The teachers were nominated by honor students.

Chamber of Commerce Raises Dues To Help Boost Chelsea Area

The Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce is asking present and prospective members to increase their dues payments, with the goal of tripling the chamber's annual budget.

C. of C. president Robert A. (Gus) Steger said the goal is to raise $10,000 to start financing a community promotion program.

"The board of directors has determined that we should expand, set some higher goals, and tell the public what we are doing," Steger said. "Our activities have been a sort of well kept secret, and we want to change that."

The chamber presently has about 70 members, who have been paying annual dues of $50 each, regardless of who they are or what they represent. That multiplies to an annual budget of approximately $3,500.

Under the new dues formula, individual members will continue to pay $50. Commercial enterprises are being billed for $150 and industries for $250. Additional members in all classes are being sought.

Poppy Sale Set Friday, Saturday

Chelsea VFW Post 4076 is sponsoring its annual "Buddy" poppy sale Friday, May 17 and Saturday, May 18, in downtown Chelsea.

Proceeds from the annual sale go to needy and disabled veterans in the Chelsea area.

Members of the VFW post and auxiliary will be on the street to sell the poppies, symbols of those who lost their lives in our country's wars.

The expanded budget will be spent, in large part, to finance a promotional campaign based on telling both village residents and tourists from out of town what Chelsea is all about.

"We want people to understand that Chelsea is a good place to live and a good place to visit," Steger said. "We want to produce some publicity and promotion materials, and they cost money. We have some ideas. What we need is community support, and that is what the new chamber dues structure is all about. We hope for a good response."

CHS Students Chosen for U. S. Collegiate Wind Band

Chelsea High school senior Phoebe Strong and junior Kim Collins have been accepted for membership in the United States Collegiate Wind Band, a highly selective musical organization which will make a concert tour of England and seven European countries in July.

Phoebe is the daughter of Robert and Ellie Strong of Chelsea, and Kim's parents are Jim and Carol Collins of Chelsea. Both girls play clarinet in the Chelsea High school band, conducted by William Gourley.

The invitation to tour with the United States Collegiate Wind Band was received from Prof. Al G. Wright, director of bands emeritus at Purdue University and conductor of all 11 of the band's previous tours since they were started in 1971. The wind band will travel for three weeks in England, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Holland and Switzerland. Among the cities in which concerts will be performed are London, Paris, Lucerne, Salzburg, Innsbruck, Lugano, Berchtesgaden, Chaux-de-Fonds, Munich, Andernatt, Verona, Cologne, Milan and Heidelberg.

KIM COLLINS

PHOEBE STRONG

The group will assemble in New York City for rehearsals prior to their departure from Kennedy Airport on July 7. While in New York City they will play invitational concerts at the Lincoln Center of the Performing Arts and in the Plaza of the Americas at Rockefeller Center. Acceptance for membership in this highly talented group of student musicians is considered an honor of national importance. The members of the 100-piece wind band are chosen from much of the United States once each year. Students from 47 of the 50 states participated in last year's tour.

Chelsea Bands Prepare For Season's Final Concert on Thursday

Chelsea Bands will present their final concert of the season on Thursday, May 16 at 7:30 at the high school gymnasium.

The program will include medleys from, "Hello Dolly," "Music Man," and "Westside Story." Dixieland and concert selections will also be included.

Dr. Max Plank, director of bands at Eastern Michigan University, will guest conduct the Symphony Band. Professor Carter Eggers of Eastern Michigan will perform a trumpet solo and a duet with senior Amy Wolter.

A special timpani and piccolo solo will be performed by flutist Laura Koepele and timpanist Joe Simon. Both students composed the duet and performed it at the District and State Solo and Ensemble Festival, receiving a first division rating.

The Clay High School Symphonic Band from Oregon, O. will also perform. They will also join Chelsea's Symphony Band for two selections.

The highlight of the evening will be a tribute to the 300th anniversary of the birth of J. S. Bach. The seventh and eighth grade bands, under the direction of Warren Mayer, the concert and symphony bands, directed by Bill Gourley, and the Clay Symphonic Band, directed by Charles Neal, will combine to form a 350-piece ensemble to perform "Two Bach Hymns" by John O'Reilly.

Admission to the concert is free.

Symphony, Freshman Bands Rated Tops at State Music Festival

Chelsea's Symphony Band and Freshman Concert Band were awarded First Division-Superior ratings at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's State Festival April 26-27. More than 400 bands from across Michigan participated in the event.

Four judges rated the bands, three judges rated the performance of prepared selections, and one judge rated the band's ability to play music it had never seen. The ratings are combined to determine the quality of the performance.

The judging panel included Harvey Benstein, assistant director of bands at Ohio State University; Dr. Joseph Parker, director of bands at Asbury College in Kentucky; Dennis Johnson, director of bands at Northern Illinois University; and Arthur Gorman, professor of trumpet and director of bands at Kellogg Community College.

The Freshman Concert Band was the only freshman group to receive a First Division Rating at the high school level. Most ninth grade bands participate at the junior high level. According to Bill Gourley, director of bands at Chelsea, the freshman group must perform with other bands at their level comprised of all grade levels.

"It's similar to having our freshman football team play in the state playoffs against a varsity team," Gourley said.

Volunteer Workers At Hospital Honored For Service Hours

Volunteer workers at Chelsea Community Hospital who contributed many thousands of unpaid hours were honored last Saturday during the annual meeting of the hospital auxiliary.

Those cited and the number of hours they contributed included: 5,000 hours—Ralph Fairchild. 4,000—Vera Briston. 2,000—Ella Aldrich, Jean Schneider.

1,000—Jean Cummings, Marge Daniels, Bonnie Delaney, Marge German, Wilma Picklesimer, Millie Townsend.

500—Elsie Balmer, Mary Harcourt, Fred Harris, Irene Hogan, Gale Johnson, Carolyn Knight, Lois Marshall, Shirley Nickerson, Marian Pierson, Nettie Severn.

250—Dorothy Beach, Leona Beeman, Norma Bernhard, Bev Hawks, Jean Mann, Gloria Mitchell, Doris Waggoner, Veretta Whitaker, Madeline Vallier.

Auxiliary officers are Gloria Mitchell, president; Jeane Riemenschneider, president-elect; Marian Pierson, treasurer, and Ruby Strieter, secretary.

A LOT OF HOURS: Ralph Fairchild (left) and Vera Briston have contributed 5,000 and 4,000 volunteer hours, respectively, to Chelsea Community Hospital through 1984 as members of the hospital auxiliary. They were honored at an auxiliary luncheon on May 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Burchett, Jr.

Bonnie Boyer, Donald Burchett United in Marriage April 27

Bonnie Jean Boyer and Donald Lee Burchett, Jr., were married April 27 at the First United Methodist church of Chelsea.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Winston Boyer of 515 Chandler St. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burchett, Sr., of 17230 Grass Lake Rd.

The Rev. Dr. David Truran performed the ceremony before 300 guests.

Tammy Gaspar, cousin of the bridegroom sang "We've Only Just Begun," while her father, Dean Stacey, played the guitar.

The bride wore a white lace over taffeta gown with scoop neckline detailed with simulated pearls, with three-quarter length puff sleeves. The veil accented the dress. She carried a bouquet of peach roses, daisies and baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Karen Kiel of Chelsea. She wore a floor-length peach dotted swiss gown with wide lace trim and stand-up collar. She carried a basket of flowers with peach carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

The bridesmaids were Heidi Boyer, sister of the bride, and Mary Beth Boyer, sister-in-law of the bride, both of Chelsea. Their dresses, and flowers matched those of the maid of honor.

Flower girl was Melinda Burchett, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a peach dotted swiss gown to match that of the other attendants.

Best man was Doug Burchett, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Jamie and Joel Boyer, brothers of the bride, and Harold Burchett, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a light turquoise floor-length gown with three-quarter length sleeves.

The bridegroom's mother wore a wine color floor-length gown with short chiffon sleeves.

Out-of-town guests were Jean Fenton from Glendale, Ariz., aunt of the bride, and Alene Burchett of Prestonsburg, Ky., step-grandmother of the bridegroom.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at Chrysler Local 1284 UAW Hall in Chelsea.

Brenda Hoelzer, friend of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The cake was prepared by the mother of the bridegroom with four tiers and a fountain in the middle, with two heart cakes.

Barbara Bunyak, Ruth Stacey, and Janice Miller, aunts of the bridegroom, cut the wedding cake.

Punch was served by Gini Boyer, aunt of the bride, and Diane Williams, friend of the bride.

Margaret O'Dell, friend of the bride, and Jean Fenton, aunt of the bride, were in charge of serving the food.

Guests were entertained by the Waco Country Band of Westland, uncle and friends of the bridegroom.

The couple took a one-week honeymoon trip to Kentucky and Nashville, Tenn. They are living in their home at Grass Lake.

Historical Society Offers Bus Tour to Amherstburg Fort

In pioneer days Washtenaw citizens were annually fearful when Indians from all over the mid-west passed through on their way to Amherstburg, Ontario, to get their annual presents from the Great White Father (King of England).

The Washtenaw County Historical Society bus tour Saturday, June 8, will retrace their journey to Fort Malden and stir memories of the War of 1812 and 1837-38 Patriot War when the border was not so friendly as now.

The tour will visit partly-restored Fort Malden at Amherstburg after lunch at the Navy Yard Restaurant in a restored 1849 building.

The restaurant is named for Fort Malden's one-time nearby navy yard where the British built and launched the ships captured by Commodore Perry in the Battle of Lake Erie.

The bus will cross the Ambassador Bridge to Windsor and stop for a superb view of the Detroit skyline and visit to the Hiram Walker local history museum before proceeding south along the Detroit River to Amherstburg.

The bus will leave at 9 a.m. from near the bank in the Maple Village parking lot and return by 5 p.m. The fee is $20 per person. Prepaid reservations due Saturday, June 1, to: WCHS Tour, 1520 Martha, Ann Arbor 48103. Please include phone number. For further information call 662-6275 or 663-8826.

Chelsea Breathers Club To Meet

The Chelsea Breathers Club will meet Saturday, May 18 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the private dining room at the Community Hospital. The discussion topic for the meeting is "Exercising With Chronic Lung Disease."

The Breathers Club is a social and educational support group for persons with emphysema, chronic bronchitis and asthma. The club is sponsored by the American Lung Association of Michigan and co-ordinated by Bob Pawlowski, director of cardio-pulmonary services at the hospital.

For more information about the club, contact the American Lung Association of Michigan or the Chelsea Community Hospital.

Family Practice Center Offers Running Clinic

Want to run the Dexter-Ann Arbor Race but don't know how to get started? The U-M Department of Family Practice and the University Health Service is sponsoring a women's beginning running clinic on Wednesday, May 15 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Family Practice Building, 1018 Fuller Rd.

Women attending the clinic may not be ready to run this year's race, but will learn how to get started on a running program, how to select the proper equipment and how to avoid injuries.

The clinic will be taught by U-M's Peggy Campbell, Robin Sarris and Cathy Susan. There is a $2 registration fee. To register or to receive additional information, contact the Department of Family Practice at 764-8010.

Early Pregnancy Class Stresses Pre-Natal Care

A special session will be held at the Family Practice Center at Chelsea on Early Pregnancy. This session will be taught twice—once on May 20 from 10 to 12 p.m. and the second on May 23 from 7 to 9 p.m. The sessions will deal specifically with nutrition, exercise, comfort, and sexuality issues of early pregnancy.

Chandice Harris, parent/child co-ordinator at the Family Practice Center stated, "infant and maternal illness and death has been decreased drastically over the last century. The reason for this is because of good pre-natal care." Harris adds that "health professionals who promote prenatal care are uncertain as to exactly what pre-natal care does to decrease illness and death, but they know that it indeed works."

Ms. Harris notes that she believes pre-natal care has helped to decrease the mortality rate because it is a good-sense, holistic approach to a healthy pregnancy. The basic components include a health exam, education and psychological family support.

The goal of all of these components of pre-natal care is to promote the health and well-being of the family, which enables them to emerge stronger and more developed as a family.

For this reason the Family Practice Center will hold this special session. It will be taught by Ms. Harris and Ms. Warren, nurses at the Chelsea Family Practice Center.

To register or for more information call 475-1321, ext. 430.

FRESHMAN MEREDITH JOHNSON will be spending this summer in Belgium as an exchange student, sponsored by Youth for Understanding International Student Exchange. She is one of 2,000 students selected to participate. She will live with a specially-selected host family, "but they haven't told me where yet." She's leaving June 24 and will return in late August. She is the daughter of Willard and Gale Johnson on Book St.

Scholarships Go To Area Students

Several area students have been awarded scholarships by Eastern Michigan University's Office of Financial Aid.

Michelle Ball, of 611 Vernon and Lisa Rickelman, of 9297 Meyers Rd., both in Manchester, were awarded Regents Scholarships, the most prestigious awards given by EMU. Recipients of the $1,500 award, renewable for four years, are required to have a high school grade point average of 3.75 and test scores of 24 on the American College Test or 1,050 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test. In addition, William D. Soloman, of 3215 Willis Rd. in Grass Lake, and Margaret Byers, of 4920 Bull Run, Gregory, have been awarded Departmental Uniqueness Awards of $750. The awards are given to high school students who have at least a 3.0 grade point average and "have an identifiable interest in majoring in one of EMU's departmental areas of specialty." Seventy-two of the awards have been given so far for the 1985-86 school year.

Chelsea Spring Concert To Have Original Piece

Tuesday, May 21, is the date set for the Chelsea orchestras' Spring Concert, to be presented at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Musical selections will include the Sentimental Sarabande of Benjamin Britten's "Simple Symphony," the G. P. Telemann "Don Quixote Suite," and songs from "M.A.S.H." and "Fiddler on the Roof," played by the high school orchestra.

