THE OLD ROCKWELL INDUSTRIES BUILDINGS was purchased by Chelsea Industries in December from Rockwell Associates of Ann Arbor. Plans for the 150,000 square feet include expansion of Chelsea Industries, which now employs 70 people.

CHELSEA INDUSTRIES has bought the former North American Rockwell buildings adjacent to the company's current plant. Merkel's Furniture & Carpet Co., which uses the building on the left as a warehouse, and DaJo Sign Co., which uses part of the building on the right, have indicated they want to stay right where they are.

Chelsea Industries Buys Former Rockwell Plant

Jack Dunn, president of Chelsea Industries, Inc., has announced his company's purchase of the former North American Rockwell Buildings and property located adjacent to the Chelsea Industries Plant from Rockwell Associates, of Ann Arbor. The sale took place in December.

The Rockwell buildings comprise approximately 150,000 square feet of industrial and office space on six acres of land.

Preliminary plans for the buildings include an expansion area for the growing Chelsea Industries manufacturing operation which began business in late 1980 and now employs 70 people and utilizes the entire plant that formerly housed the Central Fibre Products Co.

Dunn indicated that the remaining area could be divided into rentable sections that would accommodate small to medium sized tenants interested in light manufacturing, storage or other industrial or commercial uses.

Dunn also indicated that the shipping and receiving areas at Rockwell would be ideal for companies needing "just-in-time" warehousing facilities close to the Southeastern Michigan automobile assembly plants.

Present tenants in the building who have indicated interest in renewing their leases with the new owners include Merkel Furniture & Carpet Co., BookCrafters, Inc., and the DaJo Sign Co.

Planning Commission Denies Re-zoning For Shopping Center

For the second time in three months, an out-of-town developer has been rebuffed in an effort to rezone land to build a shopping mall near the southern village limits.

Chelsea Village Planning Commission voted 6-1 last Tuesday, Feb. 10 against a re-zoning petition filed by Ann Arbor developer Rene Papo to rezone 11 acres west of south M-52 from C-3 to C-4. That change would allow Papo, of Arcus Corp., to build a 120,000-square-foot shopping mall, featuring 55,000-square-foot Ames department store.

C-3 zoning allows highway access businesses, such as motels, fast food restaurants and gasoline stations. C-4 zoning allows other commercial developments that do not have on-site manufacturing.

Papo said he "didn't know what to expect," in terms of opposition to his plans.

"I don't think it was so much a question of opposition to the plans," Papo said.

"I think they turned down the request because they turned the other one down," Papo was referring to a similar request last November by the Rogar Development Co. of Farmington Hills.

Papo, who submitted tentative site plans to the village, also said he wants to construct a Comfort Inn motel just south of the shopping mall "as soon as the market will support it." The site plans included the motel, which he said would initially be 60 units.

The entire parcel Papo said he wants to develop is about 24 acres.

The planning commission's vote came after a public hearing before a standing-room-only crowd in the village council chambers. The ultimate decision rests with the village council, who will hold a public hearing on the petition on Tuesday, March 17.

"How many hotels, gas stations and fast food restaurants can you put in 24 acres," Papo said last week.

"What on earth are you going to do with the rest of the land? I want to make a nice shopping center. I'd like to see money stay in the village rather than go to Ann Arbor."

The land in question, behind Chelsea Big Boy and Taco Bell on M-52, is owned by Chelsea Emergency Physicians Profit Sharing Trust and Chuck Broderick, owner of Broderick's Tower Shell.

Broderick's portion of the parcel was the subject of the petition by Rogar Development Co., who presented plans to build a 26,000-square-foot strip mall.

The planning commission, on both occasions, turned down the requests because they run contrary to the village's General Development Plan. The council later turned down Rogar's petition, based on the planning commission's recommendation.

"The (Papo) petition is not consistent with the village's adopted land use policy as expressed in the general development plan," said Carl Schmult, Jr., the village's community planning consultant, in a report to the commission.

"The plan designates the frontages of M-52 in this area for highway commercial use. This policy reflects the village's objective to take advantage of the access provided by the I-94 interchange. The plan is well conceived with respect to this area, since it is the only undeveloped area in the village with direct access to the interstate freeway system."

The report also said that the western portion of the property is designated for medium density housing, which is also not consistent with the petition.

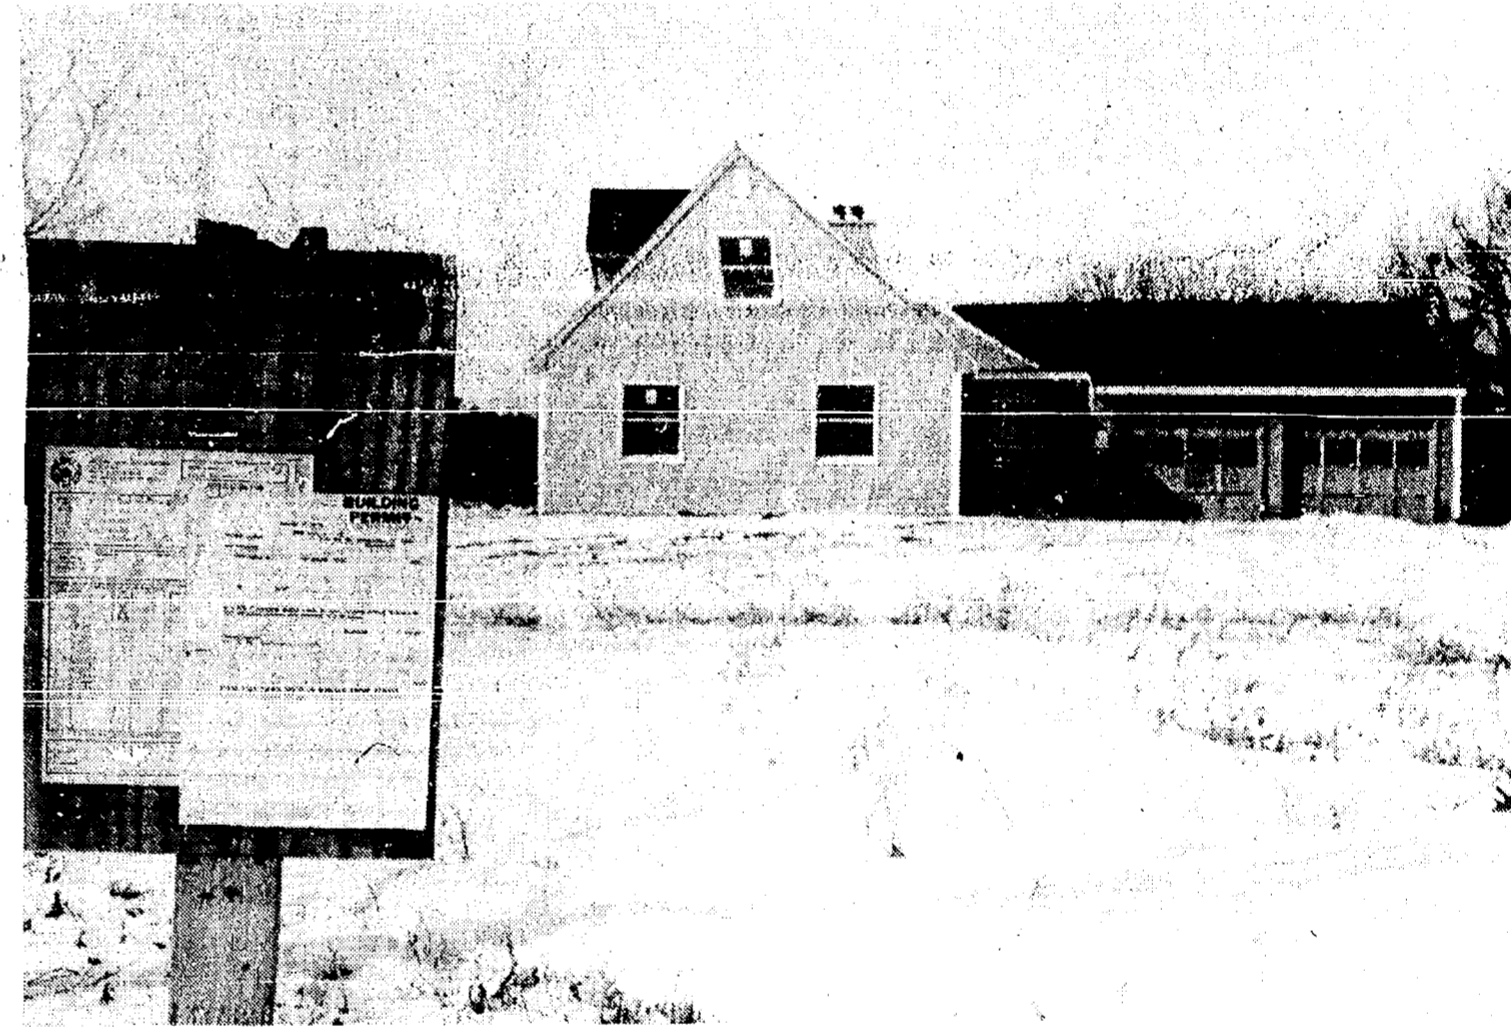

Papo said his center, anchored by the Ames store, a eastern chain retail store similar to K-Mart, would create about 200 jobs and increase the village's tax base by $3.4 million. He also said he doesn't think the downtown business area would suffer.

"Either the Village of Chelsea will grow or the townships around it will grow," Papo said.

"I'd like to see Chelsea grow."

Papo had originally planned to build his mall on land between Chelsea State Bank and the Chelsea State Fairgrounds on Old US-12. However, Papo said his plans were changed after he realized there would not be enough land available for parking.

Papo said that if council turns down his request, he will look for another site either within the village or nearby in one of the townships.

HOME BUILDING is becoming an increasingly popular alternative as potential home buyers find fewer and fewer existing homes on the market these days. Local realtors say the list of buyers is long and the supply of houses is way too short.

Homes Sales Are Brisk In Western Washtenaw

There were fewer houses on the market in the Chelsea area in the first month of this year than in any January of the last four years, according to figures by the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors.

And that indicates that the residential real estate market in Chelsea is booming, as it is over most of Washtenaw county, according to Robert Thornton, of Thornton Inc., a Chelsea realtor.

Thornton, and colleague John Pierson, of Frisinger-Pierson Realtors, say they have lists of people waiting to buy homes in the Chelsea area, but there is not much to choose from.

Real estate agents tell stories of homes selling the first day they are on the market, sometimes with two or three additional contracts pending.

Classified ads in The Chelsea Standard and other newspapers reflect realtors' concerns. "We need listings," one ad says. If you are considering selling your home, realtors say, this is the best opportunity of the 1980s so far.

According to figures from the board of realtors, there were 123 homes up for sale in the western part of the county (including Chelsea, Manchester and Grass Lake) in the first week of January. That compares to 144 in 1986, and 203 in 1985.

"Part of that is because the turnover is so quick," Thornton said.

"Houses are not on the market as long."

Relatively low mortgage interest rates, currently around nine percent, are the main reason for the robust market.

Also, both men say, Chelsea's quality of life, especially the quality of the Chelsea School District, is attractive to potential buyers.

Along with the lower interest rates, average home resale prices have risen in the county, from $73,038 for 1985 to $79,610, the board of realtors reported.

"That increase is a combination of two things," Thornton said.

"Some people are buying more expensive homes and it doesn't take too many $400,000 purchases to raise the average price. Also, there aren't many homes available for less than $60,000."

Pierson said that he's seen cases of people from out of town who want to move into the area who have paid "premium prices" to be assured of a home.

Tickets Going Fast For CAP Play

Did Karen Andre commit a murder, or not? is the question that must be answered by the jury at Beach Middle school this week-end. Curtain rises for "Night of January 16th" presented by the Chelsea Area Players on Friday, Feb. 20 and Saturday, Feb. 21 promptly at 8:30 p.m., following a desert/social hour. There will also be a matinee performance on Saturday, Feb. 22 at 2 p.m.

Prospects are that the house will be filled at all performances. As of this writing the Saturday performance is sold out and only a few seats remain for the Friday performance and Sunday matinee.

An afterglow will be hosted by the Woodshed Eatery following both evening performances. Provided will be an hors d'oeuvres buffet with a cash bar. A portion of the proceeds will be donated to the restoration of the historic 14th District Court House.

Tickets for the afterglow are limited and will only be available through Wednesday, Feb. 18.

Tickets are sold at the Woodshed Eatery, 475-1922, for both the performances and afterglow.

Paul G. Schaible, Sr., was honored last night at a dinner at the Town Club in Ann Arbor to mark the 60th anniversary of his affiliation with banking institutions of Chelsea. While not unique in banking circles, the senior Schaible's 60-year career is one of very few recorded in Michigan, according to banking publications.

Schaible's connection with Chelsea banks began in 1903, when he was employed by the former Chelsea Savings Bank as a bookkeeper and assistant cashier. In 1908 he was one of the organizers of the Farmers & Merchants Bank which opened that year. In 1921 he became its president, succeeding John Waltrous. Schaible continued as president until the Farmers & Merchants Bank merged in 1934. He and his wife make their home at 170 Orchard St.

Two Chelsea Boy Scouts received Pro Deo et Patria (For God and Country) awards at special services Sunday morning at the Congregational church. They are Tom Penhallegon and Ken Reinhardt. Requirements for this award involved more than a year of preparation and volunteer church service by the two Scouts.

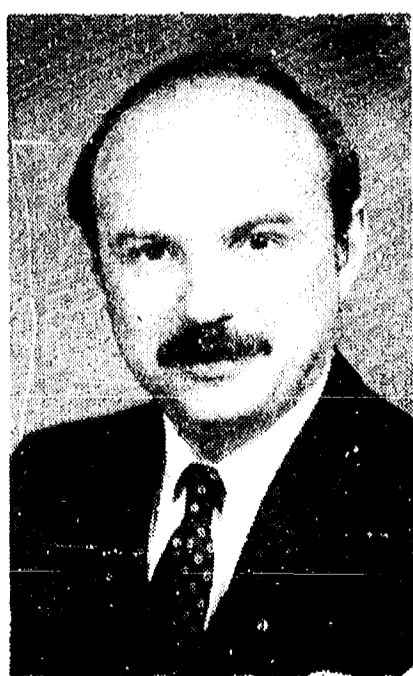

Heroism paid off in more than honor for Ron Branham of Chelsea. Ron used skills developed as a member of the village fire department to quickly extinguish a fire at Gelman Instrument Co. where he is employed. President Charles Gelman rewarded Ron with a certificate for 25 shares of stock in the company.

Governor Emphasizes Crime, Human Investment in State of State

Governor James Blanchard stressed human investment and crime in his State of the State message delivered to a joint meeting of the legislature, calling for juveniles work camps and new ways to adapt Michigan's workforce in a changing economy.

