KRESGE HOUSE: Built on the wooded grounds of Chelsea Community Hospital Kresge House, a residential center, helps drug treatment patients return to a life free from drugs. To help acquaint the public with the recently expanded facility an open house is scheduled Friday, Sept. 27, from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Kresge Substance Abuse Facility Open House Slated

Chelsea Community Hospital will host a public open house for its newly expanded Kresge House Substance Abuse Residential Treatment Facility on Friday, Sept. 27 from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. The public is invited to tour the facility and learn about the hospital's Substance Abuse Program.

Kresge House, which opened in 1981 as a 12-bed facility expanded to 24 beds in June. The facility, described as a state-of-the-art, is the first facility of its kind in Michigan and has served as a model for other hospital-based substance abuse programs across the state.

The house was the brain child of Sally Trout, former clinical director of Chelsea Community Hospital's substance abuse treatment program.

Trout was frustrated by the failure rate of many patients who made remarkable improvements while admitted to the hospital's detoxification program but could not cope with the transition to normal life.

What was needed Trout concluded was an intermediate step, a place where the patient could remain under therapeutic and medical control and still experience a home-like setting.

The hospital administration supported Trout and her dream and with a generous donation from the Kresge Foundation, along with other donations, the facility opened its doors in May of 1981.

Nestled in the woods on the grounds of Chelsea Community Hospital, the spacious and modern residential structure provides the second stage of the substance abuse program. Patients who enter the program live in the facility at least two weeks after undergoing detoxification treatment. Games and workout equipment are available in the "rec" room. Patients clean their rooms, do laundry, set the table and clean up after meals.

It is hoped that the home-like environment will encourage patients to take responsibility for their lives and actively participate in learning to live lives free of alcohol and drugs.

To date the program has been a success, treating patients with all types of addictions, from marijuana, alcohol and heroin to addiction to medication such as valium or librium.

Perhaps the best testimony of success is the 700 program graduates who belong to the Kresge Alumni Association. Many return each year to celebrate the anniversary of the opening of Kresge House and their new lives free from dependence on alcohol and drugs.

A tribute to the facility is a piece of deer hide suspended from a weathered branch on the wall. Printed in marker on the hide: "We meet as strangers, but leave as friends." The hide is completely covered with the signatures of those who gained a new lease on life.

Local Artists Exhibiting at Sept. 21 Country Craft Show

Several local artists and craftsmen will be exhibiting at the Country Craft and Folk Art Show on Saturday, Sept. 21. The show will be held at the Chelsea High school.

Pat Russell who makes and sells Elizabethan herbs has been growing and working with herbs all of her life, but has only been doing it commercially for the past few years.

Pat has learned her trade by doing extensive research into early gardens and herbal uses during the 16th century and the Victorian ages.

Commercially, Pat likes to work with aromatic herbs, but grows culinary herbs for her own use. She tries to use antique linens and laces with her products so that she can incorporate her love for antiques with her love for Elizabethan herbs.

Pat grows most of her herbs on her own farm, but some herbs have to be imported, just as they were in the middle ages, because they can't be grown in this region.

Annalisa Gray-Lion started making baskets about six years ago after taking a basket making class at the Waterloo Farm Museum. She has always liked working with her hands and had wanted to do something other than the needlework she had been accustomed to doing.

Annalisa has been selling at art shows for the past four years and has been teaching basket making for the past three years. She has taught at the Cobblestone Farm in Ann Arbor and is currently giving lessons at Barbara's Needlearts in Chelsea.

Most of Annalisa's baskets are her own designs. She enjoys working with natural dyes such as sassafras, hickory, and walnut, and gathered materials such as willow, hickory, etc., using the gathered materials and dyes to create baskets that are unique in tone, shade, and texture.

Reed material is what Annalisa uses for most of her baskets she sells, because it is easier to obtain than the natural gathered materials. Annalisa has been involved in some of the larger country crafts shows in Michigan and hopes to soon get into the Ann Arbor Street Fair.

Linda Wade enjoys dabbling in a variety of crafts, but her strongest interest lies in creating porcelain dolls. She makes the dolls in their entirety; starting with the fragile greenware that she cleans and then bakes; then she paints the delicate faces, assembles the bodies and dresses the dolls in lace gowns or other fancy clothing. Her favorite doll to make is the Bi-Lo baby, which originated in the late 1800's.

One day, when she was a teenager, Eva Jensen came across her mother's lace board while she was rummaging through the attic of their home in Denmark. Her mother hadn't used the board to make bobbin lace since she was a child herself, and had forgotten how. Eva contacted the woman who had taught her mother bobbin lace and took lessons from the same woman on the same lace board.

Eva spent many hours perfecting her craft during wartime because blackouts and curfews kept the people of Denmark inside their homes.

Eva belongs to the Great Lakes Lace Group, an organization for people who make various types of lace. She says that bobbin lace is a revived art, with many young people learning to perfect the art.

Approximately 18 pair of bobbins are used to make a one-inch piece of lace when using fine thread. Eva has worked with as many as 52 pairs of bobbins at one time to make a four-inch piece of lace.

Ole Carlsen, who will be demonstrating knitted lace along with Eva, started knitting with sharpened dowels from a tinker toy set because he could not afford regular needles. Ole, a first-prize winner at the State Fair, creates beautiful, delicate doilies with very small needles.

Jerusalem's Colorful Past Recalled During Dedication Ceremony

"History is the essence of innumerable biographies," said the historian Thomas Carlyle.

Last Saturday afternoon the elder citizens of the hamlet of Jerusalem gathered down by Mill Creek, reached into their living memories and told many tales of the people who lived and died there.

The occasion was the dedication of an historical marker commemorating the site of the dam and mills, established in 1831, which spawned and powered the economy of the all but vanished hamlet called Jerusalem.

Barbara Wykes, supervisor for the Washtenaw County Historic District Commission along with Marion and Roy Koch, owners and long-time residents of the Fletcher Rd. site, spoke to a small gathering of people.

"I am here on behalf of the commission to dedicate this sign to the citizens of Lima township so that posterity can keep in touch with the past. We make markers such as this so that people riding, bicycling or driving by can remember the historical significance of various spots around the country," Wykes said.

Koch stood in the afternoon sunshine, a hand resting on the marker and recalled his boyhood memories of the cider press, and saw mill and the grist mill, all powered by the dammed up waters of Mill Creek.

Koch handed around vintage pictures of the town and told stories such as of the men who braved raging thunder storms to open the flood gates and avoid disaster. Then there was the story of the miller Frank Meinhold who died one Sunday in 1904 while repairing the mill's machinery.

Local historian, Margaret Sias, described the nomadic existence of millers and millwrights who ran the mills at Jerusalem only to move on and establish mills in other towns.

The mill's history reads like a genealogy of owners and business transactions. Millwright John K. Bingham built the dam and the first mill in 1831 only to sell it a short time later to Noah Porter. From 1836 until 1930 when the state dismantled the dam, the mills had passed through more than 15 owners.

96-year-old Lena Koch, a resident of Jerusalem of 65 years, and whose late husband once owned the cider mill, can recall the days when German was the language most often heard in the streets. She pointed to her husband balancing precariously on a banner beam in a picture of a barn raising and remembered the traveling man with the dancing bear who often paid a visit to the town saloon.

Lena's memories go back to the days when the town sported a blacksmith's shop, two saloons, a general store, a cabinet shop, a cobbler, and a cooper's shop. But for some houses and a few buildings bearing vestiges of their past employment, everything has vanished.

The lore included Bill Mathews, a Jerusalem citizen who fought and was taken prisoner during the Civil War. He survived the infamous Andersonville prison only to return home and die on the door steps of what is now the Kochs' house.

Prospects for Jerusalem becoming a major commercial center dimmed when the railroad was built through Chelsea. People migrated to this new economic source and Jerusalem met the fate of many small communities which once stood on the rivers and crossroads throughout the county.

AN HISTORICAL MARKER was dedicated last Saturday commemorating the site of the all-but-vanished hamlet of Jerusalem. Above, on the right, are Marion and Roy Koch, long-time owners of the Fletcher Rd. site. On the left is Margaret Sias, a local historian, who described the nomadic existence of Jerusalem mill workers. Also on hand was Barbara Wykes, supervisor of the Washtenaw County Historic District Commission.

