FATAL ACCIDENT: The passenger of this car was killed when the driver failed to negotiate a curve in the rain and smashed into some trees. The top of the car was removed to extricate the driver and passenger by the Chelsea Fire Department and Huron Valley Ambulance. The accident took place on Old US-12, seven-tenths of a mile west of Wilkinson St.

Munith Man Killed in Car Accident on Old US-12

A driver traveling too fast for the rainy conditions, failed to make a curve causing a traffic fatality on Old US-12 on Nov. 9 at about 1:30 p.m.

Passenger Robert William Bentley, 26, of Munith, was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital and pronounced dead at 2:35 p.m. He died of internal injuries.

The driver was Michael Ross Platt, 27, of Grass Lake. He was treated at Chelsea Community Hospital for a possible cervical spine fracture and chest trauma. He was referred to St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital for follow-up treatment.

The accident took place about seven-tenths of a mile west of Wilkinson St.

The car was traveling east on Old US-12 at high speed when it crossed the west-bound lane and drove off the edge of the road. The car then swerved right, recrossed the street, drove off the south edge of the road and struck a small tree. The car continued for 14 more feet and hit two large trees which had grown together.

The car rolled over on the driver's side, pinning the two men. Chelsea Fire Department and Huron Valley Ambulance Co. crews extricated both men.

Witnesses reported the driver was moving much too fast for the conditions and failed to negotiate the curve, said Joseph Yekulis, a deputy with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Alcohol was involved in the accident.

"In regard to possible charges against the driver, the case is still under investigation, and will be sent to the Washtenaw County Prosecutor's Office for review when completed," said Yekulis.

Neither man was wearing his seatbelt.

If they had, "the driver's injuries would have been minimized and the passenger probably would have lived," said Yekulis.

This brings the number of fatalities up to 49 this year, double last year's tally of 26 at this time.

Yekulis said several factors caused the increase in fatalities. The economy has improved giving people more money to spend on alcohol and gas for their cars.

The county undertook a road improvement project which greatly improved surfaces in the out-county area. When roads were in poor condition, people had to drive slower to avoid bumps.

"Perhaps people aren't as fearful of sentencing since the new OUIL law went into effect in March, 1983. The new law served as a deterrent but maybe the deterrent effect has gone down from what it was a year ago," said Yekulis.

"It would appear that alcohol abuse is on an increase, it seems to be the preferred drug of choice within our culture now, thereby increasing the number of people who are intoxicated on the highway although statistics show that alcohol is involved in around 50-60% of the fatalities that are being policed.

"The main point is that it is not any one particular thing that is responsible for the increase but many different variables," said Yekulis.

Fire Department Seeks To Triple Equipment Fund

The seven townships which share in the cost of financing the Chelsea's fire department are being asked to triple their ante into the department's equipment fund.

The proposed new agreement, if approved, would increase the equipment fund from $10,000 a year to $30,000. First payments would be due on May 1, 1988. The contract would be for three years, beginning on March 1, 1985.

Sylvan, Lima, Sharon, Lyndon, Dexter and Freedom townships in Washtenaw county, and Waterloo township in Jackson county all buy fire protection service from the village of Chelsea.

Cost-shares are based on actual man-hour charges for services rendered on calls into each township. Thus the billing for the equipment fund and other fire protection services is delayed by more than a year until the percentages are figured out.

The village of Chelsea would contribute on the same basis.

Sanderson Quits Village Zoning Post

Carl J. Sanderson has resigned as Chelsea zoning inspector, effective Nov. 16, citing health reasons.

Sanderson, a retired purchasing agent for Chrysler Corp., lives at 750 N. Main St. He was appointed to the part-time village position in June of 1983, and suffered a heart attack two months later.

"I feel I shouldn't try to do the job any longer considering my personal health situation," Sanderson said. "It takes more time and harder work than I thought it would when I applied for the appointment. There are some other problems, but let's just say that I resigned for health reasons, and leave it at that."

The village council accepted Sanderson's resignation and thanked him for his service.

Board Approves Industrial Park Fund Transfer

The village board has approved a transfer of $85,202.15 from the electric fund to the industrial development fund to cover cost of work done at the Sibley Rd. industrial park during September. The money is to be repaid from land sale receipts in the industrial park.

In a related action the board approved minor revisions in the industrial park plat, which were made to accommodate the Book-Crafters fulfillment house now under construction.

West Washtenaw Voters Again Go Heavily for GOP

In an election which produced no real surprises from the top to the bottom of the ballot, west Washtenaw county residents voted the expected 3 to 2 or better in favor of Republican candidates from president on down.

Mrs. Margaret O'Connor will continue to represent the 52nd district in the Michigan House of Representatives. She swamped her Democratic opponent, Earle H. Stevenson, 24,275 to 10,745.

Congressman Carl Pursell, Plymouth Republican, trounced his Democratic challenger, Mike McCauley, by better than 2-to-1, getting 136,517 votes to 60,747. Pursell's district includes west Washtenaw.

Re-elected to county-wide offices were incumbent Republicans William F. Delhey, prosecuting attorney, Ronald J. Schebl, sheriff; Robert M. Harrison, county clerk and register of deeds, and Michael A. Stimpson treasurer.

Democrat James E. Murray proved an exception to the Republican rule, as he attracted enough cross-over voters to retain his post as county drain commissioner.

The referendum on renewal of a quarter-mill tax to support the county parks and recreation program passed, 57,475 to 35,840.

Sylvan township voters approved a proposal to grant the village of Chelsea a franchise to sell electricity in the township. The vote was 1,617 yes to 442 no.

In Dexter township, H. Douglas Smith and Earl F. Doletzky, both Republicans, were elected as trustees in a three-way race. The loser was Democrat Billy Robertson. Vote totals were: Smith, 1,805; Doletzky, 1,117; Robertson, 559.

Lyndon township voters elected Republicans George E. Beeman and Barbara Roderick as trustees. Democrats M. Jean Dunn and Francis D. Grohnert lost. Vote totals: Beeman, 486; Roderick, 486; Dunn, 280, and Grohnert, 236.

Ellis J. Pratt of Freedom township, who defeated Chelsea's George Merkel by seven votes in the Republican primary, will represent District 1 on the Board of County Commissioners. Unopposed in the general election, Pratt received 9,029 "complimentary" votes.

County Commissioner Martin L. Straub of Dexter township was re-elected in a race against Jan F. BenDor of Superior township in District 2, 7,611 to 5,104.

In the what was as close to an upset as anything which came out of the election, incumbent Democrat Larry D. Minick of Augusta township was defeated by Republican Roy Smith of Pittsfield township in District 3, 6,031 to 5,207. Smith is a former state legislator. His victory changed the party line-up on the commission from 7-2 to 6-3, with the Democrats still in control.

While heavy, the county voter turn-out did not set a record. It was down by about 1,000 from the 1980 election.

Teklin Corporation Begins Steps Towards Farm Loan

Teklin Corporation has begun steps towards applying for a loan from the Farmer's Home Administration to help finance apartment buildings on Old US-12.

Teklin proposes to build 36 apartment units in two two-story buildings on 8.2 acres of land on the north side of US-12, east of Arthur St. The rental apartments would be geared towards senior citizens, and high school graduates.

The company has asked the village to rezone the property from low to medium residential. A public hearing on the request is scheduled for Nov. 20 before the Chelsea Village Council.

Teklin filed a Notice of Intent with the South Eastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEM-COG) to get their input before requesting a loan from Farmer's Home Administration. The corporation is asking for a loan of $1,062,000. The total project is expected to cost $1,117,895.

Fritz Weber, village administrator, and Ralph Pasola, senior planner of the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission submitted letters to SEMCOG regarding the project.

Weber wrote in his letter of Oct. 29 that even if the property is rezoned, the village has to approve the site-plan which "will address critical questions such as sanitary sewer utilization of a system that is experiencing capacity problems, possible storm drainage retention requirements, and ingress and egress to the site, etc."

The planning commission withheld recommendation of the project until the village's concerns have been resolved regarding rezoning, the sewer capacity and whether a sanitary sewer can be tapped into the main line.

Development co-ordinator for Teklin, Tricia Wilcox Price, said she had to look into the problem with the sewer.

"I am presently working with a city where they are updating and expanding their sewer and using our help to get a grant to update and improve the system," she said.

According to Price, the village is eligible for a Community Development Grant or a Farmer's Home Administration utility grant. Price said she would be willing to help the village "read what has to be done and explain it to them."

Weber said the village has already looked into these avenues but was not eligible for them. The village has been working on a grant through the Clean Water Act for six years.

"If the sewer problem cannot be resolved, 'I suppose we wouldn't be able to build because its very expensive to put in our own sanitary system for a project of that size,' said Price.

In applying for the loan, Teklin has formed a limited partnership, named Chelsea Arms Limited Partnership, to act as a separate legal entity for the project. The partnership consists of the Teklin Corporation and Teklin president Evert L. Foote.

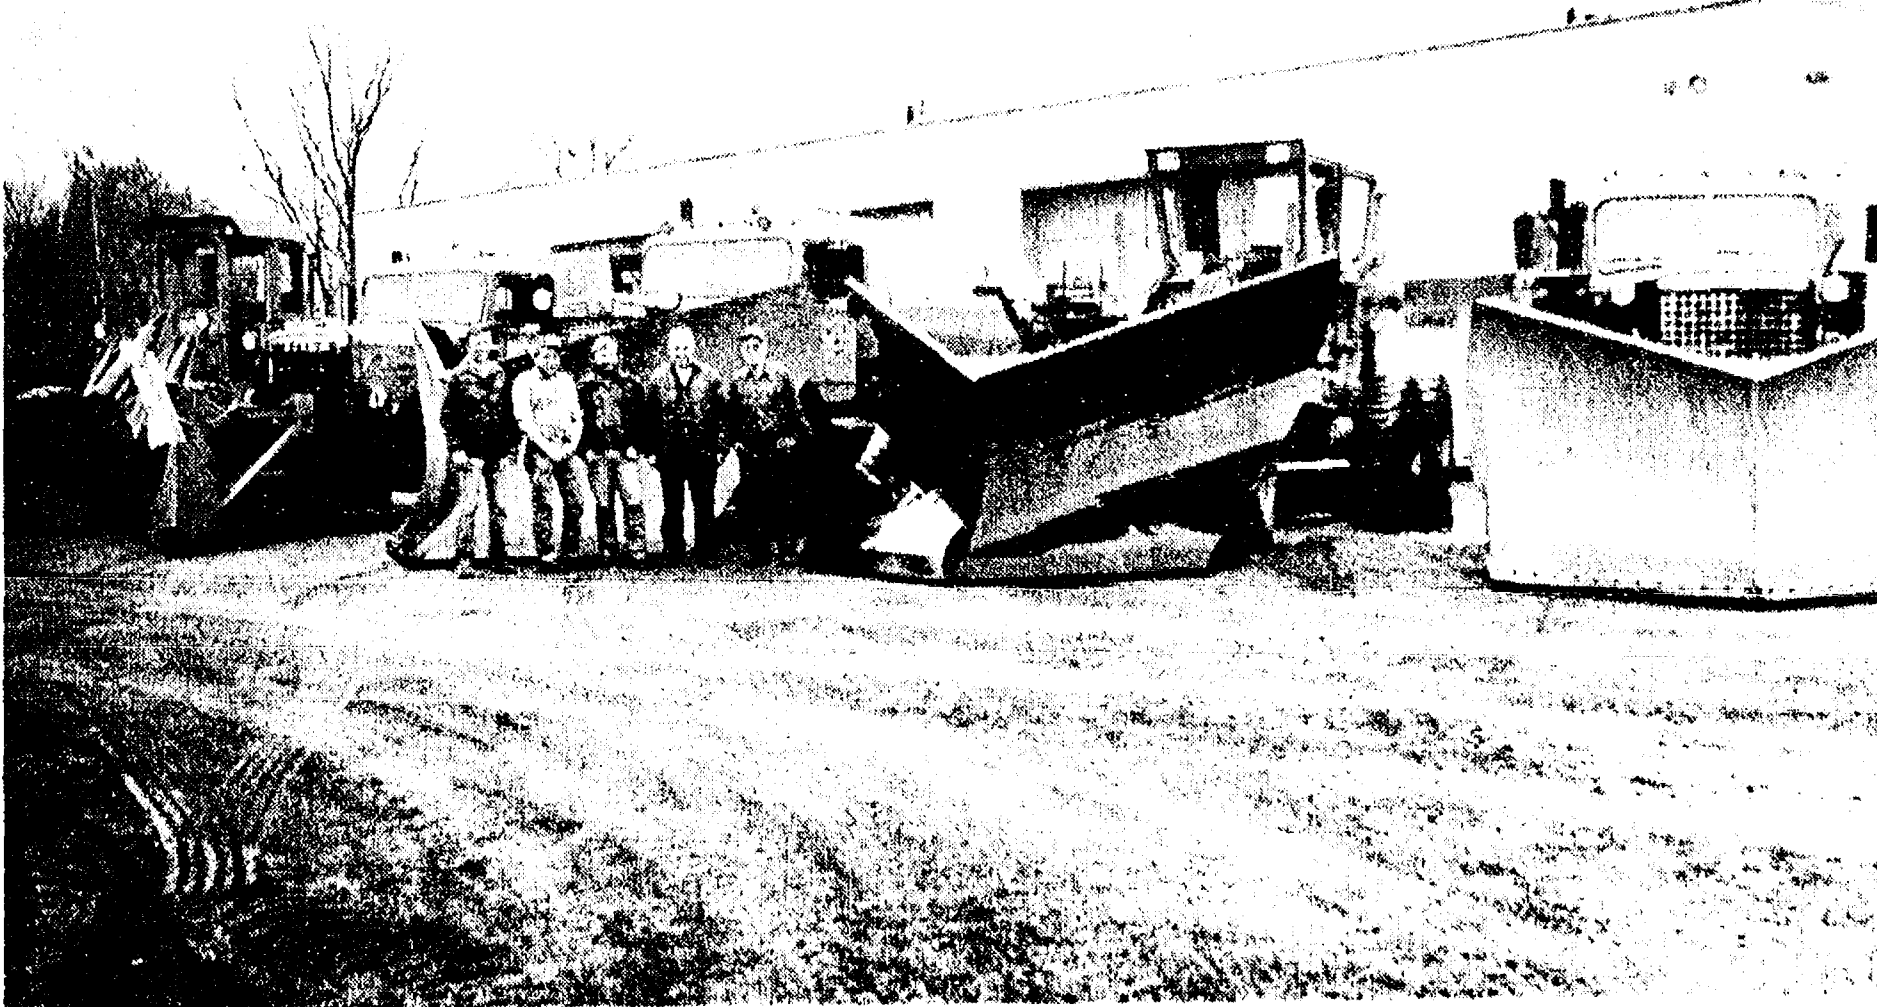

"For every development, we have to have a separate limited partnership. It has to have its own legal entity that's accountable for everything to apply for a loan from the Farmer's Home Administration," said Price, development co-ordinator at Teklin.

