the beginning. In the interim, he has received several scholarships to study with world renowned music teachers, directed the Reid Memorial Presbyterian church in Augusta, Ga., for 23 years as well as a men's choral group and has given vocal lessons for many years.

Now, with his highly acclaimed Veteran's Day presentation he has presented what he calls his "final" performance.

"I hope my God and America presentation will cancel my obligation in full," he says.

"I could easily write a book on my life in Chelsea, but just let me

550,000 Michiganians Plan To Visit Florida This Winter

Winter travelers planning to escape frigid Michigan to seek refuge in the Florida sunshine will find a wealth of new water parks, elegant hotels and exquisite restaurants, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"More than 550,000 Michiganians are expected to travel to Florida this winter, approximately 4 percent more than a year ago," stated Auto Club Travel Operations Manager James Drury. "Seventy-five percent of those traveling will go by motor vehicle."

"For those who prefer to fly, the trip will be easier because of a $242 million expansion at the Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport, a $200 million expansion at Tampa International Airport and a new $96 million Southwest Florida Regional Airport at Fort Myers.

Among the largest new projects in Florida is the $500 million Grand Cypress Resort adjacent to the Walt Disney World Village in Central Florida. The first phase of the resort, an 18-story, 750-room Hyatt Regency, is expected to open in early February.

Visitors to nearby Epcot Center, Walt Disney's spectacular, $900 million visionary community that opened in 1983, can enjoy the world showcase pavilions, ride through history aboard the Communicore in SpaceShip Earth or board the center's newest addition, a ride-through adventure called Horizons.

In Central Florida, the recent opening of the 870-room Buena Vista Place, the 445-room Kon Tiki Village Resort Hotel and the 220-room Caravel Inn brings the total room count in the Orlando and Kissimmee areas up to 75,000.

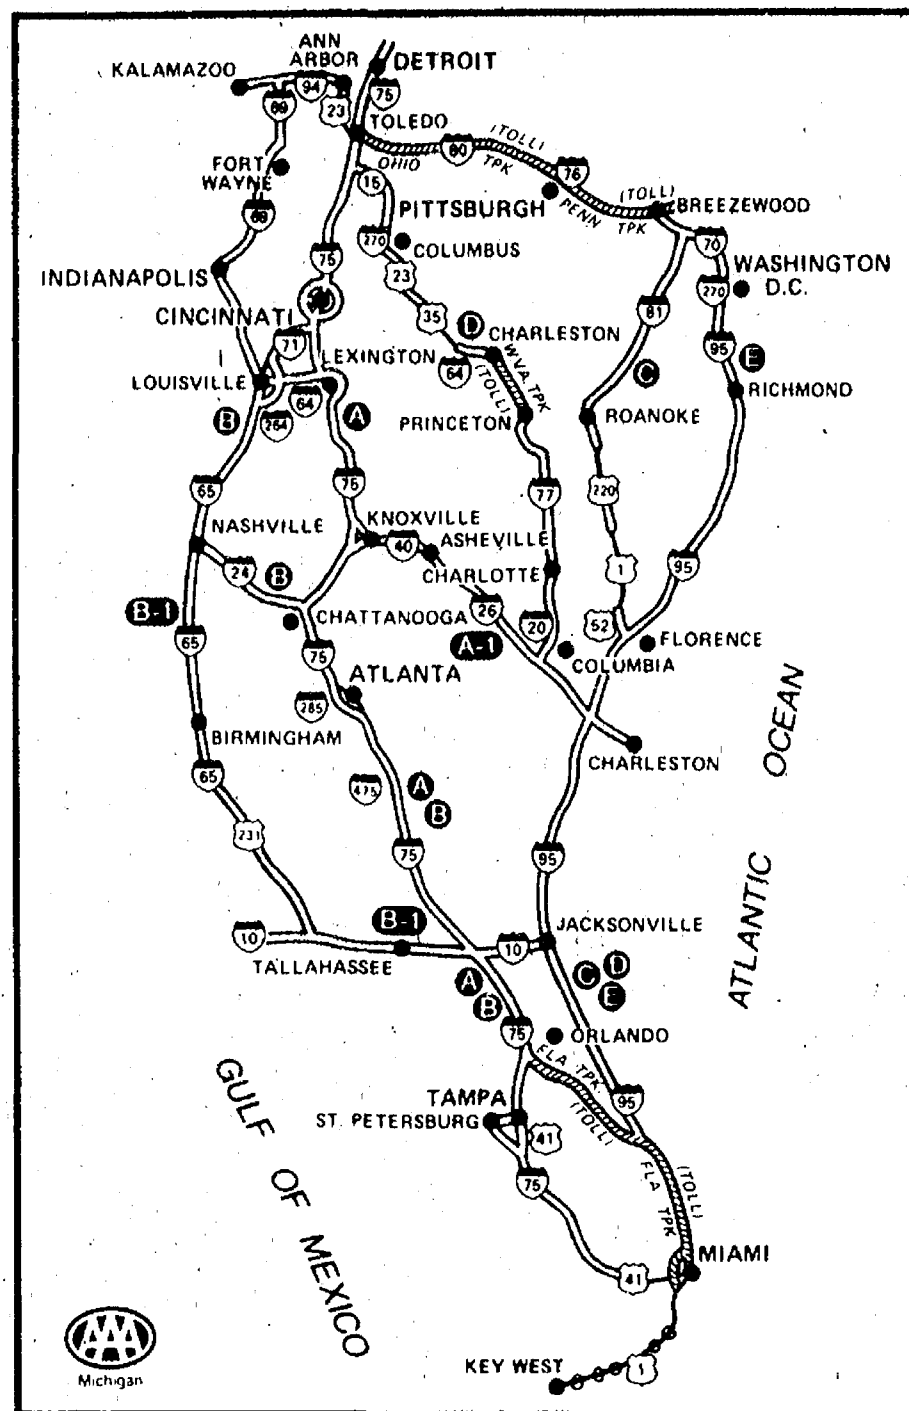

For entertainment, visitors can climb aboard boat cruises now offered along the Dora Canal in Mount Dora or enjoy Kissimmee's Gatorland Zoo's recently opened Jumperoo Show, featuring snapping alligators leaping for food.

In Northeast Florida, visitors will find that preservation efforts have served as a springboard for many new bed and breakfast inns, including Jacksonville Beach's 1924 Casa Marina Hotel and St. Augustine's Case de Solana, a restored 1763 colonial home.

Travelers may tour Jacksonville Beach's restored turn-of-the-century railroad depot, now housing the historical society's museum of local history. They also can walk along the northward-flowing St. Johns River, which has two new riverfront restaurants, the Chart House and Crawdaddy's.

In Southeast Florida, Miami Beach's restoration program includes a $944,000 landscaped promenade along the Miami River,

The "World of Little Horses" opened recently in Pompano Beach with 48 Falabella miniature thoroughbred horses.

West Coast visitors may tour Adventure Island, a satellite of Busch Gardens in Tampa, which has opened a new water slide called the Gulf Screamer. Entertainment of a different kind is offered at the new Ruth Eckero Hall, a $13 million, 72,000-square foot, performing arts center in Clearwater.

New restaurants guaranteed to tempt the palate are Tampa's London Victory Club, Ybor City's Old Spaghetti Warehouse, Palm Harbor's Indian Royal Restaurant and Sarasota's Stickland's Restaurant in the Palmetto Wharf Company complex on the Manatee River.

Northwest Florida travelers may explore Shipwreck Island, a $6.5 million water sports park with wave pools and water slides at Panama City Beach. Travelers also can visit uninhabited beaches of Shell Island across from St. Andrews Bay by taking advantage of the area's two new houseboat rental operations, Create-a-Cruise in Carrabelle and Home Cruiser Boat Rentals in Fort Walton Beach.

"Southeast Michigan drivers should allow at least 2 1/2 days to reach the Florida state line and an extra day if traveling to Miami," Drury pointed out.

The fastest and most direct route listed on the Auto Club's map for Southeast Michigan motorists is along I-75, which covers 1,401 miles—all four-lane highway—with only about 50 miles of semi-mountainous driving in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Gifts, Parties Give Students Happy Holiday

It's been a holiday season full of parties, fun and excitement for students at the St. Louis School For Exceptional Boys.

Many local organizations have planned special events or visited the school to bring gifts or sing carols, said Father Joseph Rinaldo, of the school.

