LEWIS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP is being made available to Chelsea High School Kiwanis Key Club members. The scholarship will provide a minimum of $1,500 per scholarship winner. At left is Sam Vogel, former Chelsea High school teacher who is the Key Club advisor and chairman of the high school's scholarship committee. Present for the announcement were, from left, club officers Anna Muncer, Jennifer Schwiager and Kristina Steffenson. At right is Edward Lewis, father of Steven Edward Lewis for whom the scholarship is named.

Key Club Members Eligible for S. Lewis Memorial Scholarship

Chelsea High School's Kiwanis Key Club members now have available an annual four-year tuition scholarship amounting to a minimum total of $1,500 per scholarship winner, to be paid in four $375 awards, for the first term of each of the four years of undergraduate college or university studies.

The Steven Edward Lewis Memorial Scholarship is perpetual, as it is financed by the interest from funds donated in memory of their son, Steven, by Ed and Jean Lewis.

Managing and investing the scholarship fund principal is the responsibility of the Chelsea school administration, while the awards are granted under the direction of Sam Vogel, former Chelsea High school teacher who is currently both the Kiwanis Key Club advisor and the chairman of the High School's Scholarship Committee—both of those are non-paying volunteer jobs.

The initiation, management, and organization to ensure the continuity of the Steve Lewis Scholarship owe much to the encouragement and co-operation of Sam Vogel, Charles C. Cameron, Ray Van Meer, Fred Mills, Warren Atkinson, Richard McCalla, and numerous others.

In addition to this scholarship available to Chelsea Kiwanis Club Key Club members, the same fund provides a $500 scholarship administered and awarded annually by the Ann Arbor Graphic Arts Memorial Foundation.

Subject areas for which the scholarship winners will be chosen are science including nursing, engineering, mathematics, public health, public safety, music, vocational training, and certain specified foreign languages. Subjects were chosen in an attempt to provide financial help in areas where future shortages of professional people are anticipated.

The Key Club is sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club, of which Warren Atkinson is currently president.

Palmer Ford Has Low Bid

Palmer Ford-Mercury was the low bidder to supply the village landfill with a half-ton pick-up truck.

Palmer's bid of $9,998.79 was lower than bids submitted by Faist-Morrow Buick-Olds-Chevrolet ($10,337), and Village Motors ($10,201.80).

Village council voted Nov. 17 to accept the bid if the truck meets the village's specifications.

Farnsworth Rd. Well Looking for Gas

The well on Farnsworth Rd. in Lyndon township that was featured on the front page of The Standard last week is most likely a natural gas well, according to a Chelsea man who consults for the oil and gas industries.

N. Main St. resident Steve Daut, a consulting geophysicist, said the well is named Schoonover 1-6, after landowner Terry Schoonover. He said the Sullivan Company of Oklahoma has a permit to drill down to a sandy geological formation known as Prairie Du-Chien, about 5,700 feet deep.

"This formation is thought to be a very prolific gas supply," Daut said.

"Michigan has a very good gas market and the company can sell every bit of gas it produces, which will allow it to make its investment back quicker. The Prairie Du-Chien doesn't look like it will be a big oil producer."

Daut said there has been a lot of drilling activity into the Prairie Du-Chien in the northern and central portions of the state.

"This well is considerably farther south, which makes it unusual," Daut said.

Daut said his information about the well came from oil and gas industry publications.

Daut is a consultant for a number of companies, including Northern Michigan Exploration and Michigan Oil Co., both in Jackson. He and his wife, Becky, a nurse at Chelsea Community Hospital, recently moved here from Jackson.

FEDERAL SCREW WORKS, company and employees, contributed $5,835 to the Chelsea United Way campaign this fall. The company goal was $4,000. Accepting the money on behalf of the United Way are, from left, Honorary Co-Chairmen Sandy and Walt Zeeb, and Barbara Rose, chairman. Presenting the money are Dennis Patton, personnel manager, and Bob Brown, union chairman.

DDA Needs New Hearing After Bond Counsel Says Financial Plan Flawed

By Brian Hamilton

Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority has been forced to revise its financial plan for downtown improvements and will hold a public hearing on the new plan on Dec. 15.

Village attorney Peter Flintoft told the village council last Tuesday, Nov. 17 that the DDA's original plan contained several legal flaws pertaining to how various projects would be financed. In addition, he said, some notification procedures were not followed correctly. Flintoft said his information came from the village's bond counsel, Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone, whom he consulted with in October and November.

After the original public hearing on the DDA financial plan in October, Flintoft was requested to draft a formal resolution for adoption by the village council. The DDA told the council that it was committed to tax increment financing as the primary vehicle for fund-raising. That method would let it collect the increase in tax money that comes from the rise in value of property within the downtown development district at the expense of the school district, Washtenaw county and Sylvan township. The money would be used to pay off bonds that would be sold to finance the projects.

Flintoft was also requested to draw up an agreement with the Chelsea School District limiting the amount of money it would lose from tax increment financing.

"(Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone's) comments all come down to a question of where the money will come from," Flintoft told the council.

"In the plan itself, some of the funding was to be done by special assessment and all of them would be done under a bond. You can't specially assess part of the district to pay for part of the cost of the bond of a project which is supposed to benefit the whole district."

"The second thing is they felt there were a number of items that could not be bonded for. Finally, they looked at the amount of the revenue that would be coming in from the tax increment financing, the increment year by year was not as large a figure as had been thought."

Flintoft also said the bond counsel thought it was a bad idea to include both personal and real property in the tax increment financing scheme. In an economic downturn there could be substantially less personal property in the district if a factory was forced to move its operation, which would mean there might be a decline in the over-all value of property. He said the question was where the additional money would come from to pay off the bonds.

"I think it's safe to say the plan overshoot," Flintoft said.

Flintoft said the amended plan will have to find alternate sources of funding for about $100,000 worth of projects that cannot legally be funded by tax increment financing.

He also said that construction of a new village office building cannot be included in the plan because it is unconstitutional to include it.

DDA also apparently erred by not formally notifying the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners of the tax increment financing plan, Flintoft said. In addition, the DDA was required by law to post notices of the plan in 20 places in addition to its legal advertisement in The Standard.

Finally, Flintoft said, the DDA erred in its legal notice by referring to a tax increment financing district rather than a tax increment financing plan.

A new DDA plan was scheduled to be considered and approved by the DDA yesterday.

However, as of press time, even DDA chairman Ron Biedron was not sure exactly how the plan might be changed.

Biedron said that something other than tax increment financing might be used as the major fund-raising mechanism since tax increment financing would not raise as much money as previously thought.

"In order to sell bonds, we need some other way to finance them because they're saying tax increment financing money won't be that great over the first seven years," Biedron said.

Village president Jerry Satterthwaite told the council and the DDA members present at the council meeting that he plans to stay out of the next public hearing as far as trying to explain the DDA plan.

"I felt about as exasperated as I've ever felt since I've been village president," Satterthwaite said of the first public hearing.

"The DDA is a lot closer to it, and I'm going to turn it over to them."

Likely Growth Causing New Concerns for Village

Village of Chelsea has applied for a $225,000 matching state grant to improve the water and sewer systems in the southern part of the village.

The money would come from the Michigan Community Development Block Grant Program, according to assistant village manager Lee Fahrner. It would be used to extend the sewer trunk line, as well as extend a water line down Old Manchester Rd. to boost water supply and pressure.

Dealing with the water and sewer lines south of Old US-12 is just one of several problems the village is faced with in light of the probable explosive growth in that area of town.

In addition to the 80-unit Bridgetown Condominium development, which has already begun, plans are in the works for a 100,000-square-foot shopping mall at the corner of Old US-12 and Old Manchester Rd., M-52, and another, smaller mall on the east side of M-52 next to Polly's Market.

Catherine McAuley Health Center has tentative plans for an out-patient medical complex opposite the Chelsea Family Practice Center just north of Old US-12.

And last week Chuck Broderick said he has been approached by local developers who want to purchase land behind his Tower Shell station to construct Chelsea's first motel. He said an option has been taken on the land and that a closing date is scheduled for late January. He declined to identify the developers but said one of their main concerns is obtaining a guarantee from the village that water and sewer lines would be available to the site.

Fahrner said last week that he isn't sure the village could guarantee water and sewer service to the proposed motel site in a timely fashion. But he also said he isn't sure the village could refuse to provide the service in a reasonable time.

"It's a good question and I want to consult with the village attorney about it," Fahrner said.

"With the C-3 zoning the village is saying the land can be used for a motel and there is probably some sort of obligation on the part of the village to provide the service."

Water and sewer service also has to be provided to the mall at the corner of Old US-12 and Old Manchester Rd., proposed by Rene Papo of Arcus Corp. That is, in part, what prompted the village to apply for the grant. The money will only be given if the village can show the water and sewer project will provide jobs. Papo claims his project will provide 100 to 150 jobs, but the state has required more detailed information. At any rate, Fahrner said, it will probably take several months before the village receives final word about the grant.

How the growth would affect traffic is another major concern of the village.

Village council last Tuesday, Nov. 17 authorized Fahrner to seek proposals for a traffic impact study for the Old US-12/M-52 area. Fahrner told the council that Papo's mall is likely to increase the number of cars and trucks in the area by several hundred per hour, which could cause numerous traffic problems. He said the study should be completed before Papo's site plans are approved. Fahrner said he has concerns about the locations of the mall's entrances and exits and how they would affect traffic. In addition, Papo plans his main entrance for trucks off Old Manchester Rd. One trustee called it "an accident waiting to happen."

Fahrner estimated a cost of $2,500 to $3,500 for the study. He said that in Ann Arbor a developer is required to provide a traffic study but Chelsea ordinances have no such requirements. He said after the meeting last week that he would like to see the village require traffic studies in the future.

Lloyd Bridges was not required to provide a traffic study although his development will have some impact on traffic in the area as the main entrance to the project is off Old US-12.

A McAuley clinic, as well as the second proposed mall, would also have a substantial effect on traffic, Fahrner said.

THESE TURKEYS aren't in a socializing mood as Tonya Mundinger, and her little sister, Shawndra, visit them in the back of the home of their grandparents, Claude and Julie Gipson of Sylvan Center. The birds are likely to be in someone else's home for Thanksgiving dinner tomorrow.

Wednesday, Nov. 23, 1983—

Hatch Stamping Co. of Dexter has bought the former Industrial Plastics Specialty Co. (IPSCO) plant in Chelsea and will begin moving its operations in early December. Although unoccupied since 1980, the IPSCO building and surrounding grounds are in good condition.

A plan to bring the Chelsea Sanitary Landfill on Werkner Rd. into line with state requirements has been submitted to the Department of Natural Resources by the village. The key proposal is to construct a new disposal cell of polyvinyl chloride plastic, which is supposed to keep liquids from leaking downward into the ground-water table. Four feet of sand would be spread over the liner.

Beth Unterbrink was the only junior named to the All-League basketball team by SEC coaches. Unterbrink had also been named to the Ann Arbor News All-Region second team. Chelsea's sophomore Kristi Headrick, and junior Samantha Collinsworth, received All-League honorable mentions.

Only a few area corn fields remained unharvested. Area growers reported a tremendous improvement in this season's crop over last year. George Klink was photographed picking corn on Laurence Noah's land on Werkner Rd.

During firearms deer season, the first buck reported to The Standard was the proud possession of Everett Johnston of Gregory, who bagged the eight-point buck at 7:15 a.m. Nov. 15.

Three basketball squads were chosen for the upcoming season and practices were in full swing. Coach Tom Balistrere was pictured with co-captains, Marv Guster and Tim Treado, both seniors.

First United Methodist church is planning their 100th anniversary. Special services will be held Sunday, Dec. 6, with speaker Dr. Otto Nall, editor of The Christian Advocate, a national Methodist paper. An afternoon service will feature a "Homecoming" program with a "singspiration" followed by special music and short talks by former pastors. Local laymen will bring highlights in the history of the church organizations.

CHS gridders of 1925 were pictured in The Standard as this year's football season ended. In 1925 the playing field was located at the corner of Wilkinson St. and Old US-12. Coached by Herbert Schenk, members of the team were Keith Hughes, Harry Dancer, John Adrian, Clarence Bareis, Fritz Steiner, Orland Taylor, Lynn Eisenbeiser, Austin Faist, Arnold Forner, Henry Fox, Dwight Beach, and Paul Barber.

Powell's Restaurant opened at 105 N. Main St. Owners and operators are Clifton and Alma Powell. Both cafeteria and table style service are features of the restaurant. It is believed that this is the first time cafeteria service has ever been offered in any eating establishment in Chelsea.

"A Catholepistemiad or University of Michigania" was chartered by the Michigan Territorial Legislature on Aug. 26, 1837. The language of the charter, the brain child of the pedantic Judge Augustus B. Woodward, was so overblown and convoluted that it was estimated by Michigan Centennial History that there were only 40 persons in Michigan capable of reading and understanding it. Governor Lewis Cass used to refer to it as the "Cathole-what's-its-name."

Bills To Fight Erosion Problems Introduced in Legislature

Two bills to address erosion problems created by fluctuating water levels in the Great Lakes will be introduced in the Legislature by Sen. William Sederburg (R-East Lansing) and Rep. Ken DeBeaussart (D-New Baltimore).

Sederburg's bill would establish a mandatory setback from the Great Lakes shoreline for all non-moveable structures which are to be built on non-bedrock soil.

For structures no larger than 3,500 square feet, the setback would be 45 feet from the bluff, and for larger ones, 90 feet from the bluff.

"During the last two years, record high water levels on the Great Lakes taught us we must be extremely cautious when we build along Great Lakes shorelines. These setbacks will assure those building along the shoreline will have a margin of safety for their buildings," Sederburg said.

