Fire Does Extensive Damage to Kingdom Hall Early Tuesday

Fire of undetermined origin caused extensive damage to the Jehovah's Witnesses Kingdom Hall at 13699 Old US-12 early yesterday morning.

The alarm was sounded at 7:04 a.m. and five pieces of equipment manned by members of the Chelsea Fire Department were sent to the scene. Police department dispatcher Judy Tobias said, "We got about six calls all at once from people who saw smoke coming out of the building."

The blaze was brought under control by 8 a.m. with damage limited to the west wing of the building and largely confined to the space under the roof. The auditorium on the east side of the building was undamaged except for smoke.

"We made a good save," Chelsea fire chief Bud Hankerd said. "We got there in time, and we confined the fire. It may still be smoldering somewhere up there in the rafters. We'll keep some people working until we are absolutely sure the fire is out."

"The loss is undoubtedly several thousand dollars, but I can't estimate it any closer right now," Hankerd added. "It could have been a lot worse."

"We're looking at the possibility that the fire may have started in electrically heated tape wrapped around pipes to keep them warm in cold weather. Right now, that seems to be the cause of the fire, but we aren't sure."

Hankerd called a reporter for The Standard later in the morning to say that the cause of the fire apparently was indeed the heat tape.

"It looks like there was a short-out in the electrical circuit, and the tape caught fire and ignited the rafters up above. That's our best call at this point."

The building, which formerly was a residence, is a one-story structure with a large attic space between the ceiling and a trussed, peaked roof.

"There was a lot of room up there for the fire to spread," Hankerd said, "particularly with the wind blowing from the west like it was. When we got there, flames were coming through the roof, but we were able to knock them down and keep the fire from moving."

The 25-degree outdoor temperature made the firefighters' task more difficult. They were cold and wet as they went about the job of mopping up.

Firestone Retread Plant Shut Down

The firestone Retread Plant at 20401 Old US-12, immediately west of the Chelsea fairgrounds, is closed. That much was confirmed by a Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. spokesman in Detroit, but not much else could be learned.

The plant employed about a dozen persons during peak operations. Its function was to retread used tires.

Whether the closure is permanent or temporary was not disclosed. A telephone number at the plant remains in service, but no one answers it. The two entrance gates into the plant are shut and padlocked.

According to local sources, the plant was occupied by Industrial Plastics Specialty Corp. (IPSCO) (Continued on page five)

Red Cross Plans Blood Drive Dec. 8

If you can spare a short time from your holiday shopping, the Red Cross is holding a blood drive. Chelsea Jaycees is sponsoring the drive on Saturday, Dec. 8, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the UAW Hall, Local 437, 218 S. Main St.

Anyone between the ages of 17 and 65, who weighs at least 110 pounds and is in general good health can donate blood.

"All brothers and belles who gave blood in May should come out again to give blood for the holidays," said Julie Prohaska of the Red Cross.

The clinic is on a walk-in basis but appointments may be made by calling 971-5300.

"Blood donations are needed through the year but they are critically important during the holidays because organizations that normally sponsor blood drives are closed for the holidays. People are busy with holiday activities so donating blood becomes a lower priority," said Prohaska.

"However, the need for blood increases greatly. Especially during the first part of January because people are undergoing elective surgeries that they've postponed until after the holidays," she said.

Officers, as follows: Walter Hamilton, president; John Mitchell, vice-president; Jerry Ashby, treasurer; Ann Feeney, secretary.

Elected to a three-year term on the board of trustees were Ann Feeney, Pete Flintoft, Walter Hamilton, John Mitchell and Bill Nuffer. Flintoft and Nuffer have served previously on the Board of Trustees.

Serving on the board of trustees during 1985-86 will be Jerry Ashby, Barbara Brown, Charles Cameron, Marilyn Chasteen and David McAllister. Serving through 1985 will be Arthur Dils, Howard Holmes, Willard Johnson, Ron Olmsted, George Palmer and Raymond E. Van Meer.

Chelsea Offered 30-Year Lease On Amtrak Depot

In response to overtures by the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, Amtrak has offered to lease its rail station to the village of Chelsea for 30 years at $1 per year.

The lease which has been tendered is a 50-page legal agreement between National Railroad Passenger Corp. and the village. It must be submitted to legal and administrative review and must receive approval from the village council before it can be signed.

Chamber of Commerce officials hope all necessary approvals can be completed in 1984 as a grand climax to Chelsea's sesquicentennial year. There is a possibility that the ironing out of details may delay lease signing until after the first of the year.

"We are sincerely appreciative for the co-operation of Amtrak, and we are especially grateful for the good offices of Congressman Carl Pursell who lent his valuable support to the negotiations," William J. Rademacher, chamber president, said.

Dudley Holmes, Jr., and Will Connelly, chamber members, handled the final negotiations on behalf of Chelsea in liaison with Rollin Burns, Amtrak real estate official whose offices are in Washington.

Earlier efforts at an agreement with Amtrak were conducted on behalf of the Chelsea Historical Society by Lynda Longe.

The interior and exterior of the 140-year-old depot need extensive rehabilitation. Major interior architectural modifications will be required to convert the station into a civic center and historical museum.

That, in turn, will call for substantial donations of money from local organizations along with public subscriptions. A system of financing to cover the costs of yearly operation and maintenance will also have to be worked out.

Insurance, for example, is required with coverage up to $3 million for personal injury and property damage liabilities. Because the depot civic center will benefit town and townships, participation in Chelsea United Way may be considered as a possibility.

The lease with Amtrak provides that the rail passenger company may retake the Chelsea station at any time on 120 days notice but, if Amtrak does so, Chelsea will be reimbursed in full for the cost of improvements to the building.

Connelly has researched the acquisition of railroad stations by other communities in Michigan and has been in touch with state and national railroad historical associations. Based on these investigations he reports:

"There are two schools of thought regarding future rail passenger services for rural communities such as Chelsea. Some rail groups think that the I-94 median may be used for rail operations as the same land was used before by the old DUR (Detroit Urban Railroad.) The new transportation would be 200 mph air-cushion bullet trains that would zip past Chelsea in a blur.

"Other thinkers feel that as highways become more overcrowded with vehicles there will be a revival of local passenger rail service. If that should happen, and Chelsea again should become a rail stop, it would—at that time and in this place—be a joy to return our old depot to Amtrak or its successor."

Terms of the proposed lease provide that the village will be responsible for rehabilitating the depot and keeping it in good condition, and paying utility costs.

"We know the building is in bad condition but are confident that it can be saved before it falls down," Connelly said. "It's an eyesore right now, but it can be restored into something beautiful and useful, a valuable asset to the community."

"It has taken many months of hard work by a lot of people to (Continued on page five)

School Board Sets Graduation Dates

Proud parents and students can begin making early plans for graduation. Chelsea Board of Education set the dates for high school and adult education graduations.

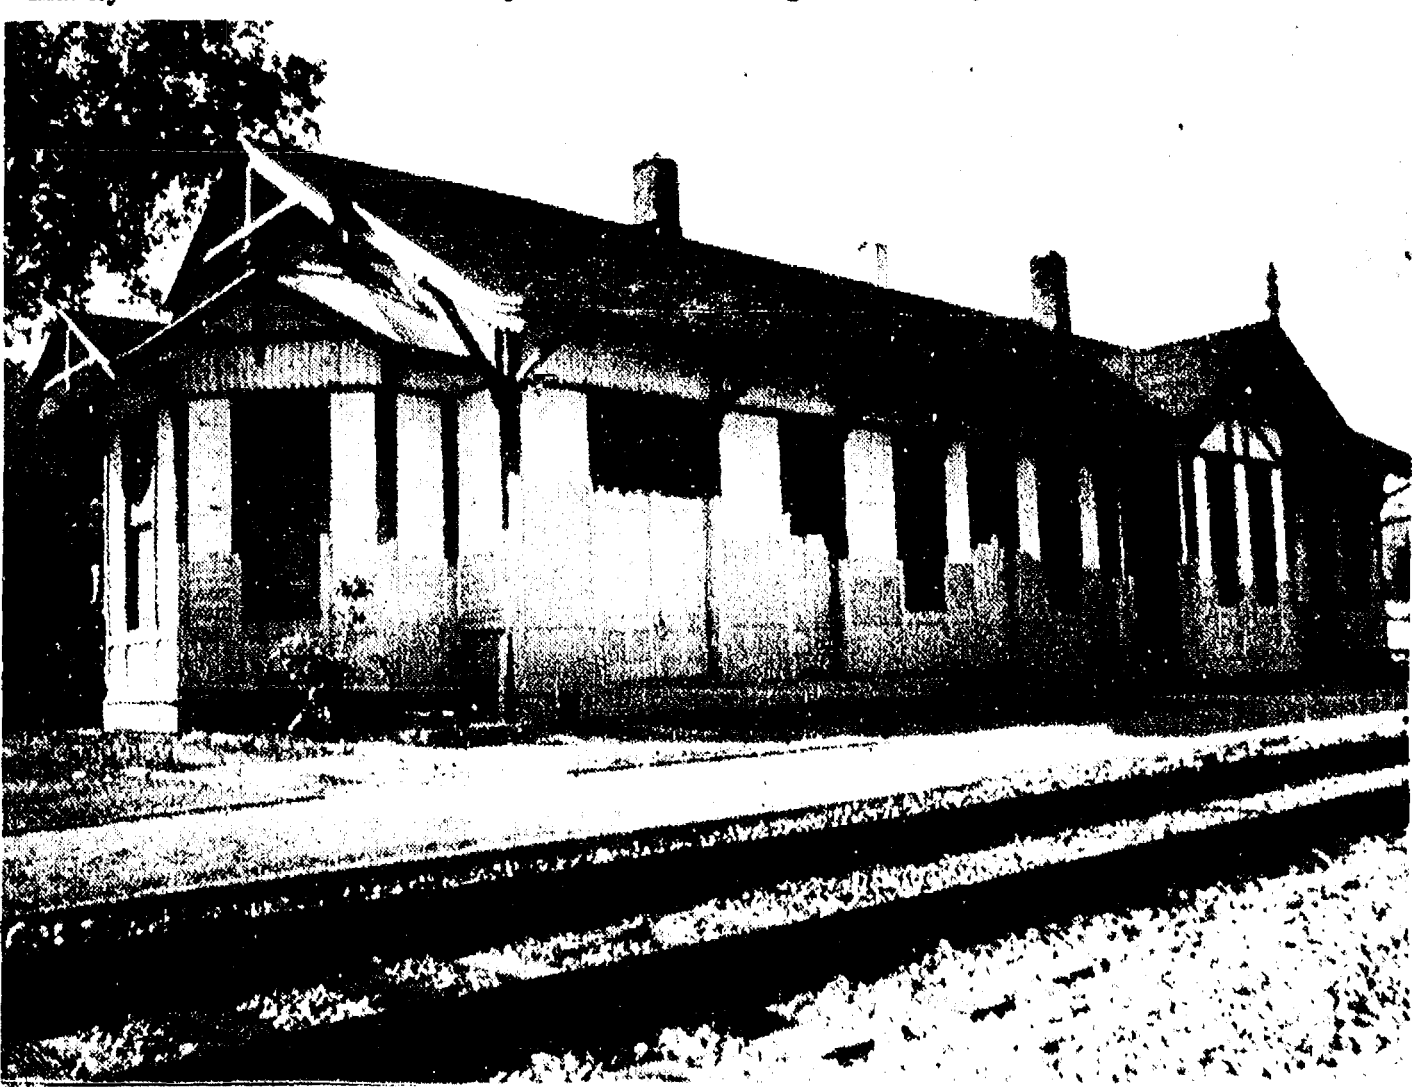

High school seniors will graduate June 9. Adult education graduation is set for June 13.