Quite a big fish for such a little boy! Brady Murphy reeled in for himself a 30-pound, 40-inch long Chinook salmon during a family charter boat outing on Lake Michigan last month.

Brady's father, Dan Murphy, said his son's catch was the largest salmon caught all year from boats fishing out of the Moonlite Marina near Manistee.

Principal John Williams has organized a committee of teachers to carry out the objectives of the Expanding Career Options Project at Chelsea High. The project is funded by the Michigan Department of Education.

Purpose of the project is to in-service teachers and provide materials and activities for students to increase awareness levels of sex bias—in other words, to expand role options for men and women.

Brent Martin attained the highest of Boy Scout honors, Sunday, Sept. 6, at the North Lake United Methodist church, when he became an Eagle Scout.

Brent, 16, has been a Boy Scout for eight years, since he was in third grade.

State Hopeful of Getting Improved Credit Rating
 Governor James Blanchard, who recently led a delegation of state officials in meetings with New York rating houses, said he is hopeful of getting an improved rating which he said would translate into a tax cut.

Both Moody's Investors Service and Standard and Poor's are reviewing material submitted by the state and other data before issuing ratings on $350 million in short term notes the state intends to market this month.

Blanchard said if the agencies grant Michigan's request for the highest rating possible on the notes, total borrowing costs should be about $17 million, or 50 percent, lower than the $33.3 million the state paid to obtain a $450 million note last year.

The annual borrowing is required to meet heavy school aid and other cash payments at the start of the fiscal year, Oct. 1.

The Governor said he and treasurer Robert Bowman discussed the state's stronger financial condition and reduced borrowing needs.

If the state gets the highest possible rating without outside credit support, Blanchard said it would "allow us to keep our financial recovery program on track and will translate into a tax cut for the people of Michigan."

He said the state is able to expand education, prison and road programs while bringing down income taxes and proposing property tax cuts because "we have straightened out our finances, paid off our debts, and improved our credit rating."

Michigan has not had a MIG 1—the highest Moody's rating—without backing from outside sources since 1978. Last year's bank-backed borrowing cost $31.5 million in interest and $1.8 million in fees to other banks.

Officials were also hopeful of getting the state's long-term bond rating improved from the A rating by Moody's (three steps below the top) and A-plus from Standard and Poor's.

Kelley To Sue for Illegal Disposal of Toxic Wastes

Attorney General Frank Kelley announced he has notified the former owners and operators of a site near Pontiac that has been used for illegal disposal of toxic wastes of an impending lawsuit.

The action involves a site located in Auburn Hills which was previously operated by the Great Lakes Container Corp., who had used the site for the reconditioning of metal drums.

Kelley said an intensive investigation by the Department of Natural Resources has revealed that more than 3,000 drums containing hazardous and toxic wastes were illegally buried at the site and that bulk liquid wastes were dumped into the ground, polluting soils, groundwaters and the Galloway Creek, a tributary of the Clinton River.

He noted the information indicated that the wastes were improperly buried and dumped at various times prior to Sept. 26, 1984, when the present owner, Columbus Steel Drum Co., purchased the facility from Great Lakes.

The Attorney General issued a notice to Great Lakes that a civil lawsuit will be filed in federal district court within 60 days unless the parties agree to a full settlement of the state's claim. The notice was given in accordance with federal laws, including the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act of 1980, the so-called Superfund law.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Contrary to the saying, Clem Webster allowed Saturday night at the country store, the country was not safer last month with Congress not in session. Actual, Clem told the fellers, we probable got in more trouble than if the honorables had stayed in Washington. Ever time he picked up a paper, Clem said, some fence mending Congressman was patching holes with promised money because ever one got cornered by local government leaders with shopping lists.

Now that they're back at the store, Clem said, they got to start running up more charge accounts and filling some orders. For sure they're going to talk deficit cutting and vote revenue sharing, which is like fighting fire with gasoline, Clem declared, and fer sure another customer waiting on the other side of the counter is WIFE. Clem had saw where WIFE is Women Involved in Farm Economics, and they're just like the one back home only more so. They don't like what's going on, he allowed, and like wives everywhere they're letting everybody know it.

Right now, Clem said, WIFE especial don't like farm exports down by half and talk of ending price supports. This amounts to letting family farms float and find their level in the national market. The big farming corporations can borrow to tide em over, WIFE says, but the little feller ain't got a cushion to fall back on and he's more apt to get plowed under by two bad years in a row. If drouts, floods and tornadoes hit one spot the Government declares it a disaster and sets up loans, the wives say, and they want this kind of thinking to carry over to little farms scattered all over the country.

Clem said WIFE is a nine-year-old outfit that started in Nebraska and now is all over. The members say the family floaters are being gobbled up by corporations and people are being pulled up by their roots and pushed off the land.

All the fellers have roots to deep to be dug up, but they were divided on the work of WIFE. Ed Doolittle stands up for the Republican stand ever chancet, and he was strong of a mind that no Government can keep propping up a part of the private economy just to keep it the way it's allus been. Besides, Ed said, the Reagan Administration talks free market, but it is spending $59 billion in farm price supports, more than three times the level of the Carter years.

Farthermore, Ed went on, no Government can perfect farmers agin bad judgment any more than it can anybody else. The Department of Agriculture found that 214,000 farmers in a recent survey of 1.7 million farms was deep in debt and couldn't make their payments. And this included farmers on some of the best land in this country. The truth is, Ed declared, that to many farmers took a cue from Washington and have been living beyond their means. It's sad that one in seven working farms in this country is in trouble, and that we got 50,000 fewer than we had a year ago, Ed said, but it don't make no sense fer them that's left to keep plowing the same furrow and expect the Government to fix whatever goes wrong.

Nobody knows the trouble farmers see. I see where some in Tennessee are suing the Jack Daniels Distillery fer diluting the mash they fed their cattle. The next thing we hear will be the cows lowing about watered down drinks.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Beth Forner has been painting for about 30 years. She has taken classes in oils, acrylics, and watercolors. Oil painting is her favorite. She enjoys painting scenery and seascapes. She does some still life paintings, and has on occasion painted pictures of homes for people. Beth says about the only thing she does not like to paint are abstract designs.

At one time, Beth had some of her original designs displayed and for sale at the Old German Restaurant and the City Hall in Ann Arbor.

Beth is a member of the Ann Arbor Art Association.

Ben Bower attended the Commercial Art School at Indiana University and began his watercolor drawings about 40 years ago. He has worked in oils and watercolor paints, but enjoys drawing best.

Ben worked at his watercolor drawings as a hobby until 1975 while he worked for the state. In 1975, he turned his hobby into his profession. Ben has a studio behind his home on Chandler St., where he spends many hours creating one of his very special works of art.

Ben is a member of the newly formed Chelsea Artist and Craftsmen Guild.

Janet Alford is an art teacher at North school. She will be demonstrating and selling stenciled items at the Country Craft Show.

Janet's skills in stenciling are self-taught. She did research on the subject and has stenciled the living room in her home. She also enjoys doing woodworking and making decorative folk art designs.

Janet has been stenciling for seven years.

Marcy Stump, who is organizing and promoting the Country Craft Show for the Senior Citizens will also have a booth at the show.

Marcy makes a variety of items, all of which have a country flavor. One of her favorite items to make are her country dolls. With yarn hair, calico dresses, and embroidered faces, each doll seems to take on a personality all its own.

Marcy is a member of the Chelsea Artists and Craftsmen Guild.

Some of the craftspeople who exhibited at the sidewalk sales this year will also exhibit at the Country Craft Show. One of these persons is Chris Youmans from Otisville, who had the personalized geese welcome signs. Chris was a big hit with many of the Chelsea residents who visited the sidewalk sales.

Hours of the Sept. 21 Country Craft Show are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Senior Citizens will be selling lunch, baked goods and raffle tickets for their hand-made quilt.

Todd Koch Signs For Air Force Delayed Entry

Todd G. Koch, son of Larry and Nadine Koch of 601 S. Main St., Chelsea, has entered the United States Air Force's delayed enlistment program (DEP).

According to Technical Sergeant Steffen Smith, the Air Force recruiter here, Koch's entry into the DEP allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area.

Koch is a 1980 graduate of Chelsea High school and will enter the regular Air Force on April 24.

Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, he will receive technical training in the general aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Some people thought that they could ensure more milk from their cows if they put green branches around their houses.

