IT'S A BIG PICK-UP: Typical of the trash put out to be collected in the annual village spring pick-up is this bunch of broken concrete plus old furniture and appliances. There is more than a truck-load in this pile, and it's all heavy. Chelsea residents are believed to have taken advantage of the "free" collection in order to avoid paying the new dumping fees at the landfill. Village crews are running behind in their efforts to keep up with the outpour of junk.

Firemen Are Unhappy About Pay Rates, Lack of Recognition

Members of the Chelsea fire department are hopping mad about what they perceive to be a lack of recognition and respect for the services they perform.

Fire chief Paul (Bud) Hanked made that plain during an interview that he requested with a reporter for The Standard.

"I feel we have been put down repeatedly by village officials, and I want the facts to be on the record so people will know the truth," Hanked said.

A statement made at the April 17 village council meeting got under the skin of Hanked and other members of the fire department.

It was president Jerry Satterthwaite's answer to Hanked's question why firemen received no pay increase in the 1984-85 budget approved by the council.

"You are volunteers," Satterthwaite said. "Nobody is forcing you to work."

"We provide excellent fire protection to the village very inexpensively," Hanked said. "The village bought our services last year for a total of $26,142, including a $2,040 payment into the equipment fund, and that is very cheap."

The fire department budget is difficult to explain because it cannot be accurately projected to the dollar a year ahead of time. It depends on how many runs are made where for how long, and what the charges are for the per-hour services of the number of firemen and pieces of equipment involved.

Past experience is the only factor that can be used to arrive at an estimate. Through April, the number of fire runs was well ahead of a year ago, but the total could go up or down depending on what happens during the next nine months.

For 1983-84, the $118,149.83 in fire department service costs were shared as follows:

Chelsea, $24,102.52 (20.4 percent); Dexter township, $12,523.86 (10.6 percent); Freedom township, $354.45 (0.3 percent); Lima township, $21,030.63 (17.8 percent); Lyndon township, $25,402.17 (21.5 percent); Sharon township, $2,717.44 (2.3 percent); Sylvan township, $27,174.42 (23 percent); Waterloo township, Jackson county, $4,844.14 (4.1 percent).

Each of the eight units paid proportionate percentage shares into the $10,000 equipment fund. Chelsea, for example, contributed $2,040 (20.4 percent).

The 1984-85 budget proposal submitted by chief Hanked called for a $154,700 budget, with Chelsea paying 22.4 percent or $36,892 and the townships kicking in the rest.

"I think it was an honest, realistic estimate," Hanked said. "It did include some pay increases which I think the firemen have coming after waiting a lot of years."

That gets into another hard-to-explain area. Only five members of the fire department are salaried. As chief, Hanked is paid $125 a month. Four assistant chiefs—Larry Koch, Jerry Kenney, Bob Dorer and Larry Gaken—receive $100, $75, $50 and $50 a month, respectively.

They and all other firemen are paid $7.88 per hour for the time they spend on fire runs. They receive no fringe benefits.

"Look, none of us is doing this for the money," Hanked said. "There are a lot of better, easier ways to make money than fighting fires and making medical rescue runs."

"With only one exception that I know of, none of our regular employers docks us for the work time we lose by going on fire calls. Let me give credit to Dana Corp., where I work. They pay me for the time I'm gone on a fire run, and there has never been any question about it. Dana is donating my time, and other employers are doing the same thing, and they should be commended for it. You couldn't have a volunteer fire department without that kind of cooperation."

For the five who receive them, fire department monthly salaries were last raised in 1979. Hourly rates have gone up by the same percentages granted to other village employees, which means firemen got essentially nothing for 1984-85.

"I think it's time people told the truth about the fire department, and village officials aren't telling it," Hanked summed up. "I've held back up to now because I hoped we could come to some kind of an understanding. After what happened at the council meeting, I decided that the real story should be told."

Spring Trash Collection Brings Out A Bunch of It

Was there or wasn't there more trash set out on the curbs of village streets this spring?

Members of the village council say yes, administrator Frederick Weber says he isn't sure, and public works superintendent Bud Hafner will wait and see until he has tallied the total.

The question came up at the May 1 council meeting when trustee Herman Radloff let it be known that he objects to looking at "all the junk" piled up on village streets in anticipation of the spring pick-up and demanded that something be done about it.

Blood Drive Brings 137 Donor Pints

Chelsea donors contributed 137 pints during the Red Cross blood drive last Saturday. Another 18 would-be donors were rejected for health reasons.

In all, 33 groups organized in connection with the sesquicentennial celebration contributed blood to the drive.

The top donor groups, in terms of membership participants, were:

Men—Outhouse Gang, Spring Hares, North Lake Snowbrushes, Party Tyne Beaus, Bent Ear Gang, Mopar Minute Men.

Women—Quincennialists, Chelsea Chatters, Party Tyne Belles, Ladies of the Flush, Carriages, Belles of the Knight.

Stephanie Kantan Appointed to Post On Village Council

Stephanie "Sis" Kantan, a former trustee, has been appointed to fill a vacancy on the village board, effective May 15.

The appointment will expire after the March 1985 election.

Mrs. Kantan lives at 560 Chandler St. and has been an elementary teacher in the Dexter public schools for the past 16 years.

She was elected to the council in 1980 and lost a bid for a second term in the 1982 balloting. She is a graduate of Chelsea High school and Olivet College.

The vacancy was created when Satterthwaite was elected president on March 6. His weeks before it's collected," Radloff said. "It's an eyesore and a disgrace. You look around, and all you see is rubbish."

Radloff suggested that the village should schedule its spring trash pick-up more closely and carefully, and perhaps divide the town into halves or quarters for the collection.

"I don't care what you do, you are not going to solve that problem," administrator Frederick Weber told the council.

"We don't advertise or publicize the pick-up, but people know we are going to do it, and they start getting the junk out there early. When they clean up their yards, they rake out to the curb, and when they go through their houses and decide what they want to throw away, they put it out front. I don't think there is any way to stop that."

Radloff said there was an extraordinary amount of heavy rubbish put out for collection this year, and his fellow trustees agreed.

"I think we have created a problem with our new fees for taking junk to the landfill," Radloff said. "I see more appliances, furniture and other big things than I ever saw before. If the village will pick this stuff up for nothing now, why wait and pay to haul it to the landfill later?"

"I agree, there is a lot more, especially large and heavy items like appliances," trustee Joe Merkel said. "I saw many stoves, refrigerators, washers, dryers, big pieces of furniture. People are taking advantage of the free pick-up, and you can't blame them."

term on the council had another year to run, but the seat was left open when Satterthwaite won the presidency.

Mrs. Kantan's appointment was made amid some confusion and controversy.

Satterthwaite announced the choice as if it were an accomplished fact, saying that he had made the selection "because I believe a woman" should serve on the council. "She is experienced and qualified," he said, "and she is our new member."

Trustee Richard Steele objected, pointing out that an approving vote by the full council is required.

Weber insisted he wasn't sure that the volume of trash had actually increased, and said he would wait until all the results were in before he made a judgment.

Three Scholarships Offered By Chelsea Hospital Auxiliary

Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary will present $500 scholarships to three area students. To be eligible for a scholarship a student must be enrolled full-time in a health career program for which certification is given or a degree is granted, and must be a resident of the hospital service area.

Scholarship applications are now available at Chelsea Community Hospital and may be picked up at the information desk near the main entrance or at the switchboard desk which is just inside the courtyard entrance. Applications may be obtained between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. The completed applications should be returned as indicated on the form

Council Moves To Deal With Sewer Problem

The village council took a couple of cautious steps to deal with Chelsea's sewer problem at its May 1 meeting.

The board voted unanimously to:

1. Authorize engineering consultants Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout of Toledo, O., to proceed with plans to "buy time" by taking 33,000 gallons of waste per day out of the existing system.

2. Contract with the Detroit law firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone to develop a proposal on how to finance a new waste treatment plant.

The Toledo engineers estimate that 33,000 gallons of wastewater per day can be removed from the village sewer system at a cost of slightly more than $12,000, by plugging leaks of surface water into sanitary sewer lines.

Taking out that much would allow the village to go ahead and complete the first phase of the Sibley Rd. industrial park, and with the deadline being Monday, June 4.

Hafner, who supervises the collection, said his crews had picked up more than 40 truck-loads during the first two days while covering less than a quarter of the village.

After initial screening, personal interviews will be conducted for the candidates deemed most highly qualified. The awarding of the scholarship will be based on academic achievement and sincere interest to further education in a health oriented field.

Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary has given $6,000 in scholarships since 1979.

Monies came from projects such as the Christmas Home Tour, the Arbor Nook Gift Shop, Cookbook sales, a fashion show, raffles, and bazaars.

Members of the scholarship committee are Jean Mann, Gail Olson, and Donna Lane.

have a little bit of breathing room for future development.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has placed the village under statutory order against adding any more effluent into the sewer system. For every gallon added, an equivalent gallon has to be removed.

Phase one of the industrial park is expected to add more than 21,000 daily gallons to the system. By taking out 33,000 gallons the village can accommodate that increase and create a 12,000-gallon cushion for further additions.

The numbers from here on as projected by Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout are discouraging. They show an ever-higher cost to stop more gallons of waste from getting into the waste treatment plant.

The village is under order to expand its waste treatment plant and have it operating in confor-

Gen. Beach To Talk At Honors Banquet

Gen. Dwight E. Beach, U.S. Army (retired) of Lima Center, will address the Chelsea High school cum laude seniors at the 11th annual Honors Banquet on Thursday, May 10, at 6 p.m. The banquet is sponsored by the Chelsea School District and the Modern Mothers Child Study Club of Chelsea.

Gen. Beach attended the University of Michigan for two years prior to entering the U.S. Military Academy, and graduated in 1932.

Shortly after Pearl Harbor, at the beginning of World War II, General Beach was transferred to the Southwest Pacific, where he commanded the 167th Field Artillery Battalion. His unit was then designated as the 41st Infantry Division and participated in campaigns in the Southwest Pacific area, from Australia through New Guinea to the Philippines and Japan.

CATHY MUHA, Chelsea artist, sits beside her drawing of a Michigan Central engine which ran through Chelsea 100 years ago. The drawing will appear on the front cover of "Chelsea's First 150 Years," the sesquicentennial book now being printed.

Historic Locomotive Drawing Fronts Sesquicentennial Book

The Michigan Central railroad engine on the cover of Chelsea's forthcoming sesquicentennial book is an original drawing by a distinguished artist of the village, Cathy Muha.

The engine chugging on the cover of "Chelsea's First 150 Years" actually ran through Chelsea in the 1880's. Muha's drawing was based on photographs of the engine supplied by the State of Michigan historical archives.

Will Connelly, editor of the book, called the historical commission in Lansing. He reached Martin McLaughlin, records specialist and explained the need for an authentic picture of a railroad engine that ran through Chelsea in the 19th century. McLaughlin replied, "Yes, we have five such pictures in our archives. Your request comes as a coincidence. It so happens that my dad was an engineer on the Michigan Central for 50 years."

In making her drawing for the book cover, Cathy Muha had two photographs of one model of the chosen engine for reference. However, she also had the problem of showing the engine in the perspective of coming around a curve, as demanded by the editor. Her success with this artistic challenge will be appreciated by sesqui book owners.

The artist, mother to two and wife of Michael Muha, is a Michigan girl. She was born in St. Clair and grew up in the Ypsil-Belleville area. After two years at Eastern Michigan University she transferred to the U. of M. and graduated with the coveted Michigan fine arts degree.

Her works of art are architecturally oriented and the MCR engine was indeed a departure. Her line drawings were used to illustrate the book recently published by the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, and she also did the line illustration of the Woodshed Eatery which will appear on the inside cover of "Chelsea's First 150 Years."

Senate Calls for Balanced Budget Amendment

Shunning concerns that a United States constitutional convention could and would not be limited to a single subject, the Republican-controlled state Senate recently approved a resolution directing Congress to either adopt an amendment to the constitution for a balanced federal budget or call a convention to have delegates draft the amendment.

Thirty-two of the required 34 states have petitioned Congress for the balanced budget amendment. Michigan is considered a key state as a 33rd state is expected to move Congress to act rather than wait for a 34th to demand a convention.

Four Democrats joined 19 Republicans in approving the balanced budget resolution while only Senator Harry DeMaaso (R-Battle Creek) crossed over to vote against the resolution with the other Democrats.

Those Democrats voting in favor of the resolution were Senators James DeSana (D-Wyandotte), Gilbert DiNello (D-East Detroit), Joseph Mack (D-Ironwood) and Arthur Miller (D-Warren).

