Computer Process Helps '84-85 Course Registration

With the school year drawing to a close, school course registration for next year was in full swing last week at Chelsea High. The school's media center was a hive of activity as students in grades 9-12 attempted to put their schedules together.

Principal John Williams explained Chelsea's scheduling system to us. The system is designed to accommodate students in the easiest, most practical way possible. "Although our initial process is more complex, it allows us to offer students more flexibility in their schedules," said Williams.

Williams began working on next year's course registration in February. At this time students were asked to complete forms requesting classes they're interested in taking during the 1984-85 school year. These requests were then tallied on the school's computer system and analyzed by Williams, who used this information to determine, by student demand, what courses would be offered, and how many sections of each were necessary to meet this demand. This process weeded out classes with fewer than 15 student requests, as Williams stated it is not economically feasible to offer a course with so few students interested.

One week before registration, students were given tentative schedules based on their February choices. Williams said about 50 percent of all students keep their original pre-registration schedules. Those who needed to make course changes were required to bring their original schedule to registration.

The actual registration process was broken down by grade. Next year's seniors were first to schedule, followed by juniors, sophomores, and finally incoming freshmen. Students within each grade were then alphabetically chosen by last name initial from a lottery to determine their scheduling time.

Students must take six hours of classes unless they are on a work study or co-op program. Work study allows a student free time during the day to take additional classes at higher education institutions such as the University of Michigan or Jackson and Washtenaw Community colleges. Co-op students gain actual on-the-job work experience while still attending school part time.

Chelsea High school is oriented towards college preparatory education, with between 60 and 65 percent of all graduating seniors going on to two or four year colleges. Williams pointed out that although college prep courses are popular, vocational education courses are always in demand as well among the school's 750 student population.

The partly computerized system Chelsea has adopted seems to be working well for Chelsea High school. "With a system such as ours, we can resolve conflicts on the spot, before the students' schedules are run through the computer for finalization. This gives the students a choice in their schooling," noted Williams.

Youth Groups Are Selling Sesqui Book

The Sesquicentennial Commemorative Book is now being sold by various youth groups from the community of Chelsea. These groups, which include Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, 4-H clubs, Chelsea Champs, Future Farmers of America, and the Spanish Club from Chelsea High school, will receive half the sale price of the book. The book is selling for $3.

For further information about book sales and distribution, contact Marcia Quilter in the afternoon or evening at 475-9523.

Retirees Honored With Dedications

When principals Al Conklin and Syl Wojciecki together with teacher George Prinzing retire, they will be remembered long afterwards with the dedication of school facilities in their names.

The Chelsea Board of Education unanimously passed a resolution at its meeting on May 21 to dedicate school facilities to honor the three men who have served the school district for a combination of 81 years.

Beach Middle school will dedicate its media center to Conklin, citing his 32 years of service in the Chelsea school district as teacher, coach and lastly, principal. Conklin probably spoke for Wojciecki and Prinzing when he said, "I'm extremely pleased and couldn't think of a nicer way to be remembered. I'm proud to have my name associated with a center of learning."

The media center at South Elementary school will honor Principal Wojciecki, who has served the school district as an administrator for 20 years.

Social studies teacher George Prinzing will have Chelsea High's auditorium dedicated in his name. Prinzing has been a teacher with Chelsea schools for 29 years.

Superintendent Van Meer said the recognition for all three men came because of their "many years of outstanding service" in the school district.

Plaques bearing each honoree's name, title, and years of service will be placed in the three buildings. No dedication services will be held as the men were given their plaques at retirement dinners held earlier this month.

Dog Needed For Role In 'Annie'

"Annie" needs a dog. Imagine it; the lights, the costumes, makeup, autographs, the fans, being the top bow-wow!

Area dog owners and lovers are encouraged to bring their pooches to the "Sandy" audition set for Monday, June 4 at 9 p.m. in Chelsea High school auditorium. At the auditorium, director Foreman, will have the dogs do a little dance, sing part of "Tomorrow" and recite a passage from "Hamlet."

This could be doggie's big break! Benji started somewhere! Give your canine Caruso a chance to be in a musical. The show can't open without a dog.

Public Hearing Set On 11% Tax Increase Sought By Village

A .91-mill increase in the village property tax rate had been projected to meet the $997,300 general fund budget earlier adopted by the Chelsea board of trustees.

A public hearing has been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 5, for comments on the proposal, which represents an 11 percent boost in the taxes that property owners will pay to keep village government running.

That measures up against an inflation rate of about five percent and a budget which allows no pay increases for village employees except for a selected few.

Administrator Frederick Weber, who drafted the budget and came up with the numbers calling for the tax hike, was out of town on business all last week and unavailable for comment.

If the tax increase goes through, Chelsea property owners will pay an additional 91 cents for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. Assessments supposedly reflect 50 percent of cash value on the current real estate market.

The village is presently levying 8.75 mills out of a legally allowable 12.25. The new tax, if approved, would bring the rate to 9.66.

Earlier, Weber had predicted that taxes would have to be jumped by somewhere between half a mill and one mill to meet the costs of the budget for the fiscal year which began March 1. He was in the ballpark, but just barely.

For the average Chelsea homeowner, with an assessed valuation of $30,000, the proposed increase would put about 27 more dollars on the tax bill. Individual jack-ups will vary according to changes in assessed values.

The increase can be imposed without a vote of the people. In that sense, the June 5 public hearing is a formality. So long as the 12.25-mill ceiling is met, village officials can do whatever they want to in terms of taxes.

Weber has defended the higher village budget as being necessary to replace a depleted end-of-the-year balance, put the landfill fund on a self-supporting basis, and get a vehicle and equipment revolving fund into motion.

The changes are supposed to save money in the long run, but they will cost more this year—11 percent more.

Community Ed. Dept. Gears Up for Summer Activities

The Chelsea Community Education Department has sent out its latest brochure listing recreation and educational programs for the summer of 1984.

A wide variety of activities are offered, including a summer preschool program, swimming for everyone from infants to adults, and fitness conditioning programs.

For those who like to shake things up a bit, Beledi, or belly dancing for beginners, is also being offered this summer.

The Waterloo Farm Museum, located three miles west of Waterloo, is offering a variety of unique educational and craft-related activities. Some of these include a basic wine making class, a Shaker fruit basket workshop, and a traditional rug hooking course. Students will learn the traditional method of rug making which began in Nova Scotia and New England in the 1800's.

The recreation department also gives Chelsea and surrounding area residents the opportunity to purchase tickets to Cedar Point, Sea World, Kings Island and Bob Lo Island amusement parks at a discount. Community Education director Jaclynn Rogers requests that you call before you pick your tickets up.

If you have not received your Chelsea Community Education brochure detailing this summer's events by this time, please call the Community Education Department at 475-9830.

Downtown Development Plan Meeting Draws 60 Persons

Sponsors of the Chelsea downtown redevelopment plan, aimed at revitalizing the central business district, took a cautious step forward last week during a meeting at Chelsea Community Hospital called by the Chamber of Commerce.

"I wouldn't say that we accomplished anything concrete," said William J. Bott of Citizens Trust, "but we did get 60 people out and I think we cleared up a lot of misunderstandings."

The comments were generally favorable after people heard the explanation of the plan and looked at the visuals (schematic drawings). I think there is a more positive attitude toward the plan.

"It was important that we had some visual presentations for people to see. I think everybody now has a better understanding of what we are talking about."

Bott and Mark Heydlauff, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's downtown development committee, are the prime movers behind the proposal.

The downtown development plan, drawn up by the Ann Arbor firm of Johnson, Johnson & Roy, calls for making Chelsea's business district a more attractive and pleasant place to shop.

"I think we're all agreed, generally, that we have to take some of the traffic off Main St.," Bott said, "especially trucks. We've had a meeting with a representative of the Michigan Department of Transportation, and we have another one scheduled."

'Annie' Will Make Area Premiere

Chelsea Area Players are the first group in the entire Ann Arbor-Chelsea-Jackson area to present the new musical-comedy, "Annie." The Tony award-winning show closed on Broadway less than two years ago, making it the newest musical ever produced by the group.

Presenting an area premiere is nothing new for director Douglas Foreman. His U. of M. groups were the first in southeast Michigan to produce "Pippin," in 1978 and "Grease," in 1981. He is especially excited about "Annie." "When you're the first group to do a major show like this, you immediately gain an

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

If Josh Clodhopper hadn't gone to town looking for a pair of shoes last week he would of been as quiet as usual at the country store Saturday night. But Josh was so worked up about what progress had done to feet till he started talking at the opening bell.

Josh said he allus orders his high tops out of the catalog, and he ain't needed Sunday slippers in 15 year. He said he never wears out dress up shoes, but his old lady gets tired of looking at em onct a week after so many years. The last time she took him shopping fer' shoes the store didn't have a blessed pair in his size that he could git resoled and repleed.

What got Josh excited was that the store he went to had some shoes with leather soles, but none with strings. Some you zip up the side, he reported, some had a elastic band that dug in the in-step, and one style stayed on by sticking two strips of fuzzy stuff together. Josh allowed that any shoe you can't tie ain't worth the name, so he is still looking.

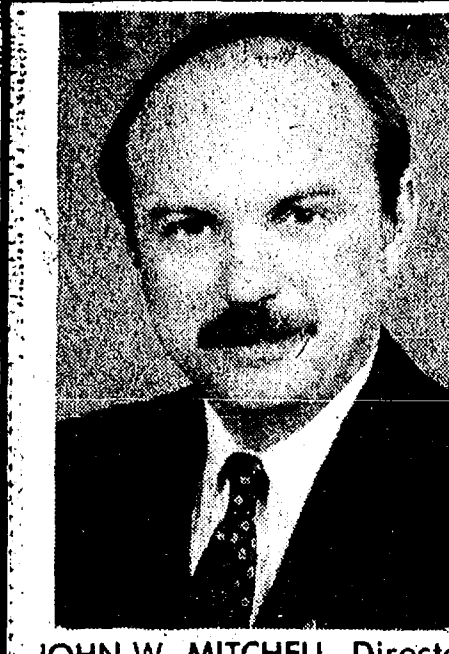

The fellers were as interested in Josh's speech as they were suprised by it. Clem Webster said we allus look for a easier way, and all Josh found out is that handi has hit shoes. It don't work ever time, Clem said, like it didn't with telephones where you see who you're talking to, but new ways, usual are better ways. A child that never learns to tie a shoe don't lose any more in life than one that never knowed how to build a fire in a wood stove to heat water to thaw and prime a hand cranked pump in the back yard on a freezing morning, was Clem's words.

Ed Doolittle said one set of skills ain't never been enough to last a lifetime, and he, fer one, was not lamenting the old as much as welcoming the new. A child that don't know the big hand from the little hand can git better time from a digital clock, Ed declared, and long multiplying ain't even a skill compared with computing. Ed said he had saw recent where a feller could type 400 words a minute, and he had beat a machine that types copies of lette's automatic. This expert, Ed said, would be as much help in a modern office as John Henry the steel driving man would be with a track crew today.

Progress can be wonderful, Bug Hookum said, but the wonder is learning to handle it. He had saw where streamlined services bankfired fer a New York bank. It told customers that had less than $5,000 in the bank they'd have to deal with a machine because human tellers cost too much to waste on piddling accounts. The little people were insulted, Bug said, and there were more of them than the bank wanted to lose, so the idee was dropped.

Contrary, Bug went on, he had saw by the paper where a robot named RM13 and a unidentified

Task Force Recommends Use of Checklanes for Drunk Drivers

The use of "sobriety checklanes" on a trial basis as a device for cutting down on the number of drunken drivers was unanimously recommended to Governor James Blanchard and the Legislature by the state's Drunk Driving Task Force.

State Police Director Gerald Hough, also a member of the commission, said he will discuss the proposal with the executive office before the State Police takes any action on setting checklanes, but he hoped to have checklanes in operation by late summer or early fall.

The recommendation calls for the State Police, the University of Michigan Traffic Research Institute and the Office of Highway Safety Planning to evaluate the use of checklanes, reporting to the task force monthly, with a final report to the group by March 1, 1985.

And debate around the issue centered not on the merits of the checklanes, which has been the subject of much contention, but on how the recommendation should be worded.

Under the proposal adopted, the task force, "in concert with the 1983 Presidential Commission on Drunk Driving, the National Transportation Safety Board and the National Commission Against Drunk Driving, supports using experimental, temporary sobriety checklanes on a trial basis."

The checklanes would have to be operated within the definitions and policies that the task force's Law Enforcement and Adjudication Subcommittee—which proposed the checklanes—had already adopted.

Those procedures include establishing checklanes where previous alcohol arrests have occurred, establishing visible sites, stopping all traffic to check the drivers for signs of intoxication and asking drivers suspected of intoxication to perform certain tests.

Ingham County Prosecuting Attorney Peter Houk, who chaired the subcommittee, said he did not think the State Police needed any additional legal authority to impose checklanes.

However, Hough said he felt it was "good business" to talk with the executive office before establishing checklanes.

For the task force to get a final report on the use of checklanes by March, those lanes must be established by fall, Hough said.

Local law enforcement agencies were specifically not included in the recommendations, so the State Police checklanes will be the first.

