Papo Still Plans Mall Next to Fairgrounds

Ann Arbor developer Rene Papo has scaled down his plans and changed his location, but he still plans to build a strip mall inside the village. Papo said last week that he is working on initial site plans for a 90,000-square-foot mall to be located on 9.5 acres between Chelsea State Bank and the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds on Old US-12.

When Papo first began planning a mall more than a year ago, he originally considered the bank/fairgrounds site. However, he later changed his mind and tried to get approval to build a larger mall near I-94 behind Broderick's Shell station. Late last year, village council turned down his request to re-zone land for the mall and the project died. Papo said he decided not to pursue a planned unit development zoning for the land behind Broderick's Shell because, "I got the impression the council didn't want to increase the amount of commercial land in the village."

This time Papo is one step ahead because the land has the proper zoning for a mall. He plans to buy the land on contingency from the

Chelsea Area Historical Museum Thrills Visitors With First Display

For the first time in its own history the Chelsea Area Historical Museum had an exhibition and it was a fine success. In the future the museum, which occupies the west room of the depot, will have more displays and artifacts. It will have paint on the walls, 19th century floors and fancy lighting. But the premier showing delighted hundreds of Sidewalk Days visitors. Only a few senior citizens could remember a washing machine with a wooden tub and hand wringer, but there it was. There, too, was a white double-deck Glazier stove, and a mannequin dressed in Victorian housewears at her ironing board complete with Sad Iron. On sale nearby were cookies baked by the great-grandma used to cook them, and down the hall in the east room was a railroad engine bell that was once heard clanging from Detroit to Jackson.

The exhibit was the result of much effort by members of the Chelsea Area Historical Society. Everybody took part but at the time this observer was there he saw Marge Hepburn, impressario of the successful exhibition, Katie Chapman, president, Kathy Clark and Max Hepburn.

Board of Commissioners Plans To Ask Michigan To Close Cassidy Lake

Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners took action last Wednesday, July 29 that commissioners hope could ultimately lead to the closing of Cassidy Lake Technical School on Waterloo Rd.

The board voted unanimously to ask the state to live up to original deed restrictions placed on the land where the minimum security prison now sits.

The restrictions were incorporated into the deed by the U.S. Department of the Interior when it transferred the land to the state in 1943. They said, in essence, that the land could only be used for recreational purposes or conservation. The prison does not fit under those provisions.

The county, in a letter drawn up by county attorney Bob Guenzel, will ask the state to return the land to the Department of Natural Resources. That letter may be ready as early as tonight for a meeting of the board, according to commissioner Ellis Pratt of Manchester.

Guenzel, after a study of evidence dug up over a period of several years by Bill Thomas, 17980 Waterloo Rd., could find no loopholes in the legal argument for closing the prison, Pratt said. His recommendation was to ask the state to obey the law.

"It looks like (closing the prison) is a long ways away," Pratt said.

"If the state throws up its hands and walks away, it hasn't been determined if we would sue them or not. Even if we lose entirely, I'd say we'll still win because the state would do everything they could to improve the walkaway situation."

Cassidy Lake Technical School has long been an issue of controversy in the Chelsea area due to the number of escapes and the types of criminals housed there. Increasingly, the state has housed criminals convicted of more violent types of crimes as prisons are increasingly overcrowded. However, the walkaway rate has declined dramatically over the last two years.

There have been a number of attempts to close the prison, including a "fence it or close it petition" that circulated in the area a couple of years ago. But this is the first time the board of commissioners has become formally involved.

"I'd say if no action is taken by the state after an appropriate amount of time, the next step would be to ask the Department of the Interior to take the land," Thomas said.

The land was originally federal recreational demonstration project land. It, and other land nation-wide, was turned over to the states for park recreational or conservation purposes.

According to Thomas' evidence, the deed says that the land would revert to the interior department if the deed restrictions were violated for more than three years.

In addition, Thomas' evidence shows, subsequent attempts to remove the deed restrictions in 1964 were also illegal.

"Congress had certain, definite intentions when setting up this program and they were grossly violated by the state," Thomas said.

"It was a clear violation of the will of congress. We might wonder how things like this might be prevented in the future. It will be interesting to see how the current administration handles this legal issue."

Thomas has written Secretary of the Interior Donald P. Hodel about the matter. In addition, he has reviewed the case with two associate solicitors in the department.

"While I am hopeful that the matter can be resolved within 'the State of Michigan and that formal action by the Department of the Interior will be unnecessary, I feel that you should be informed of the issue in case it were subsequently to reach your desk," Thomas wrote.

County Seeking Funds To Make Up Deficit In Courthouse Project

Washtenaw county is looking for ways to free up an additional $149,000 in order to award a contract for the restoration of Chelsea's 14th district courthouse.

Revised bids for the budgeted $465,000 project recently came back at $614,000, nearly 33 percent too high.

The 10-12 month project, which was originally planned to coincide with the state's sesquicentennial celebration, now won't be completed until well into 1988, according to county commissioner Ellis Pratt, who represents the Chelsea area. The project may not even begin until then, depending on how busy the selected contractor is.

"This is not a lost deal," Pratt said. "This project is going to go through, I'm positive of that."

Pratt said the county was considering ways of scaling back the project, but that Judge Karl Fink is adamantly opposed to changes because they would cost more money in the end.

"He'd rather see a longer delay than us cut our own throat," Pratt said.

Pratt said it was likely that the courthouse project, which had been treated as a separate project, would likely have to be included in a package of projects that includes work to the courthouse in Milan and the 64-cell addition to the county jail.

Pratt said it was highly unlikely that the county would ask private interests to raise more funds for the project. Local governments, including the Village of Chelsea and surrounding townships, area attorneys and businesses, and a foundation, have pledged a total of $135,000 for the restoration of the building.

"(The private interests) have cooperated on this project so well that I don't think the county would have the nerve to ask for more money," Pratt said.

Pratt said the money issue will probably be cleared up by the Board of Commissioners later this month. He said the discrepancy between the budgeted amount and bid prices was probably due to an error by the county's consulting architect.

The county is still planning to use Sylvan Town Hall on W. Middle St. as a temporary courthouse during the construction. However, village elections will still be held in the hall next March, according to Tom Freeman, director of facilities planning for the county.

