FRAMEWORK GOES UP: BookCrafters' new fulfillment house building in Chelsea's industrial park is rising rapidly while work continues on constructing streets and other utility services in the park.

20 Percent Boost In Village Sewer Charges Proposed

Sewer rates would increase by an average of 20 percent under a proposal being considered by the village board of trustees.

The suggested rate hike was tabled until the board's Sept. 18 meeting. If approved then, it will go into effect on Oct. 1.

Village administrator Frederick Weber presented figures to the board on Sept. 4 indicating that the sewer fund will have a deficit of more than $25,000 at the end of this fiscal year (Feb. 28, 1985).

Expenditures are projected at $157,800 and revenues at $131,250.

Even with the increase, the fund would wind up nearly $15,000 in the red, Weber said. He added, however, that he is projecting a small surplus for 1985-86, assuming the higher rates are enacted.

"Midway through the next fiscal period, without any unforeseen major expenditures, the fund should begin to balance," Weber said.

Costs of engineering work on the plan to upgrade Chelsea's sewage treatment plant, the industrial pre-treatment program and compliance with conditions of a new National Pollution Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permit were cited by Weber as reasons for this year's anticipated short-fall.

"That work should be completed this fiscal year," he said.

"Without those expenditures next year we should end with a small surplus if the rate increase is adopted."

The present schedule went into effect during the last quarter of 1983, and reflected a 10 percent increase approved at the time.

The base rate now is 83 cents per 1,000 gallons of metered water, with a minimum charge of $6.64 per quarter.

Under the proposed new schedule the rate would rise to $1 per thousand with a minimum charge of $8.

Weber said the average Chelsea household is billed for 20-25,000 gallons per quarter, which translates into increases of $3.40 to $4.25.

A heavy user of 100,000 gallons would pay $17 more.

"I can't guarantee there will not be a need for a further increase in the future," Weber said. "In fact, I'm sure there will be when we get into construction of our new sewage treatment facilities, which we are under state order to do no later than 1988. This proposed schedule is supposed to get us through 1985-86, and that's all."

Asked by a member of the audience if the sewer fund deficit could be made up by cutting costs instead of raising rates, Weber said flatly no.

"We're operating it (the sewage plant) as cheaply as we can under the ground rules the state has laid down," he asserted. "There just aren't any ways to reduce the cost."

Mayor pro-tem Joe Merkel, presiding in the absence of president Jerry Satterthwaite, and trustees Mac Fuks, Richard Steele, Stephanie Kanten, Herman Radloff and Jim Finch all voted to table the proposal until Sept. 18.

Sibley Rd. Residents Seek Water

Four property owners along the north side of Sibley Rd. have asked about the possibility of tapping into a water main being extended to Chelsea's new industrial park.

"We don't have a franchise to sell water outside the village limits," administrator Frederick Weber advised the Chelsea council, "and we would have to get one before we could do it."

Sibley Rd. is a dividing line between Chelsea and Sylvan township. Properties on the south side of the road are in the village; those on the north side are in the township.

"I think we might be opening Pandora's box if we started granting requests for services outside the village limits," trustee Mac Fuks suggested. "If these people want water from us, maybe they should agree to have their property annexed into the village."

The letter of inquiry about water service and rates was signed by Richard Cesarz, Robert J. Schuelke, David Aronson and Ralph Oesterle.

After discussion, the village board asked Weber to prepare a report on the pros and cons.

Heavy Rain Finally Ends Local Drouth

Nearly two inches of rain fell on west Washtenaw county during the past week, breaking the summer-long drouth.

However, the precipitation came too late to be of much help to area farmers who have seen their field crops wither and die during the June-August dry spell. The growing season is pretty much over.

In-town residents put away their hoses and lawn sprinklers, and lawns began to take on a green look again. Grass will grow until there is a hard freeze so long as it has water.

Late garden crops such as pumpkins, squash and members of the cabbage families were rejuvenated if they weren't already dead.

Frost can be expected almost any night now. It came uncomfortably close last Thursday with a reading of 38, just one degree over the record low for the date.

Average date for first frost in this area is Sept. 17.

New Turn Pattern On Main St. Gets Council Approval

Left turns from Main St. onto Middle and Park Sts. will be prohibited from 3 to 6 p.m. in an experiment to try to speed the flow of traffic during the afternoon rush hours.

That measure will be coupled with removal of the "No Turn on Red" signs which prevent right turns on red lights at both intersections.

The new system was approved by the village board for an indefinite trial period on recommendation of Larry V. Suboski, district traffic and safety engineer for the state Department of Transportation.

It will go into effect as soon as the appropriate signs are put in place by the Department of Transportation.

"Because of parallel parking on both sides of M-52 (Main St.) in the downtown areas, there is presently only one lane in each direction on the M-52 approaches to the signals (traffic lights)," Suboski wrote in a letter addressed to village administrator Frederick Weber.

Second Variance For New Garage Receives Approval

The Chelsea village council, which is also the zoning board of appeals, doesn't grant many variances from the zoning code. Most requests for exceptions are turned down.

Larry Koch of 601 S. Main St. has been granted two variances in two weeks, which may have set some sort of record.

On Aug. 21 Koch was given permission to build a two-car garage closer to his lot lines than the zoning law permits.

A week ago Tuesday night, he came back and asked that he be allowed to construct the garage 21 feet tall instead of the 12-foot maximum that the code calls for, explaining he needs the extra nine feet for storage.

The zoning board also approved that request.

Council Awards Roofing Contract For Village Garage

A contract to re-roof part of the Chelsea public works garage at 440 W. North St. has been awarded to Ann Arbor Roofing Co. for $9,600.

The Ann Arbor firm's bid was the lowest of three submitted. It includes a 10-year guarantee. Bids ranged up to $13,053.

a line of vehicles holds up all traffic behind him."

Later in his letter, Suboski said, "We feel the removal of 'No Turn on Red' signs facilitates traffic movement and creates intersections that are somewhat safer than where the signs are in place."

Suboski offered three alternative suggestions.

1. Prohibit parking on the approaches to the two intersections, thereby creating a second lane and allowing marking of a center lane for left turns only.

2. Bar left turns at all times at both intersections.

3. Try the system that the village board approved—allowing right turns on red at all times while prohibiting left turns during the afternoon rush.

Suboski suggested a three-month trial, but the council decided to continue the new turn pattern as long as necessary to find out if it works.

Commissioner Vote Recount To Be Held Tomorrow

Ballots cast in the Aug. 7 Republican primary election for Washtenaw county commissioner in District 1 will be officially recounted tomorrow.

The outcome as shown in results certified by the county board of canvassers was that Ellis J. Pratt of Manchester defeated George A. Merkel of Chelsea by seven votes, 1,064 to 1,057.

Merkel asked for the recount, saying he questioned the counts in several of the district's 13 precincts.

"If I lost, I lost," Merkel said after the election, "but there were some strange things about the voting patterns and particularly the returns in a couple of townships that I want to see confirmed. That's why I'm asking for a recount."

Cheaper Power Offered, But There's A Catch

Consumers Power Co. has offered Chelsea "an experimental interruptible rate" for electric power that the village buys from the utility.

The hooker is that the village would have to spend half a million dollars or more to provide a back-up source of power in case Consumers decided to exercise its right to interrupt service.

"We would have to have our own generator that we could turn on if Consumers shut us off," administrator Frederick Weber told the village board of trustees.

Chelsea operates its own municipal electric utility and presently buys its power from Consumers, although Detroit Edison will come into the picture when the village begins drawing

"The count is close enough that I want to be sure that it's right."

County elections director Micki Crawford said all 13 precincts in the 10 townships which make up District 1 will be recounted by the four-member Board of Canvassers, which will split into two-person teams.

Results rung up on voting machines in the precincts that use them will be given a second look to make sure they were copied right. Punch card ballots will be run back through the computer to verify recorded totals.

Absentee paper ballots will be recounted by hand.

Either Pratt or Merkel is assured of victory in the November election. No Democrat entered the race for the commissioner's post.

current from its share in a new Edison power plant.

Consumers' proposal states specially that the company "may interrupt this service upon one hour's notice" and that "the customer (the village) must demonstrate that back-up capacity is available to sustain a complete interruption . . ."

"That means we would have to build a stand-by generator that we could use in case of an interruption," Weber said. "I'm not at all sure we would come out ahead in the long run."

The village board took no action other than to instruct Weber to keep the proposal in mind when wholesale power rates next come up for negotiation with Consumers.

Saline Youth Dies as Car Rolls Over

A Saline youth was killed and three other Saline young persons injured in a one-car accident on Pleasant Lake Rd. near Lindemann Rd. in Freedom Township early last Sunday morning.

Dale R. Thornton, 17, a passenger in a car driven by Ryan K. Lehtonen, 16, of Saline, died of multiple injuries, sheriff's deputies said. Thornton was pronounced dead at Saline Hospital, about two hours after he was admitted.

Lehtonen, Jeffrey S. Brokaw, 16, and Rodney L. Buss, 19, were injured. Brokaw was taken by helicopter to University Hospital in Ann Arbor with serious injuries. Lehtonen and Buss were treated in the Chelsea Hospital emergency room and released.

Deputies said the car was moving "at an excessive rate of speed" on Pleasant Lake Rd. and failed to negotiate a right-angle curve. It left the road, knocked down two traffic signs, hit a tree and rolled completely over, coming to rest right-side-up. The accident occurred at about 1 a.m.

It was Washtenaw county's 31st traffic fatality so far in 1984, compared to 20 at this time last year.

Police Department Runs Increase During August

Chelsea police department radio runs increased in August over July, 340 to 282, and patrol car total mileage was up by 1,288.

Some of the added activity was accounted for by the Chelsea Community Fair, which opened on Aug. 28.

Arrests of all kinds were up, but traffic stops and violations were down. Parking tickets issued held steady.

There was little variation otherwise from the normal monthly pattern.

Council Asked To Back Better Phone Service

Dr. Steven A. Yarows of the Chelsea Medical Center has asked the village board to support his move to upgrade telephone service here.

The board received his letter without comment. Dr. Yarows wrote:

"In view of the village's plan to encourage industrial development in our community, I feel that our community also deserves a better telephone system than we currently have. As a businessman in the community and a future developer of the Village Professional Center, I find that our telephone system is outdated.

The village of Chelsea has been promised updated equipment for a number of years; I think now is the time to encourage Ameritech to install such equipment in our area. If the village plans to encourage further industrial development, this will be necessary improvement for our community. Most businesses would certainly appreciate push-button dialing, call forwarding, and better communication lines for computer telecommunications.

"I hope that through the encouragement of the village council, Ameritech will realize this need and update our equipment."

4 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Oct. 2, 1980—

Visiting at Milan last Friday, the Chelsea High school varsity Bulldogs were looking for their first victory of the year; so was the hosting Big Reds squad. Well, the Big Reds got their first victory of the season while Chelsea continued to bury itself in a series of losses now four games deep.

Chelsea Community Hospital has announced the awarding of contracts to Unit "T" Builders and Argersinger-Morse both of Ann Arbor, for the construction of a 5,000 square foot substance abuse facility.

The contract with Unit "T" Builders, who will be the general contractor for the project totals $202,000. The contract with Argersinger-Morse for foundation work totals $43,000.

The architect responsible for the facility's design is Stephen Janick of the Ann Arbor-based firm Design Concepts.

The Chelsea girls cross country team continued its rapid improvement leading to a 28-30 win over Monroe St. Mary's. In the same meet, the girls continued to look good even in losing to an undefeated Milan team 22-37.

14 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Sept. 24, 1970—

Chelsea's downtown improvement program took a seemingly backward step in August when the Frigid Products building burned to the ground, damaging other buildings, and causing a blackened shell to stand where the gracious old building once stood.

With last week's wrecking project, however, things took a turn for the better and Chelsea citizens look forward to seeing the erection of a new building to replace it.

This week's featured store, that has improved itself this past summer, is Winans Jewelry, which stands at 108 S. Main St.

The lovely victorian store houses the jewelry business downstairs and provides storage for Chelsea Hardware above the store. To "remodel" the store this summer, Winans had their exterior painted a shade of avocado green. They carpeted the interior. The inside walls which had been paneled earlier were not in need of re-paneled.

$1,000 worth of merchandise was stolen in a Friday night break-in at the Gambles store, 110 N. Main, according to Sam Johnson, co-partner of the business with George Elkins. Firearms were the major item stolen. Seven guns along with several packages of ammunition, and a portable color television set were taken.

This is the second time in the past six weeks that the store has been burglarized. Thieves entered the store early Tuesday morning, Aug. 11, stealing approximately $700 worth of firearms. That crime has, thus far, remained unsolved.

24 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Sept. 29, 1960—

Approximately 300 people attended the grand opening of Chelsea Lanes, the new bowling facility on M-92, south of Old US-12. The grand opening was held Saturday evening.

The date "1869" appears on a cornerstone of the home at 1610 Guenther Rd. now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heller; however, the present modern style home dates back only about 43 years since it replaced the former home which was destroyed by the 1917 cyclone which struck this area.

The present home was built on the original stone foundation and some of the timbers from the original house were used in the new building.

Approximately 60 people registered at Civil Defense headquarters here during Sunday's county-wide Civil Defense exercise.

The registration, in charge of Zone VI Civil Defense Director W. J. Grossman and the zone's welfare co-ordinator, Dr. J. B. Casey, was a practice alert for obtaining complete information on all evacuees—post disaster or pre-attack.

State Ending Year With $271 Million Budget Surplus
The State Department of Management and Budget figures estimate the general fund budget will have a surplus of $271.7 million at the end of the fiscal year—Sept. 30.

The director of the Senate Fiscal Agency said that the new estimate is an increase for the year-end surplus of nearly $50 million, which reflects higher revenues than earlier estimates. The surplus projection, contained in the state's August financial report, is based on a final general fund revenue estimate of $5,634.7 million, which includes $19.7 million in surplus from the 1982-83 fiscal year and estimated expenditures of $5,363 million, which includes $51.8 million in departmental lapses.

