LARRY WILLIAM BREZA WAS KILLED in an accident which occurred on Old US-12 just west of the Chelsea village limits, Friday evening, Oct. 17. Deputies Mark Giffin and Jon Schiluna of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department investigated the accident. University of Michigan Survival Flight was summoned to the site. The doctor from the survival flight team pronounced Breza dead at the scene. Shown in the photo is the 1987 Dodge Rampage which rolled over onto its top in the ditch-line. Breza, a Grass Lake area resident, was headed west on Old US-12 and drove off the road's right side, crossed a grassy field and rolled over onto its top in the ditch-line, before the vehicle rolled. He just last week announced the opening of a new water conditioning business on Jackson Rd. in Scio township.

Grass Lake Man Dies in Accident on Old US-12

A fatal accident which took the life of Larry William Breza, 5008 St. Hugo Rd., Grass Lake, happened Friday night, Oct. 17, on Old US-12, just west of the Chelsea village limits.

The 47-year-old Breza was driving a 1987 Dodge Rampage west on Old US-12.

He drove off the right side of the roadway, crossed the grassy field and rolled over onto its top in the ditch-line, before the vehicle rolled.

Deputies Mark Giffin and Jon Schiluna, investigators from the traffic division, Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

"The vehicle crossed over the centerline sideways, slid off the south side of the road, struck a tree in the small ditch-line and rolled over onto its top," the deputies said in their report.

The mishap was a tragic indicator pointing to increased highway safety with the use of safety belts—Breza, without benefit of safety belt, was tossed about the inside of the small truck-like vehicle, then partially thrown from the vehicle as it rolled over onto its top in the ditch.

"It's my opinion the victim would be alive and would have escaped serious injury had he used the safety restraints provided by the vehicle's manufacturer."

University of Michigan's Survival Flight was summoned to the accident scene and the doctor who arrived with the flight pronounced Breza dead at the scene.

The helicopter from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department acted as a "spotter" for Survival Flight, directing the medical crew to a safe landing.

Breza announced last week the opening of a new water conditioning business located at 5212 Jackson Rd. in Scio township.

The business sold and serviced water conditioners, water heaters and pressure tanks.

Neighbors in the area of the accident expressed some concern about whether or not the roadway is identified sufficiently for motorists who are unfamiliar with the area.

Suggesting there might be additional signs for motorists approaching from either the east or the west to warn of the curve, west of the village limits.

United Way Drive Reaches 22% of Goal

Chelsea United Way Campaign in its third week has reached 22% of the goal set of $70,000.

According to campaign chairman, Dave Prohaska, the residential division has reached 70% of their goal. He attributes the success to the hard work of the Chelsea Senior Citizens who prepared 5,900 envelopes to be sent to Chelsea area residents.

Many persons who have been inactive in the past few years were reached through their efforts. This is what Jackie Rogers, United Way board member, calls "Senior Power."

United Way board member volunteers have been contacting local business and industry in the past few weeks and will continue to do so until the end of the month.

Cathy Kimball, co-ordinator for those divisions, has reported that "the response has been excellent."

If you have not been contacted please send your donation to Chelsea United Way, P. O. Box 176, Chelsea.

Chelsea United Way supports many local programs one of which is the Faith in Action that is based in a house near the Chelsea Hospital.

This program deals with service to persons who are in need of short-term assistance. However, they also try to assist with long-range plans for those who need this type of help.

Faith in Action has several different programs within its organization.

Planning Commission Votes Against Change In Zoning for Mall

Chelsea Village Planning Commission may have dealt a fatal blow to plans by a Farmington Hills developer to build a strip mall near I-94 behind Broderick Shell at the village limits.

After a public hearing, the planning commission voted 5-2 last Tuesday, Oct. 14 to recommend against changing the zoning of the 3.8 acre parcel to allow the development.

The land in question is zoned C-3, which allows highway access businesses such as gasoline stations, fast food restaurants, and automobile dealerships. It is one of the few places in the village that a motel could be built if there was ever interest in building one, according to Zoning Inspector Rosemary Harrook.

Hubert Garner, a partner in Rogar Development Co., sought to have the zoning changed to C-4, which allows commercial retail businesses that do not have on-site manufacturing. He has bought the land on contingency from Chuck Broderick.

"Actually, I had more support from the planning commission than I thought I would," Garner said.

"They simply felt the zoning should stay C-3, but they didn't come up with any logical or reasonable arguments. They seemed to have the attitude that you don't change the zoning once it's on the zoning map."

"How many gas stations and fast food restaurants do they need out there? I don't think a motel will ever come there because there isn't a large enough market for it."

While the commission did not give Garner an explanation of their vote, the vote apparently rejected the group's desire not to stray from the village's General Development Plan. Their vote will simply become a recommendation to the village council. The council, after another public hearing on Tuesday, Nov. 18, will have final say in whether the parcel will be re-zoned.

Garner said last week that the planning commission's vote has not persuaded him to abandon the project.

Garner has said that Chelsea Pharmacy has committed to a space in the proposed mall, and that other local merchants are interested as well, including Gemini beauty salon, which is owned by members of the Broderick family.

In related news, Mike Kennedy, manager of Polly's Market, will present site plans for a small shopping center to the planning commission at the group's next meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 11.

Kennedy has had the plans in hand since the early 1980's, and says his plans were even approved by the commission then. However, his time limit has passed and the plans have to be submitted again.

Kennedy's center would be located on land next to Polly's Market behind Great Lakes Federal Savings on M-52. The land is owned by his family and is zoned C-4.

Schools, Hospital Hire Full-time Counselor On Substance Abuse

Christine Dillon, a former Chicago resident now living in Ann Arbor, has been hired as the Chelsea School District's new substance abuse counselor.

Dillon, 33, will actually be employed by Chelsea Community Hospital but will spend half her time in the district. Her office is located opposite the trophy cases at Chelsea High school.

"I couldn't believe my good fortune to find a job like this so quickly," Dillon said, who moved to Ann Arbor in August with her husband, Dr. David Puchalsky, a dermatology researcher at the University of Michigan.

"I've found people here to be very supportive. It would be a different feeling if I had to come here and convince people that (substance abuse) was an important issue."

Dillon earned a bachelor's degree in psychology from the University of Illinois and a master's degree in social work from Loyola University in Chicago.

Dillon was most recently employed at Martha Washington Hospital in Chicago, where she began as an outpatient therapist and later became supervisor of the outpatient substance abuse clinic. She was also involved in group therapy and marital therapy at the hospital.

CHRISTINE DILLON, of Ann Arbor and formerly of Chicago, has been appointed Chelsea School District's substance abuse counselor. She will also spend half her time as an outpatient therapist at Chelsea Community Hospital. Her school district office is at Chelsea High school.

MELANIE FLANIGAN SHARES A SMILE with her mother after being crowned the 1986 Homecoming Queen, an honor voted upon by the students. Seven candidates each represented a different sport, and Melanie's was cross country.

Greg Brown, a member of the boys cross country team, was her escort. Melanie's father, Larry, is at right. Melanie's parents had the pleasure of crowning her.

A REMARKABLE INVENTION by Michael Goren of Philadelphia, left, was demonstrated to Dr. Henry DeYoung, right, special education coordinator for Region 5, and special education superintendents last week in the board room at Chelsea High school. Goren, who is blind, has devised a computer system that can scan typewritten copy, such as the page from a newspaper, or a history test, and, in just a few seconds, reproduce it in either braille or audible form using a voice synthesizer. Goren, who owns a company called Summit Computer Co., said, "It's the best thing since the leader dog," because it allows blind people far more accessibility to "the sighted world." Region 5, which includes Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester and Whitmore Lake, has purchased one of the machines, one of three in all of Michigan, for approximately $15,000. DeYoung said the machine will allow any teacher to teach a blind person.

Ted Faust and Bill Morrow, who operate what is now known as the Faust-Sprague Buick-Olds agency at 1580 S. Main St., have taken on the local Chevrolet franchise as well, and delivered their first Chevy vehicle this week.

The firm, Chelsea Lumber Co., which has done business at 305 N. Main St. for 60 years through three generations of family ownership, will move to 1 Barn Circle this winter. The landmark red barn on the former Pielemeyer farm will be used for storage, and a display building is now completed at the lumber company's new location.

Owners, Robert and James Daniels, are optimistic that their venture will succeed despite the current depressed state of the construction and home improvement business.

When police chief Aello received a call from Chelsea's Ann Arbor Trust branch security officer Oct. 13 notifying him that $896 had been obtained fraudulently through use of a credit card, Chelsea police were at the end of a line of law enforcement agencies seeking to prosecute two men who are accused of systematically bilking banks from Ann Arbor to Battle Creek with counterfeit credit cards.

Carl Solomon, 45, and Gordon Rodger, 50, were soon apprehended in Calhoun county with 80 separate counterfeit driver's licenses and 80 phony credit cards, all bearing the names of New York residents who hold the documents legitimately. They also had $41,000 in cash and a written record of banks they had visited.

The Satterthwaite clan, whose sense of family and heritage is not a heavy but an enjoyable legacy, get together every year about this time to mix up a potent batch of old fashioned German sauerkraut. "We don't need a recipe, we just do it like we've always seen it done," they say.

Using cabbage heads from Vernon Satterthwaite's garden and his 100-year-old cabbage cutter, kraut experts Earl Fletcher, Dorothy Janowski, George Hassan, Edna, Marketta, Rene and Carol Satterthwaite were pictured in The Standard while processing 135 cabbages.

A small cluster of 12 spectators and individuals involved met in the Council Room of the Municipal Building. Four hours later the hearing of unfair labor practice charges against the Chelsea School District finally dragged to an indecisive close. It will be at least six weeks before a ruling on the charges is handed down.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Born-once Republican Ed Doolittle wasn't taking sides so much during the session at the country store Saturday night as he was during his parties with the same staff. He told the fellows he was and up most of last week with the goat, which he said is a bedfellow he wouldn't wish on anybody and after about all he could move without hurting was his eyes he had done a heap of reading. He wanted some clippings and announced that he was not ready to believe the national mood is anywhere near in line with some of the stuff that passed before his eyes.