Hough said he did not know where the checklanes would be established, although he said the department's computer-designed state accident profile could help establish where checklanes would be most needed.

The checklanes have been the subject of controversy for several months. Houk and others had studied the possibility of using checklanes last summer prior to the Labor Day holiday but held off for further study.

Proposed checklanes have been opposed by a variety of people, charging they would unconstitutionally infringe on privacy rights.

The representative of the attorney general said after the meeting he expected the state would be sued if checklanes are established.

Another major recommendation adopted by the task force calls for legislation allowing administrative licensing sanctions, under which the Department of State could suspend a person's drivers license for operating while under the influence taking the power away from the courts.

The courts still impose criminal sanctions such as incarceration, fines or alcohol treatment.

Under the proposal, persons found operating a car with an alcohol level of 10 percent or greater could have their license suspended a minimum of six months, with the possibility of a restricted license for the final three months.

Persons refusing to take a blood alcohol test would lose their license for a minimum of one year. Already, 18 states have some form of administrative sanctions in place.

Course Offered In Safe Home Food Preparation

A course of help families who are growing and preserving more of their own food is being offered by the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service beginning June 14.

In a series of six workshops, the Master Canner Program provides 18 hours of training and practical experience in the fundamentals of all aspects of food preservation, including freezing, drying, pickling, jam and jelly making, water bath canning and pressure canning. Instructors are extension home economists from Washtenaw, Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties.

Each participant will prepare and take home a sample product for each method and learn how to assure quality products without loss from spoilage or danger of food poisoning.

As part of the course, participants will be asked to pledge 10 hours of community service to spread canning information.

Community service options include staffing booths at farmers' markets, fairs or supermarkets, giving talks or demonstrations, staffing extension's canning drop-in center or helping answer phone questions at the extension office.

Master Canner certificates will be awarded to those who complete the course and requirements.

The daytime class meets from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. three and one-half consecutive Thursdays, June 14 through July 5. The evening class meets from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. for seven consecutive Thursday evenings, June 14 through July 26.

A course fee of $25 covers the cost of a reference notebook and supplies. Advance registration is necessary. Class size is limited to 12. Call 973-9510 or write Co-operative Extension Service, 4133 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor 48107 for more information or to register.

Rita Drouare, T. Crawley, Jr., Are Wed in St. Mary's Church

Rita Patricia Drouare and Edgar Thomas Crawley, Jr., exchanged wedding vows on Saturday, May 19 at St. Mary's Catholic church in Chelsea.

The Rev. Fr. Phillip Dupuis officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

Rita is the daughter of Mrs. Harold A. Drouare of Grass Lake and the late Harold A. Drouare.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar T. Crawley, Sr., of Dexter.

The maid of honor was Rochelle Drouare, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Kim Crawley, sister of the bridegroom and Jacqueline Drouare, niece of the bride.

Best man was Ronald Crawley, brother of the bridegroom. Serving as ushers were Karl Stander and Hugh Etzel.

The newlyweds are both graduates of Michigan State University. Both are employed by the Hughes Aircraft Co. in Long Beach, Calif.

After a honeymoon motor trip through northern California, the newlyweds will make their home in Long Beach, Calif.

Wedding guests arrived from as far away as Maryland, Virginia, Florida, Ohio, California and Arizona.

The wedding reception was held in Freedom Township Hall.

Chelsea Child Study Club Installs New Officers for Fall

Forbidden City Restaurant was the setting for the Chelsea Child Study Club's spring dinner and installation of officers.

Members enjoyed a social hour before being served a wide variety of delicious oriental dishes. Fortune cookies and jasmine tea completed the meal.

During the brief business meeting, the secretary, Louise Likovec, presented her annual report. Charlene Roberts reported on the formation of a Belles Group. We will be the CCSC Belles with Charlene Roberts as president, Ruth Dils as treasurer, and Garl Feldman as secretary.

Shirley Chapman installed new officers at the installation ceremonies. She ended it on the light side with a poem by Edgar A. Guest on committee meetings.

Thank-yous were made to all of the 1983-84 officers and committee persons. New committee assignments were announced by the 1984-85 president, Roberta Cobb.

The next meeting of the club will be in September with the annual picnic.

Botanical Gardens Preparing Monthly Lobby Sale Items

Friends of the Matthaei Botanical Gardens will hold their monthly lobby sale on Saturday and Sunday, June 2-3, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the gardens, 1800 N. Dixboro Rd., Ann Arbor. Items available will be selections of indoor plants, stationery, books on herbs, and related items.

The outdoor trails are beautiful this time of year. Come out and walk the trails, tour the conservatory and shop at the lobby sale.

The educational and interesting exhibit in the lobby for the month of June will be "Fun With Plants for Children." A hands-on exhibit is set up for children, demonstrating visual, smell, texture, and taste experiences with plants and plant products.

Docents are at the gardens for guided tours during the week. Please call the gardens, 764-1168, for reservations.

The garden grounds are open from 8 a.m. to sunset. The inside exhibits are open from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. seven days a week.

Chelseaites Will Lead Tour Of Cranbrook Art Academy

The Washtenaw County Historical Society 1984 bus tour will go to Cranbrook Academy of Art in Bloomfield Hills Saturday, June 16, and will be led by Cranbrook alumna Flora Burt of Chelsea.

a.m. at Maple Village shopping center on Maple Rd. just north of Jackson Rd. Ann Arbor, with return by 5 p.m. The tour will cost $25 per person. Prepaid reservations are due Friday, June 8. To register, call 662-6275 or 663-6826.

The program will include an introductory slide show, walking tour and box lunch on the grounds of the 300-acre educational community founded by the late Detroit News publisher, George G. Booth and his wife, Ellen Scripps Booth, daughter of the paper's founder.

The Booths invited Finnish architect Eliel Saarinen to move there with his family in 1924 to develop the academy. The architect brought in the already famous Swedish sculptor and pupil of Rodin, Carl Milles.

Cranbrook is currently the subject of an exhibition, "Design in America: The Cranbrook Vision 1925-50" at New York City's Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Bus boarding will be at 8:45

I've noticed an unpleasant odor near my drainfield. What's the best thing to do?

Spring rains put an additional load on your sewage disposal system—that is—your septic tanks and drainfield area. If a system is going to fail, it will be more noticeable now as the soil becomes more and more saturated.

The foul odor coming from your drainfield may be a sign of a failing system. Toilets that back up, drains that won't drain, and a drainfield area that becomes puddled are also signs of a drainfield system with problems.

If you have noticed a foul odor, think about the following:

—Have you had your septic tank pumped by a licensed septic tank pumper in the past 3-5 years? (Pumping helps to reduce the amount of solids that enter the drainfield and clog the soil.)

—Have you installed water conservation equipment to toilets, shower heads, dishwashers and clothes washers? (These devices limit the amount of water going to your disposal system and in some situations, can work to prevent a failure.)

Since sewage disposal systems get continual use, it's important to maintain them regularly. You can extend the life of your system and avoid inconvenience if you follow an on-going maintenance schedule. Maintenance is much less costly than replacement.

For additional information, please call the Health Department at 973-1488 or 994-2492, and request a copy of the pamphlet, "You can have a trouble free sewage disposal system."

Your Health Options appears monthly in this paper. If you have a health related question, please write to this paper, Attn: Your Health Options, or directly to the Washtenaw County Health Department, Health Education Office, Box 8645, Ann Arbor, MI 48107.

Young Adults Confirmed in Our Savior Lutheran Church

Four young adults received the Rite of Confirmation and became members of Our Savior Lutheran church in Chelsea on Sunday, May 20. They are Bruce R. Dresselhouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dresselhouse of Chelsea; Bradley G. Hochrein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Hochrein of Dexter; Anna L. Muncer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Muncer of Chelsea; and Scott M. Westphal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Westphal of Chelsea.

All four completed an intensive two-year study program, taught by the Rev. Franklin H. Giebel and Mrs. Albert Ruhlig, learning about the church and its teachings.

Red Cross Annual Meeting Slated at Chelsea Hospital

To the Brewery Belles From the Salmagundy Girls:

As garotas ds time Salmagundy gostariam de fazer uma pequena correcao no que diz respeito as ar-tigos sobre a jogs de softball entre os times: Brewery Belles e Stud Finders VS. As garotas Salmagundy e as garotas do Waterloo Lilies.

Um pequenos erro forcan as leitoras a serem que a time de Brewery Belles/Stud Finders ganharam apenas por em ponto, quando na realidade nem chegaram perto.

I juiz ds time das Salmagundy/Waterloo chegou a uma contagem de 24-13; embora Breweries fossem as vencedoras, um pequenos errs mostrou um resultados de 24-23, que na realidade nas aconteceu.

I time das Brewery Belles nas concordaram com o resultado, e acham que a contagem certa devonio ser 22-10.

As Brewery Belles insistiram que nos retratasse-mos publicamente pels errs cometido, entas aqui vai, we're sorry.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore.

The longer I live, the more I like spring. Autumn used to be my favorite season, but it's a time for dying and I'm not ready to do that yet. Spring is a period of rebirth, when the world comes alive again after lying dormant through all the bitter months of winter. I come alive along with it.

For me, spring arrives in many ways. The grass greens up, trees leaf out, flowers bloom, and wild birds and animals show up all over the place. Spring is a big burst of natural energy, a sign that the ecosystem will work if you let it.

I've had a lot of enjoyment watching deer, rabbits, raccoons, opossums and various smaller creatures run around in my backyard. Although by no means an expert on birds, I have identified more than 30 different species that came to my feeder or perched in my trees, and some of them—robins, cardinals, doves, bluejays, house sparrows, tree sparrows, song sparrows, goldfinches—are making their nesting homes near me.

The daffodils and tulips have bloomed, the peonies are about to, and the dandelions have run riot on my lawn. I have decided to accommodate to dandelions. They are just as pretty as daffodils; last longer, and are much easier to grow. You can't kill a determined dandelion, no matter what kind of poison you put on it.

Scientists who understand the probable consequences of a nuclear war have predicted that cockroaches would inherit whatever might be left of the earth. I have a hunch that dandelions would be there, too. Both are indestructible.

Spring means fresh asparagus, my favorite vegetable, and a little later on, fresh strawberries, my favorite fruit. After a winter of eating the poor-quality shipped-in substitutes for those two table items, the advent of good stuff is something special, a time to be glad and rejoice.

You can smell spring. I smelled it last week after I mowed my lawn and then sat on the back porch inhaling the pungent odor of fresh-cut grass.

You can see spring. Every day is different as nature hurries to start another cycle of life.

You can hear spring. The calls of birds and the mating cries of frogs and toads resound in the ears of even a slightly deaf person like me.

You can touch spring. The feel of the dirt as you dig it up to plant something as your contribution to the annual renewal is a special experience.

You can taste spring. The asparagus, strawberries and other goodies have a delicious flavor that lasts for only too short a time.

All of this may seem far removed from the usual subject matter of the Clock Tower column. Normally, I try to zero in on some serious issue or problem.

At this time of year it's hard to be serious. There are too many good and fun things going on out there. These few precious weeks are to enjoy, take a new lease on life, and be happy without worrying over-much about weighty matters.

The problems will still be there when summer comes and you have to face them, although some may have solved themselves in the meantime. It's remarkable how many supposed difficulties clear up if just left alone for awhile.

My View from the Clock Tower tries to be a big and broad one, encompassing the scope of the village of Chelsea and the surrounding countryside. There are plenty of weeks ahead to be serious. For now, I suggest that everybody relax and enjoy the spectacle of spring while it lasts.

Local Gasoline Weight Tax Rebates Increased

Reflecting the turn-around in the state's economy, gasoline sales in Michigan are increasing for the first time in more than 4½ years.

"Consumption has gone up even though more fuel-efficient engines and lighter-weight cars are giving motorists better mileage than ever before," said State Transportation Director James P. Pitz.

"This is a good indicator of business activity in the state, and of growth in personal travel for both business and pleasure," he said.

The number of gallons sold in the six-month period ending March 31 totaled 1,790,000,000, a 7.26 percent increase over the 1,669,000,000 sold in the comparable six-month period a year earlier. A four percent increase in the last three months of 1983 ended a run of 18 consecutive quarters during which sales were less than for the same quarter of the previous year.

Washtenaw county's first-quarter 1984 share of the state gas and weight tax allocation to local units was $1,641,043.82, up from $1,352,584.29 a year ago.

Jackson county received $1,373,109.97, compared to $1,110,981.57 a year ago. Village allotments included:

Chelsea, $26,638.53; Dexter, $12,235.23; Grass Lake, $9,936.40; Manchester, $15,022.39; Pinckney, $11,611.16; Stockbridge, $8,690.88.

The village shares were up about 25 percent over a year ago.

Informative Tours Set for Industry Day

Have you ever asked yourself, how do they do what they do at the Chelsea Milling Co.? How does it feel to test drive a vehicle at the Chrysler Proving Grounds? You can find the answers to those questions and more during the Chelsea Sesquicentennial Celebration.

Industry Day, scheduled for Tuesday, July 3, along with Agriculture Day, will provide the public the opportunity to tour the Chelsea Milling Co. and Chrysler Proving Grounds, in addition to BookCrafters and Dana Corp.

