Variance Approved for Shopping Center Project, Cole Land Re-zoned

By Brian Hamilton

Chelsea Village Council granted a variance for one piece of property and re-zoned another in regular business conducted Tuesday, Jan. 5.

Council's first meeting of 1988 was relatively short yet relatively well-attended. But there were few major agenda items.

Rene Papo of Arcus Corp, developer of the planned Chelsea Shopping Center between Chelsea State Bank and the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds on Old US-12, was granted a variance to allow him to join his mall to Meabon's Appliances on M-52.

Village ordinances require a 20-foot property line setback.

Village President Jerry Satterthwaite said that having a 20-foot strip might cause more problems than it solved. Satterthwaite and others said the strip might give someone a place to hide and generally become a collecting area for debris.

The variance was granted with the stipulation that an easement agreement could be worked out between the developer and the village. An easement runs directly behind Meabon's where the buildings would attach. Village administration recommended that Papo bear the cost of moving the utility lines.

In other business, land at the corner of East St. and E. Middle Sts. was re-zoned to allow funeral director Don Cole to expand the parking lot to his business, Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel.

Cole recently purchased the house now on the lot and plans to move it to Madison St.

The lot was re-zoned from residential to office use.

It will be the second time Cole has moved a house in order to expand his business.

"I talked to a lot of residents down there," said trustee Phil Boham, who lives on East St. near the site.

"Most everyone down there does not have objections to the movement of that house and turning it into a parking lot as long as something is done aesthetically to make it look halfway decent."

Harold Allen, president of Chelsea Community Fireworks, Inc., was on hand with the owner of Colonial Fireworks but council did not discuss the 1988 fireworks show.

Trustees Richard Steele and Dennis Hall submitted a preliminary draft of a village policy regarding fireworks displays but did not discuss the details.

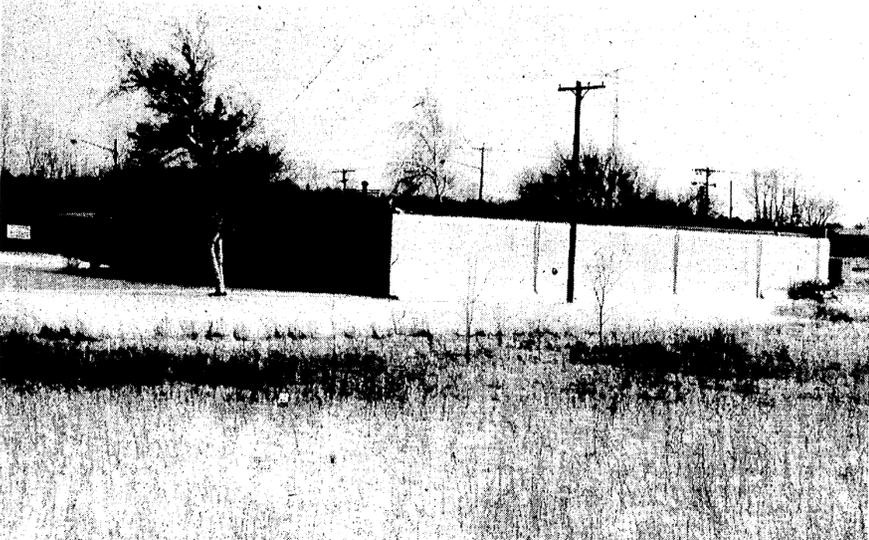

"We made preparations for the show and spent a lot of money on our insurance policy," said Colonial Fireworks owner Charles Pick.

"You might ask for our input because we've already exhausted a considerable amount of money preparing for 1988 to satisfy the requirements you had proposed to us in 1987. We worked hard to do that."

Last year the village required a $1 million liability insurance policy to cover the show at the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds. Earlier reports from Hall indicated the insurance amount might be considerably more this year.

"We'd like to get it taken care of early too," Satterthwaite said.

"If the village decides not to take part, then Harold will have a lot more time to find another place."

A VARIANCE WAS GRANTED to Rene Papo to allow him to join his Chelsea Shopping Center to the back of Meabon's TV, Appliance and Furniture store on M-52 and avoid a 20-foot setback. The electrical poles will probably be moved at Papo's expense, according to the motion passed by village council Jan. 5.

Chelsea Depot Association Given $30,000 State Grant

By Grace Shackman

Chelsea Depot Association is the delighted recipient of $30,000 from the Michigan Equity Fund to help pay for interior work in the old railroad depot. This money, when added to the $40,000 which the Depot Association has promised to raise, should cover the costs of renovating the inside space to be used as a historical museum, Chamber of Commerce office, and community meeting room.

Depot Association treasurer Gloria Mitchell described the grant as "a shot in the arm." She said, "We had almost given up."

The Michigan Equity Grant program was set up in 1984 in response to complaints that Detroit received the lion's share of cultural monies. Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti township, and Ann Arbor township have also been awarded grants this year.

The terms of the grant include the requirement that matching funds must come from the community (thus the $40,000) and that the money must be used in the calendar year it is given. Although the grant is less than the $68,900 requested, Depot Association president Lee Fahrner said, "We can't do everything, but will do as much as we can."

The money will go toward the cost of making the inside of the depot usable. Expenses listed on the grant request include interior washing, plumbing, carpentry, electrical, heating and cooling, insulation, re-hanging doors, interior painting, floor refinishing, and sitework-parking and sidewalks. Fahrner says that the association will advertise for bids in the very near future.

The present plan is to use the west side of the depot for an historical museum, the old station master's office for the chamber of commerce office, and the east side for the meeting room.

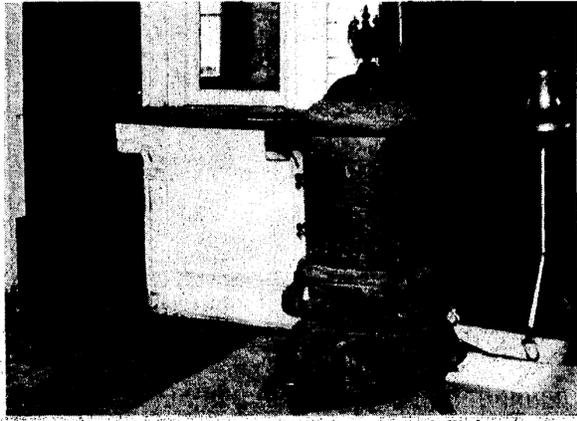

The museum will be managed by the Chelsea Historical Society which has long dreamed of having a place to store and exhibit Chelsea area artifacts. The museum will also serve as a central location for reference materials such as books, photographs, family records, and back issues of local newspapers. Now that they will have a place to put things, the historical society would like to purchase a word processor to input and save historical data.

Beyond the benefits of sharing information with the community, having a permanent location may encourage people with Chelsea artifacts to donate them to the historical society rather than store them in their attics. The historical society will probably have some permanent displays, which they will supplement with changing exhibits geared to specific interests, times of year, or events in the village.

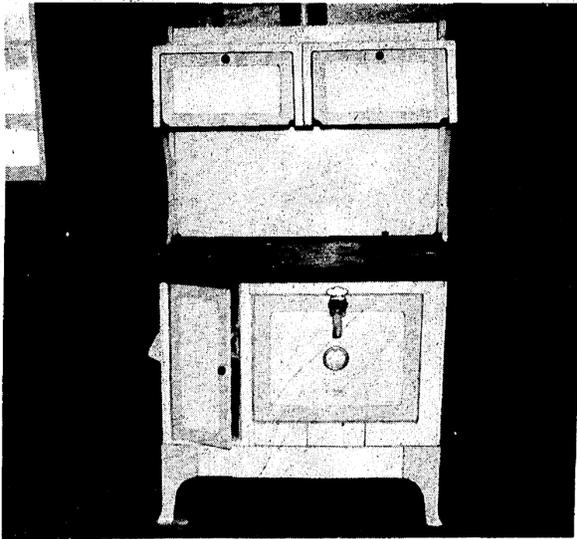

The Chamber of Commerce is pleased to be able to move to the depot because it will give them more room than they now have in the village office (right now Ann Feeney just has a desk), and will also give them more visibility, especially to people visiting Chelsea. The move should be mutually beneficial to the depot association and the chamber, because the chamber can help pay upkeep costs (they have promised to pay a third of the costs) and also supply manpower during the day.

The meeting room is envisioned as a meeting place for area charitable organizations and a good place for lectures, conferences, seminars, train programs, video presentations (it would be installed with the appropriate equipment), and musical and dramatic performances. However, if the depot association runs

THIS OLD COOK STOVE was donated to the Chelsea Historical Society by the Albert Notten family during last summer's sidewalk sale. They also donated a heating stove. Both will be on display in the Chelsea Historical Museum to be located in the old depot.

BILL NILAN, president of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, handed Gloria Mitchell, treasurer of the Chelsea Depot Association, a check for $2,500. The presentation was made inside the depot in front of an antique stove owned by the Chelsea Historical Society. The money will be used to help supply the matching funds for the state grant which the Depot Association recently received to renovate the interior of the train station. The chamber has promised an additional $2,500 to be given this spring.

Returning Softball Star Teaching Pitching Clinics

Amy Unterbrink Poljan, former Chelsea High girls softball star, is returning to her home town to teach pitching to up and coming softball stars. Poljan is teaching two clinics, one for experienced pitchers and another for beginners.

The clinic for those with experience is called "sureshots" and is already full, being limited to 10. The focus is on sharpening pitching mechanics and learning not only the mechanics of pitching but how they can be used, effectively against batters.

There are plenty of openings in the second group, called "fastballers," since the enrollment can be as high as 25. The focus is on efficient and smooth pitching mechanics, developing strategies, fastball accuracy, and experimenting with off-speed pitches.

Girls from all over the Chelsea-Dexter area, including Manchester, South Lyon, and Jackson, are enrolled in the clinics. Veteran coach Charlie Waller is assisting Poljan. Also, guest speakers from college teams will visit from time to time.

Poljan is impressed with the caliber of the girls enrolled in the sureshots clinic, saying they already can throw hard and fast. She says there are five from Chelsea which may mean "too much of a good thing."

Poljan is well-qualified to teach the clinics, being a top player on both the Chelsea High and Indiana University teams and earning numerous honors. While playing on the Chelsea High girls softball team in 1982, Poljan was named Class B, All-State Pitcher and Carnation All-American. At Indiana University she was named All-Big Ten pitcher, All-Mideast Region Pitcher, and All-American Pitcher, as well as Indiana University's 1986 Female Athlete-of-the-Year.

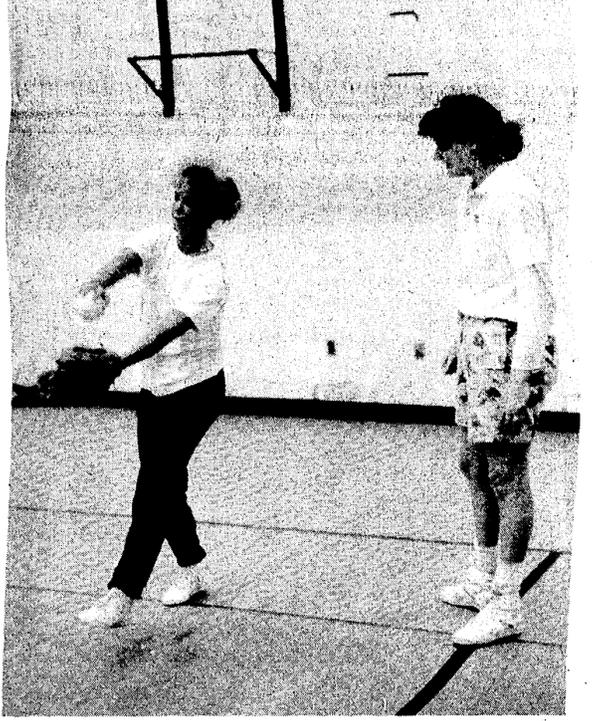

In the summer of 1986, Poljan toured Italy with a team of American college players, called "Athletes in Action." They played Italian teams from Florence, Bologna, Venice, and Milan. Poljan rates European softball players as quite competitive but not yet top caliber. She said their defense was good, but their pitching and hitting were generally behind the level of the Americans.

Poljan has been playing softball since she was eight years old. Living in Westland until she was 13, she played on church sponsored teams. Moving to Chelsea, she joined the high school team as a freshman. She was coached by Waller and Bill Wescott. In 1982, the team, with Poljan as pitcher, won the Class B state championship.

