Spaulding Gets Federal Grant To Establish New National Adoption Resource Center

A three-year federal grant of $600,000 has been awarded to a Chelsea institution, Spaulding for Children, to establish the National Adoption Resource Center.

News of the grant was received by Judy McKenzie, Spaulding executive director, from Congressman Carl D. Pursell who assisted in obtaining the grant from the U. S. Department of Health and Human Services.

The goal of the center is to establish nationally applicable standards of excellence in adoption services for children with special needs and their adoptive families. To accomplish this the center will provide training, consultation, technical assistance and networking information to private and public agencies.

At the heart of the effort, and the granting of federal funds, is the 17-year history of achievements by Spaulding for Children in this sensitive, specialized form of social service.

Part of the program of the new Center will be an in-residence leadership institute which will utilize staff skills while drawing upon the abilities of peer professionals throughout the nation.

Spaulding for Children has headquarters in a centennial farmhouse at 3660 Waltrous Rd., as well as adoption offices in Detroit.

In 1968 Dorothea Pielemeier, together with Richard Schneider, went to their friend, Warren Spaulding, with the idea of forming an agency to serve children with special needs.

Spaulding, an elderly Chelsea bachelor, was a successful farmer and investor who loved children and dreamed of being able to do something for them. His response to Miss Pielemeier and Mr. Schneider was to give his home and considerable farm acreage to the new institution.

In the beginning he had thought of an orphanage with children running all over his fields, but he was equally content with the concept of Spaulding for Children as a center of help for children with special needs who were hard to place through existing social agencies.

According to Judy McKenzie, Spaulding believes that a child without legal family ties needs the permanency that adoption can provide. Spaulding believes that homes can be found for most of these children.

Investigation of family background does not reveal if families have parenting abilities. Therefore, the adoption process should not be based on a rigid formula of obtaining family information.

Spaulding focuses on assisting a family to accept into their home a child with very special needs.

Spaulding makes every effort to find families who are willing to make an investment in a child who has been filled with insecurity and confusion.

Working together, the family and the worker will identify the contributions which the family (Continued on page two)

Veterans Day Parade Set Sunday in Chelsea

Bring the family and join the veterans of Chelsea, Dexter and the rest of Washtenaw county on the day set aside to honor the veterans who have helped to retain America's freedom.

Sunday, Nov. 10, the Washtenaw County Council of Veterans will be holding their annual Veterans Day Parade in the Village of Chelsea.

Each year, the parade is held to

Home Hot Meal Service Needs Additional Drivers

Chelsea's home hot meal service for the elderly and infirmed is in need of drivers for Wednesday.

Volunteer drivers are needed to drive every other Wednesday for approximately one hour, beginning at 11:15.

Drivers need to use their own vehicles.

Anyone interested should contact Joyce Manley at 475-2795.

show support for those who have given their lives in defense of our way of life, as well as those veterans still with us, many of whom continue to suffer from injuries or diseases incurred as a result of service to this country.

This year, the parade's grand marshal will be Herman Reed of Chelsea.

Reed is an honorably discharged World War II veteran who served from April, 1943, until he was discharged as the result of shrapnel injuries to both arms and legs in July, 1944.

He served with the United States Army's 246th Combat Engineers Battalion.

Reed received the Purple Heart in recognition of his injuries. A life-long resident of the Chelsea area, he is a member of American Legion Post 31.

Both before and since his retirement in 1973 from Chrysler Proving Grounds, he has been active with various veteran organizations. He served as 1970-71 commander of the Washtenaw County Council of Veterans, commander of the Disabled American Veterans Chapter 13 for four years, and commander of American Legion Post 31 during the 1962-63 year.

He is currently serving as an American Legion delegate to the Veterans Council, a position he has held since 1963, and serves as chaplain to the post.

He is a DAV representative to Voluntary Services at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Reed has nearly 2,000 hours of service at the hospital, and his wife, Doris, has 2,500 hours. The couple celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, April 13, 1985.

They have one son, James Edward Reed of Onsted, and two grandsons.

The parade will be attended by community and state leaders in addition to the many veterans, and all citizens are invited and encouraged to turn out for an afternoon's appreciation of the veteran community.

Herman Reed Being Honored As Veterans Day Parade Marshal

GRAND MARSHAL HERMAN REED of Chelsea will preside over the Veterans Day parade, Sunday, Nov. 10, in the Village of Chelsea. The parade starts at 2 p.m. and will include individual veterans as well as representatives of many veterans organizations. State and community leaders will attend as well as the veterans, and citizens are invited to come out and pay tribute to the many Washtenaw county veterans on their day.

As befits Veterans Day honors, Chelsea veteran and parade grand marshal Herman Reed will be individually recognized, Sunday, Nov. 10, not only by his community but also by the Washtenaw County Council of Veterans.

When plans to name Herman Reed were revealed, this newspaper asked him to tell a little about his life before, during and following his military service time.

Herman readily explained he moved to Chelsea from the northern community of Kalkaska when he was just eight years old. His sister, he said, married an Army man who was from Chelsea, and later on, his brother Frank moved to Chelsea also. Frank was a Chelsea police officer for years.

His mother, Martha Wagner, lived on Washington St. in Chelsea, Herman said. She died in 1965 at the age of 91.

"I just kept trying to make it in school, but it seemed like I had to start all over again so many times, I finally left school in 1926 and went to work on a farm between Ann Arbor and Dexter," Herman related, "my stepdad worked for the farm's owner and I did too."

"After I was grown, I married Doris," he added, nodding to his partner, "we celebrated our 50th last April."

The couple was married in La (Continued on page seven)

United Way Goal Within Reach at 86%

Chelsea United Way has reached 86% of their 1985-86 goal of $68,000. According to Lang Ramsey, co-chairman of this year's fund-raising drive, receipts to date total $58,310.

"Although the campaign officially ended on Oct. 31, we still are awaiting returns from several areas. Chelsea Hospital employees have not reported their pledges yet, and based on 1984 contributions, we are looking for approximately $6,600 from this group," Ramsey said. "In addition," he continued, "this is the first year that payroll deduction campaigns were authorized for employees at the Chelsea United Methodist Home and the Village of Chelsea, neither of which have reported yet. All of these results, coupled with further returns from the residential mail campaign and professional division, lead us to believe that we will pick-up the additional $9,960 to put us over the top."

Dave Prohaska, co-chairman of this year's drive, reported the following results for each of the campaign division goals: residential (mail), 62%; coupons, 120%; community organizations, 101%; professional, 69%; commercial and business, 93%; schools, 37%; industry, 99%. Within the industrial division, Chelsea Milling achieved 88%, Dana Corp. hit 100%, Chrysler reached 101%, Federal Screw Works reported 107%, and BookCrafters topped the group with 108%.

"Historically, we continue to receive donations well into November and even later. This is one of the reasons why we are optimistic about reaching our goal this year," commented Dave McAllister, Chelsea United Way President. He concluded, "We hope that people who are watching our progress and read about us reaching the 86% mark don't automatically assume that's it in a bag. It still takes those extra-special people out there who haven't made their contributions yet to follow through on their commitment to help our community."

Anyone interested in helping the Chelsea United Way reach its 1985-86 goal may send their contribution to P.O. Box 176, Chelsea 48118.

JUST REMINISCING

Items taken from the files of The Chelsea Standard

4 Years Ago . . .

Tuesday, Nov. 3, 1981—Cindy Wolter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wolter of North Territorial Rd., will travel to Chelsea with 237 of her friends, Friday, Nov. 6.

Cindy, a Chelsea High school graduate, is in her sophomore year at the University of Miami of Ohio, where she plays the piccolo in the band.

The university's band will travel to Saline, Friday, staying with Saline families and performing at Saline High school's football game. Then, on Saturday, the band will head north to Mt. Pleasant for the Miami of Ohio-Central Michigan University football game.

Bixby Marionettes traveled to Chelsea last week to perform for the elementary school children.

Meredith Bixby of Saline, owner of Bixby Marionettes in his 43rd year on the road, takes his stringed puppets to 250,000 school children each year.

Rick Elder, no newcomer to the Chelsea High stage, will play the part of Sakini, the Okinawan interpreter in "Teahouse of the August Moon," to be presented by Chelsea High school, this season.

The cast was announced Friday, Oct. 23, after a hard week of auditions.

The part of the strict but somewhat stupid Colonel Purdy Wainwright III is being played by another experienced actor, Tim Benjamin, and Thad Bell will make his first stage appearance, as Sergeant Gregovich.

Eric Kruger will play Captain Fishy, and the grade A geisha girl, Lotus Blossom, will be portrayed by Karyn Pierce.

Director Phil Powers and producer Bill Coelius agree there is a great deal of talent in the class this year and the play should be a success.

Chelsea's "funniest" costumes appeared on the frames of youngsters for Halloween this year. Matthew and Carl Cabaniss took first place in their bunny and magician outfits, and Michael Long was a runner-up as a white bird, while Noelle Niedermeier was third as a yellow bird.

14 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Nov. 4, 1971—

A tree and a mushroom were there, and so were a variety of other spooks, storyland characters, bums, and devils, and together they gulped down 100 gallons of apple cider and ate a total of 140 dozen doughnuts.

The scene was the annual Halloween party, costume contest and parade sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club, Oct. 30.

Behind every varsity football player and varsity cheerleader are understanding parents who also endure the long practice sessions and tough games.

At Friday night's game against Milan, the last home game of the grid season, those parents will receive a little of the recognition they deserve. They will be introduced in the pre-game show, beginning at 7 p.m., and following the game, refreshments will be served to the players, cheerleaders and their parents in the Chelsea High library.

Although the term "grass roots" is most often applied to politics, it also fits the formation of the Chelsea District Hockey Association.

Last year, a group of high school students formed a hockey club and persuaded Larry Oswald to coach them.

At the end of the hockey season, they approached Owen Loasby of Gateway Sports Centre hoping to persuade him to sponsor a hockey team.

Scott Proposes Own Game and Fish Increase

The head of the House of Conservation and Environment Committee has proposed a new plan to increase hunting and fishing licenses to make up an expected $6.7 million deficit in the state Game and Fish Protection Fund which permits a lifetime license and creates a lifetime license trust fund.

Meanwhile, the head of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs proposed a one-year increase in license fees to help meet the deficit.

Both proposals are in contrast to a proposal issued earlier by the natural Resources Commission which would increase license fees, require the state general fund to reimburse the game and fish fund from both local property taxes and senior citizen license discounts, and creates a game and fish trust fund which would be financed by oil, gas, and timber revenues.

Representative Thomas Scott (D-Flint) unveiled his proposal before his Conservation and Environment Committee.

That proposal creates lifetime license fees which will be deposited in a lifetime license fee fund. Beginning Oct. 1, 1987, that fund would deposit 50 percent of its interest and earnings into the game and fish fund.

Scott's proposal also adopts the NRC's annual license fee proposal beginning on April 1, 1987, but the increases would only be permitted if the Department of Natural Resources determined that the sale of lifetime licenses was unable to generate sufficient revenues to finance the game and fish fund.

But Thomas Washington, executive director of the MUCC, proposed a one-year increase in license fees that would raise nearly $5 million that would come close to meeting a $5.1 million deficit in the game and fish fund.

DNR officials have claimed a deficit of $6.7 million, but acceded that the actual deficit is $5.1 million, with the additional $6 million coming from the planned hiring of additional conservation officers.

Pollack Proposes Environmental Enforcement Package

Jail terms for persons who purposely pollute water or air would be imposed under a six-bill environmental enforcement package proposed recently by Senator Lana Pollack (D-Ann Arbor).

Besides criminal penalties, the package would also increase civil fines that are already used against polluters and give the Department of Natural Resources more authority to halt pollution.

"Responsible businesses and taxpayers should not have to bear the costs for cleaning up pollution sites that resulted from unethical persons or companies making a fast dollar while consciously breaking the law," Pollack said.

