Electric and Water Department—Fred Harris and Steele. Fire Department—Steele and Joe Merkel. Parks and Recreation—James Finch and Kanten. Personnel and Public Rela-

Key Officials Asked To Attend Cassidy Lake Council Meet

Local legislators and the chief of the Department of Corrections have been invited to a meeting of the Cassidy Lake Community Liaison Council on Tuesday, May 29.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Administration Building at Cassidy Lake Technical School. It is expected to focus on the escape problem at the minimum security prison.

Invitations have been extended to State Sen. Lana Ballack, State Rep. Margaret O'Conner, Department of Corrections director Perry Johnson, and State Rep. Jeffrey Padden of the House corrections committee.

It is not known how many, if any, will attend the meeting.

Fourteen persons have walked away from the unfenced prison so far this year. There were 48 in 1983. Several acts of crime and terrorism were committed by some of last year's escapees, including one murder.

Security at the institution has since been tightened with the addition of more frequent headcounts and perimeter patrols. It has been proposed to construct a new two-story dormitory at Cassidy Lake to house 80 inmates. It would cost $800,000 to build, and presumably would be easier to guard than the cabins in which inmates are presently kept.

Stiff Sentence Imposed In Wake of Auto Chase

An Ann Arbor man arrested following a wild auto chase through Chelsea during which a village police patrol car was totaled and a county road commission truck damaged has been sentenced to 90 days in jail and more than $3,000 in fines and restitution.

Max L. Eldswick, 31, had pleaded guilty to operating under the influence of alcohol, failing to stop at the scene of an accident, and fleeing and eluding pursuing police.

The series of incidents occurred last Feb. 5. Eldswick hit a car on the north-bound M-52 exit off I-94, knocked over an oil display rack at a gas station, sped north through town hitting a police car positioned to intercept him, made a U-turn at Werkner Rd., raced back south on Main, turned west into the east-bound lane of I-94, forced several cars off the road, and finally stopped when his car hit a county salt truck.

He was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital but left later the same evening without permission.

Last Monday District Judge Karl V. Fink handed down a sentence which included 90 days in jail—45 days straight time, plus 29 days credit for time spent in an alcohol treatment program. The remaining 16 days may be waived if all other terms of the sentence are met.

School Board Gives Credit to Art Teacher, Students

Chelsea School President Schumann gave special recognition at the May 21, regular board meeting to Beach Middle school art teacher Judy Parker for encouraging and directing her students' talents to paint the murals recently completed at Beach school.

Beach school eighth grader Kelly Stump, one of many students who were involved in painting the murals, represented herself and other participating students at the meeting.

Memorial Day Service Slated For Monday

Memorial Day services will be held again this year to honor deceased war veterans. Services will begin at 10:00 a.m. Monday, May 30 as veterans, school bands, officials and residents participate in the traditional parade through village streets enroute to Oak Grove Cemetery. Herbert J. McKune American Legion Post No. 31 will be just one of the thousands of American Legion and Auxiliary organizations which will lead Memorial Day observances all over the United States.

Parade participants should meet at the municipal parking lot at 9:30 a.m., where they will assemble for the parade. This year's parade marshal is Pat Merkel, and Sergeant of the Guard is Don O'Dell. Merkel invites all veterans to march in the parade.

Color guards of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will lead the parade down Main St. to Park, Park to East, East to Middle and Middle to Oak Grove Cemetery. Following behind will be a firing squad and Chelsea veterans.

The Chelsea high school band, under the direction of Bill

Gourley, will provide marching music for Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Brownies and members of the Chelsea Charns Baton Twirling Corps. They will march behind the cars of Memorial Day speakers.

Director Warren Mayer and the Beach Middle school band will march next in the parade, followed by children walking and riding decorated bicycles.

Memorial services for past American veterans will be held upon arrival at Oak Grove Cemetery. Master of Ceremonies Jim Knott will open the services, followed by an invocation by the Rev. Phil Farnsworth of the First Assembly of God church.

Memorial Day services will then continue with a selection from the high school band and an address by guest speaker George Prinzing, Chelsea resident and educator, who is a World War II veteran.

A salute from the firing squad as well as taps and the national anthem played by both bands will conclude the service. A benediction by the Rev. Farnsworth will officially end the ceremony.

The parade will then assemble, head back to the village and disburse.

Annexation Sought For 8.3 Acres On Northeast Side

The village of Chelsea will ask the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners to allow 8.3 acres of land to be annexed into the village on the northeast side.

plan residential development on the 8.3 acres. That probably will require village rezoning action, assuming the annexation is approved.

The property fronts on Chelsea-Dexter Rd. across the Conrail tracks from the north dead-end of Freer Rd. It includes 429 feet of frontage on Chelsea-Dexter Rd.

Owners are listed as Duane Downer, Marion Boyer, Jane Merkel and Doris Taylor.

As the laws are written, the annexation must be approved by the county board following a public hearing, which is tentatively set for July 11. The village cannot act in its own right other than to ask that the county board do something.

It is understood that the owners

"I assume it (the property) would come into the village initially as part of an agricultural zone, because the adjacent land is zoned for agriculture," Charles (Skip) Winans, assistant village administrator, said.

"Obviously, the owners have other plans for it. They're not trying to bring it into the village just to pay higher taxes. Officially, we don't have any development proposal in front of us yet.

Winans' job in village government includes providing staff service to the planning commission, which must pass on any proposal for a zoning change.

Al Conklin Retiring After 32 Years At Chelsea Schools

Al Conklin has been a principal for the Chelsea school district for 32 years, a long time for a person to do one thing. But Conklin told us he never once woke up in the morning and didn't want to go to work. "I enjoy my work tremendously and will miss it very much, especially the young people," he said.

Conklin and his wife are retiring next month (she's a teacher at Beach school) so they can enjoy their hobbies and each other while they're still young. Conklin says he and his wife will be doing a lot of golfing, and he'll squeeze in a little fishing between the teens.

The Conklins plan to spend their summers at their family cottage on North Lake, and their winters at their condominium in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where one of their sons resides. Conklin will be able to see some of his grandchildren more often then, and he freely admits to "enjoying his grandchildren immensely." His other son is expecting an addition to his family soon, so there will be no shortage for the Conklins to enjoy. His daughter is a recent college graduate, as are all the Conklin children, and is presently seeking a job in education.

Conklin was born and raised in Milan. He was an outstanding athlete and graduated from Michigan State Normal College (now Eastern Michigan University). (Continued on page five)

South Elementary School Principal Wojcicki Retiring

South school principal Syl Wojcicki is retiring on June 30 after 20 years as an elementary administrator for the Chelsea school district. We visited him in his element last week to find out more about the man who makes South school tick.

Principal Wojcicki gave us a grand tour of his school. We ambled from classroom to classroom, stopping frequently to admire various murals children had painted over the years. It is plain to see he is proud of his kids and school.

Wojcicki's motto for running South school is, "WBWA, or Management By Wandering Around." It shows. Everywhere we went the kids really seemed to enjoy seeing him drop in. He's teaching some classes a few words of the Polish language. He silently holds up two fingers. "Va!" (two) yell a dozen small voices. Wojcicki smiles and departs.

As a principal, Wojcicki says he has always believed in the importance of what he terms "strong family ties." He feels students who do well in school academically and socially have a loving family behind it all. His own Polish immigrant parents encouraged their children to do well in school, even though they had no formal education themselves. "My parents always gave us a little nudge towards education," Wojcicki noted.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Warren M. Hoyt, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Officials Agree on Site in Detroit for New Prison
State and local officials have reached agreement on a site for the first of 10 planned prisons in Detroit and Wayne county at the same time preparations are being made to release prisoners early from the overcrowded system for an eighth time.

A Department of Corrections request for $20,000 to appraise the private property occupying half of the 16-acre site on Detroit's east side was postponed when the Joint Capital Outlay Committee was unable to meet for lack of a quorum.

The three private parties owning the land are asking $3.5 million. Detroit owns the rest and will donate the property for the 500-bed "multi-security" facility.

Department spokesperson Gail Light said if everything goes well and the Legislature appropriates the $33-$35 million needed for the project, the facility could open by 1988.

She said the department places priority on the project building at the same time or before one in Lapeer county, where a site and planning funds have been approved. "Most of our clients come from there. It's the responsible thing to do," she said. Another regional prototype $35 million 500-bed prison is under construction in Plymouth and should be open in 1986. A site west of Lansing in the state Secondary Complex is still under consideration. They are part of a Corrections Commission plan calling for eight new prisons to open by the mid-1990's.

Light said they would probably be for men, although coed facilities have also been discussed.

Senator John Kelly (D-Detroit) whose district would get the proposed institution, said people in the area are supportive of a decentralized prison system and they are continuing to look at sites.

Kelly noted the plan would have to be sold to community groups and it is separated from the residential community. He did not see a need to oppose its location there.

The commission is scheduled to meet to require Governor James Blanchard declare for the eighth time an overcrowding emergency for men's prisons.

Light said the 12 prisons and 10 camps are 132 over the 12,300 persons capacity and the emergency order would slice 90 days from the minimum sentences of inmates not serving life or mandatory minimum sentences.

That means prisoners who have been in the system since the first order will have had nearly two years cut from their original sentences.

Light said trends indicate overcrowding emergencies will continue at a rate of two a year for the men's facilities until the new facilities open or something else, like sentencing guidelines, is done to artificially reduced prison populations.

Meanwhile, Oakland county prosecuting attorney L. Brooks Patterson called the overcrowding emergency act "absolute insanity," that is letting inmates "take a year off of a year served" and "letting release prisoners who are committing murders and other crimes."

The Legislature, he said, "should be forced by public outcry" to repeal the overcrowding emergency statute.

Patterson also blasted the proposed prison construction format, saying there are state owned buildings "we could convert at a fraction of the cost" of new construction. He also said the Kinross prison in the Upper Peninsula could "accommodate twice the number and not one nail would be driven at public expense."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle was wondering during the session at the country store Saturday night if anybody had seen a recent report on Charles Szychowski, who may or may not be in the California legislature by now. If he is, Ed said, we won't be hearing about it from Charlie.

He's the 32-year-old feller, Ed reminded, that gave up talking seven year ago, and since then has graduated from college and hitchhiked across the country without saying a word. Ed said he saw some months back that Charlie had run for the school board in Riverside, Calif. and had pulled four percent of the vote. Being the different kind of candidate that he is, this showing encouraged Charlie to try for bigger things, Ed said.

Even if you don't want to admit that Charlie would be a ideal candidate for the silent majority, Ed said, you got to see the advantages of running his kind of campaign. He ain't saying nothing he'll have to deny later, and he ain't promising anybody anything he'll have to explain later he can't do. Furthermore, Ed went on, Charlie is a newspaper's candidate. His friends say he writes good, and he would have trouble being understood on TV or radio. This time of year, you can find a lot of folks in this country that will vote for any candidate they don't have to listen to, was Ed's words.

None of the fellers could shed light on Charlie's political career, but Clem Webster was of a mind that all a candidate needs in California is a gimmick, and Charlie's got a doozy. Everthing gits a new twist in California, Clem allowed, including charity. Not long back, he recalled, they found out some woman out there that owned four cars and three houses had drawn more than $700,000 in welfare over the past 10 years for more than 20 kids she don't have.

Now, Clem went on, he has saw where the biggest problem in Marin County, Calif. right now is finding poor to give money to. A woman left $7 million to the San Francisco Trust for relief of needy in Marin, which has the highest level of income of any county in the United States.

To make matters worse, Clem went on, while the trustees were trying to figure what to do with $7 million, the oil company the stock was invested in was sold, and the $7 million grew overnight to $300 million. Since there's no way to find enough needy people in Marin County to spend $300 million, relief agencies are trying to break the will and spread that help all over the bay area. They want the trustees to adopt a 700-year-old British law that says if you can't do what a will wants you got a right to do the next best thing.