Teklin's next step will be to file a pre-application for the loan with the administration.

"Even if everything goes well, we wouldn't break ground for at least 15 months. That's how long (Continued on page two)

THE FIRST SNOW has brought the first snowman. This one, complete with Michigan insignia, was found visiting the home of Wayne and Brenda Newman, 411 W. Middle. Frosty is wisely wearing his hat and scarf in preparation for the bitter Michigan winters.

County Road Yard Spruced Up

The County Road Commission yard on W. Middle St. has been "spruced up" in a couple of ways.

The yard has been cleaned up, new fences and gates installed, and equipment readied for service during the winter snow-removal months. A couple of dozen six-foot spruce trees, which will eventually hide the fence, have been planted.

"I'm happy with what has been done," said road commissioner Herman Koenn of Chelsea as the yard was given an official inspection last Friday morning.

"The yard had gotten kind of junky, and we had some complaints about its condition," Koenn said. "I believe we have the problems corrected. We have spent some money and done a lot of work."

The road commission operates six yards throughout the county. Men and equipment are dispatched from them to take care of county road problems year-around. The heavy pressure comes on in winter, when the snow has to be plowed and roads salted.

On Tuesday morning, Nov. 18, the Chelsea branch of the Secretary of State's office was notified that it was among 45 branches to be closed effective Dec. 31. Some offices will be terminated as of Jan. 31.

The notice of closure, received from the Secretary of State in Lansing, came as no real surprise for any of the three employees who are employed there.

On Sunday, Nov. 30, noted local photographer Dale Fisher will offer to the interested viewing public a collection of his natural photographs, taken from the lofty and not-so-lofty heights of a helicopter. The photographic art show will begin at noon and last until 5 p.m. in the Events Building at the Chelsea Fairgrounds. The vast array of framed photographs will be shown to the public free of charge.

Sometime between 5:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 10 and 8:35 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 11, Meabon's TV Furniture and Appliance store was broken into.

Upon arrival, Chelsea Police noted that the perpetrators of the crime had entered the building by breaking a window and then unlocking the door. The burglar alarm was shut off and $65 in bills and change were taken. Nothing else was stolen.

Chelsea Jaycees traveled to Traverse City this past week-end, Nov. 13-14, to attend the Jaycees

Full State Board meeting. More than 1,300 Jaycees and wives were in attendance for the meeting. Those from Chelsea included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Updegraff, Mr. and Mrs. Art Steinaway, St. Hopkins, Ron Branham, Tom Steele, Dave Clark and Dennis White.

1970 marks the 25th year of Dana Corporation's Power Equipment Division in Chelsea. The Buchanan St. plant first opened its doors on Dec. 1, 1945.

Deer hunting season opened with a bang for this area, according to Conservation Officer Donley Boyer.

First reported deer kill was a buck downed at 7:15 a.m. Sunday by Robert Walz. Legal shooting time is 7 a.m. so Walz's kill is most likely the first legal one of the season in this area.

Several Chelsea area organizations have appointed representatives to attend an open meeting of the Dexter Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday evening Nov. 22 to lend support to the Dexter organization in its efforts to have toll-free telephone service installed between Chelsea and Dexter.

Two large barns and large quantities of hay, straw and grain were destroyed in a spectacular fire which was discovered at about 10 a.m. yesterday on the Jack Bradbury farm, 9890 Easton Rd. However, team work of the Chelsea and Dexter fire departments, together with the assistance of road crews working on the nearby Interstate 94 construction, and the help of neighboring farmers who hauled truck loads of water in milk cans kept the blaze confined to the two barns and saved a third large barn located only three feet away.

The annual United Thanksgiving service sponsored by Protestant churches of Chelsea will be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 23

Study Shows Electrical Supply Sufficient to 1990's

Current state electrical supplies are sufficient to meet consumer demand up until the early 1990's, a study released by the Department of Commerce reported.

However, there are differences on how much demand will grow after that time and current emphasis on policy makers should be on finding the lowest cost alternatives to maintaining the state's electrical needs, the study said.

Following the release, Governor James Blanchard issued a statement directing the Commerce Department to conduct a study to find the least expensive way to help produce future power needs.

"Michigan's citizens and businesses must be assured that an adequate and reliable supply of energy to match the needs of our growing economy will be available at a reasonable cost," he said.

The study, conducted by the department's Energy Administration, concluded that at the current rate of retiring power plants, the state will have a sufficient electrical supply through the 1980's and into the 1990's.

However, the estimates of demand needs from Consumers Power Co., Detroit Edison Co., and the Public Service Commission vary widely for later in the decade, the report said.

Nor was the data sufficient to determine which method of producing power would be best for the state.

The report recommended that differences on forecasting power needs be ended, that the two large utilities—Consumers and Edison—should consider smaller sized generating plants than currently are being built, that legislation be considered to allow advance review of the costs of meeting future electrical needs and that a detailed study on all electrical generating options, and their costs, be conducted.

Great Lakes May Be Next "Sunbelt" Area

The Great Lakes states will be the country's next economic "sunbelt," a California engineer told a recent public hearing on Michigan's infrastructure.

Franklin Argady also praised Michigan as the first state to define its problems on a local basis and said society had the best opportunity of the last 50 years to "rebuild the country for the next 100 years."

Argady, president of URS Engineering Corp. in San Mateo, told Governor Blanchard's panel of infrastructure that Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio were set to become the next region of significant economic growth.

Factors appealing to business, he said, included a stable labor force and an abundance of resources such as water.

States were going to have to go out to high technology industries, such as robotics manufacturing, and convince them of the propriety of coming to these states."

Repairs and new developments will cost an estimated $750 billion nationally over the next 15 years, he said.

But in developing solutions to

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:*DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb reminded the fellers at the country store Saturday night that he has been saying for the past 10 year that if he had known he was going to live so long he would of took better care of himself. He had been meaning to start, Zeke said, but now it's to late.

If you don't live right before you're 65, you're stuck with what's left the rest of your life, Zeke announced. Changing your eating, sleeping and exercising habits after 65 don't do nothing fer you but give you more you can't remember. Zeke had saw where a study of more than 1,200 people at the Harvard Medical School found that what's good for the young don't help the old.

Dr. Laurence Branch done the research, Zeke said, and being well along in years he wanted to show that folks his age that quit smoking, quit drinking and start doing all they can to take care of their minds and bodies can live longer and better. But the statics didn't come up right, Zeke said. Onct you hit three score and five, Dr. Branch found, your course is set and you might as well sail it. Zeke's discouraging word played to mixed reviews, since all the fellers are on borrowed time according to all the statics. Bug Hookum said he wasn't buying none. What he saw in the study, Bug said, was that enough of them that burn the candle at both ends die young to leave room on the age chart fer them that survive middle age to live right on off the top. Leastwise, Bug said, that's his plan. Besides, Bug went on, he reads where healthy people fall dead jogging and he, fer one, wants to be sick when he dies.

Practical speaking, broke in Clem Webster, you got to see Bug's side. Clem had saw where the over 65 now outnumber the under 20, and the margin is expected to be two to one in 40 year. Furthermore, Clem said, as more folks git older more of em are moving to the country. A recent study at the University of Miami used census figgers to show that the elderly led the way out of the cities in the 70s and that this move is growing. What this means is that all along we've been right where everybody else wants to be, Clem declared, so it's going to be hard to improve on that.

The old age cloud might have some silver in its lining, declared Ed Doolittle, but the dark spots are to big to miss. Fer instant, he had saw where Americans spent $355 billion on health care last year, more of it by old folks. Another dark cloud is Medicare,

Ed went on. After doctors first said they would agree to a one year freeze on prices, they're going to court to fight Medicare law based on their promise. The doctors say they got a right to charge what they want, and they know old folks are ducks on the pond.

Josh Clodhopper had dozed off by the stove, but he jerked up his head to second Ed's motion. Josh had thought the situation up one side and down the other, and he had a plan. He had saw where this surgon let his 12 year old son help him in an operation, so the least they can do is give free service fer such training the way the barber schools give free shaves and haircuts.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

it takes to satisfy Farmer's Home," said Price.

The project is planning to house 20 one-bedroom apartments and 16 two-bedrooms. The final number of units is determined based on the village's size, number of graduating seniors and senior citizens and number of renters.

"We look at all of those things to put together a reasonable number of units. We don't want to overbuild. We don't want to suffer vacancies, but we want to build enough apartments for people who want them," said Price.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Three Holiday Nights

In conjunction with the "Be an Angel, Buy an Angel" program, Chelsea Hospital Auxiliary will feature three evenings of carolling, celebrity guests, and lighting the tree.

On Nov. 30, at 7:30 p.m., outside the hospital main entrance, the auxiliary will light the first-third of the outdoor tree. Several University of Michigan football players will be present. Santa Claus will be on hand. Everyone is invited to join in singing carols, but entertainment will also be provided by Chelsea High school vocal groups, the Madrigals and Contemporaries.

On Dec. 7, same time and place, the Auxiliary will feature a surprise which has yet to be revealed. Village president Jerry Satterthwaite may help light the second-third of the tree. Besides some more carolling, Chelsea High school brass ensemble will perform. Santa Claus will return.

The final third of the tree will be lit Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m. "Fat

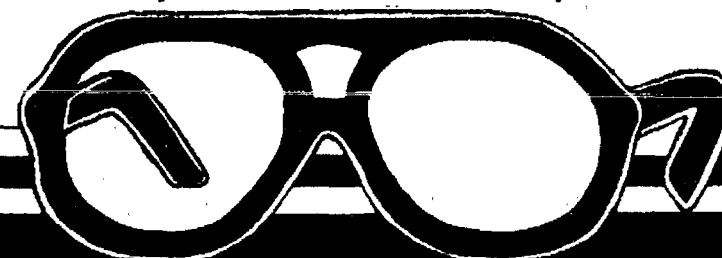

Bob" Taylor, the WJR disc jockey who used to be "Fat Bob" the singing plumber, will perform. There will be more carolling and santa will make a final appearance.

The tiny hand-painted wooden angels will be available for sale at all three evenings. The auxiliary gift shop inside the hospital, Arbor Nook, will be open during the tree lightings.

The angels are being sold to raise money for auxiliary projects such as health career scholarships and the summer speech and therapy program. Scholarships are awarded each year to residents of the hospital community including those in Grass Lake and Manchester.

The Auxiliary has also contributed to purchasing a pace-aide for the emergency room, supporting the Special Olympics, and purchasing a film projector and screen for Kresge House.

HOW MUCH ABOUT DEATH CAN A CHILD UNDERSTAND?

The young child of three to five usually understands little of death and seems to be disturbed about it for only a short time or for short intervals.

The child from five to nine may express guilt remembering past feelings and quarrels with the deceased. They will be very much influenced by the way in which adults in the family behave during the death and funeral.

Of utmost importance to children of any age is that they receive the support of a loving adult to help sort out their feelings, assure them that they are in no way responsible for the death, and encourage them to share their feelings with you.

Floyd Rodericks Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

Dora and Floyd Roderick celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in Mattoon, Ill. on Sept. 29, the date of their wedding 50 years ago, when they were on a trip in northern lower Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

Floyd Roderick and Dora (Scripter) Roderick were married Sept. 29, 1934 in Ann Arbor. The Rodericks became Chelsea residents and lived here until May of this year when they moved to Ypsilanti. Mr. Roderick worked for several companies in Chelsea before he went to work for the Village of Chelsea, Department of Land Fill for 10 years (April 1, 1969 to April 1, 1979) before retiring.

Their daughter, Arlesta, and son-in-law, Don Alexander, live on W. Middle St. here in Chelsea and their son, Gary and daughter-in-law, Barbara Roderick, reside in the Waterloo area.

The Rodericks have seven grandchildren and three step-grandchildren. Grandchildren are Jim, Michelle and Floyd Alexander of Chelsea and Dora Alexander Fife of Tucson, Ariz., Eddie Alexander of Chelsea, Larry Alexander of Ann Arbor, and Nancy Alexander Johnston of Wisconsin, and Dawn Roderick Sinclair of Ann Arbor, Anita and Allen Roderick of Chelsea; also two great-grandchildren.

Recognizing that the critical need for reliable and affordable quality child care continues to be a barrier to improving training and employment opportunities for large numbers of women, the Labor Department's Women's Bureau continued efforts to expand employer-sponsored child care during the 1983 fiscal year, according to the department's annual report.

Toy Demonstration, Sale Slated at Hospital Monday

The Children's Center of Chelsea Community Hospital is sponsoring a Discovery Toy Demonstration on Monday, Nov. 19, from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Hospital's dining room.

Discovery Toys offer educational toys to parents of children from birth to 8 years, and 8 years to adult. The toys are presented with information on the developmental stages of children.

Through the efforts of the Discovery Toys consultant, a proper match is made between the skill level of the child and the Discovery Toy. It is unhurried, informative, and one-step shopping for learning devices not found in regular toy stores with no pressure to buy.

The toys in the line are selected by educators and parents and subsequently, tested by children. All are reasonably priced and guaranteed for quality.

For more information call Anne or Carla at 475-1311, ext. 405.

St. Mary's Altar Society Draws 21

There were 21 members present at the Nov. 5 meeting of the St. Mary's Altar Society.

Guest speaker Julie Say gave a talk on nutrition and weight-loss programs combined with exercise.

After the regular business meeting, refreshments were served by Helen Harvey, Barb Robinson and Janet Salyer.

The next meeting will be a potluck dinner, Dec. 3 at 6 p.m., in the parish rectory basement. All ladies of the parish are welcome to attend.

Free Diabetes Screening Tests Offered at Hospital

Free blood tests will be provided in the Chelsea Community Hospital Emergency Services Lobby Tuesday, Nov. 13 through Friday, Nov. 16, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. This service is provided in observance of Diabetes Detection Week by Chelsea Community Hospital and Chelsea Medical Laboratories in conjunction with M.D.S. Laboratories, Michigan, Inc.

