ONE HUNDRED-SIXTEENTH YEAR—No. 40

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 1987

22 Pages This Week

IT WAS A NIGHT OF RECOGNITION for special friends of St. Louis Center, a school for boys with special needs, last Saturday. From left are Joe Zabinsky, representative of the Dexter Knights of Columbus, recipient of a 1987 Friendship Award; the Rev. Fr. Romano DiRuscio, superior of USA Vice Province for Servants of Charity; Don Dufek of Ann Arbor, master of ceremonies for the evening; Joe Parker, assistant personnel director for Chrysler Proving Grounds, another recipient of a 1987 Friendship Award; and Sandy and Walter Zeeb, of Chelsea Greenhouse and supporters of the school.

QUALITY EXCELLENCE AWARD: James Robinson, representing Chrysler, presented the Quality Excellence award to Bob Gladstone, manager of Chelsea Industries. Watching are Gina Barkley of Chrysler, Chelsea Industries quality control engineer Dick Davies, Bob Bryce of Chrysler, Chelsea Industries president Jack Dunn, and sales representative Bill Breer.

Chelsea Industries Receives Chrysler Supplier QE Award

Chelsea Industries has been awarded Chrysler Corp's annual Quality Excellence Award. The QE award is given to Chrysler suppliers who excel in four areas: no rejected materials, quality assurance, sample approval perfection, and response to specific quality problems.

On Wednesday, Feb. 25, three representatives from Chrysler visited Chelsea to present the award. The usual practice is that officials from companies receiving the award go to Chrysler headquarters in Detroit to be presented with a plaque. But Chelsea Industries president John Dunn asked that the procedure be reversed so that his employees could share in the honor since they were the ones he felt were responsible for making it happen.

Chelsea Industries received word by letter on Jan. 14 that they had won the QE award. The letter explained, "your plant's performance throughout the 1986 Model Year demonstrated an understanding of our requirements and a dedication to achieve the objective of supplying materials and services to Chrysler with zero defects." This letter was copied by Chelsea Industries and sent to all 70 employees.

On Feb. 25, Jim Robertson and Gina Barkley of Chrysler's purchasing department and Bob Bryce of Chrysler's quality control department spoke at an awards ceremony at which all employees on that shift were present. After presentation of the plaque, everyone enjoyed cake and coffee.

Only 8% of Chrysler's suppliers received a QE award, that is, 180 out of 2,000 suppliers. Since the awards are given annually, Robinson told the group he hoped they would not rest on their laurels but continue to perform at the same or at a higher level so that he could return next year to again present.

HONORED FOR HER 16 YEARS as varsity cheerleading advisor at Chelsea High school was Helen Barels. Helen received a plaque recognizing her years of faithful service during pre-game ceremonies last Friday night before the Tecumseh basketball game. Helen has decided to step down after this season. At left is her son, Mark. To her right is Alan Stump, father of varsity cheerleader Kelly Stump.

Village Council Race Is Lone Contest in Annual Village Elections

Four candidates are running for three village council seats in the only contested race in next Monday's general village election.

Incumbents Richard Steele, 211 Lincoln St., Stephanie Kanten, 560 Chandler St., and Herman Radloff, 416 Madison St., along with political newcomer Dennis Hall, 47 Butternut Ct., are seeking two-year terms as village trustees.

The race, thus far, has been a low-key affair. None of the candidates has advertised in The Standard or elsewhere. No posters have appeared downtown.

Last year, with a mayoral election and a wastewater treatment plant bonding referendum, 668 people went to the polls despite a heavy rainstorm. The previous year, with no contests on the ballot, just 109 people voted. This year's election is likely to have a light turnout somewhere between those numbers.

Other positions on the ballot include a two-year term for village clerk, a two-year term for village assessor, and two three-year terms on the McKune Memorial Library Board.

Current Village Clerk Evelyn Rosentreter has decided not to run again. No one filed a petition by the Feb. 2 deadline. Barring a write-in candidacy, a clerk will probably have to be appointed by the village council. The clerk's salary is $50 per council meeting and $100 per quarter.

Also, Chelsea hasn't had an assessor since Chip Winans left the job a couple of years ago. No one is running for that position, either.

Ann Belser and Susan Walters, incumbents on the McKune Memorial Library Board, were the only people to file petitions for those seats.

The polls will open at 7 a.m. at Sylvan Township Hall. Closing time is 8 p.m. Anyone in line at 8 p.m. will be allowed to vote.

The election is open to registered voters living within the village limits.

Meet Village Candidates

This is the second of two parts about candidates for the village council in the Monday, March 9 elections. Four candidates have filed for the three two-year positions currently held by Richard Steele, Herman Radloff and Stephanie Kanten. Last week's story profiled Steele and Radloff. This week's story features Kanten and challenger Dennis Hall. The Chelsea Standard does not endorse any of the candidates for office.

Stephanie Kanten, 560 Chandler St., was first elected to the village council during Charles Ritter's term as president and has served on and off since the early 1980s. She has lived here most of her life. She's a second grade teacher at Bates Elementary school in Dexter.

Kanten says she is running again mostly because there are a lot of unfinished village projects that she wants to see through to their conclusion.

Top on her list, she says, is ensuring development in the village is handled carefully.

"I don't want to see Chelsea end up like Brighton," she said at one council meeting.

"I think the village should look into hiring an urban planner with expertise in small towns," Kanten said recently.

"I'm very concerned about the way development is going. Do we know if it is in the best interest of the village to have a mall? That has to be answered. We have to be concerned about the welfare of the downtown area."

The proposed condominium developments near South school Kanten says she supports as long as they are taken "one step at a time and see what the market brings."

"We definitely need something like this," Kanten says.

"There's a big market for them. Many older people want to have a home but don't want to be bothered with the upkeep. They could be attractive to single-parent families."

Kanten said she does want to see the General Development Plan updated, characterizing the changes more as "bits and pieces," rather than a general overhaul.

She admits to having mixed feelings about one aspect of the plan that has drawn a lot of attention at both council and planning commission meetings concerning the extension of Taylor St. to Old US-12.

"I can understand the concerns of people in the area since it is a nice, quiet, dead-end street," Kanten says.

"But the General Development Plan does show it as a through street. If we're going to have a plan we ought to live by it."

Other projects Kanten says are important are dealing with the water pressure problems in the south part of town and creating more parking downtown.

Dennis Hall, 47 Butternut Ct., is running for his first political office ever. He's director of materials management at Chelsea Community Hospital and has been a village resident for nine years. He and his wife, Nancy, moved here from the Pontiac area.

Hall said he almost ran for council last year and even got as far as picking up a petition but decided, "I wasn't quite ready."

"I'd like to take part in determining the direction and growth of the community," Hall said.

Hall admits he is operating at a disadvantage by running against three incumbents but says, "I've got to start someplace."

"Basically the present council does a good job. But it seems time to get some new faces on the council, some new blood, rather than hearing from the same people all the time."

Hall says he is undecided concerning the question of shopping malls for the village.

"I know what most of the merchants think but I'd like to hear more from the village residents."

Hall said he supports the proposed condominium projects but realizes it's going to be difficult to please the people who live adjacent to the areas.

"The water and sewage concerns in those areas also have to be addressed."

Hall is a part-time police officer for the Chelsea Police Department, working about eight hours a week. Since he is technically a village employee, some concerns have been expressed about a possible conflict of interest.

"The only way I'd have a conflict of interest is if I voted on a police matter," Hall says.

"It's simply a matter of abstaining from the voting on those questions. It shouldn't be a reason to keep me off the council. I'd be silly to vote on that kind of thing."

Depot Association Will Elect Officers

Anyone who owns a Chelsea Depot Donor's Certificate is invited to attend the annual meeting of the Chelsea Depot Association. The gathering will be held Wednesday, March 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room of Citizens Trust. Light refreshments will be served.

According to Chairman Lee Fahrner, there will be reports on recent achievements and future plans for the Association. An important part of the business meeting will be the election of officers and a slate of trustees for the 1987-1988 term.

The depot, as it stands in 1987, represents a significant Chelsea achievement. Since 1985 the Chelsea Depot Association has been organized and has succeeded in purchasing the depot outright from Amtrak. This has been followed by a complete rehabilitation and repainting of the exterior.

The purchase cost and all expenses for restoration of the exterior have been paid in full, thanks to contributions by more than 700 donors. The Association has no outstanding debts, and has a small nest egg of savings.

Ahead is the task of turning the depot from an unoccupied railroad station into a community institution. Part of the venerable building will become a museum and educational resource conducted by the Chelsea Area Historical Society. The large room at the east end of the depot will be a community meeting hall and civic center.

A substantial investment will be needed to carry out these plans—some from community donations and some from major gifts by charitable organizations located in Michigan.

All registered certificate owners are members of the Depot Association. They are entitled to vote at annual meetings and are qualified to submit nominations for officers and trustees from the floor. During the annual meeting, or at any time during the year, members are also welcome to offer suggestions for use of the depot as a community facility.

An estimated $5,000 in cash and lottery tickets was stolen from Polly's Market sometime after the last employee left the store at 10 o'clock Saturday night. There are no suspects at this time, police chief Robert Aeillo said. It was the largest theft in Chelsea since someone threw a cinder block through Winans Jewelry store on Main St. two years ago and grabbed $16,000 worth of gold.

Plans are complete and the stage is set for "Encore," the 10th anniversary celebration of the Chelsea Players. Among those dancing and singing will be Joan Youcum, Dennis Bauer, Mark Taylor, Kathy Schneider, Beverly Slater, Joe Diederich, Rebecca Smouse, and Laurie Lancaster Smith. Producer for the event at the Dexter Knights of Columbus Hall is Ric Foytik.

Donald W. Doll, supervisor of the carburetor lab at Chrysler Proving Grounds, retired after more than 30 years of service. Don and his wife, Therese, were both born and raised in Chelsea and have six children. The Dolls plan to do a little farming, traveling and to take it easy in general.

Group Optimistic About School Finance/Tax Reform

The chairman of a special commission studying school finance/property tax reform expressed optimism that the time is right for the effort to succeed where others have failed and said circumstances demand reform.

Former Michigan State University President Edgar Harden made the comments at the first meeting of the state Department of Education's School Finance Commission, which is the latest group formed to tackle what was described as the most important issue facing Michigan today.

Harden said he sees little need for new research into the problem since other studies have amassed a wealth of data and expects the commission to develop recommendations within six months.

"There is no panacea. We have to do something about the property tax and the inequities in the education system. There seems to be a willingness to work it out that I've never seen before. Nearly every group says something has to be done," he said.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip Runkel said that the commission's responsibility "is more than a taxation issue. It's the quality of education. I know of no issue more important to the future of this state than this."

Runkel, who appointed the commission, said its focus should be more on improving the equity of school financing as opposed to other groups which stressed property tax reform. Spending at local districts currently ranges from $1,785 per pupil to $5,915.

While Governor James Blanchard has put school finance/property tax reform at a low priority and does not have a representative as a member of the commission, Harden said "It might be much better if we do not depend on the governor. We're trying to keep this as much on a non-partisan basis as we can."

Harden said the recommendations recently by a committee appointed by the Senate which calls for increasing the sales tax to 6 percent from 4 percent in exchange for property tax cuts and full state funding of a basic level of K-12 education, would be a factor in the commission's effort.

Sen. Dan DeGrow (R-Port Huron), chair of the Appropriations K-12 subcommittee, said, "This group can be a catalyst and I think the Legislature will be willing to act."

A reform proposal, particularly if it involves a sales tax hike and a property tax limit, would require a constitutional amendment, which needs a 2/3 majority of the House and Senate to be placed before voters.

Senate and House leaders have made the issue a priority for the fall session.

Information presented to commission members at their first meeting stressed greater optimism that their effort would not be doomed to failure as have other recent property tax/school finance reform proposals and reiterated Michigan's relative over reliance on the property tax and relatively low sales tax rate.

