St. Mary's Honors Priest on 35th Anniversary of Ordination

The Rev. Fr. David Phillip Dupuis, priest of St. Mary's Catholic church celebrated the 35th anniversary of his ordination with a gala dinner given by his parishioners and attended by 365 people on Sunday, Dec. 14 at 1:30 p.m.

Father Dupuis studied for the priesthood in Rome, Italy, and was ordained there on Dec. 8, 1951. His first mass was performed in Rome at the side chapel of St. John the Lateran. When people heard a first mass was being celebrated, they hurried to the church because it is considered an honor to receive communion from a priest performing his first mass. In this way, Father Dupuis' first congregation was formed.

Sunday's dinner was hosted by parish council president, Pat Zangara and her husband Al, and parish finance chair, Ed Comeau and his wife, Anne. Master of ceremonies was Francis Grohner, vice-president of the parish council. The dinner started with a welcome by Pat Zangara who read a poem that she had composed for the occasion.

Three visiting priests commented on Father Dupuis' career; the Rev. Fr. William Meyer of St. John's Provincial Seminary in Plymouth, the Rev. Fr. Robert Balser of Grand Rapids, and the Rev. Fr. Jerry Odbert of St. Ignatius High school in Cleveland, O. Two other priests sent letters of congratulations which were read; Bishop Kenneth Povish of the Lansing diocese, and Rev. Msgr. J. Warren Holleran of Menlo Park, Calif., who like the Rev. Meyer, was a classmate of Father Dupuis in Rome.

Entertainment was provided by B. J. and Kris Hohnke who sang five songs accompanied by LaVonne Harris on the piano. The Hohnkes sang "You Must Have Been a Beautiful Baby," "It Had To Be You," "Bells of St. Mary's," "I Believe," and "Goodnight Sweetheart," altering many of the words to make them funny or pertinent. They ended the set by leading the whole group in singing to Father Dupuis, "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

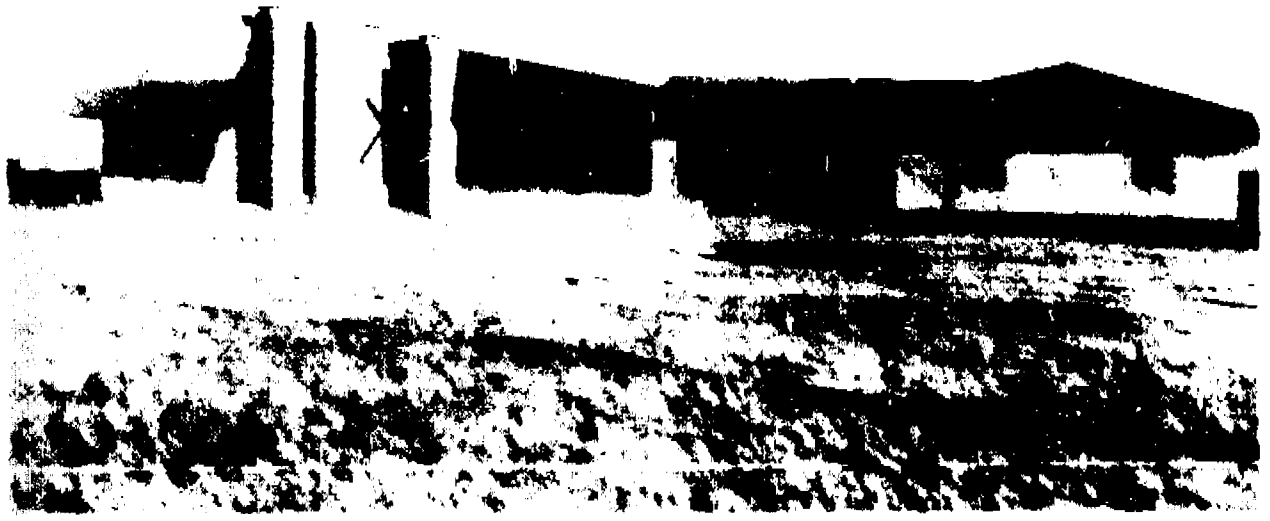

Sister Pat's Catechism Class presented Father Dupuis with an anniversary card which they designed and signed saying "It's not a Hallmark but it's the best we could send." Kathleen Chapman ended the formal part of the program by presenting Father Dupuis with $7,650 she collected from the congregation encased in a toy red Corvette so he would know the money was to buy a new car.

Guests at the event included members of the parish and their children, visiting dignitaries, and three area ministers, the Rev. and Mrs. Irwin Koch, the Rev. and Mrs. Jerry Beaumont, and the Rev. and Mrs. Ron Smeenge.

The dinner was held in the gymnasium of St. Mary's school on Congdon with one of the classrooms opened up to hold the overflow. The meal was catered by church parishioner, Micki Hurst and included roast beef, ham, turkey, buttered corn, mashed potatoes with two kinds of gravy, pistachio salad, and a giant decorated anniversary cake.

Father Dupuis has been at St. Mary's since 1972 and his parishioners hope he stays for many more.

DEDICATION SERVICES for the new wing at Our Savior Lutheran church on M-52 were held last Sunday. The new wing is the right portion of the building. Congregation members did a substantial portion of the work, under the guidance of Construction Manager Larry Thomas of Laborers for Christ, Columbus, Ind.

Strip Malls May Change Look of South Chelsea

A year from now, the intersection of Old US-12 and M-52 may look more like the North Campus area in Ann Arbor than Chelsea.

If all plans come to fruition, two shopping malls will be located virtually across the street from each other.

Rome Papo, 27, of Ann Arbor, who first announced his plans for a strip mall between Chelsea State Road and the community fairgrounds on Old US-12 almost exactly a year ago, said last week that there's "no doubt in my mind," that construction on the project will begin early next year. He said he hopes to have site plans ready for the Village Planning Commission's next meeting Jan. 13.

Mike Kennedy, manager of Polly's Market, said he is also on the verge of submitting his site plans for a mall to the commission. It would be located next to Polly's behind Great Lakes Federal Savings.

It's possible both men could have their plans on the planning commission's agenda for January, although Kennedy said the February meeting is more likely for him.

Both parcels are zoned correctly for the projects.

A year ago, Papo secured approval from Chelsea's Economic Development Corp. to issue bonds for the project. Bonds issued through the EDC, but financed by a standard financial institution, are tax-exempt, making them more attractive for investors.

By financing through the EDC, Papo should also be able to get financing for about two percent below the prime rate.

At the time of his announcement last year, Papo was planning a 66,000-square-foot strip mall. The project has since ballooned to 100,000 square feet and he said virtually every square inch of his property will be taken up by the mall. He said it will be approximately half the size of Westgate Mall on the west side of Ann Arbor.

"I have 70,000 square feet committed (to renters)," Papo said last week.

"My major tenant will use 50,000 square feet."

Papo said his major tenant is a business similar to a K-Mart, but smaller. He declined to name specifically any tenants until the agreements are all in writing.

Once construction begins, Chelsea Community Fair will lose its major parking area, conveniently located next to the east gate. People attending the fair will have to park elsewhere during the fair week.

"We have been letting them use the land this whole time," Papo said.

"I'm afraid, though, the tenants would scream if we allowed fair parking in the lot."

Kennedy plans an L-shaped, 46,000-square-foot mall.

"We've had more inquiries than we know what to do with," Kennedy said.

"Now it's a matter of choosing who we want in there. I'm still committed to giving Chelsea businesses the first shot. Then we can go to people in the outlying towns. We have people from Grass Lake, Manchester and Napoleon interested."

Kennedy said that the only "outside" business interested in locating is Perry Drugs or Revco Drugs.

Kennedy said he has slowly been ironing out the problems that have prevented him from submitting his site plans earlier. He said the village has made him prove that he will adequately be able to take care of storm water run-off generated by the mall's roof and lot.

"I hired an independent engineer to take care of that," Kennedy said.

He has also had to deal with the state highway department concerning curbs and driveways into the mall, since M-52 is a state road.

Kennedy said two construction companies are working on bids and that construction costs shouldn't be an obstacle to completing the project.

"I want to break ground next spring," Kennedy said.

Papo is a 1977 graduate of Chelsea High School and the son of Dr. Michael Papo of New York, who was instrumental in the development of Chelsea Community Hospital.

Papo manages several other retail-office complexes in southern Michigan, including two buildings in Ann Arbor's Research Park and Tecumseh Plaza Shopping Center.

Kennedy is a native of Jackson and has been manager of Polly's Market, which is owned by his family, for three years.

Rise in Landfill Rates Reflects Plans for Closing of Facility

Village of Chelsea is beginning to make plans for the closing of the village landfill on Western Rd. property in a separate article.

New landfill rates will go into effect in January, and they reflect expenses associated with the closing of the facility. Village council approved the new rates at their regular meeting Dec. 2.

Beginning in 1987, the village's electric fund has to be reimbursed for interest on the loan to construct the last cell at the landfill. That cell was built in 1984 at a cost of $316,000, Weber said.

Interest charges will be $11,000 for each of the last three years of the landfill.

In addition, beginning in the 1987-88 fiscal year, the village will sock away $25,000 a year through 1991. Those funds are earmarked for expenses associated with monitoring the landfill once it's closed. By law, the landfill has to be monitored for 10 years, Weber said.

According to Assistant Village Manager Lee Fabner, it will cost $6,000 per year to monitor the ground-water.

From 1987 through 1991, the village will be reimbursing the electric fund $55,000 per year to pay back the loan to construct the last cell.

