Walter Prater Dies Friday While Hunting

Walter Prater, 39, owner of Walt's Barber Shop on Main St. in Chelsea, died Friday afternoon of an apparent heart attack while trying to move a deer he had shot, according to police.

Police said Prater, and a companion, William Rhines, had been hunting that morning just northwest of Stockbridge. While trying to take a deer out of the woods, Prater collapsed just before noon. Rhines immediately performed cardiopulmonary resuscitation, then notified the Ingham County Sheriff's office.

Prater, a resident of Stockbridge, was dead on arrival at Foote Hospital in Jackson.

Prater was a member of the Chelsea Civic Foundation.

Funeral services were held on Monday at Caskey Funeral Home in Stockbridge.

High School Bond Issue Paid in Full

Your school taxes have dropped.

Chelsea school district residents are now paying .45 mills less due to a drop in the debt retirement levy, which was issued in 1956 to pay off the high school building.

The 1984 debt retirement levy was 3.25 mills. The 1985 levy is 2.8 mills, which is paying for Beach Middle school and the various building additions at all four schools, and the bus garage.

A resident with property with a state equalized value of $30,000 will now be paying $13.50 less in school taxes.

Total operating millage remains at 35.62 mills. The next millage vote will be next June.

MATT KOENN, 17, shot this big buck last Friday on the family farm in Sylvan township. It was his first deer ever. Matt was out hunting with father Charlie and brother Charlie when he spotted the nine-pointer at about 7:30 that morning. He had to chase the animal into a swamp to retrieve it.

Village Buys 5.73-Acre Parcel for Site of New Sewage Treatment Plant

The Village of Chelsea's offer of $28,000 for slightly more than five acres of farmland to be used for the site of the new wastewater treatment plant has been accepted by owners Henry and Martin Merkel.

That's the word from councilman Joe Merkel, who has been handling the negotiations for the village. Merkel said that only legal details remain, but there "shouldn't be any problem." He said the village should take possession by the end of the year.

The price of $28,000 was the appraisal value of the land. Swisher Realty Co. of Ann Arbor handled the appraisal this fall.

The initial asking price for the 5.73 acre parcel had been $5,000 per acre before the appraisal, Merkel said. That worked out to $28,650.

The land is adjacent to the current plant, located off McKinley St.

The purchase price of the land is one of the items covered by the

Village Seeking Full-Time Assistant Administrator

The Village of Chelsea is looking for a full-time assistant village administrator.

Village administrator Frederick Weber has reviewed resumes from 19 applicants. He said the assistant will have a background in either public administration or engineering.

Weber said the salary of the position is "negotiable."

Environmental Protection Agency grant that should ultimately cover 55 percent of the project. That works out to about $11,700 as the village's share, plus incidental expenses.

The entire project, which has been ordered by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, is estimated to cost about $4.35 million.

The land, which is now being used as farm land, is zoned for residential development.

United Way Fund Exceeds Campaign Goal

Chelsea United Way has exceeded its 1985-86 goal of $68,000. Dave McAllister, president of the Chelsea United Way board of directors, announced that as of Nov. 15, contributions totaled $69,535 representing 102% of this year's campaign objective.

"Last minute increases in virtually every division pushed the total over the top during the past week," commented McAllister. "The community response has been absolutely tremendous. This is the first time in a number of years that we actually reached our goal this early in the campaign year. We didn't hit the 100% mark in last year's campaign until early in 1985."

Lang Ramsey and Dave Prohaska, 1985 campaign chairmen, along with Chuck and Helen Lancaster, honorary chairpersons for the 1985-86 United Way fund-raising effort, expressed their thanks to everyone who helped make this year's drive such a success. Ramsey commented, "It's a mutually complementary effort. Our volunteer campaign workers pounded the pavement, knocked on many doors, and met with numerous industrial, business, commercial, educational, and professional folks. Our mail campaign workers sent out lots of letters, and The Chelsea Standard gave us front-page billing for the entire campaign. But the response from the community was what really counted! We did it with everyone's help, and I do mean everyone."

Prohaska concluded, "We hope that those people who planned to give but have not yet contributed will follow through. We certainly have more needs than we have money. Our allocation committee disburses the funds we collect according to funds we receive and the needs of our member agencies. There is no doubt that there are many fine agencies that can use an extra boost. In addition, we may be called upon to assist in such emergencies as disaster aid for the victims of the recent volcano eruption in Colombia or other such humanitarian causes. The need never ceases, and fortunately, neither does the giving. Thanks to you... it works... for all of us."

The Chelsea United Way is still accepting contributions which may be sent to P.O. Box 176, Chelsea 48118.

Dave McAllister, vice-president for 1986. Not pictured is Jerry Ashby, treasurer for 1985-86. Trustees who were re-elected include Arthur Dills, Howard Holmes, Willard Johnson, and George Palmer. Sheridan Springer was elected for his first term.

Civic Foundation Elects New Officers, Board

At the 1985 annual meeting of the Civic Foundation of Chelsea, John W. Mitchell was elected president and succeeds Walter F. Hamilton, Jr.

Elected vice-president was trustee Dave McAllister and re-elected were Ann Feeney, secretary, and Jerry Ashby, treasurer.

The new board of trustees consists of the four officers plus Art Dills, Dudley Holmes, Sr., Will Johnson, George Palmer, Ray Van Meer, Bill Nuffer, Charles Cameron, Marilyn Chasteen, Peter Flintoff and Sheridan Springer.

During the year the distribution committee allocated $7,000 in grants and has approximately $13,000 in the treasury.

Dorothy Coons and Ann Robinson of the U-M Institute of Gerontology presented an audiovisual report of their experimental project aiding victims of Alzheimer's disease in Wesley Hall of the Chelsea Methodist Retirement Home.

Among the most valuable aspects of the U-M-Chelsea approach to Alzheimer treatment, they emphasized, are the special environment and the unique quality of nursing care for elderly, mentally impaired patients.

There are only a dozen or so patients in Wesley Hall so that the residents feel like members of a family instead of faceless occupants of an institution.

Each room is private and individually furnished, often with furnishings from the patients' own homes.

Nurses and other staff members coalesce with the residents in a new dimension of tender and loving care which is a vital part of the therapy.

Through an audiovisual presentation intended for national TV networks, financed in part by a grant from the Civic Foundation, Coons and Robinson will have a way of exhibiting their precious molecule of Alzheimer health care to the world.

There were three additional reports at the meeting from other grants made by the Civic Foundation.

Jo Ann Carruthers reported on the work of the Parent to Parent program sponsored by Faith in Action.

Two Hunters Shot Sunday in Waterloo Area

On the third day of Michigan's 1985 firearm deer season, two hunters were injured, one of them seriously, when they were shot in an open field near the intersection of M-52 and Waterloo Rd. near Chelsea.

With darkness prevailing in the area designated as state-owned land in the Waterloo Recreation Area, the two hunters were hit by a single blast from a 16-gauge shotgun allegedly fired by a nearby hunter, who had come to the hunting area accompanied by his son.

During an impromptu interview with one of the victims, he related that both he and his brother were clothed in bright orange garments.

"My brother even had orange gloves on," the man noted.

Jerry Alan Petrie, 32, and his brother, Fred Thompson, both of Dearborn, were apparently wounded by the same shot. The two were treated at the emergency room of Chelsea Community Hospital following the incident early Sunday morning, Nov. 17, before Petrie was transported to the University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor.