Deputy Superintendent Doug Roberts said circumstances are different this time because assessment appeals and declining agricultural property value have made the property less stable and several districts are nearing the maximum rate of taxation allowed under the constitution.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Whatever happened to milk soda pop was the question Clem Webster put to the fellers at the opening bell of the session at the country store Saturday night. Clem recalled some months back when the USDA announced if it couldn't lick soft drinks it would join em, and it had come up with carbonated milk in all flavors.

The piece Clem had saw said test marketing would start early this year. The idea, he said, is to convince moms to wean the youngsters over to somepun that would taste good and be good for em, and to bring in new milk drinkers of all ages. There were strong discussion then about what was wrong with taste of milk the way the cow makes it, but the hole-herd buyout plan convinced the dairy marketing experts they needed to come with new ways to offer milk since its sales was steady while dairy products like cheese and ice cream were growing nice.

Wherever soda pop milk goes, Zeke Grubb allowed, it will go to show the old American spirit of making our best better is still around. Jest like Zeke had saw recent where hearing ear dogs are taking their place with seeing eye dogs. A outfit in West Boylston, Mass. is training dogs to listen for such as somebody calling their owner's name, the alarm clock, the door bell, the smoke alarm and other sounds hearing folks take for granted. A feller in North Carolina that has one of the dogs said the other day that he don't mind walking on busy roads because his dog is listening behind while he's watching ahead.

General, the fellers was agreed that if you can think of it in this country you can find it. Fer instant, Bug Hookum reported he had saw where a school in Los Angeles trains folks to be on TV game shows. Them hoping to git picked pay $45 fer a three hour lesson on how to make a hit with what they call contestants co-ordinators during the 15 seconds it takes fer the co-ordinator to decide if he's interested. Most of all, the school says, the shows want "real people" that will "be themselves." Bug said, so you got to wonder what they git fer their $45.

Farthermore, Bug went on, jest when you think Irangate has took truth and consequences as far as they can go, here comes a woman making the rounds of colleges lecturing on panties in politics. She has a program complete with color slides and all kinds of heavyweight reserch that she says shows "the relationship between wimmen's underwear, politics and the military-industrial complex." Bug said the woman is in strong demand in colleges, but he'll hold judgment till he gits to see the quality of her slides.

All of which shows, the fellers agreed, that they ain't no business got that ain't went out after, and it was Ed Doolittle that said lately that goes fer doctors. Ed has saw where we've got a shortage of nurses and we're running a surplus of doctors and lawyers. What this means, Ed said, is we got plenty of malpractice fer the lawyers, but we're needing people to take care of the sick.

Actual, Ed favors Republicans, fresh air, spring water and shade trees, and not much else. But I do recollect the New York surgeon that was ask on the stand during a malpractice suit what he operated on the patient fer, and the doctor said he operated on him fer what he had, gall stones and $2,500.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Child Study Club Hears Report on Alzheimer's Disease

The Feb. 10 meeting of Chelsea Child Study Club was held at Shirley Chapman's home. Co-hostesses Gale Johnson and Judy Smith served delicious cheesecake.

The speaker, Dr. James Peggs from Chelsea Community Hospital discussed Alzheimer's disease. There has been such focus and advancements made in diagnosis in past years that it was helpful to have a clear picture of the symptoms, methods of diagnosis and current treatment. Especially interesting was Dr. Peggs' explanation of the stages of the disease and characteristics of each stage.

Mary Louise Fishbach was installed as a new member.

On Feb. 24 the meeting was held at JoAnn Richardson's home. Co-hostesses were June Flanagan and Bert Cobb.

Guest speaker Carol Palmer shared her experiences as an exchange student in Australia and attending high school. The couple who served as Carol's host family plan to visit Chelsea and attend her high school graduation.

Sue Shiffeld was installed as a new member.

The next meeting will be March 10 at Nancy Grau's home.

Free Hypertension Screening Offered

Free high blood pressure screening will be offered from 4 to 8 p.m. Monday, March 19, in the lobby of Reichert Health Building.

Reichert Health Building is located on the campus of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital at Clark and Huron River Dr. For information, call 572-3824.

The Job Training Partnership Act was enacted into law in October 1982 and became fully operational in October 1983, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's annual report for fiscal year 1985. The law is administered by the Labor Department's Employment and Training Administration.

Mr. and Mrs. David Clarence Harrison

Tammy Guenther, David Harrison Exchange Vows at Bethel Church

Tammy Sue Guenther, daughter of Ron and Joyce Wild of Saline and Larry and Mary Guenther of Adrian, married David Clarence Harrison, son of Clarence and Janet Harrison of Chelsea on Nov. 18, at the Bethel United Church of Christ in Manchester. The Rev. Roman Reineck officiated.

The bride wore a satin gown with a cathedral length train, off the shoulder bodice, long sleeves, and fitted waist. Her cathedral length veil was made by a special friend, Sue Guenther. Her bouquet was made with white carnations and white roses with ivy and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Susan I. Klager of Saline. Bridesmaids were Carol Sweetland of Saline; sister of the bridegroom, Debbie Harrison of Okemos; Nancy Roehm of Clinton; and sister of the bride, Wendy Burke of Adrian.

Best man was Bill Lamb of Chelsea. Ushers were Doug Burchett of Grass Lake; Bob Schleede of Chelsea; brothers of the bride, Mike Guenther and Jim Wild, both of Saline.

Ringbearer was Scotty Guenther of Saline. Flower girl was Nicole Phillips of Britton.

A reception was held at the Dexter Knights of Columbus Hall. The guest book was managed by Sheila Guenther and Cassie Finkbeiner, both of Saline.

The couple took a wedding trip to Hawaii for eight days and seven nights. They are now residing at 9149 Austin Rd., Saline.

The bride graduated from Saline High School in 1985 and is now personnel assistant at Crescive Die and Tool, Inc. of Saline. The bridegroom graduated from Chelsea High School in 1984. He attended Northwestern Auto Deisel Technical Center and is now employed at the Wolverine Truck Plaza in Dexter.

What animal is earning a reputation as a fertilizer, garbage disposer and source of protein? According to International Wildlife magazine, the earthworm, of which there are some 3,000 species, will eat through all kinds of organic waste and recycle them as fertilizer. In addition, for every 10 pounds of garbage that earthworms consume, they produce a pound of meat that tastes like chicken. Although scattered tribes around the world have traditionally eaten worms, experts think it's unlikely the wormburger will ever replace the hamburger on our menus.

Tuesday, Feb. 10, the Modern Mothers Study Club met at the Fireside Antiques on S. Main in Chelsea to spend an evening learning more about antiques. After an evening of browsing, members returned to the home of Barb Pruess for conversation and dessert provided by Judy Steger and Barb Pruess.

On Saturday, Feb. 21, husbands were the guests of the Modern Mothers for the annual wine and cheese party at the home of Jeff and Jean Cooper.

Discovering birds was the topic for the Feb. 24 meeting at the home of Janet Alford. Naturalist Dorothy Blanchard provided a talk and slides to explain birds common to our area now and at different times during the year.

Following refreshments provided by Debbie Arend and Carol Zenz, the monthly business meeting was held. Plans were made to host a reception for several foreign women visiting our area March 7, in conjunction with Church Women United.

Members are reminded that the next meeting is a Mystery Tour to be held Wednesday, March 11, beginning at 6 p.m. A special evening of fun, food, and entertainment has been planned for members and their guests. RSVP's must be called in to Jean Cooper by Tuesday, March 3.

Chelsea Hospital Plans May 2 Benefit Auction

On Saturday, May 2, Chelsea Community Hospital will hold a benefit auction entitled "Spring Celebration." The benefit will be held to raise funds for the furnishing of a new Intensive Care/CT Scanner waiting room.

Chairperson for the benefit is Patricia B. Harris and the co-chairpersons and ticket chairs are Robert and Marge German with Paul and Jean Mann and Duane and Bev Glenn serving on the ticket committee. Chairpersons for the leisure committee are Jeanene Riemenschneider and Mandy Doan. Serving on the leisure committee are: Dennis Doan, Bob Riemenschneider, David and Lorraine Perkins, Pauline and Warren Porath, and June Wilson.

Chairperson for the travel committee is Sue Starkey with Charles Skelton, Bob Lyons, Dennis and Nancy Hall, and Patti Harris serving on the travel committee. Chairperson for the arts committee is Madeleine Vallier assisted by Marge Daniels and Ben and Marylou Bower.

Serving on the sports committee and acting in a general advisory role is Bob Lyons with Tom and Judy Niswonger and Sheridan Springer.

The event promises to be an exciting and successful evening. Auction items will include tickets to sporting, theatre and special events. Leisure items and clothing of all types will be auctioned. Trips to various destinations will also be auctioned.

Look for more information about the Spring Celebration Benefit Auction in the months to come.

A Look at Adult Children of Alcoholics

A free lecture on how being a child from an alcoholic home can affect your life will be presented at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 10, in the Education Center at Catherine McAuley Health Center, Ann Arbor.

Jean Knopf DeRoche, president of Knopf Co., Inc., of Plymouth, and chairwoman of the prevention and education section of the Michigan Chemical Dependency Policy Study Group, will discuss how being raised in an alcoholic home can affect your parenting skills and the recovery of yourself or another family member from chemical dependency. She will talk about how family dynamics contribute to the role a child plays and how that role is carried into adulthood.

The program is part of the ongoing Tuesday night chemical dependency lecture series at CMHC.

For further information, call 572-4300.

Data for the period July 1, 1984 to June 30, 1985, indicate that of new participants entering Job Training Partnership Act programs, 94 percent were economically disadvantaged, according to the Labor Department's annual report for fiscal year 1985.

Lioness Club Hears Report on Tour of Alaska

Chelsea Lioness Club held its February meeting in the meeting room of Citizens Trust. Lion Russ Severn and Lioness Betty Severn gave an excellent slide presentation of their recent trip to Alaska. Later in the month the Lionesses prepared and served the food for the Lions Club annual Valentines dance. Also the club provided the birthday cake for the Chelsea Senior Citizens. The latter is a monthly commitment of the club.

At the February board meeting members voted to send the club's yearly donation to Lions District, State and International projects. These include Sightmobile, Hearing Dogs, Eye Bank, Braille Translating, Welcome Home for the Blind, Leader Dogs, International Youth Exchange, and many others. The funds sent for these projects represent about 25% of Chelsea Lioness Club's total project budget. The remaining funds are used to meet the needs within our community.

Training Offered Head of Household Working Women

Soundings: A Center for Women will offer a pre-employment training program for any woman who is single-head-of-household, separated or divorced, widowed or whose husband is permanently disabled, and who needs a job now or in the near future to support herself.

The seven-week program, which begins March 10, will help each woman explore career/job options, prepare a resume, learn interviewing skills and conduct a job search. Also included are workshops on stress management, assertiveness training, and techniques for decision making, goal setting and problem solving. Personnel counseling and a support group complete this program designed especially to help women in transition.

Funding by the Michigan Department of Labor makes this program available to all eligible women, regardless of income.

For further information call Soundings at 973-9731.

Dogs To Battle Lions in Game Of Basketball

What kind of athletic coaches turn into the greatest amateur exhibition basketball players? Men who spend their lives teaching nothing but NFL football? Or school district coaches who not only teach the gridiron sport but also coach baseball, wrestling, softball, track, cross country and tennis plus basketball?

We'll learn the answer on the afternoon of Sunday, March 15 when the Bulldog coaches take the floor against the Detroit Lions in the Chelsea gym. The game is for fun—entertainment for players and spectators alike, but it's also to raise funds for the Chelsea Athletic Boosters. The home squad will consist of 17 Chelsea coaches dribbling, passing, sinking, stuffing, dunking and free throwing under the direction of Supercoach Larry Reed.

From the Chelsea bench will be Ted Wilson, boys track, Mike Wade, wrestling, Kerry Kargel, wrestling, Scott Dault, wrestling, Wayne Welton, baseball and football, John Dunn, football, Jeff Dils, football and basketball, Matt Villemure, football and baseball, Pat Clarke, cross country and softball, Jim Ticknor, football and baseball, Rahn Rosentreter, basketball and tennis, Robyn Raymond, basketball, Akel Marshall, baseball, Jim Tallman, football and basketball, Dave Quilter, basketball, Dave Scriven, basketball and Gene LaFave, football.