Weber said he didn't know what the village would decide to do with its garbage once the landfill is closed.

"Anything we do will be expensive," Weber said.

"We don't have many options. We could try to put a cell at the same location, we could purchase more property (for another landfill), or we could get out of the business completely."

"If we got out of it completely, the question is, where would the garbage be dumped. The other existing landfills, including Ann Arbor, are beginning to put restrictions on who can dump there. Jackson's landfill is only for Jackson county. The only other landfill close by is in the northeast corner of the county."

Weber said that whatever option was chosen, the village would continue to provide emergency response service. However, the village would not be responsible for the cost of the service.

"A lot of it depends on future plans," Weber said.

"We don't know for sure when the site will be completely filled, and we don't know how much we'll spend to cap the site. It seems like government requirements change every year."

Under the new landfill rates, com-

Large Dog Stops Traffic On Cavanaugh

A woman complained to Chelsea police that a "very large," overly-friendly dog was blocking traffic on Cavanaugh Lake Rd. between Conway Rd. and the village limits Monday morning.

The woman said that when she stopped her car the dog came up to her window. When she rolled down her window and tried to see who the dog belonged to, the dog tried to crawl into the car with her.

Chelsea police notified the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department about the dog. As of press time it was not known what became of the dog, which was described as "probably a mastiff."

Our Look Is New, But Paper's The Same

If you think The Chelsea Standard looks a little different this week, you're right.

The Standard has changed its format.

From now on our weekly newspaper will have six columns on each page rather than seven.

The change reflects a national trend. Advertisers are using what is called a Standard Advertising Unit to create their ads. That method is designed for a six-column format. Those national ads look a little out of place in a seven-column format.

For the average reader, the change won't mean much. Since the columns are wider, many photographs will be larger. Regular features, such as "View from the Clocktower," and "Sports Notes" may seem a little shorter.

For advertisers, the change may seem like a big deal, but it really isn't.

Suppose, for example, an advertiser requests a two-column, 5-inch ad.

An ad that size will be slightly larger than a two-column, 5-inch ad in the old format because the columns are wider. And it will cost slightly more in the new format because we have just as much space to fill on each page.

However, the advertiser always has the option of running a slightly shorter ad for the same price. In this case an ad 4 1/2 inches high would cost about the same as a 5-inch ad in the old format. And the ad will cover approximately the same number of square inches, again because the columns are wider.

The school's first Christmas music spectacular with 11 choirs, bands and orchestras performing 25 Christmas and wintry numbers will begin tonight in the high school gymnasium. Directors are Tamara Barbret, Warren Meyer, Carol Walls Palmer and William W. Gourley.

Chelsea's Village Council voted unanimously last Tuesday to buy into the Detroit Edison Company's new Belle River power plant, but will have to wait until spring to find out whether the deal goes through for sure. If it all happens, Chelsea will own a share of the Belle River generating plant and its transmission lines. The plant, which will burn low-sulfur coal imported from Montana, is scheduled to start up in 1984.

Officer of the Year in the Chelsea Police Department is patrolman Rick Walters, who was cited by Chief Robert Asello especially for his detective work.

Consumers Power Co., which sells power to the Village of Chelsea has requested a wholesale rate increase, which may hike Chelsea's power bill up 18 percent. Chelsea has joined with eight other Michigan communities in forming the Michigan Public Power Rate Payers Association. Together, the communities hope to tackle the expensive and complicated task of opposing the increase, a procedure too vast for a single community to take on alone.

At the Dexter Invitational Saturday, Mark Montagne, captain of Chelsea's wrestling squad, continued on his winning way. A 15-2 decision, and two pins clinched the 113-pound championship for this senior, who placed third in state competition last season.

Chelsea police files contained some good news this week. Patrolman

McDougall was approached by a woman in Polly's parking lot to report that she had found $50 in cash on the corner of Main and South Sts. The police officer took her name and told her that she would be notified if anyone reported the money missing. The individual, who apparently dropped a bank envelope, reported the loss and the money was returned to her.

Treasury Report Shows Low Increase in Property Taxes
The Department of Treasury has reported that the increase in property taxes from 1982 to 1985 was the smallest percentage increase since 1945 although property taxes continue to be the largest source of government revenue, providing $5.50 billion to local governments.

Reports released indicate that property taxes made up 38.1 percent of total state and local taxes during fiscal year 1984, providing more revenue than state income and sales taxes combined.

A report entitled "Property Taxes in Michigan: Rates, Revenue and Relief," also noted that 1985, at valuations property taxes increased by 4.1 percent, or $129 million, over 1984, the fourth smallest percentage increase in property tax revenue since 1982.

The departmental report further noted that local governments' reliance on property taxes declined from 1975 through 1980, increased in 1981 through 1983 and declined again in 1984.

The report declared the 1984-85 increase occurred because of a simultaneous decrease in federal intergovernmental aid and state school aid and the relatively large increase in property tax revenue in 1981 and 1982.

The 1984 decline in school districts' reliance on property tax was due to an increase in state aid and stable property taxes, the report stated.

The property tax report indicated the 1985 average total property tax rate was 54.67 mills, compared to the 1984 rate of 53.86 mills.

The latest rate exceeds the previous peak of 53.86 mills in 1977. Property values, meanwhile, reached $166.2 billion, an increase of 3.4 percent over 1984. The 1985 state equalized value of residential property increased by only 2.7 percent.

The report also showed senior citizens benefited most from property tax subsidies in 1984. Nearly 57 percent of all property tax credits, $235 million, was paid out to seniors.

In total, 1.4 million Michigan homeowners, farmers and renters received property tax credits totaling $235 million.

The Treasury Department also released another report entitled "Income, Income Tax and Property Tax Credit Data by School District," presenting data from 1984 income tax returns showing income by district, average tax paid before and after credits, ratio of property tax credit claims to income tax returns and average property tax credits.

The report showed an average 1984 income of $23,384, with a before and after credit average tax of $1,229 and $1,019, respectively. The average property tax credit for the year was $463.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ever now and again we country folks are reminded that the world isn't as much passing us by as it is staying more than a few jumps ahead of us. Out here we are used to warming twice by firewood, once when we cut it and again when we burn it. And we figured we were really up to date when we got stoves and fireplace inserts with blowers and dampers and air controls that keep the heat in the house and not up the chimney.

But Clem Webster told the folks at the store Saturday night that a big item this holiday season is the fireplace fire. For folks that have other kinds of home heat, burning wood in fireplaces has been for looks and sounds and smells. With electric logs they can get all that without heating wood to high rise apartments, without building fires, without smoke and without heat. They just buy a bit that fits real or fake logs, and it looks and sounds like a fire. One outfit in New York City has come out with fireplace fire complete with a choice of wood smells, Clem said.

Clem's report got the folks rolling. Bug Bookum said the fireplace reminded him of tape recorder hunters. He had saw where a Texas outfit that makes more animal calls than anybody has gone electronic. It produces taped sounds of everything, so the hunters don't have to learn to use the callers. They just flip on their tape players and wait for the game to come check it out. Like the folks that likes to set around and watch red lights blinking in a fireplace, he figures the taped callers are for huntless hunters.

Actual, declared Zeke Grubb, not much in this old world can be took at face value. He said he has been following all the talk about doing away with nuclear weapons, and now he reads where that's the last thing some folks in Western Europe want. They're the power linchpin, and they say if there's no risk of nuclear war there's a heap worst risk of regular war, and they're right where it will be. There's even a move in Switzerland to get rid of the standing army so they can't fight. As long as we and Russia have got enough nuclear power to blow up the world we won't, them folks reason. But if we take away the threat of nuclear war we invite the other kind, in their thinking.

Furthermore, Zeke said, the same game is being played all over the country in choosing places to put nuclear waste. We know if we keep using nuclear energy we got to do something with nuclear garbage, but we want it done somewhere else. Right now, Zeke had saw where Nevada, Texas and Washington were in top spots for the danger of having the most Federal nuclear waste dump. All are arguing hard for the others and again themselves, Zeke said, and the same thing is happening in other parts of the country where states have agreed to take turns building nuclear waste dumps and then can't agree on when their turns come. This is a new twist on the old game of building yourself up by tearing the other fellow down, was Zeke's words.

Practical speaking, Ed Doslittle declared, he liked positive thinking. Like he had saw where Lincoln City, Ore. is calling itself the World Kite Capital, Metropolis, Ill. is giving a lot of lift out of adopting Superman, and a country store in Vance County, N. C. is calling itself the Neck Capital of the South. Just decide what you want to be and be it, was Ed's thinking. Yours truly, Uncle Lew.

Some last minute gift suggestions

There is still time to give just a few more things in the real spirit of Christmas. And all they cost is a little of you. You can probably think of many more, but these are just a few suggestions to start with.

- ★ Ask someone who's far from home (or has no home to share your Christmas dinner)
- ★ Use your mistletoe generously
- ★ Say thank you a lot
- ★ Take one of your favorite presents to that kid in your class you suspect Santa might miss
- ★ Take a thermos of hot chocolate to your school crossing guard
- ★ Pick someone up and take them with you to Christmas services
- ★ Put out bread crumbs for the birds and nuts for the squirrels
- ★ Pull out your mother's chair for her when she sits down to dinner
- ★ Offer to say 'grace' yourself
- ★ Invite someone who has no fireplace over to enjoy yours
- ★ Help the little kids in your neighborhood build their first snowman (if there's snow)
- ★ Tell someone you love them

VFW Families Enjoy Christmas Pot-Luck Supper

About 80 people, VFW members and their families, assembled at the VFW Post Home on Main St., Dec. 13, to enjoy a bountiful pot-luck supper and an evening of friendship.

