

WRECKED DURING CHASE: A Chelsea police patrol car (above) and a 1982 Cadillac coupe (below) were both totaled during a high-speed chase back and forth through town and out onto I-94 last Saturday night. The driver of the Cadillac, Max L. Eldswick, 31, of Ann Arbor, was injured but walked out of Chelsea Community Hospital shortly after being admitted. No one else was hurt.

Driver's Auto, Police Car Wrecked in Wild Chase Through Town

A Chelsea police patrol car was wrecked during the course of a wild chase that went back and forth through town last Saturday night.

When it was all over, Max L. Eldswick, 31, of Ann Arbor, had been charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor, leaving the scene of two accidents, and fleeing and eluding police.

He was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital for treatment of possible internal injuries but later left of his own accord.

Sheriff's deputies reconstructed the incident in this way:

At about 10:15 p.m. Eldswick, driving west on I-94 in a 1982 Cadillac coupe, passed a car driven by Jody L. Leatherberry, 24, of Stockbridge, then slowed to exit north-bound on M-52. Leatherberry told deputies he passed Eldswick's car, then pulled to the side and was hit from the rear. His 1980 Mercury Marquis, carrying three passengers, suffered minor damage.

Leatherberry then drove north toward Chelsea, with Eldswick in pursuit and apparently trying to ram him from behind. Leatherberry turned into the Mobil gas station on the east side of M-52, and Eldswick's car followed, knocking down an oil display rack. A gas station employee called Chelsea police.

A village police car driven by policeman Richard Foster with auxiliary patrolman Christopher T. Minick as a passenger took position at Main and Middle Sts. to intercept the fleeing vehicle.

Eldswick drove north on Main St. at an estimated 60 miles per hour and hit the patrol car, knocking it up onto the curb and putting it out of action. A sheriff's car took up the chase.

Eldswick sped north on M-52 to Werkner Rd., made a U-turn there, came back down Main St. and turned west into the east-bound lane of I-94, forcing several cars off the road as he headed the wrong way.

Near Kalmbach Rd. Eldswick's car collided with a county truck that was spreading salt on the highway and came to a halt. Eldswick was taken to the hospital by Huron Valley ambulance but shortly afterward left against doctor's orders.

Eldswick's Cadillac and the Chelsea police car were both declared total losses. The salt truck suffered only minor damage.

Other than Eldswick, no one was injured. Foster and Minick went to the hospital to be checked, and were released. Leatherberry and his three passengers were all unhurt.

"It's kind of a miracle that nothing more serious happened," said sheriff's deputy Joseph Yekulis who put together a 20-page written report on the incident.

Yekulis added that Eldswick was within his legal rights to leave the hospital, because a formal "hold" had not been placed on him.

Kozminski Trial Continues As Defense Offers Case

The trial of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Kozminski and their son, John Kozminski, continued through the past week in Ann Arbor federal district court before Judge Charles W. Joiner.

The Kozminskis are accused of holding two farmhands, Robert Fulmer and Louis Molitoris, in slavery. The Kozminskis live on Pekins Rd. in south Lima township.

The federal attorneys prosecuting the Kozminskis rested their case last Friday, and defense lawyers began to call witnesses to rebut the accusing testimony. The jury of nine men and three women could begin their deliberations by the end of the week.

As the trial unfolded, it became clear that the key question is whether Fulmer and Molitoris were held on the Kozminski farm against their will, or were free to leave at any time they became dissatisfied with their living and working conditions.

A federal witness, psychologist Harley Stock who works at the state's Center for Forensic Psychiatry near Milan, testified that the two men were "psychological hostages" who suffered from a "captivity syndrome," a form of brainwashing, which made them incapable of leaving the Kozminski farm.

A defense witness, psychologist Robert Walsh at Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson, said there was no evidence to support the "captivity syndrome" theory, and declared that Stock's diagnosis "exceeded sound professional practice."

Stock was paid for his services in examining Fulmer and Molitoris, and appearing in court. Walsh was an unpaid witness.

Both psychologists agreed that the two men were mentally retarded with border-line IQ's.

Jiffy Market Closes, At Least Temporarily

The Jiffy Market at Sibley and Werkner Rds. northwest of Chelsea is closed, at least temporarily.

A mortgage on the property has been foreclosed by the Detroit Pure Milk Co.

Gene Shoemaker, operator of the market, said he might seek to reorganize the business under chapter 13 of the federal bankruptcy law, and reopen it.

"I paid them (the milk firm) something every month," Shoemaker said. "They weren't full payments, but they were the best I could do with the cash flow I had. I just wasn't taking in enough money to pay all the bills and have anything left over."

The Jiffy Market opened originally as a full grocery store with emphasis on custom-cut meats and "party store" merchandise including liquor, wine and beer. Shoemaker is a meat-cutter by trade and specialized in custom butchering of domestic livestock and deer.

In recent months the operation has been reduced to selling mostly alcoholic beverages, soft drinks, snacks, convenience foods, and meats.

Competition among local party stores intensified with the opening last year of Vogel's (formerly Rick's) and the Tower Mart, both on M-52 where they attract transient traffic. Jiffy Market is off the beaten track.

Besides the property itself, Jiffy Market's package liquor license has considerable value. There are just four in the immediate Chelsea area.

Robert H. Thornton Heads State Body

Robert H. Thornton, Jr. of Chelsea was recently installed as president of the Michigan Association of Realtors, the state's largest trade association, during the association's quarterly meeting in Ann Arbor earlier this month.

Thornton, who owns and operates Thornton, Inc., a general brokerage office at 323 Main St., Chelsea, has been active in the real estate business for 17 years. Before becoming president, Thornton held the offices of first vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and district vice-president. He has chaired numerous committees and has served on various other committees of the state association.

As a member of the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors, he has served on many committees and held the offices of president, vice-president and director of the board. He has also chaired and been a member of several committees of the National Association of Realtors and the National Farm and Land Institute, an affiliate of the National Association.

Thornton is currently chairman of the Board of the Trustees of Chelsea Community Hospital. He has additionally served the community in other capacities on the Chelsea United Way, Chelsea school district, Washtenaw County Republican committee and various committees of the North Lake United Methodist church.

The Michigan Association of Realtors represents approximately 20,000 members who work in various phases of real estate.

Chelsea Civic Foundation Will Meet

The annual meeting of the Civic Foundation of Chelsea has been set for Monday, Feb. 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the dining room of Chelsea Community Hospital.

The board of trustees of the Civic Foundation met Feb. 1 and set the agenda. Items to be discussed are the annual report, election of new trustees, election of new officers, and committee assignments.

Foundation president George Palmer urged those founding and other voting members who have not renewed their 1984 memberships to do so. Memberships range from $15 to $1,000 or more, with voting privileges accorded to those who contribute $50 or more annually.

Audit Report Awaited on Handling Of Village Parking Meter Fund

The only news about the investigation into the handling of traffic fine money by the Chelsea police department during the past week is that nothing at all had happened as this edition of The Standard went to press.

