Four Below-Zero Readings Recorded During Past Week

It could be a record cold winter if it continues, and the long-range weather forecast suggests that it will.

This past week's four days of below-zero readings—climaxed by Sunday morning's 16 below—brought to 11 the number of days so far this winter that the temperature has dipped into the minus figures.

A slight warming trend set in yesterday with a low early morning reading of 15 above. It was not expected to last more than a day or two as another mass of cold Arctic air moved toward Michigan.

Charles (Bud) Hafner, Chelsea superintendent of public works, said the unusually cold weather has caused relatively few problems for village maintenance workers so far.

"We've had four frozen water meters and one frozen sanitary sewer line, and that's about it," Hafner said. "We really haven't had a lot of snow. It just seems like there has been a lot because there haven't been any thaws to melt what was on the ground, so it has piled up. Most of the time it has been too cold to snow."

"We haven't had any trouble keeping up with plowing and salt-ing needs on village streets, and I don't believe we are over our budget for snow removal. Fortunately, the snow has fallen in small amounts, a few inches at a time."

Hafner expressed concern that, if the extreme cold continues, there could be problems with frozen water and sewer lines along about late February.

"The frost is working deeper into the ground," he explained, "and if it gets down far enough it could affect lines that are normally considered to be safe from freezing."

The biggest problem so far for local residents apparently has been non-starting motor vehicles. "We have been very, very busy," said a representative of Smith's Service on Jackson Rd. which handles emergency calls for the Automobile Club of Michigan. "At times we've been running several hours behind. This weather has been a real test of batteries and ignition systems. Foreign-made cars especially just aren't built to operate in this kind of weather."

Weather forecasters say the cold will continue until upper air patterns change, and there is no early prospect that they will. Subnormal readings are predicted to continue at least through January.

CHIEF JUDGE: Karl Fink, 44, has been named chief judge of 14th District Court. Fink, elected to the bench in 1979, currently presides over courtrooms in Chelsea and at the Washtenaw County Service Center.

K. Fink Elected Chief Judge of 14th District

Judge Karl V. Fink, who presides over courtrooms in Chelsea and at the Washtenaw County Service Center, has been elected chief judge of the 14th District Court.

Fink, 44, was appointed to the two-year term by the four 14th District Court judges. He replaces his father, Robert V. Fink, who was chief judge for approximately six years.

As chief judge he will be primarily responsible for non-courtroom activities, either making administrative decisions or delegating the authority to make decisions, Fink said.

Fink is a resident of Webster township and has five children, ages seven to 17, currently enrolled in Dexter schools. He is a graduate of U. of M. Law School.

Judge Kenneth Bronson was elected chief judge pro-tem. The elder Fink and Thomas F. Shea are the other judges in the 14th district.

Chelsea Milling Never Given Notice of Ban

Chelsea Milling Co. still has not received any official notice from Florida authorities who three weeks ago announced a state ban on two of the firm's products, one of which it doesn't make and never has.

"My guess at this point is that I'm not going to hear from them," president Howard Holmes said. "It's one of those things you can't understand. It's kind of incredible."

Over the New Year's weekend Florida agriculture commissioner Doyle Conner issued a public statement announcing that two Chelsea Milling products—a cornbread stuffing mix and a corn muffin mix—were being prohibited from sale in Florida because of chemical contamination.

The firm does not make cornbread stuffing, and the alleged contaminant has not been used in the local firm's plant for more than 10 years.

"They didn't contact us before they made the announcement, and they haven't since," Holmes said. "I have a feeling they aren't going to. Maybe they are embarrassed. They should be."

Holmes added that he thought

Players Preparing Comedy

"An uproariously funny author... compassionate... filled with wisdom about human nature."

That's the way the Washington Post once reviewed the Neil Simon comedy "The Last of the Red Hot Lovers," Chelsea residents will have the chance to view the highly acclaimed play later this month when it is performed by The Chelsea Area Players.

"The Last of the Red Hot Lovers" focuses on the activities of fumbling Barney Cashman, portrayed by Andy Lindstrom. Cashman wants to join the sexual revolution but is hampered by his wife of 23 years and his innate lack of skill as an adulterer. The play follows Cashman through three unsuccessful seductions. In Act I he meets boisterous Elaine Navazio, portrayed by Sue Williams. Cashman falls miserably with Elaine—her compulsions disagree with the atmosphere of his mother's apartment.

He pursues actress Bobbi Michele, portrayed by Julie Vorus, in Act II of the play. And, once again, he fails.

In Act III, Cashman attempts (again unsuccessfully) to seduce his wife's best friend Jeanette Fisher, portrayed by Mary Jane Tiedgen.

"The Last of the Red Hot Lovers" will be presented at St. Louis School For Exceptional Boys, Friday, Jan. 27, and Saturday, Jan. 28 at 8 p.m. and Sunday Jan. 29 at 1 p.m. There will be a champagne and dessert hour at 7 p.m. preceding the two evening performances.

Probe Continues Into Handling Of Traffic Fines

Village officials remained tight-lipped about the investigation into possible mishandling of traffic fines as this edition of The Standard went to press.

Something more than the information made available so far may or may not have come out at last night's meeting of the village council, which began after the paper's news deadline.

"On the advice of our village attorney (Peter Flintoff) we just plain aren't going to say anything until we receive the report of the state police investigation," village president Jack Merkel said.

"When we get that report and evaluate it, we hope to have some answers. Right now, all we have is a lot of questions, just like you do," Merkel told a reporter. "We will share our knowledge with the public just as soon as we have some solid information in hand."

Merkel admitted that there may be a problem. "Obviously, we wouldn't have raised the issue if we hadn't had some concerns and wanted some questions answered. I honestly am not sure at this point whether there is anything wrong, and I've been in on this matter from the start."

"We went to Pete Flintoff, and he advised that we seek an investigation from the outside. With our approval he contacted the county prosecutor, and he in turn asked the state police to take charge."

"I think that was the right way to go. The state police are highly competent, thoroughly professional and, maybe, most important, completely impartial. They will investigate and tell us what they have found out."

Meanwhile, Merkel added, all village officials, including council members and administrator

Frederick A. Weber, agreed to say nothing to anybody about the substance of the matter.

"There are some important considerations," Merkel said. "We don't want to accuse anybody unfairly, and we don't want to open the village up to possible legal action by making charges that can't be proven."

"Because the investigation involves the police department, which handles the traffic fine money, it seemed appropriate that chief Robert Aeillo take vacation time while it's going on. He has not been suspended. He is on vacation."

"That's all I'm going to say until we have a report from the state police."

Meanwhile, as always happens in a vacuum of information, there were all kinds of rumors and speculations floating around town. None could be verified.

Discipline Sought For Three Guards At Cassidy Lake

Disciplinary action has been recommended against three Cassidy Lake Technical School security personnel in connection with the Jan. 7 escape of an inmate who walked into Chelsea, stole a car and was later arrested at the Wolverine Plaza truck stop.

Deputy superintendent John Andrews said the recommendations had been sent to Perry Johnson, director of the Department of Corrections, in Lansing, and added that there would be no further action or announcements until something is heard back from Lansing.

Elmer Haab Killed By Falling Tree

Elmer W. Haab of 13081 Waters Rd., Freedom township, was killed last Friday afternoon when a tree he was cutting for firewood fell on him.

The 74-year-old farmer was pronounced dead at the scene, a small woodlot on his property, by county deputy medical examiner William P. Purfield. Cause of death was listed as suffocation.

Sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident said Haab was pinned across the chest by a large limb of a tree that apparently twisted as it fell after being sawn through. There were no witnesses.

The body was discovered by Haab's son, Keith, who went to look for his father after the elder Haab failed to return home on schedule.

Sesquicentennial Planning Meeting Set for Tonight

There will be a community meeting held at 8 o'clock tonight, in the Woodland Room at Chelsea Community Hospital to discuss plans and projects for the Chelsea Sesquicentennial celebration to be held this summer (June 30-July 4). All interested persons are urged to attend.

As the celebration will involve the entire community, the committee is eager to hear all ideas on how to make the Sesquicentennial an event to remember.

Persons interested in the Sesquicentennial but unable to attend tonight's meeting are asked to contact Anne Merkel at 476-3272, after 5 p.m., or Marcie Stump at 476-3429.

Satterthwaite Needn't Resign Council Post

Trustee Jerry Satterthwaite, who is so far the only announced candidate for village president, can indeed have his cake and eat it, too. He can run without risk of losing his seat on the village council.

Peter Flintoff, village attorney, said there is nothing in either local ordinances or state election laws to require that Satterthwaite surrender his council seat in order to run for president.

"He can remain on the council until the election and, if he should be defeated, he can serve the one year remaining on his two-year term," Flintoff said.

"If he is elected president, his term on the council will automatically expire the moment he takes the oath of office, and his council seat will be vacant. You can't hold two elective positions at once."

"There are provisions in village law to fill such a vacated council post by appointment, and I presume that is what would happen. In no way is Satterthwaite's position as a trustee open in terms of the upcoming election. It's his until he either resigns or assumes some other village elective office."

Rademacher To Head Chamber of Commerce

Chelsea attorney William Rademacher has been elected president of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce. He succeeds Dudley Holmes, Jr., who served as president since January, 1983.

With a law practice located in Chelsea, Rademacher is a former chairman of the Washtenaw County Board of Health, and is a member of the Board of Directors of the Civic Foundation of Chelsea.

Gus Steger, a Chelsea CPA, was elected treasurer.