THE ST. MARY'S FESTIVAL once again proved to be a good time for all, especially the children. Unlike past years, the festival was held in the St. Mary's school on Congdon St. Above, Myra Musolf, dressed in panda bears, and Megan Robinson work the "rebound" game on Saturday.

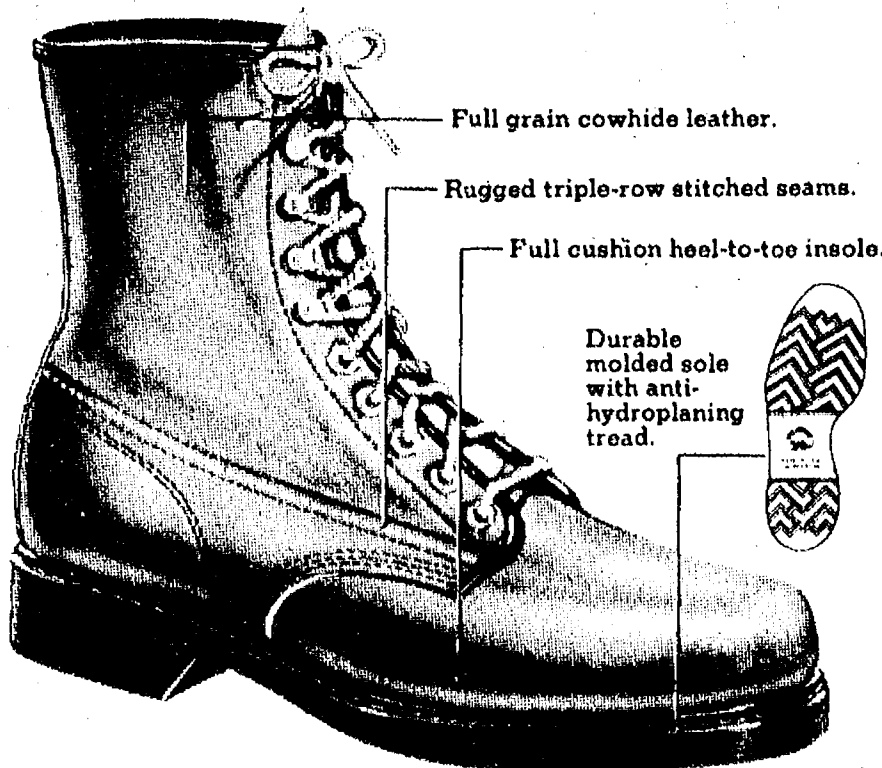

GLUTTONS FOR PUNISHMENT were these three lucky devils who had the task of sampling entries in the apple pie contest at the St. Mary's Festival last week-end at the St. Mary's School on Congdon St. More than 20 pies were entered. From left are Jean Dalton, Linda Turok and Marke Poske.

SCOOTING AROUND THE FLOOR on these unusual little vehicles are Lisa Stevens, left, and Michelle Smith. The little carts seemed to move under their own power, although, in reality they moved by wiggling the handle bars back and forth. The event was one of the many things for children to do at the St. Mary's Festival last week-end.

Transportation Day Scheduled At North School

Teachers and students at North Elementary school are looking forward to a special Transportation Day to be held Sept. 20 during the regular classroom time.

With the help of many volunteers an extensive line-up of transportation vehicles will be made available as teachers bring their classrooms for viewing. Sports cars, tractors, recreation vehicles, racing machines and community service vehicles are just a sample of the wide assortment that will be on display.

Many will allow the children an opportunity to experience an inside view of different modes of travel, which will offer the students an exceptional and interesting learning experience.

Much appreciation is given to third grade teacher, Mrs. Marcia Quilter who not only generated the idea but has worked very hard to organize the event.

Talking With Young Children About Death

As adults we are familiar with the frequent questions of our children, those back-to-back "whys" of a child. Perhaps the toughest "why" to which we will ever have to respond is why someone has died. We have acquired a unique family-oriented brochure entitled, "Talking With Young Children About Death". It was produced under the direction of noted children's expert, Fred Rogers of Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood. This acclaimed brochure is now part of our community resource collection. Please feel free to call or drop by if you would like a complimentary copy.

Free Rustic Campground Guide Offered

Are you looking for a quiet place—an undisturbed trout stream for flycasting, a quiet spot to study the trees, wildflowers and animal life?

Michigan has more than 150 campgrounds sprinkled throughout some of the state's most beautiful forest preserves. They're a bit difficult to find, and a bit more rustic than others, but they offer a kind of quiet environment that few campgrounds can boast.

The cost of camping at a Michigan Rustic State Forest Campground is $4 per night in most areas. All sites come with a fresh water supply, rustic restroom facilities, and a generous supply of animal life.

This fall, rustic camping at one of these campgrounds will provide you and your family with a burst of color and an exciting panorama of Michigan landscape.

If you would like more information about the camping experience available at Michigan's rustic State Forest Campgrounds, send a card to Info Services, Michigan Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing 48909. They will send you a free campground guide.

"We encourage people to think of the Civic Foundation as our community savings account," Hamilton said. "Every prudent family builds a reserve in savings for unknown, unforeseen emergencies or opportunities. Businesses do the same thing, and it certainly makes sense for a community to do so."

In addition to Hamilton, Brown and Chasteen, 1985 trustees include Charles Cameron, Will Connelly, Arthur Dils, Peter Flintoft, Howard Holmes, Willard Johnson, David McAllister, William Nuffer, George Palmer, and Raymond Van Meer.

DNR Conservation Officers Honored

Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Conservation Officers (COs) will be honored in a special observance with a week of activities highlighting their dedication and commitment to enforcing Michigan's environmental laws.

Ronald O. Skoog, DNR director, says that "Michigan Conservation Officer Awareness Week"—Sept. 22-28—is a unique opportunity to acquaint all Michigan citizens with the many responsibilities, sacrifices and dangers that are involved with being a CO.

"This marks the first time in Michigan history that citizens of our state have joined together to honor these remarkable men and women," adds Skoog. "It gives us the chance to show our gratitude for the work they do throughout the year." He notes that despite long hours and hazardous working conditions, COs are enthusiastic about their jobs.

"Their job is a dangerous one. A study showed that COs are eight-times more likely to be the victim of a felonious assault in the line-of-duty than any other law enforcement officer. Many of the people that a CO confronts carry weapons," Skoog says. DNR law enforcement officers have been on the job since 1887,

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Is our President doing the right thing, agreeing with our Congress, to put sanctions against South Africa? Will it help the laborers there to be put out of work? Seventy percent of our strategic metals such as chromium, vanadium and platinum are available only from South Africa or the Soviet Union. Do we want to become dependent on the Communists for these metals?

South Africa is also in a critical position as strategic guardian of the shipping lanes between the Atlantic and Indian Oceans. I think our leaders had better think through what they will reap if they vote sanctions against South Africa and what it will cost the black people there.

★ District Survey Rates Chelsea Schools With High Marks

The community survey conducted by the Board of Education has been completed. A total of 1,058 persons responded to the survey. An initial report was presented to the board in June. Results showed that the Chelsea community rates their schools high.

In Chelsea, 77% gave the schools an "A" or "B". This compares to 50% reported by the State of Michigan in their state-wide survey, also conducted during the 1984-85 school year. In the Gallup Poll of nation-wide attitudes toward public school, 42% gave the schools an "A" or "B" grade.

A tremendous amount of information was given to the district through the survey. The Board of Education has decided to analyze specific parts of the survey throughout this coming school year. Further reports will be given to the Board of Education and to the public as specific parts of the survey are analyzed. The Board of Education sees the survey as an excellent way of determining community attitudes plus the interest of the community in various aspects of Chelsea schools.

Future articles and press releases will be forthcoming on various aspects of the survey. If you have a particular interest in some area of the survey, please call 475-9131; school district personnel will respond.

On behalf of the Board of Education and school district staff, we extend our appreciation to all survey respondents.

Drugs Problem for Elderly Persons

Many older persons face a high risk of drug-related problems, finds Leslie Shimp, Pharm.D., consultant pharmacist at the University of Michigan Family Practice Center in Chelsea.