Ted Ferris, director of the Senate Fiscal Agency, said the increased surplus projection is over $49 million higher than earlier projections and was due to higher revenue estimates than earlier projected by the administration.

Ferris said he expected the state would increase its revenue estimates again before the end of the fiscal year.

In the financial report, the department reported the $5,615 million tax revenue estimate is an actual decrease of $11.3 million which reflect the accelerated income tax rollback that began Sept. 1.

Under the rollback, the state's income tax rate dropped from 6.1 percent to 5.35 percent. The department estimated the rollback will cost the state some $46 million.

The total estimated general-fund income tax revenue for 1983-84 was down by a total of $56 million, which includes the $46 million decline from the accelerated rollback and another $10 million because of lower than anticipated annual payments.

However, sales tax collections through July were 14.7 percent over collections in July, 1983.

That increase, according to the report, was the smallest increase since January.

For the year, sales tax collections are running 15.2 percent higher than for the same period in 1982-83, according to the report.

The estimate for total fiscal year sales tax collection has been increased by $24 million to $1,913 million. The total sales tax increase allocated to the general fund was $11.7 million.

The report also said the single business tax estimate for 1983-84 was increased by $33 million to $1,062.5 million.

On an accrual basis, SBT collections were 32.2 percent higher than collections for the same time in 1982-83.

Additionally, Ferris estimated that the .25 percent income tax surcharge collected to retire the state's cash deficit will come off in either January or February, 1986.

He said his agency figures estimate it could come off in January, 1986, but the figures included in the August financial report would delay that surcharge removal until a month later.

Rev. Morris' Daughters Win Scholarships

Some policy holders of Lutheran Brotherhood Life Insurance, Washtenaw-Jackson branch 8081, received more than just food at the company's picnic on Aug. 19. A total of $1,000 was given away in nine scholarships to area college students. Two Chelsea girls won the scholarships through a drawing.

Kathleen Morris received $200. She studies accounting as a sophomore at Capitol University in Columbus, O. Her sister, Debbie Morris got $100. A freshman, she is enrolled in the biological sciences program at Michigan State University.

Both students are the daughters of the Rev. John Morris, pastor of Zion Lutheran church.

The Lutheran Brotherhood Life Insurance is headquartered in Minneapolis, Minn. and has "benevolent projects which dispense money through programs," said the Rev. Morris.

All policy holders were invited to the picnic which was held in Pierce Park.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I like the radio. It ain't like the newspaper, where you actual learn what's going on by making the effort to find out. It's more like the silly ads for rubber drawers you wear to lose weight while you sleep. You turn radio on and you expect it to do whatever you want it to do.

The wonder is, sometimes it does. Like the other morning I picked up this radio item where a undertaker out in Oregon was faring worse than folks in the Texas drought. He is the only feller in his line of work in his county of 11,000 people, so he pritty well has locks on business. But what has happened, the radio said, is that nobody else has died there in the past three months. Which if nothing else goes to show there ain't much point in having a monopoly if there ain't nothing to monopolize.

I give this report at the country store Saturday night, and it got a small rise out of the fellers. Per starters, Clem Webster said if the Oregon undertaker was new we ought to see if he had failed at other jobs. Clem recalled a feller he went to school with that lost his farm in the Depression, opened a bicycle shop right after World War 2 when everybody got cars and tried barbering in the 60s when nobody got haircuts. Clem said the feller told him he was thinking of going in the burying business to see if people would stop dying.

Furthermore, Bug Hookum said my item bring to mind a radio program where a funeral home sponsored a reading of obituaries early ever morning. The idee must of been, Bug said, you set your clock radio to wake you up, you listened to the obits, and if you didn't hear your name called up yonder you got up. One morning, Bug recalled, the organ music come on, and after a pause a sad announcer said he had a "negative report," meaning nobody had died since the morning before so he had nothing to say. Bug said he never could figure whuther it was negative fer the sponsor or fer the radio station that didn't have anything to fill the air it had sold.

The fellers was agreed that radio can be a heap more entertaining than television because you can read and listen a heap better than you can read and watch. The radio talk give Zeke Grubb a chancet to comment on President Reagan's recent warm up remark that was reported in the papers. You took note, Zeke said, that his voice level check was not on radio or TV, because they agreed years ago not to air what's said in test. So no harm was done except the papers picked it up and then some editorial writers tried to suggest what the president said about bombing Russia was proof that he is a saber rattling warmonger.

VA Spends $64.1 Million In Washtenaw County

Expenditures by the Veterans Administration in Michigan totaled $79.3 million during fiscal year 1983, an increase of $42.9 million over the previous year, and the highest in state history.

Gordon W. Clowney, director of the VA Regional Office in Detroit, reported today on the federal agency's estimated expenditures in the state. The largest portion, $413.4 million, represented disability compensation and pension checks to veterans, their dependents and survivors.

Approximately $206.2 million went toward medical services and administrative costs, and $50.9 million provided for GI Bill educational and vocational rehabilitation programs for Michigan veterans, he said.

The remainder was expended for GI insurance and indemnities ($43 million) and construction and related costs ($5.9 million).

An estimated 1,108,000 veterans live in Michigan. The VA has medical centers in Allen Park, Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Iron Mountain and Saginaw, and an outpatient clinic in Grand Rapids. Besides the regional office in Detroit, there are three Vet Centers for Vietnam-era veterans and a national cemetery in Battle Creek.

In Wayne county, disbursements totaled $220.2 million, of which $118.6 million was paid in the form of compensation and pensions, and $77 million for VA medical services and administrative costs. Another $13.2 million was expended for veterans' schooling and vocational rehabilitation programs, and $10.3 million for insurance and indemnities, Clowney said.

In Washtenaw county, the VA expended $64.1 million, with $48.7 million for medical services and administrative costs. Compensation and pension payments amounted to $8.2 million, and $2.1 million was expended for GI Bill education and vocational rehabilitation programs.

Family Practice Center Offers Free Continence Help

When Archie Bunker flushes the toilet on TV, it's funny and everyone laughs. But when someone who is incontinent must find a bathroom every half hour because they're afraid of wetting themselves, it's no laughing matter.

"People without bladder control often lead isolated lives... like the woman who was afraid to go to her son's wedding for fear of embarrassment," states Dr. James Peggs, director of the University of Michigan Family Practice Center at Chelsea. "Many people assume that nothing can be done, but that is not true," continues Dr. Peggs. "Incontinence can be caused by a urinary tract infection, poor bladder support and other conditions that can be treated."

One out of five older women has a urine control problem and University Hospital has developed a Continence Program for older women to assist with this problem. The program recognizes the physical and social discomfort caused by uncontrolled urine loss or other urination problems. Its services are available at little or no cost to women 55 years of age or older.

A special session describing the program and the services available will be held at the University of Michigan Family Practice Center at Chelsea on Thursday, Sept. 30, at 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The program is free, but pre-registration is requested at 764-8010.

The number of self-employed Americans reached 9.1 million in 1984, an increase of 30 percent since 1970, according to a recent study of the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Workshop Offered On Supermarket Shopping Tips

It is possible to find nourishing whole foods at the supermarket, if you know what to look for.

Chelsea Community Education is offering a workshop titled "Supermarket Shopping" that will give you the basic tools necessary for making wise selections among the thousands of items available on supermarket shelves. Teresa Freed, editor of "The Foodletter," will show how to read food labels, and which of those tongue-twisting ingredients are safe and which should be avoided. She will also show you how to identify hidden fats, sugars, and sodium. You will discover common brand name items that are really wholesome foods in disguise, and others that only create that impression. And, you will learn to recognize misleading advertising claims that often lead to unwise food selection.

"Supermarket Shopping" will meet in the Chelsea High School Home Economics room on Thursday, Sept. 18 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Fee of $7 will cover the cost of recipes and food samples. Register with Chelsea Community Education by calling 475-9830.

Learn to select and prepare delicious whole foods in an informal and relaxed atmosphere by joining Teresa Freed, editor of "The Foodletter," in a six-week dinner class, "Come for Dinner!" Participants will join in the fun of preparing a full course meal using delicious whole foods and sound nutrition practices, and then will have the pleasure of sitting down to eat it. A different menu will be featured each evening, complete with a vegetarian main dish and a whole grain dessert. A brief after-dinner discussion will highlight important nutritional points, shopping information, time-saving tips, etc.

"Come for Dinner!" is being offered by Chelsea Community Education, and will take place in the Chelsea High School Home Economics room. The class will meet on Wednesdays: Sept. 19; Oct. 3, 17, and 31; and Nov. 14 and 28 from 6 to 7:30 p.m. The fee of $40 will cover food costs and recipes for all six evenings.

You may register with Chelsea Community Education Offices by calling 475-9830. Reservations are limited to the first 16 people.

VFW Posts, Auxiliaries Hold District Meeting Here

Representatives of VFW posts and auxiliaries from District 6 met in Chelsea for an all-day session last Sunday with local Post 4076 serving as host. Combined attendance was close to 200.

Commander Jack Bastenelli of Hamburg and president Mary Holmes of Brighton conducted the respective meetings.

District 6 has 31 posts and 29 auxiliaries, ranging from Lansing southeast to Monroe.

A roast beef dinner was served by the Chelsea auxiliary at the Fairgrounds service center before the auxiliary business meeting started there.

The posts conducted their business meeting at the VFW hall on N. Main St.

Past district presidents Betty Connelly of Monroe, Mildred Sebrall of Lansing and treasurer Diane Cooper from the Lansing office were guests at the auxiliary meeting.

Bill Brown of Standish, judge advocate for the 11 district, was a guest at the posts' meeting.

Notice was received from the VFW's Kansas City, Mo., headquarters that newly elected national commander Bill Ray Cameron will visit Chelsea on Oct. 23. It will be the first time ever that a national commander has come to Chelsea during the 39 years of Post 4076's existence.

Rademacher, Musbach Law Office Nominated For Realtor Award

Although they didn't win, the office of Rademacher and Musbach was one of five commercial properties nominated county-wide for the commercial division of the Pride of Ownership award. The award is sponsored by the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors.

Lang Ramsey of Chelsea nominated the law office. The other three nominees and winner, First/Miller Building, were all from Ann Arbor.

The selection committee based choices upon architectural design, extent of the project in terms of remodeling as well as new construction, landscaping and extent of daily maintenance involved, and impact of the project on the surrounding neighborhood.

According to committee-member Steven Easudes of Thornton, Inc., the Rademacher-Musbach property was nominated because of the radical change affected in the building when they put in the woodwork and etched glass, the detail and effort, and the contribution made to the village.

"I really saw that as the start-off of pride in ownership of all the buildings downtown when people were getting ready for the sesquicentennial. Everyone was sandblasting and trying to maintain the character of the buildings," said Easudes.

When the firm first purchased the building, they tore out the inside and front exterior, then restored the building according to its historic character. The cornerstone of the building is dated 1894.

All the building's woodwork is made of oak. The front woodwork has a natural finish.

"We were pleased with how downtown had developed and that Chelsea has a lot to offer by the way its buildings look and we were pleased that the buildings were restored to how they once looked," said Randy Musbach of the firm.

The building is owned by Randy's father Arden Musbach and William Rademacher.

37 Contestants Enter Antique Tractor Pull

Thirty seven contestants entered the Antique Tractor Pulling contest this year. This number is down from last year when 43 contestants entered. According to Mrs. Eugene Wahl, wife of the superintendent, the rain may have kept some participants away.

"Usually it's a fun day for the farmers, but if there's something to do around the farm, they just don't come," she said.

Most of those who won drove Allis Chalmers models from the 1930s. Several winners were from Dexter.

Ron Frey of Saline led the winners in the 3,000 pounds and under class. He pulled 204% with his 1939 Allis Chalmers.

Doug Trinkle of Dexter took second place with a 1937 Allis Chalmers. He pulled 179%.

Third place went to Richard Simkiss of Manchester who pulled 178% with his 1938 Allis Chalmers.

Dennis Trinkle pulled a fourth at 174% with a 1936 Allis Chalmers.

Jeff Mann won fifth place with a John Deere H at 167%.

Sixth-place winner was Kevin Milkey also from Manchester with an Allis Chalmers that pulled 166%.

First place in the 3,001-4,000 pound class went to Lloyd Grau of Chelsea. He drove a 1940 Allis Chalmers and pulled 223%.

Warren Murdock of Dexter followed with 222% on his Allis Chalmers.

Buddy Wahl of Grass Lake pulled in third with a 1936 F-20 and 207%.

Richard Simkiss took fourth at 198.6% on a 1934 Allis Chalmers.

Dennis Trinkle made fifth in this category at 191% followed by Dexter's Bruce Breninger who also pulled 191%. Both drove 1939 Allis Chalmers models.

Dexter contestants driving F-20s dominated the 4,001-4,500 pound class. Only fifth place Dick Zenz was from Grass Lake and drove a 1937 Fordson. He pulled 186%. While first place Bob Pyle was from Dexter, he pulled 242% with a 1935 IHC.

The only woman to win, Debbie Luckhart pulled 205% with a 1936 F-20 and won second place.

Third place Dean Lindemann and fourth Steve Trinkle both pulled 199%. Lindemann's model was a 1937 and Trinkle's was 1939.

Sixth place Dennis Trinkle pulled 95% with a 1932.

While first place went to Jim Samonek of Saline for pulling 222% with a 1939 IHC, Dexter residents also dominated the 4,501 and over category. Bob Pyle pulled a 1931 IHC to second place with 218%. Dennis Trinkle followed with 209% on his 1938 F-30. Fourth place, Kent Bollinger of Chelsea drove a 1936 John Deere A and pulled 176%. ## A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

So-called "beauty" contests got a black eye recently when it was disclosed that the reigning Miss America had posed for some pornographic pictures which were printed in a magazine.

I haven't seen the pictures, because I wouldn't spend a penny, much less $4, to buy that kind of filth. Magazines of that ilk have no reason for being, and I think it's long past time that they were prohibited from being produced and sold.

That said, I want to compliment the people who conduct the Chelsea Community Fair queen competition. It is carried on in excellent taste with no sexual overtones, and that is refreshing.