A chamber orchestra consisting of 10 strings, seven solo winds, and percussion will premiere a contemporary work entitled "Leprechauns," which was commissioned by and written for the Chelsea High school orchestra by Ann Arbor composer, Scott Warner.

Warner is a Doctor of Musical Arts candidate at the University of Michigan, where he studies piano and composition. His most recent award came last week from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers for a solo piano work entitled "O Perfect Mirror." He holds a bachelor of music degree from Kent State University and a master of music degree from the University of Iowa. Besides being a talented composer and an accomplished pianist, he is also a skilled conductor, and will lead the orchestra in the performance of "Leprechauns."

This is a unique opportunity for Chelsea's high school musicians to explore the world of contemporary music under the guidance of the composer himself.

The eighth grade concert orchestra will perform a movement from Johannes Brahms' "Symphony No. 4" the, "Peasant Suite" by Bela Bartok, and "Chariots of Fire." The seventh grade string orchestra will play Dorian Variations, "Carefree Caper," and "Funny Fiddlin'."

Admission to this concert is free and open to the public.

Five Chelsea Residents Honored by CMHC

Lucy Dorr was one of five Chelsea residents honored by Catherine McAuley Health Center at the annual Employee Service Recognition Banquet May 9.

Dorr, who works in nursing, has been at Mercywood Hospital for 25 years.

Other Chelsea residents honored were: —Patricia O'Neal, clinical laboratories, administration, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital (SJM), 15 years.

—Isaac N. Gonyon, maintenance, Mercywood, 10 years.

—Patricia Menge, printing services, SJMH, 10 years. —Bonnie Schreiber, nursing, delivery room, SJMH, 10 years. Dorr started as a nurse aide soon after graduation from Chelsea High school. She enjoys the contact with people and "knowing that you have a little part in seeing someone get well." Mercywood Hospital and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are units of Catherine McAuley Health Center.

Kitchen Band Will Entertain Historical Society

The 17-piece Chelsea Senior Citizen Kitchen Band will entertain at the annual pot-luck dinner meeting of the Washtenaw County Historical Society at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 22, at the Ann Arbor American Legion Home, 1035 S. Main St.

Those attending are asked to bring their own table service and a dish to pass serving 8-10. Beverages and rolls will be furnished. It is open to the public free of charge. For further information call 662-6275.

The band, organized two years ago by Mary Parsons, features such instruments as spoons, kazoo and wash boilers along with piano and singers. It now gets more requests to play than it can handle.

Pianist Marian Rutledge, 83, used to play for silent movies in Chelsea and at the Black Sheep Tavern in Manchester.

In 1965 it was discovered that without international scientific co-operation, the world's largest land-dwelling carnivore—the polar bear—would become extinct in less than 10 years, reports International Wildlife magazine. Thanks to a kind of detente between the United States, the Soviet Union, Greenland, Norway and Canada, today the polar bear is alive and well, with a growing population of around 25,000 bears.

Bands Honored

(Continued from page one) the distinction of being one of eight bands or orchestras chosen by the judges to be invited to perform at the Midwestern Music Conference next year. "The band performed there in 1984 and I feel it's too soon to go again," Gourley said. The judges praised the musicianship of both bands and their performances. Their attention to musical understanding and nuance were praised.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Bill Mullendore

On the front page is a story about the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce campaign to increase its annual budget to $10,000 for the purpose of promoting the village. Ten thousand dollars isn't a lot when our government leaders talk in terms of millions, billions or even trillions, insisting all the while that they are being thrifty.

To me, ten grand is a bunch, a lot of money, and I wish President Reagan, Governor Blanchard and some other officials would shrink their focus to my level. I've never held $10,000 cash in my hand, and don't ever expect to. That kind of money is out of my personal ballpark.

That said, let me quickly add that I support the Chamber's goal of generating $10,000 in annual membership dues. It is a modest amount needed to get started on an ambitious program which promises to do nothing but good for the community.

If the program works, and it can, $10,000 will be a small price to pay for something that has the potential to reap a many-fold reward.

I suspect that many of the 70 Chamber members who received dues statements a few days ago were shocked. They were in instances, asked to treble or quintuple their former contributions. Instead of a flat $50 for every member, businesses and industries were asked to come up with $150 or $250. The fee remained at $50 for individual members.

Given today's price scale, those numbers are not outrageous. If anything, they are conservative. The fact is that $10,000 won't buy most new cars, much less a program to promote and improve the image of the community.

Last week I was privileged to sit in a meeting with Gus Steger, Bill Nuffer, Mark Heydlauff and Gabe Chérem, and listen to them as they sparked ideas. They are worth hearing. I took so many notes that I haven't been able to sort them all out yet. I could spend the next several weeks following up, even if I had nothing else to do.

For starters, what impressed me most was the up-beat attitude, and insistence that Chelsea has a lot going for it if only everything could be put together and bundled into a tiny package. That's true. I look at this town, and I see a lot. Few communities are more blessed.

I especially liked a phrase that Bill Nuffer used, "psychic income." BookCrafters derives 90 percent of its business from outside Michigan. What happens in Chelsea won't make a dime's worth of difference on the company's profit-and-loss sheet.

"We're here and are expanding here because we like it here and want to be here," Nuffer said.

"We could move anywhere, and it wouldn't affect our business. We want to be in Chelsea because it's a plus, something you can't measure in dollars, but it's there. That's what I call psychic income."

Nuffer went on to list some of the advantages—fine schools, a hospital-medical complex that probably can't be matched anywhere in a community of Chelsea's size, good government, shopping, pride, a broad industrial base, recreation, you name it.

"Maybe we have an edge when we want to attract some particular person to work for us. Maybe that person would rather live in Chelsea than someplace else."

I'm enthused about the Downtown Development Plan that Mark Heydlauff and others are promoting. The idea is to make the downtown a pleasant place to be in and shop in. It's bound to attract more shoppers and, eventually, more businesses. People will come from Ann Arbor and Jackson to shop in Chelsea.

The self-guided walking and driving tours suggested by Gabe Chérem would give visitors something to do and linger awhile in town. The fact that more than 2,000 people, many of them from out-of-state, tour the Jiffy Mix plant every year is a statistic to think about. Find a way to keep them in town overnight, or even for a few extra hours, and a lot of dollars would be generated.

The Chelsea Community Fair comes close to being a one-of-its-kind attraction, pulling people from all over. The fair board definitely should be brought into the planning process, and Steger assured it will be.

Last spring, when the Sesquicentennial celebration was on the drawing board, I had my doubts. There was no way, I told myself, that the event could be pulled off with nothing but volunteer help. It would be a disaster.

To my great delight, I was wrong. The Sesqui was a huge success. It showed me that there is a lot of human energy here in Chelsea, and that it can be put to work for the common good of the community if organized and given direction.

The program that I heard outlined at last week's meeting calls for a total community effort like that made for the Sesquicentennial. This one is different, because it isn't a one-shot deal. It will go on for years and may never end in the sense that all possible goals are finally achieved. There will always be something else to do.

The Chamber's drive for a $10,000 budget is a beginning. The money should be contributed with enthusiasm. It will be well spent.

Staff Chosen for 'Mame' Musical

The Chelsea Area Players summer production of "Mame" is well underway. A general information meeting was held Tuesday, May 14. Try-outs are scheduled for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 20, 21, and 22 at Chelsea High school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Anyone who missed the general meeting but is still interested in participating may call Marge Lewis at 475-3325.

Jan Koengeter has been selected as artistic director for "Mame." A graduate of Chelsea High school, Koengeter now resides in Hamburg. She previously directed the Chelsea Area Players production of "Plaza Suite" and has performed in several of the summer musicals put on by the Players.

A graduate of Eastern Michigan University and the University of Michigan, Koengeter is now employed as Performing Arts Supervisor with the Ann Arbor Public Schools. In this role, she supervises four Junior Theatre productions each year.

The "Goodtime Players" is the creation of Koengeter. This adult acting repertory company has been touring the area since 1979. Koengeter has also been active with the Saline Area Players. She directed their successful production of "Annie Get Your Gun" last summer.

"Mame" is being co-produced by Ruth Kenny and Marge Lewis. Ruth, who is pursuing her career in musical directing, has performed in several Chelsea Area Players productions. Most recently she performed in last summer's very successful "Annie." Ruth is on the board of the Players. Marge, a Chelsea High School graduate, has just completed her sophomore year in Eastern Michigan University Arts Management program.

Barb Aker has been selected as choreographer, and John Krueger as musical director. Brian Meyers will be technical director. Jerri Cole will serve as costume designer. Lavonne Harris is rehearsal pianist.

"Mame" is scheduled for four performances. Three evening performances are set for July 18, 19, and 20. There will also be a Saturday matinee performance on July 20.

For more information call Marge Lewis at 475-3325 or send a card to the Chelsea Area Players, Box 575, Chelsea 48118.

Items Reported Stolen From Auto Parked In Supermarket Lot

A Polly's employee reported to Chelsea police that a cassette deck, a purple shirt, and an empty brown wallet were stolen from his automobile while it was parked in the supermarket's parking lot on Wednesday, May 8.

Mike Hurst of Grass Lake reportedly told Chelsea police that there was no sign of forced entry to his car when he discovered the items missing. However, he said he left the doors locked, but when he returned the back door was unlocked.

No value of the items was immediately known.

Here Are Two Ways You Can Prearrange Funeral Services

By completing a simple form, you may file a record of your funeral service preferences at Cole-Burghardt. When death occurs, your family will know exactly how to proceed.

The second plan enables you to pay for services in advance so that your family will not be burdened with this expense during bereavement.

For more information on prearrangements, without cost or obligation, call or visit Cole-Burghardt.

IT WASN'T ALL GAMES at the sixth grade camp at Mill Pond last week. Among their many responsibilities, separate cabins took turns cleaning the dining hall after every meal. Floors were swept and mopped and tables were cleaned. Above, members from boys' cabin number one pitch in after their first dinner on Wednesday night, under the guidance of parent-volunteer Tom Kern. The boy in the front is Richard Barnes, and behind him is Don Grau. Other boys in the back include Alex Hammerschmidt, Chris Haugen, Garrett Kern, Andy Darwin, Shawn Thrush, Karl Wikman, Adam Hodge, Matt Francis, and Andy Hafner.

JUMP ROPE FOR THE HEART ASSOCIATION netted $2,071.05 by the 80 children at Beach Middle school who took part in the program in March. Ann Schaffner, front row left, who co-ordinated the program, received a special recognition by the Chelsea Board of Education for her efforts at the board's May 6 meeting. In the back row are the five boys who make up the team that raised the most money, $655.54. From left are Todd Ferry, Brian Zangara, Matt Herter, Garth Girard and Shawn McDaniel. Shawn collected the most of any student with a total of $351.20. The girls in the front row, after Schaffner, had the highest individual totals collected. From left are eighth graders Lisa Taylor and Heather Nelbauer, and sixth grader Sara Musolf.

AWARD-WINNING AUTHOR Joan Bloss of Ann Arbor, center, spoke to children at North and South schools on the occasion of their Young Author Days. Bloss won the distinguished Newbery Medal for her work "A Gathering of Days—A New England Girl's Journal." More than 100 students at both schools, listened to her talk about writing and reading. They also received certificates of appreciation for participating in the program. Some North school representatives of the program are, from left, Kyle Kentala, Jason Knisley, Heather Kendrick, Angela Tanner, Matt Cabaniss, and Courtney Prentiss.

background, looking dismayed, is fifth grader Garth Baize. These, and all the children who listened to Bloss talk, participated in the Young Author's Day, which was held at both North and South schools, Wednesday, May 8.

Bloss Speaks To Schools Authors

Joan Bloss, the award-winning author of a children's book who lives in Ann Arbor, visited North and South schools, Wednesday, May 8 in conjunction with their Young Authors Days.

elementary students were invited to submit their writing, and parents groups from each school selected the 10 best entries from each grade at each school. Those stories were then published in booklets at each school. Bloss autographed many of the students' books and spoke to them about writing and reading. She also talked about winning the Newbery Medal for her book, "Gathering of Days—A New England Girl's Journal," and passed the medal around for the children to examine.

"I'd rather see one of my books with dog-eared pages and chocolate milk stains than one with the pages just perfect and clean," Bloss said. "Then I know that book has been used and the words have been read and thought about."

Part of Bloss' talk was aimed at the parents in attendance. She spoke of the interrelationship of writing and reading and how parents shouldn't take the fun out of reading by making a child read sitting up in a chair, for example. Wherever they want to read should be all right, she said.

The project was co-ordinated at each school by the teacher of gifted and talented children, Marie Crouch, and was financed by the parent groups, PTN and PTS.

Lyndon Township Board Proceedings

Lyndon Township Board Meeting, April 30, 1985, Lyndon Town Hall, 7:30 p.m.

Meeting called to order and minutes approved as read.

George Coash reviewed our Planning Commission's activity regarding the pistol range request at the landfill. The Village of Chelsea submitted a Zoning Ordinance Amendment Application and the Township Planning Commission recommended denial.

Judy Ward attended the Washtenaw County Planning Commission meeting and summarized the meeting. The WCPC staff recommended approval but the WCPC recommended denial.

After much discussion there was a motion by Hurd, supported by Roderick, to refer the Zoning Amendment request back to the Township Planning Commission for further consideration. Carried.

Zoning violations handled. Moved and carried to sign the Washtenaw County Tax Systems Agreement.

Moved and carried to have the Road Commission apply three applications of brine and do the following work: Boyce Rd. at Joslin Lake Rd. - culvert; Boyce Rd. north of Farnsworth - culvert; and road work on Waterloo Rd. (Werkner to Dexter Twp.); Bush Rd. (Sylvan Twp line to Waterloo Rd.); and Mester Rd. (Waterloo Rd. to end of certification).

Moved and carried to adopt the 1985-86 Proposed Budget presented at our Annual Meeting with the following changes: Road Commission budget amended from $6,000.00 to $10,500.00 and General Contingency from $82,720.01 to $78,220.01.

