Singhal, vice president of Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May engineering firm; Phil Knight, BookCrafters' marketing vice-president; Charles Pressley, BookCrafters administrative vice-president; Chelsea village president Jerry Satterthwaite; William Nuffer, president of BookCrafters; George Sweeny, Sylvan township supervisor; Jerry Ashby and Mark Heydlauff of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce; Dave Schreiber of the Washtenaw Development Council, and Frederick Weber, Chelsea village administrator.

BookCrafters Break Ground For Plant in Industrial Park

Ground was broken Monday for BookCrafters' fulfillment house in Chelsea's industrial park on Sibley Rd., signalling the start of what village officials hope will be something big in the town's economic future.

The BookCrafters building will be the first in the 68-acre industrial park located on the south side of Sibley Rd. immediately west of the Dana Corp. plant.

BookCrafters has purchased seven acres in the park for $87,300 and has an option on three more acres at a price of $30,000.

The firm plans to put up a 30,000-square-foot building as the first phase of a three-step project which will eventually result in a 120,000-square-foot facility.

BookCrafters is a nation-wide printing and binding firm headquartered in Chelsea with offices and printing plant on Buchanan St. The fulfillment house in the industrial park will be an addition to its operations.

Basically, a fulfillment house does the work of taking orders for publications and making deliveries to buyers. Most major magazines and many book-publishers farm out their order and delivery services to fulfillment houses.

BookCrafters presently employs about 300 persons in its printing and binding plant and expects to hire about 30 more when the first phase of the fulfillment house is completed and placed in operation this fall.

No timetable has been set for construction of the second and third phases, nor has any estimate been made of total cost and maximum anticipated new jobs when the project is completed.

William Nuffer, president of BookCrafters, expressed thanks to several local and state agencies during Monday's ground-breaking ceremonies, which took

Fair Queen Candidates Are Needed

Candidates are being sought for the 1984 Chelsea Community Fair Queen's Contest to be held Friday, Aug. 31. Girls must be students of Chelsea or Dexter High schools. Candidates will be attending activities of the 1984 Queen on Friday evening.

All organizations and businesses are encouraged to enter a candidate. As a sponsor, you must provide a float for your candidate to ride upon in the Saturday parade, a sash with your organization or business name on it and flowers.

For more information or to enter a candidate, please contact Margot Koenn at 475-2170 or Cindy Bradbury at 475-2568.

Deadline for entry is Aug. 3.

Stephen Radant Cited in State Math Competition

Stephen Radant of Beach Middle school competed with 624 other middle school students in the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics Junior High/Middle School mathematics competition. The seventh grader was among 66 who won an honorable mention.

Radant is the son of Judy and Phil Radant.

Extension Asked for Park Tax

Washtenaw voters will be asked to keep on paying a .25 mill special tax for the county park system. The income is used to buy, maintain and operate park and recreation lands.

The tax extension will appear on the Nov. 6 election ballot, by order of the Board of County Commissioners.

The extended levy would begin in 1987 and go on through 1996. The present .25 mill parks and recreation tax is scheduled to expire in 1986.

Based on the average assessed valuation of $40,000 (half of $80,000 market value) for private properties in the county, Washtenaw owners would pay $10 a year for the park system. At present assessment rates, the park tax would yield about half a million dollars a year.

Chelsea's Electric Rates In Middle

Chelsea's electricity rates are in the middle over-all of prices charged by 25 municipally owned utilities in Michigan according to figures compiled by Consumers Power Co.

Chelsea's minimum charge of $1 per month is the lowest on the list.

For usage of 1,000 kilowatt-hours, including electric water heating, the average Chelsea monthly bill of $56.49 is exactly in the center—13th among the 25. The costs range from $43.45 charged in Paw Paw to $65.26 in Union City.

the Michigan Office of Community Development for their assistance.

"All of our contacts with these people have been positive. Their help has enabled BookCrafters to expand and be a growing, contributing member of the Chelsea community."

The Chelsea council has awarded a $465,000 contract to E. W. Garlick Co. of Ann Arbor for development work on roads, streets, water and sewer lines in the industrial park. Of that amount, $220,000 will be paid through a $220,000 grant under the Small Cities Act. The rest will be initially financed by the village, with repayment expected from sales of property in the park.

No other firm offers to buy, besides BookCrafters' purchase and option, have been received to date. Experience elsewhere has shown, however, that once an industrial park gets off the ground with a first occupant, others follow.

Giant Sesqui Birthday Cake Baked By Volunteer Crew

Dorothy Hafner and Debbie Stapish spent eight hours baking Chelsea's birthday cake for the Sesquicentennial. The pair worked at Chelsea High school from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. baking 500 boxes of Jiffy Mix.

Chelsea Milling Co. donated 750 boxes of Jiffy Mix for the cake. The remaining 250 were sent to churches and Faith in Action. Local residents donated the 500 eggs used in the mixes.

The cake consisted of 22 two-layer cakes pushed together. Each layer was 16 by 26 inches. When finished, the cake spanned four folding tables at 32 inches by 16 feet. An extra layer was used to make the Chelsea sandhill.

Twelve Chelsea residents baked the houses which decorated the cake. Those residents were: Karmel Bycraft, Judy Radant, Eloise Schulz, Sandy Young, Debbie Klink, Sue McCalla, Patty Clemons, Ann Hoover, Lola Machnik, Nina Jaques, Mary Gaken and Elizabeth Herrst. Dorothy's daughter, Robin Hafner, baked the cake which stood for Davidson Station, once described as a shack where the railroad stopped. The 12 houses were modeled after pictures of homes from the 1800s.

To decorate the cake, Hafner and Stapish made a road from brown sugar. Trees were taken from Hafner's lilac bushes. A weeping willow and greenery around the pond came from

New Police Chief Sought Following Aeillo Settlement

Village president Jerry Satterthwaite said he will move quickly to appoint a permanent Chelsea police chief in the wake of the permanent removal of Robert E. Aeillo from the post.

"I think we might take some action this week," Satterthwaite said. "Now that Aeillo's resignation is legally settled, we need to get the position filled."

"Sgt. Lenard McDougall has done a good job as acting chief, and he certainly is a prime candidate for permanent appointment. I don't know at this point whether we will solicit other applicants or not. The whole council will confer on that."

An agreement arrived at between Steven M. Jentzen, Aeillo's lawyer, and village attorneys Peter Flintoft and Fred Schwarz (Ann Arbor labor law specialist) cut off Aeillo's employment relationship with the village forever.

The settlement awarded Aeillo $4,500 in back pay and $15,000 in compensatory damages, a total of $19,500. In return, Aeillo agreed to submit a "voluntary resignation," not seek reinstatement, and waive any further claims against the village.

An investigation into handling of the village parking meter fund was launched last Jan. 6 and resulted in Aeillo's arrest and being placed on paid leave of absence. It was announced at the time that he was "on vacation."

Following a probe by the county prosecutor's office and the state police, Aeillo was arrested on Feb. 10 and charged with embezzling more than $50 in public funds. A special audit of 1983's parking fund receipts, performed by Icerman, Johnson & Hoffman of Ann Arbor, turned up a shortage of $464 and 66 unaccounted-for tickets.

Former village president Jack Merkel either suspended or dismissed Aeillo on March 16, depending on how the ambiguously worded notice of dismissal is read and interpreted.

On June 18 a circuit court jury in Ann Arbor found Aeillo innocent of the embezzlement charge. Testimony at the trial indicated there had been loose management of parking fine receipts, which Aeillo admitted. Aeillo testified that he had inherited a system which gave at least 20 police department employees access to fine payments. He tried to make the system work, he said, but continually ran short in his accounts.

He acknowledged that he did not report the problem to his superiors. "I tried to make the system work," Aeillo testified, "but I'm not an accountant. There should be a new, better system whoever is the police chief."

Following announcement of the $19,500 settlement at a special meeting of the village council on July 10, Aeillo said he had "never been offered the opportunity for reinstatement" as police chief.

"I signed the agreement," he said. "I won't say that I'm totally satisfied with it, but it was the only option offered other than to go through a long, drawn-out lawsuit against the village and its officials."

"I don't have anything definite in mind for the future in terms of a job. I have some prospects, but I'm still looking. I would like to stay in public police work, which has been my entire career, and I would like to stay in the Chelsea area, but I'm willing to consider anything and relocate if I have to."

Satterthwaite indirectly confirmed that Aeillo had not been given a chance to come back as Chelsea Police chief.

"I don't think he would have been comfortable, and neither would we," he said. "It would have been a difficult situation for everybody. I think the agreement we made is fair to all parties, and that's why we (village officials) approved it."

The agreement was approved by a 5-1 vote of the village board with trustee Richard Steele dissenting. Steele said he feels the settlement is "morally wrong" and that he "could not justify it in my own mind."

Aeillo expressed wonderment that village officials have taken no action to correct the problem which led to his accusation and arrest.

"As I understand, they are still doing things the same old way," he said. "They still have the same system under which at least 20 people can handle parking fine money. They haven't changed a thing, and that makes me wonder if they are really serious."

The agreement signed between Aeillo and village officials specifies, among other things, that:

All documents related to the embezzlement will be removed from Aeillo's personnel file and he will be provided with untarnished letters of reference upon request.

The village will have no future financial liability to Aeillo.

No village claims will be made against Aeillo for expenses, missing funds, audit fees, attorney fees or any other.

Aeillo will never try to regain village employment, and will release his rights to any and all charges against the village including claims for mental or physical injury, any action for loss of reputation or defamation of character or, in general, any claim that he was improperly separated.

Aeillo will not file any unemployment compensation claims against the village.

A key clause in the agreement states:

"The parties make this agreement to avoid possible litigation. Accordingly, this agreement should not be considered as an admission by either party of any liability or wrong-doing."

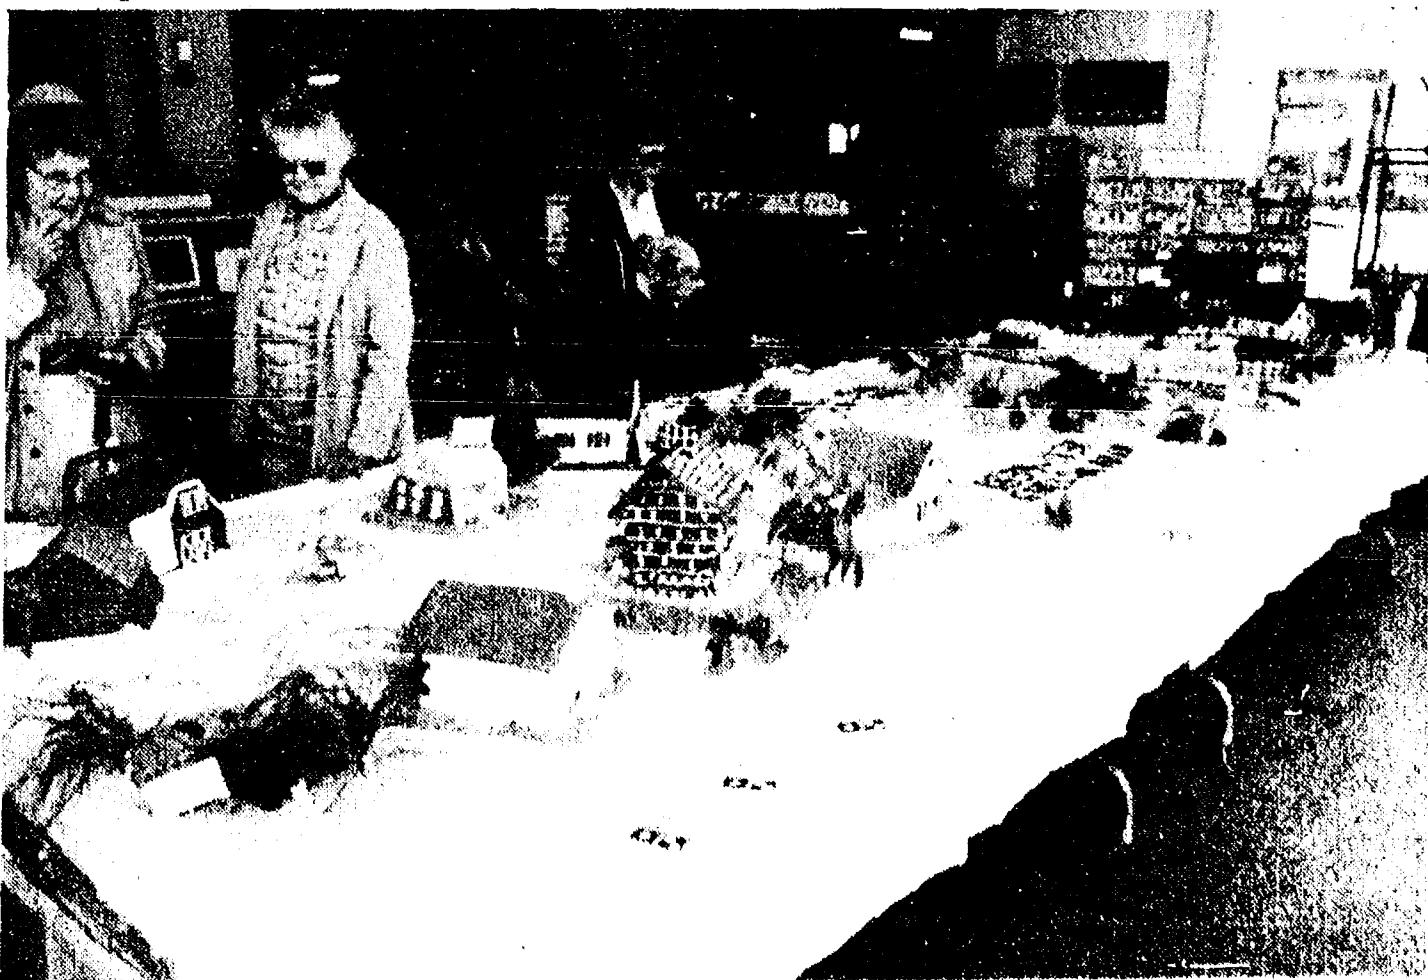

Lurking in the background is a credible rumor that Aeillo supporters plan to circulate petitions for the recall of at least some members of the village council. There was a report that Aeillo may run for office should the recall be successful.

While the agreement between Aeillo and the village legally prohibits his trying to obtain employment as a village employee, it does not bar him from seeking an elective post.

CHS Class of '86 Planning Fair Float

Chelsea High school class of 1986 will meet Friday, July 20 at 2 p.m. in Pierce Park. Purpose of the meeting is to plan a float for the Chelsea Community Fair.

SESIQUICENTENNIAL CAKE: Viewers admire the Chelsea Sesquicentennial cake baked by Dorothy Hafner and Debbie Stapish from 500 boxes of Jiffy Mix and 500 eggs, all donated. It was a real work of art.

Hafner's asparagus patch. Frosted ice cream cones became fir trees.

According to Hafner, each cake layer could serve 200 people and the entire cake was made for 4,000. The cake was enjoyed at Palmer Ford Inc.'s showroom. "They very nicely moved their car out and let us move the cake in," said Hafner.

Of the leftovers, two layers were donated to the Methodist Home. "Half of another layer went to some people who stopped in front. They were moving cattle to Manchester. We asked if they would like to have some so they took it, said Hafner.

The rest of the leftovers went to the high school to be served to people attending the children's plays.