The project will expand the services and usable space in the courthouse at the corner of South and Main Sts. At the same time, the original character of the building will be restored.

The renovated court building will hold jury trials, which now all take place in Saline.

In addition, a Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department substation will be added, as well as several county meeting rooms. The building will be made accessible to the handicapped.

The restoration will include the exposing of the interior dome, and uncovering old marble, woodwork and plaster reliefs that have been covered for years.

Two Escape Cassidy Lake

Two men who walked away from Cassidy Lake Technical School last Wednesday, July 29 were still at large as of press time Tuesday.

According to Chelsea police, Harley Gene Ball, 20, and Chaney Richard Hurst, 18, left the minimum security prison sometime before 9:50 p.m. They apparently hitched a ride with a friend, police said.

Ball, described as white, 5' 3", 150 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes, was serving 3-14 years for malicious destruction of property and writing bad checks. He was originally from Justin.

Hurst, described as white, 6' 1", 185 pounds, was serving 1½-15 years for breaking and entering.

SIDEWALK DAYS featured good bargains on clothes and other merchandise at local downtown stores last week-end. The annual event brings in shoppers from miles around.

Chelsea Community Fair Board has OK'd construction of permanent bleachers that will accommodate 500 people, reported fair board president Calvin Clark. Chelsea Associated Builders will begin construction this week.

Swimming consistently has drawn the greatest number of participants in the summer recreation program. Tabulated by Alan Conklin, recreation director, the total number who took advantage of the afternoon swimming outings at Groomes Beach, Whitmore Lake, was 448—about half the total participating in recreation programs.

Stephen Clark, one of Chelsea's present village councilman, brought to The Standard office a copy of an April 18, 1901 issue of The Chelsea Herald (later combined with The Standard). He was particularly interested in the published account of the Council proceedings—Motion by J. Bacon, seconded by R. A. Snyder, that the ordinance committee (J. E. McKune, O. C. Burkhart and John Schenk) be instructed to draft an ordinance to suppress and prohibit saloons for the sale of spirituous and intoxicating liquors in the village of Chelsea on and after May 1, 1901. Officials Differ on Whether Tax Cut Delay Is Tax Increase
Governor James Blanchard's $280 million budget balancing plan is being criticized as a back-door tax hike and dishonest by some key legislators, who predict a hard battle this fall when attempts are made to rework the 1987-88 budget.

Legislators believe it may be necessary to bring at least members of the Appropriations Committees back earlier than the scheduled Sept. 22 return of the Legislature in order to work out new agreements following the promised vetoes of $130 million in the new budget.

Administration officials downplay differences over both the substance and method of the veto decisions, and reject the description of the recommended delay to Oct. 1 of returning a federal windfall as a $75 million tax hike.

The governor had last year announced the entire windfall would be returned, and proposed it be done by cutting the income tax rate to 4.4 percent, from 4.6, as of April 1.

Both the House and Senate have approved, instead, an increase in the personal exemption but the bill is stalled because of a dispute on property tax relief.

Treasurer Robert Bowman said the move to retain $75 million in the current fiscal year could not be viewed as a tax increase because people are already paying that money.

It is difficult to say if the failure to make the lower rate retroactive will result in some people paying more because of federal changes which will be in effect, Bowman said. Some people will pay more, and some will pay less, but over-all, most will probably be paying less after Oct. 1, he said.

Senate Majority Leader John Engler (R-Mt. Pleasant) called the delayed tax cut a "back door" increase, but said, "It may be a concession to the Democrat House which hasn't wanted to lower taxes anyway."

House Minority Leader Paul Hillegonds (R-Holland) viewed it the same way, allowing the state to receive revenue it wouldn't have gotten without federal reforms.

Sen. Norm Shinkle (R-Lambertville), chair of the Senate Finance Committee, called the delay an income tax surcharge to pay for government spending.

Rep. Lynn Jondahl (D-East Lansing), chair of the House Taxation Committee, said the problem with the governor's plan is that it does not represent an increase from current taxation, but is an increase over what the taxation level could be.

Jondahl said the real question which needs to be answered is why are the lottery revenues down by an estimated $100 million and why is the auto manufacturing portion of the Single Business Tax down by an estimated $80 million, reasons the governor cited for having to make cuts in the budget.

Engler also predicted Blanchard's announced veto intentions, after aides agreed to appropriations levels in negotiations with legislators, raises some danger of spoiled future negotiations.

He said that is especially true with House members, who spent a lot of time defending his programs and then got slapped in the face.

Though Engler said he does not foresee any overrides of the vetoes, the Legislature will now have to look at all options it faces as many budgets may be open for full review. Many other expenditures, such as grant increases in social services, could be reduced.

The vetoes allowed for grants to providers to be reduced and those costs are going to have to be paid from somewhere, since grants to recipients were not cut, he said.

Another budget which may face changes is K-12 education, which faces a partial veto of $20 million for categorical programs such as special education, transportation and vocational education.

Hillegonds said, once it becomes clear how the veto process will proceed, leadership might want to explore the possibility of bringing appropriations members back early to lay the groundwork for discussions so the budget can be done by Oct. 1.

Jondahl said though there does not seem to be a question of whether the budget should be balanced, the process will allow the reopening of budgets where partial vetoes must be approved. Those who feel they have been unfairly treated will want to

Chelsea Man Caught With Concealed Gun

A Chelsea man faces two gun charges in connection with a traffic stop on Tuesday, July 22.

According to Chelsea police, Donald A. Haywood, 46, of 219 Arthur St., was driving with his lights off at 11:09 p.m. and was stopped by police near Park and East Sts.

Police discovered an uncased, unloaded 12-gauge shotgun on the seat, and a loaded .38 caliber handgun under the driver's seat. Haywood faces charges of driving with an uncased shotgun and carrying a concealed weapon, police said.

renegotiate terms which had been changed he said.

There will be a major effort to complete action on time but there will be plenty of opportunities to "sandbag" the budget if someone wants to, Jondahl added.

