JoAnne Schrottenboer, of Grass Lake. Tim and Anne Merkel and Tom and Kelley McKernan were the prime boilers and colorers of the 2,000 eggs. The hunt, for many years, has been sponsored by the Chelsea Jaycees. This year's event was put together technically by former members, as the chapter lost its state charter due to low membership.

Kozminskis Get New Trial As Conviction Set Aside

Ike and Margarethe Kozminski, of Chelsea, and their son, John, won a new trial after a federal court last Thursday set aside their convictions on charges that they forced two mentally retarded workers into involuntary servitude and conspired to deprive them of their constitutional rights.

The 6th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals said the prosecution should not have been allowed to present the testimony of psychologist Harley Stock, of the Forensic Center in the Ypsilanti Regional Psychiatric Hospital, whose testimony was key to the case. He testified the Kozminskis had brainwashed Robert Fulmer and Louis Molitoris into serving them.

The case will be retried in the court of U.S. District Judge Charles Joiner in Ann Arbor.

The appeals court said it could find no evidence that Fulmer and Molitoris had been held in captivity.

David Goldstein, one of the defense attorneys in the trial two years ago, was quoted in the Ann Arbor News as saying "I would think with the Stock testimony excluded (the prosecution's) case is in big trouble. They could decide not to go for another trial. That would be appropriate, I would think."

Bridgetown Condos Get Preliminary Approval By Planning Commission

Bridgetown Apartments, Inc., the proposed condominium project for vacant land behind St. Barnabas church off Old US-12, had its preliminary site plan approved by the Chelsea Village Planning Commission at the group's regular meeting April 14.

The site plan was approved with nearly a dozen contingencies reflecting virtually everything from street access to snow removal concerns.

The project, proposed by Chelsea-area resident Lloyd Bridges, owner of Lloyd Bridges Traveland, and his son, Jerry, has been scaled back from 80 buildings to 74 buildings, reflecting several concerns of the village administration. It would be built on land from Carl St. to what would be the Taylor St. extension south to Old US-12.

The project would be completed in two phases, beginning at the western end of the property off Carl St. The western portion has the easiest access to various village utilities.

Phase one would go south along the western border and east along the northern border, in essence dissecting the property from its northeast corner to the southwest. Phase two would develop the eastern and southern portions of the property.

One of the commission's chief concerns was that the Taylor St. extension be completed, whether or not both phases of the project were built. Initially all traffic into the development would be from Carl St. The commission wanted assurances that extensions of Taylor St. and Carl St. would be completed to allow alternate traffic flow.

The Taylor and Carl St. extensions would be completed at the developer's cost.

There were also several concerns about the development's streets, since they will be private rather than public roads. They have to be open for police and emergency vehicle access, they have to allow pedestrian access to the rest of the neighborhood, and they have to allow visitor parking on the streets according to village ordinances. Lighting also has to be acceptable and barrier free sidewalks must be constructed.

However, the village will not remove snow from the streets or pay to maintain them.

Storm water drainage was also a major concern of the commission.

It was proposed that Bridges get together with adjoining vacant land owners, where similar projects have been discussed, to solve the problem together at their expense. All the vacant land would drain into the same area.

Chelsea Pines Condominiums have been proposed for land north of Bridgetown Apartments. Land to the east is owned by Peter Flintoff of Chelsea. There has been speculation that Flintoff's land will also be developed.

The initial storm drainage route would be overlaid through an open ditch, which is in poor condition and needs to be cleaned out, according to a report by Assistant Village Manager Lee Fahrner. He said that eventually a storm sewer should be built across the Chelsea Pines project to connect to an existing sewer.

The ditch would have to be maintained by the development.

Other planning commission concerns about the project include the fact that a zoning variance would have to be granted because the proposed two-family buildings are being planned with 30 feet between them rather than the required 45 feet. The commission also wanted privacy screening on the western portion of the property.

In addition, there were concerns that there wouldn't be enough water pressure at the southwest corner of the development for fire protection. Those concerns may require that a couple of units be dropped from the project.

Before construction can begin, a final site plan has to be approved.

The preliminary site plan shows the development built in nearly a square, with a few extra buildings on the northern boundary. There would be a square open area in the center of the development.

Private streets would ring the development, with condominiums on both sides of the street.

Spring Pick-Up's Not Simple As It Seems

There were several major agenda items for the regular village council meeting Tuesday, April 7, but few were picked over as thoroughly as the village's trash. Village President Jerry Satterthwaite was even a little philosophical about it all.

The primary concern was how to deal with this year's annual spring pick-up, designed primarily to help village residents with their spring housecleaning. Once a year residents can put virtually any kind of trash and junk imaginable on their curbs for village crews to pick up.

This year the pick-up will be held on Saturday, May 2 for the entire village. Residents may put their garbage out the previous Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Satterthwaite let it be known he wasn't thrilled with the idea of having pick-up on a Saturday.

"In my opinion, we aren't doing what we were elected to do," Satterthwaite said.

"And that's serve the public."

Satterthwaite objected to the fact that it would be difficult for residents to get the trash out on weekdays. He said he didn't care if the pick-up would cost more or take longer if it could be made more convenient to the public.

However, the village plans to rent certain pieces of equipment that will speed up the pick-up. That equipment is only available on Saturday.

The village let it be known that it is serious about having the pick-up conducted in an orderly manner this year. There is a quarter-page advertisement in this issue of The Standard giving specific details as to how the pick-up will be conducted. For instance, the village wants like items, such as wood, to be piled together.

The village doesn't want a repeat of last year when crews tried to pick up different parts of town on different days.

"That was pure chaos," said Dave Bulson, supervisor of public works.

Unlike past years, this year village crews will go down each street once only. If trash is not out on the curb by then, tough luck. Likewise, if trash is put out late, residents may get gentle reminders from the village to get rid of it in some other way.

In another garbage-related matter, village council carried a request by Washtenaw county to appropriate $4,000 for a state-run analysis of garbage coming into the village's landfill on Werkner Rd.

Director of Public Works Jack Durbin wanted the village to join the Waste Treatment Assessment Program, funded mostly by the state.

The idea behind the analysis was to determine how much of the incoming trash is burnable and how much is recyclable. That information would help the county plan for a future incinerator, which is where most of the village's trash is likely to go once the landfill is closed.

Objections were raised that Chelsea was asked to pay as much as other communities with landfills, most of which handle at least three times the amount of garbage. Council agreed it would reconsider joining the program if the cost were pro-rated.

North School Festival of Arts Slated

North School Festival of the Arts will be held on Tuesday, April 28, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. During that time there will be artwork by talented North school students in grades 1-5 displayed throughout the school for all to enjoy. Janet Alford, North school art teacher, is anxious for you to view work by North school artists.

As a special treat, first grade musicians will perform at 6:45 p.m., second graders at 7:10, and third graders at 7:35, under the direction of Ron Harris. Songs will be in celebration of the Michigan Sesquicentennial.

The Book Fair will be open during this time in the North School Media Center, with Barbara Locks assisting in selections.

The public is invited to join in this North School Festival of the Arts.

JAMEY KETNER designed this display on alcohol for Monday night's science fair in the Chelsea High school media center. She, and the other students in the fair, are students in Barb Pruess' biology classes. Jamey's work showed the effects alcohol has on plants and humans, and detailed the steps to human dependence. Her display included a self-designed questionnaire on alcohol, which many of her classmates filled out. She had also collected numerous advertisements for alcoholic beverages.

TELESCOPIC FORKLIFT was recently purchased by Chelsea Glass Co. to enable employees to work safely and quickly on buildings up to four stories high. In the past, workers have had to haul their materials up ladders or scaffolding. According to Marty Kimball, who's in the driver's seat, it is unusual for a company like Chelsea Glass to have this kind of equipment. Ed Reames is on the lift, which will go 36 feet in the air.

4 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, April 19, 1983—
Clean-up and renovation of the Palmer-Baldwin drain was an issue with the Chelsea school board. The school and the Village of Chelsea are both partial owners of the 932 acres and are exempt from drain assessments, Fred Mills told the board. Butch Downer and Bernard Herst are the two largest private property owners in the watershed.

A surprise storm which apparently hit hardest in the Chelsea area dumped an estimated 10 inches of snow early Sunday morning and caused a temporary civil defense emergency when westbound I-94 was blocked near the Kalmbach Rd. interchange. Two semi-trailer trucks had jack-knifed across the freeway.

One of two 20' fiberglass statues of Paul Bunyan, which once flanked the entrance at Paul Bunyan Food Systems (now P.B.'s) on Jackson Rd, was buried at the Chelsea landfill. Before burial the now headless statue made a brief appearance at CHS on April 11, greeting students and staff at the school standing in the fishbowl garden (as a prank).

Two Chelsea High school students were finalists in this year's Detroit Free Press state writing competition—Felicia Passow, for poetry in Japanese Haiku style; and David Lane for a short story.

14 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, April 19, 1973—
In a move that sent shock waves through the administrations of Chelsea's schools, the Board of Education resolved at Monday's closed-door executive session to reassign all Chelsea principals as follows: Charles Lane to Beach Middle school, Alan Conklin, to Chelsea High school, Sylvester Wojcicki to North Elementary and Robert Benedict to South Elementary.

Varsity baseball began this soggy season with several early spring warm-ups rained out. Team players

Kindergarten room mothers decided to lend a hand in classroom Easter celebrations. 230 bunnies were made from 12,600 cotton balls. Bunny-makers were Mrs. Ron Satterthwaite, Mrs. Willis Westphal, Mrs. Gerald Kraus, Mrs. Ronald Lorenzen, Mary Lou Stoddard, Mrs. Floyd Grau, Mrs. Charles Bulson, Mrs. Arnold Deanhof, Mrs. Tim Schulze, Mrs. Gary Wilber.

24 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, April 18, 1963—
The first Easter Egg Hunt initiated by Chelsea Jaycees was attended by more than 500 children to gather 1,800 colored eggs and other prizes at Chelsea High school grounds. Louis "Corky" Dreyer, was general chairman of the project.

