Chelsea Milling Air 'Emergency' Said Not Serious

Officials of Chelsea Milling Co. downplayed reports of a major air quality emergency in the firm's warehousing area last week but acknowledged that there had been a short-term problem.

The plant was shut down twice for brief periods, and 47 employees were checked at Chelsea Community Hospital for possible high levels of carbon monoxide, an odorless, tasteless, invisible gas which can be lethal if inhaled in large enough amounts.

"None of the 47 persons checked at the hospital showed dangerously elevated levels of carbon monoxide," Chelsea Milling spokesman William Holmes, son of president Howard Holmes, said. "Most of them were released within an hour."

"The longest any one was held in the hospital was five hours. That person was a pregnant woman who was kept for some additional tests because of her condition."

"Nobody was 'carried' to the hospital, despite what you may have read in the Ann Arbor News," Holmes added. "There were no ambulance calls. In some cases employees went to the hospital voluntarily, in others we encouraged them to go because they felt they might be sick."

"In all instances, they are fully covered so far as treatment costs are concerned. We put employee safety and health right at the top in our operations."

"As soon as we found out that we might have a problem on Tuesday night (Oct. 23) we alerted the hospital. When you get something like this, you assume the worst and hope for the best. Fortunately, this incident turned out not to be serious."

We took every possible precaution to insure that it wouldn't be."

Holmes praised the cooperation of hospital officials, especially acting director Dr. Patrick Munson. "As soon as we talked with him, Dr. Munson cleared the way for us to get fast, accurate tests on employees who were complaining of symptoms such as headaches and dizziness."

Holmes said the problem apparently began with an accidental spill of diesel fuel into a sewer in the warehousing area, which created a strong odor as fumes came up.

"That couldn't have been carbon monoxide, because hydrocarbon fuel evaporation doesn't create carbon monoxide, but the fumes could have caused symptoms of illness in employees working near the sewer."

As soon as that problem was discovered, the warehouse area was shut down, Holmes continued, and state health department officials were contacted and asked to bring in air monitoring instruments.

Follow-up investigations revealed that four fork-lift trucks being operated in the warehousing and packaging portions of the Jiffy Mix plant had engines which were badly out of tune.

"They could have been emitting higher than acceptable levels of carbon monoxide," Holmes said. "We took them out of service and called for a factory representative to come in and tune them up. We won't use the machines until we are assured they are running right."

Also being checked out are a furnace, unit heaters, and some other possible sources of carbon monoxide, Holmes added.

The plant shut-downs occurred on Tuesday and Wednesday nights on the advice of hospital officials, following reports that large numbers of employees were checking in for treatment.

"When you don't know exactly what you are up against, you do the safest thing until you are sure," Holmes said.

"We have had some carbon monoxide build-up problems in the past," Holmes acknowledged. "They were traced to the fact that trucks were allowed to back into the warehousing area and park there for long periods with their motors running. We've stopped that."

"I honestly don't know what caused this problem, but we're doing a lot of things to find out," Holmes said. "We're supposed to get a report from the health department in a week or so, and we will take whatever steps are recommended."

"Meanwhile, the state monitoring equipment shows the air quality in the plant is well within safe limits. If it weren't, we would shut down until we made it safe."

Holmes added that Chelsea Milling officials had called special meetings with all three shifts at the plant, talked out the situation and "tried to get everybody calmed down."

"We've told employees that they need not come to work if they feel the situation is unsafe, and they won't be disciplined. I'll say it again, employee safety is at the top of our priority list."

Holmes described himself as an unofficial manager and trouble-shooter in the Jiffy Mix plant. "I guess I really don't have a title," he said.

His father, Howard Holmes, was attending a meeting in California when the gas problem arose.

Voters Have Broad Range Of Choices Next Tuesday

West Washtenaw county voters will go to the polls next Tuesday, Nov. 6, to make choices of public officials ranging from president of the United States to township constable.

Several state and local referendum issues are also on the ballot. Election officials say there is nothing new on where and when to vote. No polling places have been changed, and voting hours will be 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. All persons in line at 8 p.m. will be allowed to vote.

Polling places, by townships, are:

Sylvan township Proposal 1, to grant the village of Chelsea authority to sell electricity in Sylvan township.

United Way Campaign Within Reach of Goal

Chelsea United Way campaign pledges stretched closer to the top of the thermometer with a 30% jump last week. As of last Friday, Oct. 26, the campaign has reached 81% of its $65,000 goal. The campaign ends today, Oct. 31.

"We'll still be getting checks straggling through the mail but the actual solicitations will be done. One more coupon in today's paper will probably be the final plea for funds," said Scott Tanner, campaign chairman.

Tanner said United Way was "optimistic" about reaching the goal and "hoping people that haven't followed through will come through for us."

As of last Friday, the schools had reached 44% of a total $6,000 goal. Beach Middle school led in pledges with 62% of a $1,750 goal. Chelsea High school and administration have made 22% of $2,500.

United Way set goals of $1,250 for North and South Elementary schools. North school pledged 49% and South school made 29%.

United Way contacted over 100 commercial enterprises. So far, the campaign has reached 57% of a $15,000 goal. The organization has received 35% of its mail-out campaign.

The five industries are expected to meet or exceed their goals. These industries are Dana Corp., BookCrafters, Chrysler, Chelsea Milling Co., and Federal Screw Works. The goal totals $25,000.

According to Tanner, the industrial campaign is the most successful because it's the easiest to follow-up. United Way has a person working within each industry who contacts people on a daily basis.

"It's an isolated group. We have more control with industries than through residential mail. You can't check up on the mail. There isn't the continuous follow-up you get with an industrial campaign," said Tanner.

The commercial phase presents a similar problem as United Way contacts over 100 businesses.

"We try to follow-up but it's not as much as a control situation where we have somebody in personnel who can contact people day in and day out," said Tanner.

A second reason for the industrial campaign's success is that it uses payroll deduction. This enables the employer to stretch the pledge throughout the year instead of paying in one sum. Payroll deduction is the best way to achieve a goal, said Tanner.

LINDA ORMSBY, director of Chelsea Social Service, stands beside racks of clean, serviceable clothing collected and distributed on a year-around basis by the agency.

United Way Provides 90% of Chelsea Social Service Funds

In the 1984 budget of Chelsea United Way, $6,000 is earmarked for Chelsea Social Service. This amount is less than 10 percent of United Way's over-all campaign goal of $65,000 but it is close to 90 percent of what the social service agency needs to see it through 1985.

Chelsea Social Service was established 28 years ago as an outgrowth of charitable activities within the Chelsea Woman's Club. At that time United Way was known as the Community Chest. The purpose of CCS, now as then, is to provide help for the needy people in the community. These are families suffering the effects of unemployment as well as people of all ages who are economic victims of disabilities, aging or just plain misfortune. During its fiscal year from July 1, 1983 to June 30, 1984 the agency had more than 3,000 social service contacts involving visits to the CSS office in the Chelsea Village Hall, telephone discussions and visits to homes. Numerous gifts for children were received for giving at holiday time. Tons of dairy foods were provided along with canned goods, clothing and shoes. These and other donated items distributed in 12 months had a value of $26,306.

Christmas giving via Chelsea Social Service brought comfort and joy to 73 households. Other CSS projects during the 1983-84 fiscal year resulted in:

—Help for 31 families who were adopted by clubs and others for holiday giving.
—Accepting a car in running condition and giving it to a person in dire need of transportation.

—Accepting large numbers of pairs of new shoes from Dancer's department store and providing them for school recreation programs plus several families.

—Receiving a bunkbed/mattress from a local merchant for use by a sick child.

—Providing carbohydrate foods for a child, as ordered by a doctor.

—Locating relatives of a man who had died.

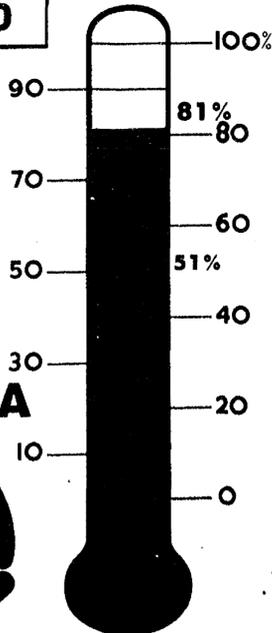

—Sharing of office with CSS outreach worker one-half day a week.

In addition, utility bills were paid to avoid shut-offs, oil was purchased for a person without fuel, gasoline was provided for individuals to meet appointments at medical offices and job inter-

Beginning early in the week, Chelsea residents could pass down the streets and see yellow ribbons tied to trees, poles, railings, bushes, signs, just about every stationary object. Clearing up questions of national, state and local interest, record numbers of voters poured out to the polls on Tuesday.

It was supposed to be a close race but, at a glance, the returns suggest that area voters agreed with the national majority in the busting of Jimmy Carter and the landslide election of Republican three-time presidential hopeful, Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Report Warns of County Jail Overcrowding

A study of the state's county jails, released recently by the Michigan Sheriffs' Association, said one out of every four county jails already is holding more than 100 percent of its population capacity, and warned that overcrowding could affect three out of every four jails in the future.

The study, based on a survey of the state's 83 county sheriffs, said the average jail was holding 88.7 percent of its total population capacity.

The survey showed that the total number of county jail beds had increased by some 20 percent over the past five years to approximately 7,300.

Even so, the utilization rate of those beds has also increased, the study said, as more and more people are being incarcerated in county facilities.

The report blamed the increased use of jail space on a larger population of young people who are more prone to commit crime, increased demands by the public for tougher penalties against crime, and cutbacks in human services, especially residential service for the mentally ill.

In March of this year, the study said, 50 percent of the state's county jails were 80 percent of capacity.

Approximately 25 percent were over 100 percent of capacity and one jail claimed it stood at 200 percent of capacity. The study also found that 25 out of the state's 83 jails rented space from other facilities.

The sheriffs' report also said that more than 180 lawsuits were started in 1983 related to conditions in overcrowded jails and nine facilities were under court control in an effort to resolve overcrowding.

Complicating the counties' efforts to resolve overcrowding, the study said, has been the cutoff of federal assistance, state requirements without any funding, and a Court of Appeals decision declaring a county jail overcrowding emergency powers act unconstitutional.

Local officials have been helped somewhat, the study reported, by recent legislation allowing for reimbursement for housing and medical expenses from prisoners and legislation permitting double bunking of cells in some instances.

Along with the study, officials of the Sheriffs' Association released a resolution, which the full association was expected to approve, calling for new legislation that would allow counties to divert prisoners away from jails if they were not considered dangerous, provide new funds for jail construction and to divert criminals sentenced for short periods to state prisoners, to county facilities while providing the funding needed to house those persons.

The group also would call for money to build new state prisons.

Study Disputes Assertions Of Dioxin in River Fish

A new study by state and federal agencies disputes findings of a 1983 Michigan State University study which showed high levels of dioxin in sport fish in 10 Lower Peninsula rivers.

The study by the Department of Natural Resources and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency noted that, aside from the Tittabawase River in Midland, the concentrations of dioxin in Michigan river fish are below 35 parts per trillion and are comparable to levels found by the EPA for other locations in the Midwest.

The new study showed low or non-detectable levels of dioxin in fish from 12 to 13 waterway samples.

As a result of the new testing, the Department of Public Health said the precautionary warnings issued in March, 1983, against frequent consumption of carp and suckers from major rivers in the Lower Peninsula can be lifted, with the exceptions of the Tittabawase and Saginaw Rivers.

The DNR and the EPA will continue to monitor dioxin levels in fish from the Tittabawase River through an agreement with the Dow Chemical Co.

Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions affecting that person, according to "A Working Woman's Guide to Her Job Rights," published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Clem Webster told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that he has no problem believing in William Tell, it's the Federal Government that giving him trouble. Clem had saw recent where Switzerland is in a stir over a textbook that has found its way in schools with sad word that the country's national hero is a fairy tale and nothing more.

From what he can learn, Clem said, this report is like telling American school children there weren't no George Washington. All the cherry tree chopping, apple splitting and assorted tall tales passed down about both fellers are a heap easier to swallow, Clem said, than some stuff passing fer truth out of Washington. Clem said he saw by the papers just before the 98th Congress passed into history that it spent $4,100 on Air Force planes to fly three Republican senators to Washington so they could vote to raise the national debt to $1.7 trillion.

Fer all their interest in money, Clem said, you'd think the Congress would remember to put enuff back to meet the payroll. But as regular as October they drain the well dry. Last month, 500,000 unnecessary workers were sent home because the Government had run out of money. If that ain't enough, Clem went on, the U. S. Office of Personnel Management has said the Federal Government has to many supervisors. The Government's civilian work force is at 2.1 million, according to a recent report, and it takes 36 percent of them to tell the rest what to do.

Actual, Clem said, he can believe in the percent of managers. You take away the 500,000 that ain't needed, and you figure 50 percent that's left don't know what they're supposed to do, and you come up with a one on one rate that about par fer most make work situations, was Clem's words.

Natural, Republican Ed Doolittle demanded equal time. He reminded the fellers that the Reagan Administration cut 100,000 off the federal civilian payroll, and this same Administration is finding out about the $7,600 coffeepots and $170 flashlights fer airplanes and showing folks what they're gitting fer their $333.7 billion defense bill. Ed said under the Democrats everybody was stealing the treasury blind and nobody was hearing about it.

Speaking of fairy tales, Ed went on, he said he had trouble with the claim that two candidates spend $20 million running for a U. S. Senate seat in North Carolina. Best he can figger, Ed said, that works out to $4 fer everybody in the state, and with the turnout what it was it washes out to more than $10 a vote.

General Zeke Grubb votes according to farm prices, so he went Democrat this time. He closed the session with a fairy tale about a boy that was trying to give away a litter of kittens he called Democrats and Republicans. When he showed em at the barbershop one customer ask the boy how he could tell which kitten was in which party. The boy said that was easy, the Democrats was the ones with their eyes open.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Staffan-Mitchell FUNERAL HOME

HOW DOES ONE DEAL WITH A DECEASED'S BELONGINGS?

One of the most painful jobs the family of the deceased must face after the funeral is the disposition of the deceased's personal possessions.

Hastily discarding possessions is not always the wise thing to do. Memorabilia can become valuable with time; not intrinsically, perhaps, but sentimentally.

Clothing, jewelry, books, a stamp collection, a camera, a pocket watch - are these items to be discarded? Or retained as keepsakes?

We've observed that many articles, like jewelry, or a watch, are not discarded; rather they are prized by members of the family as precious mementos. Nostalgia often takes over and a simple item, like a small pocket knife, becomes a son's pride and bittersweet pleasure.

Clothing, on the other hand, may find its way into the hands of the needy by way of a favored charity; or, very often, many mourners take great pleasure in seeing a close relative regaled in a favorite jacket, or a suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Earl Guenther

Karen Keiser, Keith Guenther Exchange Vows at St. Mary's

Karen Monica Keiser and Keith Earl Guenther exchanged vows on Oct. 12 at St. Mary's Catholic church before the Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis assisted by Deacon Richard Cesarz.

Kim Harvey sang "One Hand One Heart," "Ave Maria," and "You'll Never Walk Alone." Larry and Tim Guenther sang "I Will."

The wedding cake was cut by Teresa Burman and Linda Keiser during a reception at the Chrysler UAW Hall in Chelsea.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keiser from Gregory. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Guenther of Meadow Lane are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride wore a white bridal gown of chiffon, English net, and re-embroidered lace, with schiffli embroidery on the bodice, and renaissance sleeves with satin bows. The semi-cathedral train was trimmed with yards of chantilly lace. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white and huckleberry carnations touched with white huckleberry roses.

The bride's sister, Melisa Keiser of Gregory served as maid of honor. Her sister, Sandra Hawley of Munith was bridesmaid. Their costumes were old-fashioned gowns of tiny flowered print, accented with white eyelet lace and plum ribbons. They carried white lace parasols, touched with tiny huckleberry roses.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of lavender quiana complemented by a corsage of white and plum roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length gown of champagne quiana touched with plum.

