Planners Table Action On New Shopping Center

Village Planning Commission tabled action on a site plan submitted for a strip mall next to Polly's Market at their regular meeting Feb. 23.

The plan, submitted by Kennedy Realty Co., calls for a 46,000-square-foot center to join Polly's on the south and take a slight bend to the west.

An initial site plan review by the village administration raised too many questions that couldn't be answered to the commission's satisfaction.

"We're working hard to have the plans approved at the March meeting of the planning commission," said assistant village manager Lee Fahrner.

Chief among the concerns, Fahrner said, is that developer Mike Kennedy must receive several approvals, including one from the state highway department allowing new use of an existing driveway south of Great Lakes Bancorp. That approval is necessary because M-52 is a state highway.

Another concern of the village administration is a lack of adequate parking. Kennedy's site plan indicates the plan is more than 100 spaces short of the nearly 400 spaces required.

The administration has also made two recommendations that were also made in regards to the Chelsea Shopping Center project that is planned across M-52 by Arcus Corp.

Sanitary sewer service to the mall will be provided by a new 10-inch trunkline that has been proposed to service the area in general. The administration has recommended that Kennedy Realty should make a contribution to the project "based on the benefit received."

In addition, the administration recommended that a development agreement be developed as a condition of any site plan approval. The plan would detail exactly what the developer and the village are responsible for completing.

Other general considerations raised by the administration's review included:

- A fire lane around the building is advisable.
- There does not appear to be any workable truck loading and unloading facilities, which might be "another good reason to provide a roadway around the building."

- Great Lakes Bancorp must indicate their acceptance of the drive connection between the sites.

- The developer must also agree to cooperate with the Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner in regards to establishing the Pierce Lake drainage district and obtain any necessary permits.

- Provide adequate lighting as determined by the electrical department and retain an electrical consultant to design site utilities.

- Provide a landscape plan.

- The existing sewage pump station should be improved.

- The planning commission should review the need for sidewalks along the east side of M-52 in front of the development.

Two Cars Stolen From Local Dealership

Two automobiles were stolen from Faist-Morrow last week-end, probably at the same time, Chelsea police reported.

Stolen were a 1987 Buick Grand National valued at $8,400 and a 1986 Chevrolet IROC, valued at $16,032. The Buick was black with a gray interior. The Chevy sports car was recovered by Detroit police late Monday night. Chelsea police said it was the second time the car was stolen.

In addition, a license plate was stolen from a repair customer's car. Police said the plate was probably put on one of the stolen vehicles in order to drive the vehicle away more easily.

The theft was reported at 9:16 a.m. Monday by Ted Faist.

Police said the car locks were probably picked as there was no sign of broken glass in the parking lot.

Police speculate that at least three people were involved—two to drive the cars away and another to drive them to the dealership.

'Guys & Dolls' Will Open Tomorrow

Tomorrow night is opening night for the musical production "Guys and Dolls." The musical will run Thursday, March 3, Friday, March 4, and Saturday, March 5. All shows will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets are available from the Chelsea Drug Store.

Students involved in the production include: David Barth, Jennifer Bennett, Bill Coelius, Kellie Kanten, Dale Cole, Marty Heller, Donald Gerstler, Judy Bareis, Tim Parkkila, Jason Overdorf, David Teare, Sharon Colombo, Krista Smith, Howard Brooks, Angela Myers, Keith Bro, Missy Check, Alisha Dorow, Kristina Steffenson, Minta vanReesema, Anna Flintoft, Tami Harris, Sheila Tillman, Meredith Johnson, Jill LaCroix, Nancy Nye, Matt Carlson, Debbi Gerstler, Stacy McDaniels, Gloria Gallas, Heather Bro, Dana Durst, Lori Wetzel, Sherry Dukes, Kim Degener, Mary Kemp, Kenyan Vosters, Beth Kimball, Susan Maynard, Amy Carpenter, Ann Weiner, and Mike Steinaway.

Directing the production is Doug Beaumont. Doug is assisted by June Warren, producer; Bart Bauer, technical director/set designer; Elissa Bauer, choreographer; Linda Mullison, rehearsal pianist; Wendy Wolfgang, assistant director; Jennifer Schweiger, student director; and Jed Fritzmeier, musical director.

DNR Won't Back Off Demands for Village To Clean Up Pollution

By Brian Hamilton
Department of Natural Resources is apparently not willing to bend in its demand that the Village of Chelsea take full responsibility for cleaning up any groundwater pollution at the village landfill.

