ONE HUNDRED-SEVENTEENTH YEAR—No. 22

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1987

22 Pages This Week

THE STORE FRONT SAID HOP-IN, not drive-in. At about 1:15 Monday morning this driver of a stolen car tried to make a right turn from Main St. onto Orchard St. at a speed in excess of 60 mph. His inability to negotiate the turn left only one place for him to go—into the front of the Hop-In store on S. Main St.—which he did, with approximately $6,000 in damage to the store front.

High Speed Chase on M-52 Ends With Crash into Store

A Detroit man has been arraigned on charges of car theft and fleeing and eluding in connection with an incident that ended in a spectacular crash at the Hop-In store on S. Main St. early Monday morning.

Chelsea police said that Derick McCoy, 18, of 15500 Sussex Rd., Detroit, had apparently stolen a 1987 Monte Carlo from the Chelsea Milling parking lot, had made a u-turn and was heading north on M-52 at speeds up to 85 miles per hour at 1:15 a.m. McCoy tried to make a right turn onto Orchard St. traveling between 60 and 70 miles per hour but crashed into the Hop-In storefront, breaking out two 8' by 10' foot display windows and scattering newspapers, candy and peanuts throughout the store. Police said he narrowly missed the gas pumps outside.

Neither McCoy or anyone inside the store was hurt.

The stolen automobile belonged to Chelsea Milling employee Ernest Williamson of Stockbridge.

According to police, McCoy probably did not commit the theft by himself. When police began the chase there were two vehicles involved. However, the cars split up and Chelsea police had to choose which car to follow.

"If he hadn't crashed, we probably would have been forced to give up the chase because he was traveling so fast," said Chelsea Sgt. Frank Kornel.

Kornel said that McCoy told him he had been paid $150 to drive the car back to Detroit.

"They're starting to hit the suburbs and towns outside of Detroit more now," Kornel said.

Police estimated the damage to the store at $6,000.

Tower Mart Theft Nets $150 in Cash

Approximately $150 in coins and bills was stolen from Tower Mart between 10 p.m. and midnight on Saturday, Oct. 24, according to Chelsea police.

A thief or thieves gained entry by breaking out the windows of the entrance door, police said.

Several rolls of coins were dropped inside the store and coins were found in the parking lot, across Main St., and up to the Chelsea Milling parking lot next to the railroad tracks.

First Snow Appears Here

The first traces of winter appeared in Chelsea last Wednesday and Thursday as the first snow showers of the season hit town.

Residents reported scraping snow off their windshields on Wednesday morning. On Thursday there were brief periods of fairly heavy snow, although there was no accumulation.

The National Weather Service has predicted that the weather will be colder and wetter than normal this winter.

Lively Public Hearing Addresses DDA Financing

By BRIAN HAMILTON

Residents packed the Chelsea Village Council chambers last Tuesday, Oct. 20 as representatives of the Downtown Development Authority explained how tax increment financing would be implemented to finance DDA beautification projects.

When the hour-long public hearing was completed, village council delayed any action on the DDA's plan or financing arrangement until at least the council's next meeting Tuesday, Nov. 3. Two trustees, Phil Boham and Stephanie Kanten, were absent from the meeting.

Also, there was apparent agreement between the village council and the DDA that two changes would have to be made—deleting a proposed $375,000 village hall complex from the list of downtown projects and including a limit to the life of the tax increment financing plan, probably 15 years.

The DDA has proposed tax increment financing as its primary fundraising vehicle for $1.1 million in downtown projects aimed at preserving the viability of the downtown business district. The financing district would include all land within the downtown development district. The development district includes nearly all commercial and industrial property in the downtown area and a disputed number of private residences. Those residences had to be included because the boundaries of the development district have to be continuous and there was no way to exclude the private homes and include all the businesses.

Tax increment financing would allow the DDA to capture all additional tax revenue generated when the equalized value of property within the district rises. That money would come at the expense of the Chelsea School District, Washtenaw county, Sylvan township, Washtenaw Community College, Washtenaw Intermediate School District, and the Village of Chelsea, all of whom would normally take a share of the increase in tax money.

The money would be used to retire bonds sold for the DDA projects.

Tax increment financing would not directly raise anyone's taxes. It would only re-distribute any increase in tax money that comes from a rise in the property's assessed value, said DDA

Chelsea Jaycees Nearing Charter

The new Jaycee chapter being organized in Chelsea will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Woodlands Room of the Chelsea Community Hospital. All members, as well as anyone considering joining, are welcome.

The purpose of the meeting is to gather input on where the group is going and to make future plans. It will also be a good opportunity for new members to meet each other.

Ethel Thoms, the Ann Arbor Jaycee member who is helping organize the Chelsea chapter, estimates that there are 12 to 15 people committed to being members. She says most of these people were not members of the Jaycee group that lost its charter last spring, but instead are new recruits.

At the meeting tonight, people will report on their recruiting efforts. Says Thoms, "It may be that we'll reach 20 then."

After the group is chartered, they will elect board members and appoint committees to put a program together.

financial consultant Franz Mogdis, who has established a similar financing mechanism in Milan.

About two-thirds of the money would be diverted from the Chelsea School District because the district levies about two-thirds of the taxes in the village. That would rise to about $55,000 per year in 1991 and continue through 2002.

However, Superintendent Ray Van Meer, who was in the audience, said after the meeting that the district would be reimbursed by the state for any money lost due to tax increment financing.

"Because we are an out-of-formula district, what the tax base doesn't give us, the state does," Van Meer said.

"As long as we remain an out of formula district, tax increment financing wouldn't make any difference."

In a letter to Village President Jerry Satterthwaite, the school board officially lent its support to the DDA's original $685,000, 15-year plan, which did not include a village hall complex. The updated plans also included $55,000 in additional funds for landscaping, intersection improvements, "entryway" improvements, parking improvements and marketing and promotion.

"As superintendent of schools, I favor the DDA program as it was originally proposed," Van Meer said last Thursday.

"I am not in favor of using the funds to build a village hall complex because the whole village should share those costs."

Washtenaw county treasurer Mike Stimpson said increment financing could include a hidden tax hike. He said law requires schools to raise their millage for debt retirement if the current millage for debt retirement won't cover the costs.

While Van Meer later agreed with Stimpson's contention, he said Chelsea was not likely to have such a problem. He said millage for debt retirement has been decreased three times over the last five years and will probably continue to decline as Chelsea grows.

The meeting also featured disagreements about the legality of tax increment financing, and how much property is included in the downtown development district.

Stimpson and Mogdis argued about Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley's opinion about tax increment financing. Stimpson said Kelley's opinion would not support the implementation of tax increment financing in Chelsea because property is not declining. Mogis said Kelley's opinion was directed at "abuses" and not the way Chelsea's DDA wants to use the financing method.

Stimpson, as county treasurer, has a vested interest in preventing an increment financing arrangement because the county would lose tax money.

Mogdis said the concept of tax increment financing is being legally challenged and the state supreme court is supposed to issue an advisory opinion, "any day."

No one seemed to know how many private residences had been included in the downtown development district. Trustee Gary Bentley said he counted 18 homes. At an earlier meeting the DDA said there are 12 homes. Neither number could be verified.

All expenditures of tax increment financing funds would require the approval of both the DDA board and the village council.

Fire Dept. Wants New Pumper Truck

Chelsea Fire Department wants to buy a $150,000 pumper truck that would significantly upgrade the department, according to chief Bud Hankerd.

The truck would replace a 1974 pumper that has had numerous transmission problems, Hankerd told the village council last Tuesday, Oct. 20.

The truck Hankerd hopes to buy would be capable of pumping 1,500 gallons of water per minute and be capable of storing 1,500 gallons. The current truck can pump 1,000 gallons per minute.

"The truck would significantly change the way we respond to emergencies," Hankerd said.

"This would probably be the only truck we send out to most runs within five miles and it should be able to take care of all car fires. A lot of the time we are sending two or three trucks. Also, quite often we have two runs at a time. This should make those situations a lot easier to handle."

The new truck would be able to carry six firemen in the cab, five with oxygen equipment. Hankerd said the truck would be easier to maneuver around corners and would be faster traveling up hills.

The turbo-charged diesel truck would be financed by funds from the village and all the townships that use the department, Hankerd said.

Hankerd estimated that bids probably wouldn't be opened until January and the truck probably wouldn't arrive until next fall.

Police Investigate Three Incidents of Broken Windows

Chelsea Police believe three separate window breaking incidents over the week-end could be related.

Windows were broken at the Chelsea depot, Longworth Plating, and Tower Mart party store. Tower Mart was burglarized of $150 in cash. There was no sign of forced entry at either the depot or Longworth Plating, police said.

Six separate window panes were broken at the depot. Police were notified on Sunday, Oct. 25 at 2:02 p.m.

One window was broken at Longworth and a 4" rock was on the ground outside the window, police said. They were notified at 9:51 p.m. on Saturday.

The Tower Mart burglary occurred between the store's 10 p.m. closing time and 11:59 p.m., when the incident was reported.

Police planned to question two suspects as of press time.

Council Postpones Initial Plat Review

Chelsea Village Council postponed action on the Belser Estates preliminary plat until Tuesday, Nov. 3 despite a determined effort by its developer to have the council approve it at their regular meeting last Tuesday, Oct. 20.

The planning commission recommended preliminary approval of the plat at their meeting Tuesday, Oct. 13.

Charles Belser told the council that any delay has the potential to jeopardize the project.

Belser argued that because he has worked for four months with the village administration and village planning consultant on the development's road layout and other questions, and because the planning commission has recommended approval, that the council should go ahead and give its approval.

Belser also said he could begin selling lots in the 74-home development.

However, council declined to rule without having a chance to look at the preliminary plat.

"What happens if the council doesn't like one of the roads?" asked village manager Fritz Weber.

Preliminary approval of the plat would give final approval to road placement.

Belser Estates is planned for the east side of Freer Rd. from roughly the railroad tracks on the north to just south of Mayer Dr. on the south.

EYES AND EARS SAFETY PROGRAM has started in Chelsea, thanks to the efforts of village employee Paul Newhouse, left, who organized the program. Village radio-equipped vehicles with the Eyes and Ears logo (center) are included in the program. The child safety and crime prevention program is designed to report suspicious persons and incidents that appear to be related to assaults, abductions and rapes. The logo is designed to alert the public, especially children enroute to and from school, that the vehicle is an emergency reporting station and that the employee operating the vehicle is trained to request emergency assistance. The program couldn't work without the co-operation of the Chelsea Police Department. At right is Chief Lenard McDougall.

