Beach School Academic Games Team Wins State Title

Chelsea Suspended Animation, one of the Beach Middle school academic games teams, won the state championship in World Card at the state tournament at Eastern Michigan University March 6-10.

World Card is a current events game asking questions about events from 1984-85 and about the U.S. space program from the days Robert Goddard experimented with rockets to 1984.

Chelsea Suspended Animation also placed seventh out of 60 teams in the game, Mr. Presidents, fourth out of 10 teams in the game, On Words, and sixth out of 10 teams in the game, Equations.

Beach Bands Top District Festival Field

Beach Middle school bands, 105 students in all, took part in the District 12 Michigan State Band and Orchestra Association Festival at Romulus High school last Saturday.

The seventh grade band was in the first division with three straight "1" ratings from the concert judges, and a "2" rating in sight reading.

The eighth grade band had straight one ratings.

"We had a good day at the festival," said band director Warren Mayer.

"The judges made many complimentary statements and offered good criticism. The judges were most helpful."

Mr. Presidents is a trivia game asking questions about presidents of the United States. On Words is a language arts game where the players have to create words using certain cubes. Equations is the mathematical game played by the majority of the students. The game asks the players to write math solutions to a problem using certain cubes.

The other academic games teams also had fine showings. The elementary team, called "Chelsea I Dummies," consisting of sixth graders, brought home two trophies, taking second place out of 17 teams in On Words, sixth place out of 60 teams in Mr. Presidents, 10th out of 20 teams in World Card, and sixth out of 11 teams in Equations.

The junior team, "Mad Doc's Interns," consisting of eighth and ninth graders, placed third out of 20 teams in World Card, sixth out of 20 teams in Mr. Presidents, seventh out of 10 teams in Equations, and 10th out of 14 teams in Linguistics, an advanced version of On Words.

"Each one of the students practiced hard and did their very best," said coach Dennis Petsch. "Next year we will shoot for two state championships."

Chelsea I Dummies consisted of Robert Jaques, Jeremy Guentier, Ben Manning, Jane Irwin, Dirk Colby and Tim Bowers.

Chelsea Suspended Animation consisted of Duane Penhallegon, Richard Barnes, Rob Northrup, Tammy Browning and Tiffany Browning.

Mad Doc's Interns consisted of Rob (Mad Doc) Northrup, Tammy Browning, Jeff Vctor, Bob Read, Ann Weiner and Stacie McDaniels.

Chelsea Hospital Judged Tops in Controversial Study

Chelsea Community Hospital was one of three Michigan hospitals cited as having lower than expected death rates in a controversial study of the nation's hospitals by the federal government.

According to the study by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Chelsea hospital had a death rate of 4.2 patients per 100 patients whereas the "expected" rate would be 7.7.

The expected rates reflect the number of Medicare patients who died compared with the percentage that would be expected to die, using national statistics. The statistics were adjusted for 89 variables that could influence death rates. Among those variables not included were the seriousness of patients' illnesses, and record-keeping errors.

Kathleen Griffiths, assistant administrator at Chelsea Community Hospital, said several factors might have influenced Chelsea's lower rate.

"Half, or more than half of our cases involve patients with psychiatric problems, substance abuse problems, chronic pain, or those who need physical rehabilitation," Griffiths said.

"Those patients would be expected to have low mortality rates. Also, with two major teaching hospitals nearby, we only have to do those things we do often enough to do well."

Griffiths also said the hospital was proud of its high quality medical staff, the majority of whom are board certified or eligible to be certified. She also cited

Village Employees Ratify New Contract Calling for Pay Hikes

New two-year contracts have been awarded to Chelsea municipal workers and department heads.

The separate actions were taken by Chelsea Village Council last week. Contracts for department heads were approved during the regular meeting Tuesday night. The pact with municipal workers was approved Thursday evening in a special council meeting.

That meeting became necessary after it was discovered on Tuesday that a couple of words had been left out of the final version of the contract.

Other village employees received a pay raise as well.

Municipal Workers Local 214, affiliated with the Teamsters, ratified their contract offer last week. It's the first time the municipal workers have been represented by a union, according to Village President Jerry Satterthwaite.

The contract covers workers in the Department of Public Works, the Light and Water Department, and the Landfill, 17 in all. It's a long and complicated document, defining 12 worker classifications and six salary steps in each classification, Satterthwaite said.

The contract is retroactive to March 1, 1985. That means each worker will receive a lump-sum paycheck covering the raise for the last year.

Satterthwaite said that workers will receive across-the-board raises in 1986 and 1987 of $3.35 an hour. The retroactive raise was for 5.4 percent, identical to the Teamster-negotiated police contract late last year.

Department heads were given individual contracts, amounting to a five percent raise for 1986-87, and a three percent raise in 1987-88. Office supervisor Barbara Fredette will earn $19,450 the first year, and $20,150 the second year.

Superintendent of Public Works Bud Hafner will receive $30,100 the first year and $31,150 the second year; Wastewater Plant Superintendent Melvin Leach will earn $30,200 the first year and $31,250 the second year; and Landfill Superintendent Cecil Clouse will make $27,050 the first year and $28,000 the second year.

Zoning inspector's hourly rate was increased from $6.36 to $6.75 an hour after Rosemary Harook spoke up and asked the village council, "what about me?" The council had evidently not planned to give her a raise because the amount of her increase was figured on the spot.

Council also voted to raise the janitor's wages to $4.50 an hour the first year, and $5.00 an hour the second year.

Fire department officials were also given their first raises in base pay in several years, projected to cost the village an additional $3,380 this year.

Pay for chief was doubled, from $125 to $250 per month; first assistant fire chief's pay was raised from $100 to $150 per month; second assistant chief was raised from $75 to $115 per month; and third and fourth assistant chief's pay was raised from $50 to $75 per month. Pay for the fire department secretary-treasurer was raised from $300 to $500 per year.

Jaycees Preparing Easter Egg Hunt

Chelsea Jaycees are once again holding an Easter Egg Hunt, one of several projects the group has planned for the remainder of the year.

The Easter Egg Hunt will take place Saturday, March 30, at 11 a.m. at the Chelsea High school athletic fields. Children up to the second grade are welcome to participate. Although last year's event was marred by horrible weather, quite a few youngsters got in on the fun, anyway.

Another Jaycee project in the planning stages includes the management of this year's Fourth of July fireworks. For the first time, the Chelsea chapter will handle all the planning involved, including the actual firing. They'll be co-ordinating efforts with the police and fire departments and local businesses, and purchase the fireworks from donated monies.

"We hope it will be the biggest and the best ever," said President Tim Merkel, who, along with the group's other 26 members will be working on the project.

Merkel said that other planned events include a teen dance at the fairgrounds shortly after summer vacation begins; a fall run to raise money for the restoration of the Chelsea depot; and the annual Toys for Tots program at Christmas time. The group also sponsors a bingo tent at the Chelsea Community Fair, which is its chief fund-raising mechanism.

Jaycees are also in the midst of a recruiting drive, with the goal of 12 new members by the end of April, Merkel said. He said recruitment generally consists of talking to friends and acquaintances.

The Jaycees are an international organization dedicated to developing leadership qualities in its members. Members have to be between 18-36 years old.

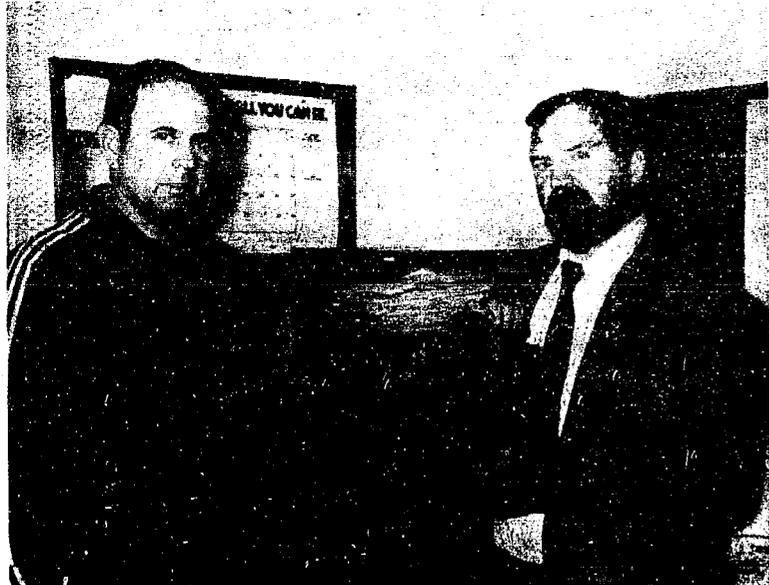

Merkel said the philosophy of the organization is to help a person grow through individual development, management development, and community development.

"Traditionally, we've been heavily involved in community-related projects," Merkel said.

Other officers of the Chelsea chapter at Jerry Milliken, vice-president, individual development; Bob Burgess, vice-president, management development; Dan Cobb, vice-president, community development; Jerry Benjamin, director, community development; Harold Allen, chairman of the board of directors.

The group will elect new officers at its April meeting.

Other members include Mike Brigham, Alex Manga, Mary Beth Milliken, Charles Shiver, Diane Newnman, Ric Foytik, Jan Powers, Anne Merkel, Nancy Benjamin, Anthony Houle, Bill Herrick, Chuck Slane, Randy Dougherty, Tom McKernan, and Kelly McKernan.

A NEW PORTABLE VIDEO CAMERA has been purchased for the Chelsea High school athletic department thanks in large part to the Chelsea Athletic Boosters who raised money with a "Spirit Dance" and other functions to offset a significant part of the cost. The camera will be used to film sporting events, gymnastics techniques, and other athletic functions.

Physical education director Phil Barrels, left, reports that the camera will be a welcome addition to the school and will take over many of the duties of the old, cumbersome tripod-mounted camera. Athletic Director Larry Reed shows off the new equipment.

Spring Officially Arrives Tomorrow

Although it may not feel like it outside, the first day of spring arrives tomorrow.

The spring equinox marks one of two days each year when the sun crosses the equator, resulting in a day and night of approximately equal length everywhere on earth, except for a slight variation caused by atmospheric refraction.

The mention of spring conjures up various images for different personalities. Some are reminded of romance, some prepare for Easter, others think of opening day at Tiger Stadium, and others plan on following the masses to Florida for a taste of summer.

Others of us don't believe there's any such thing as spring in Michigan as warm weather often seems to appear overnight.

