Kozminski Lawyers Petition for Reversal Of Slavery Verdicts

Attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Ike Kozminski and their son, John Kozminski, all of South Lima township, have filed petitions asking that federal district Judge Charles W. Joiner either set aside Jury verdicts against them on slavery charges or at least grant new trials.

Chances that the pro forma requests will be granted are slim. What the Kozminskis' lawyers are asking is that Judge Joiner acknowledge errors in conducting the two-week trial. Judges rarely admit they might have been wrong about anything.

Specifically, the Kozminskis' attorney team asked a reversal of the jury's rulings, or new trials, on the basis that:

1. Judge Joiner's definition of slavery, included in his final instructions to the jury, was too broad and vague, reaching back into the 19th century.

2. Judge Joiner erred by admitting into the trial record testimony about the living conditions of the two alleged "slaves," Robert Fulmer and Louis Molitoris, then later instructing the jury to disregard it as irrelevant to the central issue of involuntary servitude. Relevant or not, the testimony prejudiced the jury, the Kozminski lawyers claimed.

3. Judge Joiner should not have allowed testimony by a prosecution witness, Dr. Harley Stock, who said that Fulmer and Molitoris were "psychological hostages" of the Kozminski family. Dr. Stock, who admitted that he was paid to testify, was accused of using unproven psychological theories to reach his conclusions.

If Judge Joiner rejects the petitions as he is expected to do, the stage will have been set for an appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, O.

Governor Seeks Upgraded Housing At Cassidy Lake

Gov. Blanchard has inserted an $800,000 item in his 1984-85 executive budget as a start on replacement of old wooden cabin units at Cassidy Lake Technical School.

A second appropriation of $800,000 would be required in 1985-86 to complete the proposed $1.6 million housing replacement program.

Besides the fact that the buildings, which were constructed in 1939 as temporary housing units, are very costly to maintain and operate, they contribute to the problem of security at the institution.

Department of Corrections officials believe that modern housing for prisoners would make it easier to prevent escapes.

"Although we're still in the very early planning stages and don't have any drawings or diagrams, I think we are looking at the possibility of a couple of two-story dormitory type buildings to replace the cabins," Cassidy Lake superintendent John Staten said.

The cabins house eight persons each and are scattered over a large area of the prison grounds.

"Larger buildings in central locations would make things a lot easier for our security people and enable them to keep a tighter watch on things," Staten said.

Although the governor's recommendation is an important first step, the proposal to spend money for new housing at Cassidy Lake has a long way to go. It has to pass through a long, involved legislative budget process which will be especially difficult this year because Blanchard's total budget recommendation is for no increases. Boosts in any area would have to be matched by cuts somewhere else.

Committee Seeks Scholarship Funds

Chelsea Scholarship and Financial Aid Committee is seeking donations to carry on its work of helping deserving high school students further their educational goals following graduation.

Virtually all funds collected are paid out each year to the students selected for scholarship aid. Seventeen 1983 graduates received financial help from the fund.

Contributions should be sent to the Chelsea Scholarship Fund, Chelsea High school, and should be received by May 7 so recipients may be selected in time for Class Night ceremonies.

Contributors are asked to consider the possibilities of establishing an ongoing fund, either for student loan purposes or one where the annual earned interest becomes available for scholarships.

Aeillo Case Hearing Set

Preliminary examination of Chelsea police chief Robert Aeillo on a felony charge of embezzlement is scheduled to begin tomorrow morning before District Judge Thomas Shea in Ann Arbor.

The purpose of a preliminary examination is to determine if there is enough evidence in the case to justify binding it over to circuit court for trial. A defendant may either demand or waive examination as he chooses.

County prosecutor William F. Delhey has assigned one of his assistants, Larry Burgess, to handle the Aeillo case in court.

Aeillo is represented by attorney Steven M. Jentzen of Ypsilanti.

The police chief is charged with embezzlement of more than $50 in public funds, a felony, apparently in connection with handling of traffic and parking fines. Delhey has said the amount involved, as determined by a special audit, is less than $1,000.

On Jan. 6 village officials asked Delhey to investigate alleged shortages in traffic fine funds. Delhey, in turn, requested the state police to conduct the probe.

When the investigation, including the audit, was completed, Delhey authorized a warrant for Aeillo's arrest for embezzlement, saying, "I believe the evidence supports the charge."

Aeillo surrendered voluntarily on Feb. 10, was arraigned and released on his own recognizance without bond.

A public discussion on petitions by village residents asking that Aeillo be returned to active duty as police chief was to be held at last night's village council meeting.

Faith in Action Plans Dinner Event

Birmingham Man Killed in Crash South of Chelsea

Victor Sitto, 18, of Birmingham was killed last Sunday afternoon when the car he was driving east toward Ann Arbor crossed the median on I-94 near Freer Rd. and collided head-on with a west-bound tractor-trailer truck.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Chelsea Community Hospital of massive head and internal injuries. His car was demolished, sheriff's officers said.

The truck driver, Robert L. Smith, 50 of Detroit, was unhurt and his vehicle relatively undamaged.

Monte Carlo Festival Slated At Chelsea Legion Home

More than $300 million in counterfeit money has been assembled by the members of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club and American Legion Post 31 for a Monte Carlo gambling festival set for March 3. The counterfeit funds are guarded like real money because lucky gamblers will convert their winnings into valuable prizes donated by Chelsea business owners.

The biggest winners of all will be a number of social service agencies and benevolent organizations in the community which will benefit from contributions generated by the Monte Carlo event.