WINDOWS were broken at the Chelsea depot over the week-end and police say the incident could be linked to two other cases over the week-end. Police said there was no sign anyone tried to enter the depot.

Roger and Joseph Ottoman are two of several local farmers and 300 farmers across the state who are unable to use their silos built in the early 50's because of PCB contamination (poly chlorinated biphenyl—used in caulking). The state may offer low interest loans to farmers to build new structures and provide state reimbursement.

The village council has given the green light to proposed development of 7.17 acres of land east of Wilkinson St., popularly known as the "Salter tract," for multiple housing. Council unanimously approved a request from Robert Thornton of Chelsea Residential Development Co., that a Planned Unit District (PUD) be established so that 28 "cluster" homes can be built on the site.

Wayne Solvency Proposal Seeks $26.5 Million in New Funds

A legislative package to infuse Wayne county with $26.5 million in new revenues, including additional lottery funds, while unloading some costs for indigent health care to deal with what some have called a fiscal emergency, was outlined to the Legislature recently by county executive Edward McNamara.

McNamara promoted the plan in a luncheon meeting with legislators from the county, but said he is not wedded to its specifics and asked for any other suggestions to help the county over its fiscal problems.

The county's fiscal year ends Dec. 31, and McNamara's proposed budget for the new year requires $11 million more in revenues. The county also has about $110-$130 million in short term debts to the state, which officials intend to repay through bonds.

The package includes:

—$18 million from a 5 percent surcharge on lottery winnings and a third Lotto game. Another $16 million raised by that plan would be distributed to counties around the state. Currently, the School Aid Fund gets all lottery profits.

—$6 million with a 30 percent surcharge on airport parking.

—A $2.5 million by raising circuit court fees.

A revision of the indigent health care program, which is costing the county about $32.5 million a year, would cap its costs at $22.5 million and shift up to $16.5 million to the federal government.

State costs are expected to remain unchanged. The new program would contract with hospitals and other providers to guarantee care for general assistance recipients at specified per capita costs, instead of the county having to simply cover overruns for whatever charges are submitted by poor persons.

A change in Medicaid eligibility would shift health care costs for other low-income persons, who are not on GA, to the federal government. A private agency would authorize lengths of stays in hospitals.

That proposal is expected to be well-received in the Senate, where Republicans had proposed similar plans for turning administration of Medicaid programs to private entities.

Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton)

had introduced bills (HB 5042 and HB 5043) providing lower airport parking surcharges and including airport-based companies in the property tax, and another measure providing a new hotel tax.

Economies Prompt States

To Raise Taxes, Curb Spending
The dollar amount of taxes raised by state governments in 1987 was the highest since the recession year of 1983, even though state spending is increasing at the smallest rate since the recession, according to a national survey.

The survey by the National Governors' Association and the National Association of State Budget Officers showed 33 states raising taxes by $6.6 billion to shore up budgets hurt by a weakening economy.

With six other states cutting taxes by $500 million, the net $6.1 billion increase was surpassed only by the $7.4 billion raised with tax increases in 38 states in 1983. Meanwhile, the 1987-88 budgets for the states will grow 1.1 percent, after adjusting for inflation.

Michigan was one of 17 states showing no real growth.

NASBO executive director Gerald Miller said small budget increases and the various tax changes "illustrate the result of slow-to-moderate growth of the national economy."

The survey showed that in 1986-87, 24 states cut $3 billion from the budgets they had enacted due to depressed revenues. The survey said the number and size is unusually high for a non-recession year.

The survey showed only eight states projecting year-end budget balances of at least 5 percent, the benchmark used to determine a healthy financial condition.

Michigan House Passes Insurance Premium Tax

The Michigan House of Representatives passed legislation this week to put a 2% tax on all insurance premiums. The bill was strongly opposed by the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"A premiums tax would be a greater burden on farmers than most others," said Robert E. Smith, Michigan Farm Bureau's senior legislative counsel. "They must have a greater variety of insurance, including life, auto and truck, liability, fire, wind, Worker's Comp and, in some cases, health."

The bill now goes back to the Senate, where Smith says Farm Bureau will continue its opposition.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

A new service called the Corporate Interviewing Network looks like another idea whose time has come in the world of big business. You might think it takes a little more humanity out of man, but when you give it some thought you realize that a country ready for microwave meals, shopping by television, and drive-in traffic can handle this little timesaver.

What CIN says it does is help big outfits cut travel and time for busy people that hire people for big jobs. The network videotapes everybody that applies for a job doing the same things, answering the same questions under the same conditions. CIN says this helps the applicants by giving all of em an even shot, and it helps the company by letting the personnel manager view the tapes and use the same standard in picking the person he wants.

The network works the other way too. Say a young fellow wants to shop around for the best offer. Instead of sending out written reports on what he's done and wants to do he hires CIN to make him videotapes to send to the personnel people. The new approach gets attention and results and saves time for everybody.

I mentioned this item during the session at the country store Saturday night, and Ed Doolittle said it looked to him like another case of life imitating technology. What big banks, big law firms, big insurance companies and big everything want, Ed said, is all their big people acting, looking, talking and thinking like they come out of the same cookie cutter.

Practical speaking, went on Ed, this kind of assembly line operation does what it's supposed to do, but some folks are asking is what it does what ought to be done. For instance, Ed said, schools are saying standard tests are letting good people fall through the cracks. They want colleges to move farther from the Scholastic Aptitude Test and closer to the students as human beings. What we're doing as a society, Ed said, is moving to fast for our own good because the hurrier we go the behinder we get.

Clem Webster said he had heard of a book called "Time Wars" where a fellow named Jerry Rifkin makes that same case. He says the faster we learn to do things the more things we come up with to do, so we keep falling behind. If that's hard to figger, Clem said, Rifkin goes on to say the more time we save the less time we got to save. He says the civilized world is hooked on the clock, and we'll keep pushing until we self-destruct because we'll never be satisfied with how efficient we are.

Before the discussion got complete out of hand, Josh Clodhopper, that does more listening than talking, broke in to say the world ain't ready to be loaded in the handbasket yet. He said he has been studying his almanacs recent, and he sees where this old earth is on a warming trend. A report from a recent science seminar says the world is going to warm up 10 degrees by the 22nd century, and this will mean more food can be raised in more places longer.

Josh said he didn't check on whether the degrees was fairhite or the new kind we're supposed to learn how to use. Fer his money, Josh allowed, it ain't all that important if the world will be 10 degrees hotter or cooler by the 22nd century. The good news, he said, is that there will be a world in the 22nd century.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Q. I own stock in AT&T. A year ago the company announced what it called a major restructuring and reduced its income by a substantial amount. The result was it had practically no earnings for the year, but that didn't seem to affect its ability to pay dividends.

A. The word "restructuring" is appearing in the business pages frequently these days. It is not a word that the investors should automatically consider as good or bad. About the only thing the investors can take for granted when a corporation says it is restructuring is that it is making changes. In most cases the changes are substantial, suggesting the investor take a completely fresh look at the company and make a new decision on it.

In a great many cases the restructuring seems to occur after a company has made many acquisitions and finally comes to the conclusion it has such a diverse business that management talent would be a lot better used if it were concentrated in one area, with other businesses turned back to the close-at-hand managers.

A lot of these "other area" businesses are being spun-off to shareholders. The investor should look carefully at these spinoffs. Some cases we have seen seem to have produced companies with greater vigor and prospects, while other seem to be burdened with problems that will take a long time to work out.

In some of the restructuring there are serious changes in the standings of the different classes of outstanding securities. In a number of very large companies, the credit rating of the company has been lowered and the position of bondholders weakened. In some cases increased leverage has endangered the position of all owners. The bottom line is that there simply is no shortcut to better investing. It requires good study and research.