The resolution was substituted to provide guidelines against a so-called "runaway" convention which could open the constitution to any subject matter.

The substitute, written by Senator Connie Binsfeld (R-Maple City), first asks Congress to propose the amendment and send it to the states for ratification and second, petitions for a convention should Congress fail with its own amendment.

The substitute further limits any convention call to only one "specific" purpose of a balanced budget amendment and if the convention is open further, the Michigan petition would be null and void.

Arguments centered around whether a federal convention could be limited to a single subject. Senators cited constitutional lawyers depending on which side of the issue a member happened to be.

Senator Gary Corbin (D-Clio) said constitutional scholars say that once a call for a convention is made, it cannot be limited in subject areas. The convention would be limited by its own actions, he said.

Binsfeld, citing lawyers of her own liking, said the resolution specifically limits the call. She added that should the subject of the convention get out of hand, the Michigan resolution would no longer be effective, making the call invalid.

Senator John Kelly (D-Detroit) said he was terrified of the prospects of a constitutional convention that could ultimately undo the framework of the constitution that has been in effect for 200 years.

He said the resolution could prove to be "extremely divisive" for the country that is already divided by various factions by opening the constitution to various single-issue groups.

Kelly assured the membership that if a convention is called he would be elected as a delegate and offer amendments to disband overseas military forces, ban handguns, guarantee comparable work, nationalize banks and all companies, limit the freedom of the press and make Catholicism the official religion of the nation.

Senator Basil Brown (D-Highland Park) called the resolution a "myth and lie" by conservative, right wing members. He said without deficit spending, the country would not be able to exist. He concluded the resolution was just political with no bearing or relevance.

The resolution is expected to receive little consideration by the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The feller that runs the country store has used recent breaks in the weather to dig out a patch about the size of the bed of my pickup on the side of his yard near the road. He mentioned Saturday night that he is putting in vegetables and he is growing em organic, washing off the acid rain and not spraying any chemicals on bugs that want him to share his crop with em. He said he wants to remind hisself what real natural food taste like.

His plans got a laugh from all the fellers. Clem Webster allowed that no bug in his right mind would eat anything grewed that clost to all the poisons put out by cars pulling up to the gas pump in the first place, and in the second place the ground there was so poor and had been packed so hard fer so long that it won't grow anything in the first place. Clem recalled that a horseshoe pit use to be square in the middle of the new garden. Setting as a board of agriculturd advisers, the fellers was unanimous in ruling that after all these years of propping agin the drink box and waiting fer home grewed goodies to be give to him in season, the store feller ought to leave truck farming on any scale to the experts.

But he was not to be denied. He said he was sick and tired of reading where his life is measured in parts per billion by all the federal protecters. The store feller said he allus heard that two things nobody ever wants to watch being made are laws and sausages, and fer a third he would add regulations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the U. S. Environment Protection Agency and the U. S. Food and Drug Administration. None of the fellers would take him serious, but they did take off on a discussion of his parts per billion. Bug Hookum allowed that life is a compromise, and so is the Government's job of perfecting it. He had saw where a EPA study showed that the chanc of a person getting sick from the EDB parts per billion found in muffin mix recalled recent was even to winning a super jackpot with one pull of a slot machine in Los Vagus. But Americans look, at bad food the way they think of nuclear war, Bug said, there ain't no acceptable level of either one.

Clem was full disagreed. He said we set up degrees of risk we will accept all the time. We are told sackerin is bad, Clem went on, but we think calories are worse. We can't ignore all the evidence that tars and gasses in burning tobacco will kill us, he said, but smokers say they will kill us only a little if we filter, cool, wash and ever other way cut down parts of bad chemicals per billion parts of inhaled smoke. All you got to do to know that risk is a compromise with cost, Clem went on, is to look at what is done to make cars safer in a wreck, and think about what would be done if no level of risk was acceptable.

Final, Zeke Grubb reported that USDA has found that the Swiss are putting fewer holes in some kinds of cheese they send us, so now we got to come up with guidelines spelling out how much more of nothing we want.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Kanten Appointed . . .

required to fill such a vacancy. A check of the language in the village charter confirmed that Steele was right.

Steele then brought up the fact that, under past practice, council vacancies have been filled by appointing the person who had the highest number of votes in a losing bid for a trustee seat.

Had that custom been followed, Keith Boylan would have been appointed. Boylan, also a former trustee, ran fourth in a field of five contesting for three trustee positions at the March 6 election. Emmett Hankerd, who ran fifth in the March voting, was in the audience and demanded that Satterthwaite's statement of intent to appoint a woman be recorded in the official minutes of the meeting.

"I wanted a lady," Satterthwaite responded, "and that can be put on the record."

The subsequent vote to confirm Mrs. Kanten was 4-1, with Steele voting no. Fred Harris, Joe Merkel, Herman Radloff and James Finch all voted yes.

Mrs. Kanten is scheduled to be sworn in at the May 15 council meeting.

Staffan-Mitchell FUNERAL HOME
JOHN W. MITCHELL, Director

Dear Friends:
As you may know, the United States Government, via the Federal Trade Commission, has recently mandated a number of rules and forms that we must either use or comply with during the time of funeral arrangements. Although this information has always been available from the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, we are now required to follow special procedures, present special lists for services, caskets and vaults and obtain certain authorizations and waivers in writing.

If you have had to make funeral arrangements in the recent past, you may find these new procedures to be somewhat awkward and burdensome, however, we are asking for your cooperation and understanding as we both learn to deal with this new layer of government regulations and involvement.

In spite of the changes, I and my staff will continue to try and serve you in the finest and most professional manner possible.

Sincerely,
John W. Mitchell

Vicky Downer, Charles Elder Married in April 14 Ceremony

Vicky Downer of 13215 Chelsea-Dexter Rd. and Charles R. Elder of Whitmore Lake were married in an evening ceremony on Saturday, April 14, at the Chelsea Congregational church by the Rev. Kenyon Edwards.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Downer. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Bonnie Elder of Pinckney and Charles Elder of Bloomfield Hills.

Tammy Downer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Dawn Bucholz of Excelsior, Minn., Mrs. Cheryl Steele of Manchester, Robin Hatch of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Vicki Dutcher of Walled Lake.

John Dobson of Bluffton, Ind., was best man. Ushers were Mike Foster of Chelsea, Charles Downer of Chelsea, Dan Elder of Silver Lake and Joe Elder of Mt. Pleasant.

Karen Staskey of Plymouth was vocalist and Burt Cobb of Chelsea organist.

A reception was held in the Dexter Knights of Columbus Hall. Diana and Billie Joe Robards of Grass Lake were in charge of the guest book. Virginia and Carrie Gross of Dexter served the wedding cake.

Following a honeymoon in Hawaii, the couple is living in the Whitmore Lake area.

Mrs. Elder is a 1977 graduate of Chelsea High school, attended Washtenaw Community College, and is employed at the University of Michigan Student Health Service.

Her husband was graduated from Howell High school in 1976 and attended Washtenaw Community College. He is employed by Midwest Natural Foods.

K. of C. Auxiliary Holds Meeting

Three guests were present at the May meeting of the Knights of Columbus Auxiliary, at which Pat Spicer provided the entertainment.

The membership drawing was won by Marge LaRose.

The Knights sent thank-yous for the auxiliary's participation in the fish fries and the Tootsie Roll drive. The group will help with a rummage and bake sale to be held June 8-9. All donations of merchandise and time will be gratefully accepted.

The next euchre tournament will be held May 18. The next meeting will be June 14.

SCHIRRMACHER-HADLEY: Mr. and Mrs. Duane Boyer have announced the engagement of their daughter, Candace Annette to Brock Joseph Hadley. Candace is also the daughter of the late Eugene Schirmacher. Brock is the son of Robert and Donna Hadley, and the late Kathleen Lillibridge Hadley. Both are graduates of Chelsea High school.

The invocation for tomorrow night's program will be delivered by the Rev. Fr. David P. Dupuis of St. Mary's Catholic church. Entertainment will be provided by the Ann Arbor Comic Opera Guild.

Dale A. Schumann, president of the board of education, and Mrs. Janet Grenier of the faculty will present certificates to 16 students and 14 faculty members who are to be honored.

Susan Riemenschneider will play dinner music.

Permission Given For Flea Market On Middle, Congdon

Women of the North Lake Methodist church have been given permission to hold a flea market on W. Middle and Congdon Sts. on June 30-July 1 in connection with Chelsea's sesquicentennial celebration.

The village council granted the request with the stipulation that one lane of the streets be kept open at all times for possible passage of emergency vehicles.

A summer recreation program can be provided to Chelsea youth at a cost of between $1,200 and $1,500, according to high school football coach Ned Stuits who is pushing the project. The program would provide activities for youngsters aged two to 18.

The county road commission has received a letter from the anonymous developer of the Sylvan township "mystery area" assuring that the project will be beneficial and that closing portions of four roads, as requested, will be in the public interest. The commission is still studying the matter.

Pierce Park on S. Main St. is beginning to take shape, thanks to the efforts of a Chelsea Chamber of Commerce committee headed by Walter Harper. Walkways have been completed, and the lawn was seeded last week by C. of C. members.

William J. Hafner, a lifelong prominent resident of Chelsea, died May 9 at his home on W. Middle St. He was 59. He is survived by his wife and 11 children.

The Chelsea Agricultural School District board of education will publish a pamphlet describing findings of a survey made earlier seeking public views on how the school system should be expanded to relieve over-crowding. All electors in the district will receive copies in the mail.

Village Seeks Bids On Two Vehicles

The village of Chelsea will advertise for bids on a dump truck and a pick-up truck, the council decided.

The dump truck will be used by the department of public works. The pick-up will be assigned to Cecil Clouse, landfill operator.

Caralee Hoffmeyer Honored With Valiant Woman Award

 "We had 45 loads in the whole village last spring," Hafner added.
 The collection was supposed to have been completed last Friday, but wasn't. Village crews were still working at the job on Saturday, and didn't get it done.
 "We have more than a truck-load in front of some residences," Hafner said. "A lot of it is bulky and heavy. It's difficult to load and haul. I'm guessing that, before we're through, we'll have more than 200 truck-loads, and that's a lot."
 In any case it appears the village has created a problem with its schedule of charges for use of the landfill, one that will have to be addressed before next spring.

CARALEE HOFFMEYER

VALIANT WOMAN AWARD: Jim Hoffmeyer (left) husband of the late Caralee Hoffmeyer, accepts a Valiant Woman Award given to his wife by Church Women United of Chelsea. Presenting the award is Joy Stacey.

Some news stories speak for themselves without added-on words by the reporter who writes them. The Valiant Woman Award made to Caralee Hoffmeyer by Chelsea Church Women United on May 4 is one of those.
 The award was accepted by her husband, Jim Hoffmeyer, a teacher in the Chelsea schools. Mrs. Hoffmeyer died on Jan. 5, 1984, after 49 years of service to God and people. We of Chelsea Church Women United honor her as a Valiant Woman.
 Caralee was born May 26, 1934, in Hillsdale. She attended Albion College where she met Jim Hoffmeyer. She graduated from the University of Michigan in 1956. Caralee and Jim were married Dec. 20, 1953. They have three children: Merry Hoffmeyer of Spokane, Wash., Holly Richardson of Ann Arbor, and Paul Hoffmeyer of Chelsea.
 Jim and Caralee moved to Chelsea 25 years ago. For more than 24 years Caralee sang in her church choir. For 24 years she played violin in the Ann Arbor Symphony Orchestra. Throughout the 25 years she was very active in the Chelsea United Methodist church.
 She was head of the church Outreach Committee, a member of Sarah Circle, many years on the State Conference Taskforce on Hunger.
 Caralee attended many conferences around the country, always wanting to learn and grow. She said what she thought but always in a gracious way. She challenged all who worked with her.
 Caralee also was a volunteer transporter for the Department of Social Services and worked with Jim to pass the Nuclear Freeze proposal in Michigan in October, 1982.
 Caralee was always ready to open her home to people: foreign students, storm victims, peace marchers. Jolande, a Dutch foreign exchange student, lived with them one year. Caralee and Jim explored many places in our country and Europe. They visited Jolande and family, Jim's ancestral home in Germany, and Caralee's ancestral home in England.
 Caralee lived a lifestyle that showed her priority for responsible use of the earth's resources. She and her family observed and enjoyed nature but always protected it. The family over the years enjoyed canoeing, camping, skiing, and bird watching.

