DIRECTING A NEW PROGRAM for children at high risk in the Chelsea School District is social worker Vicki Utke. Utke has been employed as the district's social worker since 1983. At right is her boss, Dr. Henry DeYoung, director of special education.

School Board Approves Innovative Program To Help 'Children at Risk'

A new program aimed at helping "children at risk," before they become labeled as needing special education, has been authorized by the Chelsea School Board and is being carried out by the school's special education department.

The school board purposely did not define "children at risk" in specific terms, feeling that the whole point was that they were children who did not fit into any neat category. Chelsea special education director Dr. Henry DeYoung offers as a working definition, "children who are not functioning in school like they should, either academically or socially, but are not handicapped."

Staff time for the new program was created by budgeting for a second school social worker, since doing the basic work connected with identified special education needs takes all the time of one social worker.

Instead of having a newly hired social worker set up the program, DeYoung asked Vicki Utke, who has been working as the system's social worker since 1983, to take the job. DeYoung says he asked her because "I want the position to really succeed. I know Vicki and I know what she can do." The second social worker will take over most of the work formerly done by Utke.

Utke is planning to spend most of her time at Chelsea's two elementary schools, both because early intervention is one of the goals and because the middle school and high school have more services available such as counselors including the substance abuse counselor.

Utke describes her new job as "so broad, it's exciting to think of ways to do it." She is beginning her work by taking a needs survey, talking to all the elementary school teachers about students they have concerns about. If the problems fall into certain categories, it will help Utke plan where to place her emphasis.

At the same time Utke is talking to the teachers, she is also visiting all the classrooms to introduce herself to the students and to explain her role. She would like the students to feel free to come to her with problems, to "self-refer."

Beyond these beginning steps, Utke has a whole host of ideas on programs to set up, working with students, teachers, and parents. For instance, although not all students wish to work on their problems in a group setting, for those that do, Utke could assemble students with similar concerns such as children from divorced families, those who have experienced an important loss, or for newcomers to the school system. Other groups could be formed to help students develop social skills.

Another way of having students work together, would be to have cross-age tutoring, to have older children in the school give academic aid and attention to the younger ones.

Utke also plans to work within the classroom, setting up units on improving social competencies, building higher self-esteem, and on issues of growing up. She describes her role as not replacing teachers but helping them develop classroom programs. She points out that many teachers already do many of the things mentioned. "I anticipate it will be a real co-operative effort. Chelsea teachers are very receptive to ideas and concepts, they care about each individual student's success. I see the teachers show great concern and effort."

Utke plans to work with parents, both directly and through parenting groups. She emphasizes that parents with concerns about their children or with information about changes in their child's life which might effect their performance at school, should feel free to call her at 475-9131.

Even with all this effort, some children will still need to be referred to special education programs. When this happens, Utke will be able to more effectively assist and advise the families, since she will already know them.

Utke earned a master's in social work from the University of Michigan in 1974. She appreciates that her new job will allow her to use more of the skills she learned as a social work student than she has had the opportunity to in the last 15 years, working with individuals and groups, with families and teachers.

Before returning to school for her social work degree, Utke worked as a classroom teacher, teaching fourth grade in Illinois. She also served in the Peace Corps in Malaysia. Her first social work job after receiving her social work degree was in the Wayne-Westland school district where she worked for nine years.

Utke lives in Dexter with her husband and three children.

The idea of hiring a second school social worker evolved out of a Board of Education goal to help children at risk. Two other programs have resulted from this goal: the substance abuse program and the developmental kindergarten.

Although other school systems do some of the things Utke is planning to do, Chelsea is the first in Washtenaw county to use a social worker directly in this capacity. Utke describes the idea of a second social worker as "far-sighted," saying, "It shows a real commitment on the part of the School Board to help children at risk."

Utke appeared at Monday's school board meeting to explain her program. She plans to continue reporting periodically throughout the year to update the board and the community on her progress.

Cassidy Lake Now Part Of Camp Prison Program

Cassidy Lake Technical School has been absorbed by the camp prison program of which nearby Camp Waterloo is a part.

The change became effective on Sunday, Sept. 20 according to Camp Waterloo Warden William Grant, who will oversee the 14 camps in the system after the program-wide reorganization. Grant is a 17-year veteran of the prison system and has worked at Camp Waterloo for 5½ years.

There are more than 3,000 prisoners in the system.

The move was based on economics, Grant said. He said the primary change would be that reporting to the Corrections Department in Lansing would take place from camp headquarters rather than from Cassidy Lake itself.

"Each study of the prison system always wondered why Cassidy Lake was not part of the camp program because it shared vital services with the camp program," Grant said.

"The camp program provides business offices, food and clothing to Cassidy Lake. We have four or five camps that are bigger than Cassidy Lake, so it makes sense to bring it into the program."

Cassidy Lake was the only minimum security prison in the state not part of the camp program, Grant said.

All prisons within the camp program are minimum security, although some are more secure than others. Camp Waterloo, for example, is fenced, although it doesn't have enough fence to qualify as a medium security prison. Cassidy Lake does not have a fence and Grant said he is not aware of any plans to fence it.

John Staten, the previous warden at Cassidy Lake, was reassigned to Lansing several months ago. Deputy Warden John Andrews, who has served as acting warden since Staten's departure, will become the camp supervisor.

Andrews spent 11 years working at Camp Waterloo before moving to Cassidy Lake four years ago. Andrews called the re-organization, "a complete surprise."

No new warden will be hired.

According to Grant, no one at Cassidy Lake will be laid off, and all positions will remain there. However, according to corrections spokeswoman Gail Light, some employees could be transferred to other facilities.

"We have yet to determine staffing patterns," Light said.

Grant said the education program will remain in place at Cassidy Lake. It will be one of two such camps in the system.

A new prisoner dormitory is being built at Cassidy Lake and should be ready for occupancy late this year.

High School Plans Open House Monday

Chelsea High school has scheduled its annual fall open house for this Monday, Sept. 28 at 7 p.m.

Parents will have a chance to meet their child's teachers as they follow their child's schedule through each of six periods. It is not designed as a time for parents and teachers to meet individually. Teachers will talk about their course and curriculum and generally describe their expectations on homework, goals for the course, methods of evaluating the student's work and other items of importance.

Student council guides will be available to assist parents in finding rooms throughout the evening. School maps will also be available.

Coffee and cookies will be served in the cafeteria.

The evening will begin with a general meeting in the auditorium from 7-7:15. Sixth period will end at 8:55. Each mock period will last 10 minutes.

Students are encouraged to attend with their parents.

Beach School Open House Set Tuesday

Beach Middle school parents, grandparents and adult friends of Chelsea 6th, 7th and 8th graders are invited to attend an open house on Tuesday, Sept. 29, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Beach Middle School Cafeteria.

Following a brief meeting in the cafeteria, parents will participate in a "capsulized" version of their child's schedule with short visits to each classroom.

At the completion of this "school day" there will be a social gathering in the cafeteria where extra curricular organizations and service clubs, such as Yearbook, Academic Games, Music Boosters, Athletic Boosters, and Aquatic Club Boosters will be available to explain their respective programs. The sixth grade camp program will be introduced in the form of a slide presentation.

HONORARY CHAIRMEN of the 1987 Chelsea United Way Campaign are long-time Chelsea residents Walt and Sandy Zeeb, owners of Chelsea Greenhouse. The campaign begins Oct. 1 and runs through the month. Above, the Zeebs enjoy a ride down Main St. during the Chelsea Community Fair parade.

Courthouse Renovation To Start in Mid-October

The renovation and restoration of Chelsea's 14th district courthouse should begin by mid-October.

Last Wednesday, Sept. 16 the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners approved the expenditure of $480,000 for the project. With $135,000 in donations by the Village of Chelsea, local townships, businesses, private individuals and a foundation, the total project will come to $615,000.

Appropriations for the project had been slowed because the low bid was $150,000 higher than the budgeted amount. Wednesday's board action amounted to approving the expenditure of the extra money. The additional capital will come from another county building project that has stalled.

"The contractor (Phoenix Construction Co.) is looking at an eight month project," according to Tom Freeman, director of facilities management for the county.

"We should be done by mid-June." The first phase of the project will involve moving courthouse personnel into Sylvan Town Hall on W. Middle St. in early October, Freeman said.

At the town hall, additional electrical circuits will have to be added and temporary partitions erected. In addition, the county plans to construct a bench for Judge Karl Fink, which will be left behind for the township meetings.

Once the courthouse workers are moved, construction will begin. When completed, the courthouse will become a full-service courthouse.

Assault Charges Pending Against Grass Lake Man

Charges are pending against a 19-year-old Grass Lake man for allegedly assaulting a night clerk at the Village Mobil Station on Monday, Sept. 21.

According to police, the man had been banned from the store for some unspecified reason. At approximately 2:15 a.m. he entered the store. When the attendant asked him to leave, he allegedly pushed the attendant. According to the man's statement to police, he wanted to find out why he had been banned from the store.

The man was accompanied by a 20-year-old Chelsea man.

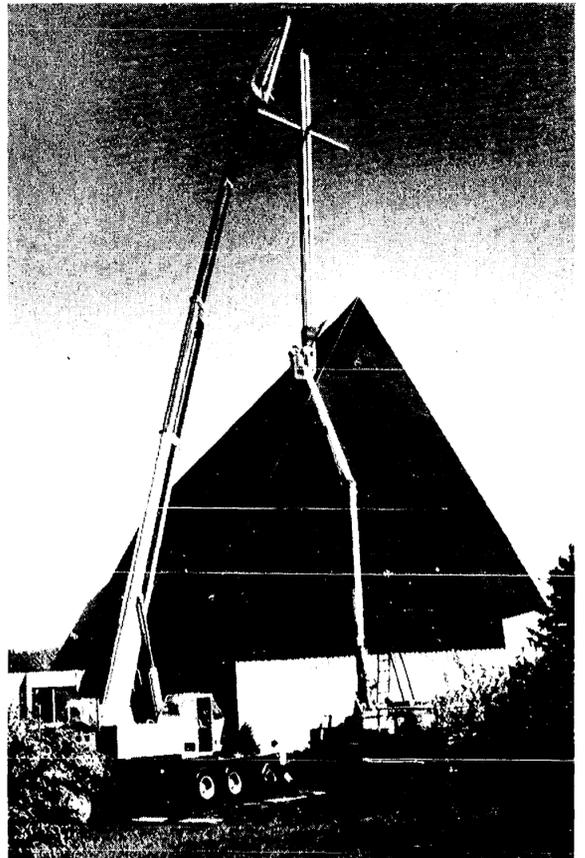

with both jury and non-jury trials. In addition, there will be a Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department substation, with holding cell, several meeting rooms, and upgraded quarters for courthouse workers. Electrical, plumbing and heating systems will also be upgraded.

The non-county donations will be used for restoration work. That includes exposing the interior of the dome and uncovering old woodwork, marble and plaster reliefs.

The Historic Chelsea District Courthouse group, chaired by Chelsea attorney Peter Flintoft, was responsible for raising the local share of the project. Pledges for the local share were required before the county would go ahead with the project.

The courthouse is located at the northwest corner of Main and South Sts.

ST. PAUL UNITED CHURCH OF CHRIST looks a little more glorious these days since the new wooden cross was erected last Saturday, Sept. 19. The upright portion is composed of four posts each 5¼" square. The cross pieces are two 16" pieces, also 5¼" square each. The church had the cross built and erected, including the installation of a lightning rod, for $13,185.

4 Years Ago . . .

Wednesday, Sept. 21, 1983—
Several township supervisors, hoping to dissuade the Chelsea Board of Education from collecting summer property taxes in 1984, were among about a dozen people to attend a public hearing on the topic.

Whether to split the yearly levy of school taxes, collecting half in July and half in December, has been a topic of dispute between Michigan school districts and townships since last December when then Gov. William G. Milliken signed the bill into law.

Robin Raymond, the popular varsity basketball coach who led the Chelsea cagers to a tie for the Southeastern Conference championship last season, has resigned to become head coach at Ann Arbor's Pioneer High school.

A Lima township dairy farmer is reported to be under investigation by federal authorities for holding two elderly men in involuntary servitude (slavery). Washtenaw sheriff Tom Minick launched the investigation originally, but turned the matter over to the FBI office in Detroit after discovering there is no Michigan law against slavery.

