A THREAT OF RAIN caused last Sunday's consecration ceremony for the new Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home nursing care unit to be moved indoors from the prepared outdoor site. The room was crowded and hot, but nobody seemed to mind much in the joy of the occasion. Actually, only a few drops of rain spattered down, and the skies cleared a few minutes after the decision to go indoors.

GUESTS OF HONOR: The new 110-bed nursing care unit at the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home has been named in honor of Mrs. Dorothy McVittie Kresge (right) who was a major contributor to the $5 million-plus project consecrated in special religious services last Sunday afternoon. Shown with her is her husband, Stanley S. Kresge.

Methodist Home's New Addition Named for Mrs. Stanley Kresge

Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home's new addition, a 110-bed nursing care facility, was consecrated Sunday afternoon, June 23.

During the ceremony, the building was named the Dorothy McVittie Kresge Nursing Center in honor of Mrs. Stanley Kresge, a United Methodist Retirement Homes trustee since 1968.

The new facility, built and equipped at a cost in excess of $5,000,000 will be occupied in July. The two-story brick building will replace the existing nursing center, which accommodates only 62 patients.

"Our facilities have been woefully inadequate to the extent that we have been unable to admit a nursing care patient from outside the Home since 1976," Catherine Durkin, Chelsea Home Administrator, pointed out. "Until now, all our nursing patients have been residents of our home before their move to our nursing department."

A Long-Range Task Force Report by the UMRH Board of Trustees recommended that nursing bed capacity at the Chelsea Home be expanded to 120 beds, but the state's certificate of need, issued in 1983 licensed only 110 beds. Construction began in August, 1984.

This building represents the first of a total construction and renovation program estimated to cost a minimum of $8,500,000.

The second phase will be the total renovation of the present home for the aged. Its oldest building, still in use, dates back to 1906, with various wings added to it down through the years.

This major building phase is scheduled to begin this summer and continue for several years.

The total construction program will be financed chiefly by proceeds from the capital campaign seeking a minimum of $5,500,000 in donated funds. According to David Leech, UMRH Development Officer, the ongoing fund is expected to achieve $4,000,000 by the end of 1986, with solicitation scheduled through 1988.

The naming of the much-needed nursing facility recognizes the time and devotion given to the retirement homes of the Detroit Methodist Conference by Mrs. Kresge. She currently serves as honorary chairperson of the "Renewing Old Chelsea" Capital Campaign.

Earlier, Mrs. Kresge was chairperson of the successful Survival Drive of the late 1970s, which retired the accumulated debt of both the Chelsea Home and Boulevard Temple in Detroit, the two retirement homes supported by the Detroit Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Dwight Havens, former president of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Metropolitan United Church in Detroit, heads the capital funds campaign.

An Open House will be held Saturday, June 29, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. The Chelsea Home is located on the western edge of Chelsea, 15 miles northwest of Ann Arbor.

The Rev. Dr. Kenneth R. Callis, president of the UMRH Board of Trustees, conducted Sunday's consecration service. He was assisted by the Rev. Dr. Robert E. Horton, area assistant to Bishop Judith Craig.

Speakers were Elmer Benson, UMRH executive director; Mrs. Catherine Durkin, administrator of the Chelsea Home; and Stanley Jones of Orchard Lake, chairman of the Trustees' Chelsea Project Committee which has translated into tangible goals the Long Range Task Force Report.

Trustees recognized during the ceremony for their services as chairpersons were Dr. Callis of Sterling Heights, Building Planning Committee; Ms. Arlene Howe of Chelsea, Financial Planning; E. Read Pierce of Detroit, Promotion and Development Planning; and The Rev. Donald Kraushaar of Saline, Resident Services/Policy Planning.

Project architect for the new nursing center was Harley Ellington Pierce Yee Associates of Southfield, with the Granger Project Manager and Development Co. of Lansing as the project manager.

The Chelsea complex accommodates 173 non-nursing patients in the main building, some 30 dwellers in the Village Apartments, and 62 nursing care patients, now on two floors of the 1961 addition to the main building but soon to be moved to the new facility.

Chelsea area residents who are members of the Retirement Homes Board of Trustees are Ms. Arlene Howe, and Dr. David Truran, Pastor of First United Methodist church.

Dexter area residents who are members of the Retirement Homes Board of Trustees are Mrs. Jane Schaefer and Richard Lundy.

Prisoner Escapes at Waterloo

Michael O'Connell, 28, serving 2-6 years for felonious assault, escaped from Camp Waterloo on Monday morning and was still at large 24 hours later, Chelsea police reported.

He was described as a white male, six feet tall and weighing 190-pounds. He was wearing "prison blue" clothing when he left the camp sometime between 8:50 and 10 a.m. on Monday.

More than 60 prisoners have escaped from Camp Waterloo and Cassidy Lake Technical School so far in 1985. A public meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, July 8, to discuss the escape problem at the two institutions.

Investigation Into Mishap Continuing

Investigation is continuing into a June 15 traffic accident on M-52 north of Chelsea in which a 23-year-old village woman, Linda E. Vandervoort of 777 S. Main St., was killed.

A sheriff's department spokesman said blood samples taken from Gary C. Skodak, 31, of Grass Lake, have been sent to the State Police laboratory in Lansing to be tested for alcohol content. Results of the tests had not been received as of yesterday morning.

Skodak was the driver of a pick-up truck in which Vandervoort was a passenger. He suffered minor injuries when the south-bound vehicle, towing another pick-up, veered across M-52, hit an embankment and rolled on its top.

The sheriff's investigator explained that it is routine procedure to have blood tests made in the State Police laboratory when there is a suspicion of alcohol involvement, adding that courts tend to reject evidence obtained from tests made at hospitals.

Summer Start Brings More Fine Weather

Delightful weather continued in the west Washtenaw area during the past week as summer made its official appearance on Friday, June 21.

Day-time temperatures ranged mostly in the high 70's, occasionally topping the 80-degree mark before cooling down into the 50's at night. Air conditioners went unused.

Rainfall was scant, but farm crops, lawns and gardens remained green and growing, thanks to heavy rains the previous week.

The spring season that ended on June 21 went down as some of the most pleasant in recent local, weather history. There was plenty (Continued on page six)

Van Meer Elected to MASA Post

Raymond E. Van Meer, superintendent of the Chelsea School District, has been elected president-elect of the Michigan Association of School Administrators (MASA). MASA is an organization of all superintendents in Michigan.

Van Meer has served three years on the executive board of MASA. He will serve as president-elect during the 1985-86 school year, and as president during 1986-87. He will represent the organization at all news conferences and preside over regularly scheduled meetings and state conferences.

Chamber of Commerce Gets Good Response To Membership Drive

At the June 11 monthly board meeting of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, members of the village council, village president Jerry Satterthwaite and village administrator Frederick A. Weber were invited to discuss areas of mutual concern.

Mark Heydlauff, co-ordinator for the Downtown Development Authority, reported that the formal application is being drafted and approval is expected. To promote that concept, a meeting is planned to include village council members, the Chamber board and those involved with the Downtown Development Committee. A model program from the city of Northville will be featured at this meeting to demonstrate what Northville has recently done and how it has been of benefit to the whole area.

The quarterly meeting for all Chamber members was held June 19 at which Gabriel J. Charem described the Community Interpretation Report done by Eastern Michigan University.

Village Tax Bill Mailing Is Delayed

Chelsea tax bills which are supposed to be mailed by July 1 won't be, village officials say. A delay at the Oakland county firm which is printing the bills will cause them to be delivered too late to meet the July 1 deadline. When the mailing will be done is undetermined.

Some of the items included in the report that will be presented to the Chamber in July are: (1) an 8-page coloring book featuring Chelsea landmarks, (2) a set of six self-guiding tour leaflets—two within the village and four in the surrounding areas, (3) ideas for community education classes, and (4) suggestions for annual community events.

Chamber members will be receiving a quarterly newsletter, written and edited by Jeff Hardcastle. The first edition is planned for distribution in July.

The board is pleased with the response to its 1985 membership campaign—many new members have signed up. Members to date include:

Ronald Biedron, DDS, Book-Crafters, Lloyd Bridges Traveland, Chelsea Area Players, Chelsea Big Boy, Chelsea Community Hospital, Chelsea Greenhouse, Chelsea Hardware, Chelsea Industries, Inc.

Chelsea's First New Home in Six Years Under Construction

Construction has begun on the first new residential dwelling to be built in Chelsea in six years.

Workers last week began excavating a basement for a home to be built on a lot fronting on Freer Rd. northeast of Chelsea High school. The lot was purchased by Frank Renten from Frisinger Realty.

An adjacent lot was bought by George Frisinger, who said he has no immediate plans to build on it but may someday.

"Mr. Renten has decided to go ahead and build even though village sewer service is not presently available," Paul Frisinger said. "Fortunately, the lot is large enough to meet requirements for a septic tank and drain field. Renten will be able to get water service from the village."

The sewer problem results from the topography in the area. Wastewater can't be made to flow up-hill, and it would have to in order to reach any existing sewer line. A lift-station (pump) would have to be constructed to get the waste into the sewage system.

"If enough people in the area were to become interested in it (a lift station), it could be built," a village official said. "It would be costly, and the property owners would have to share a large part of the cost. Right now, a septic system is the cheaper way to go."