Superintendent Ray Van Meer said people, who wished to make graduation plans, had already begun calling. Therefore, the board felt it was necessary to set the dates.

WAITING in front of the waiting room of the Chelsea rail depot are officers and directors of the Chelsea Historical Society. They also await the day when they can move in and establish a community historical museum. The two persons under

IT'S AN EYESORE right now, but the Chelsea railroad depot could be made into something fine now that a 30-year lease on the old building has been drawn up between Amtrak and the village of Chelsea. Once all the legal papers are approved and signed, the depot will be renovated into a community center.

CHELSEA FIREMEN work to make sure that a fire at Jehovah's Witnesses Kingdom Hall on Old US-12 is out. Chief Paul Hankerd is at right. Others are unidentified. The early morning fire yesterday caused extensive damage but was extinguished before it could spread and destroy the building.

Governor Backs Early Ruling for Consumers' Financial Stability
Governor James Blanchard said recently he supports quick action by the Public Service Commission on a "fiscal survival plan" for Consumers Power Co., which he said should "minimize" customer payments for the failed Midland nuclear plant.

Meanwhile, Attorney General Frank Kelley filed a formal motion with the PSC asking the disqualification of Chairman Eric Schneidewind. Kelley said he has changed the focus of Consumers rate hearings now underway to assume customers will pay part of the Midland costs, because Schneidewind allegedly discussed the case with utility officials. Although a statement released by the governor supports the proceedings in progress and expects a ruling by spring, Kelley said that position is not at variance with his own call for a full hearing on Consumers' request and opposition to expedited proceedings.

"I don't think the governor means to speed up the hearings to bail out Consumers. If he is for an unprecedented proceeding without a full hearing, then we disagree," Kelley said.

But the attorney general said the case is set up for a full hearing and should involve the "threshold question" of whether ratepayers are responsible for any portion of the Midland plant, into which Consumers invested $3.6 billion before halting construction earlier this year when negotiations on its completion failed.

He said the case should determine "who is responsible for the plant. And if it is not the ratepayers, then how can this company be saved."

Kelley said Schneidewind has turned the case around and instructed staff to assume ratepayers must pay for some of the costs.

The governor, in his statement and in an interview, indicated ratepayers should help the utility regain financial stability by paying part of the Midland construction costs, but commission staff statements indicate that can be minimized by major sacrifices by Consumers.

Richard Cole, the governor's press secretary, said the governor was not advocating ratepayers pick up those costs, but it is a local assumption that will be the case.

"You can't avoid the assumption if you take quick action that allows dispensing the medicine before the patient is beyond recovery," he said.

"If Michigan's largest utility were forced into bankruptcy, both the reliability and cost of energy would be thrown into question. Based on the facts that are revealed, the Commission should be able to issue a financial stability order in the spring of 1985, before the company encounters serious cash flow problems," Blanchard said.

The PSC has split the company's request for an emergency rate increase of $205 million a year into one part to determine the amount needed to avoid bankruptcy and how much should be allowed for Midland.

The request is part of a 15-year, $472 million a year request to cover construction, financing and mothballing costs of Midland.

Kelley, who had earlier called for Schneidewind to voluntarily step aside from deciding the rate case, said his motion asking the PSC to disqualify the chairman should not delay the case, but delays would result if Schneidewind remains and the matter is taken to court.

Kelley said he had no choice but to file the motion, and would similarly be compelled to go to court should the PSC deny his request.

He said Schneidewind has "prejudged" the loss recovery issue, and violated the Administrative Procedures Act by meeting with Consumers officials and discussing the Midland case "on at least a dozen occasions."

Mr. Schneidewind in effect made himself part of the Con-

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Most of the fellers come to the country store Saturday night to praise leftovers, not to bury em. Zeke Grubb's preacher even got in a few licks in favor of what he called recycled food. Only Bug Hookum wrote a decending opinion. He said he was swayed when he made a funny tasting sandwich the middle of the week with turkey hash that his old lady told him was moldy and she had ment to git rid of.

During the few minutes the preacher set in on the session he talked about how people are starving in Ethoeper and hungry in other places, including places in this country, while most of us throw away enuff to feed everybody else. What goes in the garbage after one church cover dish supper would be a feast for another hole congregation. What we got to do is what them bishops said last month, the preacher went on, push politics aside and figger ways to git food to hungry people, was the preacher's words.

After the preacher left Ed Doolittle took note that Ethoeper government blowed enuff money celebrating some kind of recent anniversary to feed everybody in the country fer a month. It's one thing to help governments help people, Ed went on, it's another thing trying to help people in spite of their governments.

But practical speaking, broke in Clem Webster, the preacher was right. We got to eat to live, not live to eat. Food ought to be thought of as a fuel, not fun, and we need to use it as careful as we do other resources. Personal, Clem said, he was strong fer bringing back the soup pot on the back of the stove where you toss in everthing and keep it at the ready these winter days.

With all the holiday feasting, Bug Hookum said his meal still is breakfast. Give him some solid fixings at the start of the day, Bug declared, and he's fixed fer the rest of the day. He has saw recent where a cafe in San Antonia is offering a $100 breakfast fer two that has jest about everthing, and he's been thinking of giving his old lady one fer Christmas.

Actual, Clem said, fat is one of this country's major industries, and a heap of folks look at it like they do tobacker and convince themselves the good outweighs the bad. Clem had saw where Durham, N.C. has the best of both. It is a tobacker processing center, and it has five of the country's biggest fat farms. The piece he read said 2,000 people come to Durham ever year in hopes of leaving some of their surplus selves there. Last year they left 40 tons of fat and $20 million they spent on diet center fees, clothes, exercise equipment and new cars they reward themselves with.

Fer sure, Clem went on, businesses in Durham wouldn't take kindly to the Government taking a bite out of big people the way it is big cars. He had saw where next year folks won't get tax credit fer cars that cost more than $16,000. Insurance companies already are giving lower rates to folks that don't smoke and ain't overweight. Never mind shaming us into cutting back, Clem said, the quickest way to git our attention is a sharp pinch in the pocketbook.

REASONS FOR PRE-PLANNING?

We are frequently asked why one should consider pre-planning one's own funeral now. There are several basic reasons:

First, economy.

You save money by stipulating only as much as you wish to spend.

Second, inner security.

You have taken a weight off your mind, knowing that your personal arrangements are complete. And the cost won't become a burden on your family.

Third, personal choice.

You can choose your own service—your own minister, music, extent and kind of service, right down to the smallest detail.

And fourth, simply so that your family won't have to.

We can help you, as we've helped so many others in the community, in making pre-arrangements.

You may wish to call for an appointment to discuss pre-arranged funeral services with me or one of our directors. There is no obligation, of course.

Medicare/Medicaid Counseling Program Offered to Seniors

Washtenaw County Council on Aging is offering a new program providing assistance with Medicare and supplemental health insurance to older adults. Volunteers will provide education and assistance to older adults with Medicare/Medicaid applications, other health insurance, their costs and benefits, follow-up and appeal process.

Many people find it difficult to understand and deal with insurance coverage as well as supplemental health insurance coverage.

Volunteers are trained in these issues and will provide assistance to those having difficulty. Volunteers are available to assist older adults in Washtenaw county with these issues by appointment.

For more information or to arrange for an appointment call the Washtenaw County Council on Aging at 665-3625.

Hospice Informational Meeting Scheduled

Hospice of Washtenaw, a non-profit health care agency, trains and utilizes volunteers in the care of the terminally ill and their families. Volunteers serve families in a variety of ways—through supportive counseling, friendly visiting, health care education, light household chores and errand assistance. Other volunteers assist in office operations, publicity, and public speaking. It is not necessary to have a background in health care to be a hospice volunteer.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Hospice of Washtenaw is urged to attend an Informational Meeting to be held Dec. 12, at 7:30 p.m. at 2530 S. Main St., Ann Arbor.

Please call 995-1995 if you would like more information.

Area Enjoys Another Good Weather Spell

Unseasonably good weather hung on locally during the past week. Temperatures dropped to more normal levels, but repeated forecasts for snow and/or freezing rain proved happily wrong.

Severe storms which have belted the western states with sub-zero temperatures and heavy snow have repeatedly tracked northeast and missed southern Michigan.

Another storm front was supposed to move into this area late today, possibly bringing with it a mixture of rain and snow. Forecasts for later in the week called for day-time temperatures rising into the 30's and precipitation of some kind along about Friday.

Film Slated on Underground Evangelism in Communist Areas

The challenging motion picture "To Russia With Love" well depicts the ministry of Underground Evangelism of Los Angeles, Calif., a missionary outreach to Christians in Communist lands.

Secret arrangements were made in advance for a photographer from Underground Evangelism to capture a revealing glimpse of the "underground" church at worship. Closed churches, the low class conditions and the persecution of Christians living under the brutal oppression of state atheism, churches enduring terrible hardships yet increasing in membership—these are but a few of the facts uncovered by "To Russia With Love."

According to the Rev. Joe Bass, president of Underground Evangelism, "This film was one of the most difficult projects we've ever undertaken. Our cameraman was able to lose himself in the vast tourist crowds of Moscow and go on his way unchallenged and unmolested. The result was some of the finest behind-the-scenes shots we have ever seen."

The public is invited to view this stirring documentary "To Russia With Love" at Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7665 Werkner Rd., on Sunday, Dec. 9 at 6 p.m.

New Extension Agent Named for Washtenaw County

Michael T. Lambur began his duties Nov. 1 as the Michigan State University Co-operative Extension Service agricultural agent for Washtenaw county.

Lambur is a 1973 Ohio State University graduate with a bachelor's degree in agriculture. He obtained a master's degree in forestry from MSU in 1978 and a doctorate in forestry from MSU in 1983.

While at MSU, he worked as a forestry teaching assistant, a resource development research assistant, an entomology research assistant, an extension agriculture and marketing assistant, and an extension agriculture and marketing evaluation specialist.

Lambur will provide the leadership for educational programs relating to the Saline Valley Rural Clean Water Project in Washtenaw and Monroe counties.

His duties will include providing programs that develop maximum awareness of and participation in the project, and technical assistance in soil and water conservation and soil erosion control.

Criminal charges under the labor-management reporting and disclosure act were brought against 102 persons during the 1983 fiscal year, according to the U. S. Department of Labor's 1983 fiscal year annual report.

Beach Choir Presents 'Season's Greetings'

Beach School Choir will present their first musical, "Season's Greetings," on Monday, Dec. 10 at 8 p.m. in the Beach school cafeteria. The production will be for parents and is open to the community.

The Dec. 10 show is a dress rehearsal for the "traveling show" the choir will put on for North and South Elementary schools on the morning of Dec. 12. "Season's Greetings" is written by Jill and Michael Gallina, who specialize in writing material geared for elementary school children. A family receives six Christmas cards and the choir acts out a story for each card.

Besides singing, the musical will feature dancing. Mary Colie, a Chelsea resident with 15 years of dance experience, will choreograph the show. Sheri Lawton will be accompanist for the choir.

"While Beach school students have done dramatic productions for several years, this will be the first musical show which adds both music and choreography to a story line," said June Warren, vocal instructor for the choir.

Warren attended a workshop led by the Gallinas.

Michael Smith Performs In Albion College Choir

As a member of the 1984-85 Albion College Choir, Michael Smith will perform in the college's annual Festival of Lessons and Carols, Dec. 9, a joint celebration of the college and community sesquicentennial.

A sophomore, Smith will sing tenor in the production. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Denham E. Smith of 133 Orchard St., and a 1983 graduate of Chelsea High school.