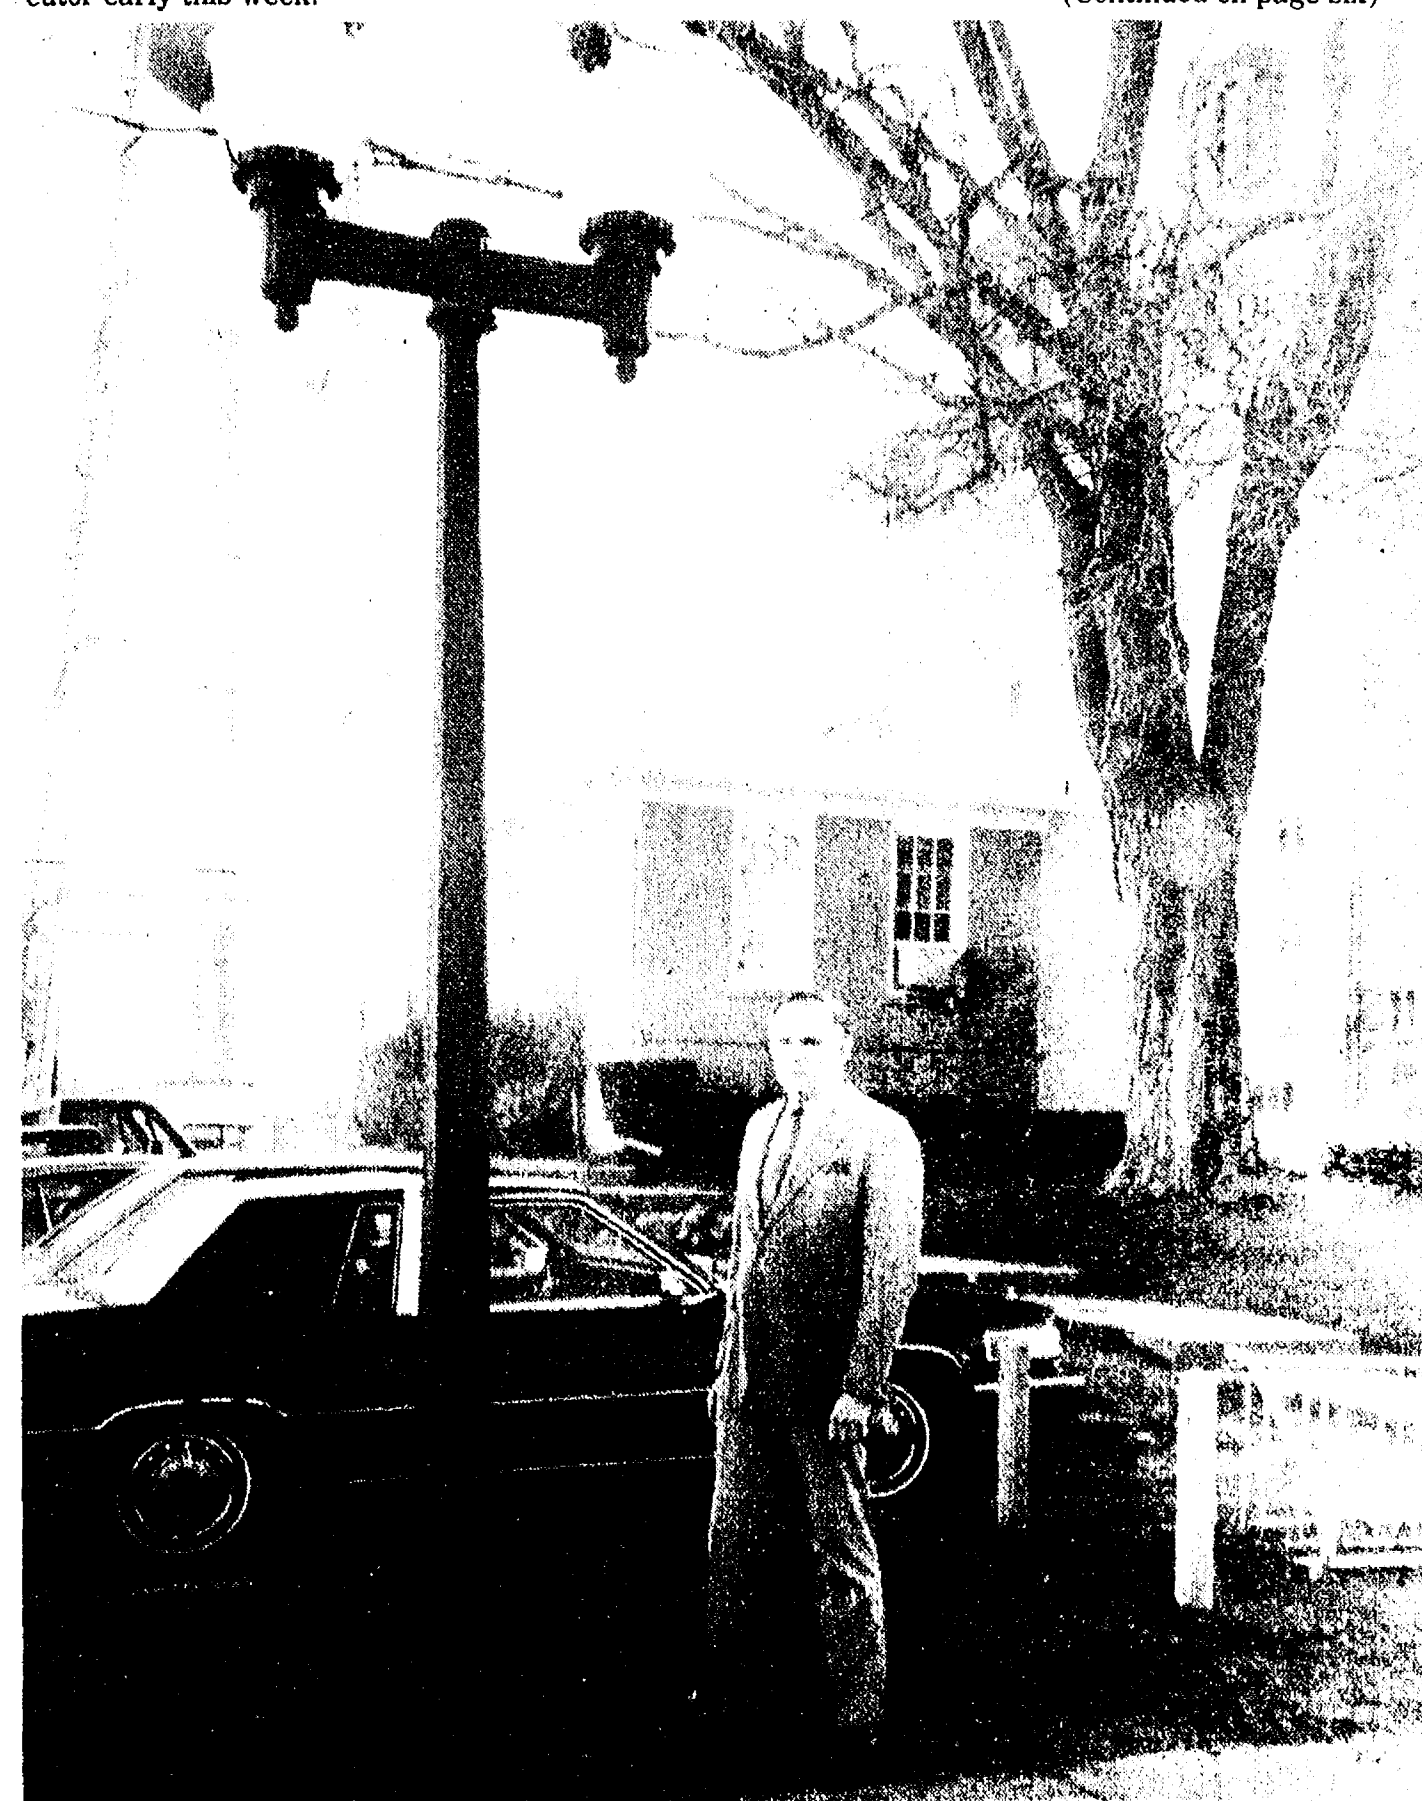

Petrie's injuries included a skull fracture and injuries to his left arm, his brother explained in a chance meeting with a reporter from The Dexter Leader/The Chelsea Standard. The reporter viewed six stitches put in by Dr. Pat Munson at the CCH emergency room to close a scalp laceration.

After the men were wounded, they apparently went with the man suspected of firing the shot and his son to the Chelsea Community Hospital, stopping first at the Chelsea Police Department offices.

Personnel at Chelsea police headquarters notified the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department since the incident was reported to have occurred beyond the limits of the village. Deputy Thomas F. Spiess of the WCSD responded to investigate the report.

Investigation of the incident continues by the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

The case was to be reviewed by the Washtenaw County Prosecutor early this week.

AN OLD-TIME STREET LIGHT has been set up between Merkel's Home Furnishings and McKune Memorial Library as a kind of test of public reaction to plans by the Downtown Development Authority to install the lights throughout the downtown area. Bob Merkel, above, along with John Mitchell, has been investigating the possibility of replacing many of the downtown's street lights with the model above. This model, Merkel said, was chosen because it most closely matches the style most prevalent in the area. He said there are about four kinds in use. The lamp post above, made by the Spring City Electrical Manufacturing Co. in Spring Hill, Pa., is on loan from Dynamic Industrial Sales Co. of Farmington Hills. It is made of cast iron.

Chelsea claimed a Class C state championship. They weren't known as the Chelsea Bulldogs then. They were called "the Purple and Gold boys," and they were, perhaps the Class C State Champions of 1928.

There were no AP sportswriters' polls in 1928. Chelsea had an unpaid, part-time coach, uniforms for 13 players, and a football field which was, in fact, a field "composed of gentle rolling land very suitable for such an occasion as football."

The players had to clean it off and lime yard-line markings in before each game, but as Lawton Steger, star halfback of the 1928 team, said, "We were real proud of our football!"

Chelsea lost only one game during the 1928 season, and that one under somewhat dubious circumstances.

Governor Proclaims "Solvency Day"

Governor James Blanchard certified that Michigan has its financial house in order for the first time since 1975, and said the state's regained solvency puts it in a much stronger position to deal with its problems.

The certification that over $800 million in an accumulated debt has been repaid will trigger a Dec. 1 income tax cut of .25 percentage points to a 5.1 percent rate, and transfer a previously-earmarked cigarette tax to the general fund.

The Governor said he is encouraged by a new Senate Republican tax plan with an earlier rollback and property tax relief, and expects an agreement—although perhaps not yet this year—on when to drop the tax back to a 4.6 percent level.

Blanchard proclaimed Friday, Nov. 8, as "Solvency Day" and next week as "Solvency Week" to celebrate the completion of his financial recovery plan enacted in 1983 to deal with the debt—which had been masked by accounting gimmicks—as well as a $900 million deficit in that fiscal year caused by a recession.

The plan included boosting the income tax rate to 6.1 percent, from 4.6 percent, cutting that year's spending, and reducing state employment.

Solvency Day "is a day for Michigan citizens to take pride in the fact that their sacrifice and hard work have made Michigan solvent and an example for the rest of the nation. Our financial health makes possible economic health and jobs, and that makes for a future. Our future is the brightest it has been than at any time in our history," Blanchard said.

He said when the next recession hits, the state will be better able to deal with it because of stronger institutions from increased aid for schools and colleges, a bigger budget stabilization fund, fewer state employees, and a more diversified state economy.

The Governor said that with the Dec. 1 drop in the income tax, "We are keeping our pledge that the temporary tax was and is temporary."

The cut means a $175 million tax cut this fiscal year, while the transfer to the general fund of a 10-cent per pack cigarette tax carries $90 million this year, both of which were reflected in the current year budget.

Blanchard has proposed, and the House has approved, dropping the income tax rate back to 4.6 percent on May 1 (instead of Oct. 1, 1987 as now set in law), but Senate Republicans are pushing a new plan with a Dec. 1 rollback.

They contend that since the tax increase was intended to deal with a problem that is now solved, it should be rescinded immediately.

But the Governor said that would mean a return to "voodoo bookkeeping," since he does not trust Senate Fiscal Agency figures which indicate the earlier rollback could be accomplished and still leave the state with a surplus.

But when asked if his May dates were negotiable, Blanchard said, "I have to believe there is some way to work it out. My concern is the financial plan remain on track."

Senate Finance Committee Chairman Norman Shinkle (R-Lambertville) said he will propose advancing that to Nov. 11, which would coincide with the beginning workweek of a solvent state government. He said the change would still leave about $7 million in a special account which had been set up to reverse the accounting measures.

The Governor said the inclusion by Republicans of senior citizen property tax relief "could be a major breakthrough" because they now support moving in that direction. He had proposed a more general expansion of property tax relief through more generous income tax credits.

Blanchard and Treasurer Robert Bowman certified the elimination of the debt during a Detroit press conference, which was linked by telephone to conferences in 10 other cities around the state.

