Soloman Has High Stakes In Low Cost Electrical Plug

A Chelsea man has invented a small, electrical, two-piece plug he claims will not only help parents wean their children from their television viewing habits but will prevent them from turning on dangerous or expensive equipment.

The device, invented by long-time Beach school history and math teacher Leonard Soloman, with help from neighbor Bob Headrick of BookCrafters, initially has the unwieldy name of Locking Deviant Electronic Connector (LDEC).

Soloman recently received a U.S. patent for the product, and has applied for a Canadian patent. Negotiations with area banks are underway for major financing.

The device, which Soloman says will be renamed "Power Guard" or something else more consumer-oriented, earned Soloman the "Inventor of the Year Award" from the Inventor's Council of Michigan.

The LDEC, at first glance, looks like two, large three-pronged adaptors plugged into each other, but the engineering is far more complex. The front piece plugs into any ordinary grounded (three-prong) wall outlet. The back piece also has three prongs, which plug into the back of the first piece. However, those prongs are "non-standard." In other words, the only thing they can plug into is the frontpiece, they will not fit into any kind of wall socket.

The back piece also has two "locks" which are operated by the turn of a small plastic key, which can be carried like any other key. When a television set, or any other appliance, is plugged into the back of the second piece, a turn of one lock will secure the plug into it. Short of cutting the wire, there is no way to free the wire from it. The second lock, which is operated by the same key, controls the flow of electricity through the plug. So, if a parent wants to control a child's television viewing, for instance, he can either turn off the electricity, using the key, or simply remove the front piece of the assembly so that there is no way to plug the set into the wall.

Initially I became interested in this as a way to control television viewing by "latch-key" children," Soloman says. "So many children come home to an empty house and head right for the television set. I wanted to be able to redirect a child's time to other things, like doing homework or some other activity."

"After we made the prototype, we began to see all the applications for it. For example, you could keep a child from turning on a power saw in a workshop. Or you could use it as a minimum security device for a computer. Maybe a company wants to make sure a janitor isn't playing around with the computer at night. I had one guy tell me he'd like to have one for his food processor because his kid had figured out how to use it."

Three Seek Two Posts on School Board

Incumbents Earl Heller and Anne Comeau and newcomer Ron Satterthwaite will be running for the two Chelsea School Board seats that expire June 30. They were the only residents to submit petitions with the necessary number of signatures by the April 8 deadline.

The election will be held Monday, June 10 for the four-year positions. The candidates have until tomorrow at 4 p.m. to remove their names from the ballot should they have any second thoughts.

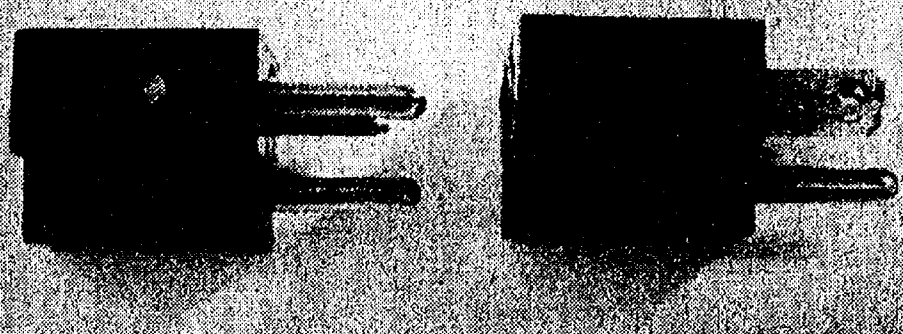

Heller, owner of Heller Electric, is a two-term incumbent. Comeau has served for one term. Satterthwaite, brother of village president Jerry Satterthwaite, is a partner in Smith's Service at 11453 Jackson Rd. He has never run for public office in Chelsea, although he has served as president of the Rod & Gun Club. He and his wife Jean have three boys in the school system.

The candidates with the two highest vote totals will win the seats on the seven-member board.

LEONARD SOLOMAN, Beach school teacher, shows off his invention and the U.S. patent he has received for it. Soloman hopes the LDEC becomes more commonplace in the home than television sets. Soloman has taught at Beach for more than 20 years.

THE LDEC is a two-piece plug that enables you to interrupt the electricity to an appliance by turning a lock (white circle on the left) or by removing the front piece, right. The non-standard connections make the second piece, left, unable to fit into a wall plug.

Used Radio Tower Will Improve Communications

The village will spend up to $1,500 for a used radio tower for village communications for the police, fire and utilities departments and use by the Chelsea Communications Club, which is instrumental in monitoring severe weather.

The village council approved the expenditure at its April 2 meeting.

The 100-foot tower is currently in Killins Concrete Co. on Liberty Rd. in Ann Arbor. The company is giving it to the village in return for its removal, so the tower itself will cost the village nothing. The $1,500 will be spent for tearing it down, moving it, painting it, any necessary maintenance, and reassembling it somewhere in the village. A good chunk will be spent on laying a concrete foundation.

The tower will have to be placed in a relatively open area, since radio communications work on line of sight. In other words, trees and buildings can block the radio waves.

"The goal is simply better communications for the entire village," said Civil Defense Director Robert Schantz. "The stuff we have on the Municipal Building is old and it needs work, but you don't dare touch it until something goes wrong because it's so old. If we get a good wind and it knocks down the antennas (which are on the tower) then there goes our communications. The new tower will give us a better all around situation."

The new tower will be 40 or 50 feet higher than the existing arrangement, which will provide better range for weather and emergency communications, according to Schantz.

The site for the new tower has yet to be determined. Due to some minor technical problems, the tower cannot be moved until the weather warms up a little, Schantz said. However, he has permission from Washtenaw County Emergency Management to move the tower.

CHS Class of '75 Reunion Plans Start Thursday

In correction of the announcement printed in the April 3 edition of The Chelsea Standard the meeting to finalize family picnic plans for members of the Chelsea High school graduating class of 1975 is scheduled for Thursday, April 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Wolverine Bar in Chelsea.

All 1975 Chelsea High school graduates are encouraged to attend the meeting and offer much needed help.

Contract Awarded for Electric Circuit To Serve Methodist Home

Because of an increased demand for electricity by the Chelsea Methodist Retirement Home, a new north circuit electrical extension will be built this spring.

The village council voted at its April 2 meeting to accept the bid of $19,250 submitted by Davis Electric Co. of Traverse City to build the extension. The bid was more than $10,000 less than any other bid, and less than half of the highest bid of $39,175 submitted by a Reed City company. In all, four bids were received.

Ten new poles will have to be erected, six of which were covered in the bids. The price for the other four will have to be negotiated, according to Superintendent of Public Utilities Bud Hafner.

The north circuit extension will be routed from the substation on Garfield St. through to Grant St. and then north on Grant until it reaches the existing line. The new line, according to Hafner, will be approximately 2,000 to 2,500 feet shorter than the existing line serving the Methodist home, thereby decreasing the load on the entire system. Houses behind Chelsea Hardware to Grant St. will also be put on the extension.

"Service should be better for them," Hafner said of the homes being put on the extension. However, most people won't notice any change at all, he said.

Hafner said the new line became necessary after the retirement home replaced its 225 KVA (kilowatt) system with a 1,500 one to accommodate the growth of the facility.

Agriculture Accident, Rescue Seminar Opens Saturday Morning

An Agricultural Accident and Rescue Seminar will be held for members of the community, including firefighters, farm personnel, E.M.T. and law enforcement officers, Saturday, April 15, at the Chelsea Fairgrounds.

In an effort to prevent accidents involving farm machinery, and related types, several businesses in western Washtenaw county have banded together to assist in sponsoring the seminar.

Aiding in sponsoring the event are: Boulton Sales & Service of Dexter, McCalls Feeds, and Honegger's, Inc., of Chelsea, both Production Credit Association and Estech of Ann Arbor, Feldkamp Tire, Inc., of Saline, Gross Farm Equipment and H. I.

Johnson of Saline, and Grass Lake Elevator Co.

Manchester sponsors include E. G. Mann & sons and the Michigan Livestock Exchange, as well as S-K Sales.

Also sponsoring the seminar are Ted Hinderer, sales representative, Pioneer Seeds, and Doug Welshans, sales representative, Moorman's Feeds, and the Washtenaw County Livestock and Dairy Council.

Topics to be discussed include rescue procedures, farm machinery extrication, personal protection, hazardous materials and toxic atmosphere.

Seven officers from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department will be among those attending the rescue seminar, explained Sgt. Susan Ledford early this week.

"Our officers appreciate the opportunity to learn about procedures which may help prevent accidents or methods of extricating a victim from a dangerous situation with the least possible trauma," said Sgt. Ledford, "and at least one of these officers has a farm background himself."

"We think it's great that such a training seminar is being presented, and are very grateful to all the sponsoring individuals, businesses and organizations."

Chelsea Community Fair Board members are singled out for special recognition for their assistance in co-ordinating the program, along with additional important sponsors, Washtenaw County Farm Bureau and the Grass Roots Gang Farm Bureau Group.

The Saturday programs will begin at 8:30 a.m. at the fairgrounds with registration continuing until 9 a.m.

From 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. there will be a lecture session complete with audio visual aids by Birger Anderson and Roger Garner.

Leadership, equipment, hazard zone and extrication will be covered under rescue procedures, and both the rescuer and the victim will be discussed in the personal protection presentation.

Covering equipment hazards, the topics will include electrical wires, augers and conveyors as well as automatic and standby generators.

Structural collapse, grain bins, wet hay and grain will be discussed in the structural hazards category, and under first aid and transportation the use of backboards and Stokes Litters will be covered.

In the material hazards discussion, pesticides, fertilizers, cleaning materials and petroleum products will be included.

Covered sub-topics on toxic atmosphere are manure pits, silo gases, ammonia and deficient atmospheres.

The cave-ins discussion will center about grain bins and trench silos, while escape routes, spotting vehicles and livestock will come up for discussion in the miscellaneous hazards topic.

Outside demonstrations will begin at 1:15 p.m., after the break for lunch, and will continue until 3:30 p.m. Principles of operating various farm equipment will be shown. These will include:

Symphonic Band on Tour to Washington

Student activities during the week-long school dismissal for Spring break will take many creative forms but none more so than when approximately 80 members of the Chelsea High school Symphonic Band leave by chartered bus on Tuesday, April 9 for a concert tour culminating in Washington, D. C.

The busy five-day itinerary begins with a Tuesday evening concert in Oregon, O. Overnight accommodations will be provided to the Chelsea musicians, director William Gourley, and six chaperones, in the homes of students from Clay High school in the Ohio community.

On Wednesday morning the entourage will travel to Kent, O., to attend a music clinic given by Kent State University students. Band members will benefit from workshops scheduled throughout the day designed to strengthen technique and musical understanding.

The group will leave Ohio sometime Wednesday afternoon to make an evening concert date at North Allegheny High school in Wexford, Pa.

The busy agenda continues through Thursday with rehearsals and a performance at Pennridge High school in Perksise, Pa.

A tour of the White House awaits the local musicians when they finally reach Washington, D. C. Friday morning and the busy travellers look forward to accommodations at Marriot Tyson's Court in Virginia.

A coincidental rendezvous with 1958 Chelsea High school graduate, Byron (Bernie) Pearson is scheduled for Friday night at Kennedy Center where the band students will attend a concert by the St. Louis Symphony. Pearson will be performing with the ensemble as assistant principal trumpet during the Washington, D. C. concert, the final stop for the orchestra before leaving for a 30-day European tour.

Pearson is currently professor of trumpet at Oberlin Conservatory of Music, making frequent arrangements for concert performances such as this present one. The University of Michigan graduate has made two professional recordings to date, planning a third one this year. They are "The Voice of Trumpet and Organ" with organist, Arthur Vidrich and "Voices of Trumpet and Organ" with Donald Tyson, first trumpet player with the Baltimore Symphony.

