All Eight Posts In Village Election Go Uncontested

Except for the remote possibility that somebody may mount a write-in campaign, the March 11 village election was all over when the deadline for filing nominating petitions expired at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Eight offices are open, and eight candidates filed, one for each slot. They are:

Village trustees seeking two-year terms—Herman C. Radloff of 419 Madison St., Richard C. Steele of 211 Lincoln St. and Stephanie M. Kanten of 560 Chandler St. All are incumbents.

Village trustee seeking one-year term—Athel E. (Mac) Fulk of 405 Madison St. He is also an incumbent, having been appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Fred Harris early last year.

Village clerk (two-year term)—Evelyn Rosentreter of 527 Arthur St., incumbent.

Village treasurer (one-year term to fill a vacancy)—William E. Storey of 218 Jefferson St. An incumbent, he was appointed last year to fill a void left by the resignation of Mary Harris.

Library board of trustees (three-year terms)—John A. Groesser of 28 Sycamore Dr. (incumbent) and Anne E. Merkel of 158 Orchard St.

Mrs. Merkel's is the only new name on the list of candidates. She is running for the library board post being vacated by Jean L. Eaton, who did not seek reelection.

Mrs. Rosentreter certified all the nominating petitions as valid a few minutes after the filing deadline. All had the required minimum of 15 signatures of registered village voters, she said, and none contained more than the maximum number of 50. All but three, including her own, were received well ahead of the closing time.

Even though none of the offices will be contested on the printed ballot, the village must go ahead and hold the election as scheduled on Monday, March 11. That is the law.

"We will have to set up 10 voting machines and keep the polls open all day," said Mrs. Rosentreter, who will be in charge of arrangement for the election. "I suspect we will be lucky to have 100 ballots cast."

Village elections are conducted on a non-partisan basis.

Jean Eaton, 90, Honored By Family, Friends on Birthday

Jean Eaton, 160 E. Middle St., became 90 years old on Friday, Jan. 22. Mrs. Eaton's children returned to Chelsea to give a catered open house Saturday, Feb. 26 to celebrate the event.

Her children are Barbara of Detroit, David of Kalamazoo, and Robert of Jackson.

Many residents of Chelsea attended to express appreciation of the community contributions that Mrs. Eaton has made since becoming a Chelsea resident.

She was also honored with a Letter of Appreciation at the last Library Board meeting held Saturday, Jan. 23 in her home. Mrs. Eaton was recognized for 53 years of volunteer service.

When she moved to Chelsea in 1931 she was invited to join a newly formed Child Study Club, which later, when children were grown, became the Chelsea Woman's Club.

When plans were made by the group to start a library it was a project for which Mrs. Eaton was well suited. Though she later attended Olivet College, the financial strain of two siblings already attending college necessitated postponement of her education immediately following high school graduation. In search of a good job, and unable to find one, she finally found something she liked, she volunteered two summers at the Detroit Public Library.

There she acquired experience in how a library is operated and learned the skill which she claims served her so well later—that of keeping clear and complete records.

In spite of warnings by state officials that the project would fail if they depended entirely on volunteers, at the Jan. 18 meeting in 1932, the club formed a committee, of which Mrs. Eaton is an original member, to investigate the possibility of starting a library. That committee later became the present Library Board.

The library was started with 22 gift books from club members and 100 loaned from the State Library. The club was woefully poor and the depression ripped the country but the club managed to find way to raise money for their pet project. They held bake sales, card tournaments, puppet shows, benefit movies and also had "Give A Book" weeks to build the book collection. It wasn't until 1938 that the library became tax supported.

Dyed sheets were hung by the women to partition off an area for the library's original location in the store owned by the Palmer family which now houses an attorney's office on E. Middle St. Two members of the club were on duty each library period, three hours, two afternoons a week.

The women moved the library about four times to different locations before Catherine M. McKune willed the present building to the Woman's Club to use as a permanent home for their project.

If this history of community

contribution sounds like reason to be proud, the recognition Mrs. Eaton is receiving causes her much discomfort instead. She says that if there was never a camera or newspaper in the world she would still have been as involved as she's been because she has simply loved doing it. She loves books and education and feels that the project has been valuable. "It was never a job to me, I loved doing it," she said.

The end of her present three-year term on the board is coming up and she has already "sent the word" that she will not be running. Besides feeling somewhat restricted by her health she feels, "It's just a good time to leave and get some new members with new ideas."

February Weather Is Cold So Far

Following a record cold month of January, February began much the same way with below-zero temperatures on two of the first five days and single digits on two others.

Coldest recording of the week was 11 below early Sunday morning. Fortunately, winds stayed calm, and the wind-chills down to minus-60 which all but froze out the area two weeks ago didn't reoccur.

From Punxatawney, Pa., it was reported that the "official" groundhog, Punxatawney Phil, emerged briefly from his hole and dove back in before even looking for his shadow. It was that cold on Feb. 2, Groundhog Day.

That "forecast" of six more weeks of wintry weather was underscored by the predictions of

Neighborhood Watch Being Organized

An introductory meeting for neighborhood watch is being scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 13, 7:30 p.m. at the Dexter Township Hall, 6880 Dexter-Pinckney Rd.

A presentation on crime prevention with slides will be presented by Deputy Jack Brugger, crime prevention specialist for the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department. It is a program designed to educate citizens on local crime activity, how an organized program can help, and how to set one up.

The meeting will provide citizens a chance to ask questions and offer input. Anyone interested is welcome to attend with a special invitation extended by the Dexter township supervisor, James Drolet, to the Lake Home Owner's Association.

4 Years Ago . . .

Tuesday, Feb. 10, 1981—

Following the apparent misapplication or over-application of an Orkin-patented pesticide, Rick's Market voluntarily locked its doors Oct. 17 after customers complained of foul tasting and odorous foodstuffs. The market held a contractual agreement with Orkin for 10 years prior to the incident which resulted in a law suit.

The Chelsea Area Transportation System, more commonly known as CATS, faced bleak times. The system, which had been in operation for more than five years lost a $5,000 operating subsidy from the State of Michigan following drastic budget-cutting measures undertaken by Governor Milliken.

Lima Township residents joined to honor Trustee Harold L. Gross, retiring after 21 years. Gross planned to continue farming, to serve on the Township Appeals Board and to enjoy his grandchildren.

Legionnaires were very pleased with the results of the eighth annual Winter Carnival held at Cavanaugh Lake.

The failing state economy had its effect on the finances of the Chelsea School District. Most governmental units in the state were suffering from reduced shortfalls. K-12 education revenue from the state had been severely impacted.

The number of residential building and demolition permits recorded during the first six months of 1980 was the lowest number since 1968 when the collection of permit issuance began for the Southeastern Michigan seven-county region made up of Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair Shores, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

14 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Feb. 11, 1971—

If lack of sufficient interest persisted, "After Dinner Education," one of the many local benefits to Chelsea residents, would be lost. Officials at Washtenaw Community College indicated that classes offered through the Adult Education program for college credit would be discontinued if class enrollment continued to remain low.

Striking workers at the North American Rockwell plant returned to work following ratification of a three-year local and national contract on Sunday. About 150 workers were involved in the four-day strike in support of a national contract settlement between the company and the United Automobile Workers Amalgamated.

The former Dexter Township Hall, landmark of township government for a number of years, was sold to Walter Esch of Ann Arbor. Esch planned to move the building to a site on the south side of North Territorial Rd.

Building permit totals for the Village of Chelsea came to 73 for the past year, according to a report by the Washtenaw County Building department. Total number of building permits issued in Washtenaw county was 3,896, less those for Ypsilanti township which were not available at the time of its issuance.

A national program entitled "Operation Hog Lift" was launched by the National Farmers Organization, NFO, which was designed to raise the price of hogs for the commercial family farm. Operation Hog Lift worked under the principles of collective bargaining. Working through the national organization, farmer members of NFO were selling hogs together, as a lump contract, to better the price of hogs.

WHOM SHOULD I CALL AT THE TIME OF DEATH?

Many phone calls will have to be considered after the death of a member of the family. Here are the calls you should plan to make immediately.

Immediate family members—perhaps one or two could be placed and they in turn could call others. Your clergy person—he can provide spiritual support and sustenance to help you with the emotionally difficult tasks ahead. He will also work directly with the funeral director to assure that the funeral service meets all your needs.

Your funeral director—he will provide the necessary professional services required for proper disposition of the body. His services also include suggestions as a helpful guide to further calls that may need to be made.

Our services provide co-operative planning with clergy, fraternal and family members to make possible a funeral service that is personally planned for you.

Cigarette Tax Proposed for Anti-Crime Program

A program to use half of the 10 cents cigarette tax now going to retire the state's accumulated cash deficit for police and fire fighter aid in Detroit and at least 24 other cities with high crime rates and a low tax bases has been proposed by Rep. Morris Hood (D-Detroit).

The proposal is the second so far detailed that would earmark use of the dedicated cigarette tax once the accumulated deficit is retired and the tax revenue goes into the general fund.

Earlier, Senator Alan Cropsey (R-DeWitt) announced a plan to use the tax to develop a disease prevention program.

But, Hood said he had secured the support of House Speaker Gary Owen, Governor James Blanchard, the directors of the Departments of Management and Budget and Treasury, and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, so, "I hope this program will at least receive some portion of that tax."

Under the proposal, 5 cents of the 10 cents tax would go to the public safety program.

Cities would qualify for the program using a three-part formula that measured the index of serious crime in the area, the area's total state equalized valuation and the total tax burden on residents.

Hood said using that formula, some 25 to 29 cities in the state would qualify, including Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Benton Harbor, Marquette, Grand Rapids, Inkster, Warren and Southfield.