Additionally, Bowman sent letters to the two major New York credit rating agencies informing them that the state has fully returned to accepted accounting practices. The state has won the highest credit rating on short-term debts from the agencies, but is still seeking improvement in its long-term bond rating.

Congregational Ladies Fellowship Holds Craft Sale

The annual bake and craft sale of the Congregational church was held on Friday, Nov. 15 at the church. It was a brisk winter day but many people attended the sale and between 11 and 2 enjoyed a bowl of chili, hot dog and a piece of home-made pie.

Some deer hunters stopped on their way up north to stock up on baked goods and tell us some stories of their last hunt and where they were headed this year.

This was the first time a lunch was served and it may become an annual addition to the sale.

The lucky raffle tickets belonged to Linda Nimke receiving a decorated cake of her choice made and donated by Grace Johnston, Connie Musolf winning the Log Cabin Quilted Jacket made and donated by Lois Marshall, the cross stitched Christmas tablecloth won by Myra Colvin, made and donated by Cecil Bernath.

The $1,250 that was taken in on Friday will go toward improvements in the church. The sale was sponsored by the Women's Fellowship of the church.

Manchester High School Presenting Helen Keller Story

It's time again for the theatrical curtain at Manchester High school to open and present its first show of the 1985/86 school year. "The Miracle Worker," the real-life story of Helen Keller, will be performed by the MHS players.

Helen Keller of course was blind and mute, and no one knows what her ultimate fate might have been had she not come under the care of Annie Sullivan. "The Miracle Worker" is mainly concerned with the emotional relationship between Annie Sullivan and Helen Keller.

Helen, trapped in her own secret world, is bitter, violent, spoiled, and at first almost animal like. Only Annie realizes that there is a mind waiting to be rescued from the dark silence. Annie's eventual success with Helen comes only after some of the most turbulent, violent, and emotion-packed scenes ever presented on the stage. It's sure to be an exciting evening of dramatic entertainment.

Both cast and crew have been working very hard toward having a successful show. "The Miracle Worker" will be performed Nov. 22 and 23 at the high school auditorium at 8 p.m.

Girl Scout Troop Has a Busy Week

Chelsea Girl Scout Troop No. 301 has had a lot of activity in the last week.

Our new Brownie Troop consists of four first graders and five second graders. Troop No. 301 meets at the North school on Mondays right after school. Mrs. Lois Ann Kapp and Mrs. Chris Gaunt, both former Girl Scouts, are also new leaders in Girl Scouting.

Both leaders would like to extend an invitation to all North school girls to join or visit the troop. If you have any questions please call Lois Ann Kapp at 475-2527.

With our troop being a newly established troop we were very honored and proud when Mrs. Mac Packard, of the Chelsea VFW Auxiliary No. 4076 and "Grandpa Mac" Packard presented us with our very own American flag. Mr. and Mrs. Packard showed us how our American flag should be honored and taken care of. Mrs. Packard also gave us literature for us to share with our families.

That evening, Nov. 4, our troop had our Investiture Ceremony where our girls became "really and truly" Brownies. We began our ceremony with the pledge of allegiance to our newly received flag. Our girls acted out the Brownie Story by Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Girl Scouts. Each girl also participated in reciting "Hold Fast Your Dreams," by Louise Driscoll.

Leader Lois Ann Kapp was honored to rededicate and pin her first Girl Scout leader, Mrs. Bonnie Housman as a troop committee member. Mrs. Bonnie Housman is also Mrs. Kapp's mother.

Other mothers who were also former Girl Scouts, who were rededicated and pinned by their daughters or nieces were, Lois Ann Kapp, leader, and Chris Gaunt, co-leader; committee members: Mrs. Lorie Boyd, Mrs. Bonnie Housman and Mrs. Sharon Housman, both of Hudson, Mrs. Karen Lentz and Mrs. Kathy Pratt.

Our troop was very pleased and honored to have the Chelsea Medical Center accept our request to be our troop sponsor. The Chelsea Medical Center is a community service of great importance and we thank them for being our sponsor.

Once again on Sunday, Nov. 10, our six-day-old flag played a most important part in our troop life. The girls very proudly presented our flag when they marched in the Veteran's Day parade despite the rain. Our girls were very proud of the American flag, and as American citizens, to be participating in honoring our veterans.

After the parade the girls were treated to refreshments by the VFW Auxiliary. I was also very thrilled to see how the girls were thanked by our veterans for marching in the parade and saw each girl swell with pride.

We thank you our American veterans for inviting us and most of all for the dedicated Americans you all are.

Lois Ann Kapp
Troop Leader.

Insurance Buyers Offered Booklets Comparing Policies

Consumers looking for the best buys in home and auto insurance can do so more easily by using two new publications released by the Michigan Insurance Bureau.

The results of a survey of home and auto insurance rates conducted by the Insurance Bureau are contained in two reports entitled, "Do Not Buy Car Insurance Until You Read This," and "Buyer's Guide to Home and Renter's Insurance."

The auto insurance survey gives a brief explanation of no-fault auto insurance coverages and eligibility requirements, and displays rates for four sample driving households in 16 areas of the state.

The home insurance survey explains eligibility requirements, describes the coverages provided by the policies in the four sample households, and lists rates charged for each household in 13 areas of the state.

The reports are intended to emphasize the importance of shopping for insurance by making insurance buyers more aware of the coverages they need as well as how much the cost of those coverages can vary among companies.

Copies of the new booklet are available at no cost by writing to Auto Survey or Home Survey at the following address: Michigan Insurance Bureau, P.O. Box 30220, Lansing 48909.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

My great-grandfather arrived in America in 1850, a refugee from the potato famine in Ireland which resulted in death by starvation of more than 1,500,000 peasants and the emigration of a million courageous survivors. Patrick Connelly's steerage ship landed in Boston. He and his brawny companion from County Mayo either knew enough English, or found an English speaking Irishman, to learn that there was no work in New England for unskilled laborers. There was, however, much work for section hands on a railroad that was being built in Minnesota. Heartened at the prospect of employment, the young Irishmen walked to Minnesota where jobs did indeed await them. They laid rails from Minnesota to Wisconsin, learning more and more English every mile of the way.

Patrick married and begat a son who became a farmer and begat my father in 1881 in Whitewater, Wis. Nowhere in this raw Republic between Massachusetts and Minnesota were there schools to provide proper education in the Gaelic language. Members of Congress coldly turned their backs on the plight of the Irish immigrants—and millions of Germans, Poles, Swedes and Italians who flooded our plains—insisting that the newcomers learn to speak, read and write in English.

Our Chelsea, named after an area in London, is full of German descendants with names like Riemenschneider, Schultz, Guenther, Kalmbach and Eisenbeiser, all of whom speak English quite well. English is not a pretty language. It lacks the melodious rhythms of the romance languages and it seems to have more exceptions than rules. Imagine a young Irishman or a fraulein from Bavaria trying to pronounce English words involving "ough." How could they know the difference in the sounds of though, through, bough, rough, and trough?

My mother, who became a journalist and novelist, was a rural Missouri school teacher at 16. While she was teaching her students the vagaries of i before e, her horse would take the bucket and bang it against the side of the school well to let everyone know he was thirsty. My father became a financial writer on LaSalle St. in Chicago. Here I am writing for Ford, G.M., Chrysler, Burroughs and The Chelsea Standard in Michigan. My sister wrote ad copy for the White Sewing Machine Co. All three of my sons earn their living as writers. Every word in English.

Now, however, there is a lot of pressure for bilingual and multi-lingual teaching in America. It is opposed by many U. S. citizens who say, "Let the immigrants pour in from Puerto Rico, Mexico and Asia, but don't educate them in Spanish or Vietnamese. Let them join the English speaking American melting pot."

There is a propaganda group in our country named U. S. English, headed by distinguished American educator and U. S. Senator, S. I. Hayakawa. They are urging passage of a constitutional amendment declaring English as the official language of the United States. This would not prohibit the publication of foreign language newspapers or telephone books in the United States, nor foreign language shop signs or ethnic festivals, but it would block the notion of bilingual federal election ballots—paid for, in part, by English speaking residents of Chelsea.

It doesn't happen here in Washtenaw county, but the Federal Government requires 375 U. S. jurisdictions elsewhere to provide voting ballots in languages other than English. What is more, ethnically cunning politicians are conducting special voter registration drives for people who wish to vote in their native language.

English today is overwhelmingly the second language in international use. It is amazing to hear how well people of so many ethnic origins can communicate in English during interviews with our foreign TV correspondents. Yet there are millions of Hispanic Americans from Spanish Harlem to San Antonio to California who apologize, "No esika de Inglis!"

Our ancestors on American soil thought well enough of our freedoms and our willingness to meld with peoples of other origins so that we united in the use of a language brought to us by the Pilgrims 365 years ago. We should work with affection and understanding among the leaders of all ethnic groups to unite them in this one-language tradition.

We're off to a good start. The best liked and most used foreign word throughout the non-English speaking world is Okay!

THIS LOVELY CHRISTMAS CACTUS opened to full bloom last week to the delight of Sharon Grau and her husband, Earl. The plant is five years old and measures 38" in diameter. Sharon bought the plant when it was just a few inches high, and it even survived a move from Ypsilanti

Michigan Farm Bureau Protests Superfund Financing Proposal

A proposal to finance the Superfund (Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act), in part, with an increase in federal gasoline and petroleum taxes will be opposed by Farm Bureau. The U. S. House is currently debating reauthorization of the Superfund. "We oppose such a tax because it does nothing to discourage further environmental pollution and has no relationship to the production or the improper and unsafe disposal of hazardous wastes," said Al Almy, director of public affairs for the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"In addition, gasoline and petroleum products are major and costly inputs for production agriculture. At this time, when Congress is debating a 1985 farm bill amid the poor financial conditions and credit problems of agriculture, it seems inconsistent to legislatively increase the cost of producing farm products," Almy said.

Using gasoline and petroleum taxes for the Superfund would be a major shift away from the historical use of these revenues for transportation, Almy said.