She noted the federal government has just begun to send persons to jail for pollution actions, citing a case of a company executive in Missouri who filed false information for obtaining a water discharge permit. The criminal penalties for reckless disregard in poisoning water and air would be in the Penal Code.

The legislation would amend the Solid Waste Management, Hazardous Waste Management, Air Pollution, and Water Resources Commission Acts to provide civil penalties of up to $25,000 per day; to permit the Department of Natural Resources to issue administrative fines of at least $100 per day for license violations, but excluding failure to report a pollution incident, and credit those fines to programs to clean up hazardous waste sites and air and water monitoring expenses; and authorize the DNR to summarily suspend a permit or license in cases where violations pose an imminent risk to public health or environment.

The package would also amend the Environmental Response Act to make polluters liable for their share of damages at a pollution site, and establish triple damages for evaluation and restoration of a site if a company does not cooperate with the DNR.

Nov. 11 Planning Session Set for St. Mary's Reunion

A meeting will be held on Monday, Nov. 11, at 7 p.m. in St. Mary's School Hall to continue preparations for a class reunion to be held in August of 1986.

Tentative plans have been made to hold a Saturday night dinner-dance and a Sunday afternoon picnic. The goals for this month's meeting are to construct student and teacher lists.

Anyone who is interested in helping, or has student or teacher information, is welcome to attend Monday night's meeting or contact co-chairmen Linda (Merkel) Montgomery, 475-1685, or Bobbie (Dvorak) Hoffenbecker, 475-3851.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers put wimmen folks at the top of their agender Saturday night at the country store. Bug Hookum was quick to point out that any relation between the topic and the night of goblins and witches was pure incidental. It was Bug that got the discussion started with a report on the latest collection of tubes, boxes and bottles his old lady brought home from the beauty parlor. Bug said she usual comes back looking like she didn't git waited on, so he figgers she must of bought another do-it-yourself kit she never gits around to using.

Actual, Bug said, she might of got her money's worth on this last supply. He looked through the batch and found the usual run of powders, ruges and creams, paint-on eyebrows and finger-nails. And he saw bottles of different colored gook you brush all over at night after you pick the shade you want to be the next day. Special for winter, Bug said, there was "Gold Bahama" that claimed to give the old lady the "Glow of a week in the Caribbean sun." Bug said he was of a mind that she could git the same glow putting shingles on the barn.

General speaking, Zeke Grubb said he enjoyed looking at the ladies, but he agreed with Bug it's gitting harder fer a feller to tell if what he's seeing is homemade or store bought. Fer instant, he had saw where girls and wimmen are cutting their hair GI style, so they can be more comfortable wearing a wig ever day that matches their dress. The surprise here, Zeke declared, was that females don't wear dresses anywhere but to church. He said all he sees em in during the week is blue jeans since they switched from stretch pants, and he's been thanking the Lord fer small favors.

Fer his money, Clem Webster said, he'd take the crewcut and wigs over the hair styles. Clem said his old lady final got tired of the hornet's nest, and now she wears her hair pritty much the way it grows, except ever now and then she'll go fer store bought color. Some of the younger wimmen still string their hair like plow lines. Clem said, but if you take them music videos as a sign of things to come, the worst is. Wimmen in video musicals all have frostbit lips and all have took to piling their hair on top of their heads like poster combs and coloring it like a barber pole. If that is catching and if wimmen really want to look alike, us wimmen watchers are in fer lean days, was Clem's words.

Farthermore, even if we like their looks, TV commercials keep telling us the worst thing a man or woman can do is offend somebody with their smells. The way the country is going after smoking and secondhand smoke, Clem said bad breath and body odor may be agin the law in our lifetime. Ed Doolittle said he couldn't bring hisself to worry about our national smell good campaign, but he did wonder if the sweet smell of America has anything to do with the smell of good clean sweat going out of style and everthing going on the automatic.

Ed had saw a magazine ad where big companies can order somepun called "a complete letter book" fer their top officers. The book has letters fer ever situation, and 950 more phrases, sentences and paragraph to spice up personal correspondence. The boss hands the store-bought letter to a secretary that runs it through a word processor that scoots it to the mail room and all the boss has got to do is set there and smell good, was Ed's words.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Moonlight Madness Thursday

One of the best times of the year to shop in Chelsea will take place tomorrow night during the traditional Moonlight Madness.

Most Chelsea merchants take part in the bi-annual sale. They close for business at their normal times to mark items down, then re-open at 7 p.m. Moonlight Madness officially ends at 9:30.

Most merchants generally report a brisk business with lots of browsers as well. It might be the ideal time to begin your Christmas shopping, or at least get a few ideas.

If you are looking for a particular item, you might find it in one of the many Moonlight Madness advertisements in this edition. Many items are marked down as much as 50 percent.

Here are 3 ways We help you reduce funeral expenses

1 Itemized Price Lists

Come in and ask for an item-by-item accounting of all costs. This assures you of getting exactly the service you want at an agreed upon price.

Pre-Planning 2

Specify the type of service and arrangements you want in advance. This enables you to freeze the cost at today's prices. It's a good hedge against any future inflation.

Cinema Seniors Group Organized

A new group, Cinema Seniors, sponsored by Turner Geriatric Services, is being formed for seniors who enjoy movies and would like the companionship of others who share this interest. The group will meet at the Burger King Restaurant next to the Briarwood Theaters the second Tuesday of each month at 12 noon, beginning on Nov. 12. The special $1 rate for the movies will be available. If time allows, the option of meeting for a small snack or lunch is possible. Please call 764-2556 for more information or to sign up.

Alzheimer's Family Support Group Plans Public Meeting

Turner Geriatric Services of the University of Michigan, and the Greater Ann Arbor Chapter of the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association invite the public to a special meeting of the Turner Clinic Alzheimer's Family Support Group.

The meeting will be held on Thursday, Nov. 21, 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the new Kellogg Eye Center, Auditorium, 1000 Wall St., next to the Turner Clinic.

Dr. Margaret Terpenning, medical director of the Turner Geriatric Clinic, will speak on "Alzheimer's Disease: The Patient's Needs/The Family's Dilemma."

Lesson Offered on Home-Made Soup Preparation

A refreshing change from the usual meat and potatoes routine is hearty, nutritious soup. A steaming bowl of soup filled with meat, beans or vegetables is synonymous with comfort and warmth.

Learn how to prepare home-made soups at an educational program sponsored by Co-operative Extension Service.

"Soup's On" is part of the monthly series, "Corner on the Kitchen." The program is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 12 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. There will be a lecture-demonstration on how to prepare a basic soup stock and vary it to make a series of tasty potages.

Francis Lyman, Ann Arbor school teacher and accomplished cook will give the lecture-demonstration. Marion Prince, extension home economist, will talk about the nutritional contribution of soup and how you can make it the cornerstone of a well-balanced meal.

There is a $3 fee to cover the cost of food for tasting. Reservations are required, and may be made by calling the Co-operative Extension Service office at 973-9510.

Extension's programs are open to all regardless of race, color, creed, sex national origin or handicap.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott James Otto

Karin L. Morgan, Scott Otto Are Wed at Methodist Church

Karin Leslie Morgan, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Royston P. Morgan, of 17248 Carolina Trace, Chelsea, was married to Scott James Otto, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Otto of Chelsea, Sept. 14 at the First United Methodist Church of Chelsea.

The Rev. Dr. David Truran performed the ceremony.

Mrs. John Williams of Chelsea sang, "Annie's Song," and "Longer."

The bride wore a white chiffon gown with a Queen Anne collar curving around a sweetheart-cut bodice trimmed with venise lace. It had sheer chiffon bishop sleeves with an inner sleeve with venise lace trim. A natural waist fell to a flowing skirt with a semi-cathedral wateau train. The veil had a modified camelot cap trimmed in venise lace dotted with seed pearls and sequins. Her fingertip veil was trimmed with a scalloped satin edge. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Patricia Shoemaker of Chelsea. She wore a wine gown with a high Victorian collar with chiffon blouson bodice trimmed with Schiffli embroidery. It had a modified empire waist falling to a quiana a-line skirt. She wore a headress with circlets of pink and white silk flowers with baby's breath. She carried a brandy snifter filled with matching flowers and candles.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard P. Morgan of Columbus, O., sister-in-law of the bride, and Katie Cooper of Westfield, N.J., a friend of the bride. Their dresses were the same as that of the maid of honor.

The best man was Steve Robins of Chelsea.

Serving as ushers were Richard Morgan, the bride's brother, Anthony Wisniewski of Chelsea, a friend of the bridegroom, and Todd and Troy Otto, brothers of the bridegroom. A reception for 200 guests was held at the Dexter Knights of Columbus Hall.

The newlyweds took a two-week trip to Colorado, Utah, Arizona, Nevada and California. They are residing at 875 N. Lima Center Rd.

The bride is a graduate of Chelsea High school and is employed by K-Mart Corp. The bridegroom is also a graduate of Chelsea High school and is employed at Palmer Ford in Chelsea.

Workers eligible for trade adjustment assistance may receive a relocation allowance to help them move their families and household goods to their new area of employment, plus a lump sum payment—not to exceed $600—to help them get settled. Workers may be paid 90 percent of their moving expenses, according to a U. S. Department of Labor fact sheet.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Satterthwaite

Linda Arnett, Troy Satterthwaite Are Wed in Stockbridge Church

Linda Karen Arnett and Troy Jay Satterthwaite were married Oct. 26 in Stockbridge, at the Church of God. The Rev. Donnie Eagle performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. JoAnne Arnett of Chelsea. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. and Mrs. Darrel Satterthwaite, also of Chelsea.

The bride brightened the ceremonies with a true white, victorian style dress trimmed with net, lace, silk ribbons and an embroidered rose on the collar. The veil was resplendent with pearls and her bouquet was festooned with red and white sweetheart roses, baby's breath and red and white ribbons.

The bridegroom was attired in a white tuxedo with tails, a white tie and a red cummerbund.

The bride's cousin, Miss Cheryl Carpenter of Saginaw, was the maid of honor. She wore a true white Columbia dance dress with a silk rose at the waist and net skirting with off the shoulders silk ruffles with a layer of silk draped from the waist in the back. Her bouquet was the same as the bride's but without white roses.

The bridesmaids, all cousins of the bride, were Lori Jedele of Chelsea, Stephanie Carpenter of Saginaw, and Amy Carpenter also of Chelsea. The bridesmaids wore gowns the same as the maid of honor and carried one long stem of red roses with baby's breath and red and white ribbons.

The bride's mother and three uncles, Jack Carpenter, John Jedele and Edsel Carpenter gave the bride away. Mrs. Arnett wore a peach colored evening gown with diamond trim and red rose corsage. The uncles were in white tuxedos.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Darrel Satterthwaite, wore a floor-length beige gown with front lace and jacket. She wore a red rose corsage.

Serving as best man was Kenneth Cobb of Chelsea, wearing a white tuxedo with tails, red ties and cummerbund. John Laraway, Jr. a cousin, John Jedele, Jr. and Tim Brown all of Chelsea served as ushers and dressed the same as the best man.

The reception was held at the UAW Hall on Main St., Chelsea, immediately following the ceremony. The aunt of the bride, Mrs. Judy Jedele, cut the wedding cake.

The couple went to Niagara on their honeymoon and upon their return are making their home on Scio Church Rd., Chelsea.

Linda is employed at University of Michigan Surgery Business Office. Troy is employed at BookCrafters of Chelsea. Both are graduates of Chelsea High school.

Prenatal Class Slated at Family Practice Center

"When will my newborn be able to see?" is a frequently asked question of new parents according to Chandice Harris, RN, MSN, parent/child co-ordinator at the University of Michigan Family Practice Center in Chelsea. "Not only can the newborn see at birth" states Harris "but even as a fetus inside the mother the baby can hear, detect shades of light and darkness, taste, suck his or her thumb and respond to the parent's touch."

Often times pregnant families are surprised to hear and realize that the fetus has this ability. Information of this nature will be covered in a prenatal class scheduled to be held at the Family Practice Center on Thursday, Nov. 21. This session will be held from 7 to 9 p.m.