Residents of those cities are overtaxed, and often those that can afford to leave the area because of the tax rates, Hood said.

For example, after Detroit raised its city income tax to 3 percent on the residents and 1.5 percent on non-residents in 1981 it lost 19 percent of its taxpaying households in 1982.

Under the proposal, 33 percent, or $19 million, of the total raised by the tax would go to Detroit; 62 percent, or $35 million, would go to other qualifying cities and 5 percent, or $3 million, would be used in a discretionary fund administered by the executive office to provide public safety assistance for other non-qualifying cities that need help.

The money would be used primarily for maintaining police and fire department personnel, Hood said.

Along with helping provide greater protection to residents, the proposal could help spur economic development by making people feel more confident about the areas affected, he said.

Milliken Endorses Great Lakes Charter

Former Governor William Milliken, as chairman of the Center for the Great Lakes, has endorsed a proposed Great Lakes Charter under review by the region's governors.

Milliken called the proposed charter, which provides policies to resist water diversions, a "precedent-setting document."

Governor James Blanchard has not yet announced his position on the charter, which has been criticized by groups such as the Michigan United Conservation Clubs as being too weak.

In a letter in support of the charter, Milliken said the proposal marks "the first time 10 governments commit to consultation and long-term co-operative management on decisions affecting Great Lakes water withdrawals."

It would establish a long-term water resources plan including a policy that no diversions will be allowed if they would have any significant adverse impact on lake levels, in-basin uses and the Great Lakes ecosystem. It would also call for research into the effects of diversions and consumption.

The policy is under consideration by the governors of the Great Lakes states and the Canadian provinces of Quebec and Ontario.

Gasoline Price Pattern Has Some Exceptions to 'Rules'

A Chelsea Shell gasoline dealer took exception to a sentence in a story in last week's Standard which said, in part, that "many so-called 'name brand' stations (Amoco, Shell and Mobil, among others) are offering substantial discounts for payment in cash rather than by credit card."

"Shell stations do not offer cash discounts," said a spokesman for Broderick's Tower Shell, 1630 S. Main St. "We charge one price, whether for cash or credit. That is the policy of Shell Oil Co., and dealers in this area who sell Shell gasoline observe it."

The reporter who wrote the story had purchased gas from a Shell station (not in the Chelsea area) a few days earlier and had received a four-cents-a-gallon cash discount. The lower price for cash wasn't posted on the pump or on advertising signs, but was given, at the cash register in response to an inquiry if it was available.

The station is competing with others close by that are advertising the discounts. "We aren't supposed to do this, (the discount), but we have to compete," the operator of that station said. "The market around here is very, very tough right now, and it's getting tougher all the time. You do what you have to do to stay competitive, or else you go out of business."

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Smith

Methodist Home Couple Wed at Dexter Gospel Church

Horace Smith, 82, and Julie Janet Russell, 80, were married Jan. 16, by the Rev. John O'Dell at the Dexter Gospel church. Both are residents of the Methodist Retirement Home in Chelsea.

Julie Janet Smith, born Julie Janet Cole in Saginaw, has lived in the Home for about one year. She has one son, Tommy Amydon, who lives in Jackson, two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Horace Smith, born in Napoleon, lived on Chelsea-Dexter Rd. until an illness forced him to move to the Home a year ago. He was one of 13 children, has one daughter, Patricia Gilmore and one son, Horace, Jr., who live in Denver, Colo. He has six grandchildren and "at last count," 10 great-grandchildren.

Horace retired from Chrysler Corp., and Julie from the household staff of the late Congressman Alvin Bentley.

When Julie talks of her home in Owosso, and two rental houses in Durand, Horace smiles widely and says, "You can see why I married her, can't ya?" The couple does lots of laughing and joking and claim to have found much comfort in each other.

They jokingly describe completing the necessary wedding arrangements as "heroics." Two trips to Ann Arbor were required to obtain a marriage license and ring, and plans had to be made to travel to Dexter for the ceremony which was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Dorlon L. Pond of Dexter.

In spite of discouragement received from some and the loss of some social security benefits, Horace and Julie were determined to marry. It is an institution in which they both strongly believe and are very happy with each other.

Their marriage is the second to take place between residents at the Home, the only other taking place in 1905, the year of Julie's birth.

Citizens Trust Reports Growth of 16.1% in Assets

Citizens Trust reported net income for the year ending Dec. 31, 1984 of $1,768,000, compared with $1,544,000 for 1983. This represents an increase of 14.5%.

Total assets stood at $267,840,000 on Dec. 31, 1984 versus $230,542,000 at the end of 1983, an increase of 16.1%.

Total loans at year end were $147,851,000, 23.3% over the 1983 level of $119,915,000.

The year 1984 was the first year of consolidated operations following the merger of the Citizens Bank of Saline and the Ann Arbor Trust Co. into Citizens Trust, which took effect at the close of business on Dec. 31, 1983.

"It was a year of good growth in assets, substantial increase in our outstanding loan portfolio and reasonable growth in earnings," noted George H. Cress, president and chief executive officer of Citizens Trust. "With the exception of the uncertainty surrounding federal spending we approach 1985 with confidence," he added.

Prince Christopher Seeks Glass Slippers

Royal Prince Christopher is searching desperately for a pair of glass slippers for his soon-to-be bride, Cinderella.

These shoes needn't necessarily be glass, but they must be acrylic, plastic, or any other clear material. These shoes must be size 9, with a low or medium-low heel.

The Prince has issued a reward of two tickets to the finder of said shoes, to his upcoming celebration at the Chelsea High School Auditorium on Feb. 21, 22, and 23 at 8 p.m.

Please contact his royal servant, Sir Douglas Beaumont at 475-2003 if you have any information regarding the whereabouts of the famed size 9 glass-like slippers.

Because No One Cares More About Our Employees Than We Do

During February, all U-M employees have the chance to sign up for the medical insurance plan of their choice... and we think the best choice is M-CARE.

M-CARE is Michigan's Own Family Health Plan... The only plan that's delivered through the University of Michigan Medical Center and the only one designed specifically for U-M employees and their families.

MORE COVERAGE...
M-CARE offers you the same coverage you're already receiving... plus more. The diagram shows just a few of M-CARE'S broad range of services. And, since you keep your Blue Cross/Blue Shield card, your hospital coverage remains constant no matter where you are.

MORE CHOICES...
M-CARE physicians specialize in the personalized, primary care your family needs. But, you're not limited to primary care. You always have access to the resources of the entire University of Michigan Medical Center, including its 110 specialty clinics.

You're also not limited to University physicians. If a member of your family has a special doctor they'd like to continue seeing, that's okay. You're covered through your major medical.

MORE CONVENIENCE...
M-CARE sites are in the heart of the University of Michigan campus. M-CARE is also available at the Brighton Health Center, the Chelsea Family Practice Center and through 33 community pediatricians.

AT NO EXTRA COST
The best part of M-CARE is the cost... which is no more than your present Blue Cross/Blue Shield/TIAA plan.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

The subject of medical care costs came to mind when I called Gene LaFave last week to congratulate him and his wife, Dr. Patricia LaFave, on the birth of their daughter. I didn't ask Gene what the bill was for bringing Mary Kathryn into the world at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital because it's none of my business.

I have a pretty good idea, however, because my grandson was born at the same hospital 18 months ago. The cost of that fourth birth, with no complications, was more than $2,400, and I suggest that is ridiculous to the point of being outrageous, a rip-off.

Back in 1952 our first daughter, Mary, was born at University Hospital. My wife had been taken care of on a private-practice basis by the chief of the department of obstetrics and gynecology. She had made perhaps a dozen pre-natal visits starting from the time she was diagnosed as being pregnant. She stayed in the hospital eight days, during which she attended many hours of classes to learn how to care for her baby. I went to a couple of them, because new fathers were supposed to know something, too. She made three post-natal visits as part of the service.

I didn't know quite what to expect when I stepped up to the window to settle the cost on the day that Vivian and Mary were discharged and allowed to come home. I had some cash in my billfold and some money in my checking account.

What I got was a bill for $303. The first $300 was marked "paid." It was the amount of the maternity care benefit stipulated in my Blue Cross-Blue Shield group insurance policy. The other $3 was for the state birth registration fee, which I had to pay out of my own pocket. Believe me, I've never been happier to fork over three dollar bills.

Three years later, Linda was born. This time Vivian was in the hospital for seven days. Otherwise, the services were the same, and so was the bill—$303. Again, my only out-of-pocket cost was three bucks to register the birth.

When grandson David was born in July of 1983, mother and baby were in the hospital for just three days. There were no extras of any kind. The $2,400-plus tab was almost all covered from the combined benefits of two health insurance policies.

Granted, the cost of living has gone up a lot during the past 30 years, but it sure hasn't increased by 800 percent. If you factor in the shortened hospital stay—from 7-8 days down to three—you are looking at a better than 1,000 percent rise in the price of having a baby.

Four years ago I had two separate operations to remove cataracts from both eyes. If my eyes were dim before the surgeries—and they were—they were opened wide by the four-page itemized bills I read, amounting to better than $2,500 each.

I found out for example, that I was charged more than $225 a day for an uncomfortable bed in a semi-private room and three meals that were less than gourmet, to put it charitably. Look, I can go to some of the best hotels in the world and eat in some of the greatest restaurants for less than that, and have my wife with me to share the room and food.

When I got down to the bottom of those long lists of fine print, I discovered that I was charged five-dollars-and-something each for several dosages of two aspirin tablets, a drug I dislike and don't voluntarily take very often because it upsets my stomach. You can buy a bottle of aspirin at any drugstore for less than $2.