Confidentiality

In Funeral Service professional competence is of critical importance. Errors cannot be corrected. There are no second chances. However, the relationship between Funeral Director and his clientele often entails confidential matters of such a nature that much more than his competence is involved. In these cases personal integrity is probably more of a factor than professional ability in continuing to earn the trust of families served. But a Funeral Director does not have to ask himself if he has that trust. The community will answer that question for him soon enough.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I'm sick and tired of seeing criminals let go on some legal technicality. Everytime I pick up the newspaper or watch the news on television, some violent criminal act has been committed against some innocent person. People more and more can find themselves ending up as victims, and possibly seriously injured victims. It may be time for Michigan to reinstate capital punishment for the lawbreaker who kills another human being. These criminals, whose violent acts ends in murder, must be held responsible for their actions.

The news is packed with reports of violent criminal acts each day; the criminals just seem to walk away from their trials with nothing more than a slap on the wrist. Proper and fitting punishment must be handed down to the lawbreakers of violent crime. If not, the increase of violent criminal acts in our society will continue. I would think one of the most fundamental reasons for the existence of capital punishment is its effectiveness in deterring serious and violent criminal acts. Modern methods of execution, though relatively quick and painless, are particularly repulsive to most people. For this reason, capital punishment serves its purpose of deterring violent crime.

Capital punishment would seem to be the only effective deterrent to murder, another important related reason to reinstate capital punishment is that the death penalty may be the only fitting punishment for murder. People forget the most important element in any murder—the victim. What about the rights of the victim? The news media seldom mention the victim. Instead, they focus their attention on the criminal, often from a sympathetic angle. The victim's life and welfare should be valued and secured; it must be known that anyone who takes the life of another forfeits his own. Should Michigan reinstate capital punishment so everyone in society can feel safe? William H. Navarre, Jr.

The Farm Museum's Victorian Christmas is becoming a tradition, presenting a warm and heart-felt bit of nostalgia. The old Really farmhouse comes alive with all the Christmas preparations. New Michigan 4-H Cookbook Now Available

"Savor It," the new Michigan 4-H Cookbook, is the culmination of many years spent by 4-H'ers perfecting their skills in growing, preserving, and preparing foods. The recipes are easy-to-read and offer a wide variety of food categories. To order "Savor It," call Terry Boone, county extension agent, at 973-9510. The book is available for only $6.50.

Purpose of the cookbook project is to raise funds for not only the Michigan 4-H Foundation, but for individual county programs as well. Each year, thousands of dollars in college scholarships are awarded to Michigan 4-H'ers. In addition, funds for trips to county and state fairs, conferences, summer camps, and awards are made possible through the financial support of the private sector.

The cookbook sale is just another way to supplement the much-needed funds to help 4-H'ers participate in the many activities which so greatly contribute to the constructive development of these young people.

away from the minimum security camp on Saturday morning, according to camp officials.

Police said that apparently, on Sunday, Chapman decided to give himself up and telephoned the camp about his intentions.

Early Sunday morning, at about 2:30, a van full of people stopped at the Chelsea Mobil station to ask directions to the technical school. A suspicious gas station employee then telephoned Chelsea police, who made the arrest at Sibley Rd. and M-52.

Chapman was reportedly in the van, along with his brothers, and the driver, Cynthia Straughn.

Chapman was serving nine months to five years for receiving stolen property.

Health Care Update For Folks Age 60 To 79!

NEW PLAN PAYS UP TO $182,700 FOR NURSING HOME BENEFITS — INCLUDING CUSTODIAL CARE

Getting well could spell financial ruin for today's senior citizen. According to a recent study on the plight of the elderly, 2 out of 3 Americans aged 66 and living alone, will be "impoverished" after spending just 13 weeks in a nursing home. Married persons aren't much better off.

But now there is a solution from Bankers Life and Casualty. It's a new kind of nursing home policy that pays benefits for...

• custodial, intermediate and skilled nursing care before, during and after Medicare payments and in addition to HMO benefits
• for up to five years depending on the length of time you select for any one sickness or injury.
There is more. With this new policy, you also select the daily benefit you want up to $100. And this amount will not change with the level of care you get.

To help you save money, the policy lets you decide when benefits start — from 0 days to 100 days. Other consumer features include...

• special "no premiums" rule during nursing home stay
• home convalescent care benefits
• full new benefits restored after get well period

Youth Soloist Competition Winner With Symphony

Sunday, Nov. 24, at 3:30 p.m. in the Michigan Theater, Ann Arbor, the Ann Arbor Symphony will present its second concert of the 57th season.

Conductor Carl St. Clair will open the program with Mozart's Overture to "The Impresario." The orchestra will then demonstrate its commitment to contemporary American music by performing Minor Heresies by Gregory Youtz which was premiered in Ann Arbor in 1982. Youth soloist, Cathy Cho, will then play the first movement of Paganini's Concerto No. 1 for Violin and Orchestra in D major, Opus 6. The concert will conclude with the much-loved Symphony No. 5 by Tchaikovsky.

A special feature of this program will be the performance of Youth Soloist Competition Winner, Cathy Cho, a 15-year-old violinist from Ann Arbor. This extraordinarily talented young musician has previously performed with the Detroit Symphony and abroad in Germany, Denmark, and Sweden.

Tickets are available at the Michigan Theater Box Office and by phone at (313) 668-8397. Tickets at the door will be sold beginning one hour before performance time.

Preceding the Sunday afternoon concert, a special concert prelude program will be open to the public free of charge from 1:30 to 2:30 in the Michigan Room at the Michigan League near the Michigan Theater. Musicologist and lecturer Edna Kilgore will discuss Tchaikovsky's Fifth Symphony and complimentary dessert and beverage will be served.

This special educational series is made possible through the generosity of Great Lakes Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Ann Arbor Symphony Concert Slated Nov. 24

On Sunday, Nov. 24, at 3 p.m., the Symphony Band of Ann Arbor, under the direction of Victor Bordo, will perform the last concert in the Slauson Auditorium.

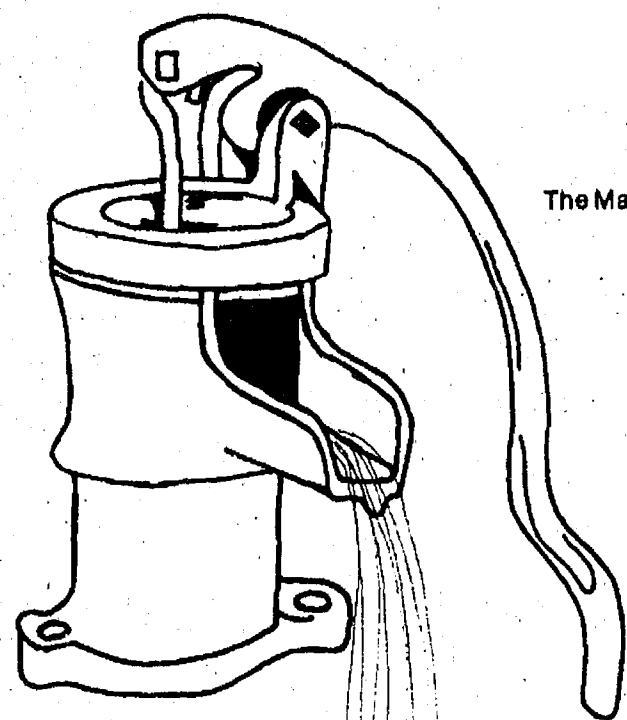

The band is moving to the larger concert facilities at Pioneer High School in the Schreiber Auditorium. Simply put, the band will no longer fit on the stage at Slauson due to the increase in outstanding players.

Soloist for this first concert is flutist Susan Sinta. Mrs. Sinta has been principal flutist with the Symphony Band since its inception in 1976. She has served on the faculty of the University of Michigan at Interlochen as All-State Intermediate Flute Workshop Director for the past two years. Sinta is a native of New England and received her bachelor's and master's degrees in Boston and Hartford.

The major work for the Symphony Band is the Music For A Festival By Gordon Jacob. This composition was commissioned by the Arts Council of Great Britain for the 1951 Festival of Britain.

UM-OSU Blood Donor Contest Being Renewed

Okay, all together now—let's go Blue!!

Your're right, it's time for the annual Blood Donor Battle between the University of Michigan and Ohio State University.

The score stands, Michigan 2, OSU 1. Michigan won the "Blood Drop" trophy in 1982 and 1983, Ohio State claimed it in 1984.

Last year, OSU friends donated 7,745 units of blood to Michigan's 6,772. Nearly 40,000 units of blood have been donated since the donor battle began.

This year's winner will receive the trophy in special half-time ceremonies of the football game in Ann Arbor on Nov. 23.

The battle for the "Blood Drop," the distinctive trophy awarded the winner, pits friends, fans, students and alumni of the two Big 10 schools against each other in a friendly rivalry to see who can donate the most blood. While one school may walk off the field at half-time with the "Blood Drop" in their possession, the real winners of the donor battle are the sick and injured of the blood regions who are the recipients of the blood.

Hospital Studying Feasibility of Community Fitness Center

Chelsea Community Hospital wants to set up a community fitness center, complete with a swimming pool, exercise equipment, indoor track, racquet courts, and aerobics classes, among other features, but it is going to need a little help.

That's the conclusion of Phil Boham of the hospital's personnel department, who has been reviewing the responses sent in from a survey on the subject funded by the Chelsea Civic Foundation. The survey, which was included as the back page of the hospital's newsletter, "Echoes," was sent out as an insert in local newspapers, including The Chelsea Standard and The Dexter Leader, covering Chelsea, Dexter, Stockbridge, Manchester and Grass Lake.

There were 623 responses from the 18,000 copies sent out.

"The survey response in terms of numbers was a little disappointing, but it gave us a good basis as to knowing what we need to do," Boham said.

"It was surprising in a way because many people offered to donate their services to a center. One person said he could teach tennis and another person was a certified lifeguard. Those are just a couple of examples. But the hospital cannot accomplish this alone due to the financial constraints. We need to get some kind of commitment from either a private investor or from area employers who might want their employees to benefit."

Boham said that ideally he would like to have a consortium of local companies invest in the project as a benefit for their employees rather than find a local investor who would be more concerned about maximum profit on the investment. That way membership costs could be kept relatively low.

Cagers Knock Pinckney Out of Title, Lose to Saline

Chelsea Bulldog girls basketball team upset the Pinckney Pirates last Tuesday, 44-37, which knocked the Pirates out of the Southeastern Conference championship picture and gave the crown to the Saline Hornets.