Blanchard, whose fifth message was titled a "Michigan Strategy," recounted steps he has led to make Michigan's condition good, but he said it has the potential to get better.

He said the state faces two major problems: industrial relocation and crime. "Michigan is at the center of the struggle," he said in previewing his message to meet the challenge to keep the state competitive.

Chief of Staff Rick Cole said the governor's address continued to elaborate on the strategy already in place regarding solvent finances, efficient government, less obstructions for business, and more co-operation across government agencies.

Thus, the message is light on new proposals, and is sparse on details. For instance, he says the state must "deal with product liability" and aides said the issue is the subject of current negotiations.

Many of the details of his youth work camp proposal also are missing, but the governor said he hopes it can begin operation this year. The camps, modeled after civil conservation corps camps now in operation for young welfare recipients, is part of the governor's program to be announced in the State of the State to fight crime.

Blanchard told reporters he is not happy with the way either the prison system or schools handle youthful offenders.

Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, whose city has experienced a recent rash of murders by teen-agers, had proposed establishing youth camps in the Upper Peninsula. Speaker Gary Owen (D-Ypsilanti) later endorsed the idea.

Blanchard said he hopes the program can be "up and running this year" although details such as how many offenders would be involved and what specific activities would be available at the camps are not yet developed.

Blanchard said he also does not know how much money would be required for the project.

"Confidence that we can give these people is more important than any particular skill we could teach. We're talking about giving skills and confidence so they will not live a life of crime. We can't just warehouse kids in school and graduate them to a life of crime and welfare," the governor said.

The program will "take juvenile offenders and force them to work and learn, rather than roam the streets," the governor said. He said the camps would include only non-violent offenders and "if it is worked right," the camps could be placed anywhere.

Other proposals to fight crime—an issue which the governor said has been placed on the back burner nationally despite years of rhetoric—include:

—mandatory sentences of a specific term of years, rather than a maximum/minimum range, for a new category of heinous crimes involving felonies which result in personal injury.

—extend to age 21, from 19, the time the juvenile system can retain jurisdiction over a juvenile offender in youth homes and other facilities.

—liberalizing provisions to prosecute as adults 15- and 16-year-olds charged with serious crimes (judges currently have the discretion for such trials in cases of rape and murder).

—tougher sentences for adults who sell drugs to minors and stronger mandatory minimum sentences for sale of illegal drugs, while also supporting three more drug enforcement teams in northern Michigan.

The governor's proposals for human investment, a new emphasis following attention to aiding businesses and communities in economic development, are to be highlighted by a stress on improved literacy.

His new cabinet council involving several agencies is to work on job training, ways to provide services, and lead the way to cut the number of functionally illiterate workers in half by 1990 and to less than 1 percent 10 years later.

"Quality education for our children, adult literacy, and skills upgrading for our workers should be goals for everyone in Michigan who cares about our economic future," the governor said in his message.

His plan includes a mandate to the Department of Education to develop a test to measure the skills an individual will need to be employable and make available to every adult blue-collar worker public and private programs to upgrade skills.

The governor's jobs strategy includes cutting workers' and unemployment compensation system costs by using as a framework the (Continued on page six)

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb said Saturday night at the country store that he and his old lady was agreed that headlines of company are a welcome sight, but that tallights can be beautiful. Zeke told the fellers that two young missionary students stopped by the house one night last week, and he could report they got a heap more out of his old lady's coffee and pound cake than he and his old lady got out of their theology. As best as he could figure, Zeke said, both were worked up about where, but one was strong fer coming and the other was equal set on going.

It turned out, Zeke went on, that the students had been sent out in pairs to talk with folks that have been here a heap longer than they're going to be here. Their job was to find out if old people have changed their thinking on the here and the here after. The boys said this information would help them in their work with young people that ain't likely to give serious thought to the end of their lives. Since there is more young folks in this country than any other kind, and since the old population is growing the fastest, a understanding of changing beliefs through life could be a comfort to both, was their thinking.

Zeke said the idee didn't make much sense to him, but he was willing to say his life has been pritty well divided in two parts. The first was thinking about how man got here, and the second was puzzling over where man is going. Like running a race, Zeke went on, at the start you work on the beginning, and near the finish you concentrate on the end. Zeke said he didn't see anything complicated about that, but it got the where-from boy talking hard to the where-to boy and by the time they left they had agreed to full disagree. Zeke said their visit run far to long fer his taste, but he would be interested in seeing their report on the Websters.

Actual, said Clem Webster, it ain't easy to stay excited about what young folks call the golden years. He had saw last week where some feller said the reason the Reader's Digest has so much circulation is that so many of its readers "are of a age where they fergit to cancel their subscriptions." That would be downright depressing if true, Clem said, but it ain't. You can no more pigeonhole one age group than another, he said, and we all got to remember that no sooner do we say the kids are going to the dogs than they are grown and doing a heap better job than we done. People do different things fer different reasons all their lives, Clem said, and the biggest no-news news of last year was the attention give to the "baby boomers" turning 40. Clem said most baby boom writers are about that age, so they figger it's a big deal, but if you ain't, it ain't, it's just another step along the way.

Ed Doolittle was disagreed. He said people think different at different ages, and it helps to know how and why. Fer instant, Ed said, fer him Pearl Harbor is a living memory, and it's hard fer him to git use to the idee that fer most of the people in this country it is history ever bit as dead as the Boston tea party. Ed said one of the national column writers was talking recent about wage and price controls that didn't mean beans to 90 percent of his readers.

Actual, some history stays alive. I saw recent where the Tower of Pisa leaned another .08 of an inch last year, a little trip it's been taking ever year since 1173.

Masons Hear Junior Past Grand Master at Banquet

Chelsea Masonic Lodge observed their annual Masonic Banquet, on Saturday evening, Jan. 31. There was a good turnout, and everyone had a great meal. There were presentations made to the past masters present, and the Mason of the Year award was made to Walter E. Cozzens, also a past master. Walter was presented with an award certificate, and a very nice plaque.

Members were delighted with Charles Cameron, a past master, who acted as the master of ceremonies, and shared a few anecdotes. Members were honored to have as guest speaker, the junior past grand master of the Grand Lodge of the State of Michigan. Following the address of the past grand master, entertainment was by the Silhouettes, a singing group from Chelsea High school.

This dinner is an annual affair used to thank all the Master Masons in this area for the support they have given throughout the year, and is for many the only time they all can get together and talk. This is something like a reunion.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Chelsea Post No. 4076 was held Monday, Feb. 9, at 7:30 p.m., with Joan L. Taft, president, presiding.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Eleanor Farley, patriotic instructor, which was followed by the national anthem. One candidate received her initiation for membership. The treasurer's report was given.

The reading of official and other communications was followed by reports from committees, standing and special.

Gertrude O'Dell, chaplain and rehabilitation chairperson, reported that the post member who had been ill was much better. She also stated that the Chelsea Community Hospital would be presenting her with a gift for all the hours she has donated.

Lucy Piatt, hospital chairperson received acknowledgment from Lois Liedel, state hospital chairperson, for the auxiliary's donation to Ypsilanti State Hospital. She still needs donations for her coffee hours on Friday morning at the Ann Arbor Veterans Hospital of three dozen cookies, muffins, cup cakes or donuts. Please call 475-2236 or Joan L. Taft, president at 475-3560, if you wish to help our veterans by this small donation.

Dorlene Cozzens, membership chairperson stated that we had reached 100% in our membership and thanked everyone for paying their dues so promptly.

Eulahlee Packard, Americanism and loyalty day chairperson will be presenting an American Flag to the Chelsea Fire Department on behalf of the Post and Auxiliary, on Wednesday evening. She will also be presenting two American flags to two of the local Brownie Troops.

Joan L. Taft, president, reported that the auxiliary still had a few American Bald Eagle pins for sale, by the Cancer Aid and Research Department.

Kathleen Schmidt, publicity chairperson, gave out Valentine puzzles to all auxiliary members present. She also stated that the publicity department was looking for more pictures to go in the scrap book.

Kathleen Schmidt, Buddy Poppy chairperson, stated that Arthur Schmidt, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4076 Life Member, had made 14-inch letters, which the Buddy Poppy committee plans to cover with poppies for the front window.

Eulahlee Packard, conductress, presented the report from the District No. 6 meeting.

Eleanor Farley read an article about "The Organization" of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the good of the order. Closing ceremonies were conducted in accordance with the ritual. The Buddy Poppy Banner of Welcome was hung by the auxiliary members.

Board of Education Discusses Renewal Of Operating Millage

Chelsea Board of Education took no action Monday night on a proposal to ask for a 20.5 mill operating millage renewal in the Monday, June 8 elections.

The board also discussed requesting one mill in operating millage in the June elections. A third discussion item focused on asking voters to approve language which makes the operating millage compatible with the Headlee amendment.

Also to be decided is the election of one school board member. Chair Arthur Dils' term expires June 30. Dils has not said whether he will seek re-election.

School board candidates must file petitions by April 6 at 4 p.m. The last day to withdraw petitions is April 9. Absentee ballots will be available May 19. Last year 11 people ran for the two seats won by Barbara Cherem and Craig Wales.

The school board approved the communicable disease policy which "ensures that proper procedures will be taken to assure both the right of the individual and the concerns of the community are addressed." A panel known as the "Communicable Disease Review Panel" (CDRP) will review cases of students or staff members with communicable diseases and recommend whether the afflicted individual may continue to be involved in the public school setting. Sitting on this panel will be the superintendent of schools, a physician with expertise in the disease, the physician treating the individual, the physician from the Washtenaw County Health Department, the school nurse, and a representative for the person afflicted.

Three volunteers from South school were given board recognition, Mary Grifka, Cathy Buss, and Linda Dufek. According to principal Bob Benedict, "these volunteers help in the classrooms by tutoring kids in reading, math and computer skills and by freeing the teachers to make the best use of their time."

After the board meeting was officially adjourned, the board reconvened in a public session to discuss future planning. Since the student population of the Chelsea school district is again growing, the board will have to make some decisions about space use and staffing needs. The administration prepared 25 alternatives for the board to discuss. The biggest question is whether some of the existing programs which are integral parts of the system, such as senior citizens, pre-school, or special education, should be moved (possibly to the high school which will not become over-crowded as soon as the elementary schools), or should the school board plan to construct new buildings or additions.

High School Seniors Receive Prestigious Good Citizen Awards

Two area high school seniors have been selected by their respective schools to receive Good Citizen Awards from the Sarah Caswell Angell Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The awards will be presented at a ceremony to be held at the Gerald R. Ford Presidential Library in Ann Arbor at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 21. Steve Fraser, America's first Olympic gold medalist in Greco-Roman wrestling, will be the speaker.

Students selected are Jeanette Wheeler of Dexter High School and Melanie Flanigan of Chelsea High School.

Flanigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Flanigan, is her senior class vice-president and co-captain of the varsity cross country team. She is also secretary of the Chelsea High School National Honor Society and president of the Chelsea Key Club. She is a member of St. Paul United Church of Christ and their Senior High Youth Fellowship. Miss Flanigan was Homecoming Queen in 1986 and plans to attend college to major in business administration.

Wheeler, daughter of Joseph R. Wheeler, is currently president of the Dexter High School National Honor Society and a member of the Dexter bands. She has played first chair oboe in the concert and symphonic bands and both trumpet and percussion in the marching band.

She has also been active in 4-H horse showing and veterinary science research and has received several blue ribbons for her accomplishments. She has also served as a volunteer at Chelsea Community Hospital. During the summer of 1986, she participated in a National Future Business Leaders' Conference, which emphasized the free enterprise system of the United States. Miss Wheeler plans to attend college to study education and counseling.

The DAR Good Citizens Contest is open to boys and girls in the senior classes of accredited public and private high schools in good standing with the State Board of Education.

The student selected as the school's "DAR Good Citizen" must have the qualities of leadership, which includes personality, self-control, ability to assume responsibility; dependability, which includes truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality; service, which includes co-operation, courtesy, consideration of others; patriotism, which includes unselfish interest in family, school, community, and nation, to an outstanding degree.

The senior class chooses, by vote, three seniors having these qualifications and from the three, the high school faculty selects one to be the school's "DAR Good Citizen."

All award recipients may enter competition for the DAR of Michigan Good Citizen Award, to be presented in April in East Lansing. The Michigan Good Citizen Award is based on a written examination and essay submitted by the local Good Citizens.

Commissioners To Consider Annexation

The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners will consider tonight a petition by the Village of Chelsea to "alter the village boundaries" by adding 8.8 acres of land to be used for the new wastewater treatment plant.

The public hearing will take place at 7 p.m. at the Washtenaw County

Administration Building, 220 N. Main St., Ann Arbor.

The 8.8 acres is actually three separate parcels, all in Lima township. One parcel is 4.92 acres, another 3.01 acres, and a third, .89 acres. They are adjacent to the current plant just east of McKinley Rd.

The Chelsea Hearing Aid Centre offers its hearing aid customers a one-month free wear trial and follow-up office service after the 30-day period.

Q: I recently read an article about a new way of filling decayed teeth without using novocaine or a drill. Is this a hoax or is such a procedure available?

A: The product you are referring to is known as the Caridex system and it is an exciting new development in dentistry although several misconceptions have been circulated by the media. In order to understand the benefits of such a procedure you need to first understand a little about the process of tooth decay.

In simple terms tooth decay, or caries as it is more properly called, is caused by acid produced by the bacteria present in dental plaque. These bacteria produce acid whenever they ingest simple sugars and this acid actually demineralizes the hard tooth structure. The enamel which covers the teeth is very hard and it takes a relatively long time for the acid to "eat" through it. Once a hole is made in the enamel, however, the underlying dentin which is not as hard is attacked and it becomes damaged much more rapidly than enamel. When teeth are sensitive to sugars or temperature it is often because the underlying dentin is exposed. If the caries process is allowed to progress much longer it reaches the pulp of the tooth which contains the nerves and blood vessels and the patient develops a toothache or an abscess.

When your dentist fills a decayed tooth he or she must first remove all of the decayed material as well as any enamel which has lost its support due to damage to the underlying dentin. This is where the familiar dental drill comes into use. Your dentist uses the drill to mechanically remove any weak enamel and then all the damaged dentin before replacing the lost tooth structure with some type of restoration. The reason the tooth is numb before this procedure is because if it wasn't then the cold water from the dental drill as well as the drilling itself would be very painful to the dentin and nerve.

The new Caridex system is revolutionary because it allows for the removal of the carious or decayed dentin with less use of the drill. A specially formulated solution which softens decayed dentin without damaging healthy tooth structure is applied using a specially designed applicator. The solution is warmed to body temperature so the nerve will not be irritated by any temperature change. The softened decay is then gently scraped away without the use of a drill. Unlike a drill, Caridex solution affects only the decay, which allows your dentist to preserve more of your healthy tooth. Studies have also shown that certain types of fillings adhere to the tooth better when Caridex is used.