For instant, Ed said, he figured all the PACs and lobbyists worth their salt are convinced we got the best Congress money can buy. They come bearing gifts and they leave with their pockets full of folks in high places. That's the way the system goes, and the green grass grows around and around, Ed said, but now up pops the old notion that in a democracy you do what you pay for.

He had saw there is a school of thought this election year that holds plain ordinary Americans can get honesty and integrity in Government if they're willing to pay the price. Just as virtue is the absence of temptation, a honest politician is the trait's got everything, he wants. All we got to do, Ed said, is outbid the tempters.

Nobody running for office will say it, but none of em minds somebody saying it for em. How can you keep em down on the floor after they've seen the salaries? If The National Enquirer pays a senior reporter $77,500 a year, where does America get off paying its representatives and senators $75,000? If that's all their pay mean to America, this thinking goes, the honorables feel less dishonorable shading the issues in favor of the highest bidder. If we kick their pay up to, say, $100,000 we raise them above the penny ante special interests that looked so good when they were hard pressed to make ends meet.

Practical speaking, declared Ed, all we do is move them up a league. A elected official that can't maintain his standard of living on $75,000 a year is bound to find a standard he can't maintain on $100,000. If it's true you can't cheat a honest man, Ed went on, it's just as true you can't buy a honest man for $100,000 any easier than you buy one for $75,000. And this ain't hard for a taxpayer taking home $15,000 a year to believe, was Ed's words.

General, the fellows was agreed with Ed. Even born-again Democrat Clem Webster said the hole idea of raising the price of honesty in Congress is a direct insult to honest members and them that ain't insulted ought to have the political smarts to pretend they are. Just recent, Clem said, he had saw where the Government had finished spending $600,000 to decorate Vice President Bush's office. When work of the cost got out, Clem said, Bush sudden decided the office was to rich for his blood and that he'd rather run for President from a smaller office downtown in the same building. The seeming is a heap more important than the being in politics, Clem declared, and people that get elected to Congress are not the people that put a price on their integrity in public.

Speaking of seeming, I seed where the Willard Hotel in Washington has reopened after being closed 18 year and after $110 million worth of improvements. At $350 a night you can seem to be in the league with 10 Presidents that stayed there.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

ABWA Chapter Plans Membership Campaign Meeting

Chelsea Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA) will hold a membership campaign during the month of October. Special meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 28, at Chelsea Community Hospital. According to president Georgia Heerman, the campaign will revolve around the theme, "Winners Lead the Way," and will focus on personal and professional growth opportunities for women.

A special panel discussion of successful women will be presented. The women are Lori Smith, owner of DaySpring Gifts, Dr. Mary Westhoff, and Mickey Quackenbush, of the Klein-schmidt Agency.

Founded in 1940, ABWA is an influential national organization with a membership exceeding 112,000 women who are employed in all aspects and on all levels of business throughout the United States and Puerto Rico.

The mission of the national association is to bring together business women of diverse backgrounds and to provide opportunities for them to help themselves and others, grow personally and professionally through leadership, education, networking support and national recognition.

Last year, ABWA chapters awarded more than $2,750,000 in scholarships to women students. In addition, the ABWA national scholarship fund awarded more than $430,000 during the same period. Chelsea Charter Chapter has awarded more than $8,000 in local scholarships.

A VIEW From the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

As they sail past the Zeeb Rd. intersection of I-94 few motorists realize that the northeast corner contains one of the greatest repositories of information in the world. It is secure in a low lying building on 57 acres of gently rolling prairie. There the day's work is performed by 620 micropublishers many of whom live down the road in Chelsea.

What you are seeing is the home of University Microfilms International which was established by Eugene Power in 1938. Now known as a philanthropist, Power launched his enterprise with the conviction that smaller is better.

In 1935 he was an employee of Edwards Brothers, an innovative printing company in Ann Arbor. But there and then Power became fascinated with the idea that editions of rare books and scholarly writings in low demand could be inexpensively reproduced by microphotography. Brilliantly sharp negatives could be made of pages a fraction of their original size. These tiny negatives of books or manuscripts could then be reproduced at a cost of about one half cent per page.

Edwards Brothers resolutely backed Power's experiments which included the copying of all books in the English language before 1550. The negatives were shot in England after which they were developed in America.

By 1938 the Edwards decided they must concentrate all of their efforts in developing better methods of lithoprinting. They agreed to sell their University Microfilm division to Power. Employer and employee parted cordially on their separate ventures, each—as it turned out—to fame and fortune.

Eugene Power was well aware of his initial market. There were countless thousands of scholars in North America and Europe who shared one desperate problem. Each candidate for a master's degree had to write a thesis that would be an original contribution to the fund of human knowledge. The same applied to doctoral dissertations, and the essays had to be published. This could be achieved by depositing copies of the manuscript in libraries for loan. Or copies could be cranked out on a mimeograph machine. Actual production of printed copies, however, involved the cost of setting metal type, and printing by letterpress with each individual illustration reproduced on a copper or zinc plate mounted on wood.

In 1938 a dissertation with a title such as "Potentialities of Military Weapons Energized by Atomic Fission" would have a pretty good chance of getting printed free. On the other hand, prospects for free publication would be dim for the author of "Abnormal Thorax Follicles in the Madagascar Beetle."

Small is better. Microfilming provided a stunning solution to the problem of scholars. A typical 250 page dissertation on 8 1/2 x 11 inch paper represented an area of more than 23,000 square inches. Microfilming reduced the manuscript to less than 1,000 square inches while greatly diminishing the space and cost of storage. One copy, or a dozen or a hundred could be quickly and inexpensively produced on paper or microfilm anytime on demand.

With microfilming and copying on demand, there would be no heavy initial investment in type or plates. There would be no costly inventory of unsold copies sleeping in a warehouse.

In anticipation of being flooded with dissertations from scholars in hundreds of universities, Gene Power implemented a plan which, in essence, is in use today. He wrote:

1. The author will submit with a first copy of his manuscript an approved abstract of approximately 500 words describing his contents and results. The abstracts are microfilmed and returned to the author; the negative is kept on file at University Microfilms in Ann Arbor.

2. The abstract is printed in a book of abstracts, and distributed to leading libraries, journals, and the current bibliographies without cost to the recipients. Printed library catalog cards for each abstract accompany the booklet. This completes the process of notification.

3. A scholar working in a given field will locate a reference to the titles listed either in the card catalog file or in his journals or the current bibliographies. These will refer him to an abstract giving a fairly comprehensive idea of the contents of the original manuscript. Should it seem, upon examination of the abstract, that the original manuscript would be of use to him, he can secure a positive microfilm copy of it from the filed negative at the rate of one and one fourth cents per page. (Circa 1958)

4. Any material published in this form is eligible for copyright protection.

As a result of this concept, plus determined marketing efforts by its originator, micropublishing became a thriving industry. Today there are 700,000 dissertations in the UMI vaults at I-94 and Zeeb Rd.

In 51 years since Eugene Power began experimenting with micropublishing there have been long technical strides in the science as well as immense growth in its applications. Here at the McKune Memorial Library we have all issues of The Chelsea Standard on microfilm from 1872 (when it was known as the Herald) to 1967. All issues since 1967 are printed copies bound in heavy volumes. They, too, are soon to be microfilmed. The architect is fearful that the floor of the second story historical room may collapse under the weight of the bound books.

Chelsea High School was recently given a microfilm file of the New York Times from Sept. 1, 1851 to the present time. It was a gift from UMI and will be kept up to date.

In the Ann Arbor Public Library issues of the Ann Arbor News are on microfilm dating from Jan. 2, 1909 when the paper was the Ann Arbor Daily News. The Los Angeles Times, the Wall Street Journal and the Chicago Tribune are among hundreds of newspapers preserved for posterity in the lightweight, compact form of microfilm. These original micronegatives of American newspapers are safeguarded in the air conditioned, temperature controlled vaults at 300 N. Zeeb Rd.

Virtually all of the automobile dealers in the United States keep their parts catalogs on microfiche cards. Microfiche is an invented name for a plastic card containing numerous micro-images. I visited the parts department of Palmer Ford and saw a microfiche reader at the end of the counter flanked by two rows of 4x6 inch plastic cards. Images of large catalog pages filled each microfiche, 14 to the row and seven deep for a total of 98 subjects. Any of these images could be quickly located and positioned on an illuminated screen in its original size.

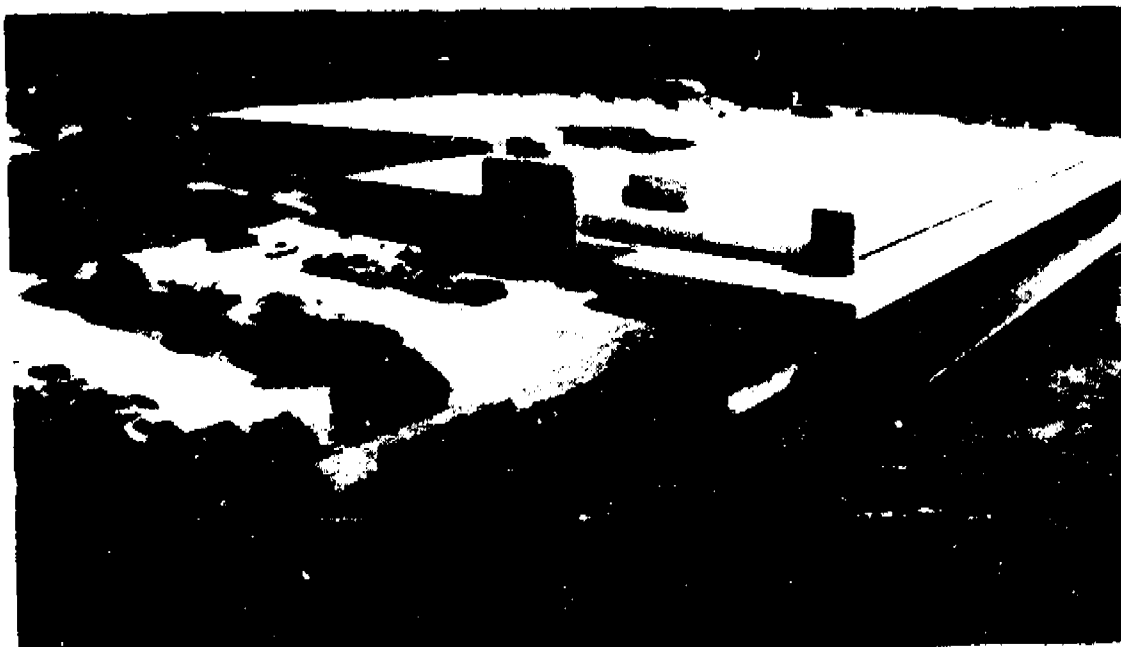

Palmer has microfiche catalogs of parts for all Ford trucks built since 1957 and all cars since 1960, plus parts for drive trains of even earlier trucks.