Julie Say, R.D., community nutritionist, stressed the importance of eating a high carbohydrate meal, one with a large amount of starches and sugars, two hours before the test. A person planning to take the test after supper could have a serving of meat, fish, or poultry, 1 cup mashed potatoes or a large baked potato, a hot vegetable, salad if desired, cake or pie for dessert, and a glass of milk. The meal should be eaten within a 15-minute time period to assure an accurate test. After the meal, nothing else except water should be taken before the test.

The free blood tests are meant for adults 18 years of age or more who are not known diabetics. An estimated 200,000 persons in Michigan are diabetic and don't know it. Persons who are at high risk of developing diabetes are over 40, overweight, and related to diabetics.

If you have any questions regarding the blood tests, contact Julie Say, R.D., community nutritionist, 475-1311, extension 369 or Chelsea Medical Labs, phone 475-1311, extension 402.

The Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Worker Protection Act became effective April 14, 1983, replacing the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act, which it repealed, according to the 1983 annual report of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Thanksgiving Dinner Planned For Patients, Guest

Chelsea Community Hospital will serve a Thanksgiving meal with all the trimmings to patients and their guest on Nov. 22.

For those who cannot be home for the holiday, the meal will help to make the occasion special. Each patient is being urged to write a relative or friend to join them in Thanksgiving dinner, courtesy of the hospital.

The menu will consist of pumpkin soup, roast turkey with orange almond stuffing, stuffed breast of chicken pilgrim, cranberry orange relish, fruit and lettuce salads, pumpkin pie, and cheese cake.

The special dinner will be served at noon, and patients and their guest are encouraged to enjoy their meal in the hospital's homelike dining room.

Arthritis Specialist Joins Family Practice Staff

Dr. Armin Good, professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan Medical Center, will be serving as an arthritis consultant at the Family Practice Center on a regular basis. Dr. Good has been working in arthritis at the University and Veterans Hospital since 1959.

Many people are confused about arthritis; what it is, its causes and cures. Dr. Good describes it as "a word which means pain that arises in a joint. There are many causes of this pain and the treatment varies according to the cause."

We find the arthritis is an umbrella term used for up to 100 different kinds of rheumatic diseases. The thing that is common in all of them is pain, stiffness, and usually some inflammation in one or more joints.

Since the beginning of time, rheumatoid arthritis has been one of the most painful and potentially crippling diseases affecting mankind. It also has been one of medical science's greatest puzzles. The mysteries are slowly being solved by research and there is promise that this disease will be brought under control.

With early diagnosis and treatment of symptoms, most severe crippling can be prevented. With the new techniques for rehabilitation, even severely disabled persons can be maintained at or brought back to a more active and productive life.

Appointments with Dr. Good may be arranged by having your personal physician's office call 475-1321.

Specialty clinics are held at the Family Practice Center on a regular basis. These specialty clinics now include allergy, cardiology, gynecology, obstetrics and chronic pain.

Doris Case Finds Mystery Balloons

Doris Case was out strolling through her yard on Sunday, Nov. 4, when she came across some mysterious balloons. Case lives with her husband, Leon, near Gregory.

The first balloon she encountered had a paper attached addressed Ciribini High School, 15305 Wicks Rd., Allen Park, Mich., and said, "Celebrate our 25th year today Oct. 10th. If you receive our special balloons, please write or call."

If that weren't strange enough, Case walked into the pasture in her back yard and found seven flattened balloons hanging from a bush with a card saying "Please send to Unity United Methodist church, 1660 North Getty, Muskegon."

Case replied to both the church and school but has not yet received an answer that would clear up the mystery. She believes the balloons were dropped from an airplane and that the school and church just want to see how far they will travel.

Chelsea Players Install New Board Members

Chelsea Area Players met last Thursday for their monthly board meeting. Three new board members were installed, including Pat Paulsell, Jan Baltzel, and Don Paulsell.

Discussions at the meeting included whether to have a winter event, additional ideas on the reorganization of the Players, and plans for next summer's musical.

It was decided to concentrate more time and effort on the reorganization and increasing participation and to cancel the winter event for this season.

Several plays will be presented by the play reading committee at the next meeting for board approval for next summer's production.

A pre-production committee was set up consisting of Brenda Beaver and Ruth Kenney to look into play dates and hiring a staff for the summer musical. Also, David Tiedgen, past-president of the Players, was presented with an award for outstanding service to the Players.

At a previous meeting, new officers for the year were chosen including Mike Long, president; Julie Vorus, vice-president; Bev Slater, Treasurer; and Ann Lee, secretary.

Next meeting will be Thursday, Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of Citizen's Trust Bank in Chelsea.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

The intent of this column is to focus on local matters, but an exception is made this week for a few comments on last week's national election. We get one of those only every four years, and thank god for that. We couldn't stand them any oftener. They are barely tolerable on a four-year cycle.

My feeling after voting a week ago Tuesday and then going home later in the day to watch the results projected on television was one of intense relief. I can't remember when I last got so sick and tired of anything. It probably was in 1980, when we went through much the same dreary ritual. This one was worse.

That feeling has nothing to do with who or what won and lost. Some of my choices were winners, others were losers. That's the way the election game goes.

This past election campaign lasted about two years, which is at least 18 months too long. I like the British system, under which an election is called and held in a period of 30 days. If you can't make up your mind in a month, you probably have no business voting.

Six months is surely more than enough time to select candidates and let them speak their public pieces. Any office-seeker who can't put forth whatever ideas he has in a series of half a dozen speeches is probably not worth electing. Thanks to the marvels of modern communications, those ideas can be conveyed almost instantly to everybody.

What we get is endless, almost mindless repetition—the same stuff over and over again. It is not only brain-numbing, it is insulting to the collective intelligence of the electorate. We citizens are smarter than politicians give us credit for. We don't have to be told repeatedly. We get the message the first time around, or at least the second time.

The problem is not so much the fault of the people involved who are caught up in the system as in the system itself. We have managed to make political campaigning an endless ongoing activity that never stops.

The run for the presidency in 1988 began at the instant the TV networks declared that Ronald Reagan had secured enough electoral votes to win a second term.

Reagan is a lame duck, a president who cannot succeed himself. Don't think for a minute that there aren't dozens of Republicans plotting how they can jockey for position to win the nomination four years from now.

The Democrats are in disarray after having suffered a disastrous defeat at the top of their ticket, and there are plenty of self-appointed volunteers figuring out how they might pick up the pieces and put the party back together with themselves at the head of it.

What little suspense that there used to be in our elections has been taken away by the public opinion polls which tell us who is going to win months before we vote. Politicians—especially those who are reported to be behind—keep bravely insisting that "you can't believe the polls."

The fact is that you can. Modern opinion sampling techniques produce astonishingly accurate forecasts of results. Everybody, including the candidates, knows who the winners are before the votes are counted.

I have never been called by an opinion sampler questioning how I intend to vote. The odds of that happening are about like those of winning the grand prize in the new Michigan Lotto game.

As a matter of fact, I don't intend to vote. It's none of your business. If somebody ever accosts me outside a voting place and asks how I voted, the response will not be polite. The so-called "exit poll" is a rude and crude invasion of personal privacy. I can't understand why people hold still for it.

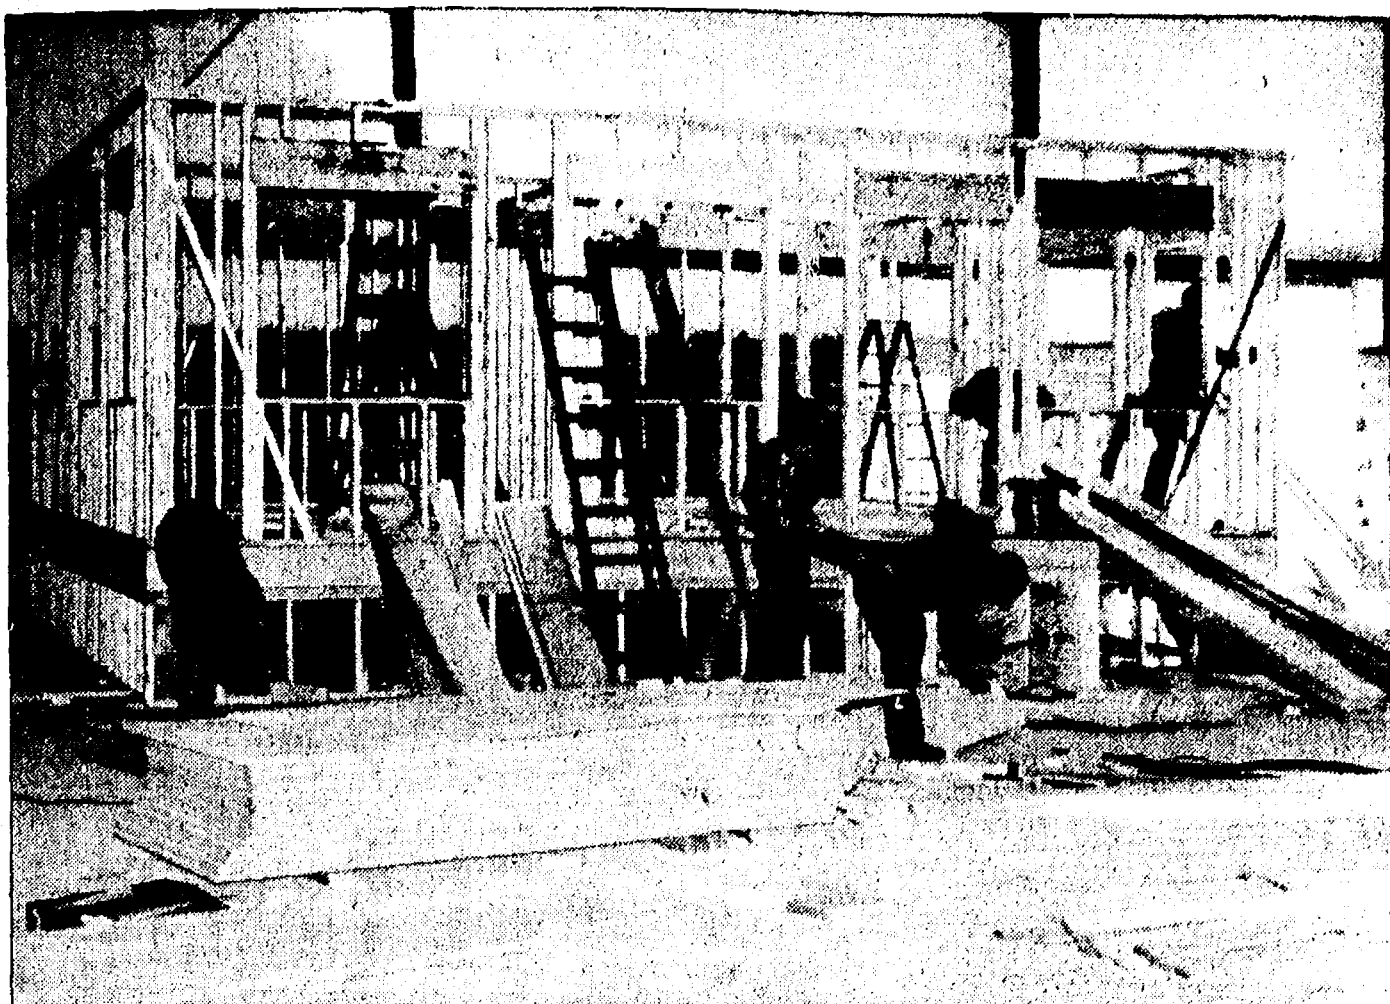

Voting and sex have one thing in common. They are both very private matters. What you do behind closed doors or in the voting booth is your concern and nobody else's. I suggest that more people should assume that stance. It would discommodate the pollsters who try to find out how we are going to vote before we do and maybe restore some excitement to elections.

I took one political position in this column prior to Nov. 6. I came out against Proposal C, the so-called "Voters Choice" amendment to Michigan's Constitution. Proposal C went down by a big margin, and I'm glad because I don't think it was a step toward good government. The proposition was so full of holes and flaws that you really couldn't tell what it said or meant.

I hope that sometime between now and the next election, a reasonable, workable, well drafted proposal will be drawn up and presented to the voters. If it will put a brake on government spending without crippling essential functions such as education and local services, the public will buy it.

Meanwhile, I wonder if President Reagan is going to continue to spend money and run up the national debt at the rate of half a billion dollars a day. Of all the issues in last week's election, I think that was the least understood. Reagan never really addressed it during his campaign. He just sort of mumbled and rambled, and said, in effect, it's nothing to worry about.

I worry about it. If somebody brings around a petition for an amendment to the U. S. Constitution requiring that the president and Congress together adopt and hold to a balanced budget every year, except in time of war, I'll sign it. I don't think Reagan got a mandate last Tuesday to continue spending the nation into bankruptcy. I hope he doesn't think so either.

LESS THAN two months ago, you could see through the walls of this building, and already construction has begun on the building's interior. The building is the new fulfillment house for BookCrafters located in the Industrial Park. Two months ago only the building's frame was standing.

Phil Powers Wins Role In CMU Production

Phil Powers has continued on his chosen path in drama with a role in a play at Central Michigan University. Powers will play Azdak in Bertolt Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle."

The first part of the play tells the tale of a palace maid, Grusha, and the second part involves Azdak. Their stories are resolved in the final scene.

Powers graduated from Chelsea High school in 1982. He is a junior at Central where he majors in English and minors in Drama.

Powers began his interest in drama as a child attending theater workshops. In fifth grade, he had a role in Chelsea Player's "Fiddler on the Roof." He studied drama in Bill Coelius' class at Chelsea High school. As a senior at Chelsea, he had the lead in "West Side Story."

Powers directed "Tea House of the August Moon" in high school. He acted a role in the Central Michigan University production of that play. Also at Central, Powers appeared in "Marat Sade," and Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors."

Besides drama, Powers excelled in forensics. He won a first in the state for comedy while at Chelsea High school, and second place at Wayne State University in Renaissance Classics in prose. Powers also placed third in the nation in forensics.

In the 1984 Michigan Inter-collegiate Speech League, Powers won second place for dramatic duo and second place for prose.

Powers' other interests include music and golf. He was on the Chelsea High school golf team and a member of the marching and pep bands.

