Chelsea Music Students Honored at State Festival

Six Chelsea instrumental music students received honors at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's state solo and ensemble festival held at Eastern Michigan University March 31. Students who received a first division at the district level were eligible to attend.

Receiving First Division (superior) ratings were: Laura Koepele, 11th grade flute solo; Denise Pratt, ninth grade clarinet solo, and Kathy Jorgenson, ninth grade cello solo. Second Division (excellent) ratings went to Denise Pratt, Kim Clutter and Catherine Coffman, ninth grade clarinet trio, and LaTrisha Richardson 10th grade piano solo.

Laura Koepele was honored by being selected one of the outstanding flutists at the festival by her adjudicators. She was invited to compete at Central Michigan University with 125 other nominees from around the state for a position as a soloist at the Michigan Youth Arts Festival to be held in May. Her selection enables her to participate in the Honors Band and Orchestra at the State Arts Festival. She was one of the few 11th graders selected. More than 85 percent of the nominees were seniors. In May, Laura Koepele will join outstanding art students from throughout Michigan at CMU to celebrate the arts. Musicians, dancers, thespians and visual arts students will gather to demonstrate their talents. Performances of these students will be held May 19 on the CMU campus.

Kozminskis Will Appeal Sentences for Slavery

"We are going to appeal because we did not do anything wrong and we want to be proven right. We don't care how long it takes or how much it costs."

That was the statement of Mrs. Margaret Kozminski following sentencing of herself, her husband Ike, and their son John by Ann Arbor federal district judge Charles W. Joiner on charges of holding two farmhands in involuntary servitude (slavery).

Judge Joiner suspended prison terms for all three members of the family. He placed Ike Kozminski on three years probation and ordered him to pay a $20,000 fine. Mrs. Kozminski was put on probation for two years but not fined. John Kozminski drew two years on probation and a $10,000 fine.

The Kozminskis were also ordered to pay $6,190.80 in back wages each to Robert Fulmer and Louis Molitoris, the two men that they were alleged to have held as "slaves."

Judge Joiner first announced 20-year prison terms for Ike and Margaret Kozminski, and 10 years for John Kozminski, then said he was suspending those sentences in favor of the probation terms and fines plus the payment of back wages.

When it was suggested to her that, in the absence of prison terms, the family might choose to pay the fines and back wages and end the matter, Mrs. Kozminski said:

"We cannot honorably do that because we are innocent, and we are determined to prove it. Our legal costs undoubtedly will be more than the fines, but there is a principle involved. We are

All Chelsea Schools Cited By State Board

All four public schools in Chelsea have received certificates of achievement in mathematics and reading from the Michigan Board of Education.

North and South elementary schools, Dwight E. Beach school, and Chelsea High school were among more than 1,500 public schools throughout the state to receive the awards, according to State Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip E. Runkel. In addition, Chelsea High school was one of only two Washtenaw county high schools to receive the awards. The other was Pioneer High school in Ann Arbor.

To be eligible for the certificates, at least 75 percent of the fourth, seventh, or 10th graders tested must pass both the mathematics and reading sections of the exam. The tests are administered annually in September and October.

In addition to the Beach school, four Ann Arbor intermediate schools won awards.

"We're very pleased and very excited about it," said school superintendent Ray Van Meer. "All four of our schools won awards, so we're kind of running like the (Detroit) Tigers."

Chelsea High 10th graders scored a 91.2 percent on the reading portion, and an 85.8 percent on the mathematics examination. Other scores for reading and mathematics respectively were Beach; 81.7 and 78.3; North Elementary (86 and 83.7); and South Elementary (86.4 and 83.8).

"We expect to do well in state tests, given the nature of our students and the curriculum we have," Van Meer added. "Overall, we have a good caliber of student so we usually know we're going to score very, very well. But this certainly is a feather in our

Bates Elementary school in Dexter also received a certificate, as did Jensen Elementary in Saline and Luther C. Klager Elementary in Manchester. The fourth graders at Bates scored an 85.7 percent on the reading and an 88.6 percent in mathematics. Jensen students rated an 81.4 in reading and an 82.4 in math, while Klager testees scored an 86.4 and a 93.9 in those respective categories.

Only one school in the county, Pattengill Open in Ann Arbor, scored a perfect 100 percent on any one portion of the test, and that was in reading.

Chelsea Grove Store Sold to D & C Firm Effective on June 1

The Grove Store at 115 S. Main St. has been sold to D & C Stores, Inc., of Stockbridge, effective June 1, owners Mr. and Mrs. William M. Spade have announced.

D & C president Robert M. German confirmed the purchase and said his company is "very excited and enthusiastic" about having an outlet in Chelsea.

D & C operates 43 variety stores in southern Michigan and has a total of about 400 employees. Its headquarters are in Stockbridge. The company has been in existence since 1926. German lives at 7081 Lakeshore Dr., North Lake.

The Grove store has been continuously operated in Chelsea by various owners for about 70 years, Mrs. Spade said. The Spades have owned it since 1974.

Mr. and Mrs. Spade plan to retire and move to Uniondale, Ind., to be closer to their children.

German said he plans to retain the present sales staff at the store and will name a manager within the next couple of weeks. "We probably will bring in some younger person who has had experience at one of our other stores," he said.

"Basically, it will continue to be a typical retail variety store, carrying the same general kinds of merchandise that it now does," German added. "Gradually, we will sell out the old stock and bring in our own lines of goods."

"We will stress friendliness and customer service. We see this as a 'neighborhood' store in a small community, and that's how we intend to operate it."

"We'll see how we do, and if business goes well we will consider remodeling the store in a year or two."

The D & C chain dates back to 1926, when it was founded by J. H. and P. C. Dancer. Other members of the same family founded the Dancer department stores. The two operations are not connected, German said.

"Because we have stores all around here, it was only natural that we should take advantage of this opportunity in Chelsea when it became available," German said. "Chelsea is a very nice town, and we think there is good potential for a D & C store there."

The Grove store presently sells a merchandise of the sort associated in years past with "dime stores," and the sign on the front proclaims prices of five cents to a dollar.

"That isn't realistic any more," German said, "but you would be surprised by how many older people still think of stores like ours as dime stores. We want to keep the flavor, but the fact is that there are very few things you can buy or sell any more for a nickel or a dime. That's a shame in a way, but it's a fact of life."

The sign will be changed, German added.

BookCrafters Signs Agreement for First Industrial Park Site

Assuming that several yet to be completed details fall into place, BookCrafters, Inc., will expand its operations into Chelsea's new industrial park this year.

A sales agreement between BookCrafters and the village of Chelsea was signed following a special meeting of the village board of trustees last Friday afternoon.

Under its terms, BookCrafters will buy four lots, totalling about seven acres, in the industrial park for $87,600 and will take an option on another three acres at $10,000 per acre.

BookCrafters plans eventually to build a 120,000-square-foot storage and delivery facility on the site, and proposes to construct it in three phases. The first would be a 30,000-square foot building to be completed sometime this fall. About 30 persons would be employed and would represent "new" jobs in the Chelsea area.

The second phase of the project would add another 30,000 feet to the facility, and the third and final phase 60,000 square feet more, making a total of 120,000.

Charles Presley, spokesman for BookCrafters, said there is no set timetable for completing the second and third phases, and added that the company will have a further announcement to make when and if all the loose ends are tied together.

Execution of the sales agreement is contingent on several things, including:

Completion of development in the Sibley Rd. industrial park, including installation of interior roads and utility services—sewer, water and electricity.

Approval by BookCrafters of the final plat for the industrial park, which is still in a preliminary stage.

Endorsement of the project by the Chelsea Economic Development Corp. so that BookCrafters can obtain low-interest financing below the prime rate.

Village approval of the site as an Industrial Development District (IDD) so the new facility will qualify for a 50 percent property tax abatement over 12 years.

"We must have those two things (low interest financing and the tax abatement) in order to build the facility here in Chelsea," Presley said. "We are in a very competitive industry. The inducements we are asking for are common across the country. We want to expand here, but would be forced to look elsewhere, perhaps out of state, if we can't obtain those cost reductions here."

The proposed BookCrafters facility is a "fulfillment house," a storage and distribution center for the printed materials that the company produces.

Instead of shipping the books and periodicals back to the publishers for distribution, BookCrafters would take orders and make deliveries directly as a service to the publishers.

Most major magazines and many book-publishing firms handle their subscriptions, orders and deliveries through fulfillment services of the type that BookCrafters proposes to provide to customers.

BookCrafters operates nationwide, Presley said. Less than 10 percent of its businesses comes from Michigan.

The storage-fulfillment operation, if established, will be a new division of BookCrafters, Presley said, and would represent a major expansion of the company's operations.