The Lion's coaching staff is being extremely cagey about naming their cagers for the Sunday event. Fans will just have to come see. Tip-off time is 3 p.m., March 15.

Poster Contest Winners Named

Six Chelsea students have won the Chelsea Athletic Booster Club's poster contest. Their assignment was to publicize the basketball game, March 15, when a team of Chelsea coaches will challenge a team made up of members of the Detroit Lions.

Winners from South School are Brad Martell and Ed Greenleaf. From North school the winners are Gabe Bernhard and Michelle Knisely, and from Beach Middle school the winners are Brian Bell and Matt Steinaway. All the winners will receive free tickets to the game. The middle school winners will also have the privilege of being waterboys, Brian for the Lions and Matt for the Chelsea coaches.

The entrants did their work under the supervision of their art teachers, Pat Rogers at South, Janet Alford at North, and Judy Parker at Beach.

Honorable mentions in the poster contest include 10 South school students, David Beeman, Laura Hodgson, Martha Merkel, Jackie Crawford, Dale Hansen, Jeremy Muha, Becky Hubert, Sarah Norton, David Seitz, and Nona Giebel; and three North school students, Chris Gibson, Jason Slusher, and Nikki Wireman. All the posters will be displayed in the windows of area merchants.

The basketball game will take place Sunday, March 15 at 3:15 in the Chelsea High school gym. Tickets are available at Taco Bell, Chelsea Office

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

Washtenaw and Livingston counties are at the center of an exciting biological gamble by the Department of Natural Resources to transplant the Sichuan pheasant from China to Michigan. You're going to read a lot about this magnificent bird from Sichuan Province so here's how they say the word: SHISH-wahn.

The introduction of this game bird into our farmlands is of vital interest because its predecessors, the ringneck pheasant—also from China—is fast becoming a vanishing species.

Ringnecks were first introduced into Michigan in 1918 by the DNR State Game Farm. They thrived in our agricultural environment and by 1925 their population had expanded to a point where the DNR permitted them to be hunted.

The ringneck population reached its peak in 1942 when hunters harvested 1.4 million roosters. Since then, the population has steadily declined. In 1986 pheasant hunting in Michigan hit an all-time low with a harvest of only 8,000 birds. (On our property along McKinley Rd., we have not heard or sighted a pheasant in two years.)

The DNR estimates that the economic benefit of small game hunting is $25 per hunting day. If their effort to revitalize the pheasant population is successful, the department projects that renewed pheasant hunting could eventually restore 50 to 100 million dollars per year in economic benefits to our southeastern counties.

In addition to the pheasant's value as a game bird, it is admired and enjoyed by several million non-hunters. DNR surveys found that nearly 100 percent of landowners in southern Michigan feel that the presence of pheasants is an asset to their properties, and that 95 percent would like to see more pheasants whether or not the birds are hunted.

The exact reason for the decrease in the ringneck pheasant population is not known. Wildlife experts speculate that the habitat is no longer suitable for the ringneck breed. For one thing, ringnecks need plenty of open spaces with ample ground cover on the fringes of farmed and forested areas. Urbanization of farmland in Michigan has reduced agricultural soil by 40 percent since 1920, and changes in soil management have seriously depleted ground cover on the farmlands which remain.

Since the ringneck was definitely vanishing, DNR biologists turned their attention to the Sichuan pheasant, a subspecies that thrives in a habitat which is comparable in many ways to Michigan. This was no spur-of-the-moment idea. Foreseeing problems with the ringneck, naturalists attempted for nearly 40 years to reach an agreement with China for a new strain of pheasants. Overtures from the state were unsuccessful until Michigan had the good fortune under a cultural exchange program to become the sister state to Sichuan Province. This opened genial new avenues of communication.

Then, another good break came along when President Reagan began preparing for his 1984 trip to China. The host country, anxious to create an atmosphere of openness for the visit, paid additional attention to overtures from Michigan. As a result, China approved an ecological exchange: Michigan wildlife experts would advise the Chinese on habitat management techniques to help preserve the panda population, and China would allow Sichuan pheasants to be exported to Michigan.

In 1985, over 2,000 eggs were collected from wild pheasant nests in Sichuan Province and shipped to Michigan where they were incubated. Five hundred chicks managed to hatch, an excellent ratio of wild eggs to live birds. Of these chicks, 430 were bred and produced 900 offspring. To protect the integrity of the strain, each of the 2,000 eggs was coded according to the nest where it was collected. In this way, interbreeding brothers and sisters was avoided.

Four hundred Sichuans will soon be released into the wild, and another 400 will be held for further breeding. For tracking purposes, some of the released pheasants will be equipped with radio transmitters.

Our state representative, Margaret O'Connor, was interested in the potentialities of this wildlife project and she delegated an observer, Jackie Hadden, to attend a Sichuan briefing meeting held by Gordon Guyer, director of the DNR. According to Dr. Guyer, the odds of success for any attempt to introduce a new species into a non-native habitat are very slim, but DNR biologists feel that there is an excellent chance of success in this instance.

About two weeks from now the department will release 50 birds at each of eight Livingston county locations close to the Washtenaw county line. All of the sites lie within a 20 square mile area. In terms of ownership, 60 percent of the property in this area is held privately, and the remainder is in the Pinckney State Recreation Area and U. of M. George Reserve. The DNR will be closing an area of approximately 900 to 1,000 square miles to pheasant hunting around the release sites. This will be for at least one year, and for additional years, until the population is established. The DNR will also ask property owners in the 20 square mile release area to voluntarily restrict all small game hunting on their land.

According to Harry (Pete) Squibb, the DNR's pheasant specialist, there may be some complaints from hunters who would like to take game in the Sichuan release area. Well, there are plenty of other places to hunt, and in this critical situation the recreational, esthetic and economic benefits of the entire state deserve to come first.

Ken Lowe, editor of Michigan Out-Of-Doors, has made the point that the ultimate success of the project will depend on the availability of a steady supply of birds for breeding and stocking. So a delegation is departing March 23 on a fast flying boat to China to meet with officials and make arrangements for a continuing supply of pheasant eggs in the years to come. Those in the party will include Dr. Guyer of the DNR, Kerry K. Kammer of the Natural Resources Commission, and Tom Washington, executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Margaret O'Connor, who lives on a farm with plenty of wildlife, is naturally interested in an enjoyable pheasant population for everyone in her electoral district. The Sichuan pheasant venture should certainly cause Mrs. O'Connor no financial concerns. According to Pete Squibb, total outlays to date for the project have been no more than $100,000. If we are successful in establishing a new pheasant population in southern Michigan, we will restore hundreds of millions of dollars in hunting income. We have 16 million acres of good habitat for Sichuan pheasants. If the breed likes it here better than their ringneck cousins there will be no financial problems because the cost of future pheasant programs will be entirely underwritten by the license fees of hunters.

It's a gamble, to be sure, but the outlook is good. I have a hunch the guys and gals of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club will think so, too.

PHEASANTS FROM SICHUAN Province, China, are being released later this month in Livingston county close to the Washtenaw county line. It is the hope of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources that this new breed of pheasant will thrive here and restore the dwindling pheasant population in the state.

Cobblestone Farm Offers Maple Sugar Harvest Program

The coming of spring was eagerly awaited by Michigan's early settlers who looked forward to the end of winter's isolation and the beginning of the warmer weather.

Traditionally the work of men and young boys, the Maple Sugar Harvest was an opportunity to escape the confines of their homes and camp out in the dense woods. The work was tedious. Wood had to be chopped, the fire kept going and sap collected several times a day. Evenings were spent around the campfires where stories were told late into the night.

Another springtime activity was the task of shearing the sheep and the preparation of their heavy winter fleece for spinning.

Cobblestone Farm will recreate this special time of the year on Sunday, March 29 and April 15, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Costumed interpreters will demonstrate the evaporation process, including syrup and sugar making. A variety of maple products will be available for purchase.

There will also be demonstrations of sheep shearing and spinning.

For further information, please call Cobblestone Farm at 994-2923.

Adopt-A-Grapevine Program Offered

A New York winery is boosting net income by putting vines up for adoption. More than 600 vines have foster parents. The annual adoption plan costs $35 or $60, depending on whether the "parent" wants a six or 12 bottle sampling of wine from the vine or similar vines.

In addition to the wine, foster parents receive a photograph, ownership certificate and visitation privileges. They also get a personality profile of the vine, showing hobbies (hobbies?), dislikes and a brief genealogy of the vine.

The Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) is operated on the basis of a program year, beginning on July 1 and ending on June 30 of the following year, according to the U. S. Department of Labor's annual report for fiscal year 1985.

Baton Corps Participates In Easter Seal Contest

Westland High school in Columbus, O., was the setting for a special Twirling Unlimited baton contest where judges donated their time, contestants gave trophies, and all profits went to help the Easter Seal Campaign. Twirlers from five states participated, including six Chelsea Baton Corps members.

Winston Howard, 6, topped the awards list by taking the trophy in boys solo, advanced solo, flag and two-baton. He placed second in advanced visitors solo, military strut, and third in basic strut. Winston took the "Advanced High Point" trophy at the end of the day by winning the most points for placing in events entered.

Other final scores were as follows: Linda Schaffer (11)—Beginner solo, beginner fancy (1st); visitors solo, basic strut (2); model (3).

Richelle Jones (11)—Advanced military (1); beginner fancy (2); intermediate advanced basic strut (3).

Kori White (10)—Advanced visitors solo (1); advanced solo (2); intermediate fancy strut (3).

Amy Feldkamp (12)—Beginner flag (1); beginner military (3); beginner visitor solo (4); and best appearing (5).

Tracey Wales (12)—Intermediate solo (4).

Survey Sent to '86 High School Grads

Chelsea High school graduates of the class of 1986 will be mailed a survey during the first week of March. Information from recent graduates is vital to the evaluation process in the on-going effort to provide quality education. The information gained will provide the school district with an accurate picture of what graduates are doing, provide input for planning and improving educational programs and give schools a better understanding of students' needs.

Graduates will also be asked to write comments and/or suggestions to improve courses they took or services they received.

This annual survey is conducted in co-operation with the Michigan Department of Education and provides information for planning more effective local and state educational programs.

Bob Miller, survey co-ordinator, states that a report based on the data and comments will be available by late fall. A report on the survey of the class of '85 has been distributed to the high school office, guidance staff and Chelsea School Board.

I am with you.

Easter Seal Telethon Starts Saturday Night

The annual Easter Seal Telethon will get underway at 11 p.m. on Saturday, March 7. The 20-hour entertainment extravaganza will be hosted for the sixth year by Pat Boone, who will be joined by co-host Donna Mills.

The Telethon, which will run until 7 p.m. on Sunday, March 8, will be carried over WDIV channel 4. The local show, this year will be telecast from the WDIV studio.

Mort Crimm and Gary Danielson will again be returning as hosts for the telethon.

The WDIV telethon is the second largest telethon in the nation, and last year produced over $1 million to serve persons with disabilities.

The national Telethon originates from Hollywood and is a 20-hour celebration of hope and great entertainment. This year's Telethon slogan is "Where People Come First."

Through its system of Program Services, and its reporting System, Easter Seal in Michigan consistently served over 140,000 persons annually over the past five years. This ranked Michigan first, in the numbers of people served, across the country.

More than 94% of the dollars raised in Michigan, stay in Michigan to serve people with disabilities. The programs of the Easter Seal Society of Michigan are funded by individual voluntary contributions of dollars and materials.

Since 1921 the Easter Seal Society of Michigan has been providing services to people with disabilities. Easter Seal serves all disabling conditions regardless of race, nationality, sex, age, religion, cause of disability, or ability to pay. Committed to serving the unmet needs of persons with disabilities, Easter Seal has involved itself in a wide variety of programs.