I questioned the charge and was told, "It was a prescribed medicine. You had to have it." Like heck I did, especially in the middle of the night when a nurse woke me up and made me swallow the stuff, along with a pill that was supposed to make me go back to sleep. The sleeping pills cost extra, about $4 extra for each one.

I have no reason to complain financially. All costs were covered by the pre-paid medical insurance I received as a state employee. That fringe benefit will remain in effect for the rest of my life and will, I suspect, eventually prove more valuable than my pension.

My dad recently underwent prostate surgery at Ford Hospital in Detroit. The charge was more than $6,000 and he didn't have any complications. He was in and out in a week.

Medicare plus private insurance paid the bill. He walked out of the hospital a "free" man, owing nobody anything.

I cite those examples simply to suggest that the costs of medical care have become preposterous. If you don't have insurance, you might better just go ahead and die, because you probably won't be able to pay the price for getting well.

Last winter I caught a touch of pneumonia. It was cured with the help of a $125 prescription for a small bottle of antibiotic capsules. Again, insurance paid the shot. The doctor who prescribed the medicine later apologized, saying he didn't realize it cost that much.

The medical care professionals and their allies are taking advantage of our reliance on insurance to pay the price of staying healthy. There is something awfully rotten in the system somewhere.

Story of 'Cinderella' Has Many Versions

Chelsea High school will present Rodgers and Hammerstein's musical fantasy "Cinderella" on Feb. 21, 22, and 23 at 8 p.m. at the Chelsea High school auditorium.

This family oriented musical is based on the classic fairy tale of the same name. The specific origins of "Cinderella" are unknown, because there are several stories and fables resembling the basic story line.

The earliest of these stories dates 850-880 A.D., after the Ch'in and Han dynasties, in which a cave-master called Woo has two daughters one by each of his wives. The first daughter, Yeh-hsien, is treated poorly by Woo's second wife, and lives a life of remorse. Yeh-hsien's only respite from her pain is a magic fish which grants her every wish.

In 1634, the first European fable that resembled "Cinderella" was the Italian, "La Gatta Cenerentola" (The Hearth Cat). In this story, Zozola is a less than captivating character who murders her step-mother and persuades her father to marry her governess. Much to her dismay, however, her governess is the mother of six daughters, all of whom Zozola is placed beneath in status. Much as the fairy godmother is Cinderella's rescue, a date tree is the magical element in this fable.

There were once a pair of brothers whom we know as the Brothers Grimm, whose version of "Cinderella" is "Ashenputtel," which was translated into English in 1826. The details of this story are much the same as the others in that her father was widowed and remarried to a horrible woman with two daughters of the same genre. Ashenputtel suffered the same fate as the other Cinderellas, but she too has an advocate, a hazel branch which was planted at her mother's grave proved magical, and sent Ashenputtel to the "kirk," or ball. The step-sisters in Grimm's tale suffer a far worse plight than in most stories, which we will refrain from discussing. (Come on, this is a family show.)

The version that most closely resembles the "American" version of "Cinderella" is the French tale written by Charles or Pierre Perrault in 1697 entitled "Rashin Coatie." In this story, Rashin Coatie receives from her mother a red calf, which is to grant her every wish. This is how she escapes her evil step-mother and nasty step-sisters to attend the prince's ball.

The Chelsea High school version (circa 1985) is an enchanting tale of a beautiful Cinderella (Karen Moore), and a dashing Prince Charming (Christopher Herter), who by the powers of love and magic fall in love and live happily ever after. The only thing preventing their happiness is the step-family. In this interpretation, the step-sisters, Joy (Allison Brown), and Portia (Susan Nye) are cruel, yet hysterically funny. Not to be outdone, the step-mother (Amy Wolfgang), is a coddling, pampering woman who thinks the world of her darling (not really) daughters.

Tickets for "Cinderella" are available at the Chelsea Pharmacy. Performances of "Cinderella" are Feb. 21, 22, and 23 at 8 p.m. at Chelsea High school auditorium.

Area Mothers March Extended into February

Through the leadership of three dynamic women, Kathy Adams, of WJBK TV 2, honorary chair of the March of Dimes for Southeast Michigan, Millie Schembechler, honorary chair of the March of Dimes for Washtenaw/Livingston counties, and Jan Loader, director of the March of Dimes for the Washtenaw/Livingston Unit, more than 28,000 marchers have volunteered to go to their neighbors in the Washtenaw/Livingston counties area for support of the March of Dimes efforts to fight against birth defects.

The Mothers March began as a family-to-family appeal in 1951 and has continued to conduct a successful campaign for funds every year since then.

In 1984 the Mothers March in Washtenaw/Livingston counties raised $60,500.

The Southeastern Michigan

division of the March of Dimes rates as Number 1 in the United States in Mothers March fund raising, proving, once again, that Michigan has some of the most caring and giving citizens in the nation.

Ms. Adams, Schembechler and Loader are pleased to announce that 1,079 marchers volunteered from Ann Arbor, 448 from Ypsilanti, 153 from Saline, 182 from Brighton, 118 from Chelsea, 90 from Dexter, 8 from Hamburg, 15 from Lakeland, 49 from Manchester, 122 from Milan, 69 from Pinckney, 35 from Whitmore Lake, 45 from Fowlerville, 137 from Howell, 1 from Oak Grove, 33 from Hartland, and 4 from Cohoctah.

Because of the inclement weather The Mothers March has been extended into February.

JUST REMINISCING

Items taken from the files of The Chelsea Standard

24 Years Ago . . .

Protestant women of Chelsea planned to join with others throughout the world in special recognition of the 75th anniversary of the World Day of Prayer, traditionally observed on the first Friday of Lent.

Cub Scouts of Den VI were presented with "50th Anniversary" awards at a meeting at the home of den mother, Mrs. Vernon Parks. This is a permanent award and should be transferred to the Boy Scout uniform when Cub Scouts advance to Boy Scout rank. This was an achievement award scouts were offered in 1960.

Honors for reporting the first robin sighted in Chelsea for 1961 went to Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Burg, I. They spotted the lone redbreast at the feeding station at the rear of their home on Wilkinson St.

"The Republican Record and Our Role and Mission for Success" was the title of an address by Congressman Gerald R. Ford, Jr., Fifth Congressional District of Michigan, before the Washtenaw county Lincoln Day dinner. The affair was held at the grand ballroom of the University of Michigan Union in Ann Arbor.

Two hundred acres of rolling farmland and woods along a chain of lakes in Livingston county were acquired by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council for use as a new camp site. The property was located 12 miles north of Howell on Hogan Rd. with lake frontage on Lewis and Twin Lakes. The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council was in its third year and comprised all of Livingston, Washtenaw and the western part of Wayne counties.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Feb. 15, 1951—

Superintendent of Schools, Albert C. Johnson, announced that the Mobile TB X-ray unit, sponsored by the Washtenaw county Health Department, would be at the high school.

The so-called "death stretch" on US-12 west of Ann Arbor from Maple Rd. to Parker Rd. became a marked speed control zone. The establishment of a maximum speed limit of 50 miles per hour on this portion of the highway had been sought by county officials for some time because of the large numbers of accidents which had occurred there.

The $4,000,000 fire which raged in the State Office Building at Lansing last week destroyed many valuable records of the Michigan State Highway Department. Although feared by many, the North Main St. pavement and bridge project would not be effected in any way.

A communication presented to the Board of Supervisors by the Washtenaw County Planning Commission, requested that supervisors pass a resolution carrying suggestions that the Commission act in pushing the matter of having the county declared a critical defense housing area. Because of the critical housing situation in the county, the probable increase in population and employment due to speeding up defense programs, the need to know more about the "mystery project" area near Chelsea and its possible impact on village and surrounding townships was important, officials felt.

Manchester's Theodore Uphaus who had been shearing sheep for the past 50 years travelled to Lansing to demonstrate the kind of shearing done 50 years ago when he first began to shear with blade shears. Back in those days he did 13 sheep at seven cents a head as a beginner, peaking in 1904 when he clipped the wool from 40 sheep in one day at the astounding price of 20 cents per head. In 1950 Uphaus took second place in shearing competition at the Michigan State Fair.

Harold Trinkle Honored As 'Farmer of the Year'

Harold Trinkle received the sixth annual "Farmer of the Year" award presented by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

Trinkle, who presides over a large agricultural operation in Lima township with the participation of three sons and a daughter and son-in-law, has been a life-time farmer in the area.

He is president of the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau and a member of the Lima Township Planning Commission, and is also president of St. Andrew's United Church of Christ, Dexter.

Kiwanian William Rademacher, who presented the award to Trinkle, called him "one of the real nice people in this world, an outstanding man. We try to select persons who are not only good farmers but also good citizens, and Harold Trinkle certainly qualifies on both counts."

"He is so busy in community and church service activities that I have to wonder how he finds time to farm. He conducts an excellent farm operation as the leader of a family enterprise. He was born in 1925, married Lois Parker 20-years later, moved half a mile down the road, and has lived and worked there ever since. He's a great asset to the community."

"We don't give farmers enough credit for what they do for us in our society, and I'm proud to have a part in this Chelsea Kiwanis recognition program.

"Why don't you list the five previous winners? They all deserve to be recognized again."

Here is the list: Reuben Lesser, Sr., Sylvester Weber, Carl Heller

(deceased), Joe Merkel, Sr., and Fred G. Klink, Sr.

"They all have lived and worked hard in the Chelsea area, and have contributed a lot to it," Rademacher said. "We're indebted to them."