 In October, 1982, Caralee was diagnosed with an inoperable brain tumor, possible cancerous, that would be fatal in 8-10 years. She agonized through a period of adjustment. The last 15 months of her life were spent in repeated medical tests, EEGs, brain scans, consultations, trying many medications to control her mild seizures, suffering many side effects.
 Throughout this time Caralee studied theology and discussed it with her minister. She continued playing her violin and singing in the choir. She canoed, hiked, skied, entertained, attended concerts and conferences. She continued to be a supporting, loving wife and mother in those 15 months of living with her brain tumor.
 On Jan. 5, 1984, Caralee suffered a heart attack and died several hours later. She was conscious right to the end, was not afraid, and said she was ready to die.
 In the spring of 1983 our unit had approached Caralee about making her a Valiant Woman. She declined then, saying she didn't deserve it and didn't want us to do that. Now with her husband's approval, we want to honor her as the Valiant Woman she was.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

Thinking up slightly naughty names, pulling people across Letts Creek, growing beards, making phoney arrests, and assorted other fun and frolic are all undoubtedly essential to Chelsea's sesquicentennial celebration. I have no argument with anything that has occurred during the festivities so far, or is scheduled to, so long as it all remains within legal bounds.

In fact, I wish I had the time to participate in some of the gaiety.

I think, however, that there should also be a serious side to the sesquicentennial, and am offering a suggestion for what it's worth. The accomplishment of achieving 150 years as a thriving village community should be commemorated with something that will survive as a long-time monument to the occasion.

The Chelsea Historical Society is negotiating with Amtrak to obtain a long-term lease on the old village railroad depot. The assumption here is that the terms will be worked out, and the society will obtain possession and use of the building for 10 years or longer.

It's too bad that the historical society can't buy the building outright and be done with it, but Amtrak won't talk about that. Amtrak wants the option to take back the depot in the highly unlikely but theoretically possible event that the railroad passenger business will resurge and there will once again be a need for a depot in Chelsea.

Offhand, I would just as soon bet that the earth will stop rotating tomorrow, but that's beside the point.

If the historical society does get possession of the depot, it will have a king-sized problem on its hands, and that's where the sesquicentennial celebrants come in, or could. The historical society has few members and very little money, and a lot of people-power and dollars are going to be needed.

The depot is a wreck. It's not beyond salvation, but it's close and getting closer all the time. The building sits outside the window and across the railroad tracks from where I work, and I can see it deteriorate on the outside almost by the day. I was inside the place a few months ago and can testify that it's a real mess—buckled floors, warped walls, drooping ceilings and the like.

I'm no engineer or construction expert, but think I can make a couple of educated guesses: If something isn't done to preserve the depot before next winter, it's going to fall down on the ground. If something is done, preservation is both possible and practical.

A good scraping, wire-brushing and painting job, plus repairs to the foundation, windows, doors and perhaps the roof, would preserve the building and buy some time. Setting the inside to rights will cost considerable money along with a lot of work. In addition, Amtrak wants the depot fenced, insured and continuously maintained, which means more bucks.

The historical society has said that it needs $30,000 to $40,000 to carry out the total project. I suspect that estimate is conservative, but let's say it represents a substantial part of the total need.

That isn't a small amount, but it's not beyond the ability of the combined efforts of the sundry chapters of Brothers of the Brush and Chelsea Belles to raise if they put their minds and energies to it. Many people donating a couple of hours of time each can do a lot of scraping, brushing, patching, painting, clean-up, fix-up work. I suspect the needed materials could be bought at pretty reasonable prices if the right people were asked.

The historical society proposes to use the building for its own meetings and for those of other local organizations, and for historical displays. By assuring such a "civic center," the sesquicentennial could leave a lasting landmark on the community, and make Chelsea's 150th birthday a long and fondly remembered event.

I suggest it be undertaken.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
In answer to the column on April 25, 1984 concerning village pay scales and the volunteer fire department, I would like to tell you what being a member of the Chelsea Volunteer Fire Department is like.

First of all, like most of the other firefighters on the department I have a full time job, other than fighting fires. The firemen are on call 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. (Except when we are at our full time jobs.)

Being a VOLUNTEER means answering calls in 90 degree temperatures when sometimes you get exhausted to the point of collapse; also, going out in 0 degree temperatures and having everything get covered with ice, including gloves and coats, not to mention very cold fingers and toes. Getting awakened in the middle of the night, jumping from a warm bed, then rushing outside in 10 degree weather in less than a minute is something you should try, without your morning coffee.

Being a VOLUNTEER means going to life and death emergencies, sometimes risking your own life, other times trying to save someone else. Also disasters that leave families homeless. We can feel great when we help someone, but we also have to mentally deal with the ones we couldn't help.

Being a VOLUNTEER also means having a very understanding family and understanding friends; wives and children who have promises broken; friends that get left in the middle of a card game; wives that have to put children to bed without dad and entertain friends alone; being late for your full-time job and having it count against your personal time or not being paid at all.

Being a VOLUNTEER also means sitting down with your family to eat dinner, being called out before you get a bite. Then having your dinner reheated a couple of hours later and eating it alone.

We ONLY get paid for the fire and rescue calls we respond to. We DON'T get paid to host a parade at fire time, water the fairgrounds or softball diamonds when they're dry. We DON'T get paid for cleaning the fire hall for special events or hosting the open house in October during Fire Prevention Week, or for fire hall tours throughout the year. We DON'T get paid for going to the schools and talking to your children about fire safety and conducting fire drills. We also attend meetings and classes on our own time. Also some of the volunteers donate their time to remodel old army Jeeps and trucks to make grass firefighting equipment, which saves the village and townships money. Many other minor repairs to the fire hall and equipment are done by the volunteers so everything is ready for the next emergency. This also saves the taxpayers' money.

This is what being a VOLUNTEER fireman for Chelsea and the townships around is like. I guess for these reasons there aren't a lot of VOLUNTEERS wanting to join. Being a volunteer fireman is not like volunteer work at your favorite charity or community group. Don't get me wrong, we're not asking for a raise. We just don't like being told we're not worth it, or we're JUST VOLUNTEERS.

The pay is no incentive to be a volunteer fireman, since we purchase extra equipment and radios of our own to protect ourselves and serve you better. Then why do we do it? I feel it's because of the satisfaction of helping people. Mostly it's the thank you's we get from the people we try to help. I hope this helped some people in this community to understand what it means to be a VOLUNTEER Fireman.

Thank You,
Ron Lentz, FF 25.

To the Editor,
The beautiful month of May is here again. The budding trees, early spring flowers, green grass blanketing the ground, and the clear windy days, all helping us to forget the long winter months just passed on.

This month is full of holidays and holy days. Loyalty Day was May 1, Mother's Day is the 13th. Buddy Poppies Day to honor our veterans is the 18th. Memorial Day this year is the 28th (not 31st as originally).

Many churches will have Confirmation Sunday on May 20. All these are special days.

Flag flying day is every day. Show your care.

Each day has a special meaning to someone. Memorial Day was set aside to honor our dead. But every day is Memorial Day if you have lost someone. American flags are placed on all veterans' graves. Other organizations place emblematic flags on their deceased members' graves; while others plant or place nature's own beautiful flowers at the cemetery in memory of their loved ones. These are sometimes destroyed or moved to other sites by vandals.

Last Memorial week, the VFW auxiliary chairman Gert O'Dell, placed flags on their members' graves. She returned a day later, appalled to find that someone had removed 17 of these flags from their staffs, leaving them laying on the ground, with the staffs missing. This act of destruction is covered by Public Law Acts, Flag Code of the State of Michigan stating a $50 fine and/or jail sentence for this action of destroying public property, or in privately owned cemeteries, especially American cemeteries.

Please, keep your eyes and ears open for such happenings and bad behavior in that area. Enjoy your holidays.

Eulahlee Packard

Dear Editor,
I've been in and out of Chelsea village most of my life, but never as a resident. I've been a member of a few organizations in this village though, and it was at one of these functions that I realized how lucky folks are to live in a caring, responsive community like Chelsea.

A serious accident occurred during a meeting of the St. Paul building and grounds committee, which, could have had serious consequences. A committee member took a bad fall, and we were sure had suffered some fractures, possibly worse.

A call to our local Fire Department and EMS service, brought the quickest and most efficient response I've ever seen.

Firemen and ladders were needed to bring the person down from where the accident occurred, which they did with complete professionalism. The local police were on the scene within minutes of the call for help, to direct the EMS truck, and the ambulance to the scene of the accident. The Huron Valley Ambulance Paramedics made our friend secure and gave the best possible first aid in what was a difficult place to work. They rushed him to Chelsea Community Hospital for more extensive treatment.

A lot of services are probably taken for granted by village folks, but when a person sees the total commitment and efficient response of our police and fire

CINDY BEAR, left, president of the Chelsea Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association was looking on as Carol Spike, center, sold a ticket to Marion Rutledge for the group's fashion show. The third annual fashion show and salad luncheon will be held Saturday, May 19 at Chelsea High school. Party Tymers Issue Warrant For Arrest of Keystone Kops

The third meeting of the Party Tymers Belles and Beaus was held April 28, at the Party Tyme Barn. The meeting was called to order by Head Brush Duane Landwehr at 9:30 p.m.

No minutes were read due to the absence of the secretary, Suzie Quill, and the Town Cryer reporter.

Dorothy Paul, treasurer, reported $42, of which $3 is fine collections. Sign-up sheets were passed around for the May 5 blood battle. Everyone was encouraged to give blood rather than supply vital nourishments. A hayride following the blood battle will commence at 7:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds.

Mary Bauer is finalizing arrangements for the euchre challenge with the Waterloo Lillies and Sod Busters.

Moved by Bud Freysinger, supported by Main Stay Bauer to have calling committee call every member prior to each meeting. All members missing more than two consecutive meetings without pardon of Judge Beam, will be fined in excess. Motion carried.

It was noted that the float committee is still looking for additional ideas. Party Tymers Pat Borders and Mel Leach were honored for successfully completing 49 and 55 years of life's stay.

Jeanette Hankerd, moving from her Party Tyme chair, hastily caused undue disturbance, whereby Head Brush called the Party Tyme officials into executive session to discuss disturbance. It was decided that Main Stay Bob Bauer, owner of Party Tyme Barn should control disturbance by killing the small rodent intruders to calm Belle Hankerd's nerves, after which a moment of silence was led by Judge Beam.

All were reminded of the next Tiger game June 24, with buses leaving the fairgrounds at 11:30 a.m.

Head Brush noted the Keystone Kops' dance is to be held May 11, at the fairgrounds for a cost of $5

Prom Set-Up Underway

Actual construction and decoration of the gym for the 1984 Junior-Senior Prom began last Friday after school.

The gym is off limits to gym classes during school and anyone other than junior class members. All juniors are encouraged to help in the final preparations for Saturday.

The day of the prom the public is invited to view "The Royal Ball" from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Many local businesses have aided the juniors in their efforts; their help has been greatly appreciated.

Council Decides Against Agreement With Consumers

Keeping a wary eye on whether or not Consumers Power Co. will remain financially solvent, the village council has decided not to enter into a "wholesale power agreement" with the firm.

"We really wouldn't gain anything by signing the agreement," administrator Frederick Weber said. "The terms proposed don't offer us any advantage over the prices we presently pay for electricity that Consumers now supplies us."

"I suggest we do nothing, and wait and see what happens." The council agreed.

Consumers Power is on the verge of bankruptcy as the result of heavy investment in a nuclear power plant at Midland which has cost several times more than originally projected and is still far from complete.

Council Rejects TV Cable Firm's Program Proposal

The village council has rejected a proposal from Clear Cablevision of Saline that the village join in a "local origination" agreement for programming from Saline.

"They are asking us, in effect, to sign a blank check for something that might happen some time down the road in the future," trustee Herman Radloff said. "They aren't guaranteeing us anything. They have a studio in Saline and no portable equipment to produce programs in Chelsea."

"We would be foolish to go along until they can show us exactly what they can and will do out here."

The council unanimously accepted Radloff's appraisal.

Former CHS Conductors Will Join Alumni Band

Former Chelsea High school band directors Dave Sanborn, Dave Lindsay and Ed Rima have said they will join the CHS alumni band for its June 30 sesquicentennial performance.

Also coming is George Cavender, former director of bands at the University of Michigan, who played a big part in getting the local band program established although he never was a member of the school staff.

"We were hoping to get William D. Revelli here, but he can't make it," said Judy Granger who is one of three former CHS bandpersons working to get the alumni band together.

Revelli is the legendary conductor who made the Michigan Marching and Symphony bands the best of their types in the world, a distinction since lost.