The contestants aren't asked to step out on the stage in bathing suits and display their bodies, and they shouldn't be. The judging is done on the basis of talent and personality.

I suppose that looks play a part in the minds of the judges, at least subconsciously. The problem is that beauty is indeed in the eye of the beholder. Just exactly what is a "pretty girl," or a "handsome boy" for that matter?

Just once in my life I agreed to be a judge of a beauty contest. It was many years ago, and the assignment was to help select a "Miss Ann Arbor" who would go on to compete for the title "Miss Michigan."

I never did it again, and never will. There simply were no objective criteria that could be applied to decide which entrant was "better" than any other. We three judges eventually made a decision, because we had to, but the experience wasn't a good one.

I don't envy the judges of the Chelsea fair queen contest. The 12 candidates this year presented a variety of talents—singing, dancing, playing musical instruments, gymnastics, or combinations thereof. How in the world do you watch and listen, and come up with a defensible conclusion that somebody has more talent than somebody else?

It's too bad that there could be only one winner. That means there had to be 11 disappointed girls. All the losers accepted defeat graciously, but it had to hurt at least a little bit.

Cindy Bradbury, one of the chairpersons of the queen contest said it very well when she told me after the Friday evening talent show:

"As far as I'm concerned, they are all winners. They are an outstanding group. Any one of them could have been selected as queen."

Congratulations to Mary Grifka, who was chosen as the winner. Congratulations also to runner-up Amy Wolter and to candidates Rebecca Joy Dent, Laura Damm, Kelly Ghent, Wendy Hunn, Laurie Ann Brassow, Mary Ann Richardson, Tonya Lee Yost, Amy Wolfgang, Deborah Cox and Jennifer Lindsay.

You all did well and are winners in my book.

As a wrap-up note on the fair, what I like best about it is that it is primarily a showcase for the talents and abilities of young people, teen-agers for the most part. There aren't many adult exhibitors.

I don't have any grudge against adults, being one myself, but I like to see youngsters given the chance to display what they can do, whether it be baking a cake or showing a horse, and they do some remarkably good things.

I suspect the accent on youth is what keeps the fair alive and going year after year. Participating in the fair is something that youngsters can look forward to as they grow up.

Finally, a public note of personal thanks to fair secretary Mary Ann Guenther for her help in providing the information that news reporters need to cover such an event. A lot goes on at the fairgrounds during a jam-packed five days, and keeping up with it all is a challenge to say the least. It isn't easy, but Mary Ann made it a lot easier than it might have been.

First Cassidy Lake Walk-Away In 11 Weeks Caught After Chase

It had to end, and it finally did. After a "winning streak" of 11 weeks without a walk-away, the Cassidy Lake Technical School recorded one last week.

Lupe Martinez, 21, of Saginaw, serving 1½ years for auto theft, escaped from the institution late Monday night, Sept. 3. He was recaptured about noon last Wednesday near the intersection of I-94 and Fletcher Rd. following an air-ground search which included a helicopter and a tracking dog.

Chelsea police officers Mike Foster and Dave Dettling were off-duty and in a private car when they spotted Martinez walking east on west-bound I-94 at about 9:20 a.m. last Wednesday morning. They stopped and chased him on foot.

Martinez ran into a cornfield and temporarily got away. A sheriff's department helicopter and a tracking dog were called in, along with additional men.

The search went on for three hours before Martinez was flushed out of hiding. He ran north across I-94 and was headed off by sheriff's detective Paul Wade. Foster and Dettling were just seconds behind in the pursuit, and the three officers made the arrest.

Martinez was taken to the Washtenaw County Jail and booked on a charge of escape from prison.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Oct. 5, 1950—

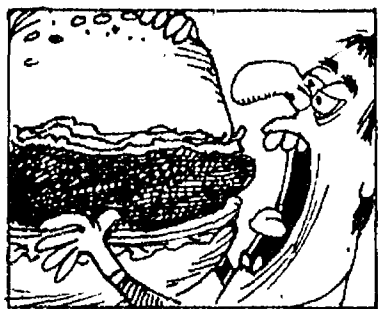

Joint action by Local 437, UAW-CIO and Central Fibre Products established a labor relations scholarship at the University of Michigan to the memory of Burton Arnold French, a former company foreman.

Half of the $300 scholarship was given by Local 437, from vending machine receipts, and half was given by the management of Central Fibre Products Co.

The Board of Supervisors Tuesday morning adopted the 1951 county budget of $1,293,581 for salaries and general expenses for the coming year. The budget does not include the $60,000 which had previously been decided on as the amount to spend for repairs to the courthouse. When the budget was first submitted Monday morning, it was discovered that the $60,000 was overlooked in making up the budget schedule and action on adoption was submitted with the $60,000 for the Courthouse improvements not included.

Following closely on the heels of the other victorious invaders in Wolverineland last Saturday, Chelsea blasted the younger members of the pack, the University High Cubs, 26-14, under the lights at Wines Field with George Heydlauff again pacing the attack.

In fact, of the 40 points scored in the game, Heydlauff accounted for 28 of them as he notched the four Chelsea touchdowns, kicked the two successful extra points and was spilled for a U. High safety after the Bulldogs had stopped a Cub drive on their own five.

If a 170 pound man expended energy at the rate of the tiny hummingbird, he would have to eat 285 pounds of hamburger or twice his weight in potatoes each day in order to maintain his weight.

John Staten, Cassidy Lake superintendent, had mixed feelings about the incident.

"I'm glad they caught him, because it helps to show our inmates that escaping from here is a no-win proposition. Almost all of them (walk-aways) get caught. That's one lesson we're trying to teach."

"I suspect if he (Martinez) had it to do over again, he wouldn't. He wandered around in the swamps, got lost, and was captured. He really never had a chance."

"Our security system, both in and outside Cassidy Lake, is vastly improved. This was our first escape since June 8, and the summer months normally are the worst. I'm proud of that record. I think it shows we are doing something right. We are getting on top of the problem. It's bad to have even one escape, but it's bound to happen.

"I just hope the community realizes and understands that we have taken steps to improve security at Cassidy Lake, and we are showing results."

Martinez was the 25th escapee from Cassidy Lake so far in 1984. There were 43 last year.

Antique Cars Have Problems On Run to Greenfield Village

Ten antique automobiles were supposed to arrive at the North Lake United Methodist church last Friday noon for a lunch stop enroute to the 34th annual Old Car Festival at Greenfield Village in Dearborn.
 Seven of them finally made it about an hour late. It was a bad morning for the old cars and their drivers and passengers—cold, windy, wet and raw.
 "These old engines just weren't made to run in this kind of weather," one driver said. "We had trouble all the way. It seemed like the route was all up-hill."
 Occupants of the open cars were wearing clothes more suited to ice fishing than auto touring, and they were shivering when they arrived at North Lake.
 "I've got goose bumps all over," one woman passenger said. "I haven't been this cold in a long time."
 The temperature was in the 50's, a brisk wind was blowing out of the north, and there were intermittent spits of rain.
 The cars were one and two-cylinder antiques, all built before 1912. They included 1902, 1903, and 1904 Oldsmobiles, a 1903 Cadillac, a 1906 Reo, a 1906 Black high-wheeler and a 1911 Maxwell.
 They set out from Lansing at 8 o'clock Friday morning and drove over back country roads, through Stockbridge and Unadilla before arriving at North Lake. From there they were to go to Dearborn with a pit stop at Plymouth. The route was 92 miles long, and it was scheduled to be completed in eight hours at an average speed of 11.5 mph.
 The pace was about an hour behind schedule at North Lake. Drivers at that point were worrying about going the rest of the way, regardless of the time it took.

Chelsea Teams Win Trophies For Horseshoe Pitching

Thirty six people entered the Horseshoe Pitching contest at this year's Chelsea Community Fair, forming 18 teams.
 The entrants played in a double elimination tournament. Teams were out when they had lost two games. Stakes had to be 40 feet apart; however, women are allowed to pitch from 30 feet.
 The number of teams is down from last year's 24. Usually, over 20 teams participate in the contest. Superintendent Angie Smith said holding the contest on Saturday instead of Friday hurt attendance.
 "There are also a lot of state competitions going on labor day weekend. We lost a lot of people because of that this year. They couldn't make it back in time for the cut-off," said Smith.
 A Manchester team, Larry McGee and Mark Rutherford survived—the tournament to win the first place trophy. The second- and third-place teams were both from Chelsea. Chelsea has not had a winner in the horseshoe contest for the last four years, said Smith.
 Anita Powell and her sister, Celeste, out-pitched everyone else to take second place. The team pitched from 35 feet instead of the 30 feet limit. Anita has participated in the contest for the last five years. She began the first two years pitching with her father before teaming up with her sister. According to Smith, Anita just missed winning a trophy in the last few years.
 Fred Petsch and Jack Richmond beat the remaining 15 teams to win the third-place trophy. While Petsch is from Chelsea, Richmond is from Gregory.
 Petsch, James Daniels, and Merle Sibley were the original organizers of the event nine years ago. Petsch has worked on the event ever since. He pitched the first four years with Daniels. The team took first place the first year, second place the second year, and third place the third year. They did not place the fourth year.
 Petsch then pitched with Sibley for four years. They took third

Net Farm Income Is Up . . . But How?

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says net cash farm income, the amount farmers have left after paying cash expenses, averaged $18,907 per farm in 1983, up more than $1,500 from 1982, but the figures also showed a wide variation, farm to farm, depending on the type of operation involved. Not factored in was another consideration important to many farmers—the portion of their income that is derived from direct government payments rather than from the marketing of their commodities.

Electric Franchise Ordinance

AN ORDINANCE, GRANTING TO THE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA AND THE ELECTRIC LIGHT AND WATER DEPARTMENT OF THE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA, ITS SUCCESSORS AND ASSIGNS, THE RIGHT, POWER AND AUTHORITY TO CONSTRUCT, MAINTAIN AND COMMERCIALY USE ELECTRIC LINES CONSISTING OF TOWERS, MASTS, POLES, CROSSARMS, GUYS, BRACES, FEEDERS, TRANSMISSION AND DISTRIBUTION WIRES, TRANSFORMERS AND OTHER ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES ON, UNDER, ALONG AND ACROSS THE HIGHWAYS, STREETS, ALLEYS, BRIDGES AND OTHER PUBLIC PLACES, AND TO DO A LOCAL ELECTRIC BUSINESS IN THE TOWNSHIP OF SYLVAN, WASHTENAW COUNTY, MICHIGAN, FOR A PERIOD OF THIRTY YEARS.

SECTION 1. The Township of Sylvan, Washtenaw County, Michigan, hereby grants the right, power and authority to the Village of Chelsea and The Electric Light and Water Department of the Village of Chelsea, its successors and assigns, hereinafter called the "Grantee", to construct, maintain and commercially use electric lines consisting of towers, masts, poles, crossarms, guys, braces, feeders, transmission and distribution wires, transformers and other electrical appliances, for the purpose of transmitting, transforming and distributing electricity on, under, along and across the highways, streets, alleys, bridges, and other public places, and to do a local electric business in the Township of Sylvan, Washtenaw County, Michigan, for a period of thirty years.

SECTION 2. In consideration of the rights, power and authority hereby granted, all of which shall vest in the Grantee for a period of thirty (30) years as aforesaid, said Grantee shall faithfully perform all things required by the terms hereof.

SECTION 3. All of Grantee's towers, masts and poles shall be neat and slightly, and so placed on either side of the highways, streets, alleys and bridges as not to unnecessarily interfere with the use thereof for highway, street and alley purposes. All of Grantee's wires carrying electricity shall be securely fastened so as not to endanger or injure persons or property in said highways, streets and alleys. All work performed by said Grantee in said highways, streets and alleys shall be done so as not to interfere with the use thereof, and when completed, the same shall be left in as good condition as when work was commenced. The Grantee shall have the right to trim trees if necessary in the conducting of such business, subject, however, to the supervision of the highway authorities.

SECTION 4. Said Grantee shall at all times keep and save the Township free and harmless from all loss, costs and expense to which it may be subject by reason of the negligent construction and maintenance of the structures hereby authorized. In case any action is commenced against the Township on account of the permission herein granted, said Grantee shall, upon notice, defend the Township and save it free and harmless from all loss, cost and damage arising out of such negligent construction and maintenance.

SECTION 5. Said Grantee shall be entitled to charge the inhabitants of the Township for electric energy furnished therein, the rates, including minimum charges, as approved by the Grantee, subject to the limitation of this Ordinance. The Grantee and its successors, are hereby granted for the term of this franchise, authority and jurisdiction to fix and regulate electric rates and rules regulating such service in said Township. Such rates and rules shall be changed at any time by said Grantee. The rates, fares, and charges levied within the Township shall reflect the costs incurred by the Village of Chelsea and The Electric Light and Water Department of said Village of Chelsea to provide current service including a reasonable rate of return upon investment, and reflect generally accepted utility regulation cost principles which charge only for appropriate actual expenses incurred, including depreciation and amortization charges for the recovery of capitalized assets used in providing service. No sur-charge shall be levied as such, but the Village and Township rates may be different and in proportion to the differences in the cost to providing service to customers outside and inside of the Village of Chelsea. Should the Township not agree upon the rates and rules for providing electric service in the Township, either the Township or the Grantee may submit the difference to binding arbitration, provided however, that any request for arbitration shall be made within thirty (30) days after the promulgation of rates, fares, and charges established by the Grantee from time to time. If no request for arbitration is made within thirty (30) days of the date of promulgation of new rates by the Grantee, any claim to right of arbitration shall be deemed waived.

SECTION 6. A matter which is disputed as provided the foregoing Section of this Ordinance shall be submitted to a arbitrator chosen by the parties under the procedures then in existence established by the American Arbitration Association. Each party shall bear its own costs in relation to arbitration, and the costs and expenses of the arbitration procedure shall be paid by the parties in such manner as the arbitrator may direct. The decision of the arbitrator shall be complete and binding upon the parties, provided however, that the arbitrator shall have no jurisdiction or power to modify a rate, regulation, or rule established by the Federal Power Commission, or necessary to comply with any decision of said Federal Power Commission regarding the obligation of the Grantee to reimburse other producers of power for plant construction, or operational costs which are imposed upon the Grantee by said Commission.

