GIFTS FROM CHELSEA SOCIAL SERVICES will make Christmas a lot merrier for more than 30 needy families in the Chelsea area. Boxes contain toys and clothes for the kids under 14 and food for the family. Putting the final touches on a few of the last boxes are Marguerite Weir, Don Dancer, Jackie Riethmiller and Carl Carpenter. Linda Ormsby is the director of Chelsea Social Services, a United Way organization.

Chelsea Social Services Is Santa to Area's Needy

Thirty-one Chelsea area families will have a little merrier Christmas tomorrow thanks to the efforts of Chelsea Social Services.

As it has every year since 1956, the group put together boxes of presents and food for area needy families within the Chelsea School District.

The packages were picked up Saturday at Sylvan Town Hall. Volunteers worked all day Thursday preparing for Saturday's distribution.

As much as possible, the packages are customized to the family's needs based on an interview. Every child under 14 years old is given a toy and clothes, including a shirt, pair of pants and underwear or pajamas. It is all new merchandise.

Also in the boxes are Jiffy Mix products, candy and paper goods. Recipient families never know who has donated their gifts. Likewise, donors have no idea whom their gifts are going to. The anonymity helps preserve the family's pride since not many people want to admit to the world they are accepting help. Only a few CSS workers know who the families in need are.

According to Office Manager Jackie Riethmiller, some of the recipients are large families who simply cannot afford gifts because one or both parents might be employed in "meager jobs." Others are covered under Aid to Dependent Children, or are victims of the economy.

All families are checked out to make sure they qualify, Riethmiller said. However, she said no family has ever been turned down.

Although Chelsea Social Services co-ordinates the project and makes sure all tasks get done, this annual Christmas affair is truly a community project.

Churches, such as St. Mary's Catholic church and St. Paul United Church of Christ, post strips of paper that might say, "Family No. 22, girl age nine, size 6, pair of pants." A member of the congregation "adopts" that girl in family 22 and buys the appropriate item.

Other individuals in the community adopt a family.

Chelsea Milling not only donates Jiffy Mix products, but the boxes to put the merchandise in as well.

Other businesses donate paper products, from paper towels to diapers. Last year 38 families took one of the boxes home. A couple of years the number has been as high as 60.

Joyce Vogel and Riethmiller have spearheaded this year's giveaway with help from a number of volunteers.

Chelsea Social Services is a United Way organization.

Fire Department Makes 26 Runs In November

Chelsea Fire Department made 26 runs in November, down seven from the same period a year ago, according to Chief Bud Hanker's monthly report.

The department used a total of 377.5 man hours for the month. Total for the year through November is 3,101.9, the report said.

Sylvan township, with nine, had the highest number of runs. The Village of Chelsea was second with eight, followed by Dexter, Lima and Lyndon townships with three each.

Personal injury accidents accounted for 10 runs, more than any other category. Medical runs amounted to six. The other 10 runs were for a variety of reasons.

Masons Install New Officers

Olive Lodge No. 156, Free and Accepted Masons, of Chelsea, installed a new slate of officers, on Dec. 5 for the new year of 1987.

Scott Morgan has been installed, for the first time, as Worshipful Master.

The other officers are James Nicola, P.M., James Tiff, Walter Cozzens, P.M., Les Doerr, P.M., Charles Stoner, P.M., Donald Dancer, P.M., Carl Heldt, Ted Newcome.

Refreshments were enjoyed by all participants, following the formal installation.

Christmas Meal Offered at Hospital For Patients, Guest

Chelsea Community Hospital will be serving a special Christmas meal on Thursday, Dec. 25. Prime rib, honey basted ham, yams, a full salad bar and a choice of cheese cakes or black forest torte will be featured in this delicious menu planned for the day.

While no one enjoys the thought of being in the hospital on Christmas, patients may be cheered by the hospital's invitation to have them invite a guest for the noon meal, free of charge.

The noon meal is served between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Staff, as well, will be invited to enjoy a meal free of charge if working that day.

Village Will Hire Broker To Push Industrial Park

The Village of Chelsea plans to take a more aggressive posture in the marketing of the village's industrial park on Sibley Rd., which so far has just two tenants in 22 total available lots.

At its Dec. 16 meeting, the village council voted to renew the village's agreement with the Washtenaw Development Council at a cost of $1,882 for 1987 and to retain a broker who specializes in the marketing of industrial properties.

Council also discussed the purchase of signs that would show the way to the park from the outskirts of town, primarily from I-94.

The action was taken based on the specific recommendations of Michael Ammann, executive director of the Washtenaw Development Council, given in a meeting with Village Manager Fritz Weber, Assistant Village Manager Lee Fahrner, and Village President Jerry Satterthwaite on Dec. 9.

According to a memorandum from the village administration to the village council, Ammann said that other successful industrial parks in the county, such as Saline's, have hired brokers.

Based on a suggestion by Village Trustee Phil Boham, the village will seek bids from a minimum of three brokers who have experience in the marketing of industrial properties.

Ammann also said the village should develop an advertising brochure detailing facts about the community, the industrial park and available financing. No action was taken on that suggestion.

"In Ammann's opinion it was also 'very important' for the village to have enough strategically placed signs.

In that regard, the Michigan Department of Transportation told Fahrner in a letter that it would allow the placement of two signs on M-52, one just north of the I-94 interchange and the other at the Sibley Rd. turnoff. Since M-52 is a state route, the department has to approve all placement of signs.

Another sign, which does not fall under the state's jurisdiction, has been proposed for Old US-12 near the M-52 intersection.

Council, at least temporarily, rejected a bid by Huron Advertising of Ann Arbor to construct and install one 9' by 15' sign for the park at a cost of $8,725.

The Washtenaw Development Council itself handles all industrial parks in the county "on an equal basis," according to the memorandum as long as the community has a contract with the council. It provides a county profile and literature about each community to prospective developers.

In addition, the memo said, all information regarding industrial parks in the county is maintained on the development council's computer and can be cross referenced in terms of lot size, acreage and other pertinent information.

The industrial park's two tenants are BookCrafters, Inc. and Roberts Body Shop.

Churches Plan Special Services for Christmas

Midnight, candlelight, and special children's services are available for Christmas Eve worshippers at Chelsea area churches. In addition, some churches offer Christmas Day and New Year's Eve services.

Christmas, of course, has always been a child-centered holiday focusing on the birth of the Christ child. For this reason, a number of area churches offer special Christmas Eve children's services. St. Mary's Catholic church celebrates a special, children's mass; Faith Evangelical Lutheran church and St. Thomas Lutheran church both offer special services written and performed by children; Zion Lutheran, First United Methodist, and St. Paul United Church of Christ all offer family services; while Bethel United Church of Christ offers a play performed by their youth members.

Midnight of Christmas Eve is the beginning of Christmas; the end of Advent and the start of the celebration of Christ's birth. Many churches celebrate this time with services that begin or end at midnight, including St. Mary's, First United Methodist, and St. Paul.

To celebrate the birth of Jesus, "the light of the world" ("I am the light of the world, he who follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life." John 8:12) many churches hold candlelight services including Chelsea Free Methodist, Zion Lutheran, Bethel United Church of Christ, Covenant church and the Congregational Church of Chelsea.

In this breath-takingly lovely service, all the lights in the church are turned off and the worshippers each light a candle they have been given when they entered the church. The fire usually comes from a common source, such as a candle on the communion table, which the ushers take along the aisles, starting a candle on each of the aisle seats which in turn is used to light all the candles in the row. When all the candles are lit, the congregation joins together in song such as "Joy to the World" at the Chelsea Free Methodist or "Silent Night" at Zion Lutheran.

At Chelsea Free Methodist, Pastor Bradley and his wife light candles from the altar and then go along the aisle lighting the candles of their parishioners.

At Bethel United Church of Christ, the youth ushers are the candle lighters.

St. Mary's, Faith Evangelical Lutheran, Zion Lutheran, are also offering Christmas Day services, while St. Thomas, Our Savior Lutheran, Assembly of God, Chelsea Free Methodist, Zion Lutheran, North Sharon Bible church offer New Year's Eve programs or services.

Assembly of God church focuses their attention on the New Year's Eve service with fellowship, worship and prayer. Since they feel strongly about being a family church, the service starts at 7 p.m. so that the children participating can get to bed at a decent hour.

St. Mary's Catholic church offers six masses over a 24-hour period of Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. At 4 p.m. Dec. 24 they have a children's mass. A parish mass takes place at 6 p.m. and at midnight they celebrate the first mass of Christmas. Children sing carols before the 4 p.m. mass while the church choir sings before the 6 p.m. and midnight masses. On Christmas Day, masses are offered at 8, 10 and 12 a.m.

Chelsea Free Methodist church offers a candlelight service at 6 p.m. New Year's Eve they have a family fellowship from 8-12 p.m. at which people bring food to share, play table games, and enjoy two movies (one for children, one for the entire family).

Faith Evangelical Lutheran's Christmas Eve celebration consists of a children's service consisting of stories and songs written and performed by the children. At 10 a.m. Christmas Day the church will have a regular Christmas service.

Our Savior Lutheran church offers a traditional Christmas Eve service complete with caroling at 7:30 p.m. On Christmas Day they greet the Christ child with a festive worship at 10 a.m. According to the Rev. Giebel, "the emphasis is on the joyous music of Christmas." They also have a New Year's Eve service at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. Giebel describes it as a "solemn service as we go over departed friends of last year and look ahead to the planning of the New Year." Parishioners start the new year with communion.

St. Thomas Lutheran church's Christmas Eve children's service, is like Faith Evangelical's, completely put on by the children, although the rest of the congregation participates. The program is entitled "Customs of Christmas" and features singing and narration. St. Thomas has regular Christmas Day service at 10 a.m. and also offers holy communion at 7:30 p.m. on New Year's Day.

Zion Lutheran offers a family service and holy communion at 7:30 p.m. Christmas Eve, which is also a candlelight service. On Christmas Day they offer a full service at 9:30 a.m. featuring more carols and children's lessons. On New Year's Eve they have a service to end the old year and begin the new. According to the Rev. Morris, it is to "remember the blessings of the past and anticipate the faithfulness and the promises of God for the new year."