Mrs. Mary Pielemeier observed her 98th birthday with friends and relatives from Ann Arbor and Chelsea. Among these were a grandnephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Fraumann of Ann Arbor. Mrs. Pielemeier lives at the home of her niece and nephew, Dorothea Pielemeier and Albert Pielemeier on Chelsea-Manchester Rd.

F. W. Merkel, Carl Schneider and Robert Barlow were appointed to the "future parking committee" by Chamber of Commerce president Paul G. Schable, Jr., at a dinner meeting at the Congregational church. A motion was approved to work with the Village Council in promoting pavement for the existing Park St. parking lot.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, April 23, 1953—
Police Chief George Doe, Chelsea's Civil Defense director, is trying to establish outdoor stations to spot enemy planes around Chelsea. Many neighboring communities, Doe said, have already formed "ground observer units" and he believes it will be possible to find people here to take part in this vitally necessary volunteer work.

Otto Riegger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Riegger, was named valedictorian.

State Ban Urged on Commercialized Surrogate Parenting

Legislation that would ban contracts providing payments for surrogate parenting will be introduced soon in the state Legislature, supporters announced, saying Michigan must take the national lead on the issue.

Announcement of the proposal came on the same day a New Jersey Superior Court judge enforced a $10,000 surrogate parent contract in the celebrated Baby M case, denying custody to the genetic mother.

Sen. Connie Blinsfeld (R-Maple City), who had in past years unsuccessfully pushed legislation to completely ban surrogate parenting said, "If we don't act, we will continue to have Baby M cases."

The legislation would create a statutory presumption that the birthing mother is the legal mother.

The proposed legislation was an outgrowth of a symposium by national legal, medical, religious and ethics leaders, which opposed an outright ban on surrogate parenting to permit the practice among close family members or for payment of actual expenses and a "reasonable" fee.

Judianne Densen-Gerber, co-convenor of the symposium, said government clearly has a role in surrogate parenting when parties seek to use instruments of society such as contracts.

She said 82 percent of the participants strongly opposed brokerage of surrogate babies, with laws prohibiting the practice and criminal sanctions for violations.

Ingham County Probate Judge Donald Owens said commercial surrogate contracts would be void as against public policy and said the problem with the Baby M case is that it became a contract case instead of a custody matter. "We're trying to build in as many disincentives as possible," he said.

Densen-Gerber said Michigan has a deep obligation in the matter because Dearborn attorney Noel Keane is involved in 65 percent of all surrogate parenting cases nation-wide, including the Baby M case.

Attorneys for the birthing mother, who lost custody of the baby in the decision, said they would appeal. The mother changed her mind after giving birth a year ago and argued the contract was against public policy.

Keane said the time is ripe for legislation setting guidelines for surrogate contracts.

A majority of attendees at the symposium also supported use of in-vitro fertilization, in which a married couple's sperm and egg are implanted in another woman's womb for pregnancy development, use of frozen embryo technology among married couples, keeping records and disclosing information of sperm donors for artificial insemination and prohibiting donations by those testing positive for sexually transmitted infectious or genetic diseases.

State Airline Idea

Described As Extreme Option
Governor James Blanchard's statement that the state may have to look at building its own airline to ensure service to smaller cities is only an "extreme" option of how to deal with deregulated air service, an aide reported.

The remarks to reporters following a conference on tourism reflected his concern about the air service problems related to both tourism and economic development.

Blanchard said at some point, state officials may have to entertain establishing a state-run airline as commercial service is reduced or eliminated at cities such as Traverse City, Marquette and Escanaba.

Assistant Press Secretary Lisa Grayson said the governor has no specific plan, "but is looking into options and trying to find the most workable one. The state-run airline is reflective of looking at the range of things you could do, but it certainly would not happen in the near future."

Besides making the state accessible for tourists, she said a lot of businesses make decisions on air accessibility, which makes air service a priority for the governor.

Be somewhat skeptical the next time you hear a story or see a movie with a gory piranha attack. The piranha's ferocious reputation is simply not accurate, according to International Wildlife magazine. Piranhas will rarely attack a large living mammal and their usual meal is made up of fruit and seeds.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

A feller you ain't heard from lately is the lawyer that declared in a Washington speech a few weeks back that what this country needs is deregulated lawyers. He said folks are girded down to tight by laws and lawyers, and price fixing by the legal profession is killing healthy competition and making it impossible for a lawyer just starting out to make a living outside an established firm.

Ed Doolittle reminded the fellers at the country store Saturday night that what the lawyer said made the papers, but what got said by lawyers about the lawyer made the headlines. If he didn't git tarred and feathered, Ed said, he must of got disbarred and disgraced, or at the very least parties of the second part are preparing a charge of unethical conduct agin the party of the first part. Our lawyers know the ratio of lawyers to the population is higher here than anywhere in the world, but there's enough out there fer everybody. All they got to do to get along is go along, and they got the muscle to keep everybody in line.

Ed said he thought about that lawyer and his speech last week when he saw that Japan had agreed to import American lawyers. Ed said he was reminded of the plan the fellers at the store worked out that would set up an exchange of farmers between Russian and the U. S. The reason Japan give, Ed reported, was that so many of its companies have operations here they need exchange of legal services between the two countries. What Japan ain't bargained fer, Ed went on, is that our lawyers can do fer its industry what Russian farmers could do fer our agriculture. We got to much farm surplus and Japan's got a export surplus, Ed said, but a team of our lawyers can come up with a set of rules that will cut production below domestic demand inside a year.

Ordinary, Ed said, a jump in sales in Japan would ease the country's high yen problem, but by the time the companies pay fer American legal services they'll do us a big favor in balance of payments. Another plus fer us, Ed declared, is that we'll learn so much from exporting lawyers that we'll figger out the way to bring Iran around to our thinking is to send a few hundred of our sharpest life insurance salesmen over there.

General speaking, Glem Webster summed up the fellers response to Ed's report by saying lawyers is like wimmen. If you think you can't live with em, try living without em. As fer price fixing, Clem said, lawyers ain't different from barbers, real estate salesmen and ever other licensed trade. By controlling licenses, they control market and price fer service. Clem said he can see the need fer a pilot and a plumber to know somepun about what he's doing, but he had saw recent where Washington, D. C. had passed a law where you got to have a license to work as a interior decorator.

Zeke Grubb was agreed with Clem. Very few things fall neat in place in a country as rich, as in debt, as much of everthing as this one. Fer instant, he said, where else do people spend as much on diets as on food, and where else does a aerosol tung spray that smells like food sell like hotcakes. Where else would everybody cheer when the British build a tunnel of toad love under a road between winter woods and spring mating pond. Now we all know why froggy crossed the road. He went a courtin.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Forensics Club Performs for Woman's Club

At their April 14 meeting the Woman's Club of Chelsea was privileged to be entertained by the Forensics Club of Chelsea High School. Stacy Murphy introduced five members of the club who were Michelle Kuhl, Lee Tucker, Phil Thompson, Ward Beauchamp and Rob Rawson. Many of us had little knowledge of just what forensics involved.

Murphy gave a resume of the club's accomplishments which are very notable indeed. Each member then presented his own selection according to whatever they excel in. The selections varied from the very humorous to very sad. After listening to each appreciate we all agreed we now better understand all the time, effort and hard work involved in being a member of the Forensics Club.

Two important dates await the ending of Woman's Club meetings for this year. The annual business meeting will be held on April 28. New officers will be elected and the budget set for the coming year. Also May 12 is the date set for the annual dinner to be held at the Brandywine Restaurant in Jackson.

Hostess for the evening were Leila Pawlowski and Kathy Heeter.

For further information regarding club membership or activities you may call Joyce Vogel at 475-1568.

Detective Outlines Child Abuse Goals For Study Club

Chelsea Child Study Club met Tuesday, April 14 at Kathy Frisinger's home. Co-hostesses were Kay Redding and Mary Ann Flynn.

Speaker was Dane Jachalke, detective with the Ann Arbor Police Department specializing in juvenile problems. The subject was child abuse and Jachalke outlined the objectives of his department and procedures followed when investigating and prosecuting child abusers. He stressed his philosophy that the major concern is the position of the child.

Election of officers for the 1987-88 year took place with the following results: president, JoAnn Richardson; vice-president, Kathy Frisinger; secretary, Cami Noah; treasurer, Judy Smith; parliamentarian, Sue Sheffield.

The next meeting will be April 28 at Ellie Griffin's home.

If you're going to Africa, be prepared for something unusual in the party mix. The mopane worm, the four-inch larva of the emperor moth, is becoming a popular snack food there. In Africa, these caterpillars traditionally have been consumed fried, dried, stewed or raw. National Wildlife magazine reports that the mopane worm is now being marketed as a cheap, nutritious, fast-food item. But how do they taste? Some say they have a nutty flavor, others complain of a dry taste. Of course dryness can be avoided by eating them raw . . . Bon Appetit!

LONG-KITCHENS: Mr. and Mrs. George J. Long of Chelsea have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Jane, to David Edward Kitchens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kitchens of Ann Arbor. The bride-to-be is a 1983 graduate of Chelsea High school and is employed by Faist-Morrow Buick-Olds-Chevrolet in Chelsea. The future bridegroom is a 1978 graduate of Pioneer High school and is employed by Perfect Fit in Ann Arbor. The wedding will take place Sept. 5.

IT WAS A LOT OF WORK but players, parents and coaches used last Friday afternoon to erect a fence on the Chelsea High school baseball field, giving a home run hitter something to shoot for. 70 pieces of chipboard, bolts, 2 by 4s and posts were used in the construction, much of which was paid for from funds generated by the recent "Pledge for Fitness." The group worked from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. The fence was ready for the Chelsea-Manchester Invitational Tournament played on Saturday.

Sixth Grade Camp Runs Week of May 4

Chelsea's sixth graders will have a chance to learn about nature photography, cemeteries, wilderness survival and animal care among many other topics at the 17th annual Beach Middle school camping program May 4-8.

Again the program takes place at Mill Lake Campgrounds just west of Chelsea. Students will visit the camp in two shifts, the first from Monday to Wednesday noon and the second from Wednesday noon to Friday.