It is important to understand that the Caridex system is best suited to certain types of cavities and that in almost all cases your dentist will still have to do some drilling and, in many cases, will still have to numb the tooth. None the less the Caridex system is yet another advancement in the quest for the most conservative and comfortable dental care.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

Here in Washtenaw county we have a group of 21 women and three men with the Humane Society of Huron Valley whose lives are a dramatic blend of ecstasy and pain. They know the joy of bringing troubled animals to health and placing them for adoption in safe and happy homes. But during those very same hours they experience the heart-break of seeing numbers of appealing animals die because they simply can't be saved.

The HSHV veterinarian and his aides routinely face risks with frightened dogs who will use their fangs in the illusion of self defense, or injured cats ready to claw helping hands to tatters. With a different kind of courage, educators from the Society find themselves in deliberate conflict with people who make money by subjecting animals to cruelty in rodeos, and other opponents who experiment on dogs and puppies in laboratories. The battles go on 365 days a year so that the next adversaries for these humane workers may turn out to be hunters who want to shoot doves or use animal leg traps in the wild.

Each year countless dogs and cats, hit by cars, are helped—and often saved—by Society medical personnel. Other HSHV officers in the course of duty have rescued a raccoon from a homeowner's bathtub, freed a dog caught in the rim of a large truck tire, rescued squirrels from fireplaces, bats from various apartments, a very large dog from a bog, a stallion caught in a barbed wire fence, ducks stuck in six-pack rings, a guinea pig from a storm sewer, a pigeon hanging upside down from a kite string 50 feet up in a tree, and a cat barely floating on a small piece of debris in a dam.

The Society's shelter is situated at 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., just off Plymouth Rd., less than two miles east of US-23. These are the services they perform:

- *Food, shelter and care for lost, stray and unwanted animals
- *Pet adoption
- *24-hour emergency rescue
- *Low cost spay/neuter clinic
- *Cruelty investigation
- *Euthanasia
- *Animal education

One of the major concerns of the Society is the over-population of dogs and cats. It is the result of relentless arithmetic. In four breeding seasons two stray animals can multiply to more than 100.

Neutering a male dog has no effect on his health and, with proper diet and exercise, will not cause him to grow fat. With sterilization he is unlikely to run away and get lost in the pursuit of a female—which is what happened to Terry, our unsterilized AKC Irish setter. (On an earlier occasion he was picked up miles from home on the median of I-94 and returned by an experienced handler of dogs who happened to be driving through Michigan.)

The spaying of a female dog is doubly urgent if you simply want a pet and have no interest in becoming a dog breeder. You avoid the unpleasant experiences of having her in heat twice a year. You also avoid the presence of sex hungry males on your doorstep... followed by litters of pups that need care, feeding, shots, and homes.

There are parallel problems with cats. Both sexes are happier and better off without the complications of sex and the production of kittens.

To make sure that animals adopted from the HSHV shelter will not reproduce, every animal is sterilized before new owners take possession. The Society also maintains a spay and neutering service at low cost for all owners, and a special rate for the pets of senior citizens. To arrange for the sterilization of your pet you may schedule an appointment with the Spay and Neuter Clinic by phoning 662-4365 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. (There is always the optional convenience of surgical service right here from local veterinarians.)

If you or members of your family are thinking of adopting a pet, the Humane Society is a good place to go for a number of reasons. You are likely to have a larger selection than elsewhere and there is no charge for the pet. You are sure that the animal of your choice will have had a recent health check under the supervision of a doctor of veterinary medicine.

Equally important, you will be helped by an adoption counselor in the selection of a pet that will be suited to your lifestyle. Many well-meaning owners have unrealistic expectations of their pets. When these aspirations aren't realized, the owners are back at the shelter to return, or perhaps exchange, the pet.

There was a time not too many years ago when four out of every 10 animals adopted were returned to the shelter. By 1982, as a result of the Society's "Matchmaker" program, the number of animals returned to the shelter had been reduced by two thirds. This program of carefully matching owners and pets continues today. Animals are adopted only to homes where it is indicated they will receive good, lifelong care. Animals which have shown vicious tendencies, or other behavioral disorders, are not released for adoption. Animals from the shelter are offered for adoption as pets and only secondarily as working animals (mousers, watchdogs, etc.)

Although the Society makes no charge for a pet, the prospective owner is given estimates of the cost of owning a certain pet—several hundred dollars a year. Cats will not be offered for adoption by the society if they are to be outdoor animals. Dogs intended for outdoor living must have heavy coats and large, sturdy builds. They must also be provided with good outdoor housing. Animals are rarely available for adoption as a gift to another person. It is sadly true that gift pets are a major source of animals brought to the shelter.

When puppies and kittens are offered for adoption to families with pre-school children special training is provided by Society counselors so that the animals are treated as pets and not toys. The Humane Society places only domestic animals as pets. Wild animals are rehabilitated and returned to the wild whenever possible.

One of the most merciful services performed by the Humane Society is one I wish were available in the human health care world. It is euthanasia. When an animal is too sick to live or hopelessly beyond rehabilitation as a pet, it is put to death by injection in a way that is totally painless and virtually instantaneous. If you are the owner of a pet which is gravely ill you can get help for a decision about euthanasia from your own veterinarian locally. The same service may be arranged through the Society at reduced cost. Time and distance may be the most important decisions.

In addition to its public influence as an educational resource the Society maintains a year-long program of pet care clinics for dogs, cats, horses, gerbils and mice. All of these clinics and workshops are held in the HSHV Community Education Building. The classes are free and so are the teaching materials.

Come to the clinics of your choice and feel free to ask questions. Is it a good idea or a bad one to have your cat declawed? What is the youngest recommended age for a child to own a baby animal? How about a vasectomy for Towser instead of castration? What should a cat owner know about feline leukemia? Is heart worm a matter of concern for a dog owner in Michigan? Will a scratching post keep Kitty from clawing up the davenport? What are the considerations involved in chaining your dog?

And one more question you can ask without leaving home: Does the Humane Society need personal or family contributions to keep up the good work?

JERRI COLE studies a fashion book to get 1930s costume ideas for Chelsea Area Players production of "Night of Jan. 18th." The play will feature the novel twist of allowing audience members to play a jury, deciding which ending of the play will be performed. The play runs Feb. 20-22 at Beach Middle school.

Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce Board Minutes

Frisinger reported on the "Business After Hours" to be held Feb. 3, from 5 to 7 p.m. in the Woodlands Room at the hospital.

A discussion was held regarding a cash bar to cover the cost of beverages. It was decided to have a box for donations of $2.

The committee is planning to have the next meeting in May and another in September or October and alternate with the Education Committee.

McCalla and the Membership Committee prepared a list of why you should join the chamber. They have decided to divide the list of non-members and call on them. The dues structure will remain the same as 1986.

Whitaker reported for the Agricultural Committee. He attended the 102nd Michigan Farmers and Festivals Exposition in Grand Rapids. The Fair Board is looking into the insurance coverage rates and may be reduced to $2,000.

Whitaker will represent the Chelsea Community Fair in Florida.

The Fair will have their 50th year anniversary this year and will become involved in Michigan Sesquicentennial.

Patty Kubany of the Chelsea Community Hospital visited and offered her support and assistance for the Michigan Sesquicentennial Celebration.

Nuffer gave an update on the Michigan Bell system. Bell has installed new line equipment and added more dial lines to be used in the future.

Bell has sent out applications for bids for the installation of the new electronic equipment to replace the rotary.

Biedron reported on the DDA. At their December meeting, Lee Fahrner reported that the village is planning some street resurfacing on E. Middle in the spring of 1987 and the DDA is hoping to showcase some of their downtown re-development plans in that area and the parking lot entrance.

Nilan discussed with the board a newsletter. It was decided to have a newsletter mailed out quarterly.

Nilan discussed the board goals and increasing the image and awareness of the chamber. The ideas of fund-raisers, a golf outing, and the possibility of a concert in the park were brought up.

It was decided that the Chamber needs more publicity and reporting in The Chelsea Standard to increase the chamber's image and future awareness. Nilan talked to The Chelsea Standard and they will print a synopsis of our minutes from monthly board meetings.

The budget for 1987 is $10,500. Nilan will discuss with Fritz Weber the need for updating "Chelsea Is A Place for You" in regard to the Industrial Park.

A discussion was held regarding the Chelsea fireworks display. The chamber will contact Harold Allen to offer support in their efforts for a 1987 display.

Motion by Whitaker, supported by McCalla to adjourn. Ayes all. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned.

This Week's Thought

DONALD A. COLE

Many stories have been told and written about George Washington. Indication of his dedication and steadfastness during the revolution is plentiful—and well publicized. The Valley Forge story stands out. One third of his Army was dead. Another third deserted. The remaining third wanted to temporarily discontinue the war and go home to plant their spring crops. They promised to resume the war "later."

Washington knew that if he agreed to their request for a temporary cessation, the war would indeed be over. Eventual success would have been impossible—and he knew it. He refused their request and explained quite candidly, "If you go home now, there will be no war to come back to. We will have lost."

His men saw the logic of his decision. They stuck it out. They won the war. A new nation was born. And ever since, Americans have paid homage to Washington, a great leader among great men.

All Workers Must
Fill New W-4
Withholding Form

The new tax law requires that you submit a new Form W-4 to your employer for 1987, the IRS says. If you have more than one job, you must submit a new Form W-4 to each of your employers.

If you do not file a new Form W-4 by the deadline, your employer must withhold taxes from wages as if you are either single claiming one withholding allowance or married claiming two allowances, depending on whether you checked the "Single" or "Married" box on your most recent Form W-4 on file with your employer.

Although you must complete a new Form W-4 before Oct. 1, 1987, it is important that you complete it as soon as possible since the tax law changes could result in you having too little or too much withheld. Your withholding, plus any estimated tax payments, should closely match your tax liability for the year. Failure to do so could create a situation where you would have a large tax bill, plus a penalty, at the end of the year.

The new 1987 Form W-4 includes a worksheet which will help you determine the number of withholding allowances you should claim. Carefully review the instructions which are included before completing the form. Finally, you can still claim exemption from withholding on your Form W-4 if you owed no federal tax last year and do not expect to have a tax liability this year.

For more information call 1-800-424-FORM, for a copy of Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax."

Soil Conservation District

Walter P. Leonard, editor of The Chelsea Standard, has received the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District's 1986 Communications Award. In informing Leonard of this honor, William Fishbeck, chair of the board of directors, said, "The District has been most impressed with your interest and willingness to publicize the many news releases we have sent you regarding soil conservation programs and activities of the District."

Leonard was presented with a plaque at the 38th district annual meeting, Wednesday, Feb. 4 at the Pittsfield Union Grange Hall.

Past recipients include Bob Driscoll of the Michigan Farm Network heard over WPAG and the former outdoor editor of the Ann Arbor News, Doug Fulton.

The Conservation District's administrative assistant, Dennis Rice, said Leonard's work on disseminating information on the 1965 farm bill was especially appreciated.

Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District is set up by state law to work with landowners to conserve natural resources. They work primarily with farmers and rural landowners but do some work with people in villages and towns and also with schools presenting educational programs. They are funded with federal, state, and local taxes.

The conservation district is run by a five-member board which is elected at the annual meeting on a staggered term basis. Anyone who owns three acres of land is eligible to vote. The present board is composed of William Fishbeck, Dennis Huehl, Charles Koenn, Roger Boyce, and Jay Hopkins. The board employs two people to carry out the day-to-day operation, Dennis Rice and Cindy Fisher.

Services of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District are available at no charge. For further information call 761-8721.

proposals developed last year by the Economic Alliance, a labor-big business coalition.

The governor's environmental proposals include low-cost loans to local governments for solid waste projects. Environmental Advisor David Dempsey said the program is one relatively low-cost way to attack the solid waste program (the state would only suffer a loss of interest earnings) and other non-general fund alternatives are also planned.

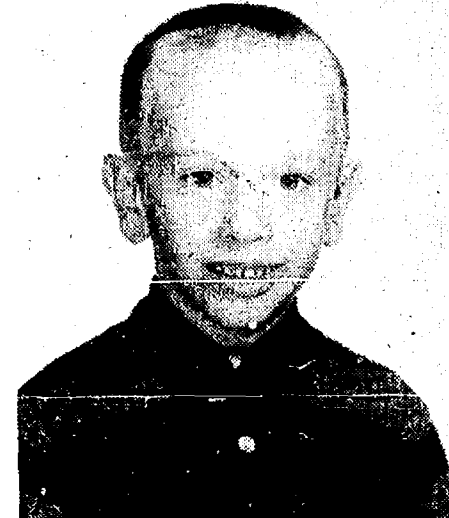

Blanchard said his goal is to close every unlicensed solid waste dump in Michigan in four years and reduce landfill use by at least one-third.

Kiwanis Club Donates $1,500 to Mott Hospital

Kiwanis Club of Chelsea has donated $1,500 through the Kiwanis Foundation to Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The money was earmarked for children's education.

Kiwanis Club is the major supporter of the Child Life Department at the hospital, according to acting director Ma J. Cornils.

The money will be used for regular school supplies, such as paper, pencils and books, as well as salaries for special tutoring.

Average stay at the hospital is eight days, but some rehabilitation patients stay a year or longer, Cornils said.

helps make sure the children don't fall behind in their school work.

Kiwanis Club of Chelsea raised the money through various projects, including their sausage wagon at the Chelsea Community Fair, and the sale of flowers at Easter.

Model Railroad Show, Sale Slated in Ann Arbor

Toy train collectors, railroad fans and model railroaders from seven states will gather to display, trade and sell model railroad equipment and memorabilia on Sunday, March 1. The show, hosted by the Ann Arbor Model Railroad Club and the Huron Valley Railroad Historical Society will be at Ann Arbor's Pioneer High School, Stadium Blvd. at S. Main St., Ann Arbor, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Three operating layouts will be on display, NTRAK, Southeastern Michigan S-Guagers and an HO layout. Each layout is expected to be at least 12 feet by 32 feet.

The Bluewater Historical Society will be showing continuous movies in the Little Theater and several manufacturers will be displaying their new products.

In addition to the above there will be 450 tables of model railroad equipment, new and collectors, for sale.

This is the 16th annual show and the largest of its type in the Midwest. More than $1 million worth of model railroad equipment and memorabilia is expected to be displayed.

Admission to the show, called "Winter Spectacular," is open to the public. Admission price is $2 with free parking on the high school grounds.

All profits from admission will be used to restore and preserve the Railroad Depot at Dexter.