"There is an ordinance which requires that property owners hook up within a year after sewer service is provided, but right now there is no service to that property and it's impossible to predict when there might be."

Chelsea is under state order to build a new waste treatment plant and have it in operation in 1988. The present plant provides inadequate treatment and frequently overflows, resulting in discharge of untreated wastes into Letts Creek.

Plans for building the new facility have been prepared but are on hold while village officials wait and hope for a federal and/or state grant to help finance the project.

That, however, isn't the immediate problem on the Renten property. It would still take a lift station to pump waste to the new plant if and when it is built.

Paul Frisinger said he is happy that the six-year dry spell of no residential construction in Chelsea is ending, but added that he hopes many problems of providing utility services in the village will be solved.

"Naturally, I'm pleased that we sold a lot which has been on the market for a long time, and that a house is being built on it, but I don't see it as any big breakthrough. The fact that my dad (George Frisinger) bought the other lot is sheer coincidence. Obviously, he sees it as an attractive piece of property worth owning."

Access to both lots will be west off Freer Rd., which means a good deal of grading will have to be done to level a steep embankment. Easier access could be obtained from the one-way drive which runs east from the high school parking lot.

That, however, is on school property and is not a public street. It is very busy at times with school traffic, and school officials are not interested in opening it up to public travel.

FIRST IN SIX YEARS: A basement is being excavated for a home off Freer Rd. near Chelsea High school, the first new residence to be constructed in Chelsea in six years. Frank Renten is the owner of the property.

Revised Senate Forecast Cites Recession Risk in 1987

A recently revised economic forecast released by the Senate Fiscal Agency says a recession by 1987 is growing more likely which, combined with planned reductions in the payments to the state's so-called rainy day fund and proposed tax cuts, could complicate the writing of an already tight 1986-87 budget.

"We're thinking that (a recession in 1986-87) is a real possibility. It's coming to a point where the downside risks are greater than a few months ago, primarily because of the overvalued dollar," said fiscal agency chief economist Gary Olson.

A compromise prison construction plan reduces the payment to the state's Budget Stabilization Fund (BSF) by $60 million in 1985-86 and $30 million in 1986-87. The income tax rate will return to 4.6 percent sometime in 1986 instead of October, 1987, as under current state law.

Governor James Blanchard, who would replace lost revenue, proposed a July 1 date for the rollback, the Senate approved a Jan. 1 date with no revenue augmentation, the House Taxation Committee has voted for a May, 1986 date.

The fiscal agency revision said the economy will be slowing more in 1985-86 than it had forecast in March, but expects no complications from the tax for budget stabilization fund decision.

Because of the slower economy, the agency projects a fund payment of $123.8 million, which is about half of the $233 million estimated earlier, and would be cut another $60 million under the prison compromise.

The lower payment, however, also helps boost the 1985-86 surplus to $406.8 million, assuming the Governor's budget targets.

Olson said the new numbers cause him to be concerned about the fund, which he said should be 7-10 percent of the general fund/school aid fund spending to adequately handle a recession.

The planned actions will leave the fund in 1985-86 with a balance of $405.1 million, or about 5.1 percent.

"I don't want to throw cold water on the prison compromise, but I've always thought the larger the balance in the BSF, the better," he said.

Olson said the tax cut proposals will have already left lawmakers with little additional revenue for a new budget.

The Department of Management and Budget has projected that a 5 percent growth in the general fund budget would be possible with a faster tax rollback, but Olson said he thinks even that is optimistic.

Reduced estimates of 1985-86 by the fiscal agency have narrowed its differences with the department, although it remains more optimistic on estimated revenues.

The revise revenue estimate is higher than its last forecast by $27.8 million in the current year and $26.5 million for 1985-86, despite lower estimated collections in most revenue sources as the economy slows.

The increase is due to higher payments in income tax returns as well as lower refund levels.

Kelley Seeks Cleanup of Monroe Hazardous Waste Site

A lawsuit filed by Attorney General Frank Kelley is seeking a court order to cleanup the Steven's Landfill in Monroe county and for owners of the hazardous waste site to reimburse the state for the cleanup operation.

The Department of Natural Resources ranks the 33-acre site as among the worst three in the state.

The suit asks the Monroe County Court to implement a DNR cleanup plan, which involves removal of about 400 toxic waste barrels and surface oils to a licensed landfill and continued testing to determine the effect of the contaminants on the land; order the company to reimburse the state for those costs and the lawsuit; and issue an injunction to permit DNR access to the site.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers still had change on their minds at the session at the country store Saturday night. Bug Hookum cranked up the agender by allowing that he is not of the school that holds if King James English was good enough fer Jesus it's good enough fer everybody, but he said he is worried about what's happening to literature.

Computers taking the place of liberry card catalogs is scary enough, Bug said, but now everybody is using word processors to rework stories to suit themselves, and never mind what Joel Chandler Harris, Zane Grey, Mark Twain and all the other hacks had in mind. Now you can pick "alternative endings" that suit your lifestyle and permote the values you want fer your children, was Bug's words.

Actual, this move started years back when it was decided that the wolf could huff and puff and blow down the houses, but the pigs ought to run to the brick house and not be eat. Then the vilence got to much fer young and tender Little Red Riding Hood, so Grandma hid in the closet. When the woodcutter come to the rescue, instead of chopping off the wolf's head he took the pore confused creature back to the forest where he lived happy ever after. Helped by computers, the new versions has took off in all directions, Bug said.

With alternative endings, the sychologists say, children don't have to be exposed to the "finalities of life," they can share life's experiences. Everybody knows the sky can't fall, so the hole business about that alarmist Chicken Little will have to go. Now Jack can bring the giant down from the beanstalk and line him up in TV commercials with royalties rolling in fever and ever.

Practical speaking, broke in Clem Webster, take-your-pick endings really will get confusing when the children git older. If schools still ask fer book reports, how is a teacher going to know which ending the students are reporting on, or if they make up their own? With the world crying "save the whale," Clem said we will have Moby Dick saving the sailors. And the family being the rock of civilization, we will see Rett cut a deal where the old homelace is sold to a outfit putting up a shopping mall, and he and Scarlet take the money and move to a Florida condo.

If alternative endings ain't enough we got equal time rimes cooked up by a feller in Des Moines that wants to balance races and sexes as well as tone down vilence. The new Mother-Father Goose has Humpty Dumpty being put together again and Larry, just as contrary, joins Mary in the garden. Jill jumps over candlesticks as good as Jack, and people in wheelchairs go fishing. It ain't that this is bad, Zeke declared, it's that old stories don't have to be killed so you can have new ones.

Practical speaking, Clem Webster said, everthing is going this way. Time was, when you ask somebody how he was you wanted to know. Now "have a good day" mean "go away" and nobody cares how anybody feels. When he's ask, Clem said he don't mention the shooting pains in his legs and his spastic colon, he just goes away.

Personal, I agree we ought to write new stories and not rewrite old ones, but folks don't want to know how things are, they want to see the world the way they would make it. That's why the National Transportation Board can git away with calling a airplane crash a "controlled flight into terrain." We don't want to know what really happens.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

The bridegroom's mother wore a gray, full-length gown with a draped bodice and long sheer sleeves.

Robert Weir of Kalamazoo, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. Ushers were Kenneth Cobb, brother of the bride, Richard Cobb, brother of the bride, and Henri Vanderwaard, friend of the bridegroom.

Other attendants included Eric McCalla, nephew of the bride, who was ringbearer, and Daniel Jay Cobb, nephew of the bride, who carried yellow roses which were presented to the two mothers.

Vocalist Laurie Van Ark sang Schubert's "Ave Maria," "The Wedding Song," "The Song of Ruth" and "The Wedding Prayer."

A reception was held at St. Mary's Hall on Congdon St. Jeanne Atkinson, aunt of the bride, and Jamie Seyfried, cousin of the bride, cut and served the cake. Dianna Parker of Grass Lake and Kim Cooper of Chelsea were in charge of the guest book.

Lynda Cobb, sister of the bride, was personal attendant. Master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCalla, sister and brother-in-law of the bride.

The couple took a week's wedding trip to Orlando, Fla., and are residing in the Lemontree Apartments, 48661 Benton Rd., Belleville.

The new Mrs. Weir is a 1980 graduate of Chelsea High school and a graduate of Michigan Technical Institute. She is employed by Legal Services of Southeastern Michigan.

Mr. Weir, also a 1980 Chelsea High school graduate, is a 1985 honor graduate of Michigan Technological University. He is employed by Smith Hinchman and Grylls Associates in Ann Arbor.

Players Seek Volunteers For 'Mame'

Chelsea Area Players need your help!

They need volunteers to help prepare for "Mame" performances on July 18, 19, and 20. If you are a seamstress, or an electrician, or you can pound a nail straight, they need your help. This community contains a vast number of talented people, hard-working people, and people who have a strong interest in Chelsea Theatre. Especially needed are folks who would be willing to help out on performance nights—either as ushers or on the stage crew.

The survival of any organization depends on its members, but in order to make it thrive they need man, woman and child power. There is a 55-plus member cast who want to entertain you thrill you, and give you a great show. All they ask is a little hand. Be it on the phone, behind the scenes or in the lobby, the cast and directors of "Mame" want you to join in the fun. If you have un-tapped energy and enthusiasm for the theatre, call Marge Lewis at 475-3325.