First United Methodist church has two Christmas Eve services, a 7 p.m. family service and a 11 p.m. communion service. Their choirs, both vocal and bell, will perform at both services.

North Sharon Bible church has a Christmas Eve service at 6 p.m. with a special Christmas message and special singing. The Rev. Booth says his congregation is very musically talented and that several solos and duets will be performed. New Year's Eve they have a special Watchnight service from 8-12 p.m. with special music and presentations of mountain top experiences in 1986. These include cassette tapes of revival speakers, teen-age speakers, and special music groups, and a tape of Darleen Rose, a

On Christmas Day next week, Otto Hinderer will celebrate his 95th birthday. He lives alone in his home at 204 Jefferson St., Chelsea, remains active and healthy for a man of his years, and takes care of almost all of his own needs. He was married to the late Mildred Cook of Chelsea for 64 years. His only son, Roger, lives in Little Rock, Ark. Otto baked and mailed chocolate chip cookies to his son today.

Paul Charles Schumann, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schumann was killed early last Saturday morning in a head-on crash on M-52 near Webberville. Dale was on his way home from Michigan Technological University at Houghton for the holidays.

Although Doris Fuhrmann is totally blind from diabetes, she knitted 72 pairs of mittens this year and more than 50 scarves, many of which went to St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys' annual Christmas party. She retired in the 1970's as Lyndon township clerk, a job she held about 10 years. All the fencing is in place, and village workers are putting the final finishing touches on the Veterans Park expansion project to beat the Dec. 31 deadline when a $39,000 federal grant will expire.

The cast for "Oliver," directed by Miss DiAnn L'Roy was posted after two long evenings of tryouts: Jeff Daniels, Fagin, headmaster of the Thieves Academy; Dave Clemans, the Artful Dodger; Ed Dreiman, Bill Sikes, a rogue; Ron Gauss, Mr. Bumble, manager of a group of poor young orphans; and Judy Blaess, as the sly widow Corney.

It was a familiar scene Saturday morning at Sylvan Townhall. There, neatly arranged, were boxes chocked full of non-perishable foods of all kinds. Toys, enough for 51 boys and 50 girls from 42 families, were ready.

The gifts were arranged by Chelsea Social Service.

Warren Spaulding looked like the spirit of Christmas as he was pictured in The Standard with some of "his many children." Spaulding for Children, an adoption agency, began four years ago when 85-year-old Mr. Spaulding, an elderly bachelor, and retiring farmer, wanted to use his spacious farm house on Waltrous Rd. for an orphanage. He was persuaded that children needed homes, not orphanages, so he donated his building for an office, and took his place on the board of directors of the new agency.

Vickie Waltz, Cynthia Nelson, Don Allan and Mary Lou Stoll were a few of the 1,400 children who sat on Santa's lap at the Chelsea Theatre Christmas party. 50 Christmas stockings filled with toys, games, etc. were distributed later to children who were ill or could not be present for other reasons.

Whenever Dexter and Chelsea get together for a basketball game, it can be expected to be a real lively affair, and last Friday's was no exception. Chelsea won, 54-50. For Chelsea the scoring was well balanced with Don Joseph and Bob Riemenschneider, 15 points each, Curt Farley, 13, Dudley Holmes, 9, and Jim Cameron, 2.

The Standard office was flooded with calls during the noon hour as a herd of more than 13 deer entered Chelsea from the west and passed between Merkel's Store and McKune Library and traveled from there to various locations in the village.

Calls came from James Hoffmeyer, Chelsea Junior High school; Mrs. Guy Murphy, Buchanan St.; Mrs. Walter Trinkle, Wilkinson St. and Fremont Boyer, West Middle St. The deer had apparently jumped a fence in Sumner Osterle's yard on Chandler St.

Court Creates Confidential Group To Probe Bronson Matter

A special working group involving officials from the Judicial Tenure Commission and the Attorney Grievance Commission to confidentially receive information regarding the Court of Appeals has been created by Supreme Court Chief Justice G. Mennen Williams.

The group is the product of a directive three weeks ago by the court to review the bribery solicited by Court of Appeals Judge S. Jerome Bronson and procedures to protect judicial integrity.

Williams said the group provides a specific forum for the public to report information regarding actions by judges or attorneys, and provides better co-ordination of the investigation than if the judicial and attorney groups handled independent investigations.

Grievance Commission Chairman Michael Schwarz is scheduled to meet Friday with attorney James Canham, who was the middleman in the bribe.

"With this working group in place, it is envisioned that a thorough investigation of the Bronson matter can be made. By assigning staff directly to the Judicial Tenure Commission and Attorney Grievance Commission, the confidentiality requirements of these two bodies at the investigation stage can be maintained," Williams said.

The group will be assisted by attorneys from the attorney general's office, an investigator from the State Police, and an auditor from the Department of Treasury.

Marilyn Hall, speaking for Williams, said auditors are sometimes brought into investigations in legal matters, and said there is some interest in looking in Bronson's financial records.

She said the investigation is focussed on Mr. Bronson and the particular case involved in the bribe (a $3.25 million damage judgment against Ford Motor Co.) but the working group will take it wherever it goes.

She said there is no time limit for the group to complete its investigation.

Williams said, "We are hoping that the Bronson incident was an isolated event, but, if it was not, then we want to know and take appropriate action."

State Bar President Julia Darlow offered strong endorsement for the working group concept.

"Citizens are entitled to assurance that the case will be fully investigated. Every possible effort must be made to determine whether this was or was not an isolated incident. That is why in our discussions we have urged the court to ensure that an effective, co-ordinated approach is put in place," she said.

She said the express invitation for citizens to come forward with information is a necessary and appropriate step to preserving confidence in the system.

Williams said the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals and Court Administrator are reviewing the internal procedures of the Court of Appeals as well.

During the bribery events, Bronson turned over a confidential internal court file on the case to the attorney for the injured person who won the damage suit against Ford.

Inquiries regarding the working groups are to be directed to the attorney general's office, telephone 517-334-6010.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

You and your folks must be as busy as your readers right about now. I don't know nothing about putting out a newspaper and I git that mixed up, but I figger in your line of work you got to do about the same amount no matter what. You must just scramble around and do it at different times so you can leave a little space for observing holidays like regular folks. You could tell the Christmas pace had picked up out here Saturday night because the fellers hadn't done their usual homework.

Clem Webster admitted right off that he had give the papers and farm journals a lick and a promise these past couple of weeks while he was paying more attention than usual to his old lady's schedule. Clem said she allus includes him in going places and buying things fer the same reasons the old prospectors took their mules along. He gives her somewhere to put stuff and somepun to talk to without bothering with being talked to, was Clem's words.

However, Clem said, he had took time to read where farmers in this country have got the hint of a Christmas present that could turn their lives around. This piece Clem had saw told how scientists at the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Northern Research Center in Peoria has come up with a way to make plastic from corn starch. This is a promise that could make gasohol look like a pipe dream, Clem said. Everything in this country is going to plastic and if there's anything we got plenty of in this country it's corn. You pick up a paper and you see farmers lined up at grain depots waiting to sell their corn fer a heap less than it cost to grow, Clem said, and you got ranchers paying more fer feed than they can to raise their stock at a profit. If we can work plastic into this formulaer we can leave out the part about the Government taking a loss by selling corn to other countries below market price just to keep our farmers growing more corn.

Right now, Clem said, let's look at the half full glass and say this corn-to-plastic plan will work soon instead of late. Plastic now is made from petroleum, so we know somepun has got to work because we're going to have a lot of need fer fuel and plastic left over at the end of our oil.

The fellers general shared Clem's thoughts on what could be a new corn market. But then they were in a meller mood. They were full agreed that all the politicians must be home helping their old ladies because the noise level in Washington is down, and the column writers are picking on one another. There's a heap of trouble in the world, and the fellers do more than their share of griping, but Saturday night they discussed such as having a warm, dry place to sleep, close to wear and more food than they ought to eat. Bug Hookum even mentioned where his favorite cafe in town had cut a row of mince pies in four pieces, like the old days. The next thing we know, Bug said, folks will go back to wearing a nightcap instead of drinking one.

I wish a happy Christmas and a safe new year to you folks that put out the paper and them that read it. I hope all them just elected Congressmen and Senators relax and rest fer the push ahead. Maybe, just maybe this new bunch learned a little somepun from the last. Maybe they will see what happens when they think of taxpayers as Santa Claus and their jobs as passing out the presents.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew

Barbara Proctor, Bernard Lebel Making Their Home in Miami

Barbara Jean Proctor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sweet and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Proctor, both of Chelsea, wed Bernard James Lebel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lebel of Torrington, Conn. on Dec. 5 in a 7 p.m. ceremony at the First Congregational church of Chelsea. The Rev. John Gibbon officiated and a friend of the bride's family, Roberta Cobb, played the organ.

The matron of honor was a friend of the bride, Rita Campbell of Pinckney. The best man was Randy Brook of Miami, Fla., a friend of the bridegroom.

Bridemaids were Margaret Sweet, sister of the bride, and Judy Killewald, a friend of the bride. Groomsmen were brothers of the bride, Philip Sweet and Richard Proctor.

A reception was held at Inverness Country Club at North Lake with Mr. and Mrs. David Murphy hosting. Sisters of the bride, Lori Butler and Janis Proctor, served the wedding cake. The guest book attendant was Robin Proctor, sister-in-law of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Chelsea High school and the Omega Cosmetology school in Ann Arbor. The bridegroom graduated from Wilby High school in Connecticut. The couple is residing in Miami, Fla.

Altar Society Members Meet for Christmas Party

St. Mary's Altar Society's meeting and Christmas Party was held Dec. 8 in the Rectory basement.

A delicious pot-luck dinner was served with Father Dupuis and his mother as guests.

Members brought unwrapped gifts to be given to Mott's Children's Hospital so young patients can pick out Christmas gifts for their family members.

A short business meeting followed. Beth Forner reported on a successful bake sale and bazaar. Katie Chapman reported on the upcoming anniversary dinner for Father Dupuis.

Next meeting will be Jan. 5. Members are asked to bring a wrapped "white elephant" gift.