The National Easter Seal Society, headquartered in Chicago, is the nation's oldest health care agency providing direct services to people of all ages with any disability.

Last year, Easter Seals served over one million people through its 820 state and local affiliates operating some 2,000 facilities across the nation. A pioneer in the movement to eliminate architectural barriers, Easter Seals offers service in rehabilitation, health education, and continues to be a leading advocate for the rights of persons with disabilities.

Beef Cook-Off Entries Due Before April 1

What's the secret to creating a prize winning recipe—a simple, great tasting entry?

If you have an original beef dish that you are particularly proud of, now is the time to enter it in the Michigan Beef Cook-Off. The deadline for entries is April 1.

Why do so many food-loving people enter this contest? Often times they enjoy meeting other contestants who share their interest in good food. The opportunity to compete as a finalist in the contest is an exciting experience. For others, it can be a profitable sideline. The Michigan Beef Cook-Off winner will receive $200 plus an expense trip for two to Sun Valley, Ida. The state winners will be competing in the National Beef Cook-Off for prizes totaling over $10,000. Sally Vog, a National Beef Cook-Off finalist, won $30,000 in prizes and trips in one year by participating in at least a half dozen cooking contests.

What are some hints to help you be more competitive?

Write to the Michigan Beef Industry Commission, 815 Coolidge Rd., Suite 307, Lansing 48912 for a complete set of rules. Follow these rules exactly or your entry could be disqualified.

Know the criteria. The beef recipes are judged on taste, ease of preparation, practicality, originality and appearance. Type or print the recipe listing the exact measurements and ingredients in the order called for in the recipe.

Submit creative and original recipes that reflect today's eating trends. If you are adapting a recipe, there must be at least three significant changes before it can qualify.

Use fresh ingredients when possible.

Garnishes should enhance, but not overpower, the recipe. They should be colorful, edible and attractive.

Use familiar ingredients that are available nationally.

Practice to refine your recipe. Use your family and friends as a taste panel.

The Michigan Beef Cook-Off will be held May 9 at the Westwood Mall in Jackson. The public is invited. Nine finalists will be competing. This contest is sponsored by the Michigan CattleWomen in co-operation with the Michigan Beef Industry Commission.

North School Students Enjoy Laura Ingalls Wilder Party

North school's fourth and fifth grade students enjoyed a Laura Ingalls Wilder party on Thursday, Feb. 26 from 11:30 to 1:30. Organized by media specialist Barbara Locks, the party included sampling foods from the Little House Cookbook and singing songs from the Laura Ingalls Wilder Songbook.

Laura Ingalls Wilder wrote the little house series of books about life in the pioneer days of the United States. Born in Pepin, Wis., in 1867, she later moved to Mansfield, Mo., where a museum is erected in her honor.

Food the children sampled to supplement their lunches included corn bread, popcorn, home-made bread and jam, and dried fruit. They were also given recipes from the Little House Cookbook to try at home, including fried apple, 'n' onions and vanilla cakes.

After lunch, they listened to a taped interview of Laura Ingalls Wilder and practiced singing some songs from the Little House Songbook, under the direction of parent, Rochelle Martinez-Mouilleseaux.

The party ended with a visit to the Senior Center, where the children and the Chelsea Senior Center Kitchen Band presented a joint performance. The children sang the two songs they had practiced, "Old Dan Tucker" and "Buy a Broom," while the seniors sang "Here Comes Peter Cotton Tail," "How Much Is That Doggie in the Window?" and "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More." Adding to the entertainment and illustrating the songs were seniors Mary Malott dressed as a bunny, Virginia Schwab dressed as a clown, and Anna Laban, dressed as a cat. Fourth grader Jim Bergman and third grader Andrea Gordenier joined the seniors for a rendition of "I've Been Working on the Railroad." The whole group played "The Farmer in the Dell" with Don Parsons (on the scrub board) as the farmer.

Parents helping at the event, in addition to Mrs. Martinez-Mouilleseaux, were Sue Bennett and Ron Gibson. The Laura Ingalls Wilder party is an annual event.

Expert on Chinese Will Speak at Lunch & Learn

Michael Oksenberg, professor of political science and a research associate of the Center for Chinese Studies at the University of Michigan, will be speaking at the "Lunch & Learn" program sponsored by Citizens Trust, Thursday noon, March 12, at the Campus Inn, Ann Arbor. His topic will be "Reform in China."

Oksenberg's teaching and writing focus on Chinese domestic affairs, Chinese foreign policy, and Sino-American relations. He was assistant professor of political science at Stanford University from 1966 to 1968 and assistant and associate professor of political science at Columbia University from 1968 to 1974. He joined the University of Michigan in 1973. From 1977 to 1980, he served as a staff member of the National Security Council with special responsibility for China and the Indochina states.

Oksenberg received his bachelor of arts from Swarthmore College in 1960 and his doctorate from Columbia University in 1969.

His memberships include the Committee on Scholarly Communication with the People's Republic of China, the Joint Committee on Chinese Studies of the Social Science Research Council and the American Council of Learned Societies, The China Group, the China Council of the Asia Society, the Council on Foreign Relations, The Governor's Commission on China of the State of Michigan, and the Social Science Research Council. Oksenberg has authored or edited five books on China.

His luncheon address on March 12 is open to the public. A fee of $6 covers the cost of the lunch. Reservations may be made by calling Citizens Trust, 994-5555, ext. 213.

'I Can Cope' Series Offered in March By Cancer Society

Washtenaw county chapter of the American Cancer Society will be offering two "I Can Cope" programs starting in March. "I Can Cope" is a series of free classes offering information and insights to patients, families and friends dealing with day-to-day issues of living with a chronic disease like cancer.

The first, a six-week program, starts Thursday, March 12, from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., at the Wilmet House, 1322 Wilmet St., Ann Arbor.

The second, and eight-week program co-sponsored by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, starts Tuesday, March 17, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital patient discharge lounge.

Ground nesting birds sometimes use good acting to protect their chicks, says Ranger Rick magazine. For example, a female killdeer will lure a predator away from the nest by acting as though it's crippled. After it entices its enemy safely away from the nest, the killdeer simply flies away.

LAURA INGALLS WILDER party was enjoyed by North Elementary school's fourth and fifth graders last week. Above, Rochelle Martinez-Mouilleseaux leads the children in a song from the Little House Songbook.

MARY MALOTT dressed up as a bunny as part of the entertainment during a Laura Ingalls Wilder party at the Senior Citizens Center last week. North school fourth and fifth graders joined the seniors in singing "Here Comes Peter Cottontail."

Dial-A-Garden Topics Listed

The following is a schedule of Dial-A-Garden, the system of pre-recorded daily gardening tips sponsored by the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service.

The system is in operation 24 hours per day, 7 days per week.

Interested persons are invited to call 971-1122 at their convenience and receive timely, up-to-date gardening information.

Topics for the next week are as follows:

Wednesday, March 4—"Planting Brambles."

Thursday, March 5—"Soils for Houseplants."

Friday, March 6—"Containers for Houseplants."

Monday, March 9—"Fertilizing Houseplants."

Tuesday, March 10—"Vegetable Garden Planning."

Wednesday, March 11—"Growing Leafy Crops."

Free Firewood Cutting Permit Offered By DNR

A special, one time, free firewood cutting permit may be obtained from the DNR/Waterloo Recreation Area Headquarters office, located at 16345 McClure Rd., Chelsea.

Normally, firewood cutting permits are issued from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31 each year, but, this winter large numbers of trees have been cut down or trimmed by county road crews. To utilize this resource upon their administered lands, Waterloo Recreation Area is now offering the free permits to the public between March 2 and April 15. There is a 14-day time limit per permit and commercial sale of the firewood is prohibited.

For additional information contact the Headquarters office at 475-6307 or stop in Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Please Notify Us In Advance of Any Change in Address

THE KITCHEN BAND performed several songs with North school fourth and fifth graders at the conclusion of a Laura Wilder Ingalls party at the school last Thursday. Children sang the tunes, "Old Dan Tucker" and "Buy a Broom." The seniors sang "Here Comes Peter Cottontail," "How Much Is That Doggie In The Window," and "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More."

Depot Considered For National Listing Of Historic Places

On the 26th of this month a board of Michigan historians will meet in Lansing, serving as advisors to the federal government and deciding whether the Chelsea Depot is of sufficient importance to be honored in the National Register of Historic Places.

This distinguished listing—in several volumes—is maintained by the National Park Service, a division of the U. S. Department of the Interior.

To be doubly confident of the authenticity of a proposed Historic Place the Park Service relies on local assistance from designated State Historic Preservation Officers. In the Wolverine State this position is held by Martha M. Bigelow of the Michigan Bureau of History.

The nomination form submitted to the National Park Service via the Michigan board is a lengthy, 12-part application. It includes a detailed description of the place, an equally comprehensive presentation of its historical significance and a listing of all bibliographical references. In addition, the Chelsea nomination was accompanied by a series of black and white photos of the property, a matching series of color slides, a legal description of the metes and bounds of the land, and an area site drawing.

Specifications of the National Park Service are necessarily exacting and expert guidance was given to the Chelsea preparers by the staff of the state historic commission.

A historic place may be a building, a battlefield, a monument or structure (among many other things) that possesses integrity of location, design, setting, materials, workmanship or feeling associated with events of historical significance. Or they may be identified with the lives of persons significant in our past.

The Lincoln Memorial, the Battlefield of Gettysburg and all other historic areas in the National Park system are in the Register. Other examples, less obvious but worthy in their own right, include the Dumbarton Bridge in the District of Columbia, Washington Hall at the University of Notre Dame, Sand Key Lighthouse at Monroe, Fla., the Bridgewater Woolen Mill in Bridgewater, Vt., Timberline Lodge in Mt. Hood National Forest and the Butler County Courthouse in Butler, O.

Places nominated may be of national, state or community significance, and Chelsea trustees feel that the depot is of state significance as well as local. One of the historic points in the Chelsea application is that our depot was once one of the largest wool shipping points in America, and possibly the largest for a period of time.

Soon after the March 26 meeting of the Preservation Review Board in Lansing the depot trustees will be advised of the decision. If, as expected, the state approval is sent on to Washington, a decision by the National Park Service should be forthcoming in about 30 days.

Ag Banquet Set March 19 At Chelsea

The 1987 annual Washtenaw County Agriculture Banquet sponsored by the Washtenaw County Dairy Livestock Council and the Co-operative Extension Service will be held Thursday, March 19, at Chelsea High school.

The night's activities will start off with dinner being served at 7 p.m. in the gym. The program will take place in the auditorium.

"Michigan Outdoors" will be the title of the featured entertainment by John Hodge. John is a lean and lanky man of the north, intimately acquainted with the roads, trails and byways of Michigan's woods and waters. He has captured some of "Nature's Nostalgia" in the life style of yesteryear. With his camera and color slides, he vividly illustrates the era of "prelude to plumbing." Rep. M. O'Connor Named Assistant Minority Whip

An area legislator has been selected to serve in an assistant leadership post within the House Republican caucus.

State Representative Margaret O'Connor (R-Ann Arbor), who is serving her third term in the Legislature, has been appointed Assistant Minority Whip by House Republican Leader Paul Hillegonds (R-Holland).

"This is an important position as we work to determine support for important pieces of legislation before the House," Hillegonds said. "I am confident Rep. O'Connor will do an excellent job in this leadership role."

O'Connor said she was pleased to be selected to fill this important position for the caucus.

"The job of assistant whip includes lining up votes on critical issues, head counting and determining the depth of support for any given issue," O'Connor concluded.

Free Test For Glaucoma Is Offered

Ann Arbor Eye Care is sponsoring a free glaucoma screening for the month of March. This simple and painless test will last five minutes and will be administered by Cheryl Huey, M. D.

Glaucoma, often called the "sneak thief of sight," afflicts nearly two million persons in the United States, age 35 and older, and is a leading cause of blindness among adults. Subject to the greatest risks are the elderly, persons with a family history of glaucoma, and those with diabetes and cardiovascular diseases. Also, since heredity plays a role, other forms of glaucoma may strike infants and children.