Indiana University's softball team also thrived with Poljan as pitcher, winning the Big Ten championship in 1986 and coming in third in the nation in the NCAA world series.

After graduation, Poljan took a coaching job at Central Michigan University for a year. Moving back to the Chelsea area when her husband got a job in Hamburg, Poljan found employment in the Leslie school district teaching alternative education.

In her spare time from teaching,

FORMER INDIANA ALL-AMERICAN and Chelsea star Amy Unterbrink Poljan, right, is teaching a softball pitching clinic this winter for the Chelsea Recreation Department. The clinic has attracted many of the area's best hurlers, including Jill Sherrill of South Lyon, above.

Petitions Due Feb. 8 For March Elections

Candidates for the March 14 village elections need to file petitions with village clerk Allen Anderson by Monday, Feb. 8.

Each petition must contain the signatures of a minimum of 15 registered voters in order to be valid.

Voters will elect a village president, three village trustees, an assessor, a treasurer and two board trustees for McKune Memorial Library. All positions carry two years terms, with the exception of the library board seats which run for three years.

Village trustee Richard Steele was the only candidate to have returned a petition for president as of Saturday. President Jerry Satterthwaite had picked up a petition but as of Saturday had not returned it, Anderson said.

Treasurer Katie Chapman has also picked up a petition to run for treasurer again.

Trustee Gary Bentley has also picked up a petition to run again for village council.

The seats of trustees Phil Boham and Joe Merkel are also expiring.

There currently is no village assessor as no one sought the position in the last two elections.

The library board seats of John Groesser and Anne Merkel are also up for election.

Police Plan To Enforce Snow Ordinance

Chelsea Police Department says it plans to enforce the village's snow ordinance this winter.

Village ordinance states that snow and ice must be removed from village sidewalks within 48 hours after a storm.

If snow is not removed, police are authorized to issue tickets. If a ticket doesn't motivate the motivation to clear the sidewalk, then the village is authorized to have the snow removed at the homeowner's or occupant's expense.

If the owner or occupant fails to pay the bill within 30 days, village council may levy a special assessment of at least $50 on the property and which will become a lien on the property.

Wednesday, Jan. 11, 1984—Parts Peddler Auto Supply has closed its store at 108 E. Middle St. and moved the inventory to its 1414 S. Main St. location, owner Dick Kolander announced.

Chelsea is reflecting the same decline in public school enrollment as schools across the state, says Superintendent Ray Van Meer. Since 1978 enrollment in the Chelsea school district has been on a steady, gradual, decline, and this year dropped by 37 students.

A 21-year-old Chelsea man, Arthur Cobb, was killed last Friday when a four-car Conrail freight train hit the small pick-up truck he was driving at the Fletcher Rd. crossing.

State police are investigating how money paid for traffic fines has been handled in the Chelsea village offices, and detective Timothy Ryan from the Jackson state police post later impounded village traffic fine records.

Caralee Hoffmeyer, 49, a leader in local church and community events, died suddenly at Chelsea Community Hospital. Mrs. Hoffmeyer had been a resident of Chelsea for 25 years.

Thursday, Jan. 10, 1974—The Spaulding family's 45-year ownership of Chevrolet dealerships in Chelsea ended last week with the retirement of Rolly Spaulding from Lloyd Bridges Chevrolet. Spaulding entered the dealership in 1946 in partnership with his father and continued to operate the place until its purchase by Lloyd Bridges in June of 1972.

Chelsea High school's varsity debate squad of Brian Smith, Steve Bennett, Keith Cockerline and Dale Koch received a second-place state team trophy at a state tournament, and Smith, Bennett, and Koch were all awarded individual speaker trophies.

Rick's Market was robbed at gun point by three gunmen who fled north in an orange Cougar or Mustang on M-52, taking approximately $2,000 in bills and checks.

Right up there with the Class A schools was the way Chelsea's wrestlers finished in the Parma Western Tournament. Honors for Chelsea wrestlers were earned by John Beeman, first at 119 pounds; Mike Agopian, first at 126; Nick Keiser, second at 105; Dale Poertner, third at 132; Dennis Bauer, third at 155 pounds.

Thursday, Jan. 9, 1964—Zone VI Civil Defense emergency communications center located in the basement of the Chelsea Municipal Building, was inspected by Chelsea village officials and members of the Sylvan Township Board. Installation of equipment in the center was done principally by chief communications officer Marion Longworth, and volunteer assistants Lee Satterthwaite, Bill Altenberndt, Ricki Curry and Dean Guenther.

From "Just Reminiscing" column—Jan. 12, 1950—The remaining 422 acres of the Pierce farm south of Chelsea which had been owned by members of the Pierce family continuously since it was taken up from the government by homesteading 117 years ago, changed hands during the past month. Part of it was sold to Alvin Pommerening and another part to Earl Whitney and Don Turner. Plans have been announced for developing the land for residential purposes.

Eight-year-old Danny Houk with help from his grandfather, Fred Houk, showed two big pike he had caught Jan. 5 near his home at North Lake. One weighed 7 lbs. and was 31½ inches long. A smaller one weighed 4 lbs. and measured 27 inches.

Blanchard Cites 1987 As Year of Scientific Achievement

Governor James J. Blanchard declared recently that Michigan's selection as a possible site for the Superconducting Super Collider (SSC) caps off a year of scientific achievement for the state.

"Michigan is ideally suited for this project and it fits very well with our vision of Michigan's future as a world center of knowledge-based jobs. The winner of the SSC will become the center of advanced physics for years to come," he said, citing Michigan's selection as the National Center for Manufacturing Sciences and the Center for Commercialization of Space for Robotics as other major achievements.

Final decision on the SSC site is expected by July.

The Michigan site, located in rural Stockbridge between Lansing and Ann Arbor, is one of eight sites throughout the country picked by the Federal government for the $4.4 billion atom smasher project.

Other sites are located in Texas, Arizona, Colorado, Tennessee, New York, Illinois and North Carolina.

The Stockbridge location was selected due to its being situated between research universities, Michigan and Michigan State, and because it has diversified housing, recreation and employment opportunities, as well as access to Detroit Metropolitan Airport, according to a report issued by the National Academy of Sciences panel which makes the decision.

As proposed, the project would mean 4,500 new jobs, 2,500 of which will be permanent and a $275 million annual operating budget. If Stockbridge is selected, it could mean the relocation of 221 homeowners and the purchase of 700 parcels of land by the state for the construction of an underground ring, 52 miles in circumference, that will be used to study high energy physics.

Bills Introduced To Revamp Emancipation of Minors Act

Rep. Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor) has announced the introduction of legislation to clarify portions of the emancipation of minors statute, which provides a legal means of ending parental responsibilities before a child reaches the age of 18.

The bill would establish uniform filing standards and require court involvement in all emancipation cases. Currently, most emancipations are sought by parents who have terminated responsibility of their children as young as age 14.

Under the proposed change, the emancipation proceedings must be initiated by the minor, who must be at least age 16.

Bullard said the changes proposed in the bill require minors to show that they can manage their own financial, personal and social affairs.

The measure also requires youths to show that they understand their legal rights and responsibilities as emancipated minors.

Bullard said that he believes, because the present statute is unclear and has no set guidelines to insure that parents prove their minor is financially self-sufficient before an emancipation petition is granted, it is often used in ways for which it was never intended.

For example, he noted, in some counties, parents emancipate their children by filing papers with the county clerk . . . "to get rid of unmanageable children, regardless of whether they are financially or emotionally able to provide for themselves."

He added he believes the requirements proposed in the bill will help insure that jobless and emotionally immature minors are not left to fend for themselves.

Computer System Collects $100 Million In Delinquent Taxes

Treasurer Robert Bowman reported the Department of Treasury's high-tech computer system has collected more than $100 million during its first two years of operation.

The system features a state-of-the-art telephone and computer linked system that enables telephone operators to contact as many as 3,000 individuals per day who owe the state delinquent taxes.

The state installed the system in February, 1986, at a cost of $7.5 million.

G. C. Stevens Corp., the nation's largest collection agency, operates the system located in Lansing.

The Department of Treasury supervises on-site activities and authorizes all enforcement actions such as liens and levies. G. C. Stevens also designed a similar collection system for the Internal Revenue System and 31 states nation-wide.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that his heart goes out to Alaskans because he feels like a beached whale himself. Zeke had saw where the Federal Aviation Administration thinks folks up there are heavier than the rest of us, on average. The FAA, Zeke said, probably is right.

Zeke said the FAA has asked commuter airlines in Alaska to weigh their passengers for a test period. The idea is to see if the 165-pound national average for figgering airplane loads is low. The FAA weighed survivors and victims of a recent crash of a commuter plane and found their average weight was 190.

With all the heavy eating and hibernating he done through the holidays, Zeke said, he would hate to step on scales, much less an airplane full of other fat folks. Between Thanksgiving and New Year's (seven year), Zeke said he puts on layers of blubber to warm him through the dead of winter. And if he does it on sweets he has to turn into fat, Zeke said you don't have to ask what happens to folks that take their blubber straight.

Serious speaking, Zeke went on, he knows that Alaskans eat pritty much what we eat, only more of it. They got longer nights for sleeping and eating and shorter days for working it off. Then, to, they travel different. Fer them, taking the airplane is like taking the bus to us, it's the only way to go. They fly to town to shop and they got to fly back with what they bought, Zeke went on, and they wear more clothes that weigh more.

General, the fellers showed interest in Zeke's report. Bug Hookum allowed the weigh-in is overdue fer all of us. He was of a mind that the Alaska test will go national and prove what air travelers have been complaining about. They got a lot of backside and knees left over at the end of their seat and leg room. Airlines haul big people in little seats because more seats mean more people, Bug said, so they might counter the FAA study with a offer to fly folks so much a pound.

Fer sure, Clem Webster allowed, the old truth still holds, and fer ever action there is a reaction. You know the airlines are going to buck anything that cuts their payroll, the way folks that pay the minimum wage are agin hiking it. The airlines say if they lose seats they'll have to raise rates and price people out of their service. The truck farmer says fellers on the corner waiting fer work would rather have $3.30 than nothing. Besides, if his labor costs go up his vegetables go up and folks won't be able to eat. That makes a kind of economic logic, Clem said, unless you're a 200 pounder stuffed in one of them canvas harnesses on a 16-passenger commuter, or a $3.30 a hour stoop laborer with a sick baby and a broke down truck.

Clem's talk got Ed Doolittle's dander up. Ed said he alius liked the saying about the least Government being the best. Government, and that Clem was as far off base as usual with his talk about righting ever wrong with a Government regulation. Ed said the free enterprise system has built-in corrections if it is allowed to be free and the plain truth is that some folks that need to work and want to work ain't worth what they're paid, just as some ain't paid what they're worth.

Personal, I took a pass on the discussion, but I think corrections are needed when public schools set up free day care so wimmen can work fer less than babysitter wages.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

GIRL SCOUTS from the Chelsea Cluster enjoyed hearing about India from Carol Hanson on Jan. 10. Hanson told stories and had the girls sing and dance. The girls are preparing for the Girl Scout Olympics by learning about India. Shown in the picture besides Hanson, are scouts, Jackie Setta, Jamelle Pierson, Erin Cole, Stacie Eresten, Michelle McDonald, Miriah Cherem, Jennifer Kapp, Alean Boyd, Alicia Broughton, Kristin Gaunt, Sara Flin-toft, Alicia and Beth Vogel, and helpers Laurie Boyd and Lee Tremper.

WHILE HALF the Girl Scouts who attended the cluster event, Jan. 10, learned about India, the other half enjoyed swimming. They then exchanged positions, so each swam and learned by the end of the event.

Athletic Boosters Sponsoring Sock Hop as Big Fundraiser

Chelsea Athletic Boosters are sponsoring a sock hop on Saturday, Jan. 23 as one of two major fundraisers for the group this year. High school students, their guests and all adults in the community are invited to attend the dance at Chelsea High school from 7-11 p.m. Disc jockey Jerry Martell will be on hand to play music from the '50s through the '80s. Student council is taking the responsibility for dancers' shoes in a shoe checking room. A concession stand will be open and run by the baseball team. A prom attire fashion show will be held on Saturday, Feb. 20. Details of that event will be published in a future edition of The Standard.

It's a bird, it's a plane . . . A tiny shorebird has set a new record for the fastest long-distance bird flight. According to National Wildlife magazine, the semipalmated sand-piper flew 2,800 miles—from Massachusetts to Guyana, South America—in only four days!

