ONE HUNDRED-SEVENTEENTH YEAR—No. 32

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1988

18 Pages This Week

A DISPUTE between the DNR and the Village of Chelsea is taking place over the licensing of the landfill on Werkner Rd. The village has been trying to obtain a license since last spring but has encountered one obstacle after another. The latest roadblock is that the DNR wants the village to take sole responsibility for any clean-up that might result from groundwater contamination.

CHELSEA LANDFILL may have to close if the village can't secure a license from the Department of Natural Resources. The village and DNR are waiting for the results of tests to see if groundwater under the landfill has been contaminated. Until that problem is cleared up, DNR says it won't issue a license.

Stockbridge Site Is Finalist For $4.4 Billion Atom Smasher

A site northwest of Chelsea near Stockbridge has been chosen as one of eight finalists to receive a $4.4 billion atom smasher in a federally-subsidized project.

A federal panel announced the selection of the eight finalists last Tuesday, Dec. 29.

The project, which would become operational in the mid 1990s, could have a profound economic effect on the Chelsea area. The project is scheduled to have a $270 million annual operating budget and employ about 3,000 highly-paid scientists.

Part of the 52-mile supercollider tunnel would be built almost due west of Chelsea in Jackson county, according to reports.

Other finalists include sites in Texas, Tennessee, Arizona, Colorado, Illinois, New York and North Carolina.

According to reports, the Stockbridge site was chosen as one of the finalists for its academic and industrial resources (University of Michigan and Michigan State University), as well as geological conditions and an available workforce. In addition, it is relatively close to Detroit Metro Airport and recreation areas.

The fact that groundwater would have to be eliminated from the area was seen as the primary drawback to the site.

Stockbridge Boy Charged With Damaging Field

A Stockbridge youth has been charged with malicious destruction of property for damaging the Beach Middle school athletic field with his car on Dec. 30.

Scott A. Schouwenaar, 17, was charged after he drove his 1976 Pontiac across the fields and tore up the sod, police said. Damage was estimated at less than $100.

Three other youths who were in the car with Schouwenaar were not charged.

The project would require the purchase of land from about 700 property owners. About 220 residences would be affected.

According to the National Academy of Sciences, the project would cause minimal environmental damage.

Should the project be located in Stockbridge, Michigan would become one of the premier centers of physics research.

The collider, the first of its kind, would be composed of thousands of miles of pipe.

DNR, Village Brace For Battle as Landfill May Have Polluted Water

By Brian Hamilton

Michigan Department of Natural Resources has asked the Village of Chelsea to sign a consent decree releasing the DNR from all responsibility should the village landfill require clean-up due to groundwater contamination. DNR says it won't issue a new operating license until the decree is signed.

"I won't sign it," said village president Jerry Satterthwaite.

"I won't sign it even if council wants me to, but I'm sure they don't."

The request is the latest, and most serious, setback in a series of problems the village has had obtaining a new landfill operating license from the DNR.

Tests of water taken from two of six monitoring wells at the Werkner Rd. landfill by the DNR last summer show varying levels of contamination from four organic chemicals, according to DNR engineer Cynthia Noble. Among them are vinyl chloride (32 parts per billion), a suspected carcinogen, and CIS-1,2 dichloroethylene (230 parts per billion). All four chemicals could come from industrial solvents and other sources.

However, tests commissioned by the village show no trace of any of the chemicals that appeared in the DNR tests, according to assistant village manager Lee Fahrner, but did show different contaminants.

Consequently, DNR officials and the village's consultant (Soils and Materials Engineers of Ann Arbor) took samples together in December, divided them, and are conducting independent tests on them. The results of the village's tests probably won't be available until the end of the month, Fahrner said. DNR's labs have been known to take several months on tests.

Fahrner and Noble agree that the original, unlined portion of the landfill is probably responsible for the pollution, if there is any. Many area businesses have used the landfill but the bulk of the fill is household trash, Fahrner said.

However, the contamination the DNR reported came from wells used to monitor the newer, lined areas, Noble said.

Sometime in early January, Washtenaw county will test the wells of several residences near the landfill for evidence of contamination, according to Steve Manville, solid and hazardous waste specialist for the county. He said that if there is any evidence of contamination that he would recommend residents not drink the water because the levels of the contaminants could fluctuate and the county can't monitor the wells on a routine basis.

Fahrner said he'd be surprised if residential wells showed any contamination because they go significantly lower into the ground than the landfill.

"We can't issue a license with a documented groundwater problem," Noble said.

"Existing monitoring wells have shown contamination which is a health concern. We have to investigate and find out how widespread the problem is and we have to work with the village to address it."

It's Satterthwaite's contention that if there is a groundwater problem the DNR should bear responsibility for the clean-up because the village has followed DNR guidelines since the landfill was originally built. He said the Headlee Amendment may come into play.

Fahrner agreed with Satterthwaite. "If there is a problem it's not due to negligence on our part," Fahrner said.

Noble stopped short of calling the village negligent but said used portions of the landfill "were not capped in a timely manner, which may have contributed to the problem." Capping is a process of putting a layer of clay over the top of the landfill to seal it.

Fahrner denied the allegations saying the village has only missed one deadline for a second round of capping by a couple of months.

"The landfill was never sitting completely exposed," Fahrner said.

The village may have to close the landfill down completely if a license is not obtained within a few months, Satterthwaite said. Space is running low.

The landfill has been closed to all commercial haulers, with the exception of the village's trash contractor, since November because of the licensing problems. At that time the DNR would not give the village written permission to begin filling a new landfill cell until the license was issued. So the facility was closed to commercial haulers.

An Oct. 28 letter from Noble indicated that the new license would be issued after an additional groundwater monitoring well was dug and after the village capped filled portions of the landfill. However, the lab results from the summer tests came in November, Noble said, creating another obstacle to obtaining the license.

Noble said something "will have to be worked out" with the consent decree before a license is issued. She said the DNR "absolutely will not pay" for any clean-up. She said the village would have to agree to complete certain tasks within a certain time frame or show that any contamination problem has been solved before a new license is forthcoming.

"It's back in the village's court," Noble said.

"If they say they're not going to do anything about it, we'd have to get with the attorney general's office."

The village depends on a constant flow of trash, primarily from commercial haulers, to provide funds to pay for the landfill's operation. Even though the landfill is closed to commercial haulers, Fahrner estimated that the landfill fund will break about even this year because the first half of the year was profitable.

However, the village spent $40,000 to have the new landfill cell lined this year when officials thought obtaining a license would be a routine procedure.

Steele Says He'll Run for President, Satterthwaite Also Likely Candidate

Village Trustee Richard Steele intends to run for president in the March elections.

Steele, of 211 Lincoln St., is in the middle of his third two-year term on the council.

So far Steele is the only candidate to announce his intentions by filling out a petition and returning it to village clerk Allen Anderson.

Treasurer Kathleen Chapman, 629 N. Main St., has picked up a petition and intends to run for a second term. Steele, an employee of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, said he made up his mind to run several months ago.

"There are probably a couple of issues that made me decide to run," Steele said.

"The first is money and does the village have enough of it. Can we stretch what we have to accomplish what we need to do without being a burden to the taxpayer. Second is that the (Department of Natural Resources) is really putting the screws to us. They're putting a lot of constraints on the village that could really cause problems."

Steele was referring to the licensing problems the village is having with the DNR concerning the landfill (see related story in this issue).

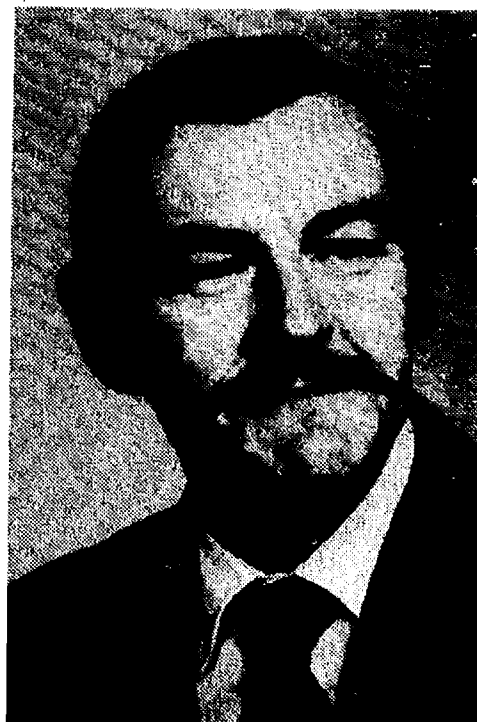

"The village is just ready to take off, especially in terms of new housing, and this has to happen. The way the whole thing has been handled by the DNR is an incredible mess and it is costing the village taxpayers a lot of money."

Steele said he doesn't "see any big conflicts with Jerry" Satterthwaite, the current mayor, and has not decided to run because he is dissatisfied with his leadership.

If Steele is elected, someone would be appointed to fill out his term on the council.