This year's theme, following Michigan's sesquicentennial, is "The Mitten Isn't Quiltin at 150," submitted by Corey Geiler, who has since moved to Texas. Sam Maynard created the logo for the official camp t-shirt, which will be worn by all attendees and helpers.

In addition to classes, children learn teamwork by sharing clean-up assignments, from the bathrooms to the dining rooms. Principal Darcy Stielstra is well-known at Beach school for his treacherous white-glove inspections, and his full public disclosures of the results.

There are also many guest speakers and entertainers. Conservation officer Craig Wales will talk about the history of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources; Beth Duman will present, "Wolves: Facts and Fallacies"; storyteller Harold Olsen will spin his tales; and there will be musical and vocal presentations by high school students.

Classes will include Backpacking, Medical Emergencies, Life in a Bog, Stenciling, Kite Making, Quilting, Pioneer Toys, Canoeing, Michigan Indians, Wheat Weaving, Fishing, Nature Detectives, Birds of Michigan, Archery, Outdoor Cooking, Wildflowers of Michigan, Grapevine Wreaths, Spring Pond, Candle Dipping, Michigan Geology, Basketry, Orienteering, Camp Newspaper, Reptiles and Amphibians, and Michigan Mammals.

Parents, friends, teachers and staff members have volunteered their time to help run the program, from meal preparation, to class leaders to bunk hall chaperones.

The camp program takes place rain or shine. The camp has had nearly perfect weather the last two years. More has been ordered by the principal.

Steven Kvarnberg Awarded Honors at U-M Convocation

At the University of Michigan, School of Natural Resources Honors Convocation, April 10, Steven Kvarnberg received a Certificate of Honor given by the American Society of Landscape Architects. This was the top award in a competition where students were invited to give a presentation of landscape related projects.

Steve will be graduating from the U. of M. on May 2 with a Masters in Landscape Architecture and has accepted a position in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

He is the son of Don and Carol Kvarnberg and is a 1980 graduate of Chelsea High school.

Youth League Sign-ups Slated for April 25

Registration for the summer youth baseball and softball programs offered by the Chelsea Recreation Council will be held on Saturday, April 25 from 9:30 a.m. to noon in the Chelsea High school cafeteria.

The season officially begins June 15. Seven leagues are available for boys and girls from kindergarten through ninth grades, and the leagues vary in price from $10 to $22, partially depending on township of residency.

League eligibility will be determined by the school grade in which the child is currently enrolled. T-ball is for kindergarten and first grade; Farm League, second and third grade; Little League, fourth and fifth grade; Pony League, sixth and seventh grade; Babe Ruth, eighth and ninth grade; Midget League, second through fourth grades; and Junior Miss, fifth through eighth grades.

The council will not honor requests for a particular coach or team.

Registration after May 1 will only be considered if space is available. There will also be a late fee of $5.

For those who cannot attend the Saturday sign-up, registration may also be made by mail. Contact the council at 475-9830 for details.

Sts. will receive a transfer worth 60 cents toward the purchase of the Dexter-Chelsea ticket.

According to the AATA's Perry Schechtman, there will be an introductory price May 4-9 of 25 cents each way.

"We'd like to get people to try it out," Schechtman said.

AATA plans to mail bus schedules to 6,400 homes in the Dexter-Chelsea area, giving detailed information, Schechtman said.

Later in the year there may be some added inducements to ride the bus, Schechtman said.

He said some Chelsea merchants are considering offering a free bus ticket for specific purchases.

In addition, he said, in the fall AATA may offer some incentives for frequent riders.

Art Students Will Exhibit At Arborland

Chelsea and Saline high school art students will exhibit their work on Saturday, April 25. This presentation will be at the Arborland Consumer's Mall, US-23 and Washtenaw, Ann Arbor. Exhibit hours are from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Approximately 75 pieces will be on display. Works will include inkings, watercolors, and various drawings.

Art instructors Catherine Opoka and Kerry Kargel will be present throughout the day.

It's now of-FISH-al! Hawaii has chosen a state fish. Ranger Rick magazine reports that the Humuhumu won the most votes after an election rally at the Waikiki Aquarium. A figure in early Hawaiian legends, the Humuhumu is known for its strategy of swimming into a small crack and using a special spine to lock itself in place, preventing other fish from extracting and eating it. The Humuhumu will serve as the state fish for five years, after which it must run for re-election.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

Friday and Saturday are Arbor Days in Chelsea, officially proclaimed by Village Council in 1985. This year, instead of planting new seedlings, school children will be invited to inspect plantings of seedlings and young trees made last spring. The valuable lesson to be learned in 1987 is that baby trees also need tender loving care when starting out in life. From their schoolyard inspections the kids will see how the trees THEY placed in the soil are doing.

One citizen of Michigan who cared deeply about trees was J. Sterling Morton, a journalist who moved to the barren prairies of Nebraska Territory in 1854. He became editor of the first newspaper in the state and used this forum passionately to encourage the planting of trees for soil protection, for fuel and building materials, for fruit and shade and beauty. The first Arbor Day, celebrated under Mr. Morton's leadership, was observed on April 10, 1872 with the planting of one million trees. Since then Arbor Day has been adopted in all 50 states and many foreign lands.

Strong local support is assured by the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club, with its forest of 30,000 evergreens, and the Chelsea School District with its legions of young tree worshippers.

One of the dark days in U. S. environmental history was May 11, 1934 when a dust storm blackened the skies of New York and other Atlantic coast cities with topsoil from Oklahoma. These fallouts were Nature's message of droughts that turned the Great Plains into a dust bowl, impoverishing millions of farm families. Lack of tree plantings, especially windbreaks, was among the causes of the disaster.

Grass, forage crops, shrubs and trees are all needed to hold the top soil in place, protecting it from the wind as well as erosion by moisture. The use of trees in agriculture is so devoutly applied that Arbor Day is almost holy for soil conservation districts around the nation. Each year our Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District has a tree sale in which healthy seedlings are offered in bunches of 50 or 100 at modest prices. Hardwoods as well as evergreens are available for conservation planting.

The WCSCD gets out a monthly newsletter which includes a steady stream of information on the planting and cultivation of trees. Instructions include advice on watering, mulching, placement, weed control and protection of seedlings. There are also cautions about use of fertilizers, protection from garden equipment and the selection of tree varieties for specific needs.

In a recent issue of the Washtenaw Soil Conservation letter our local editor republished "Some Interesting Contributions of Trees" which had been compiled by the Department of Forestry at the University of Tennessee. Here is the list.

1. Trees help supply oxygen we need to breathe. Yearly each acre of young trees can produce enough oxygen to keep 18 people alive.
2. Trees help keep our air supply fresh by using up carbon dioxide that we exhale and which factories and engines emit.
3. Trees use their hairy leaf surfaces to trap and filter out ash, dust, and pollen particles carried in the air.
4. Trees, as they release oxygen, dilute gaseous pollutants in the air.
5. Trees can be used to indicate air pollution levels of sulfur dioxide, just as canaries were once used to detect dangerous methane gas in coal mines.
6. Trees provide food for birds and wild animals.
7. Trees lower air temperatures by enlisting the sun's energy to evaporate water in the leaves.
8. Trees increase humidity in dry climates by releasing moisture as a by-product of food-making and evaporation.
9. Trees give us a constant supply of materials and nutrients—lumber for buildings and tools, cellulose for paper and fiber, plus nuts, mulches, oils, gums, syrups and fruits.
10. Trees slow down the force of winds.
11. Trees cut noise pollution by acting as barriers to sound. Each 100-foot width of trees can absorb six to eight decibels of sound intensity. Along busy highways, which can generate as much as 72 decibels, such noise reduction is welcome to residents.
12. Trees provide shelter for birds and wildlife, as well as people who are caught in rainstorms with no umbrellas.
13. Trees shade people and other creatures from the direct sunlight.
14. Trees camouflage harsh scenery and unsightly places such as dumps, auto graveyards and mine sites.
15. Trees offer a natural challenge to youthful climbers.
16. Trees make excellent perches for Robinson-Crusoe-style playhouses.
17. Tree branches support ruggedly-used swings.
18. Tree leaves break the onslaught of pelting raindrops on the soil surface and give the earth a chance to soak up water.
19. Tree leaves, when fallen, cover the ground to keep the soil from drying out.
20. Tree leaves, by decaying, replace minerals in the soil and enrich it to support later plant growth.
21. Tree roots hold the soil and keep silt from washing into streams.
22. Tree roots help air get beneath the soil surface.
23. Trees soothe the psyche with pleasing shapes and patterns, fragrant blossoms and seasonal splashes of colors.
24. Trees break the monotony of sidewalks and endless miles of highways.
25. Trees beautify our gardens and grace our back yards.
26. Trees soften the outline of masonry, metal and glass structures made by humans.
27. Trees increase the value of property.
28. And trees provide for economic growth and stability. We may now add a few more items to the list, and still feel pretty sure that others are missing.
30. Trees are the giants of the plant world.
31. Trees are the oldest living thing on earth. Some sequoias are 4,000 years old and a bristlecone pine is known to have lived for 46 centuries in California.
32. Trees give us rubber.
33. Trees supply camphor, quinine and other medicines.
34. Trees are our sources of chocolate, coffee and maple sugar plus spices such as nutmeg, mace, cloves, allspice and cinnamon.

If you need advice about tree cultivation the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District people will be happy to hear from you. Just phone 761-6721.

TRUSTEE BIFF WEBER has been chosen by the board of the Chelsea Depot Association to head its 1987 campaign fund. He and his team will make it possible to unlock the doors and open them wide for public use of the depot as a meeting place and historical museum.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, April 13 were Grau, Comeau, Satterthwaite, Wales, Chereau, superintendent Van Meer, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Larson, community education director Rogers, athletic director Reed, guests.

Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by vice-president Lloyd Grau.

Board approved the minutes of the March 16 meeting.