Smith has performed in all Chelsea Area Player's Productions since "The King and I" including "South Pacific," "My Fair Lady," "Kiss Me Kate," and "Annie."

He also appeared in three high school musicals, "Me And Juliet," "West Side Story," and "Wizard of Oz."

Smith was a member of the National Honors Society. He won an outstanding senior music award and was a member of the high school choir for four years. He was also on the forensics team.

At Albion, Smith is also a member of a smaller male and female ensemble called the Briton Singers. He is the song leader of Phi Mu, an honorary music fraternity.

The Albion production's candlelight service at 7 p.m. in the Goodrich Chapel is a musical celebration of the Christmas story. During the service, nine readers from the campus and community will present a scriptural lesson and perform music confirming the essence of the lesson.

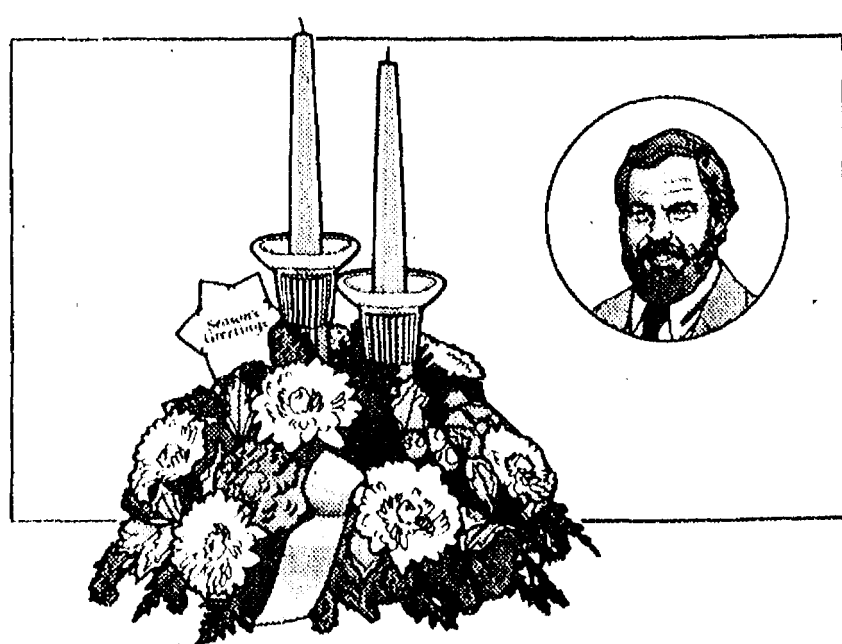

The Albion College Choir and Choral Society, under director Melvin Larimer, chairman and professor of music, and the community's Goodwill Singers, under director Willa Pierson, will participate.

Midway through the Albion service, a single candle will be lit to symbolize the birth of Jesus Christ, and this light will be passed on to the readers and choir, symbolizing the spread of Christ's gospel. The closing procession through the darkened sanctuary has always been a moving and unforgettable moment.

Organist, Albert Bolitho, professor of music, and a brass ensemble directed by Richard Blatti, assistant professor of music, will accompany the choirs.

A typographical error was printed last week in the Wolverine 76 Truck/Auto Plaza advertisement. The correct figure is $1,000 which the management will donate to Spaulding for Children as a Christmas season gift.

'Fitness Gamefield' Set for Pierce Park

A "fitness gamefield" will be installed in Pierce Park early next year with the help of Chelsea Community Hospital and the Chelsea Recreation Council.

Wells Fargo, Inc., will pay one-third of the cost, according to Philip R. Boham, hospital personnel director who spearheaded the effort to secure the facility.

"This program was initiated by Wells Fargo in connection with the Olympic Games held in Los Angeles last summer," Boham said. "The company contributes $2,500 toward the purchase of the gamefield provided local sources raise the rest."

Total cost of the facility will be about $7,800, Boham said, with the hospital and recreation council underwriting the local contribution. A grant from the Chelsea Civic Foundation will be sought.

Boham described the gamefield as an "exercise course" consisting of several stations at which users perform on such equipment as balance beams and hanging rings, and do leg-lifts, jumping-jacks and other calisthenics.

"It can fit into a space the size of a tennis court and can be laid out in just about any configuration depending on the site available. It definitely is not a running track."

"I am sure the gamefield will make an excellent addition to our local recreation program" in which physical fitness is stressed."

Boham said Clinton and Stockbridge have already obtained and installed gamefields through the Wells Fargo program, and Chelsea and Grass Lake have them on order.

"Chelsea's should arrive within a few weeks, but it probably won't be set up until early spring," he added. "Actually, the field can be used year-around, but I doubt we would try to install it in mid-winter."

The village council declined to contribute to the cost of purchasing the gamefield but did agree to furnish the site. Both Veterans and Pierce Parks were considered, with Pierce chosen because there is more space available.

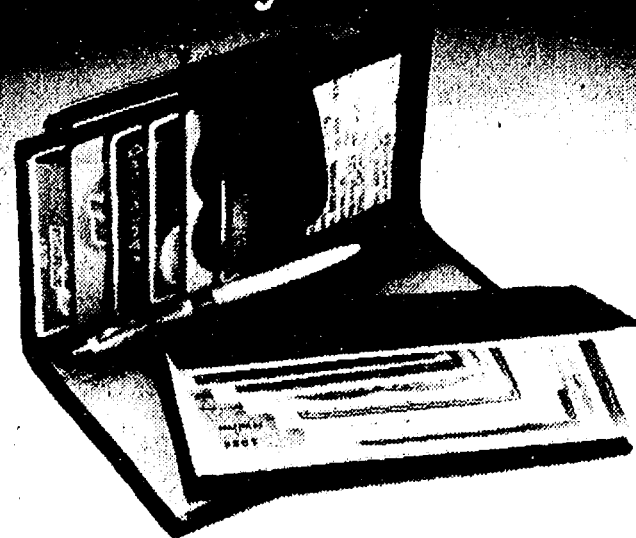

Art Teacher Patti Rogers Continues Maternity Leave

At their Dec. 3 meeting, the Chelsea Board of Education approved a second semester leave of absence for Patti Rogers.

Rogers teaches art at North and South elementary schools. She had requested a maternity leave for the fall semester and wished to continue that leave.

Janet Alford will continue to teach in Rogers' place.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

This will be short. Whether it will be sweet or not depends on your point of view. Last week's Clock Tower in which I said, among other things, that we had found Chelsea to be an unfriendly place brought some reactions. I expected them and would have been disappointed had there not been any.

While I don't go out of the way to create shock, I always hope to hear from people, if only to confirm that somebody is reading my stuff and that I'm not wasting my time by writing it.

Herewith a sampling of responses to last week's Clock Tower, with personal comments:

"You are wrong. You said Chelsea isn't a friendly town. It is. We moved here 12 years ago, and we love it. We've found people to be very friendly. You must have done something wrong."

(Comment: Good for you. You have succeeded in doing something that we couldn't do. Individual experiences differ. I can speak only for my wife and myself, and I'm not sure that I reflect her thoughts exactly. She had a worse time than I did. Yes, we undoubtedly did a lot of things wrong, but have to believe we did a few things right.)

"I'm glad you wrote what you did, because it's time somebody came out and said it. We've lived here 22 years and are still strangers. If you weren't born and raised in Chelsea, you don't belong and never will."

(Comment: Twenty-two years is a long time to live like strangers. Fifteen months was too long for us.)

"What makes you think Ann Arbor will be any friendlier? It's the most hostile place in the world as far as I'm concerned."

(Comment: Having twice before lived in Ann Arbor for a total of 20 years, I agree that the city will never win any prizes for friendliness. The difference I sense is that people in Ann Arbor tend to be neutral toward outsiders, not hostile. That may be because Ann Arbor's population turns over at the rate of 15 percent a year. It's a city of strangers. Few people live there more than 10 years.)

"Why do you keep knocking Chelsea? You've been nothing but negative since you started writing for The Standard. If you don't like the town, get out and stay out."

(Comment: I'm out so far as living here is concerned, but intend to go on working here. A surprising lot of people live elsewhere and work in Chelsea, or vice versa. I honestly don't think I've been negative. I have had a lot of good things to say about the village, and expect to have some more.)

"Did it ever occur to you part of your problem may be that, because of the kind of work you do, people are afraid of you? I don't talk much to you because I worry that whatever I say might be printed. I just plain don't trust you."

(Comment: That is a problem every newperson has to live and deal with, one you take on when you elect to go into the profession. All I can say is that I try hard to be honest and ethical, and keep my professional and personal lives completely separate.)

"Did you ever volunteer for anything? Did you try to make a place for yourself in the community?"

(Comment: Probably not as much as I should have. I'm not a pushy sort of person, and wait to be asked. Looking back, I can see that isn't the right approach to living in Chelsea. I should have pushed.)

"I agree with you 100 percent. I just hope you'll keep on writing. Your columns are current and 'tell it like it is'."

(Comment: Thank you.)

'Rescue' Group Will Try To Save Oak Tree

A public hearing has been set for Tuesday, Dec. 11, in the Manchester Township Hall to help decide the fate of a large burr oak tree on W. Austin Rd. which is said to be 300 years old.

A committee of area residents, composed of about 25 persons, has been formed in behalf of saving the tree. It is headed by Mick Lantis. Other officers are Sybil Abdul-Baki, vice-president, and Loring Ebersole, secretary-treasurer.

The Washtenaw County Road Commission has proposed to cut down the tree because it is located on a curve about three feet from the edge of the pavement and is therefore considered to be a traffic hazard.

There have been no recently recorded accidents involving collisions with the tree.

"It's the largest burr oak in Washtenaw county so far as we know," said Lois Jewell, spokesperson for the Austin Rd. Burr Oak Rescue Society. "We feel it should be saved, and we plan to take every possible legal step to keep it from being removed."

The burr oak (quercus macrocarpa) is a relatively uncommon species of oak in southeastern Michigan, much less plentiful than black oaks and white oaks. It normally grows on low ground, but the Austin Rd. tree has done very well on a higher elevation.

Whether it is actually 300 years old or not is anybody's guess, but it has obviously been around a long time.

"I suspect Austin Rd. was constructed along the path of an old wagon track at a time when the tree was not a hazard," Ms. Jewel said. The tree was there before the road, so if anything has to be moved it should be the road."

Your Health Options

By Beverly Chethik

Director of Health Education, Washtenaw County Health Dept.

We're planning to buy a puppy for our grandson who is five, but our son says there are health problems involved. Is that true?

Unless your grandson already has health problems, such as an allergy, that may be complicated by a pet, there are no serious health problems that cannot be prevented.

Prevention begins by choosing a dog carefully. Hounds are generally friendly dogs, less inclined to bite than are working and sporting breeds like German Shepherds and Huskies. Females pose fewer risks than male dogs and may make better pets for young children. Regardless of the breed you choose, teach your grandson to treat his pet with respect. A dog who is provoked—even unintentionally—may bite and leave a child with severe scars.

Children should also be taught to practice common sense hygiene, specifically to avoid touching the animal's feces. You can prevent ringworm (a skin disease) and roundworm (an internal disease) simply by limiting the child's exposure to the animal's wastes. In other words, when your grandson is playing outdoors or around the animal's pen, he should not go barefoot. Also, he should wash his hands and face thoroughly after he plays with the animal.

Some parents are concerned about a child sharing his bed with his puppy for fear he will get fleas. A local veterinarian suggests that even flea bites can be controlled if the pet is kept clean and indoors during the flea's reproductive period—that is during late summer.