That was one of the conclusions drawn by Village President Jerry Satterthwaite, who met with DNR officials Monday afternoon in Jackson to discuss the licensing and pollution problems at the landfill. Satterthwaite was joined by assistant village manager Lee Fahrner, the village's Grand Rapids attorney and the village's consulting geologist.

Satterthwaite called it "a disappointing meeting," largely because not much was decided.

"It's going to be a negotiation process," Satterthwaite said.

Satterthwaite said the DNR has extended the village's current operating license so that it can continue filling in the current cell. He estimates the landfill has about two months capacity remaining before it will have to be closed down.

"In 30 days we should have a more clear cut idea of what is going on," Satterthwaite said.

For the first time, Satterthwaite suggested that the village may want to consider closing down the landfill altogether, even if the DNR decides to issue a new permit.

"Somewhere down the road, within the next few weeks, council is going to have to decide how much more obligation it wants to put the village in as far as this landfill goes," Satterthwaite said.

"If we go into the new cell, will it come back to haunt us in 10 years? Five years ago we could have opted out of the landfill business and unfortunately I was one of the people who pushed to keep us in it. If I had known the nightmare it was going to cause, I never would have suggested it."

Satterthwaite said any consent agreement would spell out exactly to what extent the village is willing to clean up any groundwater pollution. He said no matter what is agreed to, the solution is likely to be expensive for the village. He didn't speculate on how the village would pay for a clean-up.

"The problem is, we don't know exactly what is out there," Satterthwaite said.

"To what standard do you clean it up to? Do you clean it up to the level of the water that's coming in there or do you clean it up to federal guidelines? I don't think anybody has any idea of what it will take to clean it up."

DNR has been pushing for a public information meeting to be held in March in Chelsea but Satterthwaite is not in favor of the idea, "simply because we don't have any answers."

"If they want to answer people's questions, fine, but I don't think they have any answers. We don't know what's causing the problem, we don't know what it will take to fix it. We're not trying to cover up anything, we just don't have any answers and I don't think it would be an informative session."

The DNR and village are again going to split samples of water from monitoring wells and have them tested. This time the tests will also check for arsenic, which has been found in residential wells east of the landfill.

Meet Your Candidates

This is the third in a series of profiles of candidates for village office in the March 14 elections. This week's profiles focus on incumbents Phil Boham and Joe Merkel. The Chelsea Standard does not endorse any candidates.

Phil Boham, 122 S. East St., is seeking his second term as trustee on the village council.

Boham has lived most of his life in Chelsea. His family moved from Lima, O. to Dexter when he was very young, and two years later moved to Chelsea. He's been in the area ever since.

Boham is vice-president of human resources for Chelsea Community Hospital, where he's been employed for the last five years. Previously he worked for 16 years at Dana Corp. as industrial relations manager.

Boham is probably the most outspoken member of the village council. He publicly expresses his opinions about most issues.

In fact, earlier this year Boham was considering a run for village president.

"I haven't learned enough yet," Boham said of his reasons for not running for president.

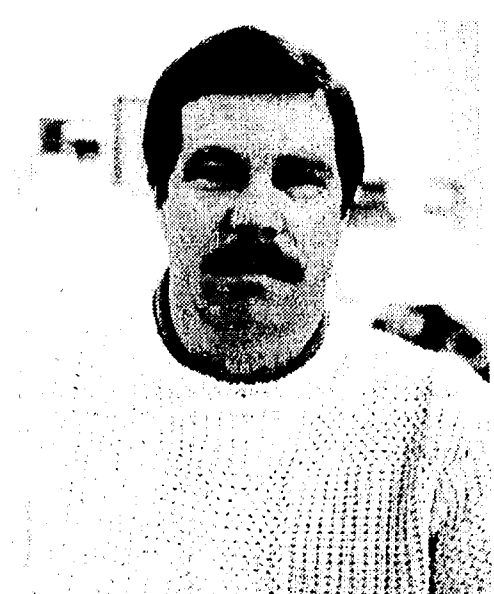

"Anyone who comes into a situation inexperienced and quickly tries to take control is going to have a difficult time."

Boham said he would not rule out a run for president in the future but, "I wouldn't run against someone who's doing a good job."