Jerry Satterthwaite, 423 McKinley St., said last week that he is "90 percent certain" he'll run for his third term as mayor.

"I'm going to pick up a petition and get it signed," Satterthwaite said.

RICHARD STEELE is planning to run for village president this year.

"Six months ago I said I wasn't going to do it because there is so much work involved. But my lifestyle has changed and I won't be so busy."

Satterthwaite said that he has been urged to run because he is familiar with the major issues that confront the village.

"My personal philosophy as president is to try to keep everybody happy and not take a strong hard stand on anything."

Trustee Phil Boham, 122 East St., said he is also considering a run for president but he wants to see who else decides to run for president and the three open trustee seats before making a decision.

Boham, director of personnel at Chelsea Community Hospital, will be ending his first two-year term on the council this March.

The trustee seats of Gary Bentley and Joe Merkel, 743 Taylor St., are also up for election this year.

Bentley, who's employed by Chelsea Milling Co., said last week that he's leaning toward running again but will make up his mind this month.

Bentley will be completing his first term.

Merkel, owner of Wolverine Food & Spirits, is the senior member of the council. He could not be reached for comment before press time. Merkel will be completing his fourth term.

Residents interested in running for office should contact clerk Anderson for a petition. The petitions require the signatures of a minimum of 15 voters.

Cassidy Lake Escapists Captured by Police

Two Cassidy Lake Technical School inmates were captured by Chelsea police Jan. 1 as they were attempting to escape in an automobile.

According to police reports, Lucious Dates, 25, and Demetrius Dinkins, 18, were captured as they were riding in an automobile driven by a woman, Maletus Glover, near M-52 and Old US-12 at 10:38 p.m.

Officer John Dettling was on routine patrol when he saw the Mustang driving over the speed limit south on M-52. Radar clocked the car moving 57 miles per hour in a 45 zone.

At the same time, Chelsea police received a call from Cassidy Lake saying the men were traveling in a dark car down M-52.

After the traffic stop, Dates admitted the pair had escaped the minimum security prison. He was (Continued on page eight)

A 9,400-acre tract of land in south Lima township was listed, apparently in error, on the National Register of Historic Places since 1983, much to the surprise of township officials and citizens who live in the area and say they were never notified. Brian and Sue Urquhart have led a campaign to cancel the listing, and have contacted 253 people with whole or partial interests in this tract of land.

Jack Merkel will not run for reelection as village president, and village trustee Jerry Satterthwaite will be a candidate to succeed him in the post.

Expanded Health Services
For U.P. Seniors

Expanding community-based services and providing institutional long-term care for senior citizens in the Upper Peninsula was the focus of a report released recently by the Department of Public Health.

The report, "Long-Term Care in Michigan's Upper Peninsula," was the result of a year-long study to determine what types of services and long-term care are needed by the Upper Peninsula's seniors.

"With the expected growth in Michigan's elderly population, this report has tremendous implications for the future," said Department of Public Health Director Gloria Smith.

"It provides a framework for addressing the long-term care needs of seniors in the U.P. and can also serve as a model for all rural areas of the state," she added.

The project also produced a directory of services for U.P. seniors, which is being used to assist seniors in identifying and accessing services to meet existing needs.

Voters May Have Final Say
In Medicaid Abortion Question

Over 120,000 signatures have been collected by a pro-choice group calling for a referendum in November on a new state law banning elective Medicaid abortions.

The questions would be submitted to the voters if the petitions contain 119,820 valid signatures of registered voters. The group will continue to collect signatures to provide a cushion against names which are invalid, a group leader reported.

Margy Long, who is co-ordinating the petition drive for the Committee for the Protection of Michigan Lives, a People's Campaign for Choice group, said, "the drive is going really well."

To provide a buffer of about 60,000 signatures, the committee will continue to collect signatures through Jan. 22, or one week past an earlier goal of the 15th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court ruling making elective abortions legal, she said.

The petitions will be presented to the secretary of state's office for verification in early February, Long said.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

We are going so fast and doing so much these days our words can't keep up with us. Clem Webster told the fellows at the country store Saturday night that he had saw where the new Random House dictionary has 5,000 new words in it, but still we ain't got enough to do the job. He noted that our words have got so weak we got to prop em up with more words, and pre is a favorite prop.

Fer instint, Clem said, there's no such thing as planned, everthing is pre-planned. Retirement is to big a step to be planned, it has to be pre-planned, if all the financial advisors know anything. Funerals are the same. All the modern undertakers are offering pre-planning as the only way to go. Clem said the idee here must be that planning your funeral after you're dead will be a heap easier if you done your proper pre-planning alive.

Clem said he has been pre-thinking about pre-finding out what happens in pre-planning that couldn't be took care of during planning, but he's been so tied up figgering out the difference between a free gift and a gift until he can't find the pre-time.

Actual, Clem said, he is of a mind that this silliness is wordupmanship that grows out of promotion. He had saw where a newspaper was complaining recent about advertisers using percent wrong. It said one ad claimed a dental rinse reduces plaque "by over 300 percent," which means it would remove all the stuff three times. In another ad, a airline claimed it has improved lost-luggage claims 100 percent in the past six months. If this is so, Clem said, it never loses a suitcase.

Ed Doolittle picked up on the idee and said the worst he'd heard is pre-school. It wasn't enough fer public schools to feed children breakfast and lunch and teach em all day, he said, they had to keep em after school til Mama got off work and set up summer classes fer them that didn't pay attention during the regular year. Then regular school fell short, so kindergarten fer babies three and four year old. Next we'll demand pre-training so the babies will be ready fer pre-school.

The plain truth is, Ed declared, folks are doing to their children what they're doing to their words. They're trying to keep them one up on everybody else's. If that boy plays in a soccer league fer two-year-olds, my boy is going to git in a soccer program fer pre-walkers. If five-year-old Susie up the road goes to cheerleader camp, my Molly will go at four, and she'll wear makeup.

We got parents playing classical music to their kids before they're born, and paying good money fer private French lessons fer kids that ain't house broke, but less had time to learn English. We keep pushing everthing back and schools will have to offer pre-birth, Ed said, and then working parents won't have to come home at all.

Personal, I didn't git into the discussion, but I can see where pre-everything is part of the way we live. Recent we were deep in pre-Christmas that started pre-Thanksgiving. We keep falling over ourselves trying to stay ahead of one another.

As fer outdoing ourselves, I saw by the papers where a court in California said state-paid agriculture reserch went to far inventing a tomatoer picking machine. It does such a good job it costs farm jobs and it is unfair to small farmers that can't afford it.

Yours truly,

Borders, Cartwright Married At St. Paul UCC in Chelsea

Sara Lynn Borders of Muskegon, formerly of Chelsea, and Thomas Leonard Cartwright of Muskegon were married Oct. 24 at St. Paul United Church of Christ in Chelsea.

The bride is the daughter of Erma and Norm O'Connor of North Lake. The bridegroom is the son of Helen Cartwright of Stone Mountain, Ga., and the late Thomas Cartwright.

The Rev. Erwin R. Koch performed the ceremony before 225 guests. Best man Terry Ireland sang, "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face," and "The Wedding Song."

The bride wore a dress of satin with a modified scoop neck, long sleeves which came to a point, and a chapel train which ended in tiers of ruffles. The bodice and sleeves were accented with lace and seed pearls. Her headpiece was designed of seed pearls with a fingertip-length veil attached. She completed her costume with an antique strand of pearls. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white roses, white carnations, and pale yellow freesias.

Dawn Borders, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a teal-length, peacock blue, baroque satin dress and carried a bouquet of pale yellow miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Barb Davis and Patti Sweeney, both of Chelsea, and Vikki Kirk of Muskegon were bridesmaids. Their dresses and bouquets were the same as those of the maid of honor.

Flower girl Andrea Hulett of Byron, wore a dress similar to that of the bridesmaids and carried a miniature bouquet to match the bridesmaids. She wore a halo of baby's breath.

Nicholas Hulett, brother of the flower girl, carried the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow.

Best man was Terry Ireland, friend of the bridegroom from Muskegon. Friends of the bridegroom, David Farrell and Jay Allen of Muskegon, and Greg Aerts of Ann Arbor served as ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a raspberry tea-length dress. The bridegroom's mother chose a periwinkle blue tea-length dress. Both mothers wore white rose corsages.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Grass Lake Lions Club. Julie Sundling attended the guest book. Michelle Clark and Nancy Heller cut the wedding cake. Hope Sieradski and Jo Thompson poured punch.

After a one-week honeymoon trip to Chicago, the couple are making their home in Muskegon.

The bride is a 1986 graduate of Central Michigan University and is at present a swim coach and a substitute teacher for Muskegon schools.

The bridegroom graduated from Central Michigan University in 1983 and is a recreational therapist with Child and Family Services in Muskegon.