Both Hafner and Stapish bake for friends on request. Hafner said the biggest cake she had made until Chelsea's birthday was for a wedding which served between 350 and 400 people.

'Annie' Premieres Here Thursday

"Annie" is here! At 7:30, Thursday night, the curtain will go up on the Chelsea Area Players' history making production and area premiere of "Annie."

This is Chelsea's first premiere, meaning no other theater group in the area (Ann Arbor or Jackson) has presented "Annie," and it has broken just about every record in the book. 160 auditions, 61 cast members and thousands of dollars in advanced ticket sales are a few of the records broken by this production.

The talented cast and staff has worked very hard over the past seven weeks to present a show not to be forgotten. Along with the cast, many innovative technical aspects will be applied to the show. The production will include the use of radio broadcasting and film accompanying a dance, both of which are also "firsts" in the area.

Treat your family and friends to a truly inspiring show! One like this comes along once in a blue moon. As the two-hour show zips along, you'll be captivated with warmth, fear, laughter and optimism. The sun will come out, for one brief week-end, beginning this Thursday at 7:30 and running through Saturday night. Don't miss Chelsea's first area premiere! Don't miss "Annie."

Some tickets are still available at the Chelsea Cleaners and at the door. When purchasing at the door, please allow 15 minutes before curtain time.

Thursday, July 24, 1980—

Registration for Selective Service began in post offices all around the country last Monday, and Chelsea was no exception. Postmaster Richard Schaules estimates that some three dozen men born in 1960 came to the Chelsea post office to complete the green and white registration forms.

Some four million 19- and 20-year-old men are required to register between now and Aug. 1. The form, which takes about two minutes to fill out, is handed to a postal clerk, who checks it against proper identification, such as a driver's license.

Although more than a week has passed, some 40 households in the Chelsea area are still without power in the aftermath of last Wednesday's violent wind and rain storm.

Residences at North Lake and Half Moon Lake, including Inverness Inn, were without electricity until Monday night.

The homes in the Jennings Rd. and Independence Lake area were not expected to receive power restoration until Friday.

Chelsea's 13- to 15-year-old softball team took the opportunity this week to prove that even on a shaky week-end they're better than any other team in the state. With a total team strength of just 13 players, the softballers took five consecutive games to win the state title in their age classification.

In Washtenaw county "gonorrhea" is reported five times more frequently in minor females than in minor males, according to the 1979 annual report of the Washtenaw County Health Department. In the 18-20-year-old age group, almost twice as many cases of gonorrhea were reported among females as among males.

How does the recent Michigan Supreme Court decision declaring that public school districts must provide free textbooks and supplies for their pupils affect the Chelsea School District?

According to business manager Fred Mills, all the ramifications of the decision are not yet known, but it appears that it will cost the district a minimum of $35,000 in funds which were not budgeted to provide for the textbooks, fees and supplies normally absorbed by the students.

The decision was the result of an Ann Arbor lawsuit initiated by Prof. Daniel Fustfeld and Lillian Bond. In its ruling, the Supreme Court interpreted language in the 1962 State Constitution obliging the Legislature to "maintain and support a system of free, public schools."

This year's wheat harvest will produce a relatively short crop, said Ron Satterthwaite of Blaess Elevator Co. He revealed that this was due to Federal government controls cutting back on wheat quotas and because people didn't plant as much as usual. The price per bushel has risen from the usual $1.16 per bushel to $1.34 this year because the demand is high and the supply short.

Indications are that Mr. Stork is either on tranquilizers or still on the "slow-down" he started in Michigan in 1958.

According to provisional figures released by the Michigan Department of Health, the stork delivered 1,405 fewer bundles to Michigan doorsteps during the first three months of this year than he did last year.

There were 42,463 babies born in the first quarter, compared to 43,868 in 1959.

State Employees Not Lobbying When Giving Information
State department employees who supply requested information before legislative committees are not lobbying and do not have to report their activities, Attorney General Frank Kelley has ruled.

The question had been raised by legislators concerned that interpretations of the lobby law was impeding the budget process because of reluctance of department employees to subject themselves to possible penalties for failing to submit reports required under the lobbyist registration act.

Kelly said the law was intended to cover state employees who engage in lobbying, and the language does make the terms susceptible to interpretations requiring reports when information is requested because the employee would be influencing legislation.

But he added, "It is readily apparent that such a literal construction of the statute would lead to absurd and unjust results and would prejudice the public interest. In order for the Legislature to properly exercise its constitutional authority to appropriate funds, it must receive certain information from state executive departments."

Thus, he said when an employee is merely responding to a request, the employee cannot be considered lobbying.

But, he emphasized that when an employee appears before a committee or subcommittee not at its request, the action would be considered lobbying and the employee would become subject to all the reporting and registration provisions of the act.

Marijuana Use Not Subject To Privacy Rights

The constitutional right of privacy does not include the right to use or possess marijuana, the Michigan Court of Appeals ruled unanimously.

The decision—in People vs. Williams—affirmed the Manistee County Circuit Court conviction of a man for possession of marijuana.

Ricky Williams argued that state law prohibiting possession of marijuana unconstitutionally infringed on his right of privacy.

Before the circuit court, he argued the law violated his rights under the Ninth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, guaranteeing that the enumeration of rights in the Constitution does not "deny or disparage others retained by the people," but he dropped that argument before the appeals court.

The appeals panel, Judges Barbara MacKenzie, John Gillis and John Fitzgerald said no other Michigan courts had addressed the issue, and rejected an argument from Williams that it adopted a privacy right for using marijuana that was adopted in Alaska.

Instead, the court adopted a standard set by the Washington Supreme Court which held there was no privacy right to possess or use marijuana.

The Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA), signed into law in October 1982 by President Reagan and implemented by the Labor Department's Employment and Training Administration (ETA) on Oct. 1, 1983, represents an historic new approach to employment and training for American workers, according to the department's annual report for the 1983 fiscal year.

Village Renews Membership in Development Council

The village of Chelsea has approved a one-year extension of its membership in the Washtenaw Development Council (WDC) at a 12-month cost of $4,231 beginning on Sept. 1.

The WDC includes some but not all county governmental units—cities, villages and townships. Its purpose is to stimulate growth of business and industry by attracting new enterprises and helping existing ones expand. Its services are primarily informational and promotional.

The WDC is expected to be instrumental in leading tenants for Chelsea's new industrial park and in other efforts to rebuild the village's economic base.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Boyce Honored on 40th Anniversary

More than 250 friends and relatives gathered at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Dexter, July 6, to celebrate the 40th wedding anniversary of Lloyd and Joyce Boyce of Dexter-Pinckney Rd.

After the Rev. John Harnish led the singing of "How Great Thou Art," the guests were served a meal featuring many of the Boyces' favorite dishes, then entertained by a "This Is Your Life" show emceed by Bill Arnold and Frank Bobo.

The show included many favorite slides of the Boyce family, singing by Carol and Gerry VanDouser and Marcee Bobo (both accompanied by Jean Klark), and many skits put on by friends and relatives who were recalling good times they shared with the Boyces. Each guest also brought a page describing their special memories which has been compiled into a book.

The party was given by Lloyd and Joyce's children: Lynn and Laura Boyce of Orange, Calif.; Sharileen and Dick Detling of Dexter; and Jane and Roger Boyce of Dexter, all of whom, plus the seven grandchildren, were in attendance.

FUNERAL HOMEDO SURVIVORS OF A SUDDEN-DEATH
FEEL THE "STAGES OF DEATH"?

In her book, On Death and Dying, Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross indicates that the acceptance of any death usually goes through these stages: shock and denial; great anger and trying to place blame; a brief period of bargaining followed by a long and often deep depression; then, hopefully, ultimate acceptance of the facts of life - and death.

Dr. Kubler-Ross further states that the survivors of sudden-death victims must go through the same stages of grief as for survivors of those whose death comes slowly.

Reading about and becoming better acquainted with the stages of grief can provide insights for thoughtful contemplation. Reaching a point of understanding how others have had to cope with similar situations can provide strength and consolation at the time of death of a loved one.

We have quite a few books and lists of others which may assist you in coping with your loss of loved ones. We stand ready to help you as best we can. Remember, your needs are our concerns.

K of C Auxiliary Conducts Variety Of Business

The Knights of Columbus Auxiliary met last Thursday evening.

Sign-up sheets were passed out to set up the coming year's bingo concession work schedule.

The Sesqui events were successful, and the ice cream social on July 4 was well attended.

Barbara Phelps will be in charge of the Chelsea Community Fair booth.

A motion was made to open the Auxiliary membership to all ladies, 18 or older, of St. Mary's Catholic Parish. The motion will be presented in writing at the August meeting and voted on at the September meeting.

A motion to purchase fans for use at the Parish Hall was voted on and passed.

Members voted to pay for printing raffle tickets for the arts and crafts group for the Parish Festival.

ACATS Classes Are Postponed, Will Again Be Offered In Fall

Summer classes and workshops traditionally sponsored by the Association of Creative and Academically Talented Students (A.C.A.T.S.) will not be held this summer due to the early start of school in the fall and numerous other summer activities.

Kori White Wins State Twirling Title For 7-8 Age Group

On July 10 Miss Kori White won the Regional Solo competition and Michigan Twirling Unlimited State Championship for ages seven to eight years.

The competition, held in Port Huron, is presented by Twirling Unlimited and annually attracts twirlers from all over the United States and Canada in their pursuit of the coveted Regional title.

Kori White is seven years old and had been working toward this title since beginning twirling four years ago. During that time twirling has taken her to four states for twirling competitions. She is a member of Chelsea Charms and her twirling instructor is Rita Wilson Howard of Ann Arbor.

Kori will be in the 2nd grade at South school this fall. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary White of Chelsea.

Extension Service Offers Workshop on Special Diet Foods

Special diets are a common experience for many these days and almost everyone knows someone on a low sodium diet or a low fat diet. Co-operative Extension Service is sponsoring a lecture-demonstration to show how to meet the challenge of preparing foods for these special diets without sacrificing flavor or culinary excitement.

"Dealing with Special Diets," a part of the regular monthly series, Corner on the Kitchen, will feature a discussion of low-sodium and low-fat diets. Main dishes that adhere to these restrictions will be prepared; emphasis will be on all the delicious foods that one can eat rather than on what is forbidden. Marion Prince, extension home economist and registered dietitian will be the featured speaker.

The program will be held at the Co-operative Extension Service Office, at the county service center, 4133 Washtenaw at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, July 24.

DANA SERVICE AWARD: The first shift of the Chelsea Dana plant received five-, 10-, 15-, and 20-year service awards June 7. Dana supervisors presented recipients with diamond and sapphire rings for 20 years of service, sapphire rings for 15 years, belt buckles, key chains and necklaces for 5 and 10 year employees. Left to right, above are Jack Whitaker, Dennis Kelp, James Schray, Den-

Shirley Burgoyne Seeking Probate Judge Nomination

Ann Arbor attorney Shirley J. Burgoyne will be a candidate for Probate Judge for Washtenaw county at the primary to be held on Aug. 7.

Burgoyne, 51, is a 1956 graduate of the University of Michigan Law School. She is the chairperson of the Codification Committee of the Family Law Council of the State Bar of Michigan. Her activities in the state bar have included six years as an elected member of the Family Law Section Council, membership in the Probate and Trust Law Section since 1959 and in the Family Law Section since its creation in 1974.

She is the author of the article "Child Custody and the Rule of Common Sense" published in 1976 in the Family Law Reporter, a publication of the Bureau of National Affairs.

She has been an associate member of the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges since 1969. She is also a member of the American Bar Association, the American Judicature Society, the Women Lawyers Association of Michigan, the Washtenaw County Bar Association, the American and Michigan Trial Lawyers Association, and is currently the elected treasurer of the Washtenaw Trial Lawyers Association. She has also served as a vice-chairperson of the American Bar Association's committee on law and mental health.

Probate judges handle estates, mental health, adoption, child abuse and delinquency. Since the responsibilities in Washtenaw county have been divided, the judge to be elected this year will be primarily responsible for the juvenile division of the court located on Platt Rd., in Ann Arbor.

"As a juvenile judge," Burgoyne stated, "I would administer the court and its courtroom to accomplish the task of understanding the child and the family with caring concern and invoking the authority of the court to encourage new growth in the individuals involved while keeping in mind that the goal of helping the individuals must be accomplished without compromising our society's need to protect our community from crime and anti-social behavior."

"In my 28 years of legal experience, I believe that I have developed the skills needed in law to be a juvenile judge and that I also have those skills especially necessary in the juvenile court to communicate effectively with experts in mental health, social work, school administration, and law enforcement," Burgoyne concluded.

She is a resident of Ann Arbor and the mother of three adult children.

Two Local Piano Teachers Attend U. of M. Seminar

Chelsea piano teachers Rochelle Martinez-Movilleseaux, 3750 Silver Fox Dr. and Betty Rasmussen, 48 Chestnut Dr., recently attended "The World of Piano II," a three-day conference on teaching techniques and materials at the University of Michigan.

Co-sponsored by the university and the National Piano Foundation, the seminar focused on creative methods of teaching adults, children and groups; jazz, pop, recreational music and improvisation; studio organization, and the latest innovations in computer software available to the independent piano instructor.

The National Piano foundation, the Educational arm of the National Piano Manufacturers Association, organized the conference as part of its commitment to serve the best of piano teachers.

Farm Bill Policy Alternatives for '85 Meetings Slated

Should the new farm bill that will be drafted by Congress early next year take the direction of strict government supply management controls or should there be no farm program at all? Hundreds of farmers from throughout the state will consider those alternatives and others during meetings sponsored by Michigan Farm Bureau in August.

"Farm Bill '85 Policy Alternatives" sessions are scheduled for Aug. 15 at the Grayling Holiday Inn, Aug. 16 at the Grand Rapids Amway Grand Plaza Hotel, and Aug. 17 at the Frankenmuth Bavarian Inn. Each of the sessions will begin at 10 a.m. and adjourn at 3:30 p.m. it easier since 1957 when he went all out by delivering a record high number of 208,488 precious bundles.

Three youths told their "fish story" to Ann Arbor municipal court last Monday, and the trouble was, it was true.

Found guilty of spearing black bass at Silver Lake in Dexter township, were Edward T. Green, 21, and Joseph Warsecke, 20, both of Lincoln Park; and Kenneth B. Wezner, 20, of Southgate.

All three were sentenced to one day in jail and fined $50 plus $13 court costs.

The men were caught with eight bass, the biggest of which topped the scales at five pounds.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Aug. 3, 1950—

Production on a limited scale was started at the Chelsea Manufacturing Corp. plant on Hayes St. yesterday morning, according to Dick Johns, plant superintendent. A force of 20 men is working on one shift for the rest of this week, and plans are for two shifts to begin Monday.

The three large-scale grain buyers in this vicinity, Blaess Elevator, Chelsea Lumber, Grain & Coal Co., and Chelsea Milling, were swamped with wheat over the week-end. Spokesmen believe the big run of the season is about over, although some wheat will continue to come in for the next 10 days or so. For the most part, all buyers report the bulk of the wheat this year is of good quality.

In line with the suggestion of state officials that all communities organize efforts for civil defense under one local committee chairman, village president M. W. McClure has appointed Willard R. Guest as director of civil defense.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

Some wrap-up thoughts on the Bob Aeillo story, now that it appears to have come to at least a temporary pause with a signed, sealed and delivered agreement between lawyers for the former police chief and Chelsea's village government:

I doubt if the story is ended. My instincts as a long-time newsman tell me that something more is going to happen, but I won't venture to predict what it may be. I'll keep on watching, asking questions, and reporting the answers.

