Immunization Clinic Slated For Students

Washtenaw County Health Department, in co-operation with the Chelsea School District, will hold an immunization clinic at the high school, room 23 (Science Building), on Tuesday, Oct. 9, from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon. The clinic is for pre-school, elementary, and secondary school children.

Students who have not yet received all the vaccines required by the State of Michigan may obtain consent form(s) and an immunization checklist at their school. These must be signed by parent or guardian if immunizations are to be given to persons under 18 years of age.

Children who have not yet begun school may also be seen in the clinic provided they are accompanied by a parent or guardian.

The State of Michigan requires all new public and private school students be adequately immunized against diphtheria, pertussis,

Industrial Park Streets Are Named

The two streets in Chelsea's new industrial park will be named East and West Industrial Dr. after two public appeals for suggested names brought forth no better ideas.

The village board approved the two street titles at its Sept. 28 meeting.

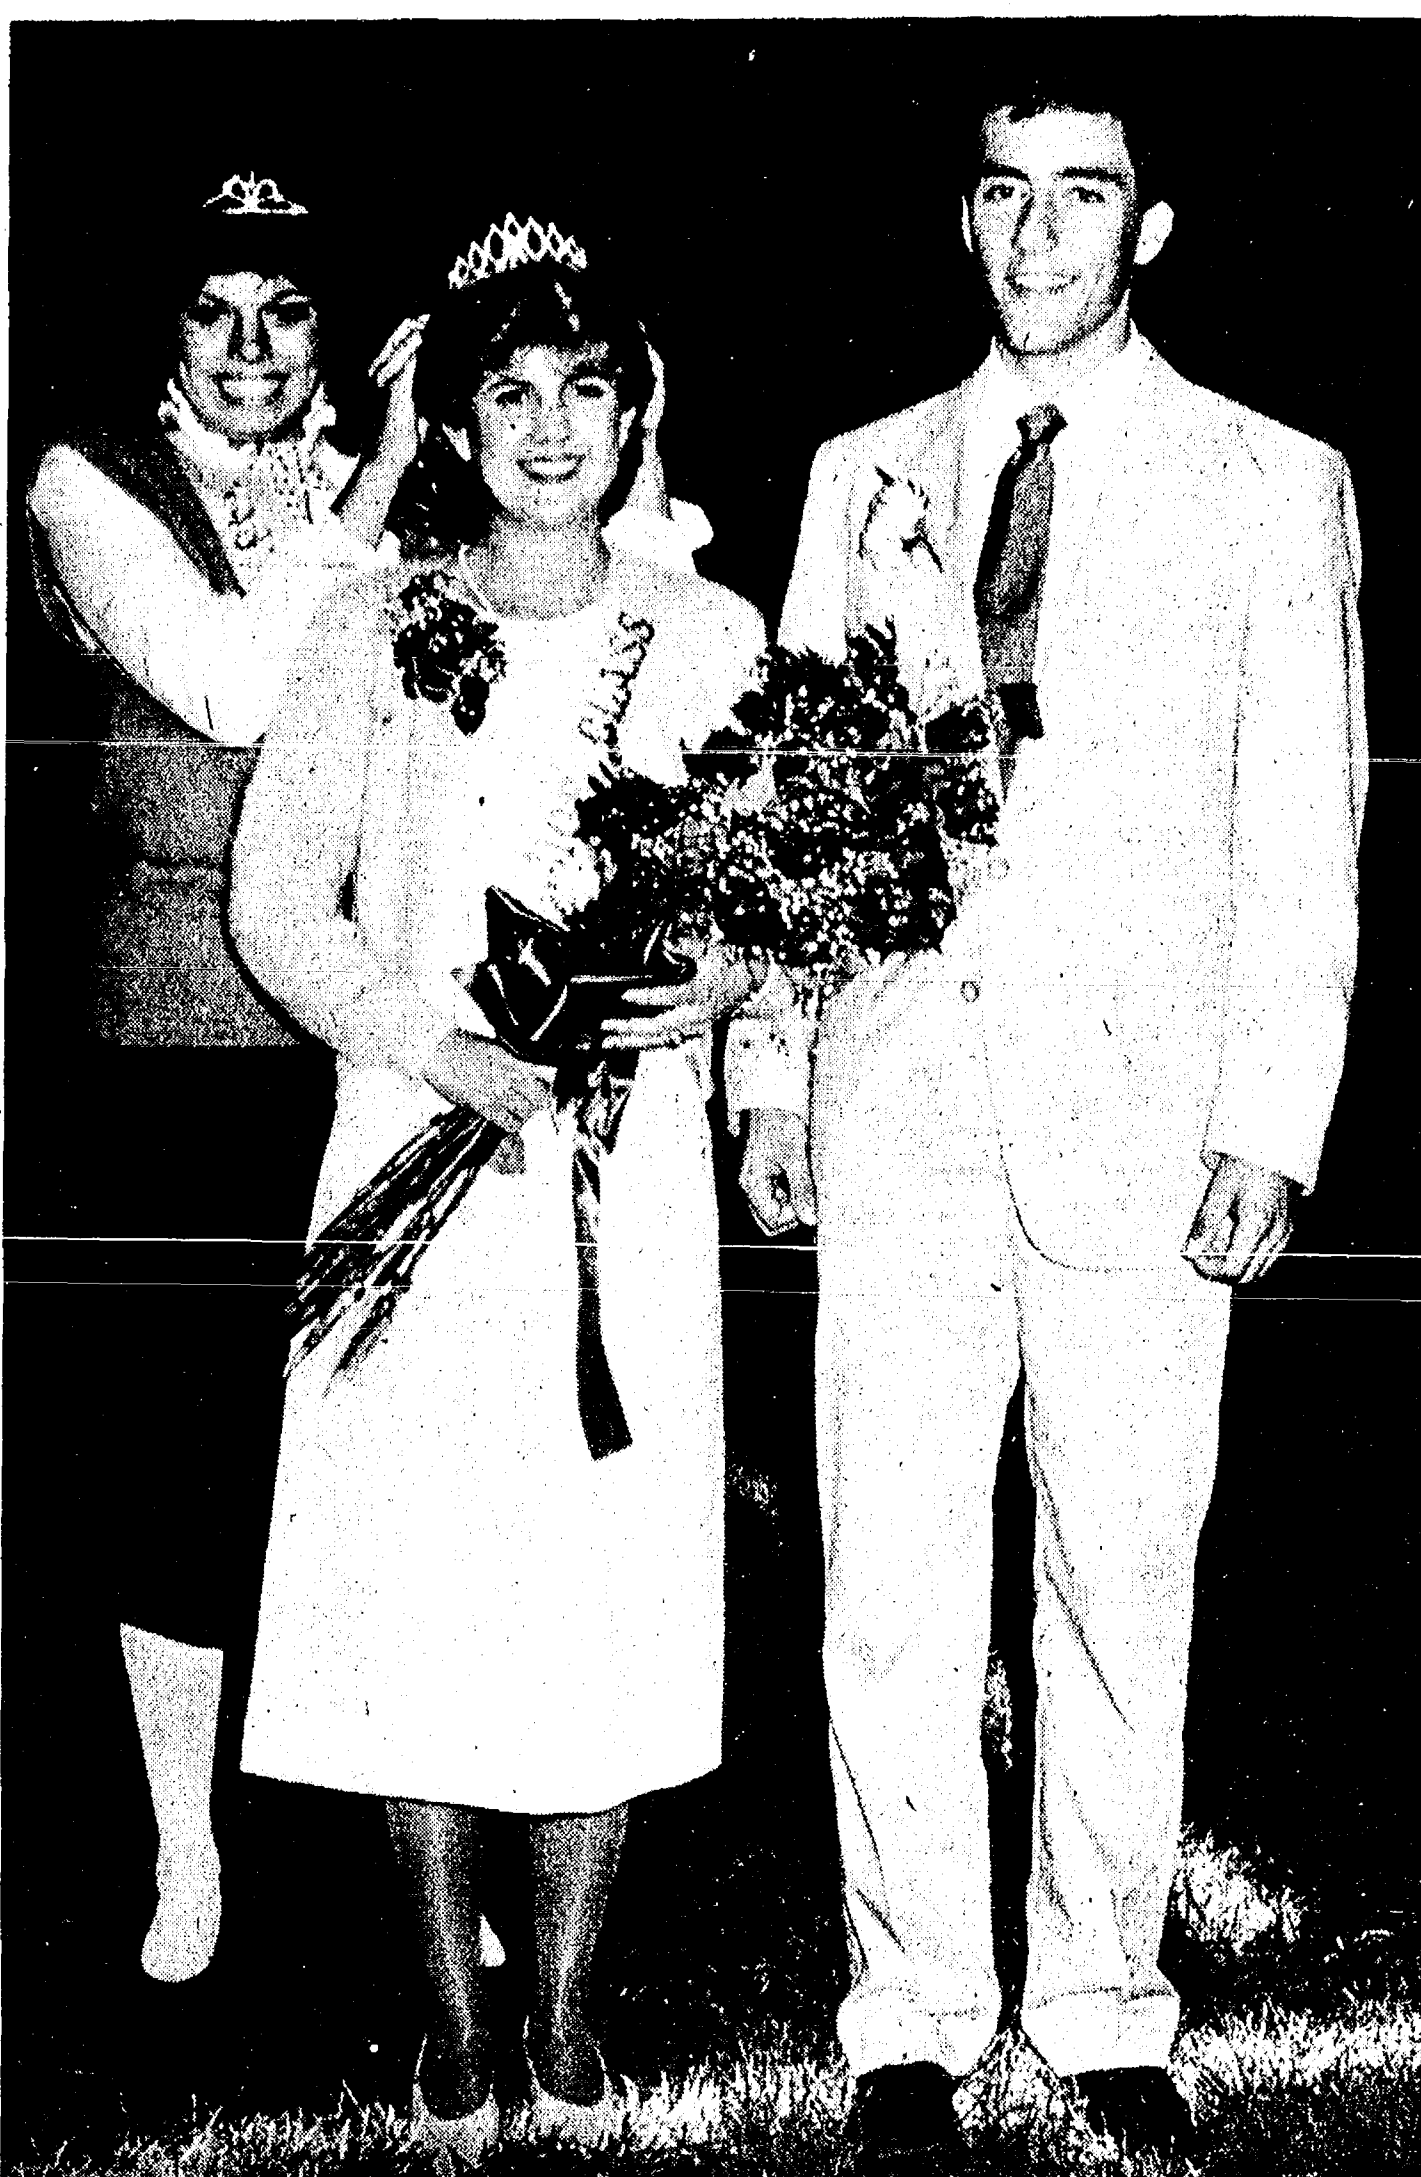

Only a couple of other suggestions were received, and the council decided neither was suitable. "I think we ought to call them what they are, industrial streets in an industrial park," said trustee Mac Fulk in making the motion to approve the names. He was supported by Jim Finch, and the motion was approved unanimously by the five board members present.

Two Vacancies On Cassidy Lake Liaison Council

Two vacancies exist on the Cassidy Lake Liaison Council, trustee Richard Steele, who is a member, told the village board last week.

Persons interested should contact Steele, who lives at 211 Lincoln St., telephone 475-2167.

The Cassidy Lake council meets bi-monthly for about three hours during an evening. Its purpose is to serve as an advisory citizens group to state officials who operate the minimum security prison at Cassidy Lake.

LAST YEAR'S HOMECOMING QUEEN, Joyce Robards, crowns her successor, Rebecca Finch at half-time. Finch was a candidate of the senior class. Her escort is Mark Henson.

Rebecca Finch Chosen As CHS Homecoming Queen

When Joyce Robards stepped down from her year as homecoming queen Friday, Sept. 21, Rebecca Finch took her place escorted by Mark Henson. Chelsea High school senior class proposed Finch for the honor.

Besides having the winning nominee, the senior class won the Pep Award for spirit week. Seniors amassed the greatest number of points in competitions during homecoming week. Contests included people-pyramid building, decorating a hallway, sexy legs contest, and lacing shoes.

Points were also given for dressing up according to the theme of the day. Plaids and checks were the rage for "Clash Day" on Monday. Tuesday featured military day. Wednesday, students returned "Down on the Farm." Thursday was gangster day. On Friday, students wore school colors.

Following the seniors, the freshman class won second place. Juniors took third and sophomores last.

Each class submitted two entries for homecoming queen.

Finch is the vice-president of her class. She is on student council and is a member of the Key Club. Ranked in the top 10 of her class academically, Finch

Council Approves 20 Percent Boost In Sewer Charges

As expected, Chelsea sewer rates will increase by 20 percent. The boost went into effect last Thursday and will be reflected in bills that village residents receive in January.

It was approved unanimously by the five members present at the Sept. 18 village board meeting—president Jerry Satterthwaite and trustees Mac Fulk, Richard Steele, Joe Merkel and Jim Finch. Stephanie Kanten and Herman Radloff were absent because of job commitments.

The council has not had a full count of seven members present since the March 6 election.

As reported in the Sept. 12 issue of The Standard, sewer rates will rise to a minimum of $1 per 1,000 gallons, from the present 83 cents. There will be a minimum quarterly charge of $8, compared to the former $6.64.

Sewerage charges are based on readings of water meters, under the hypothetical assumption that all water used by householders and businesses eventually finds its way into the sanitary sewer system and from there to the Chelsea sewage treatment plant.

It doesn't, of course. If it did, some of the discharge would be illegal. Water used for such purposes as lawn sprinkling and car washing is supposed to go either into the ground or into storm sewer drains and never come close to a sanitary sewer.

Complicating the problem is that there is a lot of leakage from storm sewers into sanitary sewers, a situation that the village has tried to repair partially this summer. It has been estimated that as many as 200,000 gallons of water per day infiltrate the village sanitary sewer system.

Work done this summer is supposed to cut that total by 33,000 gallons a day, enough to allow the new BookCrafters fulfillment house and a couple of other proposed developments to use sewers within the capacity ceiling imposed by the Department of Natural Resources on Chelsea's antiquated treatment plant. The village is under state order to remodel and upgrade the plant starting no later than 1988.

For the average village householder, who used 20-25,000 gallons of water per three-month quarter, the sewer rate increase will mean a boost of $3.40 to $4.25 in quarterly bills. Heavy users could pay an increase of $17 or more.