"We have been successful here in Chelsea, and we want to expand here if we can," Presley said. "I certainly hope the sales agreement can be carried out and that we will have the fulfillment facility operating by fall."

The first 30,000-square-foot building will be a prefabricated metal structure, Presley said. Dimensions are estimated at 152 by 200 feet.

The four lots that BookCrafters has tentatively agreed to buy are located directly south of the two-story house, barn and other outbuildings that are part of the 73-acre industrial park property. The two optioned lots are east of those.

The house and approximately three acres of land have recently been leased to a renter for $300 a month.

Village Applies for $220,000 State Grant

In actions supporting the sales agreement for a BookCrafters fulfillment facility in Chelsea's industrial park, the village council last Friday acted to obtain a $220,000 state grant for road and utility construction in the park.

The application for a grant under the Michigan Small Cities Economic Development program was to have been filed last Monday, barely meeting a deadline. Chelsea village administrator Frederick Weber said he was "reasonably confident" that the grant will be approved provided all the paperwork was properly done and submitted on time.

Cost of installing roads and utilities—sewer, water and electric—in the industrial park has been estimated at $440,000 by the consulting engineering firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May of Ann Arbor.

The state grant, if approved, would pay half the bill. That means the village would have to put up the other $220,000, and the council approved two resolutions to make that local payment possible.

The first resolution will allow a $220,000 expenditure from the village electric fund, which has a surplus, to underwrite Chelsea's share of the development costs.

The second provides a way for the electric fund to get the money back.

Income from sales of lots in the industrial park would be used, first of all, to pay off the $220,000 "loan" from the electric fund. The tentative sales agreement signed with BookCrafters guarantees payment of $67,600, with a possible $30,000 more to come if a future purchase option is exercised. The village is also receiving $300 a month in rent for a house on the property.

The resolution passed by the council anticipates that income from future land sales in the industrial park will exceed the $220,000 borrowed from the electric fund and will create a surplus, and goes on to say:

"All funds recaptured from sales of lots in the proposed Chelsea Industrial Park . . . will be used to develop other portions of the proposed industrial park" and further states that:

"Any balance of funds remaining from sales of lots in the industrial park, after all portions . . . shall be used to promote or assist future industrial and commercial development in the village of Chelsea."

Asked if that meant funding might be available in the future (Continued on page two)

Major Changes Ahead For Higher Education

A recent interim report from Governor James Blanchard's Commission on the Future of Higher Education reported that major changes in the state's higher education system—including developing formulas for accessing the possibility of closing a college, consolidating programs and developing new funding formulas—must be studied further to assure the system's high quality in the future.

In releasing the report, commission chair, James K. Robinson, said Michigan has a "great system (of higher education), but a system in jeopardy."

A series of public hearings on the interim report is scheduled for late April and May and the final report and recommendations are due in October.

Robinson said he hoped the interim report would serve as a "basis for widespread public input into the work of the commission."

During a press conference outlining the report, Robinson said it was possible, "even with downsizing" of college programs, that not all of Michigan's colleges may survive by the 21st century.

He added the commission was not targeting any colleges for possible closure but the group may "attempt to develop the criteria for deciding when to close or consolidate" a college.

It is not inevitable that a college will be closed, he said, but colleges have to recognize trends that are developing.

For example, the report indicates that by 1990, enrollments over-all could decline by 10 percent. In addition, the type of student enrolled in colleges will change from the traditional young adult to greater concentrations of older adults, often seeking additional training for job skills.

Colleges should expect greater numbers of minorities and women as well, the report said.

Robinson also said a new method of providing state funding to colleges must be found. Enrollments cannot be the sole basis for funding, he said.

Research functions and other factors have to be included in developing new funding mechanisms.

Robinson said the commission was committed to finding ways of holding down increasing tuition costs, but the interim report made no recommendations towards that end.

However, the report did show that all of Michigan's higher education institutions (public four-year schools, private four-year schools and community colleges) charge higher tuition than the national average.

Michigan's public four-year colleges charge an average 42 percent more for tuition than the national average, private colleges charge 5 percent more and community colleges charge 20 percent more.

The report also calls for creation of a comprehensive, state-wide data base on higher education which would better help state policy makers and college officials in planning.

But, despite the report's emphasis on studying possible consolidation of programs, better over-all planning and even possible closure of schools, Robinson said the commission rejected the concept of a superboard that would have primary planning authority for state colleges.

He said such a board was neither "politically feasible nor administratively prudent. There are advantages to Michigan's very autonomous system. It has the advantage of diversity and it has served the state well."

The report further encourages development of the State Board of Education's recommendations for improvement of K-12 education regarding co-ordination and communication between educational sectors, adjusting high school graduation requirements, strengthening the teaching process and implementing policies regarding pre-collegiate preparation of minorities, women and handicapped students.

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers that farmers in this country are going back to farming this spring. Corn growers, for instance, are planting 82 million acres, 36 percent more than last year when the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Payment in Kind program combined with the worst drought in 50 years to cut the corn crop by half. PIC was a big help, but it looks like it was not enough to kick the habit.

Early in the session at the country store Saturday night, I mentioned that USDA is worried again this spring about farmers overproducing and building surpluses that will cut their prices. It has been urging them to sign up for PIC, but they are giving up a sure thing for the risks of the fields. I mentioned to the fellows that with the papers full of farm bankruptcies and auctions of everything families have worked three or four lifetimes to put together, you'd think these folks would jump at the chance for a little security, but they reminded me that birds gotta fly, fish gotta swim and farmers gotta tend the land.

Bug Hookum was full agreed. He said everything that comes under the heading of American agriculture amounts to a miracle of the first water, and the farmers at the start of the food and fiber chain make all the rest happen.

Fewer and fewer of em perdue more and more, so they have freed America's manpower to do other things. They have freed time and income by cutting back how long folks got to work and how much of their money they got to spend on food, and they have freed space by growing more on fewer acres. So, Bug said, farmers have worked the miracle and the rest of us have harvested the benefits.

Ed Doolittle didn't deny that farmers are miracle workers, but he said there's a little gambler in all of em to. Last year they agreed to let their land lay idle in trade for surplus grain, and their gamble paid off because the long dry spell would of got em. But that don't mean that trick would work again, Ed allowed, and this year they're betting on a good season that'll put them over the base PIC and maybe leave enough to pay on the loan they took out to buy equipment they didn't use last year. Farming is like playing the stock market, Ed declared, except there's a heap more stooping and heavy lifting and the odds ain't near as good.

Practical speaking, Ed said, what this country needs is a good expert before the fact. We can get plenty of good advice after the fact, but perdicting the farm year is as much a percise science as guessing what's next in the Middle East, was Ed's words. Advising farmers is like putting up "deer crossing" signs on the highway. You see one deer jump across the road and you put up a sign based on the idee that if it worked onct it'll keep working. All this is good fer is the sign business. At least, Ed said, the experts can make things happen on the stock market by planting rumors in the right places, but you can't rumor nature into anything.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.WEATHER

Woman's Club Enjoys Program On Hat Styling

Hats of many beautiful colors, designs, and fabrics were displayed and modeled as club president Myra Colvin shared yet another of her talents with the Woman's Club of Chelsea.

The group met Tuesday evening, April 10 in the Woman's Club room at McKune Memorial Library.

The presentation on this creative art was thoroughly enjoyed by 18 members and visitors Martha Andrews, Cheryl Schoenberg and Janet Harris.

During the business meeting various committees reported active planning of upcoming events including the community service project, the club's annual dinner and the marathon bridge dinner.

The annual business meeting and election of officers will be held April 24 at the library.

Hostesses for the evening were Betty Oesterle and Marge Travis.

Bread-Making Workshop Offered

Remember the wonderful aroma of baking bread?

Make it a part of your household with the valuable breadmaking tips that you will learn in the "Breads!" workshop being offered on Monday, April 23 through Chelsea Community Education.

Teresa Freed, Editor of The Foodletter will show how bread-making can be adapted to busy family schedules, and will explain the nutritional, and economical, advantages of making your own delicious whole grain breads.

"Herbed Dinner Rolls," "Honey Oatmeal Bread," and basic "Whole Wheat Bread" will be sampled, and participants will have the unique opportunity of being led step-by-step through the processes of mixing, kneading, rising, and baking of bread. Please plan to bring a bread pan, as you will have a loaf to take home for the final baking! You may register for the workshop by calling the Chelsea Community Education Offices at 475-9830. The fee is $7 per person, and the workshop will meet in the Home Economics Room at Chelsea High school from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

The first states to have equal pay legislation for women were Michigan and Montana, in 1919, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a publication of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Dr. Yarows Speaks At Stockbridge Lions Club Meet

Dr. Steven Yarows, internal medicine, Chelsea, was invited to speak to the Lions Club of Stockbridge on the topic of "When To See A Doctor." The talk provided insights and information on helping people to decide when the professional advice of a physician should be sought. The talk was well attended and generated many good questions afterward for Dr. Yarows.