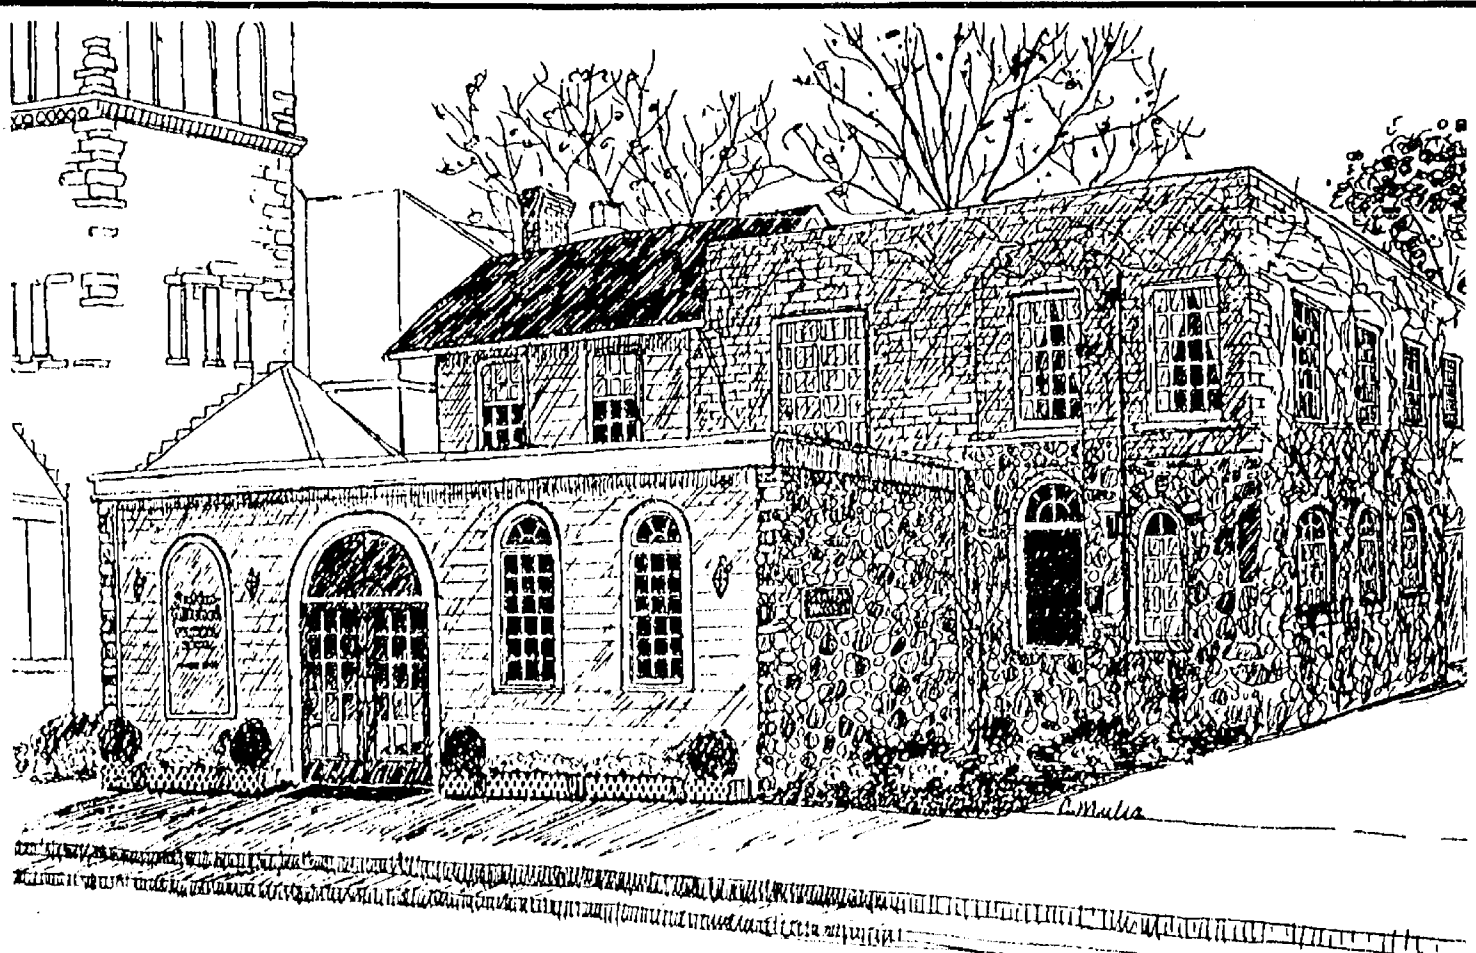

The AT&T restructuring of course took place a year ago and the company seems to have done very well since then. Many of the "restructurings" in 1986 resulted from the fact that tax rates were coming down and write-offs resulted in a greater tax savings then they would at a later date.

Tips on Turkey Cooking Offered in Free Booklets

Whether home is a log cabin in the woods, a cottage by the beach, or a townhouse in the city, there truly is no place like home for the holidays. And chances are that no matter where your home is, cooking a turkey will be part of your holiday meal plans.

To help you make sure your holiday turkey will turn out tasty and safe to eat, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has a booklet for you called "Talking About Turkey" (Item 527R, Free). The booklet tells you everything you need to know about buying, storing, thawing, stuffing, and preparing your holiday bird. And since you'll also need to translate the specific information on its label, send for a copy of "Meat and Poultry Labels Wrap It Up" (Item 600R, Free) published by the Department of Agriculture in co-operation with Oscar Mayer Foods Corp. For your copies, send your name and address to S. James, Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. Please include the item numbers with your order.

Whether to buy a fresh or frozen turkey is a matter of personal preference. There is no significant difference in quality between a fresh turkey and a frozen one. But if you choose to buy a fresh turkey, buy it only a day or two before you plan to roast it. If you like to shop ahead, you should buy a frozen turkey, since it can be stored for up to a year in your freezer at 0°F.

There are three ways to safely thaw a frozen turkey. You can move the turkey, in its original wrappings, from the freezer to the refrigerator. It will defrost in the refrigerator in two to five days. You can also thaw it in cold water, generally in less than a day. Make sure there are no breaks in the wrapping and then cover the frozen bird in cold water. Change the water frequently for safety. The third safe method for thawing is to use your microwave, following the manufacturer's recommendations.

Once the turkey is thawed, you are ready to stuff and then cook it. Consult "Talking About Turkey" for pointers on stuffing, then preheat your oven to 325°F, and you are ready to go. But be careful. Do not start cooking the bird one day and finish it the next, and don't cook a turkey for a long time at temperatures below 325°F. Both of these situations enhance the possibility of bacterial growth.

Once the turkey has been cooked the proper amount of time according to its weight, you and your family are

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I received a letter a short time after our summer production of "The Music Man" from "a fan" who was somewhat upset about the increase in the ticket price from $6 to $7.50. I brought the letter to the attention of the Board of Directors at our last meeting and, in the discussion which ensued, it became apparent that other members of the board had heard similar stirrings of discontent. The board decided that this was an issue of sufficient concern to both our members and the community that it warranted an answer in an open forum. Once the facts are out in the open, we feel that the community will understand the necessity for the increase.

Chelsea Area Players is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization. Therefore, by law, our income must meet our expenditures. When we decide to produce a show for the Chelsea area we must set up a budget based upon expected revenues from ticket sales. Most people probably don't realize how expensive it is to mount a production like this past summer's "Music Man." The budget for that show was $10,000 and we came very close to that figure. Typical expenses include $50 apiece in material costs only for each flat and platform built, $400 for rental of extra lighting instruments and cables, $100 per week for rental of painted "drops" or curtains for backdrops, $500 for advertising, and over $2,000 for the royalties, i.e. the rights to perform the musical. While inflation and other pressures have increased the costs to us dramatically for everything we rent or purchase, we have been extremely frugal and have managed to put on theatrical productions of high quality on budgets which have increased only modestly in the past five years. We kept the cost of our tickets at $6 for many years, but this year it became necessary to go to $7.50.

It is a simple matter of arithmetic. The statistics from past years reveal that we sell roughly 1,200 tickets to our summer productions; if the budget for the quality of production which is expected must be $10,000, then tickets will have to be $8.30 to cover expenses. As you can see, we set our ticket prices under budget, hoping to draw a few more spectators to "The Music Man," an extremely popular show, than we had drawn in past summers. The high school auditorium holds approximately 600 people; if we sold out for all five performances—a dream beyond our wildest fantasies—we would draw over 3,000 people, and prices could be set at $3.50. Unfortunately, our shows do not seem to draw that kind of support from Chelsea and the surrounding communities. Thus, we are left with a depleted treasury once again for the preproduction funding of our next show. Royalties must be paid considerably in advance of performance. In the past, such deficits have been made up out of the members' own pockets, particularly the members of the board.

We feel, therefore, that our price adjustment to $7.50 was long overdue and justified, based upon the quality of the productions we offer Chelsea and surrounding communities. Theater tickets in Ann Arbor run between $10 and $20 and even a ticket to the movies cost $5 these days. We are, of course, in sympathy with those who wish to bring entire families to our productions and who cannot afford $30-$35. We also understand the limited budgets of senior citizens. The board will put special prices into effect for both families (groups) and senior citizens beginning with our winter production in February, "See How They Run." In the meantime, we hope that this letter has helped to answer the concerns of some of you who may feel that the price of our shows is too high. We can assure you that we are not making a profit, that the budgets are modest for the quality of the shows CAP produces, that funds are handled most frugally, and that ticket prices are set to meet the budget.

Pat Paulsell, President of CAP for the Board of Directors.

Dear Editor,

Let me begin by saying that I think Chelsea has a great school system that offers everything they possibly can, including a large variety of classes and sporting activities, and we are very fortunate for that. I would like to say also that any person who teaches, coaches, or instructs our kids has my admiration.

I know it takes a lot of patience to deal with children and teens; however, I feel if you are going to take on the job of teaching and/or coaching, regardless of the sport, you have a great responsibility to the child, yourself and the parents.

Recently I have seen several cases of what I feel was VERY inappropriate actions by adult coaches.

On Monday, Oct. 19, at the junior high football game my son was warned by an official for swearing at a Dexter player, and was removed from the game for the next play. Later in the game another Chelsea player swore at a Dexter player and pushed him. Our coach then proceeded out on the field and brought the boy back to the bench, yelling at the boy so loudly that everyone in the stands could hear him and slapping the boy's helmet all the way back, humiliating him in front of his teammates and all the spectators.

In my estimation that action was far worse than the swearing, and demonstrated a total lack of maturity or common sense on the part of the coach. Does the coach ever swear at the kids? Did the Dexter player swear at our player? Did the humiliation help? Was that a proper example for a coach to set? I think the answers are obvious.

I don't profess to be a perfect parent by any stretch of the imagination. My kids hear swearing in my home and they see me get very upset and angry with them. But I don't get totally out of control and start yelling at them in front of their friends and smacking them around. I have more respect for them and I want them to have more for me. It seems to me that we as adults are supposed to teach kids about respect, human compassion, and common courtesy for fellow human beings and themselves and folks, that ain't the way to do it.

Years ago teachers and coaches were respected and looked up to even if you didn't like them you still had respect for them and they still had respect for you. But they didn't have to swear using every four letter word in the book and even some new ones to get you to pay attention or learn. They didn't smack kids around or shove them in to walls, bleachers, or whatever to make a point. They didn't make kids come into school early as a punishment and then not show up as happened with the band director lately. Parents have enough sacrifices to make without extra nonsense like this. Our kids are asked to come to school at 6 a.m. to 7 a.m. for whatever the teacher or coach thinks necessary for their course or sport, then to stay for practices after school till at least 6 p.m. The kids get home around 7 p.m. and then are expected to go back into school for more activities in the evening, sometime in between all that they are supposed to study and do the homework they are assigned. Hold it folks—These are Kids. Let's start realizing that. Granted they don't have to be involved in the extras but if they want to participate in the extras this is what is expected, and I think it is way too much to demand.

Two final thoughts for the middle school coach. It seems odd to me that SIXTH GRADE ART STUDENTS at Beach Middle school have been working on still life drawing techniques and applying them through a variety of artistic activities. They have also drawn from plants and student models. In addition, the Discover Art class will experience color theory and three dimensional work. "Exposure to art is an important ingredient in a successful life," says teacher Bev Yelsik. "It helps a person strengthen creative and perceptual skills and expand cultural horizons." Yelsik invites anyone interested in seeing the results of the sixth grade artists, as well as the work of seventh and eighth grade artists, to drop by the class anytime. The students will have a formal show on Jan. 19 from 7-8:30 p.m. The boys in the foreground are Kris Kargel and Matt Seitz.

for the entire seven weeks of their football season there has been nothing in the newspaper about how the junior high is doing, that may not be very important to coaches as it obviously is not, but it is important to the kids.