The village board did give taxpayers a break by deciding not to make the sewer rate increase retroactive to June 20, as village administrator Frederick Weber had recommended.

"I have a feeling that some people might not have watered their lawns as much as they did during the summer if they had known the rates were going up," Fulk said. "I don't think it's fair to charge them retroactively."

The other trustees present agreed and voted to make the increase effective Sept. 20.

Weber said the effect of the three-month delay in imposing the higher rates would be to put the village sewer fund a little further into the red than it otherwise would have been at the end of the fiscal year, but added, "I think we can handle it. We still should be able to show a favorable balance at the end of 1985-86 if we don't run into any more unexpected costs."

"We'll read meters on Sept. 21 and 22, and the increases will be shown on the January bills."

North School Slates Open House Tomorrow

North Elementary school will host its annual open house tomorrow beginning at 6:30 p.m. All community members are welcome to attend. The open house provides an opportunity to meet with staff, see children's work, and visit the building.

North school meets 435 students' educational needs daily with a teacher staff of 31. The building has three custodians, three playground supervisors, and one full-time secretary.

Educational needs are also enhanced by an active parent-teacher organization led by PTN President Clara Smith.

Besides the open house, the media center under the direction of Barbara Locks will have a Book Fair. There will be books for all ages, pre-school to adult, as well as a few used textbooks. Profits will be used to buy books, audio-visual equipment, and computer software.

Escape Wave Goes On at Camp Waterloo

There have been nine break-outs from the fenced prison camp during the past two weeks. Six are still at large.

The roll call:

Michael N. Clayton, serving 2-4 years for burglary escaped Sept. 11, caught by Chelsea police.

Bill Coelius Inducted into Speech Coaches Hall of Fame

Bill Coelius had the sole honor this year of being inducted into the Michigan Speech Coaches Association Hall of Fame. He was the only member added to the Hall of Fame this year.

Coelius teaches speech, TV production, radio broadcasting, debate and stage and drama at Chelsea High school. He began teaching here in 1967.

Coelius coaches forensics and began the debate team. In 1982, the forensics team won a state championship. Both teams have placed students consistently in the state finals.

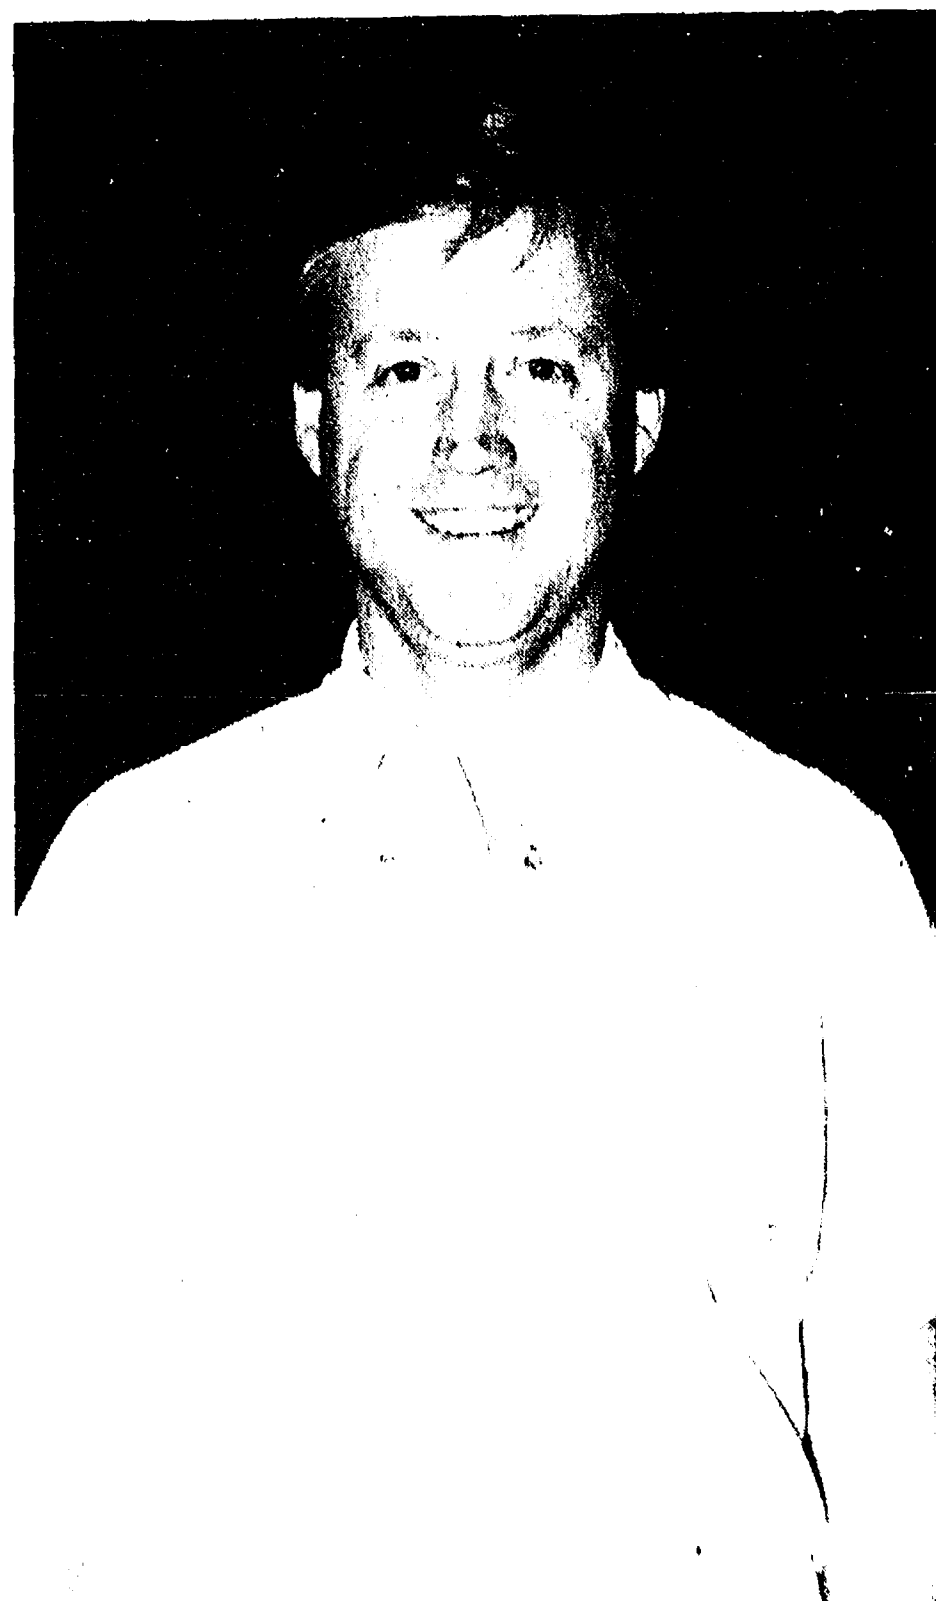

Coelius' activities outside of school all wind back to his classes. His private business in making wooden toys helps him teach making salesmanship speeches. He participates in several arts and crafts fairs including the Chelsea Sidewalk Sales. His wife, Pat, and sons Robert and Bill help him with woodworking.

Recently, Coelius embarked on a career as a professional actor. He brings this experience back to his television production class. He acted in a commercial for Manufacturers National Bank, which is soon to be released. A commercial for Buick will be released on cable stations.

Besides commercials, Coelius has been featured in industrial films for Cadillac and Oldsmobile. He had roles in four Chelsea Players productions. These were "Plaza Suite," "Oklahoma," "Harvey," and "Hello Dolly."

Coelius even has an agent in Southfield guiding his acting career.

"I just try to keep as active as I can. I can take the things I learn (Continued on page five)

4 Years Ago....

Thursday, Sept. 25, 1980—

On Aug. 25, ground breaking for the long-anticipated Chelsea Professional Building got underway. Now, just one month later, the basic structure to be built in Phase 1 of the project is easily imaginable.

Representing the Chelsea Professional Building Association is Dr. Robert Burns, a general dentist practicing from the Chelsea Medical Center. He is the man who originally had the notion of the structure and he is solely responsible for the ram-rodding necessary to get his complex started, nearly two years after its conception.

On Wednesday, Oct. 1, members of Arbor Alliance, an anti-nuclear group from Ann Arbor will march through Chelsea, Tecumseh, Dundee, Manchester, Stockbridge and Mason before reaching their target destination, the Capitol Building in East Lansing.

The group will leave from the Fermi II nuclear reactor site in Monroe on Saturday morning, Sept. 27 beginning its march across the state to protest the hazards of nuclear power experimentation and technology throughout Michigan. In addition to Arbor Alliance, anti-nuke groups across the state will be marching to the common destination.

14 Years Ago....

Thursday, Sept. 17, 1970—

A power failure that occurred in the village of Waterloo, Sunday morning, Sept. 13 left 1,287 homes without power between the hours of 12:07 a.m. and 3:40 a.m.

Tom Seelman, operations manager for Consumer Power Co., Jackson, reported Tuesday, that the failure was apparently caused by a faulty line near Waters St. and Waterloo Rd. in Waterloo. A wood pin, used to hold an insulator, to which a power line is attached, fell from the cross bar of a power line out by the lake, dropping the line into Mill Pond Lake. Voltage on that line alone was 8,320 volts. Protective devices on the line, which shut power to a line when they detect such problems, quickly shut off the power on the entire primary line to the area.

Once upon a time (or was it only three weeks ago?), Mr. and Mrs. Willard Willis, from Flat Rock, who spend their summers at Sugar Loaf Lake, and have for many, many years, decided that they should move their valuable papers, car registrations, stocks and bonds, house deeds, titles, and many other valuables to a safety deposit box in town.

So they collected all their valuable papers, and some possessions, and put them in a big plastic bag. Somehow, they never got to the bank and the papers were accidentally thrown out by some well meaning soul who thought the bag was part of the rubbish disposal.

If it wasn't the monsoon season out at Delhi Metropolitan Park last Sunday, then many of the Republicans at the local, district, state and national level were afraid it might be the forerunner of the Delhi monsoon.

The rain was consistent although not heavy, throughout the Republican Ox Roast which began at 1 p.m. and continued until 6 p.m. officially.

Groups in Agreement in Opposition To "Voter's Choice" Amendment
Upon officially gaining a slot on the November general election ballot, government, civic and socially-oriented groups uniformly announced their opposition to the so-called Voter's Choice amendment to the state constitution.

Rarely do these groups agree, but calling the proposed amendment devastating to the state's economy and recent efforts to bring the state back into good standing in the nation, the various groups have joined together for an "informational" campaign in an effort to get the proposal defeated.

James Briney, head of the Promote Michigan campaign—the group organized against the proposal—said he was pleased the proposal would appear on the November ballot because it would allow the group to "go forward with a very aggressive campaign."

Governor James Blanchard said he would do everything he could to help the bi-partisan Promote Michigan group that is presently organized to oppose the amendment.

He said he was confident that the group and others would get the message out and voters will ultimately concur that Proposal C is bad for the economic future of the state.

Calling the vote the most important decision Michigan voters will make about the future of Michigan, Blanchard said the successful proposal would not only hurt state government, but local government and education as well.

He added the approval of the amendment would make a "tragic signal that Michigan has derailed its economic plans."

The proposal, if adopted, would roll back all state and local taxes to their 1981 levels and require voter approval of any increase in tax rates or changes in the base.

The proposal would also require increases in fees to get either voter approval or four-fifths approval of the state or local governing body.

Additionally, the proposal would also limit all non-resident city income taxes to 5 percent, reducing the current 1.5 percent Detroit non-resident tax.

Jim DeMar of Utica, one of the original leaders of the tax cut proposal, predicted the measure would win in a runaway victory and said, "If I could paralyze state government, I'd be very happy because we are totally dissatisfied with what government has been doing."

In their analysis of the proposal, the Citizens Research Council of Michigan said that subject to restoration by the voters, the amendment would reduce state tax revenues by approximately $1.1 billion, or $1.6 billion if unemployment compensation taxes are included. It would further reduce income tax revenues by about $40 million in Detroit and Highland Park and local property tax revenues in a number of other jurisdictions.

The group's newspaper said the revenue loss would threaten the state's job development as well as road, bridge and water programs essential for economic development.

The council said if business unemployment contributions provided in a 1982 act are held to be taxed under the meaning of the proposal, the potential revenue loss in 1985 to the state's unemployment compensation system would be $537 million.

As a result, Michigan would lose federal interest relief of $25 million or more and $109 million in deferred interest would have to be paid immediately, making Michigan employers subject to increases in their federal unemployment taxes of $500 million to $1 billion. Business costs, naturally, are passed on to customers.

Never before has such a diverse group of interests been in agreement over a ballot proposal. All see the proposal as a threat to the state, the services the state and local units of government are providing for the health and well being of the citizenry and to the future economic recovery and stability of Michigan.

Much will be said about the proposal between now and the Nov. 6 vote. It is up to the citizens of Michigan to be knowledgeable and vote accordingly on this important question.

The bride's parents are George and Donna Palmer of Mayer Dr. The bridegroom's parents are Felix and Silvia Weber of Bakersfield, Calif.

Mrs. Major Ash served as organist for the ceremony. Trumpeter Jeffrey Emmert played the processional, "Trumpet Voluntary." Amy Gillard of Kansas City, Mo., and Steven Gallenbeck of Flint were soloists on "Treasurers," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Starting Here, Starting Now." Suzanne Morrison, childhood friend of the bride, read "Memories and Dreams" which she wrote for the occasion.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an off-the-shoulder gown of chantilly lace with an asymmetrically draped bodice of lace ruffles. The tiered ruffled skirt was tea length. A headpiece of braided silk was fastened in the back with a gardenia and tiny satin ribbons. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and white roses.

The bride's sister, Carol Palmer, was the maid of honor. ## Workshop Offers Tips on Cooking Fresh Vegetables

Tuesday, Oct. 2 from 7:30 to 9:30 in the Co-operative Extension Activity Room, at the County Service Center, Helen Fairman, Washtenaw county extension home economist will demonstrate how to cook and serve vegetables so they are the highlight of your meal, not just the "good for you" part.