I suspect there are many people who agree with trustee Richard Steele that the agreement to pay Aeillo $19,500 in return for his "voluntary resignation" is a "cop-out," to make a very bad pun. Steele's statement during the July 10 special village council meeting that "I can't swallow" the agreement because "it is morally wrong" comes across as a courageous expression of honest doubts.

I am not going to take sides on whether the agreement is right or wrong, because I don't know enough about the law to make an informed judgment. It well may have been the best way out of a sticky situation that both parties contributed to creating. The matter was mishandled from the start.

A majority of the village council approved the agreement on the advice of two attorneys who presumably know the laws and their implications. Some perplexing questions occur to me:

Does Chelsea's government, or any other government, have the right to fire an employee without fear of legal reprisal? Do government employees (and I was one for 17 years) enjoy some special immunity against being terminated by decision of their employer?

I was brought up to believe that I work at the pleasure of whomever hired me and pays my wages, and that it's up to him—not me—to decide whether I should go on working or not. It's his money, and his judgment to make whether I am earning it or not.

Does acquittal on a criminal charge give the person accused some kind of right to claim and collect compensatory damages? If so, that is a new (to me) principle of law.

Certainly it is damaging to one's reputation to be arrested and charged with having committed a crime. The judicial system provides that a verdict of innocent or guilty will eventually be made. A finding of innocence presumably restores reputation and makes the person whole again.

There is no doubt in my mind that Aeillo would have sued village officials had the settlement not been made. He made that pretty clear in a couple of conversations that I had with him while his case was being resolved. He insisted from the start that he was innocent, and a circuit court jury upheld him.

At the same time testimony during the trial brought out information to raise doubts whether Aeillo should continue to be Chelsea's police chief. His defense against an embezzlement charge was based on an admission that he couldn't keep proper track of receipts into the village parking meter fund. He didn't steal any money, he testified, he just somehow lost it.

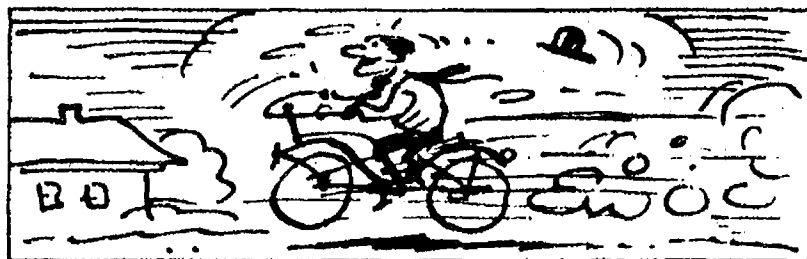

I suspect that both village officials and Aeillo would have been uncomfortable had he been restored to duty as police chief. There would have been a lot of mutual looking-over-the-shoulders.

The matter has taken more than six months to resolve, and that is too long. Now that a conclusion apparently has been reached, it's time to clean up the loose ends and restore village government to normalcy.

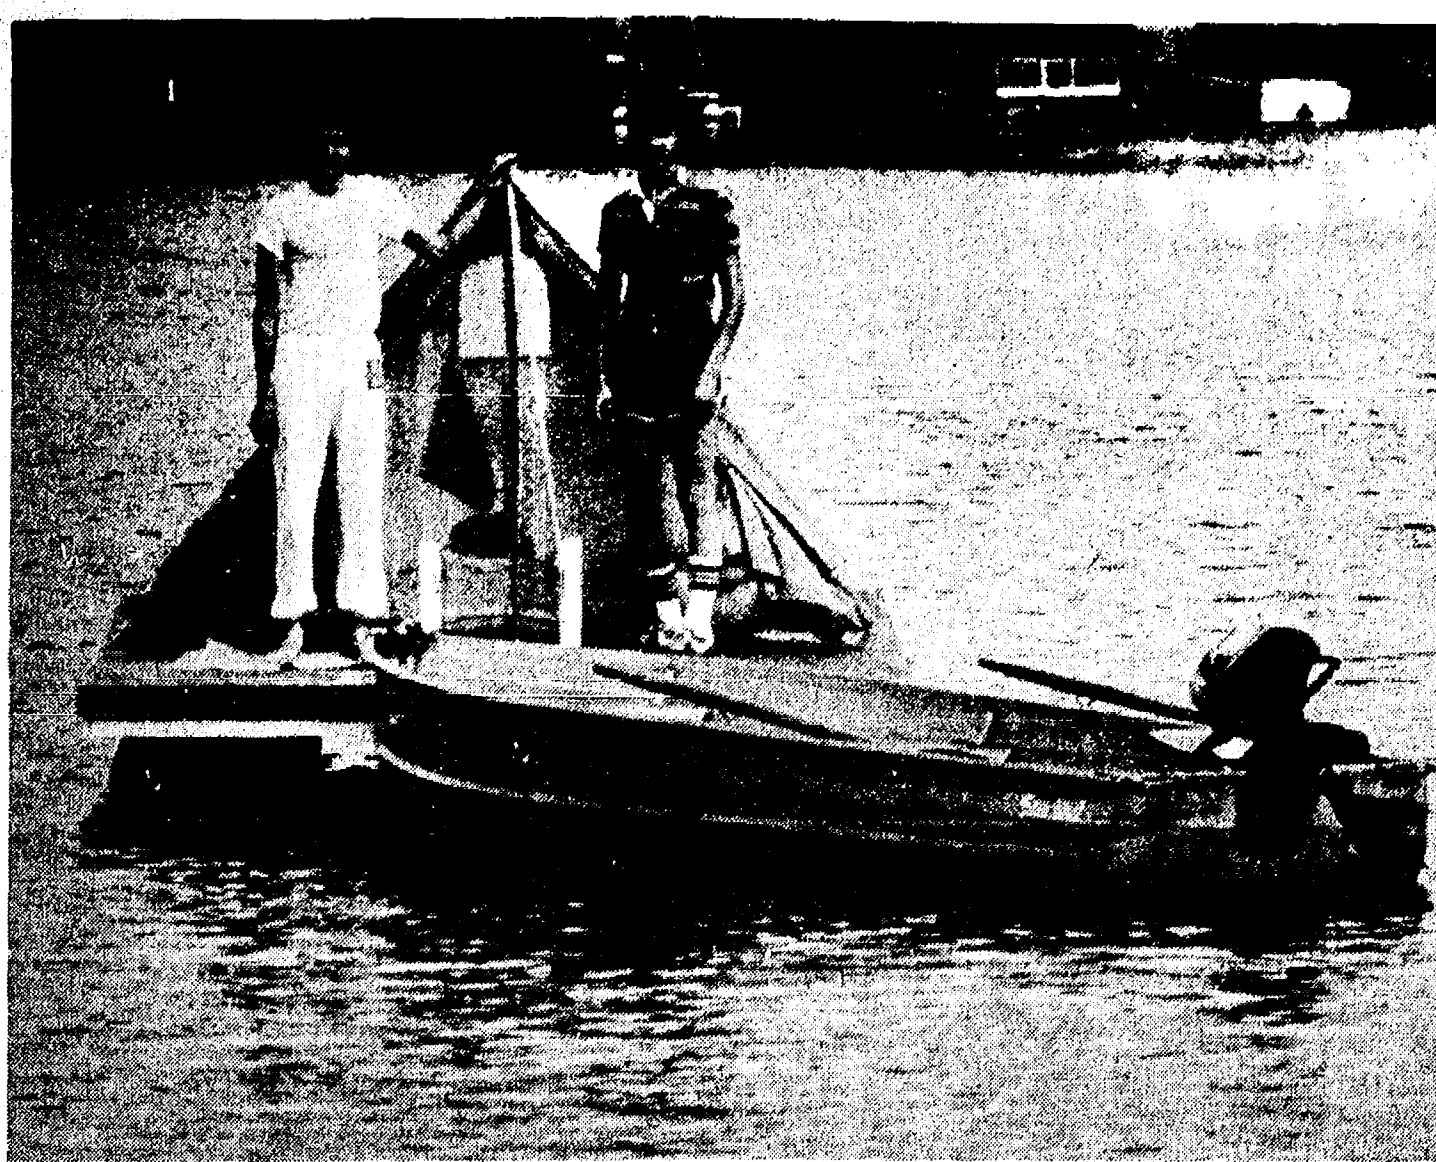

Appointment of a new, permanent police chief should be an urgent order of business. Sgt. Lenard McDougall has done a competent job as acting chief while doing double-duty as a patrol officer, and has therefore earned consideration for the appointment if he wants it. However, I believe the council would be wise to advertise the position, solicit candidates, conduct interviews and make a selection based on some objective set of criteria that can be defended as fair to everybody.

The council should also act quickly to restore itself to full strength by filling the vacancy created by the resignation of trustee Fred Harris. Village president Jerry Satterthwaite had a legitimate reason to recommend waiting until Aeillo's status was resolved before bringing a newcomer onto the council. Now there is no reason to hold off. There are people who want the post, and one of them should be selected soon.

One has to hope that the Aeillo matter is indeed ended, despite my personal doubts to the contrary, and that village government can get on with other things. One has to hope, too, that Aeillo will find employment elsewhere in a satisfying situation. That could be the best guarantee against any future developments in the case.

The first bicycle trip around the world was made by Thomas Stevens, who started from San Francisco, Calif., on April, 22, 1884 on a 50-inch bicycle and returned January 4, 1887.

LOOK AT THIS WATER BED! Most people camp on dry land. But Chelsea High School senior Bill Moller (left) and junior Tracy Guard decided they'd avoid the ants and mosquitos by camping on the water. The students camped last Saturday through Wednesday on North Lake "just for fun."

Manchester Chicken Broil Slated Thursday

Manchester's 31st annual Chicken Broil is Thursday, July 19 at the athletic field on E. Duncan St. The town is prepared to serve 14,000 in four hours.

A ticket buys a slow-cooked, butter-basted chicken half and all the trimmings. It takes 2½ hours of slow-broiling to cook the chickens. Then the drumsticks turn freely. Old German kraut cutters slither over a ton of cabbage which is tossed with gallons of slaw sauce. Fresh rolls, potato chips, radishes and coffee or milk complete the dinner. Ice cream and soft drinks are available.

Cost of the dinner is $4.50 at the gate. Advance tickets cost $4.

This year, Fat Bob Taylor, well-known singing plumber of WJR and WAAM, will be the "Man of the Hour" for the broil. He is the festival's second guest of the hour. Bud Guest was the first in 1980.

The Ypsilanti Concert Band is extending their season four days so they can be in Manchester and perform at the Chicken Broil along with Fat Bob Taylor. Hopefully this will be the community's best. Last year's broil has its "bout" with foul weather when the pits had to be rekindled four times before workers finally called it quits. Power lines were down in the eastern section of town and were not restored until Friday afternoon. That time the broil was not so lucky.

There will be horse and wagon shuttle service between the broil and the high school parking lot. This year there will be teams and drivers from Manchester, Chelsea, Grass Lake and Ann Arbor. The taxi service was started in 1976 by Wendell Reinhardt and has proved so popular it has been used each year since. There is no charge for riders.

Guests may eat at the hundreds of tables on the grounds. There is a separate take-out line for guests to take dinners home. Carr Park and Park Sharon, a small county park six miles north of town on M-52 are good eating spots. Carr Park is at the west village limits.

Money from the Chicken Broil has provided for many improvements. The athletic field has been equipped, there was the building of Kirk Park, helping local Historical Society purchase the John R. Schneider Blacksmith Shop as a Community Activities Building, and Historic Museum and many other improvements including converting a village dump into an athletic field, buying two parks and making numerous additions to the township library.

Sara Schwarze Graduates from Spring Arbor College

Sara J. Schwarze of 92 Cavanaugh Lake, Chelsea, received a bachelor of arts degree in Business Administration from Spring Arbor College on Sunday, May 20, at the institution's 111th commencement ceremony.

Dr. Lon D. Randall, associate director for international operations of the United States Peace Corps, delivered the commencement address.

Dr. Donald E. Demaray, professor of preaching at Asbury Theological Seminary (Kentucky), spoke at the baccalaureate service.

There were 227 candidates for the bachelor of arts in the Class of 1984.

Spring Arbor College is a private, four-year Christian Liberal arts college located in Spring Arbor, seven miles west of Jackson. It serves 650 resident students and more than 400 students in external learning programs throughout the state.

EARNs DEGREE: Joe Wilkerson (left) has completed an associate degree in applied arts and science at Jackson Community College with the help of the Dana Corp. 75 percent tuition refund program. At right is Don Blair, Chelsea Dana plant manager.

Commodity Prices Slightly Lower

Prices received by farmers in June dropped .7% from the previous month but were up 7.5% from a year earlier. The U.S. Department of Agriculture said lower prices for cattle, soybeans, eggs, wheat and milk were partially offset by higher prices for oranges, hogs, lettuce, lemons and potatoes.

Prices paid by farmers in June were unchanged from May's input costs, but were up 3.1% from June, 1983.

Theater Workshop 'Very Successful'

The Sesquicentennial Theater Workshop for Children performance was a great success. On July 1 about 500 people turned out for the Evening of Plays at the high school. Many of these people enthusiastically described the plays as "the best Theater Workshop has ever produced," "excellent entertainment," "a very enjoyable experience."

The 60 children gave very natural performances in "The Sesquicentennial Zone: a Play," by Eric Kruger and Mike Smith; "Depot Destruction," by Brian Myers; and "History in a Jiffy," by Phil Powers. For the show's finale, the children appeared on stage wearing home-made beards, singing "Happy Birthday to Chelsea."

Joy Stacey, director of the Theater Workshop stated, "In every way, this was the most successful Theater Workshop ever. The children grow in self-confidence as they become comfortable performing on stage in front of an audience. The Theater Workshop staff thanks the Chelsea community for their enthusiastic support this year."

All families who have loaned props to the three play casts and who haven't picked them up from the high school should call the appropriate play director: Mike

Smith, 475-9768; Brian Myers, 475-8101; Phil Powers, 475-7302.

First Aid Volunteers Needed for Spectators At U. of M. Games

The American Red Cross is looking for volunteers to join the First Aid Corps which provide first aid for spectators at University of Michigan home football and hockey games.

Saline Attorney Seeks Probate Court Position

Pam Byrnes, a Saline attorney with extensive experience in family law, is a candidate for Washtenaw County Probate Judge. Byrnes is seeking the position being vacated by Judge Loren Campbell who oversees all juvenile matters, including adoptions, neglect and abuse, and juvenile delinquency.

Byrnes, a Saline resident, has been involved with children in the legal system for a number of years, including three years as the Washtenaw County Friend of the Court. "The Juvenile Court needs experienced leadership. As Friend of the Court, I dealt with the very practical side of children's issues. I want to keep our juveniles out of the judicial system if we can, and then help them and their parents, if they must come to the court."

"The Juvenile Judge has responsibilities beyond the bench. The Judge sets the policies for the court in response to the needs of the community. While detention must sometimes be used, there must also be alternatives to detention. Diversion, a method of identifying troubled youth prior to actual arrest is a technique I support. The courts, schools, police and social agencies must work together to help juveniles and their families before problems get out of control."