Modern Mothers Enjoy Christmas Gift Exchange

Modern Mothers Child Study Club held their annual Christmas dinner and home-made gift exchange at the seasonally decorated home of Mickey Michaud Tuesday, Dec. 2. The evening began with conversation over punch and a Christmas tree-shaped cheeseball and crackers.

Dinner consisting of a mandarin orange and spinach salad, cornish hen with cheese and rice stuffing, green beans almondine, and caramel nut rolls was served at Christmas candlelit table bedecked with wooden hand-painted angels made as favors for each person by the committee.

Members lingered over a Kahula snowball dessert and coffee before adjourning to the Christmas tree in the living room where gifts were exchanged, and Christmas memories shared.

The Christmas committee consisted of Mickey Michaud, Jean Copper, Janet Alford, Cheryl Vogel, and Pat Whitesall. They prepared and served the dinner in addition to making the decorations.

The next meeting of Modern Mothers is Tuesday, Jan. 13, at the home of Jerri Cole. Co-hostesses are Colleen Weddon and Liseli Bowers. The program will concern women's health issues. Guests are welcome.

There may be a giant octopus, 100 feet or more across, lurking in the deep waters off Bermuda, reports International Wildlife magazine. Scientists believe that a Bermuda fisherman attracted a huge predator when he began using special traps to catch foot-long shrimp and two-foot crabs. Damage inflicted upon these traps have led scientists to believe that it may be the work of a giant octopus. Jaws beware!

Patricia Luck, Michael Moses Speak Vows in Hamburg Church

Patricia Lynn Luck, daughter of Mrs. Janet Luck of Chelsea, married Michael David Moses, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Moses of Lakeland, on Oct. 18 at 12 noon at St. Paul Lutheran church in Hamburg.

Pastor Carl Welser officiated. Mrs. John (Monica) Mera and Connie Dault sang "I Will Love You" and "The Wedding Song."

The bride wore an ivory satin Victorian-style gown with a cathedral-length train and carried a drop bouquet with peach silk roses and fresh white carnations and baby's breath tied together with a lace ribbon.

The maid of honor was Julie Luck of Chelsea, sister of the bride. The bridesmaid was Mrs. Brian (Jackie) Luttermoser of Brighton, sister of the bridegroom. The attendants wore teal-length satin dresses with an ivory lace overlay and carried bouquets similar to that of the bride.

Jacksonville, N.C., a friend of the couple. The groomsmen was another friend, Gary Sanchez of Ann Arbor. Honorary ushers were Alan Abend of Ypsilanti and Michael Kitson of Pinckney.

The mother of the bride wore a lavender street-length dress. The bridegroom's mother wore a street-length blue dress with a matching dress jacket.

The reception, which 150 guests attended, was held at Weber's Inn. Beth Versaci, cousin of the bridegroom, assisted with the guest book.

The couple took a two-week honeymoon trip to Hawaii. They are now residing in Lakeland.

Chelsea Community Hospital

During the holidays, many families like to take the opportunity to travel or entertain relatives or friends. But for families with a home-bound loved one, caring for them or leaving them behind becomes a special concern. Especially when that person needs extra attention due to an illness or disability. That's why Chelsea Community Hospital offers a "Respite" guest program for usually home-bound individuals. For about the cost of a night's lodging, guests can be registered at Chelsea Community Hospital, allowing those who are normally responsible for providing care, time to pursue other activities.

Maybe you never thought of a hospital as a place to stay unless you were ill. Well, we're out to change your mind. We'll provide basic, supportive care in the atmosphere for which we have become well-known—peaceful, caring and concerned.

We believe it is important for everyone's health for your loved one to be cared for in the best possible circumstances. Chelsea Community Hospital offers the care you so lovingly provide all year long as our special gift this holiday season.

For more information about the "Respite" guest program call Glenn Miller, R.N. at 475-1311 extension 356. Advance reservations are appreciated.

We're Chelsea, and we're different. We offer a complete range of health services, including emergency treatment, inpatient and outpatient surgery, coronary care, physical therapy and rehabilitation, headache pain treatment, substance abuse treatment, psychiatry, and a broad range of community health education programs; and we make every effort to help you help yourself by becoming a better-educated health care consumer.

We're Chelsea Community Hospital, a complete, comprehensive 137-bed health care facility located on 63 beautiful wooded acres right in the heart of Chelsea.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

Tonight, and through the Yuletide, Christians will glory in Handel's "Messiah." Choirs will hail the Prince of Peace—the coming of the Savior which was predicted centuries before in the Book of Isaiah. At the same time Americans of all races and religions will yawn through the final days of the International Year of Peace, unaware that 1986 was so proclaimed by the United Nations.

Instead of joy to the world, it was a year of agony as millions of human beings in both hemispheres found themselves in bloodbaths of war.

The very first words of the United Nations Charter—yes, the beginning of the preamble—declared: "We the peoples of the United Nations (are) determined to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war, which twice in our lifetime has brought untold sorrow to mankind." The preamble then promised: "To practice tolerance and live together in peace as good neighbors, to unite our strength to maintain international peace and security." It then added, "To ensure that armed forces shall not be used save in the common interest."

The charter was offered to the world at San Francisco in 1945. Today, 41 years later, more than one fourth of the 159 member nations are directly engaged in combat. No one knows for sure how many more UN members, including the United States, are providing weapons, military machines, training, political guidance, communications and intelligence to embattled UN nations. There are so many armed conflicts around the globe they are hard to count; but observers (including UN experts) estimate that over 100 wars are being fought right now. Burma, for instance, is engaged in eight different wars at once against Communist guerrillas and assorted separatist movements. More than a million people are believed to have been killed in 16 years of internecine war in Cambodia while another three to four million have died in other ongoing conflicts.

Why do they go to war? They do it to fight over land instead of sharing it. They send each other to the grave as a "righteous" means of resolving religious differences. There are wars over power, national vanity and political systems.

Spanish speaking Catholic nations are under assault by Marxist "liberation fronts" to bring atheism to El Salvador, Colombia, Peru and the Philippines. Anti-Marxist forces are trying to recapture governments which have fallen to the Communists in Nicaragua, Angola, Ethiopia, Mozambique, Afghanistan and Cambodia.

Morocco appears to be winning a primitive 11-year war by building a fortified 1,550-mile wall in the western Sahara to restrain rebel forces from attacking populated areas. In Sudan, which is mostly Arab, a 20,000 man "liberation army" is fighting to bring more autonomy to black Christians in the south. Other African wars are going on between secessionists, guerrillas and white minorities. Marxist Cuban forces an ocean away from home are fighting on the Dark Continent while South African military forces, equipped with $20 million in U.S. arms aid, are fighting on other fronts. Two decades of war in Uganda have cost the lives of 500,000 humans but there is a momentary lull in that weary region while opposing forces regroup.

Farther south four wars intermesh. One, in South Africa itself, finds black nationalist guerrillas using terror bombs to unseat the white minority, and the Mozambique black Marxists accuse South Africa of broken promises in the supply of weapons. There is much, much more to report about the killings in various parts of Asia as we celebrate Christmas Eve, and an endless supply of fresh horrors keep coming from the madhouse known as the Middle East. You don't need this picture; you get it every night on TV.

The hope for peace on earth within the United Nations is even more forlorn than the eight crusades against the infidels. We must reconstitute the United Nations because such a framework is an absolute, positive prerequisite to world peace.

This we must do because, for the first time in human history, we are in a real situation where it is actually possible to turn the face of the earth into a dead wasteland of cinders. We can no longer tolerate a condition where half of the civilized nations in the world are either engaged in war or are fueling the process.

We must arrive at a world organization of such unity and determination that if two nations are stupid enough to start a war, all of the remaining nations in the body will lower the boom.

The central stumbling block in these aspirations is the Soviet Union which intends to turn all 159 countries (or whatever) into the United Soviet Nations. They have to start wars for a reason which one of the authors of the 1956 Encyclopedia Britannica explained this way: "A state that seeks to subordinate all the activities of its citizens to comprehensive ends, admitting little local, functional or individual resentments by focusing them upon an external enemy. It is doubtful whether a highly centralized totalitarian dictatorship can exist without such a scapegoat."

Russia is the most successful revolution in world political history, far exceeding the achievements of Napoleon or Hitler. Communism has successfully introduced stability in the process of Marxist-Leninist conquest and made it work by turning each victim nation into a police state. But, at long last, the USSR has gorged too greatly and is beginning to choke.

There is no way that the Soviet Union can seal its borders or its people from knowledge of the comforts, abundance and freedoms of the free world. Soviets populations will not forever deny themselves the joys of democracy simply to build greater war machines for additional Soviet conquests. We have already seen a crack in the dike with the extension of private-profit trade to Russian cottage industries. These cracks can never be sealed and will constantly widen until the fissures reach the Kremlin.

It is safe to say that at least half of the international wars, revolutions and civil uprisings now going on are of Communist origin. Such efforts to form patchwork Communist empires in Africa, Central America and Southeast Asia are doomed to failure because Marxist-Leninist dogma is etched too thin on these native populations. The communication lines are far too long and fragile. What is more, the cost-to-benefit ratio is simply not there in countries with per capita incomes of less than $800 a year.

Cuba is one exception only because of the brilliant, profane leadership of the Leninist Fidel Castro.

In the interest of the true world peace we should do everything we can to encourage the downfall of Communism and transition into a free Soviet Union. We should foster the development of a fair-for-all system of government for people everywhere.

This is true because there is one priority on earth which is more immediate than the future, and that is survival.

FATHER CHRISTMAS from France was played by Karsten Lipiec, left, during South school's presentation of "Christmas Around the World," last week. Parents and friends were in the audience. In the play, children from all over the world pay a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, played by Eric Montagne and Martha Merkel. At right is Lauren Zuehlke, playing a child from France.

BEFANA, Italy's version of Santa Claus, was played by Annie Terrstra during South school's presentation of "Christmas Around the World," last week. Children in Suzanne DeVries' fourth grade class and Sandy Hamilton's third grade class took part in the traditional event at the school.

New Monthly Book Club Being Organized

The University of Michigan Medical Center's Turner Geriatric Services is forming a new monthly Book Club. The Book Club is holding its first meeting on Saturday, Jan. 17th, from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Turner Clinic, 1010 Wall St., Ann Arbor.