The best information is that everything is "on hold" until a special audit of the village parking meter fund is completed by the Ann Arbor accounting firm of Iccerman, Johnson & Hoffman.

The audit report will be given to state police detectives who are in charge of the investigation. They will evaluate it and make recommendations to Washtenaw county prosecutor William Delhey, who asked the state police to make the probe after he was requested by village officials to conduct the inquiry.

Delhey, presumably, will come back to village officials with his recommendations, and any action taken will be decided from there.

"That's the way it went up, and that's the way I expect it will come back down," said trustee Joe Merkel who, as chairman of the village council's police department committee, holds the title of police commissioner. He is in nominal command of the police department while chief Robert F. Aello is on a forced vacation which has lasted longer than originally predicted.

"The audit has taken a lot longer than we thought it would," Merkel said. "This is a very busy time of year for auditors and accountants, because of end-of-the-year tax-reporting requirements. What we thought might take maybe five days has stretched out into several weeks."

"It's too bad, because the delay keeps a cloud of suspicion hanging over the situation. I just want to get things cleared up as quickly as possible."

"Believe me, we are moving as fast as we can."

Groundhog Sees Shadow, Six More Weeks of Cold 'Forecast'

The legendary groundhog saw his shadow here last Thursday at dawn, the beginning of Groundhog Day, and that is supposed to mean six more weeks of severe winter weather.

The forecast did not sit too well with local residents, who are ready for relief from one of the coldest winter seasons on record. The official long-range prediction from the U. S. Weather Bureau is a little more optimistic, calling for generally moderate temperatures through February.

Last Thursday was actually the mildest day hereabouts in several weeks, with the thermometer getting up into the 40's under a sun which thawed off some of the snow and ice accumulated through a long series of below-zero days.

Legend has it that ground-hogs—more properly called woodchucks and still more properly labelled marmota monax, a member of the animal family of marmots which also includes fishers and martens—emerge from their hibernation dens on Feb. 2 to take a look at the weather.

If the sun is out and they see their shadows, the story goes, they scurry back underground to sleep for another six weeks while awaiting the arrival of spring. If it's cloudy, they decide that spring has come.

It's an old Ojibwa (Chippewa) Indian legend, and no records have ever been kept on the accuracy of the groundhog forecast.

Long-range weather predictions are notorious for being wrong, and the groundhogs may be as good as any.

Actually, woodchucks are not true hibernators in the sense that they sleep all winter. They spend a lot of the cold-weather period in their dens, but periodically come up to take a look around and find out if the weather is balmy enough to allow them to go foraging for food without freezing to death.

Clear, sunny winter days are usually cold. Cloudy days tend to be warmer. Why Feb. 2 was chosen by the Chippewas as the key date for decision is uncertain. It may have something to do with the fact that the hours of daylight begin to get noticeably longer about the first of February, and with that change comes hope for spring.

For the record, spring will arrive officially on March 21. There will be six more weeks of winter.

Republican Leaders Praise Governor's Fiscal Policies
Republican legislative leaders have praised Governor James Blanchard for turning "180" degrees in his state of the state message regarding fiscal policies compared to last year.

Senator John Engler of Mt. Pleasant and Representative Michael Busch of Saginaw promised to help in enacting the governor's proposed zero increase budget and called for immediate activity to promote economic development.

"I think he's broken with the practices of 1983," Engler said. "This governor is trying to decide where the people have been heading by breaking with the past and leading."

The proposals, Busch said, "are among those Republicans have endorsed and spoken up for."

Busch and Engler said they felt the income tax rollback should occur before October.

"He is doing it backwards," Busch said by making the rollback contingent on the Legislature adopting his budget. "The outer limits should be set now. Don't give it to us to spend," he said.

The two leaders said they were estimating a surplus for 1983-84 of approximately $250 million based on Senate Fiscal Agency figures and they projected a total surplus for both the current fiscal year and 1984-85 at $428 million.

A tax cut totalling that $428 million is the upper limit, Busch said, despite the administration's insistence that it be kept to no more than $130 million.

Blanchard's proposed zero based budget is "realistic and can be achieved," Busch said adding the governor may have more difficulty keeping Democrats in line to approve the budget.

Engler said even with the zero increase budget, state sending for the two fiscal years will go up an average of 6.5 percent given the budget which increased by 13 percent for 1983-84.

Both Busch and Engler said Blanchard failed to adequately deal with job creation and economic development in the state of the state address.

The thematic approach (of the administration) still seems to be focused on government and not the individual men and women who are unemployed," Engler said.

And Busch said proposals for improving the economy have to be advanced immediately.

Meanwhile, State Treasurer Robert Bowman said the governor is open to rolling the income tax rate back earlier than the Oct. 1 date he has recommended, but he would urge vetoing a rollback made before the budget is adopted.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

When Bug Hookum was able to git the floor during the session at the country store Saturday, he announced that China has come up with a solution to one of America's biggest, deadliest and costliest problems. A feller down here has worked out a way to blame the car fer the drunk driver.

This means the American textile industry can quit crying about Chinese imports, and "made in USA" soon will start showing up on plastic toys and firecrackers. Fer sure, Bug declared, as soon as the Chinese can retool they'll turn all their efforts to perfecting everybody on the American road from drunk driving laws gitting tougher all the time.

The clipping Bug had told that the feller in China had invented a gadget that turns off the car engine if it smells alcohol on the driver's breath. To give you some idee of the market in this country, fer that little item, Bug said, consider a recent study that shows drunk drivers are involved in 90 percent of fatal accidents, and the percent of drunks in wrecks that hurt but don't kill must be at least as high.

The fellers picked up the ball and run with it. Clem Webster said the worst news is that this gadget will rid the driver of worry. If he stops for a couple on the way home from work, and a couple leads to a couple more, and his car will run when he gits in it he'll figger everthing is fine. That's one kind of drinking driver. Another kind will wait until the Federal Government requires licker sniffers on all motor vehicles, and then he'll work out a way to trick the thing into letting him drive.

Practical speaking, declared Zeke Grubb, the gadget will open another can of legal worms. Car makers tried starters with formuler locks that drunks couldn't figger out, but to many cold sober drivers couldn't either. Some states want to put the blame on whoever sold the booze to the drunk that caused the wreck, and that has clogged the courts with cases that swing on how drunk the driver was before he bought the last bottle. Lawyers are having a field day and insurance companies are going crazy, was Zeke's words, so you can imagine what will happen when Underwriters Labortory is sued by that first driver that claims he mistook the sidewalk fer the freeway because his licker sniffer didn't work.