Entered as official communications were: a letter received by Superintendent Van Meer from Thomas Anderson, Ferris State College, regarding Jackie Rogers' recent involvement with telephone conferencing; a fact sheet received by secretary Anne Comeau from Washtenaw Intermediate School District pertaining to the millage and a resolution for the board to consider for adoption; and a communication from Sandy Barkman pertaining to the quality of instruction at South school.

The board presented a Certificate of Appreciation to North School parent Clara Smith in recognition of her involvement with "Student of the Week" activities and school volunteers.

The board finance committee discussed the June 8 ballot proposals dealing with the 20.5 mills operating millage renewal, maintenance millage renewal, and a ballot proposal to authorize the levy of all approved millage (Headlee Amendment).

Bob Bullock, representing Marcia Quilter of the teacher evaluation committee, indicated that the committee had held two meetings in March, and would like release time for eight people to work on the evaluation instrument.

Superintendent Van Meer informed the board that it would be nice to have a candidate from the Chelsea area for the WISD board. Petitions must be presented by May 4 for the six-year term.

Superintendent Van Meer reviewed the facility allocation and program relocation. Because of fluctuating enrollments, growth in some buildings and decline in others for the 1987-88 school year, the two community education pre-school classrooms at south will be moved to Beach Middle school, and the special education pre-school at North will be moved to South school. This will free up a room in each of the two elementary schools.

The board received, as an information item, the recommendations from building principals for teacher tenure and probationary status.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Editor, Better Investing Magazine

Q. I have never bought stock in my life, but I am ready now to make my first purchase. I do have a problem. I have just $3,000 to invest and I want to place my order so that, with the cost of the stock and the brokers charge, I won't have to pay more than that. The price of the stock I want to buy bounces around every day and if I had to pay the high it hits once or twice a week it would be more than I could pay. What do I tell my broker, to make sure I get the stock at a price I can keep within my budgeted total?

A. Tell your broker just what you have told me. When you tell him the name of the stock you want to buy and he checks the current price, he can tell you what the cost of making the purchase for you will be. That amount for your $3,000 is the amount you will be able to pay for the stock. There may be a tax and handling charge as well, but that is small and your broker will also allow for that.

When you talk to your broker about placing your order, he will be able to tell you at what price you can currently buy the stock. If you divide the amount you have to invest by that figure, you'll know how many shares you can buy. Ask your broker to place your order for that many shares and at the price he relayed to you. For example, you might ask for 270 shares at $10.75 per share. If you do, you would be placing what is called a limited order.

When your order reaches the floor of the exchange, it will be executed if the stock is then selling for $10.75 a share or less. If it is selling above $10.75 a share, it will not be executed.

You can tell the broker to let your order stand for a day, any other period, or until canceled. If the order is left standing and the stock sells higher for a week or two but then drops down to your price, it would then be executed.

More normally you would place what is called a market order. That means you would not set a price for your stock, but would accept whatever price the stock was selling for at the time your order reaches the exchange floor. You broker can always tell you what the last sale price was and, except during extremely active markets, the next sale is likely to be the same or close to that price. When you are buying a thinly held stock, however, price changes could be substantial. Check that with your broker.

When you talk with your broker, ask him to give you a copy of the New York Stock Exchange folder "We Welcome You As A Customer." This folder is excellent for the new investor. It tells how to open an account with your broker, the different ways in which you can place an order, how to settle your account and other information that is very informative to the new investor.

Saline Players Present 'Man Who Came to Dinner'

Saline Area Players will present their final production of the season, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," a comedy farce by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman at Saline High school, April 23-24-25 at 8 p.m.

Todd Wurster from Ypsilanti will play Sheridan Whiteside, assisted by Thia Remmers his nurse and Tom Franks who will play the triple role of Professor Metz, Beverly Carlton and Banjo also from Ypsilanti.

The Stanley family is played by John Cox, Mr. Stanley; Rose Carol Toth, Mrs. Stanley; David Cox, Richard Stanley and Sue Toth, June Stanley. Jim Williams will portray Dr. Bradley and Marita Stewart will play Maggie Cutter. Others in the cast are Kris Reutter, Jackie Widmark, Sue Keezer, Bill Burnette, Norma Keller, Tom Williams, Jerry Klein, Ted Toth and Rob Merchant.

Portly Sheridan Whiteside described in the New York Times as critic, lecturer, wit, radio orator, intimate friend of the great and near great and as a selfish, petty egomaniac by his secretary, having dined at the home of the Stanleys, slips on their doorstep, breaking his hip. A tumultuous six weeks of confinement follows. The Stanleys' living room is monopolized by the irascible invalid, visited by actors, writers and producers. Ex-convicts are invited to meals, transatlantic calls bring a $784 phone bill, the arrival of strange gifts from his friends further destroys domestic tranquility. Somehow Mrs. Stanley manages to survive penguins in her library, an octopus in her cellar and 10,000 cockroaches in her kitchen. Plots and counter plots will keep the audience in stitches as this fast paced farce comes to a surprise conclusion. Tickets are available at the door.

Sally Proctor Will Become New School Transportation Supervisor

Sally Proctor has been hired as the Chelsea school district's transportation supervisor. She will replace Ralph Brier who is retiring June 30.

Proctor is currently the secretary at North Elementary school, a job she has held since 1976. Prior to that she worked for seven years as a bus driver for the school district.

As transportation supervisor, Proctor will be responsible for 35 bus drivers and two mechanics. She will plan bus routes; hire (and when necessary, fire) bus drivers; secure substitute drivers; schedule buses for field trips and athletic events; maintain records such as mileage, payroll, gasoline, repair, and government forms; supervise the drivers and mechanics and evaluate their work; and recommend the purchase of buses and garage equipment. In snowy weather, she will get up in the early morning hours to determine if the schools should be closed.

Proctor has the mechanical savvy needed for her new job, saying she learned at her dad's heels. When she was a teenager, her father owned a grocery store at Portage Lake which also sold gas. Proctor managed the gas station part of the business, pumping gas and mixing gas and oil for outboard motors.

While still living at Portage Lake, Proctor's dad bought her, for $50, a Model A Ford which she taught herself to fix. When the police stopped her because the car was making too much noise, she pulled up to a nearby farm house, borrowed some baling wire and wired up the exhaust system. She remarked, "The police thought that was fantastic."

Proctor was born in Chelsea. For a time, the family lived in Ann Arbor, before moving to Portage Lake. She graduated from Dexter High school and attended Cleary college. When she married, she returned to Chelsea, living on Main St. in a house which had belonged to her grandmother. She now lives in the country, north of Chelsea.

Proctor had eight children in 10 years. One reason she took the bus driver job was because she could bring the children with her. That way she could work outside the home but still spend time with her kids. She said it worked out well, although she believes that liability laws no longer allow bus drivers to bring their children, unless they would be riding the bus anyway.

Proctor has been well-respected as the secretary at North. Four years ago, after she had been there seven years, the school honored her with a "Sally Proctor Day." The school had a luncheon and an assembly in her honor and also gave her flowers and a huge card signed by all.

Proctor is delighted to have been chosen for the job as bus supervisor. She said, "I'm elated. I feel so great that the administration felt confidence in me and my qualifications."

She feels she is lucky to work for the Chelsea school district, saying the administration and school district are outstanding. She described them, in terms appropriate for a transportation chief, "as willing to work to go the extra mile."

Proctor plans to spend the next few months dividing her time between North school, training her replacement, and the bus garage so she can learn all she can from Ralph Brier.

She wants to drive over all the routes and also get to know all the bus drivers before she starts, saying, again in terms appropriate for a transportation director, "I want to feel comfortable when I get rolling."

Chile peppers like, tomatoes, corn, potatoes, and tobacco were a gift to the rest of the world from Native Americans.

Nursing Bottle Syndrome Detrimental to Baby's Health!

Q: What is nursing bottle syndrome?

A: Nursing bottle syndrome refers to the pattern of dental decay seen in a child who is frequently put to bed with a bottle filled with milk, juice, or any liquid containing sugar.

During sleep the amount of saliva produced in the mouth is decreased. When baby is allowed to fall asleep with the bottle in his mouth, acids are produced and remain in contact with the tooth enamel because the liquid tends to pool around the infant's teeth. Since there is also less saliva present to dilute and neutralize these acids the effect on the teeth can be devastating!

It is important to avoid pacifying your baby with a bottle of sugar water or fruit juice. Even milk or formula can cause decay if it remains in the baby's mouth too long. Danger signs to look for are milky-white or decalcified areas of the teeth, particularly along the gum line area, or any brown/black discolorations on the teeth. If any of these signs are noted then baby should be promptly scheduled for a dental examination since early treatment can prevent infections and premature loss of teeth.

If a baby needs the "bottle comfort" at nap time or bed time, put plain water in the bottle in order to protect the teeth from decay problems. A drop of food coloring may be added to make the water look like juice.

Softball Team Wins Two Against AA Pioneer High

Chelsea Bulldogs lost their first softball game of the season but overall had a good week on the diamond as they split with Jackson Lumen Christi and took two from Ann Arbor Pioneer.

In the opener with Lumen Christi, senior Pam Brown took the loss although all three runs were unearned. She gave up just two hits.

"We got just four lousy hits," said Chelsea coach Charlie Waller.

"We didn't do much at all to help Pam. The kids seemed to be a little lethargic."

JLC picked up two unearned runs in the first inning on a costly Bulldog error.

Chelsea batters hit a lot of short fly balls and a number of grounders back to the pitcher.

In the second game, Peggy Hammerschmidt tossed a one-hitter and struck out eight as the rejuvenated Bulldogs won 11-2.

Although the Bulldogs officially picked up 15 hits, Waller said the girls weren't exactly whacking the ball.

Chelsea had five runs in the second inning, which turned out to be plenty for Hammerschmidt to work with.

Laura Torres reached on a bunt and Jenny Pichlik followed with a solid single. They advanced on a passed ball.

Alisha Dorow bunted her way on, and Kim Easton followed with a single to left to score two. A single by Karen Weber and a fielder's choice scored the final runs.

JLC didn't score their runs until the sixth inning, and both were unearned.

Weber and Dorow each had three hits to pace the offense. Easton, Trisha Mattoff, Kim Ferry and Leah Enderle each had two hits.