All men and women who enjoy reading and like to share and discuss with others what they read, are invited to attend.

C. Trust Promotes Bott, Merkel

William J. Bott, second vice-president and manager of the Citizens Trust Chelsea office, has been promoted to the position of vice-president and head of branch administration, it was announced by George H. Cress, president and chief executive officer.

In related action, the Citizens Trust board of directors has approved the appointment of D. Patrick Merkel, second vice-president and real estate officer, to the position of second vice-president and manager of the Chelsea Branch succeeding Bott. Merkel is a life-long resident of Chelsea.

Bott joined Citizens Trust in June,

1978, and has been officer in charge of the Citizens Trust Chelsea office continuously since the branch was opened in November, 1978. He is a graduate of Indiana University with a bachelor of science degree in business. He has been extremely active in civic and community activities, most recently including the Washtenaw Community College Foundation and the Chelsea Downtown Development Authority.

Prior to his association with Citizens Trust, Bott served as executive director of the Ann Arbor Area Chamber of Commerce for a period of 16 years. He has had numerous other business associations during his professional career.

Merkel joined Citizens Trust in July, 1981, and is a life-long resident in the Chelsea community. He had held the position as general manager of a Chelsea real estate firm for several years prior to his association with Citizens Trust.

He is a member of the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors and both the Michigan and National Association of Realtors. Merkel attended Central Michigan University and Eastern Michigan University and has also been heavily involved in community activities.

Dogs Rip Lincoln, Milan In Wild Week of Hoop

For the first time in several years the Chelsea varsity basketball team knocked off the Milan Big Reds and Lincoln Railsplitters in back-to-back contests, two of the best teams in the Southeastern Conference.

On Tuesday, in a game marred by a brawl in the final seconds, Chelsea topped the Big Reds in Milan, 49-48.

Friday's game started off just as close but the Bulldogs ran away with the game in the fourth quarter to take a 61-42 win at home against the Railsplitters.

"To say we're pleased at this point would be an understatement," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

At the beginning of the year we thought we might be able to sneak up on teams since we finished in last place last year and don't have much height. I don't think we'll be doing much sneaking up anymore. I don't think anyone will be taking us lightly.

Friday night's game was close through the first three quarters as neither team could pull away more than three points. However, in the final quarter with a three point lead, forward Jeff Harvey and center Marty Poljan sank back-to-back field goals, and Matt Steinhauer hit both ends of a one-and-one situation to push Chelsea in front by nine points with 4:31 left.

From then on Chelsea played a modified delay game and ended up going to the foul line 13 more times, sinking 10 free throws. Guard Todd Starkey, who hit eight of nine free throws on the night, sank six in the last four minutes.

Starkey, who hit just one field goal, had his best game of the season. He guided the offense by effectively controlling the tempo, the key to the win, according to Rosentreter. Starkey also contributed eight assists, four steals and five rebounds.

"We can't go out and slug it out with most teams so we have to find some other way to win games," Rosentreter said.

"One way is to slow the tempo when we have to. It's all in the hands of Todd."

Harvey, a 6'11" forward, also had his best game, with 13 points and 12 rebounds, including nine points in the second half and three field goals in the third quarter. His field goal off an offensive rebound late in the third quarter gave the Bulldogs the lead for good at 33-32, after they had squandered a five points lead.

"Every game it seems like we have an unsung hero," Rosentreter said.

"In our first win over Brooklyn it was Jon Lane and Greg Haist. In our win over Milan it was Marty Poljan. Friday it was Jeff Harvey. That kind of situation makes it a lot easier to coach."

Chelsea's shooting is also starting to show signs of life. The Bulldogs hit 21-56 shots, the first time all year they've been over 40 percent. They were also 19-29 from the line, the bulk of the shots in the fourth quarter.

On the other hand, Lincoln was 20-52 but shot just six free throws, making four.

The Bulldogs held an unexpected 28-23 rebound edge over the much taller Railsplitters.

Rounding out the scoring was Mark Bareis, with a team-high 14 points. Poljan with eight, Lane with five, Steinhauer and Bohlender with four each, Haist with two and junior Greg Boughton with one point, his first varsity point.

Chelsea's game with Milan was never completed as a brawl erupted with one second to play after a missed Milan jump shot was rebounded by Poljan.

Although Rosentreter said Chelsea didn't play nearly as well as they did Friday night, the story of the game was much the same—Chelsea controlled the tempo of the game effectively.

After falling behind 10-0 and 15-8 by the end of the first quarter, Chelsea began to take charge and stopped the Big Red running game. They outscored Milan in the second quarter, 19-8, as Haist was 4-4 from the field and the team had seven assists. The Bulldogs hit 8-12 shots in the quarter, including six inside.

"We had to play a slow, deliberate game," Rosentreter said.

Bulldog shooters went cold in the third quarter with a 4-14 performance but solid defense kept them in the lead, 39-33, by the end of the period.

In the fourth quarter Chelsea slowed the tempo even more and ended up making 6-9 free throws as the Big Reds were forced to foul. Chelsea was 15-20 from the line for the night.

Milan was able to slip back in the contest setting up the shot by Pat Heath with a couple of seconds left.

Once the shot was missed, Heath tried to foul Poljan, who had grabbed the rebound.

"That was the only thing Heath could do, but unfortunately he got a little carried away," Rosentreter said.

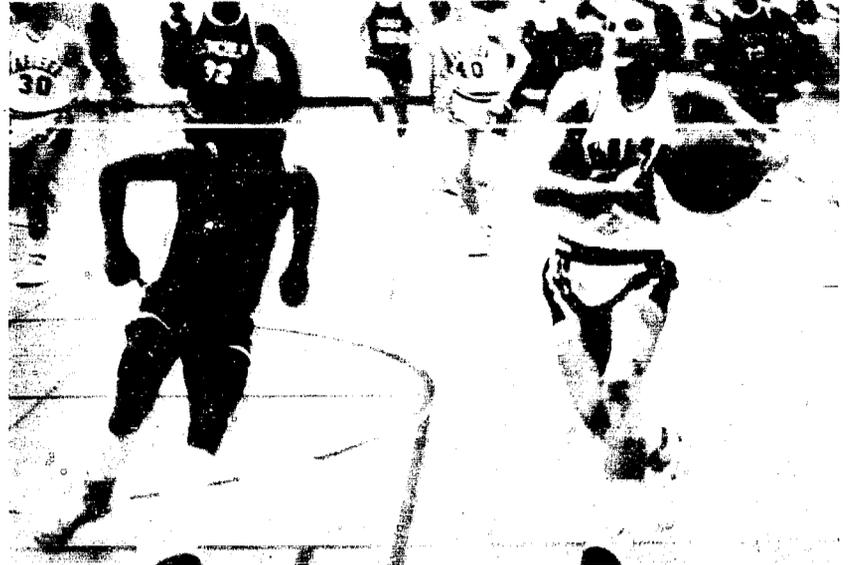

At that point the brawl started, involving players from both teams as well as a couple of Lincoln's male cheerleaders. Order was restored by coaches, parents and administrators before anyone was seriously hurt.

According to Chelsea Athletic Director Larry Reed, "Milan is dealing with the situation."

Bareis led Chelsea offensively with 21 points, including 9-11 from the free throw line.

Poljan, who scored seven points, "was dominating on the boards," with 10 rebounds, four offensive, Rosentreter said.

Haist added 10 points, Starkey, seven, and Harvey and Steinhauer two each.

TODD STARKEY DRIVES during first-half action against the Lincoln Railsplitters. The Bulldogs earned a surprisingly easy 61-42 victory, thanks in part to Starkey's ability to control the tempo of the game. Starkey made this shot and hit 8-9 from the line for 10 total points.

GOING UP STRONG FOR TWO points is senior forward Jeff Harvey, who finished with 13 points and 12 rebounds against Lincoln, his best game of the young season.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

If you follow Chelsea High school basketball, probably by now you've heard about THE FIGHT at Milan High school last Tuesday night. It has made for a lot of interesting talk around town.

I did not see THE FIGHT. I've only heard about it, from all kinds of different people.

I've also heard about five slightly different versions of the story. Apparently it all transpired so fast that if you happened to be glancing at the scoreboard you probably don't know the true story.

The only common denominator of the stories is that a Milan male cheerleader temporarily went a little wacko and tried to level Chelsea's Jon Lane at about mid-court.

I've also heard various opinions expressed as to what kind of action should be taken against the Milan players and cheerleaders involved. More on that later.

After talking to both athletic director Larry Reed, and basketball coach Rahn Rosentreter, this is the story as I understand it.

With Milan behind by one point, Pat Heath of Milan took a jump shot that missed and was rebounded by Marty Poljan (other stories have both Greg Haist or Todd Starkey grabbing the rebound). At that point Heath apparently grabbed Poljan from behind to foul him and stop the clock. However, he ended up pulling Poljan backward and they both ended up on the deck. Then another player got into the action.

About the same time, the Milan cheerleader streaked across the court after Lane. Then all hell broke loose.

A lot of the players suffered bumps and bruises but no major damage was done, although the potential for big trouble was there. On a Friday night, the gym packed with kids trying to blow off a week's worth of frustrations, you never know what might have happened.

Rosentreter said that the next day the players were joking about the incident. Someone suggested the Chelsea band play the theme from "Rocky" the next time the teams meet in February.

If that is true, the players probably have the incident in better perspective than many of the adults.

Administrators are right to be concerned about these kinds of situations, but not TOO concerned. Their natural reaction is to take some disciplinary action against the players, cheerleaders and whomever else was involved.

"This is a bad reflection on our school," they say. "We have to do SOMETHING."

I don't know what Milan has in store for the players and cheerleaders involved, but I hope they don't get too carried away.

Because, frankly, I'm surprised fights don't break out more often than they do in high school contests. In this society kids are taught that winning is everything. They are ranked against their peers academically, socially, physically and in just about every other way you can think of. Being number one, that's what it's all about.

How many times do you see an athlete say on TV, "We're number five?" Even teams that are 0-10 say "We're number ONE!" There's no glory in being number two. And that can add up to a lot of frustration at a tense moment in a basketball game when you're about to be beaten by a team you think should be easy pickin's. I'm sure Milan expected to win by a wide margin.

