ONE HUNDRED-SEVENTEENTH YEAR—No. 34

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1988

20 Pages This Week

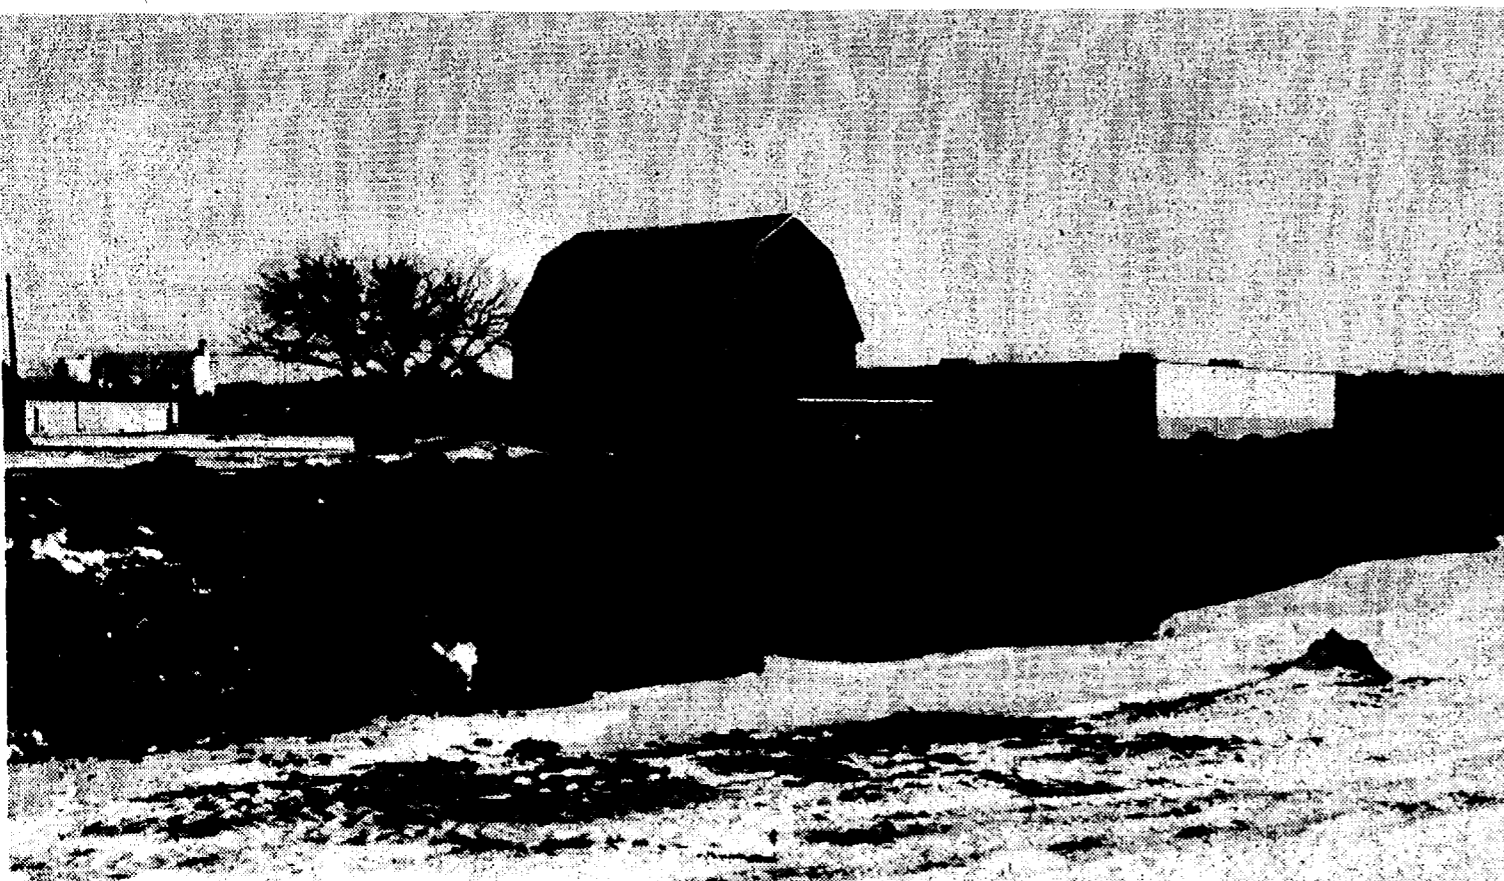

THEY MAY LOOK LIKE VAGABONDS rummaging in the trash but they're actually part of a crew that sorted trash at the landfill last week in the bitter cold as part of a study to determine exactly what kind of trash is being brought to the landfill. Washtenaw county needs the information to determine how much trash can be recycled and what the best alternatives are for the rest.

A CREW AT THE VILLAGE LANDFILL weighed vehicles before and after trash was dumped in order to determine how much trash is actually being taken to the landfill. Trash was later sorted into 22 categories as part of a study to determine what kind of waste is being taken to the landfill. It's all part of a Washtenaw county project. The crew was from Resource Recycling Systems, Inc. of Ann Arbor.

CHELSEA HAS HAD ITS OWN COMPOSTING program for a number of years. The leaves and other organic materials are ground up and put in piles near the village's industrial park on Sibley Rd., where they naturally decompose. Washtenaw county is trying to get other municipalities interested in composting as part of a comprehensive county solid waste program.

Committee To Study Future Growth in Chelsea School District

Chelsea School District is making plans to deal with a rise in the student population over the next few years that will likely result from the completion of several housing projects in the village and general growth in western Washtenaw county.

The district is forming a 12 to 14 member committee of citizens, teachers and school officials to study how the demographics of the Chelsea area may change and ways of solving the various problems that may arise—from building space concerns to the preparation of student lunches.

The school board formalized the committee at Monday night's meeting. Specific appointments to the committee will probably be made in February, according to assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

About 2,300 students attend Chelsea schools.

students in four or five years," Mills said.

"We could be looking at 13 classes of 200 students. We could average 185-200 students per class without a lot of new construction."

Of immediate concern to school officials is the construction of the 80-unit Bridgetown Condominiums off Old US-12, 75-home Belser Estates, on Freer Rd., and Quiet Creek Condominiums just north of Lanewood subdivision, all three of which have received final site plan approval from the village and are in various stages of construction. Also proposed is Chelsea Pines condominiums near South Elementary school. Together those projects could add about 250 new homes to the village. Also, construction outside of the village is growing rapidly.

What is unknown to officials is what kind of family will purchase a condominium under $100,000 (i.e. Bridgetown units) as opposed to homes costing $150,000 or more (Belser Estates). Which type of homebuyer is likely to have school age children? Are parents with grown children likely to move into the condos and leave village homes for families with children?

If the committee can compile reliable figures they'll be able to make decisions regarding space at each of the four schools, core facilities (media centers, gymnasiums, cafeterias, etc.) and even whether the grade schools might have to add a third lunch period.

"The fact that Bridgetown is under construction makes you pay a little closer attention," Mills said.

Although the district had about 2,800 students in the mid 1970s when the last building program took place, that

Chelsea Recycling Effort To Begin in March as Part of County Project

Recycling in Chelsea should begin by March, and negotiations are under way for the site for the recycling center, according to Washtenaw County Recycling Co-ordinator Tom McMurtrie.

Chelsea's recycling project is part of a county-wide project financed in part by a grant from the Clean Michigan Fund obtained last fall. Former county public works director Jack Durbin set the program in motion before resigning his position in December to go to work for Wayne county.

"We should be able to start recycling in Chelsea by March but we're going to have a spring kick-off in conjunction with the state's Recycle Week in the first week of May," McMurtrie said.

According to McMurtrie, negotiations are underway with Polly's Market to provide the drop-off point for glass, newspapers and cans. Originally the county wanted to locate the center at the landfill but has apparently scrapped that location for one more centrally located to the village population and one with more visibility.

The county is planning to provide a 24-foot long, five-bin "roll-away" container for the items. The specialized bins are in the process of being ordered, McMurtrie said.

Glass would be separated by color—brown, green and clear. The largest bin would be for newspaper. All steel cans would be eligible for recycling.

Recyclers would also be asked to remove labels from cans "as long as it doesn't take too much work."

McMurtrie said he is pursuing a variety of ways to promote recycling in the Chelsea area, including newspaper advertising and a lottery tentatively called "Win at the Bin." He said anyone who takes items to the recycling center would be eligible for a weekly drawing for cash.

"We hope to reach other area residents who otherwise might not think about recycling," McMurtrie said.

In addition, McMurtrie said he'd like to work with the schools to get children involved.

Recycling and composting can reduce the waste stream to landfills by as much as 50 percent, McMurtrie said. Chelsea has had a composting program for a number of years.

The county is working to start recycling and composting in Augusta township, Manchester, Milan, Northfield township, Saline and "maybe Dexter," McMurtrie said.

Resource Recycling Systems, Inc. of Ann Arbor had a crew at the Chelsea landfill in bitter cold all last week to sort garbage into 22 categories. The idea is to figure out how much garbage in the area can be recycled and make long-term plans for dealing with the rest.

The trash was separated into 12 categories of organic materials, four of inorganic materials and six special categories. Organics included newspaper, office paper, corrugated paper, yard waste, textiles, hard and soft plastic, magazines, and wood. Inorganics included glass, steel and aluminum and "other" inorganics. Special categories included household hazardous wastes, wine cooler glass, glass, cans and plastic that may be returned for deposit and other wastes.

Cost of the sorting, which is also taking place at other county landfills, is also being defrayed, in part, by a state grant.

Chelsea landfill's new cell, if it is allowed to open by the Department of Natural Resources, could last three or four years under normal conditions, according to landfill operator Cecil Clouse. Recycling could conceivably add another year or two of life if enough people recycle on a regular basis.

Details of McAuley Clinic Should Be Known By Spring

It will be two or three months before Catherine McAuley Health Center officials know exactly what kind of outpatient clinic they intend to build in Chelsea.

Bill Fileti, vice-president of business development for Catherine McAuley, said last week that the project is still in the "very preliminary planning phase." He gave no indication that McAuley might scrap plans for the project.

"In March or April it should all start to come together," Fileti said.

"It's still a long way off before it's a go or a no go. But you don't like to fire too many blanks," he said, referring to the fact that all the planning is an expensive proposition.

The clinic is tentatively planned for M-52 opposite the Chelsea Family Practice Center in what is commonly known as the Schneider estate. Catherine McAuley has an option on the land.

Fileti said the first step is to figure out what kind of clinic would best serve the Chelsea community and not be "antagonistic to existing physicians." He said the facility should complement what is already offered at Chelsea Community Hospital and the family practice center.