General chairpersons for the event were Joan Taft and Lucy Pratt. Table decorations were supplied by Gina Boyer. Gerie O'Dell gave the prayer. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Merkel, Sr., and Charles Ritter were especially welcomed.

After dinner the group gathered in the basement around the gaily decorated Christmas tree, complete with labeled gifts underneath, to sing and to await Santa's arrival.

Finally, the sound of bells announced that Santa had come. Each child and a few adults received gifts from him. The younger children received a candy cane, an apple and a filled stocking, while the older ones got a game called Rub-R-Art. Everyone gave Santa a big hug. One child remarked, "Can we come back tomorrow, Santa? We'll be good."

Landfill Rates Hiked

mercial haulers will be charged $4 per cubic yard, an increase of 75 cents.

It will also cost considerably more to leave junk cars and farm equipment. Each car or piece of equipment will cost $50, up from $30.

Prices for car, truck and tractor tires, which the village considers a nuisance, have also been raised considerably. Car tires have been raised to $5 each, up $3 each. Truck and tractor tires have been raised to $8 each, up $5 and $3, respectively.

Weber said the rates would be reviewed every year, and they could be raised or lowered depending on market conditions.

The landfill takes in approximately 55,000 cubic yards of garbage each year.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

The popular enjoyment of wines by Americans has long been clouded by confusion and pretensions which are rooted in the aristocracy of French chateaus. For one thing, there is the notion that wine is consumed by cultured people only in connection with food. Thus we find that there are appetizer wines, table wines or dinner wines and dessert wines.

Strangely enough, the dessert wines are favored by wines who have no objection to getting drunk in ghetto alleys without food. Their preference for dessert wines is economic, there is more bang for the buck. Dessert wines such as muscatel, port or sherry are fortified with brandy so that the alcohol content is close to 20 percent compared to table wines averaging 12 percent.

We have no hang-ups about food when it comes to spirits or suds. It is perfectly okay to eat dill pickles with scotch or Miller Lite with minced clams, but red wines must be served with red meat and white wines with fish or fowl. What if you just want wine alone? Nothing doing unless you are willing to celebrate with spicy champagne or sparkling burgundy.

Millions of socially conscious Americans with a limited knowledge of wines are intimidated by oenophiles who are steeped in the art of wine tasting and wine selection. These connoisseurs can stroll familiarly past bar-tolations of wines from the vineyards of France, Italy, Germany, California, New York—yes, even Michigan. They know the varieties of wine, the vine-ners who make them, the grapes which yield the juices, the climates and soils and prevailing weathers of the regions—all differentiated by the years of the vintages.

Wine tasters live in a world of never, never nomenclature. A white 1982 Chablis is described by one writer as "A quantum leap in delight with golden tones, and full, ripe pear bouquet. It is supple and rich with forward steeliness. If you like escargot (snails) try this wine with it." Sometimes the steel comparison includes "flinty." This puzzle of two minerals evoked by a single beverage is completely cleared up by the Encyclopedia of Wine which says, "Flinty: Used to describe a dry, clean, hard, almost austere white wine which has a special bouquet recalling the smell of flint struck with steel."

The taster of a 1979 Zinfandel reports, "A weedy, slightly vegetative nose shows itself at first, followed by a pleasant Zin aftertaste." Another red wine has a "fruity, berry character in the bouquet," while a $19.95 bottle of Cabernet Sauvignon has "a typical nose reminiscent of a great Bordeaux. Open the bottle at least two hours before serving."

Wines are described as big, butter, chewy (not in the Encyclopedia), foxy, munky, starchy, velvety and so many other appellations that hundreds of dinners can be burnt just doing the homework for Oenology 101.

Obviously to be able to mingle with the cognoscenti of the vin monde, a gal or guy is in for years of study, tastings and investment. I do not agree with those who designate wine specialists as wine snobs simply because they find pleasure in a chosen expertise. On the other hand, when these oenophiles take to writing articles for newspapers or magazines, many of them are wildly out of touch with at least 90 percent of their readers. This majority includes a great many discriminating Americans with reputations as fine cooks and home winemakers. The same observation would prove true in France where at least half the people drink vin ordinaire, a satisfactory young wine which is first shipped from the wineries to bottlers in vast, glass lined tank cars.

Ernest and Julio Gallo of California produce vin ordinaire in 250,000 gallon lots. The Gallo wines are sold in jugs as well as screw cap bottles and an money is wasted on the prestige of costly, unobtainable corks. Yes these wines in their everyday containers are consumed at the rate of one million cases per week, and the Gallo laboratories are master-minded by a staff of 75 wine scientists.

In 1976 the Gallo brothers decided to have their wines tested in competition with the products of France. The tasting events were held, as usual, in Paris with Frenchmen serving as judges. From these "blind" tests Gallo wines emerged with a stunning list of honors and have been doing it ever since.

Other affordable American brands from California and New York have done the same. What's more, Michigan wineries are close on their heels.

American wines have a special advantage. The quality remains very much the same from one year to another while there are severe ups and downs in the vintages of Europe. Some U. S. wines are now being labelled with vintage years but observers predict these dated labels are simply a marketing abstraction.

So how about selecting some delicious and reasonably priced American wines for you and your neighbors? A good beginning is to buy one bottle of red wine such as a rose, burgundy or claret and one bottle of white wine such as a chablis, sauterne or rhine. You may choose any of many popular California brands including Gallo, Almaden, Paul Masson or Christian Brothers. Among a host of good Michigan brands are Chateau Grand Traverse, Fenn Valley and St. Julian. Try the wines and see how you and your spouse like them. If they seem okay but not quite sweet enough, add a little sweetener until it suits your taste. Also try different wines at room temperature as well as refrigerated. If you are satisfied with the room temperature you won't have to keep one or more bottles in the refrigerator for hours before serving.

When you find some wines that are pleasing to you and yours, keep a bottle or two on hand and experiment with other varieties of wines and brandies. Also get the names of wines that delight you when you are served in a friend's home or in a restaurant.

As you gain confidence in your choices, serve them to good neighbors and see how they react. If they ask for more, or pour an extra helping, you'll get the message—and vice versa. This patient and pragmatic way of choosing wines will positively work for you. Hopefully, it will please others as well.

Never hesitate to omit wine from a feast. Food is often a strategic way to get guests to stop drinking. This last is also a tactful decision when there are going to be children at the table.

If, in spite of everything that has been said, you simply can't resist the appeal of French vintage wines, Solokim's Wine Store in Manhattan will part with a case of 1955 Mouton Rothschild, a red Bordeaux, for $1,500 or a '61 Lafite for $3,000. He also has some '55 Petrus on which he refuses to publish a price but it is known that some vintages from this chateau have auctioned for $1,000 a bottle.

"CAN-DO" FOOD DRIVE: Kids Brothers Big Boy restaurants are sponsoring their eighth annual "Can-Do," a collection of food for needy people. Helping them in the effort are WXYZ-Channel 7, the Southeastern Michigan Food Coalition, WJLB radio, and the Big Scouts who are canvassing neighborhoods for food contributions. The Southeastern Michigan Food Coalition organizes Big Boy with the names of food kitchens in the counties they cover (Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, Livingston, and Washtenaw) and then the restaurants transport the food in their trucks. All the food stays in the county that it was donated in and will be delivered either by the kitchen where most other food drives have ended. Similar efforts have been organized by Big Boys all over the state. Locally, food may be donated at the Kids Brothers Big Boy at 1510 S. Main.

Living With Your Loss

Over the years, much has been written about what people experience when someone they love dies. However, one thing we've learned is that grief is a very individual process a person goes through.

There are no rules to go by, but there are some helpful guidelines. Many of these are discussed in our unique brochure entitled, Living With Your Loss, written by noted bereavement expert and author, Dr. Earl A. Grollman.

Farm Bureau Blasts USDA on PIK Rules

The Farm Bureau has criticized the U.S. Department of Agriculture of nullifying the success that the industry had with Congress in getting PIK assistance legislation passed, by issuing a regulation that will make many of the state's flood-stricken farmers ineligible for assistance.

Al Almy, director of public affairs for the state's largest farm organization, said that the USDA, in its interim regulation issued on Nov. 19, circumvented the intent of Congress by placing the 50% per crop loss with a 50% total farm loss to determine eligibility.

"We think it was clear in the language that Congress passed that a producer would be eligible for PIK assistance if he suffered a 50% or more loss of any specific crop," Almy said. "USDA has now come out with this controversial regulation that completely nullifies that per crop intent. USDA says that unless a producer has suffered a 50% loss of all crops in all of his farming interests, he will not be eligible for PIK assistance."

"I think it was very unfair for USDA to put this provision in the regulation. Apparently, they feel somewhat concerned that the agricultural industry went around USDA and persuaded Congress to enact this legislation and this is a way for the department to nullify the action and the success that the agricultural industry had with Congress. The fact is that agriculture first went to USDA asking for PIK assistance and were denied. Therefore, it was necessary to take the next step and secure congressional enactment," he said.

Almy said Farm Bureau has issued

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

Christmas after Christmas we have felt the "Magic" of Christmas. Man has searched for the key that opens the hearts of man at this Holy Season and there it was brought as the Christmas Star.

