INVOLVED IN FATAL CRASH: A Chelsea police patrol car (bottom) and a Chevrolet Monza (top) collided on icy M-52 atop the

I-94 overpass on New Year's Eve. The driver of the Monza died of injuries suffered in the accident.

New Year's Eve Crash on M-52 Results in Death

A young Manchester woman died in the aftermath of a New Year's Eve traffic accident on the M-52 overpass across I-94. A Chelsea police department patrol car was involved in the collision.

Daneen L. LaRue, 21, of 3645 Sharon Hollow Rd., died Friday, Jan. 4, at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, four days after she sustained severe head injuries in the crash.

The village police car driven by patrolman Frank Kornel was declared a total loss. Kornel was examined at Chelsea Community Hospital and released.

Chelsea police chief Lenard McDougall gave this account of the incident:

Shortly before 7:45 p.m., Kornel drove his patrol car south across the overpass to determine if it had become slippery as the result of freezing rain which had begun to fall a few minutes before.

Kornel discovered that the road was indeed icy, and radioed a report to that effect, recommending that the overpass be salted and sanded as soon as possible. He went on south to a turn-around point, then headed north back into town.

At the crest of the overpass a 1980-model Chevrolet Monza, going south on M-52, skidded and spun into the path of the patrol car.

Kornel tried to dodge the spinning car, McDougall said, but ran out of room as he neared the guard-rail and hit the LaRue vehicle on the passenger's side. The small car was crumpled by the impact.

Both drivers were wearing seatbelts, McDougall said. Belts are effective in head-on collisions but provide little or no protection against impacts from the side and may, in fact, contribute to injuries.

Both cars were travelling at an estimated speed of 30-35 miles per hour, McDougall said. "Frank (Kornel) told me that he hit the brakes and tried to stop when he saw the car spinning across in front of him. The road was icy, and he couldn't stop."

The official investigation of the accident was made by Washtenaw county sheriff deputies. Their preliminary report indicated no fault on the part of either driver.

"It was a very, very unfortunate accident," McDougall said, "but from what I can see on the sheriff's department report there was no blame on anybody's part. The pavement was icy on the overpass. Patrolman Kornel had done his duty by reporting the danger, but there hadn't been time for a road crew to get out there and do something about it."

McDougall said it will be up to the sheriff's department to decide whether to press charges in the case. "I assume they will take their information to the county prosecutor's office and let them decide if either driver was at fault. We (the village police department) are out of the case because it involves one of our personnel. In situations like this, we ask an outside police agency to take over the investigation."

"I can tell you that Frank Kornel is terribly shaken up. He feels very, very bad, and the news that the young woman died really hurt us all. Above everything else, we wanted her to live and recover."

The village police car, a 1982 Dodge Diplomat with just over 30,000 miles on it, was declared a total loss in the sense that repairs would cost more than the "book value" of the car if it were fixed up and traded in.

The village obtained it last April as a replacement for another patrol car which had been wrecked in an accident during a chase after a drunk driver. Although two years old at the time, the Dodge had only 7,000 miles on its odometer when bought. It had been used as a test vehicle at the Chrysler Proving Grounds, and had been run sparingly.

"It was a very good car, and I'm sorry to lose it," McDougall said. "We will have to look around and find the best replacement we can."

Most urgent is to find a temporary "loaner" to serve until a new car can be delivered, which will probably take 4-6 weeks. With the Diplomat disabled, the department is down to a single patrol car, not enough to provide needed minimum patrol coverage.

After some initial problems which resulted from an apparent misunderstanding, the county sheriff's department agreed to loan the village a patrol car for temporary use without charge.

The car was to be picked up and put into use late yesterday, McDougall said.

Meanwhile, the village board approved taking bids on a new vehicle.

Road Commission Safety Unit To Tackle Tree Issue

Herman Koenn hopes that creation of a new safety department in the Washtenaw County Road Commission will help resolve the issue of what to do about the big bur oak tree on Austin Rd. west of Manchester and many other similar problems.

Koenn is vice-chairman of the commission and one of its three members. As a resident of the Chelsea area, he represents the western part of the county in the

Disturbance Ends Soon After Start At Cassidy Lake

What might have erupted into a riot was quickly quelled at the Cassidy Lake Technical School when the electricity went out during the New Year's Eve ice storm.

"We lost our power, the buildings got dark and cold, and some of the inmates became restless," said Dennis Dyke, administrative assistant to superintendent John Staten.

A few windows were broken and a couple of picnic tables burned, and there was some general trashing. The prison staff got things under control in a short time.

State police, sheriff's officers and Chelsea police were called to the scene when the trouble started. They set up a perimeter guard on the roads around the unfenced minimum security prison. They left after about an hour.

An on-site generator was turned on to provide an emergency source of electricity, Dyke said, and the Michigan National Guard later brought in two portable generators as back-ups.

Normal electric service, provided by Consumers Power Co., was restored on Thursday.

"The only remaining problem we have is some frozen water lines," Dyke said on Friday, "and we expect to have those fixed by the end of today. The pipes froze while the heat was off."

Dyke said the escapes of two inmates on New Year's Day were apparently unconnected to the power disruption. "I think they had been planned several days before. From what we know, the men got away in a car driven by a visitor."

There were no injuries, escapes, fights or assaults during the power outage, Dyke added. "The staff got the situation under control very quickly. The call for police help was strictly a precautionary measure, and we fortunately didn't need it. That doesn't mean we aren't grateful for their quick response. We were happy to have them out here, just in case."

sense that the other two members, Norman Kennedy and Ulrich Stoll, are both from the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area.

"By creating this safety department on the commission staff, we hope to bring the total expertise of the staff together to resolve such issues as the Austin Rd. oak tree, where there are public concerns for both safety and natural beauty.

"We already have the people on the staff, and we don't intend to go out and hire a whole new group. We're organizing them into one department so we can get the benefit of their combined knowledge and experience."

The new department is headed by Karl Kleitsch, assistant county highway engineer. It will suggest policies on such sensitive issues as safety and trees, and make recommendations to the commission on specific problems such as the Austin Rd. oak. It will solicit public opinion as part of its function.

"It's not right to say that this new department was created in response to the oak tree issue," Koenn said. "It's something we have been thinking about for a long time. We recognized that we needed to make some internal changes. Maybe the controversy over the tree hastened our decision to create the department but we would have done it anyway."

The controversial bur oak, said to be more than 300 years old although nobody really knows, is growing alongside Austin Rd. a little less than a mile west of Manchester. The road was recently widened and the massive tree is within three feet of the edge of the pavement.

New Year's First Birth Announced

An excited and proud grandmother called The Standard last Thursday to announce a very special birth.

Mrs. Ann Gasieski of 16010 Cavanaugh Lake Rd. announced that her son, Mark, and his wife, Sue, became the parents of a daughter, Jennifer Ann, at 3:22 p.m. on New Year's Day, Jan. 1, in University of Michigan Hospital.

Jennifer is the first local New Year baby reported to The Standard.

What makes the event unusual is that grandmother Ann was also born on New Year's Day at University Hospital. That happened 51 years ago.

"I don't mind telling you my age," Mrs. Gasieski said. "It's our first grandchild, and we are thrilled. The coincidence of birthdays and the hospital is extra special."

Parents of Jennifer Ann are Mark and Sue Gasieski of 4202 Conway Rd. Maternal grandparents are Nancy and Bill White of Lyndon township. Ann and Edward Gasieski are the paternal grandparents.

CHS Class of '75 Starts Plans for 10th-Year Reunion

The first organizational meeting for Chelsea High school's Class of 1975 10th year reunion is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the Wolverine Bar. It is hoped that a large number of class members will turn out to give a variety of suggestions. Committees will be formed to carry out plans nec-

No one was injured and surprisingly little damage was done when an Amtrak passenger train collided with a semi-trailer truck at the Lima Center Rd. crossing over the Conrail tracks on Monday afternoon.

The truck almost beat the train across the tracks and was clipped in the rear by the locomotive which was travelling at an estimated speed of 50 miles per hour.

Truck driver Garlon Bennett, 45, of Tennessee, and the 96 persons aboard the four-car Amtrak were all unhurt.

Sheriff's deputies, who are continuing an investigation of the accident, cited Bennett for failure to yield the right-of-way to an oncoming train.

The train was headed east on the railroad tracks and the truck south on Lima Center Rd. when the collision took place at about 2:10 p.m. on Monday.

The truck is registered to a Tennessee firm, deputies said.

The accident occurred at one of the many "problem" intersections of county roads with Conrail tracks.

Chelsea-Dexter Rd. makes a sharp right across the tracks and then turns 90 degrees back to the left. That crossing is guarded with warning lights and gates, which were operating at the time of the collision.

About 200 hundred yards farther east, Lima Center Rd. crosses the tracks. That crossing is unguarded except for stop signs on the road.

"I suspect the truck driver from Tennessee was not familiar with those two crossings," a sheriff's spokesman said. "If you don't know them, you can get in trouble there. It's a bad spot."

"We're not sure yet exactly what happened. Either the truck driver didn't see the train coming or didn't hear the whistle or, if he did, thought he could make it across the tracks in time."

"It's very lucky that nobody got hurt. The truck wasn't really badly damaged. About all it needs is some new rear doors on the trailer. You don't often get a train-motor vehicle collision with as little damage as this one, and no one killed or seriously injured."

The train was halted for about an hour while the accident was investigated, and then proceeded on to its destination in Detroit.

1983-84 State Surplus Over $282 Million

State budget officials have reported that the 1983-84 fiscal year surplus is $282.6 million, slightly higher than they had been estimating but considerably less than the prediction of the Senate Fiscal Agency, which was cited by some Republicans pushing earlier tax cuts.

The report also showed that a one-time $800 million debt that had been hidden in accounting procedures had been reduced to just $63.8 million as of Sept. 30.

Management and Budget Director Robert Naftaly called the surplus (up from DMB's last estimate of $266.5 million, but down from the $330 million projected by the Senate agency), a "technical fund balance (which) does not provide a total picture of Michigan's financial situation."

He said the surplus is needed to help provide the required $387 million deposit this year into the budget stabilization fund and to cover $137.7 million lost by moving an income tax cut up to Sept. 1. It originally was not scheduled to take effect until Jan. 1, 1985.

The report estimated the surplus at the end of the current year, Sept. 30, 1985, at a negligible $1.5 million, while SFA director Ted Ferris is still projecting a balance in the range of $200 million.

Ferris said the 1983-84 surplus was lower than his agency's estimate because lapses by agencies back to the general fund were only $72 million instead of the $121 million SFA estimate and the projected $63 million profit from state liquor operations was $22 million due to earlier payment of bills.

Ferris added he is awaiting a detailed look at the preliminary statement, but said one reason for lower lapses was the Department of Social Services, which will have to be covered with supplemental appropriations this year, instead of an expected $10 million lapse.

"It is not clear that the departments did as good a job as they could have in staying within appropriations," Ferris said and noted they would be reviewing, in particular, the reasons for the DSS spending.

Governor James Blanchard said the improved financial condition compared to the $1.7 billion deficit in 1983, due to both a budget deficit and accumulated debts, represents historic progress and demonstrates that "through constant vigilance and unprecedented budget restraint, Michigan's government has become a model of financial discipline and responsibility."

Naftaly said a year from now, the state will be able to conform to accepted accounting procedures and then the financial statement will reflect a true condition.

A portion of the cigarette tax and a .25 percent income tax levy will continue to be collected over that time until a fund devoted to correcting accounting procedures has enough to properly reflect about $750 million in annual income tax collections.

The report showed the fund still about $63.8 million in the red as of Sept. 30, but with the two taxes producing about $25 million a month, Ferris said as of about mid-December, it is no longer accurate to say Michigan has a long-term debt.

A final report, which resolves items only estimated in this report, is due by March 31, 1985.

South American Exchange Students Need Host Families

Students from South America will be arriving in Michigan in January. Some of these students are still waiting to hear that they have a host family.

These students come from different countries and different backgrounds.

There is Hany Hauache, a Moslem from Brazil, who enjoys sports. He is also interested in mathematics and physics.

Juane Pou from Argentina has two sisters. She participates on a hockey team twice a week and likes tennis and swimming.

Fernando Gomez is from Colombia. He is an only child, but looks forward to having brothers or sisters in Michigan.

Jorge Mendolson from Paraguay is Jewish and hopes to find a Jewish family who would be his host parents.

There are also students from Chile and Uruguay.

These students will return to their country in July, 1985. It is very important for these students to have a family when they arrive.

Interested families may contact Mrs. Barbara T. Krick at 663-6472. She is the Youth for Understanding field manager for Washtenaw county.

Krick urges prospective families to help make a South American teen-ager happy about being a Youth for Understanding student and coming to the U.S.

Schirmmacher-Hadley Vows Spoken in Ann Arbor

A candlelight ceremony at St. Thomas Lutheran church, Ellsworth Rd., Ann Arbor, united Candace Annette Schirmmacher and Brock Joseph Hadley on Friday, Dec. 14 at 7 p.m.

Candace is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Boyer and the late Eugene Schirmmacher of Chelsea. Brock is the son of Robert Hadley of Chelsea and the late Kathleen Lillibridge Hadley. Leah Hadley, sister of the bridegroom, opened the ceremony by lighting the altar candles. She wore an off-white on white dress and wore a corsage of pink roses and white carnations. Mrs. Donna Gaunt, a friend of the couple, provided the organ music. She played a rendition of their favorite songs.

The bride's mother, Virginia Boyer, escorted her daughter down the aisle.

The bride wore a puffed long sleeved, high neckline, ivory gown in tea length. Accenting her dress was a bodice overlay of ivory embroidery design on ivory satin, a v-waist, softly gathered skirt and sash tying in the back. Candace wore a satin hat with ivory embroidery trim and two layered chapel length illusion veil with matching embroidery trim. She carried a bouquet of lilies, white roses, stephanotis and sword fern.

Acting as maid of honor was Debra J. Harrison of Chelsea.

She wore a street-length two-tone deep wine dress featuring a boat neckline, puffed long sleeves and belted waist. She carried a bouquet of lilies, miniature carnations, stephanotis and sword fern.

Kimberly Herrst, niece of the bride, was their flowergirl and ringbearer. She wore a crown of pink sweetheart roses.

Bradford E. Sowards of Wyoming, Mich., served as best man. Kevin Warner and Scott Sumner of Chelsea served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a dusty rose street-length dress with a high lace split neckline, lace trimmed long sleeves and flared skirt. She wore a corsage of white gardenias and stephanotis.

A buffet dinner following the ceremony was held at the St. Thomas social center. Mrs. Carolyn Hepburn, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Lisa Kaidan, sister-in-law of the bride, cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Chris Herrst, sister of the bride, attended the guest book and was wedding photographer.

The couple is now making their home on Sibley Rd.

The first successful Cesarean childbirth operation was performed in 1794 on Elizabeth Hog Bennett—by her husband. Using laudanum as the pain killer, he operated on a table made of three planks laid across some barrels.