From there, he said, they would figure out what kind of building is needed and deal with zoning problems, if there are any.

Once all that happens, the land will exchange hands and the project will begin.

"Our program is viewed by communities as a major enhancement to the quality of life," Fileti said.

"So you don't sneak in in the middle of the night, put up a building and open for business."

Fileti said the Chelsea location is "very good and has the potential to serve a broad, regional area."

Chelsea is just one of several areas being considered for satellite clinics by Catherine McAuley, according to Fileti. The Chelsea clinic would be their 10th in a building program that began with the construction of the Maple Health Building in 1979.

"We've found that changes in the health care environment have made it more important to be closer to the communities that support our services," Fileti said.

School Board OKs Course Changes, Discusses MEAP

Chelsea Board of Education met for a regular board meeting, Jan. 18, after having met twice during the day with the college placement directors, who had come to review the applications for superintendent.

At the regular meeting, the board approved the policy of prohibiting sexual harassment which was presented as an information item at the last meeting, created a citizens committee to review the school district's space needs, and approved course changes in three curriculums: business education, high school English, and technical education.

The curriculum for the technical education was approved last year, so the courses were just a matter of filling in the specifics. The other two curriculums are in the process of being revised this year. Approving the course changes before the whole curriculum is finished was necessary so that the courses could be printed in the catalog.

In business education the curriculum committee recommended dropping advanced shorthand and to offer beginning shorthand and office procedures on an every-other-year basis.

In English, reading improvement was dropped as a separate class. Instead, it will be combined with a writing class, the logic being that the two skills are inter-related. Two classes, science fiction and fiction, will be taught every other year. In ad-

Seven Candidates To Be Interviewed For Superintendent

Seven candidates for superintendent of the Chelsea School District will be interviewed beginning Wednesday, Jan. 27.

The school board selected the seven names from among 69 applications for the position, according to assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

The interviews are open to the public.

Two interviews are slated for Jan. 27. At 6:30 p.m. the board will interview Gary R. Davis, director of K-5 education at East Lansing Public Schools. At 8:30 p.m. Michael J. LeBay, assistant superintendent of Birmingham Public Schools will be interviewed.

Two interviews are scheduled for Friday, Jan. 29. The board will meet Douglas W. Sasse, superintendent of Corunna Public Schools at 6:30 p.m. At 8:30 p.m. John L. LaSotta, superintendent of Lawton Community Schools will be in the spotlight.

Two interviews are scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 30. At 9 a.m. Robert D. Spencer, superintendent of Central Montcalm Public Schools in Sheridan will have his turn. At 11 a.m. the board will meet Robert D. Fein, superintendent of Kalkaska Public Schools.

The final candidate, Joseph K. Piasecki, superintendent of Breckenridge Community Schools, will be interviewed on Wednesday, Feb. 3 at 6:30 p.m.

County Begins Tests Of Wells Near Landfill

Washtenaw County Health Department has begun sampling well water from residences in the vicinity of the Chelsea landfill on Werkner Rd.

According to Steve Manville, solid and hazardous waste specialist for the county, the tap water from four homes had been tested as of Monday. He said he expects to take samples from 10 more homes before the testing is completed.

Water from the first four homes will be tested for organic contaminants, minerals and metals including arsenic, zinc, iron, chromium, cadmium and manganese.

Water from eight of the remaining 10 homes will be tested for those same contaminants. Two other homes will be tested for metals and minerals only, Manville said.

The testing of each sample will probably take a minimum of three weeks, Manville said.

Manville said he has had problems getting authorization from some homeowners because they aren't home during the day.

"We had a number of people call in after reading the newspaper story," Manville said.

Department of Natural Resources asked the county to make the tests after discovering organic contaminants in monitoring wells at the landfill.

Task Force Has Suggestions To Improve Lottery

Increasing payouts, improving methods of agent ticket distribution and marketing via direct mail for the lottery's instant game have been recommended by Governor James Blanchard's Task Force to Review the Michigan Lottery. But the task force said expectations for revenue growth of the lottery must be lowered.

"We generally found the lottery to be in good health," said task force Chair Ron Thayer. "Lottery sales increased for the first 15 years and now they're leveling off. We think the lottery can move ahead and be one of the top lotteries in the nation."

"The Michigan Lottery has been a very successful lottery, but perhaps we've come to expect too much of it," Governor Blanchard said. "The report has begun to be implemented and has begun to show positive results. Most of the report can be implemented without legislation."

Task Force members said they do not believe the lottery has become oversaturated. "I don't think any lottery in this country has saturated the market," University of Michigan Athletic Director Don Canham said. "We can't get a handle on who's not playing the lottery. The only way to reach everyone is through direct mail."

The task force also discovered that ensuring more frequent Lotto payouts is not a good method for increasing sales. When the Lotto jackpot is at $1.5 million, three million Lotto tickets will be sold, Thayer's said. But when the jackpot climbs to $10 million, Lotto ticket sales jump to 7.5 million.

The 15-member panel, appointed Sept. 29 to review stagnant lottery sales—which despite an increase for the year fell $82.5 million short of projected revenue in fiscal year 1987—and administrative policies and practices, said the best method of improving lottery sales was to emphasize instant lottery ticket game sales.

Thayer noted that people in Massachusetts spend $1.44 a week per capita on instant lottery tickets, but Michigan residents spend less than 25 cents.

Michigan ranks second nationally in gross lottery revenue at $1 billion, but instant lottery sales account for only 11-12 percent of that, Thayer said. He added that the Daily 3 and Daily 4 games account for 49 percent and the Lotto game accounts for 38 percent of the lottery's gross revenue.

Recommendations to improve the instant game include: increasing payouts to 55 percent instead of the current 45 percent (Thayer noted that Massachusetts pays out 65 percent); and improving distribution of tickets by delivering them to agents by courier instead of the current system that requires agents to pick the tickets up at banks.

Other lottery agent-related recommendations include improved training and marketing support, increased cash incentives, more frequent visits from lottery sales representatives and an improved communication with Lottery Commissioner Michael J. Carr through the designation of a Lottery Agent Liaison.

Other recommendations include: —using direct mail to publicize the lottery. "We can do a lot more with our advertising dollars than use them on television ads," Thayer said.

—having Lotto drawings later in the day so tickets can be sold until 8-8:30 p.m. instead of the current closing time of 7 p.m. Thayer said that the task force discovered that 38 percent of all Lotto betting is done between 5 and 7 p.m.

—establishing a five-member Lottery Advisory Board which would complement the lottery's management team by providing advice and expertise from a variety of business disciplines.

—placing lottery ticket booths in shopping malls and airports. Thayer said the task force recommends adding 50 terminals to the 5,000 already in place state-wide.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

It must be like they say, Clem Webster said Saturday night at the country store, everything that goes around comes around. Clem told the fellers he had read where print is the new darling of the advertisers. With the cost of television and radio up and the battle again billboards raging across the land we're having trouble seeing from the highway, Clem said magazines and newspapers are getting more of the action.

But we're not talking about plain old words and pictures on paper, Clem said, or about scratch and sniff patches. The ads that made the round this Christmas, for instance, can jump up on the page like a fold-out doll house, they have samples of products like makeup, and one actual plays a tune when you turn the page. He had saw where a woman in a New York apartment building reported a jangle of "Jingle Bells" from clusters of mailboxes where magazines had been folded to trigger the music.

Fathermore, Clem reported, the papers ain't being left out of this new game. He said some are using inks that smell like what the ads sell. For instance, strawberries in a grocery ad don't just look like strawberries they smell like strawberries. A car dealer can pay extra to give his ad that new-car smell, Clem said, and the flower shop can come off the press smelling like roses.

Ed Doolittle said he was not impressed with this new game that actual is the old TV game of selling beer with baseball and chain saws with half naked wimmen. Using sound and smell to sell in print is a way to reach the reader that won't read, Ed allowed, and it won't last over the long pull. It's fun fer magazines and newspapers and advertisers to trot out all their tricks, he said, but we still got to have some meat with all the fancy ways to fix the potatoes.

The fellers general sided with Ed, as much because they are friends of the plain printed word as they are leery of new ideas. It was Bug Hookum that reminded how these gadgets can backfire. He recalled where children in a apartment building come home from school with a gas peel and smell patch in a booklet on fire safety. They peeled, and the gas odor was so strong firemen were called and the building emptied. As fer matching ink smell to message, Bug said, who can help the fertilizer salesman or the fellow with his fresh seafood ad?

Fer sure, Bug went on, we need to remind ourselves that being able to do it is not reason to do it. We can build a commercial jetliner that flies 2,000 miles and hour, but we can't draw enough passengers to make it pay. We can make telephones where you see the person you're talking to, but nobody wants to.

The lesson, Bug said, is brought out in the nuclear weapons treaty between us and the Russians. Both sides know they can do it. We are starting a year with medium range nuclear missile treaty and with Gary Hart back from the political dead, Bug went on, so anything is possible if we can learn to separate what we can do from what we ought to do.