Sheryl Keiser of Stockbridge, the bride's niece was the flower girl. Sean Perkins of Dexter bore the ring.

John Mason of Colorado served as best man. Dave Keiser, of Glazier Rd., brother of the bride, served as usher.

The newlyweds spent their honeymoon on a one-week Caribbean cruise.

Julie Barnes, Paul Signorello Are Wed in Ann Arbor Church

Julie K. Barnes and Paul A. Signorello were wed before 225 guests at the First United Methodist church in Ann Arbor by Dr. Donald D. Strobe.

Organist Mary Stubbins, and flutist, Glennis Stout performed "People" and "Romeo and Juliet."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnes of Maple Ct. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Signorello of Harper Woods.

Roy Kempainen of Gull Lake and Linda Barnes of Pinckney hosted the dinner dance that followed the ceremony at the Marriott Inn of Ann Arbor. Debbie Barnes of Holland handled the guest book.

The bride wore ivory, peau de sole, cathedral-length train with alencon lace and pearls. A halo of pearls held her finger-tip veil. She carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis pinned to the prayer book carried by Mrs. Barnes at her wedding.

Mrs. Roy Kempainen and Jane Barnes, both sisters of the bride, were matron and maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kimberly Harper-Slootman of Flint, Patti Wiese of Troy, and Susan Fattore of Harper Woods, the bridegroom's cousin.

Jane Barnes designed and made the attendant's costumes of royal blue taffeta. The gowns featured a full-length skirt, fitted bodice and puffed sleeves.

Lori Barnes, the bride's niece, carried a small basket of rose petals. The flower girl wore a white patiste dropped waist dress with a royal blue taffeta sash. A halo of babies breath crowned her hair.

The bride's mother dressed in a champagne crepe de chine floor-length gown. An orchid was pinned to her pearl purse. The bridegroom's mother was attired a periwinkle blue crepe gown with an orchid corsage.

Charles Signorello, Jr., the bridegroom's brother, acted as best man. The bride's nephew, John Kempainen served as ringbearer.

Ushers included the bride's brothers, James Barnes of Pinckney, and Dan Barnes of Holland. Other ushers were Bill Rollins, Christopher Stemszyski and Steve Fattore, the bridegroom's cousin, all of Harper Woods.

The couple traveled to Boston, and Nantucket, Mass. for their wedding trip. They returned to a Lake of the Woods apartment in Ypsilanti.

The bride works for Faber Travel Agency. She graduated from Chelsea High school and Michigan State University. The bridegroom is an accountant with the Chrysler Corp. He attended Grosse Pointe North High school and graduated from Michigan State University.

views. Clean, wearable clothing was accepted and distributed.

CSS carries a substantial supply of staple food products in its offices. These surplus items include dried milk, peanut butter, tuna, canned vegetables, canned soups, rice, noodles, spaghetti and spaghetti sauce. If perishable items or food for special diets are needed, CSS issues purchase orders for local stores.

Linda Ormsby, director, and her assistant, Jackie Reithmiller, receive modest compensation for their part-time services. Officers and directors of CSS are Don Dancer, president, Harold Jones, treasurer, Jean Eaton, Charles Lancaster, Edith Hoffman, Katherine Wagner and Don Cole.

All of these leaders in CSS join with other volunteers in the labors of the agency.

The agency has offices and storage space, rent free, in the village hall and is open Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mrs. Ormsby may be reached by phone evenings or week-ends at 475-7405 and Mrs. Reithmiller's home phone is 475-1925. All Chelsea area residents are invited to donate money, clothing, food, fuel or merchandise vouchers, and everyone is urged to support Chelsea United Way.

Loch Alpine Group To Hold Craft Fair

The Loch Alpine arts and crafts group will hold a fair on Saturday, Nov. 3, from 10-4 at the Webster Township Community Building on Webster Church Rd. between Joy and Territorial Rds.

Works of about 40 craftsmen will be shown in 26 booths, and offered for sale.

Spokesperson Jan Sing urged the public "to come and look, even if you don't want to buy. We will have a lot of interesting articles on display."

Items offered will include dried flowers, quilts, ceramics, stenciling, basketry, oil paintings, pottery, wood carvings, and handmade teddy bears and dolls.

Loft Gallery To Hold Wildlife Art Exhibition

The Loft art gallery at 108 E. Middle St., Chelsea, will hold its grand re-opening Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 3-4, featuring five outstanding wildlife artists and wood carvers.

Hours will be 10-5 Saturday and 11-4 Sunday. Refreshments will be served.

Guest artists, who will be present in person, include Cathy McClung of Dexter and Harry Antis of Ann Arbor. Also on hand will be Mario Fernandez of Minneapolis, Minn., a newcomer on the wildlife art scene, painter Rod Lawrence and Mike Van Houzen, who is a wood carver specializing in songbirds.

Both original paintings and prints will be available for sale during the show, as will carvings.

McClung recently won second place in the annual Michigan Wildlife Artist of the Year competition with a painting featuring a gray squirrel. She hopes to have a print of another picture, titled "Forest Floor," available for release at this weekend's show.

Approximately 1.5 million copies of printed materials were distributed in response to more than 490,000 requests for data and other information from the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics during the 1983 fiscal year, according to the department's annual report.

Christmas cards and other gift items will also be displayed, Loft owner Walter Brown said. The gallery moved into its new location after nine months of extensive renovations to the building.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

This is a follow-up on last week's column about Proposal C, the so-called Voter's Choice amendment which, if adopted, would roll back all state and local taxes to Dec. 31, 1981, and require that any increases approved after that date be put up for public vote in order to be continued.

A spokesperson for the group promoting Proposal C telephoned last week to say that it was not their intent to make school districts renew millages adopted since 1981. She suggested that opponents and the news media were conspiring to discredit the proposal by saying that school millages would have to be renewed by referendum within 90 days after adoption of the amendment.

Believe me, I'm not conspiring with anybody to do anything. I'm taking the word of responsible people, including the neutral Citizens Research Council and some knowledgeable attorneys, that the language of Proposal C means exactly what it says. What it says, among other things, is that all tax increases since the end of 1981 at the state or local level must be re-validated by popular vote. There is nothing in there to exclude school taxes.

The "hooker" phrase in Proposal C is that which says any legal tax proposal must include a statement of "total anticipated revenue" in dollars, and that is retroactive to 1981. I have never seen such a statement on any school millage proposal among the many that I have voted on over the years, and I don't know how an honest projection could be made.

Tax bases change along with rates. There is no way of forecasting to the dollar the amount of money that a long-term millage will raise during its life-time, unless the base is frozen. Proposal C includes a provision to lock in the base, unless increased by either voter approval or a four-fifths majority of the appropriate governing unit.

I agree with Chelsea school superintendent Ray Van Meer who told me: "Hey, we (school districts) have been 'voter's choice' all along. Every tax increase we get has to be approved by the voters, and we shouldn't have to go out and do it all over again. That's why we're fighting Proposal C."

He's logical and right, and I don't blame Ray or other school officials for coming down hard against the amendment.

If Proposal C is adopted on Nov. 6, there will be a flurry of court cases filed to determine exactly what the language of the amendment means. School districts might eventually be exempted by legal decision, but there is no guarantee of that at this point.

What I dislike most about Proposal C is that it corrupts a couple of basic principles upon which our system of government is founded. One is representation, by which we elect officials to act for us. The other is majority rule.

Admittedly, our elected representatives, from the president right on down, have acted irresponsibly in their handling of the public purse. They have spent our tax money as if there were no tomorrow. Somehow or other, they must be accountable for the way they dole out our dollars.

One of the more absurd arguments favoring Proposal C that we heard was made in an editorial by a Detroit TV station. It pointed out, correctly, that state government has dug itself out of the red and projects a half-billion dollar surplus next year. Then came the suggestion that something is therefore wrong and that taxes should be cut instead of putting money into a "budget stabilization" fund.

What is so wrong with the idea of stashing a few bucks in the bank as a hedge against the next economic recession, which is bound to occur sooner or later? The important thing is to make sure the surplus sits there and earns interest until it's really needed. The account should not be eyed as a blank check to increase spending.

Requiring a fourth-fifths majority vote by any governing body in order to increase the tax base or rate would mean inviting minority rule, which is entirely foreign to our system.

A determined special-interest group with some lobbying resources doesn't have much trouble lining up 20-plus percent of any group of lawmakers on its side. If that's all it took to defeat any piece of legislation, mighty few would ever be passed.

It would require, for example, 88 votes out of 110 to get a money bill through the Michigan House of Representatives, 30 of 33 to pass one through the State Senate. That level of mutual agreement just wouldn't happen very often.

Locally, six of the seven members of the Chelsea village board would have to approve any measure which would cost a new dollar. That just plain isn't realistic.

As I said last week, I'm all for putting a curb on government spending, but I don't think Proposal C is it. There has to be a better way.

Public Hearing Set on Teklin Rezoning Request

A public hearing on a rezoning request by Teklin Corp. is scheduled for the Nov. 20 village council meeting.

Teklin is requesting rezoning to build an apartment complex on 8.2 acres of land on the north side of Old US-12 east of Arthur St. Teklin plans to build between 28 and 32 1- and 2-bedroom apartments. A site plan has not yet been submitted.

Teklin is a real estate development company with projects in Grand Rapids, Holland, Traverse City and the Upper Peninsula. The corporation does not have any developments in the Chelsea area as yet, said John Schneider, head of the real estate division, but has 14 projects under construction throughout the state.

Teklin originally asked for rezoning from low density residential (RS-2) to high density residential (RM-2). The planning commission recommended rezoning to medium density residential (RM-1) to the village council at its Oct. 9 meeting.

Medium density zoning would be acceptable, Schneider said. Under medium zoning, Teklin would be allowed to build a maximum of 8.9 dwelling units per acre. The company had wanted to build between 8 and 10.

High density residential permits a maximum of 18 dwellings per acre. Low density allows 1.1 to 4 units per acre.

The property's owners are James L. and Florence R. Warden of Dexter. According to Charles Winans, assistant village administrator, sale of the property is contingent on rezoning.

The project may run into trouble with the village waste water treatment plant which is working over-capacity.

"That's something that has to be addressed at the site-plan level. The village doesn't know how much (capacity) they will need," said Winans.

Schneider said Teklin's engineers were investigating the problem.

The planning commission recommended medium density zoning based on a report by Carl V. Schmull, Jr., professional community planner.

In general, the report said the village general development plan specifies low-density residential for that area. High-density development would cause the loss of most of the trees and require mass grading because of sloping. Medium density would fit in better with existing housing.

Teklin is hoping to receive financing for the project from the Farmer's Home Administration, a federal agency which provides seed money for farms and equipment. The company will know if they have the financing four to six months after rezoning, said Schneider.

A market study will determine the final number of apartments. The study will be done after rezoning.

"The market we're after is high school graduates, school teachers, city employees, retirees, and people moving off the farms. They have the highest need for housing. High school graduates can't find apartments in Chelsea so they move, to neighboring cities. If there were good housing, it would help keep them around," said Schneider.

"The main reason we are in Chelsea is because it shows such good market need," he said.

According to Schneider, the company's strong point is in landscaping.

"We do a lot of islands and boulevards. We do hire locally. We do on-site construction. We don't haul in modulars," said Schneider.

Teklin chose the site because it's secluded and has adequate road and utilities, except for waste water, said Schneider.

Polls show that newspaper advertising is considered more believable than that of any other medium.

VFW National Commander Visits Chelsea Post

The VFW National Commander-in-Chief of the United States was well received in his brief visit to the Chelsea post on Oct. 23.
 The commander, Billy Ray Cameron from North Carolina, chose to visit eight smaller posts in District No. 6 which included Chelsea. Traveling with him were the Michigan commander Dino Costantine, Pat Foley, editor-in-chief of the Michigan Overseas Veterans Newspaper and their driver.
 Escorting the dignitaries from the I-94 expressway exit were police chief, Len McDougall; fire chief, Bud Harker; fireman, Doug Eder; first commander of the Chelsea post 4076, Charlie Ritter; and members Mac Packard and Fremont Boyer. An aisle of colors awaited the commander at the Chelsea post.
 Village president Jerry Satterthwaite presented Cameron with an engraved silver mug. Members of the village council who came were Jim Finch and Stephanie (Sis) Kanten. John Mitchell, representing the Sesquicentennial committee, presented the commander with a cap. Commander of the local post, Gary Erskine, gave him a Chelsea's three-day "celebration" last week-end was a grand success—Thursday's dedication of the parking lot; Friday's Chelsea-Dexter game, won by the Chelsea Bulldogs and followed by a dance at the parking lot; and Saturday's Kiwanis-sponsored Halloween party attended by an estimated 500 youngsters.

Thursday, Nov. 9, 1950—Albert C. Johnsen, superintendent of the Chelsea Agricultural schools has been authorized by the Board of Education to investigate the possibility of opening the Savage school to accommodate pupils from the overcrowded third and fifth grades of the Chelsea school. This action followed a thorough discussion of possible solutions to the problem of Monday's regular board meeting after a committee of teachers had appeared before the board requesting relief for conditions in the two grades.
 Republicans received sweeping majorities in the Nov. 7 election of state and county officials with the exception of the race for governor where unofficial and incomplete returns yesterday showed that contest to be the closest one in years.
 Harry F. Kelly had a total of 20,799 votes last night as against 14,366 for Gov. G. Mennen Williams. A few precincts in the upper part of the state were still to be heard from when these totals were announced.
 Chelsea's power supply was strongly reinforced when Consumers Power Company's new Sylvan substation was placed in service this week.
 Located on Williams St. just south of Chandler St., the new substation will relieve the older Chelsea substation at Main and Van Buren Sts. of all load except that of the Federal Screw plant and the village light and water department.
 The Armed Forces are now included in labor force data gathered by the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, according to the department's latest annual report.

High School Plans Guest Speaker

Chelsea schools will only have a half day of school on Nov. 7. But while the elementary and middle schools will be having parent-teacher conferences, Chelsea High school will have a guest speaker.

Bill Sanders, a professional motivational speaker, will motivate students during the morning and staff during the afternoon.

The morning assembly will include the topics of Peer Pressuritis, How To Develop Self Esteem, Why Set Goals?, What Are They Thinking of Me? Other subjects will be the importance of respect and taking responsibility for actions.

Topics for the teachers will be How To Get Recharged, How To Look Within Ourselves And Find Ways To Fall Back in Love with Our Profession of Teaching, and Are We Teaching Or Touching Lives? Sanders will also talk on the importance of teamwork, learning from students and staff, taking down defenses and not taking ourselves seriously.

The presentation is co-sponsored by student council and the Staff Development for School Improvement committee.

According to principal John

Williams, the presentation should be "laughter-filled and fast-moving."

A business major, Sanders taught business before becoming a professional motivational speaker. He studied under other motivational speakers including Norman Vincent Peale, Zig Ziglar and Wayne Dyer.

Sanders is a member of the National Speakers Association. He is an active brother in the Big Brothers Association.

He conducts assemblies nationwide including California and Georgia.

VFW Post To Give 100 Halloween Gifts to Children

Chelsea VFW Post and Auxiliary 4076 will pass out 100 coupon gifts to the first 100 children under age 12 on Halloween night who stop by the post before 6 p.m.

Free hot coffee will be available for adults.

The auxiliary will also take special Halloween favors to all patients at the Chelsea Community Hospital on Oct. 31.

HALLOWEEN GREETER: This amazingly life-like figure was put on the front porch of the Ishmael Picklesimer home at 460 North St. in preparation for Halloween. It attracted a lot of attention, and one driver veered over the curb while gawking at it. Mrs. Picklesimer said that the stuffed figure, dressed in a blue snowmobile suit and knee boots, was not supposed to represent anybody in particular, but agreed it is certainly something different in the way of Halloween displays.

CHS Varsity Debate Team Places Third

Chelsea High school varsity debate team placed third out of 15 schools at a tournament on Saturday, Oct. 27 at Grand Rapids Christian High school.

"The team has really improved over last year. It looks like this team this year could really do well," said coach Brian Kruger.

The team's standing after two tournaments is 12-4.