CHRISTINA M. STEGER

Christina Steger Is Finalist in Michigan Teen-Ager Pageant

Christina M. Steger, the daughter of Max Steger of Chelsea, and Jackie Otis of Marquette; and granddaughter of Florence Steger of Washington St., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor of Trenary, has been selected as a finalist to compete in the 1987 Miss Michigan National Teen-Ager Pageant to be held at the Clarion Hotel in Lansing on May 22, 23, and 24.

Christina, a former South Elementary school student, lives in Marquette with her mother and now attends Marquette High School. She is very involved in ballet, taking lessons at Trisha's School of Ballet and playing a lead role in a dance production in Marquette.

Christina likes to travel. In recent years she has visited Mexico with her father and also went with him on a rafting trip down the El Paso River. Next summer she plans to spend six weeks living with a German family. She will attend a German high school for the last two weeks in May and then stay on through June.

Nomination for the Miss Michigan Teen-Ager Pageant is by secret ballot turned in by a clergyman or superintendent of schools. Contestants are students who make good grades in school, are involved in volunteer community service, and have shown potential as leaders in school and civic organizations. During the pageant they will be judged on scholastic achievement, poise-personality, and appearance. It is billed as a "scholarship pageant," not a "beauty contest."

Miss Steger is being sponsored in the state pageant by Progressive Daycare, Tom Steele Heating and Cooling, Don Lucas Imports, The Golden Touch, Trisha's School of Dance, and her father.

Max Steger plans to attend the pageant in May, taking his video camera with him.

Home Sales Jumping . . .

"That really messes it up for someone who just wants to move to a better home," Pierson said.

In 1986 there were 207 homes sold in the Chelsea School District, up from 193 in 1985 and 124 in 1984, according to board of realtors figures.

"The unique thing about this market has been that if a home is priced right it will turn over very quickly," Thornton said.

"However, if it is too expensive, people will just walk away. The buyers are very smart people and they have a good feel for what is happening."

Both Thornton and Pierson say that sales of home building sites also increased significantly in 1986 and that the trend will probably continue this year, partly due to the shortage of existing houses.

"More people are going into building a home who wouldn't even have considered it before," Pierson said.

The candidate who ran most often for President was Norman Thomas who ran—and lost—six times: 1928, 1932, 1936, 1940, 1944 and 1948.

Area Students on Honors List at Cleary College

Twelve area students have been named to Cleary College's President's Honor List for Fall Term 1986. To be honored a student must earn a 3.5 grade point average while taking at least three classes for a minimum of nine quarter hours of credit.

Three Chelsea residents, Kimberly Chor, Michelle Weber, and Christopher Lee, and a Manchester resident, Vicki Hieber, are on the Ypsilanti campus honor roll list. Those listed from the Livingston campus are Lucinda M. Devlin of Dexter; Tina Robinson, and Linda Loftis of Gregory; and Mary Barduca, Alex Manga, Sharon Neseth, Cari Ratliff, and Jeffrey Vaden, all of Pinckney.

Bovine Growth Hormone Less Spectacular Than Previously Predicted

Good farm management will probably be a bigger factor than bovine growth hormone (BGH) when it comes to boosting milk yields, according to Kevin Kirk, commodity specialist for Michigan Farm Bureau.

"The entire farm management program and the things a farmer can do on a cow-by-cow basis are still important," he said. "The bovine growth hormone will simply be another management tool. The effectiveness of BGH will vary from cow to cow. The key thing to remember is that just one management practice does not mean an increase in milk production for the entire herd."

Kirk said that even though tests have indicated that BGH can boost milk production in individual cows by anywhere from 10% to 20%, there is some question as to how cost effective use of the hormone will be.

Local Woman Wins Trip to Indy 500 Race

Shirley T. Bruck of Chelsea will be taking her husband Richard to the high-speed action of the Indy 500 this year as a winner in the Valvoline FourGard "I Love a Parade Sweepstakes." Winners were chosen randomly from a nation-wide pool of contestants who entered at local Valvoline retail outlets.

Bruck's prize includes airfare to Indianapolis, three nights at a hotel, good seats at the race, and a view of the parade.

Of winning, Bruck says, "It's something I do." She has won a number of contests including a Caribbean cruise last April. When she entered the Valvoline contest, she was hoping to win a case of oil, but instead won the big prize.

Bruck enters contests whenever she sees them, mainly at the grocery store. She says, "You have to enter contests to win them." The trip to Indianapolis over Memorial Day week-end is doubly welcome because it coincides with her wedding anniversary.

Old cars, scrap tires, and construction rubble provide better refuge for marine life than natural reefs, says National Wildlife magazine. Fish need privacy for spawning and protection from strong ocean currents and discarded junk does a better job than nature of providing protection.

Course Scheduling Begins Today at CHS

Chelsea High school scheduling process for the 1987-88 school year will begin Feb. 18-23 at both the high school and Beach Middle school.

Chelsea High school counselors will be visiting classrooms in grades 8-11 to distribute and explain the course request procedure for next year.

"This is the first step in the lengthy and complex process of building the master schedule and scheduling students for next year," said Chelsea High school principal John Williams.

After students receive the information about course offerings for next year, they will be asked to consult with their parents and return their requests to their counselors by Friday, Feb. 27.

Once the request information is returned, Williams will determine the number of courses necessary to meet student demand within allocated resources.

"We like to request that parents become involved with their children's course requests and help them determine a worthwhile plan for next year and the future," Williams said.

On Monday, Feb. 23 at 7:30 p.m., representatives of various high school departments will meet at Beach school with this year's eighth graders and their parents to describe various aspects of the high school curriculum. The eighth graders will receive their course materials earlier that day from high school counselors.

"This is an opportunity for students and their parents to ask questions of high school faculty members directly," Williams said.

The end of scheduling will take place the week of May 18 when students build their schedules using the "arena" process, which sends students to different course stations to select each course.

"I like the arena process because it gets students actively involved with determining which classes they will take next year," Williams said.

Pinckney Girl Completes Marine Recruit Training

Marine Pfc. Arlene Whitehead, daughter of Morris S. Whitehead of 7200 Chambers Rd., Pinckney, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

During the eight-week training cycle, Whitehead was introduced to the typical daily routine that she will experience during her enlistment, and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

She participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills including close order drill and first aid. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

She joined the Marine Corps in November 1985.

Consumers Pays Huge Property Tax

Consumers Power, Michigan's largest utility in terms of customers, geography, and revenue, also plays a substantial role in the state's tax structure. They paid more than $108.3 million in property taxes during 1986 to 1,374 individual taxing authorities in Michigan.

"The chief beneficiaries of these tax payments are our local schools and governmental units, which provide needed human and social services," said Al Ross, district manager of the utility's Jackson/Adrian District. The major share of Consumers Power's property taxes goes to counties where electric generating plants are located, and to cities where the utilities has its general office, region, district and work headquarters—including Jackson, Adrian and Jonesville.

In Jackson county, Grass Lake township received $124,930.79 in taxes, the village of Grass Lake received $8,374.46, and Waterloo township got $44,378.42.

Washtenaw county received $498,374.72. Revenues went to two villages, Chelsea, $4,621.85 and Manchester, $5,695.96. Twelve townships received the rest, Bridgewater, $2,533.35; Dexter, $39,864.43; Freedom, $2,516.85; Lima, $54,613.58; Lyndon, $48,308.67; Manchester, $48,016.46; Northfield, $34,480.11; Salem, $95,698.48; Scio, $7,273.72; Sharon, $26,070.16; Sylvan, $121,504.44; and Webster, $7,178.66.

Be somewhat skeptical the next time you hear a story or see a movie with a gory piranha attack. The piranha's ferocious reputation is simply not accurate, according to International Wildlife magazine. Piranhas will rarely attack a large living mammal and their usual meal is made up of fruit and seeds.

Dogs Come Back Against Milan, Lincoln, Hold on To Slim Lead in SEC

For the first time since the Southeastern Conference opener with Saline last December, the Chelsea Bulldogs had to prove they could play comeback basketball and they pulled off two heart-pounding over the Milan Big Reds, 62-61, and Lincoln Railsplitters, 48-46.

They were key wins in the Bulldogs' bid for the SEC title. Chelsea has a slim one-game lead over the Saline Hornets, who head into a difficult portion of their schedule, playing Milan and Lincoln this week.

Chelsea faces the last-place Dexter Dreadnaughts in Dexter this Friday, before rounding out the league season with Tecumseh and Pinckney.

The Dogs have won five straight games, including their last four conference games.

"You might think we've gotten the tough portion of our schedule out of the way," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"But we won't have any easy games, especially playing on the road at Dexter and Pinckney. Remember, we were the last place team that beat first place Saline last year."

The end of the game was almost identical to the first time the teams met. Milan captain Pat Heath took the ball down the court but apparently didn't see coach Ron Dingman signaling for a time out. Heath's shot hit the front of the rim and Chelsea's Marty Poljan rebounded.

The Bulldogs had to fight back from a 38-24 half-time deficit, a tough job considering Chelsea's slowdown style of play. However, they couldn't afford to turn up the tempo as Milan is perhaps the best transition team in the league.

"We were due for a poor game and I thought, this is probably it," Rosentreter said.

"But it seemed like everything we did in the second half worked. We went to a man-to-man defense, which is something we didn't want to do because we rebound better in a zone and it's easier to slow the tempo. But for some reason we had far more trouble rebounding in the zone than we ever did in the man-to-man. The kids blocked out a lot better."

Bulldog guard Greg Haist hit two quick jumpers at the start of the second half to set the tone and pick up the Chelsea home crowd. By the end of the third quarter, the Big Red lead was cut to eight points.

"We wanted to be within six points at the end of the third quarter and hope that playing in our gym would help down the stretch," Rosentreter said.

Chelsea co-captain Mark Bareis played a nearly flawless second half, hitting 7-9 from the floor and 4-5 from the free throw line to finish with 25 points. He had 10 points in the final period, connecting on several long jumpers from the top of the key.

The Bulldogs had one of their best shooting nights of the year, hitting 50 percent for the night and 64 percent in the second half.

Point guard Todd Starkey's penetrating play was also a key to the second-half offense. When he split the defense down the lane he was able to hit the lay-up or pass off to the open man. He finished with eight assists.

In addition to his late-game heroics, Harvey helped take the defensive heat off Bareis by hitting his jumper from the opposite side of the court. Milan couldn't overload on Bareis.

Chelsea's second half defense, however, was the catalyst in the comeback, holding the high-scoring Big Reds to just 23 points, and zero on fast breaks.

"Anytime you hold Milan to 23 points in a half you've done a good job," Rosentreter said.

"If they get their running game going, they become very effective. If you can get them away from that, they're beatable. They only had five fast breaks the entire game."

Harvey was the team's second-leading scorer with 12 points, to go along with four assists. Jon Lane, playing one of his best games off the bench, scored nine points. Poljan had six points, Starkey and Haist, four each, and Matt Steinhauer, two.

In the Lincoln game Friday night in Willis, the Bulldogs needed a missed Railsplitter lay-up in the closing seconds combined with an intentional foul of Bareis to pull out the win.

Lincoln had an easy open-court lay-up with four seconds left, which would have given the Railsplitters the lead. But the ball caromed off the bottom of the rim to Haist.

"We felt really good only giving them 46 points on their home court," Rosentreter said.

"We were worried they might get their running game going."

Chelsea was down 25-18 at half-time, managing only 15 shots the entire first half, and five in the second quarter. They also threw the "all away four times and snagged just three rebounds.

By contrast, Lincoln had 10 rebounds, including five offensive rebounds that were put back in for baskets.

Lincoln junior Andy Donahey had 10 of Lincoln's first 16 points, but didn't score a point from then on. In the second quarter it was junior Sterling Chambers' turn as he hit eight points in the second quarter, for a total of 10 in the first half.

"We really made Donahey look like an All-American in the first half," Rosentreter said. "And that Chambers has a nice touch. But we were standing around a lot."

Lincoln, the tallest team in the SEC, used a 1-3-1 zone that caused the Chelsea offense problems.

Chelsea came on strong at the beginning of the second half, scoring the first six points to pull to within one point at the 5:37 mark.

Chelsea had a balanced third quarter offense, with Bareis scoring five points, and Haist, Starkey and Poljan each scoring four, including Starkey's 35 footer at the buzzer to give Chelsea the lead for the first time since the opening basket.

"We got lucky on that one," Rosentreter said.

"The ball appeared to leave Todd's hands after the buzzer went off."

Bareis's three-point play at the 6:57 mark of the fourth quarter gave the Dogs a 42-37 lead.

However, Lincoln fought back, tying the game on a Chambers jumper at the 2:15 mark.

After a timeout, Bareis followed with a field goal and Lincoln was nailed on a critical three-second violation.

Rosentreter credited a lot of the comeback to Starkey, who finished with six points and 10 assists.

