ONE HUNDRED-SEVENTEENTH YEAR—No. 37

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1988

AN ADULT FOSTER CARE HOME was approved by the Sylvan Township Planning Commission last week. The facility will be located in this house at 18000 Cavanaugh Lake Rd. Initially, seven residents at least 50 years old will live in the home.

Adult Foster Care Home OK'd By Sylvan Township

An adult foster care home was approved by the Sylvan Township Planning Commission after a public hearing on Wednesday, Feb. 3.

The planners approved a special use permit to allow Dennis McNeely and Theresa Jokinen of Ann Arbor to operate Heritage Acres Chelsea in a 1,776-square-foot home on 10 acres at 18000 Cavanaugh Lake Rd.

An initial motion by commission member Pat Merkel not to grant the permit was voted down.

However, the permit was issued with several contingencies: residents must be at least 50 years old; the owners must report yearly to the planning commission concerning the number and age of residents; a bond must be posted for construction that is being completed in the basement of the home; and any change in licensing status would require approval of the planning commission.

In addition, the commission, at the suggestion of secretary Jeff Gunnis, imposed a limit of seven residents rather than the eight that McNeely requested, which surprised McNeely.

"In all my conversations with Jerry (Dresselhouse, planning commission chairman) at no point did we discuss seven residents," McNeely said.

"I felt that after all the hoopla it was a stab in the back."

McNeely said he could decide to operate the home with six residents and he would not be bound to the commission's restrictions because the state would consider the home a family residence. He could, for example, allow anyone more than 18 years old who needed care to live there.

"My intent is to go with six or seven residents and abide by the restrictions, then re-apply next year," McNeely said.

"I don't want to raise a lot of ruckus. But I think there are a lot of unresolved issues."

McNeely said his concern was primarily economic because fewer residents will have to share the same size rent payment.

McNeely and Jokinen operate a similar home at 5137 Pontiac Trail in Ann Arbor. Jokinen plans to move with her two children to the Chelsea facility.

Residents, according to McNeely, will be people who cannot take care of themselves full-time but are not ready for a nursing home.

Seven Candidates Will Seek Three Council Seats In March Village Elections

Chelsea voters will have to choose from one of the largest slates of candidates in recent memory when they go to the polls on Monday, March 14.

Seven village residents returned nominating petitions to run for three two-year village council seats.

Also, incumbent village trustee Richard Steele is challenging incumbent village president Jerry Satterthwaite in the election for village president.

The only non-races are for treasurer, where incumbent Katie Chapman is the only candidate, and two McKune Memorial Library posts where Anne Merkel and Dan Kaminsky are the only nominees. The only way any of those candidates could lose out is through a write-in campaign.

Again, no one has decided to run for assessor.

The seven candidates for village council (trustee) are incumbents Phil Boham, Gary Bentley and Joe Merkel, and challengers Richard Rigg, Marvin Carlson, Charles Ritter and Harold Allen.

Former village trustee Jim Finch picked up a nominating petition but had not returned it by the Monday 4 p.m. deadline.

Satterthwaite, 423 McKinley St., will be seeking his third consecutive term as president. He had previously served a term on the village council. Satterthwaite is self-employed.

Steele, of 211 Lincoln St., is in the middle of his third term on the village council. He has never run for village president. His is employed by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Boham, 122 S. East St., and Bentley, 223 Harrison St., are completing their first terms on the council. Boham is employed at Chelsea Community Hospital. Bentley works for Chelsea Milling Co.

Merkel is the owner of Wolverine Food & Spirits. He is the senior member of council and is seeking his fifth term on the council.

Among the challengers for council, Ritter, 509 Maywood St., is the only candidate with previous political experience in Chelsea. He served as village president in 1980-81 and ran a losing campaign against Satterthwaite in 1986. Ritter works for MacDee, Inc. of Chelsea.

Rigg, 143 E. Middle St., has served as a village trustee in Manchester. This is his first attempt to run for council in Chelsea. He is employed at Chrysler Proving Grounds.

Carlson, 14200 Dexter-Chelsea Rd., is also making his first run for office in Chelsea. Carlson is a self-employed builder-developer.

Allen, of 250 Wilkinson St., is also a political newcomer.

Complaint About Bonus Sparks Investigation By State Police

A complaint about a $10 bonus given to a part-time employee of the Chelsea Police Department has prompted an investigation by the Michigan State Police.

A complaint by former village president Charles Ritter to Washtenaw County Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Lynwood Noah sparked the investigation conducted by Lt. Tim Ryan. Ritter contended that the bonus was given illegally because it was not approved by council.

Village President Jerry Satterthwaite talked briefly about the investigation toward the end of village council's Tuesday, Feb. 2 meeting. He said the bonus that Ritter complained about has been given to all non-union employees since 1979 in the form of a Christmas bonus. He said the bonuses are a budgeted item and are even mentioned in the handbook for new village employees. He said the bonuses, which this year ranged from $10 to $100 based on years of service, were even given when Ritter was village president in 1980-81.

"I am not happy about this," Satterthwaite said.

"It's a reflection on my integrity, Lee's (Fahner, assistant village manager) integrity and council's integrity to think that we would do anything as stupid as that without coming up and asking."

"It's asinine of the prosecuting attorney to even handle the case and waste the time. I wasted two hours of my time, two hours of Lee's time and two hours of Barbara's (Fredette) time. I'm just a little upset."

Noah, who said he has known Ritter since 1946, said Friday he had not seen the report from Ryan's investigation.

However, Ryan said Thursday that it didn't appear to him that anything illegal took place.

Plans Submitted For Shopping Mall Next to Polly's

Site plans have been submitted to the village administration for a 46,350-square-foot shopping mall next to Polly's Market on M-52.

The plans are scheduled to be considered by the village planning commission at their regular meeting Tuesday, Feb. 23. They are currently under review by the village administration and planning consultant Carl Schmult.

According to assistant village manager Lee Fahner, the plans could receive final approval, partly because no zoning changes are needed. That would make it the second mall in two months to be approved by the planners.

Developer of the mall is Polly's Market manager Mike Kennedy, of Kennedy Realty. The mall is about half the size of the mall planned by Rene Papo of Arcus Corp. for land across the street from Polly's. In fact, Kennedy's entire mall would fit inside Papo's chief tenant, Ames Department Store, which will take up 57,000 square feet.

Together the malls will add about 140,000 square feet of retail businesses to Chelsea.

According to Fahner, one of the main problems Kennedy's plans will have to overcome is the lack of adequate parking space. Currently he's about 50 spaces short of the minimum number required.

Plans call for the main entrance to be located just south of the Great Lakes Bancorp branch, using the driveway already in place. The one-building, one-story mall will be attached to Polly's. The building will run south and make a slight turn west, wrapping around the parking lot.

Polly's Market is 29,500 square feet, which would bring the total size of the development to 75,850 square feet.

Kennedy has said his tenants will include a major discount drug chain store and several businesses owned by Chelsea residents.

Three Finalists Chosen For School Superintendent

Chelsea Board of Education has narrowed its list of candidates for superintendent down to three finalists.

Robert D. Fein, superintendent of Kalkaska Public Schools, was interviewed by the board for a second time last Saturday.

Two more interviews will take place tomorrow in the private dining room at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Joseph K. Piasecki, superintendent of Breckenridge Community Schools, will be interviewed at 1 p.m.

John L. La Sotta, superintendent of Lawton Community Schools, will be interviewed at 7 p.m.

10 SOLOISTS from Chelsea High school were rated among the best in district 12 at last Saturday's Solo and Ensemble Festival sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association. More than 4,000 musicians took part in the event at Livonia Franklin High school. These 10 students earned division one ratings for

Initial Tests Show No Organic Contaminants in Wells By Landfill

More than half the wells in homes adjacent to the village landfill show no sign of contamination by volatile organic chemicals, according to the Washtenaw County Health Department.

Steve Manville, solid and hazardous waste specialist for the county, said he tested 13 wells at residences around the landfill. As of Monday, results from seven of those tests had been returned to him and they showed no trace of organic contamination. About one pint of water was taken from each well.

The seven homes are located on Wildflower Rd., Werkner Rd. and Waterloo Rd., Manville said.

All 13 wells were also tested for contamination by metals such as arsenic, chromium, zinc and lead. Those tests are not yet complete, Manville said.

Wells in four other homes were tested for metals. The water will also be analyzed for its mineral composition.

Michigan Department of Natural Resources requested the tests after DNR tests of monitoring wells in the landfill showed contamination by several organic chemicals. The village and the DNR have since run a second round of tests on the monitoring wells and are awaiting the results. The organic tests are performed using a mass spectrometer and gas chromatograph. Results are reported in parts per billion.

Metallic contamination, if there is any, would be reported in parts per million, Manville said.

The issue of contamination has been a roadblock in the village's effort to secure an operating license for the landfill from the DNR.

Chelsea State Bank Promotes Two Men to Vice-President

Two men have been promoted at Chelsea State Bank, president Paul G. Schaible has announced.

John K. Mann has been appointed vice-president and loan officer. Mann joined the bank on Feb. 1. Since 1983 he has been associated with National Bank of Detroit. For the last three years he has been assistant vice-president and commercial loan officer for the Ann Arbor office.

Mann is a graduate of Chelsea High school and Albion College, where he earned a bachelor's degree in biology. He earned a master's degree at the Duke University Fuqua School of Business.