Bowman also said there will be enough time to complete work on the budget and it is not too late in the process to make the decision to reduce expenditures, as some legislators have said. It is better to do it now than to do it in three weeks, he said.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers were in early dog days form Saturday night at the country store. Ed Doolittle's clippings run to the usual, like they do in the summer doldrums when the papers and the pickings for readers run a bit slim.

For instant, Ed opened with a update on the state of home security in modern America. In Grand Bay, Ala., the other day, the sheriff paid a woman $15 for a guard rooster one of his deputies shot. The lawman said the rooster attacked him when he came to the house and he acted in self defense. The woman said the payment was fair because the rooster was all the protection she had. She said Bear, her guard dog, had hid under the porch when the deputy came in the yard.

Meanwhile, Ed said, you can believe it or not, but in Ripley, Miss., a young housewife with three young children piled a week's supply of dirty clothes in the middle of the kitchen floor and set em afire. Firemen saved the house and some of the clothes, and she told police all she wanted was fer her husband to git her washing machine fixed.

Couldn't of been the same husband, Ed reported, but in Brooksville, Fla. early last week a feller tried to drown his wife in their waterbed. She come home with a hairdo he didn't like, so he cut a hole in the waterbed and held her head in it till one of their boys beat him off with a walking stick. The husband told police he was sick and tired of his old lady never doing anything to please him.

That's the way the news was running last week. The best Bug Hookum had to offer was word that real live wimmin now are modeling underwear on the three big television networks. If the latest in langeray is anything like the least in bathing suits, Bug said, these ads may be just the ticket to perk up the summer reruns. How soon, he wanted to know, can we bring back that series where wimmin dreamt of doing exciting things in their Maidenform bras. How soon can she dream of selling beer on television during the baseball game, ask Bug.

Meanwhile, back at the domestic difficulty, Zeke Grubb said he had give it some thought, and it is plain that the Alabama housewife was temporary insane. A washing machine with four water levels, three spin speeds, computerized water softener, automatic temperature control and 10 fabric selections that won't work is enough to drive anybody crazy, was Zeke's words. Use to, he said, the husband could fix the thing himself. Now you don't repair, you replace, Zeke said, and you can only replace with parts your dealer has got on back order. We got so many gadgets till only computers can fix computers. Zeke had saw where one computer company says all customers have to do is hook their sick computer by telephone to the company's troubleshooter computer to figger out where it hurts and how to make it well.

Not long back, it was said a feller was a success if he could keep up a truck, hunting dogs, a five-cell flashlight and a smoking habit. Now young couples start off with "lifetime guarantees" on a microwave oven and about 30 basic gadgets, including a garage door opener, seen as necessary to happiness ever after. It ain't no wonder that when things start breaking down and they learn "lifetime" means the life of the 30-day warranty they start looking at one another and wondering what else is falling apart.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.Nation's Dairy Herd
Now Smallest Ever

Under the federal dairy termination program, the nation's dairy herd has shrunk to the lowest number since the U.S. Department of Agriculture began keeping records. The number of dairy cows on farms June 1, 1987, was 10.4 million, 5% fewer than a year earlier and the lowest number in history.

Extension Service Offers Program on Diet, Heart Disease

There are many confusing messages in the media about diet and heart disease; messages exhorting us to take Omega 3 oils, avoid red meat, give up eggs, use olive oil, etc.

Learn the facts about diet and heart disease at a public program, "Take Heart in the Kitchen," presented by Marion Prince of Co-operative Extension Service. Ms. Prince is an Extension Home Economist and Registered Dietitian.

Participants will learn about the role of dietary fat as a risk factor for heart disease and understand the difference between cholesterol and saturated fat, and how they contribute to serum cholesterol. They will see foods that have "hidden fat" and substitute foods that would constitute a more healthful diet. There will be light snacks served.

The program will be held Tuesday, Aug. 11 and again on Tuesday, Aug. 25, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Co-operative Extension Service Building at the County Service Center, 4133 Washtenaw. There is a $5 fee to cover cost of food; pre-registration is required, call 971-0079.

NORTH LAKE CO-OP MAKES A DIFFERENCE...

What is a Cooperative Preschool?

A Co-Op Nursery is a developmental program for 3 to 5 year old children. These state approved facilities provide a place for parents to work in partnership with licensed preschool teachers to give quality first time educational experiences to their students. Children will participate in a well developed, "learning through play" program.

What will i gain from joining a Cooperative Preschool?

EXTENDED FAMILY NETWORK

Co-ops give members the opportunity to meet other parents who can help support you during the joyous but sometimes trying times of child rearing. Your school could become an extended family helping you to meet people who could become your friends for years to come!

CONTROL

As a Cooperative Nursery School member, YOU can become directly involved in the decision making processes that mold your child's school. You can have a say in making nursery policies by voting on school issues or becoming a board, or committee member.

SECURITY

By assisting in the classroom, you will have the security of knowing what's happening there.

PARENTAL EDUCATION

You will have access to a clearinghouse of information distributed by the state-wide parent organization, The Michigan Council of Co-operative Nurseries (MCCN). HVCN can also expose you to experts on child development and nursery programming at adult education conferences and nursery school meetings. You will not only get time to observe your child interacting with other children in a group setting, but will also be able to observe how a competent teacher relates to young children.

CONVENIENCE

North Lake Preschool is located in the Village of Chelsea directly across from the Fairgrounds. We have ample parking and car pools available.

WORKING PARENTS

If you work, don't become discouraged. Alternatives for parents who are employed during class hours are available. We have non-assist options for parents whose schedule does not allow for classroom assisting.

What will my child gain from attending a Cooperative Preschool?

ENVIRONMENT

A safe, nurturing environment staffed by parents and friendly teachers will help to greatly ease the preschooler's adjustment to the classroom setting. This atmosphere will also encourage children to be curious and creative.

CURRICULUM

The saying, "Play is a child's work" is demonstrated daily in the co-op curriculum. Based on the "learning through play" philosophy, co-op lesson plans allow the preschool student to comfortably gain necessary developmental skills growing socially, cognitively, creatively, and physically.

ADULT-CHILD RATIO

Your child will get quality attention from adults staffing the preschool—fostered by a lower child to adult ratio, usually 4:1.

PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT

Children enjoy their first formal education experience under the loving and watchful parental eye. Research confirms that parental involvement in a child's early education will have a positive impact on academic progress throughout school.

