CHELSEA COOKS FOR A DAY. These seventh graders at Beach Middle School prepared an oriental meal for classmates as part of a study unit on China. The concoction included a variety of vegetables, and the students even tried to make fortune cookies, but fortune cookies

Down But Not Out, Chelsea Jaycees Wonder About Future

Chelsea's chapter of the Jaycees community-service organization is in a period of dormancy and could conceivably lose its charter in the coming months, according to Past-President Tim Merkel.

And that could spell trouble for traditional Jaycee-sponsored events such as the Easter Egg Hunt. The group had also recently taken over responsibility for the planning of the annual fireworks show at the Chelsea Fairgrounds.

The 30-plus-year-old chapter officially has 24 dues-paying members, four more than required to hold on to the chapter, Merkel said. He said that if membership falls below 20, the chapter will be given three months to bring its membership back up. Then the state Jaycees organization makes a determination on the status of the chapter.

However, the main problem in Chelsea appears to be one of apathy.

"A lot of those 24 members are inactive for one reason or another," Merkel said, who emphasized he was not speaking officially for everyone in the chapter.

There are only about six members who are concerned enough to come to the meetings on a regular basis.

"We're tired of doing most of the work ourselves. We have other responsibilities, just like the other members. One night a week is a lot of time to spend when you have a family."

Merkel said that sustaining a high enough membership has been an on-going problem for the chapter, which in the past has

Grain Dryer Fire Causes Little Damage

A grain dryer at Honeggers & Co. on Dexter-Chelsea Rd. caught fire Friday, Nov. 14 but the fire was put out before any significant damage occurred, according to Chelsea Fire Chief Bud Harker.

Harker said the department was on the scene as a back-up. He said that when a dryer catches fire, grain is off loaded into other containers until the fire is found. Then the fire usually puts itself out.

"It was originally called in as a silo fire and that really had me worried," Harker said.

"If it had been a silo fire, there could have been some real trouble."

Mrs. Leno Doty Quietly Observes 108th Birthday

"Celebrate Life" was the theme of a special birthday party which took place on Wednesday, Nov. 26 at the Chelsea United Methodist Home. The guest of honor was Mrs. Leno Doty, who was born Nov. 28, 1878—108 years ago.

Joining in the festivities were residents and staff of the Chelsea United Methodist Home, as well as members of the community.

Mrs. Doty is a native of Michigan, originally from Harrietta. She has been a resident at the Methodist Home for 25 years.

Yields Are High But Prices Are Low for 1986 Corn Crop

It's probably been about a break-even year for area farmers as far as this year's corn crop is concerned, according to Jerry Heydlauff, manager of Honeggers.

With the corn about 15 percent harvested, farmers are getting higher than expected yields, which is bringing them to the break-even point, Heydlauff said. He estimated local yields as ranging from 120 to 140 bushels per acre.

However, the price for corn, set at $1.45 per bushel late last week, is a terrible price in Heydlauff's estimation.

"The price will probably go up a little, but there won't be a big wild jump," Heydlauff said.

"With the yield they're getting this year, they might break even."

As of late last week Honeggers' storage facilities for 600,000 bushels were just about full. He said the company had shipped about 20 train car loads to feed plants in Pennsylvania.

"This time of year, the weather's the game," Heydlauff said.

"If the weather's good, the next two weeks could clean up a lot of it and most of the corn could be sold by Christmas."

Heydlauff said that last year's corn was being brought in as late as May of this year. Wet weather made the ground too soggy for the heavy machinery.

The quality of this year's corn is also good, according to both Heydlauff and Washtenaw County Extension Agent Bill Ames. They both said disease has not been a problem at all this year.

Heydlauff said he knows of two farmers who have yet to harvest about 800 acres between them, but that the rush is over.

County Health Officials To Discuss Lake Areas Sewage Disposal Needs

A presentation by officials from the Washtenaw County Health Department at the monthly meeting of the Dexter Township Board on Tuesday, Dec. 9, will clarify what is probably the main agenda item for the the 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Barry Johnson from the health department and Washtenaw County director of public works Jack Durbin will both attend the meeting to discuss the critical situation facing Dexter township residents who live along the shores of Portage Lake and the Huron River in that vicinity.

Residents interested in a proposed plan to construct a new sewer facility for a portion of Dexter township should plan to attend the meeting and offer input, as well as update their knowledge as officials offer information on the subject.

The township board has been encouraged to provide $21,000 for front money to fund a hydro-geologic study necessary to qualify before an application may be filed for a Department of Natural Resources permit, opening the door for utilizing a site suggested as a possible location for the sewer treatment facility.

Of the $21,000, a $15,000 amount would fund the hydro-geo study and the remaining $6,000 would be used for a feasibility study to determine where pipes would be placed for the most effective use and related items.

Dexter township earlier loaned

$3,850 to a background study on the project.

Many of the septic tanks and fields located on parcels of land in the township are aging, and officials fear increased population and use of the aging facilities will create what could become a major problem.

Representatives from the engineering firm of McNamara, Porter and Seely, as well as from Progressive Engineering, are expected to attend the Dec. 9 meeting.

Festival of Lessons, Carols Set Dec. 7

The 10th annual Festival of Lessons and Carols will be held Sunday, Dec. 7, beginning at 3 p.m., at St. Mary's Catholic church, 14200 Old US-12. Fourteen area ministers and 10 choirs/instrumental groups will participate in the service, in what has become the largest gathering of the Christian community in Chelsea. It is sponsored by the Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship.

The Festival of Lessons and Carols originated at Kings College Chapel, England, over 50 years ago. It includes passages of scripture which point to the coming of the Savior in the Old Testament, and the fulfillment of those hopes and dreams in the New Testament by the birth of Jesus Christ.

Choirs from Zion Lutheran, First United Methodist, St. Mary's Catholic, St. Paul UCC churches, as well as the Chelsea Community Choir and Chamber Orchestra, the Madrigals and Contemporaries from Chelsea

High school, and the Bell Choir from First United Methodist church will express the story of the birth of Christ through musical selections. Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" will again close the program, sung by the massed choirs and congregation, accompanied by the Chamber Orchestra, comprised of over 20 members.

A rehearsal for the choirs and orchestra will begin promptly at 1:15 p.m. at St. Mary's church on Dec. 7. Following the service, Christmas cookies and doughnuts, brought by participating churches, will be served in the Fellowship Room, with coffee and hot chocolate. The offering will be divided between Faith in Action and appointments for the new Chapel at Chelsea Community Hospital.

The organizing Committee includes Deacon Richard Cesarz, Mrs. Ann Lee, Mrs. June Warren, the Rev. John Gibbon, the Rev. John Morris, and the Rev. Erwin Koch.

HELPING OUT THE OLD FOLKS with a little snow shoveling is five-year-old Vanessa Humenay of Chelsea. Area residents woke up Tuesday morning to a mixture of snow, rain and freezing rain, which made going to work a little treacherous. Vanessa decided it would be nice if someone could get back in the driveway later on in the day.

Solutions Proposed To Drain Problems On E. North St.

Village residents on E. North St. have long been aware of a storm water drainage problem in the area as the area is often flooded during heavy storms.

Assistant Village Manager Lee Fahrner told the village council Nov. 18 that if four problem areas are corrected, the frequency of flooding should be greatly reduced.

Fahrner said a deteriorating manhole on E. North St. should be replaced as it restricts the flow of water.

A lead from a street catch basin is protruding into the main sewer line and is restricting water flow. He said there is also a section of sewer between the manhole and the lead that is broken and exposed to the dirt.

Upstream from the lead, the pipe changes sizes from 12 to 15 inch. He said that is restricting flow and should be repaired.

Finally, there is also an obstruction in the sewer downstream which wouldn't allow a television camera to pass. The camera is used to view inaccessible areas of the sewer. Fahrner guessed that a broken pipe is causing the problem.

Fahrner estimated a total cost of $9,500 to fix all the problem areas, including $1,500 to repair the obstruction in the downstream sewer, which he recommended be the initial project.

Fahrner recommended that the entire project be undertaken in conjunction with the wastewater treatment plant project next year to avoid tearing up the street twice.

Council took no action.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Warren M. Hoyt, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Contaminated Sites: Now at 1,530
The state cannot draw even in an effort to clean up hazardous waste sites with a budget that has steadily declined to this year's $11.3 million while the number of identified sites is growing, this year up another 279 to 1,530, officials said recently.

Gary Klepper, chief of the site assessment unit of the Department of Natural Resources, said it would take over $4 billion in state, federal and private funds to clean up all the sites over a 20-year period, although a commitment of that size would probably require a state bond issue.

The new proposed priority list of hazardous sites is topped by the G and H Landfill in Shelby Township (Macomb County), which contains a variety of suspected carcinogens such as asbestos and PCBs, threatening groundwater.

Klepper said the program represented by the list is a more accurate assessment of the magnitude of the risk and dealing better with immediate health threats.

The growing list does not include more sites in the high-risk category, but is restricted more to "mid-range" risks, he said.

The proposed list, to be finalized following a series of public hearings, is to be used in conjunction with the governor's proposed 1987-88 budget proposals.

"At the present rate, we cannot catch up. To really catch up, it will require a substantially greater investment than we have now," he said.

Only about the top 50 sites will get any immediate action in a given year, with clean up efforts begun only at one or two sites annually, Klepper said.

Besides the state program, Klepper said, there are federal Superfund money, has been spent at state sites in 1985-86, involving another 26 sites. The state has 54 sites on the priority list for Superfund money, and another 10 have been proposed.

He said he could envision a state program big enough to deal with the problems if a bond issue were authorized similar to a $1 billion effort in New York state.

He added it would cost an estimated $4.1 billion to clean up the top 500 sites. A 20-year program to address all the problems would require $940 million a year, or $90 million each from state, federal and private company sources.

