Rowe, Andrew Houle (background), Ashley Olberg, Laura Saarinen and Valerie Schiller. Most are in Nancy McKinnon's class for four-year-olds in the Community Education Preschool Program.

A NINE-DAY-OLD BELGIAN HORSE was part of a show and tell for three-year-old preschoolers at South school last Thursday, March 26. The horse, born St.

Patrick's Day, was named Patty. From left are teacher Marsha Hansen, Rod Powers, owner of the animal, Katie Dixon and Lindsay Powers.

Deacon Cesarz Drowns in Lake Michigan Accident

Richard Edward Cesarz, deacon of St. Mary's Catholic church, drowned last Wednesday after a wave knocked him off a Lake Michigan pier near Frankfort.

Coast Guard personnel speculated that hip waders Cesarz was wearing filled up quickly with water. That, combined with cold, early-spring waters, probably prevented him swimming to shallower water.

Cesarz, 45, was found in 12 feet of water at 7:15 p.m. by divers from the Grand Traverse County Sheriff's Department, about 2½ hours after the accident.

According to Benzie county deputies, Cesarz had been fishing from the Elberta Pier when the large wave swept him off the pier.

Norman Gleason, 71, a Frankfort resident, witnessed the accident and notified the Coast Guard.

Police said Cesarz was not wearing a flotation device. Cesarz, his wife Kathleen, and his children, came to Chelsea in 1978 from Detroit. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus Council 3096, past president of the Chelsea Ministerial Association, and a member of the Board of Directors of Faith in Action of Chelsea.

RICHARD E. CESARZ

Cesarz was ordained a deacon on June 18, 1980 at St. Mary's Cathedral in Lansing. He held the degree master of theological studies from St. John's Provincial Seminary in Plymouth. He was a full-time pastoral minister.

Kathleen is expecting the couple's sixth child in two months.

Other survivors include five children, Eileen, 22, Joseph, 11, Naomi, 9, Esther, 7, and Luke, 4; his mother, Mildred Cesarz Jenkins, of Holiday, Fla.; his mother-in-law Jean Selby; and a brother, Curt, of Saginaw.

Mass of the Resurrection was held Saturday, March 28 at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Catholic church, with concelebrants the Most Rev. Kenneth J. Povish, bishop of the Archdiocese of Lansing, the Rev. Fr. Phillip Dupuis of St. Mary's Catholic church, and priests and fellow deacons of the Archdiocese of Lansing.

Parish scripture services were held Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the church, and a Knights of Columbus Rosary was recited Friday evening at 9 p.m., also at the church. He was buried in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

Time To Set Clocks Ahead

Time to "Spring Ahead" by setting the clocks an hour faster during the wee hours of Sunday morning, April 5. This year, the time change will occur on the first Sunday of April, rather than the final Sunday of April on which the change took place in previous years.

When the hands of the clock indicate 2 a.m., it's officially time to push those hands one hour ahead.

If you're a bit sleeper when roused for church services on Sunday, or for other daily routines, you'll recover again quickly.

Throughout the spring and summer months, Michigan will once again observe eastern daylight savings time.

Spring Break Starts Friday After School

Chelsea School District's spring break begins after school this Friday, April 3.

The break lasts one week. Students will return to school on Monday, April 13.

Water Run-off Problems Delay Plans for Mall Proposed By Polly's Market

You could say Mike Kennedy is between a pond and a wet place.

Kennedy, manager of Polly's Market, has been trying to develop land next to the grocery store and behind Great Lakes Federal Savings on M-52 into Chelsea's first shopping center. It would be approximately 45,000 square feet when completed.

The land is zoned properly for the development and by all rights Kennedy should be able to construct a mall in the Chelsea area before anyone else.

However, one obstacle after another keeps popping up, the latest having to do with proper drainage of the proposed mall.

Storm water from Polly's Market and Great Lakes Federal Savings drains into a pond just south of the bank. The pond appears to have substantial capacity for additional run-off.

However, complicating the problem is that a three-foot-wide culvert, which apparently was designed to handle the run-off from the pond, has been filled in. The culvert runs under M-52 to right in front of Chelsea Lanes.

The culvert was apparently filled in when Chelsea Lanes was built in the early 1960s. It belongs to the state

Fair Board Discusses New Bleachers

New bleachers for the fair were a main topic of discussion at the Chelsea Community Fair Board meeting Thursday, March 26. It was reported there will be some new bleachers.

The fair also voted to become a dues-paying member of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was called to order by President Bill Stoffer. Other officers in attendance were Ed Whitaker, vice-president, and Mary Ann Guenther, secretary.

Directors in attendance were Archie Bradbury, Richard Bollinger, Jim Dault, Jerry Herrick, John Klink, Don Koenigter, Charles Koenig, Jeff Layher, Mark Lesser, Reuben Lesser, Jr., Ken McCalla, Harold Trinkle, Walt Zeeb, Tom Smith and reporter John Wellnitz.

There were no guests. The minutes of the February meeting were read and accepted. The treasurer's report was reviewed briefly and accepted.

Under old business, the audit of the treasurer was reviewed and rated "excellent." Bradbury gave a brief report on the Livestock Committee. The tractor pulls were also discussed.

Another meeting was held Thursday, March 19 to talk over problems and other matters with the superintendents. Only a few complaints were lodged. There were many compliments and praise for the 1986 fair.

highway department, according to Assistant Village Manager Lee Fahrner. Fahrner said the highway department wouldn't normally allow a culvert to be plugged, if they were aware of it.

Chelsea Lanes sits right on the land where the culvert was originally designed to take the water, Fahrner said. So it's just not a case of unplugging the culvert. The water would probably have to be routed around the Chelsea Lanes development.

"How can they make us correct mistakes that were made in the past by someone else?" Kennedy wants to know.

"What are they trying to do to me?" Kennedy appears to have few options. If he keeps the site as it is, he'll need a retention pond that will eat up most of the available space for the mall, he said, leaving him with enough space for one building.

Land all around the site is owned partially by Rene Papo, who has had his own problems trying to build a mall on another site near I-94. A small lake several hundred feet behind the store would be an ideal place to dump the water. However, Papo said he is not likely to help Kennedy construct a mall before he does by allowing drain pipe to be built across his property.

Fahrner said it was also unlikely that Papo could be ordered to have the drain built to the lake because the whole history of storm water run-off has it moving to the west. The lake is east of Polly's Market.

The best solution appears to be to for Kennedy to petition the Washtenaw County Drain Commission to set up a drainage district, which Fahrner has encouraged him to do. Fahrner said the village has agreed to endorse the petition, as has the highway department.

If a drainage district is established, those who would benefit from the improved drainage would be assessed for the project cost. That means Kennedy would pick up a big share of the cost.

"I would think he would have a good chance with the drain commission with the village and the highway department joining him," Fahrner said.

The village's position is that Kennedy has to show how the storm water run off problems will be solved before he'll be allowed to start construction.

"We're not trying to hold him up," Fahrner said.

"But we have to know there will be no adverse impact downstream and off site. A mall can generate a lot of runoff and there has to be an outlet for that pond. I can understand why he's upset being caught in the middle of it."

Fire Department Has Busy Day

Sunday proved to be a busy day for the Chelsea Fire Department. The department made nearly half of its runs for the entire week within a space of eight hours.

The first call was to put out a grass fire at Waterloo and Werkner Rds. at 12:51 p.m.

From there the department responded to a paper fire at a car wash on M-52 at 4:53, a dumpster fire at 5:34, a heart attack victim at 6:00 and another medical emergency at 8:07.

Dexter Township Increases Salaries

Dexter township held their annual meeting Monday, March 23. State law mandates that annual meetings be held the last Saturday of March unless the township decides differently. Dexter township for the last three years has voted to change their meetings to a weekday evening, convening the Monday before the last Saturday.

The main order of business at the annual meeting is to set the salaries of the elected officials. A crowd of 50 or 60 township citizens attended, which was, according to clerk William Eisenbeiser, "the largest turnout we've ever had." Trustee Doug Smith said that many people came because "salaries are a sensitive issue."

However, there was very little discussion and the salaries recommended by the board were passed overwhelmingly. Annual salaries are now $14,000 for the supervisor, $12,000 for the treasurer, $9,000 for the clerk, and $2,400 for the trustees.

Trustee Smith approved of both the amount of the salaries and the method of arriving at them. He believes in having constituents take part in the process and is also of the opinion that you "get what you pay for." He strongly approved of Supervisor Drolett's raise saying, "Jim is hard working and well informed. He comes from county government so he knows things without looking them up or hiring consultants. Since being elected he has set up regular office hours and he gets to every meeting of concern."

The group attending the annual meeting also voted to spend $10,000 on clerical help. Last year $8,000 was budgeted but the additional time needed for computer training and to transfer information necessitated the extra expenditure.

Other pieces of business attended to at the annual meeting included setting the time and dates for the regular meetings (first and third Tuesdays), setting the next annual meeting, and authorizing the township board to buy or sell land so they do not have to have a general meeting for every transaction.

Depot Nominated for National Historic Sites

At a March 26 hearing of the Michigan Historic Preservation Review Board, the 107-year-old railroad depot of Chelsea was nominated for listing in the National Register of Historic Places. This nomination will be considered by the National Park Service.

Acceptance of Chelsea for the honor is almost a foregone conclusion since the Michigan Historic Preservation board has signified its approval to the federal government. Word of the action in Lansing was received by phone Thursday from Kathryn B. Eckert of the Michigan Bureau of History.

According to Eckert a particularly impressive part of the Chelsea presentation was a series of color slides showing the completely restored exterior of the 1880 building.

Formal notification from Washington is expected by the Chelsea Depot Association in 30 to 45 days.

LLOYD GRAU, right, was named Outstanding Farmer of the Year by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea on Monday night. Grau has farmed in the Chelsea area for 25 years. He was a 1962 graduate of Michigan State University. Grau has always been active in the community. He's vice-president of the Chelsea School Board, executive vice-president of the Chelsea Community Fair Board and is active in the Zion Lutheran church. Presenting the award is Kiwanis member and past-president Bill Rademacher.

4 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, March 29, 1983—

An Indiana truck driver, Tommy L. Smith, rolled his truck over at Kalmbach Rd. and I-94, and was saved by the combined efforts of state police, sheriff's deputies and Chelsea firemen. It took more than two hours to extricate him from the wreckage. He was finally freed from the trap of twisted metal with the "jaws of life," super heavy-duty shears which can cut through almost anything.

Almost exactly nine years ago the village of Chelsea bought a house at 134 W. Middle St. for $26,000 with an obligation to pay off the full purchase price within 10 years. Village president Jack Merkel said the mortgage will be "burned" almost a year ahead of schedule. For most of the last nine years, the house was rented to Chelsea Senior Citizens, and about a year ago the house was moved to another lot on W. Middle St. and sold. The Civic Foundation of Chelsea has received its first individual patron membership contribution of $1,500 from Thomas Niswonger.

Thank you letters poured into Chelsea this week as St. Patrick's Day storm victims returned home and remembered Chelsea community's helpfulness. Two quotes may describe the tone of the letters, "Indeed, all the snowmobilers deserve special praise for the long hours they spent out in the bitter weather helping people." "I am one of the many people who were stranded in the snow storm on I-94. I would like to take this opportunity to openly thank all of your wonderful people in and around Chelsea who did such a wonderful job rescuing and caring for everyone."

Michigan To Compete
For Supercollider

Michigan will be among the states bidding to be the site of a $4.4 billion Superconducting Supercollider to be constructed by the U.S. Department of Energy, Governor Blanchard declared recently.

Larry Glazer, the governor's legal advisor, said based on preliminary design information, the state has already identified a potential site in Monroe and Lenawee counties.

The SSC will have a 52-mile circumference and will be placed 20 feet underground. Specifications and requirements for site proposals will be announced by the DOE April 1.

The facility will accelerate two beams of protons through an underground ring of magnets, with the underlying structure of matter revealed when the beams collide. Although the official estimates for the cost are $4.4 billion, many members of the scientific community say it will likely top $6 billion.

As well as involving local construction, the SSC is expected to create 2,500 permanent jobs.

Major universities and utility companies from throughout the state will be invited to discuss what they might contribute to the project, Glazer continued, and a second site may be selected. Blanchard said, "With our fine schools and universities and our ability to build precision equipment, Michigan is equipped to be in the running for this project."

"Moreover, the SSC causes no pollution or external radiation. It fits very well with our vision of Michigan's future as a world center of knowledge-based jobs," Blanchard said.

A resolution and legislation establishing a committee for preliminary work and appropriating $400,000 will be introduced by Senate Republicans in the near future.

Illinois has already spent $4.5 million preparing its bid, and others with projects already well under way include Ohio, California, Texas, Colorado and Washington.

Blanchard said the state in which the SSC is located will become the world's leading physics research center. Michigan State University operates a superconducting particle collider, but the SSC will be 9,000 times larger.

The DOE and the National Academy of Science are to select the top five contenders in September, who will then be asked to provide further detail of proposals.

In July, 1988, an environmental review of the potential sites will be conducted, and the final decision is scheduled to be made in January, 1989. It is to be built by 1996.

Costs May Increase If

Beverage Deposits Are Diverted
A recent study has concluded that consumers will shoulder any additional costs for beer and soft drinks related to changes in the state's beverage container law.

JUST REMINISCING

Items taken from the files of The Chelsea Standard

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Bug Hookum said he final has figured it out. What we got in this country is tiny time pills communication, like the cold remedy. We got our news in such dribs and drabs that by the time we are given all the pieces to the puzzle we've lost the box with the picture on it.

Bug told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that he come around to that thinking after reading all he could behind committee hearings on the deal that never was about the arms for people for money for the Nigeragan rebels. Like the tiny time pills, everybody that didn't take the Fifth or smaller to many Vallums has released a little information into the nation's bloodstream. But for folks out here trying to get a handle on what happened it's like peeling a onion, watery eyes and all, was Bug's words.

Clem Webster, for one, was full agreed with Bug. Clem said he had saw where the fancy word for tiny time pills was micro encapsulated. This means that chemics in the medicine are fixed so just one works at a time. Clem said the ads say this is being done with pain killers and deodorants, but he had read where it really works in treating diabetes. A patient has a little capsule injected under the skin, and it releases just enough insulin all day to keep the body chemics in balance. If the hole capsule was to let go at once the patient would go into insulin shock.

Actual, Clem went on, with the way Government crises pop up, tiny time pill news is the only way we can take it. If they give us the hole dose at one news conference we'd go into crisis shock, he said. What the Reagan Administration is doing is what all administrations do, Clem went on. It is micro encapsulating everything to ease the pain. We got a drib one day about the missing $10 million in Contra aid, and the next day brings a drab about where the Federal Government is thinking of putting a nuclear waste dump. By the morning of the third day we might hear where the last drug that was thought to help AIDS patients works fine on the immune system, but it dissolves the liver.