This class is for pregnant families, especially those in early pregnancy. The film "The Sensational Baby" will be shown. This is an excellent illustration of the growing fetus, what he/she sees and hears, the movements and activities, and how parents can experience their unborn baby's unique personality during the course of pregnancy. It ends with a sequence of labor and birth as experienced by the baby.

The class will also cover information on healthy mother/healthy baby topics, good pregnancy nutrition, preparation for breastfeeding, sexuality during pregnancy, safe exercise, and family emotions during pregnancy.

The class is free to Family Practice Center patients. Pre-registration for the class is requested by calling the Family Practice Center at 475-1321, ext. 430.

Interior Design Speaker Will Offer Help for Holidays

Thoughts of holiday entertaining make most homemakers look at their homes with new eyes. Maybe the couch is shabby, the rug faded and the room needs a lift, and making costly decisions can be stressful.

Co-operative Extension Service is sponsoring a public program, "Interior Design for Your Home," to help people make choices and understand options in re-decorating. Marylouise Fischback, of Merkel Furniture in Chelsea will be the featured speaker on Nov. 14 at 1 p.m. Ms. Fischback has had more than 15 years experience as an interior designer for local stores, including Englander and Handicraft.

There is no cost for the event. Extension Service programs are open to all without regard to race, sex, color, creed, national origin and handicap.

Mr. and Mrs. Jamison Tomasek

Christine Duerr, J. Tomasek Wed in New Hampshire Ceremony

Christine Darlene Duerr and Jamison Tomasek were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony in their new home at 5 Rutledge Building, A4, Plaistow, N. H. on Friday, Oct. 11.

A friend, Tom Monson, Justice of the Peace, performed the ceremony.

Christine is the daughter of Lina Duerr of Chelsea and the late Adolph Duerr. Jamison Tomasek of Manchester, N. H., is the son of the late Norma and George Tomasek.

The bride wore a floor-length satin gown covered by a pleated sheer skirt. Lace and sheer material formed cap sleeves and a v-neckline. The dress was designed by Prescillas of Boston. The bride carried a sheath of lavender colored orchid.

The sister of the bride, Barbara M. Williams of Novi, served as matron of honor. Mother of the bride, Mrs. Duerr, wore an autumn colored designed chiffon gown.

Jeffrey Tomasek of Chicago, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Alan Williams, II, of Novi, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

A reception for the family and close friends followed the ceremony in their new home. The couple honeymooned in Costa Rica, for two weeks.

Christine is a magna cum laud graduate of Nazareth College, Kalamazoo, and received a master's degree in nursing from Boston College. She is employed as a clinical nurse specialist in the Neohalal Intensive care unit at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston.

Jamison is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is the Director of Field Services for Chemtech, Inc., in South Weymouth, Mass.

Farm Bureau Attacks ITC Pork Ruling

Farm Bureau has attacked the International Trade Commission ruling which held that live hog imports from Canada do injure the U.S. pork industry, but that imports of pork products do not. In testimony before subcommittees of the House Agriculture Committee, a Farm Bureau spokesperson said the ITC ruling was "not a partial victory for U.S. hog producers; it was a non-victory." According to Farm Bureau, imports of fresh and chilled pork from Canada during the first eight months of this year were 26% higher than for the same period in 1984.

Image Consulting Service Opening In Kerrytown

Kerrytown's second floor will be the location of a combination grand opening/first anniversary party to be held Friday, Nov. 8, from 9:30 to 5 p.m., and Saturday, Nov. 9, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The new store, Reflections on Beauty, is a beauty and health consulting service which offers courses and seminars in color analysis, makeup application, image building, and diet and nutrition. The "year old" store, Her Favorite Things, is a boutique specializing in lingerie, custom bridal gowns and bridal accessories. The two stores, which are adjacent to each other on the second floor of Kerrytown, plan to celebrate this unique event with tr e gifts, demonstrations, and refreshments.

"We think the combination of a lingerie/bridal boutique and a beauty and health consulting service will provide the women of Ann Arbor and surrounding areas with a complete shopping experience," says Cathy Crouch Grimston, owner of Her Favorite Things. "Most women, when they think about getting a color analysis or buying a wedding gown, think they'll have to push their way from one end of a crowded department store, to another to get the kind of services they can get in one easy, relaxing visit to Her Favorite Things and Reflections on Beauty," adds Sandi Mackrill, founder of Reflections on Beauty.

Both women agree that in addition to the unique services they offer the personalized care a customer receives at their stores is also unique. They firmly believe that each customer deserves complete and undivided attention. That's why both Reflections on Beauty and Her Favorite Things welcome appointments. "I prefer to work on an appointment basis," says Sandi of Reflections. "That way, I know I can give the client the utmost in quality health and beauty consulting." Cathy, of Her Favorite Things, invites people to come in and browse anytime. "My store is more retail oriented than Reflections on Beauty."

Sandi and Cathy are very excited about the grand opening/first anniversary festivities. Cathy has watched Her Favorite Things grow in popularity over the past year, and both she and Sandi are eager for Reflections on Beauty to join in. People who are interested in getting more information about the celebration, or about either store, may call the Kerrytown location or Sandi Mackrill's business office.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

One of the gravest disasters that can befall you or a loved one is to wind up as a zombie in the intensive care ward of a general hospital. You are in a terminal life situation. There is no way to get your heart and circulatory system or your kidneys or other organs back on the road again. Or cancer cells are rampant throughout your body. Whatever now marks the beginning of the end of your life, the bearing of your heart will be "heroically" prolonged by artificial life support systems such as a tube in your nose, another in an artery, another to drain your bladder, electronic sensors attached to your body, plus an overhead television lens, so that you may be monitored from the central nursing station. Against the chance that you might awake from your comatose state and seek the mercy of death by pulling out the tubes, your arms are strapped or your hands are tied to the sides of the bed.

A member of my own family, a woman of 74, had a heart attack several years ago and was taken to one of our major hospitals in Washtenaw county for a by-pass operation. A series of complications made it clear that hers was a terminal illness. She entered the hospital in March and was kept "alive" for 118 days. The bill of $212,000, averaging almost $1,800 a day, was shared by Blue Cross and Medicare.

The actual payers, of course, were all the people who subscribe to Blue Cross and all who pay taxes to our federal government to support Medicare.

Why do hospitals apply their sophisticated facilities and highly specialized nursing care to extend the lives of terminally ill people? They must, because they are under doctors orders.

Why do family physicians permit this ghastly, useless, costly prolongation of a human life? To suggest that a family physician would do this to a friend and patient to make money would be paranoid. He knows the patient is going to die. He knows the artificial prolongation of life is useless but he dare not play God. He dare not pull the plug even though the family at the bedside is begging him to do it.

Someone else in the family can then appear, charge him with murder and file a malpractice suit for $10 million.

So what can you do to prevent this agonizing avoidance of the process of natural death?

A powerful step in the right direction is to sign and distribute a Living Will. It will read as follows:

TO MY FAMILY, MY PHYSICIAN, MY LAWYER AND ALL OTHERS WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Death is as much a reality as birth, growth, maturity and old age—it is the one certainty of life. If the time comes when I can no longer take part in decisions for my own future, let this statement stand as an expression of my wishes and directions, while I am still of sound mind.

If at such a time the situation should arise in which there is no reasonable expectation of my recovery from extreme physical or mental disability, I direct that I be allowed to die and not be kept alive by medications, artificial means or "heroic measures." I do, however, ask that medication be mercifully administered to me to alleviate suffering even though this may shorten my remaining life.

This statement is made after careful consideration and is in accordance with my strong convictions and beliefs. I want the wishes and directions here expressed carried out to the extent permitted by law. Insofar as they are not legally enforceable, I hope my wishes to whom this will be addressed will regard themselves as morally bound by these provisions.

Signed:
Date:
Witness: (Name)
Witness: (Name)
Copies of this request have been given to: (Names)

You may obtain copies of this Living Will and a great deal of information by writing to Concern for Dying, 250 W. 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10019. It's a non-profit educational council and they'll send the Living Will for free, but a gift check will help their cause along.

Although 22 states have some type of Living Will legislation, Michigan is not among them. Your doctor is the key to your situation. When you give him a copy of your Living Will, ask if he will respect it and do what he can to fulfill its provisions. If your physician won't go along with it, think of all those nasal tubes, intravenous pipelines, bladder drains, thermocouples and TV monitors. Then consider a new doctor. If a loved one has been kept alive as a medical zombie, let everyone at the funeral, and everyone you write to, know the name of the attending physician and the hospital.

What do our big Washtenaw hospitals say about all this? In the Jan. 2, 1985 issue of the Ann Arbor News, Bill Brauker, assistant director for community relations at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, was quoted as saying, "The hospital does not order treatment or discontinuance of treatment. It is the patient's physician and not the hospital which determines the course of treatment. No doctor is bound by the hospital to undertake or continue inappropriate or unnecessary treatment or treatment which provides no benefit to the patient."

According to a spokesperson for the Veterans Administration Hospital, the VA does not recognize a pre-written statement such as a Living Will, but encourages the patient and family to discuss all options with the physician. When there is disagreement among family members who are responsible for the decision, all possible life support care must be continued.

Without a doctor's authorization, you or your loved one may face rough going at University Hospital. Ed Goldman, attorney for the U-M Medical Center, also quoted in the Jan. 2 reports, stressed the importance of discussion between patient, family, clergy, social workers and medical staff.

He went on to say, "If we had a patient with a terminal disease that was irreversible and was aware of it and had drafted a statement, we would take that statement into account. We look at that as an expression of the patient's intent."

Goldman then added that agents appointed to act for an incapacitated patient will be recognized, but the hospital always retains the option of taking the case to court if there appears to be a conflict as to what is in the best interest of the patient. The hospital takes a continuing education approach to the legal and ethical issues.

Two things are implicit in these last expressions of Attorney Goldman: First, legal proceedings could drag on for months while the hospital billing piles up at $1,000 or more a day and the family of the human vegetable waits on. Second, the "continuing education" approach turns the patient into nothing more than a laboratory specimen.

For the sake of everyone concerned, I think that an impartial public service agency such as the National Institute of Health in co-operation with a select committee from the American Medical Association should try to establish some finite guidelines that could be applied to certain recurring terminal life situations. The system would provide an official means of establishing a Life/Death point at which a patient's chance for survival is so little as to warrant the discontinuance of medical treatment.

The logic of this merciful system would, of course, have to be tested in the courts all the way to the top in Washington. But, once the system of Life/Death determination has been sustained by the Supreme Court, then your physician can make decisions that will be acceptable to the Lord, the family and Hippocrates.

M. Chasteen Named Spaulding Director of Development

The appointment of Marilyn Chasteen of Chelsea as director of development for Spaulding for Children has been announced by Judy McKenzie, executive director of the organization. Mrs. Chasteen will be in charge of fund-raising activities for Spaulding and will also serve as communications officer.

Chasteen is a graduate of the University of Michigan with bachelor's and master's degrees. Early in her career she was a teacher of English and American history. She is a trustee of the Civic Foundation of Chelsea, chairman of the CFC special resources committee and past president of the Modern Mothers Child Study Club. She is also a licensed realtor and worked for four years in association with Pierson & Reimenschneider.

"It is a joy to become part of Spaulding for Children," Marilyn said, "especially at a time when this unique institution has been chosen by the U. S. Department of Health and Human Services to become the adoption resource center of the nation. The $600,000 grant from the government is only seed money. We need, and will seek, much more support from individuals, families and organizations throughout the nation."

Retired School Personnel To Meet

Thursday, Nov. 9, 1961—Following discussion of the "real need" of a new street sweeper machine, the clerk was delegated to obtain pertinent information—prices, types available, etc.—regarding a new piece of equipment with a view toward possible inclusion of the purchase price in next year's budget.

The present sweeper equipment, purchased some years ago, is described as inadequate and a source of increasing repair bills.