Mann is married, has two children, and is a Chandler St. resident.

Frank S. Renton has been promoted to vice-president and mortgage loan officer.

Renton joined the bank in 1985 as assistant vice-president. In previous positions he was branch manager of the Chelsea branch of Great Lakes Bancorp for six years and was affiliated with Chelsea Lumber Co. for five years.

Renton is married, has one child, and is a Freer Rd. resident.

TWO DRIVERS escaped serious injury last Thursday shortly before noon in an accident on Old US-12 in front of Fletcher's Friendly Service. The car, driven by Michael Faley, 22, of Jackson was attempting to make a left turn into the station when the pickup truck, driven by Steven Opp, 23, of Stockbridge, attempted to pass, according to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department. The truck struck the car in the driver's side, sending both vehicles across the road into the ditch. WCSD said Opp was cited for improper lane use. Both men were taken to Chelsea Community Hospital and later released. Chelsea police and fire departments assisted.

School Reform Committee Sets Target To Recommend Plan The House Ad Hoc Committee on Property Tax and School Finance Reform began a tight schedule of meetings to review the various proposals put before the Legislature, in attempting to develop a consensus approach to recommend to the full House.

The committee had last met to discuss proposals in October, and since that time, Governor James J. Blanchard urged approval of a quality improvement package supported by closing tax loopholes before moving to finance reform.

Rep. Lynn Jondahl (D-East Lansing), chair of the committee, said all proposals will first be reviewed then considered individually, with a recommendation being made before spring recess.

Jondahl said the committee will select common items from the proposals then consider major questions, including whether financing should be done statutorily or constitutionally, before making any decision. Issues other than those raised during presentations to the committee will also be considered, he said.

A plan developed by the School Finance Commission, outlined by Doug Roberts of the Department of Education and Edgar Harden, co-chair of the commission, would require a constitutional amendment to increase the state's sales tax to 6 percent, and would limit residential/agricultural taxes for school operating to 18 mills (7 optional local mills could be voted) while imposing a 23-mill state property tax on businesses.

State aid would be based strictly on a per pupil per mill basis, rather than a basic per pupil grant plus guaranteed revenue per mill, and the proposal sets core curriculum, performance standards and other quality recommendations.

Roberts noted the plan would shift about $220 million of the tax burden from businesses to individuals, with about $140 million of that due to the non-deductible nature of the sales tax on federal tax returns, compared to property taxes.

The State Board of Education approved most of its commission's recommendations, but added variations of its own.

Roberts said the major difference is that the sales tax increase would be divided so 1 percent would be for property tax relief and 1 percent would be for K-12 program improvements.

Also, under the board's plan, the state would continue to absorb transportation costs for districts, Roberts said.

Questions from committee members on both plans centered around attempts to bridge the disparity between spending in districts.

Rep. William Bryant, Jr., (R-Grosse Pointe Farms) said the amount of money spent per pupil does not always relate to the quality of education available. He said the commission's proposal moves toward equal spending in districts, but does not focus on quality.

Rep. Maxine Berman (D-Southfield) agreed that the issue is quality, not equality, and questioned how much money it takes per pupil to provide a quality education.

Harden said factors such as teacher salaries would have to be considered in determining equitable funding.

Berman, who represents a property-rich district, added that she will support any money for any students to improve their education, "but I will not vote for any plan that will take away one single penny from my school district."

Also reviewed was the Tri-Star plan (Total Reform in School Taxes and Revenue), which Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton), its author, said pays for itself without closing loopholes, taking general fund dollars from elsewhere,

Bonus Sparks Investigation

"Charlie talked to me about the matter and he was serious about it," Noah said.

"Because it involved an auxiliary member of the Chelsea Police Department, I felt there was a potential conflict of interest if the Chelsea police handled the investigation."

Noah said he typically turns over all allegations of criminal violations to a police agency because his office doesn't have the means to conduct an investigation of its own.

Ritter is a candidate for village council in the March 14 elections.

A Sign of Spring?

Kattie Kosinski of N. M-52 (by Green Lake) observed four cardinals at her birdfeeder Friday afternoon. This is the first time in 10 years that cardinals have visited her deck-side bird-feeders.

or shifting the burden for school finance from business to individuals.

"It will not mean windfalls for some districts and drastic cuts for others. It begins with the existing per pupil expenditures for in and out of formula districts then closes the gap over time," he said.

The plan, Kosteva said, reduces school operating property taxes by 50 percent state-wide and replaces the revenue by increasing the sales tax two percent, with exemptions for food, drugs and utilities.

It provides a constitutional guarantee that the average school district would receive a minimum annual increase at least equal to the rate of inflation, he said.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ever now and agin you see cute pictures in the papers where a beagle is nursing a orphan rabbit, or the pet parakeet is perched on the family cat. They remind us that natural enemy is somepun people thought up. People don't fight like cats and dogs, cats and dogs stay around people so much they act like em. We can learn a heap more about gitting along with one another from the animals than they can from us.

That was the idee Bug Hookum opened the Saturday night session with at the country store. Bug has saw where USDA reserchers in New Mexico are "bonding" cows and sheep so the cows can protect the sheep from coyotes. Cows and sheep don't ordinary mix Bug said, because of nature's rule about birds of a feather flocking together, but that don't mean they can't. Reserchers found that when heifers and lambs grow up together in pens they stay together in open pasture.

There's a lesson in this, Bug said, but his first questions about the report are, how did the cows and sheep git to the reserch ranch and who looks after em. Sheep men and cattlemen git along like cats and dogs that have been around people to long, Bug noted, so the next noise you hear will be cattlemen-claiming cows on pasture grazed by sheep will go hungrier than coyotes with no sheep to eat. Then the save-the-starving-coyotes crowd will check in, Bug said, and away we go.

Without reading to much in Bug's report, Zeke Grubb said he recalled mention in the Bible about lions and lambs being bedfellers in a perfect world long hoped for but not yet seen on this side of the great divide. In the meantime, Zeke said, everthing animals learn from us ain't bad. Fer instant, cows and sheep in the USDA study now know they got strength in numbers, and that united they stand and divided at least one of em falls.

Practical speaking, Zeke went on, the natural law about action and opposite reaction is still on the books, but that don't keep USDA reserchers and the rest of us from acting. As fer unusual results, Zeke declared, we ain't got to look to the animals. He had saw recent where the crew of a train that run over a protester in California last fall is suing the victim that got both legs cut off. The two men running the train say the feller put hisself on the tracks with reckless disregard fer their rights and feelings, and caused them to suffer mental and physical distress.

If you're taking notes, Zeke said, put that one right after the one recent where a escaped convict sued the prison guards fer causing him mental and physical distress by chasing him, sicking dogs on him and even shooting at him. Somewhere right now, Zeke went on, some robber turned jailhouse lawyer must be working up a case agin the bank fer scaring him with the alarm and depriving him of his constitutional right to liberty.

Actual, Clem Webster said, the way he learned it, this world started off perfect and has been going to the dogs ever since. He had saw where a "dogramat" is a howling success in California, and whatever gits a foothold out there spreads east as fast as franchises can be drawn up. If we can have designer pet collers and leashes, Clem said, you know we can have do-it-yourself dog washes. Like Bug said, our animals ain't been around us all this time without figuring out how hard we try to create them in our image.

AATA Bus Service Adds Maple Village, K-Mart

The AATA Bus service between Chelsea, Dexter, and Ann Arbor is adding a stop at Maple Village in Ann Arbor. According to AATA spokesperson Chris White, the change was made at the request of many passengers who wished to shop at K-Mart.

Although the ridership has been increasing in the last few weeks, from about 45 passengers a day, to 50 or 55 a day, White says, "It is less than we would have liked to have seen."

White says some of the riders are people who take the bus to work every day, but the largest number are the occasional users such as senior citizens. Not as many young people are riding the buses as was predicted.

The Chelsea-Dexter bus makes nine round trips a day at one and a half hour intervals. The first bus leaves Chelsea every weekday morning at 7 a.m., Dexter at 7:18 a.m. The last bus leaves Chelsea at 7:30 p.m., Dexter at 7:45 p.m. On Saturdays, bus service starts at 8:30 a.m. in Chelsea, at 8:45 a.m. in Dexter. The last Saturday ride is at 6 p.m. from Chelsea, 6:18 p.m. from Dexter.

MOORE-LUTOVSKY: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore of Chelsea have announced the engagement of their daughter, Karen Lee Moore, to Richard Damian Lutosky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lutosky of Chelsea. The future bride is a graduate of Chelsea High school. She is currently enrolled at Washtenaw Community College and is employed as personnel administrator at Pittsfield Products in Ann Arbor. The future bridegroom is a graduate of Chelsea High school and the Ohio Institute of Technology. He is currently enrolled at Washtenaw Community College and is employed as an international technical service representative at Sarns/3M in Ann Arbor. A fall wedding is being planned.

MOLLY HARRIS, age 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harris, Chelsea, has been selected as a participant in the 1988 Michigan National Little and Junior Star Pageant which is the official state preliminary to the National Little Star and Junior Star Pageant. The Michigan Pageant will be held July 24 at the Ann Arbor Marriott. The state winner for each age division will receive a round-trip flight to the National Pageant being held Nov. 17-23 in Orlando, Fla. Each state winner will also receive a cash award, many other gifts and prizes along with the official tiara, plaque, and sash.