Byrnes would bring extensive experience to the position of Juvenile Judge. In addition to being Friend of the Court from 1978 to 1981, she has considerable legal experience and community service. She has served on the board of directors of the Washtenaw County Co-ordinating Council for Children at Risk; the advisory board of the Saline Youth Diversion Project; board of directors of the Saline Area United Fund; member of the Washtenaw County Commission on the Status of Women; a member of the City of Saline Planning Commission and the Historic District Commission.

Byrnes is a member of the State Bar of Michigan, the State Bar Family Law Section and the Washtenaw County Bar Association.

4-H CLUBS

ROGERS CORNERS HERDSMEN

The June 26 meeting of Rogers Corners Herdsmen was called to order with the Pledge of Allegiance and the 4-H pledge. Queen candidate Amy Wolfgang was chosen to represent the club during Chelsea Fair. Entry blanks for Washtenaw County Show (July 31-Aug. 3) and Sesquicentennial books were collected.

Several people gave demonstrations. They included Linnell Bremher on Raising Chicks for Market; Colleen Sharporn with rabbits; David Barels on Feeding and Caring of Market Lambs; Matt Grau told how to Break Steers for Show and Amy Wolfgang on Dairy Herd Records.

Announcements were made by the leaders. Mr. Heller discussed County Show and the Livestock Auction on Aug. 2. Mr. Sharporn told of the upcoming softball practices. Mr. Barels announced two work bees—sign making on July 5 and gate building on July 12.

The next meeting will be on July 24. Please bring any pictures of former members and their projects for our heritage display. Refreshments were served after adjournment.

The African elephant's second most serious problem, after being poached for their ivory tusks, is its appetite, say wildlife experts. An elephant may eat 500 pounds of forage a day, requiring about one square mile of average savanna per animal over the course of a year. That's a lot of land for some African countries, like Kenya, which has only 225,000 square miles and some 60,000 elephants to feed.

Wilderness Survival Skills Offered By 4-H

Washtenaw county older youths and adults who want to learn more about wilderness survival should take advantage of the opportunity to participate in the 4-H Challenge wilderness adventure training program, says Thomas Gibson, Washtenaw county challenge co-ordinator.

Through the 4-H Challenge program, participants learn a variety of skills, including hiking and backpacking, canoeing, cross-country skiing, orienteering, and wilderness cooking and survival.

According to Gibson, county residents interested in becoming part of the challenge program and, after training, serving as group leaders for young people, should sign up now.

The 4-H Challenge leader training begins Sept. 28 and takes place at various spots throughout the state.

Gibson says that anyone interested in becoming a challenge leader must attend four week-end intensive training sessions, pass a comprehensive written test and take a Multi Media Standard First Aid and CPR course. Additional training in areas such as climbing and rappelling, caving, survival, canoeing, kayaking, sailing, bike touring, winter survival (including skiing and snowshoeing) and wilderness backpacking is available.

"Because challenge leaders will be involved in high adventure situations and be responsible for youngsters participating in wilderness situations and be responsible for youngsters participating in wilderness outings, they must be prepared," Gibson points out. "After completing all the training, challenge leaders become certified and are qualified to take youths on wilderness adventures and are expected to form county 4-H Challenge clubs.

To be eligible for the 4-H Challenge certification program, applicants must be at least 21 years old. Young people aged 16-20 years may become associate leaders, who must be accompanied by a certified adult leader when taking a group of youngsters on a challenge outing. Training for both leader types is identical.

Washtenaw county residents interested in signing up for the 4-H Challenge leader certification program should contact Thomas Gibson at the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service office, or call 973-9510.

Dr. Howe Designs New Orthodontic Device

Raymond P. Howe, DDS, MS recently returned from teaching a series of orthodontic seminars to his colleagues in Guatemala, Montana, Oregon, Missouri, Wisconsin and Washington D. C. as well as Ontario and Alberta, Canada.

Dr. Howe lectured on an improved orthodontic appliance which he designed, called the Acrylic-Splint Herbst appliance. This device is useful in treating patients with bite problems, especially when those problems result from an underdevelopment of the lower jaw.

The principal advantage of this appliance over earlier growth appliances, is that his new appliance which is worn entirely inside the mouth, does not interfere with speech, eating, drinking or sleeping. Consequently it can be worn twenty-four hours a day and treatment progresses much more quickly.

In addition to his busy speaking schedule, Dr. Howe maintains an orthodontic office near Dexter, teaches at the University of Detroit, and is an Adjunct Research Investigator at the Center for Human Growth and Development at the University of Michigan. He has published several articles related to his work with jaw growth appliances and has published a series of information booklets for his patients.

Lawyers Tell How Village Can Finance New Sewage Plant

The Detroit law firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone has sent a letter to Chelsea administrator Fredrick Weber advising how the village can meet its local share of costs in financing a new waste water treatment plant.

The letter was signed by Donald W. Keim, a partner in the law firm.

The village is under order to bring its sewage treatment plant up to state water pollution control standards no later than July, 1988, which means that construction should start in 1986.

The Toledo, O., consulting engineering firm of Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout has developed a construction plan which would cost $4.5 million to carry out at present prices.

Chelsea hopes to obtain a federal/state grant for 70 percent of the cost, and has risen into the "top 30" on the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' eligibility list. The rest of the cost would have to be raised and paid locally.

Keim's letter assumes that the village share of the costs will be more than $1.3 million and outlines three approaches for paying them, as follows:

"The village may issue general obligation bonds pledging the full faith and credit of the village for repayment of the funds borrowed. This approach requires approval of the village electorate at a special election or at the general election. We note that the village has heretofore issued general obligation bonds for the village's waste water and sewage disposal system.

"The primary advantages of this approach include the prospect that the village's bonds may be sold at an interest rate that is lower than would be available through any other financing approach. This would in turn translate into a lower over-all cost to the village residents. In addition, the millage for repayment of these general obligation bonds may be deducted by many taxpayers from federal and state income taxes. The village could also use sewer system user charges to pay part of the annual debt service even though, from a formal standpoint, the village would be pledging its unlimited tax and full faith and credit.

"The primary disadvantages include the need to conduct an election and the related political concerns resulting from the prospect of an increase in property taxes.

"The second approach involves the issuance of revenue bonds to finance the local share of the project. The revenue bonds would be payable solely and only from the rates and charges imposed upon users of the system. The village, however, would also need to pledge its limited tax and full faith and credit as secondary security in order to maximize the market attractiveness of the bonds.

"The disadvantages of this approach include the prospect that revenue bonds will be sold at a somewhat higher rate of interest than may be expected with any other financing mechanism. In addition it may be necessary to

Chelsea High Class of '59 Meets for 25th-Year Reunion

Last Saturday, 45 members of Chelsea High school's 1959 graduating class met for their 25th-year reunion at Weber's Inn in Ann Arbor. Some had come from as far away as New York and Louisiana to attend. Many hadn't seen each other since their 10th reunion.

"We talked about some of the things like how important commencement was, which we had thought of as a thing that happened in the cafeteria. Some of the boys were rowdy in the cafeteria. We said, 'Now we're in a nice place, let's behave,'" said Veretta Greenwood Whitaker, of the reunion planning committee.

The class of 71 members began attending the new Chelsea High school when it opened its doors on Feb. 2, 1959 and graduated June 10, 1959. This class was also the first to graduate from South school's 8th grade.

The class transferred from the old Chelsea High school which closed because it was too small. The Schoolhouse Apartments now stand where the school used to be.

But the school is still there and was painted for the reunion. "Pat (Merkel) called me and said 'We don't need anymore meetings and I said, 'Yes we do. We've got to paint the rock.' He said, 'You've got to be kidding.' So we did," said Whitaker.

Reunion committee members Merkel, Sue and Don Wood, and Gus Steger were joined by Fritz Wagner to paint the rock. Other committee members were Anita Eisemann and Don Ferguson, Tim Frederick, Earl Heller, Sandra Karner and George Mayer, Jerry Satterthwaite, and Bob Smith.

Merkel who was class president, because a vice-president of Citizen's Trust bank. Class vice-president Heller is vice-president of the Chelsea School Board. Elaine Walker was class secretary. Treasurer Dee Scripster Harder did not attend.

"I think we worked together very hard. I think we were a successful spirited class—we weren't so good at sports. I think we were real leaders and that has been shown in our community because we have many caring and community leaders," said Whitaker.

Other class leaders include Chelsea's village president, Jerry Satterthwaite and former president Don Wood. Ralph Fletcher owns and operates an auto service and repair station. Frank Frederick teaches school in Dexter.

Other Chelsea residents included Barbara Balmer-Roderick who works at the University of Michigan, the Mayers and Steger who is a CPA.

Out-of-town alumni include Fritz Wagner from New Orleans, La., who is a professor and director of the school of Urban and Regional Studies for the University of New Orleans. Carole Barr (Nurkiewicz) teaches high school home economics in Uniontown, Pa. Sandy Fraser is a nurse in Traverse City. Bud Huelsburg from Norfolk, Va. owns a furniture store. Karen Munro (Vouratis) of Fayetteville, N.Y., teaches photography. Smith, who lives in Dewitt, lobbies in the Michigan legislature.

Two guest teachers who attended the reunion were Al Conklin, coach, and George Prinzing, history teacher.

Boating Accident Reported Sunday

A marine accident Sunday, July 15, at Half Moon Lake in Dexter township, resulted in injuries to two people who were being towed on inner tubes by a 75-ft. rope attached to a 17-ft. Glastron boat with 115 h.p., Evinrude outboard which was operated by Ronald Cook of Westland.

Cook made a sweeping turn to the left, as the boat was east-bound on Half Moon, about 1,000-1,500 ft. west of the Half Moon public beach, and the tube riders were slammed into an anchored swim raft. Both riders were wearing life jackets, reported deputies from the Washtenaw County Sheriff Department Marine Safety Division. The report, taken by Marine Safety Officer Mark McClure and Marine Safety Supervisor Mike Bailey, stated Sherri Cook and Tracy I. Milz, both of Westland, were transported to University of Michigan Medical Center for treatment. Ms. Cook by the Huron Valley Medivac team, and Ms. Milz by an HVA ambulance crew. Ms. Cook's injuries included a fractured pelvis, head injuries, and a fractured right elbow, according to the report, and Ms. Milz suffered a fractured finger.

More than 250,000 apprentices were in training at the end of the 1983 fiscal year, including about 17,000 women and 51,000 members of minority groups, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's annual report.

Traffic Slow-Down In Effect on US-23, I-94 Intersection

Traffic using the bridge carrying US-23 Freeway over I-94 Freeway southeast of Ann Arbor in Washtenaw county will be restricted to one lane in both northbound and southbound lanes beginning Monday, July 16 for bridge improvements, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) has stated.

For safety purposes, while construction is underway, I-94 traffic beneath the US-23 bridge will likewise be restricted to one lane, both eastbound and westbound, between the hours of 7 p.m. and 6 a.m. when most of the actual construction work will take place.

The bridge improvement project calls for deck resurfacing and installation of concrete median barriers.

The traffic restrictions are expected to remain in effect through the current construction season.

increase the water/sewer rates substantially in order to amortize the debt service. Water/sewer rate increases are frequently politically sensitive and, unlike the millage rates, are not deductible from federal and state income taxes.

"The issuance of revenue bonds requires the publication of a notice permitting the village taxpayers to petition for a referendum election on the question of issuance of the bonds (even though the revenue bonds may be payable solely and only from the revenue of the system). Finally, marketing requirements for revenue bonds include the need to establish rates and charges that exceed the projected operation and maintenance debt service costs. That is, your rates must be set sufficiently high to provide 'coverage' of net revenues (gross revenues less operation and maintenance costs) approximately 130 to 150 percent greater than maximum annual debt service.

"The third alternative and the one that is used most often throughout the state to finance projects of this type involve the issuance of bonds by the county through its department of public works, with the village to provide the funds to repay the bonds.

"The basic procedure is for Washtenaw county to issue the bonds, for the Washtenaw county DPW to 'build' the improvements and 'lease' them to the village. Actually this would be a lease-purchase contract and the village would agree to provide the funds sufficient to pay principal and interest on the bonds as they became due. The village would operate the facility and would otherwise retain control, and legal title to the improvements would come back to the village after the bonds are paid off.

"The village could use a variety of means to generate the funds to pay debt service. Usually, user charges, that is, rates and charges to users of the system, are used to provide the funds to pay debt service. The village may also be able to pay a portion of the annual debt service from its general funds if it chose to do so.

"From a formal, legal standpoint, the village's obligation to repay the debt service would be a limited tax general obligation pledge of the village, which means that it would promise as a first budget obligation to provide sufficient funds annually to meet the debt service. Again the source of the funds is up to the village.

"Because the village's pledge would be limited by constitutional and statutory tax rate limitations, an election would not be required although notice of the contract would have to be published."

"In order to market 'contract' bonds it is generally required that the county pledge its limited tax full faith and credit as a secondary pledge. Since we have been bond counsel for most if not all of the Washtenaw County Act 185 issues we are aware that the county will insist on careful scrutiny of the financing arrangements since the county is concerned about the amount of secondary support it is providing municipalities. Close consultation with the county and the county DPW would be essential to the timely completion of the project.

"Among the advantages of the Act 185 'contract' bond approach is the flexibility provided to the village in providing funds to meet the debt service requirements. In addition, bonds of this type have generally been regarded more favorably by the market-place than higher than general obligation bond issues."

Members of the village council received copies of the letter but took no action pending study of its contents and word from the state on whether a grant will be available.

The proposed Summer Youth Employment Opportunity Wage program prohibits employers from substituting youth for current employees. Employers who discharge, transfer or demote workers for the purpose of employing eligible youth are subject to various legal remedies and sanctions, including a $10,000 fine, 6 months in prison, and payment of back wages.

Mistakes Hurt Chelsea In Pair of Defeats

Chelsea week-day baseball team played two games in league action last week, and came up short in both. They lost a close one to Wendy's of Ann Arbor and then were beaten handily by Cliff Keen Athletic Supply.

On July 10 Chelsea faced Wendy's in a game that was special because Mark Mull and Chuck Downer, who will be juniors at Chelsea this fall, play for Wendy's.

The game was close all the way, but Wendy's came out on top, 3-2. It was scoreless until the fourth when Chelsea thought they had taken a 1-0 lead, but the umpire ruled a base-runner missed third, thus nullifying and apparent run.

In the bottom of the fourth Wendy's scored two runs on only one hit, a bunt. A walk, the bunt, and a ground-out put runners on second and third with two outs. A badly played wild pitch allowed both runs to score. A two-out single by Downer gave Wendy's a 3-0 lead in the fifth.

Chelsea came back in the sixth. Evan Roberts scored Chelsea's first run all by himself as he doubled and then showed a lot of hustle by scoring from second on a passed ball. Dan Bellus also crossed the plate on a passed ball after he had walked and gotten around to third. Those were the only runs Chelsea could score, and they lost, 3-2.

Chelsea rapped out eight hits, including doubles by Roberts and Bellus and singles by Jeff Larson, Dave Boote, Ray Spencer, Roberts, Tony Hammerschmidt, and Rob Murrell. Wendy's had only three hits off Bellus who struck out five.

Mark Mull started for Wendy's and picked up the victory as he threw five innings of shut-out ball and then gave way to relief.

"This is a tough defeat to swallow," said coach Akel Marshall. "We outplayed them, but we made three big base-running mistakes. We had two runners picked off first and then the mistake of missing third on what we thought was our first run. Hopefully, we will learn."