Klepper said no site has yet been fully cleaned up in the four-year history of the state program, which began in 1981-82 with a $12.1 million budget.

The DNR officials said about 170 sites of the 1,530 have been addressed in some way under the state program, ranging from installing response which include fencing a site or providing alternative drinking water supplies, to actual clean up efforts to remove contaminated soil and purge polluted groundwater.

Groundwater is known to be contaminated at 1,085 sites and surface waters contaminated at 216 sites, including Wayne, Oakland, Ingham, Kent, Muskegon, Monroe and Grand Traverse) each have 50 or more sites.

Above ground and underground storage tanks each account for 20 percent of the sites on the state list, with the contamination source unknown at another 16 percent. The remaining sites have been contaminated by salt storage, agriculture or food production or manufacturing processes.

been temporarily solved by membership drives.

"It seems to grab for a while after those drives but it doesn't hold," Merkell said.

"The situation has not changed drastically," Merkell said. A meeting of the group, scheduled for shortly before Thanksgiving, was not held, Merkell said. He said the group is not working on any community projects and doesn't know if it will in the future. In a normal year, the chapter would likely be planning a toy-for-the-needy Christmas project and a winter blood drive.

"The Jaycees started out as a single men's organization and it certainly is difficult for someone who's married and has a family," Merkell said.

Correction

In last week's story about a financial adviser for the wastewater treatment plant project, First of Michigan Corp. of Detroit, not First of America Bank, should have been mentioned as the company that won the bid. Total costs for the plant are estimated at $4.5 million, with the village picking up 40 percent of the cost.

Back Low from Line Saps

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The agent of the county saps Saturday night was a mixed bag that proved if nothing else, that the more things change the more they stay the same. Ed Poolbelle opened with a report where clean up in the big dump on the black market, and the discussion kept building on that level.

What we got is what we've always had, Ed allowed. For ever action a reaction, for ever remedy a new ailment, for ever loop a loophole. No sooner in the tax reform bill signed than tax-deductible seminars on how to beat it is set up all over the country. No sooner does the highest court in the land work around to saying drug testing is the latest of evils, then drug users come up with a supreme way to keep up the biggest of evils. Ed said he was full agreed with the report that the rights of 300 people to land sale at a airport are bigger than the right of one stoned traffic controller to land two airplanes full of people at the same place at the same time.

But once that right is clear, he said, we got free entrepreneurs collecting potty material from day care centers, bottling it as urine samples guaranteed to pass the test and peddling it for $20 a jugger. The next development might be clean blood at a dollar a drop to sip in the tube in case the National Transportation Safety Board asks for a second opinion of a test on a engineer that drove his train through a open drawbridge.

And while in the juu jupers are figuring ways around tests, broke in Zeke Grubb, the on the road speeders are keeping on keeping on, thanks to their fuzz-busters. From what Zeke read, these are electric gadgets that spot police radar before the radar spots em, so the drivers can slow down until the radar is clear of the fuzz. If government has got a right to test our body fluids for drugs, Zeke said, for sure it ought to have a right to outlaw ways to beat the speed limit. He said he was glad to see near the end of the Congress that the call went out to tie a ban on fuzz-busters with any increase in the federal speed limit. Natural, he went on, wads are coming from drivers that want to drive faster legal and still bust the fuzz so they can drive still faster illegal.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Cobb

Cooper-Cobb Marriage Vows Exchanged in Manchester

Kimberly A. Cooper and Kenneth E. Cobb, both residents of Chelsea, were united in marriage, Oct. 4, at Emanuel United Church of Christ in Manchester. The Rev. Robert Macfarlane officiated at the candlelight, double-ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Cooper of Chelsea. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cobb, also of Chelsea.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white satin and venetian lace trimmed with sequins and seed pearls, styled with a pleated drop waist ending in front with embroidered, scalloped flowers. The dress featured flowing sleeves gathered at the elbow and pointed at the wrists, and held a cathedral train accented with embroidered flowers. She wore a hat with seed pearls and sequins and a finger-tipped veil, and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

The bridegroom wore a traditional black tuxedo. Matron of honor, Julie Cooper, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a royal blue, satin, floor-length gown and carried three white roses with baby's breath.

Dan Cobb, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and wore a traditional black tuxedo.

The bridesmaids, Sally Lucas, Trina Napier, Michele Ball and Janice Yoakam each wore romance blue satin dresses and carried a single rose.

The groomsmen, Richard Cobb, brother of the bridegroom, Brian Cooper, brother of the bride, Scott Cooper, brother of the bride and Ed Yoakam, were black tuxedos.

The flower girl and ring bearer were Heidi Cobb and Danny Cobb, niece and nephew of the bridegroom.

Music at the church included the traditional wedding march, Soloist, Dede Petch, friend of the bride, sang "The Wedding Song," and "We've Only Just Begun," accompanied on the piano by Chris Bergman.

The bride's mother chose a full-length gown of pale peach satin. The mother of the bridegroom wore a royal blue floor-length gown.

An evening reception and dance honoring the newly-married couple was given at St. Mary's Hall on Congdon St. following the ceremony.

Linda Cobb and Kathy Cobb, both sisters of the bridegroom, served the three-tiered wedding cake with a fountain in the center, and individual heart shaped cakes surrounding it. The cake was made by Judy Radant. The groom's cake was made by Alice Atkinson, the groom's grandmother.

The bride graduated from Chelsea high school in 1985 and the bridegroom graduated from Chelsea High School in 1981 and is employed at Village Motors as a mechanic.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the couple are making their home in Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. David Carl Renius

Elizabeth Schaeffer, David Renius Are Wed at Methodist Church

Elizabeth Jean Schaeffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Schaeffer of Chelsea, and David Carl Renius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto C. Renius of Rochester, were united in marriage Thursday afternoon, Nov. 20 at the First United Methodist church. The Rev. Dr. Jerry Parker officiated.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown and carried a spray of white roses.

Matron of honor was Ellene McCune of Williamston, a friend of the bride. Best man was Dan Chis of Colorado, a close friend of the bridegroom. Ushers for the occasion were Robert A. Schaeffer, Jr. of Mason, brother of the bride, and Paul Renius of Rochester, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a dinner reception was held at the Woodshed Eatery.

The bride is a graduate of Chelsea High school and Northwestern Michigan College. She is employed as a nurse at the Burcham Hills Retirement Center in East Lansing. The bridegroom is a graduate of Michigan State University where he is continuing graduate studies in the field of education.

The couple left for a honeymoon in Portugal. They will make their home in Okemos beginning in late December.

Break Making Workshop Offered At Extension Office

Christmas can be measured in inches, on the waist and off the wallet. But this year you can remedy this dilemma by giving gifts from your kitchen that are lower in calories and easy on the budget.

Learn to make delicious yeast and quick (with baking powder) holiday breads, to give to friends and relatives.

Co-operative Extension Service is sponsoring a public lecture-demonstration on Dec. 8 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the County Service Center, Washtenaw and Hogback Rds. All Co-operative Extension Service Programs are open to all without regard to race, color, national origin, sex or handicap.

The program, "Be Well Bread," presented by Marion Prince, extension home economist, costs $5 payable at the door, for tasting samples. Reservations are required. Call 973-9510.

Christmas Cookie Workshop Set By Extension Service

Christmas cookies bring back memories of traditional holidays; the children helping with the decoration, the wonderful aroma of baked goods and the pleasure on the face of the gift-receivers.

Learn how to make Christmas cookies, The Gift from the Heart, at a public lecture-demonstration, sponsored by the Co-operative Extension Service on Dec. 10 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Extension programs are open to all without regard to race, color, national origin, sex or handicap.

Renee Deter, extension home economist will discuss the fail-safe formula for organizing and planning your cookie baking to maximize your time. Variations on old favorites will be shown as well as newer recipes such as Black Walnut Cookies and Linzer Hearts.

A $5 fee, collected at the door, will cover tasting samples. Reservations are required. Call 973-9510.

The Job Training Partnership Act is sharply focused on training with a legislatively mandated requirement that at least 70 percent of all funds be used for this purpose, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's annual report for fiscal year 1985.

Mrs. Alfred Lee Moyner

Brenda Schauer, Alfred Hayner Speak Vows in Pinckney Church

Brenda Ann Schauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schauer of Pinckney, and Alfred Lee Hayner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayner of Brighton, were married Sept. 6 at 5 p.m. at People's Evangelical Free Church in Pinckney.

Pastor Chaires Rasmussen of People's Evangelical Free Church officiated at the double ring, candlelight ceremony. Jerry Reams sang a song he composed called "Second to None." He was joined by Jane Swartout to sing "Wedding Song" and "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride wore a gown of lace with Schiffli embroidery on the stand-up neckline, the illusion front and back yoke, and the dramatic deep-V flounce front and back bodice. The leg of mutton sleeves were trimmed at the elbow with a bow. The waistline was slightly raised. Baby ruffles at the hemline extended to a cathedral length train. A perfect complement to the gown was the Schiffli embroidered headpiece and cathedral length veil. For flowers, the bride carried a ring of lavender roses accented by mini mums, stephanotis and baby's breath that led to a cascade of more lavender roses and stephanotis. The bouquet was enhanced with lace and ribbon streamers.

Serving as maid of honor was the sister of the bride, April Schauer of Pinckney. Bridesmaids were sister of the bridegroom, Mary Wilt of Howell; friend Stephanie McCoy of Pinckney; sister-in-law of the bride, Nancy Schauer of Pinckney; and cousin of the bride, Linda Schauer of Ann Arbor.

The honor attendants wore lavender gowns with captivating ruffles, a shirred sweetheart neckline, and a flared skirt. The raised waist was tied with a ribbon sash which set off the tiers of ruffles to form a small train. The hats, made by the bride's mother, were white linen detailed with lavender roses and carnations topped off with a lavender bow streamer. Their flowers were the same as the bride's but without a cascade.