The novice debate team also showed "marked improvement," said Kruger.

Debating on the affirmative side for the varsity team were Joshua Smith and David Mayer. They won three out of four rounds. On the negative side debated Susan Overdorf and Laura Goderis who also won three out of four.

Affirmative debaters on the novice team were Angie Brand and Heather Grenier. Football player Steve Whitesall and Mike Goodwin took the negative side. They won three out of four.

"This is the first time we got a football player to come up for the team," said Kruger.

The topic the team will debate all year is "resolved that the United States government should provide employment for all employable citizens living in poverty," said Kruger.

State Special Olympics Seeks Area Director

Michigan Special Olympics is seeking a volunteer area director to co-ordinate activities in Washtenaw county.

The director, who must be a resident of Washtenaw county, area 20, has the responsibility for managing the Special Olympics program in that area. Working closely with the State Special Olympics office, the director plans and carries out such activities as competitive games, public awareness campaigns, training programs and fund-raising efforts.

Leadership abilities, good communications skills and administrative experience are necessary. Prior experience with Special Olympics would be helpful.

Special Olympics is an international program of athletic training and competition for the mentally impaired. Michigan Special Olympics, headquartered at Central Michigan University, works with 27 area directors throughout the state.

Those interested in serving as the volunteer area director should contact Cindy Rudert, Michigan Special Olympics, 126 Rowe Hall, CMU, Mt. Pleasant 48859, (517) 774-3102 or (517) 774-3911.

WILDLIFE ART GALLERY - CUSTOM FRAMING UNIQUE GIFTS & POSTERS

RELOCATION GRAND OPENING

Saturday & Sunday, Nov. 3 - 4

On Oct. 15 we started moving into our new gallery located at 108 E. Middle St., in Chelsea. We have been in the process of renovating the 100-year-old building for the past nine months. One of our challenges was to preserve as much of the old building charm as possible and still provide a unique setting for an art gallery and gift shop. We think you will be pleasantly surprised with what has been accomplished.

You are invited to join us for a gala grand opening. Come and meet five of the finest artists and carvers in the country who will be present for the two-day event with their latest releases available.

MEET and Visit With:

- ★ MARIO FERNANDEZ, the "hottest" wildlife artist in the country right now.
- ★ CATHY McCLUNG hopes to have her newest print release as well as a new Christmas card and some originals.
- ★ ROD LAWRENCE will have a print release as well as some originals.
- ★ HARRY ANTIS will be introducing a series of four companion prints at the grand opening.
- ★ MIKE VAN HOUZEN, considered one of the finest carvers of song birds in the country, will have several birds available.

Don't Miss This Gala Event!

North Sharon Bible Names New Pastor

Pastor Timothy E. Booth has recently arrived in Grass Lake accepting the call from North Sharon Bible church to be their pastor. Pastor Booth began his ministry as pastor of North Sharon Bible church (located at the corner of Sylvan and Washburne Rds.) on Oct. 17.

Prior to coming to Grass Lake, Pastor Booth served 3½ years as assistant pastor at the large First Baptist church of Santa Maria, Calif. After resigning there, Booth travelled for a year preaching revival meetings with notable success. Recently the pastor took a struggling small congregation in San Luis Obispo, Calif., and saw it double in attendance and membership and become more financially stable.

Pastor Booth received his education at Hyles-Anderson College in Hammond, Ind., where after four years he graduated with a BS degree in pastoral theology. The college is a ministry of First Baptist church of Hammond, under the leadership of Dr. Jack Hyles. Booth was ordained at First Baptist of Hammond in May of 1978.

Pastor Booth has a wife, Jennifer (originally from Chelsea) and four children, Timothy 11,

Pastor Timothy E. Booth

Shelly, 5, Jonathan, 4, and Paul, 2.

Pastor Booth is very optimistic concerning the potential of North Sharon Bible church and North Sharon Christian school. The church provides the Booths with a three-bedroom parsonage located across the road from the church.

Bible Prophecy Program Slated at Free Methodist

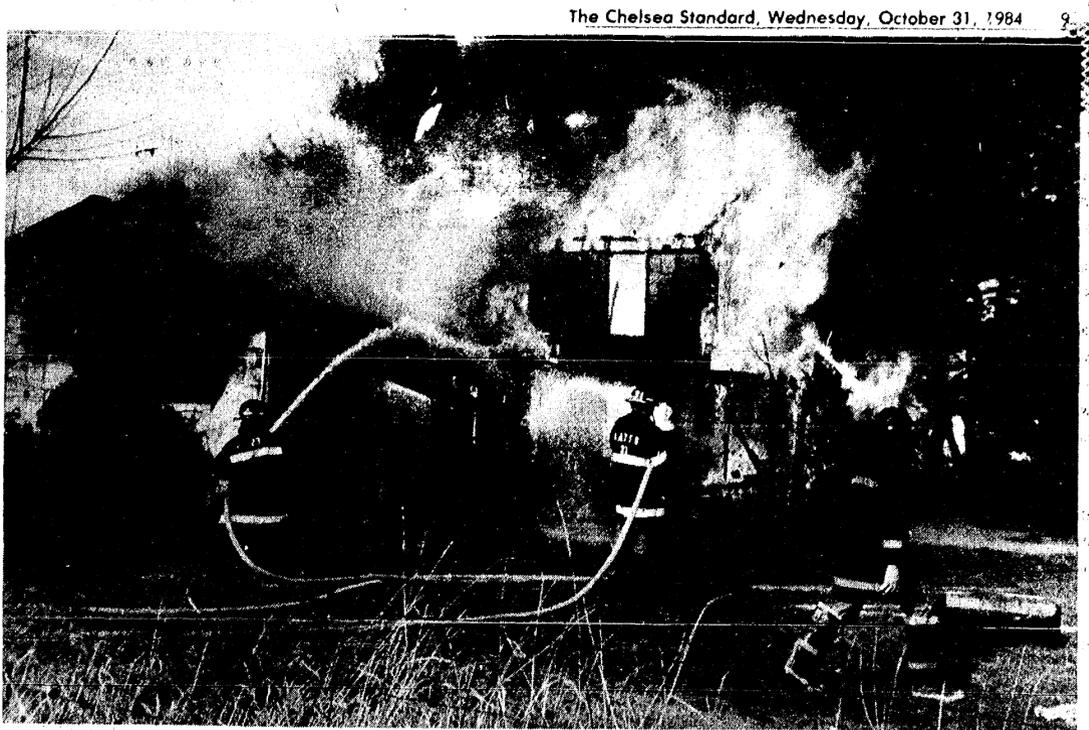

A series of nine studies on Bible Prophecy illustrated with more than 2,000 color slides will be presented by the Rev. Royal W. Edwards at the Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7665 Werkner Rd., Chelsea. Six projectors are used with dissolve control to produce multiple images on a 12'x 30' wide screen. Hundreds of professional quality slides are used to make each study an impressive and unforgettable viewing and listening experience. This is a clear and understandable presentation from scripture of a most timely and interesting subject.

The Rev. Edwards developed his interest in Bible Prophecy from his father who spent his life in a teaching ministry on the subject. He also lectures on health, nutrition, exercise, and fasting. He has studied and personally practiced principles in this area for many years.

The Rev. Edwards pastored several churches in southern California and Arizona for 20 years, but now devotes full time to bringing this presentation to churches throughout the U.S. and Canada. He initially studied mechanical engineering for three years followed by two years in the military, including service in the Korean conflict, before attending graduate school and entering the ministry. He has also served as a principal in private Christian elementary and junior high schools and taught for Azusa Pacific and Chapman Colleges. A father of four, Edwards is a distance runner, having completed a 26-mile Marathon run.

The lectures are free to the public and Pastor Mearl Bradley invites the community to this outstanding event. It begins Sunday, Nov. 4 at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m., and each night during the week at 7 p.m., closing the following Sunday night, Nov. 11, with a service at 6 p.m. The lecture on health and nutrition is on Saturday, Nov. 10, at 7 p.m.

FARMHOUSE ABLAZE: Firefighters training exercises drew both novices and experienced firefighters for a full day of training in the Chelsea fire district, Sunday, Oct. 27. Basic 66 training centered on safe and effective use of airpaks and ladders, while Phase IV training included instruction on fire hoses and fire streams. Smoke drill training, cutting vents to draw smoke on rooftops, and many other facets of training occupied the firefighters from eight various departments. Dexter Chief Mike Collins, Chelsea Chief Bud Hanker, Superior township Chief Darryl Trotter, Northville township Chief Hollis Close and Salem township Chief Bill Hirth, all attended, along with dozens of their colleagues.

World Community Day Slated Friday

Church Women United of Chelsea invite you to join in celebrating World Community Day on Friday, Nov. 2, at the North Lake Methodist church on North Territorial Rd., starting with a 10 a.m. kaffee-klatch.

The program theme is, "A Place Called Home," and guest speakers will be Pat Hepp of Lansing Catholic Social Services, director of resettlement, and Carol Kern of East Lansing, a volunteer worker with Southeast Asian refugees. A display of Laotian needlework will be available to purchase.

On this day, Church Women United members throughout the United States will direct their prayers to the plight of refugees and the homeless throughout the world and within our midst.

Invite a friend, and if you would like to contribute rolls or coffee-cake it will be appreciated. Child care is provided.

Manchester Methodist Church Plans Family Style Harvest Dinner

The 33rd annual Family Style Harvest Dinner will be served at the Manchester United Methodist church on Wednesday, Nov. 7 from 5 to 8 p.m. Advance ticket sale only must be observed for attendance again this year. Tickets may be obtained from church members, the Krauss Pharmacy and the church office. Reservations may be made through the church office, 428-8495 by calling between the hours of 8 and 11 a.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays as long as tickets last. Take-outs may be had through advance ticket or reservation sale also.

All who have tickets or reservations must enter the church at the front door-on-the-hill except the handicapped who may come in through the portico door at ground level at the parking lot. This is the exit for all. This ruling is to avoid a "traffic jam" in the lower hallway to the parking lot.

Hospital Plans Christmas Bazaar Nov. 2

Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary's bazaar should be a good place to select Christmas ornaments and gifts. All items to be sold at the bazaar were handcrafted by hospital volunteers.

The bazaar takes place Friday, Nov. 2, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. in the hospital's dining room corridor.

Besides handcrafted Christmas items, the bazaar will hold a raffle. Prizes offered are a Sunshine and Shadow comforter made by the auxiliary members; a painting by Dorothy Miller who founded the auxiliary, and a quilted wall hanging.

The bazaar will also have a baked goods section. Money raised from the bazaar will help fund Auxiliary projects including health career scholarships and the summer speech and learning program.

Chelsea Fire Dept. Hosts Area Training Exercises

Chelsea was the center of firefighter training for members of several area fire departments, Sunday, Oct. 28, as training exercises were held for both the novice and the experienced firefighters.

Chief Darryl Trotter, chief of the Superior township fire department, was the instructor for Phase IV training, and Chelsea's Danny Ellenwood instructed the Basic 66 class for beginning firefighters.

Participating in the Basic 66 class centered on use of airpaks and ladders, were Keith O'Neil, Bob Gray, Don Dettling, Jim Leach, Kevin Van Orman, and Frank Blackwell, all Chelsea firefighters, as well as Dexter's Larry Josephson, Kevin Bradbury, and Derek Wiseley. From Saline, firefighters James Ginotti and Don Sanford took part in the Basic 66 training, and Ann Arbor township's David Tanner and Bradley Tanner participated. Superior township's firefighters Marshal Sheaffer, and Barry Rogers were part of that training, as well as Glenn Glineske and Dan Fleck of Manchester's department, and Hamburg township firefighters Bradley Bethke and Bill McCormick, and Mike Burns from Northfield township fire department.

Participating, as listed in the sign-in sheet, in the Phase IV training, which emphasized effective and safe use of fire hoses and fire streams, were Dean R. Wurster of Ann Arbor township, Salem township's Thomas Veran, and James Ginotti and Gerald B. Dunn of Superior township. From Chelsea, Robert Draper, Marvin Schiller, Merle Leach, and Gerald Kenney took part, and Hollis Close, John Reuter, Ronald Miller, Roger Gorte, Mike Burns and Bill Wiechman participated from the Northfield township department. Saline firefighters Richard Weisenmeyer and Jan Losee were also part of the training group, and Dexter's Ronald R. Chabot, Eric P. Bernhardt and Ray Boff.

A host of firefighters from the various departments assisted in the training sessions, and many department chiefs and assistant chiefs were on hand to lend their expertise as well.

Chelsea fire hall was the site of an early morning breakfast for many of the participants, prior to the actual training. Most of the visitors, and members of the host department, took advantage of the offer. Cooks for the breakfast included Bob Smith, president of the Dexter Firemen's Association, and Chelsea's Doug Eder, Don "Ducky" Dettling and Keith O'Neil. The menu included ham-and-egg quiche, blueberry muffins, ham slices, coffee and orange juice, as well as milk. No complaints were heard from the diners.

Following the breakfast, it was "on to the burnings" as the fire trucks from the various departments, and the army of firefighters headed to the rural Rowe Rd. site where permission had been given for the training exercise.

Chelsea Explorer post members Andy Box, Jeff McDougall and Dan Ellenwood attended the day-long exercises, and helped the firemen in many capacities.

Experienced firefighters were assigned to assist the novices throughout the training day, so

Rd. As a safety precaution, Chelsea's Jerry Kenney, center background of photo, counted the firefighters as they entered the smoke-filled farmhouse with their airpaks, and again as they exited.

DANNY ELLENWOOD of Chelsea checks a chin strap on Superior township firefighter Judy "Bones" Grosshans' helmet. "You need to be sure that strap is under your mask, right next to your neck, to avoid the helmet being ripped off when you remove the mask," Ellenwood told the novice firefighters. Day-long training exercises were held at the old O'Connor farm site, on Rowe Rd. Firefighters attending the training included both novice and experienced personnel Sunday, Oct. 27.

that additional safety could be provided, as well as exchange of information among the training groups.

Each firefighter is required to participate in 240 hours of supervised instruction by the state. Training is set up under the auspices of the Michigan Firefighters Training Council, headquartered in Lansing.

The farmhouse at the O'Connor farm was used for the firefighter training after the state put the buildings up for bid, and no bids were forthcoming. Arrangements were made with the assistance of Department of Natural Resources personnel.

Firefighters donned their airpaks and crawled through the smoke-filled farmhouse several times during the day. Chief Trotter explained each time the group entered the farmhouse, firefighter Jerry Kenney counted them, one by one, then hurried to the place where they exited, making sure the count tallied with the entering people.

Whistles or bells, depending on the individual equipment, signaled "three minutes of air remaining" for firefighters wearing the airpaks, and a squad truck driven by firefighter Al D'Agostino from the Pittsfield township fire department provided equipment to fill the empty airpaks so they might be re-used.

Dexter fire department's recently acquired 3,000-gallon (11,356 liters for the metric-minded) FOL-DA-TANK was in use during Sunday's training exercises, as well as a similar tank from the Chelsea department. Both these tanks were used to supply water to a Saline Fire Dept. truck, later, to a truck from the Northfield township department when the pump in the Saline truck had problems. The water was supplied from a pond in a nearby gravel pit, and from a nearby lake.

Both instructors cited the training as highly successful. All participants, advisors, instructors, and service personnel, reported they were pleased and ready for their trip homeward at day's end.

Night of Knights Medieval Festival A Success Oct. 25

The Night of Knights captured an estimated 750 lords and ladies on Oct. 25 at North school. The medieval fair featured courtly entertainment, games, and a feast. The feast was a new feature this year and a resounding success. North school's parent-teacher association (PTN) sponsored the fair and sold out of over 250 dragon-broasted chickens and 100 dragon dogs. Court musicians were the Chelsea - Suzuki Violins and Cellos. Pat Sterling, teacher, and Debbie Stanton directed student musicians in grades first through fourth. University of Michigan music students also performed. Games included knocking bowling pins over with bows and rubber-tipped arrows, and getting prize-filled eggs out of a fish-bowl. The fair also featured a haunted house, and a flying tortoise ride. The tortoise ride is set up on a wooden floor and has little green seats. If the handle-bars are wiggled, the seats spin around. Lynn and Bob Culver organized participation in the fair. "Their hard work and super effort made the fair a time of fun and sharing," said William Wescott, North school principal. Members of the Senior Citizen Center also came to the fair. Money from the fair will fund PTN projects. The PTN has purchased a spiral slide, video recorder, and full video screen for the cafeteria.