I would also like to say the pass my son threw was not the best he has ever thrown, but I can't think of a more crude thing than to tell a kid who has been at every practice, is an excellent athlete, and has worked very hard to better himself, that he lost the game. Well, Mr. Coach, you lost the whole season and my respect for you with it. Rebecca Taylor Wingrove.

To The Editor,

I am writing in concern to the two properties in which one has been bought, and the other close to being sold.

I happen to be one of the people living at 151 Park St. I have two daughters, 3 and 5 years of age. Although, I am not proud of it. We are on ADC (aid for dependent children).

The apartment we live in is not the very best, but it's a roof over our heads. And now the village is going to take our homes away from us. Not just the three of us, but eight other people in the two houses.

I checked on an apartment about two weeks ago. They want $400 a month, plus utilities and this isn't the only one I have checked, and you can't get a two-bedroom apartment any less than that.

I get $480 a month. So tell me Mr. Satterthwaite, how is a person, and I'm not the only one on a fixed income, going to pay rent, heat, electric, buy clothing for two growing children and basic needs for the home, plus a personal debt, when you don't have enough to pay rent, and heat? And please! Don't tell me to get a job, because I look every day. And believe me I'd rather be working than not. But until one opens I have to take care of my daughters.

What really gets my goat, sir, is that until not so long ago, the burned hotel had been setting there for so long. Why didn't the village buy that property for the new village offices? No one then would be put out of their homes. The lot where the hotel is, would have been plenty big enough for your offices. It's right up town, close to parking areas, and easy to get to.

I may be wrong, but Mr. Satterthwaite, did you and the rest of the board think of using that property instead of our homes? Or is 11 people, three of them children, going to be out of a place to live with no concern to you. Because I'm concerned for the fact. I can't afford to move, and we need a roof over our head! Now! You tell me.

Mr. Carl R. Carpenter, Jr.

"Anger is a wind that blows out the lamp of the mind..."
Igersoll

Anger can sometimes possess one to the point where the mind is blind to reason. At such times, it becomes impossible to step back from the problem at hand, evaluate our position and work out an acceptable solution.

Anger in itself is not the major problem. Anger is a frame of mind to which no one of us is a stranger. It is the degree of irritation that is damaging. When anger strays beyond the bounds of reason, it may leave the mind useless when we need it most.

Cub Scouts Collecting Beverage Cans On Halloween Day

Are you one of those people that have a corner of the garage or basement filled up with refundable beverage cans waiting to be returned to the store? This Saturday may be a good time to get rid of those cans and help the Cub Scouts out at the same time.

Cub Scout Pack 435 of North school is planning a can drive on Halloween from 11 to 1 o'clock. The scouts will be going door-to-door collecting refundable beverage cans from any village resident wishing to participate. The cans will then be turned in and the deposits collected will be used to help fund this year's scout activities.

So this week let the scouts return your cans for you, you'll get the garage cleaned and help the scouts both.

Anyone who wishes the scouts to pick up cans at a time other than the time set for Saturday should call Dave Stoll, 475-9716, or Shauna Mote, 475-3565.

Workshop on Bird Feeders To Be Held

A bird feeder workshop, sponsored by the Waterloo Natural History Association, will be held Sunday, Nov. 1, at 2 p.m. at the Check-in station at Portage Lake campground.

Organizers state, "Maintaining a bird feeder is a great wintertime diversion that lets you see birds up close while giving them a helping hand during a time of hardship."

Workshop participants will learn the favored foods of local birds and make a few feeders and treats to take home. Those attending should dress warmly, as the workshop will be held outside.

Townships Commit To Feasibility Studies

Progress on the proposed Portage Lake sewage system continues to be made. It was announced at the Dexter township meeting held Tuesday, Oct. 20, that both Putnam township and Hamburg township have allocated the necessary $5,000 for feasibility studies.

Both townships have hired McNamara, Seeley, and Porter, the same firm that did Dexter township's study. After the studies are completed, they will be sent to the Department of Natural Resources for a ruling on the allowable capacity.

Residents are hoping, and the engineers involved are predicting, that the area will allow for service for 1,000 home sites. This number will cover the existing residences that need service, but will not leave any room for new homes.

Work on the new sewage system could begin as early as next spring. The feasibility studies should be finished by the end of the year, after which the DNR needs four to six months to review them.

At the same township meeting, a resolution was passed, 3-2, to authorize Supervisor Jim Drolett to hire the secretary of his choice.

Proposed Tax on Michigan Insurance Firms Opposed

House Democrats Thursday approved a 2 percent premium tax on all Michigan insurance companies, according to an area lawmaker who said the move could mean an $80 million tax hike.

State Representative Margaret O'Connor (R-Ann Arbor) voted against the legislation.

"If enacted into law, this bill could result in higher costs for customers of life, auto and homeowner's insurance," O'Connor said. "It also puts a tremendous burden on Michigan-based companies which provide jobs, services and investment dollars in our state."

The action was prompted by a state Court of Appeals ruling earlier this summer which struck down Michigan's system of taxing out-of-state insurance companies. The court found that the state must treat out-of-state and in-state insurers equally instead of discrimination against out-of-state firms.

"The Senate will oppose this plan. Disagreements between the two versions will send the issue to a conference committee where a quick resolution is unlikely."

The new premium tax, first proposed by the Governor, would add $80 million, all from domestic companies, to state revenues in addition to the $170 million that had been raised from foreign firms.

"It's bad public policy to take a court decision and use it as an excuse to impose an additional $80 million in taxes," O'Connor said. "This money will be used to increase over-all state spending."

"With Michigan facing uncertain economic times, the last thing our state needs is legislation that hurts our business climate, raises costs to consumers and increases our spending base. We should cut spending," O'Connor concluded.

Cold Duck was invented in Michigan at the Ponchartrain Wine Cellar.

"I've lived here all my life so I know what people mean when they say Chelsea is a close-knit community. In fact, most of my customers are friends or friends of my family."

"Caring about people is my business. But I'm not the only one who cares...my customers really seem to care about me, too. I like that."

"I also like knowing that I work for the bank that offers the widest range of services in town. It makes me feel good to be able to give my friends the best banking service around. What can I say? I love my job!"

Faith in Action has been notified by ACTION, the agency which places VISTA volunteers, that they have been granted a VISTA Volunteer to work with them.

Karen Ziegler of Chelsea will receive orientation training in Detroit and then will undertake her assignment at Faith in Action. Bulldog Gridders Hang on To Edge Pinckney, 17-14

By BRIAN HAMILTON

Chelsea Bulldogs had to hold on for dear life to defeat the Pinckney Pirates in their final home game of the season last Friday, 17-14.

Junior Morseau's four-yard touchdown, and the extra point, with two minutes to go gave the Bulldogs a 17-14 lead.

The victory appeared to be sealed when Rob Finch broke up a Pinckney pass on fourth down and seven with 1:27 left.

But on the next play, a simple dive, Chelsea fumbled the ball at the Pirate 30-yard line.

After three long incomplete passes, Pinckney quarterback Steve Lynch hit his receiver with a perfect pass near the Chelsea 30. However, the receiver failed to hold that one, too.

"I just about died when we fumbled that ball," said Chelsea assistant coach Wayne Welton.

"We tried to pick the safest play to a guy who's hardly fumbled all year."

For the first time all season, the Bulldogs scored first, taking advantage of a blocked punt by Chris Acree, and a short return by Jude Quilter, who caught the ball in mid-flight. A 27-yard field goal by Morseau gave Chelsea a 3-0 lead with :34 to go in the first quarter.

However, early in the second quarter, an interception at the Chelsea 34 yard-line set up the Pirates' first touchdown. After moving just four yards on three plays, Pinckney scored when Lynch passed to Dave McWhinnie, who was open down the right sideline.

The Pirates' lead didn't last long as Acree took the kick-off and ran 85 yards for Chelsea's first touchdown, making a nice move at the end to elude the final Pinckney tackler near the right corner of the end zone.

"We scored quickly each time they scored and that was important," Welton said.

"I'm just glad Chris didn't have any further to go."

Chelsea's 10-7 lead held until the 5:02 mark of the fourth quarter when Lynch scored a on keeper from eight yards out. The Pinckney drive featured a 26-yard completion on a fourth down and eight play. The extra point gave the Pirates a 14-10 lead.

A 52-yard pass play down the left sidelines from quarterback Larry Nix to David White opened the Bulldogs' next drive, giving Chelsea the ball at the Pirate 8. On third down and four, Morseau ran for the score.

"We played a solid game over-all but offensively we were only average at best," Welton said.

"We held them to 70 yards rushing on 34 carries and that's pretty good defense. The best thing is that we were able to respond offensively when we had to."

Chelsea gave up 154 yards passing on just 6-22 passing by Lynch.

Leading the Chelsea defense were Acree and Randy Ferry, with nine solo tackles each. Dan Pletcher had eight solos and two assists, and Finch had five solos and one assist.

On offense, Morseau at halfback was limited to 30 yards rushing on 11 carries, his lowest total of the year. For the first time all season, Nix was the leading rusher, with 44 yards on eight carries. Jason Overdorf added 21 yards on four rushes.

The long completion to White was the highlight of the passing game. Nix was 3-6 on the night for 69 yards, as he threw his fewest number of passes this season.

Chelsea finished the Southeastern Conference season with a 3-3 record, BULLDOG DAN PLETCHER makes a fine tackle to throw a Pinckney running back for a loss last Friday night. Chelsea takes on Carleton Airport this Friday on the road in the final game of the season.

good for a three-way tie for third with Tecumseh and Saline. Lincoln won the league outright at 5-1 and Dexter was 4-2. Holding the bottom two spots were Milan at 2-4 and Pinckney at 1-5.

"A few weeks ago we started talking about a second season and if we win this week we'll have a 3-1 record in the second season," Welton said.

Chelsea travels to Carleton Airport this Friday for their final game of the season. Airport, in the Huron League, is 4-4 on the season. All Southeastern Conference teams have Huron League opponents this week.

"Airport will be similar to Pinckney in the way they attack us," Welton said.