Poljan Teaching Softball Clinic

Poljan is leading the pitching clinics. Although they have already begun, registrants are still welcome in the fastballers class, which will last until the end of February. The clinics meet twice a week, Tuesday at South school and Friday at Beach. On Fridays, participants are asked to bring a catcher to practice with. Poljan says a friend or relative will do, just someone who can catch fast pitches. The clinics are organized with pitching done about half the time, with the other half occupied with conditioning exercises. Participants will also look at pitching videos and will keep a journal of what they are doing and feeling.

Registration is through Chelsea Community Education or may be done at the clinic sites. Further questions may be addressed directly to Poljan at 475-2476.

Planet Mercury Is Focus of U-M AstroFest Program

"The Planet Mercury" will be the subject of January's AstroFest film and lecture presentation at the University of Michigan. The free public program is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Jan. 15 in Auditorium 3, Modern Languages Building.

Most of what we know about the planet closest to the sun was discovered in 1974 and 1975 by one spacecraft, the United States' unmanned Mariner 10, according to Jim Loudon, AstroFest director and staff astronomer at the U-M's Natural Science Museums.

He notes that Mercury's cratered surface looks superficially like the moon, but the similarity ends there. "Nearly all the planet is a huge metallic core. Mercury is basically a 3000-mile-wide ball bearing."

AstroFest is sponsored by the U-M's Natural Science Museums and Department of Aerospace Engineering.

The High Price Of Pork

Before the Civil War slaves on some southern plantations lived in a state of near starvation. From time to time, on an occasion such as the Fourth of July or Christmas, the overseer would roll out a barrel of salt pork—a delicacy for the slaves who were ravenous for protein. They fought like animals for choice helpings of meat from the barrel.

Ere long "pork barrel" was applied to the behavior of politicians as they competed among themselves for government funds which could be spent in their districts to gain popularity with the voters.

The pork barrel ethic, as it is now practiced, is a way of life in Washington, and it has thrived for 150 years in Lansing. In some examples of Michigan spending selected by Margaret O'Connor, our representative for the 52nd district, we have an insight into our state's pork system. In 92 pork barrel bills which were passed by the legislature in 1987, we see how it is possible to get all of the taxpayers of Michigan to pay for a whole tree full of gifts for local community projects.

Instead of savage fighting over the pork barrel, modern legislators negotiate like ladies and gentlemen. The representative from Traverse City, for example, is seeking $75,000 to remove diseased cherry trees at state expense from some private farms. It would be logical to enlist the attention of a house member from Livonia who is trying to get the people of Michigan to pay for a $40,000 tornado warning system. In such an exchange, a mutual back-scratching deal is likely to be struck. Indeed the protocol between friendly politicians is such that a meeting is rarely necessary.

To Margaret O'Connor, pork barreling is anathema because it is unfair, irresponsible and often wasteful. Choosing another example, she asks why should the people of the Upper Peninsula pay part of the $35,000 cost of renovating a hands-on museum in Ann Arbor? Why should the comparatively well-off residents of Ann Arbor ask financially-strapped farmers of Kalkaska county to help pay $75,000 to house the Washtenaw council of the Arts? Or why should taxpayers of Bad Axe and Port Austin in the Thumb donate part of $50,000 for the Ann Arbor Art Association?

These appropriations for Ann Arbor in the legislation of 1987, plus rehabilitation of the Michigan Historical Society headquarters, brought the total to $300,000. For this rich haul, the taxpayers of Ann Arbor will contribute $3,650 while the rest of Michigan is stuck with $296,000. Some of us feel that this sort of thing amounts to misappropriation of state funds, but Frank Kelley says it's legal.

Eighty-five other local financing bills will bring the cost of pork to $77 million in unnecessary taxes under a so-called Michigan Equity Program. How does this work out for taxpayers living in the vicinity of Chelsea? Based on a trading area of 15,000 people, we will pay about $127,000 in taxes that bring us no benefits at all.

Chelsea, I regret to say, is joining the pork line, too. Just last week the sum of $30,000 has been appropriated for improvements to the depot. As everyone knows, most of the original members of the Chelsea Depot Association worked hard to raise $60,000 locally, purchase the depot and restore the exterior. We are a self-sufficient and self-respecting community and it is not in keeping with our character to pass our civic expenses on to others.

Warren is a shrinking city that has lost 23,000 population in recent years. In frantic efforts to improve its image, Warren has obtained $361,000 for a Ukrainian Cultural Center and $50,000 for the Italian-American Cultural Society. The people of Michigan have also pledged $5,000 for a youth choir and youth band, $86,950 for a Warren symphony and $186,400 for an air-supported fabric dome over the Warren pool. This vast boondoggle will only cost the taxpayers of Warren a little more than $6,000 while the rest of us take a $355,000 bath.

Other local improvements you will help pay for in 1988 include:

- A work of art for Flint (probably a statue or painting) at a cost of $25,000 to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the UAW sitdown strike.
- Conversion of the National Armory in Bay City into a museum.
- Renovation of the Strand Theater in Pontiac, $200,000.
- Improvement of the Pine Mountain Ski Jump, $30,000.
- Development of a bike path around Lake Cadillac, $50,000.
- Erection of a lookout platform affording a scenic view of Grand Lodge, $21,000.

- Commissions for eight artists to write poems, novels, design quilts, paint, and build giant flower garden, $34,100.
- The writing of stories and poems for education in nursing homes, $500,000.
- Art train, $100,000.
- A grandstand for the Upper Peninsula Fair Ground, $1.5 million.
- A program to pay students, 10 to 18 years old, to attend school, $700,000.

These are a sampling of the projects mentioned in Rep. O'Connor's latest "pork" list. She figures that all pork projects benefitting outstate communities at Michigan expense will cost close to $9 million. At the same time the city of Detroit has obtained $38 million in addition to state aid for education. Among the items are $16 million for the art institute, $5 million for operation of Cobo Hall, and $2.5 million for the Detroit Symphony.

Legislators from outstate point to these huge sums for Detroit and feel well-justified in spending millions for projects at home. But the thinking is flawed for a number of reasons. In the first place, having the state government pay for local improvements is an unwholesome practice—municipal mooching—that can only grow worse with the passage of time. Second, the state's largest city is desperate and simply doesn't lend itself to civic comparisons. The rescue and rehabilitation of Detroit is going to be up to us—the outstate population of Michigan—plus the federal government. It is going to take management and social planning equivalent to a Chapter 11 bankruptcy—time, patience and massive infusions of education. This will take years and we mustn't lose faith because it can be done.

Yet another reality is recognition of the real source of evil in pork barrel politics. As Pogo in "Peanuts" has observed, "We have met the enemy and it is us."

The public is at the roots of municipal mooching, and politicians are just responding to the demand. You can pick examples at random. Take Battle Creek, for instance. As a matter of community pride, residents of the city wanted to repair the retaining wall around city hall. The cost was set at $20,000 and city fathers balked at paying for it. Civic leaders couldn't round up the support. And then to the rescue came the idea for the ripoff: Why not get it from the state and it will be FREE! Free? Well practically. It will be just $79 divided among the 38,000 citizens of Battle Creek.

It would be appropriate, it seems, for Margaret O'Connor, or any other straight thinking legislator, to introduce a bill banning the use of state funds for municipal improvements except in recognized emergencies.

Such a law should deserve bipartisan support in the legislature because our lawmakers have plenty to do besides bailing out city halls and village councils. What is more, eliminating pork projects from Lansing would have no effect on political fortunes. Legislators will instinctively turn to other means of ingratiating themselves with their constituents.

The state is so hard up it had to raise cigarette taxes yet again. This wasn't enough so the governor is now thinking of raising the sales tax to 5 percent. Doing away with the pork barrel will save $177 million or more.

This is only the first step toward economy. Having won the long and arduous fight against municipal mooching, Margaret O'Connor can train her guns on the biggest target of all: Why a state with zero population growth, manages to increase its spending, and do it 70 percent faster than the rate of inflation.

Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by President Lloyd Grau. Board approved the minutes of the Dec. 7 meeting.

will be held immediately prior to the April 4 board meeting.

The board/extended until Jan. 7, 1989, the land contract on the 1981-82 building trades house.

Meeting adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

The board presented a Certificate of Achievement to high school senior Sam Eisenbeiser in recognition of his nomination to the Academic All-State, Honorable Mention team. Sam was one of 600 nominations across the State of Michigan.

David Mieras, of the South and West Washtenaw Consortium, was present at the meeting to discuss the Student Occupational Competency Assessment program. He outlined the process and procedures being used to assess vocational education curriculum in Washtenaw county. The assessment results will be used to make any improvements necessary to meet the skills of the program.

Vicki Utke, social worker, was present at the meeting to update the board on her activities dealing with "children at risk" at the elementary level. Vicki reported that many of her planned activities are now being implemented. In addition to individual direct contacts with students and parents, her main focus has been working with students in groups. She has recently completed four new-come groups, is conducting social skills groups at North and South schools, and is spending some time in the Young Fives classrooms on a weekly basis. Within the next week she will start an eight-week tutoring program which will involve 4th and 5th graders working with first and second graders in the areas of reading and writing. In addition, Vicki is setting up a lending library of books which may be helpful to parents and students. She expressed her excitement and enthusiasm with her new assignment.

Curriculum director Laurie Bissell discussed proposed new course descriptions for business education, high school English, and technology education curriculum, and indicated that in the spring the board will be furnished complete courses of study for these areas. The reason for the presentation of course descriptions at this time is to meet the deadlines for printing of high school course selection booklets. Laurie indicated that staff members working in these curricular areas have done thorough investigation through surveys and contacts with other schools, community colleges and universities.

Fred Mills indicated that the matter of sexual harassment has become a state-wide issue with employers, and that the district should adopt a policy and complaint procedure dealing with this subject. A proposed policy, recommended by the district's attorney, was discussed as an information item and will be an action item at the next meeting.

Trustee Ann Feeney reported on the evaluation instrument for board members, and indicated that more important than the format is the procedure to be used by the members in evaluating themselves. The evaluations are expected to be completed by late March, and a final work session

Foster Homes Are Needed For Children

Can you make time in your life for a child who needs you? Washtenaw County Department of Social Services needs foster homes to provide care for children who have been removed from the home of their natural family because of abuse or neglect.

They need black and white homes for children of all ages. Because they work with so many children who are also sexually abused, they especially need families who are willing to learn to work with older children with special needs. They also have a shortage of black families willing to do long term care or to adopt children of all ages.

Interested? They have a foster parent/adoption training program starting Tuesday, Jan. 19, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Department of Social Services, 2350 W. Stadium Blvd., Ann Arbor.

Please call Pat Ruby at 994-1694 to register or for more information.

Drivers Needed To Help Transport Cancer Patients

The American Cancer Society's Washtenaw county unit needs more members for its Road to Recovery program. This is a group of volunteers who drive cancer patients to and from local medical centers for treatment.

Transportation is a major problem for many Michigan cancer patients. For instance, one cancer patient requiring radiation therapy could need anywhere from 20 to 30 trips in six weeks. A patient receiving chemotherapy might report for treatment weekly for up to a year.

In many cases, a patient is driven to hospitals or clinics by relatives or friends. But even they must occasionally seek alternative transportation.

That's where Road to Recovery comes in. These volunteers drive patients to medical facilities for life-saving treatments. The schedules are flexible. If you have a car and can spare as little as one morning or afternoon a month to help somebody along the road to recovery, call the local American Cancer Society office at 971-4300.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Brian Hamilton

The Department of Nasty Regulators, most commonly known to village officials as the DNR, is flexing its regulatory muscles again. This time it might be going for the knockout punch.

Village officials have been dealing with the DNR on a regular basis for years now. The village was ordered to upgrade its wastewater treatment plant because it was polluting Letts Creek, particularly during heavy rainstorms when seepage into the sewers sent the plant over capacity.

Nobody really argued much that the plant was outdated, and the village applied for an Environmental Protection Agency grant to help with the tremendous construction costs.

And the village waited and waited and waited some more until one day the grant was granted. While the village waited the level of funding dropped from 75 percent to 55 percent.

Dealing with the DNR generated a mountain of paper work. Village officials agreed that while it was all a pain in the pipes, it would all be worth it in the end.

Then the DNR flexed its muscles the first time. The grant was awarded, bids were in and the DNR said wait a minute, you guys have been polluting Letts Creek all these years, we think you should pay for it. And by the way, you guys aren't going to meet the July 1988 deadline for compliance with wastewater statutes.