LITTLE DEVIL Alex Lovachis of Gregory was one of the dozen or so traveling tots to attend a masquerade party at North school last week. The party, given by the community education office, featured games and songs for children and their parents. Alex's mom, Janice, gives him a little support.

SUPERBABY put in an appearance at the Traveling Tots masquerade party last week at North Elementary school in Chelsea. Dexter's John Wright, son of Dave and April Wright, played the part to perfection. The tots, all about 18 months old, played games and listened to songs. It was hard to tell if the children, or their parents, were having the most fun.

TRAY FAVORS FOR VETERANS at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor are shown as Doris Reed completes 500-600 of them to use on patients' trays at holiday time, which is fast approaching. Herman Reed, her husband helped with assembly of the little favors. The tiny styrofoam figures will be used to decorate VA hospital trays at Christmas and for New Year's Day.

Herman Reed Being Honored As Veterans Day Parade Marshal

Grange, Ind., returning to Chelsea to settle until World War II erupted.

He joined the U. S. Army's Combat Engineers and was off to Ft. Lewis, Wash., to train. Doris went too, and stayed with him until he was shipped out to the South Pacific theater.

She returned home to Chelsea to await the birth of their first and only child, a son, christened James Edward Reed.

Herman stressed his Combat Engineers Battalion was specifically trained for duty in the South Pacific, but after sitting three nights and two days in Denver (on their way to the Pacific, they thought), they were sent to Chicago, then Boston. From Boston, they went to Glasgow, Scotland.

It was 17 days at sea as their ship, the same ship on which Admiral Byrd traveled to the North Pole, dodged submarines lurking in the ocean depths.

His unit was moved by rail to England from Scotland. It was in England that Herman and his military buddies learned to build "Bailey bridges" in the dark, without making a sound.

Their training in bridge-building complete, the unit shipped across the channel, six days after D-Day, June 11, to France by way of Normandy Beach.

Then it was an island where a railroad bridge had been blown up by the Germans—they cut timbers from the nearby forest, constructed a replacement bridge then pulled out the Bailey bridge which had served while they built its replacement at the site. The Bailey bridge would be re-used many times.

"We had demolition on every bridge joint," explained Herman, "to blow it up if necessary."

"Our unit moved up in a major drive inland. They bivouacked us, and the first night I was hit by artillery fire!"

"I heard the whistle, then the ominous quiet—I crawled down as far as possible in our foxhole. After the hit, I reached my hand down and all I could feel was mush. When they came to pick me up, I asked them to just pick up the shelter-drag me off it. I rather than drag me off it."

He was shipped to a hospital in England for a long stay, then returned to New York—Staten Island, to Chicago, and on to Wisconsin to a military hospital for recuperation.

Doris had lived with her folks in Ann Arbor during Herman's absence. Telephones were scarce in those times and Herman called her father at American Broach (where he worked), to send Doris a message.

He returned to Ann Arbor. When Jimmy (the Reeds' young son) was 10 months old, Herman had his first peek at the youngster.

"I remember, Herman took him for his first haircut, near Main St. in Ann Arbor where the parking lot is now, across from the bus station," Doris mused.

They rented a cottage at Whitmore Lake and stayed there so Herman could come week-ends during his recovery period, Doris explained. Just before his discharge, Doris Smith moved to Chelsea with Herman's mother.

"We were all there together for a while," they agreed, "until Herman took a farm job on Joy Rd."

He worked the farm on shares, he said. It was owned by Dr. Lane, but not the one that comes first to mind for folks in Chelsea today. However, the farm's owner was an uncle of the Chelsea veterinarian. In fact, both Herman's employer and his son, were veterinarians also.

The farm was inherited by Mary Lou Hallen, Herman and Doris recalled. It was a dairy farm, but general farming occupied its workers as well.

"It was just too big and I eventually had to give it up," Herman sighed, "we rented a barn on Cavanaugh Lake—the Isngole farm—and six heifers and other livestock came with us when we later rented the Fauser farm."

Doris worked nights at King-Seeley, moving later to Chelsea's Federal Screw Works. She retired from her job in 1980, after marking 28 years of service.

There was a two-year period during which Herman drove a Chelsea school bus before he went to work at Chrysler Proving Grounds in building maintenance.

Chrysler first had just the quonset, then added building by building until the impressive complex that exists at the site today.

It was 20 years of service that Herman completed before he retired in 1973.

"That first year or two there were the hardest years," he recalled, "I was used to working outside and at first I thought I'd never get used to working any other place."

They bought the old Smith farm in 1962, Doris and Herman said, and after his retirement, Herman returned to full-time cattle raising. He continued in that work until January, 1982.

Things are busy yet today at the Reed household. Both Herman and his wife are very active in volunteer work at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor. He continues to do a lot of work for various veterans' groups and maintains a busy life.

The two of them agree they have slowed a bit, but the twinkle in their eyes and their ready smiles certainly make up for any slowing. They continue to do for others—it's their way of life!

Plan to come on out to the parade, Sunday, Nov. 10, when you can pay a bit of special tribute to Herman Reed and the many other veterans who have and will continue to do for others because "it's their way, God bless 'em!"

Bellus Sets New School Passing Record With 17 of 26 for 374 Yards

It was a case of complete chaos on defense for both teams as the Brandon Blackhawks "nipped" the Chelsea Bulldogs, 54-39, in the season finale at Niehaus field.

Neither team could stop the other, it was that simple.

Chelsea yielded 591 yards, but gained 465.

Chelsea's Dan Bellus set a school passing record with 374 yards.

Brandon's Brian Inglis gained 199 yards on 17 carries.

Both teams punted once.

Chelsea had the only turnover—a fumble in the fourth quarter that ultimately secured the win for Brandon.

The lead changed hands seven times.

Whew! Brandon, an independent school, featured an offense that "we haven't seen since I've been here and we'll probably never see again," according to Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

The Blackhawks had a quarterback who squatted so low while taking the snap that his chin was on the center's rear end. When he took the ball, he turned completely around, hiding the ball from the defense. There was generally a fake or two or three on every play, which forced the Bulldogs to gamble. More often than not, the wrong runner was tackled. The fakes worked on everyone, including the coaches, the fans and the people in the press box. It was an amazing sight.

"Art Paddy (Brandon coach) is no dummy," LaFave said. "That kind of offense works very well when the opponent doesn't see it every year, which is perfect for an independent school. They run that offense so well, and bring more people to the point of attack than you have, more people than you're prepared to stop. They do that to just about everybody."

Without their lone turnover, at the Brandon 20-yard line with 3:03 to go, Chelsea might well have ended the season at 5-4 rather than 4-5. At that point the Bulldogs were behind, 46-39, and had driven 35 yards. The Blackhawks, to that point, had about as much luck stopping the Bulldogs as the Bulldogs had stopping them. There was every reason to believe Chelsea would score.

"We were trying to run as

Anderson, Bowdish Named All-State in Cross Country

Chelsea's Kasey Anderson finished seventh over-all and led Bulldog runners to a third-place finish in the state class B cross country meet last Saturday afternoon at Hudson Mills metropark.

The Chelsea boys finished 20th in their part of the meet, paced by senior Tim Bowdish, who finished ninth over-all.

It was a cold and misty day as the 175 girls and 188 boys ran in the team portions of the meet. Twenty-seven teams were represented in both portions.

It was also a tricky course in that it began extremely wide to accommodate all the runners at the starting line, but narrowed quickly. It forced the runners to run quickly for about a quarter mile to get good position for the narrow part of the course or face being boxed out for most of the run.

Anderson and Bowdish were both named all-state for their performances after finishing in the top 20 over-all. There were four races, the girls team and individual, and boys team and individual. The top 20 runners from the team and individual races combined were named all-state.

Anderson, for the first time, beat Saline's Dawn Toth, making the victory just a little sweeter.

Following Anderson, who ran 19:33, were: Amy Wolfgang, 23rd, 20:13; Sallie Wilson, 31st, 20:25; Jennifer Rossi, 53rd, 20:58; Melanie Flanagan, 78th, 21:25; Debi Koenn, 87th, 21:31; and Robin Mock, 145th, 22:51.

Behind Bowdish, who ran 16:31, were: John Cattell, 42nd, 17:00; Greg Brown, 119th, 17:53; Jeff Wheaton, 130th, 17:59; Lee Riemenschneider, 154th, 18:23; Jason Creffield, 164th, 18:29; and Paul Hedding (who had physical problems) 188th, 20:57.

"I told the boys that if they finished 20th or higher that I'd be real pleased, so I'm real pleased," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke. "The girls ran real well, and Kasey ran an exceptional race."

Hillsdale, with 82 points, and Lumen Christi, with 100 points, were far ahead of the rest of the field in the girls meet. Chelsea finished third with 192 points, just ahead of Grand Rapids Christian with 195.

The boys meet was won by Fremont, with 52 points, way ahead of second place Cranbrook with 137. The Bulldogs had 454 points.

TIM BOWDISH was named all-state by virtue of his ninth-place finish in the state cross country team meet last Saturday.

KASEY ANDERSON became an all-state cross country runner due to her seventh-place finish in the state team meet last Saturday at Hudson Mills metropark. She led the Bulldogs to a third-place finish in the meet behind Hillsdale and Lumen Christi.

JEFF STACEY prepares to make the hit on a Brandon runner during last week's loss to the Blackhawks, 54-39, at Niehaus field. The Chelsea defense was perplexed by the Brandon "shell game" offense all night long, and only stopped the Blackhawks one time.

JV Cagers Romp Over Lincoln, 44-20

Chelsea junior varsity girls basketball team outscored Lincoln 12-0 in the third quarter, enroute to a 44-20 win over the Railsplitters.

Chelsea dominated every phase of the game for their fifth SEC win. The Bulldogs had an overwhelming 45-30 edge in rebounding. Aggressive defense netted 22 steals. They shot the ball 81 times, which is sure to win a lot of ball games even with the low percentage the Bulldogs had (22 percent).

Chelsea took the lead at the outset and never trailed thereafter. A 14-6 first-quarter lead grew to a 28-11 half-time margin.

Heather Neibauer led the Chelsea scorers with 15 points, and Leah Enderle followed with 12. Jenni Smith had eight.

Neibauer and Enderle also led Chelsea on the boards with eight and seven rebounds, respectively.

Shannon Dunn and Enderle had five steals each.

The JV's headed into this week's action with an 11-5 overall record and a 5-3 mark in SEC play.

Camp Deer Licenses Are Now Available

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reminds hunters that the 1985 camp deer season will run from Nov. 15-30, state-wide. The fee for the resident and non-resident camp deer license is $9.75 and may be purchased at any DNR District Office.

A camp deer license authorizes four or more licensed firearm deer hunters to apply, as a group, for one camp deer license for the taking of one deer with antlers at least three inches long.

Only Hunter's Choice areas are open to hunters with a camp deer license this year. Hunter's Choice guides, showing these areas, are available at all DNR District Offices and most license dealers.

A camp deer license may be purchased at any District Office. Applicants may also apply by phone or mail. They must supply the names, addresses, and the 1985 firearm deer license numbers of each member of the group and indicate the hunter's choice area in which they wish to hunt. Hunters are reminded that their name can appear on no more than one camp deer license.

Swim Team Downs Novi in Easy Win

The Chelsea Bulldog girls swimming team had a relatively easy time of it last week in a 93-79 victory over Novi.

Although the score was reasonably close, the previous week's meets with Dexter and Albion were decided by only a couple of points.

"Our girls needed an easier meet like this one after those two last week," said Chelsea coach Mike Keeler.

"They were a little emotionally down."

SEC ROUND-UP:

Saline Gains State Play-Off Berth in Triple Overtime Win

The Saline Hornets earned a berth in the state football playoffs by virtue of a triple-overtime win over Riverview, 35-32.

It was the eighth straight win for the Hornets, who only lost their season-opener to South Lyon. It was also Saline's second overtime victory of the season.

More than half the scoring was accomplished after regulation play. The teams were tied at 15.