Bug Hookum butted in to offer his California twist. He had saw where two lovely young men in Berkley had started a move to git help for the handsome. They said other people, especial wimmen, feel threatened when they're around, and it ain't fair fer beautiful people to have to live in a hostile environment. The next thing you know, Bug said, plastic surgeons out there will be offering ugly operations.

Only in California, I reckon, would anybody make a sow's ear out of a silk purse.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

FUNERAL HOME
JOHN W. MITCHELL, Director

Dear Friends:
As you may know, the United States Government, via the Federal Trade Commission, has recently mandated a number of rules and forms that we must either use or comply with during the time of funeral arrangements. Although this information has always been available from the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, we are now required to follow special procedures, present special lists for services, caskets and vaults and obtain certain authorizations and waivers in writing.

If you have had to make funeral arrangements in the recent past, you may find these new procedures to be somewhat awkward and burdensome, however, we are asking for your cooperation and understanding as we both learn to deal with this new layer of government regulations and involvement.

In spite of the changes, I and my staff will continue to try and serve you in the finest and most professional manner possible.
Sincerely,
John W. Mitchell

Family Practice Center Offers Seminar on Women's Health

Over the past decade people have taken an ever increasing interest in self care and health improvement. Health care and the money the American public spends to remain healthy or to regain health have become topics of critical importance and interest. More and more people are taking an interest in fitness and nutrition as a means of delaying that inevitable process of aging.

"The medical profession is now beginning to look at some of the information that is being collected on life-style and its relation to illness and disease," states Dr. Mindy Smith, a family physician at the University of Michigan Family Practice Center at Chelsea. Much literature has been published and is available to people interested in health promotion. However, specific information for women on aging and disease is not as readily available.

Many women have specific concerns and questions about their health as they get older. "While there is much informa-

Child Study Club Enjoys Program On Burn Center

Members of the Chelsea Child Study Club and guest, Helena Rabinovitz, met on Monday evening, May 14 at the Citizens Trust bank.

During the business meeting final plans were made for a garage sale on June 23 at Butter-nut Court. Volunteers were enlisted for the Senior Prom sponsored by the Lions Club. The club's annual pot-luck dinner at the home of Barb Von Garder was set for June 18.

Bethany Vogel, social worker, and Barb Middlebrook, nurse, presented a program on the Chelsea Burn Center. The danger of hot liquid burns was particularly stressed.

Refreshments were served by Patsy Cabanis.

The next meeting will be installation of officers on June 2 at Gilbert's Steak House in Jackson.

Twin towers rising 240 feet into the air have been erected on the W. H. McAtee farm on Sylvan Rd. by Kalamazoo television station WKZO. The towers will relay programs from Detroit and Toledo to Kalamazoo.

Jerry Vanek, public relations manager of the Standard Oil Company's Detroit division, advised members of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club to relax and enjoy life. "Too many people carry lumber on their backs to build bridges across streams they never reach," the popular speaker said.

Central Fibre Co. held its annual employee dinner last Sunday. It was attended by about 150 workers, their spouses and guests.

Applications Accepted For Sidewalk Festival

Applications for craft booths are now being accepted for the 11th annual Chelsea Sidewalk Festival. The festival, which takes place on Aug. 3-4, is open to any media, providing the items are hand-crafted and in good taste.

Each grade in each school had one winner and several honorable mentions. The five winners in each school had their names entered into a drawing for the bicycle grand prize.

North school bicycle winner was first grader Sarah McAllister. South school bicycle winner was fourth grader Amy Mitchell.

APPOINTED TO COUNCIL: Stephanie "Sis" Kanten is a new member of the Chelsea village council, having been appointed to fill a vacancy. She will serve a 10-month term which will expire next March.

She's 'Sis' Kanten to All, And It's in the Books

Her name is Stephanie Kanten, and she is the new appointive member of the Chelsea Village Council.

Everybody calls her "Sis" Kanten, and a reporter asked her why.

She explained it this way: "I had a brother who was born less than 10 months after I was. He was premature. When he got old enough to talk, he couldn't quite say 'Stephanie,' but he learned how to say Sis.

"That's what he called me, and the name has stuck with me all my life. I've accepted 'Sis' as my name to the point where, if you call me Stephanie, I'm not sure who you are talking about. Everybody calls me 'Sis,' and it's all right with me because it's the name I've become used to answering to."

Stephanie Kanten was sworn in as a village trustee as Sis Kanten. That was probably illegal technically because Sis isn't her real name. She is recorded in the official minutes as Sis Kanten.

"I put her name down that way because I didn't know any other name for her," village clerk Evelyn Rosentreter said. "She's Sis Kanten to me."

Mrs. Kanten, who is a second-grade teacher in the Dexter public schools, is filling an unexpired term on the council left vacant when Jerry Satterthwaite was elected president. She will serve until the annual village election next March.

Lights Will Be Installed On Oak Grove Gates

Lights will be installed on the entrance gates to Oak Grove cemetery at the foot of E. Middle St., but probably not before the Memorial Day weekend.

"We have the fixtures ready to install but I doubt if we get them up in time for Memorial Day," village public works superintendent Bud Hafner said in response to a question at last week's council meeting. We've been pretty busy lately, and we're still trying to catch up."

The cemetery gates were restored last summer by stonemason Paul Henes of Dexter, who did a remarkable job of craftsmanship with a combination of sand-blasting and by hand cement work.

Riding Club Members Score In Spring Roundup

Nine members of the Revere's Riders 4-H Club of Chelsea-Manchester competed in the recent Spring Roundup horse show. Jeff Martin and his Morgan horse led the group, collecting six blue ribbons in English and Western pleasure and equitation, fitting and showing and driving.

Jeannie Buss placed second and Missy Bullard was third in their fitting and showing classes. Others participating were Heidi Ratzlaff, Stephanie and Rhonda Evilsizer and Kathy Monaghan.

The club will continue to meet bi-weekly until school is out then will ride weekly to prepare for the 4-H fair. All rides are held at the home of the leader, Janice Martin.

Area Residents Attend Methodist Conference

Two Dexter residents attended the recent General Conference of the United Methodist Church held in Baltimore, Md., May 1-10. Jane Schairer was a voting member of the Detroit Conference delegation of eight clergy and eight laypersons. The Rev. John Harnish is a reserve member of the delegation and attended the conference as an observer.

Mrs. Schairer is a member of the Chelsea United Methodist church and works part-time in the area of Christian Education. She has held many key positions in the United Methodist Church in Michigan and has attended previous General Conferences representing the Detroit Conference. Four years ago, she was elected chairperson of the delegation.

The Rev. John Harnish is pastor of the Dexter United Methodist church. He was elected as a reserve delegate to the North Central Jurisdictional Conference which meets this summer in Duluth, Minn., and is therefore a reserve delegate to the General Conference. He attended the last week of the Baltimore Conference as a non-voting observer. The Rev. Harnish has pastored the Dexter church for the past 4½ years.

The General Conference meets every four years to determine policy and direction for the nine-million member denomination. It is the only group that can officially speak for the United Methodist Church.

American Methodists returned to Baltimore this year for the historic celebration of the "birth" of the Methodist Church 200 years ago at Lovely Lane Church in Baltimore. Not only did the conference celebrate the 200 years of Methodism in America, but the 1,000 delegates set the direction for the church as it moves into its third century.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

As a relative newcomer to Chelsea, I have come to the conclusion that long-time residents here have been spoiled rotten by the quality of public services the village offers. I have written about this before, but the issue is important enough to merit more comment.

A couple of Saturdays ago, I cut down an overgrown arbor vitae (white cedar) in my front yard, and chopped out the stump. While I was doing that, my wife was pruning shrubs. Between us, we accumulated a large and unsightly pile of trimmings on the curb next to our driveway at 130 Clardale Ct.

I worried about that. Our neighbors are all nice people, and it bothered me that they might have to look at that heap of leavings for several days before the village public works department got around to picking it up. You don't—or at least I don't—like to create eyesores.

When I came home from work on the following Monday afternoon, the mess was gone, having been picked up by village employees during the day. I hadn't called anybody at the village hall to ask for special service (a newsman doesn't do that kind of thing if he's at all smart). Somebody—probably a couple of somebodies—from Bud Hafner's public works crew had spotted the pile and taken it away. They didn't leave a twig.

You can't hope for better service than that.

I compare what I have found in Chelsea to my previous experience in living in East Lansing, which is often cited as a "model" community, and where local taxes are about 50 percent higher than here. Chelsea comes out way ahead in terms of public services.

In East Lansing I paid a private contractor $6 a month to pick up my household rubbish, and the definition of "rubbish" was pretty narrow. Anything that wouldn't go into a plastic bag was outside the rules. You had to pay extra to have items like tree trimmings picked up. In no way would they take an outworn appliance or anything else heavy. You had to hire another contractor to get those hauled, and it was costly—about $25 a shot. The alternative was to rent a truck, find somebody to help with the lifting and loading, and do the job yourself.

Thus when I hear complaints about the $3 per month that Chelsea's village government charges for trash pick-up, I can't get very excited. I figure it's one of the better bargains around.

As was demonstrated during the recent "spring pick-up," the village will haul literally anything that can be put into a dump truck. More than 160 loads of junk were transported to the landfill. Included were piles of broken concrete and an amazing amount of old furniture and appliances.

Frankly, I'm not at all sure that village crews should be required to pick up large chunks of old concrete and other miscellaneous items of heavy debris that I saw put out along the streets. Perhaps the definition of what is legitimate "trash" should be narrowed a bit.

The village refuse collection service is intended to be a convenience to local residents and, like all public services, is subject to abuse. I think it has been abused by some people, and that could lead to cutbacks in the future.

If I should have a defunct refrigerator, a washing machine or a broken-down sofa to get rid of, and I certainly hope I don't any time soon, I figure it will be my responsibility. What I will try to do, first, is arrange for the store that sells me a replacement to take the old one away, and I'll pay a few bucks extra for the service. The men and equipment used to deliver the new one are eminently well suited to get the old one out and take it to the dump, and I'll gladly pay the cost of doing it.

Nor do I think the new fees being charged at the Chelsea landfill are exorbitant. They came as a shock to local residents of course. People who had become accustomed to "free" dumping privileges have had to adjust to the idea of paying, and that is never easy.

I suspect that the fees are going to have to be increased to meet the goal of making the landfill self-supporting, including payment of the cost of state-mandated improvements in the operation. The alternative is to shut down the landfill and find some other way to dispose of solid waste. Any other method presently available would cost more and be less convenient.

We residents of Chelsea pay less for electricity than anybody else around. Our water and sewer rates are relatively low, and still will be even if increased later this year as seems likely. Those services are provided directly by the village government.

We pay through the nose for natural gas, and our telephone bills have been going up, up, up (or at least mine has). Interestingly, those utility services are furnished from the private sector. Maybe Chelsea should get into the gas and phone business.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

In this letter we would like to commend the effectiveness of the Chelsea Police Department, and one officer in particular, Patrolman John Dettling.

Our move to Chelsea four years ago was deliberately planned to capture as much of my native English village as possible—picturesque appearance, good community spirit, warm and friendly neighbors, a civic government that is responsive to the needs of its residents, and public services such as fire and police that are dutiful and efficient.

A rather unsettling incident within the last two weeks led us to seek the assistance of our Police Department. We were very impressed with the speed and clarity of the inquiry. In particular, the thoughtful approach of Patrolman Dettling throughout our family's involvement was highly commendable.

In this regard, we feel that our choice of Chelsea as a village, in which to live and raise our children, was greatly validated. Thank you again,

Richard Rendell
Sally Ticknor Rendell.

Village Council Briefs

Trustee Joe Merkel was absent from the May 15 village council meeting. All others, including new appointee Stephanie Kanten, were present.