Thursday, Sept. 20, 1973—

Group To Begin Petition Drive On Unclaimed Bottle Deposits
The Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), original initiators of the 1978 "bottle bill," will undertake a petition drive to recoup funds from unclaimed deposits on beverage containers for use by the state to deal with toxic, hazardous and solid waste problems.

The conservation group received unanimous support of its board to begin the petition drive to put the question before the voters in the November 1988 general election.

Thomas L. Washington, executive director of the MUCC, said a canvas has indicated there is strong support for assigning the unclaimed deposit money to programs to improve the environment.

He said since the implementation of the original initiated act in 1978, unclaimed deposits on beer and soft drink bottles and cans have reverted to beverage wholesalers.

The amount of funds available remains in dispute. Washington said he thinks there is between $10 and $20 million available from the deposit source.

A 1986 study by a Lansing consulting firm previously estimated as much as $48 million was available in unclaimed deposits while soft drink and beer and wine wholesalers claim, after massive investments in new facilities, equipment, warehousing and trucks to accommodate the law, very little is actually unredeemed.

Dennis Hybarger, vice-president of the Michigan Beer and Wine Wholesalers, said a survey of members—representing 71.8 percent of the case volume for beer containers in the state—found that 98.2 percent of all containers are returned for refund.

He said the best current estimate of unredeemed beer container funds remains at about $2.9 million, a projection made by the group last March before the survey was completed.

With the inclusion of the soft drink industry, the projected total of unclaimed deposits would be in the $10 million range. He also added this figure was without giving any consideration to the capital improvements required of wholesalers to conform with the 1978 act.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers got to talking about attitudes during the session at the country store Saturday night. It was Zeke Grubb that said he had give the matter some thought since the problems of a crowded world got on the agenda recent. Zeke said he has thought the situation up one side and down the other, and he was of a mind that if we can't stop it and we can't git off it we'd best make the best of the world as we find it.

Fer instant, Zeke was thinking of ways folks learn to git more done in less time. Everthing is on the automatic, he said, so if we can figger quicker ways we ought to come up with safer ways. He had saw recent where drivers that save time with car telephones are using em to make the roads safer. Police across the country say folks are calling em with reports of drunk drivers. The good news is, folks are concerned enough to pay for the call while they stay on the phone and stay with the drunk until the police can git to em.

Personal speaking, Bug Hookum said, one of the best attitudes is an open mind on attitudes. Bug said he was thinking of a recent report where a psychiatrist in Boston says Americans need to change their attitude about being alone. The doctor claims that not only is there nothing wrong with being by yourself, you probable will be good for you. Many perfectly normal folks in this country are closet loners, according to the doctor. They like their own company and they would enjoy doing somepun or nothing by theirselves, but they won't be alone because they've been told fer so long that normal people don't do that sort of thing.

When you think about it, Bug said, who's more likely than you to think the way you think. He said he agreed with the psychiatrist's suggestion that we set ourselves down and have a tough, honest conversation once in a while. It can clear up questions in our own minds, he said, even if it raises questions in the minds of them around us.

Clem Webster said he ain't one to pal around with hisself all the time, but there's somepun to be said fer attitudes. Clem said he onct heard a preacher say the most important thing about work is attitude. Preaching, he said, can be a job with some stooping, but no heavy lifting, or it can be a privilege to help make a better world. One feller on a construction job might take the attitude that he's a underpaid slave mixing and hauling mortar to the masons. Another feller doing the same work might say he's building a hospital for crippled children.

Zeke said he run across a great attitude recent when he and his old lady had supper at a cafe in town. The girl that served them had visited their church. She was a college graduate and she had tried teaching, selling telephones and stocks. Zeke said his old lady ask her why a smart, educated girl like her was waiting tables. "That's a interesting question," the girl said, "don't you think you deserve to be served by me?"

Final, Ed Doolittle put the stopper in the jug. He said he might need to change his attitude about the British. He said there are four kinds of em. The Scots won't wear rubber heels because they give, the Welsh pray on their knees and prey on everybody else, the Irish don't know what they want but will fight to the death for it, and the English figger they're self-made so they worship their creator.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Cassidy Lake Escapee Sought

A walkaway from Cassidy Lake Technical School was still at large at press time Tuesday.

According to Chelsea police, Elroy Cole, 41, was last seen at the prison at 8 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 20.

Cole is described as black, 5'9", 175 pounds with black hair and brown eyes. He was wearing a prison blue uniform.

Cole's last known address was in Ypsilanti. He was serving time for carrying a concealed weapon, breaking and entering, and a drug violation.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Will Connelly

WILDLIFE VOLUNTEERS RESCUING OUR ENDANGERED SPECIES

The day could come when the last surviving eagle disappeared from the skies of Michigan, but 100,000 very special citizen-taxpayers are determined that such a day will never dawn. There are only 125 pairs of bald eagles left in the two peninsulas. By the end of this century, the hundred thousand members of the Michigan Non-game Wildlife Fund hope to bring the pairs of eagles to at least 200. Equally gallant efforts are pledged to saving the piping plover whose population is now down to 16 pairs, the Osprey fish hawk, down to 158 pairs and bluebirds whose numbers have plunged by 90 percent in the past 50 years.

Plans are also under way to reintroduce the Peregrine Falcon which last nested in Michigan 20 years ago and the trumpeter swan which disappeared from Michigan late in the 1800's. Wildlife is equally determined to again make sandhill cranes and whooping cranes our graceful neighbors.

Threatened pine martens, small furry mammals, are now scampering through forests near Gaylord and Cadillac. Eighty-one of them were recently released, after being trapped live in Ontario and transported to Michigan. We owe our thanks to the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources and the Ontario Trappers Association.

Of the nearly 500 fish and wildlife species that call Michigan their home, more than 80 percent are classified as non-game species. Through the Non-game Wildlife Fund we all have an opportunity to help protect these native wild animals and plants—especially those that are in trouble. Under legislation enacted in 1983 and 1985, the Fund is made up entirely of voluntary contributions from citizens. Most of these gifts come from taxpayers who have earmarked donations from their state income tax refunds. More than 100,000 people a year are choosing this painless way of refusing all or part of their state tax refunds in the interest of wildlife. Over 2,000 men and women are also serving as volunteers in non-game wildlife programs with technical assistance from the Department of Natural Resources.

Governor Blanchard has hailed the Fund as a "cornerstone to the conservation of our natural heritage." He is convinced that, "For some of our state's rarest wildlife and plant resources, this new Fund could spell the difference between survival and extinction."

The Fisheries and Wildlife Divisions of the DNR have Michigan lists of endangered and threatened species which include mussels, insects, fishes amphibians (such as salamanders), reptiles, birds, mammals and plants.

Endangered mammals are the gray wolf, cougar, lynx and Indiana bat. Threatened mammals are the least shrew, marten and prairie vole. Considered extinct are bison, woodland caribou and the wolverine.

Endangered birds are the short eared owl, piping plover, Kirkland's warbler, peregrine falcon, loggerhead shrike, king rail and barn owl.

Threatened are the red shouldered hawk, lark, sparrow, yellow throated warbler, merlin, common loon, bald eagle, osprey, Caspian tern and common tern.

Gone are the trumpeter swan, passenger pigeon and greater prairie chicken.

There are 15 plants on the endangered list including the Calypso orchid. Approximately 200 plants are in the threatened category including the nodding mandarin, giant horsetail, blue hearts, dotted blazing-star, warty panic-grass, honey-flowered solomonsal and the long-bracted spider-wort.

A 1987 project of the Non-game Fund is the long awaited updating and republication of the Manual of Michigan Ferns.

Among 30 other field projects which have been awarded small grants in 1987 is a scheme to imbue crows, gulls and other predators with an aversion to piping plover eggs. Dummy nests tempt predators with quail eggs which have been inoculated with distasteful carbrahol. One taste of this abhorrent substance is enough to make a crow or gull swear off plover eggs forever. Automatic photo techniques record their reactions.

Another endangered species, located in Cass county, is the copperbelly watersnake. To study their habitat requirements and movements, the snakes are captured briefly to mark them and surgically implant radio transmitters. Their movements can then be tracked and recorded. More is to be learned about predators which affect the survival of these snakes.

Yet another habitat and movement study is being conducted with pine martens in the Hiawatha National Forest.

A population evaluation of lake sturgeon is being conducted in the Sturgeon River and Otter Lake system. This fish dates back to the Eocene Epoch, 50 million years ago. Incredibly, with the split-second advent of man, the sturgeon is threatened with extinction. A short game season in January and February is permitted when a few devotees spear sturgeon through the ice. The mortal threat to the species is environmental.

Naturalists are searching for the Northern blue butterfly. The hunt centers on the host plant of the butterfly's larva—the dwarf dilberry—somewhere in the U.P. Find the plant, and you'll find the larvae eating dilberries. Then follows the pupae, and the emergent butterflies.

Over the years substantial losses of Michigan trees have been experienced resulting in the loss of precious tree cavities that traditionally have afforded dwellings to 30 native birds and animals. Probably no species has experienced this habitat crunch more than the eastern bluebird. The loss of this natural nesting place to the chainsaw has reduced the Michigan population of bluebirds to a mere 10 percent of former years. Faced with this challenge, the Non-game Wildlife Fund launched "Homes for Wildlife" to meet the needs of bluebirds, kestrels and other cavity-dwellers. The idea was to build and place nest box houses—with a hole of the right size in front—which would be an acceptable substitute for tree cavities. Hundreds were erected at 40 rest areas along Michigan highways. Now bluebirds and others welcome these homes each spring for the raising of their young.

Thousands more of these box nests have been established on private properties. Anyone who wants to join this program may join by writing to the Nest Box Network of the DNR. The address is given at the end of this column.

Yet another activity of the Non-game Wildlife Fund is the establishment of walkways and observation platforms for birders and naturalists at Grayling Millpond, Houghton Lake, Manistee and the AuSable River near Oscoda. These are great places for vacation photo stops.

Stepped up efforts are being made in the U.P. to preserve the common loon sightings, to help keep track of their nesting success. A Loon Recovery Team has been organized to chart protection efforts through the year 2000.

Grassroots efforts are also aimed at enlisting the help of lakeshore residents on a minimum of 100 lakes to protect loons during the critical breeding season. The Michigan Audubon Society is playing a major role in this loon protection program.

Citizens are urged to report loon sightings to LOONS care of the DNR, Lansing. Reports of dead loons should be phoned to the local DNR field office for investigation.

It has been 25 years since "Silent Spring" brought fame to Rachel Louise Carson for warning the world against the dangers to wildlife in the reckless use of pesticides. Deadly chemicals are still part of the problem among our imperiled species, and an important part of the solution is the Michigan Non-game Wildlife Fund. The financing and operation of the Fund appeals to many of us as a brilliant idea because it is voluntary. A person who isn't interested in wildlife can turn his back on these creatures without concern or guilt, and cannot be forced to pay. For those of us who do treasure the fellowship of our wildlife—and seek it for posterity—we can make a contribution to the Fund for as little or much as we wish. We can look for this symbol of a waterbird on our state income tax form:

This bird symbol shows the place on the tax form where you can give to the fund if you are due for a refund. And, of course, you can write a check anytime to the Non-game Wildlife Fund, Box 30180, Lansing, Mich. 48909. This is also the address for the Box Network and loon sightings.

FOUR BLUE ANGEL F-18's fly in tight formation, with only 36 inches separating aircraft. The Blue Angels will appear Oct. 3-4 at the Willow Run Air Show.

Blue Angels Return to Willow Run Air Show

Six left feet move forward, exactly in step. The boots are polished to high gloss. The blue uniforms are perfectly pressed. They approach six identical F-18 aircraft. The demonstration by the U. S. Navy Blue Angels is about to begin.

From the soles of their boots to the $18 million dollar aircraft they fly, the Blue Angels represent the highest standards of precision, teamwork and readiness. For the next hour the six pilots will perform as one as thousands of spectators at the Willow Run Air Show watch with awe and admiration.

The performances by the U.S. Navy Blue Angels and other military participation in the 1987 Willow Run Air Show Oct. 3-4 are hosted by Budweiser Beer.

Twelve General Electric F404 engines roar to life, breathing fire that will reach 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit. These can push the F-18 Hornet to speeds almost twice the speed of sound. The Hornet can cruise at an altitude above 50,000 feet (10 miles) and can climb at more than 30,000 feet per minute. It is small, compared to other Navy fighters, but its light weight and computer controlled flight control system give it incredible maneuverability in air-to-air combat.

