ONE HUNDRED-SIXTEENTH YEAR—No. 34

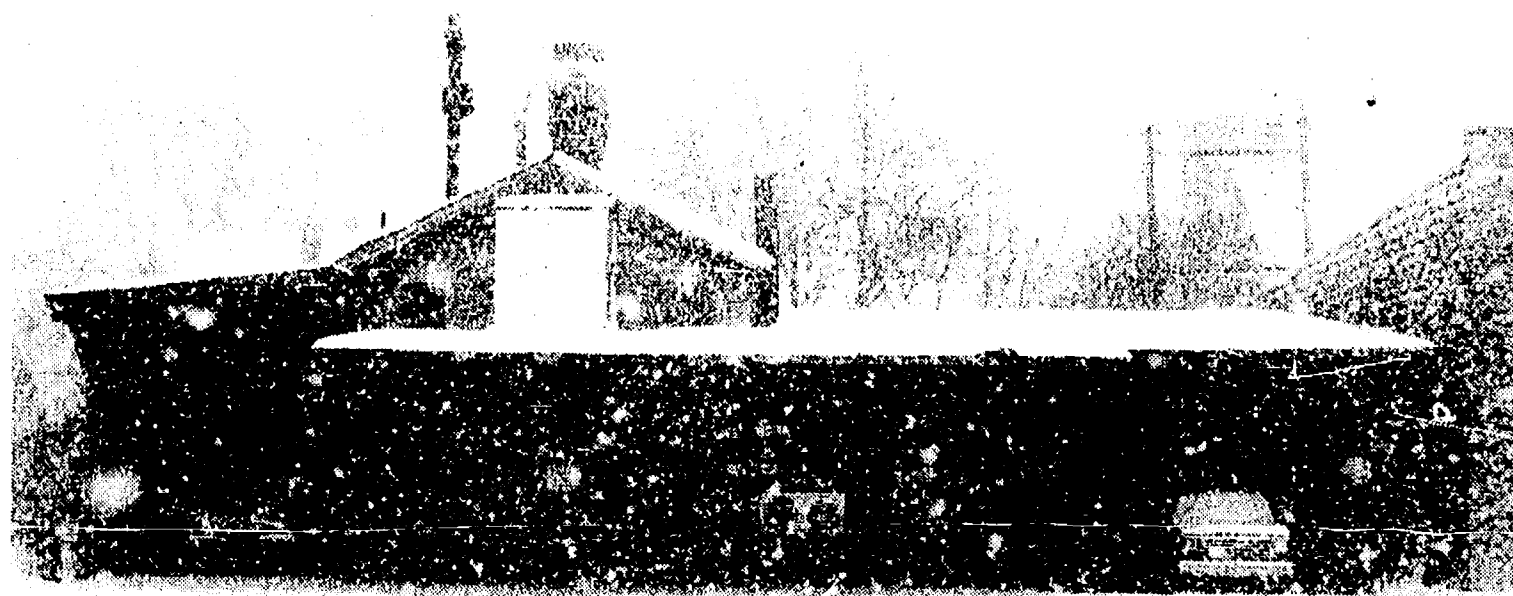

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1987

20 Pages This Week

ONE OF THE BIGGEST SNOW STORMS of the 1980s hit the Chelsea area on Monday, leaving nearly 10 inches of powdery snow on the ground. Downtown merchants were forced to shovel their walks several times during the day as the snow fell until just after dark. This photo was taken in mid-morning before more than half the snow had fallen.

FARMER'S SUPPLY looked a little fuzzy from the front porch of The Chelsea Standard on Monday morning as heavy snow made visibility poor, especially for drivers. By some accounts, this was the largest single-day snow accumulation in Chelsea since 1978. Nearly 10 inches covered the ground by evening.

Manchester Losing Double A As Parent Company Reorganizes

Village of Manchester's second largest employer, Double A Products Company, announced last week that it will close most of its Manchester facility by the end of the year, laying off the majority of its 270 employees.

Double A Products, a division of Vickers, Inc., of Troy, makes hydraulic pumps and valves for a variety of industrial applications. That part of the business is being moved to a yet-to-be-named Vickers plant. The valve production portion of the business will be moved to Searcy, Ark. The packaged products business located away from the main Duncan St. plant, will stay in Manchester. That portion of the business employs 52 people.

According to Vickers President James McKee, the company is undergoing a major reorganization, which will include a move of the corporate headquarters from Troy to Detroit.

"This is like a death in the family," said Manchester Village Manager Dan Naimowicz.

"You hear things and then when it happens it's not so simple to deal with."

Not only will most of the workers lose jobs, the village will lose approximately $45,000 per year in property taxes, Naimowicz said, in addition to $16,000 to $24,000 in water revenue.

"This won't hurt us in this tax year," Naimowicz said. "But in about 15 months we'll start to feel the pinch." He said the property tax loss represents about five percent of village tax revenues and seven percent of water revenues.

"We have a game plan. We're going to run a real tight budget. We're not going to panic."

According to reports last week in the Ann Arbor News, Chelsea resident Chuck Mattoff, personnel manager of the plant, said, "we're going to place people where we can. We're going to help in preparing resumes, in contacting other businesses. We're going to try to relocate some people. We're doing all we can."

The company move was announced at a meeting of employees at the American Legion Hall last Tuesday, Jan. 13. Employees reportedly had no advance word of the move and it was a shock to the members of Local 2190 of the International Association of Machinists, which represents 136 Double A workers.

Most of the workers live in the Manchester, Jackson, Tecumseh, Chelsea area, according to a company spokesman. There were no statistics available as to how many workers actually live in Manchester.

Deadline Nears For Candidates In '87 Elections

Deadline is quickly approaching for village residents who are interested in becoming candidates in the 1987 village elections.

The positions available in this election include three seats on the village council (two-year terms), two McKune Memorial Library Board seats (three-year terms), village clerk (two-year term) and assessor (two-year term).

Petitions may be picked up at the village offices on E. Middle St. Each petition must be signed by a minimum of 15 and maximum of 50 village residents and returned to Clerk Evelyn Rosentreter by 4 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 2.

Re-Zoning Applications Include Plans for 44-Unit Chelsea Pines Condos

A Chelsea man is asking the Village of Chelsea to amend the zoning ordinance to allow a 44-unit condominium development on the west side of the village.

Norman Fahrner of Chelsea, brother of Assistant Village Manager Lee Fahrner, is asking that approximately 5.8 acres of land at the end of Lincoln St. be re-zoned from RS-2 to PUD-6. Translated, that means the area could be more densely developed (from four living units per acre to six).

On the application for the change, Fahrner indicated that he is representing his father, Arnold, who owns approximately half the land, and Marvin Salyer of Chelsea, an adjoining property owner.

In addition, Salyer and another property owner, John DeVall, have applied to have the zoning changed on another piece of property to the west of the property Norman Fahrner is representing. That four-acre parcel is zoned PUD-4. The request is to change it to PUD-6.

Village Planning Commission has scheduled a public hearing on Feb. 10 to consider amending the General Development Plan, the first step in the process. The amendment is necessary because of the increase in density, according to the village's planning consultant Carl Schmult, Jr.

If both zoning changes are eventually granted, approximately 11 continuous acres from the end of Lincoln St. all the way west to Wilkinson St., could be developed.

Along with the applications came plans for a 48-unit condominium development called "Chelsea Pines." It calls for Lincoln St. to be extended through to Wilkinson St., with the development running along both sides.

Lee Fahrner said the development would probably take a minimum of three years to complete, well beyond the 1988 completion date of the village's new wastewater treatment plant.

Fahrner said in a letter to the planning commission that "due to the conflict of interest in my father's holdings, I cannot participate in any discussion of the unit density issue or the specific review of the Chelsea Pines project. . . My recommendation is that the area plan and site plan review be performed by Carl Schmult and Ayres-Lewis-Norris & May, Inc. of Ann Arbor, for the obvious reason that an in-house review by myself or Washtenaw Engineering would not be appropriate." Norman Fahrner is employed at Washtenaw Engineering.

According to Norman Fahrner, the property cannot be economically developed at four units per acre. However, six units per acre makes it a reasonable development.

"However, by combining three smaller parcels into one larger development with slightly higher density and properly integrating the proposed street system into the Village's existing street pattern we believe the village is better served than if three separate developments evolved at the four unit per acre density," Norman Fahrner said in a letter to the planning commission.

Continuing, Fahrner said the buildings will have the appearance of large single-family homes with individual garages and driveways from the street rather than large parking lots.

Schmult, in a Jan. 9 letter to the planning commission, said, "It is extremely important, for the integrity and stability of the surrounding residential neighborhood, that any increase in density over four units per acre still produce a single family residential character in the new development. The new units must look like single family houses, even though they are attached units, and the units should have a setting that has the appearance of a single family detached neighborhood. This can be accomplished at a density of 6 units per acre or less, but careful building and site design is required."

Lee Fahrner estimated that at six units per acre, a 1,200 square foot unit would cost $80,100.

Chelsea Pines would be developed in a series of five phases, according to the submitted plans, with phase 1 being located at the extreme west. Phases 4 and 5 would end at Lincoln St.

