CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1988

22 Pages This Week Plus Supplement

CHELSEA'S NEW SEWAGE TREATMENT PLANT is on schedule, according to Clark Construction Co. workers. The new plant, constructed mostly of concrete, is substantially larger than the old plant, which is adjacent to it. Village taxpayers will see their taxes rise next summer as the village begins to pay for the $6 million project.

Ritter Plans To Run For Council, Election Petitions Due Monday

Former village president Charles Ritter returned a petition to run for village trustee in the March 14 elections.

Candidates for all available positions have until 4 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 8 to submit a petition to village clerk Allen Anderson. Each petition must contain a minimum of 15 signatures of registered village voters.

Up for election are village president, three village trustee seats, village treasurer, village assessor, and two seats on the McKune Memorial Library board. The library board seats run for three years. The others run for two years.

Ritter, a Maywood St. resident, served as village president in 1980-81. Over the last few years Ritter has been one of the most vocal critics of the village administration and village president Jerry Satterthwaite. He ran an unsuccessful candidacy against Satterthwaite in the 1986 village elections.

As of Monday morning Ritter was the only candidate to have returned a petition for village trustee. However, at least five other residents have picked up petitions, including incumbent trustees Phil Boham, Gary Bentley and Joe Merkel, E. Middle St. resident Richard Rigg, and Wilkinson St. resident Harold Allen. Rigg said recently that he is considering a run for trustee. The Standard could not contact Allen before press time to learn his intentions. Boham has said he might consider running for president.

Village trustee Richard Steele and Satterthwaite have returned petitions to run for village president. Satterthwaite is seeking his third consecutive term. Steele is in the middle of his third term on the village council.

Should Steele win the election, he would be forced to resign his position on the council. He would then be able to nominate his successor. The nomination would have to be approved by village council.

Treasurer Katie Chapman was the only candidate for her job as of press time. She is seeking her second term.

Anne Merkel and Dan Kaminsky were the only two official candidates for three-year terms on the McKune Memorial Library board as of press time.

Boham and Bentley would be seeking their second terms on the council should they decide to run. Merkel, the senior member of council, would be seeking his fifth term.

Rigg, who has previously served as a Manchester village trustee, would be seeking his first term in Chelsea village government.

And so far, there's no indication that anyone will break the trend of the last two elections and run for village assessor.

THE FRONT IS COMPLETELY OFF what used to be the Sylvan Hotel on N. Main St. About the only reminder of the huge fire there more than two years ago is blackened woodwork inside. The building will have office and retail space when the renovation is completed. The owners are John and Anne Daniels of Chelsea.

Developers Buy Acreage Near Interstate For Motel

Two Chelsea general partners plan to build a 40-50 unit motel off M-52 close to I-94 in the southern end of the village.

Bill Weber and Jim Nye have purchased nearly four acres of land behind Broderick Shell station from Chuck Broderick and plan to build the motel this summer.

"We hope it will be completed and open in time for football season," Weber said.

Weber said the one-story motel would be called Arbogate Chelsea and would feature rooms starting at less than $35 per night but would essentially be a no frills operation. It would not have a restaurant or swimming pool, for example. He said the Arbogate chain is a subsidiary of Knights Inn and would be operated on a franchise basis.

Weber said the partnership is waiting for market survey results to see how many units are recommended. He said that normally each 100 residents of a community can support one room.

Once the marketing survey information is available, site plans can be drawn and submitted to the village. Weber said plans probably won't be ready for the village planning commission until March.

Two developers each tried to have the land developed into a shopping mall last year but village council refused to re-zone the land. It is zoned C-3, which will allow a motel.

"We gave the village what they wanted," Broderick said.

The motel would be constructed much like a modular home, Weber said. Individual units, including rooms and lobby, are trucked in from the assembly plant and placed on a foundation. That will allow for easy expansion. Weber said that initially only about half of the land would be used.

Weber is the brother of village manager Fritz Weber and is a local home builder. He also built the Schoolhouse Apartments on Park and Harrison Sts.

Village Planners Give Final Site Plan Approval For First Shopping Mall

The developer of Chelsea's first shopping mall was given final site plan approval by the village planning commission at their Tuesday, Jan. 26 meeting.

If all goes according to plan, according to developer Rene Papo, site preparation will begin in March and construction in April. Construction is anticipated to take six months on the site next to Chelsea Community Fairgrounds on M-52.

Papo had pushed for final approval because his chief tenant, Ames Department Store, had told him that further delays could kill the project.

The plans were approved with a number of contingencies, most of which are considered to be minor by the village administration.

However, the primary contingency is that Papo, of Arcus Corp., and the village hammer out a specific development agreement listing what improvements will be completed at the village's expense and what will be done at Papo's expense.

The planning commission and village council are scheduled to hold a joint work session on the agreement on Tuesday, Feb. 9 in the village council chambers. The plan will have to be approved by village council, probably at their regular meeting Feb. 18.

A key part of the agreement will detail who will pay for improvements to the water and sewer systems in the area. Both the village and the development will benefit from the improvements, so both parties are likely to share in the cost.

The village has applied for a $225,000 matching grant from the Michigan Community Development Block Grant program to help with the improvements. Assistant village manager Lee Fahrner said the state is studying the proposal.

The agreement will also likely take into consideration other recommendations by Fahrner and Carl Schmitt, the village's planning consultant.

Many of those recommendations are for Papo to provide more detailed information about various aspects of the project, such as a complete landscaping plan, elevations of light poles and fixtures, and the radii of all curves in the lots.

Other considerations include how various road improvements will be made, from the widening of a short section of Old Manchester Rd. to the construction of deceleration lanes into the mall.

In addition, Schmitt and Fahrner suggested minor changes to the plans, such as moving the location of a driveway that would connect the mall to Chelsea State Bank branch office.

The village and Papo also have to work out moving an electrical easement behind Meabon's Furniture and Appliances since the mall will be connected to the appliance store. In addition, some street lights will have to be moved from M-52 to allow construction of the deceleration lanes.

The planning commission has also recommended that sidewalks be constructed on M-52 from Old US-12 south to the village limits.

Ames Department Store, a company with 350 stores nation-wide, will occupy 57,000 square feet of the 92,000-square-foot mall. Ames stores are similar to Ben Franklin stores, Papo said.

A maximum of 10 tenants will occupy the rest, Papo said.

Flying Dutchman Construction Co. is the general contractor, Papo said.

School Board Approves Graduation Requirements

Chelsea School Board, at their Monday, Feb. 1 meeting, adopted new graduation requirements effective for the class of 1992.

Adoption of this measure means that Chelsea will meet the suggested state requirements. At the last board meeting, high school principal John Williams recommended this change, stating that it had been reviewed by the high school advisory council and would not entail much alteration in the existing curriculum.

To meet the new requirements, Chelsea high school students will have to take two years of science and math and a computer literacy course. Although up to now, only one year of science and math have been required, only 10 of last year's graduating seniors did not take two years of these subjects. The computer literacy course is already being offered, but as an elective.

The only other action at the board meeting was the acceptance, with regret, of the resignation of Helen St. Louis, effective June 9. St. Louis has taught at Beach Middle School for the past 18 years. She is resigning because she has reached retirement age.

In the information portion of the meeting, parent Elizabeth Hammer spoke in favor of redefining the curriculum director's job as an on-going position. The present curriculum director, Laurie Bissell, was hired for two years. Last year, her contract was extended for a third year.

Hammer presented the board with petitions with more than 130 signatures in favor of making the position permanent. Hammer explained that although the individual teaching may be excellent, that without someone overseeing the whole curriculum, students may graduate with gaps in their knowledge or be subjected to unnecessary repetitions.

Hammer further added that new methods of learning are constantly being discovered, and with a curriculum director to keep the staff up to date on these findings, that teachers can be more effective.

A third argument was that curriculum review is really a six-year process, and in three years Chelsea is just scratching the surface.

The board honored four people who have been serving as mentors in the gifted and talented program: Susan Buck, dance; Wendy Bloom, voice; Bev Martin, clothing design; and Shannon Culver, framing and matting.

In addition to managing the regular school business, the school board has been busy interviewing superintendent candidates. They interviewed two last Wednesday and Friday evenings, and two more on Saturday morning. They plan to interview the seventh candidate this evening, Feb. 3. The next step will be to narrow the field to two or three and then call those applicants back for a second interview.

Train Makes Unusual Stop At Depot

Amtrak made an unusual stop at the Chelsea Depot last Friday, Jan. 29 to let a paying passenger off the train.

However, the 37-year-old man had to be removed by Chelsea police at the request of Amtrak officials. According to police, the man was acting in a disorderly manner and used a racial slur when referring to the train's porter.

The man was traveling with his brother-in-law, who gave him money (Continued on page eight)

Governor Promises Innovative Approach To Create Jobs
Governor James J. Blanchard has acknowledged the state's economy faces serious challenges despite the above average growth in 1987 of the number of persons employed and promised innovative jobs policies in his State of the State address.

The governor said the 3.6 percent increase in employment to a record 4.1 million jobs was overlooked due to the concerns over General Motors plant closings, the stock market crash and economic jitters related to federal trade and budget deficits.

Blanchard said the worst of the GM job losses is over—Department of Commerce officials believe about three-fourths of the 17,450 workers who are to be affected by plant closings have already been laid off—but the ripple effect on related economies will likely mean an increase in the unemployment rate this year.

"What we will present . . . will be as innovative and as progressive as you will find anywhere in the nation," Blanchard said. He added the 1987 employment growth was surprising and sets the basis for the proposals he will offer for 1988.

Blanchard said the state has to "pursue businesses and jobs of the future. That's our goal."

He added he opposes some House Republican proposals to stimulate jobs—notably a revised credit that could result in lower wages for restaurant workers—but said he could work co-operatively on other items such as unemployment compensation reform.

The governor said national factors largely affected Michigan's job growth but said state policies served as a catalyst as well.

He noted the job growth was 38 percent higher than the national average. The Chicago office of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said it had not yet completed an employment and unemployment comparison of the 11 largest industrial states.

The 144,000 new jobs were identified in the monthly survey by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The survey does not reflect how many new jobs were created, how many were lost, nor whether a person has a full- or part-time job.

But Commerce Director Doug Ross said Michigan's growth in personal income has kept pace with the growth nationally despite the obvious loss of high-paying manufacturing jobs. The new jobs are almost all in non-manufacturing areas, such as services, financial and tourism.

Complete tourism information is not available, but the governor said spending in that area had by November already surpassed the 1986 record.

Blanchard said employment growth continues a "half decade of solid progress"—the five years he has been governor the state recovered from the deep recession of the late 1970s.

The "serious challenges" still facing the state include high urban unemployment, loss of mining jobs in the Upper Peninsula and the GM downsizing.

High School Scheduling Starts Week of Feb. 8

Chelsea High school scheduling for the 1988-89 school year will begin the week of Feb. 8.

Feb. 8-10, high school counselors will be visiting classrooms to distribute course books to current freshmen, sophomores and juniors.

On Feb. 11 the counselors will visit eighth graders at Beach Middle and pass out course materials.

Parents of eighth graders will have a chance to ask questions of high school administrators and department heads in a meeting at Beach school on Tuesday, Feb. 16 at 6:30 p.m.

"I'd like to urge parents to be alert for the materials and be involved in the scheduling process," said high school principal John Williams.

Arena registration will take place in May, Williams said.