Newly elected members of the Board of Directors are Daniel Murphy, president of Chelsea Pharmacy, and William Nuffer, president of BookCrafters. Re-elected directors are Dudley Holmes, Jr., and Sandy Zeeb.

Governor Announces Targeted Business For Aid

Special assistance targeted to auto supplier companies, including four major pilot programs, has been announced by Governor James Blanchard.

The governor said he wants to create a new working partnership between the state and the industry, and in some cases, simply "get out of the industry's way" so it can pursue its own priorities.

Blanchard proposed pilot programs to expand Michigan markets through a "Make It in Michigan" project that includes major companies, large suppliers and economic development agencies and a pilot project to provide a targeted, co-ordinated job training service for auto suppliers adding employment to service new assembly plants.

The proposal would also permit suppliers to tap the proposed Michigan Strategic Fund for investment funds and targeted assistance through the proposed Center for Small Business and Entrepreneurial Development in Jackson.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: Bug Hookum allowed at the country store Saturday night that just about everything that goes on in this old world is based on whose bull is being gored and whose is being gored. When he reads the papers, Bug went on, he recalls the story of one olden king visiting another. The host told his guest about a game he played with his enemies. He said he staked ein flat on their back in the desert and let the buzzards pick him to pieces. The visitor said how much fun that game was depended on who got to play buzzard's bait.

Bug said it seems to him that being buzzard's bait comes with the job of being president. The poor feller can't do or say a thing that some high powered outfit don't pick at him about. Bug said he don't mean the logical opposition, because one political side finding fault with policies of the other is the way the system works to keep both sides on their toes. What he means is what happened recent when President Reagan mentioned that he has cut down on salt as part of his staying fit program. No sooner had his words hit print than the National Salt Institute or some such outfit called for a new kind of salt talks.

It said the president was wrong to say everybody that wants to stay well ought to use less salt. The president didn't say that, but claiming he did give the outfit a chance to sell more salt. It went on to claim that only a few people that are already sick need to worry about gitting sicker from too much salt.

Zeke Grubb picked up on selling at all costs. He noted that cigaret companies got "Pride in Tobacco" caravans going around the country telling everything about their product except that it can lead you to a early grave. Who didn't hear the wailing, Zeke went on, when some congressman was reckless enough to wonder if it's a good idee to let breweries give away their products on campuses of public colleges when we got a push on agin drunk driving and fer raising the drinking age to 21.

Practical speaking, Ed Doolittle said, to much of what a president says is in the ear of the listener. Fer instant, the president's man, Edwin Meese, got jumped on recent fer saying that some people go to soup kitchens because the food is free, not because they can't buy food. Anybody that believes everybody that accepts free food is broke and hungry ain't seen the cars some folks come to git the food in, was Ed's words.

Personal, I ain't near as concerned about salt or tobacco or booze or any of the president's gaps as I am with a recent report about an endangered spice species. You can outlaw smoking and drinking, stick 'hazardous to your health' labels on the coffee cup and salt shaker, but don't take away my black pepper. I see by the papers where poor crops in Brazil and Malaysia has cut supply. I can't face a naked overlight egg, it's got to have a covering of pepper. And a thick, juicy steak is just a chunk of unhealthy red meat without dollops of pepper-corns cranked from a mill.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

ON YOUR FEET

SURGERY FOR FOOT BURSITIS

If you have a bursitis condition in your feet, no one has to tell you how painful it is. Bursitis is an inflammation of the fibrous bands that attach muscle to bone. The affected bursa are small fluid-filled lubricating sacs that lie between the tendons and bone. Whenever this condition occurs in your feet, the pain can be intense until the condition is corrected. This condition often responds well to surgery, and this may be recommended by your podiatrist. If the condition is minor, he may perform foot surgery in his office, or he may prefer using a hospital environment.

Having foot surgery to correct a bursitis condition does not mean that your foot will have to be placed in a cast, however. In most cases the surgically treated foot is bandaged without casting. Within a few days, you will be encouraged to walk and stand to help speed the healing process. Early use of foot and leg muscles can hasten recovery. Casts are usually used only in major operations when they are needed to insure good results.

Hosts Sought For Foreign Students

Have you ever wished to travel to some far-off land but haven't had the opportunity? Here is a chance to learn first-hand about another culture.

Families and single adults are needed to be weekend hosts to international students from the U. of M. English Language Institute.

Church Women United (CWU) of Chelsea and the Ecumenical Campus Center sponsor this event. They will bring the visitors to Chelsea on Friday evening, Jan. 27, and return them on Sunday, Jan. 29.

The foreign visitors are newly arrived students at U. of M. They are enrolled in a concentrated English language program. Most of them already have a college degree and speak English. They usually plan on continuing their schooling in the United States.

CWU has sponsored this program for several years. It has been a broadening experience for the whole family, and especially for young people. Many Chelsea families have been repeat hosts and some keep in contact with their visitors.

If the coming weekend is not convenient, the Ecumenical Campus Center welcomes invitations throughout the year.

If interested, call Arlene Schroen at 475-1036.

The course will be taught by Julie Say, R.D., community nutritionist, and Karen Pyett, R.D., clinical dietitian.

Each registrant will receive a personalized diet, knowledge of behavioral techniques useful in controlling weight, and increased knowledge in nutritional aspects of weight reduction.

A registration fee of $40 is charged to cover costs of the classes. Morning and evening classes will be held at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Your phone service in 1984.

How to start it.

Hello, Michigan Bell?
I'm singin' in the rain,
but I'd rather be talking on my new phone in my new house. How 'bout some service, fast?

How to change it.

Hello,
Michigan Bell?
Sure, I like your service,
but now I need more of it, like another line
and Touch-Tone® service, too.

How to stop it.

Hello,
Michigan Bell?
Can you believe it?
I'm asking you to disconnect me... 'cause I'm moving south next week.
So goodbye, and thanks for everything.

New ways to handle your phone service.

On January 1, 1984, Michigan Bell separated from AT&T. As a result, there are some changes in how you go about starting, transferring, changing or disconnecting your phone service.

Services Michigan Bell provides:

Michigan Bell provides your basic local service, ranging from budget measured service to flat rate service with unlimited local calling. We continue to offer Calling (Credit) Cards and optional calling plans, plus Touch-Tone® service and Custom Calling service, where available. We also offer long distance service within certain geographic areas called LATAs. LATAs stand for "Local Access and Transport Area." In Michigan, there are five LATAs that happen, in most cases, to closely approximate our Area Codes.

Services other companies provide:

Effective January 1, 1984, AT&T Information Systems assumed ownership of the phones that Michigan Bell had been providing for a monthly fee. AT&T will continue to lease phones to you and will offer repair services for them. You also have the option of obtaining telephones from other telephone suppliers.

A number of companies provide long distance service between LATAs. You may wish to contact various companies for an explanation of their offerings.

Ordering new service:

Call a Michigan Bell Service Representative to arrange for new Michigan Bell service. You'll find a number to call listed in the Customer Guide pages in the front of your Michigan Bell Telephone Directory.

In order to use your Michigan Bell service, you need to lease or buy your telephones, as mentioned earlier, from the supplier of your choice.

You also may want to select a long distance carrier. Your basic Michigan Bell service provides access to AT&T long distance service. Or you may contact one of the other companies that offer long distance service.

Transferring service:

Call your Michigan Bell Service Representative to have your service disconnected at your old address and started at your new Michigan Bell location.

Telephone sets that you own may be taken with you to your new address. If you are leasing phones from AT&T, please call AT&T Information Systems for instructions as to the disposition of those phones (1 800 555-8111).

Adding, changing or deleting service:

Call your Michigan Bell Service Representative if you wish to add or delete telephone lines, or if you wish to add or delete other services, such as Touch-Tone service or Custom Calling services, etc. Your Service Representative's phone number is listed on your telephone bill.

If you want additional outlets for extensions, you have these options: Michigan Bell or other companies will install them for a charge, or you may install them yourself, using conversion kits available through other service companies.

Disconnecting service:

To cancel your Michigan Bell service, simply call your Service Representative and ask that it be disconnected. If you are leasing phones from AT&T, you need to call AT&T Information Systems for instructions as to the disposition of those phones.

Michigan Bell intends to keep you informed as other changes take place in your phone company and your phone service. You expect the best... and that's our promise to you. After all...

IT'S AT&T WE'VE SEPARATED FROM...
NOT YOU.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

Ever since I began work at The Standard I have been predicting that there was going to be an accident on the Conrail tracks and that it almost certainly would happen on a Friday because there is an unusual amount of switching and shuttling activity on Fridays.

There was an accident on Jan. 6, resulting in the death of a Chelsea man, and it happened on a Friday afternoon.

I was wrong in predicting the location. I figured it would occur at the N. Main St. crossing here in town. Instead it happened at the Fletcher Rd. crossing east of the village. Both are dangerous but for different reasons.

The problem at Main St. is mostly one of traffic, on both the street and the railroad. It's a busy place, and especially so on Friday afternoon. The crossing is guarded by gates, flashing signals and alarm bells, which is about all you can do to make a grade-level crossing safe.

The gates close down, lights flash and bells ring several times a day for various periods of time. I haven't kept a count, but can hear the bells from where I work in The Standard building. It sometimes seems as if they are sounding constantly, and those times are mostly on Fridays.

Compounding the problem is that the devices which actuate the gates and signals seem to be frequently out of order, causing them to "do their thing" with no train in sight. That sometimes goes on for an hour or more. I suppose it's better to have them working for no reason than not working when an Amtrak passenger train goes roaring through town at 50 miles an hour or more.