School Board Cites Gourley for Honors

At the Jan. 19 Board of Education meeting, Bill Gourley was recognized for being selected as the Outstanding Young Band Director in the state of Michigan.

The board heard a request from Keith Bloomsaat of the Community Recreation Department about setting up a competitive soccer program.

Ann Davis, Infectious Disease Control Co-ordinator of Chelsea Community Hospital, gave a medical viewpoint of what the school system should do about AIDS. The board is working on establishing an AIDS policy.

Superintendent Van Meer presented some space and faculty program alternatives for 1987-88.

Curriculum co-ordinator, Laurie Bissell, reviewed the course revisions in social studies, home economics, and applied technology which are being considered.

The music boosters sent a representative to present a check for half the amount of the cost of some additional uniforms for the band and orchestra.

Four items for action from the superintendent were passed including an extension of teacher-consultant, Sally Weber's unpaid parental care leave to be effective through June 10, a second-semester contract for Barbara Doolittle; adoption of the Employee Exemplary Attendance Incentive Program, and approval of the Chelsea School District's conformance to Public Act 198 called the "Clean Indoor Air Act" prohibiting individuals from smoking in public places except in designated smoking areas.

C. of C. Committees Plan Aggressive Program

At their first board meeting of 1987, the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce discussed ways they could help with the state's sesquicentennial celebration and with the local fireworks display, finalized plans for the upcoming After Hours Business Meeting, and announced plans for an aggressive membership drive to begin immediately. They also formed five committees; education, membership, community affairs, after hours business meeting, and agricultural.

The membership committee, under the direction of Dick McCalla, has already sent out a membership mailing. According to Chamber of Commerce President Bill Nilan, membership is not limited to businesses, individuals can join and farmers are most welcome.

The after hours business meeting committee, under Paul Frisinger, plans social events giving members a chance to mingle and get to know each other. The next of these meetings will be on Feb. 3, from 5 to 7 p.m., at the Woodlands Room of the Chelsea Community Hospital.

The education committee, under the leadership of Jackie Rogers, will plan the Chamber's series of public lectures.

The community affairs committee, under chairman Lyle Chriswall, will liaison with the village council and planning commission.

The agricultural committee, under Edson Whitaker, is responsible for telling the Chamber what they can do to promote agriculture and help with the fair.

Fire believed to have been ignited in defective electrical wiring in the wall behind the sales counter caused heavy damage to The Village Bakery, 103 W. Middle St., Jan. 12, early in the morning. It could have been a lot worse, said Doug Eder, Chelsea village fireman who drove the first of four trucks to arrive on the scene. "If we had been just a few minutes later, that whole block of old buildings would have burned."

John Elliott, a resident in one of two apartments upstairs over the bakery, was given credit for the fire department's early arrival. Elliott smelled smoke, dashed downstairs and ran across Main St. to the village police office to turn in the alarm.

Few pupil absences have been reported from Chelsea schools, although a viral disease resembling influenza has closed two Michigan school districts and has dented the ranks of Ann Arbor teachers and school children. It either hit Chelsea during the Christmas holidays or hasn't hit yet.

John H. Stoffer, who was employed with the Washtenaw County Road Commission for 35 years, retired Jan. 14. Stoffer, who is on 24-hour call for snow storms, got to spend 1982 Christmas and New Year's Day with his family, since it didn't snow on those holidays.

Chelsea school teachers' 118-member CEA voted overwhelmingly Wednesday evening to go on strike at 8:15 a.m. Monday morning unless the School Board changes its position. "Teachers feel frustrated and can see no other solution," said Miss DiAnn L'Roy, CEA president, "after the Board's rejection of the Fact Finder's recommendations."

Floyd D. Rowe, 73, a life-long resident of the Chelsea area, and son of Clarence and Clara Croman Rowe of Lyndon township, died Jan. 14, after an extended illness. Mr. Rowe had operated a plumbing, heating and well-drilling firm in Chelsea for many years, retiring in 1969. In more recent years, his son, Duane Rowe, was a partner with his father. Mr. Rowe served in the U. S. Army during World War I. He married Selma Benter in 1920.

Recent election of Dr. Gordon Riethmiller to the presidency of the State Board of Education may herald a new season of co-operation, or at least balance for that often dissatisfied body. Riethmiller, a Chelsea resident and the sole independent on the board, will be flanked by a republican vice-president, James F. O'Neil of Livonia, and a democratic secretary, Dr. Edward J. Deeb of Mt. Clemens.

Chelsea Jiffy Mixers defeated the Ann Arbor JC's by the unbelievable score of 115-19, breaking two records in the two-year-old Dexter League. "Mixers" members are Jack Patrick, Bob White, Glenn Weir, Loren Keezer, Frank Fredericks, Bob DeFant, Bruce Hoffman, Odis Richardson, Homer and Alton Nixon, and Matt and Denny Murphy.

Village council adopted Ordinance 64, "regulating the public peace as relates to disorderly persons." Prohibited in the ordinance are 16 separate and distinct actions which constitute disorderly conduct. Some of the unacceptable actions included noisy, boisterous or insulting action; being a masher, windowpeeper or prowler; loitering or loafing about the streets or in public places; using indecent, immoral, profane or blasphemous language in public; being in a state of intoxication under the influence of alcohol or narcotics; flirting, annoying, molesting, begging, throwing snowballs or other objects at persons or automobiles, etc.

William Rademacher, Chelsea attorney, has opened his own office in the Palmer building on E. Middle St. The large plate glass window of the former store building has been replaced with a series of smaller windows set high in an enclosed wall. The office—inside and outside—presents an attractive modern appearance.

Consumer Groups Campaign for Lower Credit Card Interest

The Michigan Citizens Lobby reported its recent survey shows major Michigan banks are charging unjustifiably high interest rates on the credit cards they issue, but found that consumers can get better deals at some smaller banks.

The survey, completed by the state's largest consumer organization, was done in co-operation with a number of other state and national organizations to kick off a nation-wide "Fight the Switch" campaign to combat what they characterized as excessive bank credit card interest rates.

"Our first goal is to provide consumers with adequate information so they can switch their credit card accounts to banks which have more reasonable interest rates. If the competitive system doesn't work, our next course of action is to ask Congress for a lower cap on rates and better disclosure standards," Joseph Tuchinsky, director of the Citizens Lobby said.

The survey found the state's 10 largest credit-card issuing banks all charging the legal maximum of 18 percent interest on purchases financed through their MasterCard and Visa credit cards.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

It says here a fellow that lives in a cardboard box in Lafayette Square Park across the street from the White House is starving himself to death to protest nuclear war. That's bad. What's good is that he is doing the thing right. According to the papers, this fellow trained long and hard for his suicide mission. He built himself up to 310 pounds before he quit eating. He is trying to get all nuclear weapons neutered by the year 2000, and you got to figure he plans to be around to celebrate. He can live until then on stored up fat.

Meanwhile, in Greenville, Tenn., a federal judge has given $50,000 to seven families to cover their cost of sending their children to private schools. The parents claimed they had to take their children out of public school because stuff they were told to learn in textbooks went against their religion. Now you got to know where this one's headed. How many children are happy with what they got to study in school? If their religions ain't offended, someone surely must be. You give public money to children based on their religious belief, and you don't give money to children that truly believe they'd be better off watching TV cartoons than doing homework and you got raw discrimination and a country full of it.

I mention these two items in my report because I got to thinking about Clem Webster's laugh a day reserlution he mentioned during the session at the country store week before last. I didn't bring up my two days of laughing Saturday night, but from the agender you know the fellows paid more attention to Clem than they let on at the time.

Fer instant, Zeke Grubb comes with a reminder there are two classes of people in this world. Them that put people in classes and them that don't. Zeke said one that does is Mark Leary, a psychology professor at Wake Forest University. He has done a study of what he calls "Chronic and excessive boring people." He and student volunteers talked to hundreds of people and rated them on a boring scale, which means everybody they met was boring to some degree. You got to wonder, on the one hand, how boring

That is also the average rate charged nationally, Tuchinsky said.

The lowest interest rates found in national surveys, 10.5 percent, are at Simmons First National and Union National Bank in Arkansas.

"If all banks would adopt such a reasonable interest rate on credit cards, U.S. consumers would save more than $4 billion each year," Tuchinsky said.

He said the major institutions have refused to compete against each other by cutting interest rates.

Tuchinsky said lower interest rates were found in Michigan at First National Bank of Mt. Clemens, which charges $10 a year for its Visa or MasterCard and has a 15 percent interest rate, and Security Savings Bank in Jackson, which currently has a 14.9 percent rate. Both institutions accept applications from anywhere in Michigan.

Don Heikkinen, senior vice-president of the Michigan Bankers Association, defended the interest rate levels, saying bank cards are a more costly method of providing credit than conventional loans such as mortgages and car loans.

"Cards are also the highest credit risk of all. I don't think an 18 percent rate is necessarily unreasonable, but I do think consumers should shop around for a better deal," Heikkinen said.

Bob Sznawa, senior vice-president of Michigan National Corp., the state's largest issuer of bank cards, said the market determines interest rates on credit cards and all other financing.