SECTION 7. The rights, powers, and authority herein granted are not exclusive.

SECTION 8. Said Grantee shall, as to all other conditions and elements of service not herein fixed, by and remain subject to the reasonable rules and regulations of the Federal Power Commission and other regulatory bodies and their successors, applicable to electric service in said Township.

SECTION 9. This Ordinance shall cease and be of no effect after thirty (30) days from its adoption, unless within said period the Grantee shall accept the same in writing filed with the Township Clerk, and subject to confirmation of the grant thereof by at least a majority of the electors of said Township voting thereon at a regular or special township election to be held in the manner provided by law. Upon acceptance and confirmation thereof, the same shall constitute a contract between the Township and said Grantee for a period of thirty (30) years from the date of acceptance.

The foregoing Ordinance was duly adopted and passed by the Township Board of Sylvan Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan on the 4th day of September, 1984, and will be submitted to the electors of the Township in conjunction with the general election of the Township of Sylvan, Washtenaw County, Michigan to be held at the Sylvan Township Hall, 112 W. Middle St., Chelsea, on the 6th day of November 1984.

Since the age of 16, Cobb has worked at Chelsea McDonald's. She was there six months before being promoted to manager.

Carolyn Alber also graduated from MTI but information about her was not available at press time.

Protectionism Punishes Producers

"Protectionist policies will not create a more efficient U. S. steel industry. Protectionism will allow the steel industry to increase prices and avoid the steps necessary to improve efficiency," according to Ron Herr, research economist for the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The International Trade Commission has recommended that President Reagan adopt quotas and tariffs to protect the U.S. steel industry from alleged damage by foreign competition. Protectionism for U. S. steel can mean significant loss of markets and income for U. S. farmers, according to Herr.

"Farmers will lose three ways. They will lose valuable export markets, they will pay higher prices for farm machinery, and farm families will pay more for goods like automobiles and major appliances," he said.

Assoc. for Retarded Citizens to Meet

Duffeys Receive Pride of Ownership Realtor Award

Gerald Duffey likes to putter around the house at 23 Chestnut Dr. It's his hobby, but it also won him the 1984 Residential Pride of Ownership award of the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors.

Duffey was chosen from among 12 homeowners county-wide for the award. He was nominated by Darla Bohlender of Thornton, Inc. and selected by a seven-member committee. Committee members were Steve Easudes of Thornton, Inc.; Ann Arbor realtors Dorothy Reister, Bud Falsetta, and Gary Lillie; Ken Collica of the Ann Arbor News; realtor Oren Nelson from Whitmore Lake and Michael Porath, a realtor from Chelsea.

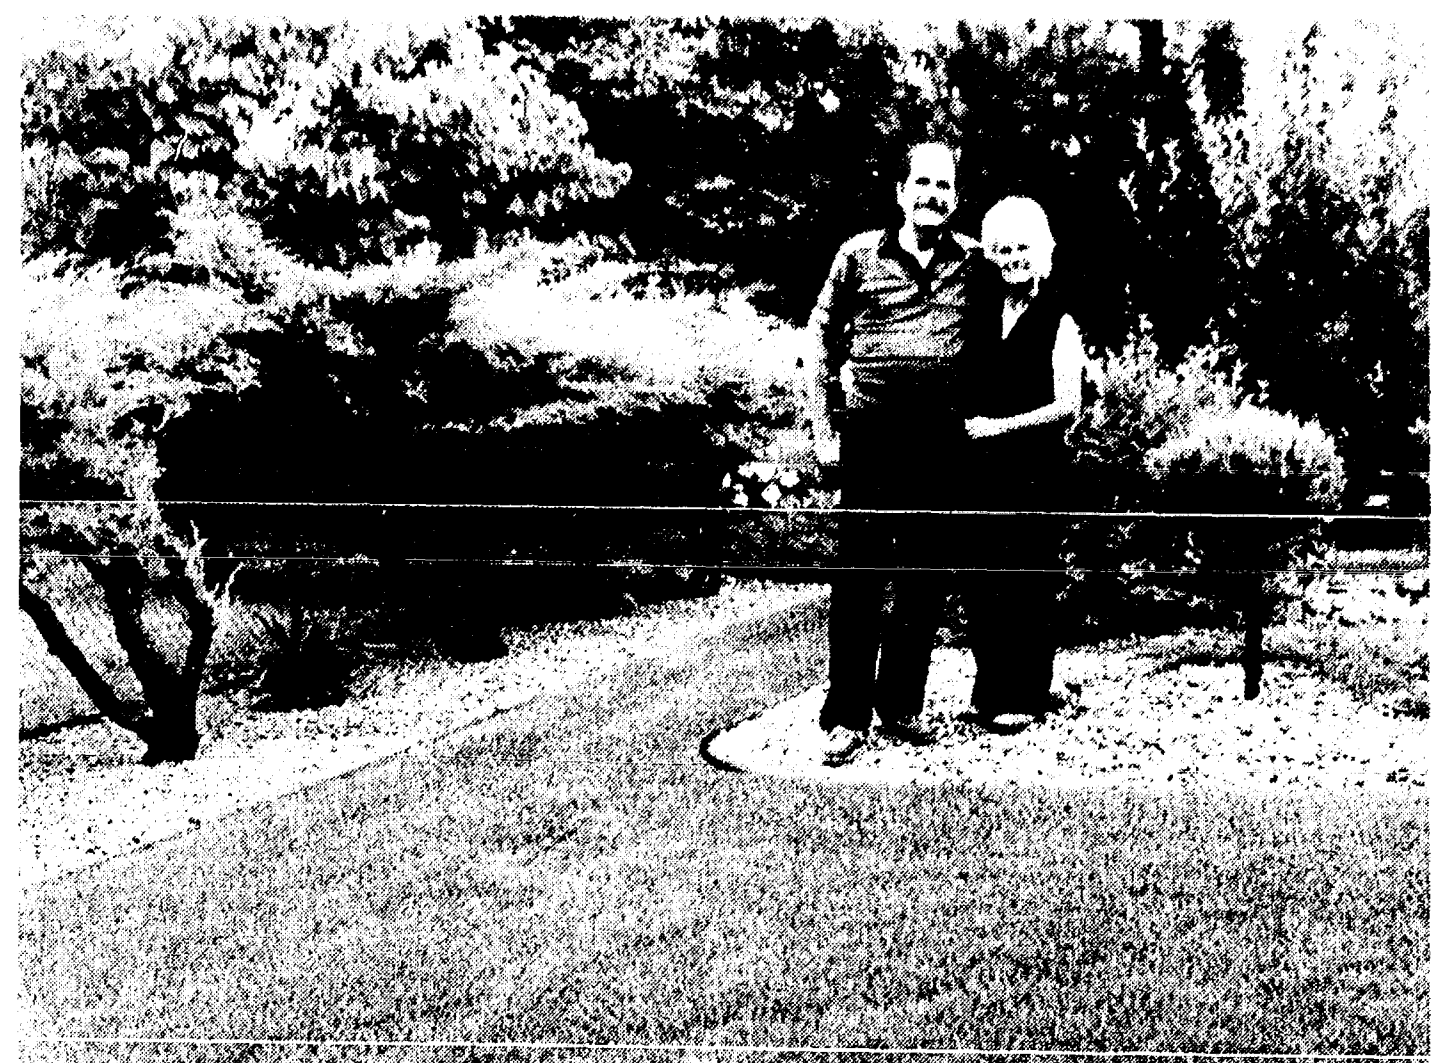

The award was based on the amount of day-to-day care of the property, the extent of projects that affected its external appearance and its impact on the entire neighborhood.

"The interesting thing is the village put in a sidewalk that connects Chestnut to Butternut Ct. The village never put lighting in. Mr. Duffey did. He maintained the landscaping along it so it's park-like. The amount of time and effort he must spend is apparent," said Easudes.

According to Barbara Duffey, her husband placed stone around the sidewalk on their side of the walk and sod on the other side to fill in mud holes. In addition, Duffey has done all landscaping, put in a sprinkler system, and last year enclosed the porch.

"A lot of people have nice plantings or the home is unique. Other homes had a lot of effort. We chose him for the over-all effect and because it was constant. A lot of people had done a lot of work at one time. Mr. Duffey's lawn is just beautiful but every once in a while, he'll decide something's not right and tear up the yard," said Easudes.

The Duffeys moved to their three-bedroom home 14 years ago. "When we moved in, someone had lived here previously for two

THIS YARD USED TO be full of weeds but with a lot of effort and loving care, Gerald Duffey (left) and his wife Barbara have carved out a garden of Eden. So much so that the Board of Realtors bestowed a Pride of Ownership award on the Duffeys.

Cong. Pursell Office To Visit Chelsea, Whitmore Lake

The next stops for Congressman Carl Pursell's "traveling office" will be the Washtenaw county communities of Chelsea and Whitmore Lake. The schedule is as follows:

Whitmore Lake—Wednesday, Sept. 19, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., at the Northfield Township Offices, 75 Barker Rd.

Chelsea—Friday, Sept. 21, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., in the Council Room, Chelsea Municipal Building, 104 E. Middle St.

No appointment is necessary. Any area resident needing assistance with a federal-related problem is welcome to attend.

Rep. Pursell asks the 2nd Congressional District staff to hold a series of local office hours each year in various parts of the district. The schedule emphasizes smaller communities which are not close to one of the permanent 2nd District offices. The aim is to make it convenient for constituents to meet with a staff member on personal cases which may require the Congressman's assistance.

Meeting with area residents at the local office sites will be Connie Giarnno, chief caseworker for the 2nd District, and Martin Griffin, constituent service representative for Washtenaw county.

Congressman Pursell asked that constituents bring a written summary of their case to the meeting.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 761-7727 in Ann Arbor.

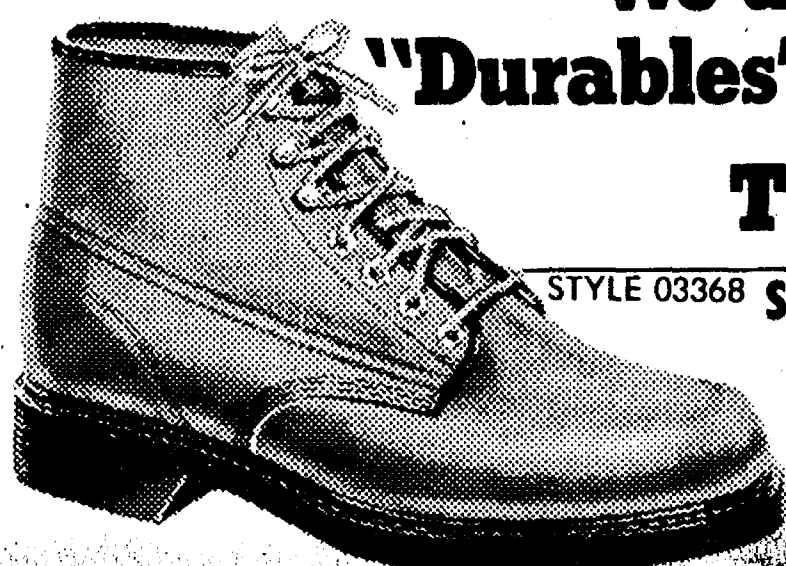

KAREN DAULT (left) and Elizabeth Herrst (right) were winners in the Powder Puff Heat of the Demolition Derby. Dault took first place with Herrst coming in second.

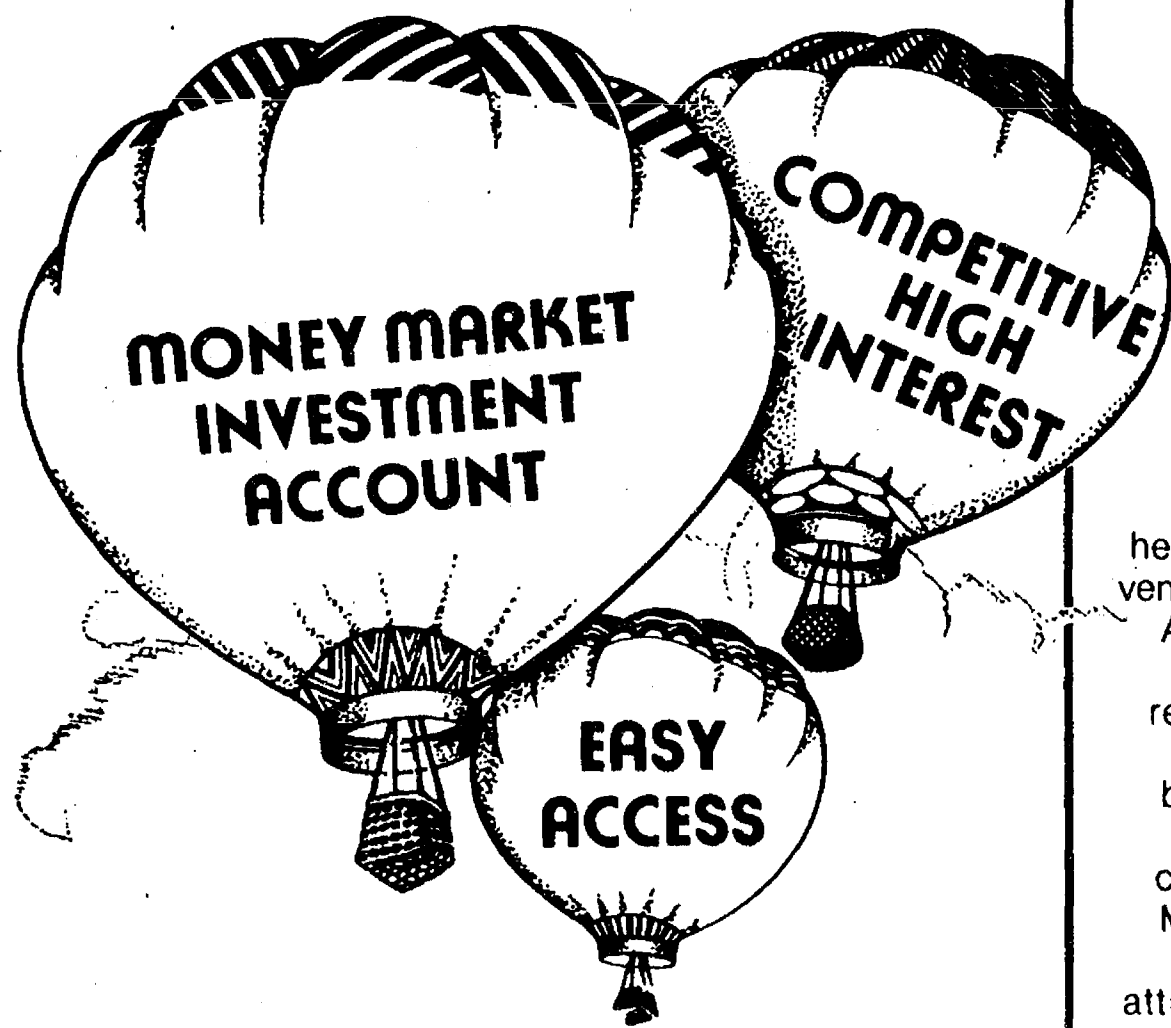

THESE TYKES are barely older than toddlers but won the first three places in the Children's Tractor Pull, ages 3-4. Nathan Stoll (center) took first prize. Victor Pitts (left) won the red second-place ribbon and Grant Bollinger (right) won third place.