The March 3 funfest, which begins at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Home on Cavanaugh Lake, is a second annual event and is expected to last to the wee hours of March 4.

Tickets, which call for a donation of $5, are available at Strieter's Men's Wear and Chelsea Lumber Co. Each ticket holder is awarded $1 million in play money which may be used at crap tables, blackjack tables and other games of chance. There will also be a drawing for valuable door prizes.

Legion Commander Verne

Salsburg commented, "This is good, clean fun where neighbors can share an evening of early spring merriment." Dave Rank, president of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club, added, "The Legion and the Rod and Gun Club are civic, non-profit organizations. We welcome public support for our own community projects as well as the social service agencies who share in the funds from our Monte Carlo event."

From 30 to 40 members of the Legion and the conservation club donate their time as organizers, gambling dealers, food preparers and bartenders.

Tug and Barge Project May Be Scrapped

The state's venture into the shipbuilding business could come to a close this month with negotiations looking promising for the sale of the subsidized Upper Peninsula Shipbuilding Company (UPSCO) and a possible decision to scrap the partially completed tug and barge.

The actions would leave the state virtually nothing to show for its $41 million investment, but officials say they have aggressively pursued, with total futility, all other alternatives.

Superior Shipbuilding Co. of Wisconsin has offered a little over $3 million for the yard at Ontonagon and its attorney has told the state it is in substantial agreement with UPSCO shareholders.

A final agreement would have to be approved by federal bankruptcy court, the state and other creditors.

State Transportation Chief Deputy Director Robert Mitchell said he is pleased with the development, because it is the only specific proposal on the table.

He said he is concerned about what the Wisconsin company would do with the shipyard to provide employment in the western Upper Peninsula and would like to see the proposal to see how the state, which holds 90 percent of the debts against UPSCO, would be treated.

The money offered by Superior would go to the creditors, but how it would be divided is not yet known, he said.

The only other offer was from Williamston businessman John McGoff who offered no money down and $9 million over 10 years, but he is holding off pending resolution of the Superior offer.

Sale of the shipyard would force the state to decide what to do with the partially completed, but as yet unusable, 85 percent complete tug and barge, which were to transport freight cars across Lake Michigan, Mitchell said.

Scrapping the two vessels, Mitchell said, is "the sounder business decision even though it represents a dramatic decision in the loss of money."

He said the state would gain only $50,000-$60,000 for the steel, following the costs to cut it up and could perhaps get $1.5 million for the two $3 million engines purchased for the tug.

Mitchell said the state has

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb is as red blooded as any American ever, but you wouldn't know it from the way he was talking during the session at the country store Saturday night. He told the fellows if any of em doubted democracy is the worst kind of government ever cooked up, all they got to do is go to one of them board meetings that's supposed to take government out of the courthouse and in the hands of the people.

The trouble is, Zeke declared, folks don't know what to do with government when they get their hands on it, and that's the reason we pick a few people to speak for a lot of people. When everybody is trying to steer the ship of state, nobody can steer it, was Zeke's words. He said he and about 75 other citizens went to a county board meeting out here at the fire station recent, and all they proved was that representatives can't do much representing when folks they represent are yelling at them from ever direction.

The part went smooth where the board members told how pleased they were that so many citizens had come out to see their government at work. But work stopped when the board ask if any of em had anything to say. It turned out, Zeke said, that everybody had somepun to say so they could stand up and be recognized in front of their neighbors. They spent more than two hours raking the board over the coals, mostly about things the board can't do a thing about. After they wound down, Zeke said, the board wound up putting off its business until the next meeting back at the courthouse where it could get some peace and quiet.

The fellows jumped on Zeke like a frog on a fly. Bug Hookum allowed Zeke probable was riled up because he was the only citizen that couldn't think of a thing to bring up before the board and all the other citizens. It's allus the feller that wants to be talking that thinks the feller that is is wasting everybody's time, was Bug's words.

Clem Webster was strong disagreed with Zeke and slight disagreed with Bug. Clem made a case for elected officials making decisions, but he said they first got to hear the people on the issues. To many times, Clem declared, policy comes first and people second. Fer instant, he said he was not ready to believe that most citizens of San Francisco want to pay death benefits to homosexual partners of city employees, like they were husbands or wives, but that's new policy there.

Ed Doolittle turned the talk back to taking government on the road. He said Zeke's reasoning was all wrong. Local boards across the country ain't holding meetings in crossroads schools and clubhouses this time of year to hear the citizens, they're doing it so the voters can see and hear them. Election years have a way of bringing government temporary closer to the people, was

TO JOG OR NOT TO JOG

A few years ago, jogging was considered a fad. Many people who pooh-poohed it, who thought it silly or boring, have since taken it up and are finding that it enriches their lives in a variety of ways.

This is particularly true for people who have been leading sedentary existences. Also, they are the ones who probably should be most cautious. It's important to remember that the entire body should be gradually involved in exercise. But nowhere is quick, increased movement felt as painfully as in the feet.

The feet must be gradually initiated. Tendons and muscles may lack muscle tone or strength, or the tendons may be stiff and tight. Sudden exerache and pain if they are put to work to long too soon.

Begin slowly and build up. And to minimize stress and jarring, it would be wise to run on a cinder track, dirt, or grass, rather than on concrete. Most importantly, visit your podiatrist if you experience any foot pain that won't go away.

Tofu Workshop Slated By Chelsea Community Ed.

Tofu is a high-protein, low-fat food that has been used as a staple in the Far East for centuries. It is becoming increasingly popular among Americans who are looking for ways to cut down on the fats and sodium in their diets.