DeBeaussart's bill would require sellers to notify prospective buyers if property has been designated as a high risk erosion area. It makes sense, he said, to pass on any information which might be available, so people can make an informed judgment.

"It is essential that people buying property along our beautiful Great Lakes shorelines are fully informed of any risk they may be assuming when they buy property," DeBeaussart said.

Both bills were developed in conjunction with the Office of the Great Lakes and the Great Lakes Shoreline Advisory Committee, said Thomas Martin, office director.

"Families have lost their homes, communities have lost their roads and all of us have witnessed the fouling of our lakes by debris. These twin bills will help ensure that these lessons will not soon be forgotten as water levels recede," Martin concluded.

Separate Agency for Children, Family Services Urged

The House Ad Hoc Committee on Early Intervention and Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency has recommended that an agency to oversee and centralize children and family services be created by the state and that $45 million be appropriated for its programs.

Rep. Teola Hunter (D-Detroit), chair of the committee, said there is an urgent need for a more coordinated and centralized system to provide services to children and families.

"Currently there is a fragmented, inconsistent and underfunded approach in preventing juvenile delinquency. Existing services are spread among state and county social service, mental health, public health and education programs," she said.

Hunter said the new agency would reduce the funding needed for administration of various programs, but the logistics of it, such as what department the agency might be under or who would be in charge of it, have not yet been worked out.

The $45 million, Hunter continued, would be spread throughout a number of state agencies. "Obviously we believe that this funding will have a tremendous impact on the prevention of juvenile delinquency and will be a major factor in reducing the need for our prison system," she said.

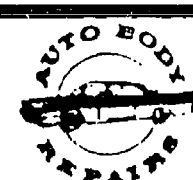

Rep. Thomas Power (R-Traverse City) said that many of the ideas included in the report, such as preschool programs, are already being implemented. But the report urges that they be continued and expanded, he said, and "they'll save money in the long run."

Also included in the 49-recommendation report was formation of a permanent over-sight committee on early intervention and prevention services.

The committee would be charged with monitoring current family preservation efforts and would seek a co-ordinated approach to services.

Other recommendations were that each county office of the DSS develop a plan for comprehensive child abuse and neglect services; that Aid to Dependent Children and General Assistance grants be increased in the 1988-89 budget; that family planning services be increased; that a toll-free state substance abuse line be established, and that the number of guidance counselors in elementary schools be increased.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers come up with plenty of blessings to count during the session at the country store Saturday night, but Santa Claus in early November and toys that let kids shoot the television weren't among em. Bug Hookum allowed Santa Claus already is being pushed so hard he has to keep reminding himself what Thanksgiving and Christmas are about.

Use to, Bug said, St. Nick could load up and take off from the North Pole around the second week in December and make his rounds in plenty of time. Now he starts out three months ahead so he can stop at ever store on the way. Bug said it must be age ganging up on him, but he had rather take the holidays as they come.

Seeing Bug was in low spirits, Zeke Grubb told him to be thankful he didn't have to raise kids this day and time. It was bad enough when they kept their eyes glued on the television Saturday mornings to watch the good guys and bad guys shoot it out, Zeke said, but now they git to join the fight. Zeke had saw where a toy maker and a TV cartoon show have joined to guarantee they will get $35 from ever family with a cartoon watching kid. They can buy Power Jets with laser beams and actual shoot bad guys on the screen, and bad guys can knock out their guns in the den.

If these toys of war catch on as fast as the TV commercials claim, Zeke said, we're going to git ready for real Star Wars the same way we showed kids how to break FBI and NATO codes by buying all of em home computers. If anything good can be said of what they're calling interactive television, Zeke went on, it's that it will git the kids inside the house. With laser tag they've been playing in city streets, he said, it's a wonder more of em ain't been shot by police that thought they were being shot at fer real.

General, the fellers are to far removed from childhood to git worked up over Zeke's worry. Ed Doolittle spoke fer all when he said he was mighty thankful to be around another Thanksgiving, and to have his health. Ed said he reckoned the years were ganging up on him to because lately he was finding it easier to see the bright side of situations. In spite of the purity tests being give to all the candidates, Ed said he full expects the country's newspapers to come up with somebody fit to be President. The good news is, more good can come of the tests that are spreading to other areas.

Fer instant, Ed had saw where a guest lecturer in business at Columbia University is a expert at buying companies that don't want to be bought. He offered a $100,000 finder's fee to the student that could come up with the biggest and best company fer the lecturer to take over, Ed said, and now the school is trying to figger what to do. This means they got to decide what's right and wrong, and this means they got to open the whole can of worms dealing with college professors using work of students and calling it reserch. The only difference with the take over expert is, he was out in the open with his offer to buy the service.

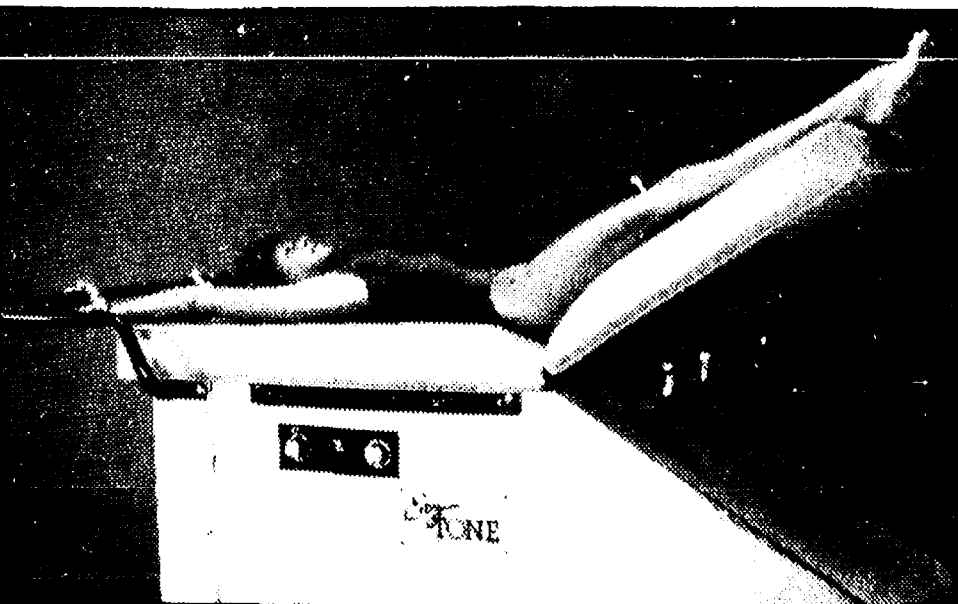

Good news come from Clem Webster that noted where Moscow is gitting two Pizza Huts. If we figger the Russians will take to all our toppings, Clem said, we got to figger we'll git into a pizza exchange. If the Russians ship in enough cabbage and beet pizzas, our kids might go back to real food.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Child Study Club Hears Artist Talk On Lithophanes

Chelsea Child Study Club met at the home of Gale Johnson on Tuesday, Nov. 10 to hear local artist David Jefferson speak about lithophanes. Some of his early training involved working at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, study at the University of Michigan and graduation from Cranbrook.

Jefferson explained the technique and skill involved in engraving lithophanes. He brought many antique lithophanes along with many examples of his engraved bone china ornaments, night lights and lamps for viewing by members and guests Janice Kidd and Rebecca Daut.

During the short business meeting, Mary Ann Flynn reminded members to call her if more tickets were needed. Louise Likavec spoke on the club's participation in the National Honor Society induction ceremony held on Monday, Nov. 9. Cookies left from the ceremony and tea were served with sherbet by co-hostess Camie Noah.

The next meeting will be a Christmas dinner on Tuesday, Dec. 8 at the home of Kathy Frisinger where home-made gifts will be exchanged.

Lewis-Bancroft Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Lewis of Chelsea have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kathryn Lewis, to Brian James Bancroft, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Bancroft of Dexter. A Dec. 20 wedding is planned.

The future bride is a graduate of Chelsea High school and is employed at the Holiday Inn West in Ann Arbor. The future bridegroom graduated from Dexter High school and is a sergeant in the U.S. Army, stationed in Hawaii.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Thomas Dault

Dawn Murphy, Scott Dault Speak Vows at St. Paul's

Dawn Renee Murphy, daughter of Floyd and Letha Murphy of Chelsea, married Scott Thomas Dault, son of Tom and Mae Dault of Grass Lake, on Aug. 1 at 5 p.m. at St. Paul United Church of Christ. The Rev. Erwin Koch officiated at the ceremony attended by 250 guests. Micky Minix sang "The Wedding Song."

The bride wore a white dress with a ruffle trim, rose print design on the bodice, lace sleeves, and a chapel-length train. Her hat, round with a brim and made of lace, had a veil both in front and back. She carried a triangle bouquet with white and lavender silk roses.

Matron of honor was Kim Smith and the maid of honor was Mary Klink, both of Chelsea. They wore lavender gowns with lace and ruffle trim. Their bouquets were lavender and white roses. In their hair they wore a half-flower halo.

Bridesmaids were Stacy Hill, Sherry Salyer, Beth Eassa, Micky Minix, and Karen Schlenderer. They wore lavender gowns with lace and ruffle trim and carried lavender and white round bouquets. They wore flower combs in their hair.

The bride's mother wore an ivory lace gown. The bridegroom's mother wore a tea-length ivory lace dress.

Flower girl was Heather Brown. Ringbearer was Joshua Brown.

Best man was Andy Fletcher of Chelsea. Ushers were Wayne Smith, Jimmy Roberts, Mark Lesser, Tim Brown, Chuck Elkins, and David Schlenderer.

A reception, given by the parents of the couple, was held at the Dexter Knights of Columbus Hall.

For a honeymoon, the couple drove to Gatlinburg, Tenn. and Myrtle Beach, N.C. on a seven day trip. They are now making their home in Chelsea.

The bride works at Sarns, Inc./3M as a sales co-ordinator. The bridegroom works at Ann Arbor Machine as a quality control inspector. Both are graduates of Chelsea High school, class of 1983.

The Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration began a pilot program in 1986 to help employers reduce back injuries, which account for an estimated one-fifth of all workplace injuries and illnesses, according to the department's annual report.

Five Baton Corps Members Compete In Fall Festival

The National Baton Twirling Association (NBTA) held its annual Fall Festival Baton Contest in Lakeview on Nov. 14. Five twirlers from the Chelsea Baton Corps attended the meet.

The last competition for baton twirlers in 1987 is the annual Holiday contest in Petersburg on Dec. 5.

Family Asthma Program Offers Guest Speaker

Cyril Grum, M.D., will be the guest speaker at the Dec. 9 meeting of the Family Asthma Program discussing the subject, "Exercise and Your Child."

The Family Asthma Program is a free educational and social program for parents of asthmatic children which is made possible by the generosity of volunteers and Christmas Seal sales. Purpose of the program is to provide useful information to reduce the frequency and severity of asthma episodes in children.

Meetings are held the second Wednesday of every month and take place in the personal office of Tom Monaghan, Domino's Farms Prairie House, 30 Frank Lloyd Wright Drive, Ann Arbor from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

For further information, please contact the American Lung Association of Michigan at (313) 995-1030.

Diabetes Education Program Offers Tips On Holiday Cooking

The holiday season is a time for celebration with many types of food and beverages. During this time, you resolve to stick to your diet, not be tempted by delicacies, and absolutely not put on a few pounds. Yet your willpower will be definitely tested. In addition, you may be offered alcoholic beverages at the Christmas party—should you? Will it fit into your diet?

Managing a healthy diet is difficult, especially in the holiday season. Many medical conditions curtail how far you can bend on your meal plan, making holiday eating more of an issue.

Chelsea Community Hospital's Diabetes Education Program is sponsoring a Holiday Cooking Festival on Monday, Dec. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the private dining room, to answer these questions.

Pre-registration is required and may be made by calling the secretary at extension 3935 by Nov. 30.

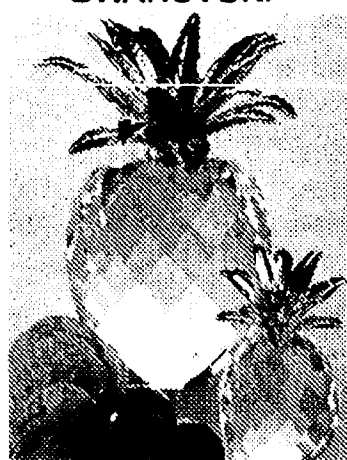

Julie Say, a registered dietitian, will present tips on holiday eating and drinking, provide recipes, and let you sample some of these recipes. A door prize also will be awarded along with other prizes in a drawing for those attending.

Bring your friends, relatives and your holiday palate.

Legion Will Hear Budd Lynch at Rally

Dallas Turley, commander, announces that the American Legion, Second District Association, will hold a special membership rally for all 32 Posts of the District which encompasses Washtenaw, Monroe, Lenawee and Jackson counties.

The meeting will be held at the Onsted American Legion Post 550 new Home. It will begin at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 6 and will be hosted by Roy Russell, membership director for the District.

Guest speaker will be the great Hall of Famer, the One-Armed Bandit of Hockey Broadcasting and veteran of World War II, Budd Lynch.