Chelsea Milling, established in 1878 and the home of Jiffy Mix, will be open for three hours with three tours scheduled to begin promptly on the hour from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. First shown is a slide presentation explaining the company's history, extensive milling and packaging operations, ingredients used (the majority of which are from Michigan) including the testing process, variety of mixes produced and sales and shipping which encompasses all 50 states and various foreign countries.

Every tourist is allowed to sample one of the 18 mixes manufactured before beginning the walk through tour. There is one flight of stairs to climb initially so be prepared. At the end, each person is given a box of mix and a cookbook of Jiffy Mix recipes.

Cadillac Pioneering Use of Microwave Landing System

Operation of the world's first unrestricted, full public-use microwave landing system at Wexford County Airport in Cadillac is more evidence of Michigan's effort to stay at the forefront of aviation development, according to Gov. James J. Blanchard.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) notified the nation's pilots recently that the new system is fully operational, signaling a major advance in aviation technology.

"The advantages of microwave systems make them more practical for smaller airports and provide one more inducement for attracting new business and industry to those areas," the Governor said. "I am pleased Michigan is in the forefront of using new technology to improve aviation—and business. He noted that the use of business aircraft has increased in Michigan in recent years while the number of other general aviation aircraft declined slightly because of the recession.

The FAA says microwave landing systems will gradually replace the instrument landing systems that have been the world-wide standard for precision landings for some 40 years.

Chelsea Milling has the capacity of manufacturing one million boxes of mix per day making it the largest prepared mix operation in the world. Shirley and Lynne Roskowski, the mother and daughter tour guide team, explained that "Chelsea Milling, owned by the Holmes family and based entirely in Michigan, provides a family atmosphere all its own which is reflected in the tours." A special touch is provided which really makes you feel welcome.

From 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Chrysler will provide two air-conditioned, restroom equipped buses for touring the Proving Grounds. One bus will be located in the downtown Chelsea area and the other at the fairgrounds. Both will have tour guides utilizing an on-board public address system.

During the tour, which lasts approximately 45 minutes, you will be chauffeured around the endurance roads, tortuous roads, various grades and curves; you will view the skid-traction facility and end up on the six-lane, five-mile, high speed oval test track.

Bill Mitchell, personnel manager at the Proving Grounds, said "These tours will show the public the extensive testing capability of Chrysler which provides us the opportunity to engineer and produce 'Best in Class' quality vehicles."

Microwave technology increases the safety margin for both landings and take-offs in poor weather and can be installed at airports where hilly terrain prevents use of instrument landing systems. Microwave systems also are far less expensive to operate, since they can be monitored and maintained by remote controls making use of telephone lines.

The new microwave landing system at Cadillac cost $350,000, with the state and the local airport authority sharing the cost equally.

Additional systems will go into operation this spring at Sturgis and Bellaire. The current National Airspace System Plan calls for installation of 1,250 microwave systems in the United States by the year 2000. There are currently about 680 instrument landing systems operating nation-wide.

The first English Prince of Wales later became King Edward II.

APPRECIATION TEA: Karen Koch (left), president of the PTN for the last three years, serves punch to Appreciation Tea guests Sally Proctor, Jennifer Koch, Becky Booth and Julie Koch last week.

PTN Tea Honors Volunteers

The PTN (Parent Teacher North) held its annual Appreciation Tea on Thursday, May 17. Approximately 190 invitations were sent out as the PTN attempted to include all parents, teachers and friends of North school who have supported the numerous project undertaken this year.

Karen Koch was recognized by the PTN and the North school staff for her dedication and service as president of the PTN for the last three years. A flowering cherry tree was planted in the school courtyard in her honor, and she received a gift certificate for two for dinner.

North school principal Bob Benedict bid farewell to guests as his last year at the school comes to a close. He presented VIP (Very Important Parent) certificates to parents who have supported the school this year.

The Appreciation Tea was the culmination of a very busy and productive year for the PTN. Programs sponsored by the PTN were the Bucket Brigade, Math Lab, the Talent Show, Bob Benedict Day, a monthly newsletter, the handbook, open house, absentee calling, t-shirt sales and a monthly t-shirt contest.

PTN projects for the year were the flower bulb sale, the Young Authors Book, the Medieval Fair, the beautification of school grounds, the Christmas Bazaar and the erecting of a spiral slide.

This year the PTN purchased computer software, a video recorder and television, a large screen for the cafeteria, teaching tools for each grade, and paint, shrubs and flower bulbs for the schoolyard. It also contributed $800 toward the purchase of a spiral slide, $300 toward art showcases, and $300 for school assemblies next year.

Much of the credit for this year's success was due to the support given by the Chelsea community for its response to the flower bulb sale. This project will be sponsored by the PTN again this fall.

The PTN is anticipating another exciting year under the leadership of Clara Smith, president, Sybil Booth, vice-president, Kathy Kentala, secretary, Carol Smith, treasurer, and Karen Koch, advisor.

National Asparagus Festival Slated in Oceana County

The 11th annual National Asparagus Festival will be held in Oceana county, June 7-9, to focus public attention on one of the state's leading agricultural crops. More than 50% of the state's asparagus is grown in Oceana county, and Michigan ranks third in the nation in production of this vegetable.

Festivities will include the Asparagus Royal Parade at 2 p.m., Saturday, June 9, in Shelby, featuring dignitaries, queens, bands, floats and equestrian units. Serving as Grand Marshal of the parade will be Edie Acton, marketing specialist for the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association (MACMA), an affiliate of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Also on the festival agenda will be an asparagus luncheon from 11:30 to 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Shelby Congregational church and an asparagus smorgasbord from 5 to 8 p.m. on Saturday at the Shelby High school cafeteria. The asparagus "cook-off" is scheduled for Saturday at the Village Hall in New Era.

Reigning as "Mrs. Asparagus" during the festival and during the coming year will be Barbara Schultz of Shelby.

PLACES 25th: Beach Middle school seventh grader Steve Radant has once again made his mark in the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics (MCTM) sponsored state-wide mathematics competition. Radant placed 25th out of 200 seventh graders across the state who participated in the state level testing. Radant had previously placed in the top three of his grade to advance to regional competition, and did well enough there to advance to the state level. He placed in the top 25 state level competition last year as well.

David Cooley Named to DeVry Honor Society

David L. Cooley, of 14000 McKinley, Chelsea, has been named to the Presidential Honor Society at the DeVry Institute of Technology in Columbus, O.

To be eligible for the prestigious honor, students must have a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.5 (out of a possible 4.0) after two terms of study. Cooley, a student in the Electronics Engineering Technology program, has a 3.9 GPA.

Seniors' Prom Is Great Success

It was an evening to remember for Chelsea senior citizens. On May 19 the first Senior's Prom was held in the Beach Middle school cafeteria.

According to many of the 135 people who attended, the 7 to 10 p.m. time slot just did not leave enough time to wear out their dancing shoes.

The theme of the dance was "Moonlight and Music," and the band, "Shades of Blue," did their best to create the necessary atmosphere.

The dance was sponsored by the Chelsea Lions Club. Many Lions members and the Little Darling Belles worked on the decoration committee, which transformed the cafeteria into someplace special for the event. Decorations were donated by the Chelsea High school class of 1985.

For the month of May, we have chosen one of our three crew chiefs, Ruth Klinge, as our honored crew person. Ruth's smile can be seen on the A.M. shift since she rises before the sun to go to work. She travels from Gregory where she resides with husband Brian and two children, Chad and Tiffany.

Originally from Defiance, Ohio, she worked at the McDonald's Restaurant there for eight years before moving to Michigan.

She received the Crew Person of the Month Award there as well. We're lucky to have Ruth as she is a highly conscientious, extremely responsible, hard-working individual. She is not only well liked by crew and management but customers also! Keep up the good work, Ruth, we're glad you're with us!

Area Youths Will Travel To Denmark, Switzerland

Two area students will travel to exotic countries this summer as part of the Youth for Understanding International (YFU) Student Exchange Program.

Kyle Kemmish, son of James and Rosemary Kemmish of N. Lima Center Rd., and Rebecca Lee, daughter of Richard and Elizabeth Lee of Hay Rake Hollow, are winners of a Chelsea Hospital sponsored scholarship which will allow the pair to travel to Europe for two months.

The students were selected to participate in the YFU program on the basis of academic achievement, personal maturity, quality of responses to essay questions, personal interviews, and volunteer and/or employment activities.

Lee, a junior at Chelsea High school, is one of approximately 1,200 American YFU students who will leave in June to spend two months with a host family in a foreign country. She will live in Denmark during her stay.

School activities which helped Lee obtain her scholarship include being a member of the swim team, flag corps, band, Student Council, National Honor Society and high school musicals. She plans to attend college and earn a liberal arts degree.

Kemmish, a Chelsea High school junior, will visit Switzerland for two months. His extracurricular activities include being a member of the school's marching band and jazz bands, cross-country and track teams, and the explorer group. Kyle plans to attend college and study engineering.

Youth for Understanding's purpose is to encourage a deeper appreciation of world cultures through first-hand experience in a home atmosphere.

Since 1951 when Youth for Understanding was initiated, over 100,000 students have had the opportunity to visit other cultures and sample another way of life. YFU offers host family living experiences in Europe, the Far East and South America. Students are chosen to stay for two months during the summer, or for the entire school year.

Pinckney Area Youth Completes Navy Recruit Training

Navy Seaman Recruit John P. Mousseau, son of James R. and Carolyn V. Mousseau of 10503 Hickory Dr., Pinckney, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

Hats off to the Lions for putting so much effort into the "Senior Prom" for the senior citizens. I attended the gala affair with my mother, Florence Walker.

It was really a spectacular thing. The decorations, corsages, food, music and fun was surely the best. I'm sure that it brought lots of memories of past proms, back to many people.

Thanks to the gentlemen who were there to ask the ladies to dance. One lady told me it was the first time she had danced in 50 years. I'm sure it made her evening.

Congratulations to all the people involved for their time, effort and talents.

I certainly hope that the Lions make a repeat of the event next year.

HOW IT USED TO BE: Horse-drawn wagons are almost a thing of the past, but Chelsea pre-schoolers were treated to a ride behind a team of Belgian draft horses at the McCalla farm last week. The children were the guests of Rod and Kathy Powers. A picnic at Veterans Park followed.

Missing Quilt Found After Three Years

It was a case Sherlock Holmes would have liked. Kathy Clark, of 475 Glazier in Chelsea, solved her "mystery of the missing quilt" last week, in all places, a laundrymat, the scene of the crime.

Three years ago Clark went to the same laundrymat to do her weekly wash. As she hurried to finish this unwelcome chore, she accidentally left her two sons' hand-made quilts in the dryer. When she discovered the quilts missing, she went back to retrieve them, only to find them missing. No one at the laundrymat had any idea where they had gone.

Her sons were "heartbroken, because the quilts were their favorites," said Clark. In time the incident was chalked up to misfortune and forgotten.

On May 23 everything came rushing back to Clark when she saw a woman folding a quilt in the same laundrymat. She stared at the woman folded up her quilt. "That's my quilt!" she said aggressively. The woman, Lisa Scott of Chelsea, was totally taken aback, so Clark hurriedly explained the situation.

Scott had purchased the quilt at a garage sale during which the owner told her it had been hand-made by her grandmother. Clark said the quilt was indeed hand-made, however, it was specially made for her by a woman in Ann Arbor who has since moved and left no forwarding address.

Scott graciously agreed to sell the quilt back to Clark for $30 dollars, which covered the amount of her original purchase.

"My kids are thrilled to have at least one of their quilts back," Clark noted. The quilt is easily recognizable because of its Lone Star design.

Clark is now trying to track down her other quilt, which may still be in the Chelsea area. She has some leads and hopes to recover the other quilt soon.

Antique Quilts Sought for Display

area-wide respect. This means new interest from people, new auditions, patrons, resources, plus renewed interest from people who may have drifted away from the group; in all, a helpful spot in the arm.

Auditions begin tonight (May 30) and run through the weekend. According to Foreman, "At auditions we're looking more for effort than anything else. If someone's trying, who cares if they trip a dance or hit a wrong note on the song they bring in?"

Auditions are open to the public and are, according to people who have been through them before, "well organized, yet relaxed" in tone. Auditions: Wednesday, May 30, 7:30 at the Chelsea High Auditorium, a general information and sign-up meeting. Thursday and Friday, 7:30, general auditions. Call backs are on Saturday, June 2 and Sunday, June 3.

Chelsea Area Players are hoping for a large audition turn-out for their biggest production ever, "Annie." For more information, call 475-7414.

Michigan Dairyman Appointed To Serve On National Board

Elton R. Smith, Caledonia dairy farmer and vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has been appointed by Secretary of Agriculture John Block to serve on the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board. The Kent county farmer has served as president of the Michigan Farm Bureau since 1964.

The 36-member board will administer the national dairy promotion program funded by the mandatory 15¢ per hundred-weight deduction on all milk marketed, which was part of the dairy compromise legislation passed by Congress in 1983. Smith, the only Michigan representative on the board, was appointed for a two-year term.