Council delayed action until its June 5 meeting on two bids received for purchase of a new dump truck. Palmer Ford bid $21,731.81 on a truck with a 27,000-pound load capacity. Faist-Morrow offered to sell a 25,000-pound truck for $21,250.

The council reinforced an earlier decision not to participate in a proposed local cable TV channel which Clear Cablevision of Saline is trying to promote.

A public hearing, as required by village law, was set for June 5 on a request by the Chelsea Sesquicentennial committee to have an advertising banner spread across Main St.

Nobody showed up to testify at a required public hearing on Chelsea's request for a $220,000 grant to help finance development of the Sibley Rd. industrial park. The lack of action makes it possible for the grant application to be processed by the state department of commerce.

The council authorized payment of $58,075.92 to Joseph Chie contractors of Milan for work done during April on construction of new burial cell at the Chelsea sanitary landfill. Also approved was payment of $7,395 to Washtenaw Engineering Co. in connection with the project.

Commissioners Seek Consumer Mediation Committee Applicants

Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners will, on June 6, make an appointment to the Consumer Mediation Committee for a term expiring Dec. 31, 1985.

One-page resumes should be addressed to the attention of Carol Hampton, Controller/Administrator's Officer, County Administration Building, P.O. Box 8645, Ann Arbor 48107. Those resumes received by May 31, will be submitted to the Board of Commissioners for its consideration on June 6.

Telephone your club news to 475-1371

Dear Editor:

As a former resident of the Chelsea Area, I am somewhat disturbed by the head-line of The Chelsea Standard, May 9 issue, quote: "Firemen Are Unhappy about Pay Rates, Lack of Recognition." Also by the statement of his eminence, Paul (Bud) Hankerd, Fire Chief, again quote: "There are a lot of better, easier ways to make money than fighting fires and making medical rescue runs." You're right on the mark, Buddy Boy, so why don't you and your friends go that way?

In our retirement we enjoy observing and participating in the activities of the people here in the mountains of western North Carolina. In so doing we ran across a plaque, printed in bold print, which is as follows: (Author unknown)

IF—You work for a man, in Heaven's name work for him, speak well of him and stand by the institution he represents.

REMEMBER—An ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness.

IF—You must growl, condemn, and eternally find fault, why not resign your position and when you are on the outside damn to your hearts content—but as long as you are a part of the institution do not condemn it, for if you do, the first high wind that comes along will blow you away, and probably you will never know why.

Our best wishes to all and congratulations on the occasion of your Sesquicentennial Year:

A. L. Juergens
Brevard, N. C.

Job Placement Matches Work for Area Students

Baseball, Hot Dogs and Conventicles. Summer also means students graduating and looking for work. You and other employers may be interested in the following categories of students and graduates:

Summer Workers (child care, yard work, assisting elderly, etc.)

Vocationally Trained Workers (13 programs serve local students) including machine shop, child care, welding, computer programming, food service, agriculture, cosmetology, auto service, graphic arts, office, electronics, health occupations, sale and retail.

Vocational Co-op Students (students work part-time during the school year).

A single telephone call to the Job Placement Service (662-9898) will ensure a quick response. The program assists students and graduates in the Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan and Saline schools, and its a function of the South and West Washtenaw Consortium.

ty) with a degree in physical education. He then obtained his master's degree from the University of Michigan.

Conklin served a two-year stint in the U. S. Army, obtaining the rank of sergeant as section chief in an anti-aircraft battery.

Al Conklin feels one important change made for the better while he was principal at Beach school is that the school has grown in a positive way. Because Beach has a larger student population Conklin feels, "We have more to offer the kids. When a school is really small you can't offer the variety of activities that you can when it reaches a certain stage of growth."

The principal gave a lot of thought before answering the question "What was your proudest moment as an administrator?" One of these moments occurred just recently. When retired General Dwight E. Beach visited Beach school to dedicate a portrait of himself, he turned to Conklin and told him America would have no problems if all children looked like the ones attending Beach school. It was a proud moment for everyone at Beach school, especially Al Conklin.

town near Waltz, in the Flat Rock area. He attended high school in Belleville.

Syl Wojcicki is a decorated war veteran, having served in the Army Air Force and survived the shooting-down of his B-17 airplane on two occasions during World War II.

Eastern Michigan University, or Michigan State Normal College as it was known then, is where Wojcicki obtained an education degree. He later earned his master's degree from the University of Michigan and also completed additional graduate work at both Eastern Michigan and Michigan State Universities.

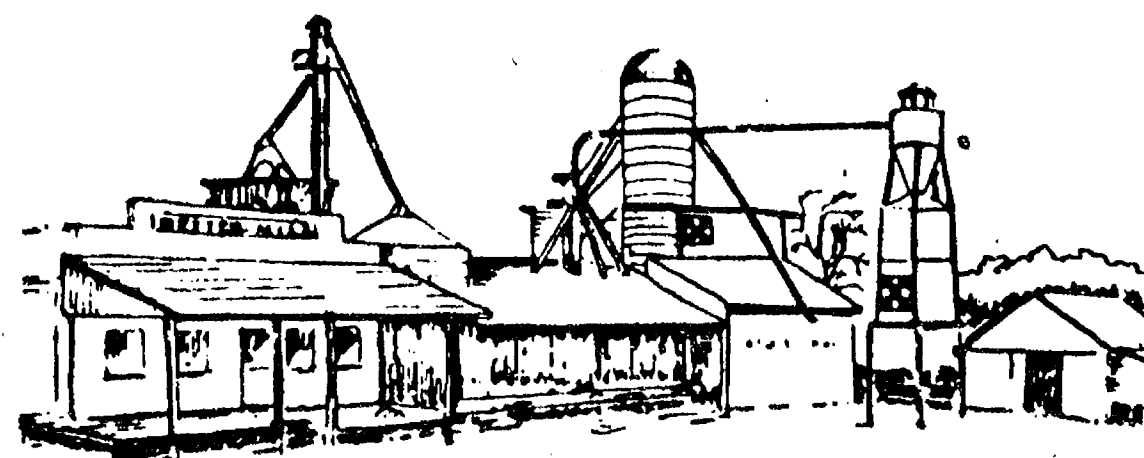

Wojcicki has no immediate plans after he retires. "I'm going to rest, play a little golf, and do a little fishing," he said. He also plans to keep his part-time job with World Book Encyclopedia for some time.

A little travelling is also on Wojcicki's mind. Two of his five children live in Minnesota and New York, and one son is a football player for Hillsdale College. "We attended every football game last year, and we'll probably do the same again this fall," Wojcicki said.

Wojcicki admits he'll miss the kids most of all when he retires. He smilingly recalls seeing one of his students at Elias Bros. Big Boy recently. The child spotted Wojcicki, turned to his grandfather and said, "That man works in my school." Wojcicki felt this was an appropriate response. "These kids like their school." A fact any school principal can be proud of, especially Syl Wojcicki.

Alcoholism As Treatable Disease Will Be Discussed

A filmed lecture by David L. Ohlms, M.D., "entitled 'The Disease Concept of Alcoholism'" will be featured at Brighton Hospital's next Community Education Program on Tuesday, June 5, at 6 p.m.

In the film, Dr. Ohlms, a well known lecturer, shows that there is overwhelming medical, genetic, and biochemical evidence that alcoholism is a primary disease and must be recognized and treated as such. Ignorance of this fact is largely responsible for the continuing tragedy of untreated alcoholism in our society, according to Dr. Ohlms.

Following the film a trained counselor will be available to answer questions and explain what help is available for both the alcoholic and his or her family.

The informal style of the free Community Education Program allows people who are concerned about a loved one's drinking to obtain valuable information about the disease of alcoholism and its treatment.

Brighton Hospital is located on E. Grand River at Kensington Rd., just off the I-96 freeway.

For additional information and a free schedule of 1984 Community Education programs, contact the hospital at (313) 227-1211 or the hospital's Outpatient Department at (313) 227-6143.

COMMUNITY PHARMACIES MAY BE FORCED TO CLOSE

You could be reading this headline in your local newspaper IF Blue Cross-Blue Shield initiates the Preferred Pharmacy Program (PPP or PPO). Under this program, those having Blue Cross prescription benefits would be able to use those benefits ONLY at "preferred" pharmacies in a given area. You would no longer be able to use those benefits at the pharmacy of your choice. The AUTOMOTIVE COMPANIES SUPPORT the PPP idea as it is hoped that it would help to contain their insurance costs.

Here is what the Blues don't tell you about the PPO's. BCBS has indicated that the pharmacy costs have risen at a rate of about 20% per year. Although we do not dispute the increases, they have failed to mention that the entire series of increases is due to MANUFACTURER INCREASES in cost of their products. In fact, NOT ONE PENNY of these increases has been paid to any pharmacy or pharmacist in the form of profit. THEY HAVE NOT MENTIONED THAT 80% OF THE COST OF ANY PRESCRIPTION IS TIED DIRECTLY TO THE MANUFACTURER'S COST OF PRODUCT. Pharmacy has had an increase in fees of only $1.35 per prescription over the last 14 years, while costs have skyrocketed.

If PPO's are allowed, you should expect the following:
You may have to go 15 miles to your area "preferred" pharmacy location.

Possibly having to wait in very long lines to have your Blue Cross prescription filled at the "preferred" pharmacy.

Loss of some of that personalized pharmacist service you used to depend on at your neighborhood pharmacy.

Personal inconvenience.

Loss of service important to you by not doing business with the pharmacy of your choice.

What can you do about it?

Tell Blue Cross-Blue Shield you want existing co-pay service continued at your local pharmacy. Go to your local pharmacy and sign a petition objecting to this change.

Talk to your committeeman or union steward.

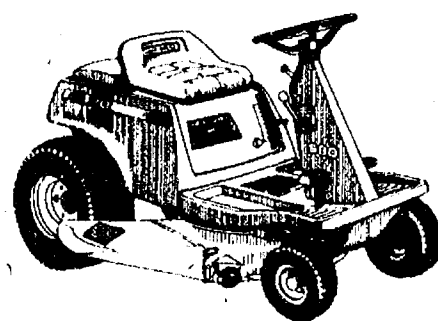

Talk with your in-plant insurance representative.

Talk with your co-workers. Do they know what losing co-pay prescription benefits provided by their local pharmacy would mean for them?

Chelsea SESQUICENTENNIAL

150th

June 30 to July 4, 1984

Coming Events

Anyone entering a float in the Sesquicentennial Parade on Saturday, June 30, is asked to please contact the Fire Department at 200 W. Middle. This also includes any other entries in the parade, such as antique cars, horse-drawn wagons, etc.

Memorial Day week-end there will be softball games between all the Brothers and Belles. The main event for the week-end will be a picnic and softball games on Sunday, May 27 for all chapters and their families at the field north of Old US-12 between St. Paul's and St. Mary's church.

On Sunday, June 24, there will be another trip to a Tiger ballgame. This trip will cost $16 per person, which will include the game ticket. Buses will be leaving at 11:30 a.m. from the fairgrounds and should return at approximately 5:30 p.m. Reservations may be made at Accent on Travel (Ruth Leach), the Wolverine, Chelsea Hardware, or any area leader. Tickets will be ordered by June 4 (must have your money in by then to attend), for all of those who have paid reservations only.

The North Lake Snowbrushes are selling Chelsea Sesquicentennial license plates for the front of vehicles. The plates have the logo on them with the years 1834-1984. They are complete with plastic face, metal frame and mounting bolts. Price is $10 each. Chapters may order 10 or more and get $1 off each plate ($9) each. Place all orders through John Tandy 475-7537 or Dale Bailey, 475-7675.

Chelsea Fire Department is sponsoring a 50-50 sale, with the profits to go toward the cost of the parade. Tickets are $1 each and are available from any fireman. Please help in supporting the Fire Department—they are doing a wonderful job in assisting the committee with all the projects in the works.