The auto industry is but one of many making routine use of microfilms. In one special application, using ultra high reduction microfiche, one million phone numbers are contained on a single 4x6 inch card.

BookCratters microfilms all work orders and account records on 35mm reels. They are filed in a few cabinets which would easily amount to hundreds if the records were kept on paper.

One of the cornerstones of UMI has been its "serials program" which provides for the microfilming of magazines, trade journals and other periodicals. These include Solihby's Annotated Sales Catalogs, 1734 to date. This is a record of sellers and buyers of art, jewelry, antiques, and rare manuscripts, books and letters, all by dates of sale. University Microfilms has also preserved the Papers of Daniel Webster which consists of 16,000 items.

Also saved forever on microfilm, and safely stored at Zeeb Rd., are thousands of rare historic books including the Bible printed by

THE UNIVERSITY MICROFILM building on Zeeb Rd. and I-94, a world treasurehouse of information, is just 10 miles from Chelsea. Many of the employees live in this community.

Johann Gutenberg from movable type sometime between 1450 and 1456.

Much more could be written about UMI achievements. There is the supplementary publishing of indexes plus maps, charts, bibliographies, coins, drawings and color photographs. There are such subjects as criminal justice and life insurance which have been richly indexed for researchers. There are expectations as micropublishing probes the future with reels and bytes, fiche and modems. And there are the retrospective sighs. If only UMI had been there to save the notes and sketches of Leonardo da Vinci, Michael Angelo, Columbus and Euclid!

Maybe so, but starting with Gutenberg was no small achievement.

In 1962 Power sold UMI to Xerox in a logical partnership of microfilm and the copier. It worked well for 23 years but then, in the mid 1980's, with intense rivalries between copier firms throughout the world, Xerox decided to concentrate all of its resources and energies on its machines, supplies and services. It sold UMI to Bell & Howell for $100 million.

As Bell & Howell and UMI came together it was not the tale of a battered bride. It was a love story. Donald Frey, chief executive officer of Bell & Howell and a U of M graduate, spoke of University Microfilms as "a pure information company in an information age." His ecstasy in acquiring UMI was understandable. He had just completed 15 years converting Bell & Howell from a manufacturer of cameras and projectors into a $668 million company in the information field.

During the year 1985 20 million videocassettes, 6 million students, 25 billion pieces of mail, 10 billion file documents, 11 billion pages of data bases, 1 billion bills and 100 billion computer printout sheets were duplicated, educated, processed, stored, retrieved, published, remitted and recorded, respectively, by Bell & Howell and its customers.

Now there is the prospect of a whole new UMI division for the technology of compact discs. Just one of these pocket size discs can hold the contents of 50,000 pages.

UMI's best man at the wedding, president Joe Fitzsimmons, can equal Frey's enthusiasm any day, having helped the firm to double its sales in three years prior to its acquisition. As we talked in his Zeeb Rd. office, originally occupied by Gene Power, Fitzsimmons pointed proudly to a display of UMI products that fit Bell & Howell like a key in a lock.

He looked at me happily and confided, "I have the best job working for the best company in the world."

Two Nabbed After Defacing Sidewalk

Two Chelsea teen-agers were arrested by Chelsea police after they defaced wet concrete in a new sidewalk on McKinley St. last Wednesday, Oct. 15.

Police said the two 16-year-old boys had scratched "A/C D/C" and various obscenities into the concrete. The scrawls were covered up by village workers, but the boys replaced their artwork, police said.

Police said a woman who lives in the area positively identified the boys.

Police said there was a damage estimate of $211 to fix the sidewalk, mostly in labor.

The boys were released to their parents.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor,

I would like to thank Mr. Demino's "Pizzeria" for showing all of Chelsea once again "Money Talks." Hometown pride and loyalty now means how much money you have or how big your business is and can you survive small businesses in these times.

I know times change but "good old fashioned people actually caring about the other" is what I cherish most about Chelsea. It didn't matter who you were or how much you do or don't have. I guess we have to "go with the flow."

Thanks again for opening my eyes as to which way our little town is headed.

Madalene Salyer.

To the Editor,

Girls Powder Puff Soccer has been brought to my attention.

I'm very concerned with the poor sportsmanship during the game and the aftermath of losing.

Becoming verbal is one thing, yet assaulting and brutally attacking another is beyond school spirit. I feel "Breakfast Club" detention is not a deterrent to those who choose to act accordingly. Proper chaperoning could have been that deterrent, again why do a handful of girls need that supervision instead of taking advantage of an opportunity.

Choosing to fight is an unhealthy attitude that has been inflicted on others, reflects on our team who aren't adjusting well in society.

Our school system needs to teach girls with these problems how to become ladies during school hours and functions, so future years in high school can be rewarding to others, and Powder Puff games during Homecoming Week can continue with fond memories.

Concerned Parent.

To the Editor,

In your sports section on Oct. 15, I noticed conflicting statements.

Curtis Beard is described as "leading the team with 60 yards on 12 carries" (in the Dexter game).

The SEC Round-up summary states "Chelsea running back Curtis Beard didn't start the game due to illness and played a minor role in the offense."

Maybe Chelsea never scored on drives when Curtis gained his 60 yards. But he must have helped get several first downs which keeps the ball out of Dexter's possession, and helped move the ball away from Dexter's goal line, so Dexter never scored.

Curtis Beard probably would have received credit for more yards except that Chelsea accounted for "125 yards of penalties due to illegal procedure, illegal blocks or an illegal receiver down field. They sabotaged several drives."

Evidently, Curtis has recovered from his illness. He scored four touchdowns against Tecumseh, rushing for 206 yards on 24 carries, including touchdown runs of 57 yards, 59 yards and 32 yards.

On another subject, when will Dexter's varsity coach wake up. All they do is run the ball, throw the bomb on third down, then punt.

Dexter needs to throw some short passes. Dexter's coach did let Dave Karns throw some short passes against Milan, completing seven out of nine for 129 yards to beat Milan.

That's the only game Dexter's coach allowed short passes. Dexter's offensive linemen are small and do not usually give the quarterback time for the long bomb.

If you don't count the Milan game, the total passing for Dexter this year is approximately 10 completed passes out of about 60 passes, with approximately six interceptions.

Substance Abuse Counselor

Earlier, Dillon worked with children who had organic emotional and behavioral problems at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago. She was a case aid social worker acting as a liaison with clients, families and schools.

"She came very highly recommended," said Chelsea High school assistant principal Ken Larsen, who has headed the school's drive to hire a counselor. "We are very pleased to have her."

Dillon said her first priority is to set up what has been called the alternative to suspension program. Although she said the name of the program will probably be changed, it will still give students who have been caught abusing drugs a way to stay in school without being suspended. They would be required to attend educational classes about drug abuse.

"The class would essentially say 'these are your choices, and these are the likely consequences of those choices,'" Dillon said.

On a general basis, Dillon said she sees her work in large part as helping children to say "no" to peer pressure to use drugs and alcohol.

"We need to teach them how to say 'no' without making them feel guilty or feel like outcasts," Dillon said.

Dillon's work won't be confined entirely to drug and alcohol abuse problems. She'll also deal with other mental health issues, she said, such as depression in students.

"Eventually I'd like to open up a drop-in group for parents, where they could exchange questions and concerns," Dillon said.

"I ran a group like that in Chicago. It's good for people to hear about their concerns from their peers as well."

Dillon said she is also pleased that the district wants eventually to direct some of her efforts at children younger than high school age.

"That's where you really have a chance to make a difference," she said.

Dillon will work for Ruth Shantz, director of outpatient psychiatric and substance abuse service at the hospital. Dillon will be a therapist there, focusing on adolescents.

Her initial hours will be Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, and Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, at Chelsea High school. Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons, and Tuesday and Thursday mornings will be spent at the hospital.

Mackinac County Was Home for Mormons

By 1840 many of the Mormons had fled to Mackinac County, including the Mormons. So long was the Mormon presence in the area that an 1842 local newspaper, the Mackinac Islander, said the Mormons had been in the area since the time of the first settlement in the U.S. when he became the king of the Mormons in 1844. He tried to control the entire county from Beaver Island with his new title.

The non-Mormons complained that the Mormon King Strang and his men did not give equal justice to them. So in 1851 the U.S. Attorney General sent the U.S. Marshal and 40 deputies and threatened to bow the court-house down if King Strang resisted arrest. In 1854 Strang was assassinated and the Mormon-non-Mormon conflict ended.

Today, Mackinac County remains one of the Great Lakes area's most popular tourist/ resort areas.

In 1980, 44 percent of all black families were headed by women, compared with 25 percent of Hispanic origin families and 13 percent of white families, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

STUMPING WITH THE STUDENTS at Chelsea High school is state Sen. Lana Pollack. Pollack, like Republican challenger Dale Apley, spoke to junior and senior history students last week as part of their preparation for a mock election to be held on Monday, Oct. 27. Pollack spoke on Thursday, three days after Apley. Talking with Pollack are Kim Chatter, left, and Patti Elkins.

STATE SENATORIAL CANDIDATE Dale Apley of Ann Arbor, left, who's challenging incumbent Lana Pollack in the November elections, had a chance to explain some of his views to juniors and seniors at Chelsea High school last Monday.

Oct. 13. The Republican candidate answered questions from U.S. government and history classes about a wide variety of local and national topics. Afterward he had a chance to chat with Doug Webb, Wendy McGilman and Jeff Mason, right.

Something for Everyone In Race

Runners of virtually all shapes, sizes and abilities will converge on Milan on Sunday, Oct. 26 for the ninth annual Milan Fall Road Race.