On Thursday, Chelsea faced the first-place team in the league, Cliff Keen Athletic Supply. In the first Chelsea loaded the bases with one out but could not get that clutch hit as two batters struck out to end the threat.

Chelsea played good defense in the bottom of the inning, turning a double-play.

Chelsea took a 1-0 lead in the second thanks to an RBI single by Boote as Tony Hammerschmidt crossed the plate, and in the third increased their lead to 3-0 as Jim Toon and Kevin Walz had big singles in the inning.

Then the roof fell in on Chelsea, Cliff Keen scored six in the third on just two singles. Four walks and two Chelsea errors helped out. Cliff Keen added one in the fourth and five in the sixth to make the final 12-3. Evan Roberts was the starting pitcher for Chelsea. Walz and Mike Ball banged out five hits, two singles by Toon and one each by Boote, Roberts and Walz.

Pony League Tournament Set July 20-21

Chelsea Recreation Department will sponsor a Pony League tournament July 20-21.

The 12-13 year-old ball teams will play a single elimination tournament at South school. Six teams will be entered in the tournament. These teams play in the Recreation League which so far has been a very equal and competitive league.

All teams will play on Friday night, with the winners advancing to Saturday's games. The Padres and the A's will play at 5 p.m. on diamond No. 1. The Tigers and Orioles are scheduled at 5 on Diamond No. 2. The Indians and Angels will follow with a game at 7 on Diamond No. 1.

Class C-CC Tournament Slated Here

A 16-team double-elimination softball tournament for Class C-CC entrants will be held July 27-29 (Friday at 6 p.m., Saturday at 9 a.m., and Sunday at 9 a.m.). All games will be played at the Dana Fields.

Individual and sponsor trophies will be awarded for first- and second-place teams. Regular season teams plus two pick-ups (18-man rosters) are permitted. Softballs will be provided.

Entry fee is $100. Send check and complete roster to: Ron Schuyler, 158 Park St., Chelsea, MI 48118. 475-1303 (days), 475-9446 (evenings).

Make check or money order payable to Chelsea Recreation.

Week-End Baseball Team Still Struggling

Chelsea's week-end baseball team continued to have trouble in league action as they dropped a doubleheader last Saturday.

They faced a talented Cliff Keen Athletic Supply squad and never were in either game, losing both under the eight-run mercy rule after five innings, 9-0 and 23-4.

The first game saw Cliff Keen take an early 6-0 lead after one inning and coast in from there. They scored three in the second to finish up the scoring.

Chelsea managed three singles in the contest, one each by Dan Bellus, Keith Neibauer and Brian Robeson.

The second game was a nightmare. Cliff Keen scored in every inning and had a 21-0 lead before Chelsea finally did get on the scoreboard in the fourth as they scored two runs without benefit of a hit. Two walks, a passed ball, a ground-out RBI by Mark Bareis, and another passed ball spoiled the shut-out bid by Cliff Keen.

Chelsea also added two runs in the fifth on singles by Rob Murrell, Biff Buntin, Bareis, and Jim Toon.

Chelsea collected nine hits, the most in a game this season. Jeff Larson and Biff Buntin had two singles each, and Todd Starkey, Matt Bohlender, Murrell, Bareis, and Toon had one apiece.

"It was a rough day for us," "We got off to a bad start and it got worse. I don't think some of my players were ready to play. We're making a lot of mistakes in the field and at the plate. Hopefully, the players will learn from them and be better next spring."

With the double loss Chelsea fell to 1-9 on the season.

Their next action is a double header Saturday, against Saline. It will be played at Chelsea High school beginning at 1 p.m.

Ag Budget Good As Could Be Expected

Passage of the state's 1984-85 fiscal year budget this week will provide the Michigan Department of Agriculture with a budget "as good as could be expected," according to Robert E. Smith, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"It's better than we expected to begin with," Smith said. "The MDA budget does contain $1.5 million more than the House proposed."

Smith said the budget will allow MDA to "at least maintain important agriculture programs at minimal levels."

Phillies 19, Orioles 17—
In the Championship game of the 1984 Little League tournament, the Phillies held on at the end to defeat the Orioles. Chris Ruthenburg and Paul Nohhan combined pitching efforts to keep the Orioles off the bases in the late innings.

Relying on team play, the Phillies rallied from a 12-3 deficit behind the clutch hitting of Jason Adams, Kirk Hedding and Kevin Judson. Sterling fielding plays by Chris Haugen and John Weinburg insured the win for the Phillies.

The record books will have to be researched, but it is believed that the triple-play pulled off by the Phillies was a first for Little League play at the Dana diamonds.

Orioles 14, Phillies 10—
Winning pitcher Adam Taylor; home runs by Jim Hadley; defensive plays by Brian Brock, Tom Steele, Adam Taylor.

Orioles 12, Pirates 6—

Midget League

With the second half of league play underway, the Pink Panthers defeated the Peppermint Patties, 8-5. The pitching credits went to Erika Boughton and Beth Bell. Leading the team in hitting were Erika Boughton and Mercedes Hammer with triples. The Peppermint Patties hit well but couldn't catch the Panthers. Leading hitters were Melissa Thiel, Brandi Kenney, Monica Hansen, Christine Burg and Richelle Jones.

A close game was played by the Purple Panthers and the Unicorns last Tuesday evening, won 9-5 by the Panthers. The winning pitcher was Jennifer Petty. Home runs by Kelly Bellus and Jennifer Teare, going three-for-three were Rebecca Shures. Leading hitters for the Unicorns were Danielle Taylor, Sara Jedele and Melissa Colvin.

The Pink Panthers won their second game of the week, beating the Unicorns 12-7. Pitching duties were handled by Karen Keane, Beth Bell and Erika Boughton.

Even with 14 hits, the Peppermint Patties couldn't pull off a win against the Purple Panthers. Pitchers were Jennifer Petty and Heather McConegley for the Panthers. A grand slam home run was hit by Christine Burg for the Patties.

Junior Miss League

The Moody Blues began the second half of league play last week with two wins. Tuesday's win went to pitcher Sarah Schaeffer, who was also responsible for a home run. Kim Easton went three-for-three to the plate with two singles and a triple. The Purple Hearts played a strong, defensive game but lost, 10-7.

The Moody Blues defeated the Speed Demons, 12-10, both teams played excellent defense. Vicky Bullock led the Blues with two doubles and three RBI's. Contributing to the win were Lisa Taylor with two hits and two RBI's and Maria Kattula with two hits. Hitting for the Speed Demons were Jennifer McEachern, Kelly Dale, Debbi Urbanek, Tammy Browning, Tiffany Browning, Heather Keane and Suzi Neff.

The Rats defeated the Speed Demons, 10-7, coming on strong in the sixth inning with six hits and five runs. Leading hitters were Kim Ritter, Laura Unterbrink and Jennifer Rossi. Laura Unterbrink had five strike-outs in her two innings and Lisa Unterbrink struck out five in her three innings. Speed Demons catcher Beth Kenney threw out two runners at second. Good defensive play was shown by Erin Haywood at shortstop and Michelle Stimpson at first base.

The Yellow Stingers slipped by the Bandits, 11-10. The win went jointly to Jenni Smith, Christy Petty and Kelly Scott. Leading hitters for the Stingers were Christy Petty (home run) and Jane Pacheco, Kelly Scott, Teresa Lewis and Michelle Ball. Good fielding was shown by Stingers Scharm Petty, Carl Thurkow and Lissa Hamrick.

The Yellow Stingers played a second close game on Thursday, defeating the Purple Hearts, 16-15. Home runs were hit by Jenni Smith and Kelly Scott. The Purple Hearts came back in the bottom of the fifth with seven runs but could not catch the Stingers.

The Bandits tied the league's undefeated Rats, 5-5. The pitching duties were handled by Kim Ritter and Laura Unterbrink for the Rats and Casey Anderson and Heidi Boyer for the Bandits. Laura Unterbrink had eight strikeouts in her three innings. Leading hitters for the Rats were Erica Rice, Jennifer Rossi and Kim Ritter. Top hitter for the Bandits was Dianne Monroe.

MONSTER TOMATO: Lee Ferguson of Dexter displays the 3 pound 5 ounce tomato which was the second largest entered in last year's Michigan Monster Vegetable Contest.

Lee Ferguson's Big Tomato Second Largest in Contest

Lee H. Ferguson of 10425 Jackson Rd., Dexter, specializes in growing big things in his garden, and he won three awards in the 1983 Monster Vegetable Contest sponsored by Michigan Natural Resources magazine. His entries included a tomato which weighed 3 pounds 5 ounces, a potato that tipped the scales at 1 pound 12 ounces, and a 3-ounce red radish. The tomato was the second-largest entered.

Ferguson has made a specialty of growing giant tomatoes, potatoes, corn, radishes, melons, lima beans, peas, gourds and cucumbers.

Junior Morseau Wins State Softball Throw

Junior Morseau threw a softball 228 feet, three-quarters of the length of a football field, and may have qualified for the Hershey Foundation national track and field meet for young boys and girls. "We won't know for sure until Junior's toss is rated against those of winners in seven other states," Chelsea track coach Bill Wehrwein said. "He may be at a disadvantage because it was raining, the ball was wet, and the wind was against him. I'm sure he could have thrown farther under good conditions."

The event was held on July 6 at Michigan State University, East Lansing. The top three finishers selected from the eight states will get to go to Hershey.

Chelsea's 9-10 girls 400-meter relay team of Christine Burg, Sarah Gegenheimer, Amy Weir and Michelle Hollo was also a winner in the meet and has a shot at the national. Again, their time has to be at least third-best in eight states.

"We took 42 boys and girls to the meet," Wehrwein said, "and several of them placed. I'm proud of what we did. I think our track program is looking up for the future."

Morseau's strong right arm earned him three first places in the International Freedom Festival meet at Windsor as he won the javelin, discus and shot put. He showed some good legs as well while finishing fourth in the high jump, 100-meter dash and 80-meter hurdles.

His all-around performance earned Morseau an award as the outstanding athlete in the under-14 age group.

Tim Bowdish won the 800-meter run and placed second in the 1,500 in the under-16 age class.

Morseau, Dean Boote, Bowdish and Curtis Heard combined to come in fourth in the under-16 400-meter relay.

Biathlon Stated At Fuller Park

Registration is currently in progress for the 1984 Fuller Park Biathlon in Ann Arbor. Entry forms may be obtained at any City of Ann Arbor, Department of Parks and Recreation swimming pool, golf course, or canoe livery. The biathlon consists of a 5-mile run and 500-meter swim. The event will be held Sunday, Aug. 5.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

Odds and ends from a viewer of the sports scene:

After I commented in this column last week about the U. S. Supreme Court decision which declared the NCAA can no longer control television of major-college football, I read a news item that puts some numbers on the issue and indicates how big are the bucks at stake.

Notre Dame has been offered $20 million for the TV rights to its football schedule this fall. That's right, $20 million. The sum is nearly twice the University of Michigan's annual budget for all athletics.

As the school in America closest to being a "national" university—with alumni and fans in every state, and a fervent loyalty based on church affiliation—Notre Dame probably can sell televised football for a higher price than anybody else can negotiate.

Michigan might get half that much, which is still a lot. So might Southern California, Georgia, Texas, Oklahoma and a few other schools which play a good brand of football year after year and have graduates scattered all over the country.

As suggested last week, the already rich will get richer, and Notre Dame will be the richest of all.

The Major League All-Star Game produced four runs and 21 strikeouts. How boring can a sports event get?

What the contest proved, if anything, is that top pitchers can stifle the best hitters, especially if the hurlers know they only have to throw for two or three innings and don't have to pace themselves through a full game.

Every pitcher on both teams was winging the ball at a velocity of 90 miles per hour or better, and that is fast. The hitters were helpless. Those who did manage to connect were just plain lucky to make some kind of contact and put the ball in play.

If Alan Trammell can't play shortstop because of his aching arm, the seemingly insurmountable lead of the Detroit Tigers in the American League East is in jeopardy and could well be lost by season's end.

Shortstop is a key position on defense in baseball, and Trammell is one of the best in the business. His ability to get to balls hit on either side that most other shortstops wouldn't touch, and to make the throws after he picks them up, cuts off several dozen base hits during a season and makes the difference between winning and losing quite a few games.

The good news is that Trammell apparently will be able to swing the bat, and he's a good bet to hit for an average over .300. If his arm doesn't come around, he can at least be a designated hitter. Trammell is a rarity in baseball—a slick-fielding shortstop who can hit. There haven't been many of those in the history of the game.

The element of luck is important in any sport, and a big factor in being lucky is avoidance of injuries, especially to key players.

Trammell's injury is the second of the season that have hurt the Tigers' chances to win going away. The first was an ache in the arm of ace pitcher Jack Morris, who missed a couple of starts and threw ineffectively in a couple more when he did come back.

Morris still isn't throwing right, as anybody who watched the All-Star Game could plainly see, even though he recorded two scoreless innings. Morris got by on finesse, using a split-fingered off-speed pitch which National Leagueers had never seen before. American Leagueers have seen it, and know to wait for it. It's a "cripple" pitch, something that a good hitter can connect with and belt out of the ballpark. It's a batting-practice pitch.

Morris' sore arm has cost the Tigers at least two victories, and probably another, wins that should have come easily but didn't.

Both Chelsea's and Dexter's high school football teams had bright prospects last fall. Both squads suffered crippling injuries that resulted in records that might have been better.

Getting hurt is a hazard in sports. As a former athlete, I can testify that an injury is something you never expect to have happen to you, but you know in the back of your mind that it will sooner or later. Injuries are part of the price you pay for playing. I wake up every night trying to find comfortable positions to ease assorted hurts to muscles and joints incurred many years ago. The aches never go away.

A note to whomever sent me the anonymous letter about Chelsea girls softball:

You have a point which is worth putting in the paper, even though I don't agree. It's important enough to be worth airing in public.

Problem is we cannot recognize unsigned letters, much less give any credence to their contents. Every reputable newspaper and every ethical journalist that I know of adheres to that rule.

If you want to come forward and identify yourself, and sign the letter, we can go from there. Your name will not be published if you ask that it be withheld, but we have to know who you are.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Surprises never cease.

As my old friend Frank Mainville, outdoor editor of the Lansing State Journal, wrote recently, Michigan United Conservation Clubs executive director Tom Washington "fired the shot heard round the conservation world" when he announced that Department of Natural Resources' wildlife chief Charlie Guenther is quitting the DNR to join the staff of MUCC.

Right after that came an announcement from the Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation that Marvin Johnson, veteran DNR wetlands specialist, has resigned his state post to become the foundation's project director.

The DNR didn't exactly trumpet the news of either resignation. Except for information that I received in the mail from sources outside the department, I probably would not have learned about them.

I still have some friends in the DNR as a result of having worked there for 17 years, and a couple of them filled me in. The stories they tell lead me to doubt the glossy "official" news releases coming out of Lansing which proclaim that all is right and well in the DNR, and that it's now a big, happy family under the directorship of Ronald Skoog.

The story I get suggests that the department remains in a state of turmoil and discontent, with an ongoing, never-ending process of reorganization and a revolving-door for veteran employees, who can't wait to get out and so opt for early retirement. Guenther and Johnson are two of many recent examples of competent persons who finally got fed up and quit.