WINS BIKE: Eric Worthing, 13, of 2577 Hayes Rd., was the lucky winner of a bicycle in a drawing held at Polly's Market in Chelsea. Congratulating him is Bobby Hoffenbecker, Polly's cashier. ### Circus Big Top Goes Up Early Morning of July 6

A traveling circus makes its own world. It materializes as if by magic, splashes an array of glitter, music, daring and excitement into the ordinary world, and then slips away, leaving only romantic echo to remember in the word "circus" so said the World-Telegram publication about a legend come to life.

American's finest, the Al G. Kelly & Miller Bros. 3-Ring Circus will perform in Chelsea for one day only. Show times are at 2 and 5:30 p.m.

The Big-Top will be set up at Chelsea Fairgrounds. The public is invited to the show lot early morning July 6 to watch the arrival, unloading and set up. Little by little the big top will take shape, other tents for animals, side show and concessions departments will fill the lot. David Rawls, manager, will be on hand to over-see it all.

Al G. Kelly & Miller Bros. 3-Ring Circus was founded in 1938 by Obert Kelly and Dores Miller and has always been a traditional tented American circus.

Local sponsors for the circus are Chelsea Lioness Club and discount advance tickets may be obtained through members of that organization or at Chelsea Pharmacy, Chelsea Community Education, Parts Peddler in Chelsea and Dexter, or Stockbridge Pharmacy.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

GUEST COLUMN by WILL CONNELLY

Recently the Chelsea Civic Foundation awarded a grant of $1,000 to study the idea of wellness/fitness center. An active participant in the study is a member of the staff of the Chelsea Community Hospital. This makes sense because hospitals and medical professionals are the targets of blame for rising health care costs. The fact is that a high percentage of hospital admissions and treatments by physicians come as a direct result of health neglect and health abuse by the patients themselves.

Throughout our nation we are killing men and women by the millions with preventable heart disease, preventable cancer and dozens of other preventable ailments.

I do not envision a Chelsea Wellness/Fitness center as large buildings or land areas, or costly equipment.

For each of us, our own personal wellness/fitness center is located in our head. This is the precise location for the inspiration, motivation, education and self-discipline required for wellness and fitness.

Any sustained effort at wellness/fitness for your own body is what you do with it while you are operating as your own health care supervisor. Aside from the question of cigarettes, about 99 percent of your success or failure will depend on: 1. What you eat and drink—in terms of quantity and quality. 2. How you use this energy.

Overweight is simply the result of consuming more calories per day than you expend in daily effort. Most overweight people get that way slowly. Just 100 calories a day—say a buttered slice of bread—in excess of your body's needs, will add 10 pounds on your bathroom scale every year. People who get substantially overweight invariably go for crash diets in an attempt to lose years of added fat in weeks of self-denial. Nineteen out of 20 fail. They try it again and 19 out of 20 fail. Many of these failures result from a refusal to count calories. They count their pennies like misers but when it comes to the management of their most precious asset, a healthy body, they look the other way.

The next wellness/fitness sin is lack of regular energy-consuming and oxygen-consuming (aerobic) exercise which aids in weight control but primarily produces healthy muscles and bones plus a powerful heart pump and a fine circulatory system. A standard excuse for lack of exercise is "I haven't the time. I'm too busy." The time becomes available later in the hospital or in the grave.

As I see it, a Chelsea Wellness/Fitness Center would be an educational facility where people could come for motivation, information and group togetherness in remaining healthy and physically fit.

The Chelsea School District already has a splendid swimming pool, tennis courts, gymnasiums, exercise machines and other facilities for the kind of rhythmic, sustained exercise required for aerobic fitness. We have miles of streets and roads for fitness runners, walkers and bicyclists. Stationary aerobic exercise can be done at home along with aerobic rope skipping, stair climbing, stationary bicycling, dancing and time-tested calisthenics.

So the Chelsea Wellness/Fitness center could be an institutional effort that might be situated on Chelsea Hospital grounds. It would be basically educational but if it is also used as a health record center for subscribers, individuals who develop special medical problems would have the benefit of expert and early referrals.

Until we have our wellness/fitness center, may I suggest some self-guides to healthful nutrition, and you can get these at very low cost from the U. S. book store in Detroit. (They also have an excellent booklet on exercises from the President's Council on Physical Fitness.) Just phone 1-226-7816 and tell them what you are interested in and they will help you in ordering.

Recommendation No. 2 relates to aerobic exercise and nutrition. It is The Aerobic Way by Kenneth H. Cooper, M.D., MPH. The last time I bought a copy it was $3.50 and it may be a bit more now. A good place to shelve this wonderful book is next to the family Bible.

HISTORICAL DISPLAY commemorating Chelsea's 46 village council presidents is now on exhibit in four frames on the staircase of Chelsea Village Hall. Pictured with the display are Jerry Satterthwaite, present council president, and Kathleen Clark, a member of the Chelsea Area Historical Society, who helped to prepare the exhibits for framing.

Village Presidents Shown in Historic Framed Collection

Chelsea Area Historical Society has presented the village council with four framed groups of pictures, drawings and historical facts about Chelsea's 46 past council presidents. All are now on permanent display beside the staircase which leads to the council chambers in the village hall.

The collection includes photographs of 39 past presidents and incumbent Jerry Satterthwaite. Missing are the first president, Elisha Congdon, as well as David Thomas (1870-1872), Orrin Thatcher (1874-1875), James P. Wood (1880), James L. Gilbert (1881-1882), and J. D. Schmittman (1884).

The names and dates of service of the 46 village leaders were researched by Marge Hepburn, president of the historical society. She accomplished the task through contacts with descendants and reference to numerous publications. Harold A. Jones performed the arduous task of making photographic reproductions from original images in many sizes and with wide variances in pictorial quality. Kathleen Clark assisted with layout, art work and lettering, while Max Hepburn built the frames.

The pictures and dates of office for six presidents are missing because some village records were destroyed by fire in the late 1880's.

Area residents are invited to visit this historical exhibit which is on display 24 hours a day seven days a week. Anyone who can supply missing dates or pictures is urged to call Mrs. Hepburn at 475-8971.

Four Chelsea Youths Attend Boys' State

Four Chelsea High youths attended the 48th annual American Legion Boys' State held on the campus of Michigan State University, East Lansing, June 15-22. Mike Goodwin, Christopher Herter, Jim Eisenbeiser and Tyler Heaven joined Boys' State representatives from throughout Michigan to participate in the exposure to the realistic operation of city, county and state governments.

up their own state with all of its governmental bodies, problems and opportunities.

Jim Eisenbeiser had this to say after his return to Chelsea last week:

"Boys' State was a worthwhile experience for me. It was very interesting to see how our state, county and city governments are formed, and how they operate.

"The city government was the most interesting for me. That's where the most work is done and the most things are learned.

"It was also interesting to meet students from different parts of the state. I talked to guys from big cities, little cities, and the Upper Peninsula.

"It's neat to see how they live and find out what kind of things they do. I will never forget the things I learned and did at Boys' State."

Andrew Johnson was the first ex-president to serve later in the Senate.

Talking With Young Children About Death

As adults we are familiar with the frequent questions of our children, those back-to-back "whys" of a child. Perhaps the toughest "why" to which we will ever have to respond is why someone has died. We have acquired a unique family-oriented brochure entitled, "Talking With Young Children About Death." It was produced under the direction of noted children's expert, Fred Rogers of Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood. This acclaimed brochure is now part of our community resource collection. Please feel free to call or drop by if you would like a complimentary copy.

Progressive Euchre Scheduled Fridays At Senior Center

Progressive euchre has sparked interest by Chelsea Senior Citizens with the group playing each Friday morning at the Senior Nutrition Center located in North Elementary school. Games begin at 10:30 a.m. and continue until just before noon when the hot lunch is served.

Progressive euchre provides that winners move up tables as they win, with their goal the head table.

Prizes are awarded for high men's and for high ladies scores, with booby prizes awarded for low men's and low ladies scores.

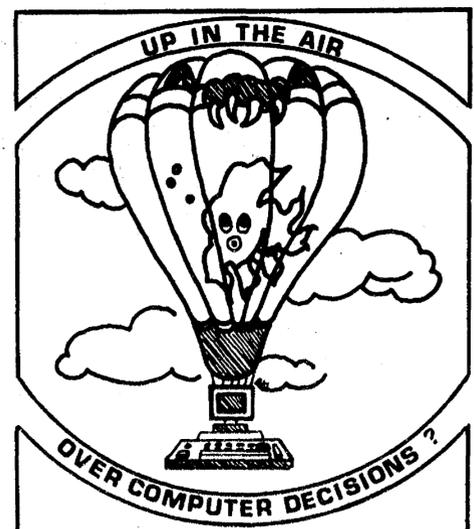

Friday morning, June 28, will be the next session of progressive euchre. More seniors are encouraged to stop at North school and join the card game.

A time capsule was built into the Washington Monument on July 4, 1848, but to date no one has been able to find it.

Feds Delaying Clean-Up Job on Toxic Waste Site

Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) has accused the federal government of delaying a lawsuit brought by the state to force the U.S. Coast Guard to clean up alleged toxic chemical contamination of groundwater and portions of Grand Traverse Bay at Traverse City.

"The federal government is more interested in delay than in cleaning up the deplorable groundwater pollution it caused in Traverse City," declared Thomas L. Washington, executive director of MUCC.