That agility will be beautifully demonstrated by the Blue Angel Air Show performances at Willow Run Airport. During the 40 minutes they are airborne, 32 maneuvers will be flown, some with only 36 inches separating each aircraft. From tree-top level to 12,000 feet (more than two miles) and speeds from 130 miles per hour to over 600 miles per hour, the Blue Angels will put themselves and their aircraft through sequences that demand endurance as well as precision.

The precision does not come easily. More than 500 practice sorties are flown before the season even begins. The pilots, maintenance and support crews train and practice, practice and train. When the season begins, the team will fly more than 70 demonstrations throughout the United States.

During their 41 years, the Blue Angels have flown more than 2,700 demonstrations in the U.S. and several foreign countries, before 205,000,000 spectators. As testimony to the high standards of the maintenance crews, the Blue Angels have never had to cancel a show for maintenance reasons.

When their flying at the Willow Run Air Show is done, the F-18's will brake to a stop at the same instant, on the same spot from which they departed. The beauty of flight personified, the excellence Blue Angels affirmed, thousands of spectators thrilled.

The Willow Run Air Show is sponsored by Wayne county and will be Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 3-4. Tickets are on sale now at all TICKETMASTER locations. A portion of the proceeds benefit Easter Seals and the Children's Hospital of Michigan.

Fire Board Meets at Lima Township Hall, Tuesday, Sept. 29

Dexter Area Fire Department's fire administrative board will meet Tuesday, Sept. 29, at the Lima Township Hall on Jackson to discuss future direction the department will take.

At the Sept. 17 meeting, during which a near-capacity crowd appeared to ask reconsideration of Scio's plan to withdraw from the area-wide organization, set up nearly two years ago.

After the initial exchanges, the group settled down to work on resolving the differences, and decided to continue investigating the most efficient future course on which to set operations for the fire department.

Many of the officials representing the townships of Dexter, Lima, Scio and Webster, including those from the Village of Dexter, agreed to work together toward a solution which would best serve the citizens of the fire district.

Anyone who is interested in contributing suggestions, or who wants to know what direction the fire department will take, is advised to attend the Sept. 29 public meeting at Lima Township Hall.

DONALD COLE
Director

"Think all you speak but speak not all you think. Thoughts are your own; your words are so no more..."

—Patrick Delany

Anyone who has ever regretted having said too much... and who hasn't... will understand the wisdom of Delany's observation. Many of our thoughts are better left unspoken.

Even though we ourselves truly believe what we say, it is well to keep in mind that even our innermost thoughts are no longer ours alone once we have voiced them. Better to remain silent than to express ourselves unwisely in ir retrievable words.

Our counsel and advice does not end with the funeral service. It is available to those we serve for as long as we can be helpful.

Illegal Aliens Caught After Near Accident

Four illegal aliens have been turned over to the border patrol in Detroit after one of them nearly caused an accident involving the pick-up truck he was driving and a police squad car on Tuesday, Sept. 8.

According to Chelsea police, the four Mexicans were in a truck owned by George Merkel when the driver suddenly turned the truck left from S. Main St. onto eastbound Old US-12. An oncoming Chelsea policeman was forced to apply his brakes to avoid an accident.

None of the men, ranging in age from 17 to 34 years old, had any identification.

An investigation revealed the men had been working for Merkel on a part-time basis. Police said Merkel claimed to be unaware that they were illegal aliens, and that the driver of the truck did not have a driver's license.

Cassidy Lake . . .

The dormitory and one like it completed last year will house about 60 percent of the inmates.

"The building will bring Cassidy Lake up to the level of the other camps," Grant said.

Grant said that with the exception of Camp Waterloo and two others, all camps have modern facilities.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Ladies Day Committee of Chelsea Community Fair and the Fair Board are to be commended for their well organized and executed program. I'm sure many do not realize that preparation for next year begins almost immediately after the final clean-up.

The merchants who contributed the over 300 gifts should receive a heartfelt thank you! I hope the recipients of the gifts will take the time to thank them personally.

I was honored and privileged to have a part in the program reminiscing about the 50 years of Chelsea Fairs. In the 10-minute segment of the program I was unable to name all Fair Board members of past years. I chose names of people who are still with us. I apologize to the families of the deceased members of the Board and hope they will understand and forgive me.

Again, congratulations on a job well done committees.

Kathleen Chapman.

To the Editor:

In reference to the recent series of letters concerning the razing of the late Harold Jones' home at Cavanaugh Lake, I believe the real issues have not been adequately understood by Feeney, DeYoung and Powers.

Harold Jones' former property was (until demolished) one of the oldest of Chelsea's original lake-front dwellings; it was the Glazier family farm where their sheep grazed on the lakeside acreage. Obviously, due to its age, it was in need of sympathetic restorative work.

No, it may not have been a shining example of 19th century architecture, but neither was it the "architecturally insignificant" shack Feeney portrays. The buildings Feeney cites in the Sept. 2 issue of The Standard are indeed some of Glazier's architectural legacy to Chelsea as are the old Central Fibre and Frigid Products buildings, the original wing of the Chelsea United Methodist Home, the Chelsea Methodist church, and the landmark clocktower, to name a few.

While these buildings as a collection, form a rich history of Chelsea and Glazier's life, the Jones home as well had a rich heritage in that this was a place that Frank Glazier called home.

The buildings listed above are, without doubt, significant due to their design, setting, materials and workmanship. But is Feeney unaware of yet another definition of architectural significance?

Structures may also be deemed to be of historical significance when they are identified with important persons, events, and embodying distinguishing characteristics representing a period, style or type of structure.

The house in question was significant in that it housed possibly the single most powerful person to determine Chelsea's appearance today. Its style, that of the turn-of-the-century wooden cottage represents the style of life that belonged to the gay '90's era. This style is increasingly disappearing in favor of spiritless contemporary construction which all too frequently does not enhance its surroundings, but instead, transforms the vista into a plastic suburbia lacking any heritage at all. After the buildings that possess a historic background are gone, there is certainly no bringing them back.

For quite a while I've followed the Chelsea Historical Society's activities involving the depot renovation. I'm curious to know the guidelines the Historic Society has established as regards the preservation of Chelsea's older structures. I feel that it's time for those who regard themselves guardians of Chelsea's history to preserve a record of Chelsea's past for future generations. The architecture of the past is a very direct and beautiful expression of this heritage.

At this moment, the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home is contemplating the demolition of its original building (also built by Glazier). This is a priceless building in regards to Chelsea's history and could never be duplicated today, at a reasonable cost. Isn't the rehabilitation of a beautiful old building the correct alternative to the wrecking ball?

While the destruction of yet another historically and architecturally significant structure is being planned, you people prefer to squabble over shallow inarticulate misinterpretations of an individual's appeal for sensitivity.

It is obvious that Powers and DeYoung totally missed the point of Clark's letter. She did not propose any restriction on personal freedom. She merely urges an appropriate sensitivity and appreciation for Chelsea's heritage. Oh yes, and perhaps an opportunity to preserve a piece of Chelsea's history on film for the future!

The gross misinterpretations of the letters I read (those that reduce this issue to a petty personal battle) demonstrate nothing more than small-minded vision that does nothing to improve the quality of life in small towns (or anywhere else).

In my opinion, the issue here is that newer is not necessarily better—I hope we don't wait till it's too late to realize this.

In addition to its fine people, Chelsea's particularly rich heritage may be its greatest asset. It's worth preserving!

S. R. Campbell.

To the Editor,

Mr. Robert Phillips, how many places did you call before you decided to write your nasty letter?

If you would try a little harder you could find a 2-bedroom apartment for rent under $400 in the outskirts of Chelsea.

But after your letter I wouldn't let you rent for all the tea in China.

Janette Brown.

P.S.—It has been rented to a nice couple.

Dear Editor:

This letter is directed to a Mr. Robert Phillips. Obviously you have a lot to learn about gathering facts before you put pen to paper. I own several apartments in Chelsea and Dexter and my rent is $350 for 1-bedroom and $450 for 2-bedroom which I don't think is out of line. No, I am not trying to make a killing, just to keep my rental places clean and decent.

I think you owe us (or at least some of us) an apology.

Fred Press.

P.S.—You can keep your first born male—we don't want him.

A classic story of pursuit, of hunters and the hunted, that pits two elite teams against each other: Nazis on the run, partisans, Italian bureaucrats, as well as Beau Valentine, a larger-than-life OSS operative. BEYOND OUR MEANS by Alfred Malabre. The United States is now more than $7 trillion in debt—nearly $35,000 for every man, woman, and child in America. He goes beyond abstract economic theory to reveal the distinctly American extravagance that has tinged our values, expectations, and actions in the post-war years and has led us into a predicament from which there is no easy escape.

1987 Waterfowl Seasons

Confirmation of the 1987 Michigan Waterfowl Season has been received from federal authorities, reported officials of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The state will again be divided into three hunting zones—North, Middle and South—with boundaries unchanged from 1986 (maps attached).

The duck season will be 40 days long in each zone of the state, the same as 1986.

In the North and Middle Zones, the duck season is Oct. 3-Nov. 11. An important change from the 1986 season occurs in the South Zone where the duck season is split; the first 37 days will run from Oct. 10-Nov. 15, and the last three days of the season will be Nov. 27-29, following Thanksgiving.

The Canada goose hunting season will be much improved this year. The daily bag limit is two birds in most of the state.

A liberalized early Canada goose hunt to control local goose populations is Sept. 1-10, with a three-bird daily bag limit.

The North Zone season begins Sept. 26 and is 40 days long, two geese per day, except in Baraga, Houghton, Ontonagon and Marquette counties where it will continue for 20 days unless a 8,500-bird harvest quota is reached first.

The Middle Zone Canada goose season is 40 days, two geese per day, concurrent with the duck season, Oct. 3-Nov. 11.

A 40-day split Canada goose season in the South Zone—Oct. 10-Nov. 15 and Nov. 27-29—will be concurrent with the split duck season. East of US-27/127 the daily bag will be two birds, and west of US-27/127 the daily bag will remain at one bird.

Separate hunting dates and bag limits are listed for the Allegan county, Muskegon Wastewater, and Saginaw county Goose Management Area seasons.

The special late winter goose hunt in the Southern Michigan Goose Management Area is later and shorter than last year, 30 days, Jan. 9-Feb. 7, with a two goose per day bag limit. The late hunt boundaries have been expanded to include the area south of M-45, M-21, and I-69.

A special scap hunt will be allowed in each zone on designated waters. In the North and Middle Zones the hunt will be Nov. 14-29 and in the South Zone, Nov. 16-26. The designated waters are printed in the State Waterfowl Hunting Guide due at license dealers by Sept. 15.

State biologists are predicting the duck hunting opportunities will be similar to 1986, and the Canada goose hunting will be slightly better than last year. Waterfowl hunters increased to 65,000 last year, up from the 54,000 low recorded in 1982.

Migrant and seasonal agricultural workers have a right to receive the wages employers agreed to pay them. Under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), that amount is generally not less than $3.35 an hour (the federal minimum wage). Federal law does not require overtime pay for most agricultural workers. It is enforced by the U.S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division.

Personal Appearance Workshop Slated for County 4-H Club Leaders

Washtenaw county 4-H teen and adult leaders are invited to attend the 4-H Personal Appearance Workshop, Oct. 9-10, at Kettunen Center, the state's leadership training facility in Tustin.

Workshop participants will have the opportunity to update their skills and knowledge in personal appearance areas. The workshop will also include in-depth sessions for teens to provide training in modeling and grooming.

Other session topics will cover clothes buying, tailoring, alterations, cross-stitch, monogramming, strip patchwork quilting and historical fashions.

Reservations for the workshop are due Sept. 28.

For more information about this workshop or other 4-H activities, contact the Washtenaw County Cooperative Extension Service office, or call 971-0079.

Cheese production in the U. S. during 1986 was 5.21 billion pounds. Cheddar led all varieties with 43 percent of production, followed by Mozzarella with 24 percent. Of the 50 states, Wisconsin led with 35 percent of production followed by Minnesota (12 percent) and New York (9 percent).

Juvenile Periodontitis Requires Early Intervention

Q: I thought gum disease only affected older adults. Is it true that children can suffer from gum disease as well?