What I see happening with frequency that is kind of scary is decisions by drivers to ignore the signals and go around the gates. I've done it myself, even though it's not smart. You just plain get tired of waiting when there is nothing in sight or sound on the tracks, or you see a switch engine apparently standing still far enough away that you figure you can take a chance.

I'm convinced, however, that the situation is an accident just waiting and begging to happen, and that it will sooner or later.

A grade separation is the obvious answer from a safety standpoint, but there are some practical problems with that idea. One is cost, another is the dislocations that constructing an overpass would cause to businesses along the tracks.

Maybe it's something the community just has to live with, but I do suggest that drivers quit making end runs when the gates are down, no matter how exasperating the delay. The life you save could very well be your own.

The Fletcher Rd. crossing is just plain poorly designed and should either be closed, rebuilt, or gated and signalled. The tracks are up on a high bank. It's hard to see anything until you are almost on the tracks. To me, anyway, the signing for north-bound traffic is confusing, and something certainly can be done about that right away.

Going north, you see a series of signs warning that there is a stop ahead, that you are approaching a railroad crossing, that you are at the crossing, and that you have to stop. The stop sign is on the far side of the tracks where Fletcher dead-ends at Dexter-Chelsea Rd.

The sign that catches and fixes your eye is the stop sign. Those bright red octagons stand out and, if you've done much driving, you develop a reflex reaction to them. As soon as you see one, you get ready to stop, but not until you reach the sign.

My suggestion for what it's worth is that a second stop sign be installed, this one on the south (near) side of the tracks. It would be a nuisance in a way because it would require two stops a few feet apart. That's a small price to pay for the possibility of saving somebody's life by causing him to stop, look and listen.

Closing the crossing would inconvenience a lot of people who use Fletcher Rd. as a way of getting to and from Dexter-Chelsea Rd. Rebuilding it to eliminate the high bank and improve visibility doesn't look like all that difficult or costly a job to me, but I'm not an engineer and don't really know what I'm talking about.

The crossing probably doesn't meet the state's traffic-volume criteria for gates and signals, but those "rules" have been bent many times to take care of unusually dangerous situations in other places. To me, the Fletcher Rd. crossing qualifies as an unusually dangerous situation.

The hope has to be that something will be done, and the problem not simply allowed to sit there waiting for another tragedy to occur.

Annual Cookie Sale Starts Friday

They show up on Chelsea doorsteps every year: at about this time, familiar figures in their smartly tailored uniforms.

Their aim? To tempt you with Thin Mints, Shortbreads, Peanut Butter Patties, P.B.'s and Caramel deLites.

They are the Girl Scouts and their annual money-making event, the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council cookie sale, begins Friday.

Roberta Hinz and Lillie Worden, co-chairpersons of the local cookie sale, said that Chelsea Girl Scout and Brownie troop members will take orders through Friday, Feb. 10.

Scouts will be selling two new cookies this year, Almond Fudge Creme, an almond cookie filled with fudge frosting, and Pecan Chocolate Chip, a cookie made with chocolate chips and pecan morsels.

Each box of cookies sells for $1.75 and nets $1 profit for the Girl Scouts. Proceeds from the local sale will enable each troop to maintain programs, take trips and provide community service, said Hinz.

"The annual cookie sale has become a tradition among Girl Scouts. This tradition is looked forward to and supported by community residents as well as Girl Scouts," said Hinz. "Last year Chelsea Scouts sold 13,200 boxes of cookies, thus earning $3,800 for troop activities."

The goal for the Huron Valley Council cookie sale this year is 700,000 boxes of cookies. If the goal is attained $175,000 would go to individual troops and $50,000 would be used by the council to support the Girl Scout groups of Huron Valley, said Barbara Radabaugh, director of fund development for the council.

Girl Scout cookies are made in Battle Creek and Richmond, Va. Cookies are made with 100 percent pure vegetable oil and do not contain artificial preservatives. All cookies are made to meet kosher requirements.

In Chelsea the following people are in charge of the cookie sale for individual troops: Margie Ceccacci, Brownie troop 34; Jan Raymond, B 145; Lillie Worden, B 247; Laura Kett, B 676; Donna Clark, Junior troop 53; Elizabeth Hammer, J 82; Rebecca and Sharon Shures, J 689; Judy Osinski, J 719; Tamla Harris, Stephanie Harms and Susan Harris, Cadette troop 98.

BLOOD BANK: The Chelsea High school Health Occupations class conducted a blood bank Tuesday, Jan. 10 in conjunction with the Red Cross. Class instructor Mary Ellen Miller, left, said 66 units of blood were collected from students, faculty and maintenance and kitchen staff personnel. Miller termed the drive "a great success."

Computer Drop-In Program Will Resume

Computer Drop-In, sponsored jointly by the Association for Creative and Academically Talented Students (ACATS) and the Chelsea Community Education program will resume Friday. Drop-In is held at Chelsea High school in the computer room on Friday evenings from 6:30 - 9 p.m. It is open to all elementary and middle school age children.

There is a charge of 25 cents per half-hour of computer time. Children with any level of computer experience are welcome. Those who are not familiar with computers will be given instruction on loading and playing games. Those who have computer knowledge can use the time for games or programming.

Drop-In is supervised by adults, so parents may leave their child and pick him or her up later in the evening. Because there may be a half-hour slot when all computers are filled and a child has to wait for the next slot, it is advisable for the children to bring a book or game to occupy their time while waiting.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

There seems to be some confusion over whether or not Michigan will begin to tax a portion of social security benefits. The answer is no, benefits will not be taxed in Michigan.

As part of the 1983 Federal Social Security Refinancing Program, individuals with incomes over $25,000 and married couples with incomes over $32,000 will have to include up to one-half of their social security benefits in their federal adjusted income, starting in 1984. Since Michigan's income tax is based on federal adjusted gross income, Michigan taxpayers will be required to report on their Michigan income tax form their federal adjusted gross income, including any social security benefits taxed by the federal government. But section 12 of the Michigan Income Tax Act MCL 206.12, lets taxpayers base their Michigan tax return on either the current Internal Revenue Code or the code in effect on Nov. 15, 1982. The 1982 Internal Revenue Code taxed no social security benefits. Therefore, Michigan's 1984 income tax forms will provide for a special deduction for any social security benefits included in adjusted gross income.

Social Security benefits will not be taxed in Michigan unless current law is changed. I do not expect that to happen, as there is currently proposed legislation to provide a specific income tax deduction for social security benefits.

If you have any questions on this or any other matter do not hesitate to contact my office.

Florida study of back injuries

A few years back, an important study of Workmen's Compensation records was made in the state of Florida. Nearly 20,000 cases of sprains and strains of the neck, spinal column vertebrae and external back were examined and the results analyzed. Basically, the study compared what happened when similar injuries were handled by medical doctors and chiropractors. In this comparison, the average worker lost 9 work days when treated by an M.D.; when treated by a chiropractor the worker lost only 3 days of work. The cost was also 40% less for the chiropractor.

The study then compared the efficiency of chiropractic against the treatments of specialists, including orthopedists, neurologists, and some psychiatrists. The results were even more startling. In the comparison of work days lost, the average for the chiropractors was 2 1/2 versus an average 30 days for the specialists. And the specialists cost five times as much.

DR. W. ATKINSON
DIRECTOR

It must be remembered that the state of Florida had no preconceived notions. In good common sense fashion, they simply wanted to know which health care method worked best and which cost the least.

For back and neck strains and sprains, chiropractic won easily in both categories. "Copyright 1975 by International Chiropractors Association."

Junior High Wrestlers Win First Two Meets

The Beach Middle school wrestling team recorded two wins in its first two starts last week, downing Saline, 56-26, and then defeating Dexter, 50-32.

"We are improving steadily, but we are no world-beaters by any means," said coach Pat Clarke. "When you have 56 wrestlers to teach, it takes quite a bit of time to show them just the basics. I'm very pleased with the boys' attitude so far, and I hope to give each one an opportunity to wrestle."

The junior high grapplers will travel to Dundee today and will be at the Hillsdale tournament Saturday.

Results of the Saline meet: 66 pounds—Eric Worthing won by fall.

State's Vehicle Population Getting Older

Michigan's passenger vehicle population is nearly one year older—on average—than it was in 1980. This according to a survey recently completed by the Department of State.