In every special treasure of those shopping tours and that just right gift for a loved one, one discovers the meaning of Christmas has lasted through the years, beyond all the commercialism comes the expectation of the Christ Child's birthday.

We cannot go into a department store and select a gift to personally hand to the Little Babe as did the Wise Men, so we do the magical act of getting out of ourselves and our worlds to give to those about us in our families and beyond. We reach out to touch someone because of the One, Magnificent, Personified, act of Love, when God's own Son took on human nature and became man.

The whole world longs to see Him, yet our mortal eyes have human limitations so we find Him in all those around us. Look beyond what you see with your eyes and find Christ in each other, and you will own the key to the lasting meaning of Christmas.

Mr. Editor, may these be your gifts, and your Reader's as well at Christmas.

LOVE... enough to warm your life, enough to give away.

PEACE... enough to warm your world today and every day.

HOPE... enough to seek the blessings each day holds for you.

JOY... enough to fill your heart and fill the New Year, too.

Millie Warner.

Dear Editor,

I am so pleased you printed the letter from Al Finn defending your sports writer, Brian Hamilton. The truth hurts and the hurt people of Chelsea whine like dogs. Two thousand years ago another "man" spoke the truth and was crucified. God forbid the same fate for Brian Hamilton. Of all your writers (Will Connolly, Uncle Lew), he is the most Christlike.

Dion Perry.

Money From Walkers Goes to Faith in Action

Tips To Help Prevent Lost, Strayed Cats Offered By Humane Society

Humane Society of Huron Valley is urging cat owners to take a few minutes and consider some lifesaving precautions in the tragic event that their feline friend gets lost.

HSHV community education director, Michelle Creek, reports that the stray cat population has risen by over 60% in the Washtenaw county area over the last five years. Ms. Creek explained "more and more people are moving into the cities and living in apartments and condominiums. For the first time, cats have surpassed dogs as the household pet of choice. Cats are easier to care for and more convenient for apartment dwellers. From early Egyptian times to the present, we have been enchanted with cats. Judging from the 60% increase in the stray cat population, it seems we are losing some of that enchantment."

Humane Society of Huron Valley receives approximately 200 animals each week, almost half of which are cats. The cats at the shelter come from a number of different sources. Some are found roaming the streets, others are brought in by their owners who find they can no longer keep them. A large percentage of the cats are strays: in good health and obviously someone's pet, but seemingly lost.

In an effort to help both cats and cat owners, the Humane Society offers the following advice to avoid future heartbreak. The first step is to take some precautions before your cat is lost. Remember it takes only a few seconds for a cat to escape outdoors. If you let your cat outdoors, make sure it wears an ID tag at all times. Identification tags are available at the Society for $1 that are traceable 24 hours a day.

Train your cat to walk on a leash—it can be done! Your pet will be happier and safer with you. A figure eight harness works the best for cats when taking a stroll. They do not feel restricted and cannot slip out of them. Always be sure to use a carrying case when traveling or taking your pet to the veterinarian. Make sure all of the windows and doors are secure in your house. Above all, make sure your cat is spayed or neutered. It can curb their desire to roam, and keep your feline from having litters upon litters of kittens. Pet overpopulation is already a serious problem, don't let your pet add to it.

Shelter manager Sue Gates offers some advice to help retrace your lost cat's steps. "Notify your local humane society as soon as possible and file a lost report! Be sure and visit the humane society every three or four days. You know your cat much better than anyone else."

Here are some helpful ideas when looking for your last feline friend. Look around your house. Most cats who live indoors will not stray far from home. Set up a temporary food station and shelter outside on the porch or nearby. Your pet may come home when you are not around. Many cats come out during the dusk to dawn hours to search for food. This is the best time to look for your cat. Post lost signs all over the neighborhood right away to alert others that your cat is missing. You can even offer a reward, the size does not matter. It can help motivate people to look for your lost cat. Place lost ads in the newspaper. Check the found column in the newspaper every day. Many people find a cat and keep it until they can find the owner. Above all, don't give up hope. People have been known to find their cat after months of searching.

"Remember," said shelter manager Gates, "there are many reasons to keep your cat indoors. Your pet could fall victim to steel leghold traps, diseases, other cats, dogs or wild animals, chemicals in someone's garbage or lawn or become hit by a car. The Humane Society of Huron Valley is here to help you and your pet. If your pet should become lost, call us at 665-6555 and visit often. We are open 7 days a week from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m."

Men Burgle Station, Take Off With Smokes

Two men broke into the Chatham gas station on M-48 early Sunday morning and made off with 74 cartons of cigarettes, according to Chelsea Police.

Police said that an 18-year-old witness on her way home at approximately 4:15 saw one man break a 30" by 64" plate glass door with a sign post. Another man was apparently acting as a look-out.

The witness said that after she turned around to get another look at the men, they saw her and sped away in a late model Camaro toward I-49 on M-52.

The witness told police the men were both Mexican, approximately 5' 8" tall with black hair. One was wearing blue jeans and a white Hawaiian shirt.

Chelsea police said the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department reported a similar incident approximately half an hour before at a gas station near the intersection of Wagner and Jackson Rd. in Ann Arbor. There the thieves stole cigarettes and the entire cash register.

Following the cigarette taking from the Chatham station were valued at $75. The shattered glass door was valued at $120.

Youngsters Wrestle Well In Busy Week for Dogs

Chelsea varsity wrestlers had perhaps their busiest week of the season last week with dual meets against Jackson County Western and Saline on Tuesday and Thursday and a trip to the Tecumseh Invitational on Saturday.

The Bulldogs came up 37-33 winners against JCW, but lost to Saline, 34-28. The Bulldogs wrestled four different opponents in the Tecumseh meet.

In the JCW meet, the youngest Chelsea wrestlers came to the forefront to lead the team.

50 pounds: Chelsea's Rex Nye won a 10-4 decision over Paul Stoeckel.

105 pounds: Chelsea's Pat Taylor took a 12-3 decision over Sam Klehler.

112 pounds: Chelsea's Bryan Kild lost a 6-5 decision to Steve Kustiner.

119 pounds: Chelsea's Doug Wingrove pinned Mike Ojeda in 1:22.

126 pounds: Chelsea won via forfeit.

132 pounds: Chelsea co-captain Ben Bagdasarian pinned Mike Mattison in 4:44.

138 pounds: Chelsea's Robert Kornet lost a technical fall to Jason Davidson.

145 pounds: Chelsea's Gary Derry was pinned by David Furstvangler in 5:55.

155 pounds: Chelsea's Bill Dixon was pinned by Chad Lewis in 3:33.

167 pounds: Chelsea's Todd Hamed was pinned by Tate Williams in 1:48.

185 pounds: Chelsea's Tim Vanduchick was pinned by Barry Truller in 1:18.

225 pounds: Chelsea won via forfeit.

Heavyweight: Chelsea's Lee Durham pinned Ed Covins in 2:35.

Chelsea again got off to a quick start against the Saline Hornets, winning five of the first six matches.

However, the meet slipped away in the later stages.

"Overall, we did a fine job," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"If we had won one more match, we would have beaten them."

55 pounds: Chelsea's Eric Hanes pinned Jason Peterson in 4:27.

105 pounds: Pat Taylor pinned John Davis in 1:18.

112 pounds: Chelsea's Craig McCulloch was pinned by Chris Veightman in 1:35.

119 pounds: Wingrove won an 8-5 decision over Phil Best.

126 pounds: Bagdasarian pinned Ben Gagnier in 1:45.

132 pounds: Kornet won a 17-10 decision over Bob Dunlap.

138 pounds: Chelsea's Paul Hedding was pinned by Andy King in 2:57.

145 pounds: Derry lost a 13-4 decision to Rod Matincak.

155 pounds: Dixon lost an 8-2 decision to Craig Wenkler.

167 pounds: Chelsea's Jerry Reinhardt was pinned by Kevin Waldmeyer in 1:18.

225 pounds: Vanduchick lost a 6-0 decision to Jeff Forstner.

285 pounds: Durham was pinned by George Reinhardt in 2:35.

Heavyweight: Chelsea's Mike Taylor pinned Rod Matincak in 2:35.

In Saturday's four dual meets, Chelsea defeated Tecumseh's Hornets, 75-4; Stoughton's varsity, 40-21; and Tecumseh's varsity, 20-16, but lost to Monroe's J.V. team, 20-15.

Regarding victories against Stoughton were McCulloch, Pat Taylor, Bagdasarian, Kornet, Vanduchick, Durham and Mike Taylor.