Dr. Yarows is available to other community groups and clubs to speak on various health subjects. He may be reached directly at his practice in Chelsea.

(daughter or son's name)
my _____ whenever I am in a

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

Chelsea's village government calendar is out of whack, and something should be done about it. Exactly what can be done is for a lawyer to decide. Simply changing the dates of the village fiscal year would solve a lot of problems.

Consider the situation right now:

Chelsea's new fiscal year began on March 1, almost two weeks before the village election on March 12. It was certain that a new president would be chosen, and there could have been as many as four new trustees. (As it turned out, there were two, with a third yet to be appointed.)

Retiring president Jack Merkel and the "old" council held off on enacting a 1984-85 budget so that the new electees could have a crack at it. That is both good sense and good government.

A budget is by far the most important document that any governing body has to work with. Once drawn up and adopted, a budget pretty much controls the decision-making process during its lifetime. Most of the shots in government are called by budget bottom-lines.

Chelsea is more than six weeks into its new fiscal year and still doesn't have a budget. The earliest it could get one was last night's council meeting, and there was no guarantee as this was written that action could be completed then.

Obviously, village government hasn't fallen apart in the absence of a budget. Employees have gone on working, the bills have been paid and services maintained. I suggest, however, that this sort of interim arrangement is not a good way to do business. No well run private enterprise would tolerate it.

Village employees are, in a sense, working without a contract. Their jobs are secure, but they don't know what their pay rates will be for the new fiscal year. Decisions on salaries and wages are part of the budget-making process.

The council is under pressure to hurry up and adopt a budget, and that isn't good. With two brand-new trustees and a vacancy, the council could use some time to become better acquainted with the problems and needs before approving the final income and spending figures.

Fortunately, new president Jerry Satterthwaite has served on the council and so has been involved in the budget-preparing process, although he is looking at it now from a far different point of view.

Loren Keezer, unsuccessful candidate for president and a veteran of four years on the council and two years as village clerk, told me that "it takes at least a year" to begin to understand the budget and that he was "still learning" when he left office. I believe him on the basis of my own experience in dealing with budgets. I wrestled with them for 17 years in state government and never did learn all that I really needed to know.

We're not talking about small change. The village budget topped the million-dollar mark last year, and will be higher this time around. A million dollars may not seem like much in these times when the federal government deals in hundreds of billions and is beginning to think in trillions. Those numbers boggle the mind of the average person who won't earn a million dollars over a 50-year working life, and will pay in taxes about half of what he does manage to make.

There should be a separation of time between the village election and the start of the fiscal year—as least three months, maybe longer. That would give newly elected officials a little while to learn the ropes while taking on their most important responsibility—putting together and approving a budget.

A fiscal year can start any time. Tradition once established the dates as July 1-June 30, a date-frame which seemed to meet the needs of most all enterprises, public and private.

Fiscal-year dates can be changed, as was demonstrated recently by Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken, who extended the "year" to 15 months in order to evade his constitutional responsibility to balance the state budget. Even with that trick he left state government more than a billion dollars in the red when he retired.

I am not suggesting that any such sleight-of-hand bookkeeping be done in Chelsea. There is no reason to do it. The village books balance honestly. What I am suggesting is that the fiscal year be changed to get the first day further away from election day. July 1 used to be a good time to start a fiscal year. What's wrong with it?

GIRLS STATE NOMINEES: Mary Ann Richardson and Laura Koepele have been nominated to attend Wolverine Girls State from Chelsea High school. Both are juniors.

Laura Koepele, Mary Richardson Selected to Attend Girls State

Juniors Laura Koepele and Mary Ann Richardson have been selected to represent Chelsea High school at the 41st Michigan Girls State June 13-21 at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

The program is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Expenses of local participants, amounting to $130 per girl, are paid by the Chelsea Lions Club.

High school guidance counselor Gene LaFave, who supervised the selection process, called the choices "very difficult to make because we had so many outstanding candidates."

Nominations were made by teachers and then screened by a faculty committee. Finalists were required to submit an essay and were personally interviewed.

"We emphasized academics, activities, leadership qualities and awareness of government in making the final selections," LaFave said. "We were looking for girls who will gain from the experience at Girls State and contribute to the school during their senior years as a result of it."

Both selectees carry 3.7 grade-point averages, and have been involved in church and community activities, student government, athletics and a variety of other activities.

Girls State is designed as a practical experience in the problems of self-government, and to stimulate a lasting interest in governmental participation. Attendance is limited to 504 girls chosen from throughout Michigan.

Kozminskis Will Appeal

defending our honor." The probation terms require, among other things, that the Kozminskis not travel outside the United States without the court's permission.

"We don't intend to travel anywhere," Mrs. Kozminski said. "We plan to continue living in our home (on Peckins Rd. in southwest Lima township). We are out of the dairying business and have sold our herd of cows. We have rented our farmland (about 400 acres) for cropping this year, and we have it up for sale."

"We are still considering going into the egg business, and may close a deal soon, but it won't be located on our present farm."

In February of 1983 Ike Kozminski announced plans to build an "egg factory" near Stockbridge, consisting of six buildings, 600,000 laying hens and an output of 13 million dozen eggs a year. A total investment of more than $5 million was projected.

That proposal fell through when the Ingham County Board of Commissioners reneged on a promise to help finance the venture with low-interest loans backed by the federal government.

"We have people still interested in it (the egg factory)," Mrs. Kozminski said, "and I may be able to tell you something definite soon."

During the sentencing hearing before Judge Joiner, Ike Kozminski repeated earlier statements that he, his wife and son had been convicted as the result of "irresponsible" coverage by the press.

"I am not guilty," he told Judge Joiner, "and neither is my wife or son. We have suffered plenty. We were convicted by this court by publicity by irresponsible newspaper writers. Our case was distorted and incorrectly reported, and the jury was swayed."

Mrs. Kozminski told a reporter for The Standard that she had no quarrel with this paper's coverage of the story. "You have been fair," she said, "and that's all we expected. The problem has been with other papers."

The Kozminskis each had separate lawyers for the slavery trial, but their appeals are being put into the hands of one attorney, Carl Ziemba of Detroit. Ziemba said he would immediately file the necessary legal papers to stay the sentences but would not know the specific grounds for the appeal until he has read the 1,800-page transcript of the trial. The transcripts alone will cost the Kozminskis about $4,000.

Meanwhile, the Kozminskis are still facing a $13.9 million civil damage suit filed in behalf of Fulmer and Molitoris by Detroit attorney Stanley Barnicki.

There is a vast difference between the $13.9 million asked for and the $12,381.60 awarded by Judge Joiner.

The two farmhands, both said to be mentally retarded, presently live in a foster home near Manchester.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
This letter is in fact directed towards everyone in Chelsea.
This week I was walking up-town when Chelsea Rescue was called to a medical emergency. When the emergency truck came to the intersection, I was both horrified and astonished to see several cars not only driving through the intersection, but also refusing the right of way.
If it were personal friends or relatives in danger, each of us would be quite upset if we knew help was hindered by inconsiderate drivers.
May I remind everyone that it is not only good safety to come to a complete stop for emergency vehicles, it is the law.
Kim C. Longworth.

Tax Freedom Day

Did you ever wonder just how many hours or days you work each year to pay taxes?
The Tax Foundation has been doing this for a long time. They figure out each year just how many days we have to work to pay our taxes. They compute this out from Jan. 1 and they call the last day Tax Freedom Day.
Back in 1929, before taxes were much of a burden, Tax Freedom Day was Feb. 9. This meant that the average worker spent 40 days working for local, state and national governments, and the rest of the year he or she got to keep the remaining earnings.
Since that time, the number of days we work for the government has been increasing. It reached a peak in 1981 when we were working for the government until May 7. Following some cuts in income tax rates, Tax Freedom Day was cut back to May 3 in 1982. The results for 1983 aren't available yet.

Breaking down the time for an eight-hour working day, we find these changes in the 55-year period: In 1929, the Tax Foundation says the total tax bite required 52 minutes; by 1982, this had increased to 2 hours and 41 minutes for each eight-hour day.

Another interesting statistic is the growth in the federal government's share of this tax bite. While the federal government got only 19 minutes of the 52 required in 1929, it got an hour and 47 minutes by 1982. In the same period, state and local taxes required 33 minutes of working time in 1929 to 54 minutes in 1982.