Eighth Grade Girls Cagers Win, Lose Two

Chelsea eighth grade girls basketball team defeated Saline and Milan but lost to Tecumseh and Lincoln. Chelsea lost to Tecumseh, 41-14. "Tecumseh has an outstanding team and plays a zone which is extremely tough to score against," explained coach Jon Schaffner. Leading scorers were Shannon Losey and Kim Easton with four points each. Heather Neibauer captured five rebounds and Losey captured four. Chelsea defeated Saline, 22-17. Lead scorer was Easton with eight points and five steals. Losey made four points and four rebounds. Leading rebounder was Lisa Taylor with six. Kelly Scott made six steals. Anna Harden stole three. Chelsea won the Milan game, 26-13. Laura Unterbrink led scoring with seven points, and five rebounds. Jeannie Hiem had five points and six rebounds. Losey earned four points. Scott made eight steals; Candy Collins, six and Easton, five. Chelsea fell to Lincoln, 24-10. "Lincoln has an excellent team just like Tecumseh. Each has one loss as they split their two games. Shannon Losey did an outstanding job of defense on their superstar. Chelsea led at the half but couldn't score the second half," said Schaffner. Leading scorer was Unterbrink with four points and four steals. Heim, Taylor, and Losey caught five rebounds each. Scott contributed seven steals. Chelsea's record is 5-4 with one game to go.

Mary Boylan Named to Siena Student Senate

Mary Boylan of Chelsea, a 1981 graduate of Chelsea High school, was recently selected senior class representative on the Student Senate at Siena Heights College. Boylan, the daughter of Agnes and Keith Boylan, is majoring in art. The Student Senate, an organization which promotes communication between students, faculty, and administration at Siena, also plans social activities for the campus community. Siena Heights College is an independent, accredited, coeducational, liberal-arts college offering associate, bachelor, and master degrees in 34 programs of study. Siena was founded by the Adrian Dominican Congregation in 1919 as its first institution of higher education.

Matt Hubal Wins In Ann Arbor Library Contest

Matt Hubal, an eighth grade Beach Middle school student, won second place in the Design a Bookmark contest sponsored by the Ann Arbor public library. Hubal is the son of Louise and Bruce Hubal of Wagon Wheel Court. He will be a guest at an awards banquet in November and will be featured in the Ann Arbor News. The title of Hubal's bookmark is "Let Your Mind Power Soar" and shows a bird flying. On the bottom, the bookmark states "Bring on the Books" and lists the titles of several books including "Hamlet," "Around the World in 80 Days," and "The Pearl."

Manchester Optimists Honor Patrick Ridenour

At its dinner meeting on Oct. 8 the Manchester Optimists honored Patrick Ridenour as "Citizen of the Month" for September. Pat is the son of Charles and Kay Ridenour of Sharon Valley Rd. Superintendent of schools Gene Thompson in introducing Pat to the Optimists commented that not only was he an outstanding student but also a "fine young man who was not embarrassed to hold his mother's chair as she sat down to dinner." Pat has been on the Manchester High school honor roll for three years. He also played junior varsity and varsity basketball for four years where he was captain of the team and recognized as all-region. As quarterback of the varsity football team Pat is a captain and has been recognized as all-region, most improved, and all-Lenawee county. In addition to varsity football and basketball Pat has played varsity baseball for four years where he was also captain, and all-region. Pat's college plans are to major in engineering. Although currently undecided he is considering either Central Michigan University or Adrian College.

Hunting Pressure Said Way Below Normal So Far This Season

Hunting pressure is way below normal during the fall season so far, and so is success, according to reports accumulated to date.

"I honestly don't understand it," said George Rob, manager of the Waterloo Recreation Area. "Pheasants and ruffed grouse are down, but we have a lot of deer, squirrels and rabbits. What we don't have are hunters."

As of last Monday, the area headquarters had registered just two deer kills by archers, and only one had been reported to The Standard office.

"We've got deer all over the place out here," Rob said. "There are so many that they are close to becoming nuisance animals in some localities. They're chewing up unharvested crops on adjoining private farms. The deer are there, but the hunters aren't. I drive around through the area every day, but I don't see many hunters or their vehicles."

There were few squirrel hunter out during the early part of the season, Rob said, even though the animals may be at a 20-year high in numbers.

Cottontail rabbits are likewise close to population peak, but apparently few hunters were looking for them when the season opened on Oct. 20.

Despite advance hope that the local pheasant crop might be up a bit, the results tallied by the Jackson district office of the Department of Natural Resources reflect a bleak opening day.

Bag checks showed an average of one bird per five hunters, and they ran as low as one per 20 in some areas. "That just isn't good enough to keep people interested and trying," a DNR spokesman at Jackson said. "We had hoped for something better, but our worst fears were realized. There obviously aren't many pheasants out there."

Rob said he anticipates a resurgence of deer hunting when the firearm season opens on Thursday, Nov. 15. "If we don't get a big turn-out on that day and the following weekend, then I'll have to begin to believe there has been a major loss of interest."

"I thought we would have a lot of hunters out for the small game opener on Oct. 20, especially because it fell on Saturday. Actually, it was a very quiet day. We didn't have any more people in the (Waterloo) area than we have on any other fall Saturday."

"I'm in the kind of strange position of inviting people to come out and hunt. We have lots of deer, squirrels and rabbits. We can't promise much in the way of birds—pheasants, grouse and woodcock—because they all are way down, but there is enough legal game to make hunting worthwhile."

"In some past years we've had to worry about overcrowding during the hunting seasons. This year we're worrying about not enough hunters to take the available game crop."

Conservation Officer Craig Wales has a slightly different perspective. He has been working primarily in the Pinckney-to-Gregory area.

"I think I've seen about as many hunters as I did last year," Wales said, "maybe a few less." "I agree that success is down, especially among archers who should be doing well on deer. The comparison on hunter numbers may not mean much, because we didn't have a lot last year."

"I believe the pheasant situation has turned off small game hunters," Wales continued. "They go out looking for birds, don't find any, get discouraged, and don't come back. There just aren't many pheasants."

A suggestion was made that one reason for the dearth of hunters may be the resurgence in Michigan's economy, especially the automobile industry. Workers who have been called back from long layoffs may not want to risk their chances for continued employment by taking time off to go hunting.

Deer-Car Crashes in Peak Season

Few people would spend more than $8,000 to bag a deer, but that's what it likely would cost if you hit a deer while driving in Michigan.

Deer-vehicle accidents in the state reached a record high in 1983, with 21,509 accidents reported, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) said.

They cost a total of $37.1 million, including $24.7 million in property damage, averaging out to $8,600 per accident.

The record also included two fatalities and 1,141 injuries. In 1982, there were 19,614 accidents including one fatality and 1,049 injuries.

Now that the deer mating season is in full gear, MDOT safety officials warn drivers to be especially alert for deer running across the road in front of their vehicles.

They advise drivers to slow down immediately if they spot a deer because others are probably nearby. Tooting the horn may help turn them away from the road.

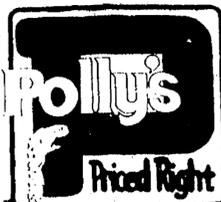

The bulk of deer-vehicle accidents occur in October, November and December, and deer tend to be more active during the hours just before sunrise and sunset.

Drivers are also advised to use safety restraints and be sure to buckle their young children in legally-mandated child restraint devices.

Tree Identification In Winter Subject Of Nature Hike

Identification of trees in winter, when their leaves are down, will be the subject of a Waterloo Nature Center guided tour beginning at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 3.

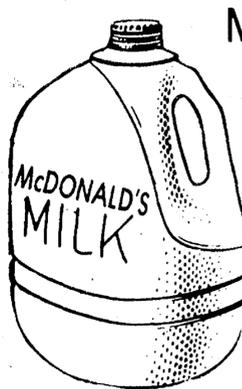

Naturalist Linda Caroon will conduct the hike and instruct on how to identify trees by their shape, bark, buds and other characteristics after the leaves have fallen.

Housewives Return to School, Start Their Own Business

Entrepreneurs are risk-takers—people who are willing to invest in a gamble. Michigan Technical Institute, located in Ann Arbor, boasts three such entrepreneur grads who parlayed their education into a successful business venture. Following is their story.

A few years ago, after more than two decades of homemaking and raising three children, Ruth Leach stepped out on a limb and took a risk. With enthusiastic support from her husband and children, she decided to go back to school. This was her first step in a unique transformation from housewife to student to entrepreneur.

"I found out about MTI from a brochure I received in the mail," said Ruth, "and after talking with the admissions rep I made my career choice. I decided to turn my interest in travel into a marketable vocation—I enrolled in the Travel and Tourism Program."

"It was here that she met two of her classmates and soon-to-be business partners—Carol Bufton and Diane Killelea. Carol, just two months earlier, had moved to the United States from England because of her husband's job transfer. "The adjustment was difficult," quipped Carol in an infectious British accent, "but I had traveled and worked in America a few years ago, so that helped." In England she worked as a bank teller, acquired accounting and computer experience at a university, and even owned and managed a boutique.

Diane endeavored at several different jobs while raising her four children. She worked as a typesetter for a local newspaper, as a civil clerk for a court, as a secretary for an attorney, and in a hospital admitting department before deciding to return to school to pursue a career in travel.

With the three attending classes together, it wasn't long before friendships congealed. "It was great having Carol and Ruth as friends in school," related Diane. "We drove together, studied together, partied together, and supported each other when things got tough. In general, though, the classes were fun and very relevant," she added. The three agree that small classes, experienced instructors, individual attention, and "hands-on" training made their year at MTI a rewarding and valuable one.

"The extended curriculum gave us an excellent background in travel," relayed Ruth, "and provided us with solid, marketable skills. It was also great preparation for opening a travel agency together"—an idea, she states, that had been germinating since their first travel classes at MTI.

After graduating—all three with honors—plans for their own agency took nearly a year to ripen. They used the interim to ply their skills as outside sales agents, leaving a strategic network of business contacts in their wake.

Finally, the debut. On May 7, 1984, Accent on Travel, Ltd., opened for business in Chelsea. The agency found quarters in a quaint upper flat of a turn-of-the-century building, situated in the middle of the bustling business district.

The triumverate of travel agents share reservationist duties such as planning business and vacation trips and arranging tour packages and cruises. They also participate in the secretarial and accounting responsibilities as well as occupy the corporate officer positions: Ruth as president, Diane as treasurer, and Carol as secretary.

The prime dividends of their enterprise? "The challenge of creating a business and watching it grow," declares Diane. Also ranked high on the roster are professional independence, flexible hours, and launching a corporation from the very beginning.

And the future for Accent on Travel? "Well, we'd like to relocate to a new and roomier office someday," offered Ruth, "and a computerized reservation system would be great."

"ATC (Air Traffic Conference) accreditation is important, too," Diane asserted.

"Eventually we'd like to get a salary," popped Carol, with chuckles from her partners.

But the hardwork, persistence, and determination have paid off: the trio of entrepreneurs distinctly concur that they have found their metier—travel.

The opposite sides of a dice cube always add up to seven.

Beach School Plans Parent Conferences

Success breeds success, says Beach Middle school principal Darco Stielstra. And parent-teacher conferences can lead to success.

Parents are urged to attend the conferences to help increase their children's successfulness.

"I think it's important that parents capitalize on the opportunity to meet with staff. It seems to me they both have a vested interest in success for the sixth, seventh and eighth graders and close communication is bound to enhance a youngster's success," he said.

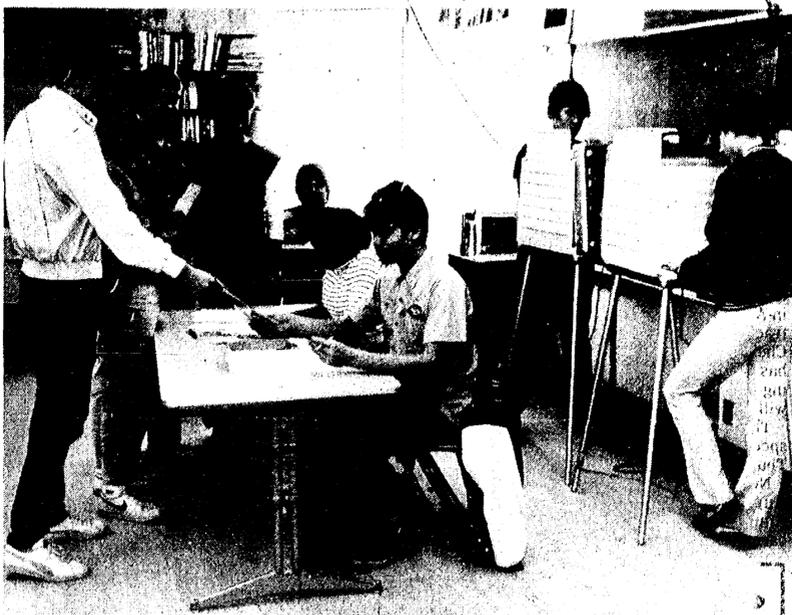

Conferences will be held in 15-minute time blocks. The schedule is as follows:

Oct. 31—Parents return pre-schedule forms to the middle school counseling office, indicating time blocks most convenient for conferences.

Nov. 5—Confirming letters sent home to parents via middle school students.

Nov. 7—Parent-teacher conferences.

Parents unable to attend the Nov. 7 conferences are invited to contact their child's teacher(s) to arrange a mutually convenient conference time.

Rob Long, Arvid Dahlke and Scott Cheever wait in line. Taking names and checking registration at the table are Paula Bridges and Phil Sweet. Behind them receiving ballots in a box is Pete Franklin.

Eighth Grade Students Win K. of C. Spelling Bee

Eighth graders swept the winning places in the Chelsea Knights of Columbus spelling bee held on Oct. 20.

First place went to Stacey Anttila of Cedar Lake Rd. Don Gerstler of Grass Lake made first runner-up. Lisa Unterbrink of Chelsea placed as second runner-up. Third runner-up was Mindy Ryan of Chelsea. All are Beach Middle school eighth graders.

The winners will compete at the diocese level in Howell on Nov. 17. If they place there, they will compete at the state level.

To improve participation next year, the Knights will ask to run the bee through Chelsea schools, said Joseph Rossi, who organized the event. The schools did not run the event this year because they have their own spelling bee competitions.

Chelsea Schools Dismissed Early

Chelsea schools will be dismissed early Wednesday, Nov. 7.

Chelsea High school is holding a professional development meeting for teachers. North and South Elementary schools and Beach Middle school are planning parent-teacher conferences from 2 to 6 p.m.

Elementary schools will let out at 11 a.m. Beach classes end at 11:10 a.m. The High school concludes at 11:15 a.m.

RE-ELECT CONGRESSMAN CARL PURSELL

"I congratulate you on your excellent record in the House and your untiring service to the people in your district."

—President Ronald Reagan

WESTERN WASHTENAW COUNTY'S CONGRESSMAN, CARL PURSELL, has provided eight years of outstanding leadership as our 2nd District Representative.

He voted for major reductions in our taxes, helping the President launch a revival of the American economy. As a member of the influential House Appropriations Committee, Carl is a leader for balancing the budget—with spending restrictions, not tax increases.

Carl is a leader for business and job opportunities. He initiated a unique pilot program to help our 2nd District businesses compete more effectively for contracts to supply our Armed Forces and agencies with goods and services. Success in this effort means more jobs for our district, while saving your tax dollars. Carl is also the national leader for modernizing the St. Lawrence Seaway, to make the products of our farms and factories more competitive opening new markets and jobs.

Among Carl's many legislative accomplishments are measures for economic development, career training, bus and rail transportation, cost-effective excellence in education, research to improve American technology and health care, and more.