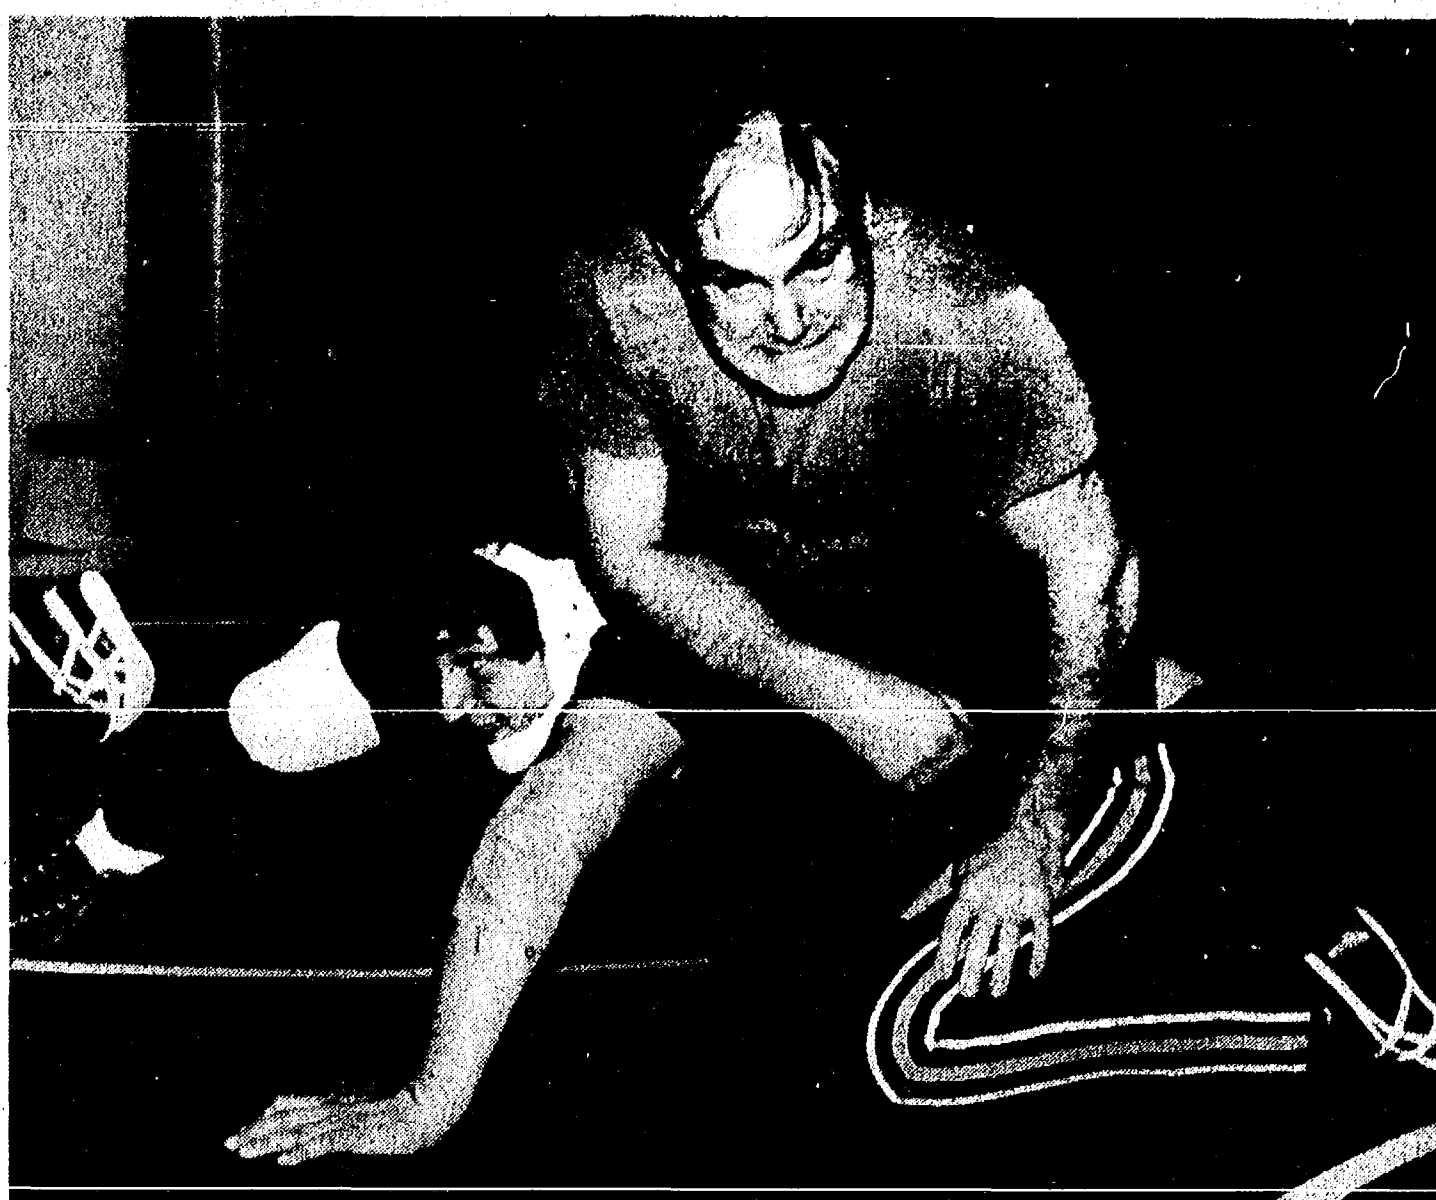

According to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, in 1980 the average passenger vehicle was 5.9 years old. As of October 1983, the average age of Michigan's passenger vehicles had grown to 6.7 years.

This same survey reported that the mix of body styles in the passenger fleet had changed over this period. In 1980 two-door models made up almost 59 percent of the passenger vehicles registered. In 1983 this dropped to 54 percent. Four-door passenger vehicles now make up 32 percent of the vehicle mix as compared with 27 percent in 1980.

Of the 4.7 million passenger vehicles registered this year, almost 500,000 are 1978 model cars—the largest number for any single model year.

A county-by-county breakdown shows that Wayne county with 1.1 million registered passenger vehicles has almost 24 percent of the passenger vehicles registered—the largest share of any county. Keweenaw county with 959 passenger vehicles registered has the fewest number.

Multiple sclerosis is often confused with muscular dystrophy. Actually the two diseases are very different. Multiple sclerosis, or MS, usually strikes those from 15 to 50. Most often it strikes those who are in their prime of life—their 20's or 30's. It is a disease of the central nervous system. Muscular dystrophy is most common among children and is a disease of the muscles.

GOTCHA! Mike Klapperich, coach of the Dexter High school wrestling team, says Judge Karl Fink has been extremely helpful in working with the heavyweight grapplers. The judge shows his wrestling prowess here with heavyweight Tim Dunavin.

Judge Fink Relaxes on Mat With Dexter High Wrestlers

After long days wrestling with legal problems Karl Fink likes to shed his judicial robes in favor of sweat clothes and knee pads to get down to some very serious grappling—on mats, that is.

For the last three years Fink, 44, has made a point of working out regularly with the Dexter High school wrestling team.

Practicing with the Dreadnaughts is not only fun, it's good exercise and a great way to release tension, he says.

"Like everyone else I have difficulty doing the amount of exercise I would like to," Fink said. "But I enjoy this."

FROSTY FILIGREE: Some freak of weather produced a lot of moisture in the air on Monday morning, even though the temperature was an unofficial five degrees below zero, which usually means dry air. The frost settled on every twig of every tree and created a pattern that no artist could possibly paint. Photographer Steve Worley captured this piece of nature's handiwork on film.

MUCC Will Hold District Meeting Here

What can be done to reduce stream pollution in our Huron River watershed?

How can we achieve better control of stray dogs that kill sheep and chase deer to fatal exhaustion?

What else can we do to discourage illegal taking of game by poachers?

How can we prevent state politicians from diverting funds to non-conservation uses that have been earmarked by law for the Department of Natural Resources?

These are some of the questions that will be addressed by area conservationists in Chelsea on Tuesday, Jan. 24. The conferees will gather at 8 p.m. at the Chelsea Rod & Gun Club for a bi-monthly meeting of the Second District of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC). The second district includes Washtenaw, Lenawee, Monroe and southern Wayne counties. Owen Burns, state president of MUCC, will lead the meeting, assisted by Craig Wales, area conservation officer, and Jeff Green, district biologist of the DNR. Dave Rank, president of the Chelsea club, will welcome the participants.

Chelsea Rod & Gun Club, with headquarters at 7103 Lingane Rd., is one of the oldest and most active conservation organizations in Michigan. Through its membership in the MUCC, it is affiliated with the National Wildlife Association.

Local Youths May Join State-Wide Arts Program

Washtenaw county young people yearning for an opportunity to develop their skills in dance, drama, or vocal or instrumental music are eligible to participate in the 1984 Performing Arts Program, says Charleen Berels, County Extension 4-H Youth Agent.

Members of the 4-H Performing Arts Program then have the opportunity to join the 1984 Michigan 4-H Performing Arts Troupe.

"The arts program is an excellent opportunity for young people to acquire self-confidence while learning valuable artistic skills," explains Berels. "The Michigan 4-H Performing Arts Troupe gives members a chance to travel and meet new people across the state."

A series of in-depth arts workshops will be held on weekends in January through March for all interested young people. Workshop participants must be at least 13 years of age. Berels points out that participants aren't required to have an extension background in the performing arts to attend the workshops.

Young people interested in troupe membership must be at least 15 years old by Feb. 1, 1984, and no more than 18 years old or in their last year of high school.

Over the past four years, the Michigan 4-H Performing Arts Troupe has entertained more than 100,000 people through the Midwest. Major appearances include performances at the Pontiac Silverdome, the Upper Peninsula and Michigan State fairs, Boblo Island and the Grand Rapids Arts Festival.

The troupe has also performed with a variety of professional acts, including the new Christy Minstrels, the Sunshine Express and the internationally acclaimed Arete Mime Troupe.

According to Berels, musicians are especially needed for the coming troupe season, but any young person interested in honing his/her performing skills is invited to apply for membership. Interested youths don't have to be current 4-H members, but they must agree to enroll in a 4-H arts project in Washtenaw county upon acceptance as troupe members.

Two weekend rehearsal camps will be held for members of the Michigan 4-H Performing Arts Troupe, as well as residency and preview programs at MSU's Wharton Center for Performing Arts, the home of the Michigan 4-H Performing Arts Troupe.

There are no membership or application fees for the 4-H Performing Arts Program. Participants are responsible for their transportation to and from the workshops, camps, rehearsals,

Willis Moore To Present China Film Saturday in Kiwanis Travel Series

Willis Moore of Hawaii will present a program on "Images of China Today" Saturday night in the Chelsea High school auditorium as the next event in the travel and adventure film series sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

The presentation will depict the people and culture of present-day mainland China, with emphasis on the "human" side of life in the world's largest and most heavily populated nation.