What will happen in the future? Hopefully, the downward move in 1982 will continue—but don't count on it. If Congress insists on increasing taxes instead of cutting spending to solve the federal budget deficit, we may find Tax Freedom Day moving on toward June 1.

Taxpayers calling on Congress to cut spending instead of raising taxes is the only way to push Tax Freedom Day back to early spring.

CHS Alumni Band To Perform at Celebration

A Chelsea High school alumni band is being brought together to perform in the village's sesquicentennial celebration in July.
It is hoped that a group of 200 former CHS bandpersons can be assembled, according to Judy Granger, who is one of three band alumni in charge of the project.
"We don't care if you haven't played an instrument in 20 years," Mrs. Granger said in a letter addressed to all known band alumni. "We want you to come and help us remember the good times we used to have."

Participants are asked to pay $10 to cover the costs of a golf-style shirt in blue and gold with "Chelsea Alumni Band" printed on the front, plus an identifying button.
Checks or money orders should be sent to Michelle Alexander, 221 Buchanan St., George Wilson, 181 Orchard St., or Judy Granger, 215 W. Summit St. Further information may be obtained by calling Wilson at 475-9630 or Mrs. Granger at 475-4520.

A practice session is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, June 30, the date of the parade, at the high school. "We will not march in the parade, but we will have a float," Mrs. Granger said. "We will give a short concert at Palmer Ford after the parade, and as many former band directors as possible will be there."

The decision not to march in the parade was based on past experience, Mrs. Granger said. "I tried it a few years ago and could hardly get out of bed for two days afterward. We'll play music, but we won't march."

Most Townships Report Increased Budgets for Next Year

Chelsea area township boards voted generally to hold the line on taxes while boosting spending and approving wage increases for most township officers during annual meetings held earlier this month and in March.

Humane Society Walk-A-Thon Receives Challenge Pledge

In celebration of Be Kind to Animals Week, May 6-12, the Humane Society of Huron Valley is sponsoring their fifth annual Dog Walk-a-thon on Saturday, May 12. This year, a local humanitarian has offered to match the pledges collected by ALL Walk-a-thon participants. However, according to Executive Director, Susan J. Schurman, "There's only one minor catch—my dog, P.T., and I have to walk 12 miles in order to earn our challenge pledge." Schurman continues, "We've been spending our free time getting in shape for the big event. P.T. can't wait—she thinks this is the best idea anyone has had in years."

Apparently, Schurman and P.T. are not the only ones who think the Walk-a-thon is a great idea; last year, Humane Society members and friends collected over $19,000 in pledges for the Society's anti-cruelty efforts. This year the Society hopes to raise $50,000, with $25,000 collected in-walker pledges and an additional $25,000 from the challenge pledge. The money raised by the Walk-a-thon will be used for animal rescue and in-

Webster Township

In Webster township, the budget also received a boost, and again, the difference was made by revenue sharing funds.

Township supervisor Don Zeeb said the board approved an annual '84-85 budget of $188,520, up from $132,587 last year. But Zeeb emphasized that township residents won't feel a pinch in their pocketbooks.

"We didn't change the tax structure, and we're not expecting additional taxes in the upcoming year," Zeeb added.

The township board did vote itself raises for the first time since 1980. Total payroll for township officers was raised from $20,335 to $28,980.

"That might seem like a lot, but those are the first raises since 1980," Zeeb added. "When you spread them out over four years, they're not so great."

The supervisor and treasurer posts will now pay $10,000 annually. Salary for the clerk was set at $8,000.

Funds allocated for fire protection, which the township contracts out, were increased from $40,000 to $50,000, a figure which Zeeb said was increased "just to be on the safe side."

Tree Seedlings

Orders for tree and shrub seedlings through the annual Spring Tree Sale of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District are still being accepted. The cut-off date for orders has been extended to April 27, due to extra tree and shrub stock still available.

The following tree and shrub stock is still available: Austrian Pine, Red Pine, Norway Spruce, White Spruce, Colorado Blue Spruce, Tartarian Honeysuckle, Silky Dogwood and Wildlife Packets.

Orders will be taken over the phone and in person at the District Office while quantities last. Tree and shrub seedlings will be available for pick-up on Saturday, April 28, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Washtenaw County Road Commission, 555 N. Zeeb Rd., Ann Arbor.

For more information and to place an order, contact the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District, 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor 48103. Telephone (313) 761-6721.

Sylvan Township

Sylvan township budget was approved at just over $328,000, up from $214,000 last year.

The big boost came from road improvement allocations which, according to township clerk Mary Harris, are the result of funds that were budgeted last year but not spent.

Mrs. Harris reported $138,000 in funds carried over from last year to this, and a 1984-85 road repair appropriation of $170,000, up from $62,000 last year.

Fire protection funds remained at the $30,000 level, and the township did not approve pay raises for board officers.

Revenue sharing funds are expected to total about $20,000 this year, with $4,000 allocated to the recreation council, $1,500 targeted for the Chelsea Area Transportation System, and $1,258 earmarked for McKune Library. The remaining revenue sharing funds will be designated for road repair.

Tree Seedlings Still Available While Stock Lasts

Lyndon Township

In Lyndon township, the fiscal '84-85 budget also is up from year-ago totals, but millages stand a good chance of reduction this summer, if all goes according to plan.

The township board approved spending to the tune of $145,273 for the upcoming year, up $38,000 from last season spending. The cause of the higher figure, said township clerk Linda Wade, is an approved boost in the contingency fund balance.

This year's fund balance will top $82,000, compared to about $25,000 in fiscal '83-84. Like other area townships, Lyndon enjoys the extra funds that are the result of a carry-over from state revenue-sharing payments that arrived later than expected and, subsequently weren't planned for use in the upcoming year.

The good news is that while the Lyndon township budget shows an increase, chances are good that millages will drop.

According to Mrs. Wade, the board figures it can use the extra funds to reduce the millage from the current 1.2 mills/$1,000 to about 1 mill/$1,000.

"The reduction has been planned and we have the money there, but the proposal hasn't been voted on," Mrs. Wade added. "Right now it's pretty much a question of making it official."

The lion's share of the budget follows tradition — the tradition of planned fire protection. The board figures $30,000 should cover this year's costs, up from $28,323 for the last fiscal year.

The board also voted to split the jobs of supervisor and assessor. Formerly a dual position, the post paid a $8,540 annual salary.

But according to Mrs. Wade, the rationale behind the board's action was one of supply and demand. The certification requirements for assessor are becoming so complex that they could inhibit future supervisor candidates who might not automatically meet the standards, Mrs. Wade said. And, a stipend was added to attract future candidates for the separate assessor's post.

Under the new alignment, the supervisor will receive $4,500 while the assessor will be paid $5,500 annually. The new structure will not take effect until next fall.

Wage increases also are on tap for some other board officials, with the clerk and treasurer each receiving $500 annual raises. The clerk position will now pay $5,500, while the treasurer's post will pay $5,000 a year.

at the annual 4-H Spring Achievement Day. They are Marjorie Proctor, Jayne Proctor, Audrey Coy and Wanda Eschebach.

Local firemen and conservation officers worked more than four hours to control a grass fire that burned more than 150 acres near Four Mile Lake.

The village council approved an appropriation of $3,500 to make repairs to the third floor of the municipal building to comply with rules of the state fire marshal's office. The third floor has been condemned for public use until repairs are completed.

The Chamber of Commerce will poll local businessmen to determine if they wish to continue closing on Thursday afternoons as most of them now do.

A high school baseball game between Chelsea and Marshall was abruptly called off last week with the score tied 4-4. The umpire declared he was cold and walked off the field.

Area Residents Earn EMU Degrees

David P. Daniels, 233 Lincoln, and Susan K. Harris, 13875 Waters Rd., both of Chelsea, received Master of Arts degrees from Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti during winter commencement exercises held in December.

Two other area people, Deborah K. Rein, 4350 N. Sandstone Rd., Pinckney, and Cynthia E. Harrison, 438 E. Shore Drive, Whitmore Lake, also received MA degrees.

The four were among 225 students receiving advanced master's and specialist's degrees.

sion also increased this year, with the board approving expenditures of about $22,000 compared to $15,000 last year.

And, the township continues its annual $7,700 allotment for capping the Werkner Road landfill according to Department of Natural Resources regulations. The payments continue for the next five years.

Lima Township

In Lima township, officials approved an operating budget of $212,372 this year, up from $167,260 in fiscal '83-84. Increases were primarily in the areas of fire protection and road repair.

According to township clerk Arlene Bareis, the biggest single item increase in the new budget is funds allocated for repair of the Steinbach Rd. bridge. Road repair funds this year were set at $68,800, stacked against $24,000 for repair last year.