On Dec. 18, 58 students traveled to Jackson where they were treated to lunch at Win Schuler's Restaurant, which is managed by Lou and Theresa Burgett of Chelsea. Santa Claus and a magician were also present at the party and each student received a gift, courtesy of the Knights of Columbus organizations of Milan, Ypsilanti and Whittaker.

Another Christmas party, with dinner and visits from Santa Claus and a magician, was hosted by the Campus Inn in Ann Arbor. Dye room employees of the General Motors Hydro-matic Division came to the school during the Christmas season, bringing candy and toys, he said.

St. Louis students were also invited to Ann Arbor by members of U. of M. fraternities and to Detroit by the Knights of Columbus.

In addition, there were holiday visits from students from Boysville. Cassidy Lake inmates visited the school, bringing Christmas stockings and singing carols. And Marine Corps members from Ann Arbor presented students with individual and group gifts.

"It all was very, very nice," Rinaldo said.

so bad around there that most engines won't start if you have maintained the ignition system and a heavy-duty battery strong enough to turn it over," a representative of one service garage said. "There are a few foreign-made cars that just plain won't run in this kind of weather."

"What we find mostly are run-down batteries that are either old, are low on water or have corroded cable connections," he said. "We find some vehicles that haven't been kept properly tuned, and have fouled spark plugs, dirty distributor points, and ignition coils and condensers that should have been replaced a long time ago. All they need is a tune-up to guarantee starting."

"We make a little money going out on service calls to start cars, but it's the kind of business we would really rather not have. On a cold morning you get so many calls that you can't handle them all without long delays for some people, and the result is a lot of unhappiness."

"We would much rather do some preventive maintenance work so that the emergencies wouldn't happen."

Church Requests Land Be Rezoned

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon) has asked the village to rezone property on Freer Rd. south of the new addition to Oak Grove Cemetery so it can build a church.

The request was made by Thomas Schulte, pastor, whose congregation now holds services in the Rebekah Hall.

Part of the land that the church is looking to buy is presently zoned residential, and therefore could be used as a church site. Another portion is zoned for agriculture, and so is restricted against any type of construction.

retire in January.

Cobb began delivering mail on foot in March 1954, when Chelsea was divided into two routes and two carriers distributed mail to everyone in the town. Today, there are four village carriers who distribute mail on foot and four rural route carriers.

His wife, Nellie, a local real estate agent, estimates that he has delivered mail to every home in the village and surrounding rural area.

Cobb, originally from Dexter, is a World War II veteran. Before becoming a mail carrier he worked at Chelsea Body Shop and Federal Screw Works. It was while he was laid-off from the latter company that he began working for the Post Office.

He was hired by postmaster Carl Mayer and during his tenure has worked under three postmasters. For the last several years he has been a rural route carrier.

The father of seven children, three still live at home, he is also the father of four grandchildren.

Cobb says he regrets leaving his job and will miss his friends along the mail route, but must retire for health reasons.

While he has no specific plans for his retirement, his wife says she plans to keep him occupied with a lot of small around-the-house tasks.

"He's not going to be idle, she says."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO CHELSEA VILLAGE ZONING ORDINANCE

Notice is hereby given that the Chelsea Village Planning Commission will conduct a public hearing as the statute in such case provides for the amendment of the Chelsea Village Zoning Ordinance (Ordinance No. 79); that is, the zoning map which will provide that the area herein-after described will be zoned "RS-1, Single-Family Residential District - Low Density." The area to be affected is described as:

The northerly 240.9 feet, more or less, of the following described premises: Commencing at the North 1/4 Corner of Section 7, T2S-R4E, Village of Chelsea, Washtenaw County, Michigan; thence S 02° 15' 30" E 1344.88 feet along the N and S 1/4 of said Section and the Centerline of Freer Road to the POINT OF BEGINNING; thence N 89° 57' 00" E 360.00 feet; thence S 20° 15' 30" E 300.00 feet; thence S 89° 57' 00" W 360.00 feet to a point on the N and S 1/4 Line of said Section and the Centerline of Freer Road; thence N 02° 15' 30" W 300.00 feet along said N and S Line and said Centerline to the Point of Beginning. Said parcel being a part of the NE 1/4 of Section 7, T2S-R4E, Village of Chelsea, Washtenaw County, Michigan, and containing 2.48 acres of land, more or less. Being subject to the rights of the public over the Easterly 33 feet of Freer Road. Also being subject to easements and restrictions of record, if any.

The aforesaid hearing will be held in the Council Room in the Chelsea Municipal Building on Tuesday, January 10, 1984, at 7:30 o'clock P.M. The application for rezoning as filed by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, is on file in the office of the Village Administrator and may be examined prior to the date of the hearing.

Village Budget Will Be Close to Even, Weber Predicts

"We'll make the budget, but we won't have much of a surplus," administrator Frederick A. Weber told the village council at its Dec. 20 meeting. "We will come out very close to even," Weber said.

That means, among other things, that an excess of $55,000 with which the village government began this fiscal year's operation last March 1 will have to be used up in order to balance the books.

The 1983-84 general fund, budget was $1,016,000, the first time that projected expenditures topped the million-dollar mark.

Another $1.5 million, more or less, will have been spent from restricted accounts, such as the electric, water, sewer and landfill funds, which are supposed to be self-supporting.

The village government began the 1981-82 fiscal year with an in-the-black general fund balance of $182,000. That shrank to $55,000 at the end of the year, and now is expected to go to near-zero. Obviously, revenues are not quite keeping up with expenditures.

Village To Get $4,000 'Gift'

Chelsea will receive an unexpected holiday gift from the state, administrator Frederick A. Weber informed the village council on Dec. 20.

The Department of Natural Resources will reimburse the village for $4,000 spent in preparing preliminary plans for upgrading Chelsea's sewage treatment plant.

The money will come out of the so-called Clean Water Bond Issue approved by Michigan voters in 1968. In allowing the question to go on the ballot, the Legislature set a 6% interest ceiling on the $335 million worth of bonds to be sold. Shortly afterward, interest rates soared out of sight, and the DNR could not sell some of the bonds at the legally required rate.

The Legislature has now agreed to some flexibility in meeting today's money market, and remaining bonds are being sold. Chelsea will get its $4,000 as a result.

22—A Hammond, Ind., truck driver was treated for exposure and superficial bruises and scrapes at Chelsea Community Hospital after being trapped in

One Position On Council Being Voiced

At least one position on the village board of trustees was filled by a new member at the March 12 election. The announcement of the election of Riemenschneider was not run for a new term.

Incumbent Joe Merkel definitely will run for permitting," and Loren Keezer said he would wait and see what he can do up his mind.

"I've enjoyed serving on council and have enjoyed dealing with the problems of the village," Riemenschneider said. "The term was long, because it took me time to learn how things don't want to come another two years will not run."

Merkel, who has served on council for four years, said the only factor that made him seek a health problem was a move in climate.

"Otherwise, I would have stayed on the council," Merkel said, "with four years of experience, I know what can continue to move on."

Keezer said he was undecided at this time, but he was on the council for more than 11 years, and so does not have time to do it.

"Deadline for filing nominating petitions for the March 12 election is Feb. 6."

Like all other village officers, council members are elected on a non-partisan basis.

MARY K. WEBER, a Chelsea school teacher since 1962, will retire from her position at South Elementary school in January. She says she hopes to continue to teach on a substitute basis.

Mary K. Weber To Retire in January

When Mary Kathryn Weber made the decision to retire after 32 years of teaching, she began thinking about various things she might like to do to keep busy.

She decided, since there is nothing she likes better, to teach.

So when Weber leaves South Elementary school in January, all she will really be leaving is her full-time teaching position. She hopes to return often as a substitute.

"It's almost like I'm just cutting back, not retiring," she says. Although it has been her life's work, Weber never planned to be a teacher. Her bachelor's degree from the University of Detroit is in business.

"I never pictured myself as a teacher," she says. "I thought at first that I would try it and see, but I always had my eye on something else. Finally, I realized that teaching is what I really wanted to do."

Taking classes at the University of Detroit and Wayne State University she eventually earned her teaching certificate and taught elementary school children for more than 11 years in northwest Detroit.

A 1944 graduate of Chelsea High school, she decided to return in 1962 to teach. After teaching at North Elementary school for three years, she moved to South Elementary school where she has remained, teaching fourth grade.

Teaching elementary school students has been very fulfilling, she says.

"You really get a lot of appreciation from the students."