A native of New York City, Moore received his education in Oklahoma and went to Hawaii to live permanently in 1982. He was a member of the faculty of the University of Hawaii history department and later taught secondary school for three years.

WILLIS MOORE
In 1966 Moore began a 10-year association with the Bishop Museum in Honolulu. He was lecturer and science education coordinator for the planetarium and later moved into the education co-ordinator job for Museum. In this capacity he lectured, taught and began making films on Hawaiian and Pacific culture and anthropology.

In 1969 he traveled west for the first of many trips into other parts of the Pacific, first to Guam and Micronesia, later to Samoa, Fiji, Papua New Guinea, Australia and Okinawa.

In 1976 Moore assumed the responsibility as president of the board and executive secretary for the Hawaii Geographic Society program of film programming and film-making. Additionally, he runs his own company specializing in various aspects of Pacific cultural documentation.

Ron Walters will emcee Saturday night's program, and John Morris will serve as host.

Debate Team Having Very Persuasive Season

There's no use arguing with members of the Chelsea High school debate team—their persuasive powers are at a peak. The novice debaters finished their season with high state rankings, while the varsity team moves on to state competition in early February.

"I'm very proud of their finishing ranking," debate teacher Bill Coelius said of the novice team.

The group finished their season ranked 20th over-all in competition with students from all Michigan high schools. Members of the novice team are: Sue Over-dorf, Laura Goderis, Michelle Smith, Gayla Bauer, Bill Moller, and Dave Mayer.

The varsity team finished the invitational season with a 7-1 record at the Marshall Invitational Tournament recently and qualified for a fifth place team trophy.

On Wednesday, Jan. 11, the varsity debaters qualified for the state tournament by finishing 5-1 at the District Tournament held at Birmingham Brother Rice High school. Chelsea defeated Frankenmuth, Marion, Novi, Milan and Birmingham Brother Rice, and lost only to Cranbrook Academy during the tournament.

"We're really excited about the results (of the season) so far," Coelius said.

The team will next compete Feb. 2 through Feb. 4 at the state tournament at U. of M.

Members of the varsity debate team are, Affirmatives, Josh Smith, Laura Koepele and Gretchen Vogel; Negatives, Carrie Parkins and Allen Cole.

Traveling coach for the debate team is Brian Kruger.

Board Approves Wage Increase for Secretaries

The Chelsea Board of Education Monday approved a three-year salary schedule for the 15 secretaries and four aides in the district.

The schedule was previously approved by the board's personnel committee comprised of board members Anne Feeney and Art Dils. It provides a three percent across-the-board wage increase during the current school year.

Secretaries classified in the first nine steps of the ten-step schedule will receive an additional three percent increase during the 1984-85 school year. Those in the tenth step will receive a six percent increase.

All secretaries will receive a three percent increase during the 1985-86 year with 10th-step secretaries eligible for a five percent wage increase based on merit.

Fred Mills, Chelsea assistant superintendent, said the merit increase will be based on individual evaluation from each secretary's supervising administrator. An evaluation form will be devised with input from the secretaries committee, he added.

Jaycees Celebrate 30th Year

Chelsea Jaycees have two very special occasions to celebrate.

This week (Jan. 15-21) is International Jaycee week. In addition, the local group is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year.

Harold Allen, club president, said the Chelsea Jaycees have a number of purposes. The club provides many community services, gives leadership training to its members and funds many community service and youth improvement programs.

Allen said the club provides various community programs and is currently planning another scenic run to take place in April. The run is being held because of the success of a similar event held in April 1982.

Other annual Jaycee projects include a burn awareness program, a "Punt, Pass and Kick" event, blood drives, Easter egg hunts, Special Olympics events, bicycle safety programs, the fingerprinting of children for identification purposes, the Needy Children's Christmas Fund and "Trees for Tots."

"The Chelsea Jaycees are an active group that gets things done. Our chapter runs an average of 25 projects each year," Allen said. These projects are designed to take care of the problem areas and needs of the community as well as keeping the local chapter members active in the state and national organization.

adolescents and teenagers, consult daily about patients. The physicians are part of one of the teams at the Chelsea center.

Family Care Still Offered in Chelsea

Family doctors. We've all heard of them. They existed in the 1800s, carried black satchels, were ready for any kind of medical emergency and operated on the kitchen table.

But while the prototypical family doctor may have vanished with the stage coach, family medicine is still being practiced in Chelsea.

According to Dr. Mindy Smith, of the University of Michigan Family Practice Center in Chelsea, family physicians at the center are capable of treating 95 percent of patients without referring them to specialists.

"The problem with a specialist is that the patient has to diagnose himself before they go for health care," she said. "Most problems can be handled by a family practice physician and if not, the patient can then be referred to a specialist."

Smith, who specializes in dealing with adolescents and teenagers, said she believes there is misconception in the community that, because the center is a training center for resident physicians, patients will never be treated by the same person.

Residents at the center have all completed medical school, she said. They then enter into three years of training at the Family Practice Center after which they take a national exam to become board certified.

Physicians at the center work on a team, she said. Each team includes a board certified physician, residents, a nurse and a social worker. Pharmacists and a pastoral consultant are also available to each team.

Patients normally see the same physician on each visit to the center, but if the physician is not available other members of the team, familiar with the case through group discussion, may be consulted, Smith said.

Smith stressed that resident physicians have graduated from medical school and are at the center to receive more extensive training.

"People are afraid of being guinea pigs, but recent graduates have the most recent information," Smith said. "What we (board certified physicians) give them is experience. What they bring to us are fresh ideas."

"As a senior staff member I find that residents improve my ability to take care of patients because they constantly keep me on my toes," Smith said. "I feel I'm a better physician from working with them."

Residents at the Family Practice Center work many nights taking emergency calls in addition to their daily routine, Smith said.

"Our residents work very, very hard. It's the most intensive educational experience in their lives."

Team Hired To Conduct Six-Day Educational Audit

Two Ph.D.'s employed by Ann Arbor Public Schools were hired by the Chelsea Board of Education Monday to conduct an "Educational Audit" of the district.

Dr. Richard Stock and Dr. Dolores Dawson will spend approximately six days visiting Chelsea schools to review the K-12 curriculum at a cost of about $3,000.

Superintendent Ray Van Meer said the action was taken to comply with board goals developed in May of last year for the 1983-84 school year. The board had allocated $10,000 for such a study.

There will be two phases to the audit, Van Meer said. The consultants will first review the current K-12 curriculum guidelines and then interview Chelsea teachers, administrators, board members and students about the curriculum to determine if the school is complying with its own guidelines.

Stock and Dawson have done the same type of study in other school districts, Van Meer said. "It will be an outside perspective, a fresh pair of ideas," he added.

Earlier in the school year another consulting group from Ann Arbor was considered for the audit. Van Meer said that group "strayed outside of the pure curricular area," in the areas they would review.

Cold Shooting Sinks Bulldogs in Upset Loss to Tecumseh

Chelsea's varsity basketball team started well against Tecumseh there last Friday night, then turned as cold as the weather outside and was buried by the Indians, 72-53, in the biggest upset of the Southeastern Conference so far.

The Bulldogs dominated the first quarter and moved out to an 18-15 lead only to lose their shooting touch, recording only one point in the second period while Tecumseh was putting up 24. Result was a 20-point half-time margin for the Indians.

Chelsea made a valiant effort to come back in the second half, but could get no closer than 14 points as Tecumseh did an excellent job of protecting its big lead with a well played zone defense and an offense that took advantage of its opportunities.

"I don't believe I have ever seen a team go so cold so suddenly after starting out so well," said a disappointed and puzzled Bulldog coach Paul Ash. "We shot well in the first quarter, got the lead, and I thought we were on our way."

"Then, just like that, we couldn't buy a basket. We were getting good shots, but the ball just wouldn't fall. The boys got frustrated after awhile and began trying to get a step or two closer to the hoop and force their shots. That only made matters worse."

"We re-grouped at the half, but it's just about impossible to make up 20 points unless the other team has an equally cold spell, and Tecumseh didn't. They kept the pressure on and never let us back into the game."

Chelsea shot a meager 29 percent from the field, hitting just 14 of 47 attempts. Tecumseh, meanwhile, put in 23 of 53 for 43 percent. Free throws were about even in a game that saw a bunch of fouls called.

Even with their horrendous shooting the Bulldogs might have made it close had they not been decisively beaten on the boards by the smaller Indians, losing the battle for rebounds, 39-29. Tecumseh got many opportunities for second and even third shots, and took advantage of them.

"We didn't box out (get position for rebounds) at all well, and that is something we have to do better if we are going to be winners the rest of the way," Ash said. "We've been working on that in practice, but we obviously need to work on it some more."

Dave Kiel led Chelsea with 13 points. David Steinhauer was the only other Bulldog in double figures, with 10.

The loss dropped Chelsea out of a tie with Milan for the SEC lead and put the Bulldogs in a position where they virtually must beat Milan there Friday night if they hope for at least a share of the loop lead going into the season-ending league tournament.

After losing two games on the road last week, Ash was hoping that a return to their home gym in a non-league joust with Jackson Northwest last night would get his charges turned around and back on the winning track.

"We certainly can play better basketball than we did against Mason and Tecumseh, but we have to prove it," he said.

The game at Milan is an especially important one for Ash, who lives there and is anxious to show his home folks that he can coach. Besides that, the Bulldogs badly need a victory, which won't come easily over the sharp-shooting Big Reds who are 7-1 on the season and averaging better than 70 points a game.