"Money for the bridge repair takes up about 90 percent of that increase," Mrs. Bareis said. "It's a one-time expense, though, and it should be completed this year."

Fire protection funds also received a boost, with the board voting to allocate $34,000 this year, compared to $26,000 budgeted last year.

The board also voted to raise officers' salaries by $100 a year, with the clerk position now paying $6,800 and the treasurer receiving $6,250 annually. The supervisor/assessor post will pay $9,700, while the separate assessor job will pay $8,000 a year.

"We are anticipating taxes of about 1.04 mills/thousand, about the same as last year," Mrs. Bareis added. "We expect to hold the line in that area."

Dexter Township

The budget also received a boost in Dexter township, with annual expenditures for fiscal '84-85 expected to come in at about $240,410. That figure is up from the $213,400 spending level recorded last year.

The board voted to hold the line on fire protection and road spending. According to township treasurer Julie Knight, the '83-84 budget of $40,000 for roads was maintained through this year.

For fire protection last year, the board approved a $50,000 expenditure. Of that, $45,000 was used. The board voted to budget another $50,000 this year.

The largest single-item expense in the township budget for '84-85 is a $20,000 tab for parking lot improvements. But costs of improving the landfill were set at $11,000 this year, down from $17,000 last year.

Township officials also received raises, with the treasurer's post receiving the biggest boost. The annual salary for that position was raised from $6,600 to $11,000.

The supervisor's salary was raised from $8,250 to $8,675, and the township clerk received a raise from $6,800 to $7,250 a year. The zoning inspector received a $300 increase, raising the annual wage for that post to $4,500.

Freedom Township

In Freedom township, board members voted to reduce the over-all budget compared to last year's appropriations.

In 1983-84, the board approved expenditures of $110,000 but spent only $103,500. Using an expected increase rate of 2.8 percent for this year's expenses, the board approved a budget of $105,850.

Road repair took the biggest cut, with the board approving $30,000 for that area this year. Last year, the township spent $43,800 to repair local roads.

Fire protection funds, however, were increased to $8,000 for this year, up 6.5 percent from last year's $7,500.

In addition, according to retiring township supervisor David J. Meinhart, salaries for elected officers also were increased.

The combined supervisor/assessor post will pay $8,000 this year, up $1,000 from last year's pay. Pay for the treasurer's position was set at $6,000 annually, also up $1,000 from last year, while the township clerk received a $500 raise, to $5,500 annually.

Challenge Issued For Blood Battle

The Outhouse Gang chapter of the Brothers of the Brush has sent a letter to all other Brothers and Belles chapters challenging them to a "Blood Battle" during the annual VFW community-wide Red Cross blood drive which will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, May 5, at the VFW Hall, 105 N. Main St.

The winner will be determined by which chapter provides the highest percentage of donors in relation to the number of members in its chapter. People who are not members of a chapter may designate their blood donation to be counted on behalf of any competing chapter. According to Dave Scriven, Grand Supreme Squatter of the Outhouse Gang, "Our members wanted to find a way to harness some of the collective, competitive enthusiasm of all the chapters and direct it toward a constructive, worthwhile community project."

Chairpersons of chapters which plan to participate in this battle are asked to contact Dave Scriven, 426-2414, or Dave Prohaska, 475-9342, to indicate their intent. Because of the larger-than-usual turnout expected for this drive, anyone wishing to donate blood is urged to schedule an appointment through one of the Brush or Belle chapter chairpersons by Friday, April 27, so the Red Cross can supply enough nurses to handle everyone conveniently throughout the day.

Although the drive will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., donors are requested to plan their donation for no later than 2:30 p.m. so that everyone may be processed and completed by 3 p.m.

Challenges Issued By Belles, Brothers Chapters

On Saturday, May 5, the Red Cross is sponsoring a blood drive at the VFW Hall on Main St. All Brothers of the Brush chapters and Belles chapters are hereby challenged to a contest to see who can donate the most blood on that day. A hayride for all chapters is in the works for the evening, and further plans for this event will be published in The Standard.

Everyone is strongly encouraged to participate in this event—the Red Cross needs your blood and it should be lots of fun.

A softball game/picnic is being tentatively planned for Sunday, May 27, (Memorial Day weekend) for all Brothers and Belles chapters. We are hoping to hold the game in the lots behind St. Mary's and St. Paul churches. When plans are firm, they will be published in The Standard and communicated to all chapters by the area leaders.

We, the Woodshed Squatters and Standers, challenge the Wolverine Wildcats and the Wild Woolly Town Tamers.

If you dare to show your face you had better pick up your pace and enter or brave the tray race. Stay tuned for important details next week.

The Brewery Boys, Chapter 17, would like to issue an open challenge to any Brother of the Brush chapter willing to fall victim to our expertise in any of the following athletic events: softball, volleyball, tug of war, horseshoes, or a canoe race.

We will also consider any other challenge that may be presented.

Four from Chelsea In Auto Repair Contest

Four students from Chelsea High school took a written exam at Washtenaw Community College in Ann Arbor, April 3, in the first phase of the Plymouth-AAA trouble-shooting contest.

Participating from Chelsea were Darrin Buss, Tom Hungate, Alan Roderick and Jack Sherwin.

Students from 74 Michigan high schools competed in the written test, given at 10 sites across the state. The two highest scorers from each school will become a team, with the top 10 schools competing in a final hands-on competition on May 17 in Dearborn.

The contest is being held this year by Chrysler/Plymouth and the Automobile Club of Michigan. Prizes and scholarships in all 50 states total $125,000.

In the state finals, each team will work against the clock to correct problems on similarly "bugged" 1984 Plymouth Turismos. The winning team will advance to the national championship in June in Arlington Stadium, Tex.

"The contest encourages mechanically talented high school students to further their training," said Robert Cullen, contest co-ordinator for the Auto Club. "It complements our efforts to promote the training and certification of qualified auto service technicians."

More than two-thirds of all past participants, or approximately 28,000 students, have taken full-or part-time jobs as auto service technicians, according to Robert Brent of the Chrysler/Plymouth dealership association.

John Gary Concert To Benefit Hospital

Softball Team Sweeps Four Games on Rainy Opening Day of Play

Chelsea's always strong girls softball team got off to a grand start last Saturday by sweeping double-headers from Pinckney and Webberville during a long and rainy day at Dana Field.

Three of the victories were laughers. The Bulldogs whipped Pinckney, 15-4 and 9-2, during the morning, and trounced Webberville, 10-2, in the first game of the afternoon.

The last victory came hard as Chelsea was forced into an extra inning to squeeze out, literally, a 2-1 edge.

Bulldog coach Charlie Waller gave each of his four pitchers an opportunity to start and finish a game, and each did while marking up wins. Beth Unterbrink, Kelly Hawker, Margie Rawson and JoAnne Tobin all hurled complete games.

Unterbrink had the easiest time as she won the opening game against Pinckney, which was "mercied" at the end of five innings with Chelsea leading, 15-4. (In case you have forgotten, a softball game ends at five innings, instead of continuing to the regulation seven, if one team is ahead by 10 or more runs.)

The Bulldogs scored three runs in the first inning, five in the second and seven in the fourth to put the game away.

Unterbrink gave up only one hit but was a bit wild, walking six. Her teammates committed four errors behind her to help account for the four Pinckney runs. None of the runs was earned.

Hawker, using a variety of change-of-pace pitches in starting her first varsity game, went the seven-inning distance in the second Pinckney contest, allowing just two hits while striking out nine. She walked five and yielded one earned run.

Chelsea again scored three first-inning runs and added five in the third to take a commanding lead that stood up.

Rawson, considered the team's top pitcher, opened the double-header against Webberville and likewise breezed as her teammates brought in 10 runs in the first three innings. She gave up two hits and one earned run while fanning four and walking none.

Tobin, also making her first varsity start, had a much tougher time in by far the most exciting game of the day. She was up against an equally tough pitcher in Webberville's Donna Schultz.

Webberville got an unearned run in the first which looked like it might stand up, until the sixth when Chelsea finally broke through to tie the score at one-all. After a scoreless seventh, the Bulldogs pushed across the winning run in the bottom of the eighth as Anne Weber walked, worked her way around to third and came home on a suicide squeeze bunt by Lori Anderson, barely beating the play at the plate.

Waller was lavish in his praise of Webberville's Schultz, whom he called "a very good pitcher who will take Webberville a long way in their league and in state tournament play."

Chelsea mounted a robust batting attack during the four games, led by all-state catcher Joyce Robards who had eight hits in 12 at-bats and drove in six runs. She caught all four contests, no easy thing to do.

Unterbrink, who plays in the outfield when she isn't pitching, was 7-for-13 at the plate with nine RBI's.