Haist's Clutch Hit Gives Bulldogs Their First Win

When you're in high school, it's always tough to face a pitcher who's being recruited by professional ball clubs.

And to have to face a guy like on the first game of the season creates a nearly impossible situation for opening with a victory.

But that's the position the Chelsea Bulldogs found themselves in last Tuesday when they opened against Novi High school and Jeff Tanderys, who had five professional scouts follow him to Chelsea to, among other things, measure his fast ball on a radar gun.

As you might expect, Tanderys blanked the Bulldogs for five innings, enroute to an 8-0 win, as Greg Haist and Mark Bareis had the only hits.

"Novi is a real good senior dominated team," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"We beat them twice last year when they had mostly underclassmen. It was turned around on us this year."

Jeff Harvey started on the mound for Chelsea and gave up just two unearned runs on two hits while striking out four.

"Jeff had a great outing," Welton said.

Greg Haist pitched the final two innings.

The second game was called after an inning due to darkness.

On Thursday against Brooklyn Columbia Central, Haist snapped a 3-3 tie in the bottom of the ninth inning with a bases loaded single to give Chelsea a 4-3 win in the opener.

The Dogs went on to complete the sweep with an 8-3 victory in the nightcap.

In any other inning, Haist's hit would have been scored a triple or a grand slam, as it rolled nearly all the way to the fence. He also would have been credited with three or four RBIs.

Greg Boughton went the distance in the opener. The junior struck out four, walked three and yielded five hits.

Chelsea was down 3-1 going into the fifth inning, as Todd Starkey's run scoring triple had scored the only Bulldog run.

However, in the fifth, Matt Bohlender, Bobby Clouse, Junior Morseau and Haist all singled to deadlock the game, setting up Haist's late-game heroics.

"We managed to steal bases pretty freely," Welton said.

"We were nine of 10 on the day."

The second game was highlighted by 3 2/3 innings of hitless relief pitching by junior Randy Ferry. Ferry relieved starter Larry Nix and picked up the win.

Ferry set down nine straight batters and struck out three. He inherited a 5-3 lead with two runners on. Tim Anderson's diving catch in the outfield "saved the day," Welton said.

Designated hitter Chris Acree had the big offensive game for the Dogs with two hits, three RBIs and two stolen bases. Clouse also knocked in two runs with two hits and Brian Coy picked up two hits, including a double.

Nix, who lacked 1/3 inning for the win, was victimized by a couple of misjudged fly balls, Welton said. Otherwise he pitched well.

"The highlight of the week was the pitching of Boughton, Nix and Ferry," Welton said.

Hawker Named Player of Week In GLIAC

Chelsea's Kelly Hawker, a sophomore at Wayne State University, was named Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Softball Player of the Week on April 13.

Hawker, a pitcher, is the first Wayne State player to receive the honor in 1987. It is the second time in her career she has earned the honor.

Hawker shut out three opponents and narrowly lost a fourth game. She stopped Northwood Institute, 2-0, Ferris State, 11-0, and Lake Superior State, 4-0. She lost to Eastern Michigan University, 2-1, but both runs were unearned.

Her win over Lake Superior was a no-hitter, the first for the Tartars in 1987, and third in Hawker's career. She faced the minimum of 21 batters.

Over-all, Hawker has a 7-5 record with a .90 earned run average. In league play Hawker's ERA is .00. She was the league's strikeout queen last year, and she's leading the league again this season.

Dogs Win Invitational, Starkey Named MVP

Chelsea Bulldogs won the first Chelsea-Manchester Invitational Baseball Tournament last Saturday and captain Todd Starkey was named Most Valuable Player of the inaugural event as the Dogs whipped three straight opponents.

In the first game, Chelsea stopped Fenton 11-3. Gabriel Richard fell in the second game, 5-4, and Manchester was shut out in the finals, 4-0.

"We won, but we can play better," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"We still aren't hitting very well."

Starkey earned MVP honors based on hurling the three-hit shutout over Manchester, in which he struck out 14 batters. Starkey also collected five hits and stole four bases.

"Todd showed us the way he is capable of pitching," Welton said.

In the first game with Fenton, pitcher Junior Morseau gave up a single, double and home run to the first three batters but settled down to pitch a fine game, Welton said. He struck out eight for the game.

Morseau also had three hits in the game, including a pair of doubles.

The game was tied at three after five, but the Dogs came back for eight runs in the sixth inning. The tournament had an eight-run mercy rule.

Randy Ferry was one of the heroes of the second game with Gabriel Richard as he entered the game in relief of Jeff Harvey in the seventh inning with Chelsea ahead, 5-4. The first batter doubled, putting runners on second and third with no one out.

But Ferry, and some good Bulldog defense, kept Richard from scoring.

"That was the second impressive relief job for Randy," Welton said.

Chelsea had to come from four runs down, tying the game in the fifth inning. The Dogs went ahead in the sixth when Acree walked and stole second, and Bobby Clouse singled him home.

Starkey was 3-4 in the game with a pair of doubles. Greg Haist also had two hits.

In the finale at Manchester, Starkey held Manchester to just four base runners on three bloop hits and a walk.

Netters Drop Close Match With Hartland

Chelsea Bulldog tennis team was defeated by Hartland last Wednesday, 3-4, in a match that went all the way down to the final doubles match.

In other non-action, Chelsea beat Gabriel Richard by default, as several top Richard players were suspended for violating team rules.

In the Hartland match, Chelsea first singles player Kirk Lawton stopped Bob Chum, 6-7, 6-2, 6-2.

Freshman John Rigg topped Hartland senior Andy Gail, 6-3, 7-6.

Bulldog John Stevens lost at third singles, 0-6, 0-6 to Brett Cornell.

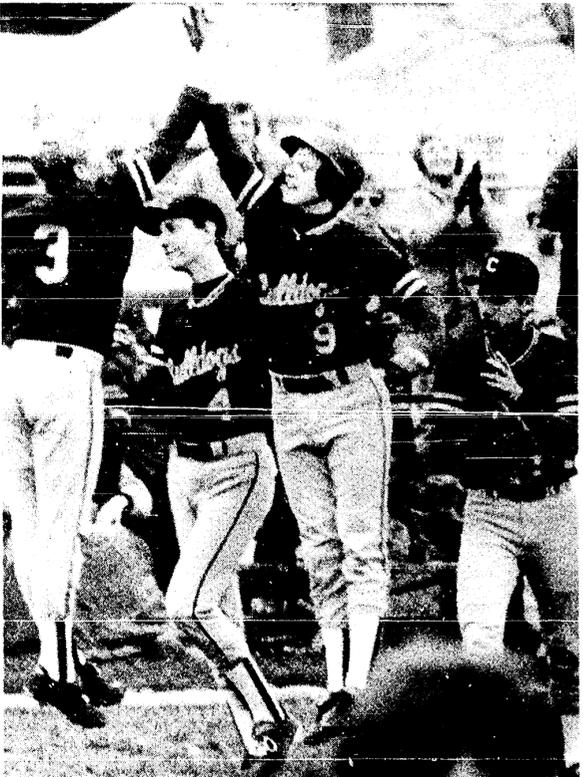

Chelsea's Jason Richardson lost to Mike Bailey at fourth singles, 2-6, 0-6.

In doubles action, Larry Moore and Bob Pratt lost to Hartland's Jim Thompson and David Richlich, 1-6, 1-6.

At second doubles, Chelsea's Eric Worthing and Jason Overdorf won in three sets over Brian Clark and Ron Lieberman, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

At third doubles, Chelsea's Eric Frisinger and Adam Heeter were nipped in three sets by Joe Boja and Wade McFarland, 4-6, 6-4, 3-6.

In the matches that were played against Gabriel Richard, Lawton lost a first singles, 3-6, 3-6 to Joel Manalang; Moore and Pratt beat Mike Ethan and Kevin Liddy, 6-4, 6-1; and Overdorf and Worthing lost to Mike Reyes and Eric Gumagagay, 2-6, 3-6.

PUP 'EM IN BASKETBALL UNIFORMS and it might look like a scene from the winter basketball season, as Greg Haist (9) high fives with Jon Lane after Haist drilled the game-winning hit in the final inning against Brooklyn Columbia Central.

CHIROPRACTIC

The Winning Edge!!!

We are all in need of chiropractic care from the time we first participate in sports as children up to and including adulthood and professional athletes. Competitive and recreational athletic activities can, even without trauma or direct injury, put a tremendous amount of stress on the spinal column and spinal nerves. Discomfort and loss of coordination may be the result.

Even in the most well-prepared and conditioned professional athletes, any spinal injury can cause immediate and long-term detrimental effects. However, whether it's a child or a professional who suffers a spinal injury, if it goes uncorrected, it will affect their performance and ability. In the long run, it makes more sense to be sure there are no spinal problems going undetected or uncorrected.

Athletes from virtually every walk of life keep chiropractic as a much needed ally to peak physical fitness. Simple spinal adjustments can mean the difference between competition at your very best and a painful reminder of what might have been. Call our office for a spinal analysis to see if chiropractic can give you the winning edge.

Dexter Wins Chelsea Relays, Bulldogs Take Second Again

Trophies for the 12th annual Chelsea Relays didn't go very far as Dexter took the championship and, for the second straight year, Chelsea was the runner-up.

The Dreadnaughts had 70 points and the Bulldogs 57 to just edge third place Saline with 56.

Chelsea and Hillsdale started fast, piling up 16 points each to lead after the field events. Chelsea got a sixth place finish in the long jump from Edie Harook and Calisa Tucker, a fourth in the high jump from Sarah Schaeffer and Henriette Munk, a third in the shot from Cris Zerkel and Tammy Browning, and won the discus as Zerkel and Dena Stevens combined for a total distance of 199'8".

The first running event of the day, the shuttle hurdles, turned out to be a crucial one. Chelsea was running second to Saline on the final leg with Dexter third when the Bulldogs Danica Disbro fell over a hurdle. Not only did Chelsea lose a possible eight points and Dexter pick up two, but Disbro was injured enough to affect her running and cause her to not run in a later event. Saline took the lead on that event but both Dexter and Chelsea whittled away at the Hornets, catching them in the last four events.