Riverview won the coin toss and eventually scored a touchdown on a fourth-and-one play. However, it only took the Hornets a single play, a run by Mark Pearsall, to knot the score again.

Saline won the second coin toss, and, again, scored on a single play by Pearsall. With the extra point, the Hornets were up by seven.

However, Riverview was up to the task and scored on a third-down play.

After the Pirates won the coin toss to begin the third overtime, the Saline defense forced Riverview into a fourth down and 17. The Pirates connected on a 34-yard field goal, pushing the score to 32-29.

On Saline's final possession, Pearsall scored his third touchdown on a second and nine.

The Hornets' playoff chances looked dim at best going into the fourth quarter down 15-0.

The Lincoln Railsplitters finished the season with a 16-3 win over Belleville, thanks to a couple of goal-line stands.

Lincoln took the lead in the second quarter, 10-0, when Jeff Sloan hit Kevin Hayes on a 21-yard touchdown pass. The drive, which began at mid-field, was aided by two long penalties.

Belleville threatened to tie the game in the middle of the fourth quarter, but Lincoln stopped the Tigers on downs at the Railsplitter seven. A few plays later, Lincoln's Hayes took a pass 57 yards for the final score.

Chelsea lost a wild contest to the Brandon Blackhawks, 54-39, in a game which featured two punts and no defense by either team.

The Bulldogs could just as easily have won the game as lost it. Down 46-39 mid-way through the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs drove from their 41 to the Blackhawk 20 before fumbling the ball away. It was the only turnover by either team all night, and it proved to be a fatal mistake. Shortly thereafter, a long Blackhawk run put the game out of reach.

The lead changed hands several times throughout the first half, and the Blackhawks carried a 24-19 lead at half-time.

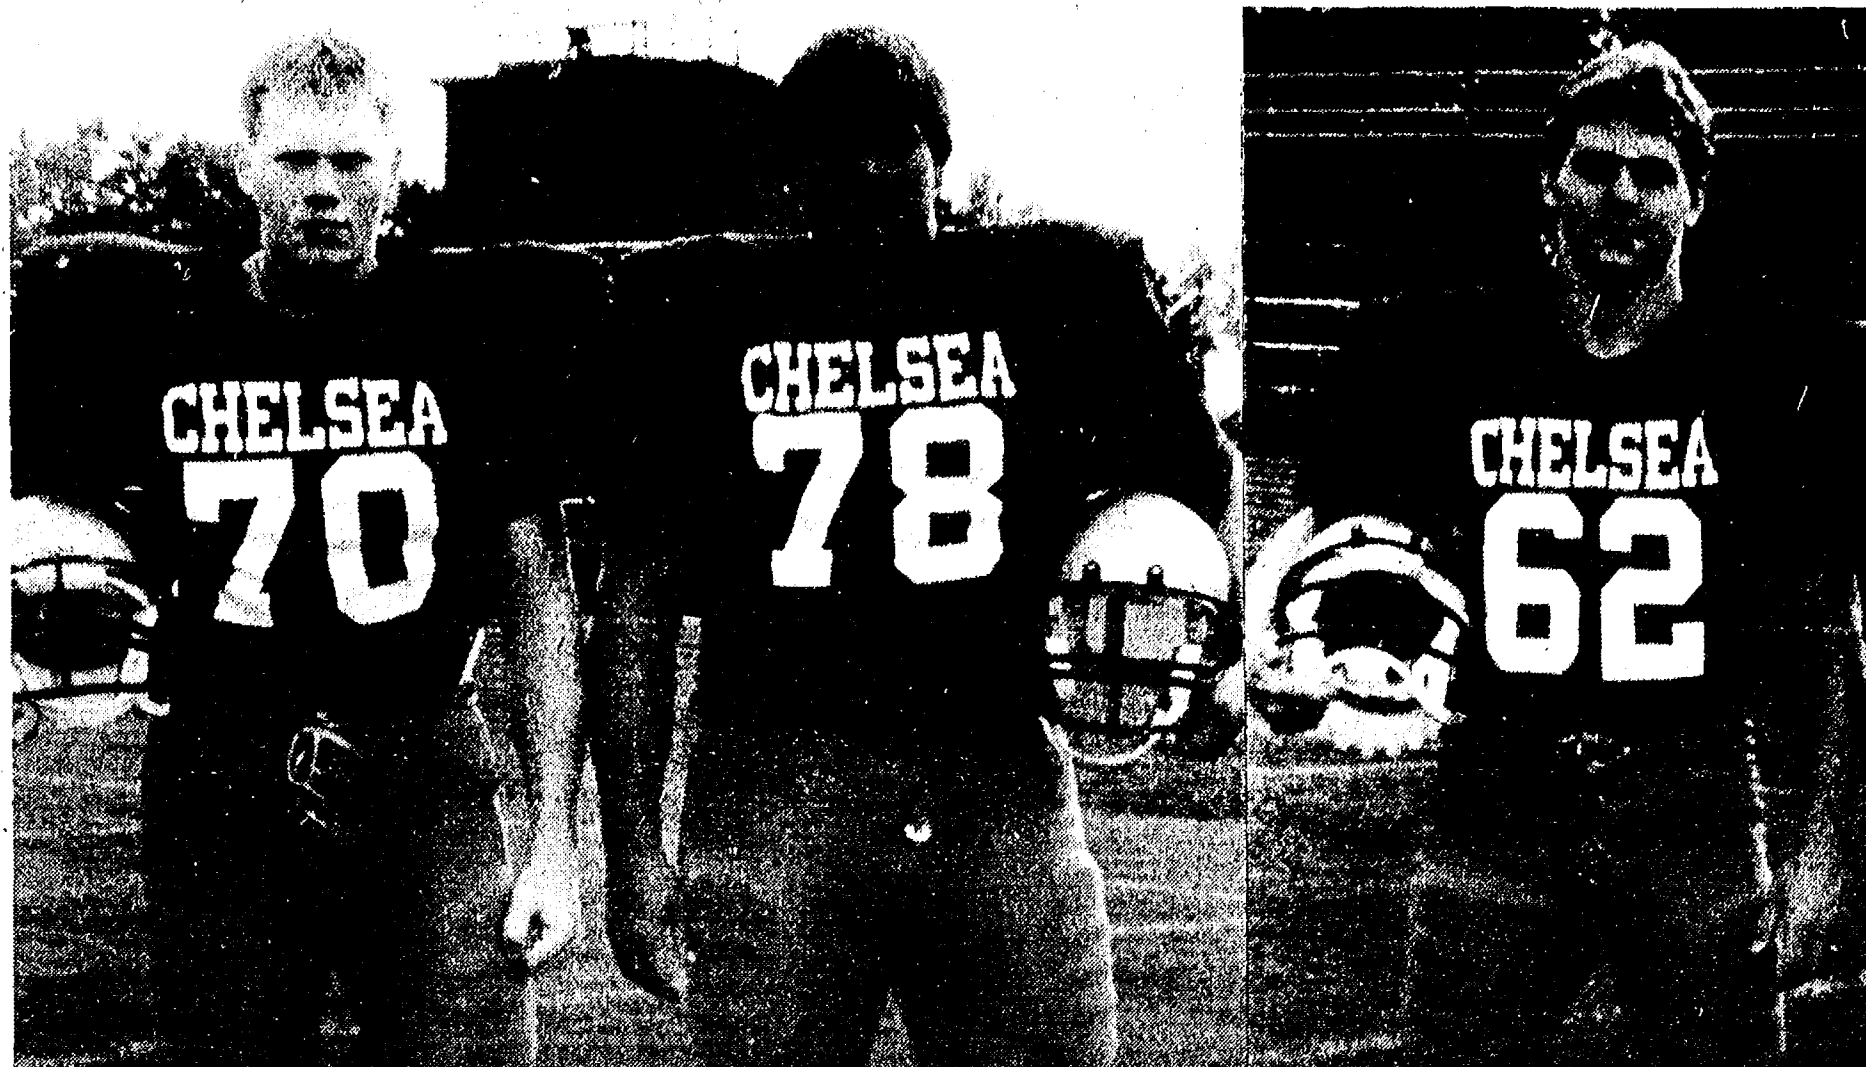

Chelsea took the lead on the first possession after the intermission, 25-24, but eventually fell behind, 38-25.

The Bulldog defense stopped the Blackhawks only one time all game and it happened in the fourth quarter. That stand enabled Chelsea to take a 39-38 lead with 7:50 to go.

On the first play after the kickoff, Brandon took the lead for good on a 71-yard run.

Gridders of the Week

GRIDDERS OF THE WEEK are, from left, Alan Fromm, Rob England and Steve Wingrove, all seniors. Alan is a sports enthusiast and is particularly fond of hunting and fishing. Due to his parents' occupations, he has been exposed extensively to television post production, and may pursue a career in broadcast-related communications. He's considering attending either the University of Texas or the University of Houston next year. His parents are Larry and Janet Phipps of Chestnut Dr. Rob has been exposed to football all his life, as his father, Robert, was a player for the University of Michigan in the mid 1960s. He's participated in forensics at Chelsea high and is interested in radio and television work. He also has an interest in computers. He's considering either staying close to home or going far away to college next year—UM, Eastern Michigan, the University of Florida and Arizona State University have all caught his attention. It's likely he'll study business and foreign languages. He lives at Cavanaugh Lake with Robert and his mother, Jill. Steve will be a four-year letterman in wrestling when he leaves CHS, this year wrestling in the 155-pound class. Wrestling has always been his number one sport, and he is considering attending the University of Iowa next fall, which has one of the best wrestling programs in the country. He was second in his weight division in the SEC last season. He's also considering EMU and Central Michigan University to study commercial art of business. Steve likes to hunt, but his only luck with deer this season was a car collision with an eight-point buck on Jackson Rd. His father is Thomas Wingrove of Grass Lake.

RUNNING FOR DAYLIGHT is Chelsea's Mark Mull, who caught four passes and scored a touchdown on the night for the potent Chelsea offense in a losing cause. Mull was bruised and battered all night long in the final game of his Chelsea career.

MARTY POLJAN, 86, fights off a swarm of Brandon blockers as he attempts to make the tackle from his outside linebacker spot. The Blackhawk offense ran roughshod over the Chelsea defense enroute to Brandon's seventh win of the season, 54-39.

JV Gridders Win Over Brandon, 42-40

In a wild end to an otherwise un-noteworthy season, the Chelsea junior varsity football team outlasted the Brandon Blackhawks to take a 42-40 win.

Among other things, it took a perfect night, 6-6, in extra point attempts by Junior Morseau and an accidental play toward the end of the game for the Bulldogs to pull out the win.

Both teams scored six touchdowns, but Brandon only managed to convert two, two-point conversions.

But the key play of the game was a fluke. With Chelsea ahead 35-32, with four minutes to play, Morseau kicked off, with the instructions to kick the ball into the end zone; if he could manage it. However, he slipped, and ended up kicking what amounted to a perfect on-sides kick, which Chelsea recovered.

"I'd like to take the credit for the play and say it was great coaching, but the on-sides kick was a complete accident," said Chelsea coach Jim Ticknor.

A few seconds later, Rob Finch scored on a 38-yard run, to give the Bulldogs a 42-32 lead. Brandon scored one more time and attempted an on-sides kick themselves, before time ran out.

The game began much as many of the JVs games have started, with the Bulldogs making key mistakes and giving up a big play here and there. Chelsea fumbled on its first possession, which resulted in a touchdown just a couple minutes later. On their next drive they were forced to punt after three plays, but Brandon came right back with an 80-yard run, to push the score to 12-0 with 3:43 to go in the first quarter.

Chelsea scored on its next two possessions, while stopping Brandon in between, to take a 14-12 lead.

The first score was on a Kevan Flanigan 10-yard option run, capping a 60-yard drive.

Finch ran 34 yards for the second TD, capping a six-play, 72-yard drive. Chelsea took the 14-12 lead into the third quarter.

