ONE HUNDRED-SIXTEENTH YEAR—No. 15

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1986

20 Pages This Week Plus Supplement

THIS LAND between Broderick Shell and Schumm's Restaurant would be the access drive to the proposed strip shopping mall. The mall itself would be constructed behind the Shell station. A Farmington Hills developer is behind the project.

Shopping Mall Planned For Chelsea Village Behind Shell Station

A Farmington Hills developer plans to construct a 27,000-square-foot strip mall inside the village that could have up to 20 businesses.

Hugh Garner, a partner in Rogar Development Co. of Farmington Hills, has purchased on contingency 3.8 acres of land behind Broderick Shell adjacent to I-94. He said he is building the complex purely on speculation, but is confident the space will be leased quickly.

Garner was scheduled to give a preliminary presentation of his plans for the $2 million project to the Chelsea Village Planning Commission on Tuesday night.

"We can build this winter if we can get started before the frost," Garner said.

"But that all depends on how long the approval process takes."

In order to build on the property, formerly owned by Chuck Broderick, the parcel will have to be rezoned from C-3 to C-4. C-3 covers highway service businesses such as filling stations, drive-in restaurants, and automobile sales and rentals. C-4, called the restricted commercial district, covers retail stores and businesses that do not have on-site manufacturing.

The process to rezone the parcel would take a minimum of three months, according to village manager Fritz Weber. That's because the planning commission has to hold a public hearing and make a recommendation, and then the village council has to hold another public hearing before voting on the change.

"We were very disappointed we ran into zoning problems," Garner said.

"It was really a shocker to us because in most places this would be considered an upgrade in zoning. But every town has its own ordinances."

Garner said his company has undertaken similar projects in Cass, Farmington Hills and Bad Axe. He said he chose to build in Chelsea because he "likes the town." He said that last year he tried to build an apartment complex here but decided to drop the project.

"We have as good a location as anywhere in the village," Garner said.

"We looked at land in closer to town but decided the easy access to the freeway was important."

Exactly how this project will be received by the Chelsea business community is unknown. Several businessmen are known to oppose this kind of development due to concerns about how it will affect the downtown business environment.

However, Garner said he didn't think the downtown area would be adversely affected.

Garner said he has firm commitments from two businesses, one a drug store that would inhabit 6,000 square feet, and the other a beauty salon. He said others have inquired about setting up a tanning salon, a barbecue supplies store, an exercise/health club and a restaurant.

The strip of land between Schumm's Restaurant and Broderick Shell would be used for the access drive to the complex, Garner said.

The complex itself would be of block construction and units of 20' by 50' would be available for rent. Larger businesses, such as the proposed drug store, could rent several units.

Garner said rent prices would start out at $12-$13 per square foot for the smallest units. That figure could drop to $8.50-$9 per foot for larger businesses.

Garner could run into sewer and water supply problems in the area. Assistant village manager Lee Fahrner, who is also the village's engineer, said he hadn't studied the proposal closely enough to know what capacities would be needed.

Hospital To Construct New Office Building

Chelsea Community Hospital was scheduled to present plans for approval by the Village of Chelsea Planning Commission Tuesday night for the construction of a 17,000-square-foot office building.

The office building, which will be incorporated into the existing hospital structure, employs building heat and sky-lighting techniques which will allow it to be built completely underground.

The architect for the project, which includes the new building, and remodeling and renovation of existing areas; is Stephen P. Janick of Design Concept Associates, Ann Arbor. The contract for construction of the building, which is expected to cost $690,000, has been awarded to O'Harrow Construction Co., of Jackson.

Building is expected to begin as soon as a building permit is obtained.

According to Public Relations Director Pat Kubany, the office building will be used for office functions, including functions such as accounting, personnel, medical records, medical affairs and administration. This will allow patient care services such as the women's health center, cardiopulmonary and the therapy services to increase in their area in the former office space.

Completion of the facility is expected in late May. At that time, remodeling of existing space will also take place to convert it to patient care areas.

Among the improvements is the creation of a chapel for patients and their families. The chapel will be located on the main corridor of the hospital, accessible to families of patients in the intensive care unit as well as patients and families throughout the hospital. In addition, a new

CHS Scheduling Problems Affect Nearly 400 Students

A combination of computer problems, personnel problems and an "extremely complex curriculum," left nearly 400 Chelsea High school students with schedule problems as school opened Wednesday, Sept. 3.

Principal John Williams said it was the most disorganized opening day problem he had seen in the last five years.

"I met with the counselors to try to figure a plan to deal with the problem," Williams said. "We essentially decided to lounge space will be built on to the west end of the hospital to accommodate patients from the mental health and substance abuse programs.

Visitors to the hospital in the coming months will be advised via signs at the hospital's main entrance to excuse the inconveniences which may be caused by construction. Some rerouting of pedestrian traffic within the hospital will be required during construction, and some minimal disruption to parking areas is expected.

Williams said he also discussed the problems with staff on opening day. He told them some students would not be in some classes for at least a week and that they should not be penalized. Much of the blame can be attributed to both a faulty computer program and even faulty computer hardware, Williams said. A program, and central processor, supplied by the Washtenaw Intermediate School District to complete the schedules, broke down, Williams said.

"It was the most helpless feeling I've ever had in my life," Williams said.

"Every time we ran the master schedule, it came out different. The computer was also down a lot this summer. It was an uncontrollable situation."

Williams said that in one case, 33 students were scheduled for a second hour freshman physical education class that did not exist.

"There's no way they could have come up with that class from the information we gave them," Williams said.

Two other factors aggravated the problem, Williams said. One was that, unlike in past years, staff was not available to work before school began to iron out the scheduling conflicts.

The second problem was the nature of the curriculum. There are 66 single-section classes, an average of 11 each hour. That means a student who wants to take that class has only one choice.

"The curriculum gets us in trouble even in a good year," Williams said.

By early this week most scheduling conflicts had been resolved. But Williams, and members of the Chelsea School Board, have had to deal with a number of complaining parents.

"I can sympathize with them," Williams said. "We shouldn't have this problem."

Board OKs New Contract

A new three-year contract was approved for Chelsea School District cafeteria workers at the Chelsea School Board's regular meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 2.

The contract, which mirrors the recently-ratified teachers contract in terms of salary increases, calls for a 5 1/4 percent raise this year, and five percent raise for each of the next two years.

Starting salary for a cafeteria worker, most of whom are part-time employees, is $4.50 an hour. The top wage, after 10 years of service, is $7.35 an hour, according to assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

The contract covers 19 employees at all four district schools.

Reading Program Awards Given

McKune Memorial Library's Summer Reading Program was completed Aug. 29. The participants were required to read books they hadn't read before. After reading 15 books each child received a certification of completion.

Four names were drawn randomly from all the participants and they each received a hard-bound book as a gift. The winners were: Erin Knott, Tim Nutt, Stephanie Wesolowski and Cindy Morse.

Book marks were also given at different intervals in the program.

Craft, Art Show Slated Saturday

More than 50 artists and craftsmen will gather at Chelsea High school on Saturday, Sept. 13 for the second annual Country Craft & Folk Art Show.

Talent from all over Michigan will be displayed as crafters sell their wares at the event which will be held in the gymnasium of the high school from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the 13th.

Local crafts will be displayed by Pam Bullock, Pat Russell, Annelissa Gray-Lion, Sue Craig, Janet Alford, Donna Harsh, and Rose Van Aken, and other all of whom will have booths at the show.

Several exhibitors who participated in the craft show last year will join the group of craftsmen again this year.

Some of those coming back a second time, besides most of the local names mentioned, are such favorites as Jerry and Chris Youmans of Otisville, with their personalized welcome signs; John Wooden of Ypsilanti, with his handwoven rugs; Janet Dille of Belleville, with her Victorian crochet creations; Jack Stiles of Ypsilanti, with his wooden country furniture; and Sally Smith of Jackson, with her hand-painted wooden decorating accessories.

Several new craftspeople will be on hand Saturday to display and sell their items. Some of the new items that will be available at the craft show are: country door dodgers; lace keepsake boxes; country and Amish clothespin dolls; hand-painted spongeware; pierced lampshades; Hmong stitchery; toy goats; lamps made from antique crocks and sugar bowls; and a unique style of country dolls and mice.

The variety of arts and crafts will prove to be even bigger and better than last year, with high quality items that will appeal to everyone.

The Country Craft and Folk Art Show is sponsored by the Chelsea Senior Citizens organization and promoted by Marcy Stump, a local resident. While Marcy organizes the craft exhibits and handles most of the promotions; the Senior Citizens conduct a bake sale on the premises.

Admission fee of $1 for adults and 50¢ for children 6-12 will be collected at the door. This money will go to the Chelsea Senior Citizens organization, as this is their main fundraiser of the year.

Besides selling lunch and baked goods, the senior citizens will also be selling raffle tickets for the hand-made Heritage House quilt and an afghan.

Sylvan Names Zoning Enforcement Officer

Charles Burgess of 717 Taylor St., Chelsea, has been appointed Sylvan township Zoning Enforcement officer. Charles has received the status of Special Deputy from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Dept.

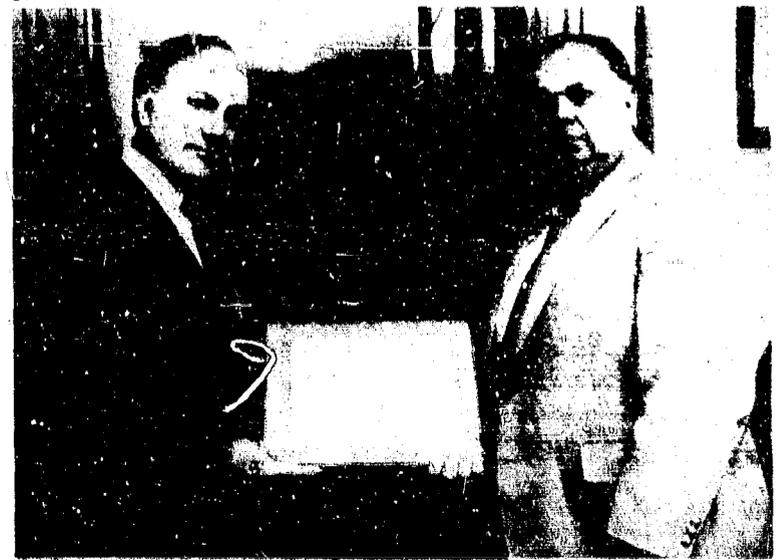

Burgess now has the authority to carry out the duties of investigation of ordinance violations; serving notice of violations; issuing appearance tickets pursuant to Public Act 366 of 1984 for violations; appearance in court or other judicial proceedings to assist in the prosecution of ordinance violators; and such other ordinance enforcing duties as may be delegated by the Township Board.

MILKING MATT KOENN'S COW was one of the interesting activities the Chelsea fair queen candidates took part in during fair week. The cow which was a Grand Champion in competition, is being milked above by Chelsea High school senior Michelle Kuhl.

CHELSEA DISTRICT COURTHOUSE was officially recognized as a Michigan Historic Site by the Michigan Historical Commission recently. Ellis Pratt, of the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners, right, presented the certificate from the historical commission to the Hon. Karl Fink, 14th district judge. The courthouse is due to get a bronze marker to permanently mark the site. The building is due to be expanded and restored just as soon as the Historic District Court-house group obtains enough pledge money.

Supreme Court Upholds 180-Day Limit on Petitions

Michigan's controversial statute limiting valid initiative petition signatures to those collected less than 180 days before filing has been upheld by a unanimous Supreme Court.

The decision effectively ends the possibility of either a proposal limiting electric utility rate hikes or instituting capital punishment appearing on the November ballot, and throws doubt on the ability of the part-time legislature drive to gather enough new signatures before filing for the 1988 election.

The court acted one week after the Court of Appeals unanimously ruled the statute was constitutional. The unanimous per curiam decision was signed by Chief Justice G. Mennen Williams, and Associate Justices Dennis Archer, Michael Cavanaugh, James Brickley and Patricia Boyle. Justice Dorothy Comstock Riley did not participate as she is out of the country.

Both Ingham County Circuit Judge Robert Holmes Bell and the Appeals Court were correct in their rulings that the Legislature had the power to set time limits on the effectiveness of petition signatures in Consumers Power Co. v Attorney General, the court said.

The Legislature did not set an absolute time limit for collecting signatures, the court said, but created a lawful, rebuttable presumption that petition signatures collected more than 180 days before filing were invalid. "Our Constitution clearly authorizes the Legislature to prescribe by law for the manner of signing and circulating petitions to propose constitutional amendments," the opinion states.

"The statute sets forth a requirement for the signing and circulating of petitions . . . The purpose of the statute is to fulfill the constitutional directive . . . that only the registered electors of this state may propose a constitutional amendment."

The court rejected arguments by Attorney General Frank Kelley, who held that the statute was unconstitutional in 1974, that a 1923 decision outlawed legislative attempts to block initiative petitions.

But in high court's decision, the court said its earlier ruling was based on the 1908 constitution which, unlike the current document, did not include a provision allowing the Legislature to set legal requirements on petition signatures and circulation.

The decision, though brought by Consumers Power and Detroit Edison in an effort to block a proposal by the Michigan Citizens Lobby from getting on the ballot, kills both the Citizens Lobby proposal and a proposed amendment reinstating capital punishment for first degree murder.

Previously, the State Board of Canvassers ruled that neither proposal could go on the ballot, if the 180-day statute stood, because neither had collected more than 304,000 signatures within 180 days of filing.

The canvassers determined that 315,875 of the 371,247 signatures filed by the Citizens Lobby exceeded the 180-day requirement, while 170,912 signatures of the 342,058 filed by death penalty advocates exceeded the requirement.

The ruling will also make it more difficult for the part-time legislature proposal, led by former GOP gubernatorial candidate Richard Chrysler, to collect sufficient signatures by the time the proposal is filed for the 1988 election.

In July, Chrysler and leaders of the drive decided against filing their signatures for November because they did not have a sufficient cushion. The group plans to file its signatures Nov. 3 for the 1988 election.

From 1980 to 1984, the number of persons in poverty in families maintained by women increased 17 percent, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

CHELSEA'S TELEPHONE SYSTEM

We're asking for your help!
 The Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, in the spirit of a resolution of the Village of Chelsea and at the request of the Michigan Public Service Commission and Michigan Bell, is co-ordinating information that will help Michigan Bell improve the quality of the telephone service in the 475 exchange. Michigan Bell is already committed to replace the "switch" that Chelsea now has with up-to-date equipment during 1987 and has been adding lines and dial 1 equipment.