Spring is the season when baby animals of all types begin appearing. Conservation officer Craig Wales reminded youngsters at North school on Monday to adopt a "hands-off" approach to ducklings, baby birds, fawns, and other wildlife, the kinds of animals children frequently find in the area. The animals can be dangerous, and frequently the parent animals will abandon their offspring if a human has interfered.

RALPH BRIER, transportation supervisor for the Chelsea School District, was recently given special recognition by the school board for his work. The bus system makes approximately 30 runs per day, covering 1,800 miles. He is also instrumental in organizing transportation services for special education students, and earned the special praise of Dr. Henry DeYoung, director of special education, in that regard.

Senate Republicans Initiate Property Tax Study

Senate Republicans are proposing a citizen study of the property tax system in a move applauded by Governor James J. Blanchard as moving toward agreement to provide property tax relief.

Senator Rudy Nichols (R-Waterford) offered a resolution (SR 428) providing a 15-member citizens' commission to examine the tax burden, tax limits, assessment, exemptions, appeals and taxation of personal property.

"We are one of, if not the highest state relative to property taxes, and that has to be part and parcel of what the commission looks at," Nichols said.

The resolution says Michigan is the only state where the property taxes measured against personal income have risen since 1971.

Blanchard, whose proposals to expand property tax relief financed by increasing or initiating several other taxes in areas he says are undertaxed have been passed by the House, said, "I am pleased that the Senate is taking action which could result in property tax relief."

He urged Senate Majority Leader John Engler (R-Mt. Pleasant) to involve House members and members of the administration and move "quickly to recommend immediate property tax relief."

Senate Republicans, during the debate on the income tax roll-back, had at one time added a property tax relief component of their own.

The commission is to be appointed by Engler and report its findings no later than Dec. 31.

Nichols said the members should be people other than public officials, such as informed professors, to make recommendations.

Among its charges is to examine the property tax burden relative to other states and historical trends, including a review of alternative sources of revenue.

Runkel Says Gramm-Rudman Cuts Could "Cripple" Department

Federal budget cuts authorized under the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law could cripple the Department of Education and seriously affect aid to intermediate and local schools, Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip Runkel said.

The cuts would be acutely felt by the department because 83 percent of its funds come from the federal government, he noted.

The department would lose $20 million in 1986-87 and $111 million in 1987-88, he said, when Gramm-Rudman calls for cuts as high as 30 percent.

Red Cross Chapter Plans Open House For All Volunteers

The American Red Cross, Washtenaw county chapter, will hold an open house for all Red Cross volunteers on Sunday, March 23 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the chapter, 2729 Packard Rd., Ann Arbor.

This is the chapter's way of saying thank you, during American Red Cross month, to the volunteers for their many hours of service to the Red Cross.

Anyone who is interested in learning more about volunteer opportunities at the Washtenaw county chapter is also welcome.

The American Red Cross is a United Way member agency.

About 51.5 million women were in the labor force in the fourth quarter of 1985, according to a publication of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, "Employment in Perspective: Women in the Labor Force."

Those reductions would affect student financial aid, vocational and adult education, block grants, bilingual education, migrant education and programs for disabled children.

Schools could lose $9 million in 1986-87 and $52 million the following year in federal aid, the department said, based on a preliminary analysis of the law.

Detroit's cuts in the two years would be $2 million and $11.2 million; Flint's would be $226,212 and $1.3 million; Grand Rapids' would be $175,551 and $876,761; and Lansing's would be $129,861 and $722,543.

The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled unconstitutional the law's provisions for automatic cuts to result in a balanced budget; Congress would have to affirmatively vote on any cuts to take effect.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

If you think you can't take it with you, you ain't been anywhere lately. Plugging prices at the pumps is bringing out the wanderer in everybody. They're taking everything with em but the crabgrass, and they're going everywhere, not just sticking to interstates like they did when they were taking the shortest cut between two points.

The feller that runs the country store told the fellers Saturday night that he stood out front and watched one morning last week. If what he's been seeing the past couple of weeks is a sign, and he says it's a sure one, this country is going to ride this vacation season like there's no tomorrow, which they probable ain't at these prices. He said they come by in reworked school buses with built-in wood stoves and television sets, in motor homes pulling cars and hauling speedboats, mini vans with iceboxes and easy chairs, ordinary cars towing pop-up campers. And he said ever one that stopped at the store had wall to wall music that didn't let up. A man's home still is his castle, the store feller said, and his castle is anything that engineering and imagination can put on wheels.

Zeke Grubb said lower fuel prices has got more Americans on the road, but he was of a mind that electronics is keeping em there. Zeke said deregulated trucking give Ma and Pa a chance to see the country together in them big sleeper cabs, but not without the CB, color TV and stereo tape deck. Instead of hiding behind the paper like he use to when he come home from work, the feller that takes home to work just clamps on the headset and keeps on trucking, was Zeke's words.

Furthermore, salesmen have learned they don't have to wait til they get to the motel to do their paperwork. With their cruise controls, car phones and pocket computers they can schedule the next stop and keep records riding and waiting at lights. The feller that runs the store said he was amazed recent when one of them overnight delivery services brought him a part for his new scales. The driver run the order through a computer in his truck that was hooked up to the main office. He said that took care of the paperwork on both ends.

General speaking, the fellers stick pritty close to homes they can't move. As fer the store feller's report, Bug Hookum declared it ain't no wonder Americans think a driver's license is a birthright. New tough drunk driving laws may be working, Bug said, because folks think losing their license two weeks is worse than six months in jail. And that would explain a move to git states to write their drivers manuals in simple words. Bug had saw where a study has showed that manuals in 22 states are wrote to technical fer the average person, which he said is another way of saying the average person feels driving is a right and reading is a choice.

Clem Webster wondered if the increase in travel had anything to do with the recent Government study that says illegal aliens is good fer the country. The Council of Economic Advisors found they work cheap, don't demand many public services, and don't put any Americans out of work. Maybe, Clem said, that's because working Americans are taking their custom equipped mini-vans fer another week's run between the billboards, was Clem's words.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

After March 23 the Gardens Gift Shop will be open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Exercise Program Also Beneficial For Middle Aged

Is the recent exercise movement reaching anyone over 35? Apparently not. Surveys show that most of the joggers and exercise club devotees are young. But middle-aged folks and the elderly need regular exercise too.

Marion Prince, extension home economist for Washtenaw county Co-operative Extension Service, will address this issue at a public program on March 26 at 10 a.m. in the Co-operative Extension Service building in the County Service Center, 4133 Hogback Rd., Ann Arbor. Co-operative Extension Service programs are open to the public regardless of race, creed, color, sex, national origin or handicap.

The program, "Exercise Is Not A Four Letter Word," will discuss the benefits of a regular exercise program and suggests types of activities that are suitable for cardio-vascular strengthening, flexibility and endurance. The importance of proper clothing and shoes will be explained, as well as ways to increase commitment to a regimen.

There is no charge for the event.

Woman's Club Hears Talk on Lithophaning

David Jefferson gave a very interesting talk on the art of Lithophaning to members of the Woman's Club March 11.

Next month's program will be on osteoporosis, nutrition and weight reduction, presented by Julie Say.

Cheryl Schoenberg and Joyce Vogel served as hostesses for the evening.

The Woman's Club of Chelsea prides itself in working to help support activities and needy organizations.

Anyone who would like further information regarding the club is asked to call Cheryl Schoenberg, 475-7273. Correspondence address is 221 S. Main St., Chelsea 48118.

Homemakers Club Hears Talk from Travel Agency

Chelsea Homemakers Club held their Feb. 27 meeting at the home of Barb Wolfgang with 17 members and one guest being present.

Ruth Leach from Accent on Travel was guest speaker for the evening. She brought numerous travel brochures to look through and told of the many different options of how and when to travel. As she completed her presentation, everyone was convinced to find a warmer climate to curl up in for a week or two.

On April 24, interested club members and guests will be going on a bus tour to Chesaning. The travel arrangements are being handled by Accent on Travel. Refreshments were served by Kay Heller.

The next meeting will be at Merkel Furniture and Carpets in Chelsea on Thursday, March 27 at 8 p.m.

Volunteers Sought To Help Those With Reading Difficulties

Reading is a wonderful skill. It is an essential skill in our world today. To have reading difficulty is a very real handicap.

Many of those incarcerated at Cassidy Lake Technical School are seriously handicapped by lacking comprehensive reading skills.

As a community having a correctional facility among us it becomes an opportunity as well as a responsibility to aid in correcting this lack.

Like many of the real worthwhile community activities this will be a volunteer activity. Concerned citizens taking it on themselves to help these youthful failures to gain normal skills essential to being responsible members of society.

The need to develop reading skills is basic. Consider this an opportunity to correct this inability.

Jean Schairer and the Rev. T. B. Thodson are checking out sources for systems and materials available. They hope to come up with some very helpful information in the near future.

Oil & Gas Lease Sale Concluded

Oil and gas lease sales at a March 3-4 auction in Lansing were successful despite recent drops in the price of oil, said state officials.

Oil and gas rights on more than 101,000 acres of state land in 18 counties were leased during a Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Lands Division auction at the Hilton Inn. The state received $1,815,719 in bonus bids for the lease rights. As prescribed by Michigan law, $1,648,316 will be credited to the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund and $167,402 to the Game and Fish Protection Fund.

Twenty-six of the 43 registered bidders were successful in obtaining leases on the oil and gas rights. Highest bid per acre was $280 for acreage in Midland county.

"Taking into account the tremendous drop in the price of oil during recent months, we consider this sale to have been a very successful one," said minerals lease section chief David Freed. "The average price per acre decreased significantly compared to previous sales over the past two years, but the sales results compared favorably, and in most cases exceeded, prices bid for leases in other states in recent months."

Spring Arrives

Spring in Michigan means fickle weather as atmospheric patterns change. For the next two months we're likely to have temperatures in the 70's and even a few more inches of snow—perhaps even back to back.

Tuesday was the first day since Sept. 25 that the amount of daylight exceeded the amount of darkness. Days will continue to lengthen until June 20-21.

High temperatures are likely to climb into the 50's by month's end.

Scoliosis Screening Scheduled

In conjunction with the Washtenaw County Health Department, the Beach Middle school administration and staff will be conducting a scoliosis (curvature of the spine) and kyphosis screening program. This year the program has been expanded to include 6th graders along with 8th graders.

During the third week in March science classes will be conducting units to explain the crippling deformities, and the physical education staff will attend a refresher session on screening methods.