A: Although "gum disease", or periodontal disease, is more prevalent in adults, it's important for parents to realize the disease affects all age groups.

About 10% of American children suffer from a virulent form of gum disease known as "juvenile periodontitis". According to the American Dental Association, this rapidly advancing form of gum disease usually strikes the permanent teeth of otherwise healthy children. The disease often lacks symptoms, just as in the adult form, and the gums appear normal. Often, the disease is diagnosed when routine dental X-rays unexpectedly reveal bone loss around the teeth.

When diagnosed early, juvenile periodontitis can be treated. If neglected, it can speed beyond the initially affected teeth to the remaining teeth and result in loss of permanent teeth, just at an age when appearance and peer approval mean a great deal. Early loss of permanent teeth can also result in undesirable growth patterns in the young developing jaw leading to even greater problems later in life.

Your best defense against juvenile periodontitis, like any dental disease, is regular dental visits including diagnostic X-rays.

PAN SKUNASINGH, A 17-YEAR-OLD teenager from Bangkok, Thailand, is spending the school year as a guest of the Baird family while she completes the requirements for graduation at Chelsea High school. Sitting with Pan, who is third from the right, are the Baird children, from left to right, John, Krystal, Kimberly, and Lance. The adults are parents Bob and Dona Baird. Also shown are two of the Baird's four pets, Freckles the cat and Ebony the dog. Pan's hobbies are writing poetry, swimming, bike riding, and badminton. However, she is not sure that she wants to swim in this country, since the water, even in heated pools, would probably be too chilly for her taste, an evaluation Dona and Bob Baird agree with knowing Pan's low tolerance for cold.

YVETTE WEBER, a 16-year-old student from Bad Segeberg, Germany, is spending a year as the guest of the Slagenwhite family of Fahrner Rd., while she attends Chelsea High school. Shown are Linda Slagenwhite, Yvette, Jennifer Slagenwhite, and James Slagenwhite.

Yvette arrived in this country in the beginning of August, so she and Jennie had time to get acquainted, spending time relaxing in the family's swimming pool. Yvette's hobbies include archery, drawing, reading, and mari-onettes.

Two Exchange Students Attending Chelsea High School

Chelsea school district families are hosting two foreign exchange students this year; Pan Skunasingh from Thailand who is staying with Robert and Dona Baird, and Yvette Weber from Germany who is the guest of James and Cathy Slagenwhite.

Pan and Yvette have been attending classes for the last two weeks. Both speak excellent English, having studied it for years in their home lands, but both admit to occasionally having trouble understanding the language when people speak too fast or do not enunciate clearly. Says Yvette, "I learned Oxford English, not American English."

The first difference both girls noticed in the American system of education is that students select their own courses. In both Germany and Thailand, the courses are assigned. Also in both countries, the students stay in the same room while the teachers move around.

Pan has been surprised by the apparent lack of respect shown by American teen-agers to their teachers and parents. On the first day of school, she was shocked that students whispered and joked during the school assembly, while school officials were speaking. She said of the teachers, "They give us skills and knowledge. We should pay them respect."

Yvette said that the attitude of students toward teachers was not so different in Germany. She explained, "Some are more distant. It depends on the teacher."

Pan and Yvette are both taking commercial art (both have done art work at home) and U.S. government. In addition, Pan is taking cooking, U.S. history, creative writing, and algebra. Yvette is taking business law, pre-calculus, science-fiction, and French. Both girls have volunteered to work on the yearbook.

Both witnessed their first football game at the season's opening, but neither became instant fans. Yvette described the game as "boring" and Pan said she was "too cold to pay attention."

The weather is obviously a greater adjustment for Pan, coming from a tropical area, than Yvette who says there is snow, although not a lot, in her hometown of Bad Segeberg, about 50 miles from Hamburg.

Pan has only been warm twice since arriving here on Aug. 28 from Bangkok. She has been wearing warm clothes, slacks and sweaters, every day. Her American mother, Dona Baird, plans to take her shopping soon and buy her the warmest outer clothes possible such as a down jacket, leggings, and moon boots, in the hope that Pan can make it through the winter without too much trauma. When Pan arrived she thought she would have to take cold showers in the winter, not realizing that we have water heaters.

Neither Yvette nor Pan are very enamored of American food. Yvette says she does not find places like McDonald's very good. She has also noticed that American table manners are different. In Germany both hands are kept on the table and the knife is used more.

Pan has a more basic problem with food; nothing is hot enough. Even food that Dona cooks especially hot for Pan, such as chili, is still too mild for her taste. Pan has been surviving by adding tabasco sauce, soy sauce, or ketchup to most of her food.

One night Pan ate at the Thai restaurant in Ann Arbor. Says Bob Baird, "She walked out of there full."

The Slagenwhites plan to take Yvette to the German restaurants in Stockbridge and Frankenmuth as well as the ones in Ann Arbor. Says Cathy Slagenwhite, "We'll get a review if it's actual German food or not."

Household pets were another adjustment which was harder for Pan than Yvette. The Slagenwhites have three cats and two dogs, but since Yvette has a dog at home, it was not hard for her to get used to the host family's pets.

The Bairds have a dog, cat, guinea pig, and fish. In Thailand they do have dogs and cats, but according to Pan, the dogs are always kept outside. In addition to adjusting to Ebony running around loose in the house, Pan had to learn what a guinea pig was. She had been worried about meeting the Baird's guinea because she was expecting an animal the size of a farm pig. Yvette said she had also never heard of guinea pigs.

Both girls have similar reasons for coming here. Yvette said she was interested in America and curious. Pan said "I wanted to learn about American culture and improve my English."

Asked how they happened to be a host family, Cathy Slagenwhite said that her daughter Jennifer, a sophomore at Chelsea High, had asked if they could have a foreign student stay with them. Jennie had known a few at school and "thought it would be neat."

Like the Slagenwhites, most host families have a child the age of the visiting student. But the Bairds are an exception, having four younger children. They decided to be a host family in order to "expose the children to a different culture."

The Bairds' interest in hosting an Asian student stemmed from their involvement with "Heal the Children," a group which arranges for children from around the world, many from Korea, to have operations unavailable in their homelands. An additional reason for requesting an Asian student was that the Bairds thought it would be nice for their two daughters, Kimberly and Krystal, who were adopted from Korea, to have an Asian big sister.

Yvette, who is 16, had finished 10th grade before coming here. When she returns to Germany, she will still have three years to go, since German high schools go a year longer. Her year in Chelsea will not count toward graduation.

Pan, who is 17, hopes to graduate from Chelsea this year. The Bairds have been impressed at how the counselors at Chelsea High have helped Pan work out the graduation requirements. They have especially high praise for Sue Carter who has gone out of her way to help Pan and who has been especially understanding since her sister lived in Thailand for four years. The Bairds think it neat that they will get to see Pan graduate.

Living with a foreign student is as much an education for the host family as for the guest. For instance, the Bairds learned that people in Thailand do not like "The King and I" because they feel it is disrespectful of their ruler. Another tidbit of information is that most of the cats in Thailand are indeed Siamese, if you please.

Strong Second Half Gives Dogs First Win

Chelsea had just four possessions in the second half but the Bulldogs made the most of them in rallying from a 7-0 half-time deficit to take a 9-7 win at Milan last Friday, Sept. 18.

The victory was the first of the season for the defending Southeastern Conference champions. Chelsea is 1-1 in the league.

Larry Nix's quarterback sneak at the 5:18 mark of the third quarter pulled the Bulldogs within one at 7-6. Junior Morseau's extra point try was wide right.

However, Morseau's foot made the difference at the end of the quarter when he kicked a 33-yard field goal for what proved to be the winning points.

Nix had his best game yet as the junior ran the option far more against Milan than he had in the two previous games. Late in the game it looked as though the strategy may have backfired when Nix took a helmet in his back as he ran up the middle. He took a while to get up, then sat out for three plays. That's when the Bulldogs had their only turnover of the game, an interception of a running back pass.

Nix was 4-9 passing for 52 yards and carried the ball nine times for 18 yards, a misleading statistic because the total includes one big sack.

"Nix played a very fine game," said Chelsea head coach Gene LaFave.

"He really made the plays when he had to."

LaFave also praised the play of his defense, which didn't allow Milan to execute the big play.

"On their scoring drive, we made several mistakes that allowed them to score," LaFave said, referring to an offside penalty and a piling-on penalty which gave Milan the ball at the Chelsea 15.

"We knew they had the potential to make the big play, but they didn't have the chance to make one. Curtis Satterthwaite and Shawn Brown (defensive end and tackle) did a solid job. Mike Taylor (linebacker) was also active defensively."

Taylor left the game in the second half with a sprained ankle, which could sideline him for this week's home game against Lincoln.

The Big Reds had just nine yards rushing the entire second half, partly because they killed themselves with 65 yards in penalties. They had 76 total yards rushing and 103 yards passing as quarterback Pat Heath connected on 8-17 passes. He threw one big interception late in the game as Chelsea strong safety Chris Acree came over the middle to pick off a pass.

Heath also had a couple passes dropped, including a sure touchdown down the middle to his tight end early in the game.

Milan's only score came on a two-yard pass to tight end Todd Tennyson, who was all alone on the right side of the end zone with 3:58 left in the first half.

"Heath is just an exceptional quarterback," said Chelsea assistant coach Wayne Welton.

"He's the finest we've coached against in nine years. There are so many things he can do athletically."

Acree led the Bulldogs in tackles with five solos and five assists. Inside linebacker Eric Frisinger had five solos and Brown was in on six tackles.

The Chelsea offense had what LaFave called an "average" game. Luman Strong was the leading ground gainer, picking up 73 yards on 12 carries. Morseau ran for 51 yards on 14 carries, but the Big Reds were keying on him for most of the first half, which opened running room for Strong.

Jason Overdorf carried the ball as much as he has all year, picking up nine yards in eight tries. He was also a target for Nix on a couple of screen plays.

Matt Monroe caught two passes for 21 yards.

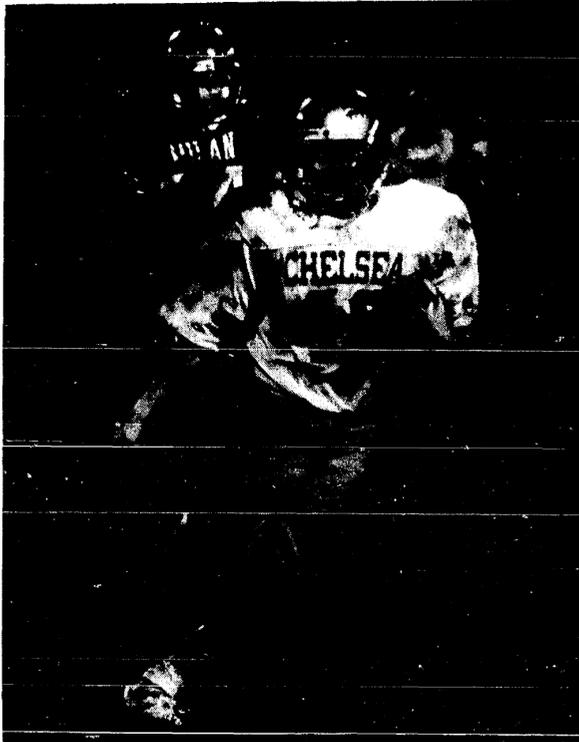

Lincoln Railsplitters provide the opposition this Friday at Niehaus Field for the Hall of Fame contest.

Lincoln is 2-1 on the season, having lost to University of Detroit High. They've beaten Willow Run and Tecumseh, and are one of the best teams in the league.

"If we don't beat Lincoln, they'll probably go undefeated this season," LaFave said.

"They have a good quarterback (Noah Nagy) and they don't make mistakes. They're tough up front and year in and year out they are a fine defensive team."

Lincoln will be one of the quickest teams the Bulldogs face.

LOOKING FOR RUNNING ROOM is Chelsea back Jason Overdorf, as Milan defenders are in pursuit. The Chelsea running game picked up 151 yards on a mucky Milan field.

GOOD JOB! Chelsea head coach Gene LaFave congratulates the troops in the closing seconds of the Bulldogs' win over Milan last Friday. Chelsea's 9-7 victory was the first win in three games.