Pearson appreciates the community support he has received throughout his long and impressive musical career and is happy to have grown-up in Chelsea.

Saturday, the final day of the high school band's tour, is left open for sightseeing, relaxing and a banquet at the hotel, before the all-night return home.

Principal Starting Parent Meetings

On Thursday, April 18, Chelsea High school principal John Williams will begin holding monthly parent meetings to discuss educational issues that are important to the parents of high school students.

"These meetings are designed to be similar to the Dialogue meetings that superintendent Van Meer holds," Williams said, "and they are similar to those monthly meetings which are held at the elementary schools (PTN and PTS) and the Beach meetings."

The purpose of the meetings is to give parents the opportunity to ask questions about any aspect of the school program with principal Williams and assistant principal Ken Larson to respond. The meetings are open to anyone who wants to attend and will be held in the Board Room at 7:30 p.m.

Stress Management Classes Offered at Chelsea Hospital

Everyone is under stress all the time. The stress may be relatively minor or the stress may be very serious. Whether minor or serious, stress has an effect on your body. According to the American Hospital Association, as many as 60% to 80% of the people who go to doctors may do so because of stress-related complaints. Some doctors believe that every illness is caused, at least in part, by stress.

As evidence grows that stress causes disease, ways to control stress are also being discovered. It is possible to reduce stress in your life and to learn to live a healthier, longer and happier life. Various health care professionals from Chelsea Community Hospital have teamed up and developed a series of classes to teach community members about stress and to suggest ways to prevent stress from overwhelming you.

A series of stress management classes will be held at Chelsea Community Hospital on five consecutive Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., beginning April 10. There is a $50 fee for the five-week series.

To register or for more information call 475-1311, ext. 262.

U-M Prof. Angus To Speak on Area Country Schools

Still-standing one-room schools in the county will be shown in a slide talk at the Washtenaw County Historical Society meeting at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, April 14, at the Ann Arbor American Legion, 1035 S. Main.

Professor David L. Angus of the U-M School of Education will speak on "Country and Village Schools of Washtenaw, Community Conflict and Consensus." It is open to the public free of charge. Refreshments will be served.

His slides also include maps of early districting and etchings and woodcuts of early schools from the museum of educational history at Northern Illinois University.

Professor Angus earned a Ph.D. at Ohio State in 1964 and came to Ann Arbor in 1966 where he teaches history of education.

Soloman initially sees the product selling for around $14, with a large drop in price to around $6, coming later as his company is able to manufacture the non-standard pins itself. He hopes to market the product in national retail chains and catalogs through his new company IDEC Industries, Inc., which is also partly owned by Headrick. He has enough faith in the product to have invested a considerable amount of his own money. He says he has even been approached about using IDEC as a giveaway item with micro-computers.

There is some market competition, he admits, although the best devices available cost nearly $200 and are electronically timed. He says there are also cheaper versions for less than $5 but that any child who has learned to use a screwdriver can pry them apart.

Soloman's first love is still teaching, he says, and no matter how much money he makes (or loses) from the IDEC he will always teach. He's been at it for 23 years. Although he has never undertaken an outside project of this scope, he has other business interests. His company, R.E.T.S., headquartered in Ann Arbor, handles commercial painting and carpet cleaning.

Senior Group Planning Two May Tours

A person travelling with the senior citizens on all of their planned trips from July 1979 to December 1984, would have covered approximately 28,213 miles, not including touring mileage during sight-seeing once the destination had been reached and spent a total cost of $4,174.06 (assuming double occupancy on overnight trips).

The group has made 50 charter bus one-day trips costing a total of $867.10, averaging just $17.34 each; 27 school bus/van one-day trips totaling $177.30, averaging $6.56 each; and 22 overnight trips (including two by train) consisting of 70 days, 48 nights and costing a total of $3,130.25.

All these figures were discovered by the Senior Citizen Center at North school during a self-evaluating process. It is a record of which the active group is proud.

Spring jaunts include a May overnight stay in Shakertown, Ky., the only American historic village which offers overnight accommodations in original 19th century buildings. The rooms are furnished with reproduction Shaker pieces and hand-woven rugs and curtains. Private baths and air-conditioning are added 20th century comforts.

The visit will enable the seniors to learn of the life-style of the prosperous Shakers. The well-known furniture craftsmanship will be apparent throughout the village and contributions made by the small society such as, the flat broom, wooden clothespin, circular saw, and washing machine will be stressed by guides. A possible steamboat ride is also planned during their stay.

Leaving Shakertown, the group will travel to Lexington for some undisclosed surprises and a tour of the Kentucky Horse Farm. A busy day visiting the Spendthrift Farm where two Triple Crown winners, Seattle Slew and Affirmed are housed, will culminate in an evening at the races.

Although the Shakertown trip is full to capacity, reservation room is still available for the trip to Amherstburg, Canada. The trip, arranged through a Canadian-based agency, will include a brief tour of the Callo Winery, Ft. Malden Museum, Seagram's Distillery, and dinner at the richly historical Navy Yard Restaurant.

Departure time for Amherstburg is 9 a.m. on May 6. An April 17 deadline for reservations and $22 charge for the trip are necessary by calling the Senior Citizen Center at North school.

Fifty to sixty Michigan school bus drivers tested their skill in the School Bus Driver Rodeo to be held at Ann Arbor High school. Selection had not yet been made as to which four Chelsea drivers would participate in the event. Driver proficiency was to be tested in four areas including knowledge of the motor vehicle code, personal grooming, operational skills, and pre-operational vehicle check procedures. Winners of the Ann Arbor contest would later compete against the top drivers from the Jackson area competition.

A 350-ton high speed Warco impact extrusion press arrived in Chelsea by train and was unloaded by Federal Screw Works. The long-familiar two-letter, five-numeral system of numbering telephones would begin a gradual five-year retreat into history. The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. announced it would start to introduce All Number Calling (ANC) on a progressive basis throughout its territory. Under the ANC plan, telephones would be known by all numbers—no letter of a central office name. A number such as HOward 8-2556, for example, would become 468-2556. The advantage of locating numbers more easily on the dial than letters was supposed to be more convenient to customers.

At a special meeting of the Chelsea Agricultural Schools Board of Education meeting the architect's preliminary plans for the new elementary school were approved. The plans, as approved for submitting to contractors for bids, include provisions for 14 classrooms, office space, kitchen, rest rooms and an all-purpose room.

Total receipts were listed as $4,718.62 while expenses amounted to $3,043.61. That left a cash balance of $1,675.01 in the Athletic Board's treasury. It was pointed out that in the past the Athletic Board often found itself "in the red" to the extent of from $300 to $400.

"Why Worry About the Atom Bomb?" was the topic of discussion when "America's Town Meeting of the Air" was broadcast from the University of Michigan campus. The broadcast from Rackham Lecture Hall was to originate over Radio Station WHRV in Ann Arbor and would be carried to 286 affiliated outlets of the American Broadcasting Co. network. The program, on the air since May of 1935, was a modern adaptation of the old New England town meeting where citizens gathered to discuss the problems of their government.

Michigan's TB death rate was declining. Discovery of new cases had remained about the same over the last 10 years. Some 6,000 cases were diagnosed annually, as against 5,900 cases per year between 1930 and 1939, but the death rate had been cut in half in the prior 20 years.

Trail Walks Set From Park Lyndon

The new 47-mile trail which links Park Lyndon with the Pinckney and Waterloo Recreation Areas is now a reality.

Parks Naturalist, Matt Heumann, will lead a walk exploring the plants and wildlife along the portion of the trail stretching from Park Lyndon North to Embury Rd. on Sunday, April 21 beginning at 10 a.m. This walk is expected to last from two to three hours and hikers are advised to wear swamp footwear.

The second walk of the series takes place Sunday, April 28 on the section of the new trail which leads from Park Lyndon South to the Green Lake crossing at M-52. The area has a number of very interesting bogs and ponds as well as some beautiful woodlands. This walk will also begin at 10 a.m. and last from two to three hours. More information is available from Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation.

Criminal Complaints Drop Sharply in March

Criminal complaints were down sharply in March compared to February, according to the monthly report submitted by Police Chief Lenard McDougall on his department's activities to the village council April 2.

The report indicated five felony criminal complaints, compared to 15 the month before. Reported escapes from camp Waterloo and Cassidy Lake Technical school declined from five to zero, and complaints of larceny over $100 decreased from five to one.

The report also showed seven misdemeanor criminal complaints, compared with 17 in February. The largest decline occurred in the category of malicious destruction of property where there were no complaints in March compared with four the month before.

However, the report showed that Chelsea police drove their two cruisers more than 1,000 miles further in March, with total miles logged at 7,593 compared with 6,509 in February.

Police, Fire Chiefs Get Reappointments

The village council, at its April 2 meeting, reappointed several village employees for another year.

Police Chief Lenard McDougall, Fire Chief Paul Harker, Deputy Fire Chief Larry Koch, and village president pro-tem Joe Merkel were all unanimously approved by the council.

In other areas, police activity remained about the same. The categories, March totals, and February totals are listed below.

Police radio runs, 221, 194; Felony arrests, 2, 2; Misdemeanor arrests, 4, 4; Warrant arrests, 4, 0; Juvenile arrests, 4, 0; Case reports, 32, 20; Accident reports, 16, 21; Traffic violations issued, 49, 38; Parking violations, 37, 64; Traffic stops, 125, 104; Motorist assists, 28, 46; Property checks, 306, 405;

In the general complaint category, suspicious vehicles, 19, suspicious persons, 11, suspicious incidents, 14, and assist citizen, 14, made up the bulk of the complaints.

Area Fire Dept. Becomes Official

The Dexter Area Fire Department became a reality as the contract authorizing the new department was signed Tuesday, March 26, at the Scio township hall in an evening ceremony attended by approximately 30 people.

Representatives from four townships, Dexter, Lima, Scio and Webster, as well as the village of Dexter, were gathered for the official signing of the document and the first meeting of the fire administrative board.

Elected to chair the board was Ken Collica, also designated Scio township's representative for the next six years. Collica is a trustee on the Scio township board. Supervisor Richard DeLong fills a four-year term on the fire board for Scio.

Jim Drolett, supervisor of Dexter township, was chosen as vice-chair of the fire board and will fill the six-year term from his township, while township clerk William Elsenbeiser will act in the fire board position for four years.

From the village of Dexter, William Sartin, former village president, was selected to serve for six years on the newly formed fire board, and John Ritchie received the nod to complete a four-year term on the board.

An "at large" member was voted to the administrative board at the Tuesday evening meeting. Paul Bishop, Dexter village president, was named to this position.

Lima township supervisor Leila Bauer will serve on the board for six years and Harold Trinkle of Lima will be completing a four-year term of service on the board.

Webster township officials who will serve on the fire board during its initial years are Webster supervisor Donald Zeeb for the six-year position and Hugh Mosher, filling the four-year term.

Mike Collins, who served as fire chief for the Dexter Fire Dept., will serve as the first chief of the Dexter Area Fire Dept., and the three full-time dispatchers will also be a part of the new area department.

Regular meeting times were established at initial gathering. They will be at 7:30 p.m. on the third Thursday of alternate months, beginning April 18. Dates named for the remainder of the calendar year are: April 18, June 20, Aug. 15, Oct. 15 and Dec. 19, at the Scio township hall.

Named to the committee to establish by-laws for the new department are Paul Bishop, Ken Collica, Jim Drolett and William Sartin, with Richard DeLong as alternate.

Each of the townships and the village had been asked to bring a check to the signing ceremony as their unit of government's initial funding of the Dexter Area Fire Department.