JOINS BANK STAFF: Frank Renton has joined the staff of Chelsea State Bank as mortgage loan officer and assistant cashier. A native of Belleville, Renton attended Eastern Michigan University and for six years was manager of the Chelsea branch of Great Lakes Federal Savings. During the past six years he has worked in sales for Chelsea Lumber Co. He and his wife Cheryl, and their son, Brandon, live at Half Moon Lake.

CHS Students Win Arts Festival Ribbons

Chelsea students awarded ribbons during the third annual Festival of Arts, held here April 28-29 in connection with the Michigan Band and Orchestra Festival, included:

Ceramics—Pete Hanna, second; Lisa Dorr second, Phil Sweet honorable mention.

Jewelry—Ed Mullaly first, Lisa Dorr second, Ed Mullaly third, Scott Cheever and Doug Carpenter, honorable mention.

Ink design—Anne Weber second, Paula Colombo third, Kim Collins and Sue Young honorable mention.

Pastels—Margie Rawson, honorable mention. Watercolor—Christie Favers, honorable mention.

Pencil drawing—Kelly Hawker first, Sean Cook honorable mention.

Mixed media—Cindy Poulter third, Phil Sweet honorable mention.

Color pencil—Anne Weber, honorable mention.

Ink drawing—Elizabeth Lindstrom first, Eric Green second, Amy Finkbeiner third, Marty Koernke honorable mention.

All six Southeastern Conference schools participated in the festival. Judges were Maureen Lucas and Jane Fink.

EQUESTRIAN SKILLS and horse care are taught in Cedar Ridge Pony Club sessions. Here a club member is practicing jumping at a mounted meeting.

Training Clinic Offered By Local Pony Club

On Sunday, May 20, the Cedar Ridge Pony Club, a local equestrian group, will host a Combined Training Clinic to be held at the Waterloo Hunt Club. The Open Clinic will offer for adults and youth riding instruction with the question and answer periods for all three phases of combined training; dressage, stadium jumping and cross country.

Each class will be one hour and 15 minutes with the classes limited to five or less riders. The riders will be scheduled according to experience.

The Dressage portion of the clinic will be taught by Maryal Barnett, the Stadium Jumping by Tim Wright and the Cross Country by Sam Morrison. All three instructors are recognized for their expertise in their respective fields.

Entries will be limited due to the small class size. The clinic is open to all interested riders of any age. Anyone interested in participating should contact MaryBeth Rosenberg who is organizing this event (475-9736).

The host club, Cedar Ridge Pony Club, is an affiliate of the United States Pony Club and has been active in the Jackson, Chelsea, Ann Arbor area for the past four years. It is a youth organization aimed at teaching members to be strong, sympathetic riders, with a knowledge of how to feed, groom and care for their horses as well as properly tend to their tack and barn.

The name "Pony" Club refers to the age of members rather than the size of their horses which are more often than not large horses rather than ponies. Pony Club encourages youths from young children to 21 years of age to ride and enjoy individual and team related activities such as dressage, cross country riding and stadium jumping.

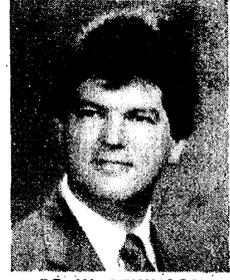

A summer highlight is the Pony Club camp which is held for a week and open to all Michigan Pony Clubbers.

There are currently five Pony Clubs in Michigan. Pony Club meetings are held all year with meetings during the summer months stressing instruction on their horses and in the winter meetings are without horses and are usually lectures on conformation, equine illness or something simple like the parts of a saddle.

Children of all riding levels are welcome to join and if interested should contact Janice Murrell the District Commissioner for the Cedar Ridge Club at 475-7722.

YOUR BACK & YOUR HEALTH

DR. W. ATKINSON
DIRECTOR

Is chiropractic really accepted?
Critics of chiropractic maintain stoutly that there is no scientific basis for the healing practice. At long last this is being laid to rest. In a later column we will discuss the marvelous spinal research program now being conducted at the University of Colorado, but what is the current acceptance of chiropractic?
The records show that millions of people every year rely on chiropractic in dealing with their health problems. An interesting side light is that a large percentage of doctors of chiropractic entered the field because of a personal experience. Either they or a relative or close friend had responded positively to chiropractic care, often after long, expensive and unproductive treatment with other types of health care. Many of these chiropractors had previously been established in other professions, such as engineering, teaching and the sciences, before enrolling in a chiropractic college.

Just in the last few years, however, official recognition has come to chiropractic. First, chiropractic care was included under Medicare and Medicaid. Then Congress allocated a two million dollar grant for chiropractic research.
These are major steps in gaining widespread recognition of the validity of chiropractic certainly, and more are sure to follow. For the multitudes who have discovered a wonderful new measure of health through chiropractic, none of this comes as a surprise.

Request Submitted To Have Lima Rural Historic Site De-Listed

The history division of the Michigan Department of State has formally requested that the so-called South Lima Rural Historic District be de-listed from the National Register of Historic Sites.

It was listed erroneously on Sept. 8, 1983, following a comedy of procedural errors involving both the Michigan history division and the National Park Service in Washington.

The 9,400-acre tract in Lima township was wrongly designated despite the objections of the property owners involved. Federal law requires that a majority of property owners favor such a listing before it can be made. Affidavits of opposition were filed testifying that more than 160 of 253 affected owners opposed the idea. The bureaucrats went ahead and listed the project anyway.

Attorney Brian Urquhart and his wife, Sue, of 230 S. Steinbach Rd. led the campaign to have the district de-listed.

"I am convinced that it (the listing) is not in the best interest of the people who live in the so-called district," Urquhart said, "and that's why I acted to stop it. Most of the residents agree, as their affidavits show. Once it was explained to them that the listing could bring on all kinds of local, state and federal restrictions on what they could do with their property, they agreed with me."

"I sincerely hope this ends the matter, once and for all, but it's hard to be sure. The same letter from the state history division to the National Park Service asking that the district be de-listed also asks that it be determined eligible for future listing. These people don't quit trying."

The move to create the South Lima Township Rural Historic District began in 1965 in response to a proposal by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority to dam Mill Creek and create a large metropark.

HCMA abandoned the Mill Creek park proposal more than two years ago, and has since shifted its attention to developing Hudson Mills metropark in Dexter township.

Police Dispatchers Granted Increases

Wage increases for part-time Chelsea police department dispatchers were granted by the village council at its May 1 meeting.

They were paid the minimum wage of $3.35 per hour, regardless of length of service. Under the new schedule, part-time dispatchers can advance through two longevity steps to $3.65 and $4 per hour.

Sewer Rate Raise Likely as DNR Hikes Operating Standards

An increase in Chelsea's sewer rates is in prospect following revelation by administrator Frederick Weber that costs of operating the waste treatment plant in 1984-85 may be $15-20,000 higher than earlier estimated.

"I'm not sure yet, but I think we are talking in that range," Weber told the village council at its May 1 meeting. "The Department of Natural Resources is requiring us to do some things that definitely will add to our operating costs."

Those "things" include more sophisticated management of sludge and closer monitoring of toxic wastes.

"There is no question that these new state requirements will add to the costs of operating the treatment plant," Weber said. "The only question is, how much. Right now I'm guessing at something more than $15,000 or less than $20,000, but those are ballpark figures."

"I need to get some more information from the state on just exactly what we are supposed to do, and when."

"I do know that we will have to comply if we want to continue the treatment plant. The DNR has made that very, very clear. Either we do what they tell us or we're out of business. I'm not

Varsity Baseball Team Starts Week Well, Then Loses Three

Last week was come-down-to-earth week for the Chelsea varsity baseball team, and they did with a kind of dull thud.

They started well with a sparkling 12-2 victory over Milan and then were thumped three times in a row, by Tecumseh, Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard and Saline.

The latter two losses came in last weekend's county tournament and so didn't hurt the Bulldogs in the Southeastern Conference race. The 9-7 drop to Tecumseh last Thursday did.

Still, Chelsea remains on top in the SEC race with a 4-1 record, a full game ahead of Dexter which is 3-2.

"What it comes down to is that we must play good defense to win," Bulldog coach Wayne Welton said. "Our pitchers aren't overwhelming. We aren't going to get a lot of strikeouts. Opposing hitters will put the ball in play, and it's up to the defense to handle it for outs."

"We had the Tecumseh game under control with a three-run first inning, then made some mistakes and let them come back so they eventually beat us. We made a whole bunch of errors in the two tournament games. We can't play that sloppy and be winners."

Jay Marshall was the winning pitcher in the victory over Milan, giving up three hits and two runs. "Jay wasn't really sharp and he struggled, but he did what he had to do when he needed to do it," Welton said. "He is an extremely competitive ballplayer, whether he's pitching or playing in the outfield."

Marshall had good defensive support plus a lot of offensive help. Dave Bushway was 4-for-4 at the plate, and Chuck Downer, Rick Boham and Mark Mull had two hits apiece. The Bulldogs stole eight bases, although they don't have a lot of team speed.

After getting off to a good start against Tecumseh, Chelsea gave the game away with a series of errors that let the home-team Indians back within striking range and set the stage for a winning grand-slam home run.

The Bulldogs rallied for three runs in their half of the seventh to make it close, but couldn't get the key hit with the bases loaded and two out.

In the opening game of the county tournament Dan Bellus pitched well enough to beat a good Gabriel Richard nine but lost, 4-1. All four runs were unearned as the Bulldogs committed five errors.

Chelsea got a chance to redeem itself in its next game of the tourney, but booted five balls in the first three innings, leading to 10 Saline runs, and eventually lost, 11-8.

"We had chances for 14 'outs' in those first three innings, and we only made nine of them," Welton said. "You don't win many games that way. I just hope the boys have learned that, for us, defense means everything if we are going to have a successful season."

"We're hitting the ball well. Bushway, Marshall, Chris Gallas, Chuck Downer, Ron Dunn, Dan Bellus have all been hitting consistently, and the other boys have been helping out with timely hits."

SHE PITCHES AND HITS: Even though she was "credited" with a loss to Saline on Monday, Beth Unterbrink has yet to give up an earned run while pitching for the Chelsea varsity softball team. She is also batting at .500 clip, and her level swing shows why.

Mark Mull's Clutch Hit Gives Chelsea Thrilling Baseball Win

Sophomore Mark Mull couldn't have picked a better time to break out of a batting slump as he blasted a triple with two runners aboard to give Chelsea a 10-9 triumph over Saline last Monday in an exciting baseball game as you would ever hope to see.

The quality of play was by no means great, and it seemed at times as if neither team could possibly win, but the Bulldogs hung on and pulled it out to run their Southeastern Conference-leading record to 5-1.

Chelsea led, 6-1, at the end of three innings and apparently was in control, only to let Saline bounce back with five runs in the top of the fourth on two walks, a hit batter and four solid singles off Bulldog starting pitcher Jay Marshall. Only a great inning-ending play by third baseman Chris Gallas kept the Hornets from scoring more.

Marshall was a bit wild, and wasn't helped any by a plate umpire who was allowing nothing on the corners. Marshall walked the bases loaded in the fifth, and Chuck Downer came on in relief.

Downer yielded a two-run single before putting out the fire, and Saline took an 8-6 advantage.

The Bulldogs came back in their half of the inning with two tallies featured by some weird base-running which may have cost the services of catcher Rick Boham for the rest of the season.

Boham was on second and dashed toward third on a ground ball, only to find a teammate already standing there. He turned around and dove back into second. He landed on his left shoulder, suffering a painful injury which was tentatively diagnosed as either a separation or a fracture.

Boham was helped off the field and taken to the hospital where he was found to have a shoulder separation. He will be out for at least 10 days, possibly longer.

Gallas, who had previously caught exactly two innings in summer ball, went behind the plate. He may gain a lot of experience in a hurry depending on how fast Boham heals.

Saline went ahead, 9-8, in the top of the sixth on a ball that traveled about 40 feet—a pop fly that dropped between the pitcher's mound and the first base line while three Bulldog players stood around trying to decide who was going to catch it for what should have been a routine third out.

That's where matters stood until the last of the seventh, when it was Saline's turn to goof up on a pop fly.

Marshall skied one to deep short, and four Hornets converged. They let it fall while Marshall raced to second. After Marty Steinhauer fanned, Evan Roberts drew a walk to put the potential winning run on base.

"Pinch hitter Rob Beckwith forced Marshall at third, and that left it all up to Mull. He worked the count to 3-2 before driving the ball deep up the left-centerfield alley, a major league shot. It would have been a homer had the run been needed."