DNR essentially forced the village to sign a consent decree saying "yes, we polluted Letts Creek and here's $5,000 to forget about it forever. Unless, of course, we miss a new January 1989 deadline and then we'll pay another $5,000 for you to forget about that, even though it wasn't our fault." The only reason the village paid the ransom was the grant was being held hostage. "Pay up," they said, "or you may never see your precious little grant again."

Village attorney Peter Flintoft told the council that the village might have a good case in court since the village had acted in good faith and met all the DNR requirements. But everyone agreed that the fight wasn't worth the risk.

This story had a bittersweet ending. The new plant is well under construction. But the whole episode left, well, a crappy taste in the village's mouth.

Now, as we all know, the DNR isn't finished with the village yet. This time they've taken the landfill hostage and they may force the village to pay a much higher price than $5,000 to get it back.

"Ah, ha," they're saying, "you guys might be polluting the ground-water. If you want to see your precious little operating license again, you'll agree to take care of any pollution problems all by yourself."

Again, they're asking the village to sign a consent decree agreeing to such an arrangement. If there is a significant contamination problem, the village could be facing a huge bill to clean it up.

On the other hand, the village has spent more than $40,000 preparing the new part of the landfill for operation.

Just how this story will end is anybody's guess because there are so many variables.

First of all, nobody knows if there really is a pollution problem or how extensive it is. DNR and village tests of monitoring wells both showed contamination but by completely different contaminants. The village is waiting for the results of a second round of testing by both parties.

What if the tests don't agree again? What if there's no sign of contamination beyond the landfill? Is the contamination coming from the old, unlined portion of the newer lined parts? How do you clean up a pollution problem that is measured in parts per billion, from say 30 parts per billion to 3 or 4?

It's not inconceivable that the results of the DNR tests won't be ready until after the landfill has reached its capacity this spring.

In any event, it sure appears likely that the village isn't going to have a license by then. The DNR, at least according to engineer Synthia Noble, is adamant in its stance that it won't participate in any clean-up. The village seems equally adamant that it isn't going to sign a consent decree. Village officials are still upset about the wastewater plant incident and this time are likely to stand up to the DNR. The village doesn't want to be bullied again into signing an agreement to take the blame for something that isn't totally their fault. After all, the DNR has been issuing licenses for all these years.

Noble said the owners of a large commercial landfill have already signed a similar consent decree. Well, that's a great deal for them. If the going gets tough they can declare bankruptcy and reorganize. What's the village's option? Bankrupt and become a city?

If I had to guess, I'd say the village will be forced to close the landfill and the whole thing will be solved in the courts, or at least by attorneys, whether in or out of court. And virtually all the trash in western Washtenaw county will have to be taken somewhere else.

The whole issue here is really an outgrowth of a larger issue—what are we going to do with our garbage in the future? Landfills are on their way out. They're dirty, expensive and take up a lot of space.

Village of Chelsea may be more aware of this problem than most small municipalities because it has been in the landfill business for many years. They've known for some time how long the landfill would last and that the village would have to find some other way to dispose of its trash.

There have been occasional jokes made in village council meetings that the village can always float a garbage barge down Letts Creek. But jokes aside, the village has been working with the county for many months on an alternative garbage disposal program with recycling as its main component. They still hope to go with the program although its co-ordinator, Jack Durbin, recently resigned as Washtenaw county's public works director.

And guess what. Cost of development of the program was to be partly defrayed by a surcharge on garbage brought to the landfill. Where will that money come from?

If the village is forced to close the landfill, the DNR will essentially be delaying the solution to a problem that's in everyone's best interest to solve. A better way would be to give the village its license to fill the new cell, which meets all DNR requirements, and deal with any contamination as a separate issue.

WINNERS OF THIS YEAR'S PINEWOOD DERBY, David Mote, and first-place winner Dan Martell. The derby was held Saturday, Jan. 9 at North school. About 55 boys, from all six dens of Pack 435 participated in the event which was organized by Lloyd Lafferty.

Depot Receives State Grant

out of money, this is probably the part of the plan that would not be completed.

Operating costs will be shared by the Chamber of Commerce, Depot Association and the historical society. The chamber will pay about a third, while the historical society will pay what they can, with the depot association taking up the slack. They estimate that it will cost about $6,000 a year for heating, electricity, and janitorial work.

The Chelsea Depot Association bought the depot in December of 1985 for $15,000. They spent the first $30,000 they raised renovating the outside: stripping the outside paint, repainting, replacing the windows with thermosealed units, repairing gingerbread trim, and doing work on the roof and foundation. Some of the money also went for insurance, printing, and for architect's fees.

When they finished the outside work, they had some money left, but not enough to do all that needed doing inside, so they began applying for grants. They were turned down for a Chrysler Fund Grant before getting the state grant. Gloria Mitchell says it was a frustrating time because many contributors wondered why they were not at least starting on the inside with the money they had, not realizing that the money had to be saved to use as matching money in the grant applications.

The terms of the equity grant are that $40,000 must be matched locally. Mitchell and Fahrner are sure they can come up with the money, using the money left in their treasury and contributions from the Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis. $10,000 of the money is being negotiated with the village as an in-kind donation for work on the parking lot along the railroad tracks.

The hope is that finishing the depot will not only be good in and of itself, but also for the welfare of the entire village. The grant application explains, "The project is located in an area that has, over the years, deteriorated in terms of physical appearance and it is located on the northern edge of the downtown. Improvements in this area will help enhance the northern entrance to the downtown and will help add to the incentive and complement other downtown improvement projects planned by the Downtown Development Authority. It will, along with other downtown projects, help stimulate economic development in the village's downtown area."

The Depot Association's board of 12 trustees meet the first Thursday of every month. Current officers are Mitchell and Fahrner, and secretary Marge Hepburn. The rest of the trustees are Linda Collins, Mark Heydlauff, Dudley Holmes, Jr., Elmer Keil, Richard McCalla, Diana Newman, Clara Smith, Veretta Whitaker, and Kathleen Clark.

KAREN HOFING, who is teaching four craft classes this winter through the Chelsea Community Education program, holds up two of the items that she will be teaching how to make: the padded picture item and the potpourri wreath. Standing next to her is her daughter, Annalise, holding the Scenic Easter Egg.

Craft Classes Recommended for Snowy Evenings

If anyone would like to usefully while away snowbound evenings, a suggestion is to do crafts. This semester, Chelsea Community Education is offering four craft classes taught by Chelsea resident Karen Hofing.

Hofing will teach "Potpourri Wreath," Jan. 20; "Padded Picture Album," Jan. 27; "Paper-snipping," Feb. 10; and "Scenic Easter Egg" on March 23 and March 30. Cost is either $6 or $7, plus materials. Depending on the nature of the class, Hofing either provides the materials and divides the cost among the participants, or sends a supply list to registrants prior to the first class.

Hofing says she has been doing crafts her entire adult life. She learns them in various ways: by belonging to a weekly craft club where they share ideas, from magazines, and from seeing examples in stores and homes. As a teen-ager, Hofing sewed a lot, learning from her mother, who she describes as "craftsy."

Hofing taught craft classes through the Ann Arbor Community Education program for three years, but when she and her family moved to Chelsea last summer, she decided to transfer her classes to her new community.

Last fall, Hofing taught two classes in Chelsea: "Raffia Angels" and "Padded Picture Album." Although the enrollment was not large (about five for each class), Hofing said she enjoyed working with the people who took the classes.

Of the first of the winter classes, "Potpourri Wreath," Hofing says she feels almost guilty teaching it since it's practically self-taught. Participants bring their own supplies and fashion a wreath with such things as herbs, dried flowers, and Spanish moss. Hofing says the final product has a very Victorian look.

"Padded Picture Album," is a craft that Hofing learned about from seeing one a friend of hers had that a relative had made. Hofing says of the albums, "They are always popular, people come away pleased. And you don't have to be crafty to make them. All it takes is cutting and pasting."

For the paper snipping class, Hofing says she is boning up since it is a while since she has taught that craft. Again she says it is simple to do, just requiring tracing with an exacto knife. She describing the finished product as "a pretty effect."

The last class, "Scenic Easter Egg," meets twice since it involves papier-mache which must dry. The egg form is made by putting crochet string dipped in paste around a balloon. When the paste is dry, the balloon is broken, leaving the inside for decorating with such things as Easter grass, excelsior (a natural material similar to wood shavings), and figures such as bunnies, deer, and chickens. The final product is about six inches tall and stands by itself.

Using the same process, Hofing worked with her son Josh's North school fourth grade class in making Christmas ornaments.

Hofing points out that all four crafts are suitable for children to do with supervision and would make perfect scout or youth group projects. She says they also make excellent gifts.

In all the classes, participants go home with a finished product. Hofing says it is her experience that "if people take home an unfinished product, it stays unfinished."

Hofing's own children enjoy helping her with the projects, often making them for gifts such as for teachers. Besides Josh, she and her husband Gary have two daughters, Gretchen, a seventh grader at Beach, and Annalise, a kindergartener at North.

THE CHELSEA PHARMACY as it looks today. While taking off the porcelain covering, a forgotten window was discovered on the side facing Middle St. The newly exposed window gives the pharmacy additional light and heat. The only work yet to do is putting in a window to the west of the Chelsea map where a door used to stand. Contractor on the project, Charles Shiver, designed a Palladian window to go in that spot, matching the windows on the second story. It will be lighted and contain a display of old pharmacy equipment from the collection of the building's owner, Dan Murphy.

THE CHELSEA PHARMACY as it originally looked. Thanks to a recent restoration, the brick work and windows are again revealed after being covered up for 30 years. Also, the display windows have been replaced to multi-pane, although a later alteration of the entrance facing at an angle has been retained. As seen in the picture, the original entrance faced directly on Main St.

Chelsea Pharmacy Restoration Uncovers Forgotten Window

The renovation of the Chelsea Pharmacy building, 101 N. Main, which started last July, is almost completed. The aim of the renovation, according to owner Dan Murphy, is to "bring it back to what it might have looked like at the turn of the century."

The last work done on the building was in 1957, so Murphy, who recently became the sole owner of the building, buying out Charles and Helen Lancaster's share, decided that an update was in order.

Murphy hired Charles Shiver to come up with a plan. Shiver studied old pictures of the building and also researched what other pharmacies of the era looked like. The color scheme of gray and yellow had to be guessed at since all the pictures are in black and white.

Shiver designed new windows that looked like old ones and also found an antique door which he installed complete with brass fixtures. The design of the entranceway is more modern, since it originally was squared off and faced Main St. Murphy described the design as "a mixture of modern and old."

A pleasant surprise of the work was the uncovering of a long forgotten window at the west end of the building, complete with old lettering. The window now adds to the ambience of the building as well as allowing more light and heat inside the store.

Shiver and Murphy decided to add another window between the re-discovered window and the Chelsea map in the approximate place where a back entrance door had once been placed. The new window, which is now bricked in, will be lit and have displays of old pharmaceutical equipment, which Murphy collects such as molds and apothecary bottles.

Shiver did the general contracting work on the project. Assisting him were Murphy's two sons, Casey and Brady who did the masonry work, Steve Dickey of Chelsea Woodworking who made the window frames, and Frank Turson of Jackson who re-painted the map which is jointly paid for by the pharmacy and the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce.

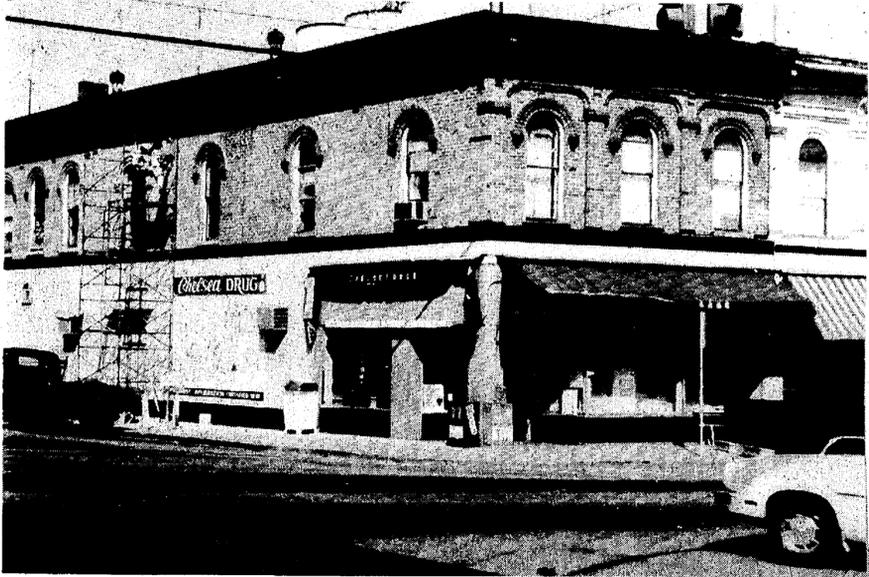

The work took longer than Murphy had thought it would, not being done until just before Christmas. But Murphy said it was worth it, explaining that renovations require more work than starting from scratch, since much has to be done by hand, and that removal of existing coverings entails extra steps.