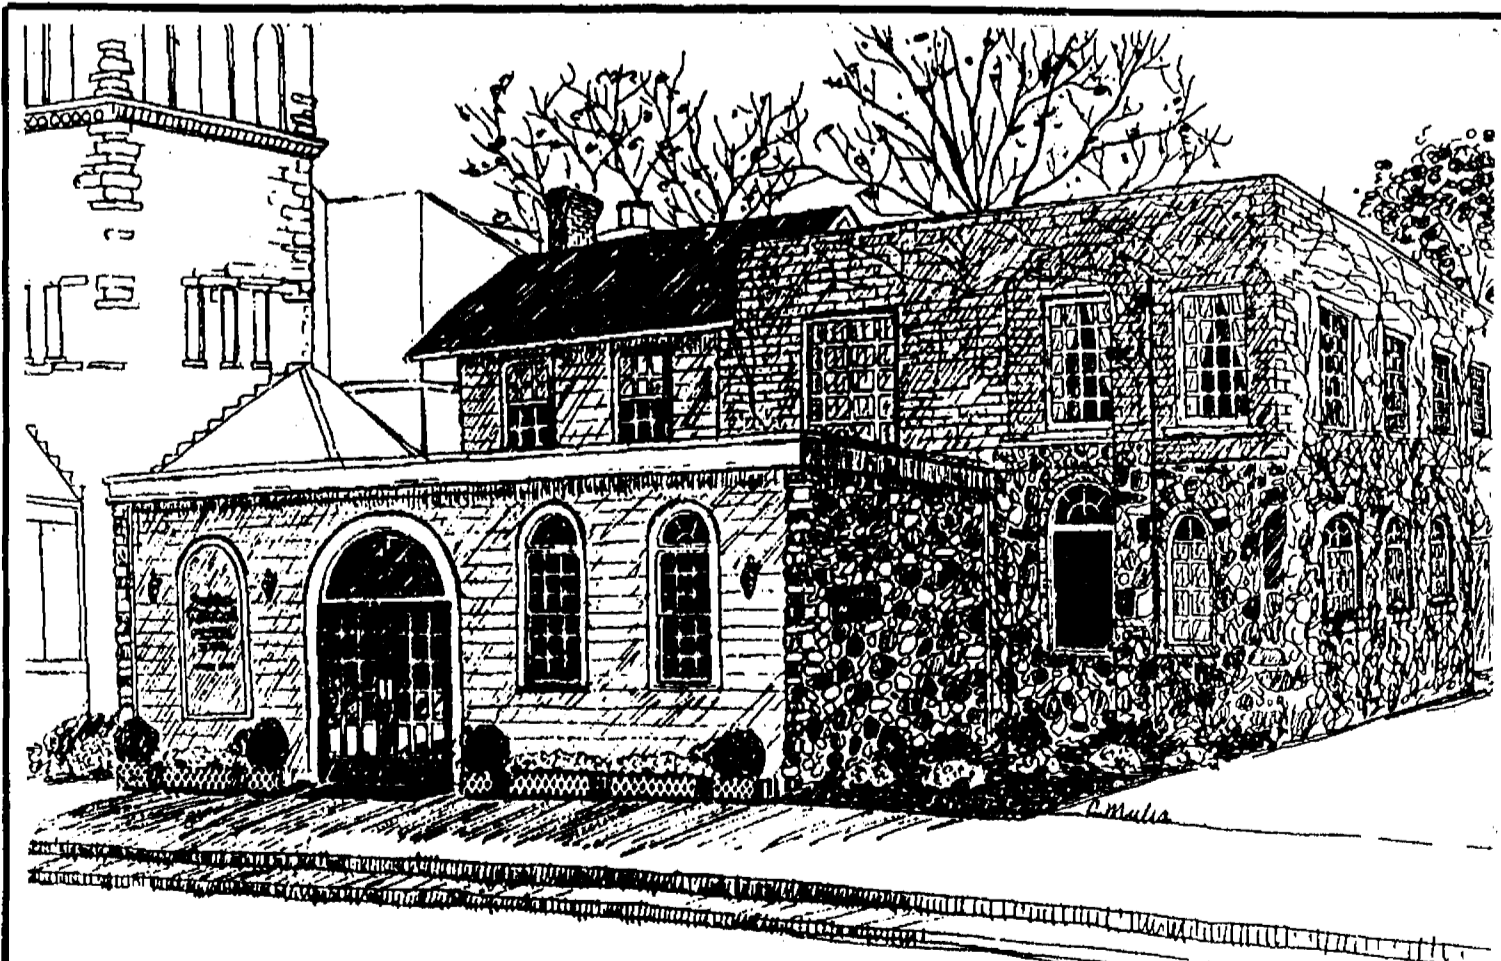

Practical speaking, it looks to me like we got to learn to clean our nest. We got nuclear waste and toxic waste and now I see where regular waste is being pumped 30 mile from some of our highest priced seashore to save the land from septic tank saturation. Maybe it's like the old feller said. We never learn anything because we understand everything too quick.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

The public is invited to attend the ABWA meeting where a presentation will be given on "Women and Computers—The Coming of Age." Topics of discussion will include computer technology, how it has evolved from relatively "unfriendly" to more "user friendly," and a look at special issues related to women working in the technical field of computers.

Presenters for this program will be Dana Presley, director of data processing and Rick Chateauvert, information center supervisor of Chelsea Community Hospital.

Dana Presley is a certified system professional with a BBA in operations research and information systems from EMU. She is also in the process of completing her master of liberal studies in technology. ## Free Osteoporosis Program Slated At Health Center

Attend a free osteoporosis informational program at Catherine McAuley Health Center in Ann Arbor, and you may walk away with one of several high-calcium door prizes such as a bunch of broccoli or a box of calcium supplements.

"Osteoporosis Update: What's New in Prevention and Treatment," will take place Wednesday, Feb. 10, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Education Center Auditorium on Catherine McAuley Health Center's E. Huron River Dr. campus. Women of all ages are encouraged to attend.

Featured speakers are Alan M. Dengiz, MD, and Jean Thiele, RN, both of the Health Center's Osteoporosis Service, and Suzanne Fairchild, a registered dietitian and clinical nutritionist. They will discuss how individuals can determine if they are at risk for osteoporosis, how it is detected and how to prevent or slow down the bone loss associated with osteoporosis.

An individual's daily diet can play an important role in the prevention of osteoporosis, and proper foods (especially those containing calcium) and supplements will be discussed during the program.

Free high-calcium refreshments will be served, and attendees may sign up to win one of several calcium-rich foods and products to be given away as door prizes.

Osteoporosis is a bone-thinning condition that affects one in four post-menopausal women in the United States and is a major cause of fractures of the spine, hip and wrist. The condition is rarely found in men because their bones tend to be much more dense and because men don't experience the severe drop in hormone levels that women do following menopause.

Pre-registration is encouraged. To register or for more information, call McAuley Services for Women at 572-4256.

For information about the Health Center's Osteoporosis Service, call Services to the Elderly at 572-5189.

Road Commission Closes One Bridge, Evaluates Others

Washtenaw County Road Commission has announced its decision to close the Fuller Rd. bridge over Stony Creek just south of Arkona Rd. in Augusta township. The closure is the result of the most recent bridge analysis completed by the Road Commission on the 105 bridges in Washtenaw county.

The bridge analysis is undertaken every two years to evaluate the safety of county bridges. If the condition of the bridge has deteriorated to the point where it can only safely carry two tons, it must be closed or the county is no longer eligible for any Federal funds.

Recently, the Road Commission did receive notification from the Federal Highway Administration indicating that the county is no longer eligible for Federal Funding until the Fuller bridge is closed.

In addition, the county must lower the weight limits on the Austin Rd. bridge over the Beaver Drain in Saline township as well as the Dell Rd. bridge over the Saline River in Lodi township. The county must also close the Sheridan Rd. bridge over Iron Creek in Manchester township. However, the county does have a portable bridge structure which it can use to replace the Sheridan Rd. bridge and hopefully it will be reopened this spring.

During the past two years, the Road Commission has replaced seven bridges within the county and anticipates replacing at least nine structures during the next two years. Most of these structures have been replaced with the assistance of Federal Critical Bridge Funds; however, the Road Commission, has replaced seven of the bridges with its own funds or through assistance of the affected townships.

Reptile Info, Winter Survival, At Waterloo

This week-end's Waterloo Natural History Association's offerings include a class on reptiles, Saturday, Jan. 23, and a survival workshop on Sunday, Jan. 24.

The class on reptiles will be taught by herpetologist Bill Taylor who will speak on snakes, turtles, lizards, and more. Depending on the weather, he may bring along some non-hibernating guests. The class meets at the Cedar Lake Outdoor Center at 1:30 p.m.

The aim of the survival workshop is to teach people what to do if they get stuck outside in the winter, such as getting lost when skiing or if a car broke down far from help. Skills to be taught include keeping warm, shelter building, and building fires without matches. The workshop meets at Cedar Lake Outdoor Center at 1 p.m. Both classes are free but a Michigan State Parks sticker is required in order to enter the recreation area. Cost for the stickers is $10 a year or $2 a day.

Wild Turkey Hunt License Applications Due By Feb. 1

Feb. 1 is the deadline for hunters to send in license applications for the 1988 spring wild turkey hunting season. This year, 19,185 licenses will be available.

Hunting areas (19) have been expanded and 44 hunt periods have been lengthened this year as a result of a Department of Natural Resources (DNR) survey of turkey hunters conducted in 1984.

"We're expecting a very good harvest this season comparable to, if not better than, the 1987 record harvest of 3,260 wild turkeys," said DNR Wildlife Specialist John Urban.

"The excellent nesting season added substantially to the population which made possible the expansion of six areas and the addition of a new area."

Together these changes expand the turkey hunting area by 2,374 square miles—more than 14,500 square miles will be open to spring wild turkey hunting, noted Urban.

The first turkey hunting period will begin April 18 and the last hunting period will end May 25. Shooting hours will remain the same as last year. They are 5:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Lower Peninsula and 5 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Upper Peninsula. The bag limit is one bearded turkey per hunter.

Application cards for resident and senior resident turkey licenses are available at all DNR license-issuing offices, most license dealers, and from DNR Information Services in Lansing (517-373-1220). Non-resident applications will be available only at DNR Information Service. Non-residents from the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin may obtain an application by calling 1-800-443-2796 with a current Visa or MasterCard charge account.

All applicants must pay a fee to obtain an application card which includes the cost of the turkey license plus a $3 non-refundable processing fee. Hunters may apply individually or with one partner and may select three specific periods to hunt. However, only one period will be assigned.

Successful applicants will receive their 1988 wild turkey hunting license in the mail before March 15. Unsuccessful applicants will not be notified but will receive a refund before March 22.

To hunt wild turkeys, a hunter must have a 1988 wild turkey hunting license and a 1988 small game stamp (landowners hunting on their own land where they resident are not required to have a small game stamp).

New Security Force Signed To Police Tiger Stadium

A change in security operations at Tiger Stadium will go into effect for the 1988 season, it was announced today by Bill Haase, vice-president-operations.

Sports Security Specialist, Inc., a subsidiary of Domino's Pizza, Inc., has been contracted to provide day-of-event security at Tiger Stadium.

Sports Security Specialists replaces Burns International Security Services which had served Tiger Stadium for several seasons.

"While we've enjoyed our relationship with Burns, we feel we are in a position to implement a fresh new approach to our security and still maintain the integrity of our operations," Haase said. "This move has been made after an 18-month study of similar security programs at other major league parks."

THERE'S MORE than just a hole in the ground at the site of Chelsea's first condominium project, Bridgetown Condominiums, off Old US-12 behind St. Barnabas Episcopal church. The first seven-unit building is well underway and is scheduled for completion this spring. The development will eventually have 80 units. Lloyd and Jerry Bridges are the developers.

School Board OKs Course Changes

dition, many of the course descriptions were changed.

Final recommendations on both curriculums will be presented to the board later in the spring.

Treva Winans was presented with a plaque in honor of her eight years of service to the community as director of the Chelsea Senior Citizens Center. Winans thanked the board for their kind words, and then in her familiar role as senior citizen advocate, encouraged the board to select a new superintendent who is supportive of senior activities.