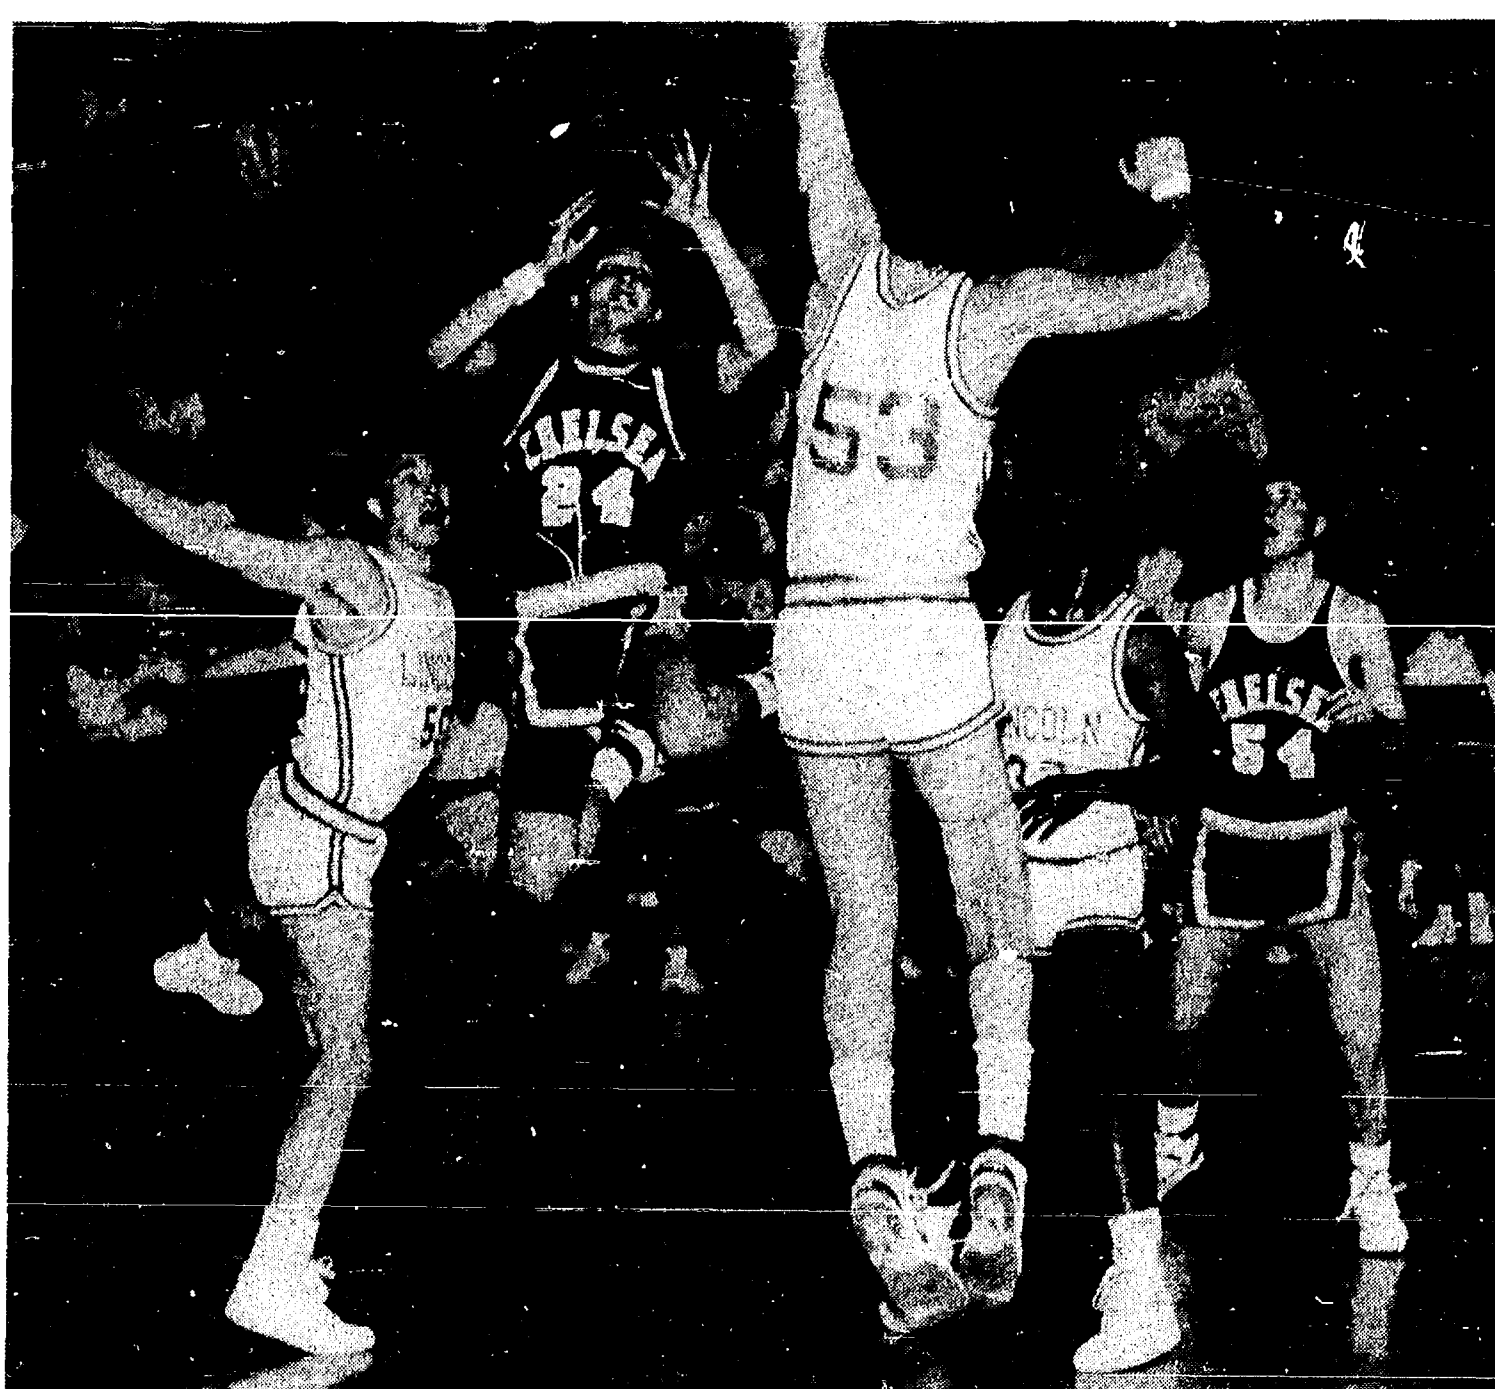

Bareis again led Chelsea with 23 points, four assists and a team-high seven rebounds.

Haist was the team's second-leading scorer with eight points, followed by Poljan, with seven, and Lane and Harvey with two each.

"Marty Poljan has been some kind of player in his own right," Rosentreter said.

"He hit a couple of critical baskets and a big free throw."

Chelsea has a 12-3 over-all record and 8-1 mark in the SEC.

TODD STARKEY drives for the basket but has the ball knocked loose by Lincoln's Rico Wadley during last Friday night's game in Willis. Starkey finished with 10 assists in the 48-46 win, Chelsea's fifth consecutive victory.

Bogdanski Wins at 126 As Dogs Take 5th in SEC

Seven Chelsea varsity wrestlers placed in the annual Southeastern Conference Meet, this year held Saturday, Feb. 14 at Pinckney High school.

Chelsea finished fifth over-all in the tournament. When combined with their finish in the regular season, the Bulldogs officially finished third in the league for the season.

In other action last week, Chelsea lost to the Tecumseh Indians, 43-27.

At the SEC meet, senior co-captain Ron Bogdanski at 126 pounds picked up the only first place for the Dogs.

"Ron did a real nice job," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"He beat Scott Sakall of Lincoln in the finals, 14-2, and they had tied earlier in the year. It was a fine match."

Chelsea picked up three second place finishes, by Pat Taylor, 105 pounds, Tim VanSchoick, 185 pounds, and co-captain Leo Durham, at 198 pounds.

Taylor was beaten in the finals by Dexter's Todd Benson, 17-10. VanSchoick, coming back after a bout with the flu, was beaten 9-0 by Saline's Jeff Fornster. VanSchoick also had the quickest pin of the day, in :10.

Durham wrestled Saline's George Bairactaris, a state placer last year, in the finals, and lost 11-5.

"Leo did just an excellent job," Kargel said.

"George has beaten Leo twice this year, but Saturday Leo had him all but pinned. I think George stalled a little in the end. I think if they meet later on Leo could take him."

Eric Hanna, at 98 pounds, and heavyweight Mike Taylor, took third places.

"I was glad to see Mike take third because I think it will give him a little more confidence," Kargel said.

Doug Wingrove, at 119 pounds, finished fourth.

"Doug also did an exceptional job," Kargel said. "It was the best I've seen him wrestle in a long time."

Dexter edged Saline, 142.5 to 138, to win the tournament. Lincoln was third, with 111, Pinckney fourth with 107, Chelsea fifth at 95.5, Tecumseh sixth at 74, and Milan seventh, with 74 points.

In the Tecumseh meet, sickness and injury forced Kargel to alter his lineup, and it probably made the difference in the match.

The results follow:

98 pounds: Hanna (C) pinned Gaylon Wilkins in 3:14.

105 pounds: Pat Taylor (C) pinned Jeff Danely in 1:15.

112 pounds: Craig McCalla (C) was pinned by Jack Holderman in 3:35.

119 pounds: Wingrove (C) defeated M. Lorachon, 9-4.

126 pounds: Bogdanski (C) won a technical fall over Max Colby.

132 pounds: Robert Kornel (C) lost a 12-5 decision to Sean Goody.

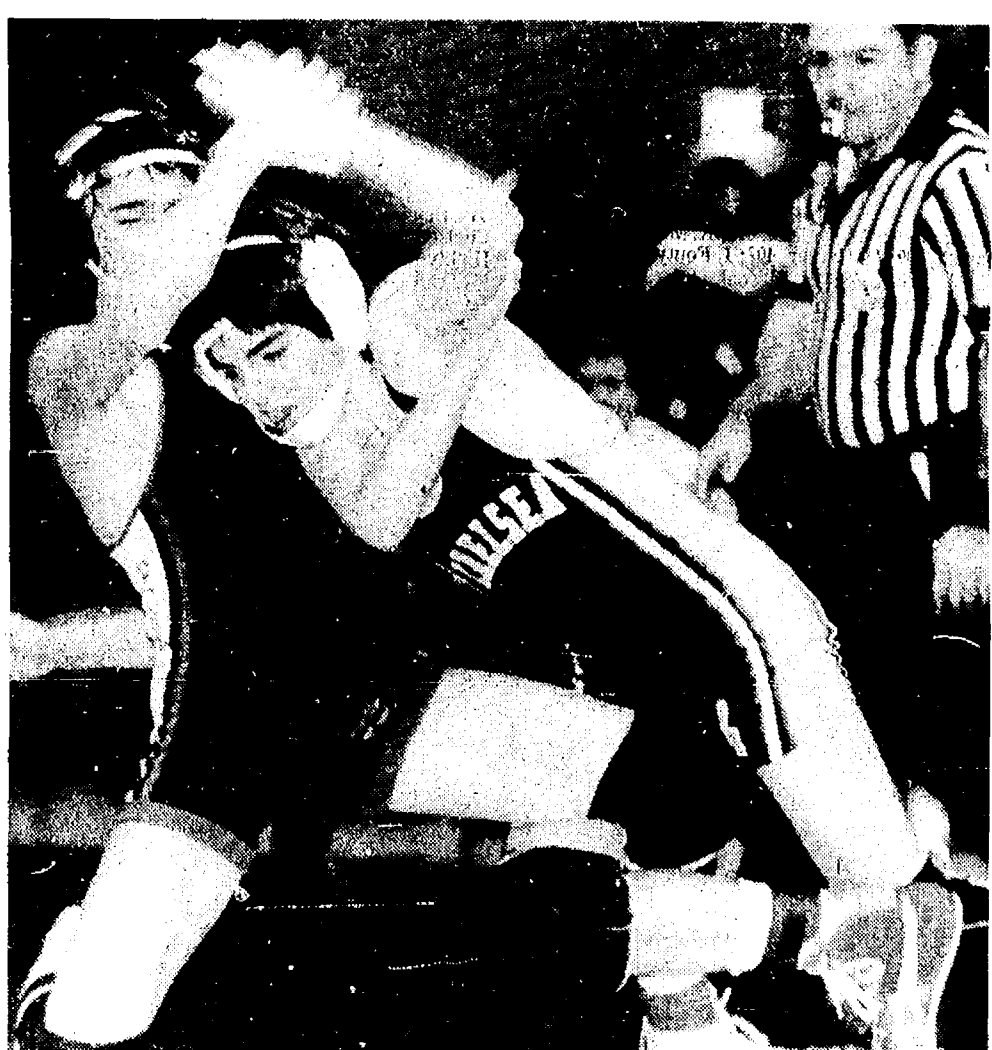

138 pounds: Dean Sutherland (C) was pinned by Doug Hurst in 1:23.

145 pounds: Gary Dosey (C) was pinned by Mark Witzke in 1:39.

155 pounds: Bill Herter (C) was pinned by Mark Dill in 4:56.

167 pounds: Bill Dixon (C) lost to Matt Papsodrof, 12-4.

185 pounds: Todd Hamel (C) was pinned by Bill Holderege in 2:54.

198 pounds: Durham (C) won by forfeit.

Heavyweight: Mike Taylor (C) was pinned by Tim Mull in 4:10.

This Saturday is the district tournament at Jackson County Western. The top four boys in each weight class will advance to the regionals. However, no one will advance who loses in either of his first two matches.

"We could end up with four boys making it out of districts," Kargel said.

"It really all depends on the seeding. Eaton Rapids, always one of the best teams in the state, will be there. I just hope we don't get seeded against them."

Beach Swimmers Take 4th At Erie-Mason Invitational

Beach Middle school swimming team finished 4th out of 10 teams at the Erie-Mason Invitational on Saturday, Feb. 14.

Coach Dave Brinklow was very pleased with the team's performance.

"We couldn't have done much better than we did today," Brinklow said.

"Everyone on the team had a personal best time and there were quite a few big time drops. They really pulled it together for this meet."

The results are as follows:

200 medley relay: Sara Nicola, Greg Garen, Von Acker, Brian Brock, 2nd place, 2:06.2; Rob Clem, Erika Boughton, Jennifer McEachern, Mike McAulay, 9th place, 2:21.7.

Holmes Helps NMU to Victory

Chelsea's Amanda Holmes, a freshman at Northern Michigan University, was fifth in the 100 butterfly, second in the 200 freestyle relay team, and was a member of the third place 200 medley relay team in a meet against Eastern Michigan University on Saturday, Feb. 7.

NMU won the meet, 136-131.

The dragonfly, an insect 250 million years old, is being studied as a model for airplanes of the future, reports National Wildlife magazine. Researchers at the University of Colorado have found that it can hover, fly sideways and spurt backwards at astounding speeds—all while generating three times the lift of conventional aircraft.

JV Spikers Win a Pair

Chelsea's junior varsity volleyball team whipped the host Milan Big Reds last Monday, Feb. 9, 15-11 and 15-4 and on Thursday, Feb. 12 topped the Lincoln Railsplitters, 15-11 and 15-7.

"It was a quick game, and we controlled the net," Chelsea coach Cheryl Vogel said of the Milan match. Sarah Schaeffer served six points in the first game and Jenny Anderson, Lisa McGlennen and Lisa Park shared the serving in the second game. Park, Heather Neibauer and Jennifer Lewis had "great spikes," Vogel said.

"We showed good over-all teamwork against Lincoln," Vogel said. Kelly Scott served six points, Scharme Petty, four, and Jill Nowatzke, Schaeffer, McGlennen and Allison Brown each served three points. The team has an 8-1 Southeastern Conference mark and a 15-4 over-all record.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

February is the time in the sports year when basketball eats my brain. I become just about brain-dead as far as any other sports are concerned. Force me to watch a hockey game and I might get vicious. Put a Tigers game in front of me and it would look like passive confusion. The only strikes I can remotely understand in February are on the bowling alley.

Thank God for ESPN and their ACC, Big East, and Big 10 hypnotizers of the week. Dick Vitale has become the Captain Kangaroo of my young adulthood.

My Basketball Jones, as those hip hoop fans Cheech and Chong once called it, has been even worse this year than normal. And it's all because of Tuesday and Friday nights in the SEC with the Chelsea Bulldogs.

I feel sorry for Chelsea fans, if there are any, who've only followed the team through the newspapers this season. If there was ever a season to BE THERE, this is it.

Reading about the Dogs just ain't the same.