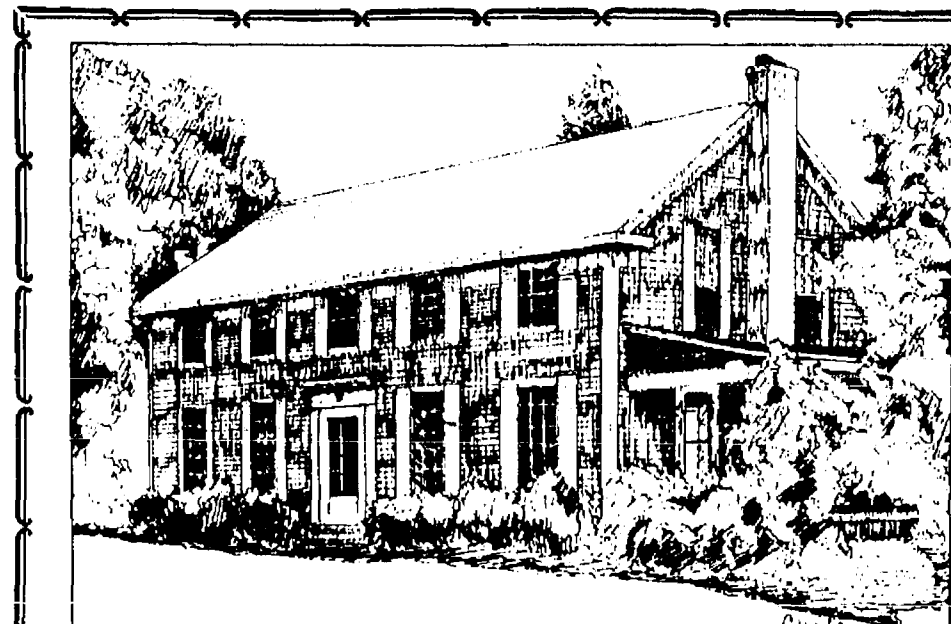

Lynch has been associated with Sports World in the Detroit area for over 40 years. He was the radio and TV voice of the Detroit Red Wings for over 30 years and was honored by being voted into the National Hockey Leagues' National Hall of Fame in 1985. In addition to hockey, he also broadcasts Michigan and Michigan State football for the Mutual Network.

Prior to Lynch's sports association, he served the Canadian Military Service as a major with the Essex Royal Scottish Regiment for four and a half years during World War II and was severely wounded ending his combat career with the loss of his right arm and shoulder.

Lynch has been retired for two years but despite that retirement, he is still the Public Address Voice of Red Wing Hockey.

The Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration conducts a consultation program to help employers identify and correct workplace hazards, according to the department's 1986 annual report.

MARITAL TREATMENT PROJECT

If you believe that your spouse abuses alcohol and he or she refuses treatment, you may be eligible to participate in a treatment research program designed to help you with difficulties in living with an alcohol abusing marital partner. The focus of treatment will also include providing assistance in getting the alcohol abuser to do something about his or her drinking.

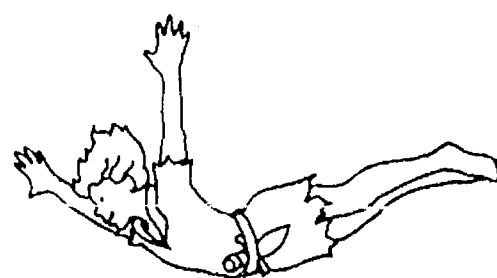

Participating spouses of alcohol abusers will receive up to six months of professional assistance free of charge and reimbursement for the time they give to the project in the research assessments.

The treatment program is provided through the Marital Treatment Project of the University of Michigan and the research is funded by U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

For more information or to see if you qualify for participation in the treatment research program, call (313) 763-7574 or 763-7575.

Goodtime Players Take Their Act to County Schools

More than 20 elementary schools in Washtenaw county have a chance to see live theater performances of plays like "Beauty and the Beastie," "Rumpelstiltskin" and "Rip van Winkle" throughout the fall thanks to a special granting partnership.

The Ann Arbor Recreation Department matched funds which the Washtenaw Council for the Arts received from the Michigan Council of the Arts. The Michigan Council for the Arts in turn received funding from the National Endowment for the Arts. The concept behind the funding program is to generate new funding for the arts at the local level. This is the third year that WCA has participated in the national program.

The grant was used for the Goodtime Players Company, an adult professional company in the Cultural Arts Division of the Recreation Department. The Goodtime Players wrote six original children's shows and are currently touring with these plays.

Locations were carefully chosen under the guidance of school officials from county districts including Ypsilanti, Willow Run, Whitmore Lake, Manchester, Chelsea, Milan, and Dexter. Nancy Berg, cultural arts coordinator for the Ann Arbor Recreation Department says, "We really appreciate this matching grant—it allows us to reach schools in the county which could never afford to pay for our shows. The principals at each location invited us to return because the children enjoyed the plays so much." Fr. Enzo Addari, the Residential Program Director at the St. Louis Center in Chelsea, even wrote to thank the troupe for giving his students a chance at a more normal life by bringing their talents to the Center.

One play, "Gotta Dance, Gotta Sing" appeals to adults, too, so the company is taking it to some senior citizens centers.

Chelsea Man Shot In Hunting Accident

A Chelsea man was shot in the leg in a hunting accident on Monday, Nov. 16 in a cornfield at the corner of Freer Rd. and Old US-12.

According to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, David Lynn Hall, 26, was hunting with five friends when the accident occurred at 10:30 a.m. Police said Hall was shot by a 34-year-old Chelsea man, who was not charged with a crime and whose name was not released.

Police said the hunting party had surrounded the uncut field when a buck ran along the edge between Hall and another hunter. Hall reportedly felt a burning sensation in his leg and discovered he had been shot. Police said Hall was not seriously injured.

Hall was reportedly taken to Chelsea Community Hospital for treatment.

Great Smokeout Receives Mixed Response Among Local Smokers

Thursday, Nov. 19 was the date of this year's Great American Smokeout, sponsored by the American Cancer Society to encourage people to quit smoking. An informal survey of Chelsea people known to be smokers revealed only one resident seriously trying to stop, although Tana Hermosillo, who works at the Chelsea Pharmacy, said that she noticed considerably less sales of cigarettes that day.

Hermosillo said, "With Bingo right next door, we usually get a storm of sales on Bingo night, but today we only had five or six." Hermosillo has worked at the pharmacy for two years. During that time she has seen a few customers quit, but she has also seen young people start. Asked if she, herself, smoked, she said, "I never tried and I never will."

The person trying to quit is village zoning inspector Rosemary Harook who heretofore has been such a determined smoker that she designated her office in the village as a "smoking permitted" zone.

Contacted during the day of the Smokeout, she said about quitting, "I'm trying. I'm chewing gum right and left and cleaning the house to keep busy." She heard of the Great Smokeout on the radio on Monday and had spent the intervening days psyching herself up to try to stop. She said, "I'm not promising anything, but I sure would like to succeed. It would make my husband and daughter very happy."

If Harook succeeds in her effort, it will leave only two smokers among the village employees, Nancy Rosentreter and Barbara Fredette. Asked if they were quitting for the Smokeout, Rosentreter said, "We thought about it, but that's as far as it got."

Village manager Fritz Weber, an on-again off-again smoker for a number of years, quit shortly before the Smokeout on doctor's orders.

ALL THE CIGARETTE SMOKERS in Chelsea suddenly became camera shy on the day of the Great Smokeout. Finally Michael Loftis, in an admirable spirit of co-operation with the press, agreed to pose with a cigarette to illustrate the article on the Smokeout, even though he, himself, is not a smoker. Loftis graduated from Stockbridge High school and is working as a carpenter with Shiver Restoration, the company that is restoring the Chelsea Pharmacy.

Pipe smoker Ed Lewis, publisher and owner of Lewis Publishing, said that although he was still smoking, he was trying to cut back. He said, "All that I read says that tobacco is detrimental to health, although a pipe is less so than others." Asked why he did not quit altogether, Lewis said, "I like to smoke." He elaborated, "People often stop me on the street and say they like the smell of my pipe. By smoking I bring joy to others."

Another well-known pipe smoker, Paul Sietz, was unavailable for comment because he was up north hunting, but his wife said she doubted that he had quit, saying, "I wouldn't doubt that he has a pipe in his mouth at this very minute."

The most notable success story of last year's Smokeout was assistant superintendent of schools Fred Mills who quit smoking for the day and never smoked again.

Hearing of this year's Smokeout on the radio, Mills said he knew how people felt. He tells people trying this year, "If you survive the first couple or three weeks you can make it." After a brief period of crankiness, Mills went back to being his usual congenial self. And best of all, he says his doctor notices an improvement in his general health.

Although The Standard's informal surveys seem to yield only one person a year determined to stop smoking, the "hazards" of "smoking" are well-known in the community and those that still do smoke are very defensive about it. They report that they are constantly being told to quit by friends and relatives and are finding more and more discrimination against them in public places such as restaurants. A number of hard-core smokers declined to be interviewed for this article, feeling that they did not need the additional grief that public identification as a smoker would bring them.

About 33 percent of low birthweight (defined as less than 5.5 pounds) in babies can be attributed to maternal smoking—making smoking the leading cause of low birthweight in the U. S. Babies born to mothers who smoke are, on average, about 7 ounces lighter than babies of non-smokers. Low birthweight babies are at increased risk of perinatal or neonatal death. There is a dose-response relationship between maternal smoking and low birthweight—that is, the more the mother smokes during her pregnancy, the greater the reduction in birthweight. But if a woman gives up smoking early in her pregnancy, her risk of delivering a low birthweight baby approaches that of a non-smoker.

CAP Slates Auditions for Winter Play

Auditions for Chelsea Area Players winter play, "See How They Run," will be held Monday, Dec. 7 and Wednesday, Dec. 9 from 7 to 10 p.m. at Beach Middle school, 445 Mayer Dr., Chelsea.

Written by British playwright, Phillip Kingsley, "See How They Run" is a post-war farce of mistaken identity. The play has a cast of nine, three women and six men.

Artistic director Mary Ann Stevenson notes that most of the roles can be cast without regard to age.

Anyone interested in learning more about the play should call Mary Ann at 426-4749 or Jason Eyster, 475-2156.

Perinatal mortality (death in the eight weeks before or seven days after birth) among babies of heavy smokers is about 35 percent greater than among the babies of non-smokers. It has been estimated that maternal smoking may lead to about 5,000 extra perinatal deaths each year in the United States.

The Chelsea Standard, Wednesday, November 25, 1987

Loss Reporting Deadline Nears

Dec. 10 ends the 1987 crop year insurance period for corn, soybeans, and grain sorghum grown in Michigan and insured by the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. (FCIC), or by a private company reinsured by FCIC, according to Barbara A. Cranson, a representative for the Federal Crop Insurance Corp.

"Any notice of loss must be given no later than 30 days after total destruction of the unit, completion of harvest, or Dec. 10, whichever occurs earlier," according to Cranson.

The producer who anticipates a claim should notify his or her crop insurance agent immediately.

"Under the terms of the policy, any acreage on which harvest will not be completed must be left intact until an inspection is made. Any claim for indemnity may be rejected if these loss reporting requirements are not met," Cranson stated.

Car-Deer Hazards High In November

Fall, and especially November, is the most likely time for car/deer accidents in Michigan. Bucks in rut are more on the move at this time of year, with the first few hours before sunrise and after sunset being the times of greatest accident potential on the roads.

Last year, 32,746 car/deer collisions were reported in Michigan, with 8,060 reported in November alone. Another 1,500 accidents "associated with deer," were reported in 1986, such as drivers swerving to avoid hitting deer on the highways and ending up in the ditch.

Five people died in car/deer accidents in Michigan last year, including two women in one accident in Saginaw county Nov. 15, 1986. Three other car/deer accident fatalities took place in Alpena county, Kent county and Dickinson county.

Drivers should stay alert and aware of deer crossing hazards, say Department of Natural Resources officials. Sighting of deer beside the road ahead and approach of a deer crossing sign are good reasons to slow down and prepare to stop without swerving.

Seat belts of all vehicle passengers should be fastened at all times. Keeping high beam lights on wherever possible may help.

Since deer often move in numbers, beware of "trailers" after one or more deer have crossed the road. Maintain steering control and remember that it's safer to hit a soft deer than a tree or another vehicle.

If a deer has been hit, try to get the vehicle and deer off the road. Set the emergency flasher on the car as appropriate and do not handle injured deer. (Live deer may bite or kick and cause further injury.)

Once a deer has been struck and killed, it is yours to claim. Notify the nearest state police or sheriff, who will give you a permit indicating the car/deer collision (which is also useful for an insurance claim).

Expect to see deer on any road in Michigan this month.

Thank You, Chelsea

November 18, 1987

To the Chelsea Community:

At last night's Chelsea United Way board meeting, it was established that we have reached our 1987 goal of $73,000.

Congratulations to the community for responding in such a generous way. Industry, the schools, commercial establishments, professionals and other residents have responded in especially kind ways to the 37 local group/organizations that depend on our generosity for support.

The board extends a heartfelt "THANK YOU" to all contributors. We also appreciate The Chelsea Standard's co-operation with publicity for the campaign. Many others who have funded ads for the campaign also deserve appreciation.

We, once again, realize that community organizations, composed of both young and old, will continue to be supported because of all the people who cared.

THANK YOU, CHELSEA. It's for all of us!

NOVICE DEBATERS at Chelsea High school took fifth and sixth places at the 46-team Sterling Heights Stevenson tournament last Saturday, Nov. 21. Each team had a 7-1 record. Seated is the fifth-place team of, from left, Eric Maybaum, Tony Moisan (affirmative), Kris Walter and Sheila Tillman (negative). Standing, from left, is the sixth place team of Anna Flintoft, Marty Heller (negative), Jason Overdorf and Bill Coelius (positive). The teams debated foreign policy in Latin America. The next meet is the debate league meet at Milan on Saturday, Dec. 5.

Sight-Restoring Gifts Offered in Unique Catalog

An unusual mail-order catalog offers holiday gift-givers the option of sending "gifts of service" rather than of objects, with the least expensive such gift meaning restored eyesight for a person in Nepal or India.