Tofu's mild flavor makes it easily adaptable to a wide variety of dishes, including desserts, and it is considerably less expensive than meat.

Chelsea Community Education is offering a workshop on Monday, Feb. 27 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. for those who are interested in exploring the many ways of preparing this nourishing food.

Teresa Freed, editor of "The Foodletter," will help workshop participants prepare a number of dishes, including desserts, and will give many ideas for adding it to your own favorite recipes.

You may register for the workshop by calling the Chelsea Community Education Offices at 475-9830. It will meet in the Chelsea High school home economics room, and costs $7. Recipes are included in the fee.

'Pippin' Musical Opens Thursday

"Another Opening, Another Show." That phrase may be too familiar to show people, but the phrase has new meaning to about 60 young people and adults who are currently involved in the final week of rehearsals for "Pippin," this year's Chelsea High school musical, opening Thursday, Feb. 23 and running through Feb. 25.

Several of the students were questioned about their reaction to this year's show.

Tom Mull, who plays Charlemagne and also is head of costumes states "It's been a lot of hard work, but I think it will pay off and be a great show."

Those sentiments were agreed to by Gayla Bauer, the leading player, who added, "This show is going to be very revolutionary. The effects in this show have never been used on the Chelsea stage before, which makes the show exciting and challenging."

Marji Rawson, who plays a very "hip" grandmother said, "In comparison to other shows, the whole cast seems very professional. This may be the best show we've done."

Dawn Olson, a troupe member who also worked on setting up the programs said, "Because each troupe member has his or her own character, they are more involved in this musical, which makes the show better all around."

Shawn Quilter, who has the title role of Pippin, mentioned that "A show like this has never been done before on the Chelsea stage. I think the people of Chelsea are really going to like it."

Debbie Morris, who plays Catherine, stated that "I think it's going to be a really good show. We've got the potential to make it the best yet."

Chris Herter, who plays Lewis, said "Everyone put a lot of their time and hard work into this play. It should be a good performance."

Amy Wolter, troupe member and dancer, mentioned that "This show is extremely entertaining. There are always a lot of things happening on stage and most of it is humorous."

Carrie Parkins, who plays a very unordinary housewife and mother, states that "The show is different. I like every single song in the show, and every person is important."

Well, those are some of the opinions of some of the cast members who have been eating and sleeping this show for the last six weeks. Tickets are still available at the Chelsea Drug Store.

Pearson-Vidrich Concert Slated in Ann Arbor Church

"The Voice of Trumpet and Organ" features the trumpet of Byron Pearson accompanied by Dr. Arthur Vidrich at the organ. These two artists have worked together for several years in presenting first-rate performances of works originally composed for trumpet and organ, and works which they have arranged for this exciting combination.

The concert will take place on March 4 at 4:30 p.m. in St. Andrew's church, Catherine and Division Sts., Ann Arbor.

Works by Torelli, Bach, Daniel Purcell, Vivaldi, Vienne, and Ceiller will be performed in the superb acoustics of St. Andrew's. The concert is free and open to the public.

Pearson is professor of trumpet and conductor of the Brass Guild at Oberlin College Conservatory of Music. He has held symphony positions with the New Orleans Philharmonic, the Baltimore Symphony, and the United States Marine Band in Washington, D.C. He is a Chelsea High school graduate.

Dr. Vidrich holds the bachelor of music degree from Duquesne

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

People keep asking me what is the "real scoop" on the investigation into the Chelsea police department's handling of traffic and parking fine money, which culminated in the arrest of chief Robert Aeillo on a felony charge of embezzlement.

My answer is that I don't have any special information. All I know for sure has been printed in the paper, and I'm not going to get into the game of writing rumors and speculation.

The case is in the courts, where it belongs, and I have faith in the judicial system. The truth will come out eventually, although it may take awhile.

News reporters are commonly considered to have access to "inside dope" not available to the public. In some instances that is true, but not nearly as often as you might think. For the most part we sort through the mess of garbage that piles up around any controversy, and try to find some kernels of fact that we are legally entitled and ethically responsible to print.

The honest truth is that I have no idea whether Bob Aeillo has done anything wrong or not. That is for the courts to decide, and I do not intend to make any premature, anticipatory judgments.

Meanwhile, I suggest that we all sit back and wait for the legal process to run its course before making up our minds. In the end there will be a verdict of guilty or not guilty, and that should be decisive whichever way it goes. Does anybody know a better way?

For the record I will say that Bob Aeillo and I have had our differences. His interpretation of the Freedom of Information Act is not the same as mine. That is a not uncommon bone of contention between police officials and news reporters. I have been denied access to police department documents that I believed I had the right to see.

However, I have never had any reason to suspect that Aeillo might be dishonest and, in fact, was surprised when the investigation was launched and the embezzlement charge made. He has impressed me as an "honest cop" who ran a tight ship, maybe too tight, and insisted on keeping everything in his own hands rather than delegating responsibility to subordinates.

No one person should ever assume or be granted sole authority for handling public money. The task should be shared as a matter of "checks and balances." Village officials should look closely into the need to have at least two persons monitor receipts and expenditures in every fund, and jointly account for every penny.

I've heard the argument that much more money was spent in tracking down the alleged embezzlement than the amount said to be missing. That is probably true. Auditors and police investigators don't work cheap.

What we are looking at is a charge of embezzlement of less than $1,000. Educated guesses put the total at somewhere around $600. It could be slightly more or less.

The fact is that the loss of as much as a dime of public funds should be tracked down, no matter what it costs. Stealing is stealing, regardless of the amount. It's like being "a little bit pregnant." You either are or you aren't.