Boyer - Burchett Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Boyer of 515 Chandler St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Bonnie Jean, to Donald Lee Burchett, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burchett of Grass Lake.

Bonnie is a 1978 graduate of Chelsea High school and is employed at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Don is a 1979 graduate of Chelsea High school and is employed at Chelsea School District.

The couple plan an April wedding.

Turner Geriatric Clinic Presents Newcomers Group

Turner Geriatric Clinic and the University of Michigan Hospitals will present a series of meetings of the Newcomers Group, starting Jan. 15. Meetings will be held on the first and third Tuesdays of the month from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., at the Clinic.

All senior citizens are welcome. There is no charge. To register, or for more information, call 764-2556.

Suzuki Workshop, Concert Slated at St. Paul Church

Chelsea Suzuki Association will sponsor a Suzuki violin workshop and concert on Saturday, Jan. 12, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., at St. Paul United Church of Christ, Old US-12, in Chelsea.

Fourteen area children will participate. Their ages range from 4 to 12.

Guest clinician for the workshop and concert will be Mrs. Carolyn Tarzia of Ann Arbor, a long-time music teacher in the Ann Arbor Public Schools and recent recipient of the "Outstanding String Teacher in Michigan" award. Also participating will be Suzuki method teachers Pat Stirling of Chelsea and Debbie Stanton of Ann Arbor.

Children who will participate are: Jennie Brooks, Courtney Chamberlin, Ben Culver, Danielle Dorer, Kristin Gaunt, Steve Gaunt, Karin Hammel, Amy Hassett, Sylvie Jorgensen, Heather McKenzie, Luke Shaefer, John Steffensin, Greg Teachout and Steven Thiel.

Both the workshop and the concert are open to the public. Admission is free. The concert will begin at 3 p.m.

Diabetes Education Classes Scheduled At Chelsea Hospital

Chelsea Community Hospital will be offering a series of Diabetes Education Classes for people with diabetes and their families.

These classes are designed to provide information on various aspects of diabetes and how to control the disease.

Classes will be offered on Monday evenings for four weeks beginning Monday, Jan. 28 through Monday, Feb. 18, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Classes will be held at Chelsea Community Hospital, 775 S. Main St., Chelsea.

A $25 fee will be charged to cover the costs of educational materials and supplies which participants will receive.

If you or someone you know would like to attend, please call 475-1311, ext. 354 to pre-register.

ABWA Members Meet at Hospital for Christmas Party

Twelve members of Chelsea Charter Chapter of American Business Women and their guests attended the monthly meeting of the chapter. Christmas decorations added to the festive dinner which was served in the private dining room at Chelsea Community Hospital.

After dinner a short business meeting was held and the remainder of the evening was spent in visiting and reminiscing.

Shirley Case was the winner of the Christmas centerpiece. Maxine Kushmaul was the winner of the fifty-fifty drawing.

The invocation and benediction were read by president, Vicki Favers.

The first meeting of the new year will be held Tuesday, Jan. 22, the fourth Tuesday of the month, at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Women's Discussion Group Will Hear News Columnist

An intergenerational women's group will be offered at Turner Geriatric Clinic for six weekly sessions beginning Tuesday, Jan. 15 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. It will be an opportunity for women of all ages to discuss topics of mutual interest.

At the group's first meeting, Jane Myers, Ann Arbor News columnist, will speak to the group and a discussion will follow.

To register for the sessions, or for further information, please call 764-2556.

WCC Course Looks at Women in Historical Myths

"Images of Women in Myth," (WS 122), a new women's studies course, will be offered this winter semester at Washtenaw Community College. The course will "show how women's image and self-image in Western Civilization has been formed by traditional myths which describe their roles," says instructor Patricia Tompkins.

Scheduled for Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., the two-credit class will meet in Room 101 of the Family Education Building on WCC's main campus at 4800 E. Huron River Dr., Ann Arbor.

Using an historical approach, the class will examine how myths and the roles women played in them evolved in various cultures. Myths common before the familiar classical ones were established often featured females in leading roles, says Tompkins. The goddess Hera, for example, had a very different configuration earlier in Greek mythology, and Perseus and Medusa were once the same figure, says the Fulbright scholar and classics teacher. "Very early myths and the parts women play in them are sometimes remarkably different from the later standard ones," Tompkins notes.

Registration continues at WCC after the holiday recess Jan. 2-11.

Hospice of Washtenaw Affiliates With Health Center

Hospice of Washtenaw, a community agency that began operation in 1981, providing direct services and co-ordinating community resources for terminally ill patients and their families, has announced its affiliation with Catherine McAuley Health Center.

According to David Harrell, president of the board of directors of Hospice of Washtenaw, the agency is excited about the potential of working with a comprehensive health center.

"We approached Catherine McAuley Health Center to explore opportunities to work together. Through affiliation with a major community health center, Hospice of Washtenaw will be able to expand services for its patients," Harrell said.

Members of the Hospice of Washtenaw Professional Advisory Committee, who have helped to prepare for the affiliation, will continue to guide and advise the agency.

Hospice of Washtenaw will retain its name and United Way status and as a result of the new affiliation will expand and provide nursing care which has previously only been available through contracts with local home health agencies.

The consolidated hospice and home health program will facilitate provision of Medicare certified hospice care.

WCC Offers Credit Course in Dealing With Life's Changes

Washtenaw Community College is offering a course that teaches "survival techniques to deal with life's changes" this winter. "Loss and Grieving: How to Come Out the Other Side" (Psychology 222) will give practical methods for coping with the losses we all experience. The three-credit course will meet Wednesday evenings from 6 to 9 p.m. in room 111 of the Student Center Building.

"Whenever there's change, there's loss; and whenever there's loss, there's change," explains Dolores Hutchinson, instructor and local bereavement counselor, who holds a Masters in social work. Everyone suffers losses, she adds: from the loss of a pet to losing one's job, home, spouse, or self-esteem. Combining academic content with group work and discussion, "Losses and Grieving" emphasizes methods for working through the grief and anger that result from loss. Since the class also covers recognizing losses and the therapeutic role professionals can play, doctors, nurses, and social workers have enrolled as well as individuals who have recently suffered loss.

A loss support group, which began in last winter's class, also meets regularly on campus.

Registration for winter semester classes continued until Dec. 21 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. After the holiday season registration will resume Jan. 2 and continue until Jan. 11.

WCCOA Offers Tax Rebate Filing Help for Seniors

Washtenaw County Council on Aging is accepting appointments to prepare senior citizen's (age 65 and over) Michigan Tax Rebate form (1040 CR-1) and the Home Heating form 1040 CR-7. This service is offered as an in-home service or at the Council on Aging office on Monday afternoons from 2 to 4 p.m. and the Social Security Office on Wednesday mornings from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Appointments are made through the Council on Aging Office at 665-3625, not at the Social Security office.

This service is also extended to the residents of senior high rises and public housing throughout Washtenaw county.

Please call the WCCOA office at 665-3625 for your appointment or information.

Volunteers have been trained to prepare your forms by a representative from the Michigan Department of Treasury. However, they do not do Michigan or Federal Income Tax forms.

Stress Management Classes Slated at Chelsea Hospital

Everyone is under stress all the time. The stress may be relatively minor or the stress can be very serious. Whether minor or serious, stress has an effect on your body. According to the American Hospital Association, as many as 60% to 80% of the people who go to doctors may do so because of stress-related complaints. Some doctors believe that every illness is caused, at least in part, by stress.

As evidence grows that stress causes disease, ways to control stress are also being discovered. It is possible to reduce stress in your life and to learn to live a healthier, longer and happier life. Various health care professionals from Chelsea Community Hospital have teamed up and developed a series of classes to teach community members about stress and to suggest ways to prevent stress from overwhelming you.

A series of stress management classes will be held at Chelsea Community Hospital on four consecutive Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. beginning Jan. 9.

To register or for more information, call 475-1311, ext. 354.

Home Visitors Needed for Parent to Parent Program

Parent to Parent Program offers family support to families with children under 18 years of age for the Chelsea, Dexter and Manchester areas. Some of the key components of this program are:

1. The relationship of parents to their children in the home setting. Trained home visitors and parents share and initiate activities with their children as a forum around which to discuss child development and appropriate behavior.
2. The focus of the program is not to "eliminate deficits" but rather support and expand present and individual parenting skills. Rather than teach a prescribed way of parenting, the home visitor encourages the parents to develop and clarify their own style.
3. Home visitors, individuals from the community and parents themselves, help parents to feel that their views are important, that they can learn to rely on their own informed judgment in raising children. This is accomplished through development information, assisting parents to develop keener observational and listening skills and encourage parents to explore and discover ways to respond to their particular child's needs, interests and personality through play or communication.
4. Home visitors provide positive role models and attitudes where there is negativity. Parents and children alike are taught to seek and utilize positive aspects in everyday living thereby decreasing problem significance and occurrence.
5. Home visitors build up the self-esteem of parents; teach them to like themselves and their children.

By focusing on child development and parent/child relationships, this program is very flexible in meeting other family needs. The relationship quite often reflects other family problems since it is through the children that parents vent their frustrations, anxieties and anger. Therefore, the Parent to Parent Program is also a good preventive program as well.

During weekly home visits, the home visitor and parent concentrate on building a relationship whereby trust will enable needs to be met. The home visitor provides a listening ear and encouragement toward appropriate goals, she is trained to effectively listen and observe behaviors and to help the family correct inappropriate ones. The home visitor helps the parent work toward goals such as employment, school or other long-term supports.

The Parent to Parent Program serves as a family support network in a society where extended family support is increasingly diminishing. Industrialization

Devon Thomas To Spend Year Studying in South Africa

An adventure of a life-time will begin for 16-year-old Devon Thomas, a Chelsea High school junior, next Tuesday when she leaves on a trip that will end after a year's stay in South Africa.

Devon has been selected as a foreign exchange student and will study at a high school in Krugersdorp, about 30 miles from the South African capital of Johannesburg.

She will live with Johanne and Ina Bothma during her stay. She hasn't met them yet, of course, but is looking forward to getting to know them and settling in.

"I'm sure they will be nice," Devon said, "and I don't have any fears at all. I can hardly wait to get there. Going abroad and living in a foreign country is something that I have wanted to do ever since I can remember."

Unlike some people who simply dream about doing something different, Devon acted on her wish. She applied for the foreign student exchange program, filled out all the forms, and was accepted.

A soft-spoken and very poised young woman, she acknowledged that "I have a lot of learning to do," and that she will be leaving a lot of good friends behind.

"I don't have a steady boy friend," she said, "but I do have many friends, and I will miss them. I know how to write letters, and I will. I won't lose contact with people here."

Since being accepted into the program, Devon has been reading a lot about South Africa and studying the Afrikaans language.

South Africa is a bi-lingual country, and most residents speak both English and Afrikaans, which is a form of Dutch, which in turn is derived from German. "I'm beginning to learn a few words of Afrikaans," Devon said, "and I'm trying to learn more."

She acknowledged that being among English-speaking people will help her to adjust.

Devon carries a three-point (B) average through 2½ years of high school. Her strong suit, she said, is science. Her main extra-curricular interest is ballet dancing. She has been a member of the Ann Arbor Civic Ballet for the past six years.

She has an older brother, Parker, who is a CHS graduate and is attending Michigan Technological University.

Devon will get credit for the courses she takes at Krugersdorp, but will have to return to Chelsea High school to take a couple of required classes in order to graduate.

Devon said she is not worried about the fact that South Africa is in a state of turmoil over the issue of apartheid—separation of white and black races.

"I've read a lot about it, and I think the positions may be extreme on both sides," she said. "I believe it can be worked out, and I certainly hope it will be. I feel safe going there."

Devon will fly to New York on Jan. 15 and there join a group of exchange students headed for

DEVON THOMAS

South Africa. She will spend a couple of days in an orientation session in Johannesburg before going to her temporary new home in Krugersdorp.

The change will be startling in one respect. It's the middle of summer in South Africa, which is below the equator, about like July in Michigan.

That won't bother Devon. Nothing seemed to concern her as she talked to a reporter and showed her eagerness to get on with her adventure. "I want to go, and I'm ready," was her closing comment.

High school counselor Chris Dimanin, who helped Devon get into the exchange program, called her "an outstanding girl who will handle herself very well and be a credit to herself and her community. We're proud of her."

Community Ed. Classes Scheduled

Watch for Chelsea Community Education brochures, for the winter semester, in your mailboxes. To avoid missing the class of your choice, early registration is encouraged, as registrations are accepted on a first-come first-served basis.

A new infant program series has been added this semester. These classes are designed to provide an opportunity for quality time between parents and children, so that a close and positive relationship is initiated for future interacting and learning.

Also, related to child-care is a new series of lectures on developing parenting skills, by Dr. Edward Curtis and Dr. Jackson, called "Parenting in the '80's".

A number of physical fitness classes, designed to stretch, tone and aerobicize to contemporary music, are offered at differing times to make it convenient to most. Yoga is also back, for those disappointed that it was missing last semester.

Eastern Michigan University is proud to present two graduate classes in Chelsea. Registration may be done on campus or the first class night.

An important date to remember is Jan. 28, the week when High School Completion classes begin. All persons 16 years of age or older may enroll and adults need not be residents of Chelsea School District.

Senior citizens are offered a program of daily activities, as well as special events.

Other classes of general interest being offered are computers, CPR, quilting, stenciling, belly dancing, typing and karate. Check the brochure for many more.

If you fail to receive a schedule, or have further questions, you may call Chelsea Community Education, 475-9830.

Smoking Cessation Class Series Set at Chelsea Hospital

Chelsea Community Hospital will be offering a Smokeless smoking cessation class. The free introductory session will be held on Monday, Jan. 14 from 7 to 8 p.m. The class includes four additional sessions which are held on consecutive evenings one week after the introductory session.

A certified Smokeless instructor will teach the classes. Two follow-up support sessions are also held after the class has ended. The program is guaranteed and uses a series of copyrighted procedures that effectively neutralize the desire for tobacco. A total lifestyle approach of behavior modification, stress management, coping skills and eating management is used. The developer of the program was recognized in the 1982 Surgeon General's Report on Smoking and Health.

For more information, call 475-1311, ext. 262. Register by calling this number or do so at the introductory session.

Area Students Earn Degrees From EMU

Eastern Michigan University conferred degrees upon approximately 1,096 students Sunday, Dec. 16, at commencement ceremonies held in Bowen Field House on the EMU campus.

Some 846 seniors were candidates for bachelor's degrees and approximately 250 graduate students were eligible to receive advanced degrees.

The commencement address was delivered by Thomas S. Monaghan, chairman of the board and president of Domino's Pizza and owner of the Detroit Tigers. Monaghan was awarded an honorary Doctor of Business degree by the university.