"Elderly women living alone are especially vulnerable," states Dr. Shimp who reported on a recent project involving social service agency clients in Michigan's Monroe county and Family Practice Center patients at Chelsea. The study indicated that the typical "high risk" individual was an elderly woman living by herself on an annual income of $3,000-$8,000, taking seven prescription medications—most for long-term ailments—and five over-the-counter medications.

"Many medications are potent and cause older persons to suffer adverse drug reactions or drug-to-drug interactions," continues Dr. Shimp, who explains that constant pill taking can reinforce the sense of dependency elderly persons have on medication and on someone to help them.

"In an extreme case," she adds, "a patient may be placed in a nursing home simply because she is taking so many medications, perhaps unnecessarily. Her family may feel she can no longer care for herself."

Dr. Shimp emphasizes that drug-related problems are not pervasive among the elderly. "Most are doing fine," she says. "But as the medications prescribed for an older person increase, so does the chance of a problem."

In the study, researchers developed a comprehensive questionnaire that determined such potential problems as adverse drug reactions, inappropriate selection of an over-the-counter product, hoarding of unused prescription medications in the home, inappropriately prescribed dosage and poor medication selection by the prescriber.

"With the results of the questionnaire for a particular patient at hand," says Dr. Shimp, "a pharmacist can determine whether the individual needs help."

"In some cases, the problems could be resolved by counseling the patient or providing written educational materials or compliance aids," she explains. "In other cases, contacting the physician might be necessary."

WCC Nursing Program Nominated for Honors

Washtenaw Community College's nursing program has been nominated as the state's outstanding post-secondary vocational education program, announces Phyllis Grzegorzcyk, dean of health and public service at the college. Because of its "unique and exemplary" nature, the program has been recommended by the State of Michigan for the U. S. Department of Education Secretary's Award for "Outstanding Vocational Education Programs," she explains. The program is the second of WCC's curricula to be so honored. Its Digital Equipment Technology program received the same state award last year.

The community college services unit of the State Department of Education judged the nursing program "unique and outstanding" among other Michigan two-year college vocational curricula, explains Grzegorzcyk. Instruction, planning, hands-on experience, job placements, and achievement of program objectives are among the criteria the committee used to judge the program. Developed in 1980-81 by Grzegorzcyk and colleagues, WCC's RN associate degree completion curriculum was recently identified by the Michigan Board of Nursing's education consultant as "the only true career-mobility nursing program in the state," she notes. It admits licensed practical nurses directly into the second year of the program, allowing them to complete an associate degree in one year.

In addition to the RN completion program, two other admission options are available. Individuals can enter the program as basic students and graduate at the end of the first year eligible for practical nurse licensure, or continue through the second year to meet registered nurse requirements.

College nursing graduates are high achievers, Grzegorzcyk notes. 96% percent of the associate degree graduates pass the RN licensure exam on the first try, and 99.8% of LPN graduates pass the practical nurse test the first time. WCC nursing graduates consistently rank higher than the state average in their rate of passing licensure exams, Grzegorzcyk adds. Of all graduates seeking jobs, 100% find employment, she comments.

"The recognition associated with this award is valuable to our faculty—they are the ones who make the program excellent," Grzegorzcyk comments. "It's also gratifying that in this age of high technology, a program that focuses on people receives this award." A site visit by the Secretary of Education's regional designee in June will determine whether the program wins the state award and qualifies for the regional competition, she adds.

Local Family Marketing New Game

A Chelsea area family has combined its talents in creating a new science fiction role-playing game, "Traders of the Far Reach."

Winton Riffe and son Wade, a 14-year-old freshman at Chelsea High school, wrote and illustrated the game and Myrie Riffe did the graphics, layout and covers.

"Traders" is a galactic game of shipping and trading, exploration and development. "I did a three-month crash course in astronomy, and made every effort to get that portion of the game scientifically correct," says Riffe. "And it has provided a plausible base and reality to play."

The first release consists of the Basic Game Manual, an Exploration Manual and Star Atlas and map representing one-fourth of the Milky Way, our galaxy.

National distribution commences Oct. 10, and the game will be available through hobby shops and other selected outlets, or direct from the family company, Griffen P/L, 18100 Highway M-52, Chelsea 48118.

Small Business Owners Want Lower Payroll Taxes

Hard hit by constantly-increasing payroll taxes and sharply rising costs of providing employee benefits, owners of the nation's small businesses are seeking Federal reforms which will put labor-intensive small business on equal footing with capital-intensive big business.

Payroll taxes now constitute approximately 33 percent of Federal revenue collections and have become especially burdensome for small firms. Costs for such items as unemployment insurance, workers' compensation coverage and Social Security have escalated rapidly in the past 15 years, with additional increases scheduled to occur before the end of the decade.

At the same time, small business owners are faced with major increases in the cost of providing health insurance and pension plans, making it more difficult for them to compete with larger firms for the best employees.

The issue of payroll costs and their impact on small business survival will be among the items discussed at the Michigan meeting for the White House Conference on Small Business, to be held Sept. 20, at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn. The event is open to all owners, partners or corporate officers of small businesses in Michigan.

Those who attend the Michigan meeting will be contributing to policy recommendations that will be presented to Congress and the Administration during the 1986 White House Conference on Small Business, which will take place in Washington, D.C., Aug. 17-21. In addition, small business owners who attend the Michigan meeting will have a chance to be elected as one of 40 Michigan delegates who will attend the national conference.

Government Mandated Benefits
John Galles, executive director of the Small Business Association of Michigan (SBAM) points out that payroll taxes have grown enormously since 1970. Scheduled increases in federal payroll taxes between 1970 and 1990 include:

- nine Social Security raises totaling 60 percent;
- three unemployment compensation raises totaling 94 percent;
- three FUTA (unemployment) base increases totaling 133 percent, and
- 19 FICA (social security) base increases totaling 677 percent.

"Congress must begin to consider payroll taxes in the large scheme of taxation and spending," says Adeline Laforet, president of Health Care Professionals Limited, Southfield, and chair of SBAM's Legislative Action Committee. "It must understand that small businesses can no longer pay for the upward spirals of Federal spending."

"Small firms suffer the most," adds Richard Sanford, president of IBA Mutual Insurance Co., Kalamazoo, and a member of SBAM's board of directors. "They bear a larger burden than large businesses due to the way our federal programs—such as workers' compensation and unemployment compensation—are mandated. These are important, ongoing issues, which need greater regulatory reform. Payroll costs are an obstruction to the acceleration of growth."

Both Laforet and Sanford were among nine persons from across the country invited to participate in the National Issues Task Force on Payroll Cost in June of 1985. They helped representatives from the U.S. Small Business Administration's Office of Advocacy identify items of major concern to small business owners in preparation for the state-wide small business conferences.

Fringe Benefits
Small firms, which have disproportionately higher administrative costs than larger firms, have difficulty affording benefit packages for their employees. In addition, small firms are less likely to provide employee benefits because:

- Profitability often determines the employer's ability to provide pension or health benefits. Although benefits are tax deductible, a tax deduction is of no use to a business that is unable to produce taxable profits.

—Start-up and administrative costs, which have been increased by the complexity of Federal regulations, may inhibit a small firm's ability to expand.

Other Issues
Those who participate in the Michigan meeting will also have an opportunity to provide input on the President's proposal to tax fringe benefits as a means of increasing federal revenues. In addition, several other payroll cost-related issues will be discussed, including:

—Simplification of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) of 1974: This established minimum standards for funding, participation and vesting of pension plans and has substantially increased costs for small businesses.

—The Davis-Bacon act: Sets wage standards for workers on Federal construction projects. This law has increased labor costs for smaller, non-unionized construction firms.

—Minimum Wage Laws: Should a sub-minimum wage be established for certain categories of workers, such as minors and senior citizens?

—Pay Equity: Small business owners need to address the potential impacts of Equal Pay for Equal Work proposals.

—Employee versus Independent Contractor Status: The definition of a worker as significant payroll cost implications for employers. It has been suggested that Congress provide guidance in defining employer-employee relationships to eliminate confusion.

Recommendations
During the past weeks, conferences have already been held in Alabama, Delaware, Georgia and Virginia. The participants came up with the following recommendations in the area of payroll costs:

- Repeal the Davis-Bacon Act
- Provide a tax exemption to small businesses for the first $150,000 of gross payroll per year.
- Cap unemployment taxation at 50 percent of gross payroll.
- Allow corporate officers to draw unemployment benefits.
- Repeal the section of the

Bulldog Varsity Grid Team 'Whipped Good' Friday By Saline, 42-0

The Chelsea Bulldogs got whipped. That's about the only way to describe their 42-0 loss to the Saline Hornets last Friday in Saline. An old-fashioned whipping.