Stacie Taylor Is Finalist In Teen-Ager Pageant

Stacie Rene Taylor, age 16, daughter of Robert and Janice Taylor of Chelsea has been selected as a finalist to compete in the 1988 Miss Michigan National Teen-Ager Pageant to be held at the Clarion Hotel in Lansing on April 22-23-24.

This is not a beauty contest, but a scholarship pageant, in which over $40,000 in scholarships and prizes will be awarded.

Contestants are students who make good grades in school, are involved in volunteer community service, and shown potential as leaders in school and civic organizations. During the pageant they will be judged on scholastic achievement, poise-personality and appearance.

"In short," explains state director DiAnna VanSickle, "these girls represent the best of Michigan teen-agers and many are destined to take their places as leaders in their communities and state."

Miss Taylor is being sponsored in the state pageant by Tom Steele Heating & Cooling, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Zangara, Thompson's Pizzeria, Slender You of Chelsea, Chelsea Tax-

Area Players Pick Summer Production

Chelsea Area Players have selected the musical "42nd Street" as their summer production. Auditions will take place in May with the production scheduled for two week-ends in July.

There will be parts for 30 to 40 people, including the chorus.

Tap dancing will be featured throughout the musical. As a result, Chelsea Area Players are offering a workshop taught by Susan Buck who operates Dance Arts Academy in Chelsea. Beginning tap dancing will be taught at this musical. Because this workshop is designed for those interested in auditioning, there will be no fees required.

Participants are expected to provide their own tap shoes.

The workshop will be held on Saturdays beginning, Feb. 20 and will be held at Rebekah Lodge on M-52 in Chelsea. Each session will begin at 2:30 p.m. and last about an hour. The workshops will continue through April. Anyone who is interested in dancing in this summer's production is encouraged to attend the workshops.

Perusal copies of "42nd Street" are also available for those interested in auditioning for specific roles.

For more information, call Mike Long at 475-2829.

Tailgate Stolen From New Truck

Someone stole a tailgate from a 1988 pick-up truck at Village Motors, Chelsea police reported.

Theft of the black tailgate took place sometime during the night between Feb. 5-6.

IF EXERCISE SEEMS TOO MUCH LIKE WORK,

MAYBE IT'S TIME YOU LAID DOWN ON THE JOB.

Ever notice that getting in shape sounds like a great idea until you actually get around to it? You may have discovered that results don't come overnight, but muscle strain and soreness often do.

INTRODUCING THE NO-SWEAT WORKOUT.

At Slender You* Figure Salon, we're going to reshape the way you feel about exercise. We have six different motorized tables that do the hard work for you. Each one is designed to exercise a specific part of your body—stomach, hips, legs and upper arms.

Rather than building muscle (which conventional workouts often do), the Slender You* concept helps to tone and firm your muscles, while breaking down unwanted "cellulite." And unlike traditional exercise, a Slender You* shape-up leaves you feeling refreshed and energized, not fatigued and out of breath.

YOUR FIRST SESSION IS ON US.

We're so positive you'll like what you find at Slender You*, we're offering a free first workout and figure analysis. You can see how you like it, and then decide whether to make another appointment. You're under no obligation.

NO CONTRACTS OR MEMBERSHIP FEES.

At Slender You*, you pay as you go. No expensive memberships, no advance payments and no obligations. You can quit whenever you'd like. So try the Slender You* workout. You've got nothing to lose but inches and pounds. And that's where we can help.

Recycling Bins To Be Located At Polly's

Chelsea's recycling center will be located at Polly's Market, according to Washtenaw County Recycling Coordinator Tom McMurtre.

A special bin is being constructed for the project that will allow residents to recycle newspapers, brown, green and clear glass, and non-aluminum cans.

Recycling should begin sometime next month.

Veteran's Corner

On Tuesday, Feb. 16, Gregg Weaver of the Michigan Employment Security Commission will again be at the Dexter American Legion Post 557 Home.

Weaver is interested in helping veterans who are in need of jobs.

His "Disabled Veterans Outreach" program seeks to reach every veteran in Washtenaw county who needs help finding employment.

Last month, he was at the Dexter post, and heard from some Dexter business people concerning jobs.

If there are other employers who care to call Weaver, please contact him on Tuesday, Feb. 16, from 1 to 4 p.m., at the Dexter Legion Home, 428-3112.

If you are a veteran in need of help to find employment, or wish assistance with other benefits for veterans, please stop, Feb. 16, at the Legion Home and talk to Gregg Weaver or Don McAlister, Post 557 service officer.

The Legion Home is located at 8225 Dexter-Chelsea Rd., Dexter.

The Silent Investigators

On the southwest corner of Main and South Sts. stands a nerve ending of the largest communications network in the history of the world. The Chelsea Post Office is one of more than 29,000 in the 50 states. And there are still more in U.S. possessions, naval vessels at sea and military outposts in foreign lands. Mundane as they may seem, these post offices are under relentless assault by thieves, extortionists, character assassins, forgers, swindlers, sex deviates, pornographers, blackmailers, predators of the elderly, medical charlatans and smugglers. From time to time postal employees working in post offices, mail trucks, trains and planes find themselves looking down the gun barrels of robbers.

The supply of mail felons is ever-renewing. They prey on citizens as they use the mails, stealing from their mailboxes, forging their pension checks and cheating them with a bewildering array of con games. These public enemies are numbered in the hundreds of thousands and they are held at bay by fewer than 2,000 men and women who wear the shield of the Postal Inspection Service. This is America's oldest law enforcement agency. It was established in 1775 by the first postmaster general, Benjamin Franklin. Originally the inspectors were known as surveyors and their job then, as it is now, was to guard the United States mails and postal property from unlawful intrusion and prevent use of the mails for any criminal purpose.

At one time a high school graduate might qualify for promotion to an inspectorship after four years in the postal service. Today's new postal inspectors are college graduates who begin their career as humble footsoldiers in the organization. Such a man or woman may hold a degree in accounting, law, engineering or computer science but first of all the newcomer is imbued with the ideals, the standards and the detailed day-to-day workings of the U.S. Postal Service. This qualifying period continues for a year.

In carrying out their investigations, postal inspectors are aided by 700,000 pairs of eyes belonging to fellow employees—plus unnumbered millions of post office patrons. These employees and patrons have had multiple exposures to photos of mail criminals on "wanted" posters. In the course of their work and daily living they are close to the activities of almost 240 million people. Subconsciously, postal workers and customers carry images of fugitive criminals in minds—along with remembered details such as "scar above left eye," or "mole on right wrist." At any moment the phone in a post office may ring and an alert person may say, "I've seen a man who fits the picture on one of your wanted posters—the one with the mole on his wrist. I know it's him and he's in the drug store right now!" Crooks who have used the mails for criminal purposes soon learn that with millions of eyes on the lookout there is no place to hide.

Postal crimes involve so many hazards of identification, and methods of investigation are so professional, that the conviction of criminals arrested by the Postal Inspection Service is between 97.5 and 99.1 percent.

Five regional identification laboratories are operated by the Postal Inspection Service, staffed by scientists and skilled technicians. Much of their work is in the analysis of handwriting—pinning down the authors of forged signatures on checks and legal documents, writers of poison pen letters, mailers of blackmail demands and fraudulent claims. Postal handwriting analysts can frequently make positive identification of a signature signed with an X. They are also the world's leading experts in the identification of writing inks.

If a criminal decides to play it safe by resorting to a typewriter, he is up against a laboratory that has factory-supplied specimens of typewriting dating back to 1878. No doubt by now the postal labs have specimens of daisy wheel and dot matrix printers for every computer ever made.

There are comparison microscopes for the examination of bullets and physical tests for the identification of blood, skin, hair, fibers, semen, soils, poisons, paints and tire treads.

Post Office annuals contain the memory of a thief who had substituted a bogus package for one containing a registered shipment of $180,000 in currency. On the basis of handwriting specimens gathered from 12 suspects, one was identified as the culprit. Arrested, he vowed, "You can pull my body apart limb by limb if you want to, but I won't tell you anything. I am innocent." The arraigned man died before he could come to trial, and a short time later most of the money was found by inspectors buried in the man's back yard.

A recent problem encountered by the inspectors involved the fraudulent alteration of postal money orders, at a cost of $17 million to its victims. The scheme was perpetrated by criminals who were already in prison. An inmate would obtain a postal money order for, say, $8.25 and raise it to $82.50 or $825.00. The crook needed nothing more than a razor blade and colored pencils to change the printed amount. He would then send the money order to a pen pal, often a friend in a lonely hearts club, and ask her to deposit it in her bank for safekeeping. Soon thereafter he would write, tell of his unexpected need for funds and ask her to return the money on deposit. Subsequently the woman would learn from the bank that the postal money order was forged and she would have to make good the loss. An Illinois woman lost $11,000 through such a scheme, and one from Texas parted with $62,000. Men are victims of similar swindles.

The forgers remained in prison but by the time their crimes were discovered the money was long gone. Design changes in money orders have been made by the postal service to combat such forgeries but felonious schemes and techniques are endless.

As the value of postal stamps continues to rise (25 cent stamps are only weeks away) a black market has been established for second-hand stamps. Gangs operating from coast to coast gain possession of envelopes with cancelled stamps from utilities, mail order firms, insurance companies and other heavy receivers of mail. The illicit operators steam the stamps free from the envelopes and soak them in a solution which removes the cancellations from the stamps without injury to the image. The born again stamps are then sold to big buyers at a discount. A Cincinnati enterpriser sold $1,000 worth of refurbished stamps for $750. Unfortunately for him, the eager buyer was a postal inspector.