"They'll have multiple offensive sets and have two or three different looks on defense. They're a pretty talented team."

PINCKNEY'S JIM CHAPIN was held to 38 yards rushing in 17 carries by a solid Chelsea defense last Friday night. Chelsea won the game, 17-14, to end in a three way tie in the SEC.

Varsity Cagers Top Milan on the Road

Solid inside play in the second half gave the Chelsea Bulldog varsity basketball team its fourth Southeastern Conference victory last Thursday, Oct. 22 at Milan.

Chelsea outscored the Big Reds 20-13 in the second half for a 36-29 win.

"Our goal was to get the ball inside and in the first half we didn't really accomplish that goal," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"We took a lot of shots from the outside. However, in the second half Milan got into foul trouble and we were able to get the ball inside."

Allison Brown, Peggy Hammerschmidt and Jenni Smith scored 12 of Chelsea's 20 second-half points and the Bulldogs took just three shots from outside the lane.

"The kids played well, but it wasn't a superb team effort," Rosentreter said.

"Kim Easton played well at point guard and Jenni Smith played well off the bench."

Chelsea's big height advantage translated to a 31-19 rebounding edge, including 12 defensive rebounds. Hammerschmidt had seven, Smith, six, and Brown, five.

The Bulldogs had about an average shooting night, hitting 11-37 shots from the floor and 14-22 from the foul line.

Turnovers and steals were even at 12.

Brown's 15 points led Chelsea as the sophomore made six field goals. Leah Enderle scored seven, Smith and Heather Neibauer had four each, and Easton and Hammerschmidt scored two each.

Chelsea had a 4-3 mark in the SEC

In the Tecumseh meet, Tecumseh's Dan Brackney edged Chelsea's John Cattell at the wire to win the meet by two seconds. Cattell finished second in 16:54.

"John Cattell ran a fine race, just being edged out at the end," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

Tennis Team Ends Their Best Season

Chelsea Bulldog tennis team last week completed its best season since girls tennis started seven years ago.

"We did everything we wanted to do this year and a little more," said Chelsea coach Terri Curtis.

"We knew that we had one of our best teams ever and wanted to improve on last year's record of 11-4 if possible. We were able to come back with seven good seniors after losing three top players and would have equalled that record or bettered it if we hadn't had three rainouts. As it is, we ended our season with a 9-4 record but we did better our season in three other aspects.

"We were able to win Saline's invitational—putting our first trophy into the case, to come in second in the Mason regionals and thus qualify for the state finals, and play in the state finals at Eastern Michigan University, finishing 11th out of 18 teams.

"This completed our best season ever. We will lose seven seniors this year, however, and it could be a while before we have this kind of experience again."

At final tally, in singles play, Angie Miller ended the season with an overall 7-11 record, Jenny Picklik with an 8-10 record, Angel Lawton with a 16-4 record, and Ada Tai with a 14-4 record.

In doubles play, Kelly Stump and Arlene Tai ended the season with a 12-5 over-all record, Minta Van Reesema and Alison Thornton with a 12-5 record, and Laura Comeau and Jennifer Robinson with a 4-12 record.

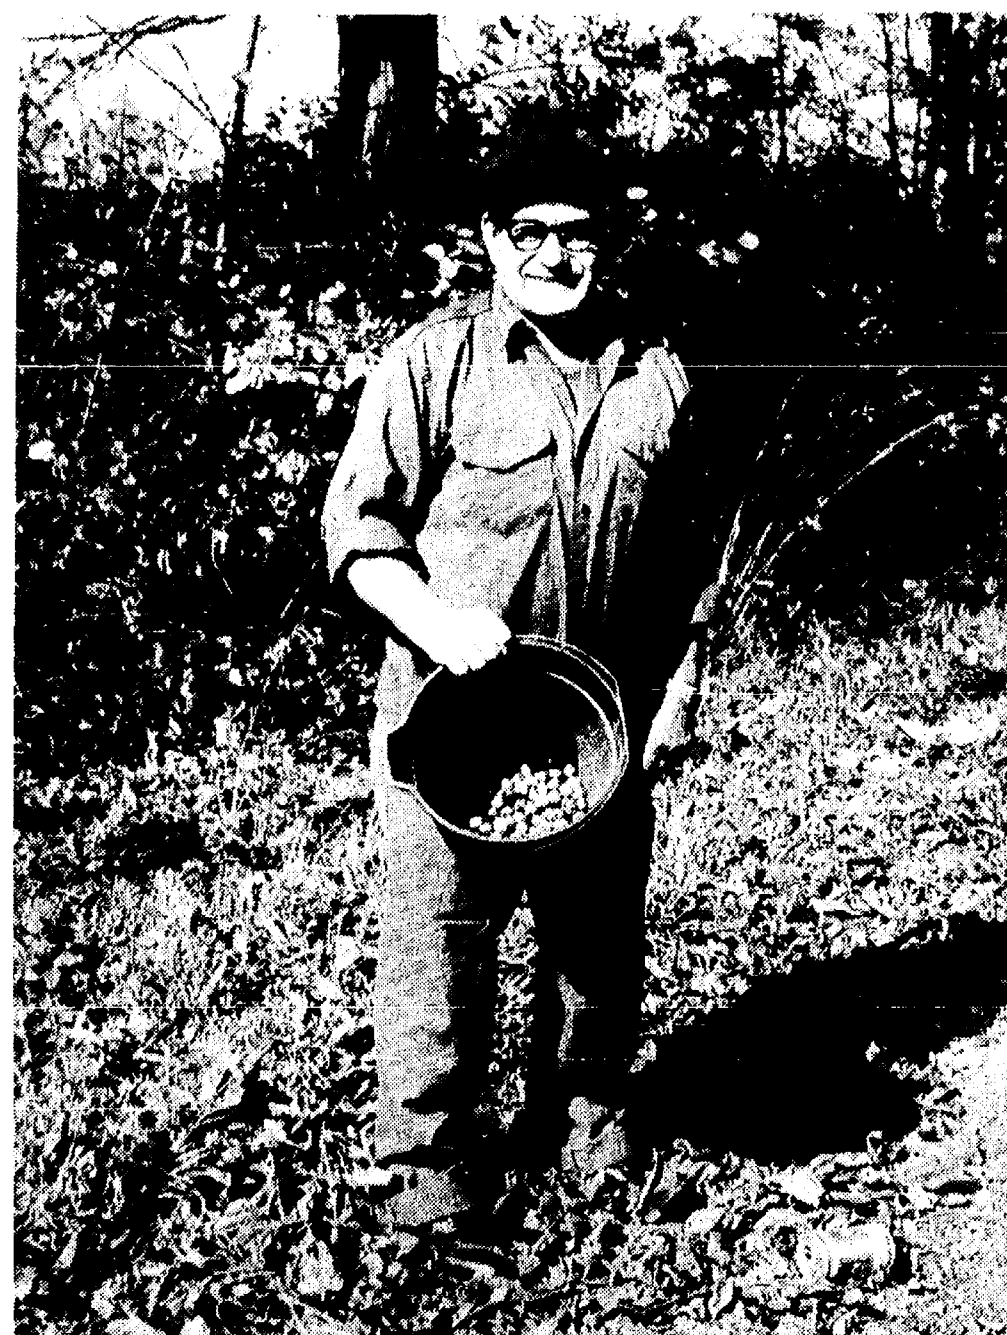

Lissa Hamrick and Leslie Manning played junior varsity positions and filled in for absent varsity players this year. It was their first year of tennis.

Ruth Dils assisted with the team. The tennis awards dinner will be held early in November, honoring the team and their parents.

SKEETS WORDEN OF CHELSEA was one of many hickory nut collectors in the area last week-end. Skeets successfully explored the outskirts of the Dexter-Chelsea Rd. corridor with bucket in hand. "I'll let the nuts dry about three weeks before we crack any," he explained. Hickory nut cake will be only one of the delicacies he anticipates during the holidays, after the work of collecting the nuts.

Junior Varsity Gridders Lose to Pinckney

Chelsea junior varsity football team lost 21-0 to Pinckney last Thursday, Oct. 22. Summing up the game, assistant coach Wayne Welton said, "The defense played very well considering it was a cold rainy night. The kids playing offense moved within 30 yards but couldn't get in the end zone."

Of special note, according to Welton, was quarterback Mark Chasteen who filled in for the injured Kyle Plank. Chasteen completed five passes and ran 53 yards. Also playing well were defensive tackle Lucky Beeman who made 13 tackles, defensive end Tim VanScholsck who made 10 tackles, and outside line backer Chad Raymond who intercepted a pass and made six tackles.

The last junior varsity game of the season will be a home game played this Thursday against Carlton Airport. Kick-off time is 7 p.m.

JV Cagers Whip Milan

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity basketball team pulled away from the Milan Big Reds in the fourth quarter to win their sixth Southeastern Conference game, 34-21, at Milan last Thursday, Oct. 22.

The Bulldogs led by no more than five points until the middle of the third quarter.

Chelsea led at half-time, 12-11. However, the Bulldogs were only 2-9 at the line in the first half and 4-12 in the game.

"If we had converted some of those free throws the game might not have been so tight," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

Chelsea pulled down nearly twice as many rebounds as the Big Reds, 46-24. However, the Dogs also missed 50 shots and finished the night 15-65 from the floor.

Colleen Scharphorn, with 10 points, led Chelsea scorers. Rounding out the scoring were Scharme Petty, eight, Mercedes Hammer, six, Tiffany Moore, five, Kate Dilworth and Carrie Flintoft, two, and Kristin Bohlender, one.

Scharphorn also led the Bulldogs with 10 rebounds. Moore pulled down 10, Petty, nine, and Hammer, eight.

After last week's play, Chelsea was tied for the lead in the SEC with a 5-1 record. They're 9-4 over-all.

Social Security Numbers Required for Children

If you have not already filed for a Social Security number for your children, do it now.

Remember, the Tax Reform Act of 1986 requires taxpayers to show a Taxpayers Identification Number (their Social Security Number) for any dependent age 5 or over listed on tax returns filed after Dec. 31, 1987. Based on this legislation, an estimated nine million people will need to apply for their own Social Security number on or before April 15, 1988.

In addition, a substantial number of persons will request replacement cards for dependents who have lost their cards. This provision of the Tax Reform Act is expected to double Social Security's enumeration workload over the next 15 months.