A wrung-out Bulldog coach Wayne Welton said afterward that Mull's hit sort of surprised him. "Mark is a good hitter, but he's been struggling at the plate and hasn't been swinging the bat well. I'll tell you, he swung mighty well on that one. You won't see a high school player hit a ball much harder or farther than that one."

Downer got credit for the pitching win, but the real glory went to Mull, who came through in the clutch.

Before he got hurt, Boham had played an outstanding game, going three for three at the plate including a homerun and four RBIs, and throwing out three would-be base-stealers.

Gallas had three hits, and Roberts and Steinhauer two each.

JV Softball Team Drops Tilt to Saline

It was a bad day all around for Chelsea softball on Monday as the JV team dropped an 11-7 home decision to Saline as an encore to the varsity squad's 2-1 loss to the Hornets.

"We just plain played poorly," JV coach Bill Wescott said. "We made a lot of foolish mistakes, especially in running the bases. The girls gave 100 percent in terms of effort, but they didn't play smart. Our inexperience showed."

Wescott added that Saline hit the ball well and played good defense, turning a couple of key double-plays.

Jill Schaffner and Pam Brown pitched for Chelsea, with Brown getting nicked for the loss.

"We have a lot to practice on," Wescott said. "It was a bad ball game."

Humans aren't the only ones with undertakers—bees have them too, report wildlife specialists. Less than an hour after a honeybee dies, another bee carries the body as far as 400 feet from the hive before dropping it. Scientists believe this undertaking is due to a chemical emission from the dead bees.

Softball Team Loses 2-1 Tilt to Saline

All good things eventually come to an end, and that's what happened to the Chelsea varsity softball team's 13-game winning streak as they were up-ended, 2-1, by Saline there on Monday.

"We played pretty good ball," Bulldog coach Charlie Waller said, "but they played a little bit better. They were up for us, and they just plain beat us. We didn't come up with the clutch plays that we needed to win, and they did."

Beth Unterbrink hurled a two-hitter while striking out 11. Both Saline runs were unearned, the result of four Chelsea errors at crucial times.

The Bulldogs scored what should have been the only run they needed in the second inning on a bases-loaded passed ball. The Hornets got that one back in the fourth with the help of Chelsea errors, and scored the winner in the sixth on a bad throw to first base.

Meanwhile, the Bulldogs were feeble, at the plate. Joyce Robards had the only solid hit of the game. The other two Chelsea safeties were scratches.

"We didn't hit the ball well, and Saline played excellent defense," Waller said. "They turned three 'sure' hits with our runners in scoring position into outs, and that turned out to be the difference."

"I hope we learned a lesson. We have to work harder on defense,

JV Baseballers Lose to Saline.

Chelsea's junior varsity baseball team committed nine errors while dropping a 10-3 verdict to Saline there on Monday.

Pitcher Kevin Maynard threw a steady four-hitter but was victimized by unearned runs.

"Saline jumped on our errors and capitalized on them," coach Ken Larson said. "I still have high hopes for this team, but we have to get better in the field."

Maynard had two hits, and Ray Spencer and Rob Murrell one each.

It was a close game for three innings before the Chelsea defense came apart and opened the gates for six unearned Saline runs.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

A man called me several days ago to ask that I put a story in the paper announcing a table tennis tournament, which I did. Among other things, he told me there was an event for "senior" players, and I got personally interested. I play a respectable game of table tennis and believe I can compete with anyone in my age group.

I asked what the dividing line was, and was told that any person 35 or over was considered to be a "senior." I lost interest right away. There is no way that I can match up against a man more than 20 years younger. I'll be 58 in June.

Age 35 may be somebody's idea of senior citizenship in sports, but it isn't mine. Memory plays tricks, but I honestly believe that, back when I was 35, I could do just about everything athletically that I did at 21, given the same physical conditioning and practice opportunities.

There are a lot of professional athletes still playing superbly at 35 and over. The most recent example that comes to mind is Kareem Abdul Jabbar, the Los Angeles Lakers' center who set an all time career scoring record in the National Basketball Association a couple of weeks back. Jabbar is 36, and if there is a more dominant player in the NBA today, I haven't seen him.

Jack Nicklaus is in his 40's, plays in only a few tournaments on the pro golf tour, and doesn't win as many as he used to. The last time I looked, Nicklaus was in the top 20 on the money-winner list and was very close to the top in stroke average.

All of this got me to thinking. Why aren't there more sports opportunities for us older folks who would still like to compete in games, especially team sports, that are suited to our age and ability levels?

Once you get past 50, you seem to be relegated to golf, bowling, tennis, handball, racquetball and a few other individual activities. Team sports are taboo, and that's too bad.

I used to play softball reasonably well, and would like to do it again under rules modified to reflect the physical facts that people of my age have "lost something"—a lot in fact—in running speed, reflexes and coordination, and that our throwing arms aren't what they once were.

The game I have in mind would be slow-pitch, using a blooper ball. There would be no base stealing, no sliding, no hard running. It would be fun to play.

I can think up a pretty good game of basketball for those of us who are over 50 and don't want to exhaust ourselves and risk heart attacks by racing up and down the court. The ball would be walked up the floor to the mid-line, pressure defenses would be banned, there would be no jumping for either shots or rebounds, no boxing out under the boards. It would be a passing and shooting game, adapted to older types who can still throw the ball around and put it into the hoop every now and then, and don't want to run ourselves to death.

Off-hand, I can't think of a way to make football into a game for older people. The essentials of the sport are speed and body contact. You could eliminate tackling by playing touch or flag, but there is no way you can take blocking out of the game. People my age should not be running into each other, because somebody is likely to get hurt.

Games for seniors should be devised to keep the injury risk down to an unavoidable minimum. We are not looking for sprains, twists, muscle pulls, broken bones or worse. At our age it takes a long time for an injury to heal, and it may never heal right.

I haven't played much volleyball, but it strikes me as a team game well suited to older athletes. It doesn't require much running. Possibly there should be a rule against spiking in the senior version of the sport.

I've put down running, and deliberately so. There is nothing wrong with running for people who are in shape to do it, and many of us older folks do run. Except for a few exceptional persons who are in marvelous condition, we don't run fast. I sure don't. I never could sprint very well, and there is no point in trying to improve at this SPECIAL OLYMPIANS: These pictures were taken during the Special Olympics meet held at Chelsea's Niehaus Field last week. It was asked that names not be used, but the joy on the faces speaks for itself.

Softball Team Whips Milan and Tecumseh To Stay Undefeated

Like the proverbial Old Man River, the Chelsea varsity softball team just keeps rolling along.

They raised their season record to 13-0 with easy victories over Milan and Tecumseh last week, and weren't extended in either game. The scores were 10-0 and 16-3.

Beth Unterbrink took personal charge of the Milan contest, throwing a strong one-hitter and striking out 12 before the game ended after six innings under the mercy rule. She also had two hits and batted in four runs.

Kelly Hawker broke the game open with a two-out, bases-loaded single in the second inning to drive in two runs, and it was a romp the rest of the way. Laura Anderson had three RBI's and played a strong defensive game.

Hawker pitched against Tecumseh and yielded two hits in a contest that was indeed mercifully ended after five innings. The Bulldogs scored 13 runs in the first inning, so many that Bulldog coach Charlie Waller admitted he had lost count and didn't know what the score was when the frame ended.

"I think they (Tecumseh) are a better team than that, and they showed it by playing good ball after that terrible first inning," Waller said. "Maybe it was a case of jitters. We have a reputation for being good, and we are, and that possibly intimidates some opponents.

"Actually, the final four innings were played evenly. I look for Tecumseh to give us a good ball game the next time around."

A coach whose team is 13-0 has a hard time thinking up anything to complain about, and Waller couldn't find much fault to find with his team which is ranked sixth in the state.

"Our defense could be a little better," he finally said when pressed. "We made a couple of bad plays in the field against Tecumseh that could have hurt us in a close game. We let them have three runs that they shouldn't have scored."

Waller's biggest problem is rotating his exceptionally strong pitching staff—Unterbrink, Hawker, Margie Rawson, Joann Tobin—so that each gets enough work to stay sharp.

Meanwhile, he has taken advantage of the opportunity to experiment by shifting players around. Laura Anderson replaced all-state catcher Joyce Robards behind the plate against Tecumseh and did a fine job. Robards turned in a fielding gem while substituting for Anderson at third base and made no mistakes.

"Joyce can play anywhere, infield or outfield," Waller said. "I wanted to give Laura a chance to catch. She is good and would be a first-string catcher on most teams."

For the season Unterbrink is batting at .513, followed by Robards at .500. Unterbrink leads the team with 28 runs batted in, and Robards has scored 26. Anne Weber has stolen 17 bases while drawing 19 walks. Robards has 16 bases on balls.

Among the pitchers Unterbrink is 5.0 with a zero earned-run average. Hawker is 4-0 and 0.61.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

The walleye fishing season will open next Tuesday, and I wish everybody who goes out and tries to catch one a lot of luck. Walleyes have been my unlucky fish all my life. I have never been able to catch them with any consistency.

Angling tradition has it that brown trout are the smartest, wariest, hardest-to-entice of all fish species. Maybe so for most fishermen, but not for this one. I've taken my share of brown trout, including a few big ones, but I have yet to land a walleye that could be called a trophy by the wildest stretch of exaggeration.

Truth is, I've caught darned few walleyes of any size. The best one I ever came close to bringing into the boat was hooked by my wife in Burt Lake. It would have weighed at least six pounds. She did a perfect job of fighting the fish and reeling it within reach. At that point I remembered the landing net was lying back on the dock, and so attempted to do the task by hand and blew it.

There should be no way that any fish firmly snared on all three pairs of treble-hooks on an artificial lure can get away except by breaking the line, but that one managed it. The walleye did a head-shake and a body roll, and was gone. I had nine of the 18 hooks embedded in my hand, and put in a painful half-hour getting them out, leaving about a cup of blood and assorted shreds of flesh in the bottom of the boat. Lesson: don't get tangled up with a Flatfish, unless you are a fish.

The landing net has been in the boat ever since, and I've never had reason to need it. I pride myself on being able to hand-land fish, and that one big walleye is the only important effort that I ever bungled. My wife reminds me of it every once in awhile. It would have been—and should have been—the best fish she ever caught. Wives tend not to forget that sort of thing.

About 30 years ago a man named Ralph Stivers walked up to my desk at the Ann Arbor News where I was then, among other things, the outdoor editor. He invited me to come down into the parking lot, look at some "big fish" he had caught and maybe take a picture.

An outdoor writer gets used to such requests and develops a certain amount of disbelief. The relative size of fish tends to be in the eyes of the beholder who caught them, and they "grow" astonishingly fast. A measuring stick and a set of scales have made proven liars out of many otherwise honest people who also happen to be fishermen.

Anyway, Stivers opened up the tailgate of his station wagon to reveal a washtub full of five monster walleyes. He told me that he was a butcher by trade, had weighed the catch on a certified scale at the market where he worked, and that it came to a shade over 35 pounds. The biggest fish was 9 pounds 2 ounces. He said, I believed him, took pictures, and wrote a story.

Those big walleyes, Stivers recounted, had come out of the Huron River upstream from Ann Arbor. He declined to tell me exactly where upstream, except that it was someplace between the Barton and Kent Lake dams. That stretch covers a good many miles and a lot of water. He had taken them at night, he said, using a diving Rappala lure, which was then quite new on the market.

I had my doubts. I had been living and working in Ann Arbor for several years, had done a lot of fishing thereabouts including a fair amount in the Huron, and had never seen a catch like that. My suspicions came through in the conversation.

The fish were real and had come from somewhere. I suspected a commercial fish market. A butcher would likely have a connection with such a source. Sensing my skepticism, Stivers offered, "I'll go out tonight and catch some more and bring them in tomorrow."

"Take me with you," I suggested, but he didn't buy that. His "secrets" were his, and he wasn't about to share them with anybody. Let alone a newsman who would tell them to the rest of the world.

True to his word, Stivers showed up next day with an even better catch, including one walleye that was just two ounces shy of the then-existing state record for the species. I weighed that one myself.

During the next couple of weeks he showed up every two or three days with another tub-full of big walleyes, and gave me several to take home and eat. A fillet of a good-sized walleye is one of the world's better foods.

I asked a conservation officer friend (not Don Boyer) to check on the man and was told that there was no then (and there still isn't) any law against possessing commercially caught walleyes. I tried following Stivers myself one night. He knew exactly what I was up to and lost me in his dust up near Brighton. There are no commercial fisheries in that direction.