Sheriff's, Treasurer's, Planning Commission's, and MTA's reports given.

Moved and carried to give $100.00 to American Legion Post 31 for flags to be put on graves for Memorial Day.

Moved and carried to pay bills totaling $3,332.62.

Moved and carried to enter into a 3-year contract with the Township of Stockbridge for fire protection.

Moved and carried to adjourn. Linda L. Wade, Clerk.

Lima Township Board Proceedings

Regular Meeting
Lima Township Board
May 6, 1985

The meeting was called to order by Supervisor Bauer at 8:00 p.m. and opened with the Pledge to the Flag.

Present were Supervisor Bauer, Clerk Bareis, Treasurer Messman, Trustees Heller and Trinkle.

Approved minutes of the March 14 Settlement Day meeting.

Approved minutes of the regular March 30 meeting.

The treasurer's report was received.

Notification was received from Secretary of State Richard Austin that Lima Township having a population of 2,000, or more, is eligible to become a charter township. Approved motion that the Lima Township Board go on record opposing incorporation as a charter township.

Approved Stover Appraisal contract for fiscal 1985.

Approved appointment of Leila Bauer as delegate and Robert Heller as alternate delegate to SEMCOG.

Approved raising the returnable fee to borrow a zoning ordinance to $25.00, and the cost to purchase an ordinance to $25.00, plus mailing costs.

Approved motion to charge $2.00 for the first copy and $.25 for each additional copy, per request. Residents tax bills and assessment cards will be copied free of charge.

Approved payment of bills as presented.

Approved motion to adjourn at 9:10 p.m.

Respectfully submitted, Arlene R. Bareis, Clerk.

Academic Games Team Finds National Competition Tough

The odds were stacked against them from the beginning, but the Beach Middle school Academic Games Team made a fine showing at the National Academic Games Tournament in Eatonton, Ga. according to coach Betty Cox.

Although the team didn't bring home any awards for their efforts, the children competed against nearly 400 talented middle school students from Michigan, Louisiana, Florida, and Pennsylvania. Over-all, there were about 900 competitors from the elementary level through high school.

According to Cox, the teams from Florida were financed by their county or state boards of education and the academic games program is institutionalized in every school. Anyone who has followed the exploits of the Beach team this year knows how much work was involved just to earn the money to go to the competition.

"They had a lot more preparation than we did," Cox said.

The Beach children also competed in games that were relatively new to them, such as Linguistics. The team did finish fairly high in the Equations competition.

"I think they came to appreciate just how good some of the competition was," Cox said.

In addition to the games themselves, the children had the chance to meet socially with those from the other states. The Beach team also entered a talent show with a skit, and the show was judged, in part, by Hunt

Hall, one of the original Bowery Boys.

All 900 students were housed in a 4-H camp about 50 miles southeast of Atlanta. Those who made the trip were Tammy Browning, Mark Goderis, Mike Thompson, Doug Neal, Chris

Refugee Sponsorship Study Session Slated

Church Women United of Chelsea have held two meetings this spring inviting members of the community to learn with them about the need for refugee resettlement.

On March 11, Gene Goodman, of Catholic Social Services explained that the State of Michigan ranks 12th in the U. S. in number of refugee resettlements. The LOVE group of Livingston county has resettled 34 Poles, and MERCI, of Mason, with the cooperation of six congregations, sponsored 150 families.

He also recommended before a community proceeds to apply for sponsorship of refugees, a core group from the community

Goodman stated a community should expect to incur a cost of $250 up to $300 per refugee person for the first three months. Federal food stamps and Medicaid medical insurance is available immediately. There is no welfare provided the first 90 days, and hopefully the refugee will be employed in 90 days so will never have to get on welfare.

becomes incorporated and obtains an IRS number. Each church, social or fraternal group participating would then contribute a sum into the incorporated group bank account. Usually for a refugee family the sum of $1,500 would be minimum to start.

At the second meeting April 15 for feedback from the representatives who attended March 11, too few were able to attend so nothing was decided on the initiative in sponsoring a refugee.

A third meeting is planned for Monday, May 20 at 9:30 a.m. at St. Paul United Church of Christ, on Old US-12. Gene Goodman will be back and a special guest will be Mrs. Mary Romine of Dexter who works directly to assist communities with refugee sponsorship. Church Women United is requesting all churches, fraternal and social groups in Chelsea to send a representative to this meeting. Anyone else who would like to learn about the needs of refugees is also invited.

Winnewana Lake Will Stay Dry Until Later This Year

If you are thinking about going fishing in Winnewana Lake, 5 miles northwest of Chelsea in Lyndon township, forget it for this summer. The 1,500-acre artificial lake, which was drained in the fall of 1983, will remain dry until late this summer, according to Ken Dodge, district fisheries biologist in the Jackson office of the Department of Natural Resources.

and do some repair work on the dike and control structure," Dodge said, "and then we'll start the re-filling process. Depending on how that goes, we may start re-stocking fish this fall." The lake is fed by tiny Winnewana Creek, which flows out of the original Winnewana Lake. It picks up additional water from some other flowages in the drainage area. The 1983 drawdown was done to control excessive growth of aquatic weeds which were contributing to periodic problem winter-kills of fish. Dodge believes the weed problem is in hand as well as it can be but cautions that shallow water will continue to be a probable cause of winter-kill. "I had hoped we could go in there with earth-moving equipment and dig some deep holes and channels," Dodge said, "but we weren't able to get the money. We'll still have a lake that is less than six feet deep on the average, and that's too shallow. In tough winters we'll lose fish, as we have in the past."

Winter-kill of fish is caused by a combination of shallow water and heavy weed growth, which combine to deplete the oxygen supply when a lake is covered with a thick layer of ice and snow. "I wish we could have done something about increasing the depth," Dodge said, "but we couldn't. Getting the weeds out will help."

Dodge said that Winnewana probably will be re-stocked with pike and yellow perch "because they tolerate low oxygen levels better than most other species." He predicted there will be a natural replenishment of bass, bluegills and sunfish from stock in old Winnewana Lake. "There could be some fishing next year, and by 1987 it could be very good," Dodge said. "Impoundments generally produce a lot of fish in their early years after drawdowns which rejuvenate them. The fishing may not be as good as it was during the 1950's when Winnewana was 'new', but my guess is that it will be very good if we can get through a couple of winters without heavy losses."

Band Wants 5th Graders

Chelsea bands are beginning their sign-up for fifth grade students interested in band. In April the students were given a music survey and last week band director Bill Gourley visited them to explain the various instruments.

Anyone interested in the band program should attend a meeting scheduled for Monday, May 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Beach Middle school band room. Those unable to attend should call Gourley or Warren Mayer at 475-9131. The meeting is designed to explain how to choose the proper instrument.

SUBSTANCE ABUSE

An In-Depth Look

By Bill Mullendore
(Third of a series)

Who is a substance abuser, a person ordained from birth to become addicted to alcohol or other sedative drugs? More important, what are the early signs of addiction? How can they be recognized and treatment sought before the disease takes a firm hold that may prove fatal?

Just as every individual is different, so is every addict. There is no set pattern, no syndrome of signs or symptoms which describes every alcoholic.

(From here on I will use the word "alcoholic" to cover all victims of chemical addiction, whatever the drug. Alcohol is by far the most commonly abused drug, although marijuana, tranquilizers and cocaine are grabbing hold of more and more victims, especially young people. In the end it makes no difference what the substance abuser is hooked on. All sedatives work the same way.)

I never experienced a "blackout" during my 38 years of drinking. A blackout is a lapse of memory, a blotting out of the past. It's as if your life was recorded on tape, and a portion of it erased.

Dr. Hardee Bethea tells of an airline pilot who flew a fully loaded jumbo jet from Chicago to Denver on a Friday and woke up the next Tuesday wondering where he was and what he had been doing the past five days. He had piloted the plane perfectly, but couldn't remember doing it.

Dr. Bethea has another story about a minister—yes, clergymen are included among victims of the disease—who was told by his wife on Monday morning that the day before he had delivered the most brilliant sermon of his life. The minister didn't remember having prepared it, much less giving it.

A young man in Chelsea Hospital asked me one morning, "What day is this?" I told him it was March 12. "The last day I can remember is Dec. 3," he said. "I know what I did that day, but I can't recall anything since. I just woke up today."

He had been hooked on Valium, a popular but much abused tranquilizer. His habit amounted to dozens of capsules a day, all legally obtained. (More about that in a later article.) His blackout was unusually long, more than three months.

Blackouts are an early sign of alcoholism. They are probably more common among "bingers" than among people who use drugs continuously to maintain a "high" but never quite lose touch with the world.

Anyway, if you wake up some morning not knowing where you were or what you did the night before, and had been using drugs, be aware that you are on the way to becoming an addict. It's an early warning signal.

Thinking back, I recall many times when I wish I had blacked out. The morning-after memories weren't pleasant. An alcoholic never wakes up feeling good, and can't wait to get a dose of drugs in order to feel better. Researchers studying the disease of addiction have come up with a description of an "alcoholic personality." It's a composite, and it doesn't match up with all substance abusers in all details. It may be useful to help identify yourself or someone else as a potential or actual abuser. I was startled by how closely the description fits me.

The alcoholic is above average in intelligence as measured by standard IQ tests, scoring in the 130-140 range. He is a compulsive high achiever in school. He has to be "the best" in whatever he does, be it academics, athletics, or other activities. Second place is never good enough.

That compulsion to excel carries on into later life. Doing well, succeeding at any cost is all-important. The alcoholic is never satisfied with his personal performance. He feels that he could have done better, and should have. He continually kicks himself. There is no such thing as "a good job well done," or a satisfying day's work. It should have been better.

The alcoholic sets impossibly high personal goals, and is frustrated and angry because he doesn't achieve them. After awhile, he begins to blame the rest of the world for what in his mind are failures. Everybody is out of step but him.

The alcoholic is a loner who doesn't relate well to other people because those "other people" are enemies holding him back from accomplishing what he thinks he should.

He can't make and keep friends. If he marries and has a family, he can't get close to his spouse and children. He has affectionate feelings toward them, but can't express them. Whatever he feels is kept bottled up. To let his hair down and say how he feels about someone or something is a sign of "weakness" and therefore to be guarded against.

While in the hospital I called my 29-year-old daughter to tell her where I was and why, and ask her to come to a family meeting. At the end, I said, "I love you."

She cried, "Dad," she sobbed, "that's the first time you ever told me that. I've been waiting all my life to hear it." I cried, too, and felt mightily ashamed. Good God, how warped can you get? That's what substance abuse does to you.

There are some other symptoms. You don't sleep or eat regularly. You care less and less about how you look. It becomes OK to skip daily showers, forget about shaving, put on dirty clothes.

The idea that you can relax and enjoy just doesn't register. There is no fun in life, other than drugs. You are haunted, driven, anxious, stressed, compelled by an outside force. You are irritable and snappish. You forget how to smile, let alone laugh. You can't share a joke. You fix your face in a frozen mask so you won't betray your emotions.

Your life is out of control and beyond your ability to manage it. You realize that, but can't do anything about it. You are addicted, and whatever drug or drugs you are using are running your life.

If you recognize yourself, get to Chelsea Hospital or some other substance abuse treatment center, fast. There is hope and help.

Chelsea, Saline Split Two Softball Games, And the Race Is on

After seven seasons of winning the Southeastern Conference softball championship outright, Chelsea faces the possibility of having to share it, or perhaps lose it, following last Wednesday's divided double-header with Saline here.

The Bulldogs dropped the opener, 4-2, as their usually strong defense came unglued. Errors made the difference. Chelsea committed five, and four of them hurt, leading to as many unearned runs.

The girls came back strong in the second game with a 12-0 victory merited after five innings, making it clear that they don't intend to surrender their league title by lying down and playing dead.

The first game was a nightmare from a Chelsea standpoint. Nothing much went right.

The Bulldogs got a run in the first inning and would have scored more but for a popped-up bunt that Saline turned into a double-play.

Saline scored three in the fourth, thanks to a series of Chelsea errors which opened the door. The Hornets had only one hit in that rally, but it came at the right time to drive in what proved to be the game's winning run.

Chelsea got one run back in its half of the fourth with the help of Saline's only error of the game, making the score 3-2. A double followed by a two-base error in the sixth re-established the Hornets' two-run lead, and that is how it ended.

The Bulldogs put the potential tying runs on base in both the sixth and seventh innings but couldn't bring them around, thanks to a couple of excellent catches in the Saline outfield which took away what looked to be sure hits.

The loss nullified a fine pitching effort by Beth Unterbrink, who gave up just two hits while striking out 10. She connected for two of Chelsea's five hits and drove in both runs, an outstanding individual effort.

Bulldog coach Charlie Waller doesn't get upset easily but was definitely unhappy about the game, calling it "the worst I've ever seen a Chelsea team play." That may have been an overstatement, but the performance certainly was not one to be remembered with joy by Bulldog fans.

Whatever Waller said to his players between games obviously registered. They came out storming and buried the Hornets with a barrage of hits, perfect defensive play and super pitching by Kelly Hawker.

Hawker threw her second straight no-hitter, and would have had a perfect five-inning game but for one wild pitch which hit a batter. She struck out 11. Only four Saline hitters got their bats on the ball.

Hawker is on a roll. She has given up just two hits and two unearned runs in her last four starts. "Kelly has been pitching very, very well," Waller said. "She gets stronger in every game. She is peaking at the right time."

While Hawker was shutting down the Hornets, her teammates were teeing off on Saline Class A school. The Bulldogs had only one hit, and that didn't figure in the score. Hawker struck out 15 while facing only 23 batters, two over the minimum.

The Bulldogs registered the game's lone run when Jenny Cattell walked and went around the bases on three passed balls.

Chelsea's next foe was Class A Flint Kearsley, and a 9-0 victory didn't come as easily as the final score might indicate. The game was scoreless until the fifth inning when Saline scored seven runs on as many hits, adding two more in the sixth.