HARVEY-EDWARDS: Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey of Chelsea have announced the engagement of their daughter, Carol Ann, to Lawrence Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Edwards of Ann Arbor. The bride-to-be is a 1981 graduate of Chelsea High school and is currently employed at White Pine, Inc., Ann Arbor. Her fiancé is a 1983 graduate of Pioneer High school of Ann Arbor and is also currently employed at White Pine. A June 18 wedding is planned.

All interested professionals dealing with AIDS are invited to attend. This meeting will allow agencies who are working in AIDS education to share their programs and materials.

The Washtenaw AIDS Education Network is made up of local agencies dealing with AIDS.

For more information call the CMHC 24-hour AIDS information line at 572-3520.

IRS Office Offers Extra Hours for Taxpayer Help

"This year, we have expanded our taxpayer assistance programs throughout the state to provide the services that taxpayers will need in understanding the new federal tax law and in filling out the new forms," said IRS District Director John Hummel. "We are very pleased to announce extended hours on our toll free telephone lines this year and to be able to provide more and better service in our walk-in offices as well," Hummel said.

The Ann Arbor office of the IRS, located at Wolverine Tower, 3001 S. State St., will be open six days per week starting Jan. 4, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Feb. 6-20, March 5-19, and April 2-9.

"Our toll free service will be available from 8 a.m. through 8:30 p.m. on Mondays; 8 a.m. through 5:30 p.m. on Tuesdays through Fridays; and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays," said Hummel.

According to the IRS, tax information is also available through a prerecorded system call TELE-TAX. This computer assisted program provides information on over 150 tax topics, 24-hours a day, and may be reached by calling 1-800-554-4477.

"We also provide a special number for ordering IRS forms and publications," Hummel said. "The number is 1-800-424-3676 and it is available Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturdays 9 a.m. to 3 p.m."

Missions Director Will Speak at Free Methodist

The Rev. John M. Baker, Free Methodist missions executive, will speak at the Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7665 Werkner Rd., Chelsea, at 11 a.m. on Sunday, Jan. 10.

Mr. Baker, assistant to the director of world missions for church relations, came to Free Methodist World Headquarters, Winona Lake, Ind. in July of 1987 from 34 years in the pastoral ministry. He served most recently at the Opportunity Free Methodist church in Spokane, Wash., 1980-87. Previous appointments included churches in Arizona, California, Florida, Michigan and West Virginia.

A vital interest in missions has characterized Baker's ministry. From 1955 to 1957 he directed the Tampa Spanish Mission in Florida. In 1959 he participated in an evangelistic crusade in the Dominican Republic as a member of the musical team. For several years he obtained rental cars for the use of furloughing missionaries.

For three years Baker served as the Central Regional Director of Free Methodist youth and traveled extensively, visiting nearly 300 churches in the denomination.

His educational background includes two years at Roberts Wesleyan College, North Chili, New York; a B.A. degree from Greenville College, Greenville, Ill.; and an M.Div. degree from Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Ky.

John and his wife, Lola, have four grown children: John, Mary Beth Woll, Susanne Fridenmaker, and Joanna.

The public is invited to hear this presentation on missions and the local church.

Free Cat Care Clinic Offered By Humane Society

Attention all cat fanciers! The Humane Society of Huron Valley has a special treat in store for you. It's a Cat Behavior and Care Clinic, guaranteed to provide practical tips and sound advice to present and potential cat owners.

HSHV's adoption co-ordinator, Ms. Linda Thomas L.V.T., will be conducting this clinic. She will cover topics such as cat behavior, feeding tips, litterbox training, grooming, nail trimming, and health care. Also featured are demonstrations by Ms. Thomas and a question and answer period.

The clinic will be held Thursday, Jan. 14 from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Red Historic School House in the Village of Dixboro at the intersection of Plymouth and Cherry Hill Rds. It is free to the public but please, leave your pets at home. Relevant pet care literature will also be available at no cost.

For directions and/or information phone the Education Department at 682-5545.

Hearing Damage Due to Noise . . .

Our modern society is undoubtedly the noisiest in history. Our lives are constantly punctuated by a soundtrack of traffic's din, industrial rumblings, broadcast cracklings and louder-than-life live music.

It is important for us to remember that our ears may suffer permanent damage if we repeatedly expose them to very loud sounds.

The federal government's Occupational Safety and Health Administration severely restricts levels of noise in our workplaces. Employers are required by law to limit sound pressure levels to those under about 90 decibels. While these regulations protect our ears from sound-related damage as we work, experts now tell us that the majority of future hearing losses will result from non-occupational noise exposures.

Those of us who work in relatively quiet office environments may still sustain serious hearing damage if we go home and listen to loud music every night.

Use common sense in judging the harmfulness of noise levels around you. If you need to shout in order to be heard above the sound emanating from your radio or stereo, your volume levels are set too high.

Length of exposure to loud sound is equally significant. An hour or more of music at full-volume may prove far more harmful to your hearing than 15 minutes' listening at the same level.

Aside from the physiological impact of sustained loud noise on ear drums, we now know that exposure to too many loud sounds too often can produce severe psychological side effects. High noise levels can create tension, irritability and lack of concentration in even the most composed and calmest persons.

If you, or someone close to you, should exhibit signs of hearing loss, contact your family doctor and arrange for a referral to an audiologist.

During the 1986 fiscal year, 1,739 re-employment rights cases were opened on behalf of veterans, reservists and National Guard members under the veterans' re-employment rights program, according to the U. S. Labor Department's annual report for fiscal year 1986.

superconducting magnets. Two beams of atomic particles would be guided around the oval tunnel in opposite directions. Scientists would make the particles collide head-on, and the resulting data would have applications in a variety of endeavors, including physics and medicine.

The high cost of the project is seen as a major problem in congress as legislators try to work to reduce budget deficits, reports said.

Office of Management and Budget is reportedly trying to hold the Department of Energy's request to $100 million for next fiscal year. DOE had asked for $348 million.

Final site selection will probably be made this summer, reports said.

Sexual Harrassment Policy Presented to Board of Education

In preparation for the coming year's work, a number of information items were presented at the Chelsea School Board meeting held Monday, Jan. 4, including a policy on prohibiting sexual harassment.

The harassment policy was developed by the school administration at the recommendation of the school system's attorneys, Thrun, Maatsch, and Nordberg. Assistant superintendent of schools Fred Mills explained that nothing has happened but that the administration believes it is preferable to have a policy in place to deal with possible situations before any take place, instead of having to deal with them after the fact.

The policy is based on a model supplied by the attorneys. It starts out, "The Chelsea School District pledges its best efforts to ensure that no employee or job applicant is subjected to sexual harassment or discrimination. Such conduct will not be tolerated or condoned, and is grounds for immediate dismissal." It goes on to state its objective is to "prohibit all verbal, physical, and visual sexual harassment, as well as uninvited sexual advances." The policy lists more specific examples and states that instances of alleged discrimination or harassment should be reported to the district's equal employment opportunity officer, director of personnel, or superintendent.

Other information items presented at the board meeting included the board evaluation instrument explained by board member Ann Feeney; an explanation of Chelsea's involvement in the South and West Washtenaw Consortium by Dave Mieras; an update on the social worker intervention program by Vicki Utke; and an update on progress on the course descriptions of business English, high school English, and technology education by curriculum director Laurie Bissell.

The principals of the schools reported how the MEAP results were going to be used in their buildings.

Student Sam Eisenbeiser was honored for being named honorable mention in the Academic All-State Football Team. He was given this honor for being both a good athlete and a good student.

Heather Burns Finalist in Senate Scholarship Program

Heather Burns, senior class vice-president at Father Gabriel Richard High school, and Liesl Lavery, student council treasurer at Saline High school, were honored in Lansing on Dec. 1 as the two finalists from Washtenaw county in the competition for the United States Senate Youth Scholarship Program.

The program awards a $2,000 college scholarship and a week-long trip to Washington, D. C. to two student leaders from each state.

Burns, a senior at Gabriel Richard, is the daughter of Angela and Robert Burns of Dexter.

Lavery, a junior at Saline High, is the daughter of Barbara and William Lavery of Saline.

During the "Lansing" recognition ceremony, the honorees had an opportunity to hear an address by Martha Griffiths, Lieutenant Governor of Michigan, to receive framed copies of a joint resolution honoring them by the State House and Senate, to tour the Capitol, and to meet personally with their own State Senators and Representatives.

Other semi-finalists in the competition co-ordinated by Washtenaw Intermediate School District were: Cassandra Fletcher, Dexter High school; Stacey Murphy, Chelsea High school; Kelli Bristol, Ypsilanti High school; Michael Colwell, Willow Run High school; Beth Grzelak, Whitmore Lake High school; Janice Turner, Milan High school; Gregory Zywicki, Lincoln High school.

The United States Senate Youth program has been funded for 25 years by the William Randolph Hearst Foundation and is endorsed by the U. S. Senate as a unique learning experience aimed at furthering the potential for adult political leadership among select young people chosen for their leadership in student government, community involvement, and academic strength. Winners work directly with their U. S. Senators while in Washington.