Volunteer Social Service Aides Needed at Methodist Home

Currently, social work interns from Eastern Michigan University have been working on each of the residence halls at the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home. They will be leaving at the end of the semester in April and want to have their work carried on by volunteers who would be assigned in pairs, to a hall (9-13 residents per hall).

The work would include:
—offering care and friendship to hall residents.

—planning hall activities for birthdays, holidays, etc.

—taking short trips to shop, to go out to lunch, to see the leaves changing colors, etc., depending on residents' interests. (Outside trips optional.)

—attending to special needs of individual residents, e.g. building maintenance problems, writing letters, helping with personal needs, e.g. dry cleaning, going to the ice cream store, etc.

—just visiting.

No specialized training is necessary. What is needed are people who are enthusiastic, good listeners, dependable and who enjoy older people. A six to twelve month commitment for a half to one day per week is desired.

The students and social work staff will provide a training session for volunteers on March 19 from 12:30-3:30. Volunteers would be able to work with the social work students for several weeks before the semester ends.

Call Ann Sterling, M.S.W., resident advisor at 475-8633 for information and an appointment for an interview.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb told the fellers Saturday night at the country store that he had thought the situation up one side and down the other, and he was full convinced the old saying is wrong. The new saying is, the way to a person's pocket is through his nose. Zeke was talking about the recent discussion of new gimmicks in print advertising.

It's a proved fact, Zeke said, that smell is tied close to memory. We get a whiff of hot grease and we think of hot dogs at the fair. We smell wood smoke and we remember huddling around the stove in Ma's kitchen. A certain flower smell reminds us of a funeral. No wonder the advertisers have figured out they can lead us around by our noses, was his words.

So Zeke said he sees smells doing more selling. Fer instance, how long before eating places catch on to menus printed with ink that smells like pizza and roast beef. Grocery stores that run scented ads in papers are going to do the same on the shelves. The big chains already got delis to the side that give off smells enough to send customers into a buying frenzy, Zeke noted, so how far to the smell of sea air drawing a crowd to a swim suit sale in the dead of winter.

Speaking of air, it was Bug Hookum that allowed one old saying that's still right is about ill winds. Bug said you can find a silver lining if you keep looking. Fer instance, he said his old lady got a mail order book of sewing patterns the other day and she said she ain't built to wear anything that's in style. That means skirts are going up and waists are going in. Bad fer her, Bug said, but good fer the country. He said he puts a heap more faith in hems than economists.

Bug's remarks got wimmen on the agender. Clem Webster allowed that he has seen all the cycles in the economy during his three score, 10 and then some, and he was agreed that times feller skirts. Up fer good and down fer bad, and that's plain the way it goes. Everything was booming when gownless evening straps was in fashion, then skirts started sweeping the shoe tops and the country stopped cold in her tracks.

Practical speaking, Clem don't know anything about wimmen because he's allus been afraid to ask. It was Ed Doolittle that took note Clem might see wimmen in short skirts in sewing catalogs, but them he sees every day are wearing jeans, and what kind of economic signal is that. Ed said if wimmen in this country can get off silly things like adding a female figger to the Vietnam memorial and git on with real issues they can make big things happen in this Presidential election year.

Ed got full agreement on that point. We got to work up a agender and git on with it, Zeke declared. He had saw where some sychologist said Americans worry unduly, so all we got to do is decide how much worry is duly. We know that when a politician promises help he really means he wants to help us mark our ballots. I saw where one big city mayor said when he took office, "I've been sworn in, now I'll be sworn at." He's got the right idea of public service.

I say we start with understanding. Like the hobo that come to the farmer's door and asks for a meal. The farmer said he knowed the feller saw wood that needed sawing piled out by the road. The hobo put on his hat and said, "you might of saw me see it, but you ain't going to see me saw it." They had a understanding.

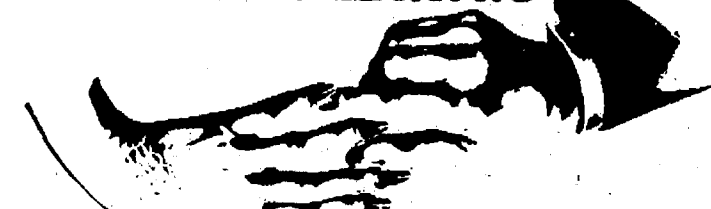

Yours truly,

Uncle Lew

ABWA Members Given Update on Use of Computers

"Women and Computers—The Coming of Age" was the timely topic presented to the Chelsea Chapter of American Business Women's Association. The meeting was held Jan. 26 and was an excellent program for women of today.

Guest speakers were Rick Chateauvert, Information Center supervisor at Chelsea Community Hospital, and Kerrie Peterson, PC support coordinator in the Data Processing Dept., also at Chelsea Hospital.

The topic of discussion included computer technology and how it has evolved from "unfriendly" to more "user friendly."

Today there are more than nine million personal computers in United States offices. Other interesting facts were that in 1943 Grace Murray Hooper was the first female programmer. Also that in 1983 there were 13 million computers in the world and more than 4.5 million U.S. high school students were using computers in schools. Projections are that by the year 2000, the computer industry will be second to agriculture in the world economy.

The Chelsea Chapter is planning their annual Fashion Show/Luncheon for March 5. The location will be Our Savior Lutheran church on M-52 (next to McDonald's) in Chelsea. Tickets are available from members. There will be no ticket sales at the door. For more information please call 475-2041.

As in the past, this event will benefit the scholarship fund for women and girls.

Child Study Club Hears About Inner Mongolia, AIDS

Chelsea Child Study Club met Jan. 12 at the home of Neta Mills where members and guest Vicky Melke heard a presentation about Inner Mongolia. Judy Ward, beach school history teacher, spoke about her three-week trip last summer to Inner Mongolia. During the slide presentation, Judy described the country, people, religion, culture, climate and history. Judy spent nine days on horseback in the grasslands traveling the ancient caravan trails where the nomads lived.

After the presentation and short business meeting, co-hostess Judy Smith served pecan shortbread bars.

At the Jan. 26 meeting held at the home of Bert Cobb, Jan Newton, a nurse clinician from the University of Michigan Student Health Service, spoke to members about AIDS. Following a video presentation, Jan talked about her work, the anonymous counseling, the history of the disease, current statistics, and prevention. She graciously answered questions, and handed out helpful information sheets.

During the business meeting, president JoAnn Richardson announced that the nominating committee for 1988-89 is Nancy Grau, Louise Likavec, and Mary Louise Fischbach.

Bert Cobb served a fruit cup with vanilla pudding sauce and cookies for dessert to end the evening. The next meeting will be held on Feb. 9 at St. Paul church where Janet Alford will present a workshop on stenciling for members and guests.

Chelsea Day In Florida

The annual Chelsea Day in Florida will be held on Saturday, Feb. 13 at the Hudson Community Club building. It will start at 10:30 a.m. with a pot-luck dinner two hours later. Laurence and Laurita Boyer of Chelsea took up the responsibility of organizing the event six years ago. Since then, it has grown by leaps and bounds. Last year 100 gathered, some traveling about as far as the number in attendance. Participants should bring a dish to pass and table service. For more information or directions, call the Boyers at 1-813-882-5701. All Chelsea people in Florida are welcome, and indeed, urged to attend.

Sen. Lana Pollack Dealing with Schools, Taxes, and Environment

The State Senate is back in session, and our senator, Lana Pollack, like her counterpart in the State House, Margaret O'Connor, is back at work. Now in her second term, Sen. Pollack says she likes the work. She explains, "The system really works. It's amazing how people with different points of view come together."

Pollack feels it is possible to accomplish something in the Senate if one is patient and is willing to work with people with real differences. For instance, she has introduced six environmental bills which are aimed at putting more teeth into the enforcement of laws already on the books. But it will be a while before any action is taken on them. They are now waiting to be considered by the Natural Resources committee.

The next step on the environmental bills, which have also been introduced in the house, is to meet with representatives of environmental groups and business groups to see if there are areas of misunderstandings which can be ironed out before the bills are considered by the legislature.

Another bill introduced by Pollack, changing the method of township tax assessments on commercial and industrial property, is also awaiting action. Pollack feels that these types of taxes vary unfairly from area to area because they require too much specialized knowledge. Under the terms of her bill, local assessors would continue to assess residential and agricultural property, but a specialist would assess the other.

Another introduced bill of Pollack's, also aimed at making the tax system fairer, would add mobile home residents to the property tax rolls. At present, all they pay is a three dollar monthly fee, which, after being divided up among the several levels of government, does not even pay for the paper work. They also pay sales tax and user tax at the time they buy the mobile home. Pollack's bill would bring in $34 million in revenue. Subtracting the $2.9 million it would lose from the monthly fees and $8.9 million from sales tax, the state government would be $22 million ahead.

Besides taxes, another major interest of Pollack's is school related matters. (She began her elected political career by serving on Ann Arbor school board.) She has recently introduced two education bills, one banning corporal punishment in schools and one mandating better mirrors for school buses, making it easier for bus drivers to see the children they let off the bus.

Pollack explains her interest in education, saying that schools and universities are the most significant employers in Washtenaw county and that education is the key to the future of the area's economy. She says that maintaining high levels of education will keep jobs in the community.

Pollack is a member of the School Finance Reform committee made up of business people, labor leaders, educators, and township officials, which is seeking a better way than property tax to fund education. Pollack characterizes property tax as "the tax people hate most to pay." She says "It is not fair that the quality of education depends on where a child is born. All should get a quality education."

Pollack doubts that the talked about two-percent raise in the state sales tax to replace the property tax will pass although she said she would not be opposed to it.

But schools have to be funded somehow. Pollack says, "There is no free lunch. We have to look for other alternatives."

A great deal of Pollack's time is spent on her three committee assignments: the Joint Rules committee; the Finance committee; and the Criminal Justice, Urban Affairs, and Economic Development committee.

The first two committees are quite technical. The joint rules committee works out in detail the language of bills which have been passed in outline. The finance committee requires an understanding of the tax law and of methods of government funding.

The third committee, criminal justice, urban affairs, and economic development, is, as its name suggests, very general. It is chaired by conservative senator Jack Welborn, who is from the Kalamazoo area. But Pollack, who is known as a liberal, says she has a good working relationship with him. Although a Republican, Welborn has named the Democratic Pollack chair of the urban affairs subcommittee.

Another example of the good working relationship between the two senators is a national conference they are jointly sponsoring on teen-age pregnancy. Although they differ on abortion, Pollack says, "You can argue all you want on the issue of abortion, but the real issue is unwanted pregnancy." She says that the United States has one of the worst records on teen-age pregnancy and that the aim of the conference is to look at ways other communities have attacked this problem.

Also with Welborn, Pollack is investigating the possibilities of coordinating children's services. She explains that, at present, a number of state agencies deal with children including Social Services, Education, Mental Health, and Public Health, but she is worried that some that need service fall between the cracks. The solution may be a new department or a super agency to oversee the whole effort.

Survey of Handicapper's Concerns

The Center for Independent Living, which helps people with disabilities to reach and maintain the highest level of independence to which they aspire, is planning to hold a town meeting at the Ark in Ann Arbor. One of the major items for discussion will be the results of a survey they have sent out to handicapped people in the area.

The survey asks respondents to rate 30 issues and to discuss their satisfaction with the services offered by their communities. If any Dexter or Chelsea handicapped people have not received a copy of the survey, they should call the center at 971-0277.