Practical speaking, went on Clem, the key to Government leadership is learning to use the tiny time pills. The same feller that figured out a garbage dump actual is a sanitary landfill would call this orchestrating decisions, Clem said, but it amounts to spreading out the crises so you can deal with em. For instant, he said, everybody knows it's crazy for a Federal Government $2 trillion in debt to share revenue with the states, counties and cities that are operating in the black. Everybody knows that the money pipeline from Washington to local Governments is drying up fast. But, Clem said, this won't be a crisis until Washington can move out some crises to make room for it.

Republican Ed Doolittle was full agreed with Clem on this point. Ed was of a mind that President Franklin Roosevelt invented Government by crisis. He recalled he was trying to dig a living out his hardscabble little place when FDR come in office, and that FDR was the first to make official Government crisis out of ordinary disaster.

For instant, Ed said, he recollected FDR called a press conference to announce a national soil erosion crisis. The president said farms all over the country was washing away. Ed said two farms had washed from under him long before the President turned normal weather into a crisis.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.School Board Meeting
Changed to April 13

The Chelsea School Board will not meet this Monday, April 6, although they usually meet the first Monday of the month. At the last meeting, held March 16, the board decided to change the date of the month's first meeting to April 13, so members could attend a County School Officers Association meeting. The second meeting of the month will be held the following Monday, April 20, as previously planned.

Legend has it that before a swan dies, it sings a beautiful farewell. And in the case of North America's tundra swan, the legend may be true. According to National Wildlife magazine, scientists have found the tundra swans utter a plaintive "departing song"—a prolonged musical note—just before they take to the air. That song is sometimes repeated when one of the birds dies.

Woman's Club Hears About Trip To Grand Canyon

Eighteen members and two guests of the Chelsea Woman's Club gathered in the Crippen Building at the United Methodist Retirement Home on Tuesday, March 24 to hear Ruth and Charles Cameron relate their experiences on a trip backpacking to the bottom of the Grand Canyon.

The Camerons were accompanied by their daughter and son-in-law, Ed and Carol Lauson. Their adventure began in blizzard-like conditions on a Sunday morning in February 1983. As they descended into the canyon the snow turned to rain. The rain continued every day. Mud became one of their biggest obstacles as they trudged along single file, each carrying a backpack ranging from 40 to 60 pounds.

The provisions they carried included sleeping bags and two small tents. The most important item they carried was water, as there was no place along the trail where water was available. Resting places and toilets were provided at different intervals along the way.

It took two days to reach the bottom, where they had reservations to stay for one night at a campground. They were so exhausted, they asked if they could stay a second night but were told there were no vacancies.

Luckily, they found room at the Phantom Ranch, which Ruth Cameron called "civilization" because it had cabins with running water and a soft bed to sleep in. They stayed there one night and on Thursday morning began their climb to the top, arriving the next night very cold and tired.

In spite of the mud, rain, and other difficulties, they both said they would like to go again. Their story was told with several slides and with such enthusiasm it was almost contagious.

Hostesses for the evening were Mary Jane Leeman and Betty Oesterle.

The next meeting of the Chelsea Woman's Club will be held April 14 at the library. The program will be provided by the Chelsea High speech department. Guests are most welcome. For further information call Joyce Vogel at 475-1568.

Catherine McAuley HMO will reimburse its members 50% of the class fee upon successful completion of the 12-week class series.

To receive a registration form, phone the Chelsea Community Hospital Education Department at 475-1311, ext. 401.

The centuries-old ritual of women bringing rich dowries to a marriage is somewhat common among humans, but in the animal kingdom, it's the male who bears the gifts before mating. According to International Wildlife magazine, lady spiders can expect a large ball of silk while a female katydid is allowed to feast on her mate's hind legs.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Donahue

Sharon Glassford, Kevin Donahue Speak Vows in Dexter Church

Sharon Glassford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Glassford of Chelsea, and Kevin Donahue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Donahue of Dearborn, were married Nov. 8 at 2 p.m. at St. Joseph Catholic church in Dexter. The Rev. Fr. David Howell officiated. Music was provided by Holly Tingstad.

The bride wore a satin gown with long sleeves, high collar, and a lace window in the long train. Her veil was of matching lace. She carried a silk bouquet of white roses accented with rose and ruby rose buds.

Maid of honor was Elizabeth Gallas of Grass Lake. Bridesmaids were Sandra Glassford of Chelsea, sister of the bride; Julie Godzik of Lake Orion, cousin of the bride; and Debbie Burton of Stockbridge, friend of the bride. The bride's attendants wore high collared satin gowns with trains. Their headpieces were made of roses. They carried bouquets of rose and ruby roses. The maid of honor's dress was rose, while the bridesmaid's dresses were ruby.

The mother of the bride wore a ruby high collared long gown with a sequined bodice. The bridegroom's mother wore an aqua blue knee-length dress.

Best man was Jerry Voll of Wixom, a friend of the bridegroom. Ushers were the two brothers of the bridegroom, Michael Donahue and Brian Donahue, both of Dearborn; and Jim Glassford of Chelsea, brother of the bride.

Junior bridesmaid was Kim Dunn of Lawrenceville, Ga., cousin of the bride. Ring bearer was Kenneth Blankertz of Inkster, nephew of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the UAW Hall on Manchester Rd. Two hundred guests enjoyed a buffet dinner.

After the wedding, the bridal couple took a 10-day vacation which included a cruise to the Bahamas and a visit to Orlando. They are now residing in a home they built at 10875 Merrill in Hamburg.

The bride graduated from Chelsea High school in 1983 and from the University of Michigan in 1986 with a B.S. in industrial engineering. She graduated with honors and was a member of two honor societies, Tau Beta Pi and Alpha Pi Mu. She is employed by Frito-Lay, Inc. in Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom graduated from Dearborn High school in 1978. He is employed by Premium Air Systems in Troy.

ABWA Members Hear Talk About Court Structure

Chelsea Chapter of the American Business Womens Association met Tuesday, March 24 at the Chelsea Community Hospital for a dinner meeting. Speaker for the evening was the Honorable Karl V. Fink who spoke on the court system. Judge Fink provided members with interesting and informative information on the various courts in the court structure.

Vocational speaker for the evening was Vera Briston. Vera is retired and is a member of the Chelsea Hospital Auxiliary. She explained the various activities that the Auxiliary participates in and the many ways they are a help to patients and the hospital.

Martha Powers was elected as Woman of the Year and she will retain the honor until election next year.

The Fashion Show Committee reported they will be meeting April 9.

Business Associates night will be April 28 at the Campus Inn in Ann Arbor.

Ostomy Information Night Scheduled At Health Center

A free Ostomy Information Night will be offered from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Thursday, April 9, in the Education Center at Catherine McAuley Health Center in Ann Arbor.

Anyone who has had ostomy surgery, or is interested in ostomy care, is welcome to attend. An ostomy is a surgical procedure which creates a temporary or permanent opening for the disposal of bodily wastes.

Open house visitors will be able to examine a variety of ostomy supplies and talk with manufacturers' representatives about the products. Free samples and information will be available.

There will be special lectures on "Tips for Exercising," "Food, Glorious Food!" "Small Bowel Obstruction: How and Why?" and "Cutting the Red Tape/Understanding Third-Party Reimbursement."

Free blood pressure and vision screenings also will be available.

The information night is sponsored by the Office of Health Promotion at Catherine McAuley Health Center.

Exciting Fashion Items from Yesteryear To Be Modeled

Mary Steinbach's grandmother wore a hand-stitched 1810 dress which will be modeled by Heather Locke at the Fashion Show called "Memories," to be presented Saturday, April 11, at the Wylie school cafeteria.

Cotton material for the garment was handwoven, as most materials for clothing items were during that era.

A print material, it has tiny yellow flowers on a blue background, and is styled with an Empire waist, indicative of many fashions during the early 1800's.

It's rumored that Doris Waggoner will be displaying a very nifty black chiffon ensemble, but we've been sworn to secrecy on the details of that outfit, so if you're curious—come and see for yourself.

Other ladies who have consented to model at the "Memories" show include Lisa Stacey, Teckla Doletzky, Terry Bigalon, Lisa McGraw, Mary Frank, Megan Weikart, Dora Doletzky, Linda Genske and Michelle Shepard.

Also modelling will be Gretchen Locke, Denise Ward, Lisa Good, Patti Gunderson, Andrea Tupper and her tiny daughter, Michelle.

Completing the list of models are Kathy Horn, Pauline Banks, Mike Doletzky, Liz Nelson and Alice Vencil. Sarah Frank and Nina Doletzky Rackham will co-chair the Fashion Show and accompanying dessert luncheon.

The two ladies remind people of the community this week the date on which the event is scheduled is quickly approaching.

Dexter Area Historical Society sponsors the Fashion Show-Luncheon as one of the special tributes to Dexter heritage and to Michigan heritage during 1987, the state's sesquicentennial year.

Fashions from the clothing collection at the Dexter Area Museum will be modeled by local ladies and youngsters, beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday, April 11, in the Wylie cafeteria.

"No tickets will be sold at the door, but tickets are available in advance and may be purchased at Carl Genske's State Farm Insurance office, Waggoner Real Estate or Village Hair Fashions," reminded Ann Nuttle and Beni Fusilier.

People may send advance ticket requests accompanied by check or money order ($6.50 per ticket), payable to the Dexter Area Historical Society.

Mail directly to the Dexter Area Museum, 3443 Inverness St., Dexter 48130.

Jason Eyster of Chelsea will provide a background of piano music,

LISA STACEY IN ONE OF THE GOWNS she will model during "Memories," a Fashion Show presented by the Dexter Area Historical Society, Saturday, April 11, at Wylie cafeteria. Tickets are available in advance at Waggoner Real Estate, Carl Genske's State Farm Insurance office, Village Hair Fashions, or from the Dexter Area Museum. No tickets will be sold at the door, advised Sarah Frank and Nina Doletzky Rackham, who co-chair the event planned to celebrate Michigan's sesquicentennial year. The garments and accessories shown are from the clothing collection at the Dexter Area Museum. A dessert luncheon is planned to complement the fashions and Jason Eyster of Chelsea will provide period music at the piano.

period music matching the fashion years. Although his music sheets were not available to scan, it is understood he will be providing some naughty "flapper" tunes.

The 1810 dress is the oldest garment in the clothing collection at the Dexter Area Museum.

Other fashions representing the era from 1850 to 1950 will be modeled during the presentation.

Barbara Arnett, representative of Jacobson's, will be mistress of ceremonies, and Nina Rackham and Ann Nuttle collaborated to prepare printed programs to be distributed at the event.

A work-disabled person is defined as one under age 65 who has a physical or mental condition that prevents her or him from working or limits the amount of work that can be done, or who is retired because of ill health, according to a fact sheet on working women published by the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Satellite Program Looks at Alzheimer Patient Problems

A live interactive satellite program, "Managing Behavioral Problems in Alzheimer's Patients," will take place at Chelsea Community Hospital Thursday, April 2. Co-sponsored by Chelsea Methodist Home and Chelsea Community Hospital, this program is specifically designed for family members and those who interact with the Alzheimer patient.

A nationally recognized panel will discuss agitation and its possible causes, current medication management and problems with dressing, eating and bathing. A special telephone connection will allow questions to be answered directly by the panel. There will also be local experts to answer questions and discuss area concerns about Alzheimer patients.

Program fee is $10 per person or $15 per family.

To register or for more information call Chelsea Community Hospital at 475-3751, ext. 401.

Alumnae Reunion Teas Slated By Girl Scout Council

Seventy-five years of Girl Scouting will be celebrated at Alumnae Reunion Teas to be held in each of the seven areas comprising the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

Troop 777, whose members are all residents of the Chelsea United Methodist Home, will sponsor the Western Washtenaw Area Alumnae Tea. The tea will be held Thursday, April 9, at 2 p.m. in the main dining room of the Retirement Home, located at 805 W. Middle St., Chelsea. The western Washtenaw Area encompasses the towns of Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester and Saline.

The Alumnae Reunion Teas present an opportunity to greet old friends and make new acquaintances. They are a celebration of the Girl Scout movement—what it has been and where it is going. All adults who have participated in this movement, past or present, as a girl, a leader, a troop committee member, a cookie chairman, a board member, etc., are invited to join in this unique celebration.

For more information contact Mrs. Sandy Schmunk at the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home, 475-8633.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

In this newly enlightened age, getting arrested for driving under the influence of liquor—without having had an accident—could be one of the best things to happen in a drinker's life. The drinker may have been prevented on that very occasion from killing or injuring someone else. The lesson learned from the arrest also gives the drinker a much improved chance of avoiding self-destruction by alcoholism.

Self-destruction can take many forms when one realizes that:

ALCOHOL IS INVOLVED IN:

50% of car accidents	64% of murders
53% of fire deaths	41% of assaults
45% of drownings	34% of rapes
36% of pedestrian accidents	30% of suicides
35% of arrests	56% of domestic violence
50% of hospital admissions	60% of child abuse

When you look at that list you know that those things weren't caused by wines lying in alleys. Practically all of those misfortunes were caused by normally healthy, normally decent people who had soaked their brain cells in alcohol.

In our society it has long been assumed that there was no hope for treatment of an addicted person until the drinker had hit rock bottom. While the best hope for curing all other diseases was in the early stages, drinkers were considered unresponsive to treatment until the advent of delirium tremens, blind staggers and coma.

Somewhere along the line since 1970 it has been realized that this "rock bottom" myth just doesn't make sense. Why can't alcoholism be prevented? Why can't it be successfully treated at an early, intermediate or late stage of the disease?

Surveys repeatedly show that two thirds of adult Americans drink alcoholic beverages and that about 10 percent of these people are either alcoholics or have problems with their drinking. That is an awful lot of troubled Americans. It added up to 13.6 million heavy drinkers in 1970, about 15 million in 1980 and problems with liquor for almost 17 million by 1990. Dr. William C. Meninger once observed, "If alcoholism were a communicable disease, a national emergency would be declared."

The country did try prohibition from 1917 to 1933 and it was a flop. More decades slipped by and it was not until 1970 that Congress finally realized alcoholism was a menace to national health. Public Law 91-616 was passed and led to creation of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA). The Institute began business with the dismaying truth that one tenth of all American drinkers were in serious trouble with alcohol and didn't seem to know it.

Only in recent years have physicians and social scientists recognized how much damage alcoholism is doing to family, industrial and civic life in America. As a consequence we have had no effective treatment for the disease until recently. And, having no treatment, we have had no institutions to help victims of the malady until recently. Now we have positive beginnings for both.

For a close-to-home model of how things have changed, take a look at pages 14 and 15 in the Michigan Bell yellow pages where 24 sources of help are listed for people or families in difficulty with alcohol.

Developing a hopeful pattern of treatment was a major accomplishment, and so was the establishment of local treatment centers. But always in the background has been the problem: Where will the money come from to pay for it all?