The board will hold its first meeting on May 30 in Washington, D.C.

Why Enroll Your Child in North Lake Co-Operative Preschool?

- Our teacher has 22 years of preschool teaching experience.
- North Lake curriculum has been carefully planned over the last 12 years to prepare your preschooler for school in a relaxed and enjoyable way.
- Your child may choose from an extensive collection of educational toys and games.
- We have a playground designed for the unique growing needs of your preschooler.

- We have a large collection of indoor toys for developing your child's large muscle groups.

- Our teacher has time to spend with your child individually. All the clean-up chores and organization of weekly art, science, and cooking projects are done by co-op parents.
- The ratio of children to adults is 5 to 1, ensuring that your child gets individual attention from participating teacher assistants.
- There is a field trip committee which plans out-of-school trips as well as special in-school visitors.
- We are conveniently located.
- We use the philosophy of positive reinforcement when solving discipline problems.
- Your child will be given many opportunities for free expression and choosing, tempered with practice in self-discipline (standing in line, taking turns, and sharing).

Our program scheduling has become more flexible to meet the needs of busy parents in the community. Your 4-year-old may attend any combination of the 8 available class periods. Three-year-old classes are Tuesday and Thursday mornings with additional classes available at the discretion of the teacher.

In response to the changing needs of our community, we offer two membership options:

- CO-OP: A majority of our families choose to be co-op members by assisting the teacher in class and helping run the preschool.
- NON-PARTICIPATING: Offered to families who want the advantages of a co-op preschool, but do not opt to assist the teacher or help run the school.

Challenges

Greased Watermelon Football Game

The Carriages challenge the Swiss Miss to a greased watermelon football game at Half Moon Lake on June 16, 1 p.m. The Swiss Miss have accepted the challenge.

Euchre Tournament

The Knights and Belles of the Knight are issuing a challenge to a euchre tournament to the Party Tyme Beaus and Belles and the Salmagundy Girls and their beaus. It will be held at the K. of C. Hall, Friday, June 1. Doors open at 7:30, games start at 8 p.m. There will be food and drink available. Come and join us in the fun. Please RSVP by May 25 to: Roxie, 475-9538, Ellie, 475-1491, Barbara, 475-1169.

Brewery Belles Brag!

The Brewery Belles are No. 1. Our enthusiasm can't be beat so please come out and join our fun but be warned we have yet to meet defeat. Accept these challenges if you dare bring your members one and all, the times and dates are still in the air so please give our chapter chairman a call.

Our challenges are: June 9, volleyball game against Jiffy Belles; bowling against Swiss Miss; canoe race and canoe swamp against the Studfinders.

Tiddly Wink Tourney

The Prairie Belles, being a group of snappy ladies, have challenged the Wolverine Wildcats, the Salmagundy Girls and the Royal Rural Rooster Rooters to an eventful evening of Tiddly Winks.

The Tiddly Wink Tournament, which may prove to be a test of stamina and agility for many of the ladies involved, will take place on Wednesday, June 6, at 8 p.m. at the Wolverine Lounge.

Volleyball Game

Ricardo's Rowdys hereby challenge the Waterloo Lillies to the game of volleyball. This hilarious event will take place on Saturday, June 9 at 5 p.m. at the Foytik home, 1400 Liebeck Rd. "Bring the Sodbusters to add some cheer, for Ricardo's Rednecks will be right here."

Tricycle Race

The Swiss Miss have challenged the Sweet Nothing Belles to a tricycle race which was held at St. Paul church parking lot. The Swiss Miss team was winner with average time of 2:13. Following in a close second was the Sweet Nothings with a time of 2:26.

Waterloo Chapters Plan Fun Filled Day on Mill Pond

Waterloo Sodbusters and Lillies issue a challenge to all chapters on June 16 to race from the west end of the Waterloo Mill Pond to the east end on anything that floats without a motor, manned by no more than two persons. Also, we will be challenging all chapters to a log roll and an innertube. (King of the Mountain.) Each chapter may have no more than two floating entries and a total of four persons per chapter per event.

This fun-filled day in Waterloo will also include games for children, a wiener roast, a tour of downtown Waterloo and a grand finale of an old fashioned evening of dancing in a corn crib with your favorite sweetheart.

More details as they become available so watch for flyers and local newspaper. If your chapter should have any questions concerning any challenges or other events, please call Brian Leisinger, 475-8075, Ted Fortner, 475-8110, or Chris Hasenkamp, 475-3293.

Antique Articles Sought for Display

Chelsea Senior Citizens are still looking for antique articles to display in merchant's windows. For more information call Cecile Bernath, 475-2781, or Rita Collins at 475-2798.

Make Plans Soon for Trip To Tiger Tilt

Persons interested in attending the Detroit Tigers-Milwaukee Brewers baseball game in Detroit on June 24 as members of a Chelsea sesquicentennial excursion group should make reservations and payment by June 1.

"Because the Tigers have gotten off to such a terrific start, tickets are in short supply," said Ruth Leach who is co-ordinating the outing. "If two buses and 90 tickets aren't going to be enough, we need to find out early so we can make additional arrangements."

The price for the game and round-trip bus ride is $16 per person. Payments may be made to John Yelsik at Chelsea Hardware, Joe Merkel at the Wolverine or Ruth Leach at Accent on Travel.

Bathtub Race

Rub-a-Dub-Dub Men and/or Women in Bathtubs! The Musketeers and DLB's challenge all comers to a bathtub race to be scheduled on a Saturday or Sunday in June. Contact Debbie or Eltia Borders, Jr., to arrange details.

We are so sorry to see that the Keystone Kops who are supposed to have the strength and courage to uphold the law, are actually chickens when challenged to a simple little football game by the Musketeers.

Pretty Young Things Win By Whisker in Pie Eating Contest

Pierce Park was the scene Friday for a fierce battle between the Petite Prairie Belles and the Pretty Young Things. The challenge was a pie eating contest. Each girl had her own chocolate cream pie and five minutes in which to eat it. There were five girls on each team.

For the PYT were Heide Knickerbocker, Shannon DuRussell, Linda Laiier, Kelli Stump and Deanna Zangara.

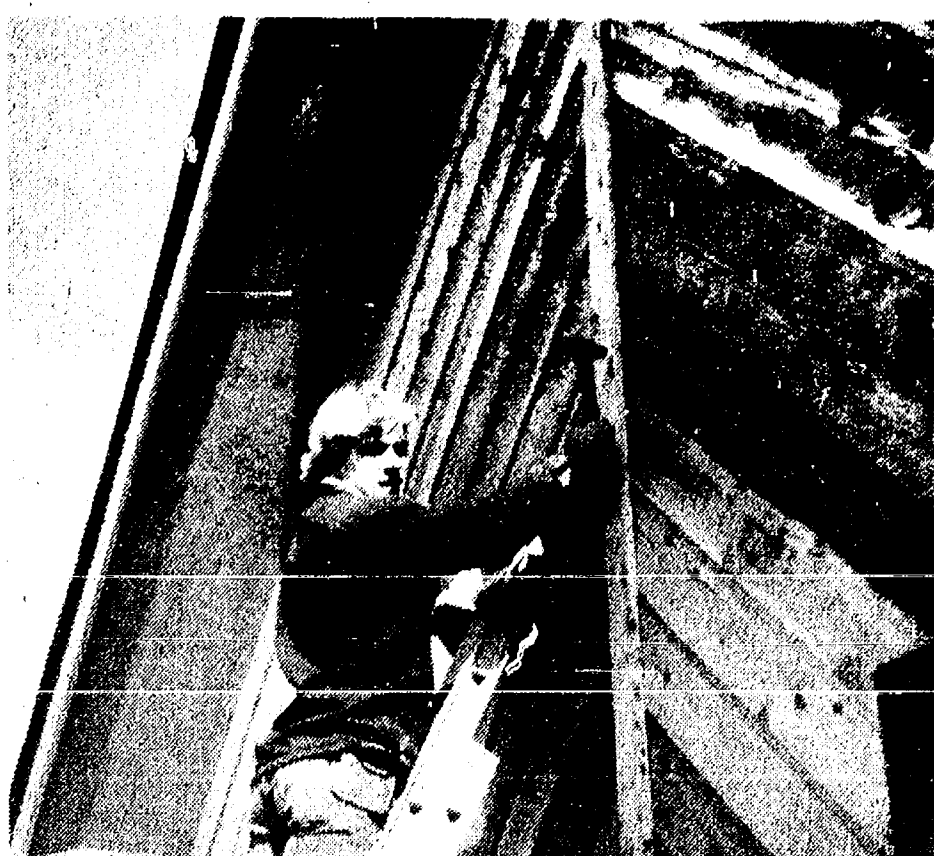

For the PPB were Angela Myers, Michelle Smith, Sheri Myers, Kim Easton and Kelli Kantan.

The PYT's won (just barely) and a good time was had by all.

We would like to thank Mike Bristle, of the Keystone Kops for judging our contest; Dr. Mike Smith for furnishing pop for all contestants after the challenge, and Georgia Myers for furnishing the 10 chocolate pies.

Fashion Show Clothes Needed

July 3, at 7:30 p.m., Ladies Day, the Charming Belles and Jr. Belles will be modeling clothes from the 1800's and early 1900's. A brief narration will be given on each garment. Anyone willing to loan old accessories, children's and adult clothing, to be modeled or displayed, please contact Eleanor Maurer, 475-1766.

THE FINAL STAGES: Tim Folsom, a Chelsea High student, pounds a few more nails into the ranch style house he's worked on during the school year. The house will be put up for sale soon.

WORKING HARD: Chelsea High school students Martin Boote (top) and Steve Fleishmann put the finishing touches on the house they and other junior and senior students built as part of the South and West Washtenaw Consortium Building Trades Vocational Program.

Building Trades Class Completes Ranch Home

Students from Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan and Saline schools rightly take pride in the construction of their recently completed house. The students are enrolled in the South & West Washtenaw Consortium Building Trades Vocational Program—one of 15 vocational programs available to students in the five-district consortium.

The ranch style house constructed by students, is the result of year-long work by senior and junior students, an active advisory committee, and the instructor Greg Briggs. The house features a "Great Room" with cathedral ceiling and fieldstone fireplace and is a three-bedroom and two-bath structure. With many years of experience as home builder and teacher (Dexter High school), Briggs is proud of the students' work and the quality construction of this house.

An Open House will be held Sunday, June 3 from 12 to 4 p.m. Interested buyers should take this opportunity to tour the house and talk to the young builders. The house is located three miles west of Saline in a spacious subdivision, directly off Noble Rd. Visitors should take Weber Rd. from Ann Arbor-Saline Rd., to Noble and turn left.

Grandparents Day at South School Is 'Wonderful Event'

The Chelsea Standard

Section 2

Chelsea, Michigan, Wednesday, May 30, 1984

Pages 9-18

SHOWING OFF FOR GREAT-GRANDMA: South school fourth grader Grace Harden shows a recent artistic endeavor to her great-grandmother, Martha Feldkamp at South school's Grandparents Day on May 25. The sculpture was designed by the youngster in her art class. Many grandparents enjoyed the day, which featured a choral program and tour of the school.

South Elementary school was filled with a unique contrast of age groups last Friday, May 25. It was Grandparents Day for fourth and fifth grade classes. Many grandparents, and even some great-grandparents showed up for the event which was requested by retiring principal Syl Wojcik.

The afternoon began with a program for the grandparents. Mrs. Nance's fifth grade did a choral reading which encompassed some important highlights of American history that the class studied during the year. Chelsea High student Shawn Quilter accompanied the class with the trumpet. Miss DeVries, South school teacher, played piano for the group as well. Everyone seemed to thoroughly enjoy the event, especially Wojcik. "Excellent," he commented.

Numerous awards were also presented during the hour-long program. The entire fourth grade was recognized by the state of Michigan for its outstanding scores on recent assessment testing.

Grandparents also received some honors. Awards were bestowed on the oldest (87 and 84 years) grandparents, the youngest grandparents (49 and 55 years), the ones who traveled farthest to attend the event (Florida), the grandparents who had the most grandchildren (30), and the ones with the longest marriage (54 years of wedded bliss).

Following the program, grandparents and their grandchildren took to the halls for an extended tour of the classrooms, to view various student works of art, to meet teachers, and to get a first-hand glance at the school their grandchildren attend.

Home-made cookies and punch topped off the day, as the group took time out for a brief rest before calling an end to a very special day.

YOU HAVE TO GET READY: There was more to marching in the Memorial Day parade than just showing up. Junior High band director Warren Mayer puts the eighth grade band members through their practice paces in preparation for their appearance in last Monday's parade. The junior and senior high school bands joined for the event. "It's not easy," Mayer said, "but we'll be ready, and we'll put on a good performance. There's a reason why we call our marching band 'The Pride of Chelsea,' and the kids live up to it."

Ken Stevens Wins Press Photo Award

Ken Stevens of Dexter has won an award in the Michigan Press Photographers Association competition that was held May 5 and 6 at MSU. Ken won second place in the News Picture Story category.

More than 80 photographers submitted more than 600 entries in 17 categories in the awards competition.