This, however, will not cure all problems. Certain types of problems may originate in your own equipment or wiring, in the line between you and the "loop", within the "loop", at the "switch" or between Chelsea and other components of the system.

For this reason, when you describe your problem, we must have your phone number and the number at the other end. If you don't know that number, Michigan Bell at least needs to know if it was a local call (475 exchange), other local non-toll call, a toll call in the 313 area code, or a toll call in some other area code. Also, the date and approximate time of the problem are important. Occasionally, weather is a factor; let us know if it was windy or raining.

Because the Chamber of Commerce wishes to see this improvement program through to its completion, please send us a duplicate of anything you send to Michigan Bell. If you need more of these forms, please call the Chamber of Commerce at 475-1145, or pick them up at our desk in the village office. Thanks for your help.

When problems occur, please fill out the forms below. Your description might include such items as:

- Dialing problems
 No dial tone or delayed dial tone
 Reports from others that your phone was busy, but you know it was not Reports from others that your phone is ringing, but you know it hasn't Phone rings once, no one on line when you answer Must redial repeatedly
- Problems during call

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Dean Greenleaf

Fisher-Greenleaf Wedding Vows Spoken at Methodist Church

Cassandra Marie Fisher, daughter of Roxie Fisher, of Chelsea, and the late Ronald E. Fisher, married Timothy Dean Greenleaf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Greenleaf, of Urbandale, Ia., formerly of Chelsea, on June 14 at the First United Methodist church in Chelsea. The Rev. Dr. David Truran officiated.

Honor attendants included maid of honor Nancy Case, of Grass Lake, and best man Richard Merkel, of Chelsea. Serving as bridesmaids were Cheryl Fisher, sister of the bride, of Chelsea, Tylene Greenleaf, sister of the bridegroom, of Urbandale, and Diana Parker, of Munnith. The bride was given away by her uncle, Ronald Castleberry, of Chelsea. Serving as groomsmen were John Packard, cousin of the bridegroom, of Chelsea, David Harbaugh, of Big Rapids, and Todd Gunther, of Grass Lake. The ushers were Tim Dmoch, of Big Rapids, and Chris Burkhalter, of Ann Arbor. A recitation was delivered by Bob McKenzie, of Ann Arbor. Trisha Richardson, of Chelsea, provided the music. Grandparents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Castleberry, of Chelsea, and Mr. and Mrs. Mac Packard, of Chelsea. A reception followed in the church basement. The couple are residing in Des Moines, Ia.

Discover the Lladro Collectors Society.

The world of collecting has grown at an astonishing pace. And so has the need for a new kind of collectors society, one that shares the passions and interests of those who appreciate fine porcelain art. The Lladro Collectors Society was founded to fill that void, to establish an exchange of communication between the Lladro studios and collectors everywhere.

Dayspring Gifts Brings Back New Game from TV Host

Laurie Smith and Carolyn Chase of Dayspring Gifts met with John Davidson, entertainer and host of Hollywood Squares, Sunday, June 22, to discuss his game while at a Christmas merchandise buying convention.

Davidson discovered the game of the Mediaeval City while filming "That's Incredible!" in New Zealand. Intrigued with the thought-provoking challenge of Cathedral, Davidson brought the game back to promote it nationally.

The game was created by a New Zealander who was inspired by the panorama of Christchurch, a city in the South Island of New Zealand which has been built around a magnificent gothic style cathedral. The challenge between two opponents is to gain the most space on the hardwood playing board by strategically moving pieces representing buildings within the city. Each match lasts about 20 minutes. Cathedral has brought Davidson to the Tonight Show with Johnny Carson several times. Now, his game can be found throughout the country in selected retail stores, locally in Dayspring Gifts.

Senior Citizens Asked To Tiger Stadium, Picnic At JYRO Park

Senior citizens of Washtenaw county have been invited by Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation, in co-operation with the Ypsilanti Jaycees to enjoy two of America's favorite activities, summer picnic at JYRO Park in Ypsilanti and a baseball game at Tiger Stadium, Saturday, Sept. 20.

An $8.50 fee per person includes a ticket to watch the Tigers play the New York Yankees, a bus ride to and from the Washtenaw County Recreation Center, located in the county service center complex just off Hogback Rd., and Tiger Stadium, and a picnic at JYRO Park, Ypsilanti.

Bus pick-up will be at 11:30 a.m. at the Hogback Rd. location.

From there, the bus will proceed to JYRO Park where the seniors will enjoy a picnic lunch sponsored by Ypsilanti Area Jaycees before boarding the bus again and setting off for Tiger Stadium, Detroit.

Registrations for the special occasion were to be postmarked no later than Friday, Sept. 5.

Yoga Classes Start Sept. 18 in Dexter

One of the most popular classes offered by Dexter Senior Citizens is Yoga!

Yoga classes begin again this month.

Since the fall of 1985, Yoga classes have continued through snowstorms, icebergs, weather, torrential rains and the heat of summer, with a dedicated group of young-minded senior men and women.

Washtenaw Community College has sponsored three semesters of Yoga, and will continue as long as requested by Dexter Senior Citizens.

Lucille Lightstone has conducted all the classes, during and between WCC semesters.

"This is a community-minded town, wouldn't you say?" asks Lucille.

"In the same out-reach vein, the Rev. Harry Shafer and the vestry of St. James Episcopal church have generously offered the spacious parish hall for weekly Yoga practice," she added.

Those who practice Yoga feel good in body, mind and spirit, assures Lucille.

Could that be the reason for its popularity?

Yoga classes will start Thursday, Sept. 18, and continue through Thursday, Nov. 20, at St. James parish hall, across the street from the Masonic Temple on Broad St., meeting place for Dexter Senior Citizens.

Hours of the classes will be 9:30-11:30 a.m.

Participants should wear loose-fitting clothes during the class. Slacks, shorts, jogging suit or footless leotards are recommended, (bare feet, please).

Each Yoga participant should bring a mat (foam rubber or carpeting), on which to practice, as well as a blanket for relaxation.

Yoga is for everyone, at any age, reminds Lucille.

"People can begin Yoga at any time in their life—it's ageless."

The ageless Yoga classes are absolutely free for senior citizens (55 years and older) and they are terrific for people who have passed the 50th birthday.

The classes instructed by Lucille will be "Nice and Easy Yoga," she promises.

Anyone with special problems should consult his or her physician and get permission to practice Yoga exercises, advises Lucille.

Feel free to call at any time to discuss the class or request information about Yoga.

To register, come to the parish hall on Thursday, Sept. 8, shortly before 9:30 a.m., or phone either 426-3756 or 426-5397.

Housing Bureau For Seniors Seeks Volunteer Helpers

An informational tea reception for new or prospective volunteer housing counselors at the Housing Bureau for Seniors will be held Thursday afternoon, Sept. 11, from 3 to 4:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room of the Turner Geriatric Clinic, 1010 Wall St., Ann Arbor.

Housing counselors at the Housing Bureau provide information about housing choices in this country to seniors, or their families. Housing counselors can assist with difficult housing decisions by offering information about various options that may allow some seniors to stay in their own homes, or help locate suitable housing that is convenient and appropriate.

Special training for new housing counselors will be offered the third and fourth weeks of September. Informational interviews may be arranged for the week beginning Sept. 15.

To find out more about becoming a volunteer at the Housing Bureau for Seniors, call 763-0970. Ask to talk to Carolyn Hastings or Carole Lapidus.

Retired School Personnel To Meet

Washtenaw Association of Retired School Personnel (WARSP) will meet at Weber's Inn, 3080 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor, on Thursday, Sept. 11, at 12 noon with a luncheon. The program will be introduction and recognition of new retirees. The speaker, Mrs. Mabel Matthews, from the Michigan Public School Retirement System will talk and answer questions regarding retirement.

Flock Fleece Fair Slated at Local Farm

Spindrift Farm will again be the setting for the Spinners' Flock Fleece Fair, a once-a-year opportunity to examine and purchase the products of local spinners, sheep owners and fiber-creators.

This third annual event, scheduled for Sept. 13 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., will feature Michigan wool, mohair and angora in all their forms, as well as blends and exotic fibers.

In addition to fleeces, roving and batts for spinners, quilters and other fiberartists, there will be handspun yarns in natural and dyed colors, ready for weaving, knitting and other uses.

These unique yarns are prized by weavers and other fiberartists for their special beauty and quality, and are a work of art in their own right.

New this year is the Spinners' Flock Boutique featuring items made in whole or in part of handspun yarn. Included will be articles of clothing, accessories, wall hangings, rugs, toys, and hand-crafted sheep related items. All goods will be the work of Spinners' Flock members who now number nearly 70. Organized in 1979, the guild draws its membership from Washtenaw, Lenawee and Livingston counties.

Visitors to this year's Fleece Fair will have the opportunity to see a display of the well-known "Peace Fleece" yarns. These mill spun yarns represent a co-operative effort by American and Soviet sheep farmers to produce and market wool products made from a blend of American and Soviet wool. The project was initiated by Peter Haggerty, a Main sheep farmer, who wrote many unanswered letters before accomplishing his objective of obtaining Soviet wool. It took a visit to the Soviet Union and a lucky encounter to finally achieve success.

The Peace Fleece display will include a history of the project, sample skeins of yarn, a sample hat/mitten kit, and order blanks for those interested in purchasing yarns or kits from Haggerty.

For further information about the Fleece Fair or about Spinners' Flock, call 313/475-2306, 313/769-1657, or 313/971-7614. Spindrift Farm is located at 13956 Scio Church Rd., Chelsea, four miles east of M-52.

Dial-A-Garden Topics Listed

The following is a schedule of Dial-A-Garden, the system of pre-recorded daily gardening tips sponsored by the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service.

The system is in operation 24 hours per day, 7 days per week.

Interested persons are invited to call 971-1122 at their convenience and receive timely, up-to-date gardening information.

Topics for the next week are as follows:

- Wednesday, Sept. 10—"Controlling Carpenter Ants."
- Thursday, Sept. 11—"Getting Rid of Fleas Indoors."
- Friday, Sept. 12—"Frost Protection."
- Monday, Sept. 15—"Choosing the Right Tree or Shrub."
- Tuesday, Sept. 16—"Planting Container Grown Trees and Shrubs."
- Wednesday, Sept. 17—"Autumn Rose Care."

Several County Winners Told, 1986 State 4-H Horse Show

Several Washtenaw county 4-H youth earned awards at the 1986 Michigan 4-H Horse Show, held Aug. 19 at Michigan State University.

Charlotte M. Muck won a gold medal for Hunter Seat Equitation.

She also won a gold medal for Saddle Seat Equitation, a bronze medal for English Pleasure Saddle Seat and a silver medal for Working Hunter Under Saddle.

Valerie Muck earned three medals, a gold medal for Stock Seat Equitation, a gold medal for Bareback Equitation and a bronze medal for English Pleasure.

Gina Buslock was presented a gold medal for Western Pleasure and a bronze medal for Stock Seat Equitation.

Debby Smith was awarded two gold medals, one for Work Hunter Under Saddle and one for Western Pleasure, as well as a bronze medal for Hunter Seat Equitation and a silver medal for Trail Class-Horses.

Mary Cleland of Manchester and Robert Yarger of Saline each received bronze awards for Stock Seat Equitation.

Karla Raab of Manchester and Jenny Cimer of Ann Arbor each earned gold medals.

Karla was recognized in Fitting and Showmanship, and Jenny received her award for Hunter Seat Equitation.

Marisa Rockel of South Lyon received the Reserve Champion award for Champion Pleasure, a gold award for Western Pleasure and two silver awards, one for Stock Seat Equitation and one for Bareback Equitation.

Ann Arbor youth who received awards included Kristen A. Hydel, who won a bronze medal for Trail Class-Horses; Kathleen Henderlong, who received two silver medals, one for Fit and Show English and one for Western and English Riding; Cathy Rupp, who received a gold medal for Dressage Training Level Test 1 and a bronze medal for Dressage Seat Equitation; Jocelyn J. A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

From time to time all of us have surplus items that have turned into attic or basement elephants. Choice items can be sold through want ads and the rest can be whisked away at garage and yard sales. Unsold goods that are still serviceable (clothing, toys, black and white TV's) can be given to charitable organizations in return for a receipt for the used value. Such receipts can support claims for tax deductions if you itemize them in your tax report.

This is all very well for the old ice skates, the rusty hoe or Dick and Jane's baby crib, but selling big money items can call for skill and creativity.

Classified ads must qualify collectively among the world's greatest marketplaces, bringing buyers and sellers together for single item sales.

Through The Standard you can buy, sell, rent or lease scores of items or services, including mammoth farm equipment and $100,000 homes. In the Ann Arbor News the variety widens and so does the market. An even greater market awaits you in the Detroit classifieds, and if you're really tired of that Lear Jet or want to sell your cattle ranch you buy an inch of the Wall Street Journal.

Dozens of specialty magazines with classified sections are on sale at local bookstands. There are photography journals as well as ones on boating, electronics and computers. Popular Science ads offer tools and machinery while Popular Mechanics has an ad section on government surplus. Current and back issues of publications are carried in the McKune and Ann Arbor Libraries along with thousands of price and quality listings in guides to Consumer Reports.

If you wonder about the mechanical condition of a truck, car or motorcycle you can have it inspected, and receive estimates from local mechanics on the cost of putting it in A-1 condition. Your banker has copies of used car "blue books" which tell what a given make, model and year vehicle in average condition is worth wholesale and retail.

A diamond ring can be appraised at Winans Jewelry, wholesale and retail. Real estate properties can be appraised by professionals. Last year Thornton Realty appraised the Chelsea railroad depot building and property at $15,000. The real estate department of Amtrak accepted this appraisal without question.

You may be surprised at how little a dealer will pay for a used item and how much he will ask when he sells it at retail. The difference includes reconditioning and carrying the item without profit (or the use of his purchase money) until the item is sold. It also includes the cost of putting the item on display, the time for repeated sales efforts, the cost of burglary protection and the premium for insurance coverage, plus a final profit.

So, if you know the wholesale value and retail market price, your selling price should probably be pegged about halfway between.