Laura Koepele Selected For Scholarship Competition

LAURA KOEPELE

Laura Koepele has joined Rodney Satterthwaite as a finalist in the Michigan State University Distinguished Alumni Scholarship competition. Tests will be given on the East Lansing campus Friday and Saturday, Feb. 8-9.

When Satterthwaite's nomination was announced in The Standard on Jan. 16, the story stated that Satterthwaite was the only Chelsea High school student to be invited to take the tests. That was true at the time.

"I don't know why they (MSU) waited two more weeks to notify us that Laura had been accepted," high school guidance counselor Gene LaFave said. "Laura and Rodney are both very fine young people, outstanding students, citizens and achievers. They are excellent representatives of our school, and we are extremely proud of both of them."

Laura, who turned 18 on Jan. 31, is the daughter of John and Frances Koepele of 14020 Waters Rd., the youngest of five children. She has maintained a 3.7 academic average while participating in a variety of extracurricular and service activities.

She is a fine musician, plays the flute and piccolo in the band and orchestra, was nominated for the McDonald's All-American

Band, and this year is president of the Chelsea band organization. Laura has been on the debate team for three years and will be active in forensics (public speaking) for a third season this spring. She is treasurer of the Chelsea chapter of the National Honor Society and has represented the community at Wolverine Girls State.

Her activities also include giving flute lessons to younger musicians and service on the Parish Council and Liturgy Commission of St. Mary's Catholic church.

She played basketball for two years but gave it up last fall "because I just got too busy and needed to create a little more time for myself. I was spread too thin, trying to do too much."

Laura has been accepted for admission to Michigan State and plans to go there regardless of how she fares in the scholarship tests. Winners will receive financial awards to help pay their college costs.

"I really didn't seriously consider any other university," Laura said, "because MSU is the only place I want to go. It has a strong program in communications, and that will be my major. It also has an outstanding program in music, and I want to continue with music. Besides, it's a beautiful campus, and all the other members of my family have gone there."

Her career goal is to work in the field of communications, either journalism or public relations. "Deep down, I have an ambition to be a television news anchor," Laura confided, "I know that is a very competitive field, but I want to try."

Laura considers her academic strengths to be English and the social sciences but adds that she has "improved a lot" in math and science as she has progressed through high school.

"I know the scholarship tests will cover all subjects and that they will be difficult. I'll go to East Lansing and do the best I can."

Her best so far has been very good indeed.

Swamp Walk Slated from Park Lyndon

The word "swamp" may conjure up thoughts of dark murky water and moss enshrouded trees.

Sunday, Feb. 10, 10 a.m. to 12 p.m., you can find out how different a northern swamp is. Washtenaw County Parks naturalist Matt Heumann is taking people on an Embury Swamp Crossing.

This interpretive walk will take you "right through the heart of a northern hardwood swamp," says Heumann.

Embury Swamp is in a cool depression in WCPARC's Park Lyndon North. Many of the plants found there are "typical of cool northern boreal forests." In Michigan these plant communities exist only in similar isolated pockets.

The vegetation "ranges from a dogwood swamp with thick colonies of red osier dogwood and silky dogwood to stands of tamarack and ends in mature stands of mixed wetland hardwoods such as yellow birch, black ash, and tulip tree," says Heumann.

This walk will give people a chance to see the habitats of white-tailed deer and ruffed grouse. You will also see a "gorgeous little winding creek," Lady Slipper Creek, the source of most of the water in Embury Swamp.

You should be advised that once you have started the walk you will not have an opportunity to leave the group early so you should dress for two hours in the (Continued on page eight)

Lima Township Supr. Names Board of Review

Isella Bauer, Lima township supervisor, appointed the board of review members to serve the township at Monday night's township board meeting, Feb. 4.

Accepting the bid to serve on the board of review are William VanRiper, Harold Eisemann, and Marie Boone. Mrs. Bauer explained it was her thinking that VanRiper represented the farmers, Eisemann the Chelsea village residents, and Ms. Boone, both groups.

The supervisor also appointed a pair of representatives to the Lima township Planning Commission at Monday's meeting.

In other business before the board, Supervisor Bauer said township representatives will be meeting with people from several other townships, as well as from the village of Dexter, to discuss their proposed area-wide fire department contract, in the near future. Most other matters were of a routine nature, added Mrs. Bauer.

In 1983, about 65 percent of all part-time workers were women, according to "20 Facts on Women Workers," published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

VALUE

While Everything Else Is Changing In Health Care, One Thing Should Remain The Same

Choosing a medical care plan can be a little confusing these days. With so many options it's hard to know which offers the best value.

McAuley Health Plan is new but firmly believes in a very old-fashioned definition of value. That definition includes reasonable cost, of course. But more important, it includes the qualities that people really want in their health care plan.

First, you have to have the doctors. Over 280 primary and specialty care physicians participate in McAuley Health Plan. They are established professionals whose offices are conveniently located right here in Washtenaw and Western Wayne Counties. As a plan member you can select a primary care physician nearby who will see you in his or her office—not a clinic. And it is very likely your present doctor is already an MHP participant.

Next, McAuley Health Plan is a full-service HMO. That means you pay just $5.00 for a doctor's office visit and nothing more for the exams, tests, x-rays, immunizations and other primary care services that are not ordinarily covered by conventional insurance. You're fully covered for hospitalization and the services of specialists.

You have convenient access to local hospitals and outpatient centers such as St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mercywood Hospital, Saline Community Hospital, Chelsea Community Hospital, Maple Health Building in Ann Arbor and Arbor Health Building in Plymouth. In an emergency you are covered at any hospital anywhere in the world.

Finally, McAuley Health Plan is simple and easy to use. There are no deductibles, no hidden costs, no surprise bills and no forms to fill out when you see the doctor. You receive the kind of care and coverage you need without red tape or hassle.

U-M Employees, Enroll Now

Open enrollment in McAuley Health Plan for U-M employees ends February 28, 1985. Don't miss this opportunity to start getting some old-fashioned value in your health care coverage. Act now. For more information, telephone us at 572-4200. Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

POSTAL SYSTEM STUDIED: Chelsea's assistant postmaster, William Brenner, and teacher, Marie Crouch, address South Elementary school students about the stamp selecting process and how stamps are produced during the January unit on the U.S. Postal Service. This launched a stamp collecting project to be housed in the school media center.

STAMP COLLECTIONS DISPLAY: Generous community members shared stamp collections with South school students to enable them to view stamps during a study unit on the postal system.

The personal collections offered inspiration to the students who continue to collect stamps for a learning aid at the school.

South School Students Study U. S. Postal System

Students at South Elementary school spent the last week in January studying about the U.S. Postal Service and stamp collecting. All students viewed a movie on the stamp selection process and how the actual stamps are produced.

Kindergartners, first, and second graders listened to guest speaker Mrs. Bobbie Sanderson, mother of a South school student and a clerk at the Grass Lake Post Office, as she explained the duties of her job.

Third, fourth, and fifth graders listened to guest speaker William Brenner, assistant postmaster of the Chelsea Post Office.

Several local residents loaned their stamp collections to the school for display in the showcase. Collections came from Marie and Nicky Kramer, Brooke Pitts, and Carmen Smith, all South school students. Becky Pryor brought in her father's collection and Matt and Lindsay Gaken brought in their Aunt Annette Houle's collection. Bill Chandler, high school teacher, Robert Benedict, principal at South school, and Mrs. Thornton, mother-in-law of JoAnn Thornton, also provided collections for the students to view.

All students are contributing stamps to a collection which will be kept in the Media Center for students to view.

South school would appreciate receiving stamps, especially foreign ones, to add to the school's collection. This will be used when students study foreign countries. It will enable them to view portraits of foreign leaders, see examples of foreign words, and study foreign art. Students may also use this to study U.S. history.

This unit was co-ordinated through the efforts of Laurel McDonald, media specialist, and Marie Crouch, teacher for the gifted and talented.

Warrant Out On Charge of Molestation

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a Gregory man on a charge of sexually molesting a nine-year-old Chelsea girl.

The suspect in the case was identified by sheriff's department detective Paul Wade as a 40-year-old resident of Hankerd Rd. Wade said he expected the man to surrender voluntarily.

The incident allegedly occurred when the victim was an overnight guest in the accused's home, Wade said. He is continuing to investigate to determine if there may have been other occurrences of the same sort involving the man.

"You would be surprised to know how common this (sexual abuse of children) is around here," Wade said. "It didn't used to be reported because the victims were afraid to talk, and so we couldn't get evidence and make arrests."

"There has been a lot of publicity about this problem recently, and the victims and their parents are more willing to report and talk about it. It's not the kind of thing I enjoy investigating, because it's a 'sick' sort of crime, but we need to put an end to it. I'll welcome any information that will help us find people who may be involved."

Swamp Walk

cold. Supportive and warm footwear is needed because the walk will be off-trail and the ground is hummocky. You will be traveling through dense vegetation, including some poison sumac. You may want to bring along something warm to drink. Heumann recommends this hike to people 13 and older.

This walk will not be cancelled unless there is a declared snow emergency. Meet in the parking lot in Park Lyndon North, one mile east of M-52 on North Territorial Rd.

For more information call WCPARC at 973-2575, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Cold Weather Doesn't Deter Derby Anglers

It was mighty cold out on the ice of Cavanaugh Lake last week-end during the American Legion Winter Carnival, but some hardy anglers fought off the weather and won prizes in the fishing derby.