Murphy, who has his pharmacy degree from Ferris, has worked at the Chelsea Pharmacy for 38 years, starting when he was 13 years old, working for Charles Lancaster. He says, "I've only had one job all my life."

Before last July, the pharmacy was owned by J. V. Burg. It had started as the Glazier Bank & Drug Co. (The newly uncovered window area also has a door which led upstairs to the bank.) In more recent memory the business included, in addition to drug store items, a soda fountain with counter service.

Since last July, Murphy and his wife Carol have been sole owners of the building. The pharmacy business is owned by five partners: Murphy, Dave Bust, Dale Schumann, Dave Perkins, and Charles Lancaster.

THE CHELSEA PHARMACY before renovation. Owner of the building, Dan Murphy, hired Charles Shiver to develop a renovation plan and execute it. Shiver and Murphy's aim was to bring it back as close to its turn of the century condition as possible while keeping what was good in later additions. Shiver took off the porcelain covering which had been put up in 1957 (in the 1950's these coverings were considered a wonderful modernization technique, but today are recognized as a way of obscuring original buildings), and changed the single glass front windows to multi-panes to look more in tune with the age of the building.

Dreadnaughts Sizzle, Bulldogs Fizzle as Dexter Is Easy Victor, 73-57

By Brian Hamilton

Dexter Dreadnaughts ran away from the Chelsea Bulldogs in the second half to take a 73-57 win in the Dexter gym last Friday.

In other action last week, Chelsea dropped a non-conference game with Onsted, 58-52.

Down 34-27 at halftime, the Dreadnaughts outscored the Dogs 18-4 in the first five minutes of the third quarter even though they missed four of seven free throws. Jeff Bishop scored eight points on lay-ups and Andy Walsh added another four points on lay-ups as the Dreadnaughts put together a nearly flawless passing game and the Chelsea defense suffered a complete breakdown.

"Your guess is as good as mine as to what happened," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"We didn't make any adjustments at half-time except that we wanted to run specific plays to specific people to take advantage of their strengths. We also wanted to turn up the intensity a notch because the Dexter boys were tired at the end of the first half. But we came out in the second half and were out of position on offense and didn't know who we were guarding on defense."

Chelsea scored just 19 points in the second half after scoring 26 points in the second quarter.

"After the first half of the first quarter until the end of the half we played as well as we have all year," Raymond said.

Chelsea fell behind 14-8 at the end of the first quarter as the Dreadnaughts' quickness was able to take advantage of a full-court press for an 8-0 lead. However, Chelsea dropped the press and sizzled in the second period behind the shooting of Junior Morseau and Chad Starkey. Starkey had all eight of his points in the period and Morseau scored 10 of his team-high 22 points. John Collins sank a three-point shot at the buzzer, putting Chelsea ahead 34-27. Then the roof caved in.

"We looked completely disorganized in the second half and it was really disheartening to watch from the bench," Raymond said.

Both teams took, and missed, a bundle of shots. Dexter made 27 of 76 tries while Chelsea hit 19 of 71 shots, indicating the up-tempo character of the game.

It was also a physical game, particularly inside, for both teams but relatively few fouls were called.

Dexter had the edge in height and muscle and it showed in a 47-39 (unofficial) rebounding edge.

Dexter went to the line 30 times and made 16 shots. Chelsea was 17-25 from the line.

"Dexter has good players and they have height inside," Raymond said.

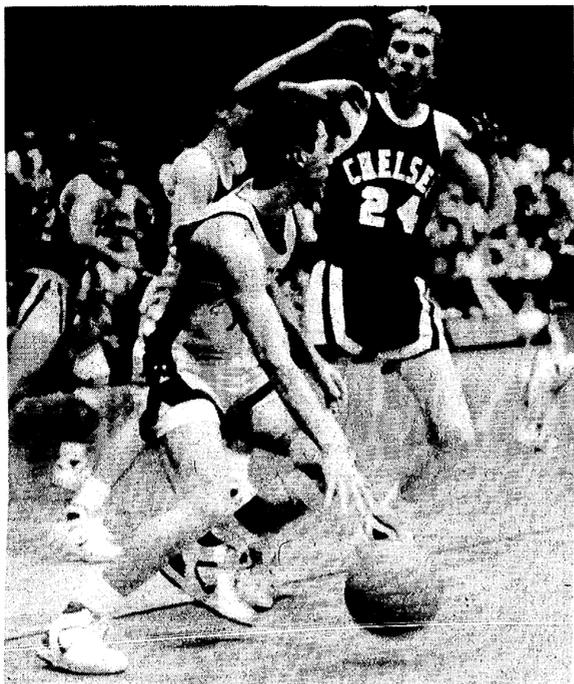

"They also got some good post play from their bench. But over-all I'd say they won more because of what we didn't do in the second half."

Collins was the only player other than Morseau in double figures, scoring 10. Jeff Marshall, John Cattell and Kevan Flanigan each scored five and Phil Thomson scored two.

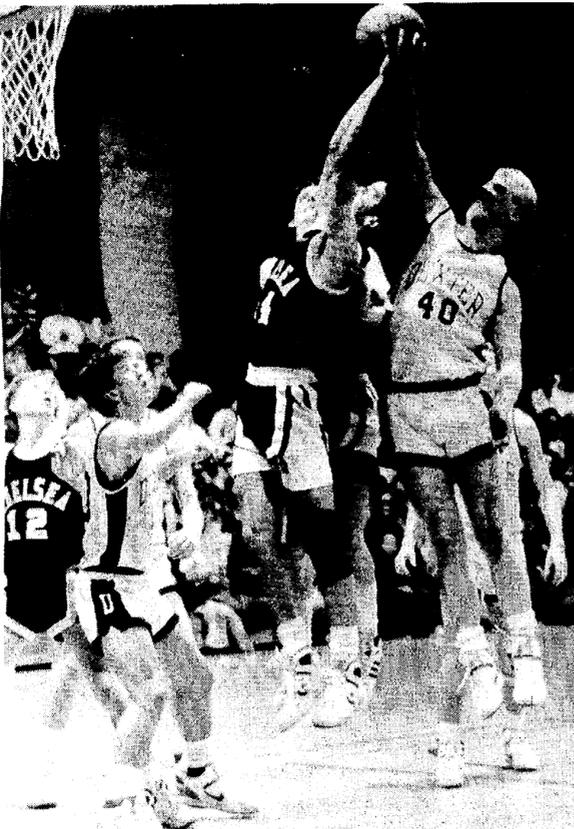

Chelsea is 1-3 in the Southeastern Conference while Dexter improved to 3-1.

In the Tuesday, Jan. 5 game with Onsted at home, the Bulldogs led at Chelsea Bulldog wrestlers won a surprisingly easy meet with the Lincoln Railsplitters last Thursday, Jan. 7, 51-15.

In other action on Saturday, Chelsea placed seventh in the competitive Jackson County Western Invitational.

In the Lincoln match-up, the Bulldogs won 10 of 13 matches, including pins in each of the last six matches.

"There were two key weights," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"Craig McCalla pinned his guy at 126 and Dean Sutherland won a good match and turned the momentum for us. Going in I thought those were two matches we might lose because Lincoln has good wrestlers at those weights. I thought the meet would be real close."

Among the Lincoln starters are five seniors and four juniors. Juniors and sophomores dominate the Chelsea squad.

Results of the meet follow.

98 pounds: Kelly Beard (C) lost a 9-6 decision to Kevin Day.

105 pounds: Rex Nye (C) pinned Danny Kuclio in 4:42.

112 pounds: Eric Hanna (C) pinned Nathan Burton in 1:59.

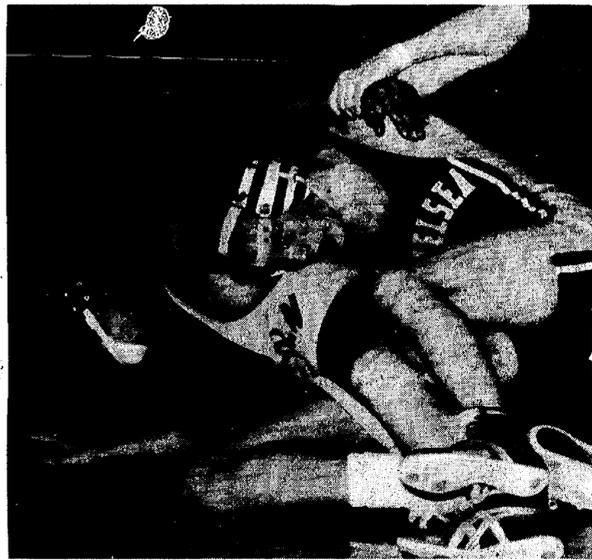

119 pounds: Alan Hanna (C) won a 9-0 decision over Sungwoo Baek.

126 pounds: Craig McCalla (C) pinned Kent O'Clair in :56.

132 pounds: Robert Kornexl (C) was pinned by Scott Sakall in 1:42.

138 pounds: Doug Wingrove (C) was pinned by Job Tobey in 2:54.

145 pounds: Dean Sutherland (C) won a 12-10 decision over Mark Nuemann.

CHELSEA'S ALAN HANNA works on Lincoln's Sungwoo Baek on his way to a 9-0 decision last Thursday. The Bulldogs had an easy time in what coach Kerry Kargel thought would be a tough meet.

155 pounds: Gary Dosey (C) pinned Elbert Collin in 4:31.

167 pounds: Bill Dixon (C) pinned Jeff Lafferty in 3:44.

185 pounds: Tim VanSchoick (C) pinned John Lori in :48.

198 pounds: Todd Thurkow (C) pinned Albert Arsenal in 3:26.

Heavyweight: Mike Taylor (C) pinned Sparky Matts in 2:50.

The win for Thurkow was his first ever in the Southeastern Conference. "I felt good about Todd's win," Kargel said.

Jackson County Western won their own invitational with 183½ points.

"This is one of the best tournaments we've been in all year," Kargel said.

7th Grade Cagers Lose To Lincoln

Chelsea seventh grade cagers lost a 44-32 decision to Lincoln last Thursday, Jan. 7 at Lincoln.

"We played hard but were out-shot and out-rebounded," said Chelsea coach Charlie Waller.

"We only had one official and it sure is hard to win on the road." Chelsea was out-scored in every quarter and was behind throughout the contest.

Ed Waller scored 12 points on six field goals to lead the Bullpups. He was the only Chelsea player in double figures. Rounding out the scoring were Erik Brown, seven points, Steve Grau, Chris Dunham and Ken Slane, four points each, and Brian Horn, one point.

Brown was five of seven from the free throw line.

"Steve Grau, Erik Brown and Ed Waller all played very hard with good defense and hustle," Waller said.

Chelsea evened its record at 3-3.

Volleyball Team Knocks Off Lincoln

Chelsea varsity volleyball team won a three-game match over the Lincoln Railsplitters last Thursday, Jan. 7, 15-2, 10-15 and 15-3.

The Bulldogs were able to win despite being flat for the game, according to coach Karen Tobin.

"We were fortunate in the first game with the strong serving of Ceia Murphy," Tobin said.

"She scored the first six points of the game and really put Lincoln in a hole. We let down in the second game and did not execute our offense. In the third game we were able to pick up the tempo and played much better with a strong team effort."

Murphy with the leading scorer for the team with 11 points and three aces. Mindy Ryan scored nine points, Meredith Hall, eight, Laura Walton, five, Chris Basso, three and Sarah Schaeffer and Jenni Anderson, two each.

Leading setter was Hall with four assists. Basso had three.

Schaeffer was the leading hitter with four kills and 6-6 hitting.

Murphy was the leading passer with 13 of 21 passes to the setter.

"We have beaten Lincoln in the first game each of the last three years and we have a hard time being mentally into the game," Tobin said.

"We are not a tall team and our strength is our teamwork. We need communication and teamwork to be successful."