The 2.5 mile communitarian run will attract over 400 runners from Milan and the southeastern Michigan area. Runners may pre-register for the event at the Milan Parks and Recreation Department Office, 147 Wabash St., Milan.

The Milan Fall Road Race has grown in size, stature and community sponsorship in each of its eight years. The first event, in 1978, drew 175 runners; this year's event will almost triple that number with over 450 runners expected to toe the starting line.

Despite having a relatively small field when compared with giants like the Dexter-Ann Arbor and Free Press Marathon.

The Milan Fall Road Race has been acknowledged as one of the top 50 road races in the state by the Michigan Runner magazine.

Several factors contributed to this recognition: A scenic course, over-all race organization, quality awards and the quick complete race results that are provided by The Milan Leader.

Community sponsorship has grown from a handful of supporters in 1978 to over 40 supporters and contributors to the 1986 run. Race contributors include area service clubs, restaurants, merchants, fire and police departments and area corporations.

Awards are many and varied: Over 60 trophies will be awarded in eight women's age categories and 16 men's categories. Special merchandise prizes will be awarded to the first Milan male and female adult finisher. All fun runners will receive ribbons as well. In addition, several prizes will be awarded to runners as they come through the finish chute.

If all the above isn't reason enough to enter the Fall Road Race, you might want to enter for the free post race refreshments which will include: Pepsi, apple cider, apples, bananas, 60 dozen home-baked cookies and dozens of doughnuts. The finish line will indeed be a welcome site for the weary finishers of the 2.5 mile race.

There are more than 300,000 recreational vehicles in Michigan.

Village's Garbage Service Says Its Bid Was Too Low

Mid-Michigan Rubbish Inc. of Stockbridge says it can no longer afford to pick up trash for the village and is dropping the service.

According to Jerry Griffith, manager of Mid-Michigan, the bid the company turned in to the village last year was too low and the service is now unprofitable for the company. He cited a four-fold increase in the cost of liability insurance as one factor in the company's decision to abandon the village.

That news prompted a special meeting of the village council on Monday, Oct. 13.

The final solution to the problem, according to village manager Fritz Weber, was to hire Len's Rubbish, of Pinckney, to handle the final year of the contract. Len's Rubbish was the second lowest bidder for the current contract.

Mid-Michigan's bid for the two-year contract was $22,384. Len's Rubbish came in at $18,000.

Len's Rubbish will take over after Friday, Nov. 7 collections. Weber said there should be no interruption of service.

Midland Resident Hit at M-52, Pleasant Lake Rd.

A fender-bender occurred on M-52, just a few feet southeast of the intersection with Pleasant Lake Rd., Friday, Oct. 17, at 4:25 p.m.

Deputy Mark Giffin cited 17-year-old John Randall Garrity of Clark Lake for failure to yield right-of-way.

Southbound in the through lane on M-52, a car driven by John Chapman Brown of Midland was struck on the right side from front to back by the left front of the Garrity automobile. Brown told Deputy Giffin he was on his way to homecoming activities at Adrian.

Garrity stated he stopped at the stop sign and pulled up to see around two cars that were southbound on M-52 in the right turn lane.

Brown received minor injuries, but continued on to Adrian rather than seeking treatment.

Need of passing car? Stop them into holding water. Let stand five minutes, then drop them in cold water. The shoe should slip right off.

PAUL BROWN DROVE 1,000 MILES to Spirit Rapids, Saskatchewan to bag his first moose last Monday, Oct. 12. Brown, a former Chelsea resident who lives in Palmyra, was hunting with three friends when he spotted the moose 20 yards away. After killing the moose, the men tried to use a tractor to pull it out of the swamp and cattails, but it got stuck. Eventually they decided to use a three-wheel motorcycle for the job, tying the head of the moose around the gas tank and dragging the rest behind. Indians guided the six-day hunt. The animal dressed out at 300 pounds. Brown's brother, Leon, still lives in town.

Biggest Restaurant in Town Isn't Even Open to Public

The biggest restaurant in town, the one that feeds more people a well-rounded meal than any other, isn't open to the public. In fact, most people probably don't even know where it is.

Fran Ferry runs perhaps the largest food operation in the county this side of Ann Arbor. Her seven-person staff prepares 1,000 lunches daily for Chelsea and Manchester students.

Every week day, Ferry's crew begins their work at 7 a.m. in the kitchen located in the heart of Chelsea High school.

First, they ready about 300 meals for Manchester students. Gallons of mashed potatoes and gravy, hundreds of pounds of chicken, hundreds of pieces of chicken or pizza, gallons of corn, or whatever happens to be on the menu of the day, are shipped to Manchester in special containers on a special "hot" truck, all designed to keep the food fresh and warm.

Then they go to work for Chelsea's children.

Meals are prepared for Beach Middle school, North and South Elementary schools, and Chelsea High school.

The women have to work at what seems like a frantic pace to an outsider.

They have deadlines to meet: by 10:30, 700-750 meals have to be out the door to Manchester and to the elementary schools and Beach.

By 11:30, hot meals, salad bar and ala carte items like yogurt, sandwiches and pretzels have to be ready for two shifts of high school students.

Work for some foods, like lasagna, has to begin the day before they will be served, or there won't be time enough to prepare them properly.

They aren't preparing junk food either. Most of the entrees are prepared from scratch and the staff has to follow recipes just like any other cooks. They have to know what combinations of ingredients and spice work—it's not just a matter of heating up cans of this or slices of that. That expertise will often determine whether a meal is eaten or not.

The salad bar, served at both the high school and Beach school, would rival those at most regular restaurants for variety alone.

"A lot of people think the food is prepared at Chelsea Community Hospital," said Ferry, who is technically a hospital employee, along with dietician Julie Say, who is more a consultant to the program. The food service operates on a contractual basis with the hospital and has for seven years. Manchester pays on a per-meal basis.

"But the hospital couldn't begin to handle this much food." What makes the food service operation run smoothly, Ferry said, is her staff, who are employees of the school.

"Most of the women have worked here for years, the turnover is not very high," Ferry said.

"Basic, everyday common sense is what it takes most of all."

Ferry has six full-time staff members, including Betty Young, the "transporter," who loads the supplies and collects the money. Mary Kaumbach, the head baker; Judy Boyer, who prepares all the salad bar items; Barb Krichbaum, the head cook; Judy Buntin, the production cook, who handles a lot of the items that take special preparation, like spaghetti sauce; and Diane Bentley, who works with the snack bar and ala carte foods.

There are also two part-time employees: Mary Adams, the dishwasher, and Belinda Votor, who helps out with the snack bar and ala carte menu.

Beach Middle school has five part-time employees who serve the food and clean up afterward: Mary Schuler, Dorothy Moore, Anita Speers, Marge Lazarz and Shirley Taylor. The same job is carried out at North school by Helen Ribka and Ginny Boyer, while Marge Prinzing and Mary Guman handle the chores at South school.

Just what gets served in hot meals is largely determined by the federal government because a lot of food is heavily subsidized, and some is only available at certain times.

For example, hamburger and chicken each cost 7 cents a pound, cheese is 4 cents a pound, flour is $1 for 50 pounds, spaghetti is 40 cents for 20 pounds and

FRAN FERRY, who runs the food service operation for Chelsea School District, shows the equipment used to transport food to Manchester schools every morning. Food is also transported daily to Beach Middle school, and North and South Elementary schools.

MAKING GRAVY, and pouring it into travel containers, is Judy Buntin, one of seven full-time workers in the Chelsea School District's central kitchen at Chelsea High school.

CHICKEN TO GO is a specialty of head cook Barb Krichbaum, as she places the finished poultry into metal containers that will be shipped to either Manchester schools, or one of three Chelsea schools. The high school kitchen prepares 1,000 meals daily.

Dogs Clobber Indians For Conference Title

Chelsea Bulldogs clinched their first Southeastern Conference football championship since 1982 with a convincing 34-7 pounding of the Tecumseh Indians at Niehaus field before a cold but lively homecoming crowd last Friday night.

The Indians, the only other team with a chance at the title, held their own with the Bulldogs until late in the second quarter. But once the Chelsea offense got on track, Tecumseh looked over-matched in virtually every phase of the game.

It was the biggest offensive show of the year for Chelsea, both in terms of points and yardage. Their 21 points the week before against Dexter was the previous high.

Chelsea rushed for a season-high 349 yards and passed for 14 more. Heard had 219 yards on 23 carries, to go along with four touchdowns. Morseau picked up 30 yards on 13 carries, and quarterback Todd Starkey broke loose for a 47-yard touchdown run.

"We completely dominated them offensively in the second half," said Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

"Marty Poljan (right end) was outstanding. He took his guy out on every play and opened up the running game. Andy Box, Marty Steinhauser, and Sam Eisenbeiser all played very well, as did Curtis Heard and Junior Morseau. Kevan Flanagan at end did a good job blocking, which sprung Curtis a couple of times. You can go right down the line on offense and say everybody played very well."

LaFave said a couple of small adjustments at half-time made a big difference. In the second half, Heard was often used as a decoy, which enabled Morseau to pop a few good gainers.

Another key to the game, as well as a key to the league season, was the absence of turnovers. The Bulldogs have a total of one in five SEC games. There were none last Friday.

Tecumseh didn't even come close to scoring until the game was already out of reach. The Indians, lone touchdown came with 11:46 left in the game and Chelsea in front 28-0.

However, despite the defensive domination, LaFave remarked that the team seemed to lose its defensive concentration once the score reached 28-0.

"We played well defensively when we had to but we had a couple of lapses and there were a lot of penalties," LaFave said.

Neither team got beyond mid-field until well into the second quarter.

Chelsea took the ball with 8:08 left in the first half and drove 63 yards for the score, capped by a three-yard run by Heard. Heard carried the ball 10 times on the drive, including a key fourth-and-four situation from the Tecumseh 19.

A fumble stopped the next Tecumseh drive just before the half.