According to Fairman, how you cook and serve vegetables is as important as what you cook. Some vegetables are more nutritious than others, but if their nutrients are lost during cooking, or they end up not being eaten you have wasted a valuable resource.

Participants will get to see and taste a variety of winning ways with vegetables. Cost is $2 to be collected at the door, but please pre-register by calling 973-9510.

'Taming the Snack Attack' Workshop Slated Oct. 2

Our nation is one of millions of snackers, and those snacks tend to be high in fats, sugars, and sodium.

Chelsea Community Education is offering a workshop called "Taming the Snack Attack" on Tuesday, Oct. 2, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in the Chelsea High School Home Economics Room.

Teresa Freed, editor of "The Foodletter," will show many creative ways of turning common nourishing foods into family-pleasing snacks that can easily take the place of those heavily salted and sweetened ones that we are so used to. Many of the ideas are so simple that the children can get involved in helping, and most can be adapted to simple but elegant hors d'oeuvres. Special emphasis will be put on quick finger foods that are nourishing enough to make a meal-on-the-run.

You may register for "Taming the Snack Attack" by calling the Chelsea Community Education offices at 475-9830. The fee of $7 covers the cost of food and recipes.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Breehl

Wilkinson, Breehl Married After 30 Years

After a 30-year engagement, Sallie A. Wilkinson married Donald L. Breehl on July 28. Both reside on Owens Ct. Pastor Ann Marie Coleman of Whitmore Lake presided at the wedding which took place at the home of Wilkinson's daughter, Sandra and John Sayer, on Adams St.

Wilkinson met Breehl when she was aged 15, 35 years ago. Breehl entered the army and Wilkinson married another. Sometime after Wilkinson became free to remarry, the couple resumed their engagement.

The bride wore ivory chiffon over crepe de chine. The gown was long-sleeved and had a lace bodice and border. The bride wore a wreath of baby's breath in her hair and carried three cascading gardenias with Stephanotis and baby's breath.

The bride also wore a pearl cross necklace. The necklace is a family heirloom which has been worn by four other brides.

The bride's daughter served as matron of honor. She wore ivory and orchid voile. She carried a basket of silk flowers in orchid, blue and ivory.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Francis Breehl, of Dover, O., attended the wedding in an ivory street-length dress.

Granddaughters Heather Rene, 6, and Melissa Michelle Sayer, 4, were flower girls.

John Sayer served as best man. 10-year-old grandson David J. Sayer gave the bride away and carried the rings.

The reception was held at 138 Owens Ct. The bridegroom's sister Agnes King from Dover, O. cut the cake. Penny Sayer and Pat Sadler assisted at the reception table. About 75 guests attended.

The couple spent 10 days in upper Michigan circling the top of the lower peninsula including Cheboygon, Traverse City, Mackinaw City, and Crystal Lake. The wedding trip featured a dinner cruise in Cheboygon.

The couple will continue to reside at their Owens Ct. address.

Injustice is relatively easy to bear; what stings is justice.

As a Michigan Bell customer, you have been affected by recent changes in the telecommunications industry.

However—with few exceptions—the services previously available directly from Michigan Bell are still available to you... either from Michigan Bell or from one of our new Ameritech companies.

Besides Michigan Bell, Ameritech's large family of companies includes a host of subsidiaries you may not have heard about, as well as the former Bell telephone companies in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin.

How we and these other Ameritech companies may be of service in meeting your telecommunications needs is described in the following.

Basic Telecommunications Services: Residence and Business.

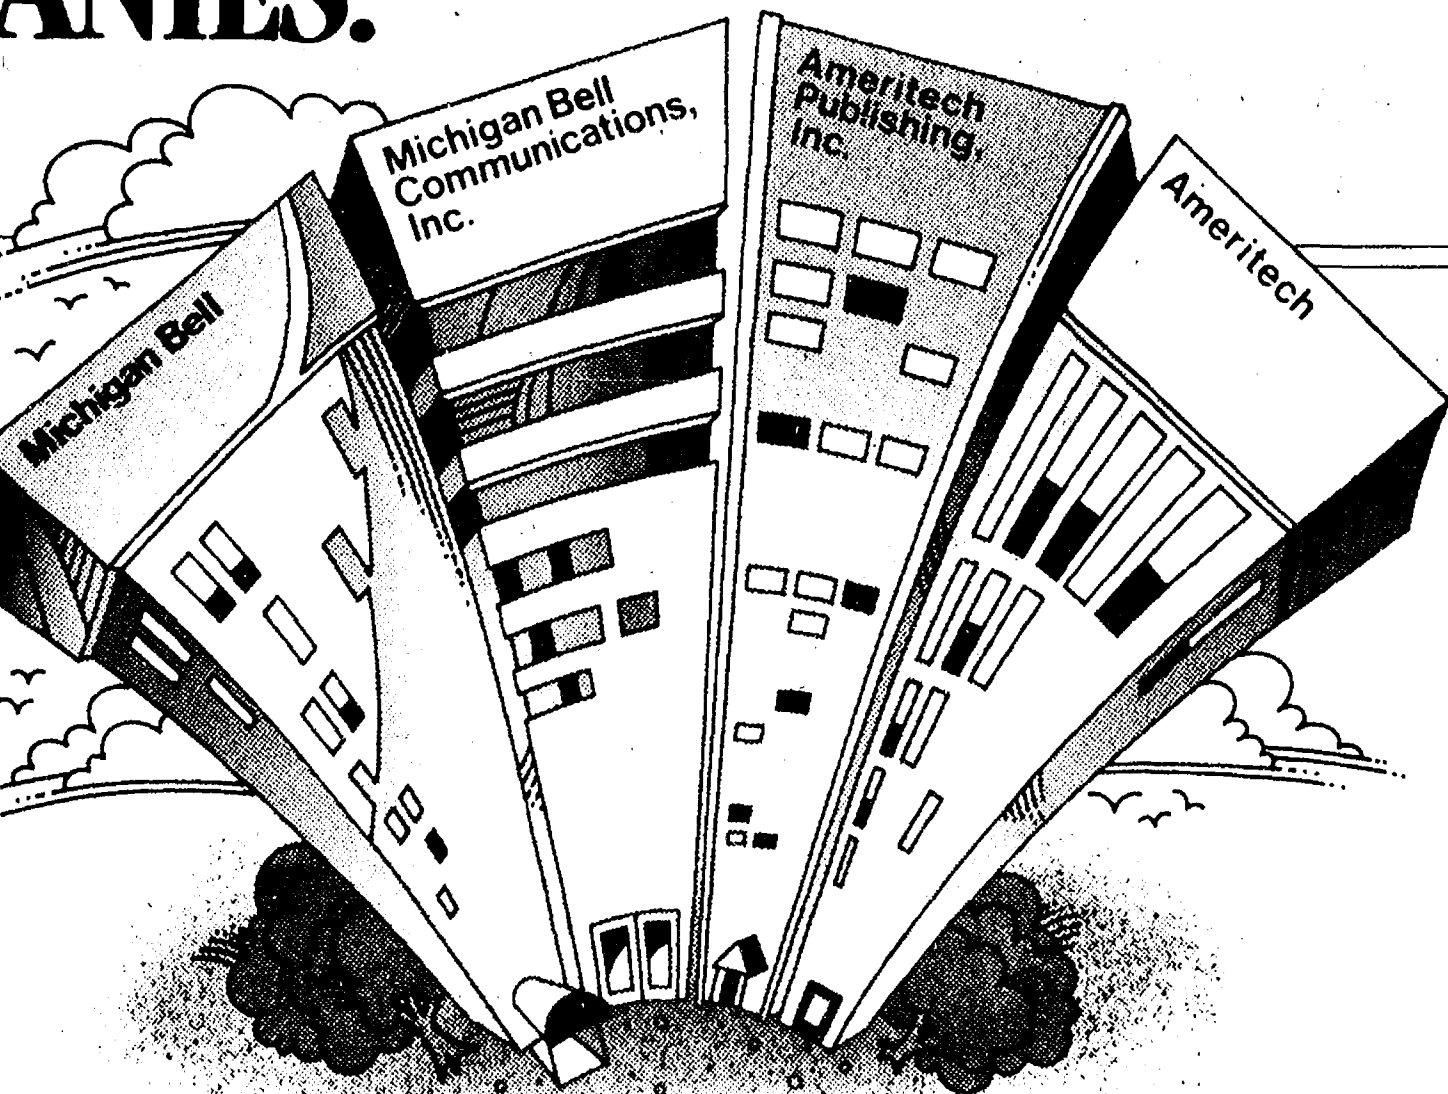

MICHIGAN BELL provides basic telecommunications services including dial tone, flat rate, or measured service, white pages telephone listings, line repair services, and disabled customer services. You can also get optional network services like Touch-Tone and Custom Calling services from Michigan Bell, and business network services such as Centrex and network transmission services for voice, data, and image. And we provide public telephone service as well as long distance service within Michigan Bell's service areas, including optional long distance calling plans.

Equipment: Business.

MICHIGAN BELL COMMUNICATIONS, INC., serves as Michigan Bell's sales arm for business network services, including Centrex. It provides complete business communications systems, offering products and equipment from a wide variety of telecommunications suppliers, including terminal equipment for The Centrex Universe.

Equipment: Residence and Small Business.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

I wish I didn't feel it necessary to write this, but the bad has to be told along with the good. Much of what follows will not make pleasant reading for people who take pride in the students of the Chelsea school district.

Almost all of my experiences with the young people here have been good. I have dealt mostly with athletes and honor students, and have found them to be outstanding kids, the kind that I would have been proud to raise and call my own.

For instance, a couple of weeks ago I went over to the Chelsea High school athletic field, seeking some help in confirming identifications of people in pictures. Two boys—Mark Mull and Curtis Heard—were standing on the sidelines with injuries.

They gave me the information I wanted, chatted with me for a few minutes and thanked me for coming out. I was impressed enough that I called head football coach Gene LaFave the next morning to commend the two.

"You must coach manners along with football," I said to Gene.

"We sure try," was his answer. "If any boy that I'm coaching ever gives you a problem, I want to know about it. Believe me, I'll take care of it."

The fact is that I've never had any problem with any member of any Chelsea athletic team. Looking back over the past couple of years, I recall a bunch of fine young people who were invariably polite and well spoken whenever I talked with them.

Similarly, the honor students whom I've interviewed have been poised and articulate, darned nice youngsters who will go on to become outstanding citizens.

Now for the other side of the story, which I honestly wish I didn't have to tell.

A couple of weeks ago my wife and I went to Novi for Chelsea's opening football game. As we walked through the gate and past a group of kids who were obviously from Chelsea (at least they wore Chelsea jackets) I heard a stream of gutter-talk directed at me about something that had appeared in the paper earlier in the week.

In the first place, I didn't write the story, and in the second place the reporter who did wrote it right.

Beyond that, I resent the fact that my wife had to listen to the nastiness. If somebody wants to argue with me about something, call me up or come in and talk about it. Use dirty words if you want to. But don't expose my wife—or anybody else—to your filthy mouths.

A week ago Sunday afternoon I drove into the high school parking lot to look for a pen that I had lost somewhere during the Saline football game the previous Friday night, and found myself blocked by a gang of maybe a dozen boys and girls who piled out of a pick-up truck loaded with several baskets of green tomatoes.

One young squirt—who doesn't deserve to be called a young man because he hasn't grown up yet—hailed off and threw a rock-hard tomato. I was lucky, I guess. The missile could have hit me in the side of the head through my open window. Instead it smashed the side mirror, splattered inside and outside the car, and left some seeds and juice in my lap. I haven't found out yet what the total bill for damages is, but it's probably close to $100.

When I got out and confronted the group, I heard some more nasty language, a phony name and, of all things, a statement that throwing green tomatoes at cars is a "tradition" here in town. Police and school officials more or less confirmed that, and that bothers me a bit.

The young hoodlum who threw the tomato came awfully close to having some teeth knocked down his throat. Instead, I picked up the camera that I carry in the front seat of my car, and started snapping pictures. The pictures are good. Believe me, kids, even though you scattered, I've got you all on film. Believe me also that you are going to be identified, and that you will pay for the damage you did.

If tomato fighting is indeed a tradition hereabouts, I suggest that it be ended forthwith, along with festooning trees with toilet paper, tearing up new sod on a football field (as happened last fall) and other stupid adolescent stunts.

I'm convinced that the overwhelming majority of kids in Chelsea are good kids. I'm also aware that a few bad apples can spoil a barrel. I've had the misfortune recently to find some of the bad apples.

Let's put a stop to the nonsense.

Medical Effects Of Alcohol Use To Be Discussed

A videotaped lecture by Russell Smith, M.D., entitled "Where Is the Alcoholic Going?" will be featured at Brighton Hospital's next Community Education Program on Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 6 p.m.

Dr. Smith, the hospital's medical director, frequently lectures at professional and community forums on alcoholism and substance abuse. In this evening's taped lecture Dr. Smith discusses the medical consequences of the long-term use of alcohol and other sedatives.

Following the film a trained counselor will be available to answer questions and explain what help is available for both the alcoholic and his or her family.

The informal style of the free Community Education Program conducted each month at the hospital allows people who are concerned about a loved one's drinking to obtain valuable information about alcoholism and its treatment.

Brighton Hospital is located on E. Grand River at Kensington Rd., just off the I-96 freeway.

For additional information and a free schedule of Community Education Programs for the rest of the year, contact the hospital at (313) 227-1211 or the hospital's Outpatient Department at (313) 227-6143.

Stefani Hilligoss Moves to Georgia

Stefani Hilligoss has transferred from Ferris College in Big Rapids to the University of Georgia in Athens, Ga. She is studying to become a special education teacher.

A 1983 Chelsea High school graduate, Hilligoss had attended Ferris College for the 1983-84 school year. Because Ferris did not offer a degree program in special education, she transferred to the Georgia university. Warmer weather also influenced her decision, said her mother, Veronica Hilligoss.

Hilligoss is a member of the Metropolitan Society for handicapped children and volunteers every year at a camp for young handicappers.