There are objects to buy, too, from the catalog, published by the Chelsea based Seva Foundation. But alongside advertisements for Guatemalan, Tibetan and Nepalese crafts—purchase of which also benefits Seva projects—are such gifts for purchase as: —Cost of sight-restoring surgery, medicines, post-operative care, food and lodging for one person at eye centers in Nepal and India—$15.

—Food and transport for five patients receiving free surgery at Aravind Eye Hospital in India—$25. Research done by Seva revealed that the inability to pay for food and transport is a major barrier to surgery.

—$100 will buy a year of breakfasts—fruit, bread, egg, and milk for children in Guatemalan refugee camps in Mexico where they live on tortillas, salt, and sugar cane—the best their parents can provide.

—Outreach and house calls to 4,500 people in Nepal's Lumbini Zone for a year—$500. Local eye-care volunteers and visiting ophthalmic assistants identify cataract-blind people and help them go for surgery. Eye care and first aid are taught, along with the nutritional importance of vitamin A-rich foods. Vitamin A capsules are distributed to poorly nourished children, and antibiotics are given to control blinding trachoma.

The gift-giver targets donations for specific programs in the names of people on his or her gift list. Seva Foundation then notifies those people of the contribution and includes information about the work the gift is sponsoring.

Seva also is working to establish medical services for native Americans, and is aiding indigent Guatemalan refugees of war build a new and productive life. "Gifts of service" can also be given to the Guatemalan program and reforestation.

Seva Foundation's catalog may be obtained by writing Catalog Dept., 108 Spring Lake Dr., Chelsea 48118 or telephoning (313) 475-1351. Fully 100 percent of all donations to Seva are delivered directly in services. All Seva operating expenses are covered by a special endowment.

The Seva Foundation whose name in Sanskrit means "service" was established in 1979 by a group of people who were inspired by the World Health Organization's campaign to eliminate the disease of smallpox from the world.

Working with methods based in part on the smallpox campaign, the Seva Foundation defined its pilot project as the elimination of preventable blindness in Nepal and India.

In 1986-87, the Seva Foundation channeled $1,890,600 in support of projects to prevent blindness and restore sight in India and Nepal.

Among these projects is the Nepal Blindness Program, which in 1986-87 provided sight-restoring cataract surgery to 17,500 persons and served a total of 240,000 outpatients through its 100 eye camps and 14 Rural Eye Care Centers.

In another project, the Aravind Eye Hospital in India, 276,523 outpatients were examined last year, and more than 27,000 eyesight-restoring operations were performed.

"Blindness, as smallpox once was, is an enormous personal tragedy in these countries and is of epidemic proportions," said Dr. Suzanne Gilbert, executive director of the Seva Foundation. "Astonishingly, 90 percent of that blindness is preventable or curable, and as also was the case with smallpox, the technology for eliminating this affliction exists."

Cataracts account for more than 80 percent of the blindness in Nepal, Dr. Gilbert commented. "There are an estimated 397,000 people in Nepal who could see tomorrow if they received a cataract operation today. Each year thousands of new cataract patients are added to this backlog."

For further information: contact Seva Foundation, 108 Spring Lake Dr., Chelsea 48118. Ph. (313) 475-1351.

New Rules for IRAs Explained By IRS

The Internal Revenue Service has issued a new publication to inform taxpayers about changes in the tax law for Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

The IRS says that its Publication 923, "New Rules for Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs)," is a handy guide that explains the new rules that may reduce or eliminate IRA deductions for some taxpayers who are covered by a retirement plan at work. Whether and to what extent the deduction is reduced depends on the taxpayer's adjusted gross income (AGI).

The new publication contains an easy-to-follow chart for individuals who are in retirement plans to work to see if their deductions may be phased out. It also has a worksheet that allows taxpayers to figure their partial IRA deduction if they are affected by the phase-out.

Publication 923 is available free by calling IRS at 1-800-424-3876.

Local Physician Attends China Medical Conference

Robert Bort, M.D., of North Lake, recently returned from a three-week visit to the Peoples Republic of China.

Dr. Bort, director of psychiatric services at Jackson Prison, participated in a China-U. S. conference sponsored by the Chinese Hospital Management Society and was co-sponsor of a paper "Managing A Modern Correctional Hospital."

Following the conference in Beijing Dr. Bort and an accompanying group of American Hospital Association administrators toured the cities of Xi'an, Shanghai, Guilin, Guangzhou, and Hong Kong.

Highlights of the trip included the Great Wall, Forbidden City, Ming Tombs, Underground Terracotta Warriors, and the River Journey on the famed Lu River in Guilin. In addition the group enjoyed a visit at the U. S. Embassy and met the wife of the ambassador to China.

In addition to visiting many Chinese hospitals there were opportunities to directly observe acupuncture clinics and traditional Chinese medicine methods, including the preparation of herbal medicines. The contingency plans to continue dialogue with their Chinese counterparts and further exchange programs.

Smoking during pregnancy may adversely affect the child's long-term physical growth, intellectual development, and behavior characteristics. Some studies have shown that babies of smokers score lower on math and verbal tests than do babies of non-smokers.

Golf Course Planned For Lima Township

Developers from Taylor are planning to purchase 157 acres of farmland in Lima township to build an 18-hole golf course.

Retired farmer Clarence Reddeman, 10395 Jerusalem Rd., confirmed last week that the developers are planning to purchase the land, located at Jerusalem and Dancer Rds., contingent on obtaining a special use permit from the township. "I don't know much about them," Reddeman said of the developers.

According to township clerk Arlene Bareis, Robert Luhous and Howard Smith of Taylor filed for the special use permit on Nov. 9. By law the township must hold a public hearing within 65 days of the application. In addition, landowners within 300 feet of the parcel must be notified individually and a legal advertisement must appear in The Standard.

The township planning commission has the power to grant special use permits and set any conditions to the permit. The township board does not have to rule.

Reddeman has been retired since 1975 and has rented the fields to area farmers.

An area resident, who did not want to be identified, said he was planning to start a petition against the development.

"Our main concern is the traffic flow," the resident said.

"During the summer there will be 100 to 200 cars a day going down Dancer Rd."

The parcel should provide plenty of room for an 18-hole course. The 9-hole Inverness Golf Course is 60 acres, including the country club, according to manager Mark Policht. He said Inverness is larger than average.

United Way Fund Reaches Goal

Although the final count is not in, Chelsea United Way is pleased to announce that it has officially reached, and surpassed, its goal of $73,000. Contributions and pledges total $75,124 as of Saturday, Nov. 21, or 102.9% of the goal.

"Community response has been overwhelming, and pledges are still being received," said campaign chairperson, Barbara Rose. "We at Chelsea United Way wish to express our sincere thanks to the community for its continuing support."

As part of the continuing series during the 1987 campaign, various agencies are featured each week. This week's feature is the Huron Valley Girl Scouts, specifically Girl Scouts in Chelsea.

Chelsea Girl Scouts

There are many aspects to Girl Scouting in the Chelsea Community. The ideals of Girl Scouting are to help young girls and women to become confident, productive citizens while having fun.

Our 18 troops are busy learning about our community through field trips to local areas of interest with visits to many of the businesses in and around Chelsea as well as by actual involvement with their community. Tours of the Jiffy Mix, library, The Chelsea Standard, the Loft, McDonald's, Taco Bell, Polly's, the Waterloo Farm Museum are just a few places the girls have visited.

The girls meet the challenge of responsibility by contributing through service projects. Our scouts have enjoyed Christmas caroling at the Methodist Home, planting flower gardens at their schools, planting a tree, baking cookies as a treat for the children at Hi-Point and welcoming a new family to Chelsea. They've enjoyed being active citizens through volunteering to help the Chelsea Lioness Club in getting special I.D.—Medical Alert Tags—purchased and ready to give out to all the children in the elementary schools in Chelsea.

The girls have also contributed to their community through the Community Services of Chelsea Social Services by adopting an elderly woman as their special troop Grandmother. A collection of canned goods was donated to Faith in Action and a trip outside of our community to the Ronald McDonald House was made to deliver special care packages.

Each time the girls reach out to the community they learn that they can and do make a difference with each thoughtful deed they do, be it large or small. They know that Girl Scouts are doers!

Raymond Says Cagers Will Turn Up The Tempo During 1987-88 Season

By Brian Hamilton

Those who delight in turn-up-the-BTUs basketball are going to love the 1987-88 Chelsea Bulldog varsity basketball team.

New coach Robin Raymond promises an up-tempo game on both offense and defense, in stark contrast to the slow down style of play under former coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"If you can't run and jump, you can't play basketball for us," Raymond says.

"Our over-all philosophy is based on quickness and speed. We are going to run on offense and have a full-court, man-to-man press on defense. I personally don't believe you can run a half-court passive zone defense and run on offense. We'll play the same way at both ends of the floor. If fans come to see us win every game, they're coming to the wrong place. If they're coming to see the kids work hard and to watch an exciting team, they're coming to the right place."

It's hard to anticipate what kind of season the Bulldogs might have this year. The defending Southeastern Conference Co-Champions have no returning starters. There's no one like Mark Bareis or Todd Starkey who can take charge of a game. "We have 11 players who are just about interchangeable, which is something new for me," Raymond says. The players are learning a brand new style of basketball. There's not much height.

However, the team as a whole is probably quicker than a year ago and can probably shoot the 15-foot jumper more accurately, which is good for Raymond's style of basketball.

Raymond says he'll use nine or more players on a regular basis, shuffling them in and out of the line-up. Every player will be able to play every position, he says.

"We don't have positions," Raymond says. "We'll hope to shoot the ball before the other team gets back down court. I hope you don't see us standing around and dribbling the ball."

On offense, the Bulldogs will look to move the ball up court in a hurry with strong defensive rebounding, crisp passing, and a minimum of dribbling. They'll often pull up for the short jumper. Half-court basketball will not be their style.

"I tell the kids that if they can hit the open jump shot we will score a tremendous number of points because we will get a lot of open shots," Raymond says.

On defense, the Bulldogs will press all the way down court, using numerous traps and trying to force the ball into the corners and down to the baseline.

Raymond says he likes to have officials who aren't quick to the whistle and slow down the tempo. However, he says, "all of my teams have been able to shoot free throws." He anticipates the Bulldogs will have the edge if the game is decided at the free throw line.

In anticipation of the fast-paced play, Raymond admits he's curling the Bulldogs' tails in practice.

"We sprint a lot in practice," Raymond says.

"At the end of practice some of the kids will have tears in their eyes and swear they'll never make it. But they always do, I've never had one who didn't. It's easy to play basketball when you're ahead or when you're fresh. It's not so easy in the last two minutes. I want our teams to always be in better shape than the other guys at the end of the game."

Seniors on the team are John Catell, Tim Anderson, Kevan Flanigan, Matt Monroe, Phil Thomson and Greg Boughton.

Chad Starkey is the only sophomore.

Raymond's summaries of the boys are as follows.

Catell: Has leadership ability, does not get tired, which fits in well with Raymond's style of play, and is deceptively big for a small guy. Might be the best ball handler and is the one guy who has stepped forward.

Anderson: He's a good rebounder and runs well for a 6' 2" player.

Flanigan: He's coming off a serious knee injury and still limps slightly. He's very intelligent. Defense, rebounding and his knowledge of the game are his assets.

Monroe: He has good quickness and a good outside shot. He works hard to get up court before everyone else.

Thomson: He has the best jump shot among the taller players.

Boughton: Is the only lefty on the team and is a good perimeter shooter. He's one of the best inside players and moves well to his left.

Morseau: He's a very aggressive offensive and defensive player. He's a good perimeter shooter and penetrates well.

Nix: He's very quick, is a good perimeter shooter and can take the ball to the basket.

Collins: He's an excellent jumper for a guard-forward, is a good perimeter shooter and understands the game well.

Marshall: He's a well-rounded player with a good shot. Has good athletic ability and next year will be a good player.

Starkey: He's an excellent perimeter shooter. He can go to his left or right with equal ability. He understands the game well. He'll have a big adjustment coming up from the freshman team.

The Bulldogs open their season on Friday, Dec. 3 at Brooklyn Columbia Central. They have five tough games before Christmas break, including games with Milan, Saline and Lincoln.

"We always start slow but if we can keep our head above water through these early games, we'll have a good second half of the season."

The Southeastern Conference appears to be wide open this season. There are reports that Milan's two best players have transferred out of state. The Big Reds would have been the odds-on favorites to win the league.

Raymond says Lincoln appears to have the best returning talent, although Saline always has gifted athletes. Dexter and Pinckney "have outstanding junior classes."

Jeff Dils, who played for Raymond during his last tenure here, is the junior varsity coach and will help with the varsity team. Mark Feeney, another former player for Raymond, is also a varsity assistant this season.

BILL REED shot this 12-point buck on private land near Manchester last Friday night just before dark. Bill got his trophy with one shot from a 12-gauge shotgun from 60 yards. He caught two bucks in a fight and shot the larger of the two, estimated at 190 pounds. Bill, a 1981 Chelsea High school graduate, was hunting with friends.

Dogs Reach Cage Finals Against Dexter With Double OT Victory

Chelsea Bulldogs advanced to the district finals against the Dexter Dreadnaughts tonight in Tecumseh with a double overtime victory against Jackson Lumen Christi on Monday.

Chelsea outscored JLC 4-0 in the second overtime, partially on the strength of two clutch free throws by Jenni Smith, to take a thrilling 45-41 victory.

"It was a very enjoyable game to watch, although it was nerve-racking," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"It's nice to know that we can find a way to win even when we play poorly."

A three-point JLC field goal with :20 left sent the game into its first overtime. Chelsea had a chance to win the game in regulation at the buzzer but missed a one-and-one opportunity from the line.

Chelsea fell behind by four points early in the first overtime, but battled back. The Dogs had the ball with :10 left but missed a jump shot.