The psychological advantages of owning a pet far outweigh the health concerns parents may have. Children who have a pet tend to develop a healthy sense of humor, a greater sense of responsibility and respect for life, and a caring attitude.

To avoid the other health risks associated with owning a pet, have the pet examined by a veterinarian for physical defects, parasites and other diseases. Plan, in co-ordination with your vet, a health program for your pet, and follow through with the program.

Your Health Options appears monthly in this paper. If you have a health related question, please write to the Washtenaw County Health Department, Health Education Office, Box 8645, Ann Arbor 48107.

Plant Closed

Firestone occupied the Old US-12 property beginning in the mid 1970's until earlier this fall. Firestone is still listed on the tax rolls as the owner, according to village assessor Charles A. Winans, II. "They were never very active in the community," Chelsea administrator Frederick A. Weber said. "I recall talking to someone from the plant just once, and can't remember his name. I know most of the people in town but don't know anyone local who ever worked there. My guess is that most or all of their employees came from outside Chelsea, but I don't really know."

There are no signs or any other indications that the property is for sale or rent.

Depot Lease

An effort to repaint the depot was made last summer as part of the sequicentennial celebration. The job was about half done with two different shades of tan paint. Result is that the building is standing there coated with a mixture of greens and tans—a startling but not very eye-appealing spectacle.

CHELSEA HIGH students will have a larger variety of recreation magazines thanks to Dan Murphy. Murphy has donated nine periodicals to the Chelsea High school media center for the past two years. These include the titles, "Cross Coun-

24 Years Ago . . .

(Continued from page two) residents have so far out-numbered Dexter citizens on their letters addressed to the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. which are being forwarded to the Dexter Chamber of Commerce so the entire bundle of letters may be presented in one package to telephone company executives.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Dec. 14, 1950—Present plans of the State Highway Department authorities are to advertise now for bids on the North Main St. bridge construction project with the date for opening the bids tentatively set for Jan. 18, 1951.

Village President, M. W. McClure was given this information in a telephone conversation with Ralph Dibble, State Highway department engineer and assistant to the deputy commission.

A 1,000-gallon tank truck, long considered a vital necessity locally for proper auxiliary fire equipment, is now to become a reality, following action by Sylvan and Lima township groups and by the Village of Chelsea.

According to the agreement between the two townships and between the townships and the village, the two townships have agreed to purchase the truck and equipment and maintain it, sharing the cost equally as provided for by Act No. 12, Public Acts of 1949, and the village has agreed to house, man and operate the tanker.

The Chelsea Electric Light and Water Department truck is now equipped with a radio noise detector by means of which it is possible to discover the source of line interference affecting radio and television sets. All that needs to be done to discover the source of the interference is to drive around the neighborhood where complaints have been made and the nearer the equipment gets to the source of interference the louder it registers the sound.

STRING BASSIST Norman Weber, left, and cellist Kathy Jorgensen, both Chelsea High school students, attended Eastern Michigan University's High School String Workshop. Both were asked to join an Honors Orchestra and will perform Jan. 11 through 13.

Two CHS Students Chosen To Join Honors Orchestra

Two Chelsea High school students were selected to join the Eastern Michigan University Honors Orchestra after participating in the college's High School String Workshop on Dec. 1.

Cellist Kathy Jorgensen, daughter of David and Judy Jorgensen, was awarded the first chair position in a 17-member cello section.

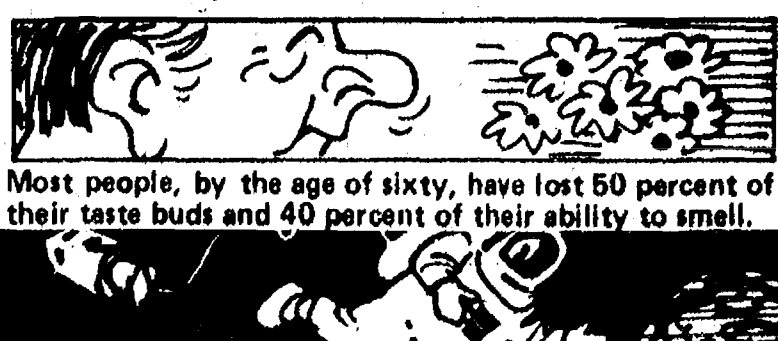

String bassist Norman Weber, son of Paul and Joanne Weber, was also selected for the Honors Orchestra.

At the workshop, the students worked with Russ Reed, orchestra director at EMU, in the large group rehearsals. They also were taught in sectional rehearsals by members of the EMU music performance faculty, including cellist Winifred Mayes and string bassist Steve Molina.

The student orchestra gave a concert that evening which included "Jubilee" by Ron Nelson and a string arrangement of a Bach Organ Concerto. EMU's college orchestra also performed in the concert which was held at Pease Auditorium.

The Honors Orchestra will perform Jan. 11 through 13.

The U. S. Department of Labor instituted 34 civil actions under the labor-management reporting and disclosure act during the 1983 fiscal year, including two suits to lift union-imposed trusteeships, one to hold an election for a position previously filled through appointment, and two to install union officers, according to the department's annual reports.

Beach Science Classes Hear About Famine in Ethiopia

On Monday, Dec. 3, Beach Middle school science classes of Alice Steinbach and Nola Borders had the great opportunity of hearing Salome Gebre, of Ethiopian heritage, talk on the subject of famine in Ethiopia.

The main topics she tried to get across to the students were what first caused the famine, and how we can help solve the problem.

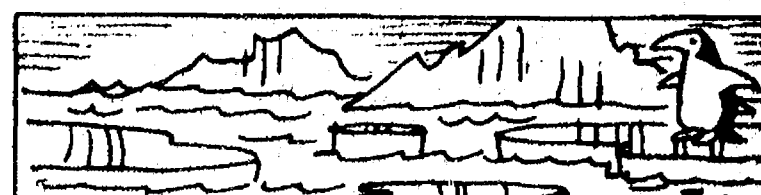

According to Mrs. Gebre, the main cause was the civil wars which have been going on for the last 20 years. Contributing to the problem is the extreme drought and the poor farming soil. Many farmers currently refuse to sell their crops to the government in power.

Mrs. Gebre also encouraged students to take action toward helping the victims of the famine. She suggested donating blankets, food, medicine, clothes or money. According to Gebre, "only $4 will feed a family of six for a week." If you would like to contribute, please contact your nearest church or Red Cross.

Cherry Bowl To Showcase Michigan's Agriculture

Michigan's first Cherry Bowl game, scheduled for Dec. 22 at the Pontiac Silverdome and featuring Michigan State University vs. Army, will provide a "centerpiece" for Michigan agriculture, according to Harry Foster, executive director of the Michigan Cherry Committee.

"The event will provide a centerpiece for all of Michigan's agricultural industry. We'll have some prime time visibility to share all the good things we know about Michigan and the agricultural industry here," said Foster. "Certainly, cherries will be the main focal point, but it also gives us the opportunity to call broad public attention to all of agriculture."

Foster said that Michigan ranks first in the nation in the production of red tart cherries with 75 to 80 percent of the national crop.

The Cherry Bowl is being supported by many of the state's businesses and organizations including the Michigan Farm Bureau and two of its affiliates, Farm Bureau Insurance Group and the Michigan Agricultural Co-operative Marketing Association.

Festival of Lessons, Carols Set

The Chelsea community is invited to gather at St. Mary's Catholic church, 14200 Old US-12, at 3 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 9, for the eighth annual Festival of Lessons and Carols. This type of service originated at Kings College Chapel, England more than 50 years ago. Chelsea's version includes 10 scripture passages from both the Old and New Testaments. In addition to the scripture readings, various area choirs will perform.

Choirs from St. Mary's Catholic church, Zion United Methodist church, Zion Lutheran church, and St. Paul United Church of Christ will be participating. Other vocal groups performing include Chelsea High School's Contemporaries and Madrigals, the Choir Camp Combined Youth Choir, and the Chelsea Community Choir. The Tintinnabulators, the bell choir of First United Methodist church, will also perform a number accompanied by the Susanna Wesley Singers, a harp, and two flutes.

Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" will close the program. It will be sung by the massed choirs and the congregation and accompanied by the community orchestra, all under the direction of Jack Bittle.

Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship, sponsors of the festival, will divide the offering between Faith In Action and the fellowship's treasury for local needs and concerns. This year's organizing committee includes Deacon Richard Cesarz, Mrs. Ann Lee, and the Rev. John Gibbon.

Promoted in Marines

Marine Lance Cpl. Scott A. Gray, son of Richard E. Gray of 8565 Country Club Drive, Pinckney, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

A 1983 graduate of Pinckney High school, he joined the Marine Corps in November 1983.

Foxy Lady Salon Moves To South St.

Although Foxy Lady Salon is no longer at 107 W. Middle St., the salon is still thriving elsewhere.

Carol DeFant, who owns Foxy Lady, moved the salon on Nov. 13 to her home at 226 South St. New owners of Gemini, twin sisters, Theresa Broderick-Miles and Lisa Broderick, took over DeFant's former location, but not her business.

DeFant moved the business because "I just bought a home and I thought it would be more convenient and I just needed a change," she said. "I like it a lot. It's a lot better. It's more calming."

Richard Steele New Cassidy Lake Liaison Council Chairman

Richard Steele is the new chairman of the Cassidy Lake Liaison Council, succeeding Mary Beth Dettling who has served for the past three years. He was elected at the council's Nov. 27 meeting.

Other officers are Wilbur Beeman, vice-chairman, and Jeanene Riemenschneider, secretary.

Steele who lives at 211 Lincoln St., is a member of the Chelsea board of trustees and holds a full-time job as a medical technician at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

"I realize I may be stretching myself a little bit, but I decided I could handle the Cassidy Lake council chairmanship," Steele said. "I think the council is important, and I want to see it continue as a strong organization. When you believe in something, you get involved."

"As chairman of the council, I will need a lot of help and support from other members and from the community. I want to do something for Chelsea, which I think is a great place. It's kind of unique, and I want to be an active part of it."

As a member of the village board elected in 1983 on his first try for public office, Steele has come across as a quiet, soft-spoken man who doesn't say a lot, but gets things done.

He said he intends to take that approach as chairman of the Cassidy Lake citizens council. "I'm a low key person who doesn't want to blow his own horn," Steele said. "My interest is in accomplishments, and I really don't care who gets the credit for them."

Steele said that, now the problem of escapes from Cassidy Lake has apparently been brought under control with tighter screening and security measures, he hopes the council can move on to other concerns.

"We have just been reacting (to the escape problem) and we have been caught in the middle," he commented. "I hope we can set some positive goals and try to achieve them during the next couple of years."

"I'm open-minded and looking for ideas. I do know that we need help in many volunteer areas, especially recreation."

Ms. Dettling was named chairperson of a committee to set goals and seek volunteer support. She has chaired the council since 1981.