I don't even think we should be too harsh on a player who tries to BE number one, even if his judgment temporarily goes a little haywire. Certainly we don't have to condone fighting during a game and some disciplinary action is in order. At the same time, I don't think we should be too surprised when fighting occurs.

A couple of other notes about the incident.

Both Reed and Rosentreter had nothing but praise for the way Chelsea players and spectators responded to the mess.

"They conducted themselves admirably," Reed said.

At the same time both are worried that Chelsea is gaining a poor reputation around the Southeastern Conference as this is the second violent sports incident this year involving a Chelsea team. The other occurred in the football game with Tecumseh.

Only time will tell if indeed Chelsea does get an Oakland Raiders kind of reputation. It's just too bad every one around the league couldn't take a good, close look at our athletes. They look about as mean as puppy dogs.

One final note. I've heard people make disparaging comments about the sexual orientation of Milan's male cheerleaders, which I consider highly offensive and not at all relevant to the issue. But they are no less offensive than people asking if any of Milan's black athletes were involved, as if that would somehow explain everything.

These people don't realize how pathetic they sound.

Oh, and by the way, Merry Christmas.

JON LANE breaks down the baseline against the Lincoln Railsplitters for two of his five points. Lane is proving to be a valuable player off Rahn Rosentreter's bench this season.

JV Cagers Top Lincoln On Last Second Shot

A baseline jump shot by Junior Morseau with four seconds to go gave the Chelsea junior varsity basketball team their first Southeastern Conference victory of the season last Friday night, 47-45 over the Lincoln Railsplitters.

In other action last week, the Bulldogs were edged by the host Milan Big Reds, 48-46, on Tuesday.

The winning shot was a play designed by coach Jeff Dils during a time out with 15 seconds to go.

"Everybody ran the play to perfection," Dils said.

"Junior came off the double pick and hit the shot."

Chelsea led throughout most of the contest, taking a 13-4 lead at the end of the first quarter, but lost the lead toward the end of the game on some sloppy play, which resulted in a couple of turnovers. Lincoln grabbed a 43-41 lead after trailing 37-31 at the end of the third quarter.

Tim Anderson played a big part in the on-going Chelsea lead as he dominated the boards. Anderson had 13 rebounds, including six offensive rebounds, and scored a team-high 16 points, most of them on power basketball inside, on 7 for 11 shooting.

Anderson was largely responsible for Chelsea's 38-28 rebound edge, along with John Collins' nine rebounds (four offensive).

Dils also credited a tough Chelsea defense for playing a big part in the win as it helped to force 23 Railsplitter turnovers.

Other Chelsea scorers included Morseau with nine points, Jeff Marshall with seven, Larry Nix and Collins with five each. Loren Keezer with three points and Bryant Beard with two.

In the Milan game on Tuesday, Chelsea had a chance to tie the game in their final possession but the shot fell short.

"We played a really sloppy game on both ends," Dils said.

"We had a lot of turnovers and we only made 10 of 26 free throws. When you don't make free throws in a two-point game you have to wonder."

The Bulldogs were up by three points at the end of the third quarter, 36-33, before turnovers played a big part in the Big Red rally.

Marshall led Chelsea with 12 points. Nix followed with 10, Anderson had eight, Collins, seven, Thomson, five, Keezer, three, and Morseau, one.

Chelsea has a 1-3 over-all record and 1-2 mark in conference play.

Swimmers Complete 24-Hour Relay

Chelsea boys swim team kicked off the Christmas holiday season with a 24-hour relay at the Charles S. Cameron Pool.

The relay started Monday at 8 a.m. and was successfully completed Tuesday, 24 hours later.

Each team member swam a 500-yard leg then stayed around to cheer on the next swimmers until his next turn to swim.

"The guys have always wanted to try this so we decided to set it up and do it," coach Mike Keeler said.

The world record for the number of yards swam in 24 hours by one swimmer is 98,000 yards held by University of Michigan swimmer Dave Goch. The team's goal was to keep up with that pace.

Still Time To Become Member of Depot Assoc.

There is still time for any person or family in the Chelsea area to become a 1986 charter member of the Depot Association. "Send your check for $10 or more in the mail before midnight Dec. 31," declared board chairman Lee Fahrner, "and you'll receive your charter certificate by return mail. You may order certificates for each member of your family. The address is Chelsea Depot Association, P.O. Box C, Chelsea. Donations of $10, $25, $50 or $100 are all welcome. If you have any questions just call 475-2706."

On behalf of the trustees of the Chelsea Depot Association, Fahrner also expressed praise and gratitude to all of the initial donors, the families, individuals and enterprises who contributed more than $41,000 to purchase of the property from Amtrak and the restoration of the building exterior.

For the purchase of the depot and 0.84 acres of land, $16,000 was donated by the Chelsea Area Historical Society, the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, the Civic Foundation of Chelsea, Chelsea Milling Co. and Dana Corp. More than $25,000 was contributed by family, personal and business donors. Most of it was invested in professional restoration of the building exterior under the supervision of architect Arthur L. Landauer, and a small nest egg remains in the bank.

The next step, calling for a fund drive in 1987 much greater than 1985-86, will be the restoration of the interior of the building, converting it into a historical museum and community meeting center. Everyone in town will be solicited but major grants will also be sought from charitable foundations.

★ Holiday Drinking . . .

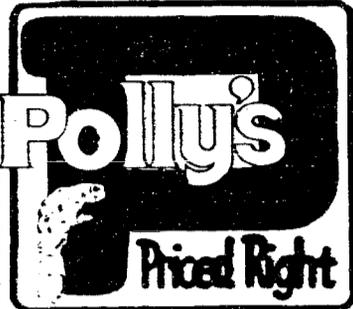

Too often when people refer to holiday spirits at this time of year, they are referring to the alcohol spirits. Used in moderation and in controlled situations, alcohol can enhance a holiday social gathering. It's best to remember, however, that parties will be more successful if alcoholic beverages are not the main attraction.

When alcohol is served, invariably there will be those who drink too much. Concerned hosts and hostesses should plan in advance for such events. Insist that the intoxicated person not drive until you are convinced he or she is sober enough to be on the road. Sometimes it's even necessary to make overnight accommodations or alternative transportation arrangements. To avoid any disagreements with a guest, make your wishes known in advance. Often an intoxicated person will be less insistent if ground rules have been explained.

Don't think, either, that lots and lots of black coffee will sober an intoxicated person quickly. There is no fast sobriety. Only sufficient time will give the body time to detoxify itself.

Make sure you limit the alcohol available at your party and serve a choice of tasty non-alcoholic beverages. Quite often drink mixes can be prepared according to package directions, alcohol omitted, and are delicious. Encourage your guests who are drinking to limit their consumption to one drink per hour. And at the time of your choice, substitute coffee or soft drink for the alcohol and remove it from your guest's access.

Serve a variety of foods continuously during the entire party. A buffet with high protein snacks is a good idea because they tend to slow the absorption of alcohol into the blood stream. Avoid excessively salty foods which make people thirstier.

Tim Alexander Joins Very Few in Michigan Who Have Shot An Elk

Tim Alexander, 17-year-old Chelsea High school senior and son of Ann and Jim Alexander of 2809 Kalmbach Rd., is one of the few people in Michigan who have shot an elk.

Tim applied for an elk hunting license and was one of 95 people whose name was drawn. His father, Jim, took him up north to the Canada Creek Ranch to try his luck. The first day they were there, they attended an elk hunting seminar in the nearby town of Atlanta.

On the opening day of elk season, Tim, his dad, and a guide left to go hunting. Tim describes it thusly: "We were driving around for a while. It's a big ranch and everyone has OH's or walky-talkies. Someone called our guide and said there were 12 elk on the other side of the hill. It was snowing and the prettiest picture I've ever seen." Tim picked out an elk, "one of the biggest, toward the end of the herd," and shot it from 200 yards using his 370 Winchester.

The elk weighed 325 pounds. Tim and his family are still eating it. Asked how it tastes, Tim says it is much better than venison; that venison has a gamey taste but that elk tastes so much like beef that "if you fried steaks of each, you wouldn't be able to tell the difference."

Tim has been hunting for three years, ever since he came of legal age to get a license. Asked why he wanted to go elk hunting, Tim said, "It's a once in a lifetime opportunity."

People who receive permission to hunt elk can never apply again. Approval of the application permits hunters to use any type of firearms that are allowable with deer hunting licenses.

Tim learned in his seminar that the reason elk hunting is handled this way is that there are not enough elk to allow an open season, but enough that there is a need to cut down on their numbers. The farmers complain that 10 elk are worth a herd of deer in terms of the damage they can do. For instance, elk do not jump over fences, they just tear them down.

MASON OF THE YEAR: This month the Masons of Chelsea, have named a Chelsea resident and employee of Chrysler Proving Grounds, as Master Mason of the Year for 1986. Walter E. Cozzens has been a member for 10 years. Walter has served as Worshipful Master for two years. There will be a special presentation made at the annual banquet held Jan. 31.

Fair Board Has Meeting Dec. 18

Chelsea Community Fair Board met Thursday, Dec. 18. President Bill Stoffer called the meeting to order.

Ruth Stielstra asked for and made arrangements to use the fairgrounds May 27 to have a meeting of hundreds of children and adult leaders (one adult to five children) in the "Chelsea's Children Celebrate Live" program. The 1986 program took place at North and South Elementary schools.

A discussion was held with Harold Allen concerning the Fourth of July celebration, mainly dealing with insurance costs.

The reports were read and accepted. Old business was discussed and some decided.

Present for the meeting were Stoffer, ex vice-president Lloyd Grau, secretary Mary Ann Guenther, and treasurer Mark Stapish.

Directors present were Archie Bradbury, Harold Gross, Earl Heller, Jerry Herrick, Jerry Heydauff, John Klink, Don Koenigter, Jeff Layher, Mark Lesser, Reuben Lesser, Jr., Ken McCalla (new), and Harold Trinkle.

Sixteen of the 24 members were in attendance.

A study of the traffic pattern is to be made for parking on fair property south of the present fence. Property east of the grounds may be unavailable.

Report submitted by John Wellnitz.