The new department which will serve the four townships—including the village of Dexter, became a reality on a very positive note, and will be another innovative re-organization for the area. Although the first vehicle to join the ranks of fire trucks wasn't quite ready for its public appearance, it is operational and ready for service. That vehicle is the mini-pumper purchased from the Summit township fire department very recently, and is one which passed the inspection and received approval of all participating units of government forming the new fire department.

Some people once thought they could ensure an abundant crop by putting a leafy branch in the furrows of the corn field.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Guest Column
By Will Connelly

Okay, here's your situation. You are the chief negotiator for the United States in an arms conference at Geneva with the Soviets. You are personally opposed to dying along with your family and neighbors, in a nuclear explosion. You also want no part of launching nuclear missiles against millions of innocent, helpless families on another continent.

What's more, on the practical side, it dismays you to see one fourth of all your federal taxes swallowed up by a $350 billion budget for defense. You know we have no fear of our Canadian cousins with whom we share the world's longest undefended border. You do know we are threatened by an invasion of impoverished wetbacks from Mexico but the solution doesn't call for MX missiles or B-1 bombers. What does matter is that we are in a costly and extremely dangerous arms race with just one world power, the Soviet Union.

It is my personal opinion that no American statesman or diplomat, such as yourself, should negotiate with Communist Russia or China without having studied the Communist Manifesto by Karl Marx (aided by Frederick Engels) and the collected writings of Vladimir Ilyich Lenin.

Marx cried out to the workers to rise in mass rebellion, seize factories, stores, banks, property and governments. He dreamed of a system of social justice in which everything was shared equally by everyone. In such a Communist Utopia central government would become unnecessary and wither away. His final exhortation in the Manifesto announced "The Communists disdain to conceal their views and claims. They openly declare that their ends can be attained only by the forcible overthrow of all existing social conditions. Let the ruling classes tremble at a Communist revolution. The proletarians have nothing to lose but their chains. They have a world to win."

Within the Manifesto itself, Marx referred to it as the Gospel of Communism, endowing it as a godless religion.

Lenin, a professional terrorist, embraced Marxist socialism but had no confidence in a spontaneous uprising of the working classes. He turned the Communist Party into a compact, strictly disciplined organization that was trained to seize power through subversion, deceit and force. He advocated the Communist infiltration of every element of society, including churches, social groups and especially unions. "One must," Lenin wrote, "be prepared for all and any sacrifice, even, if necessary, be ready to resort to every possible trick, ruse, illegal method, to conceal and falsify the truth in order to infiltrate the unions, to remain within them and to perform Communist activities inside the unions at all costs."

You, to qualify as a negotiator at Geneva, must be aware of this Communist dogma because the works of Marx and Lenin have had far more influence on human history than the Holy Bible. The Marxist-Leninist blueprint of world conquest by subversion and violence has enabled the Communist chiefs in the Politburo and the Chinese Central Committee to achieve cruel domination of one third of the world's population—something like one billion four hundred million men, women and children.

No nation taken over by the Communists has ever regained its freedom.

Knowing these things, you look at the top Russian negotiator across the table. You remember the dire threats of Marx and Lenin. You also recall Khrushchev's arrogant promise to American negotiators: "We will bury you."

If you have done your homework as an American/Soviet negotiator you have also read the State Department files and been chilled by the report of our first ambassador to Russia, William C. Bullitt. It concerned a 1934 banquet at which General Klementi Voroshilov, a future president of Russia, related an "amusing" incident that happened in 1919. Eleven thousand Czarist officers were encamped in Kiev negotiating their surrender with the Red Army. Voroshilov offered them an honorable surrender. "Lay down your arms and we will let you return peacefully to your families. All our differences will be forgotten."

The 11,000 officers at Kiev laid down their arms and were immediately slaughtered by Communist firing squads. Soviet search squads then went to the homes of these officers where they murdered all male children so that they could not live to exact vengeance. All of the women and noble girls were taken to Soviet brothels for the use of Red Army soldiers. Few of the women and girls lived as long as three months.

Because you have done your homework, not only on Marx and Lenin, but Josef Stalin as well, you know that Stalin was an ardent Communist as a youth who robbed banks to raise funds for the Party. He was drenched in paranoid, day to day, suspicious of all who were around him. Elected to Soviet power by the state Central Committee, he immediately had 98 of the 137 members of the committee shot for treason. Later, he ordered the death of thousands of army field commanders who failed to follow his instructions. In a planned act of genocide, he caused death by starvation for five to seven million Ukrainian farmers and their families by taking away all of their food for use by urban factory workers manufacturing weapons and industrial products.

All of the crimes against the people of his own and other countries were strictly within the rationale and principles of Marxist-Leninist Communism. Other Soviet leaders have remained in ideological lockstep. For 68 years, any suggestions for changes in the dogma by misguided Party members have resulted in arrest and execution.

You again look across the table at the Soviet gentleman in the white shirt, tie and business suit. And you know that you are dealing with a person who has a religious commitment to Party service as a liar, deceiver, slavemaster, torturer and murderer.

So you carry out your mission as Ron suggested. You go through the diplomatic choreography of "disarmament" negotiations on the brightly lit stage of world opinion.

You formalize and dignify some arms reduction agreements, knowing that the Soviets will cheat as soon and as often as they can. Following your return to Washington the word goes quickly from the White House to the Pentagon to keep "Star Wars" research on the front burner.

With your mission in Geneva and the capitol completed, you return to beautiful, bucolic Chelsea. You park your car and notice the one next to you has a bumper sticker, "Stop the nuclear race, not the human race." You wouldn't mind if more people had a sticker like that. In fact, it would make a nice reward for everyone who has studied Communism 101 and passed.

Finalists from throughout Washtenaw county high schools were also asked to write an essay of no more than 500 words, with neatness, legibility originality and historical accuracy considered in the judging. The topic was, "Our American Heritage and My Responsibility To Preserve It."

Mary Chinni of Dexter High, Mark B. Henson of Chelsea High and Ronald Milkey of Manchester High were among the young Good Citizens to be recognized by the DAR in Washtenaw county.

Mary is the daughter of Mary Rita and Angelo Chinni of Loch Alpine. She is a senior at Dexter and was a tri-captain of the Dexter girls basketball team, in addition to participating in a number of other school activities.

Mark Henson has served as president of his school class for the past three years, and was chairman of the prom. Active in organizing the local association of Students Against Drunk Driving, he also holds membership in the National Honor Society and received the certificate of school award from the American Legion. He has used his musical talent to entertain both senior citizens and hospital patients. He is a member of the Madri-Guys choral group, a three-year member of the CHS varsity Tennis team. He had a lead part in the school play, "Our Town" and is active in his church programs. He plans to pursue a degree in communications at Oklahoma Christian College. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Henson of Harper Dr.

From Manchester High school, Ron Milkey, the son of Lois and Steve Milkey, was selected as one of three DAR Good Citizens to advance to competition at the state level. Ron received the Optimist Outstanding Citizen Award and placed first in the local Optimist oratorical contest, then moved on to zone competition. He represented Manchester at Boys State during his junior year, and has served as secretary-treasurer of student council and class president. A vice-president of the Senior Trip Club, he was also student chairman of the sophomore magazine sales.

Other high school seniors who were tapped as Good Citizen Award winners and honored by the Sarah Caswell Angel chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution at special ceremonies held Saturday morning, Feb. 23, at the Gerald R. Ford Library, Ann Arbor, include Nancy Roeske of Gabriel Richard, Ann Arbor, Liam Lavery of Saline High school, Paul Franklin of Whitmore Lake High, Ann Arbor, Kristin W. Prescott of Greenhills school, Amy Altman of Huron High and Jeffrey Kabat of Pioneer High school.

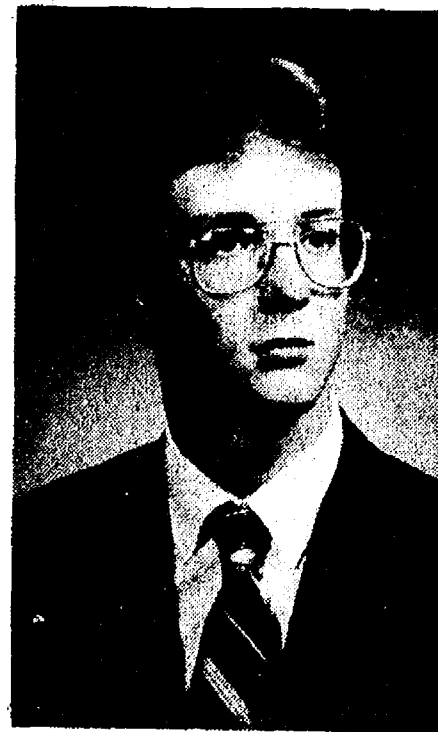

School officials make final selections of their Good Citizens based on scholarship, leadership, dependability, service to home, community, and church, and for patriotism.

Award winners may enter competition for the DAR of Michigan Good Citizen Award, to be presented April 3, at the Michigan State University, Lifelong Education Program's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education in East Lansing.

We sing: Sweet Hour of Prayer and are content with five or ten minutes a day.

We sing: Onward Christian Soldiers and wait to be drafted in His service.

We sing: O For A Thousand Tongues To Sing and then do not use the one we have.

We sing: There Shall Be Showers of Blessings but do not come when it rains.

We sing: Bless Be The Tide That Binds but let the least little offense bother us.

We sing: Serve The Lord With Gladness and then gripe about all we have to do.

We sing: I Love To Tell The Story but never mention it.

We sing: Cast Thy Burdens On The Lord and then we worry ourselves into nervous breakdowns.

We sing: The Whole World Wide For Jesus and never invite our next door neighbor.

Michelle Goodwin In France on Study Program

More than 40 Kalamazoo College students are currently participating in the school's foreign study program, an integral part of the educational experience at the college.

Travelling to France from Chelsea is Michelle M. Goodwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Goodwin, 20941 North Territorial Rd.

Students are living with host-country families in the European countries of France, Germany and Spain. Participants typically spend six months as juniors, or three months as sophomores becoming acquainted with different cultures and people while studying at selected colleges and universities. Students receive full academic credit for the successful completion of work overseas.

Approximately 85 percent of all Kalamazoo College students participate in the foreign study program which is designed to meet a wide range of needs, interests, and levels of language proficiency.

Thanks to a special endowment of the S. R. Light Trust Fund, this foreign study program is extensively subsidized by the college, making this opportunity financially feasible for virtually all students.

★ Recapture Provision in School State Aid Formula is Unfair

Funding for Michigan public schools is designated for the use of State funds on a membership formula basis. Schools are classified as in-formula or out-of-formula districts. The Chelsea School District is an out-of-formula district.

Currently there are 184 of the 571 Michigan public school districts that are out-of-formula.

Out-of-formula districts are so designated because the tax base in those particular communities, in relationship to the number of students in school, is a factor in determining the status of in-formula versus out-of-formula. Therefore, a school district that is classified as out-of-formula does not receive State membership school aid funds. These districts rely primarily on the local tax base to support the schools. Out-of-formula districts have an aggregate total of approximately 400,000 students.

Many out-of-formula districts currently are having financial problems. These financial problems come about when the SEV (State Equalized Valuation) of the property in the school district increases minimally or does not increase at all. The out-of-formula districts do not receive direct membership State aid because they do not qualify in the formula.

Recently, when the State of Michigan was in a depressed economy and could not fund the school aid formula, a legislative provision was written to take money away from out-of-formula school districts to help pay the bill. This is referred to as a recapture formula.