CEIA MURPHY was the Bulldogs' leading scorer in a match with the Lincoln Railsplitters last Thursday at home.

JV Cagers Top Dexter To Maintain SEC Lead

Chelsea's junior varsity cagers ran their Southeastern Conference record to 4-0 with a 48-37 victory over the Dexter Dreadnaughts at Dexter last Friday, Jan. 8.

The Bulldogs overcame their own sloppiness in the third quarter when they managed to score just two points.

"It was a good over-all effort for us although we kind of disappeared in the third quarter," said Chelsea coach Jeff Dils.

Chelsea never trailed in the game although the Dreadnaughts cut a 27-14 Chelsea half-time lead to one point at the end of three quarters, 29-28.

Down the stretch, Kyle Plank took over and "made sure we did what we had to win," Dils said.

The Bulldogs shot 38 percent for the game but closer to 50 percent in the first half. In the third quarter they were 1-12 from the field and 0-5 at the line. They made just 10 of 23 tries from the line for the night.

Kyle Plank scored 13 and his brother Kerry scored 11. They were the only Bulldogs in double figures. Chris Wilson had eight points, Brian Burg, six, and Mark Chasteen, Chad Raymond, Butch Michaud and Brandon Murrell, two each.

In a game played last Tuesday, Jan. 5 at home, the Bulldogs lost to Onsted, 61-53.

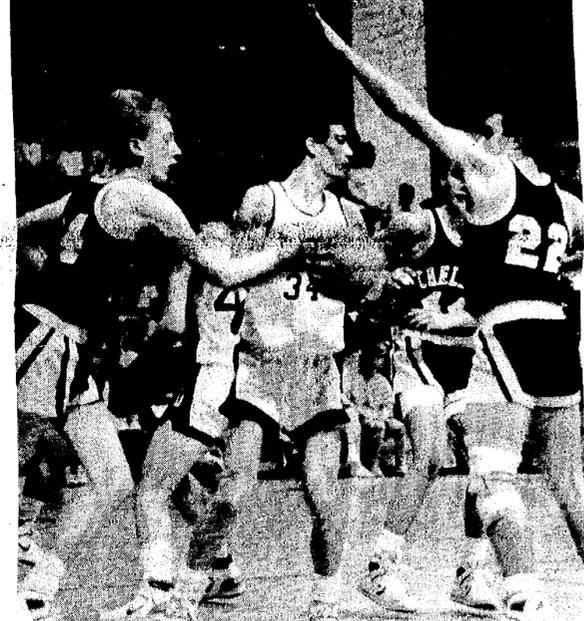

Chelsea fell behind 22-4 early in the second quarter and spent the rest of the game battling back. They eventually tied the game at 39 and had three chances to take the lead but couldn't cash in as they threw the ball away three times in a row.

"We were real lackadaisical," Dils said.

"Our concentration and intensity simply weren't there although we made a nice effort to come back."

Kyle and Kerry Plank again led the scoring effort with 19 and 13 points, respectively. Burg scored six, Murrell, four, Michaud and Wilson, four each, and Chasteen, two.

Chelsea has a 4-3 over-all record.

DREADNAUGHT JEFF BISHOP is surrounded by Bulldogs' Chad Starkey, Kevan Flanagan and Junior Morseau in the early going last Friday night. Bishop keyed a third-quarter rally that saw Dexter erase a seven-point half-time deficit and cruise to their third win, 73-57.

Slow Start Dooms 8th Grade Cagers

Lincoln knocked off Beach Middle school's eighth grade Bullpup basketball team 42-31 on Thursday, Jan. 7.

The Pups got off to a slow start and were behind 18-2 at half-time.

"We seemed to be getting the shots but we just couldn't score," said Pup coach Jim Tallman.

Tallman said that Ben Hurst and Jake Rindle did an excellent job of taking the ball to the basket. He said Adam Tillman, Chris White and Jon Royce played well on defense.

Hurst and Rindle scored 12 and 10 points, respectively. Royce scored four points, Rob Jaques and Dan Stahl scored two each and Tillman had one.

"This team continues to improve and when we become a little more consistent in shooting we'll be hard to beat."

Chelsea's record dropped to 2-4.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

"Oh where oh where did the Bulldogs all go
Oh where oh where could they be?
With their offense cut short and their defense so-so,
Oh where, oh where could they be?"

Chelsea coach Robin Raymond could have been humming that tune during the second half of Friday night's game at Dexter. The Bulldogs apparently got lost on their way from the dressing room to the gym. After playing perhaps their best basketball of the year in the second quarter, they came out in the second half and looked about as intimidating as my 30-and-over men's team did Sunday afternoon against Pilot Plastic.

And let me tell you, that's bad.
About the only difference in the games is that Chelsea had a seven-point lead at half-time thanks to John Collins' three-point jumper at the buzzer. My Westside Gym team never had the lead and the game was close for about 27 seconds.

Dexter, who won 73-57, ended up looking like one of the teams to beat in the Southeastern Conference. The Dreadnaughts ran at will and it generally looked more like a Dexter practice than a game. They took maybe two shots from more than two feet out. Dexter fans tried to help the Bulldogs' plight by throwing toilet paper on the floor and earning their team a technical foul.

But appearances can be deceiving. Dexter looks as though it has a good team but boy the Bulldogs gave them all the help they could ask for. For starters, Chelsea didn't get back on defense, which accounted for most of the Dexter lay-ups. Chelsea also didn't score, didn't do much on the offensive boards, and threw the ball away about every other time down the court.

That's just about the way our recreation game went on Sunday.
Unlike the Bulldogs, our team has an excuse. We never practice and many of us had never even played together.

The worst thing the Dreadnaughts, and Pilot Plastic could do is let their lopsided victories go to their heads. They are good teams, but probably not THAT good.

One of the most disappointing parts of the game was that Chelsea was beaten so badly even with a sub-par performance by Dexter's Andy Walsh. I had hoped that if the Bulldogs were destined to be beaten that Walsh would turn in his best game of the year. Better yet, I hoped that the Bulldogs would win despite his best game of the year.

Walsh is one of those guys I always like to see play well because he is such a pleasure to watch. In that respect he reminds me of former Bulldog Mark Bareis, even though they aren't at all similar in their styles.

Anyone notice how yellow it seemed in the Dexter gym? Maybe it's my eyesight, but it looked as though everyone had a mild case of jaundice.

I also heard a complaint that a light was burned out over one of the baskets, which may have caused some shots to miss because the perspective was skewed. However, both teams played under the same conditions so it's not much of an excuse.

Junior Junior Morseau is a perfect 18 for 18 from the foul line this season, one of the bright spots for the Bulldogs.

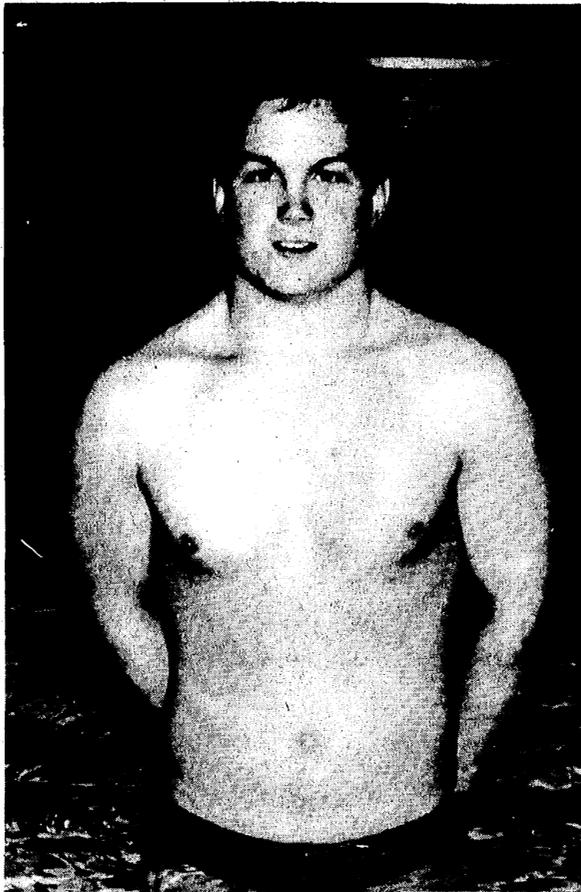

If Chelsea doesn't win the SEC cage title, which appears certain, I hope the Dreadnaughts do. They had a good football season and were perhaps one questionable call away from a championship, despite being longshots at the beginning of the year. The basketball team is also a longshot considering the strength of Saline, Lincoln and Pinckney. But given the right circumstances, and a little help from other teams in the league, the Dreadnaughts could pull it off.

Raymond says his only disappointment so far is that his Bulldogs haven't won more games. He says he's been pleased by the support from the school district and community. And he's also pleased by the play of the teams from JV on down.

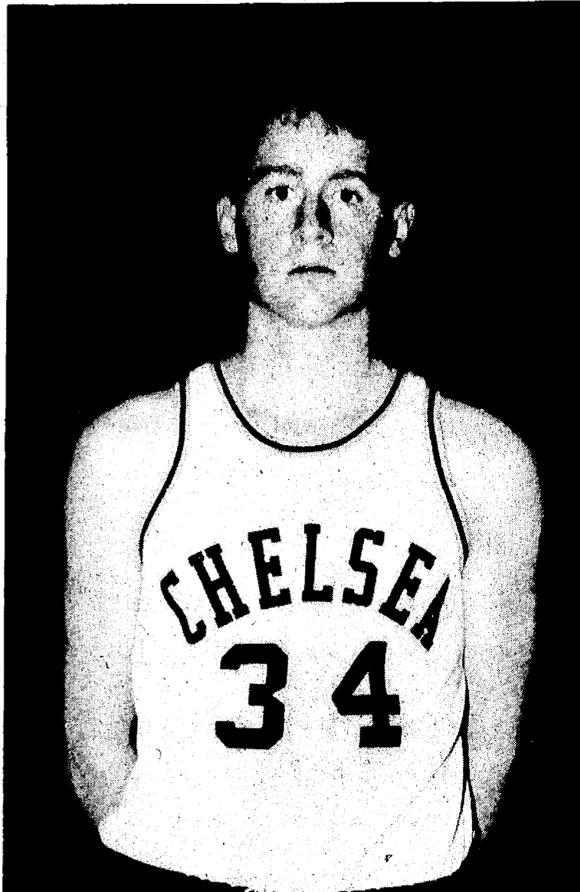

JV cagers are 4-0 in the league, which could be an omen.
Imagine a starting varsity line-up in two years featuring Chad Starkey, Kyle and Kerry Plank, Brian Burg, and say Jude Quilter or Tucker Steele. That team will have height, quickness, shooting ability and intelligence on the court. You couldn't ask for much more.

While we're dreaming of line-ups, think of next year's wrestling team. We'll have Pat Taylor (14-1 so far this year), Rex and Reno Nye (11-1), Eric (16-3-1) and Alan Hanna (9-2), Tim VanSchoek (16-5), and Mike Tye (16-6).

Virtually every one of those guys could qualify for the state tournament. In fact, the Bulldog team could go to the state. Every Bulldog wrestler, with one exception, is at least .500 for the season.

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK are senior swimmer Kevin Brock and senior basketball player Greg Boughton. Kevin is the son of Carol Brock, 14108 Wagon Wheel, and brother of Brian, 15, Steven, 12, and David, 11. Kevin swims the 200-yard individual medley and 100-yard fly for the Bulldogs and his best times are 2:14.45 and 1:00.2, respectively. His goal is to qualify for the state meet this season. Kevin is one of the tri-captains of the team and was a state qualifier last year on the medley relay team. During the winter you're also likely to find Kevin on the ski slopes. During warmer weather he also likes to test his balance on skate boards. Kevin is active in the United Methodist Youth Fellowship and spends time working with the elderly. Next year he'd like to attend a two-year college in preparation for attending a four-year school. Greg, of 1325 N. Freer Rd., is the son of Jim and Dorothy Boughton and brother of Jennifer, 19, Erika, 14 and Scott, 7. He's a second-year, 6-3 forward and has helped spark the Bulldogs off the bench in the early going. "Greg has a nice, soft touch on his jump shot," says coach Robin Raymond. Last spring the lefty was the Most Valuable Pitcher on the varsity baseball team and figured to be a key to this year's success. He'd like to play baseball at Western Michigan University next year and study to become a pilot. Flying is one of his hobbies.

Tankers Earn Tie With Maples

Tuesday, Jan. 5, the Chelsea Bulldog swim team tied the Adrian Maples at Adrian, 86-86.