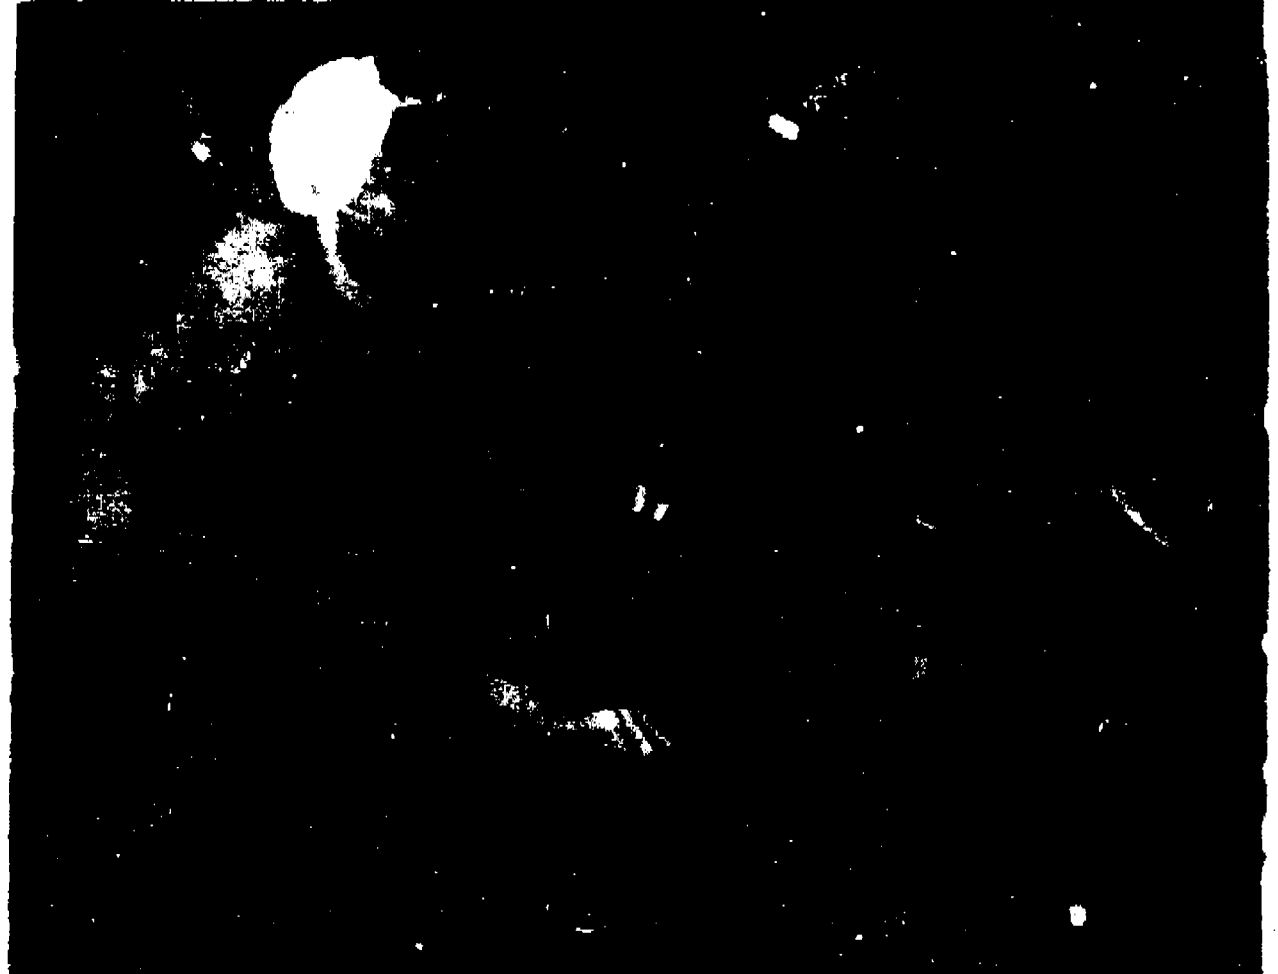

Losses against the Tecumseh varsity were Hanes, Pat Taylor, Mike Taylor, Bagdasarian, Kornet, Vanduchick and Durham.

Picking up wins against Monroe's J.V. team were Hanes, McCulloch and Hedding.

"I thought we wrestled well and our conditioning showed," Kargel said.

"We wrestled the Tecumseh varsity the last meet of the day and I think our kids were simply in better condition. Tecumseh might give us a rough time in a dual meet."

"We have a lot of unity on this team and I hope it stays that way."

DOUG WINGROVE, a freshman who's had a lot of success this season on the Chelsea varsity team, tries to turn his opponent over during Saturday's matches at Tecumseh. Similar in the work, Wingrove was matched against Jackson County Western and Saline.

Swim Team Starts Season With 3 Meets in 5 Days

Chelsea varsity swim team kicked off the season with a busy week with three meets in the space of five days.

On Tuesday, Dec. 9 the Bulldogs opened their season on the road with a loss to the Ypsilanti Braves, 100 to 28.

Although the Bulldogs did swim to a few personal best times, they were hampered by the over-all youthfulness of the team as there is one senior.

"Our team is very young, we have about 15 freshmen on the team, and we have a long way to go before we are competitive at a high level, but they are working hard to improve and it shows in their practices," said coach Mike Keeler.

"We do have a first this year as we have a junior captain, Matt Doan, to go along with our senior captain, Darren Girard."

"At the Ypsilanti meet, our freshmen swam very well as Garth Girard, David Oesterle and Wally Schmid swam a time standard fast enough to make the varsity letter cut."

The line score of the meet is as follows:

200-yard medley relay: 2. Chelsea A (Draper, David Oesterle, Kevin Brock, Matt Doan) 1:55.29; 4. Chelsea B (Brett Paddock, Jim Alford, Howard Merkel, Scott Sheffield) 2:05.41.

200-yard freestyle: 4. D. Girard, 2:07.72; 5. Chris Birtles, 2:08.06; 6. Garth Girard, 2:10.77.

200-yard individual medley: 1. Doan, 2:18.04; 4. Brock, 2:24.24; 6. Oesterle, 2:30.27.

50-yard freestyle: 1. Schmid, :25.21; 3. Terry Draper, :25.56; 4. Sheffield, :25.54.

100-yard butterfly: 2. Brock, 1:03.00; 4. G. Girard, 1:09.98; 5. Merkel, 1:12.52.

100-yard freestyle: 2. Schmid, :54.43; 3. Birtles, :57.24; 6. Draper, :59.59.

500-yard freestyle: 3. D. Girard, 5:56.00; 5. Scott Marsh, 6:27.67; 6. Grant Kidd, 6:55.05.

100-yard backstroke: 2. Doan, 1:05.35; 5. Paddock, 1:10.63; 6. Holden

Harris, 1:14.38.

100-yard breaststroke: 2. Oesterle, 1:13.63; 4. Alford, 1:17.26; 6. Birtles, 1:19.57.

200-yard freestyle relay: 2. Chelsea A (Birtles, Schmid, Merkel, Girard), 3:54.38; 4. Chelsea B (Sheffield, Girard, Merkel, Paddock), 4:16.73; 6. Chelsea C (Todd Redding, Rob Northrup, Dave Luck, Kidd) 5:00.87.

Thursday, Dec. 11, the swim team opened its home schedule against Okemos.

Although the Bulldogs swam well in their home pool the end result was not any different as the final score was 102 to 69.

"I was pleased with the time improvements that were shown at this meet, especially with Kevin Brock's butterfly, Mark Luck's diving, Garth Girard's 500, and Terry Draper's and Brett Paddock's backstrokes, as all of those swimmers were season or personal best times," said Keeler.

"The team is improving at each meet and that is very important as we continue through the season."

The line score is as follows:

200-yard medley relay: 2. Chelsea A (Draper, Oesterle, Brock, Schmid), 1:54.38; 4. Chelsea B (Paddock, Alford, Merkel, Sheffield), 2:03.95; 5. Chelsea C (Harris, Kidd, Marsh, Cooper), 2:09.75.

200-yard freestyle: 3. Girard 2:10.06; 4. Charlie Hosner, 2:10.80; 5. David Walker, 2:21.31.

200-yard individual medley: 2. D. Girard, 2:19.59; 3. Brock, 2:24.46; 5. Merkel, 2:34.11.

50-yard freestyle: 2. Birtles, :25.59; 3. Wally Schmid, :25.69; 4. Draper, :25.80.

Diving: 2. Luck, 131.95.

100-yard butterfly: 2. Brock, 1:02.33; 3. D. Girard, 1:04.15; 6. Oesterle, 1:17.01.

100-yard freestyle: 2. Birtles, :56.57; 3. Schmid, :56.96; 6. Sheffield, 1:03.28.

500-yard freestyle: 3. G. Girard 5:53.95; 4. Charlie Hosner, 6:18.99; 6. David Walker, 6:49.22.

100-yard backstroke: 2. Draper, 1:07.42; 3. Paddock, 1:08.26; 6. Birtles, 1:14.38.

100-yard breaststroke: 3. Merkel, 1:14.21; 4. Alford, 1:17.26; 5. Birtles, 1:17.53.

200-yard freestyle: 2. Chelsea A (Birtles, G. Girard, Charlie Hosner, D. Girard), 3:56.70; 3. Chelsea B (Oesterle, S. Sheffield, Cooper, Marsh), 4:14.62; 5. Chelsea C (Redding, Northrup, Kidd, Alford), 4:49.34.

On Saturday the swim team finished up their week by traveling to the 14th annual EMSU Relays at Eastern.

At this meet the Bulldogs claimed their way to a sixth place finish with a total of 70 points. The margin of difference was very close as there was only six points separating sixth place from 11th.

"I was very proud of the manner in which the team swam. We met 8 out of our 12 relay time goals and posted many personal bests," Keeler said.

"We were able to place three relays in the silver medal position against some stiff competition. The 400 yard individual medley team of Terry Draper, Darren Girard, Kevin Brock, and Matt Doan placed second with a time of 4:08.50, the same relay also placed third in the 200-yard backstroke relay with a time of 1:56.96.

Girard, Brock, Doan also joined with Tyler Lewis to place second in the 200-yard butterfly relay with a time of 1:49.73; finally, Tyler Lewis and Mark Lewis placed second in the diving relay with a total of 221.7 points. As a team we swam extremely well and that really promise for future meets."

The last meet before Christmas break was Tuesday.