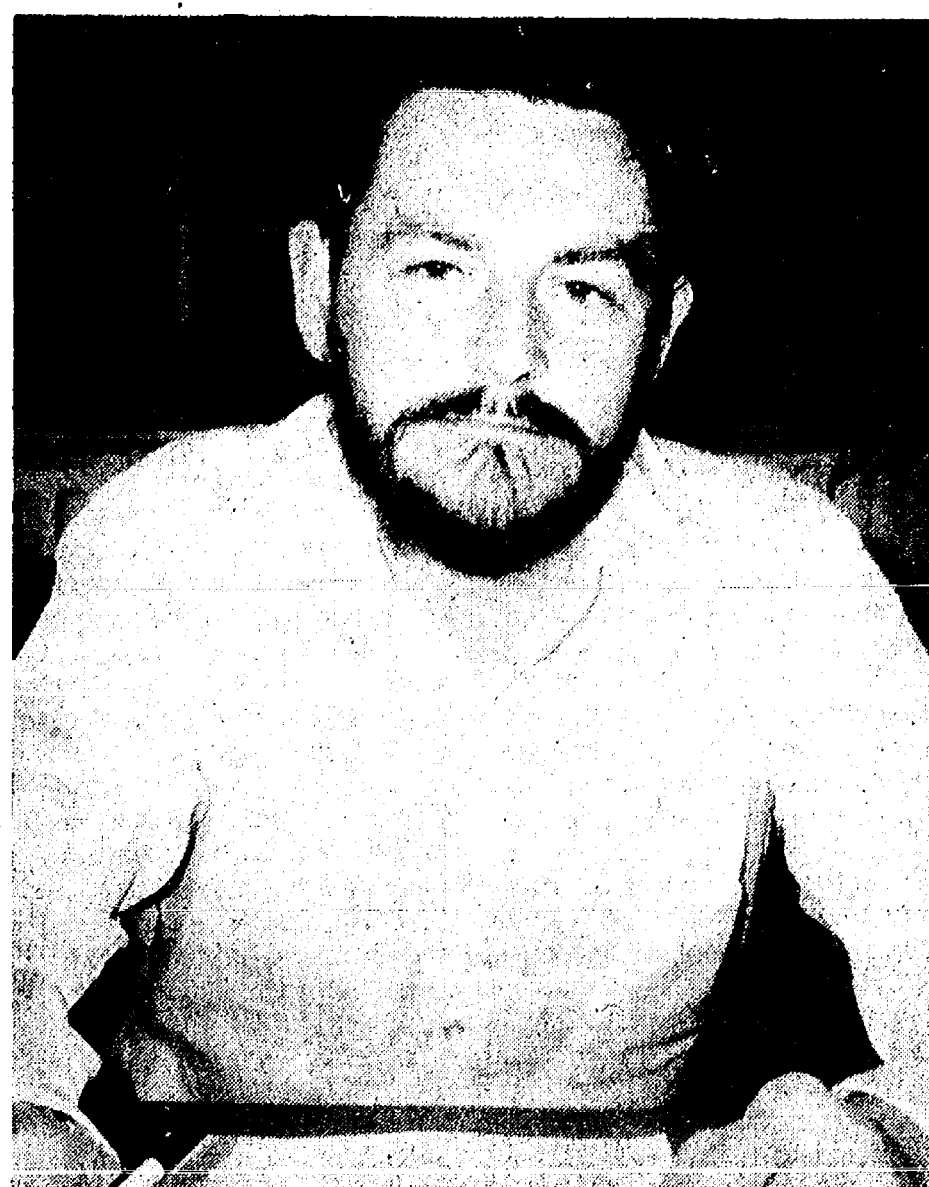

"It was very worthwhile, a tremendous learning experience," she said, "and I'm going to continue to be active as a council member. I feel a lot of good things have been done (by the council) but there is much more to do, and I want to help."

During recent years the council was forced to devote most of its time to public concerns about high numbers of escapes from Cassidy Lake. The walk-away rate has been reduced by more than half so far during 1984.

The minimum-security prison is unfenced and is patrolled by unarmed guards. Inmates are primarily young first offenders who have committed non-violent crimes, although there are some exceptions forced by overcrowding of the Michigan prison system.

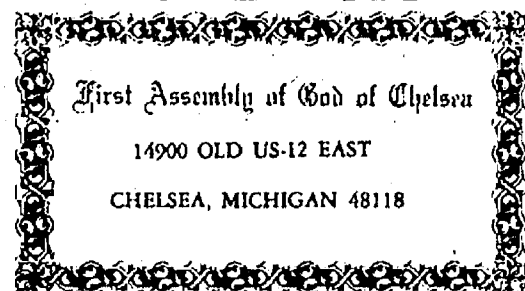

The so-called honor camp is located on Waterloo Rd. about five miles northwest of Chelsea.

New research indicates marijuana smoke may be even more harmful to the lungs than tobacco smoke.

Tri-Captains Named As Bulldog Cagers Prepare To Open

Seniors David Steinhauer, Keith Neibauer and Eric Schaffner will lead Chelsea's varsity basketball team as tri-captains when the Bulldogs open their season against Brooklyn Columbia Central here Friday night.

All three will start, as will sophomore Todd Starkey. The fifth position is up for grabs among juniors John Jedele, and Ray Spencer and sophomore Mark Barels.

"Actually, it doesn't make much difference," coach Rahm Rosentreter said. "All three will play a lot. We'll be using our bench, keeping fresh people in the game. Everybody will play."

Rosentreter said once more that his squad lacks size, and then added:

"I'm not going to mention it again or use it as an excuse. We're small and that's a fact, and we're going to have to play accordingly. There are ways to compensate for lack of size.

"We will have to play very tough defense, probably all over the court. We will have to work for high-percentage shots, and we will have to hit the boards hard at both ends of the floor. We will have to substitute freely.

"Those are the things you do when you play against bigger people. We may have three or four guards in the game at a time. Don't be surprised if you see some unusual things. We'll be changing, shifting, trying to keep opponents off balance and wondering what we are going to do next."

Steinhauer, Neibauer and Schaffner will make up the starting front line, with Neibauer in the middle. Steinhauer and Schaffner both played in the Starkey will operate at point guard, the "quarterback" position in basketball and a big responsibility for a sophomore. Best guess at this point is that Spencer will open at the other guard spot.

"What I've seen so far is that we have a bunch of smart basketball players, including some boys who are exceptionally good shots," first-year coach Rosentreter said. "We will try to take advantage of those strengths."

"It's definitely a rebuilding year following graduation of an outstanding group of seniors. I see a lot of enthusiasm and determination on this squad. We'll be all right."

North, South Students Swim At Beach Pool

Students from North and South schools are learning to swim at Beach Middle school's swimming pool from 12:30 to 1:45 p.m. during the school year.

"I think it is extremely important for our elementary children to learn how to swim," said North principal William Wescott. "With all of the lakes in the Chelsea area, it is a life-saving skill."

Swimming program instructors work with students in grades third through fifth and concentrate on basic swimming skills. Instructors are Larry Reed, Judy Ward and Jon Gesterle. Beach principal Darcel Stielstra schedules the elementary swimming program.

North and South students rotate swimming schedules. This semester, North students are using the pool. South students will learn during the spring semester. Next year, South will have the pool during the fall and North will learn in the spring.

Park Entry Permit Suggested as Idea For Yule Present

A Christmas gift idea that has delighted many an outdoor enthusiast with year-round enjoyment is the annual State Park motor vehicle permit. The 1985 permits went on sale Dec. 1 at the Waterloo Recreation Area. The cost is the same as last year, $10.

The permit offers an all-season pass to all Michigan state parks and recreation areas. People don't need to wait until summer season to use the permit.

Locally, the Waterloo Recreation Area provides facilities for many fall, winter and spring activities: cross-country skiing, snowmobiling, hunting, ice fishing, sledding, snowshoeing, camping, hiking and nature programs.

Park users are reminded that since Jan. 1, 1981, State Park motor vehicle permits have been required throughout the Waterloo Recreation Area.

For those wishing to purchase a park permit, the Waterloo Recreation Area park office, at 16345 McClure Rd. is open Monday-Friday 8-12 and 1-5. Written requests for a permit plus a $10 check/money order payable to the "State of Michigan" should be sent to: Waterloo Recreation Area, 16345 McClure Rd., Chelsea 48118.

period but were unable to score. Northwest earned four points to Chelsea's three.

Chelsea shot 18 out of 53 for 34% from the floor, and 50%, 10 out of 20, from the free throw line. They out-rebounded Northwest, 28-22.

Headrick led scoring with 18 points and 15 rebounds. Collinsworth made 12 points. Cattell had nine points with four assists. Joann Tobin earned five points. Anderson made two and Weber had two points and seven assists.

The team ended the season, 15-6, as co-champions of the Southeastern Conference.

Non-Residents Must Pay Snowmobile User Permit Fee

All non-residents who bring snowmobiles to Michigan must purchase a $5 Michigan user permit.

Permits, valid for one year, are available at all Secretary of State branch offices.

To assist in sale of permits, Secretary of State Richard Austin said tourist and travel resort operators, sport show, restaurant owners and others, both in and out of Michigan, may be authorized to sell permits.

Permit fees go to the Recreational Snowmobile Trail Improvement Fund under the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Kargel Confident As Bulldog Wrestlers Get Ready To Open

"We'll give everybody a good shot. We don't have to concede any matches at any weights. I feel real good about this team. We've been building a program for two years, and we're going to see some results."

That was Chelsea wrestling coach Kerry Kargel's in-a-hutshell summary of his varsity team's prospects as they prepared to open the season against Jackson Lumen Christi here tomorrow night.

"The league (Southeastern Conference) looks very tough and very competitive," Kargel commented. "All seven schools will be strong, and my guess is that each will lose at least one league meet. It's that close. We will be good, and so will everybody else. It's going to be a great season if you like competition."

Kargel is especially happy that he has some boys who will be able to hold their own, and sometimes win, in the heavier classes. During the past couple of seasons the Bulldogs have done very well in the lower weights but have had problems in the upper divisions.

"We will be better in the heavier weights this year," Kargel promised. "We will have improved team balance and more consistency. We will give the league championship one heckuva shot."

Kargel has a 33-member team

Hudson Mills Park Offers Excellent Terrain for Skiing

Hudson Mills Metropark, located near the Village of Dexter, has excellent terrain for cross-country skiing.

This is the primary winter attraction at the park and there are 5½ miles of groomed trails. The scenic qualities of the park make it a wonderful spot for this fast-growing sport.

The nature trail is open year-around for self-guided hikes. Hudson Mills Metropark is an excellent spot for winter photography, especially at the rapids near the North Territorial Rd. bridge or at other scenic locations within the park.

Park hours are 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. For information contact Hudson Mills Metropark, 8801 North Territorial Rd., Dexter 48130. Phone 1-800-552-6772 (toll-free) or 426-8211 (Dexter).

Vehicle entry permits are required (Annual - $7, senior citizens - $2 or daily - $2).

including seven returning lettermen from a year ago. They are Dave Shoemaker, Rick Proctor, Steve Wingrove, Pete Hanna, Bob Torres, Doug Harden and Ron Bogdanski.

"We've got some good kids coming up, sophomores and juniors, and we have 13 freshmen which is a healthy sign for the future of the program. You will be hearing a lot about sophomores like Mark Edick and Alan Fromm, and some others—boys who were on the team last year, worked hard and learned. You build your future strength with freshmen and sophomores, and we have some promising ones. They'll get better as they grow and mature."

Kargel is a coach who can practice what he teaches. He is a former state champion high school wrestler and went on to success at Michigan State University. When he isn't coaching the Bulldog wrestling team, Kargel teaches art. He is one of the better wildlife painters around and does outstanding work in a variety of subjects and media.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Way back in 1948, when southern Michigan was re-opened to deer hunting after a lapse of more than 30 years, I got a call from a farmer near Brighton who said he had shot "a real big buck." One of the attitudes a newsman develops is skepticism. Deer and a lot of other things tend to get bigger in the telling.

Something in this man's voice convinced me that I should make the 15-mile drive from Ann Arbor to take a look, and that turned out to be one of my better judgments. That "real big buck" carried 27 points, and dressed out at 240 pounds, the largest deer I have ever seen. It weighed well over 300 pounds alive. If there has ever been a bigger buck shot in Michigan, I haven't heard about it, and I keep pretty close track of the records.