The racket deprives the post office of millions of dollars in revenue and is a hydra-headed snake which is hard to kill. In a single arrest, postal inspectors in December 1985 seized seven tractor-trailer loads of envelopes with cancelled stamps. They had been obtained from companies under the pretext of searching for envelopes with missed payments and checks. One of these days the post office will come up with indelible cancellation ink and the thieves will have to invent another scam.

Postal inspectors are not permitted to open undelivered mail. Patrons, however, are usually more than willing if the envelope is suspected of containing a letter bomb.

Use of the mails to victimize members of lonely hearts clubs merits constant vigilance on the part of postal inspectors. Ninety percent of lonely hearts members are women over 40. Scoundrels not only charm them out of their life savings; the cruel swindles are often followed by murder.

The same thing has happened to lonely men. Anna Marie Hahn of southern Ohio fatally poisoned a dozen elderly men who romanced her through the mails and then came to her home, bearing fortunes, to marry her.

One of the limitations of law enforcement is that the process has to begin after the dreadful damage has been done. Both sexes would be well advised to steer clear of marital adventures by mail and seek companionship close to home.

The Postal Inspection Service is filled with dangers but it is careful, nevertheless, to avoid flamboyant publicity. And perhaps that is why postal inspectors are known as the silent investigators.

CAP Director Breaks Leg But Carries On Despite Cast

Chelsea Area Players' winter production of "See How They Run" is a classic comedy by British playwright Philip King. Set in the post-war English countryside, the play features nine characters who constantly run on and off the stage in an adult version of "Hide and Seek."

The play will open Thursday, Feb. 18 at 8 p.m. with candlelight/dessert performances on Friday Feb. 19 and Saturday, Feb. 20 at 7:30 p.m. All performances will take place at Beach Middle school in Chelsea. Tickets are available at Chelsea Woodshed Eatery on Main St.

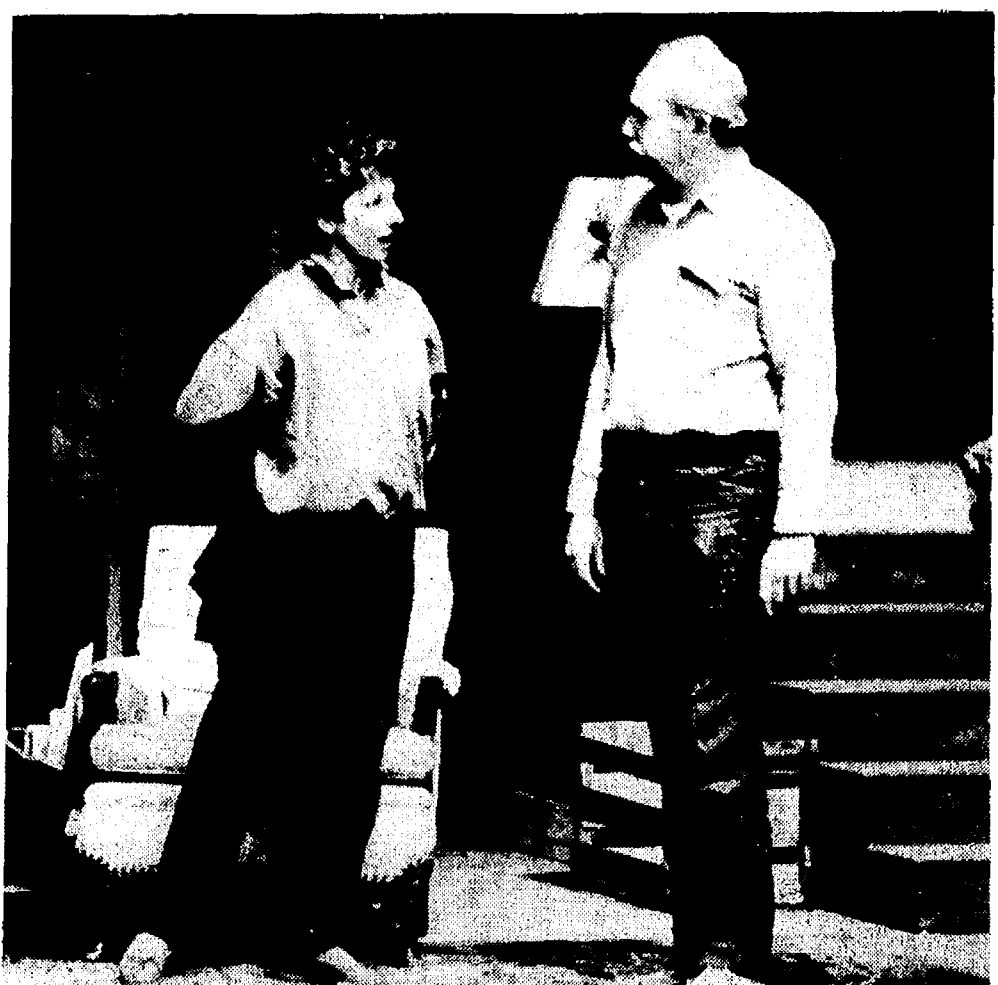

The success of last year's production of "The Night of January 16th," prompted CAP's board of directors to ask Mary Ann Stevenson to return as artistic director for the current production. In briefing actors at auditions in December, she warned them that a fair amount of energy and agility would be required, since characters must wrestle on the floor, jump over furniture and run in and out of the set—without missing a line.

Although the actors have remained fit, during rehearsals director Stevenson sustained a broken leg, not on the stage, but in an icy parking lot. Adhering to the adage, "The show must go on," Stevenson appeared in a plaster cast for the following night's rehearsal.

Julie Vorus plays a former American actress, Penelope, who is now the wife of an English vicar (Todd Wurster). When her uncle, the bishop (Roger Bogenschutz) visits, he is lionized by Ida the maid (Judy Tobias) and terrorized by a Russian spy (Art Finger). Penelope's old acting partner (Dan Reed), a meek minister from another parish (John Gardner), and a vindictive spinster (Margot Keonn) are involved in a riotous commotion on and off stage by the time the trusty police sergeant (Paul Morrison) arrives on the scene.

JUDY TOBIAS and Roger Bogenschutz rehearse a scene from CAP's winter show, "See How They Run." This classic British comedy will be performed at Beach Middle school on Feb. 18, 19, 20 as part of a special evening of candlelight, dessert, and theatre presented by the Chelsea Area Players.

CLIVE (Dan Reed, center) and Lionel (Todd Wurster, right) don't realize that Art Finger is an escaped Russian spy who is holding Penelope (Julie Vorus) at gunpoint. This scene is part of CAP's production of the British farce, "See How They Run." The show will be presented at Beach school on Feb. 18, 19, 20. Friday and Saturday performance will feature candlelight and dessert, as well as a lot of laughs.

A RUSSIAN SPY (Art Finger) holds Penelope (Julie Vorus) hostage with a "2x2 white pine magnum" during rehearsal of the Chelsea Area Players' winter show "See How They Run." Townships Disagree On How To Pay for New Fire Truck

By the end of the month Chelsea is expected to sign a contract with surrounding townships to provide fire protection services for the next three years.

The only sticking point is how all parties will share in the cost of a new $190,000 fire truck.

The village bases its charges to the townships on the percentage of firefighter hours each township used in the preceding year.

Fire Chief Bud Hankerd had proposed that each township be charged for the truck based on its percentage of hours used over the last 24 years. That way, a township wouldn't have to worry about having a bad year or two and funding an abnormally large share of the truck.

Hankerd told the council that he has been unsuccessful in getting officials from all the townships together to discuss the method of payment. The first meeting was attended by only a couple of townships and it was decided then that payment would be based on usage over the next three years.

Lyndon township supervisor John Francis told council he objected to the plan because if his township had one

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, Feb. 1 were Grau, Comeau, Redding, Satterthwaite, Feeney, Cherem, Wales, superintendent Van Meer, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Larson, community education director Rogers, athletic director Reed, curriculum director Bissell, guests. Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by President Grau.

Board approved the minutes of the special meetings of Jan. 25, Jan. 27, Jan. 29, Jan. 29, and Jan. 30, meetings.

Entered as official communications were: (1) letter from Marie Colombo regarding the swim program; (2) letter from PTN supporting the Curriculum Director position; (3) letter from Nancy Dymond supporting the Curriculum Director position; (4) letter from the Village Recreation Council supporting the appointment of Robert Berg; (5) letter from Beach school department chairpersons supporting the position of Curriculum Director.

President Grau presented certificates of appreciation to Susan Buck (dance) and Bev Martin (clothing design), who have served as mentors to the high school students participating in the Mentorship Program. Wendy Bloom (voice) and Shannon Culver (framing and matting), who were unable to be present for recognition, will also receive certificates of appreciation. The board is appreciative of the support given to students by community members.

Elizabeth Hammer was present at the meeting to discuss the position of Curriculum Director. She presented the board with a petition of 138 names and asked the board to reconsider their decision to terminate the position after this year. She presented statistical data gathered from intermediate school districts, indicating that full-time curriculum director positions are found in 50 schools the size of Chelsea, and the trend is toward continued appointment. Mrs. Hammer stressed the benefit to students and staff, stating that there definitely needs to be a curriculum coordinator. She hoped the board would realize the success of our schools should be maintained and expanded. Bill McAfee was present at the meeting and felt the board should stick with its plan to terminate the Curriculum Director position and let the curriculum work that is in place have a chance to function.