The Bulldogs placed in every event except the hurdles, paced by first in the discus, the 3200 relay of Jennifer Rossi, Sallie Wilson, Helen Cooper and Kasey Anderson in 10:00, and the distance medley of Wilson, Calisa Tucker, Suzanne Cooper and Anderson with a 13:27.4. Anderson ran two solid anchor legs with a 2:26.8 in the 800 and a 5:38.4 in the 1600.

Also winning medals for Chelsea were the sprint medley of Tami Harris, Stephanie Harms, Harook and Anne Steffenson, who took third in 1:58.8, and the 400 relay of Chris Neuman, Disbro, Harook, and Harris in :53.6.

Other scorers were the 800 relay: Tucker, Disbro, Harms, Harris, fourth; the intermediate medley, Rossi, Neuman, Cathy Broderick and Vicki Bullock, fourth; and the 1600 relay of Neuman, Steffenson, Harris, Rossi, sixth.

One meet record was established as the intermediate medley team of Jodi Miller, Janene Verhelle, Nikki Wood, and Wendy Webb of Eaton Rapids lowered the record by 21 seconds with their 7:07.5 time as they ran away from the field.

The final standings: 1. Dexter, 70; 2. Chelsea, 57; 3. Saline, 56; 4. Columbia Central, 42; 5. Fowlerville and Eaton Rapids, tied 27; 7. Tecumseh, 23; 8. Hillsdale, 22; 9. Northwest, 17.

Saline Girls Topple Dogs In First Conference Meet

Chelsea High school girls track team's defense of their southeastern conference championship got off to a bad start Thursday as they lost their opening meet of the season to Saline, 68-60.

Even though the Hornets won 10 of the 16 events, the meet was close the entire way, being decided in the final event.

The Bulldogs made a strong showing in the throwing events with a sweep of the shot, led by senior Cris Zerkel's 33'3/4", freshman Tammy Browning's 28'8 1/2", and Tiffany Moore's 28'3". Zerkel also won the discus with a fine 108'8" toss. Dena Stevens was second for Chelsea with a 94'5".

Chelsea's sprinters also ran well with Tami Harris and Danica Disbro going 1-2 in the 100 and Harris winning the 200 with an excellent :27.5.

Disbro also finished second in the 300 hurdles with a :51.4 time.

Harris and Disbro, Edie Harook and Chris Neuman combined for a win in the 400 relay with a :53.2, the best time by a Bulldog foursome since 1977.

Harook also had a good day with a second in the long jump and the 100 hurdles, her first race ever in that event.

The Bulldogs made a strong showing in the throwing events with a sweep of the shot, led by senior Cris Zerkel's 33'3/4", freshman Tammy Browning's 28'8 1/2", and Tiffany Moore's 28'3". Zerkel also won the discus with a fine 108'8" toss. Dena Stevens was second for Chelsea with a 94'5".

Anderson's win made the score Saline 63 - Chelsea 60 going to the 1600 relay, the meet's final event.

The Bulldogs got an excellent race, 4:15.2, from Cris Neuman, Anne Steffenson, Jennifer Rossi and Danica Disbro but it couldn't beat the Hornets who sped to a 4:12.4, a great time for so early in the season, anchored by Kelly Olszewski's 1:00.

Olszewski, an all-state hurdler, also won the 110 high hurdles in :16.3 and the 300 lows :47.4, and ran a leg in the winning 800 relay.

"We knew Saline had a good team, but they surprised us a little with their distance strength," said Chelsea coach Bill Bainton.

IT WAS A GRUELING RUN for Paul Hedding, left, and John Cattell in the 1600 against Saline last Thursday. Hedding took second and Cattell finished third as Chelsea was beaten, 77-60.

JV Softball Team Takes Three More Lopsided Wins

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity softball team picked up three lopsided wins last week over Jackson Lumen Christi and Ann Arbor Pioneer.

On Tuesday, the Bulldogs topped JLC 18-1 and 27-0.

Thursday's contest was a little closer although the Pioneers were blanked 12-0.

Laura Unterbrink pitched a two-hitter in the 18-1 victory, moving her record to 2-0 on the season. She also struck out 13.

Chelsea got off to a quick start with an eight-run first inning sparked by a two-run double by Jenni Ghent. It was the only extra-base hit among Chelsea's four hits.

Jenni Smith tossed a five-inning no-hitter in the second game, striking out eight and walking one.

Hitting highlights for the Dogs included two hits each by Heather Neibauer and Laura Unterbrink, and a two-run single by Lisa Unterbrink in Chelsea's 13-run fourth inning.

In Thursday's game played at Pioneer High school, Smith threw a two-hitter. She showed excellent control, with six strikeouts and no walks.

Smith also had good help on defense as the Dogs turned two double plays and cut down two runners at the plate.

Shannon Losey and Laura Unterbrink each had two hits in Chelsea's 12-hit attack.

In other action on Monday, Chelsea swept a double header from Manchester, 13-3 and 20-1.

This was a freshman-reserve contest, featuring mostly freshman Chelsea players.

Christy Petty tossed a three-hitter in the first game, striking out 11. She was also 3-3 at the plate, including a two-run double in the third inning.

Vickie Niethammer and Scharme Petty each had two hits in the nine-hit Chelsea attack.

In the second game, Lisa Unterbrink threw a four hitter and struck out eight.

Chelsea scored 12 runs in the second inning, highlighted by Lisa Park's three-run homer. Heather Bro also rapped a two-run double.

Heidi Boyer and Unterbrink also had two hits each.

Chelsea Boys Wrestle at Regional Meet

Young Chelsea wrestlers John Bobo and Brent Young competed in a regional meet at Portage Central on Saturday, April 18.

Brent took first in the eight-and-under class and wrestled "tough and hard," said coach Howard McCalla.

John finished fifth in the 11-12 age division against some stiff competition, McCalla said.

"I was very proud of the boys' performances," McCalla said.

Bulldog Boys Lose Track Meet to Saline

Chelsea boys track team lost a tough opening match to the Saline Hornets at home last Thursday, 77-60, in a meet that a week later would certainly have been closer.

The pole vault pit arrived the day before the meet, which proved to be a handicap. Chelsea vaulters had only a day to get their footwork down. Bulldog ace vaulter had a tough time with his mechanics and didn't even place. He should be the league's best vaulter this year.

JV Baseball Team Drops Opener in Extra Innings

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity baseball team opened the season with an extra inning loss at Novi on Tuesday before splitting a double header at Brooklyn Columbia Central on Thursday.

In the 3-2 loss in eight innings to Novi, Rob Lyerla went the distance on the mound. He struck out five, walked seven and scattered four hits. The crucial hit came with the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the eighth inning with the game tied at two.

Each team scored two runs in the fifth inning and all four were unearned.

David Adams bunted his way on for the only hit of the inning. He and Lyerla scored on a combination of errors, passed balls and wild pitches.

The Dogs picked up their first win in the opener at BCC, as Craig Maynard pitched five innings and gave up one unearned run. Jerry Rinehardt earned the save.

"The key to Craig's performance was good location of his pitches," said Chelsea coach Jim Ticknor.

"He's not overpowering." Maynard struck out five, didn't walk a batter and gave up three hits.

Dwayne Elkins, who went 2-2 on the day with three RBIs, gave Chelsea the early lead with a home run in the first inning.

Chelsea scored again in the fourth inning as Lumen Strong walked, moved to third on a steal and passed ball, and was sacrificed home by Jeff Prentice.

The Dogs again scored one run in the fifth as Elkins walked and stole second, was sacrificed to third by Keegan Stitt, then singled home by Matt Forner.

The sixth inning was the big one as the Dogs scored four times. Prentice, Mark Larson, and Bryant Beard all walked. Two wild pitches around a double by Elkins produced the runs.

In the nightcap, Chelsea didn't allow a hit but lost in 4 1/2 innings, 5-0.

Walks killed the Bulldogs.

Rinehardt got the only Bulldog hit, a single.

In other JV action last Saturday at Fenton, the Bulldogs dropped both ends of a double header, 10-0 and 6-1.

In the opener, the Bulldogs lost in a no-hitter. Chelsea batters struck out 12 times in the 4 1/2 inning mercy rule game.

In the mean-time, Fenton pounded out nine hits.

The Bulldogs batted a little better in the second game, starting off with three hits in the first inning, including a double by Elkins, a run-scoring single by Larson, and a single by Rinehardt.

However, the bats went silent after the first inning and the Bulldogs finished with three hits.

"We played fairly decent except in the fourth inning when they scored their four runs," Ticknor said.

"We gave them those runs. However, Jerry Rinehardt had his third solid relief performance."

The Bulldogs ended their first week of the season with a 1-4 record.

KELLY STUMP buckles down again Pioneer High school last Thursday in the second game of a double header. Stump gave up one run in 5 1/3 innings but left the game with a tie score. The Bulldogs won late in the contest, 2-1.

Bulldogs Split With Northwest

Brown won her second game of the season in the opener with Pioneer last Thursday, 10-0, going the distance.

Ferry's two out double in the second inning scored two big runs. She also hit a two-run double in the third inning.

Laura Walton's pinch hit single produced two runs in the fourth inning.

Chelsea won the second game, 2-1, as Kelly Stump got the start on the mound and went 5 1/3 innings. Hamerschmidt relieved with the score tied at one, and picked up the win.

Chelsea's game-winning run was set up by some heady base running by Weber. With one out, Weber singled, then advanced to second on Easton's single. On a fly out to short center, Weber tagged up and advanced to third. She scored on a passed ball.

Pioneer scored first in the game. But a clutch double by Walton tied the game.

"If our pitching keeps progressing, we'll be all right," Waller said.

"Pam has to round into form, and she will. Peggy is pitching better than expected. Our defense should be solid although I still don't know if we'll hit enough. I've really got to say something about Laura Torres. She is playing great defense in centerfield."