Also receiving honorary Doctor of Business degrees were A. Alfred Taubman, chairman and chief executive officer of The Taubman Co., and Theodore G. Tangalakis, area business leader and member of numerous professional, civic and university associations.

The theme of the winter commencement was "A Salute to the College of Business."

Among those receiving bachelor degrees from this area were Wendy Gail Dietz, 2627 Simpson Dr., and Debbie Lynn Honbaum, 9100 Stofer, both of Chelsea; and Michele Dutzer, 2121 N. Zeeb Rd., Daniel Michael Fraker, 10025 Island Lake Rd., and Brett Allen Wiseley, 9250 Island Lake Rd., of Dexter.

Others were James Edward McGinty, 408 Lakeview, Robert James Wiesner, 14112 N. Territorial Rd., of Gregory; Susan Waller Gialanella, 20284 Kirk Rd., Donna Mary Riggs, 315 Territorial St., Sara Katherine Rose, 403 W. Main, of Manchester; Mitzi Yvonne Tanner, 6080 Cedarlake Rd., of Pinckney; and Thomas G. Flook, 11870 Heidelberg, Stanley J. Molenda, 10680 Indianola, Kenneth R. Thomson, of Whitmore Lake.

Prof. W. Vorus Receives U-M Outstanding Teacher Award

Professor William Vorus interrupted his career at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. to earn his PhD from the University of Michigan in 1971. He went back to Newport News, but in 1973 he returned to make what was to be a vital impact on the teaching program of the Department of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering.

In the mid-1970's he led the Department's effort to restructure its undergraduate curriculum and personally took the leadership by rebuilding and upgrading three of the department's core courses. He developed complete course notes of extremely high quality which are currently used by other members of the faculty. He has proven to be a gifted teacher on both the undergraduate and the graduate level. He has chaired or co-chaired more doctoral committees than any other professor in the history of the department.

Professor Vorus' extremely high standards and his uncompromising commitment to excellence are complemented by his ability to convey the subject matter vividly and incisively and to inspire his students. Graduates of the department remember him affectionately as "Wild Bill" and carry with them the memory of an outstanding teacher and a caring friend.

WCC Offering Evening Courses on Aging Problems

A winter semester evening course at Washtenaw Community College will examine a much-avoided topic: aging. "Understanding Aging, Death, and Dying" (Sociology 203) will discuss social issues related to aging and aims to dispell common myths about growing old. The course will meet Wednesdays from 6 to 9 p.m. on the College's main campus at 4800 E. Huron River Dr., Ann Arbor.

In addition to the predictable problems aging causes, the elderly often face social prejudice and housing and financial problems, notes instructor Doreen Thompson.

The course will examine these problems as well as suicide, euthanasia, the right to die, the funeral industry, and other topics related to aging. Designed for people of all ages, the class aims to help students better prepare for this major life change.

Registration resumes after the holiday recess Jan. 24. Late registration will be held from Jan. 7-11. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

For more information, call 973-3548.

Acting Director Named For Extension Service

J. Ray Gillespie, associate director of the Michigan State University Co-Operative Extension Service, will serve as acting extension director beginning Jan. 1.

Current director Gordon Guyer leaves the post Dec. 31. Gillespie will fill in while the MSU College of Agriculture and Natural Resources conducts a nationwide search for Guyer's successor.

This will be Gillespie's second stint as acting director of extension. He spent six months in that role in 1982 while Guyer was involved with a national extension committee in Washington, D.C.

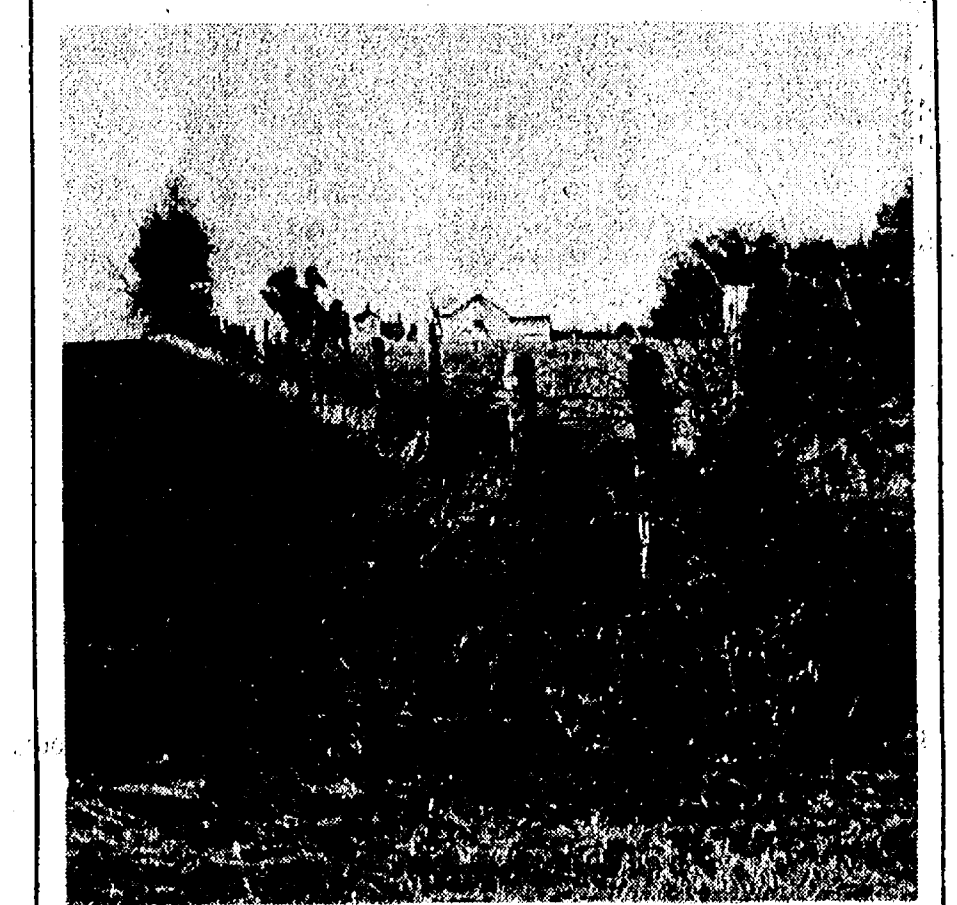

Gillespie has also acted in several other capacities for the extension service. He filled in as head of 4-H Youth Programs in 1978-79 and 1983, and as head of Agriculture and Marketing Programs for five months earlier this year.

Gillespie's extension career dates to 1962, when he became a Michigan 4-H youth agent after teaching vocational agriculture in Ohio for 10 years. He was a 4-H program leader from 1966 to 1979, and he then became associate extension director for programs, the position he still holds.

An Ohio native, Gillespie holds a bachelor's degree from Ohio State University and a master's degree from Bowling Green State University.

Red Cross In Need of Volunteers

Patricia A. Poyer, director of volunteer resources for the Washtenaw County chapter of the American Red Cross has asked for help in seeking volunteers. "We are in need of volunteers," she notes.

Specifically needed are volunteers to: keep office records, be receptionists in the morning, be Heat Bank workers, to assist with volunteer work at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Ann Arbor, and to assist in Youth Services.

Additionally, volunteers are being sought to transport CPR manikins, to sew first aid bandages, to work as Blood Clinic helpers, to recruit instructors and as caseworkers for the local chapters.

Anyone who can spare a little time, and is willing to put forth some effort, is asked to contact Pat Poyer at 971-5300 for an appointment.

FDA Consumer Magazine Available

If you are interested in learning about health and nutrition, you should look into FDA Consumer, the magazine of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. MARVIN SCHILLER, volunteer firefighter for 34 years, is employed by Chelsea Area Transportation Service to chauffeur senior citizens to local destinations. He has worked for the service for nine years, following his retirement as a meat-cutter for Weber's Meat Market formerly located on S. Main St.

Marvin Schiller Marks 34 Years As Volunteer Fireman

Marvin Schiller, 311 S. Madison, became a volunteer firefighter on Jan. 7, 1951, making him the longest serving man on the present department. He wholeheartedly agreed, after 34 years of experience, with stories suggesting that firefighting is a dangerous job.

More extensive training requirements and the addition of rescue specialists are the two biggest changes he feels he's seen in the department.

He remembers the Heydlauff fire of 1920 as the biggest challenge to Chelsea firefighters since he began serving on the department.

Retired, after 35 years as a meatcutter, Schiller went to work for Chelsea Area Transportation Service in September 1976 and has been the regular driver for the CATS bus since that time.

Pinckney Area Man Dies Following Crash On New Year's Day

Danny Marshall, 44, of Tiplady Rd., Pinckney, died at University of Michigan Hospital, Thursday morning, Jan. 3. Marshall and his wife, Shirley Ann, were both injured and taken to U-M Hospital by Huron Valley Ambulance, shortly before noon, New Year's Day, after the Ford Bronco in which they were riding, northbound on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., less than one-half mile south of North Territorial Rd., crossed over the southbound lane, ran off the roadway striking a tree in the ditch on the western edge of the road.

Mrs. Marshall remains hospitalized at University of Michigan Hospital, with injuries resulting from the crash. She was riding in the front seat of the Bronco, on the passenger side, her husband drove the vehicle.

"The driver apparently lost consciousness as a result of medical complications," according to a report filed by Deputies Joseph Yekulis and Ron Sherrod of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Dexter Fire Department personnel, as well as several other units from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department were on the scene within minutes after the crash.

Sergeant Pat Monaghan was the first law enforcement officer at the scene, since he was on duty with the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Parks, on duty at the time at Hudson Mills Park. Sheriff's department units from the western part of the county also arrived to assist at the accident scene.

The vehicle burst into flames, exploding after impact with the tree. Ralph W. Kubek of Ortonville and Ed Barrisa of Rush Lake Rd., Pinckney, were credited by deputies of the WCSO with pulling both the Marshalls from the wreckage before fire engulfed the cab of the Bronco. They happened along Dexter-Pinckney Rd. about the time of the accident, and as deputies explained, "were not afraid to be involved"—just pitched in and probably saved the couple's lives at the scene—as the Bronco was nearly consumed by the subsequent flames.

Lt. Dennis Betz of the Dexter Fire Dept. explained that the fuel line on the Marshall vehicle ruptured in the crash, causing gasoline to spew onto the flames so that an enormous amount of water was required to extinguish the fire. Normally, he said, 300-400 gallons of water is more than sufficient to put out a vehicle fire, but the Bronco in this accident kept burning after firefighters had used more than 1,000 gallons of water from the tanker originally dispatched to the accident scene. A second tanker, DFD's largest, was sent with additional water supply.

Irrigation Management Seminar Set

Co-operative Extension Service is sponsoring an Irrigation Management meeting to be held Jan. 17. The meeting will be held at the Quality Inn, just off I-94 in Albion (Exit 121). The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude by 3:30 p.m. This meeting will be of special interest to farmers who want to efficiently utilize their water resources for field crop as well as fruit and vegetable production.

Jim Jenkins from the Michigan State University Ag Engineering Department will be on hand to talk about soil moisture balance concepts. He will cover the relationship between soil moisture levels and the plants' need for water.

Fred Henningsen, extension director in St. Joseph county, will relate the concept of scheduling irrigation waters to meet the plants needs. Henningsen has been involved in field studies of scheduling versus non-scheduling of corn production in St. Joseph county. Often, it is not the total amount of water used over the growing season, but the timing of the water that results in higher yields.

Dr. Ted Loudon from the Ag Engineering Department at Michigan State University will speak on wells and well maintenance and the importance of monitoring your wells for efficient use.

Other topics that will be covered at the meeting will include: chemigation, cost of corn production and cultural practices under irrigation.

The irrigation management meeting is open to anyone who is interested in learning how to better utilize their irrigation system. Please phone in reservations to the Calhoun Co-operative Extension Service (616) 781-0784 by Jan. 15. There will be a $7 fee at the door to cover the lunch costs.

For more information, contact Natalie Rector, Extension Field Crops Agent in Calhoun county.

BLAZING BRONCO in which a Pinckney couple was injured after the vehicle left northbound Dexter-Pinckney Rd., New Year's Day, and crashed into a tree, was declared a total loss. Danny Marshall, 44, the driver, died at University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor, Thursday morning, Jan. 3. Washtenaw County Sheriff Department's special accident investigator Sgt. Joseph Yekulis explained the driver apparently lost consciousness prior to the crash, due to medical complications. Marshall's wife, Shirley Ann, remains hospitalized at the U-M facility with injuries suffered in the accident. Because of a ruptured fuel line, more than 1,200 gallons of water were needed to extinguish the flames at the accident scene.

Road Unit To Tackle Oak Issue

Koenn commented, "and I like trees as well as anybody. But it's definitely a safety hazard, and sooner or later somebody is going to go off the road and hit it. Contrary to what some people have claimed, that is not a straight stretch of road."

"I believe safety has to be the Road Commission's foremost concern. When we find something that poses a serious potential danger, we have a duty to do something about it. In this case, I think either the tree has to be taken out or the road moved, but I'm going to wait and see what the new safety department suggests."

The old oak tree was scheduled to be cut down last month, but received a stay of execution as the result of citizen protests.

"We have a lot of similar problems throughout the county, including several others in the Manchester area, and we are going to have to deal with them," Koenn noted.

"We've made a lot of progress the past two years in upgrading our primary county roads. They carry heavy traffic, and we have to keep them as safe as possible."

"We've greatly improved signing and pavement markings, and we've taken out a lot of obstacles, including roadside trees. I just wish that tree on Austin Rd. was growing in somebody's front yard instead of where it is."

Koenn was instrumental last year in clearing up one notorious safety hazard, the Fletcher Rd. crossing over the Conrail tracks east of Chelsea. He insisted that the road be closed until warning signals and gates were installed, and Conrail finally agreed to put them in. The road has since been re-opened to traffic across the tracks.

Since then, Koenn reported, the commission has had meetings with representatives of all railroads that operate in the county to discuss other dangerous crossings. "I'm confident we are making some progress and will get some other problem crossings taken care of this year," he said.

GROUND BROKEN: The new Village Professional Center at 515 S. Main St. is under construction. Five doctors and dentists will occupy suites of offices in the facility when it is completed next summer.

Five Doctors Join in Professional Center

On Dec. 10, ground was broken for the village Professional Center. The center, located at 515 S. Main, Chelsea, is now under construction.

Five offices within the Center will provide a broad range of family medical and dental services in a private practice setting. These include dentistry: Ronald M. Biedron, DDS; general surgery: Charles F.

Krause, MD; internal medicine: Steven A. Yarows, MD; orthodontics: Raymond P. Howe, DDS, MS; and pediatrics: Edward Curtis, MD.

The five participants are sole owners of the building and are enthusiastic about their cooperation in this project. Dr. Yarows stated "We are very pleased. This is an opportunity for the five of us, all local doctors who attended the University of Michigan, to work together. We have a common philosophy of treatment in that we are dedicated to providing personal individual care."