Chelsea Opens Grid Season with 12-9 Victory Over Novi

A smothering defense combined with just enough scoring punch to get the job done earned Chelsea a 12-9 victory over Novi there last Friday night.

It wasn't a classic contest as both teams committed a flock of first-game errors, but it did produce a Bulldog win that was hard-earned and well deserved.

Defenses dominated to hold the combined scoring to three touchdowns, a field goal and no extra points. Chelsea had the better of the statistics, getting 196 yards in total offense to Novi's 114.

Bulldog junior quarterback Dan Bellus, making his first varsity start, ran for the first Chelsea touchdown and threw to sophomore flanker Todd Starkey for the other. He was 7-for-11 and 135 yards in passing, an excellent debut.

"It was a real good win for us," said an elated Chelsea coach Gene LaFave, "our first in an opening game in three years. (Novi won the other two.)"

"This group of boys has worked exceptionally hard and come a long, long way since the start of fall practice. We weren't a good football team when practice opened, but I think we are now. It's great to see all that effort and dedication pay off with a victory. The game meant a lot to us."

Novi put the first points on the scoreboard with a 29-yard field goal midway through the first quarter after recovering a Chelsea fumble on a punt return.

The Bulldogs went ahead early in the second period after captain Dave Steinhauer put them in scoring position with a nifty 32-yard punt runback. Three plays later Bellus took the ball on a quarterback keeper play, ran left, was hit and apparently stopped at the line of scrimmage, broke loose from two tacklers and dashed 16 yards into the end zone.

It looked like the half might end with Chelsea in front 6-3, until the Bulldogs got the ball on their own 32 with less than a minute left to intermission.

LaFave might have elected to run out the clock and take a lead into the locker room, but he opted to go for a score instead. It was one of those decisions that make a coach look like a genius, great if it works, and this time it did.

Starkey flanked out wide to the right, got a couple of steps on his defender, and pulled in a well thrown pass from Bellus. Starkey changed directions and turned on his speed, out-running everybody in a foot-race to the far corner of the field to complete the 68-yard play.

"It was a great move on Starkey's part," assistant coach Wayne Welton said. "If he'd gone straight downfield, he would have been caught from behind. He did exactly the right thing. That's instinct, something you can't teach."

The jubilation over the touchdown was dampened when Mark Mull came hobbling off the field after the play with a damaged right ankle.

There are lots of ways to get hurt in football, but Mull's injury was a real freak. He jumped up in the end zone to celebrate Starkey's touchdown, came down wrong, and sprained his ankle.

Mull does a lot for the Bulldogs as a two-way starter and punter. He plays split end on offense, strong safety on defense.

"We definitely need Mark," Welton said, "but it's going to be one of those day-to-day things as to when he'll be able to practice and play. The sprain doesn't appear to be a really bad one, but that kind of injury can take a long time to heal."

On the good-news side, Jim Toon played more than adequately as Mull's replacement at end and safety, and Bellus proved he can punt if called on.

Novi came on strong and dominated the third quarter, scoring a touchdown on a sustained drive with 1:53 left in the period.

Chelsea didn't make a serious scoring threat during the second half but did manage to control the ball most of the time following the Novi score, playing an effective game of keep-away.

However, it wasn't until Matt Steinhauer intercepted a pass with two minutes remaining on the clock that the Bulldogs finally put the game away. Chelsea ground out a first down and ran off the remaining seconds.

LaFave had high praise for his defensive unit. "Except for that one touchdown drive, we shut them down almost completely," he commented. "Our secondary was excellent. We didn't let anybody get away for a long gain."

Captain Dave Steinhauer led the defensive charge with 14 tackles, and was ably aided by Matt Smith and Ed Brosnan, among others. Dean Boote had an outstanding game in the secondary, knocking down several Novi passes.

If LaFave had reasons to be displeased—and no coach is ever fully satisfied—they were that the Bulldogs drew a bunch of penalties and didn't establish a consistently strong running game.

Most of the penalties were for illegal motion and procedure, the kind that can be expected in an opening game when the timing isn't down pat. The Bulldogs also drew a couple of 15-yarders for face-masking.

"At least they were penalties for being aggressive," LaFave noted. "We'll work to correct the mistakes."

Chelsea's ground offense gained a meager 61 yards, 32 of them by right halfback Scott Miller who carried the ball 14 times.

"We didn't open up many holes for our ball carriers," LaFave noted, "and that's something else we have to work on. A big part of the problem was that Novi played excellent defense against the run. They are a tough team to run against. They are a tough team, period. Any time you beat Novi, you've accomplished something."

LaFave Confident As Bulldogs Face Key Saline Clash

"We're going to show up, and we're going to be there ready to play. We aren't conceding anything to anybody. Look for a darned good football game, and don't write off our chances to win it."

That was Chelsea football coach Gene LaFave's summary of his outlook for Friday's early show-down clash with Saline here.

The game is viewed as the one which might decide the Southeastern Conference championship race during the first week of league play.

"I think whichever team wins here on Friday will be the favorite to win the league," LaFave said. "Everybody else will be chasing them from there on out. It's a critical game, no doubt about it."

The contest will start at 7:30 p.m. at refurbished Niehaus Field and will be a freebie. It will be "Appreciation Night" for Chelsea taxpayers and boosters who have provided the money to upgrade the athletic plant. No admission will be charged at the gate.

Before this season began, Saline was regarded as unbeatable. The Hornets were undefeated last year before they went to the state play-offs and lost in the first round.

Almost all of that team is back, along with replacements from the 1983 junior varsity and freshman teams which likewise posted strong winning records.

An indication that the Hornets might be vulnerable after all was provided by their narrow 13-7 victory over South Lyon, a game in which Saline was soundly beaten in everything except the score. The Hornets preserved the win by stopping a last-second play inches short of the goal line.

"I know that Saline is very good, and that we will have our hands full," LaFave said. "I also know that I've got a good team which can match up with anybody in our league, and that includes Saline."

LaFave is obviously happy about his Bulldog squad, which started practice in August rated as an also-ran but has shown great improvement climaxed by its opening-game win over Novi.

The Bulldogs are young and relatively inexperienced, but displayed a lot of poise and character in winning their opener.

JV Tennis Wins First Two Matches

The Chelsea girls junior varsity tennis team has nine players, just one shy of a complete team this year. They have been playing right along with the varsity team to gain experience. They are not an official team yet and thus have been playing 10 game pro-sets against their opponents. They won four out of five matches against Howell Sept. 5 and five out of six against Hartland Sept. 7.

"I believe these girls deserve some recognition as they really want to gain some experience," said coach Theresa Schreiner. "This will really add depth to the girls team for another year. These girls have done a fine job thus far and intend to keep it up."

The team is made up of Arlene and Ada Tai, Minta Van Reesma, Alison Thornton, Meredith Johnson, Kim Hamrick, Kris Muncer, and Kelly Stump. Jenny Pichlik and Angie Miller alternate playing on the team if they are not playing varsity singles the same night at a junior varsity match.

Football Coaching Duties Shuffled At High School

It was a well kept secret for several weeks, but the fact has emerged that Chelsea High school football coaching duties have been re-aligned.

The major changes include: Jim Ticknor is the new junior varsity coach, replacing Ken Sullins who dropped down to assistant JV coach. Ticknor formerly was an assistant to varsity coach Gene LaFave.

John Dunn, a former Bulldog quarterback, has been hired to assist freshman coach Jim Tallman. Dunn is a non-faculty coach.

The new line-up shows LaFave as head varsity coach, with Wayne Welton as his assistant; Ticknor and Sullins coaching the junior varsity, and Tallman and Dunn tutoring the freshmen.

Out of the picture entirely is Chris Dimanin, who formerly assisted at all levels but was labeled as assistant frosh coach.

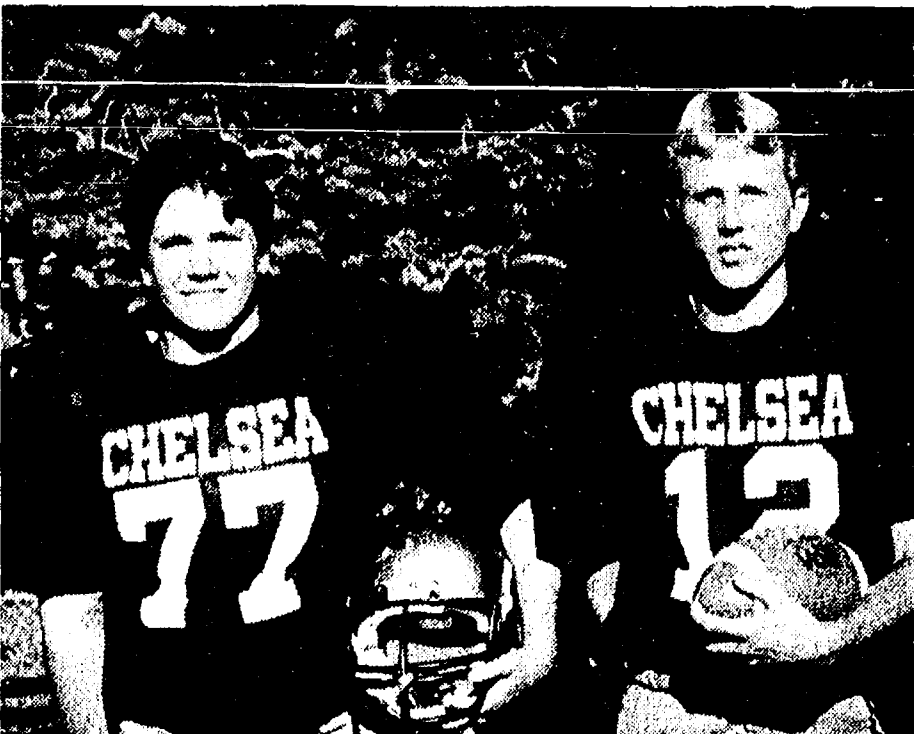

"We decided we should have two coaches assigned to each team," athletic director Ron Nemeth explained, "and that's what we've done."

"All the coaches will be involved at the varsity level to some extent. You'll probably see them all on the sidelines or up in the pressbox during games."

Asked why the changes were not announced before the beginning of fall football practice, Nemeth said, "I honestly don't know. Maybe it's because you didn't ask."

HAD A BIG NIGHT: Junior quarterback Dan Bellus, making his first varsity start, ran for one touchdown and passed for another as Chelsea defeated Novi, 12-9, in the Bulldogs' opening game.

SOPHOMORES Matt Steinhauer and Todd Starkey played big parts in Chelsea's opening game win over Novi last Friday. Steinhauer intercepted a pass late in the game to put the victory on ice. Starkey scored what proved to be the winning touchdown with a brilliant piece of running after catching a pass from quarterback Dan Bellus.

SEC ROUND-UP:

Opening Grid Games Produce Surprises

There were four winners and three losers among the seven Southeastern Conference football teams last Friday night in a round of non-league games.

Chelsea, Lincoln, Milan and Saline all won their openers. Dexter, Pinckney and Tecumseh lost.

The scores were:

Chelsea 12, Novi 9.
Lincoln 13, Brooklyn Columbia Central 0.
Milan 15, Carleton Airport 6.
Saline 13, South Lyon 7.
Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard 30, Dexter 6.
Mason 26, Pinckney 6.
Hillsdale 15, Tecumseh 0.

As usual in opening games, there were some surprises. Perhaps the biggest was Saline's squeaky win over South Lyon. The Hornets, widely regarded as the best Class B team in the region, had to stop a last play of the game inches short of the goal line to preserve their victory.

South Lyon had all the better of the statistics but hurt itself with mistakes at critical times, blowing several excellent second-half chances to score. Saline, meanwhile, couldn't move the ball when handed opportunities to put the game away.

A second surprise was Tecumseh's loss. The Indians had been considered perhaps the second-best team in the SEC, behind Saline, but didn't show it as they coughed up the ball six times on fumbles and interceptions and drew 85 yards in penalties.

Dexter's trouncing at the hands of Class C Gabriel Richard ruined the debut of new coach Rich Grannis and suggested the Dreadnaughts may have a rough road ahead. They were never in the game as the visitors from Ann Arbor controlled both sides of the line of scrimmage.

Chelsea won its first opening game in three seasons by defeating Novi in a hard-fought battle of defenses. The Bulldogs protected their three-point lead by controlling the ball during the final quarter.