Actual screening of students is scheduled Thursday, March 27 and will involve a very simple process not requiring x-ray. If a child is suspected of suffering from the affliction, parents will be notified and encouraged to consult a qualified physician for further investigation and treatment.

A Health Department report explains that screening in other states has exposed spinal variations in four percent of those tested and two percent required active treatment or on-going observation.

Early detection and treatment can prevent pain, breathing difficulties, short stature and obvious chest deformities resulting from progression of the problem. Correction is possible with body braces and through other methods. Allowed to progress without medical attention, however, correction often requires surgical procedures.

It is the hope of the Beach school staff that the screening program will prevent later problems from scoliosis or kyphosis for all students participating.

Lay-Away Plan

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

Last October it was revealed that the sixth leading cause of death in the U. S. is infections acquired in hospitals. According to the prestigious National Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, 30,000 patients a year die from hospital acquired infections.

Professor Lowell Levin of the Yale University Medical School has stated that as many as one out of three patients leaves a U. S. hospital with a medical problem caused by entering the institution in the first place.

Additional victims of the U. S. health care system are people who become ill from the side effects of prescriptions written by their own physicians. A survey of this problem showed that nearly half of the people in the study had not been asked by their doctors what other medications the patients were taking. (My own physician, I'm happy to say, does ask these questions and so does my pharmacist.)

Yet another report from the Center for Disease Control is that hospitals and doctors' offices are fertile ground for the transmission of measles.

Glancing at these dismaying reports, a visiting scientist from another planet might conclude that the American health care system is filled with undereducated practitioners working in impoverished and poorly equipped institutions.

The fact is that American health care costs are eating up 11 percent of the national income, one dollar out of every nine that you earn. Hospital beds cost hundreds of dollars a day. For many simple operations taking only a few minutes, the surgeon's fee is commonly $1,000 to $2,000. The use of a bed pan in some hospitals is charged at $3.50 per use. Although your room fee includes the cost of nursing care, you may find aspirin itemized on your bill at $1 per pill.

It is my observation that the boards of directors of many large hospitals are dominated by physicians with not enough management experience to run a small shop or retail store. They, in turn, are guided by professional administrators with just enough medical experience to apply Band-aids to scratched fingers.

Several years ago when Chrysler Corp. was in desperate financial trouble, the health care costs of Chrysler employees amounted to $400 million a year or more than $1.1 million per day via Blue Cross/Blue Shield. Joseph A. Califano, Jr., who had served as Secretary of Health during the Carter administration and then returned to private law practice, became a member of the Chrysler Board and Chairman of the Directors Committee on Health Care.

As a result of his investigations—which saved millions for Chrysler and hurt no one—he concluded that the nation is suffering from "The Great Health Care Shell Game." Califano explained, "The Congress puts a cap on Medicare payments to hospitals, and the hospitals just pass the costs off to the states. The states put their own caps on Medicare hospital payments, and the hospitals just move the pea to the private insurers and the Blues. The Congress establishes caps on medical procedures in hospitals and the doctors move the pea outside the hospital to their offices or clinics."

The former health secretary went on to ask: What does Chrysler get for its health care dollar? He answered, "A health care industry that is expensive, wasteful and inefficient."

He then cited:

- Exorbitant charges for surgery and the use of operating rooms
- An investigation of hospital treatments for low back problems where 85 percent of the admissions were inappropriate—a waste of $1 million
- Thousands of costly tests unnecessarily performed as part of the anti-malpractice rituals of physicians
- Maternity cases in which mothers were confined to the hospital 25 percent more days than were necessary
- Needless surgical operations that could have been prevented if the patient had sought a second medical opinion
- More hospital operations that could be economically and safely accomplished in outpatient clinics.

He described other costly losses which were uncovered by his investigation and, if you had a chance to read or hear his entire shell game speech, you would realize that we are all in this frightfully expensive health care mess together.

If, for instance, you are insured by Blue Cross/Blue Shield and BCBS pays out a billion dollars for unneeded operations or hospitalization, you must help pay the bill. If your employer is providing health insurance, you are still not getting a free ride. The more your employer pays for health insurance, the less the company can offer in pay or other benefits.

You can help to reduce the cost of health care in several ways. One is to eat the right foods in the right amounts to keep your weight under control. Another is a program of regular exercise for physical fitness. A third is to have sufficient contact with your family physician so that life threatening ailments can be discovered in their early and treatable stages. Finally, when you do visit your doctor, tell him or her the truth—all of it—about your health problems and health habits.

The other part of the process is to seek reciprocal truths from your physician. As a patient, you should share in the decision to go ahead with a test, an operation or a hospitalization. The Wayne County Medical Society suggests that you base your decision on your doctor's answers to these 12 questions:

1. What is this test or operation that is being suggested?
2. What will you find out if you go through with it?
3. Would something bad happen if I don't get it?
 - a. Like what?
 - b. Is this very likely to happen?
4. What do you actually do in this operation or treatment?
5. How does this help me?
6. Is there much risk?
7. Is this operation unusual or is it common?
8. Is there any other type of treatment as good as this one?
9. Is this the kind of surgery I can have as an outpatient?
10. Do I have to be in the hospital for all the tests or treatments or can I stay at home or in a hotel?
11. Is there anything I need to do beforehand to arrange for my care afterwards?
12. Will my insurance cover it?

WHY DO THEY CALL THESE WOOD DUCKS, conservation officer Craig Wales asked third graders during last week's presentation at North school. Wales talked about his job, why he carries a gun, and how children should treat wildlife, among the many topics of his talk.

Wales described the life of a conservation officer, and brought examples of several kinds of wildlife, including a rattlesnake.

Veterans' Benefits Checks Converting To New Design

Veterans' benefits checks will have a new design as the new month begins. Starting April 1, millions of veterans receiving compensation or pension benefits will get a new check from the United States government.

A new light-weight paper check will replace the old green punched-card check issued by the federal government for the past 40 years.

The change in veterans' checks is part of a national conversion to paper checks, reports the U. S. Treasury Department. Payments made for Supplemental Security Income, railroad retirement, civil service retirement and federal salaries disbursed by the Treasury also will change to the new check on April 1.

Social Security payments and federal income tax refunds were previously converted to the paper check.

New Garden Club Being Organized

With "spring" showing signs of coming to us, now is the time to help form and join the new garden club.

The second meeting of the Federated Garden Club will be held Tuesday, March 25 at the Village Council room, Chelsea Municipal Building, 104 E. Middle St., Chelsea.

Anyone, man or woman, who likes to think or do gardening should go to the meeting from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday with a "brown bag" lunch to take part in organizing the club and choosing officers.

Members are to contribute their ideas as to what plants to use this spring.

For more information call 1-498-2056.

Humane Society Plans Annual Dog Walkathon

What? Did I hear you say spring? Are you talking about a six-mile walk outside? Yes, yes, and yes! Snow may still be on the ground but the Humane Society of Huron Valley can guarantee that warm walking weather is just around the corner and so is "Dog Walkathon '86."

May 10 will mark the seventh year HSHV has sponsored the annual walkathon to raise money for their emergency rescue and cruelty investigation programs. According to Dee Gibson, manager of both programs, plans for the event are well under way. "Our faithful business supporters have once again been very generous with donations of refreshments and prizes and we also have new contributors adding to our exciting 'Prizes for Pros'." Ms. Gibson mentioned that walker sponsor brochures will be available the end of March. "We encourage people to start gathering pledges as soon as possible. This helps walkers avoid a last minute crunch and also allows more people to learn about the Walkathon and join in the fun."

If interested in being a walker or sponsor for this year's Walkathon contact the Humane Society of Huron Valley, 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., Ann Arbor 48105; phone 662-5685.

Lyng Confirmed As Secretary of Agriculture

Richard Lyng was confirmed by the U. S. Senate as Secretary of Agriculture by a vote of 95 to 2. The two dissenting votes were Senators Don Riegle (D-Michigan) and William Proxmire (D-Wisconsin).

Lyng served for four years as Deputy USDA Secretary under former Secretary John Block, who resigned last month.

"As we have therefore opportunity let us do good unto all men."

North School Students Travel Through Books

North school students are challenged to see how many countries they can "visit" with books. A large banner proclaims: Books—Passport to the World. Below it, a large world map will be peppered with small dots showing each country "visited." A student can earn a special bookmark for each fiction, non-fiction, and folk tale book about a foreign country.

To kick off this unit, each second through fifth grade class went "around the world," seeing slides from England, the Suez Canal, India, Singapore, Sumatra, Indonesia, Bangkok, Tokyo, and back to Michigan. They talked about life in Sumatra, where Mrs. Loeb lived while she was in the third and fourth grades (her father worked for the U.S. Rubber Co. at that time.) They agreed that it must have been very different from what it is like in Chelsea, especially the weather, and having servants. But children are children around the world, and many experiences are very similar to life here in Michigan.

A list of Indonesian words was shared with the children, and they were encouraged to try to learn some words, not only Indonesian, but also of the languages from the countries they "visited" through books.

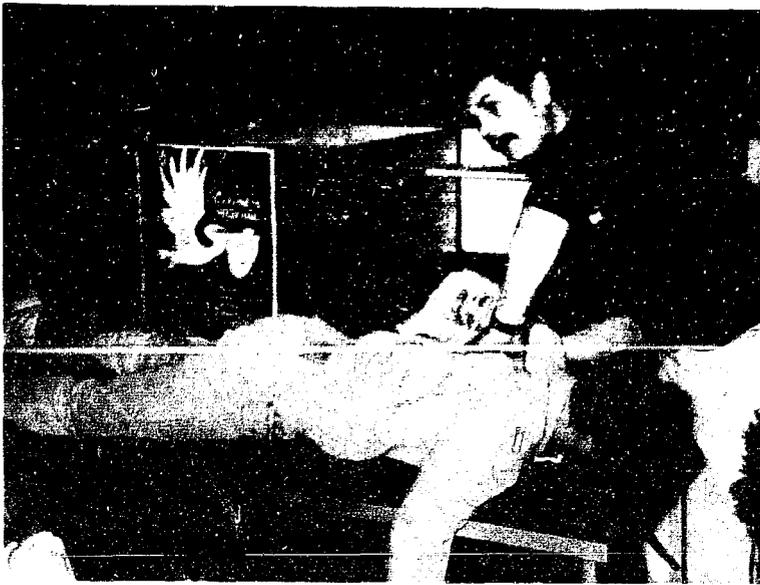

The "Trip Around the World" was held the week of March 17, and the students will continue to "travel" through April.