While at Chelsea High school, she performed in "West Side Story." She also was a cheer leader and a member of the French club.

Hilligoss is the daughter of Donald and Veronica Hilligoss of Trinkle Rd.

Watson Brings Broad Teaching Experience To North School

Mary Watson's teaching experience covers a wide variety of locations and jobs. Before obtaining a permanent position in Chelsea, she substituted in both regular and special education teaching.

Watson has transferred to teach special education at North School this year. Last year, she taught learning disabilities at Chelsea High school.

"I loved that job but I'm glad to be here because I'm interested in elementary teaching," she said.

Watson grew up in Gross Ile. She earned a bachelors from the University of Michigan in Latin American studies and a masters from Eastern Michigan University in special education. She also has a teaching certificate.

In 1979, her professional experience began as a substitute teacher aide at High Point Center, a school for mentally impaired children. In 1980, she volunteered at the Pebble Creek Day Treatment program, for severely emotionally impaired children. She student taught first grade at Abbot Elementary school in Ann Arbor in 1981. She has also student taught emotionally impaired children in Willow Run under a teacher consultant.

In 1982, she substituted in Chelsea, Dexter, Whitmore Lake, Romulus, and Children's Psychiatric Hospital. She substituted in regular and special education teaching and under a teacher consultant.

Watson's role at North School is as a teacher consultant.

"What a teacher consultant does is have children for direct services part of the day and indirect services part of the day," she said.

To provide the indirect services, Watson works with a team that discusses interventions with children for parents and teachers. Those children may not be on Watson's case load. The team helps teachers manage problems with specific students.

The team also performs all testing for students who may need screening for special education services.

Watson's teaching goals are "for the child to fit into the regular classroom as much as possible. My goals are to help them as much as I can to fit in and feel they're doing a good job and to accept themselves," said Watson.

She tries to help children fit in the classroom through remedial work. Remediation is like tutoring only focuses on the areas where the child has specific problems. To build a positive self-image, Watson gives the child stickers, and rewards.

"I give them praise also so they don't just get used to concrete things. I like to be a little more abstract," she said.

Emotionally impaired children require something besides academic help.

"They may not have a lot of internal controls and may need limits set. We help teach them things such as not to interrupt or to stay in their seat," said Watson.

Watson tutored in Chelsea during the summer before starting the school year at North.

When the volcano Krakatoa erupted in the Dutch East Indies in 1883, the sound was heard in Bangkok, 3,000 miles away.

Coelius Honored By Coaches

coaching by reaching the state semi-finals in debate and finals in forensic; demonstrate professional leadership and be a current or past member of the Michigan Speech Coaches Association.

Hearing Testing Available Oct. 3 For Beach School

Parents of Beach Middle school students may refer their children for hearing tests. The testing will take place Oct. 3.

According to principal Darco Stielstra, the percentage of children found to have hearing problems is very small. "From my experience at Perry, it's very small at the middle school level because students with problems are discovered an early age," he said.

Townships Assoc. Political Committee Endorses O'Connor

The Michigan Townships Association Political Action Committee (MTA-PAC) has endorsed the candidacy of Representative Margaret O'Connor for 52nd District State Representative in the 1984 general election.

Imposters Try To Kidnap Children

Recent attempts to kidnap or molest children by imposters posing as Children's Protective Service workers from the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS) have been made in eight counties.

Washtenaw County Sheriff Ron Schebil urges residents to treat unknown individuals claiming to be from DSS with caution.

"If you are visited by a Children's Protective Service worker or any one else you do not know, do not let them into your home until you check them out," instructs Sheriff Schebil.

"First, call your local DSS office and give authorities a physical description of the worker as well as the worker's name," he advises. "If you are suspicious about the person, immediately call us or your local police. Second, get a good description of their car and especially the license plate number."

Sheriff Schebil also cautions residents to keep their doors locked. "In one case, an imposter went around to other doors in the home trying to get in, and there were three small children at home. Fortunately the doors were locked."

Lastly, Sheriff Schebil reminds county residents that a DSS worker cannot remove a child from its home unless there is a court order in hand and a uniformed officer present.

Since May 15, attempts to kidnap or molest children by DSS imposters have been reported in Gladwin, Gratiot, Hillsdale, Presque Isle, Alcona, Kalkaska, Barry and Ottawa counties.

Sheriff Schebil says that persons with information about the imposters should call him or local police. "Or they can call Crime-Stoppers in Saginaw at 517-752-STOP," and give an anonymous tip," he suggests.

A mountain nanny goat and her kid have a remarkably close relationship, reports National Wildlife magazine. Throughout their entire 10 to 11 month association, a kid rarely strays farther than a yard or two from its nanny's side, even though essentially weaned after one month.

Scientists at the University of California believe the sun may have a companion star that passes so close to the Earth every 28 million years that it could destroy all life on this planet, reports International Wildlife magazine. Don't worry. The death star isn't due until 15 million A.D.

According to a United Nations study, Europe's stained glass treasures are among the latest victims of acid rain, reports National Wildlife magazine. At least 100,000 objects, some more than 1,000 years old, are in danger of deteriorating from acid precipitation.

Citizens Trust Names Chelsea Advisory Board

Citizens Trust has elected seven community leaders to its newly developed Chelsea Advisory Board, it was announced by George H. Cress, president and chief executive officer.

The Chelsea Advisory Board members are: Theodore E. Faist, Jr., partner, Faist-Morrow Buick-Olds-Chevrolet, Inc.; William N. Hawks, M.D.; Sam Johnson, owner, Gambles; Martin M. Merkel, president, North American Exploration Corp.; William G. Nuffer, president, BookCrafters, Inc.; William J. Rademacher, attorney-at-law; and Jack Winans, owner, Vogel's and Foster's.

The Chelsea Advisory Board was developed to help Citizens Trust relate to the community, and react to community needs. The group will meet at least every other month and will discuss and review such topics as the bank's financial position; new services to be offered; customer needs and concerns; and community reactions to the bank's services.

"As a local, independent bank we have the freedom to work closely with the communities we serve," Cress stated. "Since Citizens Trust is the largest independent bank in Washtenaw county we also have the resources and staff needed to provide a broad range of financial services. We recognize that different people have different financial needs and with the help of the Chelsea Advisory Board we will be able to meet the needs of the Chelsea Community more effectively," he concluded.

The Chelsea office of Citizens Trust opened in 1978. William J. Bott, second vice-president has managed the office since that time. A resident of Chelsea, Bott is involved in many community activities, including serving as a member of the Downtown Revitalization Committee of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce and the United Way Campaign Committee.

Hunting Seasons Open On Squirrels and Birds

Southern Michigan's fall hunting season opened Sept. 15 with squirrels (both fox and gray), ruffed grouse and woodcock as legal game.

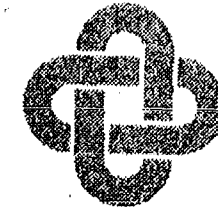

Squirrels are plentiful but hard to hunt after the leaves fall. Grouse and woodcock are scarce and also difficult to see and shoot until after the foliage drops.

Starting Sept. 17 limited numbers of pen-reared pheasants were released on 37 scattered locations of state-owned land, including parts of the Pinckney and Waterloo Recreation Areas and the Gregory and Sharonville State Game Areas.

This shortened put-take pheasant season is scheduled to be the last, as the program is being phased out. A few birds will be scattered over many acres, and they will not be easy to find.

Wild turkeys are NOT legal game, but hunters observing them while looking for something else are asked to notify the Department of Natural Resources at the Jackson district office or the Waterloo or Pinckney Recreation Area headquarters.

Ellis Pratt Certified As Recount Winner In Primary Balloting

It's all but official. Ellis J. Pratt of Manchester will represent most of west Washtenaw county, including the Chelsea and Dexter areas, on the County Board of Commissioners beginning next year.

Pratt's seven-vote margin in the Aug. 7 Republican primary election stood up under a recount, and incumbent George A. Merkel of Chelsea said he does not plan to carry the issue any further.

Pratt is assured of winning in the Nov. 6 general election. The Democrat party did not enter a candidate for the District 1 commissioner post, and Pratt's name will be the only one on the ballot.

After recounting all 13 precincts in District 1, the county Board of Canvassers announced that the originally announced vote totals—1,064 for Pratt, 1,057 for Merkel—were unchanged.

ELLIS J. PRATT

Merkel and his attorney, William J. Rademacher of Chelsea, considered a lawsuit to challenge the canvassers' decision, but decided against it. That made Pratt the official, twice certified winner of the primary.

Pratt, 60, lives at 11663 Pleasant Lake Rd., and is manager of the Spear & Associates real estate branch office in Manchester. He formerly was a farmer in Sharon township.

This was his first run for public office.

Merkel, 55, has been a county commissioner since 1977 and was seeking his fifth two-year term. He lives at 142 Van Buren St., and operates the Sylvan Hotel and a building and grounds maintenance business.

Merkel acknowledged that "I just plain didn't campaign hard enough" before the primary. "I took too much for granted," he said. "It's tough to lose by such a small margin, but that's the result. There's no sense carrying things any further, and I don't intend to."

Stockbridge Youth Awarded Army Commendation Medal

Pfc. Joseph L. Jurkan, son of Victor G. Jurkan of 12940 E. Territorial, and Mary Jane Andrews of 302 Elizabeth, both of Stockbridge, has been decorated with the U. S. Army Commendation Medal at Fort Bragg, N.C.

The Army Commendation Medal is awarded to those individuals who demonstrate outstanding achievement or meritorious service in the performance of their duties on behalf of the Army.

Jurkan is a supply specialist with the 82nd Airborne Division.

Voter Registration Deadline Near for November Election

Although you have until election day to decide how to vote, you have less than 30 days to register so you can vote.

According to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, Oct. 9 is the last day to register to vote in the November Presidential election.

Austin said that individuals not yet registered may do so at the office of the city or township clerk in the city or township where they live, or, at any one of the 180 state-wide Secretary of State branches.

In addition, many city and township clerks have assigned deputy registrars at various locations in cities and townships to facilitate voter registration.

Mary Harris Resigns Village Treasurer Post; Successor Sought

Mrs. Mary M. Harris, who has been village treasurer since March, 1980, resigned unexpectedly in a letter delivered to the village board on Sept. 6.

Her resignation was accepted with regret at the board's Sept. 18 meeting by all five members present, and a search begun for a successor.

Mrs. Harris, who is also Sylvan township clerk, was re-elected unopposed as Chelsea's treasurer at the March 12 village election for a two-year term. She was nominated in the Aug. 6 primary on the Republican ticket for another term as township clerk, and has no opposition on the November general election ballot.

Her letter of resignation as village treasurer read as follows:

"It is with much regret that I must resign my office of treasurer of the village of Chelsea, effective Sept. 30, 1984. Due to health problems and family obligations that have arisen, I do not have the time and energy to do the job as it should be done."

"However, if so desired, I will return the delinquent taxes to the county after Oct. 1."

In a letter of response signed by village president Jerry Satterthwaite, it was stated:

"The village council, at their regular session of Sept. 18, 1984, regretfully accepted your resignation from the position of village treasurer, effective Sept. 30, 1984. I would like to commend you on an excellent job performance during your tenure as treasurer."

"In your resignation letter of Sept. 6, 1984, you stated that you would be willing to forward the delinquent taxes to the county. Due to the fact that we have not yet found a replacement for your position, we respectfully request that you perform whatever duties necessary to conclude this year's tax billing. It would be greatly appreciated. Thank you again for a job well done."

Village administrator Frederick Weber said that, as yet, there are no prospective candidates for the post which pays $1,200 a year and must be filled by appointment pending the next village election.

"It's a demanding, time-consuming job, and it doesn't pay very much," he commented. "The salary is set by the village."

Mrs. Harris was not available for comment.

Her husband, Fred Harris, was elected to the village council as a trustee on March 12 but resigned three months later, stating only, "It is my opinion that the village council will run more smoothly without me."

His position has since been filled by the appointment of A. E. (Mac) Fulks.

Schools District Gets New Brochures at No Cost

Chelsea Board of Education just completed one of their goals from the 1983-84 school year. The board wanted to develop a brochure which tells the story of the school district at no cost to the district.

They have done this with an attractive glossy blue and gold covered booklet. The cover features a gold line drawing of a teacher with three youngsters and the motto "Education... for all ages." A map of Chelsea with inset drawings of the four schools is on the back cover.

The eight page booklet includes an illustrated run-down of the school's history, curriculum, educational excellence and administration. A pull-out sheet gives miniature biographies of school administrators.

The entire booklet was typeset at no cost to the schools thanks to Typographic Insight, Ltd. of Ann Arbor. The company is owned by board trustee Arthur E. Dils. Line illustrations were done by Richard E. Robbins, an artist at Dils' company.

"Art Dils talked with Bill Nuffer, president of BookCrafters, and got him to print 2,500 copies at no cost," said Fred Mills, assistant superintendent.

The school board, however, has ordered an additional 2,500 copies to insure an adequate supply. While they will have to pay for the ordered copies, the amount has not yet been determined.

The booklets will be distributed to real estate agencies, stores, and village offices.

"They will be placed where people might go if they were coming to Chelsea and ask 'How about the schools?' People were asking if we had anything to give them and we didn't," said Mills.

'84 Individual Retirement Accounts

Talk to us now, and next year you'll be sending the I.R.S. less!

An '84 IRA means an immediate tax deduction when filing your federal and state income taxes. Your IRA deposits come directly off your taxable income. You can deposit as much as $2,000 per year ($4,000 for working spouses filing jointly). You can also have a company pension plan and qualify for an IRA. As a matter of fact, if all you make is $2,000 a year, you can deposit the full amount. Anyone with a wage or salary income qualifies for an IRA. Unemployed spouses may deposit $250 yearly in an IRA.

Often, it's easier to start small and make deposits at regular intervals. Most important though is to begin building your '84 IRA NOW.

Your IRA with us earns the highest interest possible and keeps on earning year after year and you never pay taxes on the interest until you retire (when you are usually in a lower tax bracket).

Our IRAs mean a tax deduction and a tax deferment for you. Stop by with your questions. We're ready with the answers!