It took Chelsea just two minutes to score after the second half kickoff. Morseau carried the ball for 11 yards to the Chelsea 39. (Continued on page 12)

WE'RE NUMBER FOUR? No, Chelsea running back Curtis Heard isn't confused. While his teammates were shouting "we're number one," Heard showed his pride in scoring four touchdowns on the night, the biggest offensive outburst the Bulldogs have had all season. Heard would be the first to admit that he had a lot of help. Chelsea whipped the Tecumseh Indians, 34-7, to take the Southeastern Conference title outright.

JV Cagers Nip Hornets, Lose First

Chelsea junior varsity basketball team finished the first half of the Southeastern Conference season in second place with a 5-1 record after a loss to the Pinckney Pirates and a win over the Saline Hornets last week.

On Tuesday, Oct. 14, the undefeated Pirates outscored the Bulldogs 14-3 in the third quarter on their way to a 33-25 victory.

"We tried to fight back but we were down too far," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

At the end of the third quarter, the Pirates held a 31-14 lead. Chelsea outscored Pinckney 11-2 in the final quarter.

Poor shooting and too many turnovers were Chelsea's primary problems. Terpstra's girls hit just 18 percent from the field and gave the ball away 28 times.

Jenny Smith led Chelsea scorers with seven points and 15 rebounds. Scharme Petty scored six, and Jeanne Heim picked off 11 rebounds. Kelly Scott led the team with seven steals.

On Thursday, Oct. 16, the Bulldogs played a strong first half and took a 21-12 half-time lead on their way to a 36-30 win.

Again, Chelsea was plagued by poor shooting, hitting just 16-70 shots for 22 percent.

"We pumped up a lot of shots but we didn't have much to show for it," Terpstra said.

Strong Bulldog rebounding, plus 12 first-half steals, were enough to offset the sub-par shooting. Chelsea held a 35-25 rebound edge.

Kelly Scott and Petty shared the scoring honors with eight points each. Shannon Dunn added seven, Heim, six, and Smith, five.

Petty and Smith had eight and seven steals, respectively.

IT WAS JUBILATION in the locker room last Friday night after Chelsea's dominating 34-7 win over the Tecumseh Indians to clinch the Southeastern Conference championship. Jeff Stacey, one of many defensive stars of the game, whoops it up with his teammates.

Girl Harriers Win Shut Outs In Final Two League Meets

Chelsea girls cross country team shut out both the Tecumseh Indians and Pinckney Pirates in Southeastern Conference dual meets last week.

Kasey Anderson finished the dual meet season with six straight first place finishes in conference action.

In the Tecumseh meet last Tuesday, Oct. 14, Anderson ran an even 20 minutes, and her teammates took seven of the next eight places, as the Bulldogs won, 15-48.

"I was really impressed with our girls grouping at this meet," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"Tecumseh's Leah Faust is a fine runner and to shut her out of the first five is no small accomplishment. Freshman Vicki Bullock is coming into her own as a runner. She ran her best time at Inverness Golf Course by over 40 seconds. Senior Robin Mock, returning from an injury, ran her season's best time also. Junior Jennifer Rossi and sophomore Debi Koenn also had exceptional times."

Behind Anderson in the Tecumseh meet were: Rossi, second, 25:37; Koenn, third, 21:04; Sallie Wilson, fourth, 21:16; Bullock, fifth, 21:20; Mock, seventh, 22:06; Wendy Hunn, eighth, 22:35; Kim Roberts, ninth, 22:58; Anna Muncer, 11th, 23:14; Kim Allen, 13th, 23:43; Anne Steffenson, 15th, 24:28; Sheila Haab, 16th, 24:29; and Becca Burkel, 18th, 25:17.

In the Pinckney meet on Thursday, Oct. 16, Anderson led the pack in 20:48 on what Clarke called an exceptionally slow course.

"Rossi and Koenn continued their improving streaks with fine runs," Clarke said.

Behind Anderson were: Rossi, second, 21:02; Koenn, third, 21:39; Wilson, fourth, 21:59; Bullock, fifth, 22:03; Mock, seventh, 22:54; Hunn, eighth, 23:18; Alisha Dorow, ninth, 23:24; Allen, 13th, 25:48; and Burkel, 14th, 26:18.

Dog Golfers Finish Fourth

Chelsea Bulldog golf team finished the season with a fourth place finish in the Southeastern Conference after a second place showing in the conference tournament on Monday, Oct. 13 at Cascades Golf Course in Jackson.

The conference tournament, combined with the dual match record (Chelsea was 4-8), determined the order of finish in the conference.

Pinckney Pirates and Saline Hornets tied for first in the tournament with 308 scores. Chelsea finished at 323, Tecumseh, 339; Milan, 350; Lincoln, 355; and Dexter, 359.

Tom Roth, who finished seventh overall in the tournament with a 78, was a maulist for Chelsea. He turned in the Bulldogs' lowest score.

Behind Roth were Tim Boughton, at 79; Jon Lane and Matt Kemp, 83; Mark Skiff, 87; and Chad Starkey, 93.

In the regional meet played at Lakelands Golf Course on Friday, Oct. 10, Chelsea finished fifth behind Pinckney, Okemos, Jackson, Leaven Christl, and Saline with a 355.

According to Chelsea coach Loren Winn, the Bulldogs played well enough to win any other regional meet.

"This one was the toughest," Winn said.

"All the teams that finished ahead of us were ranked in the state."

Lane had Chelsea's low score in the regional with an 86. Roth followed at 89, Skiff and Starkey shot 90, and Boughton came in at 97.

IT'S A RACE TO THE END ZONE for Chelsea running back Curtis Heard, who broke the 100-yard mark for the second time this season and scored four of the Bulldogs' five touchdowns.

Heard had several long runs and proved to be too much for the Indians once he got into their second half.

SEC ROUND-UP:

It's All Over But The Shouting in SEC Race

Chelsea Bulldogs ran their record to 5-0 in the Southeastern Conference and clinched the league championship with a convincing win over the Tecumseh Indians.

The Indians were the only other team that could possibly have won the title, but Friday's loss ended all hope for them.

Chelsea 34, Tecumseh 7.

Chelsea's veer attack proved to be too much for the Indians in the second half as Chelsea scored 21 points in the third quarter to take a 28-0 lead.

Bulldog running back Curtis Heard scored four of Chelsea's five touchdowns and gained 218 yards on the night.

Tecumseh's Robert Mendez ran 34 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter, one of two times the Indians threatened all night.

Chelsea had 363 yards in total offense, their best game of the season. The Bulldog defense limited the Indians to just 64 yards rushing and 12 yards passing. Marcus Fletcher picked off two passes, and Joe Eassa one.

Junior Cagers Beat Saline

Chelsea's eighth grade basketball team maintained an even 4-4 record with a 35-23 win over Saline and a 17-16 loss to Tecumseh last week.

Chester Jon Schaffner said the Saline game was the team's best of the season.

Scoring was led by Colleen Scharphorn with eight, Deanna Richardson with seven. In all, 11 girls scored in the game. Sixteen girls had rebounds, led by Scharphorn. Kate Dilworth and Jane Pacheco. Dilworth also led the team in steals.

Chelsea shot 32 percent from the floor, also their best performance, Schaffner said.

An 8-8 performance in free throws led the girls to their close loss to Tecumseh.

Schaffner said the team did not play well, fell way behind early, but had a couple of chances to win late in the game.

Leading the team were Pacheco with six points, six rebounds and three steals; Sara Musolf, four points and five steals; Carrie Flintoft, two points, four rebounds and seven steals; Richardson, eight rebounds and four steals; and Kristin Bobbender, two rebounds and four steals.

Frosh Lose Football Game To Tecumseh

Plagued by turnovers and an inconsistent offense, Chelsea's freshman football team dropped a 14-0 contest to the Tecumseh Indians last week.

The loss drops the team record to 2-4. They were scheduled to conclude the season against Monroe Catholic Central last night.

"We had an awful hard time scoring," said Chelsea coach Jim Tallman.

"We had four turnovers and we couldn't seem to sustain any drives."

Chelsea fell behind late in the first half when Tecumseh broke a 30-yard run for their first score. A two-point conversion moved the score to 8-0.

Late in the third quarter the Indians used another big play, this one 45 yards, for a touchdown.

Chelsea could get no closer than the Tecumseh 20 the entire game.

"Our defense again played very well, but it was on the field for so long," Tallman said.

"I was quite proud of the way they played."

Boys Cross Country Wins Final Two Conference Meets

Chelsea boys cross country team won their final two dual meets of the season with a 25-34 victory over the Tecumseh Indians and a 25-29 victory over the Pinckney Pirates.

In the Tuesday, Oct. 7 meet with the Indians, in unseasonably cold and wet weather, Chelsea's John Cattell took the top spot in 17:18.

"Senior co-captains Greg Brown, Lee Riemenschneider and Tucker Lee provided the fire power for our victory," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"I was very encouraged by Tuesday's efforts, especially the efforts of the seniors."

Chelsea runners behind Cattell were: Brown, fourth, 18:09; Riemenschneider, fifth, 18:03; Lee, seventh, 18:43; Paul Hedding, eighth, 18:57; Mike Lavigne, ninth, 19:02; Holden Harris, 10th, 19:03; Brady Murphy, 11th, 19:08; Brian Zangara, 14th, 19:14; Matt Riemenschneider, 16th, 19:27; Dave Kvarnberg, 18th, 19:51; Craig Zuehlke, 19th, 20:04; Bob Pratt, 21st, 20:16; Dave Freitas, 22nd, 20:17; Jeff Latimer, 23rd, 20:24; Jeff Andress, 28th, 20:47; Paul Damm, 28th, 21:46; Jim Reeb, 28th, 22:19; Joe Williams, 30th, 22:30.

A rare tie-breaker decided the Pinckney meet on Thursday, Oct. 16 as the teams were tied after both school's first five runners had crossed the finish line.

As it turned out, Chelsea's sixth runner, Harris, who finished 10th overall, decided the meet, edging Pinckney's Jeff Wicker by two seconds.

"Cattell was sick during the race and dropped back to sixth place," Clarke said.

"But sophomore Paul Hedding ran one of his best races to finish second. And the rest of the Bulldogs bunched together to pull out a hard-fought win."

Hedding was the top Chelsea runner, finishing in 18:12.