According to Dr. Huey, glaucoma is a disease in which the fluid pressure of the eye rises high enough to damage the optic nerve. As this nerve is damaged over time, a person's field vision begins to narrow. Unfortunately, once this nerve is damaged, vision loss cannot be restored in that part of the eye. That is why early detection of glaucoma is so critical.

"In most cases a person with glaucoma doesn't realize they are losing their sight because the loss is gradual and, most often, painless,"

Dr. Huey said. That is why it is so important for persons to have their eyes examined for glaucoma by an ophthalmologist every two years, especially adults age 35 and over.

Dr. Huey emphasized that blindness or glaucoma can be prevented, but only if the disease is promptly detected. She said if proper medical treatment is started early, the progress of glaucoma and its resulting loss of vision can be arrested. Medical treatment includes medicine, surgery and laser therapy.

For more information about the free glaucoma screening test call Ann Arbor Eye Care at 662-2020. Appointments will be scheduled through the month of March. Ann Arbor Eye Care is located in the Liberty Medical Complex, 3200 W. Liberty, Ann Arbor.

Tecumseh Tops Dogs, Win Needed Friday for Outright SEC Crown

Chelsea's hopes for an undisputed Southeastern Conference basketball championship were put on hold for another week as the visiting Tecumseh Indians outshot the Bulldogs at the foul line for a 52-47 victory last Friday night.

Chelsea plays at Pinckney Friday night in the final regular season game. If Pinckney wins and Tecumseh whips Dexter, Chelsea will tie with the Indians and Saline Hornets for the title. If Chelsea wins, the title belongs to the Bulldogs outright.

In other action last week, Mark Bareis' 37 points led the Dogs past Jackson Northwest on Tuesday night in non-conference action, 62-57.

Tecumseh guard John Hartley made 12 of 15 free throws in the fourth quarter to finish with a game-high 24 points. Hartley also had the Indians' only field goal of the quarter.

Meanwhile, the Bulldogs made just two free throws in the final period.

Chelsea had every chance to win the foul-marred contest, which would have given them the league title outright. The Dogs were ahead by a point or two almost the entire game, and even had a five-point lead in the third quarter.

Going into the fourth quarter, Todd Starkey had held Hartley to just 10 points, all in the first half. They were holding their own on the boards with the Indians and hadn't committed many turnovers.

However, the turning point for the Indians came with 2:23 in the game as Chelsea missed a one-and-one opportunity with the score tied at 40. Hartley was promptly fouled at the other end of the court and sank both tosses, giving Tecumseh the lead.

From there on the Indians forced Chelsea to play a tough man-to-man defense to get the ball back. However, Hartley and Larry Anschuetz made 10 free throws in the last minute to seal the game.

Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter cited a poor first quarter for the Bulldogs' troubles, even though the score was tied at nine.

"We should have scored 16 or 17 points in the first period," Rosentreter said.

"We took a lot of shots that could have gone in but didn't. We're a different team when we can take control in the first quarter."

Rosentreter said his team played a poor game in general. Four field goals were taken away by charging calls. The Dogs made just 19-29 free throws, missing several one-and-one opportunities. Field goal percentage was the lowest in several games, dropping to 34 percent (14-41).

The coach also said his team is relying too much on Bareis to do the scoring, and that was the case Friday night.

"Earlier in the season, Mark was scoring his 17 or 18 points, but everyone else was getting eight or 10 as well," Rosentreter said.

Bareis had 17 points Friday, and Jon Lane came off the bench for 11, the only Bulldogs in double figures.

Fifty-one fouls were called in the game, including 29 against Chelsea.

Rounding out the Chelsea scoring were Jeff Harvey, seven, Todd Starkey, six, Matt Steinhauer, four, and Marty Poljan, two.

Pinckney, like the Lincoln Railsplitters and Milan Big Reds, prefers a running game. Chelsea's task will be to slow the pace, something they've been successful at most of the season.

"I'm confident about Friday night," Rosentreter said.

"These kids have shown that they respond when their backs are against the wall."

In Tuesday's game, Bareis had his career-high point total as the Bulldogs had to struggle back from a 10-point deficit in the first quarter.

Rosentreter drew his first and second technical fouls of the season, within seconds of each other, while protesting a foul call too vigorously. It resulted in an eight-point play as the Mounties made the one-and-one, all four technical free throws, and scored on the in-bounds possession.

That sequence put the Dogs in a 10-point hole.

"Things started to change for us after that," Rosentreter said.

Spikers Finish Fourth In Southeastern Conf.

Chelsea's varsity volleyball team knocked off the Pinckney Pirates in their final league match of the season on Thursday, Feb. 26. To finish the season in fourth place with a 7-5 record.

"We improved tremendously from last year," said coach Karen Tobin. "Even though we moved up only one place in the standings, our record was much better and we were competitive in all our matches."

In other recent action, Chelsea lost in two games to Jackson Northwest, 8-15, and 13-15, and in two games to Tecumseh twice, 12-15 and 14-16, and 11-15, 12-15.

The Dogs also lost in two games to Dexter, 11-15 and 9-15, on Thursday, Feb. 19.

In the Pinckney contest, Chelsea won the first and third games, 15-3, but lost the second game, 17-19.

"This was a strange match as evidenced by the score," Tobin said.

"We won the first game fairly easily with Leah Enderle serving 11 points. In the second game we were ahead 10-4 when we lost our concentration and intensity and couldn't seem to finish off the game. I think we started standing around and waiting for someone else to do something. We had just played four games on Monday and I think we were having trouble keeping our heads in the game. In the third game we came back strong and put the Pirates away."

Trisha Mattoff got Chelsea off to a 4-0 lead in the third game, and the Bulldogs eliminated their mistakes from the second game.

Leading scorers were Enderle, 18 points, Mattoff, 11, Centilli and Angie DeFant, six each, Pam Brown, four, and Heidi Hosner, two.

The setters were Mary Lazarz, Cen-

"We started to take control."

However, by half-time, Chelsea was down 34-32.

After the Mounties scored the first field goal of the second half, Bareis scored seven straight points, giving Chelsea a 39-36 lead. From that point the Bulldogs never trailed as they outpointed the Mounties 17-5 in the quarter.

The Mounties, who shot 50 percent from the field for the night, pulled to within two points twice late in the game.

"We knew it was just a matter of holding on at the end," Rosentreter said.

Bareis looked like a man playing against boys, scoring almost at will. He shot 15-19 from the floor and 7-8 from the foul line.

"Mark played a great game, but I would have liked to have seen a little more balance," Rosentreter said.

Rounding out the scoring for Chelsea were Starkey and Steinhauer with eight points each, Poljan with four, Harvey and Lane with two each, and Greg Haist, one.

tilli and Enderle. Hitters were Beth Paddock, Kathryn Morgan, Hosner, DeFant, Ceia Murphy and Laura Walton.

Back row passers were Brown, Mattoff, Chris Basso and Shannon Dunn.

In the Tecumseh matches (one was a make-up due to an earlier snow-out), Chelsea played a good, close competitive match, according to Tobin.

"I was very happy with the way we played," Tobin said.

"We played strong defense and didn't allow Tecumseh to put the ball away against us. However, we had trouble with our offense and couldn't put the ball away against them either. We had spurts where we had trouble receiving the serve and that seemed to be our downfall."

In the first match, DeFant was the leading scorer with eight points. Lazarz and Hosner had six each, Enderle, three, Brown, two and Mattoff, one.

Chelsea came out strong in the second match to take a 6-0 lead in the first game but could not sustain the momentum.

"I was pleased with the way we played, even though we were not able to win," Tobin said.

"We seemed to be in a rut the last couple of weeks but we really put things together against Tecumseh. It was a well-played match."

Lazarz was the leading scorer with seven points, Hosner had five, DeFant, two, and Enderle, Brown and Centilli, one each.

The Dexter match was an important one for Chelsea as the teams were tied for second place at the time.

"Dexter seemed to come up with the big hit more often than we did," Tobin said.

"And we seemed to make our mistakes at more crucial times. Dexter might have had stronger motivation since we beat them the first time."

Serving by Lazarz was the highlight of the match for Chelsea as the senior scored 11 points on 16-18 serving.

Mattoff and DeFant each had three points, Centilli had two and Brown, one.

"We were disappointed to lose the first game and couldn't seem to come back," Tobin said.

Chelsea played a strong match against Northwest, ranked number 10 in the state.

The Bulldogs fell behind 14-4 in the first game but came back to close the gap.

"Northwest does some things that we hadn't seen much of all year and we got off to a slow start," Tobin said.

"They use some fakes and short sets on their hits and we had some trouble adjusting. We came out much stronger in the second game and played with much more confidence and more aggressively."

Chelsea took a 10-8 lead on five straight Hosner service points before losing the momentum and the lead.

Lazarz and Hosner led the team in scoring with six points each.

MARK BAREIS scored 17 points in last Friday night's losing effort against the Tecumseh Indians at home. Chelsea needs a victory this Friday at Pinckney to win the SEC title outright.

Pat Taylor Qualifies for State Wrestling Meet

Chelsea High school freshman Pat Taylor became the Bulldogs' lone entry in the class B state wrestling meet this week-end by taking fourth place at 105 pounds at the regional meet last Saturday in Tecumseh.

Senior co-captain Ron Bogdanski, at 126 pounds, was the only other Bulldog to reach the regionals, was knocked out via two one-point decisions to tough opponents.

"Pat's now in the top 16 in his weight class in the state," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"It's a fine accomplishment and quite an honor to go to the state meet, especially as a freshman."

Taylor, with a 21-10 record going into the tournament, won his first match over Michael Valentina of New Boston Huron by forfeit as Valentina failed to make weight.

That win put him in a bracket against Dexter's Todd Benson, whom Taylor beat the previous week in the district tournament. Taylor lost the match, 6-2, in overtime.

Dropping to the consolation bracket, Taylor pinned Lamar Ballinger of Hillsdale in 2:36. Ballinger, 28-8-2 going into the tournament, had pinned Taylor at the Hillsdale Invitational earlier in the season.

Taylor's next opponent was Chris Preston, of Riverview, who sported a 40-5 record going into the tournament. Taylor lost 5-4.

"Pat wants to wrestle and he likes it," Kargel said.

"I hope he can get off to a quick start and get a win early. I'd like to see Pat place in the top six."

Bogdanski, with a 30-8-1 record going into the tourney, pinned his first opponent, Matt Enoch of Allen Park, in 3:20.

However, in his next match Bogdanski was paired with Jeff Miazgowicz of Jefferson, the eventual champion, whose pre-tourney record was 41-7. Bogdanski lost the match, 4-3.

Dropping into the consolation bracket, Bogdanski faced Chad Watts of Albion, with a 25-4 record, whom he pinned earlier this season. Watts took a 10-9 decision and went on to take third place in the weight class.

"They were two real heartbreaking losses," Kargel said.

"I was really sorry to see that happen because Ron has worked so hard this season. But it just shows that when you get to this level you can't make mistakes."

The state meet takes place Friday and Saturday at Grand Valley State College.

"Once you've made the state meet, you keep that reputation with you the rest of your high school career," Kargel said.

"Everyone will be after Pat next year."

JV Cagers Drop Pair

Chelsea Bulldog JV basketball team took it on the chin last week with losses to the Tecumseh Indians on Friday, 58-55, and Jackson Northwest Mounties on Tuesday, 48-43.

The losses drop the Bulldogs' record to 6-5 in the Southeastern Conference and 10-9 over-all.

A bad third quarter in the Tecumseh game, in which the Bulldogs scored just four points on 2-12 shooting, was the key to the game, according to Chelsea coach Jeff Dils. Despite going into the fourth quarter 11 points down, the Bulldogs fought back to within a point.

"We had our chances late in the game but we couldn't convert," Dils said.

"We played a good fourth quarter but over-all played an average game."

Point guard Larry Nix guided the fourth-quarter rally as Jeff Marshall and Junior Morseau scored 18 of Chelsea's 22 points. Morseau finished with a team-high 20 points and Marshall had 17. Nix led the team with six assists.