The distinguished panel which reviewed the applicants from Washtenaw county in selecting Burns and Lavery included: Cynthia Hudgins, district co-ordinator for U. S. Representative Carl Pursell; Gerald Jernigan, mayor of the City of Ann Arbor; Perry Marker, professor of social studies education at Eastern Michigan University; Eunice Royster, trustee of the Ann Arbor Board of Education and director of academic services and programs at the University of Michigan; and Herbert Wingo, president of the Ann Arbor Exchange Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Greenleaf, now residing in Hollidaysburg, Pa., were Chelsea visitors last week, making their headquarters at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Packard. The Greenleaf's son, Timothy, came from Des Moines, Ia., with his wife Sandra and six-month-old son, Adam. Their daughter, Tylene, rode with them, since she was on her semester break from the University of Iowa.

A family gathering was made possible by this cross-country traveling. Each stated that Chelsea has lots more snow than there is in their respective states, at present.

MAYBE IT'S TIME YOU LAID DOWN ON THE JOB.

Ever notice that getting in shape sounds like a great idea until you actually get around to it? You may have discovered that results don't come overnight, but muscle strain and soreness often do.

INTRODUCING THE NO-SWEAT WORKOUT.

At Slender You® Figure Salon, we're going to reshape the way you feel about exercise. We have six different motorized tables that do the hard work for you. Each one is designed to exercise a specific part of your body—stomach, hips, legs and upper arms.

Rather than building muscle (which conventional workouts often do), the Slender You® concept helps to tone and firm your muscles, while breaking down unwanted "cellulite." And unlike traditional exercise, a Slender You® shape-up leaves you feeling refreshed and energized, not fatigued and out of breath.

YOUR FIRST SESSION IS ON US.

We're so positive you'll like what you find at Slender You®, we're offering a free first workout and figure analysis. You can see how you like it, and then decide whether to make another appointment. You're under no obligation.

Historic Calendar Photos Tell Story of Lumbering

Michigan's forest legacy is the theme of the full color 1988 calendar "Michigan: Carved Out of the Woods," just released by the Michigan Department of State. "The peak of lumbering production in Michigan came in 1880—exactly a century ago," said Sandra Clark, editor of Michigan History magazine. "This seemed the perfect year to feature not only the natural beauty of the forests but the lumbering era and the industries that grew out of it. "We are particularly proud to include several color photographs by outstanding photographer Balhazar Korab of Troy," said Clark. "And among the paintings featured is 'La Salle Crossing Lake Michigan on the Ice,' by George Catlin."

An Alternative to Salt As De-Icer?

Legislation has been introduced in the Michigan Legislature to find an alternative for using salt on roads, and a corn-based product may be a viable alternative, according to Robert E. Smith, senior legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau. "This new product, calcium magnesium acetate (CMA), has shown in research tests to be an excellent de-icer and does not damage automobiles and road surfaces as road salt does," Smith said. "In addition, the corn-based product does not harm the environment as salt does when it washes away into the soil and into our waterways. When you consider that salt costs motorists $3 billion each year, the widespread use of CMA would be a large money-saver for everyone," he said.

Bird Feeding, Indian Crafts At Waterloo

The Waterloo Natural History Association is offering two workshops this week-end, one on bird feeding and one on Native American crafts and cooking.

The bird feeder workshop will be held Saturday, Jan. 9 at Cedar Lake Outdoor Center at 1:30 p.m. Naturalist Carol Strahler explains, "Winter is a hard time for most wild life including birds. Winter is made easier for many birds by well-stocked bird feeders."

The hands-on bird feeder workshop will teach the favorite foods of different birds. Participants will make a feeder or a treat to take home to their feathered friends.

The next day, Sunday, Jan. 10 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Cedar Lake Outdoor Center, the Native American crafts and cooking workshop will feature beadwork, cornhusk weaving, and mask demonstrations by several Michigan Native Americans, plus a treat of corn soup. There will also be Native American art work for sale. Snow date for the workshop is Jan. 17.

Both workshops are free, although participants must have a Michigan State Parks motor vehicle pass in order to enter the park. Seasonal passes are $10, while daily passes are $2.

Honbaum Resigning As Zoning Inspector

Merritt Honbaum is leaving his position as Dexter township zoning inspector after serving for nine years. He explained that increased building activity in the township meant that the job of zoning inspector became more than a part-time position and that he could not keep up with it and run his business at the same time.

Honbaum said he had hoped to serve for 10 years, but when he found it was too much, decided "to bow out and keep my sanity."

Honbaum is the owner of North Lake Sales and Services on North Territorial Rd. near Inverness Country Club, a business that he has owned since 1969. The growth which has increased the zoning inspector's job has also affected his car repair business proportionally, leaving him even less time to be zoning inspector. He said, "I was spreading myself too thin."

In the early years when neither the business nor the zoning inspection was as demanding as it now is, running the zoning inspector job out of his store was an ideal situation. People always knew where to find him and he could leave the store for an hour or two during quiet times and not be missed.

Honbaum became zoning inspector in 1979, taking over from Earl Doletsky, who is now serving as a Dexter township trustee. Honbaum learned the job from Doletsky and "by the seat of my pants. You take the ordinance and read it and interpret it and hope you're right." He said whenever things got sticky he could always turn to the board of trustees or to the township attorney.

During his tenure, Honbaum saw zoning inspectors from the surrounding townships come and go, most lasting just a few years. Meanwhile, Dexter township has only had two zoning inspectors since the zoning ordinance was enacted in 1973: Honbaum and Doletsky.

Honbaum said he found the job of zoning inspector "kind of fun." He continued, "You meet a lot of people, see a lot of things, and learn a lot about township government and about building."

Honbaum said the job of zoning inspector did not change much during his tenure since there were no major changes in the zoning ordinance, but what did change was the volume of work.

When he began the job, Carriage Hills was in its last phase of development and construction of Hidden Lakes had begun. After the two subdivisions were finished, there was a quiet time in the township when not much was being built due to the economic situation.

But now, with lowered interest rates, building is beginning again in earnest. Honbaum says he has issued about 45 new house permits per year for the last two years in addition to a number of additions and accessory buildings. He says these buildings are not clustered in any one section of the township, but are spread around.

Honbaum predicts that this building boom will continue, saying, "I don't see any way it will slow down." He believes that Dexter township is the fastest growing of the rural townships. "It is one of the most desirable because of its closeness to Ann Arbor. It is becoming a bedroom community for people who want to live around the lakes."

The Dexter township board of trustees has been advertising in the local papers for a replacement for Honbaum. They describe the job as part-time and say applicants must be able to read and understand blueprints and property descriptions. They plan to review the applications at their next meeting, Jan. 5 and to make a final decision at the Jan. 19 meeting, after which they will give the new zoning inspector a month to learn the ropes.

Bill Would Update Animal Industry Act

The Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee has reported out a bill that updates Michigan's animal industry act.

"Senate Bill 511 is an update of the old 1919 act," said Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau. "It enacts new provisions dealing with the movement of livestock throughout the state of Michigan and also has provisions for the importation of livestock from other states."

Nelson said the livestock industry was actively involved in drafting the legislation.

"Now, it is really a matter of fine tuning what hopefully will become law in the very near future," he said.

A PINCKNEY MAN was killed last Thursday, Dec. 31 in a head-on collision on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. Donald Lee Gardner, 55, was dead on arrival at University of Michigan Hospital.

A TRUCK PASSING TRAFFIC on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. rammed this car and killed Pinckney resident Donald Lee Gardner last Thursday, Dec. 31. Les Paul Bolton, the driver of the car, was admitted to University of Michigan Hospital in critical condition.

Gregory Man in Good Condition After Head-On Auto Accident

A Gregory man was listed in good condition Tuesday, Jan. 5 after a head-on collision near his home last Tuesday, Dec. 29.

Kyle Corser, 29, of 120 Cass Rd., Gregory, was driving north on Roepke Rd. near Boyce Rd. at 9:30 p.m. when his 1966 Dodge hit a 1987 Ford driven by William Strenth, 37, of Indiana. According to a Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department spokeswoman, both men were driving down the center of the gravel road and hit as one car came over a hill. The roads were snowy and icy.

Neither driver was charged in the accident.

Both men, and an unidentified child passenger in Strenth's car, were wearing seatbelts, police said.

All three people were taken to Chelsea Community Hospital and transferred to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital later that evening.

Strenth was discharged Monday. The child's condition was unknown as of press time.

Dates was serving 5-15 years for breaking and entering. Dinkins was serving 2-5 years for carrying a concealed weapon.

Charges are being sought against Glover for aiding and abetting an escapist.

The highest score ever recorded by an Alma football team was 106 points in a 1912 shutout of Central Normal School, now Central Michigan University.