Chelsea runners behind Hedding were: Brown, fifth, 18:43;

Cattell, sixth, 18:51; Lee Riemenschneider, seventh, 19:08; Lee, eighth, 19:13; Harris, 10th, 19:25; Lavigne, 12th, 19:27; Murphy, 13th, 19:34; Zangara, 14th, 19:50; M. Chelsea finished the dual meet season with a 4-2 mark in a second place tie with the Lincoln Railsplitters.

Chelsea Wins SEC Title

Two plays later, Heard found a hole and simply outspun the Tecumseh defensive backfield 57 yards for his second touchdown.

Tecumseh was stopped cold in four plays on their drive after the kickoff. In three plays, Heard broke loose again for a 58-yard touchdown at the 6:34 mark of the third quarter.

The Indians returned the ensuing kickoff back to the Chelsea 33 for their first real scoring threat. However, on their first play, Joe Eassa picked off a pass at the 18.

With 30 seconds left in the quarter, Chelsea began a drive at the Tecumseh 47 after the first of two interceptions by Marcus Fletcher. After an incomplete pass, Starkey took the ball 47 yards up the middle for the score, ending the run with a fine evasive move at the 10 to get into the left corner of the end zone.

Heard broke one more run for 22 yards with 8:17 left in the game for his final touchdown.

Larry Nix was good on four of five extra point attempts.

Chelsea travels to Pinckney on Friday to play a big, physical, Pirate team. The Pirates spent Lincoln last week and LaFave says they'll be tough to beat.

JV Bulldog Gridders Rally To Nip Indians

Chelsea's junior varsity football team recovered from a 13-0 deficit late in the first half to record a 20-20 win over the host Tecumseh Indians last Thursday, Oct. 16.

Despite the score, Chelsea coach Jim Ticknor said the Bulldogs' defense played one of its best games of the year because all of the touchdowns came as a result of special teams mistakes. The defense allowed just 150 total yards.

Chelsea scored their final go ahead touchdown with 2:22 left in the game on a 49-yard pass play from Bryant Beard to David White. The score gave the Bulldogs a 27-21 lead.

The Bulldogs stopped the subsequent Indian drive with an interception by David Adams.

After three plays the Dogs were forced into a punting situation at their own 27. However, instead of punting, Loren Keizer intentionally ran backward into the end zone for a two-point safety as the Indians were trying for the block. That let the Bulldogs kick the ball out of danger.

"The kids showed a lot of heart to come back from 13 points down," Ticknor said.

"We had three costly mistakes, but we didn't let them get us down."

That first mistake came near the mid-point of the second quarter when Tecumseh returned a punt 51 yards to the Bulldog one-yard line. The Indians ran the ball in on the next play, but their conversion was no good.

Chelsea's second big snafu came later in the quarter when the Bulldogs were called for roughing the kicker on a field goal try that didn't get more than waist-high off the ground. Three plays later the Indians scored again for a 13-0 lead.

Chelsea scored with seven seconds left in the first half on a 10-play, 70-yard drive, highlighted by a 29-yard pass from Beard to David Zerkel, and a six-yard touchdown strike to Zerkel.

Jeff Prentice kicked the extra point.

Keizer set up Chelsea's second touchdown with an interception at the Indian 15 and a return to the two-yard line in the middle of the third quarter. Luman Strong ran for the score at the 6:35 mark of the quarter. The conversion was no good and the game was tied at 13.

After an Indian punt, Chelsea scored on their next possession on a 72-yard drive. Jason Overdorf ran 33 yards to set up his own two-yard scoring gallop.

A pass to Shannon Fredette was good for the two-point conversion and a 21-13 lead.

Chelsea's final big mistake came with 9:37 left in the game as the Indians returned a punt 60 yards for a touchdown. Their two-point conversion knotted the score, to set up the exciting ending.

Overdorf gained 93 of Chelsea's 185 rushing yards on 18 carries. Strong finished with 54 yards on 12 carries and Beard added 38 yards on 9 tries.

Zerkel caught four passes for 51 yards, as Chelsea gained 112 in the air.

Outside linebacker Shannon Fredette led the defense with 12 tackles and assists, and inside linebacker Eric Frisonger and Prentice at tackle each had 10.

"Our defensive tackles played their best games of the season," Ticknor said.

Bill Cassius, Prentice and Chris Keck were outstanding.

Chelsea maintains its lead in the Southeastern Conference with a 4-1 league mark and a 6-1 overall record. The JVs host the Piquette Pirates tomorrow.

BULLDOG BANGERS showed up for last Friday night's homecoming-championship game with the Tecumseh Indians, as Chelsea won the Southeastern Conference for the first time since 1982 with a 20-7 victory.

Sixth Generation Still Owns, Operates Huron City Museum

Langdon Hubbard, a lumber baron, founded Huron City in the mid-1850s. Hubbard's wife died very young leaving a number of small children. Langdon's sister, Jeannette, came to help with the family, took one look at the wilderness in Huron City, and packed the kids up for Connecticut.

Both Langdon and Jeannette agreed that Huron City was not the place for proper upbringing of children. But some 20 years later, all of his children came back to Huron City, and today the sixth generation of the Hubbard family resides in the area. The family still runs and owns the seven museum buildings of Pioneer Huron City.

The museum-city includes one of Michigan's first golf courses and a U.S. Life Saving Station. The Life Saving Station houses famous tales of men who braved the Great Lakes storms in rescue attempts and life saving equipment from the turn of the century.

The entire museum-city takes visitors back to the days of Michigan's 1850s to 1880s lumbering era.

The Garfield Inn

The Garfield Inn in Port Austin is named after the 20th U.S. President, James A. Garfield—and for good reason. The Inn is an Empire-style mansion built in the 1830s and owned by Charles and Maria Learned. As a close friend of the Learned's, President Garfield's home to present a stunning speech on behalf of the Presidential bid of Ulysses S. Grant.

Registered as a National Historic Site, today the Garfield Inn accommodates guests in its nine-room bed and breakfast style lodging facilities. For more information on Michigan's historic inns, call the Michigan Travel Bureau at 800-5432-YES.

The average woman worker 16 years of age in 1979-80 could expect to spend 29.3 years of her life in the labor force, this compared with 39.1 years for a 16-year-old man, according to a fact sheet on women workers published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Historic Lighthouse

One scene in the 1979 romance film "Somewhere in Time" featured the Round Island Lighthouse, situated between Mackinac and Bois Blanc Islands of Michigan—perfect backdrop for the 1912 era on which the movie centers.

Today this lighthouse, thanks to the efforts of area preservationists, stands as a reminder of the days when Michigan's schooners and side-wheelers plied the lakes, and lighthouse keepers and life boat stations kept their lonely vigil at isolated outposts.

There are more than 7.5 million RV's in use in the U.S.

Q. I bought Kinder-Care Learning Centers in 1983 at $13 a share adjusted for the stock splits. It was supposed to be one of the best growth companies in the country according to my broker. But with today's booming stock market it is still selling at about the same price I paid for it.

What do you see as the future of Kinder-Care?

A. Kinder-Care has had a reputation for being an outstanding growth company and its record has been excellent. Since you bought stock in the company in 1983, revenues have grown from $128 million a year to what looks like will be well over $200 million in 1986. The earnings per share have grown from 35 cents in 1983 to an estimated 75 cents for 1986. That's an excellent record.

In spite of that record, the price at which the shares sell has gone nowhere. Analysts familiar with the company believe this is because investors are skeptical that earnings will continue to move ahead under the new tax laws. They also believe there is not the same growth potential in some of the company's recent acquisitions that there was in the basic business.

Historically, Kinder-Care has sold at an average high price-earnings ratio over the past five years of 33 and at an average low P/E of 17. Currently it is selling near the average low of 17. That is not unusual. Whenever a company that has been selling at an unusually high P/E runs into trouble, it tends to drop down to the low side of its P/E.

No one knows, of course, what Kinder-Care will do in the future. However, the past record of management suggests it is able to perform. Since 1980, revenues and earnings growth have been at a compound annual rate of 30%.

The growth in the percent of working women which has been so favorable to Kinder-Care's success is expected to continue. The number of children under age five and the number of working women between 25 and 34 are both expected to be at record peaks by 1990. In the opinion of some analysts, however, some of the changes likely to be made in the tax laws could make the company's business less profitable.

Also the company has been expanding into the life insurance and financial services area where profitability is usually less than it has been in its basic business. Company management, however, believes it will be able to offer special products from these businesses to its customers in the Kinder-Care section and thus build extra profitability into these acquisitions. (Whether it will be successful in doing this or not, only time will tell.)

On the record it would appear the company's management knows how to make Kinder-Care grow. In spite of the speculations raised by some analysts, I'd bet on management's record and look for continued growth.

Marshall Remembers Bid for State Capital

In 1847, the city of Marshall lost its fight to become Michigan's capital city. Today, the city is full of nationally recognized preservation sites, some of which date back to the early 1800s.

Every fall for over 20 years, the Marshall Historical Society presents to the public the annual Historic Home Tour. Many of the homes on display will include Greek Revival, Gothic Revival, Italianate, Queen Anne, Romanesque Revival, and the familiar American Four Square. The tour recreates the ambience and spirit of the 19th Century with band concerts, antique shows, Civil War encampments, strolling musicians, church luncheons and bake sales, and an arts and craft fair. This festive event usually involves the entire Marshall community of Michigan.

Women represented 61 percent of all persons 16 years old and over who had incomes below the poverty level in 1984, according to a fact sheet on women workers published by the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Wildlife Artist of Year Is Self-Taught Painter

A 32-year-old self-taught painter from Ingham county is Michigan's Wildlife Artist of the Year for 1986.

John Feising, Jr., of Mason, took top honors in the seventh annual wildlife art competition sponsored by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC). His acrylic on canvas rendition of three elk in a wooded setting was the first-place choice among more than 60 works submitted by artists from around the state.

Feising, a native of Battle Creek, will receive a check for $2,000 from the MUCC and will have his prize-winning painting reproduced on the cover of the December issue of Michigan Out-of-Doors, the MUCC's monthly magazine. Feising's painting will also be reproduced on the cover of the 1986 Michigan Out-of-Doors Wildlife Art Calendar, which will be available from MUCC in October, 1987.