Cagers Unimpressive in League Opener at Saline

The Southeastern Conference basketball season started with a whine and a whimper for the Chelsea Bulldogs as they dropped a 50-40 decision to the Saline Hornets in Saline last Friday night.

It was a game where virtually nothing went right for the Bulldogs. They shot just 25 percent from the field, were out-rebounded, 27-17, and threw the ball away at exactly the wrong times.

"There's something about our kids with Saline," said Chelsea coach Ralph Rosentreter.

"They go out there thinking they HAVE to beat Saline and put too much pressure on themselves. It makes it very difficult to actually go out and win the game. I was at a loss in finding an answer. When you have seniors dominating the club, you don't expect to make the kinds of mistakes we made."

Despite the poor showing, Chelsea was in position to win the game, holding a 34-32 lead and the ball going into the fourth quarter. With 5:35 remaining, the game was tied at 36.

Shortly thereafter, Chelsea senior forward Jeff Harvey attempted to block a shot on a Hornet breakaway but was called for a foul. In frustration Harvey slapped the floor. The official slapped him with a technical foul.

It turned out to be a four-point play "That was probably the turning point of the game," Rosentreter said.

"I can't blame Jeff. He was just frustrated with himself. I don't think a technical should have been called."

After senior guard Todd Starkey hit a free throw, the Hornets scored four more points to give Saline a seven-point lead with 1:46 to go.

The Bulldogs threw the ball away twice in the last 1:46 to seal their fate. "I was really disappointed and frustrated," Rosentreter said.

"Our performance was a poor reflection on all of us."

The game was poorly played by both teams and Saline was asking for a whipping. The Hornets turned the ball over six times in the first quarter alone yet were only down by one point at the end of the period.

Harvey hit two successive field goals in the middle of the period, and Greg Haist connected on another. The rest of the team was cold as a Bulldog's nose.

Saline was in the bonus early in the second quarter and had five one-and-one opportunities but could only score four points.

Chelsea, on the other hand, hit six of eight free throws in the first half, four by Starkey.

The Hornets had a 23-18 half-time lead.

"I think Saline is going to be lucky to finish third in our league," Rosentreter said.

"I expected a lot more from them." One of Rosentreter's chief concerns is Chelsea's failure to shoot a reasonable percentage in either of its first two games. Friday night everyone was cold and shot selection wasn't the problem for the most part. One starter missed all 16 tries from the field.

Forward Mark Barels, as usual, led the team in scoring with 14 points but took only 12 shots all night.

"Mark absolutely has to take more than 12 shots a game," Rosentreter said. "And Greg Haist has to score

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Friday night's varsity basketball game at Saline was probably the most poorly played high school game I've ever seen. At least I sure can't remember any others that were more unfulfilling.

The only game I've ever seen on any level that might have been worse was a seventh grade girls game I officiated a number of years ago. That game took two and a half hours to play and ended up 5-2, with all the scoring on foul shots.

By the end of the first quarter, the painful flow of Friday's game had been established. Whichever team was the most error-prone was going to lose. At the end of the quarter it was difficult to guess which team that might be. At the end of the game there was no question.

Pick a play, any play. Chances are someone on one or both sides messed it up.

You like transition basketball you say?

Forget it. Chelsea couldn't make a lay-up or short jumper if the cheerleaders' lives depended on it.

How about a good, aggressive press?

Well, it may have been in some of the fans' shirts, but it was nowhere to be seen on the court. Not that they didn't try, though.

How about some good banging on the boards?

Nope. Chelsea had 17 rebounds for the night, including a measly three offensive rebounds in the first half. That last number is particularly nasty when you consider that they missed 40 shots.

Fortunately, Saline was nearly as bad, which kept the game close until the last couple of minutes.

Unfortunately, Saline's Grant Fanning, one of the school's ace athletes, put on the best show of the night and Chelsea had a hard time stopping him.

At the outset it looked as though every player had gotten out of bed five minutes before the start of the game and was still looking for the bathroom. There was no flow, no rhythm to either team. Everyone, except the coaches, seemed to have forgotten what they were supposed to do.

My guess is, the kids psyched themselves right out of the game.

For some reason, Chelsea's athletic mission in life is to beat Saline.

That probably stems from the football rivalry as much as anything. And each basketball team has a number of football players on it.

With signs and chants, Chelsea fans certainly reminded the Saline patrons what happened on the football field this season. If you've forgotten, the Bulldogs won 7-6 in overtime.

Chances are, many of the players were thinking about the same thing.

Chelsea had to prove it was no fluke, that they had the better athletes.

Saline was ready for revenge.

But together they might have had a tough time beating the Bulldogs.

The guy I ended up feeling sorry for was Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

He could have been Bob Knight, Red Auerbach, John Thompson and Jerry Tarkanian all rolled into one and the Bulldogs still would have lost the game.

No amount of strategy, hatering, bribery, or chair-throwing would have affected the outcome. Friday night the kids were probably not coachable.

Chelsea shot an abysmal 25 percent from the field. They were out-rebounded 27-17.

These kids know how to block out and they know how to shoot. We've seen most of them do it before. Maybe Rosentreter ought to try to sneak one of those under-sized girls basketballs into a game.

If you're looking for successes —

Chelsea held Saline to 50 points and had a decent chance to win.

The Bulldogs had their best free throw shooting night of the season, and maybe the last two seasons.

They got 12 turnovers.

Nobody fouled out.

Nobody died.

This was written before Tuesday night's game with Milan. So, obviously I don't know if the Bulldogs got turned around or not. Let's hope they did. If not, let's hope they do Friday night against Lincoln at home. Otherwise, it's going to be a long, long Christmas break.

FOLLOWING THROUGH on a shot for two points is senior forward Jeff Harvey. Harvey finished the night with six points in the losing effort.

Frosh Cagers Split With Western, Lincoln

Chelsea freshman basketball squad defeated Jackson County Western, 48 to 40, last Monday at Western. Thursday the team lost to Ypsilanti Lincoln, 54 to 42, at Lincoln.

Chad Starkey led seven Chelsea scorers with 29 points against Western. Kyle Plank tossed in six with Mark Chasteen adding four. Chad Raymond with three and Brian Burg, Brandon Murrell and Sinisia Janicevic with two each completed the scoring.

"For our first game we did some things I was pleased to see," said coach Dave Quilter.

"We played pretty good man-to-man defense and our zone looked pretty good. On offense when we ran our plays we ended up with some very good shots."

Thursday was a different story as the freshmen evened their record at 1-1.

The key factors in the loss were a failure to make an adjustment on defense and standing still on both offense and defense. Lincoln had a quick, big center who scored 22 of their 32 first half points. "We were caught out of position and flat footed the entire first half," Quilter noted.

The second half Chelsea went back to man-to-man defense and played much more aggressively.

"For us to be successful this season we have to play four quarters of aggressive basketball since we are not physically big enough to dominate teams," Quilter said.

Starkey led scorers with 18, while Raymond and Burg both helped with six each. Plank tossed in five, Byron Pratt, four, Murrell, Mark Chasteen and Janicevic, two each.

The Bulldogs were beaten badly on the boards by Lincoln, 36 to 24. Chasteen and Raymond led the squad with five rebounds each.

"A bright note was the play of the people who came off the bench," said Quilter.

Eighth Grade Cagers Win Two Games With Good 'D'

Beach Middle school's eighth grade Bulpup basketball team won two games last week, nipping Saline on Tuesday, 30-28, and whipping Milan, 39-30.

The victories boost the Bulpup record to 3-1.

In the Saline game, Pup coach Jim Tallman credited tough defense, especially by guard Vince Dunn, for the win.

Chelsea was down by 13 points at half-time, 22-9, but used a full-court, man-to-man press to come back and trail by one point at the end of the third quarter.

"Our pressure in the second half, led by Vince Dunn, made the difference," Tallman said.

"The whole team did an excellent job."

Jude Quilter sank what turned out to be the winning field goal with 40 seconds remaining.

Quilter finished with six points for the game. Other Chelsea scorers included Dunn, with eight, Tucker Steele, with seven, and Kerry Plank, Matt Steinhaw and Alex Hamerschmidt with two each.

Chelsea could have trounced Milan, according to Tallman, but the coach elected to give more boys more playing time.

"We played a real good game and over-all we were a lot stronger than Milan," Tallman said.

Plank paced the offense with 12 points and Quilter added 10, Brian Bel, seven, Steele, five, and Chris Haugen and Steinhaw, two each.

Cagers Stumble Against Saline more than four points. Rosentreter said that only Marty Poljan (two points), Harvey (six points), Jon Lane (seven points) and Matt Steinhawer (five points) played reasonably well.

"We would have lost to anybody the way we played—now we've got our work cut out for us," Rosentreter said.

"We've got two good teams ahead of us and we can't dwell on what happened."

DRIVING FOR A SHOT against the Saline Hornets last Friday night is senior guard Todd Starkey. Starkey missed the shot but made two free throws. Chelsea lost the game, 50-48.

Give the gift that will last all year.

Patriots from Military Order Of Purple Heart Get Together

Washtenaw County Military Order of the Purple Heart gathered for a Christmas Party at Weber's, Tuesday evening, Dec. 9.

Military Order of the Purple Heart (MPOH), a group chartered by act of the United States Congress, and whose members must have received wounds during combat in defense of their country, gathered for a Christmas Party at Weber's, Tuesday evening, Dec. 9.

Eleven MPOH members and eight wives were present for the holiday gathering.