A substantial interest and tax penalty is charged for early withdrawal

Mistake-Plagued Chelsea Footballers Lose to Milan, 20-12

Visiting Milan spoiled Chelsea's Homecoming football game last Friday night with a 20-12 victory in a contest that the Bulldogs were supposed to win and probably should have.

The game turned into a comedy of errors. Think of any mistake that a football team can make, and one or the other made it. Milan came out on top by committing fewer boo-boos.

It would have been great from Chelsea's standpoint if the game had ended after the first 10 seconds. Dave Steinhauer caught the opening kickoff, found an opening up the middle, and won a 90-yard foot-race into the end zone to put the Bulldogs up 6-0.

An indication of things to come was that Chelsea messed up the center snap on the extra-point try. A further indication was that the Bulldogs failed to cover on the ensuing kick-off and allowed a return to the Chelsea 37. From there Milan scored in six plays, the last one a seven-yard run by Mike Hayes.

Milan's Greg Brierly, who did a super job of punting and place-kicking all night, booted the extra point, and Milan was ahead to stay.

The Big Reds stretched their lead to 13-7 by scoring on their first possession of the second half, again taking advantage of a kick-off return that put the ball deep in Chelsea territory on the 24.

A strange play followed. Milan quarterback Richard Suisse completed a pass short of the goal line, the ball was fumbled, and a Big Red recovered it. Suisse then went over on a five-yard keeper play. Chelsea blocked the extra-point attempt.

Dave Steinhauer gave Bulldog fans—and there were a lot of them out there for the Homecoming game—one more chance to cheer when he caught a pass from quarterback Dan Bellus, broke a couple of tackles and powered into the end zone to complete a 31-yard touchdown play.

An attempted pass for two points and the lead fell incomplete and left the score at 13-12, anybody's ball game. There were still more than 13 minutes to play.

The Bulldogs had repeated opportunities with the ball in good field position, but couldn't take advantage of them, stopping themselves time after time with mistakes.

Milan's final touchdown, which put the clamps on the game, was something of a gift.

With time running out and the ball on the Chelsea 12 with fourth-and-eight, Bulldog coach Gene LaFave elected to gamble, and he lost. Milan took over the ball, punched it in, and that was that.

Disappointed and disgusted with his team's play, LaFave lectured them for 20 minutes in the locker room before emerging to talk briefly with reporters.

"I honestly can't explain it," he said. "We had an excellent week of practice, and I thought we were ready to play. Then we came out and turned the ball over eight times, drew a bunch of foolish penalties, and just plain failed to execute when we needed to. We played very, very poorly."

"We moved the ball and gained a lot of yards, but our offense put only six points on the board. We should have had five or six touchdowns. We're struggling to find some kind of consistency on offense, and we're going to have trouble until we do."

"You saw the game, and you know the story. Both teams made a lot of mistakes, but Milan made fewer than we did, and they won. It wasn't a great game, but they played better than we did."

"What hurt us most was that we couldn't execute in big-play situations, when we needed to do something. I think we have the better personnel, but I can't prove it by the final score. It was a very disappointing loss."

LaFave did have some good things to say about his offensive line—Matt Smith, Steve Whitesall, Rich Conner, Mark P. Bentley, Rod Satterthwaite, and Jim Eisenbeiser.

"They opened some holes for our running backs, and they did a good job on pass protection," he said. "Our quarterback wasn't sacked once, and had time to set up and throw. The four interceptions and the dropped balls weren't the line's fault."

Sophomore flanker Todd Starkey caught 10 passes for 125 yards while absorbing a brutal physical beating from Milan defenders who were keying on him. He was double-covered most of the time, and took some savage hits.

The gutty 130-pound flanker, who also plays on defense, was sidelined twice with painful but non-crippling injuries, and went back in both times. His body must have been one solid bruise at game's end.

Dave Steinhauer played his usual outstanding game. Besides scoring both Chelsea touchdowns, he was all over the field making tackles from his outside linebacker spot on defense.

The patched-up Bulldog defensive secondary continued to show the effects of injuries, with two starters and their back-ups out of action. Some passes were completed and some tackles missed that probably would not have been had the first-stringers been in there.

"I won't say that not having those kids was what beat us, but it sure didn't help," LaFave said. "I'm hoping we'll have at least a couple of them back for our next game."

That next game is against Lincoln there at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The Railsplitters are 2-1 on the season, have a lot of speed, and are a threat to score on any play.

Chelsea, meanwhile, is 1-2 and has lost both its Southeastern Conference starts. Realistically, the Bulldogs have no chance for the SEC title but could yet have something to say about who does win it. Correcting mistakes will be the order of the day in Chelsea's practice sessions this week.

SEC ROUND-UP:

Saline, Pinckney Tied for Lead

After coming from behind to defeat Tecumseh in a close game last Friday night, Saline remained tied for the top in the Southeastern Conference football race, but surprising Pinckney stayed even by beating Dexter.

Both are 2-0 in the conference. Everybody else has lost at least one game.

Saline went to the state playoffs last year and is currently ranked ninth among Michigan class B football teams. A weak schedule the rest of the way could hurt the Hornets' chances to make the finals again. Play-off teams are selected under a complicated formula which attempts, among other things, to measure the caliber of the opposition.

Pinckney almost certainly doesn't have a shot at the playoffs, having already lost a game, but can't be counted out of the SEC title race until somebody beats them.

Saline had to rally for two touchdowns and a field goal in the fourth quarter to beat a stubborn Tecumseh team which took an early 7-0 lead and held onto it through three periods. The final score was 15-7.

Pinckney whitewashed Dexter, 21-0 to keep pace with Saline. The Pirates dominated the contest as the Dreadnaughts continued to have trouble moving the ball and suffered their third straight loss.

Milan recorded a mild upset by beating Chelsea, 20-12, in a game that turned into a comedy of errors. Both teams together made about every mistake in the book, but the Big Reds made fewer of them.

Lincoln impressed in an 18-8 non-league triumph over a strong Ida team. The Railsplitters have a lot of speed and are capable of springing surprises with their big-play offense.

Pinckney	2-0	2-1
Saline	2-0	3-0
Milan	1-1	2-1
Tecumseh	1-1	1-2
Chelsea	0-2	1-2

Frosh Gridders Lose At Monroe-Jefferson

Chelsea's freshman football team got off to a bad start and fell behind early at Monroe Jefferson a week ago Tuesday and eventually lost, 39-14.

Monroe scored on the first scrimmage play of the game, tallied again on its next possession, made both two-point conversions, and took a 16-0 first-quarter lead.

The Bulldog frosh came back with a sustained drive that produced a touchdown, quarterback Jordan Gray going over from one yard out.

A couple of costly penalties against Chelsea helped Monroe raise the count to 32-6 at half-time. A 60-yard pass play from Gray to Clay Hurd and a two-kick-off in last Friday's Chelsea-Milan football game. Steinhauer ran for a 90-yard touchdown on the play.

A WAVE OF BLOCKERS forms in front of him as Bulldog captain Dave Steinhauer (far left) heads upfield after catching the opening

TODD STARKEY gathers in one of the 10 pass receptions he made during last Friday's Chelsea-Milan football game, won 20-12 by Milan. Starkey was injured when later tackled on the play.

JV Gridders Defeated In Close Game, 14-8

Chelsea's junior varsity football team lost a 14-8 squeaker to Milan there last Thursday afternoon.

"It was a close game, and we could have won it except for turnovers and inconsistency on offense," coach Jim Ticknor said. "We had trouble sustaining anything."

Many jumped out to a 14-0 lead with touchdowns in the first and second quarters. The Bulldog JV's came back on a long drive to close the gap to 14-8 at half-time, with Scott Frisinger running the final six yards and also scoring the two-point conversion on a run.

Chelsea had a chance to tie and perhaps go ahead late in the game, but a promising drive sputtered out at the Milan five-yard line.

Jeff Stacey, playing at quarterback for the first time in his high school life, did "an admirable job," Ticknor said. "he didn't have much time to practice at the position, let alone play there, and he did very well."

Stacey moved into the quarterback spot when Matt Bohlender was promoted to the varsity to help fill the ranks of an injury-riddled defensive secondary.

Assistant coach Ken Sullins, who concentrates on defense, praised the play of linebacker

THE AGONY OF INJURY: You can get hurt playing football, and Chelsea's Todd Starkey came out of last Friday's game against Milan twice with painful but non-disabling injuries. Here the sophomore flanker grits his teeth and shuts his eyes as Dr. John Severin examines him on the sidelines.

Marty Poljan who, among other accomplishments, intercepted a pass at the goal line to prevent what looked like a sure Milan touchdown.

Strong safety Mark Pletcher and tackle Doug Harden also sparkled on defense, Sullins said. The JV's are 1-2 on the season so far, having defeated Novi and lost to Saline and Milan.

"I think we can be winners if we can just develop some consistency on offense," Ticknor said. "We run one play well and the next one badly, and it's tough to keep anything going that way."

The team will get a chance to even its record at 2-2 in a game against Lincoln here tomorrow starting at 7 p.m.

DAN ALLEN, Chelsea taxidermist, stands beside his display of antlers, buckheads and wildfowl at the Hunting & Fishing Day exhibition staged Saturday by the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club.

National Hunting, Fishing Day Observed

The first observance of National Hunting & Fishing Day was presented by the Chelsea Rod & Gun Club Saturday and centered in the storefront of Longworth Plating Service. The event attracted hundreds of visitors. "It was a successful beginning," club president Fred Klink declared, "and we intend to continue it for years to come because of its educational value."

There were displays of mounted game animals, game fish and fowl by local taxidermists. Craig Wales, DNR conservation officer, was present in uniform during the five-hour open house to answer questions about Michigan conservation laws and programs. More than 20 conservation folders and booklets were available, free for the taking.

Hunting and Fishing Day is a rapidly spreading national observance by outdoor organizations concerned with the defense of natural resources. The Chelsea Rod & Gun Club is affiliated with the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the National Wildlife Federation.

In the meet against Dundee, freshman Kelly Kuzon led the way with three first-place finishes in individual medley with 2:48.9, breast with 1:20.6 and with the medley relay team. The team came in 2:13.8. Members of the first-place team were Cathy Hoffman, Amanda Holmes, and Rebecca Dent.

"Those were exceptionally fast swims for this time of year and we can't wait to see how fast these girls will get this year," said Reed.

Kuzon and Holmes are nearing state qualifying times.

Colombo earned the only first place against Milan with the 500 freestyle. She won second place in 200 individual medley.

Schmunk won second place three times, once in the 100 freestyle. She timed 2:14.90 in 200 freestyle, and 58.7 in 400 freestyle. Holmes earned second places in 50 freestyle with 27.89 and 100 butterfly with 1:11.35. Karen Grau also had a second-place win in 100 backstroke with 1:19.60.

Chelsea Netters Lose All Three Matches

The girls tennis team, playing three matches back to back this week, lost all three. They lost to Novi 3-4, to Howell 1-6 and to Riverview, 2-5.

The Novi match was a close game. Angie Miller won her match over Michelle Benoit, 6-4, 5-7, 7-5 for the only point gained in singles. Melanie Dils fell to Dana Reynolds, 6-3, 6-1. "We beat ourselves in this match," said coach Theresa Schreiner. "We let little things get to us. We can't let this happen. We must rise above certain situations and play tennis."

Chelsea was able to get only one point in their second match against Howell. Dils achieved the single point by defeating Mary Jo Delvero, 6-3, 6-3.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Approach of the waterfowl hunting season recalls to mind a place where I spent hundreds of happy hours—"the old duck blind."

A friend of mine built it, and shared it with me over several seasons. It was located near the end of a peninsula on a northern Michigan lake, looking out over a shallow bay where diving ducks concentrated in search of food and shelter.

Duck hunting can be and often is miserable. A good rule of thumb is, the worse the conditions the better the shooting, which means you spend a lot of time in wet, windy, wild weather. You don't have to be crazy to be a duck hunter, but it helps.

That blind was a marvel of location, design and construction. It was placed on a spot where a good set of decoys would lure ducks—mostly bluebills (lesser scaup) and broadbills (greater scaup) plus occasional redheads, canvasbacks and goldeneyes—within shotgun range.

It was big enough to accommodate two hunters and their gear with some elbow room, and a third could squeeze in if somebody else wanted to go along.

Best of all, the old duck blind was comfortable. My friend had dug in some stout cedar fence posts and put in walls and roof of heavy tarpaper that were proof against wind and rain. There was a wide bench seat backed by board braces that you could lean against if you wanted to sit back and relax during the quiet times when there were no ducks flying.

There were racks to hold guns so they were safe but easily reachable when you needed to grab them and shoot. There were places to stash coffee jugs, food, extra shells, binoculars, rubber gloves (for picking up decoys), rain gear and all the other paraphernalia that a duck hunter has to carry along in order to be prepared for whatever might happen.

Friend Carl Stahl put in a day's work in early September every year, camouflaging the blind with corn stalks, cut brush and cattails. The result was a structure that blended beautifully into the background. It fooled a lot of ducks that swung by our decoys stooled about 30 yards offshore.

Usually, we hunted mornings, which meant getting up a couple of hours before daylight, making and eating breakfast, loading what seemed like a ton of stuff into my motorpowered canoe and groping the mile or so from my cottage to the blind.

I got lost in a dense fog one morning and hadn't the slightest idea where I was until I ran aground three miles away on the opposite shore of the lake.

Once the decoys—six dozen of them—were set, the gear hauled into the blind, and the canoe dragged on shore and covered with camouflage netting, we could sit and wait for daylight and shooting time.

If we had brought enough sandwiches, fruit, cookies and coffee along, and had worn enough clothes, we could sit there all day and be happy, no matter what the weather or the ducks did. It could rain, blow or snow—and some days we got a combination of all three—but we were snug.

Sometimes we killed ducks, and sometimes we didn't. We had some red-letter days and some total wash-outs, but they were all fun. Any birds we bagged we dressed and plucked while we waited for the next chance, so that task didn't have to be done late in a long, tired day. Carl always dug a shallow pit behind the blind for waste disposal purposes.

The worst chore was picking up the decoys at the end of the day. Even with lined rubber gloves, hands got cold from the icy water, and wrapping up six dozen anchor lines sometimes seemed to be an endless experience. A hand-warmer helped to ease the numbness in fingers and keep them working.