SEC ROUND-UP:

Milan Moves to Top In Conference Race

For the first time this season the Southeastern Conference has a single leader in varsity basketball, thanks to a combination of Milan's cliff-hanger win over Lincoln and Chelsea's upset loss at Tecumseh.

Milan beat Lincoln, 69-67, as the Railsplitters missed a last-second makeable shot that could have forced the game into overtime. It was only the second loss for Lincoln on its home floor in two years.

Previous co-leader Chelsea, meanwhile, fell victim to a rapidly improving Tecumseh team which probably won't win the league title but is going to have plenty to say about who does. The Indians took advantage of poor Chelsea shooting to record a surprisingly easy 72-53 victory.

In the third SEC contest last Friday night Saline won its first game of the season by downing Dexter, 54-45, dropping the Dreadnaughts to the bottom of the standings.

Friday night's Chelsea-Milan clash at Milan now shapes up as a "must" game for Chelsea. A Big Red triumph would give them a two-game edge and a virtual lock on the league lead going into the season-ending tournament.

Because of the new format for deciding the SEC champions (see Sports Notes column) the standings from here on out will include a listing of "points" earned toward the title. Each victory in league play is worth two points.

SEC STANDINGS

	SEC Points	Season
Milan	4-0	8 6-1
Chelsea	3-1	6 4-2
Lincoln	2-2	4 4-3
Tecumseh	2-2	4 4-5
Saline	1-3	2 1-6
Dexter	0-4	0 4-5

Seventh Grade Cagers Unbeaten In Four Games

Chelsea's seventh grade basketballers have won four in a row and are undefeated, and coach Ron Lazo is pleased with their progress.

The team won two games last week, beating Tecumseh, 26-22, in a low-scoring affair and then coming on strong to edge Lincoln, 43-40.

Lazo was especially happy with the win over always tough Lincoln, which was highlighted by Junior Morseau's 28 points. "We were getting the ball inside to him," and he was putting it in," the coach said.

John Collins and Larry Nix had four points each in the Lincoln game, Jeff Marshall three, and Alan Beckwith and Loren Keezer two each.

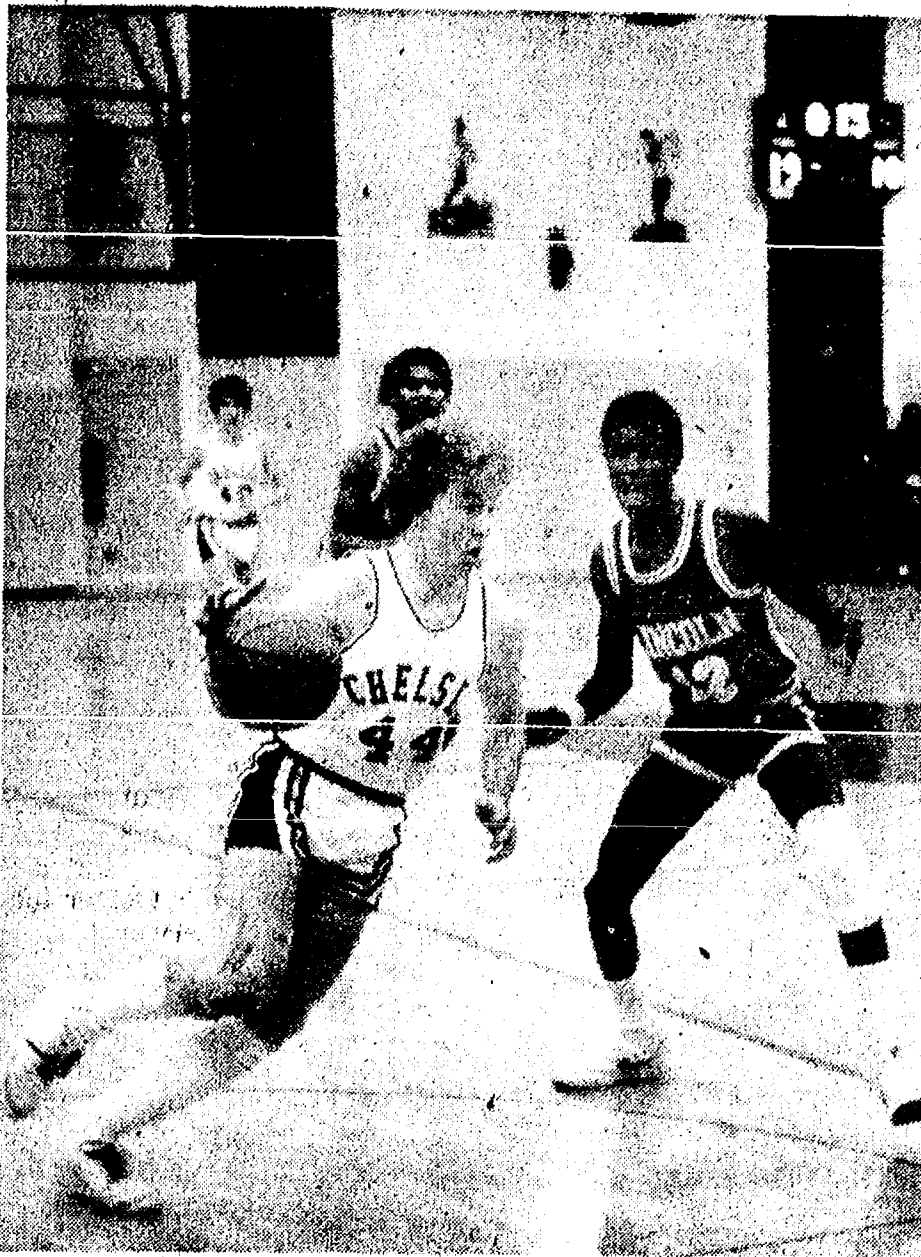

Collins led the scoring in the Tecumseh game with eight points, followed by Marshall with seven, Morseau five and Beckwith and Keezer three apiece.

Manchester Youth Completes Training

Pfc. Harry J. Krauss, son of Harry and Patricia Krauss of 708 Vernon, Manchester, has completed basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

He is a 1971 graduate of Manchester High school.

THEY COME ON STRONG: Keith Nelbauer (44) above and David Steinhauer (40) at right have played well for the Chelsea varsity basketball team this season. Both were pictured in action during the recent home game against Lincoln. Nelbauer comes off the bench to play at forward, and Steinhauer starts at guard.

JV Cagers Impress In Tecumseh Victory

Unlike their varsity elders, Chelsea's junior varsity cagers played "one whale of a basketball game" last Friday night while defeating the Tecumseh JV's, 55-43, according to coach Marlin Wilson.

"We shot well, made key free throws when we had to, and played excellent defense," a happy Wilson said. "We came a long way in terms of improvement."

The game wasn't quite as easy as the score suggests. Chelsea was ahead by only four mid-way through the final period, then pulled away with good shooting from the line as Tecumseh was forced to foul to get the ball.

Ken Martin had a fine night with 18 points on 9 of 14 attempts from the field. Dan Bellus put in 12 points and also had seven rebounds and six steals. Rob Murrell scored eight on four field goals out of five shots.

What pleased Wilson as much as anything was the showing of Jon Jedele, a transfer student from California who hasn't played much up to now and may turn out to be one of those unexpected finds that every coach hopes to make.

Jedele pulled down 10 rebounds, scored six points on 3 of 5 from the field, blocked three shots and had a steal.

"He was a real pleasant surprise," Wilson said. "He's just 6 feet tall now, but he's a sophomore and I think he will do some growing. He's a good jumper. It took him awhile to learn our system, but he played a fine game when I put him in there against Tecumseh. He'll play more from now on."