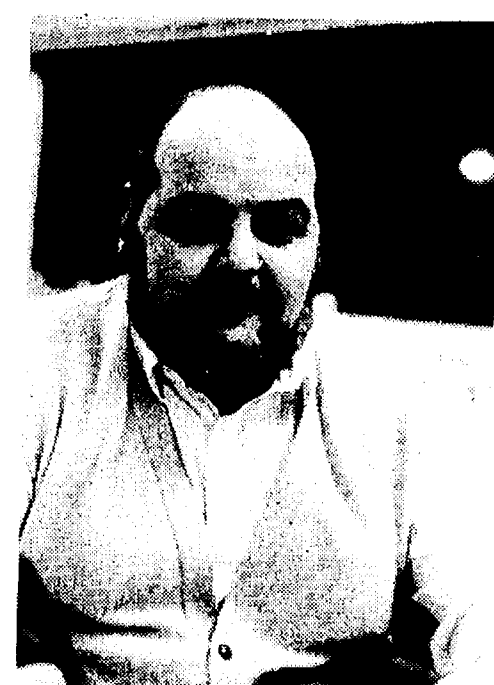

Boham says his professional experience has been a big help in working on the council.

"Two years ago when I ran, one of the things that I stated is that I have a

PHIL BOHAM

JOE MERKEL

Joe Merkel is seeking his fifth term as village trustee.

Merkel has lived all but seven years of his life in Chelsea. The other seven were spent in Owosso.

For 20 years Merkel has been the owner of Wolverine Food & Spirits, one of the village's largest restaurants and liveliest nightspots.

He's also on the Chelsea Community Fair Board of Directors.

Merkel is the senior member of the council. He said he's been asked several times to run for village president but doesn't feel he has the time to devote to the job.

Merkel has been mayor pro-temp for the last five years, which means he takes over in the absence of the village president. He and Phil Boham serve as the council's liaison with the Chelsea Police Department, dealing mostly with personnel matters.

"Right now there are a lot of projects going on," Merkel said of his reasons for running again.

"I think people on the council should stay on until the projects get done." Merkel was referring in particular to the new wastewater plant and the licensing problems with the village landfill.

Merkel ranked completion of the plant "at an affordable rate for the users," as the village's top immediate priority.

"There are things you can do to keep costs under control, like make sure people are doing their jobs and there aren't 20 people standing around with nothing to do."

Merkel was also emphatic that the FORMER SOUTH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL Sylvester Wojcik died last Thursday after a short illness. Mr. Wojcik was principal at South Elementary for 20 years. "He cared about the kids in his building, it's what he lived for," said Chelsea assistant superintendent Fred Mills. "If a first grade child had a problem, Syl was always willing to listen or hold his hand. He always had time for them, after school, during school, whenever."

THE FIRST WIENER ROAST of 1988 was held by the Bro family at Half Moon Lake on Sunday afternoon after a two-hour hike. Although it wasn't quite t-shirt weather, Sunday's temperatures were relatively mild for February

Concern on Economy Seen
In Unbalanced U.S. Budget

Management and Budget Director Shelby Solomon said recently he is concerned about the long-term economic impact of President Reagan's proposed budget for 1988-89, saying it does not even attempt to meet the goals of last year's deficit reduction agreement.

Solomon, who said he disagrees with the priorities expressed in the $100 million of cuts in outlays to the state, said the next administration—regardless of party—will have to address the issue with both spending cuts and tax increases.

The cuts, including a reduced federal share of the Medicaid program were anticipated in Governor James Blanchard's 1988-89 budget proposals.

The $1.09 trillion budget has a projected deficit of $129.5 million, down from $150.4 million in the current year, although Solomon said it is based on far more optimistic forecasts than most other projections.

The President and Congressional leaders agreed to lower deficit targets in the wake of the October stock market crash and Solomon said he is worried about the signal the new budget sends to Wall Street, investors and consumers confidence.

And, he said the forecasts in future years show deficits higher than the targets set in the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings agreement. "There is where we have the greatest risk of all," he said.

"My major message is the absence of efforts to balance the budget and maintain a balanced budget could encounter further problems at the federal level that would affect the economy of the state," Solomon said.

He said the $100 million in cuts to the state, plus another $200 million in authorized spending over several years to local units, could be worse, depending on how a new administration in Washington deals with the deficits.

Solomon said the budget makes Draconian cuts in several programs yet does not require "belt tightening where it should."