Navigating back to the cottage in the evening darkness could be interesting, too. One night I thought I was lost until I bumped into a dock. The dock turned out to be mine.

Upset by Tecumseh, Golfers Rally To Win Matches

Following an unexpected loss to Tecumseh, the Chelsea High school golf team rallied to beat both Saline and Dexter in a double-match and remain alive in the chase for the Southeastern Conference league title.

A double match, this time against Tecumseh and Milan, yesterday was critical to Chelsea's hopes of winning or tying in the league and qualifying for the regional.

"It's a very tough league," coach Ken Larson said. "It includes five excellent teams. We're averaging five strokes per match better than last year, when we were second in the state in Class B, and we are having to play our best to win. That tells you something about the quality of competition in the conference."

Chelsea lost to Tecumseh, 158-162, over the Tecumseh Country Club Course on Sept. 17, which Larson called "one of the best we play all year."

"A team score of 162 ordinarily would be good enough to win over that course," Larson said. "Tecumseh just shot a little bit better than we did, and they beat us."

Doug Otto shot a fine 35 over the par 37 links. Mike Carignan and Eric Schaffner each carded 42 and Jon Lane 43.

The Chelsea JV's defeated Tecumseh, 175-182. Scores were Rob Murrell 42, Tom Roth 43, John Mitchell 44, and Greg Belton 46.

Playing on their home Inverness Country Club course, the Bulldogs went out and shot a school-record 147 to defeat Saline (161) and Dexter (169).

Otto's three-under-par 33 matched the best round scored by anybody at Inverness this year. Carignan and Schaffner each came in at 37, and Brian Ackley had a 40.

The JV's also won both matches. Their score was 175 to Saline's 186 and Dexter's 254. Chelsea scores were Murrell 41, Roth 44, Mitchell 45 and Scott Jones 45.

The results of the week's action left Chelsea in a "must win" position going into yesterday's competition against Tecumseh and Milan.

"We have to win both of those matches and hope somebody else beats Saline somewhere along the line," Larson said.

The Bulldog golfers split their two matches with Saline, losing there and winning here.

"I think we are in fairly good shape, but we can't afford to lose another league match," Larson said. "If we do, we could be out of it. We'll be playing at home (Inverness) most of the rest of the way, and that will help. The boys shoot pretty well out there."

The Chelsea varsity is 5-2 on the season, 4-2 in the SEC. The JV's are 6-1 and 5-1.

"I honestly thought we would have a better record at this stage of the season," Larson said. "Our golfers have played well, but have had some very tough opposition. I have a good team. It all goes to show that we are playing in a very competitive situation. There are at least five teams capable of winning the conference. The SEC meet should be a real shoot-out."

Girls Cross Country Team Defeats Milan

In their first home meet the Chelsea girls cross country team defeated Milan, 19-44, to open their Southeastern Conference season at Inverness Country Club.

Amy Wolfgang led the Bulldogs by winning her first cross country race ever in a fine time of 21:13.

"Amy just continues to improve," said coach Pat Clarke. "We've been trying to stretch her away from the group and it seems to be working."

Clarke also mentioned Melanie Flanigan, Robin Mock, Kim Collins, and Jennifer Rossi, for turning in exceptional performances.

Chelsea placers and their times:

Amy Wolfgang, first, 21:13; Robin Mock, third, 21:52;

Melanie Flanigan, fourth, 21:59; Mary Ann Richardson, fifth, 22:03; Kim Collins, sixth, 22:06; Kim Allen, seventh, 22:32; Laura Damm, eighth, 22:35; Jennifer Rossi, ninth, 22:36; Debbie Tift 10th, 24:06;

Ann Brosnan, 12th, 24:26; Anna Muncer, 13th, 24:26; Wendy Hunn, 14th, 24:29; Stephanie Grant, 15th, 24:30; Shanda Friday, 16th, 24:31; Alisha Dorrow, 17th, 24:37; Chris Neuman, 19th, 24:50.

Consumer prices were fairly stable from 1880 until the eve of World War I. After the war-induced inflation, prices fell and declined further during the depression of the 1930's. But since the start of World War II, prices have risen almost continuously.

Chelsea Harriers Run In Jackson Invitational

Chelsea's girls cross country team finished a strong third at the tough Jackson Invitational last Saturday.

Team scores were Lumen Christi 41, Grand Rapids Christian 86, and Chelsea 106.

Amy Wolfgang led the Bulldogs with a ninth-place finish at 20:38. Other placers were: 21st, Kim Collins (21:38); 22nd, Mary Ann Richardson (21:40); 25th, Melanie Flanigan (21:54); 29th, Kim Allen (22:09); 31st, Laura Damm (22:40); and 32nd, Robin Mock (22:48).

In the same meet the Chelsea boys team placed seventh in a very strong field.

"The six teams that finished ahead of us were all ranked in the top 15 in the state last week," said coach Pat Clarke. Lumen Christi won the meet with 47 points.

Tim Bowdish ran a fine race to lead the Bulldogs, finishing eighth in the pack at 16:51.

Other placers were: 25th, Jared Bradley (17:44); 34th, John Cattell (18:10); 45th, Allan Kuhl (18:35); 51st, Bob Torres (18:58); 56th, Jason Creffield (19:26); and 58th, Kyle Kemmish (19:38).

Attendance Policy Changed at CHS

A change in the Chelsea High school attendance policy seems to be working smoothly so far this year, thanks to the co-operation of the community, said principal John Williams.

Under the new policy, when a student is absent, parents must phone the school on the day of the absence. This lets the school know the absence is excused. Parents should phone between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. if possible.

Previously, when a student was absent, he or she would bring in a written excuse from parents and apply to the school office for an admit slip at the beginning of the day of his or her return. The student then had to take the admit slip to each of his or her classes and have it initialed by each teacher. Students who did not have an admit slip could not get back into class.

According to Williams, the policy was changed for a variety of reasons. "There used to be a mass of students in the office every morning clamoring for admit slips. Then, we wouldn't know if an absence was excused or unexcused until a couple days had gone by. This gives us an immediate check if the student's absence is excused," said Williams.

"If John Smith is reported absent from his third hour class and no one has called, chances are he's skipping. Our response time to skipping should be much faster," explained Williams.

The new policy has cut down on skipping if a statement Williams heard has any truth. A reporter from the school newspaper said she wanted to do an article on the new policy because students were complaining it had become more difficult to skip classes, Williams said.

Throughout the day, the school secretary makes spot-calls to parents to insure students aren't trying to call themselves in. An equal number of calls are made to parents who haven't called in absences.

"We don't try to call everyone who didn't call in because that would negate the parents' responsibility," said Williams.

If parents continually refuse to call in, Williams said, a conference would be held to explain the attendance policy. However, parents have been good about phoning in absences so far, he added.

For the first unexcused absence, students are given a 0 in any classes they missed. Many teachers grade on a point system with 450 points averaged over a 45-day marking period. A student could be penalized 10 points for missing one day. A student-teacher-parent conference is held for a second unexcused absence. A third unexcused absence results in the student's grade being lowered an entire letter. A fourth absence results in a failed class.

While the penalties for skipping may seem stiff, some people say the excuse policy is too lenient, said Williams.

"Our philosophy is if parents say you're excused, you're excused. There is an unlimited number of excused absences as long as they're approved by the family," he explained.

The average daily attendance at the school is about 93% for all students. The rate for students absent for more than three periods is about 4%. The school office averaged between 30 and 40 admit slips per day, said Williams.

On a sample day such as Sept. 10, the school had 68 absences of which 28 had so far not been excused. Unexcused absences could be because of parents failing to call in or as yet unrecorded visits with the school counselor regarding class schedules.

On that day, 12 ninth grade students were absent. Only three were unexcused. Out of 17 10th grade absences, 11 were excused. Three had only skipped for one period.

"Chances are they skipped," said Williams. "As you go up in grades there's more skippers. I think the freshmen are a little less certain of their position."

Eight out of 14 absences in the 11th grade were excused. Four of the six unexcused absences missed only one period. In 12th grade, 12 out of 25 absences were called in. Eight of the 13 remaining unexcused absences only missed one period.

"The pattern shows there isn't many at all that skip a whole day," said Williams.

In general, Williams is pleased with how the new policy is working. "I feel the attendance procedure is working smoothly—even better than we anticipated. We appreciate the support and co-operation of everyone," he said.

JV Tennis Team Remains Undefeated

The unofficial junior varsity girls tennis team remains undefeated at this point. This week, they defeated Novi 3-2, and Howell, 4-1. The team was unable to play at Riverview because of lack of time.

The team has previously vanquished Howell, Hartland, Pinckney, and Columbia Central.

At Novi, Kelly Stump and Arlene Tai defeated their opponents 8-3. Ada Tai and Jenny Pichlik won their match 8-1. Alison Thornton and Meredith Johnson lost 9-7 as well as Kim Hamrick and Kristin Muncer, 8-6. Thornton then played a singles and won 8-5.

At Howell, Pichlik won 10-1 over her opponent. She is 3-1 in junior varsity play. In doubles, Stump and Tai lost their match 10-2. However, Minta Van Reesma and Ada Tai won 10-2; Johnson and Thornton, 10-1; and Hamrick and Muncer, 10-3.

The junior varsity season record stands 6-0.

The EPA has fined a Chicago pesticide manufacturer $450,000 for marketing a worthless product that supposedly repelled rats, mice and roaches with painful high-frequency sound waves.

Girls JV Cagers Defeat Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard

Chelsea High school girls junior varsity basketball team won their fourth game of the season against Ann Arbor's Gabriel Richard, Sept. 20. The final score was 24-10. Their season record is 4-1.

Chelsea took the first three quarters. First quarter ended

THE LONG AND THE SHORT OF IT: The corn crop in west Washtenaw county will be poor when it's harvested this fall, because of the summer drought, but some fields will yield better than others. High-ground corn (top picture) has been parched and in most instances will be cut for fodder. Low-land fields (bottom photo) got more moisture and will be worth picking for grain. These two fields on Freer Rd. are less than half a mile apart.

Boy Harriers Outrun Milan in Dual Meet

Chelsea's young Boy's Cross Country team opened its Southeastern Conference season with a 22-36 triumph over Milan.

Chelsea's young boy's cross country team opened its "We looked pretty good, but we still have a very long way to go," said coach Pat Clarke.

The Bulldogs were led by their outstanding duo of junior Tim Bowdish and senior Jared Bradley, who finished 1-2. Both ran extremely well, according to Clarke.

He also spotlighted freshmen John Cattell and Larry Moore, and sophomores Tucker Lee and Brian Coy as having run fine races.

Chelsea placers and times included:

Tim Bowdish, first, 17:06; Jared Bradley, second, 17:28; John Cattell, fourth, 18:20; Allan Kuhl, seventh, 18:43; Bob Torres, eighth, 18:46; Jason Creffield, ninth, 18:49;

Kyle Kemmish, 11th, 19:00; Jeff Wheaton, 12th, 19:03; Tucker

Lee, 13th, 19:16; Pete Hanna, 16th, 19:25; Steve Humm, 17th, 19:45; Brian Coy, 19th, 19:49; Lee Riemenschneider, 20th, 20:10; Charlie Koenig, 21st, 20:10; Larry Moore, 22nd, 20:10; Bobby Pratt, 24th, 20:38; Craig Zuelhke, 25th, 20:39.

Two CHS Students Named National Merit Semifinalists

Katherine Becker and John Wilcox were named semifinalists in the National Merit program conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. The Chelsea High school seniors were among the state's top scorers on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, (PSAT/NMSQT). These scorers were among half of one percent of the state's high school graduating class.

To become a finalist and win a scholarship, the students must receive the unqualified endorsement of their principals, continue to do well on the Scholastic Aptitude Test and provide information about their achievements and goals. If selected, students could win a four-year scholarship ranging from $250 to $2,000 or a one-time award between $1,000 and $2,000.

Becker is the daughter of Mark and Patience Becker of Riker Rd. The family lived in Olivet until moving to Chelsea in May, 1983. While a freshman and sophomore in Olivet, Becker participated in the "Olympics of the Mind." Members of the club conduct such activities as creating inventions and finding different ways to answer the same question.

Becker enjoys bicycling, and reading science fiction. She used to play clarinet.

She may pursue a career in engineering.

Varsity Girl Cagers Defeat Gabriel Richard Sept. 20

Chelsea varsity girls basketball team defeated Ann Arbor's Gabriel Richard in a home game on Sept. 20, 43-34, but almost lost until the last quarter.

Chelsea was ahead 9-4 in the first quarter, but Gabriel Richard took over in the second quarter, 15-8, giving them a two-point lead. That lead narrowed to one point at the end of the third quarter when Chelsea scored 10-9.

"We had a bad second quarter. We didn't adjust to changes Gabriel Richard made in the second quarter but we came back in the second half," said coach Jim Winters.

Gabriel Richard switched from zone to man-to-man defense during that quarter.

The Chelsea team rallied back in the fourth, scoring 16-6.

"We caught them about one minute into the fourth quarter. We pulled in front with five points with 4½ minutes left. We held on to the ball and they had to follow us around and we started to get ahead. 14 out of 16 of our free throws were made in the fourth quarter," said Winters.

Chelsea shot their best percentage so far at 31%, or 11 for 35. Free throws were 21 for 36 or 58%. Chelsea outrebounded Gabriel Richard, 33-31.

Kristi Headrick led scoring with 13 points and seven rebounds. Beth Unterbrink scored 12 points and 11 rebounds; Kim Weber made five assists and two steals.

According to Winters, the game was one of the best of the season.

IT'S A FACT

The 1960's was a decade of change and television played a big part in that change. John Kennedy and television sort of rode into town together. It's been said he was our first television President, and that his charisma punched right through the screen. What was true in life was true in death. His was the first televised assassination and state funeral.

The change and social upheaval in the 1960's was the subject of an hour long documentary aptly called "Change, Change." It is the 19th and final documentary in the acclaimed "A Walk Through The 20th Century" series with Bill Moyers. The series, made possible by a grant from Chevron, has been nominated for four Emmy Awards.