Frosh Gridders Beat Monroe

Split end Kerry Plank caught two touchdown passes as the Chelsea freshman football team toppled Monroe Jefferson, 22-16, last Tuesday, Sept. 15, for their first victory of the season.

"It was a good offensive effort on our part," said Chelsea coach Jim Tallman.

The Chelsea defense also dug in when it had to. In the closing seconds the Bulldogs stopped what could have been a game-winning drive inside their 20-yard line.

The Bulldogs opened the scoring with a 60-yard drive, capped by a four-yard run by Rick Westcott. The score was set up by a 30-yard Tucker Steele to Plank pass.

Chelsea took a 14-0 lead into half-time. The Bulldogs' second scoring drive featured a 50-yard touchdown pass play from Steele to Plank. Jude Quilter ran for the two-point conversion.

After a long scoring drive by Monroe, Chelsea came back to score on a 30-yard pass play from Quilter to Plank. The pass came off a fake sweep to the right.

Monroe scored their final touchdown midway through the fourth quarter.

Tallman praised the play of Plank, Quilter and Westcott, as well as offensive guard Preston Gustine and offensive tackle Joe Heutteman. On defense he said Nick Houle had a fine game.

The freshmen have a two-week break in their schedule but will combine with the JVs for their games with Lincoln and Jackson County Western.

Many of the freshmen are likely to have a chance to play against higher level competition.

JV Gridders Lose to Milan

Take away the first five minutes and the Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity football team played a pretty decent game against Milan last Thursday, Sept. 17 at home.

However, the Big Reds scored 19 points in those first five minutes and won the game 19-0.

"We played well the last three quarters," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

Milan opened the game with a 67-yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

Seconds later, Chelsea fumbled the ball away on the first play from scrimmage. Milan scored quickly on a sweep.

Chelsea turned the ball over again on the next possession, which also turned into a score.

"Mark Chasteen ran well behind Lucky Beeman," Welton said.

"Defensively, Tim VanSchoick played well at defensive end and was in on 15 tackles.

Quarterback Kyle Plank completed six passes on the evening and Loren Keizer had four receptions.

The JVs are 0-3 on the season.

Bulldog Cagers Win Third By Knocking Off Grass Lake

Chelsea Bulldog varsity basketball team matched its win total for the entire 1986 season by nipping Grass Lake, 43-39, last Tuesday, Sept. 15 at home.

The Bulldogs ran their record to 3-1 by holding off Grass Lake in the fourth quarter, who twice tied the game but never pulled ahead.

"I think we were a little tired from playing the night before and the girls seemed to reach back for a little extra energy," said Chelsea coach Rahm Rosentreter.

"I was really proud. They could have folded and said going 1-1 for the week is OK."

It took a while before either team got its game going. Each team scored six points in the first quarter. Rosentreter said both teams were expecting to see zone defenses but saw man-to-man instead.

"Both teams looked a little confused at the beginning," Rosentreter said.

The second quarter was good to the Bulldogs as they outscored Grass Lake 18-7. Co-captain Peggy Hammerschmidt had six of her nine points in the period as Chelsea was able to get the ball inside.

After switching to a man-to-man defense in the second quarter, Grass Lake switched back to a zone defense in the third period with a lot of pressing. The switch dropped Chelsea's offensive output to seven points. Grass Lake scored 15 and was down 31-28 going into the final period.

The Bulldogs had just 10 field goals for the game but spent much of the night at the free throw line, hitting 23 of 44 shots. Four of five Grass Lake starters fouled out.

Chelsea's free throw shooting tailed off in the second half when the fatigue set in. The Bulldogs hit 12 of 16 free throws in the first half but just 11 of 28 in the second half.

By contrast, Grass Lake made 17 of 53 shots from the floor.

Again, the Dogs dominated the boards, holding a 31-20 rebound advantage, including 19 defensive rebounds.

Leah Enderle and Heather Neibauer each had 10 points for Chelsea. However, they made only three field goals between them and each girl shot 13 free throws.

Other scorers for Chelsea included Allison Brown, with six, Kelley Scott, five, Jeannie Heim, two, and Jenni Smith, one.

Girls Cross Country Team Whips Saline in Dual Meet

Seniors Jennifer Rossi and Kasey Anderson finished first and second, respectively, as the Chelsea girls cross country team toppled the Saline Hornets, 23-25, in the Bulldogs' first dual meet of the season last Tuesday, Sept. 15.

Rossi just edged Anderson, 21:34 to 21:37, as Anderson took a wrong turn on the soggy course.

"We had three girls get lost on the course due to the washed out lines," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"But they kept their poise and performed well."

Chelsea runners also took four more spots among the top 10 finishers as Sara Grau was 5th in 22:53, Kathy Issel, 7th, in 23:04; Alisha Dorow, 8th, in 23:06; and Kim Roberts, 9th, in 23:07.

"I was very pleased with the poise and confidence that all of our varsity girls exhibited," Clarke said.

"Saline is a top 10 team in the state and it is no small accomplishment to beat them on their own course. Jennifer Rossi ran a fine race to win. Sophomore Becca Burkell (11th in 23:24) continued her rapid improvement with another fine effort. We are constantly improving and if we work hard who knows how far we can go. It will be nice to find out."

Other Chelsea runners included Wendy Hunn, 10th, 23:57; Shelly Haab, 17th, 24:05; Ann Brosnan, 18th, 24:09; Kim Allen, 23rd, 24:52;

Stephanie Wagner, 24th, 24:53; Anna Muncer, 33rd, 25:57; Brenda Brede, 34th, 25:46; Angie Nagel, 35th, 25:47; and Charity Strong, 36th, 25:55.

In other action last Saturday, the Bulldogs took first place at the 12-team New Boston Invitational with 84 points, seven points ahead of SEC foe Milan.

Anderson was the Bulldogs' top finisher with a fourth-place time of 20:42.

Other Chelsea finishers included Rossi, 10th, 21:40; Grau, 14th 21:54; Issel, 21st, 22:20; Dorow, 28th, 22:37; Burkell, 36th, 23:19; and Hunn, 38th, 23:27.

"Sarah Grau has made great improvements and she recorded her best time Saturday," said Clarke.

"Kathy Issel continued to show great maturity with a fine performance."

Clarke said he was impressed by the Big Reds, who are easily one of the (Continued on page 11)

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

This has been the worst football season ever in terms of mosquitoes.

They were swarming at Saline, where it appeared that fights were breaking out in the stands as so many people were swatting themselves and each other. They were even worse at Milan, where they were capable of stinging through helmets. I didn't attend last week's JV game here, but I understand it was a little like standing in the middle of the Everglades. You'd be well advised to bring some repellent with you this Friday to the home game with Lincoln.

A kind soul in one of the pop stands at Milan took pity on me when she saw all the welts on my hands and gave me a shot of bug spray.

It's little wonder, though, that the skeeters were such a problem at Milan. Parts of the field smelled like a faulty septic tank. Walking on the field was a little like walking on the bogs in Waterloo.

It's times like that that make you glad when the first good freeze comes along.

Larry Nix may not be the best athlete on the varsity football team. He may not run like Todd Starkey or throw like Dan Bellus. But if there's anyone currently more valuable to the team, I'd like to know who it is.

When Nix was temporarily knocked out of Friday's game at Milan, there was kind of an air of quiet panic on the Chelsea sidelines.

It was completely understandable. With Bryant Beard now sitting on the bench at Pioneer High school, there's no one else to run the team. If Nix goes down for any length of time, the Bulldogs will have real problems.

By necessity, Nix ran the ball a lot more Friday than he has all year. And it's kind of unnerving seeing the Leader of the Pack darting and dodging among all those big guys, hoping he doesn't get crinkled.

But as Wayne Welton said, the Bulldogs need "the whole package" to be successful. They need all the weapons they can get, and Nix showed he's a pretty good runner when he needs to be.

Just cross your fingers.

Could the Milan game be a turning point for the Dogs the way the Saline game was last year? I guess we'll find out Friday when Lincoln comes to Niehaus Field.

Lincoln is probably the toughest opponent remaining on the Chelsea schedule.

However, Dexter seems to have turned it around. Apparently that three-head-coach system they have is working. Assuming the Dreadnaughts don't lie down and die as they have in years past, they'll probably be the most improved team in the league. Andy Walsh is supposed to be one fine runner.

Dare I suggest that Chelsea may even have a hard time beating the Dreadnaughts this year? At least it's a home game.

This year's freshman class appears to have an abundance of athletic talent, especially at what coaches call "the skill positions," as opposed to the other positions where players just beat each other silly.

Several boys on this year's team are likely to wind up on the varsity next year as starters, which could leave the JVs in a bind.

However, by the time they are juniors or seniors, Chelsea could have an exceptional team.

This could be the year for CHS girls sports.

The basketball team, at least in the early going, seems vastly improved. Leah Enderle and Peggy Hammerschmidt are having fine senior seasons. Allison Brown is making a big contribution as a sophomore. Heather Neibauer has played well.

Just as he did with the boys last year, coach Rahn Rosentreter is reserving his judgment about this team. Rosentreter, like most coaches, probably thinks it's the kiss of death to get too excited about his team. It's similar to the Sports Illustrated syndrome. It's a fact that whenever a team is featured on the magazine's cover, it will immediately take a nosedive.

Pat Clarke seems to be mildly enthusiastic about his cross country team, which would be comparable to Rosentreter running down the halls shouting "we're number one."

Clarke has good reason to be excited, having two all-staters in Kasey Anderson and Jennifer Rossi. His other older runners are starting to run into form. And he has some good younger runners, such as Sarah Grau and Kathy Issel. They've already won two big invitational meets.

If Debi Koenn can get herself back in form, the Bulldogs could be extremely competitive at the state meet.

The girls track team and softball teams are always tough, and this year should be no exception.

All those distance runners from the cross country team will be around. Most of the good sprinters have yet to graduate.

The softball team will be loaded. The pitching will be so deep that Chelsea could probably field three teams if they had enough bodies to fill the other positions.

It ought to be a fun year if you enjoy girls sports.

One thing I have never, ever heard a coach say—"It ought to be a lousy game."

HOLE-IN-ONE was shot by Mark Policht of Chelsea on the 154-yard par three at Inverness Golf Course on Tuesday, Sept. 15. He used an 8 iron. The feat was witnessed by Matt Villemure, Stan Schiller, Tom Weston and Ken Larson. It was his first ace in 25 years of playing golf. The late Stan Policht, Mark's father, had five aces during his golfing days at Inverness.

Tankers Look Tough In Nipping Dundee

Chelsea girls swim team opened its season last Thursday, Sept. 17 with a triangular meet victory over Dundee and Lincoln Park. The final scores were Chelsea 123, Dundee 121, and Lincoln Park 7.

"Lincoln Park only brought four kids so it was hard to compete against the larger teams," said coach Mike Keeler.

"With Lincoln Park being so small it made the meet a little strange as it ended up being a lot closer than I anticipated."

In the opening 200-yard, medley relay, the Bulldog A team of Sharon Colombo, Christine Young, Karen Grau, and Jill Nowatzke touched out the Dundee team with a time of 2:09.55. Chelsea B team of Maria Katula, Kenen Vosters, Lisa Taylor, and Jennifer McEachern swam to a third-place finish with a time of 2:18.21.

In the 200-yard freestyle, junior Jenny Anderson swam an exciting race and just nipped Dundee, 2:22.32 to 2:22.43.

"Jennie swam a very smart race, she also turned better than the Dundee girl but it all came down to the finish and Jennie just wanted to win more."

Junior Tricia Colbry finished fourth in the race with a time of 2:29.10.

In the 200-yard individual medley, captain Karen Grau finished second with a time of 2:39.74. Teammate Melissa Johnson finished fourth with a time of 2:50.55.

The 50 freestyle saw an exciting race as Nowatzke and McEachern were leading early but Dundee came back to finish fourth, while Chelsea finished second and third.

"I was pleased with Jill's time of :29.82 and Jennifer's time as they were both at or close to their personal best in those races," Keeler said.

After the first four races the score was 50 to 45 with Chelsea holding on but feeling the pressure. The diving event helped the Chelsea cause as Debbie Webb and Deana Zangara took first and second, respectively. Their diving totals were a very close 176.20 for Debbie and a 176.15 for Deana.

"I was impressed by the showing of our divers as they were all trying harder dives than they are used to. Maryellen Torres, our diving coach, has really done a good job in the few weeks she has worked with our divers and I know that they will continue to improve."