Through the years, Weber says she has tried to instill a love of the basics, in particular reading, in her young students.

"I tell them 'you can go anywhere in the world, anywhere you want to go. All you have to do is reach for a book'."

Students are rewarded for their efforts. In the past any student who read nine books over the school year would be taken out for pizza in June. This year since she knew she would be retiring in the middle of the school year, Weber has promised students who read three books a "free day" in which they can occupy themselves any way they wish as long as they don't disturb classmates. The system has been popular, and encourages students to read, Weber says.

It is that kind of teaching dedication which has earned Weber accolades from school administrators.

Chelsea Superintendent Ray Van Meer calls her a "master" teacher. "We will feel her loss. We are very fortunate to have had her."

South Elementary principal Sylvester Wojcicki says Weber has a special talent helping children whom others might label "slow learners."

"She was just exceptional with educationally needy children, she's brought along so many of those kids," he says. "She has a knack with children whom others might write off."

"She has a no nonsense approach to teaching and truly tries to give the full value of her time."

Weber says if she has had a philosophy of teaching throughout the last 32 years it is that she has tried to instill in her students something she was taught in college.

"I tried to teach them to do the best they can do, to challenge themselves, stretch themselves, push beyond what they think they are capable of doing. That's what it's all about."

Clean or replace filters as needed in heating and cooling systems. Close vents in unused rooms and insulate ducts and pipes in unheated spaces. Keep direct sunlight out of living spaces in summer, but let it in during winter, it helps warm the room.

May friends and good feelings be in your forecast for 1984.

SPORTS

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDRE

This is a column I would rather not write, especially at this season of holiday cheer and good will, but honest journalism compels me to.

I'm picking up some bad vibrations from the Chelsea High school varsity basketball team which has the potential to be very good and to contend for both Southeastern Conference and district championship honors. The team has had a couple of close calls but nevertheless went into the Christmas break with a 3-0 record, including two SEC victories, and is in command of its own destiny at this stage. I'm convinced they have the potential to win big.

What I'm hearing is an undercurrent of unhappiness over the selection of Paul Ash as coach. There have been some grumbles among team members, but the biggest part of the problem is coming from parents who ought to know better.

A high school coach in any sport has pressures coming at him from two directions: (1) He or she is expected to produce a winning team, and (2) is also expected to give everybody's son or daughter a chance to play. The two are not compatible.

If you are going to coach a winner in any sport, you had darned well better put your best players out there and keep them there most of the time, spelling them with substitutes only long enough to give the starters a chance to rest and catch their breath, if the game is close.

A basketball coach can put only five players on the floor at a time. If the top five manage to establish a commanding lead, he can afford the luxury of substituting freely and giving the benchwarmers a chance to show what they can do, and thus please the parents of the second-stringers.

That happened in Chelsea's opening game against Napoleon. The first five piled up a 29-point margin at half-time, and Ash let his bench play most of the second half. Result was a four-point margin in favor of Napoleon during the last 16 minutes of the game, which didn't matter. Whether you win by 29, 25 or some other number isn't important, as long as you keep the game under control and don't blow it.

The next two games, against Saline and Dexter, were uncomfortably close. The Bulldogs were kind of lucky to beat Saline in overtime and had their hands full until the last couple of minutes before putting Dexter away. There wasn't any opportunity to clear the bench in either contest.

I'm coming down four-square in favor of Paul Ash. He knows the game of basketball, has played it well, and can teach it. He has introduced some new concepts on both offense and defense which will serve the team well during the rest of the season once the players learn to execute the lessons.

At age 26, Ash is not going to be a "father figure" to his players, some of whom are only eight years younger than he is. He will be more like a "big brother."

What seems to be bringing things to a head is Ash's announced decision to promote freshman Todd Starkey to the varsity squad. The last thing I want to do is put pressure on Starkey by spot-lighting him. He is going to have a tough time at best in making the jump from last year's eighth-grade team to the varsity, with only three JV games under his belt this season as preparation for playing at the top.

However, I agree with Ash's conclusion that his team needs some additional help in the backcourt in order to be solid. It especially needs somebody who can spell Eric Schaffner at point guard. That is not a knock at Schaffner. Nobody can play on the point for a full 32 minutes without running out of gas.

Ash has identified Starkey as the player most likely to help. I'm sure he has looked at every possible candidate. Right or wrong, it is one of those decisions that a coach is responsible to make. Ash will have to live with the results of whatever happens.

I have watched Starkey play for a total of less than 30 minutes of action. He can handle the ball. He can bring it up-court without losing it, and pass accurately. I haven't seen him shoot much, but he seems to have a nice, soft shot from the outside which this year's Bulldogs could use. They are strong inside but would be better balanced with more consistent shooting from the 10-20 foot range, which would help keep opponents honest. The Bulldogs are going to see a lot of collapsing zone defenses until they prove they can shoot over them.

I suggest that everybody wait and see what happens, meanwhile giving full support to a coach and a team that have the ability to accomplish a lot this season.

normally start but can come off the bench and play at either forward or guard. He is not a high scorer, but more than holds his own in the floor game.

Sgt. Harley Rider Scores in Pistol Shoot

Sgt. Harley Rider of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, stationed in Dexter, was recently cited by Gov. James Blanchard as being among the top 20 police pistol marksmen in Michigan.

The award was determined by local, state, regional and national firearms competitions.

Rider, an eight-year member of the sheriff's department, was honored at the Michigan Police Combat Pistol Association's annual awards banquet held in Livonia. Sgt. Rider is also president of the Association.

Sgt. Rider along with his team member, Sgt. Terry Mills, a 12-year veteran of the department, gained a number of additional honors. They received high team at invitational matches in Wyandotte and Bowling Green, O., first master team at the Farmington Hills Invitational and first master team at the Ohio Regional Championship match as well as winning numerous individual awards. They each won several medals at the 1983 NRA National Championship Matches held in Des Moines, Ia., in September.

Accord Reached In Herrst Case

The long-standing dispute between Bernard Herrst and the Village of Chelsea has been settled, village president Jack Merkel announced.

The problem began back in 1969 when the village bought a right-of-way through Herrst's farm property at 780 N. Freer Rd. to construct a sewage lift station. During the process of building the station, Herrst charged, considerable damage was done to his property by village-hired contractors.

The legal argument has been bouncing around in and out of court ever since. Merkel decided last month to take a personal role in settling the case, and negotiated an agreement which has been carried out.

The village agreed to replace 60 rods of fence along the east side of Freer Rd. and to pay Herrst $1,695 for crop damage. In return, Herrst agreed to drop claims for damage to trees which were in the road right-of-way.

"We've put up the fence, paid the $1,695 and received a letter from Mr. Herrst waiving any further claims," Merkel said. "This matter had dragged on far too long, and I'm happy to have it behind us finally."

"We could have gone on fighting the case in court and spent a lot more money in legal fees. It should have been settled a long time ago, and I'm happy that it has been."

Bridgewater Township Man Said To Have Set Fire to Barn, Home

A Bridgewater township man has been arrested by the sheriff's department and charged with arson in a bizarre case which resulted in the burning of a barn and damage to a house at 13332 Bemis Rd.

Free on $50,000 personal bond pending arraignment in district court Jan. 5 is Michael Zambeck who, according to a report filed by sheriff's detective Paul Wade, apparently set fire to the barn and house by shooting bullets into previously placed cans of gasoline.

Zambeck and his wife, Beverly, are estranged, and she is seeking a divorce, according to Wade's report.

Mrs. Zambeck, who is living in Taylor, notified the Manchester fire department on Dec. 14 that her husband had told her he intended to set the house and barn on fire and commit suicide in the blaze.

Firemen went to the scene and saved the house but were unable to get their equipment to the barn because of deep mud. The barn was destroyed. A search was made through both buildings, but no corpse was found.

Wade went to the scene and found in the house a five-gallon gasoline can with two spent .22 caliber rifle bullets inside. He also found evidence that a container of flammable automobile carburetor cleaner had been sprayed on the walls near the gas can.

A person who does "odd jobs" at the Bemis Rd. premises told Wade he had gone into Manchester earlier in the day and bought five gallons of gasoline at Zambeck's request.

A bulletin for Zambeck's apprehension was put out, and he was located by Taylor police and taken into custody. A .22 rifle and 47 rounds of ammunition were found in his car.

Wade sought and was authorized an arson warrant on the basis of the accumulated evidence. He questioned Zambeck at length but did not get a confession.