One problem is that, for every four persons who leave, only one can be replaced under a governor's directive to cut the costs of state government by reducing total employment.

"That might be all right if we had some flexibility to manage the situation by moving the remaining people around, putting them into positions where they could do the most good by carrying out the essential tasks," I was told by one disgruntled DNR executive. "I'm a supervisor with nobody to supervise, and a program to carry out with no people or money to do it. I'm getting paid for doing nothing, and that gets to you after awhile if you have any pride. I'll get out as soon as I can find another job."

Guenther's big mistake in the DNR was that he tried to do something. Charlie is a mover and shaker, a let's-try-something-and-see-if-it-works sort. Any bureaucrat who takes that approach is bound to fall out of favor. The key to survival in the bureaucracy is to maintain a low profile, do nothing controversial, and don't rock anybody's boat.

A graduate forester, he had to fight to get the job as wildlife chief, and he was resented by biologists who figured (probably correctly) that they knew more than he did about the basics of wildlife management. What Charlie does have is a knowledge of people and an understanding of their wants and needs. He knows the political process, which comes down to the art of compromising between what you want and what you can reasonably expect to get. Among other things, Guenther was undoubtedly the most successful liaison person between the DNR and the Legislature that the department ever had. If a key legislator on the conservation or appropriations committees had some pet project, Charlie's approach was, "All right, let's try it. It won't hurt anything, and it just might work. We'll try. We don't know all the answers."

He would then cut a deal to obtain authorization for some other project that the DNR believed in. Like it or not, that's the way government business is done in Lansing.

As an MUCC staff member, Guenther will become the organization's field representative for northern Michigan, including the Upper Peninsula. It's a tough task, but the guess here is that he will do well. He's impossible to dislike unless you just plain hate everybody.

Marv Johnson is another man who believes in doing things. His professional specialty is wetlands management, but he has the education and experience to carry out his new job as director of all fish and wildlife restoration projects for the Wildlife Habitat Foundation. He is also a very likeable guy.

The foundation is a citizen organization, financed by private donors. Johnson's role will be to give expert advice to people who want to "do something" for fish and wildlife but don't quite know what or how.

In the instances of both Guenther and Johnson, the DNR's loss is somebody else's gain. Both will be difficult to replace. It's sad to see men of that caliber leave the department before their normal time to go.

Three Reports Verify Quail Are Still Around

There is a remnant population of bobwhite quail in the area. That is the good news which came out of last week's Out in the Open column request for news of sightings or soundings of quail in the Chelsea-Dexter area.

Three readers called in to report that they had heard or seen male quail this spring and early summer. Nobody reported sighting a brood of young, which isn't surprising considering that a hen and her chicks rarely venture into openings or along roadsides.

Where a cock is whistling, the assumption is that a hen is nesting somewhere nearby. By this time of the year, the eggs should have hatched and the young ones be running around with their mother. A typical brood consists of about a dozen. About half of them will survive to become adults going into the fall. What quail need to make a comeback in this area is a series of at least two mild winters to build up the breeding stock. The wonder is that any survived last winter, the coldest hereabouts since temperatures have been recorded, with readings reaching down as low as 24 below zero. Quail are not well adapted to cold and are not migratory.

Pure gold is so soft it can be molded with hands.

'Shoot To Kill' Order Issued for 'Panther'

Police officials aren't saying much about it for fear of offending local animal lovers, but it can be said on good authority that a "shoot to kill" order has gone out for the Manchester panther or whatever the animal is.

"We've tried long enough to make a capture, and we haven't even come close," said a police official who asked not to be identified.

"We are convinced there is some kind of an animal out there that doesn't belong and that it should be removed. The next time an authorized policeman properly equipped with a scope-sighted rifle that will make a quick, humane kill sees the animal in range, it will be shot."

He quickly added a warning that ordinary citizens should not go hunting the "panther" on their own. "That could lead to real trouble," he noted. "Shooting at something black," especially in dim light, could result in the death of some innocent creature, possibly a human wearing dark clothes."

The lawman said that reports of a large black cat seen in the Wixom area are compatible with such evidence as is available.

"We have reason to believe there are two black panthers or leopards, a male and a female, that were somebody's pets and were turned loose by their owner. The animal sighted near Wixom is reported to be considerably larger than the one seen near Manchester. A good guess is that the Wixom cat is the male, the Manchester cat the female."

"It's pretty certain that the Manchester cat didn't travel to Wixom."

Wixom is a small village in southwest Oakland county, about 40 miles northeast of Manchester. If the Manchester cat did move there on direct route, it went through the fashionable Ann Arbor suburb of Barton Hills.

WHAT IS IT? This probably is either a crane fly or a dobson fly, although it could be something else. It definitely is not a dragon fly. Photographer Randy Gladstone pictured the insect near Dexter. You have to examine the mandibles (jaws) of the critter under a microscope to be sure what it is. A good guess is that it's a dobson fly, which metamorphoses from the hellgramites commonly found in the Huron River system.

Biathlon Slated at Independence Lake Park

Bi-ath-lon/bi-ath-len/n.: a composite athletic contest consisting of cross country skiing and rifle sharpshooting.

The word "biathlon" is a word familiar to most who watched the Olympic events in Sarajevo last winter—but probably to few else. The word has also taken on a more general meaning so that biathlon defines a composite athletic contest involving any two sports, such as bicycling and running.

The Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission (WCPARC) hosts its own biathlon—swimming and running—on Saturday, Aug. 18, at Independence Lake County Park.

The event consists of a one-mile swim in Independence Lake followed by a 5K (3.1 mile) scenic cross country run. (Biathlon rules state that swimmers may not use swim aids, i.e., fins, snorkle, or floatation devices; however, goggles are allowed.) Winners of WCPARC's first annual biathlon last summer were Geoffrey Pitt, who finished the event in 43:03 minutes, and Andrea Wolf, 50:22.

The biathlon begins at 9:30 a.m. Check in time is 8:30 a.m.-9 a.m. and all participants must attend a briefing meeting at 9 a.m. A picnic will follow.

Participants are asked to register by Aug. 8. Registration forms may be picked up at most local sporting goods shops, recreation departments, libraries, and chambers of commerce, or call WCPARC at (313) 973-2575. Fee is $7 and includes a t-shirt and two hot dog tickets. A park entry fee of $2 per car is

Brighton Olympic Run Set for Saturday, July 21

Brighton Community Schools have slated the Olympic Run for Saturday, July 21. The 10 K and ½ Marathon will start at 8:20 a.m. at Washington and Third St. Check-in and registration is between 7 a.m. and 8 a.m. at the Community Schools office at Brighton High school.

Pre-registration fee is $5.50; $7 on the day of the race. Each registrant will receive a t-shirt and certificate. Awards will be handed out for first place, and medals for second and fourth place in each division.

USDA Seeks Input from Producers

Farmers have until Aug. 6 to let the U.S. Department of Agriculture know what kind of feed grains program they believe is needed for their industry. According to Ken Nye, commodity specialist for the Michigan Farm Bureau, it's important for producers to let their views be known.

"We've come out of a very large oversupply situation to where we have supply and demand a little bit more balanced now. Unfortunately, we can go right back to where we were, producing bumper crops with no regard for what the market is telling us unless we have a program that will allow us to operate within the market system," Nye said.

"That's why it's so important for producers to let their views be known. Comments from producers are considered very valid by the USDA. Producers themselves should know what kind of program they need," he said.

Nye said farmers should consider if a voluntary acreage reduction program is needed, if there should be a land diversion program, whether there should be cross-compliance, and whether non-recourse loans should be used for corn and silage.

Comments should be sent to: USDA ASCS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Higher Summer Enrollment Figures Reported By WCC

Summer registration at Washtenaw Community College increased 15% this summer over last, Larry Hackney, dean of student services at the college announces.

1,370 students registered for the summer session.

Students registered for a total of 4,924 credits, the official enrollment report shows. The average credit load for summer students was 3.6 hours. Female students outnumbered males by more than 100 and female enrollment rose 27% over last summer. This summer 15% more new students began studies at the college than last year.

Part-time students constituted almost 40% of the student body. This summer sees a significant increase in part-time enrollment over last summer. Out-of-district, out-of-state, and foreign student enrollments are also higher than last summer.

THE REV. JOHN GIBBON

Congregational Church Has New Pastor Starting Sunday

First Congregational United Church of Christ in Chelsea is John Gibbon's first parish. Gibbon just completed his divinity degree from Eden Seminary in St. Louis, Mo., before coming to Chelsea. The new pastor performed his first sermon for the church last Sunday.

Gibbon came to the parish because "through the dialogue of the interview between the search committee from the church and myself, we both felt we had something to offer," he said.

Gibbon hopes to offer the church some new ideas while "at the same time the acceptance of carrying on traditions that are important to the congregation," he said.

Gibbon hopes to encourage the congregation to take a more active role in the community, to discover what the community needs and to meet those needs. One idea is to form a group for visiting the community's older members.

He also hopes to give the congregation a more active role in worshiping instead of the pastor dominating the church service. Besides more singing during service, Gibbon would like to form a liturgical dance group.

Another goal is to increase the church's membership. The parish offers Gibbon "a position from which to really learn the full range to the pastoral office," he said.

Gibbon, age 32, was raised in the United Church of Christ in Marion, O. He remained in that denomination because "it tends to be a denomination that is open to a full spectrum of individual styles," he said.

Gibbon started on a degree in history before joining the army in 1975. He was stationed in Korea where he met his wife Yong (Jung-a) Gibbon. They have been married five years and have no children.

"Joining the army seemed to be the right thing to do at the time but was more like temporary insanity. I would not undo the choice. It was a good experience but nothing I would jump to repeat. One of the areas I really grew in was learning to accept people in all different walks and phases of life," Gibbon said.

After the army, Gibbon was a high school student teacher. "During the experience of student teaching, I discovered I was being pushed or guided towards working in the area of spiritual development or spiritual growth," said Gibbon.

After this experience, he entered the seminary.

Gibbon characterizes his religious style as "probably a willingness to accept both individuals and other traditions and to want to meet them half way in dialogue."

"I probably characterize myself as not too far left but leaning towards the liberal side of the spectrum of religious interpretation but I have still been able to maintain friendships with people that tend to be very conservative in their beliefs," he added.

Gibbon has been in Chelsea little over a week and finds the village quiet compared to St. Louis, but it's a quiet he enjoys.

Mrs. Gibbon currently stays at home, but plans to take classes in either business or psychology at a local college this fall.

Nancy Morgan Recognized at Stanley Jubilee

Top independent Stanley dealers and sales management in the nation who are "going places" this year were recently honored in Westfield, Mass., during a recognition celebration hosted by the Stanley Home Products Division.

Mrs. Nancy Morgan of 12900 Trinkle Rd., Chelsea, a district sales manager, was recognized for her 1984 sales achievements during the "Going Places Jubilee."

A Crest Society member, she also received navy blue luggage bearing the Stanley Crest logo for qualifying in the division's elite club.

Associated with Stanley for five years, Morgan still finds time to participate in community activities such as the American Business Women's Association.

Amendment to Sylvan Township Zoning Ordinance

SYLVAN TOWNSHIP PRIVATE SITES DEDICATED TO COMMON USE (P-5 DISTRICT) A. INTENT.
The P-5 District is established for all private riparian sites which are dedicated to common use. Private riparian sites are: lands held in common by a subdivision, association or any similar agency; or held in common by virtue of the terms of a plat of record; or provided for common use under deed restrictions of record for riparian access or riparian use of a body of water.

The intent of this section is, in support of the general intent of this Ordinance, to provide for necessary lands and uses required by the needs of Township residents and visitors.

B. PERMITTED PRINCIPAL USES AND STRUCTURES.

All lands in a P-5 zone shall be maintained and used for common purposes, such as:

1. Recreational sites, including bathing beaches, playgrounds, boat launching sites, and other recreational areas, adjoining a body of water.

2. Scenic sites, adjoining a body of water.

3. Trails, bicycle paths, walk ways, and access routes, which adjoin a body of water.

C. PERMITTED ACCESSORY USES AND STRUCTURES.

Legal Notice 19

VILLAGE OF CHELSEA

CHELSEA INDUSTRIAL PARK
NOTICE OF FINDING NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS OR PERSONS

The Village of Chelsea proposes to request the State of Michigan Department of Community Development to release $200,000 in State Small Cities Grant funds to be used in the development of a parcel of land located on Sibley Road known as the Chelsea Industrial Park. The project is for the extension of utilities and road construction.

It has been determined that such a request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting, in a negative fashion, the quality of the human environment and accordingly, the Village of Chelsea has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).

The finding of no significant effect on the environment is based on the results of a "Village conducted analysis". The project will not alter the prevailing land use scheme in a detrimental fashion; existing wildlife and vegetation will not be endangered and local geological, aquifer or other natural resources will not be endangered.

An Environmental Review Record respecting this project has been made by the Village which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why an "Environmental Impact Statement" is not required.

This Environmental Review Record is on file at the Village Administrator's office at 104 E. Middle Street, Chelsea, Michigan, and is available for public examination.

No significant environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request to the State of Michigan Department of Commerce for release of funds. All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with the findings of the review of the project are invited to submit comments for consideration at the above specified address. Such written comments should be received on or before August 2, 1984. All such comments so received will be considered and the Village of Chelsea will not request the release of funds from the State of Michigan Department of Commerce or take any administrative action on the project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

Frederick A. Weber
Village Administrator
July 18

DEATHS

Willis G. Heydlauff

18309 Cavanaugh Lake Rd.
Chelsea

Willis G. Heydlauff, 69, of 18309 Cavanaugh Lake Rd., Chelsea, died at his home on July 12 following a short illness.

He was born July 10, 1915, in Sylvan township, the son of George and Ruby (Hotaling) Heydlauff, and had been a resident of the Chelsea area all of his life.

Mr. Heydlauff was married to Jean A. Haffley in Chelsea on Aug. 31, 1945. She preceded him in death on Nov. 21, 1980.

He was a member of Covenant Church of Chelsea and of the church choir. A graduate of Chelsea High school's class of 1933, he was active in Boy Scout Troop 476 and the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club. He was an employee of Chelsea Milling Co. from 1945 until his death.

Surviving are two sons, Robert of Chelsea and David of Traverse City; a daughter, Gloria Heydlauff of Missoula, Mont., and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by two brothers, Lloyd and Clifford, and a sister, Mrs. Elsie Kalmbach.

Funeral services were held Sunday, July 15, at the Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Dr. R. J. Ratzlaff officiating. Burial was in Maple Grove Cemetery, Sylvan township.

Prior to his death Mr. Heydlauff requested that memorial contributions be made to the Covenant Church.

POKER RUN PARTICIPANTS: Taking part in the "Poker Run" sponsored by the Biker Trash and Hells Bells' Sesquicentennial chapters were (front row) Dave Marsh and Mike Roskowski, and (rear) Wendy Farghner and Mike Williamson. Farghner was the winner.

Wendy Farghner Wins In Sesqui Poker Run

The Chelsea Sesquicentennial Chapters "Biker Trash" and "Hells Bells," has announced winners in their poker run.

The starting point for the event was the fairgrounds. The run included an 80-mile scenic drive through the neighboring areas. Each "player" stopped at a total of five times and drew a playing card to create a "poker hand."

The winner was Wendy Farghner, a passenger in a car driven by Mike Hess. Wendy ended up with $100 richer and got a trophy for having the best hand. She ended up with four sevens.