Ken will be a senior at Central Michigan University in the fall, will be photo editor of CMU Life, and is currently serving a summer internship at the Flint Journal. He is majoring in journalism with an emphasis on photo-journalism.

Sesquicentennial Band Concert Set For Sunday, July 1

Chelsea Sesquicentennial Band, a group formed especially for the occasion, will present a concert of old fashioned band music on Sunday, July 1 at 3 p.m. at Chelsea High school during the Senior Citizen and Interfaith Day festivities of the sesquicentennial. The band has been formed and will be conducted by Max Plank, director of bands at Eastern Michigan University, a 17-year resident of Chelsea who also conducts the Ann Arbor Civic Band.

MAX PLANK

Music performed during the one-hour concert will be much like that performed during early village concerts by municipal, village, or traveling professional bands. Marches by American composers, including John Philip Sousa, will be a feature of the presentation. Other selections will include the "Suite of Old American Dances" by Robert Russell Bennett, "The Entertainer" by Scott Joplin, "You're A Grand Old Flag" by George M. Cohan, and "The Sound of Music" by Richard Rodgers.

A saxophone soloist, Paul DeVee from Ypsilanti, will be performing "Beautiful Colorado" by Joseph Deluca. DeVee is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University where he studied saxophone with Max Plank.

The appearance of the Chelsea Sesquicentennial Band is made possible in part by a grant from the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industries of America. The grant was secured with the co-operation of Local 625, the American Federation of Musicians, Paul D. Klinger, president and contributions from a group of Chelsea merchants.

Roosters, Rooters Report Great Time In Manchester

The Royal Rural Roosters and Rooters were busy in the coop until 7 p.m. last Saturday. At 7:30 we flew the coop and gathered at Michigan Livestock for our own caravan to Manchester. Upon arrival we ruffled our feathers and shook off the raindrops.

Immediately upon arrival we were greeted by members of the North Lake Snowbrushes who had the audacity to shove barbecued remains of our feathered friends into our hands. However, upon learning they were free, we put aside our personal feelings and chomped down on the delicious legs. We encourage all groups in the future to please desecrate the bodies of other animals.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the Manchester Men's Club for providing a great time. We stayed dry on the outside while having a wonderful time dancing.

Three cock-a-doodle do's for Manchester.

Diamond Teams Advance to Districts

Jay Marshall Pitches Baseball Team to 2-1 Extra-Inning Victory

A bases-loaded walk in the bottom of the ninth inning brought in the winning run as Chelsea defeated a very good Livonia Clarenceville team, 2-1, here last Friday and qualified for the district tournament.

"It was a great game," Bulldog coach Wayne Welton said afterward. "Both teams played extremely well, and it was too bad that both couldn't be winners. Livonia played excellent ball, and so did we. You won't see many better high school baseball games."

It was a pitching duel all the way between Chelsea's Jay Marshall, who was superb while giving up just three hits and striking out 14, and Clarenceville's hard-throwing Steve McCamant whose fastball had Chelsea batters swinging late all afternoon.

In the end, Marshall proved to be the tougher of the two, getting better as the game went on. He pitched his heart out, and was rewarded with a win, his sixth of the season against no losses.

"Jay is one of those athletes who rises to the occasion," Welton said. "This was our closest-fought game of the season, and it was Jay's best game. He threw only one bad pitch."

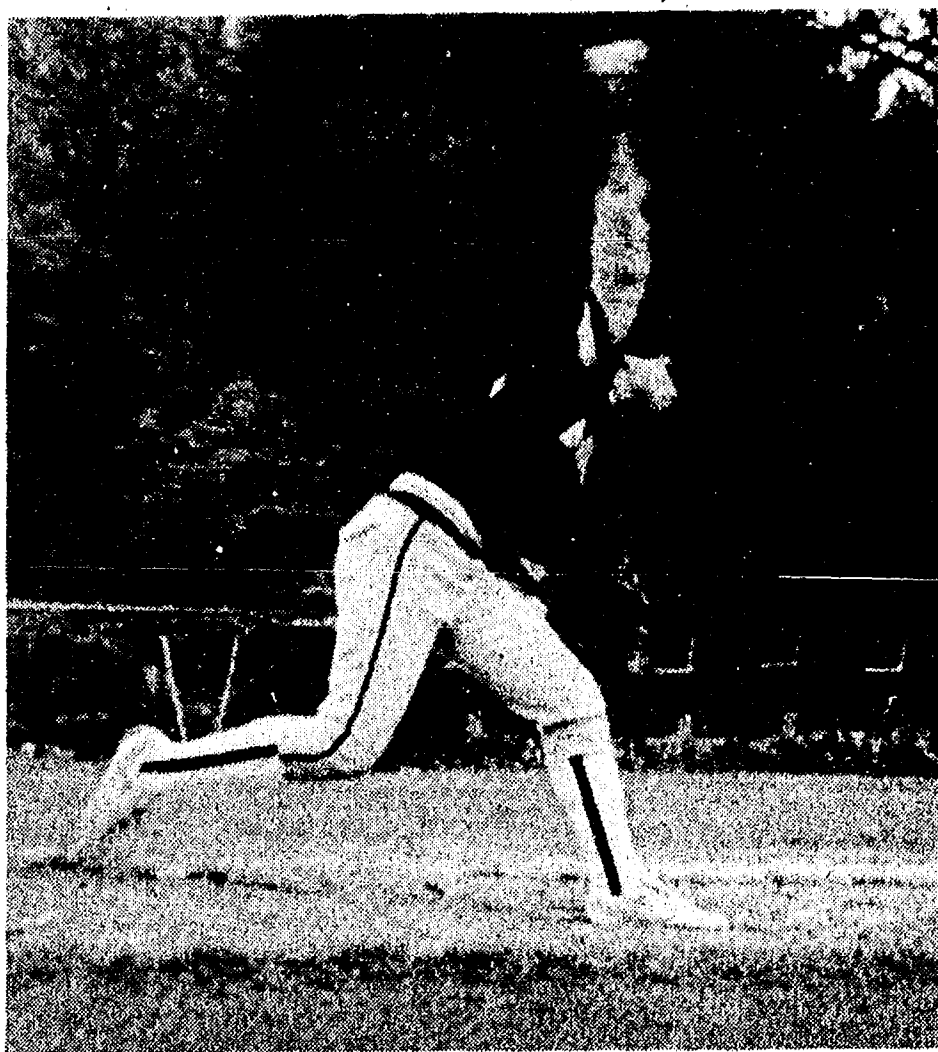

That bad pitch was drilled up the right-centerfield alley for a triple, following a lead-off walk, and produced a 1-0 lead for Livonia in the top of the fifth inning. It was the only solidly hit ball that Marshall allowed.

Marshall buckled down and retired the next three hitters while leaving the runner stranded on third, getting two strikeouts and a soft line drive to first baseman Chuck Hager.

The Bulldogs finally broke through in their half of the sixth as Ron Dunn beat out a grounder to deep short, and went around to third when Clarenceville messed up an attempted force at second on Evan Roberts' hopper to first.

Chris Gallas delivered a clutch double to bring Dunn home and put runners on second and third. It was McCamant's turn to get tough as he retired the next two batters and got out of the inning with no further damage.

Chelsea put runners on base in the seventh and eighth but couldn't move them around. Marshall, meanwhile, was mowing Livonia down. He escaped a bit of trouble in the top of the ninth when Clarenceville got its lead-off hitter aboard on an error. A strikeout on a 3-2 pitch and an on-the-mark throw from catcher Rick Boham—who nailed three would-be base stealers during the game—converted to a double play. A walk and a stolen base followed, but Marshall again reached back for something extra, and fanned the next batter to end the inning.

THE STRAIN SHOWS: Jay Marshall was throwing hard in last week's pre-district game against Livonia Clarenceville, and it shows here as he brings his fast ball over the top. Marshall was the winning pitcher in a tight 2-1 game.

The last of the ninth was a bit strange as Chelsea put five runners on base with three hits, a Clarenceville error and a walk, but was kind of lucky to score the run that won the game.

Marty Steinhauer led off with a single and moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Boham. Chuck Downer then delivered what looked to be the game-winning hit, a solid blow to center, only to see Steinhauer gunned down at the plate on a perfect throw that had to be right on the money and was.

The Bulldogs stayed alive when Hager's fly to right was dropped. Dunn's single to left was too short for Downer to try to score, and so the bases were loaded.

That brought up Dave Bushway, who drove in the winning run without a swing of the bat. He looked carefully at five pitches, and four of them were balls. It was McCamant's only walk of the game, and Downer trotted home with the winning run. "I think we have a good shot at winning the district tournament," Welton said. "My starting pitchers will be Marshall and Dan Bellus. Jay showed again today what he can do under pressure, and Dan can be tough if he keeps the ball around the plate."

"I keep saying it, and maybe it's getting to be an old story, but the key will be defense. If we play good ball in the field, we can win the district. We'll get some runs one way or another, like we did today."

The district tournament will be played at Dexter on Saturday. It will involve four teams, with the winners of the two opening contests meeting in the final to determine the titlist.

Postponed Games Won't Be Played

All previously postponed Chelsea High school sports events will be washed out of the schedule, athletic director Ron Nemeth announced.

Included are a tennis match and several varsity and JV baseball games. Bad early spring weather caused the contest to be postponed.

"We have managed to keep all our commitments in the Southeastern Conference," Nemeth said, "and that is our first obligation. It hasn't been easy because of the weather, but we've done it. The weather hasn't been very co-operative."

"We would like to play every contest that we schedule, but we've run out of time before the end of the school year. We can't have kids playing every day of the week. They have other things to be concerned about, like final exams and graduation."

JV Diamond Team 6-12 On Season

Chelsea's junior varsity baseball team ended its season by losing four games last week, finishing with a 6-12 record. The Jayvees lost to Brighton, 11-10 and 9-4, and to Jackson Northwest, 12-8 and 6-4.

"Our record doesn't look good, but I think it's deceiving," coach Ken Larson said. "Actually, I'm pleased with the progress our players have made during the spring. Everybody has improved, and we have some boys who will move up to the varsity and contribute next year. We haven't played all that badly. We've had some terrible innings, and they have hurt us."

An example was the opening game against Brighton. Chelsea took a 5-1 lead, had two outs in the seventh inning, and got a one-hop groundball back to the pitcher for what should have been the game-ending out.

Instead, the ball was thrown away twice, and four runs scored. Brighton plated five runs in the 10th inning to win.

The Bulldogs committed 11 errors and surrendered 10 unearned runs. "Our defense was just plain awful," Larson said.

Kevin Walz started the game and pitched eight good innings before giving way to Mike Ball in relief. Ball was charged with the loss.

Chris Tarasow and Todd Starkey had two hits apiece for Chelsea, and Kevin Maynard batted in three runs.

The second game was more of the same, as Chelsea booted the ball five times in the third inning to let Brighton score seven runs on just two hits. The game was called at the end of five innings on

Beth Unterbrink Paces Softball Team in 9-1 Victory Over Pinckney.

Chelsea's varsity softball team cleared another hurdle toward a possible state championship last Friday afternoon by romping over Pinckney, 9-1, in a pre-district qualifier played there.

The victory put the Bulldog girls into Saturday's district tournament at Milan, while raising their season record to an awesome 29-3. They are ranked third in the state in Class B.

Beth Unterbrink pitched a four-hitter and collected three hits including a triple. Laura Anderson and Chandy Hurd each drove in two runs with clutch hits that gave Chelsea a comfortable lead.

"Beth wasn't quite at her best," coach Charlie Waller said, "but she was plenty good enough, and the team played well behind her."

The Bulldogs scored the only runs they needed in the first inning as Anderson delivered a two-run single with two out.

They put it away with four more in the fourth. Hurd's triple, knocking in two runs, was the big blow. Chelsea scored two in the fifth and one in the seventh to bring its total to nine.

Pinckney got its harmless run in the bottom of the seventh on two walks and a single. It was only the second earned run Unterbrink has given up all season. "She has pitched remarkably well," Waller noted, "and she has been hitting the cover off the ball. She's batting over .500 for the year."

Unterbrink plays in the outfield when she isn't pitching.

Looking ahead to the district tourney, Waller put it this way: "We've proved we are good. Our 29-3 record speaks for itself."

account of darkness.

Starkey was the losing pitcher. Dave Boote hit a long home run into straight-away centerfield.

Against Jackson Northwest, Chelsea jumped out to an early 6-0 lead, only to see Northwest come back with seven runs with the help of the loose defensive play and go on to win. Jeff Larson was the losing pitcher. Ball came on in relief.

Ray Spencer pitched well in the second game, striking out eight while giving up eight hits, but didn't get a lot of help from his teammates at bat or in the field. Walz had two hits.

"It's been a funny season," Larson summed up. "We actually played good ball almost all of the time, except for one bad inning in just about every game that we lost. We kept coming apart at the wrong time."

When you get into tournament competition, you've got to be good and also have some luck. One bad game, or even one bad inning or one bad play can knock you out. One loss, and you're all done.

"I believe we have the potential to go all the way (to the state championship) but we will need some luck to do it. We'll have to get our share of the breaks."