Powers is the son of Mary and Robert Powers of Grass Lake.

Speaker Sanders A Success At Chelsea High School

Bill Sanders, a professional motivational speaker, motivated Chelsea High students on Nov. 7. His speech was so inspirational, that several students came to talk to him afterwards instead of quickly leaving the assembly, said principal John Williams.

The major theme Sanders discussed was self-esteem. He gave several examples of his own life. For instance, when he was in fourth grade, he came home from school upset because other children had made fun of his skinny knees and elbows. His father said "Son, you do have skinny knees and elbows, but you're not a bad guy."

Sanders spoke against making fun of others and worrying too much about what others think, which he called peer pressure. He urged students to often do the things they did well, and be aware that we all have problems and shortcomings, and to learn to like yourself.

He ended the speech with a talk against smoking, drinking and drugs, which provided a lead-in to the Students Against Drunk Driving assembly on Nov. 8, said Williams.

Sanders also worked with teaching staff in the afternoon. He emphasized how to touch as well as teach lives, how to make individuals feel part of the classroom and that their input is appreciated. He provided ideas on how to create an atmosphere where positive learning can take place.

Sanders used a large square with 16 smaller squares inside it to make one of his points. He asked teachers how many squares they saw. They responded 16. He then showed how you could actually make 30 squares out of the 16. The square was an analogy to the classroom.

"The idea is to look at people and situations in a different way. Don't be bound by how something looks. What hidden squares are there around you? Look for something good in everybody," said Williams, describing the session.

U of M Musicians Give Music Program to North School Children

On Nov. 8, North school students learned about musical instruments through University of Michigan Musical Department students under the direction of Bob Culver.

The University students brought their instruments from classroom to classroom to teach North children about the science of music, and the enjoyment of musical instruments. The University musicians explained how instruments worked and made sound.

The visit also gave North students an opportunity to see actual musicians performing on real instruments.

(Continued from page two) at the Methodist Home chapel. The service will begin at 8 p.m. A football dinner given each year by mothers of the current football team members since the plan was originated 11 years ago by Mrs. Donovan Sweeney, took place for this year's players Tuesday evening at the Chelsea High school cafeteria.

34 Years Ago . . .

Wednesday, Nov. 23, 1950—Chelsea Agricultural Schools Board of Education is now studying three plans for 14-room elementary schools of simpler construction than the plan submitted to electors in the district during the past year. It is hoped to have a plan ready to submit to the electors some time in January so that if the issue is approved, construction of the new school could be started in the spring.

Basketball practice officially opened last Thursday for the Bulldogs, and with most of last year's fine team back again the prospects are bright and hopes are high for a championship flag to fly over their "Doghouse."

Grocerymen throughout Washtenaw county will have an opportunity to attend a discussion and demonstration on selling quality food products at 7:30 p.m. next Monday at Ann Arbor YMC auditorium, Ray Hiler, president of the Washtenaw county Grocery Association and H. S. Osler, making arrangements for the meeting.

At Wednesday's meeting of the Elementary PTA it was voted to contribute $50 toward the fund for the purchase of basketball uniforms for Junior High school boys.

The Chelsea High school Athletic Board in co-operation with the Ann Arbor Officials Association, is planning a basketball clinic to be held at Chelsea High School gymnasium on Wednesday, Nov. 29, at 8 p.m.

In the last 20 years, agricultural productivity per hour worked on the farm has increased more than three times faster than industrial productivity per hour worked.

Village To Buy Middle St. Land

The village board has voted to buy 246.5 front feet of vacant property on W. Middle St. at a price of $13,500. The parcel will be used to re-locate a village-owned house now at 134 W. Middle.

After the house is moved, the vacated land will become an addition to the village parking lot in the 100 block of W. Middle.

The property being bought is low, swampy and wooded, and will have to be cleared and filled before the house can be moved onto it.

The village bought the house several years ago. It was used for a time by the Chelsea Senior Citizens, before they moved their meeting place to North School. It has since been rented.

In authorizing purchase of the now-vacant land, which is west of Hayes St. and immediately adjacent to a home at 518 W. Middle, the board voted to transfer money as needed from the village electric fund to the parking meter fund.

Byron Pearson Performs At Carnegie Music Hall

Byron Pearson has played his trumpet in illustrious places over the last few days.

On Nov. 4, Pearson performed with a chamber orchestra and 150-voice choir at Carnegie Music Hall in Pittsburgh, Pa. The concert consisted of Honneger's oratorio, "Joan of Arc at the Stake."

On Nov. 10 and 11, Pearson appeared at the National Cathedral in Washington, D. C. with an orchestra and 200-voice choir. Antal Dorati conducted Handel's "Messiah." The event commemorates the birthday of composer George Frederick Handel, born in 1684. Handel composed the "Messiah" in 1741.

The orchestra used only baroque instruments. Pearson played a trumpet with no valves.

Pearson graduated from Chelsea High school in 1959. He is currently a professor of music at Oberlin Conservatory of Music in Oberlin, O. He is the son of the late W. D. Pearson, and Mrs. W. D. (Juanita) Pearson of Chelsea. Pearson began performing with the U. S. Marine Band in Washington, D. C. He also has worked with the New Orleans Symphony, St. Louis Symphony and Baltimore Symphony.

From the SUPERINTENDENT'S DESK

By Raymond E. Van Meer
Superintendent of Schools

Recently Dr. Charles Kuntzleman, program director, released the results of the three-year Feelin' Good program. The results were announced in a press conference in New York City.

Chelsea's 2nd, 5th and 7th graders had an opportunity to be part of this three-year program. Thirty children were selected, 10 from each grade, to have the complete test. All 2nd, 5th and 7th graders participated in the program. Chelsea teachers, including physical education teachers, were given in-service training prior to the start of the program in January, 1981. In light of the Feelin' Good program's proven effectiveness, the Chelsea School District is reviewing the physical education programs to incorporate more aerobic-based exercise. Dr. Kuntzleman states, "The data from the study showed objectively what experts have been stating subjectively for the past few decades. For maximum effectiveness, cardiovascular disease risk reduction programs can and should be started at an early age."

The first part of the study reveals that the fitness levels of parents and children who participated in the Feelin' Good study were similar to those of most average Americans. In the second part of the study, researchers found that an aerobic-based program such as Feelin' Good is superior to traditional physical programs. The following conclusions detail their findings.

—Feelin' Good children improved their ability to withstand vigorous exercise as measured by a combination mile run time and cycle ergometer test. (Their total work and peak work scores increased significantly without a corresponding increase in peak heart rates or systolic blood pressure.)

—Eating patterns of Feelin' Good children showed small but positive improvement as indicated by moderate reductions in calorie and cholesterol intakes.

—Feelin' Good children had a reduction in body fat as measured by skinfold thickness. The children demonstrated a tendency to gain less weight and/or weigh less than children not active in the Feelin' Good program.

—The Feelin' Good participants had an over-all four percent reduction in their total cholesterol values as compared to the control group.

—The Feelin' Good program effectively reduced the children's diastolic blood pressure rates about six percent.

—The Feelin' Good program effectively increased the children's heart rates above the 160 beats per minute desirable level for at least 20 minutes when in the gymnasium or on the playing field.

—The health attitude data amassed from the study indicates the non-competitive approach used in the program effectively improved the children's cardiovascular fitness levels, increased their awareness for the need for healthy exercise, and increased their desire to exercise more.

—Finally, the Feelin' Good program seems to improve the children's self-image and over-all self-esteem.

The data cited above is taken from the Feelin' Good Youth Fitness Report, 1984.

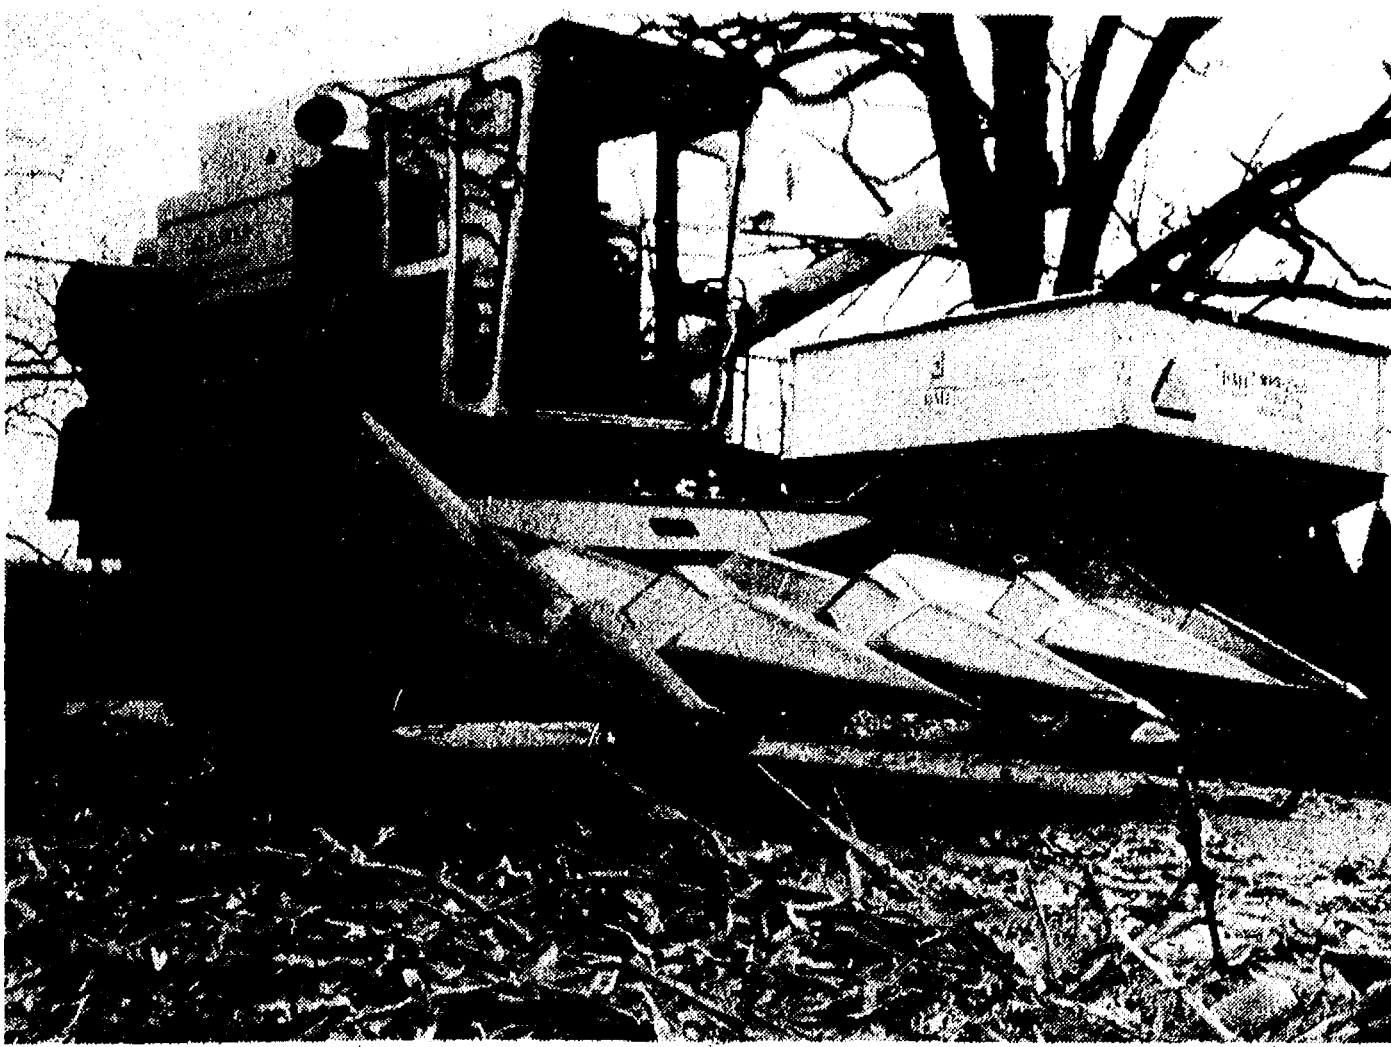

Currently the Chelsea schools have designated minimally one day per week in the physical education program to be devoted to aerobic-based exercise. It is anticipated that there will be a further expansion of the aerobic component in the physical education program. I feel that the research results are significant. The Chelsea schools are fortunate to have taken part in the program, and I believe that we ought to review our physical education program and, using the research data, infuse more aerobic exercise into the physical education program. The data is very clear that healthy children will, in all probability, be healthy adults.

Zoning Variance For Garage Granted

Acting as the zoning board of appeals, the village council has approved a variance so that Craig and Linda Sayers can expand a garage one foot closer to their lot line than the law allows.

The Sayers live at 316 McKinley St. No one appeared to protest the request for a zoning variance at a public hearing held Nov. 6. Sayers testified that he needs the added space to get his two vehicles into the garage that he proposes to add onto.

Holiday Programs Offered

What comes to mind when you think of the holidays? Family, fun, and friends? You might want to think of fitness too.

The Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission's holiday recreation programs begin Nov. 26 and run until the end of January. There will be programs to suit everyone.

For adults, there are aerobics, exercise, social dance, tap dance, jazz dance, pre-natal fitness, and volleyball to choose from.

Youths can prepare for the holiday season at the Children's Holiday Craft Workshop, go to a youth holiday day camp during school holidays, or attend a children's theatre workshop. WCPARC also offers a special class for pre-schoolers, which will introduce them to craft projects and basic exercises. It is offered during the same time slots as the Aerobic and Stretch-Fit adult programs.

Seniors can shape up with the Swim-fit program. People with special needs can join in the therapeutic swim and bowling.

A flyer with descriptions and schedules of the holiday recreation programs is available through WCPARC. Program registration begins immediately.

Participants may register by mail or in person at the WCPARC office on weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is located inside the Washtenaw County Recreation Center, at the corner of Hogback Rd. and Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor. In-person evening registration for the programs takes place on Thursday, Nov. 15 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the recreation center. The registration deadline is Friday, Nov. 16.

Thanksgiving Service Set For Wednesday, Nov. 21

The traditional Community Thanksgiving Eve Service, sponsored by the Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship, will be held Wednesday, Nov. 21, 7:30 p.m., at St. Paul United Church of Christ, on Old US-12.