Beth Unterbrink gave up three hits enroute to the shutout. Lori Folcik, Laura Anderson and Tina Paddock had two hits each, and Paddock, Unterbrink and Anne Weber each knocked doubles.

Next came Clarkston, another Class A school, and the Bulldogs won another tight one, 5-4, with Joann Tobin the winning pitcher with relief help from Chris DeFant and Hawker. Two diving catches in centerfield by Chris Mattoff proved instrumental in the victory.

Class A Romeo was Chelsea's next victim, 4-0. Romeo did manage to break Hawker's remarkable string of hitless innings with two safeties. Hawker had 10 strikeouts. Paddock hit a triple, and Anderson a double to lead the offense.

Still another Class A foe, Warren Cousino, was Chelsea's fifth opponent. This one went two extra innings before the Bulldogs won it, 1-0, in the ninth. Folcik walked, stole second, was sacrificed to third and came home on Paddock's third hit of the game.

Cousino played what Waller called "the best defense I've ever seen" to keep Chelsea off the board until then. Unterbrink pitched all the way—nine innings of shutout ball—yielding two hits and striking out 10.

Chelsea took a 1-0 lead in the second inning of the championship game against Mott and clung to it until the fifth when Mott broke through for five hits and four runs. The winners got an insurance tally in the sixth.

Hawker pitched well through five innings until she tired and required relief from DeFant. Laura Anderson had two hits.

"Dondero is an excellent tournament, the best we play in all season," Waller summed up. "The competition is outstanding, mostly Class A schools including some of the best in the state. It would have been nice to win, but we have nothing to be ashamed of."

Softball Team Beats Milan Twice

In a pair of lopsided games, both merited after five innings, Chelsea's varsity softball team defeated Milan, 14-2 and 19-4, in a double-header played on the Beach school diamond last Friday.

The twin wins allowed Chelsea to stay with Saline in the race for the Southeastern Conference championship.

The Bulldogs were behind only once during the afternoon as Milan scored a lead-off run in the opener. Chelsea came back with five in its half of the first, three in the third and six in the fourth to close it out under the mercy rule.

Chris DeFant pitched a strong two-hitter to record her third victory of the season against no losses. She also had two hits on offense as did Tina Paddock and Laura Anderson.

A bases-loaded home run by Beth Unterbrink highlighted the nightcap. DeFant had three hits included a homer, and Unterbrink and Paddock, two.

Joann Tobin settled down after a shaky first inning during which Milan scored all four of its runs to score her first pitching victory of the season, giving up just three hits.

The Bulldogs led, 13-4, after two innings, and went on to score six more times before the game was called at the end of five.

Chelsea Beats Lincoln, Keeps Pace in Race

Put into a must-win situation in order to claim a share of the Southeastern Conference title, Chelsea's varsity softball team responded with a 17-6 pounding of Lincoln there on Monday.

Chris DeFant and Jill Schaffner shared the pitching in the pitching ace Holly Knepper, who had thrown a strong four-hitter in the first game but was ineffective in the second. She may have just plain run out of energy. Pitching a double-header isn't easy.

The Bulldogs hammered the ball all over the place, scoring three runs in the second inning, one each in the third and fourth, and capping it off with a seven-run spurt in the fifth.

Anne Weber paced the attack with two doubles, and Laura Anderson stroked a triple. Joann Robin, Tina Paddock, Chris DeFant and Jenny Cattell had two hits apiece.

The split put Saline a half-game ahead in the SEC race with a 6-1 record, followed by Chelsea at 5-1. Upsets are always possible, but a good bet right now, is a tie for the championship.

Come tournament time next month, there could be a third game between the two teams to determine the winner of the season series.

Humane Society Offers Free Dog Training Clinic

Humane Society of Huron Valley will present a free clinic on dog training and care. The clinic will be taught by instructors from the Ann Arbor Dog Training Club, and will be held on Tuesday, May 21 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Education Center at 3100 Cherry Hill Rd.

The clinic will include demonstrations and information on housebreaking, chewing, crating, dog behavior, grooming, health care, and basic obedience. People and questions are welcome; pets should be left behind.

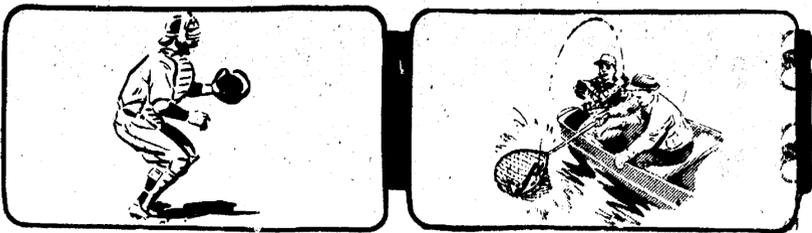

For additional information, contact the HSHV Education Department at 662-5545.

JV Softballers Win First Game On 'New' Diamond

Chelsea's JV softball team continued on its winning way with a 23-3 merited win over Lincoln here on Monday.

Pitchers Peggy Hammer-schmidt, Pam Brown and Laura Walton combined for a five-inning no-hitter. Chris Basso and Leah Enderle hit home runs, and Trisha Mattoff and Karen Weber had two doubles each.

It was the first game played on the resurfaced softball diamond at the high school. Players said it was "still a little rough" because it hasn't settled yet but is much better than the old infield which was sandy and soft.

SHERRIE ROSS of Milan has only one hand, but that doesn't stop her from playing a good brand of softball. Here she shows her batting form in last Friday's double-header at Chelsea.

She Plays One-Handed Registration Ball, Does It Very Well For Baseball Clinic Open

Playing ball with two hands is difficult enough, and doing it with only one borders on the impossible, but Milan's Sherrie Ross proves that it can be done.

Sherrie's right arm ends just below the wrist, but that hasn't stopped her from becoming a fine softball player who is completing her third varsity season for the Big Reds.

She swings the bat one-handed with her left arm, taking a short grip and making contact with all but the best pitches in the strike zone. Here last Friday she almost always managed to get a piece of the ball and displayed a sharp batting eye. On one trip to the plate she fouled off five successive good pitches before grounding out on a hard shot to third.

Sherrie plays in the outfield on defense, wearing her glove on her left hand. She made a couple of fine running back-handed catches here last Friday.

When she needs to make a throw, she drops the ball, whips the glove across her body and tucks it under her right armpit, picks up the ball and lets it fly. She does it all about as fast as the eye can follow.

Milan didn't have a very good afternoon against Chelsea, but it wasn't Sherrie's fault. She played at least as well as the rest of her team, and drew cheers from Chelsea players and fans for her courage and skill in trying and accomplishing something that very few persons would dare to attempt.

Registration may still be made for Saturday's Youth Baseball Clinic sponsored by the Chelsea Recreation Department and the varsity team.

Young persons 7-16 may register by calling or coming into the recreation department office at the high school. There is a fee of $4. Details were printed on page 12 of last week's edition of The Standard.

"I encourage all young boys interested in baseball to come out for the clinic," varsity baseball coach Wayne Welton said. "The coaches, members of this year's team and several former players will teach the fundamentals of baseball. It's a great opportunity to learn more about the game."

Farm Prices Drop 1.5 Percent in April

Led by lower prices for cattle, hogs, milk, eggs and tomatoes, prices farmers receive for raw farm products fell 1.5% in April, the biggest decline since December of 1984 when prices fell by the same amount. They remained unchanged in January, but fell in March. The current average price level is 9.6% lower than a year ago, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Chelsea Goes to Final Game In Dondero Tournament

Chelsea went to the final game of last weekend's Prestigious Royal Oak Dondero softball tournament before losing to Waterford Mott, the state's second-ranked Class A team.

"Mott is very good," Bulldog coach Charlie Waller commented, "and it's no disgrace to lose to them. We played well throughout the tournament. We may have been a little bit tired at the end. It was our eighth game in three days."

Kelly Hawker pitched her third no-hitter in a row as Chelsea won its tourney opener, 1-0, over Harper Woods Regina, also a

Bad Start Costs Loss

A bad start once again spoiled things for the Chelsea junior varsity baseball team which dropped an 11-3 decision to Pinckney there on May 7. Down 9-1, at the end of two innings, the Bulldogs played well thereafter, but by then it was too little too late.

"We keep digging ourselves into deep holes," said a frustrated coach Jim Ticknor, "and then we play pretty well. The problem is that it's awfully tough to come back from eight runs behind."

Seven walks and five errors helped hand Pinckney its big early lead. Ron Hafley pitched a strong five innings in relief of Chelsea starter Mark Bareis. Greg Haist, Matt Steinhauer and Jon Lane each drove in a run. Steinhauer and Jim Rooke hit doubles, and Lane a three-bagger.

"When we play good ball for a full seven innings, we look pretty good," Ticknor said. "Unfortunately, we haven't been able to do that very often."

Saline Wins One Tilt, Second Suspended

Even with the help of Daylight Savings Time, the Chelsea and Saline varsity baseball teams couldn't complete a double-header here last Wednesday, and the unfinished game could prove to be important in unscrambling the Southeastern Conference race.

Saline won the opener, 7-6, a heart-breaking loss for Chelsea which had come from behind and taken a one-run lead into the final inning.

The second game was called because of darkness after 5½ innings with Saline ahead, 3-2.

"It's a suspended game," Bulldog coach Wayne Welton explained. "Nobody won or lost. We may or may not play it out later. That will depend on whether it might make a difference in the league standings. We'll just have to wait and see."

Saline scored two runs in the seventh to win the opener. Chelsea had fought back from a series of deficits to take the lead at 6-5, but couldn't hold it.

"We walked the first batter in the seventh," Bulldog coach Wayne Welton said. "In high school baseball a lead-off walk means a lot of trouble. He's almost certain to score, and some other bad things are likely to happen, and they did in the Saline game. Keeping that first hitter off base is a key to winning."

Mark Mull relieved starting pitcher Eric Schaffner in the second inning and pitched strongly the rest of the way. "Mark threw very well," Welton said. "Eric just didn't have his stuff and shouldn't get anybody out. It was one of those days. I know how it feels. I've had those days, too. You think you are throwing the ball well, but everything gets hit."

Todd Starkey made his first league pitching start in the second game and had a good game going despite being behind, 3-2. Two of Saline's runs were unearned.

"Todd is going to be a good pitcher," Welton said. "He has a lot of poise for a sophomore. He concentrates, and he throws strikes. Having a left-hander on the pitching staff helps us."

Chuck Downer continued his hot streak with the bat by connecting for five hits during the 12 innings of ball played. Ray Spencer and Kevin Walz each had two. Walz banged a triple and a double, and Spencer had a two-bagger.

"We're very close to being good," Welton said after the Saline game. "We make one little mistake too many, and we get hurt. That's what inexperience does. The team is young and is having to learn some things the hard way. I still think we have a chance to be competitive with anybody around by the end of the season.

Saline's win in the opening game put the Hornets in a virtual tie for the top in the SEC with a 5-1 record. Pinckney stayed in front at 6-1. Chelsea was third at 3-2. It's still a race.

Varsity Nine Wins Two Against Milan

Trailing 3-2 and seemingly headed toward a loss, Chelsea's varsity baseball team came out swinging the bat in the sixth inning of last Saturday's first game of the double-header against Milan. They had hit some hard shots earlier, most of them right at somebody.

A six-run uprising brought about an 8-3 victory. The second game was a 14-1 laughter merced after five innings. The two wins kept Chelsea in the Southeastern Conference title chase, a game behind co-leaders Pinckney and Saline.

"We changed our hitting strategy late in the first game," coach Wayne Welton said. "I told the boys to protect the plate, just try to make contact and hit the ball someplace, hope to find the holes. We did pretty well once we got going."

Mark Mull hit a booming drive into deep left-center to lead off the inning, and rounded the bases. He was credited with a triple and might have had a home run. He held at third momentarily, then dashed home as the relay throw to the plate went off line. That tied the game.

A following barrage of hits, sandwiched around a perfectly executed suicide squeeze bunt laid down by Todd Starkey, added up to five more runs.

Dan Bellus pitched a strong six-hitter and once again showed he can finish off a game if handed a late-inning lead. He gave up a harmless two-out walk in the seventh but otherwise got three routine outs to preserve the win.

Mull, who has been on a batting rampage of late, went four-for-four. Chuck Downer, Kevin Maynard and Starkey had two hits each.

Chelsea took a 6-0 lead after three innings of the second game, then scored eight runs in the fourth to make a five-inning ending possible. There was no way seven innings could have been played before darkness.

Downer put in his best pitching stint of the season, giving up one run on three hits, and hit safely twice to help his own cause. He, too, has been hitting the ball hard in recent games.

Kevin Maynard boomed a home run and a triple, and Bellus—who plays in the field when he isn't pitching—also had two hits.

"We're getting strong hitting from the heart of our lineup, the 3-4-5 hitters," Welton said. "Mull, Downer and Maynard are all swinging well. Combined, they had 15 of our 34 hits in the two Milan games."

"Beating Milan twice kept us in the conference race. Milan was the pre-season favorite in the conference. They have struggled, but they are still a good baseball team."

Bulldog JV's Win Two, Extend Record to 16-0

"It was pretty bad for everybody, and I was glad to get it over."

That was coach Pat Clarke's sum-up after his Chelsea junior varsity softball team defeated Milan three times Friday, by scores of 26-16 and 34-3, both

UMPIRE'S VIEW: Here's how it looked from directly behind the plate as Chelsea pitcher Dan Bellus hurled a hard one to catcher Ray Spencer.

Loss to Lincoln Dims League Title Chances

"We have had trouble putting games away," Chelsea varsity baseball coach Wayne Welton said after Monday's 4-3 loss to Lincoln which probably knocked the Bulldogs out of the race for the Southeastern Conference championship.