Also honored at the meeting were nine high school students who qualified in the Michigan Math Prize Competition, a state-wide contest to identify talented math students. The nine were seniors Sharon Colombo, Jordan Gray, Patrick Gustine, Charles Hosner, Stephen Radant, Kristina Steffenson, James Taylor, Jeff Waldyke, and sophomore Charity Strong.

High school principal John Williams presented as an information item the recommendation of the high school advisory council that Chelsea adopt the graduation requirements recommended by the state board of education. According to Williams, this will not be very hard to do since the existing differences are very slight.

The state suggests two years of math and science, while Chelsea only requires one year. However, last year only 10 of the graduating seniors had not had two years of math and science. The only other difference is that the state recommends that a course on computer literacy be required. At present, Chelsea has such a course but offers it as an elective.

As another information item, all the school principals were asked how they were using the MEAP results in their buildings. The MEAP tests were administered to students in the fourth, seventh, and 10th grades this fall.

Williams said the high school teachers study them in departmental meetings to see how they are doing. If students consistently miss certain items, they question whether they are teaching it well enough. Sometimes the problem is merely that it is taught later in the year.

The science test continues to be the most problematic. Williams explained that testing science is harder than testing reading or math, because it depends more on what material the student has covered. A student having only taken life science, will not do well with chemistry or physics questions.

Bob Benedict, principal of South school, said the staff reviews the results and that they are also sent home to the parents. He said that the staff uses the results to identify strengths and weaknesses in the curriculum and to make changes if necessary. He said, "It's a way of getting a general idea of how the school is doing."

Bill Wescott, principal of North school, said they use the MEAP results to flag kids who are having problems. They also take a look at kids who do much better on the test than their grades would indicate.

Senior Power Day Set Earlier

Michigan Senior Power Day (SPD) is the largest event of its kind in the nation. Each spring, thousands of Michigan senior citizens converge on the capitol in a flurry of activity.

April 27, it appears, will be no exception. Conveners of this important event are expecting in excess of 7,500 persons. Scheduled almost a month earlier than in years past, organizers are now busy finalizing details, selling exhibit space and ads which will appear in a commemorative program, confirming speakers and entertainment and hammering out a platform of position statements on issues which will be presented to the Governor and key legislative leadership.

The event's featured speaker this year will be former U.S. Commissioner on Aging, Dr. Arthur Fleming. Fleming is currently co-chair of the Save Our Security Coalition and chairperson of the Citizens' Commission on Civil Rights, as well as a popular and sought after speaker with older adult advocacy groups.

Now in its 14th year, SPD has established itself as an effective mechanism for putting key issues before the public and for getting policy and decision makers to respond to what is recommended.

The platform is devised by members of the Senior Power Day Steering Committee. The Steering Committee itself is comprised of 55 members, representing a variety of aging interest groups.

Tickets to the event, available to all older adults, are free of charge on a first-come, first-served basis.

Distributed through the state's 14 regional Area Agencies on Aging, the AAAs will have copies of the event's advance program and tickets by mid-March.

To learn more about Michigan's

Senior Power Day, persons should contact the Area Agency on Aging which serves their county. Persons unclear as to how to locate this agency may contact the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging at (517) 373-8230.

Elevator Bankruptcy Bill Approved By House

A bill creating a state grain insurance fund to protect farms in the event of elevator bankruptcy has passed the Michigan House. According to Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau, the fund would be created only if approved by farmers in a referendum.

"The right of referendum is the key component in the bill. The people who would be paying the bill ought to have the right to say whether or not they want the program. This right is the reason that Farm Bureau is supporting the bill," Nelson said.

If the bill is passed and farmers approve the referendum, the grain insurance fund would be capped at $5 million. All interest earned from the fund would go back into the fund, a provision Nelson says was added by state lawmakers.

Strip Mall Won't Require Major Road Construction

A traffic study commissioned by the village has concluded that a proposed 93,000-square-foot shopping mall on the southern end of the village won't increase traffic enough to require major roadwork.

The study, performed by Reid, Cool & Michalski, Inc. of Southfield, also concluded that another mall proposed for next to Polly's Market, and Bridgetown Condominiums, also won't have a significant impact on traffic near the intersection of M-52 and Old US-12.

"Our study concludes that traffic operations in the area will continue to perform at an acceptable level of service with these developments," says a cover letter from the engineering firm to assistant village manager Lee Fahrner.

The village ordered the study after Rene Papo submitted site plans for a shopping center on land next to the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds behind the Chelsea State Bank branch office. The study was recommended by both Fahrner and planning consultant Carl Schmuldt.

Fahrner said he was surprised by the report's conclusions but said he was confident of the engineering firm's expertise.

The study said that Papo's plans to have three entrances and exits along M-52, "are more than are needed, but this is a decision that rests with the Michigan Department of Transportation since M-52 is under their jurisdiction."

The study suggests that deceleration lanes be constructed on both Old US-12 and M-52. It also suggests that the intersection of Old Manchester

Rd. and M-52 be "reviewed for possible modification," because the awkward angle of Old Manchester Rd. can complicate trucking operations. The project is scheduled to have two driveways into the development off Old Manchester Rd., one of which would be used primarily for truck traffic.

However, the village is negotiating with Papo on improvements to Old Manchester Rd. from Old US-12 to the development's north entrance. The village wants Papo to widen the road to 33 feet and install curb and gutter. The village is also concerned about the alignment of Old Manchester Rd. to Taylor St.

"I expect to get approval of the site plans at the next planning commission meeting," Papo said last week. The planning commission meets Tuesday, Jan. 26.

Papo said he'd like to begin site work in March and construction in April. A grand opening would be slated for November.

Papo says he has one major tenant, Ames Department Store, but expects to sign more as soon as he receives final approval.

"I can't do anything until I get the approval," Papo said. "The small people don't like to commit until the first bricks are laid."

Volunteer Co-ordinator Joins Humane Society Staff

Carole J. Huston, executive director of the Humane Society of Huron Valley, has announced the arrival of the new co-ordinator of volunteer services. Ms. Nancy Green assumed this position on Jan. 4. Well-established at HSHV since August 1986 as publications co-ordinator and graphic artist on a freelance basis, Ms. Green is excited to devote more time to the Society.

"I'm very pleased to take a more active role in an organization as effective as this one in providing responsible stewardship for animals. There is a special role at HSHV for volunteers to make their contribution, and I'm looking forward to developing more of a program for people interested in animal welfare to become involved in."

Ms. Green is the owner of Green Graphics and has provided freelance design illustration and calligraphy services to many non-profit and educational organizations. She began her career in art by working with volunteers at United Cerebral Palsy where she co-ordinated the silk-screening workshop for handicapped adults. She received her undergraduate degree in fine arts from Ohio State University, and has completed graduate work at OSU.

A resident of Scio township, Ms. Green is an avid student of nature. She enjoys horseback riding, backpacking and cross-country skiing.

BE PREPARED!

*The motto of all regular savings
account holders.*

Some people scoff at the low interest rates a regular savings account earns. These are often the same people that go through life hoping for the best with never an emergency plan to fall back on.

Many customers at our bank, however, look at the advantage of having funds that can readily be tapped, as well as, earning a reasonable amount of interest. When a sudden emergency arises, they are prepared.

There is never a charge for adding to or taking money from a regular savings account, as long as, the required minimum balance is maintained. You can deposit any amount of cash anytime, or withdraw these funds at anytime. You can also count on us to see that these funds increase at a good interest rate!

1988 is the year to develop a feeling of security that only the building of a regular savings account can bring. Let us assist you!

Let's Go

Bulldogs!

Dog Rally Falls Short As Indians Win By Six

Chelsea Bulldogs fought back from a 15-point third-quarter deficit but the rally fell short as the Tecumseh Indians took a 58-52 victory in the Chelsea gym last Friday night.

Chelsea dropped to 1-4 in the Southeastern Conference and 2-7 overall. The Indians evened their league mark at 2-2.

In a non-conference game at class A Howell on Tuesday, Jan. 12 the Bulldogs were crushed, 73-51.

Tecumseh took advantage of poor Chelsea first and third quarters and out-scored the Bulldogs 29-16.

However, with less than two minutes to play, Chelsea narrowed the gap to 55-52 on a three-point play by Kevan Flanigan, who was fouled on a short jumper in the lane. Flanigan and Matt Monroe scored 17 of the Bulldogs' 22 points in the quarter. Monroe opened the quarter with the Bulldogs' first seven points and Flanigan put in the last seven.

But the Indians made three of four free throws in the last minute and Chelsea turned the ball over on a charge.

"Once again we got way down, made a big run, but couldn't get back over the top," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"Again, we played poorly in the third quarter and I don't know why that is because we don't make drastic changes so there shouldn't be any confusion.

"However, defensively we played real well. I think we surprised Tecumseh by playing a zone defense in the first quarter. If we had had a few shots fall I think the complexion of the game would have been completely different. We had good shots, but they didn't fall."

Chelsea scored just nine points in the first quarter in which they missed six shots from less than 13 feet and finished with 4 of 13 shooting from the field. The story was much the same in the third quarter when the Dogs were 3 of 14 from the floor and missed five shots inside.

For the night Chelsea shot just 31 percent from the field (18-57).

Raymond said the defensive effort was the team's best in the last four or five games. The Indians took just 46 shots as the Bulldogs did an effective job keeping the ball out of the middle.

It was the first time all year the Bulldogs played a zone defense. Raymond said he wanted to counteract the Tecumseh inside game, which featured 6'5" Steve Meredith and 6'4" Larry Anschuetz. However, he wasn't counting on a strong perimeter game from guard Tom Clark, who sank three three-point shots and led both teams with 17 points.