Each team tallied 14 points in the third period. Finch ran the second-half kickoff 75 yards for a quick score, but the Blackhawks struck quickly, scoring in two plays, the highlight, a 49-yard scamper. With just a minute gone in the third quarter, Chelsea held a 21-18 lead.

The Bulldogs took the ball 52 yards in six plays for a score on their next drive, with Flanigan taking the option 18 yards for the TD.

In less than four minutes, the Blackhawks pulled to within two points, 28-26, on an eight-play, 89-yard drive. Runs of 37 and 41 yards took care of most of the yardage.

Brandon took a 32-28 lead at the 9:46 mark of the fourth quarter after the Bulldogs fumbled the ball, marching 72 yards in eight plays.

"At that point we had a decision to make," Ticknor said. "Either we had to put together a quick drive, and hope we had time to score after they did, or we had to make a long drive and take some time off the clock. We knew they weren't going to stop us, and we probably wouldn't stop them, either."

The Bulldogs took the second option and ground out an 85-yard, 13-play drive, taking five minutes off the clock in the process. Flanigan scored on a five-yard option.

That when Morseau made his fortunate mistake.

For the night, Chelsea rushed for 292 yards and passed for 48 more. However, Brandon's statistics were even more impressive, amassing 441 yards, 402 on the ground.

"Brandon wasn't really all that good, but their offense was terribly confusing," Ticknor said. "They did so much faking that you ended up having to tackle everyone. And if you guessed wrong, the guy ended up in the end zone."

Ticknor cited the play of Cory Johnson, who intercepted a pass, Jim Beaver, who had a couple of key sacks, and Shawn Brown and Curtis Satterthwaite, who had all-around good defensive games. Rob Lyerla, he said, also had a key block on the Bulldogs' final touchdown run.

Ticknor also mentioned several Bulldogs who were an integral part of the team all year long, including Brady Murphy, Gary Dosey, Tony Flintoft, Jeff Steele, Rick Niethammer, David Buku, Shane Keezer and Jeff Smith.

Chelsea finished the season at 3-6. Ticknor said it was the first time since he has been a coach that his team has won its final game.

Bulldogs Outscored in Season Finale

much time off the clock as we could," LaFave said. "And we were fully prepared to score again with less than a minute to go. We'd done that many times this year, so it really wasn't a gamble."

With Brandon running at will against the Bulldogs (472 yards rushing), it was easy to lose sight of just how well the Chelsea offense played. Bellus' school record for single game passing, came on only 17 of 26 attempts. Todd Starkey caught nine for 219 yards and two touchdowns. Mark Mull caught four for 52 yards (most of those yards gained after catching the ball). Matt Bohlender grabbed two for 88 yards and a touchdown, and tight end Marty Poljan caught two for 15 yards.

Curtis Heard gained 64 of the team's 91 yards rushing, and Joe Eassa had 26.

"Dan had a great game and a great career," LaFave said. "He became a complete quarterback this year."

Jim Eisenbeiser, Gary Johnson and Alan Fromm on the offensive line had exceptional games, LaFave said, making it that much easier for Bellus to find the open targets.

After falling behind, 6-0, on the opening drive of the game,

Chelsea came right back to score in four plays on a sleeper play down the left sideline. Bohlender was wide open—Bellus could have completed it with his eyes shut.

From there it was off to the races. The teams traded touchdowns until the end of the half, with the Blackhawks holding a 24-19 advantage at half-time. Brandon stopped Chelsea on downs once in the first half, but Chelsea didn't stop the Blackhawks at all.

Chelsea quickly took the lead after the intermission on a three-yard run by Heard, capping an 85-yard drive.

Brandon scored again on its next drive. On Chelsea's next possession, the Bulldogs were forced into their only punt of the night. In four plays, the Blackhawks scored again, pushing the Bulldog deficit to 38-25.

Chelsea returned the favor over the next two series, scoring quickly on a 57-yard pass play to Starkey and forcing the Bulldogs to punt on their next possession. After the punt, Chelsea scored on six plays, capped by a 44-yard bomb to Starkey.

On the first play after the kickoff, a 71-yard run put Brandon out front for good.

Chelsea finished the season in a third-place tie with Tecumseh in the SEC and a 4-5 record over-all, 1-2 against non-conference opponents.

The Bulldogs' next game is next September.

SALLIE WILSON runs in the pack as the Bulldogs finished third in the state team cross country meet at Hudson Mills metropark last Saturday. Wilson finished 31st over-all, and third for the Bulldogs, behind Kasey Anderson and Amy Wolfgang.

Hornets Clinch Playoff Spot

Chelsea ended the season at 4-5, with a third-place finish in the SEC.

The Dexter Dreadnaughts ended the season on a sour note, losing to Stockbridge, 9-6 on a 25-yard field goal in the middle of the fourth quarter.

Kyle Menard scored Dexter's only touchdown on the Dreadnaughts' second possession on an eight-yard run. Dexter held the lead at that point, 6-0.

Stockbridge tied the game before the intermission on a short run.

The Dreadnaughts finished the season at 2-7 and 2-4 in the SEC, in a fifth-place tie with Milan.

Chad Ansheutz scored four touchdowns in leading the Tecumseh Indians to a 28-7 win over Mason.

Mason took the early lead, before Ansheutz began his heroics. He hit on 11-22 attempts, and after the early Mason score, seemed to move the ball at will. The Indians scored three times before half-time, twice in the second quarter.

Tecumseh, who finished in a third-place tie in the SEC with Chelsea, closed the season with a 5-4 over-all record.

The Milan Big Reds avoided a shut out on the last play of the game in a 28-8 loss to Monroe Jefferson.

Milan played the hosts tough in the first half, and were down only 7-0 going into the third quarter. However, Monroe scored two touchdowns in the third quarter to seal the win.

Ernest Walker scored the only Big Red touchdown on a 15-yard pass play from Bill Eaddy.

Milan finished at 2-7 over-all, and 2-4 in the SEC, in a fifth-place tie with Dexter.

The Pinckney Pirates ended the season with their ninth consecutive loss, 12-6 in overtime to the Hartland Eagles.

Both teams were winless going into the contest, Hartland's last victory coming on the last game of last season over Pinckney.

The Pirates scored first on a 25-yard pass from Ken Wicker to Brian Lavey, but the teams were tied at six at half-time. The score stayed that way until the overtime, when Hartland won the toss and scored on their first play. On the Pirates' overtime possession, Hartland ended the drive with an interception.

Illegal Trapping Sting Operation Nets 300 Arrests

A two-year undercover investigation of the illegal trapping and selling of fur-bearing animals came to a close when warrants were issued for the arrest of more than 300 people in eight states; 118 were Michigan residents. The sting operation was conducted by Wisconsin, Minnesota and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service law enforcement personnel.

The Mesabi Fur Co. was set up in Duluth to buy and sell furs during the investigation. Pine marten, fisher, otter and bobcat, as well as bear and deer parts, were being illegally trapped and sold in the Upper Peninsula. Fisher and pine marten are protected under Michigan law.

When using dried herbs, make sure to crumble them to release the flavor.

Deer Hunters Should Prepare Before Opener

At best, only one in seven or eight hunters will tag bucks during this year's deer hunting season, the Michigan department of Natural Resources predicts.

A majority of Michigan deer hunters, therefore, will eat their hearts out—instead of the much sought after venison—unless they plan wisely for a successful season.

To improve a hunter's chances of success, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) has published a list of recommendations by veteran deer hunters.

Writing for "Michigan Out-of-Doors," MUCC's monthly magazine, Tom Huggler, an Otisville author of three books on the outdoors, cites a number of pointers which will help both beginning and experienced deer hunters.

For example, scouting for deer before the season is a big factor as to whether a hunter will be successful, according to Huggler. Generally, he recommends that scouting take place a week or two before the season begins. Waiting until the evening before the opening day is foolish, Huggler says.

When searching for a prime hunting area, deer hunters should bear in mind where and how they plan to assemble their blind or stand.

Hunting right on top of a runway or breeding scrape is a sure way to scare off an incoming buck. Building a ground blind which does not blend in with the surroundings is quite likely to do the same thing.

A blind, preferably built a couple of weeks before the season, should be made of logs, stumps, or branches of downed trees. Ideally, the blind should be fashioned into a hillside or around a small depression so that it becomes a natural part of the surroundings, Huggler suggests.

A tree stand, legal only for archers, is best if it is located in a cluster of trees—with plenty of cover overhead—rather than along a single bare trunk. The optimum height for a stand is 15 to 20 feet above the ground.

Once your hunting site has been established, another important consideration is approaching the blind or stand. More times than not, hunters tend to sneak up on them. So on the way to and from your hunting spot, try taking three steps, then stop and count to 10 before moving again. The reason is that animals rarely move with measured tread through the woods and hunters should do likewise, Huggler points out.

While some deer hunters might have great success by using only one blind or stand during a season, certain veterans are strongly opposed to that practice.

Larry Hartwick, a Cass City hunter who tagged 23 whitetails to date, is one such exception. Hartwick hunts from several stands, relying upon time of season, weather, wind, general behavior of whitetails, and a hunter's hunch to choose the correct one.

He is especially careful to use different access routes to and from his stands and he rarely hunts the same one on two consecutive nights, claiming that human scent builds up from overuse.

Bob Knopf of Iowa is another hunter with his own approach to hunting deer in Michigan. A veteran hunter with 24 whitetails to his credit, Knopf says that he usually enters his stand with only 15 to 30 minutes of showing light left.

"That's the best time to hunt, plus there is less chance for human scent to contaminate the area," Knopf explains.

Hunters should have two stand locations to play the wind game. Being flexible also can help hunters to focus on deer movements that change with hunting pressure.

Another key point to consider when hunting for deer is clothing, which should be warm enough and not make a lot of noise as it brushes against cover.

"A faded camouflage outfit shows up like a light," says Ann Clark of Ohio. The Buckeye State hunter has killed 35 whitetails with a bow and arrow, including 15 Michigan deer in 15 years.

Although it is important to remain out of sight, hunters should make sure that they have the deer within their gunsight—to assure an accurate and humane kill.

Taking a poor shot, by not being familiar with the hunting equipment, often can result in a lengthy, frustrating, and sometimes fruitless pursuit of a wounded deer.

A final—but quite noteworthy—consideration is the hunter's physical fitness. Once you have killed that trophy buck, you will probably have to haul it back to your vehicle. Make sure that you are fit enough to do so. A brisk walk and a few morning exercises long before Nov. 15 can prepare a hunter for what can be a tremendous strain.

"A 150-pound buck pulls none too easily over bare ground for a hunter whose only exercise has been trips to the office water cooler," Huggler emphasizes.

Father of Veterans Day Remembered

The nation which forgets its defenders will be itself forgotten," said former President Calvin Coolidge.

As we doff our caps this month in reverence and remembrance of the legion that did not return, we pay special homage to Max C. Floto, a life-long Legionnaire who provided the spark that turned Nov. 11 into a national observance to honor our nation's war veterans.

The editors of The American Legion for God and Country magazine remind this month that Max C. Floto is "The Father of Veterans Day." A World War I veteran, he began campaigning for a holiday to honor veterans while attending the second meeting of his hometown Milton L. Bishop Post 301 Connellsville, Pa., Sept. 11, 1919.

The post passed his motion, and Floto presented it to the Pennsylvania department convention, which also gave their approval.

The holiday proposal also was among resolutions adopted by the first National American Legion Convention held at Minneapolis in 1919.

Floto then pushed for the state itself to recognize the day, and on March 31, 1921, the Pennsylvania legislature designated Nov. 11 as a legal holiday, the date on which the World War I armistice became effective.

Working with Thomas W. Scott, a fellow veteran from Connellsville, Floto and other supporters talked with, and wrote, congressmen.

On May 13, 1938, President Franklin D. Roosevelt established Nov. 11 as an official national holiday, Armistice Day.

In 1954, the name was changed to Veterans Day to make the observance appropriate for those who had served in two wars since the original measure was passed.