Chelsea could have easily made up the three-point difference at the free throw line, where the Bulldogs made 13 of 22 tries.

"Tecumseh is a much better team than the first time we played them," Dils said.

Rounding out the scoring for Chelsea were Tim Anderson, eight points, Nix, four, John Collins, three, Phil Thomson, two, and David White, one.

Against the Mounties, Chelsea "had letdowns in key situations, especially in the third quarter," Dils said. Chelsea was behind the entire game, trailing by six points at the end of the first period and by four points at half-time.

"Our defense was fairly good. But when we have trouble it seems like it's in the third quarter and we dig too big a hole to get out of," Dils said.

Morseau and Nix were the only Bulldogs in double figures, with 16 and 12 points, respectively. Morseau was 10-10 at the foul line.

Other Bulldog scorers were Collins, eight points, Marshall, three, and Anderson and Beard, two each.

The final JV game is Friday at 6 p.m. at Pinckney. The Pirates have lost one game all season.

"It'll be a tough game, but we have the guys to upset them," Dils said.

No-Interest Disaster Loan Information Should Be Available

Local banks and Production Credit Associations should have received information by now on the details of the state's no-interest farm disaster loan program, according to Robert E. Smith, senior legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Smith said the program will be operated similar to last year's loan program for financially-distressed farmers.

"Farmers who will be seeking the weather disaster loans can go to their local ASCS office first. When they apply for the federal PIK assistance program, they will get the certified loss details that they will also need in order to apply for the state disaster program," he said.

Smith advised farmers to call their local banks to find out which ones are co-operating with the program, which will provide $200 million in no-interest loans with no repayment required for the first three years.

Monica Hansen swam her 100-yd. backstroke in the B division where she was 23rd, 1:30.72. In the 50-yd. breaststroke, she went :43.79 and placed 25th. Then she placed 30th in the 100-yd. butterfly, 1:37.80; and fourth in the 50-yd. freestyle, :34.08.

Melissa Thiel started the meet with a bang by winning the 100-yd. backstroke. Her time of 1:18.12 gave her an A division time in that event. Her next race was the 100-yd. butterfly where her 1:27.02 placed her 14th. She placed 15th in the 50-yd. freestyle, :31.72; 10th in the 200-yd. individual medley, 2:47.56; third in the 50-yd. butterfly, :34.31; seventh in the 100-yd. freestyle, 1:09.78.

Matt Montange started it off for the boys with a 17-second drop in the 100-yd. backstroke, 1:33.94, for 14th place. He was 14th again in the 50-yd. breaststroke, :42.74; 11th in the 50-yd. freestyle, :36.01.

Chris Gibson got his first "B" time in the 100-yd. backstroke by going 1:31.14 and placing ninth. He also went :42.80 in the 50-yd. breaststroke, eighth; :34.21 in the 50-yd. freestyle, fifth; and 3:08.99 in the 200-yd. individual medley, all good enough for "B" division cuts. He placed eighth in the 50-yd. backstroke, :43.52; fifth in the 50-yd. butterfly, :43.99; and sixth in the 100-yd. freestyle, 1:18.63.

Schiller placed 10th in the 100-yd. backstroke and made a "B" cut, 1:31.52; second in the 50-yd. breaststroke, :45.17; eighth in the 50-yd. freestyle, :35.12; 13th in the 200-yd. individual medley, 3:17.13; 27th in 50-yd. backstroke, :40.53; fourth in 50-yd. butterfly, :40.83; eighth in the 100-yd. freestyle, 1:19.71.

Joe Cesarz placed 27th in the 100-yd. backstroke, 1:27.36; third in 50-yd. breaststroke, :45.47; eighth in 50-yd. freestyle, :31.38.

Dana Schmunk was eighth in 100-yd. backstroke, 1:21.93; 12th in 100-yd. butterfly, 1:25.66; and 11th in 50-yd. freestyle, :31.54.

Steven Brock's 1:21.17 placed sixth in the 100-yd. backstroke. He was eighth in the 50-yd. breaststroke, :40.50; 17th in 100-yd. butterfly, 1:32.22; 18th in 50-yd. freestyle, :32.20.

Kevin Lane was 19th in 200-yd. individual medley, 3:37.17; 15th in 50-yd. backstroke, :46.45; 11th in 50-yd. butterfly, :50.87; 20th in 100-yd. freestyle, 1:34.16.

Brian Brock swam in the 13-18 age group where he placed ninth in the 100-yd. breaststroke, 1:18.61; ninth in the 200-yd. breaststroke, 2:39.70; 10th in the 50-yd. freestyle, :27.71; and ninth in the 100-yd. freestyle, 1:01.24.

Frustrated by coyote raids on their sheep and goats, some Texas ranchers are turning to an unlikely ally—the jackass. National Wildlife magazine reports that while donkeys won't kill coyotes, they do chase them away. So far, at least 100 ranchers have decided to give them a try. Still, only females need apply. Male donkeys are apparently too ornery to be trusted, and might even attack the animals they're supposed to guard.

DR. MARY BARKLEY

Dr. Mary Barkley Starts Practice in Orthodontics

Orthodontist Mary Barkley has taken over Dr. Dick Dijkman's practice in the Chelsea Professional Building as of Feb. 1.

Dr. Barkley graduated from the University of Michigan Dental School in 1984 and from the University of Detroit Dental School's graduate program in Orthodontics in 1986. Her undergraduate degree is in dental hygiene, but after working for four years in that field in an orthodontist's office, she decided she "needed something more" and so returned to school. In order to be admitted to dental school she had to first take undergraduate courses in sciences such as chemistry and physics.

Barkley grew up in the Flint area. She and her husband, a staff doctor at Henry Ford Hospital, live in Ann Arbor with their one-year-old son.

Barkley got to know Dr. Dijkman when she was working as a dental hygienist. Recently Dijkman told her he had too much work in Jackson, let alone Chelsea, and invited her to share his practice. She works in Chelsea Monday and Tuesday and works with Dijkman in Jackson on Thursday. She also works on Wednesday and Friday afternoons for Dr. Jack Mortell in Ann Arbor. Eventually Barkley would like to confine her practice to Chelsea, if it grows to the point that it can support her.

Barkley is sharing her office with David Swan, who was a classmate of hers in dental school, although the interest in the same space was a coincidence. Working with Barkley are Rene Weatherholt, receptionist and business manager, and Bonnie Howard, chair-side assistant.

Barkley says Chelsea reminds her of her hometown of Flushing, although Flushing is not as self-contained as Chelsea and does not have as nice a shopping area. She notes that both towns have a "Dancer's." Barkley says of Chelsea, "I like the feel, it feels like home."

Caring for a small child and starting a new practice does not leave Barkley much free time, but she does enjoy skiing, both in the water and on snow, when she gets the chance.

Free Shade Trees Offered

The National Arbor Day Foundation is giving 10 free shade trees to people who join the non-profit Foundation during March, 1987.

A Sugar Maple, Weeping Willow, Red Oak, Green Ash, Thornless Honeylocust, Pin Oak, Sycamore, Tuliptree, European Mountainash, and Red Maple tree will be given as part of the Foundation's campaign to encourage tree planting.

These trees were selected because they provide flowers, berries and nuts, in addition to shade and beauty, according to John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director.

The Foundation will give the 10 free trees to members contributing $10 during March. The six-to-twelve inch trees will be shipped this spring between March 1 and May 31 when conditions are right for planting. They will be sent with enclosed planting instructions, and are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free by the Foundation.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, a $10 membership contribution should be sent to Ten Shade Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, Neb. 68410, postmarked by March 31.

For the first time, The National Earthquake Prediction Evaluation Council has endorsed the prediction of a specific quake. International Wildlife magazine reports that the federal panel agrees with scientists that chances are very good that a moderate quake will strike near Parkfield, Calif. by 1993.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I am the athletic trainer at Chelsea
High school and thought you might be interested in a small recruiting "war" over a student-athlete of Chelsea High. Well, maybe not a student-athlete as such, but one who has contributed greatly to our athletic program during her four years here.

Her name is Kirsten Erickson and she has been a student trainer here since her freshman year. Now the time has come for her to continue her education at a school of higher education in the state. She has been accepted to both Albion and Hillsdale Colleges, which says something in itself of her academic achievement.
But the interesting part comes when both find out she has been a student trainer for four years.

I won't go into any of the heavy recruiting done, but suffice it to say that Kirsten will be a student trainer at Hillsdale College in the fall of 1987.

I couldn't be prouder of her and wish her the best of luck.

I'm not just writing this to brag about Kirsten's accomplishments, but to also point out that there are other high schoolers active in the athletic scene who aren't always recognized.
Whether they're student trainers, managers, or statisticians, they are an integral part of the successes at Chelsea High. And Kirsten's acceptance to Hillsdale College and their student trainer program shows this.

Maybe you could possibly find some time to acknowledge these students and all they have done for the athletic teams at Chelsea High school, and those who will continue to do so for colleges and universities after graduation.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, March 2, were Dils, Grau, Redding, Comeau, Satterthwaite, Cherem, Wales, superintendent Van Meer, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Larson, community education director Rogers, special education director DeYoung, athletic director Reed, curriculum director Bissell, guests.

Board approved the minutes of the Feb. 16 meeting.

Entered as official communications were: letter from George Carter, secretary, Chelsea Rod & Gun Club, asking for the board's support of their appeal for property tax-exempt status; letter from Mary-etta Betz, Parent Advisory Committee, WISD, indicating their support of a common calendar for the Washtenaw county schools.

The board presented a certificate of appreciation to Kathy Thompson in recognition of her involvement with the Safety Town program at the elementary schools.

Assistant superintendent Fred Mills reviewed with the board, as an information item, a resolution to borrow $1,100,000 in anticipation of operating tax collection for the year to end June 30, 1988, due and payable Dec. 1, 1987, to pay for operating expenses for the 1987-88 school year. The district needs to borrow approximately $3,000,000; however, because of the expiring levy of 20.5 mills, the board will be limited to $1,100,000 at this time and will have to borrow later when the operating millage is renewed.

President Dils discussed the superintendent evaluation process. All board members individually evaluate the superintendent's performance and give their written appraisal to the board president, who makes a composite and reviews it with superintendent Van Meer. Based on that performance, the Personnel Committee will make contractual recommendations to the Board of Education.

Athletic director Larry Reed presented a report pertaining to the investigation of a soccer program in the district. Reed outlined the number of sports, by season, and participants in the Chelsea schools. Using information compiled by the Michigan High School Athletic Association and surrounding area athletic directors, Reed prepared a cost analysis of a soccer program. Board members indicated they would like Reed to prepare for them a sports analysis based on cost and participation. Reed indicated that presently some program needs exist for the 1987-88 school year. He indicated a position of sports trainer, and a girls' golf team ranks high in consideration. At this time he does not place the soccer program in a priority listing.

Superintendent Van Meer briefed the board on legislative action, indicating that the State Board of Education, because of the recent Attorney General's opinion, had indicated that students must attend school 180 days, and that snow days would have to be made up if students did not have 180 days of instruction. Van Meer also discussed the $170,000,000 windfall to the State of Michigan which probably will be rebated to Michigan residents by reducing the income tax from 4.6% to 4.4%. Van Meer felt that, in many cases, this would be less than $1 per week, and that the money would have better served the purposes of unmet educational needs.

Board president Dils reviewed the Board of Education committee structure, indicating that superintendent Van Meer had provided the board with a survey of area Boards of Education reflecting their standing and select committees. After discussion, the board felt they would keep the Committees of Finance, Personnel, Curriculum, and Communications/Public Relations. They will draft, however, a statement of purpose for each committee.

Troops Enjoy Warm Winter Camp

Brownie Troop 144 and Junior Troop 58, both from South school, spent the week-end of Feb. 6-8 at Girl Scout Camp Linden. The girls were very busy working on their Arts/Dabbler badge and enjoying the nice warm weather.