"It's a strange case," Wade said. "Mr. Zambeck is obviously distraught over the pending divorce. He just kept telling me to 'go ahead and do whatever you have to do' (in getting the warrant). I'm glad that nothing worse happened. I think there might have been a suicide, a homicide or both."

Discovered in the burned barn were the remains of two Arabian horse stallions valued at $3,000 each, Wade said.

"They were valuable horses," Wade noted. "It's too bad they weren't taken out before the fire started in the barn."

Class of 1974 10 Year Reunion Being Planned

An organizational meeting for the 10 year class reunion of the Chelsea High school class of 1974 will be held at Stivers Restaurant, Tuesday, Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

All interested class members are invited. Anyone who would like to help but is unable to attend the meeting may contact Larry Doll at 662-3213, during the day, or at 475-7568 evenings.

The Catholic Youth Organization, which started 50 years ago with a softball league, has hit an all-time high in its athletic program this year with 23,000 participants.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

A few weeks ago I wrote a brief news story reporting that an animal trapped near Munith had been verified as a coyote by someone qualified to make the identification. It was, to the best of my knowledge, the first provable instance of a coyote having been seen or killed in this part of the state. Previously reported "coyotes" have turned out to be domestic dogs, some of which look a lot like coyotes, especially if allowed by their owners to "go wild."

The Munith coyote was a 23-pound young male. It may have been a wanderer, an isolated animal travelling outside its normal range, and I hope that is the case. One of the last things we need around here is an established breeding population of coyotes.

Coyotes are remarkable animals. Unlike their close cousins, timber wolves, they adapt easily to the presence of people and, in fact, take advantage of a "civilized" habitat. Coyotes are predators, and sheep, calves, colts and domestic dogs are high on their list of favored prey. They take whatever is easiest to catch, kill and eat, as all predators do. The way they kill is messy. They tend to start eating before the captive is dead.

Obviously, coyotes don't mix very well with people, and their presence in numbers hereabouts would not be welcomed. The first to suffer probably would be sheep-raisers. Sheep are about as dumb and defenseless as any animal, wild or tame, there is. A couple of coyotes can wipe out a good-sized flock in a few minutes if they go on a slaughtering spree. And, like other wild dogs, coyotes will kill for the fun of it, far beyond their food needs, if given the chance.

Coyotes are native to the western states and have gradually spread eastward. They are fairly common in Michigan's Upper and northern Lower Peninsulas. They have gone on into upper New York, Pennsylvania and the New England states, and are gradually drifting south. They seem able to live and thrive wherever there is sufficient prey, and they aren't fussy about what they eat. They will consume carrion if live prey is scarce.

Coyotes have become nuisance animals inside the Los Angeles metropolitan area, where they have invaded boldly and apparently have lost their inherent fear of people. They come into town looking for domestic pets as prey. Although coyotes are not normally considered dangerous to humans, there are several recorded attacks—and at least a couple of deaths—of young children in the Los Angeles area.

A coyote encountering a domestic dog will either kill it or mate with it, depending on the sexes, sizes and seasons of the animals. The relationship between coyotes and dogs is close enough that inter-breeding can take place. The result of such a mating is a "coydog," a mongrel mutt that takes on the worst characteristics of both parents. The mixed 1-1 breeds tend to be especially savage.

I have never tried to hunt or trap a coyote, but have been told by persons who know something about it that coyotes just may be the most difficult quarry to bring to bag in the continental United States.

A friend who owns an excellent pack of hounds trees a couple of dozen Michigan black bears every fall but feels lucky if his dogs bring two or three coyotes to bay during a winter. "A coyote can run forever," he remarked, "and if he no selective poison that kills around and fight and kill them one by one. If you don't stay close to your hounds during a coyote chase, you may end up not having any dogs."

Catching a coyote is a sign of advanced skill among trappers. They don't get very many, which is why a prime coyote pelt is worth $40-$50 in the fur market even at today's depressed prices. They used to bring $100 or more.

About the only successful way to control coyotes is to put poison into carcasses of dead animals and set the baits out in places that coyotes frequent, taking advantage of their appetite for carrion which seems to be the species' only weak spot. Trouble is, there is no selective poison that kills coyotes only. Dogs and various wildlife species also eat dead things, and may swallow lethal doses of poison intended for coyotes.

A few years ago the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service experimented with "birth control pills" inserted into meat used as bait. The idea was that, if you couldn't kill the beasts, you could at least stop them from reproducing. Female coyotes quickly learned to detect and avoid the drugs, which tells you something about the coyote's urge to stay around and last.

I hope the Munith coyote was a stray and that there aren't any more in the area. We don't need them.

IT'S CRUEL OUT THERE: This coldest late December on record has caused problems not only for people but also for wildlife. Canada geese have the option to migrate south, but some hardy individuals try to tough it out here. This bird probably wished he had chosen the southern option as he rested in a cattail marsh in the sub-zero cold and snow (top picture) and then took off in search of some open water which he wasn't likely to find in the wake of the week-long deep freeze-up.

Seasonal Blood Drive Scheduled

The 10th annual Save-A-Life
Days, a seasonal blood drive held by Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Services to recruit blood donors during periods of low collections that occur during the holidays, will take place on Jan. 2.

"Many normal outlets for blood drives, such as businesses, factories and schools, are closed during the holiday season, often causing shortages and the cancellation of some elective surgeries," Jenell Joiner, associate director of Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Services Donor Resources Development, said.

Although these sources of blood temporarily dry up during the holiday season, the demand for blood does not. In fact, the demand sharply increases during the first part of January as people undergo elective surgeries voluntarily postponed until after the holidays.

The goal of each Save-A-Life Day, according to Joiner, is to recruit about 750 individual blood donors to come into one of the 10 local Red Cross donor centers to donate blood to meet special holiday blood needs.

Prior to every donation, Red Cross nurses take a complete medical history from each donor to make sure that each blood donation is safe for both the donor and the recipient. Since sterile, disposable equipment is used for the collection of blood there is absolutely no risk of developing AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) through the donation process.

Anyone between the ages of 17 and 65 who is in general good health and weighs at least 110 pounds can give blood. Donors who last gave blood during or before the last week in October will once again be eligible to donate during Save-A-Life Days.

Area residents may call the Washtenaw Donor Center at 971-5300 for an appointment to donate blood on Jan. 2 or at another convenient time during the holiday season. The center, located at 2729 Packard Rd., near Carpenter Rd., will be open on Save-A-Life Days from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

1983 CHELSEA HISTORY

Year-End News Summary

tallied at 34,000, a new record. Weather during the five-day event was generally good. Prices paid for champion livestock were generally lower than a year ago. Amusement concessionaires complained that people, in general, were unwilling to spend money.

6—The Chelsea Board of Education joined the Chelsea Education Association in ratifying a new three-year teaching contract which calls for salary increases averaging five percent annually over the three years.

7—Chelsea may lose its district court if an idea gathering support within the Washtenaw Board of Commissioners is carried out. The commissioners are looking to centralize all county courts in the services center on Hogback Rd. between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

7—Speculation that Chelsea might buy the Kolder property at 304 S. Main St. as the site for a new village hall ended with the announcement that the tract had been sold to Palmer Ford.

9—Chelsea dropped its season-opening football game to Novi, 7-0, in a mistake-filled game.

13—The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners approved detaching property at 1220 Old Manchester Rd. from the village of Chelsea on the ground that it had been annexed by mistake 17 years ago.

14—Area farmers will harvest an "average" corn crop this fall, despite lower than normal rain during the growing season, Washtenaw county agriculture agent Bill Ames predicted.

16—Down at half-time, Chelsea's varsity footballers came back to defeat Jackson County Western, 14-7.

19—Robin Raymond resigned as varsity basketball coach at Chelsea High school to accept a similar position at Ann Arbor Pioneer. During his six years at Chelsea, Raymond led his team to two first places and two seconds in the Southeastern Conference.

21—The "Committee To Fence Or Close" Cassidy Lake Technical School has grown to more than 1,000 members; chairman Ronald Olmsted announced.

21—The Federal Bureau of Investigation is investigating charges that Lima township couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Kozminski, held two farmhands in involuntary servitude (slavery).

16—Down at half-time, Chelsea's varsity footballers came back to defeat Jackson County Western, 14-7.

21—The season's first killing frost arrived right on schedule, coincident with the first day of fall.