What bothers me is that people in the village are choosing up sides, for or against Aeillo. That kind of impulsiveness will serve no useful purpose, and could, in fact, lead to polarization of the community. Something of the sort is happening down in Milan in a controversy involving a police chief.

Why not wait and see what happens as the case goes through the courts?

If Aeillo is acquitted of the embezzlement charge, he should be returned to duty. If he is convicted, he should be fired. It's that simple.

The suggestion here is that we all "cool it" until we learn the facts and can make reasoned judgments based on what is known for sure. Otherwise, none of us knows what we are talking about.

Lecture on Alcohol Set For March 7

A videotaped lecture by Russell Smith, M.D., entitled "What is Alcohol?" will be featured at Brighton Hospital's next Community Education Program Tuesday, March 6, at 6 p.m.

Dr. Smith, Brighton Hospital's medical director, frequently lectures at professional and community forums on alcoholism and substance abuse. This evening's taped lecture is from the series he conducts during the hospital's patient education program. In his lecture Dr. Smith analyzes how alcohol as a sedative drug affects the human body.

Following the lecture a trained counselor will be available to answer questions about the disease of alcoholism and explain what help is available for both the alcoholic and his or her family.

Brighton Hospital is located on East Grand River at Kensington Road, just off the I-96 freeway.

For additional information and a free schedule of 1984 Community Education Programs, contact the hospital at (313) 227-1211 or the hospital's Outpatient Department at (313) 227-6143.

YOU ARE INVITED TO AN IMPORTANT FREE SEMINAR.

You may think of an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) primarily as an excellent way to obtain a $2,000 deduction on your income tax every year.

Almost everyone with earned income now has that opportunity. But it is also much more than that. It's an opportunity to add substantially to your retirement funds.

What you may not know — and will discover at this special seminar — is that some IRAs do more for your money than others.

You'll learn how some lock you in to one type of investment. How others limit you to a fixed rate of return. While a Merrill Lynch IRA opens up virtually the entire range of investment opportunities to your money during the important accumulation years.

The reason, of course, is to give it more chances to grow faster. You'll learn how you can choose from over 50 different investments. How you can switch from one to another any time your goals change or new opportunities arise. And why you, like more than 750,000 Merrill Lynch IRA customers, who have invested over five billion dollars to date, can have confidence in our world financial leadership and IRA experience.

Before you make a decision as important as a retirement investment, you should know all your choices. We'll explain them to you. The seminar is free, but reservations are essential. To make yours, please call or mail the coupon today.

Black Sheep Theatre Plans Reopening

Coralie Parkins, director, has announced that the Black Sheep Theatre will open its doors for the 1984 season on March 1. "Deathtrap," a comedy-thriller by Ira Levin, and the first of productions slated for the season, will air on that date with additional performances on March 2, 3 and 8, 9, 10 and 15, 16, 17 with curtain at 8:15 p.m. each evening.

"Deathtrap" was first presented in New York City at The Music Box theatre on Feb. 26, 1978 with John Wood and Marian Seldes in the principal roles of Sidney and Myra Bruhl. The Black Sheep Theatre will feature Todd Wurster and Coralie Parkins, both of Chelsea, in these same roles with Clifford Anderson played by Martin Contreras, Helga Ten Dorp by Marina Seeman, and Porter Milgrim by Mark Bernstein. Contreras, Seeman, and Bernstein are all from Ann Arbor.

The play, set in Westport, Conn., revolves around a has-been playwright (Sidney) and his wife (Myra) who are driven to the idea of murder when an aspiring young writer presents what appears to be a best-seller first play based on ideas from a summer seminar taught by Sidney. But that is only the beginning of twists and turns that produce both comedy and spine-chilling terror which builds in suspense until the last shocking moment.

Parkins, along with board members, Brian Kruger, Christoph Kruger, and Todd Wurster, has set new lower ticket prices for the season and is offering group rates to organizations.

For single show or season tickets call: (313) 428-7000.

Farmers, Fishers Must File Tax Returns Soon

Certain farmers and commercial fishers must file their 1983 Federal income tax returns and pay any tax due by March 1, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Persons who earned at least two-thirds of their 1982 or 1983 gross income from farming or fishing and did not pay estimated tax by Jan. 17, 1984, (or who paid by that date and underestimated their tax liability) must file their returns and pay all tax due by March 1, 1984, to avoid paying a penalty.

Free IRS Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," provide additional information.

To order these publications, the IRS said taxpayers should write the IRS address found in their tax package.

Chelsea SESQUICENTENNIAL

Brothers, Belles Sign-Up Meeting Slated

Brothers of the Brush and the Chelsea Belles will have a sign-up meeting at Chelsea High school on Feb. 29 at 7:30 p.m. Every person wishing to belong to a chapter is encouraged to attend.

Kits, including a litterbag, bumper sticker, an official Belles or Brush button and a certificate will be distributed at a cost of $2 per kit. A person may belong to more than one chapter in any area.

The groups that were formed during the 1959 and 1976 celebrations included many activities in their several months of celebrating. Examples are group trips to Tiger ball games in Centennial garb, challenges to neighboring chapters such as euchre tournaments, a tug of war over Letts Creek, a 50-wagon hayride, caravans to neighboring towns, softball games, brunches, and just good plain fun. It has been said that 1959 cannot be repeated—but the Committee feels we might come in a close second with enthusiasm and participation. Remember Chelsea, this is your party!

The Bahamas comprise about 3,000 low islands and rocky islets.