In other action on Monday, Chelsea split with Jackson Northwest, losing the first 3-2 in 10 innings and winning the second, 11-7.

In the first game, Brown went the distance and gave up no earned runs.

Chelsea managed just five hits, including two by Dorow, and a single by Jenny Pichlik in the 10th inning that gave the Dogs a 2-1 lead.

In the second game, Hamerschmidt went the distance, giving up nine hits.

The Northwest pitcher was wild and Chelsea scored many of their runs on walks and wild pitches.

Torres had two hits, including a double.

The Bulldogs are 8-2 on the season.

Ecology Center Invites Residents to Bike-A-Thon

On Sunday, May 3, the Ecology Center of Ann Arbor is holding its 16th annual Bike-A-Thon, the Ecology Center has announced. The event is the single largest fund-raiser for the non-profit Ecology Center and is supported by the Ann Arbor Bicycle Touring Society. The Ecology Center also announced that Millie Schembechler will serve as this year's Grand Marshal.

The Bike-A-Thon draws support from all parts of the Ann Arbor area community. Merchants donate prizes and more than 100 residents volunteer their time and skills. Bikers solicit friends, neighbors, and relatives to pledge a sum of money for each mile ridden. Official sponsor sheets are available at the Ecology Center (417 Detroit St., 761-3186), local bike shops, and all branches of the Ann Arbor Public Library. Anonymous donors and the Great Lakes Cycling Centre have pledged sponsorships in advance for Bike-A-Thon riders. Last year the Bike-A-Thon drew over 700 participants and raised more than $30,000 to support Ecology Center programs.

Corporate support for the Bike-A-Thon will come from six major sponsors and many other local businesses. The major sponsors are: Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, Chelsea Milling Co., Ann Arbor Domino's Pizza Stores, Eclipse, MichCon, and Sport Guides, Inc.

Mrs. Schembechler is encouraging young and old alike to ride the event. "It is a fun and easy way to make a significant contribution to Ann Arbor's ecology. I'm looking forward to the community spirit and excitement that accompanies the Bike-A-Thon every year." The Bike-A-Thon is an annual "fun-and-fund-raiser" for the Ecology Center, symbolizing the community's concern for a clean environment.

The Ecology Center also announced that The Trees and the Andy Admson Trio (winner of last year's Depot Town Jazz Competition) will provide the musical entertainment after the event. Well-known mime, O. J. Anderson will emcee. Free pizza and pop will be available at the finish.

Local businesses have donated great prizes for the event, the Ecology Center said. Individuals will compete for an aluminum-framed Raleigh Technium 420 12-speed bicycle, a Bianchi Alante mountain bicycle, a whitewater rafting trip for two, and other prizes. Every $10 raised entitles the rider to a ticket for a raffle of prizes including a Colibri 17-jewel Swiss-made pocket watch, dinners at local restaurants, and much more. The Ecology Center is encouraging participants to begin collecting sponsors early to increase the chances of winning.

There are four different routes for all levels of riders, young and old, experienced and novice. The routes are the Grass Lake Century (100 miles), the Chelsea Metric (58 miles), the County Circuit (28 miles), and the City Loop (14 miles). "Sag wagons" will patrol the routes to help with minor repairs and to rescue flagging cyclists. The Washtenaw county chapter of the American Red Cross will provide an emergency aid unit.

The Ecology Center is a non-profit community organization of more than 2,000 member families. It provides several services including curbside recycling pick-up for Ann Arbor residents, and home energy conservation visits. The Ecology Center also provides educational programs for schools and the public covering topics of local and global concern.

For more information on the Bike-A-Thon, or to volunteer, contact the Ecology Center, 417 Detroit St., Ann Arbor, 761-3186.

Historical Society Will Hear About Mill Restoration

A Saline couple who are restoring a mill established on the Saline River in 1827 will give a slide talk about it at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 23, at Clements Library, 909 South University, Ann Arbor.

Washtenaw County Historical Society is sponsoring the talk by Taylor and Charlene Jacobsen who bought the mill in 1978. They live nearby and conduct a craft business and classes there as well as teaching art in Saline schools.

Taylor has taught art at the high school for 27 years. Charlene, who formerly taught elementary art, now teaches in Community Education classes.

The mill, in a secluded location south of Saline, is not to be confused with Weller's mill on Michigan Ave. which was restored by Henry Ford I.

Parking will be allowed on the north side of South University between State and East University during the meeting. It is open to the public free of charge.

Community Hospital's Latest Addition Nearing Completion

Construction of the $1.3 million underground addition at Chelsea Community Hospital is scheduled to be completed by the end of May, according to Director of Public Relations Pat Kubany.

The 17,000-square-foot addition is being built under what used to be a pair of courtyards in the center of the hospital buildings. When completed, the courtyards will once again look like courtyards, with grass and various plantings.

The new space will house the business office, accounting, human resources, medical affairs, office of the auxiliary, medical records, and administration.

"The construction has really caused a lot of headaches," Kubany said. "We want everyone to know that we are on the way to cleaning it up." Architecture of the addition is similar to the University of Michigan Law Library, according to Stephen P. Janick, of Design Concepts. There will be several large sloping skylights with mirrors, to take away the cave-like atmosphere of being underground.

"The whole addition is being built without constructing any new elevators or stairs," Janick said.

"It was all here." With the addition of the underground office space, the patient services areas will be able to expand.

For example, there will be a new admitting area, with three desks instead of two. There will be a new outpatient pharmacy in conjunction with the existing pharmacy, just off the main entrance.

In addition, the psychiatric and substance abuse areas will be moved, Women's Health Center will be expanded, and there will be a place for a mobile CATSCAN machine, which will be at the hospital two days a week. It will be used on a co-operative basis with Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, Saline Hospital, and Herick Hospital in Tecumseh.

CONSTRUCTION on the underground addition at Chelsea Community Hospital is scheduled to be completed at the end of May. The area will hold office space for many hospital functions and permit more efficient use of other areas of the hospital. The window over the worker to the left is actually a skylight, several of which are being incorporated into the building.

POINTING TOWARD what will be the new admitting area is architect Stephen Janick, of Design Concepts, whose firm has done much of the architectural work over the years for the various hospital additions. Janick is actually standing on the roof off the new underground addition at the hospital, the biggest project since the construction of the therapy area in the late 1970s.

Rotary Club Awards 5 Scholarships

The Chelsea provisional Rotary club has awarded five Chelsea High school students with scholarships to attend the second annual Rotary Youth Leadership Awards conference, April 25, at the Novi Hilton hotel. Those named to receive this recognition are Alison Thornton, Dena Stevens, Stacey Murphy, Joel Boyer, and Trevor Harding. Accompanying the scholarship recipients will be local Rotarians Ron Smeenge and Mark Cwiek.

The purpose of the RYLA is to demonstrate Rotary's respect and concern for youth, provide training for potential leaders, encourage leadership of youth by youth, and to publicly recognize the high qualities of many young people who are rendering service to their communities as youth leaders.

Those attending the conference will hear guest speakers and meet with Rotarians in small groups to consider such topics as leading a discussion, group dynamics, public speaking, community problems, and social and moral responsibility. Organizers state that the subjects of the seminars are relevant to leadership, but more important is the way they are presented. Role playing, group discussion and workshops insure that the participants will all contribute rather than merely watch and listen.

The five scholarship winners from Chelsea, along with their counselors, will be featured at the Rotary's next meeting, April 28, at the Chelsea Hospital Woodland Room at noon. The local Rotary club is anticipating its charter later this spring. Area business and professional men are invited to attend the meetings and investigate the opportunities being offered as charter members.

"The creation of C-E Power Projects establishes Combustion Engineering as a single source company for power plant development," Scholtens said.

Workshop Set On Stress Management

Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce '87 Education/Seminar Committee is presenting a spring workshop "Managing Stress in the Workplace."

The seminar will be presented by Maggie Szymke and Diane Weid of Chelsea Community Hospital on Tuesday, April 28 at Chrysler Proving Grounds from 8:30 to 11 a.m.

Stress! A personal and professional concern that each individual must develop techniques for managing. Recognizing the problems, developing awareness, choosing positive attitudes and lifestyles, practicing relaxation, all permit more control over one's stress.

Take time to learn how to make stress work for you and enhance your life. With so much to do and only so much time or energy, it is all too frequent to become overwhelmed with life's daily hassles.

The difference between controlling, or being controlled by, stress can be learned and skills enhanced.

This participative workshop will focus on cognitive and behavioral skills to protect against the physical and mental consequences of stress and to manage more effective responses.

The seminar is free to all chamber members, with a $12 fee assessed to non-members.

To register call Janet Tuttle at the Chamber of Commerce office at 475-1145. Space is limited.

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar

1987 hasn't been a good year for talking about animals coming out of hibernation in March and April because the alternately warm and cold weather we've had since January has had animals going in and out of hibernation for months. You may have seen hibernators such as snakes, woodchucks and bats out moving around in January, February and March, as the weather fooled them into thinking spring had arrived.

If you observed this unseasonable activity, you probably won't believe it when we say here that snakes are coming out of hibernation now. The difference, of course, is that the hibernators becoming active now are fully active—they're out feeding and courting and pursuing their normal warm-weather activities daily, rather than just out bumbling around during a springlike break in the winter weather.

Interestingly, this is happening pretty much on the same schedule throughout the state, even in the Upper Peninsula, which is usually a couple of weeks behind southern parts of Michigan. For once, this column is not behind events in the southern Lower Peninsula and ahead of the U. P.!

Among the hibernators becoming active now, snakes are the ones I hear about the most because two things are happening that are impressive, confusing and/or terrifying, depending on your point of view. At this time of year, you may encounter large numbers of snakes in fairly small areas, and you may be seeing large numbers of young snakes. If you're not familiar with snakes and their habits, you can easily misinterpret what you see.

Snakes hibernate in large numbers, often several species together. Those emerging now went into hibernation in September or October, depending on your location and the weather at that time. They spent the winter underground below the frost line in a cavity called a hibernaculum. They often find suitable cavities alongside rough stone foundations of old houses and barns. When they exit these cavities in the spring, dozens of them may be seen all at once. If you enjoy and understand snakes, you may want to visit places where this event may be seen. But if you don't, it's not hard to imagine that an invasion of snakes is occurring, especially if you're afraid of snakes.