Adult winners were: Panfish—Mike Borden, first and second, Dale Scriptor, third. Perch—Mike Borden, Mark Balze, Ed Blissick. Pike—Lloyd Hafner, Mike Borden, Charles Stapish. Youth division winners were: Panfish—John Beeman, Don Bollinger, Damon McLaughlin. Perch—Kevin Hafner, Christine McLaughlin, Adam Tillman.

Winners in the drawing for prizes at the conclusion of the carnival were:

Dorothy Frayer, quarter of beef; Steve Kontos, dinner for two at the Woodshed; Sonya Wackenhut, bottle of liquor; D. Feldkamp, bottle of wine.

The carnival was well attended despite the sub-zero weather.

Most of the participants stayed inside the Legion post home. An overflow crowd turned out for the Sunday afternoon dance, which was followed by the prize awards. The two-night euchre tournament again proved popular.

NEW PATROL CAR: Chief Len McDougall shows off the new Chevrolet Impala obtained by the Chelsea police department and put into operation last week. The new cruiser is a dark gray four-door model and was purchased for $11,700.

Police Department Puts New Car into Service

A brand-new Chevrolet Impala went into service for the Chelsea police department last week as the replacement for a patrol car wrecked in a New Year's Eve accident on M-52 south of the village.

The dark gray four-door model was bought for $11,700 from the Oakland County Purchasing Agency.

The Chevrolet represents something of a switch for the department, which in recent years has been using Chrysler products, mostly Plymouths. The wrecked car was a Dodge.

"The new car is a good one. It meets all of our specifications, and the price was competitive. Maybe most important, it was available without a long wait for delivery," chief Len McDougall said.

He explained that the Oakland County Purchasing Agency buys vehicles for all government units in that county "and just happened to have an extra one on hand when we needed it. They're not in the business of selling cars, and would have used this one eventually. They agreed to sell it to us, and I'm happy that they did."

McDougall said a car loaned to the village by the Washtenaw county sheriff's department as a temporary has been returned, with grateful thanks. The car was provided without charge except for actual operating costs while in village service.

Two Chelsea Students On Dean's List at Northern Michigan

The Dean's List for Northern Michigan University's fall semester, which ended Dec. 15, includes 961 undergraduates.

Among the undergraduates receiving a 4.0 average were Kenneth Copley, 252 Park, and Dianne Desmyther, 1285 Sugar Loaf Lake, both of Chelsea.

CONSTRUCTION UNDERWAY: The footings are in and above-ground work has started on the Village Professional Center on S. Main St. immediately north of an entry drive into Chelsea Community Hospital. The $700,000 building will house five medical and dental office suites.

Fowlerville Pair Nabbed, Suspected In 15 Burglaries

Two men suspected of committing 15 burglaries in Washtenaw, Jackson and Ingham counties have been arrested and are awaiting court hearings on charges of breaking and entering.

County sheriff's department detective Paul Wade identified the pair as Randy B. Terrill, 25, and Vincent E. Corrin, 21, both of Fowlerville.

The two were caught in a helicopter-aided chase while fleeing the scene of an Ingham county break-in, Wade said. Investigation to date has linked them to at least two Washtenaw county burglaries, he added.

Ingham authorities are handling the prosecution.

Bamboo is not a tree. It is a wood grass.

Bulldogs Win Thriller Over Saline; David Steinhauer Sparkles

By Bill Mullendore

It was one helluva basketball game that Chelsea won, 52-50, last Friday night here over arch-rival Saline.

This reporter has played some ball and has watched thousands of games at all levels from junior high to pro. For sheer intensity and excitement, this was one of the best, a classic of its kind.

The Bulldogs won it on a short jumper by senior co-captain David Steinhauer with the clock down to two seconds. Saline inbounded the ball and put up a last-second Hail Mary heave that didn't miss by a whole lot.

It was that kind of ball game all the way.

Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter called it "a team victory," and he was right in the sense that every Bulldog who got into the game contributed something. They were fired up and determined to find a way to beat a team that was bigger and quicker, and they did.

The difference in the game was Steinhauer, whose game-leading 24 points included 14-of-17 from the free throw line, all in clutch situations when he just plain had to put the ball through the hoop to keep his team in contention.

It was as fine a display of sheer guts under pressure as this observer has seen in a long time.

Part of Saline's game plan seemed to be to rough up Steinhauer, although maybe it just looked that way. He took some knocks as hard as any he absorbed in football last fall, and kept picking himself up off the floor, shaking off the hurts, and canning free throws. Steinhauer plays tough, and trying to intimidate him is not a good idea.

His game-winning shot was an inspired individual effort. With 22 seconds left and the score tied at 50, Bulldog coach Rahn Rosentreter called a time-out and set up a play designed to get the ball to Steinhauer for a last shot.

The play went awry, but Steinhauer did get the ball in a heavy-traffic scramble with eight seconds to go. He looked to pass to an open teammate, saw no opportunity, then drove for the basket and put up a soft eight-footer which barely cleared the rim and fell in.

Give a lot of credit, too, to Keith Niebauer, who was a bull under the boards while snatching balls from taller foes. He had 10 points including three field goals converted off offensive rebounds.

Guards Ken Martin and Eric Schaffner ran the deliberately slowed-down Chelsea offense from the backcourt with calm efficiency despite the Hornets' efforts to press and harass them. Saline wanted to get into a running game, and the Bulldogs wouldn't let them do it.

THE JOY OF VICTORY: It was near bedlam on the floor of the Chelsea gym following last Friday night's 52-50 victory over Saline. No. 32 is Todd Doering. "JoAnn" is cheerleader JoAnn. The girl at right is probably Shelly Boham, and up on top looks to be Tony Hammerschmidt. From there on, it's anybody's guess as to who's who.

Mark Bareis, John Jedele, Ray Spencer and Todd Doering all helped out as Rosentreter used only seven players in the contest while Saline coach Ken Sippell was shuttling 10 boys on and off the floor.

In the end the Bulldogs won with hard-nosed defense and fine shooting from the foul line, a combination that has been working well for them all season.

Saline hit 20 of 48 shots from the field, a good 42 percent, while Chelsea was sinking 17 of 36, an even better 47 percent. The Bulldogs were 18 of 27 on free throws to Saline's 10 of 14.

As might be expected, Sippell protested what he called one-sided officiating in favor of the home team. It wasn't. It was one of the better-refereed high school games that this reporter has seen in the past couple of years. The Hornets dug themselves into foul trouble with their pressure defense which produced some turn-overs but also drew a lot of whistles.

Saline is something of an enigma. At times the Hornets played extremely well, which they were supposed to do as a state-ranked team favored to run away and hide from everybody else in the Southeastern Conference. They built up six-point leads three times and appeared to be in control, only to relax and give the scrappy Bulldogs the opportunity to come back. Chelsea never led by more than two, the final margin of victory.

The visitors sank their first three floor shots, all from long range, and looked like they might make the game a run-away. Chelsea clawed back to a 12-11 lead, then lost it as Saline earned a one-point edge at the quarter, 15-14.

Again the Bulldogs fought from behind and took a 29-28 edge into the locker room at intermission.

"I told the boys at half-time that if we could stay close, we would beat them in the last minutes," Rosentreter said, and that is exactly what happened.

The Hornets came out storming at the start of the second half, opened up another six-point gap and looked to be in charge. The Bulldogs rallied once again to knot the score at 41-all at the end of three periods to set the stage for the wild fourth quarter which left the near-capacity crowd limp as the lead changed hands with virtually every shot.

Chelsea had lost to Saline by 24 points earlier in the season and, on paper, didn't stand much of a chance in the rematch.

Chelsea Residents Compete in Nordic Cross-Country Ski Race

Twelve Chelsea area residents joined 925 skiers Saturday, Feb. 2 to compete in the ninth annual Subaru White Pine Stampede Nordic Cross-Country Ski Race in Mancelona.

Among those completing the 20 kilometer race and receiving medals were Dennis Barb, Jeff and Greg Garen, John, Mary, Chandra and Clay Hurd, Willard Robert and Brandon Murrell, and Jennifer Cattell.

HE PLAYS TALL: Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter has called David Steinhauer (40) "the tallest 5-10 forward I've ever seen," and Steinhauer shows why as he goes high off the floor to make a lay-up.

KEITH NIEBAUER was a big bunch of muscle and strength against Saline, repeatedly grabbing rebounds and connecting for key baskets.

Bulldogs Survive Northwest Scare

Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter was concerned that his team might be a little stale after a weather-forced two-week layoff, and he proved to be right.

The Bulldogs finally got back into action a week ago Tuesday night, traveling to Jackson Northwest. They had blown out Northwest, 62-38, here two weeks earlier and didn't figure to have much trouble in the rematch.

The second game was a lot closer, and Chelsea had to struggle to come away with a 41-30 victory, raising their season record to 8-3 going into key games against Saline and Tecumseh last Friday and Saturday.

"Northwest played a delay game against us, holding the ball in the backcourt for long stretches," Rosentreter said. "We took only 30 shots. We made 13, which isn't a bad percentage (43 percent) but we like to put up about twice that many shots."

"We won it at the foul line. Northwest made as many field goals as we did, but we were 15 of 21 on free throws and they were 4 of 7. That 11-point margin was the difference."

"Give our defense a lot of credit. We've won four in a row, and in those four games our opponents scored a total of 151 points, an average of 38 per game. That is outstanding defensive play, and I hope we can keep it up."

The Bulldogs have kept the lid on their foes while committing relatively few fouls, earning a big edge in free throw attempts. Avoiding "cheap" fouls while playing tough and tight defense is a cornerstone of Rosentreter's coaching strategy.