SOCIALIZATION

Your child will be given an opportunity to function both as an individual and as a member of a group. He/she will also have other children to watch and play with.

FACILITY

Cooperative preschools are equipped with many items children do not have at home. Students are encouraged to try out many muscles and ideas in a place designated specifically for them! Our playground features a trike track, swings, climbing tree, boat, treehouse, slide and more.

TEACHING STAFF

Teachers in a cooperative nursery are warm, compassionate people who respect young children, relate easily to them, and can create a stimulating environment for them to develop in their own way emotionally and physically. Activities are provided that will involve individual and social play.

Records of the Red School are quite complete, dating back to the first school district meeting on June 14, 1834, at the home of Amos Davis on Pritchard Rd. Last classes were held at the school in 1948, with Mrs. Walter Zeeb as teacher.

Wheat growers all over the U. S. will go to polling places in their own communities Aug. 14 to vote on the question of a continuation of the wheat marketing quota on the 1984 crop. If the marketing quota is to be continued the proposal must carry by a two-thirds majority.

Manchester, Sharon and Freedom township farmers are to cast their ballots at Sharon Town Hall—on the committee are Mahlon Smith, chairman, and Martin Keasel.

Economic Impact of
New Immigration Reform Negative

The bottom line for the new immigration law will probably show negative results for farm producers, who will have to pay more for a declining supply of labor—and for consumers, who will be hit in the pocketbook as reduced supplies of labor-intensive food crops rise in price. That's the prediction of American Farm Bureau Federation economist John Hosemann.

Hosemann says the new law's direct interference with the mobility of a basic resource like labor will cause some producers to decrease their use of labor.

Papo Still Plans Mall

Emergency Physicians Profit Sharing Plan.

"I hope to have the initial plans ready next week," Papo said last Thursday.

Papo's plans still call for Ames Department Store to be the major client, using 55,000-square-feet. In addition, he said, Chelsea Pharmacy will have a store. There will also be a hardware store, shoe store and clothing store, as well as a restaurant and beauty shop. Two other spaces are vacant, he said.

Papo said he has retained the same architect who worked on Westgate Shopping Center on Maple Rd. in Ann Arbor.

"We're going to build something of quality," Papo said. "It won't be junk."

According to Assistant Village Manager Lee Fahrner, who has had an initial meeting with Papo, the project, due to its size, is probably 4-5 months away from being approved by the Village Planning Commission.

One of the village's major concerns, he said, is that the mall can adequately handle traffic.

"(Papo) will be required to put together a traffic impact study," Fahrner said.

"We want to know how this project will affect adjacent roads. We'll have to add to that what affect the Bridgetown (condominiums) project traffic will have so that we'll know what kind of street system we need. For example, does M-52 need to be five lanes?"

Fahrner said that Papo's initial sketch of the project showed several entrances and exits from M-52 as well as Old US-12.

Adequate fire protection in terms of water supply is also another consideration. A substantial amount of work will likely have to be done to the water system on the southern end of town.

Just how storm water run-off is handled depends on how the drainage problem for the other proposed mall next to Polly's Market is solved.

Polly's manager Mike Kennedy, and the village, have petitioned Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner Jim Murray to establish a drainage district in the area so that Kennedy can build his 40,000-square-foot mall. A culvert running under M-52 was plugged many years ago, apparently when Chelsea Lanes was built in the 1960s.

Papo may have to tie his project in to the new drainage district, Fahrner said.

THOMAS MONAGHAN of Domino's Farms in Ann Arbor seems to be able to do anything these days! Currently Jeanette McDonald and Nelson Eddy are being reincarnated under Domino's Big Top in the persons of Suzanne Ogden and Eric Von Blicken in "Little Mary Sunshine"—a musical spoof of operetta days. "Little Mary Sunshine" will be featured Wednesday afternoons (2 p.m.) and at 8 p.m. on Thursday through Sunday: Aug. 12-16; 19-23. Call 1-662-3070 (Ann Arbor) for information on the package: "Chicken Barbecue and trimmings and tickets to the Theatre" under the Big Top!

CLASSIC CAR PARADE was again one of the highlights of the Sidewalk Days festival last week-end. Area residents drove their classic autos and trucks from the depot, south to the fairgrounds and back. Chelsea merchants provided a lunch for all participants.

Fine Showing by Area Young People at 4-H Youth Show

Again this year, Chelsea, Dexter, Grass Lake and Manchester young people made a fine showing at the Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Show, "Look to the Future," held July 27-31 at the Farm Council Grounds.

Exhibiting colorful and imaginative displays in the block house, 1987 participants captured the spirit of the annual show and produced a host of interesting entries.

In the block house, each of the 4-H clubs had a centralized display to include exhibits by the club members.

The spectators attending the Youth Show seemed to spend more than the usual amount of time inspecting the displays for 1987.

Entertainment provided by the 4-H young people reflected witty and refreshing material, drew lots of chuckles from the audience, and as usual, candidates for queen and king were a lively and talented group.

Kerri Bristle of Manchester was crowned 1987 queen by retiring queen Laura Shope, and Nick Gordon, Saline, took over duties of kingship from Dave Weidmayer.

First runner-up couple included Julie Arnold, Dexter, and Greg Weidmayer, Saline, and third-place winners were Tricia Horning and Marty Heller.

Livestock Auction Top Animals. Over-all, prices bid for both grand champion and reserve grand champion animals at the 1987 Livestock Auction, Thursday evening, July 30, were above those of last year.

Trophy winners, young people whose animals were judged grand champions and reserve grand champions in various categories at the 1987 show, successful bidders and their bids during the Livestock Auction, are listed below.

Reserve grand champion rabbit was sold by Max Cope of Saline to Whalen Auction Service, Plymouth, for $100.

Grover Colby of Dexter bid highest, $300, for Jason Cousino's grand champion meat pen. Jason is from Manchester.

Marcus Bristle of Manchester sold his grand champion dairy cow to Atlas Stores (in Clinton and other locations) for $700, and his sister, Kerri, who reigned as queen of the 1987 4-H Youth Show, received $550 for her reserve grand champion dairy cow, purchased by Cutler-Dickerson of Saline.