Chelsea missed two one-and-one opportunities down the stretch but Kim Easton and Allison Brown grabbed key rebounds to keep the ball in the Chelsea end of the court.

As has been their recent pattern, the Bulldogs had to come from behind after starting off slowly.

Chelsea had 12 of their 17 turnovers in the first half and allowed JLC to grab six offensive rebounds. The Bulldogs, who only made 3 of 11 free throws in the first half, were down 17-13 at the intermission.

"We thought Jackson would be a little sluggish at the beginning since they hadn't played in a week," Rosentreter said.

"We thought it would be important to establish ourselves early. We scored the first four points of the game, but then something happened, everything fell apart, and we quit scoring. We were worried because of our free throw shooting."

The Bulldogs were more dominant on the boards in the second half, Rosentreter said. They also shot better than 50 percent from the free throw line, making 12 of 21 tries.

Neither team shot the ball particularly well from the field. Chelsea was 15-51 and JLC made 16-49.

Brown had her best scoring night of the season with 17 points to lead the Bulldogs. Leah Enderle also reached double figures with 13. Rounding out the scoring were Heather Neibauer, five points, Kelley Scott, four, Peggy Hammerschmidt, three, Smith, two and Jeannie Heim, one.

Chelsea reached the semi-finals by upending the Saline Hornets in the first round last Friday night, 48-43.

The teams split their games in the regular season, with each team winning on its home court.

The game was knotted at 18 at half-time, and the Bulldogs fell behind 23-18 at the beginning of the third quarter before rallying for one of their best halves of the season, scoring 30 points.

"I was real pleased because everyone contributed," Rosentreter said.

"Kim Easton had four quick points on jumpers from the foul line in the fourth quarter, Laura Unterbrink made her only shot in the quarter and Jeannie Heim gave us some good minutes." That made a real difference," Neibauer also scored eight of her team-high 14 points in the second half.

Both teams pressed in the second half. Chelsea solved the Saline pressure but the Hornets had their problems getting the ball beyond half court.

"They put a press on us and I have to give the kids credit, they didn't crack and they stayed with the offense. We were very aggressive defensively."

Other Chelsea scorers included Hammerschmidt with 10 points, Enderle, eight, Easton, seven, Smith, three, and Unterbrink, Heim and Brown, two each.

BARBARA J. WACHER was the first person this season to come to The Chelsea Standard offices with a deer she had shot with a gun. Using a 410 single shot, she killed this 185 pound, 15 point buck on Saturday, Nov. 15, near Four Mile Lake. Wachter has been hunting for years. She used to go up north, but since she no longer has time, she hunts closer to home.

Milan Wins Chelsea Invitational, Colombo Sets Backstroke Record

Chelsea Bulldog swim team finished its regular season with a very busy week.

Thursday, Nov. 19 the Bulldogs hosted the Chelsea Invitational. Chelsea placed fourth, while Milan won the meet and Novi and Dexter were second and third.

"Chelsea swimmers and divers performed very well with almost every member performing 'life-time' bests," said coach Mike Keeler. Sharon Colombo set a new school record in the 100-yard backstroke.

The line score of the meet is as follows:

200-yard medley relay: 4. Chelsea A (Sharon Colombo, Christine Young, Karen Graub, Jennifer McEachern), 2:06.35; 6. Chelsea B (Jenni Anderson, Michelle Hollo, Tami Harris, Melissa Johnson), 2:09.65; 11. Chelsea C (Shana Vosters, Jennifer Payne, Lori Wetzel, Lisa Taylor), 2:20.72.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

I can't wait for our holiday visit to Columbus this year. Forget the turkey and Santa Claus. Forget seeing my long-lost sister and her husband.

I'm interested in the important stuff. I want to see what they're really saying about former Ohio State coach Earle Bruce in the heart of Buckeye land.

As a loyal Buckeye fan, I'm having a hard time understanding what happened to Earle. He's won far more games than he's lost. The Bucks could have even gone to a bowl game this year. By now you're probably aware that he's the winningest Big 10 coach this decade. All kinds of statistics have been cited, which I won't repeat.

But based on his coaching record, the man didn't deserve to get canned. So what really happened? That's what I want to know. There have been so many rumors about his gambling, his lack of charisma, and the fact that if he had long ears he'd look like McGruff, the dog who takes a bite out of crime.

I should have a pretty good source there, although he's sometimes hard to track down. He's a fairly recent OSU engineering grad who's trying to figure out what he wants out of life by driving a cab. If a cab driver doesn't know what's going on, I figure no one does.

The OSU president was quoted over the week-end as saying that Earle would have been fired even if he had gone 11-0.

What could Earle have done to make the president say such a thing? Or was it just a way for the president to cover his tail?

Earle has apparently filed a $7.4 million suit against OSU and the president. If that gets to court it will be fascinating to see what is revealed in testimony.

In fact, this whole mess should be fun to watch. If the parties settle out of court, will that be viewed as an admission of guilt on OSU's part? If the case goes to trial and Earle wins, will that set some sort of precedent for coaches at other schools? If it goes to trial and Earle loses, what sordid facts will be entered into the public record?

This could be a first-rate sports opera.

I do know that some OSU fans, like several of my friends, have been calling for Earle's hide for years, the same way they called for basketball coach Eldon Miller's hide a couple of years ago.

As for football goes, Earle's big mistake was not that he lost occasional games. It's that he lost games that most people felt he should have easily won. The Bucks usually played pretty well against the good teams. It's the poor teams that caused problems.

Miller's big mistake was that he lost recruits that most people felt he should have gotten, such as Gary Grant.

But probably the biggest mistake either man made was following in the footsteps of a legend. Former basketball coach Fred Taylor, in his own way, was as legendary as Woody Hayes. He had those national championship teams with Jerry Lucas and John Havlicek. Few fans forgot, and the comparisons were inevitable.

I've listened to and read a lot of the commentary about Earle's case. Some of it seems pretty ridiculous.

Many people have wondered out loud what kind of masochist would want to take the vacant OSU job. Well, I figure there will be plenty of interest, probably from head coaches at smaller colleges. A guy, if he's any good, could take the job and probably have a winning record for a year or two even if he can't recruit. If he loses his job and has a winning record, it probably won't be too hard to find another major college job.

Other commentary has accused OSU, in one way or another, of making football more important than academics. The Ann Arbor News accused OSU of making football "bigger than the academic institution that permits its existence."

What horseradish. What does a big time sports program have to do with academics? Unless I'm mistaken, Earle was not a physics professor who lost his tenure. Are the chemistry, journalism and business schools going to suffer because Earle can't coach the football team? Is the National Science Foundation saying, "forget that genetic research grant to OSU, they fired their football coach?" Are there national merit finalists who are saying, "I guess I'll go to Harvard since OSU fired their coach?"

The way OSU handled Earle's firing was reprehensible, to say the least. It should be a case study for the university's public relations and business schools.

But let's not make OSU seem like the evil empire.

Besides, what will happen to the guy who takes Bo's place?

Anyone want to coach wrestling at Beach Middle school? The program is in danger of folding if athletic director Larry Reed can't find a coach by the Christmas break. He's looked everywhere and so far there are no takers.

You must be over 21. Knowledge of wrestling is preferable, but not required. No kidding. Reed has a couple of recent varsity wrestlers who are willing to help out. However, adult supervision is mandatory.

The season runs from Jan. 4 through Feb. 15, approximately.

JV Girls Victorious
In Final Hoop Game

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity basketball team won their final game of the season last Tuesday, Nov. 17 at Manchester, 36-30.

According to Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra the key to the game was the Bulldogs' ability to shoot free throws, and get the ball inside against a good zone defense. The Bulldogs also converted some of their 15 steals into easy baskets.

"Both teams played hard for the last game of the season," Terpstra said.

"It was a pretty rough game although we were able to get the rebounds. I think they look on us as kind of a big game."

Chelsea led most of the game, although the Dutch threatened to take the lead in the fourth quarter as they narrowed the Chelsea lead to 26-25.

"We were able to hold them off," Terpstra said.

"If they had taken the lead, the complexion of the game could have changed."

Colleen Scharphorn led the team with 12 points and 12 rebounds. She was 6-7 from the free throw line.

Carrie Flintoft scored 10 points and was the only other Bulldog in double figures. Scharme Petty and Mercedes Hammer scored five points each, and Sarah Musolf had four. Hammer had eight rebounds.

After an 0-2 start, Chelsea finished the season with a 14-6 record. They were also 9-3 in the Southeastern Conference, good for a second-place tie with Tecumseh. The Dexter Dreadnaughts were league champs with an 11-1 mark.

"I'm happy where we ended up, especially considering how we started and the fact that we had mostly freshmen," Terpstra said.

"This year we've had to keep the offense simple because of inexperience. Next year I'll have most of the girls back and we should be able to do a few nice things on offense."

Sports Injuries

By Toni Wilson, R.N.
Chelsea Family Practice Center

Now is the time of year when students are back into sports at school. There has been a dramatic change in the type of sports related injuries, with the greatest number now involving amateur athletes. Physical fitness requires a good, well balanced diet and plenty of fluids.

Here are some suggestions that will help you avoid a sports injury and/or treat one that you may have.

1. Always warm up—Stretching and limbering exercises done right before participating in sports will keep the body in tune and reduce the incidence of injury, muscle stress and lessen fatigue.

2. Don't forget to cool down—Walk or jog gently for 3 to 5 minutes after activity. Shake limbs, extend arms and rotate forward and backward several times. Roll head, neck and shoulders.

3. Listen to your body—Expect some soreness after vigorous workouts, but if you feel very uncomfortable, you may have overexerted yourself. If this happens, warm baths, massage and gentle flexing exercises may help alleviate soreness. Sometimes injuries happen because you have pushed your body too far, too fast, and for too long.

Common sports injuries include tendonitis, strains and sprains. Many sports medicine doctors recommend five steps you should follow as soon as you feel pain.

a. Rest—As soon as you feel pain, you should stop what you are doing and not continue to stress the painful area for at least one day.

b. Ice—apply ice immediately after an injury for periods of 10-15 minutes at half-hour intervals. It is now known that icing is useful for up to seven days after an injury.

c. Compression—Application should be gentle with an Ace Bandage.

d. Elevation—The injured extremity should be raised above the level of the heart.

e. Aspirin—Take aspirin or buffered aspirin every four hours as this helps control inflammation in the injury.

4. See your Doctor—If pain persists or becomes severe, you may have injured muscle tissue. If there is swelling or discoloration around a joint, there may be a sprain or even a fracture.

For the General Public—Whatever your fitness level and ability is, the key to good health is consistency. Choose a convenient time to exercise, then stick to it. Take advantage of opportunities for any additional exercise. If you can, walk instead of driving and use the stairs rather than the elevator. We can all benefit from more exercise.

Dogs Advance
To District Finals

Chelsea rebounded well as Ham-merschmidt picked off nine rebounds and Enderle and Smith has six each. The team finished with 27.

In other action last Tuesday, Nov. 15, the Bulldogs rallied to knock off Manchester in their final regular season game, 42-38 on the road.

The Dutch jumped out to a 9-1 lead, but the Bulldogs began to push the ball inside to Brown and Ham-merschmidt as Chelsea's height advantage proved to be too much for Manchester. Chelsea went on a 13-2 run. Brown ended with 15 points on 7 of 9 shooting from the floor and Ham-merschmidt had eight on 4 of 7 shooting from the field.

"For some reason, once we got behind 9-1 we started playing very well and got the ball inside consistently," Rosentreter said.

"We could have put the game away earlier in the fourth quarter but didn't."

Chelsea's lead was as much as 10 points in the closing minutes but the Dutch were able to whittle away to lose by just four.

Neibauer was the only other Bulldog in double figures, scoring 12 points. Enderle finished with six. Smith scored one.

Chelsea took only 39 shots for the game, making 17.

The Bulldogs finished the regular season with an 11-9 record.

Blue-Gold Game
Slated Dec. 1

Chelsea basketball fans will have the first opportunity to see the varsity boys team in action next Tuesday, Dec. 1 at 7:30 p.m. in a Blue-Gold intrasquad game.

New head coach Robin Raymond plans to have the seniors take the court against the underclassmen. It will be a regulation game, complete with officials.

The game is free and open to the public.

Village Moves Up Plans for Upgrading Electrical System Because of Hotel Restoration

A proposed elevator for the soon-to-be-renovated Sylvan Hotel is forcing the village to speed up its plans for improvements to the village's electrical distribution system.

Council voted last Tuesday, Nov. 17 to proceed with approximately $18,000 in improvements after learning that a switching pole sits in the exact location that an elevator is planned for the north side of the Sylvan Hotel. Hotel owners John and Anne Daniels have submitted their site plans for their proposed office-retail complex. The plans were scheduled to be considered by the village planning commission last night. The elevator is required under current handicap access law.

The pole in question switches electricity to the east side of Main St. from the north to south circuits. It will be moved to a location more to the south.

According to village manager Fritz Weber, moving the pole would have taken place "within five years," as part of plans to improve the over-all system. He said, for example, that it would have been necessary in order to change street lighting in the business district, which has been proposed by the Downtown Development Authority.

"We did talk to (John Daniels) about changing his plans to see if we could leave the pole there a few years," Weber told the council.

"It upset him quite a bit." In addition to moving the switching pole, other improvements will be made to lines on East St. and down the alley between Orchard and Summit Sts., including the installation of what Weber called "large, tall poles."

"There is a line of poles down East St., so it shouldn't come as a shock to the people living there," Weber said.

The poles, while tall, would not have the cross arms due to the type of cable that would be installed, Weber said.

The project will be funded through the village's electrical fund. Trustee Phil Boham noted that the fund has a surplus for the current fiscal year.