The answer emerged with official recognition of alcoholism as a disease by the American Medical Association and the U.S. Public Health Service. Now treatment services are eligible for payment by Blue Cross-Blue Shield and other insurance companies as well as Medicare and Medicaid. These services, I hasten to add, are far from free. They are paid for with insurance premiums and taxes, all of which are added to the nation's health bill.

Having considered these things, let us go back to why a driver is so lucky to get arrested and convicted for drunk driving in Washtenaw county. The offender in court has just pled guilty, or been found guilty after a trial. The judge then sets a date for the person to return for sentencing. In the meantime the defendant is instructed by the court to go to the County Highway Alcohol Safety Center (at Hogback and Washtenaw) for a screening interview.

Screening interview? Yes, screening and evaluation by professionals at the agency who will interrogate the person and build an impression of his or her drinking history, drinking habits and drinking problems. One part of such screening is to spot habitual, compulsive drinkers who may already be alcoholics. Here are questions from a NIAAA self-quiz which are illustrative:

- Do you ever drink "doubles"?
- Do you now drink more than you used to?
- Do you sometimes gulp drinks instead of sipping them?
- Do you think you need a drink to help you relax? (or: give you a lift?)
- Do you drink when you are alone?
- Do you sometimes forget what happened when you were drinking?
- Do you keep a bottle hidden somewhere for quick pick-me-ups?
- Do you need a drink to have a good time?
- Do you ever have a drink or two before going where you know drinks will be served?
- Do you drink in the morning to relieve a hangover?

The interviewer at a screening session may approach things more adroitly but the search is there. And the responses of the person being interviewed must be carefully given because the judge is relying on a meaningful evaluation. Based on evidence in the trial, the matter of punishment is pretty well settled by the judge's mind. The open question is what should the court require by way of treatment or education to minimize the offender's chances of getting into trouble again?

Alcohol screening for arrested persons was made mandatory in 1983. There are men and women in Michigan prisons who would not be there today if they had been screened before sentencing—and educated or treated after sentencing.

The majority of convicted offenders do not require treatment. They do need education and they get it under the county highway safety program. The court requires the drinkers to attend a 12-hour lecture course, usually consisting of six sessions on the nature of alcohol, alcohol abuse and the dangers of alcoholism. The major emphasis is the effect of alcohol on driving ability.

There are many former offenders, including responsible social drinkers, who are happy, healthy and free today because of driver safety training.

Many drinkers voluntarily turn to Alcoholics Anonymous for help. This is a world-wide fellowship of men and women who, with the help of each other, have become recovered alcoholics. Their friendly mission is to help others make a recovery too. The only requirement for membership is a desire to stop drinking. Alcoholics Anonymous may be reached at 971-1958.

For persons who would like more information about problems with alcohol, helpful literature may be obtained by phoning 475-1311, extension 215, at Chelsea Community Hospital or by calling the Washtenaw Council on Alcoholism at 971-7900.

CHS Team Participates in High School Mock Trial Tourney

March 14 was a very intense day for the dozen Chelsea High school seniors and juniors who participated in the 1987 Michigan High School Mock Trial Tournament to celebrate the Bicentennial of the U. S. constitution. The students travelled to the Detroit City-County Building to compete against 23 other Michigan schools and test their courtroom skills.

The fictional case, a freedom of speech issue, concerned the arrest of Tony C. Jones for refusing to disperse, after police request, from a pro-Rockville Rock Day rally she organized that became disorderly.

Tony was disappointed with the cancellation of Rock Day and obtained a permit to protest the cancellation.

When observers clashed with demonstrators, the chief of police, Kim Laski, arrested the speakers.

A number of twists were tossed into the case such as the possibility of political motives for the arrest on the part of the chief who planned to run for the mayor's office in November, 1987.

The CHS students prepared for this competition about a month, dividing themselves into a prosecution team and defense team. Each team consisted of three witnesses and three attorneys.

The defense attorneys were Jeffrey Mason, Kimberly Clutter, and Jennifer Schweiger. The defense witnesses were Edie Harook, Deana Slusher as Sandy Goldman, and Christine Newman as Micky Nelson.

For the prosecution team the attorneys were Jeffrey Stacey, Eric Zink, and Jordan Gray. The witnesses they called were Julie Dukes as Chief Kim Laski, John Stevens as Billy Smith, and Anna Muncer as Chris McPhee.

Participants were judged on a scale from one to five with the highest possible team total being 160 points.

The defense scored 133 points to L'Anse Creuse's 102.

Government teacher Mr. Bechtelheimer was the team's advisor. Local attorney Randy Musbach also assisted the team.

This was Chelsea's second year of participation in the mock trial and the team made a strong effort against some well-prepared Detroit-area schools.

The prosecution competed against Grosse Pointe South, scoring 108 to their 122. The addition of the defense and prosecution totals put Chelsea only eight points from the semi-finals.

Prosecution attorney, Jeff Stacey, felt the experience was "an excellent simulation of a real trial" and he "had a lot of fun." So did the entire team.

Sesqui Award Will Honor Top Women

Michigan's first lady Paula L. Blanchard has announced a Sesquicentennial award program to recognize 160 Michigan women for their contributions to the state and its communities. Women's organizations and groups in the Chelsea and Dexter areas are urged to participate. At least one woman will be selected from each county.

Explaining the award, Mrs. Blanchard said, "The Sesquicentennial is our year in Michigan to honor the past, celebrate the present and build for a bright future. It is a time to take pride in one's community and the contributions of individuals making up Michigan's diverse population. The Michigan 150 First Lady Award will highlight and recognize the contributions of women to their community and to our great state. Our state is full of unsung heroines. Help us find these remarkable women of Michigan."

The 150 award winners will be honored at a luncheon in November, and a book noting their accomplishments will be distributed to schools and libraries.

A potential nominee should not have received noteworthy recognition beyond her organization or peer group. Nominations may be submitted by individuals or groups. Nomination forms are available from local Sesquicentennial contact person Kathleen Chapman, 629 N. Main St. in Chelsea. Nominations must be submitted to her by June 11 or must be postmarked no later than June 10.

For more information call Kathleen Chapman at 475-7558 or Nancy McKinney, project co-ordinator for Washtenaw county, at 665-5171.

Kitchen Band Invited To Play in Taylor

The Chelsea Kitchen Band has been invited to play and present skits at St. Cyril's church in Taylor on April 2 at 8 p.m. The group, which consists of 17 members, will travel in two vans. The church in Taylor invited them after seeing them on television.

CHELSEA HIGH SCHOOL was represented in the Anthony Iannaccone All-Star Band at Western Michigan University last Friday, March 27 by Don Gerstler, left, Sheila Tillman and Tim Mayer. The 125-member ensemble consisted of the finest musicians representing more than 60 high schools throughout the state. More than 200 students were nominated by their school band directors for seats in the band, which was conducted by nationally-recognized composer Anthony Iannaccone and Richard Suddendorf, director of bands at WMU. A special committee of professors from WMU's School of Music selected the musicians. The day long schedule of events was part of the 19th annual Spring Conference on Wind and Percussion Music. The band played an evening concert on the Kalamazoo campus.

Safety Tips Offered for Poison Prevention Week

Chelsea Community Hospital pharmacists and pharmacy technicians will be staffing a booth outside the main dining room of the Hospital to enlighten the public about the obvious and sometimes not so obvious dangers of poison.

In recognition of Poison Prevention Week, March 15-21, the pharmacists will be available during the lunch hour to distribute free bottles of Ipecac and poison prevention literature.

Many young children are victims of accidental poisoning every year. The incidences of poisoning can be drastically reduced with public awareness of potential causes and preventive measures that are easily implemented.

In addition to the information provided at Chelsea Community Hospital, the pharmacy staff will be presenting poison prevention information to the kindergartners of Chelsea schools, the Chelsea Community Hospital Children's Center and kindergartners of Dexter

Copeland Elementary school. The children will see a film and afterwards play a game that will help them distinguish between "safe to eat" items and "harmful" items. This presentation is not only fun for the children but will impress upon them the importance of poison prevention within their homes.

Additional information about Poison Prevention Week may be obtained by calling Lorraine Perkins, director of pharmacy, at 475-1311, ext. 479.

Spring Duck Migration Nature Walk Slated At Independence Lake

It's that time of year and spring migration has begun. And Independence Lake County Park is a good place to see many species of water fowl as they migrate northward. Bring your binoculars, a bird book, and dress comfortably for the weather. The date is Sunday, April 5 at 10 a.m.

Please note that the park is officially closed except for this walk and that no pets are allowed. There is no fee.

Independence Lake County Park is located at 3200 Jennings Rd., Webster township. Take US-12 north to North Territorial Rd. and follow the signs.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Loveland, residents of the Salem Grove community for most of their lifetime, quietly observed their 50th wedding anniversary. Mr. Loveland has lived on his present farm since he came to make his home with the Milo Hatt family following the death of his father 71 years ago when he was only five years old. Leonard was born to Jacob and Mary Loveland in 1877 in Jonesville. Mrs. Loveland was formerly Edna Leah Notten. Mr. Loveland is a former Sylvan township highway commissioner and overseer of highways and was a director of the former Riemenschneider school district for 18 years.

Dedication of a new baptismal font, and baptism of five children, took place during the Sunday morning service at the Congregational church. The oak font is a memorial gift from the family and friends of Robert L. Vogel, who lost his life in an automobile accident in 1951. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vogel.

George Doe, Chelsea police chief, has been named civilian defense director for Chelsea.

Disabled women represented 8.5 percent of all working age women (ages 16 to 64) in 1981 or slightly more than 1 out of every 12 women in this age group, according to a fact sheet published by the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Health Risk Appraisal Offered By Health Dept.

Do you ever feel as if your 45-year-old body has 10 extra years clocked on it? Maybe it does. You may be taking years off your life by maintaining an unhealthy lifestyle.

Here's your chance to take a computerized Health Risk Appraisal and find out which lifestyles may be taking years of your life.

The Washtenaw County Health Department is offering free Health Risk Appraisals in recognition of World Health Day, Tuesday, April 7 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Health Building Service Center, 4101 Washtenaw (off Hogback). All are welcome to come in and take this brief, yet informative, analysis.

Participants will be asked to complete a questionnaire which, in many instances, will be processed the same day. They will receive: a computer printout of the risks which their present lifestyles pose; an explanation of how these risks may be life-threatening; an assessment of how they compare to others similar in age and background; an explanation of how they can reduce their risks and the number of years they may add to their lives by changing certain behaviors.

Each participant will leave with a packet of information including tips on getting motivated as well as how to follow through with lifestyle changes.

People who cannot stop in on April 7 may call the Health Department (973-1488) for an appraisal form. A special interpretation session will be held Tuesday, April 14 at 5:30 p.m. for those who complete the HRA at home.

The HRA is a useful tool in helping people view their current health profile and as a "jumping off place" for improving their health behaviors.

The questionnaire asks questions about family health history, personal health history, and personal health behaviors—including smoking, exercise, alcohol usage, weight, serum cholesterol and blood pressure, seat belt utilization, and some personal questions about depression, and so on.

Most people who are overweight are well aware of it; few who smoke cigarettes are unaware of the health risks involved—even without the profile. The profile, however, uses this information and shows how the personal-choice behaviors interact and increase a person's theoretical risk of dying within the next 10 years.

There is some evidence that people who participate in the Health Risk Appraisal process tend to modify one or more of their risky health behaviors. The profile does not, however, diagnose illness or predict future health. It does not take the place of a visit to the doctor.

The questionnaire and computer printout are completely confidential.

Call the Health Education Office (973-1488) for an appointment. World Health Day and the Health Department's Health Risk Appraisal can be the "spring" board to more knowledgeable, healthier Washtenaw county citizens.

Draft Horse Workshop Scheduled

The Co-operative Extension Services of Genesee, Washtenaw and Lenawee counties are sponsoring their third Tri-County Draft Horse Workshop. The workshop is open to all interested persons.

The April 18 workshop will be held in the Cummings Center on the Genesee County Fairgrounds, 6130 E. Mt. Morris Rd., Mt. Morris. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. and the workshop will run until around 5 p.m. The fee this year is $35 per couple and $20 single which covers rolls, coffee, lunch and handouts.

Featured again this year will be Barry Farrell from the Anheuser Busch, Inc., Budweiser Farm speaking on "Selecting the Draft Horse of Your Choice."

In addition to Farrell there will be segments on Hay Selection and Quality, Computer Ration Balancer and the MSU NIR Testing Lab. The last part of the program will be a hands-on session with the horses.

Registration for this informative workshop may be made through the Lenawee County Co-operative Extension Service, 199 N. Broad St., Adrian 49221-2776 by sending your name, address, phone number and check in the correct amount before April 8. If you have any questions, please call the Lenawee office at (517) 265-5651.

Why not make wildlife a part of your holiday season? National Wildlife magazine describes how to decorate a tree in your yard especially for wildlife. Adorning a tree with pinecones dipped in suet or peanut butter makes a sumptuous Christmas feast for both birds and animals. Popcorn, raisins and cranberries strung on the branches are also treats for wildlife and give the tree a festive look. The best decorations, however, are those that come to feast—birds and nature's other living ornaments.

Letters to the Editor

A Tribute to a Friend and Colleague

Deacon Richard Cesarz leaves a great legacy to the Chelsea community and to the ties of religious faith which bind us all together. His innate goodness, coupled with a keen mind and quiet joy, left their mark on many people of every faith.

He served with distinction as president of our Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship, was on the ground floor as one of the directors of Faith in Action, Inc. (serving for several years as vice-chair), was one of the leaders of Chelsea's Sesquicentennial celebration, and served in literally dozens of ways for the benefit of the community at large, as well as in his own parish.

There is hardly a church in the area that has not in some way been touched and blessed by his talents and personality, for he visited in so many homes and hospital rooms, as well as speaking before various groups, always bringing the Good News of a God who cares, who is sensitive to human need, and who was reflected in Dick's words and deeds.

He shared his faith with a smile and sense of humor which could disarm the cynical and comfort the sad.

He had a real compassion for the poor, coupled with the wisdom born of intimate experience with all races and classes of people. And his tears of appreciation after Handel's "Messiah" was sung and played at the conclusion of each year's Festival of Lessons and Carols showed that he was not afraid of showing emotion and deep empathy with that which was spiritually uplifting.

We shall honor him best by remembering what was most important to him: family, God's Word, and God's people. He will be very much missed, and always loved by many, which include his friends in the clergy.

May God grant hope and peace to his wife and family.

Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship.

Whole Milk Back in School Lunch Program

Preservance by Farm Bureau and dairy organizations finally paid off when Congress recently reinstated whole milk in the school lunch program. In 1973, the U.S. Department of Agriculture proposed that lowfat and skim milk, in addition to whole milk, be offered to school lunch participants. In 1978, Farm Bureau and dairy groups opposed a proposal pushing lowfat and flavored milks instead of whole milk. But in 1979, a ruling stipulated that whole milk did not have to be served. Now, eight years later, whole milk must once again be offered.