Other winners were Dave Marsh, worst hand; Alex Roskowski, oldest player, and Mr. Ernie Williamson of Florida for being the farthest to come to the event.

"The Biker Trash" and "Hells Bells" donated $100 to the fire works display as part of the Sesquicentennial.

First Concrete Highway Marks 75th Anniversary

Crowds gathered along Woodward Ave., just north of the Detroit city limits on July 4, 1909, to watch a stream of automobiles chug along a stretch of roadway built of concrete.

It was the first mile of rural concrete highway in the world and, appropriately, it had been built in the state that was becoming the hub of the burgeoning automobile industry.

Work on the 17-foot, eight-inch-wide marvel started on April 20, 1909, and was finished in time for the Fourth of July opening. The cost was $13,537.59.

Four years earlier, when the Michigan State Highway Department came into being, there were about 68,000 miles of roads in the state. Of that, only 7,000 were gravel and 245 were macadam (layers of compacted small stones, often containing an asphalt binder). The rest were clay, sand or swamp roads.

The Wayne County Road Commission decided to build a concrete roadway between Six Mile Rd. and Seven Mile Rd. on Woodward Ave., the main highway connecting Detroit with Pontiac. They hoped the concrete would require little maintenance, provide traction for vehicles and produce a sanitary, dustless road.

Encouraging the commission was Horatio Earle, Michigan's first state highway commissioner, whose zeal in promoting road improvements won him the nickname "Good Roads Earle." He promised the commission $1,000 from a state road reward fund if they would proceed with the construction.

They did, and he did, and 75 years ago the first automobilists (as they were then called) moved onto the new highway.

The response ranged from those who pronounced it the finest highway ever built in Michigan to others, including some engineers, who predicted it would break up within a year. It drew generally favorable reaction from the press as well as delegates from other states and countries who came to inspect the world's first mile of concrete road.

The skeptics were proven wrong. The roadway carried more than 35 million vehicles before it was replaced with a new and wider highway in 1922.

Today, Woodward Ave. is State Highway M-1, extending from downtown Detroit to Pontiac. And construction of highways built of concrete is now worldwide.

Dixboro Festival Scheduled July 21

A ceremony designating the village one-room schoolhouse a Michigan Historic Site and tours of the festival grounds in an old fashioned wagon pulled by prize-winning Belgian draft horses highlight the eighth annual Dixboro Festival, Saturday, July 21, on the picturesque Village Green, three miles east of US-23 on Plymouth Rd., near Ann Arbor.

The day-long festival is sponsored by the Dixboro United Methodist church which is commemorating the 200th anniversary of the Methodist Church in America. "People Helping People" is the theme of the festival since the proceeds go towards Christian humanitarian work outside the local church.

The red-brick schoolhouse on the Village Green was built in 1886 and was used as recently as 1957 for public school classes. It became church property in 1958. The ceremony formally designating the schoolhouse a state historic site will begin at 4 p.m. The adjacent Dixboro UMC is a Michigan Historic Site and is also listed in the National Registry of Historical Buildings and Places.

Earlier in the day, a 10-kilometer (6.2 miles) "Rural Run" and 2-mile fun run through the surrounding countryside will kick off the festival. Both races start at 8:15 a.m. near the Village Green and are open to men and women of all ages. Entrants may obtain a registration form by calling (313) 761-2791 after 5 p.m. daily or by reporting to the check-in desk the day of the runs between 6:30 and 8 a.m.

At 1 p.m., an ice cream social and arts and crafts fair begin and assorted carnival game booths open for business.

Pieces of pies and cakes baked by church members will be served along with ice cream and various beverages. The arts and crafts fair includes more than 20 displays of hand-made items ranging from woven articles to decorative pieces fashioned from metal.

Perhaps the highlight of the day will be rides provided in a four-wheeled wagon pulled by a team of Belgian horses. The muscular animals are the pride of Dixboro church members Zina and Ola Bolgos. Parishioner Gary Woodward, part of the famous Michigan Wheelmen, is co-ordinating a display of antique bicycles at the festival.

Also being featured are performances by dancers from the Rosedale School of Dance in Livonia throughout the afternoon.

The traditional barbecued chicken dinners cooked by church members will be served between 3 and 8 p.m. Each dinner includes half a chicken (quarter size for children), cole slaw, an ear of sweet corn (locally grown), roll and butter plus beverage.

Free parking is provided on the adjacent church grounds; there is no admission charge to the Dixboro Festival.

For further information, call Tom Freeman, festival chairman, at (313) 665-8471.

Leo J. Heatley Files For Sheriff Nomination

Leo J. Heatley has filed nominating petitions seeking election to the office of sheriff of Washtenaw county on the Republican ballot in the Aug. 7 primary.

Said Heatley, "the Citizens of the county need and deserve a sheriff with extensive law enforcement experience and proven leadership abilities. The current interim sheriff has less than 11 years experience in law enforcement. The acting sheriff served as undersheriff for only a few weeks before the interim appointment process began and has only about five years of work in a supervisory role. The office of Washtenaw county sheriff should not be an 'on the job' training position."

Heatley lists the following qualifications:

—Twenty-three years, Michigan State Police, including six years at the Ypsilanti Post and five years as Commanding Officer/Captain, Criminal Investigation Section for 11 counties including Washtenaw county.

—Currently assistant director, Department of Public Safety and Security, University of Michigan.

—Past president, Washtenaw County Law Enforcement and Industrial Security Association.

—Born and raised in Washtenaw county, Dexter township. Lived in Ypsilanti township 1957-1963. Has lived in Ann Arbor since 1979.

—Graduate of the FBI National Academy and degrees in Police Administration and Criminal Justice.

Heatley has called for an expanded effort in county-wide crime prevention between the public and private sectors.

Early in his campaign Heatley stressed the need for discussions with the Michigan Department of Corrections regarding the issue of "escapes" from state institutions in Washtenaw county. Heatley said that local agencies should receive reimbursement from the state for expenses related to escapes.

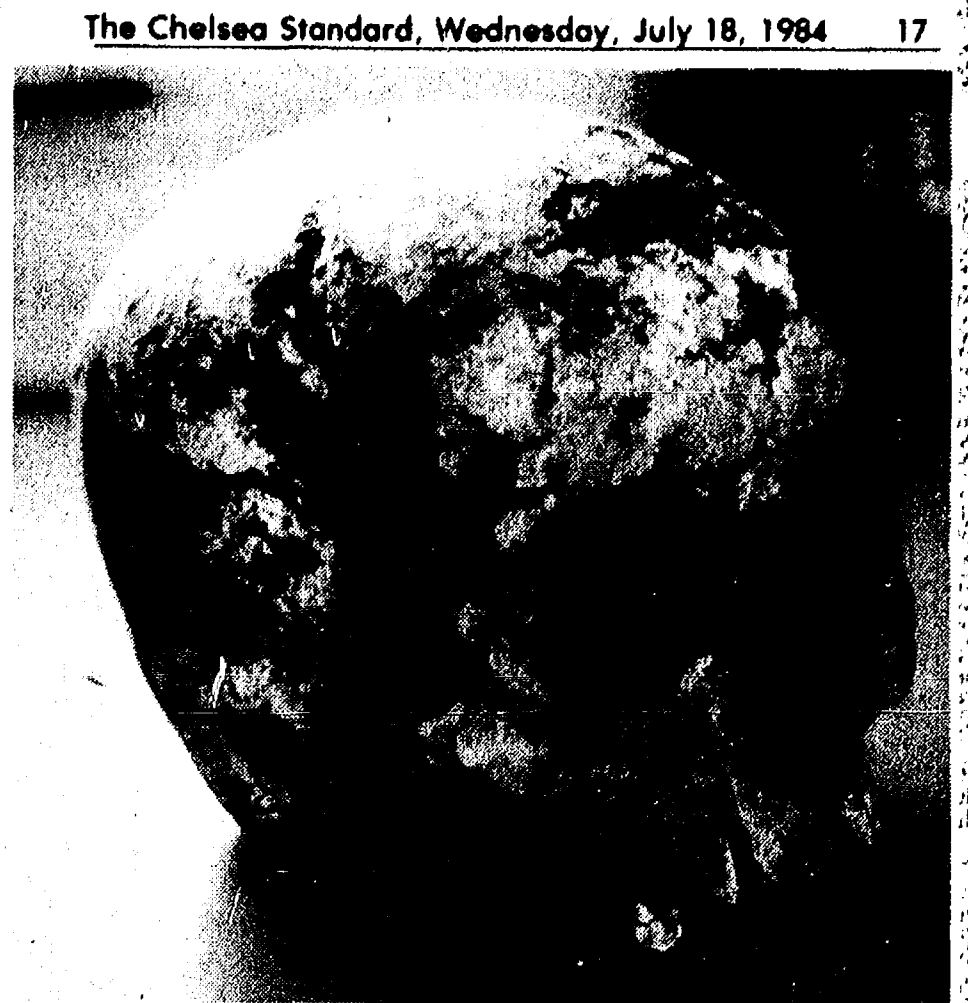

Heatley has also called for an expansion of the 911 emergency number concept into larger areas of the county.

Heatley collected more than 1,000 signatures from 17 separate jurisdictions in the county. His campaign will be based on citizen involvement at the grassroots level. Many citizens remember Heatley from the Scuba Diving demonstrations he did at local area schools and other work with area youths during his assignment at the Ypsilanti Post.

Heatley is married and the father of five children, two of whom are attending Ann Arbor schools.

SKULL FOUND: This is the skull of a young woman found in an out-house on property at 12000 Joslin Lake Rd., Lyndon township. Sheriff's detective Paul Wade doubts that foul play was involved, but is keeping his investigation open.

Old Skull Thought To Be a Prank

The mystery of the human skull found in an abandoned out-house at 12000 Joslin Lake Rd. apparently has been solved, although the investigation is being kept open.

"What it looks like is that somebody dug the skull out of a grave a long time ago, as a prank, and it was kept by various people for many years until they got tired of the joke," sheriff's detective Paul Wade said.

Wade said his investigation suggests the skull—that of a female aged 25-35—was brought to the Lyndon township farm back about 1926 by a visitor from Detroit and represented as that of an "old Indian."

"The skull was kept in the home for several years," Wade said. "The boys in the family put a hat on it and kept it in their bedroom for awhile, then took it to the out-house 'to have somebody to talk to' while they were in the privy."

"There is no evidence of foul play, but I'm not going to close the case. If I receive any new information, I will follow it up."

The skull definitely is not that of an early Indian, Wade said. It is a fairly modern cranium of a young white woman, according to University of Michigan anthropologists who have ways of dating bones.

The U. of M. experts offered to reconstruct a face around the skull, using clay to follow the facial contours, and Wade said he will take them up. "I'd like to see what she looked like, and I would really like to know who she was and where she came from.

I honestly don't think I have a homicide on my hands, but I'll never be sure until an identification is made. If this was indeed a joke done nearly 60 years ago, it wasn't a very good one."

Unless someone claims it, the skull will remain in possession of U. of M. anthropologists, Wade said. The bone was found by Mrs. Marjorie Bies. She and her husband bought the Joslin Lake Rd. property two years ago. She came upon the skull, wrapped in plastic, while cleaning out an ancient privy on the property.

Chicken Barbecue Corn Roast Set at Lake Church

North Lake United Methodist church will host its sixth annual corn feast and chicken barbecue from 4 to 8 p.m. Saturday, July 28, rain or shine at the church, 14111 N. Territorial Rd.

The menu will include one half chicken, corn on the cob, baked beans, cole slaw, home-made rolls and beverage included. In the past it has attracted persons from throughout Jackson and Washtenaw counties who also enjoy touring the historic 148-year-old church.

Tickets will be sold at the door. Take out orders may be called ahead, phone 475-7569.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

Your report of the verbal clash between Keith Boylan and Jerry Satterthwaite in today's issue of The Standard made interesting reading; however, I must point out that there is something more fundamental we village residents must attack than each other.

Elsewhere in The Standard you report the fact that we taxpayers will be required to compensate Bob Aello about $20,000 because "we" accused him of wrongdoing of which he was subsequently acquitted.

It seems to me utterly impossible that any public entity can operate with such inept accounting procedures as are apparently being utilized for Chelsea's parking meter and fines fund. I am certainly not excusing Aello, and former police chiefs, for not recommending and/or implementing reforms in this regard.

I agree with Boylan that not one penny of public funds should go unaccounted for. The current council did not create this problem, but it is incumbent on them to resolve it.

Incidentally, tell Jerry not to take such offense. Also, tell Keith to keep up the attack!

Ray E. Lutovsky

Dear Editor:

I believe it was in January, after several nights of below-zero temperatures and maybe one night of about minus-15 degrees, when you printed an article predicting an almost total loss of the bobwhite quail in this area.

After reading this article, I bought 50 pounds of corn and made a feeder box for the bobwhite, with holes small enough to keep the cottontails out. There are now two quail which survived from an original covey of a dozen birds. They have been seen a few miles west of Chelsea.

I believe the 10 birds were lost due to predators which may have found them eating in the snow-covered corn fields. The deer dig back enough snow to allow the quail to get at the fallen corn.

There is an abundant population of great horned owls here, not to mention fox weasels and hawks. The feeder box was placed under some large, low-spreading evergreens close to an overgrown fence-row. I suppose some may have been trapped in a snow bank after a freezing rain. I remember one rabbit hunt when my jack-of-all-trades Brittany stuck his muzzle into a snow drift and came out with a quail in his mouth 15 years ago.

During weekly hikes to refill the quail feeder, I noticed there were no cat tracks in the snow more than 100 yards from the nearby houses. I believe the abundance of great horned owls explains this fact. A few times I have seen these big owls perched on the peak of my neighbor's barn after midnight, within 150 feet of three different houses.

A neighbor saw this surviving pair of quail in their yard in April. In late March the covey was down to a pair of birds. I decided it best to remove the feeder since predators were probably accustomed to finding bobwhite at the feeder. I never noticed the gender of this last pair of birds. I'm color-blind and identify birds usually by size, silhouette and movement. I would still be able to notice the white markings of a male bobwhite, but I probably did not get a good look at this pair the one time I flushed them (after their 10 companions had been killed).

July 17 marks the opening of the legal season to train dogs. Therefore I'd appreciate it if you would not print the location of these birds. Also, I'd appreciate it if you would not print my name, since many people know where I live and might decide to train their dogs in this area, in hopes of flushing one of the few remaining bobwhites.

I guess humans are one of the turkey's worst enemies in the Waterloo Recreation Area. I've read the book in the McKune Library on the autobiography of Jack Miner, who started the bird sanctuary in Ontario. I tend to agree with Mr. Miner's opinion that great horned owls do a great deal of damage to wild birds. I've seen only one pheasant in our neighborhood in five years, and I hunt rabbit and deer. I suppose the owls probably keep many cats away from the quail back in the swamps.

—Name withheld.

To the Editor,

It has come to my attention that many people could not understand my "letter to the editor" of June 19. I will repeat, there are only two reasons that voting is important to anyone; to steal or to stop being stolen from. Can you conceive of any other?

If the person you are voting for, by adherence to his or her oath of office, neither harm you nor favor you over another, then why vote?

If you think the person you are voting for can harm you and favor another, you had better vote—against him! (reason No. 1).

If you think the person you are voting for will violate his or her oath of office and steal for, or favor you over another, you have a reason for voting for him or her (reason No. 2).