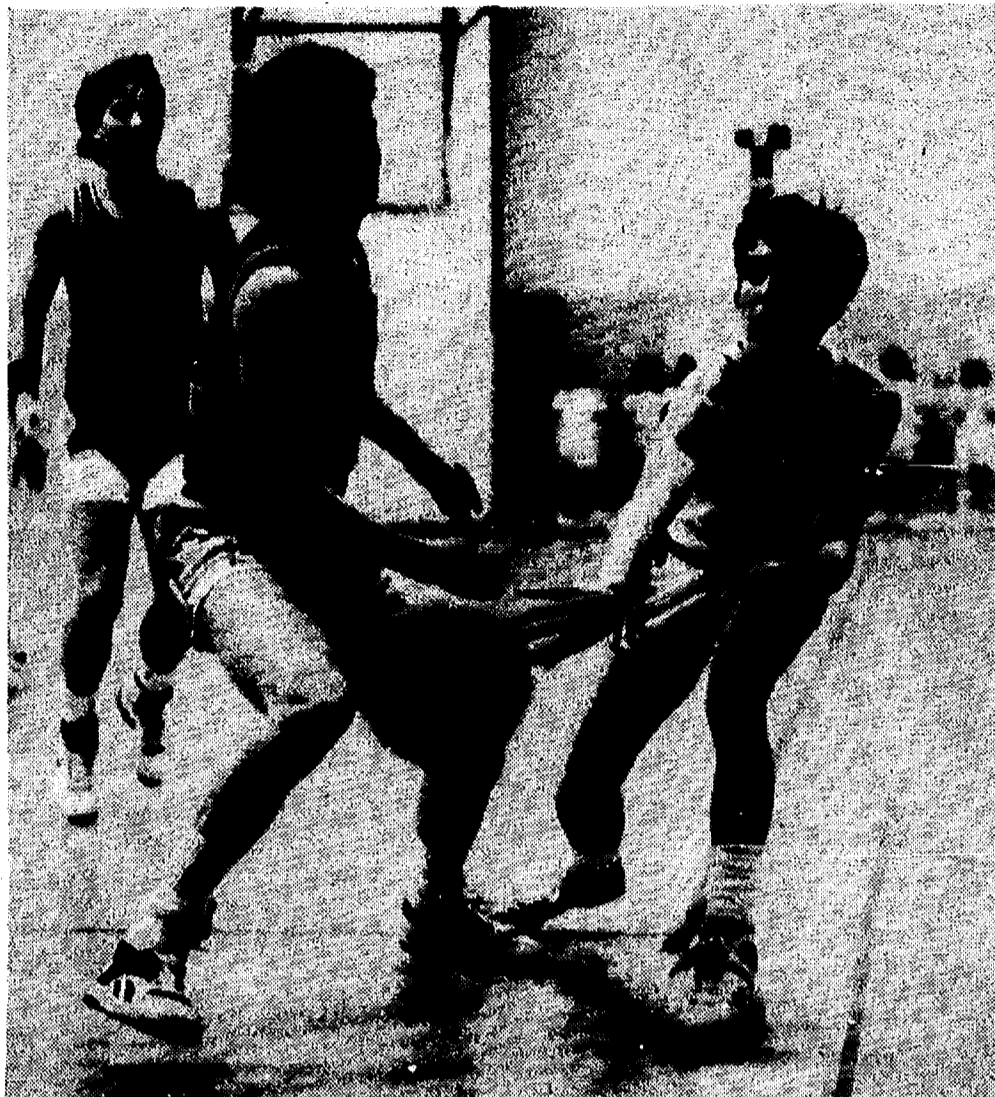

Monroe and Flanigan led the Bulldogs in scoring with 14 and 13 points, respectively. It was the second straight game Monroe paced the team. The 13 points was Flanigan's high for the year.

"It was the second straight game Matt has played well because he's gotten into the flow of what we're trying to do," Raymond said.

"He has always been a good shooter, but his defense has improved a lot and he can hold his own. Kevan also had a good all-around performance."

Rounding out the scoring were Junior Morseau with nine, John Catlett with six, John Collins and Phil Thomson with four each, and Chad Starkey with two.

In the Howell game, Chelsea was down 40-13 at half-time as the big Howell front line "played volleyball on the backboards," Raymond said. "Their big kids really hurt us inside. They were 6-3, 6-3 and 6-4 and we couldn't do anything to stop them. They weren't lacking any depth in height on the bench, either."

JOHN COLLINS makes the pass inside for an assist during first half action last Friday in the Chelsea gym against Tecumseh. Chelsea's rally fell short as they fell too far behind early on.

CHAD STARKEY gets off a jump shot over Tecumseh's Steve Meredith during last Friday's home game. Poor first and third quarters put the Bulldogs in a hole they couldn't climb out of and the Indians took a 58-52 victory.

Howell's press also hurt the dogs early. After falling behind by so many points at half-time, Raymond made the unusual move of asking the Howell coach to keep the press on because he wanted his team to practice against it.

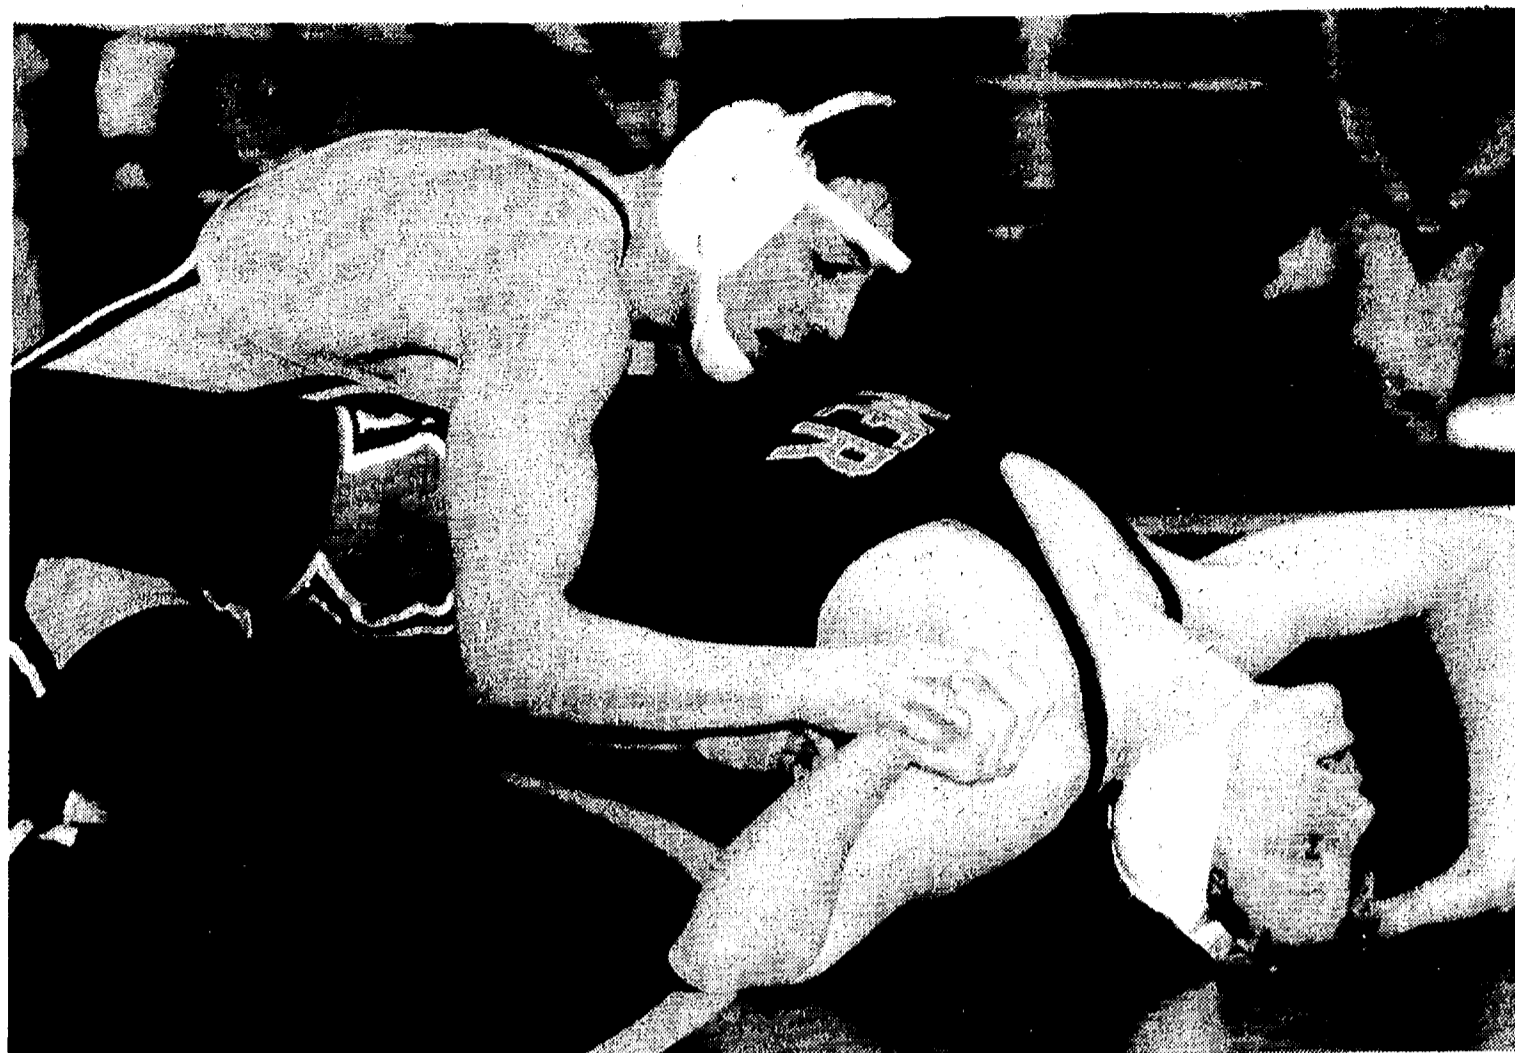

"Even though the complexion was different because the game was already over, we played much better offensively in the second half," Raymond said.

"We outscored them 38-33."

Chelsea had another poor shooting night, making just 16 of 56 shots. Howell was an even 50 percent on 29 of 58 shooting.

Monroe led the Bulldogs with 15 points. Other scorers included Starkey, with nine, Collins, eight, Morseau, seven, Larry Nix, five, Greg Boughton, three, and Tim Anderson and Jeff Marshall, two each.

ROBERT KORNEXL pinned Mark Herson of Homer in :47 last Saturday in his opening match of the Hillsdale Invitational. Kornexl went on to place third at 132 pounds. Coach Kerry Kargel said Kornexl is beginning to come on strong for the Dogs.

Wrestlers Take Sixth at Competitive Hillsdale Meet

Chelsea Bulldog wrestlers took sixth place in the competitive Hillsdale Invitational last Saturday, Jan. 16.

Heavyweight Mike Taylor was the only Bulldog to reach the finals of any weight class.

"It was a tough, tough meet," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"We also had a couple of kids out who would have probably reached the finals. With a full team we could probably have finished second."

Taylor lost in the finals to Chris Kelchner of Jackson County Western by a pin in 1:18.

"Kelchner is a big, physical kid who has already pinned two state qualifiers," Kargel said.

On his way to the finals, Taylor pinned Jeff Reaume of Hudson in 3:33 and Jim McCormick of Jackson in 1:33 and won a 16-5 decision over Ward Bates of Dexter.

Other Bulldogs who placed in the meet included Reno Nye, fourth at 119 pounds, Robert Kornexl, third at 132 pounds, and Doug Wingrove, third at 138 pounds.