John Eisenbeiser, also present at the meeting, indicated that the board might look at alternatives for the Curriculum Director position. He thought the board should consider having a 10 or 11-month contract for present staff members to do curriculum work.

The board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Helen St. Louis, effective June 9, 1988. Helen has taught at Beach Middle school for the past 16 years.

The board adopted a revised policy for graduation requirements (effective for the Class of 1992).

The board approved the appointment of Robert Berg to fill the remaining 7-month term, vacated by the resignation of Ron Schuyler, on the Village Recreation Council.

Ice Fishing Clinic at Waterloo

An ice fishing clinic will be presented this Saturday, Feb. 13, by the Waterloo Natural History Association. Cliff Merkle will teach the tools and techniques of ice fishing, including ice safety, finding the fish, and special rigs and baits.

Participants should meet at Portage Lake Campground boat ramp at 2 p.m., dressed warmly with protection against the wind.

Board Personnel Committee chairman Joe Redding presented an update on the superintendent search. He indicated that the board has interviewed six candidates and will interview the seventh on Wednesday, Feb. 3. The board will then decide which and how many candidates will be asked to return for a second interview.

Trustee Craig Wales indicated that all of the candidates interviewed thus far have expressed their early interest in the Chelsea School District because of the reputation that the district has established.

The board convened in executive session to discuss personnel matters at 9 p.m.

THE GRASS LAKE DEPOT as it looked in 1979, shortly before it burned down. Today the roof is totally gone, but the stone portion still stands. Grass Lake is unique in having a stone, instead of a wooden train station. If a buyer is not found in the next few weeks, the depot will be torn down.

Historic 1843 Grass Lake Depot May Be Torn Down

The 1843 stone train station in Grass Lake may be torn down in two weeks. Grass Lake village council has declared the burnt-down train station a safety hazard and has ordered owner Jim Leonard to either tear it down or restore it.

Originally giving Leonard until Jan. 5 to take care of the problem, the village council agreed to a 60-day extension at the request of Grass Lake township supervisor Alan Mollenkopf. Believing that the depot is important to the ambience of the town, Mollenkopf tried to get the township board to buy it, but failed at the township meeting held Tuesday, Feb.

2, when none of the trustees would even make a motion for the purchase. Mollenkopf attributed the reluctance to a feeling that the asking price of $90,000 was too high.

The train station is unique for the area, being built of stone, not wood, like most of the other stations. Local legend has it that Grass Lake got the picturesque stone depot by accident; that the train company was planning to build a stone station at the eastern edge of the state, but when the stones were unloaded by mistake at Grass Lake, they went ahead and built it there.

When the train station burned down in 1979, it had already stopped being used at a station. After trains ceased stopping there, it had sat idle for a while and then was used as the publishing office of "The Grass Lake News." Leonard had purchased it with the idea of turning it into a restaurant, but in the years after the fire, he moved his business, Drake's Batter Mix, and then his residence to Marshall and lost interest in the property.

Since the fire, the station has stayed empty, an attractive nuisance to children. Village council members were worried that with the roof off, the mortar between the stones would decay, causing the stones to crumble and fall on someone. As well as worrying about the well-being of the citizens, they were also concerned about liability suits.

Although the station is deteriorating, it is still considered to be structurally sound. Mollenkopf estimated that the cost of restoring it would be in the $30,000 to $40,000 neighborhood, but he had received a number of offers of help, both with labor and with materials. For instance, the owners of Architectural Salvage had offered to donate leaded-glass windows worth about $1,000.

Various uses for the building had been discussed such as holding exhibits, arts and crafts fairs, a model railroad (like Dexter), or a library. Mollenkopf was very disappointed that the township would not buy the train station, saying "They lack vision in terms of what's important. Its value transcends brick and mortar."

The property, which is in downtown Grass Lake, also includes an old filling station and car wash, both abandoned. Leonard hopes to get a buyer for the whole parcel of land.

Mollenkopf predicts that people in the Grass Lake area will regret the decision not to save the depot after it is gone. It is his belief that Grass Lake's greatest hope for economic

Legion Winter Carnival Attracts Full House Crowds

From start to finish the American Legion sponsored Winter Carnival attracted capacity crowds. It began on the night of Friday, Feb. 5 with a euchre tourney with three prize winners. Laurie Blough walked off with first prize for most hands won. Jamie Bollinger took second with most lone hands and Bill Galante ran third with least hands won.

The two-day ice fishing derby on Cavanaugh Lake saw the temperature dropping to zero at times but one hardy fisherman had a six-pound catch Saturday morning. Adult prize winners were: Panfish—First, Jim Burns; second, John Beeman; third, Jim Finch. Perch—First, Dave Slack; second and third, Jim Foss. Pike—First, Bob Harris; second and third, Thomas McCoy.

In the youth group, winners in 1-2-3 order were: Panfish—Brian Jankovic, Jeanette MacDougall and Damon McLaughlin; perch—Jim Michels, John Beeman and Brian Jankovic.

Door prizes on Monte Carlo night, Saturday, were a VCR to L. D. Quigley, an AM/FM radio to Richard Parker and dinner-for-two to Arlene Fahrner.

Dozens of valuable prizes given by local business owners were captured by successful bidders in the auction which followed the close of gambling. The climatic event occurred Sunday afternoon when dancers and fanciers of country-western music were entertained by the Ruby, Kanten, Simms group. Danny D. Foytick also added to the musical entertainment.

Bulldog Wrestlers Second At League Tournament

Chelsea Bulldog wrestlers edged Pinckney for second place in the Southeastern Conference meet last Saturday at Saline, giving the Bulldogs a second place finish in the league for the season.

Final season standings are determined by where teams finish in the dual meet season and the SEC meet. Chelsea placed third in the dual meet season.

"Over-all, I'm real pleased with our performance this season," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"Only a couple of boys didn't wrestle to their potential at the league meet."

In order for Bulldogs to take second place for the season, Chelsea had to take second place in the SEC meet and Saline had to finish at least as low as fourth. Chelsea got the help they needed from the Pirates.

Dexter maintained their dominance by taking first place with 166 points. Chelsea had 139 points and Pinckney followed with 137. Saline had 113, Lincoln 95, Tecumseh 71 and Milan 29.

Sophomore Eric Hanna at 105 pounds was Chelsea's only champion at the meet, as he won a 4-1 decision over Pinckney's Eric Boeving in the finals. He also beat Jerry Moranski of Milan and Saline's Steve Moore.

Chelsea's runner-up finish was due in large part to three second place finishes by Robert Kornexl (132), Tim VanSchoick (185) and Mike Taylor (198).

Kornexl was pinned in the finals by Scott Sakall of Lincoln in 5:48. On his way to the finals he beat Tim Simpson of Tecumseh and Marc Byrd of Milan.

VanSchoick was edged 5-4 in the finals by Andy Armbruster of Dexter. "Tim should have won the match," Kargel said.

"A referee's mistake cost him the match."

VanSchoick won matches against Jon Lori of Tecumseh and Dave Olson of Saline to reach the finals.

Taylor lost a 13-3 decision to Mike Dalton of Dexter in the finals. On his way he beat Shawn Stevens of Saline and Brad Scudder of Tecumseh.

Third place finishes went to Alan Hanna (112), Craig McCalla (119), Doug Wingrove (138) and Bill Dixon (167).

Alan Hanna beat Tecumseh's Paul Lorchon in the consolation finals, 4-3. He also knocked off Pinckney's Dustin Schell but lost to Dexter's Todd Benson, the eventual champion.

McCalla lost to the eventual champion in his weight class in his opening match. Dexter's Matt Tucker earned the decision. However, in the consolation finals he won an 11-1 decision over Milan's Chico Arechija.

After winning his first match, Wingrove was pinned by last year's state champ, Jim Feldkamp. He came back to win matches over Pinckney's Corey Schingeeck and Saline's Bob Dunlap.

Dixon pinned Dexter's Chris Meloche in the consolation finals. He lost to eventual champion Jeff Lafferly of Lincoln, but beat Saline's Robb Dornier.

Fourth place finishes went to Dean Sutherland (145) and Gary Dosey (155).

Sutherland lost to Doug Hurst of Tecumseh in the consolation finals. However, in his first match he beat Mark Nuemann of Lincoln. He also lost to eventual champion Rod Malinczak of Saline.

Dosey met a similar fate, running into Saline's John Peterson in his second match, the eventual tournament champion. In the consolation finals he lost to Chuck Reisinger of Dexter. He picked up another win over Buddy Allen of Pinckney.

Chelsea wrestles in pre-district action today in Tecumseh. Schools include Dexter, Pinckney, Tecumseh and Onsted.

ERIC HANNA was Chelsea's only champion at last Saturday's Southeastern Conference tournament. Hanna, a sophomore, wrestles at 105 pounds.

JV Bulldogs Whip Milan in Overtime

After a relatively lackluster four quarters of basketball, Chelsea's junior varsity basketball team outscored Milan 13-4 in overtime to take a 69-60 victory at Milan last Friday.

It took a dramatic three-point field goal by Kyle Plank with two seconds left to tie the game at 56.

"Kyle really stepped up and drilled the shot," said Chelsea coach Jeff Dils.