Ed Doolittle was agreed that blaming the car fer allowing the driver to run it over somebody is just another way of gitting out of doing what we know we ought to do. Ed had saw where a perscription nicotine chewing gum is coming on the market to help smokers quit. Chewers that don't quit and git cancer can blame their doctor fer giving em the wrong medicine, was Ed's words. This same thinking sells billions of dollars worth of diet drinks, pills and books ever year, he went on, because we can't bring ourselves to believe that our enemy is us. We got to quit drinking, smoking and eating to much if we are going to change our habits.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

SURGERY FOR MALFORMED TOENAILS

If you have a malformed or ingrown toenail that is causing you pain, your podiatrist may advise office surgery to correct the problem. Malformed or ingrown toenails are often associated with the great toe on either foot, but this condition can also occur in other toes as well.

Sometimes this condition is caused by shoes that don't fit well, hosiery that is too tight, or by improper cutting of toenails. It can also be caused by pressure if the foot rolls to the inner side and pushes forward. This tends to crush the toes together and push the flesh at the side tightly against the nails. The condition may also be congenital, something you have inherited. Whatever the cause, prompt treatment is needed to relieve the pain and prevent infection.

If it is minor, foot surgery to correct this condition may be performed in your podiatrist's office. After sufficient time has been allowed for healing, you will probably be able to wear shoes of your choice. Your feet, however, must be properly supported without restriction of joint motion.

Paramedic Students Given Emergency Birth Training

A special class on emergency childbirth was presented to Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT) students by Dr. John O'Brien, a family physician from the University of Michigan's Family Practice Center at Chelsea.

Learning to deliver a baby who arrives too quickly to make it to the hospital is an essential part of the EMT training program.

"When called to a home, the paramedics will have to assess whether they have enough time to transport the mother or if they should prepare for an immediate delivery," Dr. O'Brien said. "While the hospital or birthing center remains the safest place to deliver the baby, at times there just is not enough time to get there."

Well versed in emergency deliveries, Dr. O'Brien indicated this teaching session brought back memories of his own medical training program when he was at the Los Angeles County Women's Hospital, a high volume delivery center. "Being able to deal with births in the hallway or elevator became an integral part of the learning experience."

This presentation was part of an intensive six-month training program to train local EMT's.

Home-Made Soup Workshop Slated Feb. 14

Hearty home-made soups are not only warming and satisfying, but can be a delicious contribution to a healthy diet. Best of all, they are the ideal way to use up all of those odds and ends that are left over from normal cooking.

Chelsea Community Education is offering a workshop called "It's Soup!" which will focus on making flavorful soup bases. The workshop will meet on Tuesday, Feb. 14 in the Home Economics room at Chelsea High School.

Teresa Freed, editor of "The Foodletter," will help participants make a large pot of stock and several types of vegetable based soups. Participants will learn how easy it really is to create a thick and flavorful soup, and will find that it is much healthier and more economical to make home-made soups rather than to rely on overly processed canned soups.

You may register for this workshop by calling the Chelsea community Education Offices at 475-9830. The fee is $7 per person, and copies of the recipes will be included.

Farmers To Consider Acreage Reduction Benefits

Now that the acreage reduction sign-up period is underway, Earl Doletzky, chairperson of Wash-tenaw County ASCS Committee advises farmers to seriously consider program benefits. The sign-up ends Feb. 24.

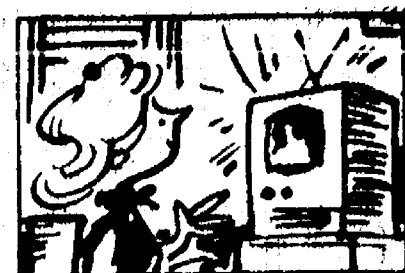

Doletzky said, "The acreage reduction program enables all farmers to work together to help control stocks and improve crop prices by reducing production. At the same time, it protects them from economic disasters."

Farm program participants who reduce their wheat acres by 30 percent will be eligible for target price protection at $4.45 per bushel, price support loans at $3.30 per bushel and the option to reduce their acreage an additional 10 to 20 percent for payment-in-kind at 75 percent of their program yield.

Target prices act as insurance to keep farmers in business, if prices stay below acceptable levels, Doletzky said. "Farmers need money to operate. If they get a loan through our program it will give them time to hold for a better market."

The 10 percent feed grain acreage reduction program offers farmers target prices of $3.03 per bushel for corn and $1.80 a bushel for oats. Program participants also will be eligible for loan rates of $2.55 a bushel for corn and $1.31 per bushel for oats.

The first television commercial appeared on July 1, 1941. It cost $9.

The Junior Board of Directors gives us the chance to meet with kids regularly.

They test our pizza, review our programs and tell us how to do our job better.

To find new members, we're sponsoring an essay contest open to youngsters age 8-12. To enter, just tell us in 100 words or less "Why I should be on the Domino's Pizza Junior Board of Directors."

Entries will be reviewed by a panel of judges, and nine winners will be invited to join our Junior Board of Directors.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

Drugs. I have come to hate and despise the word which during my earlier life meant things like aspirin and cough syrup that you bought at a drugstore, along with items like ice cream sodas and malted milks.

The word today means heroin, cocaine, marijuana, and a whole bunch of other substances that literally drive you out of your mind and, if used long enough, make you awfully sick or kill you.

Let it be said right here that in no way am I convinced that marijuana is a "harmless" substance, any more than tobacco and alcohol are. Let it further be said that I have misused tobacco and alcohol over the years, and regret it. Abuse of those drugs—and that's what they are—undoubtedly will cost me a few years off the end of my life.

The older I get—and I'm 57—the more I regret those stupid habits. When you are 15 or 18 or 20, life seems destined to go on forever, and you don't worry about it ending. When you get past 40, you begin to realize that there is an end somewhere down the calendar, and you would like to put it off as long as possible. Life is too precious to lose.

The announcement last week by county sheriff Tom Minick of a major drug bust in Lyndon township not far from the village of Chelsea put some things into perspective.

Let nobody think that some of those drugs weren't coming in to town here. They were. Let nobody assume that there is no drug abuse problem in Chelsea. There is. Let nobody believe that there won't be other sources of supply. There will be.

I'm not going to win any local popularity contests with this next sentence, but I'm going to put it in writing nevertheless:

There is a drug problem in the Chelsea schools, and also on the streets of the town.

I've seen kids stoned in the high school halls and also in the parking lot before, during and after athletic events. Whether they were drunk on alcohol, high on marijuana or spaced-out on something else doesn't really matter. They were abusing drugs of some sort.

I have no doubt whatever that I could buy illicit drugs (other than alcohol which is legally sold) on village streets, especially around the high school. I live three blocks from the school. The drug traffic doesn't come down my street, but it's close by.

What disturbs me is a prevailing attitude that "This can't be happening here." The fact is that it is happening. Chelsea is no more immune from drugs than Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Jackson or Detroit.