That memory comes to mind in connection with this year's deer season. While I haven't looked at any buck as big as that 1948 monster, I have seen a lot of very good ones, more than in any other fall. This has to have been among the best deer hunts ever in this part of the state, just maybe the best when all the statistics come in.

Throughout the summer and early fall I had seen deer all over the place. Driving during the early morning and late evening hours when deer are on the move got to be kind of a challenge, to avoid hitting one. What impressed me as I dodged and stopped to avoid deer crossing the road was the average size of the animals. Even the fawns were big. Some large-bodied does, most of them escorting twin fawns, were bigger than the average bucks of most years.

When late summer came and bucks started to grow their annual racks of antlers, every male deer I saw appeared to be carrying at least eight points, and some had more. I counted 12 on one buck that raced across the road a couple of miles north of Chelsea, and I might have missed some while slamming on the brakes and steering to the shoulder to avert a collision.

The archery season opened on Oct. 1, and I confidently expected to hear from a bunch of successful bow hunters, but didn't. Only two archers brought deer into The Standard parking lot to be reported and photographed. They were both very good bucks, but I had expected to see or hear about a lot more and still don't understand why I didn't.

For some reason there apparently were many fewer bow hunters locally than in past years, and their success rate was low. That is surprising considering the number of deer available and hunting conditions which approached the ideal. Leaf fall was early, and deer food (and therefore deer) concentrated because of the summer drought.

Other observers, including conservation officers, agreed with me that hunting pressure during the early bow season was way down. Why? That is a question that still hasn't been answered and may never be.

I didn't know quite what to expect when the firearm season opened on Nov. 15, but soon found out. There was a parade of happy hunters coming in to show me their bucks and have them photographed. I have never seen a nicer assortment of deer in terms of antler and body size.

Among the lessons I learned while working 17 years for the Department of Natural Resources was how to age deer by feeling their back teeth. Deer grow only one set of teeth during their lifetime, and the back molars gradually wear down under the pressure of chewing food. A really old deer will have teeth worn down to the gums, and will eventually die of starvation because of inability to grind up vegetable browse into digestible bits and pieces.

I'm by no means a deer-aging expert but feel fairly confident about identifying yearlings and two-year-olds. After that, it gets to be more and more of a guessing game. From age four on, you are stabbing in the dark and hoping not to be more than a year wrong.

What impressed me most about this fall's crop of deer, or at least the ones I saw and aged—was their size in terms of their years. I poked my fingers into the mouths of about 15 bucks and a couple of does and found that almost all of them were yearlings even though they looked to be older. The smallest rack I saw had five points with another one broken off. It was a very large deer, the biggest I examined. I guessed its age at 5½ years, and it could have been older. It was white around the muzzle and eyes, signs of an elderly animal, kind of like gray hair in humans.

One indication that there are a lot of deer, including a lot of bucks, is that just about half the racks I looked at had one or more points broken off. Unless the local deer population has fallen into the habit of running head-long into trees, that means there has been much fighting among bucks for breeding territories, which in turn means there is a surplus of bucks.

Male deer fight by going head to head and shoving until one or the other gives ground. They often lock antlers during those pushing matches. Almost always something breaks, because the antlers are made of fairly soft bone tissue. Once in great while, the contesting bucks stay locked together, and both die.

Deer don't stab at each other's bodies, and that is a good thing for survival of the species. The antler points are sharp and strong enough to do a lot of damage if driven into flesh, as more than one deer hunter has learned the hard way by walking up to a supposed "dead" deer that wasn't.

All in all, it's been a great deer hunting season locally, the best I can recall. It goes on through Dec.

11 for muzzle-loading rifle shooters and through Jan. 1 for archers. There are many deer left out there. I saw four this morning, one a good buck, on my way to work.

Hunting License Agents Say Sales About Same

About as many local people went hunting this fall as did a year ago, if license sales by Chelsea's two authorized agents can be applied as a valid measurement.

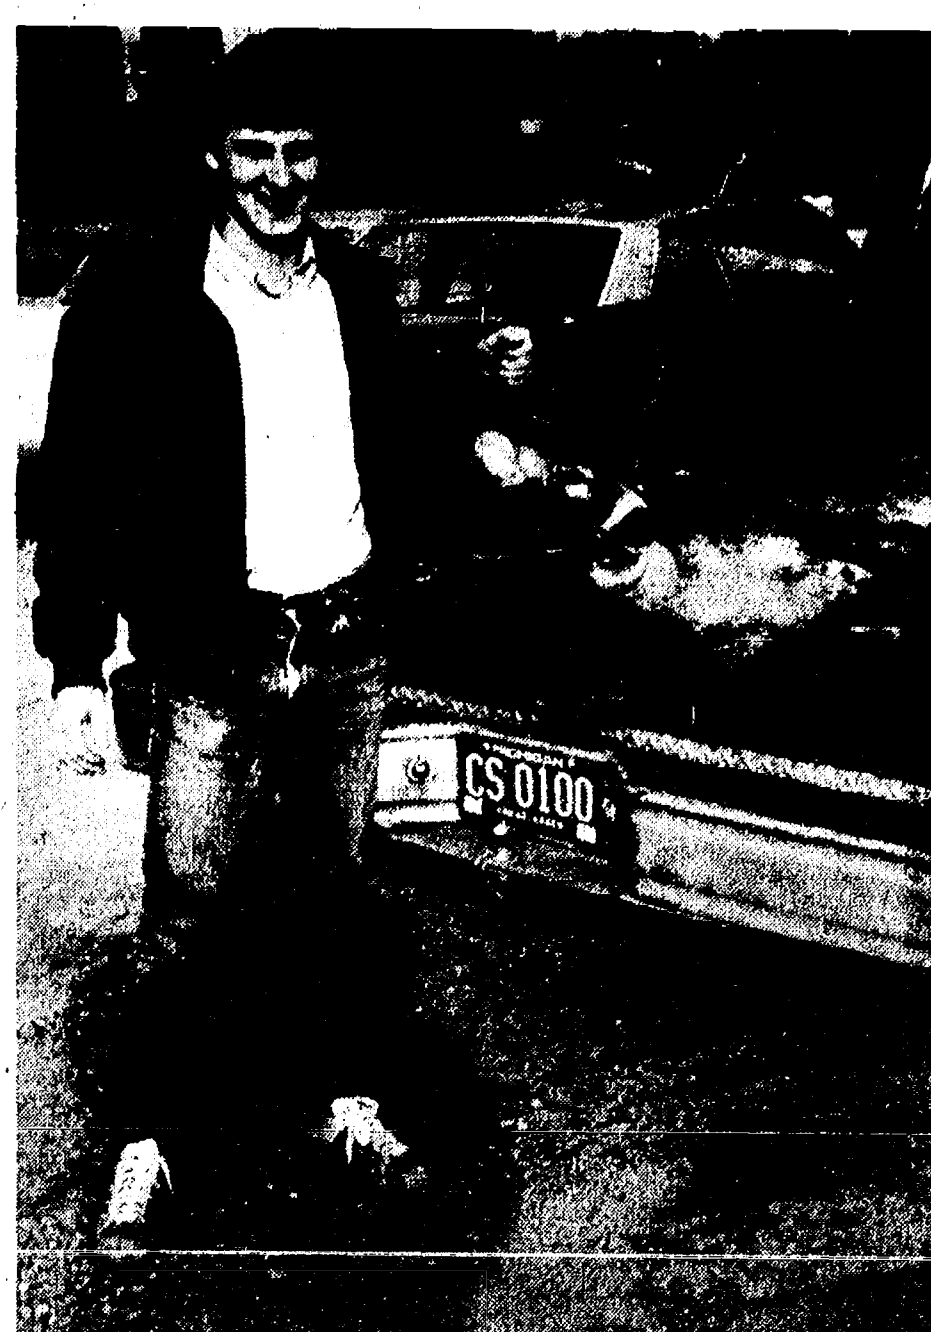

Spokespersons for both the Gamble store and Chelsea Hardware said they didn't have an exact count to compare with 1983 but estimated the totals are "very close" to a year ago.

The two business places are the only license agents in Chelsea designated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Handling and dispensing the licenses, accounting for the money, and making returns to Lansing is pretty much a courtesy to the public. Agents receive token fees ranging from 10 to 25 cents for each license issued, not enough to cover the time and paperwork involved.

The best an agent can hope for is that a person who comes in to purchase a license may buy something else while in the store. A spokesman for Gambles said hunting license sales were "strong" this fall but probably no higher than a year ago. "Last year was good, and so was this year," he said. "My guess is that they were just about even."

Chelsea Hardware ran out of firearm deer licenses, just as it did a year ago. "We ordered more this time, but we still didn't have enough," a spokeswoman said. "However, I don't think the total demand for all types of hunting license was much if any bigger than last year. We were busy during both."

ONE OF THE LAST: Most deer hunters give up after the first few days of the season, but Todd Brown of 414 N. Main St. persisted and shot this six-pointer on Monday, Nov. 26, while hunting south of Old US-12 near Chelsea. He brought down the deer with a buckshot load from a 12-gauge shotgun at a range of about 40 yards. The buck would have carried an eight-point rack except that two tines were broken off on the right side. Brown's trophy aged out at 1½ years and had a dressed weight of about 150 pounds, a mighty nice deer.

OUTSTANDING RACK: Job Smith of Manchester had to wait until Nov. 27 to bag his buck, but when he got his chance he downed a fine 16-pointer with an 18-inch antler spread and near-perfect symmetry marred only by a broken tine. Aged 3½ years, the deer dressed out at 172 pounds. Smith jumped the buck in heavy swamp cover and killed it at 50 yards with a load of buckshot fired from a 12-gauge magnum shotgun he had brought just a week before. "I had been hunting just about every day all season," Smith said. "I'm sure my wife is glad it's over."

CRASH OF BIG AND LITTLE: The end result of an accident at Old US-12 and Pierce Rd. on Tuesday, Nov. 27, saw a mid-sized Ford Maverick locked beneath the trailer of a semi-truck. Fortunately, there were no serious injuries. The car had a shattered windshield and damage to the left side. The truck was barely scarred.

Only Minor Injuries Recorded in Accident

A spectacular traffic accident which resulted in only minor injuries to one person was recorded at Old US-12 and Pierce Rd. on Tuesday, Nov. 27.

It ended with a small auto lodged under a semi-trailer after having gone underneath it in an attempt to avoid the crash.

The sheriff's department report identified the truck driver as Rodney J. Kaiser, 22, of Napoleon, and the operator of the car as Michelle Wheeler, 24, of Grass Lake.

Deputies said the truck came off I-94 north-bound at the Pierce Rd. exit. The driver tried to stop, pumped his brakes several times, but went through the intersection.

The car, headed west on Old US-12, skidded 70 feet before hitting the rear wheels of the semi and coming to rest underneath it. The windshield was shattered, and there was some damage to the left side of the vehicle.

Ms. Wheeler declined hospital treatment for bumps and bruises. Kaiser was ticketed for failure to stop. He was unhurt.

Half of State Drivers Breaking Speed Limit

Michigan motorists are in compliance this year—but just barely—with the national 55-mile-per-hour speed limit.

That is the report from State Transportation Director James P. Pitz and Col. Gerald L. Hough, State Police director.

Pitz said state-wide checks by the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) showed that 49.7 percent of all vehicles operating on roadways signed for 55 mph are exceeding the speed limit. Last year, 48.5 percent were going over the limit.

If the total exceeds 50 percent, the state faces loss of up to 10 percent of federal funds allocated for work on primary, secondary and urban systems highways. Michigan's potential penalty is about $10 million a year.