Chelsea School District receives direct State aid for special education services and transportation. The recapture formula takes away 66% of those funds and gives them back to the State to be distributed to the in-formula districts. Currently, in-formula districts are receiving between 6 and 8% increases, some of this at the expense of out-of-formula districts like Chelsea. This year the Chelsea School District has a factored recapture deduct of $159,518. These are dollars that the Chelsea School District should have received and did not receive.

What currently makes the system very unfair is that many out-of-formula school districts are experiencing little or no increased revenues while the labor and material costs keep rising. The general public does hear that public school systems are receiving some significant revenue increases, not true for the Chelsea School District.

Michigan's out-of-formula districts are currently seeking the attention of State Legislators, indicating to them the unfairness of that recapture provision.

Why wait until tomorrow when you can get an IRA bonus today?

Every day you spend without an IRA is costing you money. In more ways than one. It costs you money in lost tax benefits. It costs you money in lost interest. And if you wait too long you'll miss out on Citizens Trust's special IRA Bonus Plan.

Any IRA deposit you make (up to $5,000) qualifies you for the Citizens Trust 2% Cash Bonus Plan. This cash bonus is added to the first interest payment on an eighteen month or longer IRA. If you make both a 1984 and 1985 contribution before April 15, you receive the 2% bonus on both deposits. And it's not too early to think about your 1985 IRA. Contributions made early in the year can result in hundreds of dollars of additional interest over a period of time.

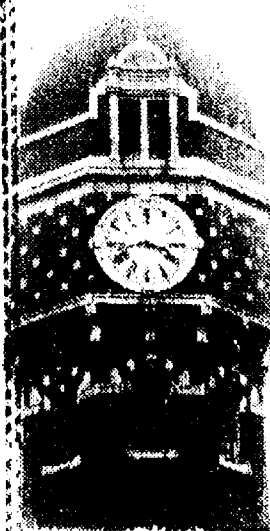

This offer expires April 15, 1985. So don't wait until the end of the year to look for tax advantages when you can get the same advantages, earn high interest and a 2% cash bonus today...at the bank that is concerned with your well-being today and tomorrow. Citizens Trust.

Tree Planting Set For Arbor Days

For more than a century Arbor Day (or Days, or Week) has been observed by hundreds of communities throughout the nation. Now this annual occasion for the planting of trees is being established in Chelsea under the leadership of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club.

Chelsea Arbor Days will be Friday, April 26 and Saturday, April 27.

The Friday observance will be for school students and teachers. Two hundred Colorado blue spruces will be given by the club to the schools. In advance of the planting there will be an informational meeting between Arbor Day faculty leaders and the club's chief forester, Joe Torrice.

Club members will also plant a row of mature Colorado blue spruces along the lawn adjoining the north wall of the Charles E. Cameron swimming pool.

Uniformed conservation officers of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources hope to join in tree plantings with the students if work schedules permit.

On Arbor Saturday members of the conservation committee of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club plan to team up with adult members of local civic organizations and churches for the planting of trees in parks, public areas, church yards, streets and roads, as well as residential, industrial and rural areas. Some of the trees will be transplanted as gifts from the club's forest east of Ingane Rd. Seedlings supplied by the club will be paid for by the organizations doing the planting.

"Chelsea has long been admired for its beautiful trees," observed Fred Klink, Jr., club president and chief conservation officer. "Older trees that have died need to be replaced. There are many additional areas which are bare and need to be embellished with trees and other greenery. The job doesn't need to be undertaken all at once. We can make a good start in 1985. Then the whole community can plan ahead each year for plantings on the Arbor Days to come."

Plantings are planned this year at the St. Louis School, and all future observances of Chelsea Arbor Days will embrace the geographical area of the Chelsea School District.

Volunteer Help Can Answer Many Questions on Taxes

Taxpayers with questions concerning their federal income tax returns can get free assistance from the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program (VITA), and through Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE), the Internal Revenue Service said.

VITA offers IRS-trained volunteers who assist taxpayers with special needs—lower income, non-English speaking, elderly, and handicapped—with completion of their tax returns. TCE is a similar program emphasizing assistance to persons generally age 60 and over offering particular help with tax problems common to the elderly.

These volunteer tax assistance programs are available at convenient neighborhood locations. To learn the location of a VITA or TCE site nearest you, contact the IRS office at 1-800-424-1040.

Pinckney Area Youth Completes Marine Avionics Course

Marine Lance Cpl. Robert A. Towles, son of Robert L. and Mary E. Towles of 848 Sarah Dr., Pinckney, has completed the Advanced First Term Avionics (aviation electronics) course.

During the 28-week course at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Millington, Tenn., Towles studied airborne communications, fire control systems and anti-submarine warfare systems. In addition to the technology of these systems, he studied mathematics, physics, electronic theory and the operating principles of digital and analog computers.

Law Day Program Offers Free Legal Help

Free legal counsel will be available to Washtenaw county residents on "No Bills Day," Friday, April 26.

As a public service in conjunction with Law Day U.S.A., members of the Washtenaw Bar Association will give 30-minute consultations to anyone who phones for an appointment.

According to Manuel James J. Lentine, "No legal documents will be drawn up during the 30-minute consultations, nor will time permit the solving of specific legal problems."

"However," Lentine added, "many persons have questions about what to do about their legal problems that we can address during the sessions."

"No Bills Day" was conceived by the State Bar of Michigan in 1974. Since then, it has attracted the participation of most of the state's local bar associations and won the Award of Merit of the American Bar Association.

Masons Plan Second Annual Charity Dinner

Washtenaw Lodge No. 65 is having their second annual Charity Dinner to benefit local organizations.

"This year," explained Charles Steinbach and Ted Wilson, "we will donate all proceeds to Dexter Family Service and to Dexter Senior Citizens."

Ted, who is chairman of the Charity Dinner committee, added, "Our spaghetti dinner will be held Friday, April 12, at the Dexter Masonic Temple."

Continuing last year's tradition, all food and services will be donated, and the proceeds from the dinner will be turned over for the benefit of the community.

Correct Label on Tax Return If You Have Moved

If you moved after receiving your income tax package in the mail, be sure to correct the information on the peel-off label and place it on the return you file, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The coded numbers on the label speed up the processing of the return and expedite refunds, the IRS explained. Contrary to misconceptions, the label coding has nothing to do with audits and will not trigger an audit.

Taxpayers should make sure that the other information on the label is correct, the spelling of the name, for example. Also, if the taxpayer has married and changed names, the correct name should be written on the label.

One of the most troublesome errors, according to the IRS, is an incorrect Social Security number. Such an error can take weeks or even months to correct and is a major cause of delayed refund checks. The IRS cautioned taxpayers to make sure that the Social Security number is correct on the label and if not, mark through it and correct it on the label, also enter the correct number in the appropriate box on the return.

THE LINGANE MARKER in Oak Grove Cemetery gives no clue to onlookers of the story of John's death on the Titanic. Though his body was never recovered from the sea, the family added his name upon verification of his death in a letter sent by the White Star Line. William was one of the five sons of Ellen and John Lingane. The others were Jeremiah, James, Vincent and Patrick.

HISTORIC EDITIONS: Irene and Clare Sherman found interesting old newspapers in a box, while beginning their spring house-cleaning in their garage. Irene told Clare (who really had begun the cleaning) not to throw anything away without looking at it first—and these two newspapers caught their special attention—April 16, 1912 issue of the Daily Times News (now the Ann Arbor News), and March 2, 1932 issue of the Detroit Free Press. The April paper tells the story of the Titanic, and the March story relates the story of the Lindbergh baby's tragic kidnapping.

Chelseaites J. Lingane Dies in Titanic Sinking 73 Years Ago

Inconspicuously wedged between front-page stories of a train accident and a boy scout hike is a short, two-paragraph article in the April 26, 1912 edition of The Chelsea Standard explaining the grave speculation by John Lingane's friends that his delayed return from Ireland suggested that he may have booked passage on the ill-fated steamer, the Titanic.

Their great concern was ignited when a publication of the second class passenger list included a "John Lingane," believed by his friends to be a mis-spelling, but an inquiry by W. D. Waitrous to the White Star Line office in New York resulted in the company's assurance that there was no such person on board.

Confirmation of their greatest fears did not arrive until May 23 when a letter expressing regret and deepest sympathy that John Lingane was not on the survivor's list and therefore was assumed lost at sea, was received by his four remaining sons. The original letter, written by the White Star Line, on high quality parchment with a tastefully decorated margin, was framed and has hung in generations of Lingane homes.

John Lingane immigrated to America in the late 19th century with an influx of fellow Irishmen escaping the potato famine and poverty of their homeland. He acquired a piece of land on the northwest side of Chelsea and he and his wife, Ellen Savage, and their healthy sons cleared and farmed the original homestead on a dirt trail later named Lingane Rd.

Little is known of John Lingane's life and 73 years following his newsworthy death, few local residents remain with first-hand accounts of him or of his family.

Mrs. Bertilla Forner has one singular memory of them driving up to old St. Mary's church on Sundays and holy days, a picture permanently etched in her mind by the impressive, black, prancing horse harnessed to the survey, and Gerald Grohnert recalls the close friendship between his grandfather and John Lingane and his frequent mention within family circles of the Linganes.

Facts that are certain is that John was a hard-working farmer and devoted family man with the burning wish to return for a visit to Ireland with his beloved wife. That dream was shattered, however, when Ellen died in March of 1911. Within months the 62-year-old grief-stricken Irishman completed final arrangement to board a ship in New York for a fall reunion with long-loved and absent relatives and friends in Kildorrery, county, Cork.

In the 50th anniversary year of the sinking of the Titanic, The Chelsea Standard printed a record of a letter received from son, Patrick Lingane's wife, Lillian F. Skinner. The short clipping explains that her father-in-law originally booked passage on the S. S. Celtic but was persuaded by friends and relations to return instead on the maiden voyage of the luxury liner, the Titanic.

Definite travel plans were given in a letter sent by John to his brother, also Patrick, in New York. He would depart from Southampton on April 10, 1912, a steerage passenger on the monstrous, superliner.

It was shortly before midnight on April 14, that the 46,328-ton White Star liner, splitting the ocean's surface at an incredible 22-plus knots, collided with an iceberg on the bank of Newfoundland. The 300-ft. gash in the hull of the "ship that God, Himself could not sink" sent the pride of the British merchant service to the ocean floor about two-and-a-half hours after the negligent accident.

The worst maritime disaster in history is attributed to simple bad seamanship. Ignoring numerous, urgent warnings of ice by radio and signal lamp, the Titanic continued through the night at a dangerously fast clip which resulted in the loss of 1,500 lives.

The eventual rescue of the 700 lifeboat survivors by the Carpathia, triggered a flurry of attempts to reconstruct the last hellish moments of those lost. A luxuriant growth of legend and myth sprang up which threatened to submerge the true facts surrounding the nearly incomprehensible tragedy.

The Titanic has been described in some written accounts as a floating microcosm of social structure. The main top deck quarters luxuriously accommodated the wealthy and powerful, the second deck housed their armies of stewards and stewardesses, while steerage passengers, such as John Lingane, were relegated to cramped dormitory-like accommodations in the ship's bowels.

John Lingane's final thoughts and actions are mere speculation. Hundreds of steerage passengers were driven back from locked gates leading to the lifeboat deck above by armed crewman so that of the 700 survivors, just 81 were from steerage.

There is also logical evidence provided by the mere two steerage survivors interviewed by status-concerned journalists, that they were the first to become aware of the seriousness of the ship's predicament due to their close proximity to the flooded, lower chambers.

First-hand accounts by those drifting in lifeboats within sight of the failing oceanliner, provide generally known information such as, the desperate praying clusters of people, the continued musical strains of the band, and scattered pistol shots suggesting the preferred end of some remaining on board.