Weber, who is just over five feet tall but plays much bigger at second base, was 4-for-9, drew six walks, stole four bases and scored nine runs, including the all-important last one of the final game.

As a team, the Bulldogs batted a hefty .375 for the day. Their total of seven errors in four games wasn't at all bad under the playing conditions.

"I was pleased," Waller said after the wet and murky marathon was over. "Naturally, a coach has to be happy when his team plays four games in one day and wins them all. We're off on the right foot."

"Considering it was our first day of competition, the weather, and the fact that we are not an experienced team, I felt we played well. Neither Pinckney nor Webberville is a pushover. They are both good teams. We got a lot of runs early in the first three games, but we had to show some character to come from behind and win the last one. It was a good start. We have to improve, of course, and I think we will."

"Our four pitchers all threw well. Our hitting was strong. We have some work to do on defense. If we have a weakness, that is it."

JV Softball Team Splits Four Games

Pitching and defense win games, and Chelsea's junior varsity softball team did not have enough of either while dropping a double-header to Pinckney last Saturday, 16-14 and 9-8.

The JV girls may have learned some lessons as they came back in the afternoon to defeat Webberville twice, 22-2 and 18-4. Both games were ended at the end of five innings under the mercy rule.

The contests against Pinckney were played during a steady rain, which hampered both teams, perhaps most importantly the pitchers who had to throw a wet and slippery ball.

The weather was a little better, although not much for the Webberville contests. Assistant coach Pat Clarke of the Chelsea JV squad said it would be unfair at this point to draw any conclusions about the young team.

"Those games were played under some awful conditions," he said. "Let's wait and see what they do on dry field. I don't think they were quite ready to cope with both the rain and a good Pinckney team. They came back well against Webberville, but I'm not sure how good Webberville was."

The JV team's next games are against Fowlerville here tomorrow.

CHelsea FIREMEN were kept on the run answering grass fire alarms last week until rain beginning Friday afternoon dampened what had been an extreme outdoor fire hazard. This picture was taken off Werkner Rd. near Island Lake Rd.

Girls Track Team Finishes Second In Jefferson Invitational Meet

It was a long, but happy day for the Chelsea girls track team last Saturday as they finished second in the 11-team Monroe Jefferson Invitational with 71 points. Grosse Ile, the favorite in the Huron League, was the champion with 133 points.

The Bulldogs placed in 11 of the 16 events with two firsts, five seconds, a third, two fifths and a sixth.

Boy Harriers Fourth In Invitational Meet

It was rainy and windy at Monroe Jefferson last Saturday, but the Chelsea boys track team made a good showing by finishing fourth in the 11-team Jefferson Invitational field.

"We showed considerable improvement," coach Bill Wehrwein said. "Several of the boys are coming along very well. We had some good performances

Amy Wolfgang was a double winner for Chelsea, edging Kim Hunt of Monroe St. Mary at the tape to take the 100-meter hurdles in :17.6 and added a win in the 300 hurdles with a :49.9.

Laura Damm was second in the 400-meter run in 1:05.4; Wendy Wolfgang second in the 800 in 2:38.4, and Melanie Flanigan worked her way through the pack to finish second in the 3,200 with a 13:29.2.

Mary Ann Richardson was fifth in the 1,600 and Edie Harook added a fifth in the long jump.

All four relay teams scored for the Bulldogs.

The 400 relay of Paula Kuzon, Christie Favers, Susan Jaques and Edie Harook was sixth in :58.6. The 800 relay of Kuzon, Favers, Carol Warren and Amy Wolfgang was third in 1:59.5.

The 3,200 relay of Sallie Wilson, Stephanie Roberts, Laura Damm and Wendy Wolfgang was second with a 10:44.8 and the 1,600 relay of Wendy Wolfgang, Carol Warren, Laura Damm and Amy Wolfgang was also second with an excellent 4:21.6.

In both the 3,200 and 1,600 relays, the Bulldogs were easy winners in the first of two unseeded heats, only to see Grosse Ile come back in the second heat and narrowly better the time.

The second place was the girls' best invitational finish since 1980.

Jackson Lumen Christl's powerful boys track team proved far too much for Chelsea to handle last week, and the Bulldogs were beaten decisively, 109-29.

Mark Spayd was a bright spot for the Bulldogs as he won both the 110-meter high hurdles and the 300-meter lows.

The Bulldogs' only other first place was scored in the 800-meter relay, as Dan Fenton, Steve Hunn, Scott Miller and Greg Buckberry teamed up to win in 1:41.3.

Scott Cooper placed second in the long jump with a fine 20-foot leap, and was also second in the 400-meter dash.

Third places were won by Gar DeYoe in the shot put; Curtis Heard and Ed Brosnan (tied) in the 100-meter dash; Eric Green in the 800 and 1,600-meter runs; Kyle Kemmish in the 400, Scott Miller in the 300 hurdles, Dan Fenton in the 200-meter dash, and Allen Cole in the 3,200-meter run.

Dana Field Available, So Games Were Played

Because Dana Field was available, Chelsea girls softball teams were able to play a total of eight games last Saturday despite rain that varied from intermittent to a downpour throughout the day.

The varsity team responded with double-header sweeps over Webberville and Pinckney. The junior varsity beat Webberville twice, but dropped two to Pinckney.

Most other ball games scheduled in southeast Michigan were rained out.

Dana Field has excellent drainage and infield surfaces which soak up water without turning into mud. It remained playable during a steady morning rain and an afternoon of off-and-on showers.

The umpires co-operated. They could have called off play at any time but didn't, even though they were getting wet, as were the players and a handful of spartan spectators.

Actually, Dana field wasn't quite ready for play last Satur-

Both Baseball Openers Washed Out By Steady Rain

The season openers for Chelsea's varsity and JV baseball teams were washed out by rain last Saturday morning. Both games got started but were called by the umpires because of the wet weather.

In the varsity contest at Pinckney, the Bulldogs had built a 4-0 lead at the end of two innings behind the pitching of Jay Marshall, who had also blasted a tremendous 400-foot homerun.

The JV's were ahead of Pinckney here, 1-0, after four innings when the umpires decided it was too wet to play longer.

Varsity coach Wayne Welton

said an effort will be made to finish both contests if the two schools can get together on a date. Under the rules, the games would pick up where they left off and be played to a conclusion.

Lumen Christi Defeats Girls Track Team

The Chelsea girls track team lost to a strong Lumen Christi squad, 89-39, in their season opener in the wind and rain at Jackson last Thursday. There were some strong performances in the meet, and the winning marks were good for a first meet.

First places were the difference in the meet. Each team had the same number of second and thirds.

Bulldog winners were Cris Zerkel in the discus with a 91'-5" throw; Wendy Wolfgang in the 800 meters, with a 2:36, and the 1,600-meter relay quartet of Wendy Wolfgang, Carol Warren, Laura Damm and Amy Wolfgang in 4:25.3.

Chelsea took both second and third in the long jump with Sue Young second and Edie Harook third; the 400 meters with Laura Damm second and Carol Warren third; the 100-meter hurdles with Amanda Holmes second and Donna Bruck third, and the 300 hurdles with Amy Wolfgang second and Donna Bruck third.

Carol Warren added a second in the high jump and a third in the 200. Robin Mock was second in the 1,600 and Paula Kuzon third in the 100.

Lumen Christi's Alana Davis was the meet's standout performer, winning the long jump with a school record 17'-3 1/2", the 100 hurdles in 1:16.7 and the 300 hurdles in 49.5. She also ran a strong leg in the 1,600 relay, but missed a fourth first when the Bulldogs came from behind for the win.

Tennis Team Loses One, Rained Out Twice

The Chelsea boys tennis team has had a tough time getting started, losing a "scrimmage" match to the Ann Arbor Huron junior varsity team and having two other matches rained out.

The Bulldog netters lost to Huron, 2-5. Chelsea winners were the No. 1 doubles team of Thom Schumann and Kurt Eisenbeiser, who defeated their opponents in three sets, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1, and No. 2 singles player Mark Henson, who won 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Other results—

No. 1 singles: Greg Markle lost, 6-2, 6-2.

No. 3 singles: Casey Kentner lost, 6-1, 6-1.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

It's sucker season.

That doesn't mean it's time to go out and try to buy the Mackinac Bridge for a dollar or take the wrong end of the old baseball bat that the batter will or won't foul the ball off on a 3-2 pitch. (He will, about three times out of five, which are pretty good odds if you are on the right side of the wager.)

The sucker season I'm talking about is, simply, fishing for suckers, and it is at its height right now even though you don't hear or read much about it and see very few people doing it.