"There are different types of credit cards and rates available for consumers," Sznawa said. "At Michigan National, we have an 18 percent interest rate, but we offer a 25-day interest-free grace period for customers who pay off their monthly balance. Some people choose to do all their banking at one place, and value the enhancements offered by institutions that charge an 18 percent interest rate," he said.

State's Horse Racing Industry Makes A Comeback in 1986

Michigan horse racing fans wagered over $408 million in 1986, the second highest amount in state pari-mutuel racing history, State Racing Commissioner William Cahalan announced.

Speaking at a press conference at Northville Downs Racetrack in Northville, Cahalan said, "Successful race meetings at our established tracks, combined with the opening of the race track at Swartz Creek, the first totally new track built in the state since 1950, put us over the $400 million mark for only the second time in 54 years."

Detroit Man Arrested for Drunk Driving

A Detroit man was arrested by Chelsea police for drunk driving after two breath tests showed the man had more than three times the allowable amount of alcohol in his blood.

Police received two reports about "an extremely drunk driver" on Thursday, Jan. 15 about 9:30 p.m. One was from an eyewitness who saw the man driving on I-94, and the other was from a Village Mobil employee who called police after the man drove away from the station.

Police Sgt. Frank Kornexi saw the man as he was driving south on M-52, according to police reports. When emergency lights were turned on, the man stopped abruptly.

Police said the man, George A. Reich, 50, of Detroit, had slurred speech. They said both blood tests showed readings of .33. A reading of .1 is enough to arrest a person for drunk driving.

Race Track in Livonia reached $130.8 million, up $11 million or 9.3 percent. Harness wagering at the state's six standardbred tracks, in Allegan, Hazel Park, Jackson, Northville, Saginaw, and Swartz Creek, totaled nearly $276 million, a gain of $20.01 million or 8.1 percent.

Over-all, wagering totaled $408.1 million, an increase of $32.1 million or 8.5 percent increase over 1985. Attendance over-all also jumped, rising to 2,546,412, an increase of 5.2 percent.

VFW Auxiliary Reviews Events Of Holiday Season

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4076 held their first business meeting of 1987 at the Post Home, Jan. 12, with Joan Taft, president, presiding.

Joan Taft reported on the successful family Christmas party and pot-luck supper, complete with Santa Claus, which the Post and Auxiliary hosted.

Eulahlee Packard, Americanism chairperson, reported she had presented an American flag to the Huron High cheerleader team, who recently won second place in the international competition at Niagara Falls, Canada. An all-weather American flag has been ordered to present to the Chelsea Fire Department.

A donation of $10 was voted to be sent to the local March of Dimes program.

A monthly newsletter is compiled and mailed to all Auxiliary and Post members. Since more than a third of the members live outside the local area, the newsletter enables them to follow home events.

The post paper drive, which helps the local Boy Scouts, is held up because there is no place for storage. The chair of the drive reminded people to save their papers since a pickup is planned for late March or early April.

An Auxiliary bake sale is planned for the Saturday before Easter with Lucy Platt as chairperson.

Lucy Platt reported on the Christmas remembrances she had taken to the patients on 7 East at the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor during the holiday season.

Rehabilitation chair, Gertie O'Dell, reported on the gifts of money and food which were collected and given to a non-member veteran at Christmas time.

The next regular meeting will be held Feb. 9.

Medicare will reimburse the elderly for the cost and administration of pneumonia vaccine. This program will substantially reduce the $63,000,000 paid by Medicare to treat pneumococcal pneumonia in the elderly. It is, therefore, cost-effective and will result in a net savings to the treasury of close to $12 million by 1986.

Woman's Club Hears About Skin Grafting

Fourteen members and one guest were privileged to hear Dr. Phillip Thompson at the Jan. 13 meeting of the Woman's Club of Chelsea.

Dr. Thompson is director of Clinical Laboratories, Dept. of Surgery, University of Michigan. He gave a most interesting presentation on "Skin Grafting."

Dr. Thompson first explained that the skin is the largest organ of the body and also the one most transplanted. He then talked about the various functions of the skin. With the aid of slides and graphs he further explained the various degrees of burns along with the different kinds of skin grafts and how they are applied according to the degree of the burn. He used the term "harvesting skin" several times. He told us that unlike other organs of the body, skin can be harvested from donors who are not alive. In fact he said most skin is harvested in morgues. It was gratifying to hear that much progress is being made in alleviating much of the pain of burn wounds and also hastening the healing process.

Hostesses for the evening were Glenna Bittle and Ellen Batzdorfer. The next meeting will be a fun night in the Crippen Building at the Methodist Home on Feb. 10. Guests are welcome.

For more information you may call Joyce Vogel at 475-1568. Correspondence address is 221 S. Main St.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

American courts are being flooded with lawsuits that are making trial lawyers wealthy at diastrophic cost to the nation. Members of this legal clan take grievance and injury claims meriting thousands of dollars in settlements and persuade gullible juries to award millions.

Whether or not you ever become involved as a litigant you are one of the victims of this liability crisis. As policy premiums soar, as taxes go up to pay for huge court awards, as litigation raises the cost of products, as needed services become unavailable because no one can afford the risk of supplying them, you pay dearly.

At issue in all this trouble is tort reform. I once thought of a tort as something good to eat but that word has an "e" at the end. A tort is a wrongdoing—a civil harm that may be resolved at law. But now the tort system itself has become perverted so that we need, and now have, an instrument of remedy known as the American Tort Reform Association.

You may suddenly realize that you need a remedy when you discover that your family obstetrician has stopped practicing because the cost of malpractice insurance has become prohibitive. You may be shocked when you learn that a public park, playground or baseball diamond is to be shut down because the insurance premium has shot up by 500 percent. How come? Because someone was gravely injured, sued the municipality and collected $2 million in damages.

Boy Scout troops along with Cub packs and Explorer posts will each be required to pay a one-time fee of $20 and every Scout and Scouter will now have to pay $1.22 per year more because Boy Scout insurance, which was $2 million in 1984, is now $10 million. People fear to start new businesses or introduce new products because of frightening, unpredictable liability risks. A drug which may some day save your life is being held off the market for such reasons. A ski resort shuts down rather than run risk of "going bare" because of insurance.

The game of courtroom roulette is unbelievable quixotic. Last April a jury in Philadelphia considered the case of a woman who claimed that a hospital CAT scan had damaged her "psychic powers." She was awarded $1 million for her loss.

A teacher sued a doctor and hospital. The defendants offered an out-of-court settlement of $45,000. The teacher declared she would accept no less than $625,000. In the end a jury awarded her $2,500,000. How did the teacher arrive at the $625,000 settlement figure? She was probably advised by an attorney who felt that although their chances in court were pretty good he could pick up an easy fee of, say, $300,000 from an out-of-court settlement. He was also keenly aware of his "deep pocket" interests in the case; explore among all eligible defendants for large assets that might be invaded in the courtroom. In the teacher's suit, the doctor had too little money but the hospital had plenty.

Deep pocket leniency in some states provides that a defendant with only 1 percent of the blame can be held liable for the entire amount of the verdict. Let us imagine an example. Professor Shrudlu, a world class genius who commands a $10,000 fee for public lectures, trips on the cracked sidewalk in front of Joe's Delicatessen, falls and suffers severe, irreversible brain damage. The professor's trial lawyer—who solicited the case on speculation at his own expense—feels that damages should be no less than $10 million.

The delicatessen proprietor has assets of less than $80,000. As for the owner of the store building, his pockets are sewn closed because he happens to be in Chapter 11 bankruptcy. The construction firm that laid the sidewalk just three years ago is still in business and has assets of nearly a million. Still not deep enough pockets for the lawyer. Further research reveals that International Portland Corporation supplied the cement which was sold under the name of Portland Nev-Krack. The company's assets are in the billions and the lawsuit will center around product liability—a favorite target of the trial lawyers.

Most favored target of all, however, is the health care industry because practically anyone alive is a possible plaintiff and any health provider is a potential defendant. The national cost of health care is close to $315 billion dollars a year. More than one-third of this enormous sum is spent on malpractice insurance and medical litigation. Between 1979 and 1983 the number of medical lawsuits doubled in the U.S. During this same time period lawsuits tripled for obstetricians and gynecologists. In 10 years the average medical malpractice jury verdict increased from $220,018 to $1,850,452.

Some litigants and their families feel that the malpracticing physician who causes reckless injury or death should not only be sued but locked in prison. Some observers also feel that the medical profession is dragging its heels when it comes to purging its ranks of those who blunder or perform unneeded surgery. Other citizens feel that laws are needed to try them for mayhem or murder.

In a report, "Treating Malpractice," published by the Twentieth Century Fund, the task force proposes setting up a national information clearinghouse to make information on malpractice claims and disciplinary actions available to health-care institutions, malpractice insurers and local licensing boards.

There can be a lot of confusion as various interests in litigation point accusing fingers at each other, and it can become so easy to lose sight of the central figure in the situation, the human being who got hurt. No responsible person questions the right of an injured individual to fair, full compensation and the services of an attorney. A young mother who has been blinded for life in an accident with a carelessly driven chemical truck will never see her children again, never again look into her husband's eyes, never behold the beauties of another spring. Money is little enough compensation for her terrible losses and a million dollars may not be too much for her needs.