After diving, the Bulldogs had pulled out to a more comfortable 10-point lead, 62 to 52.

The 100-yard butterfly had junior Lisa Taylor finishing third with a good early-season time of 1:20.17. Finishing second was junior Tricia Colbry with a time of 1:19.77.

"Our flyers went out after it and just had some trouble getting home. But they did OK as we have not done much fly yet in practice," Keeler said.

The 100-yard, freestyle had captain Sharon Colombo coming through with a personal best time of 1:02.27 to win the race.

In the 500-yard freestyle Chelsea had another sweep as Grau and Anderson swam to a 1-2 finish, in 6:17.42 and 6:33.64, respectively.

"The team really needed that race and both those girls came through with flying colors, especially Jenny as we moved her out of the backstroke at the last minute so we could score more points in the 500."

Colombo, after the brief rest that the 500 gave her, came back and swam to a first-place finish in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:10.01. Katula was fourth in 1:20.82.

The Bulldogs swim a gutsy race in the 100-yard breaststroke but came up a little short as Vosters swam to a third-place finish with a time of 1:21.70 and junior Christine Young swam to a fourth-place finish in a 1:21.90.

The 400-yard freestyle relay A team of Anderson, Taylor, Colbry, and Nowatzke finished second with a time of 4:29.21. Chelsea B team of Jennifer Payne, Michelle Hollo, Lori Wetzel, Shana Vosters finished fourth with a time of 4:52.41.

Sept. 19-20 the Chelsea swim team swam at the Eastern Michigan University relays and came away with 79 points, good for seventh place.

The highest placing team was the 400-yard individual medley as they finished third with a time of 4:54.5.

The Bulldogs take on the state-ranked Big Reds of Milan Thursday at Chelsea at 7 p.m.

Seven To Be Inducted into CHS Football Hall of Fame

Seven members of the Chelsea Bulldogs' 1986 Southeastern Conference championship football team will be inducted into the CHS Football Hall of Fame at half-time of this Friday's home football game with Lincoln.

The young men were selected by the coaches based on their contributions to the team and their over-all contributions to the program. Only members of the previous year's senior class are eligible.

Andy Box was a starting tackle for two years on offense and was also a starter on defense as a junior. Last year he was on the All-SEC first team.

"Most of our rushing game went over his side of the line," said head coach Gene LaFave. Box attends Lake Superior State College.

Matt Bohlender, who's attending Michigan State University this year, is the career leading tackler in the history of Chelsea football. He started on the varsity for most of three years and was an all-league performer at strong safety. He was also a part-time receiver.

Leo Durham started two years at defensive tackle and earned all-league honors his senior year when he became a dominant player. Durham has enlisted in the U.S. Navy.

Curtis Heard was a three-year letter winner as a running back and was the league's top rusher last season when he earned all-league honors. He set a single-season school rushing record. He's attending Northwood Institute on a football scholarship.

Saline Tops Dog Golfers

Chelsea Bulldog golf team played a powerful Saline Hornet squad and lost 149-168 last Thursday, Sept. 17.

Mark Skiff had the best round for the Dogs, shooting a 37. Chelsea's other scorers were Chad Starkey, 41, Matt Forner, 42, and Steve Emmert, 48.

"Starkey and Forner had good rounds," said Chelsea coach Loren Winn.

"And Skiff played real well. Saline is just an excellent team."

Earlier in the week at an invitational at Pinckney, two Bulldog teams finished 9th and 10th out of 12 teams.

Skiff was a medalist, finishing with an 81, good for 7th place over-all.

Other A team performers were Mark Larson, 93, Forner, 94, and Starkey, 96.

Playing for the B team were Emmert, 89, Jason Richardson, 98, Butch Michaud, 99 and Brandon Murrell, 99.

Harriers Show Stuff at Meet

Cattell was third over-all and first for Chelsea in 17:11. Hedding took seventh place in 17:27.

"This was a very nice team victory over a good field of teams," Clarke said.

"I have felt all through the pre-season that this team could be good and so far they are progressing nicely. We still have a lot of work to do and some injuries to bear, but hopefully the improvement will continue."

"Our two lead runners ran very well. Senior co-captain Mike Lavigne had an outstanding race."

Chelsea finishers behind Hedding were Harris, 16th, 17:59; Kvarnberg, 19th, 18:03; Lavigne, 23rd, 18:12; Zangara, 30th, 18:28; and Riemenschneider, 32nd, 18:39.

SEC foes Milan and Dexter were third and fourth, respectively.

Bulldog JVs also ran in the meet, but no team results were available. Chelsea finishers included Freitas, 11th, 19:09; Latimer, 21st, 19:43; Hammerschmidt, 25th, 19:51; Hammer, 33rd, 20:07; Zuehlke, 38th, 20:20; Cheng, 40th, 20:22; Beard, 48th, 20:46; Burkel, 64th, 21:11; Williams, 66th, 21:12; Boyers, 116th, 23:29.

There was a total of 160 JV runners in the meet.

Monroe Hunter Killed In Waterloo Accident

A Monroe man became the first hunting accident victim of the small game season last Wednesday afternoon when he was apparently shot and killed by a hunting companion in Waterloo township.

Randall Buckner, 26, was dead on arrival at the University of Michigan Medical Center where he was flown by helicopter. Police said he was shot once with a .22 caliber rifle below the right collarbone.

Police said the shooting had tentatively been ruled accidental. Buckner was squirrel hunting with three friends in Jackson county and was not wearing hunter orange as law requires.

All hunters must wear hunter orange while hunting on any land from Aug. 15 through March 31. Violation is a misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of a $100 fine and 90 days in jail.

Historical Society To Host Antique Iron, Trivet Show

Carl and Lucille Schoonover of Stockbridge will exhibit 125 pressing irons and 60 iron trivets on Sunday, Sept. 27, at Waterloo Farm Museum, from 1 to 4 p.m.

The collection, whose dates span two centuries, was started in 1970 when the Schoonovers joined the Carriage and International Travel Clubs, and began wintering in the south. "Our travels have taken us on repeat trips to 50 states, Mexico, Canada, and the Bahamas," reports Lucille Schoonover. "In Nassau we found several 'choice' old pressing irons, and learned that non-electric irons remain still in use because of the uncertainty of electric power in the Caribbean," she continues.

"Irons in our collection include a highly prized old Chinese iron, Sad Irons, Box Irons, Flutters and Goffering Irons (shades of Queen Elizabeth I) Tailor Irons, as well as Self Heating or Fuel Containing Irons." "We will also display our collection of toy irons. Our ancestors considered play to be frivolous. But a small girl was given a play iron, handcrafted by a blacksmith. With it she would help with the family ironing, as well as pressing her doll's clothes," Lucille concludes.

Carl Schoonover, when asked how he and his wife became interested in ironing devices responded, "We were intrigued with their historic significance from the 'smoothing stones' and glass balls of the early Viking era, to the Edison electric iron of the 1880's."

"American ingenuity is well manifested in the hundreds of ironing implements filed in the U. S. Patent Office. Researching, acquiring, and preserving some of these examples of Americana has been a fulfilling hobby for us," Schoonover asserts.

"Trivets made to hold pressing irons in bygone days were both functional and beautifully crafted," Schoonover continues. Today trivets are often reminiscent of American folk art, and are also used as decorations or to hold hot dishes. However, antique trivets produced by foundries from 1850's-1900's, having been cast in fine sand, are of a finer standard of iron. These old trivets are thinner and stronger, with a design sharper than even the most skillful reproduction of today," he concluded.

Members of WAHS will also be conducting tours of Waterloo Farm Museum's 1850's house and out-buildings on Sept. 27. Both the Farm Museum and Dewey School Museum will be open Saturdays, and Sundays until Oct. 1. The Historical Society's 25th annual Pioneer Day is slated for Sunday, Oct. 11.

Waterloo Farm Museum is located in Jackson county, within the Waterloo Recreation Area, at 9998 Waterloo-Munith Rd. Dewey School Museum, a one-room early 19th century schoolhouse, is located at Mayer and Territorial Rd., just off M-106, south of Stockbridge.

D. Brown Wins McCallum Award

Former Chelsea High school student Dennis Brown has won the Josephine B. McCallum Award in the John Spencer Class of the Earl F. DeMarse Corrections Academy in Lansing.

The award, voted upon by the students is for outstanding attitude and over-all conduct during the 16 weeks of the New Employee Training School.

Dennis is the son of Andy and Rosemary Brown of Winters Rd., Grass Lake. He's a 1970 graduate of Chelsea High school.

Andy is retired from North American Rockwell. Rosemary works at Elias Brothers and the Cavanaugh Lake Store.

American cheese is a descriptive term used to identify the group of cheeses which includes Cheddar cheese, Colby and sometimes Monterey Jack.

Webster Fall Festival Set Saturday

Handwoven coverlets and quilts to snuggle under during cool autumn nights, children gaily chasing rolling hoops down the country lane, home-made vinegars, jams and jellies, the products of this year's harvest, tightly stacked on cupboard shelves.

Such are the memories of good, old-fashioned country life that will again be reawakened as the Webster Fall Festival gets underway this Saturday, Sept. 26, 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. at Webster Corners (at the junction of Farrell and Webster Church Rds., one mile south of North Territorial Rd.)

Just as regular as the annual festival itself, which is jointly sponsored by Webster Historical Society and Webster United Church of Christ, is the emphasis on history and country life, and this year is no exception.

The Country Store will feature home-made breads, jams and jellies, pickles, relishes, herb vinegars, and mustards, as well as hand-made items ranging from sachets to aprons, stenciled placemats to stuffed animals.

Twenty craftsmen, including woodcarvers, basketmakers, and jewelers will have their wares for sale on the second floor of the Webster Community House. And a rummage sale, another festival favorite, will take place in the Scadin Barn.

For those who want to try their luck at winning a variety of prizes, there will be ample opportunities. This year's raffle item is a 24"x42" hooked rug.

A children's carnival, set up in its own outdoor arcade, will include such old-fashioned activities as rolling hoops, stilt walking, and bubble blowing, as well as a booth where the youngsters can make kinetic-motion toys.

Warmth and comfort will pervade the atmosphere of the Webster church sanctuary which will be the site for a woven coverlet, quilt, and comforter display. An admission charge of 50¢ will gain festival-goers entrance to the delightful assortment of hand-made bed coverings ranging from doll quilts charmingly displayed on miniature furniture, to crib and full-size pieces.

An outdoor exhibit of antique cars and gasoline engine-powered vehicles will be highlighted by an appearance of Donald Drew who will be there with the engine from his Lakeshore and Lyndon Central Railroad on North Territorial Rd.

Musical entertainment will be provided throughout the day and will follow this tentative schedule: 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., Arlene Succop and Rex Gleason (piano/fiddle); 2-2:45 p.m., Kathryn Goodson (jazz pianist); 3-3:30 p.m., Susie Linsay (Far Eastern dancer); 4:30-5:30 p.m., Chris Barton (of the "Song Sisters") and Bill Barton (from the group "Footloose"); 5:30-6:30 p.m., Uncle Carl's Dulcimer Group. In addition, Marconi Friezoni The Clown (alias Webster's own Mark Friesen) will be entertaining children and adults throughout the day.

Lunch will be served at the Community House, and the Webster Fall Festival Pig Roast dinner will be available from 5:30-7:30 p.m. Tickets for the dinner (featuring roast pork, marinated carrots, German potato salad, sauerkraut, applesauce, roll, cupcake, and beverage) will be available for purchase the day of the festival. Tickets are $6 per dinner.

LUCILLE AND CARL SCHOONOVER pose in front of their collection of irons and trivets which will be on display at the Waterloo Farm Museum, Sept. 27 from 1 to 4 p.m. The Schoonover collection includes old Chinese irons, sad irons, box irons, flutters and goffering irons, tailor irons, and self heating or fuel containing irons. Lucille is holding an 1850's child's iron, while Carl hefts an 18-pound tailors iron.

CARL SCHOONOVER of Stockbridge will exhibit 125 of the irons and 60 of the trivets that he and his wife, Lucille, have been collecting since 1970. Their collection spans two centuries. The display will be at the Waterloo Farm Museum on Sept. 27 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Fall Blood Drive Slated Next Monday

Date for the Fall Blood Drive is Monday, Sept. 28. It will be held at St. Andrew's United Church of Christ from 1 to 7 p.m.