Construction of the building, which was designed by Farrand Vroom & Associates, has been awarded to Dick Clark Construction and is scheduled to be completed next summer. Financing was arranged by Citizens Trust.

In 1901 Anna Taylor earned the distinction of being the first person—male or female—to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel and live to tell about it.

Village Seeks Grant To Develop Ponds In Veterans Park

Chelsea will apply for a federal Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) grant to develop three small ponds in Veterans Park for recreational use.

The village board voted unanimously to ask for the grant at its Jan. 2 meeting, but the amount to be sought has not yet been determined. Washtenaw Engineering Co., consultant to the village, is working on an estimate.

The three ponds, located on the south side of Letts Creek, have potential for year-around recreational use. They would have to be dredged and deepened, and provided a flow-through source of water to keep them flushed out and clean.

"I think the ponds could be made into something useful," village administrator Frederick Weber said. "They could be pretty to walk around and look at at all times of the year. They could provide some kind of controlled fishing, maybe for kids only. They could be used for ice skating in the winter.

"As it is, the ponds are just sitting there and are kind of a nuisance. They grow weeds and scum and mosquitoes, and that's about all they do. We don't get any real benefit from them, even though they are in the park. They look bad, and they smell pretty bad at times."

The ponds lie in the Letts Creek flood plain, in a swamp. Their water source is a village storm sewer which flows under Buchanan St. Drainage is through a culvert under Sibley Rd. The system doesn't work very well, and the ponds are stagnant.

"I think there may be some springs which could be dug out to increase the natural water flow," Weber said. "Possibly we could do something about the sewer. We don't know, and that's why we have the engineers looking at the situation."

"I'm sure that whatever recommendations they come up with will involve some money. We want to find out how much and see if we can qualify for an LWCF grant."

The two softball diamonds at Veterans Park—regarded as the best facilities of their kind in the state—were constructed with the aid of a $39,000 LWCF grant; Dana Corp. donated the land.

The onion is a lily that has been bred through the centuries for development of its bulb and suppression of its top.

Village Board Adopts Same Schedule in 1985

The Chelsea village board of trustees will continue to hold regular meetings on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. The sessions will begin at 7:30 p.m. on the second floor of the village hall, 104 E. Middle St.

The meeting schedule, which is unchanged from a year ago, was formally adopted by the board at its Jan. 2 meeting, the first of 1985.

All seven members of the board were present. They are Jerry Satterthwaite (president), Mac Fuls, Richard Steele, Joe Merkel, Stephanie Kanten, Herman Radloff and Jim Finch.

The board may hold special meetings during the year. Any such session at which official action is to be taken must be given advance legal notice at least two weeks ahead of the scheduled date. So-called "work" sessions do not require legal notice. No formal business may be conducted at such meetings, according to law.

Special meeting notices are posted on the bulletin board inside the village hall front entrance, and are also advertised in The Standard. Copies of the agenda for regular meetings are made available to persons attending them.

CHELSEA UNITED WAY NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the membership of the Chelsea United Way will be held at the offices of Citizen Trust, 1478 Chelsea-Manchester Road, Chelsea, Michigan, on Wednesday, January 16, 1985 at 7:30 p.m., for the election of a board of directors for the ensuing year and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

New Year's Eve Ice Storm Does Hit-Miss Damage

Chelsea's winter luck continued to hold good so far this season as the village missed the worst of a New Year's Eve ice storm that caused widespread electrical power outages and considerable tree damage elsewhere in southeastern Michigan. Areas around the village were not so fortunate. There were problems to the north, west and south, and also east toward and in Ann Arbor. Farther east, in the Detroit metropolitan region, the storm resulted in massive power disruptions involving hundreds of thousands of residences and businesses.

"It was a hit-and-miss pattern, especially in west Washtenaw county," said Jim Story of Consumers Power Co. "All together, we had about 600 customers disrupted in our Sylvan district, and they were scattered all over. The damage wasn't concentrated in any particular place."

Most of the problems resulted from ice-laden tree limbs snapping off and falling on power lines, Story said.

Almost all service was restored by late Wednesday, and the rest was expected to be operating no later than Thursday, Story said. What made the problem difficult and take longer than expected to clean up was its here-and-there occurrence, he added.

"We didn't have many primary lines down," he explained. "That meant we couldn't go out, fix one line and restore a big group of homes. It was pretty much a case of doing it one house at a time, and that is a long process."

In Chelsea, there were only a few isolated disruptions of electric services provided by the village-owned utility, administrator Frederick Weber said and all were restored within a few hours.

"As far as I know, we didn't have any big trees or large limbs come down, and no streets were blocked," Weber said. "Mostly it was small limbs falling on and breaking wires leading into buildings. We apparently didn't get nearly as much freezing rain and ice as some places around us did. I guess we were lucky, and I'm thankful for that."

The freezing rain began to fall about 7:30 p.m. on New Year's Eve and continued through most of the night. It was heavy in some places, light or non-existent in others.

Cross-Country Ski Clinic Set, Snow Permitting

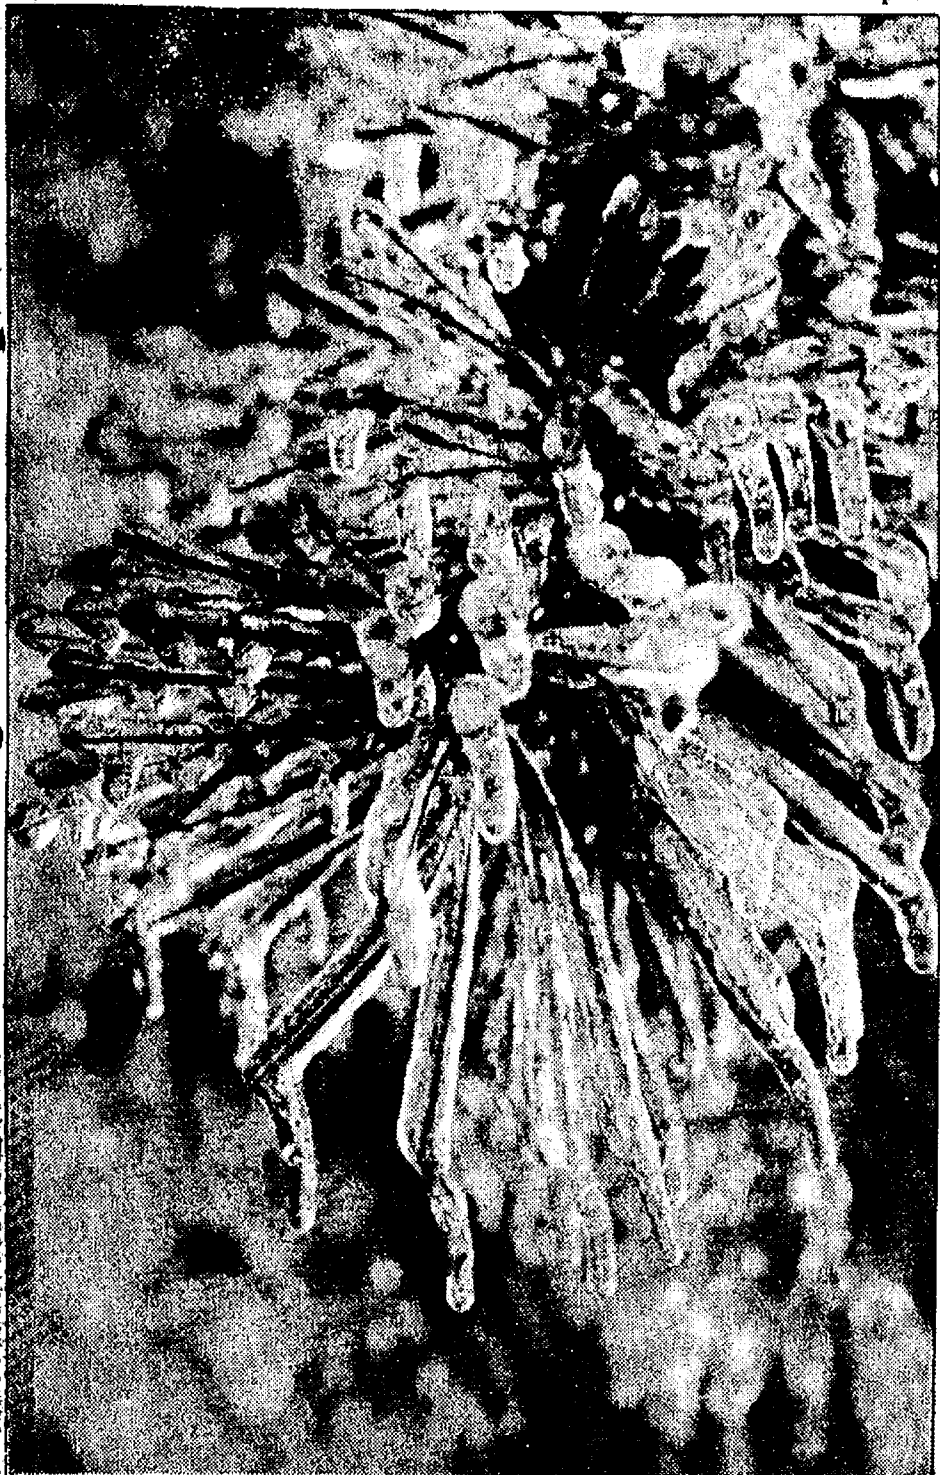

Do you see yourself gliding gracefully across snow-covered fields on cross-country skis? Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission can help fulfill your vision at their annual cross-country ski clinics.

This year's clinics will be held at Rolling Hills Park, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, Jan. 22, 23, 29, 30, snow permitting. Skiers may register for the early (6-7:30 p.m.) or late (8-9:30 p.m.) class. The $4 registration fee includes equipment and lessons.

Interested skiers must register in advance. There is space for 40 people per class. Registration forms are available at Ann Arbor Public Library, Ypsilanti Public Library, and Washtenaw County Recreation Center off Hogback Rd., or call 973-2575, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., to have one mailed to you.

Rolling Hills Park, four miles south of I-94 on Stony Creek Rd., in Ypsilanti township, has 2.8 miles of groomed cross-country ski trails. The trails, designed by WCPARC and Washtenaw Ski Touring Club, wind through woods and fields, over flat and hilly terrain.

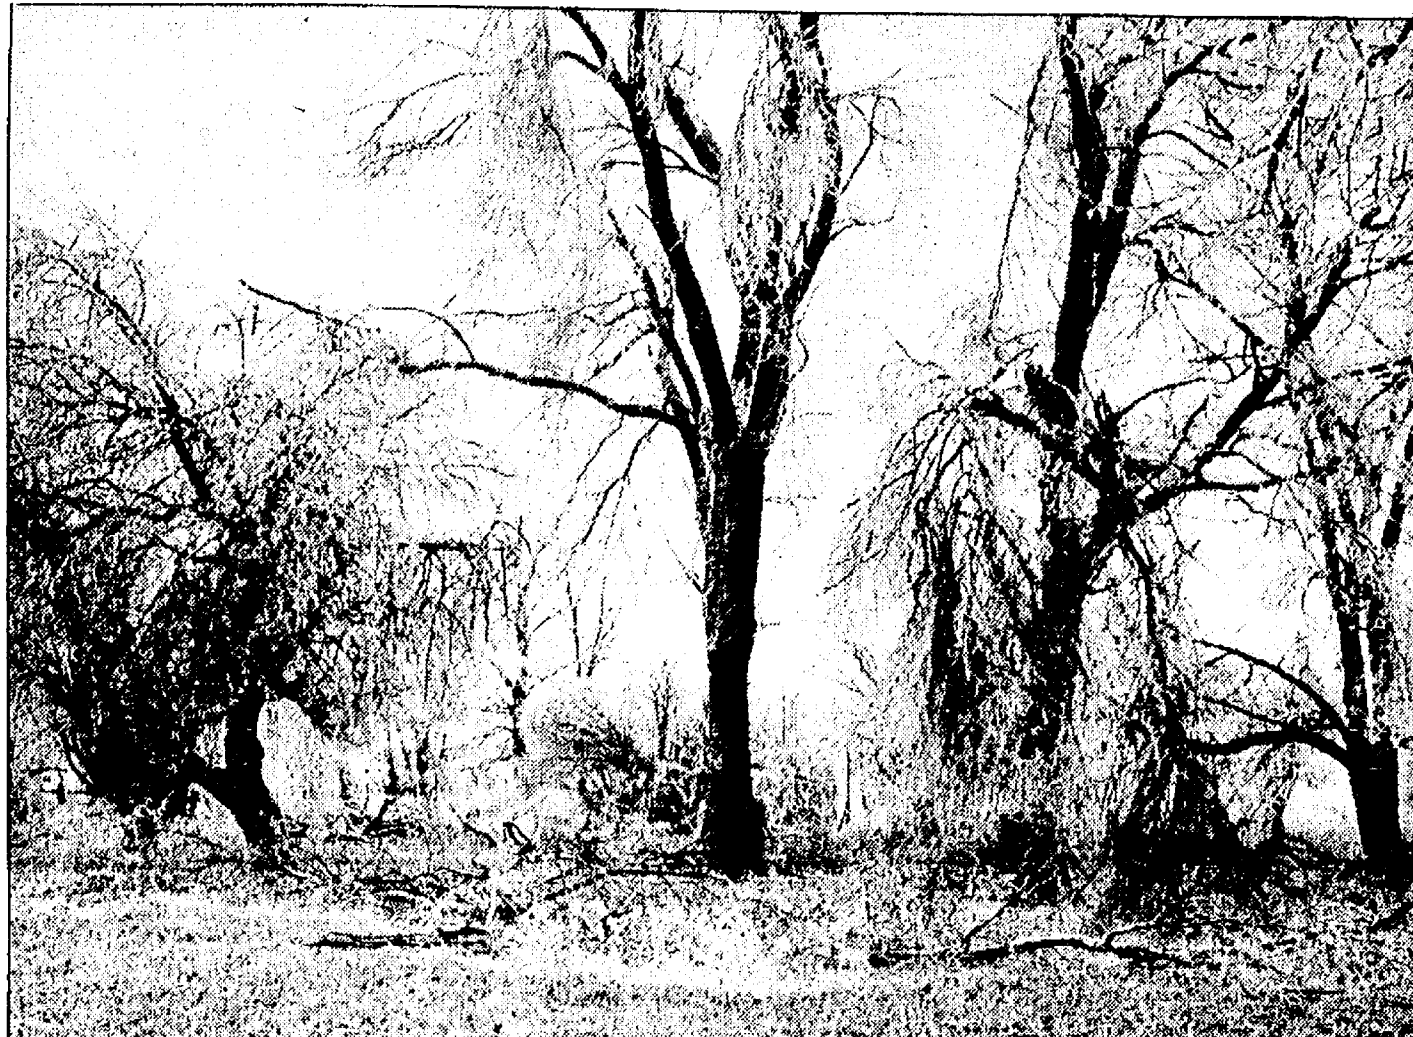

In 1707 Henrietta Johnson took up brush and chalk to become America's first known woman painter and pastellist. Her subjects are also mainly women.