But another one million dollars for a lawyer who spent several weeks on the case in a law office and courtroom? Shame.

Trial lawyers are not only victorious in suing everyone else, they are brilliant in defending themselves. Between September 1980 and September 1985 lawyers faced nearly 30,000 malpractice suits and in 70 percent of the cases the claimants received $1,000 or less. Only five percent of the decisions involved penalties of more than $50,000.

When you look at all these numbers it is easy to understand why we have 675,000 lawyers in America—one for every 350 persons. New lawyers are entering the bar at the rate of 35,000 per year, twice as fast as our growth in population. In this litigious society we had an average of one lawsuit for every 15 persons and there are an estimated 16.6 million private civil suits pending.

The reform of the tort system has brought swift response from U.S. trial lawyers in the form of a multimillion dollar war chest. Individual firms of trial lawyers are said to have contributed as much as $300,000 each to the cause of more lawsuits and bigger damages.

We used to hear a lot about ambulance chasers—lawyers who rushed to the scene of an accident in search of clients. Nowadays they can do a great deal of prospecting in newspapers and accident reports. But in case any prospective litigant is looking for legal help in connection with drunk driving, injuries, deaths, social security, bankruptcy, medical malpractice, faulty machines, harmful products, divorce, child support or criminal difficulties they have only to read the Yellow Page ads under Attorneys. There one will find that the first consultation is free. One will also learn "Our attorneys have helped obtain benefits for thousands." "Don't go in (to court) without us." "Call anytime, 7 days. Appointments anytime. Days, evenings and weekends."

In the Chelsea section there are no display ads—just professional listings—for John Keusch, Peter Flintoft, David McLaughlin and William Rademacher.

A great many people are disturbed at insurers for stiff increases in premiums or refusals by a company to offer coverage for certain risks. There are instances in which companies have taken advantage of the lawsuit crisis, (Continued on page seven)

The plant had a peak of 300 workers in the early 1980s but layoffs and cutbacks decreased the number to the present level.

The company, founded in Ann Arbor in 1934 by the late Herbert H. Upton, was moved to Manchester in 1940 into a brand new factory. The company merged with Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing of Rhode Island in 1957 and was sold to Vickers, a company with international operations, in 1984.

Santa Claus sure knew what he was doing when he chose reindeer to pull his sleigh. While reindeer are quite small—usually around three-and-a-half feet tall—they have great strength and endurance. Ranger Rick magazine reports that a healthy reindeer usually weighs about 150-250 pounds and can pull its own weight in cargo on sleds across the tundra—or the roof-tops!

Living With Your Loss

Over the years, much has been written about what people experience when someone they love dies. However, one thing we've learned is that grief is a very individual process a person goes through.

There are no rules to go by, but there are some helpful guidelines. Many of these are discussed in our unique brochure entitled, "Living With Your Loss" written by noted bereavement expert and author, Dr. Earl A. Grollman.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Like most readers of your paper, I look forward to Millie Warner's letters about the various holidays and what they REALLY mean, as opposed to the commercial themes foisted upon us by the media and its exploitative users. Millie has a way of putting the "holy" back into "holiday" even better than a TV preacher, and let me tell you, I watch them all!

As yet I have not seen Millie's reflections on the coming of the New Year, so if I may be so bold, I would like to fulfill her usual duties in this instance (though, in truth, you can not REPLACE Millie—you can only hope to do justice to her legacy).

It is said that the Chinese word for "crisis" combines the characters for "danger" and "opportunity." Boy, what an opportunity President Reagan has on his hands, eh? My advice to him is to call his remaining friends into the Oval Office and get them all on their knees in prayer to the only TRUE power, Jesus Christ. Millie, what do you think of this idea?

My personal belief is that President Reagan has not been able to get the space shuttle explosion out of his mind, and it has clouded his judgment. A President feels responsible for everything that happens in his country, even the things he has no control over, such as explosions, killings, shootings, burglaries, etc. A comforting letter from each of us might make the New Year look brighter to the President.

Similarly, another inspiring missive from Millie Warner, published on the pages of your fine newspaper, would get 1987 started off right for this curmudgeous old coot.

Millie, I'm counting on you!
Eugene Roy Kirkland.

Art Van Go Classes Set For Chelsea

Art Van Go, a community outreach program in the arts sponsored by the Ann Arbor Art Association and the Junior Service League of Ann Arbor, begins classes in Chelsea and Brighton in late January.

Chelsea classes are being offered in the basic elements of drawing, and, for those with some experience, a combination class, including drawing, painting, and class critique. Both classes will meet at Chelsea High school on Mondays, 7 to 9 p.m., beginning Jan. 19. Call 475-9830 to register.

In Brighton, Art Van Go is offering both adult and youth classes. Two Dimensional Design is a non-traditional approach to the fundamentals of composition using mixed media. This adult class will meet Thursdays, 7 to 9:30 p.m., at Brighton High school beginning Feb. 5. For Brighton area young people, ages 9-12, Art Van Go is offering Drawing Studio at Hawkins Elementary, Thursdays, 4:30 to 6 p.m., starting Feb. 5. In eight weeks the young people in this class will go from stick figures to shapes with depth and value. Call 227-7450 to register.

Art Van Go strives to bring art classes to communities and special groups in Washtenaw county that otherwise would not be easily available. Drawn from the vast resources of the Ann Arbor Art Association, instructors are all professional artists/instructors.

For more information on Art Van Go call Rene Martin at the Ann Arbor Art Association at 994-8004.

Foster Homes for Children Needed By County Agency

Can you make time in your life for a child who needs you? Washtenaw County Department of Social Services needs foster homes to provide care for children who have been removed from the home of their natural family because of abuse or neglect.

"We need black and white homes for children of all ages. Because we work with so many children who are also sexually abused, we especially need families who are willing to learn to work with older children with special needs. We also have a shortage of black families willing to do long term care or to adopt children of all ages," department spokesmen explained.

Interested? They have a foster parent/adoption training program starting Monday, Jan. 26, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Department of Social Services, 2350 W. Stadium Blvd., Ann Arbor.

Please call Pat Ruby at 994-1694 to register or for more information.

String Orchestra Participates in Festival at Bowling Green U.

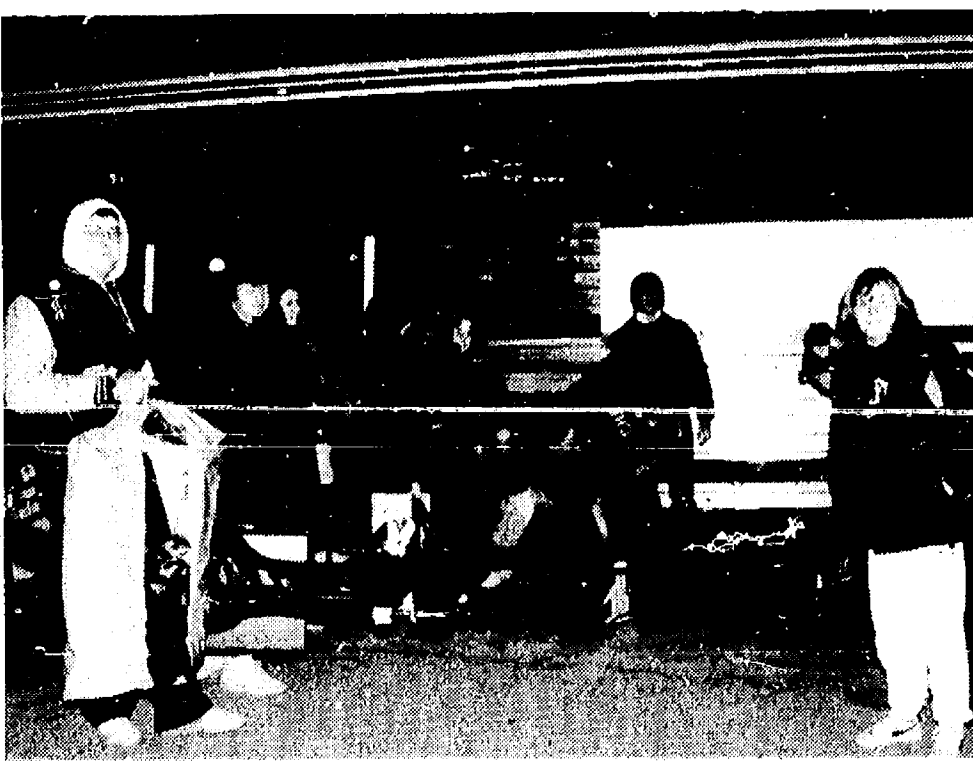

Chelsea High was one of five schools invited to participate in the first Bowling Green State University Invitational High School String Festival held last week-end, Jan. 17 and 18. Chelsea's string orchestra consists of 33 boys and girls in grades 9 through 12 and is led by Jed Fritzemeier.

The event was "an effort to bring high quality orchestras together so they could listen to each other," according to festival director Victor Ellsworth, an assistant professor of music at the university.