The MUCC will issue a limited edition of 750 prints of Feising's painting signed and numbered by the artist. The prints will be offered at a special pre-publication price of $55, plus $9 tax and shipping for orders received by Nov. 15. After that date the price will be $70, plus $9 for tax and shipping. Orders for the prints should be directed to the MUCC, P.O. Box 30235, Lansing 48909.

Proceeds from the sale of the prints help support MUCC's resource conservation and environmental education programs.

Other artists in the top five in this year's competition were: Pat McManus of Warren, second; Lawrence Cory, Jr., of Birmingham, third; Michael Todoroff of Garden City, fourth; and Dietmar Krumrey of Manistique, fifth.

The MUCC is the largest non-profit state federation of conservation and sportsmen's organizations in the nation. It is dedicated to furthering the cause of the environment and conservation and to promoting programs designed to educate citizens in natural resource conservation and environmental protection and enhancement.

Old Hand Loom Donated to Waterloo Farm Museum

A 100-year-old loom made for weaving rag rugs was donated to the Waterloo Area Farm Museum Sept. 16 by the grandson of the original owner, Lester Hargrave and his wife Arlene.

The loom is a counter-balanced, two-harness, string heddle loom with an overhead beater. There are still a few looms like this in use today.

Frank Preston Nash built the loom in 1886, using mortise and tenon joints, for his wife, Mary Catherine. A special building was erected in the yard to house the loom. Since this building was unheated, weaving was done only in the warmer months.

Often rag rug looms were used by wives as a source of supplemental income, although in the Nash family it was used more as a social time, much like a quilting bee. Mary Catherine and the neighbor women would cut and sew the rags during the cold or months, using theirs and others' cast-off clothing. At the first sign of warm weather, they would put the warp on the loom, weaving until it got cold again.

Frank Preston died in 1933 and Mary Catherine followed in 1945. After their deaths, the loom was disassembled and put in storage.

Since the loom was moved a number of times, some of the parts were lost or broken, and the string, rope and cloth were unusable. Thanks to Ginger and David Watson, it has been set up and restored. The string heddles have been replaced with linen. The warp beam and cloth beam have been dressed with unbleached muslin. One overhead arm and the breast beam have been remade from lumber made at a local antique saw mill.

Donald Irwin from Grass Lake supervised the wood reconstruction. The warp was donated by Meredith Hanna. The history of the loom was related to Ginger by Raymond Hicks of Wayne, grandson of the Nashs and cousin of Lester Hargrave.

A 100-YEAR-OLD hand loom was donated to the Waterloo Farm Museum by Lester Hargrave, grandson of the original owner, Frank Preston Nash.

Corn Harvest Slow Because of Wet Fields

This is a bad year for corn harvesting due to the heavy rains, says Bill Ames, Washtenaw county agricultural agent. According to Ames, very little grain is out of the fields although normally at this time of year it is already into silos and cribs.

For instance, on the Harold Trinkle farm on Steinbach Rd., they have not yet started picking because the fields are too wet. The Trinkles have not filled their silos nor shelled any corn.

This is evidently the story all over the area. Jerry Heydlauff of Honeyagers Feed Mill says he has received only a few samples of corn. Says Heydlauff, "The fields have been so wet the farmers couldn't get on them. What we need is a couple of dry weeks."

But what if we do not get a couple of dry weeks? According to Ames, harvesting the corn while the fields are still wet could do damage to next year's crops by cutting up fields, ruining the soil structure. But the longer the corn sits in the fields, the more likely it is that it will start sprouting and thus be of lower quality. Also the longer it sits, the drier it gets. A lower moisture content means it will not pack as well.

However, Heydlauff says he is not yet worried. He says this is the time the corn normally starts coming in. "If the weather leaves us alone the corn should start coming in next week."

Food Security Act Will Affect Farmers

By Gary Rinkenberger
District Conservationist

The 1985 Food Security Act of 1985 Farm Bill as it is usually called, has four conservation provisions: (1) The Conservation Reserve Program (CRP); (2) Swampbuster; (3) Sodbuster; and (4) Conservation Compliance. Each provision has specific requirements that will affect Washtenaw county farmers who participate in USDA commodity programs.

Each provision applies to either reducing erosion or protecting existing wetlands. The CRP takes highly erodible land out of production for at least 10 years. The land is always stabilized with grasses and sometimes even trees are planted if the landowner desires.

The Swampbuster provision denies eligibility for USDA commodity and loan programs to farmers who drain and convert wetlands to cropland. This applies to all wetlands unless drainage was started before Dec. 23, 1985. This does not apply to wet cultivated fields, but to ponded non-cultivated areas of these wet fields.

The Sodbuster provision applies to highly erodible lands that were not cultivated between 1981 and 1985. If these lands are cultivated, then they must be farmed using acceptable conservation practices so that the farmer can maintain USDA program eligibility.

The Conservation Compliance provision applies to all highly erodible lands that have been cultivated between 1982 and 1985. It requires that farmers develop and actively apply a conservation plan by Jan. 1, 1990.

The provisions are intended to reduce soil erosion and improve environmental quality. In the past, by allowing farmers to include crops produced on highly erodible lands and newly converted wetlands as part of their base acreage for various farm support programs, the government has in effect encouraged increased soil erosion and loss of wetlands. This situation also has contributed to commodity surpluses and depressed farm prices.

All USDA programs related to commodity production are affected by the legislation. In Washtenaw, programs covered by regulations are the USDA price and income supports, disaster payments, crop insurance, Farmers Home Administration loans, Commodity Credit Corp. storage payments and farm storage facility loans.

Under the law and these regulations, farmers who have highly erodible land or newly converted wetland, or wetlands that they would like to convert, have several options:

(1) They can produce agricultural commodities on the highly erodible land without using an approved conservation plan, and lose their eligibility for covered USDA programs;

(2) Likewise, they can produce agricultural commodities on newly converted wetlands and lose their eligibility;

(3) They can develop and apply conservation plans that will reduce excessive erosion on highly erodible cropland (conservation plans will not allow conservation of existing wetlands), and retain their eligibility for covered USDA programs;

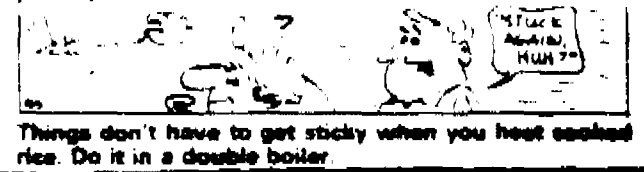

(4) They may apply to enroll their highly erodible land in the Conservation Reserve if they meet the criteria for the program.

Nation-wide, 1.6 million farmers or about 80% of America's farmers currently participate in USDA programs. In Washtenaw county 330 farmers on 128,000 acres participated in 1985. There is reasonable chance that each participating farmer in Washtenaw county will need to address one of the four provisions in his farm management.

Future news articles will address each of the four provisions. The key element to each provision is to apply an acceptable conservation plan into the farm management. The Soil Conservation Service and the Soil Conservation District have the responsibility to assist farmers to develop acceptable conservation plans to assure compliance with the Security Act provisions. Contact the Soil Conservation Field Office for conservation planning assistance.

Southern Michigan's Longest Hiking Trail To Be Dedicated

Public dedication ceremonies for southern Michigan's longest cross-country hiking trail system—46 miles—will take place at 1 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 25, at the Green Lake Campground, just north of Chelsea, reported Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Parks Division officials.

Representatives of the Department and other groups and individuals involved in the development of the trail will speak briefly during the dedication. Trail maps will be available at the dedication, or may be obtained at the Pinckney or Waterloo Recreation Area Headquarters.

This 46-mile trail system, which connects the Pinckney and Waterloo Recreation Areas in Washtenaw and Jackson counties, has been in the works since 1983," said Jack Butterfield, DNR Parks Division Chief.

"Thanks to combined funding-construction efforts between the Department, Michigan Civilian Conservation Corps, Boy Scouts of America, Ann Arbor Sierra Club and numerous private citizens," added Butterfield, "the desire to provide long-distance hiking opportunities in southern Michigan has seen fruition, and notably as Michigan gears up for sesquicentennial activities."

The trail begins at Big Portage Lake in the Waterloo Recreation Area and winds east over undulating moraine countryside to Silver Lake in the Pinckney Recreation Area. Diverse habitat, including pine plantations, deciduous forests, open fields and wetlands may be seen, along with wildflowers and a myriad of wildlife.

Additionally, hikers can enjoy adjacent recreational activities within the two recreation areas, added Butterfield. Within walking distance for hikers are 13 lakes offering swimming, boating and fishing, with canoe/rowboat rentals available. Modern or rustic camping sites, rental cabins and a number of picnic facilities also are accessible.

The Department's proposal to combine Pinckney and Waterloo Recreation Areas with a cross-country trail came in 1983. Soon after, DNR Parks Division staff began developing trails on state-owned land within the recreation areas, purchasing additional properties for trail development as they became available.

The final two-mile link, joining Waterloo's 22 miles of cross-country trail with Pinckney's 22 miles of trail, came in late 1983/early 1984. Two private property purchases (funded by the National Resources Trust Fund) and an agreement with the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Department to traverse Lyndon County park finalized the last parcels of land needed for the trail. Development of this stretch was completed this fall.

Count Dracula Will Visit Saline Stage

As Halloween approaches, that suave vampire from Transylvania will make an appearance at Saline High school, Oct. 23, 24, and 25 as the Saline Area Players present "Count Dracula."

This mystery comedy by Ted Tiller and directed by David Curtis is a new witty version of the classic story of a suave vampire whose passion is sinking his teeth into the throats of beautiful young women.

Mina, played by Marita Stewart of Saline, his latest victim, is the ward of Dr. Seward, played by Jerry Klein of Ann Arbor, in whose provincial insane asylum the terrifying action transpires.

Her fiancé arrives from London, David Morris from Chelsea, worried over her strange trance-like state.

Equally concerned is Professor Van Helsing, played by Bonni Rosen-Pine from Ypsilanti, who specializes in rare maladies, who senses the supernatural at work.

Added troubled comes from Sybil, Marie Murrell from Saline. Dr. Seward's demented, sherry-tipping sister and from Renfield, Todd Wurster from Ypsilanti, a schizophrenic inmate in league with the vampire played by John Cox of Saline.