Jim Hoeft Downs First Elk With Bow, Arrow

C. JAMES HOEFT of Ann Arbor, son of Calvin Hoeft of Dexter, with the 355-pound elk he bagged north of Atlanta this fall. This was the first elk ever killed with a bow and arrow in Michigan.

The first elk to be shot by a bow and arrow in recent history was shot by Jim Hoeft, 30, of Ann Arbor, son of Joan and Calvin Hoeft of Dexter.

According to Joan Hoeft, Jim first tried shooting with a bow and arrow when he was eight. He has been seriously hunting since he was a teenager, using both rifles and bows and arrows, and has shot a number of deer with both weapons.

This year, Jim applied for an elk license, competing with 36,348 applicants. When the drawing for 95 slots took place, Jim was one of the lucky ones.

Jim's family owns property in Curran, near the elk hunting area—the Pigeon River Country State Forest. Jim, his father, Calvin, and his best friend, Randy Walker of Pinckney, stayed in Curran when they went hunting this year. A mandatory seminar at Atlanta, given Dec. 8, the day before the elk season opened, was only a 45-minute drive away.

Jim chose the Black River Ranch as a site to go hunting. The ranch manager dropped Jim, Calvin, and Randy off about noon in a rye field where they set up a blind. At about 3:30 a herd of 20 or 25 elk came to the edge of the woods. Jim picked out a big cow and aimed, getting a good broadside shot at about 15 yards. The wounded elk took off with the herd, ran about 40 yards, then stopped alone on top of a hill.

The three hunters waited, not absolutely sure that the stopped elk was the one Jim shot. Finally Jim got close enough to see the arrow and was able to make another shot which finished the elk.

Jim was surprised he was able to get as close to the elk as he was. He said, "I had a real good experience watching the bulls and cows. They definitely aren't as spooky as the whitetail is. It was just great to be out there and have the opportunity to hunt something so big."

Four others in Jim's seminar told him they were also trying to shoot an elk with a bow and arrow but none of them connected. In past years there have been numerous failed attempts, so Jim's feat is a real landmark.

Jim's elk was a four-year-old cow and dressed out at 355 pounds. Jim shared the meat with his parents and the eight friends who helped him with the butchering. Joan Hoeft has frozen most of her share and is still eating it. In Joans' opinion, "the meat is very good, it tastes just like venison."

Thomas J. Durkin, 2552 Traver Blvd., Ann Arbor, age 87, died Tuesday, Dec. 16, at the Veterans Medical Center, Battle Creek, following a long illness.

He was born Oct. 7, 1919 in Cleveland, O., the son of James H. and Jane (Topping) Durkin. On Jan. 21, 1942 he married Catherine M. Andrews at John Carol University in Cleveland Heights, O. She survives.

Mr. Durkin had been a marketing executive for four major corporations, retiring from Truck-Lite Corp. in Falconer, N.Y. He attended John Carol University and served in the U.S. Coast Guard during WW-II. He was a member of the Society of Automotive engineers.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are two sons, William Michael Durkin of Columbia, S.C., and Thomas M. Durkin of Los Angeles, Calif.; three daughters, Bonnie Bisio of Livonia, Lynn Pleuss of Hamburg, and Terri Durkin-Williams of Ann Arbor; five grandchildren; and two sisters, Jean O'Connor of Port LaBelle, Fla., and Arline Campbell of Rocky River, O.

Mass of the Resurrection was held Friday, Dec. 19 at 10 a.m. at St. Thomas Catholic church in Ann Arbor with the Rev. Fr. Robert Lundford officiating. A scripture service was held Thursday evening from the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home, Wesley Hall.

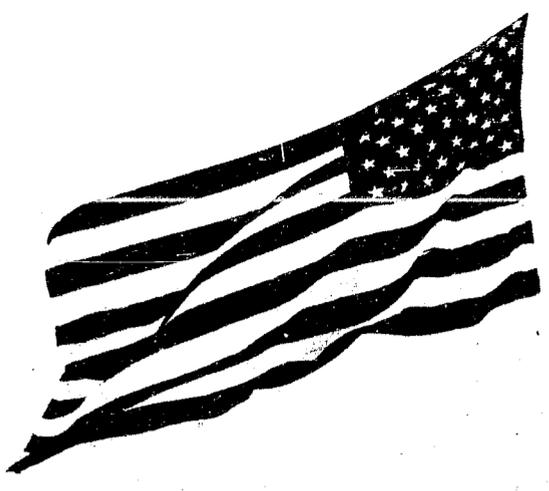

Arrangements were made by the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

Births

A son, Ryan Michael, Saturday, Dec. 13, to Michael and Sheri Gramer of Chelsea. Grandparents are David and Boots Kaercher of Chelsea, and Kenneth and Jean Gramer of Port Orange, Fla., formerly of Pinckney. The Gramers' daughter is 3½-year-old Lindsey.

A daughter, Alyssa Lindsay, Monday, Nov. 24 to Jeffrey and Lori (Heiss) Sprague of Mahomet, Ill. Maternal grandparents are Norman and Doris Heiss of Langley, Wash. Paternal grandparents are James and Marian Sprague of Grass Lake.

What is man's most deadly enemy in the wildlife world? The lion—no. The polar bear—no. According to National Wildlife magazine, mosquitoes may be man's deadliest foe. They deploy parasites that cause malaria and kill one million people a year in Africa alone. They are also responsible for high death rates in India, Pakistan, Asia, Central America and the Caribbean Islands.

SENIOR CITIZENS had a chance to enjoy Christmas carols sung by first graders in D'Ann Gletzen's first grade class at North Elementary school. The program took place in the Senior Citizens Center at North school last week. Accompanying the children on the harp was Rochelle Moulleseaux.

Traditional Christmas tree decorations

Christmas trees — whether fir, pine, or a facsimile of the real thing — are a symbol of Christmas throughout the country. With homes and families smaller these days, six foot trees inside the house are rare. But some old-time decorations remain.

Colored lights and balls, garlands of popcorn and cranberries, and a star at the top are still favorites for decorating trees — even the small table ones.

To string cranberries, use a needle and strong cotton thread. Tie the first berry to the end of the thread.

Continue threading berries and popcorn as you would beads until the string is about four feet long. Knot the last berry.

It is easier to make strings three to four feet long, than one very long garland. The strings can be done in advance and kept in plastic containers in the refrigerator.

Dial-A-Garden Topics Listed

The following is a schedule of Dial-A-Garden, the system of pre-recorded daily gardening tips sponsored by the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service. The system is in operation 24 hours per day, 7 days per week.

Interested persons are invited to call 971-1122 at their convenience and receive timely, up-to-date gardening information.

- Topics for the next week are as follows:
- Wednesday, Dec. 24—"Christmas Traditions."
- Thursday, Dec. 25—"Closed, Christmas."
- Friday, Dec. 26—"Why Won't Houseplants Flower?"
- Monday, Dec. 29—"De-icing Alternatives."
- Tuesday, Dec. 30—"Recycle Christmas Tree."
- Wednesday, Dec. 31—"Gardening Resolutions."

The old adage "Clothes make the man" apparently applies to birds' plumage as well, reports National Wildlife magazine. Research on chickadees and several species of sparrows has shown that the width of colored bands on the birds' heads and chest determine their social rank within the flock.

Joyous wishes for a happy Holiday.

The silver sounds of sleigh bells echo through the Christmas air with a message of hope and joy for all. They ring out too, our thanks for your loyal friendship.

Life in the big city is tough, especially for trees. But soon healthier strains of trees may be developed that can survive and beautify the city. International Wildlife magazine reports that the Illinois Tollway Authority is supporting a program at the Morton Arboretum in suburban Chicago, that would breed trees and shrubs that could tolerate inhospitable soil, salt sprays, and other pollutants from expressways. Most promising thus far are several salt-resistant Asian elms.

Our Readers Share Favorite Holiday Recipes

This year's holiday recipes come from about as diverse a group of people as you can imagine. Each person is delightful in his or her own way. A couple you may have heard of. Two live in town, two in the country. Three men but only one woman (shame on you ladies of Chelsea!) submitted recipes. Their average age is 45.8, we think.

Sure, demographics are interesting. But each recipe has a better story behind it.

Rainey L. Bassemier, 215 E. Middle St., was the first to submit a recipe, for Custard Peach Kuchen. He offered The Standard food editor (he calls himself a Strumpet in his restaurant review column) a bite, but it was too soon after lunch. So we had to take his word for it that this is a "kid pleasin'" dish. He was making it for his kids for an after school treat.

Rainey said he discovered this dish while in Germany, which seems like a likely place to find Kuchen. He makes it so it sits flat in a pan, which may take away a little of the artistry, but, he swears, none of the taste. Anyway, most kids care about artistry in food as much as they care about finesse in rock music.

RAINEY BASSEMIER'S CUSTARD PEACH KUCHEN

- 1 C whipping cream
- 1 t cinnamon
- 1 1/2 C canned peaches, drained and sliced
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 C flour
- 1/4 t salt
- 1/8 t baking powder
- 1/4 C butter or margarine (soft)
- 1/4 C plus 4 t sugar

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Mix flour with salt, baking powder and 2 t sugar. Mix butter in until crumbly. Pat mixture in bottom of 11x7x2 ungreased pan. Put peaches in pan. Mix 1/4 C plus 2 t sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over peaches. Bake 15 minutes. Mix egg yolks and whipping cream and pour over peaches. Bake 25 minutes until custard is set. Serves 8 (or two teenagers).

RAINEY BASSEMIER made this wonderful Custard Peach Kuchen as a holiday treat for the family. Unfortunately, it looks a little less wonderful in black and white.

The multi-talented Jeff Daniels, softball team owner, actor, devoted husband and father (when he's not in handcuffs) first hinted of the existence of his recipe for butternut cookies way back in 1972 when he was Cager of the Week in The Standard. In that interview he also said he wanted to be a teacher (guess we can't have everything).

Anyway, as far as we know, this is the first time he's ever divulged this recipe. (Everybody knows what happened to Paul Newman when he started spouting off about his spaghetti sauce.) Maybe this is just the beginning of something even wilder for Chelsea's favorite actor. Incidentally, Jeff sent us the recipe on authentic Cavanaugh Clams letterhead.