The Ann Arbor Social Security office encourages individuals needing numbers for younger dependents to apply early. Parents filing on behalf of a child will need to present a certified copy of the child's birth certificate as well as additional proof of identity of the child such as a library card, school I.D., report card, vaccination record or other evidence of identity. In addition, parents will be required to produce evidence of their own identity such as a driver's license.

The Social Security Administration is concerned that a substantial number of parents are not applying for Social Security numbers early. At the present time it takes about three weeks to have a number issued. The wait nearer the tax filing deadline may be much longer for those who delay.

To make it more convenient for you, The Dexter Leader is printing a form you can detach and mail to Social Security to request the application forms for Social Security numbers for your children.

Please complete the information below and mail this form to:

Upon receipt of this form Social Security will mail the application for a Social Security number, and instructions for completion along with evidence required.

Excerpt from Essay By Chelsea Student Included in Booklet

An excerpt from an essay written by Chelsea High school freshman Kate Dilworth has been included in a booklet that is being distributed throughout the state this month to mark the opening of the 19th annual America & Me Essay Contest sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

The booklet, entitled "America & Me: Reflections on America," features excerpts from some of the best entries submitted in last year's contest, in which more than 10,000 eighth graders from 550 Michigan schools took part.

"More important than what I can do individually is what I can do when united with others," Dilworth wrote.

"The more people there are who are concerned about our country, the more strength we as a nation have. Everyone needs to be concerned about our nation and our world. America has no future if everyone leaves it up to someone else."

Students from more than 500 junior high and middle schools across Michigan will begin writing essays this month for entry into the current competition. The contest is open to any eighth grade student in Michigan.

The topic for this year's contest is "What the Future of America Holds for Me." Prizes will include award certificates and plaques for hundreds of local winners and their schools. The top 10 winners in the state will be announced in April, and they will receive savings bonds ranging in value from $500 to $1,000.

The top 10 state-wide winners will also be honored at the state capitol next spring. Finalist judges in the contest include Gov. James Blanchard and Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths.

Copies of the booklet are available free of charge by writing to Contest Booklet, Communications Department, Farm Bureau Insurance Group, P.O. Box 30400, Lansing 48909.

Ethanol Blend Fuel Good for Farmers

A special U.S. Department of Agriculture study commission report on ethanol is expected soon that will suggest that requiring some ethanol blend in fuel will be "good for farmers, good for industry, and good for clean air," according to Michigan Farm Bureau's senior legislative counsel, Robert E. Smith.

Smith said that if legislation presently in Congress should pass, it would, in time, increase the market for corn for alcohol from the present 400 million bushels to nearly 2 billion bushels.

CONNIE BOLLINGER of Chelsea, a student at Hillsdale College and a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, was one of two students nationally to be a runner-up for the Kuchenmeister Grant given by Alpha Xi Delta national headquarters. One grant is awarded from among more than 200 nominees. Criteria for the grant include service and loyalty to one's local chapter and college, and a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or above. Connie has been president of her local chapter, a member of the College Academic Honesty Board, a delegate to the Alpha Xi National Convention, and a Marshal at Alpha Xi Province Convention. She's president of the Panhellenic Council and president of Lamplighters, an honorary for eight outstanding senior women. Connie has a double major in history and sociology/social work. Connie was also recently chosen to represent her sorority as a member of the 1987 Homecoming Court. During half-time, Connie was escorted onto the field by her cousin, Richard Bollinger, for the crowning of the queen. She's the daughter of Jean Bollinger and the late Oscar Bollinger.

United Way Fund Reaches 39% of Goal

Chelsea's 1987 United Way Campaign is continuing, and as of Oct. 21, $28,850 has been collected. "If the community continues to respond generously, we will be successful in meeting our goal of $73,000," said Barbara Rose, 1987 campaign chair.

As part of a continuing series during the 1987 campaign, various agencies receiving Chelsea United Way funds will be featured each week. This week includes Faith in Action and Home Meals Services.

Faith in Action, Inc.

Now into its fifth year, Faith in Action, Inc., a non-profit community organization and a Chelsea United Way Agency, is deeply committed to the idea of returning the support given by the community back to the community by providing help to those among us who are in need.

Starting with two volunteers, Faith in Action has grown in both the number of services offered and people involved. All of this has been made possible because of excellent support of all parts of the community, both financially and in terms of volunteers.

Residents of Chelsea and surrounding areas have been able to receive food, clothing, financial assistance, transportation, information and referral, advocacy, free health clinic and family support. Group and individual programs include Parent to Parent, Parents Anonymous, Teen-Parent and Youth Seniors.

Among the most immediate of the future programs is a co-operative effort with the Chelsea Post Office which will help seniors alert others as to a need for assistance.

As Faith in Action has developed over these last five years it has constantly sought ways to serve and shall continue to do so in the years ahead.

Faith in Action house is located on the Chelsea Community Hospital Campus directly across from the Outpatient Surgery Center. It is open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Home Meals Service of Chelsea

Home Meals Service of Chelsea has been serving area residents for 15 years. The program is designed to deliver to the elderly or disabled a hot noon meal everyday of the year. Over the years many home-bound persons have had their days brightened by the friendly face of the volunteer driver who brought them a nutritious hot meal. Many people have been able to remain in their homes because this program was available to them.

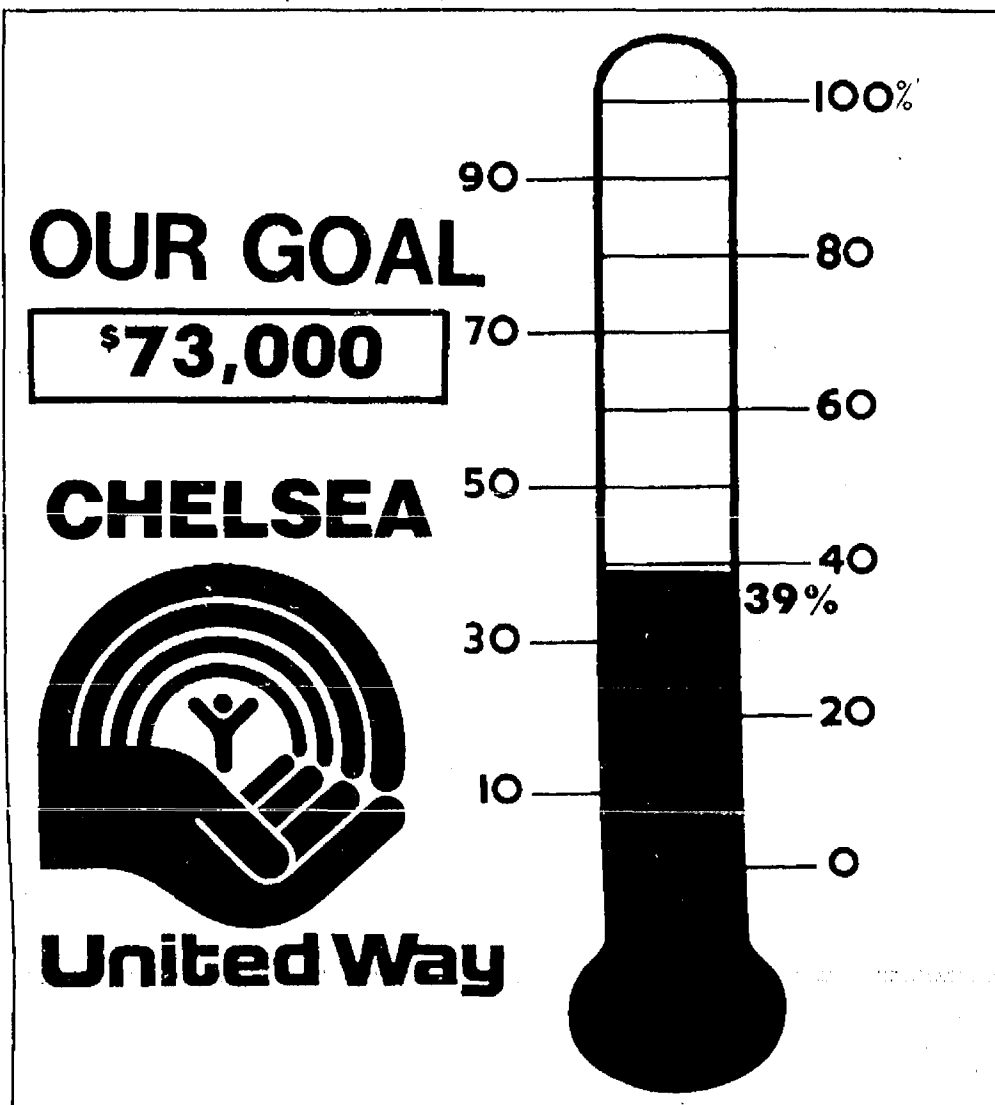

In recent years Home Meals has been functioning without the benefit of a sponsor organization. Persons administering the program felt this placed Home Meals in a vulnerable position. They appealed to Faith in Action to sponsor the program and on Sept. 9, the Faith in Action Board of Directors voted to accept the invitation. Chelsea area residents can now be assured that this valuable service will continue.

As of Oct. 1, Mary Erskine, who serves as the C.A.T.S. scheduler and sometime driver, has been hired for a very reasonable stipend to act as Home Meals co-ordinator. When she was first considered, Frank Bobo from the C.A.T.S. Board, could not say enough about her caring attitude toward the needs of the Seniors.

Home Meals has been a member agency of Chelsea United Way since 1977. This affiliation is most essential to the survival of the program. The funds from United Way are used to help purchase meals for those unable to pay the $2.25 per meal. Funds from the United Way also cover the cost of the insulated carriers used to store the hot meals during delivery. Other operating expenses are kept to a minimum but must be funded from the United Way annual grant.

Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce Board Minutes

Sept. 15 Meeting
Present: Nilan, Newman, McCalla, Whitaker, Ford, Nuffer, Chriswell, Frisinger, Rogers, Feeney, Tuttle.
Absent: Biedron, Ernst, Kiel.

Secretary's Report: Motion by Nuffer, support by Rogers, to accept the minutes of the Aug. 11 meeting, adding Rogers' name to those present. Motion carried.