Waller pointed out that Saline, one of the three teams to defeat the Bulldogs this season, will be in the district tournament. "Saline has a fine pitcher and plays good defense. They beat us once and are capable of doing it again if we don't play our best."

"We have tradition behind us. We've won six straight league championships and a state title (1982) and went to the regional last year, where we lost a game that we probably would have won, except for one bad inning. Everybody targets at us because they know that if they beat Chelsea they have beaten one of the best."

"That puts pressure on us, but it's what competition is all about. I'm looking forward to the tournament, and so are the players. Whatever happens, we've had a great season."

Spayd, DeYoe Win SEC Track Firsts

Mark Spayd's first place in the 300-meter low hurdles and Gary DeYoe's in the discus highlighted the Chelsea boys track team's performance in the Southeastern Conference meet last week.

Spayd and DeYoe were the Bulldogs' only individual winners as the team tied with Tecumseh for fourth and fifth places in the league meet. Chelsea wound up fifth in the over-all season standings, which are computed from a combination of dual meet and conference meet results.

Lincoln, favored to win the state Class B championship, ran away with the SEC meet as expected, scoring 154 points to second-place Saline's 61½. Dexter was third with 58.

Spayd cleared the low hurdles in a good time of :39.4 to edge out Lincoln's Scotty Love by one-tenth of a second. He was sixth in the 110-meter highs, getting off to a slow start and hitting one barrier.

DeYoe won the discus with a toss of 133-5, more than a foot better than his closest rival, Ralph Booth of Tecumseh.

Other Chelsea players were: Shot put, Rob Long, third. Long jump—Scott Cooper, fourth.

Pole vault—Ed Brosnan third, Dan Fenton sixth.

800-meter relay—Chelsea (Dave Boote, Fenton, Scott Miller, Curtis Heard) fifth.

3,200-meter relay—Chelsea (Eric Green, Allen Cole, Greg Buckberry, Kyle Kemmish) third.

1,600-meter run—Tim Bowdish second in a fine time of 4:32.6 behind Saline's outstanding Mark Pogliano who is a potential state champion. Pogliano ran the distance in 4:28.5.

400-meter dash—Kemmish sixth. 3,200-meter run—Bowdish fourth.

400-meter relay—Chelsea (Boote, Fenton, Miller, Heard) fourth.

800-meter run—Cooper fourth. 1,600-meter relay—Chelsea (Buckberry, Kemmish, Spayd, Cooper) fifth.

Howdy Holmes 13th At Indy as Car Gives Him Trouble

Howdy Holmes, the local favorite in Sunday's Indianapolis 500, never was in contention and was fortunate to finish at all, winding up in 13th place, 15 laps behind winner Rick Mears.

Holmes' car, which he qualified in the front row of the 33-car field, just plain never ran well. The engine apparently had not been set up properly by his mechanics' crew, nor had the steering. "It handled horribly," Holmes said after the race.

Holmes had trouble keeping up to the slow speed of the pace lap and dropped far back in the field once the starting gun was fired. He pulled into the pits at the end of five laps, some adjustments were made, and he managed to keep the car going the rest of the way, but couldn't generate enough speed to challenge the leaders.

Holmes moved into 10th place at one point about three-quarters of the way through the race, but couldn't hold it as his car failed him.

Jack Morris Chairman Of Wildlife Art Festival

Jack Morris, Detroit Tiger ace, will be pitching for wildlife in this, the "year of the tigers." The Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation announced that Morris will be honorary chairman of the 1984 Michigan Wildlife Art Festival to be held at Southfield June 1-3.

Morris, 28, had his best season as a professional last year, and has already pitched a no-hitter this year, only the fifth in Detroit Tiger history. Morris is considered by many to be the best pitcher in the American League.

A native of Minnesota, Morris has always been close to wildlife and spends much of his free time hunting or fishing. "Wildlife is very important to me," said Jack. "That is why I want to do what I can to preserve what wildlife habitat remains. As long as animals have a place in the wild, my children will never have to go to a zoo to see them," Morris said. "All Americans share our wild heritage and the responsibility to protect and restore wildlife habitat."

Proceeds from the Michigan Wildlife Art Festival will be used by the Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation to further their private-sector program of habitat improvement, development and restoration. All contributions are tax-deductible and may be earmarked for specific Foundation projects.

Thirty-five nationally renowned wildlife artists, including Cathy McClung of Dexter, will display their most recent original paintings and fine art prints. Each artist will contribute one piece to an original wildlife art auction to be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, June 3, at the Michigan Inn. The art pieces to be auctioned will be available for viewing on Friday and Saturday at the Southfield Civic Center.

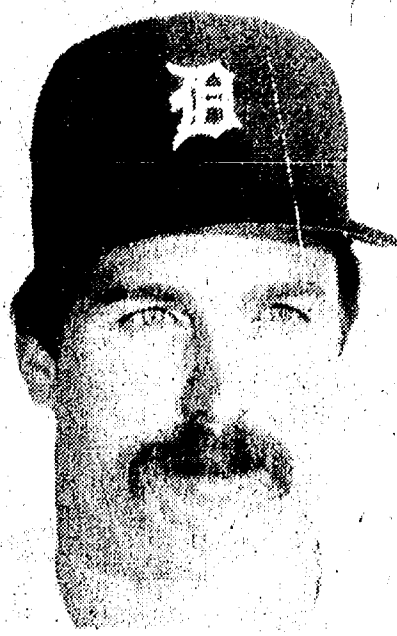

The North American decorative wildfowl carving championship, sponsored by the Waterfowl Preservation and Decoy Club of Michigan, will begin at 11 a.m. on Saturday,

The brand-new silver-and-black March-Cosworth racing machine built specially for Holmes bore the Jiffy Mix label, reflecting the fact that his father, Howard Holmes, is the co-owner of Chelsea Milling Co., makers of Jiffy Mixes.

Howdy qualified it at 208 miles per hour, second-best in the field and more than a mile better than race winner Rick Mears who started behind him.

The story at Indianapolis is that the race is won before it starts by the crew which does the best job of getting a car ready to run the full 500 miles at top speed. Rick Mears' machine never missed a beat while setting a new track record.

Mayer Motor Racing of Farmington didn't have Holmes' car ready for the long run. Holmes' teammate, Tom Sneva, likewise lost a shot at victory when his car broke down on the 169th lap as he was chasing Mears and catching up.

JACK MORRIS

June 2. Many award-winning carvers from across the nation will enter this event, which will feature entries in seven categories, including songbirds, waterfowl and birds of prey.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources will conduct its judging of the 1984 Michigan duck stamp and trout stamp competitions on Saturday, June 2. The trout stamp contest will begin at 10 a.m. and the duck stamp contest at 2 p.m. Both will be open to the public. The winning designs will be used as the subjects for the conservation stamps purchased by duck hunters and trout fishermen.

Immediately following the duck stamp contest, the DNR will hold a special auction of original entries in this year's contests and valuable, out-of-print Michigan duck and trout stamps.

Baseball Team Drops Three Of Four Non-League Tilts

Chelsea's varsity baseball team lost three of four games early last week leading up to their crucial pre-district contest last Friday against Livonia Clarenceville, but coach Wayne Welton insisted he wasn't overly worried.

"We had four good games against two fine teams," Welton said. "We were able to give everybody a chance to play, and to try out some things. We worked our pitching rotation around so I can start Jay Marshall against Clarenceville knowing that he's well rested and ready to go. We tried to win them all, but the fact that we lost three doesn't really bother me."

The Bulldogs lost both ends of a double-header to Class A Brighton, 5-4 and 11-3, on May 21, then split a pair with Jackson Northwest, losing the first, 6-3, and winning the wind-up, 7-5.

"We should have beaten Brighton in the first game," Welton said. "and it would have been a big win for us. Brighton has an excellent baseball program, and it's a privilege to play them. I like being able to expose our boys to that level of competition."

The Bulldogs led, 3-1, after three innings in the Brighton opener but surrendered four runs in the fifth, coming apart defensively and committing five errors. Chuck Downer and Mark Mull combined on the pitching mound to hold Brighton to just three hits.

"We had to get eight 'outs' in that inning before we finally ended it, and that is putting an awful lot of pressure on your pitchers," Welton said. "It's the same old story. When we play good defense, we win. Baseball is a team game. The pitchers can't do it all."

Chelsea tried to come back in the bottom of the seventh, scored a run to narrow the count to 5-4, and had the bases loaded when the game ended. Rick Boham had the Bulldogs' only extra-base hit, a triple.

The second Brighton game was close after three innings, but the visitors put it away with two tallies in the fourth and four more in the sixth. Chelsea managed just three hits while Brighton was picking up 11 off Dan Bellus and Mull.

"We're a good hitting team, but we had only seven hits in the two games," Welton remarked. "That gives you an idea of the quality of pitching we faced."

Even better pitching was to come as Jackson Northwest defeated Chelsea, 6-3, in the first game of last Wednesday's double-header. Keith Niebauer smacked both safeties, including a triple.

"The boys told me that he (Northwest's starting pitcher) was the best they have batted against all season," Welton said. "He has a good fast ball, a good breaking ball and a good change-up, and he threw strikes. That means he had to be pretty good."

Chris Gallas, who normally plays at third base and has filled in as a catcher, did the pitching as Welton continued to manipulate his thin mound staff. Gallas did a creditable job, holding Northwest to seven hits and yielding only two earned runs. An error opened the gates for four unearned runs in the sixth inning.

CONCERNED COACH: Chelsea baseball coach Wayne Welton watches the action from the dugout as his team squeaks out a victory over Livonia Clarenceville and advances into the district tournament. He has done a super job of coaching this spring to help the Bulldogs win a piece of the Southeastern Conference championship and a chance at the district crown.

Ron Dunn, an outfielder who likewise hasn't done much pitching, started the second game and pitched four strong innings, leaving the game with the score tied, 3-3. Marty Steinhauer, another outfielder who hasn't pitched a whole lot, took over in relief and got credit for the victory.

The Bulldogs plated four runs in the sixth inning, with Gallas and Bellus getting the key RBI hits. Bellus and David Bushway each had three safeties.

The team was 12-12 on the season going into the critical Clarenceville game, not an eyebrow-raising statistic. More important, they won seven of 10 SEC games, the ones that really counted.

Girls Tracksters Take Two Firsts in League

The Chelsea girls track team concluded the league season on a high note last week with some fine performances in the Southeastern Conference meet.

The Bulldogs had two league champions, both establishing SEC records. State qualifier Amy Wolfgang cut 2.3 seconds off the record set last year to win the 300 low hurdles with a very fast 46.4. The team of Sallie Wilson, Stephanie Roberts, Amy Wolfgang and Laura Damm established a record by winning the 3,200-meter relay, a new event this year, in 10:10.4.

The best showing of the day came in the 1,600-meter run. Sallie Wilson was third in 5:43.7, Robin Mock fifth in 5:50.1 and Mary Ann Richardson sixth in 5:52.2. All three times were season's bests. Wilson came back in the 3,200, her third race of the day, to place third and establish a Bulldog freshman record with a 12:18.1.

"It was an outstanding performance," said her coach, Bill Bainton. "She started to run with the leaders, and the race just went her way." The Bulldog's other runners in the race, Melanie Flanigan (12:47.7) and Mary Ann Richardson (12:58) also ran personal seasons bests.

Wendy Wolfgang ran well in the 800, finishing third with a 2:29.5. Wolfgang also led off the third-place 1,600 relay where she combined with Carol Warren, Laura Damm and Amy Wolfgang to run a 4:12.5.

Cris Zerkel scored the Bulldog's only points in the field events, placing fifth in the shot with a put of 29-11 1/4, and sixth in the discus with an 89-foot throw.

Laura Damm had a fourth in the 400 in 1:04.7. Debby Tift placed fifth in the 100 high hurdles in 17.7.

"It's good to see Debby place," said Bainton. "She has been a hard worker and a steady performer for us all season." Tift also ran her best time ever, a 51.5 in a non-placing effort in the 300 hurdles.

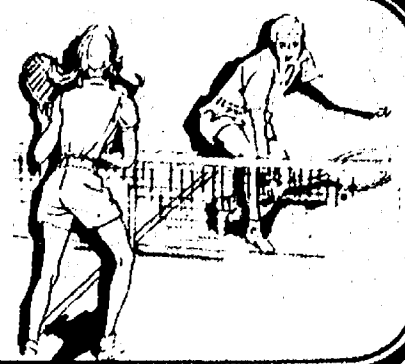

Chelsea's 800 relay survived a bad exchange, and with the help of a disqualification, placed fifth. Making up the team were Susan Jaques, Edie Harook, Christie Favers and Chris Newman.

Newman also ran her season's best, 2:40.6, in the 800.

Sprinters Carol Warren at 28.2 and Susan Jaques at 28.7 ran

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

If Wayne Welton isn't chosen as all-Southeastern Conference and all-region baseball coach of the year, I will lose what little faith I have in the selection system.

Wayne has brought along a team that wasn't expected to accomplish much of anything and led it to an SEC co-championship, the best coaching job I've seen during my two years in Chelsea.

He took the boys he had, molded them into a team, and got them thinking that maybe they could be winners even though the "experts" (including me) said it wasn't possible. He and his team taught me a lesson in the process: no sports writer is as smart as he thinks he is. I will try to remember that from now on.