Chelsea Fair Board Holds to Schedule, Sets Aug. 27-31 Dates

Faced with a choice of whether to keep its traditional last-week-in-August dates or find a new contractor for the carnival, the Chelsea Community Fair Board has decided in favor of maintaining its long-standing relationship with Crown Amusements.

The decision was made at a special meeting of the board on Thursday, Oct. 25.

Next year's fair will be held Aug. 27-31, and Crown Amusements will provide the carnival entertainment.

An earlier idea to move the fair dates up to the third week in August was abandoned. That proposal was intended to avoid conflicts with the opening of Chelsea schools and the Michigan State Fair.

The school date clash was solved when the Chelsea Board of Education decided to go back to starting classes on the Tuesday after Labor Day, which will fall on Sept. 3 next year, three days after the fair will end.

There will still be a conflict with the State Fair but, as Chelsea Fair board spokesman John Wellnitz said, "You can't have everything."

"The board decided that it was better to hold the fair during the last week of August and stay with Crown Amusements than change the dates and try to find another carnival operator. That was the choice which had to be made, because Crown is already contracted for the third week in August of 1985."

"Maybe the fair board can move up the dates for 1986, and that will be considered."

Wellnitz said the over-riding consideration was to retain the Crown Amusements carnival. "They do an excellent job, and run a very clean operation. We don't have problems with Crown. We know them, and they know us, and so everybody knows what to expect and depend on. That kind of a relationship is worth keeping."

The 1984 fair lost some participation and patronage because Chelsea schools were in session during fair week. That conflict has been resolved with a change in the 1985-86 school calendar.

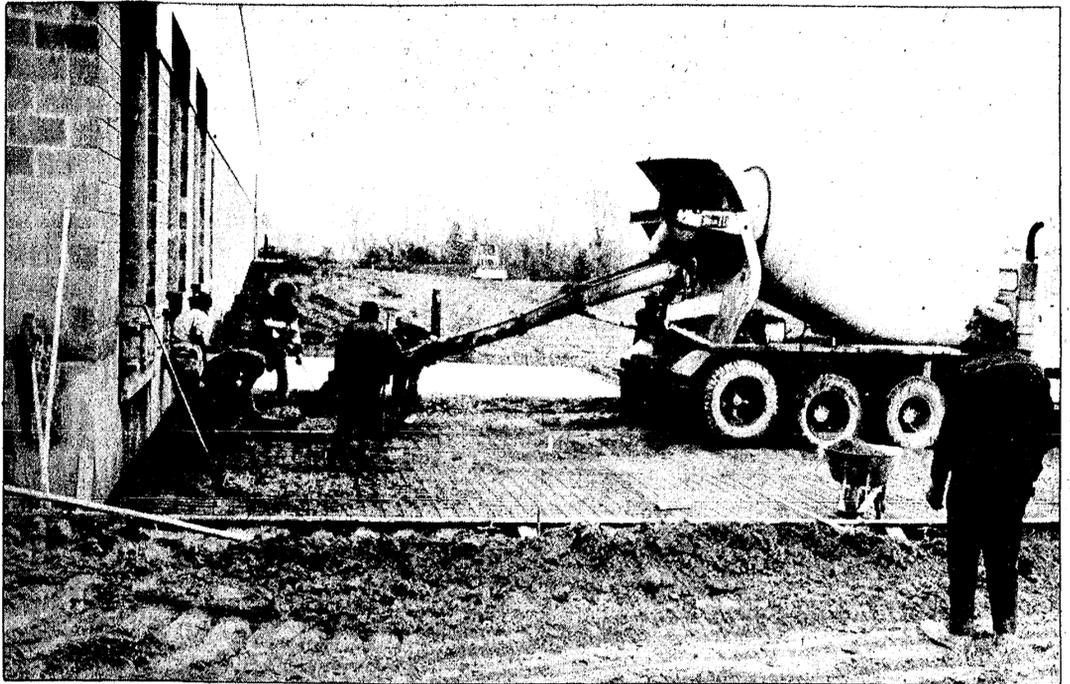

Vice-president Jerry Herrick conducted the special meeting of the fair board. Other officers and directors present included Mary Ann Guenther, Lloyd Grau, Archie Bradbury, Richard Bollinger, Jim Dault, Bob Heller, Gary Houle, Charles Koenn, Jeff Layher, Reuben Lesser, Jr., Ralph McCalla, Bill Nixon, Mark Stapish, Ed Whitaker and Jerry Heydlauff.

For 15 years—Kathryn Bradbury of Dexter, Joan Stackhouse of Dexter, Karl Ehnis of Whitmore Lake and Shirley Schempp of Dexter.

For 20 years—Arlene Fisk of Manchester, Melva Welch of Ypsilanti, and Barbara Goderis of Chelsea.

For 25 years—Hilda Lindemann of Dexter and Suzanne VanNatter of Dexter.

For 30 years—Frances Baldus of Dexter.

For 35 years—Mildred Lutz of Saline.

Russell Fuller, of Manchester received the Farm Bureau sponsored Leader of the Year award.

Always a highlight of the evening, the Don Johnson Memorial Scholarship was presented to Laurie Heller of Chelsea and Chris Cook of Saline. They are currently enrolled as freshmen at Michigan State University and Michigan Tech, respectively.

The evening's entertainment was provided by Steve Ryder, a local magician. The Townline Workers 4-H Club generously provided support for this year's program. Thomas Gibson of Ypsilanti served as Master of Ceremonies. The opening ceremony was led by Casie Finkbeiner of Saline and Kerri Bristle of Manchester. Mrs. Karen Bristle of Manchester provided an opening address to all attending.

COUNTY PROJECT MEDALS—Winners and project areas are: Phil Root, Ann Arbor, beef, public speaking; Marty Heller, Chelsea, beef; Ken Baldus, Dexter, wood science, leadership; Kerri Bristle, Manchester, dairy, achievement; Kim Bailey, Manchester, clothing, food preservation.

Girl Harriers Win SEC Title, Advance To State Finals

The Chelsea girls cross country team last week capped an outstanding season by placing first in the Southeastern Conference meet and qualifying for the state Class B finals by finishing second in the regional.

They will run for the state title at Linden on Saturday. They probably won't win but should finish among the top 10.

In the SEC meet at Manchester the girls defeated second-place Saline, 30-69, and placed six harriers on the all-league team.

Leading the Bulldogs was senior co-captain Mary Ann Richardson, who finished third at 20:31, an all-career best and more than a minute better than she ran the same course three weeks ago. She made all-league for the third year in succession.

"Mary Ann ran her heart out," coach Pat Clarke said. "She has been a fine leader this season.

Other Chelsea all-leaguers and their places and times in the SEC meet were:

Amy Wolfgang, fourth, 20:39; Kasey Anderson, sixth, 21:02; Melanie Flanigan, eighth, 21:20; Kim Collins, ninth, 21:20, and Kim Allen, 10th, 21:28.

Also placing was Cathy Barham, 12th, 21:51.

Final league standings showed Chelsea in front, followed by Saline, Milan, Dexter and Tecumseh in that order. The five teams (Lincoln and Pinckney don't compete in girls cross country) finished the same way in the SEC meet.

In the regional competition the Bulldogs came in second behind Hartland, 40-59, with 15 teams running. Saline was third, Milan sixth and Dexter eighth. Chelsea and Saline both advanced to the state meet.

Richardson again ran another excellent race to finish third at 20:40. Wolfgang was eighth at 20:46 and Anderson ninth at 20:49. All three earned all-region honors.

Other Bulldog place-winners were Allen, 16th, 21:36; Melanie Flanigan, 19th, 21:42; Jennifer Rossi, 22nd, 21:49; and Collins, 25th, 22:02.

HERE THEY COME: It's not easy to run in the middle of the pack in cross country racing, and Allan Kuhl, Tim Bowdish and Jared Bradley are moving up on the outside to gain better position for the finish.

Boy Harriers 2nd in SEC; Bowdish Qualifies for State

Chelsea's boys cross country team wasn't supposed to do much this year but came along in fine fashion to finish second in the Southeastern Conference and qualify Tim Bowdish for the state meet at Linden on Saturday.

"It was a rebuilding year for us," coach Pat Clarke said, "and we made a lot of progress. I'm pleased with what the boys accomplished as a group and especially happy that Tim will run in the state meet. He earned the chance."

The league meet was held at Manchester, and Saline won as expected with a score of 49.

Chelsea was the runner-up with 74, followed by Lincoln, Pinckney, Milan, Dexter and Tecumseh in that order.

The final SEC standings, which reflect a combination of both dual meet and league meet results, produced a slightly different lineup: Saline, Chelsea, Lincoln, Milan, Dexter and Pinckney (tied) and Tecumseh.

Bowdish finished second in the league run with a time of 16:37. He and teammate Jared Bradley (eighth at 17:36) both received all-conference recognition.

Other Bulldog placers included Jeff Wheaton, 16th, 18:17; Jason Creffield, 20th, 18:23; John Cattell, 28th, 18:43; Allen Kuhl, 29th, 18:40; and Kyle Kemmish, 30th, 18:50.

The boy harriers finished a respectable sixth among 17 schools in the regional meet, however, not good enough to qualify as a team for the state finals. Only the top three get in.

By placing sixth among individual runners, Bowdish won the right to run in the state meet. He will be the only Chelsea entrant. Bowdish's time was 17:13.

Bob Torres was 27th at 18:01, Bradley 39th at 18:30, Kuhl 41st at 18:31, Creffield 60th at 18:59, Wheaton 66th at 19:08 and Lee Riemenschneider 91st at 20:24.

Clark singled out Torres and Kuhl for having run especially well in the regional.

Girls Varsity Cagers Win Close Milan Game, 42-38

Milan fell to Chelsea's girls varsity basketball team on Thursday, Oct. 25, 42-38.

Chelsea won the first quarter, 12-6. Milan reversed the score in the second quarter, 12-6, leading to a tied half time of 18-18. Chelsea forged ahead, 16-12, in the third quarter.

"Samantha Collinsworth sparked us again. She had six points in the third quarter and Kelly Hawker had two steals and a real important rebound in the third within the first couple of minutes," said coach Jim Winter. The fourth quarter was tied at 8-8.

It was close the last couple of minutes. We just couldn't shake them. They kept cutting it to two points. Kristi Headrick made two free throws in the last 50 seconds and made the score 40-36. They came down and scored again. With three seconds left, Anne Weber made two free throws," said Winter.

Chelsea made 35% for 18 out of 51 shots from the floor and six out of 11 for 55%, from the foul line. Chelsea out-rebounded Milan, 29-25.

Beth Unterbrink scored 14 points, 11 rebounds. Collinsworth pitched in 10 points. Headrick had eight. Joann Tobin caught eight rebounds.

Chelsea hosts Tecumseh on Friday, Nov. 9. They play Dexter in the Silverdome at 1 p.m., Nov. 10. Chelsea was selected to play one of three high school basketball games before the Detroit Pistons on that day.

JV Harriers Finish Second

The Chelsea boys junior varsity cross country team finished second in the Southeastern conference JV meet behind Saline.

Placing for the Bulldogs were Lee Riemenschneider, second, 18:23; Bob Torres, sixth, 18:40; Brian Coy, 10th, 19:07; Tucker Lee, 12th, 19:16; Steve Hunn, 14th, 19:31; Charlie Kuhl, 16th, 19:38; Larry Moore, 17th, 19:39; and Pete Hanna, 20th, 20:01.

Freshman Gridders End Season with 2-4-1 Mark

Chelsea's freshman football team finished its season last week by playing to a 22-22 tie against the Fowlerville frosh here. The stand-off gave the young Bulldogs a 2-4-1 record for the fall.

"It (the tie) may have been my fault," coach Jim Tallman said. "Fowlerville was much better than I thought, and I perhaps didn't prepare the boys as well as I should have."

As it was, Chelsea had to rally for the tying touchdown and two-point conversion late in the game, scoring the eight points needed to get even with just eight seconds left on the clock.

Ties are not played off in freshman football.

The Bulldogs scored first on a three-yard run by Rob Finch at the end of a six-play, 70-yard sustained drive. Fowlerville came back to punch over two second-quarter touchdowns and take a 14-6 half-time lead.

Chelsea knotted the count at 14-all early in the third quarter on a 62-yard run by quarterback Jordan Gray and a two-point conversion by Finch, only to have Fowlerville go back in front by eight points with less than two minutes to play.

The Bulldogs took the kick-off and marched 80 yards in four plays including a couple of long pass completions from Gray to Clay Hurd and Dan Pletcher. Finch went in from the three, and Gray passed to Hurd for the two tying points.

The Bulldogs tried an onside kick and recovered it, but time ran out before they could get a play off.

"We were disappointed with the tie and thought we should have won," Tallman said. "Fowlerville gave us more than we expected. They are a good freshman football team, and so are we."

"We got off to a poor start this season by losing our first four games, then came back with two wins and a tie. The boys showed a lot of improvement, and that's what you look for in freshman football."

"Mention Gray, Finch, Hurd, Pletcher, Tim Anderson, Cory Johnson, Matt Monroe, Sam Eisenbeiser. They definitely came along this year as potential varsity players a couple of years down the road. There are many others who made good progress. I'm very pleased with what this group of freshmen has accomplished. Once they gained some confidence in themselves, they played well."

well on offense, except for the fumbles," Ticknor said. "Our defense had trouble adjusting to Pinckney's speed. We just hadn't seen people run that fast, and didn't react quickly enough."

Ticknor summed up the JV's season by saying that he was satisfied on the whole, although he would naturally have liked something better than a break-even record.

"This has been a good group of boys to coach," he commented. "They worked hard and showed great improvement. The 4-4 record is deceiving in that maybe it doesn't reflect the progress the boys made."

"At the junior varsity level, winning may not be as important as giving everybody an opportunity to play. We have brought along some good athletes who will contribute to the varsity next year. All in all, I'm not unhappy with what was accomplished."

Speedy Pinckney Team Beats Bulldog JV, 40-19

Chelsea's junior varsity football team ended its season on a sour note with a 40-19 loss to Pinckney here last Thursday. The JV's completed their schedule with a 4-4 record.

"We helped them by playing some give-away in the first half," coach Jim Ticknor said, "but Pinckney is very good. They are the quickest team I've seen in a long time."

"They have a couple of very fast backs who get through the line in a hurry, and their over-all team speed is excellent. I was very impressed."

"When those boys move up to the varsity next year, Pinckney is going to give opponents a lot of trouble. Let's face it, speed is not a trademark of Southeastern Conference football, and Pinckney is going to have more speed than we're accustomed to."

Freshman Lee Underhille scored all three Chelsea touchdowns on runs of 35, 12 and 6 yards, and exchange student Arvid Dahlke from West Germany booted an extra point.

"Underhille has good potential and has improved a lot this season," Ticknor said. "He could develop into a fine football player. I was real pleased about Dahlke's kick. Now he can go home to Germany and say he scored in an American football game."

Pinckney put the game's first 18 points on the board to take a commanding half-time lead. Chelsea had a couple of opportunities but lost them on fumbles, one at the Pirate 20 and the other at the five.

The Bulldogs made a bid to get back into it by scoring early in the second half, but the Pirates promptly came back with a long touchdown run. From there on it was a give-and-take affair, with each team crossing the goal line twice.

"Actually, we played pretty

New Rec. Council Members Want To Help Soccer

Mary Gaken and David Read were recently appointed to the Chelsea Recreation Council. Both would like to see soccer improved.

"I'd like to see soccer go a little more than it has. I would like to see what they have developed with better equipment," said Gaken.

"I'd like to get soccer a little more organized. Organization will come about if we can develop interest in it. There's not enough interest to form more than one team for seventh, eighth and ninth graders," said Read.

Gaken has lived in Chelsea for 30 years. She graduated from Chelsea High school in 1972.

Read has lived in Chelsea just a few months, since March.

"I was asked to join the council and it sounded like it would be an interesting thing to become involved in the village," said Read.

Read is also interested in the council because of his two children. His daughter is involved in T-ball, and his son participates in soccer.

Before moving to Chelsea, the Read family lived in Marietta, Ga.