Nye wrestled five matches, winning three. He opened with a pin of Jeff Parkhurst of Hudson in 3:35 and followed with a 12-6 decision over Kent Wyatt of Quincy. Doug Baird of Napoleon pinned Nye in 1:43, dropping him to the lower bracket. Chris Laramie of Dexter was pinned by Nye in :15. Nye lost his final match of the day to Rick Barnett of Jonesville, 6-4.

Kornexl finished one point away from reaching the finals as he lost his second match of the day to Tony Charameda of Marshall, 10-9, on a last-second move. However, Kornexl opened with a pin of Mark Herson of Homer in :47. He also pinned Lonnie Pierfer of Hillsdale in 3:46 and Kevin Donaldson of Hudson in 1:53.

"Robert is really starting to come on for us," Kargel said.

"His 10-9 loss was a real heart-breaker and I felt real bad for him."

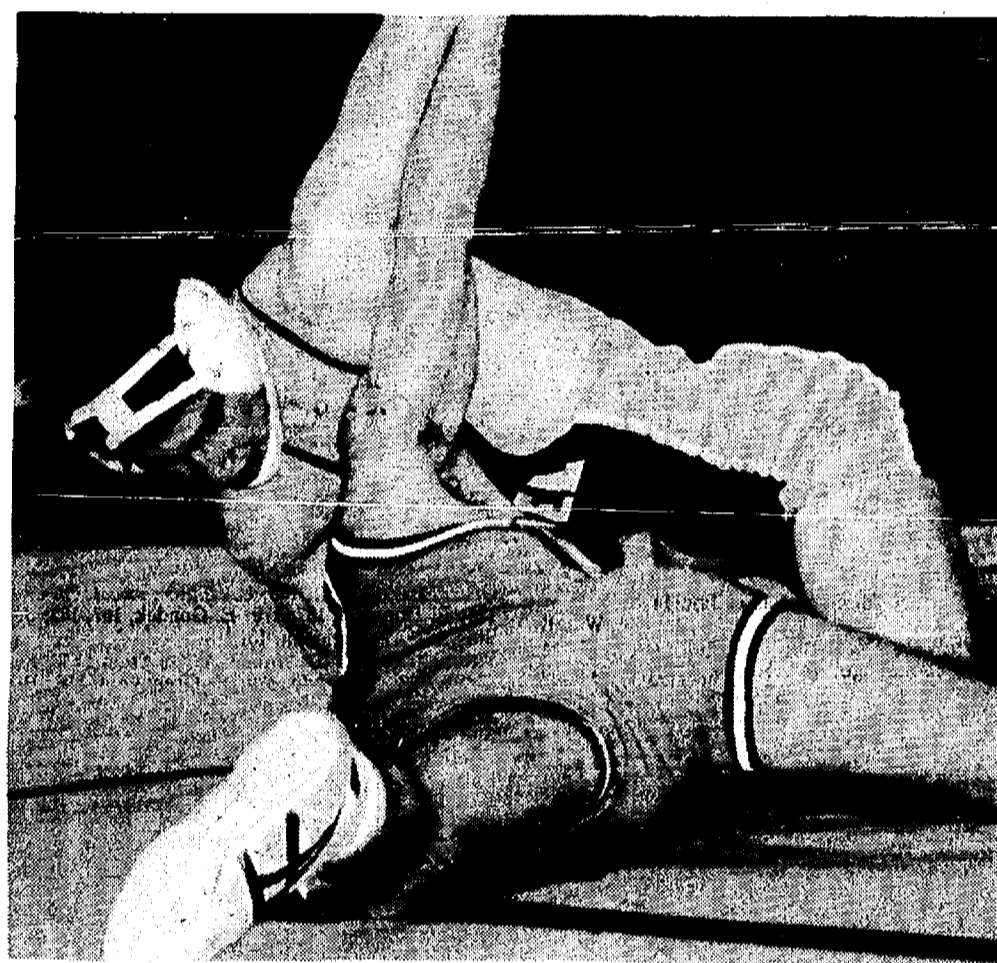

Wingrove was also probably one point away from the finals as he lost his second match to Jason Prieur of Carleton Airport, 11-10.

"Prieur is a real tough kid," Kargel said.

"Doug just relaxed at the wrong time."

Wingrove opened with a 16-2 deci-

It's true that termites do more than $750 million of damage each year in this country. But, according to International Wildlife magazine, their ecological good may outweigh the economic harm. Of the 2,000 species, only about 10 percent cause any economic damage at all. On the other hand, all of them benefit us because they recycle vast quantities of cellulose, making its atoms available to living plants!

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK are Chelsea seniors Gary Dosey and Laura Walton. Gary is co-captain of the Bulldog wrestling team and competes at both 145 and 155 pounds. He is the son of John and Maggie Roberts, 13212 Old US-12. Gary has shown finesse and intelligence on the mats the season and has beaten several stronger opponents. In his spare time he likes to lift weights. Last fall Gary was the starting right guard on the varsity football team. Gary would like to enter Western Michigan University next fall. Laura is the captain of the 1987-88 volleyball team. She is the daughter of David and Susan Walton, 710 N. Main St. This is her second year on the varsity team. "Laura is one of our fastest players so she will be counted on as one of our leading hitters," says coach Karen Tobin. "She always works hard in practice to improve her back row play." Laura is also an excellent golfer and may show her talents with Chelsea's first girls golf team this spring. Laura is a member of the Chelsea chapter of the National Honor Society and would like to attend Western Michigan University next year.

Novi Swimmers Too Strong For Chelsea in 100-6

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

It got a little dangerous for me last Friday night in the Chelsea gym. First, Brian Burg nearly wiped me out while diving for a loose ball during the junior varsity game.

Later on, Phil Thomson could have taken a dive into my lap while going for a loose ball but he diverted his momentum at the last second.

It's one of the hazards of trying to photograph sports. But being up close also gives a perspective on sports that you can't appreciate from the bleacher seats.

One of the perks of my first newspaper job was a season photo pass for Atlanta Hawks basketball games. This was back when they weren't any good, so passes were easy to get.

All us photographers sat underneath and behind the baskets.

About my second time out, George McGinnis drove for a lay-up, got pushed to the floor, and ended with his chest across my lap. The guy sitting next to me had McGinnis' knees in his lap. McGinnis was a big, big man.

You might think this was painful, but it was more surprising than anything. However, what I remember most is that I ended up soaking wet. McGinnis might just as well have gotten out of a swimming pool he was so wet.

In fact, one of the things that initially impressed me the most about watching pro basketball up close is how much those guys sweat. Wes Unseld would literally drip a small pool of water at his feet while shooting free throws. Sweat would drip off his face as though someone was pouring a glass of water on top of his head.

Another thing that struck me is how much they swear. And I'm talking about major league swearing, five, six, four-letter words at a time. They wouldn't last 30 seconds in a high school game.

When McGinnis got out of my lap, he turned to the court and discovered that a foul hadn't been called. He picked up the ball with two fingers, walked over to the photographers. "Man, can you believe that?" he asked, slammed the ball to the court and caught it again. "That was one jive---, mother----- call if I ever saw one."

See, pro basketball players also like to complain a lot.

Everytime I see a pro player get a technical foul for something other than physical violence I figure that he's directly questioned an official's manhood. Otherwise there'd be a technical called about every seven seconds.

High school basketball players swear, too, but it's usually only one word at a time said just loud enough for the guy next to him to hear.

I figure the verbal part of basketball, like the physical part of basketball, gets more intense with each succeeding level.

High school coaches often talk about their teams not giving up and hustling all the way. Lots of times it's a way of saying something nice when the team has lost by 20 points.

However, junior varsity basketball coach Jeff Dils should be proud of the way his kids hung in there the second half last Friday against Tecumseh.

The JVs were down by 18 points at the end of the third period after playing an absolutely miserable third quarter. However, they ended up losing by four points and I'm convinced they would have won the game if they could have played for another minute.

Defense, hustle, and capitalizing on Tecumseh mistakes, shifted the momentum early in the fourth quarter. You could see the kids' confidence reach a high point with about two minutes to go.

Particularly impressive was the determined play of Brian Burg. He hit the boards, made the plays underneath, and as I mentioned earlier, dove for loose balls.

Anyone who has watched the varsity team this year knows the Bulldogs lack the player who will take charge every game.

That has made for some interesting contests this year because you never know who will shine on any particular night.

John Cattell and Jeff Marshall scored a lot of points in the early going. Junior Morseau has had a couple of big nights. Friday night was Matt Monroe's and Kevan Flanigan's turn.

Monroe, who has sat on the bench much of the season, took charge in the fourth quarter and scored 10 points. Flanigan scored six down the stretch in heavy traffic on shots that I thought didn't have a chance.

We've seen glimpses of what the Bulldogs can accomplish when everyone is playing to his potential—last week's second quarter against Dexter was a good example. They can be virtually unstoppable.

However, inconsistency is what has caused the Bulldogs to lose their last five in a row (before last night) and fall to 2-7 on the season.

Nevertheless, the Bulldogs are fun to watch. And you never know who might look like a star on any given evening.

I was sorry to see such a sparse crowd for last Friday's home game. Last year at this time you could hardly find an empty seat.

It just shows that even on the high school level, many fans only want to watch a winner. It's too bad because I used to think that school spirit, especially at the high school level, was capable of transcending that attitude.

But I'm beginning to change my mind.

BRIAN BURG plays the tough defense and deflects this Tecumseh pass late in last Friday night's home junior varsity game. Chelsea scored 27 points in the fourth period and Burg scored 27 points in the game in a 64-60 losing effort.

JV Cagers Score 27 In 4th Quarter But Lose to Tecumseh

Chelsea's junior varsity cagers scored 27 points in the fourth quarter last Friday night against Tecumseh but it wasn't enough as the Indians held on for a 64-60 victory in the Chelsea gym.

The Bulldogs had horrible first and third quarters, scoring three points in the first and nine in the third. Heading into the final period they were down by 17 points, 50-33.

"I can't help but wonder what would have happened if we had played any kind of first quarter," said Chelsea coach Jeff Dils.

Chelsea used an aggressive trapping press in the fourth quarter to get back into the game. Tecumseh committed numerous turnovers, allowing the Bulldogs to score some easy baskets. Brian Burg scored the bulk of his team-high 27 points in the quarter, many on passes from Kerry Plank.

Chelsea had an opportunity to cut the lead to two points, but that's as close as they came.

Kyle Plank was the only other Bulldog in double figures with 12 points. Brandon Murrell, in his first start, scored nine points at forward.

"Brandon worked hard and had a good game," Dils said.

Rounding out the scoring were Kerry Plank with seven, Chris Wilson with four and Chad Raymond with one.