There are still tickets available for the Sesquicentennial Quilt sale. First prize is, of course, the hand-made quilt which is on display at Barbara's Needlearts. Second prize is a week-end trip to Toronto (sponsored by Conlin Travel); and third prize is a $100 gift certificate to any store in Chelsea.

Antique Articles Sought for Sesqui

Chelsea Senior Citizens are busy preparing for Sesqui events and are asking your help in locating some antique articles for merchant window displays. Small appliances, beauty shop articles, needlework, doctor, dental or pharmaceutical articles, antique jewelry, tools, toys, dolls, laundry articles, and men's, ladies and children's clothing are some of the things needed.

Displays will begin on June 19 and last through July 4. If you have articles that you wish to share for the Sesquicentennial please call Cecile Bernath, 475-2781, or Rita Collins at 475-2798.

FRANK SWEENEY commands Keystone Kops Scott Otto, Craig Coltre, Steve Robbins and Mike Bristle to "put-em-up" while Judy and Al Olson look on in awe of Sweeny's skill. This happened

Friday, May 11 at a Chelsea Fairgrounds building while the "Ole Time Dance of the Wild Woolly Town Tamers" was going on.

THE "FULL OF BULL" GOAT gets a Keystone Kop hat, a change of name to two names, "Jamie" on one side of the sandwich board and "Reuben Lesser, Jr." on the other side. David Elisele looks on while Jamie Bollinger feeds his namesake. Jennifer Boyer, Almee Henderson, Nancy Stierle, Renee Hager and Laura Scriven give their approval of the appropriate change of name. Saturday, May 5 also was the Kangaroo Court, where Merritt Honbaum was found guilty and sentenced for littering with Sesquicentennial property in a public place. The Keystone Kops received a sentence by the court and were fined.

Senior Citizens Plan Activities for Sesquicentennial

Eunice White, chairperson of the Quilt Show on Sunday, July 1 also needs quilts. Anyone interested in loaning their old-time or newly-made quilts for display at this senior's function, is asked to call the Senior Center, 475-9242.

The quilts will be picked up by Eunice and returned to the owner that evening. Let's see your prized quilts, Chelsea!

Plans are also underway for a Sesqui Brunch held in conjunction with the quilt show. A menu of two scrambled eggs, three sausage links, fruit cup, blueberry crumb cake, juice coffee, tea or milk will be served by the seniors at a cost of $2 at the high school cafeteria on July 1, 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Tickets are available at area churches, through belles and brush groups, the Senior Center, and from the brunch chairperson, Katie Chapman.

If there are questions about events planned for Sunday, July 1, (Interfaith and Senior Citizens Day), call chairpersons John and Gloria Mitchell at 475-1444.

Party Tymers Pick Jury

It's the Town Cryer reporting on the fourth meeting of the Party Tyme Belles and Beaus, held Sunday, May 6, at the Party Tyme Barn, down on the farm.

After the "How Do You Do and How Are You's" were all said the Beaus settled on the west side of the barn for a game of horseshoes, with a captive audience of black faces watching attentively, waiting to be fed fresh grass between pitches. The Belles were prodding Head Brush to call to order our meeting, to get on with our first item on the agenda which was picking a jury and attorney for the trial of the Key Stone Kops on May 11.

Head Bustle noted the coming events for the Sesquicentennial, including several caravans. Mike and Alicia Landwehr were appointed to organize the ball game on Sunday, May 27, at the field north of Old US-12 between St. Paul's and St. Mary's church.

At 5 p.m. all departed the farm for a trip to Vets Park, traveling with the Leaches and McNamaras by motor coach to support the tray race between the Woodshed Squatters and Standers, Wolverine Wildcats and the Wild Woolly Town Tamers. The race appeared close, when all of a sudden cups and water were seen everywhere but on trays. Oh well! It gave the Party Tymers a chance to air our Party Tyme song and watch all the other happenings such as the battery cable being disconnected on the Paddy Wagon. Then back to the farm and the Party Tyme Barn, with only one seat left in the McNamara coach Judge Beam had to take the stool.

Back at the Party Tyme Barn all enjoyed a hot dog roast and picnic, and welcomed eight additional members. It was noted that some of our Party Tymers would be heading for the north woods to do some mushrooming, others will be planning our next event. Those that remain were encouraged to join the caravan to Manchester on May 19.

The price for the game and round-trip bus ride is $16 per person. Payments may be made to John Yelsik at Chelsea Hardware, Joe Merkel at the Wolverine or Ruth Leach at Accent on Travel.

"Hurrah for the Flag!"

There are many flags in many lands;
There are flags of every hue;
But there is no flag, however grand,
Like our own Red, White and Blue.

I know where the prettiest colors are,
An I'm sure if I only knew
How to get them here, I'd make a flag
Of glorious Red, White and Blue.

I would cut a piece from an evening sky
When the stars were shining through,
And use it, just as it was on high,
For my stars and field of blue.

Then I'd take a part of a feecy cloud,
And some red from a rainbow, bright,
And put them together, side by side,
For my stripes of red and white.

We shall always love the stars and stripes,
And I mean to be ever true
To this land of ours and the dear old flag,
The Red, the White and the Blue.

Then hurrah for the flag! Our country's flag!
Its stripes and white stars, too;
There is no flag in any land
Like our own Red, White and Blue.

Village DPW Crews Collect 160 Big Loads of Rubbish

We're still working on it," public works superintendent Charles (Bud) Hafner told the village council a week ago Tuesday in a report on the spring trash collection.

"We've picked up 160 truck loads so far, and we have some more to get. We should have it cleaned up in another couple of days."

Precise records haven't been kept, but Hafner is sure the volume of refuse is an all-time high for the annual spring pick-up.

"I don't think we've ever had half that much before," he said. "Some of the extra was caused by the big windstorm on April 30. The wind blew down a lot of trees and limbs, and we had to clean up the mess. People were very helpful in getting the stuff together and out on the curb promptly so we could pick it up."

Hafner is also sure that the amount of heavy junk—old appliances, furniture, broken concrete and the like—was more than ever before.

"We had more than a truckload of stuff in front of some houses," he said. "I have to wonder if that is what we are supposed to do. We did it, but it took a lot of time and effort."

The heavy junk came out because of the new sanitary landfill dumping fees. It could be carried away free during the spring pick-up. Otherwise, there would have been a disposal charge at the landfill.

"We're going to have to look at it," village administrator Frederick Weber said. "At the rates we're charging for use of the landfill, we may not be breaking even, and we have to under the law."

"We may have to raise the rates at the landfill, and we may have to come up with a new definition of what is rubbish that the village will collect. We thought we had a reasonable system worked out, but some people are taking advantage of it."

"Our spring pick-up operation is based on the idea that people will use it primarily to clean up their yards. We're just plain not prepared to handle household junk, and that's what we're getting in increasing amounts."

14 Chelsea Business Students Receive Honors

The Chelsea High school business education department has announced the names of the students selected for outstanding performance in accounting as recipients for recognition by the United States Achievement Academy in Business Education.

This year's group includes four first-year accounting students: Kelly Barkley, Mary Hellner, Carol Warren, and Michael Wynn; and 10 second-year advanced accounting students: Darrin Fowler, Eric Green, David Kiel, Brenda Lewis, Glenn Prinzing, Jeff Salyer, Hallie Schmidt, Rebecca Schlup, Leann Walz and Shelley Wheaton.

The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, responsibility, motivation, citizenship, attitude, dependability, and leadership qualities. The recommendation for nomination was made by Marian William, accounting teacher at the high school.

Fewer than 10 percent of all high school students nationally are recognized by the academy. Each student nominated will receive a congratulatory letter from the U. S. Achievement Academy, will be recognized in the official yearbook listing his/her achievement and school activities, and will be eligible to compete for regional college scholarship grants awarded by the academy. This is the third year that the Chelsea business education department has participated in the program.

Rosentreter, Shirley Bates, Judy Merkel, Sandy Weber, village administrator Fred Weber, Ellen Tholl and Gaylord council member William Tholl.

Gaylord Officials Visit for Mayoral Exchange Day

Memorial Day traditionally takes place during May, as does Chelsea's Mayoral Exchange Day. This year was no exception. Gaylord Mayor Clark W. Bates and council member William Tholl visited Chelsea, while Chelsea village president Jerry Satterthwaite and trustees Herman Radloff, Jim Finch and Fred Harris went to Gaylord.

Gaylord is located in northern Michigan within Ostego county, and has a population of approximately 3,500.

The biggest industries in and around Gaylord are the state government, a particle board factory, Gaylord's hospital, an auto parts plant, and the local tourist industry. "The expressway (I-75) goes right through Gaylord, so we're lucky," said Bates. The city has an Alpine motel to help attract a tourist population.

Agriculture around the Gaylord area consists mostly of potato and wood products. Milk is also a viable agricultural product said Tholl.

Mayor Bates said Gaylord's biggest source of revenue is property taxes. The city has its own sewage and water facilities, but gets its electricity from Consumers Power Company.

Both Bates and Tholl were impressed with Chelsea. "I can't believe all the industry within the village limits," commented Tholl. Mayor Bates was particularly impressed with Chelsea's Medical Center because it was so unlike any other medical facility he had ever seen.

Bates and Tholl, along with their wives, toured BookCrafters, Chelsea Milling (Jiffy Mixes), Chelsea Medical Center and the Chrysler Proving Grounds during their exchange day.

Heritage Craft Exhibit Draws Many Entrants

The merchants building at the Fairgrounds will be filled with activity during the Heritage Crafts and Displays exhibit July 3-4.

Many quality crafts will be on display and for sale including Nantucket lightship baskets, china painting, rag rugs, hand-carved duck decoys, kinetic folk designs, forging, chair caning, etc. Many of the craftsmen will be demonstrating their talents.

Also at the exhibit will be various displays of artifacts and live entertainment including the Cobblestone Country Dancers doing 19th century social dancing; a musical trio named Common Ground supplying folk and old-time music, and the Stockbridge Squares, exhibiting some of their square dance steps.

There is room for more exhibits, both craft and live entertainment. Anyone interested in helping in any way with the Heritage Crafts and Displays exhibit, is asked to contact Marcy Stump at 475-3429.

Letters have been sent to all names available. Contact either Michelle Alexander, 221 Buchanan St.; George Wilson, 161 Orchard St., 475-9630; or Judy Granger, 215 W. Summit St., 475-9520.

Responses should be made before June 16 as the committee needs to know by that time how many shirts and buttons to order and how much sheet music is needed.

Former band directors coming are Ed Rima, Bruce Gabraith, Dave Sanborn, Dave Lindsay and Chelsea's very first band director, Gene Shroyer, who is coming from Scottsdale, Ariz.

Chelsea Alumni Band Still Looking for More Members

Chelsea Alumni Band is organizing for the Sesquicentennial, and has received numerous responses so far, including one from 1946, one from 1952, and several from 1956, 1958 and 1960.

Organizers now want to hear from more recent graduates, including former bandspersons still in college.

Letters have been sent to all names available.

Baseball Team Cops SEC Title Share By Defeating Milan

Chelsea's young and hungry varsity baseball team had their final fling at winning a piece of the Southeastern Conference championship in their game against Milan here last Wednesday, and they did the job in a hurry.

The Bulldogs sent 12 batters to the plate in their half of the first inning, and eight of them scored.

Gritty senior pitcher Jay Marshall got into frequent trouble but wasn't about to surrender an eight-run lead as he went the seven-inning distance while giving up eight hits and striking out 10. He was very tough when he had to be.

Marshall had some sparkling defensive help, including a rifle-shot throw from Marty Steinhauer in centerfield to snuff out a Milan rally when it looked like the Big Reds might score a bundle of runs and make a game of it. The Bulldog infield turned two double-plays, one an unassisted gem by third baseman Chris Gallas.