Actually, the hook-and-line season for catching suckers is never closed. There is no size or catch limit. Suckers are classified as "rough" fish—along with carp, gars and bowfins (dogfish) and don't even rate a mention in the Michigan Fishing Guide handed out with licenses. They are lumped under "all other fish" in what is literally a catch-all category.

Suckers "run" in April. They move into rivers and tributary creeks to spawn, and they concentrate in large numbers in some spots. A few wise old fishermen who know the spots and the techniques catch them by the pail, even by the bushel.

The Huron River and all its principal tributaries are prime sucker waters in April. I've caught a bunch of suckers out of the Huron between Ann Arbor and Dexter in past years, and also out of Fleming Creek east of Ann Arbor. My guess is they can be found in any of the tributary creeks that aren't blocked by dams.

Michigan suckers come in two kinds—common (white) and redhorse. As the names suggest, the difference is mostly in coloration, although redhorse tend to be a little larger. Average size is about a foot in length and a pound in weight, although they can and sometimes do grow bigger, up to 3-4 pounds.

Fishing for suckers is a quiet, contemplative sort of activity, well suited to a bright early spring day when the sun is shining and bringing some warmth back to the world after a cold and dreary winter.

The needed gear is simple—one or two spinning or casting rods and reels rigged with light line, sinkers big enough to hold bottom, and small hooks. Small garden worms do fine for bait. By all means take along a folding chair and find a place to sit in the sun.

The idea is to cast the weighted bait out into the current, wind the line taut, set the rod in a holder so that it's propped at a 45-degree angle, sit back, relax and wait. Patience helps mightily. In fact, if you aren't a patient soul, sucker fishing probably is not for you.

Suckers don't strike, or even bite in the usual angling sense of the words. They sort of inhale the bait with their vacuum-cleaner mouths. The first sign of a "taker" is a top-tap bobbing motion on the rod tip, which tells you the fish has the bait in its mouth and is moving off. That's the time to pick up the rod and set the hook. If you have timed it right—and it is not as easy as you think it should be—you will shortly reel in a sucker.

The "fight" won't be a big thrill. Suckers don't jump, and they don't run. They mostly pull and flop around.

So why bother? The best reason, I think, is that there is very little else to fish for around here at this time of year. Either the seasons are closed or the fish are inactive. Suckers are the earliest species of spring to become interested in an angler's offerings.

For the opportunistic fisherman, suckers offer a chance to take advantage of what's out there available to be caught.

On top of that, don't believe whatever you may have "learned" about suckers being unfit to eat. Fixed right, spring-run suckers are excellent on the table. The flesh is white, firm and sweet.

That's the good news. The bad news is that suckers are full of small bones which can't be cut out by conventional filleting. Scoring (cross-hatching) the fillets with a sharp knife will cut the bones into tiny pieces that can be swallowed without harm.

A better idea is to grind up the fillets and make fish balls out of them. Use any recipe for codfish balls that you find in a cookbook, and the result will be fine.

Better yet, smoke or pickle suckers. Either dish is superb. I have eaten smoked suckers, that were as fine as any smoked salmon or lake trout I've tasted, and suckers marinated like herring are just as good as the pickled fish you pay several dollars a pound for.

Give sucker fishing a try one of these nice spring afternoons. Even if you don't catch anything, it's a great excuse to get out in the open.

Memorial 17

In Loving Memory of BYRON E. SMITH

A year has passed, how long it seems, but in my heart, your face still beams. Sincere and kind in heart and mind, what a beautiful memory you've left behind. You shall sleep, but not forever, there will be a glorious dawn. We shall meet, to part no never on that Resurrection morn.
 Sadly missed by loving wife, Betty.

In Memory of Brother BYRON E. SMITH

Deep in our hearts you are fondly remembered, Sweet, happy memories cling round your name, True hearts that loved you with deepest affections, Always will love you in death the same.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU EDITORIAL

★ The Cancer Scare

Now that we've recovered from the latest cancer scare, the existence of the pesticide EDB in some grain and grain products, let's put it in perspective.

As a Wall Street Journal editorial said, "First, modern society is not killing us; it has led to spectacular and continuing increases in life expectancy. Second, we are not suffering a cancer epidemic; age-adjusted death rates from most forms of cancer have been steadily declining for 50 years."

Even the doctor who discovered the link between EDB and cancer in laboratory rats said, "Why alarm the public with one more cancer risk, especially when according to my evidence, it's not a very likely cancer risk." Likely risk or not, the state of Florida was yanking products off supermarket shelves if they contained more than one part of EDB per billion parts of food.

A chemical industry spokesperson said, "For nearly half a century, EDB has been used for protecting stored corn, wheat and other grains from insects. How long since you opened a package of cereal product only to find it wormy? Such an experience was once commonplace."

When it comes right down to it, the public would probably rather have a few parts per billion of EDB in their food than a few insect parts.

CMU Music Groups Here Monday in Concert

The Chelsea High school symphony and freshman bands will present a concert with Central Michigan University's symphonic wind ensemble at the high school auditorium, Monday, April 23 at 7:30 p.m.

The Chelsea Bands will present a program of music they will be performing for state festival.

The freshman band will perform "Suite" by the Brazilian composer Heitor Villa Lobos as arranged by University of Michigan graduate and composer Jerry Bilik and "Fall River Overture" by John Edmondson.

The symphony band will perform "Second Suite for Military Band in F Major" by the British composer Gustav Holst, and Aaron Copland's "Variations on a Shaker Melody" from Appalachian Spring as arranged for band by the composer.

Jack Williamson, director of bands and instrumental area coordinator for Central Michigan University, will guest conduct Percy Grainger's "Ye Banks and Braes of Boonie Doon."

The CMU symphonic wind ensemble will present a varied program of wind music opening with a 19th century transcription of the "Overture to the Barber of Seville" by Rossini as arranged for 12 winds by Wenzel Sedlak. "Skating on the Sheyenne" by Ross Lee Finney, a contemporary tone poem, follows with three movements entitled "Figure Eights," "Northern Lights" and "Crack the Whip."

The percussion ensemble, conducted by its founder, Robert Hohner, will perform three selections calling for a large battery of instruments beginning with "Ogun Badagris" by Christopher Rouse. A transcription of the final movement of a Haydn "String Quartet for Mallets" follows with a similar instrumentation of "Log Cabin Blues" ending their portion of the program.

The concert will conclude with the "Concerto for Band" by Verne Reynolds. Written in 1982, this represents a tour de force calling upon the entire technical and color resources of the wind ensemble.

This will be an exciting evening of music for the entire family. Admission to the concert is free; however, donations will be accepted at the door to defray meal expenses for the CMU Band.

Spell of Wet Weather Capped Off By Snow

You can usually figure on at least one snowfall during a southern Michigan April, and west Washtenaw county got one yesterday morning as early morning rain turned white and solid.

No substantial accumulation was expected, and the forecast for today was for warmer, more seasonable weather with a high temperature in the 50's.

Yesterday's snow climaxed five days of more or less steady precipitation which began with last Friday afternoon's severe weather warning. It rained off and on until yesterday morning when the change to snow occurred.

The wet weather did put an end, at least temporarily, to an outbreak of grass fires which had kept local fire departments on the run and triggered a ban on outdoor burning by the Department of Natural Resources.

Last Thursday, before the rains came the following day, the Chelsea fire department answered grass fire calls on Kalmbach, Werkner, Bartell and Joslin Lake Rds. On the previous day, Wednesday, runs were made on Harvey, McKinley and Roe Rds.

No serious damage resulted from any of the blazes, most of which started when household fires got out of hand and began to spread.

In Elizabethan England the spoon was such a prized rarity that people carried their own spoons to banquets.

door burning by the Department of Natural Resources.

★ Chelsea Scores Very Well on ACT Test . . .

The American College Testing Program indicates that more than 200 questions on the test "are measures of academic development that rely partly on the students' reasoning ability and partly on their knowledge of the subject matter areas but which emphasize their ability to use both."

The ACT examination is divided into four subjects—English, Math, Social Studies and Natural Science. ACT converts the number of correct answers a student marks on each part of the test into "standard scores." The maximum possible standard score differs for each subject—English, 33; Math, 36; Social Studies, 34; and Natural Science, 35. The composite score is simply an average of the scores from all four areas. ACT says the composite "provides an overall estimate of your level of educational development in the areas tested."

Listed below are the nation-wide and Michigan scores and a comparison for Chelsea for the 1982-83 school year:

Area	Nation-Wide	Michigan	Chelsea
English	17.8	17.7	19.3
Math	17.8	17.7	19.3
Social Studies	16.9	17.8	18.6
Natural Science	17.1	17.2	18.7
Composite	20.9	21.3	22.7

Chili Cook-Off Scheduled To Benefit Kidney Research

What do you get when you mix 80 zany, fun-loving chiliheads together with 21 high flying hot air balloon pilots? You get the Great Chili Cook-Off Hot Air Balloon Festival and two action-packed days of family fun.