When a team loses by such a lopsided score, generally many things have gone wrong. When you begin to list them, it sounds as though you're talking about a lower-than-second-rate team, which the Bulldogs aren't.

Not by a long shot.

What killed the Bulldogs, other than the passing and running of first-year quarterback Grant Fanning, were the Bulldogs themselves. Interceptions stopped two promising drives. So did two fumbles. Key penalties haunted the Dogs all night long, too. There were other crucial mistakes, like missed hand-offs and a key missed block.

The Bulldogs were inside the Saline 30-yard line six times but couldn't score.

"We had no idea we would get beat that badly," said Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

"We simply did not play very well. Saline's a good team, but we made them look a lot better than they are. If we had played that way the week before against Columbia Central we would have lost that game, too. It's frustrating because we are so much more capable than that."

The Saline defense didn't help either. The Bulldogs had first down and five at the Hornet 12-yard line late in the first quarter and could get no further. A score then could have tied the game.

When coaches talk about frustration, they are talking about games like this one.

Despite all the mistakes, the Bulldogs moved the ball well at times, albeit mostly in the center of the field.

Running back Curtis Heard showed promise with a few, quick bursts, good for a team-leading 43 yards. Quarterback Dan Bellus passed for 144 yards (14 of 23) about the same as the previous week's total. Todd Starkey, Bellus' favorite receiver, had eight receptions for 72 yards. The previous week's offensive star, Mark Mull, didn't really figure as much into the offense in the first half. In the second half it was a different story, though. But Mull's aggressive style of play didn't get the Bulldogs any closer.

The tone of the game was set on the opening drive of the game. After a 15-yard pass to Rob Finch, with another 15 tacked on for a Saline personal foul, to put the ball at the Saline 48, a tipped pass intended for tight end Matt Steinhauer was picked off by Fanning at the Saline 40 and returned to the 44.

On the Hornet's first play from scrimmage, Fanning hit split end Mike Englehardt with a pass that moved the ball to the five-yard line. Three plays later Fanning scored on a quarterback sneak.

That's the way play seemed to go all night. A turnover or mistake by Chelsea, followed by a big play by Saline. It was a deadly combination.

The next Chelsea drive began at the Bulldog 31, but stalled at the Saline 33 after a fourth down, 10-yard completion to Starkey fell two yards short of the first down.

Two plays later defensive back Matt Bohlender picked off the first of his two interceptions, giving the Bulldogs good position at the Saline 44. But this drive stalled at the 12, due to circumstances mentioned earlier.

Shortly thereafter, a 23-yard pass play, combined with a Chelsea holding penalty moved the ball to the Chelsea 27. Four plays later fullback Alan Gordon took the ball in from one yard out. The halftime score was 14-0.

Saline took the second half kickoff. On a first down play at the 35, Gordon took the ball 30 yards. Halfback Mark Pearsall scored on the next play from 35 yards out. A two-point conversion put the score at 22-0.

The next Chelsea drive began at the Bulldog 38, but ran out of steam at the Hornet 19 after four straight plays from the Saline 20, beginning with first down and five, netted one yard.

The Bulldogs stopped the Hornets on four downs. After a 53-yard punt, Chelsea began a drive at the 22.

Another interception, on a pass intended for Starkey, at the Bulldog 38, killed any hope Chelsea may have had for a comeback.

On the very next play, Fanning hit Englehardt with a 62-yard touchdown pass with a little more than a minute to play in the third quarter. Lights out.

Saline had a grand total of 484 yards on offense, 292 on the ground and 192 in the air. Fanning only completed five passes all night long. His other two attempts were picked off by Bohlender.

"Fanning did all he needed to," LaFave said. "And we made it easy for him. His receivers were wide open all night long. We could have used more pressure on him."

By comparison, Chelsea had 223 total yards.

SALINE QUARTERBACK GRANT FANNING, 21, proved to be a formidable opponent for the Bulldogs last week as he guided the Hornet offense to 484 total yards and a 42-0 win. Fanning, in his first year as the starting Saline signal-caller, was given considerable help by the Bulldogs, according to Chelsea coach Gene LaFave. Converging on Fanning are Marty Poljan, foreground, Mark Mull, 81, Matt Bohlender, 14, who had two interceptions on the night, and Steve Wingrove, 62.

JV Gridders Win Over Saline, 12-8

Junior varsity quarterback Kevan Flanigan scored a touchdown on the third play of the game and the Bulldogs never looked back as Chelsea stopped the Saline Hornets, 12-8, on the home field last Thursday, Sept. 12.

Flanigan scored on an option play to the left after "an outstanding fake," according to coach Jim Ticknor.

However, despite Flanigan's opening fireworks, the story of the game was "absolutely outstanding defense," according to Ticknor and defensive coordinator Ken Sullins.

The Bulldogs yielded only 161 total yards, 31 on one play that set up Saline's only touchdown late in the third quarter.

Everyone on defense was in on the action, as the tackles were fairly evenly spread around. Defensive tackle Randy Ferry led the group with 11 and end Chris Cheng had 10. Others, Ticknor cited as having "outstanding performances" were tackle Joel Boyer with seven tackles and linebackers Cory Johnson and Shawn Brown with eight each. Chris Acree had an interception and "several outstanding plays."

The Bulldogs' second score came late in the second quarter on an 80-yard drive, capped by a three-yard plunge by freshman Junior Morseau.

"We probably got a little conservative in the second half because we were worried about turnovers," Ticknor said.

"We had one interception deep in their territory, otherwise we would have scored again."

Flanigan accounted for 84 yards rushing and completed five of 13 attempts. Over-all Chelsea gained 246 yards.

Morseau rushed for 62 yards and Brown added 39.

The junior Bulldogs play the Milan Big Reds tomorrow night at 7 p.m. on the home field.

SIDE NOTE: In last week's JV story, the coach was mistakenly identified as Charlie Ticknor. We apologize to coach Ticknor for the error. Everyone at the high school can stop calling him Charlie—we certainly will.

Girls Cross Country Team Leads Pack in New Boston Invitational

Chelsea girls cross country team took the top spot last Saturday in the nine-team New Boston Invitational.

Meanwhile, the Bulldog boys turned in a respectable fifth place out of 19 teams.

Both teams competed in Division I, which included big class B schools and class A schools. The girls proved to be better than four class A schools, while the boys ran better than eight class A schools.

Kasey Anderson finished second over-all in the girls competition in 20:01.9. Out of 69 runners, no Chelsea girl finished lower than 27th place.

Other places and times in the girls meet were: Sallie Wilson, sixth, 20:57.9; Amy Wolfgang, 20:58.7; Robin Mock, ninth, 21:30.9; Melanie Flanigan, 11th, 21:49.1; Kim Allen, 15th, 22:09.4; and Debbie Tift, 27th, 25:15.6.

TODD STARKEY makes a leaping catch of a Dan Bellus pass early in the game against Saline last Friday. Starkey caught eight passes on the night, good for 72 yards, nearly a third of the team's total offense. The Bulldogs were their own worst enemies in the 42-0 loss to the Hornets on the Saline home field.

Fresh Gridders Shut Out By Saline

The freshman Bulldog football team failed to generate a consistent offense and was shut out by the Saline Hornets, 12-0, Tuesday, Sept. 10.

"We just couldn't sustain a drive," said coach Jim Tallman. "It seemed as though whenever

Boys Cross Country Team Loses to Saline

Chelsea boys cross country team lost a close meet with the Saline Hornets last week, 23-35.

Brian Starkey of Saline took the top spot in 16:50.

The top Chelsea runner was Tim Bowdish, who turned in a time of 17:03.

Rounding out the field for the Bulldogs was John Cattell, fourth place, 17:34; Paul Hedding, seventh place, 17:57; Lee Riemenschneider, 10th place, 18:18; and Jason Creffield, 15th place, 19:33.

The boys were also scheduled to run in the West Bloomfield Invitational Sept. 7. However, it was called off due to excessive heat.

we got inside the 30-yard line we'd make a mistake or fumble the ball."