The Hornets were in no mood to thank the Bulldogs and topped Chelsea at home, 72-37, on Friday.

Pinckney, which had everything to lose, had a tough time scoring in the first and fourth quarters, scoring four and five points, respectively.

"Pinckney likes a quick game but we made them play our tempo," said Chelsea coach Jim Winter.

"We were good and patient on offense and we threw four different defenses at them, which seemed to confuse them. And, we hit the free throws when we needed them."

The Pirates have the ability to score a bunch of points in a hurry. They've scored as many as 80 in a game, and generally score more than 60. So holding them to a mere 37 was no small accomplishment.

Chelsea led the contest virtually from the beginning, but lost the lead at the beginning of the second half for a minute or two. But their deliberate style of offense soon had them in the lead. The Pirates were forced to foul a lot from about the middle of the fourth quarter on.

Chelsea responded by making 16 of 28 shots from the foul line, most of them in the fourth quarter.

Tri-captain Kris Mattoff led the Bulldogs with 20 points as she had a hot hand with the jump shot. Jennifer Cattell added 15 points, 11 on free throws, including four in the last 32 seconds. Zerkel and Kristi Headrick each had five.

The Bulldogs were the damsels in distress on Friday, however, as the Hornets thanked Chelsea for Tuesday's defeat of Pinckney.

Chelsea was down by seven at half-time, but the Hornets came out firing in the third quarter and scored 20 points to the Bulldogs' four to put the game away.

"It was getting to be a real physical game and we don't do well with that kind of game," Winter said.

"They were just too physical and we couldn't control it. They were getting the ball away from us. On Tuesday we were getting the foul calls in situations like that. They like the same kind of quick game that Pinckney does. We knew we'd have to keep the score down to win. We didn't do it."

That physical style resulted in more than 30 Chelsea turnovers. The Bulldogs didn't help themselves at the free throw line with a nine of 22 performance.

Mattoff led the team in scoring again, this time with 12 points. Kim Ferry and Headrick added eight points each, and Cattell chipped in with four. Mary Lazarz and Zerkel had two points each, and Tricia Mattoff had one.

Chelsea finished the regular season with a 2-10 league mark, and 5-15 over-all.

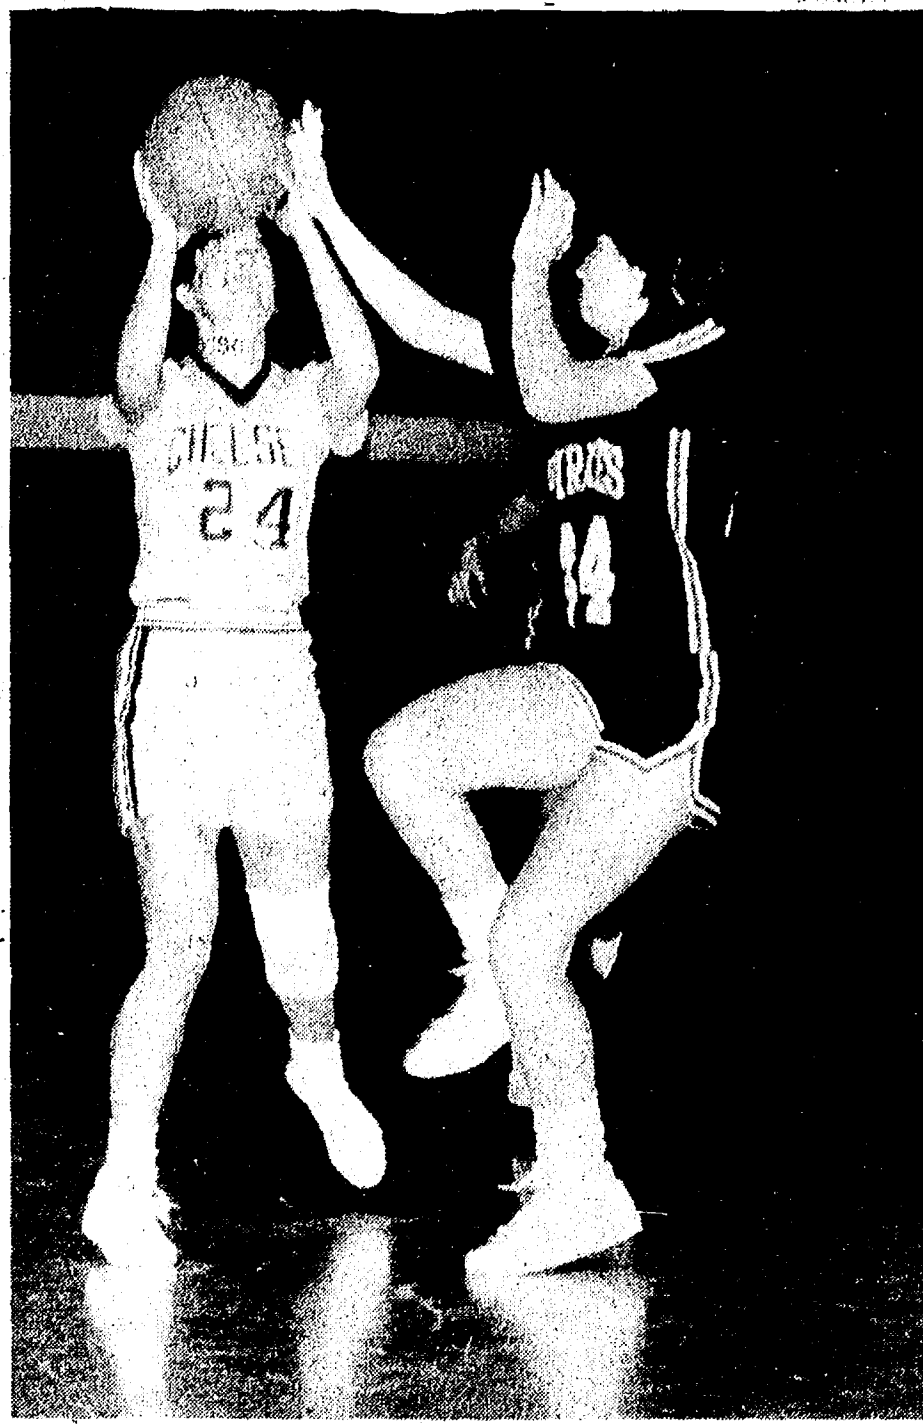

The Bulldogs play the winner of this Friday's Dexter-Saline game on Monday at Tecumseh in district tournament action.

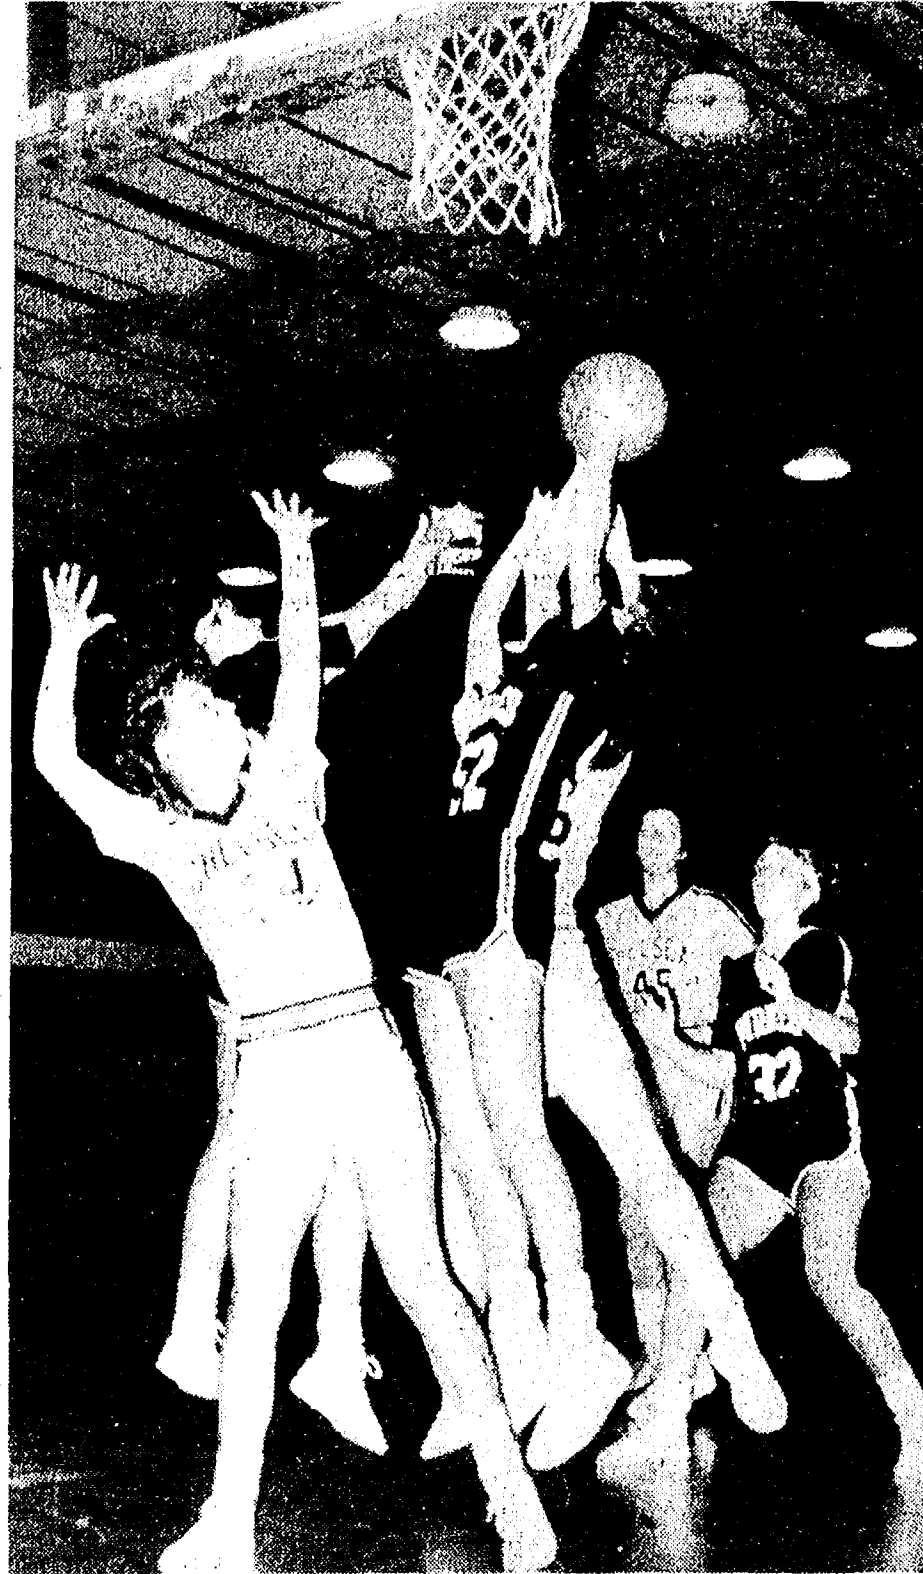

PEGGY HAMMERSCHMIDT finds herself surrounded by Pirates after pulling down a rebound during home action last Tuesday. Chelsea eliminated the Pirates from the SEC race with a stunning, yet convincing upset, 44-37. The Bulldogs ended the regular season at 2-10 in SEC play.