While I still don't know for sure, I'm pretty well convinced that Stivers really caught those huge walleyes out of the Huron River, somewhere up from Ann Arbor. So, there is no reason why there aren't more out there.

JV Baseballers Win One, Lose Two in Week

As coach Ken Larson put it, the good news for Chelsea's junior varsity baseball team was that it defeated Milan, 11-0, in a five-inning mercy game last week as Kevin Maynard pitched no-hit ball.

The bad news was that the JV's then proceeded to drop decisions to Tecumseh, 5-3, and Saline, 7-0. The Bulldogs were victims of a seven-inning no-hitter in the latter game.

Maynard struck out 10 to record two-thirds of the outs needed in the win over Milan. He helped his own cause on offense by stroking three hits. Steve Wingrove had a homer and single and drove in four runs, and Ray Spencer had two safeties.

Jeff Larson pitched a strong game against Tecumseh but was the victim of five unearned runs as the Chelsea defense fell apart. He scattered five hits and fanned four, while pitching what coach Larson called "the best game of his life."

The Bulldogs managed five hits, all singles. Dave Boote, Chris Tarasow, Maynard, Spencer and Wingrove got them.

The loss to Saline wasn't as lopsided as the 7-0 score, Larson said. "We made six errors and yielded seven unearned runs in the last two innings. It should have been a nothing-all game at the end of seven, but we gave it away."

Keven Walz pitched strongly for the Bulldogs and deserved a better fate, but got no help at the plate and was let down in the field.

Recent labor statistics show that the duration of unemployment for workers 45-plus is nearly 21 percent longer than the rest of the labor force.

Todd Ferry's Big Chinook Salmon Best in State for 1983

You can fish for a lifetime and never catch anything of record size, but Todd Ferry of 9740 Beeman Rd. has accomplished the feat at the age of 11.

Todd's 32-pound chinook salmon caught in Lake Michigan off Pentwater last Aug. 14, has been cited by Sports Afield magazine as the largest of the species caught in the state during 1983.

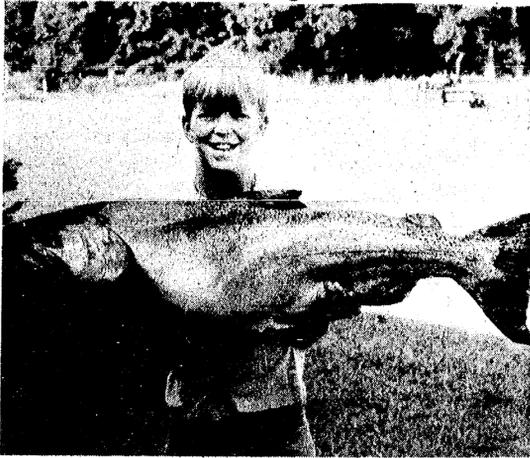

The prize fish was 40 inches long and was landed after a 15-minute fight on 20-pound test line.

Todd went on a Lake Michigan fishing excursion with Bill, Lloyd and Tony Hafner, all of Chelsea, and "lucked out" in the sense that the big chinook picked out this lure from among six being trailed behind the boat.

At the time of the catch it was predicted that very few larger chinooks would be caught during 1983, and it turned out that none were. Todd's trophy stood up as the best of the season.

Todd will receive a silver insignia and a parchment certificate to commemorate his achievement.

Congratulations to you for your accomplishment in earning Sports Afield's highest honor in fishing awards," angling editor Homer Circle wrote to Todd.

PRIZE WINNER: Todd Ferry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Ferry of 9740 Beeman Rd., caught this 32-pound chinook salmon in Lake Michigan last August 14, and it turned out to be the biggest fish of its species taken in the state during 1983.

"The 'Best in Species' award is given to those anglers in each state who report the largest catch of the fish eligible for Sports Afield awards. We wish you many years of continued angling success."

The magazine's fishing awards program embraces all 50 states. Its purpose is to encourage catching fish on sporting tackle and to recognize meritorious catches on a state rather than a national level.

Girls Track Team Has Good Week In Meets

It was a good week for the Chelsea girls varsity track team last week as they defeated Lincoln, 75-53, Tuesday and then, in their first home meet in three years, beat Jackson Western, 77-51, on Thursday.

The Bulldogs started slowly against Lincoln, as the Railsplitters took eight of the 12 places in the field events. Cris Zerkel was Chelsea's lone field winner with a toss of 28' 6 3/4" in the shot put. Josie Krzeczowski was third with 27' 9 1/2". Zerkel added a second in the discus, and Sue Young finished second in the long jump.

Chelsea bounced back to win all but three running events, highlighted by an outstanding performance by Carol Warren who won the 100 in :13.9, the 200 in :28.5 and the 400 in 1:05. It was the first time Warren had run the shorter race.

The Bulldogs also swept the 800 as Wendy Wolfgang won in 2:34.8 with Stephanie Roberts second and Chris Neuman third, and the 3,200 with Mary Ann Richardson first in 13:24.2, Melanie Flanigan second and Marla Feldman third.

Sallie Wilson won the 1,600 run with Flanigan second, and Amy Wolfgang took the 300 hurdles. Wolfgang added a second in the 100 hurdles, as did Laura Damm in the 400 run. Susan Jaques was third in the 200.

Laura Damm, Stephanie Roberts, Marla Feldman and Sallie Wilson combined to win the 3,200 relay, and Roberts and Damm came back with Wendy and Amy Wolfgang to win the 1,600 relay.

Against Western, Chelsea started with 22 points in the field events, led by Cris Zerkel's wins in both the shot and the discus.

The Bulldogs swept the discus as Kay Bauer was second and Josie Krzeczowski third. Krzeczowski was also third in the shot. Sue Young finished second in the long jump, and Ann Becker earned her first points of the season by tying for second in the high jump.

Amy Wolfgang won both hurdles, the 100's in :17.7 and the 300's in :48.8. Laura Damm had a hand in three wins. She won the 400 in 1:03.3, combined with Rachel Schnell, Marla Feldman, and Sallie Wilson to win the 3,200 relay, and with Carol Warren, Stephanie Roberts and Chris Neuman to win the 1,600 relay.

Roberts won the 800 in 2:35.9 with Wendy Wolfgang second. Wilson won the 1,600 with Feldman third. Melanie Flanigan won the 3,200 with Mary Ann Richardson second. Carol Warren finished second in the 100 and third in the 200. Elisabeth Lindstrom added a third in the 100. Laura Heeter finished third in the 400, and Debby Tift had thirds in both hurdle races.

In all, 19 girls scored for the Bulldogs, a fine showing of team depth.

There were some other winners, too, although their records don't show up as points. They are Kim Clouse and Sonya Steele, who cut five and three seconds, respectively, off their 400 times, and Kim Fenton who has lowered her 1,600 time by 39 seconds during the course of the season.

Improvements like these are measures of success, just as places, and scores are.

The girls track team participated in the Ken Herrick Invitational Saturday at Hillsdale College and finished sixth in a very strong field. Class A Kalamazoo Loy Norrix won with 61 points. Hillsdale was second with 60, Detroit Country Day had 39, Detroit Cody 37, Coldwater 34 and Chelsea 21.

Chelsea's best running performances came from Amy Wolfgang who finished second in the 300 hurdles, tying her own

LORRIE VANDEGRIFT Wins Points in Two MIAA Track Events

Lorrie Vandegrift of Chelsea, a junior at Hope College, scored points in the high jump and discus at the MIAA Conference meet held May 3-4 at Calvin College.

She tied for fourth in the high jump at 4' 10" and was third in the discus with a heave of 110' 7".

GIFTS TO CHELSEA UNITED WAY: Dana Corp. has presented payments totalling $6,000 to last year's Chelsea United Way fund drive. Employees contributed $2,000, and the company

Junior Girl Track Team Shows Well

The Chelsea junior high girls track team performed well in the very competitive 15-school Tecumseh Relays which was won by Hillsdale on May 4.

The Chelsea girls tied for fifth place.

Highlight was a first-place finish in the final relay of the night, which had Debi Koenn leading off with an 800, Andrea Worthing and Kasey Anderson running 400's and Cathy Barham anchoring with a 1,600 run for a total of 11:18.6.

Other Chelsea relay teams receiving placing ribbons were: 400 relay, third—Heidi Knickerboker, Tonya Grammatico, Danica Disbro and Debi Koenn.

Distance Medley Relay, fourth—Tami Harris, Michaela Scripter, Alisha Dorow and Laura Torres.

800 Relay, fifth—Heather Neibauer, Stephanie Harms, Stacey Murphy and Katie Kelly.

Other team members who represented Chelsea well in this meet were hurdlers Shannon Dunn, Sarah Schaeffer, Peggy Hammerschmidt, and Anna Harden, and in field events Celia Murphy, Linda Laier and Shannon DuRussel.

school record :48.0, and just missed a school record when she ran a :61.5 400 for second in that event.

The 3,200 relay team of Laura Damm, Marla Feldman, Stephanie Roberts and Sallie Wilson finished third. The 400 relay of Christie Favers, Edie Harook, Susan Jaques and Elisabeth Lindstrom was fourth. Sallie Wilson ran a strong 1,600 to finish fifth in an excellent personal best of 5:44. Laura Damm was fifth in the 400.

The Bulldogs had some fine performances in the field events. Edie Harook jumped 15' 1 1/2" to finish second in the long jump. Josie Krzeczowski's toss of 28' 7 1/2" was a personal best and good for fourth in the shot put. Kay Bauer also hit a personal best of 83' 4" in the discus to finish a non-scoring sixth.

THE ENVIRONMENTAL SERVICES GROUP

Dear Homeowner,

My name is Michael Forman. I am a graduate of the University of Michigan's School of Natural Resources and have founded a company called The Environmental Services Group.

The reason for this letter is to propose a program of professional fertilization and weed management for your lawn. This lawn care program is unique to the Chelsea area because it recognizes the local diversity of soils and turfgrasses. Generally, other companies use large tanker trucks to spray all lawns with identical liquid chemicals.

My program offers individualized treatments and begins with a 43-point analysis of your lawn's own needs. A schedule, using nutrients blended for your lawn's special requirements, is then offered for your consideration. Together we work out the best program for your lawn.

Specially-formulated dry fertilizer products are used exclusively in each lawn care program. Unlike liquid chemicals which may quickly evaporate or leach out of the critical root zone, dry products provide a uniform and gradual release of nutrients. Fewer fertilizer applications are needed with these superior dry products and fewer applications mean a substantial savings to the homeowner.

In addition, The Environmental Services Group is fully licensed by the Michigan Department of Agriculture to provide you with a full range of services to reduce insect and lawn disease problems.

Product superiority, combined with my personal attention, mean that your lawn will receive the best care professionally available. To set up an appointment for a free, no obligation, written analysis of your lawn care needs, call The Environmental Services Group at 996-4370.

Thank you for considering my proposal!

— Michael S. Forman, owner
The Environmental Services Group

Card of Thanks 17

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the Chelsea Police Dept., Chelsea Fire and Rescue Squad, Huron Valley Ambulance, Chelsea Community Hospital emergency staff and ICU staff, for their quick and efficient response. Special thanks to Rosemary Young and her individual home nursing care organization. And to Mr. and Mrs. D. Cole for all their help and kindness. Thanks and gratitude to all our relatives, neighbors, and friends for the many acts of kindness, for food, floral offerings, and expressions of sympathy, extended to us at the time of our bereavement. We also wish to thank the women of the VFW for putting on the dinner. Thanks to the pallbearers and the Rev. Kenyon Edwards for his comforting words. To all who helped in any way we are deeply grateful. The Family of Inez Bulson.

THANK YOU

On May 3, 278 mentally impaired athletes competed in a track and field meet at Chelsea High school. All the lunches were provided through the work of the Chelsea Lioness Club. These dedicated women have made all the lunches for this event for the past four years. We would like to thank them for taking the time and money to do this. The kids loved the lunches. Three More Escape from Cassidy Lake

Legal Notice 19

The 1984 score on Cassidy Lake Technical School walk-aways rose to 17 as three more inmates escaped from the institution despite tightened security. One was recaptured almost immediately, and two are still at large. Lee Carson, 18, serving five years for automobile theft, fled from the prison late last Friday night. He was in the process of being transferred to Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson because of information that he was planning to escape from Cassidy Lake. He did, and has not been caught. Douglas Esper, 20, serving 3-10 years for burglary, and Jeff A. Renney, 18, doing concurrent sentences of 2-5 years for car theft and 2-15 for burglary, got out Sunday evening. They turned up missing at a 5:30 p.m. head count. Esper was caught by state police on I-94 near Clear Lake Rd. about 90 minutes later. Renney has not been found.