The Rev. John Gibbon, pastor of First Congregational UCC, will serve as liturgist. Pastor John Morris, of Zion Lutheran church, will bring a Children's Story, with Pastor Erwin Koch, of St. Paul UCC, speaking on the topic "On Thorns and Thanksgivings." The Chancel Choir of St. Paul church will sing a special Thanksgiving anthem.

The offering that evening will be used for African Famine Relief. The Chelsea area community is cordially invited.

First Snow Of Year Is Big Surprise

Last year on Nov. 10, Chelseaites were enjoying weather in the high 50's when, bang, on Nov. 11, the first snowfall brought a 4-inch blizzard.

That got so much attention, that Mother Nature decided to give a repeat performance this year. Nov. 10 had an enjoyable temperature in the upper 50's. But Chelseaites were surprised upon waking Sunday morning, Nov. 11, to find a white world.

"I was real surprised. The kids were delighted and ready to go sliding right then and there," said one Chelseaites from Cavanaugh Lake.

Snowfall was somewhat lighter this year, about an inch, although Ann Arbor got close to four inches, and the county averaged 4.5 inches.

"We had no problems with the snow because it was mostly cleared out by Monday. Sunday afternoon would have been a problem. Fortunately, we weren't in school that day," said assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

Public Hearing Set Dec. 12 on Waste Pre-Treatment Law

A public hearing has been set for Dec. 12 on an industrial pre-treatment ordinance which the village doesn't need but must adopt in order to comply with state and federal sewage treatment regulations.

The document is 36 double-spaced typewritten pages long. It is intended to prohibit discharges of 12 substances, ranging from silver to zinc, into Chelsea's waste treatment plant.

Only one of the 12—chromium—is known to be used in any manufacturing process performed in Chelsea, and it is removed at the source.

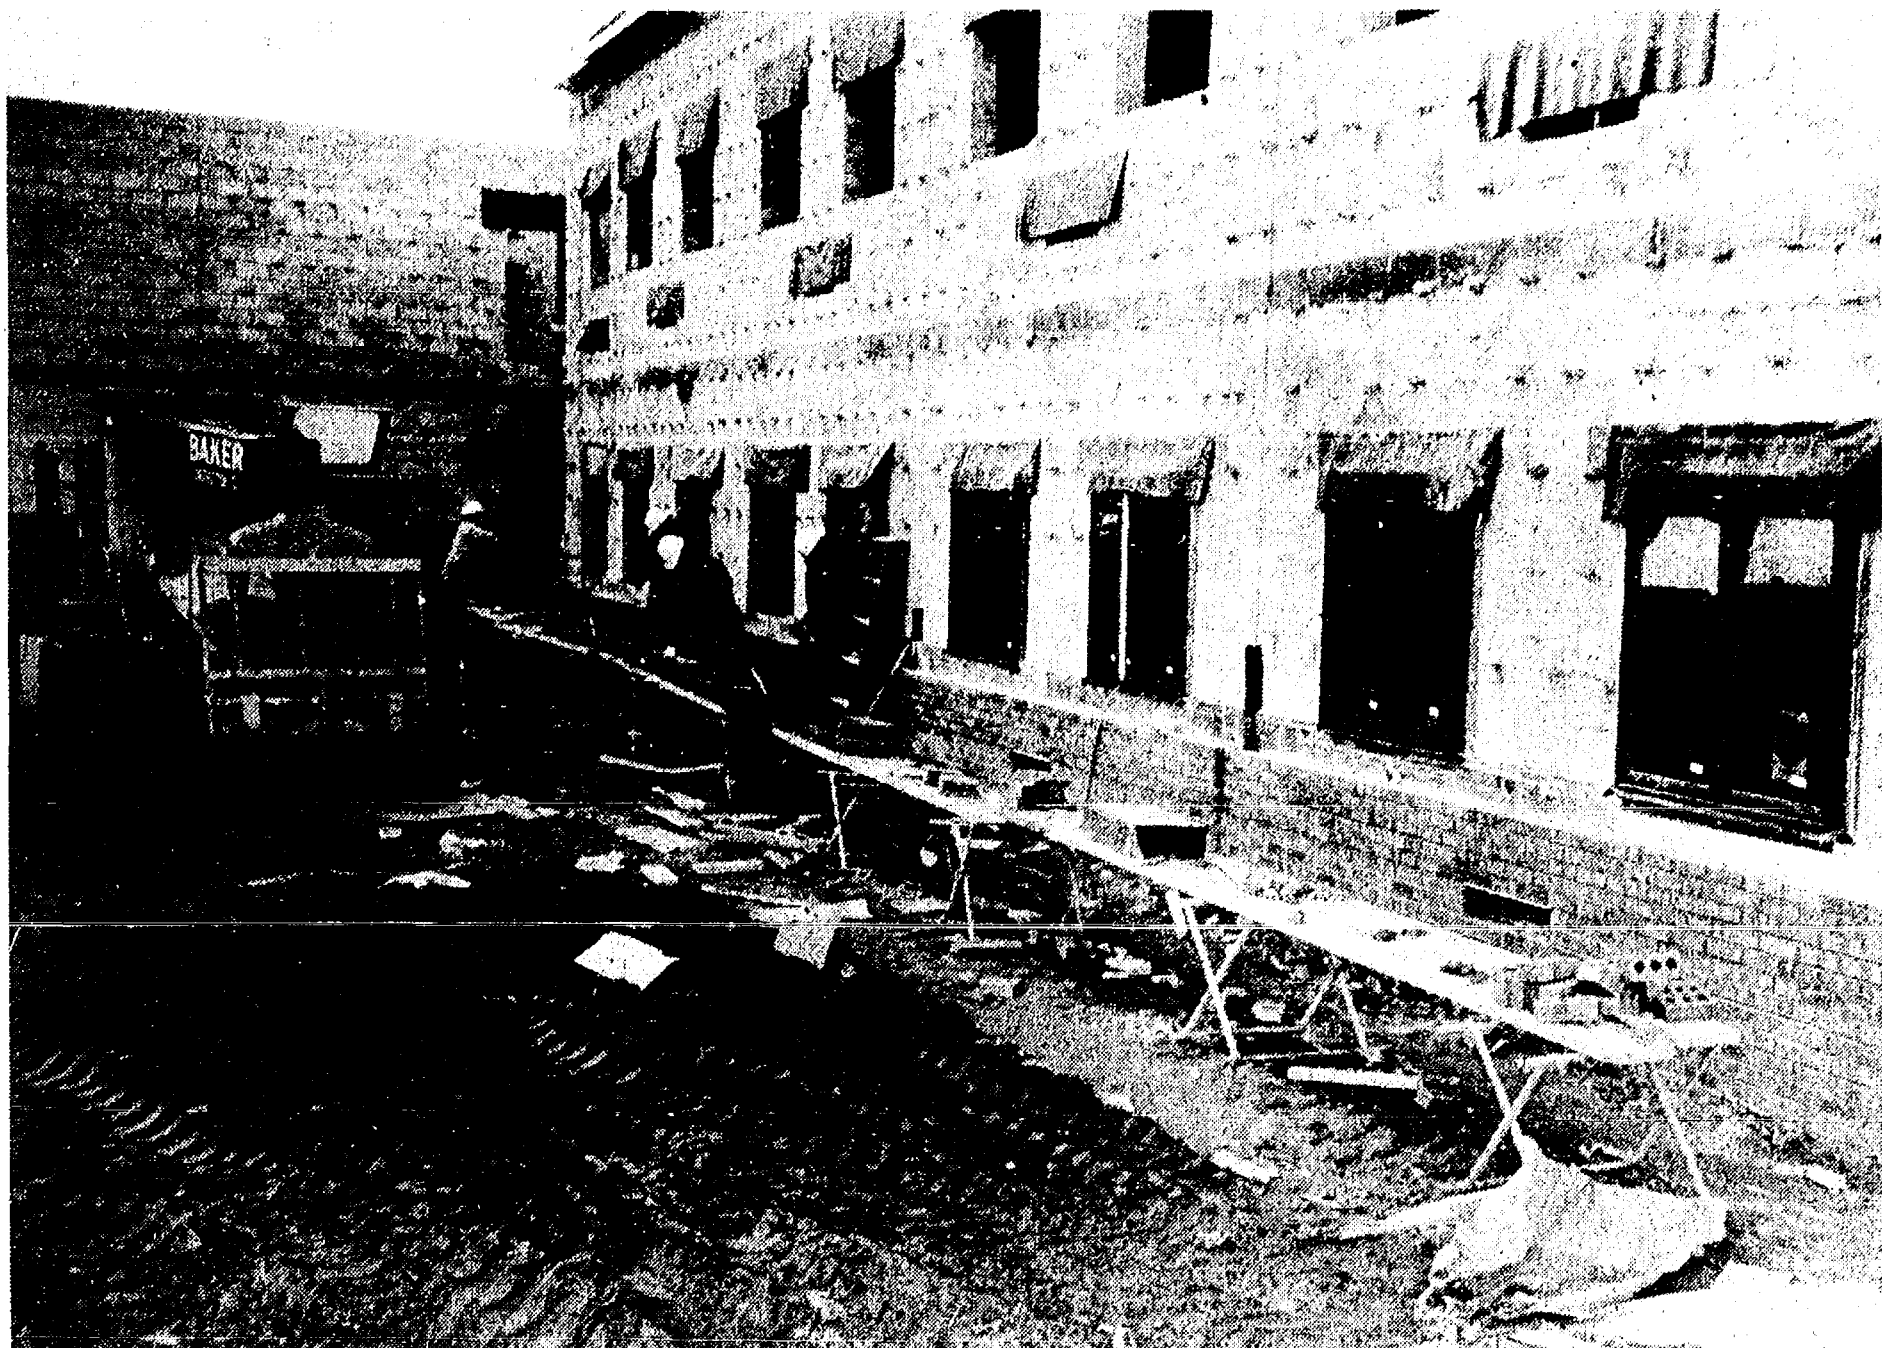

Failure to enact the ordinance, however meaningless it may be, could cost Chelsea its permit to operate the village sewage plant.

Deer-Auto Crashes Abound in Area

Beware the deer, area motorists! As the fall season continues, more and more area drivers are finding running deer a menace to the roadways in and around Chelsea and Dexter.

Sheriff deputies report a number of motorists have had deer hit their vehicles when the lively creatures take a sudden notion to cross the road.

Probably one of the more ironic "car hits deer" accidents was when Kathryn Ellen Lobdell was driving on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. about 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 8. A deer ran onto the road, hit her car and caused the car to go onto the road's shoulder, crashing into a "Deer Crossing" sign.

Robert James Haughey of Concord hit a deer which crossed suddenly in front of his Chevrolet truck as he drove westbound on I-94, one quarter mile west of M-52, at about 12:30 a.m. Friday, Nov. 9.

Ruth Ulrich of Huron River Dr. reported a deer crossed without warning and collided with the car she drove on Huron River Dr., 1,200 feet northwest of Mast Rd. at 6:20 a.m. Friday, Nov. 9. The deer kept running and could not be located after the accident.

Gordon Alan Alder of Grass Lake was driving northbound on M-52 just north of Grass Lake Rd., at 12:30 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 8, when a deer darted onto the roadway, hitting the vehicle he was in.

Todd Jeffrey Johnson of Island Lake Rd. reported to deputies that his Dodge carryall-type vehicle was hit, causing him to run into the ditch along Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd., at 10:40 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 8.

Gloria Ann Pearson of 18613 M-52, was traveling westbound on Jackson Rd. approaching the bridge on I-94 when a deer suddenly crossed the roadway, colliding with her vehicle. The deer kept right on traveling, but her car collided with a guard rail at the scene.

Ronald Edwin Nyen Huis of Grand Rapids was driving on I-94, a quarter mile east of Freer Rd. when a deer ran out in the roadway and hit his vehicle.

VFW Post 4076 Presents Flag to Sylvan Township

On Nov. 4, the Chelsea VFW, Post 4076, and Auxiliary members donated a complete American flag set and standard for the Sylvan Township Hall, just in time for election day, on Nov. 6.

Post adjutant, Carl Heldt read a message on "Freedom." The pledge of allegiance was repeated by all, during the presentation.

Mary Harris, Fred Pearsall, George Sweeny, and Jim Caruthers represented the township.

Post commander Gary Erskine, Fremont Boyer, Mac Packard, and Harry Weber helped with the presentation. Auxiliary members present were Americanism chairperson Eulahlee Packard, community service chair Gini Boyer and Sally Heldt. Mary Sweeny and Evelyn Zuigg also attended.

On Nov. 1, an Outdoor American Flag was taken to the Village garage on North St., where some village public works employees gathered around the empty pole in front of the garage to accept the flag from the Packards. A certificate of appreciation was also presented to the workmen for a job well done.

Mrs. Packard would like to know of any resident who flies a flag daily in this area as soon as possible. She may be reached at 475-2008.

Chelsea Gridders Receive Honors In League Picks

Three Chelsea football players have been named to the all-Southeastern Conference squad.

Senior captain David Steinhauer made it both ways. He was selected as a first-team linebacker on defense and a second-team running back on offense. Steinhauer played all over the place for the Bulldogs during the season. He began as a tight end on offense, then was shifted to halfback. He played in the middle and on the outside as a linebacker. He kicked off, and returned punts and kick-offs.

Among his many accomplishments, Steinhauer ran back a kick-off 90 yards for a touchdown and broke a 95-yard scoring run from scrimmage.

Junior quarterback Dan Bellus earned all-league first-team honors by completing 50 percent of his passes for a team that was expected to put the ball in the air a lot, and did. Although primarily a passer, Bellus ran well when he had to and scored a couple of touchdowns off the option.

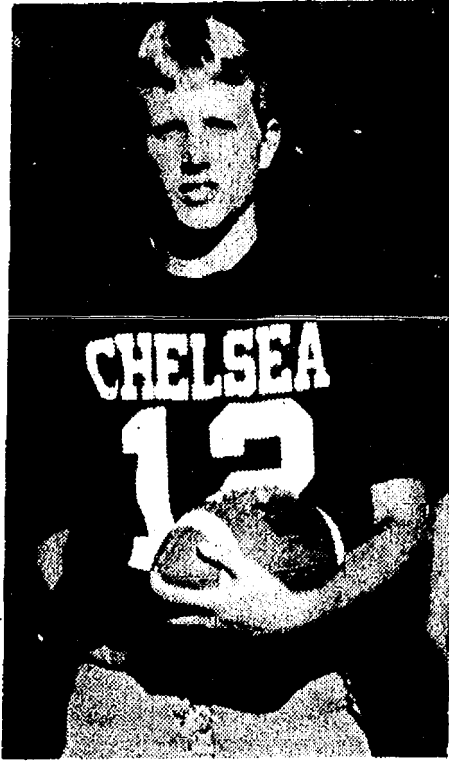

Sophomore flanker Todd Starkey won first-team selection by catching 53 passes, a school record. Small but quick, Starkey caught most of the balls that he could get his hands on, and often ran for additional yardage. He also played free safety on defense and surprised some people with his ability to hit and stop runners who out-weighted him by 50 pounds or more.