It all added up to a 12-4 win for Chelsea and a co-championship with Dexter, which also ended the SEC season with a 7-3 record.

A very happy Bulldog coach Wayne Welton couldn't say enough good things about his young team which has done better than anyone expected, including the coach.

"Honestly, when the season started, I figured we would do well to finish 500 in the league. We had lost some outstanding players through graduation, we had very little experience, and our pitching staff consisted of two seniors who hadn't thrown much before and three sophomores.

"We've had more talented players, but we've never had one that worked harder to improve or played harder to win. These kids made up their minds that they were going to be winners, and they went out and did it. Give them the credit, not me. I coached them, and I'm proud of them, and I think I taught them some things, but the determination to win came from the boys. That's something no coach can teach."

A combination of hard hitting, adequate pitching and tight defense turned the championship trick for the Bulldogs all season long, and it produced the "must-win" victory over Milan.

Chelsea came out bombing in its first turn at bat, collecting seven hits and benefiting from a couple of Milan errors to push eight runs around the bases. Milan's starting left-hander was supposed to bother the Bulldogs, but they jumped all over him as if they had been seeing nothing but southpaws all season long.

The visiting Big Reds didn't quit, scoring two runs in each of the second and fourth innings to narrow the count to 8-4 and cause some concern among Bulldog partisans.

Chelsea got those back with a pair of runs in each of the fifth and sixth innings to make sure there would be no last-minute miracles by Milan.

Mark Mull paced the Bulldogs with three hits and four runs-batted-in. David Bushway, Gallas, Ron Dunn and Chuck Hager each had two hits. Dunn probably should have had a home run but was ruled out at the plate on a dead-heat call that could have gone either way. As it was, his credited triple knocked in Chelsea's final two runs.

Marshall, meanwhile, was pitching his usual gutty game, getting into trouble and working his way out of it. He threw hard and strong when he had to.

"He kind of scares you, but he wins," Welton noted. "He's 5-0 on the season, and that tells you something. He's an excellent competitor. Give him any kind of a lead, and I'll bet on him to protect it. He rises to the occasion and gets outs when he needs them."

The Bulldogs were helped by the unexpected return to the lineup of senior catcher Rick Boham, who made one of the fastest recoveries on record from a separated shoulder, suffered in a game on May 7.

"Rick came to me in practice this week and told me he was ready to play and had medical permission," Welton related. "I didn't think he could do it but let him work out. He showed me enough that I decided to start him in the Milan game and see how far he could go. He went all the way. He's a real tough boy. He had to be hurting."

With Boham behind the plate, Gallas was able to return to his natural position at third base, tightening up the infield. Evan Roberts shifted from third base to the outfield, where he is more comfortable. It all worked out.

"I'll tell you something," Welton summed up. "A coach can look awfully good when he has a group like this to work with. Regardless of what happens from here on out, it's been a very, very satisfying season. We have accomplished more than I thought possible, and it's the boys who did it, not me."

Baseball Team Wins Two from Western

Following up its victory over Milan that earned a share of the Southeastern Conference championship, the varsity baseball team swept a double-header from Jackson County Western last Thursday, 14-4 and 9-5.

Sophomore Rob Beckwith had himself a great day, collecting six hits in eight at-bats, including two homers. He batted in seven runs, scored seven, stole two bases, and played a fine defensive game at second base.

Down 4-0 at the end of three innings, the Bulldogs rallied to score a total of 14 during the next three frames and close out the contest under the 10-run mercy rule.

Dan Bellus pitched all the way and was tough in the clutch, especially after his hard-hitting teammates gave him the lead.

Beckwith, David Bushway, Marty Steinhauer and Keith Niebauer each had two hits, and Ron Dunn, Bushway and Rick Boham drove in three runs apiece.

Beckwith's four-for-four at the plate and five RBI's paced the Bulldogs to the nightcap victory. Chuck Hager smacked a homer, and Chuck Downer stroked three hits.

Downer started on the mound but had to leave the game in the third inning when his arm stiffened. Mark Mull came on in relief and picked up the win.

The Bulldogs had double-headers scheduled against Brighton and Jackson County Northwest this week before their

Lincoln Dominates Regional Track Meet; Chelsea Ninth

Lincoln put on a dazzling show by scoring what is believed to be a record 150 points in last Saturday's regional boys track meet here. Chelsea was ninth in the 17-team field.

The Bulldogs qualified their 3,200-meter relay team of Tim Bowditch, Eric Green, Kyle Kemish and Scott Cooper for the state meet with a time of 8:17.3, good for second place. All four ran their best splits of the season.

Bowditch got into the state finals by running the 1,600 in 4:34.2 and Gar DeYoe also made it by throwing the discus 133-8, good for third place.

Mark Spayd was fifth in the 300 low hurdles, as was Rob Long in the shot put. Only the first three places qualify for the state.

Spayd had been expected to qualify in both the high and low hurdles, but missed out on both. He just plain had one of those bad days that every athlete experiences now and then.

"I think Mark just got himself wound up a little too tight," Bulldog coach Bill Wehrwein said. "He hardly ever hits a hurdle, but he was knocking them down in both races. His timing was off. It's too bad because he's a fine hurdler, and he deserved a shot at state competition."

Wehrwein was impressed by Lincoln's performance and predicted they will win the state meet if all goes well for the Railsplitter relay teams.

"Lincoln qualified in all but three events, which is remarkable in a regional meet," Wehrwein noted. "They are very strong in the field events, and have some excellent sprinters. Their only weakness is in the distance runs."

"If their relay teams don't make mistakes—like making bad passes or dropping the baton—Lincoln should be state champion."

JV Baseball Team 3rd In Southeast Conference

Chelsea's junior varsity baseball team closed out its Southeastern Conference season with a 17-8 victory over Milan last week to finish third in the league behind Saline and Tecumseh.

The Bulldogs scored 11 runs in the seventh inning to come from behind and win. It was anybody's ball game up to that outburst.

Kevin Maynard was the winning pitcher with relief help from Todd Starkey.

Maynard and Ray Spencer paced Chelsea with two hits and two RBI's each. Starkey had one hit and four walks. Mike Ball, Jeff Larson and Rob Murrell also hit safely.

The team's SEC record wound up at 6-4.

The JV's lost both games of a double-header to Jackson County Western, thanks to one bad inning in each contest. The scores were 9-6 and 11-7.

In the opener Western got seven runs in the first inning without benefit of a hit, using a combination of six bases on balls and three Chelsea errors. The Bulldogs battled back but couldn't get out of the hole. Larson and Kevin Walz pitched for Chelsea, with Larson taking the loss.

Starkey had three hits, including a triple, and Maynard, Ball and Murrell two each.

The second game was somewhat the same story as Western got seven runs in one inning thanks to four Chelsea errors. Ball and Starkey did the pitching.

Spencer had three hits and Steve Wingrove two, including a home run. Also getting hits for Chelsea were Brian Robeson and Steve Whitesall.

"Our inexperience showed against Western," coach Ken Larson said. "In every game we've lost this season (the Bulldogs are 6-8) it's been the result of one bad inning. Otherwise, we have played everybody even or better."

"Every player on the squad got a chance to start at least one of the two Western games. We've got four games left, all non-league, and I intend to give everybody as much chance to play as possible. This team has more potential than its record shows. The boys just need experience."

Freshman Baseballers Split a Pair

Chelsea's freshman baseball team split a doubleheader at Milan to bring its season record to 4-11. The Bulldogs lost, 6-5, in the first game, but came back to win the second, 10-4.

Behind the fine pitching of Randy Hafner, the Bulldogs led for most of the first game. Milan, however, came back to tie in the seventh inning and won it in the bottom of the eighth. Matt Bohlander and Jon Lane led the team with two hits each. Mark Bareis, Jeff Harvey, Jeff Stacey and Matt Steinhauer each contributed a base hit.

The Bulldogs bounced back after the tough loss to win the second contest. Greg Haist got his first win by pitching a three-hitter and helped out offensively by getting two hits. Steinhauer also had two hits. Others getting hits for the Bulldogs were Brian Coy, Matt Kemp and Scott Frisinger.

The freshmen will wrap up their season with two double headers this week at Adrian and Howell.

Spring Baseball Clinic Successful Coach Welton Says

Between 50 and 60 potential baseball players turned out for the annual spring clinic at Beach Middle school on May 19 under the sponsorship of the Chelsea Recreation Department.

"It was a good day," Bulldog baseball coach Wayne Welton said. "We coaches and the players from the varsity team who helped us all had an enjoyable time, and I think we taught the youngsters some things."

"We're building a good baseball program here in Chelsea, and the spring clinic is an important part of the program. Our varsity team has shown this year that we can be winners, and that helps."

Junior High Boys Track Team Loses To Tecumseh, Saline

The Chelsea junior high boys track team lost to Tecumseh, 85-37, last week.

Scoring for Chelsea were Jon Cattell in the two-mile run, Scott Guyor at 800 meters, Paul Hedding in the mile, Junior Morseau in the shot put and 200 meters. Jeff Hackworth and Jeff Marshall in the hurdles, and Rex Marsh in the 70-meter dash.

The boys lost to Saline in the following meet. Scoring points for Chelsea were Cattell, Guyor, Scott Marentay, Morseau, Jim Williams, Dwayne Elkins, David Freitas, Chris Gieske and Alan Beckwith.

Softball Team Beats Willow Run in 'Must' Pre-District Game

Moving on toward a possible state championship, Chelsea's varsity softball team trounced Willow Run, 13-0, on May 15, in a game they had to win to remain eligible for the district tournament.

The Bulldog girls have one more hurdle to clear in order to get into district play, a contest against Pinckney there on Friday.

"We beat Pinckney twice early in the season," coach Charlie

Waller said, "but I certainly don't take them lightly. They are a good, steady ball club, the type that can beat you if you don't play well."

Because of the large number of schools in the district, two pre-qualifying victories are needed to get into the tournament, and Chelsea got one of them with the win over Willow Run.

Beth Unterbrink allowed just two hits while pitching a shutout in a game that was merited after six innings. She will be called on to hurl the show down game against Pinckney.

"We have four fine pitchers, but Beth has come to the top as our best," Waller said. "She has had a superb season."

Joyce Robards and Laura Anderson both had home runs to lead Chelsea's 11-hit assault on Willow Run pitchers. Robards also collected a double and a single. Unterbrink and Joann Tobin each had two hits.

Chelsea Softball Team Wins Five Of Six Games on Long Road Trip

Chelsea's varsity softball team took to the road last weekend in a long trip to southwestern Michigan and Indiana, and came home with five victories in six tries.

Traveling in three vans, the girls were more or less continuously on the road.

"It seems like we never stopped moving," Bulldog coach Charlie Waller said. "We ate and slept on the run. It was very tiring, but it was a lot of fun. We got to see some different country and play some different teams. It was a good experience for everybody, including me."

On Friday, the Bulldogs played and beat Mishawaka, Ind., 3-0, with Beth Unterbrink doing the pitching. That same day they defeated Indiana Penn, 18-4, as Kelly Hawker did the mound work.

On Saturday morning it was on to Michigan City, Ind., for a double-header against Michigan City Roger. Chelsea won both, 16-6 and 18-3. Margie Rawson and Hawker were the winning pitchers.

It was on to St. Joseph for another double-header on Saturday afternoon. The Bulldogs won the first one, 4-0, as Unterbrink pitched her customary shut-out, but lost the second, 4-1, with Tobin throwing.

"We were awfully tired by that last game," Waller commented, "and St. Joseph has a very good team. It wouldn't surprise me if we play them again later on in the state tournament, provided neither team stumbles along the way." Waller hadn't had the time to tally all the score-sheets but said Unterbrink was on "A hitting rampage" during the tour. He was also pleased with the play of Michelle Easton, who caught two games for the Bulldogs.