The lights finally went out, boilers burst from their beds and chortled down through the bullheads with a deep thunderous roar. The giant reared momentarily on end, bringing rudder and propeller clear out of the water, until assuming an absolutely perpendicular position in which she remained for maybe 30 seconds before slipping, slowly at first but gaining momentum, below the ocean's surface.

Among the eerie chorus of reverberating voices, silenced by the sudden gulp of the sea, was the final cry of John Lingane. The siren strains of the hymn and the frantic cries of the dying blended in a symphony of sorrow, a never equaled requiem, forever haunting those survivors who witnessed it.

The remaining genealogical line of his family can be traced through his son Patrick, a dedicated Chelsea farmer until his relocation to Jackson. His marriage to Lillian resulted in the birth of two sons, Leo, the only one to survive to adulthood, replenished the family tree by producing three boys and a girl.

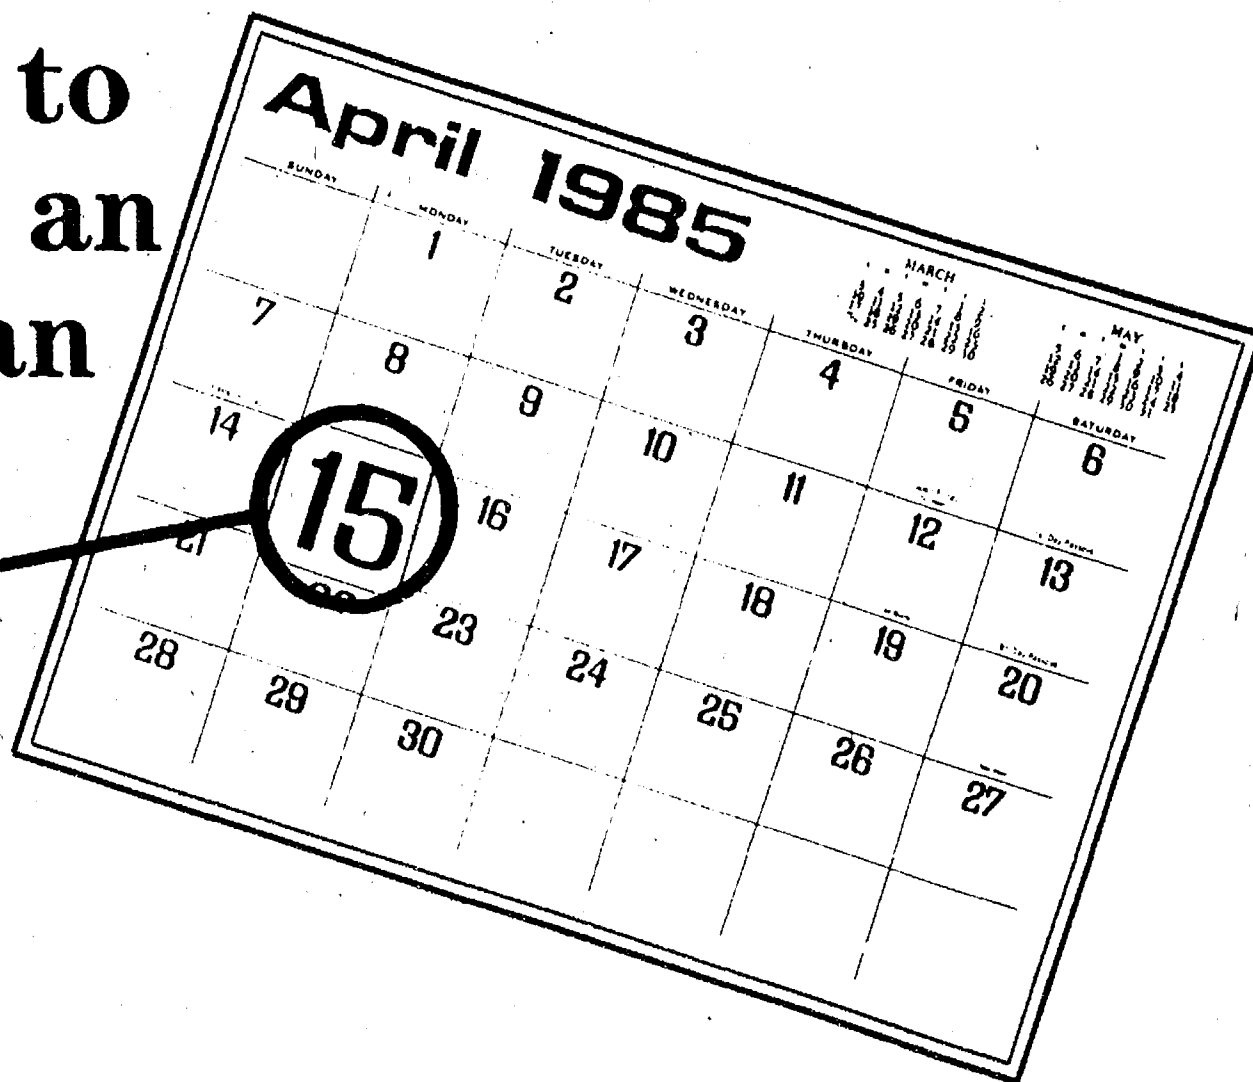

Mary Lingane, the widow of Leo's son, James, counted a healthy group of seven great-grandchildren. Their Irish inheritance weaves its way through the generations in the periodic re-immersion of the names Patrick and John.

She also explained that when her sons, Robert and Patrick, attended school they were confronted with widespread skepticism regarding their ancestor's death. A copy of the book, "A Night to Remember," by Walter Lord, however, includes a list of passengers on the Titanic which provided needed credibility to their claim.

The story of the Irishman who courageously averted tearful eyes from his beloved homeland coast to turn his determined, hopeful attention to America's bounty remains a treasured legacy of the Lingane family. It is not unlike the tales passed down through many families, except for the chilling, final chapter on the non-class distinguishing waves of the North Atlantic.

Special thanks to William Trembl of the Ann Arbor News, Mary Lingane, and the McKune Memorial Library for contributing information to this article.

MUCC Launches Acid Rain Watch

The state's largest conservation organization, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), has launched a Michigan Acid Rain Watch Program. It will regularly report on levels of acid rain falling on Michigan, and assess environmental and economic effects on the state.

In his announcement of the program, John Eichinger, MUCC president, said the arrival of spring brings more to Michigan than rainy weather: "It is a sad state of affairs when 'cleansing spring rain' now has a sinister meaning. Remember how you hated to take a bath as a kid? Well imagine how the state of Michigan feels—it has to take its spring bath in acid rain."

According to the MUCC, fish populations in lakes and streams are in particular danger during spring because of "spring acid shock." Warming temperatures melt acid-laden snow, which can cause a dramatic increase in the acidity levels of lakes and streams. Studies have shown that heavy doses of acid disrupt fish life and reproductive cycles.

Acid rain is rain, snow, fog or dust particles containing significant amounts of nitric and sulfuric acids. Acid rain is formed by moisture and pollution from burning coal and petroleum products which combine in the atmosphere and fall to earth.

Acid rain is measured on a pH (acidity) scale, that ranges from 0 (very acid) to 14 (very alkaline). Unpolluted rain has a pH of 5.6. The pH scale is designed so every one unit drop in pH represents a 10-fold increase in acidity. For example, a pH of 5 is 10 times more acid than a pH of 6, and is 100 times more acid than a pH of 7.

In response to the acid rain threat, MUCC launched the Michigan Acid Rain Watch Program, funded by a grant from the C. S. Mott Foundation. The program is designed to increase the public awareness about acid rain and its effects on Michigan.

MUCC will gather the acid rain data collected at 12 monitoring sites state-wide. This is a joint effort in co-operation with the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, and Michigan State University.

WHAT A CHANGE! The Chelsea varsity baseball team runs to stay warm in its first practice since returning from spring practice in Venice Fla. last week. "Climate shock" is how one player

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar

Don't look now, but the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde of the backyard animal world is probably in your lawn or nearby it this very minute.

No, it's nothing exotic or rare—it's the robin. And he exhibits not just two but three distinct personalities as the seasons change.

In the spring, he's friendly and tolerant of humans in his territory. He's often out on the lawn when we come out in the morning, and he doesn't fly away—just moves off a bit, keeping a safe distance but going on about his business of hunting worms. If he's not on the lawn, he's sitting in a tree or on a nearby fence singing his heart out to declare his territory. The robin is one of the earliest birds to sing—you may hear his pleasant song long before the sun comes up.

Robins will be building nests soon. Windowsills, garages and porches are favorite nesting sites, so the robin family often provides little humans with their first glimpse of the process of egg laying and incubating, hatching and growth, feeding and learning to fly.

About the time strawberries and cherries begin to ripen, Dr. Jekyll gives way to Mr. Hyde. The familiar behavior that was so endearing in early spring suddenly seems overbold, as the robins and their growing family take a big share of the fruit even before it's fully ripe.

For backyard gardeners, this is more a nuisance than a crisis, but for commercial growers who can lose income to flocks of robins, this behavior causes more than an inconvenience—it's a threat to their livelihood.

In the fall, the robins move away from urban and suburban yards into rural woods. It may seem that they've all gone unless you visit the woods and see them there. Don't expect to see the same bird you knew so well in the spring, however. The familiar yard bird now behaves like a timid woodland thrush—it doesn't sing, it scratches in the forest litter looking for bugs, it flocks in large numbers and it flees at your approach. Its behavior is shy and secretive, much more like that of the wood-thrush than the bird we knew in April.

Most of the robins do leave Michigan in November or

December when the weather turns cold. Some remain in the woods, where they can find wet areas or spots free of snow, where they can scratch through the leaves and find invertebrates to eat. They also feed on berries

Ron Kiel Enters Big Truck Pull

Many of the region's top truck pullers are participating in Pull-O-Rama at The Coliseum, in Cleveland, O., Friday, April 12, and Saturday, April 13 at 8 p.m.

Ron Kiel of Chelsea will put Twister to test in the Super Modified Trucks category, competing for more than $20,000 in prize monies.

Pull-O-Rama is the All-Star game of truck pulling. Its statistics are impressive: 30 of the hottest trucks pulling on the circuit today, with engines loud enough to blow McEnroe off the court, and tires tall enough to give Kareem a headache.

KAREN WILSON, former Chelsea left fielder softball player is a starting left fielder and catcher for Siena Heights College in Adrian this spring. Karen, majoring in hotel, restaurant, and institutional management, is the daughter of George and Marge Wilson of Orchard St. She earned a 3.0 grade point average her first semester.

KEVIN MAYNARD, junior pitcher-designated hitter, lunges and makes the catch. The team hopes for better conditions for their home opener Saturday against Pioneer.

Wool Growers To Receive $90 Million Incentive Pay

Sheep producers will receive about $90 million in federal incentive payments on wool and lambs they sold in 1984, while mohair producers will receive about $10 million, according to Everett Rank, administrator of the USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The 1984 national average market price for shorn wool was 79.5 cents a pound, 85.5 cents less than the $1.65 per pound support price, Rank said. Dividing the difference (85.5 cents) by the average market price (79.5 cents) results in a 1984 payment rate of 107.5 percent, compared with a payment rate of 149.6 percent in 1983, he said. The payment rate is the amount required to bring the average price received by all producers up to the support price.

For mohair, the 1984 average market price was $4.30 and support price $5.169, making the payment rate 20.2 percent, compared to 14.2 percent in 1983, Rank said.

The wool and mohair programs encourage the production of higher quality fibers because the more producers receive from sales, the more they receive in government incentive payments. Producers' payments are determined by multiplying the payment rates (107.6 and 20.2 percent) times the net dollar return received by producers from wool and mohair sales.