The mother of the bride wore a floor-length dress of dusty rose. The mother of the bridegroom wore a floor-length lavender dress with a jacket. Both mothers wore corsages of white gladioli.

Niece of the bridegroom, Shannon Wilt of Howell, served as the flower girl. She was dressed the same as the honor attendants. The ringbearer, Randy Wilt of Howell, is the nephew of the bridegroom. He was dressed the same as the groomsmen.

Best man was friend of the bridegroom, Jess Cornell of Howell. The groomsmen were Mike VanMullekom of Milford; John McDermott of Howell; brother of the bride David Schauer of Pinckney, and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Randy Wilt of Howell. They wore grey tuxedos.

The reception, which 200 attended, was held at the American Legion Hall in Pinckney. The guest book was attended by Kelly Cornell of Howell. The cake was made and served by Harold and Ruby Hayner of Whitmore Lake, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom.

For a wedding trip, the couple went to Niagara Falls and then toured lower Canada and upper Michigan. After a week's honeymoon, they returned to Howell to begin residence at 5965 E. Grand River.

The bride is a 1984 graduate of Pinckney High School and is employed at Fairview Ltd. in Hamburg. The bridegroom is a 1981 graduate of Brighton High School and is self-employed. He is active in the Michigan Army National Guard of Howell.

CHS Wants Parent-Teacher Group

Chelsea High School is interested in beginning a Parent-Teacher organization and there will be an informational meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 3 at 7 p.m. in the board room of the administration building at the high school.

According to Principal John Williams, the group would be similar in function to those at the elementary school level.

"The purpose of this sort of an organization would be to develop a better understanding and communication between the home and the school and to possibly fund and support such projects that add enrichment to the curriculum," Williams said in the high school newsletter.

"You could sort of call this a school boosters group, such as we currently have Music Boosters and Athletic Boosters."

The meeting is primarily to find out how much interest there is in beginning such a group.

"It has been accepted by the education community that parents are very involved with their children and their children's schools in the elementary grades. This involvement then slackens off a bit during the middle school years. And by the time parents have students in high school, they are not much interested except when a controversial topic comes up. If you look around the state, the reality of the situation seems to be apparent. But the real issue is this: Is this the best for the schools?"

Most butterflies have short memories. According to International Wildlife magazine, scientists at the University of Colorado found that butterflies feed repeatedly from the same flower species because it takes too long to learn their way around the new ones. If they venture to a new flower, then return to the old one, they must relearn the path to the nectar.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

Many readers thought that gaps in their own sex education, as well as that of their children, might be closed when Time magazine recently offered a cover story on the steamy subject. What grabbed them was the color cartoon where Peanuts, Snoopy and friends contemplated the announcement. Today in Room 501 "The Birds and the Bees" (AND MUCH, MUCH MORE!)

Unfortunately for the prudent, the eight-page article stopped short of the closed-door details, concentrating instead on controversies which have muddled the water for generations.

Should there be any sex education at all? Don't lessons of this sort actually stimulate desire? And isn't it true that knowledge of contraception encourages lust by making things safer and easier?

Is it permissible to make love but a sin to have an abortion? Does it make moral sense to offer homosexuality as an acceptable alternative to the real thing? Where would we be if only gays had been there in the Garden of Eden?

Another sore point was raised by no less a person than Surgeon General C. Everett Koop. The nation's leading health officer, it seems, has suddenly decided the time has come for sex educators to tell all, beginning with the third grade. This would include explicit information on the role of infectious body fluids in the transmissions of AIDS.

Many health educators, as well as parents, agreed with Dr. Koop about nation-wide sex education but they made it furiously plain that the program should not begin with innocent eight-year olds.

This vetoing of the surgeon general was one of many revelations contained in a public opinion survey published by Time Sept. 24 and developed by the distinguished pollsters Yankelovich, Clancy and Schulman. Here are excerpts:

Should sex-education courses teach 12-year-olds about:

The dangers of AIDS	Yes	95%
Sexually transmitted diseases	Yes	93%
Birth control	Yes	89%
Pre-marital sex	Yes	78%

Should children be taught:

How men and women have sexual intercourse	Yes	76%
Homosexuality	Yes	76%
Abortion	Yes	72%

Adults were asked about health clinics:

Should school health clinics offer birth control information?	Yes	No
Should school health clinics provide contraceptives	84%	12%
Should school health clinics provide contraceptives	36%	53%

Adults were also asked these questions about parental sex-ed participation:

Have you ever told your 8- to-12-year-old children

	Mothers	Fathers
Yes	Yes	Yes
About the dangers of AIDS	48%	42%
About homosexuality	37%	42%
About abortion	36%	25%
How men and women have intercourse	34%	21%
About birth control	26%	17%

Finally, persons interviewed were asked about moral viewpoints in sex education.

Should sex-education courses:	Yes	No
Teach students that sex at too early an age is harmful	79%	15%
Urge students not to have sexual intercourse	67%	25%
Urge students to practice birth control when having casual sex	84%	11%
Tell students that abortion is an option when pregnancy occurs	56%	55%
Tell students that abortion is immoral	44%	44%
Tell students that homosexuality is just an alternative sexual activity	24%	64%
Tell students that homosexuality is immoral	56%	36%

Surveys such as these, conducted by accredited neutral pollsters, suggest that we do have a consensus on the need for morally oriented sex education.

A clear mandate exists for instructing students at a time when they are close to the threshold of puberty. The framework of sex education doesn't have to be rigid and certainly should take notice of racial, ethnic and religious convictions. It appears that just about all differences between parents and authorities can be resolved if ultimate control is vested in local school boards and subject to general state standards.

A considerable group of people (47%) in the Time poll wished they had received a better sex education as children. Many others, in interviews, regretted their own shortcomings as sex educators within the family. They felt embarrassed because of insufficient information.

Nevertheless, it seems to me that health educators are overlooking an enormously valuable resource when they disregard the teaching potential of parents. Mothers and fathers have more at stake than anyone in the positive sex education of their offspring. In most families mothers and fathers are the most trusted and loved people known to their children.

The fact that they are admittedly poor teachers, and embarrassed by their shortcomings, should not cause anyone to lose sight of their unique influence as preceptors. We should teach parents to teach their children.

Clinicians have discovered that teens do a miserable job of using contraceptives. Far better results can be encouraged (presumably for post-marital years) by means of private teaching between mothers and daughters, dads and sons. Because of privileged insights into the personalities of their teen-agers, home discussions can also help boys and girls to say no to sex without the loss of treasured friendships. In a program for eighth grade girls called "Postponing Sexual Involvement," 87 percent were anxious to develop this ability. Sometimes a parent is the best advisor of all.

Couples should be invited to evening classes in public schools with the promise, "We want to tell you what we are teaching your children about sex. We want you to know so you can reinforce this teaching at home."

Thus, if the teaching in school omits or fails to accommodate religious positions of the family, special instruction can be given at home.

This prospect of teaching parents to teach should not be rejected because there are flaws in the method. There are flaws in everything that is taught and everyone who teaches it. We can expect that there are some parents who will refuse to attend the classes. There are a few who do not have the love and trust of their children. There are also some parents who are simply unteachable.

Such difficulties can be overcome. The main thing is to develop the best possible system of teamwork between educators and parents. Nothing can be more important to a family and a society than wholesome standards of human reproduction.

Skilled Carpenter Creates Toys for Farm Museum Sale

Herman Hoffman's life-long fascination with woodworking began as a young boy in Marquette, the first time he saw an airplane.

Young Herman had never even seen a picture of a plane, prior to viewing the one maneuvering over the field of his father's remote farm.

Motivated to express his impression of the aircraft's shape and graceful movement, the boy, with a simple pocket knife, carved a piece of bass wood into his conception of the plane.

Hoffman's adult vocation is carpentry and cabinet making. His avocation continues to be wood carving. He is equally skilled in capturing a bird in flight with wood working tools, or building a rocking chair which is a work of art.

Hoffman's design for a convertible picnic table, and for a collapsible high chair have both been published in Popular Science Magazine.

Hoffman and his wife Dorothy have resided in Michigan Center for the past 24 years. Hoffman's wood carving during the couple's child-rearing years was confined to making toys for his children.

Since 1970 the toys Hoffman creates have been given to Waterloo Area Farm Museum, to be sold at the Museum's annual Pioneer Day, and at their Christmas Open House. This year Hoffman has designated an additional 35 small wooden toys be given without charge to the first 35 children attending Open House at the Farm Museum.

Hoffman has strong family ties with the museum, which go back five generations. He was born in Gladstone, of a family who emigrated from Stuttgart, Germany, and settled in the Jackson area.

The Siebold-Ruehle family are also among those who migrated from Stuttgart to become Michigan pioneer farmers. Family legend, Hoffman disclosed, gives credit to a German clergyman, who made several trips bringing German settlers to Waterloo area.

One of these settlers, Jacob Ruehle, who during the American Civil War changed his name to Reilly, married Catherine Archibronn. Their daughter, Mary, married Samuel Hoffman, first cousin, twice removed, to Herman Hoffman.

What is now Waterloo Farm

HERMAN HOFFMAN'S INTEREST in woodworking began when he was a small boy in Marquette. He has since created many beautiful wood pieces, like the ones above.

HERMAN HOFFMAN'S LIFE LONG FASCINATION with woodworking has been a boon for the Waterloo Area Farm Museum. He has donated hand-built toys to the museum. Above is some of his other handiwork.

Museum is the former home of pioneer Jacob Reilly. When the house was built in 1855 it became a showplace of the Victorian era.