"Obviously, we just barely got in under the wire this year," Pitz said. "Highway speeds have been creeping up every year for several years, and it's evident that Michigan will not be in compliance in 1985 if motorists continue to press down harder on the accelerator."

Hough, under requirements of federal law, said he will certify to the Federal Highway Administration that Michigan is in compliance with the national speed limit adopted during the Arab oil embargo of 1973-74.

The driving speed for Michigan motorists was obtained by averaging data from 882,294 vehicles that passed 44 monitoring sites located throughout the state.

Average driving speeds range from 62.9 miles per hour on rural

Catalog Published About Michigan Solar Heating

Solar heating can substantially reduce costs for operating conventional heating systems in Michigan, provided that careful planning is coupled with sensible design and construction.

That is the core message of "The First Catalog for Solar Energy in Michigan" libraries and in Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service county offices.

Funded by a grant from the U.S. Department of Energy, the catalog was written by Cynthia Fridgen, extension energy specialist; Tim Morzowski, assistant professor of agricultural engineering at MSU; and Jim Zarka, an MSU landscape architecture graduate now practicing in Colorado.

A number of organizations and agencies co-operated with the trio in providing data for the catalog. These included: the Solar Industries Association, Brighton; the Michigan Energy Administration; the Department of Agricultural Engineering, the Cooperative Extension Service, the Department of Human Environment and Design, and Joseph Fridgen, Department of Park and Recreation Resources at MSU; Fred Nurenberger, state climatologist for the Michigan Department of Agriculture; and Urban Options, East Lansing.

The catalog provides information about the amount of solar heat available in Michigan during a year, examples of solar energy-equipped homes, solar energy performance calculations, financing and economics, and other related topics.

"The use of solar energy has proven to be cost effective for some homeowners in Michigan, but some systems have been proven to be poor investments," Fridgen says.

"The catalog is intended to illustrate the merits and benefits that can accrue from a well designed, properly managed solar heating system," she says.

"Solar energy has the potential for being a significant heat source in all homes, but our research shows that not all solar applications are sensible investments. We think the catalog helps point the way to those that are."

For more information about the catalog, write to Cynthia Fridgen, 4935 Chipping Camden Lane, Okemos 48864.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU EDITORIAL

★ Unfinished Business

One of the issues that died when the 96th Congress closed its doors and went home was the Constitutional Amendment to balance the federal budget.

It was just too controversial for our politicians to touch right before the elections. Besides, lawmakers had voted to convene a Constitutional Convention to settle the issue, some of their power to throw money around could have been taken away.

It's hard to find anybody who thinks the government is spending our tax money wisely. And it's hard to find a citizen who feels the government has to operate as deeply in the red. It's a matter of public record that the folks running this country haven't been willing or able to bring responsibility to the nation's ledger sheets on their own.

The fact remains that the politicians don't want to balance the budget because they enjoy living beyond their means and those of the taxpayers. So we need a law forcing them to do it, and what better legal document is there than the U.S. Constitution.

There were no laws passed in 1984 that would force Congress to cut the red ink. People in several states weren't even allowed to state their opinion in the November elections whether they thought the Constitutional Amendment route was the way to go. And the flood of red ink will pour right on through 1985 and future years unless you tell the people you send to Washington that you want it stopped and how you want it stopped.

Auto Theft Unit To Curb Auto Club Loss Claims

Faced with a 25 percent increase in auto theft claims for the first five months of 1984, the Automobile Club of Michigan has become one of the first insurers in the state to develop and implement an auto theft investigative unit.

"Car theft has emerged as a problem of epidemic proportions," said Len Bach, Auto Club Field Claims Operations director. "As a result of auto thefts, our payments have risen from $27.2 million in 1980 to a projected $65 million this year."

"We started this unit to protect our members and policyholders from the increased costs associated with car theft," Bach said.

Purpose of the new unit is to control the spiraling costs associated with auto thefts. Last year, the Auto Club processed 14,605 theft claims, a 60 percent increase since 1980.

The unit, which includes 14 special claims representatives and two investigators, will investigate theft, fraud and auto arson. All employees of the unit are experienced in auto theft investigation and some are former police and fire department investigators.

Auto theft claims reported by insureds in Metropolitan Detroit will be processed by the unit in addition to some claims involving thefts throughout the remainder of the state.

"For Auto Club policyholders, the procedures for reporting thefts will remain intact. Insureds should continue to report thefts to their local branches," added Bach.

The theft unit is located in the Auto Club's former East Dearborn office, 5261 Oakman Blvd. Its telephone number is 336-2515. The facility will not take payments or offer any other member services.

Last year, the Auto Club unveiled its multi-faceted ACTION (Arrest Car Thieves In Our Neighborhood) program offering rewards up to $10,000 to tipsters to stem the tide of car thefts and to help law enforcement agencies identify "chop shop" operations.

The ACTION program also includes the etching of VIN's on auto glass. Motorists also are urged to engrave the VIN or saleable metal parts such as doors and trunk lids.

Bach said those measures, coupled with two anti-theft bills pending in the Michigan Senate, could help reduce the company's skyrocketing loss payments and lessen the hardship auto thefts cause for policyholders.

WHEREAS, the need for the full service court in the western part of the county remains and will continue to grow and,

FRIENDLY FACE: Always willing to give a hand, Marge Lazarz helps students behind the snack bar at Beach Middle school. She also handles laundry for the pool, but is always willing to clean jeans that have suffered from a spill.

TAKING PRIDE: Beach Middle school math teacher Betty Cox (standing center) was recognized by the Take Pride in Your Schools committee for her work with the Academic Games Club.

Take Pride in Your Schools Recognizes Two Beach Staff Members

Two staff members of Beach Middle school have been recognized by the Take Pride in Your Schools Committee. One is certified, one, non-certified.

Betty Cox, a math teacher, is recognized for volunteering her services to begin the Academic Games Program. Marge Lazarz is recognized for service in the cafeteria and laundry room.

"I've worked with Betty for 10 years and she is one of the most dedicated people in terms of the amount of time she puts into the building and the way she works with the kids," said Pat Clarke, Beach math teacher. "She's always willing to help. I've found her to be a very vibrant and pleasant individual."

Of Lazarz, Clarke said, "Marge is very interested in anything going on in school. She's interested in all teams, not just the ones her kids are on. She washes the uniforms for my teams even though she doesn't have to."

Clarke also coaches the wrestling and cross-country teams.

Cafeteria worker, Mary Schiller said, "Marge is the type of woman, you can come in feeling down and after an hour with her, your cares are forgotten."

Lazarz didn't attend the American Academy of Art in Chicago with the idea of being a snack bar attendant, and working in the laundry room. She studied to be a lay-out artist and worked for a department store in Dayton, O.

"Then I had my children. That fixed me," she said.

Lazarz has four children, the youngest of which is a sophomore at Chelsea High school.

"I'd like to get back into lay-out work. Maybe when I get my sophomore through, but I doubt it. I love working with the kids," Lazarz said.

Lazarz also enjoys the women she works with and the new principal, Darcio Stielstra.

"It's a pleasure to work for the new principal. He's changed the morale of the whole school. The kitchen ladies are usually taken for granted but he comes in and talks to us and he makes you feel like you're almost human," she said.

"It's a nice bunch of women I work with. We're like sisters. Mary Schiller has made me feel welcome since we've been here and Chelsea's not an easy community to get used to but it helps to get in the school system," she said.

The Lazarz family moved to Chelsea in 1978.

Cox started working in Chelsea in 1967 as a fifth grade teacher at North school. Before that she taught the fifth grade at St. Claire Shores. In January, 1970, Cox transferred to Beach as sixth grade math teacher.

Cox attended a conference where she saw academic games being played. They looked interesting to her and to her students, so she organized the Academic Games Club, volunteering her time for the practices and to take the students to the meets.

"I guess I enjoyed it. I enjoyed seeing students compete and doing well and I took pride in their accomplishments," Cox said.

"I think of myself as a representative of a faculty that is outstanding. So many of the faculty do extra things with the kids. I think personally I'm very proud of Beach school faculty and staff. I think we really have a marvelous staff, student body and curriculum," said Cox.

Gasoline has no specific freezing point. When it does freeze it never solidifies totally, but resembles gum or wax.

Rec Council Announces Winter Plans

Chelsea Recreation Council will offer winter programs in cheerleading, roller skating, biddy basketball, floor hockey, gymnastics, badminton, wrestling, women's volleyball, cross-country skiing and adult basketball.

Director Jacqueline Schiller announced that biddy basketball registration will be held Saturday, Dec. 11, from 1-3 p.m. in the Beach Middle school cafeteria.

The University of Michigan Family Practice Center at Chelsea Community Hospital will provide informational clinics for parents and children on sports-related injuries, their prevention and treatment.

MADD Plans Memorial Vigil Dec. 10

Mothers Against Drunk Driving, MADD, plan a county-wide memorial vigil to be held on Monday, Dec. 10 at 7:30 p.m. on the steps of the Federal Building, on the corner of Liberty St. and Fifth Ave. in Ann Arbor.

They will join the other 320 chapters in 46 states in remembering those who have been killed this past year in alcohol-related crashes.

The memorial will be held during National Drunk and Drugged Driver Awareness Week (Dec. 9-15) as passed by the congress and signed by the president. Everyone in Washtenaw county is invited to attend the vigil which will last about 30 minutes.

MADD hopes that students, in particular, will want to participate in lighting candles as a way of reminding all of us that drinking and driving is the leading cause of death of all Americans under the age of 35.

This event will take on an added meaning since Washtenaw county's death rate due to alcohol-related crashes is almost double that of last year's. This year, 52 people have died from 42 collisions in Washtenaw county. Twenty, or 45%, of the collisions have been alcohol-involved, resulting in 26 deaths. Ten of the 26 people who died were completely sober. Eighteen, or 34%, of the total fatalities were young people between the ages of 16 and 25, of which 44% were alcohol involved.

In one study with healthy college students who smoked five marijuana joints for two to three months, highly significant differences in airways resistance were found. The researcher, Dr. Donald Tashkin, concluded, "if lung function continued to deteriorate at the same rate that was observed during the course of the study, individuals who continued to smoke an average of five joints a day would become disabled by respiratory insufficiency in a few years."

First Assembly of God Has New Associate Pastor

First Assembly of God has a new associate pastor, Ed Lang. He began assisting pastor Phil Farnsworth in ministering the church on Oct. 1.

The Rev. Lang comes from Aurora, Ill., where he worked as a lay pastor. First Assembly of God is his first official pastoring position. He has continued to take correspondence courses through Berean School of the Bible.

The Rev. Lang came to Chelsea to accept the new position, although he now lives in Stockbridge.

One program he would like to work on is a visitation program to reach out to the community.

"I would like to do more with the elderly although I'm not sure just what yet," the Rev. Lang said.

He also handles the music ministries at the church and he works with his wife, Terry, in ministering to children.

The Rev. Lang and his wife have five children of their own.

Tell Them You Read It In The Standard

THE ONENESS OF GOD

By Fred Coulter, evangelist

As we read the Bible we are struck with the oneness of God. God created one man and one woman and joined them together to become one flesh [Matthew 19:4-6]. Jesus prayed that His disciples be united [John 17:20, 21]. Paul appealed to the Corinthians for unity [1 Corinthians 1:10].

Paul wanted to unite the people of God. He stresses the basis for this unity in Ephesians 4:1-6. Paul here lists the requirements for oneness: one body, one Spirit, one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God. If there is only one faith, how can we tell people to choose the faith of their choice?