Dear Editor,

We have been following the discussion regarding the proposed mall developments in the village with great interest. We feel that several key issues have not been brought to light.

First of all, who will be absorbing the costs for the expansion of the sewers and supporting infrastructure for these developments? Who will pay for the necessary street improvements and increased road maintenance costs? How will the increased traffic flow affect values of residential properties fronting on the surrounding streets?

Secondly, what is the impact of this mall on commerce in the downtown area? Historically, shopping malls drain established downtown retail areas. Detroit, Ann Arbor, and Jackson are not faring well, as is the problem with the majority of strip shopping malls. Detroit's downtown has been emptied by suburban shopping malls, and Ann Arbor had problems both at Arborland and in its downtown shopping areas after the opening of Briarwood.

Thirdly, the village needs to study the matter further. The village should have a third party market study done in order to have an objective opinion as to the actual demand for such a development. Developers should be required to provide environmental impact studies, traffic flow studies, and market impact studies for public review. The proposed mall will not provide that much increased employment; most of the positions will be part-time minimum wage jobs. Chelsea does not need a truck stop, either. There is one at the Baker Rd. exit; why put one here, too?

Most importantly, we would like to call the developers' motives in to question. We feel that Mr. Papo has insulted the collective intelligence of the residents of the Chelsea area if he thinks that we believe that he has Chelsea's best interests in mind. The only interests he has in mind are those of his and his partners' bank accounts.

Ruth Rawson Mayday.

Two Chelsea Girls Chosen for Seminar in Washington, New York

Beth Ann Leeman and Susan Schmunk of Chelsea have been chosen to participate in the New York/Washington Youth Seminar, March 28-April 4, sponsored by the Detroit Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church.

They will join 39 other junior and senior high school students.

Using the theme "Peace With Justice," the experience will include bible study, traveling with counselors committed to making connections between living as Christians and peace in the world, and visiting New York City and Washington D.C., two centers of policy-making.

In addition, the young women will have the challenge of making a sincere effort, through preparation and participation, to see a significant issue through the eyes of faith.

Beth and Susan attended an orientation in Flint last Saturday before traveling to New York by bus. They spent Sunday sightseeing, including a trip to the Statue of Liberty. They also attended a performance of Staggerlee, a rhythm and blues musical.

On Monday and Tuesday the young women participated in large and small study groups, including a tour of the United Nations and an evening bus tour of New York City.

Tomorrow the girls are scheduled to visit their senators in Washington, tour the Pentagon and conclude the day with an evening bus tour of the city.

A speaker from the Soviet embassy is also to address the group Thursday before they attend a briefing on the nuclear freeze.

Both girls were recommended for the experience by the First United Methodist church. Partial scholarships were awarded by the Helen and Dwight Gadbury Memorial Fund.

Beth Ann is the daughter of Steve and Betty Leeman, 45 Chestnut Ct. Susan is the daughter of Charles and Sandy Schmunk, 13469 Trinkle Rd.

Sheriff's Sergeant Will Speak on Drinking, Driving

Sgt. Ron Sherrod, of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, will talk about "Drinking and Driving: A Deadly Mix," at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 7, in the Education Center at Catherine McAuley Health Center, Ann Arbor.

Sherrod's presentation is part of the free chemical dependency lecture series sponsored each week by the Chemical Dependency Program at CMHC.

According to Sherrod, alcohol-related highway deaths are the number one killer of 16- to 25-year-olds. In 1985, more than 55 percent of all auto fatalities in Washtenaw county were alcohol related.

Sherrod also will show the very moving film "The Deadliest Weapon in America."

For further information, call 572-4300.

BARBARA J. REGNIER Barbara Regnier Joins Citizens Trust Chelsea Office

Barbara J. Regnier, second vice-president and lending officer and formerly a member of the Citizens Trust Main Office personal banking staff, has been assigned to the bank's Chelsea office, it was announced by William J. Bott, vice-president for branch administration.

Regnier joined Citizens Trust in July of 1974 and served in a number of positions before receiving a promotion to assistant vice-president and lending officer with primary responsibility for installment loan activity. She was promoted to second vice-president and lending officer in September, 1986.

"Barbara Regnier will provide strong support to our banking services in lending areas in this office," Bott said. "She will work closely with D. Patrick Merkel in his capacity of manager of the Chelsea office," he added.

Right/left brain thinking will be the topic at South Elementary school's next PTS meeting on Monday, April 13 at 7:30 in the Media Center of the school. Speaker will be Elizabeth Hammer, a South school parent who has received extensive training in this topic, and in her job works with teachers and school systems throughout southeast Michigan.

Right/left thinking is part of a new concept being used in schools today, that of learning styles. The idea is that each person learns in a unique way, and that student performance, attitude, and behavior can all be greatly improved when a child is taught according to his or her individual style.

Hammer has arranged for any parent attending the meeting to take home an inventory which, after being scored, can give a profile of their child's learning style. Knowing this should enable parents to better assist their children with homework, difficult subjects, and with study habits.

Interested parents from North elementary school and from other Chelsea schools are also invited.

CAROL GERSTLER Carol Gerstler Receives Honors at Marygrove College

On Honor Day, March 25, at Marygrove College, Detroit, Carol Gerstler received a scholarship for Modern Language Excellence. She also received two Honor Awards, plus she is on the Dean's list.

Carol graduated, Cum Laude from Chelsea High school in 1985 and received a full tuition scholarship from Marygrove. She is studying business and language. Carol is the daughter of Gene and Jean Gerstler.

For the first time since George Washington was president, an Atlantic salmon has migrated 255 miles from Long Island Sound to historic spawning grounds in Vermont's White River. According to International Wildlife magazine, the salmon disappeared from New England rivers in 1800's as a result of pollution, over-fishing and dams along the migration routes.

Underground Storage Tanks Must Be Registered

Owners of underground storage tanks must still register their tanks with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR). Registration forms are available at DNR Groundwater Quality Division district offices.

Underground storage tank owners must notify the DNR if their tanks are used to store or dispense petroleum products or other hazardous (regulated) substances on or after Nov. 8, 1984. If an underground storage tank was taken out of service between Jan.

1, 1974 and Nov. 8, 1984, the owner must also notify the DNR. As of May 8, 1986, owners of newly installed tanks must report installation within 30 days.

Under the new law, storage tanks are defined as "underground" if 10 percent or more of the tank, including piping, is beneath the ground. Major exemptions are farm and residential motor fuel tanks containing less than 1,000 gallons used for non-commercial purposes. On-site heating oil storage tanks, septic tanks, and certain other tanks are also exempted.

Questions on underground storage tanks and the new requirements can be directed to the following DNR Groundwater Quality Division district offices in this area: Detroit 313-344-9440, Lansing 517-322-1300, or Jackson 517-788-9596.

Substance Abuse Classes Well Received at CHS

Chelsea High school's first two substance abuse programs are firmly in place thanks in large part to the school district's and community's acceptance of them, says half-time counselor Christine Dillon.

"I feel like I'm finally becoming an integral part of the school system," Dillon says.

"I'm becoming a regular part of the place. I've gotten a lot of support. I honestly thought it would be a lot more difficult to get this going."

Dillon, who splits her time with the district and Chelsea Community Hospital and maintains an office at the high school, has begun two Chemical Awareness Groups and a Concerned Person's Group.

Chemical Awareness Groups, which have about 20 students between them, are basically for students who are having problems with alcohol and/or drug abuse. About three-quarters of the students have been referred by their teachers, Dillon said.

Two students in each group asked to join due to concerns about their own drinking, Dillon said.

A few students in the groups have "fairly extensive marijuana use," and have made little attempt to hide it, Dillon said.

"Quite a few others protect their use of marijuana," Dillon said.

"They keep their grades at a C level but tests show them to be pretty bright kids."

So far, Dillon said, she has seen little evidence of habitual cocaine use. The groups meet during school hours at different times so that a student doesn't miss a lot of class time in one particular class.

Concerned Persons Group is mainly for students who are worried about substance abuse by a relative or friend. So far the group has met twice.

"Right now we're doing some formal education," Dillon said.

"We talk about the progression of alcoholism and the student's own progression as a co-dependent. We'll get more into individual problems as the students get confident with each other. It's a combination of a support and educational group."

Confidentiality is stressed in all groups. Many students, as well as their parents, are worried about being identified with "a burn-out group," Dillon said.

"I try to talk with them, tell them I know that's not the case, how everyone is vulnerable."

Recent classes have dealt with vacations, particularly spring break, which begins this week-end. A vacation is an easy time for a student to backslide due to all the extra idle time.

Dillon, who is also a mental health counselor for the school district, plans to begin a support group for children of divorced parents. She said statistics show that 58 percent of Chelsea High school students fall into that category. She said the national average is about 51 percent.

"The school counselors are having a difficult time getting the number of students down to 20," Dillon said.

She said the group would probably be a combination of children who are having trouble coping with their parents' divorce and those who have successfully negotiated the split.

"It would be too demoralizing just to have the kids who are in crisis," Dillon said.

"But I don't want to have to deny anyone who's interested."

Pleasure Boating Classes Stated By Sheriff's Dept.

Sheriff Ronald J. Schebil announced that the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will offer pleasure boating classes during the months of April, May and June.

Pleasure boating classes are open to all without charge; textbooks, notebooks, and related material will be provided. Persons successfully completing the course will receive a Boating Safety Certificate. The Boating Safety Certificate also permits persons between the ages of 12-16 to operate a powerboat (6 h.p. or greater) without adult supervision.

Program instructions include:
-Michigan watercraft laws and regulations;
-Familiarization with rules for the road and navigation aids;
-Principles of safe small boat handling and seamanship;
-Proper selection and maintenance of equipment;
-First aid pertaining to water sports;
-Accident prevention, rescue and assistance.

Please contact the Marine Safety Division of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department at 971-7551.

24 Chelsea Forensics Students Qualify for Regional Event

Chelsea High school forensics team won eight of 14 events at a district tournament Wednesday, March 25 at Ann Arbor Huron High school.

In addition, the team had eight second place individuals or teams in the meet.

"We had a tremendous showing," said Chelsea High school sponsor Bill Coelius.

"All the students who took either first or second place qualified for the Southeast Michigan Regionals over spring break, which is one of the toughest regionals. If they can perform well there, they stand a real good chance in state competition."

Included in the meet were Ann Arbor Huron, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Ann Arbor Greenhills, Community High

Waller Wants a Pitcher, But Bulldogs Still Team To Beat in SEC Softball

Charlie Waller says his Chelsea Bulldog softball team can have another big year, if the offense comes together, senior pitcher Pam Brown has the year she's capable of, and he can find a second dominating pitcher.

Offensively, Waller says speed will probably play a bigger factor than last year when the Bulldogs won the Southeastern Conference championship rather easily. It could be back to the classic bunt and run game.

"We have a lot more speed this year," Waller says.

"Karen Weber has worked since the end of last season on learning to bunt from the left side. She gets out of the box real quick and if she can consistently put the ball in play she could cause some problems. Leah Enderle is back and she has good speed. Alisha Dorow, who's up from the JV, has excellent speed."

Waller is hoping to find a legitimate clean-up hitter, in the Chris DeFant, Beth Unterbrink mold. However, at this point he has no idea who it might be. Juniors Jenny Pichlik, Peggy Hammerschmidt and Laura Walton are hitting as well as anyone and could be leading contenders.

Pitching is usually never a major problem for Chelsea teams and that trend should continue this year.

Brown, who was 17-2 last year, promises to be one of the best, if not the best, class B pitcher in the state.

However, beyond Brown there's not much varsity experience.

"To be competitive at the state level, we need another thrower," Waller said.

"I don't believe in a one-pitcher staff although it works for some teams. Pichlik, Hammerschmidt and Kelly Stump all look good for juniors. They all throw hard with a lot of speed. But I'm not sure how much they'll throw. Right now Pam is so much better than everyone else. I may throw her more than I would otherwise. I don't know how the others will perform on the varsity level. They have some proving to do before I'll get overconfident."

Defensively, the Dogs should be solid, although they suffered a big setback when starting catcher senior Angie DeFant broke her wrist in practice. Her cast is due off soon, but Waller doesn't expect her to be able to catch until well into the season, if at all. Although DeFant will be in the lineup somewhere, junior Chris Basso will start at catcher.

"With Angie missing, that's our most serious drawback," Waller said.

"I expected to have an experienced senior catcher. Chris has good potential but I'm not sure if she is ready."

Sophomore Kim Easton will also help out behind the plate.

With the absence of experience at catcher, the pitchers may call more of the pitches than they have in the past.

"I don't like to call any pitches from the sidelines," Waller says.

"I only call the change-ups because some of the kids don't have much confidence in the pitch. When they lob that thing in there they want to be able to blame the coach."

Last year's first baseman, Trisha Mattoff, will likely be moved to shortstop or the outfield to make room for the bat of Pichlik, Hammerschmidt or Walton. Dorow is also a shortstop candidate.

Enderle has a lock on second base since Waller likes to put his best fielder in that position. The theory is that most batters are going to have a hard time pulling a Brown fastball.

Weber, who played a solid third base last season, returns to that spot.

Laura Torres may have won the centerfield spot due to her play last summer. She has good speed, Waller says, and can cut off the ball.

Kim Ferry, who started the last part of last year in right field, is the leading candidate there. Left field is open for the moment.

Junior Ceia Murphy should also figure prominently in Waller's plans.

Beth Kenney, a junior, is the 16th member of the varsity squad. She's worked hard, has little experience, and Waller says "we're not sure what to do with her."

Waller says he expects better overall competition in the Southeastern Conference as "everybody has a decent thrower back."

"We should be real competitive," Waller says.

"We have a fine group of seniors and a talented group of juniors and they are all working very hard."

After returning from Gatlinburg, Tenn., the team opens on the road against Webberville on Saturday, April 11.

Rec Department Plans Meetings For Softball

Chelsea Recreation Department has announced its organizational meetings for this summer's softball leagues for men and women.

Men will meet Wednesday, April 15 at 7 p.m. in the Chelsea High school cafeteria.

Women will meet the following night, Thursday, same time, same place.

Men and women who would like to play in the league but are not on a team are encouraged to attend.

According to the department, last year's teams will be offered the first chance to join the league.