Maple Sugar Harvest Slated at Cobblestone Farm

Sugar-making, a skill taught by the Indians, was one of many crafts important to pioneer life. Traveling to the frontier with a minimum of supplies, backwoodsmen were forced to become self-sufficient, or, parish. White sugar and molasses were practically unobtainable, and maple became the "long sweet'nin'" of pioneer families.

Sugaring is a basically simple process. It involves the gathering of sap and the evaporation of excess water. However, it should not be regarded as easy work. One only has to carry two full sap buckets, weighing 35 pounds each through the knee deep snow of spring in order to appreciate the labor involved.

Cobblestone Farm will recreate this special time of the year at a Maple Sugar Harvest, March 10-11 from 12 noon to 5 p.m. Costumed interpreters will demonstrate the evaporation process as well as sugar making. A variety of maple products will be available for sale. Admission to the event will be $1 for adults, 50 cents to youth and senior citizens. Cobblestone Farm is located at 2781 Packard Rd., Ann Arbor.

For further information, you may call the farm office, 994-2928.

PIK Wheat Acres Should be Reported Now

Wheat crop insurance policyholders will have the opportunity to revise the acreage insured if a portion of the crop is placed in the PIK program. Barbara Cranston, district director of the Federal Crop Insurance Corp., has announced that farmers will also have their premiums reduced with PIK participation.

Farmers are encouraged to report the amount of acreage placed in PIK to their crop insurance agent by March 1, the deadline for reporting.

FCIC increases the policy guarantee for wheat, when the PIK acreage is reported. This is done, according to Cranston, to encourage participation in PIK and to reflect the probability that the producer will increase his efforts to maximize yields on the remaining acres.

Douglas Houk Promoted in Air Force

Houk, a 1980 graduate of Chelsea High school, entered the Air Force in August of 1980.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I read with exuberance and enthusiasm your column on drugs a couple of weeks ago. It was so gratifying to see in print the truth. It is good that someone in your position is willing to publish it as they see it even though, as you stated, it will not win you any popularity contests.

I wish though to carry your article a little further. You ended your article by stating "In order to beat... 'it comes right back to friends, family and CARING parents...' Surely, all things START in the home. It does not mean that if there is an adolescent chemical abuser in a family that the parents are uncaring. I think we have to go a step further and say that as our children leave our homes and go into the educational system, that those people must be CARING parents (people) also. Probably most of our teachers are also parents. Does this mean as they enter the school they stop caring and simply become teachers. God forbid this should be true.

Why is it our school principals tell us we have no drug problem in Chelsea. Statistics prove that 17% of all graduating seniors nationwide use drugs on a regular (daily) basis. Chelsea may not meet the national figure, but as you stated we are not immune. If even 1% of our student body falls into this category we have a problem. It used to be that children behaved in public as they did at home because they knew that every adult was watching and caring for them as their own parents did. Why do we not have this feeling of closeness (caring) anymore? Have we forgotten "Love one another as I have loved you."

Just having (being) caring parents is no guarantee against drug use/abuse. Our children spend more of their waking hours at school than with family. Principals, teachers, school board members all must be caring parents (people) also. They must care for each and every student the way they would wish their children to be cared for.

After discussions with teachers, I know that most of them would be willing to get started on a drug use/abuse program in our schools.

Does the school board not take action because they fear it would reflect badly on them? Let's not worry about pointing fingers of blame. No one group, parents, teachers, etc., can be solely at fault. But if even one of these groups resist doing anything about this problem, then THEY ARE at fault.

Let's fight this harmful illness together.

I, therefore, would like to challenge the school board to come out publicly and announce its support in favor of taking action to fight drug abuse in our schools. I was dismayed to see no mention of any action (in this week's Standard) being taken by the board in the article this week about school board proceedings. All they seemed to be doing was patting each other on the back for what they said were meritorious acts. Nothing could be more meritorious than taking a stand to fight an unpopular issue. I thank you, Mr. Editor, for doing that in your article. You told it like it is.

A Caring Parent.

Unseasonable Warmth Stays With Us for Second Week

It turned a little cooler early this week, but the February thaw definitely stayed around, producing a continuation of unseasonably warm weather as remarkable as it is welcome following near-record cold months of December and January.

The turn-around caught everybody off guard, perhaps because it was so abrupt. One day it was severely cold, as it had been for months and the next day it was balmy, as it now has been for two weeks.

You have to look hard around the area to find a patch or pile of left-over snow, except in places where it has been plowed or dumped.

A reporter for The Standard found daffodils coming up in a sheltered southern exposure next to his house. Pussy willows were beginning to look "pregnant," and there were tinges of green here, there, and everywhere.

Agriculture and garden experts continue to warn that a premature spring probably is not a good thing, because it's likely to cause too early emergence of leaf and flower buds which could be killed in a later cold snap.

Still, this early spring—or whatever it is—remains with us.

Augustana College Band To Present Concert Here

The Augustana College Concert Band of Rock Island, Ill., will present a program at Chelsea High school auditorium on Thursday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m. in a combined performance with the high school orchestra.

Founded in 1874, the Augustana band is the oldest musical organization on a campus widely recognized for its rich heritage in music. During World War I, members of the Augustana Band enlisted as a unit in the service of their country, and in 1928 the band became one of the first American collegiate groups to tour Europe.

Recent tours have taken the band into 20 states, including appearances at Orchestra Hall in Chicago, Town Hall in New York City, Syracuse University in Syracuse, N.Y., and Joslyn Art Museum in Omaha, Neb. This year's tour will include concerts in Illinois, Michigan and the Toronto area of Canada.