Bulldogs Win Another Thriller in Beating Tough Pinckney, 21-20

Chelsea's varsity football team won its second one-point thriller in a row last Friday night, defeating Pinckney 21-20 in a game that went right down to the wire.

The Bulldogs had to make a brilliant goal line stand late in the fourth quarter to squeak out the victory, stopping the Pirates who had moved to a first-and-goal at the three-yard line and had a second down at the one.

Four pass interceptions—by Dean and Dave Boote, Dave Steinhauer and Todd Starkey—made the difference in a closely contested game marked by turn-overs on both sides.

Steinhauer, who does everything for the Bulldogs but hand out programs at the gate, had perhaps his best game of the season. On offense he rushed for 114 tough yards, caught three passes for 52 more, scored two touchdowns, and ran for a two-point conversion that turned out to be the margin of victory. On defense he came up with the clutch interception that stopped Pinckney's final bid, and was in on a bunch of tackles.

If leading by example is the criterion for rating a team captain, Steinhauer has earned top marks this fall.

Quarterback Dan Bellus was 11 for 23 in passing, including a touchdown toss to flanker Todd Starkey, who had six receptions good for 93 yards.

Mark E. Bentley, Ed Brosnan, Matt Smith and Shane Brown anchored a defensive line which made the big stops when it had to.

Pinckney scored in the first quarter to take a 6-0 lead on a pass from quarterback Tom Haak to Gerry Steinhauer, who is David's cousin. Chelsea responded and went ahead, 7-6, on a 39-yard Bellus-to-Starkey pass plus a successful point-after kick by Bliff Bunter.

Another Haak-to-Gerry Steinhauer completion, this one covering 36 yards, put the Pirates back in front, 12-7, but the Bulldogs didn't die. They marched upfield after taking the kickoff, with David Steinhauer getting the last six yards on a pretty pitchout play. More important, Steinhauer then ran for the two extra points which decided the game.

Chelsea stretched its lead to 21-12 on a three-yard dive by Steinhauer early in the third quarter. Bunter's extra-point try was blocked.

Pinckney didn't quit, countering with a touchdown and two-point to pull within a point, 21-20, at the end of the third period.

The final quarter was touch-and-go, back-and-forth football. Each team had chances, and each was stopped in turn. The Bulldogs' at last put the game away by stopping the Pirates' final thrust and then kicking the ball out of the danger zone.

"It was another fine football game, one I'm sure the fans enjoyed," Chelsea coach Gene LaFave said. "Both teams made mistakes, but they both played hard and well. It was very close, and I'm happy that we won it. Every time we thought we had Pinckney down, they came back at us. It sure wasn't easy."

"We stopped ourselves a couple of times on penalties and interceptions, but we got some key turn-overs ourselves, so it kind of evened out."

"David Steinhauer had an excellent game, and Bellus threw the ball well. Dan is getting better with every game. He's going to be a great quarterback next season. (Bellus is a junior.) Starkey had a good night. One thing that helps him is that we have some other good receivers. Defenses can't afford to concentrate on trying to stop him, or they'll get burned."

SEC ROUND-UP:

Saline Wins Title With 5-1 Season Mark

The Southeastern Conference football season is over so far as league games are concerned, with Saline the champion and Lincoln and Tecumseh tied for second and third. Chelsea and Pinckney deadlocked for fourth and fifth, with Milan and Dexter trailing.

Lincoln and Tecumseh each locked up a share of runner-up honors by defeating Milan and Dexter, respectively. Chelsea beat Pinckney to move into a tie with the Pirates.

Saline went outside the league and whipped Brooklyn Columbia Central, 20-3 as halfback John Barth rushed for 176 yards, scored twice, and went over the 1,000-yard mark for the season with another game to play, at Riverview on Friday.

The Hornets have a long-shot outside chance to make the state Class B play-offs. They need to beat Riverview, and hope a couple of other teams lose. A loss to Pinckney in overtime early in

Directions Told On How To Get To Everett Field

Chelsea High school football fans planning to attend Friday night's game at Lansing Everett are advised to take the following route:

Get onto I-96 somewhere east of Lansing. There are several ways to do that, the shortest being M-52 through Stockbridge and on north to the I-96 intersection at Webberville.

Go west on I-96 to exit 104 at Cedar St. This is one of the trickier interchanges in the state highway system. Follow the signs that point to Pennsylvania Ave., take Pennsylvania north (right) to Cavanaugh Rd., and turn left to Staebler Rd. By the time you get that far, you will be able to see the lights on the Everett field. It's a short right on Staebler before the turn into the parking area.

"And don't forget, we had some fine play on defense by several boys. It was a good, solid team effort all around."

The victory brought the Bulldogs up to .500 for the season with a 4-4 record heading into Friday's final game against Class A Lansing Everett there. By beating Everett, Chelsea could have a winning season.

"I'm sure we'll be underdogs," LaFave said, "but that doesn't mean we don't have a chance. Everett is good. They are 5-3 on the year in Class A competition."

"We've scrimmaged against them in the past and held our own. Our biggest problem will be adjusting our defense to cope with Everett's speed. They are faster than any team we've played this year."

The win at Pinckney meant that the Bulldogs and the Pirates tied for fourth and fifth places in the Southeastern Conference, each with 3-3 league marks.

the season marred Saline's record.

Tecumseh bombed Dexter, 45-0, and Lincoln had an easy time against Milan, winning 34-12. Chelsea edged Pinckney, 21-20, in a thriller that was as close as the score. The Bulldogs had to make a goal line stand late in the fourth quarter to preserve the win, after the Pirates had moved to a first down on the three-yard line.

All seven SEC teams will play non-league games Friday as the season winds up for all except possibly Saline.

Seventh Grade Bullpups Win Two

Seventh grade girls basketball team won both games played last week.

They defeated Milan, 30-11, on Monday, Oct. 22. Half-time score was 11-7 in Chelsea's favor. Milan garnered only four points in the last half to Chelsea's 19.

"Everyone on the team contributed with playing time in our Milan victory. Stacey Scott was particularly instrumental scoring 17 points and getting 16 steals. Allison Brown led rebounding with 10 and Tiffany Moore added eight points," said coach Ann Schaffner.

Chelsea defeated Lincoln on Oct. 24, 21-13. At half time, Lincoln was leading, 9-6.

"After struggling the first half with Lincoln's zone defense, we came back with strong rebounding and good passing to turn the game around," said Schaffner.

Brown, Lisa Park and Jill Nowatzke led rebounds. Scott was the leading scorer with eight points.

TROPHY BUCK: Thomas Smith shows off the prize trophy buck he bagged with a one-shot arrow kill near Sylvan Center last Thursday. The rack carried 11 points.

Large Trophy Buck Shot by Local Archer

An 11-point buck with a genuine trophy rack of antlers was taken by bow-hunter Thomas Smith of 17201 Fahrner Rd. on Thursday, Oct. 25.

Smith brought down the deer with a heart shot while hunting in a poplar thicket near Sylvan Center. He aimed and fired from a tree stand about 20 feet off the ground, using a McPherson compound bow and a Bear broadhead arrow.

"I guess the range was about 30 yards," Smith said. "It happened about a quarter to five in the afternoon. This big buck came into view and started scraping (a habit of male deer during the fall mating season). I waited until he got out into the clear, and I shot. It turned out to be a good shot. It went right into the heart."

Smith has been bow hunting for 20 years, and this was his fourth kill. "I've spent an awful lot of hours in the woods," he said, "and the real big one finally came along."

The big-bodied buck, which dressed out at about 175 pounds, was unofficially aged at 4-5 years old. It carried five points on the left antler and six on the right, and barely missed having at least one more point that could have been counted had it been just a little bit longer.

"(For an antler point to be 'official,' you have to be able to hang a ring on it. Age of deer is determined by looking at and feeling their back teeth, which wear down over the years. It's a fairly accurate process up through age three, but after that it gets to be a guessing game.)"

"Please mention that my son, Nathan, helped me dress out the deer," Smith asked. Nathan is four years old.

"I went home and got him, and he watched," Smith said.

Girls Varsity Cagers Defeat Saline, 53-49

Chelsea girls varsity basketball team defeated Saline in a close game, 53-49 Tuesday, Oct. 23 at Saline.

Chelsea came out real hard. They knew if they beat us, they'd be tied for first place. We played well the first quarter but without much intensity the rest of the game," said coach Jim Winter.

Chelsea took the first quarter, 16-6. Saline rallied back and won the second and third quarters, 10-7, and 18-12, but was still behind. Chelsea finished Saline off, 18-15, in the last quarter.

"We weren't generating offense in the second quarter. We had problems with defense in the third quarter. We couldn't stop them but we did what we had to do to win," said Winter.

Chelsea shot 10 out of 15 free throws in the last quarter. Samantha Collinsworth made six out of eight shots in that quarter. "That's what kept us ahead," said Winter.

Beth Unterbrink scored 21 points and seven rebounds. Kristi Headrick earned nine points. Collinsworth made eight, Jennifer Cattell captured six. Joann Tobin had seven rebounds and five steals. Anne Weber made four assists and five steals.

The team shot 19 out of 46 for 41% from the floor and 15 out of 24 or 63% from the foul line. Saline out-rebounded Chelsea, 25-23.

Chelsea will host Tecumseh on Friday, Nov. 9. They will play Dexter on Saturday, Nov. 10 at 1 p.m. at the Silverdome as an advance feature to the Detroit Pistons game later that evening.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

There are two ways to learn to shoot. The first and easiest is to be born with the instinctive knack to point or aim a gun and hit what you are looking at. The second is to practice, practice, practice and master the skill the hard way.

My dad was and still is an instinctive shooter. He can pick up a gun, any gun, heft it, adjust it to his "feel" and haul off and hit just about any target that he-picks out. He'll be 83 next month, and he can still do it, as several dozen nuisance pigeons that have fallen to an air rifle he acquired a couple of years ago could testify if they were still alive. I wouldn't take him on in any kind of a shooting match with shotgun or rifle if there were money on the line.

"I can't explain it," Dad said when I asked him for his secret. "I just look at the target and hit it. I always could. When I was a boy, I used to go to the county fairs and shoot those guns that they have in carnival booths. A couple of times they paid me to quit because I was winning all their prizes. I can't remember ever missing a rabbit, and I didn't miss very many birds."

Unfortunately, heredity didn't work in this instance. I had to learn to shoot the long, slow, expensive way, and never got to be anywhere near as good as Dad.

I started out just plain awful and gradually progressed through stages of poor, mediocre, fair and half-way decent, which is as good as I ever got. That "education" encompassed about 30 years, heaven knows how many thousands of rounds of ammunition, more-time and money than I care to think about, a measure of deafness, and a shoulder that doesn't work quite the way it should because it took too many kicks from the butts of guns.

Most of us are not "born" shooters and so have to go through something of the same experience that I did in order to achieve a reasonable degree of skill.

Here are a few fundamental things I learned along the way that might be helpful to anyone who wants to shoot well enough to make the sport of hunting enjoyable. After all, if you can't hit something at least some of the time, you might as well leave the gun at home and just go for a walk or a sit in the out-of-doors. Guns are heavy and awkward to carry.

First and foremost, you must find a gun that is right for you. It has to feel comfortable and align itself when you bring it to your shoulder and sight down the barrel. If it hurts to shoot, get rid of it and try something else.

The nastiest gun I ever fired was a little 20-gauge shotgun handed down by a well-meaning uncle. He was small and short-armed. I'm tall and have 36-inch arms that hang down around my knees. The gun just plain didn't fit. I couldn't hold it right, and so got belted every time I touched it off.

Determined to master the gun, I took it out to the skeet range one day and fired four rounds (100 shots). The score wasn't too good, but I came home with a blood-soaked shirt and shoulder cuts that took about two weeks to heal. That gun went up for sale the next day.

I borrowed a rifle for my first deer hunt. It was a .348 Winchester, which must have been designed to stop charging elephants at 10 feet. The first time I pulled the trigger, I was knocked flat, not surprising because I had never shot any rifle heavier than a .22 caliber rimfire. It was just too much gun for any inexperienced rifle shooter.

Remarkably, I killed a deer with that monster, thanks to a lucky shot that was a good 18 inches off the aiming point.

The lesson is, find a gun that doesn't hurt to shoot. The gauge of a shotgun or the caliber of a rifle doesn't matter all that much, so long as the firearm is adequate for the game you intend to hunt. You don't need a hand-held cannon to kill a deer, a duck, a pheasant or a rabbit. Modern arms and ammunition are remarkably efficient. You'll do a whole lot better with something that feels good in your hands, is comfortable to fire, and doesn't leave your shoulder black and blue or cut.

I learned to shoot the same way that I learned bowling, golf and billiards, by getting good instruction and then practicing what my teachers told me. All took a lot of time and cost considerable money.

Dad was a good shooting teacher because he couldn't tell me how he did it, just as he couldn't tell me how he averaged close to 190 while bowling only three games once a week.

"I just look at the pins and aim the ball where I want it to go," he told me when I asked him about bowling. "It's easy."

Like heck it is, and shooting is equally hard to do well unless you are born with the remarkable hand-eye co-ordination that makes every athletic skill come naturally.

When I tried to learn from him about shooting, his advice was, "Just look at the target, point the gun, and you'll hit it." I wish it were that simple, but there are darned few people who can shoot well instinctively.

More next week.

Chelsea Girls Swim Team Beats Dexter in Close Meet

The Bulldogs girls swim team won a very thrilling and closely contested meet against the Deacons of Dexter, Tuesday, Oct. 23.

Tuesday's meet was Dexter's parent night. Mothers were given roses and fathers received certificates. This resulted in a large meet attendance and an enthusiastic crowd.

The crowd and close competition coupled with the intense but friendly team rivalry resulted in many outstanding swims on both sides, said coach Larry Reed.

In the first event, the 200 medley relay, Chelsea garnered seven lifetime bests, but still only managed second, fifth and sixth place finishes. Dexter used the high level of competition to post their first state meet qualifying time of the year in the relay. The score at this point was 10-4 in Dexter's favor.

Paula Colombo tied the meet at 19 points with a first place in the 200 freestyle. Sharon Colombo was third and Anne Albrecht, fifth. In the third event, the individual medley, Susan Schmunk won first place with Cathy Hoffman in third and Karen Grau in fifth.

"This was a very productive event because the team scored points they were not expected to get," said Reed.

The 50 freestyle was one of the closest races as the difference between first and fourth was exactly one second. Chelsea finished third with Amanda Holmes, fourth with Kelly Kuzon, and Kevyan Vosters in sixth. The meet was now tied at 31 points.

Chelsea divers dove well but could not beat Dexter. Deanna Bengara placed fourth, Robyn Hafner, fifth; and Jennifer Schweiger, sixth.

Chelsea was losing by 10 points but then came the critical event of the meet. In the 100 butterfly, Holmes finished first, Becca Lee, second; and Missy Young, third.

"We were in a lot of trouble after the diving and we were not sure that we still had a chance to win, but our fliers all swam lifetime bests with the pressure on, and suddenly we were tied again. After that I knew we were going to win unless we made some mental mistakes," said Reed.

Schmunk came back to win the 100 freestyle and put Chelsea ahead four points with Hoffman in third and Rebecca Dent in fifth. Sharon Colombo, Lee and Albrecht combined to take first, third and fifth in the 500 freestyle with all best times, putting the team ahead eight points.

Paula Colombo won the 100 backstroke coming from behind on the last length to win an exciting race in her best time of the season. Grau finished fourth.

The 100-yard breaststroke brought the most exciting swim of the meet. Chelsea was led by Kuzon who broke her own varsity record by 1.8 seconds for the second time in four days. Vosters got a third and Tami Harris a fifth, both with best times. The team was almost assured to win with a 12 point lead.

Schmunk, Young, Hoffman and Paula Colombo combined to finish second in the freestyle relay. Dent, Dawn Thorne, Lee

Chelsea Girls Swim Team Breaks Varsity Record

Chelsea High school girls swim team had 15 lifetime bests and broke a varsity record in the 200-yard medley relay in a hard-fought loss to the Adrian Maples on Oct. 18. Chelsea lost to Adrian, 100-72.