"We took a 3-2 lead into the last inning and couldn't hold on," Welton lamented. "That's the third league game we have lost that way. We should have won it, but we didn't. Once again, our inexperience showed. A couple of mistakes killed us."

A lead-off walk opened the door for Lincoln, and the winning run scored on an error.

Todd Starkey pitched the distance for Chelsea and gave up only one earned run. Mark Mull, Chuck Downer and Kevin Maynard continued their heavy hitting with two safeties apiece, but their batting efforts weren't enough.

"We looked and played like a tired ball club, and maybe we were," Welton said. "It was disappointing because it was a game we had to win to stay in contention for the league championship. Realistically, we're probably out of it. That hurts, because we have good kids. As I've said before, we're awfully close to being a good team. We might get it together for the state tournament. I hope so."

Chelsea played Fenton here yesterday afternoon in a pre-district qualifying game. The Bulldogs had to win in order to get into the district tournament.

Chelsea Defeats Dexter In Ann Arbor Tourney

Chelsea's baseball team bowed out of contention for the championship of the Ann Arbor News tournament with a 8-0 loss to Willow Run last Saturday, then came back to beat Dexter, 12-6, in a consolation game.

"We had to play Willow Run at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning after finishing up our double-header against Milan at 9 o'clock the night before," coach Welton observed. "We were tired, and it showed."

"I'm not using that as an excuse. Willow Run is very good, fourth-ranked in the state. They beat us, and that's that."

Kevin Walz and Eric Schaffner pitched for Chelsea. Schaffner and Todd Starkey had the only Bulldog hits.

Chelsea was down, 6-3, to Dexter in the fourth inning and then came back for six unanswered runs. Dave Boote delivered the key hit, a bases-loaded double that drove home three runs. Tony Hammerschmidt brought Boote home with a double. Charlie Koenn contributed two hits as some players who don't see a lot of action came through.

Downer had three hits and as many RBI's, and Mull smacked two safeties.

Maynard started on the mound for Chelsea and struggled. Schaffner relieved and shut the door with what Welton called a fine pitching job. "Eric threw strikes with something on them, and that's what we needed," Welton said.

Strength in Relays Carries Junior Girls to Victory

Strength in the relay events carried the Chelsea junior girls track team to a 72-53 win over Milan on May 6.

"Milan had some fine individual runners, but we had more depth," Chelsea coach Ann Schaffner said.

Members of the winning relay teams were:

400 meters, Calisa Tucker, Ann Steffensen, Jenni Smith, Tonya Grammatico; 800 relay, Tiffany Moore, Sarah Schaeffer, Mindy Ryan, Danica Disbro; 1,600 relay, Heather Neibauer, Kim Roberts, Tiffany Moore, Debbi Koenn.

Other first places were won by Smith in the high jump, Neibauer in the shot put, Grammatico in the 100 dash, Steffensen in the 400 dash, and Disbro in the 200.

Second-place points were earned by Moore in the shot put, Schaeffer in the high jump and 100 hurdles; Tucker in the long jump and 70-meter dash; Koenn in the 3,200 run, Webb in the 55 hurdles; Roberts in the 800 run, and Neibauer in the 1,600 run.

Thirds were won by Stephanie Wagner, 3,200; Ann Harden, 55 hurdles; Charity Strong, 800 run; Suzanne Cooper, 1,600; Smith, 100 dash; Webb, 100 hurdles, and Ryan, 200 dash.

more typical of football.

"The umpires just plain wouldn't call strikes," Clarke said. "There were so many bases on balls that I couldn't keep count of them. It got to be a travesty. Actually, the pitching wasn't all that sorry on either side. We have some girls who can throw the ball over the plate, and so does Milan."

Kelly Stump, Dawn Weatherwax, Jenny Pichlik and Pam Brown all threw in the first game, which was merced after five innings. Milan scored 16 runs on only three hits and two Chelsea errors, which means there were lots of walks.

The Bulldogs collected 17 hits enroute to their 26 runs. Trish Mattoff, Mary Lasarz and Jodi Keezer each had three. Kim Perry hit a triple to trigger a 10-run third inning for Chelsea. Freshman Stump picked up her first victory.

The second game was even worse. Chelsea led, 20-0, after two innings and eventually added 14 more. Brown and Peggy Hammerschmidt shared the pitching, with Brown getting the win.

Ceia Murphy led the attack with a home run and a triple. Mattoff, Murphy, Chris Basso, Jenny Pichlik, Leah Enderle and Keezer each had two or more hits. Murphy's hits included a home run and a triple.

The two victories were welcome, but they left Clarke still wondering what kind of a team he had. "We're 16-0 on the season, and that's nice, but we haven't been pressed yet."

"I just plain don't know how good we are, and that bothers me. I think we could beat some varsity teams in our area. We have six potentially good pitchers, and several other girls who can hit and play defense. We need a good test, and we haven't had it yet. Frankly, our competition so far hasn't been tops. We've been able to win easily, maybe too easily. The two Milan games really didn't help us at all."

Amy Unterbrink of Chelsea has been named to the All-Big Ten academic softball team. Amy pitches for Indiana University, where she is a junior majoring in biology and secondary education. Her grade-point average is 3.2 on a scale of 4.0.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

Odds and ends off the sports beat:

Don't tell me there isn't a difference between girl and boy athletes. Last week I shuffled between softball and baseball games being played at Dana Field and Chelsea High. Trying to keep track of games going on a mile apart is a futile exercise. I missed the best innings of both.

When all was over on both diamonds, I sought to take some pictures of the athletes on Chelsea's two winning teams, and both coaches obliged by making their players available.

It was a very windy day, blowing so hard that I marvelled at the ability of everybody to play so well under the conditions. If you don't think it's difficult to catch a ball, or hit one, when the wind is gusting up to 30 miles per hour, try it sometime. The ball caught for the final out in the baseball game drifted a good 40 feet before being grabbed. Pitches in both contests were doing some very strange things, like moving a foot or so, and the hurlers who threw them had no idea where their throws were going once they released the ball.

Anyway, I lined up some baseball players for the camera, asked them to take off their caps because the bills cast shadows over faces, and snapped the picture. None of the five was at all concerned about how he looked. Three had black grease smears under their eyes to help handle the nasty afternoon sun at the high school field. (Whatever defensive position you play on the field, you are going to be looking into the sun when trying to locate a fly ball.)

The girls on the softball team were anxious about how their hair looked. The so-called "wind-blown bob" apparently is a thing of the past. For the record, they all looked fine with their hair blowing in the wind.

What counts is not how you look but how you play, and the youngsters on both teams had performed excellently.

The Detroit Tigers. If Milt Wilcox can't pitch effectively, winning 15 or so games, the Tigers are in trouble and will not repeat as champions of the American League East, let alone as World Series titlists.

Wilcox is the key to a pitching staff that doesn't have as much depth as it is given credit for. Jack Morris can be counted on to throw well every time out. If he loses, it's because he hasn't received much support at bat or in the field.

Dan Petry has all the mechanical tools to be very good, but keeps beating himself with mental mistakes. After that, there isn't much in the Tigers' starting rotation, unless Wilcox comes around. The other Detroit starters may or may not throw well on any given day.

Willie Hernandez continues to come out of the bullpen and do a superb job. He's kind of unbelievable. He needs help from Aurelio Lopez, who has been unreliable.

The key is Wilcox, a steady veteran who can hurl six or seven strong innings if his ailing arm holds up. Without Wilcox, the Tigers will be lucky to finish fourth in the American League East. Baltimore and Toronto have demonstrated that they are willing to take it to the Tigers, and the New York Yankees have so much talent they should never lose a game, Billy Martin notwithstanding.

I'm getting a little tired of Kirk Gibson. He talks like a super-star. It would be nice to see him play like one.

Writing about basketball in mid-May is a contradiction in terms, but the fact is that the NBA play-offs are still going on. A champion will be determined eventually, and I suspect not many people will care much when it finally happens. The basketball season ended in March as far as I'm concerned, and I have a love affair with basketball. Too much of anything is like over-eating. The food may be good, but you can put down only so much of it.

One last note about basketball. Larry Bird of the Boston Celtics may be the best player around, and that can be argued, but he needs to learn to keep his mouth shut. Bird had some nasty things to say about the Detroit Pistons' personnel after his team won the first two games in a play-off series.

Predictably, the Pistons reacted by shutting Bird down in the next two games. The pro version of basketball is such that any player, no matter how good, can be neutralized on the court. Detroit's Kelly Tripucka, who isn't noted for playing defense, took care of Bird by keeping him out of the action, simply showing him around. Under pro basketball rules, just about anything goes, short of leg tackles and flying body blocks.

Had Bird not opened his yap, the Celtics might have swept the series in four straight.

Bad-mouthing the opposition is never a good idea in any sport. All it does is make the other guy try harder to stuff your words back down your throat.

Games aren't won with words, and they can be lost by talking at the wrong time.

Dexter Hunter's Buck Deer Is Best Ever Taken in Michigan

It's official. Mark Ritchie of 117 S. Steinbach Rd. has collected the all-time best rack of "typical" deer antlers ever taken in Michigan. Ritchie brought down the prize-winning buck last Nov. 16 while hunting on private land "somewhere west of Dexter." He declines to reveal the exact location because he believes there is an even better trophy roaming around on the same piece of property, and he will be looking for it this fall. Ritchie's record buck measured out at 186 points on the complicated Boone & Crockett scale, which takes into account antler spread, number of points, length of tines, thickness of beams and other factors. A so-called "typical" rack is one with symmetrical antlers. "Non-typical" (freakish) antlers are measured and judged separately. Ritchie's trophy beat the previous record-holder, shot in 1947 in Ionia county, by a full five points, a big jump which suggests that the record may not be beaten soon.

STATE RECORD DEER: Mark Ritchie of 117 S. Steinbach Rd. shows the mounted head of the state record buck deer he took last November west of Dexter. The rack eclipsed a record set in 1947. CBM and the Department of Natural Resources jointly sponsor the annual Michigan Big Bucks contest.

Deer have been hunted in Michigan from pre-historic time onward. Regulated seasons were established in the late 19th century, and records have been kept since. Some heavier-bodied bucks than Ritchie's trophy, which weighed 208 pounds dressed, have been recorded, but none carried as good a rack.

Ritchie's record was certified by Commemorative Bucks of Michigan (CBM), which held its annual banquet and awards ceremony last Saturday at the Shiawassee Conservation Club.

Girls Track Team Loses To Dexter, Ties Tecumseh

The Chelsea girls track team lost to Dexter, 70-58, and then came back for a rare tie against Tecumseh last week. That score was 64-64, which doesn't happen often considering there are 128 points up for grabs in every dual track meet. Dexter's strong showing in the field events, during which the Dreadnaughts took a 14-point lead, made the difference in that meet. Chelsea "won" the running events by two points. "We gave away too much in the field events," Chelsea coach Bill Bainton said. "We beat them on the track, and I was pleased with that." Dexter is undefeated in dual competition and leads the Southeastern Conference. Chelsea's two distance relay teams both posted excellent times. The 4:15.1 clocked by the quartet of Kasey Anderson, Chris Neuman, Susan Jacques and Amy Wolfgang was a season's best in the 1,600. The winning time of 10:20.5 in the 3,200, with Anderson, Melanie Flanigan, Laura Damm and Sallie Wilson doing the running, was also outstanding. Wilson set a school record by winning the 1,600-meter run in 5:29.5. Anderson, a freshman, won the 800 in 2:26.9. Senior Amy Wolfgang won firsts in both hurdles events and the 400 dash, besides anchoring the winning 1,600 relay team. Chelsea placers included: Shot put, Chris Zerkel 2nd; discus, Zerkel 2nd, Dena Stevens 3rd; long jump, Edie Harook 2nd, Christie Favens 3rd; 3,200 relay, Chelsea, Anderson, Flanigan, Damm, Wilson; 100 hurdles, Wolfgang 1st; 100 dash, Jacques 2nd; 1,600 run, Wilson 1st, Robin Mock, 3rd; 400 dash, Wolfgang 1st, Neuman 3rd; 800 run, Anderson 1st; 300 hurdles, Wolfgang 1st; 200 dash, Tami Harris 2nd; 3,200 run, Maryann Richardson 2nd, Jennifer Rossi 3rd; 1,600 relay, Chelsea (Anderson, Neuman, Jacques, Wolfgang). Chelsea came back strong in the field events against Tecumseh, but this time had problems on the track, and the result was a tie. Chelsea placers: Long jump, Harook 1st, Favens 3rd; shot put, Zerkel 1st; high jump, Becker 2nd (tie); discus, Zerkel 2nd; 3,200 relay, Chelsea 1st; high hurdles, Wolfgang 1st; Debbie Tiff 3rd; 100 dash, Jacques 3rd; 1,500 run, Wilson 2nd, Collins 3rd; 400 dash, Wolfgang 1st, Neuman 3rd; 800 run, Anderson 1st, Damm 2nd; 300 hurdles, Wolfgang 1st, Tiff 3rd; 200 dash, Harris 3rd; 3,200 run, Wilson 1st, Flanigan 3rd; 1,600 relay, Chelsea 1st.

Boys Tennis Team Coming Closer to Winning Season

First-year Chelsea boys tennis coach Rahn Rosentreter was all but bubbling over following a week in which his squad lost to Jackson Lumen Christi, 5-2, and defeated Riverview, 6-1. He may have been happier about the defeat than the victory. Rosentreter, who is assisted by veteran coach Terry Schreiner, put it this way: "As I understand it, when we played Lumen Christi in past years, we lost every match in straight sets, packed up and went home. This time we gave them some real competition. The boys played tough tennis. They weren't conceding anything." Mark Henson at No. 2 singles and John Stevens at No. 4 were the only Chelsea winners, but Kirk Lawton and Biff Bunten in the other singles matches, and the three doubles teams all gave it a go. Against Riverview, everybody won except for the No. 4 singles player. Individual results were not available. The split put the Bulldog netters at 6-5 for the season with two meets remaining and a prospect of a winning campaign, the first ever in Chelsea boys tennis history. "They have worked awfully hard to be winners," Rosentreter said, "and they deserve to be. They are decent tennis players, and they have responded well to coaching and encouragement. They want a winning record, and I'm going to do everything I can as a coach to help them get it. They're a great bunch of boys."