The Bulldogs opened the Jan. 29 game against Northwest by jumping out to a 14-8 first-quarter lead, then went cold while scoring only 11 points during the next 16 minutes. That allowed Northwest to come back and make a game of it. Chelsea had a precarious 25-24 lead starting the fourth quarter, then came alive and put the contest away with a 16-6 effort down the stretch.

Dave Steinhauer led the Bulldog scoring with 10 points. Eric Schaffner had nine. Ken Martin contributed eight, including six clutch free throws in the final period when Northwest was forced to foul to get the ball.

"Any time you win on the road, you have to be happy about it," Rosentreter said. "I figured this might be a tougher game than a lot of people expected, and it was."

CHelsea's JUNIOR VARSITY basketball team has been having trouble putting the ball through the hoop of late, but it isn't for lack of trying. Jon Lane (20) at top and Todd Starkey (14) are shown going up for jumpers against Saline.

JV Cagers Suddenly Can't Hit the Basket

Chelsea's junior varsity basketball team got off to an excellent 7-2 season start but has since suffered a three-game losing streak and dropped to 7-5.

The latest defeats were to Saline, 65-52, and Tecumseh, 43-36.

"We are in a terrible shooting slump," coach Ted Hendricks said, "and until we find some way to break out of it, we aren't going to win. It's that simple."

During the three-game dry spell the JV's have connected on just 47 of 180 shots from the floor, an ice-cold 26 percent.

"What is really strange is that, all of a sudden, nobody on the team can put the ball in the basket with any consistency," Hendricks said, "and we have some good shooters."

"It's one of those things that we are just going to have to work our way out of. The law of averages should start to help us, and the ball should begin to drop."

Against Saline, the Bulldogs played a good first half to lead by a point, then failed to score in their first 10 third-quarter possessions and fell hopelessly behind. They were out-scored 16-5 during the period, and Saline had no trouble holding on to win handily.

Swimming Team Runs Season Mark to 8-0 By Defeating Dexter

Chelsea's boys swimming team raised its season record to 8-0 with a 112-49 win over Dexter on Jan. 31. The victory was the team's 14th in a row over the last two years.

Chelsea depended primarily on its freshmen and sophomores for the points necessary to win. The 200 medley relay was won by Dexter, with the Chelsea teams of Matt Doan, Howard Merkel, Lloyd Brown and Kevin Brock finishing second, and Craig Miller, Jeff Mason, Darren Girard, and Lee Riemenschneider third. Scott Pryor, Brent Bauer and Don Skiff swept the 200-yard freestyle.

Chelsea freshmen Matt Doan and Kevin Brock finished second and third with lifetime best times in the 200 individual medley. Jeff Mason won 6th in the 50-yard, and 100-yard freestyle which gave him his first double victory. Finishing third and fourth in the 50 were Lee Riemenschneider and Brad Doan, and in the 100-yard race Paul Robbins was second and Tyler Lewis fourth.

In the one-meter diving Chelsea finished 1-4 with Eric Bell scoring his initial first with his highest score, 181.25. Finishing second through fourth were Lewis, Dan Dent and John Piatt.

Chelsea continued to sweep events with freshmen Brock and Brown finishing first and second junior Brad Doan third in the fly.

The 500-yard freestyle was won by senior Mike Coffman, swimming this race for the first time, finishing second and third with best times were Matt Doan and Darren Girard who made their goal of breaking six minutes.

Craig Miller showed he is seriously taking the challenge of getting his times back down in the state caliber range for his 100 backstroke specialty. His time was the fastest since he has come back. Finishing second was Mike Carignan, swimming a 100 back for the first time. Finishing fourth was Dent.

Scott Pryor missed winning the 100-breaststroke by seven seconds, but his time was his best by two seconds. Merkel finished fourth and Riemenschneider fifth with lifetime bests.

The Chelsea freestyle relay won the last event as Paul Robbins came from behind on the last length to win the race. The other winning relay members were, Darren Girard, Lloyd Brown and Tyler Lewis.

Chelsea has two dual meets left, with Willow Run and Jackson, away. If the team wins these two meets, they will finish their third undefeated season in the last six years.

Coach Larry Reed cautions, "The rankings are based on dual meet results which tend to depend more on depth than quality. The state meet rewards quality only. If we are to finish in the top five of the state meet, our front-line swimmers and divers are going to have to perform at the levels of the individual goals they have set."

In 1650 Anne Bradstreet's collection of poems, entitled "The 10th Muse Sprung Up in America—Several Poems Compiled With Great Wit and Learning" is believed to be the first book written by an American (colonial) woman ever to be published. It was published in England without her knowledge or permission.

AFTER VICTORY in the 200-yard freestyle over swimmers from Albion, Novi, Dundee and Dexter, Jeff Mason of Chelsea looks up to the electronic timer and finds that he has done his best time ever.

Chelsea Swimmers Dominate Own Invitational Meet

Twenty of 22 CHS swimmers and divers won awards last Saturday and 15 of 22 won medals in the first of three varsity swimming/diving invitational to be hosted at the Charles S. Cameron pool this month.

Of the "events Chelsea earned five firsts, and five more seconds. Novi won three events, Albion two and Dundee one.

The meet was non-scored as contestants were swimming for personal awards. Had the meet had been scored, Chelsea would have won by more than 30 points.

Chelsea divers started the meet successfully with John Piatt finishing 16th, Dan Dent eighth, Eric Bell sixth, and Mark Westhoven fourth.

The next event was the 200 medley relay and aquatic Bulldogs split their teams to give more swimmers a chance for medals, and in doing so earned first and second in the relay. The winning team was composed of Jeff Nemeth, Howard Merkel, Brent Bauer, and Don Skiff.

Finishing second was the team of Craig Miller, Mike Coffman, Scott Pryor and Matt Doan.

The next event was the 200 freestyle. Dan Degener finished fourth, while Paul Robbins and Jeff Mason had best times finishing eighth and 11th. Not placing but improving his best time by seven seconds was Lee Riemenschneider.

The 200 individual medley found five CHS swimmers performing lifetime bests and four earning awards. Chelsea was paced by Brent Bauer and Don Skiff swimming their first IM's of the year finishing second and third. Other placers in the event were Kevin Brock, ninth, and Matt Doan, 10th. Non-placing but lifetime best time performances were turned in by Darren Girard and Howard Merkel.

The 50-yard freestyle found Mike Carignan winning the second-place silver medal and Craig Miller finishing eighth. Best performances in the same event were turned in by Eric Bell, John Piatt and a near-best by Brad Doan.

The 100 butterfly saw Chelsea finishing first, second, sixth, 10th and 15th. Respectively, they were Scott Pryor, Mike Coffman, Kevin Brock, Lloyd Brown and Brad Doan.

Chelsea had only one entrant in the 100 free, Mike Carignan, who finished fifth.

Chelsea continued its dominance of distance events with Dan Degener finishing first, Paul Robbins sixth and Darren Girard eighth.

Jeff Nemeth qualified for state in the 100 backstroke while winning the event. Finishing fourth was Craig Miller, sixth Matt Doan, 11th Lloyd Brown.

The 100 breaststroke found Mike Coffman winning his specialty, Jeff Mason (with a huge time improvement) eighth, and Howard Merkel 12th.

The final event was the 400 freestyle relay. The CHS team of Brent Bauer, Paul Robbins, Mike Carignan and Jeff Nemeth finished second, and the quartet relay of Dan Degener, Jeff Mason, Scott Pryor and Don Skiff was fourth.

The swimmers' next meet will be their Freshman-Sophomore Invitational Saturday at the home pool. Diving events will begin at 10 a.m. and swimming at 1 p.m.

Chelsea Wrestlers Beat Tecumseh

Chelsea varsity wrestlers defeated Tecumseh, 47-27, in a dual meet last Thursday and improved its Southeastern Conference record to 2-3.

The Bulldogs were to grapple against Pinckney there last night then get ready for the SEC tournament at Dexter on Saturday.

They had a night off last Saturday after wrestling in invitational tourneys every weekend since the season opened.

"I'm glad we had last Saturday night off," coach Kerry Kargel said. "We could use a breather. The schedule has been very

Chelsea Athletes Show Well in Meet At Michigan State

Two members of the Chelsea Track Club ran in the 600-yard dash in a meet at Michigan State University's Jenison Fieldhouse last Saturday.

Tim Bowdish finished second in what coach Bill Wehrwein called a "very good" time of 1:20.1. Allen Kuhl was sixth in 1:29.2.

Wehrwein at one time held the world record in the event at 1:08.2. That mark has since been broken.

Three former Chelsea High athletes performed well at an invitational college relay meet held the same day at MSU, Wehrwein reported.

Todd Sprague, representing Western Michigan, tossed the shot 50' 10", good for fifth place, and Mark Brosnan of Eastern Michigan ran a 4:21 mile to finish fourth. Rob Benedict and Brosnan each ran 1:59 half-mile splits in the two-mile relay.

WARMING UP before the five-school diving competition, Mark Westhoven of Chelsea does a 1 1/2 inward somersault in the pike position. Mark is a high school junior.

DIVER JOHN PIATT warms up for the invitational meet with a forward somersault. Dives are scored according to difficulty and execution.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Continuing from last week on the topic of how to keep a motor vehicle operating smoothly in cold weather:

The heart of any conveyance propelled by an engine is the battery. If the battery doesn't work, nothing else will. The battery supplies the vital electrical juice that makes things go, and that includes the engine. It is a simple fact too often overlooked.

The battery turns the starter. If that doesn't happen, you won't move out of your driveway. The battery fires the spark plugs which ignite the fuel in the engine cylinders. If that doesn't happen, the engine won't run. The battery keeps lights, windshield wipers, heaters, defrosters, air conditioners and a whole lot of other accessories working. It may be called upon to power such options as a radio or tape deck.