21—Chelsea United Way set its campaign goal at $59,000, an increase of $13,000 over what was raised a year ago.

21—Staffan Mitchell Funeral Home was recognized as a "Michigan Centennial Business." It has been in continuous operation since 1862.

23—Chelsea's Jeff Daniels is earning rave reviews for performances in the play, "The Golden Age," and the movie, "Terms of Endearment." He is a 1973 graduate of Chelsea High school.

23—Chelsea's offense continued to sputter, and Saline came away with an 18-0 victory over the Bulldogs in another Chelsea "home" football game played at Dexter.

28—Data released by the Michigan Department of Corrections showed that 43 percent of the prisoners housed at Cassidy Lake were guilty of assaultive crimes. Eleven were convicted of homicide.

30—The Bulldog varsity footballers ran up and down the field, everywhere except across the goal line, while losing a 13-7 decision to Dexter. It was the Bulldogs' first gridiron win over Chelsea since 1977.

October . . .

3—Cassidy Lake Technical school superintendent John Staten announced that security measures have been tightened at the facility in response to local concerns about escapes. Meanwhile, the Cassidy Lake Community Liaison Council has submitted a series of recommendations to the Department of Corrections, including a proposal that no more persons convicted of "assaultive" crimes be committed to Cassidy Lake.

3—The Rev. Paul H. Grabowski, retired pastor of St. Paul United Church of Christ, died in Ann Arbor at the age of 86.

5—Attorney John P. Keusch has been recognized by the State Bar of Michigan as a 50-year member of the legal profession. He is a native of Chelsea.

5—Chelsea Athletic Boosters have donated equipment worth $3,700 to the school district. Most of it will be used at refurbished Niehaus Field.

5—The Rev. John McLean was named as the new pastor of Immanuel Bible church.

5—A "pick-up" game of touch football severely damaged the new sod on Niehaus Field and forced postponement of Chelsea High school's homecoming until Oct. 28, the last possible date.

5—Ground-breaking for the $8.6 million expansion program at the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home will be postponed until spring of 1984 because of delays in securing necessary state permits, executive director Elmer J. Benson announced. Construction was supposed to have begun last summer.

5—A national wholesale produce company showed interest in locating a distributing plant in Chelsea's new industrial park, even though the park isn't ready for occupancy.

5—Chelsea varsity gridders finally found the end zone in a 19-7 victory over Lincoln at Willis.

5—The Michigan Department of Corrections rejected all recommendations of the Cassidy Lake Community Liaison Council concerning the type of convicts to be admitted and screening procedures to be used.

8—Joan Broderick of Chelsea was the winner of the car raffled at St. Mary's Catholic Church fall festival, which was described as a success despite miserable weather.

8—Tanya Mattoff is the new president of the Chelsea High school student council.

17—Paul Ash of Milan, who coached the Chelsea freshman basketball team last year, was named varsity coach to replace Robin Raymond.

17—Residents of the Chelsea school district won't be asked to pay summer taxes in 1984, the board of education decided. A new state law gives school districts the option to collect taxes in July, but local opposition to the idea is strong.

19—David Wojcicki, Matt McCallum Rodney Robeson, Russell Harris, Matt Villeneuve, Thom Headrick and Mike Neibauer were elected into Chelsea High school football Hall of Fame.

19—The Chelsea fire department has added a new Jeep-type vehicle, equipped for fighting grass fires, to its equipment list.

21—Playing for the first time on resodded and newly lighted Niehaus Field, Chelsea's varsity gridders rallied after a slow start to defeat Milan, 42-7.

22—Chelsea's varsity golf team climaxed its best season ever with a second-place finish in the Class B state tournament, breaking the school record by 12 strokes. The Bulldogs were co-champions of the Southeastern Conference.

25—The village council has given the green light to development of 28 cluster homes on the so-called Salyer tract east of Wilkinson St., pending approval of the final site plan.

28—Joyce Robards was selected as Chelsea High's 1983 Homecoming Queen. The junior class won the week-long "spirit" competition. The varsity football team lost, 28-17, to a tough visiting team from Mason.

29—The Chelsea girls cross country team qualified for the state meet with a strong second-place finish in the regional tourney and has high hopes of finishing in the "top 10" statewide. The boy harriers failed to make it to the state.

November . . .

1—Three Lima township residents—Mr. and Mrs. Ike Kozminski, and their son, John—were formally charged by the FBI with holding a pair of farmhands in involuntary servitude. They were released on personal bond pending later federal court appearances. The two men said to be held as "slaves" are in the protective custody of the Michigan Department of Social Services.

2—Hi-Land Lake is filling up again following completion of a new dam across the Portage River in the village of Hell. The lake disappeared when the old dam broke in the winter of 1982.

4—Chelsea's varsity football team closed out its season on a sour note, losing to Pinckney, 27-12, despite out-gaining their foes. The Bulldogs were 4-5 for the year.

5—The Chelsea High girls cross country team finished eighth in the state meet to conclude its best season ever. Kim Collins was 36th, Amy Wolfgang 41st and Robin Mock 51st in the state run.

7—Martin Wilson and Ted Hendricks have been added to the Chelsea basketball coaching staff. Wilson will tutor the JV's, Hendricks the freshmen.

9—Doug Otto made the Class B all-state golf team. He had a 39.4 season average in nine-hole match play, shot a 73 in the regional meet and a 75 in the state tournament.

9—A move to revitalize Chelsea's downtown business area is in the works. The Ann Arbor firm of Johnson, Johnson and Roy has been invited to submit a plan which a spokesman said could be prepared for between $3,500 and $4,000. Mark Heydlauff, president of the Downtown Merchants Association, will solicit funds for the project.

9—A wholesale produce distributing company which had expressed interest in locating in Chelsea's new industrial park has decided to go to Saline instead.

9—A case of meningitis has been reported at Chelsea High school.

11—Jay Marshall and Chris Gallas were selected as all-Southeastern Conference football players on both offense and defense, a rare double-honor.

11—A freak snowstorm dumped four inches on Chelsea and vicinity, catching everybody—including the weather bureau which hadn't predicted it—by surprise.

14—In a stiffly worded letter, Ronald Olmsted, chairman of the Committee To Fence Or Close Cassidy Lake Prison, has accused Gov. Blanchard and Perry Johnson, state corrections director, of being "unresponsive" to the concerns of the 1,350-member group.

15—Jerry Picklesimer of 16791 Winters Rd. got to The Standard first with a buck taken on opening day of the firearm deer season. He killed the eight-pointer at 7:20 a.m.

16—William A. Stoffer has been elected president of the Chelsea Community Fair board of directors to fill the unexpired term of Arthur Steinaway, who has moved out of the area.

18—Beth Unterbrink was a unanimous choice on the All-Southeastern Conference girls basketball team. She led the league in steals and was among the top five in points, rebounds and assists.

21—Hatch Stamping Co. of Dexter will move into the former IPSCO plant at 570 Cleveland St., Chelsea, president Arley Fredette announced. The firm employs 33 persons in the manufacture of small precision metal stampings, and expects to grow.

23—Village president Jack Merkel heralded the announcement that Hatch Stamping Co. will move to Chelsea "a turning point in our recent economic history."

23—The village submitted a plan to bring its sanitary landfill up to state standards, by filling and capping the present hole and then digging a new and lining it with a plastic film.

25—Jeff Daniels, who was born and grew up in Chelsea, has received nation-wide acclaim from film critics for his role in the hit movie, "Terms of Endearment."

28—A break in a six-inch water main on Dexter-Chelsea Rd. between McKinley St. and Freer Rd. flooded for several hours while repairs were made. Water service was maintained for all village residents.

30—The Real Ale Co. announced that it will move out of Chelsea, probably to Lansing, by the first of the year.

December . . .

2—The Chelsea boys varsity basketball team opened its season with an easy 70-50 victory over Napoleon.

5—Mr. and Mrs. John Muncer announced the sale of the Village Bakery, 103 W. Middle St., to Charles and Sandy King of Manchester. The Kings also own the Baker's Dozen in Manchester.

6—A three-inch fall of heavy, wet snow closed Chelsea schools and left about 475 homes in the Cavanaugh Lake area without electrical service. A scheduled basketball game between Chelsea and Pinckney was postponed.

7—Chelsea merchants reported business much improved over a year ago and agreed that early Christmas shopping has been brisk.

A $5,300 pole barn will be built at the Chelsea landfill to house vehicles used in the operation, the village council decided.