Last year the Dogs were as predictable as the answer in a Billy Graham column and about equally exciting. And anything said in the sports pages was probably too kind.

But after a lot of soul-searching, a new born-again team has emerged that has changed the way I feel about covering them on Friday nights. Last year it was a job. This year an adventure. And the news stories can tell you what happened but they can't re-arrange your internal organs and make you beg for more the way the team has LIVE on centerstage.

This year the Bulldogs have found as many ways to win as they did ways to lose last year. They've had blowouts, they've blown big leads and recovered, and, lately, they've come back from the dead in the second half.

For me, last Tuesday night's game against Milan was the best (maybe not best-played) of the last two seasons. It gave my Basketball Jones almost more than it can stand.

After trailing all night, the Bulldogs are finally down by one point with 37 seconds to go. Mr. Dependable, Mark Bareis, steps to the line for a one-and-one, a certain two points. But he misses and somehow Jeff Harvey snags the rebound between two lurch-sized defenders, puts the ball up gently off the glass and in, and hits the deck hard. Then Milan, with plenty of time, comes back down the court to set up the killer play, probably to Ernest Walker. But the sonic fury of the crowd keeps Pat Heath from noticing that his coach wants a time out. Heath takes a shot as time runs out and Poljan rebounds.

It was worth the price of admission just to stand and watch the last two minutes of that game with the Chelsea home crowd, and feel that nervous tingle, like we were all diving off the high board for the first time, wondering if it would be a thrill or if we'd do a backsmacker instead. When the buzzer went off, Rahn Rosentreter bear-hugged Jeff Dils and they did a little Bulldog two-step at half-court.

The Chelsea crowds are also making this season a lot more fun. The student section is better organized than ever on its cheering and chanting. If you don't think the players appreciated it, think again.

Last Friday Todd Starkey and Bareis wanted to make sure I knew just how much they appreciated the fan support, so they paid me a visit to tell me.

It got's the old adrenaline flowing, they said. It makes the basket seem three feet wide and eight feet high. It makes their opponents a step slow. It turns mistakes into three-point plays. It can help turn a good team into a champion.

And, it can really feed one writer's Basketball Jones.

Everyone with a Basketball Jones has his favorite players. And, I'll tell you what. I have as much fun watching Mark Bareis as any player at any level. He's a dead-eye shooter, he rebounds, plays tough defense, makes the passes, occasionally makes one of those how-did-he-do-that moves, and he hardly ever changes his wide-eyed expression. If he has any fault, it's that he doesn't shoot enough. There is no better player in the league and probably few better in the county.

Thank you, Mark Bareis and the Bulldogs, for fixing my Basketball Jones.

ROWDY REPORT NO. 4: After the Lincoln game, someone grabbed me by the coat, slammed me against the wall and said, "Why doesn't your newspaper say something about the Pep Band?"

A little dazed and confused, I said, "What are you talking about?"

"You know, the one with the horns in it."

Seeing as how this lady was probably twice my age, I took it to mean that she didn't particularly care for the rock band which has played at recent games. Maybe she thought I was behind it all.

What do you think? Do you prefer the goody-goody pep band or the demonic rock band? Next home game, there ought to be a battle of the bands between games or at half-time. Then let the crowd decide.

As far as the Milan game went, I discovered a little switch on the back of my Rosenmeter, called the Cheat Switch, which will let me take the size of the crowd into account.

Using the Rosenmeter straight up, the average reading was 8.1, with a peak of 9.8.

However, with the Cheat Switch on, it was 10s all the way around. The size of the crowd was far smaller than the Saline crowd, but, person for person, much noisier.

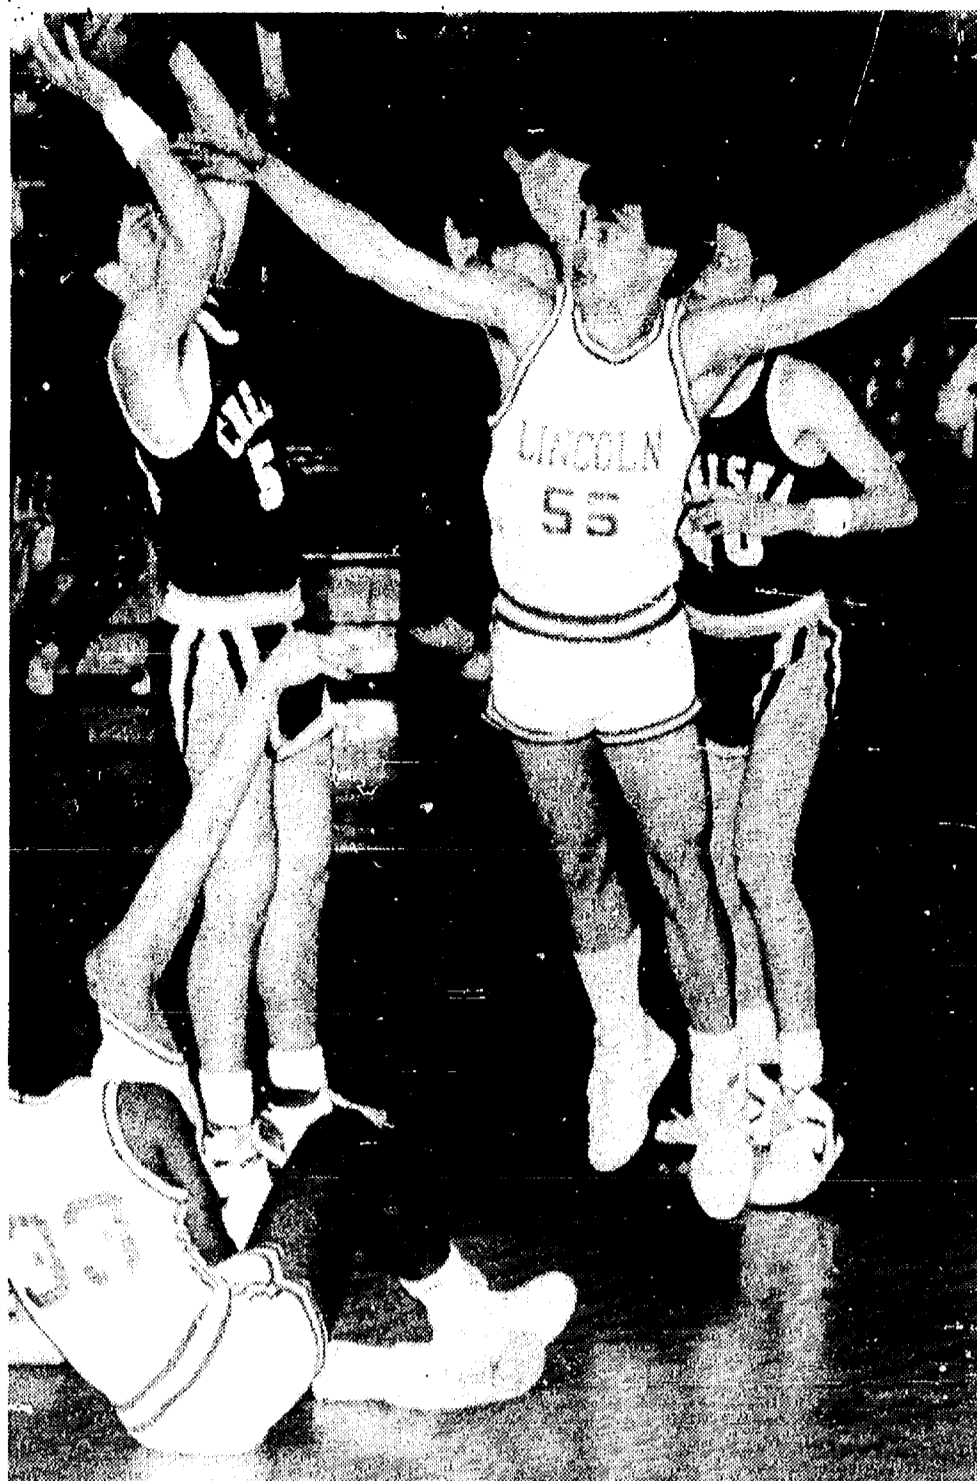

Now, I hope to see so many Chelsea fans in Dexter this Friday that the Dreadnaughts will think they took a wrong turn.

Remember, Think Pink.

One last note. I wasn't going to mention this until next week, but it could save a life.

Rosentreter told me last week that he had a conversation with the Man Upstairs. It seems that if fewer than 1,700 people show up for the Tecumseh game on the 27th, he may call Rahn home for good. I've done my part, now it's up to you. I say let's keep him here!

IN HEAVY TRAFFIC, Chelsea center Marty Poljan takes a jump shot for two of his seven points, one of his highest point totals of the season. Chelsea needed every ounce of his bulk against the much taller Railsplitters, as the Bulldogs took a 48-46 win.

Dog Tankers Whip Lincoln, Host Invitational Thursday

Chelsea boys swim team continues to swim with success as the regular season draws to a close.

With only the season-ending Chelsea Invitational Feb. 15 the team is beginning to prepare to make some state meet qualifying standards.

"We are swimming well, our swimmers have a good outlook on the rest of the season and I'm really excited about our chances of getting some state meet qualifiers," said coach Mike Keeler.

Tyler Lewis is our only qualifier at this point, but we are looking for some nice time drops in the coming weeks."

On Tuesday, Feb. 10 the Bulldogs took on the Lincoln Railsplitters and came away victorious 93-78. Some highlights included captain Darren Girard's two wins in the individual medley and the backstroke and Lewis' fine performance on the one meter diving board with the career total of 254.05 points, only 16 points from the school record held by Craig Leach.

JVs Murder Milan, Whip Lincoln in SEC Basketball Action

Chelsea's junior varsity basketball team got revenge for a two-point loss earlier in the season to Milan by pounding the Big Reds, 70-38, on the Chelsea home court last Tuesday, Feb. 10.

In other action last week, the Bulldogs played a sluggish game but won by 14 over the Lincoln Railsplitters in Willis, 60-46.

The Milan game was a good indication of just how far the JV squad has come this season. Unlike the first time the teams met, Chelsea shot better than 50 percent from the field, dominated the boards and played aggressive defense.

The Dogs scored 24 points in the first quarter, the second straight game they scored more than 20.

"We came out of the chute and shot well early in the game," said Chelsea coach Jeff Dils.

"That seemed to set the tone for the whole game. It was a good game because everyone got to play a lot."

The solid, pressing defense gave Chelsea some easy baskets in the first half. Six Bulldog steals helped point guard Larry Nix score 10 points in the first quarter alone.

Chelsea took a 24-8 lead at the end of the first quarter, and stretched the margin every quarter.

"A lot of kids tend to think the game's over when they get ahead by 20 points," Dils said.

"But our kids didn't let up in the second half and played hard. That was good to see."

Nix led Chelsea scorers with 14 points, followed by John Collins with 11, Jeff Marshall and Junior Morseau, 10 each, Tim Anderson and Bryant Beard, eight each, David White, six, and Phil Thomson, three. Thomson also had a team-high six rebounds.

On Friday night at Lincoln, the Bulldogs, "lacked a little intensity," according to Dils but still managed to win by a big margin over a Railsplitter team that had beaten them by nine points the first time around.

"I guess it's a good sign that we didn't play well but still won by 14 points," Dils said.

"We turned the ball over too much and played a sloppy game although we did play pretty good defense the whole night."

Chelsea started off slowly, taking a 12-10 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 24-16 lead at half-time. On several occasions, Lincoln fought to within four or five points, but Chelsea always managed to extend the lead.

"The game was closer than we expected after the way we've been playing," Dils said.

"However, we never felt we were in trouble."

Morseau had one of his best games of the season, scoring 17 points, with 9-11 shooting from the free throw line.

"Junior really took charge late in the game," Dils said.

Thomson and Anderson, who "cleaned the boards," had nine and eight points, respectively.

Marshall was the only other Bulldog in double figures, scoring 12 points. Nix had nine, and White, four.

The wins give Chelsea a 9-6 over-all mark and 5-3 mark in the Southeastern Conference.

Volleyball Squad Tops Big Reds, Railsplitters

Chelsea's varsity volleyball team won two straight matches over Southeastern Conference opponents last week, knocking off Milan in two games and Lincoln in three.

The wins put the Bulldogs in a second-place tie with Dexter, behind first place Saline.

"We were fired up after losing to Milan at the Ypsilanti tournament," said Chelsea coach Karen Tobin.

"We had been having trouble with our intensity lately, but not in this game. Everything seemed to click."

The Bulldogs won the first game, 15-12, and the second, 15-7.

Unusually strong serving was one of the keys, Tobin said, as the team was 47-51.

Angie DeFant also had a strong net game which "fired up the team," Tobin said.

Tobin also credited the net play of Heidi Hosner, and the back row play by Hosner, Pam Brown and Trisha Mattoff.

"We have not been as strong defensively as I think we should be but in this game the team played strong defense and picked up a lot of spikes," Tobin said.

"Milan has some good hitters, but when you don't let them put the ball away it can get frustrating. Mary Lazarz and Kristie Centilli did a good job setting up our offense to take Milan out of their offense. It was a good team effort."

Leading Chelsea scorers were Lazarz and DeFant, with seven points each, Centilli, with six, and Brown and Hosner with five each.

Hosner was the leading hitter, going 7-3 with three kills. Brown was 5-5 with two kills, Beth Paddock, 4-5 with one kill, Kathryn Morgan, 4-6 with one kill, and DeFant, 3-4, with two kills and three blocks.

In the Lincoln match on Thursday, Feb. 12, Chelsea did not play well, Tobin said.

"In the first game we couldn't do anything right," Tobin said.

"We always seem to have trouble getting ready to play Lincoln. I think we took them lightly because we beat them early in the season and they are 0-10."

In the second game, DeFant had a couple of blocks at the net for points and Lazarz was serving well, which put the Dogs in the lead, 6-0.

After a rally by Lincoln, Mattoff scored three straight points for a 9-5 lead. Lazarz served out the game.

The third game was almost a rerun of the second. Chelsea took an 8-2 lead and lost it, before the serving of Brown, Mattoff and Centilli wrapped up the game.

"This game shows that we have to be fired up to play with intensity to succeed," Tobin said.

"We are going for second place in the league, a big jump from fifth place."

Lazarz led Chelsea scorers with 15 points, 11 in the second game. Mattoff had seven, Centilli, four, Brown and DeFant, two each, and Leah Enderle, one.

Hosner the leading hitter with 7-3 and three kills. Paddock was 4-5 with three kills, DeFant, 4-6 with two kills, and Morgan, 3-4 with one kill.

MAPPING OUT STRATEGY in the closing seconds of the Lincoln game last Friday is Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter. The Bulldogs pulled out their second consecutive come-from-behind victory at Lincoln, 48-46, to hold on to sole possession of the Southeastern Conference lead with three games left.