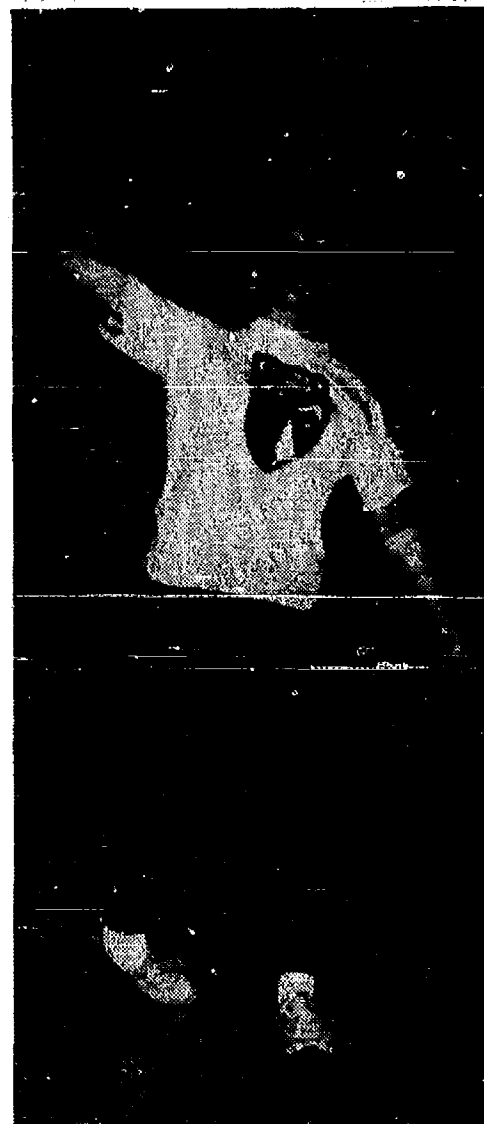

As of press time, no one had been named director of the women's league. Dennis Hall will head the men's league. Directors earn $500 for the summer.

For more information, contact the recreation department at 475-9830.

Nadeau Playing For Tri-State

Kenneth Nadeau, a 1983 Chelsea High school graduate, is playing pitcher and outfielder for the Tri-State University Trojan baseball team in Angola, Ind. this spring.

Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Nadeau of Chelsea. He is a mechanical engineering major.

ANGIE DEFANT, broken wrist and all, works out with the varsity softball team during a recent practice. DeFant was projected to be this year's starting catcher.

Club Wrestlers Improving Fast

Seven wrestlers from the Chelsea Recreation Club competed at Hillsdale on Saturday, March 21.

John Bobo and Kevin McCalla took first-place medals.

Rourke Skelton, Jeff Shoemaker and Jeremy Feldkamp won second places.

A third place went to Vince Stahl.

On Saturday, March 28 eleven wrestlers took part in a tournament at Jackson Northwest.

Bobo, Skelton and Brent Young won their weight classes, and Michael Alber was third.

Also wrestling well were Stephen McDonald, Brian Bloomsaat, Kevin Bloomsaat, Feldkamp, Tim Nutt, Dan Alber and Jason Szostak.

Coach Howard McCalla said he is very pleased with the performances turned in by his wrestlers.

Hawker Pitches At Wayne State

Chelsea's Kelly Hawker, a sophomore at Wayne State University, is again making her mark on the Tartar pitching staff.

Through the Tartars' first 14 games, Hawker had a 3-3 record, including a shutout of Princeton. She had also defeated North Carolina-Wilmington and Indiana (Pa.). Through 40 innings, Hawker had a 1.58 earned run average, giving up just nine earned runs. She completed five games, striking out 22.

Her victory over Indiana was a one-hitter.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Last week's column about the men's 30-and-over basketball league provided an unexpected lesson in human nature.

If you recall, I mentioned that one player in the league—whom I intentionally did not identify by name, team, nationality, religion, sexual preference, height or weight—drew our team's vote as the dirtiest player in the league.

Well, no fewer than four players from three different teams approached me last week and accused me of writing about them. One of them said "it was obvious" whom I was talking about.

One guy, who apparently did not read very closely, also accused me of calling his team a bunch of cheaters. A case of blearing between the lines, I'd say.

Anyway, the funny part about this whole situation is—and maybe you've guessed already—none of those four guys is the one I had in mind.

So, as the adage goes, if the high top fits...

Even though he hasn't said it in so many words, I suspect Charlie Waller knows his softball team has the potential to be very good again this season, even better than last year.

Pitching, as usual, should be solid.

Senior Pam Brown should win all-state honors if she shows that last season was no fluke.

Pam is a study in leverage. How such a small young woman gets so much power behind the ball is a mystery. Most power pitchers seem to be bigger, such as Amy Unterbrink or Chris DeFant. Pam also has excellent control and her change-up can make a batter look foolish. Chances are she won't do much base-running this season. If one person is crucial to the success of the season, Pam is.

Waller says he's looking for a solid number two pitcher. But juniors Jenny Pichlik, Peggy Hammerschmidt and Kelly Stump can all heave it up there, too. In fact, each of them could be some other team's number one pitcher. Depth won't be a problem. Figuring out who to pitch might be.

When Pam rests, the fielders should get a little more of a workout.

But that's okay because the defense should be solid, especially the infield. Karen Weber, who played an excellent defensive game in the district tournament loss to Pinckney last spring, is back at third base. Last season's speedy phenom, Leah Enderle, takes over for Jenny Cattell at second base. Trisha Mattoff, a second-team all region player, may wind up at her last year's position, first base, or shortstop or the outfield.

The outfield has one returning starter, Kim Ferry in right. There are several girls who are capable of playing either of the other positions.

Chris Basso may have one of the most crucial defensive roles on this team. She'll be the starting catcher until Angie DeFant proves her broken-but-healing wrist can take the beating of a Brown fastball.

DeFant's cannon arm will be missed if she can't play behind the plate for a while.

Waller says he isn't sure if he has a legitimate clean-up hitter this season. With Waller's teams, though, that doesn't necessarily make any difference.

Last year Chris DeFant knocked the ball all over the place but the Bulldogs weren't necessarily a scoring machine. They still had to scratch for runs.

What Chelsea lacks in power they're likely to make up with speed and an aggressive bunting game. They should be far quicker on the bases.

And there is some power on this team, although perhaps not of Chris DeFant caliber.

There could also be an intangible that could make the Bulldogs an exceptional squad.

All year long the seniors have shown they have class. Waller, like the football and basketball teams, has a fine bunch of seniors. There's no reason to expect that Brown, DeFant, Mattoff, Weber and Ferry won't show the same team leadership, hard work and spirit other Chelsea teams have had all year.

ALTHOUGH THEY'RE DEFINITELY SMILING, Melody and Melissa Smith danced to the tune "Can't Smile" during the annual talent show at North Elementary school last Thursday. Melody is a first grader and Melissa is in the fourth grade. Their act was one of many that brought a healthy round of applause.

FIRST GRADERS Bree Wireman, Yvonne Humenay and Jessica Ritter performed a dance and lip-synch to "Jimmy, Jimmy" during North school's annual talent show last Thursday, March 26. There were more than 20 acts in the show, which was performed twice during the day.

Talented North School Students Show Off for Parents, Peers

North Elementary school children showed off their talents to their friends and family in the school's annual Talent Show on Thursday, March 26.

The show was put on twice during the day.

The 20 acts were introduced with a light touch by Michelle Kinsely and Steve Gaunt, mixing in a little Knightly humor in the process.

Some of Chelsea's youngest cheerleaders kicked off the show. Kindergartners Emily Taylor, Emily Hammett, Mandy Middleton and Sarah Stahl, complete with big N's on their chests and pom poms, began with three loud cheers.

Following them were first graders Bree Wireman, Yvonne Humenay, and Jessica Ritter lip-synching "Jimmy Jimmy"; second grader Barney Culver on cello; third grader Jason Phelps on piano; third grader Tina Richardson lip synching "I Miss You"; kindergartner Katie Henry and fifth grade sister Sarah with a violin duet of "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star"; third grader Jill McKinnon, playing "We Are The World" on piano; Melody and Melissa Smith, first and fourth graders, respectively, with the song and dance, "Can't Smile"; second grader Mariah Cherem on violin; fourth grader Danielle Clark with a baton act; fifth grader Alicia Lafferty lip-synching "Manic Monday"; third grader Ben Culver with "Concerto 3rd Movement" on violin; fourth graders Heidi Stapula and Jayma Spears dancing to "Living on a Prayer"; fourth grader Leslie Read playing "Little Brown Jug" on piano; fifth graders Heather Wilson and Laurie Ford lip-synching and acting to "Like a Surgeon"; fourth-grader Drew Kyte, who told a story; fifth grader Andy Wetzel on piano; Nicki, Kevin and Craig Lane lip-synching "Summer Loving"; fourth grader Kate Steele with a baton act; and second graders Stephen McDonald, Nathan Taylor, Jason Middleton, Tim Lawrence and fourth grader Jesse Hammett playing the parts of "Huey Lewis and the News," complete with instruments.

On Feb. 19, 1940, William "Smokey" Robinson was born in Detroit. Robinson was long known as the creative force behind Motown records as well as the lead in the group, Smokey Robinson and the Miracles. Today, visitors to the Hitsville Building in Detroit will see memorabilia of the "Motown" era at the Motown Museum. For more information, contact the Michigan Travel Bureau at 1-800-5432-YES.

Michigan Sesqui Notes

It was a warm spring Sunday in 1906. The Rev. W. J. Cady of the First Congregational church in Benton Harbor, led his congregation out of the church sanctuary into a nearby orchard.

The strong, sweet perfumes of spring blossoms filled the air. There, the believers bowed their heads and blessed the flowering trees. They thanked their Creator for the beautiful blossoms and asked for a bountiful harvest.

Today this ritual has become a spring tradition in southwest Michigan and opens the annual Blossomtime Festival, which centers on Benton Harbor and includes 35 surrounding area towns.

From April 26 to May 3, townspeople will ceremoniously bless the blossoms in the apple, cherry, peach, plum, pear, and apricot orchards. The festival also includes a beauty pageant with Miss Blossomtime, a fashion show, carnivals, farm tours, and an elaborate Floral Ball. A grand parade through Benton Harbor and St. Joseph closes the week-long celebration.

Notice to Church Secretaries

All church schedules must be in our office at 300 N. Main St., Chelsea, in writing, no later than Thursday at 1 p.m. in order to appear in the next week's edition.

There are about three million turkeys raised on farms in the U.S. today.

Former Interm Pastor To Speak at St. Paul's

Dr. William Donald, who served as interim pastor at St. Paul United Church of Christ, Chelsea, will be the guest speaker there on Sunday, April 5, at the 10:30 a.m. service. It marks the first time he has returned to St. Paul congregation since serving from 1980 to 1981. His sermon topic continues a Lenten sermon series on "The Hard Sayings of Jesus," entitled "Do Not Be Anxious."

That evening, he will also speak at church for a wrap-up of a Lenten

Discussion Group series based on the Hard Sayings of Jesus, which have taken place in four homes of the congregation, as well as at church. A Fellowship Soup Supper will precede his presentation beginning at 6 p.m.

Dr. Donald and his wife Caroline live in Mackinaw City, and he continues serving churches as an interim pastor throughout the mid-west. He is an ordained minister of the United Church of Christ, and a well-known speaker.

Michigan Sesqui Notes

On March 9, 1976, Governor William G. Milliken signed a bill making it legal for people to fly hot-air balloons over and from Michigan. The new act replaced a 1931 law that outlawed the sale or use of such balloons in Michigan.

This year the International Balloon Championship race will be held in Battle Creek, from July 11 to July 18. Non-racers can book their own adventure with piloted flights offered by several ballooning corporations throughout Michigan. There's even a balloon camp where ballooning aviation is taught at a week-long camp session.

For more details, contact the Michigan Travel Bureau at 1-800-5432/YES, or 1-800-722-8191 (TDD).

Grass Lake Choir Presents Easter Cantata

1987 marks the eighth year of the annual Grass Lake Community Cantata. The cantata, "Jesu, Priceless Treasure," by Johann Sebastian Bach, will be presented Palm Sunday week-end.

The public's response to this musical inspiration necessitates two performances, which will be held at the Grass Lake United Methodist church, 449 E. Michigan Ave., in Grass Lake. The first performance will be held Saturday, April 11 at 7 p.m. and the second will be on Sunday, April 12, at 3 p.m.

The community choir is comprised of members of Grass Lake area churches, members of the Grass Lake school's junior and senior high choirs, and area residents who love the opportunity to participate in a mass choir.

Under new direction this year, the choir is benefiting from the teaching and conducting skills of Joyce Von-Dielingen. Joyce has a master's degree in music education, and is the vocal music director for the Grass Lake school system. She is also remembered for her many performances in local musical productions and with the Clark Lake Players. She brings to the chorus a rich and varied musical background, and her skill in directing has challenged the choir to a new depth.

The community cantata is sponsored by the Grass Lake Ministerial Association. The Association will be taping each performance, and will be selling the tapes to those who would desire a copy. The proceeds will help to fund the cantata. A free-will offering will also be taken during each performance. Proceeds will be donated to the Grass Lake school's music program.

The Grass Lake Ministerial Association invites everyone to attend

Church Plans 111th Annual Egg Supper

North Lake United Methodist church will be holding its 111th annual Egg Supper on Friday, April 10, from 5 to 7 p.m.

As the Old North Lake church moves into its 151st year, it continues a custom started in the early days and held each Easter season for the last 111 years. Back in 1876 the first supper was held at a church member's house. It was held at various member's homes for many years after that. In recent years the event has been held at the church fellowship hall and the public has been invited.

The Chelsea area's oldest church was founded in 1836 by families in the North Lake area. Descendants of these early founding families are members of the church today.

The present church building was constructed in 1866, 10 years before the first Egg Supper.

The Rev. Sondra Willobee invites everyone to stop by for a delicious meal and a visit to the historic church.

this year's cantata--"Jesu, Priceless Treasure." It is a fitting way to begin the Holy Week celebration.

Oral Hygiene Should Start Very Young!

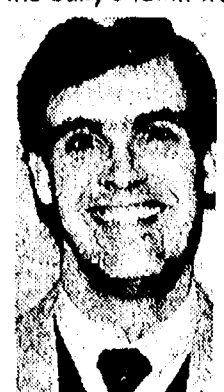

Q: What can I, as a parent, do to help my baby fight plaque problems?

A: Plaque is a sticky colorless film of bacteria that continually forms in the mouth. The bacteria has the ability to form acids which, ultimately, cause tooth decay. Plaque is also responsible for bad breath (halitosis) and gum disease (periodontitis).

For the most part, plaque problems begin with the eruption of the first tooth. On the average this occurs around 6 or 7 months of age. As soon as the first tooth erupts the time has come to begin oral hygiene. This means keeping the teeth healthy by removing plaque daily and, therefore, protecting the baby's teeth from decay.

As the new teeth erupt, parents find that rubbing with a moistened gauze pad or a soft, clean wash cloth is helpful in removing plaque and keeping teeth clean. This important step—aimed at a lifetime of dental health—is great help in getting your infant used to a "clean mouth" feeling.