Head-On Crash Fatal to Pinckney Man, Injures Another

A head-on crash occurred at approximately 7:35 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 31, on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. just north of the Wylie Rd. intersection, and injuries sustained in the accident proved fatal to Pinckney resident, Donald Lee Gardner, 55, who was taken by Huron Valley Ambulance to University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor, where doctors pronounced him dead on arrival.

University of Michigan Survival Flight transported Les Paul Bolton, 18, driver of the 1972 Ford pickup truck which struck Gardner's vehicle, to the U-M Hospital where he was admitted in critical condition.

Hospital authorities reported Bolton's condition as "stable" on Monday evening, Jan. 4.

Accident investigators from the traffic division, Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department (WCSD), explained in their report the vehicle driven by Bolton was travelling southbound on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., passing southbound traffic in the northbound lane, while the second vehicle was travelling northbound on the road and was struck head-on by the first vehicle.

Sergeant Harley Rider, who heads the WCSD traffic division, explained Gardner's death, and that of Dexter area resident Emily Permod, who died at University of Michigan Hospital, two days after she was injured in a Dec. 28 accident on Saline-Ann Arbor Rd., brought the total traffic deaths in Washtenaw county during 1987 to 39, matching the number who died from traffic-related accidents during 1986.

Emily Permod, age 75, of 6799

Two on Dean's List

Two area students have achieved placement on the fall quarter dean's list at Michigan Technological University by earning a grade point average of 3.5 or higher. They are David E. Tobias of Chelsea, a junior in mechanical engineering, and Charles E. Sannes of Pinckney, a senior in electrical engineering.

Walsh Rd., was driving northbound on Saline-Ann Arbor Rd., north of Weber Rd. in Lodi township, about 10:14 a.m. Monday, Dec. 28, when her vehicle veered onto the shoulder of the icy roadway. According to information given deputies, Leon Charles Swank, 59, of Brooklyn, was the driver of the vehicle with which the Dexter woman's car collided after she apparently overcorrected and crossed the road's centerline.

ARLENE LARSON, director of the senior nutrition program, checks the temperature of the food for the day's lunch. Standing next to her is Bill Smith, who delivers the food to the Chelsea Senior Center in North school every week day.

Nutrition Program Provides Fellowship, Food, Fun for Seniors

By Grace Shackman

The Chelsea Senior Center is generally thought of as one entity, but is actually two programs co-existing side by side. From morning through lunch, the federally funded senior nutrition program meets, while in the afternoon, the locally sponsored senior's program takes over.

The two programs existed independently until 1981 when they both moved into North school. The nutrition program started in 1965, as a provision in the Older American Act, which was passed by Congress. The first director of the Chelsea nutrition program was Betty Koch who set it up at St. Mary's school.

The nutrition program is billed as "food, fun, and fellowship for seniors." According to Arlene Larson, who has directed the program for the last eight years, the food and fellowship aspects are intertwined. The food serves as a magnet to draw people to the program so that they have an opportunity to make friends, while being able to eat with friends often means seniors eat better, since when they live alone, they often do not bother cooking very nutritious meals.

There is a suggested donation of $1.25. When seniors arrive at the center, they sign in and put some money into a box. More flush seniors are welcome to give more than the suggested amount, while those less fortunate, may give less or nothing without suffering any embarrassment. Larson stresses that the program is not a "soup kitchen," but rather a program aimed at making sure that seniors eat nutritiously while having a change to socialize.

When the program met at St. Mary's, the food was prepared at the site. Some of the seniors helped with the cooking and all enjoyed the aroma coming from the kitchen.

When the program moved to North school, it was decided that it was more economical to cook the food at a central location, so it is now prepared in Dexter, and delivered from there to Whitmore Lake and Chelsea. Seniors still help; setting the table, making coffee, serving, and cleaning up afterwards.

At present, 1,000 to 1,200 meals are served a month. The program has been steadily growing. In the days it met at St. Mary's, about 22 meals a day were served. Now the average is closer to 50 a day. In addition, home-bound meals are delivered to seniors not able to cook and with no one living with them who can. Seniors on this program receive two meals a day, a hot meal to eat right away and a frozen one to eat later.

Seniors start arriving at the nutrition program at 9:30 a.m. and keep coming all the way up to lunch time. Those who come for the morning may partake in a number of activities including cards (pinochle is the favorite card game of the moment), jigs, handicrafts (Chelsea seniors have been reviving the ancient art of netting), and listening to speakers.

In addition, Larson sometimes arranges for field trips. Upcoming ones include a trip to Willow Run on Nov. 4 to see the Thanos Circus on Ice and to the State Theater in Ann Arbor for the Michigan Consolidated Retirement Party. Although the federal nutrition program only pays for the food and Larson's salary, Larson manages to never charge for these trips, instead using money that the seniors have raised by such activities as selling plants, raffle tickets, and hand-drafted items.

Larson's basic job description is to make sure the meals are served and the site open, but she defines the job as more than this, seeing herself as an ombudsperson for the seniors. She says, "I like to see they get the services they are entitled to."

Larson sees affordable housing as the number one problem of seniors. She is concerned that the senior housing task force come up with a solution to provide low-cost housing, not just moderately priced accommodations. Larson sees Chelsea as a senior mecca, saying that many seniors, with children in the area, move to Chelsea to be near the hospital and the Methodist Home.

Larson says the most rewarding aspect of the job is seeing seniors make friends and set up support systems. For instance, a few months after one senior joined the program, she had to have serious surgery. In that short time, she had made good enough friends at the center, that they served as a support group while she recovered. Another senior was undergoing chemotherapy and was having trouble eating, but when she came to the center among friends, she found her appetite increasing.

The program is not a day care center, since they do not have the resources to hire a nursing staff. However, one senior, who was incapacitated by a stroke, returned and the rest of the group took care of her, helping her move about when necessary so that she could still be a participant.

No matter what their state of health, all the seniors value the social aspects of the program. One man said to Larson, "If I couldn't come here, where else could I go to talk except to a bar?" Mary Mallot, one of the longest attending seniors, having started coming in the early 1970's, said "I'd miss this [program] terribly. I worked in Ann Arbor and didn't know anyone in Chelsea when I retired in 1968."

Larson describes her job as "amazing," saying how much she enjoys the seniors, quickly adding that she is, herself, a senior. Larson started her job in 1979 after Koch retired, when the program was still meeting at St. Mary's.

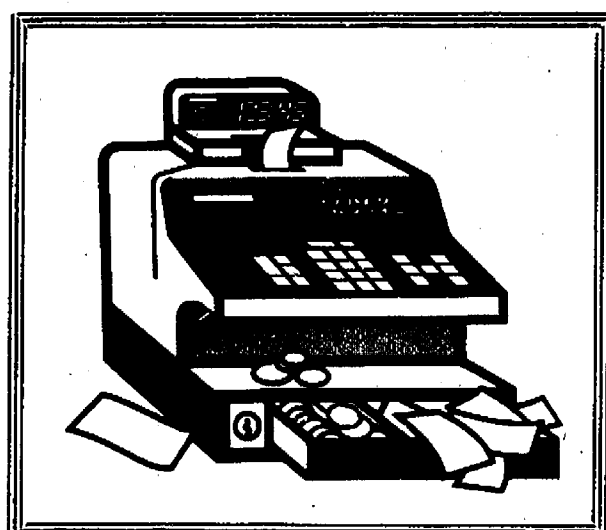

Larson remembers that she heard about the position from a senior who urged her to apply for it. Since she had been recently widowed, Larson decided it would be a good experience to interview for a job. To her surprise, she was the one selected. She later learned that the seniors on the committee had requested that she be the one chosen.

Larson decided to take the job, saying she could always quit. She says in retrospect, "It was the best thing for me. It got me up and going after my husband died."

Larson comes from a four-generation Chelsea family (the original family farm was on Cassidy Lake), and has lived here all her life. She has been active in a number of community activities including being president of the P.T.A. in 1950 when they organized the recreation council. Prior to her nutrition center job, Larson had worked as a homemaker, raising four children, Randi, Norma Jean, Ken, and Gary, two of whom, Randi and Ken, still live in Chelsea.

Volleyball Team Opens Season With Second Place in Invitational

Chelsea Bulldog volleyball team took second place in their season-opening Chelsea Invitational tournament last Saturday.

Eight teams took part in the tournament played at Beach Middle school and Chelsea High school, including Pinckney, Novi, Vandercook Lake, South Lyon, Stockbridge, Williamston and Milan.

Play was initially divided into two pools and Chelsea won their pool with a perfect record over Pinckney, Vandercook Lake and Novi.

"It was an excellent start to the season," said Chelsea coach Karen Tobin.

Chelsea lost to South Lyon in the finals after knocking off Milan in the semifinals.

"I was very pleased with our play," Tobin said.

"We have a few things to work out, but that is what this tournament is for. We need to see what to work on for the beginning of our league season. We have an inexperienced team with six new starters and this is the first varsity experience for three of our starters."

Chelsea lost to South Lyon in three games. After winning the first game 15-1 they lost 6-15 and 10-15.