Question: I'm thinking about hiring some young people for the summer, but I have several concerns including the time it's going to take to train and supervise them. What can I do to make these summer jobs more worthwhile for me and the teen-agers?

Answer: To make the summer job work for both you and the teen-ager, you should do three things: (1) tell the teen-ager what you want, (2) explain how you want it done and (3) explain what will happen if your expectations are not met.

Begin by specifically explaining the job's responsibilities to your summer worker. Don't assume anything in your explanation.

Next, describe how you want the job done and how you expect the job to be done in terms of job performance and adherence to company rules and regulations. The teen-ager should be required to follow the same rules as the others in your work force.

Finally, be sure the worker understands what will happen if your expectations are not met. Schedule an evaluation interview after a specified length of time—such as two weeks. Then sit down and discuss with the employee how things have been going. In judging job performance, look at the worker's attendance, punctuality and ability to get along with co-workers. Let the employee know if he or she is doing well. If the worker is not doing well, then suggest what the worker can do to improve and explain that the worker may be let go if improvements are not made.

The teen-ager should not feel that this is just a vacation job that he or she will have regardless of how well the work is done.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Editor, Better Investing Magazine

Q. My broker has suggested that I buy stock in Nucor Corp. I hit the ceiling and told him if he can't make any better suggestions than the steel industry, I don't want any of his ideas. I inherited U.S. Steel stock 30 years ago and it has not performed very well. And from what I read in the paper, the American Steel industry, between union problems and foreign competition, isn't likely to go anywhere for a long time. My broker says I really ought to look at Nucor. Do you see any future in the steel industry?

A. If you invested in U.S. Steel stock 30 years ago and haven't made any changes over those years, I can understand why you have not seen good performance. Nevertheless, your broker sounds like a man of good judgment. Certainly his suggestion of Nucor is an excellent one.

Your question suggests an important point that every investor should keep in mind. When we invest, we do not invest in an industry, we invest in an individual corporation. The future of the corporation depends upon the skill and drive of the management. The steel industry has many problems in the United States and many steel companies are in trouble, but Nucor Corp. is an exception.

In the early 1960s a new kind of steel mill began to develop in the United States. These mills were called mini-mills. Nucor was at the head of that development. These mills developed in response to a demand for more efficient production. The mills were small and designed to fill a particular niche. They employed the latest technology, were non-union and used incentives to gain maximum productivity. While the major units of the U.S. Steel industry were stagnating, these smaller units prospered.

Ten years ago U.S. Steel Corp. earned $5 a share. This year it is expected to report a loss in the area of $2.65 a share according to Standard & Poor's. Nucor earned $46 a share 10 years ago and S & P estimates it will report $2.90 a share for 1986. Its price 10 years ago was 3 1/2 at its high. Recently it was selling at $32.

Nucor's president is quoted in a recent report in Crandall's Business Index as saying that his company is as efficient as any mill in the world. He says that in 1985 the high technology his company uses enabled it to average 981 tons of steel per employee. The average of the five largest U.S. integrated producers was 347. In Japan the average was 480 tons. The average hourly worker at Nucor earned over $30,000 in 1985.

I'd say your broker has made a good suggestion. The price fluctuates fairly widely and you should ask your broker to help you buy it favorably. The dividend is very small, but growth should produce profit for you through market appreciation.

Proposed Bill Would Prohibit Regulation of Farm Chemicals

Rep. Margaret O'Connor (R-Lodi township) said Feb. 9 that she will introduce a bill to prohibit Washtenaw county from implementing a 1986 ordinance to regulate the use of chemicals by farmers and local businesses.

State law sets chemical hazard communication requirements for all state employers and prohibits any local ordinances prior to April 1, 1987. Rep. O'Connor's bill would prohibit enforcement of local regulations by Washtenaw county or any other local unit of government until Dec. 31, 1988.

Rep. O'Connor stressed that "Efforts are under way in the Legislature to improve emergency planning and provide more information to local communities. Premature action by local units of government could disrupt current negotiations."

She also said, "Michigan must soon implement the federal Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization (SARA) which sets sweeping new state standards for emergency planning and chemical hazard communication to the public. Even well-intended local initiatives by Washtenaw county could undermine Governor Blanchard's efforts for orderly implementation of SARA."

"We need one state standard," she continued. "To allow hundreds of differing local ordinances will cripple existing businesses and discourage new job-providers from locating in Michigan. Efforts by some Washtenaw County Commissioners to surpass state and federal regulations of local farmers and businesses will only lead to shattered dreams and high unemployment."

"Our commissioners know little about agriculture," Rep. O'Connor concludes. "The use of chemicals by farmers is already regulated extensively by both the federal and state governments. Harassment of local farmers and small businesses by some Washtenaw County Commissioners could be the final nail in the coffin for many Washtenaw county farms as well as non-agricultural businesses."

"The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners has reorganized since approval of the 1986 regulation and has acted responsibly in its recent actions to repeal provisions in its regulation for fees and inspections of farms. I am hopeful that the reorganized board will eventually repeal the entire 1986 regulation and support my legislation," O'Connor said.

Farm Debt Goes Opposite Direction of Public Debt

Public debt in the United States is increasing, but in sharp contrast the nation's farm debt is shrinking.

Since reaching a peak of nearly $204 billion in 1982, the agricultural debt has fallen to $186 billion and it is forecast to drop another $12 billion in 1987.

Bob Craig, manager of commodity activities and research for Michigan Farm Bureau, said if the forecast holds true, then by the end of this year total farm debt will be down 15% from its peak. "There's no question that we're moving in the direction we need to go," he said. "Agriculture was overextended and we had to work it off. However, the decline is the result of two factors: individual efforts in reducing debt load, and loan write-offs."

Craig said that while the broad picture is improving, agriculture faces major debt problems and substantial debt write-offs will occur over the next few years.

Petty Places in Top 102 In Math Prize Competition

Chelsea High school senior Steven Petty, 8130 Stofor Rd., was one of 102 students state-wide to place in the 13th annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition.

Petty competed against 23,000 other high school students for the honor of finishing in the top 102. Finalists were determined from a first test. A second test determined the final 102.

Petty, like the other winners, will be honored at an awards program at Michigan State University on Saturday, March 7.

College scholarships will be awarded to 50 of the winners at the awards banquet. The scholarships and awards program are supported, in part, through contributions of Ford Motor Co., Michigan Bell, Upjohn Co.,

Arvco Container Corp., Kuhlman Corp., and Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

The banquet will also feature presentations by Dr. Victor K. Wei of Bell Communications Research, Inc., and Prof. Douglas R. Hofstadter of the University of Michigan.

Petty is the son of Jess and Kathryn Petty.

Vincent Brumfiel, math chair at Chelsea High school, was Petty's competition supervisor.

Property Tax Ideas Would Affect Farming

A report issued Feb. 10 by a Senate tax study committee included several recommendations that would affect the assessment of Michigan farmland, according to Bob Smith, senior legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau.

"One recommendation would prohibit actively farmed land and agriculturally zoned land from being assessed on its potential value," he said. Smith added that another key proposal "states that we need to be sure that Michigan farmland is being accurately classified under the current tax law."

Another recommendation from the committee, Smith notes, calls for Michigan State University to study whether the capitalization of income approach, which is one of the techniques used to assess taxes, is a valid method of assessing the value of agricultural land in the state.

The tax committee's report now goes to the Senate for consideration. Smith said several other tax study groups are also expected to issue property tax recommendations this year.

About 58,100 workers were certified as eligible to receive benefits under the Trade Adjustment Assistance Act, according to the Labor Department's Annual Report for Fiscal Year 1986. Benefits to workers who have been dislocated or displaced include training, counseling, job search and relocation payments.

Rod & Gun Club Auxiliary Open to All

One of Chelsea's newest women's clubs has turned out to be among its most pleasurable. It is the Women's Auxiliary of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club. Although it was started by wives of the club members, it is a social club which any Chelsea area woman is welcome to join. The meetings are monthly, the dues are nominal and the reason for belonging is not to save the world but to have a good time belonging to it.

The women do believe in the protection of our natural resources so they have that provision in their bylaws, just as the men do. On the other hand, the ladies are by no means committed to sitting on the ice of Blood Lake in February catching perch or hiking through Mosquito Valley in July.

In fact, they are so dedicated to convenience that they won't bother to heat the big clubhouse on Lingane Rd. for their February meeting. Instead they will gather tomorrow night, the 12th, at the Wolverine Lounge. The meeting begins at 8 p.m. and newcomers will be most welcome.

In the past year the Women's Auxiliary of the Rod and Gun Club has held dances, participated in a flea market and engaged in other projects which were entertaining enough to raise funds. They have provided the treasury with a nice bank account so there are no such things as special assessments or door-to-door sales of peanut brittle.

If you would like to join a social group without having to be gung ho, come to the Wolverine meeting, phone Barb Fredette at 475-1437 or Ginnie Rank at 475-1437.

Urban pollution fighters are taking to the trees in their battle against dirty air, according to National Wildlife magazine. Recent research has demonstrated that some trees absorb huge amounts of pollutants. Red maple and white birch, for example, seem almost to thrive on sulfur dioxide, while white oaks are especially good at absorbing ozone. Los Angeles city planners say that by the year 2000, the million trees planted for the 1984 Olympics will remove 200 tons of dust and smoke from the air each day.

Three Named to McAuley Board

Three new members have been appointed to the Catherine McAuley Health Center Divisional Board.

Robert E. Lavery, president and chief executive officer, announced the appointment of John E. Swisher, III, of Dexter, and Robert B. Foster, of Ann Arbor, to two-year terms, and Nina McClelland, of Ann Arbor, to a one-year term. They will replace two members who retired from the board and will expand the board membership by one, to 19 members.

Prior to these appointments, Swisher, McClelland and Foster had been members of the divisional board's Subsidiary Governance Committee.

Swisher is president and chief executive officer of Swisher Realty Company in Ann Arbor. He is a graduate of Michigan State University.

He is a former member and past chairman of the Ann Arbor Downtown Development Authority and has spent 15 years as a member of the Ann Arbor Housing Board of Appeals.

Swisher is co-founder, past chairman and current member of the Educational Foundation of Dexter.

He is affiliated with the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors and the National Association of Realtors and is past director and treasurer of the Michigan Association of Realtors. His firm has assisted CMHC in various land transactions and in volunteer capacities.

Swisher is married and lives in Dexter with his wife and two children.

McClelland is president and chief executive officer of National Sanitation Foundation, in Ann Arbor, and an adjunct professor in The University of Michigan's School of Public Health.

She received her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Toledo, and her master's of public health and doctoral degrees from U-M.

Foster is a partner in the legal firm of Foster, Meade, Magille and Rumsey, of Ann Arbor.

He received his bachelor's degree from Denison University, in Granville, O., and his law degree from the University of Michigan.

He and his wife, Terry, have two children.

Rocks may not be much of a delicacy to people. But sea lions are frequently seen eating them. Scientists are trying to discover why. International Wildlife magazine reports that rocks may make diving easier, kill stomach parasites, or just take away the sea lion's hunger pangs.

PUBLICATION HOUR CONGRATULATIONS! YOU ARE A PUBLISHED AUTHOR!

CHRISTMAS IS . . .

By: Amber Case, Young Fives

On Christmas you get presents and cake. I want Legos, a doll and binoculars to look for pretty birds. I open my presents and play with them. I hope I get letters and I want to have grilled cheese for dinner. Christmas is happy.

The End.

"I HAVE A DOG"

By: Benjamin Reynhout, A.M. Kindergarten

I love my dog, and my cat's name is Tigger, some days my dog chases my cat. One day I went fishing with my dad, and I caught two big ones.

The End.

CHRISTMAS

By: Liz Burkel, A.M. Kindergarten

One time on Christmas day Santa never came. The bird family kept waiting for Santa, but he never arrived. They flew to their bird house, and found a present there. They were happy that Santa didn't forget them.

The End.

MY SPECIAL PLACE

By: Shannon O'Brien, A.M. Kindergarten

I found a purple bridge, with a black line over it. I also saw a heart with an arrow in it. There were anchors on the bridge, too. I crossed the bridge and I found a door. I went through the door and found a chair, and couch, and a bed. Nobody lived there so I did. It was my special place and when I wanted to go back home I crossed back over the bridge.

The End.

MY GOLDFISH

By: Tellea White, A.M. Kindergarten

My dad bought me 11 goldfish yesterday. They are in my fish tank. I feed them goldfish food. They try to kiss me through the glass. I love them. They are special to me because my daddy gave them to me.

The End.

SANTA

By: Adam Winans, First Grade

Once upon a time there was a guy that delivered toys. He climbed up the chimney and brought toys. People gave him cookies. His name was Santa. He came every Christmas Eve.

The End.

TEDDY-FUR

By: Erin Cole, First Grade

Once there was a teddy bear named "Teddy-Fur." He liked to ride a bike. He had a camel for a friend. Teddy-Fur's mother wanted him to come for dinner, but like always he was riding his bike. His friend camel helped look for him. Teddy-Fur was up in a tree looking for honey. A bee saw him and tried to sting Teddy's nose. He ran home to his mother.

The End.

A DINOSAUR

By: Liz Alvarez, First Grade

Once upon a time there was a dinosaur named Fred. He walked from California to my house. He asked if he could stay. I said, "Yes!" He spent the night outside with my dog. In the morning he wanted breakfast so I gave it to him. Then we went for a walk to see my friend. My legs were tired. On the way home my dinosaur gave me a ride.

The End.

THE WISH PRINCESS

By: Erin Wood, Second Grade

There was a Wish Princess, and she was very sad, because she didn't have any helpers. So she went to the Great Wishing Well to see if she could have some helpers. The Wishing Well would help. She closed her eyes, and then when she opened her eyes she saw three Princesses! She was very happy now. When she sent the Princesses to do their work, she lied down in her bed, and she fell right a sleep. The Princesses gave small children their wishes.

The End.

A THANKSGIVING TURKEY

By: Stephen McDonald, Second Grade

A turkey doesn't like to be someone's dinner, but it likes to walk all over the place. It doesn't know that it's going to be someone's dinner, but I know that. The farmer has to chase the turkey all over the place, but I don't. The farmer thinks it's not fun. If I did do it I would not like it.

The End.

WOLVERINE

By: Tim Stecker, Second Grade

Wolverines are two feet long. They are related to skunks. They can get a tree down in a couple of seconds, but they cannot climb trees. They have sharp teeth. They are similar to a bear.

University of Michigan named their football team after the Wolverine.

They live in Canada. They used to live all over Michigan. They were too mean so men drove them out of Michigan.

I like Wolverines. Their teeth are very pointed. My mind gave me this idea because I went to the Wolverine. They have a stuffed wolverine.