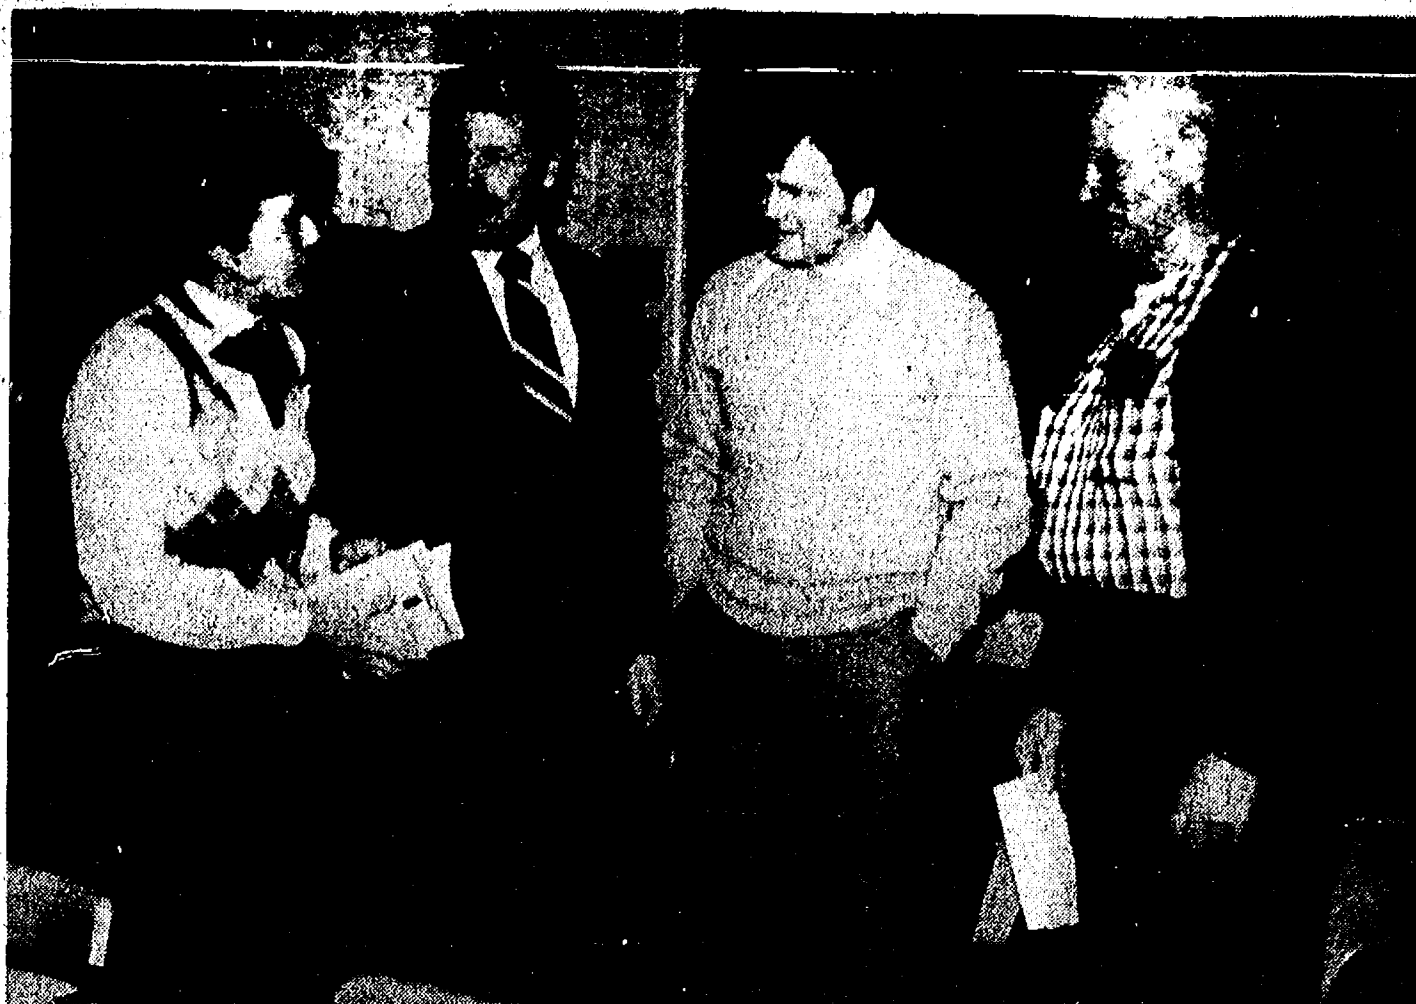

A couple of courageous school officials, whom I won't name for fear of getting them into trouble, have acknowledged to me that a drug problem does indeed exist and that they are worried about it.

No amount of policing will cure the sickness of drug abuse. People of all ages are going to find sources of supply, and the traffic will continue as long as there are enormous profits to be made in fulfilling the demand.

The risks are worth running from a dollars-and-cents standpoint. If you looked at the picture on the front page of last week's edition of The Standard, which showed more than $400,000 in cash on the table, you can get some idea of the kind of money involved. Most of us who earn our livings legitimately will never see dollars in such big bunches.

I wish there were an easy answer, but the unfortunate fact is that there isn't. I was lucky in having reared a couple of daughters who, so far as I know, were never tempted over the edge into the pit of drug abuse. Credit for that goes primarily to their mother—my wife who gave up a career to stay home and raise them right.

It all comes back to home, family and caring parents. If the drug problem is going to be licked, that's where the solution will start.

POLITICIANS PRESENT: On hand for the Chelsea Kiwanis Club's annual Farmer's Night meeting were State Representatives Margaret O'Connor (left) of Lodi township and Philip Hoffman (second from left) of Jackson, Chatting with them about local farm problems are Jerry Kuhl and Armin Kuhl. Under a redistricting plan now under consideration in the Legislature, Mrs. O'Connor may lose west Washtenaw county and Hoffman would pick it up.

Kermit the Frog Leads National Wildlife Week

Kermit the Frog, of TV's award-winning "The Muppet Show," is honorary chairman of the 1984 National Wildlife Week.

The 48th annual wildlife week, sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation, will be observed March 18-24. Its conservation theme, "Water—We Can't Live Without It," will be promoted throughout the year.

More than 20 million students, teachers and conservationists will participate in the Wildlife Week observance, helping promote the importance of clean, life-giving water and the necessity of conserving critical water resources.

"Kermit is the perfect chairman for the 1984 water conservation theme," said NWF Executive Vice President Jay D. Hair. "Kermit is immensely popular with millions of people of all ages—and besides, who knows more about the importance of clean water than a frog?"

Kermit will speak on behalf of the National Wildlife Federation in the NWF's 1984 broadcast public service announcements that promote the conservation of the nation's dwindling supplies of usable water.

Appearing in the public service announcements with fellow muppet Fozzie Bear, Kermit says, "Water is something we have to conserve and keep clean." The broadcast announcements are being distributed nationally to 600 television and 1,500 radio stations.

As part of his duties as chairman, Kermit will also be the featured speaker at the NWF's annual conservation awards banquet on March 17 in Atlanta, Ga., in conjunction with the federation's annual meeting.