How do you trap this ghoul who can transform himself into a bat, materialize from fog, dissolve in mist?

Also assisting in the play are attendants Hennessey played by Dave Strait of Saline and Wesley played by Thua Remmers from Ypsilanti.

The play will start at 8 p.m. each night at the Saline High school theater located at 7190 N. Maple Rd., Saline.

TWO INJURED MEN ENTERED CHELSEA
police headquarters at approximately 5 p.m. Sunday afternoon, Oct. 19, to report a two-car smash-up in which they were injured. The accident occurred in Lyndon township when the 1982 Ford Escort (shown in the photo) and in which David Miller, 25, was driving southbound on Cassidy Rd. collided with a 1985 Ford Bronco driven by Andrew Meske of Ypsilanti. "The crash resulted in major damage to the Escort, while the Bronco had its left front fender bent in—no other damage to the Bronco was evident," explained the accident investigator, deputy George McAllister of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department. McAllister explained in the accident report the Miller vehicle was left of center along Cassidy Rd. and its driver didn't see the Bronco traveling northbound along the same road. The two vehicles collided at the middle of a curve in the scenic but winding rural road. The second injured man, 24-year-old Guy Houseman, also a Redford township resident, was a passenger in the Miller car. Houseman suffered facial cuts and complained of a sore right shoulder, while Miller had cuts and bruises on his forehead and a cut knuckle on his right hand, resulting from the crash. The Miller automobile was removed from the accident scene by Smith's Service, and Meske was able to drive the Bronco from the crash site.

Courthouse Renovation Could Start in January

Work on renovating and restoring Chelsea's 14-A district courthouse could begin as early as mid-January.
That's the word from Washtenaw County Administrator Dave Hunscher.
Last week the Historic 14th District Courthouse preservation group reached 96 percent of its $135,000 goal for the local share of the project with a $35,000 pledge from the Village of Chelsea and a $15,000 pledge from Chelsea Milling Co. The group has raised a total of $130,000, according to Chelsea attorney Peter Flintoft, the group's chairman.
Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners told Flintoft that final architectural drawings for the $435,000 project would be authorized after the group obtained pledges for 90 percent of the local share, which was set by the commissioners. The local share is scheduled to be used strictly to restore the building to its original condition. All other renovation work is scheduled to be paid for by the county.

Hunscher confirmed that the county will probably authorize an architect at a meeting scheduled Oct. 28 that will include Hunscher, Court Administrator James Hartman, county commissioner Ellis Pratt, Judge Karl Fink and Judge Kenneth Bronson.
Hunscher said the work would be put out for bids.
"However, we're dealing with an historic restoration, and that narrows down the field of qualified firms significantly," Hunscher said.
Once the courthouse is remodeled, it will also house the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Substation, now located in the Chelsea School District's bus garage on Old US-12, Hunscher said.

In addition, there will be two offices and a waiting area that would be used intermittently for county business, such as conducting surveys and special audits. He said those rooms could also be used by community organizations for meetings.

Hunscher said the building will have complete access for handicapped citizens once the work is completed, both at the side door and the back door. An elevator is scheduled to be added to the back of the building.
No final decision has been made as to where the court will function once the work begins, Hunscher said. Some work, he said, will probably be temporarily shifted to the Saline court, and other business would be handled at the main court center in downtown Ann Arbor.

Marching Band Rated Tops at District Festival

Chelsea Bulldog Marching Band was awarded a First Division rating at the District 12 Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's Marching Festival last Monday, Oct. 13.
The band participated with 15 other bands from southeast Michigan at Ypsilanti High school.
Bands were judged in three areas, marching, music, and showmanship.
Judges for the festival were Cliff Chapman, director of bands at Clarkston, John Bowen, director of bands at Lake Shore High school and Dr. Max Plank, director of bands at Eastern Michigan University.

The band had to march in a downpour that began just before entering the field. The judges praised the bands' poise, discipline and professionalism as well as their outstanding musicianship and performance.
The adverse weather conditions were not anything out of the ordinary for the band this year. They have been caught in storms all season.

Lake Shore & Lyndon Central Railroad Owner Addresses Chelsea Historical Society

Don Drew, owner and engineer of the Lake Shore & Lyndon Central Railroad, a park-scale 1/4 mile long railroad route on North Territorial for tourists, was the speaker at Chelsea Area Historical Society's Oct. 13 meeting.

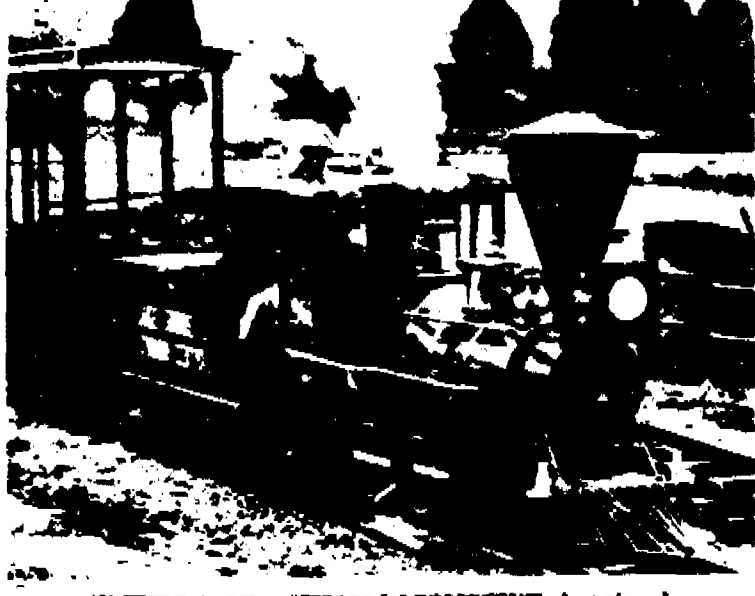

A former resident of Dexter, Don Drew's interest in railroading began at Prospect Pit in Dexter, where he and his young friends played on the train turntable in 1918, and one day got caught by an engineer who suggested the boys help turn around the engine on the turntable and then ride back into the village—the thrill of a young boy's lifetime, a ride in a steam engine, waving to the village residents as they ground to a stop at the depot.

At age 20, in 1928, Drew applied with the master mechanic at Michigan Central Railroad in Jackson for the job of fire engineer. One of a multitude of applicants, he qualified and began a part-time railroad career. Fire engineer from 1928-29, Drew shoveled coal into furnaces of steam engines, assisting engineers on many trips. In 1929 he was laid off for the next 12 years, during which time he established a position with the Ypsilanti State Hospital. Week-ends and vacations he worked for Michigan Central, and went on many memorial trips in his career, some which he related to the CAHS.

He rode the "Niagara Falls Special." On another run over particularly winding track, Drew told of nearly flying out of the engine compartment as the train whipped around the first corner of this winding route—the engineer would tell him to take a seat, and Drew quickly learned to keep his eye over his shoulder for upcoming curves after the first near mishap. Drew knew an engineer named "The Blue Racer," who traveled the Jackson-Niles-Three Rivers route of 118 miles at record breaking speeds. One of these famed high-speed trips ended in a crash and derailment, and The Blue Racer lost his job.

Locally, Drew remembered scooping water from the track pan just outside of the old cement plant on Chelsea-Dexter Rd. as his steam engine flew by. On one trip, where a supply of water was misjudged, he thought they had reached Niagara Falls when he dipped the water from the local track pan, doused himself and soaked the engine as the reservoir was too full.

In 1942 he was forced to choose between a full-time railroad career and his hospital job, and chose the more secure latter job. However, his love for the "iron horse" was recaptured when he met the owner of a firm which builds park-size railroads during Pittsburgh's bicentennial in the summer of 1958. He saved money and ordered a small steam engine and three passenger cars from Wyano, Pa., and soon laid the track around a scenic private lake on his family's farm.

THE THRILL OF A STEAM LOCOMOTIVE chugging down a track is preserved by the Lake Shore & Lyndon Central Railroad as an attraction for young and old alike—a pleasant link to a bygone day when the railroad was the center of activity and commerce.

Drew opened the Lake Shore & Lyndon Central Railroad in 1965 with a figure-eight track.

The most memorial and biggest day Drew reported was when 1,121 people from the fall of '86 Jaycee color tour stopped at his railroad on their route and rode for 25¢ each. He remembers the whole valley being filled with smoke. He'd turn around between shoveling fuel to say "all aboard," and a new crowd would already be piled in and waiting to go.

Orchestra To Present Halloween Concert

On Monday, Oct. 27 at 7:30 p.m. the Chelsea Orchestra Program, directed by Jed Fitzmeier, will present a concert in the High School Auditorium.

The unusual aspect of the concert is that the musicians will be performing in Halloween costumes.

Have you ever seen a witch playing a violin, or a ghost playing cello?

Guest appearances will be made by Aunt Rhody (from "Go tell Aunt Rhody") the All-Stars (from "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star"), and the Pink Panther has been contracted to make a guest appearance.

Anything can happen at a Halloween concert and word has it that a guest will take place during the O.K. Chorale by Bach.

The audience is encouraged again this year to come in costume. A steak dinner will be awarded to the orchestra parents with the best costume.

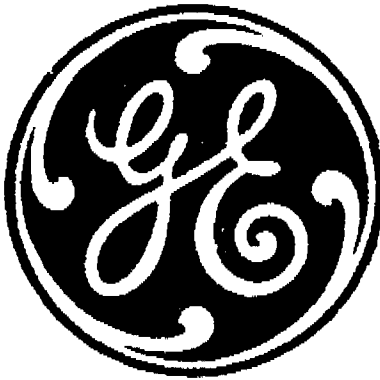

Nov. 7 is slated for the start of the Mackinaw Fudge and Manor Texas Fruitcake fund-raiser. Money made by the sale goes to educational trips, clinics, musical equipment and parties for the orchestra.

Weber and Jon Lane, golf; Sharon Colombo and Matt Dunn, swimming; Kirsten Erickson and Greg Hahst, football; Heidi Hower and her father, Conrad Kasper, cheerleading; and Maria Saarinen (an exchange student) and her host, David Manning.