Even a casual observer will notice that the "invasion" includes lots of little snakes. Jumping to a conclusion based on knowledge of other animals, you might well assume that the little snakes are this year's babies.

That isn't the case, however. As you probably know, some snakes give birth to their young while others lay eggs. Eggs hatch and young are born not in the spring, but in late summer, usually August. The little snakes you are seeing now are last year's young, which entered the hibernaculum along with the adult snakes last fall. Because they entered hibernation so soon after birth or hatching, you probably didn't see them last year, and they didn't have much chance to feed and grow, so they're still small.

Now, as big snakes and little ones come out of their winter shelter, it looks as if the adult snakes have been busily reproducing and all the snake families have converged on your yard for a reunion.

In reality, they are not invading your lawn but dispersing from it.

Until they do slither away, you may be seeing a lot more snakes than you're comfortable with. And you may not find that an understanding of the situation improves your frame of mind much.

The fact that the snakes aren't acting quite normal probably doesn't help. Because snakes are cold-blooded, cold nights leave them sluggish. Until they have a chance to sun and warm up in the morning, they move very slowly and often can't flee from approaching humans. People who are happiest when snakes stay out of sight may interpret the snakes' failure to flee as a sign of potential aggression. You don't need to doubt the snakes' intention, however—they would avoid you if they were only warm enough to move.

The phenomenon of the snakes coming out of hibernation may last for a week or more, especially if warm days alternate with cold nights. Snakes sometimes come out of the hibernaculum during the daytime to sun themselves, then go back inside at night. If you find the phenomenon fascinating and enjoy observing most of the snake species that your part of Michigan has to offer, it's an interesting time and a great opportunity. If you don't understand what's going on and/or if you're afraid of snakes, it can be horrifying. If you do understand but you still don't want all those snakes in your yard, you can do something about it—i.e., wait until the snakes have dispersed and then fill in the hibernaculum so they'll have to find some other winter shelter this fall. If you understand and you don't

Just because you live in a wealthy neighborhood, it doesn't mean you are immune from health problems caused by toxic waste. According to International Wildlife magazine, a study by the Council on Economic Priorities found that middle-income neighborhoods, not the poorest neighborhoods, have the highest levels of toxic waste and related cancer deaths. One of the worst places to live is Short Hills, N.J. with an average household income of $91,000. The best place is probably Beverly Hills, Calif., which has virtually no toxic waste.

Visitor from Dublin Reports On Trinkle Farm in Irish Times

Pat and Charles Trinkle's farm is becoming known all over the world as delegations from Japan, West Germany, East Germany, and most recently, Ireland, have visited.

As a result of the Irish visit, their farm was written about in Dublin's newspaper, the Irish Times.

Ella Shanahan, the paper's agricultural and business reporter, was in Dexter last year visiting her brother, Ed Shanahan, an engineer at Sweepster. While here, she was taken on a visit to the Trinkle farm by a mutual friend of her brother's and the Trinkle's, Wanda Koch. When she returned to Ireland, Ella Shanahan used the Trinkle's farm as an example in an article comparing American farming with Irish farming.

Pat Trinkle was impressed at how well Ella Shanahan understood their farming operation and that she needed to take very few notes. She noted that Shanahan called grain, "cereal." In the article, Shanahan wrote that the Trinkles have "a lovely dairy herd and are the biggest milk producers in the area. They grow their own cereals for dairy rations as well as a few hundred acres of cereals which are sold off the farm."

The main gist of the article, which appeared on Jan. 26 in "An Irishwoman's Diary," Shanahan's weekly column, was that the American public was more sympathetic to farmers than the Irish were, but that the American government was less supportive.

Ella Shanahan is now on a return visit to America. Last year she came to celebrate St. Patrick's day in New York. (Evidently New Yorkers celebrate it better than Dubliners.) This year she has come on business, being part of a delegation of Common Market journalists here at the invitation of the American government. She met with the secretary of agriculture and the under-secretary of trade in Washington, stock market officials in New York, and people working in international trade in Chicago. With her work done, she is now visiting her brother again, this time with their mother, Mary Shanahan.

This series of meetings did not change Shanahan's view that the U.S. government was less supportive of farmers than is the Irish government. She said she received the impression that the U.S. policy is not to keep farmers on the land but to "let the best man win." She and the other journalists were surprised that there were no government programs to re-settle or re-train farmers whose farms had failed.

She said that the U.S. government was critical of the amount of protection that Ireland gives farmers, saying it interfered with free trade. The Irish defense is that they do not want any food shortages such as they suffered right after World War II, that their programs are necessary for European unity, and that they want to keep people from moving to the cities.

In defending her thesis that Americans are more sympathetic to farmers, Shanahan quoted Wanda Koch as saying "Why shouldn't we feel for them. They're the backbone of the country. They produce our food." Asked why the Irish lack sympathy, Shanahan replied that it is an historic situation, that in Ireland people own the same land for generations, not always farming it efficiently, but not selling it to young people who want to farm. She also said there is resentment that farmers do not pay their share of the country's taxes. Before joining the common market in 1976, farmers were exempt from income tax and today pay less than city people. Since farmers make up about 20 percent of the population, this represents a significant loss of revenue.

Shanahan is enjoying her visit here. She said she had trouble persuading her mother to come since Mary Shanahan expected to find our country like "a scene out of Hill Street Blues." But instead, she liked New York so well, Ella Shanahan had trouble getting her to leave. Both Shanahans are enjoying Dexter, which Ella described as being "like a holiday resort." She explained, "We haven't seen sunshine in two years. We're really hooked on this country."

Chiles are harvested in September. The brilliant flame of chile ristras (strings) hanging from porches and rafters is said to rival the beauty of fall leaves.

Triumph Over Disabling Accident Portrayed in Film

The film "Joni," produced by Worldwide Pictures, will be shown Sunday evening, April 26 at the Immanuel Bible church, 145 E. Summit St., at 6 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

"Joni," starring Joni Eareckson as herself, is the dramatic story of a young woman's struggle to find a useful life in the wake of a tragic accident which left her handicapped. According to her yearbook, her graduating class at Woodlawn Senior High school in Maryland had voted Joni Eareckson the "Most Athletic" girl in the senior class. A month after graduation, diving from a raft in the shallow waters of the Chesapeake Bay, she found her world had changed. Her head struck something solid and, in a fraction of a second, she had suffered a broken neck. The film follows Joni's progress from the moment she became a quadriplegic.

In a powerful and dramatic film, the agonies, achievements, joys and hopes of Joni's experience are shared with the viewer. The impact of its message is made even more outstanding by the performance of the star of the film: Joni Eareckson portraying herself.

Submit your club news and personal items in writing—and don't forget your phone!

"Joni's story of victory over a devastating handicap is sure to touch the lives of all who suffer brokenness. I urge you to see this powerful film."

TO THE RESCUE. Local conservation officer Craig Wales came to the aid of a great horned owl, whose picture appeared in last week's Standard. The owl had injured its wing and came to rest in a tree behind BookCrafters on Buchanan St. Wales had to fish the owl out of the tree with this net.

THIS GREAT HORNED OWL wasn't thrilled to be in a fishing net at the bottom of a bucket, but it was for his own good. The owl had injured its wing and this was an easy way for conservation officer Craig Wales to transport the bird to a veterinarian in Ann Arbor. A number of area residents gathered to watch the rescue. Children were amazed by the length of the bird's talons.

Sexual Abuse Prevention Lecture Set

In recognition of Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Month the Department of Psychiatry and the Department of Substance Abuse of Chelsea Community Hospital are sponsoring a public lecture entitled "Child Sexual Abuse: Practical Steps Towards Prevention" to be held Wednesday, April 29 at 7 p.m. in the hospital's dining room.

Barbara Eagle, a social worker who specializes in the prevention and treatment of child sexual abuse, will present information on prevention for parents, educators, child care professionals, and concerned citizens.

Focus of the lecture will be on how to talk to children about prevention without causing undue anxiety, warning signs to be aware of, and steps to take if there is concern or suspicion regarding sexual abuse.

Child care with new games and music is being offered free of charge during the lecture. Community agencies that provide services for children and families will also be offering displays and information beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The hospital cafeteria is open to the public for dinner from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. for quality meals at reasonable prices. Admission for the lecture is $2 in advance or $3 at the door, with limited seating available.

Breast Cancer Awareness Week Slated at Hospital

Chelsea Community Hospital will be offering free breast examinations and instruction in self breast examination through the Women's Health Center. Screening mammograms will also be available for $50 (half the usual price) for interested women.

A breast health lecture presentation by Fran Beckley, R.N., MPH, and the Women's Health Center co-ordinator at Chelsea Community Hospital, will be given on April 29 at 7 p.m. in the Woodland Room A. This presentation is free of charge.

Women are being urged to use all methods of early detection of breast cancer. That includes mammography, breast self exam and physician exam.

Mammography is at least 85% effective finding extremely small changes in the breast, before they can be felt. If the changes are cancerous, early treatment often means less extensive surgery and less breast tissue removed. Mammograms are so effective that the American Cancer Society says, "Now breast cancer has virtually nowhere to hide."

Mammograms are recommended once when a woman is between age 35 and 39, once a year or every other year for women age 40 through 49, and yearly for women 50 and over.

While only 20% of breast lumps are cancerous, it is important that they be found early, when treatment is most likely to be successful. Almost 90% of women diagnosed with breast cancer early, before it has spread, will be fully recovered five years after the cancer is found.

Two other techniques, monthly breast self examinations and regular physician examinations, are also effective at finding breast changes early.

Breast self examination can be learned and practiced monthly in one's own home and at no cost. A good time to learn how to do a self exam is during a regular physician exam. A good teacher is the doctor or the nurse.

Visit Chelsea Community Hospital for your free breast examination and instruction, lecture, and a $50 screening mammogram for the peace of mind knowing that early detection is the best defense against breast cancer.