Six years ago the band was selected to perform for the Music Educators National Conference in Chicago. In 1978 the band was chosen to appear at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, Washington, D.C., as the official Illinois representative for the U. S. Bicentennial observance.

The conductor is Marcellus B. Brown, who joined the Augustana faculty in 1981 as director of bands and instructor in brass instruments. A native of Detroit, he earned the bachelor and master of music degrees from the University of Michigan where he studied under William Revelli. He is a candidate for a doctor of musical arts degree at the University of Illinois.

Brown is a former member of the music faculty at Chicago State University. An accomplished performer on the trumpet, he is a member of the Tri-City Symphony Orchestra and is often guest soloist with high school and college bands in the area. He has been guest conductor and clinician at band festivals and workshops in the Midwest, and has been guest conductor in the all-state music program at Interlochen National Music Camp in Michigan.

Ball Won't Drop for Chelsea As Milan Posts 63-48 Win

When you out-play an opponent in every phase of the game, you naturally expect to win. That isn't necessarily so in basketball where the only score that counts is the number of balls that go through the hoop.

Chelsea whipped Milan thoroughly here last Friday night, yet came out on the short end of a 63-48 score simply because the ball wouldn't drop through the basket.

"I don't think I've ever before seen anything quite like it," said a dispirited Bulldog coach Paul Ash. "We did everything right. We beat them on defense, we out-rebounded them, we got good shots. The ball just wouldn't go down for us."

"It's a shame. Our kids played their hearts out. They wanted the game badly, and they certainly played well enough to win it. There's a certain amount of luck in basketball, and we didn't have any of it going our way."

The Bulldogs, for example, were two for 10 from the foul line during the first half, and all but two of the misses were in one-and-one situations. There wasn't a bad shot in the bunch of misfires. Balls that appeared to be headed in bounced and spun out.

It wasn't only free throws that were going awry. Shots from the field that looked to be dead on target somehow didn't drop.

"We should have been ahead by at least 10 at the half, and I don't think they could have come back at us," Ash said. "We had their back court shut down and their key people in foul trouble."

What happened was, simply, that instead of being down by 10 at the half Milan was ahead by one and came on to win, the sign of a good, well-coached team which took advantage of its opportunities. The Big Reds didn't play particularly well, but were good enough to win, which is the sign of a champion.

Ash started an all-senior lineup for Chelsea, with Jerry Ham-merschmidt and Glenn Prinzing replacing juniors Eric Schaffner and David Steinhauer. One result was that senior 6-2 forward Chuck Hager wound up playing on the point, where he didn't do badly.

"I wanted this game to be the seniors' game to win or lose," Ash said. "It was their last home game, and they wanted to show what they could do. They played awfully well. You couldn't ask for better effort."

As they have all season, senior co-captains David Kiel and Marty Steinhauer led the Bulldogs with 16 and 11 points, respectively. Nobody else got more than five. Balanced scoring has been a problem for the Bulldogs all season long.

Coach Runs Sprints As JV Cagers Win

Chelsea junior varsity basketball coach Marlin Wilson ran some wind sprints Saturday morning with members of his squad looking on an applauding or jeering as the case might be. He was glad to do it.

"I told the kids that they could play good enough defense to hold Milan under 40 points," Wilson said. "I promised that they would run a sprint for every point over 40 that Milan got, and that I would run one for every point under 40."

The final score was Chelsea 51, Milan 36, which meant that Wilson had to chug up and down the floor four times.

"Hey, if the boys always played that well, I'd run forever," Wilson said. "They came as close to perfection, in terms of what we wanted to do, against Milan as you are ever going to see a team perform. It was excellent, patient, disciplined basketball. All the lessons we've been trying to teach came together."

What Wilson teaches, basically can be summarized in four words: defense, defense, patience, patience, Done right, it works.

Ken Martin had a game-high 22 points for Chelsea, including 10 of 11 from the foul line. Dan Bellus scored 12 and did a super defensive job on Milan's Chris Pope who had given the Bulldogs fits in an earlier game.

"I told Dan before the game that I didn't think he would be a complete player unless he could shut Pope down. Let me tell you, Bellus showed me that he's now a complete player. He met the challenge."

The bad news is that the Bulldogs lost to the Adrian JV's 62-55, on Feb. 14.

"We just had a bad shooting night," Wilson said. "We hit only 32 percent from the floor, and you can't beat anybody that way."

"We don't have much size, and so have to be patient and work for the good shots. We need to shoot about 50 percent to win. If we get much below that level, we're in trouble."

Martin had 29 points in the Adrian game and Bellus 13.

Chelsea was down by two at half-time but kept cool under a full-court pressure defense and took advantage of free-throw opportunities to come back and win.

Mark Bareis had 14 points and eight rebounds, Matt Steinhauer 13 and seven, and Matt Bohlender 10 and eight. Jon Lane contributed six assists to go with his four points.

The Pinckney game went down to the wire. With the score tied at 52, Bareis took a long shot that missed, but Steinhauer was positioned right to grab the rebound and put it in at the buzzer for the winning two points.

Steinhauer led the scoring with 18, followed by Bohlender with 16 and Bareis 10. Bareis also had but were never able to narrow the margin to closer than six.

"Actually, we played a pretty good game," Chelsea coach Paul Ash said. "Adrian is a Class A school and has a fine team. I think we gave them all they wanted. If we could have stayed with them through that first quarter, we might have won."

Marty Steinhauer, who had the assignment to guard all-stater Brown, led the Bulldogs with 11 points. Eric Schaffner had 10, David Steinhauer eight, and David Keil and Chuck Hager six each.