"That was certainly as big a shot as he has ever made. I think that took a little wind out of Milan's sails. They fell behind in overtime and were forced to foul us."

Chelsea made 9-9 free throw attempts in the overtime period, including four by sub Sinisa Janicevic. Kerry Plank had five points in the period, Kyle Plank had two points and Butch Michaud hit a pair of free throws.

"We didn't play well until the end," Dils said.

"It was odd because during regulation we had a tough time at the free throw line. When Kyle made that shot I think it pushed us into a high intensity level."

The Big Reds held a slim lead for much of the game and at one point in the third quarter were ahead by 10 points.

The Bulldogs were their own worst enemy as they turned the ball over on numerous occasions. Only 55 percent field goal shooting kept them in the game.

Chelsea's bench played a big part in keeping the Bulldogs in the game during regulation. Brandon Murrell made two key field goals when Chelsea was struggling and Phil Eassa scored 11 points and was 5-6 from the floor.

Kyle and Kerry Plank shared top scoring honors with 18 points each. Murrell and Janicevic each scored six, Chris Wilson and Michaud scored four each and Burg scored two. Burg was in foul trouble much of the game.

In other action last week, Chelsea dominated Fowlerville from the beginning on Tuesday, Feb. 2 to take a 64-47 non-conference victory.

"Fowlerville decided to get into a running game with us but they couldn't stay with us," Dils said.

"Defensively we converted a few steals to easy baskets in the third quarter. We also had good inside play. When Brian was double teamed he kicked the ball back outside to the open people."

Burg scored 21 of his team-leading 27 points in the first half to give the Bulldogs a 35-25 lead at half-time.

Chelsea also shot well from the field, hitting 48 percent.

Kerry Plank was the only other Bulldog to score in double figures, finishing with 15 points. Janicevic, Michaud, Wilson and Kyle Plank each scored four points, and Erich Hammer, Murrell and Eassa each scored two points.

After last week's play Chelsea's record stood at 6-2 in the Southeastern Conference and 8-6 over-all.

A total of 19.9 million persons registered with the state employment services during the 1985 program year, according to the 1986 annual report of the U.S. Department of Labor.

CO-CAPTAIN ROBERT KORNEXL took second place at 132 pounds in the Southeastern Conference tournament last Friday, helping the Bulldogs to a second place finish. Kornexl's only loss came in the finals. Dexter won the tournament.

Bulldogs Rip Fowlerville For Third Win of Season

A 53-point second half gave the Chelsea Bulldogs their third win of the season last Tuesday, Feb. 2 at home against Fowlerville, 84-66.

In other action last week, the Bulldogs fell into the cellar of the Southeastern Conference with a 72-53 loss at Milan on Friday. Chelsea and Milan have each won one league game this season.

The Fowlerville game began in similar fashion to other games. Chelsea's defense was adequate but the offense was not making the shots. Consequently, the Bulldogs were behind 17-12 at the end of the first quarter and 35-31 at half-time.

However, in the second half, Chelsea picked up the tempo with an aggressive pressing defense and forced Fowlerville into numerous turnovers, which turned into easy Chelsea baskets.

"At half-time we talked about defense and in the second half our offense was the best it has been all season," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"When you pick-up the defense the offense has a tendency to pick-up too."

Chelsea trailed 35-31 at half-time before scoring 28 points in the third quarter, their highest one-quarter total this season. The running game was in high gear as the Dogs dominated the boards and were able to capitalize on many fast breaks. It was one of the few times this season that Chelsea has matched up fairly evenly in height.

Four Chelsea players scored in double figures, with Junior Morseau leading the way with 20 points. Chad Starkey scored 16, Kevan Flanigan 12, and John Collins 10. Flanigan's 12 points and eight rebounds were personal highs for the season.

Rounding out the scoring were John Cattell nine, Jeff Marshall seven, Greg Boughton four, Larry Nix three, Matt Monroe two and Tim Anderson one.

In addition to a balanced scoring attack, Chelsea turned the ball over just 14 times, a low for the season, compared to Fowlerville's 24 turnovers.

In exactly the opposite fashion, Chelsea scored six points on 3 for 15 shooting from the field in the third quarter on their way to losing to Milan. What began as an eight-point deficit at half-time ended in a 49-31 advantage for the Big Reds at the end of the third quarter. The Dogs also missed all four free throws in the quarter.

"Once Milan began to hit a few shots, they got excited and picked up the defense," Raymond said.

"On the other hand, we had good shots but didn't make them. Basketball is a psychological game in that if you shoot well it seems to be easier to do every other facet of the game well."

Milan showed a balanced attack as forward Earl Ford scored 18, forward Kevin Wanty scored 15, guard Pat Heath scored 16 and guard Ross Plasters scored 10.

Milan also had the position in the lane most of the night and out-rebounded the Dogs 45-29.

On the other hand, only Flanigan made as many as four field goals for Chelsea. The senior finished with a team-high 10 points.

Every Bulldog scored. Starkey had nine, Morseau seven, Collins and Cattell six each, Marshall four, Monroe three, and Nix, Boughton, Anderson, and Phil Thomson scored two each.

After last week's action, Chelsea was 1-7 in the league and 3-11 over-all. There are five more regular-season games.

U. S. farmers exported more than $26 billion worth of commodities last year.

JUNIOR MORSEAU shoots over Milan's Anthony Griffin for two of his seven points in a losing effort last Friday in Milan. Milan and Chelsea are tied for last place in the SEC with one win each.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

In the middle of the fourth quarter, when the Bulldogs were falling way behind again, the conversation turned to cheerleading.

This is a subject I normally refuse to discuss with anyone except my dog, whom I can count on not to repeat anything I say. (My dog, as dogs go, has the tools to be a fantastic cheerleader. She's half shepherd and half black lab and can jump high enough to grab a bone off the top of my head and still land gracefully at my feet. She's also pretty, huggable, friendly, enthusiastic, has endless energy and a smile that will melt your heart.)

What sparked the conversation was the Milan kids, who put on a pretty good show for their home crowd last Friday. It was a co-ordinated effort of the cheerleaders, a dancing squad and the pep band. The Imperial Margarine mascot even made an appearance at half-time.

Milan is one of those schools, like Pinckney, where it seems like nearly everyone is a cheerleader and those who aren't aspire to be cheerleaders. They even have four or five cheerleading boys who look athletic enough to be football or basketball players, which makes the pep squad even more unusual.

I'd still like to see Chelsea add some boys to their squad. The big question is, would there be any boys brave enough to be FIRST and resilient enough to survive the inevitable "sissy" label.

Maybe the answer lies in the program that adviser Maureen Bohl runs for the real young kids. Get the boys started there, before they're old enough to understand what "macho" means, and in six or seven years there'll be cheerleaders at varsity games. I'm sure it would work. If boys can be persuaded to take part in the Chelsea Champs surely they can be persuaded to try cheerleading. (Just don't come after my son.)

Those youngsters are most enthusiastic about the program, especially since the varsity girls are there to help them out and show them some basic moves. And, boy, you've never seen a prouder set of parents. Those little kids were climbing all over themselves to do their "mounts" and pose for the photo, shaking like pole-sitters in a stiff breeze. But to their parents the children were as graceful as Ginger Rogers and twice as talented.

It will be fun to see if this cheerleading form system provides any first round draft choices for varsity games in 1997 or so.

If enthusiasm plays a part in it, they might have to open the varsity squad to 20 girls by the turn of the century.

The more I see John Cattell and Kevan Flanigan play basketball, the more I wish that those guys in particular had gotten to play more last year.

Last year coach Rahn Rosentreter decided to play his seniors. And that decision won the Bulldogs a league title.

Would the Bulldogs have finished second or third if the juniors had played? Hard to say. However, what is obvious to me is the decision really hurt this year's team.

Cattell has shown that he is an excellent defensive basketball player. And the guy absolutely never gets tired, which is astounding when you consider how hard he plays every minute. He also drives the lane as well as any of the second string people did last year. I can't believe that playing him six or eight minutes per game would have hurt much.

Flanigan is just now rounding into form, which is too bad because the season ends in six or seven games. He's been near the top in scoring a couple of games and he's picked up his rebounding.

What both buys have lacked this year is varsity game maturity. They're learning what works, what their strengths are and how they can best help the team. They're the kind of lessons a player can't learn sitting on the bench and only playing against his teammates in practice.

JOHN COLLINS drives for two points against Milan center Eric Lionquist. Collins scored six but Milan proved too tough to handle.

Freshman Cagers Drop Two Contests

Chelsea Bulldog freshman cagers lost both games last week, dropping a Monday, Feb. 1 game to Pinckney, 73-52, and a Thursday, Feb. 4 game to Saline, 75-56.

Turnovers killed the Bulldogs in both games, as they recorded 29 against Pinckney and 43 against Saline.

In the Pinckney contest, Chelsea was behind from the opening tip-off. Too much Pinckney height and hustle, along with the Bulldog turnovers, turned out to be the keys of the game, according to coach Dave Quilter.

"Pinckney outthrustled us all night long and you have to give them credit," Quilter said.

Point guard Vince Dunn scored nine points and led the team in rebounds with nine.

"When your point guard is high rebounder, it shows that he is playing heads-up ball but it does not bode well for the team," Quilter said.

Quilter also praised the play of Kyle Erickson and Alex Hammerschmidt, who scored one and six points, respectively. Erickson has sat out most of the season with injuries.