PRETTY BUT NASTY: The New Year's Eve ice storm produced some spectacular scenes for those who weren't involved in the damage that it did. The heavy coating of ice melted very slowly during the next several days of below-freezing weather.

IT LOOKS PRETTY, BUT IT'S NOT: The ice-laden trees and the fog coming off a pond made a spectacular picture, but the photo doesn't reveal the damage done by the New Year's Eve ice storm. Limbs burdened by ice continued to drop, breaking down more power lines as utility crews struggled to keep on top of the problem.

WHAT IT REALLY WAS: Trees took a beating as the heavy coating of New Year's Eve ice broke branches all over the place. There was a lot of clean-up work to do by both utility crews and householders. Cold weather following the storm kept the ice from melting away, and each gust of wind brought down more branches.

Bowling Tourney Set For Special Olympians

Kiwanis Clubs of Washtenaw county will sponsor the second annual Special Olympics bowling tournament Jan. 15-16 at Bel-Mark Lanes, 3530 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor.

Hours are 10 a.m. to noon both days. About 180 youths age 8-17 are scheduled to bowl on Tuesday Jan. 15. Another 225 age 18 and over will compete the following day.

Chelsea special education teachers involved in arranging the tournament are Kathy Gilbert and Joanne Stasa of Beach Middle school and Nancy Cooper of the high school.

Chelsea Kiwanians on the planning committee are Ron Walter and Paul Frisinger.

Special education teachers at Dexter include Mary Lynn Doletzky, Bates elementary school; Julia Johns, Wylie Middle school; and Neta Sage, high school.

Fred Model represents the Dexter Kiwanis Club on the planning committee.

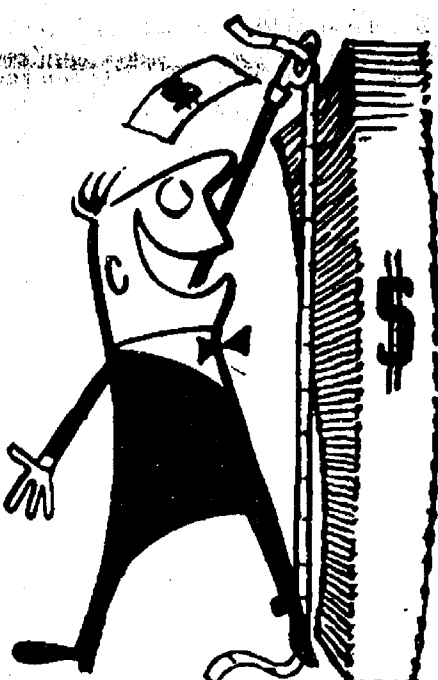

Both days of the tournament are open to the public without charge. Further information may be obtained from chairman Walter Henne, 668-7080.

No-Till Corn Yield Tops 178 Bu/Acre

Three Michigan farmers were winners in the Chevron Chemical Company's 1984 Othro No-Till Corn Yield Contest.

Carl Honaman, St. Charles, won a first-place trophy and a Caribbean cruise for him and his wife with a no-till corn yield of 178.06 bushels of shelled corn per acre. Harold Scharer, Frankenthum, won second place and a $500 cash award for growing 176.41 bushels of no-till corn per acre. Tom Benson, St. Johns, received $300 cash for third-place honors with a no-till corn yield of 175.30 bushels per acre.

Varsity Cagers Have Bad Night in Loss At Adrian, 63-40

Chelsea's varsity basketball team put on perhaps its poorest performance of the season last Friday while losing, 63-40, to Class A Adrian there.

"We just plain didn't do much of anything right," Bulldog coach Rahm Rosentreter said. "We didn't shoot well from the field or the free-throw line. We didn't rebound well or play good defense. It was an all-around bad night."

"Our practices had been good during the holiday break, and I thought we were ready to play. As it turned out, we weren't. You never know what's going to happen after a long lay-off."

"Adrian is a good, well coached team. They have some quickness and some size, and I don't want to take anything away from them. But they aren't 23 points better than we are."

The Bulldogs hit only 30 percent of their shots from the floor, and were just over half at the foul line, percentages which aren't good enough to win.

Chelsea managed to keep the game respectably close through three periods. The Bulldogs trailed, 31-20 at the half and closed the gap by a point during the third quarter. The last eight minutes were a disaster as Adrian put up 22 points to Chelsea's nine.

"We hit only one of 10 shots from the floor in the fourth quarter," Rosentreter noted, "and you can't come from behind with 10 percent shooting. We got good shots, but the ball wasn't dropping."

"We're a good shooting team in practice. I just plain don't understand all the misses in games. Every shot we put up against Adrian was inside 15 feet, and most of them were inside 10. We should make most of those, and we are going to have to if we expect to win."

Adrian played a tight man-to-man defense, something the Bulldogs hadn't experienced during their first five games, and that undoubtedly was a factor.

"They took us out of our offensive game plan, and we didn't adjust," Rosentreter said. "We needed to control the tempo of the game, and we let it get away from us."

The statistics pretty well tell the story. David Steinhauer scored 12 points and Eric Schaffner 10. Ray Spencer put in six coming off the bench, and Todd Doering added five in a substitute role. Nobody else had more than three.

"We didn't get good scoring from either inside or outside," Rosentreter noted, "and we have to have both if we are going to be competitive."

The Bulldogs lost the rebounding phase of the game, 40-24, and that also bothered Rosentreter. "We're small, but Adrian isn't that much bigger, and we should have done better on the boards," he said. "The officials were allowing a lot of push and shove, which is all right as long as the calls are made both ways, and they were." (Each team was whistled for 21 fouls.)

Chelsea, now 3-3 on the season, played at Fowlerville last night, and will take on Dexter in a key game for both teams here Friday night. The Dreadnaughts are the surprise team of the season with a 6-1 record and a 3-0 mark in the Southeastern Conference.

JV Basketball Team Loses in Last Second

Last-second "Hail Mary" shots used to connect about once a basketball season, but they are finding the hoop more and more often as players get better at long-range bombing.

Chelsea's junior varsity cagers were the victims of one of those at-the-buzzer mid-court heaves in a heart-breaking 43-42 loss at Adrian last Friday night.

Ahead by a point, the Bulldogs went to the foul line with five seconds left on the clock and the game apparently in hand. All that was needed to seal the victory was for the ball to hit the rim or the board and bounce while time ran out.

Instead, the attempt fell short and went out of bounds, stopping the clock and giving Adrian time to set up a mid-court shot that found the mark and won the game.

"Actually we never should have been in that situation," coach Ted Hendricks said. "We had a 13-point lead at half-time, and we lost it. Adrian pressed in the second half, and it bothered us. We lost the ball several times, we missed shots we should have made, and Adrian got hot from outside."

Upshot was that Chelsea fell behind by five with 90 seconds to play, then staged a fine rally to go in front, only to see the effort nullified by the last-second Adrian shot put up from somewhere around 40 feet.

The tough defeat left the JV's with a 4-2 season record going into last night's contest at Fowlerville.

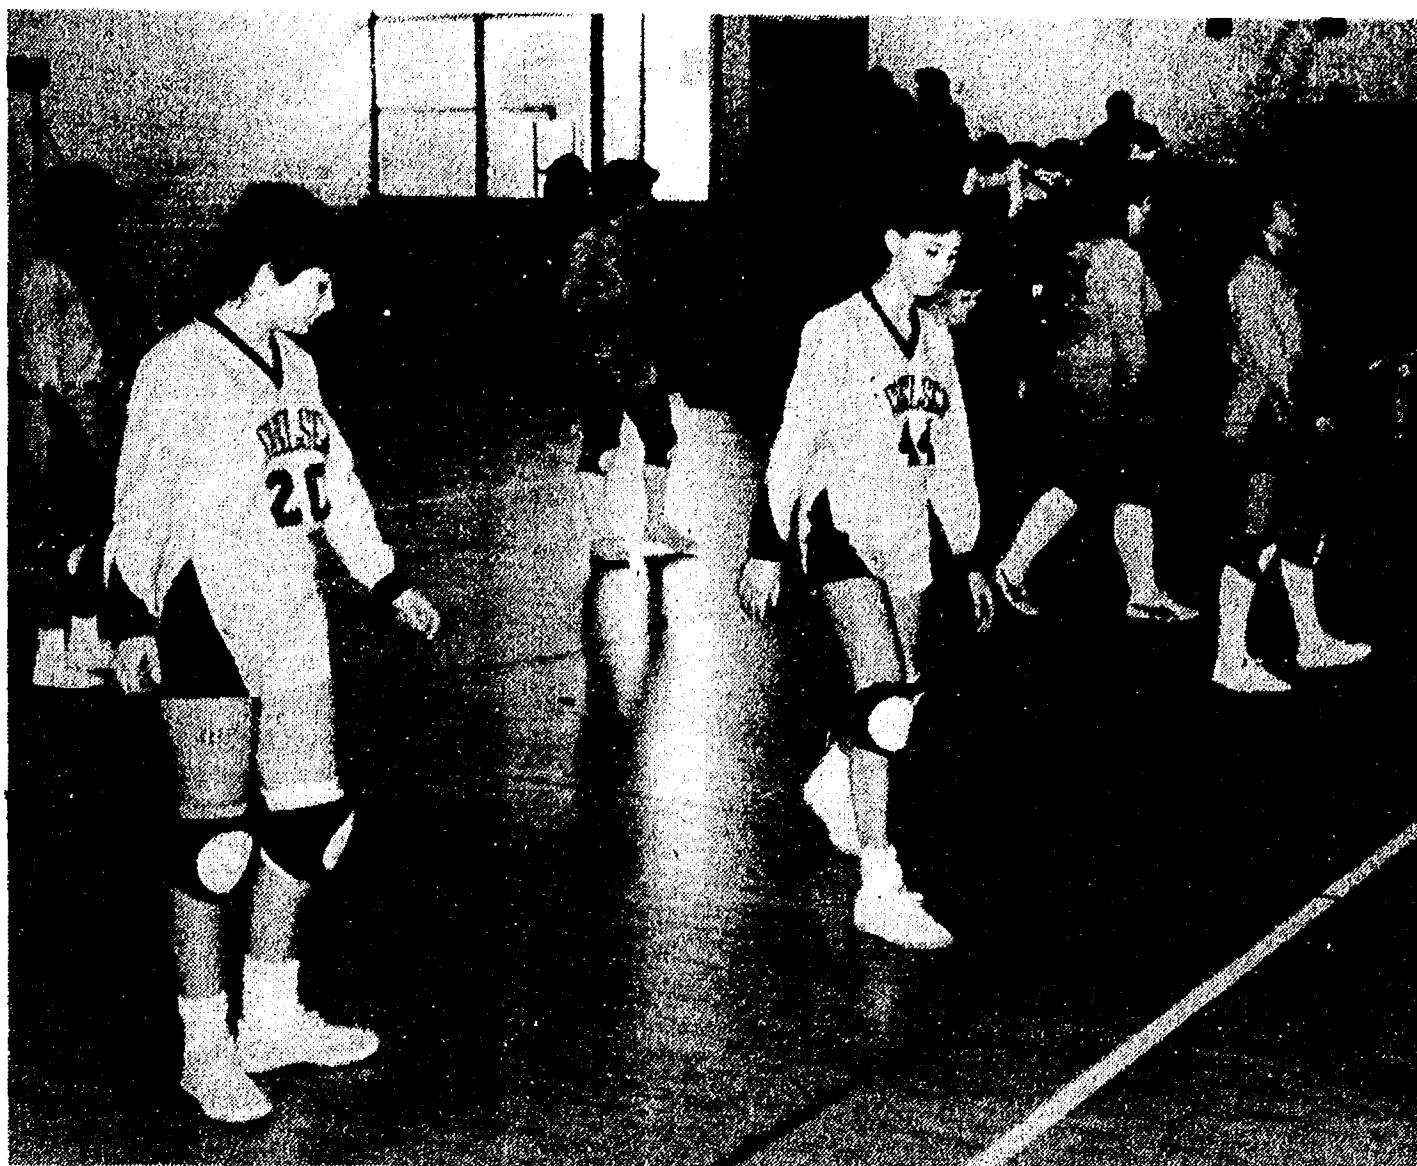

JV Cagers Impress By Defeating Lincoln

Chelsea's junior varsity basketball team moved its season record to 4-1, good for a share of the Southeastern Conference lead, with a 61-51 win over Lincoln here on Dec. 21.

The young Bulldogs pulled out to a 33-21 half-time lead, then matched points with their opponents the rest of the way.

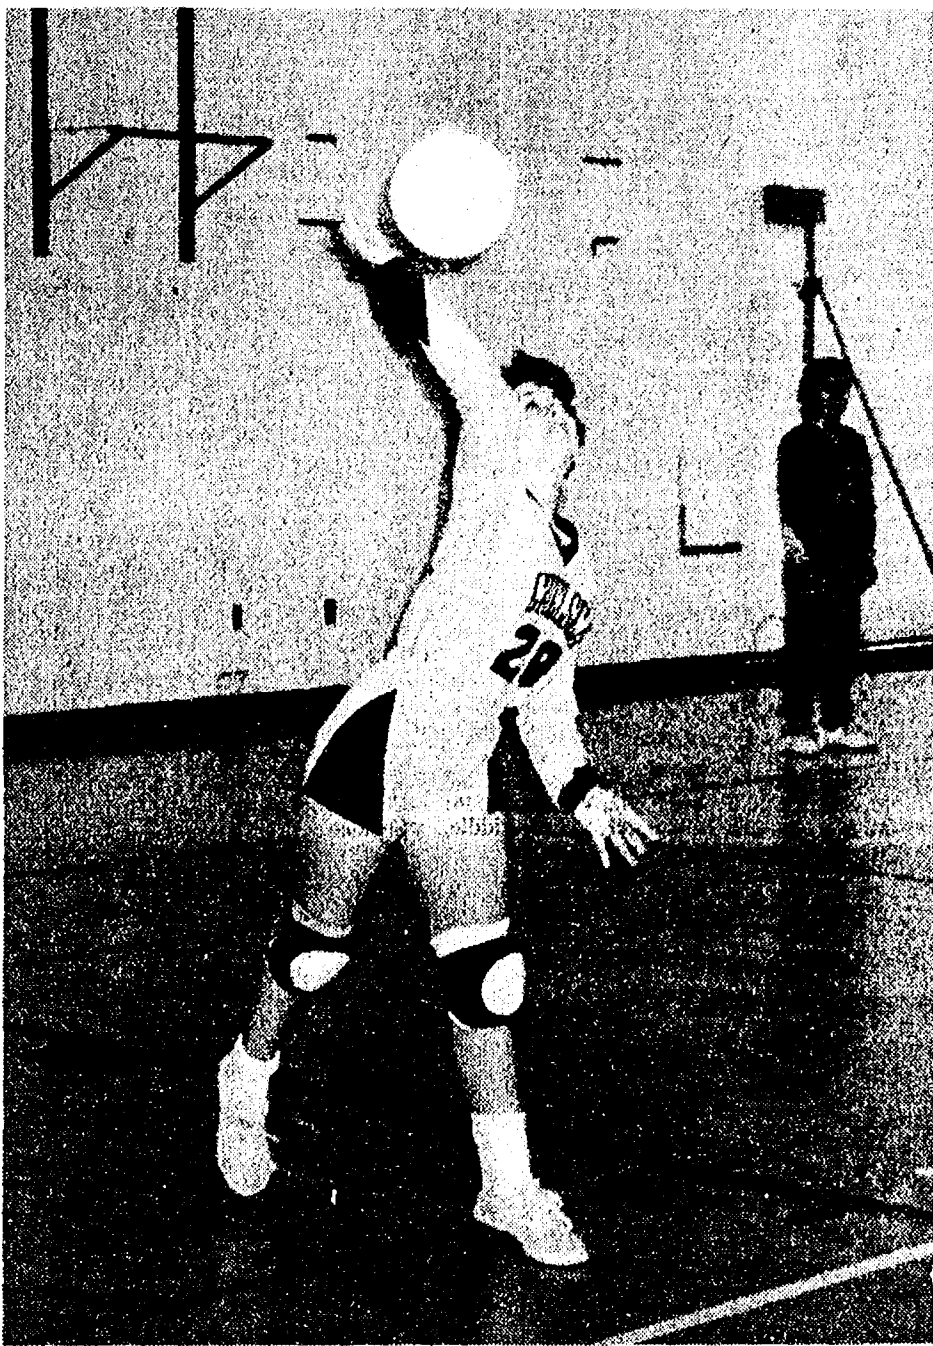

"We played a real good first half," coach Ted Hendricks said, "but the boys tried to run with Lincoln in the second half. Fortunately, they got away with it, and lost the half by only two points. Lincoln teams are always quick, and this one is no exception. We can't run with them unless we shoot awfully well."