Washington made the accusation following a U.S. Justice Department request to delay a June 14 pre-trial conference in the suit.

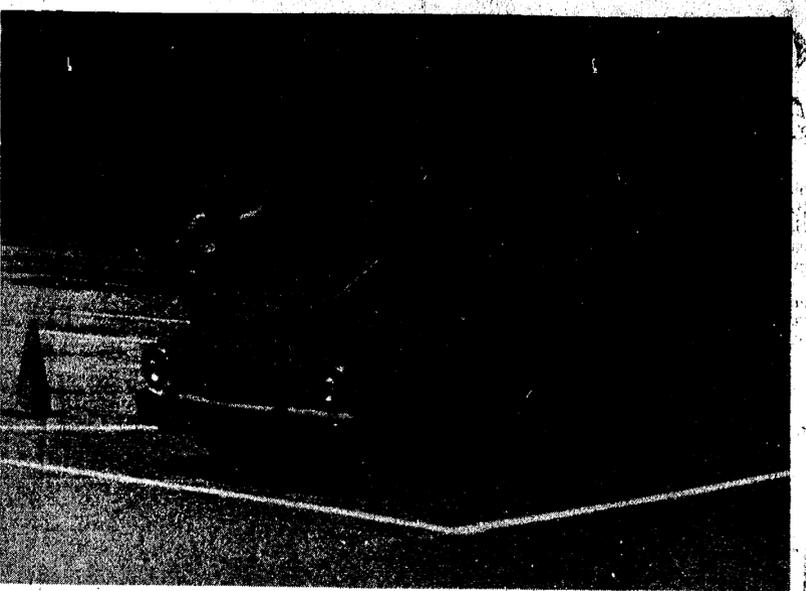

State and local officials discovered in 1980 that the wells of 102 homes in Traverse City were contaminated or threatened by organic chemicals including benzene, toluene, and xylene. After reviewing studies that traced the source of the pollution to the Coast Guard Station, Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley sued the federal government to clean up the site.

Washington noted that by seeking to delay the suit, the federal government is acting like other recalcitrant polluters.

"They are using classic tactics of delay, study, and litigation to evade their responsibility," Washington declared. "The Traverse City incident is part of a larger web of federal sites of environmental pollution."

Class of '80 Holds 5th-Year Reunion

Holding their fifth-year reunion, members of the Chelsea High Class of 1980 met at classmate Kevin Doll's residence on Heim Rd. for an afternoon and evening of fun, Saturday, June 22.

A total of 136 class members and guests spent the afternoon visiting and participating in softball, volleyball and swimming. A chicken barbecue and pot-luck dinner was held, followed by an evening of dancing with music by Kastle Productions, the class reported.

Invitations went out to 196 members of the class, 113 responses were received from those in several states including Hawaii. Attending the party were 94 members of the class, with Bill Burgess from Fort Hood, Tex., traveling the farthest.

Prizes were given for a number of things, said members of the committee planning the event, and everyone had a great time with the group already looking forward to the 10-year reunion. Co-ordinator for the event was Debbie Honbaum.

Tecumseh Plans Fireworks Display

This year the Tecumseh JC's and the Al Meyers Airport are co-sponsors in an all day July 4th celebration at the Al Meyers Airport, 10 a.m., ending in beautiful fireworks display at dark. In addition, this year the Al Meyers Airport will be celebrating its 45th year. A whole day of celebration, on its 75 grassy acres at the north end of town, will be devoted to picnicking and aerial events. A big tent will display a bazaar of tables containing food, arts, crafts, and other interesting items.

Among the organizations invited to participate are: Vietnam War Veterans, MIA's and POW's. The American Legion and the VFW are offering barbecued chicken. Other vendors will sell the ever popular ice cream, soda, and popcorn.

The Parachuting Club has been practicing a formation jump for eight persons—men and women. The new tandem jump, which shows how students and instructor come down together to a soft landing, will be frequently demonstrated. In addition, the Parachuting Club members will be jumping all through the day. In the early evening there will be other exciting air events.

Telephone your club news to 475-1371

The Sheriff's Possee, and their beautiful horses, will be headed by Mayor Easton. Some of them will also monitor the runway, which will be closed for the air exhibits. The runway will also be off-limits to crossing or walking.

A public address system has been made available through the courtesy of the National Guard.

This will be used to make announcements and describe what is taking place.

JC women will have a table with small replicas of the Statue of Liberty for sale. The entire JC organization will assist the police department with security, parking, and general order.

Dick Valley is in charge of the fireworks, and promises they will be shown for greater visibility than before. Admission is free—the whole town and neighboring communities are invited to join in a good old-fashioned 4th.

At dark, the fireworks exhibition will climax a whole day of good fun.

ley, and the third flight winner was Dave Longworth who defeated Dick Schuales, both 18-hole matches.

Anton Nielsen, Farmers' Supply Co. owner, checked one of the first truckloads of feed to dump directly from the farmer's truck into the basement pit from where it was conveyed on a spiral screw to the mill for grinding. The truckload made use of the new hoist which was put into operation Monday morning.

Located at the east side of the building, the hoist and pit installation is protected by a roof high enough to accommodate any size truck. The hoist lifts the front end of the truck, dumping the grain from the truck bed into the pit in one operation, eliminating the necessity of shoveling, and consequently speeding up the grinding operation.

Infectious hepatitis (or jaundice), has shown a slow, steady increase during the past few years, but has jumped far ahead of the usual rate of increase during the first five months of 1961, says Dr. Otto K. Engelke, Wash-tenaw County Health Officer.

The Health Department really believes that this illness is directly attributable to the exposure of the victim to human waste in the form of raw sewage from failing septic tank systems or water from wells which have become contaminated from such sources.

Children as well as adults should be extremely careful of their personal hygiene, Dr. Engelke said, handwashing before meals should be strictly observed and children should be cautioned continuously about placing objects in their mouth and about drinking from cups that others have used.

Under no circumstances should water from ditches or drains be taken into the mouth. Parents should discourage children from playing in areas adjacent to drains, Dr. Engelke added.

Linda Ordway entertained the group known as Young Women of the YWCA of Ann Arbor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ordway. The entertainment included horseback-riding and outdoor games. Refreshments were also served outdoors.

Safety Belt Law Effective July 1

Enforcement of the new Safety Belt Law will begin July 1 according to the Michigan State Police. Col. Gerald L. Hough, department director, explained that there will be no grace period. Hough stressed that the law requires all drivers and front seat passengers to wear a properly adjusted safety belt unless they or the vehicle are exempt. Exemptions include: vehicles manufactured before 1965; buses; mopeds; motorcycles; physical/medical exemptions; commercial vehicles/U.S. Postal Service; rural postal carriers; school bus passengers; and vehicles not required to have safety belts under federal law. Those who are physically exempt must have in their possession written verification from a physician that they are unable to wear a safety belt for physical or medical reasons. Non-residents are not exempt—they must comply with Michigan law when in Michigan. If safety belts have been removed from a vehicle required to have them, they must be reinstalled. Motorists will not be stopped

Mourning Dove Hunting Season Expected Soon

At the urging of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), the Michigan Natural Resources Commission is expected to order the establishment of a season on mourning doves this year.

Extensive legal research on the issue, conducted by MUCC attorney Kenneth Franklin, concluded that the commission has the authority to order a dove season without legislative approval.

The commission ordered Department of Natural Resources staff to draft recommendations for a dove season for action at the commission's July meeting in Gaylord.

If a dove season is approved by the commission, Michigan would join 36 other states with seasons on the top game bird in the United States.

Marine Pfc. Michael W. Hintzen, son of Matthew J. and Margaret A. Hintzen of 14326 Edgewood, Gregory, has been meritoriously promoted to his present rank upon graduation from recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

Hintzen received the early promotion for his superior performance during all phases of the 11-week training cycle, which emphasized physical conditioning, self-discipline and teamwork.

He joined the Marine Corps in October 1984.

SUBSTANCE ABUSE

An In-Depth Look

By Bill Mullendore (Seventh of a series)
There are a lot of other drugs out there besides alcohol, upper-and-downer pills, marijuana and cocaine. Never having been into the drug scene except for alcohol, I don't know much about them. I have heard about heroin, LSD, qualudes, ecstasy and some others. There are many more.

A major problem in trying to get a handle on substance abuse and control is to keep up with the proliferation of drugs. New ones come out all the time, faster than they can be identified, tested and declared safe or unsafe.

It is said that a skilled organic chemist can create an almost endless variety of heroin-like drugs, simply by juggling molecules around. Some of these are showing up on the street and are being bought and used. They are "legal" in the sense that they are not listed on the U. S. Food and Drug Administration's roster of dangerous drugs. It takes the feds several months to catch up with a new drug, obtain samples, test them and render a verdict as to their toxicity and addictive qualities.

Heroin comes from the Oriental poppy, that pretty orange flower which blooms profusely in local gardens in late May and early June. The seed pods exude a sap which, when scraped off and put through a refining process, becomes opium. Further refined, opium turns into heroin, commonly called "horse" for some unknown reason.

Opiates once were widely prescribed medicinal drugs, useful as pain-killers and sleep-inducers. Not very many years ago a spoonful of powdered opium in a glass of milk or cup of tea was a standard bed-time prescription for insomniacs who had trouble going to sleep at night.