AGGRESSIVE DEFENSE enabled the Bulldogs to slow down the pace against the powerful Pinckney Pirates and hold them to 37 points, one of their lowest totals of the year. Above, senior Kris Mattoff keeps a close eye on the ball as the Pinckney guard moves it up court. Chelsea won the game, 44-37, in their final home contest of the season.

KRIS MATTOFF takes aim against the Pinckney Pirates as the tri-captain scored a team-high 20 points to lead the Bulldogs to their second SEC win, 44-37. Chelsea's upset of the Pirates gave the SEC crown to Saline.

HOLDING HER POSITION under the boards is Kim Ferry (44) as teammate Cris Zerkel, hidden, battles for the rebound with the Pirates. Chelsea lost the rebounding battle, but won the war, 44-37, knocking the Pinckney team out of the SEC race, much to the delight of the Saline Hornets, who won the championship.

JV Cagers Lose to Pinckney, Down Saline

Chelsea junior varsity girls basketball team ended the season on a curious note, playing perhaps both its best and worst games of the season last week with a 49-22 win over the Saline Hornets and a 32-15 loss to the Pinckney Pirates.

The Bulldogs ended the season at 13-7 over-all and 7-5 in the Southeastern Conference, good for fourth place.

In Tuesday's loss to Pinckney, the Bulldogs "played a very flat game," according to coach Paul Terpstra. They had both their lowest point total and highest number of turnovers, 42, of the season.

Despite the final score, the game was relatively close after three quarters, with the Bulldogs down, 17-12. But Chelsea was outscored 15-3 in the final period.

Heather Neibauer had 13 of Chelsea's 15 points, and Vanessa May had seven rebounds to lead the team.

Chelsea shot only 23 percent from the floor and 25 percent from the free throw line.

"It was just a bad game all the way around," Terpstra said.

Friday's game against Saline was an entirely different story.

Leah Enderle played one of her best games ever in scoring 30 points, hitting eight of 16 field goal tries and 14 of 16 from the free throw line.

The third quarter was the key to the game, when Chelsea came out strong after the intermission and outscored the Hornets, 16-4. That put the score at 37-16.

The Bulldogs scored 19 points from the free throw line, making 19 of 31 attempts for 61 percent. They also had a decided edge in rebounding, 39-23, and made 22 steals.

Other scorers for Chelsea were Shannon Dunn with 11, hitting five of 10 field goal attempts, and Neibauer with five.

May and Neibauer also had nine rebounds each.

Beth Unterbrink Winning Games for U. of New Mexico

Beth Unterbrink has picked up right where she left off last spring, only this time she's winning softball games for the University of New Mexico during fall softball season.

Unterbrink, a freshman pitcher and outfielder for the Lobos, has already picked up two early wins, giving up nine hits in 16 innings and only one earned run.

She even showed a little sock with the bat, with a .307 average and .429 on-base percentage, including a double and an RBI.

"Beth has proven she has the ability to make the step from high school to major college competition," said Lobos coach Susan Craig.

"I don't even think she realizes what talent she possesses. She has a lot to learn, but she has already made a lot of changes. Beth has strength, speed and great athletic ability, but, most importantly, she has a strong competitive spirit. She's a winner. It's going to be fun watching her grow."

Playing on a team that was 42-24 and ranked in the top 20 in the NCAA for most of last season has taught Beth a few things about the difference between high school softball and the college game.

"The fall program is giving me an idea of what college competition is like," Beth said.

"I've learned to think more about technique and to be the aggressor. I feel like I've improved in all areas."

Any advice for aspiring college players?

"Work hard on your techniques because you can't play on your ability alone in college like you do in high school."

UNM uses the fall to teach its system and philosophy. The Lobos spend most of the time teaching fundamentals and working on agility drills or team strategy, with a few games mixed to evaluate players in competitive situations.

Outdoor Report

From DNR
District Office in Jackson
Wildlife: Pheasant season ended Monday, Nov. 11 with varying reports. Some hunters reported spotty showings of birds while others claimed to have seen enough to make them question survey counts.

Deer Season opened Friday, Nov. 15 for firearms; hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. Deer populations are comparable to last year. The District office will be open to check deer for biological date during regular working hours, (8:00-5:00) Monday through Friday. We will be open on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 16-17 also. In exchange for this data which includes age of deer, location of kill, date of kill and size of antlers, we will be awarding a handsome three-color "Successful Deer Hunter" patch. If unable to come into the Lansing Avenue Office during these hours, save your entire deer head (by freezing) and bring in to the office immediately after the season.

Bow and arrow hunters may hunt with a bow during the firearm deer season, but must have a gun deer license and wear visible hunter orange clothing. An antlerless deer license is required to take antlerless deer in the firearm season.

Elk Permits will be sent out until the 7th or 8th. Only the successful applicants will be notified.

Waterfowl season closed Wednesday, Nov. 13. There will be an extended season for Canada Geese in Southern Michigan Management Area from Jan. 1 through Feb. 16.

Take every precaution for safety this hunting season. Three of the main causes of hunting accidents involve careless handling of firearms, a shooter stumbling and falling, and the victim being out of the clear sight of the hunter.

Always seek permission from the land owner before hunting on private land. Just because an area is not posted does not mean it is state land. In the past, trespass has been the number one complaint against hunters.

Hunters should be alert for any signs of hunting violations of hunter laws and/or safety rules and poaching violations. Any violations can be reported to the DNR 24-hour Report All Poaching (RAP) hotline number, 1-800-292-7800.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Oh, the agony. My poor Buckeyes blew it again when they had a straight shot to the Rose Bowl. This time it was a humiliating 12-7 loss to the Wisconsin Badgers. For the past few years, the Badgers have had Earl Bruce's number. Who knows why. Bruce, I believe, has the best over-all record of any coach this decade. For some reason, though, his teams have a game or two like this every season. Woody Hayes also had the same problem, except for 1968 when the Bucks won the national championship after toppling O. J. Simpson and the University of Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

What all this means is that THE BIG ONE this Saturday at Michigan Stadium won't have the significance it would have had the Bucks beaten the Badgers. Both teams can still go to "the granddaddy of them all," but they need help. Iowa has to lose to Minnesota in Iowa. That's the key.

Michigan should win, but, of course, that doesn't mean they will. The defense has been solid all year long. The offense has steadily improved (Paul Jokisch is something, isn't he). And Keith Byars probably won't play again. I can remember at least a couple of games when the Wolverines kicked Ohio State all over the field the entire game but somehow managed to lose. It's rare that the Bucks ever dominate the game.

Speculation about the bowl picture is a little like Christmas advertising in that it seems to come a little earlier every year. It's time they instituted the TV Bowl, the game with no redeeming features but sure to draw a crowd. This year's game could feature Notre Dame against Pitt.

They say this is the hardest time of the year on football coaches, but how about the poor officials? They get blamed for everything. Many Purdue fans are probably blaming their 27-24 loss to Iowa on a poor call on the last play of the game. The officials apparently should have called a time out instead of letting the clock run out when Iowa was slow to unpile. Purdue could possibly have tied the game.

It's tempting to blame officials in situations like that, but the truth is that officiating rarely determines the outcome of any contest. Purdue had many chances during the game to convert a third down play and keep a drive alive, a drive that might have resulted in a score. Those are the kinds of plays that determine games, not one or two questionable calls by an official.

Basketball is probably harder on officials than any other sport except South American soccer, where referees are occasionally killed. Part of it is the proximity of the crowd. There are fewer players involved so infractions are more obvious. People, I think, generally know more about basketball than other sports.

As a former basketball official, I know, too, that basketball officiating is not an easy thing to do well. Action happens so quickly and position is so crucial that it's easy to miss an infraction that someone in the stands or on the sidelines might see clearly.

There's also a lot of split second judgment involved. Was it a charge or a block? That's the most difficult call to make. Did the guy just fall down, or was it a push? Had the ball begun coming down before the shot was blocked?

There are other, more subtle judgments, too. For instance, I found that junior high girls basketball was the hardest of all levels to officiate because the girls do so many things wrong. If everything was called, it would take three hours to complete a game. So, you have to say, "I'm going to ignore it if a girl drags her pivot foot, or, unless she takes three steps, I'm not going to call traveling. It's not so obvious at the upper levels, but officials have to decide what they are going to let the players get away with, and be consistent about the calls.

You'd also be surprised at how many coaches don't know the rules, not to mention the players. I remember one of the officiating clinics I attended. The teacher told us that in 99 arguments out of 100 about the interpretation of a rule, the official will be right. The other argument would probably be with Bob Reinhardt, who was a high school coach at Decatur (Ga.) High school. The teacher said Reinhardt knew the rules so well he could have written the book. If he protested, just walk away, we were told. The worst thing an official can do is appear to be uncertain, even if he's wrong. As the commercial goes, "don't let 'em see ya sweat."

99 people out of 100 wouldn't last one game as a basketball official.

Has anyone noticed the anti-Russian sentiment creeping into advertising lately?