Said village president Jerry Satterthwaite, "It's important to say that this is not taxpayers' money it's rate payers' money."

Weber said the capital improvements would not affect village electrical rates.

Frances Perkins, secretary of labor from 1933 to 1945, was responsible for many New Deal programs to protect working people, including the minimum wage, child labor standards, unemployment insurance, and an expanded public employment service, according to a fact sheet on Labor Department history.

THIS ELECTRICAL POLE is being moved to accommodate the Sylvan Hotel restoration plans of John and Anne Daniels. The pole is standing in the middle of a proposed elevator for the building.

Breast Cancer Text from U-M Will Be Published By Lewis

"Breast Cancer: Collaborative Management," is an innovative new book from the University of Michigan Medical School contracted for publication with Lewis Publishers, Inc., of Chelsea.

The 380-page text is written by recognized medical specialists from the University of Michigan Hospitals and other leading United States and Canadian medical schools.

To be published in January, the volume's editors are Jay K. Harness, M.D., department of surgery, section of general surgery; Harold A. Oberman, M.D., department of pathology;

Allen S. Lichter, M.D., department of radiation therapy; Dorit Adler, M.D., department of radiology; and Robert L. Cody, M.D., department of internal medicine, division of hematology/oncology, University of Michigan Hospitals.

This is the second University of Michigan medical text to be published by Lewis. "Medical Education: A Surgical Perspective," was published in the fall of 1986.

Lewis is a major commercial publisher of scientific, engineering and medical books and journals.

Postal Service Schedules Holiday Mail

The Postal Service never closes. Yes, even on Thanksgiving the U.S. Postal Service continues to accept and process mail.

On Thursday, Nov. 27 the USPS will operate on a holiday schedule similar to the regular Sunday schedule. That means that post offices will be closed and there will be no delivery except for Express Mail and Special Delivery.

With the busy Christmas mailing season here, Postal officials remind customers that they should plan ahead and mail early. Mail is accepted 365 days a year, Sunday and holidays included. Mail processing is a 24-hour, 7 days per week operation.

According to Detroit Division General Manager/Postmaster John M. Horne, "Many major mailers are aware that the USPS never closes and they often deposit mail after regular business hours and on holidays. Other postal customers can use this same information to their advantage too."

Getting letters mailed a day earlier means they will be delivered that much sooner. And collecting and processing mail on days when post office lobbies are closed helps the Postal Service balance its mail processing load the rest of the week, Horne said.

Mail is accepted every Sunday and holiday through mailboxes and collected from many collection boxes on major streets at least once.

As a special service, postal carriers will march in the Thanksgiving Parade with the Postal Service float and collect letters to Santa Claus from children to assure speedy delivery directly to Santa when he pays his annual visit to Detroit.

The postmaster also reminds customers that contemporary and traditional Christmas stamps for 1987 were issued in October. The contemporary stamp features red, blue and gold glass balls hanging from the limb of a Christmas pine. The traditional stamp is based on the 18th century painting, "A Gentleman in Adoration Before the Madonna."

Gregory Woman's Son Commended By Navy

Marine Cpl. Antal C. Schweitzer, son of Maryann Pruitt of 13315 Noah Rd., Gregory, has been awarded a Meritorious Mast while serving with 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

A Meritorious Mast is an official recognition from a Marine's commanding officer for superior individual performance. It is issued in the form of a bulletin published throughout the command, and a copy is entered in the Marine's permanent service records.

A 1982 graduate of Theodore Roosevelt High School, Wyandotte, he joined the Marine Corps in November 1985.

The Versailles Treaty, which ended World War I, created the International Labor Organization, according to a fact sheet, "Brief History of the U.S. Department of Labor," available from the department's Office of Information and Public Affairs, Washington, D.C. 20210.

Lyndon Township Board Proceedings*Lyndon Township Public Hearing and Board Meeting
November 17, 1987

Meeting called to order and minutes approved.

Consumers Power Company's 30 year franchise with the township expires in February. Vince Edwards from Consumers Power Company reviewed proposed ordinance to renew franchise. Board to review with MTA and discuss at next meeting.

Board meeting recessed.

Public hearing called to order for Variance request from Private Road Ordinance submitted by Tom Franklin. He wants to build an attached garage onto his home but cannot without a variance from the Private Road Ordinance.

Moved and carried to waive the requirements of the Private Road Ordinance in that an addition to this existing dwelling would not increase traffic on Boyce Drive.

Public hearing adjourned and board meeting reconvened.

Moved and carried to adopt the resolution supporting the Washtenaw County Solid Waste Program.

Zoning Inspector's, Planning Commission's, MTA's, Sheriff's, Constable's, and Treasurer's report presented.

Moved and carried to send a letter to DNR urging them to expedite DNR permit to the Village of Chelsea. There has been an increased amount of solid waste on Lyndon Township roads.

Moved and carried to pay bills totaling $3,538.00.

Adjourned.

Commemorative Bucks Urges Hunters To Register Kills

Dan LaRose, president of Commemorative Bucks of Michigan the official scorer of trophy whitetail deer, bear and elk in Michigan, recently announced the official opening of its 1987-88 big game scoring competition.

If, during the 1987 season, you take a trophy Michigan whitetail buck or black bear be sure and contact one of CBM's 73 official scorers located throughout the state. The minimum score for entry of a buck in the records is 100 for archery and 125 for firearms. There is no cost for having your prized animal scored and entered in the records.

The board of directors for CBM urges hunters to join the ranks of other successful trophy hunters by entering their deer and recognizing the outstanding quality of Michigan's whitetail bucks.

Chelsea Village Council Proceedings*Regular Session

November 3, 1987

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 by President Satterthwaite.

Present: President Satterthwaite, Clerk Anderson, Village Manager Weber and Assistant Village Manager Fahrner.

Trustees Present: Boham, Steele, Kanten, Bentley, Merkel and Hall.

Others Present: Hugh Wanty, C. Belser, Landfill Operator Clouse, Brian Hamilton, F. C. Belser, C. C. Wilson and Chief McDougall.

Motion by Merkel, supported by Steele, to approve the minutes of the regular meeting on October 20, 1987. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

Motion by Bentley, supported by Hall, to approve the minutes of the special meeting of October 28, 1987. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

A public hearing was held on a proposed Zoning Ordinance Amendment, Ordinance No. 79-XX, to zone properties east of Freer Road to RS-1. There was no response to the hearing from the public.

There were no reports from any Department or Commission Heads.

There were no Committee Reports.

The regular Village Council meeting was recessed at 7:40 p.m. to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Village Council reconvened at 7:45 p.m.

Mr. Claude Arnett, 650 Flander Street, requested that the Village look into doing some repair to the street around his driveway area. Village Manager Weber assured that something would be done when the weather permitted. Weber stated the problem mainly stems from the flatness of the grade in that area of Flander Street.

RESOLUTION

Historical Society Publishes 1988 Calendar Featuring Lighthouses

The Historical Society of Michigan recently announced its 1988 calendar, "Great Lakes Lights." Featuring pen and ink drawings by artist Leo Kuschel of Taylor, the calendar draws attention to the colorful maritime history of the Great Lakes and the lonely sentinels that have marked the routes for sailors since the early 18th century.

According to Tom Jones, executive director of the Historical Society of Michigan, this is its fifth lighthouse calendar. The Society is Michigan's state-wide, non-profit, membership-supported organization for the promotion and publication of Michigan's history. He adds, "that the Society is particularly pleased to feature the work of Leo Kuschel whose own family heritage includes ancestors who sailed the Lakes. Leo's work," Jones feels, "reflects the lure of the Lakes and his love of their legends and lore."

The "Great Lakes Lights" 1988 calendar includes lights on all the Great Lakes and in the states of Illinois, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Wisconsin, New York, as well as Michigan and Ontario. From Minnesota on the western end of the Great lakes chain to New York in the east, the "Great Lakes Lights" calendar covers the exciting breadth of the waters that have been the key element in the region's history and development.

The calendar is available directly from the Historical Society of Michigan, 2117 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor 48104, at $7.44 (includes postage and handling plus Michigan sales tax). Non-Michigan orders are $7.20, and Canadian orders are $9.10.

THE POE REEF LIGHT STATION is located in the Straits of Mackinac's South Channel, off Cheboygan. It is a relatively new lighthouse, built in 1929 to replace a light ship. The light stands 71 feet above water level, and is distinguished by its black-and-white day markings. Pen and ink drawings of this lighthouse along with 11 other Great Lakes lights are featured in the "Great Lakes Lights" 1988 Calendar, available directly from the Historical Society of Michigan, 2117 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor 48104. The cost is $7.20 for non-Michigan orders and $7.44 for Michigan orders, all post paid. Canadian orders are $9.10.

Farmers Prepare Top Concerns List For Farm Bureau

Wildlife crop damage, animal agriculture challenges, and the next federal farm program top the list of concerns of Michigan farmers this year, according to Sanilac county farmer Wayne Wood, who chairs the 20-member Michigan Farm Bureau Policy Development Committee.

The committee met at Farm Bureau Center in Lansing for three days recently to prepare a slate of policy resolutions to present to voting delegates at the organization's annual meeting, Dec. 14, in Grand Rapids. Committee members reviewed and consolidated a record 1,358 resolutions submitted by 69 county Farm Bureaus and advisory committees.

"The resolutions submitted by the county Farm Bureaus this year are quality resolutions that reflect the current concerns of Michigan farmers," said Wood, who also serves as vice-president of the state's largest farm organization. "Considering that we had a record number of resolutions this year, our committee had many lively and rewarding discussions on the issues. The result was a slate of many interesting resolutions for consideration by the voting delegates."

DAV Donates Van To Take Vets for Medical Treatment

Chelsea veterans need not worry about transportation to and from the Veterans Administration (VA) medical center in Allen Park.

That hospital was one of 19 VA medical facilities to receive a van from the non-profit Disabled American Veterans (DAV) on Tuesday, Nov. 17. The donation was made possible through a co-operative effort of the DAV's national organization and its Department of Michigan.

The van will be driven by volunteers from local DAV Chapters and DAV Auxiliary Units. These volunteers will be participating in a nation-wide DAV National Transportation Network. Overseeing the program at the VA Medical Center in Allen Park will be DAV Hospital service co-ordinator Thomas Tucker.

The number of DAV-donated vans across the country will increase to 24 by the end of the year. The one-million-member organization hopes to fully meet the transportation needs of veterans at all of the VA's 172 medical centers before the end of 1988, donating vans wherever necessary.

"The DAV Transportation Network was established last spring when budget constraints forced the VA to terminate beneficiary travel benefits for nearly all veterans using VA facilities for medical treatment," said DAV national director of voluntary services Bruce Nitsche. These benefits were paid to veterans to help them cover the costs of getting to and from the VA hospital or clinic.

"Among those affected by the benefit cut were most veterans seeking treatment for service-connected disabilities, as well as indigent veterans who have virtually no other source of health care," Nitsche said.

1987 when we are all another year older and perhaps, just a "tadd" wiser. Thanksgiving is counting your blessings one by one. The joyful and the sorrowful, for with the sunshine of life comes the storms. That is just the way of things.

Thanksgivings past are all rolled into this present holiday. Love, caring, sharing, family, are the "root" of our celebration. For some families there will be an empty chair at the table for the one called to eternity who was with us last year. Perhaps the empty chair will be for a son or daughter who ran away. An empty chair may be for someone who is in the armed services and gallantly give of themselves so we may enjoy our Freedoms here in America.

Whatever the reason for that "empty chair" we don't always have the answers of why? It is then we let Faith, Hope take over and hold us fast. The empty chair in a family circle can be filled in just a second for those we love are only a thought and prayer away at any given moment. Don't ever forget that.

Just like each one of us leaves fingerprints all about us every day, each is unique. None are alike. Then may we leave "heartprints" on those who touch our life. Let the spirit of this holiday season, compassion, understanding, love, kindness and genuine concern, one for another make 1987 very, very special indeed.

Just think about it. What a difference each of us can make. Happy holidays each and everyone.

Mrs. Millie Warner.

To the Editor:
A Tax Cut?

Recently Michigan Democratic Party Chair Richard Wiener published a letter in local papers stating Representative Margaret O'Connor voted against a tax cut when she voted against raising taxes on insurance companies. I was unaware the bill contained a tax cut so I called Mr. Wiener. Here's how he explained it.

The bill would take in $250 million dollars and return $80 million to us.

The doesn't appear to be a tax cut to me. That's a tax increase of $170 million.

Representative O'Connor appears to have been correct when she voted against the bill. Too bad the rest of the legislators didn't vote the way she did. She really is the taxpayers' friend.

Farm Bureau Opposes Insurance Premium Tax

Michigan's state representatives and senators are being told by their farmer constituents that they don't want their insurance premiums taxed. Legislation is currently under consideration that would place the same amount of tax on domestic insurance companies as the current 2% to 3% foreign companies pay.

According to Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Howard Kelly, domestic insurance companies that have their home offices within the state are taxed by the Single Business Tax. Farm Bureau, he said, supports using the Single Business Tax to both foreign and domestic companies.

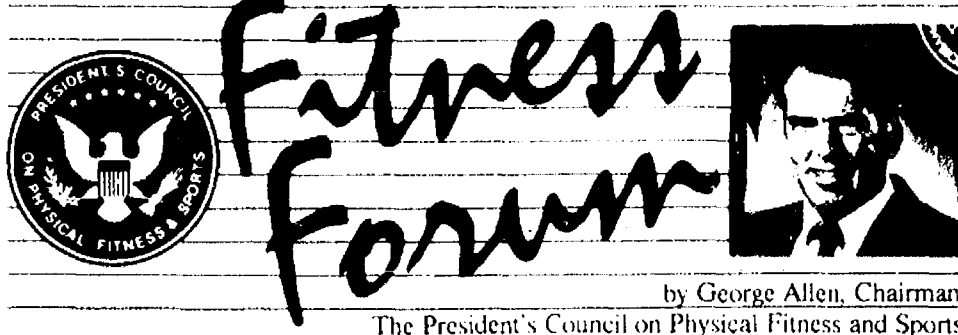

"When the state gives large tax credits to induce other businesses to locate in Michigan and create jobs, it seems contradictory to increase taxes on an industry that is already here, providing jobs and serving special insurance needs of Michigan families and businesses," Kelly said.