Supervisor Bauer has discussed with Astro Cap, the littering problem stemming from lunch time in the area nearby. They will attempt to clear up the situation.

Birds, Animals Seeking Extra Food for Winter

By Glenn R. Dudderar

Late summer and early fall are peak harvest times in Michigan. This is a time of abundance when people take advantage of plentiful food supplies to lay in stores for winter.

A look around your backyard may reveal wildlife doing the same. This is the time of year when animals and birds come together in large numbers to take advantage of concentrated food sources. Though migrating birds are often the most noticeable, you can see mammals stocking up for winter, too.

Residents of more rural areas often see huge flocks of swallows swooping and dipping over lawns and fields in September. This year's young birds are fully grown and flying with their elders in pursuit of insects.

In urban and suburban neighborhoods, you're more likely to see chimney swifts or nighthawks. It's not unusual for a migratory flock of these birds to move into a yard in the evening, especially if lawn mowing or some other activity has stirred up large numbers of insects. You may find yourself surrounded by swifts or nighthawks performing their aerial acrobatics at eye level or below.

As night falls, you may be able to watch a flock of chimney swifts settle into a chimney for the night. A flock of them will circle a chimney, gradually forming a tighter and tighter spiral until, like a tornado of birds, they funnel down into the chimney.

Because fruits, berries and seeds are abundant now, you're also likely to see concentrations of birds that feed on them. Hawthorns, crabapples and mountain ash trees come alive with birds stuffing themselves on the ripe fruits.

If you watch closely, you may see some birds having trouble holding onto their perches. Or you might see one come in for a wobbly landing and end up hanging upside-down and beating frantically with its wings to get upright again.

The explanation is simple: the birds are drunk. Like grape juice in a bottle, the juice of these fruits ferments inside the skin. When the birds gobble them down, they get drunk. And their co-ordination and sense of balance are temporarily impaired.

The fruit, ripe or fermenting, is an ideal food source for many kinds of birds because it's high in energy. Migrating birds need high-energy foods to lay on a layer of fat to fuel them for their long flight south. Birds that will spend the winter in Michigan are trying to build up energy reserves to help them get through the winter.

A seed-eating bird often seen here in great numbers is the blackbird. For a while, you may see elongated flocks of blackbirds flying in any direction as they travel from their night roosting spots to feeding areas. Later they will head south in flocks that often number from 100,000 to 500,000 individuals. In such large numbers, they can be serious pests of field corn.

If your yard includes white oaks, hickories or walnuts, you may find it invaded in the fall by the neighborhood squirrels. Especially in wooded residential areas, it's easy to observe how squirrels move from one species of nut tree to another as the nuts ripen. Over the years, you can even determine which trees produce the nuts the squirrels like best. Like anglers gravitating to a hot spot in a lake or stream, squirrels will gather around a preferred tree.

The abundance of food and the concentration of animals taking advantage of it are a special fall treat for observers of nature from your backyard.

MUCC Cookbook Has Recipes for Wild Game

Starting this month, Michigan hunters will begin bringing home a variety of big and small game for the family larder—and wondering how they should prepare this bountiful harvest for the table in the weeks and months ahead.

The Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) has the answers for them between the covers of its perennially popular cookbook, "The Wildlife Chef."

First issued in 1975, the cookbook has enjoyed sales numbering thousands of copies, with the proceeds going to MUCC's conservation and education programs. The book, now in its third printing, is designed to help both novice and experienced cooks prepare food from field, forest, and stream.

In addition to nearly 40 recipes, the publication contains tips on field dressing, care of big and small game and fish, freezing and other aspects of the preparation of dishes from the wild. Special sections are devoted to breads and desserts, sauces and stuffing, camp cooking, and edible wild plants of Michigan.

To order a cookbook for yourself, your spouse, or as a gift for a friend, send a check or money order for $5.15 (postpaid) to MUCC, Box 30235, Lansing 48909.

Here are just two examples of the recipes to be found in the "The Wildlife Chef":

Steinhauer Brothers Add to 'Identity Crisis'

Chelsea's varsity football roster offers some "name game" puzzles. There are two Mark Bentleys and identical twins Dave and Dean Boote. All four are first-stringers on either offense or defense.

Add another piece to the puzzle. Brothers Dave and Matt Steinhauer both start on defense. Both play outside linebacker, senior captain Dave on the left side and sophomore Matt on the right. Dave plays tight end on offense.

You can tell the boys apart by the numbers they wear, if you are quick enough to catch the numerals during the fast flow of a football game. Here they are:

Mark P. Bentley—52.
Mark E. Bentley—68.
Dave Boote—32.

Moved by Droleit, supported by Knight, to adjourn the meeting. Carried.

Meeting adjourned.
Respectfully submitted,

Chelsea Students Begin Michigan Assessment Tests

Chelsea 4th, 7th and 10th grade students began Michigan Assessment testing the week of Sept. 24. Chelsea students have scored very well on these tests in past years.

The tests measure the student's minimum competency level in math and reading. They show the percentage of students which achieved a percentage of the test's minimum objectives. Results also indicate if the district has moderate, low or high needs. Chelsea has shown a low-need level.

Beach Middle school students won an award last year for their high competency level. Chelsea High school students have also scored highly.

"We have been fortunate in that we have been either first or second in the county for achieving 75% or better on tests for several years," said Chelsea High school principal John Williams. "We have gone up each year. Our scores have gotten higher."

Williams cited a survey by the "Detroit Free Press" which showed Chelsea schools placing second highest in math and fourth highest in reading in a four-county area.

Last year, 85.8% of 10th grade students achieved 75% or more of the objectives in math. The state-wide average was 64.4%. 91.2% of students achieved 75% or more of the objectives in reading compared with the state-wide average of 80%.

"What we do at the high school when we get the results back, is categorize students by instructor. Counselor Sue Carter will go over what areas students didn't do well in. We get a pretty complete report back on what needs work so we can change program-wise where it fits in with school goals," said Williams.

Williams volunteered the high school for the testing program in 1977-78. The high school began the tests in 1978-79. The state made testing mandatory in 1979-80.

South Elementary school uses the tests to help individual students as well as make program changes.

"We use it to determine where kids are and where we might need to do things with them. It gives us a chance to see what direction we're going in," said

Robert Benedict, South Elementary school principal.

Test results arrive in December. As they come in, teachers begin working with individual students. Teachers use the tests for curriculum planning, however, in the spring.

"Anything we're doing, we're constantly trying to improve it and this is one of the ways we attempt to improve our program," said Benedict.

Beach school had just completed administering the California Achievement tests before beginning the Michigan Assessment. The CAT is a more comprehensive test and goes beyond minimum competency levels, said Darcio Stielstra, Beach Middle school principal.

"Both achievement tests tell us what a child knows at a specific time in relation to a specific theme. It doesn't tell us a child's aptitude but what a child knows based on information in the test. Scholastic aptitude tests give us the degree to which we can expect a child to be successful in school," he explained.

According to Stielstra, achievement tests have several functions. They may be used to evaluate, develop and select curriculum. They may determine the proper schedule for a child. The tests help pre-screen children for remedial or gifted services. They provide a method of reporting to the community as well as individual parents on students' progress.

"In my opinion, one of the most important areas is that of aiding with and improving upon management of classrooms. If a teacher wants to divide the classroom into groups, it enables the teacher to have a variety of abilities within each group. If from a test we learn we have some difficulty, then pacing has to be based on that," said Stielstra.

The tests help teachers chart growth in their class, and to select methods of instruction, such as whether visible or touching media is more effective, or whether to work with abstract versus concrete concepts.

"I think they are a very important tool. We have a number of tools available. It's not an end-all but one tool that can be effective in helping young people succeed," he said.

Running Events Sponsored By Family Practice Center

"Run... for the BEST of Your Life!" is the theme of this year's Running and Fitness Day festival, scheduled for Oct. 13. Sponsored by the American Running and Fitness Association, this 14th annual event celebrates running, fitness, and the fun of exercise. Its goal is to encourage people to enhance the quality of their lives through participation in regular fitness programs.

The University of Michigan Family Practice Center at Chelsea will be the co-ordinating site in this area for activities in conjunction with this day.

"Running and Fitness Day recognizes each person's desire to improve the quality of his or her life," said Peggy Alford Campbell, co-ordinator for the Family Practice Center events. "A regular program of safe, aerobic exercise and a commitment to personal health and wellness are the best places to begin."

The Family Practice Center will be sponsoring a run on Saturday, Oct. 13, at 9:30 a.m. Runners will have a choice of running a one-mile or a five-mile course. The course will cover the Chelsea downtown and outlying areas and will finish at the Family Practice Center for a post race celebration. There is no fee to participate in the race although participants are asked to register by calling 764-8010.

Other special sessions will be offered as a part of this event. Two running related clinics are scheduled to be held at the Family Practice Center.

Carbohydrates—Breakfast of Champions—A special nutritional session will be held to discuss diet and nutrition for athletes. Oct. 4, 7-8 p.m.

Running—How to Begin a Program—The basics of beginning a running program will be discussed to include the who, how, why, when and where. Oct. 4, 8-9 p.m.

There is a $2 registration fee for the above clinics, payable at the door. Pre-registration is requested by calling 764-8010.

Prehospital Disaster Plan Works Well in Practice

If you ever happen to be among a large number of disaster victims, you can rest assured. The Prehospital Disaster Plan Operating Procedure works fairly well except for a couple of minor bugs, according to Dan Harsch, director of emergency management in the Emergency Medical Services Commission.

The procedure was tested in a disaster simulation on Aug. 9 when five county hospitals responded to an imaginary tornado disaster. Volunteer victims were made up to look injured, were triaged or prioritized according to severity of injury, and "treated" at area hospitals. Chelsea Community Hospital participated in the exercise, which took place at the High Point Center on Wagner Rd.

"Basically we evaluated the plan in two major segments, the actual framework and how it allowed us to evaluate the plan," said Harsch.

In general, the exercise was planned very well, said Harsch, but there were three areas that needed improvement.

"The first is centralized command post procedures. We need to review the plan to better reinforce the concept of a centralized command post with decentralized scene control points. We ended up with decentralized command posts," said Harsch.

The second area was the method used to identify triage and treatment. Colored sheets were used to identify areas for different levels of injuries. Walking wounded were brought to a green sheet. Yellow sheets were used for "unstable—could go critical," said Harsch. Red sheets were for victims in critical condition. Those considered "unsalvageable" (deceased) were placed on black sheets.

The sheets system ran into problems because the different colors were difficult to identify from a distance and victims were being taken to the wrong areas. The Emergency Service Commission hopes to implement a better method of marking the triage areas in the future.

Chelsea Community Hospital is in the process of reviewing their role in the simulation exercise.

"Basically the system within the hospital worked very well once the victims arrived," said Mary Lou Sweeton, Emergency Services nursing supervisor.

School Board Notes

Present at regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, Sept. 17 were Schumann, Heller, Grau, Feeney, Comeau, Redding, superintendent Van Meer, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Westcott, assistant principal Larson, community education director Rogers, athletic director Nemeth, special education director DeYoung, guests.

Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by President Schumann. Board approved the minutes of the Sept. 4 meeting.

The Board of Education continued discussion on the Aug. 28 start of school. Alexander Zangara was present to voice opposition to the early start; he previously had written a letter to this effect. A letter of protest was also received from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strong, as well as a 75-signature petition requesting the board to start school after Labor Day. Superintendent Van Meer will make official contact with CEA President Bullock to discuss community reaction to the early start of school.

President Schumann recognized Kelly Hawker, high school senior, whose drawing had received state-wide honorable mention in the Congressional Art Competition. The pencil drawing was placed on display in Congressman Carl Pursell's office. Schumann also presented a Certificate of Appreciation to Beach school teacher Alice Steinbach for her summer work with the State Department of Education in the composition of science tests.

Superintendent Van Meer discussed the educational audit and solicited Board of Education input specifically geared for the Oct. 1 board meeting. He further indicated that building principals and teaching staff would have a series of discussions pertaining to the audit.

Van Meer reviewed the legislative update, speaking specifically to the voters' choice amendment which would roll back taxes to the 1981 level. If this ballot is approved, the Chelsea schools will lose approximately $500,000.

Board approved the E. F. Hut-ton Co. as one of the tax-deferred annuity companies for employee participation.

Meeting adjourned at 9:33 p.m.

Trampolinist Demonstrates At Elementary Assembly

Students at South school were treated to a demonstration by trampolinist George Huntzicker at the school's Oct. 1 assembly. Huntzicker demonstrated gymnastics on the trampoline, trampoline safety and safety in general.

Huntzicker, from Brighton, was originally a gymnast at the University of Michigan. He was a two-time National Collegiate Athletic Association trampoline champion, and won first place in the NCAA championship team for the University of Michigan. He won a world trampoline championship and qualified six times in the All American.

Huntzicker has been presenting demonstrations at school assembly programs since 1971.

Although the school is not allowed to have a trampoline "this shows kids what can be done," said principal Robert Benedict.

Kraig Leach Hurt Seriously in Freak Warehouse Accident

What was first reported as an apparently minor injury has turned out to be far more serious for Kraig R. Leach, 18, of 1313 Freer Rd.

Leach was working at the Merkel Furniture and Carpet store warehouse, 414 Wilkinston St., on Aug. 30 when a fork-lift truck he was operating got stuck in a floor cut and could not be driven out.

A rope with a pulling hook was attached. The hook came out and hit Leach in the head. What was initially reported as a minor laceration developed into a skull fracture involving brain damage. Leach is in Chelsea Community Hospital and reported to be slowly recovering.

PASTOR ERIK HANSEN and his wife, Mary Ann, work together in counseling and pastoral duties as much as possible. Hansen officially became pastor of Chelsea Christian Fellowship church in June. He had been filling in the pulpit since February. Mrs. Hansen will soon help teach Sunday school.

Pastor Erik Hansen Learns Faith During Personal Crisis Time

Faith came to Erik Hansen, pastor of the Chelsea Christian Fellowship church, at a period when nothing was going well in his life. His marriage was on the rocks. He'd lost a job he'd had for several years. He was depressed and everything seemed hopeless. "As a teen-ager, I had a lot of hang-ups and I got into some pretty rough crowds. I got in quite a bit of trouble when I first got married. I had personal problems until I accepted Christ. Life was empty, there was no direction," he recalled.