The Bulldogs dropped to 4-5 over-all and 4-1 in the Southeastern Conference.

Another poor first quarter sank the Bulldogs against Howell on Tuesday, Jan. 12, a game Chelsea eventually lost 69-45.

The Bulldogs scored a single field goal in the opening period and trailed 32-15 at half-time and 50-28 at the end of three quarters.

"Our concentration was non-existent at the beginning of the game," Dils said.

"We just seem to have a hard time getting rid of one or two quarters a game that kill us."

Howell had a 6'8" sophomore "who knew what to do with the ball," Dils said. The sophomore scored 28 points and didn't have much problem inside.

"I don't think he was so intimidating but I think our kids thought about him too much."

Chelsea cut the Howell lead to 13 points in the middle of the fourth quarter but could get no closer.

Burg led the Dogs with 17 points and Kerry Plank scored 16. Other scorers included Chad Raymond and Kyle Plank with four each and Erich Hammer and Wilson with two each.

Chelsea faces the top JV team in the conference Friday at Pinckney.

Eighth Grade Cagers Rally For Victory

Beach Middle school's eighth grade basketball team split two games last week, stopping Milan, 33-26 on Tuesday, Jan. 12 before losing big to Dexter, 50-27 on Thursday, Jan. 14.

In the Milan game, the Bullpups found themselves down 18-5 at half-time before staging a second-half rally behind the offense of Jake Rindle. Rindle finished with 17 points.

"Defense was the key in the second half as we stole numerous passes and caused Milan to turn the ball over many times," said Pup coach Jim Tallman.

"We also came out in the second half and played slowly and patiently."

Other Chelsea scorers included Adam Tillman, four points, Jon Royce, three, Rob Jaques and Dan Stahl, two each, and Chris White, one.

"Many of our players like Rob Coelius and Jason Allen are beginning to play effective defense."

Chelsea fell behind 24-15 to Dexter at half-time and 39-21 at the end of three quarters.

"We had a few key people in foul trouble so we were unable to turn up the pressure as we have in the past to make a comeback," Tallman said.

"Jake Rindle played well again but didn't receive the defensive help."

Rindle scored 14 points. Five players checked in with two each, including Jaques, Stahl, Tillman, Royce and Mike Wolpoff. Lee Skyles, John Weinberg and Dennis Clark each scored one.

"I think the team saw the danger of not playing all out from the beginning of the game," Tallman said.

The Pups ended the week with a 3-5 record.

Dogs Sixth at Tough Tourney

sion over John Kimling of Hudson, 16-2. He later pinned Nathan Murphy of Hillsdale in 3:33 and earned a 4-2 decision over Kent Smock of Marshall.

Tim VanSchoick at 185 pounds may have had the toughest pair of matches of the day for Chelsea. He ran into Tom Blandford of Marshall in the first match. Blandford was third in the state last year and was 22-0 heading into the tournament. In his second match he ran into Andy Armbruster of Dexter, also a state qualifier last year.

The Bulldogs host Dexter tomorrow night in a key Southeastern Conference match-up.

"If we can beat Dexter we could tie for the league championship," Kargel said.

"They'll probably win the tournament at the end, so we have to beat them in the dual meet. If we can do that, we stand a good chance. But it will be a war."

Women's Fast Pitch Softball League Forming

Ann Arbor Recreation Dept. is taking into consideration the establishment of a women's fast pitch softball league for their 1988 summer recreation program.

The initial program would consist of a one-night-a-week (Sunday) schedule at Vets Park for the first year. Expansion to two nights a week is a possibility for the future, depending upon the success of the initial program.

Women interested in playing should contact the Ann Arbor Recreation Dept. offices on Stone School Rd., phone 994-2326, or call organizers Debbie Bigham at (313) 485-3653 or Charlie Lamberson at (313) 429-7951.

The organizers are also looking for men and/or women who would be interested in coaching or assisting, as well as sponsors for the new league.

JV Volleyball Team Whips Railsplitters

Chelsea junior varsity volleyball team opened their season with a victory over Southeastern Conference foe Lincoln on Thursday, Jan. 7.

Chelsea took three games to put the Railsplitters away, 15-10, 7-15 and 15-4.

Coach Cheryl Vogel credited the serving of Lisa Park for the first-game win as Park served the first six points and five more toward the end of the game.

The Bulldogs had trouble serving in the second game. However, Joannie Marsh had a good defensive game, Vogel said.

Consistent serving in the third game put the match away. Michelle Graflund served seven points and Carol Hanke, three. Scharme Petty scored four points and Heidi Boyer, two.

Later in the week Chelsea lost a match in two games to Jackson County Western, 2-15 and 6-15.

"They're a fine defensive team," Vogel said.

Other members of the JV Bulldogs include Kate Dilworth, Sheila Haab, Becky Harms, Amy Koenigter, Jennifer McEachern, Jill Nowatzke, Jane Pacheco, Barb Scriven and Chris Tallman.

Ski Waterloo for Fun, Exercise

With winter here and snow on the ground, cross-country skiers have flocked to the Waterloo Recreation Area. They can enjoy eight miles of trails which meander through fields, woods, and over gentle, or sometimes steep, glacial hills. The ground is covered with the tracks of deer, rabbit, and squirrels which abound in the park, and occasionally one can even find signs of mink and fox.

As a service to skiers, the Waterloo Natural History Association will once again operate a warming lodge at Cedar Lake Outdoor Center off of Pierce Rd.

A good way to ski Waterloo is to start at park headquarters on McClure Rd. or at the nature center parking lot off of Bush Rd. and use Cedar Lake lodge as a rest point. The round trip distance from headquarters to the lodge is eight miles. From the nature center, two to four miles depending on which combination of trails are used.

Refreshments including coffee, tea, hot chocolate, and candy bars will be available and a cheery fire will greet visitors. The lodge is manned by volunteers. Information on the ski trails, recreation area, and cabin rentals is available at the lodge. The lodge will be manned from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekends.

A motor vehicle permit is required for entry into all state parks. A seasonal sticker costs $10, a daily permit, $2.

ORDINANCE NO. 94

23.253-Sec3 - Ice & Snow Removal

It shall be the duty of the owner or occupant of every parcel of real estate within the Village which adjoins a public right-of-way upon which there has been constructed a public sidewalk, to remove any accumulations of ice and snow which obstruct the free use of the sidewalk by pedestrians, within 48 hours (Ord. #### 23.254-Sec4 - Failure to Remove Snow and Ice

Any owner or occupant of real estate which adjoins the public right-of-way upon which there is constructed a public sidewalk, who shall fail to remove accumulations of snow and ice, as provided in Section 3 (25.253), above, shall be guilty of a violation of this Ordinance, and the Chelsea Village Police Officer may make complaint and request a warrant from the appropriate judicial officer, or issue and appearance ticket or citation, as provided by Public Act 366 of 1984, directing the appearance of such owner or occupant before the appropriate judicial officer to answer the complaint. ## McKUNE MEMORIAL LIBRARY NEW BOOK LIST

NEW BOOK LIST

"Murder in the CIA," by Margaret Truman: Barrie and Collette, fast friends who move in fast circles. Collette is with the State Department; Barrie is a literary agent in Washington. They have "extracurricular" interests, duties, as well as love lives. One of them, acting as a courier for another kind of agency with international interests ends up dead. Her friend wants to know why and sets out on a quest that is both personal and professional.

"Silverthorn," by Raymond E. Feist. A new master fantasy writer in the grand tradition of J. R. R. Tolkien. "Silverthorn" weaves an enthralling story of a cutpurse and a prince, a mercenary and a minstrel, as they set out on a quest to save a dying princess and do battle with the dark powers that threaten to destroy their peaceful kingdom.

"Crossing to Safety," by Wallace Stegner. The story of the friendship between Larry and Salley Morgan and Sid and Charity Lang makes for fiction of humor, sadness, and celebration, that rare novel which allows you to live lifetimes. Against a background of several beautifully rendered American landscapes, Mr. Stegner writes about the pleasures and perils and occasional penalties of closeness, about love and loyalty, about certain kinds of steadfastness and fidelity, about how much forgiveness can ever be given—much asked.

"Mongoose R.I.P.," by William F. Buckley, Jr. Blackford Oakes, the CIA's urbane, handsome, ace agent, becomes point man in the secret maneuverings. Again he works with the wise, enigmatic spymaster Rufus, and with his resourceful, rowdy, and loyal classmate, Anthony Trust. Headquarters: Miami, seething with anti-Castro intrigues and counter-intelligence agents from Cuba.

CHILDREN'S NEW BOOK LIST

"Samantha Learns a Lesson," by Susan Adler. Samantha goes to Miss Crampton's Academy, a private school for proper young ladies, where everyone is buzzing about the upcoming speaking contest. Samantha is working hard to win but she has something else on her mind, too. She's trying to teach Nellie to read so the boys and girls at her school will stop calling her "dummy." Samantha sets up a school in Grandmary's tower room. (Ages 7-10.)

A Cache of Jewels and Other Collective Nouns," by Ruth Heller. A cache of jewels. A batch of bread. A kindle of kittens. A fleet of ships. With these and many other collective nouns, Ruth Heller introduces young children to a richly evocative area of our language. Readers will also enjoy the lush, realistic paintings of all kinds of animals, flowers, and fanciful objects.

"Bill Martin's Little Woodland Books," by Bill Martin. A series of 10 book and cassette sets on animal habits and behaviors. This read-along series helps to stimulate the natural curiosity of children and to help them develop awareness and understanding of how animals live and grow, why they hunt and are hunted, and how they protect their young. (Ages preschool-10.)

DONNA BACON, of Jerusalem Rd., a long-time Chelsea area resident, matched five numbers in last Saturday's Super Lotto drawing and won more than $3,000. Donna said she plans to buy a sofa with her new wealth. The ticket was purchased at Big Oak Party Store.

Humane Society Announces Arrival of Staff Veterinarian

"Annette Walkers, D.V.M. has been on board at HSHV only since Dec. 4, and has contributed significantly to the Society," states Carole J. Huston, executive director.

Comments Dr. Walker, "I find it both challenging and rewarding to be involved with an organization which is dedicated to promoting respect for all animal life."

Dr. Walker comes to HSHV with six years of professional veterinary experience. She was most recently employed with Professional Veterinary Hospitals in Allen Park, specializing in small animal practice. Prior to this position she practiced in Milwaukee, Wis., having a special interest in avian medicine and surgery.

Outdoor Report

From DNR District Office in Jackson

Fishing...

Ice fishing on District 13 lakes is now in full swing. The recent very cold weather has left most area lakes with at least an 8- to 10-inch ice cover. Ice fishing shanties have appeared on many lakes with some of the larger lakes having as many as 30 or 40 shanties or more.