Chelsea shot very well indeed, hitting 23 of 50 from the floor for 46

READY TO RECEIVE: Chelsea's volleyball team gets into position to receive the ball during last Saturday's eight-school Chelsea Invitational Tournament, first event on the winter schedule.

Identifiable by their numbers are Julie Koch (20), Jennifer Swaringen (44), Cathy Basso (54) and Trisha Matloff (14). At far right is Missy Keiser and at far left, Kris Matloff.

HERE IT COMES: Julie Koch smacks a serve during last Saturday's volleyball action on the Beach Middle school court. She hit it hard and got it on the court into play, and Chelsea won a point after a couple of volleys back and forth across the net.

Volleyball Team Shows Improvement

It was a more mature Chelsea High school volleyball team that bounded onto the court Saturday for its first seasonal match, both in terms of age and ability. The talent-gap which affected sports at the school for a couple of years seems to be closing as last year's predominately sophomore squad has moved into its junior year, making the team a more reasonable varsity opponent.

More points were gained by the team on Saturday in the invitational tournament than in last year's entire season. Referees and coaches saw a whole new team. Coach Cathy Vleck feels the program is finally reaping the benefits of some of the hard work done at younger grade levels.

Of the incredible back row exhibition on Saturday, Vleck expressed delighted amazement. "I don't know where it came from, I hadn't seen it in practice," and went on to comment that she feels she has the first trust-worthy back row she's ever had as a coach. Other strengths of this year's team are powerful, accurate serves and good position playing.

Skills the team will be brushing up on are spiking, consistency and unit cohesiveness.

Dexter High school lost Saturday's matches against Williamston, South Lyon and Vandercook, each in three games and slim margins of two points. Brighton captured the final victory against Livonia Ladywood in the annual early-season tournament.

Next game is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 10 at 7 p.m., against last year's defeated opponent, Lincoln High school. The team would like to see a good spectator turn-out.

Parent night is planned for Monday, Jan. 28, to encourage continuation of parent support.

Pittsfield Grange Euchre Tourney Gets Underway

The annual euchre tournament sponsored by the Pittsfield Union Grange began last Monday, Jan. 7, and will run for 10 weeks. Entry fee for two-player teams is $1.50 per night. Part of the proceeds will benefit the Saline Hospital Authority.

In past years, about 70-80 persons, have competed, coming from all over the county, and there is room for more, said Herman Koenn, a Grange member. The Grange hall is located at 3337 Ann Arbor-Saline Rd., telephone 662-8936.

SEC ROUND-UP:

Dexter Proves It's Ready To Challenge

Dexter is for real. The Dreadnaughts proved that with a sound 56-47 victory over Lincoln last Friday night, coming off a first-quarter deficit to dominate the last three periods and win going away.

The victory put Dexter in what amounts to a tie for the Southeastern Conference lead. Saline, which defeated Milan in a surprisingly close 43-37 contest, remains technically in front by virtue of having played and won one more league game. Both Dexter and Saline are undefeated in SEC competition.

Tecumseh beat Pinckney, 49-43, in the other SEC clash, and Chelsea lost, 63-40, on a trip to Class A Adrian. One SEC team has to play outside the seven-school league on every night of action.

Dexter's defeat of Lincoln showed that coach Jim McCormack's squad is indeed a contender for the conference crown. The Dreadnaughts fell behind early, then rallied to take command.

Dexter's outstanding backcourt duo—Dan Schlaff and Eric Meilstrup—made the difference, connecting for a total of 36 points including a dozen "long bomb" field goals from outside.

Lincoln's Joe Ross, the biggest player in the league at 6-9, scored 18 points and collected nine rebounds but did not dominate the game, thanks to a Dexter defense which constantly harried him and forced him to turn over the ball several times.

Saline may have gone into its game against Milan a little bit fat-headed after cruising to a 5-0 pre-holiday record. The Hornets learned that there are no easy games in basketball as they had to hang on to win a down-to-the-wire decision. Milan could have won it but missed all of seven inside shots in the last two minutes. The Big Reds played superb defense, holding Saline 24 points under its 67 points per game average.

Tecumseh finally defeated struggling Pinckney after blowing a 15-point lead at the half and letting the Pirates go in front mid-way through the fourth quarter. The Indians put the game away with good shooting from the foul line down the stretch.

Chelsea did very little of anything right in its non-league loss to Adrian. The Bulldogs shot an icy 30 percent from the floor and were beaten badly on the boards.

Weight Problems Cost Milan Loss

Chelsea wrestling coach Kerry Kargel didn't phone in the results of his team's Dec. 20 dual meet with Milan, and his first answer to a question about the outcome was, "Why can't we just forget about it?"

Reminded that news is news, no matter who wins or loses, Kargel acknowledged that his Bulldogs grapplers had lost, 41-27, and he was fuming as he said it. "We had six of our first-line wrestlers fail to make weight and so we lost a meet that we figured to win," Kargel explained. "We're a better team than Milan. We won six of the seven matches in which our regulars did qualify in their weight classes, and we could have won enough more to take the meet easily if the boys hadn't been overweight."

"Some of the kids started celebrating the holidays a little too early. Believe me, I'm disturbed about it, and I assure you it won't happen again. Those boys are working their tails off to get back in shape. I'm seeing to that. We're not going to lose another meet that way."

Chelsea's winners against Milan were:

119—Bob Torres, pin in 3:37.

Pioneer Builder Gets Little Recognition

Chelsea had a pioneer builder during the 19th century who left his mark on the architecture of Chelsea, Ann Arbor and Albion. But in spite of this, James Davidson has received little recognition.

Professor Carol A. Harding of Michigan State University became fascinated with Davidson's house at 19266 Lehman Rd. and concerned with his lack of recognition. She spent over a year trying to learn more about him. The following is information based on a report Ms. Harding submitted to The Standard.

In Ann Arbor, Davidson designed and built the first medical school, a courthouse which served the county for 44 years, and the second jail in Ann Arbor, which once stood on 627 N. Main St.

The J. H. Lund house, 1324 Pontiac Trail, was constructed by the Davidson brothers in 1847 for Johnathan Lund. The outside stucco finish was done with "barrels and barrels of skim milk giving it strong adhesive property," quoted Harding's report. The home was owned for many years by Fremont Wards and is now owned by John Hollowell.

Davidson constructed North Hall at Albion College in 1852. The hall is the oldest existing building on campus.

In Sharon township, (then known as Peppergrass because of the abundance of watercress), Davidson built his own home at 19266 Lehman Rd. The home features 18" stone walls, bevelled window casings, stucco made of Michigan sand and skim milk, 18" pine floor boards and tulip tree woodwork from the homestead land.

The farm was purchased by Christian G. Leeman in 1867 and became a Centennial Farm Home in 1967. Mary Leeman, Christian's great-granddaughter, is the current owner.

For his retirement, Davidson decided to live in town. He built the house at 237 Railroad St. in Chelsea. The Davidsons moved into the home in 1868. Iva and Jerry Cole are its current owners.

Davidson was born in 1803, the son of John and Rhoda Mudge Davidson of Sacketts Harbor, N.Y. and Charlestown, N.Y. He became a sailor at the age of 12 on the Great Lakes and eventually achieved the rank of captain.

During 18 years sailing the Great Lakes, and working as a mason when the lakes were frozen, he accrued the capital to purchase land in the new Michigan Territory.

Heading west from New York state with Elizabeth Mower, his new wife, in 1832, he purchased land in Sharon township. In the wilderness, about three miles south of Sylvan Center, he cleared the land, built a log cabin on what is now called Lehman Road and began farming.

Before coming to Michigan, James and his five brothers served as apprentices to their mason father, John Davidson, who lived 1780-1840. Davidson's brothers were John Lloyd, Lewis Carlisle, Robert, William and Kenneth.

James and his brothers are known to have constructed buildings in Sacketts Harbor and Charlestown, N. Y. (Montgomery county), as well as in Montreal, and before long they were together again building, this time in the Michigan territory.

The family helped James build his home on Lehman Rd., where he and his wife raised their six children and lived until retiring to Chelsea on Railroad St.

The six children were Rhoda, Eliza, Pauline, Sarah, Emily and Henry. Local descendants of Sarah, and great-grandchildren of the Davidsons, are Rena Roedel Walworth of Chelsea and Max Delos Roedel of Grass Lake. Their mother, Alice Mills Roedel, was the daughter of Sarah Davidson Mills, and a life-long resident of Chelsea.

The Davidsons were members of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Michigan Pioneer Society, and the Masonic Lodge. They are buried in the Oak Grove Cemetery.