Jude Quilter and Tucker Steele led the Dogs in scoring with 15 and 12 points. Quilter had eight rebounds and Steele grabbed six.

Other Chelsea scorers included Chris Haugen with six points, Matt Steinaway with two points and Garrett Kern with one point.

Against Saline, Quilter and Steele combined for 55 of the Bulldogs' 66 points and 18 rebounds but it wasn't enough to offset the turnovers and a Saline rebounding edge.

"We didn't play as bad as giving up 75 points might indicate," Quilter said.

"What really hurt us was the turnovers and the easy buckets that resulted. Our defense wasn't really that bad."

Again, Chelsea was behind from the outset as the Bulldogs had trouble with the Hornet press, something that didn't bother them the first time the teams met.

Haugen, Steinaway and Dunn played good defense, Quilter said.

Jude Quilter scored 32 points and sparked the Bulldog fast break. Steele scored 23 points. Each boy had nine rebounds.

Rounding out the scoring for Chelsea were Haugen, four points, Dunn, three points, and Kern and Steinaway, two points each.

"Lately we've been hurting ourselves with turnovers and playing soft in spots," Quilter said.

"We just need to do the things we're doing well for a full 32 minutes and we'll be successful."

About 7,100 individuals were enrolled in safety and health training offered by the Training Institute of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration during the 1986 fiscal year. According to the Labor Department's annual report, participants included compliance officers, state personnel, federal safety and health representatives for other agencies, and private sector representatives.

Pup Wrestlers Whip Dexter

Beach Middle school wrestling team beat Dexter last week, 39-24, but lost to Saline, 33-26.

Chelsea winners in the Dexter meet included Shane Hebert (89), Ian Dyer (103), Jeff Stump (131), Adam Taylor (138), Neil Klink (157) and Matt Gaken (169).

Chelsea winners in the Saline meet included Dyer, Taylor, Klink and Vince Stahl (85), Jason Szosak (105), Jeff Holzhausen (125), and Mike Terpstra (heavyweight).

The Bullpups are 5-2 over-all and have a 4-1 mark against conference schools.

JV Spikers Drop 3 Matches

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity volleyball team lost matches to Pinckney, Saline and Jackson Lumen Christi last week.

On Monday, Feb. 1, Chelsea played well for 1 1/2 games against the Pirate and lost in three games.

The Dogs took the opener, 15-7, with good defense and consistent serving. Chelsea jumped out to a 10-2 lead after Lisa Park served seven consecutive points, followed by three from Kate Dilworth.

Bulldog servers turned cold in the second game and Chelsea lost 10-15.

In the third game, the Pirates scored nine straight points and put Chelsea in a 9-0 hole. However, behind the serving of Park and Michelle Graflund, Chelsea narrowed the gap to 7-9 before finally losing 8-15.

Also serving well for Chelsea were Sheila Haab, Jennifer McEachern, and Carol Hanke.

Top spikers were Scharme Petty, Chris Tallman, Park and Graflund.

The Hornets beat Chelsea in Chelsea on Thursday, Feb. 4 in two games, both 10-15.

The Bulldogs had problems receiving the Hornets' serves.

Good spikers for Chelsea were Petty, McEachern, Jill Nowatzke, Park, Amy Koengeter and Heidi Boyer. Graflund served well.

Chelsea had problems at Jackson Lumen Christi on Friday, losing 10-15 and 6-15.

'Australia' Featured in Kiwanis Travel Film

On Saturday evening, Feb. 13, the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea will present its fourth program of the Travel and Adventure Film Series at 8 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

"Australia" is vast and friendly with natural wonders down every road. Travel with Canadian filmmaker Keith McColl to the big, beautiful cities as well as the fabulous "out-back."

Sydney crowds the shores of one of the world's most beautiful harbors. See the Sydney Opera House, a magnificent performing-arts complex. Meet hospitable "Sydneyers," among them Aborigines, Europeans and recent Asian immigrants who mingle tradition and culture Australian fashion.

Go "four-wheeling" over the rough terrain of the Australian outback where spectacular scenery and wildlife are part of daily expectations. Fly with the outback mailman into remote stations isolated by huge distances. Ride a camel to dinner at an out-back winery.

Visit Alice Springs, Ayres Rock and enjoy yourself at a most unusual regatta on a dry river bed—the Henley-on-Tod Regatta.

Explore Kakadu National Park and be amazed at the "living fossils" that fill Australian wildlife areas. In Darwin, visit a crocodile farm and attend a wild buffalo muster. On Adelaide's Kangaroo Island, walk among the kangaroos, sea lions and other animals.

"Australia" has it all... scenery, wildlife and the friendly, welcoming Australian people who make this journey unforgettable.

Keith McColl's basic interest in the outdoors led him into his present profession of film producer and platform speaker.

He is perhaps best known for his long running TV series, "Outdoors Unlimited" and the "Keith McColl Show." Originating in Calgary, Alberta over 20 years ago, his show has, in more recent times, been taped in Edmonton, Alberta, in co-operation with ITV. Through syndication, the series has gained Canada wide acceptance.

In the production of over 400 1/2-hour TV programs, McColl has traveled extensively in Western and Northern Canada—often venturing high above the Arctic Circle and the north magnetic pole. He has handled miles of film; does all his own research, photography, editing, scripting, and also narration—accumulating a stock color film library of over 200,000 feet.

As a platform speaker, he has presented his 1 1/2-hour feature films to most receptive audiences in 36 states and six provinces.

McColl has appeared on a Toronto based CBC TV children's program, and has done TV schools broadcasts out of Edmonton and Winnipeg. He had his own open line radio show in Calgary; did radio spots and TV commercials; contributed articles to papers and magazines; and was active in the tourist industry in the province of British Columbia.

He has produced several short travel promotional films on British Columbia, the Northwest Territories and the Yukon. The films have enjoyed critical acclaim and wide distribution. His films have been purchased by regional, school and government libraries. One film has 200 copies in circulation in Canadian Government and National Film Board offices throughout the world. He also produces films for recreational and commercial enterprises as well as 30-second commercials for use on TV.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING CLEAR CABLEVISION FRANCHISE RENEWAL

Clear Cablevision, Inc. ("CLEAR"), provides cable television services to residents of the Village pursuant to Ordinance No. 86 of the Village of Chelsea and pursuant to the Village of Chelsea Community Antenna Television Franchise to "CLEAR" dated September 26, 1980. The term of the franchise is ten (10) years until September 26, 1990. Section 626 of the Cable Communications Policy Act of 1984, contains formal procedures which either a cable operator or a municipality may invoke in connection with renewal of a franchise. Clear Cablevision has requested that this proceeding, as detailed in Section 626, be initiated. The Village will, therefore, hold a public hearing, as called for in Section 626 (a) of the Act, to afford the public in the franchise area the opportunity to:

1. Identify future cable-related community needs and interests, and
2. Review the performance of the cable operator under the franchise to date.

The public hearing will be held at the regularly scheduled meeting of the Chelsea Village Council on Tuesday, February 16, 1988 at 7:30 o'clock P.M. at the Village Council Chambers, 104 East Middle Street, Chelsea, Michigan.

Signed written comments concerning the renewal will be accepted prior to the meeting and will be read at the meeting.

Nanny Recruiting Program Underway

Bonnie Martin recently attended a training session with Helping Hands, a nanny placement firm in Connecticut.

Ms. Martin will be recruiting women from age 18 to 65 to do live-in childcare for one year on the East Coast. Both nannies and families are carefully screened and matched.

Helping Hands has an active Nanny Network support system to help make the adjustments of being away from home easier.

Helping Hands opened in 1984 and has placed more than 800 nannies.

They have an 85% success rate of matching nannies and families.

For more information contact Bonnie Martin at 475-9077.

More than 1,300 student leaders indicated that success was more important than financial rewards during a survey administered at the 51st annual National Association of Student Councils (NASC) Conference. The students also reported that AIDS prevention, the economy, and the environment were priorities for America.

FACTS ABOUT COLD SORES

During this time of year many people suffer from what are commonly called "cold sores." But what causes cold sores and what can be done to treat them?

Cold sores are caused by a virus called Herpes Simplex. This virus has received much attention in recent years as a venereal disease which can recur at any time in the infected person and is incurable. Unfortunately, this is also true of cold sores. The herpes virus, like other viruses such as those which cause chicken pox, flu, the common cold, hepatitis, and AIDS, is very difficult to cure since antibiotics have no effect on it. The major defense against a virus is a person's own immune system.

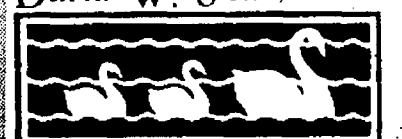

Cold sores are contagious. Open lesions contain many virus particles which may infect other individuals. The most common location for a cold sore is near or on the person's lip. Lesions usually recur at the same place every time since the virus actually lives within certain nerve tracts. During times of stress, fatigue, or illness the virus can become active and travel down the nerve tract to the skin causing a "fever blister." A tingling or burning sensation may be felt a day before the appearance of small blisters or vesicles. The blisters eventually rupture and the skin heals over in 10-14 days.

Mucous membranes such as those found in the mouth, eye, and genital area, are very thin and easily penetrated by the virus. A person with an open lesion should be careful to avoid touching the sore with his/her hand and then touching other parts of the body since it is possible to have multiple infections. Kissing should be avoided during outbreaks and glasses and eating utensils should not be shared.