"You guys (sports writers) put us down at the beginning of the season," Welton told me after the victory over Milan which locked up a share of the SEC championship. "The boys accepted that as a challenge. They decided that they were going to prove you were wrong."

Okay, I'll eat my piece of crow, and I'm happy to do it. If my negative comments at the start of the season did indeed have anything to do with spurring the outstanding performance of the Bulldog baseball team, then I will gladly plead guilty. Maybe I ought to do it again next year, but I won't. I am learning to expect the unexpected from high school athletic teams, and I intend from now on to sit back and watch and see what happens.

Back to Wayne Welton. He's an "Aw shucks" coach who disclaims credit for what his players do. After the big win over Milan, he told me, "All I did was keep telling Jay Marshall to throw strikes down low, and wave runners around the bases. The boys did it, I didn't."

That is a vast understatement. Welton, who used to be a pretty good pitcher himself, has made a pitcher out of Marshall, a strong and competitive boy who could throw hard but had little sense of where to spot the ball. Jay is a pitcher now. He puts the ball up and down, in and out, and he didn't learn it all by himself. Welton taught him.

Wayne teaches his players how to hit—take the bat back and hold it up high, swing through cleanly, turn over the wrists. It sounds simple but, take it from one who tried to learn and never did, hitting a well-thrown baseball is the most difficult feat in sports. Chelsea has a bunch of good hitters this year.

Welton teaches defense and base-running, and he had some problems this season with a young, inexperienced team that made a lot of mistakes in the field and on the base-paths.

"We did make mistakes," Welton said, "but the great thing about this team was that no player made the same mistake twice. When I told them what they did wrong and how to correct it, they paid attention. They are a very coachable group of kids."

"Give the boys the credit. They learned, and I like to think I helped them, but they motivated themselves from within. That is something a coach can't do. You can have the best bunch of athletes in the world, but if they don't decide to go out and prove it, they aren't going to be winners."

Among other things, Welton has done a remarkable job of manipulating a pitching staff which consists of senior Marshall and three sophomores—Chuck Downer, Dan Bellus and Mark Mull. He has had the right boy ready to pitch at the right time.

He had to "sacrifice" a few non-league games along the way, but had the good sense to keep his eye on the target, which was the SEC championship.

"After we got off to that good (4-0) league start, I decided we would shoot for the title and not worry too much about non-league games," Welton said. "We try to win every game we play, but some are more important than others. We zeroed in on the league."

As all high school athletic coaches do, Welton looks ahead, and he likes what he sees in Chelsea's baseball future.

"Those three sophomore pitchers are going to be a year older and a lot stronger next season. They'll be able to throw harder. We've got a couple of good pitchers coming up from the JV team. I think we'll have the best pitching staff in all the years I've been here. You can do a lot with five solid pitchers."

"We'll lose some outstanding seniors from this year's team, but we've got some good kids coming up in the program. I feel good about the future."

I like Wayne. While I was interviewing him, my wife was standing alongside. He was gracious and recognized her presence by keeping four-letter words out of his comments. He's a darned good coach and a gentleman. I suspect he's a good physical education teacher, and, as Vivian said afterward, "He's a very nice man."

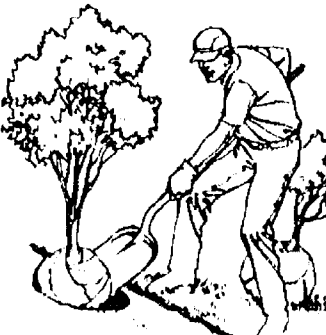

It's good to know people like that.

Correction

A murder committed in the Detroit suburb of Troy by an escapee from the Cassidy Lake Technical School occurred during the last week of 1982, not in 1983 as was stated in last week's edition of The Standard. Cassidy Lake officials asked that a correction be made.

SETTING UP CAMP: Typical of the activity at Green Lake campground last Friday morning was this Detroit camper setting up his equipment. "I parked in front of the gate at 6:30 this morning to be sure to get a spot," he said. The Waterloo Recreation Area's Big Portage Lake and Sugarloaf Lake campgrounds were both filled on Thursday evening in advance of the Memorial Day weekend, and Green Lake was opened up as an overflow area.

New Head Basketball Coach Will Be Named on June 11

Chelsea High school definitely will have a new head basketball coach next season, superintendent Raymond Van Meer has confirmed.

Two finalists have emerged from a field of 42 applicants for the position. They are Jim Maier of Stevensville and Doug Knobloch of Schoolcraft, Van Meer said.

A choice will be made and recommended to the Board of Education for approval at its June 11 meeting.

"Whoever is appointed will become a full-time member of the faculty," Van Meer said. That was one of our charges from the board in selecting a coach.

That directive ruled out any possibility that Paul Ash might return for a second season. Ash does not have a teaching certificate and so was not eligible for consideration.

Ash coached the Bulldogs to a disappointing 8-11 season last winter and a last-place finish in the Southeastern Conference. The team had been the pre-season league favorite, but never jelled.

Ash, who is employed by what used to be Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and is now Ameritech, commuted from Milan to handle practices and games. He was appointed following the unexpected resignation last fall of Robin Raymond, who quit to become head basketball coach at Ann Arbor Pioneer. Raymond likewise was a "commuter coach," retaining position as a mathematics teacher at Chelsea.

"I think, and so does the board, that it's important for a coach, especially a head coach, to be a faculty member," Van Meer said. "It helps to strengthen the relationship between a coach and his players."

Van Meer speaks from the experience of having been a highly successful football coach at Jackson Parkside before coming to Chelsea as an administrator.

Unknown at this point is the future of assistant basketball coaches Marlin Wilson and Ted Hendricks who tutored the junior varsity and freshman cage teams, respectively, last season. Both likewise were non-members of the faculty.

Presumably, the new head coach will have a voice in selecting his assistants.

Waterloo Area Campgrounds Fill Early for Holiday

A lot of folks got an early start on the Memorial Day week-end. Both the big Portage Lake and Sugarloaf Lake campgrounds in the Waterloo Recreation Area filled to capacity early last Thursday evening, park manager George Rob said.

"It looks like we are going to have a very, very busy weekend," Rob said last Friday. "I can't remember our ever having been this full this early."

Ruffed Grouse Population Down In Waterloo Area

The spring population of adult ruffed grouse (partridge) in the Waterloo Recreation Area is down considerably from a year ago, a drumming log survey has revealed.

Drumming logs are downed trees on which male grouse perch while putting on their spring mating display, a rapid beating of wings which produces a sound resembling the roll of a drum. The birds use the same logs year after year.

Last winter's record cold weather is believed responsible for the decline in grouse numbers.

The spring drop does not necessarily mean there will be fewer birds available for the fall hunting season. Good nesting and rearing success could restore the population to its previous level.

Richard Cook Signs For Army Program

Richard Cook, a senior at Chelsea High school, has enlisted in the U. S. Army Delayed Enlistment Program. Cook enlisted for three years and will receive training as Petroleum Supply Specialist.

In addition, he will get $20,000 to continue his education.

Construction Underway On New County Park

Shovels have already turned over the first clumps of soil on a 151-acre site that will be transformed into Washtenaw County's fourth major park—Rolling Hills—by mid-October. The park, located in Ypsilanti township, will be a favorite of winter sports lovers. It will feature a two-chute toboggan run, an ice skating pond, cross country ski trails, and a warming building and toboggan rental area.

Rolling Hills Park, designed by the landscape architecture firm of Bruce A. Rankin Associates, will also feature wooded and open picnic areas and a picnic shelter. Osler-Milling Architects, Inc. is assisting in the design of the building complex. Future plans for the park call for the installation of soccer and softball fields.

Rolling Hills is named for the gentle slopes and contours that are an unusual feature in the normally flat southeastern section of Washtenaw county. The property was purchased by the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission (WCPARC) in 1980 with matching Federal Land and Water Conservation Funds. Land and Water Funds are also contributing 50 percent of the construction costs; the other half is secured from millage tax money.

WCPARC retained Allen Construction Services of Ann Arbor for the initial construction, which began May 2. Initial construction includes excavation of the 3.5-acre pond, construction of the toboggan runs, site preparation for the building complex (warming building, toboggan storage and rental areas, and maintenance area), and construction of the trails, entry gatehouse, and a 3,800-foot road-way that will lead into a 160-car parking lot.

Construction of the building complex, sewage system, and water supply system is expected to begin in mid-June.

The 800-foot-long toboggan runs will be built with a 50-foot total drop. Floodlights will be installed in the tobogganing and ice skating areas for night use.

Much care is being taken to maintain the site's natural condition by removing as few trees as possible. A large woodlot and several hedge rows are among the features that will remain relatively undisturbed.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

During the 40 years that I have been "bugging" for largemouth bass with a flyrod, the most consistently successful lure I have found is an imitation frog which used to be marketed by the South Bend Bait Co.

The thing looks and acts remarkably like a frog. It's made of clipped deer hair dyed in frog colors, and has hinged hind legs which "kick" when the lure is twitched, just as a swimming frog does.

You can't buy those frog "bugs" any more, because South Bend no longer makes them. When I found out that the frogs were going to be discontinued, I ordered a dozen from the company. They may have been the last ever made.

I have four left. The other eight were broken off in battles with bass that were too big to hang onto.

The South Bend frog is a devilish thing to cast, and I suspect that is why it was abandoned. It's big and air-resistant. I push it out with a stiff nine-foot rod, heavy weight-forward line and short leader, and can't manage more than about 40 feet even with that stout gear.

I've hit myself in the back of the head several times and would have hooked my ear more than once had I not been wearing a broad-brimmed hat. Over time I have learned to cast the lure with a stiff-armed overhand motion, something like throwing an apple on a stick. It's awkward, but it keeps the bug in the air overhead.

What the deer-hair frog does, better than any other flyrod lure I've ever found, is attract big bass. Toss it out close to the edge of a bed of lily pads or some other weed cover, let it sit for a count of 10, then move it, and something spectacular is quite likely to happen.

The movement is critical. Swimming frogs generally cover about two feet with one kick of their hind legs, and that's what you have to make the lure do. Frogs swim under the water, and so must the imitation. The bug has to dive to be effective.

As every bass fisherman knows, there are two kinds of surface strikes from bass—a "hunger" strike and an "anger" strike. The hunger hit is all business. The fish comes up and sucks in the lure, leaving literally a hole in the water. The anger attack is a big splash which as often as not results in an empty feeling when you try to set the hook. I've foul-hooked several such fish, usually in the dorsal fin. They obviously weren't interested in eating.

I'm convinced that any bass big enough to be worth keeping will latch onto any lure it's chasing if it is hungry. The feeding strikes mean fish hooked, and eventually landed if you do things right and have a little bit of luck.

One of the great things about the imitation frog is that it almost invariably provokes hunger hits. The bass that rise to take it deep and get solidly hooked. Those that I have lost have broken off, usually by diving deep into the woods, setting up a tug-of-war, and winning it. Those that I have landed had the frog deep in their throats, obviously intending to swallow it.

What puzzles me about all this is that, among the several hundred largemouth bass whose stomachs I have opened up, I have yet to find the identifiable remains of a frog. I've come across everything from baby birds to mice, and just about all else be-tween, but never a frog.

I'm sure that bass eat frogs, or they certainly wouldn't hit an imitation like they do, but I have to wonder if they are very successful in catching the real thing. Frogs are evasive critters, as anyone who has hunted them knows. It may be as difficult for a bass to catch a free-swimming live frog as it is for me.

I've never fished with live frogs except once. It bothered me to see the creatures rubbing with their forelegs to try to remove the hook that I had put through their jaws. I'm told, however, that live frogs are good bait if you're not too squeamish and soft-hearted.

My artificial frogs work just fine—the most reliable lures that I have ever discovered. I just wish that South Bend hadn't quit making them. With only four remaining in my tackle box, I'm afraid to tie one on for fear of losing it in a battle with a big bass. In that sense, maybe they work too well.

Waterloo Wild Turkeys Reported Holding Own

Despite an instance of apparent human vandalism on one nest, the wild turkeys in the Waterloo Recreation Area appear to be holding their own in their struggle to survive, multiply and establish themselves.

Park manager George Rob said five of eight hen turkeys equipped with radio transmitters are known to have laid clutches of eggs this spring. The nests were located from the radio signals and monitored.

One nest-along with the eggs and the brooding hen—disappeared literally overnight.

"It looks like a case of somebody finding the eggs and taking them away," Rob said. "Any animal predator that found the nest and ate the eggs would have left the broken, empty shells. In this case there was nothing left, and there have been no more radio signals from the hen. The eggs and the bird just disappeared. It looks like somebody killed the turkey and picked up the eggs."

If so, it is the first known case of deliberate human interference with the attempt to establish a breeding flock of wild turkeys in the Waterloo area. Thirty birds imported from Iowa have been planted in the park during the past two winters.

It is believed there was some small amount of reproduction during the spring of 1983 from an initial release of four toms and eight hens. Six more toms and 12 hens were turned loose this past winter.

Only eight out of the total of 20 hens were radio-equipped, and five of those are known to have nested this spring. If that radio holds, there are a dozen turkey nests in the area, minus the one that was destroyed.