Ken Baldus of Dexter raised this year's grand champion 1,210-pound beef steer, purchased by Washtenaw Farmers Oil, Ypsilanti, for $1,550/pound.

Dexter's Julie Nixon brought the 1,325-pound reserve grand champion beef-steer to Thursday's auction, and C. F. Braun, Ann Arbor, paid $1.25 per pound for the steer.

Saline's Sally Duible brought the 1987 grand champion market heifer to the ring and Manufacturers Bank, Saline, purchased the 950-pound animal for $1 per pound.

Manchester's Trisha Horning received the trophy for the rate-of-gain champion.

Marcus Bristle of Manchester raised the show's Holstein grand champion, and his sister Kerri accepted the trophy as owner of the 1987 Holstein reserve grand champion.

Marcus Bristle was also acclaimed as trophy winner in senior dairy cow showmanship.

Trophies were awarded Lisa Lozier of Manchester for dairy cow intermediate showmanship, and Chelsea's Ellen Bradbury, junior showmanship, dairy cows.

Additional Fine Owners, Animals. Judges agreed Guy Bunyea of Plymouth raised the junior Brown Swiss champion, and Howard DeForest, Ann Arbor, entered the Guernsey and junior Guernsey champion.

Kimberly DeBorde of Manchester had the Jersey champion and junior-Jersey champion.

In dairy livestock, Dexter's Ken Baldus was owner of the over-all junior champion and Marcus Bristle had the over-all junior reserve champion.

In beef-breeding, Jamie McFarlane, Plymouth, had the champion female Angus, and Lisa Lozier, Manchester, raised the champion female simmental and simmental cross.

Kay Bulman, Northville, was owner of the champion female (other breeds).

More Trophy Winners. This year's 120-pound grand champion individual lamb was raised by Judy Bareis of Chelsea, and McCalla Feeds paid $2.75 per pound.

Chelsea's John Heller raised the 1987 reserve grand champion pair of lambs, as well as the reserve grand champion individual lamb.

The 112-pound individual lamb was sold to Pat Cousins, bidding for Cousins Heritage Inn, Dexter, for $2.50/pound, and Dexter's Jacob Haas placed a successful $2.50/pound bid for the other lamb, just one pound lighter.

Ellen Bradbury's grand champion pair of lambs brought a bid of $1.75/pound from Farm Credit Services, Ann Arbor.

Farm Credit Services purchased Laura Shope's grand champion individual 234-pound hog for $2.50 per pound.

Purchase price for the 236-pound market hog from Nate Girbach's grand champion pair was $2.50 per pound, paid by Manufacturers Bank, Saline. Nate's second hog of the pair weighed 239 pounds and sold for $2.70/pound as reserve grand champion individual hog to Dunbar Food Locker, Milan.

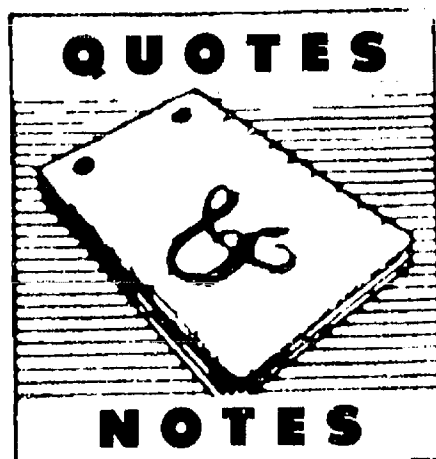

Bidding for Michigan Livestock Technology, Ron McCalla offered $1.50/lb. to purchase the reserve grand champion pair of market hogs raised by Michelle Jedele, Saline.

In swine showmanship, trophies were presented to Carl Schneider of Whitmore Lake, Chelsea's Garrett Kern, and Nate Girbach, Saline, recognized for senior, intermediate and junior showman levels.

John Burnett of Dexter was acclaimed as owner of a 261-pound hog, judged to have the most significant "rate of gain."

Sheep Owner Tropes. Matthew Pritzel, Dexter, was awarded a trophy for this year's champion fleece in the sheep livestock judging.

Trophies also were presented Gary Luckhardt, Dexter, owner of the champion Shropshire ewe, to Marty (Continued on page eight)

"Think all you speak but speak not all you think. Thoughts are your own; your words are so no more..."

—Patrick Delany

Anyone who has ever regretted having said too much... and who hasn't... will understand the wisdom of Delany's observation. Many of our thoughts are better left unspoken.

Even though we ourselves truly believe what we say, it is well to keep in mind that even our innermost thoughts are no longer ours alone once we have voiced them. Better to remain silent than to express ourselves unwisely in irretrievable words.

Our counsel and advice does not end with the funeral service. It is available to those we serve for as long as we can be helpful.

Donna Horn Attends Orientation Program At Ohio Dominican

Donna Horn, daughter of Donald and Barbara Horn of 2757 McKinley Rd., Chelsea, attended an orientation program for incoming students held on July 12 and 13 at Ohio Dominican College, Columbus, O.

Incoming freshmen and transfer students numbered over 170. Students who were not able to attend the July orientation may attend an orientation day set for Sept. 8, the day before fall classes resume.

Chelsea Baton Corps Members Win 12 First-Place Awards in National Meet

Baton twirling's most prestigious event of the year was held at Notre Dame University July 21-25. AYOP (America's Youth on Parade) brings together the best twirlers and teams competing at different levels in age and ability for national and world titles. This "contest of contests" sponsored by the National Baton Twirling Association hosts some 5,000 youngsters who compete in the various aspects of baton—solo, strut, drum major, flag, model, 2-baton, and team.

Twenty-one qualifying members of the Chelsea Baton Corps competed this year, winning 12 first-place trophies, one team trophy, and 37 medals for being in the top 10 in the USA.

Christine Dunlap and Winston Howard both became three-time winners as each captured their respective National Title third year in a row. Chrissy was named National Champion Drum Major in the 13-15 year division. She was also named runner-up to All American Girl. Winston not only captured the PeeWee National Champion among the young men, but also took the World Championship Solo, Military Strut, Drum Major, and Flag Baton in the 9-6 division.