The only reason I bring this up in Sports Notes is that I always seem to see the ads during sports broadcasts. Perhaps the most blatant is the Lite Beer spot where a guy with one of those east European accents says something like, "In America, I can always find a party. In Russia, party always finds you." Highland Appliance also has an ad that does for the Russians what "Hogans Heroes" did for the Germans.

The people who make these ads don't just come up with ideas out of the blue. Advertising depends heavily on all kinds of sophisticated research. People are classified by psychological profile. But more than anything, the research tells the ad execs what people are thinking.

On the surface, telling a yuk or two at the expense of the Russians is no worse than making fun of Italians, Jews, Catholics or other traditional targets. But what makes this circumstance different is that it is appearing on TV advertising. TV advertising is designed to appeal to the masses and not to offend. As far as I know, there is no similar feeling shown toward any other group. If advertisers thought these spots wouldn't appeal, they sure wouldn't put them on the air.

So what does it tell us about our attitudes? I don't know, but I'm not sure I like it.

Finally, I'd like to put a plug in for the men's 30 and over basketball league which begins in January. It's sponsored by the Chelsea Recreation Department under the able guidance of Bob Jaques. I've played in the league the last two years and haven't had so much fun playing any sport since I was a kid.

The rules are slightly modified to accommodate some of the less mobile of us—for instance, you have to wait six seconds before shooting after a change in possession. But, believe me, that's plenty fast enough for almost everyone.

If you've had the itch to play a little hoop, but you're not too sure you can stand all the excitement, come on out anyway. You'll have a good time and work up a good sweat in the process. Give Bob a call at 475-9848.

SPECIAL OLYMPIANS took part in a beach ball and volleyball tournament held at Dexter High school last Friday. The competition was sponsored by the Washtenaw County Special Olympics organization and there was a lot of lively action. Eight teams from all over the county participated. Above, the combined team of Wylie and Beach Middle schools, which took first place in the beach ball competition, works for a point. From left are Lisa Stroud of Dexter, and John Wilson and Kevin Viery of Beach Middle school.

Athletic Dept. Facilities Are Being Improved

There ought to be fewer errors on the part of the Chelsea baseball team next year. The school district has just spent $3,000 to renovate and level off the infield of the varsity field, and install an underground sprinkling system in the process.

The work involved digging up the infield and adding six inches of high grade top soil. The area was leveled off and re-seeded, except for the area between the baselines. Four sprinkling heads were installed. The sprinkling system will eventually be connected to the piping that waters the football field, but it won't be soon due to the expense involved, according to athletic director Larry Reed.

Another job that was scheduled to get underway this week is the repair of the high school basketball court, which developed a hump in it at one end this fall. The repair will cost $45,000. Much of the end of the court will have to be taken up to do the repair correctly.

These two jobs have just about ruled out the installation of new lights over the basketball court,

ERVIN WITZKE of Dexter, owner of Whiskers Woods & Kritters, sits hidden among his creations at the Arts and Crafts Show sponsored by the Chelsea Artisans' and Craftsmen's Guild. Ervin describes his work as "country art," and a large sampling of it was on display at the show last Saturday at the UAW Hall on Main St. in Chelsea. Eighteen members of the guild had their work on display and business was described as better than usual by some of them.

Teaching Skills Specialist To Visit U-M Family Practice

Dr. Neal Whitman, well known medical schools for his work in development of teaching skills will be visiting the Department of Family Practice at the University of Michigan. Dr. Whitman has written several handbooks for faculty and residents in training to help develop medical education skills.

Dr. Whitman is an assistant professor in the Department of Family and Community Medicine at the University of Utah School of Medicine in Salt Lake City, U. He will be presenting sessions to the University faculty and teaching staff in the area of teaching clinical problem solving skills.

A special session for the Family Practice staff will be held in Chelsea on Wednesday, Nov. 27.

Two Coyotes Trapped in Chelsea Area

Nobody claims to have seen a road runner in the area, but Chelsea-area resident Ishmael Picklesimer, Jr., says he recently trapped a couple of coyotes by accident.

Picklesimer, who traps foxes, said two male coyotes were trapped in his leg-hold traps about four miles southeast of Chelsea. He described the animals as looking like scraggly 30-pound dogs with long legs and bushy tails.

"I've never heard of coyotes this far south before," Picklesimer said.

"I had heard there were sightings in the area. I recently even checked out an area a few miles east of Chelsea toward Dexter and found coyote droppings."

Picklesimer said he was curious if any sheep farmers in the area might be having trouble with dogs chasing their livestock. He said those farmers might be barking up the wrong tree.

"Most people wouldn't know what to look for, since a coyote is not something you expect to see here," Picklesimer said.

"One could run right in front of your car and you'd probably just think it was an ugly dog."

Picklesimer anticipates that he may trap even more as the nights grow colder and clearer, since the animals tend to move a lot under those conditions.

The animals were killed and skinned, he said.

According to Department of Natural Resources officials at the Waterloo Recreation Area, other sightings of coyotes have been reported in the area as well.

Natural cheese is made by separating milk curds from the water portion of milk through the action of rennet and a starter culture. The characteristics of natural cheese varieties differ according to the type of culture, manufacturing procedure and curing parameters. The MSU Dairy Plant produces cheeses of distinction in the family of natural cheeses.

TOLE PAINTING is the specialty of Pam Bullock of Chelsea, who had her talent on display at the Arts and Crafts Show sponsored by the Chelsea Artisans' and Craftsmen's Guild last Saturday. Pam said that tole painting is a primitive type of painting done on wood and metals. The wooden Santa in the foreground is one of her creations. The show, at the UAW Hall, was well-attended as many folks were browsing for Christmas gifts. The Girls Scouts also sold calendars in the lobby.

Hospital Studies Possible Community Health Center

"We can't afford to oversell memberships like some of the health clubs because then they end up getting too crowded and people start dropping their memberships, which defeats the whole purpose," Boham said.

Boham said a basic, 16,000 square foot center would cost about $1 million to construct, and perhaps a little less if an existing Chelsea building were remodeled.

"We'd like to have it here on the hospital campus, but we don't know if it's feasible," Boham said.

He envisions far more than a Vic Tanny club approach. Boham said he would like to see a "wellness center," where people could go for help in losing weight, stopping smoking and even nutritional guidance. He sees the exercise equipment being supervised by an exercise physiologist.

"We don't want to build just a social club," Boham said.

Boham said that companies who invest in the kinds of centers he's talking about generally save $2 in health care costs for every $1 invested in the center. He said there is also reduced absenteeism and disability because employees are more physically fit.

Boham's next step is to try to determine the financial feasibility of the project, which will involve talking to local companies and other interested parties.

"I belong to a racquet club in Ann Arbor and I know I don't like to drive all that way," Boham said. "From the west side of Ann Arbor to the east side of Jackson there is nothing in terms of a health club. I think there's interest in something like this, but just how much interest, I don't know."

Nature Walk Set at Leslie Science Center

A community walk and talk will be held at the Leslie Science Center, Saturday, Nov. 30 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Led by Bill Casello, horticultural agent for the Washtenaw Co-operative Extension Service, the walk will focus on ecology during a transitional period.

Participants will meet at the Leslie Homestead for a short orientation talk and then proceed to several nature areas on the Leslie Science Center's grounds. As part of the walk, hints will be given on helping wildlife survive the cold winter weather. Several animal feeding stations will be established. Following the walk, hot cider will be served at the Leslie Homestead. Participants are encouraged to dress for the weather.

There is no charge for this program; however, interested persons should register their intent by calling the Leslie Science Center office at 662-7802.

THANK YOU

A very special thank-you to all the people in Chelsea and Dexter who donated used trophies to the special education class. We don't know all of your names because many trophies were just dropped off. We have already used 74 for a bowling tournament that was sponsored by the Chelsea Lions Club last Friday. The kids loved them! We polished them and they looked brand new. Thanks for helping make some kids really happy. We will be using the rest for a future bowling tournament and for basketball and softball. Thanks.

CARD OF THANKS

My wife and I take care of my 91-year-old grandmother. Last month my wife's uncle passed away at his home in Pennsylvania. We were very close to him and felt strongly about going immediately to Pennsylvania. The problem was that decisions needed to be made immediately on what to do with "grandma." She couldn't make the trip. I called Chelsea Hospital at almost midnight on Friday night (about an hour after the news reached us) and asked for help. After the nurses consulted, Mary Beth McGowen, the head of the Chelsea Hospital's Respite Program, they called me back with a reply they could take her in first thing in the morning and care for her for the next three days. Therefore, Mary and I were able to depart for Pennsylvania that next morning. We would like to thank Mary Beth, all the nurses, the nurses aids, and everyone else who helped enable us to be with our family at that time of need.

Floyd and Mary Boyce.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank friends and relatives for cards, gifts and food brought in while I was in the hospital and since I have returned home. Special thanks also to the Rev. Erwin Koch for his visits and prayers.

Betha Rothfuss.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Arlesta Alexander would like to express our heartfelt thanks to all those who so kindly helped us during the illness and loss of our wife, mother and daughter and sister. A special thanks to Cole-Burghardt Funeral Home, the Rev. Dr. Heath Goodwin, VFW Post 4076 and Auxiliary, Chelsea Fire Dept. and their wives and Hospice of Washtenaw. Also for the many donations of food, flowers, plants and money for the American Cancer Society and many kind expressions of sympathy.

Hospital Radiology Director's Research Results Published

Janet K. Baum, M.D., director of radiology at Chelsea Community Hospital and U-M clinical assistant professor of radiology, is one of four researchers whose article on the use of mammography by physicians and patients was published in the September issue of "Radiology," published by the Radiological Society of North America.

The article states that mammography, the most effective method for early detection of breast cancer in women over 35, is widely under-used by physicians and patients instead of becoming a preferred mass screening technique. The research has also shown that two other breast cancer screening methods, breast self-examination and clinical examination by a physician, are performed more frequently than mammography but are also under-used to some extent.

The researchers would like to encourage radiologists to have family physicians and other health care practitioners launch a massive education effort to convince patients of the importance of mammography in breast cancer screening.

According to Dr. Baum, "Mammography should now be brought into parity with breast self examination and clinical examination as an equal partner in screening for breast cancer. Repeated regular mammograms, are recommended for women older than 40, in addition to an earlier baseline mammogram, to document any breast changes over time in comparison with the first mammogram."