Generally speaking, if you have something to sell involving big money such as a large home, a 50-foot yacht, heirloom antiques or old masters, you will do better dealing through a professional agent. Recently a local collector sold two Rembrandt etchings of such value he had to keep them locked in a safe deposit box. He had bought the etchings at a Park Bernet auction in New York during 1969, and had Sotheby's auction them on commission this spring. The gallery had plenty of bidders.

On the other hand, you may want to sell a highly regarded possession, and do it on your own, possibly to save a commission, but more likely for personal reasons. You may prefer to handle the deal yourself because you think you can demonstrate a certain mechanism better than anyone else. You may want to see who is going to buy and live on your great grandfather's Centennial Farm.

So you run some ads and the day comes when you are face to face with a prospective buyer. Is there anything you can do to improve your chances of making a deal with a good prospect at a mutually agreeable price? Yes, there are several things that can help.

One is to make the appearance of your offering as attractive as you can and display it to the best of your ability. Appearance is everything in selling a home, a vehicle or anything that may become a status symbol for the next owner.

Do some thinking about what you can say that will make your offering desirable to own. Let's assume you are selling a used Model 7 Widget with a market value of $3,500. Ask yourself some questions like these:

Why did you buy a Widget in the first place? What need did it fulfill? What enjoyment or usefulness did it supply that would have been impossible without it? Help your prospect to anticipate this same need and you're on your way.

Next ask yourself: Why did you buy the Widget instead of some other brand? What could it do that the X brand couldn't? What are some of its exclusive features or capabilities? What makes the quality so much better than other brands? The Widget proved to be the product that best satisfied your need. Get the facts across to your buyer.

People want to know about the source of the product. How did you make your selection? You bought the Widget because it is made by Famous Corporation, one of America's blue chip companies. (With a prospect, all you have to do is rest your hand next to the nameplate.) And how was the service? Were spare parts available? You bought from the dealer on Main St. who has sold and serviced Widgets for over 20 years.

So far you have prepared yourself to answer questions or volunteer information on three fronts: The need, the product and its source. But there are two more hurdles to go, and one of these is the price.

Naturally, you have arrived at a fair market price for your used Widget well in advance of your offering. If a prospect balks at your price, explain how you arrived at that figure and add, "Any dealer will charge $500 to $1,000 more for this same machine in this condition." If one prospect after another resists your price, lower it by degrees until you find a buyer. Another approach is to ask a resistant prospect what he or she thinks is a fair price. If the offer seems reasonable, take it.

Even when you both agree on price, the prospect still has one more decision to go. It is the question of time. Is he ready to buy the Widget now, or does he say, "I want to think it over." This may be the fatal farewell kiss.

Tell him he has already thought it over. Review the points you have discussed. Remind him that 10 minutes from now someone may walk through the door, buy the Widget, and Mr. Prospect's opportunity will be gone forever.

You can often win the big decision by getting a favorable decision on a small point. Offer alternatives such as:

"You can write your check on this table or would the desk be more convenient?"

"You can pick up your Widget in your own truck or we can have it delivered at small cost. What would suit you best?"

Depot Restoration Work Proceeding on Schedule As Funds Are Available

Within the past 10 months the Chelsea railroad depot has been purchased outright from Amtrak by the Chelsea Depot Association. The exterior has been restored and painted in its original 1880 Michigan Central colors and—after contributions of $45,000 from local donors—the CDA has no unpaid bills or debts.

Gloria Mitchell, CDA treasurer, also reports that the Association has a modest operating balance in the bank, thanks to recent special donations from Chelsea Milling, Dana, Federal Screw Works, Chelsea Lumber and others.

The organization is incorporated not for profit in the State of Michigan and also has authority from the Attorney General to solicit charitable funds. An application for recognition as a tax exempt organization is being processed by the IRS in Cincinnati.

Next in line is the completion of the depot interior which needs to be steam cleaned, painted, remodeled and repaired with carpentry, modern sanitation, electricity and lighting, heating and air cooling, floor restoration and a wheel chair ramp to provide easy access for the handicapped.

Finally, the renewed interior will need to be equipped with large numbers of stacking chairs and folding tables for meeting, conferences, seminars and study along with audio-visual equipment, microfilm records and readers, library shelves, display cases and historic models.

The trustees of the depot will need additional funding and are planning to seek assistance from national foundations as well as continued donations from the community.

Inza Bristle Named Top Husband-Caller At 1986 State Fair

Inza Bristle of Dexter, 11-year Michigan State Fair Husband-Calling Champion, took first place again in 1986.

Mrs. Bristle began husband-calling at the Dexter Sesqui-centennial in 1976.

Her call for "Clarrtrenceeee" earned the first-place award for Mrs. Bristle for the 11th consecutive year.

Eric Champnella of Southgate, this year repeated the award-winning performance on stage which brought him recognition as last year's Champion Hog-Caller.

Eric, 20, began calling hogs when his grandfather brought him to the fair at the age of 11.

"My love of theatrics is what's driven me to 10 years of hog-calling, I guess," he admitted.

Judging the two events conducted Friday, Aug. 29, at the fair was a panel of media personnel, including Dana Eubanks of Channel 7 in Detroit, Rob Bennett of WCXI radio, and John Robbins of Flint's Channel 12.

Established in 1849, the Michigan State Fair is the nation's oldest and one of the best.

THE ACTION WAS FAST AND FURIOUS at the demolition derby last week. Both nights of the derby had a record number of entries despite the lousy weather.

Co. Development Plan Is Subject of Hearing

Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission will hold an official county-wide public hearing on Thursday, Sept. 18 in the conference room of the County Administration Building in Ann Arbor.

Subject of the hearing will be an updated County Comprehensive Development Plan, which has been formulated this year by the commission based on discussions with local governmental units.

The plan, first completed in 1962, was the first of its kind in Michigan. It deals broadly with land use policy in the county and takes into account studies on population, agriculture, fragile lands, rural residential housing, urban housing and cost of development.

All public officials and county citizens are invited to attend the meeting to offer any additional comments.

According to Thomas J. Fegan, commission director, the commission "views this updated policy plan process as representing all segments of Washtenaw county."

Fegan said the commission will consider adopting a land use policy plan this fall.

Chelsea Police Capture Escapees

Two walkaways from Cassidy Lake Technical School were captured by Chelsea police early Tuesday morning near I-94.

According to Chelsea police, officer Frank Kornel was exiting I-94 northbound at approximately 3 a.m. when he saw two men walking down a hill near Brown Dr.

When the men saw Kornel they ran and the officer chased them on foot. He convinced them to stop and took them into custody.

Andre Lamont Bullock, of Detroit, was serving two to 10 years for receiving stolen property.

Joseph Hezzie Morgan, also of Detroit, was serving five to 20 years for armed robbery.

The men were reported missing about midnight, police said.

I-94 Traffic Detour In Force Near Ypsi

Traffic on two miles of Interstate 94 Freeway, from the US-12/94 interchange to just west of the I-94/Rawsonville Rd. interchange, in Washtenaw county are detoured beginning Sept. 2 for reconstruction of the roadway, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) has said.

Westbound I-94 traffic is being detoured onto northbound Wards Rd., and westbound US-12 while a crossover between eastbound and westbound I-94 is being constructed and throughout the construction period.

Eastbound I-94 traffic will remain on the present I-94 corridor until the crossover has been constructed. Eastbound traffic then will be shifted to the westbound lanes.

The project is scheduled for completion by fall of 1988.

Fact Book Published on State Tourism

A fact book on Michigan's travel and tourism industry has just been published by Michigan State University. "Travel and Tourism in Michigan: A Statistical Profile," contains current information on all aspects of Michigan's travel and tourism industry, from commercial lodging to travel promotion to state parks to hunting and fishing. More than 20 tables summarize the basic characteristics of and recent trends in the principal sectors of the industry.

The book is designed to help investors, planners, legislators, public officials, chamber of commerce executives, and entrepreneurs make informed decisions related to the state's travel and tourism industry. However, anyone interested in learning more about one of Michigan's largest industries will find this volume informative.

For example, the book summarizes research findings that document that in 1981 registered Michigan boat owners spent over a billion dollars on boating in Michigan; that Michigan's state park system contains more modern campsites than any other state park system in the nation; that Michigan has more registered snowmobiles, more registered boats, and more public golf course holes than any other state; that the number of Bed & Breakfast establishments in Michigan increased 70% between 1984 and 1985; and that Michigan leads the nation in the sale of marine accessories.

The book is the first statistical abstract on Michigan's travel and tourism industry, and is one of the most in-depth examinations of the travel and tourism industry of any state. It is a publication of the Travel, Tourism and Recreation Resource Center, which was recently established at Michigan State University to conduct research for and provide technical assistance to the state's travel and tourism industry.

For more information about this publication, call the Center at (517) 353-0823.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Sept. 11, 1952—Last week's article in The Standard telling of the loss of 13 head of cattle struck by lightning Labor Day on the Adolph Duerr farm, reminded Joseph Hafner of a similar incident which happened in the same location under the same hickory tree about 40 years ago resulting in the loss of 32 head of sheep. The spot where lightning did strike twice is on a rise of ground along Conway Rd., north of Cavanaugh Lake Rd.

George Haist, his son, Erwin, and granddaughter, Doris Haist, won five grand champion awards on sheep at the Michigan State Fair last week. In addition, George Haist and his son won the premium breeder banner, equivalent to an award for the best flock of sheep in the state.

Jack Bradbury reported chickens entered at most fairs in the county this year have been sold after they had been exhibited and the proceeds turned over to the county polio fund. Association members voted to do likewise here, providing the exhibitors agreed.

Miss Ricka Kalmbach, who makes her home on Kalmbach Rd., in the same house where she was born 88 years ago, was honored by friends and relatives Sept. 5, on the occasion of her birthday. Miss Kalmbach has managed the home farm since the death of her father, Adam Kalmbach, in 1892. Her mother, the former Caroline Broesamble, died in 1912.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
Hurray for the "Chelsea Resident" that wrote in regarding the "No Parking" signs that have vanished from McKinley St.

I have seen trucks and busses that have made attempts to turn the corner, but weren't able to because of the parked cars along the west side of McKinley.

I, too would like to know if the regulations have changed. I agree that someone has probably removed them for their convenience. I would also like to see the signs reappear.

I would also like to take this opportunity to inform ALL the residents of Chelsea that there is a three-way stop at the corner of Dewey and McKinley St. There have been a lot of people that ignore and/or roll through those stop signs.

Weren't those signs put in to slow the traffic down?
What is it going to take for you to slow down and stop?

One of the neighborhood children or a child walking to or from school to be hit?

Think about those children the next time you run one of those stop signs. Let's make the streets a little less dangerous for our children, shall we?

Concerned Chelsea Resident.

My dear friends:

I have become 75 years old since I saw you last and a few changes have come into my life since then. Frankly, I have become quite a frivolous old gal!

I am seeing four gentlemen every day. As soon as I wake up, Will Power helps me get out of bed. Then Charley Horse comes along, and when he is here he takes a lot of my time and attention. When he leaves, Arthur Ritis shows up and stays the rest of the day. He doesn't like to stay in one place very long, so he takes me from joint to joint.

After such a busy day, I am really tired and glad to go to bed with Ben Gay.

What a life!
Lovingly,
Needa Rest.

To the Editor,
I'm a long time Chelsea resident—an almost senior citizen—and a strong supporter of "support your local businesses"; spend your money in your home community if at all possible.

However, I overheard recently in a busy local store, a store with a telephone at the cash register up front! The very young cashier was making a personal phone call talking—just chatting madly—with a friend. She was heard to comment as she laughed loudly—"you wouldn't believe this old lady who came in, she was a real crock" etc., etc. Laugh, laugh.

Somebody should clue these young working people the value of respect for elders and discretion in their behavior and conversation while working in a public place. Many of these "old ladies" whom you consider a "real crock" have worked hard and unselfishly to better your community and certainly not least is the fact that a large share of the buying power that supports the business that gives you your job—that buying power belongs to those funny old ladies.
Old Enough to Know.

L. Heimerdinger Wins Fair Shetland Event

Lucy Heimerdinger, of Chelsea, took first place in the Shetland pony roadster class (43" and under) with her horse Sly Gambler, at the Michigan State Fair on Wednesday, Aug. 27. Shetland, Arabian, half-Arabian and Hackney performance classes were judged.

THESE HORSES AND THEIR TRAINERS earned showmanship awards at the Chelsea Community Fair. Jodi Oltersdorf, of Chelsea, left, was the novice award, and Christine Vargo, right, also of Chelsea, won in the walk/trot division.

SHOWMANSHIP AWARDS were presented to Kasey Byrum, of Dexter, right, in the senior division, and Glanna Bommarito, of Ann Arbor, in the junior division. It was close competition all the way.

GRAND CHAMPION HORSE at the Chelsea fair belonged to Tim Long, of Dexter.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Tuesday, Sept. 2 were Dils, Grau, Comeau, Redding, Satterthwaite, Wales, Cherm, superintendent Van Meer, Principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Larson, athletic director Reed, curriculum director Bissell, guests. Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by President Dils. Board approved the minutes of the Aug. 18 meeting.

cafeteria employees.
The board authorized the administration to proceed with the purchase of four bus chassis and four bus bodies.
The board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Pauline Koski, effective Sept. 2, 1986. Pauline had served as E. I. teacher at Beach school.
Meeting adjourned at 9:28 p.m.

Entered as official communications were: (1) a letter on behalf of some parents of the swim team, urging the hiring of an assistant swim coach with diving experience; (2) a letter received by trustee Cherm from Linda Hiatt and Susan Lovejoy, PREP teachers at North school, regarding the scheduling of appointments for four-year-olds considered for the PREP program.

PREP Project Screening Pre-School 4-Year-Old Children

The Parent Readiness Education Project (PREP) is again screening all four-year-old children in the Chelsea School District. Children are eligible for this free service if they were born between Dec. 2, 1981 and Dec. 1, 1982.

The Board of Education gave recognition to Palmer Ford, Faist-Morrow, Village Motors for providing new vehicles for the driver education program. The board expressed appreciation for this contribution and presented framed certificates to the dealers' representatives.

If you have not received a letter, please call North School, 475-9131, ext. 60, to make an appointment. A teacher will meet individually with each child to assess the child's learning strengths.

The board approved a three-year salary schedule for PREP teachers, Linda Hiatt or Susan Lovejoy, will share this information with the parents, so they can learn more about their child's readiness for kindergarten.