Heroin is many times more powerful than opium. It is a mind-bending, addictive drug, and is said to be the hardest of all to "kick." Once hooked, heroin addicts usually stay hooked until they die. Most heroin addicts die young. The stuff is lethal, and it doesn't take long to do its deadly work.

A big part of the problem is that most heroin sold on the street is impure, and has been adulterated with heaven-knows-what other substances. The buyer has no idea what he is getting and injecting into his body. The adulterant could be something as inert as flour (which can be dangerous, incidentally, because it doesn't dissolve in the bloodstream and can cause clots) or it could be some other chemical.

Television and movie personality John Belushi died after shooting a combined dose of heroin and cocaine, and he is by no means the only person who has succumbed to such fatal mixtures.

The difficulty of kicking the heroin habit has given rise to a controversial way of helping addicts to cope with it—the methadone treatment. Methadone has about the same effect as heroin, but is considered safer in the sense that it doesn't kill as quickly.

Methadone is not used in the Chelsea Hospital substance abuse program. Doctors and therapists see no real value in substituting one drug for another. The object of the Chelsea program is to get patients "clean" of whatever drug or drugs they may be using, and keeping them clean.

All I know about LSD derives from the experience of the son of a good friend. The boy had a "bad trip" and, five years later, was a walking zombie, apparently brain-damaged permanently. He could function physically but had lost all of his mental faculties, including the ability to talk. He could make sounds but could not form words. He was—or at least had been—an intelligent young man with a bright future ahead of him, until he decided to try LSD.

I'm not kidding myself. In this day and age, every young person is probably going to test drugs. I looked at the picture in last week's paper of Chelsea High school's graduating class of 1985 and said to myself, "Every one of those kids has tried alcohol, marijuana and maybe other drugs."

I hope I'm wrong, and that there are some who haven't yielded to the temptation. All I can say is, if you haven't done it yet, don't. There is nothing to be gained, and a whole lot to be lost. If you have done it, quit—right now. The longer a habit continues, the harder it is to break.

Experiment with sex if you must (be careful) but leave drugs alone. Sex is normal, drugs aren't.

Back in my high school days the big "in" thing to do was to start smoking cigarettes. I began at age 14 and acquired a habit that I have cursed ever since but haven't been able to get rid of.

That same pattern applies to all drugs (nicotine, incidentally, is a drug). If you never sample them, you will never run the risk of getting

Chuck Downer Is Selected To All-State Baseball Team

Charles (Chuck) Downer capped a brilliant baseball season by being selected to the Class B all-state team, the first Chelsea player ever so honored.

The junior third baseman batted .471 in 91 appearances at the plate, striking out only three times. He hit .521 in 12 Southeastern Conference games.

On defense he showed good range, a sure glove and a strong arm, and he also pitched in spots, mostly in relief. He is a husky 5-10 and weighs 185.

It was Downer's booming bat that caught the eyes of the members of the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association who picked the all-staters. They first had to be chosen for all-district and all-region recognition.

Downer is right-handed but bats from the left side, which is not so common. "It's natural for me," he says. "I've always batted left-handed from the time I started playing ball."

One of the only two juniors to make the all-state team, a special compliment in itself, Downer will be back next year. He will have to go some to improve on his marks this season. This summer, along with teammates Dan Bellus and Mark Mull, he is playing on an all-star team selected from among the top players at area schools.

"Chuck has great natural talent, he works hard to improve and is very coachable," said his coach Wayne Welton. He's still developing as a player.

"Being named all-state is an honor for him and for our school. We have had two boys selected to the second team in past years, but Downer is the first to make

One of the second-teamers was Welton's brother, John, who made it as a pitcher four years ago. The other was catcher Rodney Robeson, chosen in 1983.

Three from Aquatic Club Make State

Three members of the Chelsea Aquatic Club went to Dearborn last weekend hoping to qualify for the state long-course swimming meet, and all three succeeded.

Melissa Thiel qualified in both the 50 and 100 meter breaststroke, Colby Skelton in the 50 and 100 meter breaststroke, and Kelly Cross in the 50 and 100 meter backstroke.

Also swimming in the meet were Matt McVittie and Bryndon Skelton.

"We had 14 personal best times out of 23 swims, which is very good when you consider the bad weather on Saturday," said coach Dave Brinklow. "Our goal was to qualify those swimmers for state. We achieved that goal and had several other good swims along the way. I'm sure Matt and Bryndon would have also qualified if there were an 8-and-under age group at state."

The long-course state meet will be held at Birmingham, Aug. 1-4.

BILL BAINTON, coach of Chelsea's 1985 state champion Class B track relay team, holds a baton which must be successfully passed from one runner to another in the relay. Bainton is a graduate of Michigan State and has spent his entire 15-year coaching career at Chelsea High.

Girls Track Relay Team Wins First CHS State Title

This is the first year in the history of Chelsea High school athletics that two girls teams have won state championships. The most recent Chelsea victory was on June 17 when our softball team defeated Richmond, 7-4, for the Class B title at Lansing.

Chelsea's first major 1985 state championship, however, was won by the girls track relay squad on June 1 at Jackson Northwest High in a 32-team event. In the final run (known to trackers as the "fast heat") 16 Class B relay teams competed and Laura Damm, carrying the Chelsea baton, crossed the finish line first.

The six members of the Chelsea championship relay squad are Kasey Anderson, Kim Collins, Laura Damm, Melanie Flanigan, Sallie Wilson and Amy Wolfgang.

Anderson, Wilson, Wolfgang and Damm were in the championship run at Jackson, completing 3,200 meters in nine minutes, 45.7 seconds. Each competitor in the relay runs close to a half mile.

Four runners comprise a relay event team. The selection of four out of the six members is an almost last-minute decision depending upon how many other individual events an athlete has already run, or faces after the relay. These strategic decisions have to be made by coach Bill

New Boat Launch Built By Dow

A new boat launch, constructed by Dow Chemical Co., has been officially opened on the Saginaw River.

Free Swim Program Offered at Beach Pool

Prospective young competitive swimmers and divers are invited to take advantage of a "swim free" program at Beach school's Cameron pool June 26-July 9, Chelsea Aquatic Club coach Larry Reed announces.

The offer is open to young persons ages 4-16. The only requirement is that they be able to swim 25 yards (the length of the pool) Reed said.

"This is not a learn-to swim

Bainton.

The Chelsea girls relay team competed in 14 meets during the 1985 season against such formidable opponents as Wyoming Park (defending champions), Livonia Ladywood, Grosse Ile and Jackson Lumen Christi.

In a relay race, a baton must be deftly passed from one runner to the next as a team member completes a lap and hands it to a waiting runner at the transfer point. This is an athletic skill in itself, first, because of its effect on race timing and second, because a dropped baton is a disaster.

program," Reed explained. "We already have an instructional program for that purpose, and the interest this year is higher than it has ever been before."

"This new program is for kids who already know how to swim and are interested in learning strokes and diving. There is no obligation beyond the no-charge swimming period.

"It's an opportunity for youngsters who may want to go beyond swimming and diving just for fun. We will offer coaching and advice."

OUT IN THE OPEN

By BILL MULLENDORE

Summer started officially last Friday, which means that the vacation and travel season will hit its peak and continue at an almost frantic pace through Labor Day week-end. Not everybody will go out in the open, but many will.

Thoughtful advance planning can make the difference between a good trip and a bad one. One of the important things to think about is what to take along to prevent and/or treat possible medical and physical problems that might occur along the way. Nothing can ruin a vacation more quickly or completely than getting seriously sick or hurt. Unfortunately, illnesses and accidents sometimes do happen, and it's just plain smart to be prepared to cope with them.

A simple first-aid kit—antiseptic, assorted bandages, gauze, adhesive tape, pain reliever—can be packed into a small container and carried wherever you go. The hope is that you won't need to use it, but it's mighty handy to have available to take care of minor cuts, scrapes and scratches, headaches and the like.

What else you take along depends a lot on where you are going, what you plan to do, and your personal wants, whims and fancies.

At the top of my list of "don't leave without it" items is insect repellent. Anywhere you go outdoors in the summer there will be biting bugs—mosquitoes, black flies, deer flies, sand flies, chiggers and ticks. They are a nuisance at best, and can be a serious hazard to persons who are hyper-sensitive. A single black fly bite makes my forearm swell to twice normal size and hurt for a week.

Most repellents on the market are effective against mosquitoes, but only a few work against other biting insects. I know of two that provide effective broad-spectrum protection, at least for me—Deep-Woods Off and Cutter's. Liquid formulas that you rub on are better than aerosols and waxes. Take plenty, and use it generously, reapplying the application every three hours or so for all exposed skin. (By the way, be careful about handling fishing tackle with repellent on your fingers. Some repellents are better varnish removers than the products sold for that purpose.)

I also suggest a can of bug spray, such as Raid. Again, select a formula that works against all species of insects, not just one or two. Something that knocks down mosquitoes and flies is great, until you want to kill bees, wasps and hornets and find out the hard way that what you are spraying serves only to irritate them.

Travelling involves changes in food and drinking water, and those can produce digestive disturbances of various sorts. Medications to relieve constipation, diarrhea and stomach upsets are comforting to have available when you need them, and you usually need them right now, when an emergency arises.

Your physician or pharmacist can help you choose what is best for you.

If you have trouble sleeping in strange places or staying awake during long hours of driving, there are safe medicines that will help. Again, talk to your doctor or druggist.