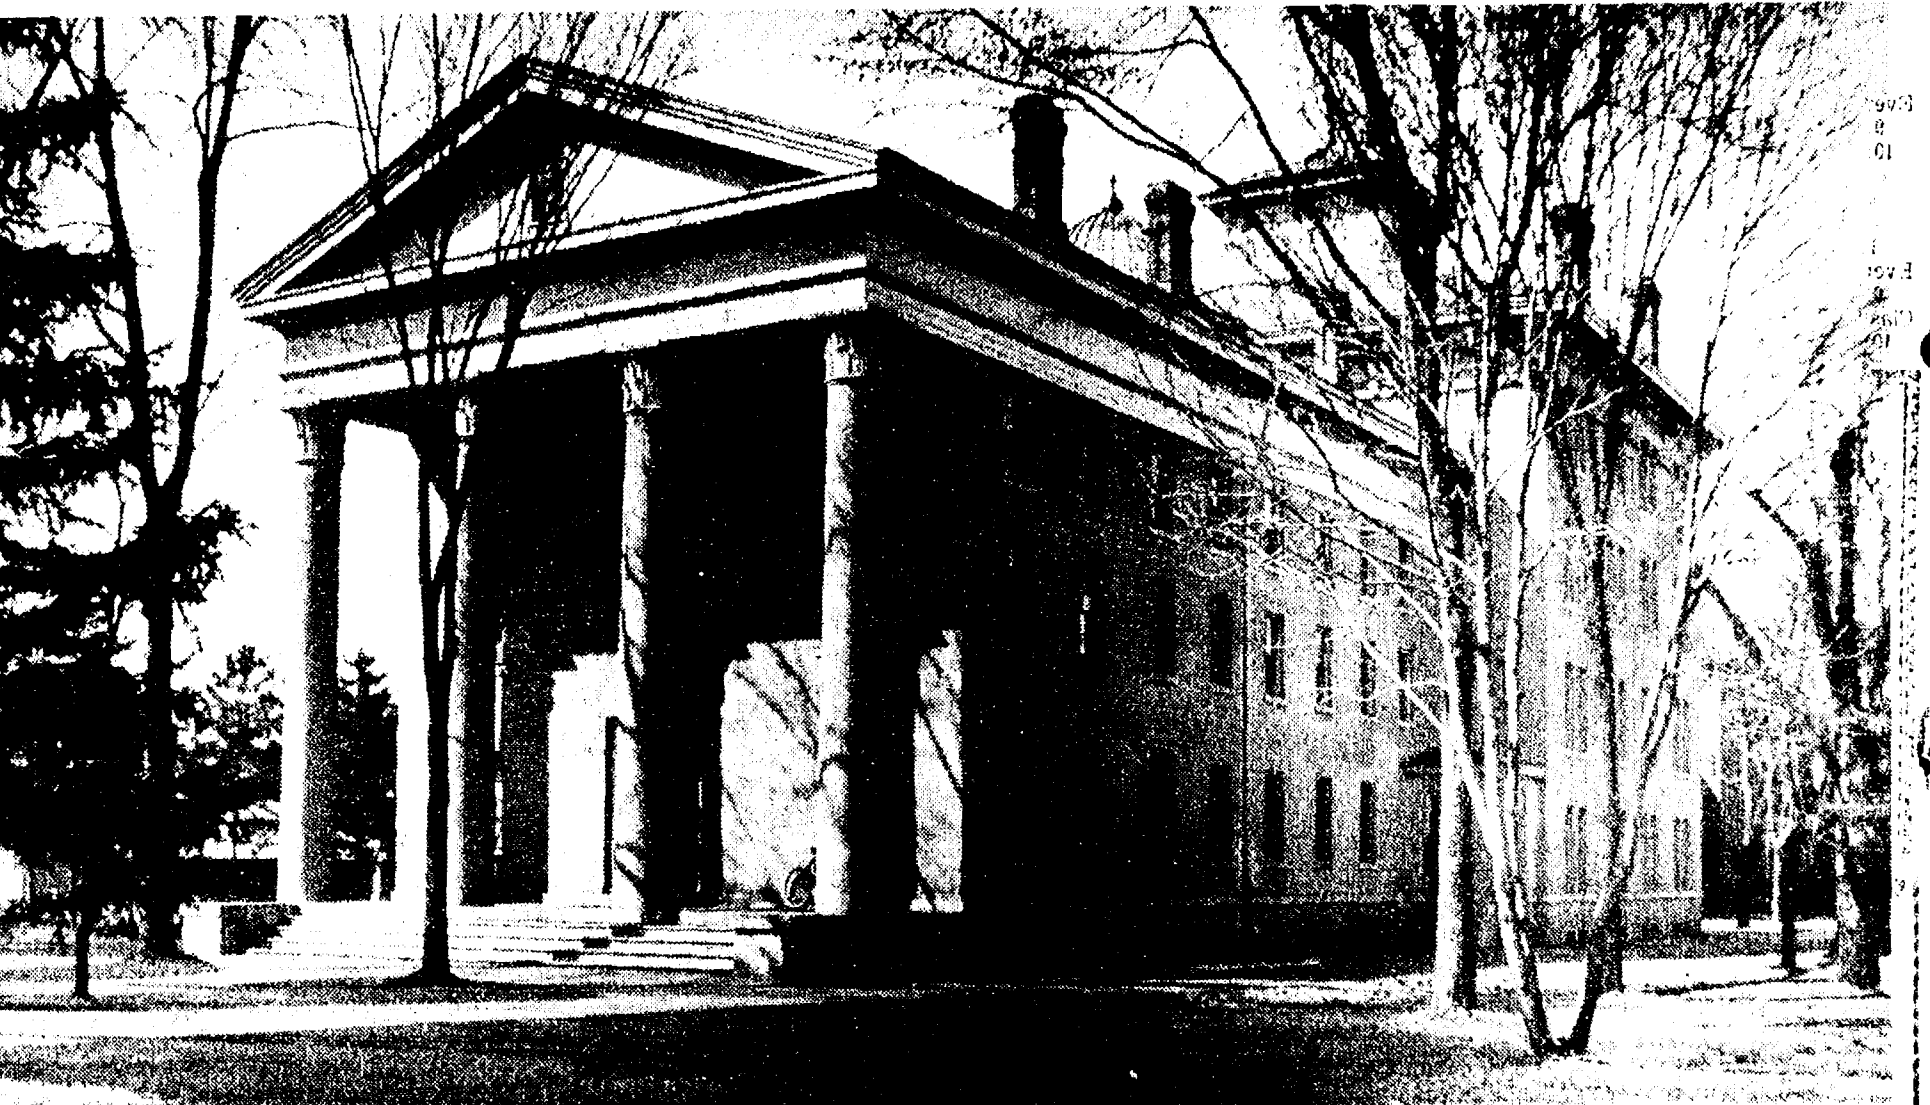

JAMES DAVIDSON'S HOUSE at 19266 Lehman Rd. in Sharon township about three miles south of Sylvan Center, was constructed shortly after James Davidson came to Michigan from New York in 1832. It has been in the ownership of the Leeman family since 1867 and is a registered Centennial Farm home.

CHELSEA LANDMARK: Architect James Davidson retired to Chelsea from Sharon township in 1868 and built this house at 237 Railroad St. Jerry and Iva Cole are the current owners.

ARCHITECT JAMES DAVIDSON designed this first medical school building on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor. It was a duplicate of a courthouse that Davidson built in Montgomery county, New York, before moving to Michigan in 1832, settling in Sharon township.

NORTH HALL AT ALBION: This building, the oldest on the Albion College campus, was designed and constructed by James Davidson in 1852. The stucco finish was made of a mixture of sand and skim milk, which has stood the test of time.

Cross Country Ski Clinic Scheduled

A cross country ski clinic will be held Thursday, Jan. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the Ann Arbor Library. The program will be sponsored by the Sierra Club and the University of Michigan Family Practice Center at Chelsea.

The main emphasis of the program will be on ski technique. Ski terrain and the basic maneuver best suited to cross it will be discussed.

Video aids will be used to demonstrate proper execution of the technique. "Obtaining this information in a warm and comfortable room is a bonus to helping one learn," says Norm Roller, Sierra Club member and ski instructor. "It is helpful to know what the ski movements should look like prior to getting on the snow."

The program will also include information on equipment, clothing, the physical aspects of skiing and where to ski in this area. "This information will be useful to experienced as well as new skiers," states Peggy Alford Campbell, marathon ski racer and co-ordinator for this program. "That is one of the wonderful things about cross country skiing—you can enjoy it first time out but you can also keep working to improve your technique. The more you ski, the better you get."

The program is open to the public and is free of charge.

On-the-snow ski lessons will be taught through Chelsea Recreation Council. These will be for both beginner and intermediate skiers. For details call the Chelsea Recreation Council at 475-9830.

Winter Fun Available in County Parks

Now is the time to wax the skis, sharpen the skates, get out the sled and discover the fun you can have in Washtenaw County Parks.

Rolling Hills, WCPARC's newest park opening this winter, features winter sports. It has a 1,000-foot toboggan run and a smaller sledding hill. Toboggans are provided at the park. When the ice is thick you can skate on the large pond. The toboggan run and pond will be flood-lit at night.

The park, 151 acres of woods and field, can be explored on foot or cross-country skis. WCPARC and Washtenaw Ski Touring Club designed the 2.8 miles of groomed ski trails. Hot drinks, a fire, and restrooms are in the recreation complex.

Rolling Hills is four miles south of I-94 on Stony Creek Rd. in Ypsilanti township. There is a $2 gate fee. For park opening dates and hours call 973-2575.

County Farm Park is 128 acres of country in the city. Novice and intermediate skiers can enjoy the park's 1.36 miles of trails.

Experience an old-fashioned sleigh ride with David Foulke of the Ann Arbor Carriage Co. Sleigh rides leave from the Platt Rd. parking lot on Saturday and Sunday, 1-4 p.m., snow permitting. The fee is $4 for adults and $2 for children. Call 994-1560, evenings and week-ends, for details.

County Farm is at the corner of Washtenaw Ave. and Platt Rd. Parking lots are on Platt and Medford.

Park Lyndon North's 1.1 mile ski trails has steep hills, sharp curves, and narrow paths suitable for the experienced skier.

You might enjoy a brisk winter hike in Park Lyndon South.

Park Lyndon is one mile east of M-52 on North Territorial Rd.

Matt Heumann, WCPARC's naturalist, has five field trips planned for January through March, exploring Park Lyndon, Parker Mill Park, and Independence Lake Park. Topics will be identifying winter trees, crossing a swamp, and watching winter and migrating birds.

For more information call 973-2575, 8:30 to 5 p.m.

Ban Sought on Use of Antibiotics in Feeds

The Natural Resources Defense Council has petitioned the Food and Drug Administration to ban the use of penicillin and tetracycline in animal feed as a hazard to public health. But, according to Al Almy, director of public affairs for the Michigan Farm Bureau, antibiotics in animal feed are important to agriculture.

"Antibiotics are an essential part of the economics of meat production. They allow farmers to use less feed to produce more meat, which is good for both the meat industry and consumers," Almy said.

The Food and Drug Administration is expected to hold a hearing on the petition late in January and to issue a decision next spring.

Chained, Neglected Pet Causes Problems

The sum total abuse to chained dogs adds up to a lot of suffering. It is time that "chaining" is recognized as abuse and more attention directed to it. The most common animal problem that the Humane Society of Huron Valley deals with is the chained dog problem.

A family acquires a puppy, and it soon grows into a large active dog. The children lose interest. The parents can't be bothered. The young dog ends up on the end of a four-foot chain in the

Extension Service Master Gardener Program Offered

If you are interested in learning how to improve your gardening and communication skills while helping others, the Master Gardener program is for you.

Washtenaw Co-operative Extension Service is looking for a few enthusiastic people to participate in a 10-week training program. Subjects covered provide technical knowledge in all facets of gardening—vegetables, houseplants, trees and shrubs, fruit, lawns and pest management. At the conclusion of the class, students must pass a comprehensive test.

Participants are required to donate 30 hours of their time during the gardening season to community projects. These may include giving garden talks and demonstrations, answering garden questions in the Extension office on the phone, working with youth or seniors on gardening projects or maintaining perennial exhibit garden.

Meetings are held for 10 consecutive Wednesdays starting Feb. 6 and continuing through April 10 in the Washtenaw County Service Center. Class times are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. with an hour break for a sack lunch. The fee is $40 including materials. (A partial rebate of this fee is available if volunteer work is done promptly.)

To apply for the class, call 973-9510 and ask for a registration form. Enrollment is limited.

Red Cross Offers Help With Fuel Bill Costs

Effective Monday, Jan. 7, the Washtenaw county chapter of the American Red Cross is a participant in the Red Cross Heat Bank Program, in conjunction with Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. Purpose of this program is to assist persons, or families, in the community, in paying their gas bill, according to Richard J. Smoot, director of community emergency services for the American Red Cross, Washtenaw county chapter.

Persons eligible for aid include senior citizens, ages 60 and up, as well as disabled or handicapped individuals of any age, and the long-term unemployed. If anyone knows a family is an extreme hardship case, but does not meet the requirements listed above, please notify the Red Cross headquarters in Ann Arbor. Phone number to call is 971-HEAT (971-4328).

Volunteer Heat Bank caseworkers will screen calls from applicants. If the applicant seems to be eligible, an office interviewer will be scheduled to make the final determination. Seriously handicapped or disabled applicants may arrange a home visit with the caseworker.

Smoot also explains that the ARC local chapter is seeking volunteers to help make this project a success, and says volunteers will be provided training. Community people who are willing to serve as volunteers for the Heat Bank are invited to contact the chapter office, at 971-6300, or at 971-HEAT.

General eligibility guidelines are listed for readers' information. Senior citizens should: 1) be 60 or over, 2) be a Washtenaw county resident, 3) meet income requirements and have proof of income, 4) have shut-off notice, or heat source is shut off for non-payment, 5) have made a gas payment within the last 12 months. NOTE: No Department of Social Services denial is required! Disabled persons need: 1) proof of a disability, such as a doctor's letter, Supplemental Security income award letter, or disability statement, 2) to be a resident of Washtenaw county, 3) to meet income requirements, and provide proof of income, 4) have recent denial letter for Energy Needs Program from Department of Social Services, 5) have shut off notice, or heat source is shut off for non-payment, 6) to have made a gas payment within the last 12 months.

Unemployed persons need: 1) proof of unemployment benefits being exhausted, or proof of date last worked, (this should be over nine months), 2) to be a resident of Washtenaw county, 3) to meet income requirements and have proof of income, 4) to have a denial letter for Energy Need Program from Department of Social Services, 5) have shut off notice, or heat source is shut off for non-payment, 6) have made a gas payment within last 12 months.

General eligibility guidelines for all applicants include 1) people who received Aid to Dependent Children, or general assistance for longer than one month are not eligible, 2) there is no dollar limit on the amount of assistance Red Cross will provide, 3) Red Cross can help with any type of heat—not just natural gas, 4) only one Red Cross Heat Bank assistance during any one heating season, 5) Red Cross will not assist if there is illegal usage of gas, 6) only the PAST DUE amount of bill will be paid, not current month's usage, 7) income requirements for family size as compared to maximum yearly income are: 1, $6,225; 2, $8,400; 3, $10,575; 4, $12,750; 5, $14,925; 6, $17,000.

Recreation Gymnastic Classes Begin Saturday

Chelsea Recreation Gymnastic classes are still open for registration. Because of late advertising, last week's class was cancelled. Classes will begin this Saturday, Jan. 12 and continue for five weeks.

Beginning Tumbling and Floor Exercise is offered for children 3 and 4 years of age. An introduction to the basic movement concepts and skills will be stressed. Forward rolls, log rolls, balancing, hopping and skipping are some of the many exercises that will be taught.

K and 1st grade classes will start on the mat. Elementary skills on the balance beam and uneven bars will be introduced. A group floor exercise routine will be taught.

The 2nd through 5th graders will review all basic skills and proceed individually on more advanced gymnastic skills. A group floor exercise routine will be taught along with individual routines on the balance beam and uneven bars.

All classes are held at the Chelsea High school balcony area.

Following is the Gymnastics schedule:

Jan 12 through Feb. 9
Pre-school (3-4 yr. olds), 11 a.m.-11:45 a.m.
K and 1st grade, 12 noon-12:45 p.m.
2nd and 3rd grade, 1 p.m.-1:45 p.m.
4th and 5th grade, 2 p.m.-2:45 p.m.

Fee: $12.50 a participant from Sylvan, Dexter or Lyndon townships. $17.50 a participant from Lima township and all others.

You may register at Chelsea High school, Community Education Office, Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. (closed 5-6 p.m.) or Friday, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Crime Watch Program Enlists Road Commission

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department will be working with the Washtenaw County Road Commission in a Crime Watch Program. This program is designed to utilize service and road maintenance personnel to watch for suspicious or criminal activities and to report it to the Sheriff's Department.

Road Commission personnel can be extremely beneficial to the Sheriff's Department as extra eyes and ears. They are continuously in the rural and neighborhood areas; all the vehicles are radio equipped; they have more than 50 vehicles on the road; and their dispatch has a direct telephone line to the Sheriff's Dept. Central Communications.

Detectives and/or patrol officers can use this system to notify the Road Commission, via communications or Crime Prevention Office, of specific suspects, vehicles, and locations of suspected criminal activities. With the large number of vehicles the Road Commission has they can greatly increase the sheriff's ability to locate and identify criminal suspects.

The Crime Watch Program has been used in other areas of the country with great success such as Montana and Arizona. It has also been implemented in Detroit, Ann Arbor and Washtenaw county using utility company employees, pizza delivery and other service personnel.

Sheriff Ron Scheibel is confident that the Crime Watch Program will be of great benefit to county residents in the reduction of crime and apprehension of criminals. The sheriff plans to have Deputy Brugger of the Crime Prevention Office expand the program to include other utility and service workers.

"WHAT'S IN A NAME"

By Fred Coulter, evangelist

The discussion of scriptural names for the body of Christ is usually handled by those in denominations with the exclamation, "What's in a name?" However, if these individuals' husbands or wives wanted to go by a different name than their married name, these individuals would readily tell you there was much in a name. We live by words. We use them to describe. The descriptive names of most denominations would teach nothing about Christ to an alien sinner who had never heard about Jesus Christ. Having the proper descriptive name on something is very important. If I have two bottles in my bathroom and one is marked sulfuric acid and the other tooth powder, it matters a great deal which name I choose. The name alone on a church building does not mean that that body is the true body of Christ, however, the absence of a scriptural name on that building or in description of that group does show that it is not interested in following the New Testament pattern that Jesus laid down.

Paul writes, "And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by Him" [Colossians 3:17]. Peter said, "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" [Acts 4:12]. Recognizing that he church belongs to Christ compelled Paul to salute you" (Romans 16:16). Does the name of your denomination bring honor and glory to Jesus Christ?