Freshman Cagers Win Five in a Row

Chelsea's freshman basketball team has won five in a row to raise its record to 7-6 on the season. "We are improving," said a happy coach Ted Hendricks. "This group of boys has come a long way, and I'm proud of them."

After a Feb. 2 game against Jackson Northwest was canceled because of bad weather, the Chelsea frosh ran off consecutive victories over Saline, 46-40; Pinckney, 54-52; and Stockbridge, 56-43.

The Saline contest was unusual in that Chelsea shot 18 of 27 from the foul line while their foes were 0-0. "You don't often see something like that in a game played away from home, but the fact is that we just didn't commit many fouls," Hendricks said. "Saline never got to the line, and that was the difference in the game."

Chelsea was down by two at half-time but kept cool under a full-court pressure defense and took advantage of free-throw opportunities to come back and win.

Mark Bareis had 14 points and eight rebounds, Matt Steinhauer 13 and seven, and Matt Bohlender 10 and eight. Jon Lane contributed six assists to go with his four points.

The Pinckney game went down to the wire. With the score tied at 52, Bareis took a long shot that missed, but Steinhauer was positioned right to grab the rebound and put it in at the buzzer for the winning two points.

Steinhauer led the scoring with 18, followed by Bohlender with 16 and Bareis 10. Bareis also had

SEC ROUND-UP:

Milan Wins Key Game

It's Milan by a mile.

The Big Reds clinched the regular season Southeastern Conference basketball championship with a hard-won 63-48 victory over Chelsea last Friday night and need to win only one game in the upcoming SEC tournament to assure at least a share of the title.

Lincoln is the only other team with a chance to win the crown. The Railsplitters kept their hopes alive with an 87-85 overtime victory against Saline to stay within catching distance of Milan.

What it comes down to is that Lincoln would have to win the tournament, while Milan was finishing third, for Lincoln to tie. It can happen, but it isn't likely.

In other SEC action last Friday

Dexter toppled Tecumseh, 43-33, each with 4-6 records, to pull into a tie with Chelsea for Saline and Tecumseh trail at third place in the conference, 3-7.

Huron River Paddlers Challenged

Brave canoe paddlers are challenged to make the first trip of 1984 on the Huron River from Portage Lake to Ypsilanti.

Prizes for the first and for the fastest canoeists may be earned any time from March 2 through 18. As soon as ice has left the route, paddlers can put their canoes into the water at the state access on McGregor Rd., Portage Lake, for the 30-mile run to Riverside Park in central Ypsilanti.

Canoeists can earn $50 for being first to finish or $50 for making the trip in the fastest total time by midnight March 18. Additional prizes, including two $50 dinner gift certificates from Haab's Restaurant, will be awarded by Canoesport of Ann Arbor, originator and sponsor of the annual event.

Entrants may obtain entry forms at Canoesport, 1325 Hutchins Ave., Ann Arbor, on or after March 2. There is no entry fee and no limitations about canoes or paddles. Life vests should be worn and a change of clothes carried in a waterproof container.

Portages are permitted only at customary summer sites, and no more than two paddlers are allowed per canoe. Paddlers should scout the river and six portages beforehand.

Times of start and finish must be validated at time clocks at the Portage Inn and at Haab's. Current record time is 5 hours 37 minutes set by solo paddler John Adams last year. Most canoeists spent 7 to 10 hours on the river. Last year the first canoe left at midnight and finished shortly after noon.

Rheta Collins Is First In Cribbage Tourney

Rheta Collins won first place in the Chelsea Cribbage Tournament by the narrow margin of more points scored in losing games than second-place finisher Tom Haight.

Both Collins and Haight won 10 games and lost four in the final round of play among eight survivors who had earned spots in the finals following three rounds of preliminary games.

In cribbage tournament play, ties are broken by counting the number of points scored in lost games, and that is how Collins' victory was achieved. Her 12-point margin, achieved during four losing games, was less than half the length of the board.

Glenn Boyer (9-5) and Elmer Vasas (8-6) filled out the quartet of prize-winners by finishing third and fourth. Fifth through eighth were Duane Boyer, Al Schaffer, David Kruse and Harriette Haight.

to hear appeals to the Assessment Roll on MONDAY, MARCH 12, 1984

9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. TUESDAY, MARCH 13, 1984

9 a.m. to 12 noon; 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. & 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

at which time, upon request of any person, or his or her agent, who is assessed on this tax roll and if sufficient cause is shown, the Board of Review will correct the assessment on the property in question in a manner that will, in their judgment, make the valuation relatively just and equal. The assessment tax roll, after being reviewed and approved by the Board of Review, will be the assessment roll of LIMA TOWNSHIP for the year 1984.

The County Board of Commissioners of Washtenaw County has proposed the following ratios for the year 1984: Agriculture, 48.09; Commercial 48.37; Industrial; 50.82; Residential, 49.86; Developmental, 49.32.

PIGEON RIVER COUNTRY ELK: This is the time of year when the elk in Michigan's Pigeon River Country herd are segregated by sexes. The cows are looking for secluded places to drop their calves, while the bulls gather in groups to grow antlers for next fall's breeding season. The left and right bulls in this photo will be "rovals" with 12-point racks when their velveted racks get through growing. The animal in the middle is younger and will sprout about six points. Don't be deceived by the camera angle in this Dale Fisher half-photo, which makes the animals look smaller than they are. Each weighs at least 500 pounds. A mature bull can go up to 1,000 pounds, the size of a small horse.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

The Department of Natural Resources has proposed a limited elk hunting season in the Pigeon River Country State Forest next fall, and already, the idea has become controversial.