"To decrease the taxes on insurance companies headquartered in other states while increasing the taxes on our own companies is in contrast to the business climate we have been selling, that Michigan welcomes business and jobs," he said.

The "Other Half" of Education

If you are a parent or guardian of a young child you undoubtedly have given some thought to the quality of education that youngster is receiving. In doing so, have you paid attention to their physical education program, which often is referred to as the "other half" of education?

You should, because physical education is the only subject that involves both body and mind. Your child's physical education program should teach habits and skills that can be carried on throughout adulthood, helping him or her to lead active, healthy lifestyles.

First, you need to know whether or not your school has a physical education program and if not, why not. Don't be reluctant to ask your school principal, PTA or School Board about State laws and regulations on this subject. Decision makers often will respond to parental persuasion.

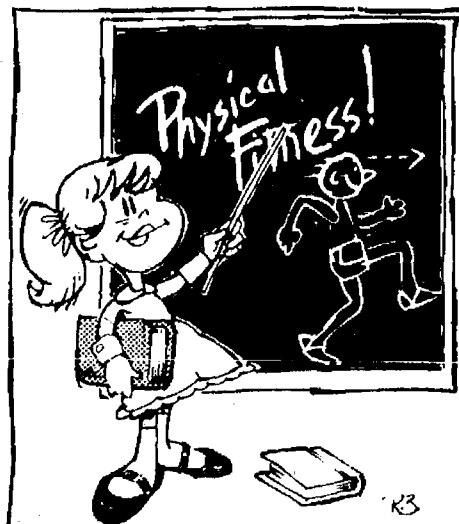

Where programs are in place, the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports suggests you check to see if they have three basic goals: to produce physically fit youth; to teach the relationship between physical activity and physical fitness and health; and to provide the skills, knowledge and motivation to keep working out in the future.

To tell whether the program meets these objectives, go through the following checklist. The more YES answers, the better the program.

Does your school provide at least one period per day of instruction in physical activity? The amount of curriculum time devoted to physical education is determined by the state's educational requirements.

Is part of each physical education class devoted to fitness activities like running, calisthenics, weight training or other types of vigorous exercise? Play alone won't develop physical fitness.

Does the class include instruction in lifetime sports such as tennis, volleyball, or even skiing? Skill in some sport is a valuable social and health asset.

Does the school give a screening test to identify students who are physically underdeveloped for their age and might need extra attention? Are there special programs for the handicapped and mentally retarded? All students can improve with help.

Are all students tested in physical fitness at least twice a year? This helps both teacher and student know if what they are doing in class is working.

The Presidential Physical Fitness Award Program can be used in a school or other youth-serving organization fitness testing program. Information is available from the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, Dept. 91, Washington, DC 20001.

The most important thing you can do, however, is be a role model. Make certain your child gets at least one-half hour of vigorous physical activity every day... often, with you as an exercise partner.

EDUCATION RESEARCH

Prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), Reston, Va.

Middle level education, if it is to serve the needs of its clients must remain more student-centered than academic focused, according to a national group of middle level experts.

The Council on Middle Level Education of the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP) has issued a 10-point program for meeting the needs of early adolescents to prepare them for high school and adult life.

"There is probably no age more difficult for educators than early adolescence," contends George Melton, NASSP deputy executive director. "These youngsters bring considerable excess baggage to middle level schools—ranging from just trying to understand their developing bodies to beginning to anticipate adulthood." (NASSP defines middle level grades as sixth through ninth).

The 10-point plan calls for general education, not narrow specialization.

"Certainly middle level youngsters should be grounded in the so-called basic academic skills," said Melton. "They, just as other youngsters, need to know how to communicate, compute and read. Yet, if we throw all early adolescents into specialized courses without room for individual exploration, we may lose a budding artist or musician or linguist to boredom."

Participates in NATO Sponsored Exercise

Spec. 4 Sandra L. Church, daughter of Gloria M. and Earl E. Church of Pinckney, has participated in the NATO-sponsored exercise, Return of Forces to Germany '87 (REFORGER).

The exercise was designed to evaluate plans and support agreements between NATO member nations, to exercise West Germany's ability to support deploying forces and to test the ability of European-based units to quickly link reinforcing units with their pre-positioned equipment.

The soldier is assigned to the 2nd Armored Division, Fort Hood, Tex.

AMY WOLTER, former member of the Chelsea High school band and now the drum major for the University of Illinois Marching Band, posed with Shawn Quilter, another Chelsea band alumnus, who is now playing trumpet in the University of Michigan Marching Band, during a reception for the bands after the Michigan-Illinois game in Champaign.

MANY CHELSEA BAND MEMBERS continue playing when they go to college, joining marching bands. When their schools play against each other they have a chance for a reunion. Shown is Amy Wolter, a junior at the University of Illinois and the drum major of that school's band, with Marie Sullivan, clarinet player with the Michigan State University Band. The two were reunited at a reception for the bands following the MSU-Illinois game in East Lansing.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, Nov. 16 were Grau, Comeau, Satterthwaite, Feeney, Cherem, superintendent Van Meer, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Larson, community education director Rogers, athletic director Reed, Curriculum director Bissell, guests.

Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by president Lloyd Grau.

Board approved the minutes of the Nov. 2 meeting.

Board approved the minutes of the executive session of the Nov. 2 meeting.

Entered as official communications were (1) invitation of the Washtenaw County School Officers Association, Dec. 1, Dexter High school, buffet dinner, 6:30 p.m., program 7:30 p.m.; (2) letter from Governor Blanchard regarding the Michigan Model for Comprehensive School Health Education; (3) letter from Linda Roberts, Sue Walton, Marie Colombo, and Mr. and Mrs. Ghent, expressing interest in a girls' golf team; (4) letter from Carol Hanke regarding cheerleaders; (5) letter from Laurel McDonald regarding a donation and installation of shelf dividers by Ed and Micki Hurst for South school media center; (6) notification from the University of Michigan that Chelsea High school has been accredited for 1987-88.

The board presented a certificate of appreciation to Phil Bareis, high school teacher in recognition of his contributions to the district's physical education program and his ongoing involvement in that department's activities. Principal John Williams spoke on Phil's behalf, indicating that Phil was instrumental in drawing up a plan to obtain new lockers and donated his time to assist with installation of the gates in the locker room.

The board also presented a certificate to Darlene Johnson in recognition of her assistance with the elementary (grades 3-5) swimming instructional program. Judy Ward, Mike Keeler, Sally Proctor, principal Darcy Stielstra, and Larry Reed were present to honor Darlene for her assistance in that program.

Athletic director Larry Reed, at the request of the board in a previous meeting, presented an athletic expansion program; his two top priorities were full-time trainer and a girls' golf team. This will become an action item at the Dec. 7 meeting.

Superintendent Van Meer presented the early retirement plan which was initiated during the last round of negotiations. The policy will be considered by the board only as a board policy and will not be incorporated into the negotiated agreement. This will be an action item at the Dec. 7 meeting.

The board considered, as an information item, a non-discrimination policy which would place the district in compliance with federal laws. This will be an action item at the Dec. 7 meeting.

The board approved the holding of only one meeting in December; that meeting will be Dec. 7.

The board approved a resolution electing to participate in the Michigan class-action lawsuit regarding asbestos in the schools. This action was recommended by legal counsel.

The board personnel committee discussed the planned brochure for the superintendent search.

Meeting adjourned at 9:23 p.m.

Santa Paws Is Coming to Humane Society

Santa Paws? Don't you mean Claus—Santa Claus? No, it's Santa Paws, a unique holiday fund-raising event, sponsored by the Humane Society of Huron Valley. Indulging pet enthusiasts are invited to bring their special companion for a personal photo session with Santa himself.

Photographs, taken by a professional company from the East Coast, are being offered in two sizes and in three different packages. One 3 1/4" by 4 1/4" photo for $6, two wallets for $6, or only $10 for all three. The price also includes a decorative holiday frame.

Santa Paws is scheduled for two consecutive Saturdays in December, the 5th and the 12th, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days. It will be held at the historic school house on the corner of Dixboro and Cherry Hill Rds., only a quarter mile from the shelter.

For questions call HSHV at 662-5545 and remember, Santa asks that dogs be on a lease and that cats are transported in a secure carrier.

DIANNA PARKER AND KELLY EISELE are the new owners of Ricardo's. Both women are graduates of the Huron Valley Beauty Academy and have several years experience working at other salons.

Ricardo's Changes Hands

Ricardo's Beauty Shop has two new owners, Kelly Eisele and Dianna Parker, both of Chelsea. The two bought the shop from Richard and Lisa Foytik on Oct. 1.

Eisele and Parker have been friends since childhood, having grown up together in Chelsea and attended area schools. They received their professional training during high school, participating in the consortium plan. For two years they attended Huron Valley Beauty Academy in Ann Arbor during the morning and then returned to Chelsea High in the afternoon for regular academic classes. After graduation, they worked at beauty shops in Ann Arbor.

Parker, who is a cousin of Lisa Foytik, began working at Ricardo's six months ago. When the Foytiks moved to Traverse City to open a new salon there, Parker suggested to her friend Eisele that they team up to buy the shop.

Parker and Eisele are not planning any major changes. They are keeping the name "Ricardo's" and are serving most of the same customers, having access to their charts. They are making a few cosmetic changes such as new wall paper and paneling and new chairs.

Ricardo's is open Monday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Service is by appointment or on a walk-in basis.

Deer Hunting Down in County

The number of hunters and the number of deer killed this firearms season is down in Washtenaw county, according to Chelsea conservation officer Craig Wales.

Wales said that he and his colleagues can't explain the decline in Washtenaw. He said hunting activity in areas outside the county appears to be normal.

"Activity is way down here," Wales said. "The weather was even clear and mild. The last two years we had rainy openers but the activity was higher." Wales said his information is based on the decreased number of hunting violations.

Native American Festival

Recently South school's first graders spent an entire day learning about Native American customs.

Sunny weather greeted the participants on Oct. 16 as more than 80 school children and about 30 South school parents gathered at the Waterloo Nature Center parking lot for a day of festivities.

During the day the children learned about some traditional foods used by the Indians and had the opportunity to make and sample fry bread, popcorn and sumac tea.

Skills such as grinding corn, using a bow drill to make a fire and how to fasten arrowheads onto shafts were also taught.

Each child was able to weave some natural fibers on a primitive loom, make a beaded necklace and even have their face painted.

The children learned about musical instruments, dance and the importance of storytelling and sign language as a means of communication. Indians both young and old enjoyed playing games and the first graders tested their aim, agility and strength by playing a variety of games.

To the Indians a circle represents continuity and the day's activities ended by gathering in a circle, sharing food and dancing to the beat of the drums. Traditionally, Indians held pow-wows so people could gather together, meet with friends and relatives, share experiences and trade. During the first grader's Native American Festival children, parents and teachers gathered together and shared in a learning experience.

The festival was developed and organized by first grade parents Shari Sacks and Carol Strahler.

Parents were taught skills, which they in turn demonstrated and taught to the children. Parents volunteered to gather raw materials, make games and even construct a loom.

Prior to the festival South schools first grade teachers taught the children about Native Americans and the classes were visited by Yvonne Parker, a Seneca, and Joan Yother, an Ojibwa.

The children learned that there are different kinds of Indians and that often the differences in culture are related to where the Indians live. Joan's people used to live in birch bark-covered wigwams while Yvonne's people lived in log houses.

The most important lesson taught was that Native Americans are no different than anybody else. They live in modern houses, wear modern clothes, but do celebrate their traditional heritage just as many nationalities do.

AMY HEYDLAUFF, parent, teaches the first-graders about Indian musical instruments of rattles, sticks and drums made from gourds and other natural objects found in the environment.

PARENT JOHN MCKENZIE showed South school first-graders how to start a fire without matches, using a bow drill. Students working with him included Peter Heydlauff, Paul Hinshaw and Matthew Milazzo.

JOAN YOTHER, an Ojibwa Indian, told first-grade students of Mrs. Schiller and Mrs. Yager about the Indian "coupe stick." She explained that the coupe stick was used in battle to touch the enemy and the person gained great respect, much more so than with a gun or bow and arrow.

BUFFALO ROBE GAME: South school parent Scott Morgan showed first-graders a popular Indian game that tests strength and agility. The two contestants face each other across the buffalo robe and try to pull their opponent onto the rug. Richie Schaffer is shown tugging on his opponent.

SIGN LANGUAGE was used by the students in listening to Indian stories. They learned that when Indians came to their pow-wows to trade and dance they used sign language to communicate because their dialects were different. Indian history was passed on through legends and story-telling. The story was told here by parent Kathy Trudell.

YVONNE PARKER, a Seneca Indian, showed South school first-graders how her ancestors made a turtle rattle.

DYED TUNICS made by using black walnut husks were worn by first graders at their all-day study of American Indian customs. Shown in tunics before the teepee are Peter Heydlauff, Eric Strahler, Lily Sacks and Megan Morgan.

THE SNAKE DANCE: To the Indians, a circle represents continuity, so for the day's concluding activities first-graders formed a circle, sharing food and dancing to the beat of the drums.