The former relay record was made in 1981 by Dawn Borders, Kristen Thomas, Margie Rawson and Liesel Culver with a time of 2:01.6. The new record of 2:00.84 was set by Paula Colombo (backstroke, 31.8); Kelly Kuzon (breaststroke, 33.8); Amanda Holmes (butterfly, 28.4) and Susan Schmunk (freestyle, 26.9). That currently is the sixth fastest class B relay in the state.

Other best time efforts were turned in by: Karen Grau in the 50 breaststroke, Sharon Colombo in the 200- and 500-yard freestyle races, Kenyan Vosters in the 200-yard freestyle, Kuzon in the 200-yard individual medley, Paula Colombo and Missy Young in the 100-yard butterfly, Anne Albrecht in the 500-yard freestyle, Rebecca Dent in the 50-yard backstroke and Michelle

Chelsea Girls Swim Team Loses To Albion

After an exciting win against Dexter, Chelsea girls swim team lost another closely contested but far less emotional meet, 92-80, against the Albion Wildcats on Thursday, Oct. 25.

Chelsea won three of the first four events: The medley relay (Paula Colombo, Kelly Kuzon, Amanda Holmes, and Susan Schmunk), and 50 freestyle (Schmunk) earned state-qualifying times. Paula Colombo also won the individual medley for which she has already qualified for state.

Albion took first and second in diving even though Chelsea's divers showed considerable improvement over the Dexter meet, said coach Larry Reed.

Holmes, Becca Lee and Missy Young came in first, third and fourth in the 100 butterfly. Schmunk won the 100 freestyle and Paula Colombo earned another state-qualifying performance by winning the 500 freestyle.

The team then lost close races in the 100 backstroke, 100 breaststroke, and freestyle relay which resulted in the 12 point loss.

"Albion crushed us last year at home. We were emotionally down after the great effort against Dexter and some of our slightly slower efforts cost us badly needed points but we still had 16 lifetime bests so we have no complaints," said Reed.

JV Girls Run Away From Pack

Perhaps portending another good season next year in Chelsea girls cross country competition, the junior varsity harriers swept the first eight places in the Southeastern Conference meet. It was about as close to a shut-out as you can get in cross country running.

Chelsea placers and times were:

Jennifer Rossi, first, 21:48; Wendy Hunn, second, 22:03; Alisha Dorow, third, 22:19; Ann Brosnan, fourth, 22:25; Stephanie Grant, fifth, 22:47; Susan Jacques, sixth, 23:08; Ann Muncer, seventh, 23:09; Chris Neuman, eighth, 23:10; Shanda Friday, 10th, 23:37; Charisse Buford, 11th, 23:53; and Debby Tiff, 13th, 24:05.

CHS Girls Varsity Cagers To Play Dexter At Silverdome

Chelsea girls varsity basketball team will play their game against Dexter before a much larger audience. The teams will play one of three high school games at the Pontiac Silverdome on Nov. 10 at 1 p.m.

The Pistons will play the Milwaukee Bucks at 7:30 that evening. Pistons select high schools to play before their games as a warm-up.

Tickets for the games may be purchased for $5 from athletic director Ron Nemeth. The tickets are good for all three high school games and the Pistons. Tickets are available until the day of the game. They cost $9 at the door.

Rod & Gun Club Meeting Date Moved to Nov. 6

Instead of the usual second Tuesday, the November meeting of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club will be held on Nov. 6 because many members will be heading north for the opening of the deer hunting season, Nov. 15.

A special program at this month's meeting will feature muzzle loading skills demonstrated by Lloyd Cochran and his daughter, Dianne. They are operators of a sporting goods firm in Ypsilanti and are considered experts in the loading and care of old-time firearms.

Club members have been notified by postcard of the early meeting which occurs on election day. All have been urged to vote early and vote for conservation Proposal B, the Michigan Land Trust amendment to the state constitution.

Cigan in the 100-yard breaststroke.

The team has now completed the most difficult part of its schedule which included swimming against two class A teams and against three of the teams in the top 10 of this year's class B rankings. Chelsea defeated the class A Lincoln Park team.

"With the improvements these ladies have made, and their continued hard work, we should be able to compete favorably in all of our remaining meets. At the start of the year, we honestly weren't sure if we could win a meet. We have won three and should win more and the swimmers and divers deserve all the credit. With 14 freshmen on this year's team returning next year, other teams will have to watch out for us," said coach Larry Reed.

Chelsea's next meets will be at Albion on Thursday, Oct. 25 and Willow Run on Tuesday Oct. 30. They will host Monroe St. Mary's on Nov. 1.

EIGHT ACRES OF CORN is what Paul Bauer harvested on a sunny Saturday afternoon, part of that for Maude Push. Shown with his corn picker, Bauer was, at the time working at his mother-in-law's place, on Dexter-Chelsea Rd. The machine roars through the cornfields, in an impressive manner.

Girls JV Cagers Defeat Saline

Chelsea girls junior varsity basketball team defeated Saline, 40-31, on Tuesday, Oct. 23. Chelsea shot well from the floor, 16 out of 49, 33%. Saline shot only 26%. From the foul line, Chelsea shot 40%, eight out of 20. Saline shot 31%. Chelsea also out-rebounded Saline, 40-29, but had 36 turnovers, twice the team goal of 18. "The kids played well from the first two and a half quarters, then they started making some mistakes in the offense against Saline's press and let Saline back in the ballgame," said coach Paul Terpstra.

Girls JV Cagers Win Close Milan Game

Chelsea girls junior varsity basketball team barely defeated Milan, 27-26, in a slow-paced game on Thursday, Oct. 25.

Milan won the first two quarters, 4-3, and 8-7, for a half-time of 12-10. Chelsea rallied back in the third, 10-6, but again lost the fourth, 8-7. Milan's one-point lead after the first three quarters, however, wasn't enough to carry the game.

Chelsea out-shot and out-rebounded Milan, 22-17. Chelsea shot 12 out of 42 for 29% from the floor and three out of seven for 42% from the foul line. Milan failed to make either of its two foul shots.

"There weren't a lot of fouls in this game," said Terpstra.

Chelsea maintained good balance with 18 turnovers, the team's goal, and 12 steals.

Cris Zerkel dominated scoring with 13 points. Kim Ferry captured six rebounds. The team now stands 6-1 in the league and 12-2 overall. They were to play at Dexter on Tuesday, Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. Chelsea will host Tecumseh on Friday.

Chelsea led the first two quarters, 6-5, and 17-9. Saline took the third, 10-6. Chelsea came back in the fourth, 11-7.

"If we'd played consistently in the third quarter, then in the fourth quarter, the game wouldn't have been as close as it ended up," said Terpstra.

Cris Zerkel captured 17 points and 18 rebounds to lead the game. Kim Ferry, Trish Mattoff and Karen Weber each contributed six points. Ferry also made 11 rebounds.

Chelsea will play 7 p.m. at Dexter on Tuesday, Nov. 6. The team hosts Tecumseh on Nov. 9 at 5:30 p.m.

Chelsea Aquatic Club Competes in United States Swim Meet

On Oct. 21, the Chelsea Aquatic Club traveled to Oakland Community College for a United States Swimming meet against teams from all over Michigan and from Canada. The meet had a total of 2,667 entries.

Chelsea took six girls and three boys to the meet. The girls were ages 10 and under. Two of the boys were 10 and under. The third was under age eight.

Four girls combined to win a fourth-place finish in the 200-yard medley relay. They were: Kelly Cross, Melissa Thiel, Sara Nicola, and Erika Boughton. Thiel also finished second in the 50 freestyle, 24th in the 50 backstroke and 20th in the 100 individual medley.

Nicola placed first in the 50 backstroke, and second in the individual medley. Boughton swam a fourth in the individual medley, and eighth in the 50-yard backstroke. Cross was 14th in the individual medley and 18th in the 50-yard freestyle.

Christina and Shawna Gillespie placed 39th and 40th in the 50 freestyle.

Boy finishers were Colby Skelton, ninth in the 50 backstroke and 11th in the individual medley; Jason McVittie, 19th in the 50 freestyle and Matt McVittie who placed sixth in the 25-yard butterfly, ninth in the 25-yard backstroke and 16th in the 100 individual medley.

"These youngsters deserve a lot of credit for being able to compete so well against such a large number of entries representing the whole state," said Larry Reed, club director.

Officer Owes Life To Wearing Dentures

Most people who wear dentures don't consider them a blessing, but a Michigan conservation officer who was shot in the line of duty on Oct. 20 perhaps owes his life to the fact that he was wearing a false plate of upper teeth.

CO Timothy Burke, 39, of Caro in Tuscola county was on patrol late on Saturday night, Oct. 20, looking for deer poachers. He and a fellow officer, Juris Didrichson, spotted a parked pick-up truck and a bright light shining in the woods.

Two men got into the truck and sped off, with the officers pursuing in their patrol car. During the chase, one of the truck's occupants opened fire with a high-powered rifle. A bullet came through the windshield of the patrol car, hit Burke in the mouth and exited through the lower left side of his head, luckily missing his brain.

He will need extensive plastic surgery to repair the facial damage, but will make a complete recovery, said Lt. Bruce Gustafson of the Department of Natural Resources law enforcement division office in Lansing.

"I think it's safe to say that his false teeth saved Tim," Gustafson said. "They deflected the bullet so it went to the side instead of going straight through and hitting the lower part of his brain or his spinal column."

"False teeth are a lot harder than natural teeth. I don't think natural teeth would have turned the bullet."

No arrests have yet been made in connection with the shooting, Gustafson said, but added, "we have some suspects and a lot of people working on it. We're getting help from state and local police. We'll catch whoever did it, and we'll throw the book at him. We don't like it when one of our officers is shot. It's a stupid, shameful act for anybody to try to commit murder to escape arrest for what is actually a fairly minor offense, a misdemeanor."

Burke, a native of Pellston, is a friend and former hunting and fishing companion of reporter Bill Mullendore of The Standard and Leader.

Metal Detectors Again Available At McDonald's

McDonald's, 1535 S. Main St., Chelsea, is hosting a Halloween Metal Detection Clinic on Halloween day, Oct. 31 from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

Chelsea police officers will check the children's cavity visually and with a metal detector. McDonald's will have a Halloween Surprise for each child.

Parents may take trick-or-treat bags to either establishment and have them checked out to insure against metal contaminants.

The detection program was begun several years ago after razor blades, needles and pins and other dangerous metal objects were discovered in some Halloween "treats" given to children around the county.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

Last week, I had the opportunity to meet Judith James Wood and Richard E. Conlin, candidates for Washtenaw county Probate Judge, at the forum sponsored by the Chelsea Lions Club and Chelsea Chamber of Commerce. By the time Wood and Conlin arrived, following the debate between candidates for sheriff, there was a very small group remaining. The discussion with Wood and Conlin was relaxed, informal, and very enlightening.

On the basis of this meeting with the judicial candidates, and taking into account their respective backgrounds, experience, and service, Judith Wood appears eminently more qualified to become our next Probate Court Judge. Her prior experience in the judicial system, coupled with her dedication and involvement in juvenile programs, strongly suggest that she should be the preferred candidate. The Washtenaw County Bar Association confirmed this in a poll of their members, and the Washtenaw Trial Lawyers Association has endorsed Judith Wood in her campaign for Probate Court Judge. This support comes from her peers.

After reviewing the qualifications of both candidates, I'm sure you will agree that Judith James Wood is the logical choice.

David Prohaska.

Independence Lake Park Wins Award from Landscape Architects

Independence Lake County Park has proved to be a winner in everyone's circle. The 312-acre park in northwestern Washtenaw county was the subject of a recent award given by the Michigan Chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects.

The society presented the 1983 Honor Award for park design to Peter Pollack, the park's landscape architect. According to the society, "the project was felt to be truly superior to all the projects submitted. Although the site was special to begin with, the landscape architect addressed the imposition of human use in a manner that enhanced and fully realized the site's inherent beauty."

Pollack turned the award over to the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission (WCPARC), which operates and maintains the park, at its 1984 annual meeting in May. "We all deserve to share in the award," he said as he presented the award to Commission President Nelson Meade. "When the application was submitted to MSLA, it was done so on behalf of the park. The photos we used were very recent, and they showed the great care that the Commission has used to maintain the park's appearance. Because the Commission bears the brunt of the maintenance task, it bears the brunt of the award as well."

Pollack, who is the principal of Pollack Design Associates in Ann Arbor, received a Master of Landscape Architecture degree from Harvard University. From 1970 to 1971, he was a Fellow in Landscape Architecture at the American Academy in Rome. This highly prestigious "pursuit of individual study" is granted to one landscape architect each year, and Pollack is one of about 50 living landscape architects to have been selected for such a fellowship.

Independence Lake Park has been a real winner among other groups, including the Michigan Chapter of the American Institute of Architects. It awarded the 1982 Honor Award to Osler-Milling Architects, Inc., for the design of the park's main pavilion and rental office.

The park had nearly 68,000 visitors in 1983, up 77 percent from the previous year. Also in 1983, the parking lot was doubled in capacity to 320 spaces.

Independence Lake Park is the site for numerous organized and family picnics, an annual biathlon (swimming and running) set for Aug. 18, and day camps for youths aged 6 to 12. Approximately 45 children attend each week-long day camp, and the camps continue through the week of Aug. 13.

For more information on Independence Lake Park or the county's other seven parks, call WCPARC at (313) 973-2575. WCPARC is asking voters to renew a 1/4 mill, ten year tax in the November general election.

Junior High Football Teams Finish Season

Both the A and B football squads at Beach Middle school closed out their regular seasons last week by playing squads from Lincoln.

The A team evened its record by defeating Lincoln 32-12. The B squad lost, 18-8, to end up with a 2-1-1 mark.

Previously, the A team had defeated Milan, 18-14, lost to Lincoln, 16-14, and lost to Saline, 22-18.

The B team opened with a 0-0 tie with Milan, defeated Lincoln, 18-14, and beat Saline, 28-0.

In all, 48 boys started the season and 46 finished, according to Bert Kruse, the head junior high coach in his 22nd and last year at that position.

"The numbers were down somewhat this year compared to the last few years," Kruse said, "but basically it is because our classes are getting smaller."

Forty-two of the 48 were from the eighth grade class.

Kruse was assisted on the A squad by Ted Hendricks. The B squad was handled by Rodney Robeson, assisted by volunteer coach Larry Nix.

The A team roster was made up of Mike Kushmaul and Loren Keezer at ends, Mike Taylor and Lucky Beeman at tackles, David Zerker and Scott Rob at guards, Jeff Prentice at center, Larry Nix at quarterback, Junior Morseau and Leaman Strong at running backs and David White at flanker. Morseau was the leading ball carrier and pass receiver.

Defensive starters included Chris Bertles at tackle, Dale Hadley at noseguard, Eric Frisinger at linebacker, Terry Draper and Jerry Reinhardt at ends and Jason Overdorf and Shannon Fredette in the secondary.

Jeff Marshall acted as the back-up quarterback and alternated at split end. Scott Sheffield was on the kick-off team and played at corner-back. Brett Hansen also saw action on the offensive line and as a linebacker.

"The A team showed some very good streaks of football at times but was hurt by a lack of consistency and intensity," Kruse said. "There is some very good talent in their group."

The B squad consisted of David

Historical Society Will Hear Program By Wyan Stevens

Chelsea Area Historical Society will meet Monday, Nov. 12, 7:30 p.m. at the Crippen Building (Methodist Home Apartments).

Wyan Stevens, guest speaker, will present "History Along the Huron."

There will be no December meeting.

The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended, prohibits discrimination on the basis of age against any person between the ages of 40 and 70. There is no upper age limit with respect to employment in the Federal Government. The law applies to all public employers, private employers of 20 or more employees, employment agencies serving covered employers, and labor unions of more than 25 members, according to "A Working Women's Guide to Her Job Rights," published by the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Beach Sixth Grade Students Go Bowling At Chelsea Lanes

For a change of pace, Beach Middle school sixth grade students will go bowling after school on Nov. 13. Helen St. Louis, block teacher, is taking the class to Chelsea Lanes.