C. of C. Board Votes Funds for SADD Chapter

At the Jan. 12 Board of Directors meeting, the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce voted to donate $100 to the Chelsea chapter of SADD.

The board praised the efforts of the group to educate the students about the dangers of using drugs and driving and to support efforts to provide alternate social situations such as the party at the bowling alley after the spring prom.

President William Nilan noted that the Chamber tries to support the schools whenever possible, but the by-laws of the Chamber make it fairly clear that the goals of the organization are to enhance the business community. "What's good for the children is good for the Chelsea business community," Nilan commented.

Coturnix Project Offered Students Through 4-H Office

Michigan students have the chance to learn more about animal life and life science with the help of a little bird that has gone to school.

Coturnix, or Japanese quail, are small brown birds that have been integrated into school programs across the state by Michigan 4-H Youth Programs as study subjects for students from kindergarten to 12th grade.

The birds are ideal for the classroom. They eat and drink very little, weigh only 5 or 6 ounces when grown, and are mature in only five weeks. A class can watch the entire life cycle from egg to chick to adult in eight to 10 weeks.

The program is facilitated by county 4-H staff members, who contact schools or answer requests from interested teachers and supply lesson plans and study guides. They also put teachers in touch with local sources of quail eggs and incubators. Incubators are also available on loan from Michigan State University.

Coturnix make excellent study subjects for helping young people learn about growth and development, genetics, behavior and reproduction. Each teacher can decide how much time he or she wants to devote to the project.

Elementary students learn basic life cycle lessons by watching the chicks hatch, grow and reproduce, and junior high and high school students are encouraged to conduct science studies and experiments.

Once the in-class studies are complete, youngsters may choose to continue raising and studying quail at home as part of the 4-H poultry project.

This program provides a chance for suburban or urban young people to take part in 4-H animal science programs. Quail meat and eggs may be sold to gourmet food stores.

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Brian Hamilton

A letter to the editor in last week's edition of The Standard expressed dismay that there are no women among the finalists for superintendent of the Chelsea School District.

This is indeed the case. After reviewing the 69 applications submitted, the school board selected seven men to interview. The final two public interviews are taking place tonight in the board room.

Not only are there no women candidates, but guessing from the names I'd say there are no minority candidates either.

At first glance this might seem like the perfect time to put in a call to former National Organization of Women president Eleanor Smeal or the Rev. Jesse Jackson to see if the selection process could be made a little more equitable. Or maybe we should call Jimmy The Greek to see if he has any wisdom as to why this might have happened.

I can understand why there would be a lack of minority candidates. It would take an unusual black man or woman who would want to try to lead a conservative, rural school community that is about 99 percent white, for example.

I keep recalling the scene in the movie "Blazing Saddles" when the new governor-appointed black sheriff rides into the town of plain, white folks for the first time and is greeted by a mixture of disbelief and terror.

The situation is a little different for women, since women, of course, are highly representative of the Chelsea population. It's also likely a qualified woman would be effective here, especially considering that Chelsea is fortunate to have three intelligent, committed women on its school board in Barb Cherem, Ann Comeau and Anne Feeney, and two in its administration in curriculum director Laurie Bissell and community education director Jackie Rogers.

And because women comprise nearly a majority of the board, it would be that much more difficult for a qualification woman to be passed over in the selection process.

Of the 69 applicants for the Chelsea position, five were women, according to assistant superintendent Fred Mills. That accounts for about 7 percent of the pool.

Of the seven men who made the cut, all but two are superintendents in other districts. One is an assistant superintendent in a huge school district and the other has the title of director of K-5 education.

Now, here's the kicker. Imagine that five women were under consideration and that those five women were also superintendents in other districts. If that were the situation, those five finalists would be half of the women superintendents state-wide.

It's sad but true. There are exactly 10 women superintendents in Michigan's 562 school districts. And one of those is an acting-superintendent, which means the true number is probably 9. Nine of 562, or about 1.5 percent. Those numbers, by the way, come from the Michigan Department of Education.

Eight of those superintendents are in K-12 districts.

I don't know anything about the five women applicants who were rejected. I feel confident, though, that if any of them was a superintendent in a school district of any size that she would now be under consideration.

The school board's policy, Mills said, is to select the most qualified person. I don't see how anyone can argue with that. The school district can't afford to gamble with someone who has extremely limited supervisory experience. It isn't an entry level superintendent's job. The board could also open itself up to charges of discrimination if an obviously more qualified candidate were denied.

The tragedy is not that a woman is not in the running for the Chelsea job. It is that there are apparently so few well-qualified women anywhere in the state.

Most superintendents, Mills told me, work their way up through the ranks, starting at the smallest school districts. If this is the case, then apparently women aren't being given the opportunities at the lowest rungs of the administrative ladder. Why? I could only speculate.

Top administrative opportunities have apparently been few for women for quite a long time. According to department of education figures, of the 466 superintendents hired in the state between 1970 and 1985, 95 percent of them were white men. Figures weren't available as to how many of the other five percent were also men.

I have noticed a curious phenomenon, or maybe co-incidence among school administrators I have met both here and in Georgia. You may think I am kidding, but in the words of columnist Dave Barry, I am not making this up.

In Georgia, without exception, every public school administrator I ever met, from the superintendent on down, was a former football coach. We're talking about three superintendents and assistant superintendents, and more than a dozen principals.

I used to think this was just something peculiar to Georgia until I came here and met Ray Van Meer, and Mills, both former football coaches.

Apparently the leadership qualities that make a successful football coach help to make a successful school administrator. They are take-charge people and are generally highly visible in the community. And how many women football coaches do you know? What similar opportunity exists for women in most school districts? Sorry, but being a volleyball coach or track coach just isn't the same.

So what does this all mean? Well, maybe just that as a society in general we don't provide enough leadership opportunities for women. This situation certainly isn't unique to education, but it seems more noticeable in a profession dominated by women.

PAT PAGELS, new owner of the Log Cabin Restaurant on Clear Lake Rd., examines the Chelsea Historical Society's cook book to get ideas for new menu items. While retaining the present menu, Pagels is planning to experiment with new entrees and would welcome suggestions from customers.

Zoa's Log Cabin Restaurant Now Pat's

Zoa's Log Cabin on Clear Lake Rd. is now Pat's Log Cabin, due to a change in ownership. John and Zoa Edwards have sold the restaurant and convenience store to Pat Pagels.

Pagels has retained the same cooks employed by Edwards and plans to continue offering the same menu, plus adding specialties of her own such as snow crab, baked New England scrod with lemon butter topping, potato pancakes, Belgian waffles, and a salad bar.

On week-ends, Pagels plans to serve special brunches with items such as fresh fruit cup, sausage gravy over biscuits, blueberry muffins and pancakes, and bran muffins.

Pagels assures people she will keep such favorites as the all-you-can-eat perch dinners on Friday and the pizza. The only change to the original menu items will be the use of real potatoes.

The Log Cabin Restaurant is, as its name would indicate, located in a log cabin. Starting as a small hot dog and hamburger snack bar, it has grown to a full-fledged restaurant. In the 1960's, Margaret and Pete Gage bought it and added an ice cream room. Under the Gages' ownership, it was known as the "Log Cabin Lunch."

In 1974, Eileen Ryan purchased the property, opening up the living quarters on the side to make a dining room and renaming it the "Log Cabin Restaurant." Ryan also added the convenience store.

Zoa and John Edwards bought the restaurant in 1985, running it for two years until selling it to Pagels.

Pagels gives two reasons for buying the restaurant: an appreciation of wholesome home cooking and a desire to move to the Waterloo area.

Pagels described herself as someone who has always enjoyed good quality food. She has done a lot of traveling in the United States and enjoys tasting regional specialties. For the last 10 years, she has lived in Battle Creek and has frequently visited the Amish area of Indiana to enjoy their excellent cuisine.

She became interested in buying a restaurant after owning and operating an adult care foster home in Battle Creek, where, in her words, she "pampered the residents with restaurant quality food."

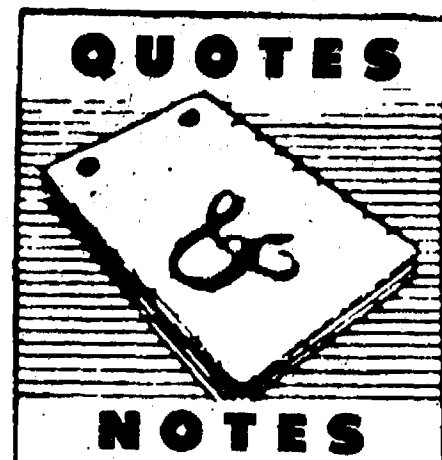

Pagels was born and raised in Detroit. She has been familiar with the Waterloo area since seventh grade when she began visiting a good friend, Gail Nelson, at Sugar Loaf Lake. The two are still friends.

Pagels does not plan to change the physical appearance of the log cabin, appreciating that its knotty pine, log walls are part of its uniqueness and charm. She loves the Waterloo area and is amused that her staff arrives at work on various conveyances such as horses and snowmobiles. She says, "I never know what I'll see parked outside."

Pagels would like the Log Cabin Restaurant to continue to be used as a community resource especially in the quieter winter months and would welcome card clubs to play euchre or pinochle. Since the restaurant closes at 7 p.m. on weekdays, it could also be kept open for events such as sports banquets or wedding rehearsal parties.

Pagels' goal is to serve "quality home cooked food at reasonable prices." She is planning to experiment with different specialties and is open to suggestions from the community on what to try.

The Log Cabin's winter hours are Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Friday, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Saturday and Sunday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. The store and take-out pizza is open Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.; and Friday, Saturday, and Sunday from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

"It is better to light one candle than to curse the darkness..."

—Old Chinese Proverb

Most of us ordinary folks have a ready solution for the inadequacies of modern life and of our social system... we complain and demand to know why no one does anything about it. With all of life's frustrations and imperfections, we have plenty of opportunity to "curse the darkness."

Progress in the affairs of mankind depends upon "candle lighters"... those who are willing to do something besides complain. Even though our effort may be small and the results less than desired, we will at least have the satisfaction of knowing we tried. Our example may be the inspiration for the one who eventually gets the job done.

For friendly, sympathetic understanding, you can depend on us. A pre-need arrangement plan enables one to specify exact wishes well in advance of need. Complete details are available without obligation.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, Jan. 18 were Grau, Comeau, Redding, Satterthwaite, Cherem, Wales, Feeney, superintendent Van Meer, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Larson, community education director Rogers, curriculum director Bissell, guests.

Prior to the regularly scheduled Board meeting, the board met with university placement directors to paper-screen the applications of the candidates for the superintendency.

Regular meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by President Lloyd Grau. The board approved the minutes of the Jan. 4 meeting.

Entered as an official communication was a letter from Vicki Hinderer, secretary of the PTS, asking the board to re-examine its decision to terminate the position of curriculum director as of June, 1988.

President Grau presented certificates of achievement to five high school students who were finalists in the Michigan Math Prize Competition: Sharon Colombo, Patrick Gustine, Kristina Steffenson, James Taylor, and Jeff Waldyke. High school teacher Vince Brunfiel was present to introduce the students. Four other students who were finalists were unable to be present at the meeting; they will receive certificates of achievement. Those students are: Jordan Gray, Charles Hosner, Stephen Radant, and Charity Strong.

Treva Winans, recently retired senior citizens co-ordinator, was presented a certificate of appreciation in recognition of her dedicated service to senior citizens through the Community Education program. Community education director Jackie Rogers was present at the meeting to speak on behalf of Treva.