NWF is the nation's largest conservation organization with 4.1 million members and supporters, including members in 49 state affiliates.

The water conservation theme for 1984 was chosen, to make Americans aware of the critical importance of life-sustaining water.

"More than any other resource, water is basic to survival," Hair said. "Water sustains all life forms and is the key ingredient to healthy ecosystems. Moreover, water is essential in every industrial process—in cooling machinery, in assimilating wastes, in transporting products, and in materials composition.

"Unfortunately," Hair continued, "useable water supplies are dwindling because of contamination, mismanagement and waste. We hope that during the course of the year we can impress Americans that water protection and conservation are priority issues."

It takes the average person six-tenths of a second to walk one pace.

YOUR BACK & YOUR HEALTH

Back injury study made in California

One of the most revealing studies of industrial back injuries was completed in December, 1972, of records of the California Division of Labor Statistics and Research. One of the reasons the study was initiated was because back injuries had risen as a proportion of total lost-time work injuries.

Essentially, the study compared cases treated by medical doctors versus those treated by chiropractors. To make the test both timely and fair, starting at a given date the first 500 back injury reports signed by M.D.'s and the first 500 signed by chiropractors were used for evaluation.

Here are the results. Av-

DR. W. ATKINSON
DIRECTOR

erage number of work days lost: M.D.'s, 32; chiropractors, 15.6. Those reporting complete recovery: M.D.'s, 34.8%; chiro-practitioners, 51%. Employees reporting no work days lost: M.D.'s, 21%; chiropractors, 47.9%. Employees reporting loss of over 60 days: M.D.'s, 13.2%; chiropractors, 6.7%.

In nearly every area of comparison, chiropractic was twice as effective in the treatment of industrial back injuries. Now the facts, as revealed in this impartial study, clearly show what so many have known for years. Chiropractic works.

★ Severance Pay For Farmers

Charles B. Shuman, Illinois farmer and former president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has an idea. He knows that government farm programs have cost taxpayers about $114 billion since their inception in the 30's and that farm income continues as a perennial problem. His idea is to get rid of government farm programs by giving farmers severance pay to simply get out and be done with it.

It would work this way: farmers would compute how much they were getting from deficiency payments and other federal price subsidies, and enter a claim for that amount. They'd then get it back in the form of severance pay and get back on the marketplace. There would be a three year transition period to provide a cushion.

To those who ask, "Is he serious?"—the answer is that Shuman is a serious economist. The problem is that Congress is not a serious economist. It has no plan to release farmers now in government programs to broader opportunities in the marketplace, which the Shuman "school of agricultural economics" insists is the best place for farmers to really make money and where taxpayers are shed of uncommon burdens that sully the good image of farmers. This year, farm program costs have reached an all-time annual high of $20 billion. And what's the new problem? It's the same as the old problem—farm income.

At the very least, what Shuman's idea can do is to stimulate some long-needed thinking on a long-term farm income solution. It's a blow struck for those who believe, like Shuman, that farmers should stop the stop-gaps and insist on a clear road to deliver their produce to consumer markets and not to government storage bins.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

This past week I went to Lansing to get a first-hand look at the business of government. To say that I am in a state of shock is to put it mildly. If you need a cause to get your teeth in, can I suggest one—A PART TIME LEGISLATURE. You've already got one but they're billing you for full-time pay and elaborate fringe benefits. I couldn't believe what my eyes saw—not smooth running, well deliberated debate—NO—GOVERNMENT BY CRONYISM. Their official working day lasted 40 minutes. The representatives were milling around talking to each other and would hurry back to their desk when their vote was needed—or they sat at their desk on the phone while the votes were being taken.

Legislators have acquired a mystique in the rarified atmosphere of Lansing, spending other people's hard-earned money. Your trust in them on the whole is ill-advised. They appear more interested in furthering their own power and prestige, voting with the IN-GROUP in order to curry favor, and generally making things uncomfortable for those representatives who truly represent the people. That's why recalling those Senators and Representatives who do not reflect their constituents' wishes has become so necessary. Certainly the framers of the Constitution understood this self-serving facet of human nature and that "power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely" when they provided for recall.

Forty-five states manage to get their business conducted on a part-time basis so let's acknowledge that we already have a part-time legislature and save ourselves some time and money. You can help by signing or circulating a petition for a part-time legislature.

Christine Crowner,
Saline.

Your Health Options

By Beverly Chetick

Director of Health Education, Washtenaw County Health Dept.

People seem to be talking a lot about lifestyle and wellness and fitness. Is this a new health fad? Not really. The current belief, which is supported by research, is that people have much more control over their health than they take the credit, or responsibility for.

Over the years, people have blamed their fatal diseases on one thing and another: unclean water supplies, smallpox and pneumonia often have led the list.

Today, with the advent of modern plumbing, immunizations and antibiotics, people have learned it's the chronic diseases like stroke, heart disease and cancer that are the primary killers.

These diseases are most influenced by "lifestyle"—that is, a person's eating, smoking and exercising patterns as well as the techniques used for handling stress.

It may seem easy for people to change their lifestyles, but that's not always the case. Sometimes people aren't even aware that their habits are increasing their chances of dying early or reducing the quality of their lives. If they don't know how they measure up, it's certainly difficult to change.

To help people find out if their lifestyles are excellent, good, risky or hazardous, the Washtenaw County Health Department has developed two pencil and paper "Lifestyle Profiles—one for adults, a second for adolescents—that people can complete in their own homes. For a free copy of the "Profiles" and the booklet, "The Wellness Revolution," please call the Health Education Office at 973-1488 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

One Measles Case Found Here; Free Vaccinations Offered

The Chelsea school district has one confirmed case of measles, and officials are taking steps to contain the problem right there.

Assistant superintendent Fred Mills said a student at the high school has come down with the highly contagious disease, which is usually not serious except for a few days of illness but occasionally has some bad side effects.

Several cases of measles have been reported in the Ann Arbor public schools. One case each was reported from Ann Arbor, Gabriel Richard High School, Milan and Chelsea.

"Any time we get a case of any highly contagious communicable disease, we are concerned about it," Mills said. "We certainly don't want it to spread, and we are taking measures to see that it doesn't."

Mills said there are "a few" students in the Chelsea school system whose records show they have not been vaccinated against measles for one reason or another. Vaccination provides immunity against the disease.

"In some instances students have not been vaccinated for religious reasons, and in others there were medical reasons not to give the shots," Mills said. "I suspect we have some transfer students who actually have been vaccinated but whose school medical records don't show it because the information hasn't been sent to us by the schools they came from."

A special measles vaccination clinic was held at the high school on Monday after having been postponed from Friday because Chelsea schools were closed due to slippery roads. Junior high and elementary students wanting the vaccination were bused to the high school. The shots were given free.

To get the anti-measles shot, students had to present permission forms signed by a parent or guardian.