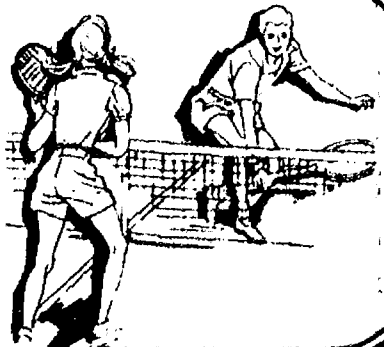

Lincoln impressed with its win over always tough Columbia Central. The Railsplitters, traditionally strong on the ground, showed they can put the ball in the air this year as they scored on pass plays of 65 and 98 yards.

Milan broke an eight-game

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

This was written before the University of Michigan football team opened its season against national champion Miami University (Florida) last Saturday.

The Hurricanes came into the contest having played two games and won both impressively. The Floridians defeated Auburn, rated at the top in the pre-season polls, and nationally ranked Florida. In both contests they dominated both sides of the line of scrimmage, which is where football games are won and lost.

Every football coach I've ever talked to has told me that teams show their greatest improvement between the first and second games of the season, and get better yet by the third game. If that's true, and I think it is, Miami should have come to Ann Arbor in peak form.

One factor going against the Hurricanes was that they had to get "up" for a third big game in a row. That isn't easy. Another was that playing for the first time in the giant Michigan Stadium—largest college football arena in the country—before a crowd of 105,000 spectators, most of them rooting loudly for Michigan, can be an intimidating experience. More than one outstanding team has lost its nerve and come apart under that pressure. Playing in Ann Arbor is not easy for a visiting team.

Despite all the optimistic words coming from coach Bo Schembechler and others about the potential of this year's Michigan football team, I have some questions. They won't be answered until the Wolverines have played at least a couple of games.

If the Wolverines can manage to split those two games before beginning their conference schedule, I will start to be a believer. Should they win both, I will decide they are for real. If they lose both, I won't be too concerned, because their conference foes don't appear to be all that tough. Big Ten football is a notch below the best at the national level. Witness, Illinois' shellacking in last year's Rose Bowl. That game should have ended at half-time under a mercy rule.

Michigan is going into the season with an untried quarterback, Jim Harbaugh, and a flock of young men trying to prove they can run at tailback. The offensive line is inexperienced. The guess here is that the offense will struggle through at least a couple of games until it begins to jell.

Long ago I learned that offensive units look awfully good playing against the scrubs in scrimmages, but find out in a hurry that it's a different game altogether when they go up against a first-class opponent.

Harbaugh may develop into an excellent quarterback, but I suspect it's going to take him most or all of this season to learn how to read defenses, check-off at the line of scrimmage and call the right plays, dodge on-rushing linemen when he's looking for a receiver, know when to pull the ball down and scramble, decide whether to pitch or keep on the option, and do the other "little things" that a quarterback has to do to be a winner.

The Wolverine defensive unit is small in over-all size, but quick and mobile, sharp tacklers. They get to the ball in a hurry and gang up. The guess here is that they will be on the field a lot during the early part of the season until the offense gets untracked.

I was surprised to read that Schembechler is counting on a "big play" offense, featuring long-gainers. That is not his style of football. He's a grind-it-out, keep-control-of-the-ball coach in the mold of Woody Hayes who was his mentor.

When you start depending on big plays, you are admitting that you can't control and move the ball consistently.

The Wolverines were 9-3 last year, 8-1 in the Big Ten. The thinking here, for what it's worth, is that they will do very well indeed to equal those marks. An 8-4 record, including 7-2 in the conference, with a trip to one of the second-rank bowl games at season's end is probably a realistic hope.

And that wouldn't be all bad. The competition in big-time college football has evened up a lot in recent years. A team that wins two-thirds of its games has performed very well and need not be at all ashamed of its showing.

Chelsea Golfers Set New School Record In Beating Lincoln

Chelsea varsity golfers set a new school record with a four-man score of 148 while defeating Lincoln by 16 strokes last Thursday afternoon.

The Bulldog linksmen broke the old record by one shot while playing over Lincoln's Hickory Woods home course.

Chelsea coach Ken Larson described the course, which is also home to the Milan golf team, as "short and tight, fairly easy to play if you hit the ball straight but a lot of trouble if you don't."

Doug Otto paced the Bulldogs with a sparkling 34. Eric Schaffner carded a 36, and Mike Carignan and Brian Ackley each came home in 39.

Otto, who injured his back a couple of weeks ago, is playing with a caddy to carry his clubs. "It's legal under the rules if the opposing coach agrees," Larson said. "Doug can swing well, but he's not quite ready to walk around with a full bag of clubs on his back. So far, the other coaches have been very nice about it, and I'm grateful."

The junior varsity team defeated Lincoln, 168-181, with John Harris and Jon Lane both carding 40's, Rob Murrell a 43 and John Mitchell 45.

On Wednesday, Sept. 5, the Bulldogs defeated South Lyon, 160-168, while playing over the Salem Hills Country Club course. "That is a real tough course," Larson commented. "In particular, the greens are huge. You can be on the green and have a 90-foot putt in front of you."

Schaffner posted a 39, followed by Ackley and Harris at 40 and Otto at 41.

JV Gridders Open Season With 6-0 Win over Novi

The junior varsity gridders had the honor of opening Chelsea High's football season, and they did it in fine style last Thursday night here with a hard-earned 6-0 victory over the Novi JV's.

The JV's turned what looked like a certain scoreless deadlock into a win with a touchdown late in the fourth quarter on a three-yard scoring burst by Scott Frisinger.

Up to that point it had been a battle of defense, with neither team able to move the ball much. Chelsea blew a couple of early chances, then played most of the rest of the game with their back to the wall as Novi repeatedly threatened.

A couple of dandy punts by Ron Hafley finally got the Bulldogs into decent field position with three minutes remaining on the clock.

Wide receiver Jeff Stacey made a fine catch of a well-thrown pass from quarterback Matt Bohlender on a critical fourth-and-18 play to put the ball on the Novi three and gain a first down.

On the next snap left-side linemen Randy Ferry and Rob Vetr opened up a huge hole, and Frisinger found it to dart into the end zone untouched.

The conversion attempt was fozzled, and Novi had a last shot following a short kick-off, a good return, and a 15-yard penalty against Chelsea for grabbing a face mask on the tackle.

One pass was batted down, and Bohlender made a beautiful one-handed interception of the next one to give the ball back to the Bulldogs, who ran out the clock.

A happy Jim Ticknor, making his debut as JV head coach, said he was "very proud of the kids for playing good, heady football for all 48 minutes, something you don't see very often."

"Our defense frankly surprised me because I had some concerns about it. Our offense didn't move the ball as well as I thought it would, and we have some work to do there if we are going to be ready to play Saline next week."

Besides Bohlender, Stacey,

Frisinger, Hafley, Ferry and Vetr, Ticknor praised the play of defensive ends Dennis Parisho and Mike Van Riper, outside linebacker Jason Smith, strong safety Joe Eassa, and middle linebacker Marty Poljan.

"If you want to give special credit to somebody, give it to Hafley," he added. "Those two great punts of his turned things around and put us in position to score."

"And don't take anything away from Novi. They played very well, especially on defense. They're tough. That was a good team we beat, and I'm proud of the win. That's what I told the boys in the locker room after the game."

Girl Harriers 2nd In Strong Field at Invitational Meet

The meet was won by Jackson Lumen Christi. Leading the Bulldogs was junior Tim Bowdish, in his first varsity race, who finished 16th (17:17) to win an individual medal.

OUT IN THE OPEN

Registration, licensing, confiscation—all are dirty words in the vocabulary of gun owners.

The fact is that all are written into existing gun laws to some extent. I don't see anything wrong with the principles that the words stand for, and suggest they should be strengthened and better enforced.

The best parallel I can think of is the right to own and drive an automobile. It definitely is a qualified right, subject to termination if abused.

When you buy a car, you have to obtain a title, a piece of paper which shows that you legally bought and own the vehicle. You have to get a certificate of registration every year, have it with you whenever you drive, and be prepared to produce it on demand of a police officer.

You also must have in possession a slip of paper proving that you are insured against any damage you might do to other persons or their property.

Beginning drivers have to take and pass a course on how to drive. To get an operator's license, they have to pass a written test to prove they know the traffic laws and a road test to show that they know the mechanics of operating a motor vehicle.

Driver's licenses can be restricted, suspended or revoked at the will of the courts for infractions of the law. In any case, they must be renewed every three years, and written tests have to be passed at the time of renewal.

I see nothing wrong with any of that, having lived with the system for more than 40 years, and suggest that something similar should be established for gun ownership and use.

The argument gun owners make against registration is that the system might someday be used as a way to confiscate firearms. If that is a worry—and it isn't to me—then we had better all get busy and change our form of government, fast. If guns could be confiscated, so could cars and real estate, which are also registered to their owners.

It wouldn't bother me a bit to buy a gun and have it put on record somewhere that I indeed did make the purchase, and I am the lawful owner of the weapon. Nor would it shake me up to register the gun and prove that I am competent to use it as a prelude to obtaining a license to shoot it.

The titling-registration-licensing system for motor vehicles doesn't work perfectly by any means, but it has some advantages. For example, most stolen cars are recovered because they can be traced; most stolen guns aren't because they can't be.

I don't think it would be a bad idea, either, if gun owners were required to carry insurance against property damage and personal injury to others.

Some of the elements of the legal system for gun ownership that I am suggesting are already in place. Hand-guns have to be registered, and a special, hard-to-get permit is required to carry them as concealed weapons. You must pass a four-hour training course before you obtain your first hunting license. Judges can suspend or revoke your hunting privileges for extreme and/or repeated violations of the game laws, and they can take away your firearms under some circumstances.

One of the better things that has happened in Michigan was enactment a few years ago of a law mandating a one-year prison term for a felony crime committed with a gun. Trouble is, that action was not accompanied by appropriation of money to provide the additional needed prison space. Much of the over-crowding in the prison system can be traced to the lack of foresight. If you are going to put criminals away, you must have places to put them.

No set of laws can possibly eliminate misuse of guns, any more than the motor vehicle laws prevent all abuse of cars and trucks. What I'm suggesting is that we can do a whole lot better in the area of gun control without trampling on the right to use firearms responsibly.

Jim Krichbaum Aces Third Hole At Waterloo Course

Jim Krichbaum of Chelsea scored a hole-in-one on the 153-yard third hole at Waterloo golf course while playing in the Chrysler Proving Grounds league on Sept. 4. He used an eight iron for his perfect stroke.

It's a blind hole, which can't be seen from the tee, so Krichbaum had to go find his ball in the cup.

Girls Varsity Basketball Team Defeats Fowlerville, Moves to 1-1

The Chelsea girls varsity basketball team has opened the season with a 1-1 record. The team beat Fowlerville 46-39 on Sept. 4 but lost to South Lyon, 33-47 on Sept. 6.

According to coach Jim Winters, Chelsea played a close game against Fowlerville. Chelsea trailed Fowlerville until most of the third quarter before taking over the lead with 11 straight points.

"We were never behind after that," said Winters.

Chelsea scored 7 points behind Fowlerville's 10 in both the first and second quarters for a half-time score of 20-14 in Fowlerville's favor. The third and fourth quarter went to Chelsea with 16-9 and 16-10, respectively.