The board presented an update on the process to be followed in selecting a new superintendent of schools. The placement directors recommended that the board consider 10 of the 70 applicants for interview. The board convened in executive session and subsequently reduced that figure to seven.

The building principals reviewed with the board how the MEAP results are used in their buildings. At the high school the counselors and departments review the tests with the students. At the elementary schools, students are instructed on how to take the test. The results are used for both classroom and school-wide reports.

High school principal John Williams reviewed with the board a proposal for changing graduation requirements. The proposal was developed by a special committee established to review state guidelines for graduation requirements. Essentially another year of math, another year of science, and a half-year of computer education would be required for graduation beginning with the Class of 1992. This will be an action item at the next board meeting.

The board officially approved a gift of $1,000 from the Ann Arbor Litho Club. The gift will be used for the graphics class.

The board approved recently revised business education course descriptions.

The board approved the recently revised high school English course descriptions.

The board approved the recently revised technical education course descriptions.

The board approved a statement of policy prohibiting sexual harassment in employment.

The board approved the creation of a citizens committee to review the school district's space needs.

The board convened in executive session, subsequently reconvened in public session, and agreed to interview seven candidates for the superintendency, as follows: Gary R. Davis, Robert D. Fein, Michael J. LeBay, John L. LaSotta, Douglas W. Sasse, Joseph K. Piasecki, and Robert D. Spencer. The interview schedule is as follows:

Jan. 27, 6:30 p.m., Gary R. Davis; 8:30 p.m., Michael J. LeBay.

Jan. 29, 6:30 p.m., Douglas W. Sasse; 8:30 p.m., John LaSotta.

Jan. 30, 9 a.m., Robert D. Spencer; 11 a.m., Robert D. Fein.

Feb. 3, 6:30 p.m., Joseph K. Piasecki.

Meeting adjourned at 11 p.m.

Habitat for endangered species is by no means limited to isolated, exotic locales. According to National Wildlife magazine, endangered piping plovers live near runways at Kennedy International Airport. And much of the world's only remaining population of the flowering herb, sand plain gerardia, is found in some historic Massachusetts cemeteries.

Desserts With Girl Scout Cookies

Most Girl Scout cookies are eaten so fast there is no time to do anything else with them. However, for those who have will power, or order a large number, there are many uses for the cookies in dessert recipes. Below are two such recipes using Girl Scout cookies: Chocolate Mint Squares and English Trifle. The first is a particular favorite of Girl Scout media representative Lois Kapp.

Chocolate Mint Squares

6 tablespoons margarine
2 oz. (two squares) chocolate
¾ cup sugar
2 large eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups Thin Mints, crushed

Melt margarine and chocolate over low heat, stir until smooth. Remove from heat. Stir in eggs, sugar, and vanilla just until well blended. Stir in crushed Thin Mints. Spread in greased 8-inch square pan and bake in preheated oven at 325 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes or until firm to the touch. Cool in pan and cut into squares.

English Trifle

1 box Lemon Pastry Cremes
1 (5¼ oz.) or 2 (3½ oz.) boxes of Lemon or Vanilla Instant Pie or Pudding Mix
3-4 cups cold milk

1 can (11 oz.) mandarin oranges, drained
1 bowl (8 oz.) non-dairy whipped topping or 2 cups whipped cream
Garnish-non-paniels or blanched silvered almonds

Place a layer of cookies on the bottom of a 9-inch square or round pan. Prepare pudding mix as directed on package and pour half over the cookies. Spread orange sections in the next layer, and cover with a layer of cookies. Pour the rest of the pudding over the cookie mixture and spread whipped cream on top of the pudding. Sprinkle with non-paniels or blanched silvered almonds.
Chill one or more hours.

Vo-Ed Students Display Their Skills at Arborland

Home building, sheep shearing, blood pressure checks, computer programming and more will be demonstrated by vocational education students at Arborland Consumers Mall Feb. 5-7. Demonstrations, displays and drawings for free prizes will be featured throughout the weekend, beginning at 6 p.m. Friday, Feb. 5 and ending 5 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 7.

Students, teachers and administrators are bringing vocational education to the mall to give area residents a glimpse of the kind of training more than 2,000 students are presently receiving in 20 different vocational programs throughout the county.

Local vocational educators feel vocational education should be a part of everyone's high school experience. "The skills learned in vocational education are useful whether a young person goes to work right out of high school or enters college," noted Dave Mieras, assistant superintendent for the South and West Washtenaw Consortium.

Using the machine tool program as an example, Mieras noted that learning to read a blueprint is just as critical for a future engineer as it is for a future lathe operator.

And, what about those students who have yet to decide on a career? "Vocational education classes are a great way for students to explore occupations—to find out if they really are interested in that career area," Mieras added.

The Feb. 5-7 Arborland display kicks off National Vocational Education Week which is Feb. 7-13. It is sponsored by Ann Arbor Public Schools, the Regional Career Technical Center, South and West Washtenaw Consortium, Whitmore Lake Public Schools, Washtenaw Community College (WCC) and Washtenaw Intermediate School District (WISD).

Two Chosen To Apply for Honor Society Scholarships

Each year 450 seniors from various National Honor Society chapters across the nation receive a $1,000 scholarship to be used at any school of higher education. Each chapter is allowed to pick two students to apply for the National NHS Scholarship.

Chelsea selected its two applicants through an advisory council which is made up of department heads and administrators at the high school. The council carefully assessed each senior member of its Charles S. Cameron chapter for two who best represent the qualities of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. This year the advisory council chose Patrick Gustine and Alisha Dorow.

Patrick has been finalist for the Michigan Math Prize Competition for two years. He plans to attend the University of Michigan in the fall and to become a radiologist. Patrick is the son of Larry and Susan Gustine.

Alisha is the secretary of the National Honor Society. She was a tri-captain of the 1987 cross-country team, and the shortstop on the varsity softball team. She plans to attend Penn State in the fall. Alisha is the daughter of Deborah and Charles Kearney.

Kristen Roberts Signs Delayed Enlistment With Air Force

Kristen S. Roberts, the daughter of Gerald D. Roberts of 19693 Old US-12, Chelsea, and Sharon B. Roberts of 148 Van Buren, Chelsea, has entered the United States Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Staff Sergeant Janice Edmond, Air Force recruiter in Ann Arbor, Kristen's entry into the DEP allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for her to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area.

Ms. Roberts will be a 1988 graduate of Chelsea High school and will enter the Regular Air Force on Dec. 5.

Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., she will receive technical training in the general aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

A DIVISION ONE rating was earned by this brass quartet from Beach Middle school at last Saturday's Junior High Solo and Ensemble Festival at Franklin High school. ### Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Once again, the Governor is proposing a "lean" budget for the state of Michigan.

However, what he is not telling you is that state spending from state resources has increased 50.7 percent in the five years that he has been governor.

The Governor also proposes new programs. How will he pay for them at the same time promising "no new taxes"? Two ways in which he recommends doing this are:

1) Closing Loopholes—This is a euphemism for raising taxes. He proposes to tax business, insurance companies, financial institutions, military, lottery winners and garbage collections.

2) An $800 Million Bonding Program—This means $800 million spent today by selling bonds will be paid by our children and our children's children.

Isn't it time the Governor and the Legislature began cutting wasteful spending instead of increasing taxes?

AIDS Seminar Slated By Health Department

Sooner or later, AIDS will touch your company with fears, rumors or actual illness.

Even now, people are asking, "Can I get AIDS at work? Is it safe to use the water fountains and toilets? What can I do if a colleague is bleeding because of a worksite accident?"

The "AIDS in the Workplace" seminar, co-sponsored by the Washtenaw County Health Department's Work-Well program and the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce, will help employers separate the myths from the facts about the transmission of the AIDS virus and deal with the legal and insurance aspects associated with the illness.

Employers who attend "AIDS in the Workplace: Facts Every Employer Should Consider" will be prepared to provide reliable information, to calm employee fears, and to devise an AIDS policy for dealing with exposed or infected employees.

Speakers will include Cynthia Wrentmore, co-ordinator of communicable diseases, Washtenaw County Health Department, and Ed Goldman, attorney for the University of Michigan Medical Center.

The seminar is tentatively scheduled for March 24, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

For more information, please call Dr. Elizabeth Barkan at 971-4741.

Auction To Climax Gambling For Monte Carlo Millionaires

Close to $250 million dollars of money (minted especially for the occasion) will go into action at the Monte Carlo gaming tables Saturday night.

The scene will be the American Legion Home at 1700 Ridge Rd.

Players will do their best to increase their initial stakes of play money with good fortune at craps and blackjack. They want to be loaded for the ensuing auction which begins at midnight. There they will bid against each other for a host of real and valuable prizes donated by local merchants, business owners and friends.

Anyone who enjoys games of chance in the company of neighbors can join the fun for $5 which entitles them to $1 million in play money.

Monte Carlo night is sponsored by American Legion Post 31 and the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club to raise money for the organizations' programs. Included are various charitable activities, many of which are for the benefit of boys and girls, churches and schools.

The Legion Winter Carnival is a three-day event at Post 31 which begins with a euchre tournament on the night of Friday, Feb. 5 at 7:30. The tourney will be under the direction of John Popovich and will feature cash prizes.

Saturday and Sunday an ice fishing derby will be held on Cavanaugh Lake with prizes in the pike, perch and pan-fish categories for adult fishers, and separate prizes in the same categories for boys and girls under 12. Free instruction, for any entrant who wants it, will be provided by two advisors from the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club—Kimble Bear and Rick Pickell.

Saturday night is Monte Carlo and Sunday afternoon the Legion will offer dancing from 2 to 5 with no admission charge. Music will be provided by the Ruby, Kanten, Simms Group who have achieved fame and popularity during previous appearances in Chelsea.

The millionaire players at the Monte Carlo will be served royally by a staff of 45 men and women recruited by the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club. Over-all planning (plus additional duties) was carried out by Dave Stoll, Tom Smith, Rolly Spaulding and Bob Bauer. One of their major accomplishments was getting contributions from merchants and others to ensure a lively auction.

Ticket sales at the door will be managed by Bob and Mary Bauer.

Floor walkers, to make sure that all guests are happy, will be Ron Brugh, Don Bell and Bev Wisniewski.

At the bar will be Charlie Fredette and Leonard Hafner.

Pit bosses, to see that all tables are supplied with chips and money, are Ron and Edna Hatch, together with Ken and Jan McGrath.

Manning the crap tables will be Fred Mills, Tom Dault, Matt Murphy, Hal Pennington and Jim Mynning.

Dealers of blackjack, as well as 7-over-and-under, will include the services of Ken McCalla, Jim Bauer, Art Dils, Don Bush, Dean Thompson, Rod Sweeny, Pete Flintoft, Ken Unterbrink, Jerry Harfnerschmidt, Norm Bathes, and Don and Arnette Pacheco.

Also serving as dealer will be Mel Leach, Barb Leach, Jon Spaulding, Tom Dane, Neil Grob, Rube Lesser, Pam Kennedy, Kimble Bear, Walt Schrader, Leo Wroubel, Tony Wisniewski, Dave Rank and Rick Pickell.

In charge of public relations were Will Connelly and Pat Merkel.

Bulldogs!

Chelsea Wrestlers End Dual Meet Season With Pair of SEC Victories

Chelsea Bulldog varsity wrestlers concluded their regular season last week with dual meet victories over Pinckney and Tecumseh and a second-place finish at the Dexter Invitational tournament.