The 25-yard line was as close to the goal line as the young Bulldogs were able to go.

Saline scored its first touchdown on a 35-yard left sweep late in the first quarter. The Hornets were blanked until late in the third quarter, when they were able to mount a 50-yard drive.

Tallman cited the defensive play of Mike Taylor and Eric Frisinger. He also said quarterback Larry Nix had a good day passing the ball, but had several passes dropped.

The freshman Bulldogs' next game is at Brooklyn Columbia Central, Tuesday, Sept. 24 at 4 p.m.

Girl Cagers Win Two Out of Three

After an opening-season loss to Adrian, the Chelsea Bulldog girls basketball team came back last week for two consecutive wins.

The loss was by a 46-34 score. The first win was over Howell, 33-23, on Tuesday, Sept. 10. Thursday, Sept. 12 the Bulldog girls nipped Fowlerville, 43-39.

The Adrian game was "a typical first game," according to coach Jim Winter.

"We generally didn't play well, although we did in stretches. Consistency was our main problem. Adrian didn't play like it was their first game. They had a nice, strong team."

The Bulldogs fell behind early, 13-6, and never recovered, although they did manage to cut the lead to 20-15 at half-time.

Adrian scored the first two field goals of the second half.

Forward Kristi Headrick led the Bulldogs with 17 points, and guard Jennifer Cattell added 10. Rounding out the scoring were Kris Mattoff with three, Mary Lazarz with two, and Jodi Keezer and Kris Zerkel with one each.

In the Howell game, Headrick led all Bulldog scorers with 20 points, in a game that was generally void of offense by both teams.

Chelsea shot only 26 percent from the field but was 15 for 25 from the foul line.

"We won the game from the foul line," Winter said. Howell made only one free throw all evening.

Winter said that Howell was missing its best offensive player, a plus for the Dogs.

"We played pretty good defense," Winter said.

"We switched defenses a lot and the girls handled that well. We call the changes on the fly, so to speak, which can sometimes mess up your own team more than the opponents. The kids handled it real well."

Following Headrick in scoring were Tricia Mattoff with four, Zerkel and Kim Ferry with three each, Karen Weber with two, and Cattell with one.

Free throws bailed out the Bulldogs again in the Fowlerville win. Chelsea sank 17 of 29 attempts (58 percent), but languished from the field, hitting a lethargic 13 of 51 tries.

Chelsea was down by one at the end of the first quarter, 12-11, but came back to take a 28-17 lead at half-time.

"That second quarter was the best we've played this year," Winter said.

"Unfortunately, our offense went into a coma in the second half. We only scored three field goals after half-time."

Fowlerville caught the Bulldogs late in the game, but could never gain the lead. Cattell hit two free throws with 20 seconds left to put Chelsea up by three points.

"We switched defenses a lot again and the kids handled it well again," Winter said.

"But we have to score more than 35 points a game if we expect to win many. Our shooting has to improve, and I know we're better than 25 percent shooters. We're a young team, having lost six seniors, and we're still learning. I expect we'll get better as the season goes on."

Headrick once again led all Chelsea scorers with 18 points, and Cattell added 11. Zerkel hit for six, Ferry, four, and Weber and Tricia Mattoff had two each.

The Bulldogs take on Gabriel Richard, away, tomorrow, beginning at 6 p.m.

Girls Tennis Team Wins Two Matches

The Chelsea Bulldog girls tennis team played three away matches last week, winning two of them. Another match was rained out.

Monday's match was a 6-0 win over Monroe Jefferson. Tuesday the team shut out Pinckney, 7-0. Wednesday the girls lost a close one to Brooklyn Columbia Central, 4-3.

In the Monroe match, Melanie Dils beat Shelly Anible, 6-0, 6-0; Chris DeFant topped Michelle Deitz, 6-0, 6-1; Angie Miller shut out Angie Elliot, 6-0, 6-0; and Jenny Pichlik bested Karen Wigfield, 6-2, 6-1.

In doubles, Anne Acree-Karen Killelea played a tough three set before finally prevailing, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5. The Tai twins, Ada and Arlene also won in three sets, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1. Minta Van Reesema and Alison Thornton were leading 4-3 in the first set when the match was called due to rain.

Chelsea had a fairly easy time playing the Pinckney Pirates this year. Pinckney, lost "quite a few seniors this year," according to Chelsea coach Terry Schreiner, while Chelsea lost only two. All Chelsea singles and doubles won with Pinckney only winning a few games per set.

"The Columbia Central match was a tough one," Schreiner said.

"They had beaten Chelsea 5-2 last season two times so I knew we would have our hands full. Four matches went three sets and we couldn't pull it out. Both teams played a good match, but they were just a little bit better."

In singles, DeFant lost to Dana Applegate, 6-0, 6-0; Dils played a marathon match lasting two hours, but went down 3-6, 6-4, 1-6; Miller beat Shelly Lindeman, 6-4, 6-0; and Pichlik topped Holly Dresselhouse in three sets, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2.

In doubles play, Acree-Killelea lost 1-6, 6-4, 2-6; the Tai sisters lost two close sets, 5-7, 4-6; and Kelly Stump-Deana Slusher took their match, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

"We have never had three away matches in a row like this year and it really should not be scheduled this way," Schreiner said.

"It is too hard on the team. Matches take four to five hours when a school has only four courts."

Chelsea has a 3-1 record for the season.

Chelsea has two matches again this week, today at Riverview and tomorrow at home with Monroe Jefferson.

From 1976 through 1984, the United States civilian labor force grew by 21 percent. Women contributed more than 62 percent of the total growth as their numbers rose from 37 million to 50 million, according to "Facts on U. S. Working Women," a fact sheet by the U. S. Department of Labor.

JV Girl Cagers Win 2 Then Lose 1

The Bulldog junior varsity girls basketball team sports a 2-1 record after winning its first two games of the season, 41-30 over Adrian and 35-31 over Howell, and dropping its Thursday game last week, 39-37, to Fowlerville.

In the Adrian game, the Bulldogs fell behind 10-0 before going to a full-court press, which eventually got them back into the game.

"There were first-game mistakes by both teams," said coach Paul Terpstra.

"We shot 39 percent from the floor but only 28 percent from the free throw line."

The Bulldogs managed to rebound their opponents, 34-27. Their aggressiveness on defense netted 13 steals.

Guard Leah Enderle led the Chelsea scorers with 18 points. Forward Heather Neibauer scored eight points and grabbed eight rebounds. Center Peggy Hammerschmidt picked up 10 rebounds.

Against class A Howell, Chelsea ran off to an 8-0 lead before committing "careless mistakes," according to Terpstra. Their eight-point lead was whittled to three by half-time.

The Bulldogs got off to a quick start in the second half and pulled ahead by 12 at the end of the third quarter, 34-22.

But Chelsea was plagued again by inconsistency in the final quarter and only a lack of time stopped the hard-charging Howell team.

The Bulldogs shot only 30 percent from the floor and 24 percent from the foul line. However, Hammerschmidt had another good performance with 10 points and a game-high 17 rebounds.

Niebauer also scored 10 and Enderle added eight.

In the 39-37 Fowlerville loss, turnovers were the deciding factor. The Bulldogs had 44 of them.

"A lot of those turnovers were unforced errors," Terpstra said. "We played hard physically, we just have to cut down on the errors."

Chelsea fell behind 10-2 early

Retired Minister To Talk on Brazil

Fred and Lois Maitland, who served on the Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church in Brazil from 1950-1970, will be giving a slide presentation on their years in Brazil at the Chelsea United Methodist Home on Sunday, Sept. 22 at 7 p.m.

Fred served as pastor, evangelist, district superintendent and seminary director, while Lois was a Christian education specialist and English teacher.

Upon returning to the U.S. for family health reasons, Fred was appointed associate minister to the First United Methodist church in Ann Arbor, where he served until 1983. Lois taught second grade at South Elementary school through last year.

The Maitlands, who are now retired, have two sons and a daughter. They have recently returned from Rio de Janeiro, where they visited their son, John, and renewed many friendships.

The talk will be in the downstairs game room and is open to the public.

THE REV. FRED MAITLAND

Cub Scout Pack Reports Busy Summer

This has been a busy summer for the Cub Scouts of Pack 455. In June they attended Cub Day Camp. Camp included basket weaving, sports, computers, games, physical fitness and many more fun activities.