I wish they were still near. I wish nobody would hunt any animal. I wish my dad would not hunt deer and pheasant and rabbits. It is mean. They are part of nature.

The End.

A FRIEND

By: Susan McAllister, Second Grade

A friend is special in very sort of way. A friend is cheery to you too. A nice smile from a friend is special too.

A friend is a mom, dad, sister or even a brother. A friend is somebody you trust.

The End.

ACTION PARAGRAPH

By: Laura Tidwell, Fourth Grade

My friend tried walking around the world! He ran four blocks and didn't know when he would be able to see his family again, so he started to walk back home again. He started to walk back home when he saw a lake and decided he should cool off first. So he took a swim and swam all around the lake. He was so tired he took a nap, and when he woke up it was morning. He picked up his bag and ran home. When he got there his family was packing. Carlos walked up to his mom and asked her why they were packing and she said we are going around the world. I thought you were in bed. I know mom I'll tell you about it in the car.

The End.

WINTER WINDS

The ground will be covered with white snow.

Oh, Oh, What a beautiful sight, when winter winds begin to blow.

THAT CAT

By: Allison Danforth, Third Grade

Oh, that cat is everywhere! He's under a chair. He's in the closet, under the bed, on top of the book shelf and on the stairs.

He will eat my fish.

He will shove my dish off the edge.

He will go out to the pond and try to eat some fish.

He will stand on his hind legs and tries to catch the butterflies.

His name is Paws.

He goes out to the stable and scares the horses.

What will he do next?

Oh no you don't!

He's getting in the living room and pulling the stuffing out of my chair.

And that's why we named him Paws.

Now isn't that some cat!

I'm glad I don't have a dog like that!!

The End.

MY MONEY CAR

By: Abby Haab, Third Grade

My money car is fluorescent yellow. It gives out money whenever I say car-car jungle-bungle give out so and so money. Of course it does. It gives the money out of the wheels, trunk and the windows if they are open.

One day I wanted some money and I said car-car jungle-bungle give out a million dollars and it did not do anything and it just stayed there like I did not say anything. I could not find what the problem was so I took it to any kind of car help which helps people with their cars. I took it there and they said that the problem was that he ran out of money and they fixed it by putting more money in it. I only had to pay sixty-nine dollars for it and now I only had to take it there one more time after that.

The End.

PAST MIDNIGHT

By: Eddie Greenleaf, Fifth Grade

It was just past midnight. I was awakened by this unbelievable flash of light. There also was this strange humming noise. I got out of bed and looked out my window. I gasped as I saw a big egg-shaped object floating in the air. "Hello, is anyone out there?" "Hello," I said as I peered at the object. Then all of a sudden a little green man dressed in yellow clothes stepped out of the object. He said something but I couldn't understand him. "Hello," I said, trying to make him understand. "Hello," I said. "Hello," I said. "Hello," the man said. Wow! I made contact with a man that didn't even come in a Ford.

The End.

THE SAD STORY

By: Amy Oake, Third Grade

Once there was an Indian named Russell and his horse was named Sluggbug, and they both had a problem. It was that everybody hated them. They were sad, day in, day out. They both stayed up all night thinking. Then Russell looked at his horse and said, "We have to find a solution to these problems." So the next day that's just what they did. They went to the first house. The women slammed the door on his face. Not much luck there he said. They went to the next house. This time he got smart, and as soon as he opened the door, Russell started to talk. This is what he said, "I just wanted to tell you that we are the nicest Indian and horse you could ever find! So please forgive me and my horse, please!" Oh bless your heart please come in! I will! Can my horse come in too? No, but I have a barn for her. It's a him. Oh sorry. So he went inside. He asked if he could live with her after 3 hours. I'll think about it. OK - the next day she said: I have something to tell you. OK - let's hear it. YES YOU CAN LIVE WITH ME!

The End.

THE LITTLE PEOPLE

By: Megan MacDonald, Fourth Grade

Once I was sitting at my desk and I set my light bill down on it. I got up to go get a pizza when I noticed these little people climbing on my desk. I jumped back almost knocking over the lamp. I stared at them for about five minutes then I called the exterminator. He said he didn't take jobs like that. "So I have to live with them," he said. So I went back to my desk and watched them. One of them had a little stick. Another had a little dog. They were wearing little suits and climbing in and out of my envelope. Then I saw one sitting on my eraser writing something. The one with the stick was ordering the other little people around as if they were slaves of some kind. Three of the other people looked like guards. Four other people were working hard running all over the envelope in and out of it too.

I decided to capture them and take them to the zoo. So I got a glass jar and captured them all, even the dog. I put the lid on the jar and got the keys to my car and went out and got in my car. I drove to the zoo and gave the little people to the zookeeper. He said "thank you." He also gave me $1,000. I went back home and got my pizza. After that I went to bed.

The End.

MY AMAZING VIOLIN

By: Sarah Henry, Fifth Grade

One night my dad was helping me with my violin. I was having trouble with a spot. That night when I went to bed I said kiddingly "Bacherinie probably wanted to change the music after it was printed." Bacherinie is the composer of the song I was having trouble with.

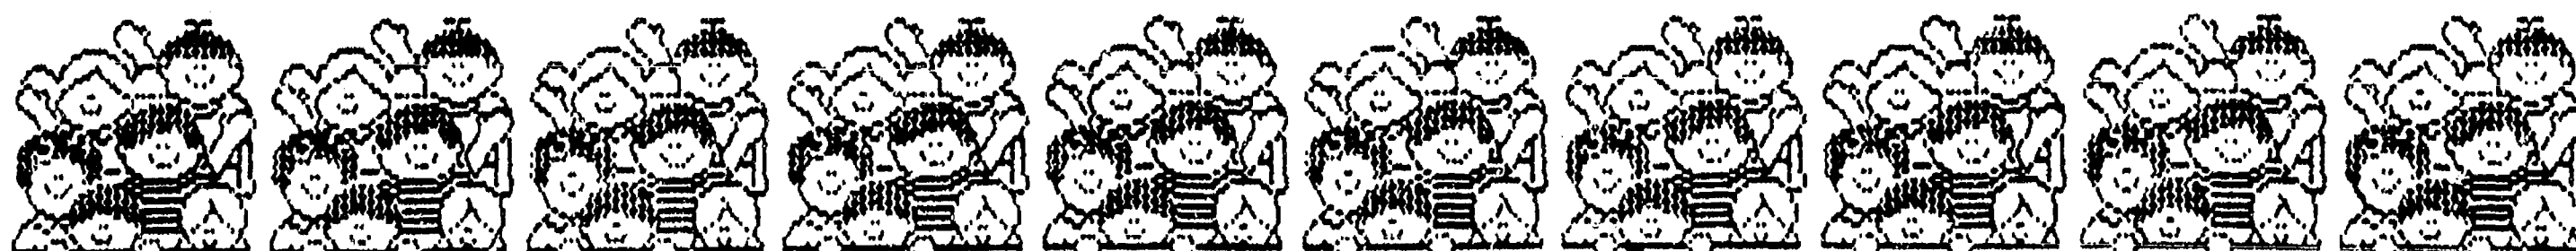

The next morning was Saturday. Mom said "Do your violin before you go play." I got out my violin and looked in the F-holes. All of a sudden I shrank. I jumped in the F-holes. Inside the violin there was a button that said push. It was bright purple. I pushed it. I saw what I thought was a tornado. I was sucked up in it! Then I was in front of a house that looked like it came from Greenfield Village. The sign above the door read "THE BACHERINIE'S."

I went around to the other side of the house. I saw an open window. I looked in. Then I became brave. I climbed in the window. A man was sitting at a desk. He was writing by candle light. He was saying to the maid "I should have changed the music."

"Mr. Bacherinie, I think it sounds great," said the maid. I could hardly keep quiet. Everything in the house was old fashioned. I went to the doorstep. The purple button was on the door. I shrank. I pushed the button. I landed in Disney World. I pushed the button again. I was back in my room and I was the right size.

I never told anyone about my adventure.

High School Parents Group Looking for Interested People

Chelsea High school is still trying to form a parents organization similar to the PTN and PTS groups at North and South Elementary schools.

High school Principal John Williams said the organization is in a "pre-embryonic" state and he is not yet sure how much community interest there is.

"The idea is starting to germinate," Williams said.

"We'll have another meeting sometime this month."

At the first meeting in December, two parents attended, and three others called who said they'd like to attend but couldn't make the meeting, Williams said.

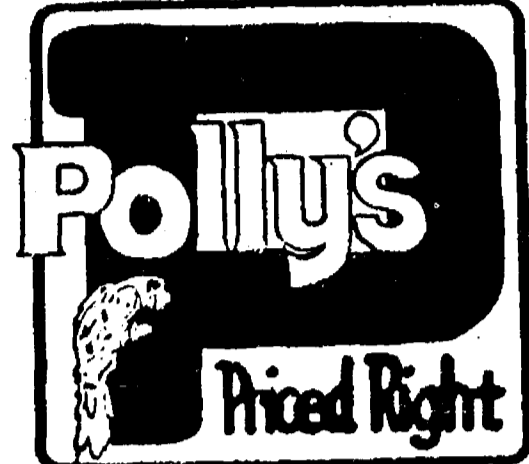

"This kind of organization would really benefit the high school," Williams said.

"One of our projects will be to find parent volunteers. For instance, we might look for someone to monitor the computer lab from 8-8:45 a.m. We already have one volunteer, Dianc Kyte, who contacted Sherrill Pryor about working in the Media Center."

Williams said he hopes to start a general organization, one that is not affiliated with a particular cause, such as the Band Boosters or Athletic Boosters.

Williams said he is in the process of contacting high schools that have strong parent organizations to get ideas.

Interested parents are urged to call Williams at the high school, 475-9131.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Editor, Better Investing Magazine

Q. What procedures should the common people take to invest or to try and make some extra money? I am a clerk at a local discount store and my husband is a factory worker. We have $100 to do something with. What do you say should be the first step—save for another $100 or what? What's the least amount and where do we go to contact someone?

A. I'd like to suggest you use a special plan that NAIC has developed. I've enclosed a folder for you which explains the plan in detail. Let me tell you how it works.

You can start your investment program in your choice of 28 different companies as listed in the small folder. Because you are young and have many years ahead of you to accumulate earnings, I'm suggesting that you invest in Chesebrough-Pond's. In my opinion it is likely to grow for the foreseeable future and at the present time it is very popular. It has just made a major acquisition and a number of security analysts are not convinced it was a good move. My guess is that it was. The skill Chesebrough's management has demonstrated in the past, I believe, will show through again and the company is likely to assimilate this new business and develop into even a more profitable business. If I am wrong, I doubt that you will lose anything—you just won't make as much as I think is possible.

You won't have to use your entire $100 to get started. Chesebrough-Pond's stock price is listed in the paper at $45.25 a share. You should write a letter to NAIC and say you want to enroll in the Low Cost Stock Purchase Plan and that you want to start with Chesebrough-Pond's. Your check should be for $90.25, and here is how it will be used. The sum of $55.25 will actually be invested in Chesebrough-Pond's for you. The extra amount over the recent stock price is to make sure you start with more than one share. $5 covers NAIC's costs in getting your account opened and your first purchase made. $30 is for a membership in NAIC which you need to enter the plan. You may say you don't need that membership, but if you start reading and re-reading the material about investing that you will receive, you'll be a lot better equipped to continue investing and building through the years ahead.

It takes some time to get your account set up but in two or three months you'll get a statement saying you have become a Chesebrough-Pond's shareholder and telling you that you own one and a fraction shares as well as the price you paid. Also you will be told that you can invest again and buy more shares whenever you want. I'd suggest that whenever you have an extra $50 or a $100 you send it in. You'll be amazed to find that one day you'll have a hundred shares and be receiving a nice dividend every three months as well.

To build to that point means you have to continue investing and building your holding. In time you can do the same thing with another stock.

The committee began work in the fall of 1985 and by January had agreed on a plan which was approved by the school board Feb. 17, 1986. Bissell then presented the plan to the staffs of each school at half-day workshops.

The Curriculum Development Plan decided upon entails working in six-year cycles on 25 areas of study. Explains Bissell, "Curriculum development is a process as much as a final product."

The 25 areas to be covered include all the academic subjects, special programs such as Young Fives and Gifted/Talented, and non-academic areas such as extra-curricular activities and the code of conduct. All of the areas will eventually be studied, but not all at the same time.

The first year of the schedule consists of an external review phase and an internal review phase. The committee studying each curriculum is composed of representative teachers from each Chelsea school teaching the subject. They first study what the rest of the world is doing in their subject area by doing such things as attending workshops and conferences and reviewing materials. They then study what Chelsea is doing, looking at test scores and discussing their gut feelings about what is happening. By comparing discrepancies between the external and the internal, they decide what curriculum revisions are necessary.

In the second year of the plan the committee draws up the new curriculum. They design new courses, find equipment and textbooks that meet their objectives, and write a philosophy statement, general goals, and student objectives. In the third year they implement the new curriculum. The last three years are spent monitoring and refining the curriculum. After six years it is time to start the process over again.

Social studies, computer education, and applied technology (industrial arts and vocational education) were the first areas to be studied under the Curriculum Review Plan. Last year committees went through the review phase for these three subjects. This year they have been writing the new curriculums. At the last board meeting, new course outlines were approved for social studies and applied technology. A six-year purchase plan for computers will be presented in March. The home economics curriculum was also revised to meet state guidelines.

Last year, Bissell worked with the Committee for Educational Excellence that was studying how to develop study skills. They decided against having specific units on study skills, preferring to integrate the material into other subjects. With Bissell's help, they turned their findings into a workbook with specific recommendations including lesson plans. This year, study skills are at the third phase, which means they are being implemented into the program.

In the 1987-88 school year, science, foreign languages, health, and special education are slated to begin the review process.

Chelsea is not the only school system in the county to have a Curriculum Director. Ypsilanti and Dexter both have the position, although the one in Dexter is only a half-time appointment. Saline and Willow Run have positions entitled "Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum." Ann Arbor has a many-tiered system including an Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum, executive directors of curriculum for both east and west, and curriculum co-ordinators for various subject areas.

Bissell is very enthusiastic about the Chelsea School system, saying "It's an excellent place for kids to be educated. The teachers are very committed and care about individual students." She also thinks Chelsea is a great place to grow up because kids have the advantages of small town life, "of running into people they know downtown," while still being close enough to Ann Arbor to enjoy the cultural opportunities found there.

Most turtles deserve their timid reputations, hastily withdrawing their heads, feet and tails into their shells at the slightest sign of danger. But, according to National Wildlife magazine, this act of cowardice has paid off. While more aggressive reptiles, such as dinosaurs, have died out, turtles have thrived for some 250 million years on every continent but Antarctica. Maybe the dinosaurs would still be with us today, if they, like the turtles, had carried their homes with them.