If you are going to be roaming around in country where poisonous snakes are known to be common, an emergency snake-bite treatment kit just might save your life. Such kits are about the size and weight of a pack of cigarettes, easily carried in a pocket. Take it with you. That or any other emergency aid is of no use whatever if it's left at home or in the car and you are a couple of miles out in the boondocks.

Whatever else you take along for personal protection depends a lot on your individual requirements. For example, I have a trick ankle that turns over and sprains easily and an elbow that occasionally flares up with the pain of chronic tendinitis. Thus, my "survival kit" includes elastic ankle and elbow supports. I wear the ankle bandage whenever walking on rough ground, simple preventive medicine. The elbow bandage has come in handy a couple of times when I otherwise couldn't have used my arm.

If you wear prescription glasses, by all means take along a spare pair and keep them in a safe place where they won't get lost or broken. I once wasted four days of vacation time waiting for a replacement lens to be made, just because I had neglected to pack my extra glasses. They were at home 2,000 miles away, and might as well have been on the moon.

If you regularly use prescription medicines of any sort, you probably won't forget to take along a supply. What you may forget is to have with you a copy of the prescription, signed by your doctor, just in case something happens and you urgently need more. No reputable pharmacist will sell you a prescription drug on your say-so that you have to have it.

The last suggestion is a general one—know and understand your limits, and stay within them. If your exercise program during the past year has consisted of getting in and out of a chair, don't push yourself into strenuous activity. If you have fair skin and sunburn easily, wear protective clothing and avoid exposure. If you have a sensitive stomach, don't gorge on rich foods.

To the extent possible, maintain your normal living habits. Don't place unusual stresses on your body or mind. Vacations are supposed to be restful and relaxing. Plan ahead, use good sense, and you will avoid a lot of potential trouble and be able to handle the minor accidents and nuisances that inevitably will happen.

Four Bulldog Girls Chosen To Play In All-Star Game

Four members of Chelsea's state Class B champion softball team have been selected to play in an all-star game in Lansing later this summer, coach Charlie Waller announced.

Pitcher Kelly Hawker, pitcher-outfielder Beth Unterbrink, outfielder Tina Paddock and third baseman Laura Anderson were selected on the basis of their play in the state tournament.

"What they do is pick the top players from each of the tournament teams in all four classes, then divide them up as evenly as possible for the all-star games," Waller explained.

"The Class A and B players are put into one group, and the C and D players into another, and teams are picked from each. Teams chosen from the A-B pool are matched up, as are those from C-D. It makes for an excellent exhibition of high school softball, a lot of fun to watch."

"The games don't mean anything in terms of rankings, but there is a lot of pride involved for the players. It's possible, in fact probable, that some of our four girls will wind up playing against each other, which would be something different for them."

In other developments in the aftermath of Chelsea's championship season, Waller reported that:

Anderson led the team in hitting with a batting average over .400; Unterbrink was tops in runs batted in; and second baseman Anne Weber scored the most runs.

The Bulldogs' 37 victories, almost all of them won against good competition, set a school record. "It was the best schedule we have ever played," Waller said.

Kris Mattoff was slightly injured while making a spectacular catch in the state final game, as she slid on her knees to grab a ball in centerfield that looked like it would fall in for a hit. The out was critical at the time.

Chelsea's summer softball team, which plays in the Ann Arbor recreation league, is off to an 0-3 start, but there are reasons why.

"Our seniors don't play in the summer league," Waller noted. "We use the summer program to begin building our team for next spring, and we take advantage of the opportunity to give the younger girls experience. We want to win if we can, of course, but that isn't the main purpose."

"When you take the seven seniors away from this year's team, you take away a lot. All seven were outstanding."

"Add to that the temporary losses of Jenny Cattell (junior shortstop who suffered a broken thumb in the state semi-final game) and Mattoff, and we are playing in the summer league without much experience on the field. We'll come around and be all right."

Summer Baseball Team Drops First Two Games

Chelsea's summer baseball team opened its season in the High School Major League in Ann Arbor by dropping two games, 5-4 and 12-7.

In the opening game against Mindell's Pharmacy on June 18 Chelsea took an early 4-1 lead but couldn't hold it. Mindell's scored a run in the first inning, and Chelsea got three in the second. The big hit was a two-run homer by Kevin Walz. Chelsea also scored in the third on an RBI single by Kevin Maynard.

Mindell's came back with two in the fourth and two more in the fifth, and that was all the scoring.

Todd Starkey started on the mound for Chelsea and pitched five innings, giving up eight hits and five walks while striking out four. "He did a good job considering that he hadn't pitched in almost a month since the high school varsity season ended," coach Akel Marshall commented.

Walz retired the side in order in the sixth, getting two strikeouts. Chelsea stroked three other hits, singles by Matt Bohlender, Rob McDowell and Starkey.

Last Thursday Chelsea lost to Milan, 12-7, digging themselves into an early hole and trailing 8-0 after two innings. They fought back but couldn't overcome the deficit.

Walz started for Chelsea and was succeeded in turn by Mark Bareis and Greg Haist. Haist yielded no hits or runs in the one inning he worked.

Chelsea collected 12 hits. Evan Roberts, Haist, Stacey, Matt Koenn and Hatley had two hits, and Bareis and Brian Coy one each. All were singles except for a homer by Hatley.

Aquatic Club Loses First Meet of Season

Chelsea Aquatic Club dropped its first meet of the summer to Ann Arbor's Forestbrook swim team by a score of 449-332.

Coaches Jon Oesterle and Dave Brinklow attributed the loss to the small number of participants. "The kids who swam did very well," said Brinklow. "We were missing a few people who could have helped make a difference."

First place finishers included Tyler Lewis in diving; the 8-and-under medley relay team of Randy Hurst, Bryndon Skelton, Matt Fischer, and Paul Monti; 9-10 medley relay team of Joe Cesarz, Dana Schmunk, Casey Schiller, and Kevin Lane; 11-12 relay team of Brian Brock, Todd Redding, Joe Huetteman, and Bill Massey; 13-14 medley relay team of Terry Draper, Howard Merkel, Garth Girard and Scott Sheffield.

15-16 medley relay team of Kevin Brock, Tyler Lewis, Darren Girard, and Wayne Lewis; 9-10 freestyle relay team of Chris Gibson, Casey Schiller, Joe Cesarz and Steve Brock; 11-12 freestyle relay team of Bill Massey, Joe Huetteman, Brian Brock, and Todd Redding.

13-14 freestyle relay team of Garth Girard, Mike Hollo, Terry Draper, and Howard Merkel.

Bryndon Skelton, 8-and-under 20 yd. free; Matt Fischer, 8-and-under 20 yd. back; Betsy Schmunk, 8-and-under 20 yd. free and 20 yd. back; Dana Schmunk, 9-10 40 yd. free and 40 yd. back; Sara Nicola, 9-10 40 yd. back.

8-and-under girls—Michelle Craig, Erica Street, Anna Sell, Jeanine Moulliseaux, Dena Walker, Courtney Thompson, Lindsay Johnson, Carey Schiller,

SPORTS NOTES

BY BILL MULLENDORE

Reflections on Chelsea High school's super softball season: Several weeks ago, before state tournament play began, I wrote in this column that the Bulldogs had a good shot at the Class B championship if they had some luck to go along with their ability, dedication, desire and experience. They didn't get a lot of breaks, but they got a couple of big ones when they needed them. Championship teams must have those, especially in a single-elimination tournament against good competition.

You can't afford to make many mistakes in tournament play, and Chelsea didn't. They didn't get rattled by the few mistakes they did make, and played over them. That's where experience helps.

In fact, experience probably made the difference in Chelsea's 7-4 victory over Richmond that clinched the championship. Making their first appearance in the "final four," the Richmond girls were obviously up-tight. It showed as Chelsea got four gift runs in the first inning. After that, it was a near-even ball game with Richmond actually having a bit the better of it, measured by runs scored.

One of the hallmarks of this Bulldog team was that it didn't get excited. That isn't to say that it lacked spirit—it had plenty—but it wasn't the sort that shows in rah-rah hoopla. The Chelsea bench didn't make a lot of noise. The girls didn't yell and scream and shout. They just went and played top-grade ball.

It's stretching a point to say that a group of high school teenagers played like pros, but there was a suggestion of professionalism in their attitude. They were confident, knew what they had to do, and did it, coming through time after time in the clutch with a key hit, a great defensive play, a needed strikeout.

There is a disease called "senioritis" which sometimes afflicts veteran athletes at both the high school and college levels. They just plain get a little tired of it all after years of competition, become lackadaisical, break training, go through motions in practice, and are less than well prepared both physically and mentally on the playing field.

There was none of that among the seven seniors who formed the nucleus of the 1985 state champs, especially after the season's first eight games, which the Bulldogs divided, 5-3. Some of their followers and perhaps even they themselves were beginning to wonder a bit if the bright pre-season promise was going to be realized.

Coach Charlie Waller explained that he was bringing the team about slowly so they would be playing their best ball at the end, not at the start or in the middle. He did some experimenting in those early games, moving players around to find his strongest lineup. He doesn't like to lose, but the early defeats didn't seem to bother him. As a matter of fact, nothing much seems to bother him, at least outwardly, although I'm sure he does his share of worrying inside.