Paul knew Satan would try to destroy the oneness of the Lord's church. He even warns the Ephesian elders about Christians who would work for Satan while pretending to be faithful Christians [Acts 20:29-31]. Some try to destroy the oneness of Christ's body by saying there are Christians in all religious groups. This is a teaching contrary to the Bible. Jesus adds to the ONE church those who have been saved by being baptized for the remission of their sins [Acts 2:38-47]. Jude says, "Behold, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you, that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints" [Jude 3].

It is the One God who has decreed this oneness of the Lord, Spirit, faith, baptism, and body. God has always stressed His way of doing things. Jesus says, "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by Me" [John 14:6]. Do you believe in the one Lord, who commands you to be baptized [Mark 16:15, 16] with the one baptism, so He can add you to the one true church?

MILDRED SMITH dresses in costume as she has done many times while helping South school first graders learn to read. Smith dressed as an Indian for the Indian Pow Wow held in Room 2 at South on Nov. 16. Smith decided she had better things to do than "sitting and rocking" during retirement, so the 82-year-old lady has volunteered her services to school children for 13 years.

Senior Citizen Phoning System Saves Lives

Chelsea Senior Center is encouraging the continuation of the informal call system. Under the system, friends who live alone call other friends who live alone on a daily basis.

Through the call system, seniors who are having trouble are not left alone for an indefinite period.

According to Treva Winans, co-ordinator for the senior activity center, the system resulted in saving the life of one stroke victim about four years ago. A woman had a stroke but was not sure of what was happening to her. The calling friend realized she was in trouble and got the woman's family to help her. "The lady is still with us," said Winans.

Another incident involved a woman in her late seventies who was determined to be independent.

"She refused to knuckle under to life. She realized she was sick but didn't realize the seriousness of the illness. She had fallen out of bed and had trouble getting back in," said Winans.

The calling friend contacted Winans who called the sick woman back and told her "I'm going to be on your doorstep in a few minutes. Don't leave me out there because it's cold." In this way, Winans and the calling friend got the sick woman to the hospital.

The calling system is very informal but regular. If the person being called plans to leave town for a day, he or she notifies the calling friend. The calling friend also tells the other if they will be gone and won't be calling that day.

The system "provides the security of knowing you were never completely, endlessly alone," said Winans.

Mildred Smith Gives Life Of Dedication to Students

In a quiet corner of the South school first grade class nearly any morning, you will find one of Chelsea's most well-loved treasures. Mrs. Mildred Smith sits patiently listening and encouraging the first efforts of reading in many of Chelsea's children.

Since 1971, Mrs. Smith has donated over 6,000 hours of her time, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon each weekday morning, helping students through those first important steps toward reading. She also writes stories for the students to practice their newly learned vocabulary.

Working with children is nothing new to this vigorous woman who will celebrate her 82nd birthday on Dec. 8. Mrs. Smith taught first grade in the Ypsilanti School District for 31 years. She still corresponds with some of her former students, and even their mothers who are in their 90s. Her letters have warmed the hearts of people all over the world, and still do, especially the many she sends during the holiday season.

During her teaching years, Mrs. Smith and her late husband also found the time to raise a family. Thirteen years ago, after a brief retirement in Indiana, Mrs. Smith came to live at the Chelsea United Methodist Home. Feeling strongly that life was not meant for "sitting and rocking," she offered her services and became involved with first grade reading.

Mrs. Smith's interests do not end there. In 1976, she rode a burro into the Grand Canyon; the following year, she hiked in on foot. She has also hiked with friends on the Appalachian Trail. When not visiting with friends and family in various states, Mrs. Smith occupies her time bowling in two leagues and is fond of dining out. Fast food restaurants are a favorite. She is frequently seen driving her car on her way to her next adventure.

But children remain her favorite interest. She has introduced many to poetry, dresses in costume for their special events, and sits on the floor to share treats. The door of her apartment and the hall outside are decorated with the carefully made gifts of little hands to share with other residents. Nearly each day letters come to Mrs. Smith from people anxious to share her warmth and kindness.

Dial-A-Garden Being Converted to Broader Service

Dial-A-Garden, the phone-in service that is sponsored by the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service will be closed down from Dec. 1 through April. During this time the program will be converted to a permanent tape system that will provide information on gardening, 4-H youth, home economics and nutrition and farming. You will be able to obtain information on any subject at any time of the year.

The popular Dial-A-Garden program has worn out six automatic answering machines in seven years with over 33,000 phone calls per year. It was this sustained popularity that prompted the decision to implement a totally new and more comprehensive system. The Extension Service looks forward to offering this new service to Washtenaw county residents beginning next spring, and extends a thank you to all who have used and supported the Dial-A-Garden program.

Beach Class Writes To Polio Vaccine Scientist

Writing letters is one of the skills Alice Lieth's freshman basic writing class has to master. This year, the class decided to learn the art by writing letters to Dr. Albert Sabin, the developer of the oral polio vaccine.

"They wrote to him because we had heard he was ill. He had suffered a temporary illness. They all wrote, wished him well and asked about polio," said teacher Lieth.

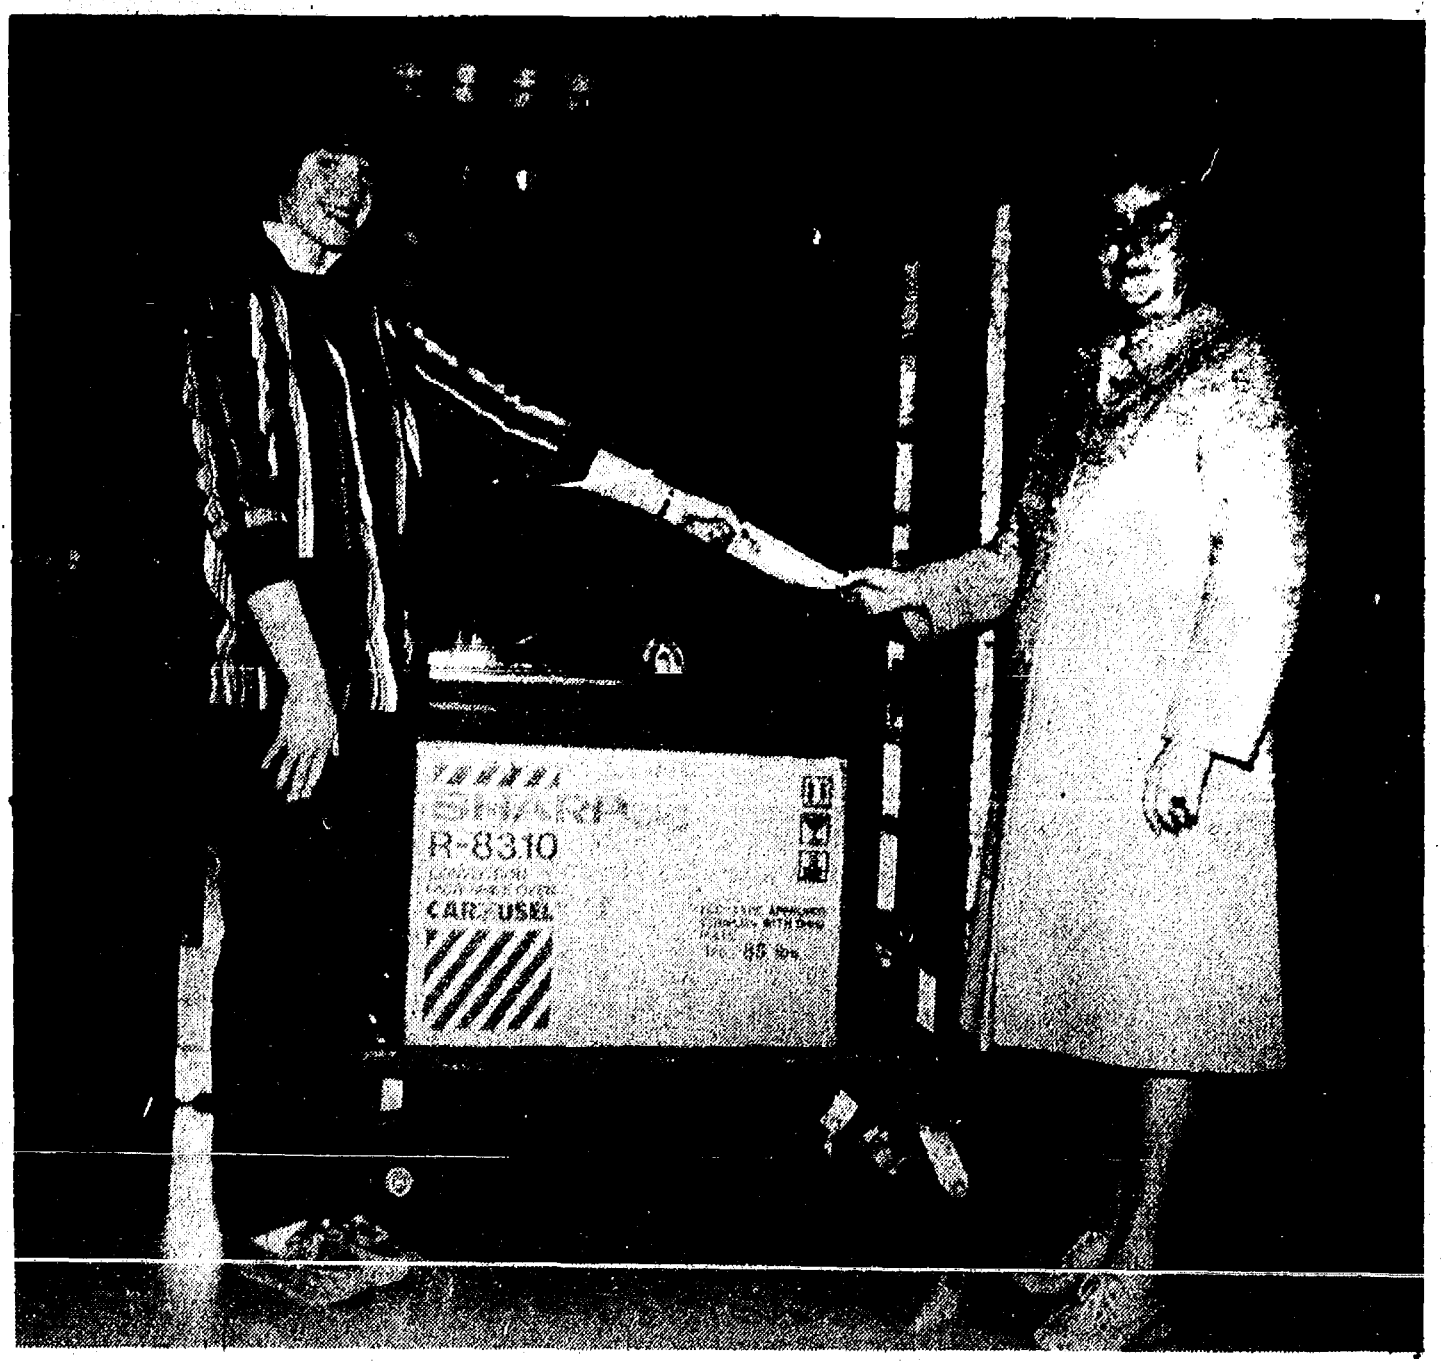

Students and teacher were pleasantly surprised when the good doctor took the time to answer their letters individually. He wrote to thank students for their letters, telling them he's back at work full-time and has almost fully recovered.

Dr. Sabin was suffering from paralysis. His work involves researching viruses.

In past years, the students would write letters of inquiry about different products to the business of their choice. However, many of the businesses did not respond.

"It was hit or miss whether the businesses would answer the students' letters and that was dissatisfactory to the kids, which is why I changed it," said Lieth.