At the winter commencement 213 graduates were awarded advanced and specialist's degrees. Among those receiving degrees were Susan M. Arnour, 20630 Bowers Rd., master of science, and Catherine L. Koefoed, 18879 W. Austin Rd., master of arts, both of Manchester area.

TECHNIQUES IN MASSAGE for the treatment of pain was one of the many popular subjects at Wealth of Health Day, at Chelsea High school last Wednesday. The morning was filled with classes on health-related topics, many of them taught by experts at Chelsea Community Hospital and the surrounding area. School district staffer Mary-ellen Miller can be credited for performing the miracle of getting everybody together and running a smooth program. Above, Donald Johnson, a massage therapist, demonstrates one of the techniques on a willing subject.

KOREAN KARATE was one of the subjects taught at Chelsea High school's Wealth of Health Day last Wednesday. Mary-ellen Miller, of Chelsea High, and Chelsea Community Hospital, combined to bring the half-day event to the school. All kinds of health-related topics were discussed and taught by area experts. The second annual event was generally considered an overwhelming success by principal John Williams and other administrators.

ADMINISTERING TO A COUPLE OF dummies are Kelly Ghent, left, and Shelby Haas, two Chelsea High school students who took part in Wealth of Health Day held at the high school last Wednesday. Kelly and Shelby signed up for the CPR class that was offered as part of the event. Mary-ellen Miller, a high school staffer, coordinated the day with Chelsea Community Hospital, who supplied many of the health professionals for the event. 34 different classes were offered throughout the morning rather than the normal schedule, and they dealt with a wide variety of health topics.

MCRC Meeting Scheduled

The 21st annual meeting of the Mill Creek Research Council has been planned for March 25 at 8 p.m. at the Lima Township Hall.

On the agenda are a review of this past year's activities, possible concerns to be faced in the year ahead, and election of the board of directors to serve for a year.

During this past year an attempt was made to learn about the faster train service proposals on which several hearings were held. Six somewhat different choices are being presented. Projected costs of these alternatives run from $155,000,000 in capital building costs with $43,000,000 in yearly operating costs for an 80 mph, 4 1/4-hour trip between Chicago and Detroit, to $2,870,000 for land acquisition and construction and $55,400,000 yearly operating costs for a 250 mph, one hour and 40 minute trip between the same cities.

With the three fastest travel times some rerouting would be done west from Romulus roughly following I-94. No maps were made available.

It seems likely there might be some disruption of the Mill Creek basin. Even with the slower routes there would be local road closings and other changes.

Presently serving on the M.C.R.C.'s 12-member board are Wally Fusiler, chairman; Janet Taroli, vice-chairman; Margaret Sias, recording secretary; Betty Messman, corresponding secretary; William Chandler, treasurer; also, Charles Arnold, David Bacon, Barbara Eby, Gerald Myers, Harold Powers, Roger Storm, and Linda White.

Dues are $10 per year for present or former members; $12 for new members and may be sent to William Chandler, 765 Howard Rd., Chelsea 48118.

Lake Area Seeking More Police Help

Residents of the Portage and Base Lakes area are currently considering the purchase of additional police protection.

At a meeting held in September of 1985, the general feeling of members of the Portage and Base Lakes Owners Association was they needed to do something to stop the increasing problems associated with McGregor Rd. and other areas around the lakes. Washtenaw County Sheriff Ron Scheibel displayed a long computer print-out at the meeting of all the calls his department has made to the lake area being discussed. He told the PBLOA members his department was giving them all the service they possibly could, but that budget limitations wouldn't allow allocating a patrol car to the area on a permanent basis.

At the Feb. 21 PBLOA meeting, a plan was suggested whereby Sheriff Scheibel would provide a patrol car, uniformed deputy who was familiar with the lakes area for $12.50 per hour (plus mileage to cover the week-ends and some week nights). The cost for the season, starting in June and concluding on Labor Day, was estimated to be approximately $5,000.

Sheriff Scheibel explained that if Livingston County Sheriff DeBurton would indemnify and give the uniformed deputy Livingston County status, he (the uniformed deputy) could then patrol the entire area.

Further discussion suggested the townships involved would write the contract and the PBLOA would assist in raising the necessary funds to implement the plan.

Dexter Township Supervisor Jim Drolett stated he would ask his township board to go 50/50 with the PBLOA organization on matching funds up to the proposed $5,000.

Webster Township Supervisor Don Zeeb indicated Webster would also contribute to get the new program started.

A suggestion was offered at the PBLOA meeting that each household contribute $10 per year. Members were asked to send the checks to the PBLOA Patrol Fund by April 1.

By the April 1 deadline, it would be evident if area residents would be able to finance the patrolling program. "If we don't reach our goal, or something unforeseen happens that we cannot go ahead, we'll return your check to you," promised PBLOA officers.

Among the problems which led residents of the lakes area to seek some type of additional police protection were the appearance of reckless drivers along McGregor Rd., suspected (and some confirmed) drug dealings, continued teenage drinking and vandalism to property, theft of automobile parts, loitering and loud parties reported late at night.

With the April 1 date fast approaching, a total of $890 has already been received by PBLOA, and the officers of the organization remind lake area residents to "send along the $10 or more check as your vote to implement the additional policing protection for the area." Make the check out to the PBLOA Patrol Fund and mail it to PBLOA, 9294 Dexter-Pinckney Rd., Pinckney 48169.

A record 6.2 million families with children were maintained by mothers in 1984, and they accounted for one-fifth of all families with children. In 1985 there were about half as many such families, and they constituted only 1 in 7 families with children, according to "Working Mothers and Their Children," a fact sheet issued by the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

PRIZE-WINNING AUTHORS were these Beach school girls after they entered a short story contest sponsored by Jacobson's department store. Holly Jorgensen, right, won the $35 top prize for her story, "Growing Up Is Sometimes Hard To Do." Chris Tallman won an honorable mention prize of $10 for her story, "Beyond the Sand Bar." The three main criteria for the contest were that the stories be 3-8 pages long, have a clear plot, have characters developed through action and dialogue, and have a central focus and theme.

CHELSEA GIRL SCOUTS, and others across the country, have had a busy month distributing cookies in their neighborhood. Last Saturday the girls tried selling cookies over the counter, and these youngsters managed to sell nearly 50 boxes in three hours at Chelsea State Bank. CHelsea KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS accepted advance contributions by local businesses for the annual Tootsie Roll Drive to benefit retarded children and adults. This year's drive will be held March 21-23 in the downtown business area. Companies giving advance contributions included Palmer Ford, Chelsea Industries, Dana Corp., Taco Bell, BookCrafters, Klink Excavating, and Chelsea State Bank, and various other businesses, according to project chairman Jerry Martell. From left are Bob Guerla, Grand Knight of the Chelsea council, Martell, Ron Marten, making a presentation on behalf of Taco Bell, and Al Schmidt, who presented money on behalf of Dana.

K. of C. Tootsie Roll Sale Benefits Mentally Retarded

Chelsea Knights of Columbus Council 3092 will join K. of C. groups throughout Michigan in their annual Tootsie Roll sale March 21-23 to benefit mentally retarded children and adults. During the local drive, members of the K. of C. will be located at various businesses and street corners in the downtown area. They will be recognized by the canisters they carry and the wearing of bright yellow aprons inscribed with "Help Retarded Children—Knights of Columbus." Pedestrians will be asked for a donation and will be given a Tootsie Roll in appreciation. Eighty percent of the net income that the Chelsea K. of C. collects will be distributed to Chelsea area groups and agencies. In past years, the money has paid for a camping trip to Camp Grindley for 12 of Chelsea's special education students and for needed furnishings and supplies at St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys. The other 20 percent is forward to the state K. of C. council to meet program expenses and additional donations to non-profit agencies which provide help to the mentally retarded. Jerry Martell is the chairman of the local project.

High School Orchestra Rated Tops

Chelsea High school orchestra received straight "1" ratings at the High School District 12 Orchestra Festival held at John Glenn High school in Westland last week-end.

The orchestra played three prepared pieces and were graded on sight reading as well. The prepared pieces included "Concerto Grosso in d," by Antonio Vivaldi, "Capriol Suite," by Peter Warlock, and "Tannhauser Suite," by Richard Wagner.

It was an excellent achievement by the orchestra, especially because there are no seniors, just four juniors, with the remaining musicians freshmen and sophomores, according to director Jed Fritzeimer.

Nine schools participated in the festival.

Bulldog Softball Team Working To Prepare For Defense of Titles

Chelsea softball coach Charlie Waller expects his team will once again contend for the Southeastern Conference title (perhaps their eighth straight), but how far beyond that the Bulldogs go is anybody's guess.

"It's going to be an interesting season," Waller says.

"We lost seven seniors to graduation and five of them were all-state. It's going to be tough to replace that many good players."

Waller plans to keep 16 players on the varsity squad this season, two more than last year. Many of the positions are wide open, and he may not know his opening line-up until the team returns from spring practice in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

"That's unusual for us," Waller says.

"Usually I'll have most of the positions filled before the first day of practice. This year we could go into our first game with only seven positions filled for sure. It will probably be a fun season to coach since there's so much to do, but it's also a little frightening."

The team could be characterized as short on power, but strong on defense and pitching, Waller says.

"We'll probably try to get our two or three runs and then count on our defense and pitching," Waller says.

"We probably won't swing at the ball as much but rely more on the bunt and run attack, although we're not real fast."

Waller says a key to the season lies in how much his solid core of seniors—Chris DeFant, Chandy Hurd, Michelle Easton, Jennifer Cattell and Kris Mattoff—develops during the season.

DeFant, who finished at 6-0 last season, will be the number one pitcher, and "get a lot of work," Waller says.

Easton will continue as the top Bulldog catcher.

Cattell will likely play second base, moving from shortstop.

"With our bunt defense, the second baseman has to play outstanding defense," Waller says. "We want our best infielder to play there."

Hurd will likely be an outfielder, along with Mattoff.

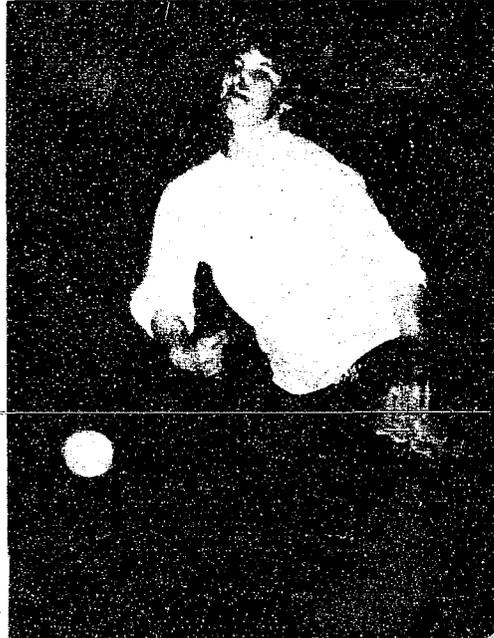

"The seniors need to make the most progress in one season in order to maintain the excellence we've had," Waller says.