Later, when the child is about a year old parents should start brushing their child's teeth with a small, soft, children's size toothbrush after meals and before bed. Even though many children quickly learn to "brush" their own teeth they lack the proper coordination and dexterity to do so properly until they are 4 or 5 years old so parents should supervise and aid their children in brushing their teeth until that time.

NOTICE TO VILLAGE RESIDENTS VILLAGE ZONING ORDINANCE REQUIREMENTS IN REGARDS TO ZONING COMPLIANCE PERMITS FOR REMODELING AND NEW CONSTRUCTION

Article VI — Administration and Enforcement, Section 15.765 states the following in regard to zoning compliance permits: "No building permit shall be issued by the Building Inspector until a Zoning Compliance Permit has been issued by the Zoning Inspector."

The Village administrative rules which have been followed to enforce the above Section are as follows:

- 1) Zoning Compliance Applications must be completed by the petitioner.
- 2) A sketch of the proposed construction must be submitted with the filled out Zoning Compliance Form.

Zoning Compliance Forms can be obtained at the Village Offices. The Village charges no fee for the forms or for submittal or review of the completed Zoning Compliance Forms.

Building code enforcement and building permit issuance is performed by the Washtenaw County Building Inspection Department. The Washtenaw County Building Inspectors Administrative Rules require the following items be submitted to the Washtenaw County Building Department for review and approval prior to the issuance of a building permit:

- 1) Copy of approved Zoning Compliance Form
- 2) Sketch of proposed construction
- 3) Structural design details
- 4) Engineers or architects seal for all business and commercial project plans
- 5) Receipt from Village for water and sewer tap in fee payment for new structures

The Washtenaw County Building Department further requires that items 1-4 from above be submitted to the Village Zoning Inspector for date stamping prior to submittal to the Washtenaw County Building Department.

The question of whether or not a project qualifies for a waiver of a building permit must be addressed and reviewed by the Washtenaw County Building Department.

If you have any questions or problems relating to the Village Zoning Ordinance, please call at the Village Offices.

Alcoholism, Effect on Family Discussion Slated

Brighton Hospital's series of Community Education Programs on chemical dependency continues on April 7 with a lecture by Hardee Bethea, M.D., on how alcoholism and drug abuse affect the entire family. The free program begins at 7 p.m. in the hospital's chapel.

Dr. Bethea is Brighton Hospital's principal medical lecturer. He also lectures on chemical dependence at the Livingston Council for Alcohol Services, an outpatient treatment center in Howell that is affiliated with Brighton Hospital.

"This evening's program will be very helpful to those who are concerned about the drinking habits of a parent, a child, or another family member," says Ellen Ayers, director of counseling services. According to Ayers, many of the people who attend the monthly education series realize that a loved one has a problem with alcohol or other drugs but are not sure how to get help.

The Community Education Program is held on the first Tuesday evening of each month. Reservations are not required.

Brighton Hospital is located on E. Grand River, just off Exit 151 of the I-96 freeway. For additional information and a schedule of upcoming programs, contact the hospital at (313) 227-1211, ext. 276.

A public hearing was held on a petition filed by ARCUS Corporation to rezone approximately eleven (11) acres of land northwest of the intersection of M-52 and Brown Drive from Highway Service District (C-3) to Restricted Commercial District (C-4). ARCUS Representatives stated the purpose of the zoning was to develop a shopping mall on the property with a department store in the name of Ames. Figures to support the Ames store were given to Council for discussion. It was the recommendation of the Planning Commission that the property not be rezoned. A letter was read into the minutes (APPENDIX B) from a former Chelsea resident urging the Council to not rezone the property.

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED, AND IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, that the Village Council of the Village of Chelsea does hereby adopt, approve and promulgate Ordinance No. 79-RR, AN AMENDMENT TO ORDINANCE NO. 79 TO REZONE A CERTAIN PROPERTY FROM HIGHWAY SERVICE DISTRICT (C-3) TO RESTRICTED COMMERCIAL DISTRICT (C-4) - PART OF THE SOUTHWEST QUARTER OF SECTION 13, T2S, R3E, SYLVAN TOWNSHIP, and the Clerk of said Village be and is hereby directed to cause the same to be published in the Village of Chelsea, in The Chelsea Standard, or any other paper of general circulation, and otherwise record said instrument within the Book of Ordinances.

Katz-Schnackenberg Forest Preserve Donated to Dahlem Environmental Education Center

This winter the John and Mary Dahlem Environmental Education Center was the recipient of the 40-acre parcel on Seymour Rd. in Waterloo township that had been in the same family for nearly 130 years.

Sunday, March 29, at 2 p.m., the property was formally dedicated as the Katz-Schnackenberg Forest Preserve.

The land was first farmed in 1859 by John and Matilda Benter Schnackenberg followed by Lucy Schnackenberg and Gottlieb Katz from 1910 to 1960. Donald L. Katz acquired the land in 1960, and passed it on to his son and daughter-in-law, Marvin and Suzanne Gottlieb Katz, who in turn donated it to the Dahlem Center in December of 1986.

It was the family's wish, however, that the land be made available to the public for as long as possible.

The land includes rolling hills planted with a rich variety of conifers, a stand of upland hardwoods, a lowland woods with a profusion of native wildflowers, marshlands, and a small glacial lake.

The land will be used by the John and Mary Dahlem Environmental Education Center to augment its current programs and services to the community, and may be visited by other organizations and the public on request.

The dedication included the unveiling of a marker and a ribbon cutting ceremony at a small, public access point along Seymour Rd.

Dr. Donald L. Katz, grandson of John and Matilda Schnackenberg, is the author of the book "The Settling of Waterloo, Michigan" which describes in fascinating detail the early farm life in Waterloo township.

NOTICE TO VILLAGE RESIDENTS

Spring and summer lawn rakings, grass clippings, shrubbery trimmings and other debris should not be loosely placed in the streets or public right-of-ways.

Village residents who wish to dispose of these items must place them in plastic bags and set them at the curb for the regular Tuesday and Friday garbage and refuse collection. The total limit is three (3) bags per household for each collection date.

As in the past, Village Public Works crews will continue to pick up and dispose of tree trimmings. However, we do request that tree trimmings be cut in lengths not exceeding eight (8) feet and placed neatly near the curb.

Please keep in mind that the pick up is for tree trimmings ONLY, not entire trees.

DON DANCER, current president of Chelsea Social Services Agency moves a box of children's clothes. Supplies are stocked for all ages and all seasons of the year. Clothes are in first class condition.

YEAR AROUND STOCKS of staple foods are maintained by the Chelsea Social Service. Items from government surplus stocks are also distributed when they become available.

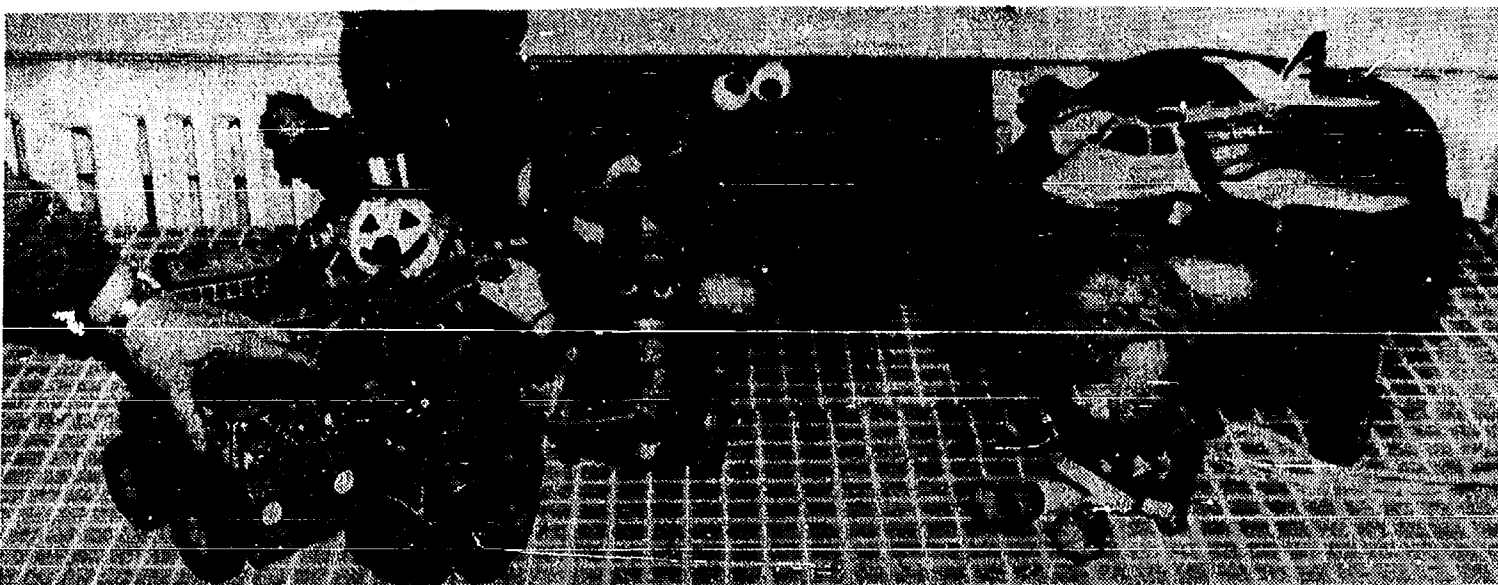

ANOTHER NICE JACKET is added to the Chelsea Social Service clothing supply rack. The organization has served needy people of the area since 1956 with food, clothing and fuel costs in emergency situations.

OFFICE MANAGER JACKIE RIETHMILLER keeps in close touch with families from the area of the Chelsea School District who need special assistance. Food, clothing and even help with fuel costs are available to help in emergencies.

PLENTY OF TOYS are still available for children in needy families even after Christmas. The agency also collects and shares items of costume jewelry for mothers and daughters.

Chelsea Social Service Helps Families in Need

Last Saturday, the first day of spring, completed still another winter of help to the needy by Chelsea Social Service. The work of these samaritans began in the depression year of 1931 as part of the social service committee of the Chelsea Woman's Club. Then in 1956, Chelsea Social Service became an independent organization which would assist needy families and individuals throughout the 120 square mile area of the Chelsea School District.

Serviceable clothing for men, women and children is provided to families in need. So, too, are canned fruits and vegetables along with other packaged foods. Each month the agency also distributes butter, cheese and other available farm foods including honey from the Federal Surplus Food Program. The distribution is made to recipients from a food van conveniently situated in the municipal parking lot just east of Main St.

The monthly date for the arrival of the surplus food varies so recipients are notified of its time of arrival by phone. Jackie Riethmiller, agency secretary, plus volunteer helpers get on the phone and notify every family on their list.

For the February distribution 145 people were called and 139 showed up. Each accredited family receives a five-pound box of high quality American process cheese per month, plus one pound of butter per month for each family member when available.

Chelsea Social Service and Chelsea senior Citizens are the only charitable organizations in this area authorized by the government to distribute surplus foods.

Families in urgent need of money for heating fuel, medical supplies or other assistance are often given financial aid through Chelsea Social Service. All persons in need are provided with counsel regarding available forms of public or charitable assistance.

Linda Ormsby is director. Office operations are under the supervision of Mrs. Jackie Riethmiller. Donald J. Dancer is president and Harold A. Jones serves as treasurer.

During the past Christmas season CSS played Santa to more than 300 screened and needy families. Every child under 14 was given a toy and clothes, including a shirt, trousers and underwear or pajamas—all new merchandise. Gifts are collected for holiday giving from families and businesses. They never know the names of the recipients, and the names of the givers are not revealed to those who receive.

Churches such as St. Mary's Catholic and St. Paul United Church of Christ are among the participating institutions. Chelsea Milling donates boxes of Jiffy Mix as well as cartons large enough to contain gifts for a family. Other businesses donate products such as paper towels and diapers.

Chelsea Social Service occupies offices and storage space in the Village Hall without charge for rent. Annual support is provided by Chelsea United Way plus unsolicited donations from private sources. CSS does not conduct campaigns for operating expenses nor for capital funds.

"We have all the space we need to serve those families in the Chelsea School District area," Don Dancer said. "The support we receive from Chelsea United Way and special friends enables us to do a good job. In 56 years we have never failed to help any person or family who needed and deserved assistance."

The help of Chelsea Social Service is open to all, regardless of religion, race, sex, or age. Office phone is 475-1581, Thursdays 10 to 4. In case of an emergency need call Linda at 475-7405 or Jackie at 475-1925.

Michigan Sesqui Wagon Train Plans Move Ahead

Michigan Governor James J. Blanchard recently invited all state governors to send horse-drawn wagons or outriders to SesquiTrain '87, (Michigan's Sesquicentennial Wagon Train) which will visit 11 mid-Michigan cities June 15-27.

SesquiTrain '87 assembles in Lansing on June 14, and has received numerous inquiries from several other states and Canada in response to the Governor's invitation.

Participation from other states will be significant, according to Michigan Department of Agriculture Director Paul E. Kindinger. "Texas sponsored a wagon train during its sesquicentennial celebration last year and many of the letters we've received from people in other states, are from those who participated in the Texas wagon train," Kindinger said.

Judy Class, co-ordinator of Michigan's Bicentennial Wagon Train which traveled to Valley Forge in 1976, is the director of SesquiTrain '87. Class is optimistic about the 1987 SesquiTrain and anticipates at least 50 wagons and 300 outriders will join the trip. She said SesquiTrain '87 showcases the importance of the horse in the development of Michigan.

SesquiTrain '87 leaves Lansing on Monday morning, June 15, with wagoners encamping in Charlotte that evening; then on to Olivet on the 16th; Marshall on the 17th; Albion, June 18; and a stop in Jackson on June 19, 20 and 21. On June 22, the wagon train will travel to Stockbridge; then to Pinckney the 23rd; Brighton the 24th; Fowlerville the 25th; Williamston on the 26th; and end at Lansing June 27 for ceremonies at the State Capitol.

There is no fee to participate in SesquiTrain '87; however, all wagoners and outriders must pay their own travel expenses or find their own sponsor. Businesses, organizations, or individuals interested in sponsoring a wagon, a meal, or an encampment should contact Judy Class at SesquiTrain Headquarters, 5485 Kinrossville Rd., Onondaga 49284 or Jerry Dunn at 517/482-1987.

Persons interested in riding on a SesquiTrain wagon must make their own arrangements with the individual wagon owner.

There's nothing new under the sun. Fossils found in Australia show that photosynthesis has been going on a lot longer than scientists once thought—about 700 million years longer! According to International Wildlife magazine, the new fossil evidence indicates that blue-green algae were producing oxygen through photosynthesis 3.5 billion years ago. That just one billion years after the earth was formed.

Michigan Sesqui Notes

On March 3, 1875, only three years after Yellowstone National Park became the country's first national park, Congress established Mackinac Island National Park, making it the nation's second.

Twenty years later, when the federal government turned the fort and park over to Michigan, the island became Michigan's first state park.