The Juniors were also helping their "sister troop" of Brownies learn about "Bridging" into Junior Scouts.

This May the Brownies will be flying up into Juniors.

Saturday night was highlighted by a "60's party" where the moms and leaders shared their clothes, music, and dances with their daughters. Since this is Girl Scouting's 75th Anniversary Year, the scouts are trying to learn things about the times when their moms and grandmothers were girls.

Members of Troop 144 are Angie Bell, Amy Jo Blonde, Carrie Buss, Amy Burby, Kelly Bowers, Lesley Davis, Jocelyn Dohner, Tracy Dufek, Nicole Fite, Melissa Hand, Jessie Inwood, Jeannine Mouilleseaux, Noelle Niedermeier, Ruth Neustifter, Melanie O'Connor, and Heather Sayer. Their leaders are Kathy Buss and Jan Dohner.

TRACY IS BACK HOME after reconstructive surgery.

Vets' Surgery Skills Save Injured Dog

Following some extraordinary surgical work and loving care at Lane Animal Hospital, an eight-year-old golden retriever, Tracy, is back home on Waterloo Rd., enjoying farm life again.

Tracy was struck in the head by a car on a misty night in late October. Her skull was fractured and her entire snout was broken off. Tracy's owners, Bill and Sandy Thomas, thought that she was dead. When they discovered that she was still breathing, they called Lane Animal Hospital, and a few minutes later were met there by Dr. Bowers.

After getting Tracy stabilized, Dr. Bowers, with the assistance of his son, performed the initial three-hour surgery to re-attach the snout. This type of major reconstructive surgical procedure has been performed only rarely by veterinarians before, and it required that Dr. Bowers reassemble the bone fragments and wire the jaw back together.

Drs. Bowers and Tremper had to operate on their patient three more times to remove bone fragments that did not heal.

For seven weeks, Tracy, her snout wired shut, was fed by the staff at Lane through a plastic tube which had been surgically implanted.

The long, healing process is now completed, and Tracy is back home with her family. Although she has only the use of one nostril, she now eats and breathes normally. "This was an extraordinary veterinary job," the Thomases said. "We did not think that Tracy could be saved. We feel very fortunate to have such highly competent veterinarians here in Chelsea."

Estleman Chosen for Award in Literature

Michigan Foundation for the Arts has selected Dexter area writer Loren D. Estleman to be the recipient of its 1987 award for excellence in literature.

Each year the foundation honors five Michigan residents who have contributed significantly to the arts in the categories of art, literature, theater, photography, and patronage. The awards ceremony will take place Thursday, March 5, at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

In addition, four of Estleman's novels are currently being reissued in paperback and have begun to appear in area bookstores. These include "Every Brilliant Eye" and "Angel Eyes," featuring Detroit private detective Amos Walker; "Roses Are Dead," featuring Peter Macklin, a professional killer who works in Detroit; and "Murdock's Law," a western featuring Page Murdock, a deputy U.S. marshal in 1879 Montana.

Estleman is a 1970 graduate of Dexter High school and a former staff writer for The Dexter Leader.

Marcus Pletcher Nominated for Naval Academy

Marcus B. Pletcher of Ridge Rd. has received a nomination to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland by Congressman Carl Pursell.

Pursell's nomination was based on a number of criteria, including the recommendation of his citizen advisory panel, which interviewed candidates from throughout the Second District.

Although Pursell makes nominations, the academy makes the final decision. Students given final approval will begin their academy careers in July.

Auto Stolen By Waterloo Camp Inmates

Henry Risner of 5993 Clear Lake Rd., Grass Lake, had his '77 blue Buick stolen by two escapees from Waterloo Camp. State police have recovered the car but say Risner has to pay the $63 towing charge in order to reclaim it.

Friday night, Feb. 20, Risner went to bed about 1:30 a.m. When he awoke the next morning, his car was gone. He later learned it had been stolen by two convicts from the Waterloo Camp, who had escaped about 3:30 by putting a blanket over the camp's fence.

Risner's home is across the street from the camp. The convicts found Risner's car keys, which he had hidden underneath the car seat, and drove to Jackson. In Jackson they abandoned the car. Someone saw them switching cars and followed them to Leoni township where they were caught.

Meanwhile Risner's car was towed to Jimmy's, a garage outside Jackson, for fingerprinting and examination of evidence. Risner has been told by the Jackson State Police post that he can retrieve his car by picking it up at Jimmy's and paying the towing charge.

Asked if this was the normal policy, making the victim pay, the state police answered, "Who else is going to pay?" When it was suggested that the convicts who stole the car could be held liable for costs, the police replied, "How do you get blood from a turnip?"

One-half of all pneumonia cases are caused by viruses. The rest are caused by bacteria. Pneumococcal pneumonia is the most common serious form of bacterial pneumonia and the one most likely to require hospitalization. The average stay is about 9.6 days at a cost of $2,000-$3,000. Three-fourths of pneumococcal pneumonia patients lost 10 working days.

COMM. JAMES D. MAYNARD (RET.)

Comm. James Maynard Starting New Career With American Airlines

James D. Maynard, a former Chelsea resident, is beginning a new career with American Airlines after retiring as a commander from the Navy with 20 years of service.

Maynard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. DeVere Maynard of North Lake and a 1962 graduate of Chelsea High school. He graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md. in 1966. More recently, in 1986, he received a MBA from Golden Gate University.

Maynard served as a Navy pilot, flying the Gruman A-6 Intruder from the carriers Ranger and Enterprise in Vietnam. Other tours included staff officer for commander in chief U. S. Naval Forces Europe in England; operations officer for attack squadron 35, flying from the USS Nimitz; flight instructor in Pensacola, Fla.; and strike operations officer on the USS Independence.

Maynard's last assignment was on the staff of the supreme allied commander Atlantic in Norfolk, Va., one of the three major military commands in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

On his retirement, Maynard was awarded the Defense Meritorious Service Medal for exemplary performance of duty.

After completing his training with American Airlines, Maynard plans to make his home in the Washington, D.C. area. He is married to the former Margit Cleary of Ann Arbor. She is a speech pathologist with the Fairfax, Va. school system.

During fiscal year 1985, the Office of Veteran's Re-employment Rights in the U.S. Department of Labor continued to increase its efforts to provide re-employment assistance to veterans, reservists, and members of the National Guard and reflected a continued increase in the program's compliance, according to the department's annual report for fiscal year 1985.

Explosion Rocks House As Firemen Battle Blaze

Chelsea firemen escaped serious injury while battling a house fire at North Lake on Tuesday, Feb. 17 when an explosion blew out windows of the home.

According to Chelsea Fire Chief Bud Harker, firefighters Bill Paul and Don Dettling entered the home at 13851 Sauer Dr. and within 30 seconds realized they were in trouble because the fire was almost out of oxygen. They got out of the house before the rush of air from opening the front door could cause the explosion.

"I've been here 30 years and I've never seen one blow," Harker said. "And I'd just as soon never see one again. We were lucky we didn't lose a couple of firemen."

Harker said the explosion blew over a ladder that another fireman was preparing to use to climb onto the house to saw a ventilating hole.

Firemen were on the scene at 1:52 p.m., 15 minutes after the fire was reported by Mrs. R. S. Wilson, resident of the home. Dexter Area Fire Department assisted.

Q: On my last dental visit the dentist had me fill out a health questionnaire. One of the questions had to do with having a heart murmur—why is that important? I have had a slight heart murmur since I was a child but my doctor says not to worry about it.

A: Your doctor is probably right. Most heart murmurs have little effect on your over-all health. However, certain types of heart murmurs, those with an organic cause, require special precautions when having dental work.

Heart murmurs are caused by a disturbance in the flow of blood through the heart. Many people have a heart murmur as a child and some women develop a murmur during pregnancy due to the increased workload on the heart. For the most part these are termed "functional" heart murmurs and are of little consequence. Other murmurs may be the result of some damage to the heart valves like that which can result from rheumatic heart disease, and others are caused by mitral valve prolapse or a "floppy" heart valve. These "organic" heart murmurs concern your dentist for the following reasons:

Everybody has bacteria present in their mouth and saliva. Whenever you have some dental work done including routine cleanings, there is usually some type of bleeding or hemorrhage from your gum tissues. The result is that some of the bacteria in your mouth find their way into your blood stream. If there is a disturbance of the flow of blood through your heart then little areas of stagnant blood can pool, sort of like the backwater in a stream. These stagnant areas are a perfect place for bacteria to congregate and multiply and can result in a very serious heart infection called bacterial endocarditis. The bottom line is that the American Heart Association has recommended prophylactic antibiotic coverage for dental work for patients with these types of murmurs and certain other conditions including prosthetic heart valves or congenital heart defects.

If you are one of these patients then as a preventative measure your dentist will prescribe a small dose of penicillin or erythromycin, usually one dose before your dental appointment and one dose after in order to stop any complications before they start. If you have any questions about the needs for such premedication ask your family doctor—and don't forget to alert your family dentist!

Belarus tractor buyers guide series fact no. 1

Belarus tractors are known as amazingly fuel efficient

They're called the "fuel-misers." One farmer said his new 70 hp Belarus Model 500 tractor saved him $600 worth of fuel the first year—so, he bought a second one—and then said he was running his two Belarus 500s on the same amount of fuel he was putting through the tractor he traded off.

Another owner reported his 165 hp Belarus 1500 tractor saved enough fuel cost in a year to pay for a nice family vacation.

Such fuel efficiency is verified by the Nebraska Tractor Tests. Three Belarus models won their hp class in fuel efficiency tests. All 11 Belarus diesel models—29 to 300 hp—surprise their owners in fuel efficiency.

Belarus tractor buyers guide series fact no. 2

Belarus costs less to buy, to own and operate.

If you are looking at used tractors, you probably can buy a new Belarus diesel tractor for what you'd pay for a four or five-year-old model of another brand. PLUS ... you'd have a new Belarus tractor warranty instead of facing repair or overhaul bills on a used tractor.

It's a fact that Belarus tractors sell for less ... and that means less in finance charges, to boot. With Belarus you are not paying for a lot of fancy frills and racey design features that may be eye-catching, but do not contribute to work performance, add to work power.

The features and components built into Belarus tractors are there for good reasons—durable, economical work-power and easy, quick repair and maintenance. Many farmers, after buying their first Belarus, came back for their second, third and fourth Belarus.

Historical Society Granted Pierce Cemetery Trusteeship

Pierce Cemetery, a 19th century burial ground which holds the grave of one of Chelsea's founders, the Hon. Nathan Pierce, is in good hands under the care of the Chelsea Historical Society. Located on the east side of Old Chelsea-Manchester Rd., the cemetery is about the size of a house lot. It consists of 26 tombstones, some of which are broken, some embedded in the ground; one is leaning against the fence. Not all are marked.

Nathan Pierce settled in Sylvan township in 1832, having purchased 320 acres in the area around the present intersection of M-52 and Old US-12. A settlement called Pierceville developed there which included a blacksmith shop, a doctor's office, a general store, and a post office.

Nathan Pierce's house, which still stands at 14300 Old US-12, next to St. Paul church (it is the oldest house in Sylvan township) was the center of village life. Because it stood on the road to Chicago, travelers often spent the night there. One morning such a visitor failed to get up, having died of cholera during the night. Nathan Pierce decided that since the man was a guest in his house, he had an obligation to bury him and thus started Pierce Cemetery.

Once established, the Pierce family used the cemetery to inter their own dead. The last burial was in 1909 when Emily Pierce, a maiden daughter of Nathan Pierce, died.

Nathan Pierce was born in 1790 in Berkshire county, Mass., and later moved to Ontario county, N. Y. with his family. He was educated at the common schools and spent two terms at the Canadagau Academy.

The Pierce family was Scotch-Irish but had been in America a long time. Nathan Pierce's grandfather had raised and commanded a militia unit in the Revolutionary War.

Nathan Pierce was drafted in the War of 1812 and fought in the battle of Queenstown, N. Y. He was taken prisoner and jailed at Fort George but was soon released.