Officials from the Washtenaw County Red Cross are hoping for many "old-timers" and "first-timers" at the clinic. The actual blood collection itself takes perhaps 7-10 minutes, and a trained nurse stays at the donor's side during the taking of blood.

Our area uses approximately 200 plus pints of blood on an average day. Adults as well as children and infants need blood.

Once again the McLeod trophy will be awarded to the industry that has the highest percentage of its workers donating blood. Presently, Sweepster is holding that trophy and they hope to hold on to it.

As a bonus this fall, Pat and Paul Cousins will provide complimentary lunches at Cousins Heritage Inn to the lucky blood donor who wins the drawing. Also, David Schwartz is donating two Cottage Inn pizza lunches to lucky donors. Schwartz donated salad and pizza lunches for the nurses and workers at the emergency July blood drive.

St. James Episcopal church will furnish dinner for the nurses and workers. Babysitting will be available. This is truly a community sponsored event.

Color Tour Directory Available

Twenty-five autumn color tours, 334 festivals and events, 70 orchards and cider mills, and no fewer than 337 attractions fill the 68 full-color pages of the Michigan Travel Bureau's new Fall Travel Planner.

The planner, the fourth in the bureau's series of seasonal guide books, also contains a guide to color-change time in Michigan, diagrams of the most frequently seen leaves, lists of information sources, telephone numbers, and general travel information.

"This travel planner clearly illustrates why Michigan travel is setting record after record and why we have become the eighth most popular travel destination in the United States," said Michigan Travel Bureau Director John Savich.

"Travel and tourism were up at least six percent over last year's record performance during the Memorial Day/Labor Day Period," Savich said, "making this a $9 billion summer in the middle of a $14 billion The Travel Planner is one of a dozen more publications produced or distributed by the Travel Bureau. Others include the popular bed & breakfast directory, the hotel/motel guide, the cabin/cottage directory, golf, charterboat, camping, "you-pick" farm and wineries directories.

MARGARET AND BOB GILBERT POSED amid Bob's prize dahlias with Jacquelyn and Peter Claridge, visiting newly-married couple from New Zealand. The couple is completing a world tour, patterned after one his mother took 30 years ago. They hope to remain in the United States through the Christmas holiday.

Honeymooning New Zealand Cousins Visit Robert Gilberts

They were married on Feb. 28, 1987, at Christ's Church in New Zealand's South Island and started on the storybook wedding trip for which they planned and put aside their funds over a period of five years.

After Jacquelyn and Peter Claridge determined they had saved a sufficient sum, they both quit their jobs in New Zealand, and booked a trip patterned a lot like the trip his mother made 30 years ago.

Their first touchdown after flying out on a Friday to Sydney, Australia, where they stopped over before boarding a plane for the island of Hawaii, a Pacific paradise, which, they explained, met their expectations.

Their reservations took them to a 38th-floor room in Mali Court. From that vantage point, they were able to survey much of the surrounding countryside.

While on the Hawaiian island, the couple rented a Jeep and took a drive in the outskirts. They strayed into a military reservation and had their first look at a United States serviceman in uniform.

After four days in Hawaii, they continued on to the mainland, stepping off the plane at Los Angeles International Airport at night and were surprised not to find it busy and noisy.

During their stay in California, they visited both Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm, as well as Universal Studios and other tourist attractions.

"We proceeded to Phoenix, Ariz., bought a van to drive cross-country, and spent three or four days with relatives.

They set out for Grand Canyon country, but the weather was miserable, discouraging them from trekking down into the canyon.

Jacquelyn and Peter looped back to California before returning to the picturesque Grand Canyon. On their second visit, the weather was much improved and they decided to join the trip-by-mule down into the depths of the canyon.

An overnight campout before returning to the canyon's upper rim proved to be a lot of fun, the couple explained.

From northern Arizona, the honeymoon couple moved on to Wyoming, Colorado and Utah, making stops at Durango, the Crater of the Moon, and both Grand Tetons and Yellowstone National Park, one of their favorite places.

They headed north, driving through the vast Oregon country to Washington state, where they visited Mt. St. Helen and world-famous Mt. Rainier.

They were welcomed for a visit in Puella, near Seattle, to stay at the home of a couple they met during their first few days in the U.S.

A bear surprised the young people as it ran across in front of the van they drove near Vancouver, Wash.

During their stay in Vancouver, they drove around to spot, and take photos of, the homes in which Peter's mom lived, 30 years ago.

Departing Vancouver, the Claridges pressed on to Dawson City, Alaska, entering by the "Top of the World" highway.

"Mosquitos are really fierce in the Yukon," Peter said.

"Big too," added Jacquelyn, remembering.

They took time to fish for some successful salmon fishing, and cooked their catch over a Coleman stove.

"We weren't able to see Mt. McKinley during our stay in Alaska, because it rained that day, and we decided the price of the Valdez tour was out of our range, but the country was beautiful," they recalled.

"We drove to Jasper, Calgary and Saskatchewan, where we found an overturned but deserted truck-trailer," they continued.

"Our van, purchased in Arizona, performed well over-all. We had a flat tire in Alberta, put on the spare and it blew out. Construction workers took us to town to get the tire fixed," Peter explained.

"We have met so many lovely people during our travels," Jacquelyn acknowledged, smiling.

Returning from Alaska, they crossed to North Dakota from Manitoba, encountered slight difficulty as they filed a request to extend their visas, and made a "beeline" for Michigan.

Once in Michigan, they settled for a stay with third cousin Bob Gilbert and his family on Marshall Rd., near Dexter.

"Guess what? We went to the Michigan-Notre Dame football game on Saturday," explained Jacquelyn, her eyes still shining with excitement.

Bob and Margaret's daughter, a season-ticket holder, offered the guests her tickets for the game with the Irish.

Since their arrival, the couple from New Zealand has taught the Gilberts to "fix pizza with pineapple," and to top hamburgers with pineapple and fried eggs.

What's different in this country from New Zealand? For one thing, the mail service.

It's amazing to be able to put letters in the (rural) mailbox and have the mail carrier pick it up. There's no service available like that in New Zealand. Everyone has to take their letters to the mail service building, the couple agreed.

"Annnnnnnnn—the television! We thought we had a lot of commercials until we watched television here. We are able to tune only two channels, both government controlled," they advised.

Videos are very big in New Zealand, but drive-thru food service is just beginning. The very first drive-thru, Kentucky Fried Chicken, appeared just as the couple left New Zealand for their world trip.

Their home country has 3.3 million people, and what seems like 60 million sheep.

"Petrol is very expensive, so most people cycle or bike. There are really few big freeways and even fewer big trucks in New Zealand," Peter and Jacquelyn noted.

The government used to pay farmers a subsidy for sheep they raised, but when the labor government took over, it cut out the subsidy, forcing a great change in the price of a side of lamb.

"Driving through Oregon, we saw a triple-trailer truck and were awed by it," the couple related.

They have purchased souvenir coffee mugs, tee-shirts and sweatshirts for themselves and to take home to friends and relatives.

"Before we finish an account of our trip, we want to tell you we played golf, something we really enjoy, at the Inverness Country Club. It was very nice," said the eager young visitors.

Before leaving Dexter, Bob and Margaret Gilbert promised to take them to see the Dexter Cider Mill, beside the Huron River.

The couple hopes to have their visas extended, so that they may spend Christmas in the United States and return home in January.

In any case, they agree it's been a wonderful experience and they will never forget the people or the places.

"You know, we were even able to understand your accents. We thought we might have trouble with that, but we didn't," Jacquelyn said with a serious tone.

The Latin word for cheese was caseus and from that came the German's word kase and the Dutch, kaas. In Ireland, cheese is cais; in Wales, caws; in Portugal, quejo and in Spain, queso. The same root produced the old English word cese which evolved into the present-day cheese.

WHY BE SICK?

Why should I think Chiropractic first?
When a health problem arises, your first inclination probably is to consult a medical doctor. They will usually prescribe drugs or surgery. But most medication simply covers up the symptoms so you "feel" better. Chiropractic health care is different. We locate the "source" of the problem, correct it, and prevent it from recurring, without the use of drugs or surgery. Why be sick when you can be well?

Dexter Township Renews Contract With Assessor

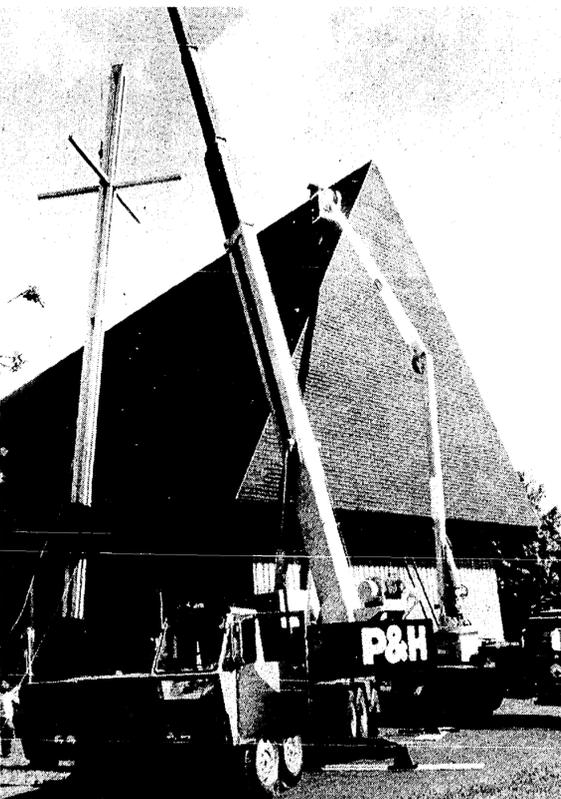

Dexter township trustees voted, at their Sept. 15 meeting, to rehire assessor Ed Janicki for another year, from Oct. 1, 1987 to Sept. 31, 1988. Janicki will be paid $13,500. According to trustee Doug Smith, Janicki does not do all the work himself, but contracts it out.

The board voted to cancel their Oct. 6 meeting in order to attend Hamburg township's public hearing on the sewer being planned for the lakes area.

Putnam township is also planning to hold a public hearing on the sewer. They have appointed Marie Beard to the sewer steering committee, joining Smith and Dexter township supervisor Jim Drolett.

Still to be appointed to the steering committee are representatives from Webster and Hamburg townships. The representatives must be members of the township board they represent. Smith is on the committee as the representative of the Portage and Base Lake Owners Association.

On Oct. 20 the Dexter Township Board will vote on the sewer assessment.

A REPLACEMENT CROSS was lifted into place by a crane at St. Paul United Church of Christ last Saturday. Constructed of pressure-treated southern pine, the cross is 56' high and 16' across. The cross was set into a holder that was inset into the roof.

Washtenaw Community Work Program Receives Federal Grant Renewal

Washtenaw county sheriff Ronald J. Schebil has received notification from the State Office of Criminal Justice that the department has received an unprecedented third year of funding from the federal Justice Assistance Act of 1984 for the Department's Community Work Program (CWP). The CWP is an alternative to jail incarceration for non-violent misdemeanants and felons.

The sheriff's CWP has the distinction of being the first such program in the State of Michigan. Since its inception in 1980, several counties have followed suit and created similar efforts, often with the technical assistance of program staff from the Sheriff Department.

The program has several benefits to the community:

—The program assists in reducing the jail overcrowding problem.

—The program saves taxpayers money by providing an equitable cost effective alternative sanction for sentenced non-violent misdemeanants and felons. ($55 per day to house a sentenced offender in the County Jail vs. $15 per day to sentence someone to the Community Work Program, a savings of 70%).

—The program provides the benefit of unpaid labor to the community through general public service labor and the provision of labor for non-profit organizations where appropriate. Much of the type of work completed by the CWP includes addressing needs which would by and large remain unaddressed because of the scarcity of revenue.

The sentenced offenders also benefit from participating in the program.

—They benefit by making non-monetary restitution to the offended community. It allows a fair punishment by requiring constructive expenditures of the offender's time, energies, and interests.

—They gain work experience, occupational skills, and training while continuing to maintain family ties and their regular job.

The Office of Criminal Justice has awarded $63,822 of Justice Assistance Act funds to the sheriff to support the CWP in 1988. The funding will be used to provide a supervisor to manage individuals sentenced to the program; a secretary; and provide funding for a variety of program tools and supplies used by sentenced offenders in providing community service work.