On their way to the finals the Bulldogs won eight straight games. They defeated Pinckney 15-6 and 15-10, Vandercook Lake, 15-5 and 15-9, Novi, 15-10 and 15-7, and Milan 15-7 and 15-8.

Leading Chelsea scorer for the day was Meredith Hall with 29 points. She was also 44 of 46 serving. Other scorers were Laura Walton, 27 points, Ceia Murphy, 26 points, Chris Basso, 25 points, Mindy Ryan, 22 points, and Sarah Schaeffer, 19 points.

Murphy had six aces and scored eight straight points in the first game of the finals. Ryan had four aces and scored nine straight points in the first Pinckney game. Walton scored nine straight points in the first Milan game.

"Ceia Murphy and Sarah Schaeffer were responsible for most of the defense in the back row and they played extremely well," Tobin said.

"This is a new defense for us and they are just learning the positioning involved."

Tobin also cited the defensive play of Linda Laier in the back row and said Ryan and Shannon Dunn were strong players in the front row both on offense and defense.

"Meredith and Chris are the setters and they worked hard all day setting up the balls for the hitters and running the offense."

How low can she go? According to International Wildlife magazine, a leatherback turtle has set a new record for the deepest known dive by an air-breathing animal. It descended nearly three-quarters of a mile below the ocean surface!

NEARLY COLLIDING on a set-up are Mindy Ryan (11) and Ceia Murphy during a game against Novi last Saturday. The Bulldogs were aggressive all day long and went undefeated into the finals, where they lost to South Lyon. The Bulldog line-up features six new starters.

SARAH SCHAEFFER tries to smash the ball back over the net during a game against Novi last Saturday at the Chelsea Invitational. This shot didn't make it, but the Bulldogs beat Novi to reach the finals, where they lost to South Lyon.

LAURA WALTON hits a good serve against Milan in the semi-finals of the Chelsea Invitational tournament last Saturday. Despite inexperience, the Bulldogs played well in preparation for their league competition and reached the finals of the tournament, winning nine straight games.

Efforts Continue To Solve Wildlife Crop Damage Problem

Progress was made during 1987 in the fight against wildlife crop damage but more needs to be done in 1988, according to Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Ron Nelson.

"The Michigan Department of Natural Resources focused its efforts on getting more deer harvested from areas that had experienced crop damage or a large number of deer-car accidents," Nelson said. "There is a possibility that the deer hunting season will need to be expanded even further. Some states have two openers with relatively short seasons."

Nelson said Farm Bureau will continue to look at options that will benefit both the farmer and the hunter.

Ski Free Day Offered Friday By 42 Resorts

The Michigan Travel Bureau and 42 Michigan ski resorts are sponsoring "Let's Go Skiing, Michigan!" a day of free skiing for beginners. The program was announced by John Savich, director of the Michigan Travel Bureau, and representatives from Michigan's ski industry.

"Let's Go Skiing, Michigan!" will take place at downhill and cross-country ski areas throughout the state on Friday, Jan. 8. Complimentary beginner ski lessons, beginner-area lift tickets and trail tickets will be available to those who have called the resort of their choice and pre-registered for the program.

"Let's Go Skiing, Michigan!" is in conjunction with the National Ski Areas Association "Let's Go Skiing, America" program which is also on Jan. 8.

Savich noted that Rand McNally rated the metropolitan Detroit area as having more day trip ski facilities than any other major metropolitan area in the country.

The Travel Bureau also unveiled the 1987 Winter Travel Planner and the new Michigan Travel Events Calendar.

"Michigan ski and winter travel industry should bring in $2.3 billion to the state's economy," Savich said.

"Thus far in 1987, Michigan's tourism industry has passed the $9 billion mark. We expect to have a $14 billion year by Dec. 31," Savich added.

Skiers interested in a free "Let's Go Skiing, Michigan!" brochure and other travel information may call the Michigan Travel Bureau toll-free at 800/5432-YES.

The U. S. Department found $92.8 million due to 317,216 employees as the result of overtime violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act during the 1986 fiscal year, according to the department's annual report.

The U.S. Department of Labor's Pension and Welfare Benefits Administration recovered more than $100 million through voluntary settlements and court actions and conducted 47 criminal investigations under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act during the 1986 fiscal year.

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK are Chelsea High school seniors Chris Basso and Kevan Flanigan. Basso, of 11000 Trinkle Rd., is the daughter of Gary and Bonnie Basso and sister of Jamie, 16, and Cathy, 20. She is a setter and outside hitter on the varsity volleyball team. This is her second year on the team. Her goal is to play a full rotation and have the team improve their record from last season. Chris is also a catcher on the varsity softball team. "Chris is an aggressive player both in practice and in games," says her coach, Karen Tobin. "Chris is one of the team leaders on the court. She's a setter so it's her responsibility to run the offense. She has worked hard to improve her hitting and become an all-around player." Kevan, 13867 Old US-12, is the son of June and Larry Flanigan and brother of Beth, 26, Brad, 24, and Melanie, 19. Kevan is in his second year on the varsity basketball team as a center-forward. He's been battling back from a serious leg injury but the injury hasn't stopped him from making a big contribution to the team. "Kevan is an intelligent, hard-working, inside player who plays to his potential more than anyone on the team," says coach Robin Raymond. Kevan is a two-year academic letter winner, is a member of the St. Paul United Church of Christ Senior High Youth Group, and would like to attend either the University of Michigan or Duke University to study business next year.

THE PACE WAS FRANTIC in the Bulldogs scrimmage against Willow Run last Thursday. The Flyers were quick and good but they discovered Chelsea guard John Cattell didn't have much problem keeping up.

JOHN COLLINS makes a nice catch of a long pass in a scrimmage against Willow Run last Thursday, Dec. 31. The Flyers proved to be tough opponents, especially their starting line-up.

Hunters Take 129 Elk in '87 Season

Michigan hunters took 129 elk (48 bulls, 81 antlerless) and Earl Harrison of Dearborn set a new weight record during the 1987 season (Dec. 8-13). Harrison's elk, a 7x7 (14-point) bull weighing 688 lbs., field dressed, broke last year's record of 682 lbs.

Efforts to encourage hunters to take elk on private land where the animals might cause crop damage were successful—15 elk (10 bulls and 5 antlerless elk) were harvested in an area where the elk needed to be removed.

The controlled harvest, held in parts of Ostego, Montmorency, Cheboygan and Presque Isle counties, helped keep the herd in balance with the range while providing high-quality recreation.

The herd has been thinned in agricultural areas where they were creating problems last summer, but are still plentiful for next year's viewing enjoyment.

A winter census of the post-hunt population is scheduled for January, 1988.

Elimination of Price Restrictions Would Help Michigan Dairymen

Michigan dairymen would benefit if pricing restrictions on reconstituted milk were eliminated, according to Michigan Farm Bureau dairy specialist Kevin Kirk. Citing a recent University of Wisconsin study, Kirk says existing reconstituted technology means high class one differentials are no longer justified.

"We have seen class one fluid differentials increased about two years ago, and as a result of reconstituted technology, we would no longer have to increase those differentials in order to expand milk production," he said.

CHATEAU IN THE LOIRE VALLEY

Kiwanis Travel Film Will Feature France

On Saturday evening, Jan. 9, the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea will present its third program of the "Travel and Adventure Film Series" at 8 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

Our journey to France begins in the "City of Lights," Paris. Explore Montmartre, the Quays along the river Seine, Notre Dame, and the Left Bank, L'Arc de Triomphe and the famous Claude Monet Garden at Giverny.

Visit the Renaissance cafes of Lyon. Experience the art of a silkweaver. Perouges, a small Medieval town near Lyon is like walking back into the distant past.

Who can resist the lure of the French Riviera and places like Nice, Cannes, Cap d'Antibes, and Juan Les Pins? See the cliffs and landscapes of this famous international playground.

The harbor and old city of Marseilles have a special charm. In Avignon, visit the Palace of the Popes. See the town of Arles where Vincent van Gogh lived and worked.

In the Camargue, see the gray and white horses that are a notable attraction of this wild and marshy island.

The Province of Dordogne offers the most vivid artistic work of prehistoric man. See the Font-de-Gaume Cave and St. Cirq Cave. Sample the pate' de foie gras, a specialty of the area.

In Brittany, take the coastal road to the Carnac megaliths. See the famous town of Mt. St. Michel, Omaha Beach, and Covicille of Normandy.

Drift down the Burgundy Canal. See the locks, barges, people, and country scenes of canal life. Sample boeuf Bourguignon and escargots during a picnic beside the canal.

The Loire Valley has chateaux that are marvels of architecture and style. Take a balloon flight over the countryside, experience a sound and light festival.

France is a feast for the traveler. Enjoy the country and its many pleasures with Phil Walker.