Kori White was named National/World Champion in both beginner two-baton and flag baton in the nine-year division while Yvonne Scaggs took Flag baton in the 11-year-olds. Whitney Hampton, 8, walked away with the Novice Twirl Solo championship. Greg Stanley, 18, won both the Senior Men's Military Strut and Drum Major titles.

Chelsea's dance twirl team, the "Heartbeats," placed fifth in the nation in teams. The team consists of Heather Hamilton, Chrissy Dunlap, Laurie Honbaum, Tiffany Scott, Heather Wynn, Whitney Hampton,

Amy Feldkamp, Kori White, Linda Schaffer, Michelle Jones, Danielle Clark, Kate Steele, and Tracey Wales. Other Chelsea Baton Corps members to place in the top 10 were as follows:

★ ATVs Unsafe for Children

Prohibiting the use of all terrain vehicles (ATVs) by children under age 16 is a major goal of a new policy adopted by the Michigan State Medical Society (MSMS).

Acting during its 122nd annual meeting, the MSMS House of Delegates accepted a position statement calling for a ban on ATV operation by children under 16 and seeking mandatory safety courses for ATV drivers between 16 and 18.

Of the 600 persons killed in the last five years in ATV accidents, 240 of them were under age 16. In 1985 alone, 85,900 ATV-related injuries to children were reported.

Demonstrating governmental concern for escalating numbers of deaths and injuries, the Consumer Product Safety Commission already has asked for a ban on the production and sale of smaller ATVs marketed for use by children.

In addition to restricting ATV use by children, the MSMS policy calls for stronger regulation of ATV use by adults. The medical society is promoting legislation to require mandatory helmet use by ATV drivers. The legislation also would penalize individuals driving ATVs under the influence of alcohol or drugs in the same manner as are automobile drivers.

MSMS will propose to the American Medical Association in June that the Michigan position be adopted as AMA policy.

The Michigan State Medical Society represents more than 11,000 MDs from all medical specialties across the state.

FINGERPRINTING ROSES

By Hubert Kelley

Why fingerprint a rose?

Answer: to protect it from piracy. Here's the story. New hybrid varieties of roses can be patented, entitling the patentee to royalties from nurseries that grow and sell his creation. Consumers now pay from $4 to $20 for a patented rose plant, depending on the variety.

Unfortunately, pirating patents in the rose game is anything but rare. All that a rose pirate has to do is buy a popular hybrid, snip off some cuttings, root them, and he's in business. With thousands of hybrid varieties on the market, it's often difficult for the patent holder to prove in court that a particular rose is his.

Now, however, a U.S. Department of Agriculture scientist in Ohio has found a way to identify each variety of rose beyond question. Charles W. Krause, a plant pathologist with the Agricultural Research Service, used an electron scanning microscope to magnify the leaves of rose varieties as much as 20,000 times. When he did, he found marked differences among varieties in the shape of leaf openings, called stomata. There were additional differences in leaf hairs and waxy deposits on leaves and thorns.

Photographs of the distinctive openings can serve as "fingerprints" to settle questions of patent ownership easily.

"For the first time," says Krause, "we can accurately distinguish one rose variety from another."

The researcher has opened the fingerprint file with photos of 20 hybrid varieties, including South Seas, Antigua, Color Magic, Spellbinder, and Promise. He also has written a fingerprint manual.

Krause emphasizes that using the electron microscope to identify plant varieties is not limited to roses. He plans now to fingerprint patented varieties of trees and other nursery plants.

CHAMBER ENSEMBLE of Chelsea High school, under the direction of Jed Fritzemeler, left, performed at the depot open house during Sidewalk Days last Friday and Saturday. The ensemble had to suffer through sweltering temperatures.

CONCERT IN THE PARK drew several hundred people last month and an even bigger crowd is anticipated this Sunday for classical/jazz night, featuring Chelsea Chamber Ensemble, and saxophonist Vincent York. The concert, which begins at 6 p.m., is sponsored by Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, Chelsea Recreation Council, and Michigan Bell.

A KALAMAZOO MAN escaped serious injury last Thursday afternoon, July 30 in this accident at Werkner Rd. and M-52. According to reports, Randall J. Burgess was driving this car on the shoulder north on M-52 when he turned left in front of a truck driven by Carlos Duenols of Stockbridge, who was traveling in the same direction. The impact pushed Burgess' car off the west side of M-52. Burgess was discharged from University of Michigan Hospital on Saturday, Aug. 1. There were at least two empty beer cans in the car, although reports did not say whether alcohol was a factor in the accident.

Indecent Exposure Charge Sought Against Man

Police are seeking indecent exposure charges against a 22-year-old Cavanaugh Lake Rd. man in connection with an incident involving a 15-year-old Chelsea girl as she was riding her bicycle on Sunday, July 19.

According to Chelsea police, the girl was riding her bike on Hayes St. at about 7 p.m. when the man pulled up behind her in an open top vehicle and drove slowly behind her.

The man continued to follow her and she slowed down to let him pass. The girl claimed that as the man drove up beside her she saw him playing with himself with his pants pulled down.

The man drove off, but shortly thereafter pulled up behind the girl again. Fearing for her safety, the girl quickly rode to a friend's home on North St.

After explaining the situation to her friend's mother, they went outside and saw the man. They decided to follow him in a car, which they did for two miles. Eventually the man stopped and told the woman and children that they shouldn't follow people because they could get hurt.

Police said the girl gave an accurate description of the man and his vehicle, which has led them to seek charges.

VINCENT YORK, an accomplished jazz saxophonist, will be featured at this Sunday evening's Concert in the Park at Pierce Park. York has appeared in concert with many famous singers and musicians over his career.

Concert in the Park Features Classics, Jazz

Chelsea's second Concert in the Park takes place this Sunday, Aug. 9, at Pierce Park, featuring a line-up of classical and jazz music.

The 6 p.m. show will highlight the talents of the Chelsea Chamber Ensemble, conducted by Jed Fritzemeler, and the jazz saxophone of Vincent York.