'Butterflies Are Free' Well Done at True Grist

By Retlaw Dranoel
Free Lance Drama Critic
Tender direction accompanied by superb acting makes for an emotionally enjoyable evening at the True Grist Dinner Theatre in Homer with "Butterflies Are Free" currently featured on the theatrical boards. Leonard Gershe has written some terrific lines into a subtle but very feeling drama about "who is really handicapped" in this crazy world of ours.

Laughter aplenty will be yours and if you feel strongly about people, tears of joy, and understanding will happily roll down your cheeks as you enjoy this deliciously empathic comedy.

Don Baker has just rented an apartment in New York City with the kitchen/living room facing the audience. We are introduced to Baker and his unseen mother (Mrs. Baker) by a telephone conversation in which the concerned mother questions her son's alienation from her for one month per earlier agreement.

Don's next door neighbor hidden between paper thin walls is a "hope-to-be-actress" Jill Tanner whose hearing is excellent and who has listened to his maternal conversation. Don and Jill proceed with surface acquaintance which rapidly moves into social intimacy of the bedroom variety as the plays heads for a first-act climax.

Unaware of Don's blindness (from birth) until the movement of an ash tray out of its appropriate place, Jill comes to the realization that he is incapacitated with lack of sight. The adjustment to this by the couple is indeed excellently written and performed, causing several deeply moving emotional relationships to develop between the added blonde actress and the "try it on my own" young man.

Taking his guitar and singing "Butterflies Are Free" is the opening of his hidden talents. Jill hops onto this hidden ability with both feet with encouragement. Intermission arrives with the arrival of Don's mother finding the couple in a state of address.

Dueling verbally, Don and his mother slowly develop the affection that seems never to surface between these two family members. She immediately distrusts the actress, Jill, and openly expresses this dislike. Eventually, however, her dislike turns to cautious admiration of the young lady who is having this sexual affair with her son.

Jill goes to audition, coming back with a new boy friend, Ralph Austin, telling Don she is moving to Ralph's apartment because it will be handier. Don is inwardly destroyed emotionally; but determinedly fights to keep his love. The premise: "Who is really the handicapped person in this world? An obviously blind person or an individual who emotionally refuses to face life?"

Suzanne Ogden of Ypsilanti appeared very comfortable with the portrayal of the flighty, non-committal Jill Tanner. She was equally able to convey the light, airy headedness that primarily characterized Tanner and to grasp at the emotions of the audience with the rare insight that enlightens Mrs. Baker about her son's lack of confidence. Ogden seemed to be enjoying herself from the outset—a sure sign of confidence with the role—which translated to an ease of enjoyment for the audience.

James Allen Baker's blind youth is a study in developmental stage action. His early stage movements indicated by sureness of movement eventually become clumsy and misdirected as he inwardly becomes the same way, quite a feat by young James Baker. His anger in the second act in his uncontrollable hurting is brilliantly played and comes reeling out to the audience with its unabashed, open emotion.

Joanne Burleson is so natural as the mother she seems not to be acting, but seems to have arrived off the street literally to visit her blind son. Her ability to move from an overly protective mother, muchly concerned, to one who has sense enough to pull back and let go in a time of crisis is a terrific study in character by Ms. Burleson. She is a stage actress indeed and brings down the house with her natural humor expressed through Gershe's lines.

Jeremiah Lemons as Ralph—Jill's boyfriend—accomplishes character development in a very short period of time. His sexy, jacksassical approach to Don and to Jill comes through quickly. To do this character development in a short period provided by the play again is a marvelous acting accomplishment.

Perhaps the real star of the evening is the interaction of the cast with one another; the natural playing off of the other character so that the audience is receiving the full effect of the marvelous humorous, but often biting lines of the playwright.

Yankee Air Force Founder's Day Set

The Yankee Air Force Museum at Willow Run Airport will take visitors back into the 1940's during the fifth annual Founder's Day Air Exhibition, Sept. 13-14. The event will commemorate the 75th anniversary of Naval Aviation, 60th anniversary of the Michigan Air National Guard and 50th Anniversary of Air Traffic Controllers.

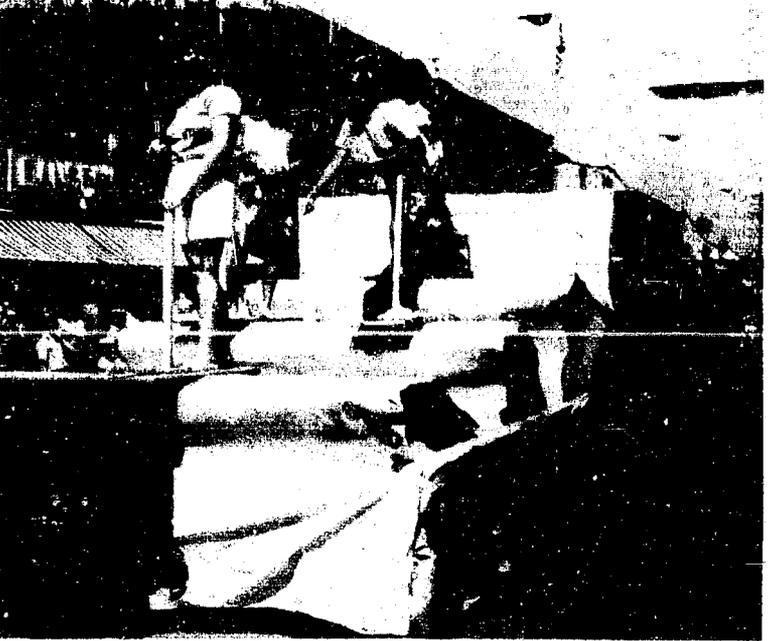

Highlighting the week-end will be a dinner-dance Saturday evening beginning at 6:30 p.m., featuring the big band sound of Al Townsend and the Ambassadors. A "USO" show patterned after those popular at military bases during World War II will be part of the program. Advance purchase tickets are $20 and $25 at the door. Period dress is optional.

Vintage "Warbirds" including the museum's recently acquired Boeing B-17G Flying Fortress, as well as their C-47 and B-52 will be on display throughout the two-day event. The Museum has over 20 aircraft on display in all phases of restoration. Other activities will include a fly-by demonstration each day at 3 p.m., speaker forums by seasoned Michigan aviators, WW-II movies, exhibits by recruiters, Air Traffic Controllers, the 99's, Tuskegee Airmen, military, warbird and private and commercial aircraft on display. There will be lunches available both days and a pancake breakfast on Sunday morning at 9 a.m.

"This event has always been well attended," said YAF president Harry Terpstra. "We've found that the Museum is like a magnet for people who enjoy airplanes and history museums. This southeastern part of Michigan is very rich in aviation history itself, such as Willow Run airport housing the B-24 Liberator production plant and our hangar is the last place the B-24's went through before they flew. The dinner-dance is traditionally a sellout, and there should be even more interest this year with the addition of the "G.I. Review," USO style. All proceeds from the dance will go toward the restoration of our Boeing B-17 Flying Fortress." Tickets purchased in advance are $20 per person for the dinner-dance.

Gates open at 9 each morning, with daytime activities continuing until 5 p.m. There will be a $5 per vehicle donation at the gate on Beck Rd. The Yankee Air Museum is located off Beck Rd., at the northeast corner of Ypsilanti's Willow Run Airport. Call 483-4030 for information.

Cameron Is Honorary Chairman Of United Way Campaign

Chelsea United Way has been active all summer making plans for the 1986 campaign, beginning Oct. 1.

Charles Cameron, retired superintendent of the Chelsea School District, has accepted the position of Honorary Chairman.

Contacting persons in the area of industry will be Dave Prohaska and Lang Ramsay; Commercial, Jill Taylor and Cathy Kittball; Professional, Randy Muebach and Mike Smith; Chelsea Community Hospital, Pat Kubany; Chelsea Schools, Jackie Rogers; Clubs and Organizations, Lynda Longe Collins.

Chelsea United Way is governed by 21 persons from all walks of life. The board meets the third Wednesday of each month and the meetings are open to the public.

United Way supports many Chelsea agencies including Chelsea Area Transportation System (C.A.T.S.). The service provides low cost transportation to our seniors.

Chelsea Home Meal Service enables hot meals to be delivered to aged and disabled Chelsea residents daily.

Chelsea Recreation Council provides the community with year-round activities for persons of all ages in the Chelsea School District.

Chelsea Social Services, which aids families in need of food, clothing and financial assistance.

Chelsea's Faith in Action, is also a member agency which provides programs for persons in need of counseling, emergency assistance, including food, clothing, financial aid and transportation. They also offer a free health clinic for those who are unable to pay and have a Senior-Teen Program, which matches teens with Senior Citizens living alone, who are in need of some help in the home and companionship.

Community Ed. Offers Many New Fall Classes

Bodybuilding for women, computer graphics and financial management for the small business owner are some of the classes that are new this year to the Chelsea Community Education fall schedule.

A total of 11 classes are being offered for the first time this fall. One class that is being heavily promoted is called "Ideas Unlimited," for people who provide home day care/latch key services.

Debbie Osborne, described as a "mother, teacher and former baby-sitter of eight," is coordinating the new group.

According to Jackie Rogers, community education director, Ideas Unlimited was created in response to the large number of requests to provide a forum where adults could meet and exchange activity ideas for groups of youngsters.

As group leader, Osborne will ascertain the needs and interests of participants and plan monthly programs. Programs might include topics such as holiday activities, nature projects, health and safety tips, kids-in-the-kitchen ideas, and local walking field trips.

The group will meet regularly on the third Monday of each month from 7-8:30 p.m. at the Chelsea High school media center. The first meeting will be Monday, Sept. 29. A $20 fee will cover the first four months of meetings.

Other new programs include, "Business After Hours," a chance to meet and mix with members of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, Sept. 17 from 5-7 p.m.; "Financial Management for the Small-Business Owner," on Oct. 30; "Assertive Discipline for Parents," a program to help parents discipline their children effectively, a two-hour workshop on Nov. 4; "Toward a More Successful Work and Life Style," on Oct. 29; "Latch-Key Families, Ensuring a Positive Experience," on Tuesday, Sept. 16 and Saturday, Sept. 20; "The Village Shoppe," a series of classes on how to make heirloom crafts; "Women's Bodybuilding," on Monday and Wednesday from 7-8:30 p.m.; "Studio Art," sponsored by the Ann Arbor Art Association; and "Color Harmony Workshop," a course to teach people what colors look best on them.

District To Buy Four School Buses

Due to a larger-than-anticipated equity fund, the Chelsea School Board approved the purchase of two additional school buses at their regular meeting Tuesday, Sept. 2.

The district now plans to buy four buses this year.

The district will buy two Chevrolet chassis from Faist-Morrow Buick-Olds-Chevrolet, of Chelsea, and two Ford chassis from Palmer Ford of Chelsea at $18,504 per chassis.

C. B. Equipment, of Lansing, was the low bidder to supply the bodies, at $15,292 each.

That means the cost per bus is $33,796.

According to assistant superintendent Fred Mills, the decision to buy two different makes of bus at the same time was made because the district wants to evaluate them under the same conditions.

Mills said three companies placed bids for the chassis. Wolverine Transportation bid $15,750, and Neil's Automotive bid $15,827.

Mills said the expected delivery date is next spring. The district uses 28 buses and vans on a regular basis, and there are two spare vehicles. The new buses will be replacements.

The average bus is used for seven years, and becomes a

Renown Educator To Speak at CHS

Madeline Hunter, a nationally-known expert on classroom instruction, will be speaking to Chelsea teachers on Monday, Sept. 15 at 4 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium and the public is invited to attend.

Hunter is a lecturer in the Department of Education at UCLA who is known for her work linking research on teaching and learning with classroom practice.

Hunter is credited with having enormous influence on classroom instruction and the thinking patterns of teachers.

Hunter is speaking earlier in the day to the Chelsea Area School board.

Other new programs include, "Business After Hours," a chance to meet and mix with members of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, Sept. 17 from 5-7 p.m.; "Financial Management for the Small-Business Owner," on Oct. 30; "Assertive Discipline for Parents," a program to help parents discipline their children effectively, a two-hour workshop on Nov. 4; "Toward a More Successful Work and Life Style," on Oct. 29; "Latch-Key Families, Ensuring a Positive Experience," on Tuesday, Sept. 16 and Saturday, Sept. 20; "The Village Shoppe," a series of classes on how to make heirloom crafts; "Women's Bodybuilding," on Monday and Wednesday from 7-8:30 p.m.; "Studio Art," sponsored by the Ann Arbor Art Association; and "Color Harmony Workshop," a course to teach people what colors look best on them.

'Butterflies Are Free' Well Done at True Grist

By Retlaw Dranel
Free Lance Drama Critic
Tender direction accompanied by superb acting makes for an emotionally enjoyable evening at the True Grist Dinner Theatre in Homer with "Butterflies Are Free" currently featured on the theatrical boards. Leonard Gershe has written some terrific lines into a subtle but very feeling drama about "who is really handicapped" in this crazy world of ours.

Laughter aplenty will be yours and if you feel strongly about people, tears of joy and understanding will happily roll down your cheeks as you enjoy this deliciously empathic comedy. Don Baker has just rented an apartment in New York City with the kitchen/living room facing the audience. We are introduced to Baker and his unseen mother (Mrs. Baker) by a telephone conversation in which the concerned mother questions her son's alienation from her for one month per earlier agreement.

Don's next door neighbor hidden between paper thin walls is a "hope-to-be-actress" Jill Tanner whose hearing is excellent and who has listened to his maternal conversation. Don and Jill proceed with surface acquaintance which rapidly moves into social intimacy of the bedroom variety as the plays heads for a first-act climax. Unaware of Don's blindness (from birth) until the movement of an ash tray out of its appropriate place, Jill comes to the realization that he is incapacitated with lack of sight. The adjustment to this by the couple is indeed excellently written and performed, causing several deeply moving emotional relationships to develop between the added blonde actress and the "try it on my own" young man.

Taking his guitar and singing "Butterflies Are Free" is the opening of his hidden talents. Jill hops onto this hidden ability with both feet with encouragement. Intermittent arrives with the arrival of Don's mother finding the couple in a state of undress. Dueling verbally, Don and his mother slowly develop the affection that seems never to surface between these two family members. She immediately distrusts the actress, Jill, and openly expresses this dislike. Eventually, however, her dislike turns to cautious admiration of the young lady who is having this sexual affair with her son. Jill goes to audition, coming back with a new boy friend, Ralph Austin, telling Don she is moving to Ralph's apartment because it will be handier. Don is inwardly destroyed emotionally; but determinedly fights to keep his love. The premise: "Who is really the handicapped person in this world? An obviously blind person or an individual who emotionally refuses to face life?"