After the death of the last Reilly, Waterloo Area Historical Society acquired the property. In 1962 the Society began restoration, and the property became Waterloo Area Farm Museum, a living memorial to the Michigan pioneer farmer.

It is with the help of people like Herman and Helen Hoffman that the Museum is sustained and continues to progress.

Christmas Open House at the Farm Museum is slated for Dec. 6 and 7, from 1 to 5 p.m. The museum is located at 9998 Waterloo-Munith Rd., Jackson County.

What's A Funeral For, Anyway?

Occasionally we're asked such questions as: "Why do we have funerals?" "What purpose do they serve?"

More than anything else, the funeral is for the living. It's our way of saying goodbye, giving recognition to a life that was important to us.

Saying goodbye is very difficult. However, it's the first important step in accepting the reality of death and recognizing that life still has meaning for those who remain.

If you would like more information on funerals and their value to the living, please call or write for our informative brochure.

Seventh Graders Respond to Smoke-Out, Drink-Out Quote

Seventh grade science students in Jun Hoffmeyer's class at Beach Middle School responded last Monday to a suggestion in last week's Chelsea Standard by a pipe smoker that a Great American Drink-out be held instead of a Great American Smoke-out. The pipe smoker was quoted as saying "While smoking only hurts the smoker, drinking can affect innocent people."

In making the assignment, Hoffmeyer hoped the responses would serve two purposes. The first was to indicate the truth about smoking and how it affects non-smokers. The second was to find out how aware today's seventh graders are about such topics since the substance abuse unit does not begin until January. No class discussion was held, so all the ideas are original. Below are reprinted some of the responses.

I think Mr. S. is wrong about how smoking only hurts you, but the smoke hurts everyone else. I also think that it is a great idea to have a drink-out.

Sarah Franklin

But smoking does hurt other people. They can inhale the smoke into their lungs. I think the drink-out is a good idea. It might not stop all people from drinking but there's a good chance it would stop some people from drinking so much it harms other people.

Tara Jagodowski

I think we should have a Great American Drink-out because there are too many people getting killed because they are in a car with a drunk person driving. And I think they should crack down harder on drunk people.

Jennifer Petty

While smoking, other people around the smoker are inhaling smoke. The smoke that the person is inhaling has a better chance of getting lung cancer because studies show that the person smoking does not inhale so much smoke.

Matt Gaken

I think it is not true but innocent people die in drinking and driving but people who don't smoke die of the smoke of cigarettes because they're around people who smoke. I know because my friend's grandma died from cigarette smoke but she didn't smoke.

Kirk Hedding

Smokers cause other people to get cancer but yet drunks kill people when they drink and drive! So I agree but yet I disagree.

Becky Vctor

I agree that there should be a Great American Drink-out but I disagree that smoking only hurts the smoker. It hurts whoever is around the smoker. As for drinking, it can hurt innocent people as well as the drinker.

Matt Capper

I think people should not smoke at all because it can cause death. I don't even like the idea of my parents smoking! Plus I think there should be a day not to smoke and drink because maybe some people might stop either one. P.S. Because I care.

Stefanie Norris

I think that smoking can hurt other people, too. For instance, if you live with someone that smokes or even in the same room as them, the smoke is going to get into your lungs and that can cause cancer. Although when someone is drinking the only way they can hurt someone is if they're drunk and they're driving or they get in a fight with you.

Martina Street

I think there should be a drink-out because if the smoke-out worked then this should work. I think that the bars should close on that day so people won't be tempted. P.S. I hope it works.

Sue Thompson

Drinking could affect innocent people, like when an innocent person is in a car and a drunk person is driving. They could get in an accident or a drunk could get mean and hurt some innocent person! But smoking can give an innocent person cancer and cause death by the smoke.

Michelle Poppinger

Smoking can affect innocent people. Doctors say it's easier for a non-smoker to get lung cancer than a smoker by being in the smoker while he/she's smoking, but drinking can also hurt innocent people by peer pressure. Kids that don't drink can be pressured into it by their friends and could end up drinking too much and hurt themselves.

Tara Roehm

I disagree with his quote because if a man is in a crowded part and drinking he doesn't hurt anyone but if a man is smoking the smoke travels through the air and when people around him breathe they inhale smoke which can hurt them.

Ben Manning

I think that Mr. S's theory is wrong and right. It is right by saying that drinking can affect the smoker and innocent people.

Anastasia

Smoking has an effect on most people just as much as drinking can affect innocent people. The smoke affects people who have never smoked and never intend to. People who live with a smoker have a chance of getting lung cancer or heart disease more than others. I think that smoking can affect all people, not just the smoker.

Melanie Broughton

I agree because secondhand smoke can be damaging, but one can move away from the smoke. When one is out on the highway, it is difficult to move away from a drunk driver.

Heather Kendrick

I think he's wrong because other people's smoke gets into non-smokers lungs and causes cancer.

Brandy Boyers

Reaction to Mr. S. My reaction to "while smoking only hurts the smoker, drinking can affect innocent people" is that smoking can affect more than just the smoker, because what they exhale can be harmful to many people. I also agree drinking can affect a lot of people.

Mike Reese

Your quote that was in the paper is almost true but the part about smoking is not all true. The part about drinking is but the side smoke from a cigarette is as harmful to a bystander as it is to the smoker. So the quote should have been "smoking and drinking are harmful to both them and innocent bystanders."

Cherise Pickell

My reaction to "while smoking only hurts the smoker, drinking can affect innocent people." I think its not true because if you smoke you can affect non-smokers because if they should breath in that smoke they could get cancer just breathing in the smoke. I think that the government should help people more make people go or have a week when people don't drink or smoke and have all restaurants put away their ashtrays.

Leah Hadley

My reaction to Mr. S's statement is that smoking does hurt innocent just like drinking can. Smoking causes cancer when a person is smoking smoke fills the air where other people breathe it. I agree with the part about drinking.

Heather Havens

I understand that drinking can affect other people, but so does smoking. If someone smokes around you, especially if it is often, you can be in as much danger as the smoker. breathing.

Manchester Youth Completes Army One Station Training

Pvt. Brian C. Waters, son of June S. and Jerry J. Waters of 2010 Schumb Rd., Manchester, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training. The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapon infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

He is a 1986 graduate of Manchester High school.

The Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (FLSA) as amended, requires that most employees in the United States be paid a minimum hourly wage, and premium overtime pay after a certain number of hours. The minimum wage is $3.35 an hour, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

TWO MEN FROM FEDERAL SCREW WORKS: Jack Joseph, left, an employee for 20 1/2 years, retired from Federal Screw Works on Nov. 30. Presenting Jack with a certificate of appreciation and watch engraved with his length of service is Jeff Jorgensen, general manager of the Chelsea Division. Jack has worked most of his career in the grinding department as a setup operator, and instructor, and for the last 12 years has been the leader in the grinding department. Jack indicated that he has no definite plans for his retirement but will do what he wants to do at his leisure. Not present for the picture was Samuel T. Bentley who joined on Nov. 1. "Trent," as he was known in the plant, was employed at Federal Screw Works for 20 years, first as a press operator, then working in the secondary operations department, and for most of his career in the grinding department as a setup operator. A luncheon was held in their honor on Nov. 21 at the plant.

that air all the time. No offense to smokers and drinkers, but I just think people are stupid, if they know the things they do are bad for them, and they're harming other people. I don't understand why they do it. I don't think people should be allowed to smoke in public. And I think if drinkers don't know their limits, then there should be a law or something that gives bartenders a right to not sell them anymore.

Charity Allen

I think there should be a drink-out and a smoke-out day too because even if you don't drink or smoke people who are around may smoke and drink and that could hurt you.

Jessica Rodenkurch

I think mister S is wrong and right because if innocent people are by smokers they inhale the smoke and get lung cancer. And because he's right some people who drink kill innocent people driving and all the people who smoke are by people who don't smoke.

Lee Skyles

Yes it is true that drinkers sometimes hurt innocent people. Drinking and driving can kill a lot of lives. But to drink alone is okay as long as you don't do something stupid. But it wouldn't hurt to try a non-drinking day.

Erin Smith

I think Mr. S's remark was incorrect. True, drunk people do hurt people in cars and in other ways. But smoking does harm people. People inhale their smoke not to mention smokers are at better risk of heart attacks. Smoking by pregnant women can cause premature birth. Smoker's cigarettes let off carbon monoxide, a deadly gas.

Jeff Holzhausen

Smokers can hurt all of us, not just one person. It is a proven fact that smokers will harm all people around a smoker. I disagree with name's totally.

No name in the newspaper

I think that the person who said drinking affects innocent people and smoking is a total lie. Drinking and smoking both affect innocent people. Drinking does when people mix drinking and driving and wind up in an accident. Smoking does because when smokers smoke around non-smokers all the smoke goes into both their lungs. The innocent people breathe and with smoke in the air they have got just as good of a chance of getting cancer or some other sickness. Well, although people drink and smoke, I think they are both disgusting habits that affect innocent people.

DALE FISHER, probably the only photographer in the world working exclusively from an open helicopter, has developed his art specialty to a point where he is in a class by himself. His most recent honor is having a new book chosen as the official Michigan Sesqui-centennial Book. This volume, along with other works, will be on display at a public open house Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 6-7 at the Dale Fisher Gallery, 749 Airport Blvd., Ann Arbor.

Dale Fisher Volume Chosen Michigan Official Sesqui Book

"Michigan: from the Eyry of the Eagle," a book of photographic art by Grand Lake resident Dale Fisher, has just been released. The coffee table-size volume was published by The Elk Marsh Foundation, with financial support from the First of America Bank Corp. The book has been designated as the official sesqui-centennial book of the State of Michigan.

"Michigan" contains 65 full-color photographs of outdoor scenes from all corners of the state, including three photographs from the Chelsea area. Each of the book's eight sections also contains a short poetic narrative, provided by Terry Snowday.