The American College of Radiology and the American Cancer Society recommended that women have mammograms as part of routine breast cancer screening according to the following frequency:

Women 35 to 40 should have a baseline mammogram; those between 40 and 49 at low risk should undergo mammography at least every two years, and women between the ages of 40 and 49 who are a high risk and those over 50 should get annual mammograms.

The American Cancer Society recommends monthly self-exams for women age 20 and older.

The Michigan breast cancer screening study involved 257 women between the ages of 20 and 82. The vast majority of them live in one of six townships west of Ann Arbor. The results of the study included the following: (1) 60% of the women ages 35 to 49 and 51% of those over 50 had not obtained a baseline mammogram. (2) Only 22% of the 40- to 49-year-olds and 25% of the women older than 50 had repeated mammograms after a baseline mammographic screening. (3) Monthly self breast examination was practiced by more than half of the women polled, but about 30% of the women 35 and over reported either never examining themselves or just once or twice a year.

Women interested in mammographic examinations may call the Department of Radiology at Chelsea Community Hospital, (313) 475-1311, ext. 270.

AN 8-POINT BUCK was the kill of the day last Friday for Edward Mullaly, 19, right. He and his father, Mike, left, were hunting near West Lake when they saw this eight-point buck at about 7:15 a.m. The deer weighed about 170 pounds, the Mullalys said. They live on Wellington St.

ALFRED F. SCHMECHEL of Taylor took this nine-pointer from 40 yards off Roepke Rd. near M-52 last Friday morning shortly after 8. He estimated the deer weighed an "honest 160 pounds." Alfred used a 10 gauge shotgun. He was hunting on private land and the buck wandered into sight from adjacent state land. "No problem getting him out," he said, "I just drove my truck right up to him."

TIM KLINK of Chelsea, right, shot this eight-point buck from 50 yards last Friday morning around 11, just north of Chelsea. It was Tim's first deer. He was hunting with his father, Fred, center, and family friend, Tom McGinn. Tim used a 20 gauge shotgun to take the 170-pound animal.

TOM STEELE of Chelsea and his sons, Tom Jr., 13, left, and Pat, 10, took this five-point buck around 8 a.m. last Friday just south of Chelsea. They were among the first of a dozen or more hunters to report their success to the Standard office on Friday.

DICK VISEL, a former Dexter resident, shot this 13-point buck near Jackson on Sunday. The deer weighed 190 pounds and is probably the largest one we've seen at the Dexter Leader office since firearm season began last Friday. Visel took the trophy on state land near a corn field about 2 p.m. using a 12 gauge shotgun.

Winterizing Important for Your Pets

The winter of 1985-86 will undoubtedly be as cold as previous Michigan winters. So when you think of winterizing your car or adding insulation to your home, please also think about pets' winter care needs.

Dogs and cats that are outside for even a few hours each day during the cold months need up to 50% more food than during the summer—keeping warm requires extra energy. And remember that snow or frozen water cannot help a thirsty pet. Check outdoor water bowls often when it's below freezing, and break the ice or refill as necessary.

A major winter danger to pets is anti-freeze. Pets are attracted to the sweet smell of anti-freeze, and will lick up any they find. It is poisonous, even in very small amounts. If cats walk through anti-freeze and then lick it off their paws, they can suffer kidney failure or even death. If an accident does occur be sure to get the pet to a veterinarian or to our county's Animal Emergency Clinic immediately.

Many cats are injured because they seek warmth under the hoods of cars. When the engine is started, the cat is caught in the fan belt and severely injured. Prevention is easy—simply give a loud knock on your car hood before the engine is started.

Dog houses should be only slightly larger than the dog in order to keep body heat in, and may be made warmer by placing cinder blocks underneath so that is not on the cold ground, putting a thick layer of straw inside, and hanging a piece of plastic or blanket over the door, making sure the dog knows how to get inside once the door is covered. Also, sheets of styrofoam insulation may be purchased very inexpensively wherever building supplies are available and are easily installed for added warmth.

If cats must be kept outdoors, small houses similar to doghouses should be provided. Cats, in particular, suffer from frostbite because the tips of their ears freeze easily. The humane society recommends that cats which are allowed to be both inside and outside be encouraged to stay indoors at night.

The Humane Society of Huron Valley has doghouse plans available free of charge, and will provide doghouses to people with limited incomes as supplies last. Anyone willing to donate doghouses for this purpose, or needing advice regarding care of outdoor pets may contact Lynn Moore at 662-5545. Winter is hard on pets, but there are simple, considerate things we can do to help them get through the winter happily and healthily!

A TROPHY-SIZED RACK was the prize of 15-year-old hunter Rob Riddle of Jackson, who took this nine-pointer near Stockbridge last Friday morning at 7:15 on the first day of firearm season. It was Rob's first deer ever. The buck was estimated by DNR officials to weigh 185 pounds. He shot the deer using a 12 gauge shotgun. Rob's father, Junior, also shot a doe on the same outing, "on the other side of the road." Looks like the deer season was a short one for this family.

JACK MCGINN, 63, of Dexter was the first deer hunter to report to The Chelsea Standard/Dexter Leader office with his kill last Friday on the first day of firearm season. It took McGinn only 20 minutes to take this six-point, 160-pound buck just a couple of miles north of Chelsea. Using a 20 gauge shotgun, he hit the buck from "97 paces," at 7:15.

STEVE BERGMAN shot this 135-pound buck last Friday morning in the woods behind his home near Cavanaugh Lake. Steve got the five-point animal with a 16 gauge shotgun at about 7:30. Friday was the first day of firearm season.

OF ALL THE DEER WE SAW at The Standard office last Friday on the first day of firearm season, this one took the prize, a 15-pointer shot by Garry Hopkins of Kalamazoo, who was visiting his father Silas, a Chelsea area resident. He used a 12 gauge shotgun to nail the buck, just off Old US-12. In his 23 years of hunting, he said it was by far his best ever. Garry, who grew up in Chelsea and went through the school system here, is a teacher in Kalamazoo and coaches wrestling and football.

Icy Bridges Create Hazard for Drivers

Unwary motorists beware! Cool fall mornings can produce a real hazard for drivers, warns the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT).

The hazard is a thin coating of ice formed on unprotected bridges which tends to freeze before the road surface becomes icy.

The reason bridges freeze and the road does not is that cold air blows beneath bridge surfaces causing temperatures to remain colder. So even when road surfaces are clear and dry, bridges may be dangerous.

Usually icy bridges are more of a problem in late November and early December in the Lower Peninsula, even earlier in the Upper Peninsula. Travelers on Michigan's highways are urged to approach bridge crossings with care and observe MDOT's yellow and black caution signs which read, "Bridge May Be Icy."

A new early-warning ice detection system recently installed by the Transportation Department uses a computer to monitor conditions on bridges. It's being tested on busy I-496 freeway in Lansing as a means of improving highway maintenance.

"The system is working well," said MDOT traffic and safety engineer Dick Bost. "It alerts our personnel more quickly to hazardous driving conditions."

Monitors are installed on the bridge, then hooked to a mini-computer at the site and connected by a telephone line to MDOT's testing and research laboratory and the local maintenance garage.

The monitors continuously check for temperature changes and moisture levels. If there is moisture, the monitors tell whether it's freezing. They also check to see if salt spread on the roadways for snow and ice control is still working.

Department officials hope to see this program expanded.

St. Mary's Renew Group Studies Christmas

The Renew Program is in its third semester at St. Mary's Catholic church. The theme of this semester is: "Empowerment By the Spirit To Live Justly."

In keeping with this theme, the Large Group chaircouple, Micki and Ed Hurst, invited Miles McCabe (who is the director of the Peace & Justice Office of the Lansing Diocese) to speak to the people of St. Mary's about the relationship of peace and justice to the traditions and customs that determine our yearly celebrations of Christmas.

The thrust of the presentation was that Christmas is Jesus' birthday; so our celebrations ought to reflect this truth, first and foremost.

One very helpful exercise was as revealing as it was simple. Participants were asked to list in one column those things their family did last Christmas to celebrate the holiday. (Included would be: sending cards, buying gifts, singing carols, attending church services, baking cookies, trimming trees, etc.) In the second column, a numerical rating of 0 to 3 was to be assigned to each item that had been listed in column one, (with 3 signifying those things which had been most meaningful during the season). The third column was to designate the changes each family might make, this Christmas, to help this season be a truly, blessed, joyous time for everyone . . . and most important of all, keep Christmas truly as a celebration of Jesus' birthday.

To help authenticate our celebrations, further, we should ask ourselves: "What qualities of Jesus do we celebrate? His peace; His presence to others; His justice (reaching out to the poor, the lonely, the outcast); His simplicity. His gift of self to others? What kind of gifts do we buy? Who do we help when we buy them?" McCabe reminded the group that they give to Jesus when they give to the poor, the weak, the hungry, homeless, refugees, prisoners.

If each person who attended this session were moved to change even one part of their family's Christmas routine toward a more genuine birthday-for-Jesus type celebration, Christmas 1985 really can be a time of greater peace on earth for all mankind.

Manchester Schools On Main Street Project Slated Saturday, Nov. 23

This article is to call your attention to the fact that American Education week is rapidly approaching. During this week the Manchester Community Schools annually bring the school district to the village. The project, known as "Manchester Schools on Main Street" has been recognized in various education journals as an exemplary effort.

Manchester Schools on Main Street will be held Saturday, Nov. 23 in the location of the former Ace Hardware. Sam Beal has very generously donated the use of his building to the school district for that day.

The public is invited to stop by for a cup of coffee, a cookie and the opportunity to review some of the extremely interesting projects underway in the Manchester schools.

Not only will you witness students displaying incredible computer skills, but also the artistic efforts of those with fine arts skills. Video tapes and slide presentations will chronicle the progress made in the Manchester schools both in academic programs and building renovation.

Copies of achievement test results showing the academic growth of students during their years in school will be available.

School officials feel you will find an item of interest as you witness the school tax dollars at work and urge everyone to make every effort to join them on Saturday, Nov. 23.

In addition, for an evening of fine entertainment it is suggested that you attend the fall presentation of the Manchester High School Drama Club either Friday evening, Nov. 22 or the evening of Saturday, Nov. 23. The play to be presented is "The Miracle Worker."