"And they've really been working hard, which is exactly what you want to see this early in the season."

Waller is also depending heavily on two other seniors, Cathy Burkel and Jill Schaffner. Schaffner is the likely number three pitcher, while Burkel is projected as the third outfielder.

"We lost a lot of good (batters)," Waller says. "I'd like to get Jill's bat in the line-up somewhere."

While Waller has a good idea where those seven seniors will play, most of the rest of the positions are up for grabs, including first base, shortstop and third base.

CHRIS DEFANT entered the pre-season as the top Bulldog pitcher, and promises to be the next in a long line of outstanding Chelsea hurlers. Last season the senior pitched in the shadow of Beth Unterbrink and Kelly Hawker, who have both graduated, but she finished with a 6-0 record. Coach Charlie Waller emphasizes pitching probably more than any other aspect of the game.

Young Swimmers Chop Their Times

Ten-year-old swimmer Melissa Thiel turned in a sterling performance last week-end at the Michigan Short Course Junior Olympics, making the cut-off times in all five of her events.

"I was particularly impressed by the amount of time she dropped in each event," said coach Dave Brinklow.

"She dropped four seconds in the 50-yard butterfly, and took second place, three seconds in the 100-yard backstroke, and took third place, two seconds in the 50-yard freestyle, good for second place, three seconds in the 50-yard backstroke, and took first place, and seven seconds in the 200-yard individual medley, and took seventh place."

Brinklow said that Colby Skelton and Matt Montage, in the 10-and-under boys, and Sara Nicola and Erika Boughton, the 11-12 girls also turned in exceptional performances.

Results of the meet follow.

Thiel: 50-butterfly, :35.58; 100-backstroke, 1:24.37; 50-freestyle, :31.58; 50-backstroke, :36.81; 200-individual medley, 2:59.38.

Skelton: 100-freestyle, 4th place, 1:10.89; 100-individual medley, 3rd place, 1:21.99.

Seven juniors, including second pitcher Pam Brown, who had an outstanding junior varsity season last year, are being counted upon. The others include Trish Mattoff, Karen Weber ("she'll get a good look at third base"), Kelly Ghent, Angie DeFant ("number two catcher"), Jody Keizer and Kim Perry.

Sophomores Ceia Murphy, who hit well on the JV, and Kelly Stump, are also likely to see a lot of action.

The Southeastern Conference in general is likely to have more balance than in previous years. Waller likes Dexter and Saline as legitimate contenders, with a stiff challenge from Pinckney.

"Dexter should be real strong," Waller says. "In the past they've been kind of a second echelon team that would pull off a couple of upsets during the season. But we should be able to play with any team in the league."

The league has gone to an all double-header schedule this year, which should give the girls about 12 additional games. Waller says he likes the idea because it will give more girls a chance to play.

"We'll need those games to improve since we do have a ways to go," Waller says.

THE FINE ART OF BLOCKING THE PLATE is the topic of discussion for Ken Sullius, who is giving some pre-season instruction to Chelsea softball catchers. Angie DeFant looks on. How well Bulldog catchers do their job will play a key role this season.

Kelly Hawker Wins Two for Wayne State

Kelly Hawker, a freshman at Wayne State University, pitched a no-hit shut out in her first outing of the season as her team beat East Stroudsburg College, 3-0, in a game played in Columbia, S.C. last Saturday.

Hawker, the former Chelsea standout on last season's state championship team, struck out nine. The only thing that stood between her and a perfect game was one walk.

She also won her second outing of the season, on Sunday, 1-0, over Stockton State College, also played in Columbia.

She yielded only five hits and struck out seven.

Wayne State is ranked 12 in NCAA division II.

Amy Unterbrink Hits Winning Form

Amy Unterbrink is at it again. The senior softball pitcher at Indiana University won her first two games last week, a four-hit, 3-1 victory over Bradley, and a one-hit, 5-0 shutout of Eastern Illinois.

In the Bradley win, Unterbrink struck out 11, and increased that total to 17 against Eastern Illinois.

Pro Bass Team Organizing for '86

It's a slow season right now for avid fishermen, but as soon as the sun breaks out and hits the lakes and streams for a few days and the thermometer rises 20 degrees or so, fishing will be in full swing again for the 1986 season.

Dennis Andrew reports the Pro Bass Team for the entire western Washtenaw area has been meeting regularly through the fall and winter months, and as spring approaches, the group has already set dates for two Bass-fishing tournaments at Portage Lake.

Friday, June 7, the Pro Bass Team will sponsor a tournament for two-man open teams on Portage Lake. Fishing will continue for eight hours, beginning at 7 a.m. Closing hour will be 3 p.m.

Secretary-treasurer of the group locally is Dennis Andrew, who explained $1,125 in cash prizes will be shared among first-place through sixth-place winners, in addition to the trophies presented at the conclusion of the tourney.

A total of 40 two-man teams will be participating in the competition. Each boat (carrying a two-man team) will pay a $50 entry fee as one of the required contest qualifications.

A contest for husband and wife (or girl friend) teams will be held Friday, July 12, on Portage Lake. The competition is limited to 30 teams, with entry fee set at $40 per team. Prizes will be $850 in cash with many trophies presented.

Andrew said early this week other officers, elected in January by the Pro Bass Team, include Rick Meriwether, president, Marv Stucki, vice-president and Wayne Kiser, tournament director.

The Pro Bass Team for members aged 18 and up meets at 7 p.m. each third Sunday of the month at Portage Field and Marina (formerly the bait store), located on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. between Portage and Little Portage Lakes.

People wishing to join the organization are welcome to attend the meeting and learn about the goals of the Pro Bass Team and the activities in which they engage. Annual membership fee for adults is $20.

The Pro Bass Team has given several seminars on the campus of Eastern Michigan University. The group also supports a Youth Club with a program designed for young people, 4½ to 15 years. Meetings for the younger members are held once each month at Forsythe Junior High, located on Newport Rd., Ann Arbor. Each young person should be accompanied by an adult at the meeting, Andrew explained. Youth Program meets this week at 7 p.m. Friday, March 21, and on the third Friday of every month at Forsythe school.

Films on fishing are shown at many of the meetings for the younger members. Training in knot-tying and suggestions about how to effectively use different pieces of fishing equipment are also presented at the meetings.

Todd Sprague Scoring for WMU

Chelsea's Todd Sprague has had a busy winter on the track team at Western Michigan University.

On Feb. 22 he placed fifth in the shot put at the Silverton Invitational in Ann Arbor. His toss was 52' 4", representing the team's best performance of the year.

In the eight-team Mid-American Invitational at Eastern Michigan University on Feb. 28, Sprague placed in two events.

He was third in the 35-pound weight event with a throw of 54' 10", and was sixth in the shot put at 50' 3". His performance in the 35-pound event was the team's best of the season.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER on the 1985-86 Chelsea Bulldogs basketball team was junior forward Mark Barelis. Barelis led the team in scoring and rebounding, and both free throw and field goal percentage. He was named to the All-SEC second team and the All-County Team.

MOST IMPROVED PLAYER for the 1985-86 Chelsea varsity basketball team was junior guard Jon Lane, in his first year on the varsity squad. Jon is a good ball-handler and one of the best free throw shooters on the team. "Jon was in a difficult position because he didn't have much chance to display his talent," said coach Rahn Rosentritt. "Nevertheless, we felt he was the most improved player."

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Chelsea High school's softball program has class. Even though I've never seen the varsity team play (actually, I did see half a game last season as I was covering Dexter), I could tell by attending one practice last week that the coaching staff, and players, know how to put together a winning program.

All the elements are there. As in all good programs, the practice was exceptionally well organized. Catchers were upstairs on one side learning the fine points of blocking the plate. The batting cage was upstairs on the opposite side, and girls were taking their swings. And downstairs was a boatload of pitchers, who were throwing, throwing, and throwing some more. And they had music. Upstairs, in one corner, was one of those portable stereos that looks like a piece of overnight luggage with built-in speakers.

Right then and there, I knew the Chelsea girls themselves had class. You gotta like a program where the girls take batting practice with Elvis Costello.

As I was driving home from that practice I realized that many of my fondest sports memories are linked to music. More specifically, they're linked to particular songs.

When I was a senior, I played goalie on my high school (this was a private school) lacrosse team. If you've never seen a lacrosse game, the rules are similar to soccer except each player has a stick with a leather net on the end, and a hard, rubber ball, about the size of a tennis ball is used. It can be a rough sport.

Anyway, about three weeks into the season, we had lost our first game. Toward the end of April, for one practice, we were blessed with one of those 80 degree days you occasionally see in the early spring in northern Ohio.

Our practice field was behind one of the dormitories. In celebration of the weather, one of my teammates who lived in that dorm decided to set up his stereo outside. He hauled out a monster amplifier, two four-foot speakers, and what seemed like miles of extension cord. He put on a tape, and we went on with our practice. For the most part, none of us paid any attention to the music.

At one point practice became a little sluggish, and the coach called a re-grouping time out. Everybody was complaining about the heat, sore muscles, a lack of dates, anything you can think of.

But someone went over to the stereo and turned it up loud—I mean mind-numbing, nose-bleeding, get-your-little-sister-inside loud. From then on, our season wasn't quite the same.

The live version of "Plastic Fantastic Lover" by Jefferson Airplane thundered through us.

A couple of our defensemen picked up their sticks and began to play air guitar. By the end of the song, everyone, including the coach, was playing air guitar. (I've often wondered what that must have looked like to a passerby.)

At any rate, that song became our theme song (the beat, not the lyrics). Somebody put it on a cassette tape and we played it before taking the field each game.

We went on to win the rest of our games and I'm convinced that song played at least a small part. It revved us up, as any good rock 'n roll number can, and helped us loosen up. Who can play air guitar and stay tight at the same time?

The previous winter I was cut from the varsity basketball team and became its manager. The team had several exceptional athletes, four of whom were black. Two boys were Jewish and the rest of us had your basic waxy middle class backgrounds. I can't speak for the other wasps, but the only experience I had ever had with a black or a Jew before high school was through television, which, is to say, no experience at all. At any rate all our backgrounds were different.