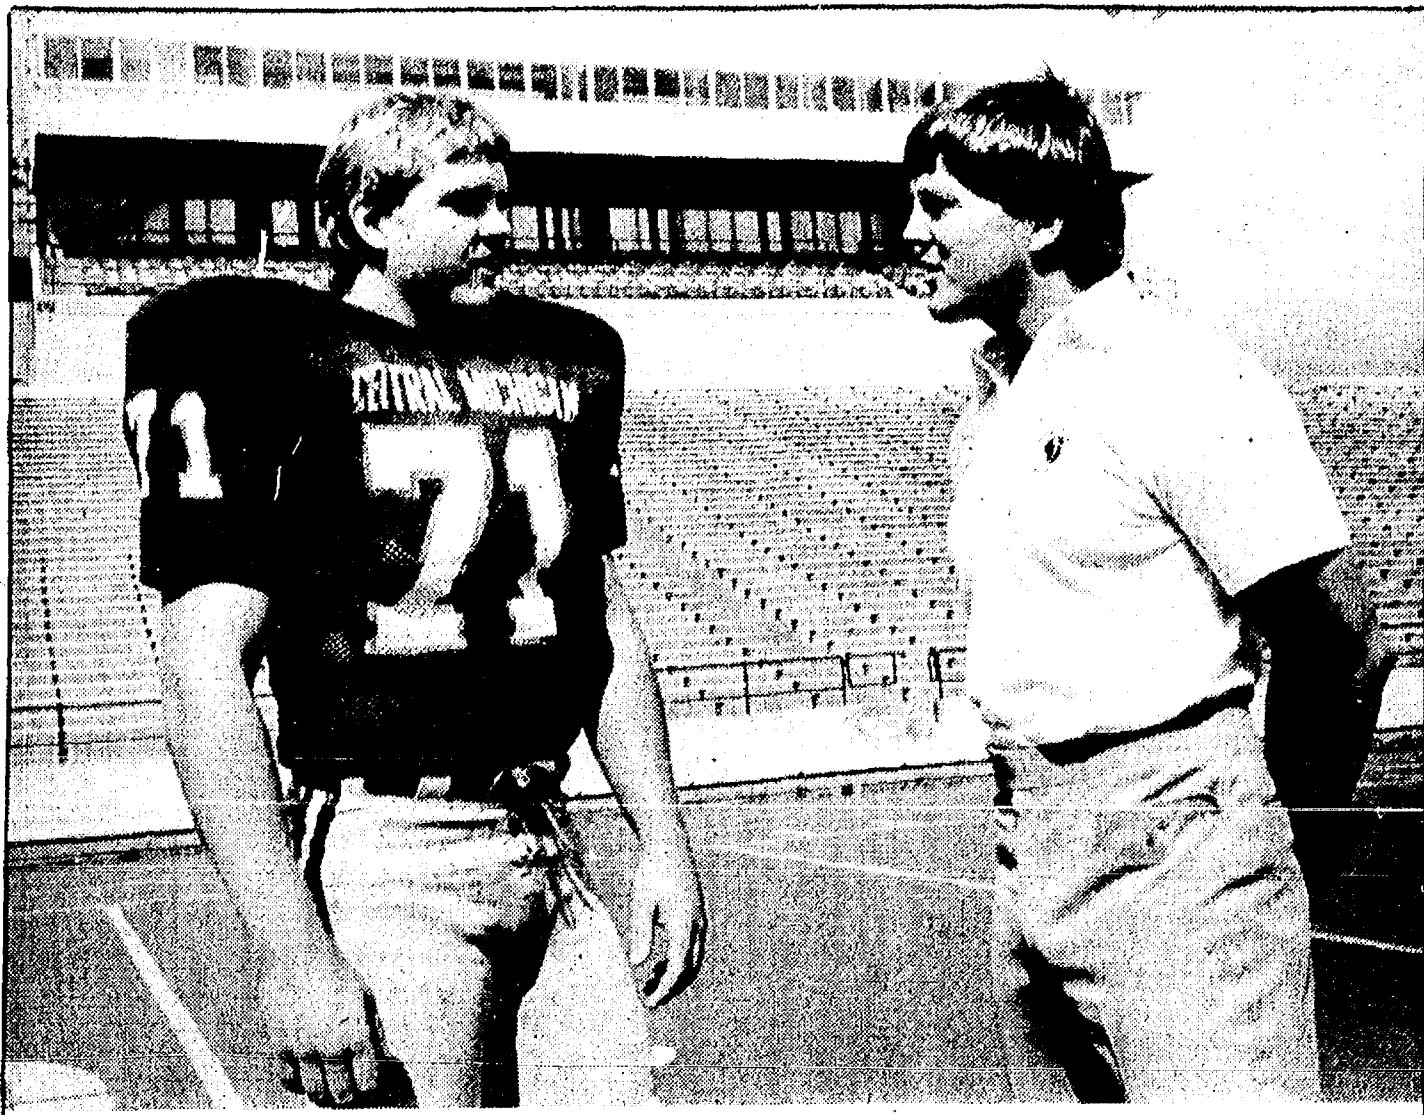

Beth Unterbrink was this game's leading scorer with a solid 24 points. Joann Tobin and Samantha Collinsworth rebounded 11 times each.

Chelsea made 22% of its field goals with 17 out of 76 and 46% of its free throws with 12 out of 26. The team rebounded 42 to Fowlerville's 37.

"It was a typical first game. We made a lot of mistakes but we played fairly well in the second half. A lot of points came off of defense which is what we hope to do this year," said Winters.

"The South Lyon game did not go quite so well because of a tough defense from the opposing team. We got behind early and stayed behind. They really dominated us all over the floor," said Winters.

South Lyon topped Chelsea by 14-7 in the first quarter, 9-6 in the second and 17-9 in the fourth. Chelsea edged ahead of South Lyon in the third quarter with 9-7.

RICK POLJAN of Chelsea is a starting sophomore tackle for the Central Michigan LaFleur. University offense this season. The 6-3, Joann Tobin and Kristi Headrick were leading scorers with 11 points each. Headrick was also the leading rebounder with 7. Chelsea made 10 out of 54 field goals or 18%, and 8 out of 26 free throws or 31%. They rebounded 28 times to South Lyon's 30.

The team's next games are 6 p.m. Sept. 13 at Monroe St. Mary's and a home game against Gabriel Richard from Ann Arbor at 5:30 p.m. Sept. 20.

Girls JV Basketball Wins First Two Games

Chelsea girls junior varsity basketball team won both of their season opening games. While a game against Fowlerville on Sept. 4 began sluggishly, Chelsea won 30-12. The team picked up considerably in a second game against South Lyon on Sept. 6, winning 64-26.

The opening quarter of the Fowlerville game began with a score of 4-2. Chelsea picked up on offense in the second quarter for a half time of 14-4. The team played a consistent game in the second half with a third quarter score of 8-6 and fourth quarter of 8-2.

"The game was sluggish. Sometimes on a first game, the ball doesn't go in as much as it should," said coach Paul Terpstra.

The team, however, played "aggressively and intensively on defense," he said.

While shooting did not go particularly well, Chelsea did very well on rebounding. The team made 15 out of 69 shots or 22%, and did not make any of their 10 free throws. However, Chelsea outrebounded Fowlerville 52 to 20.

"The key is we completely dominated the rebound statistic," said Terpstra.

Sally Wilson and Chris Zerkel were the two leading scorers for the game. Wilson made 8 points and 9 rebounds and Zerkel rebounded 19 times and also made 8 points.

According to Terpstra, Chelsea played better offense against South Lyon. "Many of our points on offense were initiated by good defense. We would steal the ball and get easy shots. Offense was consistent throughout the game and defense got better as we went along," he said.

Chelsea stole the ball 35 times throughout the game.

The first quarter closed with 13-9. Chelsea stole the ball quite a few times in the second quarter and scored 23-8 for a half time of 36-17. The game continued to go well with 18-7 in the third quarter and 10-2 in the fourth.

Shooting improved by 9% from the previous game. The team made 24 out of 77 attempts or 31%. The free throw statistic increased dramatically from 0 to 46%. Chelsea made 16 out of 35 attempts. The team continued to outrebound their opponents by 43 to 32.

Leah Enderle led the game's top scorers with 15 points. Trish Matloff scored 11. Cris Zerkel earned 10 points and rebounded 5 times. Karen Weber and Dawn Weatherwax each made 7 points. Jody Keezer and Mary Lou Lazarz each made 5 rebounds. Peggy Hammerschmidt scored 5 points. Kim Ferry scored 5 and rebounded 6.

The two wins put the season record at 2-0.

The team will play Sept. 13 at Monroe St. Mary's at 6 p.m. and a home game against Ann Arbor's Gabriel Richard on Sept. 20 at 5:30 p.m.

The third doubles team of Anne Acree and Laura Nix won over Hubbs and O'Neal of Hartland 7-5, 7-5, but lost to Earl and Souva 6-2, 7-5.

Parents of all varsity and junior varsity players are invited to a parents night for the Pinckney match on Sept. 12. All matches are played at 4 p.m. The varsity team will play at the high school and the junior varsity team at North Elementary. Those interested may get acquainted with coaches and players. Parents will be recognized at this time.

Few Local Landowners Sign for Public Access

Only six Washtenaw county landowners have signed up to make their lands open to hunting this fall under the state's public access program. The six parcels total 348 acres.

Under the program, owners lease hunting rights to the state, and receive payment in the form of a rental fee. Those who lease their lands must open them to public hunting but can control the number of users.

The program is paid for from the proceeds of a Public Access Stamp, which all southern Michigan hunters must buy for $1.10 and carry with them. Only exceptions are senior citizens and residents hunting on their own property.

"We tried hard to get leases in Washtenaw county," a spokesman for the DNR's Jackson district office said, "but we encountered a lot of resistance."

"The closer you get to the Ann Arbor-Detroit area, the harder it is to find landowners willing to sign up and participate. Frankly, there have been some bad experiences in past years, and the word apparently has gotten around."

Of the nine counties in DNR district 13, Branch led with 8,521 acres registered under the public access program. At the bottom was Washtenaw with 348.

In between were Eaton, 4,682; Calhoun, 4,058; Hillsdale, 2,765; Ingham, 4,209; Jackson, 3,684; Livingston, 2,106, and Lenawee, 487.

The Standard is not printing the names and addresses of those few local landowners who are enrolled in the program, for fear that publicity will result in an overrun of hunters.

Ladies Swimming Program Offered

The program is intended to help burn calories. Oesterle will lead participants in 45 minutes of dry-land exercises in the gym followed by 45 minutes of organized swimming activity, said Reed.

"It's sort of aerobics but it's not dance-oriented," said Reed.

WHAT BEGAN as a search for ancestry ended as a book on Delhi village. Nicholas Marsh took seven years to pull together bits and pieces of information to write his book, "Remembering Delhi Mills," which has now been published and is available in local bookstores.

Search for Roots Leads To Book on Delhi Village

Nicholas Marsh's ancestors came to the Delhi area in the 1830s. But when Marsh tried to learn more about his family, he couldn't find much historical information on the area.

So Marsh spent seven or eight years piecing together facts from land records, newspaper articles including the Dexter Leader's, cemetery records and leads from older Delhi residents. Then, he wrote a book: "Remembering Delhi Mills."

"I've always liked history and I read a lot of local history. I liked them and I was confident I could write them," said Marsh.

Marsh's book is not just a family history. The book gives a detailed history of the Delhi village from 1827 to 1917—the village's first 90 years "from the original land grant signed by President John Quincy Adams, to the great cyclone which struck during World War I," said Marsh.

The book highlights events corresponding to the village's leader's lives, and the role of the railroad in the village's prosperity. It also covers the industrial river development (the mills), the famous wrought-iron bridge, and the village's decline.

Marsh had to spend so many years collecting information because his sources were few and far between. A prime source—early Scio township records—was destroyed in a fire long ago.

Marsh spent another year writing the book. He acted as his own publisher. The first of 300 copies came out July 20.

Marsh was born in Ann Arbor in 1949 and graduated from Pinckney High School in 1967. He studied history at Eastern Michigan University but changed to majors in education and science.

Marsh served in the army during the Vietnam era from 1971 to 1974 (although he didn't go to Vietnam). Upon returning to civilian status, he attended Central Michigan University. He received a masters in counseling psychology in 1977.

After working as a veteran's counselor for three years, Marsh accepted a job as a guidance counselor in Kentucky in 1982. He currently lives in Kentucky with his wife Susan. The couple were married in 1981. Marsh moved to join his wife who is in the American Saddlebred horse business.

Copies of the book are available at Borders Book Store and Little Professor Book Store in Ann Arbor, the Dexter Card and Gift Shop, and Riverside Castaways in Pinckney. Copies may also be obtained from the author by sending $8.75 plus $1.00 for postage to P.O. Box 148, Lakeland, Mich. 48143.

Guyer Resignation Called Loss to Michigan Farmers

The resignation of Gordon Guyer as director of the Cooperative Extension Service, effective Dec. 31, will leave a void in Michigan agriculture that will be difficult to fill, according to Michigan Farm Bureau President Elton R. Smith.

"His years of service, dedication and commitment to our state's agricultural industry have earned him the respect and gratitude of Farm Bureau members throughout Michigan," Smith said.

Guyer was the recipient of Michigan Farm Bureau's highest honor, the Distinguished Service to Agriculture, in 1983. Smith said this tribute was paid to Guyer on behalf of the organization's over 80,000 member families for his numerous contributions to the agricultural industry.

"They paid him tribute particularly for being a guiding force behind the establishment of MSU's world-renowned pesticide research center."

"Michigan agriculture has long been the beneficiary of Gordon Guyer's quality leadership and his extraordinary concern for the future of farming," Smith said.

Q. I have been trying to build a holding of stock by making a purchase every time I can save up $500. I called my broker this week to make a purchase and when I got my bill I had a rude surprise. The charge for buying $490 of stock was $40. That is almost 10% of my purchase and it will take me more than two years of dividends just to cover the cost of buying the stock. I have bought over $10,000 of stock by buying a little at a time and it is worth over $12,000. I like what I am doing, but I'm wondering if you could tell me if there are any ways I could buy stock at less cost?

A. A number of the major brokerage firms have recently raised their commissions on small orders and this is certain to drive individuals to other ways of buying stock. Fortunately there are a number of things you can do.

There are a large number of banks that are now offering discount type brokerage service. You have to be careful, however, because some of these have a minimum charge that is substantial. The thing to do is call and tell them exactly what you want to buy and ask what the charge will be. You'll find discount brokers listed in the Yellow Pages and I would do some shopping by calling three or four.

From the information you gave me, I notice that you are repeating the purchase of the same stocks three and four times. I would check and see if these companies have Dividend Reinvestment Plans. The ones you listed do and you should join them. There is no cost to do that.

All you have to do is ask the company for the forms to join its Dividend Reinvestment Plan, fill them out and return them to the company. Once you have taken that step you can send your $500 to the company's Dividend Reinvestment Agent and shares will be bought by the company and placed in your account. The company will pay the commission charges for you.

There are hundreds of corporations which make this service available and you shouldn't hesitate to use it.

To use those plans you do have to make your first purchase of stock through a broker. To skip this step the National Association of Investors Corp. has a plan where you can buy the stock of a growing number of companies. You do have to pay $27 to join NAIC, but you can then buy as little as just one share of stock for a one time service fee of $5.

Plans such as these have two important features: (1) You as the investor can buy stock at practically no cost. (2) Most importantly you can make small regular purchases over a period of time. You buy on the installment plan. Experience of many investors over many years has shown that one of the surest ways to build wealth in the stock market is to select two to five good growing companies and invest regularly in them over a long period of time. It's difficult for most people to continue investing in those times when the market is going down, but those who do are usually richly rewarded.

There are plenty of ways you can invest without paying high costs for doing so and I hope you'll continue your program with one of them.

Mr. O'Hara welcomes your questions and comments, but will answer only through this column. Readers who send in questions on a general investment subject or on a corporation with broad investors' interest whose questions are used, will receive a complimentary one year's subscription to the investment magazine Better Investing magazine or information about investment clubs to any reader requesting it. About 32.7 million children—well over half of all children under age 18—had a mother in the labor force in March 1984. More than 9 million of these children were under 6, and 14.7 million were 6 to 13, age groups requiring either full-day care or after-school care, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Labor Department.

Allow me to share this joy and the happiness of a full recovery with all of the many friends and neighbors who provided my family and me with support and encouragement over the past two years. All of your cards, flowers and telephone calls were greatly appreciated. Thanks to all of you. Most sincerely,

Move Fence, Property Owners Are Ordered

Craig and Linda Sayers have been ordered to move a fence on their property at 316 McKinley St. to make it comply with Chelsea's zoning laws.

The village council, acting as the zoning board of appeals, denied the Sayers' request that they be allowed to keep the fence in their front yard where it was built last July without a permit.

Craig Sayers explained that he and his wife were on vacation when the fence was installed, and that the contractor was supposed to obtain a permit but didn't.