IT CAME A LONG WAY: A helium-filled balloon released from Hammond, Ind., 180 miles southwest of Chelsea, was found on April 29 by Jim Hafner of Chelsea. The balloon came to rest on the bank of Letts Creek a quarter-mile east of town. Holding the balloon is Robyn Hafner, an eighth-grader at Beach Middle school.

K. of C. Tootsie Roll Drive Hits Record $3,300

The Knights of Columbus Tootsie Roll Drive held April 13-15 brought in more than $3,300 locally, an all-time high for the Chelsea K. of C. in the nine-year history of the drive, according to chairman Joe Wesolowski.

Eighty percent of the money collected is distributed for mental retardation programs in the community. The other 20 percent is forwarded to the K. of C. state headquarters for distribution to programs state-wide.

This year's Chelsea funds will support the Chelsea special education program to pay for a spring camping trip for 18 students. A donation will be made to St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys.

The K. of C. thanks all individuals for donations they made. The success of a program of this type depends on community support.

Special thanks are given to the following businesses for their contributions: Citizens Trust, BookCrafters, Chelsea Big Boy, Chelsea Industries, Chelsea State Bank, Dana Corp., Jack & Son Barbers, Klockes Sausage Co., Lane Animal Hospital, R. A. Steger & Co., Springer Agency, Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, Stivers, Thompson Pizzeria, Tower Mart, Wolverine Lounge.

Boys Track Team Loses Two Meets

The Chelsea boys track team lost meets to Lincoln and Jackson County Western last week, and also competed in the Herrick Invitational at Hillsdale College.

Lincoln defeated the Bulldog tracksters, 101-36, and Western piled up a 99-44 count. The Lincoln meet was run at Milan, because Lincoln does not have a track.

"It's a discouraging season in the sense that we just don't have enough strength and depth to compete in a dual meet," coach Bill Wehrlein said. "We have some good performers, but not enough of them. There are several events in which we are almost certain to be shut out, and those points add up against you."

"We have to rebuild our track program, just as we are rebuilding our track."

Gar DeYoe in the discus, Eric Green in the mile and Scott Cooper in the 800 meters won individual first places in the Milan meet. The two-mile relay team of Jared Bradley, Greg Buckley, Allen Cole and Kyle Kemmish accounted for Chelsea's only other first place.

Other Chelsea places were won by: Scott Cooper, third, long jump; Rob Long, third, shot put; Ed Brosnan, second, pole vault; Mark Spayd, third, high hurdles; Kemmish, third, 400 meters; Spayd, second, low hurdles; Green, second, 3,200 meters. First places in the Western meet were won by DeYoe in the discus, Brosnan in the pole vault, Spayd in the high hurdles and Cooper in the long jump. Chelsea's 3,200-meter relay team came home first. Otherwise, it was a sweep of first finishers for Western.

Earning places for Chelsea were: Long, third, discus; Long second and DeYoe third, shot put; Cooper, second, 800 meters; Dan Fenton third, 200 meters; Scott Miller, third, low hurdles; Cole, third, 3,200 meters; Fenton, third, pole vault; Cole, third, 1,600 meters; Kemmish, third, 400 meters, Jason Creffield, third, 400 meters.

Chelsea finished fourth in the Herrick Invitational, scoring 24 points in a meet won by Cody with 82 1/2. Hillsdale was second with 38 1/2 and Montpelier third at 37.

Brosnan was Chelsea's only individual winner, taking the pole vault at 11' 6". DeYoe was second in the discus and third in the shot.

Other Chelsea places: Long, third, shot put; 3,200 relay, second; Curtis Heard and Kemmish, fourth and fifth, 100 meters; 800 relay team, fourth; Cooper and Heard, fourth and fifth, long jump; Long, fifth, discus; Buckley, fifth, 400 meters; Greg Brown, fifth, 800 meters; Miller, third, low hurdles; Green fourth and Jason Creffield sixth, 3,200 meters; 1,600 meter relay team, third.

Junior High Girls Track Team Defeats Dexter, 81-42

The Chelsea junior high girls track team defeated Dexter, 81-42, in a meet held here on May 2, winning 12 of 15 first places. Earning scoring spots for Chelsea were:

3,200 meters—Cathy Barham, first; Ann Brosnan, second. 55-meter hurdles—Shannon Dunn, first. 800-meter relay—Danica Dis-

Retired Minister Assumes Full-Time Post As Chaplain at Cassidy Lake

THE REV. THODE B. THODESON

Life holds few dull moments for the Rev. Thode B. Thodeson, whose life calling in the ministry has led to some unique assignments ranging from the pulpit to caretaker of a church camp to pastor of a minimum security prison.

But the 70-year-old Canadian native sees all his assignments pretty much the same way—serving the Lord and his fellow man.

And at an age when most men are enjoying retirement, the Rev. Thodeson still finds himself performing much the same services as he has throughout most of his adult life.

The Rev. Thodeson was born and attended high school in New Westminster, British Columbia, and joined the Royal Canadian Navy during World War II.

He served three years as a boiler repairman aboard an anti-submarine patrol boat stationed at Halifax, Nova Scotia, a job he admits he was not overly fond of. He got out of that duty, working on boilers at the bottom of the ship, because he was studying diesel mechanics when a shore launch broke down. An officer told him he'd give anything if Thode could fix it. Thode repaired the powerplant and was immediately removed from duty as a boiler repairman.

He attended Eastern Ontario Pentecostal Bible College after the war and was married to Dorothy, his wife of 38 years, in 1946. Dorothy Thodeson still serves in the ministry, as pianist.

The Rev. and Mrs. Thodeson came to the United States in 1949, where he assumed pastordship of the Assembly of God church at Glennie, Mich., a post he held until 1951. From there, he spent four years as pastor at Reed City, served in Charlevoix from 1955-60, and was an Assembly of God pastor in Ludington from 1962-66.

In 1969, the Rev. Thodeson arrived in the Chelsea area, taking over as caretaker of the Assembly of God conference ground in Grass Lake, as well as part-time pastor of the Chelsea Assembly of God. He held those posts until 1975, when he became pastor of the former Chelsea Baptist church, now known as the Chelsea Christian Fellowship.

During their travels around the state, Mrs. Thodeson taught first grade in Reed City, Boyne City, Ludington, and for 15 years in Chelsea at South Elementary school until retiring last year.

Three children—Robert, of Ann Arbor; Paul, of Winston-Salem, N.C.; and Loreen, of Pebble Beach, Calif., were born. The Rev. and Mrs. Thodeson are now the proud grandparents of two baby boys.

The Rev. Thodeson currently serves as interim pastor of the Chelsea Christian Fellowship, and has worked off and on at Cassidy Lake for four years.

During the past two years he has worked full-time as chaplain at Cassidy Lake, a post the Dept. of Corrections asked that he take after his retirement.

"Most of our inmates are there for non-violent crimes, larceny type things," the Rev. Thodeson says. "We regularly get about 20 people for worship, but sometimes we get upwards of 50."

That, the Rev. Thodeson says, is generally on a par with the rest of the population. The camp inmate population ranges from 200 to 250.

"We get about 10 percent of the camp population, but that's also true in Chelsea, too," the Rev. Thodeson adds. "You generally don't get anymore than 10 percent of the general population in to church in Chelsea, either. On the whole, I think our program is well accepted by both the inmates and the staff."

Most of the inmates, the Rev. Thodeson points out, are from 17 to 20 years old, and he believes most of them just got started down the path of life on the wrong foot.

"Our job is to rehabilitate and train, not to punish," the Rev. Thodeson says. "I feel that this is giving them a chance to get on the right course. And a good number of them are doing just that."

Still, the job is sometimes frustrating.

"I feel frustrated when I can't get through to one of the guys, when I can't make him understand that this is real help they're getting and it can be a real answer to their needs," he adds. "They sometimes want help but don't realize it's right there for the taking."

Even successes can sometimes be obscured behind apparent failure.

The Rev. Thodeson points out a case where one of his charges was returned to the camp after violating parole. The youth wanted to talk but he was afraid to look the Rev. Thodeson in the face.

"I went up to him and put my arm around him and asked him what was wrong," the Rev. Thodeson says. "He said he had a great family but he couldn't figure out what was wrong. He said he didn't know if he could make it."

"After service, he had a broad smile on his face, like he finally believed he could do it this time," the Rev. Thodeson adds. "I hope he does, because I'm sure he can if he works at it."

Recently, about 20 inmates took part in a religious ceremony that is relatively unique, even in the Rev. Thodeson's extensive experience.

The "foot washing" service is based on the Gospel according to John, and is meant as a symbolic demonstration of humility. According to Gospel, Jesus washed his feet in a demonstration that he was a servant, not a master. He then asked his followers to similarly demonstrate their faith, the Rev. Thodeson says.

"It's a pretty rare service, and only the third time I've done it," the Rev. Thodeson says. "But we hope it can be repeated in the future, for a new group of inmates, because the participants were very excited about it."

HE'S GOT IT: Spring was in the air last week, and Brandy, an Irish setter owned by Rusty Wilson, was doing a lot of springing, as he played frisbee with his owner. As you can see, Brandy is pretty good at the catching phase of the game, but he hasn't yet learned how to throw it back.

Foster Homes Needed For Abused Children

Reported cases of child abuse and neglect have increased dramatically in Washtenaw county over the past two years. This has resulted in a corresponding increase in the number of children who must be placed in out-of-home care. The Department of Social Services is in need of more family foster homes to provide care for these children and to work with the agency regarding their return home.

Children who come into care are all ages and come from all racial and ethnic groups. Especially needed are families who are willing to care for children ages 10-17, groups of brothers and sisters, emotionally impaired children, pregnant teens, sexually abused children, and black children of all ages.

Foster parents work with the Department as members of a team. They need to be able to provide love, security, and patient understanding for children who are suffering the traumatic effects of being separated from their families. Foster parents arrange for the child's medical and dental care, work with schools, and plan recreational activities. They also provide transportation for visits with biological families and, when appropriate, work directly with the child's family in the interest of reuniting the child with his or her family.

Three orientation classes are offered to help prepare families for the foster care experience. The next series starts on May 1 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Department of Social Services, 2350 W. Stadium Blvd., Ann Arbor. If you would like to attend or know more about the program, please call Pat Ruby at 994-1694.

J. Drolett Seeking Dexter Township Supervisor Post

James Drolett, currently serving as a Dexter township trustee, has announced his candidacy for Dexter township supervisor on the Republican ticket.

Jim was elected trustee in 1982 and cites the many accomplishments of the township board since his election. Among them, the adoption of the Electronic Games Ordinance, the Liquor Licensing Ordinance, and most notably the contract with Putnam Township Fire Department to provide better response time for fire and medical emergencies in certain areas of Dexter township. Drolett says this is one example of how positive leadership can make a difference.

With the onset of an area-wide fire department, Drolett pledges to continue working towards increased fire and emergency coverage for the entire township.

Drolett states he feels township government is very important to the survival of the democratic process as it is government at its grass roots level and a chance for citizen input. Drolett says he will work towards harmony on the township board.

Drolett is currently employed as the Chief Probation Officer for the 14th District Court and has been employed by Washtenaw county for 16 years. He also currently is serving as Region I representative for the Michigan Association of Probation Services and heads their legislative committee. He serves on the Advisory Board for the Beyer Hospital

Alcoholism Therapy Program, is president of the Board of Governors for the Wayne/Washtenaw Alcohol Highway Safety Program and executive board member for the Washtenaw County Law Enforcement and Industrial Security Association.

He is a member of the National Sheriff's Association, the Michigan Corrections Association, the American Corrections Association, Phoenix Lodge 13 F&AM, Grotto Club of Ann Arbor, Grotto Rod and Gun Club and member of the Portage and Base Lake Property Owners Association.

Drolett holds a B.A. Degree from Michigan State University in Police Administration and a Master's Degree from Eastern Michigan University. He and his wife, Gail and their two children, Kimberly, 14, and Tyler, 10, have lived at Portage Lake since 1977.

North Lake Co-Op Pre-School Nursery Plans Open House

On Saturday, May 12, from 1 to 4 p.m., North Lake Co-op Pre-school will have an Open House. Anyone is welcome to attend and view the school set up as if for a typical school day. Parents are encouraged to bring their pre-schoolers to play with the indoor games and toys as well as enjoy the outdoor play area.