Producers will receive $3.42 per hundredweight in federal payments for unshorn lambs they sold or slaughtered in 1984. This payment is based on the shorn wool payment rate, the average weight of wool per hundredweight of lambs and the price of lamb's wool relative to the national average price for shorn wool, Rank said.

Nature Center Plans Variety of Spring Programs

Spring is here and the Waterloo Natural History Association is offering a variety of week-end programs free to members and the general public. Most programs begin at the Nature Center parking lot, although some are scheduled to take place elsewhere in the Waterloo Recreation Area. The nature experiences, designed with fun in mind, are planned throughout April, May and June.

Programs include a "Night of Amphibians" on Saturday, April 13. An invitation is extended to join Carol Strahler and Almuth Tschunko for an evening of musical madness—the calling of spring peepers, chorus frogs, wood frogs, leopard frogs, American toads, and more. Adequate preparation should include protection from wet feet and a flashlight.

A perfect gift for the right nature-loving mom might be the "Mother's Day Wildflower Walk" scheduled for Sunday, May 12. A walk through the beech forest with Dorothy Blanchard will reveal a bounty of beautiful spring flowers.

Offered in the June schedule will be a fishing clinic, a full moon walk, a workshop on insects and one of many dog walks planned.

Those interested in volunteering to give week-end programs, or those seeking more information, may contact Holly Hartman at 769-0681.

Good Smelt Season Predicted

When sportsmen hit the streams with their buckets and nets for the annual smelt run this spring, they should find a repeat of 1984's productive year along Lake Huron and generally better results in the Upper Peninsula, reports the AAA Michigan.

The hundreds of tributaries of Lake Huron traditionally provide the state's best smelt dipping, especially the East Branch of the Au Gres River in northeast Lower Michigan.

Department of Natural Resources officials rated the 1984 season good to excellent along Lake Huron and predict similar results for this season. Since many beaches are private, fishermen should check if permission is needed before heading out.

In southeast Michigan, the St. Clair River system in St. Clair County usually has the earliest runs of the year and annually good results come from Algonac south of M-29 north to the foot of the Blue Water Bridge in Port Huron.

Smelt action is not as heavy along Lake Michigan, although Deer Lick and Brandywine creeks south of South Haven generally provide good results. DNR officials in the U. P. predict generally better results off Lake Superior in the western section.

Best smelt runs this spring should be in the second and third weeks of April in the Lower Peninsula. Strongest U. P. runs should be from the third week of April into early May.

Smelt runs usually occur between 10 p.m. and 1 a.m. in water temperatures of 40 to 45 degrees, but good runs sometimes occur on dark days. The small silvery fish, a delicacy when broiled, pan fried or deep fried in batter, first was planted in Michigan waters in 1912. Ten years later, anglers started catching them.

The annual smelt run has grown into a spring ritual among Michigan's sportsmen. Age is no factor and the sport doesn't require fancy equipment or a lot of expertise.

The AAA's 1985 Smelt Guide lists 63 smelt hot spots, including Point Pelee National Park and the Wheatley area southwest of Detroit, both in Canada.

Extended hours from 6 a.m. to 2 a.m. have been set at Point Pelee from April 12-28. Park officials expect an average to poor season after several years of slower runs.

Smelt dippers are allowed to use hand nets up to one-half mile upstream from any river mouth from March 1 to May 31 south of M-72 and from April 10 to May 31 north of M-72. Large dip nets up to 9 feet square are allowed by permit only on some streams.

Additional regulations are noted in the DNR's 1985 Michigan Fishing Guide, available where fishing licenses are sold.

When the members of some tribes intended to clear a bit of forest, they first built and furnished a little house for the forests' spirits to live in when their trees were gone.

Environmental Open House Slated

To most people, gardening is one of the most healthful activities a person could be involved with. Few people, though, realize that their backyard watering, fertilizing and chemical use can have a big effect on the quality of water they drink.

To help Livingston and Washtenaw county residents keep their water safe and unpolluted, an environmental open house is slated for Saturday, April 20 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Pinckney Middle School, on the corner of M-36 and McGregor Rd. in Pinckney. The event is sponsored by the Hamburg Environmental Review Board along with the Cooperative Extension Service in Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

Participants will be able to join workshops, see displays and visit with environmental experts from throughout southeast Michigan.

"Many people are very concerned about the quality of their drinking water," says Nancy Roberts, Hamburg Environmental Review Board chairperson, "and want to learn what they can do in their own backyard to protect their water supply. We hope to give them that information."

The workshops will cover many topics, including water and septic system maintenance, gardening, landscaping near water and using household chemicals. There will be poster contest judging, movies, special activities for children and free auto emission testing. Free trees will be given to those attending.

"Anyone can join us for the whole day," says Roberts, "or spend as little as an hour at the open house, if they wish."

This program is free of charge. Refreshments will be available. For registration information and a complete workshop schedule for this open house, call the Cooperative Extension Service in Livingston county (517/846-3900) or Washtenaw county (313/973-9510).

WCC Weight Lifter Gives Program at Prison in Milan

Washtenaw Community College program director and world class weight lifter Ralph E. Galvin gave a presentation in drug-free power lifting at the Milan Federal Correction Institution March 26.

Galvin, who is public service training co-ordinator at the college, demonstrated the bench press, of which he is undefeated champion, and spoke on weight training without the use of "strength enhancing" steroids. Galvin holds the state record in power lifting.

A former police officer and administrator, Galvin used weight training to recover from a spinal injury he sustained in the line of duty. He speaks frequently against the use of anabolic steroids and other drugs in weight training, and competes regularly all over the Midwest.

MAP OF LIMA TOWNSHIP

County Atlas of 1874 Lists Early Lima Township Settlers

From the leaves of the "History of Washtenaw County, 1881," comes this excerpt concerning Lima township:

"The following is an extract from a paper on Lima township, prepared specially for this work at the request of the general committee, by Morrell Goodrich, vice-president of the Pioneer Society."

"William C. Lemmon purchased his land from the general government, May 19, 1825, but did not settle thereon until 1830."

"Samuel Clements arrived about the same period, purchased 640 acres of land, on which he, with his family, settled Aug. 11, 1825."

"Jerome Loomis settled in June, 1825; married Margaret Conway in 1832; Russell Parker in 1826, married Hannah Cowan in 1830, and died Nov. 4, 1880, aged 84 years. William Wightman settled in 1826; William Bouclier in 1827, married Jennette Simons in 1831; Hezekiah Riggs settled in 1829; Marvin Cadwell, Francis Dougherty, Elias Eastern, John Done, James and Thomas Mitchell came in 1830, and made their locations. John Davis, Calvin Winslow, Jacob White, Thomas Haffey, Lemuel Scott, William Nordman, Gaudeloupe Nordman, Hiram Gregory, Curtis Hurd, Ananna Bennett, Darius Pierce, Hiram Andrews, R. Suell, Samuel Cooper and John Hartford came in 1831."

"The first frame house built in the township was that by Jason Caldwell in 1830. He sold the farm to David Dickson, which now (1881) belongs to B. C. Whitaker, who came to Michigan in 1835. The house was painted red, then yellow, from which fact it was called the Yellow Tavern."

James and Thomas Mitchell commenced building Samuel Clements' large frame house in the year 1830. It is now (1881) occupied by the widow of Charles Clements. This is the oldest house now occupied in the township."

"Garleck built the house that is now owned by Hiram Pierce in 1831. It is located a few rods west of the town line in Sylvan. Hezekiah Riggs, noticed in reference to the first blacksmith, traded a span of horses with Samuel Clements in the year 1829, for the west half of the north quarter of section 25. Rufus Crossman was the first merchant opening a store at Lima Center, as early as 1832. Reeves had a store at the Center in 1840, which, after some years, he sold out, and moved into the township of Pinckney. There he established a flouring mill, and subsequently a distillery, which won for the property the title of the Devil's Half Acre."

"The first tavern that was opened at Lima Center was a large log house kept by John Hartford, in 1830. The first frame building that was occupied as a tavern stands there still. The barn that is attached to this house is an old dilapidated building, and is the second building at the east end of the village. Curtis Hurd opened a log-tavern one and one-half miles west of the Center in 1831, and afterward built a large frame house and barn. This was the principal tavern of the district for many years."

"There was a saw-mill built by Shaw and Arnold at the Center as early as 1834. It has long since passed away like the once flourishing village of Lima Center."

"New Jerusalem was platted by John K. Bingham. He built a saw-mill there in 1832, on the south branch of Mill Creek. Palmer Westfall erected a grist-mill about 1860, which is now operated by John G. Mockle. This mill does all the custom work for the farmers of southern Lima, Freedom and the north part of Sharon and Bridgewater. The little village comprises 15 buildings, a blacksmith shop, a cooper shop and one store."

"This is a small unincorporated village, and was laid out in 1838 by W. A. Shaw, J. E. Freer and Abram Arnold. Some time previous, a settlement had grown up here, and between the years 1833 and 1841 it was quite a thriving place, having at one time two hotels, three stores, and other business in proportion. The first store was opened by Rufus and William A. Crossman. The next was by John Bacon. On the completion of the railroad to Jackson, through the village of Dexter, the village of Lima began to decline. It now has about 15 buildings and less than 100 inhabitants."

"The first post office, established in 1832, was called Mill Creek, the name by which the village of Lima was known before it was platted. Asa Williams was the first postmaster. Its present, (1881) postmaster is William Covert."

The Dexter Leader and The Chelsea Standard gratefully acknowledge the time and effort spent in compiling the colorful past in order that it may be enjoyed in these, the later on years of Lima township, with the hope that its history will continue to reflect the fine farmland, the hard-working people and the rich heritage through which it has become known."

Valley's Railroad History Is Subject of Club Meet

"Huron Valley: The Water Level Route," a slide presentation about the railroad line through the Huron River valley from Ypsilanti to Dexter, was given by Evan Garrett of Ann Arbor at the regular monthly meeting of the Ann Arbor Train and Trolley Watchers on Friday evening, March 15, at 8 p.m. in the parish hall of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, 306 N. Division St., Ann Arbor."

Garrett, chairman of the history department at Schoolcraft College, is an avid railroad enthusiast and historian. His talk covered the geological characteristics of the Huron River valley and the evolution of the railroad line from its beginnings to the present. The railroad entered Ypsilanti from Detroit in February 1838, was built to Ann Arbor by the fall of the following year, and reached Dexter in June 1841."

First owned by the State of Michigan, the railroad was later a component of the Michigan Central Railroad, which was assimilated into the New York Central system in the early part of this century. In the 1960s the line was a part of the Penn Central railroad and since 1976, of the Conrail system. Amtrak trains between Detroit and Chicago use the route daily, operated by Conrail employees."

The Ypsilanti-Dexter segment is notable for having 16 railroad bridges in 17.5 miles of track."

Also on the program was a slide presentation by Mark Cowles of Howell on current British railroading."

Ann Arbor Train and Trolley Watchers is an unstructured group of railroad enthusiasts from southeastern Michigan who meet monthly at the church from September through June for visual presentations, literature exchange, and discussion."

In old Germany, people believed that wheat waving in the wind meant that a vegetable spirit was passing through it.

Chelsea Resident Honored As Outstanding Educator

Three Ingham Intermediate School District teachers were honored as the district's outstanding educators, 1984-85, at a reception on Friday, March 15.

Among the three recognized by their peers for outstanding service as educators was curriculum specialist from Chelsea, Judy Smith, Ph.D. She has been on the staff of the Ingham Developmental Center (IDC) since 1978.

The IDC is the Intermediate's school for mentally and multiply impaired students. As curriculum specialist Smith oversees the educational progress of all the students and assesses students presenting unusual difficulties for the teacher and works with the teacher in developing various methods of instruction.