7—A dramatic drop in escapes from Cassidy Lake Technical School was reported by prison officials, who said there has been only one walk-away since new, tighter security measures were put into effect in mid-September.

9—After being behind and apparently beaten in both regulation play and overtime, the Bulldog basketballers came back to defeat Saline, 57-55, on a last ditch jump shot by Marty Steinhauer.

12—Chelsea's McDonald's has been "traded" by owner Al Fellhauer for two McDonald's franchises in Milan and Dundee. The Chelsea outlet will be operated by the parent McDonald's Corp.

16—Chelsea defeated Dexter, 39-31, in a strange basketball game featured by poor shooting on both sides.

19—It was eight below zero this morning, not a record for the date, but close. The record is 10 below.

20—Village sewer rates have been increased by 10 per cent, effective Jan. 1. The average hike for residential users will be 50 cents a month.

21—Workers at the Chelsea Dana Corp. plant have overwhelmingly ratified a new three-year contract which calls for modest wage hikes and preserves basic benefits but grants some concessions on fringes. The concessions are intended to help the plant remain competitive and keep it in business here.

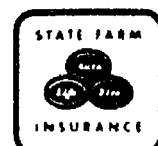

25—Merry Christmas.

Regular Session. December 6, 1983
The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Merkel.
Present: President Merkel and Administrator Weber.
Trustees Present: Keezer, Merkel, Radloff, Satterthwaite and Steele.
Absent: Clerk Rosentreter and Trustee Riemenschneider.
Others Present: Sergeant Lenard McDougall, Chief Aiello, Fire Chief Hankerd, Matt Hankerd, County Commissioner George Merkel, Gregory A. McKenzie, Rose M. McKenzie, Donald Cole, Sharon Roberts and Bill Mullendore.
Motion by Keezer, supported by Radloff, to approve the minutes of November 15, 1983.

County Commissioner George Merkel spoke to the Council regarding the 14th District Court. Mr. Merkel informed the Council that a decision had not been made on the future location of the Court.

A public hearing was held to consider the establishment of an Industrial Development District on 70.06 acres of land owned by the Village of Chelsea on Sibley Road west of the Dana Corporation property. Administrator Weber informed the Council that a notice of the hearing was published in The Chelsea Standard and all units of government which levies ad valorem property taxes on the property were also notified of the hearing. There were no written or oral comments received.

RESOLUTION

ESTABLISHING INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT ON THE APPLICATION OF THE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA

WHEREAS, THE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA has applied under the provisions of Public Act 198 of 1974 for an Industrial Development District;

AND WHEREAS, the Village Council has given written Notice by certified mail to the owners of all real property within the proposed District and has afforded an opportunity for hearing on the establishment of the Industrial Development District, and afforded any other resident or taxpayer of the Village the opportunity to appear and to be heard, as appears from the Village Clerk's Notice and Proof of Service which has been filed herewith;

NOW THEREFORE, the Village Council of the Village of Chelsea hereby makes the following findings and determination:

1. That Village of Chelsea is the owner of the following described real estate:

Beginning at the Northwest corner of Section 12, T2S, R3E, Sylvan Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan; thence S 88 degrees 15'00" E 442.39 feet along the North line of said section and the centerline of Sibley Road; thence S 01 degrees 45'00" W 326.70 feet; thence S 88 degrees 15'00" E 400.00 feet; thence N 01 degrees 45'00" E 26.70 feet; thence S 88 degrees 15'00" E 150.00 feet; thence N 01 degrees 45'00" E 300.00 feet to a point on the North line of said Section and the centerline of Sibley Road; thence S 88 degrees 15'00" E 300.00 feet along said North line and said centerline to a point on the West line of lands owned by Consumers Power Company; thence S 00 degrees 02'00" W 2254.11 feet along said West line; thence S 33 degrees 19'00" W 94.29 feet; thence S 60 degrees 19'30" W 333.96 feet; thence N 71 degrees 40'30" W 261.36 feet; thence S 00 degrees 40'30" E 100.32 feet; thence S 87 degrees 37'20" W 700.92 feet to a point on the West line of said section; thence N 00 degrees 01'20" W 2584.93 feet along West line to the POINT OF BEGINNING; said parcel being a part of the West 1/2 of the Northwest 1/4 of Section 12, T2S, R3E, Village of Chelsea, Washtenaw County, Michigan, and containing 70.06 acres of land, more or less. Being subject to the rights of the public over the Southerly 33 feet of Sibley Road, also being subject to easements and restrictions of record, if any.

2. That it would be beneficial to the applicant and the Village of Chelsea to develop industrial facilities upon said real estate.

3. That said Industrial Development District shall be known as "The Chelsea Industrial Park, Chelsea Village Industrial Development District No. 5."

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED AND IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED that the Village of Chelsea does hereby establish pursuant to Section 4 of Public Act 198 of 1974 an Industrial Development District No. 5 within the real estate immediately described above, and the Clerk is hereby instructed to forward the application and a copy of this Resolution to the State Tax Commission as provided by Section 6 of said Public Act with any Exemption Certificate subsequently approved.

Motion by Satterthwaite, supported by Steele, to adopt the above resolution as read. Roll call: Ayes—Keezer, Merkel, Radloff, Satterthwaite and Steel. Nays—None. Motion carried. Resolution adopted.

The meeting was recessed at 7:40 p.m. for Zoning Board of Appeals meeting.

The meeting was resumed at 8:00 p.m.

A discussion was held with Police Chief Aiello and Sergeant McDougall on the need for a new police patrol car and new radar equipment.

Motion by Merkel, supported by Keezer, to authorize Police Chief Aiello to receive bids for a new 1984 police patrol car. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

President Merkel instructed Police Chief Aiello to obtain prices to purchase or lease radar equipment for the patrol car and for presentation at the next council meeting.

Bids to construct a 28' x 28' x 14' pole barn at the landfill to house the landfill compactor were reviewed. Motion by Radloff, supported by Satterthwaite, to accept the low bid of $5,300.00, including materials, from Robert Stofor and John Beeman to construct a 28' x 28' x 14' pole barn. Roll call: Ayes—Keezer, Merkel, Radloff, Satterthwaite and Steele. Nays—None. Motion carried.

full agreement with allowing the Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel" to park to the property lines as requested by Mr. Cole. Gregory and McKenzie, also residents within the three hundred (300) feet of the above property stated they were not in opposition of granting the variance. There were no oral or written objections presented at the hearing.

RESOLUTION TO GRANT VARIANCE

WHEREAS, Mr. Donald A. Cole, owner of the Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel, has petitioned on Application for Appeal No. 83-06, for a variance from the provisions of Section 5.3, D4a (15.644) of the Zoning Ordinance, to allow parking lot to be constructed up to the west, east, north and south edge of the following described property:

The east 17.87 feet of Lot 2, and the west 19.13 feet of Lot 3, Block 11, Elisha Congdon's Addition to the Village of Chelsea.

and;

WHEREAS, the Zoning Board of Appeals, at their meeting of November 15, 1983, placed said petition for hearing on the agenda for December 6, 1983 at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers of the Municipal Building; and

WHEREAS, notices have been sent in accordance with Section 7.5, E (15.810) of the Zoning Ordinance, and;

WHEREAS, there has been support from several area residents and property owners within three hundred (300) feet of the above described property to allow The Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel to park to all four property lines; and;

WHEREAS, there has not been oral or written comments from any area residents or property owners objecting to the granting of a variance as requested by The Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel, now;

BE IT RESOLVED, that this Zoning Board of Appeals grant unto The Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel a variance from the provisions of Section 5.3, D4a (15.644) of the Zoning Ordinance to allow parking up to the west, east, north and south property line of the above described property.

Motion by Keezer, supported by Satterthwaite, to adopt the above resolution as read. Roll call: Ayes—Keezer, Steele, Merkel, Satterthwaite and Radloff. Nays—None. Motion carried. Resolution adopted.

Q. A dull statistical question can have an important answer.

"I am a statistician, and I just saw two of your reports which, from my point of view, seem more or less designed to mislead than inform. In one case, you have compared one item on a semi-log graph with another on what looks like a stylized grid. That's not good. Then I see you putting charts together to sell Syntex Corp. stock that are all the same size, but one is in hundreds of millions, one is in tens of millions and one is in just dollars. My statistician's mind makes me very suspicious."