Cornerback Dave Boote and tackle Mark E. Bentley were named all-league on the second-team defense.

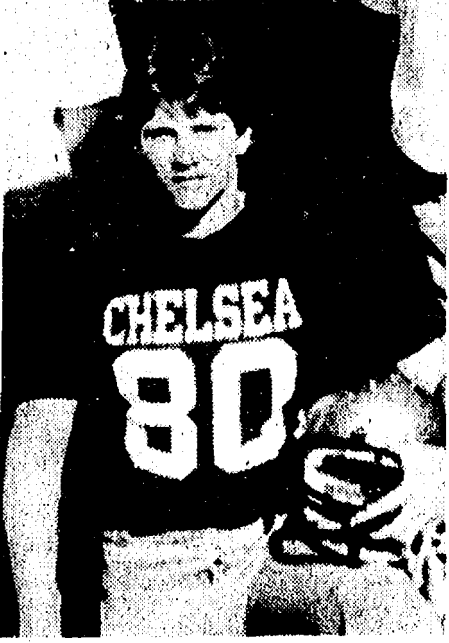

Boote is not very big, but is quick and played smart football. Bentley was in on more than 20 tackles in each of a couple of games. He had a knack for getting his jersey dirty, a sign of a hard-nosed defensive lineman.

First-team All-county selections will include Steinhauer on defense and Starkey on offense. Bellus, defensive end Matt Smith, Boote, and place-kicker Biff Bunten will be chosen on the second team.

Bunten's achievement is remarkable in that he had never

7th Grade Girls Cagers Win Final Game, 29-24

In the final game of the season, Oct. 29, Chelsea seventh grade girls basketball team defeated Dexter, 29-24.

"The team suffered from very cold shooting and trailed, 13-6, at half-time. They came back to score 23 points in the second half," said coach Ann Schaffner.

Leading scorers were Scharne Petty and Stacey Scott with six points each and Lisa McGlinn, Jill Nowatzke and Tiffany Moore with four points each. Nowatzke led with 17 rebounds and Scott and Allison Brown led stealing.

The team finished their season with a very fine record of nine wins and one loss, the best record in the league.

"This is a great group of girls to coach with a lot of potential, having intelligence, size, and athletic ability. I hope they continue to play together, and to work hard on their skills to enjoy future success," said Schaffner.

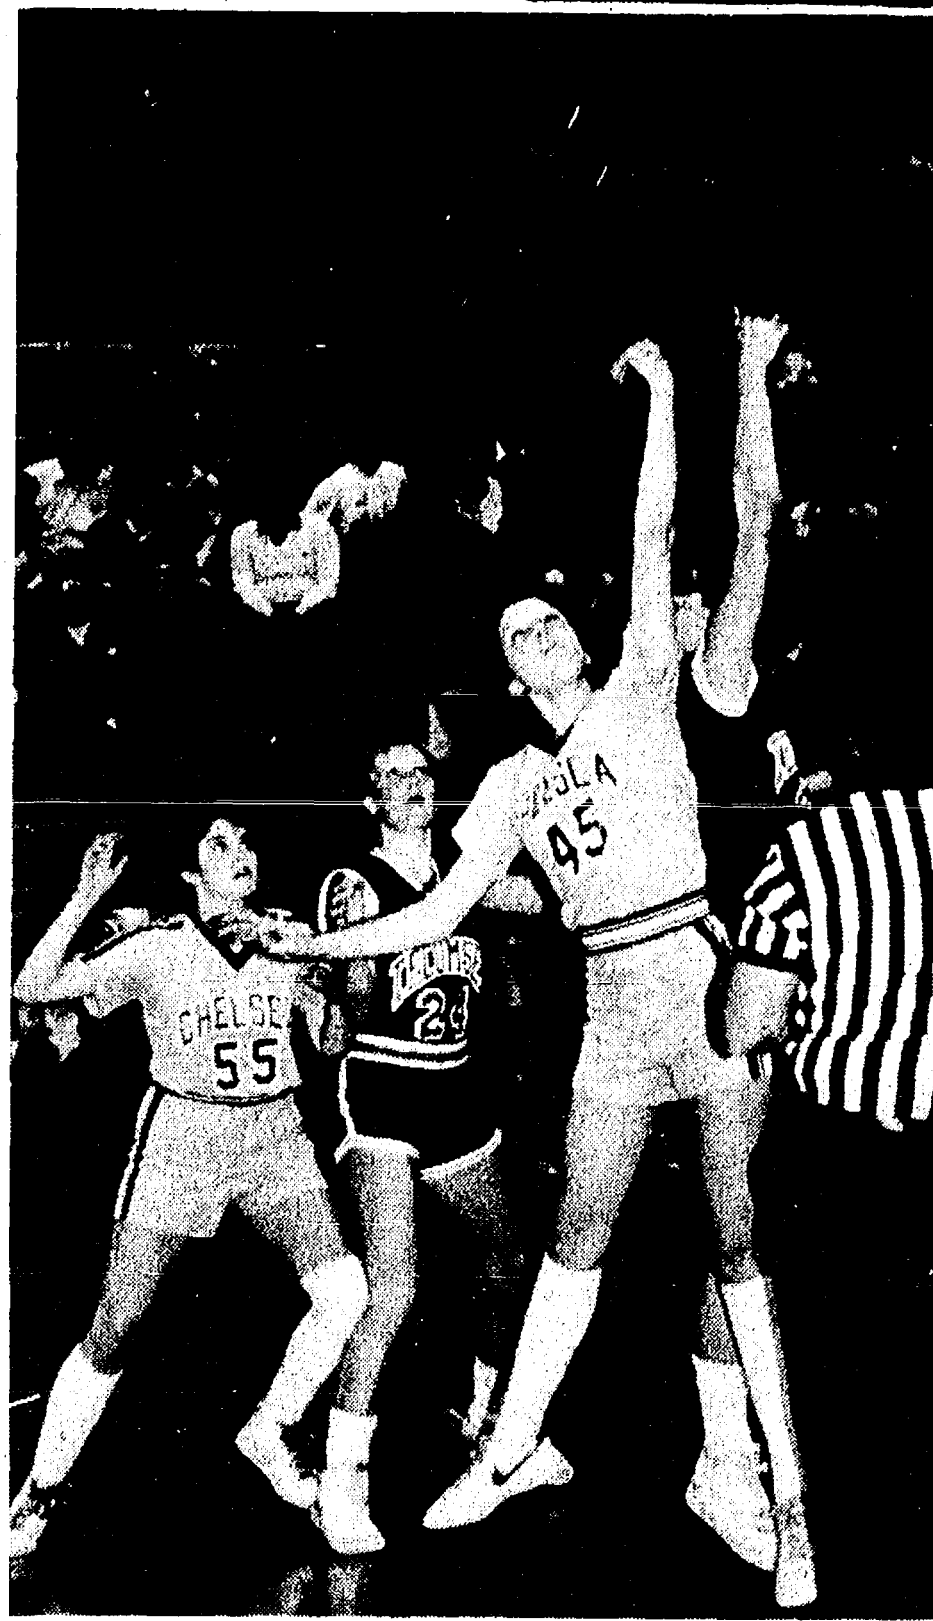

Every member contributed to the team's success. They include in addition to those above, Sara Grau, Vicki Bullock, Katie Peckham, Stacie Guenther, Nichole Gillespie, Stefanie Wagner, Lori Johnson, Melissa Johnson, Amy Thomson, Barb Scriven, Kim Roberts, Lisa Park and manager Wendy Welch.

Americans spent less than 16% (15.6%), on the average, of their disposable income (income after personal taxes) on food in 1983 compared with as much as 60% to 70% in some countries. In 1973, Americans spent 16.2% for food; in 1963, 18.7%.

Chelsea Girls JV Cagers Fall to Tecumseh, 32-30

Chelsea girls junior varsity basketball team suffered a loss to Tecumseh on Friday, Nov. 9, 32-30.

"The keys in losing were we

KRISTI HEADRICK, No. 45, jumps ball with a Tecumseh player while Samantha Collinsworth, No. 55, waits for her chance to catch it. Chelsea beat Tecumseh, 60-25, in a home game on Friday, Nov. 9.

GOING UP FOR THE SHOT: Beth Unterbrink, strives for a basket while a Tecumseh player attempts to block her. Kristi Headrick, No. 45, is ready to assist her. Chelsea girls varsity basketball team defeated Tecumseh, 60-25, on Friday, Nov. 9 at home.

Chelsea Girls Varsity Cagers Beat Dexter in Silverdome, Nov. 10

The big game against Dexter at the Silverdome, Nov. 10, began deceptively close but ended with a win for the Chelsea girls varsity basketball team.

The first quarter ended, 6-6.

"Both teams started out a little slow on offense because of the surroundings. Then we had to figure out what Dexter was doing on defense. They were collapsing on the middle. You have to be able to find a person whose open and get them the ball," said coach Jim Winter.

A combination of good defense on Chelsea's part and the deciphering Dexter's defensive tactics led to a second quarter of 11-0 in Chelsea's favor. Chelsea also won the third and fourth quarters, 13-5 and 14-9.

"Our defense did really well. We put pressure on them. The shots they were getting weren't the shots that they wanted," said Winter.

Kristi Headrick scored 12 points. Beth Unterbrink made eight points, 10 rebounds and five steals. Jennifer Cattell also made eight points. Samantha Collinsworth earned six points and captured five steals. Laura Anderson made three points. Kris had 35 turnovers and we did not shoot well from the foul line—29%," said coach Paul Terpstra.

The team shot one out of 11 from the foul line in the first half, but picked up to five out of 10 in the second half.

They made 12 out of 42 shots from the floor for 29%.

Tecumseh won the first quarter, 10-8. Chelsea took the second, 11-5, for a half-time lead. However, the team could not maintain their lead and lost the third and fourth quarters, 10-7 and 7-4.

Trish Mattoff was the leading scorer with 12 points. Kris Zerkel had nine points and 12 rebounds.

Chelsea stands 8-2 in the league and 14-3 overall.

They host Saline on Friday, Nov. 16.

Good Defense Captures Win For Varsity Girls Cagers

"Nine at home, 10 at the dome," is the slogan for the last two wins of the Chelsea girls varsity basketball team.

Chelsea whipped Tecumseh, 60-25, at home, on Friday, Nov. 9, in their ninth league game. They also won their 10th league game against Dexter at the Silverdome, Saturday, Nov. 10.

The team maintained a consistent, sizeable lead in all four quarters, 16-9, 15-7, 11-4, and 18-5.

"We were behind the first half of the first quarter, 9-7. Then we scored nine straight. We weren't behind anymore after that. We just kept playing a little better, and a little better, and a little better," said coach Jim Winter.

Defense was excellent, said Winter. "We had 23 steals. I think it's good if we make 15. Another thing that shows how good our defense was, Tecumseh only shot 26%. They were 10 out of 38," he said.

Chelsea shot 24 out of 51, making 47% from the floor. However, they only shot 41% from the foul line, making 12 out of 29 shots. They out-rebounded Tecumseh, 38-23.

Beth Unterbrink led scoring with 17 points and nine rebounds. Samantha Collinsworth followed with 12 points. Jennifer Cattell had 11, Joann Tobin, nine; and Kris Mattoff, six. Laura Anderson captured seven rebounds.

Chelsea To Host 1984 Girls District 37 Basketball Tournament

Chelsea will host the 1984 Girls District 37 Class "B" Basketball Tournament on Tuesday, Nov. 27, Thursday, Nov. 29 and Friday, Nov. 30.

On Nov. 27, Chelsea varsity girls basketball team will compete with Columbia Central at 6 p.m. At 7:30 p.m., Dexter will compete with Tecumseh.

The winner of the Chelsea-Columbia Central game will go on to play Northwest at 6 p.m. Thursday. The victor of the Dexter and Tecumseh game will play Lumen Christi at 7:30 p.m.

Whoever wins the game against Northwest will compete with the winner of the Lumen Christi game at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The final victor will advance to the Jackson Lumen Christi Regional.

League standing is not considered in the tournament. All schools with teams in the same geographic region may compete.

Of the six teams, Northwest and Chelsea have the best overall win-loss record with 15-3 and 14-3, respectively. Chelsea will also have a 15-3 record if it defeats Pinckney on Tuesday, Nov. 13 or Saline on Friday, Nov. 16. Northwest defeated Chelsea in a game earlier this year.

Lumen Christi has the next best record with 7-11. Columbia Central's is 6-12. Dexter has 5-12 and Tecumseh has 2-15.

DEMONSTRATE MUZZLE-LOADERS: Lloyd Cochran and his daughter Dianne, both of Ypsilanti, presented a program on muzzle-loading firearms at the Nov. 6 meeting of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club. The program drew a large turn-out of club members and guests.

Rod, Gun Club Hears Muzzle-Loading Program

Members and guests crowded the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club on Nov. 6 for instruction in the loading, firing and maintenance of muzzle-loading firearms. Their instructors were a father-and-daughter team of experts, Lloyd and Dianne Cochran of Ypsilanti.

The Cochrans exhibited an arsenal of muzzle-loading rifles and pistols, all modern replicas of weapons used in the 19th century by pioneer hunters, Civil War soldiers and sailors.

Lloyd Cochran explained the characteristics of muzzle-loaded rifles with traditional iron sights as well as guns with telescopic sights. At each step in his explanation of loading, firing and quick reloading, he emphasized the special safety precautions that must be observed in the handling of these old-style weapons.

"These replica guns are exceedingly accurate," he said, "and are ideal for deer hunting."

Dianne Cochran provided explanations and demonstrations of various kinds of musket balls, powder and percussion caps available to modern hunters. She also demonstrated how muzzle-loading rifles or pistols should be cleaned and safely stored.