Chelsea Chamber Ensemble is composed of Chelsea-area residents, including Pat Stirling, music director at St. Paul United Church of Christ, Ann Lee, director of the Children's Choir of the First United Methodist church, Judy Jorgensen, a member of the school district staff, recent Chelsea High school graduates Norman Weber and Kathy Jorgensen, CHS seniors Dena Stevens and Karen Grau, and CHS Juniors Jeff Veto and Steve Radant.

The ensemble concert will feature "something for everyone," in Fritzemeler's words. Included will be show songs from "My Fair Lady," "Mikado," and "Camelot." In addition, there will be music by The Beatles, Latin music, and classical works by Mozart, Brahms and Norman Weber. Finally, there will be fiddle tunes.

Special guest of the ensemble will be Chelsea's own Deb Rusinski, a song writer, guitarist and musician with the Toledo Symphony Orchestra. She'll perform three songs, "Fluffy," "Ode to New Yorkers," and "Michigan Man."

York has appeared in concert with Laine Kazan, Pearl Bailey, Ella Fitzgerald and Gladys Knight and the Pips, among many others. He played at the Inaugural Ball for President Jimmy Carter. He's a former member of the Duke Ellington Orchestra and the Dick Stabile Orchestra.

York is also band leader for The Force, The Vincent York Quartet, and various "supersax" groups. He's on call for such bands as Marcus Belgrave Quintet and the Jimmy Wilkins Orchestra.

York is a jazz artist in residence at Cass Technical High school in Detroit. He is also an instructor at Washtenaw Community College.

The concert is free and open to the public. Concertgoers are urged to bring blankets, lawn chairs and a picnic dinner if so desired.

Parking is available at Chelsea Community Hospital.

The concert is sponsored by the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, Chelsea Recreation Council, and Michigan Bell.

Double Header Loss Ends Summer Season

Chelsea summer baseball team ended their season on Sunday, July 26 by dropping a double header to Shar Products, 4-3 and 9-5.

Chelsea ended the season at 3-17.

In the opener, Chelsea took a 2-0 lead in the second inning as Greg Boughton doubled home Greg Haist and Randy Ferry after a single and a walk. Tim Anderson's sacrifice bunt moved them into scoring position.

By the sixth inning, Shar had a 3-2 lead, after scoring one run in the third and two in the sixth.

In Chelsea's half of the sixth, Haist tied up the game with a home run to left center.

Chelsea came to the plate in the seventh inning down by one run. After one out, Boughton singled and Chris Acree walked to put the winning run on base. However, a pop-up and ground out ended the rally.

Boughton pitched for Chelsea and should have won the game, according to coach Akel Marshall. He allowed just four hits, walked four and struck out one. However, a couple of Chelsea errors helped Shar win the game.

Chelsea had seven hits, two each by Haist and Boughton, and singles by Matt Forner, Larry Nix and Bob Clouse. Chelsea stranded six runners.

In the second game, Chelsea took a 3-0 lead as Clouse, Jeff Marshall and Doug Wingrove all scored.

However, Shar came back with six runs in the third inning and three in the fourth.

Chelsea had six hits to go along with 10 walks, but stranded 10 runners in the game.

Clouse had half of Chelsea's hits, with three singles.

Haist, Acree and Anderson also hit singles.

Nix was the starting Chelsea pitcher, and was relieved by Anderson in the fifth.

"We played some pretty tough teams this summer and hopefully they will help us get better," Marshall said.

'Demo Derby Soccer' On Tap for Chelsea Fair

In an event to rival motoball at the recent Goodwill Games, this year's Chelsea Community Fair will feature "Demolition Derby Soccer," during Wednesday's Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby, Sept. 3.

Described as a "first time in the world event" by Demolition Derby Chairman John Klink, the game will feature two teams of five cars who will use a driverless foreign car as the "ball."

The teams will start at opposite ends of the arena, with the "ball" in the middle. The first team, driving backward, to move the car over the goal mark will be the winner.

Winners will receive individual trophies and cash. They will also qualify to run in the feature event. Because this is a test event, only first and second place winners of previous demolition derby feature events will be allowed to drive.

Interested drivers should call Klink at 475-7631 or Jeff Layher at 475-9106. Drivers will be selected by drawing.

Swimming Pool Safety Tips

Few summertime activities are as enjoyable and healthful as a cool, refreshing swim. Safety awareness and a few precautions can save a life. Here are some tips:

- Make sure the swimming pool is enclosed securely. The fence should be high enough so that it cannot be climbed over and there should be no openings large enough for a child to crawl through. Gates should be self-closing and self-latching with latches out of a child's reach. Lawn chairs and picnic tables should be situated so they cannot be used for climbing over fences around pools.
- Be alert to safety hazards. No glass or dishes should be allowed near the pool area. Remove sharp or broken objects from the lawn and pool site. Check settled or uneven walkways that could cause tripping and get slippery when wet. Keep electrical wiring and devices well away from the swimming pool and use and store chemicals according to directions from the manufacturer.
- Never let anyone, child or adult, swim alone. Always provide supervision when the pool is in use. Don't rely on flotation devices or swimming lessons as substitutes for supervision.
- Keep a rescue pole and throwing rope with a float at poolside. Make sure the emergency rescue equipment is in good condition and ready for use. Don't attempt a water rescue unless you're a proficient swimmer and lifesaver. An unskilled rescuer can easily become a victim.
- Learn CPR. Contact your local American Red Cross or heart association for classes. Keep emergency rescue numbers ready for immediate use. If possible, have a telephone installed near your pool.

'Twice Pardoned' Film Slated at Free Methodist

"Twice Pardoned" will be shown at the Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7665 Werkner Rd., on Sunday, Aug. 9, and Sunday, Aug. 16, at 6 p.m. This is a new two-part film series for teens and their parents from "Focus on the Family."

Ex-con Harold Morris has spent more than a decade warning young people to avoid the snares that nearly destroyed his life. In these exciting films, Harold talks about the perilous effects of peer pressure and how little mistakes can have big consequences.

Shot on several locations, including Georgia State Penitentiary, the films retrace Harold's fall from all-star athlete to death row inmate. And, through interview segments with Dr. James Dobson, Harold explains how he met Jesus Christ as his savior and how he was dramatically pardoned from a double life sentence.

Everyone is welcome. A nursery will be available.