It was also a period when Malcolm X, Martin Luther King Jr., H. Rap Brown, and other civil rights activists were in the news. Tensions were high, and many of us white boys didn't really understand what was going on.

That was also the winter I was introduced to the Temptations, as Motown was in its heyday. One of the black guys brought a cassette player on the bus to every game, and he and the other black guys would sing along. "Psychedelic Shack," was the tune that seemed to inspire them the most. On the way to one game, early in the season, one of the Jewish guys decided to sing along. He had an awful voice, and it kind of took all of us by surprise. By the end of that road trip, the black guys had all of us trying to sing along.

Again, that incident seemed to change the season for good. From then on the team sang Motown songs together at least part of the way to every game, and religiously while dressing before each game. Any barriers that existed between the players seemed to vanish, at least temporarily, once the singing began. I think the play on the court was better for it, too. The team finished with an 18-1 record, although those players were so good they may have finished with the same record even if I had been good enough to make the cut.

To this day, I can't hear either "Plastic Fantastic Lover," or "Psychedelic Shack" without thinking about those teams. I wonder if the Chelsea girls will associate any song with what could be their third state championship season.

Public Help Sought in Purple Martin Survey

Michigan landowners are being asked to take part in a special field study of Michigan's declining purple martin population beginning this spring, when these cavity-nesting birds return from South America to nest in Michigan.

The five-year project, sponsored by Michigan's Nongame Wildlife Fund, will require approximately 500 volunteer record keepers, five or more persons from each of Michigan's 83 counties, to record the birds' arrival (mid to late April)/departure (August/September) dates and occupancy numbers. This data will be used by wildlife biologists to better determine future habitat and nesting management of Michigan's dwindling purple martin populations.

The largest member of North America's swallow family, these insect-eating birds, state-wide, have experienced a 50 percent decline in numbers over the last 20 years and a 75 percent drop in southwestern Michigan, according to project leader Richard Wolinski. Increased competition by the European starling and sparrows for nesting areas punctuated by severe cold weather conditions in the spring, limiting their insect food supply, has contributed to their decline, remarked Wolinski.

"In the spring of 1982 particularly, purple martin populations in Michigan and 16 other states plummeted," added Bob Hess, head of DNR's Nongame Wildlife Section. "When harsh cold weather conditions prevailed in these areas. It created the most severe and widespread loss known to hit any single species of bird," he added.

In Michigan, remaining purple martin populations are found mostly near water, along open edges of inland lakes and the Great Lakes. They will readily nest in boxes or colony houses placed on poles in open agricultural or semi-open grassy areas. Male martins normally return to Michigan in early April to search for nesting and roosting sites, while female birds arrive on the scene later that month.

For survey forms and additional information on the project, interested persons should contact, within the next few weeks: Richard Wolinski, Purple Martin Survey, 2450 Baker Rd., Dexter 48130. Persons interested in construction plans for building purple martin houses may write to the Nongame Wildlife Program, DNR Wildlife Division, P. O. Box 30028, Lansing 48909.

Free Cat Behavior Seminar Offered By Humane Society

Tiger been using the clothes hamper instead of his litterbox? Or has he decided that sharp, long claws can easily be had from the living room couch? If your favorite feline has been giving you problems or if you just want to learn more about its personality, join the Humane Society of Huron Valley for its first Cat Behavior and Care Seminar for 1986.

"We are very excited about our cat seminar and feel cat owners will truly benefit from the information we have to share," says Leslie Coates, director of education at HSHV. "We are covering all feline related topics including personality, health care, grooming, feeding, and behavior problems." Ms. Coates mentioned that free literature and identification tags will be available and a question and answer period is scheduled.

The public is welcomed to attend the free seminar which will be held at the Education Center at the shelter on April 1, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Feel free to contact the shelter at 662-5585 for additional information. Please, no pets.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

The folks doing research into "Drugs and Drinking Among Teen-agers" are to be commended highly. It's a realistic problem that needs admission, direction, and cure. Finding the disease is the first step.

We have come a long way into the era that has forgotten how to let a child be a child. Our youth being hardly out of diapers themselves are thrown into adult level sex ed classes. So much knowledge into a child's mind only leads to self control but curiosity and self indulgence. Because they think they have all the answers now! We call this "experimentation." There seems to be a great lack of absorption on the part of students as to the moral responsibility of their actions, and how a sex act is like holding a "lighted stick of dynamite" that when performed outside marriage leaves an indelible mark on one's lifetime and on a third person should pregnancy result. The whole course of three people's lives (not to mention parents) is changed forever.

Perhaps it's not students who fail to absorb, but rather, a lack of moral teaching and followup of the traumatic consequences of freedom sexual experiences in sex ed classrooms. Then too, what is taught if anything of boys responsibility to both the girl and baby (unborn) should that life occur?

We are not looking at a small matter here. The experts tell us teen-age pregnancy is on the upward rise. In 1986 there will be 400,000 abortions performed and half of this number, 200,000 to be exact, will be performed on teen-age girls.

That is awesome! This moral issue of sex education should be handled from the pulpit of our churches. Why are so many pastors afraid of "ruffling feathers" if it can prevent the heartache and guilt that never really leaves one.

Sex ed is not the only influence affecting our teens. There is TV programming, daytime and night programming where its "in" to be immoral. You, Mr. Editor, and readers, as well as teens know exactly what is, if you own a TV set.

TV, musical video, cable, especially are suggestive. Sex in advertising from toothpaste to jeans. Records, our youth were tuned into music from day one. They know every singing commercial note and words. They learn to music. Then we come to recordings which put immorality to music. There are those who endorse drugs, as escape. Suicide as alternative—and, yes, suggest devil worship. Let your ears judge. Listen to what your children hear. They are being bombarded right in your own homes.

We are not playing with "make believe." We are shaping human lives. Parents, pastors, you're the only real link to moral teachings. Don't be afraid to use your authority, your wisdom, knowledge, you God-given right, and obligation. You can make the difference.

Perhaps the book of life we should share with our children is "The Bible." Think about it. It has been the top best seller for hundreds of years. It holds all the answers to our questions, comfort for our fears, hope. This is the place and now is the time. Reach out for life and peace.

Millie Warner.

Dear Editor:

While I am not usually the type to say, "I told you so," the recent disclosure of devil worship among our nation's youth comes as little surprise to me. Nor am I surprised that our news media seem so far behind the rest of us in recognizing this terrible tragedy. With the possible exceptions of Bill Bonds and Paul Harvey, I do not think your typical grinning news anchor would know Satan if he appeared on the broadcast and poked the poor weatherman with his pitchfork.

One night a few months ago, I stayed up quite late, and flipping through the dials, I happened upon a movie starring John Cardine, Yvonne DeCarlo, and Jack Kruschen about a group of elderly Satanists sacrificing high school cheerleaders to their dark master in the hope of gaining eternal life. As I recall, the film was called 'Satan's School for Cheerleaders.' (By the way, if your columnist Brian Hamilton really wants to make an issue of mediocre cheerleading, he might wish to start with the genuinely lousy work on display in this movie!)

What concerned me was not so much the movie's depiction of Satanic rites, which seemed quite realistic, but the fact that Satanism, like sexual activity in other youth-oriented films, was made to appear pleasurable for its victims. Since the movie was being shown on TV, all of the really bloody parts were cut out, so many young viewers were probably left with the impression that Satanic acts are not more dangerous than your typical ice cream social. In this case, I would argue that a responsible TV station should show the film unedited to alert cheerleaders and other impressionable young persons to the truly gruesome consequences of Satanism.

While we are on this subject, I thought I might clear up a misconception about the link between rock music and Satanism. Although it is undeniable that many current rock stars are pawns of the devil, I happen to know for a fact that, through his songs, movies, and charitable deeds, the late Elvis Presley battled as long and hard as anyone against Godlessness. Furthermore, his millions of fans continue the fight today. Therefore, it is an unfair generalization to say that all rock music is fetid swill.

Pastor Thodeson Attends Seminar on Prison Ministries
 A four-day Prison Ministries Seminar was held at Heritage USA, Fort Mill, S.C., known as PTL.
 Pastor Thode Thodeson was in attendance from here, also three volunteer workers from Adrian. The seminar was held March 5-8.
 Several very important issues were constantly stressed: being well trained and aftercare.
 Sessions began at 8:30 a.m. and ended at 5 p.m. Dinner and special speakers were combined for a very beneficial evening.
 There were more than 300 in attendance, coming from many states. Speakers and instructors included wardens, head chaplains and volunteer chaplains including chaplains from prisons like Attica.
 Pastor Thodeson now is serving as a local volunteer chaplain at Cassidy Lake Technical School conducting Sunday night chapel services, counselling sessions every Wednesday and sharing with volunteers from Adrian in weekly Bible studies.
 Through local interest an ongoing reading class is being planned to help slow readers improve

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ One Bright Farming Note

With world-wide surpluses of most crops and livestock products, less exports of American farm products, and consequently lower prices for those raised in this country, any small bit of good news for farmers is big news. Watching the price of gasoline and diesel fuel dropping at the pumps has been very attractive to those of us who travel around some, but you can imagine the satisfaction farmers must be getting as they look forward to spring planting season. Not only do they use hundreds of gallons of diesel fuel, but their fertilizer and pesticides are produced from a petroleum base.

Enjoyable Evening With 'Godspell' Reported Despite Lack of Brilliance

By Russell Ogden
Free Lance Drama Critic and Professor at EMU
Homer—Plaintive and joyous emotions of Jesus are reflected in the musical "Godspell" at the True Grist Dinner Theatre by four women and two men in a production that fails to capture the tenderness and simplicity of St. Matthew's biblical text and the familiar parables.

With such hummable and familiar tunes (that we know today as "Day by Day," "Turn Back, O Man," "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord," "All for the Best," and "We Beseech Thee," not to do justice to these melodies would seem impossible. But the True Grist company seems to be shouting their singing or doing nothing at all. The sensitivity necessary for this production is a most potent force and it is sadly lacking in this production.

almost out-Kerred Paul Kerr. If you have never seen "Godspell" on stage before, you will find an enjoyable evening. The sad commentary is that True Grist does not do with "Godspell" the brilliance it deserves. Service and the food were impeccable in every way and certainly helped to make for an enjoyable evening. Based on 1984 USDA farm production expense estimates, farmers spent about $7.1 billion on fuels and oils. If fuel prices to farmers decline by 10%, that would reduce costs by $700 million. Some economists are guessing that final reduction in fuel expenses will be somewhere between 10% and 20%.