Suzanne Ogden of Ypsilanti appeared very comfortable with the portrayal of the flighty, non-committal Jill Tanner. She was equally able to convey the light, airy headedness that primarily characterized Tanner and to grasp at the emotions of the audience with the rare insight that enlightens Mrs. Baker about her son's lack of confidence. Ogden seemed to be enjoying herself from the outset—a sure sign of confidence with the role—which translated to an ease of enjoyment for the audience.

James Allen Baker's blind youth is a study in developmental stage action. His early stage movements indicated by sureness of movement eventually become clumsy and misdirected as he inwardly becomes the same way, quite a feat by young James Baker. His anger in the second act in his uncontrollable hurting is brilliantly played and comes reeling out to the audience with its unabashed, open emotion.

Joanne Burleson is so natural as the mother she seems not to be acting, but seems to have arrived off the street literally to visit her blind son. Her ability to move from an overly protective mother, muchly concerned, to one who has sense enough to pull back and let go in a time of crisis is a terrific study in character by Ms. Burleson. She is a stage actress indeed and brings down the house with her natural humor expressed through Gershe's lines.

Jeremiah Lemons as Ralph—Jill's boyfriend—accomplishes character development in a very short period of time. His sexy, lackadaisical approach to Don and to Jill comes through quickly. Cameron Is Honorary Chairman Of United Way Campaign

Chelsea United Way has been active all summer making plans for the 1986 campaign, beginning Oct. 1.

Charles Cameron, retired superintendent of the Chelsea School District, has accepted the position of Honorary Chairman.

Contacting persons in the area of Industry will be Dave Prohaska and Lang Ramsay; Commercial, Jill Taylor and Cathy Kimball; Professional, Randy Muebach and Mike Smith; Chelsea Community Hospital, Pat Kubany; Chelsea Schools, Jackie Rogers; Clubs and Organizations, Lynda Longe of Chelsea.

Chelsea United Way is governed by 21 persons from all walks of life. The board meets the third Wednesday of each month and the meetings are open to the public.

United Way supports many Chelsea agencies including Chelsea Area Transportation System (C.A.T.S.). The service provides low cost transportation to our seniors.

Chelsea Home Meal Service enables hot meals to be delivered to aged and disabled Chelsea residents daily.

Chelsea Recreation Council provides the community with year-round activities for persons of all ages in the Chelsea School District.

Chelsea Social Services, which aids families in need of food, clothing and financial assistance. Chelsea's Faith in Action, is also a member agency which provides programs for persons in need of counseling, emergency assistance, including food, clothing, financial aid and transportation. They also offer a free health clinic for those who are unable to pay and have a Senior-Teen Program, which matches teens with Senior Citizens living alone, who are in need of some help in the home and companionship.

Community Ed. Offers Many New Fall Classes

Bodybuilding for women, computer graphics and financial management for the small business owner are some of the classes that are new this year to the Chelsea Community Education fall schedule.

A total of 11 classes are being offered for the first time this fall.

One class that is being heavily promoted is called "Ideas Unlimited," for people who provide home day care/latch key services.

Debbie Osborne, described as a "mother, teacher and former baby-sitter of eight," is coordinating the new group.

According to Jackie Rogers, community education director, Ideas Unlimited was created in response to the large number of requests to provide a forum where adults could meet and exchange activity ideas for groups of youngsters.

As group leader, Osborne will ascertain the needs and interests of participants and plan monthly programs. Programs might include topics such as holiday activities, nature projects, health and safety tips, kids-in-the-kitchen ideas, and local walking field trips.

The group will meet regularly on the third Monday of each month from 7-8:30 p.m. at the Chelsea High school media center. The first meeting will be Monday, Sept. 29. A $20 fee will cover the first four months of meetings.

Other new programs include, "Business After Hours," a chance to meet and mix with members of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, Sept. 17 from 5-7 p.m.; "Financial Management for the Small-Business Owner," on Oct. 30; "Assertive Discipline for Parents," a program to help parents discipline their children effectively, a two-hour workshop on Nov. 1; "Toward a More Successful Work and Life Style," on Oct. 29; "Latch-Key Families, Ensuring a Positive Experience," on Tuesday, Sept. 16 and Saturday, Sept. 20; "The Village Shoppe," a series of classes on how to make heirloom crafts; "Women's Bodybuilding," on Monday and Wednesday from 7-8:30 p.m.; "Studio Art," sponsored by the Ann Arbor Art Association; and "Color Harmony Workshop," a course to teach people what colors look best on them.

Renown Educator To Speak at CHS

Madeline Hunter, a nationally known expert on classroom instruction, will be speaking to Chelsea teachers on Monday, Sept. 15 at 4 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium and the public is invited to attend.

Hunter is a lecturer in the Department of Education at UCLA who is known for her work linking research on teaching and learning with classroom practice.

Hunter is credited with having enormous influence on classroom instruction and the thinking patterns of teachers.

Hunter is speaking earlier in the day to the Willow Run School

District To Buy Four School Buses

Due to a larger-than-anticipated equity fund, the Chelsea School Board approved the purchase of two additional school buses at their regular meeting Tuesday, Sept. 2.

The district now plans to buy four buses this year.

The district will buy two Chevrolet chassis from Faist-Morrow Buick-Olds-Chevrolet, of Chelsea, and two Ford chassis from Palmer Ford of Chelsea at $18,504 per chassis.

C. R. Equipment, of Lansing, was the low bidder to supply the bodies, at $15,292 each.

That means the cost per bus is $33,796.

According to assistant superintendent Fred Mills, the decision to buy two different makes of bus at the same time was made because the district wants to evaluate them under the same conditions.

Mills said three companies placed bids for the chassis. Wolverine Transportation bid $15,750, and Neil's Automotive bid $15,827.

Mills said the expected delivery date is next spring. The district uses 28 buses and vans on a regular basis, and there are two spare vehicles. The new buses will be replacements.

The average bus is used for seven years, and becomes a spare in its eighth year. Mills

'Butterflies Are Free' Well Done at True Grist

By Retlaw Dranoel
Free Lance Drama Critic
Tender direction accompanied by superb acting makes for an emotionally enjoyable evening at the True Grist Dinner Theatre in Homer with "Butterflies Are Free" currently featured on the theatrical boards. Leonard Gershe has written some terrific lines into a subtle but very feeling drama about "who is really handicapped" in this crazy world of ours.

Laughter aplenty will be yours and if you feel strongly about people, tears of joy and understanding will happily roll down your cheeks as you enjoy this deliciously empathic comedy.

Don Baker has just rented an apartment in New York City with the kitchen/living room facing the audience. We are introduced to Baker and his unseen mother (Mrs. Baker) by a telephone conversation in which the concerned mother questions her son's alienation from her for one month per earlier agreement.

Don's next door neighbor hidden between paper thin walls is a "hope-to-be-actress" Jill Tanner whose hearing is excellent and who has listened to his internal conversation. Don and Jill proceed with surface acquaintance which rapidly moves into social intimacy of the bedroom variety as the plays heads for a first-act climax.

Unaware of Don's blindness (from birth) until the movement of an ash tray out of its appropriate place, Jill comes to the realization that he is incapacitated with lack of sight. The adjustment to this by the couple is indeed excellently written and performed, causing several deeply moving emotional relationships to develop between the added blonde actress and the "try it on my own" young man.

Taking his guitar and singing "Butterflies Are Free" is the opening of his hidden talents. Jill hops onto this hidden ability with both feet with encouragement. Intermission arrives with the arrival of Don's mother finding the couple in a state of undress.

Dueling verbally, Don and his mother slowly develop the affection that seems never to surface between these two family members. She immediately distrusts the actress, Jill, and openly expresses this dislike. Eventually, however, her dislike turns to cautious admiration of the young lady who is having this sexual affair with her son.

Jill goes to audition, coming back with a new boy friend, Ralph Austin, telling Don she is moving to Ralph's apartment because it will be handier. Don is inwardly destroyed emotionally; but determinedly fights to keep his love. The premise: "Who is really the handicapped person in this world? An obviously blind person or an individual who emotionally refuses to face life?"

Suzanne Ogden of Ypsilanti appeared very comfortable with the portrayal of the flighty, non-committal Jill Tanner. She was equally able to convey the light, airy headedness that primarily characterized Tanner and to grasp at the emotions of the audience with the rare insight that enlightens Mrs. Baker about her son's lack of confidence. Ogden seemed to be enjoying herself from the outset—a sure sign of confidence with the role—which translated to an ease of enjoyment for the audience.

James Allen Baker's blind youth is a study in developmental stage action. His early stage movements indicated by sureness of movement eventually become clumsy and misdirected as he inwardly becomes the same way, quite a feat by young James Baker. His anger in the second act in his uncontrollable hurting is brilliantly played and comes reeling out to the audience with its unabashed, open emotion.

Joanne Burleson is so natural as the mother she seems not to be acting, but seems to have arrived off the street literally to visit her blind son. Her ability to move from an overly protective mother, muchly concerned, to one who has sense enough to pull back and let go in a time of crisis is a terrific study in character by Ms. Burleson. She is a stage actress indeed and brings down the house with her natural humor expressed through Gershe's lines.

Jeremiah Lemons as Ralph—Jill's boyfriend—accomplishes character development in a very short period of time. His sexy, lackadaisical approach to Don and to Jill comes through quickly. To do this character development in a short period provided by the play again is a marvelous acting accomplishment.

Perhaps the real star of the evening is the interaction of the cast with one another; the natural playing off of the other character so that the audience is receiving the full effect of the marvelous humorous, but often biting lines of the playwright.

"Butterflies Are Free" deserves a visit from you at the True Grist Dinner Theatre. Reservations may be made by calling 517-568-4151. Performances are from Wednesday through Sunday.

David M. Pritchard, the new producer at True Grist, invites patrons to meet the stars in the adjoining Bin Room next to the theatre where photographs may be taken. On Friday and Saturday evenings, with encouragement, the cast might open up their vocal chords for your enjoyment.

JAMES BAKER (Don) and Suzanne Ogden (Jill) emotionally expound in a scene from "Butterflies Are Free" now playing at True Grist Dinner-Theatre in Homer.

Yankee Air Force Founder's Day Set

The Yankee Air Force Museum at Willow Run Airport will take visitors back into the 1940's during the fifth annual Founder's Day Air Exhibition, Sept. 13-14. The event will commemorate the 75th anniversary of Naval Aviation, 60th anniversary of the Michigan Air National Guard and 50th Anniversary of Air Traffic Controllers.

Highlighting the week-end will be a dinner-dance Saturday evening beginning at 6:30 p.m., featuring the big band sound of Al Townsend and the Ambassadors. A "USO" show patterned after those popular at military bases during World War II will be part of the program. Advance purchase tickets are $20 and $25 at the door. Period dress is optional.

Vintage "Warbirds" including the museum's recently acquired Boeing B-17G Flying Fortress, as well as their C-47 and B-52 will be on display throughout the two-day event. The Museum has over 20 aircraft on display in all phases of restoration. Other activities will include a fly-by demonstration each day at 3 p.m., speaker forums by seasoned Michigan aviators, WW-II movies, exhibits by recruiters, Air Traffic Controllers, the 99's, Tuskegee Airmen, military, warbird and private and commercial aircraft on display. There will be lunches available both days and a pancake breakfast on Sunday morning at 9 a.m.

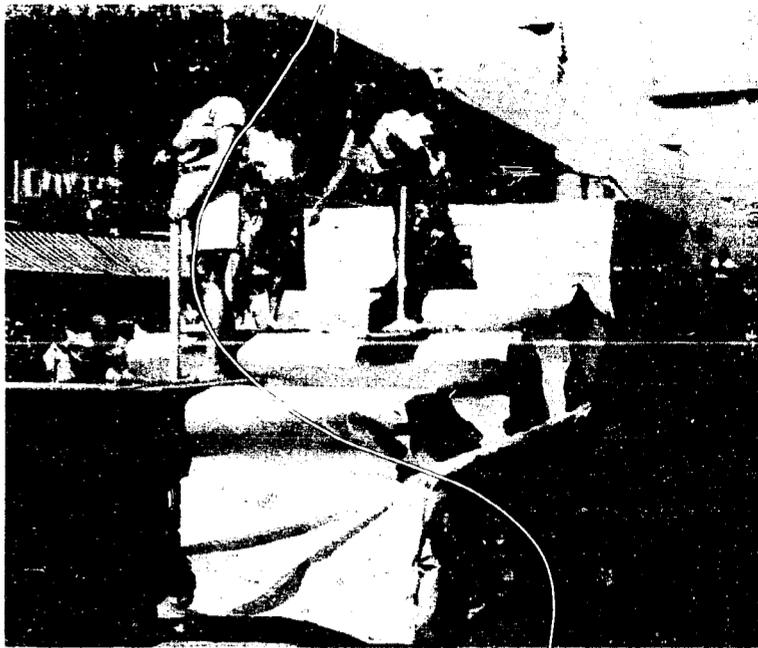

"This event has always been well attended," said YAF president Harry Terpstra. "We've found that the Museum is a magnet for people who airplanes and history must. This southeastern part of Michigan is very rich in aviation history itself, such as Willow airport housing the Liberator production plant our hangar is the last place B-24's went through before flew. The dinner-dance is a nationally a sellout, and it should be even more so this year with the addition of "G.I. Review," USO style proceeds from the dance will toward the restoration of our

Chelsea United Way has been active all summer making plans for the 1986 campaign, beginning Oct. 1.

Charles Cameron, retired superintendent of the Chelsea School District, has accepted the position of Honorary Chairman.

Contacting persons in the area of industry will be Dave Prohaska and Lang Ramsay; Commercial, Jill Taylor and Cathy Kimball; Professional, Randy Musbach and Mike Smith; Chelsea Community Hospital, Pat Kubany; Chelsea Schools, Jackie Rogers; Clubs and Organizations, Lynda Longe Collins.

Chelsea United Way is governed by 21 persons from all walks of life. The board meets the third Wednesday of each month and the meetings are open to the public.

United Way supports many Chelsea agencies including Chelsea Area Transportation System (C.A.T.S.). The service provides low cost transportation to our seniors.