JV Cagers Play Tough But Lose to Mason, 46-39

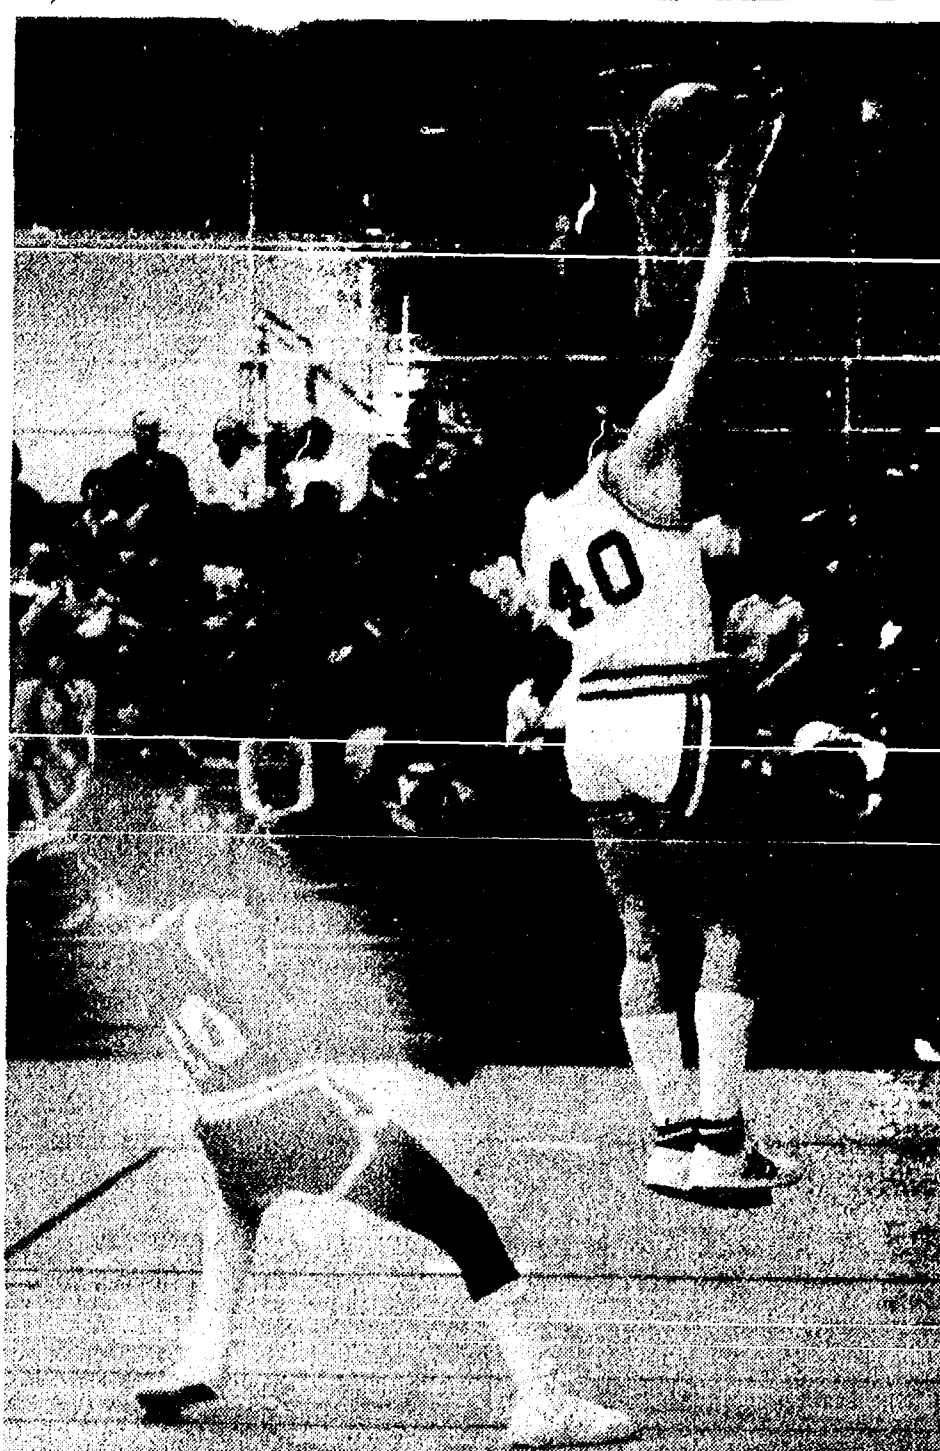

Chelsea's JV basketball team fell behind Mason early in the game, stayed close but never caught up, and dropped a 46-39 decision in a tough defensive game there a week ago Tuesday.

"We only shot 29 percent from the floor," coach Marlin Wilson noted. "We got good, high-percentage shots, but we didn't hit enough of them."

The game was decided at the foul line. The field goals were even at 16 apiece, but Mason sank 14 free throws to Chelsea's seven.

Mason had 11 more opportunities. "We only went to the line twice in the first three quarters, which tells you that the officials' calls weren't going our way, but we did miss eight in the last period when we finally got our chances," Wilson said.

Multiple sclerosis is called the "mysterious disabler of young adults" because it most often strikes young adults in their prime family-forming and career-building years.

Frosh Cagers Get Behind Early, Lose to Pinckney

"We did everything pretty well except put the ball in the basket," said Chelsea freshman basketball coach Ted Hendricks of his team's 40-34 loss to Pinckney last week.

The Bulldog frosh hustled and came back after being down, 22-9, following a dismal first half, but couldn't quite get out of the hole they had dug themselves into.

The freshmen hit only 13 of 51 shots from the field for the game and were eight of 18 from the foul line. "You can't win that way," Hendricks said, "but I'm proud of the fact that the boys gave it a good try in the second half."

Mark Bareis had an excellent game with 12 points, 12 rebounds and five blocked shots. Jeff Stacey had seven points and Matt Bohlender five rebounds.

"The boys are still adjusting to the fact that Todd Starkey and Jeff Harvey aren't playing with them and leading the way any more," Hendricks said, "and must realize that they have to take charge and do it themselves."

Starkey has moved up to the varsity and Harvey to the JV's. "It's not easy to make up for the loss of two players of that caliber," Hendricks said, "but I'm convinced we have the ability to be winners. It's going to take confidence and time."

Joseph E. Valentin On Pensacola College Dean's Honor List

Joseph Edward Valentin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Truax of Chelsea, was named to the Dean's List by Dr. Joel H. Mullenix, Dean of the College, at Pensacola Christian College for academic achievement during the fall semester of the 1983-84 school year.

Mason Hands Chelsea First Defeat, 86-62

It had to happen sooner or later, and it did a week ago Tuesday as the Chelsea varsity basketballers came up flat against a very good Mason team and were soundly beaten, 86-62.

The loss dropped the Bulldogs out of the undefeated ranks and, according to coach Paul Ash, "maybe taught us a lesson. We're not good enough that we can play without intensity and win. I'm just glad it was a non-league game."

Chelsea fell behind, 18-13, at the end of the first quarter, but stayed even during the second period to be down by only five at the half. They got the first field goal of the third period to pull within three, but then the roof fell in.

Using a fast break and long outlet passes to good advantage, Mason piled up a 28-15 third-quarter scoring margin and iced the game with a 22-16 final period.

"Nobody, not even Lincoln, had played the break that well against us this season, and we just didn't handle it," Ash said. "Mason is a very physical team, and they out-muscled us at both ends of the floor."

There were some bright spots for the Bulldogs.

David Kiel continued to play outstanding basketball with 23 points and 14 rebounds. "He worked hard out there," Ash said. "If everybody else had shown the same determination, we could have won."

Marty Steinhauer was cleared to play after a medical examination of his sore knee and scored 14 points. He and Kiel were the only Chelsea cagers to score in double figures.

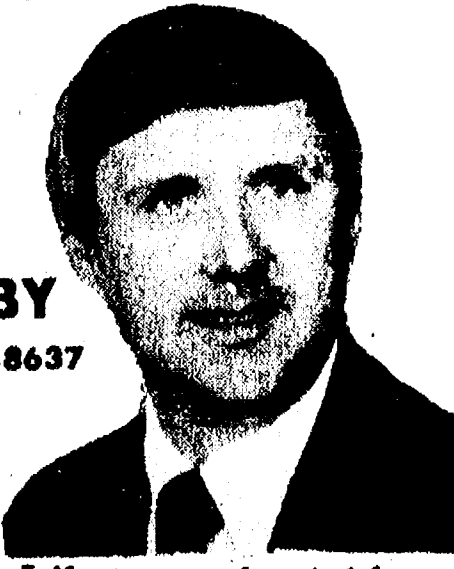

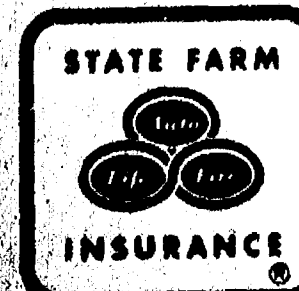

Freshman guard Todd Starkey had another good game, Ash said. Finally, the Bulldogs hit 12 of 16 shots from the foul line, a vast improvement over their efforts in earlier contests.

"Mason is good," Ash summed it up. "I think we could beat them if we played our best, but we were far from our best. I kind of wish we were going to play them again, especially on our home court."

That won't happen until next year.

Swim Team Wins One, Loses Two

It was a week of lifetime best scores for Chelsea swimmers as they came up against three top ranked state teams, sneaking by Fenton but losing a contest with Huron and Bridgman.

The Bulldogs had 16 best lifetime scores in last Tuesday's meet with Fenton, which Chelsea won, 90-82.

In addition, Brent Bauer and Steve Ramsey swam state Class B consideration times in the 50-yard freestyle event and Mike Coffman had a state consideration time in the breaststroke.

Qualifying for the state Class B competition were Craig Miller in the backstroke, Ted Merkel in the breaststroke and the medley relay team consisting of Miller, Merkel, Bauer and Ramsey. Chelsea finished third Friday, with a score of 37, while Bridgman had 46 and Milan finished in first place with 55.

The losses bring Chelsea's season record to 3-3. Despite the score coach Larry Reed said it was a "great meet." The loss was less heartbreaking since it came against two excellent teams and because Chelsea still managed to have 25 lifetime best scores, Reed said.

Scott Pryor had an outstanding night with three lifetime bests in the medley relay, the butterfly and the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Ramsey also had three lifetime bests in the medley relay, the 400-yard freestyle relay and the 50-yard freestyle event.

Jeff Nemeth had lifetime best scores and broke a freshman record in the 200-yard freestyle event.

The following swimmers also had lifetime best times: Mike Carrigan, Kevin Colombo, Jeff Mason, Wayne Lewis and Brad Doan each had two lifetime bests, while Darren Girard and Dan Degener each scored one best time.

Chelsea is scheduled to host Dundee at 7 p.m. Thursday.

CHELSEA SWIMMER JEFF MASON had two best times, in the butterfly and the medley relay, during Friday's swim meet against Huron High school and Bridgman High school. He is shown here in recent I.M. competition.

Good Goose Shooting Open to Hardy Hunters

There's some good goose hunting out there if you are brave enough to go out and try it in the bitter cold.

A special post-season on Canada geese opened Dec. 21 in the Southeastern Michigan Management Area, which includes all of Washtenaw and Livingston counties and the eastern half of Jackson, plus parts of Lenawee, Monroe, Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Shiawassee and Lapeer counties.