"Any students who has not previously been immunized against measles and who declines to be vaccinated now will be sent home for a mandatory 10 days, which is considered to be the incubation period for measles," Mills said. "That is state law, and we will comply with it. I don't expect there will be very many, if any, such instances."

Students who missed Monday's clinic at the high school can secure free vaccinations at county-wide clinics sponsored by the Washtenaw Health Department from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. today and tomorrow at 555 Towner St., Ypsilanti.

Those clinics will offer a range of immunization shots including not only measles but also rubella (German measles), mumps, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough) and polio. Further information may be obtained by calling 973-1488.

Two Sheep Shearing Schools Set

Two sheep shearing schools will be held this year, one at St. Louis and the other at the Michigan Live Stock Exchange in Manchester. Purpose of these schools is to help you learn the skill of shearing sheep. Instructors include: Paul Taylor, professional shearer from Marysville, O.; Graydon Blank, retired MSU sheep specialist; Larry Mrozinski, MSU sheep specialist; and Bill Ames, extension Agriculture agent.

Date of the Manchester School are Friday, March 23, and Saturday, March 24. Each session will start at 9 a.m. and end at 4 p.m. All equipment along with sheep to shear will be provided. Everyone is responsible for their own meals (lunch will be available at the yards), transportation and lodging if needed.

Registration is on a first-come, first served basis as we can only accommodate 20 people. Register as soon as possible. Send check or money order, payable to MSU Shearing School, for $30 to Larry Mrozinski, 105 Anthony Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing 48824. The telephone number is (517) 353-1748. You will receive confirmation of your registration along with more information after March 1.

The shearing schools are sponsored by the Michigan Livestock Exchange, Mid-State Wool Growers, Michigan Sheep Breeders Association, and the Co-operative Extension Service.

For local information, contact Bill Ames at the Washtenaw Co-operative Extension Service at 973-9510.

Township Board Members Attend State Convention

Arlene Howe, Julie Knight, Jim Drolett and Doug Smith of the Dexter Township Board were among the more than 1,800 township officials and others who travelled to Dearborn on Jan. 24-27 to learn more about key issues in township government at the 31st annual Educational Convention of the Michigan Townships Association (MTA).

They heard speeches by Governor James Blanchard and U.S. Congressman Robert Davis of Gaylord at Wednesday morning's opening session.

MTA executive director John M. La Rose, 1983-84 MTA president Wallace Blerlein, and National Association of Towns and Townships president George Miller also addressed the delegates.

They also attended educational workshops on township duties and township problems on Wednesday and Thursday. On Thursday evening, they attended a formal banquet, as did numerous federal and state legislators and state officials.

The convention ended with Friday morning's annual business meeting, during which the association's members elected officers and took positions on a wide variety of issues, ranging from solid waste management to state revenue sharing to federal economic development funds.

The MTS, based in Lansing Charter Township, provides lobbying and educational services to nearly 98 percent of Michigan's 1,243 townships and 6,500 elected officials.

John Bowdish, II, Completes Army Basic Training

Army Pvt. John L. Bowdish, II, son of John L. and Jacqueline G. Bowdish of 17525 Bowdish Rd., Gregory, has completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Slippery Roads Cause School Closing Friday

Chelsea schools were closed last Friday because of extremely slippery conditions on rural roads.

Thawing temperatures and light rain turned packed snow into ice and left a film of water on top. "I think some of our buses might have made most of their runs sideways if the drivers had tried to go out," assistant superintendent Fred Mills said. "It was a temporarily very dangerous situation."

Chelsea's Friday night basketball game against Lincoln went ahead as scheduled.

"We have a policy which says, in effect, that on any day when we close the schools and send students home after classes have started, we automatically cancel all events scheduled for that day.

"When we call off school early in the morning, before classes begin, we wait until noon, make a judgment on the weather and road conditions, and then decide what to do about athletic contests and other evening activities."

"In this case things had changed enough for the better that we had no concern about sending a team basketball bus over paved roads down to Willis. We did cancel the fan bus. Only about a dozen persons had signed up for it."

Manufacturing industries will still be an important source of new jobs during the next decade, according to new projections published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in the November Monthly Labor Review.

Chelsea Scores 85, But Lincoln Tallies 105 To Win Game

Chelsea varsity basketball coach Paul Ash wanted his Bulldogs to go out and score some points in last Friday's game against Lincoln, and they did, marking up a season-high 85.

Only trouble was that the home-team Railsplitters recorded 105 in a remarkable display of shooting from all over the court. They hit 47 of 91 field goal attempts, better than 50 percent, and added 11 of 18 free throws for good measure.

Chelsea, meanwhile, hit a very respectable 35 of 77 for 45 percent from the field and canned 15 of 18 free throws, both statistics good enough to win most games. Lincoln was just plain red-hot and shot the eyes out of the basket.

"We have had trouble scoring in recent games, and I told the boys to go out and shoot," Ash said. "I wanted them to take the good, open shots instead of passing the ball off, and they did. It was our best shooting game of the season. Lincoln just shot a little bit better. It seemed like they couldn't miss, especially when we got close."

Getting into a run-and-gun game with Lincoln may just be a losing proposition. The Railsplitters are tall, quick and, most important, deadly when they get an opening to fire the ball.

The Railsplitters' 105 points are the most recorded by a Southeastern Conference team in league competition this season. Chelsea's 85 is second-best.

Actually, the Bulldogs played decent defense but couldn't stop

Lincoln from hitting the target. The Railsplitters continually scored on low-percentage shots with defenders swarming all over them.

"You won't see a high school team shoot that well very often," Ash said of Lincoln. "They are extremely talented on offense and they all had hot hands. If they always shot like that, they would be state champions."

The combined total of 190 points was not a record, but it was a bunch for a 32-minute high school basketball game. Some pro contests, which go for 60 minutes, don't produce that many. It's a rarity for a high school team to go over the 100-mark, which requires scoring at a rate of better than three points a minute.

The first quarter was about even as both teams' shooters sizzled. Lincoln wound up with a 28-26 margin and widened it to 57-45 at the half. The Railsplitters out-scored the Bulldogs in each of the last two periods to earn their eventual 20-point edge.

Chelsea's Marty Steinhauer, who has been on a hot streak lately, led both teams with a game-high 29 points. Eric Schaffner had 16 for the Bulldogs and David Kiel 13.

Lincoln had five players in double figures, and that turned out to be the difference.

The victory enabled Lincoln to stay on the heels of Milan in the contest for first place in the Southeastern Conference. Chelsea dropped into a distant tie for third. Both teams had non-league games scheduled last night.

Varsity Wrestlers Finish Dual Season

Chelsea's varsity wrestling team wound up its regular season schedule of Southeastern Conference dual meets with a solid 57-10 thumping of Milan and a 4-1 mark going into Saturday's SEC meet which will be held here. The Bulldogs were to take on Jackson Lumen Christi there tonight.