JEFF DANIELS' CAGER OF THE WEEK BUTTERNUT COOKIE RECIPE

The Nuts
5 sticks of butter
1 pound of your favorite nuts
Melt five sticks of butter in large sauce pan. Pour into larger bowl. Dump one pound of nuts into butter and let soak overnight. Next morning, scoop buttered nuts back into large sauce pan and remelt. Pour buttered nuts into strainer, draining off excess butter. Quick. Make cookies.

The Cookies
2/3 C shortening
3/4 C granulated sugar
1 t vanilla
1 egg
4 t milk
2 C sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/2 t baking powder
1/2 t salt
Thoroughly cream shortening, sugar and vanilla. Add egg and milk. Beat it silly. Sift together dry ingredients; blend into creamy mixture. Divide dough in half. Cover and chill at least an hour. Keep your nuts warm. Throw them into a large, covered saucepan, low temperature. On a lightly floured surface, roll to 1/8 inch thickness. Chill other half of dough until ready to use. Cut in desired shapes with cutters. Place nuts on cold cookie dough. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet at 375 degrees about 8 to 10 minutes. Cool slightly. Eat.

FORMER CAGER OF THE WEEK Jeff Daniels broke 14 years of silence to share his butternut cookie recipe with Standard readers.

Elaine Bush, member of the Board of Directors of the Waterloo Area Historical Society, submitted not just one, but a whole bookful of recipes. Her source was the Country Living Cookbook, put together by members of the historical society to raise a little money (they are on sale at The Standard office.)

This cookbook is full of all kinds of fanciful recipes including "Henry's Dead Wife's Pickles," "Rabbit Burgers," made with, of course, rabbit meat, and "Porcupine Balls," (not made with porcupines).

The recipe Elaine contributed to the book, "Grandma's Corn Chowder," although not necessarily a holiday recipe, sounds as though it would be good anytime of year, especially sitting around a fireplace.

Also included is a recipe for "Honey Lebkuchen," by Helen Hannewald.

GRANDMA'S CORN CHOWDER

By Elaine Bush

- 8 medium ears of corn or three cans cream-style corn
 - 6 medium potatoes, peeled and diced
 - 5 medium onions, diced and sauteed
 - 4 T butter
 - 6 C milk
 - salt and pepper to taste
 - 1 C bacon, cooked and crumbled
- Cook corn on the cob in a covered pot for 10 minutes. Remove corn. Add potatoes and onions to corn water. Cook slowly until nearly soft. Cut corn from cob and add to pot. Add milk and butter. Bring to a slow boil. Simmer 5 minutes. Add salt and pepper to taste. Let set on warm burner without further boiling for 30 to 60 minutes to gather flavor. Garnish soup bowls with bacon when serving.

HONEY LEBKUCHEN

By Helen Hannewald

- 1/2 C honey
- 1/2 C molasses
- 3/4 C brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 T lemon juice

- 1 t grated rind
- 2 1/2 C flour
- 1/2 t baking soda
- 1 t cinnamon
- 1/2 t cloves
- 1/2 t nutmeg

Mix and bring to a boil the honey and molasses. Stir in sugar, egg, lemon juice and rind. Sift remaining dry ingredients. Combine mixtures. Chill. Roll 1/4 inch thick, cut as desired. Bake in slow oven.

ELAINE BUSH, president of the Waterloo Area Farm Museum, came in to plug the Country Living Cookbook, full of the favorite recipes of museum members. The book is available at The Standard offices.

CHRISTMAS AROUND THE WORLD, a series of displays in the cafeteria at North Elementary school last week, depicted Christmas as it is celebrated in various other countries. The children were playing figures in a wax museum. When a visitor pushed the right button the children would tell about Christmas in that country. From left are John Broesamle, Jason Kalmbach and Jeremy Martzloff. Poland was their country.

A PINATA was made by fourth graders in Miss DeVries class at South school for their play, "Christmas Customs Around the World," last week. The pinata, a custom of Mexico, is filled with candy, peanuts and small toys, then it is hung up and broken by blindfolded youngsters. Making the pinata out of paper mache, from left, are Ryan Ludwig, Laura Hodgson, Karsten Lipiec, Barbara Sprinkle, Nick Kramer and his mom, Lou.

Holiday Lore Answers

1. It is generally acknowledged that the Christmas tree originated in Germany, and one lovely legend attributes the idea of decorating an evergreen to Martin Luther, who, gazing upon the starlit evening sky through a curtain of tree branches, admired the scene's beauty so greatly that he decided to recreate it in his home, where he adorned a tree with a multitude of flickering candles.

It was the mid-19th century before the idea of a Christmas tree was popularized in England, thanks to Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's German consort, who decorated a tree in 1844.

Only a few years later, the idea crossed the Atlantic, but it was not till 1856 that an American president, Franklin Pierce, first set up a Christmas tree in the White House, beginning a tradition which continues to the present day.

2. Boxing Day, which is significant enough to be a Bank Holiday in the British Isles, has nothing to do with professional contact sports. Rather, it is the day when, by custom, the alms boxes, which have been filled during the weeks preceding Christmas, are opened and their contents distributed to the needy.

3. St. Nicholas, Santa Claus' prototype, was not originally a figure of fun and jollity, but a Bishop from Asia Minor, an historical personage who dates from the third century AD, and to whom, after his death, various good deeds, some miraculous, were ascribed.

The most famous of the tales of his acts recounts how St. Nicholas bestowed dowries on three sisters who were destitute, because of their father's poverty, to a life of privation.

On three successive nights, St. Nicholas secretly tossed a bag of gold down the chimney of the girls' home, providing them with the means that otherwise they would have lacked to wed.

St. Nicholas Day, December 6th, is celebrated particularly in the Netherlands, and it was the Dutch who brought him to the New World, when they settled New Amsterdam (New York, today).

It was Washington Irving, a 19th century writer from New York who was steeped in the Dutch legends of the area in which he had grown up, who brought St. Nick to life on the written page, as a giver of gifts and figure of merriment.

4. Ebenezer Scrooge, in Charles Dickens' fable, A Christmas Carol, is visited by the Spirit of Christmas Past who sternly warns him of the consequences of the miserly life he has led.

He is reformed, thanks not only to the efforts of the Spirit of Christmas Past, but to those of the ghost of his dead partner, Jacob Marley, and to the offices of Tiny Tim, the crippled young son of Scrooge's office clerk Bob Cratchit.

5. The Three Magi, the wise men who journeyed to Bethlehem guided by the light of a single star, are not named in the New Testament, nor are they identified as kings, nor is their number limited to three.

Art and literature, however, have had a profound effect on their identification; thus Balthazar, Melchior and Gaspar are known around the world today as the adoring kings who brought the valuable gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh to the newly born Christ child in His manger.

6. Thomas Nast, whose drawing originally appeared in the popular American newspaper, Harper's Weekly, has done much to influence modern-day image of Santa, including locating his home in the snowy reaches of the North Pole.

Nast, whose drawings began to appear in the early 1860s, made an effort to place Santa in a contemporary setting, visiting the Union soldiers, for instance, in their army camp during the American Civil War.

7. The Christmas season is traditionally associated with hot, alcohol-laced punches, often served to carolers after they have finished a performance. In England, these punches were known collectively as "wassail," a word which comes from the Anglo-Saxon phrase for "be well."

Lamb's Wool, nicknamed that because of the pieces of toast which garnish it and bear a striking resemblance to fleeces, was a kind of wassail, which included also more customary ingredients — ale, apples, eggs, sugar and such spices as cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves.

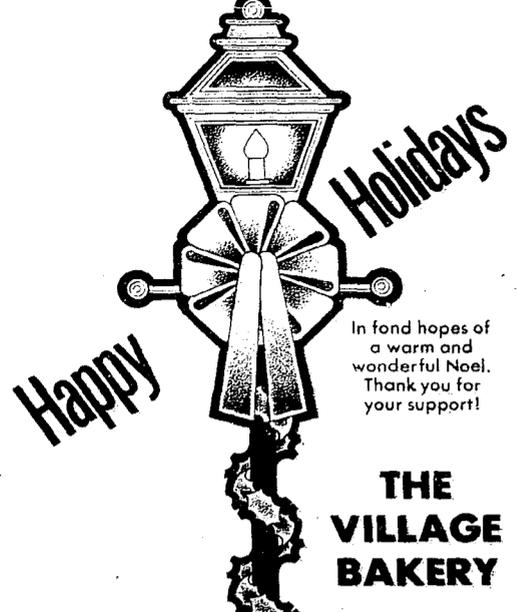

8. Generally, early Christmas tree ornaments included lit candles, cookies cut in unusual shapes and festively decorated, gold foil patterns, sweetmeats and fragrant red apples.

9. In the Soviet Union, where the observance of religious holidays as such is not encouraged, Grandfather Frost has replaced Father Christmas as the central figure of the winter holiday season, bringing gifts to commemorate New Year's Day, a secular occasion.

10. The "visions of sugarplums" dancing in the heads of the children dreaming in "A Visit from St. Nicholas" were almost certainly stimulating the dreamers' taste buds as well. Sugarplums, often crystallized fruits (not only plums), were gaily wrapped in silver foil. Though they originated earlier, they were popularized in Victorian England.

11. The "X" in "Xmas" is the Greek symbol for the letter "Chi," the initial letter in Greek of Christ's name. Anglicized, "Xmas" is "Chmas," — thus easily seen as simply an abbreviation which gained currency at least eight centuries ago.

12. No, Rudolph was not among them! In Clement Moore's famous poem, Santa names his eight reindeer as he urges them along in the following immortal lines: "Now Dasher! now Dancer! now Prancer! now Vixen! On, Comet! on Cupid! on, Donder and Blitzen!"

Good Xmas Gifts

GIVE YOUR WIFE a country kitchen, yourself a huge pole barn, and the children room to run and play. Tell your family "Merry Christmas" with the purchase of 2200 MCKINLEY ROAD. $56,500.

AND FOR THE DOG (Don't forget him!!) A beautiful rolling 10-acre parcel with woods at the rear. You can buy this building site on LIEBECK ROAD with $6,000 down and monthly payments. $20,000.

YOUR AUNT & UNCLE from the city can retire in the country at 6043 SAN LURAY—and future family get-togethers can be in the spacious walk-out basement or "lakeside." Joslin Lake access. Reduced from $62,000 to $58,500.