Chelsea Home Meal Service enables hot meals to be delivered to aged and disabled Chelsea residents daily.

Chelsea Recreation Council provides the community with year-round activities for persons of all ages in the Chelsea School District.

Chelsea Social Services, which aids families in need of food, clothing and financial assistance.

Chelsea's Faith in Action, is also a member agency which provides programs for persons in need of counseling, emergency assistance, including food, clothing, financial aid and transportation. They also offer a free health clinic for those who are unable to pay and have a Senior-Teen Program, which matches teens with Senior Citizens living alone, who are in need of some help in the home and companionship.

Community Ed. Offers Many New Fall Classes

Bodybuilding for women, computer graphics and financial management for the small business owner are some of the classes that are new this year to the Chelsea Community Education fall schedule.

A total of 11 classes are being offered for the first time this fall.

One class that is being heavily promoted is called "Ideas Unlimited," for people who provide home day care/latch key services.

Debbie Osborne, described as a "mother, teacher and former baby-sitter of eight," is coordinating the new group.

According to Jackie Rogers, community education director, Ideas Unlimited was created in response to the large number of requests to provide a forum where adults could meet and exchange activity ideas for groups of youngsters.

Renown Educator To Speak at CHS

Madeline Hunter, a nationally-known expert on classroom instruction, will be speaking to Chelsea teachers on Monday, Sept. 15 at 4 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium and the public is invited to attend.

Hunter is a lecturer in the Department of Education at UCLA who is known for her work linking research on teaching and learning with classroom practice.

Hunter is credited with having enormous influence on classroom instruction and the thinking patterns of teachers.

Hunter is speaking earlier in the day to the Willow Run School

As group leader, Osborne will ascertain the needs and interests of participants and plan monthly programs. Programs might include topics such as holiday activities, nature projects, health and safety tips, kids-in-the-kitchen ideas, and local walking field trips.

The group will meet regularly on the third Monday of each month from 7-8:30 p.m. at the Chelsea High school media center. The first meeting will be Monday, Sept. 29. A $20 fee will cover the first four months of meetings.

Other new programs include, "Business After Hours," a chance to meet and mix with members of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, Sept. 17 from 5-7 p.m.; "Financial Management for the Small-Business Owner," on Oct. 30; "Assertive Discipline for Parents," a program to help parents discipline their children effectively, a two-hour workshop on Nov. 4; "Toward a More Successful Work and Life Style," on Oct. 29; "Latch-Key Families, Ensuring a Positive Experience," on Tuesday, Sept. 16 and Saturday, Sept. 20; "The Village Shoppe," a series of classes on how to make heirloom crafts; "Women's Bodybuilding," on Monday and Wednesday from 7-8:30 p.m.; "Studio Art," sponsored by the Ann Arbor Art Association; and "Color Harmony Workshop," a course to teach people what colors look best on them.

District To Buy Four School Buses

Due to a larger-than-anticipated equity fund, the Chelsea School Board approved the purchase of two additional school buses at their regular meeting Tuesday, Sept. 2.

The district now plans to buy four buses this year.

The district will buy two Chevrolet chassis from Faist-Morrow Buick-Olds-Chevrolet, of Chelsea, and two Ford chassis from Palmer Ford of Chelsea at $18,504 per chassis.

C. R. Equipment, of Lansing, was the low bidder to supply the bodies, at $15,292 each. That means the cost per bus is $33,796.

According to assistant superintendent Fred Mills, the decision to buy two different makes of bus at the same time was made because the district wants to evaluate them under the same conditions.

Mills said three companies placed bids for the chassis. Wolverine Transportation bid $15,750, and Neil's Automotive bid $13,827.

Mills said the expected delivery date is next spring. The district uses 28 buses and vans on a regular basis, and there are two spare vehicles. The new buses will be replacements.

The average bus is used for seven years, and becomes a spare in its eighth year, Mills

'Butterflies Are Free' Well Done at True Grist

By Retlaw Dranoel
Free Lance Drama Critic
Tender direction accompanied by superb acting makes for an emotionally enjoyable evening at the True Grist Dinner Theatre in Homer with "Butterflies Are Free" currently featured on the theatrical boards. Leonard Gershe has written some terrific lines into a subtle but very feeling drama about "who is really handicapped" in this crazy world of ours.

Laughter aplenty will be yours and if you feel strongly about people, tears of joy and understanding will happily roll down your cheeks as you enjoy this deliciously empathic comedy.

Don Baker has just rented an apartment in New York City with the kitchen/living room facing the audience. We are introduced to Baker and his unseen mother (Mrs. Baker) by a telephone conversation in which the concerned mother questions her son's alienation from her for one month per earlier agreement.

Don's next door neighbor hidden behind paper thin walls is a "hope-to-be-actress" Jill Tanner whose hearing is excellent and who has listened to his maternal conversation. Don and Jill proceed with surface acquaintance which rapidly moves into social intimacy of the bedroom variety as the plays heads for a first-act climax.

Unaware of Don's blindness (from birth) until the movement of an ash tray out of its appropriate place, Jill comes to the realization that he is incapacitated with lack of sight. The adjustment to this by the couple is indeed excellently written and performed, causing several deeply moving emotional relationships to develop between the added blonde actress and the "try it on my own" young man.

Taking his guitar and singing "Butterflies Are Free" is the opening of his hidden talents. Jill hops onto this hidden ability with both feet with encouragement. Intermittent arrives with the arrival of Don's mother finding the couple in a state of undress.

Dueling verbally, Don and his mother slowly develop the affection that seems never to surface between these two family members. She immediately distrusts the actress, Jill, and openly expresses this dislike. Eventually, however, her dislike turns to cautious admiration of the young lady who is having this sexual affair with her son.

Jill goes to audition, coming back with a new boy friend, Ralph Austin, telling Don she is moving to Ralph's apartment because it will be handier. Don is inwardly destroyed emotionally; but determinedly fights to keep his love. The premise: "Who is really the handicapped person in this world? An obviously blind person or an individual who emotionally refuses to face life?"

Suzanne Ogden of Ypsilanti appeared very comfortable with the portrayal of the flighty, non-committal Jill Tanner. She was equally able to convey the light, airy headedness that primarily characterized Tanner and to grasp at the emotions of the audience with the rare insight that enlightens Mrs. Baker about her son's lack of confidence. Ogden seemed to be enjoying herself from the outset—a sure sign of confidence with the role—which translated to an ease of enjoyment for the audience.

James Allen Baker's blind youth is a study in developmental stage action. His early stage movements indicated by sureness of movement eventually become clumsy and misdirected as he inwardly becomes the same way, quite a feat by young James Baker. His anger in the second act in his uncontrollable hurting is brilliantly played and comes reeling out to the audience with its unabashed, open emotion.

Joanne Burleson is so natural as the mother she seems not to be acting, but seems to have arrived off the street literally to visit her blind son. Her ability to move from an overly protective mother, muchly concerned, to one who has sense enough to pull back and let go in a crisis is a terrific study in character by Ms. Burleson. She is a stage actress indeed and brings down the house with her natural humor expressed through Gershe's lines.

Jeremiah Lemons as Ralph—Jill's boyfriend—accomplishes character development in a very short period of time. His sexy, lackadaisical approach to Don and to Jill comes through quickly. To do this character development in a short period provided by the play again is a marvelous acting accomplishment.

Perhaps the real star of the evening is the interaction of the cast with one another; the natural playing off of the other character so that the audience is receiving the full effect of the marvelous humor, but often biting lines of the playwright.

"Butterflies Are Free" deserves a visit from you at the True Grist Dinner Theatre. Reservations may be made by calling 517-568-1151. Performances are from Wednesday through Sunday.

David M. Fritchard, the new producer at True Grist, invites patrons to meet the stars in the adjoining Bin Room next to the theatre where photographs may be taken. On Friday and Saturday evenings, with encouragement, the cast might open up their vocal chords for your enjoyment.

JAMES BAKER (Don) and Suzanne Ogden (Jill) emotionally expound in a scene from "Butterflies Are Free" now playing at True Grist Dinner-Theatre in Homer.

Yankee Air Force Founder's Day Set

The Yankee Air Force Museum at Willow Run Airport will take visitors back into the 1940's during the fifth annual Founder's Day Air Exhibition, Sept. 13-14. The event will commemorate the 75th anniversary of Naval Aviation, 60th anniversary of the Michigan Air National Guard and 50th Anniversary of Air Traffic Controllers.

Highlighting the week-end will be a dinner-dance Saturday evening beginning at 6:30 p.m., featuring the big band sound of Al Townsend and the Ambassadors. A "USO" show patterned after those popular at military bases during World War II will be part of the program. Advance purchase tickets are $20 and $25 at the door. Period dress is optional.

Vintage "Warbirds" including the museum's recently acquired Boeing B-17G Flying Fortress, as well as their C-47 and B-52 will be on display throughout the two-day event. The Museum has over 20 aircraft on display in all phases of restoration. Other activities will include a fly-by demonstration each day at 3 p.m., speaker forums by seasoned Michigan aviators, WW-II movies, exhibits by recruiters, Air Traffic Controllers, the 99's, Tuskegee Airmen, military, warbird and private and commercial aircraft on display. There will be lunches available both days and a pancake breakfast on Sunday morning at 9 a.m.

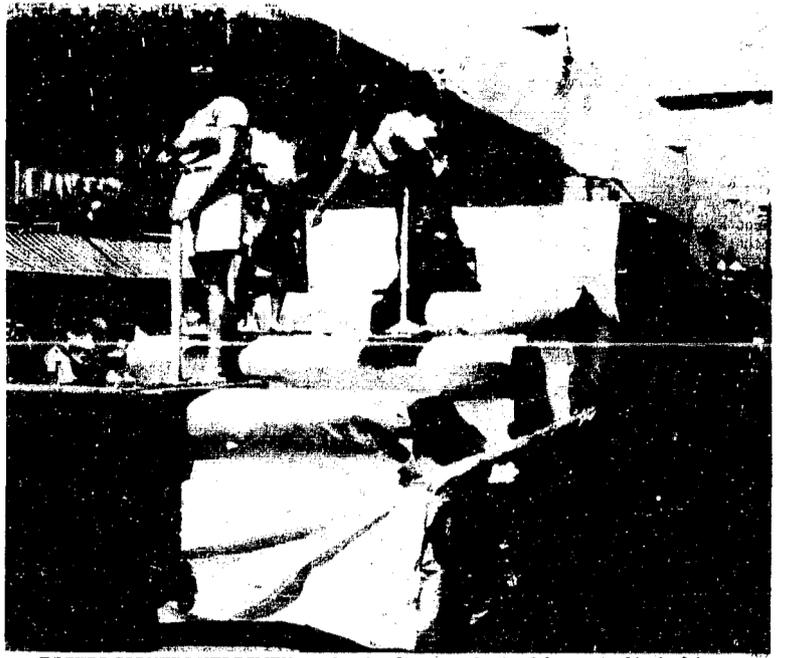

"This event has always been well attended," said YAF president Harry Terpstra. "We've found that the Museum is a magnet for people who airplanes and history must. This southeastern part of Michigan is very rich in aviation history itself, such as Willow Run airport housing the Liberator production plant our hangar is the last place B-24's went through before flew. The dinner-dance is traditionally a sellout, and should be even more in this year with the addition of a "G.I. Review," USO style proceeds from the dance toward the restoration of our

Chelsea United Way has been active all summer making plans for the 1986 campaign, beginning Oct. 1.

Charles Cameron, retired superintendent of the Chelsea School District, has accepted the position of Honorary Chairman.

Contacting persons in the area of Industry will be Dave Prohaska and Lang Ramsay; Commercial, Jill Taylor and Cathy Kimball; Professional, Randy Mitzbach and Mike Smith; Chelsea Community Hospital, Pat Kubany; Chelsea Schools, Jackie Rogers; Clubs and Organizations, Lynda Longe Collins.

Chelsea United Way is governed by 21 persons from all walks of life. The board meets the third Wednesday of each month and the meetings are open to the public.

United Way supports many Chelsea agencies including Chelsea Area Transportation System (C.A.T.S.). The service provides low cost transportation to our seniors.

Chelsea Home Meal Service enables hot meals to be delivered to aged and disabled Chelsea residents daily.

Chelsea Recreation Council provides the community with year-round activities for persons of all ages in the Chelsea School District.

Chelsea Social Services, which aids families in need of food, clothing and financial assistance.

Chelsea's Faith in Action, is also a member agency which provides programs for persons in need of counseling, emergency assistance, including food, clothing, financial aid and transportation. They also offer a free health clinic for those who are unable to pay and have a Senior-Teen Program, which matches teens with Senior Citizens living alone, who are in need of some help in the home and companionship.

District To Buy Four School Buses

Due to a larger-than-anticipated equity fund, the Chelsea School Board approved the purchase of two additional school buses at their regular meeting Tuesday, Sept. 2.

The district now plans to buy four buses this year.

The district will buy two Chevrolet chassis from Faist-Morrow Buick-Olds-Chevrolet, of Chelsea, and two Ford chassis from Palmer Ford of Chelsea at $18,504 per chassis.

C. R. Equipment, of Lansing, was the low bidder to supply the bodies, at $15,292 each.

That means the cost per bus is $33,796.

According to assistant superintendent Fred Mills, the decision to buy two different makes of bus at the same time was made because the district wants to evaluate them under the same conditions.

Mills said three companies placed bids for the chassis. Wolverine Transportation bid $15,750, and Neil's Automotive bid $15,827.

Mills said the expected delivery date is next spring. The district uses 28 buses and vans on a regular basis, and there are two spare vehicles. The new buses will be replacements.

The average bus is used for seven years, and becomes a spare in its eighth year, Mills said.

Mark Dault and Kiel took first and second in heat three.

The feature heat was won by Scott Otto, and Dault was second.

First and second place in the first three heats each night won $50. Feature events paid $225 for first and $100 for second.

R.G. Carpenter and Hoffmeyer also won awards for best decorated cars.

Girl Scout Round-Up Slated Thursday

Girl Scout Round-Up for girls in first through sixth grades will be held Thursday, Sept. 11 at North School Cafeteria at 7 p.m. Chelsea Girl Scout Troop Service Director Lee Tremper urges the girls and their parents to come and find out what Girl Scouting is all about.

Getting Down to Business for $9 a Month.

Citizens Trust Business Checking.