Only team to beat the Bulldogs was Saline, which is fourth-ranked in the state in Class B. "Realistically, we can't beat Saline," Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel said, "but we are a lot closer to them than we were at the start of the season. Our team has come along well. We're getting points in the upper weight classes that we were conceding last year and the early part of this year. We're much better balanced."

Results of the Milan meet:

Doug Harden (98 pounds) won 14-10 decision.

Pete Hanna (105) won by pin in 1:43.

Bob Torres (112) won by forfeit.

Ron Bogdanski (118) won 8-6 decision.

Andy Fenton (126) lost 16-7 decision.

Jeff Morgan (132) won 11-6 decision.

Tom Nemeth (138) won by pin in 1:39.

Eric Stofflet (145) won by pin in 2:41.

Rick Cook (155) won by pin in 1:13.

Dave Gipson (167) won by pin in 2:43.

Mark Porath (185) won by forfeit.

Dave Shoemaker (198) won by forfeit.

Jeff Larson (heavyweight) lost by pin.

JV Wrestlers Perform Well in Conference Meet

Chelsea took nine junior varsity wrestlers to the Southeastern Conference JV meet at Dexter, and eight of them placed fourth or better.

Team scores were not kept, but the young Bulldogs clearly did very well on the unofficial count.

Chelsea placers included:

Andy Fenton (126 pounds), first.

Ron Grifka (138), second.

Marty Poljan (138), third.

Mark Edick (145), first.

Jim Boritzski (145), second.

Curtis Heard (155) first.

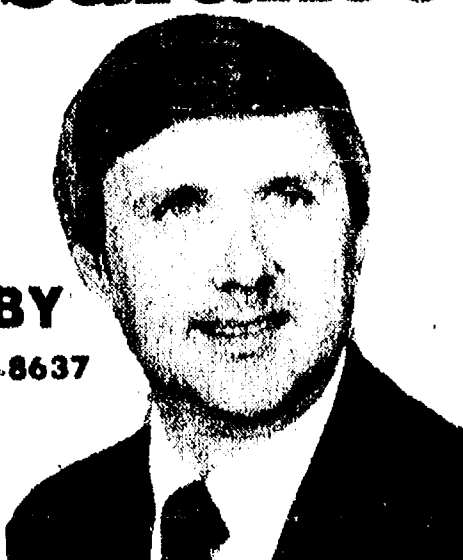

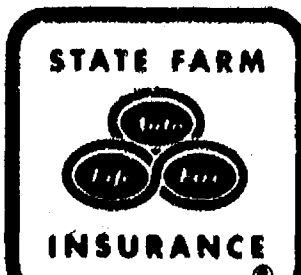

Chris Zangara (155), fourth.

Rick Proctor (198), second.

Wrestlers Show Well In Invitational

Chelsea's varsity team placed fourth among the 16 schools entered in the Athens Invitational meet on Jan. 28.

Battle Creek Lakeview won with 206 points, followed by Pennfield with 161½ and Jackson Northwest with 161. Chelsea scored 122.

"It was a very good meet for us," Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel said. "We showed a lot of improvement, especially in the upper weights. We're developing into a solid team up and down the eight classes."

The Bulldogs did not have an individual champion in any division, but took a bunch of lower places.

Pete Hanna (105) and Jeff Morgan (126) both won seconds. Dave Shoemaker was third at 198. Bob Torres (112), Eric Stofflet (145) and Dave Gibson (167) earned fourths. Rick Cook (155) and Steve Wingrove (185) finished fifth in their divisions.

Emergency Phone Numbers Wrong in Target Directory

The EMS Commission of Washtenaw county at their Jan. 27 meeting reviewed the emergency numbers listed in the Eastern Jackson and Western Washtenaw County's Target Directories, Inc. phone directory.

EMS Commission supports the efforts of the villages of Chelsea, Dexter and Manchester to obtain corrections to the incorrect emergency numbers listed.

It is important for anyone receiving this directory to contact their local fire, police or ambulance service to properly note the numbers listed incorrectly for Chelsea, Dexter and Manchester on the emergency numbers page of the directory.

During times of stress, proper location of emergency numbers is critical. Efforts on the part of citizens prior to any corrections being made by Target Directories, Inc., the publisher of the directory, could potentially save time when contacting an agency for emergency assistance.

Dexter Tops Chelsea, 57-48, To Achieve Season Series Tie

Dexter evened its season basketball series with Chelsea a week ago Tuesday night with a home-floor 57-48 victory in a game that both teams had chances to win. A late surge by the Dreadnaughts after Chelsea had pulled from behind into a 42-all tie got the job done.

Chelsea had won an earlier clash between the two down-the-road rivals. They may or may not meet again in the Southeastern Conference and district tournaments, depending on the luck of the draw and who beats whom in the preliminary rounds.

Last Tuesday's contest was about as close as you can get through the first half, with both teams playing intense defensive basketball and missing opportunities on offense.

Chelsea held a 12-11 edge at the end of the first quarter thanks to a length-of-the-court buzzer shot by Eric Schaffner, a line-drive baseball throw that went through the hoop as if it had eyes. This reporter has never seen a longer field goal while watching hundreds of basketball games.

Dexter came back to lead by one, 25-24, at the half in a ding-dong battle of defenses—the Dreadnaughts collapsing zone vs. the Bulldog half-court trap.

The second half saw Dexter begin to get the ball inside to agile 6-5 center Darryl Dittmer, who scored 13 of his game-high 19 points during the final 16 minutes.

Down 42-34, the Bulldogs rallied with eight unanswered points to tie the score with 5½ minutes to play, only to have Dexter reply with nine straight tallies to lock up the decision.

"Sure, I was worried when Chelsea came from behind and tied it up," Dexter coach Jim McCormack said after the game. "They temporarily took the momentum away from us when it looked like we were in control."

"I'm proud of the way my kids kept their cool, settled down and came on strong. They played extremely well during the last few minutes."

Chelsea coach Paul Ash naturally had a different view. "We got the tie, had possession of the ball and were positioned to take the lead," he said. "We couldn't score when we needed to. That's been the story of our season. We can't put the ball in the basket consistently."

Dittmer proved to be the difference with his strong inside play, picking off 15 rebounds to go with his 19 points.

"Darryl was open underneath during the first half, but we couldn't get the ball in to him because Chelsea was trapping our guards," McCormack said. "We made some adjustments at the half, and they paid off."

Eric Meistrup put in 12 points for the Dreadnaughts. Dan Schlaff 10 and Mike McDonald eight.

Chelsea opened the game with a new look—a three-guard offense which put freshman Todd Starkey into a starting role—as Ash sought to inject more quickness into his lineup.

That ended when Starkey suffered what apparently was a mild concussion in a collision that knocked him flat on the floor and forced him to sit out more than half the game. It was an accident, one of those things that frequently happen in a sport that theoretically involves no body contact.