When July came around each cub received an invitation from the Magic Picnic Bandit. Pierce Park was taken over for calf roping, fish pond darts, ankle ball race, straight shooter and a parent-cub sack race.

August proved to be a hard working month for the boys and their parents. Each boy worked a shift with his mom or dad selling ice cream and popcorn at the Chelsea Fair. The boys also marched in the Fair Parade. A special thank-you to those parents who stood out of respect to the flag. To Chief McDougal, the leaders and the boys noticed when you snapped to attention as we marched by you. Thank you for setting an excellent example of what we are teaching the boys.

Pack 455 has five dens and two Tiger Cub Dens. All of the leaders have earned their trained badge and are looking forward to a great year.

The Cub Scout program teaches patriotism, belief in God and helping others.

If you are interested in Cub Scouts please come to Round Up on Sept. 19 at South school, 7 p.m.

THANK YOU
The Ladies Day Committee of the Chelsea Community Fair would like to thank all those responsible for making Ladies Day such a big success. Without all your contributions and support, this event would not be possible. Your generosity is greatly appreciated. Thanks again to each and everyone of you. Sincerely,
The Ladies Day Committee.

CARD OF THANKS

The firefighters of the Chelsea Fire Department would like to express their sincere gratitude to everyone who assisted us at the tragic Sylvan Hotel fire on Aug. 18. To all of the citizens who helped by removing occupants, raising ladders, pulling hose or simply staying out of the way, we thank you. You typify a concerned, active community. We also wish to thank the other public service agencies who responded promptly to our calls for assistance; without you we would not have been able to gain control of the situation as fast as we did. It is nice to know that help can get to us as fast as it did that night.
Chelsea Firefighters.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank my relatives and friends for the lovely cards flowers and gifts I received for my 93rd birthday. Your kindness and thoughtfulness made my day a happy one.
Edna (Beach) Devine.

The earth's protective ozone layer, which absorbs high levels of radiation from the sun, is at serious risk from world-wide chemical use, reports International Wildlife magazine. While aerosol spray-can use of chlorofluorocarbons has declined by 82 percent over the past decade, their use as refrigerants, insulating material and solvents has increased by more than 70 percent. The EPA estimates a 20 percent depletion of the ozone layer, possible in less than 40 years, would result in 3.7 million more cases of skin cancer each year in the U.S.

New Books At Library

New books now available on the shelves of McKune Memorial Library include the following titles.

"Savage Grace," by Matalie Robins. This multi-layered family saga is set against a dazzling international background.

A spellbinding portrait of fatal relations in a distinguished American family—the Baekelands. Leo Baekeland realized every New American immigrant's dream, the million dollar invention; Bakelite made him the father of plastics. Then, in 1972, Leo Baekeland's gifted great-grandson, Tony, murdered his own mother.

This crime would lead to further acts of shocking violence.

"Oriental Hotel," by Janet Tanner. "Oriental Hotel" is the powerful story of a passionate love, set against the opulent luxury of yesterday's fancy hotels and recounted in modern times. Scenes are recalled of wartime Cairo, the fall of Hong Kong, a husband and son waiting in Hong Kong when civilian travel was forbidden.

"A Gathering of Days," by Joan Blos. Winner of the Newbery Medal for American literature for children, Joan Blos's moving novel captures the hardship as well as the tranquility of early American farm life and the sturdiness, the tenderness, of the people whose way of life it was.

"In the Enemy Camp," by Robert Duncan. This mystery novel takes us to the dangerous back alleys of Djakarta, to the lush tropical villas of the fabulously rich. It is a world where men wager money on the lives of other men. It is a world where the only currency is oil.

"Hard Money," by Michael Thomas. A richly entertaining, marvelously paced book. Writing with an insider's expertise of the reading room and the society drawing room; of proxy fights and takeover battles, Thomas creates a breathtakingly realistic picture of a world most readers will know only from today's business and political headlines.

"Women in the Wind," by Margaret Ritter. Reanna MacClaren, strong-willed and adventurous, arrives in the Indian Territory as the bride of a dashing rancher. She soon discovers that her husband, Andrew, is not the heroic figure he seemed. Over several tumultuous decades Reanna witnesses the end of an Indian nation and the coming of statehood.

★ The Land of Opportunity ...

America's heartland is turning into the land of opportunity. That may come as a surprise to those accustomed to hearing about farm bankruptcies, but a closer look at the farm situation reveals not an industry on the skids but one that is going through a transition period.

Land values have plummeted to the point where many believe purchase prices can now be cash-flowed through the farm operation. You didn't hear the term "cash flow management" used much 10 years ago when the main motivation for buying farmland was a hedge against inflation.

Prices of farm machinery, especially used equipment, have descended from their lofty plateaus. Many machinery dealers are offering unique leasing packages enabling farmers to rent or lease expensive equipment that they would otherwise be unable to afford.

Meanwhile, a hungry world continues to demand an adequate food supply. Someone will have to fill that need. That "someone" may be the young agriculturalist who has been laboring for someone else, waiting for an opportunity to farm on his own.

Farm economists predict there may never be a better time than today to get into farming. If they're right you can expect to see a whole new crop of young farmers experiencing their dreams to farm the rich soils of America's heartland.

Q. In 1980, I started buying Joy Manufacturing Company stock on an employee stock plan, and stopped in 1982. Since then, I had been reinvesting my dividends, until January of this year. Late in 1984, I wanted to sell it because it was going down in price, and I didn't see much of a future in it with a depressed market, even though debt wise they were in pretty good shape.

I didn't sell it then, and am really confused now, because it has dropped even further in price. Should I sell it now and cut my losses, or hold onto it? Any advice that you could provide would be appreciated, as my broker was the one that talked me out of selling it to begin with.

A. I think you have a pretty good broker and I would go along with his advice to continue holding Joy. There is no question that it has been having a rough time. Its mining machinery business started to pick up last year, but the petroleum equipment part of the business has been very hard hit.

Long term it seems that all of Joy's businesses should be good. The Value Line Investment Survey estimates the company's earnings per share could be $4 in the 1987-89 period. If the company earns that figure and sells at the average annual price earnings ratio of 12 that it has sold at over the past decade, it would sell at $48 a share. If business recovers well and we also have a lively stockmarket, it could easily sell at a higher price. It would seem to me that the recent low price of $21 1/4 is about as low as the stock should go.

There does seem to be a question about the dividend. The Standard and Poor's service says it is not secure. The Value Line Investment Survey says the dividend will be maintained. If it should be cut the price could drop a little further, but the general signs suggest the price is close to its bottom. The company is in good financial condition.

It seems likely that the price of the stock will not be very active for a six to twelve month period since it may take that long before the company's markets show much improvement.

It is a shame you didn't continue your dividend reinvestment program. It takes a lot of intestinal fortitude to keep investing when a company's business looks so bad, but that is often the time bargains are obtained, and those bargains look great when the turnaround eventually takes place.

Dental Hygiene Week Is Being Observed

Dental health is more than just a pretty smile, says the Washtenaw District Dental Hygiene Society, WDDHS.

That is the message dental hygienists want heard loud and clear during National Dental Hygiene Week, Sept. 15-21.

Purpose of the week, according to Mary Gilson-Layher, RDH, president of the WDDHS, is to focus greater public attention on the importance of preventive dental care as well as the role of the dental hygienist in providing that care.

"Americans today invest time, energy and money striving for total health," says Gilson-Layher. "What many don't seem to realize is that they will not achieve total health without taking care of their dental health. To many, dental care just means having an attractive smile."

Teeth, like the heart and lungs are complex organs, with their main function being mastication (chewing). Thorough chewing is essential to proper food digestion.

In addition to performing chewing functions, teeth help in speaking clearly. The shape of the dental arch and the way the teeth fit together can affect speech.

Because good dental health is essential to over-all health and speech, teeth should be taken care of properly. The Washtenaw District Dental Hygiene Society suggests these basic steps to dental health:

—Brush and floss thoroughly at least once a day; or more often if your dental hygienist recommends it.

—Eat well-balanced meals and limit snacks.

—Use fluoride toothpaste and mouthrinse.

—Visit your dental hygienist and dentist on a regular basis.