A. In investing, it often is more important to look at the point that is trying to be made rather than the way it is being presented. We have a lot of people write who ask the question whether one is really better off over a period of time putting their money in stocks or leaving it in cash items. To help answer that question, we prepared one graph that shows how from a 1940 value of $1, the purchasing power of the dollar dropped to about 14 cents at the beginning of 1983. That, we figure, gives you a pretty good idea of what happens if you keep your money in cash items.

To show what happened to stock prices in the same period of time, we checked the Dow-Jones Industrials. They went from roughly 150 in 1940 to 1,050 plus at the start of 1983. The graphs we showed were used to dramatize those facts and get your attention. These figures suggest very strongly that the individual who had his assets in dollar items from 1940 has lost a lot of purchasing power. The individual who had his money invested in the Dow-Jones Industrials would have seen them rise enough in dollar price to more than equal the dollars lost in purchasing power. Of course, some stocks did less well than these averages and others did better. A study of the records of Investment Clubs for the past 23 years, shows that in most years, this large group of investors did better than the averages.

In the case of the Syntex Corp., we were showing in the graphs how three important figures have grown in the last four years. Sales are up 113%, they come in hundreds of millions; dollar earnings are up 149%, they come in billions; and earnings per share are up 166%, they just come in dollars. Those are important figures in judging the value of an investment, and to us suggest Syntex is well worth buying as long as the price is right.

George H. Cress, president of Ann Arbor Trust, will be president and chief executive officer of Citizens Trust. Board chairman, a new title, will be conferred on Richard L. Boyd, president of The Citizens Bank of Saline.

Citizens Trust will be headquartered at the present Ann Arbor Trust main office in downtown Ann Arbor. Other offices of the new entity will consist of the present Citizens Bank of Saline main office in Saline, together with current CBS offices in Lodi and Augusta townships, and Ann Arbor Trust offices on S. State St., Chelsea, and Brighton. An eighth office will be opened in the Plymouth Park development on the northeast side of Ann Arbor, in the early spring of 1984.

Cress and Boyd indicated that the staffs of both banks will remain essentially in place, and that customers will continue to deal with the same officers and employees.

The combined capital accounts of Citizens Trust will stand at approximately $13,000,000 at year end. Higher lending limits will permit Citizens Trust to make more significant investments in the local area economy, Cress and Boyd pointed out. They added that economies of scale, central staff services and unit reduction of certain expenses of operation should contribute to the performance of Citizens Trust in 1984 and into the future.

The approved plan of consolidation calls for Citizens Bank of Saline stockholders to receive 1.4 shares of stock in Citizens Trust for every share now held. Present Ann Arbor Trust shareholders will retain their shares of the new bank on a one-to-one basis. The combined outstanding shares of Citizens Trust under the merger plan will total 316,336. The indicated annual dividend rate will be $1.80 per share.

Members of the Board of Directors of Citizens Trust, in addition to Cress and Boyd, will include: Gerald Bahnmiller, Bahnmiller Funeral Home; William M. Broucek, executive vice-president, Ann Arbor Trust Co.; Donald E. Butcher, chairman,

Saline Construction Co.; Joseph A. Butcko, president, Crescive Die and Tool, Inc.; L. Thomas Conlin, president, Conlin Travel Bureau, Inc.; Howard J. Cooper, president, Howard Cooper Volkswagen, Inc.; M. S. DeWeese, M.D., Surgeon, Schmidt, DeWeese and Olsen, P.C.; John S. Dobson, partner, Dobson, Griffin and Westerman, P.C.; John M. Botanical Garden Sale

The Friends of the Matthaei Botanical Gardens Monthly Lobby Sale will be held Saturday, Jan. 7 and Sunday Jan. 8, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Gardens, 1800 N. Dixboro Rd., Ann Arbor. Items available will be selections of indoor plants, books on plant care and preservation of herbs and flowers as well as stationery and many related items. Come to the Gardens, tour the Conservatory or walk on the outdoor trails and shop at the Lobby Sale.

There is always a very educational exhibit in the main lobby. For the month of January the exhibit is "Versatile Wood" showing different kinds of uses of wood and different kinds of wood structure.

Visiting hours at the Botanical Gardens are from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. seven days each week. However, because of the holiday season, the building will be closed Jan. 1 and 2, and will be open on the regular schedule starting Jan. 3.

Runners Join To Support Ronald McDonald House

On New Year's Eve, 20 members of the Ann Arbor Track Club will be running to Ann Arbor from Genesee, Jackson and Wayne counties to show their support for Ann Arbor's Ronald McDonald House. Participants in the "Ronald McDonald House New Year's Eve Relay" will converge at 3 p.m. at Liberty Plaza in downtown Ann Arbor for ceremonies with city officials, Ronald McDonald and Ronald McDonald House supporters.

More than 120 combined miles will be completed.

"As a community organization of 2,000 members, we are pleased to show our support for such an important project," comments Don Sleeman, president of the Ann Arbor Track Club. "The Ronald McDonald House will be a great help to families coming to our hospitals."

Ronald McDonald House provides a temporary "home away from home" for families whose children are either hospitalized or receiving treatment for serious illness at nearby hospitals. The Ann Arbor location will be the second Ronald McDonald House to be built in Michigan.

The Ann Arbor Ronald McDonald House will be operated by Arbor House, Inc., a non-profit corporation comprised of area parent, business and community leaders and hospital representatives. In August, the Michigan McDonald Operators Association pledged $350,000 to Arbor House, Inc., for the establishment of the Ann Arbor location.

"Community support for our Ronald McDonald House has been tremendous," says Gretchen Wieting-Sherwood, president of Arbor House, Inc. "The Ann Arbor Track Club's New Year's Eve Relay is one of the wonderful examples of the commitment and interest people are showing for the house. Our Ronald McDonald House will truly be a house that love built."

The relay will begin at 9 a.m. New Year's Eve at McDonald's locations in Fenton and Jackson. They are expected in Chelsea about noon. Runners originating in Detroit will start the relay at Michigan's first Ronald McDonald House located adjacent to Children's Hospital of Michigan at Detroit's Medical Center.

SPECIAL SANTA VISIT: Santa Claus took time out from his hectic pre-Christmas schedule last week to visit with all the children at the Chelsea Community Hospital Children's Center.

Although they're a little young to appreciate his importance, Ashley Harrison, seven-months-old, and Carrie Roberts, three months old, sat on Santa's lap for the first time.

Your Health Options

By Beverly Chethik
Director of Health Education, Washtenaw County Health Dept.

I'm planning to burn wood this year to keep my heat bill down. Recently I heard that woodburning may be bad for my lungs. What do you know about woodburning?

At this time, the DNR supports residential woodburning: they reason, wood is an economical fuel, and it's renewable. Several DNR state field offices are heated with wood, and free permits are available to allow people to gather wood from both state and federal forests.

However, studies done in other states during the last few years indicate that soot that collects after wood is burned can lodge in the respiratory system. The particles may aggravate asthma and cause damage to the lungs. They may also carry chemicals which may be more harmful themselves.

The DNR in Michigan currently is conducting its own study to determine if residential woodburning causes air pollution problems. Since the terrain in Michigan differs from that of the locations where other studies were done, the DNR conducted a door-to-door survey last summer, and will operate a network of monitoring devices from October 1983 until April 1984 in Mio.

In the meantime, if you're living in the country there should be no appreciable air pollution concern. But if you are living in the city, it is recommended that you burn your logs with a "high draft"—keep a good size flame—in order to allow for a more complete combustion.

YOUR HEALTH OPTIONS appears monthly in this paper. If you have a health related question, please write to this paper.

House Call

Reye's Syndrome . . .

When the calendar reads November, our thoughts turn to cold weather, winter sports, and the approaching holidays. It is also the time of year when our health concerns are focused on colds, influenza and, in the case of children, Reye's Syndrome.

I want to devote my column this week to the subject of Reye's because when viral infections are present, as they are now, Reye's can follow.

Reye's Syndrome is an increasingly common disease that attacks young people. While the whole person is affected by it, the disease has as its primary targets the liver and brain. Reye's is a very serious disease. It can be fatal, unless early diagnosis and treatment are had.

First I want to impress upon you the fact the Reye's follows in the wake of the flu, chickenpox, or other viral infections. Therefore, when a child is ill with any of these ailments, parents should be particularly watchful if the youngster during the recovery stage. Symptoms of Reye's usually occur within three to seven days after the beginning of the preceding viral illness.