Mrs. Loree Stafford, teacher-director at North Lake, will be there to meet and talk with anyone interested in the school's program. Several co-op member parents will also be helping out and can answer questions.

North Lake Co-op is located downstairs in St. Barnabas church, 20500 Old US-12, Chelsea. The number there is 475-8818.

Two from Chelsea Getting EMU Degrees

Two students from Chelsea will receive degrees this month from Central Michigan University. They are Mark E. Barnes of 13420 Riker Rd., bachelor of science in psychology and sociology, and Timothy J. Sweeny, 720 N. Main St., bachelor of science in industrial technology.

Stony Creek Metropark, covering 4,435 acres in Macomb and Oakland counties opened for public use on July 8, 1984. At that time, facilities consisted of a temporary entrance and road, interior park road, several picnic areas, one bathing beach along man-made Stony Creek Lake and nature center building with exhibits and adjoining nature trails.

Gaylord Officials To Visit Chelsea On Exchange Day

Gaylord mayor Clark W. Bates and council member William Tholl will come to Chelsea on May 15 as part of the annual Michigan Week mayor exchange day observance.

Chelsea village president Jerry Satterthwaite and trustees Herman Radloff, Jim Finch and Fred Harris will go to Gaylord.

Because of the preponderance of numbers from Chelsea, a cost-sharing agreement will be worked out. Chelsea's representatives volunteered to pay part or all of their travel expenses.

CONGDON'S ADDITION" and containing 9866 square feet of land, more or less. Being subject to easements and restrictions of record, if any, and,

DEMOLISHED BY WIND: This barn on the Robert Ball property at 11691 Dexter-Chelsea Rd. was blown down in the savage April 30 windstorm which blew for 24 hours. The concrete silo withstood the winds which gusted close to 70 miles an hour.

Chelsea Charms Claim Awards in Baton Contest

At an exceptionally large Twirling Unlimited Baton Contest held in Temperance on April 28, 18 members of the Chelsea Charms Baton Twirling Corps brought home numerous awards including 16 first-place trophies and the "High Point" award for the twirler with the most wins in three contests of a Tri-set.

Christine Dunlap, 10, topped the first-place awards with four wins in the beginner division, while 9-year-old Amy Weir captured three first-place trophies in the advanced divisions. Tracey Wales, 9, took the Beginner High Point award.

In Modelling, Chrissy Dunlap took first while Tracey Wales, Michelle Graflund, and Amy Weir captured second places. In "Best Appearing" (modelling in a baton costume), Amy Weir won the trophy with Tracey Wales placing high.

Chelsea Charms captured the first four places from a field of 22 in the "Basic Strut" category, 7-9 years. Michelle Jones won first, Brandi Kenney, second, Heather Wynn, third, Kate Steele, fourth. Also taking a first in Basic Strut was Vicky Niethammer, 11, and placing was Christine Burg. In the Advanced Basic Strut both Chrissy Dunlap and Tracey Wales were winners.

"Military Strut" claimed three Chelsea Charms as winners. They were: Kristen Clark, Chrissy Dunlap, and Winston Howard. Placing high were: Kori White, Tracey Wales, Heather Wynn, Stephanie Wynn, Brandi

Kenney, Christine Burg, and Vicky Niethammer.

Both Kori White and Chrissy Dunlap took the first-place awards in "Fancy Strut" while Michelle Graflund, Amy Weir, and Tracey Wales all placed high.

Placing in "two-baton" were Kristen Clark and Amy Weir. In the "Basic Twirl Camp Scholarship" award Vicky Niethammer barely missed the top by 2/10ths of a point from a field of 33 former first-place winners. Both Tracey Wales and Christine Burg tied for fourth place.

In the Twirling Solo divisions Chrissy Dunlap topped a bevy of 25 girls for a first place in Novice Solo. As this is her fifth first, she will now move into the "Intermediate" division. Also winning first in Novice was Tracey Wales with Vicky Niethammer and Winston Howard taking top place awards.

In "instat solo" (girls from Michigan only), Michelle Graflund took the intermediate top awards and Amy Weir took the advanced solo award. Both girls captured the twirling awards in their solo divisions as well. Kori White, Tracey Wales, Vicky Niethammer, Winston Howard, Christine Burg, Elizabeth Taylor, and Brandi Kenney all placed high in their solo divisions.

The Sugar Shakers tiny tot dance twirl group continued their winning ways with a first place from six groups and The Gold Rushers captured a second place in the Juvenile dance twirl group.

Enrollments Sought for Pre-Schoolers' Classes

Chelsea Community Education department is accepting registrations for pre-school 3-4 and 4-year-old classes. To secure a place for the 1984-85 school year a $10 deposit is required. Class sizes are limited, and early registration, is encouraged. All class sessions are for six weeks.

Four-year-old classes are as follows: Mon.-Wed.-Fri., 9:15-11:30 a.m., $63; Mon.-Wed.-Fri., 12:30-2:45 p.m., $63; Tues.-Thurs., 9-11:00 a.m., $50.

Three-year-old classes are as follows: Tues.-Thurs., 12:30-3 p.m., $50; Mon.-Wed., 9-11:30 a.m., $50; Tues., Thurs., 9-11:30 a.m., $50.

Classes are conducted in six-week non-repetitive sessions throughout the school year. Enrollment may be for a six-week period or for the entire year.

WHEREAS, a public hearing was held as the statute in such case provides; now,

BE IT RESOLVED, that this Zoning Board of Appeals finds:

- 1) that special conditions and circumstances do not exist which are peculiar to the property
- 2) that in denying the variance would not deny the owner of the property use of the property under the terms and conditions of the Zoning Ordinance

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that based upon the above findings, this Board of Appeals does not grant to the applicant, Mr. Robert Penskar, a variance from the provisions of Section 15.438 of the Zoning Ordinance.

Motion by Steele, supported by Finch, to adopt the above resolution as read. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried. Resolution adopted. Request denied.

Motion by Merkel, supported by Finch, to forward Proposed Ordinance No. 79-EE to the Planning Commission. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

Motion by Steele, supported by Merkel, to adjourn. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned.

M. O'Connor Seeking Re-election As State Rep.

State Representative Margaret O'Connor has announced that she will be a candidate for re-election in the 52nd District.

The new 52nd District, formerly made up of part of Washtenaw county, now includes a portion of Livingston county as well.

A conservative Republican, O'Connor has been a member of the Lodi Township Board, the Lodi Township Planning Commission, Washtenaw County Planning Commission, and the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners. In 1982, she was elected to the Michigan House of Representatives.

Margaret O'Connor is a registered nurse, has a degree in nursing education, and a degree in political science and public administration.

O'Connor is in favor of a part-time legislature, a right-to-work law, a one-week waiting period for unemployment benefits, repeal of the single business tax, an overhaul of the Workers Compensation Act, and is in favor of a balanced federal budget.

"Taxpayers' money is being spent for programs which are inappropriate and expensive. Under the guise of helping the poor, we are really rewarding and expanding the bureaucracy."

"The residents I have talked to in Livingston county appear to share the same philosophy as those in Washtenaw county in the 52nd District. They favor less spending, less government interference, less bureaucracy and lower taxes. Therefore, I'd like to continue to represent these views and political philosophy in Lansing."

Representative O'Connor is married to Gerald O'Connor, M.D. They have 10 children and reside on a farm in Lodi township.

Applicants Sought for Palmer Scholarship

Applications are now available at Chelsea Community Hospital for the A. A. Palmer Memorial Scholarship. This $500 scholarship is awarded to a Chelsea High school graduate who is pursuing a career in medicine, primarily family practice.

1984 marks the 14th presentation of the scholarship, which was set up by the original group of physicians at Chelsea Medical Center to honor the late Dr. A. A. Palmer, a Chelsea physician for many years. The award is now under the auspices of the Auxiliary Scholarship Committee.

Scholarship applications may be picked up at the information desk near the main entrance of the hospital or at the switchboard desk just inside the courtyard entrance. They may be obtained between 9 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Completed applications should be returned as indicated on the form with the deadline being Monday, June 4.

The first monies for the A. A. Palmer scholarship were raised by donations from local physicians and businessmen. Since 1973 the scholarship has been made possible by the Chelsea Painters, a group of approximately 18 area artists who sell their works at an annual art fair held the first week-end in June at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Determination of a recipient is based on academic achievement, extra curricular activities, and motivation to pursue a career in medicine.

Patrick Killelea, a student at University of Notre Dame, was the 1983 recipient.

Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority was created to serve the citizens of the counties of Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne by developing and operating a system of Metroparks—and to preserve for public use the scenic beauties and recreational resources along the two principal rivers—the Huron and the Clinton.

Work Session Slated On Revitalization Study

A "work session" has been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 22, in the village hall so that members of the village council and the Chamber of Commerce's downtown development committee can get together and talk.

Mark Heydlauff, chairman of the development committee, and William J. Bott, appeared at the May 1 council meeting and asked for the opportunity to present their ideas at a special meeting.

The C. of C. committee has in hand a plan prepared by the Ann Arbor firm of Johnson Johnson & Roy (JJR) to "revitalize" Chelsea's central business district.

JJR prepared the plan after local businessmen and other interested persons contributed a total of about $4,000 to pay for it.

"We're not committed to anything," Heydlauff assured the council. "We're looking at all the possibilities, and we want to get your (the council's) ideas and suggestions. We're still in the conceptual stage."

One suggested concept is that redeveloped primarily for pedestrian rather than vehicular movement.

"It's an idea worth considering," Heydlauff told the council, "but we haven't accepted it or anything else as final in the sense that it will be done. We're looking for suggestions, and we want the council's input."

In a somewhat related matter, Michael Ammann and James Hart, staff members of the Washtenaw Development Council, appeared at the meeting to present a progress report on the council's activities.

The village is a dues-paying member of the development council, and is looking for its help in carrying out plans for the Sibley Rd. industrial park.

Variance Requested On Railroad St. Lot

Stephen Hantula of 419 Railroad St. has asked the village council to grant a zoning variance so he can construct a two-car garage closer to the lot line than the ordinance allows. A public hearing has been set for May 15.

Chelsea Players Announce 'Annie' Audition Schedule

Chelsea Area Players have scheduled auditions for the area debut of "Annie." On Wednesday, May 30, there will be an information and registration meeting beginning at 7 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

Auditions will be held at the high school at 7 p.m. on May 31 and June 1. Adult call-backs will begin at noon on Saturday, June 2. "Orphan" and "Annie" call-backs will be held at Beach Middle school June 3 beginning at 2 p.m. Please try to have a prepared song for your audition.

For further information please call May Jane Tiedgen, 475-7414, after 9 p.m. beginning May 14.

Older workers want to work—to supplement their incomes during these inflationary times, fill the need of being useful and busy, and begin a second and useful career.

United Way Fund Campaign Falls $5,000 Short of Goal

Last fall's Chelsea United Way campaign fell short of its $59,000 goal by nearly $5,000, a wrap-up report shows. Contributions and collected pledges are expected to total $54,164.

Even though shy of the goal, the amount of money contributed was $5,965 more than in the previous year, an increase of 12 percent, United Way vice-president Laura Schieb-Biedron pointed out.

"The campaign results are a positive comment about the hard work and generosity of the people in our community," she said. "The members of the Chelsea United Way board of directors thank those who contributed their time, energy and money to make the campaign an encouraging success. Everyone did an excellent job."

Chelsea Community Hospital employees increased their donations by a whopping 142 percent, BookCrafter workers by 50 percent and Chelsea Milling by 30 percent.

Agencies supported by the Chelsea United Way include Chelsea Recreation, Meal Service, Chelsea Social Services, Salvation Army, Catholic Social Services, Huron Valley Child Guidance Center, Washtenaw Retarded Citizens, Child and Family Services, Cystic Fibrosis, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, American Red Cross, United Way of Michigan, Chelsea Area Transportation Service, Faith in Action Parent to Parent program, Hospice of Washtenaw, Inc., Visiting Nurses Association and Waterloo Nature Center.

Members of the Chelsea United Way board of directors include Carol Ghent, Debbie Holefka, Randy Musbach, Janet Rossi, Jill Taylor, Barbara Halst, Carol Kvarnberg, Sam Vogel, Veretta Whitaker, Betty Cox, Lawrence Dietle, Faye Frederick, Cindy Harrison and Gloria Mitchell.

Officers are Dave McAllister, president; Laura Schieb-Biedron, vice-president; Sandie Mayer, secretary; Bob Porter, treasurer; Lang Ramsey, finance chairman.

Persons interested in serving on the board or in obtaining further information of any kind are asked to call Laura Schieb-Biedron at 475-8400.