Currently she is teaching a computer-assisted reading program and a human growth and development program for IDC students. Smith is also an active participant in the Center's behavioral management program."

Smith earned a bachelors, masters and doctorate from the University of Michigan. She has been a teacher in the Wayne county schools, curriculum coordinator for Project KEEPS, the University of Michigan, a lecturer at Eastern Michigan University and a consultant for Ford Motor Co. She was a research associate with the Reading Improvement Service at U. of M."

Smith has served as an adjunct lecturer for Michigan State University, and has been a speaker and consultant throughout the state and the nation. She has written extensively on education and has developed instructional materials and computer software for teachers and students."

In support of her nomination, Judy Bischoff, a fellow teacher, said, "Since the first year of the IDC's existence, Judy has been a prime influence in developing the IDC program. She has given teachers the tools with which to deal with behavior management and has helped develop all areas of instruction. She has a curiosity for investigating new ideas in education and seeing what will work at the IDC." The reception honoring Dr. Smith and her colleagues, Nels Bullock and Jay Osterhouse, was held from 3 until 5 p.m. at the Education Service Center, 2630 West Howell Rd., Mason.

NOTICE TO CHELSEA VILLAGE RESIDENTS

ANNUAL SPRING RUBBISH CLEANUP

APRIL 1 THRU APRIL 12, 1985

The 1985 Annual Spring Residential Rubbish Cleanup will be held this year during the first two weeks of April.

During the first week, April 1 thru April 5, village crews will pick up on Main Street and the west side of Main Street. During the second week, April 8 thru April 12, village crews will pick up the east side of Main Street.

In an effort to speed up this year's Annual Cleanup, we are asking village residents to separate their rubbish and place it in separate piles in front of their homes in the following manner:

1. All metals including appliances
2. All wood and lumber materials
3. All shrub and tree trimmings
4. Any items not included in the above must be put in plastic bags and placed in a fourth pile

The purpose of this Annual Cleanup is to assist village residents in disposing of their household rubbish that accumulates during the year. Items that are normally too large in size or too much in quantity to be disposed of through the regular weekly collection service provided by the village. Village crews will not pick up demolition materials such as buildings or parts of buildings, concrete or asphalt driveways and sidewalks.

All-Night Prayer Service Scheduled

Pastor Phil Farnsworth, of Chelsea First Assembly of God, has announced an "All Night" prayer service to be held Friday, April 12. The concept is not meant to be a novelty, nor a church promotional, but an effort on behalf of the church to pray for NEEDS!

"Prayer will be lifted up for the needs of our community, our nation and the world. We will be praying for our leaders, local to the national level. Also the pressing needs of people will be lifted up to God. Telephone calls, to share needs individuals may have, will be accepted throughout the night at the church. Individuals may phone in needs after 9:30 p.m. on Friday until approximately dawn on Saturday morning. Call (313) 475-2615," said Pastor Farnsworth.

Christian Fellowship To Hear Missionaries

"We're all excited here at Chelsea Christian Fellowship, located at 337 Wilkinson St., Chelsea. We will be enjoying special meetings on April 12, 13, and 14. The emphasis of these meetings will be making a personal commitment," according to Pastor Erik Hansen.

Speakers throughout the services will be missionaries Howard and Marilyn Moore, and Bill and Sue Cristobol. Both Howard Moore and Bill Cristobol have family and friends in and around the Chelsea area.

The Moores, and Cristobols are involved with missionary fellowship called JAARS. (Jungle Aviation and Radio Service.) JAARS headquarters is located 30 miles south of Charlotte, N.C. JAARS has been providing safe air travel for missionaries since 1947 in and out of hostile and friendly remote jungle areas. Along with air travel they also set up two-way communication centers to enable missionaries to call for supplies, and medical assistance, etc.

JAARS flies approximately 15,000 air hours per year in and out of 14 countries. There are 45 planes and helicopters in service.

JAARS is part of the Wycliffe Bible Translators. Wycliffe is working in 40 countries to translate the New Testament into native words and language. Wycliffe workers have translated the New Testament into 225 languages. Their goal is 1,000.

No-Till Crop Practice Becoming More Popular

"No-till corn and soybean grown in Michigan increased by 50% in 1984," stated Dwight Quisenberry, Soil Conservation Service (SCS) agronomist in East Lansing, as he evaluated a recently completed conservation tillage survey.

According to the survey, which was made by the Soil Conservation Service field offices in Michigan, there were approximately 156,000 acres of no-till corn and 30,000 acres of no-till soybeans grown in the state last year. This compares to 1983 when approximately 105,000 acres of no-till corn and 20,000 acres of no-till soybeans were grown. The 1984 increase indicates expanded acceptance and use of no-till.

No-till wheat increased from 11,000 to 21,000 acres and hay and pasture seedings from 6,000 to 15,000 acres.

Other no-till crops grown were barley, oats, sweet corn, rye, asparagus, popcorn, tomatoes, flax and buckwheat.

No-till, planting crops through the residue left from the previous crop, is considered the most effective form of conservation tillage. It saves more soil, labor, machinery and fuel than other tillage systems.

Quisenberry indicated increases were due to promotional efforts by the Michigan Association of Conservation Districts, local soil conservation districts, technical and educational work by the Co-operative Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service and Michigan State University.

"This is not a closed prayer meeting, but an invitation is extended to anyone that believes in 'Intercessory Prayer' to join our prayers with ours. Those who will be taking part will be gathered at First Assembly of God, 14900 Old US-12 (across from Polly's) at 10 p.m. It is to be noted, however, the church will be open all night, so individuals may come in later and leave whenever they feel they must," Pastor Farnsworth added.

For more information, or to call in a prayer need earlier, contact Pastor Farnsworth at 475-9234. If no one is able to take your call personally, the phone will be answered mechanically and Pastor Farnsworth will get back with you.

Howard Moore is one of the head administrators at the JAARS headquarters in Waxhaw, N.C. There he oversees the operation of construction, computers, supplies, purchasing, shipping and radio communications world-wide. Howard and his wife Marilyn have four children, including David, 23, who will be working in Teen Missions this summer; Sarah, 21, who is working with Wycliffe; Carolyn, 15, who will be going with Teen Missions to Greece this summer; and Mary Jean, 14, who is still looking to the future.

Bill and Sue Cristobol and three-year-old daughter, Jodi, are home on furlough from Pau Pau, New Guinea, where he is one of JAARS helicopter pilots.

The schedule of services will be as follows:

Friday, April 12 at 7 p.m., slide or film presentation.
Saturday, April 13 at 8 a.m., men's breakfast with missionaries Bill and Howard speaking. At 12 p.m. there will be a ladies luncheon with Marilyn and Sue being the featured speakers.

Sunday, April 14 at 10 a.m., regular service then Howard Moore will be ministering in the 11 a.m. service, with Bill Cristobol ministering and sharing in the 6 p.m. service.

Pastor Erik Hansen and the congregation invite everyone to attend these special services.

Family Is Subject Of Prison Film

Chelsea Free Methodist church will be showing a motion picture release of International Prison Ministry of Dallas, Tex., entitled, "Honey, Your Mama's in Prison."

The film is a unique look at the importance of the family and the tragedy of family break-up as seen through the eyes of mothers who have been imprisoned for murder, assault, trafficking in drugs, forgery, and embezzlement.

It was filmed inside one of the largest women's correctional facilities in the United States—Florida Correctional Institution, Lowell, Fla. The entire prison population of 650 inmates was involved in the making of the 45-minute documentary as were the officers and staff of the institution. Family members of some of the inmates were also interviewed.

International Prison Ministry, the producer of the film, is a non-denominational organization whose principal work is providing free Bibles and books to prisoners in more than 6,000 prisons and jails in the United States and Canada.

The film is free to the public and will be shown at the Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7665 Werkner Rd., on Sunday, April 21 at 6 p.m.

Schools Borrowing $3.2 Million Until Taxes Distributed

Chelsea School District will borrow $3,200,000 to remedy its annual cash flow problems pending the necessary approval by the Municipal Finance Division of the Michigan Department of Treasury.
The resolution was unanimously adopted by the Chelsea School Board at its April 9 meeting.
The board faces this task every year because of the way tax revenues are paid to the district. For example the district didn't receive any money for this fiscal year until January, according to assistant superintendent Fred Mills. Consequently, the money is borrowed so the district can operate from the new fiscal year beginning July 1 until those revenues begin to come in.

The loan is handled on a bid basis. Banks and other financial institutions submit bids, and the board is required to accept the lowest bid, according to Mills. He said that the rate for last year's loan was 7.05 percent, which translated to approximately $176,000 in interest payments.
Once all the paper work is complete, the board hopes to have all bids by Monday, May 20 at 2 p.m., in time for the evening's board meeting.
The pay back date for the loan, Mills said, is April 4, 1986.

Ann Arbor Company Now Hauling Our Trash

The company that was in charge of hauling away Chelsea's weekly accumulation of trash has been bought out by a much larger Ann Arbor company.
Diamond D Rubbish of Lima Township sold its four trucks and routes to Contractors Containers Corp., a company that works in Washtenaw and Livingston counties. The company, with 25 trucks, has been in business for 16 years, according to company vice-president Steve Dawdy.

Dawdy made a brief presentation to the village council at its April 2 meeting before the council voted to let Contractors take over the contract the village had with Diamond D.
"Contractors is a much more state-of-the-art trash hauling company than Diamond D was," Dawdy said. In his presentation, Dawdy said that when the village's old contract expires, the village has the option of using plastic containers on wheels, which are lifted hydraulically into the garbage truck and emptied, rather than leaving trash bags on the curb which are manually disposed of. The 90-gallon containers are squarish, and the lids are fastened with stretch straps to keep animals out and the smell in, Dawdy said.

Dawdy also said that his company "tries to be professional in every way," and that consequently there would likely be some slight changes in service. For example, his company will pick up the main streets first in the morning so that "the trash is gone before traffic reaches its peak, it's safer and looks better."

In one study with healthy college students who smoked five marijuana joints for two to three months, highly significant differences in airways resistance were found. The researcher, Dr. Donald Tashkin, concluded, "if lung function continued to deteriorate at the same rate that was observed during the course of the study, individuals who continued to smoke an average of five joints a day would become disabled by respiratory insufficiency in a few years."

Fire Department Makes Four Runs

The Chelsea Fire Department made four runs from the first of April through Monday, April 8.
Two runs were for medical emergencies, one was in response to a motor cycle accident, and one was to extinguish an automobile fire.

Bicycle Licenses Are Required

With the warm weather beginning, Chelsea residents should note that it is a village ordinance that bicycles must be licensed.

Licenses are required primarily for the owner's protection. If a licensed bicycle is stolen, it is easier for the Chelsea police to find its owner when it's recovered. This is especially true, police say, if the bicycle is recovered in another city or town.

To register your bike, simply go to the Chelsea police department at 104 E. Middle St. The cost is $1. The bicycle's serial number is all that's required.

"SPRING IS SPRUNG,
The Grass is Ris,
I Wonder Where
The Flowers Is!"

Where the flowers is . . . is at the combined Gallup Services, Inc., and American Red Cross Booth at the Home & Leisure Living Show! Both organizations are heralding spring with a burst of variety, enthusiasm and color. The Red Cross will have blossoming potted plants for sale, with proceeds going for the organization's many activities. Gallup Services, Inc. will be introducing its own bouquet of names and logos—most in familiar red, orange or blue combinations, but all fresh.

Gallup Services, Inc., not a new name to this area, is presenting a "garden" of companies, some for the first time this spring, others only with fresh names and faces. The "Gallup Garden" offers a balanced planting of companies which can respond to most home construction and fuel needs.