The photographs in "Michigan" share aspects of the state's remaining wilderness that few of its citizens are ever privileged to see first-hand. Fisher is a naturalist and an artist who's love and respect for the land permeates his work.

Beyond this, Fisher's book has a unique perspective. For the past 20 years Fisher has worked from an open helicopter. In fact, Fisher is probably the world's only photographer who works exclusively from a helicopter. Exposed to all kinds of weather in all seasons, his work has captured the state's rawness, remoteness, and breathtaking natural beauty. Some of his most pensive photographs were taken at dawn or just before dusk—times of day that demand the most exacting skill.

The book's subtitle was borrowed from Longfellow's poem Song of Hiawatha: "Found these legends and traditions in the eyry of the eagle."

Longfellow's original spelling of the word "eyry" was retained, as a tribute to Michigan's noble heritage.

"Michigan" is Fisher's second book of photographic art. His earlier book, "Detroit," showcased the state's largest city.

An Ann Arbor native, Fisher first became interested in photography while he was in junior high school. After professional training as a Navy photographer and service in the Korean War, he returned to Ann Arbor where he resumed his career in commercial photography. Since 1965 he has maintained the Dale Fisher Gallery, which deals primarily in limited-edition prints of his own photographic art.

Fisher suspects that photography is still an unsung form of art in the minds of some people. He points out, however, that "An artist is an artist, whether working with a brush or a knife or a chisel or a camera."

Fisher is a former Chelsea resident. His daughter and her husband, Kun and David Bulson, live on Conway Rd.

Historic Calendar Features Great Lakes Lighthouses

The Historical Society of Michigan recently announced its 1987 calendar, "Lights of the Great Lakes." Featuring a pen and ink drawing by artist Leo Kuschel of Taylor, the calendar draws attention to the colorful maritime history of the Great Lakes and the lonely sentinels that have marked the routes for sailors since the early 18th century.

According to Tom Jones, executive director of the Historical Society of Michigan, this is its fourth lighthouse calendar. The Society is Michigan's state-wide, non-profit, membership-supported organization for the promotion and publication of Michigan's history. This calendar is its major yearly fund-raiser. He adds, "that the Society is particularly pleased to feature the work of Leo Kuschel whose own family heritage includes ancestors who called the Lakes. Leo's work," Jones feels, "reflects the lure of the Lakes and his love of their legends and lore."

The "Lights of the Great Lakes" 1987 calendar includes lights on all the Great Lakes and in the states of Indiana, Wisconsin, New York, Ohio, as well as Michigan and Ontario. From Copper Harbor in the northern end of the Great Lakes chain to Toronto in the east, the "Lights of the Great Lakes" calendar covers the exciting breadth of the waters that have been the key element in the region's history and development.

The calendar is available directly from the Historical Society of Michigan, 2137 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor 48104, at $7.44 (includes postage and handling plus Michigan state sales tax). Non-Michigan orders are $7.24.

Seven CHS Students Make Finals of Math Competition

Seven Chelsea High school students have reached the finals of the 13th annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition. Juniors Patrick Gustine, Stephen Radant, Charles Hoener and Jeff Waldyke, and seniors Kim Clutter, Steve Perry and Marcus Fletcher finished in the top five percent of more than 25,000 high school students who took the first test Oct. 8. The second phase of the competition will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 10.

The competition is sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America and is designed to promote wide interest in math, focus attention on the necessity for math training in many professions and trades, and to identify and provide scholarships for capable math students in Michigan.

According to Chelsea High Math Chair Vincent Brumfiel, Chelsea had 105 students compete in the exam.

"We are pleased to have seven finalists," Brumfiel said.

"We are also pleased that we had several students who scored well on the exam and will return to represent Chelsea High school in the 1987 competition."

The Chelsea finalists each received a certificate recognizing the achievement.

The approximately 100 winners of the competition will be honored at the Awards Program to be held at Michigan State University on Saturday, March 7. About half these winners will receive college scholarships. Last year's awards totaled $18,000.

The competition funds are made possible by contributions from the Arco Corp., Burroughs Corp., Ford Motor Co., Michigan Bell, Kuhlman Corp., Upjohn Co., and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Scouts Start Christmas Tree Sale

Cub Scout families from North school's Pack No. 426 and South school's Pack No. 446 are hard at work on their annual "Christmas Tree Sale."

This sale is extremely important to the Cub Scout program in Chelsea as it has provided 60 to 80 percent of the operational funds needed in the past. Scouting in Chelsea is undergoing a tremendous growth spurt. There are 135 Cub Scouts this year as compared to 90 last year.

An effort has been made this year to find top quality trees at reasonable prices, and the trees are beautiful. There is a wide range of sizes in blue spruce, white spruce, and scotch pine. There are 600 trees to choose from. Each tree has been individually priced, resulting in a broad range of prices. All trees have been dipped to prevent needle loss.

Cub Scouts are selling these trees on the lot just north of McDonald's. The lot will be open weekdays from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and on Sundays from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Galens Tag Days Slated for 59th Year

Galens Medical Society, a service organization of University of Michigan medical students, will be sending its members to street corners and shopping malls in the Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti areas Dec. 5 and 6 for the 59th annual Galens Tag Days Holiday Drive.

One hundred percent of contributions support projects to aid sick and needy children in Washtenaw county during Christmas and throughout the year.

The Galens will be distributing the traditional red and green tags to raise funds for the Galens Children's Workshop at C. S. Mott Children's Hospital, where hospitalized children can temporarily escape their illnesses and play in a supervised learning environment. Each year the Galens sponsor a Christmas party for the kids at Mott, complete with Santa and presents.

In addition, the Galens provide assistance to support groups for sick children, help send them to summer camps and provide equipment and books for the education and recreation of special children. Last year, the Society made a donation toward the Ronald McDonald in Ann Arbor, which provides accommodations for parents of hospitalized children.

The Galens society also sponsors health fairs, provides camp physicals for needy children, health examinations for Special Olympics participants and organizes several Red Cross blood drives each year.

The first Galens Tag Days drive in 1927 raised $1,000 to help support the Galens Children's Workshop. Last year, the street drive raised more than $70,000.

The Galens do not fund administrative expenses. All donations go directly to support sick and needy children.

Donations may be sent to: Galens Medical Society, FM419 Mott Children's Hospital, Ann Arbor 48109.

Young, Talented Team Starts Wrestling Season

Chico High school wrestling coach Kerry Kargel says the team's season will be the best yet.

There are just three returning seniors, Lee Durham, Bob Bogdanos and Bryan Kidd, although they are expected to be three very good wrestlers.

In addition, there are five juniors, 14 sophomores and 12 freshmen on the team.

Four freshmen will be in the starting lineup.

Kargel said the team will have to be ready to have the best of the season.

One of the key elements is the performance of the freshmen. We have several freshmen who are not typical wrestling wrestlers and have the potential to be outstanding. But they will have to be outstanding.

Five To Compete At State Swim Meet

Four Chico swimmers and a diver are scheduled to participate in this week-end's state meet at Grand Rapids Junior College.

The 200-medley relay team of Susan Schramm, Sharon Colombo, Karen Gray and Helen Jaeger qualified for the meet and the end of the season.

In addition, Schramm will compete in the 50 and 100 freestyle races and coach Mike Keeler said she is aiming to finish in the top six in each event.

Colombo has also qualified in the 100 backstroke.

Deanna Zangara, who was scheduled to compete in the regional diving meet yesterday, should also make the trip. She will be competing against the top 30 divers in the state and is aiming for the top 12, Keeler said.

The alternate relay team for the meet includes Suzanne Cooper, Tami Harris, Jennifer Anderson and Christine Young.

If we can finish in the top 10, it would be a great accomplishment," Keeler said. There will be approximately 25 teams represented, he said.

The preliminaries began Friday at 2 p.m. with the finals following Saturday at 3 p.m.

DRIVING FOR TWO POINTS in the annual Blue-Gold game is senior co-captain Mark Barco. Barco will be counted on heavily when the season begins this Friday night at home against Brookings Columbia Central. Defending a senior Jeff Harvey.

AMERICAN INDIAN STUDY: Mrs. Hamilton's third grade class at South school holds up the Indian masks, instruments, peace pipe, pottery, and jewelry which Collette Nidermeyer, mother of third grader Nicole Nidermeyer, brought to show the children. Mrs. Nidermeyer is a buyer for an import company and on several trips to Mexico and Central America she has acquired these items that are either real antiques or replicas of items used by native tribes in those areas. They are made with such things as tree trunks and acorn shells. The study of these artifacts tied in with the class' study of American Indians and was doubly relevant because of the proximity to Thanksgiving. Shown in the picture are, in front of the table, from left, Laura Koenigster (with mask), Ryan Gaudin, Andy Frost (with mask), Doreen McLaughlin (with mask), Ruth Nussliker, Jeremy Bowers; middle row, Jamie Felicit, Tracey Smith, Sarah Smith, Chrissy Mielke; back row, Remy Carter, Kevin Griffin, Nicole Nidermeyer, Annie Turpeita, Autumn Allen (with mask), Carrie Ross, Lisa Beard, Sara Walters, Shelly Kruger, and Sarah Mielke.

Vo-Ed Consortium To Host Open House

The South and West Washtenaw Consortium is hosting an open house for all interested community members on Thursday, Dec. 4, between 6:30 and 8 p.m. This event will showcase the newly-opened Pleasant Lake Technical Education Center, located at 11700 Pleasant Lake Rd.

The South and West Consortium operates vocational education programs for juniors and seniors in the Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan, and Saline School Districts. The Pleasant Lake Technical Education Center houses several "one of a kind" programs, and is centrally located to the five participating school districts. All together, the Consortium offers 15 different vocational classes, located throughout the districts.