School Board Notes

The board approved a contract for Marla Rubinstein, effective Sept. 4, 1984 to June 7, 1985. Marla will be replacing Steve Taylor, school psychologist.

Meeting adjourned at 9:37 p.m.

Barnacle shells adhere to virtually any surface not poisonous or mucus-covered. They even stick to Teflon, says National Wildlife magazine. About the only deterrent ships can use to keep barnacles off their hulls is highly toxic copper or tin-based paints. Even with this protection, most saltwater vessels must be hauled and scraped every year or two.

The board accepted the donation by Patricia and Gene LaFave of a 1972 Cadillac to the high school auto shop.

The board approved a substitute teacher daily pay scale of $33.

The board approved the adult high school completion requirements.

The board approved a contract for Carol Brock, effective Aug. 28, 1984 to Jan. 18, 1985. Carol will be replacing Beverly Martin, high school economics teacher who was granted a one-semester leave of absence.

The board approved a contract for Pamela Heft, effective Aug. 28, 1984 to June 7, 1985. Pam will be teaching English (replacing Jonathan Andrews who is on a one-semester leave of absence) and Spanish.

The board approved a contract for Carl Christoff, effective Aug. 28, 1984, to June 7, 1985. Carl will be replacing Ken Larson as high school mathematics teacher.

The board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Steve Taylor, school psychologist, who has accepted a full-time position with the Garden City schools.

EYE CORNEAS DELIVERED: Despite this accident in Stockbridge which totaled an Ingham County Sheriff's Department car, a pair of eye cornea transplants was successfully delivered to University Hospital in Ann Arbor last Friday. Deputy Paul Cole was driving into Stockbridge on

M-52 when the car's brakes locked. The vehicle skidded, hit a cement wall, bounced off a tree and came to rest in roadside brush. Cole suffered minor injuries. The corneas were picked up by Washtenaw sheriff's deputies and taken on to Ann Arbor for use in eye surgery there.

BRENT BAUER, 17, of Chelsea High school has been selected to attend the Michigan Freedom Academy 84 at Alpena. The academy is a newly formed non-profit educational foundation, designed to teach young high school student leaders a better understanding of how our government works. Bauer is the son of Joe and Jill Bauer of 11300 Jerusalem Rd. His future educational plans are to attend one of the nation's military academies.

Foster Homes Needed For Abused Children

Reported cases of child abuse and neglect have increased dramatically in Washtenaw county over the past two years. This has resulted in a corresponding increase in the number of children who must be placed in out-of-home care. The Department of Social Services is in need of more family foster care homes to provide care for these children and to work with the agency regarding their return home.

Children who come into care are all ages and come from all racial and ethnic groups. We especially need families who are willing to care for children ages 10-17, groups of brothers and sisters, emotionally impaired children, pregnant teens, sexually abused children, and black children of all ages.

Foster parents work with the Department as members of a team. They need to be able to provide love, security, and patient understanding for children who are suffering the traumatic effects of being separated from their families. Foster parents arrange for the child's medical and dental care, work with schools, and plan recreational activities. They also provide transportation for visits with biological families and, when appropriate, work directly with the child's family in the interest of reuniting the child with his or her family.

Three orientation classes are offered to help prepare families for the foster care experience. The next series starts on Sept. 18, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Department of Social Services, 2350 W. Stadium Blvd., Ann Arbor. If you would like to attend or know more about the program, please call Pat Ruby at 994-1694.

North School Starting Fall Bulb Sale

North school students will be selling flower bulbs from now until Sept. 13. Proceeds will be used to help purchase equipment and services (such as assemblies) for the school. Bulbs available include crocus, tulips, Dutch iris, yellow daffodils and hyacinths.

If you have trouble deciding you can purchase a mixed garden special containing some of each. In addition pots of amaryllis and paper whites are available, as well as potted parsley and chives to grow on your window sill.

These are high quality Dutch bulbs and plants, and all are guaranteed.

If you are interested call your favorite North school student and give him your order. If you don't know who to call, call Patty Schick, 475-7640, Clara Smith, 475-8713, or Karen Koch, 475-2874.

American families have been spending a smaller share of their budgets on food than they did in the past; a century ago, nearly half of the average spending dollar went for food. In recent years, less than a fourth, leaving a larger share for shelter, recreation, and other items, according to "Our Changing Economy: A BLS Centennial Chartbook," published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Chelsea High School Gains 65 New Students

Last year's big Beach Middle school graduating class is this year's big Chelsea High school freshmen class. The middle school had the largest eighth grade class ever at 230 students. The high school, however, only graduated 160. As a result, Chelsea High school enrollment has increased from 775 to about 840 this year.

Besides freshmen, the high school gained about 30 students who are new to the district. According to high school principal John Williams, this is unusual. The school has gained about 15 new students each year for the past several years.

The influx in students has meant a shift in the high school's educational programs and teachers. Because enrollment at Beach went down, Charlie Waller who teaches the social studies-English block program at Beach now teaches a half day at the high school.

The high school has added an extra period of English and Spanish and hired Pamela Heft to fill those periods.

Besides the increase in population, students are tending to take fewer electives and more basic academic programs.

"Because of that, I had to move some teachers from electives to other classes," said Williams.

Last year, home economics had 18 sections. This year, it is down to 12. Ann O'Hagan has taught home economics for the past 10 years. Last year, she taught eight periods of home economics and two periods of computers. This year, she will teach eight periods of computers and only two of home economics.

Cathy Opoka, the art teacher, taught one period of biology last year. This year, she will teach two. Wayne Welton, the physical education teacher, has a minor in social studies. He will teach one period of world history. Alice Leith, a science major, teaches English and reading. Last year, she taught one period of physics and this year will teach two.

Last year, about 65 percent of the students were taking more than two years of math, although only one year is required for graduation. This year, that figure has increased to between 70 and 75 percent, said Williams.

Business courses are down by about 20 students. Art has decreased from 16 to 15 class sections. Industrial arts has lost about 40 students.

While the marching band and orchestra have increased students, vocal classes are down. Last year, the school offered two vocal choirs and the Contemporary chorales. This year, the two choirs have been consolidated into one.

"If you have an instrument, you have an economic pressure to continue with it. It's easier to give up vocal than instrumental music," said Williams.

Math and English have both increased enrollment by over 100 students. Science has gained 75 to 80 students.

World history was recommended by counselors as a good course for college-bound students. As a result, enrollment has increased by 91 students. The foreign languages, particularly French and Spanish, have shown a 50 percent increase in students.

The trend away from electives may be caused by concern about the Nation at Risk and other educational studies promoting a back-to-basics education, said Williams.

Independence Lake Biathlon Draws 124 Participants

The second annual Independence Lake Biathlon held Aug. 18, attracted 124 participants to Independence Lake County Park for the combined swimming/running event. In the men's division, Neal Bond, 21, of Ann Arbor finished first in the one-mile swim and 5K (3.1 mile) run in 45:42 minutes. Sara Arteburn, 22 of Ann Arbor took the women's division first place with a time of 47:07.

Participants in the event, sponsored by the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission (WCPARC), ranged in age from 8 to 59 years.

WCPARC, which operates and maintains eight county parks and offers county-wide recreation and nature programs, is seeking renewal of its 1/4 mill, 10-year property tax levy in the Nov. 6 general election. For more information, call WCPARC at (313) 974-2575.

490 Youngsters Participate in Children's Parade

Judges for the children's fair parade must have had a difficult time since about 490 of the village's youngsters participated. Many rode on bicycles or other unautomated vehicles decorated with rainbow-colored crepe papers.

Children dressed as animals, farmers, clowns and southern belles. Parents came as themselves. At a little after 6 p.m., they streamed forth from the municipal parking lot to open the Chelsea Community Fair. Beach Middle School's marching band led the excitement as well as the parade.

Judges looked for original, home-made costumes.

Kathy Long, 4, Aaron Smith, 4 and 10-month-old Jason Smith won first place as the Future Farmers in the 3 to 5 age group. Kathy in pigtails, with a straw hat, wore an apron. The boys wore overalls and suspenders. All three had bandanas tied around their necks and freckles painted on their cheeks. Jason travelled to the parade via stroller.

Laura Keane won second place in that age group dressed as a skunk. Holly Ann Pieper, 3, took third as a southern belle dressed in yellow, complete with parasol and daisies. Holly, 3, also traveled by stroller.

"Rainbow power" propelled Justin Navin to first place in the 6 to 8 age group. Justin had a large hoop attached to his bicycle decorated with balloons.

John Razelun was the second-place winner and Benjamin O'Connor came in third in that age group.

Jennifer Koch and her two puppies, Blackie and Cinders, took first place in the 9 to 12 age group. She wore a full-length red, white and blue calico quilted print dress. The puppies were in a pen on a wagon. Second-place winner, Vicki Gates was dressed as a belle.

Joey Hafner captured the illusion of walking on his hands but was actually right side up. He had gloves on his feet and shoes on his hands. His jeans were pulled over his head with holes cut out for eyes. A shirt and bandana were wrapped around his legs and a blond curly head was tucked between his knees. He won third place for ages 9 to 12.

Noelle Neidermeier, 6, and her sister Tara, 11 months, drove a covered wagon to first place under mixed ages. Noelle held the reins of a toy horse while Tara slept in the wagon.

Characters from the Wizard of Oz took second place in mixed ages. McKenna Houle, 2, clutched a basket with "Toto" as Dorothy. Carrie Skinner, 8, had straw stuffing coming out of overalls as the Scarecrow. Keri Kentala, 7, already has a long mane of hair which complimented her Cowardly Lion costume. Kyle Kentala, 5, had painted his face to match his black witches costume and pointed hat. Kelly Kentala, 3, was tiny as the tinman. She had a paper heart attached to her costume as large as her chest.

Three blind mice and the farmer's wife won third place under mixed ages. Ryan Guenther, 6; Jamie Murphy, 4; and Patrick Murphy, 2, wore white suit jackets, shorts, dark sunglasses and hats as the mice. They also carried canes. Patrick rode in a stroller. Jeremy Guenther wore a bathrobe, curlers, cold cream and threateningly brandished a spatula as the farmer's wife.

JUSTIN NAVIN can be seen underneath all those balloons riding his bicycle. The multicolored balloons and crepe ribbons contributed to Justin's theme of "Rainbow Power" in the Children's Parade which opened the Chelsea Community Fair. Justin won first place for ages 6 to 8.

Tractor Pull Contests Draw Many Entries

While participation in the lighter weight tractor pulling contest was up from last year, the number of contestants in the classes weighing above 6,000 pounds has decreased.

Last year, 14 people entered the 4,000 pound and under class. This year 18 entered. Attendance in the 4,001-6,000 pound class was up five members from 22 to 27.

The 6,001-9,000 class, however, was down from 21 last year to 17. The 9,001-12,000 class had 29 entrants last year and only 24 this year. The 12,001-16,000 class was down from last year's 22 to 17.

"We're having a lot of trouble with big tractors in the big classes. The big ones come from far away and have the pumps turned up. They're used in competitions more than on farms. Nine times out of 10 if they're used in both places, they take them home and turn the pumps down on them," said Howard McCalla, event superintendent.

Turning the pumps up injects more fuel into the tractor's engine which increases its horsepower and enables it to go faster, explained Ralph McCalla. The local farmers who don't turn their pumps up have a hard time competing. To help solve this problem, McCalla has slowed the tractor down from five to four miles an hour. If a tractor exceeds the pacer, it is disqualified. Tractors with their pumps turned up have a difficult time working at that slow a speed. Locals, however, don't travel more than five miles an hour on their tractors.

In the contest, several faces from previous years have returned again this year. They include the Huehls of Chelsea, the Weidmayer brothers of Manchester, and Bob Wallo of Gregory.

The classes for below 6,000 pounds are measured by percentage pulls.

Jay Schwab of Manchester won first place in the 4,000 and under category. He pulled 317% with his Allis Chalmers. Chelsea's Ron Milkey came in second, pulling 300% with an Allis Chalmers WD-45. Third place was taken by Robert Pyle of Manchester on an F-20 International. While Pyle also pulled 300%, he only pulled 24' 3/4" while Milkey pulled 29'

1/4". Gary Schwab of Manchester took fourth place with 291% on an Allis Chalmers. Fifth place winner Mike McLennan of Manchester drove a Farmall H at 290%. In sixth place, Ron Frey pulled 288% on an Allis Chalmers. WC. Frey is also of Manchester.

First place in the 4,001-6,000 pound class went to Russ Hieber of Ann Arbor who pulled 281% on an Allis Chalmers 160. Second place Scott Gross pulled 280% on a Massey Ferguson. From Manchester, John Stachnik won third place pulling 278% on a 560 Cockshutt. Jerry Huehl drove a 2020 John Deere pulling 276% for fourth place. Bob Feldkamp of Manchester followed with a Massey Ferguson 180 at 274%. Sixth place went to Todd Benjamin on an International tractor at 261%.

About three years ago, the contest for tractors over 6,000 pounds was changed from percentage weight pulls to distance pulls.

"On the smaller tractors, we keep adding weight and they keep pulling. When we used to pull percentage with the big tractors, we would pull until 5 a.m. so it wasn't worth standing around for," said McCalla.

For the 6,001-9,000 pound class, James Early took first place with 184' 6" on an International 1206. Roy Weidmayer came in second with 183' 5" on a 1155 Massey Ferguson. Denny Waltz came in third with 182' 5". Bob Wallo followed on an International 1066 with 181' 3". John Weidmayer won fifth place on a 1130 Massey Ferguson with 180' 11". Dennis Huehl took sixth place with a John Deere 4230 and 176' 6".

The top four place winners in the 9,001-12,000 pound class made an entire pull of 300 feet the first time. The sled was then reset, and then they pulled a second time. Their scores are taken from the second pull. They are first place John Weidmayer on a 1130 Massey Ferguson and 248' 6.5"; second place Dan Marion of Saline on an International 1466 and 234' 1"; Bob Wallo in third also on an International 1466 and 226' 3" and fourth place Ron Wiesenreder of Saline with 223' and 8 1/2" on an Allis Chalmers