"Joyce Robards is the best

Softballers Beat Western In Twin-Bill

Chelsea's high-flying varsity softball team buried Jackson County Western last Thursday, sweeping a double-header, 11-3 and 20-0.

Neither game was ever in doubt. The only question in the opener was whether the Bulldogs would open up a large enough lead to end it early under the mercy rule which they didn't. It went the full seven innings, with Margie Rawson the winning pitcher on a two-hitter.

Joyce Robards and Laura Anderson each had two hits, and Beth Unterbrink knocked a home run.

Joann Tobin was the winning pitcher in the five-inning second game, holding Western to one hit. The Bulldogs plated 14 runs in the second inning.

Joyce Robards had three Chelsea hits, and Chandy Hurd, Beth Unterbrink, Karen Wilson, Tobin and Kris Mattoff two apiece.

Softball Team Beats Milan in 12 Innings

It was a "nothing" game so far as Chelsea was concerned, because the Bulldog varsity softball team already had the Southeastern Conference championship locked up, but last Wednesday's game at Milan was a hotly contested dandy nevertheless.

Chelsea finally won it, 5-2, after 12 innings, with Kelly Hawker pitching all the way and holding the Big Reds to just three hits over the span.

The Bulldogs broke the game open in the top of the 12th as Hawker helped her own cause with a lead-off double and scored the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Joyce Robards. Two "insurance" runs scored later.

"It was a tough ball game," Chelsea coach Charlie Waller said. "Milan pitcher Beth Armstrong threw very well, and their defense was excellent. They didn't give us anything. We had to go out and win it for ourselves."

"Kelly Hawker pitched a beautiful game, her best yet. She had to be very good to win." Besides hurling the three-hitter, Hawker also had three of Chelsea's total of six hits, a fine all-around performance.

STANDOUT IN FIELD EVENTS: Gar DeYoe has scored well for Chelsea's track team in both the shot put and discus.

Hard Work Pays For Track Team

The Chelsea boys track team finally tasted victory last week, defeating Milan in a dual meet, 93-44.

"It was very satisfying," coach Bill Wehrwein said. "The boys have worked hard and have improved steadily during the season, and it was nice to have their efforts rewarded with a win."

"I think our track program is definitely on the upbeat, and I'm encouraged by the progress we have made this spring."

Chelsea winners and placers included:

Shot put—Rob Long first, 44-7, Gar DeYoe third.
Discus—DeYoe first 136-3, Long third.
High jump—Eric Green second.
Long jump—Scott Cooper first, 19-5 3/4; Curtis Heard third.
Pole vault—Dan Fenton first, 11-5; Ed Brosnan third.
3,200 relay—Chelsea (Greg Buckberry, Green, Allen Cole, Kyle Kemmish) first, 9:08.9.
100 high hurdles—Mark Spayd first, 15.72.
100 dash—Dave Boote first, 12.26; Scott Miller third.
1,600 run—Tim Bowdish first, 4:38.72; Cole second.
400 relay—Chelsea (Fenton, Boote, Miller, Heard) 48.07.
400 dash—Buckberry first, 54.9; Dan Polens third.
800 run—Cooper first, 2:06.31; Kemmish second, Greg Brown third.
300 low hurdles—Spayd first, 40.37; Miller third.
200 dash—Boote second.
3,200 run—Green first 10:48, Jared Bradley second.
1,600 relay—Chelsea (Spayd, Cooper, Bowdish, Kemmish) first.

Amy Unterbrink of Chelsea, sophomore pitcher at Indiana University, has been selected to the NCAA all-regional softball team.

Unterbrink finished the year with a 24-10 won-lost record and a .437 earned run average. She pitched 16 shut-outs while striking out 298.

Indiana finished third in the Big Ten and did not qualify for the NCAA national tournament.

Six Girls All-League In Softball

Chelsea's league-champion varsity softball team placed five players—Beth Unterbrink, Joyce Robards, Anne Weber, Laurie Anderson and Kelly Hawker—on the all-Southeastern Conference first team. Lori Folcik was a second-team selection.

"It is very satisfying to me as their coach," coach Charlie Waller said. "They are all fine athletes and fine persons as well."

"Naturally, I would like to have seen everyone on the team picked, but to get six selected among the best players in the conference testifies to the quality of our team and our program. To have five picked on the all-league team is unusual."

The Bulldogs were 9-1 in SEC play, dropping a 2-1 verdict to Saline in their only league loss.

Five Chelsea Girls Going to State Meet

Chelsea had five girls qualify for the state track meet from last Saturday's regional held here.

The 3200 relay team of Laura Damm, Stephanie Roberts, Sallie Wilson and Wendy Wolfgang finished second to Grosse Ile with a school record of 10:07.1. Wendy Wolfgang ran an excellent 2:28 anchor leg.

Amy Wolfgang finished second to defending state champion Paulette Bryant of Aquinas in the 300 hurdles with her best time ever, 47.3.

To qualify for the state, to be held in Caro June 2, an athlete must finish in the top three in the regional.

The Bulldogs had some other fine performances in the regional. Sallie Wilson was fourth in the 1,600 with a 5:44. In the same race, Mary Ann Richardson didn't place, but ran her best time ever, 5:53. Amy Wolfgang set a school record with a 1:00.7 400 but was sixth in a strong field.

Laura Damm was fifth in the 800 in 2:31.9.

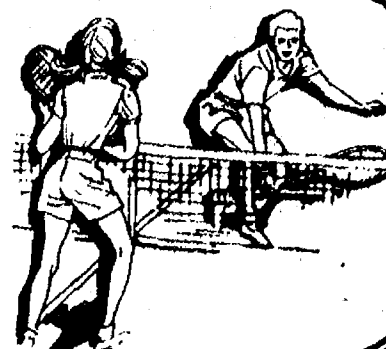

In a disappointment of sorts, the 1,600 relay of Wendy Wolfgang, Carol Warren, Laura Damm, and Amy Wolfgang, top-ranked going into the event, failed to qualify for the state. Despite their all-out effort, their 4:14.4 time was only good enough for fifth place.

The final team standings showed the Bulldogs seventh in the 17-team field with 25 points. Milan won with 80 1/4, followed by Grosse Ile with 73 and Tecumseh third with 65 1/2.

Under the proposed Summer Youth Employment Opportunity Wage program employers are prohibited from reducing the wage rate below $3.35 for youth employed by the employer at anytime during the 90 day period prior to May 1 of each year, according to the U.S. Labor Department.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

There is nothing I can add to the uproar over the decision of the Soviet Union and its satellites to pull out of the summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles. Everything that could possibly be said has been already—many, many times.

Still, I'd like to put in my two cents worth, and will use this space to do it.

Politics and sports don't mix, never have and never will. When politicians intrude upon the athletic scene, you can be sure that something bad is going to happen and that the athletes will be the ones to suffer. Politicians have a remarkable knack for keeping themselves from getting hurt, while others pay the price.

By hindsight, the Soviet decision to stay away from Los Angeles was predictable—a tit-for-tat, let's get even response to our country's boycott of the 1980 summer Olympics in Moscow. That ill-advised political decision was made because the Russians had invaded Afghanistan, an action I don't in any way condone but am kind of glad they took. Afghanistan has turned out to be the Soviet Union's version of Vietnam, a no-win war that has tied down their military forces and kept them from making mischief in other places.

It was, I suppose, inevitable that the Russians would retaliate by deciding to keep their athletes away from Los Angeles. They didn't have a real good excuse, so they invented one—fear for the security of their Olympic team. Yes, there was a tragedy at the 1972 games in Munich, which could and should have been prevented. What the Munich incident proved is that there are a lot of crazies running around loose who will commit horrible crimes to draw attention to themselves. All acts of terrorism are, basically, ego trips taken by people who are out of their minds.

I have to believe that America could have provided security to visiting athletes from the Soviet Union or any other country. If that is not so, then we are in very deep trouble indeed. The logical conclusion would be that nobody is safe anywhere.

The Olympic Games will go on despite the pull-out by the Communist bloc, but their value will be cheapened. Medals won will be tarnished in the sense that some of the world's best weren't there to compete, and that is too bad. Athletes who have been training hard for a shot at Olympic glory will either win cheap or not get a chance to try.

I'm well aware that the spirit of amateurism which is supposed to characterize the Olympics has been badly eroded during the past couple of decades. In this country and every other, professionalism has taken over, to the point where you wonder why the United States doesn't put the Los Angeles Lakers or the Boston Celtics on the court for Olympic basketball. They are the best we have, and the fact that they are being paid to play perhaps shouldn't matter. Just about every athlete above the high school level who is any good at all gets paid these days in one way or another.

If I had been a world-class athlete—and I wasn't remotely close—I would have looked forward to the opportunity to find out just how good I really was by competing against the best from the rest of the world. That is what the Olympic Games should provide, a forum of competition to determine who is the world champion in whatever event. A gold medal won in head-to-head play in an Olympiad entered by all nations would rank as a supreme achievement in sports, an accolade earned by a chosen few.

What really worries me about all this is the fact that the world's two super-powers, which each have the capability to wipe out the earth, can't get together on arrangements to hold a track meet. That has to make you wonder how they can possibly handle some of the really serious problems that confront us all.

Girls Track Team Loses Milan Dual Meet, 71-57

The Chelsea girls track team completed its dual meet season Tuesday with a 71-57 loss to Milan. Despite the score, the Bulldogs had several fine performances.

The 3,200 relay team of Laura Damm, Stephanie Roberts, Sallie Wilson and Wendy Wolfgang cut three seconds off the school record with a 10:15.3, but finished second to Milan's 10:14.

For the second meet in succession, Amy Wolfgang won four events—the 100 hurdles in a season best 17.1, the 400 in 1:02.4, the 300 hurdles in 49.8 and combined with Wendy Wolfgang, Damm and Carol Warren to win the 1,600 relay in 4:24.4.

Debbi Tiff was third in the 100 hurdles and second in the 300's, and Carol Warren added a third in the 400, and the 100. Susan Jaques was third in the 200 with her best time, :28.7.

In the field events, the Bulldogs had seconds from Cris Zerkel in both the shot and discus and Anne Becker in the high jump. Amy Richardson added a third in the shot with a season best 28-8, and Key Bauer was third in the discus.

The distance runners continued to run well. Sallie Wilson and Robin Mock ran 1-2 in the 1,600, Melanie Flanagan and Marla Feldman went 1-2 in the 3,200, and Damm ran a fine 800 but was edged at the tape.

The league season concludes with Wednesday's Southeastern Conference meet at Milan.

Junior High Girls Track Team Defeats Tecumseh

The Chelsea junior high girls track team defeated Tecumseh, 70-53, in a dual meet, there on Monday, May 12.

Combined depth in the distance events with individual first-place efforts in the hurdles and sprints gained the victory.

Celia Murphy set a new school record in the shot put with a first place toss of 27'9".

Shannon Dunn broke the junior high record in winning the 55 hurdles, running :9.77. Dunn is undefeated in dual meet competition in both the 55-meter and 100-meter hurdles.

Andrea Worthing won the high jump and 1,600-meter run, and anchored the winning 1,600 relay team.

Kasey Anderson won the 800 run and the 400 dash.

Chelsea swept the 3,200-meter run as Cathy Barham, Laura Torres and Jennifer Rossi finished 1-2-3.

Other winners were Tonya Grammatico in the 70-meter dash and Tami Harris 200 dash, and Debi Koenn, Alisha Dorow and Laura Torres who joined Worthing on the winning 1,600-meter relay.

Other girls who placed were: Alisha Dorow, second, 400 dash; Meredith Hall, second, 800 run; Heidi Knickerboker, second, 100 dash; Kim Allen, 1,600 run, and Heather Neibauer, third, shot put.