I can testify from experience that it's a no-win situation. At best only a few hunting permits could be issued, which means there would be thousands of disappointed and therefore unhappy applicants.

If there is one thing the DNR doesn't need, it is a big bunch of dissatisfied customers, and such a group will be created through any kind of a drawing, especially if there are relatively few winners.

I have watched computer drawings for antlerless deer and elk hunting permits and can certify that they are conducted with scrupulous honesty. The table of random numbers used to program the computer is completely impersonal. The results could not possibly be jiggered in favor of anybody.

Unfortunately, you can't convince people of that. So long as drawings for hunting permits are held, there will be outcries of cheating and favoritism. That is a monkey on the DNR's back, and it won't go away.

What the DNR is talking about is a very limited elk hunt, perhaps conducted European-style with guides accompanying every hunter and pointing out the animals to be shot and culled from the herd.

That may be good management, but I doubt that it is acceptable public relations. The idea is sound, but sportsmen probably are not yet ready to buy it.

Meanwhile, a controversy has arisen over whether there is or is not a surplus of elk to be harvested. I'm inclined to believe the biologists who have studied the herd and say that it is over-browsing its range, and must be thinned.

I'm four-square for hunting as a way to manage wildlife, but have to wonder if there may not be a better way to go in this instance.

The suggestion has been made that the surplus elk be trapped and transferred to new locations. The DNR's response has been that "it can't possibly work" and would be a waste of time, money and effort. I wonder.

The same things were said about the introduction of wild turkeys into Michigan back during the 1960's. DNR wildlife managers insisted that it couldn't work, and fought the idea until it was forced upon them. The turkeys have taken hold and succeeded far beyond anybody's wildest dreams, and are spreading all over the state.

Is it possible that elk might do as well if given the chance?

I think it is possible and worth a try.

The conventional wildlife management wisdom is that elk can't live in the presence of people, and that there is no place other than the Pigeon River Country where they can survive and thrive in Michigan.

Maybe so, and maybe also not so.

The fact is that elk were native to Michigan until they were wiped out by concentrated hunting during the late 19th century. They are big animals which provide a lot of meat, and the pioneer settlers were quick to catch on to the fact. They sought out and slaughtered elk without regard for the future well-being of the species, and eventually killed them all.

Given the protection and management of modern game laws and practices, I have a hunch that elk just might make it in places like the Waterloo and Pinckney recreation areas. Elk are no wilder than turkeys, and turkeys are taking hold hereabouts.

Elk can be captured with the aid of a dart gun which shoots a dose of tranquilizer into the animal, immobilizing it for crating and shipping. There is some mortality in the operation, but the rate isn't high.

Given the fact that only a few elk need to be removed from the Pigeon River Country herd, I think that the trap-and-transfer method is worth a try. If it doesn't work, there will be no harm done. If it does work, the DNR will earn a very large feather in its cap for having tried to do something and succeeded.

Golf Course Opens For Early Players

The City of Ann Arbor, Department of Parks and Recreation have announced the opening of the front 9 holes at Huron Hills Golf Course effective Saturday, Feb. 18. A special pre-season rate for each 9 holes played will be in effect.

Huron Hills will open for the 1984 season earlier than usual, primarily because of the recent mild temperatures.

The Department seeks the cooperation of area golfers by asking that they refrain from using Leslie Park and the back nine at Huron Hills until playing conditions permit.

Appearing at
MARK IV LOUNGE
Friday, Feb. 24
Dancing - Starting at 9:30 p.m.
ONE NIGHT ONLY:

The Sea Cruisers Making Waves With Fans Everywhere

Not just another club band, but an act that will have you on your feet all night. A combination of high energy artists with a variety of tastes in music. Because of their versatility The Sea Cruisers have the ability to reach everyone in the crowd.

The voyage starts in the 50's, covering material by the earlier pioneers of the rock scene: Chuck Berry, Jerry Lee Lewis, Bill Haley and many others. Then, following the charted course, a special tribute to the King himself, Elvis Presley. This is a part of the show that even a land lubber can't take sitting down.

Leaving that port of call, The Sea Cruisers journey onward dropping anchor in Liverpool. Here the act captivates the audience with a medley of tunes from the four lads who shook the world, The Beatles. The selections are followed by other top hits of the 60's. To top it all off The Sea Cruisers finish up with their renditions of some old classics and top current material.

The Sea Cruisers are a definite rock and roll alternative, well received everywhere they go. This show is a wave maker as it cruises from 50's to 80's with an emphasis on the early rock style. The Sea Cruisers' special blend of choreography and lighting effects brings an element of sensationalism to club scenes throughout the Midwest. The Sea Cruisers prove that the heart of rock and roll entertainment is in the live show. So, "Baby let me take you on a Sea Cruise!"

THANK YOU

A thank you to the residents of this community who have supported the fund raisers we have held in the past, including a Christmas ornament, trivet sale, and a quilt raffle. The results of these fund raisers will be seen in the spring, when our baton corps will have their new marching uniforms to march in the local parades. Hopefully, they will be able to represent Chelsea in more parades throughout the state. Chelsea Charms Booster Club.

The Parent-Teacher South wishes to thank those who made the South School Fun Fair a success. Chairing this year's fair were Dave and Peggy Baker—and what a great job they did. We wish to thank them, our numerous sponsors, the administration, teachers and parents for their co-operation, time generosity and work. The fine time had by the children is a terrific indication of the success of the event.