CHELSEA'S ALLEN KUHL was running in front of a Tecumseh runner when this picture was taken, stepping out and going strong.

Boy Tracksters Have Near Miss

The Chelsea boys track team put up a strong showing against Dexter there on May 11 before dropping a close 72-65 decision. Last Friday, the Bulldogs lost to Tecumseh here, 88-49. "Despite the two losses, the team didn't do badly," coach Bill Wehrwein said. "We had several best performances of the season. The Dexter meet might have turned out differently if we had had a couple of our injured runners available. I'm pleased with the improvement we showed during the week. We're making some progress." Chelsea won three of the four relays against Dexter and held its own in the individual running events. However, Dexter built up a 13-point lead in the field events, and that proved too much to overcome. Chelsea place winners: Shot put, Rob Long 1st; high jump, Doug Webb 2nd; pole vault, Ed Brosnan 1st, Mike Carignan 2nd; 3,200 relay, Chelsea (Kyle Kemmish, Lee Riemenschneider, Allen Kuhl, Dean Boote) 1st; 110 high hurdles, Scott Miller 2nd; 1,600 run, Kuhl 1st, John Cattell 2nd; 400 relay, Chelsea (Boote, Miller, Brosnan, Curtis, Heard) 1st; 400 dash; Kyle Kemmish 1st; 800 run, Boote 1st, Kuhl 3rd; 300 low hurdles, Miller 2nd; 200 dash, Heard 3rd; 3,200 run, Cattell 1st, Kuhl 2nd; 1,600 relay, Chelsea (Jorge Castillo, Kemmish, Boote, Miller) 1st.

Tecumseh was just plain too strong for the Bulldogs, and beat them easily. Chelsea point winners were: Pole vault, Brosnan 1st, Carignan 3rd; shot put, Long 2nd; high jump, Webb 3rd; discus, Long 3rd; 3,200 relay, Chelsea 1st; 100 dash, Heard 2nd; 1,600 run, Kuhl 2nd, Cattell 3rd; 400 dash, Kemmish 1st; 800 run, Boote 2nd, Mark Skiff 3rd; 300 low hurdles, Miller 1st, Carignan 3rd; 200 dash, Heard 2nd; 3,200 run, Kuhl 1st, Cattell 2nd.

The team scored six points in last Saturday's Jackson Northwest Metric Relays, scoring two points in each of three events.

Brosnan and Carignan were sixth in the pole vault relay. A team of Boote, Kemmish, Riemenschneider and Kuhl came in sixth in the 3,200 relay, and a quintet composed of Boote, Heard, Mark Freitas, Mark Skiff and Miller finished sixth in the so-called "boonie" relay which is a little too complicated to describe. The event is a specialty, held in very few meets.

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

If your idea of a vacation is to sleep in luxury motels and eat in four-star restaurants, you might as well skip the rest of this. Travel agents and guidebooks can tell you what you need to know about where to go. I can't, because I've never had that kind of money.

If, on the other hand, you are looking for a way to relax and enjoy a week or two of time off, without spending a fortune, maybe I can help. This and next week's columns will offer some suggestions.

A vacation should be a change of pace. Most of us are busy, almost to the point of desperation, in our working lives. We are constantly fighting to meet deadlines, set either by our bosses or ourselves. That never-ending battle against the clock or the calendar drains you every day. It gets to you after awhile.

The next 12 weeks will include some vacation time for most people, a precious few days to do "something else." The worst thing you can do is forfeit the time, which happens all too often. The next worst is to "vacation" at the same rate of speed that you work.

My advice on vacations—which I admit that I haven't followed in the past but intend to in the future—can be summed up in two words: slow down. Don't commit yourself to a tight timetable. Don't set deadlines. Give yourself the luxury of having nothing to do or no place to be at any particular hour.

Get outdoors. See and savor the real world which is nature. Look at the trees and smell the flowers. Drive slowly, walk leisurely. Don't push. Pushing is what you are trying to get away from.

Three years ago I had the opportunity to take the first real vacation of my life, and I blew it. I had retired temporarily, and didn't have anything to do for awhile—no job to show up for, no boss to answer to, no deadlines to meet. For once I was free to do what I pleased.

What I wound up doing was driving 10,000 miles in four weeks, almost all of the mileage on freeways. I don't like driving, and especially dislike freeway driving. Freeways are great for getting from here to there, but you sure don't see or enjoy anything in the process. I'm proud of my record of more than a million accident-free driving miles, but it was achieved at the cost of keeping eyes, instincts and reflexes constantly glued to the road. Very little of it was fun. Driving on a freeway is about like driving in the Indianapolis 500. Relax for an instant, and you are likely to crash.

Suggestion: If your vacation plans involve driving, and most do, estimate a reasonable distance per day, then cut it in half. The next time I go on a trip, I will set an outside limit of 200 miles a day, and will avoid freeways with a passion. Commuting on I-94 between Ann Arbor and Chelsea to get to my job scares the daylight out of me coming and going. I say a prayer of thanks every time I arrive safely without having been sideswiped, rear-ended, or forced off the road.

There are alternatives to driving on vacations. One is air travel. It's great once you get aboard the plane. The euphoria ends upon landing. The hassles at airports on both ends of a flight, are not fun. Railroads offer a mode of travel that I intend to explore more. The most relaxing trip I've taken in recent years was a four-hour ride on a train from Windsor to Toronto in Canada. I didn't have to do a thing but sit, look out the window, and enjoy the scenery as it rolled by. There were no problems in the depots at either end. A trip on an Amtrak train might be fun.

Another idea if you must drive, is to get off the freeways, follow the so-called secondary roads, and take your time. You won't set any distance records, but will have fun if you let yourself. You will go through out-of-the-way places that you would otherwise bypass. I've never seen a small town that I didn't find fascinating in some way. Every village or hamlet, or even a crossroads, has something unique about it if you take the time to stop, ask and look.

Through this process of what I call "shun-piking" (staying off the freeways) you will have some unexpected happy experiences with lodging and meals. Most (not all) little towns have a small motel tucked away somewhere, and also a good restaurant or two. Most are family-run operations, and most are fine if you keep your expectations realistic.

Don't look for a bar, entertainment, 24-hour phone service or the other frills that have pushed luxury motel prices out of sight. If all you are looking for is a clean room with a comfortable bed, and plumbing that works, you will be surprised by how little it costs. Similarly, don't expect gourmet food in a small-town restaurant, although you just might find it. Some of the best meals I've ever savored were served in places that aren't named in any guidebook. All of this may seem far afield from the usual subject matter of this column, and perhaps it is. The fact is that every survey ever taken has shown that "driving for pleasure" is America's overwhelming favorite outdoor recreation. It can be fun, or it can be a pain. More next week.

CLOSE BUT SAFE: Bulldog first baseman Keith Niebauer puts the tag on a Milan runner diving back to the bag on an attempted pick-off. It was close, but the runner was safe.

THE FIRST GAME OF THE SEASON was played on Chelsea's rebuilt high school football diamond last Monday, following a week of work to get it re-surfaced. The new infield will be comparable to the Dana Field diamonds which are considered to be among the best in the state. The Chelsea JV's had the honor of playing the first game, a contest with Lincoln.

A RUN IN: Chelsea's Evan Roberts crosses the plate standing up while Milan's catcher looks in vain for the ball during last Friday's action on the high school diamond.

Senior Citizen Bowling Awards Are Presented

Senior Citizen Fun Time League held their bowling banquet at Chelsea Lanes Wednesday, May 8.

Following the dinner the meeting was called to order by the president, Annabelle Gochanour. A special welcome was given to Daisy Beeman and Mr. and Mrs. Gil Aikens.

In the absence of Alma Holliday, the secretary, because of a death in the family, minutes of the meeting were recorded by Vickie Wurster.

Minutes of last year's meeting were accepted as read.

Officers elected for the fall term of bowling are as follows: president, Harold Schauer; vice-president, Dick Bauer; secretary, Carl Lentz; treasurer, Audrey Snyder; card chairman and attendance recording, Lou Parsons.

Following the election the meeting was turned over to Eddie Greenleaf who presented awards to the following: first-place team, "Hi-Rollers," members being Chuck and Floretta Kadou and Gene DeSmythers; high games, Herb Norman, 252; Margaret Eller, 198; high series, Dick Bauer, 612 and Maudie McGuire, 495.

WIBC Pin for high game, Margaret Eller; most improved bowlers were Helen Walz and Clarence Holliday.

Over Average awards, based on age, were presented to Helen Walz and Dottie Williams.

The Eva Bauer Memorial Award was presented to Shirley Dehn. Previous recipients of this award are Anna Sell, Doris Schauer and Daisy Beeman.

A special "Trying Harder" award was presented to Daisy Beeman.

Other awards are to be presented at a future date.

The Senior Fun Time League, this past year, consisted of 14 teams, meeting every Wednesday at 1 p.m.

The fall meeting of the League will be held Aug. 21 and league bowling will begin Sept. 4.

Brook Trout Planting Made in Area Stream

An experimental stocking of brook trout has been made in Jackson county's Snyder Brook by the Department of Natural Resources.

A thousand yearling brookies, 5-7 inches long, were stocked in the small stream, which maintains exceptionally cold water temperatures during the summer months. Brook trout can't survive in most southern Michigan streams because the water gets too warm.

"We hope to develop a modest brook trout fishery in this small, spring-fed stream, DNR district fisheries biologist Ken Dodge said. "It's worth a try."

Washtenaw county's Paint Creek received 5,000 yearling brown trout in a continuation of a long-term stocking program, and Arms Creek got 400. In Jackson county, Trist Creek was planted with 1,000 browns and Mackey Brook with 500.

Area Lakes Get Plants Of Trout

Plants of yearling rainbow trout have been made in several area lakes by the Department of Natural Resources. The fish were 5-7 inches long and should grow to the legal minimum catchable size of 10 inches later this summer.

The releases included: Washtenaw county—Blind Lake 6,000, Pickerel Lake 1,500; Jackson county—Swains Lake 5,000, Lime Lake 7,500; Livingston county—Appleton Lake 5,600, Murray Lake 1,800.

South Lake in Washtenaw and Vandercook Lake in Jackson were dropped from the trout stocking list because of poor success in previous years. Anglers reported catching few trout, and netting surveys showed low survival of the stocked fish.

None of the lakes involved are legally designated as trout lakes, which means that trout can be caught and kept the year-around. All are also open for other species, such as bass, bluegills and pike, during prescribed open seasons.

Preliminary Report Issued on Michigan Farm Economics

Senator Nick Smith, who chairs the Michigan Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee, has issued a preliminary report on the state's farm economic situation.

"The report makes it clear that the Michigan problem over-all is not as serious as it is in the Western states," said Robert E. Smith, senior legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau. "But for those affected in Michigan, it's just as serious as it is for anyone else who happens to be caught up in this financial problem we have right now."

JV Softball Team Stays on Course

Chelsea's junior varsity softball team ran its perfect season record to 14-0 with a win over Pinckney and two victories over Saline last week. Two of the triumphs were easy, the other one difficult.

The JV's beat Pinckney, 13-0, connecting for 11 hits while Pam Brown was pitching a two-hitter with 11 strike-outs. Ceia Murphy drove in four runs with two doubles to pace the offense. Trish Mattoff, Kelly Stump and Karen Weber also had two hits each.

The Bulldogs had a 21-0 laughter over Saline in the first game of a doubleheader. Brown pitched a no-hitter in a contest that was merciful after five innings. She fanned eight and received errorless support in the field.

Leading the parade of 19 Chelsea hits were Angie DeFant and Kim Ferry with three each. Murphy, Brown, Weber and Mattoff all stroked two. Brown knocked a triple to drive in two runs.

The second Saline game was a different story as the Bulldogs had to rally for three runs in the last inning to eke out an 8-7 win, the closest the team had come to losing so far this season.

Brown once more rose to the occasion with four strong innings of relief pitching to raise her record to 10-0, striking out 10. Mattoff banged a three-run homer in the fourth to get Chelsea back into the game, and Kelly Ghent delivered the winning hit—a two-out single to center in the seventh that drove in two runs.

Chelsea had 14 hits to Saline's four, but Bulldog pitchers had trouble finding the plate and issued a bunch of walks that kept the Hornets in contention.

JV Baseballers Lose Two, Then Win Two

The Chelsea junior varsity baseball team dropped a doubleheader to Saline, 6-5 and 9-4, then rebounded to win a pair from Milan, 2-1 and 8-7, in action this past week.

In what Bulldog coach Jim Ticknor called an excellent game, Chelsea dropped the Saline opener despite a rallying effort that fell a run short. Down 6-2, JV's scored three runs in the seventh and had runners on second and third when the last out was made. Jeff Harvey pitched all the way for Chelsea. Greg Haist hit a triple and batted in two runs, and Matt Bohlander had an RBI.

The second game against Saline resulted in a 9-4 loss as the Bulldogs gave up a bunch of unearned runs. Greg Haist pitched well in defeat, and Phil Patterson stroked two hits including a double.

Mark Bareis pitched four-hit ball in the 2-1 victory over Milan. Chelsea scored the winning run on a perfect suicide squeeze bunt laid down by Matt Steinauer after Harvey had tripped.

Six runs in the sixth inning provided the 8-7 victory in the second game. "We just started pounding the ball," Ticknor said. Haist, Steinhauer and Matt Koehn contributed key hits, Ron Hafley was the winning pitcher in relief of Bohlander.

Golf Instruction

City of Ann Arbor, Department of Parks and Recreation is currently accepting registrations for instructional golf classes. Sessions are held on a monthly basis beginning June through September. Classes consist of six, one-hour lessons and are divided into beginner and intermediate levels. All classes will be held at the Liberty Golf Range.