The girls are now 3-0 in dual meet competition and face undefeated Saline Wednesday there, in their final season meet.

Beach Girls Track Team Edges Saline

In a very close meet which wasn't decided until the final relay, the Chelsea girls lost to Saline, 64-59.

The winning 800-m relay team of Heidi Knickerboker, Michaela Scripser, Danica Disbro, and Tami Harris ran a 1:58.47 for their season's best time.

The winning 1,600-m relay team of Debi Koenn, Alisha Dorow, Heather Neibauer, and Laura Torres also ran their season's best time of 4:38.

The 3,200-m run was swept by Chelsea with Cathy Barham, Laura Torres, and Jennifer Rossi finishing 1-2-3, respectively.

Kim Allen, 6:0 and Debi Koenn, ran their personal best times and placed first and second in the 1,600-m.

Tami Harris and Michaela Scripser took first and second in the 200-m dash.

Celia Murphy again took first place in the shot put.

Kasey Anderson won the 400-m dash and placed second in the 800-m run. Meredith Hall placed third in the 800-m.

Heidi Knickerboker and Stephanie Harris placed second and third in the 1000-m.

Tonya Grammatico and Danica Disbro placed second and third in the 75-m.

Placing third for Chelsea was Shannon DuRussel in the high jump and Shannon Dunn in the 100-hurdles.

This Saline meet concluded a very nice 3-1 track season for the Junior High girls. The eighth grade class contains many talented runners who should make a nice contribution to the high school track program.

There were 58 girls who completed the season, and while not all of them were able to place in the meets, they did improve their times significantly, particularly in the weekly team run.

Team members not previously mentioned are as follows: Carmen Albertson, Judy Bareis, Sarah Bentley, Ann Brosnan, Sharon Colombo, Helen Cooper, Suzanne Cooper, Kim Degner, Rebecca Dent, Kim Easton, Anna Harden, Peggy Hammerschmidt, Jennifer Harms, Jeannie Heim, Kim Herrst, Wendy Hunn, Kristi Jachalke, Katie Kelly, Beth Kenney, Jennifer Louis, Kerry Little, Shannon Losey, Carey Marciag, Traci Modrzejewski, Anna Muncer, Stacey Murphy, Karen Paulsell, Sarah Schaeffer, Heather Schauer, Kelly Scott, Ada Tai, Arlene Tai, Alison Thornton, Calissa Tucker, Debi Urbanek, Laura Unterbrink, Lisa Unterbrink, Kenyon Vosters, and Andrea Worthing.

THIS IS A MOREL: The morel season has been a little late this year, because of the cold spring, but it's come on in strong following recent warm, rainy weather. This is a specimen of morchella esculenta, the so-called white morel, which is fruiting in abundance right now. In a week or so, the giant thick-footed morel, morchella crassipes, which is also white, should be showing up. It has been reliably estimated that there are more morel hunters in the spring in Michigan than there are deer hunters in the fall.

Whitmore Lake Pike Must Be at Least 30"

It doesn't show in the 1984 edition of the Michigan Fishing Guide and therefore may be unenforceable, but the fact is that the minimum size limit on northern pike allowed to be caught from Whitmore Lake has been raised to 30 inches.

The state-wide legal minimum for pike is 20 inches, unless otherwise prescribed by special order.

"We raised the limit on Whitmore Lake (which is located in Northfield township about 10 miles north of Ann Arbor) to protect a population of tiger muskellunge that we are trying to establish there," Department of Natural Resources district fisheries biologist at Jackson explained.

"Most people can't seem to tell the difference between pike and tiger muskies, and the muskies have to grow to at least 30 inches (the minimum size limit on the species) before they mature sexually and spawn."

The tiger muskellunge is a hybrid, a cross between northern pike and Great Lakes muskellunge. The resulting offspring look something like a pike, but are different enough so that anyone who is really interested in trying can readily distinguish between the two.

"Thirty inches is probably too high a limit on pike," Dodge admitted. "It means there won't be many legal pike taken out of Whitmore Lake this season because there aren't very many that size. A 30-inch pike is a big one, an older fish. A 30-inch tiger muskie is still a youngster just reaching the adult stage."

"If we could get fishermen to sort out and put back the under-30-inch muskies, while keeping pike, we wouldn't need the 30-inch limit on pike. Experience has taught that, in a heavily fished lake like Whitmore, you can't count on anglers to know and observe the difference."

Dodge added that he, personally, believes the general 20-inch minimum size requirement for pike is too low, and suggested it should be raised to perhaps 25 inches. "At 20 inches a northern pike is still a hammerhead, too small to be worth much as a trophy or food. Pike don't really start to grow and put on weight until after they pass 20 inches. By the time they reach 25, they are big enough to be worth keeping and taking home."

"The 30-inch limit on muskies is realistic if we want to get natural reproduction. What we really need is for fishermen to learn how to differentiate them from pike."

Whether an arrest made for taking pike under 30 inches from Whitmore Lake will hold up in court is problematical. Judges have ruled in the past that any regulation not printed in the Fishing Guide passed out with licenses cannot be enforced because of the rule of law which requires prior notice.

Applications Ready For Manchester Arts, Crafts Show

Manchester Art Guild announces that applications are available now for the annual Manchester Street Fair, scheduled this year for Saturday, Aug. 11.

The event includes a host of activities besides the exhibition of arts and crafts on historic Main St. A pancake breakfast and 10K run begin the day and a street dance closes the festivities.

An application is required for all those who wish to exhibit on the street, whether vendors, artists, or craftsmen. Contact Pat at 428-9302, Maureen at 428-9286, or Bonnie at (517) 456-7569; or write the Manchester Art Guild, Box 4, Manchester 48158.

The proposed Summer Youth Employment Opportunity Wage applies to youth under the age of 22, from May 1 to September 30, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

VERSATILE: Amy Wolfgang does a lot of things for the Chelsea girls track team. She runs both the high and low hurdles and the 400 meters, and is a member of relay teams. She had four first places in last week's Saline meet. Here she's crossing the finish line all by herself.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

The only real problem I have with getting older is that friends die, and every time one of them does I lose a little piece of my own life which has been enriched by the experience of having met and gotten to know many exceptional people.

Nick Prakken died last Wednesday. I suspect that many readers knew him. As manager of the Ann Arbor district of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. for 36 years, he was "Mr. Telephone" in these parts, the man you called when you had a phone problem and he would do something about it. He was active in civic affairs, including the Washtenaw United Way, the Kiwanis Club, the Presbyterian Church and a whole lot of other volunteer endeavors.

I will remember him as the nicest guy I have ever known.

Nick and I were hunting buddies over a lot of years and, next to marriage and family life, there perhaps is no closer relationship. Actually, we were two-thirds of a trio that also included the late Leo Haner, about whom I wrote when he died in the fall of 1982.

Leo was the best field marksman with a shotgun that I have ever seen in action. He was our peerless leader, and Nick and I were his followers, ordinary mortals who missed a lot of easy shots but had the good humor to laugh at our comparative incompetence.

Nick was the man who did far more than his share of "playing dog" when we were beating the brush in search of pheasants or rabbits. He was big and strong, and didn't mind busting the heavy cover to flush targets for Leo and me to shoot at. In fact, he invariably volunteered to do it.

Not until I had known him for a lot of years did I find out that every step he took pained him. He had two "football knees," the legacy of injuries suffered back in the days before modern techniques of "repair" surgery were known. He walked on crutches during the last years of his life. I can't begin to guess how many hundreds of hunting miles he put on those damaged knees, but it was a bunch. He never complained or quit early, even though he was hurting.

The three of us maintained a small pack of beagle hounds, which Nick kenneled at his home on Wagner Rd., west of Ann Arbor. Leo and I bought the dog food and paid the veterinary bills, but Nick did the dirty work of feeding, exercising and keeping the kennels clean. He had the raw end of the deal but, again, he never complained or even suggested that any, other arrangement might be made.

Like me, Nick was an in-and-out shot who had his good days and bad days. He handicapped himself by shooting a tight-choked 20-gauge shotgun which demanded that the pattern be right on target with little or no allowance for error in pointing. "I just like that little gun," he explained to me once when I asked him why he didn't equip himself with the type of variable-choke 12-gauge smoke-poles that Leo and I carried. "I'm used to it, and I'm comfortable with it. I really don't care whether I shoot anything or not. It's just great to be out there hunting."

On many a day during the fall and winter hunting months my office phone would ring late in the afternoon, and it would be Nick. "Bill, can you get away from work a little early? Let's go out and hunt for an hour before dark. The dogs want to run, and we might as well go along with them."

There were many, many such excursions, often followed by an invitation to dinner. (I was a bachelor during several of those years.) Nick and his wife, Jerine, were especially gracious in sharing their home and hospitality. When we got married, Vivian and I tried to make up the debt, but we never came close.

During more than 20 years of hunting together, a lot of memorable things happen, and I could write a full page of stories involving Nick Prakken. I'll tell just one.

It was a pheasant season opener and Nick, characteristically, had offered to walk to the end of a long cornfield to "block" while Leo and I came through with the dogs. Standing there, Nick spotted a cock running out to the side and into the weeds along a power line, and took off in pursuit.

He flushed the pheasant within range and pumped three shots from his 20-gauge with no visible result other than to make the bird fly faster. With gun empty, Nick watched as the rooster crashed head-on into a utility pole and dropped dead with a broken neck. He picked the bird up, held it aloft and proclaimed: "I didn't hit it, but I sure scared it to death!"

I'm the last alive of that hunting threesome, and it bugs me in a way. I was many years younger than the other two and so could reasonably expect to out-live them both and have. What hurts is that you don't find replacements for friends and companions like Leo Haner and Nick Prakken.

So long and happy hunting, Nick. You were a very special man. I'll see you and Leo one of these days, and we'll get together again in a field where all the birds flush and fly straight, and you can't miss, even with a 20-gauge.

Computer Camp Available Through County 4-H Office

Washtenaw county youths can attend a 4-H computer/natural resources camp July 15-20 at Kellogg Biological Station (KBS), near Battle Creek.

"The camp is an excellent opportunity for young people without previous computer experience to learn basic computer programming," says Sara Aldridge, Washtenaw county 4-H youth agent.

Another feature of the camp, this year is an introduction to natural resources through visits to the KBS bird sanctuary and forest. Waterfront recreational activities will also be available.

A few spots are still open for the camp, which is designed for 30 to 40 youths 12 to 14 years old. A $50 deposit is due June 10.

For applications and more information, contact Aldridge at the Washtenaw County Cooperative Extension Service office, or call 973-9510.

Boys Track Team Loses Close One to Tecumseh

The Chelsea boys track team came close to its first dual meet victory of the season on May 8, but lost out to Tecumseh, 66-70, by losing the final mile relay event.

On May 11 the Bulldogs lost to a good Saline team, 57-80. "We're improving," coach Bill Wehrwein said. "The kids are working hard and doing better all the time. It's been a discouraging season because we haven't had a win, but the boys haven't quit trying. We have a basis to build a good, competitive track team."

Against Tecumseh, the Bulldogs established a healthy point lead in the field events, but lost it on the track because of a shortage of depth in the sprints and hurdles.

Chelsea placers included: Shot put—Scott Long first, 44', Gar DeYoe third.

High jump—Scott Cooper first, 5' 4".

Long jump—Cooper first, 18' 5", Dan Fenton third.

first, 41.3, Scott Miller third. 200 dash—Dan Fenton third.

3,200 run—Allen Cole second, Lee Riemenschneider third.

Attached to the balloons was a slip of paper with a name which appears to be "Amy Cheagh," although the writing wasn't clear because it had been washed by rain. There was no address.

"I found the balloons and the piece of paper on May 15," Drew said. "I don't have any idea how long they had been there. It would be interesting to know where they were launched and how long ago."