MAYBE YOUR IN-LAWS could live in the 1,200 sq. ft. downstairs apartment of your new 3-family in the little town of Milan. Always rented. Have you considered an income property? 55 W. SECOND STREET, MILAN. $66,000.

YOUR COLLEGE-AGE SON OR DAUGHTER attending Eastern Michigan University can live in this nice single family home and take in other student renters to help make the payment. Skip dorm fees and spending money. Let your student earn his spending money running your "rental business." Makes this venture profitable for all concerned. 1391 HULL STREET, YPSILANTI. $51,900.

IF THE HOUSES AND PROPERTY WE'RE SUGGESTING AREN'T QUITE WHAT YOU HAVE IN MIND, BUT YOU ARE SERIOUS ABOUT MAKING A PURCHASE—PLEASE CALL US. OUR PAST CUSTOMERS WILL TELL YOU "WE GO THE EXTRA MILE."

Evelyn Rosentreter, Village Clerk, Village of Chelsea.
ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS
Minutes December 2, 1986
The meeting was called to order at 7:50 p.m. by Chairman Satterthwaite.
Present: Chairman Satterthwaite, Secretary Rosentreter, Village Manager Weber and Assistant Village Manager Fahrner.
Members Present: Radloff, Bentley, Kanten, Merkel, Boham and Steele.
Others Present: Zoning Inspector Harook, Treasurer Chapman, Tina Kenney, Pat Schantz, Civil Defense Director Schantz, Police Chief McDougall, Fire Chief Hanker, Cecil Clouse, Brian Hamilton, John Kosmink, Shari Roberts and Dewey Ketter.
Motion by Kanten, supported by Bentley, to approve the minutes of the Zoning Board of Appeals meeting of September 16, 1986 as submitted. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.
A public hearing was held on an appeal filed by the Chelsea Milling Company on the denial of a Zoning Compliance Permit for an automobile body shop in a "I-1 Industrial" District at 121 Buchanan Street.
RESOLUTION RE: AUTOMOBILE BODY SHOPS IN AN "I-1 INDUSTRIAL" DISTRICT
WHEREAS, the Chelsea Zoning Inspector denied a Zoning Compliance Permit for an automobile body shop in the "I-1 INDUSTRIAL" District along Buchanan Street; and
WHEREAS, Howard Holmes, of the Chelsea Milling Company, owner of the property on which the permit was denied, has petitioned the Zoning Board of Appeals to review the action of the Zoning Inspector; and
WHEREAS, a public hearing has been held after proper notice was given in The Chelsea Standard; now
BE IT RESOLVED, that this Zoning Board of Appeals hereby overrules the Zoning Inspector and finds that an automobile body shop is a permitted use in an "I-1 INDUSTRIAL" District for the following reasons:
1. The Industrial District (I-1) was established with the adoption of the Chelsea Village Zoning Ordinance effective May 27, 1974. The purpose of the I-1 District is: "This District is designed to provide suitable space for industrial operations of all types that can comply with all provisions of this ordinance and can assure protection of public interest and surrounding properties and persons." (Section 4.4.5, compiled Ordinance Section 15.485)

2. Under the schedule of permitted uses, there are only three paragraphs and two of those have to do with signs and essential services. The other paragraph states:
"All industrial uses not in conflict with any enacted state or local laws or any provision of this ordinance which meet the requirements of Section 5, Section 5.25 (compiled ordinance Section 15.722) except junk yards and sanitary landfills." Section 4.4.5 (A) (1), compiled ordinance Section 15.486).
3. The permitted uses in an I-2 District include:
"Body and paint shops for automobiles and other vehicles." Section 4.4.7, compiled ordinance Section 15.496 and 15.497.
4. If there are no state or local laws which would be in conflict with the proposed body shop, the proposed body shop would be a permitted use in the I-1 District. The words "not in conflict with any provision of this ordinance", does not mean that if the use is allowed in one district that it is necessarily prohibited in the other district, because the industrial district expressly permits "all industrial uses." There is no question that a body shop is an industrial use because the ordinance has classified it as being a permitted industrial use in an I-2 District.
Motion by Boham, supported by Radloff, to approve the above resolution as read. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

Motion by Bentley, supported by Steele, to adjourn. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned.
Evelyn Rosentreter, Secretary.

Yvonne Humenay, Elizabeth Alvarez, Scott Stoll, and Jean-Pierre Mouilleseaux, whose mom accompanied the children on harp. In the back, from left, are Brent Young, Emmet Smith and Amy Bergman.

THE RUNAWAY SNOWMAN, a musical play, was performed by the Beach Middle school choir at both North and South Elementary schools last week. The lively kids in the choir include Denielle Bachmann, Wendy Bell, Howard Brooks, Matt Carlson, Chris Craig, Sherry Dukes, Dana Durst, Jessica Fletcher, Beth Kimball, Joan Marsh, Andy Middlebrook, Tonya Munding, Jodi Oltersdorf and Giza Runciman.

Characteristics of Michigan Wetland Described in Detail

What is a wetland? In simplest terms, a wetland is land where water is found, either on the surface or underground, near the surface.

Water may be present all year or for only a limited period of time.

Poorly drained soils and water-loving vegetation also identify wetlands.

Wetlands provide important values, and in Michigan, these values have become increasingly significant as the state continues to lose thousands of wetland acres annually.

Michigan has begun to pay the cost for what wetlands used to provide for free.

These costs will continue to increase as more of the state's wetlands are destroyed.

Four Major Wetland Types

The four major types of wetlands in Michigan include marshes, swamps, bogs and fens. Each has its own unique set of characteristics, plants and wildlife.

Marshes

Marshes are wetlands with standing or slow-moving water. Rushes, reeds and cattails are the primary plants found in a marsh.

Swamps

Swamps are basically wooded wetlands. The most common swamp in the northern portion of the state is the cedar swamp.

Bogs

Bogs are areas with peat soils, a high water table and surface carpet of mosses, especially sphagnum.

Unique vegetation, such as blueberries, cranberries and orchids can be found in bogs.

Fens

Fens are very similar to bogs, with one identifying exception. Fens have slow drainage and slightly richer soil, whereas bogs have no surface outlet.

Water Quality

Michigan wetlands improve the water quality of lakes and streams by retaining polluting nutrients, such as phosphorus and nitrogen, that stimulate algae and plant growth.

Toxic heavy metals and complex organic chemicals are stored or degraded in wetlands.

Wetlands also retain sediments, slowing the rate at which lakes and streams are filled, thus helping to keep them clear and clean.

Groundwater

Wetland sites are closely associated with high groundwater tables, and they often serve as sites of groundwater discharge or recharge.

Recharge sites are important for re-supplying Michigan's valuable groundwater.

Discharge sites provide high quality water for the state's lakes and streams.

Wildlife

Wetlands support a healthy segment of Michigan wildlife. Fish spawn, feed and hide in Michigan marshes and aquatic plant beds.

Shoreline Protection

Wetland plants along shorelines dampen wave action, slow current speed. With their roots, the plants hold valuable shoreline in place.

Wetlands temporarily store flood waters, thereby reducing both flood peaks and flood damage.

Aesthetic, Commercial Aspects

Wetlands support cash crops, including marsh hay, wild rice, blueberries, cranberries, peat moss, timber and minnows.

Thousands of Michigan residents, and visitors from other states as well, enjoy wetlands for hunting, birding and hiking.

May your Christmas be merry and bright

Only your doctor can tell. Like more than 10 million other Americans, you could have high blood pressure and not know it until it leads to stroke, heart or kidney failure. It has no special symptoms and often gives no warning. But your doctor can detect high blood pressure (he may call it hypertension) and usually control it. So see your doctor... and follow his orders.

Perkins Heads Operations At Stockbridge Pharmacy

Dave Perkins, co-owner and vice-president of Chelsea Pharmacy, Inc., is taking over the day-to-day management of the Stockbridge Pharmacy. Dave and his three partners, Dan Murphy, Dale Schumann, and Dave Bust, all of Chelsea, bought the Stockbridge Pharmacy five years ago. At the time they already owned the Chelsea Pharmacy. (Murphy has worked at the Chelsea Pharmacy since he was 13 years old. He later became a partner with Charles Lancaster. When Lancaster retired, the present partners joined, one at a time.) The four partners manage both stores together, doing such things as buying for both at once. Perkins says he finds the communities of Chelsea and Stockbridge very similar, that both have very nice people and that their pharmacy needs do not differ very much. The only difference is that Stockbridge is a little more rural.

One thing that Dave is doing, now that he is full-time in Stockbridge, is organizing, with two other local merchants, a Stockbridge merchants association similar to the one in Chelsea. Dave envisions the Stockbridge merchants association working together, as the one in Chelsea does, to organize such things as free parking at Christmas, summer sidewalk sales, and extended Christmas hours.

Perkins grew up in upstate New York and graduated from the Albany College of Pharmacy in 1975. He moved to Chelsea when his wife, Lorraine, who has a doctorate from the University of Michigan Pharmacy College,

Programs Designed for Older Adults With Hearing Problems

University of Michigan Medical Center's Turner Geriatric Clinic has three new programs designed especially for older adults with hearing problems and their friends and relatives.

A monthly support group for hearing impaired persons meets the first Thursday of each month from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at Turner Clinic, 1010 Wall St., Ann Arbor.

Group members will learn how to communicate as effectively as possible and will share ideas on coping with hearing loss. Free hearing screening will also take place twice a month at the clinic.

Both the hearing screening and lip reading are offered by the University of Michigan's Communicative Disorders Clinic.

Denise L. Forshee Completes Air Force Mechanic Course

Airman Denise L. Forshee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Forshee of 3444 Pineview Dr., Dexter, has graduated from the U. S. Air Force Aerospace ground equipment mechanic course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

During the course, students were taught to repair generators, gas turbines and hydraulic pumping equipment.

got a job as director of pharmacy at the Chelsea Community Hospital. Dave and Lorraine have an eight-year-old son, Sean. Dave is a member of Chelsea's 1987 United Way Committee, vice-president of the Board of Directors of the Inverness Country club, and on the professional affairs committee of the Michigan Pharmacy board.