The purpose of the outing is a social one. It gives students a chance to interact outside of an academic environment.

Ed Greenleaf, owner of Chelsea Lanes, is giving the class a special price on bowling and free rental on bowling shoes.

Student Posters Compete To Take Pride in Schools

A student from each school was selected as winners of the Take Pride in Your Schools poster contest. Their posters will be on display at Chelsea Pharmacy after Halloween.

Kim Hamrick of Chelsea High school won with a poster featuring four overlapping books. The books were titled "Take Pride in Our Schools." Also pictured in the poster were a ruler, pen, inkwell, pencil and notebook paper. Debby Evison won from Beach

Middle school. Her poster was lettered with colored magic markers and listed school items such as swimming, pool aide, library aide, office aide, speech and drama, and home economics class.

At South school, Christy Wade of fourth grade showed a person throwing trash into a trash barrel which said "Wanted Good Citizens, Take Pride in Chelsea Schools."

Second grade North school student, Adam Skyles, showed a school building with a swing set and a person throwing trash into a garbage bag. The poster said, "Pick-up litter."

Between 65 and 75 students entered the contest.

The Take Pride in Your Schools committee will try to get all these posters on display at Chelsea Pharmacy. If there isn't enough room, the committee will ask other merchants to show the posters, said Pat Coelius of the committee.

Citizens Trust Reports Increased Quarterly Earning

An increase of $143,449 in net income for the quarter ending Sept. 30, was reported by George H. Cress, president and chief executive officer of Citizens Trust. Net income for the third quarter stood at $532,981, as compared to $389,532 for the same period in 1983. For the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1984, net income stood at $1,408,855 versus $1,184,227 on Sept. 30, 1983, or a 21% increase.

Earnings per share for the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1984, was $4.45 compared to $3.68 as of September, 1983. Total assets rose 8% from $218,401,763 in September of 1983, to $236,078,432 as of Sept. 30, 1984. Total loans at the end of September stood at $136,419,773 compared to $118,459,254, representing an increase of 15%.

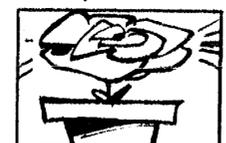

Cress noted in his statement that "the economy remains strong, both nationally and locally, although with the pressures of the political campaign and the enormous national deficit, it is difficult to make forecasts and projections." He does, however, "look forward to continued progress for the remainder of 1984."

Smoke Cessation Classes Scheduled At Chelsea Hospital

Chelsea Community Hospital will be offering a Smokeless smoking cessation class. The free introductory session will be held on Monday, Nov. 5 from 2 to 3 p.m. and again from 7 to 8 p.m. on that evening. The class includes four additional sessions which are held on consecutive evenings one week after the introductory session.

A certified Smokeless instructor will teach the classes. Two follow-up sessions are also held after the class has ended. The program is guaranteed and uses a series of copyrighted procedures that effectively neutralize the desire for tobacco. A total lifestyle approach of behavior modification, stress management, coping skills and eating management is used. The developer of the program was recognized in the 1982 Surgeon General's Report on Smoking and Health.

For more information call 475-1311, ext. 262. Register by calling this number or do so at the introductory session.

RESOLUTION CALLING PUBLIC HEARING CONCERNING PROJECT PLAN

(VILLAGE PROFESSIONAL CENTER PROJECT)

WHEREAS, there exists in the Village of Chelsea, County of Washtenaw, Michigan (the "Village") the need for certain programs to alleviate and prevent conditions of unemployment and to revitalize the Village's economy, and to assist industrial and commercial enterprises, and to encourage the location, expansion or retention of industrial and commercial enterprises to provide needed services and facilities to the Village and its residents and to retain employment opportunities in the Village; and

WHEREAS, a program to alleviate the aforesaid conditions and to accomplish said purposes has been initiated by The Economic Development Corporation of the Village of Chelsea (the "Corporation"); and

WHEREAS, the Corporation in conformity with Act 338 of the Public Acts of Michigan, 1974, as amended ("Act 338"), and the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, has prepared and submitted a project plan (the "Project Plan") involving a professional office facility to be undertaken on behalf of Village Professional Center (the "Project"); and

WHEREAS, pursuant to Act 338 it is necessary to hold a public hearing concerning the Project, the Project Plan and the bonds proposed therein to be issued by the Corporation (the "Bonds"), prior to taking legislative action relating to it;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. Pursuant to the aforesaid Act 338 the Council shall meet on November 20, 1984, at 7:30 o'clock p.m., at which time it shall conduct a public hearing on the Corporation's submission of the Project Plan and the issuance by the Corporation of the Bonds.

2. The Clerk be and is hereby directed to give notice of such public hearing by (1) publishing a notice thereof in The Chelsea Standard, a newspaper of general circulation in the Village; (2) posting in at least ten (10) conspicuous and public places in the project district area; and (3) mailing to the last known owner of each parcel of real property in the project district area at the last known address of the owner as shown by the tax assessment records, which notices shall be published and given at least fourteen (14) full days prior to the date set for said hearing.

3. Said notice shall be in substantially the following form:

OFFICIAL NOTICE TO THE CITIZENS OF THE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA OF PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER APPROVAL OF A PROJECT PLAN AND THE ISSUANCE OF THE BONDS PROPOSED THEREIN AS SUBMITTED TO THE VILLAGE COUNCIL OF THE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA BY THE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION OF THE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA FOR VILLAGE PROFESSIONAL CENTER PROJECT

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Act 338 of the Public Acts of Michigan of 1974, as amended, The Economic Development Corporation of the Village of Chelsea has submitted a project plan to the Village Council for its approval.

Said project plan deals with the construction and equipping of a 7,000 square foot one story professional office facility to be owned and to be used by Village Professional Center, and to be located on a project area or site described as follows:

Commencing at the Southwest corner of Block 17 in Elisha Congdon's 3rd Addition to the Village of Chelsea (also known as the Plat of Chelsea Village East of Main Street) and recorded in Liber 60 of Deeds, on Pages 674 and 675, Washtenaw County Records; thence along the Easterly line of Main Street (M-52), S 02°-00' E 165.00 feet for a POINT OF BEGINNING; thence S 88°-26' E 265.34 feet; thence S 02°-00' E 132.00 feet; thence N 88°-26' W 265.34 feet; thence along the Easterly line of said Main Street (M-52), N 02°-00' W 132.00 feet to the point of beginning, being part of the Southeast 1/4 of Section 12, T2S, R3E, Village of Chelsea, Washtenaw County, Michigan and containing 34,958 square feet of land more or less, subject to easements and restrictions of record, if any.

The street address of the facility is 513 and 521 S. Main Street, Chelsea, Michigan.

Said project plan details all information required by law relative to said project and its impact on the community. No persons will be displaced from the project area as a result of this project. Said project plan also proposes the issuance of revenue bonds by said Economic Development Corporation in a maximum principal amount not to exceed $487,500, to assist in the financing of said project.

The Village Council will meet at 7:30 o'clock p.m., local time, the 20th day of November, 1984, at the Village Hall located at 104 E. Middle Street, Chelsea, Michigan, and will conduct a hearing.

The public hearing shall consider the advisability of the Village Council approving, modifying or rejecting by resolution said project plan and the issuance of bonds as proposed therein.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Sections 10 and 17 of Act 338, Public Acts of Michigan, 1974, as amended. The project plan and relevant maps or plats are available for inspection at the Village Clerk's office.

All interested citizens are encouraged and will be offered an opportunity at said hearing to address the Village Council concerning said project, said Project Plan, and the bonds proposed to be issued. Written comments may also be submitted to the Village Clerk prior to said hearing.

Evelyn Rosentreter
Village Clerk

4. The Council does hereby determine that the foregoing form of notice and the manner of publication directed is adequate notice to the citizens of the Village and is well calculated to inform them of the intention of the Council to hold a public hearing and the purpose of the public hearing.

Sheriff's Dept. Tips for Safe Halloween

Halloween is a festive and fun time of the year for kids. But sometimes the fun turns to cruel tricks—like when people tamper with kids' treats. Take a tip from me, McGruff the Crime Dog.

Here are 10 things you can do to protect your children and make Halloween a safer and happier time for everyone, according to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

1. Make sure children are accompanied by an adult or responsible teen-ager when they go door-to-door. Go with them yourself if you can.
2. Instruct children never to eat anything until they are home and the treats have been examined. Cut and wash fruit before eating. Throw away anything unwrapped.
3. Check the wrappers of commercial treats for signs of tampering.
4. Call the police if there are any suspicious treats.
5. Make sure children's costumes fit and they can see well.
6. Tell your children to trick or treat in their own neighborhood and in well lighted streets. Daylight hours are best.
7. If children are going to be out after dark, make sure they carry a flashlight.
8. Teach your children to use the sidewalks if they can. If there are not sidewalks, walk on the left side of the street facing cars.
9. Know which friends your children will be with and which route they are taking.
10. Leave your porch light on so children will know it's OK to visit your home.

Idea: Have a Halloween party in your home for all the neighborhood kids.

Also, the Sheriff's Department will be screening candy with a metal detector at the Zeeb Rd. and Chelsea McDonald's.

To report suspicious candy or for further information call your local police agency or the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Discovering World of Work Begins Nov. 7

Beginning Nov. 7, eighth grade Beach Middle school students will take the Michigan Occupational Interest Survey. The survey will initiate the "Discovering the World of Work" program.

The survey matches a student's interests with careers. Once the interest is identified, students research the matching occupations. With the help of counselors, students will investigate different aspects of a particular career including earnings, opportunities for advancement and job outlook, said principal Darcio Stielstra.

English teachers will help students learn to fill out applications, write resumes and cope with interviews. Other classes will focus on careers related to their topic. For instance, a social science class doing a unit on the legal system may bring in a prosecuting attorney, said Stielstra.

Sandhill Cranes May Be Seen In Waterloo Area

If you are interested in seeing sandhill cranes, now is the time to do it. About 700 birds are using the Haennle Sanctuary north off Seymour Rd. in the Waterloo Recreation Area. They are usually visible mornings and evenings, before and after they fly out to feed in winter wheat fields. They will migrate south during the next couple of weeks.

Watchers are asked to keep their distance. The birds are shy and should not be disturbed.

Best way to get there from here is to take exit 147 (Race Rd.) off west-bound I-94 and go north on Race about two miles to Seymour, then turn left. The sanctuary embraces Mud Lake and the surrounding marsh.

Village Workers Elect To Join Teamsters Union

Chelsea village employees voted 11-5 last Friday morning to affiliate with Teamsters Union Local 214 and set up a collective bargaining unit.

Police department employees had previously voted to join the Teamsters Union, and so did not participate in last week's election.

The upshot is that all full-time Chelsea employees are now represented by the Teamsters. The fire department, composed of part-time volunteers, is not included.

Village workers have been unhappy about the level of pay raises and other benefits awarded to them the past two years. The move towards union organization began a year ago.

"I didn't want to do it (join the union)," said one employee who asked not to be named, "but we have been treated so badly these last two years that I felt I had no choice."

"We've had raises totaling less than five percent, and our fringe benefits have actually been cut. The work rules are continually being tightened."

"I think you can predict that there will be some very tough negotiations next year. I don't like being a member of the Teamsters Union, but I know we have a bad reputation, but at least we will have some professional bargainers working for us."

Beach String Players To Join In EMU Orchestra Clinic

Nineteen string players from the Beach Middle school orchestra will participate in a junior high string orchestra clinic at Eastern Michigan University on Saturday, Nov. 3.

The day's activities will include rehearsals by three large orchestras, small group lessons, a guest performance by the bluegrass and folk group "Common Ground," and a final concert at 3 p.m. The final concert will take place in Pease Auditorium on Eastern's campus and is open to the public free of charge.

Over 250 string players will represent 25 schools from as far away as Jackson and Grosse Pointe.

The clinic is sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association. Conductors of the three large orchestras will be professor Robert Culver of the University of Michigan; Judith Culler, conductor of Metro Youth Symphony, and Helene Blecker, director of orchestras, Adrian Public schools.

Beach orchestra "fiddlers" Kathryn Giebel, Jeff Vektor, Leslie Manning, and Steve Radant, along with string bassist, Mike Steinaway, will be featured in a 1 p.m. performance with Common Ground at Eastern's string orchestra clinic. These eighth graders were members of a fiddling class taught last summer by Carol Palms. They will be entertaining 250 other students in the recital hall in the Alexander Music building.

Beach School Principal Plans Meeting With Parents

Beach Middle school principal Darco Stielstra is planning his own version of "Dialogue with the Superintendent."

Stielstra is inviting parents to meet with him at Beach school on Nov. 13 to discuss Beach programs, answer questions and communicate concerns.

"I would hope to communicate some of the positives as well as discuss concerns," Stielstra said. Refreshments will also be served.

Parents are urged to notify the middle school office when a convenient meeting time would be along with their address. A confirming letter will then be sent home with the exact time of the meeting.

Kiwanis Club Plans Party For Halloween

Halloween, Wednesday, Oct. 31 "Trick or Treats" will be held from 4 to 6 p.m.

David Preuss, Chelsea Kiwanis Club Halloween Party chairman, has announced that the Kiwanis Club's Halloween party will start in the municipal parking lot at 6 p.m.

The party begins with the judging of the costumes from 6 to 6:30 p.m. Prizes will be awarded for the best, scariest, funniest and most original costumes.

The parade will march from East Middle to Main St., south on Main St. to Park St. and back to the municipal parking lot for cider and doughnut refreshments at 7 p.m. The winners of the costume contest will be announced at that time.

The acre was originally the area a yoke of oxen could plow in a day.

Manchester High School Receiving Internal Facelift

In the past few weeks the internal renovation work at Manchester High school has continued. During the summer the complete inside of the high school was repainted. Minor parts of the project which were not completed during the summer are to be finished during Christmas vacation.

Most recently, carpeting in parts of the library and throughout the office areas was replaced. Superintendent Gene Thompson commented, "The carpeting which was in the offices had gotten pretty shabby. There were numerous rips and places where the carpeting had completely worn through. The new carpeting certainly improves the work environment and I believe that is important in order to maintain productivity."

As the library collection has expanded it has been necessary to move into adjoining rooms. These areas are being carpeted to match the main library area. Most recently the ceiling in the high school gym is being installed. The result is an entirely new appearance for the gym. The effect is a brighter and more sound controlled area, in addition to being more energy efficient.

Support Group Will Help Parents With Crying Babies

Parents the world over have wondered for generations why some babies cry more than others. Although no specific answers to this question have been found, results from recent studies show that parents know from practical experience. That is, a crying baby who will not respond to soothing techniques is a tremendous source of stress on the family.

"While various techniques have been tried to soothe these babies, there is no simple solution and this compounds the problem," states Marian Cohen, ACSW, social worker at the University of Michigan Family Practice Center who has been studying this problem. "There is some evidence, however, that it helps for the parents to know that they are not alone in their situation and that in general difficult babies get through this phase within a few months."

Ms. Cohen has found that "while there are numerous support groups and parenting classes available in Chelsea, there has not been a program which specifically addresses the needs of a family coping with this very difficult problem." In response to this need in the community, Dr. Mary Westhoff, Chelsea pediatrician, and Ms. Cohen are developing such a group.

The purpose of this support group is to share experiences with one another and offer that much needed support. "A support group can serve as a buffer against the stress of a less than happy baby," continues Cohen. "In a situation with a continually crying baby, parents often feel guilty, anxious, and desperate as a result of this problem. It is a relief to be able to discuss it with someone who really understands what the family is going through."

One ray of hope that parents who have a difficult baby can cling to is the fact that the baby may outgrow it.

The group is also interested in hearing from parents who have made it through this phase and can provide some encouragement.

Dr. Westhoff and Ms. Cohen hope that this group will help parents get through those most difficult months. The support group will meet on Monday evenings, 7:30 to 9. The meeting place will be in the upstairs classroom in the University of Michigan Family Practice Center, 775 S. Main St., Chelsea.