For further information regarding class schedules, fees and registration, please call 994-2780.

Wildlife Art Festival Set May 25-26 at Clare

Clare will be the site of the first annual Michigan Great Lakes Wildlife Festival scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, May 25 and 26.

The Festival, sponsored by Ducks Unlimited and the Stroh Brewery Co., will bring together Michigan's finest wildlife art and artists and will feature contests for the eighth annual Michigan Ducks Unlimited Artist of the Year and the first annual Carver of the Year.

An art show and sale, with more than 35 artists, will be held both days at the Town & Country Restaurant and an antique duck decoy display will be featured at the Doherty Motor Hotel on Saturday and Sunday, including a swap and sell. Frank Newmeyer, world champion wildlife designer, will have a display at the Doherty.

Entries for the Artist of the Year and Carver of the Year contests will be on display at the Doherty Saturday afternoon, and at 6:30 p.m. Saturday evening, an awards banquet will be held announcing and honoring the contest winners. The banquet will feature Fred Trost from Michigan Outdoors and many fine art works will be auctioned.

Dietmar Krumery will be featured artist of the Festival. Among his awards are Ducks Unlimited Artist of the Year 1980, Michigan Duck Stamp Contest 1981, and the Michigan Ducks Unlimited Artist of the Year 1984.

The public is invited to join in these events.

The price for the week-end events, excluding the banquet, is $3 per person or $5 per...

South School Teachers Honored

Teachers at South school were honored May 8 on Teacher Day USA. They were greeted with buttons, apples, coffee and homemade rolls prepared by Robert Benedict, principal, and his secretary, Charlotte Bentley.

The symbolic "apple for the teacher" was presented to Bob Bullock, president of the Chelsea Education Association and a fourth grade teacher at South school, by Robert Benedict, school principal.

Products on Parade

This series of stories by Paula Blanchard, Michigan's First Lady, spotlights the finest products of Michigan's farms, forests and factories. Some are as familiar as the Ford in your driveway or the jar of Gerber's baby food on your kitchen shelf. Others are less well-known, but equally interesting and important to the Michigan economy. This week's story: "Acutemp—Your Friend in the Faucet."

By Paula Blanchard

If you're like me, you spend a good part of your life coping with small aggravations. For instance, fiddling with the hot and cold water taps to get the temperature of your shower just right.

Well, a new Michigan company, Acutemp Corp. of Ann Arbor, has a product that can make your life easier—and safer. It is the Acutemp Instant Water Heater. And it's wonderful.

Here's how it works. You like your showers at 110 degrees? Just set the dial and you'll get it instantly for as long as you like—even when there are changes in incoming water temperature, pressure and rate of flow. No more surprised shrieks when somebody in the kitchen below decides to run the dishwasher while you're lathering up.

The dial gives you a temperature range from a tepid 40 degrees to a torrid 160 degrees, the latter hot enough for sanitizing whatever it is you want to sanitize. Thus, the instant water heater is recommended for residential and commercial use—wherever safety, controlled water temperature and energy efficiency are a must.

The Acutemp Instant Water Heater is compact (the unit measures 14 1/2" x 23") and can be mounted close to the points of hot water use to save dual pipe runs. And it's built to be safe—fully fused to protect against overloads or overheating. What is more, it is built to Rolls Royce engineering standards of the most durable materials; copper, brass, stainless steel and solid state electronics.

The average family uses hot water only about 90 minutes a day. Why, then, do we need to keep the old hot water tank going 24 hours a day? Acutemp says its instant heaters can save you a lot of money—$250 if you use gas and $550 if you use electricity, over a two-year period. That's based on use of 64 gallons of hot water a day and energy cost of seven cents per kwh and 60 cents per 100 cubic feet of gas. On that basis, the company says, you may be able to amortize the cost of the instant heater in just one year.

The way I see it, saving money and energy is great. But the biggest benefit for me would be no more shrieking in the shower!

In any case, let's keep making it—and buying it—in Michigan!

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, May 6 were Schumann, Heller, Dils, Grau, Feeney, Comeau, Redding, superintendent Van Meer, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Larson, athletic director Nemeth, community education director Rogers, special education director DeYoung, guests.

Board approved the minutes of the April 22 meeting.

Entered as official communications were: letter from Sue Carter, expressing her pleasure with the kindergarten screening process; an invitation to attend the second annual all-league academic awards for 8th graders, to be held May 29 at Saline; a communication from a district parent concerned with the possible transfer of Wayne Welton from the high school campus to elementary school.

Ann Schaffner, Beach school teacher, received a Certificate of Appreciation from the Board of Education for her work in organizing the jump rope program in conjunction with the Michigan Heart Association. The project netted pledges of $2,701.05.

The board approved acceptance of the donation of a 1978 Subaru station wagon, valued at approximately $1,800, from Janice Craft.

The board approved the purchase of Scott-Foresman Reading Series for K-6, cost of which will be approximately $20,000; this item has been placed in the 1985-86 budget.

Board approved an unpaid leave of absence from May 13 to June 7 for Ann Crowley. Ann recently gave birth to her second child. Hazel Hermsillo will continue to substitute for the balance of the school year.

Board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Jean Schmidt, North school teacher, effective June 7. Jean has taught in the district since September, 1971, and will be entering retirement.

Board approved tenure status for Joanne Stasa. Joanne had previous teaching experience at Willow Run, and has received satisfactory evaluations.

Ron Nemeth presented a high school athletic eligibility report in which the committee recommended that students pass four academic subjects in order to be eligible for athletic participation. Presently, athletes are eligible if they pass three subjects.

Special Education Director Henry DeYoung informed the board that of the 4,000 survey questionnaires mailed out to district residents, 1,043 have been returned. Results of 451 have been entered into the computer. It is expected that by June 1 all of the results should be available for computer analysis.

Ron Nemeth and Darcy Stielstra reviewed the middle school athletic program, and indicated that the survey may result in some implications to the middle school athletic program. They will be looking at ways to keep the middle school athletic philosophy and keep middle school students on teams, whether they be intramural or expanded team concepts.

Ken Larson and Chris Dimanian, representing the Substance Abuse Task Force, presented a philosophy statement pertaining to chemical abuse as a health problem, and a plan of action dealing with prevention, education, staff in-service training, referral process and intervention, and the handbook on disciplinary policies and procedures.

Ann O'Hagan and John Williams reviewed the computer program relating to the educational audit of last year, and the recent study by Dr. Johns pertaining to the computer curriculum. Programming is now being done, but there is a need for the teaching of application. Ms. O'Hagan spoke briefly of starting a pilot program in applications next year. There was a feeling that the elementary program needs greater emphasis and that the curriculum director will oversee any changes in next year's program.

Darcy Stielstra presented the committee report on Gifted/Talented, which is a three-year projection.

John Williams reviewed with the board the high school course enrollment trends, indicating that some enrollments have increased and some have decreased, which have necessitated program changes. There has been a decrease in enrollment for agriculture and graphics, and an increase in French and Spanish. Mr. Williams presented an eight-year review of student course enrollments by department.

The board began preliminary discussions pertaining to student suspensions and decided to have a study session at 7 p.m., May 20. The meeting will include board members and building principals.

Ninety applications have been received for the Curriculum Director position. The credentials screening process will begin this week.

Building principals presented informational reports dealing with: sixth grade camp, upcoming concert, academic games team competition in Georgia, the upcoming Honors Banquet, the May 17 regional track meet, the establishment of a memorial fund at North school in honor of the late Arlene Clark.

Assistant Superintendent Mills reported that the 1985-86 budget had been projected with an increase of 1% in state equalized valuation growth. The figure is now 1.048%, which is an increase of $4,400 over projected revenue.

The board rescheduled the board goals workshop for Saturday, June 1.

Meeting adjourned at 11:45

Civic Foundation Seeking Members

The Civic Foundation of Chelsea now has a membership of 136, according to Barbara Brown, chairwoman of the membership committee, and hopes to reach 200 during its fall campaign.

"This organization touches the lives of all who live in the Chelsea area," Mrs. Brown said. "Our foundation does not engage in civic projects of its own. Instead, we help the helpers. We provide funds for innovative projects which represent a one-time need while other organizations deliver ongoing support for established programs."

There are two main groups of members in the Civic Foundation: individuals and families, and corporations.

Individuals and families in the 1985 membership include: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson, Jerry Ashby, Gail Bauer, Gen. Dwight Beach, Dr. James Botsford, Edwin and Barbara Brown, James and Mary Helen Brown, Kathy Brubaker, Charles and Ruth Cameron, Kathleen Chapman, Marilyn Chasteen, Lytle Chriswell, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Colligan, Anne Comeau, Alan and Lillian Conklin, Mr. and Mrs. Will Connelly, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Cowell, George Cress, Donald Dancer, Mr. and Mrs. James Daniels, Robert and Marjorie Daniels, Virginia Dietle, Mr. and Mrs. John Dietz, Dr. Dick Dijkman, Art and Ruth Dils, Vincent Dorer, John Dunn, Dr. Charles Ellis, Dr. Richard Ernst, Michael and Ann Feeney, Lucille Finkbeiner, Peter Finney, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fleenor, Peter Flintoft, Robert Foster, Paye Frederick, William and Betty Freeman, George Frisinger, Paul Frisinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gietzen, Ralph Guenther, L. D. and Loretta Guinan, Walter and Peggy Hamilton, Dr. Larence Handelsman, Fred and Mary Harris, George and Carol Heydlauff, Dudley Holmes, Dudley Holmes, Jr., Howard Holmes, Arlene Howe, Rosemary Hummel, Stephen Janick, Willard Johnson, Leland Kalmbach, Robert Kendall, Richard and Helen Kerr, John Keusch, Dr. Meredith Klaus, Dr. Costos and Sylvia Kleanthous, Dr. Peter and Judith Kleinman, Richard Kolander, William Krieger, Mr. and Mrs. Don Kvarnberg, Charles and Helen Lancaster, Wilfred and Donna Lane, Dr. Patricia and Gene LaFave, Walter and Helen May Leonard, Helen Kay Leonard.

Corporate members of the Civic Foundation are: BookCrafters, Chelsea Lumber Co., Chelsea Milling Co., Chelsea State Bank, Citizens Trust, MacDee, Inc., United Methodist Retirement Homes.

The week of May 20-25 has been designated by the U. S. Postal Service as National Mailbox Improvement Week for customers served on rural delivery routes, according to Chelsea assistant postmaster William Brenner. The purpose of Mailbox Improvement Week is to call attention to the need for providing mail receptacles designed to protect the mail from the weather and are neat in appearance, conveniently locate, and safe to use. Neat, attractive mailboxes make a significant contribution to the appearance of the countryside and the streets in suburban areas.

Mailboxes which meet those requirements contribute to a more efficient delivery operation, and the result is improved service to the entire route.

Mailboxes of approved traditional or contemporary design are required whenever a box is newly installed or an unsuitable receptacle is replaced. Custom-built rural type mailboxes may be used if prior approval is given by the postmaster. The post office has a list of approved mailbox manufacturers.

Where box numbers are assigned, the number must be shown on the side of the box visible to the approaching carrier, or on the door where boxes are grouped. Customers are encouraged to group boxes whenever practicable, especially at or near crossroads, at service turnouts, or at other places where a considerable number of boxes are located.

In areas where snow removal is a problem, the use of a semi-arch or extended arm type of support is suggested. This allows snowplows to sweep near or under boxes without damage to supports, and provides easy access to the boxes by carrier and customers.

Escapes Total 54, 7 More Reported

Chelsea police reported seven walkaways last week from area minimum security institutions, bringing the total to 54 reported escapes for the year.

Of the seven, three were captured the same day they escaped by Chelsea police. Six of the seven were from Camp Waterloo and one was from Cassidy Lake Technical School.

Four men left Camp Waterloo on Mother's Day eve, early Saturday morning May 11, at approximately the same time. As of press time, only one remained at large, Stephen James Wright, 18, a white man with red hair and a light mustache. He was reportedly wearing state blues and his last known address was in Lansing. He also reportedly has a tattoo on his right arm. He was serving five to 30 years for assault.

One of the four, Rodney Bradish, 20, was caught by Chelsea officer David Dettling near I-94 and Kalmbach Rd. at approximately 10:45 p.m.

Two of the men, Thomas A. Gott and James L. Robinson were captured by off-duty Chelsea officer Chris Kruger near Pierce and Main Sts. in the village. Gott, serving six to 10 years for breaking and entering, were reportedly given a ride by a man, who dropped them off at the Chelsea State Bank. The man told police that the two told him they had escaped from Waterloo. After dropping them off, he immediately reported the incident to Kruger, who happened to be next door at the Pump 'N' Pantry on Main St.

The three other walkaways for the week were all on Wednesday, May 8. Police reported that Larry Sutton, 37, and Vernon K. McCrary, 36, left Camp Waterloo just after midnight. Sutton, a black male, 5', 11", 140 pounds with a mustache, was serving two years eight months to four years for larceny from a building. McCrary, a black male, 6', 165 pounds, with pock marks on his face and a mustache, was serving eight to 15 years for bank and safe robbery.

The only walkaway from Cassidy Lake, police said, was Robert O. Cason, 18, a white male, 5' 8", 145 pounds, with brown hair, was serving five to 10 years for breaking and entering. As of press time, none of the May 8 walkaways had been captured.

Pinckney Youth Earns Graduation Honors

Navy Airman Apprentice Kenneth D. Knightley, son of Allan S. and Sandra K. Knightley of Pleasant View, Pinckney, was graduated with honors from recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Orlando, Fla.