The open house will include live demonstrations by students, door prizes, and the opportunity to view displays of many of the vocational classes offered by the Consortium. Student support services available in the areas of Special Needs, Job Placement, JTPA, and Co-operative Education will also be represented. Refreshments will be provided, courtesy of the Consortium's Food Service Program.

Festival of Lessons & Carols Slated at Ann Arbor Church

A traditional part of the holiday season is the Festival of Lessons & Carols held at St. Andrew's church in Ann Arbor. This year's festival, the 27th annual, departs from previous years in that it will be held on Sunday evening, Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m., rather than on Sunday morning as in the past.

This festival is based on the famous service held at King's College, Cambridge on Christmas Eve, and begins with the singing of "Once in Royal David's City," first by a boy treble, then by the choir, and finally by the entire congregation.

The lessons, read by various members of the congregation, tell the story of God's dealings with Man, from the Fall of Adam, through Old Testament prophecy, to the birth of Christ. The carols and hymns reflect the story told in the lessons.

The Festival will feature the adult and junior choirs of St. Andrew's, directed by organist and choirmaster Thomas Strode. A reception, hosted by the adult choir, will follow the service.

While the service is open to all, free of charge, there will be an offering taken to benefit the Special Music Fund of St. Andrew's.

Preparation Is Long, Costly Trail to America's Cup Match

With the America's Cup campaign underway since early October, separate elimination rounds for the Australian "defenders" and the international cast of "challengers" will determine which boats will race for the world's most prestigious yachting trophy.

The longest, and perhaps the hardest, campaign is to battle through the elimination tournament, in which races come to matter more and more over the four-month preliminary period.

The action is kept strictly within the two brackets.

"Defenders" never meet "challengers" until the America's Cup Match.

The organizations behind the boats prove especially vital in enabling both crew and equipment to be at their best in a variety of conditions over the four months—not an easy task on foreign soil and under the eyes of the world.

Self-Contained Entities

The logistics of feeding and housing the crews and support staff, of maintaining and repairing the boats, and of cutting and sewing new sails, will test each syndicate's resources.

What if a boat loses a mast? The rules may allow only a single lay day to find a replacement, step it in the hull and tune it with the rigging.

This kind of crisis management is precisely what a syndicate exists to provide, he explained.

Ample reserves of materials, well-organized procedures, leadership for analysis and decision-making during the ongoing competition—these are the elements of a successful syndicate.

Each must be a self-contained entity, "unfappable in the face of enormous distractions."

Everybody is involved

Everyone will have a job, or two, or maybe three. For instance, the crew doesn't just "sail the boat"—it repairs and maintains her as well.

Syndicates travel with portable machine shops in ships' cargo containers, so that the work can proceed around the clock.

Most syndicates will also have extensive photographic facilities to enable them to film and analyze each afternoon's race by the evening, in order to check their own (or an opponent's) sail trim.

Of course, when a syndicate can afford to purchase an entire dockside site and housing compound, as America II did nearly three years ago, the distractions of being a foreign challenger are somewhat lessened but a great deal more costly, putting more pressure on the syndicate's fundraising efforts.

Syndicates have prepared for years in hopes of having the opportunity to race against the Australians.

Only one boat will actually get that chance.

To complicate matters, the weather off Perth will change over the four-month period, making the choice of boat design—long and heavy for strong winds and seas, or shorter and more maneuverable for variable conditions—both crucial and seemingly without solution.

The trials for the challengers are administered by the "challenger of record."

A single syndicate is deputized to organize the tournament.

The Aga Khan-backed Yacht Club Costa Smeralda of Italy has been selected by the defending Royal Perth Yacht Club for this role.

The format is a round-robin series of races so that all the foreign yachts may face each other.

In each succeeding stage, the results will carry more weight in the ultimate standings, so a winner may emerge in the latter days whose record at midpoint was not necessarily outstanding.

The Scorecard

For example, in the preliminary round-robin trials for challengers, each race was worth one point.

During the second series of round-robin races, which began Nov. 2-19, each race counted for five points.

During the third round-robin series, conducted Dec. 2-19, 12 points will be awarded to the winner of each race.

The four leading point-getters in these three rounds earn the right to compete in the semi-final round, scheduled Dec. 26-Jan. 7.

The two leading semi-finalists will compete in the finals to determine which challenger will race against the Australian defender, selected through a similar process of elimination races.

The Royal Perth Yacht Club will administer the "defense trials" between the four Australian contenders for that honor, while Yacht Club Costa Smeralda oversees the "challenger trials."

Human Interest Sideights

Naturally, with an event as charged with glamour and action as America's Cup, some of the people involved seem larger-than-life.

The cast of characters among the challengers and defenders is more intriguing than many fictional characters.

There is the chief backer of the Italian effort, the host of the challenge trials, Prince Karim Aga Khan IV, an Islamic religious leader whose father married American movie star Rita Hayworth, and a 12-meter fanatic.

There are two French brothers, Marc and Yves Pajot, competing against each other.

Marc's controversially-named "French Kiss" is so far winning this particular sibling rivalry.

There are the United States skippers, each eager to be the one who brings back the famed "Cup."

There's also Alan Bond, former sign painter, now multi-millionaire, who after 12 years of pursuing the "Cup" captured it from the United States during 1983, breaking the longest winning streak in sports history—132 years!

For his daughter's recent wedding, Bond minted a gold coin with bride and groom's faces on opposite sides.

America II Personalities

America II has its share of illustrious personalities.

Chairman Richard M. DeVos is co-founder and chief executive officer of the Amway Corporation, one of the world's largest direct merchandising companies.

William Packer, vice-chairman and general manager of the America II Challenge, is chairman of Seaview Petroleum Company, an 80,000-barrel per day petroleum refining installation in Pennsylvania.

Ted Turner, chief executive officer of Turner Broadcasting Systems and skipper of "Courageous" in the successful 1977 America's Cup defense, serves on America II's board of directors, as does journalist William F. Buckley, Jr., and Emil Mossbacher, Jr., another former America's Cup defender.

Serving as an honorary chairman for America II is former United States President Gerald R. Ford.

With each syndicate assembling its own group of personalities and backers, the America's Cup races have been a catalyst for a host of legendary tales.

In fact, America's Cup has had more than its share of espionage cases, involving frogmen, piloted planes, aerial photography and surveillance.

Played against a backdrop of beautiful people, psychological warfare, and rules protests, America's Cup, more than ever before, is provoking passions and providing the world with rousing entertainment during the 1986-87 interlude.

JOHN KOLIUS

Skipper J. Kolius Is Helmsman for America II Boat

John Kolius will serve as skipper of America II.

He was the helmsman most feared by the Australia II crew during the 1983 America's Cup competition.

As skipper of the 10-year-old Courageous, he narrowly missed the opportunity to defend the America's Cup, and the Aussies—well, you know the story.

Kolius is back. He has a new boat, and the Australians are on record saying that he and America II, which he skips, will be their top competition for the 1987 America's Cup.

Kolius has sailed since he was five years old.

Since that time, he has earned a long and growing list of sailing honors.

He placed first in class at the 1984 Bermuda Race.

He's the two-time J-24 World Champion.

The 1976 Olympic silver medalist in sailing, a 1980 Sears Cup winner, the 1971 Mallory Cup victor, 1980 Champion of Champions winner and a past first-place finisher in the Chicago-Mackinac race, he placed second over-all in the 1984 North American One-Ton championships.

The 34-year-old helmsman of America II is president of Ulmer-Kolius, a world-wide sailmaking firm based in Norwalk, Conn.

He is a member of the Houston

Yacht Club, Lakewood, Noreton and New York Yacht Clubs.

A native of Houston and alumnus of the University of Houston, Kolius resides in New Canaan, Conn., with his wife Donna and their son and daughter.

AMERICAN INDIAN STUDY: Mrs. Hamilton's third grade class at South school holds up the Indian masks, instruments, peace pipe, pottery, and jewelry which Celeste Niedermeier, mother of third grader Nicole Niedermeier, brought to show the children. Mrs. Niedermeier is a buyer for an import company and on several trips to Mexico and Central America she has acquired these items that are either real antiques or replicas of items used by native tribes in these areas. They are made with such things as tree trunks and armadillo skins. The study of these artifacts tied in with the class' study of American Indians and was doubly relevant because of the proximity to Thanksgiving. Shown in the picture are, in front of the table, from left, Laura Koenigster (with mask), Ryan Gammeter, Andy Frost (with mask), Damon McLaughlin (with mask), Beth Neundtler, Jeremy Bowers; middle row, Jamie Policht, Tracey Dulek, Sarah Swank, Charley Merkel; back row, Rosary Carter, Kevin Griffin, Nicole Niedermeier, Annie Terpstra, Autumn Allen (with mask), Carrie Bass, Lisa Beard, Sara Walters, Shelly Kruger, and Sarah Burkel.

Vo-Ed Consortium To Host Open House

The South and West Washtenaw Consortium is hosting an open house for all interested community members on Thursday, Dec. 4, between 6:30 and 8 p.m. This event will showcase the newly-opened Pleasant Lake Technical Education Center, located at 11700 Pleasant Lake Rd.

The South and West Consortium operates vocational education programs for juniors and seniors in the Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan, and Saline School Districts. The Pleasant Lake Technical Education Center houses several "one of a kind" programs, and is centrally located to the five participating school districts. All together, the Consortium offers 15 different vocational classes, located throughout the districts.

The open house will include live demonstrations by students, door prizes, and the opportunity to view displays of many of the vocational classes offered by the Consortium. Student support services available in the areas of Special Needs, Job Placement, JTPA, and Co-operative Education will also be represented. Refreshments will be provided, courtesy of the Consortium's Food Service Program.