Anyway, after that slightly shaky start, Chelsea won 32 of 34 games, including the last 16 in a row and eight in tournament play. The strategy was to have the girls playing their best at the end, and it certainly worked.

The difference between being a state champion and an also-ran can be razor-thin. You can make a strong argument that in the Bulldogs' case it was about two feet, the distance by which pinch-runner Cathy Burkel beat the throw to second base on an attempted force-out in the 11th inning of the district final against Saline. Had the out been made, Laura Anderson would not have had the chance to hit the double that drove in the tying and winning runs for a 2-1 victory.

There were many other key plays during the season, of course, but that one remains in my mind as the most pivotal. The choice might have been the balk call that brought home Chelsea's first run against St. Joseph in the state semi-finals, but for the fact that it was followed by two solid hits which would have produced runs in any case.

My all-time favorite baseball broadcaster, the late Harry Heilmann, had a saying: "Baseball is a game of inches." Softball is even more so. It's played on a smaller diamond, and a remarkably high percentage of the plays are close. I've done my share—and maybe more—of criticizing umpires, and am trying to curb the habit. They have a mighty tough job calling all those close ones.

Given Chelsea's sparkling record of the past four seasons—two-time state champions, state runner-up and a regional finalist—you have to wonder how long this amazing success story can go on. Actually, the very early beginnings of the 1986 season have already started. Waller uses summer recreation play to begin molding next spring's team.

Without going overboard, it seems safe to speculate that the '86 team will be strong. There are some fine sophomores and juniors returning and a pool of talent to draw on from a JV team that was 23-0. Beyond that it would be foolish to venture at this point.

This year's team will not be an easy one to follow. It was a joy to watch and write about. Softball is a fairly recent arrival on the high school sports scene. The level of play and the competition keep getting better as more and more schools develop quality programs.

Footnote: If I have a regret, it is that the four class winners in the state tournament weren't put into a "final" showdown to decide which was the best of all regardless of school enrollment. It would have taken one more day of play.

Put the four names in a hat, draw to see who plays whom in preliminary games, and let the winners have at it for the super-championship. I have a strong feeling that Chelsea would have come out on top. Whoever won, it would have been a great exhibition of high school softball at its best.

THANK YOU

I would like to thank the Chelsea community for their support during the School Board Election on June 10, 1985. I'm looking forward to serving.

Musical Concert Slated Sunday at Free Methodist
 The Wagners, a family of talented musicians will be presenting a concert of Christian music on Sunday, June 30, at Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7665 Werkner Rd., at 7 p.m.
 Jerry and Kathy, and their three daughters, Tina, Vicki, and Angie all are vocalists; while the instruments used are an electronic accordin-organ, a Yamaha electronic keyboard, piano, percussion, and some acoustic guitar.
 About their music: Jerry says, "More than half of the songs we do in a concert are original. We are musicians, and we like to express our thoughts and experiences in our own way. This is not to say that there aren't a lot of great songs already, but this is one way we try to make our concerts more personal. The girls are included in every way, from helping to set up and tear down all the equipment, and in the song-writing and arranging, to helping make most decisions concerning the music."

New Education Program Slated By Brighton Hospital

Brighton Hospital's new series of free Community Education Programs will begin July 2 and focus on helping family members to understand alcoholism and chemical dependency and learn how this disease may be treated. The hospital hosts the education program on the first Tuesday evening of each month beginning at 7 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

The series begins in July with a film and discussion of how family members may be inadvertently helping a loved one to keep drinking. On Aug. 6 the series continues with a showing of "Intervention," a film that depicts how family members, acting as a team under the direction of a trained counselor, can confront their loved one and insist that he or she obtain treatment.

Other topics to be covered from September through December include how parents can talk with their children about alcohol and substance abuse, how family members are affected by the disease, and what families need to know about alcohol, marijuana, and cocaine.

Each year Brighton Hospital treats more than 1,000 people for alcoholism and related chemical dependency through its inpatient program and another 1,000 on an outpatient basis. The hospital is located northwest of Detroit just off the I-96 Freeway and is within an hour's drive of most communities in southeast Michigan.

A complete schedule for the free Community Education Program through December, 1985 may be obtained by contacting Brighton Hospital's Community Relations Department at (313) 227-1211, ext. 276.

Michigan Becomes Mecca for Golfers

The summer of 1985 may be remembered as the time when golfing in Michigan advanced from the merely great category to absolutely tremendous. For starters, Jack Nicklaus' new course at Grand Traverse Resort Village has opened for its first full season, adding to Michigan's national record of having more golf courses available to the public than any other state in the nation: 481.

On top of that, Arnold Palmer's new course being built among a scenic chain of lakes at Hilton Shanty Creek near Bellaire is scheduled to open in mid-summer.

All told, Michigan has over 10,000 holes of golf, according to the National Golf Foundation. It is the heart of the most popular golf region in the nation: the five-state Midwest region surrounding Michigan played more golf in 1983 (103 million rounds) than the Southeast, the Southwest or the West Coast.

Michigan has more than come into its own as the Midwest's golf capital and many Great Lakes players are finding the convenience of world-class golf courses so close to home difficult to resist. The northwest section of Michigan's Lower Peninsula, first touched by Nicklaus and then Palmer with their course development skills, is rapidly becoming known as "Michigan's Gold Coast of Golf," and for good reason.

One factor is Nicklaus' new course, called "The Bear." While it was not opened completely until Oct. 15 in the closing weeks of the fall golfing season, it has blossomed this spring with a distinct character worthy of its maker. Fairways and green areas are punctuated by the "mounding" reminiscent of Scottish courses, particularly the Old Course at St. Andrews, which has served Nicklaus well in British Open play. There's also a bit of Michigan in "The Bear" as some holes will take golfers through the orchards of Michigan's cherry capital.

One might even suspect that Jack has mischievously added a touch of Georgia. The third hole is a downhill, par five with a creek in front of a beautiful, wooded green and bears a sneaky resemblance to the 13th at Augusta National, site of five Nicklaus' Masters titles.

All builders of golf courses like to describe theirs as "tough but fair" and Nicklaus is no exception. "The Bear" is long (7,177 yards) and tricky. Still, almost all fair-to-middling approach shots should find themselves on the greens which he has specifically designed to "hold" them.

Just up the road from Traverse City, near Bellaire, the course Palmer designed should provide luxury golf at its finest.

"Woods, Wind and Water" are what developer Grant Rowe says will characterize the 18 championship holes, each of which will be dedicated with a plaque to one of Palmer's past PGA victories. Actually, the "wind" part will be minimal as only a few of the holes are unprotected by the northern Michigan forests. A round of golf at "The Creek" will also be a nature tour of sorts as it takes golfers through pine forests on the hills, down through maples, beeches and oaks which explode with color in the fall, and the hemlocks and cedars which line the banks of Shanty Creek.

Of course, any golfer worth his "plus-fours" can tell you that there's already top-quality golf in the area, and has been for years. Take the course at Schuss Mountain Resort near Mancelona. It boasts great scenery, pampered fairways and greens, and what many deem the four toughest finishing holes in the Midwest.

Since Schuss Mountain and Shanty Creek operate in conjunction with one another, these two courses, combined with the fine course already at the Creek, add up to fantastic golf holidays at either resort this season.

"Boyne Country" has been fabled in Great Lakes golf circles since the mid 60's when world-famous golf architect Robert Trent Jones built 18 holes at Boyne Highlands Resort near Harbor Springs. Since then, the Highlands has added 27 more holes and is planning to duplicate 18 of the late great architect Donald Ross' holes selected from courses around the United States.

At Boyne Mountain Resort near Boyne Falls, golfers ride their carts 1.5 miles up through the woods to the first tee of the famous Alpine Links course. As usual, the view is spectacular. The people at "the Mountain" are building a new course to be called "The Monument" to join the existing 27 holes. Nine of "The Monument" holes are scheduled to open mid-summer, with the second nine opening in the fall. By the time all is said and done, a golfer will be able to play 108 different holes without leaving Boyne Country.

Folks up that way don't seem to be at all selfish about their courses either. Instead, they're proud of what their region has become. Walk into any pro shop and ask for a good place to play, and you'll probably get directions to a half dozen excellent courses within an hour's drive. Sugarloaf Village on the Leelanau Peninsula, Crystal Mountain near Thomasville, Garland near Lewiston, and Michayen Hills near Gaylord are often mentioned.

Northwest Lower Michigan certainly doesn't offer the only great golfing in the Great Lakes State. For the best in picturesque golf, try the nine holes at the Keweenaw Mountain Lodge near Copper Harbor in the Upper Peninsula. A constant source of 19th-hold debate is whether Lansing (Grosebeck) or Jackson (Cascades) has the best municipal course in the state. Wyndwick near St. Joseph and old Channel Trail near Muskegon understandably fancy themselves the best on the west side of the state. Those who have tested their mettle against the water hazards of Bay Valley Golf Club near Bay City like to say that the course record is "all 18 holes with one ball." Every golfer has his or her favorite; not surprising in a state with 481 courses.

To the Editor, I am sick and tired of a bunch of women with an axe to grind, and who have done nothing, to build or improve the Special Ed. program spout off. I proudly say, I was among some fine people, who made it what it is, today. I don't want them to discourage other people from getting help—lies fiction, and imagination.

There are rules to be observed before any child is placed in any program. They are closely followed. These rules are set up by the state. The problem is people listen to what they want to hear.