AFTER YEARS OF BEING COVERED by a suspended ceiling, the dome at Chelsea's 14th district courthouse has finally been uncovered for good. The dome is perhaps the grandest part of the building, which has suffered from well-intentioned but misguided modernization attempts over the years. The county is turning the former bank into a full service courthouse and the dome will sit directly over the courtroom. The project is being financed mostly by the county. However, a local fundraising effort paid to have the building restored to its original condition. The court has taken up temporary headquarters in Sylvan Town Hall on W. Middle St.

A SUBSTATION for the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, and a holding cell, are being constructed in the basement of Chelsea's 14th district courthouse during the renovation and restoration project. The substation will be moved from its present location at the Chelsea High school bus garage on Old US-12 near Freer Rd.

PHOENIX CONSTRUCTION of Ann Arbor is renovating and restoring Chelsea's 14th district courthouse this winter. Company owner, Egan Lipps, above, said, "This is perhaps the grandest building in all of Washtenaw county." He said that various modernization attempts over the years "butchered" much of the marble. "It's a shame what was done to this building, they didn't know what they had here." The project is scheduled to take eight months.

THIS SAFE is one of the unusual items that has been uncovered during the renovation and restoration of Chelsea's 14th district courthouse at S. Main and South Sts. The building was originally a bank built by Frank Glazier.

In fiscal year 1986, more than 10,715 contractors were provided with 59,807 hours of technical assistance to enable them to comply better with regulations under the Office of Federal Contract Compliance (OFCCP), according to the Labor Department's annual report for fiscal year 1986. OFCCP fosters affirmative action and the elimination of discrimination from the workplace of federal contractors and helps obtain redress for victims of discrimination.

Village Pays Sewer Plant Bills

Village council voted to pay bills totaling $247,360 related to the final design work for the wastewater treatment plant.

The bills included engineering, financial and legal work related to the project.

Council vote came at their regular meeting Tuesday, Nov. 17.

Society Presenting Handel's 'Messiah'

Heralding the arrival of the holiday season are the annual offerings of Handel's "Messiah," presented by the University Musical Society of the University of Michigan. The three performances take place the first week-end in December: Friday and Saturday, Dec. 4 and 5, at 8 p.m. and Sunday afternoon, Dec. 6, at 2 p.m., all in Hill Auditorium on the U-M's Ann Arbor campus.

Donald Bryant will conduct the 250-voice University Choral Union, members of the University Symphony Orchestra, with four outstanding soloists: Lorna Haywood, soprano; Lucille Beer, mezzo-soprano; Joseph Evans, tenor; and David Evitts, bass-baritone.

Tickets are available at the Musical Society's Burton Tower office or by mail; phone orders are accepted with VISA or MasterCard. Contact the University Musical Society, Burton Memorial Tower, Ann Arbor 48109-1270; telephone (313) 764-2538. Hours are 9 to 4:30 weekdays, 9 to noon Saturday. (Closed Thanksgiving week-end.)

ADOPTION WEEK 1987 22 NOVEMBER - 28 NOVEMBER

Foster care is supposed to be temporary. But for thousands of children across the country, legally free for adoption, it could mean an entire childhood. Two out of three of these youngsters have been in care more than two years; only two out of ten are likely to move into adoption. If you believe in their right to a permanent, loving family, call Spaulding for Children, 475-8693, or your county social services department for more information on adopting a waiting child. Especially now, during Adoption Week.

FAITH IN ACTION distributed Thanksgiving food boxes last Friday for tomorrow's holiday. Much of the food was collected by Beach Middle school students. In addition, Chelsea Community Hospital donated turkeys and Chelsea Milling gave Jiffy Mix products. About 50 needy

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar

We've often talked in this column about wild animals that almost anyone can see in the backyard—birds, rabbits, woodchucks and so on. But a lot of people in some parts of Michigan see deer in their yards. In the Upper Peninsula and some parts of northern lower Michigan, deer visit yards almost daily. Even in urban and suburban areas, deer turn up in residential areas and even downtown areas in the fall.

There are several reasons for this: —At this time of year, backyards often contain some very attractive foods, such as apples or crabapples. If you fail to pick up all the fallen fruits and slice up a few with the lawnmower, any deer that happen by will find the aroma of apple hard to resist.

—Particularly in suburban or rural residential areas where homes may rim on a square mile that has undeveloped or agricultural land at the center, deer may use the trees and shrubs of landscaped lawns as travel cover as they move from one square to the next. When the corn is cut and the naturally occurring brush drops its leaves, these cultivated plants may provide the best cover in the square and the only cover around the perimeter.

—In October and November, deer are moving around a lot because of the breeding season. A doe in heat feeding on your old apple tree may attract a buck into your yard. A doe that's not quite so receptive to the buck's attentions may come into your yard to try to get away from him.

—From Nov. 15 to Nov. 30, deer show up in backyards to get away from all the hunters in the woods and fields. They'll come in in the early morning and bed down at the edge of the yard and stay there until dark. It's not unusual for a hunter to come slogging home after spending a damp, cold day in the woods and flush a deer that's been practically perched on the doorstep all day.

—As food gets harder to find and some of it is covered with snow, deer may move into yards in search of nutritious food: white cedar (arbutus), to landscapers, crabapples and apple trees, and the seeds and grains in backyard bird feeders. They may demolish feeders in their persistent efforts to get every last bit of the high quality feed.

For most of us, deer in the backyard is not something we expect to see. But for others who live on the edge of deer habitat, the sight of deer in the yard is nothing new. In northern Michigan, in fact, people feed deer as a recreational activity the same way urban and suburban residents feed birds. To them, it's just one of the activities to enjoy as part of nature from your backdoor.

Travel Bureau Issues Winter Activity Guide

If winter comes early, travelers in Michigan will be ready for it.

Just released is the Michigan Travel Bureau's new 1987-88 Winter Travel Planner: 56 full-color pages filled with information on Alpine and Nordic (that's downhill and cross-country) skiing, on the state's thousands of miles of snowmobile trails, on more than 200 attractions (indoor and out), on activities that range from winter canoeing to ice carving.

Published simultaneously with this seasonal travel guide is the Michigan Travel Bureau's Calendar of Events, covering the months of November through March. Separate publication of the calendar resumes a former bureau practice—producing a glove-box-size, easy-to-use guide to what's going on in Michigan for the coming season. The calendar was incorporated into recent seasonal travel planners but was given back its own identity due to popular demand.

"We are in the final quarter of Michigan's third consecutive record-shattering year of travel activity," said Travel Bureau Director John Savich. "Publications such as this Travel Planner and Calendar of Events certainly make their contribution to our $14 billion industry and can help the industry contribute to the state's over-all economy even as other sectors begin to scale down."

These publications are among a dozen or more produced by the Travel Bureau—including bed and breakfast, hotel/motel, and cabins/cottages guides; and golf, charter boat, and camping directories.

All may be obtained by calling the Michigan Travel Bureau at 1-800/5432-YES.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON AMENDED TAX INCREMENT FINANCING AND DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT PLAN

TAKE NOTICE that the Village Council of the Village of Chelsea shall hold a Public Hearing on the Amended Tax Increment Financing and Downtown Development Plan of the Village of Chelsea Downtown Development Authority on December 15, 1987 at 7:30 p.m. at the Village Council Chambers, 2nd Floor, Chelsea Village Hall, 104 E. Middle Street, Chelsea, Michigan 48118. A description of the proposed development area is set forth hereafter. Maps, plats, and a description of the development plan, including the tax increment financing, are available for inspection at the Business Offices of the Village of Chelsea, 1st Floor, Chelsea Village Hall, 104 E. Middle Street, Chelsea, Michigan 48118 during regular business hours. There will be no relocating of families or displacement of individuals from the area. All aspects of the development plan will be open for discussion at the Public Hearing. At the time of the hearing, the Village Council shall afford an opportunity for interested persons to be heard and shall consider communication in writing with reference thereto. The fullest opportunity for expression of opinion, for argument on the merits, and for the introduction of documentary evidence pertinent to the development plan will be received. The description of the area is:

Lavern J. Hafner

220 Pierce St.
Chelsea
Lavern J. Hafner, 220 Pierce St., Chelsea, age 49, died suddenly Wednesday evening, Nov. 18, at Chelsea Community Hospital.

He was born July 12, 1938 in Chelsea, the son of William Joseph and Mary Barbara (Honeck) Hafner.

On March 10, 1982 in Chelsea he married Barbara (Jeannie) Apel and she survives.

Vern was employed at Ford Motor Co., Saline, as a molding engineer for the past 22 years.

He was a life-long resident of Chelsea and was a member of the Chelsea Fire Department for 25 years, retiring in December of 1983, and a veteran of the U.S. Army. He was an active bowler and a member of the 700 Club League of Jackson, Belmar House League of Ann Arbor and the Sunday Nite Left-Overs of Chelsea and a member of St. Mary's Catholic church of Chelsea.

Surviving in addition to his wife is a son, Lonnie, at home; his mother, Mrs. Mary Hafner Crockett of Chelsea; four brothers, Charles (Bud) Hafner and Leonard Hafner, both of Chelsea, Leo Hafner of Dexter and Dennis Hafner of Chelsea; five sisters, Genevieve Brown of Ann Arbor, Norma Wierich of Clinton, Barbara Lou Anderson of Florida, Josephine Hafner of Whitmore Lake, and Gloria Bristle of Saline; and many nieces, nephews and cousins.

He was preceded in death by his father and a sister, Mary Ann Hafner.

A scripture service was held Friday evening at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

Mass of the Resurrection was held Saturday, Nov. 21 at 11 a.m. from St. Mary's Catholic church with the Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis officiating.

Burial followed in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Chelsea.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to the American Diabetes Association or the American Heart Association.

William S. Hunter

Landfill Is Closed For Hauling Firms

Village of Chelsea's landfill on Werkner Rd. has been closed to commercial haulers.

Village council voted on Tuesday, Nov. 3 to close the landfill if the Department of Natural Resources would not give the village written permission to begin dumping in a new landfill cell. The village wanted the permission in writing because the DNR told the village administration that a new license for the landfill may not be approved until Dec. 10.

Village residents and individual township residents will still be allowed to use the facility. The only commercial hauler with access will be Bob's Hauling, which has the village's garbage contract.

Ski Spline Service Activated

As the 1987-88 downhill skiing season gets underway, the Travel & Tourist Association of Southeast Michigan will be activating its 24-hour taped Spline phone service with up-to-date information on Southeast Michigan's major ski areas. The number is (313) 585-7233.

There is no cost for the service other than the normal phone rates. The taped message contains information on conditions and special events.

The DNR has tied the issuance of a new license to capping filled portions of the landfill and to having an additional monitoring well dug.

Village and DNR officials met last week to discuss the problem, Fahrner said. And the DNR declined to give written permission, he said.

Village officials have been openly skeptical about dealing with the DNR and said they fear being in the position of operating the landfill without a license. They admit they are still smarting from a $5,000 fine levied against the village for not having the wastewater treatment plant in compliance. The perception among village officials is that the DNR, due to its slow review process, was largely to blame for the non-compliance.

The landfill will remain closed to commercial haulers until a new license is issued.

High School PTT Group Seeks Members

Parents and Teachers Together organization at Chelsea High school is looking for parents who would like to help work on various school projects.

The group does not have officers and does not raise funds. It meets informally on the third Thursday of every month and its goals are to maintain good communication between parents and the administration, provide a forum for exchanging ideas and information, and to support and enhance school programs.

Some of the projects that have been discussed include the extension of the high school library hours, continuing the high school newsletter, working with the "Thanks for Being You" project, assisting with attendance calls, surveying the high school staff about PTT involvement, and a campus beautification project.

For more information about PTT, contact principal John Williams at 475-9131.

Variances Sought To Allow Office Space

Owners of the Chelsea Industries buildings on N. Main St. will seek special use variances to allow them to rent office space.

The buildings, which house Chelsea Industries, several smaller businesses, and provide warehouse space for several other businesses, are zoned for industrial use only.

Jack and Nancy Dunn, part owners of Chelsea Industries, told the council on Nov. 17 that they have 15 offices available for rent—eight in the clock tower building and seven in the former North American Rockwell building, now called the Chelsea Industries Annex. A variance is required for each building.

Council decided against a recommendation by planning consultant Carl Schmult to seek a new zoning district for the complex, which would allow both industrial and commercial businesses.

A date for a public hearing will be set at the next council meeting Dec. 1.

Village Buys Sign For Industrial Park

Chelsea Industrial Park will soon have its own entry way sign.

Village council voted to spend $6,400 for a metal sign to be built by Huron Valley Advertising of Ann Arbor.

Chelsea's Dajo Sign Co. offered a wooden sign for about $800 less that would require periodic maintenance.

Third Chelsea Tour Leaflet Published

A third in a series of tour leaflets has been released by the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce. The "Valleys and Vistas" countryside tour will highlight portions of the Waterloo Recreation Area northwest of Chelsea. It is terrain scoured by glaciers as they moved slowly over southeast Michigan during the Ice Age.

The auto tour will take a leisurely hour and cover approximately 33 miles. Sections of the tour may be appropriate for bicycling, particularly in the Waterloo Area.

This tour leaflet is a product of the "Chelsea's Stories" Program developed by Dr. Gabe Cherem and students of Eastern Michigan University, with funding from the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce. Previous publications in this series were the "Chelsea's Stories" coloring book, the "Steeple and Stones" countryside driving tour and the "Home-Town Heritage" village walking tour. Copies of all may be obtained from the Chelsea area merchants or from the Chamber of Commerce, P.O. 94, Chelsea 48118, (313) 475-1145.

The text was written by Linda Chapman and Rochelle Balkam of "Visions of Thyme." Illustrations were done by Chelsea resident Cathy Muha.