In 1814, Nathan Pierce's father died. As the oldest of a family of four boys and four girls, Pierce took over the running of the family's 450-acre farm. He also took over his father's offices of justice of the peace and supervisor.

In 1817 he married Amy Aldrich. The 1881 Washtenaw County History describes her as "one of those sweet and amiable characters who pass through life ministering to the wants of others with but little thought of themselves." Amy and Nathan had seven children.

According to the County History, Nathan Pierce resolved to try his fortune as a western pioneer "after pursuing various undertakings and meeting with considerable misfortune." The book does not elaborate on what these misfortunes might have been, but it would seem they were not too serious a financial nature since, after an exploratory trip in 1831, Nathan Pierce returned to Michigan and bought three parcels of land, one in St. Joseph county, one in Calhoun county, and a third, the one already mentioned, in Sylvan township. Of the Sylvan farm, the County History says, "after 12 years, he converted a wilderness into a fine and fruitful farm."

Nathan's brother Darius accompanied him west and also bought several parcels of land, settling on an adjoining farm in Lima township.

Nathan Pierce became active in civic affairs, serving as county supervisor and then as a state representative and state senator. He attended every state constitutional convention held in his lifetime. Originally an old line Whig, he subsequently became a radical Republican. He earned the nickname "old boots" because he walked to the legislative sessions, then held in Detroit.

The County History describes Nathan Pierce as of "gigantic stature, possessing a strong will, and noted for his integrity and purity of life."

In 1844 Nathan Pierce moved to Calhoun county and his son Hiram took over the management of the Sylvan township farm.

Nathan Pierce died in 1862 of paralysis and was buried in the family plot. His gravestone inscription, which is a favorite of Harold Jones who has done much of the research on the cemetery, reads:

Oh, what is human life?

How like the dials slowly moving shade

Day after day slides from us unperceived

Too subtle is the movement to be seen

Yet soon the hour is up and all is gone.

In the early days there were several settlements in Sylvan township, any one of which could have become the business center. Besides Pierceville, there was a settlement on Darius Pierce's farm called Kedron, there was Davison Station also known as Gunnville, there was Sylvan Center, and also a settlement near where the Vermont cemetery is located.

The matter was settled when James and Eliza Congdon, the first settlers in Chelsea, managed, in 1850, to get the railroad station built on their land, thus ensuring the present Chelsea downtown as the township's commercial center. To further solidify their position, the Congdons bought the land of Pierceville postmaster, Albert Holt, and the Pierceville physician, Dr. Steward, as well as the land of two other Pierceville residents, all of whom moved into Chelsea. Eventually Pierceville entirely disappeared.

However, decedents of Nathan Pierce continued to live in the area and maintain the Pierce cemetery, Alma Pierce, who died in 1950, left a $1,500 legacy for its maintenance. She also donated the land for Pierce Park which is just north of the original family house.

Carl J. Mayer was the first trustee of the cemetery trust, followed by Paul Pierce. The last trustee, Lois Lantis of Grass Lake, wanting to make sure the cemetery was well taken care of asked the Chelsea Historical Society to take over. On Oct. 15, 1985, the Probate Court officially transferred the trust, which because of accrued interest, had almost doubled since 1950.

According to the president of the Historical Society, Marge Hepburn, when the Society first took over the maintenance of the cemetery "Many people did not even know it was there because it was so overgrown." Society members have been working on cutting down the brush and digging out the grapevines which covered the fence. A person has been hired to keep it mowed. Later this fall, Society members will rake the leaves, as they did last year.

Future plans include fixing broken headstones, planting flowers, and setting up an historical marker. Eventually, Mrs. Hepburn would like, after consulting with the Pierce family on the style, to replace the fence and gate.

Tax Relief Available From Public Act 116

May, 1987 will mark the 13th anniversary of Public Act 116, the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act. This may sound "unlucky" to some, but if the new federal tax law has been "unlucky" for you, and you are not enrolled in P.A. 116, it might be a way to help your tax situation.

The Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act will not directly affect your federal tax burden, but will affect your Michigan State Income Tax and thus your total tax bill. The Act covers both farmland and open spaces, (only farmland will be discussed here), and provides tax relief to an owner of farmland as long as the owner agrees to keep the land in a substantially undeveloped condition. To receive benefits, a landowner enters into a development rights agreement with the State of Michigan. These agreements are designed to ensure that the land remains in a particular use for an agreed upon period.

Under a development rights agreement, a landowner will pay property taxes as before, but any amount by which the owner's property tax on the farmland under agreement exceeds 7% of the owner's household income, becomes a credit applied toward the owner's state income tax. If the credit is larger than the income tax owed, then the excess is refunded by direct payment to the owner.

In addition, land under a farmland agreement is exempted from special assessments for sanitary sewers, water, lights or non-farm drainage unless the assessments were imposed prior to the recording of the agreement.

To obtain these benefits, what are the landowner's responsibilities under a farmland development rights agreement? Non-farm structures may not be built on the land; an improvement on the land shall not be made or any interest in the land sold except for a scenic access or utility easement which would not change the character of the land without state approval. The primary purpose of P.A. 116 is to preserve farmland so the development rights agreement restricts any non-farm development.

Farmland eligible for participation in P.A. 116 must fall under one of three size and/or income categories: (1) a farm of 40 acres or more in size; (2) a farm of 5 to 40 acres with a gross annual income of $200 per cleared and tillable acre; (3) or a specialty farm of at least 15 acres, designated as a specialty farm by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and with a gross annual income of $2,000 or more. In categories (1) and (2), at least 51% of the land in an application must be under active cultivation or fenced pasture. The land does not have to be one contiguous area.

An agreement runs a minimum of 10 years. It can be set-up for a longer period and may be renewed if the owner desires. If the land is sold, the development rights agreement stays with the property and subsequent owners. Also, the covered land cannot be divided into smaller parcels and sold. The acreage must stay intact for the length of the agreement.

At the end of the 10 years (or any length of the agreement) a landowner has two options. One, the agreement may be renewed for another 10 or more years. The owner pays nothing, retains the same tax benefits mentioned before and may sell the land if necessary, if the new owner continues under the agreement. Option two, lets the agreement terminate. If this happens, all credits received during the last seven years of the agreement must be repaid without interest. This is assessed in the form of a lien against the property, payable if and when the land is developed or sold. This lien is discharged if the landowner decides to re-enter the program.

So you think Public Act 116 may benefit you—how do you apply? Application forms are obtained from your township clerk. Return your completed application to the clerk who then sends a copy to the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission and the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District. These two agencies review the application and send their recommendations to the township board, who then reviews the application and approves or disapproves it. If approved, it is forwarded to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for review and if approved prepares an agreement with you directly. There is an appeal procedure if an application is rejected.

If you are looking for tax relief, the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act may be an answer. In addition, your farmland can be preserved for future generations.

For more information on the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act, contact the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District, 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor, 761-6721.

During fiscal year 1985, the Labor Department's Office of Labor-Management Standards closed 460 embezzlement cases involving all types and sizes of unions located throughout the country, according to the department's 1985 annual report.

★ Beware of the Ides of March

February and March are the most depressing months of the farm calendar. Nothing has greened up yet. It's cold, damp and windy and farm yards are all mud puddles. Farmers worry about finding money to plant the next crop, and before it's even in the ground, someone tells them it won't be worth anything.

Politicians know this is the very best time of the year to propose farm legislation. They've got the farmer's ear before he's busy with spring planting and so, like the March winds, there comes a gust out of Washington.

It's no different this year. Iowa Senator Harkin has announced his intention to introduce the "Save the Family Farm Act," and in the gray light of winter's end, by golly, the farm looks like it needs saving. Were it so easy!

There is no magic formula in Harkin's bill. It's more government planning, the same kind of central planning we've laughed at the Soviets for doing. It applies 1930 Depression era farm solutions to the problems of the 1980s. Some leading Democrats and most Republicans are skeptical of mandatory production and marketing controls are envisioned in this plan. Mainstream agriculture doesn't support it.

But those who disagree with the Harkin plan are often quiet; it's as though they have become conditioned to all the negative talk and political promises, especially at this time of year.

To quote Shakespeare's Caesar, "I hear a tongue shriller than all music."

And it was the Soothsayer who responded, "Beware of the Ides of March."

★ Good News About Flu In Michigan . . .

It's the cold and flu season again and so far seven states including Colorado, Connecticut, Minnesota, Oregon, Texas, Washington and Wyoming have reported widespread outbreaks. You will note, there's no mention of Michigan. And, that's good news.

Although there has been no evidence of extensive influenza activity in Michigan, influenza A has been isolated in Berrien, Houghton, Kent and Washtenaw counties. These isolates have been from children and young adults and were characterized as influenza viruses. Only the isolate from Berrien county was associated with widespread illness and resulted in the closure of schools in Berrien Springs.

But, unfortunately, we are only about mid-point in the flu season and may still experience outbreaks. So, it's probably a good idea to review flu symptoms and treatment.

If you develop chills and fever, dry cough and muscular aches, you probably have influenza. In addition, you may have a headache and just generally feel sick all over.

My advice—go to bed. Bedrest helps the body to recover. Drinking a lot of fluids will help replace body fluids lost from fever and a cough suppressant may help you sleep better. And, just give it time.

Also, if you have prolonged symptoms or develop problems that aren't generally associated with influenza—difficulty in breathing, severe headache, etc., call your physician. You may need medication to treat secondary infections.

To help avoid contracting flu I suggest staying away from people infected with influenza who may cough or sneeze spreading germs, and don't use their personal belongings.

Arrangements are being handled by Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel.

The influenza and pneumococcal vaccines are generally well tolerated, as with most vaccinations, a common reaction with pneumonia vaccine is redness and soreness at the injection site. This usually lasts under 48 hours. Less frequently a hard, lump-like spot may appear in the area of the injection, or occasionally a fever of less than 100.9 degrees Fahrenheit and lasting no more than 24 hours may occur. High fever has been reported in rare cases. More serious long lasting reaction and serious allergic reaction are unusual.

Those at highest risk for pneumonia are people over 65, those who suffer from chronic disease (like lung disease, diabetes, heart disease, kidney disease or alcoholism) and those who already have influenza.

Career Awareness Program Starts in Schools

Jacqueline Parks Andrews, director of Educators Collaborative for Unemployment Services (ECUS), announced the start of the Career Awareness program in 17 schools within Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

Aimed at qualified ninth- and tenth-grade youth, the program is designed to help participants prepare for future employment through vocational assessment, an individually structured learning plan and the development of personal and career decision-making skills.

In addition, the program has begun at the Regional Career and Technical Center, which includes Lincoln, Willow Run and Ypsilanti High schools, the South and West Vocational Consortium, serving Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan and Saline school districts, the Whitmore Lake district, and Brighton, Fowlerville, Hartland, Howell and Pinckney in the Livingston Intermediate school district.

"These kids tend to have few, positive job or career-related role models," explained Andrews, who says the Career Awareness program is intended to be a preventive, rather than remedial, approach to developing good work habits in our youth.

In all, 170 students will receive benefits from this program, resulting from a funding budget of nearly $107,000.

Andrews also notes the federally-funded program is unique in that its services are being co-ordinated by ECUS across both counties.

YOUNG-HO SHIN, the six-year-old Korean boy staying with Dona and Robert Baird while he recovers from open heart surgery, was regaled Wednesday, Feb. 25 with a Korean feast provided by Kun Ko and Byang Ko, owners of the Kana restaurant in Ann Arbor. Sharing the food were Young-Ho's U. S. classmates, the two first grade classes at North Elementary school. Shown in the picture, along with the students, are Dona Baird, principal Bill Wescott, teacher Beverly Peebles, Byang Ko, Kun Ko, Korean dancer Myung-Rye, her mother-in-law, first grade teacher Barbara Emorey, the dancer's daughter Esther Choi and Young-Ho Shin. Dona Baird is the Ann Arbor area chair for the Heal the Children program, a group which provides temporary homes for foreign children who need medical treatment not available in their own countries. People interested in volunteering should call Dona at 475-1430.