Since the event was a Sunday function and, in addition, was scheduled during Chelsea's final exam period, Fritzemeier went to the Board of Education to secure permission. He explained that it was a chance for the string orchestra members "to see a great university, get great teaching, and experience things other kids do." The board agreed with his assessment and gave their approval.

Funds to cover the expenses of the trip were raised earlier in the year with a fudge and fruitcake sale.

The orchestra traveled to Bowling Green, O., by bus, leaving Saturday morning and returning Sunday night. While there, they rehearsed, had their music recorded using Bowling Green's excellent facilities, performed for the other orchestras, heard the other orchestras, including the Bowling Green string orchestra, and played with the entire group. They also found time to study (Fritzemeier

STRING FESTIVAL: Chelsea High school's string orchestra, under the direction of Jed Fritzemeier, was the only Michigan group invited to participate in the Bowling Green University Invitational High School String Festival held this past week-end. Among the group waiting to load their instruments onto the chartered bus were Jeff Kielwasser, Steve Radant, Deana Stephens, Kenyon Vosters, Sharon White, and Carol Palmer.

reserved space in the university's library and made bringing study materials a requirement of the trip), and to enjoy a pizza party and free time at the school's recreation center. (Fritzemeier challenged all comers to a game of racquetball.)

The four pieces that Chelsea performed for the other participating orchestras were "Prelude" by Grieg, "Concerto" by Vivaldi, "Allegro Spirituoso" from Symphony 88 by Haydn, and "Jig" from "St. Paul Suite" by Holst. The pieces they played in concert with the other orchestras were "Intermezzo" by Nielson, "Purcell Suite No. 2," and Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins."

Fritzemeier believes the Chelsea string orchestra is on the "upswing." The year before he arrived, they only had 11 members. His first year, which was last year, they had 24. Now they are up to 33. He says of this year's string orchestra, "It's one of the finest orchestras Chelsea has ever had. The kids are great to work with, they play well, and they want to play well."

The orchestra went to music camp at the beginning of the school year, joining forces with Saline, which also has an excellent music program. During the school year, the Chelsea High string orchestra performs two regular concerts and one chamber concert. The trip to Bowling Green is the first excursion in five years. Next year, Fritzemeier would like to take the orchestra on a longer tour, something he would have done this year, if the invitation to Bowling Green had not come in the middle of finals.

but insurance people simply don't make a habit of killing off their customers. Jerry Ashby, Dave Rowe and Sheridan Springer earn their livings by helping people spread liability risks among large numbers of policy holders. With soaring premiums to justify, these agents too are victims of unbridled litigation.

Michigan, along with other states, is doing something to deheat the lawsuit crisis. The legislature in Lansing has recently passed House Bill 5154 and several companion bills which were signed into law by Governor Blanchard July 8. There isn't room to describe all the reforms here but they are substantial. Also they will be followed by additional tort reforms, including a senate bill on product liability.

Things have to be pretty bad with our tort system when even the lawyers in our legislature are willing to stand up for reform.

APPLYING SOME LAST MINUTE MAKEUP to a run in a stocking of Brett Salamin is teacher Bev Yelsik. Beach Middle school speech and drama classes performed two plays last week, "Wanted—One Fair Damsel," and "A Stone in the Road." Students and some parents attended the plays in the Beach cafeteria.

Trial Dates Set for CAP Production

Where were "you" the "Night of January 16th"?

A man was found murdered outside his penthouse apartment. The man, Bjorn Faulkner. The suspect, his long-time secretary and lover, Karen Andre. The trial dates are set, Feb. 20, 21, 22.

If you are wondering if this is all true, no it is not. This is the drama being presented by the Chelsea Area Players.

Directing this year's production of "Night of January 16th" is Mary Ann Stevenson. Mary Ann is originally from Kentucky but moved to the Ann Arbor area so her husband could attend graduate school.

Mary Ann has been involved in theater for many years and has a BA in dramatic arts. After many years of being involved in theater she decided to take a leave of absence so she could raise her two daughters.

Mary Ann became involved with theater again when her daughters were in high school at Dexter where they also became interested in theater.

Mary Ann agreed to direct Dexter's production of "Oklahoma" and discovered she enjoyed directing as much as she does acting. Since then she has become a member of the Dexter Community Players.

Chelsea Area Players are very excited to have Mary Ann as their director. She is very easy to work with and has some very exciting ideas to make this show fun and exciting for the audience as well as the actors.

One of the leading actors is Chelseite Ric Foytik. Ric has been seen in leading roles in many of the Chelsea Area Players' productions. His debut was in "South Pacific" as Bilis. He then went on and played Professor Henry Higgins in "My Fair Lady," Bill Calhoun in "Kiss Me Kate," and Jesse in "Plaza Suite." During that time he also served as a member on the CAP board.

He decided to take a few years off so he could spend time playing softball and coaching his son's baseball team.

Ric says he has missed the theater, and is very excited about his role as district attorney Flint. Ric also said he's going to work very hard to prove to you, as the audience, that Karen Andre is guilty of the murder of her long-time boss and lover, Bjorn Faulkner.

The IRA Maze: Citizens Trust leads the way.

If you're confused about IRAs, you're not alone. Tax reform, eligibility, restrictions—many things have changed. But one remains the same.

Individual Retirement Accounts are still a good idea. And Citizens Trust is offering new, higher interest rates, plus a $25 bonus for qualified deposits*.

We're eager to help you understand the facts about IRAs:

- With an IRA, a financially secure retirement is available to everyone who works.
- Anyone employed and under the age of 70½ may open and contribute to an IRA.

While deductions on your contribution may vary, all interest earnings are tax deferred.

And, our IRA specialists will take the time to answer your questions. A free brochure, explaining the effects of tax reform on your IRA, is also available at any Citizens Trust office.

Between now and April 15, let us work with you to establish your 1986 or 1987 IRA and lead you through the IRA maze.

* Bonus offer applies to deposits of $2,000 or more made by April 15, 1987 to an IRA with a maturity of 36 months or longer.

Any withdrawals made prior to age 59½—except in the case of death or disability—are subject to tax penalties by the IRS. Time deposits may carry interest penalties in the case of early withdrawal.

Rotary Intl. May Soon Organize Chelsea Club

A Rotary International may soon join the list of Chelsea service clubs.

A planning meeting was held Jan. 13 at which 11 people interested in starting a Chelsea Rotary met with Ann Arbor Rotarian Phil Zepeda. As a first step, they are sending out 30 letters inviting people to join and will follow up these letters with telephone calls. A membership of 20 is needed before the group can be chartered.

Rotary defines themselves as "an organization of business and professional men united world-wide, who provide service of a humanitarian nature, encourage high ethical standards in all vocations, and help build goodwill and peace around the world."

Membership is by invitation only, based upon choosing one representative of each business, profession, and institution in the community. Zepeda says this is not as limiting as it sounds since each profession is also allowed one alternate. Furthermore, many professions are divided into subgroups. For example, instead of having one slot for a doctor, both a pediatrician and surgeon could belong, each representing a different branch of medicine or two CPA's could join if each worked in a different area of accounting.

Zepeda is the president of the Ann Arbor Rotary-North which is a spin-off of the downtown Rotary. To organize the Chelsea Rotary, which will also be open to residents of Dexter and Manchester, he has enlisted the aid of several Chelsea residents who are former Rotarians: Bill Bott and Elmer Benson who have belonged to the Ann Arbor Rotary, the Rev. Ron Smeenge who belonged to the Brighton Rotary, and Howard Holmes. Says Zepeda, "Former Rotarians can help identify stalwarts in the community who represent Rotary goals."

Zepeda feels he has received a positive reception in Chelsea. He said that when he began organizing, some questioned the need for yet another service club but he is finding that people like the idea of one that meets during the day (the Rotary will meet either mornings or noons) and therefore does not take them away from their families at night.

After the Chelsea Rotary gets organized, it will be up to them to decide on service projects that meet the needs of the community. Some of the activities the Ann Arbor group works on are Meals on Wheels, girl's soccer, medals for Eagle Scouts, international scholarships, and a high school exchange program. One of the main goals of the national group is the eradication of polio, a disease that has been largely eliminated in the United States but is still a big killer in other parts of the world.

Rotary International is the world's first service club. It was founded in 1905 in Chicago by Paul Harris. As the name implies, it has an international emphasis. Sixty percent of its clubs are located outside the United States and many of the projects entail aiding other countries or engaging in activities to foster understanding between nations.

As of now, only men can join Rotary. However, there is a case coming before the U.S. Supreme Court in the next year which may outlaw this requirement. For the time being, Zepeda stresses that women are certainly welcome to come as guests.

The next Rotary meeting will be Friday noon, Jan. 23, in Private Conference Room A of the Chelsea Medical Center.

Chelsea school district teachers will spend this Friday, Jan. 23 with Barbara Meister Vitale, an educational consultant and author, which means there will be no school for district children.

Vitale will present a program focusing on research related to right brain and left brain learning.

She is the author of the popular book, "Unicorns Are Real, A Right-Brained Approach to Learning", and the recently-released, "Free-Flight, Celebrating Your Right Brain." Her teaching methods have been demonstrated at workshops, universities and major educational conventions nationwide.