"We finished at 9-3 in dual meets and that's a pretty good season," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"We're performing well in tournaments, too, although we can't seem to get anyone in the finals. We're getting a lot of third and fourth places. Next year with a little maturity and a little practice we should have some guys in the finals."

Chelsea started the week with a 52-15 win over the Pirates on Tuesday, Jan. 26 as the Bulldogs won 10 of 13 matches.

"I thought it would be a lot closer," Kargel said.

"Earlier in the season, Pinckney had tied Dexter going into the heavyweight match. It just turned out that our tough kids matched with their tough kids and our tough kids won."

Results of the meet follow.

98 pounds: Kelly Beard (C) won via forfeit.

105 pounds: Eric Hanna (C) defeated Eric Boving 13-2.

112 pounds: Alan Hanna (C) pinned Dustin Schert in :31.

119 pounds: Reno Nye (C) lost to Joe Solecki, 9-8.

126 pounds: Craig McCalla (C) beat Scott Mannor 9-6.

132 pounds: Robert Kornel (C) pinned Ted Troy in 4:13.

138 pounds: Doug Wingrove (C) pinned Cory Schingel in 2:21.

145 pounds: Dean Sutherland (C) won a technical fall over Jeff Young, 20-4.

155 pounds: Gary Dosey (C) won a 7-6 decision over James Knight.

167 pounds: Bill Dixon (C) was pinned by Rocky Lane in 4:43.

185 pounds: Tim VanSchöck (C) pinned Jim Van Gordon in 4:31.

198 pounds: Todd Thurkow (C) pinned Rob Riggs in 1:27.

Heavyweight: Mike Taylor (C) was pinned by Rob Prucka in 3:25.

"Pinckney had quite a few seniors so it was good to beat a more experienced team," Kargel said.

Taylor's pin at heavyweight proved to be the deciding match as the Bulldogs edged the Tecumseh Indians on Thursday, Jan. 28 by a 32-29 score.

Chelsea was down 29-26 going into Taylor's match.

"There was a lot of emotion to the meet and the kids got real excited," Kargel said.

"I was concerned because we had one wrestler out with the flu and another out with an injury. Kelly Beard did a real good job at 98 pounds by not getting pinned. The Holderman kid had pinned him earlier in the season. That saved us three points."

Results of the meet follow.

98 pounds: Beard (C) lost 12-5 decision to Jeff Holderman.

105 pounds: E. Hanna (C) won a 7-1 decision over Gaylin Wilkins.

112 pounds: A. Hanna (C) lost 7-6 to Paul Lorchon.

119 pounds: Nye (C) tied Kevin Sherman, 8-8.

126 pounds: McCalla (C) lost 5-1 to Kip O'Leary.

132 pounds: Kornel (C) pinned Tim Simpson in 1:15.

138 pounds: Jim Hassett (C) was pinned by Chris Alal in 3:21.

145 pounds: Sutherland (C) lost an 8-3 decision to Doug Hurst.

155 pounds: Dosey (C) pinned Buddy Alan in 3:13.

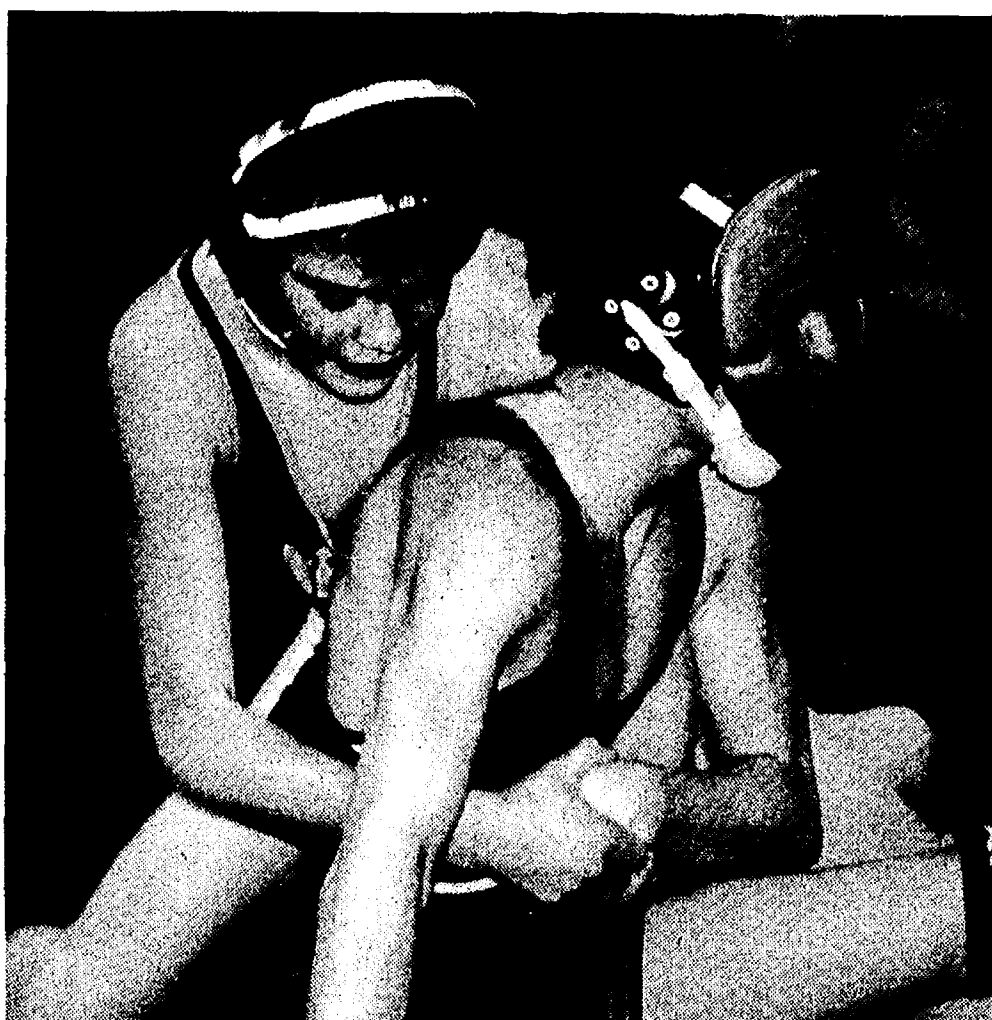

167 pounds: Dixon (C) pinned Tom Schmacher in :46.

185 pounds: VanSchoick (C) pinned Jeff Dowling in 3:41.

198 pounds: Thurkow (C) was pinned by Brad Scudder in 1:27.

Heavyweight: Taylor (C) pinned Dale Beauin in 3:00.

Six Chelsea wrestlers placed at the Dexter Invitational, a tournament won fairly easily by the hosts.

BULLDOG KELLY BEARD, left, took third place at last Saturday's Dexter Invitational and helped his team to a second-place finish.

The Dreadnaughts finished with 156 points and Chelsea was second with 114 points.

"My five gunners who normally do well didn't place," Kargel said.

"If they had placed we probably would have won the meet."

Beard, Nye, Kornel and Dosey all took third place medals. Alan Hanna and Sutherland finished fourth.

After opening with a loss to the top seed at 98 pounds, Beard finished with three straight victories, including two pins in his final two matches.

Hanna, at 112 pounds, was 3-2 on the day, recording wins via a pin and two decisions. He also lost two decisions.

Nye recorded a 3-1 record at 119 pounds, with his only defeat coming in his second match. He pinned his opponent in his final match.

Kornel was 4-1 for the afternoon. Only a 9-5 loss in his third match kept him out of the finals at 126 pounds.

A two-point loss, 14-12, in his second match at 145 pounds kept Sutherland out of the finals. He finished 2-2 on the day, winning 7-5 and 5-2 decisions.

Dosey was 4-1 at 155 pounds, with the only blemish in his third match where he lost 16-0. He won three decisions and pinned his opponent in his final match.

The Southeastern Conference tournament is Saturday at Saline. It begins a long post-season schedule of tournaments.

Junior Bulldogs Whip Hornets On The Road

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity basketball team dominated the Saline Hornets from the opening tip-off and cruised to a 71-55 victory in Saline last Friday.

"It was maybe the best we've played all year and we got good games from every position," said Chelsea coach Jeff Dils.

"We moved the ball well, hustled all over the floor, and hit our shots. And our defense forced some turnovers. I didn't expect us to have the confidence we had after our loss to Pinckney last week."

Chelsea held a 15-12 first quarter lead and expanded the gap to 34-23 at the intermission. Saline closed to within six points in the third quarter, but the Bulldogs quickly widened the lead back to 10 points and were never seriously threatened.

Chelsea shot 51 percent from the field, their best performance this season. Brian Burg and Kerry Plank scored 15 and 20 points, respectively, from the post. Kyle Plank played his first game at point guard and ran the team effectively, Dils said.

"One of the keys for us was our bench play," Dils said.

"Butch Michaud, Sinisa Janicevic and Phil Eassa all played extremely well. Sinisa had steals off the pass and Eassa played about as well as he can play."

Chad Raymond also had his best night of the season with 10 points.

Rounding out the scoring were Eassa with seven points, Kyle Plank with five, Chris Wilson and Michaud with four each, and Erich Hammer, Brandon Murrell and Janicevic with two each.

Chelsea shot 17-26 (65 percent) from the free throw line. The Dogs also held a 39-27 rebound advantage.

Chelsea is 5-2 in the Southeastern Conference and 6-6 over-all.

7-8 Wrestlers Whip Dexter And Dundee

Beach Middle school's Bullpup wrestling team whipped Dexter and Dundee in separate dual meets last week.

The Pups knocked off Dexter, 58-15, on Tuesday, Jan. 26. Winners for Chelsea included Dave Issel, 70 pounds; Kevin Rose, 82 pounds; Terry Reynolds, 89 pounds; John Heller, 96 pounds; Kevin McCalla, 101 pounds; Adam Taylor, 137 pounds; Neil Klink, 145 pounds; Steve Martin, 155 pounds; Matt Gaken, 167 pounds; and Mike Terpstra, heavyweight.

On Thursday, Jan. 26, the Pups whipped Dundee, 58-18.

Recording wins were Reynolds, McCalla, Taylor, Klink, Martin, Gaken and Terpstra, as well as Jeff Holzhausen at 122 pounds.

JV Wrestlers Place in Tourney

Six Chelsea junior varsity wrestlers placed at the Napoleon Junior Varsity Invitational last Saturday.

Carl Wickman at 98 pounds was Chelsea's lone champion of the day. Teammate Bryce Hanson was second, also at 98 pounds.

Taking third places were Jim Hasset at 138 pounds, Matt Herter at 155 pounds and Pat Hasset at 167 pounds.

Dan Bowling at 145 pounds finished fourth.

Chelsea Cagers Lose To Hornets By 27 Points

By Brian Hamilton

A combination of timely perimeter shooting, physical inside play and scorching free throw shooting on the part of the Saline Hornets gave the Chelsea Bulldogs their eighth consecutive loss last Friday in Saline, 71-44.

Hornet guards Craig Quick and Kyle Brunner combined for four three-point field goals, which opened up the inside for forward Rob Hughes, who finished with a team-high 16 points. In addition, the Hornets sank 29 of 32 free throws, including 14 straight in the second half. Hughes, Quick, Brunner and Brandon White were a perfect 24-24 from the line.