When efforts were made to change the observance to the fourth Monday in October, Floto successfully lobbied against the idea.

Floto was presented with a congressional award, recognizing him as the father of Armistice Day. He died Jan. 25, 1985, at the age of 88.

Products on Parade

Paula Blanchard

Don't get caught without your "SunPak."

I did recently. I was catching some good Michigan sun on the beach when my portable radio suddenly faded and died—the batteries had given up their last amps, or volts, or whatever.

With a "SunPak" I could have plugged my radio into the sun and continued to enjoy some tunes with my tan.

The "SunPak," an electronic marvel, is a solar collector that converts the sun's rays into electricity. It's wafer-thin, compact (the smallest unit can be folded to purse-size) and lightweight (at least lighter than my purse!). What's more, it's virtually indestructible and won't wear out, ever.

A new product development of Electronic Conversion Devices Inc., of Troy, the "SunPak" can supply enough electricity to power a radio, tape recorder or even a television set from sunup to sundown. In fact, it's even powerful enough to recharge the battery in your car.

"The 'SunPak' is a mini-dynamo designed for use outdoors, where electrical outlets are few and far between," said a company official. "But you could have these collectors in your house of garage and thereby save on your electrical bill."

The "SunPak" is available in three sizes—small (2 watts), medium (5 watts) and large (10 watts). The suggested retail costs range from $70 to $210 depending on the size. The largest weighs 3½ pounds; the smallest 1 pound.

Another new ECD product—a portable thermoelectric generator—also will supply your remote power needs, even if there is no sunshine.

The five-pound generator, which works on the same principal as the "SunPak" can be placed atop a wood-burning stove, for instance, and will convert the heat into electricity for lamps, well pumps and other appliances.

MICHIGAN BEST CAMPER FAMILY OF THE YEAR honors went to Lloyd and Joyce Schneider of Chelsea, so named by the Detroit Camper and Travel Trailer Show. The Schneiders will be honored on the first day of this year's show. Cobo Hall is the site of the show, from Nov. 30

Car-Deer Accidents Up In Past Year

More than 26,400 car-deer accidents occurred in Michigan last fall, resulting in five deaths, 1,299 injuries and millions of dollars in property damages.

Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officials advise motorists to be alert and on the look-out for deer on the roads, especially from now until the end of December, when deer are much more mobile than at other times of the year.

In addition to the loss of life and personal injuries, "car-deer incidents in the state accounted for more than $43,000,000 last year in property damages and individual deer value," says DNR Director Ronald O. Skoog. "Therefore, motorists should be particularly alert during the first few hours before sunrise and after sunset, especially near areas posted as deer crossings."

"Remember that deer often move in numbers, and some may lag behind. Buckle safety belts, use high beams if possible, slow down, and most importantly, be prepared to stop immediately if necessary."

Figures show that 4,911 more car-deer accidents occurred last year than in 1983.

The apple parer was invented in 1803 by Moses Coats.

Survey Reveals More Than Favorite Fish

What is the most popular sport fish in Michigan?

If you guessed trout or chinook salmon, you are not alone—but neither are you right.

The favorite of Michigan's anglers is bass, followed by walleye and yellow perch. Those are the findings of a survey by Edward Mahoney and Daniel Stynes, of the Michigan State University Department of Park and Recreation Resources, with Douglas Jester, assistant chief of the Fisheries Division of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Though anglers' preferences in fish may not sound all that important, they become critical factors in an economic and marketing segmentation study of sport fishing in the state.

For example, Mahoney says, many communities are currently competing for the salmon seekers' business because they are thought to be the anglers with the most money to spend. Because the study shows bass fishers spend as much per fishing trip as the more sought-after salmon anglers, many communities could attract more business by changing their marketing strategy.

It will be several months before data analysis is complete, but already indications are that the survey's findings will have a far-reaching effect on sport fishing in Michigan.

It's found that the anglers' average age is 43; 76 percent are married and 64 percent of their spouses also fish.

Michigan now allows spouses to fish free on their spouses' licenses, Mahoney points out. The discovery that so many people fish legally without their own licenses could bring about changes in licensing regulations.

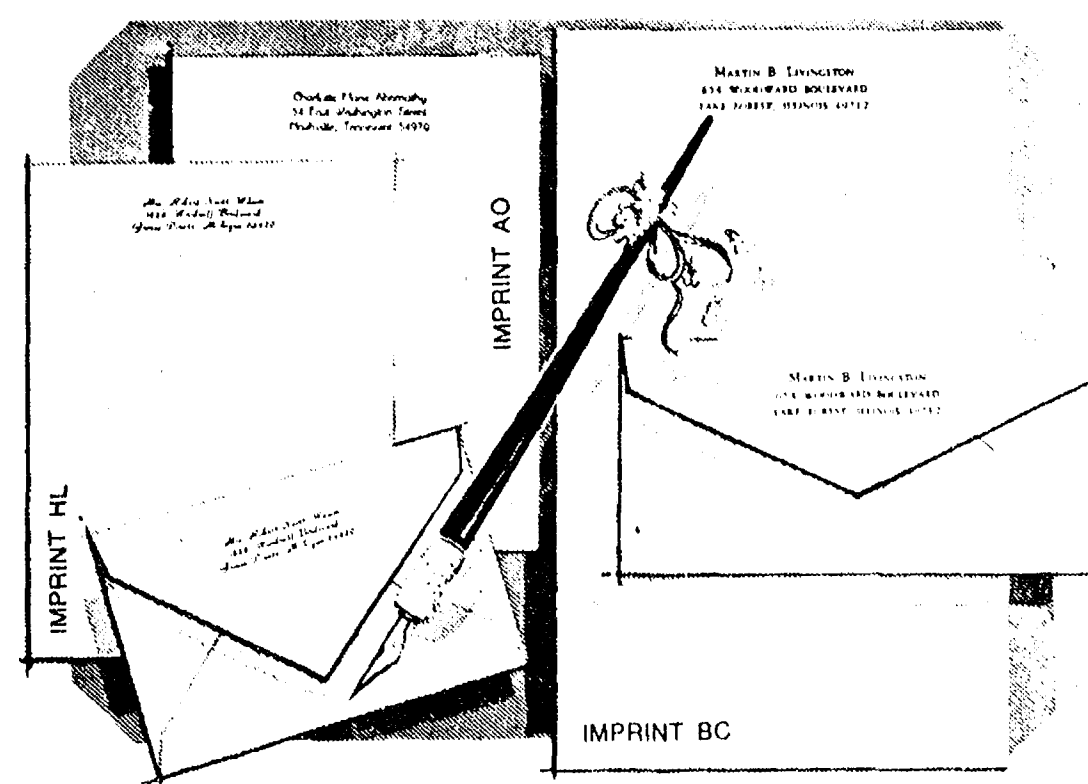

Not all of the study's findings are likely to cost the angler, however. The fact that most of the state's sport fishers live in urban, southwestern Michigan has led to state efforts to improve fishing opportunities in that part of the state, Mahoney says. The study's findings will be important in planning stocking programs and developing such facilities as boat landings.

Mahoney and Stynes sent a six-page questionnaire to a random sample of 40,000 of the state's 1.2 million licensed anglers, in and out of state.

The results will be released this fall in a series of reports dealing with basic licensing trends, the descriptive findings about anglers and a full market segmentation study. For economic and marketing purposes, that study will group the anglers by their preferences.

Funding for the project came from the DNR and the Michigan Sea Grant College Program, a cooperative effort of the University of Michigan and Michigan State University in Great Lakes research, education and extension.

New Book Published By L. Estleman

"Roses Are Dead," the second book in area writer Loren D. Estleman's Peter Macklin suspense series, has been published by the Mysterious Press and is currently available in hardcover locally.

The plot pits the Detroit hit man against a psychotic killer determined to murder a woman who has hired Macklin for protection and an international assassin hired by an unknown government agency to kill Macklin. Macklin's task is complicated by his divorce and a request from his estranged wife to prevent his son from following in his own murderous footsteps.

The Peter Macklin series began last year with the publication of "Kill Zone." The third and final title in the series will appear next year.

Estleman is a 1970 graduate of Dexter High school and a former staff writer for The Dexter Leader.

"Roses Are Dead" is now on the shelves in most area bookstores, including Borders and the Little Professor Book Center in Ann Arbor.

THESE ODD-LOOKING FELLOWS had the most original costumes in the 10-11 age group at the Kiwanis Club's annual competition prior to the traditional parade. First place went to Scott Dale, right; second place to the pirate in the middle, Mark Kemner; and third place to Erin Knoth, on the left.

BILL COELIUS' creation, right, whatever it is, took first place in the most original costume competition at the Kiwanis Club's annual event. Jeff Latimer, center, won the second prize, and Jennifer Cook, left, finished third. The category was 12 and over.

KELLY BELLUS, right, won $3 for her costume creation in the 12-and-over age bracket at the Kiwanis Halloween costume competition. Amy Carpenter, in the middle, was second, and clown Amy Thompson, on the left, was third.

4-5 AGE WINNERS in the most original costume competition were, from left, third place Kevin Gauss; second place Allen Kinel, and first place Garth Hammer. All first place winners won $3, second place winners, $2, and first place winners, $1, thanks to the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

Card of Thanks 17

THANK YOU Matt Schnaidt this one is for you. We have not forgotten your 12 years as Altar Server, at St. Mary's, Chelsea, nor your 7 years as usher. You balance both commitments with ease and joy. Your special "love" for serving God has radiated thru the years. All has not gone unnoticed, and unappreciated. Your unique dedication is a "guiding light" for all around you and those who also serve with you. Please accept this humble "Thank You" and may God's Blessings fill your life to "over-flowing," now and always. Only, never stop being YOU. Imagine if you will, Matt, this note inspired by Jesus, whom you serve, and as,

A Rose for Mary.

Memoriam 18

GREGORY L. STEPHENS

Gregory L. Stephens of Chelsea, who was killed in an automobile accident Oct. 27, lived most of his life in Jackson with his father and stepmother, Grover and Mildred Stephens. He attended Amy Firth grade school, and Northeast Middle school in Jackson before moving to Chelsea. He is survived by father and stepmother, Grover and Mildred Stephens of Jackson; two brothers, Glen Stephens of Grass Lake; one step-brother, Jess Hamlin of Indiana; two step-sisters, Sheila Cooper of Jackson and Maxine Munthe of California; step-grandmother, Pearl Ellis of Kentucky; a very dear friend, Becky Scripser of Chelsea. We wish to express our appreciation and many thanks to everyone for their kindness at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Stephens and family

239 N. Dwight St. Jackson, Mich. 49202.

Older workers can look to three nationwide programs for help in seeking job training and employment, the senior Community Service Employment Program, Job Service offices and the Job Training Partnership Act, according to a U. S. Department of Labor fact sheet.

OH, THE SPECTACLE, THE PAGEENTRY! North school children, decked out in their Halloween costumes, paraded through the Lanewood subdivision last week before enjoying parties in their classrooms afterward. Several hundred children took part on the blustery day, as did many of their teachers.

TRAVELING TOTS played the old bounce-the-balloons-under-the-tent game at their masquerade party at North school last Tuesday. About a dozen tots, and their parents, took part in the festivities, led by teacher Jill Taylor. On the left is Jillian Posler, daughter of Cathy and John Posler of W. Middle St. In the back is Alex Lovachis, son of Janice Lovachis of Gregory. On the right is David Harcastle.

Extension Service Offers Program On Child Safety

Accidents, not disease pose the greatest threat to your child's health. A child's natural curiosity and impatience can turn a situation into a potentially dangerous event.

Learn what you can do to protect your child by attending an educational program, sponsored by the Co-operative Extension Service. This program will feature extension home economist, Ann Knisel from Lenawee county and will be held at the extension office in the County Service Center on Nov. 14, at 10 a.m.

Ms. Knisel will demonstrate how to child-proof your house and explain what to look for in safe toys. Accidental poisoning, a far-too common event for many children, will also be discussed. The program is free.