The public is invited to learn

Festival of Lessons & Carols Slated at Ann Arbor Church

A traditional part of the holiday season is the Festival of Lessons & Carols held at St. Andrew's church in Ann Arbor. This year's festival, the 27th annual, departs from previous years in that it will be held on Sunday evening, Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m., rather than on Sunday morning as in the past.

This festival is based on the famous service held at King's College, Cambridge on Christmas Eve, and begins with the singing of "Once in Royal David's City," first by a boy treble, then by the choir, and finally by the entire congregation.

The lessons, read by various members of the congregation, tell the story of God's dealings with Man, from the Fall of Adam, through Old Testament prophecy, to the birth of Christ. The carols and hymns reflect the story told in the lessons.

The Festival will feature the adult and junior choirs of St. Andrew's, directed by organist and choirmaster Thomas Strode. A reception, hosted by the adult choir, will follow the service.

While the service is open to all, free of charge, there will be an offering taken to benefit the Special Music Fund of St. Andrew's.

Chelsea Village Council Proceedings

November 18, 1986
Regular Session.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Satterthwaite.

Present: President Satterthwaite, Clerk Rosentreter and Assistant Village Manager Fahrner.

Absent: Village Manager Weber.

Trustees Present: Steele, Radloff, Kanten, Bentley and Merkel.

Trustees Absent: Boham.

Motion by Radloff, supported by Kanten, to approve the minutes of the November 4, 1986 meeting as submitted. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

A public hearing was held on an application by George and Donna Palmer to rezone RS-3 Two-Family Residential property at 312 S. Main Street to C-5 Central Business District. George Palmer discussed the proposed use of the subject property. A letter from Gus Steger regarding the rezoning was read. (Letter attached to these Minutes as Appendix "A").

A letter from Lee Fahrner in answer to the Steger letter was read. Letter attached to these Minutes as Appendix "B". A letter from the Planning Commission was received recommending that the property be rezoned.

RESOLUTION
BE IT RESOLVED, AND IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, that the Village Council of the Village of Chelsea does hereby adopt, approve and promulgate Ordinance No. 79 PP, AMENDMENT TO ORDINANCE NO. 79 TO REZONE A CERTAIN PROPERTY FROM RS-3 TWO-FAMILY RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT TO C-5 CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICT—PART OF THE SOUTHEAST QUARTER OF SECTION 12, T2S, SYLVAN TOWNSHIP, and the clerk of said Village be and is hereby directed to cause the same to be published in the Village of Chelsea, in The Chelsea Standard, or any other paper of general circulation, and otherwise record said instrument within the Book of Ordinances.

Motion by Steele, supported by Radloff, to adopt the above resolution as read. Roll call: Ayes—Bentley, Radloff, Kanten, Merkel and Steele. Nays—None. Motion carried. Resolution adopted. (Ordinance No. 79 PP attached to these Minutes as APPENDIX "C"). In adopting the resolution, the Council requested the Planning Commission to take special notice in their site plan review process of noise, lighting and buffering questions raised in the Steger letter.

A public hearing was held on an application by Rogar Development Co. to rezone C-3 Highway Service zoned property at S. Main Street and Brown Drive to C-4 Restricted Commercial District.

A letter from the Planning Commission was received recommending denial of the zoning change because rezoning of the property would not be consistent with the adopted Master Plan and that C-3 zoning afforded reasonable use of the property.

Motion by Bentley, supported by Radloff, to deny the zoning change, as petitioned by Rogar Development Company, because said zoning change would be inconsistent with the adopted Master Plan and the present zoning does afford reasonable use of the property. Roll call: Ayes—Bentley, Radloff, Kanten and Satterthwaite. Nays—Steele.

Abstain—Merkel (Conflict of Interest). Motion denied.

A proposed zoning ordinance amendment to regulate adult bookstores, etc., was discussed.

Motion by Kanten, supported by Steele, to send the proposed ordinance to the Planning Commission. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

A resident of Porath Apartments gave a letter to President Satterthwaite with a list of residents of Porath Apartments who have paid for trash pickup. The list will be given to the Village Manager with a final decision pertaining to reimbursement to be made as soon as possible.

Luther Kusterer discussed the covering of the meters during the Christmas shopping season.

North East Street storm sewer was discussed by Assistant Village Manager Fahrner. No action was taken.

The following proposals for financial advisory services for the up-coming $2,000,000 bond issue were received:

First of Michigan, $5,250 plus out-of-pocket expenses.

Bendzinski & Co., $5,000 plus out-of-pocket expenses.

Motion by Bentley, supported by Steele, to retain First of Michigan Corporation as financial advisor for the $2,000,000 bond issue for sewer plant improvements. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

President Satterthwaite submitted the following names for appointment to the Chelsea Economic Development Corporation:

Dan Murphy, 6 year term.

Dale Schumann, 6 year term.

Paul Schaub, 6 year term.

Jack Merkel, 6 year term.

Motion by Radloff, supported by Kanten, to approve the above appointments to the Chelsea Economic Development Corporation. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

Proposal from the Municipal Insurance Pool to increase liability limits from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 was discussed. No action was taken.

1987 Washtenaw Development E.D.S. Contract was discussed.

Motion by Kanten, supported by Bentley, to table the Washtenaw Development E.D.S. Contract until the next meeting of December 2, 1986. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION RE: PARKING METERS
RESOLVED, that pursuant to Ordinance No. 83, Section 5, parking meters in the parking meter zones will not be operated between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. from December 8, 1986 to December 26, 1986.

Motion by Radloff, supported by Merkel, to adopt the above resolution as read. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried. Resolution adopted.

Motion by Bentley, supported by Radloff, to appoint Frederick A. Weber as Liaison to the Census Bureau for the 1990 Census and Lee M. Fahrner as Assistant Liaison. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

Motion by Bentley, supported by Radloff, to authorize payment of bills as submitted. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

Motion by Radloff, supported by Kanten, to adjourn. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned.

Evelyn Rosentreter,
Village Clerk,
Village of Chelsea.

Just because you live in a wealthy neighborhood, it doesn't mean you are immune from health problems caused by toxic waste. According to International Wildlife magazine, a study by the Council on Economic Priorities found that middle-income neighborhoods, not the poorest neighborhoods, have the highest levels of toxic waste and related cancer deaths. One of the worst places to live is Short Hills, N.J. with an average household income of $91,000. The best place is probably Beverly Hills, Calif., which has virtually no toxic waste.

Christmas Tree Selection, Cutting Can Be Fun-Filled Family Outing

The excitement of tramping through crunchy, new-fallen snow at one of the state's tree farms in search of the perfect Christmas tree can be an invigorating way to start the holiday season, according to AAA Michigan.

More than 568,000 trees will be available this season—6 percent more than last year—at the 71 farms listed in AAA Michigan's 1986 Cut-Your-Own Guide.

Scotch pines may be purchased for as low as $4 while bigger trees, such as Douglas fir and blue spruce, may run up to $50. Prices at tree farms charging by height run from $1.50 to $3.50 per foot. More than a dozen varieties are available for cutting.

Pre-cut trees may be purchased at tree farms and wreaths and other greens are available at 28 facilities. Fifteen places will reserve trees.

Many farms add amenities to make the day even more festive. Wreath rides are available at 26 farms, hot beverages may be purchased at 21 and food is for sale at 18. Some have gift shops, entertainment and visits with Santa Claus.

AAA Michigan offers the following advice for persons planning to visit a cut-your-own farm this year.

Bring a hand saw. Nearly all tree farms provide saws, but supplies may be limited during peak cutting times. Axes are not allowed.

Saw the trunk close to the ground and shake the tree in the field to remove old needles.

Norway, white and black spruce and Balsam fir trees should be cut when temperatures are above 40 degrees to help hold their needles. Colder temperatures could cause those trees to drop their needles more easily than pines or Douglas firs.

Take some twine. Forty-one farms will wrap the trees but it is advisable to have some twine.

The base of the tree should be tied to the front of the car to help the tree withstand the wind during transport.

The tree should be placed in a water-filled stand immediately after arriving home. If more than two days have passed since the tree was felled, cut an inch or two off the base before putting the tree up. Check the stand's water level daily.

Place the tree in a cool area, preferably away from open flames and heating ducts. Inspect all electrical wires to be placed on the tree for frayed cords, damaged lights or bare spots. Never overload electrical outlets.

Dial-A-Garden Topics Listed

The following is a schedule of Dial-A-Garden, the system of pre-recorded daily gardening tips sponsored by the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service.

The system is in operation 24 hours per day, 7 days per week.

Topics for the next week are as follows:

Wednesday, Dec. 3—"Grape Vine Wreath."
Thursday, Dec. 4—"Nature Christmas Cards."
Friday, Dec. 5—"Cyclamen."
Monday, Dec. 8—"Preventing Salt Injury/Plants."
Tuesday, Dec. 9—"Natural Christmas Tree."
Wednesday, Dec. 10—"Choosing a Christmas Tree."

ARLENE WARD of Stockbridge, possibly the oldest member of the Waterloo Historical Society, will be serving tea in the dining room of Waterloo Farm Museum at their Christmas Open House Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 6-7.

Christmas Open House Set at Farm Museum

Sights, sounds, and smells of Christmas-past will greet visitors at Waterloo Farm Museum's annual Open House, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 6 and 7, from 1 to 5 p.m. The event is sponsored by Waterloo Historical Society.

Yuletide carolers will perform in the mid-Victorian parlor around an old-fashioned, candle-bedecked Christmas tree, flanked by antique toys and dolls. Music from an 1880's reed organ, and a dulcimer minstrel will also be featured.

The essence of fresh cut pine, which festoons the house, will mingle with the tantalizing aroma of Christmas breads, plum pudding, and cookies, emanating from the kitchen.