Also in 1984, farmers spent $8.9 billion for fertilizer and $4.9 billion for pesticides. A 10% savings in these two petroleum based products would translate into savings of $1.4 billion.

It would appear that final savings in fuel, oil, fertilizer and pesticides will amount to a billion dollars a year, and could reach as much as two billion. Added to this are the savings in transportation costs for the things farmers have to buy and sell.

In 1965, the same year a chemist created the artificial sweetener NutraSweet, another scientist discovered a natural substance which is the world's sweetest known compound. The seeds of the plant he found in the rain forests of West Africa are, molecule for molecule, 100,000 times sweeter than sugar and, on a weight basis, 3,500 times sweeter. International Wildlife magazine reports that the plant, known as katemfe, is being harvested along the Ivory Coast for sale abroad.

Maple Sugar Harvest To Be Shown

The coming of spring was eagerly awaited by Michigan's early settlers who looked forward to the end of winter's isolation and the beginning of the warmer weather.

Traditionally, the work of men and young boys, the maple sugar harvest was an opportunity to escape the confines of their homes and camp out in the dense woods. The work was tedious. Wood had to be chopped, the fire kept going and sap collected several times a day. Evenings were spent around the campfires where stories were told late into the night.

Another springtime activity was the task of shearing the sheep and the preparation of their heavy winter fleeces for spinning.

Cobblestone Farm at 2781 Packard Rd., Ann Arbor, will recreate this special time of the year on Sunday, March 16 and 23, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Costumed interpreters will demonstrate the evaporation process, including syrup and sugar making. A variety of maple products will be available for purchase. There will also be demonstrations of sheep shearing and spinning.

Michigan continued its dominance in motor vehicle assemblies with 28.2 percent of passenger car production and 27.7 percent of the truck output.

Laura Ingalls Wilder Parties Enjoyed By North Students

Third and fifth grade fans of books by Laura Ingalls Wilder were invited to a Laura Ingalls Wilder Party at the North School Media Center Thursday, March 13. They brought their lunch and milk, and sampled foods from recipes that Laura may have used. Volunteers brought corn bread, popcorn, home-made bread, jam, dried fruit, washed lettuce (not iceberg), vinegar, white sugar, and brown sugar. Several copies of recipes from Barbara Walker's "The Little House Cookbook" were shared with the students, so they could try additional recipes at their home, such as fried apples 'n' onions, and vanity cakes.

After lunch the students made autograph albums, shared other activities, and visited the Senior Citizen Center, where entertainment was provided by the Kitchen Band.

Laura Ingalls Wilder wrote fiction books that are favorites of many boys and girls. They are stories about life as she knew it in the pioneer days of the United States. She was born in 1867 in Pepin, Wis., as described in her first book, "Little House in the Big Woods." When she was older, her family moved to "The Little House on the Prairie," in Indian country. Subsequent books tell of her life "On the Banks of Plum Creek," "Little Town on the Prairie," "By the Shores of Silver Lake," among other locations. She married Almonzo Wilder, and moved with him to Mansfield Mo., where a museum is erected in her honor.

A second Laura Ingalls Wilder Party is scheduled for Thursday, March 20, for the fourth graders.

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar
In the next 30 to 60 days, the loons will return to Michigan lakes. You don't have to have lakeshore property or even visit a Michigan lake during the warmer months to be involved with these attractive water birds. If you checked off a contribution to the Michigan Non-Game Wildlife Fund on your state income tax return, you're part of the Department of Natural Resources' effort to restore the loon population in Michigan.

Thanks to the funding from state taxpayers, the DNR is expanding a major effort to find out where loons have traditionally nested and to bring the loons back to certain lakes from which they've disappeared.

The loon is a large, black and white bird, bigger than a mallard. In the water, it resembles a duck except that it has a spearlike bill rather than the duck's flat beak. Its cry is a high-pitched wail and yodel. Reverberating eerily across the still surface of the lake, it resembles a maniacal laugh. Loons are devoted parents that often carry their young on their backs.

Because loons aren't as common as they once were, many people had never seen them before they were featured so prominently in the movie "On Golden Pond." Though biologists aren't sure why the loon population is declining in Michigan, they suspect that disturbance of nesting areas and harassment of adult loons are important. Loons like to nest where vegetation grows down to the water. Power boat wakes could submerge the nests and drown the young. Intentional harassment, such as trying to run over loons with power boats, also occurs.

The DNR is collecting information on loon whereabouts. Anyone who frequents Michigan lakes in the spring and wants to contribute information on loon sightings can help. The DNR is interested in finding out where loons stop along the way to their nesting areas, where they nest and where they used to nest, so if you see them now or used to see them, you have valuable information.

A lake that is just a stopping point now may have been a traditional nesting area in the past and may have potential as a future nesting site. If enough lake property owners are interested, the DNR and volunteers working with the DNR could help create nesting islands and protected areas to provide the loons with the kind of place they need to nest, or loon sanctuaries where the birds could raise their young unmolested. Assistance may also include an educational program to explain why people should stay away from the loons during the spring breeding and nesting period.

This effort is unique in that it is supported by voluntary contributions by Michigan taxpayers and voluntary efforts by wildlife conservationists. Getting involved is a positive way for you to help enhance your opportunities to observe and enjoy nature from your backdoor.

Toronado, Storm Season Is Approaching Quickly

Each year tornadoes injure and kill hundreds of people and cause millions of dollars in damage. These violent storms may occur in any state, at any time, but few areas are more favorable to their formation than the continental plains and Gulf Coast. This area is often called "tornado alley."

Tornadoes occur more frequently where the warm, moist air from the Gulf Coast meets the cool, dry air of the north and northwest. The tornado season can begin as early as February when this center lies over the Central Gulf states. Through March, the center moves to the southeast Atlantic Coast states where, in April, tornado frequency reaches its peak. During May the center of maximum frequency moves to the southern plains states and then northward to the northern plains and Great Lakes area.

A tornado usually develops from a severe thunderstorm. Tornado winds turn counter-clockwise at speeds that vary from under 100 miles per hour to nearly 300 miles per hour and move forward at an average speed of 35 miles per hour. A tornado's destructive force works through the combined action of strong rotary winds, causing a vacuum, and flying debris.

The distinctive, funnel-shaped cloud is easy to recognize. As it touches the earth, it writhes and twists throwing debris in all directions. It is usually accompanied by hail, violent thunderstorms, and strong winds.

Q. My income isn't really big but it looks like it will grow some more and I'm beginning to get conscious of how high my tax rate is getting. Could you tell me some ways I could invest that would be pretty safe and give me some tax-free income?

A. Along with your question in the mail came a copy of the new Market Letter distributed by the Chicago based brokerage firm, Wayne Hummer & Co. They have a section on Unit Investment Trusts and these could be one answer to your question.

A unit trust is an investment company that builds a diversified portfolio of tax exempt bonds then offers units of these portfolios to investors. The unit trust is a way for an individual to spread a small investment over a number of different issues, without becoming involved in selection of individual bonds, in the collection of interest, in the cashing in of bonds at maturity and the reinvestment of funds.

There is a minimum investment of $5,000 required in unit trusts, but there are many features of interest to the investor. You can choose from those which pay interest monthly, quarterly or semi-annually. You can also choose from units which mature in the short, medium, or long term. Short term maturities average six years, medium 10 years and long term average 30 years. The interest rates are in the 8% range for short term and 9 1/2% for long term. Some trusts are insured by private insurers. When the tax exempt status of this income is considered, it is quite good. Your broker should be able to give you a list of unit trusts that are available and a description of the features of each.

Wayne Hummer's letter also contains a Model Portfolio for the investment of $10,000. Although the portfolio deals with taxable investments, it appears to have two appeals to the conservative investor. The quality of the companies is excellent, suggesting that the risk is not great. And the possibility of growth or slowly increasing value in the years ahead appears good.

The Model calls for purchasing 60 American Hospital Supply at $34, 30 General Electric at $63, 60 Hewlett Packard at $35, 40 PepsiCo at $49 and 50 Schlumberger Ltd. at $39. As I write this, each of those stocks is slightly below the prices stated. The portfolio's annual dividend income is $273, and the companies have Dividend Reinvestment Plans where dividends can be reinvested without cost. The recent growth of rates of those companies suggest there could be enough appreciation which, along with reinvested dividends, could result in the portfolio's value doubling in a 7- to 8-year period.

Keep in mind that tax-free investing is fine, so long as it reduces your tax liability and not your after-tax income.

You could be better off, over the long run, with a taxable investment.

OFFICER RICK WALTER of the Chelsea Police Department spoke to third graders at North school last week about what it's like to be a police officer in Chelsea. He emphasized that it's nothing like television might lead them to believe, and that police officers are human beings like everyone else. He also emphasized that the police department is their friend, and that they shouldn't be afraid to call for help.

New Non-Fiction Books Now on Library Shelves

Women and Fatigue by Holly Atkinson, M.D. For every woman who has felt tired and run-down but couldn't say why and thought no one would listen if she did, Women and Fatigue offers hope and reassurance, facts and solutions. It offers practical advice on diet, exercise, quitting bad habits, learning to sleep properly, resolving tensions on the job, and how to discuss your own fatigue to get the treatment that is right for you. Most of all, it shows you how to boost your energy level and keep something in reserve for the things you really want to do.

Buried Dreams by Tim Cahill. As a child John Wayne Gacy, Jr., was abused by a merciless father. He attended four different high schools and destroyed his two marriages. Despite all that he became a respected member of the community, a successful businessman, valued member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Jaycee "Man of the Year," the lovable town goofball who put on grease paint and silly costumes to cheer up sick kids in hospitals. Yet, at night, he would stalk the streets of Chicago in search of thrills that became sexual abuse, then sexual torture, then murder. What is the driving obsession behind his crimes and blatant lies. Is he a madman, a con-man, or a calculating sadist killing for thrills behind a mask of good citizenship?

Arctic Dreams by Barry Lopez. Arctic Dreams is a journey to a land we barely know, an area filled with beauty and fraught with danger, where the potential for catastrophe—spring storms can sweep hundreds of thousands of helpless infant harp seals into the sea, goes hand and hand with the sublime—a tiny flower blooms in a field of snow, touched by the sun's benevolent light. The book is a celebration of the arctic landscape itself; of earth and sea and ice and of the animals that live there.