Father and daughter discussed the troubles experienced with these firearms by soldiers of the Union and Confederate armies as a result of insufficient instruction plus carelessness.

Following the lectures, club members and guests crowded around the exhibits for hands-on inspection of the guns and an examination of the many types of supplies available for muzzle loaders.

CHS Girls Swimmers Split Last Two Meets

Even though there was a very depressing loss in their last two meets, the Chelsea girls swim team managed to end their season with a win at Riverview last Thursday, Nov. 8.

The latest win has improved the team's record from 2-12 last year to 7-7 this year. They broke three freshman records and two varsity records and every swimmer on the team has had a lifetime best.

The girls did suffer a bitter defeat at Jackson on Tuesday, Nov. 6, losing, 87-84.

"There were a number of controversial decisions at the meet, and we did not get a break on any close calls," said coach Larry Reed. "I felt bad for our girls who have worked so hard to improve themselves but Jackson must be given credit for swimming an excellent meet."

Jackson's timers malfunctioned on three critical events, which required the judges to make a decision.

The team won the Riverview meet on a close decision, 46-37 over the Pirates. Once again, the highlight of the meet came from Zangara, as she broke the freshman record in diving previously held by Michele Clark.

"If Deanna can concentrate on her diving over the next few years, she could become a state caliber competitor. The only thing that will hold her back is herself," stated Terry Howard, the Chelsea Aquatics Club diving coach.

Winners at Riverview were the medley relay team of Paula Colombo, Schumck, Holmes and Cathy Hoffman. Also winning were Colombo in the individual medley and 500 freestyle, Schumck in the 50 and 100 freestyle and Zangara in diving.

The team's next meet will be the Chelsea Invitational on Thursday, Nov. 15. The teams of Milan, Willow Run, Dundee, Dexter and Novi have been invited. The diving events start at 3 p.m. and swimming events at 6 p.m.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORF

Speed.
I'm not writing about the drug that is unfortunately so popular in some quarters, but the ability to pick up feet and lay them down in a hurry.

Those thoughts were prompted by comments made to me by two Chelsea football coaches—Gene LaFave and Jim Ticknor, whose teams were beaten by opponents who could just plain run faster. What both said, in essence, is that there is no substitute for speed and no sure way to defend against it, unless you can match it.

Before the game against Lansing Everett, which saw the Chelsea varsity take a 48-14 licking, LaFave told me, "Look, Everett is very fast. If we don't stop their backs at the line before they get started, we'll be in trouble. Once they get into the secondary, watch out."

Stopping them at the line turned out to be easier said than done. Everett literally raced to four first-quarter touchdowns, and the game was over for all practical purposes.

Ticknor's junior varsity team had much the same experience against a speedy Pinckney team and lost, 40-19. "Pinckney's backs were through the line and past the linebackers before we could react," Ticknor said after the game. "They were gone before we had a chance to blink."

After watching my third season of Southeastern Conference football and two full seasons of other sports, my impression is that the SEC is just plain slow. I have seen only a few athletes who could run unusually fast. Whatever the reason, very few kids around here are born with quick feet.

There have been some exceptions, of course. Chelsea's Russell Harris and David Wojcicki could both put on spurts of speed. So could Dexter's Brad Kokmeyer, who may have been the best running I've seen hereabouts until he got hurt midway through the 1983 season.

Todd Starkey won't break any sprint records, but he's fast and quick enough to run good pass catching routes and get into the open. (He also has good hands and can catch the ball, as his school-record 53 receptions this past fall attest.)

Bulldog baseballer Ron Dunn had fine speed to go along with the ability to get off the mark fast. He stole 18 bases in 19 tries last spring.

By and large, though, what I've seen in the SEC is a bunch of kids who sometimes seem as if they are running in slow motion. That goes for all schools, not just Chelsea and Dexter.

It isn't that they don't run hard. They do. They dig in and churn, and give it their all. They just don't cover ground in a hurry.

I have always thought of foot speed as something you are born with or not. Back in my sports-playing days, I was one of those people who could run a long way if given enough time. When it came to sprinting, forget it. If I ever broke 13 seconds in the 100-yard dash, the timer didn't bother to tell me. I could catch up to and pass many runners at a quarter-mile and beyond.

The trouble is, there are no sports except track and cross country that call for running a quarter-mile or more all at once. Football, basketball, baseball—all require short bursts of quick speed—10, 20, 30 yards. It helps mightily if you can accelerate from a standing start to high gear in a step.

Chelsea track coach Bill Wehrwein believes he can teach athletes to run fast, or at least faster. "There are coaching and training and practice techniques that will improve speed," he told me last spring when he took over as Bulldog track tutor. "They haven't been stressed. The emphasis here and throughout the conference has been on distance running. I hope to change that, but it's going to take a few seasons to show results."

Wehrwein is not a sprinter. He's for a time held the world record in the 600-yard run, definitely a middle distance. However, that doesn't mean he can't teach runners how to move their feet faster. I'm betting that he can and will.

There is a prevalent theory that white athletes are at a speed disadvantage in competition with blacks. It's a touchy subject, and I don't intend to get into it very deeply other than to say I don't believe the theory. I've seen many people of both races who could run like greased lightning, and many of both whose feet seemed to be coated with glue.

I think the ascendancy of blacks in athletics has more to do with the fact that professional sports offer a way out of poverty for physically talented young blacks, and that those who have the potential likewise have strong incentive to develop it. They try harder. That has more to do with social and economic conditions than with race.

Getting back to the local scene, I will be interested to see next fall if Ticknor's prediction comes true. He said that Pinckney will give SEC football opponents fits when this year's JV's move up to the varsity, simply because they have more speed than conference teams are accustomed to seeing and coping with.

It would be kind of refreshing to see a really fast team in any SEC sport. I haven't seen one yet.

Hunters Reminded of Safety Rules, Ethics on Eve of Deer Season

With the opening of the firearms deer hunting season tomorrow, Fred Klink, president and chief conservation officer of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club, urges all hunters to review the 10 commandments of firearm safety:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.
2. Watch that muzzle! Be able to control the direction of the muzzle even if you should stumble.
3. Be sure the barrel and action are clear of obstructions and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying.
4. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know identifying features of the game you hunt.
5. Unload guns when not in use. Take down or have actions open; guns should be carried in cases to the shooting area.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay with a firearm.
7. Never climb a fence or tree or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.
8. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water; at target practice be sure your backstop is adequate.
9. Store guns and ammunition separately beyond the reach of children and careless adults.
10. Avoid alcoholic beverages before and during shooting.

Klink added, "Almost 60 percent of all gun casualties are caused by persons under the age of 21 and people in this age group constitute four out of every 10 victims."

He also quoted the Hunter's Code of Ethics contained in the safety education handbook prepared by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources:

1. I will consider myself an invited guest of the landowner, seeking his permission and so conducting myself that I may be welcome in the future.
2. I will obey the rules of safe gun handling and will courteously but firmly insist that others who hunt with me do the same.

3. I will obey all game laws and regulations and will insist that my companions do likewise.
4. I will do my best to acquire those marksmanship and hunting skills which assure clean, sportsmanlike kills.

5. I will support conservation efforts which can assure good hunting for future generations of America.
6. I will pass along to younger hunters the attitudes and skills essential to a true outdoor person.

The Chelsea Rod and Gun Club is the official agency in this area for instruction in hunter safety, qualifying from 30 to 40 boys and girls each year for their first hunting licenses.

Three Girls Chosen Swimmers of Week

Deanna Zangara, Kenyan Vosters, and Tami Harris were selected Swimmers of the Week.

All three girls came through with outstanding performances with the meet on the line against Jackson.

"As the pressure increased, they performed better and better. Deanna won the diving when all in the know expected her to finish third, and Kenyan had three lifetime bests in the 200 and 100 freestyle, and 100 breaststroke," said coach Larry Reed.

Harris had a lifetime best in the 100 breaststroke and then got out of the water and swam a lifetime best split on the very next event.

"At the start of the year, our team looked awfully weak, then we started getting a large influx of new freshmen in the program (all three of these girls are ninth graders) and they had enthusiasm and the desire to improve. These three are prime examples of that," assistant coach David Brinklow said.

"Chelsea High school girls swimming is on the rise," said Reed.

Turkey Sighting Reports Sought

Firearm deer hunters planning to go out into the Waterloo Recreation Area on opening day tomorrow are asked to look for wild turkeys and at the same time are warned not to shoot them.

"We would appreciate all the sighting reports we can get," park manager George Rob said. "They are the best way we have of keeping track of the turkey population. If anybody sees a turkey, we would appreciate being informed at the area headquarters."

Rob said available evidence suggests there are 50 or so wild turkeys in the Waterloo area as the result of introductions of adult birds made the past two springs.

"That isn't a lot, but it's enough for a spring breeding population provided they get through the fall and winter in good shape. We can't afford to lose any. I guess you could say the turkeys have a toe-hold, and that's about all. They are hanging in there."

"There has been some reproduction. Park employees including myself have seen young birds, and so have visitors. Personally, I haven't seen a turkey in quite awhile, but other people have. We know there are some out there."

The birds are legally protected against being hunted or otherwise molested. Controlled turkey hunting in the Waterloo area is several years in the future if it ever comes about.

The wild turkey planted in Waterloo were trapped in Iowa and flown to Michigan for release here. Department of Natural Resources biologists believe the Iowa strain of turkeys may be better able to adapt to southern Michigan than would birds from up north.

Rob said DNR biologists may try to trap some Waterloo turkeys this winter, in order to fit them with new radio-transmitting collars. The miniature radios help biologists monitor the whereabouts and welfare of the birds.

"Several of the turkeys in the original releases carried radios on their backs, but the batteries are wearing out and the signals are getting weak," Rob explained.

Chelsea JV Girls Cagers Beat Dexter

Chelsea girls junior varsity basketball team defeated Dexter, 32-22, on Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Chelsea won the first three quarters, 11-8, 6-2, and 6-2. Dexter barely got ahead of Chelsea in the last quarter, 10-9.

"They played a slow-down type of game. They went into a zone defense and they ran a real pattern type of offense, where they make a lot of passes before they shoot. That was two reasons the scores were low," explained Chelsea coach, Paul Terpstra.

Chelsea shot only 29% from the floor, nine out of 26, but shot 70% for 14 out of 20, from the free-throw line, possibly a season high.

"We did cut our turnovers down to 16, that's about half of the last few games. We also had 14 steals. That was one of the things in our favor," said Terpstra.

Leading scorers were Cris Zerke with nine points and six rebounds and Karen Weber with eight points.

The junior varsity team stands 8-1 in the league and 14-2 over-all.

They will host Saline on Friday, Nov. 16, for their final game.

National Family Week To Be Observed By FIA

President Ronald Reagan has proclaimed Nov. 18-24 as National Family Week.

Faith in Action, Inc. (FIA), a Chelsea community organization says "Families Matter," and invites the public to celebrate National Family Week by visiting its center on Nov. 20 and learn about its services. Faith in Action, Inc. is located on the Chelsea Community Hospital campus, across from the Emergency Room.

Faith in Action, Inc., member of the Family Resource Coalition, believes that although there are many different types of families, each has inherent strengths, and FIA offers community-based support and services to help families build on those strengths. Services include: food, clothing, financial assistance, Parent to Parent Program, Parents Anonymous Program and the Chelsea Free Health Clinic. The center may be visited on Nov. 20, between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. Although the services of FIA are targeted to people in need, all members of the community are invited to visit.

Faith in Action, Inc., is one of a network of family resource programs across the United States and Canada which has grown out of the needs of the community. FIA provides concrete, everyday services to aid families in maintaining a dignified level of existence while the Parent to Parent Program works with families in their home focusing on child development, parenting skills, parent/child relationships and use of community resources.

The Parents Anonymous Program meets weekly to provide group support to parents and their children around child abuse/neglect issues. These programs are preventive oriented and available to families, free of charge, before needs reach a crisis point.

Common to all family resource programs is the goal of providing families with access to information as well as the emotional support necessary to strengthen family and community life, thereby enhancing the healthy growth and development of their children.

For further information about FIA call 475-3305. For national information on family programs, contact Family Resource Coalition, 230 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 1625, Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Sexual harassment is an unlawful employment practice under title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, according to "A Working Woman's Guide to Her Job Rights," published by the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Are the anti-hunters winning by default?
I'm beginning to think so.

My perspective admittedly is narrow. At most it embraces Michigan, and there are 49 other states which I know very little about when it comes to hunting. I've hunted in a few of them, but not many.

What I see in Michigan is a steady decline in hunter numbers, and I can't think of a better way for the sport to be lost. A small minority can be squashed in the political process, and I can foresee exactly that happening to hunters.

Example:
There used to be about 150,000 federal migratory waterfowl stamps sold each year in Michigan to hunters who wanted to shoot ducks and geese. The figure was down to about 57,000 in 1983.

Result was that Michigan got slapped in the face with a set of highly restrictive, even punitive waterfowl hunting regulations this fall. The feds did it because they knew they could get away with it. There aren't enough goose and duck hunters left in Michigan to make a political difference (and don't ever think politics don't enter into the decision-making process). Federal officials decided to let the birds fly on south, where hunter interest is said to be higher.

My personal observations this fall agree with those of others who spend a lot more time in the field than I do. They add up to the conclusion that there aren't many hunters out there, and not much effort is being expended.

The final figures may make me a liar, but my guess right now is that sales of both small game and big game hunting licenses are going to be further down in Michigan this fall. They have been declining during the last several years, and they hit a modern low in 1983.

Hunting conditions have been well high perfect so far this fall. Weather has generally been sunny and pleasant, not too warm or too cool. The leaf drop came early. It would be hard to write a prescription for a better hunting autumn.

Yet what I see when I drive around the countryside is a vacuum, an absence of hunters. Maybe they'll all come out tomorrow for the opening day of the firearm deer season, but they sure haven't shown up yet.

Only two bow-and-arrow hunters brought deer in to the Standard to be reported and photographed during the first six weeks of the season. That is way below normal, despite the fact that the local deer herd is probably at its highest level in history. My contacts, who help me keep track of what's going on in hunting tell me the same thing: not many people are out there trying.

It's true that there isn't much upland bird hunting available. Pheasants, grouse, woodcock—all are down, and quail are closed. But there are lots of squirrels and rabbits to tempt small game hunters. Based on observations to date, most of them will either fall victim to predators and disease or die of old age. They sure won't be shot, or even shot at.