The farmhouse shed has been converted into a Holiday Gift Shop, which will offer Museum-produced Christmas cards, note cards, cook books, and an abundance of locally crafted gift items.

The first 35 children attending the Open House will be given, free of charge, a wooden toy crafted by area wood carver Herman Hoffman.

Christmas will also be celebrated in the Society's log house, in the manner of a bygone age. Authentically costumed hosts will invite visitors to mullied cider and holiday cookies, while enjoying warmth from a real log burning in a 19th century stone fireplace.

Waterloo Farm Museum is located at 9800 Waterloo-Mumith Rd., Jackson county.

Dog Care Clinic Slated Dec. 9 By Humane Society

Attention all dog owners! A seminar designed especially for you is being offered by the Humane Society of Huron Valley. Don't miss this golden opportunity to increase your canine I.Q.!

Instructors from the Ann Arbor Dog Training Club will be on hand to give valuable tips on topics such as health care, feeding, grooming, housebreaking, obedience training, and dog breed characteristics. There will also be demonstrations by the instructors followed by a question and answer period.

The clinic will be held Tuesday, Dec. 9 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the HSHV Community Education Building, 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., Ann Arbor. It is free to the public but please, leave your pets at home.

Relevant pet care literature will also be available at no cost. For directions or more information phone the Education Department at 662-5545.

Christian Film Slated

Christian Film Ministries movie "The Life Story of Fanny Crosby" will be shown at Chelsea Community Hospital in the Woodland room at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 6. The public is welcome.

Pet Food Drive Will Help Animals At Humane Society

Don't miss a perfect opportunity to remember the animals at the Humane Society of Huron Valley this holiday season. Participate in the 10th annual Pet Food Drive co-sponsored by the Humane Society and the Ann Arbor Jaycees. All donations of pet food will help to feed thousands of animals at the shelter.

Starting Dec. 1 and continuing through Dec. 23, collection barrels will be placed at the front of participating grocery and pet stores. Shoppers are encouraged to purchase extra cans of pet food and deposit them in these barrels. Last year people in the community donated enough canned food to supplement the shelter animals' food supply for one year.

This is your chance to capture the spirit of the season and spread some cheer to many homeless animals. The following stores will provide collection barrels for interested shoppers.

Dexter - IGA Store.
Ann Arbor - Ann Arbor Pet Supply, Food and Drug Mart, all area Kroger Stores, Padare Lane Pet Supply, and Showerman's IGA.
Manchester - A & B Grocery.
Saline - J & C Store and Pets n' Things.

Community Christmas Sing Scheduled Dec. 9

An old-fashioned Community Christmas Sing has been planned by the Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship to, in the words of First United Methodist pastor Dr. Jerry Parker, "celebrate the season in song."

The event will be held Tuesday, Dec. 9 from 7 to 8 p.m. at the First United Methodist church at 128 Park St. People of all ages and any or no denominations are welcome. Families are urged to attend and bring their children.

The Methodist church's organist, Francis Ash, will accompany the singers who will sing a dozen Christmas carols. The words for the songs will be projected on a screen, reminiscent of Jerry Parker of "sing-alongs in old times." After the singing, one of the ministers will read the Bible Christmas story. The program should only last an hour although the Rev. Parker thinks that after it is over some of the participants may be inspired to be Christmas carolers.

The idea for the sing-along originated with Kurt Neumann, who suggested it to the Rev. Parker. For more than 50 years Neumann helped organize a similar event in Ann Arbor. Since moving to the Chelsea Methodist Retirement Home in 1975, he has tried to start the same tradition in Chelton. The idea that will be used for the singing are Neumann's that he made, "not in a week, but over several years."

Explaining his reasons for wanting to start the Christmas Sing, Neumann said, "It's a shame that young folks today don't sing the old-fashioned Christmas songs anymore. And they don't sing many in churches anymore either. What the Rev. Parker and I want to do is get across the idea that Christmas means more than 'What am I going to get?'"

The Rev. Parker took Neumann's idea of the Community Christmas Sing to the Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship and they agreed to sponsor it. This following consists of the pastors from most of the area's churches. Their current chair is St. Paul's minister, the Rev. Erwin Koen. The group meets on a regular basis, either at one of the member churches or at some place in the community. Their January meeting will be at the Chelsea Community Hospital where they will talk with staff social workers and psychiatrists about the role of ministers in the healing process. Their last meeting was with Police Chief McDonald and a representative from the sheriff's department to talk about how ministers can help with law enforcement.

The Ministerial Fellowship sponsors a number of ecumenical events during the year such as the Thanksgiving service held last week and the upcoming Festival of Lament and Carols. Last summer they organized a softball league in which six area churches participated, playing a 10-game season.

Both the Rev. Parker and Neumann hope the Community Sing will be added to the list of yearly events. It could alternate between churches, like the other services do, and if, after several years, it really caught on, it could be held at the high school. Neumann says he "appreciates the friendliness of the people around here," and if the event catches on he plans to donate his slides and all his information to the community.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
Call me a turncoat, call me an appeaser, but it's about time somebody leaped to the defense of Brian Hamilton. The Standard's beleaguered Sports Notes' columnist.

The atmosphere is positively charged with explosiveness. On the streets, Chelsea's most combustible citizens mull strategies for forcing Hamilton to loosen his vise-like grip on the columnist's tools of persuasion. Influence-peddlers, with an eye for opportunity and a taste for graft, smell blood and pounce. It's open season on dubious special interests, pro and con. Some call for force; I say, let cooler heads prevail.

The record is, if anything, controversial. But damning? To the scalp hunters, the challenge goes forth: show me the smoking gun! You won't find it in the cheerleader controversy. Not anyone bothered to check the possible accuracy of Hamilton's charges? That our cheerleaders might in fact be inept?

Attacking mud bog devotees would have understandably seemed a safer target, inasmuch as the typical mud bog enthusiast could be presumed too slow-witted for comprehension and counterforce. But neither Hamilton nor his defenders counted on the collective mania for the "sport"; that, somewhere in the teeming mass, literacy existed.

An ironic, though admittedly perverse tack took dead aim at deer hunters and Bo Schembechler, not equaling the two, exactly, but nevertheless making a strong case. Bucks and Buckeyes? It was a courageous stand, and if he weren't so adept at shielding his priv. cy, Hamilton might have paid dearly for it... with his life!

In the end, we are left with the impression of torment. Shall I take the easy way? Shall I pander? Or shall I tell truth, as I see it, no matter how bitter a pill to swallow?

Brian Hamilton has taken the latter path, and our lives are richer for it. May his "Sports Notes" always leave us laughing, always leave us grapples, for this is the muse's purpose: to inspire the best in his charges. God bless you, Brian!

Al Finn

To the Editor,
We have all heard of volunteers—they are the people who enter into a service of their own free will. They are people from different segments of our society, be it blue collar, white collar, male, female, old, young, able-bodied, handicapped and so the list could go on.

Today, I want to focus on a particular group of volunteers that I had the opportunity to observe and admire, the Village of Chelsea Fire Department. While on duty on the morning of Nov. 24, a call came in regarding a cave-in at the Lane Animal Hospital with a worker pinned under a slab of concrete. The Volunteer Fire Dept. was summoned to the emergency situation and they did so with the utmost of expertise, professionalism, dedication, and speed. These are men who are responding to calls that are highly dangerous and sometimes morbid and perhaps not always rewarding, especially in a monetary sense. What counts is how they feel in their hearts and the deep pride within themselves. Although, they are employed in other means of livelihood and are family men, yet when they are called upon to respond to a call, they do so with a meaningful purpose. I have learned the true meaning of volunteer and want to thank you for a job well done, simple words, at best but to find the proper terms could be impossible. Thank you, Bud Hanked, Dan Ellenwood, Doug Eder, Marv Schiller, Dave Longworth, Ish Picklesimer, Don Dettling, Bill Paul and Steve Jaskot, as well as the entire Fire Dept.

Donnie and Jamie Bollinger are to be commended for their assistance in response to this accident which could have proved to be a tragic event. Although this letter refers to an isolated incident, I have observed the Fire Dept. in other situations, in the relatively short period I have been with the Village Police Dept. and each time the same performance prevailed. Chelsea residents are extremely fortunate to have the services of a Volunteer Fire Dept. that are as extremely capable and professional as this one is.

SUFFERING THE HUMILIATION of another Ohio State loss to the University of Michigan on the gridiron Saturday, Nov. 22, North Elementary school Principal Bill Wescott, an avowed Ohio State fan, has a U of M bumper plate affixed to the front of his car as punishment for his loyalty. Harold Polzin does the dirty work. Did Bill really say, "Wait 'til next year"?

Sheriff's Dept. Upgrading Phone Service

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department has announced that it is undergoing a major telephone service change.

The department has selected to join the remainder of the county government facilities on the Michigan Bell Centrex V system. The telephone system change was made in order to improve over-all communications by improving initial telephone answering service to the general public, while providing upgraded user quality of the telephone service for department staff members.

It is intended there will be little effect to the average caller, although some temporary interruptions may occur.

Emergency numbers will remain as they are, yet it will now be possible to call directly into various divisions or sections within the sheriff's facility. Listed are several general public information points which may be reached through direct inward dialing: Emergency Only, 971-3911; Non-Emergency General Info, 971-8400; Administration, 971-4978; Detective Bureau, 971-7185.

CHINESE COOKS FOR A DAY, these seventh graders at Beach Middle school prepared an oriental meal for classmates as part of a study unit on China. The convention included a variety of vegetables, and the students even tried to make

FANFENG FU, a native of Beijing, China, recently visited the Beach Middle school seventh grade class to talk about her country and culture. It was her first visit to an American middle school. Since arriving in the United States last January she has been teaching English to foreign students at the University of Michigan and working toward a master's degree in linguistics. The youngsters recently concluded a study unit on China.