Frank Schmidt was principal speaker for the evening. He was introduced by Ann Arbor patriot George Harris.

The group refers to its members as "patriots."

Frank Schmidt, who serves as chairman of the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund, explained the MPOH members were actually the modern "Minute Men."

The fund was set up by the State of Michigan to help veterans in time of need.

There are restrictions, but if any veteran meets the requirement, he or she may call on the trust fund for emergency assistance.

The trust fund to date has given more than $50,000,000 to veterans since its inception.

Frank Schmidt stated that the trust fund is designated to assist veterans who served in time of war: the Spanish-American War, World War I, World War II, Korea and Vietnam.

MPOH members who attended the Christmas-time gathering included: Leonard Schmidt, Don Compton and Helen Bowditch from Ypsilanti; Phil Hanson, Dennis Schuman, Hugh Gaston and Greg Weaver from the Ann Arbor area; Don McAlister and Commander Iver Schmidt from the Dexter area.

The MPOH organization is in need of additional members to help with the local, state and national programs.

"If you are interested in joining, we meet the second Wednesday of each month at Ann Arbor American Legion Post 46," explained Iver Schmidt.

He added, "We would welcome any person who has been awarded the Purple Heart to join. Yearly membership fee is just $12, and at the present time, we (like most other veterans organizations) are trying to help veterans—but we are especially interested in the Purple Heart veteran."

Interested recipients of the Purple Heart are asked to contact any of the MPOH members for more information.

Commander Iver Schmidt's phone is 313-426-4056, and he stressed he will be glad to answer any questions and pass along information about the organization.

Speaking further about help to veterans, Iver explained a lot of Vietnam era veterans are applying for help to save their homes.

"The problem in a lot of cases is unpaid taxes," he said.

Iver urged veterans, "If you are behind, contact any veterans' organization, and ask whom to contact for help."

Frank Schmidt told the group at the gathering, "The Michigan Veterans Trust Fund can halt the sale of your home, even if the government has started proceedings."

He also reminded that veterans who need money for any emergency may apply for assistance from the fund.

"It was a great get-together—we discussed problems of many Vietnam era veterans being disinterested in joining organizations," Iver explained.

"We need the added count of the Vietnam veterans when we ask for support from congress," Iver continued.

"In turn, they can get help from the MPOH and other organizations seeking to get legislation enacted to assist the veteran," said the commander of the county MPOH group.

"We're (the veterans) getting our benefits cut by the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act and we need numbers to help stop the 'cuts' on veterans' benefits," Iver Schmidt concluded, speaking for the entire membership of the MPOH, as well as for other veterans' groups.

FROM THE LOOKS ON THEIR FACES, Santa will probably bring Cathy and Michael Kattala some of their Christmas wishes this year. The youngsters had a chance to spell it all out for everybody's favorite old man last Saturday at Sylvan Town Hall, thanks to the Downtown Merchants Association and the Chelsea Lions Club.

Thanksgiving Visitors

During Thanksgiving vacation, Nov. 22 to Dec. 1, Scott and Lori Krull of Goose Creek, S.C., visited Mrs. Luella McGranahan and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Newman and family of Unadilla. Scott is the son of Leroy Krull of Dexter and Sandy Krull of Ann Arbor. While here they visited Scott's parents and other friends in Dexter and Lori's family. Thanksgiving dinner was at the McGranahan and Newman family home with guests Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith of Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hieber and Carolyn Syfreid of Saline, and Wanda Molter, Emily and George Molter of Ann Arbor. Eddie McGranahan called from Orlando, Fla., to say "hello" to all.

HOSPITAL FITNESS PROGRAM: Nancy Flieder, R.N., emergency services head nurse at Chelsea Community Hospital, is shown having her wrist measured by Ann Davis, R.N., employee health co-ordinator. Nancy took part, along with 150 colleagues, in the hospital's six-week fitness contest which included maintaining a fitness log and exercising for a minimum of 30 minutes three times a week. Nancy's wrist was measured to obtain her body frame size (small, medium, or large). After Nancy was weighed, it was determined if she was within the appropriate weight range for her height and body frame size.

Hospital Employees Join In Six-Week Fitness Contest

Chelsea Community Hospital recently demonstrated their dedication to encouraging health promotion for hospital employees. Over 150 employees participated in a six-week Fitness Contest.

The contest began with a "kick-off" reception held in the hospital's dining room. Representatives from various departments discussed nutrition, exercise, weight and body measurements and health risk appraisals. There were aerobic dance demonstrations and low-calorie snacks and beverages were served.

Contest participants were eligible for a prize of their choice of a sweat-shirt or sweatpants with the Chelsea Hospital "Tree" Logo. Participants had to meet the basic contest criteria. Criteria included maintaining a fitness log of days, times and activity and exercising three times a week for a minimum of 30 minutes. The exercise needed to be aerobic.

An activity is considered aerobic if it meets five criteria:

1. Rhythmic and uninterrupted
2. Uses large muscle groups
3. Lasts for at least 20 minutes
4. Is done 3-5 times a week
5. Includes a Training Heart

Rate—Reach Target Heart Rate.

These criteria were chosen because of studies showing that this is the minimum amount of exercise needed for cardiovascular benefit. Studies have also shown that if an individual can maintain an exercise routine for six weeks, they are more likely to continue to exercise.

A Grand Prize Drawing was held for those who were within their ideal weight range and maintained it and for those who were outside of their weight range and lost a minimum of eight pounds or reached their ideal weight range. A total of 136 pounds was lost.

This was the second annual Fitness Contest held at the hospital. The employee response has been overwhelming and enthusiastic. Some of the employees have continued to maintain their logs after the contest.

Ministers 'Invade' Cassidy Lake

Cassidy Lake Technical School was "invaded" Dec. 6-7 by three ministers and at least 25 lay people per evening representing many different churches.

The "invaders" arrived at 6 p.m. and mixed with the residents in the recreational facility until church time. Church services, which began at 7 p.m., included guest speakers and soloists. Written comments to the Lord Jesus Christ were made by the residents each evening.

This effort was part of the National Prison Invasion, an idea originated by Paul Carlin who shared it with Chaplain Ray of Dallas, Tex., who in turn shared it with the chaplains of several large southern prisons. Warren Paulson, co-ordinating chaplain of Michigan, explained the idea to the administrators of Cassidy Lake.

The Cassidy Lake invasion was co-ordinated by the Rev. Thode Thodeson of Manchester and Tom Skrag of Adrian. Local participants included, in addition to Pastor Thodeson and his wife Dorothy, Richard Bunney and Jerry Jahnke of Manchester, Don Fritz, Randy Harris and Steve Moss of Chelsea, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Guenther of Gregory.

Giving a final summary of the project, the Rev. Thodeson said, "The invasion was a spiritual effort bringing much good to residents, lay folk and prison administrators."

★ Christmas Safety ...

For many of us, Christmas is the happiest time of the year. I certainly don't want to diminish anyone's anticipation of the holidays, but I would like to make you aware of some potential risks and hazards that are sometimes overlooked.

When you finally find that perfect tree and bring it in to decorate, it must be kept in water at all times. Make a fresh cut across the trunk base before putting it in the stand and add water daily. Never use candles to decorate the tree and if you use icicles, make sure they're flame-resistant. Check the cords and plugs on electric tree lights. Make sure they're approved and carry the Underwriter's Laboratory tag, and have no frayed ends or broken plugs. Don't overload outlets by using too many extension cords that may draw more current than your electrical system can handle. Place your tree well away from wood-burning stoves, fireplaces and out of walkways. And, don't leave tree lights burning all night or when no one is at home.

Although ribbons and evergreen boughs look festive wrapped around the handrail on your stairs, it's best to leave it unadorned for the safety of those going up and down the stairs.

Be prudent when shopping for toys and make sure your choices are appropriate for the recipient. Every year many children are injured by toys. Gifts should be selected that are suitable to the child's age, interests, skills and abilities. Many toy manufacturers' packaging includes age and safety recommendations.

For infants and toddlers, avoid toys with small or easily-removed parts that can be swallowed. Make sure also there are no long strings or cords that may cause strangulation. Toys that shoot or propel objects should not be purchased. If your selection is a soft toy or stuffed animal, make sure it's flame resistant.

When buying for young children, it's best not to buy target games that use darts or arrows with sharp tips, complicated electrical games, power-driven tools, air rifles and chemistry sets.

Chelsea Community Hospital

During the holidays, many families like to take the opportunity to travel or entertain relatives or friends. But for families with a home-bound loved one, caring for them or leaving them behind becomes a special concern. Especially when that person needs extra attention due to an illness or disability. That's why Chelsea Community Hospital offers a "Respite" guest program for usually home-bound individuals. For about the cost of a night's lodging, guests can be registered at Chelsea Community Hospital, allowing those who are normally responsible for providing care, time to pursue other activities.

Maybe you never thought of a hospital as a place to stay unless you were ill. Well, we're out to change your mind. We'll provide basic, supportive care in the atmosphere for which we have become well-known—peaceful, caring and concerned.

We believe it is important for everyone's health for your loved one to be cared for in the best possible circumstances. Chelsea Community Hospital offers the care you so lovingly provide all year long as our special gift this holiday season.

For more information about the Respite guest program call Glenn Miller, R.N. at 475-1311 extension 356. Advance reservations are appreciated.