Wise Guy by Nicholas Pileggi. Pileggi shows the reader the bitter truth about professional crime in America. This is no "guided tour." The reader is taken deep inside the workings of organized crime, a trip made possible only by the investigative skills of an expert, and the cooperation of one of the criminals. It is a first-hand account of a secret world, more brutal and far more fascinating than any of the novels that have glamorized it.

The Jason Voyage by Tim Severin. Jason and the Argonauts' quest for the Golden Fleece is the earliest recorded voyage by Western man. Is it mere legend, or is it based on fact? Myth or history? The skeptics point out that it would be physically impossible for a Bronze-Age vessel like the famed Argo to navigate the 1,500 perilous sea miles of Jason's voyage. This is the amazing story of the re-enactment of Jason's odyssey, a thrilling sea faring adventure studded with brilliant historical detective work.

Bus 9 to Paradise by Leo Buscaglia. In a warm, caring, often humorous way, Mr. Buscaglia shows us that an earthly paradise is not a far-off impossible destination. Rather, it can be a loving voyage in the here and now. The key lies in the realization that existence becomes paradise for those who love many things with a passion. The most centered and happy among us are those who embrace life, love people, food, music, art—even the challenges of frustration, aging, and death with a passion.

Voyager's Uranus Discoveries Will Be AstroFest Topic

Voyager 2's "astounding" explorations of the moons and rings of Uranus will be the subject of the 157th AstroFest film and lecture presentation at the University of Michigan. The free public program is set for 7:30 p.m. March 21 in Auditorium 3, Modern Languages Building.

Voyager 2 obtained the first closeup pictures of Uranus' five previously known moons, according to Jim Loudon, AstroFest director and staff astronomer at the U-M Exhibit Museum, and "they showed astonishing amounts of geologic activity."

The spacecraft also discovered at least 10 new moons and many new rings, some of the latter astonishingly narrow.

Loudon says. He was at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in California as the data was received from Voyager 2.

AstroFest is sponsored by the U-M's Exhibit Museum and Department of Aerospace Engineering.

The High Tea was so named for the daily event at the Grand Hotel at Mackinac Island. The auxiliary's latest project was to raise money for a mammography unit using a lottery. First prize was a week-end for two at the hotel.

Break-in at Rural Home Reported

Approximately $1,200 worth of guns, photographic equipment, electronic equipment and silver coins were stolen from a Kalmbach Rd. residence Saturday March 8.

According to Deputy Lee Collier of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, no one was at home when the break-in occurred sometime between 5:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. at 4025 Kalmbach Rd.

Collier said a thief or thieves forced open a rear basement door to gain entry to the home, but left through the front door.

Among the items stolen were several handguns, a video-cassette recorder, a 35 mm camera and accessory equipment, a black and white television, and silver coins.

"Although there's no solid evidence to indicate it, I believe there was probably more than one person involved," Collier said.

Collier said there were some "unexplained tire marks" in the driveway. He also said detectives have leads that "are not for publication."

Restaurant Victimized By Break-in

A Chelsea restaurant was robbed sometime after closing last Thursday, and burglars made off with a little over $200, according to Chelsea police.

Luigi's, until recently known as Sir Pizza, on N. Main St., was robbed after a thief or thieves removed the glass from a window on the north side of the building, entered the premises and opened the cash register.

Police said the burglars used a door to leave the building.

An investigation is in progress, police said.

Did You Know?

When hot dogs were first sold, street vendors called them "red hots" and sold each one with a pair of white cotton gloves to keep your fingers from getting burned. It happened at the St. Louis World's Fair, where hot dogs were first introduced to the public in 1904.

ALICE RHODES provided the lovely background music for the High Tea sponsored by the Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary last Thursday. The tea was provided for hospital employees to thank them for the support they've given to past auxiliary projects, including the most recent fundraiser for money for a new mammography unit. Alice works in the recreational therapy department.

Travel & Adventure Film Slated Saturday

On Saturday evening, March 22, the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea will present its sixth and final program of the year in the travel and adventure film series at 8 p.m. in the George Prinzling Auditorium.

Born in Great Falls, Mont. in 1915, Dr. Ted Walker received his B.A. from Montana State University in 1938 and, two years later, his M.S. with a major in biology from the University of Oklahoma.

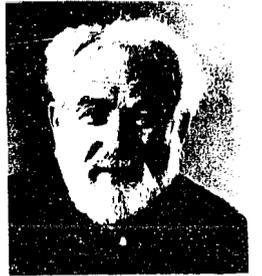

Attending the University of Wisconsin after World War II, he majored in limnology, the study of lakes, and minored in botany, and was awarded his Ph.D. in 1948. Joining the National Park Service as a ranger-naturalist at Glacier National Park, he later shifted to Cabrillo National Monument in San Diego, Calif., where he founded the first whale observatory on the west coast.

For the next 21 years, he was associated with the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography as a research marine biologist specializing in sensory orientations in fish and the study of the California gray whale.

Considered the world's foremost authority on the gray whale, he authored "The Whale Primer," "The Gray Whale Comes Back" to the March 1971 issue of the National Geographic Magazine and wrote the critically acclaimed "Red Salamander, Brown Bear."

"Sea and Shore of Baja," Sun-drenched desert country, Baja, Mexico, dangles by a narrow connection to upper California and is one of the last true wilderness areas of North America. A peninsula of incredible beauty uncluttered with large-scale human activity, Baja is on the threshold of change as a recently completed trans-peninsula highway opens the floodgates of tourism.

The shore of Baja is both beautiful and hostile to intruders. Dr. Walker illustrates how man responds and adapts to the harsh realities of Baja. We visit lonely fishing villages where fishermen brave the menaces of winds, currents and sharks in order to dive and fish for marine products which are the source of their livelihood and a major export of Baja.

In the Sea of Baja, Dr. Walker explores lagoons, estuaries and salt marshes, and records the colorful parade of marine organisms of these waters. On the offshore islands, he shows us foraging birds and seals, including the raucous sea lions, and the lethargic elephant seals. The theme of "Sea and Shore of Baja" is more than a portfolio of interesting people, plants and animals. It is a legacy to a world burdened by vanishing species and habitats. It is a story told with insight, authority, humor and eloquence.

Employment of women advanced strongly during 1985, with most of the increase occurring in the first and fourth quarters, according to a publication of the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. By the fourth quarter of 1985, nearly 48 million women were employed, well over 1 million more than a year earlier.

Poison Prevention Week Observed at Hospital

March 16-22 is the 25th observance of National Poison Prevention Week. The theme is "Children Act Fast. So Do Poisons: Don't Let Them Play For Keeps." National Poison Prevention Week is an annual event which was established by an act of Congress and was signed into law on Sept. 26, 1961 by President Kennedy. Congress intended this event as a means for local communities to raise awareness of the dangers of accidental poisoning and to take preventive measures.

In observance of National Poison Prevention Week, Chelsea Community Hospital Pharmacy Department will be displaying educational materials outside the dining room during lunch hours and will be providing free syrup of Ipecac. In addition, the pharmacists and technicians will be visiting the Children's Center and kindergarten classes at the Chelsea and Dexter schools. The education program will include activities to teach the children the differences between edible foods and potentially toxic substances found in the home.

Some tips to reduce the risk of poisoning are:

1. Put your name, address and emergency numbers (including that of your poison center) on or near your telephone.

2. Have a bottle of syrup of ipecac on hand in case your local poison center or physician recommends its use to induce vomiting.

3. Keep household products and medicines out of reach and out of sight of children, preferably in a locked cabinet or closet. Even if you must leave the room for only an instant remove the container to a safe spot.

4. Store medicines separately from other household products and keep these items in their original containers—never in cups or soft-drink bottles.

5. Be sure that all products are properly labeled, and read the label before using.

6. Always turn the light on when giving or taking medicine.

7. Since children tend to imitate adults—never take medicine in front of them. Avoid drinking medicine from the bottle.

8. Never call medicine "candy."

9. Clean out your medicine cabinet periodically. Discard old medicines by flushing them down the toilet.

10. Ask for and use household substances which are available in child resistant packaging. Insist on safety packaging for prescription medicines. Resecure safety feature carefully after using. Safety packaging gives extra protection to your children.

The proportion of women, 16 and older, in the labor force climbed to 55 percent by the end of 1985, up from 54 percent at the end of 1984. Higher participation rates were recorded for all age groups except older workers 55 years and up, according to "Employment in Perspective: Women in the Labor Force," a publication of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

DEPUTY JACK DETTLING was given a retirement open house in his honor March 6 as the life-long Chelsea resident left the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department after 19 years of service. 150 employees and friends attended the bash at the Ann Arbor Marriott.

Jack Dettling Honored on Retirement from Sheriff Dept.

More than 150 family and friends attended the March 5 retirement open house for Chelsea's Jack Dettling, a 19-year veteran with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

The party took place at the Ann Arbor Marriott.

"Jack has served the community as a sheriff's deputy for 19 years and I have never known a more loyal or consistent deputy," said Sheriff Ron Schebil.

"I have memories of running into Jack at all hours completing tasks that were critical to a variety of departmental operations. He was always willing to get the job done whenever and wherever it was needed."

During his 19 years, Dettling worked with, or for, all the department's units and sections. He most recently worked as a liaison between the WCSD and the many other county departments that WCSD deals with.

"He was responsible to see to it that things were accomplished," Schebil said. "We have a great variety of services and responsibilities throughout the various communities we serve. Jack was often the critical linkage that made sure that plans and agreements were actually taken care of."

County Administrator David Hunscher presented the Service Award on behalf of the county board of commissioners at the open house.

Dettling has several sons who have followed his footsteps of public service. David is a full-time Chelsea police officer, John works for the department part-time, and Donald is a member of the Chelsea Fire Department. Combined they have more than 40 years in police work and community service.

Farmers Should Gain From Oil Price Drop

Farmers, along with all Michigan consumers, are enjoying the gasoline price wars sprouting up across the state but, according to Michigan Farm Bureau economist Robert Craig, the recent sharp drop in oil prices should also benefit farmers by fueling increased economic activity in the U. S.

"If our national economy continues to expand, we should see an increase on the demand side for a lot of food items," Craig said. "The entire meat industry should benefit and we should see a pickup in demand for all types of foods and commodities."

Craig said that lower oil prices should also help keep a lid on inflation, which will ease pressures on interest rates.

"On the other side of the coin, the price decline means that oil producing countries such as Mexico are going to be earning less and won't be able to afford to purchase as many U. S. farm exports," he said.