"Their outside-inside play was a tough combination to beat," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond, whose team dropped to 1-6 in the Southeastern Conference.

"Defensively we actually did a pretty decent job."

Chelsea jumped out to a 5-0 lead and looked as though they might provide a serious challenge. However, Saline out-scored the Dogs 20-2 over the next five minutes and Chelsea could never recover.

Their woes continued into the second quarter as the Dogs failed to even get a shot off in five of their first seven possessions, mostly the result of bad passes.

Even the usual second-half Bulldog rally failed to materialize and Saline added to its 25-11 first-quarter lead throughout the rest of the game.

The Bulldogs were open for the kind of shots they wanted but simply didn't make them, Raymond said. Chad Starkey was the only Dog with more than two field goals and finished with a team-high 12 points. The team shot 28 percent for the game.

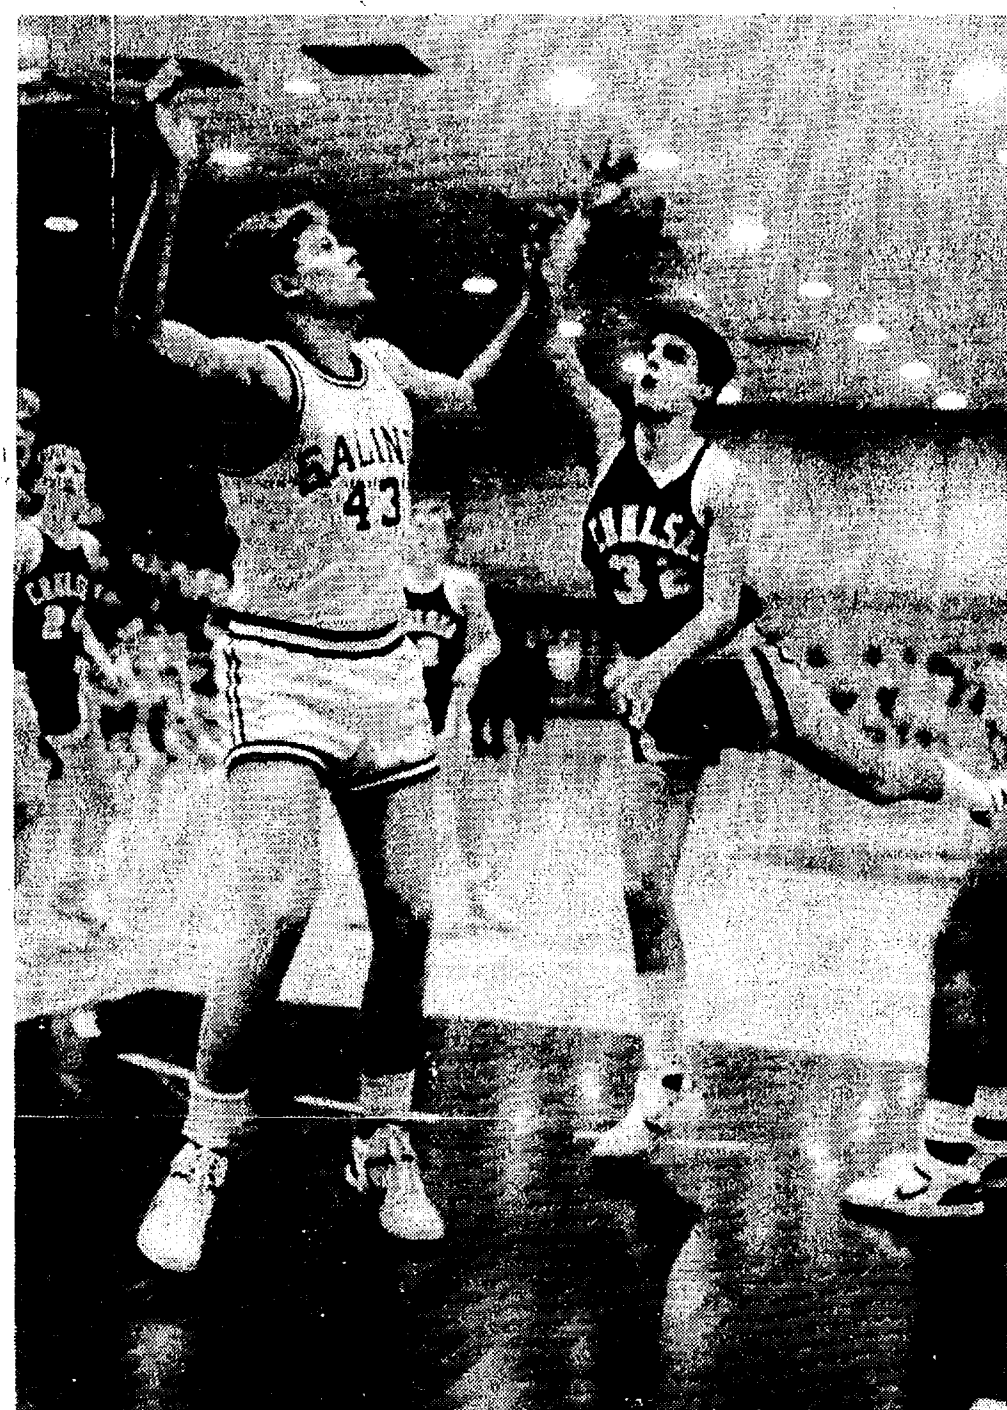

In addition, Chelsea had trouble at the foul line, making 19 of 37 shots, including four one-and-one tries in the second quarter.

"John Cattell was a good leader at point guard and we ran the offense better than at any time this year and offensively did exactly what we wanted to do," Raymond said.

"We knew what kind of zone defense they were going to play but we didn't catch the passes inside the zone. It all comes down to putting the ball in the basket, and we didn't do it."

Starkey was the only Bulldog scorer in double figures and had Chelsea's only three-point field goal.

MATT MONROE drives the lane for a shot over Saline center Jeff Davis during first-half action last Friday. Chelsea came out strong and took a 5-0 lead before the Hornets warmed up and buried the Bulldogs.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

These are hard times for Chelsea High school basketball fans. The varsity team is struggling and will probably be lucky to win as many as five games. They have occasionally been painful to watch. They go through streaks of throwing the ball away five or six times in a row. They go through other streaks of missing 10 or 12 shots in a row. It seems like most of the time they're down by 20 points and trying to rally. Sometimes they look like they're playing in the wrong league, or maybe in the wrong level.

But you gotta like this team anyway. Coach Robin Raymond is, as far as I can tell, as enthusiastic as he was during the first game of the season. Remember that? Way back when the Bulldogs shellacked Brooklyn Columbia Central. Boy does that seem like a long time ago, about 600 diapers ago (forgive me, new fathers sometimes think in odd terms).

The players, too, never look like they're just going through the motions, although they certainly have every reason to. When you're 2-10, sometimes the season can never be short enough. You begin crossing off games on the calendar rather than looking forward to the next one.

The Bulldogs have to be the hardest-working 2-10 team I've ever seen. It's unfortunate that hard work doesn't always translate into a "W".

But to a whole lot of kids in Chelsea it doesn't matter what kind of season the Bulldogs are having. That was pretty evident last Saturday as I was watching the Biddy Basketball program at the high school.

Second through sixth grade youngsters were being taught the fundamentals of the game by the varsity underclassmen. Each player had a group of youngsters whom he instructed in defense, dribbling and a variety of other drills.

And believe me, it was obvious from the awe in their eyes exactly who the kids idolized. It wasn't Raymond and it wasn't Jim Tallman, who were both on hand.

It was their Friday night heroes. It was the guys who put on the uniforms and are cheered by the crowd. It was the guys who have a chance to make the big baskets the young ones practice making on their driveway courts.

If Junior Morseau or John Collins or Chad Starkey had told the kids that the key to good basketball is playing with your hand on your head every kid in the gym would have asked which hand. If their fathers had given them the same advice, the kids would have said "well I never saw Larry Nix do that."

Having the varsity players run the program instills a lot of enthusiasm in the kids. Many of the children will probably remember the experience long after they've quit playing basketball, which hopefully will be sometime after high school or even college.

I hope the varsity kids will come back in six, seven or eight years and take a look at the kids they've helped out.

Chances are they'll be able to say, "we were never this good," and feel a sense of accomplishment. And maybe the hard times won't seem so hard after all.

CHAD STARKEY gives a little instruction in the art of dribbling to one of the 106 boys who are participating in the Biddy Basketball program this winter. Varsity underclassmen are instructing the program. The youngsters will have a chance to play at half-time of one of the remaining varsity games.

Tankers Sink Dexter, Dundee, Take Second at Own Invitational

Chelsea Bulldog swim team had a busy week with a double dual victory over Dexter and Dundee last Tuesday, Jan. 26 and a second place in their own invitational on Saturday, Jan. 30.

The Bulldogs defeated Dexter 61-19 and Dundee 51-32. The two wins evened up Chelsea's dual-meet record at 3-3-1.

"I was pleased with the outcome of the meet, we needed those wins, as the kids were getting a little down with the tough schedule we have been swimming," said coach Mike Keeler.

"I felt that both Dexter and Dundee both swam well, especially Dexter who got their first state qualifier ever in Dave Karns."

The line score was as follows:

200-yard medley relay: Chelsea A (Brett Paddock, Matt Doan, Kevin Brock, Chris Birtles), 1:49.56; Chelsea B (Terry Draper, Howard Merkel, Lloyd Brown, Wally Schmid), 1:53.75.

200-yard freestyle: Garth Girard, 2:01.86; Charlie Hosner 2:04.03.

200-yard individual medley: Brock, 2:16.60; Paddock, 2:19.88.

50-yard freestyle: Von Acker, 24.20; Tyler Lewis, 24.38.

100-yard butterfly: Brock, 1:00.90; Acker, 1:02.96.

100-yard freestyle: Doan, :53.01; Birtles, :57.04.

500-yard freestyle: Girard, 5:30.82; Joe Huettelman, 6:03.01.

100-yard backstroke: Paddock, 1:02.49; Draper, 1:09.24.

100-yard breaststroke: Doan, 1:09.27; David Oesterle, 1:09.15.

400-yard freestyle relay: Chelsea A (Acker, Birtles, Lewis, Girard), 3:41.92; Chelsea B (Hosner, Brian Brock, Huettelman, Marsh, 4:01.51.

At the Chelsea Invitational on Saturday, the dogs were plagued by relay disqualifications and came in second to a powerful Novi squad, 215-165.

"I was very pleased with our performance in the water. We hadn't had any problems with starts all year until this meet, but we will definitely be doing some extra work Monday on starts and especially relay starts," Keeler said.

The meet was scored differently than the traditional way. The scoring system was designed so that every swimmer and diver had the potential to score first-place points if they won their heat in their event.

The results were as follows:

200-yard medley relay: 4. Chelsea B (Holden Haggis, Merkel, Brown, Scott Sheffield), 1:58.12.

200-yard freestyle: 3. Girard, 2:01.56; 10. Huettelman, 2:10.68; 11. Scott Marsh 2:11.30.

200-yard individual medley: 4. Brock, 2:19.48; 5. Oesterle, 2:21.78; 6. Paddock, 2:23.41; Exhibition: B. Brock, 2:29.59; Harris, 2:35.39;

Frosh Cagers Plagued By Injuries in Loss

Injuries and foul problems played a key role in the Chelsea Bulldog freshman basketball team's 67-49 loss to Milan on Monday, Jan. 25.