The advice from here, simply put, is to buy the best battery on the market if you want to avoid a lot of trouble and a possible breakdown under the worst possible circumstances. Batteries tend to fail when needed most, quite often in extreme cold weather when you are a long way from anywhere in terms of getting help fast.

There are all kinds and grades of batteries, ranging from marginal to excellent. Some will last for maybe a year if you're lucky. The best ones will perform dependably for four years or longer.

Those extra-heavy-duty batteries at the top of the line cost money. You won't get much change back from a $100 bill. In the long run, however, they represent an inexpensive investment, cheap when measured over their service life.

Almost any new car or truck you buy these days will cost more than $10,000 by the time you have it accessorized and optioned the way you want it. Sure, you can drive it—for awhile—with a $35 battery, and that is exactly what you will do if you accept the "original equipment" that comes with the car.

In their effort to keep prices down, manufacturers install the cheapest available batteries in the vehicles they offer for sale. If you take the time and trouble to read the warranties on those "cheapies," you will find that they generally are guaranteed for a year. You can bet they won't last much, if any, longer than that. After one typical Michigan winter, they are done for.

The advice from here is that you ask the dealer to substitute a top-quality battery. It will cost an extra $50 or so, but you will save money—not to mention grief—over the long haul. You can go through three or four $35 batteries during the life of a $90 good one, and may pay some starting and towing service charges besides.

Next to the battery, the alternator (what used to be called a generator) is perhaps the most important part of your car. It feeds renewed life into the battery, by constantly recharging it while the engine is running. The weak link in the charging chain is the belt that connects the alternator to the crankshaft. If it fails, the battery also fails, and you are stopped dead wherever you happen to be. Alternator belts don't cost much, and replacement at intervals of no more than two years is good preventive medicine.

Alternators themselves sometimes go bad. Unfortunately, there is no way of anticipating when such a failure is about to occur, and I doubt if there is a mechanic in the world who can tell for sure.

Watch that little red light which flashes on the dashboard to indicate that the battery is not receiving a full charge. If it starts to blink, have your electrical system checked, pronto. Something isn't working the way it is supposed to. It could be the light itself. A step backward was taken when the warning light was substituted for a gauge which showed the number of amperes being delivered to the battery. That told you something, almost always in time to do something about it—before a breakdown.

Your motor vehicle will run, after a fashion, with a missing cylinder, a dead spark plug or any one of countless other minor malfunctions. It won't go anywhere if the electrical system isn't operating.

Tecumseh Brings Bulldog Cagers Back to Earth

The situation was ripe for an upset, and Tecumseh pulled it off with a startling 52-45 victory over Chelsea last Saturday night in the Indians' home gym, one of the more difficult places for a visiting team to play.

The Indians were 1-5 in the Southeastern Conference, 4-8 over-all and apparently going nowhere. They had been frustrated by two consecutive league losses and were ready to beat somebody.

Chelsea had risen to the heights in a night-before last-minute victory over Saline, figured to be a little bit flat, and was.

The difference may have been the Tecumseh gym, which is unique in the SEC. It's kind of a band-box with an echo chamber, and on Saturday night was mighty cold with open doors letting in below-zero blasts of air. Many heavily favored visiting teams have gone to Tecumseh over the years and come away losers. It's a tough place to play if you're not used to it.

Whatever the reasons, Chelsea turned over the ball 27 times during the game and that, according to coach Rahn Rosentreter, cost his team the opportunity to win and stay hot on the heels of league-leading Saline.

"You can't bring the ball up court 27 times, lose it without getting a shot, and expect to beat a team that is playing decent basketball, which Tecumseh was," Rosentreter commented.

"We beat ourselves. In the fourth quarter, when we had a good chance to come back, we had a streak of six possessions and lost the ball on five of them. That killed us.

"We quit playing team basketball. Everybody was out there trying to win the game all by himself. We drew a bunch of offensive fouls and made some other mistakes that cost us. We have to play together as a team in order to win, and we didn't do it."

The stinging defeat was Chelsea's third SEC loss and left only an outside, long-shot chance at the league crown. Saline would have to lose twice for the Bulldogs to gain a tie.

"I haven't given up but must admit our prospects are a lot worse than they were after we beat Saline," Rosentreter said. "Saline has some tough games coming up, and we just have to hope they lose a couple. We certainly can't afford another league loss. Every game from here on is a must-win game."

The Bulldogs started out fairly well at Tecumseh and led, 15-13, after a quarter. Things went sour after that. Over the next 16 minutes Tecumseh scored 27 points to Chelsea's 12 as the turn-overs began to take their toll.

Down 40-27, the Bulldogs tried to rally in the fourth quarter and did manage to close the final gap to six.

"We could have won it if we hadn't kept giving the ball away," Rosentreter lamented. "Tecumseh played the kind of tough defense that it's noted for, but most of our turn-overs weren't forced.

"Our own defense wasn't bad considering that we kept giving them the ball. We out-rebounded them, and we shot respectably (20 of 52 from the floor, 5 of 11 from the line). We didn't get to go to the foul line as often as we usually do, but I'm not going to blame the officiating. We dug our own grave."

The Bulldogs had no scorers in double figures. David Steinhauer led with 9. Eric Schaffner and Jon Jedele had 8 each, Keith Neibauer 7 and Todd Doering 6.

The game was a make-up of a contest postponed from Jan. 18 because of bad weather on the scheduled date. The delay forced both teams to play two games in as many nights, a rarity in high school basketball.

The defeat left Chelsea at 8-4 on the season and 3-3 in the league going into last night's home game against Pinckney, another make-up of a postponement. The Bulldogs will play Milan here Friday.

SEC ROUND-UP:

Saline Loss Opens Chance for Dexter

Chelsea made the Southeastern Conference basketball race closer by up-ending Saline in a 52-50 thriller last Friday night, but the Hornets are still a game up in the loss column.

Dexter appears to have the best shot for at least a tie, having lost only two league contests. Lincoln, Milan and Chelsea, with three defeats each, have outsiders hopes at best.

Tecumseh is out of the title chase but proved capable of playing a spoiler's role by knocking off Chelsea in one of the season's major upsets. The Bulldogs had appeared ready to challenge.

Pinckney hasn't won a league game yet, but opposing coaches warn that the Pirates have improved to the point where they are capable of beating somebody.

Saline is on top of the SEC with a 6-1 record and is in control of its own destiny. The Hornets can lock up the title by winning their remaining five loop games. If they do that, nobody can catch them.

However, Saline's once-comfortable two-game margin was reduced to one with its loss to Chelsea.

Dexter stayed in contention by beating Tecumseh, raising its league record to 4-2. The league's showdown game could turn out to be Dexter's Feb. 22 home clash with Saline.

Lincoln, Milan and Chelsea must keep winning and hope the Hornets will stumble. Lincoln and Milan both have chances to improve their position in games against Saline. Chelsea has completed its two-game series with the Hornets.

There is still a lot of basketball left to be played, and anything can happen yet. Until somebody else beats them, the Hornets remain in front as they have been from the start, and are the team to beat for the battle.

Booster Club Dance Draws Large Crowd

The Chelsea Athletic Boosters Club sponsored its first Spirit Dance on Saturday, Jan. 26.

More than 100 persons danced and enjoyed the music of Larry Koch and Eclipse, who provided music to fit the interest of each patron. Sounds of the 50's and 60's were heard along with a mixture of polka and rousing square dances.

The dance substituted for the Booster Club Millionaire party which has been held in April. The club felt that it was time for a change for several reasons. The merchants and business persons of Chelsea have responded generously to requests for donated prizes for the party. The Boosters felt it was time to say thanks for their support.

Planning a dance takes fewer people and thus gives the many helpers a break this year. The

Coast Guard Auxiliary Swears In New Officers

Richard Swift of Tecumseh, and Kirk Patterson of Ypsilanti, were sworn in as commander and vice-commander of the Ann Arbor Flotilla of the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, during ceremonies at the annual Change-of-Watch Banquet held at Weber's Inn Jan. 19. Their terms of office are for one year.

Swift had served as vice-commander during 1984, and Patterson had been staff officer for operations. Patterson will continue in that position and has been assigned additional duties as information systems officer.

Immediate past Flotilla commander Marcia Schlee, of Dexter, presented Commander's Awards for meritorious performance of duty. Among recipients was Aram Walker of Munith, who received an operations trophy for his many volunteer hours of duty in communications at the U. S. Coast Guard Station on Belle Isle.

Speaker for the evening was Past Commodore Don Kenny, of St. Clair Shores. Guests included members of Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotillas in Jackson and Tecumseh.

The Ann Arbor Flotilla meets monthly at the U. S. Army Reserve Training Center, S. Industrial Highway, Ann Arbor, on the second Tuesday of each winter month, at 7:30 p.m.

For more information about the Auxiliary, call 971-9354 evenings.

dance also provided a new option to raise funds, with people being able to enjoy themselves for an evening.

The Boosters certainly appreciated the donation, to the dance by Larry Koch and Mark Bellus' donation of his first prize in the raffle to the athletic department.

Joe and Theresa Hunn, Joe and Linda Roberts, Ken and Ellie Unterbrink, and Bob and Ginny Wheaton were instrumental in making the event a success.

'Adopted Grandparent' Program Enjoyed By St. Paul Youth Group

In the fall, when possible projects were discussed by members of the senior high youth group at St. Paul's church, the idea of an "adopted grandparent time" was agreed upon. Christmastime was a natural calendar placement for the idea.