Hunters who decide to try it should check the map in the 1983-84 Michigan Waterfowl Hunting Guide to determine the boundaries of the open area.

The special season is scheduled to extend through Feb. 15, with a daily limit of three geese, but it could be closed earlier by special order if Department of Natural Resources biologists decide that no more birds should be taken.

Part of the area, including roughly the north half of Washtenaw county, the south half of Livingston, eastern Jackson and southern Oakland, is restricted to shells loaded with steel shot. Again, consult the Waterfowl Guide.

DNR biologists at the Jackson district office reported that there are a lot of geese hanging around in the management area, and that the cold weather and deep snow have caused them to flock up in spots of open water.

Hunters are advised to wear a lot of heavy clothing with an outside layer of white, and set out decoys near patches of open water and fields of waste grain where the birds feed. From there on, it's a waiting game.

No. 2 shot is suggested, especially where steel shot is required. No. 2 steel has about the same killing power as No. 4 lead, and is effective at somewhat shorter ranges.

The geese in the management area are mostly non-migratory. They will stay through the winter unless there is a tight freeze-up which denies them access to any open water. Should that happen, they will drift south just far enough to find a place to swim. They are descendants of a strain of so-called "giant" Canada geese raised at the DNR game farm near Mason and stocked locally several years ago. They are heavier than migratory Canadas. An adult bird will weigh 8-12 pounds, about the size of a domestic goose.

The wild geese have multiplied to the point where they are a nuisance in many places within the management area, and the special post-season is intended to reduce their numbers to human-tolerance levels.

Prospective goose hunters are reminded that they need a valid Michigan small game hunting license, federal and state waterfowl stamps, and a public access stamp to be legal.

Varsity Volleyball Team Loses Match to Dexter

While the Chelsea varsity volleyball team lost both its games with rival Dexter last Thursday night, 15-3 and 15-10, the team looked better than it has to date this season, Coach Cathy Vlcek said.

Kim Harden and Julie Koch, two of the team's regular starters, were sick and couldn't compete against the Dreadnaughts and Missy Connell suffered a chin injury during practice before the game, so Vlcek's team had to play an unfamiliar line-up, filling in for the absent teammates.

Debbie Morris stepped in as a setter to replace Koch. With only two setters, Cathy Basso and Koch, Vlcek said she has been worried all season about what would happen in case of an injury. To help remedy the situation, Trisha Mattoff is being pulled-up from the JV ranks because of her setting ability. Another player, sophomore Jenifer Swaringen is also advancing to the varsity. She was initially placed on the JV squad because she had a broken arm at the beginning of the season.

While the varsity team has yet to win a game, their record is 0-3, Vlcek said the team is practicing hard and team members are beginning to apply what they learn in practice during games.

"We practiced hard all week (before the Dexter match) on digging," Vlcek said. "And then they took what they had learned in practice and used it in the game. They have really begun to show improvement."

"If we can score 10 points in a game then we've really come a long way."

Sophomore Kris Mattoff was the leading server with all three points in the first game and scoring four in the second game.

The team is scheduled to host Lincoln High school at 7 p.m. tomorrow and Western High school at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 24.

JV Volleyball Team Wins Game, Loses Match

They lost the match, but the Chelsea JV volleyball team scored their first game victory of the season in a contest last Thursday with Dexter.

The Bulldogs lost the first game of the match, 15-7, came back to win the second game in overtime, 17-15, but lost the third game, 15-4.

Coach Sandy Mandel said the team should have won the first game and was ahead at times, but lost because of mental mistakes.

"They sort of fizzled out, they get nervous easily. They do well when they have the lead."

Freshman Kristie Centilli served four of the seven points scored during the game. Laura Ingalls, a sophomore, had a great spike, her first of the season, Mandel said.

What the team lacked in the first game they made up for in the second contest, Mandel said. "The second game was a great game," she added.

Centilli was again high scorer with five points. Freshmen Cherle Alexander and Kathryn Morgan each served for four points.

"The second game was terrific," Mandel said. "It had everyone sitting on the edge of their seats."

But after the victory the team "fell apart" during the third game, she said. The defeat came in part because of the success of one Dexter player who served seven points in a row.

The team now has a 0-3 record. The JV team lost two players to the varsity last week, Mandel said. Sophomore Jenifer Swaringen, who was only placed on the junior squad at the onset of the season because of a broken arm, went to the varsity. Coach Cathy Vlcek also moved freshman Trisha Mattoff up because the team needed a good setter, Mandel said.

The team plays Lincoln at home tomorrow at 7 p.m., and hosts Western, Tuesday, Jan. 24 at 7 p.m.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Twice in my outdoor life I have been really cold—seriously, dangerously cold—and both times it was my own fault for failing to obtain an updated weather forecast before setting out. That should be a part of the preparations for any winter outdoor venture that is going to take you a long way from shelter for an extended period of time.

Weather forecasts are available by telephone, radio and TV. They are generally updated about every six hours so the information you get is the latest available. Newspaper forecasts, especially those in the previous day's editions, aren't as reliable simply because they are older.

Meteorologists can predict weather with a very high degree of accuracy for the next 12 hours or so. The longer the range, the less the accuracy, which is why a fresh forecast is best.

Weather can change quickly, and so can forecasts. An approaching front may suddenly slow down or speed up, a storm center shift directions. None of those changes is predictable very far ahead of its occurrence.

In both of those personal instances that I mentioned at the beginning I was caught inadequately dressed for a sudden drop in temperature accompanied by high winds that lowered the chill factor drastically. Both times I made matters worse for myself by trying to "tough it out" and waited too long to head for shelter. As noted in this column last week, one effect of cold is that it impairs your ability to think clearly. Cold people do some very stupid things, like staying outside longer than they need to.

I've written before that there is clothing available which will keep you warm in the most severe winter weather that our Michigan climate has to offer, but it doesn't do you much good if it's back home in a closet when you are outdoors and need it.

Had I checked the weather forecast before either of those outings, I would have either carried the heavier garments along with me or decided to stay home and wait for a better day.

It's not a whole lot of fun to be outdoors in really nasty weather, unless practicing survival skills in a blizzard happens to be your idea of a good time. Some of the best decisions I've ever made were to postpone trips after finding out the weather was going to turn for the worse.

It's not a bad idea to check out the weather at any time of the year. It could save you from getting caught in the middle of a lake or at the far end of a golf course during a summer thunderstorm, for example.

Sometimes, too, there is good news. Bad weather predicted earlier may have been delayed or gone someplace else. Rain falling in the morning may be ending by noon, in time for your planned afternoon excursion. In any case it pays to find out, and it's easy to do unless you are completely cut off from any kind of communication.

People on Farms

A year-end update from the U. S. Bureau of Census shows that 5.6 million people live on farms in the United States. About one out of every 41 Americans, or 2.4% of the total U. S. population, is a farm resident. The farm population continues to decline, registering a loss of 431,000 farm residents from 1980 to 1982.

The farm population's median age is 35 years, compared to a national age of 30.

MUCC Announces Program, Dates for Outdoorama Show

The first Detroit area appearance by the world's top pistol shooters and the return of Victor the Rassel' Bear are just two of the many highlights that will be offered at Outdoorama '84, scheduled to run Feb. 24 through March 4 at the State Fairground Coliseum.

Outdoorama '84, sponsored by Michigan United Conservation Clubs, offers a virtual sportsman's paradise, with more attractions, exhibits and personalities than ever before, including continuous fishing and hunting clinics, a nightly stage show with weekend matinees, more than 200 fishing and hunting exhibits, a trout pond and a casting pond.

The fishing and hunting clinics will feature fishing expert Babe Winkelman, world casting champion Brenda Mac Spornan, and world turkey calling champ Jim Clay.

The stage show will star Tom Dokkens' Oakridge retrievers, the World's Greatest Lumberjack Team and, of course, Victor the Rassel' Bear.

Special exhibitions to complement the stage show include demonstrations by Mac Spornan and pistol shooters Bob and Becky Munden. Bob is in the Guinness Book of World Records as the fastest gunman while wife Becky's shooting prowess has earned her national acclaim.

"We feel Outdoorama '84 offers something for everybody," said Thomas L. Washington, executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC).

As the state's largest and longest-running outdoor sportsmen's show, Outdoorama has increased attendance each year.

"One of the things that has worked well for us is different 'nights' during the week, whereby we emphasize various aspects of fishing and hunting by having related events and clinics," Washington continued. "That way, people with a favorite interest can pick the best time to come to Outdoorama."

Beginning Monday, Feb. 27, and continuing through Friday, March 2, Outdoorama '84 will feature these special interest "nights." In order, they are: Trout and Salmon Night; Big Buck Night; Wild Turkey Night; Sporting Dog Night; and Walleye, Muskie, Bass and Panfish Night.

Tickets for Outdoorama '84 are $4 for adults, $1.50 for children under 12, and $1.50 for persons over 65 (weekdays only). Children under five are admitted free.

Hours are 6 to 10 p.m. Friday, Feb. 24; noon to 10 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 25 and 26; 4 to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday, Feb. 27 through March 2; noon to 10 p.m. Saturday, March 3; and noon to 8 p.m. Sunday, March 4.

YES, IT'S BEEN COLD: This 16 below zero reading on the Great Lakes Savings and Loan recording sign on S. Main St. south of Old US-12 was flashing early Sunday morning. Although there are no "official" readings taken in Chelsea, some local residents said their thermometers dipped to minus 20. Records for the date were set at many places in Michigan, including Lansing and Jackson. Once the thermometer goes below zero, the number of degrees doesn't seem to make much difference. It's just plain cold.