If both or all candidates are going to steal from you, what reason have you to vote? Perhaps we have lost sight of our Christian heritage when we leave the polls and state, "I voted for the lesser of two evils."

So sayth Frederic Bastiat (1801-1850) a French economist statesman, and author in the year 1850.

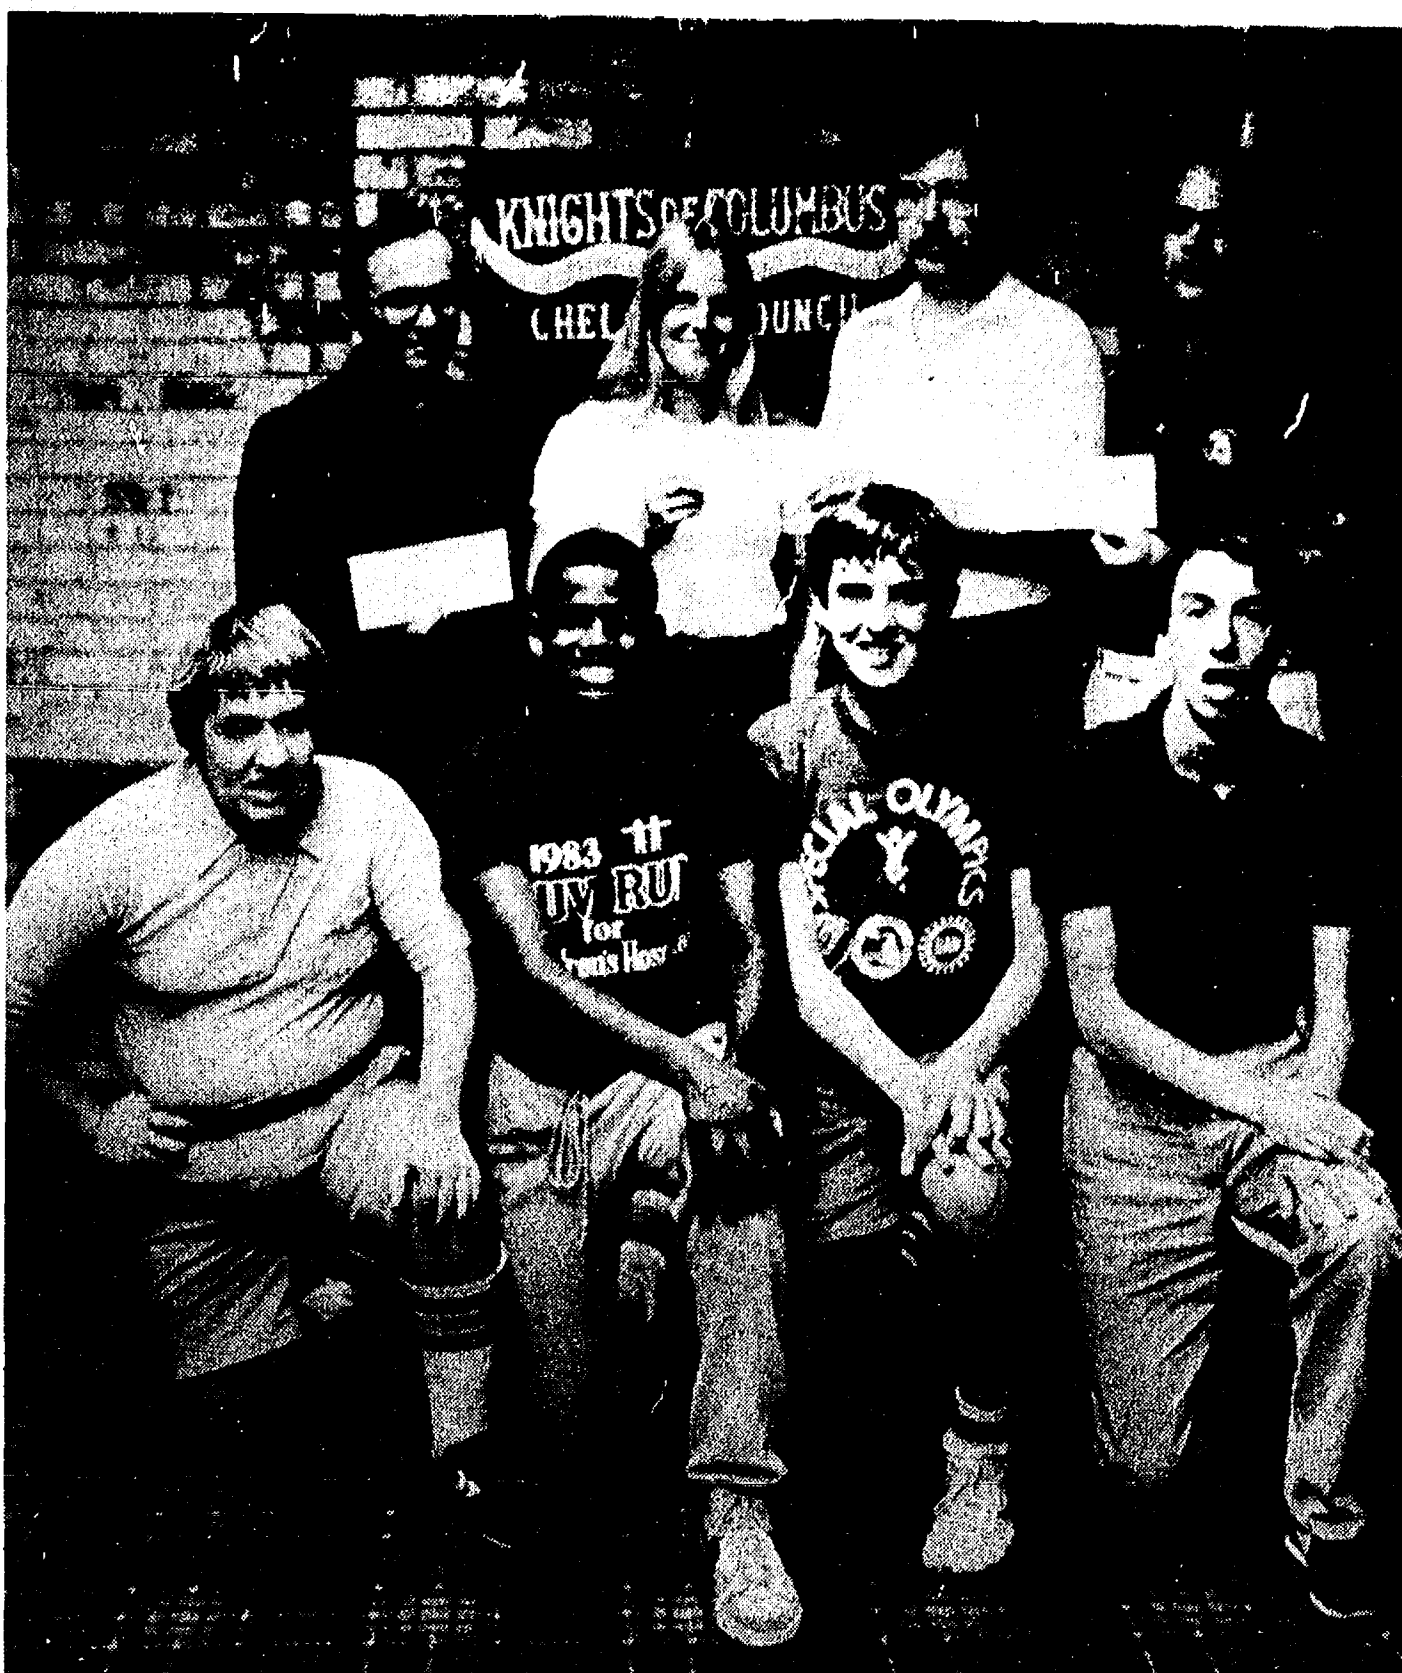

Raymond Gorton Coulter.

Willard Johnson To Head SEMHC Board of Directors

Willard H. Johnson, president of Chelsea Community Hospital, has been appointed chairman of the Southeast Michigan Hospital Council's (SEMHC) board of trustees, SEMHC president Don Potter has announced. As board chairman, Johnson will be the SEMHC representative on the Michigan Hospital Association's board of trustees, and will also serve as speaker of the council's regional House of Delegates.

Before joining Chelsea Community Hospital in 1975, Johnson held administrative positions within the Delaware, Nebraska, and New York health care systems. A Wooster College graduate and a University of Michigan master's degree recipient, he has served on the American College of Hospital Administrators, the American and Michigan hospital associations, the Chelsea United Way, and the Civic Foundation board of trustees. Johnson is chairman of the Michigan Hospital Association's ad hoc committee on substance abuse, and is the president of the Huron Valley Ambulance board of trustees.

As a member of the Southeast Michigan Hospital Council's board of trustees, Johnson will help direct the Council as it represents the 80 SEMHC hospitals in Livingston, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe, St. Clair, Washtenaw, and Wayne counties.

Two Escapees Flee from Camp Waterloo

Two inmates of Camp Waterloo walked away from the minimum security facility on July 12 and, at last report, had not been recaptured.

The escapees were identified as Kevin Tanner, 22, serving 6-12 months for breaking and entering, and Sylvester Skinner, 23, doing 2-10 years for assault less than murder and illegal possession of a firearm.

Camp Waterloo is not directly associated with the Cassidy Lake Technical School, even though both institutions are located in the same general area and are both operated by the Michigan Department of Corrections. They are administered separately, and handle different types of inmates.

Escapes Decline At Cassidy Lake

"For us, no news is good news."

That is how John Andrews, deputy superintendent of Cassidy Lake Technical School, described the fact that, as of July 13, there have been no escapes from the institution since May 29.

"I almost wish you wouldn't put anything in the paper," Andrews said, "but the facts are there. We had no walk-aways during June or the first two weeks of July."

Asked if any new security measures have been put into effect, Andrews replied, "No, not really. What we are doing is working very hard on our orientation program for new inmates. The records show that most of the people who escape do so within the first 30 days after they come here. We feel we need to concentrate our effort on that group in order to cut the escape rate, and that is what we are doing.

"I have my fingers crossed, and we could get a bunch of walk-aways tomorrow, but so far our approach seems to be paying off. We try to convince these young men that they will gain in the long run by staying here and serving their sentences instead of running away, getting caught and having several years added to their time in prison.

"Almost all of the escapees are recaptured, and they don't go back into a minimum security situation like Cassidy Lake. They are sent to higher-security prisons where the rules and living conditions are much tougher. We lay it out for them and appeal to their common sense."

Through May 29 there had been 22 escapees from Cassidy Lake, two more than a year ago at the same date. There were 48 in all of 1983.

Juvenile Court Judge Candidates Will Appear In Two Public Forums

Washtenaw Trial Lawyers Association will sponsor two public forums for voters to get to know the candidates for Juvenile Court Judge. The public is invited and urged to attend and to submit questions.

The candidates are: Ms. Shirley Burgoyne, Ms. Pamela G. Byrnes, Richard E. Conlin, Donald Kenney, John Minock, John Stanowski, Ms. Judith Wood.

One forum will be held in Ann Arbor on July 31 in the Circuit Court Room No. 5 located at Main St. and Huron St. in Ann Arbor and the other will take place on Aug. 2 in the Ypsilanti Township Hall. Both will begin at 7 p.m.

Moderators for the Ann Arbor forum will include Jane Myers from the Ann Arbor News and Ted Heusel from WAAM radio.

Moderators for the Ypsilanti forum will include John Barton of the Ann Arbor News and Joseph Matasich of the Ypsilanti Press. Introductions will be made by Donald E. Shelton, president WTLA and Henry Ritchie an Ypsilanti attorney.

Additionally, at the Ypsilanti forum, candidates for the new 14th District Court Judgeship in Ypsilanti township will be introduced and will have the opportunity to make a brief statement. Candidates for that office are: John B. Collins, Ronald L. Sharp, George Stripp, Bryan A. Walters.

The Washtenaw Trial Lawyers Association is an active organization of 76 trial attorneys, both civil and criminal, whose objective is the improvement of justice in the trial courts of Washtenaw county.

Search Begins for County's Largest Tree

Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District has announced the 7th annual Big Tree Contest, co-sponsored by the District and Tri-County Logging Co. of Clinton.

A major change in this year's contest is the revision of the rules and measurements taken to determine the Big Tree. In addition to circumference at 4 1/2 feet above the ground, the height of a tree, its crownspread and number of board feet will also be measured.

These measurements will then be used in a point system developed by the American Forestry Association to determine a point score for each tree. The tree with the highest number of points will be the Big Tree.

These new measurements and point system will favor forest and woodland grown trees, and the change is not meant to eliminate the present or previously crowned Big Trees under the old measurement system, but to expand the contest and allow more trees to be entered.

All measurements will be taken by the Soil Conservation District personnel. Winning tree will have the highest point total.

Tree owner will receive a plaque to mark the tree and a tree identification book.

Tree entrant if other than owner will receive a $50 cash prize from Tri-County Logging and a certificate for 100 tree seedlings.

Entry deadline is Nov. 16. All entries must be submitted to the Soil Conservation District by this date to be eligible.

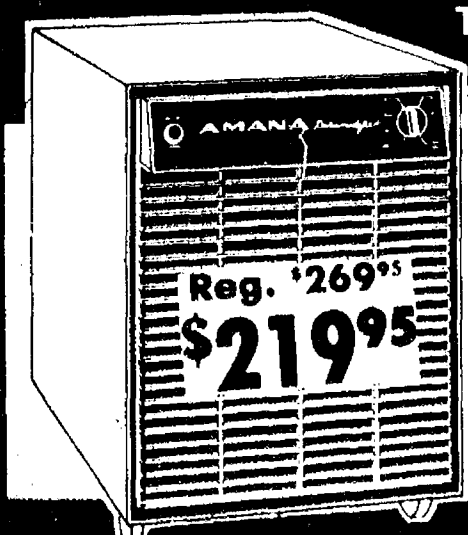

For further information about the 1984 Big Tree Contest and to obtain contest entry forms, contact the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District, 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor 48103. Telephone: (313) 761-6721.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT DEHUMIDIFIERS:

No. 1 ENEMY IS DAMPNESS! A dehumidifier should remove moisture from your home to insure the maximum amount of protection against mildew, mold, corrosion and rot.

COPPER TUBING-A MUST! Copper will not rust or corrode. Its use is the only practical way to avoid rusting out. Amana uses solid copper in both the condenser and evaporator sections.

AIR MOVEMENT OVER COILS-ONE MEASURE OF PERFORMANCE. To be efficient the air in the area to be dehumidified must pass over the evaporator coil. Amana has 3 1/2' feet of evaporator coils. An air control shroud assures all air passing over the coils and avoids air leaks of moisture laden air back into the room.

WATER DISPOSAL MUST BE QUICK, EASY AND SURE. Amana gives you a choice of 3 ways to remove condensate: 1) a standard hose connection for direct to drain 2) set unit directly over drain 3) big condensate pan that holds more than 2 gallons of water.

AUTOMATIC OPERATION IS BEST! Amana Humidistat Control automatically watches the humidity for you. Turns on and off as needed to maintain pre-selected humidity with a control ranging from 20% to 80% humidity.

OVERFLOW CONTROL! Amana overflow control switch automatically shuts off when condensate pan is full. Eliminates frequent checking on container.