A list of house-bound elderly was provided by the Rev. Koch from the church rolls and Marcy Stump began work to co-ordinate the program. Of the 13 senior citizens contacted all were interested in receiving a visit from a young person.

Teen-agers were grouped into twos and threes because of timeliness. The system was designed to give each child a chance to visit with their adopted grandparent with the support of their peers present.

All of the senior citizens visited were ready and waiting with porch lights on to welcome their young visitors, but the picture that sticks most touchingly with Marcy Stump is of the house-bound woman watching in the window for her guest's arrival. It is a memory of loneliness and eagerness.

Each visiting young person gave their host a seasonal gift of an advent calendar and most were served refreshments. Stump instructed all to "Listen to them, they have a lot of wisdom." Groups were dropped-off by an adult who offered to accompany them into the house, but all declined and opted for entering on their own.

Stump talked of the reactions expressed at a meeting following the visits. Three girls made arrangements to visit again and all considered the project worthwhile and enjoyable.

In later visits to the house-bound, who had participated in the program, the Rev. Koch remarked to Stump that the elderly expressed hopes that the youth would come again.

Stump feels that the community has successful programs for senior citizens who enjoy mobility but is lacking in anything designed for those unable to leave their homes for any number of reasons. She feels that a program to provide regular contact with these senior citizens would be valuable to all involved.

"These are valuable people and shouldn't be forgotten," she said.

MODERNISM VS. FUNDAMENTALISM

By Fred Coulter, evangelist

There is a basic difference between modernists in religion and fundamentalists in religion. The difference between them rests upon whether the Bible is literally the word of God or whether it is not. The fundamentalists believe in the plenary verbal inspiration of the Bible, that is, that every word in the Bible is inspired by God. Paul told Timothy by inspiration: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of god may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." (II Tim. 3:16, 17). The modernist believes part of the Bible is myth or the mere invention of humans. However, what the supposedly intellectual modernist does not grasp is that either the whole Bible is the product of God or none of it can be trusted to be the Word of God; this is simple logic. If part of the Bible is not the Word of God, which part is it? If a part of the Bible cannot be trusted, then which part can be trusted? These questions cannot be constructively answered by the modernist.

However, before many who claim to be fundamentalists become smug in looking at the illogical assumptions of the modernists, they should look to themselves. How fundamental is a person who believes the Bible is the inspired word of God, but is not willing to follow it? Jesus said, "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." (Mt. 7:21). A true fundamentalist accepts baptism by immersion as the dividing point between being lost and being saved (Acts 2:38; Acts 8:36-39; Acts 22:16; Mark 16:16; I Peter 3:21). The true fundamentalist observes the Lord's Supper the first day of every week (Acts 20:7). A true fundamentalist sings in worship without the accompaniment of a musical instrument (Eph. 5:19; Col. 2:16). The true fundamentalist does not belong to a denomination (I Cor. 1:10). In summation, a true fundamentalist is one who does only that religiously which he has been expressly authorized to do by scripture, otherwise, he is no different from the modernist who also rejects the teaching of God found in the Bible. ## Youths Arrested for Staging Beer Party Not from Here

Three 18-year-olds have been arrested on charges of furnishing intoxicants to minors and contributing to the delinquency of minors in connection with a beer party they allegedly arranged in Sharon township last Sept. 8.

A Feb. 1 story in the Ann Arbor News carried a Chelsea dateline but listed no addresses for the suspects, suggesting that they were perhaps from the Chelsea area.

While declining to disclose specific addresses, a spokesman for the Washtenaw prosecutor's office confirmed that none of the three is from Chelsea. Two live in Ann Arbor and one in Manchester, he said.

Scheduled to appear before

Judge Karl Fink in district court here on Feb. 26 are James D. Coval, Carl Weidmayer and Brenda Sodt. They are accused of setting up a beer party attended by more than 40 teen-agers who were charged $2 apiece for admission.

Following the party, a car carrying three Saline youths ran off Pleasant Lake Rd., hit a sign and two trees, and overturned. Two of the young people were killed.

Kiwanis Film Offers Tour of German Bavaria

On Saturday evening, Feb. 9, the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea will present its fifth program of the "Travel and Adventure Series" at 8 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium. Ric Dougherty will present his film on Germany entitled "Bavarian Cream."

Ric Dougherty was born in Indianapolis, Ind. At the tender age of 14, he enlisted in the Marines and spent five years of World War II with the Fleet Marine Force in the Pacific. After the war years, Ric pursued the career of furniture manufacturing and importing.

It was through this occupation that Ric was drawn to the field of travelogue filmmaking. While he was traveling abroad during the course of this work, Ric found real enjoyment in seeing new places and meeting and learning about the people of foreign countries. It is no wonder that this interest in other lands should result in films which let Ric share his gregarious enthusiasm for the world with travelogue audiences.

Tour the lovely Mosel River to the glorious Rhine. This is an area of Germany that Ric Dougherty knows very well since he and his wife have a home on the Mosel River.

Explore the castles of robber barons, today converted into exclusive castle hotels and unusual places of interest. Visit the Harz Mountains, situated between the Weser and Elbe Rivers in central Germany. See for yourself, why these mountains have been so celebrated in German folklore and literature.

Take the cure at Bad Kissingen and see why people flock here from all corners of the world for the sparkling waters and healthy atmosphere.

Visit the elaborate castles of Ludwig II of Bavaria in the alpine regions of Bavaria. This eccentric king called in a decorator from the Munich Opera to design the profusion of turrets, watchtowers and battlements for his dream castles.

In the Black Forest roam through the colorful villages and be delighted at the abundance of festivals, good food and friendly people. Ride down the "romantic road" which is a series of picturesque towns that parallel the Rhine River. The 15th century churches and medieval castles lend an air of enchantment to these historic places. People, places, customs and fun are all a part of "Bavarian Cream."

Season ticket holders are reminded that this is the fifth program in the current series that will conclude March 30 with Stanley Paulanski and his "Hungarian Rhapsody." As usual, single admission tickets will be available at the door.

Pride Prevails at South School

You see them every morning, wearing bright yellow rain parkas or standing tall in bright orange shoulder belts. They are South school 5th grade students who have chosen a special way to show pride in their schools.

Led by teacher supervisors, this eager band of 25 youngsters walk to school each day and take their posts as members of the South School Safety Patrol Squad.

Safety Patrollers, led by a student captain and two lieutenants, help South school children cross safely at heavily trafficked street corners and set a good example for younger students. Whether it is sunny or snowy, you will find this brave band performing their duties early in the morning, at noon, and after school.

The patrollers celebrate their dedication at the end of the school year with a picnic, a softball game and the highlight of the year—a trip to see the Detroit Tigers attempt another World Championship at Tiger Stadium.

The Safety Patrol is mainly self supported and holds a patch sale to raise funds every other year to purchase raincoats and other necessary equipment.

This year's supervisors, Jim Ticknor and Ron Laczko have fielded an especially fine group of youngsters for the South School Safety Patrol Squad—a group which definitely takes pride in their schools.

Noachian Aces Win Trivial Pursuit Competition

Noachian Aces, a team made up of Sara Noah, captain, Camilla and Lynnwood Noah, mother and father, and W. Chandler Lane, II, Sara's cousin, won the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Trivial Pursuit Tournament Championship held Feb. 1, at the Washtenaw County Service Center.

The Aces lost only one game and later defeated the opponent in the semi-finals. Twice, during their seven games, the Aces completed the total game winning requirements in one turn when they answered all questions correctly. Chan's hot streak with the die was especially helpful.

The team attributes their success to the family's interest in games and historical facts instilled and nurtured in them by Esther and Laurence Noah.

The Aces received four trophies, four record albums and dinner at Chi-Chi's.

BLUE AND GOLD BANQUET: Unfortunately, the photographer's camera lens wasn't quite wide enough to capture all the crowd at last Sunday's Blue and Gold Cub Scout banquet, held at

Ham Radio Novice Classes Start Feb. 7

Would you like to make friends around the world and even in space? Participate in experiments in radio and tv communications? Become a severe weather spotter for the National Weather Service? Help provide communications for fund raising and competitive events (marathons, bike rides, etc.)? Increase your understanding of electronics and how it affects us all?

Join the exciting world of Amateur "Ham" Radio! Novice level classes are being held from 7 to 10 p.m. every Thursday night at the Ann Arbor Chapter of the American Red Cross on Packard starting Feb. 7 and continuing for a total of 10 weeks.

Sponsored by the ARROW Communications Association, a public service and general interest amateur radio club based in Ann Arbor, the course will teach the International Morse Code, FCC rules and regulations pertaining to the amateur service, and basic radio theory and practice.

Testing for the novice class license will be held at the conclusion of the class.

A complete amateur radio station will be open for display and demonstration.

All interested persons are welcome to attend and experience some of the broad spectrum of activities in this hobby.

Young people find it to be educational as well as fun, while retirees and the handicapped find it an enjoyable indoor pastime that can help them stay in touch with friends and relatives anywhere in the country or the world.

Not only does this hobby have a lot to offer to anyone from ages 5 to 95, but statistically a country's technological development almost always parallels the percentage of ham radio operators in the population. It is interesting to note that Japan has more than four times the number of hams per capita than the U. S. does, and has been outdoing us in many "hi-tech" areas for years.

The course materials will be the ARRL "Tune in the World" learning kit, available at many electronics stores, or write the American Radio Relay League (ARRL) at 225 Main St., Newington, Conn. 06111.

There will be no charge for the course.

Prospective students may show up Feb. 7 to join the class, or for more detailed information call Tim Prosser, ARROW activities co-ordinator, at 994-3478 evenings or the Red Cross at 971-5300.