Vitale has spoken to a wide variety of groups, including the Association of American School Administrators, British Dyslexia Society, and International Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

STANDING NEXT TO ONE OF THEIR SIGNS are DaJo Sign Co. owners David Siljander, left, and Bart Bauer. The company specializes in hand-painted billboards. They recently set up shop in the building attached to the northern end of Chelsea Industries.

New Company Specializes In Hand-Painted Signs

You may have noticed that Schneider's grocery has a new script sign but it might come as a surprise that it was designed and produced locally.

The DaJo Sign Co. began business here last fall in a wing of the building attached to the northern end of the Chelsea Industries building on N. Main St. The two partners in the business, Bart Bauer, 26, and David Siljander, 36, specialize in painted signs of all types, but the bulk of their business is in wooden billboards.

Recently they've completed a sign for Village Lawn and Garden on Main St., and they've painted the logo for Klink's Excavating on the company's trucks. They're also working on a building sign for Wolverine Food & Spirits and they plan to submit a bid to the village for a sign for the industrial park. They say they're even talking to Chelsea Milling Co. about re-painting the silos.

However, most of their work comes from National 3-M and Gannett Outdoor, two billboard companies in Detroit who have more work than they can handle. Through those companies, DaJo has painted billboards for WTBS, Ted Turner's cable television station in Atlanta (ironically, Turner made his fortune in billboard advertising), Northwest, Orient airlines, Chrysler Corp., Bacardi rum and a McDonald's restaurant, among others.

The company also gets a certain amount of work, the owners say, because they use airbrush techniques for delicate blended colors.

"We might be the only airbrushing sign company in the state," Bauer says.

"With some jobs the texturing can only be accomplished by an air brush."

Siljander says that union shops in Detroit prohibit employees from airbrushing partly because work can be accomplished quickly. Work completed quickly translates to fewer jobs.

"They only began using rollers a few years ago," Bauer says.

"They do all their detail work by brush."

Bauer and Siljander say one of the main reasons they located the business in Chelsea is they couldn't afford industrial locations in Detroit. Plus they were able to find a building with 16-foot ceilings. They paint the billboards using a high-grade, oil enamel paint ("one step down from automobile paint," Siljander says) in their building, then transport them to their new location, usually somewhere in the Detroit area.

"I grew up in Ferndale where there are 40,000 people in four square miles," Siljander says.

"I don't want to work anywhere near a big city. Give me the country and I'm happy."

In billboard work, Bauer and Siljander use wooden signs almost exclusively because anything else is almost prohibitively expensive. And they say they can make signs equally attractive out of wood.

Bauer, a 1976 graduate of Chelsea High school, met Siljander at Jackson Community College. Siljander was a teacher of technical theater design and Bauer, a 1976 graduate of Chelsea High school, was one of his students. Between them they had painted the sets for more than 400 plays, including a couple of off-Broadway shows before they opened the DaJo Sign Co. over a year ago. Initially it opened in Jackson with a third partner who eventually began his own company, Siljander said.

"I was in a rut as far as what I could do as a college teacher," Siljander says.

"I wasn't progressing and I no longer enjoyed teaching. They weren't backing us adequately."

Bauer and Siljander plan to hire a couple more people in the next few months. Eventually they say they'd like to get into the billboard business, where they actually own the billboard space. They've say they've been talking to landowners along I-94.

They have some room to expand at their current location. However, they say they may eventually have to construct a new building, either in Chelsea or nearby. Siljander lives just west of Jackson and Bauer at Sugar Loaf Lake, so they're not likely to go too far.

Several small Kentucky towns will soon have a "low-tech, low-cost" way to meet water quality standard for sewage effluents, reports International Wildlife magazine. How? ... By an artificial wetland. The man-made wetland, which is being designed by the National Wildlife Federation and the Tennessee Valley Authority, will filter sewage effluents—and at the same time increase wildlife habitat.

Dogs Bash Dreadnaughts As Offense Comes Alive

Chelsea Bulldogs' sleepy-time offense was awakened in grand fashion last Friday night and the Dexter Dreadnaughts were blown off the court, 66-49, continuing Chelsea's improbable drive for a first-place finish in the Southeastern Conference.

The 3-1 Bulldogs (6-2 over-all) jumped out to a 17-6 lead in the first quarter, largely on the strength of four Mark Bareis field goals, and were never seriously threatened from then on. They shot 45 percent from the field, one of the few times they've been over 40 percent this season. The 66 points was the season high, eclipsing the 61 scored before Christmas against Lincoln.

"This is the first game in the last two years where we've felt we could just sit back and watch most of the game," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"I was very happy about the way we played, especially that we were able to take control of the game and never let go. The only disappointing part of the game is I wish we could have gotten more out of our second team. It's not a problem of them not being capable. It's probably a lack of confidence and a lack of playing time."

The Bulldog subs got far more than their normal amount of playing time due to the lopsided score. Chelsea was out in front 31-14 at half time, and 51-25 at the end of the third quarter. However, with the second team in, Dexter scored 10 unanswered points at the beginning of the fourth quarter, mostly due to four Bulldog turnovers, forcing Rosentreter to substitute for the subs. The second stringers came in later to finish the game and the game was capped by a two-point bomb from near mid-court by Matt Monroe at the buzzer.

Senior Todd Starkey continued his exceptional play at point guard, playing perhaps his best game of the season. He finished with eight points on 4-4 shooting from the line and 2-3 shooting from the field, five assists, and no turnovers. His assist total could have been seven or eight but a couple of passes caught his teammates off guard.

Forward Bareis also had one of his best nights, hitting 9-15 from the floor and finishing with 19 points.

"We thought Dexter would have trouble guarding Mark and we designed some plays for him," Rosentreter said. "But he didn't get any cheap shots."

Senior forward Jeff Harvey and senior center Marty Poljan were also key players in the win. They scored nine and eight points respectively, clogged up the lane on defense, and were instrumental in Chelsea's 31-26 rebound edge.

"I thought Jeff's shot at the beginning of the second half might have been the biggest play of the game," Rosentreter said.

"Jeff hit that outside shot for the first points of the half and that let Dexter know that we were going to continue to score and not sit on the ball the rest of the night. Also, Marty hit some shots he doesn't normally take."

After the first few minutes, the Dreadnaughts sputtered on offense, throwing the ball away on numerous occasions as they were harassed by Chelsea's pressing defense. They were also forced to foul late in the game, picking up seven fouls in the fourth quarter alone. Chelsea hit 18-29 from the line and missed the front end of four one-and-one opportunities. By contrast, Dexter went to the line 15 times, making seven.

"We weren't sure what to expect from Dexter," Rosentreter said.

"Earlier in the year they were down by 17 to Ida but lost the game at the buzzer. Last week in one game they were 20 points down in the first quarter and had 13 bad passes in the first quarter. I don't know if they've just hit a bad stretch. But they are not playing like they are capable of playing."

Junior Dreadnaught forward Jeff Bishop was playing injured and senior forward Kyle Menard, normally one of the team's best offensive players, finished with two points. Leading scorers were David Schmidt and Mark Walters, each with eight points.

Other Chelsea scorers included

Matt Steinhauer, with six, Matt Monroe and John Catell, four each (the first varsity points for each of them), Jon Lane and Matt Bohlender, three each, and Greg Haist, two.

Chelsea's next home game is a week from Friday against the Pinckney Pirates. Friday's contest at Tecumseh is the next SEC clash.

"Tecumseh's coming on and it's hard to tell what might happen in their gym," Rosentreter said.

UP FOR THE LAY-UP is Chelsea guard Jon Lane, for his only two-point of the night. The Chelsea offense scored more points than it had all year in topping the Dexter Dreadnaughts, 66-49, in the Chelsea gym.

Dogs Whip Dexter With Solid 4th Quarter

Tight defense and a 20-point fourth quarter propelled the Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity basketball team to a 50-40 win over the talented Dexter Dreadnaughts at the Chelsea gym last Friday night.

The game was close until the final quarter as Dexter managed to cut the Bulldog lead to one point twice.

"We played a pretty good game but we played in spurts," said Chelsea coach Jeff Dils.

"The kids were really fired up to play. They wanted to prove they were a better team than the one that played at Stockbridge last week."

The 20-point quarter was accomplished by 7-13 shooting from the field, as well as clutch free throw shooting.

One of the keys to the game was Chelsea's ability to keep 6-6 freshman John King off the boards, where he can be a dominating player.

"Our big guys, Phil Thomson, Tim Anderson and Bryant Beard did a good job blocking out," Dils said.

"We were able to out-rebound them,

29-24. Going in I thought rebounding would be the difference in the game."

Chelsea's defense held the Dreadnaughts to 17 first-half points and the Dogs had a 21-17 lead at the intermission. After the third quarter the score stood at 30-25.

"Our defense was much better than the week before," Dils said.

Chelsea had 15 steals for the game, many of them by Larry Nix and Jeff Marshall off the press.

Marshall's 14 points, mostly on perimeter shots, led the team. Nix had 10 points, Junior Morseau, eight, Anderson, six, John Collins, four, and Thomson, Loren Keezer, David Adams and Bryant Beard each had two.