Chelsea did not fare too well in the regional meet on Friday but managed to get three points and come out ahead of Riverview and Monroe Jefferson.

JV Softballers Run Victory Streak to Nine on Four Wins

Chelsea's junior varsity softball team has won nine straight games and is a steadily improving ball club.

On May 4, the JV Bulldogs crushed a solid Brighton team, 9-2 and 14-4. Pitching and good defense kept pressure on Brighton in both games.

Sophomore Chris DeFant was the winning pitcher in the first game, striking out 10 batters.

"Chris was impressive," said coach Bill Wescott. "She threw hard and had great location. Chris is an extremely good athlete and she didn't let us down."

Chandy Hurd and Karen Weber led Chelsea's offensive attack with two hits each.

In the nightcap freshman pitcher Pam Brown allowed only five singles and went the distance, striking out four Brighton hitters. Cathy Burkel smacked two triples and a double to spark the offense.

"Cathy really hit the ball hard," Wescott said. "Her contribution picked us up at a time when we needed it."

On May 3, Chelsea blasted Tecumseh, 42-4. Pam Brown was the winning pitcher. Chris DeFant relieved in the last inning. Infielders Jenny Cattell, and Karen Weber each had three hits to pace the attack.

On May 2, Chelsea notched its first shutout of the year, hammering Milan, 22-0. Chris DeFant dominated the Milan hitters, striking out 12 of the 15 she faced.

Jeffrey Morgan, son of Samuel and Nancy Morgan of 12900 Trinkle Rd., Chelsea, won a $750 scholarship awarded by Stanhome, Inc., of Westfield, Mass.

The Chelsea High school senior qualified on the basis of his college test scores, grades, biographical information and secondary school reports. He plans to study auto diagnostics or business marketing.

The 26-year-old Stanhome, Inc., scholarship program has awarded over a half million dollars to nearly 1,000 children of Stanhome Associates.

Student Council Plans Car Wash

On Saturday, May 26 the Chelsea High School Student Council will sponsor a car wash at the main branch of the Chelsea State Bank on the corner of Main St. and Orchard.

The car wash will go from 12 noon until 2 p.m. and will be used to raise money to help the York Woods Foundation. This foundation is a group run by the State of Michigan to try to raise money to help build a new children's center onto the York Woods Center that would provide a freer atmosphere for the children with severe emotional problems that the center serves.

This fund-raiser, one of several Student Council community service projects, will be a good way for concerned citizens not only to support a worthy cause but also to get a clean car for only $2.

OLE TIME DANCE: At "Wild Woolly Town Tamers Ole Time Dance" Friday, May 11, at Chelsea Fairgrounds Service Center, the "dashing" Keystone Kops have slyly approached the three Petticoat Junction Belles, Gloria Mitchell, Ann Merkel and Linda Longe while Scott Otto concentrates on the ladies who have just been arrested. The Keystone Kops, Jamie Bollinger, Steve Robbins, Reuben Lesser, Jr. and Dave Elsele observe in a timid manner.

CHS Senior Steve Ramsey Joining U. S. National Team

Chelsea High school senior Steve Ramsey has been picked to participate on a United States National Swimming Team that will be competing in Italy for four weeks this summer. Steve, the son of Chelsea residents, Jane and Dan Ramsey, was invited to participate on the team along with 15 other male and female swimmers from the United States. The swimmers are drawn from all over the U.S., some as far away as the state of Washington.

Steve will be leaving June 23, and return July 21. His travels will take him initially to New York, and then on to Milan, Italy. From Milan he will be going to Rome, Florence, and Venice. During the time in Italy they will be involved in many cultural activities including visiting art exhibitions in Florence and gondola rides in Venice. There will also be many social engagements with swimming families from Italy.

The trip will include two work-outs each day in various 50 meter swimming pools, and four international swimming competitions. When asked about why he wanted to participate, Steve was quoted as saying, "It is a once in a lifetime opportunity that I just could not pass up." He also said that when he talked to his dad about the trip his dad became very excited about his son's opportunity.

Steve will be graduating from Chelsea High school this June. He is presently the holder of five varsity records on the Chelsea swim team. He has won four varsity letters and was voted this year's most valuable swimmer award by his teammates. Steve has been recruited to swim by a number of colleges. He has decided that he will be attending Oakland University next year. Steve feels it is a fine academic institution and their swim team was runners-up in the NCAA Division II national championships last March.

Gym Transformed Into Royal Castle For Senior Prom

For four hours on Saturday, May 12, Chelsea High school was the site of "The Royal Ball."

The candle-lit driveway and awaiting valet attendants added realism and a touch of class to the junior class efforts.

Entering the transformed school, the guests began an enjoyable and enchanted evening in a castle setting. The entrance hallways with a copper knight and furnished atrium area truly conceived the interior of a royal castle. The many hours of work and effort put into decorating the school were seen in the ballroom ceiling and surrounding archways and curtains.

The junior class presented a first by having an ice sculpture in the form of a glass slipper on a cushion.

The evening's progression was marked by the hourly changing of clock hands and striking of the gong.

The live music was provided by "Influence" and seemed to be enjoyed by everyone.

Becky Finch was crowned queen and David Steinhauer king, chosen by popular vote of students attending the prom.

Family Practice Center Offers Stress Management Class

The subject of stress management has received a lot of attention lately. "We all know we are stressed in our daily lives," states Glenn Burdick, psychologist at the Institute for Psychology and Medicine in Ann Arbor. "However, many people do not realize that whether stress is positive or damaging depends on how they have learned to deal with it. There are a variety of techniques for harnessing the emotional and physiological forces within all of us. Anyone can learn these and direct stress into positive channels."

Stress is normal and everyone experiences symptoms as part of their natural "fight or flight," or emergency system. Although these symptoms may be uncomfortable, they are part of being alive. "They can even be useful in many situations," continues Burdick. "People need to learn how to manage stress; not eliminate it."

A special session on stress will be sponsored by the Department of Family Practice at the University of Michigan and the Institute for Psychology and Medicine. It will be taught by Burdick and Dr. Morris Moore, a family physician at the University of Michigan.

Burdick and Moore will discuss the psycho-physiological aspects of stress along with information on recognizing stress and responding to it effectively.

Stress management techniques will also be discussed.

The session is free and open to the public. It will be held Wednesday, May 30, from 8-9:30 p.m. at the Institute for Psychology and Medicine at 3200 W. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Pre-registration is requested by calling 994-4288.

SESQUICENTENNIAL BOOK: Arthur Dils, (left), owner of Typographic Insight, and Bill Nuffer (right), President of BookCrafters, proudly display the cover of Chelsea's Sesquicentennial book as it comes off the presses at BookCrafters. The book chronicles the first 150 years of Chelsea's history.

Sesqui Book Will Be Ready For Sale on Memorial Day

Friday in the vast pressroom of BookCrafters the covers of "Chelsea's First 150 Years" began rolling off the press. The event was attended by two community leaders who are sharing in the production of the Sesquicentennial book—William Nuffer, president of BookCrafters, and Arthur E. Dils whose firm, Typographic Insight, set the type. Both men are founding members of the Chelsea Civic Foundation. Dils is also chairman of the board of Chelsea Community Hospital and secretary of the Board of Education.

Printing and binding of the book is expected to be completed this week and book sales are scheduled to begin on Memorial Day.

The book begins with a brief history of the village which was originally known as Kedron. There are also reminiscences covering the past 25 years extracted from year-end summaries in The Chelsea Standard. Additional chapters in the book present historical and current reviews of area churches, schools, the community hospital, the fire and police departments and the McKune Memorial Library. Also featured are the district court, the office of the secretary of state and the post office.

A list of Chelsea's war dead will be printed for the first time ever, and there will also be a list of local Centennial Farms. Both lists will be the subject to expansion and correction as they are republished in future years.

Dexter Township Board Split on Appointment

The appointment of a deputy supervisor at last week's Dexter township board meeting caused board members to question the legality of the act.

Township supervisor Arlene Howe, in a late added agenda item, appointed Raymond Dhue as Deputy Supervisor.

A motion was made by Doug Smith to delete the item. Smith explained that the board had not been given sufficient time to review the appointment. The motion was seconded by Jim Drolett.

Howe denied the motion and appointed Dhue to the post.

Both Drolett and Smith charge that this was a flagrant misuse of power as well as rejection of the rules of order by which the meeting is conducted.

Mrs. Howe's term of office is up this year. Jim Drolett is the only announced candidate thus far in the race.

According to Smith, "Arlene appointed Dhue to give him a head start as supervisor. She's trying to select her own successor. If she's gone, he'll chair the meetings and get visibility. She knows she doesn't need an assistant. She hardly spends any time now as supervisor. She's very hard to get a hold of, and you only get a recording when you call and if you're lucky, she may call back in a couple of days."

The motion was passed, however, to pay Dhue $6 per hour for his services.

Productivity increased at a 2.9 percent seasonally adjusted annual rate in the first quarter of 1984 in the business sector, reflecting a 10.3 percent increase in output and a 7.2 percent increase in hours of all persons engaged in the sector, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Village Denies Permit For Two-Family Dwelling

Acting as the Zoning Board of Appeals, the village council has denied a request for a variance so that Robert Penskar of 4380 Musbach Rd. could build a two-family dwelling on a vacant lot at 625 W. Middle St.

The 9,866-square-foot lot is 134 short of the 10,000-square-foot minimum prescribed by the zoning ordinance, and lacks a little more than five feet of having the required 80 feet of frontage.

The six council members present, including president Jerry Satterthwaite, voted against granting the variance. Several neighboring property owners voiced objections to allowing the deviation.

Penskar had earlier asked permission to build a three-family apartment on the lot. When that was turned down, he came back with the proposal for a two-family unit.

The property is zoned for single-family residence only, and the council decided to stick to the letter of the zoning ordinance.

No building permits for new housing in Chelsea have been issued during the past four years.

In another action the zoning board of appeals granted permission to Stephen Hantula of 419 Railroad St. to build an 18-foot two-car garage closer to his property line than the zoning ordinance allows.

The law requires a five-foot setback from the side property line. Hantula was authorized to go ahead and build 3.9 feet from the line. Hantula testified that his next-door neighbor had no objection to the encroachment.

Council's Bill Payment Procedure Questioned

Rosemary Harook raised a question at the May 15 village council meeting, asking why copies of the list of bills authorized for payment are not made available to the public.

The list is provided to members of the council but not to anyone else. It is routinely adopted without discussion or comment on a motion that "we pay the bills."

"I would like to know what bills we are paying to whom and what for," Ms. Harook said. "These are our tax dollars that you're spending, and I think we are entitled to know where they are going."

Village president Jerry Satterthwaite responded, "We used to have the list of bills read at each council meeting before we adopted it, but we gave that up because it took too much time."

The list is on file in the village office and is available for inspection after the fact of adoption.

Copies of agendas for council meetings are supposedly provided for members of the public who attend the meetings. There usually are not enough prepared copies so that everybody can have one.

Other documents which the council is to consider are not provided, even though they are public records. Repeated requests by a Standard reporter to be given the same advance packet of papers prepared for the trustees have been ignored, although specific documents have always been made available when asked for after the meetings.

Council OK's Fund For Industrial Park

The village council has voted to establish an Industrial Development Fund in order to maintain a separate account of all money spent and received in connection with development of the Sibley Rd. industrial park.

In a related action the council voted to transfer $19,500 from the village electric fund into the new fund, to get it going.

Also owed to the electric fund is the $139,000 borrowed from it last year to buy the 70-acre industrial park site.

The council voted to borrow another $65,470.92 from the electric fund for the new landfill revolving fund.

All monies loaned from the electric fund are supposed to be repaid at current bank interest rates, which are presently about 10 percent, village administrator Frederick Weber said.