Tucker Steele and Jeremy Stephens were injured and could not play, and Jude Quilter played less than six minutes in the first half due to foul problems.

Consequently, the Bulldogs fell behind 37-18 by half-time. The teams played even basketball in the second half.

"We were out-manned during the second quarter and 32 turnovers for the game proved too much to overcome," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter.

"However, from a coaching standpoint I saw an awful lot of good to build on. Matt Steinaway and Chris Haugen accepted responsibility and played their best games so far. Brian Bell did a good job for his first start."

Steinaway helped beat the press, scored six points and grabbed 12 rebounds. Haugen scored 10 points and chipped in on the board with seven rebounds. Bell scored two points and had three rebounds.

Despite sitting out most of the first half and scoring no points, Jude Quilter finished the game with 22 points and 15 rebounds.

"I am positive about this team but

CHAD STARKEY'S JUMP SHOT proved to be the Bulldogs' most potent weapon at Saline last Friday. Starkey finished with 12 points and was the only Bulldog in double figures.

Cagers Thumped

Kevan Flanagan and Jeff Marshall each scored six, Cattell had five, Matt Monroe and Tim Anderson scored four each, Greg Boughton, Junior Morseau and Larry Nix scored two each, and John Collins scored one point. Collins was recovering from the flu.

Chelsea travels to Milan on Friday for a rematch with the only SEC team they've beaten this season. That victory was decided by a dramatic three-point field goal at the buzzer by Morseau.

Winter Fishing Can Now Be More Than A Hole in the Ice

Winter fishing: it's more than just a hole in the ice.

In Michigan, charterboat fishing—once only a warm-weather sport—is rapidly becoming a ski-season activity.

Just a few examples: aboard Capt. Emil Dean's James R you can ply the rivers of western Michigan in comfort, fishing for steelhead and salmon from the deck and stepping inside for warmth and comfort, a cup of coffee, a bowl of soup, and a panoramic view of the shoreline any time you choose.

Dick Rang's drift boat plies the waters of Michigan's famed AuSable River all winter long, while Chuck Knipshild's covered river boat works the St. Joseph.

With many of the 36,000 miles of rivers and streams (including the Grand, the Muskegon, and the Betsie) beckoning, Michigan offers a myriad of opportunities to the angler who can't wait for spring and who is on the lookout for a different experience.

The typical winter river charter is a so-called drift boat, 18-20 feet long and powered by an outboard or in-board/outboard motor or by jet drive (a propulsion system particularly suited to coping with winter obstacles).

As the name implies, the captain usually heads upstream—as much as 30 miles above the ultimate destination—and then drifts downstream, guiding the boat over the many deep holes where brown trout and steelhead spend their winter after spawning. Here experience and intuition take over from the electronic fish-finding gear usually associated with charter fishing.

Anyone going it alone should be an experienced boater. A cold Michigan river is no place for a novice. Experts advise fishing the outside bends of the river—that's where the deep holes and the wintering fish are to be found. Waders should be well-insulated and anglers are advised that it is always best not to go out alone in winter.

Those who know say that everyone should try traditional ice fishing at least once. Michigan offers 40,000 square miles of Great Lakes water—er, ice—and more than 11,000 inland lakes.

The ice fishing season starts when the ice is solid enough to walk on—usually early January—and ends in mid- to late March. On the Great Lakes the safest ice is to be found in the bays and harbors (Grand Traverse, Whitefish, and Saginaw Bays, for example). If there is any doubt about ice conditions, local or state authorities such as police, the Department of Natural Resources, regional tourist associations, chambers of commerce, or radio stations should be queried.

Specialized ice fishing equipment, such as tip-ups, spuds, heaters, and clothing, is available at hardware, tackle, and sporting goods stores. Publications that offer basic information and finer points are as important as the equipment itself. They may be obtained from the library, the DNR, or an equipment dealer.

Ice fishing guides, like the charter boat captain, can make the difference between success and failure. They know equipment and the good locations. In many cases they will have equipment that goes along with their services. Shanties are often a part of the guide's package. To find a professional guide ask local bait and tackle dealers or consult a local newspaper.

Such inland lakes as Houghton in the lower peninsula will yield traditional pan fish—crappie, bluegill, and perch, as well as northern pike and walleye. In the Upper Peninsula anglers bring plenty of line and go deep for whitefish in Whitefish Bay. In Lakes Erie and St. Clair, perch and walleye abound. Huron has more of the same, along with the stubborn steelhead. Lake Michigan's Grand Traverse Bay has most of everything—including whitefish.

Time continues to show that the best source of good fishing information comes from the local residents. Most communities will welcome inquiries at restaurants, hardware and tackle stores and, chambers of commerce.

Michigan requires all anglers to obtain a fishing license. Failure to buy a license could result in an expensive fine. License revenues finance such things as fishing education and the Michigan fisheries programs.

In hiring a professional charter or guide, some important questions should be asked:

- Are local overnight accommodations available?
- What is the travel time to the fishing location?
- What types of clothing should be worn?
- Is there a local fishing license agent?
- Should a lunch be brought?

For more information about winter charters, obtain the Michigan Charterbook, Fishing and Specialty Charters Reference Guide. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources prints a pamphlet called The Handbook for Ice Fishermen. Both may be obtained by calling the Michigan Travel Bureau at 1-800-5432-YES.

"WINTER OTTER," a pastel over acrylic rendition of a river otter by Richard Pas has been chosen for top honors in the Michigan Wildlife Artist competition.

Repeat Winner Named Wildlife Artist of Year

A 29-year-old commercial artist from Genesee county is Michigan's Wildlife Artist of the Year for 1987.

Richard Pas walked off with top honors in the eighth annual wildlife art competition sponsored by Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC). His pastel over acrylic rendition of a river otter entitled "Winter Otter" was the first-place choice among the 74 works submitted by artists from around the state.

This marks the second time that Pas has won Michigan Wildlife Artist of the Year honors. His mixed media rendition of a pair of drake pintail ducks took first place in the competition in 1982.

Pas, a technical artist from Burton, will receive a check for $2,000 from MUCC and will have his prize-winning painting reproduced on the cover of the December issue of Michigan Out-of-Doors, MUCC's monthly magazine. Pas' painting also will be reproduced on the cover of the 1989 Michigan Out-of-Doors Wildlife Art Calendar, which will be available from MUCC in October, 1988.

MUCC will issue a limited edition of 750 prints of "Winter Otter" signed and numbered by the artist. The prints will be offered at a special pre-publication price of $55, plus $9 tax and shipping for orders received by Nov. 15. After that date, the price will be $70, plus $9 for tax and shipping. Orders for the prints should be directed to the MUCC, P.O. Box 30235, Lansing 48909.

Proceeds from the sale of the prints help support MUCC's resource conservation and environmental education programs across the state.

Other artists in the top five in this year's competition were: Charles DeNault, Sr., of Hope, second; Michael Calandra of Monroe, third; Dietmar Krumrey of Manistique, and Gijbert Van Frankenhuyzen of Bath tied for the fourth-place finish.

MUCC is the largest non-profit state federation of conservation and sportsmen's organizations in the nation. It is dedicated to furthering the cause of the environment and the conservation and to promoting programs designed to educate citizens in natural resource conservation and environmental protection and enhancement.

Agriculture Census Forms Due Feb. 1

Farmers who received census of agriculture forms have until Feb. 1 to respond, according to Michigan Farm Bureau's director of information and public relations Mike Kovacic. About two million farmers across the nation, several thousand in Michigan, received census forms.

"The agricultural census is taken every five years," Kovacic said. "It's been going on since 1840. It was conducted every 10 years until 1920, and beginning in 1925 went to every five years. With the rapid changes occurring in agriculture, the data gained from the census becomes increasingly important."

Kovacic said the data from the census is used by farm organizations, Congress, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, universities and agribusinesses.

"Farm organizations use the data to develop programs and services to meet the changing needs of their members. Congress uses it to help design farm programs and evaluate their effectiveness. USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Services use it to plan operations during emergency outbreaks or infestation of pests in animals and plants. Universities use the data in teaching and research on rural trends, adjustments and policies, and agribusinesses use it to identify sales territories and determine the most effective locations for retail outlets," he said.

Farmers should not be reluctant to share information with the Census Bureau, Kovacic said.

Humane Society
Names Director
Of Development

The Humane Society of Huron Valley has announced the arrival of its new director of development.

Ms. Jean Green began her role on Jan. 4 and is responsible for directing an integrated development program in support of HSHV. "She comes well prepared for this challenge, as she was most recently employed with the Ann Arbor Area Chamber of Commerce as the vice-president of membership," comments Carole J. Huston, executive director of HSHV.

Ms. Green's broad network of business and professional contacts will serve her well in her new position at HSHV. "My aim is to approach area businesses in support of the Humane Society of Huron Valley, as we rely heavily upon the community to continue our work for the animals," states Ms. Green. As an independent, non-profit organization, HSHV depends almost entirely upon private funding to help maintain its facility and to provide high-quality care for its animals.

A long-time resident of Ann Arbor, Ms. Green has one dog of her own. She holds an undergraduate degree from Siena Heights College in Adrian, and has completed graduate coursework in education at Wayne State University. She has also travelled extensively in Europe through several educational and teaching grants.

Covenant Church Names Churchmen of the Year

At the annual meeting of the Covenant church congregation Jan. 31, pastor Ron Smeenge named the two recipients of the Churchmen of the Year award. Charlie Winans and Larry Wiedmayer received gifts and acknowledgments for their dedicated service to the ministry of the Covenant community.

Charlie Winans has been the head usher and directs the acolyte program. Larry Wiedmayer has served as treasurer and member of the church council.

Last year's awards had been given to Betty Koch, Marilyn Ratzlaff and Doug Warren. The initial person honored was Marge Wiedmayer. Pastor Smeenge inaugurated this program three years ago to show appreciation for those who were making significant contributions to church life.

Betty Koch, current president of the church council presided at the brief business meeting following regular worship services. Reports were received from all phases of the church ministry and the annual budget for church operating expenses was approved at $53,000. Other business included the announcement that there would be a March business meeting to adopt recommended changes in the constitution. Significant items of change are restructuring the church election year and the status of membership.

Plans were laid for the beginning of the new parking lot. According to a motion by Claude Arnett, work on grading and filling will commence as soon as weather permits. Oliver Walker will assist in overseeing the work detail. The church expects to invest in excess of $3,000 in this project, according to Arnett. A gift from the Ruth Loeffler estate is getting the funding off the ground.

One of the people, Emilio Diaz, 26, was found to be wanted on the charges after a computer search by Chelsea police. Emilio Diaz turned out to be an alias for Pablo Diaz. He was also known to go by the name of Jesus Perez, police said.

Methodist Retirement Home Receives Synthesizer

Chelsea United Methodist Home is the owner of a new synthesizer thanks to Ann Arbor Boy Scout Troop No. 4. The scouts raised the money for the synthesizer and are planning to soon make a trip to the home to show the residents how to use it.

The scouts also purchased a synthesizer for Glacier Hills Nursing Center in Ann Arbor.

Last summer, the scouts took wheel-chair bound Glacier Hills residents for walks on the grounds and assisted with various activities. One evening, scout Kevin Busch brought his new synthesizer to provide music for a party. The residents were intrigued that not only could they play a tune, but they could be creative and develop a musical timbre that fit. From this experience, the group recognized that synthesizers, which are often thought of as associated with rock music, have potential to stimulate people who are in an institution like a nursing home.