"We're really starting to come around," Dils said.

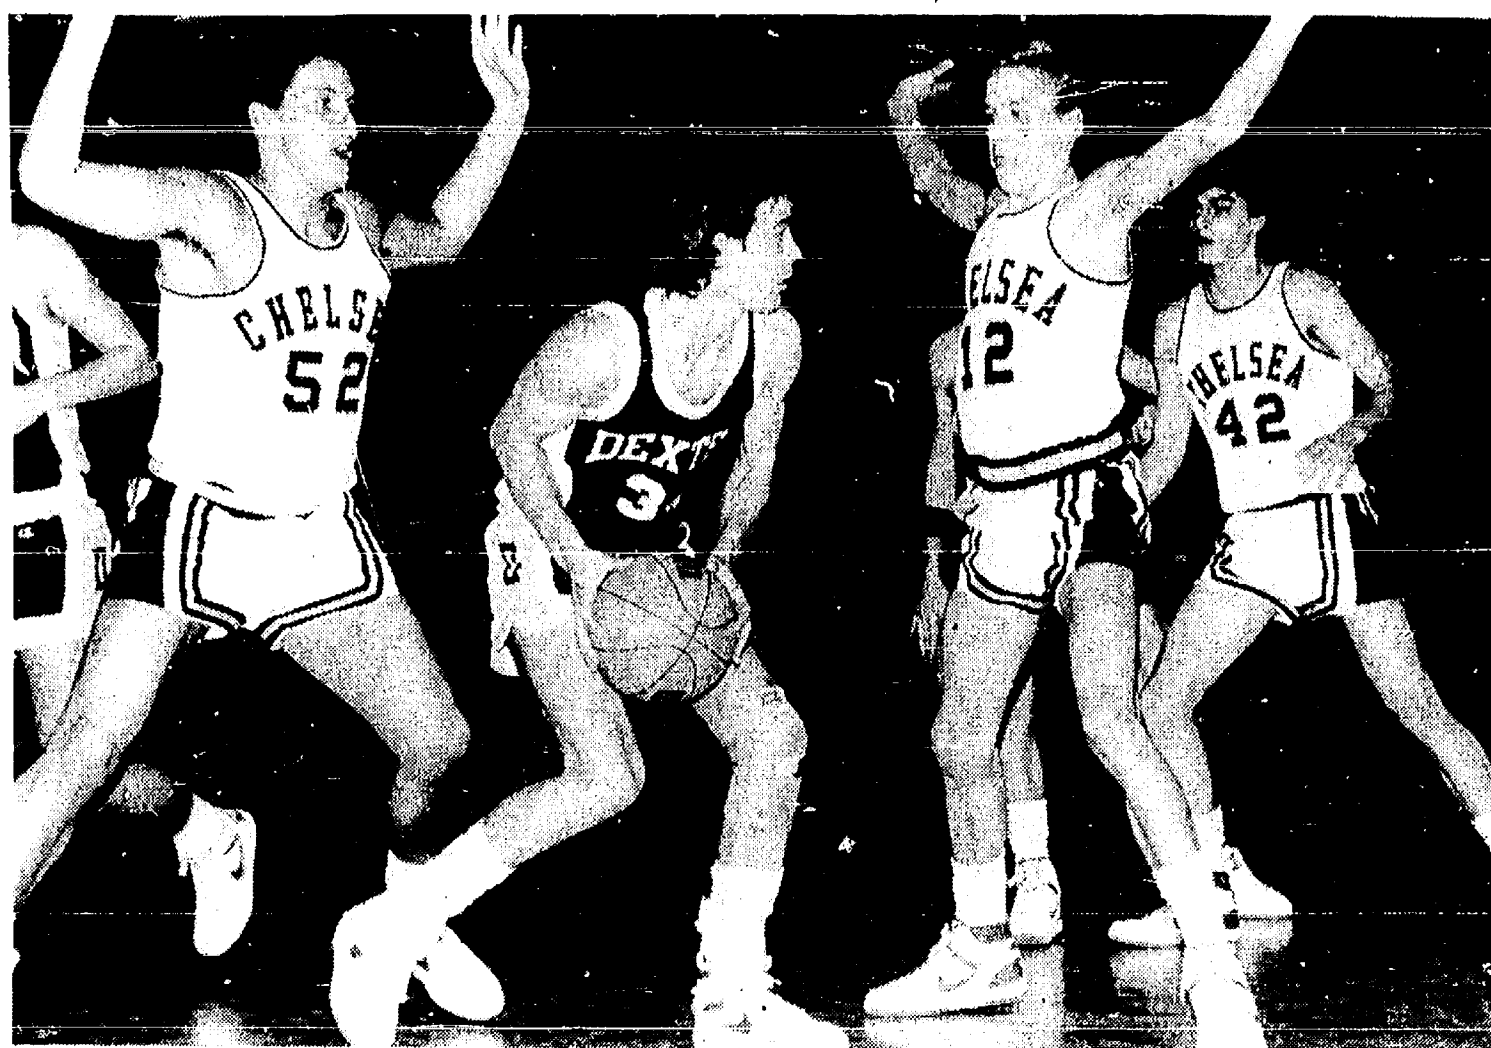

"We've won four of our last five games."

Chelsea has a 2-2 record in the Southeastern Conference and a 4-4 over-all mark.

The team plays Friday at Tecumseh and Saturday at Fowlerville.

Bulldog Wrestlers Pin Napoleon, Lumen Christi in Double Match-up

Chelsea wrestlers defeated both Napoleon High school and Jackson Lumen Christi in a double dual meet at Chelsea High school last Thursday night.

The Bulldogs topped Napoleon in the first meet, 36-27, and came back to dominate Lumen Christi, 57-14.

Napoleon whipped Lumen Christi in the other match.

"Our youngsters really wrestled their hearts out," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"We got some key wins in critical situations. Napoleon has a pretty good team. They finished second in both the Chelsea Invitational and the Jackson County Western Invitational. I don't know what to think about Lumen Christi. Sometimes they're hot, sometimes they're cold."

Against Napoleon, the Bulldogs got off to a quick lead, winning three of the first four matches.

8th Grade Cagers Stomp Two, End Season Thursday

Beach Middle school's eighth grade basketball team beat up on two more opponents last week, whipping Tecumseh, 45-23, on Tuesday in Tecumseh, and Saline, 38-19, at home on Thursday.

"These kids are almost playing like brothers," said coach Jim Tallman.

"They seem to have a sixth sense about how to respond in any given situation."

In the Tecumseh game, Chelsea jumped out to a 12-5 first-quarter lead and never trailed. The Bullpup second-stringers, who played the second quarter, maintained a 15-11 lead at half-time.

The entire team poured it on the rest of the day.

"This was our best game of the season," Tallman said.

"Tecumseh was unbeaten going into the game and we literally annihilated them. Vince Dunn was outstanding. He was assigned to guard their best player and Vince held him scoreless. Tucker Steele took the ball to the basket very well and Kerry Plank and Jude Quilter were there to clean up what was left over."

Plank led the team in scoring with 16 points, Steele had 12, Quilter, seven, Dunn, six, and Matt Carlson, three.

Chelsea also started off quickly in the Saline game with a 13-6 lead in the first quarter and a 17-11 lead by half-time.

"We played an excellent defensive game against a much bigger team," Tallman said.

"We were very patient defensively and took them out of their game plan."

"I've been preaching defense all year long and fundamentally they're becoming very advanced. They understand concepts that you don't often see in junior high basketball."

Plank was the game's leading scorer with 11 points. Steele had seven, Quilter, five, Jeremy Stephens, four, and Carlson, Jarret Kern and Chris Haugen, two each.

Chelsea carried an 8-2 record into last night's game at Milan. Tomorrow is the final game of the season, at home against Lincoln, who earlier beat the Pups.

Unterbrink, Defant Lead New Mexico In Search for Title

Chelsea is a long way from Albuquerque, N.M., yet two talent-laden Chelsea High school graduates have made their way to the Southwest.

Former Bulldogs Beth Unterbrink and Chris Defant have long been Michigan's measuring stick for up and coming softball players, and now these two have once again united their skills for the University of New Mexico women's softball team.

Unterbrink is the elder of the two, and in fact swayed Defant into coming to play for New Mexico. After an extremely successful year in which Unterbrink was an All-Conference and All-Regional outfielder, she returns to lead the Lobos offensively and defensively. She's one of five returning sophomores on a team that includes six freshmen.

"If we have ever had a true rebuilding year, this is it," says Lobo coach Susan Craig. "The important thing is not to push these players too quickly. We may be a year away from one of our best teams ever, and we don't need to rush these players through what should be a growing and learning year."

Because of her experience, Unterbrink was moved from right to left field. It's an added challenge she enjoys. "The change has been great," she says, "you get more balls, so I feel like I'm more into the game."

Being a team leader so young in a career can be a strain for some, but for Beth the extra pressure and responsibilities are a natural progression from freshman to sophomore. "It feels good to have people expecting a lot from me," she admits. "I perform better under pressure, and being the fourth hitter this season will give me an opportunity to win a lot of games in tight situations."