"I won't say that Starkey's injury cost us the game, but it sure didn't help," Ash said. "The three-guard offense was working pretty well, and I would like to have gone back to it in the second half."

As Chelsea opponents have done with success in recent games, Dexter based its strategy on a zone defense designed to keep the Bulldogs from getting the ball inside to center David Kiel.

"He's a real horse in there," McCormack said of Kiel. "He's big and strong. You have to keep the ball away from him and force Chelsea to shoot from outside."

Ash agreed with that appraisal. "We're going to see nothing but zone defenses until we show we can shoot over them and open up the inside," he said. "So far, we haven't been able to do that."

Kiel had a creditable 14 points despite all the pressure put on him, one fewer than Marty Steinhauer who led the Bulldogs with 15. Schaffner had eight.

Dexter was to play Milan at home on Friday night, and the Dreadnaughts' chances looked better after the Big Reds, previously unbeaten in league play, were drubbed by Saline on Tuesday.

Chelsea travelled to Lincoln, not the easiest place to play for a team that has run into all kinds of trouble and is finding it difficult to get back on track.

Chelsea JV Cagers Defeat Dexter, 48-44

Although the Bulldog varsity lost to Dexter a week ago Tuesday night, the Chelsea JV's won a tight 48-44 decision by hanging on down the stretch with stubborn determination.

"In some ways it was our best game of the season," Bullpup coach Marlin Wilson said. "We shot badly—only 27 percent from the field—but we out-rebounded a bigger team and we had only five turn-overs. Our 33-23 edge in rebounds is what really made the difference. Otherwise, it was a very even ball game."

"We played good defense again, just as we have been doing in recent games. We didn't give up anything easy. And we didn't make many mistakes except for missed shots."

Chelsea got out in front, 44-40, late in the fourth quarter, then swapped points the rest of the way to maintain its lead.

Ken Martin led the Bullpups, with 16 points, including 8 of 10 free-throw attempts. Kevin Maynard scored 11. Dan Bellus and Ray Spencer hauled in eight rebounds apiece, John Jedele seven and Maynard six.

Freshman Cagers Have Hot Game at Foul Line

Chelsea's freshman basketball team put on an exhibition of free throw shooting that their elders on the varsity and JV teams would have to try hard to match, while defeating Milan, 53-38, here last week.

The frosh sank 21 of 27 from the line and at one stage put in 13 in a row, a remarkable performance for ninth-graders. Even professional teams don't usually do that well.

"I was really happy about that," coach Ted Hendricks said, "because it's something you don't expect from freshmen. It made an easy game out of what otherwise might have been a tough one."

The Chelsea freshmen also shot 40 percent from the field while raising their season record to 4-6.

Mark Bareis led the way with 18 points, including 10 of 10 from the foul line. He also had six rebounds and two blocked shots.

Matt Steinhauer scored eight and had a game-high 10 rebounds. Matt Bohlender and Randy Hafner chipped in seven points apiece. Bohlender pulled down seven rebounds and made three steals.

"It was a good game for us," Hendricks said. "Everybody who was physically able to play got in to the game. We were ahead and in control all the way."

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

If the red tape can be untangled, Michigan will one day soon receive a shipment of 200 pheasants from the People's Republic of China. The birds will come from an area in China which is said to be similar in climate and habitat to southern Michigan.

Chinese officials responded with unexpected alacrity to Michigan's request for a "gift" of the pheasants. U.S. Department of Agriculture officials have bogged down the plan by insisting that the birds be quarantined for several weeks at the port of entry, with the state to pay a "room and board" charge at the rate of $10 or so a day per bird. Michigan's wildlife division doesn't have that kind of money available in its budget. What the USDA is talking about would amount to $60,000 or more.

The federal agency's concern is that some new poultry disease might be accidentally introduced into this country. It's a legitimate worry in a technical sense, but it overlooks the practical fact that pheasants from all over the Orient have been imported for the past 80 years or so with no harm done. There is no reason to think that this shipment would carry some exotic virus or bacteria that hasn't already been exposed to United States' birds many times over nearly a century.

My guess is that the USDA will be forced to back off from its unrealistic stance, and that the Chinese pheasants will eventually get here. Then what?

The birds will go to the state game farm near Mason and will be used as breeding stock to determine if a transfusion of new blood into Michigan's wild pheasants might help them to come back from their present deep and continuing slump. The Michigan strain of birds which did so well during early years has not adapted to long-term changes in weather and habitat.

The Michigan pheasant is a mixture of several different species and varieties which were brought into the state more or less indiscriminately by both public agencies and private bird fanciers. There are dozens of different kinds of pheasants in the far East, where they are native, and what we have in this state today is an inter-bred population of birds imported from all over—various sections of China, Mongolia, Korea, Malaya, Indonesia, and, no doubt, other places.

Back in the good old days when it was possible for a party of pheasant hunters to shoot six or eight or more roosters during a day, it was interesting to lay out the bag and compare the birds, because no two looked exactly alike. There were differences in feather patterns and coloration. Some were lighter, some darker. The width of the white collar around the neck varied from an inch to none at all.

I went out to South Dakota a couple of times to shoot pheasants, and found there a distinctly different bird—a bit smaller, definitely less vividly colored, faster flying, more likely to flush and fly instead of running.

Back to the Chinese imports, assuming they arrive. Two hundred is not a big number, and would mean nothing if the birds were simply turned loose in the wild. However, pheasants can multiply rapidly in captivity.

In the news stories that I have read there has been no mention of the breakdown by sexes, but I think it safe to assume that at least half the immigrants will be hens. Female pheasants are prolific egg layers, especially if their eggs are gathered every day so that the birds can't accumulate a clutch and begin to incubate them. Each hen can be expected to produce 50 or more eggs during a laying season, with a fertility rate of 80 percent or better.

Technology learned at the Mason game farm during the years of the put-take pheasant program, which is scheduled to expire, can be put to work in breeding the birds from China, and hatching and rearing their offspring. Stocking plans have not been announced. Obviously, it will be necessary to release enough birds in small areas to make them a dominant local force during spring mating time. Otherwise, the new blood will be diluted to the point where it will make no difference.

No miracles should be anticipated. Several years ago Michigan imported a small bunch of Korean pheasants and released them in the Thumb counties which were once the state's best ringneck territory. They either disappeared or were absorbed into the local pheasant population. No distinct trace of them was ever found. The Korean birds were smaller and different-colored than their distant Michigan cousins and presumably would have shown up had they reproduced successfully as a discrete population.

Some introductions of new wildlife work, some don't, and there is no way of predicting which will and which won't. Despite all that has been learned over the years, wildlife management remains a trial-and-error adventure by the biologists in charge.

I give a lot of credit to the Michigan wildlifers who have solicited the gift of pheasants from China and intend to try something once they get the birds. It would be nice if the federal bureaucrats would remove the roadblocks so the experiment can get underway.