Treasurer's Report: An informal report by treasurer Chriswell. There were outstanding bills from Concerts and Outing. Current balance is $9,632.80. Motion by McCalla, support by Frisinger to accept treasurer's report. Motion carried. It will be necessary to set up an equipment budget in order to plan for office equipment. It was suggested by Newman that a computer would be most useful. Feeney was directed to shop for a computer.

Community Project Director's Report: President Nilan presented Janet Tuttle with a flower arrangement and engraved desk set in appreciation for her devoted service. Nilan introduced Ann Feeney, new director of the board. Ann's office hours will be Monday and Thursday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Newsletter Committee: Chairman Nuffer will meet with members Nilan and Feeney on Sept. 17 to plan third quarter newsletter.

Education Committee: Chairperson Rogers reported that the Negotiation Seminar of 9/16 has only five people signed up through the Chamber, although there will be 12 from the CCH. Need to examine ways of promoting these meetings.

Business After Hours: Oct. 2 is next one. It was determined that an ad in The Standard on Sept. 30 would help promote the meeting. Feeney assigned to place ad. Motion by Newman, support by Rogers to sell posters at the Business After Hours. Motion carried.

D.D.A.: Paul Frisinger reported that the Village Council set Oct. 6 as meeting where T.I.F.A. will be on the agenda for final approval. Oct. 20 will be the public hearing. It was made clear that throughout the life of the DDA, all expenditures will be cleared through the Village Council.

Agricultural Committee: Chairman Whitaker mentioned that the Chamber should get some recognition of its large gift to the Fair.

Membership Committee: Dick McCalla wants to have the matter of reduced membership fees for new businesses discussed.

Golf Outing: Dan Murphy will give complete report Oct. 13.

Concert in the Park: H. K. Leonard will be invited to the Oct. 13 meeting for a formal report.

The Sept. 13 Concert went well; 300-400 people attended; magicians Boyer and Fitzsimmons performed during intermission without a fee; High school Key Club and St. Mary's Altar Society sold light refreshments; suggestion that perhaps a larger group might agree to sell refreshments next year.

Community Fair: The C.A.C.C. booth won a $50 second place for a merchant's display.

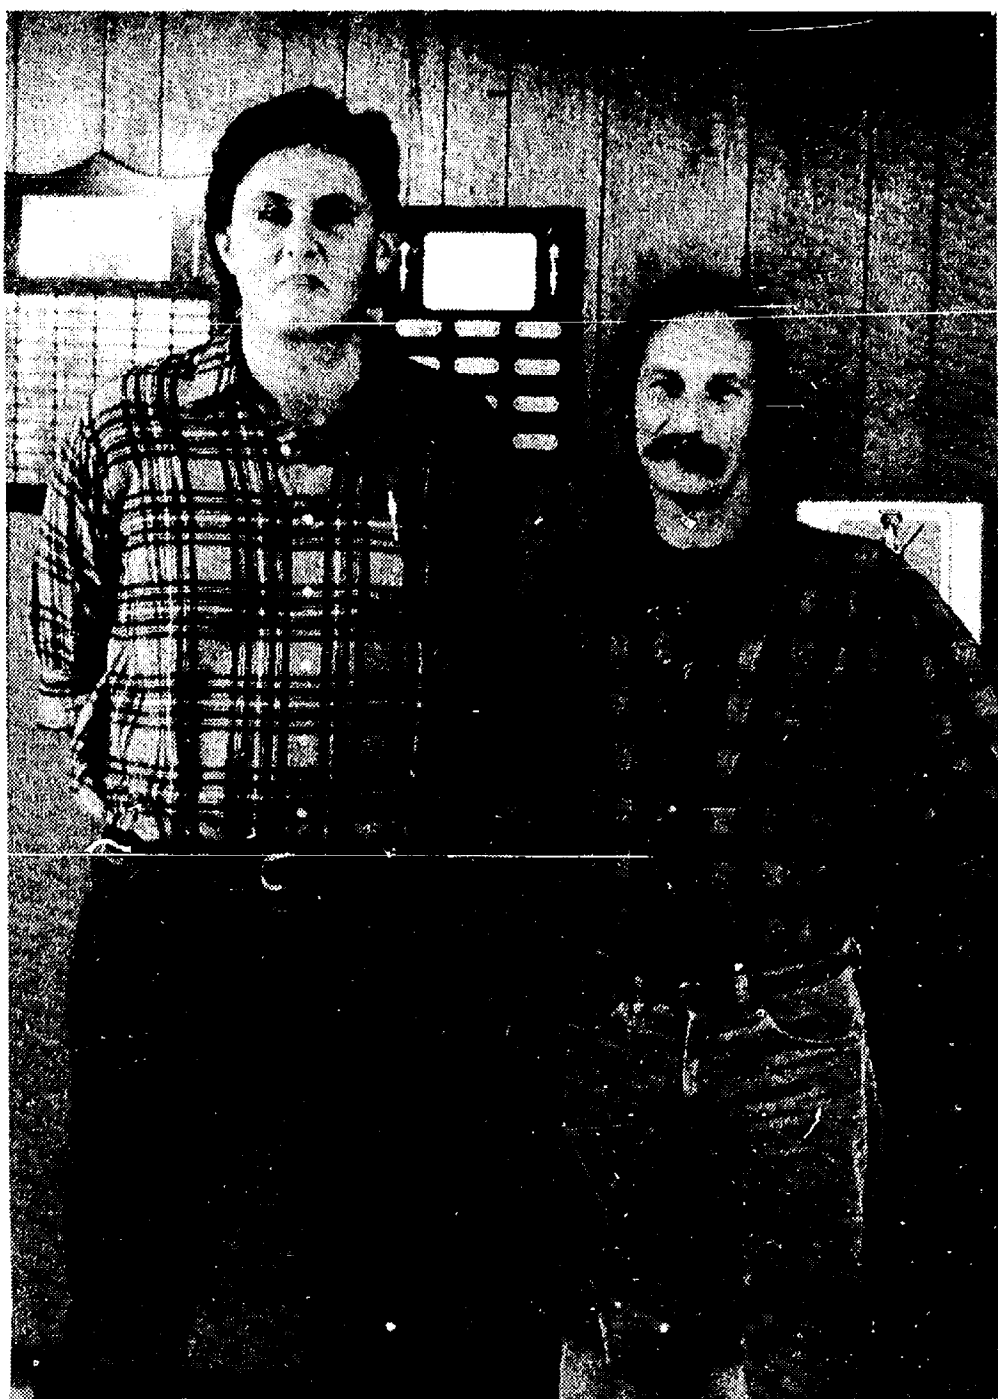

Community Affairs: Chairman Chriswell mentioned several commercial projects that the Village has approved; reviewed parking survey suggestions that will go to the Council; noted that Downtown Merchants Assoc. only meets informally around planning specific events.

Nominating Committee: Chairman Nuffer will prepare list of officer nominees and board members.

Depot Committee: Letter read from Lee Fahrner of the Depot Association giving a tentative okay for the C.A.C.C. to locate at the Depot when the interior renovation is complete. Meeting adjourned 1:15 p.m.

DEER HUNTERS MET Thursday night at Chelsea Rod & Gun Club for their 37th annual gathering of The Loyal Order of Confirmed Deer Hunters and Deer Slayers of America Amalgamated. The "meeting" was presided over by current officers, Mel Leach, president (center), Rolly Spaulding, treasurer (right), and Rick Monier, secretary.

TLODH & DSOAA members, about 50 of them, met Thursday night to exchange wild stories of their deer hunting exploits last year and elect officers for the new year. Along with the stories, true and sometimes exaggerated, lots of beer, and card games they manage to elect Jeff Schmidt, left, to serve as president, and Mike McClear, secretary-treasurer.

Influenza Vaccine Clinics Scheduled

Remember the fever, sore throat and cough you had last winter? It could have been caused by an influenza virus.

Washtenaw County Health Department is offering an influenza vaccine to provide immunity against the types of flu that have been circulating in the past year and are thought to be most likely to occur in the United States this winter.

Immunizations will be offered to persons over 18 years old, with special emphasis on reaching healthy adults over 65 years old. The vaccine is also recommended for those at high and moderate risk of influenza-related complications. This would include adults with diabetes, kidney disease, anemia, immunosuppression or chronic disorders of the heart and lungs. Persons currently under regular medical care are encouraged to check with their physician regarding influenza immunization.

Influenza vaccine contains only non-infectious virus; therefore, the vaccine itself cannot cause influenza. The most frequent side effect seen is soreness at the injection site for one or two days.

Immunization clinics will be held at the following locations:

Wednesday, Oct. 21—1-4 p.m., Turner Clinic, 110 Wall St., Ann Arbor.

Thursday, Oct. 22—9-11 a.m., Milan Senior Center, 50 Nicole Ct., Milan.

World Community Day Set at St. Mary's Hall

On Friday, Nov. 6, Chelsea Church Women United will celebrate World Community Day at St. Mary's School Hall, 400 Congdon St. Chelsea, beginning at 10 a.m.

World Community Day 1987 provides an opportunity for Christian women of faith to open their eyes and sensitivities to persons who come as strangers to their communities. It issues the challenge to become "human bridges" for brothers and sisters in our midst who seek safety and sanctuary from persecution in their own countries.

The theme of this year's service "Sojourners for Justice" was written by an ecumenical group of women and men who live and work in the South Texas border area of the United States. They are United Methodist, Roman Catholic and Lutheran (LCA).

HVA Moves Dispatch to Service Area

Huron Valley Ambulance has moved its dispatch center to the Washtenaw County Service Center in order to improve emergency communications. The move puts HVA dispatchers next to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Communications Center on Hogback Rd. Dispatchers have been housed at HVA's headquarters at 2200 S. Industrial Highway since the service was organized in 1981.

"We expect that this move will help us provide better emergency service to Washtenaw county and western Wayne county," said Dale J. Berry, HVA executive director. "The relocation illustrates the high level of cooperation between a public agency—the County of Washtenaw—and our community-owned, non-profit ambulance service."

"We promote the concept of having emergency communications services under one roof, in order to improve service to victims of medical emergencies," said Berry. "Having HVA working side-by-side with personnel at the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department will enhance our ability to respond to major county-wide disasters, such as a tornado, fire or airplane crash," said Ron Schebil, Washtenaw County sheriff.