Then, one night, he went to church "to prove I was as good as everyone else and that night I accepted the Lord. He brought everything into focus, put my life together and my marriage together. It was a crisis experience and the Lord was very real," he said.

"I was sort of an obnoxious person before. After I accepted the Lord, I might still be obnoxious but in different ways," he said.

Hansen has used his past experience and problems to help him in his pastoral work at Chelsea Christian Fellowship church. Although he had been filling in at the church's pulpit since February, he wasn't officially confirmed as pastor there until June.

"Most of my pastoral education has come from the streets and from working with people which I think is more effective. For myself, I had a lot of problems when I was younger. So in that sense after I accepted the Lord, a lot of my past experience has enabled me to relate to young people and their problems and the stresses they feel," Hansen explained.

Hansen was born in Ann Arbor where he lived until his marriage to a Chelsea resident, Mary Ann Spears in 1969. He graduated from Ann Arbor's Pioneer High school in 1966. He and his wife attended Central Bible College in Detroit, Berean Bible school, and Central Bible College in Springfield, Mo.

The Hansens have worked with youth since 1976 as youth ministers in Jackson, in Missouri and with Teen Challenge, a drug-abuse program.

"We always work together, it works better," Hansen said of his wife.

Hansen has been a pastor since 1979 starting in Crosswell and later Coleman, before returning to Chelsea. He characterizes his preaching style as conservative and evangelistic.

"We believe in praying for the sick because we have felt God's healing. I believe in a literal interpretation of the Bible," he said.

Hansen sees his role as helping people to be "overcomers" rather than just cope with problems.

"I do it through the Bible, scripture and through encouragement. It seems like so often today, a lot of your professionals teach people to just cope with problems, to live and exist with them. I find that Christ enables you to get above the problems," explained Hansen.

Membership in the Chelsea Christian Fellowship church has grown since Hansen took the helm. While he began preaching to about 30 parishioners that number has more than doubled to 70.

Participation in Vacation Bible School was about 60 last year but 91 children attended this year's session. Hansen credits school co-ordinator Dorothy Thodeson with that increase.

With the increase in membership, new programs are being started. Royal Rangers, a Christian scouting program, should begin within the next two weeks for boys and sometime after that for girls. The program will be based on bible study and scripture but will include outdoor activities similar to the boy scout troops.

Sunday school material has just been completely changed to reflect the church's pentecostal doctrine. The church used to be Baptist and the literature reflected Baptist doctrine.

Hansen is also trying to garner more active participation from the laity and erase the separation between himself and them.

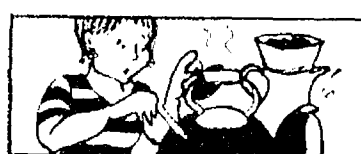

"I feel there's been a real separation of the clergy and laity. My wife and I feel we're not any different from them. We want to work with them. We're open to them and their suggestions and I'm not the boss. We get involved with people and families and they get involved with us," said Hansen.

"Of the churches we've pastored, this is a loving church and they're willing to accept changes. They're looking for changes. We share new ideas and thoughts and try them out," he said.

Besides his pastoral duties, Hansen works for a local contractor. He performs carpentry work. Some times, he also drives a diesel 18-wheeler truck for Detroit Air Cargo.

Hansen participates in the community as an auxiliary fireman. He superintended the rabbit department at the Chelsea Community Fair.

He and his wife have two children, Brent, 9, and Caleb, 15 months. Caleb has kept Mrs. Hansen very busy and unable to assist Hansen with his pastoral work as much as in the past. She will soon be teaching Sunday school at the church, however.

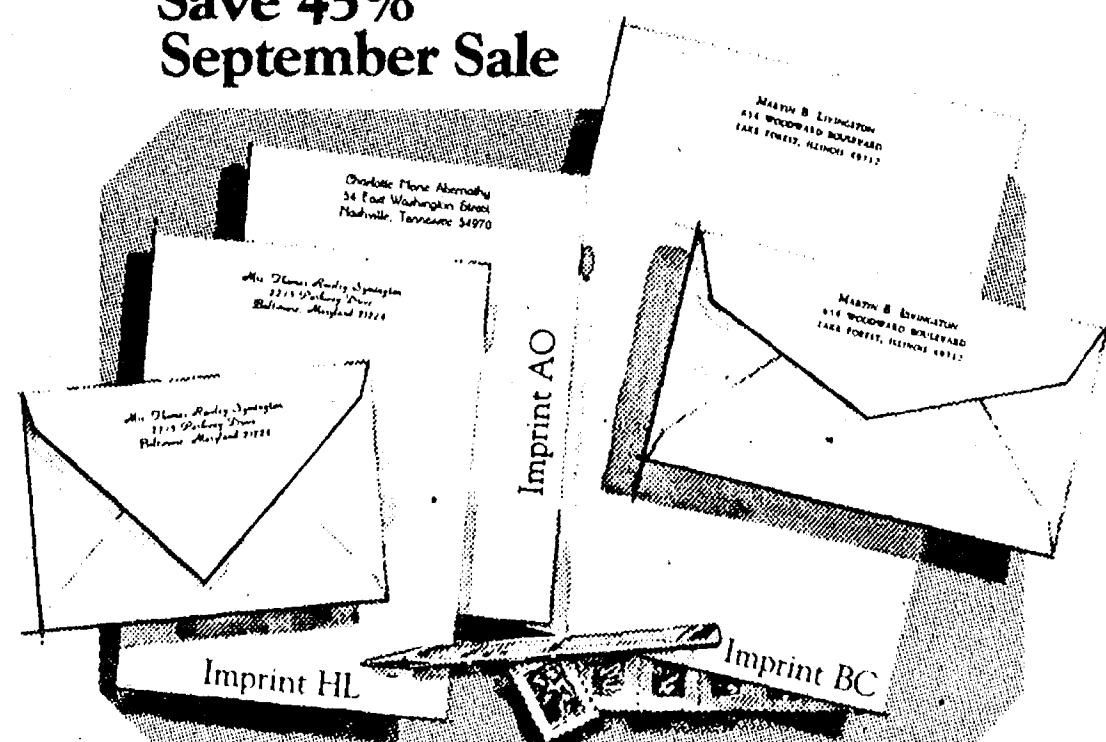

The best temperature for brewing coffee is said to be 180° F.

GOD'S GREATEST GIFT to man is that of intellect, or understanding... How grievous it is to see how man has used his God-given gift to frame instruments of war, for breaking the commandment of God "Thou shalt not kill," and for defying Christ's injunction to "Love one another."

Four rifles, a pellet gun, a stereo clock radio, a television set and five boxes containing jewelry were stolen last Sunday night from a home at 13750 Waters Rd., sheriff's deputies reported.

Officers said there has been a rash of burglaries in the area lately, and detectives have an intensive investigation underway.

Highways Getting Help Everywhere in Michigan

If you've gotten the impression that lots of highway work is going on out there this summer, you're absolutely right.

Pavements are being resurfaced or widened, new curbs and gutters are being installed, bridges and bridge decks are being replaced or reconstructed and highway shoulders are being repaired and upgraded.

"Repair and reconstruction of Michigan's highway system is an integral part of my program to rebuild Michigan's infrastructure," said Gov. James J. Blanchard. The Governor's $135 million bond issue last year, together with another $50 million in bonds this year, has provided revenue for immediate improvements to county roads, municipal streets, and state highways.

Using funds combined from the bond issues and recent federal and state increases in transportation revenues, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) reports a total of 535 projects under way on the 9,500-mile state highway system (all the Interstate and US- and M-numbered highways). They range in size from small intersection and highway drainage improvements to the complete recycling of concrete in stretches of I-75 Freeway in southeast Michigan and I-94 in west Michigan.

"Work is going on all over Michigan," said State Transportation Director James P. Pitz. "This year, as in 1983, we're able to repair and improve highways faster than they are wearing out. For more than 10 years prior to that, we were falling further and further behind in our efforts to keep highways from deteriorating into poor condition."

Contracts for work on 737 miles of state highways were awarded during the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1983, more than five times as many as the 144 miles put out to contract in 1982. The volume of contract awards on the state highway system totaled $289 million in 1983, up from $82 million the previous year.

"The great bulk of our work is on the existing system—rehabilitation, resurfacing, restoration and reconstruction," said Pitz. "While this summer's projects may be causing some inconvenience for motorists, the end result—better, safer highways—will be worth the temporary detours and traffic slowdowns."

Carol DeFant Named "Boss of The Day"

Linda Newhouse submitted her entry to the "Boss of the Day" contest stating "Why do I think she (Carol DeFant) should be Boss of the Day." Apparently the contest's sponsor, radio station WIBM from Jackson, agreed with Newhouse's point of view. She and DeFant won dinner tickets.

Newhouse of Stockbridge works for the Foxy Lady Salon owned by DeFant of W. Middle Rd.

Four Chelsea Area Students Are Degree Candidates at U.M.

Four Chelsea area University of Michigan students are about to receive their degrees, if they haven't already. They are Nancy Nakamaru-Brown of Red Barn Circle; Brian Mollenkopf of Grass Lake; Scott Worthington of Grass Lake; and David Arnsdorf of Manchester.

Nakamaru-Brown has completed her coursework towards a masters of science and is working on her thesis. She is specializing in psychiatric mental health nursing. She will also receive a certificate in gerontology from the Institute of Gerontology when she completes her masters.

Nakamaru-Brown is studying families of alzheimer's disease victims for her thesis. Alzheimer's is a degenerative disease which causes senility and dementia at an early age.

"It's a current problem right now and I felt a lot of professional people don't know the kinds of problems the families have. I wanted to look at what kind of problems they really have so professionals can help them," she said.

Nakamaru-Brown is a volunteer co-leader of the Alzheimer's Support Group in Ann Arbor which meets with families and discusses their problems.

Originally from Illinois, Nakamaru-Brown moved to Michigan in 1978. She received her bachelors in 1971 in public health nursing. Her professional experience includes working at Chelsea Community Hospital on the mental health unit and the substance abuse floor. She is a member of Sigma Theta Tau, the national honor society for nurses.

Nakamaru-Brown entered the masters program in 1982 because "I just felt in order for me to develop in a special area, I needed the theoretical background that graduate school gives and because I think nursing is taking some big steps forward and I felt higher education is a part of that."

Nakamaru-Brown quit working to have her third child. Her three sons are ages 7, 8, and 1 month. Her husband is Craig Brown, who is a sales representative for a manufacturing company in Wichita, Kans.

Mollenkopf would like to lead a dinner-theater someday. To further this ambition, he pursued a double-major in economics and drama. He completed his studies last spring and is awaiting his diploma. He graduated from Grass Lake High school in 1978.

While at the university, he performed in two major plays, "Getting Out," and "The Time of Your Life" and a few smaller ones. He has worked throughout college and is currently maître d' of the Cottage Inn in Ann Arbor. He formerly managed a sports shop.

Scott Worthington graduated from Grass Lake High school in 1973. He received a bachelors of science in geology from Eastern Michigan University in 1977. After which, he worked in Houston, Tex. as a geologist for a short time. He then switched jobs and became a draftsman.

"That's when I made up my mind I was getting an engineering degree," he said.

In August, Worthington got that degree, a bachelors in mechanical engineering. Before pursuing a career in that field, he decided he needed some time off. So he spent part of the summer taking a motorcycle trip to Montana and has visited state parks.

Cub Scout Den Visits The Standard

On Sept. 12, Den 10 of North school visited The Chelsea Standard. Mrs. Leonard conducted the tour. She showed the darkroom. They use old fashioned printers and modern computerized equipment. We were able to feel how hot the linotype plates were. She showed us some old pictures of The Standard Building. We enjoyed all that we saw and learned on our tour.

Thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard from members of Den 10: Jeremy Beauchamp, Ian Dyer, Steve Brock, Steve Thomas, Alex Roskowski, Vincent Stahl, Doug Steele; and leaders: Mary Steele and Linda Dyer.

Natural History Group Sets Events at Waterloo

While the Waterloo Nature Center has been closed indefinitely, the Waterloo Natural History Association is continuing to offer free programs to members and the general public.

Some programs begin at the nature center parking lot off Bush Rd., others at the Waterloo Recreation Area headquarters on McClure Rd.

Upcoming programs include:
Sept. 30—Fall Wild Edibles: This program is always popular, and for good reason! Come along with wild foods specialist Tom Jameson on a foray in search of wild edibles that can be turned into main dishes, snacks and teas. Meet in the nature center parking lot by 2:30 p.m. and bring a knife and a sack to take home samples of your discoveries.

Oct. 6—Insects of Autumn: Just because the mosquitoes have disappeared doesn't mean all the insects are gone. Join Holly Hartmann at area headquarters by 1:30 p.m. to take a close look at the special insects of the season. Bring a hand lens if you can.

Oct. 7—Trees for Beginners: Enjoy the fall colors while roaming through the woods, and learn to identify some common trees. Meet Holly Hartmann at the nature center parking lot by 1:30 p.m.

North Elementary Has Information Night Sept. 18

On Tuesday, Sept. 18, first grade teachers D'Ann Gietzen, Bernice Packard, Beverly Peebles, and Janet Rossi of North school held an information night for first grade parents. Topics covered included reading, math and handwriting, as well as general information about the program and policies.

About 75 parents attended information night. Parents, principal William Wescott, and the teachers felt it was a beneficial meeting. Many questions were answered. It was a great way to start another school year.

POWER to WEIGHT

Since the beginning, chain saw manufacturers have strived to make their saws lighter without sacrificing power.

Today, the Jonsereds 630 just may be the definition of high power to weight ratio in a chain saw.

Sure it looks sharp, but try the 630, heft it...right off you'll notice the ideal balance and maneuverability of this saw. When you start it up, you'll feel the quick response and incredibly smooth anti-vibration. The 630 may be light, but it's not a lightweight—the power is impressive and the chain speed is fast!

Add to this Jonsereds' proven features of design, performance, durability and safety and we think you'll agree—the Jonsereds 630 is one heck of a chain saw.

The Jonsereds 630—engineered for the pro who wants to do more with less...less weight, less fatigue, less downtime, less...