Average Available Business Checking Balance	Monthly Service Charge
$5000 or more	$0
$1 to $4999	$9

How much are you paying for a business checking account at your bank? As much as $20 some months? Thirty? Fifty?

If you open an account at Citizens Trust, you'll pay no more than $9 a month. Any month. And you could, with ease, maintain your account for free.

You see, we charge you only if your available balance falls below $5000.

If you keep an average available monthly balance of between $1 and $4999 in your account, you pay just $9 a month service fee. And a balance of $5000 or more in your account means you pay no service charges at all.

That's a welcome change from the policies of some area banks who charge you for each deposit you make, every check you write, and a monthly service fee to boot.

Next month, when your monthly statement arrives, sit down and figure out how much your account is costing your business. Then move your money to Citizens Trust. Because getting down to business shouldn't cost more than $9 a month.

Dogs Fumble Opener Away, Face Hornets Friday Night

Despite their 20-14 whipping at the hands of the Brooklyn Columbia Central Eagles last Friday, the Chelsea coaching staff believed the Bulldogs would be a formidable opponent for the Saline Hornets this Friday night.

Their optimism is grounded in the fact that neither quarterback and Todd Starkey or tight end Marty Poljan was at full speed last Friday. They should be ready this week.

Starkey should be all right this week and give us an outside threat, something we haven't had in a while," said assistant coach Wayne Weston.

With Poljan in there, it changes our whole blocking pattern. I'll bet Curtis Heard had about 100 of his yards running right behind Poljan.

The staff also believes has to believe that Chelsea won't turn the ball over four times. All four errors led directly to Eagle touchdowns.

Head Coach Gene LaFave attributed the turnovers in part to a lack of continuity at quarterback. LaFave was not complimentary about who would take the snaps this week but promised either Starkey, or sophomore Larry Nix would play most of the game.

Take off an intercepted lateral that went 17 yards for a score, and a 20-yard interception return, and Brooklyn would have scored only 14 points. A much closer game.

And if the Chelsea defense eliminates the other two or three big plays, caused by guys getting a little too excited and not covering their areas, as assistant coach Wayne Weston put it, it should be a good close home opener this Friday.

Despite the lopsided score, Chelsea's offense was at least as dominant as Brooklyn's considering they gave the ball away 36 many times. The Bulldogs totaled 243 total yards, 115 by running back Curtis Heard on 26 carries. The Eagles had 126 total yards, 72 on the ground, 48 in the air.

The Dogs had 70 yards in the air on three passes to Starkey for 57 yards, and the other 15 to Poljan, on two catches, one for a touchdown.

Chelsea Girl Harriers Take Third at Tough Invitational

Chelsea Bulldog Kasey Anderson took third place over-all and Chelsea had three finishers in the top 15 as the Bulldogs finished second in the highly competitive, 18-team West Bloomfield Invitational cross country meet last Saturday.

Lumen Christi, the team that finished just ahead of the Bulldogs in last year's state meet, won the meet with 50 points. Chelsea, with 75 points, edged Southeastern Conference foe Saline, with 79 points.

"I was pleased with the girls' efforts for their first meet," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

Junior Bulldogs Win Opening Game

Quarterback Bryant Beard hit Jeff Marshall with an 11-yard touchdown pass with just under four minutes remaining to give the Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity a 15-0 victory over Brooklyn Columbia Central in the first game of the season for both teams.

The scoring strike capped a three-play drive that began at the BCC 45-yard line. On BCC's previous drive, Bulldog defensive end David Zerke blocked a punt through the end zone for a two-point safety, which gave Chelsea a 9-0 lead and the ball.

"It was a good first game," said Chelsea coach Jim Ticknor. "We played pretty well."

Chelsea took the lead on their second possession in the first quarter after running back Jason Overdorf scored from two yards. The play finished a drive that saw Overdorf run for 29 yards and Luman Strang for 43. Jeff Prentice kicked the extra point.

BCC took the lead early in the second quarter on a 64-yard, 15-play drive, culminating in a five-yard touchdown pass. A short pass was completed for two extra points, giving BCC an 8-7 lead.

BCC had a final chance to score, but Marshall picked off a pass to end the drive.

The Bulldog defense allowed 126 yards for the game, 136 on the ground. The Chelsea offense picked up the same number of yards, but had one fewer turnover. The extra turnover came on an interception by Loren Keizer early in the game. Each team fumbled the ball away once.

Beard, a new student at Chelsea this year, completed just 4-14 passes but had several touchdown passes dropped, according to Ticknor. He said Chelsea could have won by a wide margin without the offensive mental mistakes.

Linebacker Scott Frisinger was a leader of the Chelsea defense, with 11 tackles and assists. Jerry Reinhardt, another linebacker, had 10 tackles and assists. Overdorf, at strong safety, was in on nine tackles.

The Bulldogs travel to Saline on Thursday. Game time is 7 p.m.

Bloomensaat Appointed New Recreation Director

Keith Bloomensaat, 13930 Green Acres Lane, has been appointed the new director of the Chelsea Recreation Council.

Bloomensaat, a three-year resident of Chelsea, has been active in recreation programs. He's coached t-ball for two years and soccer for three.

"I've been so involved as a coach and I thought this would be a good way to help out the community," Bloomensaat said.

Bloomensaat, a 1974 graduate of Western Michigan University with a bachelor's degree in business, works for the Department of Defense in Battle Creek. As an employee for the federal government, he has worked all over the country. Prior to coming to Michigan he was in Kansas.

Bloomensaat's wife, Laura, is a registered nurse at the Chelsea Medical Center. They have three children, Bryan, 8, Kevin, 6, and Erica, 5, who have all been involved in recreation department programs.

The director position is part-time, but the hours vary greatly from season to season, with the summer being the busiest time of year. Pay for the position is $5,900 annually.

Bloomensaat said his immediate goal for the department was "to improve the programs we already have," before trying to expand the program.

"My major goal is to try to get the community more involved in the programs, to try to improve that relationship," Bloomensaat said.

"I would like to have people calling us to see how they can help. Sometimes we have to beg for help."

Boys Cross Country Squad Takes 15th at Invitational

Chelsea boys cross country team finished in 15th place at the West Bloomfield Invitational last Saturday.

Lumen Christi, the winner, totaled 69 points. Chelsea ended with 343. There were 25 teams.

"The boys learned quite a bit at this meet and should continue to improve at the season progresses," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

John Cattell, in 18th place, was the top Bulldog. His time was 17:27, a good time, according to Clarke.

Other Chelsea finishers and their times were as follows: Greg Brown, 66th, 18:36; Lee Riemenschneider, 78th, 18:43; Paul Hedding, 82nd, 18:51; Dave Kvarnberg, 99th, 18:58; Mike Lavigne, 108th, 19:34; and Tucker Lee, 119th, 19:52.

In the junior varsity portion of the meet, there were 390 runners.

Chelsea places and times are as follows: Holden Harris, 43rd, 19:15; Brian Zangara, 92nd, 19:51; Matt Riemenschneider, 168th, 20:48; Dave Freitas, 187th, 21:10; Bob Pratt, 190th, 21:14; Dave Steele, 221st, 21:41; Jeff Andrews, 250th, 22:13; Joe Williams, 263rd, 22:43; Ken Beauchamp, 271st, 22:55; and Ward Beauchamp, 310th, 23:38.

Outdoor Report

From DNR District Office in Jackson.

General . . .

After the cooling, almost record setting temperatures of this past week, we will go into an Indian summer period that will hopefully last long, lazy, hazy weeks. Fall color is just beginning to show here and there with promises of good color to come if we don't get a cold soaking rain with wind to blow all the leaves off the trees.

Fisheries . . .

Fall is a good time to fish as most game fish move back into the shallow water and become more accessible. More outdoorsmen are hunting at this time and good catches of bluegills, bass and crappies are often reported on area lakes in the mid to latter part of September.

Elk Hunting . . .

Elk permits are available at all District offices. These cost $4 (non-refundable) and must be submitted before the Sept. 15 deadline. Successful applicants from 1984 and 1985 are not eligible in 1986. Michigan's last native elk disappeared around 1875.

In 1918, a release of seven Rocky Mountain elk was made in Nunda township in Cheboygan county. Habitat and range conditions at the time were quite favorable to elk. The herd increased to about 200 by 1925, to 300-400 by 1939. They ranged over some 125-140 square miles.

By 1958, they numbered 900-1,000, over a 400 square mile range.

Over 50 years ago the Michigan Department of Conservation, with purchases made by hunting license money, consolidated public ownership of land in the Pigeon River country, creating the nucleus of the Pigeon River Country State Forest. By the early 1960's, farmers, foresters and wildlife managers pointed to the depredation of farm crops, fences, forest reproduction and wildlife range, giving rise to our first "elk problem."

An elk research program in 1963 and legislative action opened the way for controlled hunting in 1964 and 1965. During these hunts, 477 elk were taken. In addition, poaching increased dramatically.

The 1970's exploration and development of oil and gas deposits in the Pigeon River Country and elk range brought the population to a low of 200 head (estimated) in 1975. Poaching, disturbances from snowmobiling and increased loss of habitat contributed to population decline.

Through citizen and environmentalist concern, legislation and court cases, law enforcement and public support, we again have an elk herd on the brink of causing serious damage to agriculture and forests, with associated impacts on other wildlife.

The DNR's goal is to maintain a viable elk population, in harmony with the environment, allowing regeneration of food species and decreasing browse competition between deer and elk. This can only be accomplished with public support through public knowledge and understanding.

Blackberries on the recreation and game areas are just about ripe. Wild plums are ripe and large and plentiful. They make an excellent tart jam.

Waterfowl reservations are now in at District Office. There will be no reserved hunt at Harsen's Island this year. Hunters may obtain a hunting permit by participating in the daily drawing. Regular waterfowl season opens this year on different dates in different locations. Reservations must be accompanied by a non-refundable fee of $3 per application. Waterfowl reservations are due by Sept. 15.

Mushroom Hunt Slated At Mill Lake Center

Michigan Mushroom Hunter's Club is sponsoring a hunt and information day at Mill Lake Nature Center Saturday, Oct. 4 from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Beginners and others who enjoy hunting mushrooms will find the day an opportunity to gain knowledge of edible wild mushrooms and to experience the wildlife of the Waterloo Recreation Area.

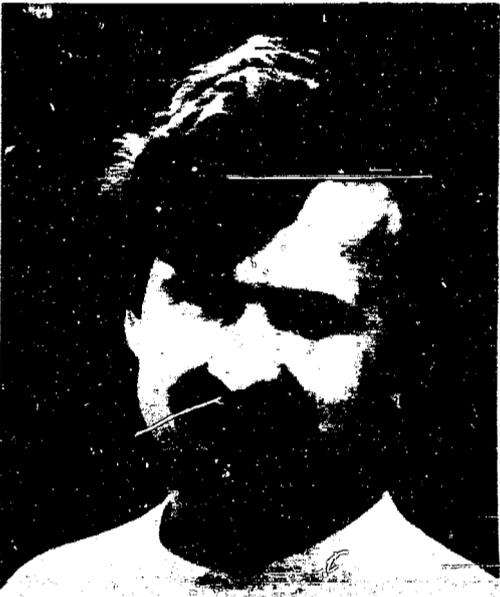

Activities will include guided hunts, mushroom safety information, book sales, food and beverage booths and mushroom identification assistance.

General admission is $2, but children under 13 are free. A state park permit is required, which will be issued at the park for $2.

Mill Lake is located three miles north of I-94. Take exit 157, Pierce Rd., north until it ends, and turn left on Bush Rd.

St. Jacob Evangelical Lutheran church, located at 12501 Riethmiller Rd., Grass Lake, will observe the 145th anniversary of its organization on Sunday, Sept. 14. The service is at 10:15 a.m.

In conjunction with this service, the congregation will also observe its annual Mission Festival. The guest speaker for this service will be Pastor John Chworowsky of Walled Lake, who is the Mission Counselor for the Michigan District of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod. St. Jacob was founded in 1841 by the pioneer missionary, Pastor Friedrich Schmid who established and founded the first Lutheran church in the Ann Arbor area in 1833.

St. Jacob is a member of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod which has churches in the 50 states and conducts missions in Japan, Africa, Mexico and the far East.

Members of St. Jacob invite all friends and former members to join with them in this worship service. Following the service there will be a pot-luck dinner served by the Ladies' Aid.

The Rev. A. Bloom, pastor of the church is completing his 44th year at St. Jacob.

Church Women United Plan Coming Year

The Board of Church Women United, Chelsea Unit met recently at the home of Arlene Schroen, unit president, and laid plans for the coming year. An Area Fall Workshop will take place at First United Methodist church, 209 Washenaw, Ypsilanti, on Friday, Oct. 10, with registration at 9:30 a.m., program to begin at 10 a.m., followed by lunch. All women are invited to participate in this event. For further information call Arlene at 475-1036.

Review of the past year showed success in increasing charitable contributions. Chelsea Church Women United expressed their thanks to those who supported their rummage sale last June. With the money collected they were able to send a check for $300 to Church World Service for the purchase of a treadle sewing machine for sewing centers in Third World Nations. These centers offer intensive courses in tailoring, dressmaking, and the sewing of items for export. The sewing centers help provide needed income to families and has taught both men and women a marketable skill. Some of the graduates go on to teach sewing to other people so that the knowledge of sewing is multiplied throughout the country. The Chelsea Unit also sent a $50 check to Faith in Action for assistance to the needy here in the Chelsea area. Plans are underway to have another rummage sale next June.

Church Women United join together on local, national, and international levels for three particular celebration days each year. The first is World Community Day in November which will be held this year. The first is World Community Day in November which will be held this year at St. Paul United Church of Christ on Old US-12, Chelsea, Friday, Nov. 7, beginning with 11:30 a.m. pot-luck, program to follow. The 1986 ecumenical service entitled, "Look to the Mountains," was written by women of CWU in New Hampshire. The team represented a variety of denominations: American Baptist, Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic, United Church of Christ, and United Methodist, giving the service a breadth of perspective. World Community Day 1986 calls women of faith to become involved and accept the challenge to take action, individually and collectively, to stop the chemical pollution of the earth—its air, land and water.

On March 6, 1987 World Day of Prayer will be celebrated and on May 1, 1987, May Fellowship Day, the groups will reflect on "Blessings of the Past, Promise of the Future," and Chelsea's 25th anniversary of Church Women United. The places and times of these future celebration days will be forthcoming.