Callers who need an ambulance in an emergency will still dial the same telephone numbers as before the move: 9-1-1 within the city limits of Ann Arbor or Saline; 994-4111, anywhere else in Washtenaw county; and 697-7900, in western Wayne county.

The dispatch center's move preceeds HVA's relocation to a new headquarters, to be built on the southwest corner of the County Service Center and occupied in mid-1988. The new headquarters will be almost exactly in the center of HVA's service area population and closer to major highways.

Other features of the new location include: better security, emergency electricity and water supply in case of weather emergencies.

both lay and ordained, who share a ministry to refugees as a part of their daily experience. They have drawn their inspiration for this service from the reality and stories of the many "sojourners for justice" they have met.

Providing safe haven and hospitality for those in danger is such an integral part of religious tradition that it takes its name from the most sacred part of the church—the sanctuary. Sanctuary is an expression of compassion, but it is also a symbol of resistance against injustice and a sign of hope.

The tradition of sanctuary in the U.S. was lived out in the "underground railroad" which provided refuge and protection for fugitive slaves. Today some churches provide sanctuary for those whose only crime is that they are fleeing terrorism, repression and the blood vengeance of political powers. For people of faith these refugees are not aliens but our brothers and sisters.

Special guest speaker will be Sister Donna Kustusch, O.P., assistant professor of religious studies at Siena Heights College in Adrian with a doctorate in theological education. Sister Donna was in Nicaragua this past summer and has worked with migrant workers in Arizona and New Mexico. Her talk will be, "First World and Third World Women in Faith." Chelsea and Dexter area women are invited to join the group Friday, Nov. 6 at 10 a.m. for this important program and to the pot-luck lunch immediately following the program.

Nature Walks Scheduled at Botanical Gardens

University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens will offer free year-round nature walks on the first Sunday of each month. The first walk, scheduled for Nov. 1 at 2 p.m., will be "Winter Nature Survival." Trained Guides will meet with visitors on the front steps of the Garden's Conservatory.

This is a good opportunity for families and nature enthusiasts to learn more about the plant, insect and animal world around them while enjoying the beautiful setting of the Botanical Gardens.

Matthaei Botanical Gardens is located at 1800 N. Dixboro Rd., one mile south of the Plymouth-Dixboro Rd. intersection.

COUNT DRACULA (Chuck Armstrong) and Elvira (Diane Daniel) will welcome visitors at the Lioness Club's Haunted House this year. The Haunted House will be set up in UAW Local 437 Hall at 218 S. Main St., Friday and Saturday.

Haunted House Set Up By Lioness Club

Monsters, mummies, ghouls and witches will welcome you to their haunted house once again. They so enjoyed your company last year that they have decided to open wide their doors and share with you their dark, dismal, creature infested abode.

The Haunted House attracted hundreds of people last year and members of the Chelsea Lioness Club have been busy preparing for this year's event.

The Haunted House, geared for school-age children and adults, combines traditional Halloween characters with theatrics to create a unique experience. This year the Fun House will not be available for preschoolers.

The Haunted House will be set up at the UAW Hall on Main St., next to the Post Office. The doors will be open between 7 and 10 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 30 and Saturday, Oct. 31. The children's parade will begin and end at the Municipal Parking Lot and the Haunted House is just one block away.

Tickets may be purchased at the door. As always, the Lioness Club will contribute all proceeds to local and state charitable activities.

Council Raises Landfill Rates

Most landfill rates were raised 50 cents by village council at their regular meeting Tuesday, Oct. 20.

The increase, effective Monday, Nov. 2, will be used to participate in a Washtenaw county solid waste program that includes several studies and composting and recycling programs.

There are 18 different rate classifications, depending on what kind of vehicle is used to haul trash to the landfill and what kind of trash is actually hauled there.

Some rates were raised more substantially. The charge for junk cars and farm equipment was raised from $50 to $75. Demolition was raised to $6.50 per yard (from $4 for residents and $6 for non-residents) for both residents and non-residents.

Hospital Will X-ray Candy on Halloween

Chelsea Community Hospital will offer free x-ray screening of Halloween candy to all area children. On Saturday, Oct. 31, from 5 to 9 p.m. parents may bring children to the Diagnostic Imaging Department located near the Emergency Room entrance, to have Halloween candy x-rayed.

This community service is being offered to insure hospital service area families that the candy and treats collected on Halloween are safe. The hospital has offered this service in the past and many area families have taken advantage of it.

For more information about this service, contact the Diagnostic Imaging Department, 475-3970.

Trash Collection Rates Increased

Village trash collection rates have been raised 25 percent, effective Monday, Nov. 2.

Beginning in November the household charge will be $5 per month, up from $4.

Village council raised the rates at their Tuesday, Oct. 20 meeting in light of a huge jump in the cost of the village's trash hauling contract.

The new 1987-88 contract, tentatively with Schneider Sanitation of Dexter, is for $123,700 for two years. The previous contract was for $37,400 per year with Len's Rubbish.

Schneider Sanitation's bid was accepted by council on the contingency that the company could prove by Oct. 28 that it had adequate liability insurance. If they cannot provide documentation then Bob's Hauling will be awarded the contract at $142,840.

Council also voted not to continue to subsidize the landfill at the rate of $1 per month per household. That money will be used to pay for garbage service.

Kiwanis Halloween Party Is Saturday

Parents won't have to worry about rushing home in time for Halloween festivities this year as the annual party sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea takes place on Saturday, Oct. 31.

Young children will be able to go trick or treating in the village from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Parents are urged to inspect all candy before allowing children to eat it.

The Kiwanis Club party begins promptly at 6 in the Municipal Parking Lot with a judging of costumes.

Judging will be held in six age categories, 3-and-under, 4-5, 6-7, 8-9, 10-11 and 12-and-over.

There will be two divisions in each age group, "best-looking costume," and "most original costume."

Unlike past years, the top three placers in each category will receive big ribbons in recognition of their efforts. Money prizes will not be given, as previously reported.

"The cash prizes were felt to limit the number of kids that could be recognized," said party organizer Blake Thompson.

Children who win prizes are urged to stay to have their photographs taken for The Standard at the conclusion of the judging.

Each child will receive a participatory ribbon. The judges will also award some honorable-mention ribbons.

Following the judging, at 6:30, will be the annual Halloween Parade around the block surrounding the parking lot. The parade will be led by Jim Gaken in his antique fire truck and the Beach Middle school marching band under the direction of Warren Mayer.

Four "celebrity" judges have offered their services this year—Lisa and Theresa Broderick of Gemini Family Hair and Ann Currie and Mary Currie-Williams of The Country Rose.

Kiwanis Club's cider and donut party will begin in the parking lot after the parade.

Bill Rademacher will once again serve as the master of ceremonies.

After the party, children may want to attend the Lioness Club's Haunted House at the UAW Local 437 Hall on S. Main St. next to the post office. It will be open from 7 to 10.

Area Seniors Discuss Provisions of Proposed Health Care Legislation

The programs on catastrophic health care legislation for seniors held Monday, Oct. 19, at the Chelsea senior center in the morning and the Dexter senior center in the afternoon, were both well attended.

Chelsea senior nutrition program director Arlene Larson said that every seat was taken at their presentation, while Mary Bouillon, Dexter senior nutrition program director, described the Dexter turn-out as "quite good."

Speaker at both meetings was Peggy Hinchey of the Senior Citizens Guild in Ann Arbor. Hinchey explained the provisions of the Catastrophic Health Care bill which has passed in the House of Representatives and is now being considered by the Senate. She answered questions and then distributed a questionnaire, the results of which she is passing on to area legislators.

Bouillon said that seniors in her program found the presentation interesting and asked lots of questions.

Larson said the general consensus of the Chelsea seniors was that they did not want the bill passed in its present form. She said the basic problem is that the title gives the impression that it would cover nursing home and other custodial care, when in fact it does not. Another problem is that it will be paid for entirely by seniors, not by the general taxpayers. Many thought under these conditions, it would be better to pay for private supplemental health care.

Larson said that although the seniors were opposed to this specific bill, many are willing for some sort of legislation to be passed and to be taxed accordingly.

When asked her personal opinion, Larson replied, "I hate to say I'm totally against it. It may be it could be reformed to serve senior's needs better."

The Chelsea seniors agreed to write letters to their representatives. They also reacted favorably to a suggestion of Treva Winans, director of the Chelsea senior program, that a senior's political action group be formed, maybe in conjunction with Dexter.

Attending the Chelsea meeting was Connie Giarmo of Congressman Carl Pursell's office. Giarmo was the Pursell aid responsible for researching the bill. Giarmo explained that she was there to gather feedback on the group's concerns and to answer questions on the reasons for Pursell's "no" vote on the bill.

ABRASIVE FINISHING, INC., 11775 Dexter-Chelsea Rd., is replacing their 17,000 square foot building that was destroyed by a fire May 21. A 4,000 square foot building, which was also destroyed in the fire, will be replaced at a later date. The new building will be of steel, like the first, but will be newer and more modern. When completed at the end of the year, it will be used for offices and a manufacturing area. The company is now using a trailer for an office and warehouse area for manufacturing. President of the company, Bill Ackley, says even under these conditions, the company is working at capacity, but is not as efficient as it could be. Abrasive Finishing Inc. manufactures ceramic abrasives for mass finishing operations and employs 35 people.

Salt Dome Planned for Proving Grounds

Chrysler Proving Grounds has been given approval by Sylvan township to build a salt storage dome on its property.

When completed, the dome will hold 2,500 tons of salt and will not be visible from the road, according to Facilities Supervisor John Schick.

"We have a much smaller facility now and have enough salt on hand for about one average snowfall," Schick said.

"We had to depend on truck deliveries between snowfalls and have been caught short on a couple of occasions. The dome will hold a normal annual supply of salt."

Chrysler has many miles of roads on its property as well as test tracks.

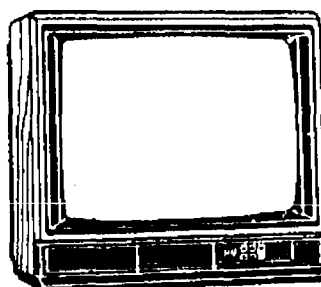

The dome will be constructed of treated wood on an asphalt floor and will be completely covered, Schick said. There will also be a four foot high retaining wall.

Schick said he hopes the dome will be constructed in time for the area's first snowfall.