Today many visitors can relive Michigan's stirring past, which has been recaptured in the island's many restored buildings.

Fort Mackinac, originally built by the British in 1779, represents a history of the conflicts and struggles between the British, the French, and the colonial Americans.

The American Fur Co. trading post was an important headquarters for the business that created the John Jacob Astor fortune.

Other buildings are historically interesting: the Beaumont House, City Hall, Biddle House, Mission Church, and the Geary House.

The Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island, the largest summer hotel in the world, celebrates its centennial this year.

No automobiles are permitted on the Island, and travel to this dreamland from the past is by ferry.

For ferry rates and admission prices to historic sites, contact the Michigan Travel Bureau at 1-800-5432/YES, or 1-800-722-8191 (TDD).

Bluebird Volunteers Needed in Jackson

As part of a concentrated effort to increase the local population of Eastern Bluebirds in Jackson county, the Dahlem Environmental Education Center is continuing to monitor more than 450 nest boxes stationed throughout the area. In order to keep accurate records of bluebird nesting activity, dedicated volunteers with access to an automobile are needed to examine a select number of nest boxes, on a weekly basis, and report their findings to DEEC.

Wildlife biologist Gregg Zuberbier will be co-ordinating the project this year. Zuberbier is a recent graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay and a licensed master bird bander, who has been working with bluebirds since 1979. Those interested in assisting Gregg, with this conservation program, are encouraged to call him at 787-0800, ext. 197.

Orientation meetings have been scheduled for 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 7 and 10 a.m., Saturday, April 11 at the Dahlem Environmental Education Center, at 7117 S. Jackson Rd., Jackson.

Yes, Cybill Shepherd Does Eat Beef

Beef producers are having a dollar-a-head taken out of their checks whenever they sell cattle now. This checkoff program came in with the 1985 farm bill and the money is being used to promote the increased use of beef and beef products. One of those ways is an advertising campaign in newspapers, and on radio and TV featuring Hollywood stars James Garner and Cybill Shepherd.

Imagine the anger of beef producers when they heard about a quote in Family Circle magazine attributed to Ms. Shepherd. In an article on "What's Your Beauty Secret?" the star of TV's "Moonlighting" was quoted as saying, "I've cut down on fatty foods and trying to stay away from red meat." Beef producers who are paying big bucks for those ads were relieved to hear that the quote did not come from Cybill but from her publicity agency.

Cybill says she does avoid fatty foods, but still eats her beef. "I've been a beef eater for as long as I can remember—long before I was contacted to appear in beef advertising," she said. "It is important for me to represent a product I believe in."

That's good news to beef producers.

Manchester Youth Completes Army Infantry Training

Army Private Brett F. Collins, son of Linda L. Kopka of 15500 Van Tuyle Rd., Manchester, and Timothy P. Collins of 47 Tower Dr., Saline, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Grass Lake Man Arrives for Duty in West Germany

Army Maj. Richard B. Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Cole of 704 Jill Rd., Grass Lake, has arrived for duty with the 6th Area Support Group, West Germany.

Cole, a plans and operations officer, received a master's degree in 1986 from Northern Michigan University in Marquette.

Renovated Webster Church Plans Sunday Open House To Show Improvements

Sunday, April 5, Webster United Church of Christ is hosting an open house to show the Chelsea and Dexter area communities their new addition and the improvements they have made in the whole facility. Needing more space, yet wanting to preserve their historic church, they devised a unique solution by building an addition under and behind the church.

Explaining the situation, Webster's pastor, the Rev. John Gardner said, "We were experiencing a great deal of space problems. Also the building itself had no major work done in the last 25 years." The church decided to renovate their existing structure and to add more space, but, in Gardner's words, "to do it with a degree of integrity for what our ancestors put here."

Webster church, located at 5484 Webster Church Rd., is Washtenaw county's oldest continuously occupied church structure. Construction began in 1834 with funding provided in part by Daniel Webster. An old one room school house built about 1870 is connected to the church, having been moved from across the road in 1954, after Webster township schools were consolidated into Dexter's school system.

The church's building committee, led by William Sarten, managed to develop a plan to add 3,300 square feet of space to the church facility with a minimum of change to its outside appearance by having the addition be partially underground. They hired local builder Richard Adams Russell, Inc. to do the project which entailed lifting the church off the ground, digging a ditch around it, building basement walls, and then excavating the dirt from the basement.

Before this project, all the church had for a basement was a hand hewn dug out hole with a furnace. The contractors preserved as much of the old basement as they could, reusing the stones so their work would blend in with the existing foundation.

The new addition forms a basement under the church and then continues on the same level, but above ground, due to the fact that the church is built on a hill. The space under the church is used for a commercial-quality kitchen, while the space outside forms a large community room which is also used for Sunday school.

The whole church, both old and new, has been newly carpeted and painted.

The church was made handicapped accessible by adding a ramp outside, and an elevator inside. The bathrooms were improved and also made handicapped accessible.

A new well was dug and a new drain field established across Farrell Rd. The church now enjoys hot water, something they lived without all these years.

The old school house section of the church was refurbished inside, with a new office suite created for the Rev. Gardner, a sitting room decorated with paintings of the church done by Chelsea artist Ben Bower, and office storage space.

Outside, a new door and porch were added and the church steeple righted. Still to be done is some exterior painting and landscaping.

Gardner described the addition as a "challenging project" for such a small church. Webster currently has 140 members, who in addition to coming from the township, hail from Chelsea, Saline, Manchester, Whitmore Lake, and Livingston county. The new addition cost $300,000 and was paid for by church members, by contributions from historic minded philanthropists (Buhr Foundation, Dr. Harry and Margaret Towsley, and Richard Earhart), and by a low interest development loan advanced by the United Church Board for Homeland Ministries.

Church members Gilbert Whitney and Mary Wheeler have been planning Sunday's open house. All are welcome to come between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. to enjoy light refreshments and to look around at all that the church has accomplished.

MR. BONES, also known as Percy Danforth, gave a bones performance Wednesday, March 25 for students at South Elementary school. He was accompanied by his protegee, Bob Benedict, principal of the school. Mr. Bones stayed the entire day, visiting individual classrooms to give children a chance to try and play the bones. Shown is Mr. Bones teaching bones playing to Jodie Keiper, Doug Dunn, Annie Hatch, Curt Carpenter, and Dan Watson, all fourth graders in the class of Ron Lazzo.

Mr. Bones Spends Entire Day With South School Students

Mr. Bones, also known as Percy Danforth, spent Wednesday, March 25 at South Elementary school performing on the bones and showing the students how to play them. He was joined in this endeavor by principal Bob Benedict, who is a protegee of his.

In the morning, Danforth and Benedict played for the whole student body. Mr. Bones stayed the rest of the school day, visiting all the fourth and fifth grade classrooms in order to give the students a chance to hold the bones and try to play them.

The bones are a percussive instrument played by holding two sticks and clacking them. "But," says Danforth, "they are more than rattling, you can do things with bones that you can't do with anything else."

According to Danforth, the bones are probably the first musical instrument devised. We know they existed as far back as 5000 B.C. because archeologists found a vase of that date in Asia Minor decorated with a picture of a woman playing the bones. In more recent times, bones playing was commonly heard in minstrel shows.

The original instruments were actual animal bones, but today most bones players use wooden sticks. Danforth usually uses ones made of pine, but he also has bones of cherry, walnut, and hickory, all which give slightly different sounds.

Danforth has his bones custom made by a Dexter man, Raymond Schairer. Danforth estimates that Schairer has made him over 15,000 pairs, both for his own use and to sell at folk festivals.

Schairer also makes Benedict's bones. Benedict remembers watching his dad play the bones, but he did not seriously start learning about them until a few years ago when he saw Danforth perform at a father/son banquet.

Benedict drives into Ann Arbor regularly to Danforth's home to receive instruction. Danforth describes Benedict as an "apt pupil" and praises his enthusiasm and constancy in sticking with it.

Benedict has performed for a number of Chelsea groups such as the Kiwanis. Joined by Schairer, he gave demonstrations to the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home and to the Chelsea Area Historical Society. Benedict taught Chelsea's other elementary school principal, Bill Wescott, how to play the bones and then the two of them performed for the Chelsea Woman's Club.

Danforth, of course, plays the bones further afield, playing at folk festivals in America, Canada, and the British Isles. He has performed at Lincoln Center in New York and the Royal Festival Hall in London.

Danforth, age 87, learned how to play the bones when he was in third grade. That year his family moved from North Dakota to Washington, D.C. One day on the playground, Danforth saw some children playing the bones with some sparrow ribs.

Danforth's dad, when he heard about the incident, took some slats from the house's shutters and gave Percy his first bones lesson.

For years, Danforth just played the bones with one hand. Ten years ago, Danforth's wife Fran took a history of music class at Eastern Michigan University. When the teacher asked if anyone played the bones, Mrs. Danforth raised her hand after noticing that no one else was volunteering and admitted that her husband played a little bit. Danforth spent the next three weeks, until the date he was scheduled to appear, teaching himself to play with both hands. Mrs. Danforth's teacher liked his playing so much that she invited him to appear in a concert at Pease Auditorium, and thus his bones career began.

Danforth, having retired seven years ago at age 80, now spends most of his time and energy working with the bones and considering their potential as musical instruments. He says of a recent appearance with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, "You wouldn't think a couple of sticks would make a difference, but they have a distinctive sound which can be heard over the other instruments." Playing at folk festivals with instruments like fiddles and hammer dulcimers, he notes how the other musicians appreciate having the bones keep them on beat, "just like having a conductor." At a square dance at Elkins College in West Virginia, he said dancers found it easier to keep in step when the bones were being played. Danforth has also collaborated with University of Michigan dance choreographer, Elizabeth Bergman.

The children of South school were very appreciative of the performance they saw. Says Danforth, "They really get a boot out of it. They see a white haired old bunny come out with a pair of sticks and they wonder what in the world he's going to do with them."

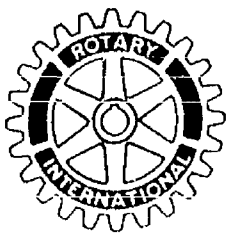

It was also quite an experience for the children to see their principal playing. Not only do they see him in a different light, but they learned that bones playing is not an esoteric art but something people they know can do. Benedict said he felt really complimented when one of the students said "You're Mr. Bones number two."

★ Burning Treated Or Painted Wood . . .

The heating season is upon us and because of this, I'd like to warn you against burning painted or treated wood in open fires, woodburning stoves, fireplaces or residential boilers. The reason is that toxic chemicals are produced when these woods are burned and then carried by the fumes and ashes. If inhaled, these toxic substances can cause serious poisoning.

Depending on the preservative used in the treatment of wood, burning releases toxic fumes in the smoke and toxic metals in the ashes. Burning of wood painted with lead based paint will release high levels of lead, both in the fumes and ashes. Compounds commonly used in the treatment of wood are pentachlorophenol, salts of chromium, copper and arsenic.

Another hazard you should be aware of is storing wood inside your home if the wood supplied is soiled with bird droppings. There is a risk of histoplasmosis spores, which is a type of fungus infecting the lungs.

You can get more information from the Department of Public Health's Center for Environmental Health Services by calling (517) 335-8362.

BEACH SCHOOL YOUNG AUTHORS attended the eighth annual Young Authors Conference in Saline on Saturday, March 7. The students were chosen based on their interest and performance in writing. Each young author took an original manuscript to the conference to share in a group session. Many of the works will be published in an anthology. Featured speaker at the conference was author Alfred Slato of Ann Arbor, writer of numerous children's books including "Hang Tough Paul Mather" and "My Robot Buddy." Chelsea's young authors were, in the front row, from left, Megan Stielstra, Robert Coelius, Sarah Gegenheimer, and Becky Pryor. In the back row, from left, are Corinda Tuttle, Melaine Broughton, Kevin Rose, Tobin Strong and Miriam Haapala. Not pictured is Jane Irwin, whose original drawing with the theme "Read My Thoughts," was on the cover of the day's program booklet.

THESE MUSICIANS participated in the State Solo and Ensemble Festival last Saturday, March 29 at Eastern Michigan University. The festival drew many of the finest high school musicians from across the state, who were judged on their basic ability and proficiency. In the front row are musicians who were all rated Division I. From left are Holly Jorgensen, violin, Kathy Jorgensen, cello, Denise Pratt, clarinet, and Maryam Bramkamp,

Q. In the last 10 years I have bought two old houses and made quite extensive repairs on them, rented them for a couple of years and sold them on land contracts. I have really done quite well and found the tax free depreciation was very helpful while I rented them. Now I read that the new tax laws will take all the profit out of real estate investment. Do you see any chance to make money on real estate under the new tax laws? Should I repeat my operation all over again?

A. It is true the new tax law takes some of the profit out of some of the real estate manipulating that was taking place, but there is still a lot of room to make money on sound real estate investments. Your experience suggests you've had skill in finding property that could be restored at a reasonable cost and was in a location where it has appeal and could be turned into a salable product. My guess is you could repeat that process and enjoy about the same kind of profit you have had in the past.

There is a way an individual without your talents can participate in real estate ownership without great risk or any need to spend a lot of personal time with the operation. It is a way that has not been affected very much by the new tax law and is called investing in REITs. That stands for Real Estate Investment Trusts. Leonard Reiser has written an article in the February issue of Better Investing discussing the number of the investments of this type.

There was a great deal of abuse in the REIT industry 20 years ago, but a large number of the companies now available have long records of good management. Shareholders have enjoyed good dividends each year, seen the size of the dividend increase most years and seen the value of their stock appreciate almost every year. You wouldn't expect much more from an investment.

There are two major kinds of REITs, equity REITs and mortgage REITs. The former kind takes an ownership or equity interest in property and works to manage it profitably and enhance its value. The mortgage REITs take the position of a creditor or lender.

REITs tend to concentrate on specific types of property. American Hotels and Hotel Investors invests in hotels. Beverly Investment Properties invests in nursing homes. Federal Realty concentrates on shopping centers. First Union prefers office buildings, and Santa Anita Realty owns a race track. Some of the REITs concentrate in one area of the country.

Reiser suggests three of the REITs for the investors consideration.

Federal Realty, First Union Realty and New Plan Realty. All are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and have a good record of increasing earnings, dividends and stock prices.

Medicare will reimburse the elderly for the cost and administration of pneumonia vaccine. This program will substantially reduce the $63,000,000 paid by Medicare to treat pneumococcal pneumonia in the elderly. It is, therefore, cost-effective and will result in a net savings to the treasury of close to $12 million by 1986.