One of the primary goals for Chelsea Church Women United is to achieve an increase of women participating from the many churches in the community. "We intend to use the resources God has entrusted to us responsibly and creatively—our intelligence, our time, our energy, our money as we carry out the mission of Christ through Church Women United" (C.W.U. Handbook). "We hope many more women will meet with us for our Area workshop on Oct. 10 and the Days of Celebration, first one on Nov. 7."

PUBLIC HEARING The preparation of plans and policies for future County development is a primary function of the County Planning Commission. In 1982, the County Metropolitan Planning Commission completed the first County Comprehensive Development Plan in the State of Michigan. In 1978, the County Planning Commission prepared and adopted a new, updated Land Use Policy. Since that time, studies dealing with population and household projections, land use, agriculture, fragile lands, rural residential, urban housing, and cost of development have been completed. Numerous U.S. census materials have been received, analyzed and made available. Also, a number of local units have modified their own land use policy plans.

With this information, a new updated preliminary plan has been prepared dealing with land use policies within Washtenaw County. During 1986, the Planning Commission held numerous meetings in all parts of Washtenaw County with local units of government officials and citizens presenting the plan concepts and obtaining valuable input from these officials and citizens.

To culminate this process, the County Planning Commission is holding an official county-wide public hearing on September 18, 1986 at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room of the County Administration Building. Officials and citizens are invited to attend this public meeting to offer any additional comments and input they may have. The County Planning Commission will be formally adopting the Land Use Policy Plan in the fall of 1986.

It is the policy of the County Planning Commission to continue to enhance the County's character as a desirable place to live, work, and raise a strong future upon. The County Planning Commission will consider formally adopting the Land Use Policy Plan in the fall of 1986. If you have questions prior to the hearing, feel free to contact us. We have the policies draft report and maps available for your review in the County Planning Commission Office.

Long-Distance Company Options Vary Widely

The Michigan Public Service Commission is urging telephone customers to study the options before selecting a company to handle their long-distance calls.

The deregulation of the nation's telephone industry obliges millions of customers in Michigan to choose a "dial-1" long-distance telephone company. Those who fail to make a selection when polled are allocated to one of the companies on the long-distance ballot.

"Dial-1" service enables a customer to access a selected long-distance company without having to dial a multi-digit access code. The allocation process was ordered by the Federal Communications Commission to ensure equal market access for the new companies which now compete for long-distance customers.

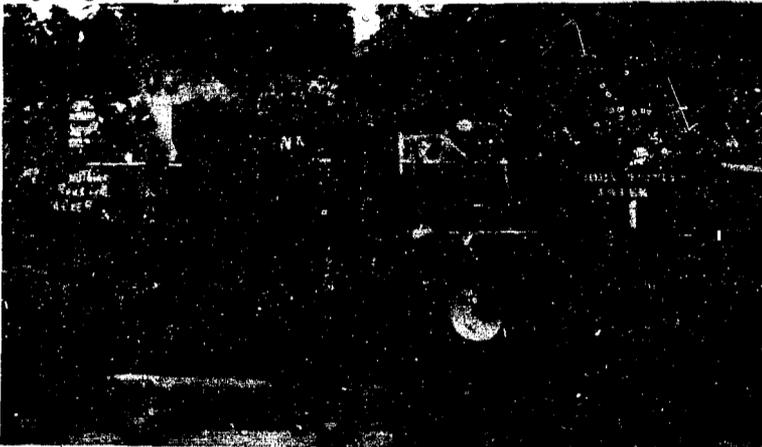

"It is better to make a choice—an informed one—than to take a chance on the allocation process," said William E. Long, PSC chairman.

Long said the PSC has prepared a guide to choosing a long-distance company. "The guide will help to make an informed choice," he said. "It also will enable those who already have chosen a company to compare their costs and services with those offered by the other companies."

Copies of the guide are available by calling the PSC's toll-free consumer services hotline number: 1-800-292-9555.

DAIRY DIPLOMATS, a group that represents dairy farmers throughout Washtenaw county by giving presentations in the schools, gave an informational program on osteoporosis Friday morning during Ladies Day at the fair. Pat Lambarth was the puppeteer for Eloise the Cow. Judy Gordon, right, helped with the presentation. Dr. Martin Gleespan, who practices in Chelsea, also contributed his medical knowledge to the program.

THERE WERE JUST FIVE ENTRIES, three of them from the Trinkle family, in the combine heat of the demolition derby last Wednesday evening. Kevin Bradbury's machine, on the left, was the winner, Bob Pyle, right, took second. Dan, Charlie and Doug Trinkle finished third, fourth and fifth, respectively.

DENNIS TRINKLE was a little richer last week after he took first place in both the 3,000-4,000 pound class and the 4,500-over pound class in tractor pull competition at the Chelsea Fair. This is not the first year Trinkle has been successful in his specialties.

HAROLD HAEUSSLER of Manchester competes in one of the many tractor pulls last week at the Chelsea Fairgrounds. The pulls drew a sizable number of spectators.

RON FREY of Brooklyn was the winner of the 0-3000 pound class of the tractor pulls held last week at the Chelsea Community Fair. It was tough competition all week long for the pulls.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Editor, Better Investing Magazine

Q. I want to start investing and I don't know much about it. Could you tell me where I could get a list of stocks that would be good ones to start with? I want stocks that are likely to be worth more in the future and aren't too risky. Can you help me find such a list?

A. I receive a lot of requests like yours. There is a feature in Better Investing every three months which is especially designed to meet that need. It is called a Model Portfolio. It is a group of stocks, that have been selected because the security analysts who pick them believe they have the ability to be worth twice as much five years in the future. The selections are for beginning an investment portfolio.

The interesting thing about the list is that the analysts not only give you the name of the stocks they like, but they give you the price of the stock at the time they decided it was a good buy. You can compare that price with today's price and thus judge for yourself if each stock is still a good buy.

The analysts also note how high they believe each stock can sell and how low it might go in poor markets over the coming five years. They suggest that each stock not be purchased above a certain price, since going above that price, reduces your potential for gain.

Here are the stocks in the most recent Better Investing Model Portfolio:

Name of stock	Price at time of suggestion	Best to buy at or below
Abbott Labs	44 7/8	40
AMP	41 3/4	46
Citicorp	60 3/8	58
Fleming Cos.	40 1/4	50
Gen. Develop.	22 1/4	26
Hasbro	49	53
Ionics	21	29
Kuhlman	18	26
Martin Marietta	47	52
Pfizer	62	63
Philip Morris	65	64
Prec. Castings	24	40

You may not be able to start by buying a fairly equal dollar amount of each of these stocks since that could take a lot of money. Ideally, it would be nice to begin with a $1,000 investment in each. If you have a smaller amount to invest, consider $1,000 in three of the stocks. Remember there is no guarantee that the stocks will do as forecast, but this feature has been carried by Better Investing for over 20 years and has had a good record.

Rowe Attends Insurance Seminar

Dave Rowe of the Rowe Insurance Agency of Chelsea, has successfully completed the annual Continuing Education Requirement of the Society of Certified Insurance Counselors in Austin, Tex.

In order to earn the designation CIC (Certified Insurance Counselor), each individual must have attended five institutes covering all phases of the insurance business and passed five rigorous examinations. Additionally, the National Society requires annual attendance in the program to maintain the designation.

Dave, a 21-year veteran of the industry, has been a CIC since 1983. Dave believes insurance consumers are best served by those who acquire a high level of professional excellence by meeting the continuing education requirements of the Certified Insurance Counselors Program.

Poverty in families headed by women is a source of increasing public concern. In 1984, the number of these families with incomes below poverty level exceeded the number of married-couple families in poverty, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

NOTICE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA

DEATHS

Frederick G. Klink, Sr.

121 Waterloo-Munith Rd., Grass Lake
 Frederick G. Klink, Sr., 9121 Waterloo-Munith Rd., Grass Lake, age 74, died Saturday morning, Sept. 6 at his home. He was born May 17, 1912 in Lyndon township, Washtenaw county, the son of John George and Mathilde (Keck) Klink.

Mr. Klink was a life long farmer in the Waterloo-Chelsea area. He retired from Rockwell International in March of 1971. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church.

Mr. Klink was the 1984 recipient of Kiwanis' Farmer of the Year Award, of which he was very proud.

On Aug. 22, 1936 at St. Cornelius and Cyprus church in Bunker Hill he married Geraldine A. Krusinski and she survives.

Also surviving are four daughters, Mary Walz of Munith, Regina Payne of Santa Barbara, Calif., Alice Wahl of Grass Lake and Esther Whitaker of Chelsea, John of Waterloo, George of Munith, Garry of Chelsea, and Philip and David of Waterloo; 26 grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren; two sisters, Louise Altenbrendt of Chelsea, and Pauline Hawkins of Ann Arbor; two brothers, Carl and Albert, both of Chelsea.

He was preceded in death by a daughter Barbara and two brothers John and William.

Mass of the resurrection was held Tuesday, Sept. 9 at 11 a.m. from St. Mary's Catholic church with the Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis and Deacon Richard Cesar officiating. The rosary was held Monday evening from the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to the Fred G. Klink, Sr. Memorial Fund, in care of his family.

Burial was in the Mount Hope Cemetery, Waterloo.

1986 CHELSEA COMMUNITY FAIR QUEEN Susan Schmuck rides on the Chelsea Area Players Children's Theater float, which won third place in the adult division.

VICKI NIETHAMMER, center, and her court, composed of Lori Johnson and Vicki Bullock, were the featured attractions of the Chelsea High school freshman class float. Vicki was the class representative in the fair queen pageant.

For some members of the animal kingdom good acting can mean the difference between life or death, reports National Wildlife magazine. For example, the bombardier beetle, which lives in the Arizona desert, fights off predators by spraying an irritant from its abdomen while doing a headstand. A related beetle, which has no poison but good acting skills, manages to scare off enemies by imitating the same headstand position.

A sizable oak tree typically gives off 28,000 gallons of moisture in a season.

Is it insured?

... a good question to ask before you invest your money with anyone.

We have been serving this area for enough years that people are convinced we are a strong, reliable financial institution.

Few people would question the stability, strength or integrity of our bank in the entire area.

Yet, we go one step further than a great many institutions to protect your funds. All funds on deposit with us are insured to $100,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Plus, all IRA funds you have on deposit here are insured to an additional $100,000 by the FDIC.

IS IT INSURED? Ask that question the next time you are about to make an investment with a financial institution other than us.

If you have money you can afford to lose, then taking a chance is another matter. If you're like nearly everyone we know, insured protection is the smart move. And, there is no additional charge for FDIC protection with us.

DNR Gets Plant Plans, Project's 'On Schedule'

Chelsea's new wastewater treatment plant is on schedule and temporarily on hold, according to Chelsea Village Manager Fritz Weber.

Weber told the village council on Tuesday, Sept. 2, that plans for the plant have been submitted to the Department of Natural Resources for review, and he hopes the review is completed in about a month.

Weber said the project's timeline called for the plans to be submitted for review by Sept. 1, and that deadline was met.

Until the DNR makes its comments on the plans, completed by the Toledo firm of Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout, there's not much that can be done but sit and wait, Weber said.

"DNR will most likely have some comments and suggestions," Weber said.

"Once the plans are reviewed, the fine detail can be completed."

Weber also told the council that Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout will be studying how the village's share of the project should be paid and how money should be raised.

In a related action, the council voted to pay $56,376 to Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout for a portion of their work. That money will be transferred from the electric fund to the general fund.

SOS Community Crisis Center

SOS Community Crisis Center needs volunteers to become crisis counselors and client advocates for its 24-hour telephone and walk-in services. Interviews will be held during the last three weeks of September. No special experience or education is required.

Volunteers accepted after screening interviews will participate in a 65-hour free training program during October to develop expertise in crisis intervention and client advocacy, listening and communications skills, and problem-solving.

SOS volunteers represent all ages and walks of life. Volunteering at SOS provides a sense of fulfillment which comes from helping others, as well as job-related experiences, knowledge of community resources and increased effectiveness in communicating with others.

SOS is located at 114 N. River St. in Ypsilanti. The crisis center is funded by the Washtenaw United Way, the City of Ypsilanti, Washtenaw county, the Interfaith Council of Congregations, and private donations.

For more information about SOS programs and the upcoming October training, call 465-8730.

Nature Programs Set At Hudson Mills Park

Two programs will be held at Hudson Mills Metropark near Dexter the week-end of Sept. 13-14. Here is the schedule:

"Life Inside the Huron," a hands-on look at the inhabitants of the Huron River, will be held on Saturday, Sept. 13 at 3 p.m.

"Evening Bike Tour," a naturalist-led bike tour through forests and fields, will be held on Sunday, Sept. 14 at 6:30 p.m. Persons must have a bike or rent one from the park.

Participants should meet at the Activity Center Building. Both programs are "free" except for bike rentals. Advance registration is required.

For information/registration, contact Hudson Mills Metropark, Ph. 462-8211 (park office) or 1-800-24-PARKS (toll-free).

A vehicle entry permit is required.

Washtenaw Historical Society Program Offered on Auto Architecture

Leslie R. Henry, retired transportation curator of Henry Ford Museum, will show and comment on his film, "The Changing Architecture of the Automobile," at the Washtenaw County Historical Society meeting at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 14.

It will be at Monaghan's Car Barn near Ann Arbor Airport where 53 rare vintage vehicles are on display. The car barn at 3815 Plaza Dr. is off Ellsworth Rd., west of State St. a half mile.

Henry is past president of the Antique Auto Club of America.

The Monaghan collection includes million dollar 1929 and 1934 Dusenbergs, the only known 1942 Buick Roadmaster and the Volkswagen "bug" with which the Domino's Pizza Co. founder first delivered pizzas.

The autos range from 1900 to 1970s. The collection also includes a steam fire truck, Fordson tractor and a restored stage coach.

The meeting is open to the public free of charge.

NOTE OF THANKS

We would like to express our sincere appreciation to the members of the Chelsea Community Fair Board, all Superintendents, Office Personnel and all other assistants for their countless hours of volunteer help before, during and after the 1986 Chelsea Community Fair.

The 1986 Fair was a successful one despite the weather and we appreciate your efforts toward that goal. We would also like to thank the people in the communities of Chelsea and Dexter and the surrounding areas for their participation in and support of the 1986 Chelsea Community Fair. Your encouragement and support are deeply appreciated.