Card of Thanks 17

THANK YOU

We would like to express our sincere thanks to our neighbors, friends, and relatives for their many acts of kindness during the loss of our loved one, Edward Herbert Paul. The food, cards, flowers, gifts, and prayers were greatly appreciated. A very special thanks to Don and Linda Cole, Father Dupuis, Deacon Richard Cesarz, American Legion Post No. 31, U. S. Army Reserve Batt. No. 406, Sister Pat, and all the ladies who sang the Mass, the St. Mary's Altar Society, Chelsea Fire Rescue, H.V.A., and the Chelsea E.R. staff. Knowing that we have so many caring people around us has been a great comfort to us.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my many friends and neighbors for their prayers and cards. Especially the Sizemores for taking me to the hospital. The entire medical staff and very kind nurses, during my stay at the Chelsea Community Hospital; also the Rev. Truran for his visits and prayers.

Viola Knoll.

THANK YOU

We thank the many people from the Chelsea area for remembering Elba F. Gage with their get-well and Christmas cards the past several weeks. It has boosted his morale to get mail from "The Ole Home Town" (of 90 years).

AGRICULTURE

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU EDITORIAL

A Safety Net

Farmers and ranchers make up only about 3% of this country's population, but without them, the other 97% wouldn't have much to eat. And since agriculture is such a vital part of our lives, our government has seen fit to protect the farming industry.

As it does in so many areas, the federal government spends a lot of money keeping agriculture healthy—and now it's time to write another chapter in the history of federal farm programs.

In 1985, Congress will be drafting new farm legislation, something it does every four years. Throughout the past four years, Congress has tinkered with the present law trying to make it responsive to the needs of agriculture. Hopefully, the new farm program will be more than just tinkering with the old ideas in the present law.

The new farm program should give farmers the freedom to do what they do best—produce food and fiber for the marketplace. Too many times, the current farm program has provided such high levels of support to some farmers that the government itself became their marketplace.

When that happens, our exports suffer and government stockpiles build up. Then the government has to invent some new scheme to correct the problems it created.

New farm legislation should return to the original intent—to provide farmers and ranchers with a safety net to protect them in case of severe economic disaster. No more, no less.

"Stuffy office syndrome," or indoor air pollution, such as tobacco smoke, formaldehyde from building insulation, and bacteria, affects the well being of countless American workers, reports National Wildlife magazine. According to researchers at the University of Wisconsin, constant exposure to dusts, gases, vapors and allergens in tightly sealed buildings causes employees to complain of eye, nose and throat irritations, headaches, skin rashes, fatigue and stress, not to mention, perhaps, the "Monday morning blues."

Co-operative Extension Service is trying to help through a statewide program, "New Economic Realities in Michigan Agriculture."

MSU researchers and specialists developed the program, which is being extended to all farmers through the county extension offices.

Virtually all aspects of agricultural production—dairy, cash crops, livestock, poultry, fruits, vegetables, turfgrass and ornamentals—will be covered by the program.

The series begins Jan. 8 in Wayne and ends March 13 in Benton Harbor. It will be conducted in locations from Carney in the Upper Peninsula to Kalamazoo. Details of each meeting are available from all MSU county extension offices.

The program will probe:

—The national economy and how it is affecting agriculture.

—Agricultural credit availability, debt retirement and interest rates.

—Best management practices during financially stressful times.

—How to maintain production while trimming expenses.

—How to analyze the business financial situation.

—The 1985 outlook for crop production and agricultural exports.

—How the 1985 Farm Bill will affect agriculture.

—How to improve agricultural marketing practices.

The program examines interest rates that are cutting into farm profits and explains why farmers, especially those who are highly leveraged, are finding it difficult to service their debt and restructure severely weakened balance sheets.

Ralph Hepp, MSU extension agricultural economist, says there are several reasons for this.

"The combination of the strong dollar—which is depressing export markets—volatile and declining commodity prices, and rising production costs has depressed farm incomes at a time when the value of collateral—land and machinery—has fallen sharply," he says.

The decline in agricultural income over the past two years has reduced farmers' borrowing capacity and has raised questions about some farmers' ability to repay loans.

"Though credit is available to credit-worthy borrowers, qualifying for it may be difficult for some farmers," Hepp says. "Because of the weak farmland market and reduced farm incomes, lenders are looking more closely at farm business cash flow before making loans."

He says that extension's program will examine agriculture's changing economic conditions and will help farmers determine what changes they need to make in their businesses to survive.

CHELSEA HIGH SCHOOL

FIRST SEMESTER EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

JANUARY 16, 17, 18, 1985

- Students should not be in school if they do not have an examination scheduled on the days listed.
- All students must remain in the examination room for the full 90 minutes.
- All students must take examinations as scheduled.
- All conflicts in the exam schedule must be resolved by the student with the teachers involved prior to the date of the examination.
- Students may be excused from examinations for illness or death in the family only. Parents must contact either Mr. Larson or Mr. Williams prior to the examination to arrange for the absence.
- All unexcused absences will result in an automatic "E" for the examination and it cannot be made up.
- Cheating on an exam will also result in an "E" on the examination with no make-up possible.
- It is the obligation of the student to be in the examination room at the proper time with all necessary equipment and materials.
- Classes not listed on the schedule will have examinations on January 14 and 15 during normal class time.
- The cafeteria will not be open during examination days so it is the responsibility of each student to provide for lunch.
- Busses will run regularly in the morning and afternoon on examination days. Students arriving or leaving at other times must provide their own transportation.
- If there is no school due to inclement weather, the examinations will continue as scheduled when school resumes. For example, if Wednesday is snowed out, exams will be Thursday, Friday and Monday.

Futurists Predict Gloomy Developments

A recent report by the World Future Society forecasts: "Soil erosion will hit farmers and consumers in the pocketbook. By the year 2020, most of southern Iowa will be severely eroded, each acre requiring 38 additional pounds of fertilizer and 38% more fuel for tilling."

The society also predicted that by the 1990's, animals and plant species will be disappearing at the rate of 10,000 per year, largely due to the destruction of tropical forests.

Other predictions by the society: "Health care costs in the U.S. will amount to $1 trillion in 1993, equal to 20% of the gross national product," and "The U.S. may have a permanent base on the moon by the year 2007."

Attention All Village Residents Village Ordinances That People Should Be Aware Of

- No fence in front yard.
- Height involved for back-yard fence.
- Inoperative cars.
- Appliances, furniture, unused materials in yards.
- Sign Regulations.
- Selling products in Residential area.
- Parking vehicles in designated driveway and not anywhere else on lot.

These are some of the issues I have run into and people state they are not aware of these village ordinances.

So if you are in question regarding the above matters or any other improvements on your property "Please" call our office (313) 475-1771 and let us advise you.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, Jan. 2, at the Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel, Chelsea, with Mrs. Matties' sons, the Rev. Ernest Matties and the Rev. Dudley Matties, officiating. Burial was in Oaklawn Cemetery, Stockbridge.

NEW LOOK: The United Automobile Workers (UAW) Hall at 218 S. Main St. is getting a face-lift with an overhang above the front entrance. The building is the headquarters for UAW Local 437, which represents workers in several local industries.

Danny Marshall

121 Tiplady Rd.
Pinckney

Danny Marshall, 44, of 121 Tiplady Rd., Pinckney, died Thursday, Jan. 3, at University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

He was born Dec. 7, 1940, in Royalton, Ky., the son of Dee and Ella (Carpenter) Marshall. On Oct. 15, 1960, he married Shirley Ann Kinsey of Chelsea. She survives.

He was a member of the Chelsea Church of Christ and the Happy Hitchhikers camping group. He had been an area resident for more than 30 years.

Surviving in addition to his widow are a daughter, Mrs. Andrew (Dawn) Parmeter of Pinckney; a grandson, Jason; his parents, Dee and Ella Marshall of Salyersville, Ky.; a sister, Mrs. Vernon (Jean) Gillespie of Cincinnati, O.; four brothers, Emerson Marshall of Chelsea, Kenneth Marshall of San Jose, Calif., Donnie Marshall of Chelsea and Delmar Marshall of Lima, O.; and also several aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral services were held Saturday, Jan. 5, at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home in Chelsea with the Rev. David L. Baker of the Chelsea Church of Christ officiating. Burial was in Stockbridge Cemetery.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to the Chelsea Church of Christ.

In 1778 Mary Ludwig Hays McCauley aided thirsty soldiers during the Battle of Monmouth. Mary carried jugs of water to fighting soldiers despite the oppressive heat—thus earning herself the nickname "Molly Pitcher." When her husband was wounded, she took up his position on the cannon line for the remainder of the battle. She was awarded a pension for her service by the Pennsylvania legislature in 1882.

Statement Will Show Social Security Benefits

Every person who received or repaid any Social Security benefits during 1984 will receive a Form SSA-1099, Social Security Benefit Statement, during January 1985, Patricia Anderson, Social Security manager in Ann Arbor, said recently.

Form SSA-1099 will show the amount of Social Security benefits the person received during 1984. Form SSA-1099 should be used just as any other form 1099 received from a financial institution should be used when the person completes his or her Federal income tax return for 1984, Anderson said.

Starting with Social Security benefits paid in 1984, people who have substantial other income may have to include up to half of their Social Security benefits in their taxable income.

Included with Form SSA-1099 will be IRS Notice 703. This is a working sheet that people can complete to see if any of their Social Security benefits may be subject to Federal income tax.

People who still have questions about the information shown on Form SSA-1099 after they read the explanations on the form itself can call the toll-free telephone number shown on the form, 1-900-200-1099. People who have questions about tax liability or figuring income tax should call the nearest office of the Internal Revenue Service at the number shown on the back of IRS Notice 703—toll-free 237-0800 if they cannot find the answer in IRS publications.

In 1718 Mary Butterworth, using a hot iron and muslin from her kitchen, discovered an ingenious counterfeiting technique that did not require the usual metal plates. Family members worked on the bogus bills in assembly-line fashion, and became quite rich. When tried for counterfeiting, she was found not guilty because the prosecution could not find any incriminating printing plates.

Escapes Jump At Cassidy Lake

Reversing a trend from past years, escapes from the Cassidy Lake Technical school increased in frequency during the last months of 1984 and continued into the first day of 1985.

Normally, the escape rate is highest during the warm part of the year.

Two young men walked away Sunday evening, Dec. 30, and brought to 30 the total number of escapes during the year, well below the 43 recorded in 1983.

The new year got off to a bad start as two inmates escaped during the afternoon of Jan. 1. They apparently got away in a car driven by a visitor, a Cassidy Lake spokesperson said.

All four are still at large.

Prison officials were at a loss to explain why the escape rate jumped during the October-December period after staying down during the first nine months of 1984.

Through December, there had been only 18 escapes, a low rate attributed to tighter security and closer screening of inmates at the minimum security prison, which is unfenced.

Those measures, which were imposed following citizen protests against the number of escapes in 1983, have not been relaxed, officials stressed.

"We're continuing to do what we have been doing," one said. "The history has been that we have very few escapes during late fall and winter. This year has been different, and we don't know why. It's definitely unusual. Just maybe the mild weather so far this season has been a factor, but it's hard to say."

The Dec. 30 walk-aways were identified as Leonard Hafler, 21, of Wayne county, serving 2-10 years for armed robbery, and Vincent Fleck, 20, of Monroe, doing 3-10 years for breaking and entering.

The Jan. 1 escapees were Aaron Mahone, 20, 1-10 years for armed robbery, and Kip Beasley, 19, 32 months to four years for burglary. Both are from the Detroit area.

Procrastinating Robins Still Hanging Around

A Michigander's first sign of spring seems to have shown up months early this year, or more accurately, a number of robins seem to have remained in the area because of the unseasonal warm trend through December.

Herman Radloff, of 419 Madison, reported seeing approximately 20 robins around his bird feeder on Wednesday, Jan. 2. "I took pictures yesterday, thinking it might be a passing thing but they're back today," he commented. Radloff explained that he's been feeding the birds for years, but has never seen a robin in January in his whole life.

Jeff Green, wildlife biologist contacted through Waterloo Nature Center, verified and even seconded that observation, stating that in his seven years of watching his own bird feeders he's yet to see a robin so late into the winter, or hear reports of any in the area.

Green explained that robins are Michigan's most ubiquitous bird. That's biologist talk meaning that they are found in all kinds of habitats, making them especially adaptable. Not being especially fussy eaters, robins will survive on seeds and berries found in the area, as long as sources are available. More than likely, he suggested, the birds will migrate south now that the temperatures have dropped, but he added that it would be interesting, if they stay, to see how they fare through winter.

So what, at first wishful glance, appeared to be a sign that we would be spared the drabness and cold of January and February, turns out instead to be a simple case of procrastinating robins. It seems as if our familiar red-breasted friends will be moving onto a warmer and sunnier place, leaving us anxiously watching for their return in spring—minus this group of 20 who probably won't make it back until July.

The Consumer Information Catalog

You can get 16 pages—free—that will bring you almost 4,500 pages. The 16 pages make up the winter 1984-85 Consumer Information Catalog, and it lists more than 200 federal consumer publications you can send for.

They cover everything from flavoring your food with herbs to cooking your holiday turkey, from insulating your windows to saving energy at home and in your car, from choosing a lawyer to choosing life insurance. And best of all, most of the booklets are free or cost 50 cents.

The free Consumer Information Catalog is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration so it will always be current. It will help you be current, too.

So write for your free copy today. Just send your name and address to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. CAT, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Kiwanis Travel Film Slated Saturday

Saturday evening, Jan. 12, the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea will present its fourth program of the "Travel and Adventure Series" at 8 p.m. in the High School Auditorium.

Jim Forshee, a resident of Ann Arbor, will present "Passport to Paradise—Hawaii."

After graduating from Ford Trade School, Forshee entered the United States Marine Corps and served in Japan in the Pacific. While in the Marines, he became interested in photography as a hobby. After World War II, he entered the automobile industry as an engineer and worked for Ford Motor Co. for years.

During the last few years his hobby has become his major interest. He is now one of the top artists in the travelogue field. His dry sense of humor, his delightful presentation and the technical excellence of his films have entertained audiences from coast to coast.

The Hawaiian Islands are often called the "Paradise of the Pacific" for their beauty, their climate and for the warmth of their people. Hawaiians themselves are aware of their good fortune. They have a saying, "Hawaii no ka'oi" or "Hawaii is the best." Explore these special islands and see what all the excitement is about.

On Oahu see famed Waikiki Beach, Pearl Harbor and Diamond Head. Walk the black sands of Hawaii's Kona Coast and meander through fields of exotic orchids. Learn why Kauai is called the "Garden Island." Visit sugar cane and pineapple fields.

Here is a close-up of the Hawaiian Islands that will bring their unique color and interest to the screen. See spectacular beaches, swim in cool, clear surf. Explore the canyons and craters of these volcanic islands and learn about their exciting growth process.

Most of all, meet the Hawaiian people. Learn about their interesting culture and history. Their colorful clothing, delicious food and hospitable manner make them the perfect hosts. The easy-going and relaxed atmosphere of the Islands makes a visit there restful as well as fascinating.