NEW LIBRARIAN at McKune Memorial Library in Chelsea is Shelley Weber, 27, of Grass Lake. She'll be working from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and one Saturday per month. She'll be in charge of ordering books for the children's portion of the library and she'll supervise the summer reading program. Shelley previously worked at Gordon Plastics in Jackson. "I've always been interested in books, and I like working with the public," Shelley says. "This should be an exciting job because of the growth of the library." Shelley bowls at Chelsea Lanes on Friday nights and plays softball in Chelsea's summer recreation league. Her husband, Todd, is a precision grinder at AA Products in Manchester.

New Books on Shelves Of McKune Library

The Wings of the Wind, by Ronald Hardy. Through post-revolutionary China inches a tiny band, a Western man and a woman with two small boys. They travel undercover, planting false clues to throw off their pursuer, resorting even to violence in the face of capture. Their goal: to reach Taiwan. Their chances of making it: almost none. So begins The Wings of the Wind, a tale of high drama and fascinating complexity.

Echoes in the Darkness, by Joseph Wambaugh. The Main Line, west of Philadelphia, is studded with estates and mansions, along with prep schools, academies, and famous universities. It is also steeped in colonial history with a strong flavor of the Gothic. And nothing could be more Gothic than The Main Line Murder Case, a true story to rival Joseph Wambaugh's most bizarre fiction. At the core of the case are bright academic and upright citizens.

A Place to Hide, by Evelyn Anthony. From a master of contemporary romantic suspense comes her most complex, absorbing, and timely novel yet. The tragedy-torn world of the Arbuthnot family spans two generations of Anglo-Irish bound together only by violence and death—and the greatest drama yet to come.

Dreams Are Not Enough, by Jacqueline Briskin. Dreams Are Not Enough, is Jacqueline Briskin's most mesmerizing love story to date—a spellbinding tale of a wealthy California family out to conquer the world and a supremely passionate woman who can win it for them. Temptress, goddess, star—Alyssia Del Mar was all of these to the millions of movie fans who worshipped her extravagant allure and irresistible sensuality. But to the people whose paths crossed hers, she was something more: a child of poverty whose innocent and overwhelming need to be loved drove her to the top—and made her the pawn in a family's bid for absolute power.

Sideshow, by Charles Willeford. Hoke Moseley, the leisure-suited Miami homicide detective introduced in Miami Blues and New Hope for the Dead, finally shows the world around him what a real "burned out" cop does—he stops working, stops talking, stops thinking... and sits unseeing in his chair with a complete crime-induced breakdown. In another part of the state: Career criminal Troy Loudon—amoral, alias many other names, and reminiscent of certain reptiles—has arrived to upset the balance of nature on the streets of south Florida. Here two sets of lives that should have absolutely nothing to do with each other collide in a spectacular and violent supermarket robbery that shouldn't have happened, but did.

JUVENILE
The Eyes of the Dragon, by Stephen King. A tale of archetypal heroes and sweeping adventures, of dragons and princes and evil wizards—as only Stephen King can tell it! Writing with the wit and the power that have enthralled millions, Stephen King has taken the classic fairy-tale form and transformed it into a masterpiece of fiction that will captivate readers of all ages.

Michigan History Magazine Features Statehood Stamp

The second in a series of Michigan History magazines highlighting the State's Sesquicentennial is now available.

Featured on the rose-colored cover is the Michigan Statehood Stamp designed by Detroit artist Robert Wilbert and released by the U.S. Postal Service on Statehood Day—Jan. 28.

"In this issue, we continue our focus on the many exciting events being celebrated during our Sesquicentennial Year," said Sandra Sageser

Clark, editor of Michigan History magazine which is published by the Michigan Department of State.

"In addition to the article on Robert Wilbert's designing of the Statehood Stamp, the current issue features articles on the donation of an Au Sable River boat to the new heritage center under construction in Lansing, and a silver service loaned by the U.S. Navy to the Michigan Historical Museum for an exhibit on the three ships nam-

IRS Offers Tax Help on Saturdays

The Internal Revenue Service office in Ann Arbor will be open on Saturdays for people who need help with their 1986 tax forms but can't get to the office during weekday hours, the IRS said today. The free tax help will be available on April 4, and April 11, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The tax filing period ends April 15.

The Ann Arbor office of IRS is located at 3001 S. State, Wolverine Tower-Low Rise.

The office in Ann Arbor is also open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Toll-free telephone assistance is available during the same weekday hours. The number is 1-800-424-1040. The toll-free number for forms order only is 1-800-424-FORM.

Ever wonder why your windshield washer fluid isn't up to par? Hot weather can rob the fluid of its alcohol-cleaning component which means the container can be full but the windshield is getting smeared, not cleaned. Tip from the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association: Periodically, run the wiper fluid till the bottle is dry, then refill with fresh solvent so you'll be ready for grimy days' driving.

+ AREA DEATHS +

Richard E. Cesarz

5965 Sibley Rd.
Chelsea

Richard E. Cesarz, Deacon, 5965 Sibley Rd., age 45, died accidentally Wednesday, March 25, while fishing at Frankfort.

He was born June 21, 1941 in Saginaw the son of Edward M. and Mildred (Brussow) Cesarz Jenkins. On Sept. 29, 1973 in Detroit he married Kathleen Selby who survives.

Richard was ordained a deacon on June 18, 1980 at St. Mary's Cathedral in Lansing. He came to Chelsea in 1978 from Detroit and at the time of his death was the deacon and associate pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church in Chelsea. In addition he was a member of the Knights of Columbus Council 3096, a past president of the Chelsea Ministerial Association and a member of the Board of Directors of Faith in Action of Chelsea.

Surviving in addition to his widow, Kathy, are his children, Joseph M., Naomi R., Esther M., and Lucian T., all at home, and Eileen Cesarz of Tampa, Fla.; his mother, Mrs. Mildred Cesarz Jenkins of Holiday, Fla.; his brother, Curtis J. Cesarz of Saginaw, and two nephews and one niece.

He was preceded in death by his father in August of 1981.

Mass of the resurrection was held Saturday, March 28, at 11 a.m. from St. Mary's Catholic church with concelebrants the Most Rev. Kenneth J. Povish, Bishop of the Archdiocese of Lansing, the Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis, pastor of St. Mary's church, and priests and fellow deacons of the Archdiocese of Lansing, officiating.

Parish scripture services were held Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the church, and a Knights of Columbus Rosary was recited Friday evening at 9 p.m., also at the church.

Interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Chelsea.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to the Richard E. Cesarz Memorial Fund, c/o the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, Chelsea, who were in charge of arrangements.

The Council for American Private Education is comprised of 15 national private school associations that serve or operate 15,000 private schools for about 4.2 million students.

James M. Windell

Fort Myers, Fla.

(Formerly of Lima Township) James H. Windell, 77, of Fort Myers, died Tuesday, March 24, at Lee Memorial Hospital. Mr. Windell was born in Rochester, N.Y. and moved to Fort Myers in 1971 from Jackson Rd., Lima township.

He is survived by his wife, Pauline of Fort Myers; one son, Edward of Humble, Tex.; one daughter, Beverly May Card of Alexandria, Va.; five grandchildren.

Arrangements were by Fort Myers Memorial Gardens Funeral Home.

Paul E. Bradbury

Mount Airy, Md.

(Formerly of Chelsea)

Paul E. Bradbury, 71, of Mount Airy, Md., died Tuesday, March 10, at the Pleasant View Nursing Home, Mount Airy, Md. He was the husband of Violet L. Bradbury of Mount Airy.

Mr. Bradbury was born Nov. 23, 1915 in Minnesota. He was the son of the late Josiah M. and Esme Dallas Bradbury of Dexter.

Surviving besides his wife, Violet, are three children, James L. Bradbury of Mount Airy, James Curtis Bradbury of Chelsea, and Paula Jean Presley, also of Chelsea.

He is also survived by two brothers, James Curtis Bradbury of Ada Minn., Richard Bradbury of Dexter; one sister, Helen Paine of Steilacoon, Wash.; 10 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

He served in World War II in the South Pacific as a sergeant in the U.S. Army. Later he was employed by the U.S. Government in the Federal Prison Service.

Funeral services were held Friday, March 13, at the Mount Airy Baptist church. Interment followed in Parklawn Memorial Park, Rockville, Md.

The Task Force of Economic Adjustment and Worker Dislocation was appointed by Secretary of Labor William E. Brock in October 1985. The 21-member task force includes representatives from government, industry, labor, academia and the private economic research community.

Woman's Body Discovered Floating in Huron River

Detectives from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department and a support unit of deputies met on the banks of the Huron River, near the intersection of Zeeb and Peters Rds. in Scio township, Saturday afternoon, March 28, after a man walking with two young children along the river bank reported observing a person wearing pink shoes floating in the water at that location. The pink shoes were pointed up.

Confirming the observation of the man who notified them, detectives found and recovered the body of Carolyn Mamie Tooson, a young Ypsilanti woman, reported missing to officers at the Ypsilanti Police Dept., Friday, March 27.

The body was recovered from the river approximately 100 yards east of the Zeeb Rd. bridge and taken to the University of Michigan morgue by personnel from Nie Funeral Home. An autopsy was conducted Sunday, March 29.

Detective Sergeant William McFarlane explained in a news release early Monday, preliminary autopsy findings were inconclusive to determine the cause of death.

Officials await a detailed report on blood and tissue samples sent for analysis before proceeding with the investigation.

Foul play is suspected in the young woman's death, however, investigators indicated.

The 21-year-old Ms. Tooson was last seen on Tuesday, March 24, according to the missing person report filed by her mother.

If anyone in the area observed unusual activity near the Zeeb Rd. bridge during the past week-end, or spotted suspicious vehicles near the location, please advise the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Perhaps, the information may seem of little consequence to you, but it may help complete what appears to be a homicide investigation.

Co-operate with the detectives as much as possible, if you are able to shed any light on their investigation.

Did you hear or see any one or any action that might help investigators solve the case? If so, notify the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department—and please do it as soon as possible.

ed in honor of Michigan," said Clark. Two other articles focus on Michigan Black History. One introduces Lansing author Hondon Hargrove who has researched the history of Black soldiers back to the Civil War. The second described the migration of Blacks from North Carolina to Cass county during the 1850s.

Another article in Michigan History describes the struggle to rescue Muskegon after its lumbering heydays.

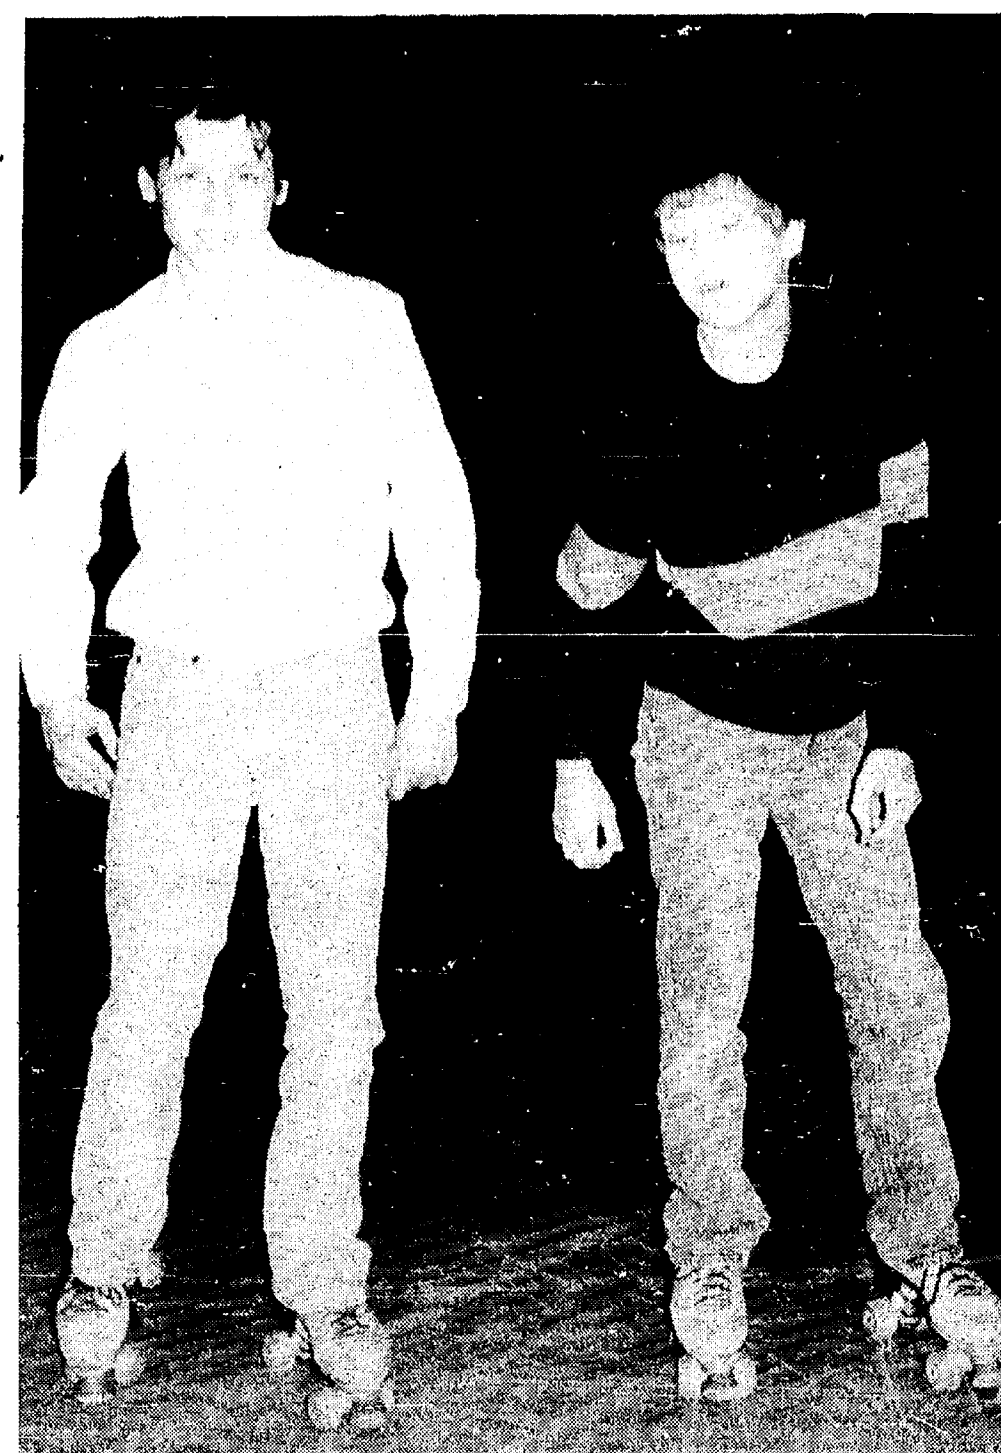

Michigan History magazine is available by subscription and at some local museums and newsstands. Single copies cost $2 and a yearly subscription is $9.95. Checks made payable to the State of Michigan should be sent to the Michigan Department of State, Bureau of History, Lansing, 48918.