Most easily recognized is Gallup-Silkworth ProGas and Gallup-Silkworth Fuels, the propane and retail petroleum branches of the long-established firm located on Ann Arbor's S. State Street. The two fuel companies offer a broad range of products to both residential and commercial customers.

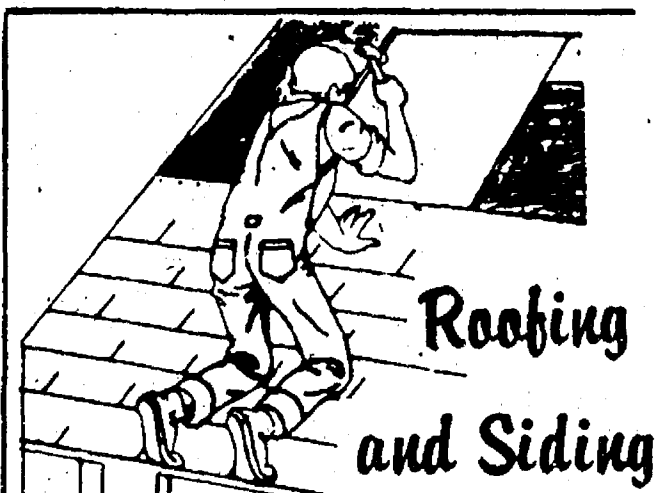

Gallup Heating, Cooling & Refrigeration sports a new name this spring but has operated in this area for many years. In step with growing concern for energy conservation, the company employs sales and service personnel who are available and qualified to counsel homeowners on the most cost effective ways to provide comfort to home and pocket-book at the same time.

Budding additions are Vedder Electric and Lillard Plumbing & Heating. Vedder Electric features experienced electrical work—from rewiring the simplest job to designing and installing the most sophisticated new construction requirements. Lillard Plumbing & Heating is familiar to many Ann Arbor residents and has joined Gallup Services, Inc. just within the past year. Lillard's is a full-service plumbing company and now has available new bathroom fixtures in colors easily rivaling even the brightest garden.

Gallup Services, Inc. points with pride at the part of their name that emphasizes the backing they give their products and performance—service. In broadening its list of offerings, the corporation has committed itself to standing behind each job with a service department trained to provide the fastest, most efficient help available. Management cites the fact that the diverse offerings are supported by an equally wide-ranging service network—enabling Gallup Services, Inc. to make single stop shopping for equipment, fuels and service an attractive possibility. Representatives of the various companies will staff the booth at the Home & Leisure Living Show to introduce the many products and services obtainable at Gallup Services, Inc.

Visitors to the many-faceted booth will be able to get answers to energy, fuel and construction questions while surrounded by some of the boldest, most fragrant and undoubtedly most welcome reminders of spring in Washtenaw County—tulips, daffodils and hyacinths, each 6" pot available for purchase at $6. Bring a friend, stop and smell the flowers—stopping at the display can prove beneficial to your budget, can be beneficial to the Red Cross's program and surely will prove beneficial to your spirit.

ENCORE FURNISHINGS CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

It was one year ago when Encore Furnishings opened their Ann Arbor store at Washington and Fourth. Since then the company has grown, needed much more room and has moved into the old Goodyear's Building on Main Street in downtown Ann Arbor. They are located on the first floor and have about 10,000 square feet of display area and their new store is absolutely beautiful.

Encore Furnishings specializes in oak, brass, and leather furnishings for homes and offices. Authentic reproductions of oak rolltop desks, file cabinets, flat top desks, computer desks, leather office chairs and sofas abound in quality at Encore to satisfy anyone's needs for this unique furniture.

They have upholstered furniture in turn-of-the-century styles, grandfather and wall clocks, a very large selection of dining room furniture, china cabinets with leaded glass, brass and iron beds, a complete line of bedding, including Serta, and large heart prints, framed or unframed.

Most of the company's furniture, about 70% is brought in from California; the remainder comes from North Carolina. This antique line reproduction furniture has been very popular in California for the past 10 years.

Professionals such as doctors and lawyers have been steady purchasers of the company's furniture in Ann Arbor. Soon, Encore will be adding an office design section which should be of great help to businesses.

James Flanigan, previously the owner of the Premier Galleries, now is the proud owner of Encore. He also has an Encore store in Birmingham with the same lines of merchandise along with a line of antiques, too. James has put in a lot of hard work and investment into his business and should be highly successful because of his quality furnishings.

Encore Furnishings will be exhibiting at the 1985 Home & Leisure Living Show and invites you to see their quality products there. Also, their downtown store is open Mon. through Sat.

G. E. WACKER, INC. OF MANCHESTER

If you enjoy a nice ride into the country side to do some of your shopping, G. E. Wacker of Manchester is a good destination. They have a little bit of everything and lots of service and hospitality.

Their ornamental shoppe contains a nice selection of gifts, pottery, candles, and ornaments for your front or back yard. Also, there is a party store which is stocked with a lot of items.

G. E. Wacker has a very nice selection of gas grills, chain saws, heaters, hand lawn mowers, riding lawn mowers, log splitters, portable generators, tires, L P gas bottles and more. Brand names carried by the company include Cub Cadet Tractors and other outdoor power equipment, Power-Tech garden tractors, Arkla gas grills, Ag-Tronic portable generators, Poulan chain saws, Kerosun heaters, Toyostove and WeedEater equipment.

A big part of the company's business is fuel oil and gasoline. They have a large fleet of trucks to serve mostly the Manchester, Chelsea and Dexter areas and they would like to serve some of the Ann Arbor market.

G. E. Wackers is about a 20 minute drive from Ann Arbor and it's a pretty drive. We think you would enjoy doing some of your shopping there.

The business itself was started by George E. Wacker's father way back in 1932. Since then it's been a family run operation. The company's address is 9050 Chelsea-Manchester Road in the village of Manchester.

Lighting is a wise investment

Selected properly and used wisely, lighting provides a low-cost way to make many tasks easier. Lighting also provides added security, safety, beauty and value to your home.

Your home lighting system should include the lights inside as well as those outside such as on your patio or porch, driveway, walkways, lawn and garage.

Interior lights can be used in different ways. Lighting provides for general room illumination (a ceiling light), task lighting (reading or sewing), and mood or accent lighting (creating a special atmosphere). Therefore, a variety of lighting levels or light bulb wattages are needed.

Lights on porches or over exterior doors say "welcome" and provide safety for guests visiting your home. Entrance lights also help you identify callers before opening the door. Floodlights, mounted on the garage, on poles, or on trees, can be used to light driveways, walkways and garden areas. Post lanterns also provide security lighting and beauty for both front and back lawns. An outdoor protective light (OPL) may be what you need to light a large area.

Lights can provide a measure of security whether you are at home, work or on vacation.

Remembering to turn lights on and off can be a chore. Lights can be controlled in a number of different ways. Depending upon your need and the type of lighting fixture, a light can be turned on and off by: setting an automatic timer, installing a photocell, a separate wiring application, motion or sound. Lights which turn on and off automatically will help you save energy and dollars.

For more information on lighting systems, call Detroit Edison. Visit your local Detroit Edison customer office for the best selection of light bulbs in town.

We have a security lighting presentation which is informative and available free of charge to your block club or other organized groups. One of our Marketing Services Representatives would enjoy the opportunity to talk with your group about the beauty, safety, security and value lighting can bring to your home.

Trend in remodeling is toward larger kitchens

In the 60's and 70's it was the family room. You saw all the ads for building family rooms on your home. Now, in the 1980's the trend seems to be toward bigger and more efficient kitchens. Lee Jordon, President of Craftmasters, Inc. of Belleville thinks he knows why.

"In the past few years, I've seen a marked increase in the number of people who want to enlarge their kitchens. I would estimate that 50% of those that I helped redesign their homes told me they wanted less emphasis on the TV room, and more on the kitchen. A larger table area is one important feature many kitchens are lacking, along with a service bar. Nearly every home we remodel is looking to increase the utility of their kitchen."

Lee Jordon has been remodeling homes for 18 years and is president of Craftmasters, Inc., located three miles south of Belleville on Sumpter Road near Willis Road. Craftmasters recently redesigned their 3,000 sq. ft. showroom with complete kitchen and bath displays. The lines carried by Craftmasters include nearly 40 door styles and 30 different color selections. Jordon also has seen a trend toward traditional cabinet styles in kitchens. "I've seen a growing trend toward traditionally designed kitchens. We still do kitchens that are European style, but the trend is toward the traditional style." Jordon believes This is true because most people in this area are "traditionally minded."

Remodeling kitchens and baths is a specialty of Craftmasters, Inc., but they also do additions, porches, roofing, garages and dormers. Jordon has found that his 18 years of experience remodeling homes helps him when he is designing a kitchen for a client. Jordon said, "A person designing a kitchen or bath has to know how to expand the walls, ceilings and electrical service to the house. With the general building experience I've gained, it's helped me to economically design a more efficient kitchen."

Craftmasters knows all aspects of the remodeling business, and one Ann Arbor resident who knows that well is Lou Velker, a resident of the Old West Side. "When my wife and I wanted to remodel our kitchen three years ago, we contacted Lee Jordon. Not only did he change our old, poorly designed kitchen into a beautiful kitchen, he also did it fast, professionally and the service was great," commented Velker. "Since we spend so much time in the kitchen, and because we wanted to keep the integrity of the old style, we were concerned about what would be done. We are very happy with what he did, and since then have had Craftmasters shingle our roof," Velker added.

Satisfied customers are a must for Lee Jordon, and he has now expanded his service to also offer appliances such as microwaves, stoves and ranges. It's a natural progression for a full service remodeler.

Craftmasters has several methods for serving people. One is to come to your home and help you redesign your kitchen or bath. The second is to offer the cabinets for sale at the store, which Jordon says is done by about 25% of his customers. He mentioned that the reality of home remodeling is not what you see in the displays in magazines. "All too often, people look at those beautiful pictures, only to find that it will not fit in their home." Jordon explained. "Most people need some help to insure a well laid out kitchen."

Craftmasters has financing available and accepts Visa and Mastercard. Their hours are Monday through Saturday 9 to 6. Craftmasters welcomes anyone to visit them at their booth at the Home & Leisure Living Show.

WELCOMES SPRING WITH
2ND ANNUAL FLOWER SALE

While you are thinking of Spring home improvements at the Ann Arbor Home and Leisure Living Show, don't forget to visit booth number 24. That is where volunteers from the American Red Cross will be selling the beautiful blooming flowers in the Gallup-Silkworth display.

The Red Cross will be offering six-inch pots of red tulips, yellow daffodils, and blue, white and pink hyacinths. The display will feature hundreds of these exquisite plants, with five or six flowering bulbs in each pot. Each pot will sell for $6.00, a tax-deductible contribution to the Red Cross.

The flowers will remain in bloom for a week to ten days, and the Red Cross will provide instruction cards on how to plant the bulbs outdoors for enjoyment for years to come.

The funds raised from this project will be used to fund vital Red Cross programs in Washtenaw County, such as first aid, CPR, and swimming classes, and disaster and emergency services.

These gorgeous flowers make lovely gifts, and add a fresh spring touch to any home or office. The plants will be sold on a cash-and-carry basis during the show, however advance orders may be placed by phoning the Red Cross at 971-5300. Plants may be picked up at anytime during the show, or the Red Cross will make deliveries on Monday, April 15th, for a small fee.

Its powerful 246cc engine is coupled with a reliable five-speed transmission, which offers both reverse and a super-low first gear. Plus, it features an electric starter, shaft drive and large front and rear carrier racks to help shoulder the load. All in all, the FourTrax[™] 250 works hard at letting you relax.

See the exciting FourTrax 250 and other fine Honda products at the 1985 Home & Leisure Living Show.