What is worrisome is that hunters are shrinking in numbers, in Michigan anyway. At some point they may decline to a level where their interests just plain won't count. That is when the anti-hunters will move in for the kill.

Their argument will run something like this:

Why bother to maintain a sport in which so few people are interested? Why not heed our wish to have all hunting stopped? We care. Hunters obviously don't.

It's a false argument to those of us who prize the sport of hunting and want to preserve it. However, as our numbers continue to decrease, our influence on the political process will decline along with the lowering curve of participation. Sooner or later, we will lose.

Don't give me the malarkey that a license costs too much. The price remains lower than a box of ammunition, a carton of cigarettes, a bottle of good-quality booze or half a tank of gasoline. Hunters are known to buy all of those items as adjuncts to their sport.

I can remember when a small game hunting license cost $2. A box of shotgun shells could be bought for $1.50. The approximate same price ratio remains in place today.

Nobody who has hunted seriously would argue that the sport is cheap. I figure that the game I brought home over the years probably cost at least three times the amount I would have spent for grocery-store chicken or beef.

The lesson is, go hunting or forget it. If present trends continue, the opportunity may not be there much longer.

Here's a way to avoid problems with weather delays next spring... a way to reduce your spring workload so you'll have a better chance of getting corn planted on time.

Total fall fertilization saves time in the spring. Yes, now you can apply nitrogen in the fall if you use Stabilized Nitrogen. And you won't have to worry about nitrogen loss. Unlike regular nitrogen, Stabilized Nitrogen is not lost to fall or spring rains.

This means nitrogen will be available along with P and K next spring and through the growing season for a healthier and better producing corn crop!

So, see us now about all your fertilizer needs. We'll test, make fertilizer recommendations and custom apply or you can apply it yourself.

Get a head start on next year's corn. Apply your fertilizer this fall!

Chelsea Native Son Heads New University

Dr. F. Richard Schneider has been named the chancellor of the newly created World Peace University in Mosier, Ore. The announcement was made by the board of directors of Sunrise New Life and Living, which established the university. Dr. D. Douglas Schneider, his twin brother, was elected the chairman of the board of directors.

The newly named chancellor and the chairman of the board are the sons of Evelyn Bernice Schneider of Munith. Their brother, Lloyd, and sister, Diane, live in Chelsea.

Dr. Schneider graduated from Chelsea High School in 1953. He attended Michigan State University for two years before transferring to Linfield College, McMinnville, Ore., where he received his bachelor of arts degree in 1957. He received a master of social work degree from Florida University and a doctorate of philosophy from Clayton University in Missouri.

Dr. Schneider is listed in Who's Who in the World and Cambridge Men of Distinction, as well as many other publications. He has received numerous awards and honors including the Distinguished American Award in 1979.

Dr. Schneider is married to the former Ruth Ann Eddy. They have five children, of which three are adopted. Their son, Mark, is general manager of Schneider Acres, Inc., which is a 1,384 acre ranch and workshop/seminar center in Oregon.

The new chancellor has been invited by Edgar Mitchell, former astronaut and founder of Noetic Sciences, to accompany a group to Costa Rica in December. Dr. Schneider will attend the Eighth World Conference of the World Future Studies Federation. He will review the United Nations Peace University program in Costa Rica. The U.S. Ambassador to Costa Rica, Curtis Winsor, has invited Dr. Schneider to tour the country with him.

World Peace University will provide educational and teaching opportunities on the issues of peace and feeding the world. An internship program will provide hands-on experience for diplomats, leaders and interested individuals. The World Peace University will utilize the most up-to-date advances in communications and technology including extensive computer use. Communications is seen as a key to the issue of peace and hunger. A short wave radio station will broadcast from the university as part of a world-wide communication system linking individuals and nations into a common purpose and action.

The university will not offer baccalaureate degrees but will issue advanced degrees and certificates for the completion of learning and experience sequences of study.

Networking with individuals, organizations, governments and groups around the world will be an important undertaking of the university. The university will provide a clearing house for materials and information which may be sent anywhere in the world in a matter of minutes by computer.

The board of directors decided that never in history has such a significant effort been needed more than now and in close co-operation with similar activities wherever they are taking place. Mankind is on the brink of the most significant discoveries in the history of the world. They believe that these discoveries need to be in the realm of human understanding and positive and co-operative relationships among the peoples of the earth rather than the creation of more destructive forces.

The responsibility for the change that is necessary begins with the individual. The change begins with the change in the attitude of the individual, and action springs from the change in attitude. The work of the university will be to provide the climate, environment and resources that will enable and encourage the changes to occur in the individual which will in turn change the course of the world.

The university is dedicated to the principle that world peace and freedom from hunger are attainable goals. These goals may be achieved with goodwill and integrity. As individuals apply these principles so can nations and groups.

World Peace University will be a beacon light of positive thought, reasoned action and loving efforts to a world which is too often caught up in pessimism and wars. The time to change history is now and the way is peace. World Peace University will be a vital part of that change and will help to write history in a positive way. Dr. Schneider, in his capacity as the chancellor will lead this significant effort.

One farmworker new provides food and fiber for 79 people, compared with 55 people in 1973 and 31 people in 1963. "Farmworkers" include the farmer and unpaid members of the farm family who work on the farm (3/5ths of all farmworkers), plus full and part-time paid employees.

Spring Arbor Group To Appear At Free Methodist

The Seed SAC & Company, a team of puppeteers from Spring Arbor College, will present a program at Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7885 Werkner Rd., Chelsea on Sunday, Nov. 18, at 6 p.m.

Seed SAC & Company features a partnership between five Spring Arbor College (SAC) students and a cast of lively puppets sharing the Word of God (the Seed). Their presentation features, among other things, David, the Chosen One, which portrays the life of Israel's second king from his anointing to his confrontation with Goliath. Seed SAC & Company's program is appropriate for churches, schools and vacation bible schools.

Spring Arbor College is a private, four-year liberal arts college located near Jackson. The college is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges. More than 1,000 students attend the college and its extension centers. Spring Arbor College is committed to the integration of faith and learning with an emphasis on community and the importance of the individual. The college is affiliated with the Free Methodist Church of North America.

Two Guest Pastors To Preach at St. John's

Until St. John's, Rogers Corners, finds a permanent leader, they will be using supply pastors. The Rev. Ted Wimmmer from Jackson is scheduled to give the Nov. 18 sermon. He is a retired minister.

The Rev. Iva Mae Foster from Brighton will serve on Nov. 25. The parish is looking for a permanent part-time pastor.

Dial-A-Garden Topics Listed

Dial-A-Garden, the system of pre-recorded daily gardening tips, is sponsored by the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service. The system is in operation 24 hours per day, seven days per week. Interested persons are invited to call 971-1122 at their convenience and receive timely, up-to-date gardening information.

He was preceded in death by five brothers and one sister.

Services will be held today, Nov. 14, at 3:00 p.m. at the Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Erik Hansen officiating. Burial will follow at the Oak Grove Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the American Diabetes Association or Kidney Foundation of Michigan.

Chelsea Police Chief Reports Quiet October

Chelsea's police department reported a pick-up in activity during October, but there were no major incidents.

There were no felony arrests during the month, and only one for a misdemeanor. Forty-three traffic and 77 parking violation tickets were issued.

Radio runs for the month totaled 320, compared to 288 in September.

"It has been very quiet here in recent weeks," chief Lenard McDougall said. "I hope it stays that way."

Chelsea Artist Ben Bower Draws Monaghan Picture

Ben Bower began his artistic career when serving in the South Pacific during World War II in 1942.

"A buddy received a set of watercolor pencils from a friend to use as a past time. He wasn't particularly interested in them but as I had always whiled away many hours sketching, he let me use them and they became mine," said Bower.

Bower moved to the Chelsea area in 1952. He currently uses his talents entering art fairs and receiving orders for his work. Most recently, he drew a likeness of Tom Monaghan, which was presented to him at "A Toast and Roast of Tom Monaghan," a fundraising event for Mercywood Hospital's Partial Hospitalization Program. The event, held on Oct. 26, roasted the owner of the Detroit Tigers, and founder of Domino's Pizza.

Bower also operates a frame shop called Design Unusual. In that shop, Bower creates personalized frames.

"Over the years, I've done some different things that other frame shops didn't want to do because it took a lot of time and thought to put the ideas across. I don't do a quantity business and for that reason, I can do these things," said Bower.

Bower frames a lot of needlework using cloth matting and has done some moulding work himself.

The subjects of Bower's work include antique cars, barns, historic buildings, homes, and more recent work featuring children. He still uses water colors.

"I worked in oil for a while, but oils take such a long time to dry and we had small children and not much room to dry things in. With a pencil and pad, I don't need much equipment, I can do it anywhere. I can do detailed work or very small scale that I could not get with other mediums," he said.

At one time, Bower would draw scenery on the spot, but due to time constraints, he usually works from photos.

Bower began academic training in art after he returned from the service. Originally from Indiana, Bower attended Indiana University and majored in art.

"This was not a satisfactory solution so having later obtained a job in the display department of a large department store, I quit college and decided to seek training in commercial art," said Bower.

"At that time most colleges and universities were strictly into fine arts. There was no chance of making a living of fine arts. I didn't want to get tied into something I couldn't make a living of," he said.

During this time, Bower met and married his wife, Mary Lou. They had four children. The fall after he was married, Bower enrolled at the Applied Art Academy in Akron, O.

Chelsea Varsity Debate Team Places Third of 34

Chelsea varsity and novice debate teams traveled to a Gaylord tournament on Nov. 4, and did very well.

The varsity team placed third out of 34 schools with a 5-3 record. Joshua Smith and Laura Koepele argued the affirmative side of "Resolved that the United States government should provide employment for all employable citizens living in poverty."

Sue Overdorf and Laura Goderis posed negative arguments, earning them high speaker ratings. Sue Overdorf received an award as second best varsity speaker in the tournament. Goderis was rated fifth.

The novice team also had a 5-3 record and received an honorable mention. Shawn Quilter and Chris Herter debated affirmatively. Quilter was rated No. 1 novice speaker. Angi Alvarez and Tracey Guard debated against the resolution.

"The novices are making tremendous improvements. The varsity got off to a fast start, and is keeping the pace," said Bill Coelius, Chelsea High speech and drama instructor.

Also debating varsity and scoring the team's first win using a negative counterplan were Bill Moller and Dave Mayer. They debated both sides at the same time.

The next tournament will be at Sterling Heights on Nov. 17.

Syl Wojcicki Nominated For Recognition By Take Pride in Schools

When asked to nominate someone for recognition by the Take Pride in Your Schools committee, South school principal, Robert Benedict, decided on his predecessor, Sylvester Wojcicki. Wojcicki served as South school principal for 20 years until retiring last summer.

"I chose him because he planted and cared for the flowers and shrubs at South. He kept the flowers watered, even this summer. This greatly improved the appearance of the building," said Benedict.

"Even though he is retired, of anyone, he's done the most. Some guys come in and don't do much of anything, or they tell others to do it, but he did take care of the petunias and he weeded," said Benedict.

Wojcicki also installed plants in the Evelyn Haab courtyard at South school. The courtyard was named after a school secretary who retired and died.

"When I got to South school, there was no landscaping at all, so we planted shrubs and trees," said Wojcicki.

Before Wojcicki left, he and some South students planted flowers.

"I always thought if they had a little input, they felt better about their school," he said.

South school teachers also contributed to beautifying the building. "Our teachers inside did murals on the walls to make the atmosphere better," said Wojcicki.

Since retirement, Wojcicki has been catching up on his golf game, reading and relaxation.

Woman Drives Car In Ditch To Miss Cat

Ann M. Schlenker, 13666 Riker Rd., was driving her Chrysler LeBaron on Nov. 7 at about 11:15 p.m. when she swerved to miss a cat in the road.

"When she did, she went into a ditch. The catalytic converter set fire to leaves which in turn set fire to the car," said Paul (Bud) Hankerd, Chelsea fire chief.

The mishap caused minor damage to the car, but did not total it, said Hankerd. No one was injured.

The fire department responded to the call but did not sound the whistle.

Today, one hour of farm labor produces 16 times as much food and fiber as it did 60 years ago.

North School Fifth Grade Acts Fables

On Nov. 6, fifth grade classes at North school put on "Fantastic Fables And Perfect Plays." Students performed well-known fables for the school. The classes belong to teachers Cindy Mortensen and Arlene Clark.

The plays were performed for parents of fifth graders.

Dirk Colby and Kevin Rose starred in "Two Frogs." Kelly Cross, Chris Taylor, and Dana Harden acted the "Tortoise And The Hare." "The Milk Woman And Her Pail" featured Julie Koch, Carrie Vargo, Kristi Smith, Melanie Broughton and Holly Koscielniak.

Stephanie Norris, Teresa Mac and Kathy Watt were in the "The Horse And The Donkey." Lee Skyles, Mike Eder and Connie Lonskey performed "The Goose Who Laid A Golden Egg." "Lion And The Mouse" players were Eddie Monaghan, Nathan Farnsworth, John Gilbertson and Joey Hafner.

Jennifer Teare, Tonya Mui-dangder and Heather Kendrick took the roles of "The Lion, The Wolfe And The Fox." "Country Mouse, City Mouse" featured Jason Allen, Steven Riddle, and Dennis Hardy.

Poma's Pizza To Open New Branch Here

Chelsea will have a new pizza place in the near future. Poma's Pizza will open a branch where Chelsea Lithographing was located at 137 Park St.

The original Poma's Pizza operates in Dexter. The Chelsea business will be their second store.

Poma's in Chelsea will serve pizzas, submarines and salads for take-out only. The restaurant could not get the permit necessary for seating, said manager Frank Loy.

Poma's chose the Chelsea location because "we've been looking for a building for a long time. We have a lot of customers from Chelsea," said Loy.

Preparation of the building for the pizzeria began Saturday, Nov. 12. It should be open for business within the next three to six weeks.

THE NEXT LOGICAL STEP IN KEROSENE HEATER DESIGN

Here is where Toyostove has taken the kerosene heater: The Laser Clean. Wickless design eliminates need for wick maintenance and replacement. Clean burning and fuel efficient, the Laser Clean features a built-in thermostat, timer and a "Cool Top." It also has an Information Monitor that tells you at a glance about important heater functions. A built-in automatic circulation fan and uniquely designed radiant element, provide optimum heating efficiency.