Fishing success, however, has recently been "spotty." Some lakes produced fair to good numbers of panfish and pike during "first ice" conditions. Yet, during the recent week of intensely cold weather, fish have not been as co-operative.

Anglers are encouraged to try deeper waters near the bottom. In the winter, the warmest water in a lake is the deepest water. This is so because, during the winter, the heaviest (warmer) water sinks to the bottom and the lightest (32°F) remains on top and eventually forms ice. Fish are cold-blooded animals and so their metabolism is based on the temperature of their environment. Warmer temperatures increase their metabolism allowing them to feed and be more alert.

Wildlife...

Canada goose season reopened throughout all areas in District 13. The special late season runs from Jan. 9 through Feb. 7.

These late season dates have been set to attempt to harvest local, "non-migratory" birds. The United States Fish and Wildlife Service and the Department of Natural Resources worked on this late season together. The DNR asked for an earlier late season opener, in December, but was turned down.

An aerial flight and ground checks conducted in December 1987 showed at least 12,000 Canada Geese in the nine-county district. A similar survey conducted the first week of January 1988 showed less than half this number present.

The birds that are still around are near an open water source, usually on the faster flowing rivers. Corn, where available to feeding birds, is still their main food source.

Hunters will have to scout out flight paths between roosting areas and feeding areas. The recent frigid weather has not only chased many of the birds south, but also makes any hunting effort difficult.

Cottontail rabbit hunting is good this year on the game and recreation areas. Cattail marshes and grassy fields are the best bets. Bunnies seem to be up from 1986-87 numbers and are great exercise for slow working beagles.

Special Canada Goose Season Begins Jan. 9

A special late Canada goose season will begin Jan. 9 and run through Feb. 10 in southern Michigan.

Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Wildlife Division waterfowl managers said the purpose of the special late season is to help control the large population of locally reared giant Canada geese.

Most of southeastern Michigan, south of a line from Grand Rapids to Port Huron, is open to Canada goose hunting, except in the Allegan County Goose Management Area and the Pointe Mouillee Goose Management Area.

The hunt area boundaries are described in the 1987-88 Michigan Waterfowl Hunting Guide.

The daily bag limit is two Canada geese with a possession limit of four Canada geese.

It's no fish out of water... even on land. According to Ringer Rick magazine, climbing perch spend most of their time in water. But if their pond begins to dry up, they just climb out and "walk" to a new one. The fish use their spiny gill covers and fins as "feet" and push themselves along, lickety-split, at 10 feet per minute. Special breathing pouches near their gills enable the fish to take oxygen right out of the air.

KATHLEEN RAYMOND, R.T.R., technical director of diagnostic imaging at Chelsea Community Hospital explains to a patient how the recently purchased mammography unit works. Billed as an improvement over older machines, it gives the best possible diagnostic results with as little discomfort and the lowest dose of radiation possible.

Hospital Adds New Pieces of Equipment

Chelsea Community Hospital's Department of Diagnostic Imaging has recently added two new pieces of state-of-the-art diagnostic equipment.

The Mammography Unit, a Thomson CGR Senegraphe 600T, is one of only two such units in the State of Michigan. "We purchased this unit because we wanted to continue to provide the highest quality diagnostic examination possible for our patients and their physicians. The unit is superior to our old unit in that it improves our ability to detect abnormalities and to resolve whether the abnormality is significant," says David E. Baker, M.D., medical director of diagnostic imaging.

"Mammograms are a part of women's health today," says Kathleen Raymond, R.T.R., technical director of diagnostic imaging. "More and more women are learning and following the guidelines of the American Cancer Society and those of their personal physician to include a mammogram as part of their health examination. This unit insures that a woman will receive the best possible diagnostic results with as little discomfort and the lowest dose of radiation possible. A small staff of specially trained technicians perform mammograms, breast examinations and self-breast examination instruction in a warm, supportive environment."

Referrals for mammograms may be made through the woman's personal physician or through the Women's Health Center.

Another enhancement to the diagnostic capabilities of the Department is the addition of a new nuclear medicine unit. The Elscint Integrated Digital Gamma Camera with SPECT capabilities performs singular studies or studies which complement others such as a CT scan or x-ray.

Nuclear Medicine is the use of a small amount of radioactive material called a radionuclide which is swallowed or injected into the bloodstream to allow various organs to be "pictured" by a special camera. The organ is scanned for size, shape and function. The most common organs examined using nuclear medicine are the thyroid, lungs, heart, liver, and gall bladder. Bone scans are also done.

"The new nuclear medicine unit provides many more diagnostic capabilities through the provision of cross-sectional views from all angles of the body, much like a CT scan. This improves the physician's ability to be accurate in identifying or ruling out conditions," says Dr. Baker.

Humane Society Reports Successful Pet Food Round-Up

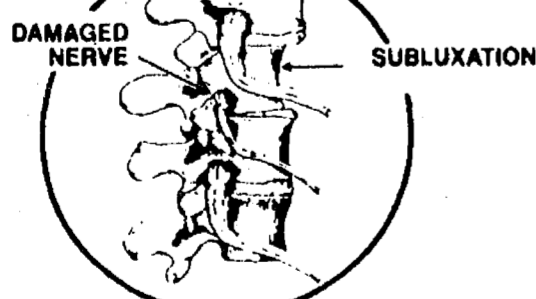

The Humane Society of Huron Valley has announced that its 11th annual Holiday Pet Food Round-up was the most successful ever! A record-breaking 5 1/2 tons of cat and dog food were collected during the month of December from 16 area pet and grocery stores. Scores of shoppers pitched in this season, depositing cans and bags of assorted pet foods into the donation "corrals" placed in each of the participating stores.

The thousands of homeless cats and dogs which will be received by the shelter this year will reap the benefits of the community's generosity. The substantial amount of food donated should supplement these animals' food supply for the coming year.

The Humane Society of Huron Valley is extremely grateful to all of the stores and individuals who made this round-up a success.

Q: Do you know the symptoms of vertebral subluxation?

A: Very often none!

Vertebral subluxation (spinal misalignment) may eventually result in uncomfortable symptoms like headaches, stiff neck, backache, shoulder, arm or leg pain. If vertebral subluxations are left uncorrected, symptoms will soon appear, or if already present, continue to increase and produce even more serious conditions.

A visit with your chiropractor for a spinal examination could lead to correction of the problem before the painful symptoms occur. Only you can take the first step and seek the advice of (your chiropractor). Don't wait for health-threatening conditions to develop. Call for an appointment today.

Chelsea Churches Observe Unity Week

Plans were discussed at the recent Chelsea Ministerial Association meeting for pulp exchange to mark the concern of many congregations to work more closely together for the purpose of Christian unity.

The week of Jan. 18 has been designated as a Week of Prayer for Christian Unity. The movement for Christian Unity began in 1898 in a Franciscan community in New York state.

The meeting to discuss the local observance of Unity Week was held at the St. Louis Center with Fr. Joseph Rinaldo hosting the breakfast event and leading in the devotions and prayers.

The ministerial association is led this year by the Rev. Ron Smeenge of Covenant church as president; the Rev. Jerry Parker of the United Methodist church, the Rev. Kathy Batell, hospital chaplain; and Pastor Chuck Clemons of the Full Gospel church.

The observance of Unity Week started on Sunday, Jan. 17 with pulp exchange. The Rev. Jerrold Beaumont of St. Barnabas Episcopal church led services at St. Paul United Church of Christ, the Rev. Erwin Koch of St. Paul preached at St. Barnabas, the Rev. Jerry Parker led the worship service at Covenant church where the Shangalia singers also participated. This is an international choral group from the Church of the Good Shepherd in Ann Arbor. The Rev. Smeenge led services at the United Methodist church.

In addition, Fr. Joseph Rinaldo of St. Louis Center will be leading the worship at Covenant church on Jan. 24.

Other churches are using materials available that call congregations to consider the themes of "Love Casting Out Fear." This is based upon the New Testament scriptures in I John 4:18.

The ministerial association announced plans for next year's Unity Week activities. A committee is being formed that will work for a total community event, perhaps in the form of a prayer breakfast.

Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship

works to bring about effective community relations with churches and other service and civic organizations. Members of the association work with the hospital chapel program, Faith In Action, Cassidy Lake school chapel program, community Good Friday services, Christmas Lessons and Carols at St. Mary's, community Thanksgiving services, the Memorial Day parade, the "high school baccalaureate program, and the before and after school child care programs. They seek to respond to various needs and co-operative opportunities that enhance Chelsea community life.

The Rev. Mark Weirauch of Zion Lutheran church was welcomed to the fellowship.

Chelsea Ministerial Association meets the fourth Tuesday of each month. The Rev. Erwin Koch of St. Paul will host the February meeting.

Botanical Gardens Plans Nature Walk On Winter Survival

For every adult or child who's ever wondered where animals and insects go in the winter or how plants survive the freezing temperatures, the University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens has the answers. On Feb. 7, at 2 p.m., the Gardens will offer a free nature tour titled, "Plant and Animal Survival in Winter."

Docents (volunteer guides) will lead visitors along the four nature trails that help to make up the 250 acres of the Gardens.

Charts will help visitors identify animal tracks in the snow by their shapes and sizes.

Visitors will examine perennials that have gone dormant under a pile of leaves and snow, but are waiting to burst through with warmer weather. Examine the Box Elder with its wax coating which helps to seal and preserve its water. See Poplar Trees with their coat of resin around the buds to protect them from losing their moisture in the winter and also to prevent insects from eating the bud in the spring and fall.

Alcohol Likely Factor in Exposure Death of Youth

Jackson County Sheriff's Department is still trying to determine if alcohol or drugs were a factor in the death of a Jackson boy who was found dead of exposure in the yard of a rural Grass Lake home Wednesday, Jan. 6.

Derek M. Kurzynowski, 16, is believed by police to have died on Sunday evening, Jan. 3. Police found the boy three days later after a missing person report was filed Monday morning by his mother.

Kurzynowski was found in the front yard of an 18-year-old friend who he had apparently been visiting Saturday night, police said. The home, on Burch St., is in a rural area outside Grass Lake.

An autopsy ruled out foul play, according to Sheriff's department Captain Dan Heyns.

Police are awaiting tests of blood and tissue to see if drugs or alcohol were a contributing factor. Heyns said that Kurzynowski's friend was still intoxicated when he talked to police on Monday. The friend's parents were reportedly out of town on vacation. The friend reportedly told police the two had been drinking heavily the night before and he could not remember what happened.

"It was during an extremely cold period and it wouldn't have mattered what he was wearing, he would have died of hypothermia," Heyns said.