A typical child before age 5 who behaves a little different than others will be taken to old doc Jones, who doesn't want to lose a patient, looks at the child and says well, he or she, might be a little slow, but I wouldn't worry. Heck no, it's not his problem, and he's told you what you wanted to hear.

Now we get to school and the teacher says, I think we have a problem. Now that is not what you want to hear, so the teachers are villains for telling you what the doc should have.

Now they get your permission to run tests. The word comes back, Educable but mentally impaired. OH MY GOD. Wait a minute, did you hear, educable. No

You heard the rest, at this age, no one can say how much anyone can learn.

This is where Special Ed. comes in. The Special Ed. teachers are trained just for this. After all the child is now 5 or 6 and hasn't been doing too great. So why not put your trust in someone else and let them carry the load for awhile. Be supportive and help all you can.

I have been personally involved, in programs with, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Gilbert, and Mrs. Fuller. I also know how much Mrs. Cooper does and cares for her kids. For a long time I wondered if they were really helping my boy, but I backed them and now he is getting A's in algebra 1 and 2. He also was on the honor role. In another year he is planning on college.

So to parents with problems, don't be afraid to get help. Don't wait till your child is in high school to find out they can't read or write. Get involved, know what they are doing. If the school says, they need help, get it. That is, what our group of parents worked for. If you don't agree with what they tell you, they will tell you other steps to take and advisors if you need them.

For parents who never got involved with programs or came to a parents group meeting or visited a special ed room at open house, complaining is just sour grapes.

Cassidy Lake Council Plans Move Ahead for Chelsea Fair

The bi-monthly meeting of the Community Liaison Council of Cassidy Lake Technical School was held at Cassidy Lake on May 28, with Richard Steele, chairman of the council, presiding.

Attempts by the council to enlist volunteers from the Chelsea community to assist with recreational and educational activities at Cassidy Lake have met with some success. As of the end of May, volunteers have come forward to help staff the school library and to provide lifeguard training to Cassidy Lake residents for summer swimming. However, efforts to arrange games between a Cassidy Lake baseball team and Chelsea recreational league teams were unsuccessful.

Deputy Superintendent John Andrews reported that 27 prisoners have escaped from Cassidy Lake thus far during 1985, with 15 occurring during April and May. This walk-away rate for the first five months of 1985 is high compared to that of 1984 when 22 escapes were reported, and is probably attributable to the overcrowding problem currently experienced by all Department of Corrections institutions.

Construction of a new and more secure housing unit, scheduled to begin at the end of June, is expected to help lessen the walk-away problem, and Andrews reassured the council that fencing of Cassidy Lake, which could increase the institution's security level from minimum to medium is not being contemplated.

The costs incurred by the Chelsea Police Department, the Washtenaw Sheriff Department and other local law enforcement agencies in apprehending escapees may be reimbursed by the state if Senate Bill No. 191 is enacted. Lt. Mark Ptaszek, representing the sheriff department, urged council support of the bill.

The next meeting of the council is scheduled for Tuesday, July 30 at 7:30 p.m. at Cassidy Lake Technical School. The council currently has two openings for citizen representatives from the Chelsea area. Interested persons are urged to attend the July meeting and submit their names for membership.

Chelsea Man Injured in Ann Arbor

Matthew W. Peterson, 18, of Chelsea was seriously injured last Thursday in a car-bicycle collision in downtown Ann Arbor.

He was taken to University Hospital, where his condition was reported "fair" as of Monday morning.

Ann Arbor police said that Peterson was riding a bicycle on E. William St. and was hit by a car driven by Robert C. Meyers, 17, of Ann Arbor at the S. Division St. intersection.

Peterson was thrown into the windshield of the car, police said. His bike was demolished. Police are continuing to investigate. No charges have been filed as yet.

Bookstore Giving Funds To Observe Adopt-A-Cat Month

Humane Society of Huron Valley is getting a boost during Adopt-A-Cat month from the Little Professor Bookstore.

The Bookstore, newly relocated in the Westgate Shopping Center, is donating 10% of its proceeds made Monday, June 24, through Friday, June 28, to the Humane Society in honor of their cat-in-residence, "Bunter."

Linda Marl, of Little Professor, explained that they wanted to help cats like Bunter, who was originally found as a stray; "Having Bunter in the store prompts a great deal of conversation about cats and I've learned that a lot of people like cats and want to help, but can't adopt one for one reason or another. We're just providing an opportunity for concerned people to find the book they've always wanted and help the animals at the same time."

Little Professor Bookstore is also holding a contest for children to guess the number of cats appearing in their display window. The child with the sharpest eye will win a $20 gift certificate to the bookstore.

The Humane Society also wants to remind cat owners that identification tags are still available for cats at no charge until the end of June. Visit the shelter during its normal business hours, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., seven days a week or send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to HSHV, 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., Ann Arbor 48105. Include your cat's color, length of hair, sex, and breed (if purebred), and two phone numbers where you may be reached.

The sum of the employed and the unemployed is called the labor force, and the unemployment rate is calculated by dividing the number of unemployed by the number in the labor force, according to a U. S. Department of Labor fact sheet.

SAFETY TOWN GRADUATES: Staff and students watch as sheriff's deputy Joe Yekulls talks to the parents during the Safety Town graduation program last Thursday with 98 children completing the program. To the extreme right is Chelsea Officer Richard Foster, the other officer who volunteered for the program. Safety Town, the nationally recognized program which teaches safety to children has completed its fourth year in Chelsea. Originally funded through the generosity of the Chelsea community, Safety Town teaches safety awareness to children who will be entering kindergarten next fall. In addition to the certified teaching staff, two police officers, Richard Foster of the Chelsea Police Department and Joe Yekulls of the Washtenaw County Sheriff Department worked daily with the children to teach safety concepts. Student helpers Jude Quilter, Kristi Smith and Shana Vosters ran the traffic light in the mock town built for the students. Any questions about this program may be directed to Kathy Thompson director, at 475-9383.

Circus Offers Kiddies Chance To Pet Animals

David Rawls is coming to town soon. He is president of the A.G. Kelly & Miller Bros. 3-Ring Circus coming to Chelsea for one day only on July 6 with performances at 2 and 5:30 p.m. The big top will be located at Chelsea Fairgrounds.

Rawls said, "One of the most asked questions I have after each performance is, 'Can Patty or Little Joe pet some of the animals?' and can I take their picture while they ride an elephant?" David is famous for bringing together the greatest acts from all over the world, and this year he's added a very special environment for children of all ages... the Side Show and Zoo, featuring animals from the actual performance of the circus. Also the excitement of his elephant rides.

He said, "I would like to provide an opportunity for our guests to get close and meet some of our superstars, like the elephants, Arabian camel, plains zebra, llama from the Andes Mountains, African pigmy goats and the most unusual and very rare Unicorn and more," he concluded. "We have some super tame animals the children can feed and play with."

Discount advance tickets to A.G. Kelly & Bros. Circus are on sale by members of Chelsea Lions Club who are the local sponsors of the circus in Chelsea on July 6. Ticket outlets are Chelsea Pharmacy, Chelsea Community Education, Parts Peddler in Dexter and Chelsea, and Stockbridge Pharmacy.

"I'M INNOCENT! I'M INNOCENT!" complains pharmacist Dale Schumann as Officer Mike Foster of the Chelsea Police Department applies the hand-cuffs in preparation for a ride to the Great American Lock-up at Arborland this morning, Wednesday, June 26. Schumann agreed to participate in the "spoof" arranged by the American Cancer Society to solicit funds for the organization. Dale will be taken to the mock jail constructed at the Arborland Mall specifically for the occasion. Schumann will be allowed to telephone his friends after he appears before the court (also provided at Arborland today), in hopes that they will assist with his bail—any funds offered to help with his bail will be donated to the American Cancer Society Fund.

WILL ANYONE HELP BAIL ME OUT? Dr. John O'Brien looks appealingly to friends, family, patients or total strangers for help! He has been arrested this morning, and transported to the Great American Lock-up located in the Arborland Mall. After the judge hears his plea, he will still need some assistance in posting bail money. If anyone is willing to pledge a few bucks to help bail him out of the Great American Lock-up, he will be grateful for a very long time, but no "forever" promises, mind you! Yes, he will be calling and perhaps the jail will allow him a visitor or two. It's all a little fun sponsored by the American Cancer Society to inject a bit of humor in their fund-raising, and Dr. O'Brien is one of the "good sports" who agreed to help.

Manchester Theater Closed as Safety Risk

The Black Sheep Theatre in Manchester has been closed, at least temporarily, because of a dispute over a fire escape and other problems in the 118-year-old building that houses the theater.

The immediate cause of the theater closing was removal of a fire escape connecting to an adjoining building that houses the Manchester Antiques Mall. Mall owner Joe Marshall had the walkway cut down, apparently as the result of a disagreement with Chris Hoover, owner of the Black Sheep building.

William Zsenyuk, who is both village manager and police chief of Manchester, said there were several other safety problems in the Black Sheep building that will have to be remedied before the third-floor theater can reopen. The restaurant remains in operation.

Manchester township fire marshal Mike Scully said he was forced to close the theater after the fire escape was removed. It was the only quick exit in case of an emergency.

The closing forced cancellation of several performances of the current theater production, "Come Back Little Sheba." Some other site is being sought to put on "A Streetcar Named Desire," scheduled to open July 11.