Philip Walker grew up in northern California and in Carmel-by-the-Sea. His ancestors, beginning with the Pilgrims, had continued west and in his own parents' generation reached the Pacific. Phil recalls his boyhood on the Monterey Peninsula as "an intimate friendship with the out-of-doors and an introduction to adventure." The stories of Conrad, Melville and Robert Louis Stevenson stimulated his natural interest in travel.

In an early experience he sailed a 75-foot boat from Sydney, Australia to Cebu City in the Philippines. The voyage lasted several months and encountered a variety of hair-raising adventures along the Great Barrier Reef and the northern coast of New Guinea.

Later, he flew with two Swiss from Switzerland to Italy and became the first American to cross the Alps in a free-floating hydrogen filled balloon. The National Geographic Magazine printed his story of this extraordinary flight, "Across the Alps in a Wicker Basket," in its 75th Anniversary Issue.

During an eight-month voyage, he and his wife, Florence, sailed on a 50-foot ketch, "Sealdis," down the west coasts of the Americas, to the Galapagos Islands and across the Pacific to Tahiti, where they filmed both above and below the waters of the South Seas.

Before he and Florence became full-time partners making travel and adventure films, Phil was with NBC as an announcer, writer and director. He later produced his own programs for television. The Walkers have since then been hosts to most of the world. During the rare periods when they are not traveling they make their home in Southbury, Conn.

Some people believe that sleeping on a piece of wedding cake is supposed to bring a dream to a single girl in which she will see her future husband.

American Legion District Meet Slated at Milan

American Legion Second District, Dept. of Michigan will meet at the Milan American Legion Earl Gladfelter Post No. 288 on Sunday, Jan. 10 at 2 p.m. There will be a service officers meeting at 1 p.m. The Women's Auxiliary will also meet in Milan at 2 p.m.

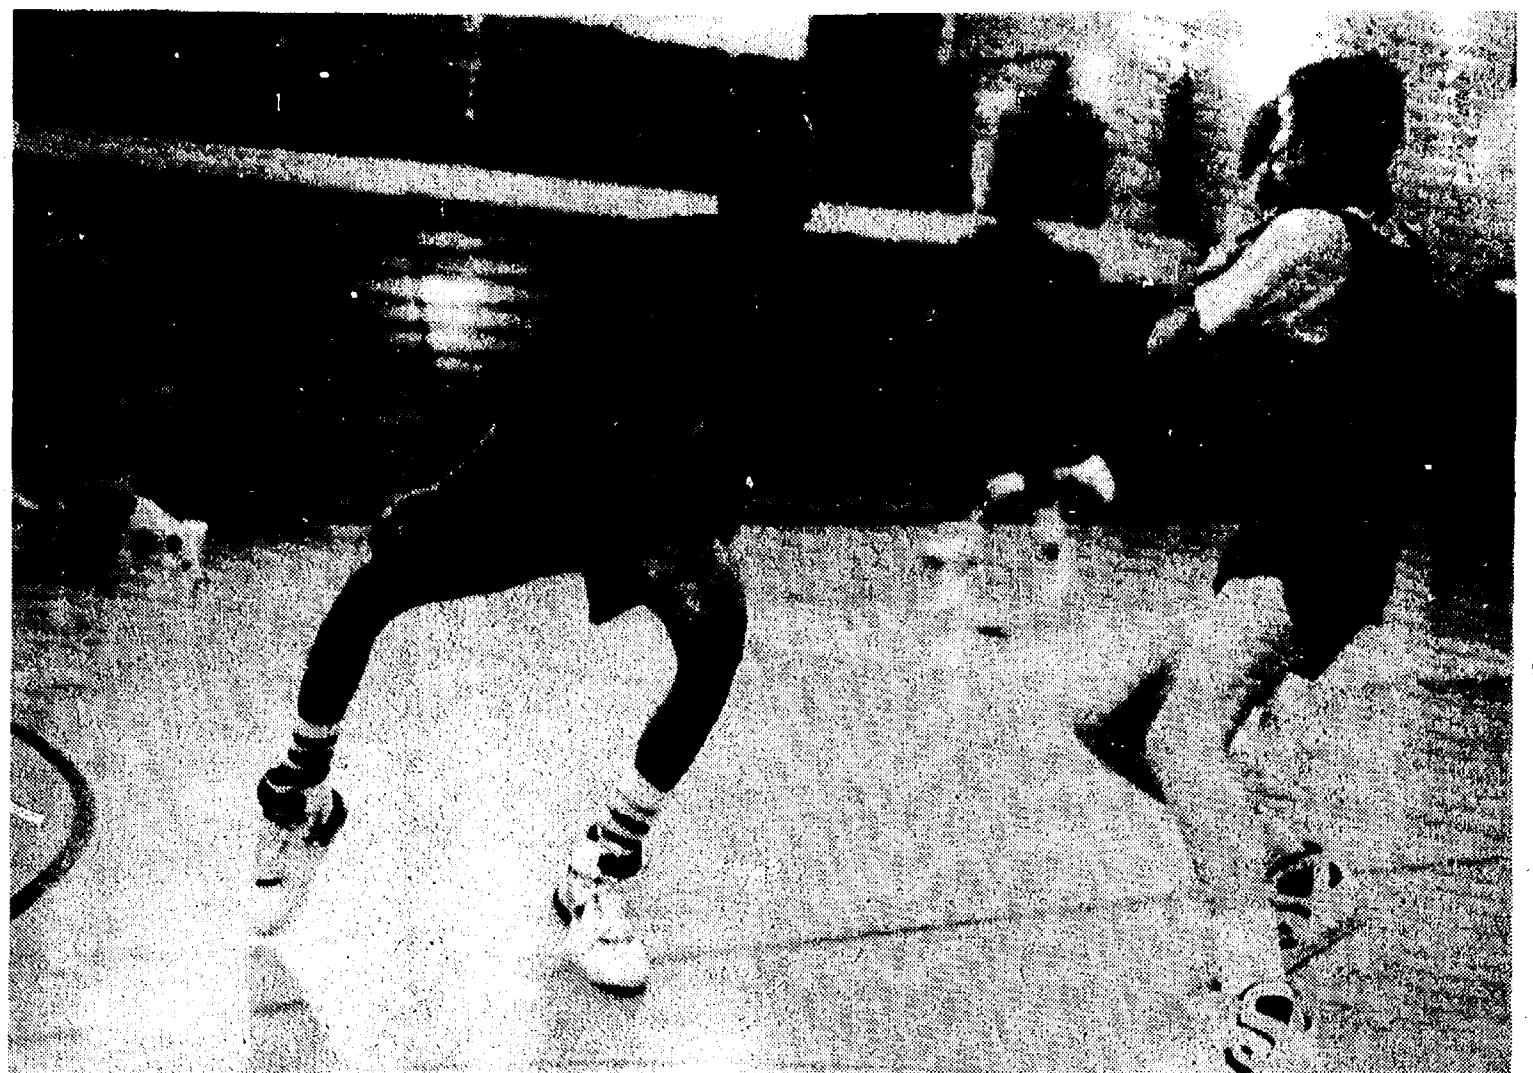

The Second District at the present time is first in membership against all the districts in the Dept. of Michigan.

There will be a number of Legionnaires at the meeting who are running for offices on the department level. Tom Cadmus will be present at this time. He is running unopposed for the high office of Dept. Commander. He is from Britton and the Glen H. Dakin Post No. 155 in the second district.

The second district of the American Legion consists of Washtenaw, Monroe, Lenawee, and Jackson counties.

Decimal Missing

In typing the INQUIRY column for last week's Standard, Will Connelly reports, a decimal point was omitted. The estimated 1988 income of Michigan's lottery was given at $15 billion when it should have been $1.5 billion.

CHAD STARKEY looks for an open Bulldog during a scrimmage against Willow Run last Thursday as a Flyer grabs his arm. Chelsea gets back into Southeastern Conference play this Friday at Dexter.

Tentative Potash Agreement Reached

Representatives of the U.S. and Canadian potash industries have initiated a tentative "suspension agreement" which, if formalized within one month, would eliminate the U.S. dumping complaint against Canadian imports. As part of the agreement, the Canadian industry would agree to raise its potash prices to within 15% of the level that now exists with the anti-dumping duties applied.

"This tentative agreement is in no way certain to become permanent," said Robert Craig, agricultural economist for the Michigan Farm Bureau. "Farm Bureau is continuing to prepare for an International Trade Commission hearing on Jan. 19, where we will argue that the anti-dumping unfairly hurt U.S. farmers."

Craig said the potash duties boosted prices of imports by about $20 a ton. U.S. farmers buy about 82% of their potash from Canada.

Downhill Skiing Changes Outlook Toward Winter

Downhill skiing has given many Midwesterners a reason to look forward to winter. Instead of dredging the thought of shoveling snow and chopping ice from windshields, these people are dreaming of fresh powder on the slopes, bright blue skies, and the invigorating feeling of gliding down their favorite ski runs.