Extension programs are open to all regardless of race, color, creed, sex, national origin or handicap.

County Historical Society To Discuss Museum-Office Plans

Washtenaw County Historical Society will discuss whether it should seek a museum/office/home at this time and will hear music first played here 150 years ago at its November meeting.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 14, at the Christian Reformed church, 1717 Broadway, Ann Arbor, with a pot-luck supper.

A long-range planning committee which has been meeting in recent months will report and ask member input.

The meeting is open to the public. Those attending are asked to bring their own table service and a dish to pass serving 8-10. Beverages will be furnished.

For more information call 663-8826.

Purdue Hall of Fame Awards Granted to 22 Chelsea High Bandsmen

Twenty-two members of the Chelsea High school band were given Purdue University Hall of Fame Band Foundation awards Monday night during the band's combined show with the Beach Middle school bands.

Those honored were chosen by band director Bill Gourley on the basis of their performance in the band over the past three or four years, their general preparation, and their over-all characters.

High school band members from across the country are given the award. Recipients are eligible to take a European trip, at their own expense, with other honorees.

Seniors receiving the certificates were Carrie Collinsworth, Kimberly Collins, Angela Brand, Michael Goodwin, Jennifer Lindsay, Shawn Quilter, David Mayer, Jennifer Kapolka, Melissa Keiser, Jackie Kelley, and Sommer Havens.

Honored juniors were Mary Rigg, Amy Richardson, Denise

Pfc. Tony R. Pegg Promoted in Marines

Marine Pfc. Tony R. Pegg, son of Leslie R. Pegg of 13177 Phal Rd., Grass Lake, has been meritoriously promoted to his present rank upon graduation from recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

Pegg received the early promotion for his superior performance during all phases of the 11-week training cycle, which emphasized physical conditioning, self-discipline and teamwork.

A 1985 graduate of Chelsea High school, he joined the Marine Corps in November 1984.

Right to Life Group Renting Big Billboard

Advertising space has been purchased on a billboard in Chelsea by the Washtenaw County Right to Life organization.

The billboard, located just north of the intersection of M-52 and Old US-12 on the west side of the road, features a photograph of a live fetus and the inscription: "They are forgetting about some one."

According to Mary Sponseller, who sits on the Washtenaw County Right to Life board, the Chelsea location was chosen because it is on a major road and it was available.

"We hope it will stay there indefinitely," Sponseller said.

Sponseller said there are 11 other similar signs spread around Washtenaw county, and that they are part of the Right to Life's educational effort.

"Education is the main thrust of our effort in Washtenaw county," Sponseller said. "We also give talks at the schools and on the University of Michigan campus."

Sponseller said that the signs were paid for out general contributions to Right to Life from throughout southeastern Michigan.

"We like the picture (on the signs) because it emphasizes life and not death and is not as offensive as a picture of an aborted fetus," Sponseller said.

NOTICE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA GARBAGE AND REFUSE COLLECTION

Under the new Village Residential Garbage and Refuse Collection Contract, three (3) containers or bags, not to exceed twenty (20) gallons in capacity will be collected and disposed of on designated collection days.

Collection days are Tuesday and Friday beginning at 6:00 a.m.

Containers or bags must be placed at the curb in front of the residence before collection time.

If Village Residents wish to place more than the designated three (3) containers or bags at the curb for pick-up, extra bags may be purchased at the Village of Chelsea Officers, 104 E. Middle Street, Chelsea, for $.50 each.

Refuse that can be placed at the curb for pick-up includes ashes (wrapped or placed in plastic bags), papers, magazines, tin, plastic or glass containers, lawn rakings, grass clippings, shrubbery trimmings and other solid materials not of a toxic nature. Garbage must be wrapped in paper before being placed in the collection containers during freezing months of the year.

The contractor is under no obligation to make a pick-up if it is not placed at the curb in proper containers.

Public Hearing Set on Proposal for Wine Cooler Containers Deposit

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has set a public hearing for 10 a.m., Nov. 19 to consider a proposed rule requiring a bottle deposit on all wine cooler containers.

The hearing, which will be held in the Law Building Auditorium at 525 W. Ottawa in Lansing, is the first formal step toward adoption of any administrative rule under Michigan law.

The rule, jointly proposed by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and Attorney General Frank Kelley, is a "local extension of the principles of the Michigan bottle bill," according to Thomas L. Washington, MUCC executive director.

MUCC led the fight to enact the bottle bill, which was approved by voters in 1976.

Under the new proposal, wine cooler containers sold in Michigan will carry a 10-cent deposit, the same charge now in effect for most non-refillable beer and soft drink containers.

"Michigan's bottle bill has served to reduce litter substantially along our streets, highways, parks, and front lawns," Washington said. "Additionally, it has reduced solid waste in our state by some 600,000 tons per year."

Washington has urged citizens to attend the Nov. 19 hearing or write to MUCC, Box 30235, Lansing 48909 to express their support for the proposed rule.

Youths Face Theft Charge

Charges are pending against three 16-year-old boys in connection with the theft of a three-wheel motorcycle, a leather jacket and other miscellaneous items, together worth more than $2,000, from the home of a Chelsea resident.

According to police, the theft was reported on the morning of Nov. 2 by Patrick Marzek, 118 Lincoln St. after he returned home. Police said the theft occurred on Nov. 1.

Police said that Marzek himself went looking for the motorcycle and found one of the three boys riding it at the gravel pit at Trist and Clear Lake Rds.

Police said the boy told Marzek that he had borrowed the vehicle from another boy who "had found it in the woods." When Marzek confronted both boys about the theft, police said, he still didn't receive a "good answer," and notified police.

Police said that when the two boys were questioned, they implicated a third boy in the crime.

The boys apparently took the jacket and miscellaneous items, including an army knife, water can and camouflage bag first, and went back for the motorcycle, loading it into a pick-up truck, police reported.

The motorcycle and jacket have been recovered. As of Tuesday the other items were still missing. Police said the boys claim they are not responsible for the missing items.

According to police, the trio entered the house through an unlocked door.

Whole Milk May Return to Schools

An amendment restoring whole milk as a choice in the school lunch program has passed in the U.S. House. In 1973, low-fat and skim milk were authorized for the first time in addition to whole milk. In 1979, the regulations were changed to require the serving of low-fat milk, skim milk and buttermilk, but not whole milk.

Re-instatement of whole milk in schools would be a victory for Farm Bureau. The organization has lobbied for the return of the whole milk product in schools since 1978.

Health Care Update For Folks Age 60 To 79!

NEW PLAN PAYS UP TO $182,700 FOR NURSING HOME BENEFITS — INCLUDING CUSTODIAL CARE

Getting well could spell financial ruin for today's senior citizen. According to a recent study on the plight of the elderly, 2 out of 3 Americans aged 66 and living alone, will be "impoverished" after spending just 13 weeks in a nursing home. Married persons aren't much better off.

But now there is a solution from Bankers Life and Casualty. It's a new kind of nursing home policy that pays benefits for...

• custodial, intermediate and skilled nursing care before, during and after Medicare payments and in addition to HMO benefits
• for up to five years depending on the length of time you select for any one sickness or injury.

There is more. With this new policy, you also select the daily benefit you want up to $100. And this amount will not change with the level of care you get.

To help you save money, the policy lets you decide when benefits start — from 0 days to 100 days. Other consumer features include...

- special "no premiums" rule during nursing home stay
- home convalescent care benefits
- full new benefits restored after get well period

Beach Windows Broken By Vandals

A vandal or vandals threw "three big rocks," through windows at Beach Middle school sometime over the week-end, Chelsea police reported.

The broken windows were near the front entrance of the Cameron pool.

Police said a similar incident occurred over the week-end in Dexter at Dexter High school, but they do not know if the incidents are connected.

Traffic Death Toll Drops With New Seat Belt Law

Traffic fatalities have decreased by 58.4% in Washtenaw county in the first three months that Michigan's safety belt use law has been in effect, according to Sheriff Ronald J. Schebil of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

In all, 10 people died in auto accidents in Washtenaw county between July 1 and Sept. 30, compared with 24 for the same period in 1984.

Washtenaw County's decline in fatalities is consistent with an over-all lowering of the traffic death rate in Michigan, where the death rate for vehicle occupants with safety belts available dropped by 20 percent in the three-month period covering July through September compared with the same three months in 1984.

In the case of all reported figures, officials caution that the results are preliminary and may subsequently be adjusted.

For example, "The decrease in traffic fatalities indicates that Michigan's safety belt use law is saving lives, just as many predicted it would," said Sheriff Schebil. "We intend to continue with our vigorous support of the law in the hope that the compliance rate will remain high and even more lives will be saved."

SUSAN OVERDORF was chosen by Chelsea High school as its candidate to compete for a $1,500 scholarship sponsored by the Century III Leaders Program. The program, set up by the Association of Secondary School Principals, each year chooses two scholarship winners, based on their scholarship, school and community involvement. Every person who applies for the program must take a rigorous current events examination. Should Susan win the scholarship, she will also receive a trip to a leaders conference in Williamsburg, Va., where she will have the chance to meet leaders from business, education and government. The state winners are announced in January.

Night of Knights Draws Crowd

Good weather and the promise of a great evening brought many families to North school the night of Oct. 24 for the sixth annual "Night of Knights."

All the effort and hard work that went into transforming the school into a medieval fair paid off as happy fairgoers thronged the halls.

Young and old found something of interest at every turn as groups of musicians performed in the halls and cafeteria throughout the evening and the many games challenged youngsters to try their luck.

Two new games were added this year to captivate the older children, "Konker Castle," a game from the Middle Ages run by teacher John Capper, and "Knock Hockey." Both games require some skill to win.

There was even a "Haunted Castle" for those brave enough to try the adventure. Part of the thrill was provided by a rope and pulley system letting the children bid farewell to ghosts and goblins by swinging over a menacing river.

Food was in ready supply as chicken and hotdogs disappeared quickly from the Great Banquet Hall. While there, diners were musically entertained and finally treated to the special magic of Boyer & Fitzsimmons.

The gym was also a center of activity, offering flying turtle rides, face painting, balloon darts and helium balloons. Children were also enthralled by a mime and the chance to try their hand at child size musical instruments.

It was a truly special evening, all made possible by the generous donation of time and effort on the part of many parents, students and teachers and the generosity of local merchants. The "Night of Knights" has truly evolved into a social event with great interaction between young and old with the promise of fun for all.

NEW GAME MARKETED: Winton (left) and Wade Riffe discuss the finer points of stellar navigation while playing "Traders of the Far Reach," the new science fiction role-playing game which they wrote and illustrated. Myrie (Mrs.) Riffe did the graphics layout and covers.

Chelsea Family Markets New Role-Playing Game

Wade Riffe's interest in role-playing games sparked an idea last February. "Why don't you two guys write one," Mrs. Riffe said. And they did. The result is "Traders of the Far Reach," which is now selling at Chelsea Office Supply and the Dexter Card Shop. It has, as well, been picked for promotion by a Southern California distributor and by hobby shops in Michigan and Ohio.

Preparation of the game took eight months. Winton found it necessary to do three months of intensive reading in astronomy to "get it right," resulting in the galactic map and the star atlas portions of the game, as well as the navigation system.

This past week-end the Riffes did their first show at the Metro Detroit Gamers Winter Convention which was held at Dearborn Center, an event attended by 1,500 gamers.

The Riffes were gratified by the public response to their endeavor.

Originally aimed at an age group of 14 to 30, playing experience has shown the interest group to begin about 10 and to extend beyond middle age.

Myrie trained in Fine Arts, attended the University of Northern Colorado and the University of Oregon. Mr. Riffe has a BA in English from Northern Colorado and a Master of Fine Arts in English from Oregon. His thesis, a poetry collection, was published in 1972 by Pilot Press of Grand Rapids.

Son Wade, a Chelsea High freshman, collects games and is interested in music. He is a member of Boy Scout Troop 448 of Dexter.