"We didn't swim very well in the beginning of the meet, came back in the middle, and swam even up in the last three events," said coach Mike Keeler.

The dual meet schedule has the team swimming its fourth consecutive class A school this Thursday against Novi.

"I feel that this schedule has helped us out quite a bit. We have been very competitive in every meet and with a few breaks going our way we could have been 4-0 instead of 1-2-1," Keeler said. But I think that swimming a tough schedule just makes us physically and mentally tougher at the end of the year when it really counts."

The line score of the meet is as follows:

200-yard medley relay: 2. Chelsea A (Brett Paddock, David Oesterle, Kevin Brock, Matt Doan), 1:50.71; 3. Chelsea B (Terry Draper, Howard Merkel, Lloyd Brown, Wally Schmid), 1:55.40; 6. Chelsea C (Brian Brock, Mike Hollo, Greg Garen, Jason Sheffield) 2:08.15.

200-yard freestyle: 3. Garth Girard, 2:02.72; 4. Charlie Hosner, 2:03.73; 5. Chris Birtles, 2:04.54.

200-yard individual medley: 3. Brock, 2:19.84; 4. Paddock, 2:23.44; 5. Oesterle, 2:26.60.

50-yard freestyle: 2. Doan, 24.34; 4. Tyler Lewis, 24.64; 5. Von Acker, 26.64.

Diving: 1. Lewis, 207.25; 2. Mark

Luick, 124.30; 5. Jamie Basso, 110.20.

100-yard butterfly: 1. Brock, 1:01.04; 3. Hosner, 1:04.28; 4. Brown, 1:06.64.

100-yard freestyle: 1. Acker, :54.13; 2. Schmid, :54.87; 5. Birtles, :58.80.

500-yard freestyle: 1. Girard, 5:34.9; 4. Brock, 6:03.62; 5. Joe Huettnerman, 6:04.3.

100-yard backstroke: 3. Paddock, 1:02.58; 5. Draper, 1:08.2; 6. Holden Harris, 1:14.59.

100-yard breaststroke: 1. Doan, 1:07.9; 2. Oesterle, 1:09.8; 4. Merkel, 1:13.09.

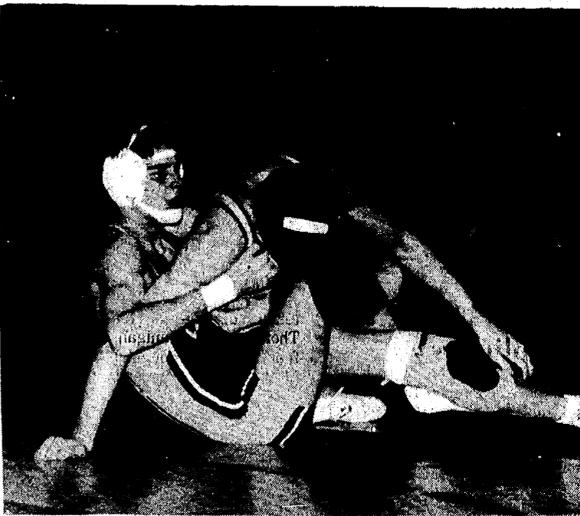

400-yard freestyle relay: 2. Chelsea A (Girard, Acker, Schmid, Birtles), 3:45.37; 4. Chelsea B (Lewis, Brown, Huettnerman, Hosner), 3:48.05; 5. Chelsea C (Garen, Rob Northrop, Joe Beaudin, Dan Luck), 4:26.16.

The Thursday meet is at Novi at 7 p.m.

DEXTER BALL HANDLER Andy Walsh used his quickness to help lead a devastating second half attack last Friday. Walsh didn't score many points but his teammates took up the slack on their way to their third Southeastern Conference victory.

Cold Freshman Cagers Win Over Dreadnaughts

Chelsea Bulldog freshman basketball team held off a frantic Dexter rally on Monday, Jan. 4 to take a 56-53 victory and even their record at 2-2.

Chelsea held a 10-point lead with less than four minutes to go. But the Dreadnaughts began bombing from the outside and their three-pointers made the game close.

"It was an uneven game," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter.

"We played well in spurts and managed to find a way to win despite shooting only 23 percent. We dominated the boards, 56-37, which was probably the key to the game."

The game was close until the Bulldogs pulled away in the fourth quarter. Chelsea led 32-30 at half-time thanks to a 22-point second quarter. The lead was cut to one point, 32-31, after three quarters.

The Bulldogs shot a huge number of free throws, 55, and made just 26.

"Jude Quilter and Tucker Steele had very good games," Quilter said.

"And Garrett Kern and Jeremy Mackinder played well off the bench."

Quilter had a game-high 24 points and Steele added 22. Steele led the team with 14 rebounds while Quilter and Jeremy Stephens had 12 each.

Rounding out the scoring for Chelsea were Kern and Matt Steinaway, three points each, and Jeremy Stephens and Vince Dunn, two each.

Cagers Booted By Dexter

Cattell's three-point play with four minutes to go gave Chelsea a short-lived 50-49 lead. Onsted scored the next four points and cruised to the win.

"Onsted is a decent team, comparable to us but certainly no better," Raymond said.

"We played well except in the third quarter when we came out flat. Again, we caught up like we have all season but we couldn't hold the lead. Once we come back we have trouble staying there."

Marshall scored 18 points and Cattell 12 to lead the team. Starkey, Thomson and Elanigan each scored four, and Greg Boughton, Larry Nix, Matt Monroe, Morseau and Collins each scored two.

Morseau, one of the team's leading scorers, was in foul trouble most of the game.

Chelsea falls to 2-5 over-all. The Dogs host Tecumseh on Friday.

"We're really seeing some tough kids and a lot of them will be at Hillsdale this week-end. I was proud of our kids. They were in good shape and showed a lot of determination."

Four Chelsea wrestlers took fifth place including Rex Nye (4-1), Eric Hanna (4-1), VanSchojck (4-1) and Mike Taylor (4-1). Korneel (3-1) had the highest finish, at third place. Wingrove (3-2) was the only other boy to place.

Other teams ahead of Chelsea were Jackson Northwest 146, Holt 144, Leslie 131½, Napoleon 119½, and Dundee 105. Behind Chelsea were Tecumseh and Saline of the Southeastern Conference, as well as Hillsdale, Coldwater, Brooklyn Columbia Central, Mason, Bellville, Jackson Lumen Christi, Albion and Southfield.

Chelsea takes part in the Hillsdale Invitational this Saturday.

ICE AND SNOW REMOVAL

All owners or occupants of real estate in the Village of Chelsea must remove any accumulations of ice and snow which obstruct the free use of the sidewalk by pedestrians within 48 hours after the accumulation of such snow or ice.

ORDINANCE NO. 94

23.253-Sec3 - Ice & Snow Removal

It shall be the duty of the owner or occupant of every parcel of real estate within the Village which adjoins a public right-of-way upon which there has been constructed a public sidewalk, to remove any accumulations of ice and snow which obstruct the free use of the sidewalk by pedestrians, within 48 hours (Ord. No. 94, eff. June 21, 1985)

23.254-Sec4 - Failure to Remove Snow and Ice

Any owner or occupant of real estate which adjoins the public right-of-way upon which there is constructed a public sidewalk, who shall fail to remove accumulations of snow and ice, as provided in Section 3 (25.253), above, shall be guilty of a violation of this Ordinance, and the Chelsea Village Police Officer may make complaint and request a warrant from the appropriate judicial officer, or issue and appearance ticket or citation, as provided by Public Act 366 of 1984, directing the appearance of such owner or occupant before the appropriate judicial officer to answer the complaint. (Ord. No. 94, eff. June 21, 1985)

23.255-Sec5 - Removal of Obstructions or Snow and Ice by Village.

It shall be the duty of the Village Administrator, and Village Department of Public works, their agents and employees, on the order of the Chelsea Village Police Offices to remove any obstructions or accumulations of snow and ice, or cause the same to be removed, as soon as possible. The Village Administrator shall, at the next meeting of the Village Council, report any and all obstructions or accumulations of snow and ice so removed, together with the names and addresses of the owners and occupants of such premises, together with a statement of the costs of removal and the description of the real estate abutting the public right-of-way upon which there was located a public sidewalk and from which the obstructions or accumulations were removed. The Chelsea Village Council may cause the expense, or such portion thereof as the Council may determine to be just and reasonable, to be charged to such owner or occupant. Notice of the amount due shall be mailed by the Village Administrator immediately to the owner or occupant. The owner or occupant shall have thirty (30) days thereafter within which to pay the same. In the event that said amount remains unpaid, the Village Council may, at its next regular meeting, cause the amount of the expenses incurred for which said owner or occupant is liable, together with a penalty and collection fee of ten (10%) percent thereof, or FIFTY ($50) DOLLARS, whichever is greater, to be levied as a special tax or assessment upon the abutting lot or premises, in accordance with the procedures of Ordinance No. 80 (23.00), the Chelsea Village Special Assessment Ordinance. Such tax, when confirmed, shall be a lien upon such real estate, the same as other special assessment, and shall be spread together with such penalty and collection fee upon the roll as a special assessment, and collect it in the same manner as other Village taxes. The Village Council may elect, in addition to imposing a special assessment, to commence any action to collect such amount and penalty in an action at law together with the cost of prosecution. (Ord. Five Seek Dexter Twp. Zoning Inspector Position

Dexter Township trustees interviewed five candidates for zoning inspector at their Jan. 5 meeting, but did not make a final decision.

Of the five applicants, two were from Dexter township: Bob Burns, the former blight officer, and William C. Gajewski. The other three applicants were Charlie Burgess, zoning inspector from Lima township, Nicholas G. Kolokithas, and Walter Berjeski.

Members of the township board took notes and will spend the next two weeks considering the merits of the candidates. At their next meeting, Jan. 19, they will vote. The new zoning inspector will replace Merritt Honbaum, who is retiring after nine years of service to the township.

Hospice Needs Volunteer Help

Hospice was a place of shelter during early or medieval times for travelers on difficult journeys. Today, Hospice is an organized program of care for those who are near the end of life's journey.

Hospice of Washtenaw, a non-profit health care agency, trains and utilizes volunteers.

Hospice Volunteers are the backbone and heart of Hospice.

At the present time the need for volunteer office assistants is great. If you would like to volunteer two or three hours a week on a regular basis, please phone Nancy Herc at the Hospice Office, 995-1995.

Commission Starts On Dairy Program Recommendations

Michigan Farm Bureau President Jack Laurie is in Washington, D. C. this week for a meeting of the National Commission on Dairy Policy. Laurie is one of the 18 commission members who are starting to put together preliminary recommendations on the federal dairy program. According to Laurie, the commission is charged with submitting a report to Congress and the U. S. Department of Agriculture by March 31.

"Once the report is made, that's the first step in a long process of trying to develop an understanding of the report, and a working relationship within the industry and general farm organizations as to the future of the industry," Laurie said.

Laurie said the final report will emphasize new technology and how it could affect the future structure of the dairy industry.

A WATER MAIN on Wilkinson St. broke Monday morning, another casualty of the harsh winter. About six mains have broken this winter, according to utilities superintendent Bud Hafner. He said about three break in an average winter. Village crews had to interrupt the water supply to Wilkinson St. residents Tuesday morning in order to repair the damage, located under the curb lawn at 507 Wilkinson St.

Chelsea Community Education Offers New Winter Classes

Chelsea Community Education has published their winter catalog. While still offering the old favorites, community education director Jackie Rogers has also found a number of new classes for Chelsea area residents to try such as scuba diving, new personal enrichment classes, new craft classes, more kids classes, and more senior activities.

The scuba diving classes will be taught by instructors from Diver Mast in Jackson, but will take place at the Charles Cameron Pool at Beach Middle school. A free introductory lesson entitled "Discover Scuba" will be offered this Saturday, Jan. 16 at 11 a.m. Registration is through Community Education or Divers Mast.

The formal scuba classes begin the next week, Jan. 23 and run until Feb. 20. They last from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. every Saturday. The cost of $149.95 includes pool and classroom instruction, textbook, dive tables, log book, training log, use of tanks, all air fills, regulator with pressure gauge, buoyancy compensator, and weight belt. For information on registering, call Diver Mast (517) 784-5882.

New enrichment classes aimed at putting the snowbound months to good use in one's personal life include, "Career Exploration for Women," "Working Parents: How To Balance Family and Career Demands," "Managing Conflict," and "Financial Planning for College Education."