He was commended for his outstanding performance in all phases of training, which include instructions in seamanship, military regulations, close order drill, first aid and Naval history. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

Mailbox Improvement Week Seeks To Upgrade Service

If the use of street names and house numbers has been authorized, the house number should be shown on the mailbox. If the mailbox is located on a street other than the one on which the customer resides, the street name and house number must be inscribed on the box. In all instances, placing the owner's name on the box is optional. Generally, boxes should be installed with the bottom of the box between 3 1/2 and 4 feet from the roadway. However, owing to varying road and curb conditions, and other factors, it is recommended that customers contact the postmaster or carrier before erecting or replacing a mailbox and support.

Mailboxes on rural routes must be located on the right-hand side of the road in the direction traveled by the carrier. The box must be placed and served to comply with state laws and highway and postal regulations. The carrier must have access without having to leave the vehicle. Supports for mailboxes should be of adequate strength and size to support the box.

Reports have been received that some mailbox supports are so massive that they are damaging the vehicles and causing serious injuries to people who accidentally strike them. The use of heavy metal posts, concrete posts and miscellaneous items of farm equipment, such as milk cans filled with concrete, should be avoided. The ideal support is an assembly which, if struck will bend or fall away from the striking vehicle instead of damaging the vehicle and injuring its occupants. Boxes and supports should be kept painted and free from rust.

Salmonella poisoning incident that occurred in a Chicago area milk plant recently will have a short-term, negative impact on the dairy industry, according to Michigan Farm Bureau dairy specialist Kevin Kirk. While officials search for the definite cause of the incident, which has affected approximately 2,000 consumers in four neighboring states, consumer confidence in milk products has been shaken, Kirk believes.

"Any time you have an accident like this in food processing, it is a major concern," Kirk said. "There's no question that it is going to affect consumer confidence and their decisions on whether to buy milk."

Salmonella Incident Impacts Dairy Industry

The salmonella poisoning incident that occurred in a Chicago area milk plant recently will have a short-term, negative impact on the dairy industry, according to Michigan Farm Bureau dairy specialist Kevin Kirk. While officials search for the definite cause of the incident, which has affected approximately 2,000 consumers in four neighboring states, consumer confidence in milk products has been shaken, Kirk believes.

"Any time you have an accident like this in food processing, it is a major concern," Kirk said. "There's no question that it is going to affect consumer confidence and their decisions on whether to buy milk."

Kirk believes that there is also no question that consumer confidence will be regained.

"This problem occurred in only one plant. Here in Michigan as well as throughout the United States, we have the highest quality control standards in our milk plants. After this incident, I'm sure these plants will be taking an even closer look at their already high quality standards."

"Consumers know that milk is a nutritious, high-quality product and I don't think there is any doubt that the dairy industry will regain their confidence," he said.

Hike on Railroad Slated in Pinckney

Go hike on a railroad?

On Sunday, May 19, you can do just that!
The friends of the Lakelands Trail are sponsoring a hike on the abandoned Grand Trunk rail line out of Pinckney.

The line was purchased by the state several years ago for conversion into a trail for bicycling, horse-back riding, and hiking. The government has done no development since then, so the Friends of the Lakelands Trail was formed to encourage progress on the development of the trail. They hope that by generating public enthusiasm for the trail, the state will get the project going again.

The hiking will start at 2 p.m. on Sunday, from the depot in Pinckney. Participants will be able to hike about 2.5 miles east from the depot to see some historic sites along the line, or 1.5 miles west to Pinckney Recreation Area for a nature walk. Of course, those who wish can do both!

For those who want to rest a bit, there will be a slide show about the trail presented at the depot at 3 p.m. and again at 4 p.m. The second showing will be followed by a meeting of the board of the Friends of the Lakelands Trail, also at the depot. The public is invited to stay for the meeting. There will be no charge for the hike. There will be refreshments for sale at the depot, as well as trail t-shirts and memberships in the Friends.

The hike and slide shows are scheduled rain or shine.
For more information about the hike or the Lakelands Trail call (in Ann Arbor) 313/971-6339 or write: Friends of the Lakelands Trail, P.O. Box 707, Pinckney 48169.

There will be monthly events on the proposed trail. June will have a work party on the trail and the depot. Keep in touch with the Friends for details on upcoming events and progress on the development of Michigan's first long-distance rails-to-trails project!

Chelsea Junior High Track Teams Second at Western

The Chelsea junior high girls and boys track teams earned a second place finish and runner-up trophy at the Jackson County Western Invitational meet last Friday.

Dexter won the meet in competition with eight area schools. The meet was scored by combining points from both boys and girls events.

Danica Disbro set a new school 200-meter record while winning that event in :28.3.

Anne Steffenson ran a very fine :66.5 in the 400-meter run for a first place finish.

The first place 800 relay team of Tiffany Moore, Sarah Schaefer, Mindy Ryan and Disbro, ran a 1:59.1.

The first-place 1600 relay team of Heather Neibauer, Kim Roberts, Moore, and Debi Koenn ran 4:39.7, topping their previous best by nearly nine seconds.

The second-place 400 relay team of Calisa Tucker, Steffenson, Jenni Smith and Tonya Grammatico ran a :56.9.

Also finishing second were Calisa Tucker in the 70 meters, and Suzanne Cooper in the 1,600.

Symphony Band Tour to Washington Was Big Success

Chelsea High School Symphony Band enjoyed a successful spring tour April 9-14. The 70 members of the band performed concerts in Ohio and Pennsylvania, enroute to Washington, D. C.

Tuesday, April 9, the band departed Chelsea at 4:30 p.m. for their first stop in Oregon, O. They performed at Clay High school. Members of the Clay High school band shared their homes with Chelsea students that evening.

Wednesday morning the students left Oregon for Kent State University. While at Kent State, the band performed as a clinic group for conducting students of Dr. John Boyd, director of bands at Kent State. Bill Gourley, director of bands at Chelsea, critiqued the students' conducting and lectured after the session.

"The big question from all the band students was did I ever conduct like that," Gourley said. "It was an awakening for the Chelsea students."

From there it was off to Wexford, Pa., and North Allegheny High school. The band traveled 15 miles into Pittsburgh to perform a shared concert with the North Allegheny Band. The concert was at the Station Square in downtown Pittsburgh. The highlight of the evening was entering into a tunnel and exiting into downtown Pittsburgh, "a breathless experience," Gourley said.

After the concert, the students went sight-seeing with North Allegheny students, and spent the night in their homes.

Frank Farina, director of bands at North Allegheny, wrote to Gourley, "After you drove away this morning, one of my students remarked, 'that sure was a neat experience.' That, of course, made my day."

"Your students certainly are a credit to you, your school, and community. All should be very proud of them. Not only did they perform as superb young musicians, but they behaved with respect and dignity."

Thursday the band was on the road to Perkasie, north of Philadelphia, and Pennridge High school. After a brief rehearsal with the Pennridge band, Chelsea students went to their homes for dinner to get to know them. After Chelsea's performance, the two bands performed three selections together. "The 160-piece ensemble was a wonderful musical sharing for all involved," Gourley said.

After the concert it was off to the homes of the Pennridge students. The family housing flute soloist Laura Koepele acted like proud parents as "their child" solved the Mozart Flute Concerto in D. They were so gracious after her concert that they made the hour drive into Philadelphia to show Laura the sights.

Friday the bands headed for sightseeing in Washington, D. C., rest and swimming at the hotel, and a concert at the Kennedy Center. They heard the St. Louis Symphony perform. After the concert, Byron Pearson, a Chelsea graduate and trumpet professor at Oberlin College who was playing with the symphony, invited members of the band backstage.

Saturday was left for sightseeing for the students. They were able to see the Cherry Blossom Parade and tour the monuments and museums of the capital. Before leaving for home, the band enjoyed a banquet at the Marriott Hotel where they stayed. "The 12-hour trip home was a time of remembering and taking pride in a wonderful time," Gourley recalled.

"Everywhere the band traveled they were praised for their musicianship and character," Gourley said. "The tour opened their eyes to the true quality demonstrated by our band on a national scale. They were heralded as one of the premier high school ensembles of the country by those directors that heard them. Beyond that, the community of Chelsea was praised for its outstanding young people. The new friendships made and places traveled will be with the band for many years. Chelsea musical ambassadors not only represented Chelsea and the bands well but gained invaluable educational lessons on tour.

"I wish everyone could go along on one of our concert tours," Gourley said. "It is impossible to comprehend the experiences and value these young people gain. It always inspires me to see our students conduct themselves so well and perform so beautifully on these tours. Few people have the opportunity to share such a personal musical gift and when they do it is rarely for an audience outside the community. To perform for different audiences each night and to have to rise to each performance is a tremendous task, yet the students never fail. They continue to impress people at each performance. I am so proud of their efforts as artists and even more proud of them as outstanding examples of the young people of today. I am tremendously gratified to have the privilege of being their conductor, educator, and friend."

M. Brown Named Washtenaw Extension Service Director

Morse L. Brown has been appointed the Michigan State University Co-operative Extension Service director in Washtenaw county, effective May 12, pending approval of the Provost of Michigan State University.

Brown obtained his bachelor's degree in agriculture education from Alcorn State University (Mississippi) in 1965.

Farm Aid Package Will Provide Some Short Term Help

The $70 million loan package for the state's financially-stressed farmers, signed by Gov. Blanchard on May 1, is a short term measure that can be helpful to many farmers, according to Robert E. Smith, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau. But, in the long term, Michigan agriculture needs additional action, he said.

"To help agriculture as a whole, we need an aggressive marketing program for Michigan products because we are so diversified. A promotional program that has proved itself is the cherry program and the Cherry Bowl," he said.

Smith said that Michigan agriculture, in the long run, would also benefit from water rights legislation and a review of the assessment practices used for determining farmland values.

School Board Tightening Athletic Eligibility Regulations

Chelsea School board will vote on a proposal to tighten academic requirements for athletic eligibility at its next meeting, Monday, May 20.

Athletic Director Ron Nemeth told the board at its regular May 6 meeting that the Michigan High School Association is considering toughening its rules for high school athletes at its next meeting this month. He recommended that Chelsea change its requirements no matter what the association does, although he said he expects the changes to pass. The recommendation to change Chelsea's requirements will be an action item at the next meeting, according to Superintendent Ray Van Meer.

Current state eligibility for athletics is considered in two parts. This year, a student has to be passing three classes each semester. That means that a student at Chelsea, who takes the normal six classes, only has to pass half of them. Chelsea's own requirements "go half a step further," according to Nemeth. Chelsea High school only considers academic classes, such as math, English, etc. Non-academic classes, such as teacher's aide and work study, which are graded on pass-fail basis, do not count toward the three classes. Under the state guidelines, they can be counted.

The second part of eligibility is that a student has to be passing three classes on a weekly basis. For example, if after the fourth week of a semester, a student is only passing two classes, then he would be eligible to participate the sixth week.

The new guidelines, Nemeth said, would simply change the number of classes from three to four, both on a weekly and semester basis. Chelsea would also require four, with the "half step further" currently in force. "That would be the minimum," said principal John Williams.

By comparison, Dexter Athletic Director Al Ritt said Dexter's requirements, beginning in the fall, would require passing five classes, with a few exceptions. Dexter students also take six classes a semester. Dexter has had the four subject requirement all this school year. "There are a lot of schools whose rules are even tougher than ours," Ritt said. "What the state is proposing are really just minimal guidelines."

According to Nemeth, other proposals, such as a "no-fail" rule have been considered but have been deemed to be unfair. The example he used is the honor student who has all A's in math, English, etc. but fails a class like advanced chemistry. Under a flat no-fail rule, that student would not be eligible. Under current rules, a student could pass three subjects with D's and fail the rest and still be eligible.

Nemeth said that in order for a no-fail rule to be fair, it would have to be implemented in combination with a grade-point average. That, he said, would create an administrative mess.

He said he favors the current method because "it's easy for everybody to understand" and there is little interpretation required.

The new requirements, Nemeth told the board, would not pose much of a hardship for Chelsea student-athletes. He said that if they had suddenly gone into effect during the winter semester this year, there would only be three additional students who would have had to sit out spring sports. He also said that past studies he has conducted have shown that Chelsea student-athletes perform better academically, on average, than the general Chelsea student population.

If the board adopts the new guidelines, Nemeth said they will likely be phased in, beginning with the weekly requirement in the fall. The semester requirement would begin in the winter so that students are penalized next fall by this year's rules.

Want to get rich quick? All you have to do is prove that a creature called "Ogopogo" really exists, reports National Wildlife's Ranger Rick magazine. "Ogopogo" is said to be a large unknown animal that looks like a sea serpent, living in Canada's Lake Okanagan, near Vernon, British Columbia. Is the reward a joke? No way! The money has been guaranteed by Lloyds of London.

Track, Softball Meets Set Here

Chelsea High school will host two major athletic events Friday and Saturday.

On Friday, the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) regional track meet will be held, with a total of 35 teams—boys and girls—competing.

The meet will get underway at 4 p.m. and will go on into the night under the lights of Niehaus Field, Chelsea athletic director Ron Nemeth said. "I suspect we'll finish up about 11 o'clock," Nemeth said. "It will be a long and very good evening of track. We're proud to be hosting it."

Each school can enter two competitors in each event, and may put in others who meet the "state minimum" qualifying time and distance standards.

A gate-fee of $1.50 will be charged, Nemeth said.

The Chelsea Invitational Softball Tournament will get underway Friday afternoon, with six teams competing in a round robin, and will continue on Saturday. All games will be played at Dana Field.

Besides Chelsea, entrants are Grand Rapids Northview, Jackson Northwest, Clarkston, Saline and St. Joseph. That group includes three of last year's four state Class B finalists. Clarkston is a Class A school and has been playing well this year.

"It's an outstanding bunch of softball teams," Nemeth commented, "and it should be a great tournament. Jackson Northwest and St. Joseph are both undefeated this year, and Northview is 18-2.

Saline and Chelsea are tied for the lead in the Southeastern Conference after having split a double-header last week. The return rubber match holds special interest for local fans.

It will cost $1 to attend the tournament, Nemeth said.