False Prescription Calls Attention Of State Police

Michigan State Police are investigating an incident in which an off duty Chelsea policeman caught a Chelsea woman as she obtained an illegal prescription in an Ypsilanti pharmacy in the afternoon of July 26.

According to Chelsea police, officer David Detling was off duty at Maple Drugs on Washtenaw Ave. when he saw the 25-year-old woman pick up a prescription for Tylenol III for a Fred Randolph.

An investigation by Detling revealed the woman had obtained the prescription from an Ann Arbor physician. She allegedly told the doctor that she needed the drug for her father, who had recently undergone open heart surgery. Further investigation revealed that the name Fred Randolph was a false name.

Hippocrates, who lived in Greece about 460-377 B.C., wrote diseases followed the changes of the seasons and that some were caused by intense heat or cold.

Outdoor Report

From DNR
District Office in Jackson

Fisheries . . .

A new category of "hybrid sunfish," with a minimum of 12 ounces has been established with Michigan's Master Angler award program, administered by the DNR. The program established in 1973, recognizes anglers catching large species of Michigan fish that meet minimum entry weight requirements.

A master angler patch is awarded to all qualifying entrants. To date, nearly 5,000 anglers have participated in the program.

The hybrid sunfish is described as any fish of the sunfish family that has hybridized (crossed) with another sunfish: Michigan sunfishes that will hybridize include the bluegill, pumpkinseed, rockbass and warmouth bass and the longear, orange spotted, green and redear sunfishes.

Entries for the 1987 award year may be submitted up to Jan. 10, 1988. A new state record hybrid sunfish will be announced at that time.

The DNR Fisheries Division has initiated a grant-in-aids program to assist local governments and conservation clubs to enhance inland fishing opportunities. Funding for the Inland Fisheries Co-operative Grants Program has been set initially at $200,000 per year. To provide for as many grants as possible, the maximum amount per grant will be $20,000.

Any individual group, organization or unit of government may apply for grants. Organized lake associations and sportsmen's clubs are especially encouraged. Preferences will be granted to governmental units and organized groups.

Participation by eligible organizations must consist of equal matching funds, services or a combination of funds and services (labor) totalling at least 50 percent of project cost.

The following types of projects are encouraged under the Inland Fisheries Co-operative Grants Program:

1. Projects to protect, maintain or enhance aquatic environments capable of supporting a significant public fishery.
2. Projects that foster educational and interpretive communications and interest in inland fish, fishing and fish management.
3. Projects that will provide additional or different fishing opportunities on public waters.

If your club is interested in using this DNR grant program to acquire funds for suitable projects, please contact the Jackson District Fisheries Unit (517) 784-3188 for additional details and application forms.

Farm Bureau Opposes Wage Increase

An increase in the federal minimum wage would make it difficult for agriculture to stay competitive in world markets, according to Michigan Farm Bureau agricultural economist Robert Craig. A higher minimum wage would lead to farmers investing in mechanization, hiring fewer workers and growing fewer labor-intensive crops, Craig predicts.

"We in agriculture have a major interest in maximizing employment in our national economy, as well as in expanding export markets and keeping inflation in check," he said. "We believe that the proposed increase in the minimum wage would reduce jobs and make it more difficult for not only agriculture, but other U. S. industries as well, to compete in world markets."

The American Farm Bureau Federation testified this week before a Senate Labor Committee that the federal minimum wage should be repealed.

The Labor Department's Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) helps to reduce deaths, injuries and illnesses in the nation's mines with a variety of activities and programs. The agency works cooperatively with industry, labor, other federal and state agencies and others toward improving safety and health conditions for all miners.

Too Early To Harvest Stressed Corn

A lot of corn in Michigan, particularly in the Thumb area, is under severe drought stress, but it is far too early to begin harvesting corn for silage.

"Farmers shouldn't do anything with those fields for at least another two or three weeks," says Oran Hesterman, Michigan State University Co-operative Extension Service forage specialist.

"The moisture in the corn plant, regardless of how bad the plant may appear now, is simply too high for it to make good silage," Hesterman says. "Plant moisture must be 70 percent or less before corn is ensiled. Any silage made now would probably have a very low nutrient value and cattle would likely reject it."

It's also too early to green-chop corn for feed.

"When drought conditions prevent normal plant growth, the plant talk may contain abnormally high amounts of nitrate, which, if fed in excessive amounts, can cause animals to go off-feed or even die," Hesterman says.

Hesterman bases his recommendation upon examination of corn fields in the Thumb with Herb Bucholtz, MSU Extension dairy nutritionist.

"We didn't see any fields, even in Huron county, that were ready to be chopped," Hesterman says. "I can appreciate that a lot of farmers are upset and worried, but attempting to do anything with the crop now will only make matters worse."

Farmers can, however, begin monitoring their fields and developing plans for handling the crop.

"The first thing they should realize is that even if substantial rain arrives, it is not going to significantly improve the corn that has been stressed the past few months," Hesterman says.

The amount of grain that the crop is going to produce was determined during pollination. If conditions were so dry that adequate pollination did not occur, the corn grain yield is going to be reduced regardless of any moisture accumulation during the next three weeks.

Hesterman advises farmers to make random samples of their entire fields—the worst and the best—every five to seven days and test those samples for moisture content.

As that information is accumulated, growers should study the free bulletin "Managing Drought-Stressed Corn and Soybeans" (NCR 238), written by Hesterman. It tells how to assess the crop and how to determine its quality and dollar value.

The bulletin is available from the county Co-operative Extension Service office and from MSU. Write to the MSU Bulletin Office, Box 6640, MSU, East Lansing 48826-6640. The bulletin office phone number is 517-355-0240.

"Farmers should use the time between now and harvest to develop the best possible plans they can to make the most out of what is a bad situation and go over their plans with the county Extension agricultural agent or director," Hesterman says.

Steamships became a chief means of transportation for Michigan settlers. From April 1 to May 12 in 1830, 2,400 settlers landed at Detroit. During one week in May of 1831, there were more than 2,000 arrivals.

TRICIA HORNING OF MANCHESTER was recognized as owner of the "rate of gain" winner among dairy animals at the 1987 Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Show, held July 27-31 at the Farm Council Grounds. Tricia's cow weighed 1,455 pounds.