Many people become infected with the herpes virus and never get a cold sore! The initial infection may present as a generalized sore mouth and the person may experience a fever and swollen lymph nodes. Treatment is for relief of symptoms since there is no cure. A medication called acyclovir may be prescribed to help speed the healing of a cold sore. Ask your dentist or physician.

WOODWIND OCTET from Chelsea High school earned the top rating at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Solo and Ensemble Festival held last Saturday, Feb. 6 at Livonia Franklin High school. In the front row, from left,

THREE ENSEMBLES from the Chelsea High school music program earned division one ratings at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Solo and Ensemble Festival last Saturday at Livonia Franklin High school. In the back row are three members of a sax-

SOLOISTS who earned division two ratings at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Solo and Ensemble Festival last Saturday are pictured above. Musicians are rated into one of five divisions and a division two rating is considered quite an honor. The competi-

EARNING DIVISION TWO ratings at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Solo and Ensemble Festival was this pair of Chelsea High school duets. At left are Laurie Honbaum and Mercedes Hammer. On the right are Joani Marsh and Marci Wales. The festival was held last Saturday at Livonia Franklin High school and attracted more than 4,000 high school musicians from southeastern Michigan.

Grass Lake Depot May Be Torn Down

health is to offer businesses and attractions not found in other places. He feels Grass Lake has a start on these types of businesses with the doll house store, Architectural Salvage, the hardware store that is the old kind with a ladder to reach the shelves, and the drug store complete with an old-time soda fountain.

A restored train station would fit in perfectly with the downtown envisioned by Mollenkopf, but he is worried that people in Grass Lake have developed a mentality that the downtown is beyond saving.

At present, the only hope for the station is for a private person or group to purchase it before March 5. Otherwise, it will become just a memory.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees

& Editor, Better Investing Magazine

Q. I am interested in an investment that would give me tax free income. A friend of mine has suggested that I buy shares in a tax exempt bond fund. Would you tell me if you think this is a good idea and describe how these funds work?

A. A tax exempt bond fund can be a good way to obtain tax free income if tax free income produces a larger income for you. The fund has some advantages over your going into the market and buying a bond yourself. The tax exempt bond fund is likely to be an investment company of the unit trust type. A brokerage house which is usually a sponsor puts together a portfolio of bonds, usually 30 different issues with a value of $30,000,000. The biggest sponsor of these funds is probably John Nuveen and Co. Some of the funds are designed to consist of bonds issued by municipalities just in one state. That means the income is not only tax exempt federally, but in that state and its municipalities as well.

The investor can buy units of the fund which are usually priced at $100. The unit trust is a fixed fund and you cannot reinvest income in it. If one of the series of bonds held by the fund is called, each investor receives his proportionate share as a return of capital. The total fund is usually made up of bonds with a distant maturity, such as 20 or 30 years. Should a number of the bonds be called, the sponsor of the fund may decide to liquidate the remainder of the fund and distribute the proceeds to the owners. In such a case the investor would have to put his money in another fund.

In his book "Handbook of Investment Products and Services," Victor L. Harper lists the benefits of the tax exempt bond fund as follows:

1. The income is exempt from all current federal income tax, and in some cases a portion is exempt from state and local taxes.
2. Diversification of risk. The portfolio will include issues of 25 to 30 different municipalities.
3. The portfolio will have been selected by professionals who will have given consideration to quality ratings, yields, interest rates, maturities and other factors.
4. Continual professional surveillance of the portfolio and possible recommendation that some issues be liquidated.

5. Liquidity—The unit is marketable on any business day either by redemption through the trustee or through secondary markets.

6. Convenience—Interest checks are mailed regularly. The investor does not have to provide safe-keeping for the bonds, record keeping or coupon clipping.

7. Safety—Municipal bonds, as a group, are considered to offer the highest degree of safety next to United States government bonds.

The charge to buy these funds is usually 3½ to 4½%. There is no redemption or management fee and the trust's evaluation fee is usually less than 25 cents per $1,000 unit per year.

Lawton S. Schaible

Saline Evangelical Home
(Formerly of Chelsea)

Lawton S. Schaible, age 84, of Chelsea, died Friday evening Feb. 5, 1988 at the Saline Evangelical Home. He was born July 9, 1903 in Sylvan township.

Mr. Schaible had been a life-long resident of Chelsea and had been an independent insurance agent and later was a security guard at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

He was a life member of Olive Lodge 156 of Chelsea and a 32nd Degree Scottish Rite member of Detroit.

Surviving are two step-sisters, Mrs. Charles Cummings and Miss Frieda Schmidt both of Connecticut; a step-nephew, Richard Schmidt of Grass Lake; and two step-nieces, Elaine Boyce and Eleanor Hall, both of Chelsea.

Funeral services were held Monday, Feb. 8, at 2 p.m. from the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home with the Rev. Ronald Smeenge of Covenant church officiating.

A Masonic memorial service was held Sunday evening at the funeral home.

Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Chelsea.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to Olive Lodge No. 156 of Chelsea.

Matie M. Lucht

Saline Evangelical Home
(Formerly of Lima Township)

Matie M. Lucht, formerly of 10835 Dexter-Chelsea Rd., Dexter, age 94, died Saturday morning, Feb. 6, 1988 at the Saline Evangelical Home.

She was born May 30, 1893 in Lima township, the daughter of Christ and Anna (Eschbach) Klein. On Sept. 28, 1918 she married John Lucht and three weeks later he preceded her in death.

She was a life-long resident of the Chelsea area and had been a 70-year member of St. Paul United Church of Christ and the Ladies Aid Society.

She is survived by her devoted twin sister, Bette Engelhart, of Saline.

Funeral services were held Tuesday Feb. 9, from St. Paul United Church of Christ with the Rev. Erwin R. Koch officiating. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Chelsea.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to St. Paul United Church of Christ.

Arrangements were by the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

8th Grade Spikers Win Opening Game

Beach Middle school 8th grade volleyball team opened its season with a victory on Thursday, Feb. 4 at Milan, 11-5, 11-0, 11-1.

Middle school rules call for the girls to play the best of five games, with a one-hour time limit.

In the opener, Angela Pace served for six points and her teammates successfully played 38 of 47 attempts.

Serving carried the Bullpups in the second and third games. In the second game, Holly Koscielniak, Brandi Kenney, Leah Hadley and Jessica Fletcher accounted for all the serving and served a perfect 100 percent. Fletcher scored seven points.

The Pups were 92 percent in serving the second game as Jenny Petty served six points. She had excellent support from Jenny Teare, Tara Roehm, and Amy Mitchell.

Portage Lake Grant Receives Support

Tell Them
You Read It in
THE STANDARD

A $57,000 grant proposal to study Portage Lake pollution is back on track after an initial setback. Bruce Monson, executive director of the Huron River Watershed Council, has received the necessary support from the local units of government involved and has already sent in a preliminary request, to be followed shortly with support documentation.

The grant, if approved, will fund an 18-month study of the causes of pollution in Portage Lake, complete with solutions. Half the money will come from the EPA, the other half from governmental units on the lake: Livingston and Washtenaw county, and Dexter and Hamburg township.

The Dexter township board of trustees, which balked at supporting the measure at their Jan. 19 meeting, happily agreed to give $1,000 at their Feb. 2 meeting. The reason for the turnaround, according to trustee Doug Smith, is that trustees reasoned that since the study will be done with technical advice of the DNR and under the aegis of the EPA, that the township will have more clout in acting against violators than they would have with a privately done study.

On Feb. 1, the night before Dexter township pledged support, the Base and Portage Lake Owners Association pledged $2,000 toward the study. But the turning point in the success of the project was when Livingston county agreed to give $12,000. Monson thought that Livingston's support was contingent on the support of the two townships on the lake, Putnam and Hamburg. Hamburg had readily agreed to give $1,000, but Putnam would not even make a motion to that effect.

But to Monson's pleasant surprise, Livingston county not only agreed to still support the project, but are paying Putnam's share, unless Putnam trustees change their minds.

Monson says that the project will be more than a study, it will be a management program, and the commitment will go beyond the scheduled 18 months. He considers it a real victory to have received support from so many units of government, saying, "It really shows the effort and willingness of the governments involved."

Monson expects final word on the grant by March 1.

Newhouse was cited by village president Jerry Satterthwaite for his work in setting up the Eyes and Ears Program. Newhouse lives in Stockbridge.

State Regulations Force Stop Changes On School Bus Routes

Several stops on a few Chelsea School District bus routes have been changed in order for the district to comply with state regulations concerning bus visibility.

According to transportation supervisor Sally Proctor, state law requires that motorists must be able to see a stopped bus from 400 feet, both in front and behind.

"Some of the stops had to be adjusted to allow more clearance," Proctor said.

"Some stops had to be changed 500 feet and others 50 feet. Some parents are upset that a stop isn't at the foot of their driveway. But if their driveway is on a hill, the stop can't be located there. It's up to the parents to provide a pathway to the bus stop."

As of last Thursday, stops on five routes had been adjusted, Proctor said. She said further adjustments may be necessary as she continues measurements of other stops. The measurements, she said, are performed manually.

According to superintendent Ray Van Meer, the school district could be held liable if an accident occurred because not enough visibility was provided at a bus stop. He said the changes were not made in response to a recent accident on North Territorial Rd. in which a first grade student was struck by a car when he ran into the road.