Sponsored by Health Care Network, a subsidiary of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, the two-day festival is being held to benefit the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan, at the Farm Council Grounds, near Saline, Saturday, May 5th and Sunday, May 6th.

In the first ballooning event of the 1984 season, this memorable ballooning event will include three task flights to honor the late Dr. William C. Grabb, a former University of Michigan professor of surgery and a pioneer in Michigan ballooning.

All the pilots are the guest of Weber's Inn in Ann Arbor, where a welcoming party, starting at 5 p.m. on Friday, May 4, will kick-off the week-end. The public is invited.

On May 5 at sunrise, activities will lift off with the first of three flights. Sixteen qualified pilots, many winners of national and regional awards, will compete. Dave Grabb, of Aspen, Colo., and son of Dr. William Grabb, is among the competitors.

Joining the sixteen competing balloons will be five "fun" balloons, there to add to the eye pleasing spectacular sight of watching a balloon launch.

After the first flight, the Farm Council Grounds will soon fill up with chili cooks assembling their recipes and starting to prepare for the fifth annual Great Chili Cook-Off.

Among the 80 cooks are competitors from as far as Ft. Thomas, Ky. Other serious competitors include Ken "King Chili" Calvert, of WRIF-FM; "Fat Bob" Taylor, of WJR; Phil Pamka, general manager at WWWF-FM; and Kowalski Sausage of Hamtramck.

The cooks will light their stoves at 11 a.m. and the judging will begin at 2 p.m. The public can pick their favorite by tasting the chilis starting after 2:15 p.m.

Leading the judging team is Dick Puritan of 95.5 COZY FM Radio.

The winner of the Cook-Off, to be announced at 4 p.m., will fly courtesy of Republic Airlines, in the fall to compete in the International Chili Society Cook-Off held in Tropico Gold Mine, Calif.

Other events on Saturday afternoon include the Great Midwestern Egg Drop Championship, sponsored by WQB-FM in Ann Arbor, country and rock bands, a car bash, the Tri-State Pinto Horse Show.

Concluding Saturday's day-long activities will be the second task flight of hot air balloons at sunset, approximately 5:30 p.m.

Sunday morning, the third and final task flight will launch at sunrise. The hot air balloon festival will conclude with a formal ceremony at 11:30 a.m., with the winner of the Dr. William C. Grabb memorial race to be announced. Special guest will be Mrs. William Grabb.

Sunday afternoon, the fun will

Board of Health Will Meet at Webster Hall

During the coming year, the Washtenaw County Board of Health will hold several of its regular meetings at sites outside of Ann Arbor.

The board, seeking input from community members regarding health issues, is attempting to make the meetings more accessible to county residents.

The April meeting of the board will be held at the Webster Township Hall, 5001 Gregory Rd., April 20, at 9 a.m. A presentation on the activities of the Upper Huron Preservation Group Task Force will be addressed by Marcia Dorsey, executive director of the Huron River Watershed Council, chairman of the Task Force and the Washtenaw County Health Department. Time will be set aside for public discussion. The business portion of the meeting will follow.

All interested area residents are invited to attend.

Village Officials Jubilant Over Sales Agreement

Village president Jerry Satterthwaite and other officials were jubilant over the signing of a sales agreement, with Book-Crafters, Inc., for purchase of a site in Chelsea's industrial park.

"There are some matters yet to be worked out," Satterthwaite said, "but I'm confident we can take care of them. We certainly will try."

"From what I've learned, getting the first client is the key to developing a new industrial park," Satterthwaite added. Once the first buyer has made a commitment, others follow."

"This agreement with Book-Crafters gives us an incentive and a financial base to go ahead with development of the park—putting in roads and utilities. We will have something to show besides a cornfield."

The sales agreement was approved unanimously by the five members present at a special village council meeting late last Friday afternoon. Satterthwaite, and trustees Fred Harris, Richard Steele, Joe Merkel, James Finch all voted yes. Herman Radloff, who is on vacation in California, was absent.

One trustee seat is vacant and remains to be filled by appointment.

Actually, the council had sought to act on Thursday evening but could not muster a quorum, and so the meeting was recessed until Friday.

A two-thirds majority—at least five members—of the board is required to conduct business involving money matters.

In the fourth quarter of 1983, earnings for both men and women 25 years and over and for women 18 and 24 years old rose by $10 or more, while there was no change among men 18 to 24 years old, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Farmers Concerned About Fate of Weights, Measures Inspection Program

Action by the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture this week to restore funding for the Michigan Department of Agriculture's weights and measures inspection program was called a "very positive development" by Robert E. Smith, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau.

The recommendation must still be approved by the full Appropriations Committee and then by the Senate, Smith explained.

The agriculture budget passed earlier by the House eliminated the inspection of all weights and measures.

"There would have been no inspections to assure the accuracy of grain elevator, livestock auction and processor scales, especially important to farmers," Smith said. "It would also eliminate inspection of 26,000 scales in retail food stores and farm markets. Accurate weights and measures are the most basic protections from fraud that farmers and consumers have."

"I think the subcommittee's action was a very positive development, but it will be some time yet before we are assured that the program will be maintained," he said.

Holy Week Being Observed

Holy Week, culminating with Easter Sunday, is generally considered the most important religious event in Christianity. And although observances of the holiday are different, there remains a common theme—Unity.

Holy Week is the one time (other than Christmas) when all Christian churches join in a common observance. The ceremonies may differ, but the observance and belief are steadfast.

Easter observances began on Sunday, with the observance of Palm Sunday, and continue until this Sunday, Easter.

Many area churches begin the Holy Week with Maundy Thursday services. "Maundy" is derived from the Latin "mandatum," meaning commandment. That commandment, according to scripture, was given by Jesus during the Last Supper. The commandment was that "you also love one another."

Most churches offer communion on Maundy Thursday as part of the Eucharist, or Lord's Supper. Christian churches began celebrating Maundy Thursday in the fourth century, to commemorate the beginning of the Lord's Supper. Communion is now a common feature of Maundy Thursday services.

The Tenebrae, a choral meditation offered by Lutheran churches, generally begins the Maundy Thursday celebration in that church. Tenebrae is derived from the Latin for "shadows," and the service depicts the flight of the disciples and approaching crucifixion through the extinguishing of candles or dimming of sanctuary lights. The service concludes with a moment of total darkness.

Methodist churches also offer evening mid-week communion in observance of Maundy Thursday.

Episcopalians observe the tradition with a service called "Laying Bare the Altar," during which the altar decorations are removed until the entire sanctuary is bare. The service is used to prepare the congregation for Good Friday services, usually held between noon and 3 p.m.

As in the past, Good Friday will be the day of unity among Christians in the Chelsea area.

Good Friday is believed by some to be derived from "God's Friday," or perhaps to commemorate the good Jesus brought into the world. In Anglo-Saxon times, the day was known as "Long Friday," perhaps because of the lengthy services in practice to celebrate the occasion.

Locally, Good Friday will be a day of unity because of the community service beginning at 1 p.m. at the United Methodist church. Traditionally, Good Friday is a day of fasting and repentance, and a remembrance of Jesus' suffering.

Baptisms also are a common celebration of the Easter holiday, and many churches will conduct both adult and child services during the holiday. In the early years of Christianity, all newborns or converted Christians were baptized on Easter Sunday, and the tradition continues.

Also, Easter Sunday is the traditional Easter "breakfast" following most of the sunrise services this Sunday.

Services for various churches are listed in the "Church Services" section of today's paper.

Bad Weather Saline Resident Killed In Accident

A Saline man, William D. Black, 26, was killed early Monday morning when his car rolled over on Bemis Rd. in Bridgewater township east of Manchester. Two other persons in the car suffered minor injuries.

The car driven by Black had been pursued four miles by a

Manchester policeman who saw the vehicle weave across the center line on Main St. in the village shortly after midnight.

Black was removed from the car alive and taken to Saline Community Hospital, where he died at 2:04 a.m.

David J. Meinhart has announced that he will step down as Freedom township supervisor, a post he has held for 12 years.

During the township's annual meeting recently, Meinhart said he will not seek re-election. Meinhart said he is also retiring from Chrysler Corp., where he is employed at the Chelsea Proving Ground.

"My kids are all grown and on their own now and I'm ready to retire, both from Chrysler and from township government," Meinhart said. "This will be my last term. I will not seek re-election."

Meinhart said he plans to travel and relax during retirement.

All five township board offices will be up for election this November, Meinhart added.