For those who would like to actually produce something during the hibernation season, Karen Hofing offers four craft classes which if the participants follow the instructions, should lead to taking home a finished product.

For children, Community Education has two new offerings: private music and instrument lessons and kid-nastics. The first is jointly sponsored by the Chelsea School District Music Boosters and is an attempt to fill the slack left by the closing of Keynote Music.

Kidnastics is a program for three- and four-year-olds to do with a parent. It combines exercise, social games, and creative movement.

Area teachers wishing to improve their skills have a choice of three Eastern Michigan University classes, all being taught at the high school. The classes are "Creative Activities in Elementary Classrooms," "Teaching of Children's Literature," and "Content Reading in the Secondary School."

Others in the community who wish to take college level courses, may choose from 14 classes offered by Washtenaw Community College at the high school. Four new classes are being taught this semester: "Introduction to Literature, Short Story, and Novel," "Introduction to Philosophy," "Student Success Seminar," and "Principals of Marketing."

Senior citizens are also being given a larger choice of activities this winter including movies, walking excursions, and political discussions.

The senior movies will be shown the second and fourth Friday of each month, right after lunch. Arlene Larson, director of the nutrition program, has been taping movies that she believes seniors would enjoy on her

VCR all summer and fall. Selections include "Blind Date," "Right of Way," "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," "Best of Times," "Royal Wedding," and "Pleasure of his Company."

The senior walking club will meet every Tuesday to take the bus into Briarwood for activities including walking around the shopping center, lunching, and going to a movie. Besides improved health from the exercise, it is hoped that more seniors will start taking advantage of the bus service available between Chelsea and Ann Arbor once they take the bus with the group.

Another senior activity still in the planning stage is a political awareness discussion. Treva Winans and Ruth Smith are seeking to find a moderator who will be perceived as sufficiently unbiased.

In addition to the new offerings, Chelsea Community Education is continuing with most of their usual offerings including high school completion, parent and early childhood education, Chelsea Community Hospital programs, and swimming programs.

All classes begin the week of Jan. 18 unless otherwise stated. Brochures with the complete listing and times of meetings are available at the Chelsea Community Education office in the Chelsea High school on Washington St. The office is open business hours during the week and evenings from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday. For further information call 475-9830.

Conifers, Stars At Waterloo

Waterloo Natural History Association is offering two classes this weekend: "Winter Conifer Walk" on Saturday, Jan. 16 at 1:30 p.m. and "Myths of the Winter Constellation" on Sunday, Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

The first class is aimed at acquainting people with conifers since they remain all winter and to teach about their role in helping wildlife survive the winter.

The winter constellation class will be taught by Glen Williams who will teach identification and tell some of the old Indian legends about the stars. The announcement says the class will be held even if it is cloudy, claiming "Glen has made sure we'll be able to see the constellations regardless of the weather."

Both classes will meet at the Cedar Lake Outdoor Center on Pierce Rd. Both are free but require a Michigan State Parks Permit in order to park. The permits cost $2 per day or $10 for the season.

Manchester Youth Completes Army Advanced Training

Pvt. Paul E. Duvall, son of Louis E. Duvall of 14341 W. Austin Rd., Manchester, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

He is a 1987 graduate of Manchester High School.

1st TIME DENTURE WEARERS DON'T HAVE TO GO "TOOTHLESS"

Q: My teeth are in poor shape and I'm afraid that I'll need dentures soon. Is there some way to avoid going toothless in between the time my teeth are removed and my new dentures are made?

A: In times past it was customary to have one's teeth extracted then allow for a healing period of 6-8 weeks before having a set of dentures made. This is a very good way of ensuring a good fit since it allows time for the gum tissues to heal as well for the natural shrinkage of the supporting jaw bone which occurs after dental extractions.

Today, however, many people choose to wear a denture immediately after their teeth have been extracted, rather than waiting for the extraction sites to heal. The denture used in this instance is called an "immediate denture". Unfortunately, such dentures cannot be worn by all denture patients because of general health problems or specific oral conditions.

Because immediate dentures cover extraction sites, they protect these sensitive areas and help control bleeding. Although this protective aspect and the fact that you won't have to face the world without teeth may be appealing, keep in mind that a greater number of dental visits are needed for adjustments. According to the American Dental Association, as the mouth heals, tissues shrink, which can alter the denture's fit. The denture base usually requires adjustment or relining. Once the tissues heal completely, the denture usually must be relined or remade within the first year to fit comfortably and securely. Also, immediate dentures are more expensive than conventional dentures because of the more complex procedures involved in the design, construction, and re-fitting of the denture and the additional office visits needed.

WHY BE SICK?

Why should I think Chiropractic first?

When a health problem arises, your first inclination probably is to consult a medical doctor. They will usually prescribe drugs or surgery. But most medication simply covers up the symptoms so you "feel" better.

Chiropractic health care is different. We locate the "source" of the problem, correct it, and prevent it from recurring, without the use of drugs or surgery. Why be sick when you can be well?

Power Surge Causes Problems For Maywood, Taylor Residents

For the second time in six months, homeowners on Taylor and Maywood Sts. have apparently been the victims of a power surge of unknown origin.

Maywood St. resident Charles Ritter complained to the village council Jan. 5 that the surge caused appliances in some of the homes to burn out. He said residents have twice had to pay the deductible charges on their homeowners insurance to have those appliances replaced. He suggested that some residents be reimbursed.

Chelsea electrician Earl Heller told the council that one of his employees was trying to solve the problem which he said was probably caused by an unattached neutral line somewhere in the village's electrical system.

The question that no one seems to have an answer to is why a system circuit breaker didn't shut itself down.

"There's such a thing as a malfunction," Heller told the village council.

As of Monday, village workers were still trying to solve the problem.

Drillers Plug Local Well, Leave Site

Sullivan Oil Co. has dismantled its well on Farnsworth Rd. north of Chelsea and moved out of the area.

That information comes from Terry Schoonover, who owns the land where the well sat for two weeks while the secretive drilling took place.

"They cut the pipe off and plugged it and now you can't even find where they drilled unless you have a metal detector," Schoonover said.

The company drilled for two weeks and had a permit to drill to 7,500 ft., apparently to look for natural gas. However, the company left and didn't tell Schoonover if they had found anything or planned to come back.

"The last week they were here, they wouldn't even let me over there," Schoonover said.

"I think it's pretty clear they didn't find anything."

Two Prisoners Escape From Camp Waterloo

Two prisoners escaped from Camp Waterloo last week in separate incidents, according to Chelsea police reports.

Jeffrey A. Dale, 26, of Wyoming near Grand Rapids, left the prison on Thursday, Jan. 7, police said.

Dale, serving 4-10 years for breaking and entering, is described as white, 5'10", 145 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes.

Jackie Saunders, 27, failed to return from leave on Sunday, Jan. 10, police said. Saunders, from Detroit, is described as black, 6', 205 pounds, with a birth mark above his left eye. He was last seen wearing blue jeans, a blue jacket and gray sweater. He was serving time for passing bad checks.

Sludge Hauling Contract Awarded by Village Council

Great Lakes Agricultural Services has won the village's sludge hauling contract for the next two years.

Specifications for the contract were sent to four firms recommended by the Department of Natural Resources. However, Great Lakes sent the only bid, according to assistant village manager Lee Fahrner.

Sludge will be hauled for 1.97 cents per gallon. The village estimates the yearly cost will be $45,000, based on 2,300,000 gallons of sludge. Sludge is produced by the treatment of wastewater.

Village council accepted Great Lakes' bid at their regular meeting Jan. 5.

The venom of a spitting cobra is so powerful that it can blind or even kill a person. But, according to Ranger Rick magazine, Egyptian scientists injected spitting cobra venom into some mice that had cancer. The venom destroyed the cancer cells without killing the mice. The hope is that one day the venom may help cure some kinds of human cancer.

RAYMOND E. VAN MEER

WENDELL DUNBAR

JOHN R. C. WHEELER

Three New Trustees Named To Community Hospital Board

Chelsea Community Hospital Board of Trustees will have three newly elected members beginning January, 1988. Wendell Dunbar, Raymond E. Van Meer, and John R. C. Wheeler, Ph.D., were elected to the board at the November meeting.

Dunbar is a certified public accountant and senior vice-president of McKinley Associates in Ann Arbor. Previously he was employed by Network Technologies International, and was a consultant for Touche Ross & Co. He became familiar with the hospital while in the employment of Icerman, Johnson & Hoffman. He and his wife, Nancy, reside in Ann Arbor. They have two sons.

Van Meer is the superintendent of Chelsea schools. He has been president of the Civic Foundation of Chelsea and the Chelsea Kiwanis Club. He has served on the Huron Valley Ambulance Board of Directors and the Methodist church board of directors in Eaton Rapids, Jackson, and Chelsea. He was state president of the Michigan Association of School Administrators in 1986. Van Meer and his wife, Joyce, have lived in Chelsea for the past 10 years. They have three grown children.

Wheeler is an associate professor of health services management and policy in the School of Public Health at the University of Michigan. In addition to teaching, he has directed a number of research activities, published numerous articles and served as a consultant to various hospitals and health care corporations. Wheeler, his wife, Frances, and their three daughters have lived in Chelsea for the past three years.

Re-elected officers to the board include Walter F. Hamilton, Jr., chairman; Bruce T. Stubbs, M. D., vice-chairman; and Patricia B. Harris, secretary. The newly elected treasurer is John W. Merkel. Merkel replaces Paul J. Feldstein, Ph.D., who leaves the board and the Ann Arbor area to assume an endowed professorship at the University of California.

Also leaving the board are Vincent E. Dorer of Chelsea, after serving two consecutive three-year terms, and Arthur E. Dils. Dils has also served two consecutive three-year terms and was chairman for three of those years.

Escapes Have Risen Since Apprehension Team Abolished

The rate of escapes from Cassidy Lake Technical School and Camp Waterloo, the Chelsea area's two minimum security prisons, have apparently increased since funding was withdrawn from the Prisoner Apprehension Team in October.

According to Chelsea police records, 19 inmates walked away from the prisons from Oct. 1 through Jan. 10, a little more than three months. Between Jan. 1, 1987 and Sept. 30, a period of nine months, the total number was 35.

The apprehension team was a joint effort of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department and the Jackson County Sheriff's Department and was funded by the state. It was dedicated entirely to apprehending escaped prisoners.

"I'm not surprised (the number has gone up)," said Det. Paul Wade of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, who headed the team and has since been transferred to another unit.

"I think it was a good deal."

Chelsea police have apprehended several of the walkaways since October.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor: Reading the story about the landfill makes me wonder what happened to the recycling center? I read in last summer's Standard that it was to be in operation by fall.

Creating bigger and bigger landfills and contaminating ground water in the process is extremely short-sighted and selfish. What are we leaving for our children? Recycling will help cut-down on the amount of solid waste we have to dispose of, easing pressure on the landfills. What are we waiting for?

Cub Scout Pack 435, Den 9, Visits Police, Newspaper, Jail

Cub Scout Pack 435, Den 9, composed of fourth graders from North school, visited The Chelsea Standard on Thursday, Jan. 7. Members of the den are David Mote, Ben Culver, Jeremy Martzloff, Andy Bennett, Karl Tremper, Ryan Lafferty, Jason Kalmbach. They were accompanied by three visitors, all of whom were siblings of members: Lynne and Matt Kalmbach, and Davy Bennett. The troop is led by Sue Bennett and Shauna Mote. Helping mothers are Lee Tremper and Connie Kalmbach. The Cubs were working on their Bear Badge. Before coming to the newspaper, they had visited the police station where they talked to a wildlife conservation officer, Cherie D. Beckhorn.

The Cubs learned a lot about police work while at the station. They sat in a police car, heard the siren go off, learned how to make reports to the police and fire departments, and were fingerprinted. And to top the visit off, each boy was handcuffed and put in jail for a short while.

Asked their response to incarceration, they gave a variety of replies: Ben Mote, "Wierd because the guy turned off the lights." Andy Bennett, "I thought he wouldn't unlock the door." Jeremy Martzloff, "I thought it was kind of wierd because all they had was a bench to sleep on." Ryan Lafferty, "I felt like a jail bird. I liked their guns." David Mote, "I slid out of the handcuffs." Karl Tremper, "I felt wierd about being in handcuffs." Jeremy Martzloff, "I got handcuffed behind my back."

The boys completed their afternoon excursion with a tour of The Chelsea Standard offices. After seeing how a newspaper is put out and petting the resident cats, they went home to supper.