During November the troop undertook a fund raising drive to purchase a synthesizer for Glacier Hills and received double their goal. In addition, the president of a synthesizer manufacturing company, Roland Corp., expressed interest in the project when he learned about it on a business trip to Detroit in November. As a result of his interest, the troop was able to purchase two professional quality synthesizers with the funds they raised.

Girl Scouts Kick-Off Cookie Sale with Magic Show

On Thursday, Jan. 14, Girl Scouts from Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Pinckney, and Gregory attended a special "Go for the Gold: 1988 Cookie Sale Kick-Off" at Chelsea High School. The special program was a magic show performed by Daryl Hurst.

The Scouts especially enjoyed the way Hurst involved them in his magic tricks. All 320 called out in great enthusiasm with suggestions for the way the magic tricks should be done.

Chelsea Brownies helped in a trick by shuffling a large imaginary deck of cards and picking the card that would appear in the deck magically isolated in the deck on stage.

Chelsea Junior Leader Norma Tripp participated in a trick by literally giving Hurst her hand inserted in the fancy carrot chopper, which cut just the carrots and left Tripp's hand in one piece—much to the relief of her troop.

The symbol for the cookie campaign is the Panda Bear. Chelsea's special Panda mascot, Linda Gustafson, field director for Western Washtenaw, participated in the magic show by assisting Hurst with his tricks and aiding the Scouts on and off the stage for several magic tricks. "Panda" is probably the only living levitation panda bear in the U.S. and received many hugs for her bravery from the Scouts.

Before leaving, each Scout received a magic trick which Hurst taught them to do successfully. Lois Ann Kapp, Girl Scout media representative, reported, "So in all, the magic show was 90 minutes of complete enjoyment with the greatest magic of smiles and laughter."

Program Offered On Potomac Horse Fever Disease

A special program on Potomac Horse Fever will be presented by Dr. Harlan Bigbee, director of animal health technical services, Schering Corp. Potomac Horse Fever is a disease thought to be confined to the East Coast, but recent cases have been reported in Michigan horses.

Discussion will center on the disease syndrome, factors, treatment, prevention and vaccine.

The program will be presented Tuesday, Feb. 9, at the Farm Council Grounds (Ann Arbor-Saline Rd.) at 7:30 p.m.

The program is offered free of charge and is open to the public.

For further information contact the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service or call the 4-H office at 971-0079.

Competition for Smokey the Bear? Blue jays may be nature's best foresters. According to National Wildlife magazine, blue jays collect and cache a vast number of nuts, many of which are not recovered and germinate into trees. Some scientists have begun to wonder if jays could be put to work reclaiming strip-mined land or other barren areas. Researchers soon will be plowing on state forest land in Iowa, to test whether the birds can be roped into forestry.

MORNING FOURS CLASS at North Lake Co-op looked ahead to summer by coming to school dressed for that season and playing summer games. Appropriate music was furnished by the Beach Boys. Shown, left to right, are Craig Forshee, Heidi Jo Ernst, Katrina Hammer, and Warren Bowen.

TEL-MED Tapes May Help You Fight Winter

Take the bite out of winter.

TEL-MED, a public service offering free taped health information over the phone, has two tapes that may help you avoid the sting of the "Siberian Express" and the ski slopes.

The Siberian Express, the freezing wind that roars down from Canada, brings more than shivers—it also brings increased chances for frostbite. Frostbite is the actual freezing of body tissues and can lead to permanent damage to the affected body part. TEL-MED tape No. 88, "Frostbite," offers information on the conditions that may lead to frostbite and on the prevention, signs and treatment of the condition.

Skiers, like other groups of people that spend more time exposed to the cold, are at greater risk for frostbite. If they're not physically prepared for the ski season, they're also at greater risk for accidents on the slopes.

TEL-MED tape No. 41, "Ski Season: Are You Ready?" offers information on preventing ski accidents, including tips on exercises, the dangers of fatigue and the importance of high-energy producing meals and ski instruction by a qualified teacher.

To listen to either of these tapes or any of the 285 TEL-MED tapes, call 668-1551 from the Ann Arbor/Western Washtenaw county area, 434-6120 from the Ypsilanti/Western Wayne county area, or 548-2832 from Livingston county. Hours of operation are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturdays, noon to 8 p.m. The call and the information are toll free.

TEL-MED is sponsored by Beyer Memorial Hospital, Brighton Hospital, Catherine McAuley Health

North Lake Co-Op Students Enjoy Make-Believe Vacation

Students at North Lake Co-op Nursery school took a vacation last week from near zero temperatures.

Wearing shorts, t-shirts, and sandals under their snowsuits and boots, children arrived at school for some fun in the sun, carrying beach balls, inflatable rafts, and sand pails, shovels, tanning lotion, and beach towels.

The explanation for the apparent madness . . . Beach Party Day—U. S. A.

Background music by the Beach Boys serenaded the young "sun worshippers" while they made rose-colored sunglasses, modeled the latest swimsuit fashions in the dress-up corner, examined shells under a magnifying glass, played old-fashioned summer time games, and enjoyed delicious home-made ice cream. (A very refreshing treat on a hot day in August!!)

A short story and a discussion about the "Four Seasons" reminded everyone that the real summer was not far away and that winter was a lot of fun too.

RENOVATION AND RESTORATION of Chelsea's 14th district courthouse at the corner of Main and South Sts. is proceeding quickly. The shot above was taken from a balcony that will allow the public to view court proceedings from overhead, something that was previously impossible. The marble beams and railings, right, are also exposed and will remain that way. Workers have poured concrete floors in the basement, which originally had a dirt floor. And a two-story addition on the back of the courthouse is nearly enclosed. When completed the building will have a full-service court, a sheriff's substation and holding cell, and meeting rooms.

RESTORATION work at Chelsea's 14th district courthouse has often required the dismantling of marble railings and oak woodwork to protect them from damage, and in some cases, further damage. Some of the previous architectural beauty of the building was butchered by various modernization projects.

Zoning Inspector Suggests New Home Business Ordinance

Chelsea Village Zoning Inspector Rosemary Harook has proposed that the village revise its ordinance governing home businesses.

Harook has drawn up a specific set of guidelines, which have been forwarded to planning consultant Carl Schmult, and the village administration, for review and comments.

Her action came as a result of complaints she has received about a few businesses in town, specifically Cuts by Jan Taylor on Wilkinson St., a business operated by Bill Bauer on Lane St., and a hearing aid business owned by Harry Thirkow on Chestnut St.

"We have a home occupation ordinance on the books, but it is very vague," Harook said.

"My suggestions are what I would like to see as the person who has to enforce the zoning ordinance. I have nothing against home businesses."

The current ordinance does not, for example, define how much additional parking might be necessary for a business or how late a business may operate, which have both been problems for Harook. She says neighbors of the hair styling business have complained about people parking in front of their residences. Neighbors of Bauer's business have complained about too much noise, like banging metal, late at night. Parking and too much traffic have upset neighbors in Lanewood near the hearing aid business.

Harook's guidelines, and anything that may be added to them, would ultimately have to be approved by the planning commission and village council.

Her suggestions include:

- Any home business would be considered a secondary use of the building and that any home occupation would have to be approved by the Zoning Board of Appeals.
- Only the home's occupant may work at the business.
- The home has no evidence that a business is contained in it other than a sign no more than three square feet.

- Only merchandise produced or a service performed inside the home could be sold.

- No occupation that would be considered an annoyance to neighboring residents due to noise, smoke, odor, the creation of unreasonable traffic or the accumulation of visible materials or junk would be allowed. In addition, Harook would like to see a set time for business to cease.

- No materials would be stored outside except in an enclosed building.
- Off street parking may be required when the zoning board deems it necessary.

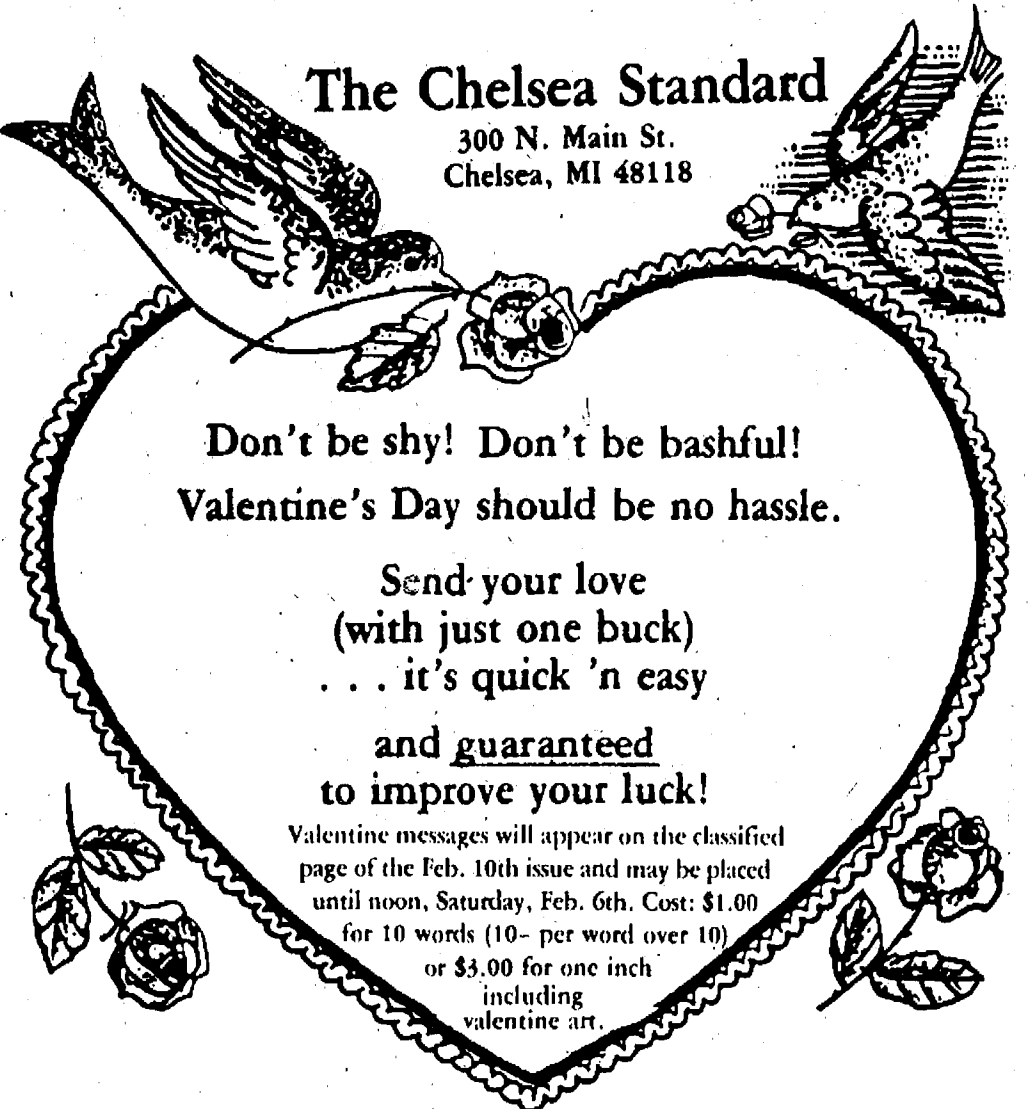

- Businesses could be no larger than 20 percent of available floor space, up to a maximum of 300 square feet.