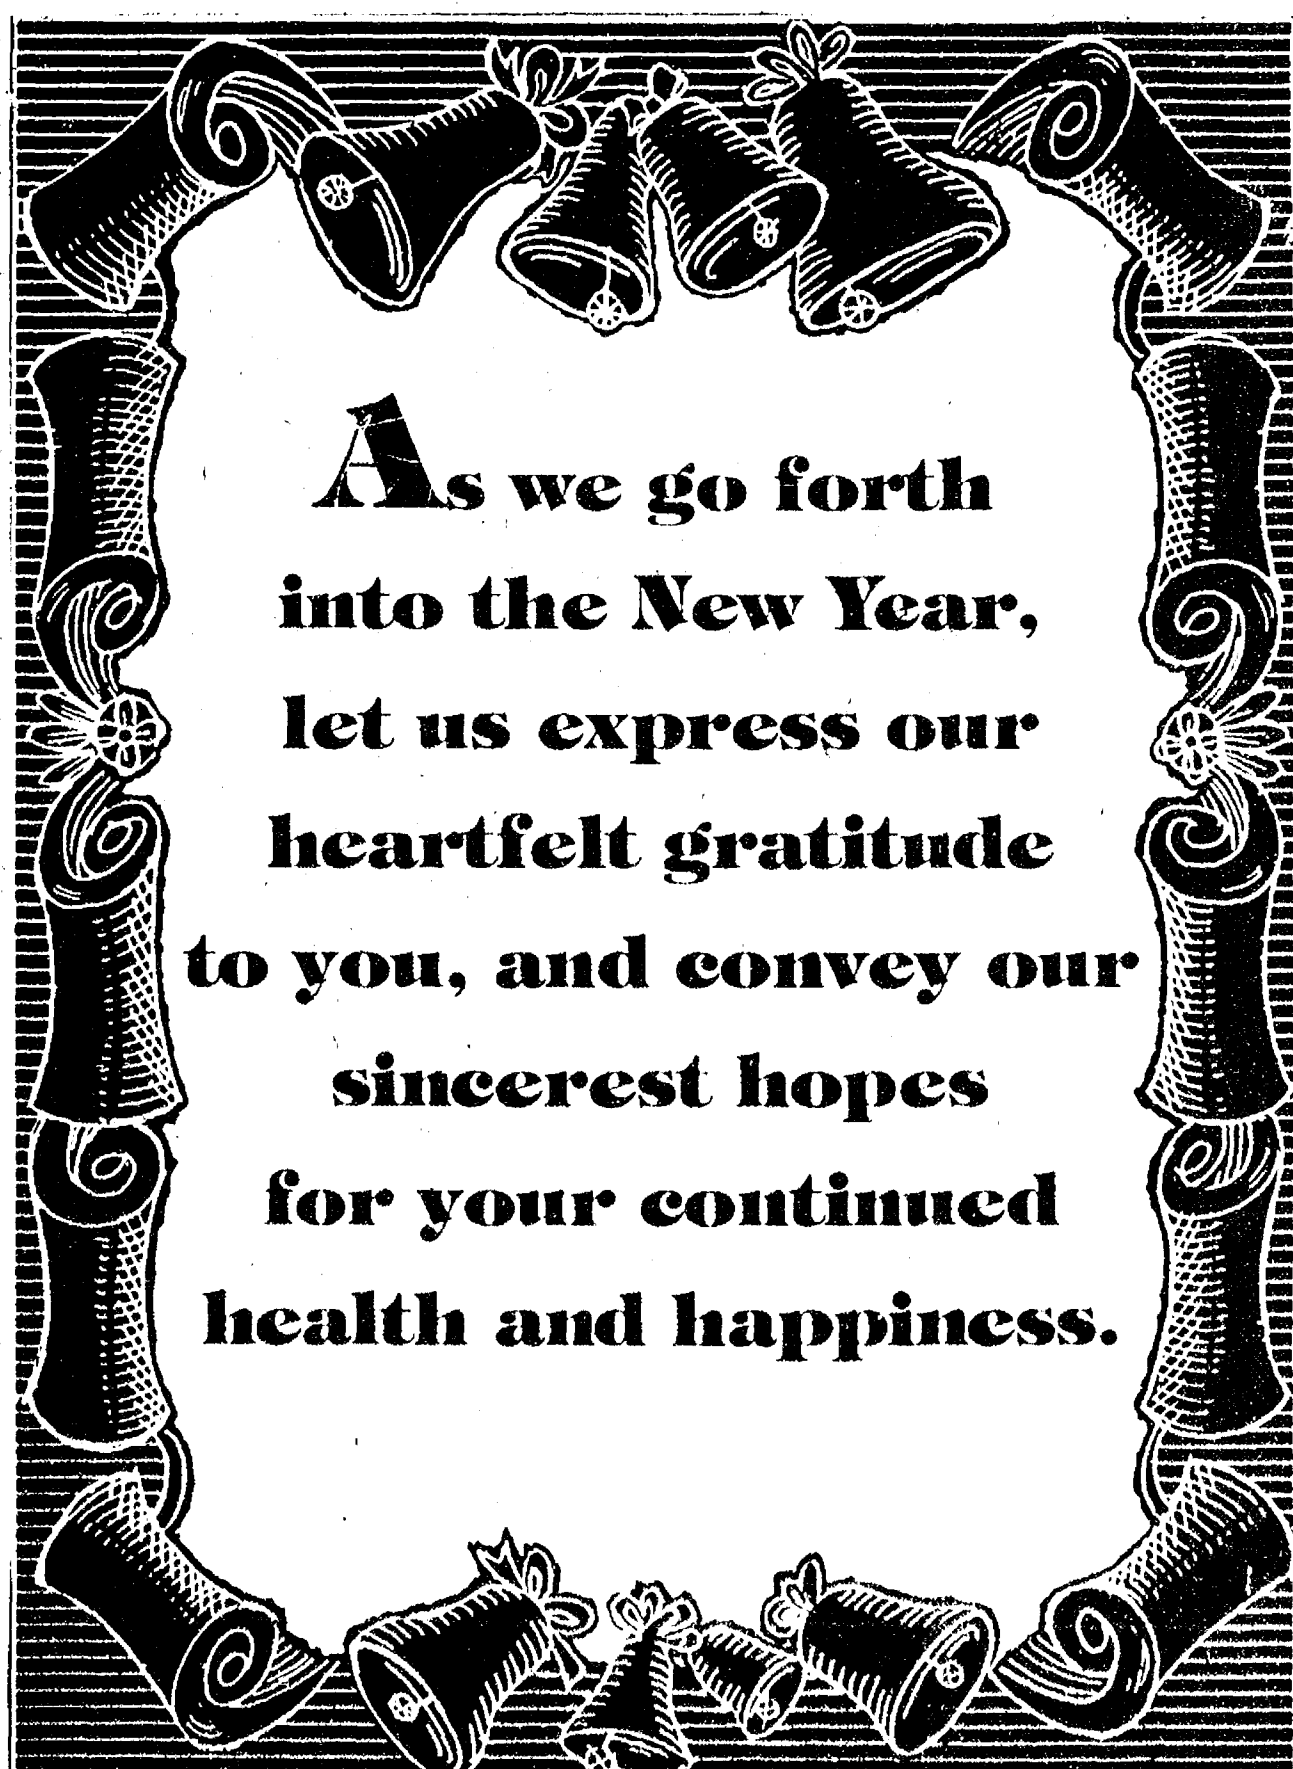

Now about symptoms. The early signs are usually continuous vomiting, listlessness, loss of pep, aggressiveness, confusion, and irrational behavior. The symptoms in infants do not necessarily follow the typical pattern. Vomiting may not be present, but diarrhea may be.

What becomes important if your child shows some of these symptoms is fast action. The child should be taken to a physician immediately. If the family doctor is not available, go to the nearest hospital emergency department. Reye's is life-threatening, remember. This makes early diagnosis and treatment of utmost importance.

One other suggestion. I'd recommend that salicylate, or aspirin-containing medication not be given a child during a flu-like illness or chickenpox. There is reason to suspect an association between the taking of salicylate or aspirin-containing medicines during viral illness and Reye's Syndrome. So why take chances, especially when low-grade fevers can often either be left untreated or treated by sponging the child with lukewarm water.

Let's hope you'll never need to use this information. But in case the need arises, I want you to know how to recognize symptoms and what to do about them.