"She is an exceptional hitter, and will play a major role in our success," says Craig.

Defant, the freshman outfielder that "wow'd" them in Chelsea just a year ago, loves her new environment.

Dog Grapplers Beat Napoleon, Lumen Christi

185 pounds: VanSchoick (C) pinned Chris Clark in :44.

198 pounds: Taylor (C) pinned Steve Piloose in 2:26.

Heavyweight: Durham (C) pinned Marty Hughanessy in 1:01.

In other action last week, four Chelsea wrestlers placed in the 12-team Hillsdale Invitational last Saturday, as the Bulldogs placed sixth.

Eric Hanna captured a fourth place at 98 pounds with a 2-2 record.

Pat Taylor was third at 112 pounds with a 2-1 record.

Senior co-captain Bogdanski was third at 126 pounds after losing his first match and winning the next four.

And senior co-captain Durham took third place at 198 pounds.

"This was the most physical tournament we've been in all season," Kargel said.

"Wrestlers had to be in exceptional condition."

Napoleon, the team Chelsea beat last week in dual competition, won the meet over-all.

Youngest Bullpups Improve After Difficult Beginning

Seventh grade basketball team opened the season by losing to Dexter 38-17 and to Tecumseh 60-13 in the first week of play. Jake Rindle was the leading scorer against Dexter with four points, while against Tecumseh Aaron Tanner was the leading scorer with six.

Improvement was slow for the young Bullpups as they lost to Saline and to Milan in the second week of the season. Chelsea went down at Saline 38-19, but stayed competitive until the third quarter when Saline scored 20 points. Rindle and Tanner each scored five for Chelsea, while Mike Eder had three. Mike Terpstra, Robert Jaques, and Ben Hurst all showed good over-all improvement.

At home against Milan, Chelsea showed its first real signs of life as they struggled with Milan until the fourth quarter before bowing 27-19. Rindle with nine, Tanner with six, and Hurst with four had all of the points for Chelsea.

In the final week before the Christmas break the Bullpups were crushed at Lincoln 50-20 by an overwhelming full court press combined with a good half-court trap. Rindle continued to lead the team in scoring with six points, while Adam Tillman, and Jason Allen each had three.

In the last game before the break the Bullpups continued to improve as they staged a strong second half comeback against Dexter. Trailing 22-6 at half the Bullpups came up just short, 32-26. Rindle scored a team high 13 points, as Hurst and Chris White each chipped in four.

After the Christmas break the seventh graders scored their only win of the season by defeating Pinckney, 27-24. Chelsea came up with their first win with a balanced scoring attack: Hurst had 7, Tanner, 6; Terpstra, 4; Rindle, 4; Jaques, 2; Jeff Moore, 2 and Jason Allen, 2. However, the Bullpups then dropped their next two games, losing to Tecumseh, 32-14, and to Saline, 29-16. White led the team with six points against Tecumseh, and Rindle had four against Saline.

Local Skiing Rated Tops In Nation

Southeast Michigan is the number one ski area in the nation, according to ratings compiled by the prestigious firm of Rand-McNally and recently released to the media.

This news which shocked and surprised ski operators in Colorado and the northeast comes as no surprise at all to those whose job it is to promote the region's many activities.

According to Sid Baker, president of the Travel & Tourist Association of Southeast Michigan, popularity of both downhill and cross-country skiing has been growing as more and more people get outdoors to enjoy wintertime sports.

Baker said, "Our climate is far more temperate than those of other ski areas in the nation and our facilities are based close to a large population. Add to this the state-of-the-art snow-making and snow-grooming equipment available and Southeast Michigan offers excellent, affordable skiing."

Southeast Michigan ski areas draw from a region which includes Port Huron-Sarnia, Flint, Lansing, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Monroe, Adrian, Toledo and northern Ohio and Indiana as well as from southern Ontario.

"It takes a great investment of time and money for people to ski in the Rocky Mountains." In "Southeast Michigan, the opposite is true, even if you include an overnight stay in one of the region's fine hotel or motel facilities," said Baker.

"Since we ARE number one," he said, "we urge all who haven't tried skiing in Southeast Michigan to take advantage of it."

Estimated Tax: Farmers Have Two Payment Options

Individuals who earned at least two-thirds of their 1985 or 1986 gross income from farming may either:

- Make one estimated tax payment by January 15, 1987 and file their 1986 return and pay the balance due by April 15, 1987, or

- File their 1986 return and pay the tax on or before March 2, 1987.

The IRS has two publications which discuss these rules: Publication 225, Farmer's Tax Guide, and Publication 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax. They may be obtained by calling or writing the IRS.

Emergency Message Line For Sheriff—971-3911

Listed in this week's paper are correct telephone numbers for use by people residing in western Washtenaw county.

Emergency messages intended for the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department (WCSD) should be relayed by calling "971-3911" from any location.

To contact WCSD-Chelsea Station 3, telephone 971-9076, a telephone line which has automatic switching capability to transfer the caller to the communications center at the main WCSD station located on Hogback Rd., after three rings.

WCSD-Manchester Station 4 may be contacted by dialing 971-9036; after the third ring, this line will transfer the caller to a communications officer at the Hogback Rd. center.

To contact Dexter-WCSD Station 5, phone 971-9042. If someone is in the Dexter office, it will be answered on the first couple of rings.

If the deputy on duty is in the patrol car or otherwise out of the office, the call will, after the third ring, automatically switch to the communications center at the Sheriff's Department main station (station one) located on Hogback Rd., and your message may be given to the deputy in Dexter via radio.

However, if you "definitely wish to speak directly" with a deputy in the Dexter office and no one else, phone 971-9068 and the line will go unanswered if no one is in the office. This line will "not" switch to the communications center.

To reach WCSD-Scio Township Station 7, phone 971-9153; this line switches to the WCSD communications center after three rings.

★ Constant Dieting ...

Over the past years men and women have gotten taller and heavier because of better nutritional standards. However, the ideal female image has gotten thinner. Women have developed obsessions for staying thin, often equating status and self-worth with physical perfection. Men just don't seem to have as much concern with being thin. The tug-of-war between a woman's expectations and biological reality is evident in the widespread and chronic dieting among women today.

Characteristics of chronic dieting, such as skipping meals and obsession with food, can be dangerous. Although most women who diet chronically do not develop serious health problems, it's interesting to note that for the most part very low calorie and fad diets just don't work. Sensible eating does.

Chronic dieting may make food seem more desirable or attractive than it really needs or deserves to be. An example is the person who forgoes breakfast and lunch thinking a binge is earned and deserved for dinner.

People are better off eating three sensible, calorie-wise meals a day. Daily caloric intake should be budgeted into three routine meals. Once meals are regular and planned and satisfying, there is less thought and worry about food.

My suggestions for sensible, weight control diets are:

- Include foods from the four basic groups in each meal;
- Establish routine meal times;
- Think of food as fuel for your body rather than as imminent fat or a special reward for something accomplished;
- Try to avoid "no calorie" or "diet" foods. If you fill up on non-caloric food, you're not really eating and won't feel energetic or satisfied.

CARL KLINK in Pisa, Italy, about March 1945, standing next to a mined Chrysler M-36 tank. The picture was taken with an Eastman-Kodak box camera that Klink had owned since he was a boy. When Klink was 12, Kodak was celebrating their 50th anniversary and gave every child of that age a free camera. Klink picked his up at Henry Fenn's Drug Store 57 years ago.

Carl Klink Attends Reunion of WW-II Unit

Carl Klink and his wife, Eleanor, went to Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 1-5 to attend a reunion of the U.S. Army's 2011 Ordnance Maintenance Company, the group that Klink fought with in World War II from 1943 to 1945.

Klink's company worked behind the front lines in France, Italy, and North Africa, taking care of equipment and supplies, assembling vehicles, and hauling ammunition and bombs.

Of the original 285 members of the company, 50 were located and all attended the reunion. Of the remaining 235, Klink said some were killed in the war during air raids or while moving. Others have died more natural deaths in the 42 years since their service and some are probably still around but their whereabouts are unknown.

Klink said he would not have known about the reunion except than an army buddy of his that lives in Detroit saw it advertised in a veterans magazine and wrote him. Klink said the address was not quite right but luckily the letter reached him anyway.

This was the first reunion that Klink has been to. He found most of the company had changed considerably and that only two were recognizable. People came from all over the country, including Maine, New Jersey, and Washington state, driving many miles through ice and snow. The group decided to meet again next year, but this time in August in the Catskills.

Klink has not been back to Italy, France, or North Africa since his wartime service, but would like to see Italy again. He says Italy has Florida all beat. "You can go six months and not see a cloud. It's clearer than crystal." He also guesses he could see more evidence of World War II in Italy than he was able to see in two trips to Germany.

According to Klink, "in Germany everything is built up so thick and new." He said the only way he could see any evidence of the war was by walking behind buildings to see fragments of bombed structures. He visited the site of the Battle of the Bulge and noticed that he could see no signs of bullet holes in the trees. Klink assumes that all the trees now there are ones that have grown since the war.

Asked if the men at the reunion talked about the war, Klink replied, "No, they were pretty quiet, most want to forget."