Sheriff Schebil states, "I am pleased with the 1988 funding award from the Office of Criminal Justice supporting our continuing work with the Community Work Program. The program has provided an effective alternative

DON COOPER
"Highway To Alaska"

"HIGHWAY TO ALASKA" is a true-life adventure story based on the great Gold Rush—one of the most colorful chapters in American history. This epic era is recalled to mind as Don and his brother Dennis, retrace the footsteps of their wonderful grandfather over Chilkoot Pass and down five hundred miles of the roaring Yukon River. Don Cooper is a lumberjack and a very fascinating person. His hazardous adventures are guaranteed to thrill everyone and his spontaneous humor is a threat to radio, movie and TV comedians.

Free Methodist Church Celebrating 10th Year

Chelsea Free Methodist church is celebrating its 10th anniversary this Sunday, Sept. 27 with a variety of special events, including a parsonage mortgage burning and a concert by The Singing Nicholson's.

The church was organized in September of 1977 with 10 charter members. Membership this year is nearly 80 with Sunday morning worship attendance averaging close to 200.

The initial members worshiped at St. Barnabas Episcopal church in Chelsea with Sunday afternoon services. In April of 1981 they moved to their present location, a 7,800-square-foot building at 7665 Werkner Rd. The new location included a parsonage.

The growth of the church over the past 10 years has been due to an active congregation, according to church officials.

Chelsea Free Methodist church offers many ways to worship including adult and children's choirs, solos, group music, Sunday school for all ages, a CYC program which is similar to scouting, a full youth program, adult prayer meetings, calling program, growth groups, Bible school, children's musicals, children's worship service, family worship, women's fellowships, men's fellowships, family get togethers and various Bible studies.

The special events for this Sunday are as follows:
8:45-10:20: Sunday school celebration for everyone in the sanctuary.
10:30-noon: Worship celebration with special music, reception of new members and a message by the Rev. William Cryderman, the organizing pastor.

Noon: Dinner celebration for everyone.
2 p.m.: Praise service and parsonage mortgage burning.
7 p.m.: Concert by The Singing Nicholson's of Greentown, Ind. The group is composed by four brothers, their wives and nine children. They sing a blend of traditional and contemporary music dedicated to spreading the gospel through music.

Pastor Merle Bradley has invited the pastor to attend.

to incarceration which, by itself, has had a significant effect over the last few years in limiting jail overcrowding. Without a doubt, we are the most advanced county in the state in terms of the successful use of sentencing alternatives in lieu of incarceration. This program saves us about $918,006 (est.) per year in incarceration costs for an operating cost of $100,000. Furthermore, community savings for public service work performed equals an additional $207,807 per year. Probably the greatest factor in the program's success is the support of the judges in the county. Their continued co-operation and confidence in using the program as an alternative to jail has had a very positive impact on our community."

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ELMER JOHN LINDOW

My special friend just passed away,
And it makes me feel sad,
To know I'll not see Elmer again,
For me he was just like a Dad.

He was a man of very few words,
His favorite were "nope," "yup," and "yeeses."
But the gentle way he had about him,
Was a gift from God, for he was truly blessed.

He had a special quality,
That comes from deep within,
He loved the little children,
They made his day begin.

For years he drove those special kids,
Back and forth to school,
He guided them with his gentle ways,
Following the "Golden Rule."

And oh how he loved his precious farm,
He never could quite let go,
But we needed him to guide us,
To plant, and reap, and sow.

Each spring he'd plant vegetables and flowers,
Then tend to them all summer long,
He'd watch the weather like a hawk,
To make sure nothing would go wrong.

But the only way to tell for sure,
If it was going to rain,
Was not by watching the weatherman,
But the direction of the sandhill crane.

For pleasure Elmer loved to pitch horse shoes,
He was the neighborhood champ,
And everyone tried to be his partner,
Isn't that right dear "Gramps."

Whenever we would eat together,
We knew what we must serve,
Mashed potatoes better be on the menu,
To change that no one had the nerve.

His grandkids meant the world to him,
Of this we all knew well,
He'd brag about what they did,
As only a grandpa could tell.

He raised two beautiful children,
Judy and Ken were his pride,
His love for them was never hidden,
It was something he just couldn't hide.

Frank and Al were like sons to him,
He loved them and gave them advice,
But he was always gentle, yet firm,
When it came to dealing with their wives.

Elmer truly loved and served the Lord,
And we must carry on,
For he touched our lives in his own special way,
And in all of use he still lives on.

—Patricia H. Zangaro

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jerry Satterthwaite, President of the Chelsea Village Council, do hereby designate the month of October as "United Way Month".

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this 15th day of September in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred eighty-seven.

Workers May Designate Chest Funds for Chelsea

As the 1987 Chelsea United Way Campaign begins, it is extremely important to note that, when making United Way donations contributors who live in the Chelsea area, but work outside of Chelsea, may specify "Chelsea United Way" on their checks or donation cards at work. Monies not specified go automatically to Washtenaw United Way.

Various agencies who are recipients of Chelsea United Way allocated funds will be featured each week. The two featured agencies this week are Hospice of Washtenaw and Visiting Nurse Association of Huron Valley.

Hospice of Washtenaw

Hospice of Washtenaw provides in-home supportive care for terminally ill patients and family members. A team of doctors, nurses, social workers, pharmacists, trained volunteers, and clergy help these individuals deal with preparation for death, and the natural feelings that follow. These team members are priceless friends assisting in countless ways.

Nearly nine years ago in the Spring of 1978, representatives from Washtenaw United Way and Catherine McAuley Health Center met with interested citizens from the area to explore the need for a Hospice program in Washtenaw county. One year later, in 1979, Hospice became incorporated and moved into a little white house on S. Main St., in Ann Arbor.

Shortly thereafter, two problems arose. These were the inability of Hospice of Washtenaw to be financially self-supporting and the fact that Hospice was unable to provide nursing services. Patients and their families had to contract these with other agencies, on their own. Subsequently, discussions were initiated with Catherine McAuley Health Center and the eventual merger with Home Health Care of Southeastern Michigan and Hospice of Washtenaw to Amicare Home Health Services resulted.

One Hospice volunteer so aptly stated, "And so I stand, patiently, at the gate. I find a willingness to be there as souls get ready for this momentous passage. I feel all Hospice folks can take pride in this important function..."

Hospice of Washtenaw is continuing to serve Washtenaw county and surrounding areas with not only quality care, as they have always done, but with a renewed philosophy of humanitarianism and professionalism combined.

Visiting Nurse Association

At times members of the Chelsea area community have found themselves in the predicament of having a health problem and wanting to recuperate within the security and restfulness of their own home. Because of the existence of agencies such as the Visiting Nurse Association of Huron Valley who specialize in providing health care services to persons within their own homes, such persons have been able to avoid hospitalization or return home from the hospital earlier because of the opportunity to have care provided within their own home.

Private health insurance, Medicare and Medicaid can often be found for reimbursement of such health services. Unfortunately at times there are people who for various reasons do not qualify for such reimbursement, or until it's too late do not realize their particular health insurance does not cover the provision of health care in the home. It is to care for these people, Chelsea area residents through contributing to the Chelsea United Way provide an allocation to the Visiting Nurse Association of Huron Valley.

Thank you for allowing ill Chelsea residents to recuperate at home with the help of the Visiting Nurse Association of Huron Valley and the Chelsea United Way.

Romano cheese is cured for at least a year; Parmesan for two years. The long curing time hardens the cheeses and sharpens the flavor, making them perfect shaker seasonings.

Flu Shot Clinics Set For Senior Citizens

Anyone who is allergic to chicken eggs should not participate in the program. Those who do qualify for the program should check with their physician to determine the advisability of receiving the immunizations.

THE WEEK OF SEPT. 20-26 has been designated Emergency Medical Services Week by the American College of Emergency Physicians. The people on Chelsea Community Hospital's emergency team include, front row, left to right, Cindy Matthews, Dawn Diefenthaler,

Emergency Medical Services Week Set at Chelsea Hospital

Who are those wonderful people? They respond to your need for emergency care with speed and professionalism. During the blur of events for a serious illness or accident, they quickly and caringly assess the patient's condition, make rapid decisions on appropriate treatment, interpret diagnostic results, decide whether to admit or transfer the patient to another facility, determine follow-up care, and calm worried family members and/or friends.

The emergency physicians, nurses, paramedics, ambulance attendants, policemen and firemen work together as a team to make the emergency medical services system work for your community.

The American College of Emergency Physicians is sponsoring Emergency Medical Services Week, Sept. 20-26, to recognize the men and women nation-wide who devote their time to helping the sick and injured.

If you have ever been involved in a medical emergency, then you may already have met a few of your community's emergency medical personnel. But, maybe your emergency was a minor one and there wasn't a great deal of excitement or people involved in treating a broken finger, for example. You probably did not receive first-hand experience on how well your community's emergency medical personnel work together.

Chelsea Community Hospital Emergency Services will be observing Emergency Medical Services Week, Sept. 20-26. At Chelsea Community Hospital, emergency care is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Qualified emergency physicians and nurses specifically trained in emergency medicine are always ready to take care of your medical problems. The Emergency Service is capable of immediately assessing your medical needs when you arrive for treatment.

Emergency nurses or other staff persons will see you right away to evaluate your medical condition and explain the care you will receive. You will never be "lost in the shuffle."

The Emergency Service at Chelsea Community Hospital is convenient to your home or office with safe and convenient location and parking.

The emergency department will even send copies of medical records and tests to your personal physician if requested.

A medical emergency exists whenever you feel you are in need of immediate medical attention. Don't worry about being certain of whether you really need emergency care. It is always best to play it safe and seek emergency treatment rather than ignore the problem.

Refund Coming To State Farm Policy Holders

State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. will distribute $30.9 million in dividends to an estimated 963,500 Michigan customers.

The dividends will be approximately 14.1 percent of each individual's semiannual premium and will be paid or credited over a six-month period beginning Nov. 1.

State Farm Mutual authorized the dividend program for customers in Michigan because over-all income exceeded anticipated claim costs in the state.

Fall Color Information Available

For up-to-date information on the fall color trends in Southeast Michigan's trees, people are encouraged to call the Southeast Michigan Travel & Tourist Association's Leaf-Line—a 24-hour taped information message.

From mid-September to the end of October each year, the line is available to callers with no charge other than the normal cost of a telephone call. The number to call is (313) 585-7233.

The taped message is continuously updated with current color change information from the 11-county Southeast Michigan region.

Also available is a brochure listing 11 auto tours in the area which may be used for fall outings. To get a free copy of the brochure, send a self-addressed, stamped business size envelope to ON THE ROAD, P.O. Box 1590, Troy, 48069.

Refund Going to Consumers Power Electric Customers

Consumers Power Company's 1.4 million electric customers will receive a one-time refund totalling $74 million in September bills.

A typical residential customer, using 500 kilowatt-hours per month, will receive a refund of $18.25, which will appear as a bill credit.

The refund stems from a recent Michigan Public Service Commission decision which reduced a $137 million annual rate increase granted Consumers Power in 1984 to $115 million. The rate reduction is effective in September bills and saves a typical residential customer $1.18 per month.

Consumers Power Co. utility subsidiary of CMS Energy Corp. is Michigan's largest utility serving almost six million of the state's nine million residents in 67 of the 68 Lower Peninsula counties.

Fair Board Has September Meeting

Regular meeting of the Chelsea Community Fair Board was held Sept. 17 with all members present except Jim Dault, Charles Koenn, Jeff Layher, Bill Nixon, Harold Trinkle and Joe Merkel III.

Guests included James Wegerly and Mrs. Squires.

Wegerly represented the Pugh Shows and gave a presentation about the shows that might be used for the 1988 fair.

Mrs. Squires inquired about rates for insurance and storage.

Storage rates were set at $5 per foot for inside storage and $3 per foot in the covered arena.

Minutes and correspondence were read and accepted. A few suggestions were made about the fair but more people praised the 1987 fair.

All bills have not been received but reports indicate a good net gain for 1987.

Entrance gates and parking for 1988 were discussed.

Good weather helped fair attendees enjoy the exhibits, rides and food at this year's fair.

There were 23,192 passenger-car fatalities and 5,763 light-truck fatalities in 1985.