Turkey hens lay 8-9 eggs, hatch almost all of them, and generally succeed in rearing about half the poults to young adult size in the fall.

"The biologists who are keeping track of the introduction tell me that things haven't gone as well as they hoped for but that the effort has so far not been a failure," Rob said. "There is still reason to be optimistic that the introduction will eventually succeed. It's kind of touch-and-go at this point."

Persons who see turkeys, or possibly come across a nest, are asked to back off while causing as little disturbance as possible. Wild turkeys do not tolerate much human interference.

No-Till Planter Increases Interest of Area Farmers

Going into the second season of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District's Saline Valley Project sponsored no-till planter program, extension agricultural agent Ron Struss is noting changes in farmers' attitudes towards no-till. "Interest is definitely up," he said. "Last season I placed upwards of 60 calls to locate 20 farmers interested in leasing a no-till planter. This season we just put the word out, and farmers came to us."

No-till crop producing involves no tillage of soil to prepare fields for planting. At planting, fields are found basically in the same condition as they were left following harvest the fall before, with the stalks, stubble or sod of last season's crop still blanketing the field surface. No-till planters are specially designed to cut through this surface material and place seed properly in unplowed soil. By planting without plowing, farmers can save time and fuel and reduce topsoil erosion.

A six-row Allis-Chalmers no-till planter with 30" row spacing and an accompanying tractor is being leased for $15 per acre through the no-till program. Ken Koch, field technician with the Saline Valley Project, accompanies the equipment to assist farmers with planter operation and adjustment.

The no-till planter is being used on 20 farms this season, planting a total of 330 acres of corn and 70 acres of soybeans.

The Washtenaw Soil Conservation District and Saline Valley Project are promoting no-till crop production because it dramatically reduces topsoil erosion and pollution of streams with silt and silt-borne farm chemicals. However, according to Struss, what impresses farmers the most about no-till is the time which it saves. "By going no-till, farmers can cut the time it takes to put a crop in by half. This is a real boon to part-time farmers or farmers whose time is better spent with their livestock than pulling a plow," he explained.

Individuals interested in no-till crop production or the no-till planter program can contact Ron Struss at the Washtenaw County Cooperative Extension Service, 973-9510.

'84 Fair Season Begins June 12

Summer ushers in all the fun and excitement of Michigan fairs. The state kicks off the 1984 fair season June 12, with 88 county, 4-H and agricultural fairs as well as two state fairs.

Michigan's fairs offer a wide variety of attractions for the entire family including agricultural, commercial and educational exhibits, live animals, entertainment, contests and midway rides.

"In addition to the entertainment aspects of fairs, they allow agricultural producers to showcase the 50 major food and fiber crops produced in this state," said Dr. Paul E. Kindinger, Michigan Department of Agriculture director.

Michigan's two state fairs are at Escanaba, Aug. 14-19 and at Detroit Aug. 24-Sept. 3.

Other fair dates and locations, as compiled by MDA's Fairs and Racing division, are:

June 12-17, Bay City; June 29-July 4, Lake Odessa; July 3-7, Marion; July 7-14, Hartford; July 8-14, Big Rapids and Greenville; July 10-15, Vassar; July 15-21, Crosswell and Hastings; July 16-21, Fowlerville, Ithaca and Marne; July 22-28, Caro and Charlotte; July 23-28, Gladwin, Holland and Sandusky; July 25-28, Hale and Sparta; July 26-29, Greenland and Stephenson; July 27-Aug. 5, Ionia; July 29-Aug. 4, Harrison and Standish; July 30-Aug. 4, Alma, Davisburg,

Dispatcher Cited

Candace Schirmacher, a dispatcher on the midnight shift of the Chelsea Police Dept., has been awarded a commendation by Jackson State Police officials because she was instrumental in the successful recapture of a Southern Michigan State Prisoner.

The convict was reported as "a walkaway" between the 4th and 7th of May. Police records could not determine the exact date as there were several recorded walkaways during this time frame.

While state police in Jackson conducted a search for the man, Schirmacher used the department's Citizens Band (CB) radio and alerted truckers in the west-bound I-94 expressway vicinity to watch for a male walking or hitchhiking in the area.

Shortly after she began alerting truckers, the man was spotted. State police dispatched to the area could not immediately determine the inmate's whereabouts, so Schirmacher kept relaying truckers' sightings until they pinpointed the area and located the prisoner.

The Jackson State Police Post notified the Chelsea Police Dept. of Schirmacher's commendation last week. She was cited for her important role in the incident.

Schirmacher has worked as a police dispatcher in Chelsea for three and one-half years. This is her first commendation.

HONORED: Receiving the Michigan Distinguished Service Award is Bernadette Sietz-Garbe, Washtenaw County Extension 4-H youth agent. Presenting the award is Robert Johnson, Huron County Extension director.

Washtenaw 4-H Staffers Receive State Awards

Bernadette Sietz-Garbe, Washtenaw county extension 4-H youth agent, received one of five Michigan 4-H Distinguished Service Awards presented May 7 at the Spring 4-H Conference at Kettunen Center, the state's 4-H leadership training facility, in Tustin.

The award, presented annually by the Michigan Association of Extension 4-H Youth Staff, recognizes excellence in 4-H youth work.

Sietz-Garbe has served in several key leadership roles, where she helped to advance programs in staff training and personnel procedures. She has developed innovative programs in health, mainstreaming, livestock and teen leadership.

Three Washtenaw county 4-H program assistants also were recognized for their outstanding work. Donna Woodward, Jack Butler and Christine Tucker received three of five Achievement Awards presented at the conference. The award recognizes 4-H staff members with less than two years of service to the 4-H program for their outstanding contributions.

Woodward was recognized for her involvement with the 4-H Youth Show. Her ideas and creativity have added to the quality and effectiveness of this annual event.

Butler was cited for his involvement with day-long clowning workshops for young people and for the development of adult and teen leadership in the area of career projects.

Tucker was recognized for the development of learning experiences in nutrition, bicycling and projects. She has developed educational material to be used in classroom nutrition projects.

Wednesday Solar Eclipse Will Be Visible Here

A partial solar eclipse will cast a brief, dark shadow over the land, Wednesday, May 30.

Observers anywhere in the 48 continental United States will be able to follow parts of the moon's progress as it passes in front of the sun.

But only to earth-bound observers located along a narrow path will the moon appear to almost totally cover the sun for a few seconds, says University of Michigan astronomy Prof. Richard G. Teske.

"To Michigan observers, the sun will be about 70 percent obscured at the height of the eclipse," Teske says. "Maximum dimming will occur around 12:37 p.m. (EDT), but the entire event will last for nearly three hours."

"The moon will appear to make its first tiny dent in the sun's southwest rim somewhere between 11:13-11:17 a.m., with the final moments of the eclipse occurring around 2:05 p.m."

The high point of the eclipse will occur just after noon, when the moon's shadow will speed along a path stretching diagonally across the southeastern United States from Louisiana to Maryland, he says.

While the exact time of maximum dimming of the sun will depend on the viewer's location, how much sunlight appears blocked out will depend on how close the viewer is to the center of the moon's shadow.

To avoid eye damage, Teske strongly advises that eclipse watchers never look directly at the sun. He recommends indirect observation, such as projecting an image of the partially eclipsed sun by allowing sunlight to pass through a small lens or through a pinhole in a sheet of cardboard onto a sheet of paper screen.

To observers in the path of the moon's shadow, the eclipse will not be total, he points out, "because the moon will be slightly smaller than the sun. Consequently, at the moment the two bodies seem to be centered, an extremely narrow rim of sunlight will surround the lunar disk."

Depending on where an onlooker is located along the shadow path, the moon will appear to cover the sun for between 7 to 14 seconds. Only 0.4 percent of the sun will still be exposed around the darkened moon."

As a result, phenomena usually associated with a total eclipse may be visible, says Teske.

"Observers will have a very good chance of seeing the pearly light from inner portions of the corona, a million-degree hot gas surrounding the sun. They also may be able to see the rosy-red, flame-like prominences which often extend outward beyond the sun's edge."

According to the U-M astronomer, the partial eclipse usually has no reported effect on animal behavior. Along the central line of the shadow path, however, animals might display the same instinctive behavior as they do in late evening. Momentarily, birds probably will fly into the trees, chickens might roost, and cows might look toward the barn.

The shadow first will touch the U. S. just west of New Orleans, after crossing Mexico and the Caribbean Sea. Passing just north of Montgomery, Ala., it then will go directly over metropolitan Atlanta, over Greenville, S. C., Greensboro, N. C., Petersburg, Va., and finally leave land just south of Ocean City, Md.

Near New Orleans, the track will be just six miles wide and will narrow to three miles wide at Petersburg, he adds.

Teske adds that the next partial solar eclipse will take place on May 10, 1994. Michigan residents will have a much better view because the moon's shadow will travel from California's Baja peninsula to Maine, passing directly over southeastern lower Michigan.

Picnic for Special Population Adults

Special population adults are invited to enjoy a picnic and other special activities at barrier-free JYRO Park on Friday, June 15, from 4 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The picnic, for adults 18 years and older with mild to moderate disabilities, is sponsored co-operatively by the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission (WCPARC), Ypsilanti Township Recreation Department, and the Ann Arbor Recreation Department.

JYRO Park is located along Ford Lake, 9075 Huron River Dr., in Ypsilanti township. Participants will meet at the park's mid-zone shelter No. 2 at 4 p.m. The picnic is free of charge, but participants are asked to make a reservation by June 1. For more information or reservations, call WCPARC at 973-2575.

When Grandpa Wore His Uniform

I've got the bestest Gran'pa
You ever hear about:
We always go to hear the band
Whenever it comes out.
He tells me lots of stories
About the dreeful wars,
An' he was in them, too, he said,
An' he's got awful scars.
An when they get the flowers
To put on soldiers' graves,
We dust bring out our nicest flag,
An' en he sings an' waves
The Stars an' Stripes, an' we dust march,
All dressed up fine an' gay:
For Gran'pa wears his uniform
On Decoration Day.

An after that we all go home
An' sit about an' talk:
Though sometimes I dust wish an' wish
We'd take another walk.
For Gran'pa does dust look so fine,
His dear ol' head so gray
Is held so proud when we go out
This lovely day in May.
For oh, his clothes are extra fine,
All blue with buttons gay,
For Gran'pa wears his uniform
On Decoration Day.

My Gran'pa says he's growing old
An' by an' by will come
The sound of "taps" to call him home,
An' beat of muffled drum.
An' 'en 'at I must be a man,
An' 'at I mustn't cry,
Dust 'cause my Gran'pa's gone away
To live up in the sky.
An' 'at when on Memorial Day
We wreath our garlands bright,
An' place the flag of liberty
O'er those who fought for right,
'At I must put a flag by him,
Remembering away
How Gran'pa wore his uniform
On Decoration Day.

—Helen Bingham.

RONALD (RON) MONTANGE for SCHOOL BOARD TRUSTEE

As a father of four children, ages 3-8, and lifelong resident of Chelsea, I have been active in the community and schools for many years. As a member of the school board I hope to work with others in a commitment to strengthen our school programs (elementary through high school) to provide the best possible education for all students. I would appreciate your support on Monday, June 11th at Beach Middle school. I would be happy to discuss specific ideas with you at any time.

Sincerely,
Ronald (Ron) Montange

By Bill Mullendore

Whoever first said that "It's a small world after all" uttered one of the more profound statements about life.

When my wife, Vivian, picked up last week's edition of The Standard and looked over the front page, she spotted the picture of retiring Beach school principal Al Conklin and said:

"I know him. I had him in an 11th grade history class at Milan High school. He was a good student. It was big class, and he stood out. I'm not surprised that he went on to do well."

Conklin remembered, too. "Sure I remember Vivian Harris. She was a good teacher, and she insisted on discipline in her classroom. She didn't put up with any nonsense from her students. You had to buckle down, behave and work."

"I was pretty young then, about three years older than the students I was teaching," Vivian recalled. "It was a challenge for an inexperienced teacher, but they were good kids, and Alan Conklin was one of the best."

"I was supposed to be a junior high English teacher, and all of a sudden I was assigned this high school American history course. I kept one chapter ahead of the class. I'm sure I learned more history than they did."

Bauer Wins Scholarship

Gayla Bauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Bauer, 19917 Waterloo Rd., Chelsea, was awarded a $1,000 scholarship by the Michigan State Chapter of the P.E.O. Sisterhood.

Bauer was awarded the scholarship at the P.E.O. state convention held at Central Michigan University on May 15. The event was attended by approximately 600 women, and one man, Norman Bauer, who accompanied his wife and came to see his daughter accept her award. Ms. Bauer entertained the group by singing.

A junior at Chelsea High school, Bauer has been accepted for early admission to Cottey College in Nevada, Mo., and will begin in the fall, 1984 semester. She plans to specialize in music.

- Optional attachments include your choice of 5 full-floating, anti-scalp mower attachments for smooth, even cut; baggers; blades and snowthrowers.

"Since I've been selling and servicing Wheel Horse tractors, this is the best value from Wheel Horse I've ever seen."