CHAIRMAN AND THE CONSTABLE are having as much fun as all the rest at the Washtenaw County Republican Picnic, Sunday, Sept. 15, at the home of Dr. Jerry and Margaret O'Connor on Saline-Ann Arbor Rd. Shown with GOP County Chairman Jane Talcott is Earl R. Alber, Manchester township constable. Jane's scarlet straw hat and Earl's constable topper are indicative of the blending of social graces and attention to duty exhibited at the Republican gathering. Rich Birkett brought the potato chips, Mike and Kay DuRusell furnished vegetables and dip, EMU and U-M College Republicans took care of games for the kids, Margaret O'Connor provided the dessert (and she and husband, Jerry, furnished the picnic site), Congressman Carl Pursell donated the hot dogs and pop, and the Republican Women's Club provided the hot dog buns.

'cookin' utensils and a big batch of chicken livers and fried up the tasty little morsels to add to the rest of the picnic food. People popped them in their mouths appreciatively at the affair. It was old fashioned politicking—in the friendliest of settings—good food, fine fellowship and a roaring good time by all!

REPUBLICANS HAD A GREAT TIME as they traveled from all parts of Washtenaw county (and even farther) to attend the picnic held at the home of Margaret and Dr. Gerald O'Connor on Saline-Ann Arbor Rd., Sunday afternoon, Sept. 15. With the weatherman providing ideal conditions, a lot of friendly hand-shaking took place, with guests enjoying the hospitality as well as the picnic spread. Shown beside a handsome wheeled wagon on the O'Connor grounds are Dexterites, from left, Al and Madonna Ruhlig, Webster township supervisor Don Zeeb and District Judge Karl Fink. Their expressions answer the question, "Are you enjoying the picnic and the people?" better than any words could.

DICK CHRYSLER chats with Dr. Gerald O'Connor at the Washtenaw County Republicans Picnic, Sunday, Sept. 15, at the O'Connor farm, while Chrysler's wife, Rita, tries some of the picnic spread served at the gathering. Those who attended had the opportunity to see some of the doctor's prize horses, and to enjoy the beautiful country setting along with a lot of interesting conversation—politics and otherwise. Chrysler is reputed to be seeking a Michigan gubernatorial nomination in the next election.

JOINING FORCES TO KEEP ORDER on the grill at the picnic sponsored by Washtenaw County Republicans, Sunday, Sept. 15, at the O'Connor farm were Washtenaw County Sheriff Ron Schebl, left, and Bob Harrison, Washtenaw County Clerk/Register of Deeds. They tended the hot-dog grill, serving up upwards of 500 of the zesty bun-wrapped and mustard-dosed weiners to a hungry group of picnic attendees. The pair is shown above, watching their grill but having lots of fun as they tried to convince hostess Margaret O'Connor she better try just one more hot dog before they disappeared.

IT WAS HARD to say "Good-bye," and Mary Helen and Lynn Degener took a final wistful glance at the beautiful surroundings at the home of Jerry and Margaret O'Connor before starting home to Chelsea, Sunday, Sept. 15. They joined a host of others at the Washtenaw County Republican Picnic held at the O'Connors. It was mixing business with pleasure under the warmest of circumstances—picnic foods, good company, cool waters and warm sunshine. "Who was in charge of ordering the weather," several of the picnickers asked. "I don't know, but we're appointing them again next year to the same position," said Margaret O'Connor with a smile. "Isn't it wonderful?"

"YES, I'M STILL RACING COMMISSIONER," Bill Ballenger told Margaret O'Connor, shown in the photo with him, and lots of other people at the picnic held by Washtenaw county Republicans last Sunday afternoon. "I think the guy is at least worried about having made the wrong career decision—or letting Governor Blanchard make it for him!" explained Ballenger, in discussing the current battle between himself and the Blanchard appointee for the position of racing commissioner in Michigan. "Four times, he's made an appointment to meet with me to discuss the situation—but each time he's called to say he can't make it—and I'm still occupying the office at 435 S. Main in Plymouth," he added. With a wide grin he said he surely did wish he could convince Dr. Jerry O'Connor to race some of his handsome horses at the track in Mount Pleasant, rather than in far away Oklahoma.

MISS IDA FORD, a resident of the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home, celebrated her 100th birthday on Saturday, Sept. 14. A retired school teacher, Ida taught in the one-room country school in Milan where both her mother and grandmother taught. She also taught in North Dakota, Pelston and Detroit. Ida said that she handled discipline by turning it over to the students, who couldn't stand disorder. She also told an amusing story about her birth. It seems she had a twin sister, who the doctor said was healthy. However, he said Ida wouldn't make it through the night, and told her mother not to even bother dressing her. The doctor, Ida's parents, and even her healthy sister are long since gone, so she really showed 'em. Ida had a quiet celebration with her nephew, Howard Chapman of Bloomfield Hills, other relatives and friends.

Start Plans Now for Fall Wheat

Now is the time to start planning for fall wheat planting by choosing the best varieties and management program available.

"You can easily gain 10 to 15 bushels of wheat per acre by simply planting the best variety," says Larry Copeland, extension crop specialist at Michigan State University. "And quality is not necessarily related to seed price," he says.

Copeland recommends selecting Augusta and Frankenthum white wheat varieties. Hillsdale is the soft red wheat variety that performs the best in Michigan, though Caldwell and Auburn soft red wheat varieties also yield well. Producers sacrifice 10 to 15 bushels per acre by using other varieties, he says.

Seeds should always be treated to control soilborne diseases such as common bunt, loose smut and seed rot. More outbreaks of common bunt occurred in Michigan this year than in 1984, resulting in either substantial elevator discounts or outright rejection. This disease is virtually 100 percent preventable by effective seed treatment with a fungicide such as Vitavax 200, Copeland says.

Wheat should not be planted on land that produced a small grain the previous year as this increases the risk of disease carryover from decaying stubble, Copeland says.

Fall fertilization should be based on recommendations from soil tests. In addition to the phosphate and potash recommendations, a starter increment of about 15 to 20 pounds of nitrogen per acre should be included. All fertilizer should be applied as a blend prior to planting or with the drill at the time of seeding, Copeland says.

Good quackgrass control is essential and may be attained by using Roundup prior to tillage.

To prevent excessive plant development in the fall that promotes fungal and bacterial diseases, Copeland advises producers to plant wheat 10 to 15 days after the Hessian fly-free date. This date generally occurs during October in Michigan, depending on a farm's location.

Detailed information on employer and employee rights and responsibilities under the Occupational Safety and Health Act is available from any of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's 95 field offices, found under "U. S. Government, Department of Labor" telephone listings, according to Labor Department fact sheet.

WASHTENAW COUNTY CENTRAL DISPATCH receives a new emergency-type vehicle to be utilized by county law enforcement and fire agencies as a multi-purpose vehicle available for an emergency and disaster communications command post. The vehicle is shown in the photo with Wes McKenzie, at left, executive director of the American Red Cross' Washtenaw County chapter, Dave McAllister, second vice-chair for the chapter's board of directors, who is turning over the title for the giant vehicle to Washtenaw County Sheriff Ronald J. Schebil. The ARC Washtenaw chapter donated the vehicle to the county.

Red Cross Gives Recreational Vehicle to County Dispatch

The Washtenaw County chapter of the American Red Cross signed over a recreational vehicle to the Washtenaw County Central Dispatch to be utilized by county law enforcement and fire agencies as a multi-purpose vehicle, primarily for use as an emergency and disaster communications command post.

David McAllister, second vice-chair for the Washtenaw County chapter's board of directors, handed over the title to the vehicle last week to Ron Schebil, Washtenaw County Sheriff.

The recreational vehicle will now reside at the Washtenaw County Service Center on Hogback Rd.

Fire Dept. Reports Increased Activity

The Chelsea Fire Department made 35 runs in August, three more than August of 1984, according to Chief Paul Hankerd's monthly report.

To date, the department has made 14 runs more than at the end of August 1984. The figures are 289 for 1985 to 275 for 1984.

Rescues and personal injury accidents accounted for 28 of the August runs.

It was donated to the Washtenaw County chapter of ARC three years ago by the Chrysler Proving Grounds in Chelsea, for use as an emergency first aid and disaster relief station.

Due to its size, the chapter is turning it over to the county for use in larger scale disaster and emergency situations. The chapter hopes to replace the giant vehicle with a pair of smaller vans equipped for first aid and disaster use.

The Washtenaw County chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way member.