To help more people learn about the fun they're missing, the Michigan Travel Bureau and 42 Michigan ski areas have joined forces to offer the state's first ever, "Let's Go Skiing, Michigan!" free ski day on Jan. 8.

"We hope everyone who has ever thought about learning to ski but never tried it takes to the slopes on Jan. 8," said John Savich, director of the Michigan Travel Bureau.

"Michigan has some of the Midwest's best beginner slopes, and the ski areas are eager to showcase Michigan's winter season," he said.

Participating areas have agreed to offer free beginner lessons and free beginner-area lift tickets to those who call to pre-register for the program. Many facilities will go a step further and provide free use of rental equipment for those without skis of their own.

All skiing enthusiasts agree that the best way to learn to ski is by taking a lesson.

"Most people who try skiing and don't like it are those who are taught by a friend, using borrowed equipment that doesn't fit them," says Cash Cook, general manager at Tyrolean Ski Resort near Gaylord and former ski instructor.

Although it may look difficult to the beginner standing at the base of the slopes as skiers whiz past, the truth is just about anyone can learn to downhill ski. "With today's modern teaching methods, most people can turn, slow down, stop, and ride the lifts in just one lesson. Within four or five lessons the majority of those taking up the sport can ski well enough to tackle more than 50 percent of the ski trails in Michigan," said Cook.

Sue and Vic Dotson from Traverse City are eloquent about other benefits of skiing. Sue and Vic met over cocktails in a lounge overlooking the ski slopes at Sugar Loaf Resort after an invigorating day on the mountain. She was a ski instructor; he a psychologist on vacation. Five years later, Sue recalls that it was a case of love at first sight.

"We met in January, got married that summer, and have been a twosome on the slopes ever since," she says.

Whatever your motivation: exercise, socializing, or the sheer exhilaration skiing provides, unless you take that first lesson, you will still be hibernating at home, grumbling at Old Man Winter and missing one of the best seasonal activities Michigan has to offer.

An informational brochure listing all participating ski areas and their phone numbers is available through the Michigan Travel Bureau. To receive a copy, call its toll-free number at 1-800-5432-YES.

Free Trees Offered By Foundation

The National Arbor Day Foundation is giving 10 free trees to each person who becomes a Foundation member during January, 1988.

The free trees are part of the Foundation's effort to promote tree planting throughout America.

A Sugar Maple, White Flowering Dogwood, Pin Oak, White Pine, Red Maple, Birch, American Redbud, Silver Maple, Red Oak, and Colorado Blue Spruce tree will be given to members joining during January.

These trees were selected to provide benefits every season of the year: lovely spring flowers, cool summer shade, spectacular autumn colors, and winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds, according to the Foundation. The six to 12-inch trees will be shipped postage paid with enclosed planting instructions at the right time for planting this spring. The Foundation makes its spring shipments between Feb. 1 and May 31, depending on the local climate and this year's weather.

The National Arbor Day Foundation, a non-profit organization, is working to improve the quality of life throughout the country by encouraging tree planting. The Foundation will give the 10 free trees to each member contributing $10 during January.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, a $10 membership contribution should be sent to Ten Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, Neb. 68410, by Jan. 31.

New Video Tapes, Booklets Offered On Drug Problems

Brighton Hospital has added three new video tapes on substance abuse to the collection of items that may be borrowed at no charge by individuals and groups looking for up-to-date information on alcohol and other drug problems.

"What You Should Know About Alcohol" discusses the physical and social effects of alcohol abuse. "What You Should Know About Drug Abuse" analyzes various types of drugs, including sedatives, stimulants, narcotics, and hallucinogens. "What You Should Know About Cocaine" focuses specifically on cocaine and "crack," a refined and even more addictive form of cocaine.

A series of four booklets summarizes each topic and can be very helpful even when used without the tapes. The booklets are available at no charge.

These and other video programs may be borrowed free of charge by contacting Brighton Hospital's Community Relations Department on weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at (313) 227-1211, ext. 276.

Farm Bureau Praises Legislative Action

Farm Bureau has praised the legislative approval of a Senate-passed measure that puts domestic and foreign insurance companies under the Single Business Tax. The Michigan House proposal would have put the domestic companies under the premium tax, the same as foreign companies.

Farm Bureau had lobbies against the House proposal, saying it would be detrimental to the state's agricultural industry because domestic companies write 95% of the farmowners' insurance in Michigan.

According to Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Howard Kelly, insurance taxes will go up only about half as much as they would have under the House bill that proposed a 2% tax on insurance premiums.

The U.S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division conducted 72,641 compliance actions under the Fair Labor Standards Act during the 1986 fiscal year, according to the department's annual report.

CARTER, his wife, to Community Bank of Washtenaw, a Michigan corporation, Mortgagee, Dated March 23, 1979, and recorded on July 13, 1977, in Liber 1603, on page 986, Washtenaw County Records, Michigan, and "subsequently assumed by unrecorded blanket assignment dated May 15, 1982 to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the United States," on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of Thirty Five Thousand Nine Hundred Seventy & 35/100 Dollars ($35,970.35), including interest at 9 1/4% per annum.

Under the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, or some part of them, at public venue, at the west entrance to the County Building in Ann Arbor, Michigan, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., Local Time, on Thursday, February 11, 1988.

Said premises are situated in the City of Ypsilanti, Washtenaw County, Michigan, and are described as:

The West 50 feet of Lots 200 & 201, WESTLAWN SUBDIVISION, according to the plat thereof as recorded in Liber 6 of plats, page 40, Washtenaw County Records.
During the six months or thirty days if found abandoned immediately following the sale, the property may be redeemed.

Substance Abuse Education Series at Brighton Hospital

Providing concerned parents, family members, and community members with up-to-date information on the prevention and treatment of substance abuse is the goal of Brighton Hospital's new six-part series of Community Education Programs.

The series begins Tuesday evening, Jan. 5 with a discussion of "Intervening To Help Someone Who Is Abusing Alcohol or Drugs." In this session Brian Duguay, a member of the hospital's Counseling Services Department and the treatment center's intervention specialist, will explain how family members and friends, with the help of a specially training counselor, can confront an alcoholic or drug user.

"The holidays are especially hard times for a substance abuser's family and friends," notes Duguay. "That's why we start the education series in January with a discussion of the intervention process."

Topics covered in future sessions included the nature of chemical dependence, its effects on the family; preventing alcohol and drug abuse among adolescents; cocaine and marijuana dependence; and substance abuse treatment options.

The series is free and open to the public. Each session begins at 7 p.m. in the hospital's chapel. A member of the treatment center's clinical staff is on hand to answer questions from the audience. Reservations are not required.

Brighton Hospital is located on E. Grand River in Brighton, just off exit 151 of the I-96 freeway. For additional information about the Community Education Program and other treatment and education services, contact the hospital's Community Relations Department on weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at (313) 227-1211, ext. 276.

"Don't be sick... Call us quick!"

A camel named Golda is outshining cows in milk production. She produces 70 pints of milk each day, compared to the average cow's 32 pints. According to Ranger Rick magazine, milk-producers like Golda could be an important source of food for peoples living in the dry parts of Africa. Although scientists are only beginning to learn how to breed and raise camels to produce more milk, they have high hopes of producing more champion milkers as good as Golda!

Your IRA after the new tax law...
Just as valuable as ever

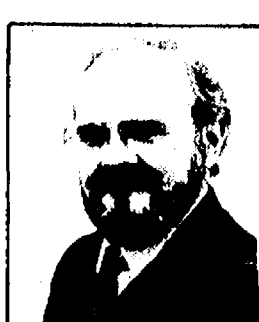

If you are not covered by a company pension plan, the new tax law still allows you to tax-deduct all your IRA payments. Considering that—plus the fact that our IRA pays such high interest and guarantees a lifetime retirement income—an annuity from FB Annuity Company is still your best choice for an IRA.

CHELSEA NOVICE DEBATERS took seventh place at the state finals held Dec. 19 at Central Michigan University. In the front are Bill Coelius and Jason Overdorf, who took the affirmative. In the back row are coach Bill Coelius and Mindy Ryan and Sheila Tillman, who took the negative.

Debaters Take Seventh in State

Chelsea High school's top novice debate team placed seventh at the 1987 Novice State Finals at Central Michigan University Dec. 19.

The team of Jason Overdorf and Bill Coelius (affirmative), and Mindy Ryan and Sheila Tillman (negative), competed against 30 other schools in all classifications.

The team plans to try its luck in the qualifying tournament for varsity teams later this month.

"It would be quite an achievement if they could qualify for the varsity state meet," said coach Bill Coelius.

Birmingham Seaholm finished as the top team in the state. Chelsea beat them in the qualifying tournament.

Other teams ahead of Chelsea were Grosse Pointe-Liggett, Muskegon, Mona Shores, Portage Northern, Birmingham Groves, and Grosse Pointe South. Rounding out the top 10 were East Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo Central and Utica.

The teams debated U.S. foreign policy in Latin America.