We're Chelsea, and we're different. We offer a complete range of health services, including emergency treatment, inpatient and outpatient surgery, coronary care, physical therapy and rehabilitation, headache pain treatment, substance abuse treatment, psychiatry, and a broad range of community health education programs; and we make every effort to help you help yourself by becoming a better-educated health care consumer.

We're Chelsea Community Hospital, a complete, comprehensive 137-bed health care facility located on 63 beautiful wooded acres right in the heart of Chelsea.

CHRISTMAS LIGHTS glow cheerfully within the new Yuletide INN the station will be the scene of a gala New Year's party.

True Grist Theatre Presents 'Gift of the Magi'

By Russ Ogden
Free Lance-Delaware Critic
and Professor at EMU

Not to see the True Grist Dinner Theatre in its holiday feasts of green and red trimmings (including a sleigh) would be missing a part of this glorious holiday season! The Grist's holiday entertainment package opened with a suited bag of offerings, some welcome, some not so welcome.

O'Henry's "Gift of the Magi" is a simple, touching story in print bringing tears to anyone with an emotional heart and should have well been left alone by Peter Ekstrom whose musical adaptation was a mistake.

Grist's second half of the program starts on a musical upbeat of holiday songs neatly tied together in an immensely satisfying listening and visual package leaving one with a wonderful sense of the season fast approaching.

"Gift of the Magi" encompasses the selfishness of two young lovers and their willingness to part with their most meaningful possession so that the other might be happy at Yuletide. O'Henry's gift of writing presents a heart-rending story. But Mary Martin and Robert Preston and their talent would have trouble transporting the life of a musical "Gift of the Magi" which never should have occurred in the first place.

Rita Hutton and Paul Kerr have great difficulty conjuring up the innocence of a much younger couple than themselves at holiday time and the presentation comes off as a somewhat 1923 movie. The summa of the score by Ekstrom and its simplistic singing and repetitive dialogue is just too much.

One improvement since opening night has been the addition of "Tomorrow Is Christmas" which gives the play an upbeat ending, lacking in the previous opening night presentation. The elimination of the intermission of the one-act play is also a godsend.

Between acts one observes the red tablecloths and candles on all of the theatre/dining area plus a special holiday drink called The Kris Kringle with its peppermint ice cream drink topped with Schnapps! If you never believed before, you will with a couple of tantalizing Christmas wats of this intermission delight. Change in serving at the True Grist sees you personally presented with soup and salad at your table with the main entrées still featured in buffet style.

The Grist Carvers open a symposium catalog of Christmas and Yuletide songs, each featuring the talents of Louisville residents: Eric Van Meichen and Steven Baylin, and Yuletide Carvers Ogden and the returning and most welcome Rosemarie, God Bless Trader.

The Grist Carvers Quartet is an enormously talented musical foursome and prove this with group and individual solos throughout their green and red repertoire. Comedic and melodic effects are combined in reflections of Christmas past and present; the returning home at Christmastime with all of its traditions and customs, the warmth of religion and its importance at the approaching birth of Christ... a most impressive array of talent expended on most memorable songs.

Summa Ogden's alto/soprano voice literally raises the rafters of the True Grist both with clarity and strength as she performs. Her pink pajamas clad body singing to her Yuletide bear about "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus" was indeed an audience favorite. And her "Home for the Holidays" rang with the musical cheer of her beautiful unadorned voice in the old time favorite.

Pre-school teacher from Homer, Gail Betts Trader, proves herself the superb showman with every available antic that her

Local Charity Offers Unique Gifts

Seva Foundation, located in a small cabin on Spring Lake near Chelsea, is an international service organization dedicated to relieving suffering through public health programs.

This holiday season Seva is offering a number of gifts of service to others, as well as crafts from places where Seva is working.

Colorful Guatemalan handbags, wallets, vests and wall hangings, as well as hand-knit Nepali caps are available.

Seva also offers unique gifts of service. These gifts are gifts of love that open opportunities in people's lives. They include a Nepal Eye Camp, sight-restoring cataract surgery, support for eye care volunteers, sheep, goats and sewing machines to Guatemalan refugees, eyeglasses, food and transport for cataract patients, child survival services in India and community health volunteers in India.

Seva invites you to celebrate the spirit of this holiday season through these gifts of hope and love. When you give these gifts in your friend's name they will receive a gift card including a description of the project and a photograph. You may also give the gift directly to Seva in your own name. Gifts range in price from $10 to $1,000. Seva's overhead is completely covered by an endowment. Thus, your entire donation is used for your gift of service.

Please call the Seva Foundation, 475-1351, for more information.

Seva was founded in 1978, its main activity is the support of the Nepal Blindness Program and Aravind Hospital in Madurai, India, which are reducing the toll of blindness in those countries and helping them become self-sufficient in eye care.

On a smaller scale, Seva has provided funding for Native American Health programs and the building of a clinic in South Dakota, weaving material and other support for Guatemalan refugees, working with the deaf in Canada, and community based reforestation projects in Costa Rica, Lesotho and the U.S.

Seva has recently begun to form local service groups, and to present speaking tours and conferences to help stimulate the deepening of service in our communities and reaffirm the place of compassionate action in our lives.

body is able to master, she comes forward with a lead and clear (and understandable) "I Wonder As I Wonder." Santa Claus' serenity is her chosen as she reflects upon a child's viewpoint, "The Fat for the Chimey!"... another audience favorite.

Unfused in World War II attire, Erik Van Eshelman's strong voice blends with the plaintive and melancholic in "I'll Be Home for Christmas" which indeed brings tears of happiness to veterans of any war. Steve Baylis, almost as animated as Trader, truly charms us with "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas" with great gusto and individual style.

From the beginning of the playlet and the introductory number of "We Need A Little Christmas" from Mame the second hour serves as a seasonal dressing of the best quality: a holiday feast!

Performances continue at the True Grist Dinner Theatre in Homer through Dec. 23. Performances are Wednesday through Sunday but call (517) 388-4181 for up-to-date information. No shows Monday or Tuesday. A recent addition for the pre-holiday season is the dinner music provided by Pianist Yvonne Leary. As a sacker for dinner music with top notch food, the piano and Grist's excellent menu is a holiday celebration in and of itself.

Spread a meat loaf mixture into a pie pan and build up sides into crust shape. Bake until partially done and spread with filling of mashed potatoes. Dot with butter and paprika and bake until potatoes are browned.

Woman Hit By Car Sunday

A Chelsea woman was hit by a car Sunday morning as she crossed N. Main St. at Middle St.

According to Chelsea police, the woman, Irmengard Maria Newcome, 57, of 150 Clarendale Ct., was apparently trying to cross the street at approximately 9:15 while the Main St. light was green when she was struck by a car driven by Frank A. Klobucher, 81, of 1989 Waterloo Rd.

Police said witnesses estimated

Klobucher's vehicle was traveling 15 miles per hour when the accident occurred.

Witnesses said that Newcome initially fell onto the hood of the car but was thrown backward on the pavement when the vehicle stopped.

Newcome was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital and was later transferred to University of Michigan Hospital. She was listed in stable condition as of press time Tuesday.

Chelsea Considering Law Prohibiting 'Adult' Enterprises

Village of Chelsea is considering adopting an ordinance that would essentially outlaw adult theaters, bookstores and nightspots within the village limits.

The village council, at its regular meeting Nov. 18, voted to send the proposed ordinance to the village planning commission for its review.

With one sentence, the proposed ordinance essentially regulates the adult entertainment industry right out of the village. That sentence says that no adult bookstore, theater, or building with sexually explicit nude entertainment can be located within one mile of any church or 1,000 feet from any residentially zoned land. Virtually any point in Chelsea is within a mile of a church.

"Special regulations of these uses is necessary to insure that these adverse effects will not contribute to the blighting or downgrading of the surrounding neighborhood," the proposed ordinance says.

The ordinance goes into great detail, often using stilted language, as to what constitutes "specified sexual activities" and "specified anatomical areas" as they relate to adult literature or entertainment. It also defines an adult bookstore as an "establishment having as a substantial or significant portion of its stock and trade, books, magazines or other periodicals," which depict sexual activities or certain areas of the body. That, presumably, would still allow convenience stores to sell magazines like Playboy and Penthouse.

Depot Certificates Are Good Xmas Gifts

There is still time to make last-minute gifts of Chelsea Depot certificates, according to Marjorie Hepburn, trustee and secretary of the Chelsea Depot Association.

"Just send your check in the amount of $10 or more for each gift certificate to P.O. Box C by Monday, Dec. 22 and the certificates will be delivered by Dec. 26 to your 48118 zip code address," she promised. "If your check is mailed today or tomorrow you'll have your certificates delivered no later than Saturday to a 48118 zip code address."

Along with your check send the name of each person just as you wish to have the name appear on the Depot certificate, and indicate the dollar amount of each certificate that is to be issued. Favorite amounts are $10, $25, $50 and $100.

"A 1986 Depot certificate is a doubly cherished gift," Mrs. Hepburn added, "because it is the original year in which the certificates were issued and also because everyone holding a 1986 certificate is a charter member of the Chelsea Depot Association."

Mail your check along with the names of certificate receivers to: Chelsea Depot Association, P.O. Box C, Chelsea 48118.

If you have any questions, phone 475-2700.

The father of all news services was the General News Association of the City of New York, started in 1849.

ONE OF THE FIRST PURCHASERS of depot certificates at the time of issue in January was Sam Flack of 225 Chandler St., who gave a $100 certificate to each of his three children. On his left is son Bob. On his right is son Rick. Flack holds the certificate for his daughter, Becky, who was away at college.