Revisions Recommended in Radioactive Waste Dump Site

Two revisions designed to improve protection of groundwater are part of a list of criteria released for public comment this week by the Low Level Radioactive Waste Authority.

Authority Director David Hales said the criteria, which will be used to select three potential sites in which to store waste from Michigan and six neighboring states, otherwise follow established federal regulations and state law.

The proposed revisions, which would require legislative amendments to state law, would require the dump site to be located so any groundwater that might become contaminated would not reach an underground reservoir for 500 years and measuring the 3,000-foot buffer from the waste repository itself, rather than from the perimeter of the site which is already 3,000 feet from the repository.

Current criteria protects only underground reservoirs in use while the proposed revision would offer a far broader protection.

Reducing the size of the buffer zone to about two square miles from eight would increase the chance of getting a site on dense, relatively dry soil that offers more protection from leakage than would a sandy soil that would be expected using the larger area if it were also to be dry.

Public comment will be accepted by the authority until Tuesday, March 15. A public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 10 at the Delta Charter Township Hall, 7710 W. Saginaw, Lansing.

Hales said it will be late June before the three potential sites are selected and the 1993 deadline to open the site will be missed by at least nine months.

He said the federal timetable is unrealistic, but no plans have yet been established for what to do with the waste from Jan. 1, 1993 when the sites are required to be open and the actual opening date.

Honor Society
Seeking Dresses
For Project

Chelsea High school's chapter of the National Honor Society has begun a new service project involving patients at Ypsilanti Regional Hospital.

The staff of the hospital is hosting a formal gala for the patients and the honor society is seeking donations of long dresses or evening gowns for the event.

Anyone interested in donating a dress should be asked to contact Alissa Dorow at 475-2786 or honor society advisors Paul Terpstra or Barb Pruess at Chelsea High school by Wednesday, March 9.

VCR Stolen
From UAW Hall

A videocassette recorder was stolen from the UAW Hall at 218 S. Main St. after a wedding reception on Saturday night, Feb. 21.

According to Chelsea police, the VCR was reported missing at 9 a.m. on Sunday, Feb. 22.

The machine also contained a tape of a wedding held earlier Saturday. A television next to the VCR was not taken, police said.

Value of the machine was estimated at $400.

The lungfish can live out of water in a state of suspended animation for three years.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Maybe it was no more than our normal efforts to put a better face on gloomy February, Bug Hookum told the fellers Saturday night, but it seems to him we have been reading more than the usual run of good news about health matters. Bug has some clippings where one week a aspirin a day will keep heart attacks away, and the next where a cream not only takes away wrinkles and age spots, but actual prevents skin cancer.

Bug, that allus is lamenting about everything, natural saw the flip side coming up. As soon as the weather breaks and the sun comes out regular, he said, we're bound to be reminded how thin the ozone layer is, and how we'd better stay in the shade on account of all the bad rays gitting through. At the same time, but went on, we'll read how we'd better stay outdoors as much as we can to get away from radon gas in our houses. Back last fall, Bug allowed, before the weather got bad and the health news got good, we were told of problems with fish oil to clean our pipes and wires of all the messy fat and cholesterol. A little bit ain't much good, the warning went, and the hole lot that would be wonderful is hard to come by. The trouble is, we can't eat enough fish to get enough of someone called Omega 3, and the jury is still out on the $50 million worth of fish oil capsules we have bought over the last two years.

When the report come out, Bug reported, the reserchers admitted they didn't know how much Omega 3 was enough, but they knowed we weren't gittin' enough of it. They knowed fish oil pills won't do harm and they might do good, if they ain't made from fish took from polluted water, in which case we'd best take a aspirin, go to bed and hope fer the best.

The fellers wouldn't let Bug's worrying git contagious. Clem Webster said he, fer one, rejects health hints on food and ointments fer old folks. Clem said he has lived three score and 10 and then some, and that he has stayed healthy as a horse eating everything that didn't eat him. His way of living works fer him, Clem allowed, and he allus figgered if it ain't broke don't fix it.

Contrary, Ed Doolittle declared, he can see some sense in changing old habits in hopes of living better longer, and so can all the folks that have quit smoking and drinking and starting exercising more instead of less. Ed said he would of took better care of himself if he had knowed he was going to live so long, which explains a recent study that shows people 18 to 30 have the worst eating habits. They ain't old enough to see the need, which shows youth is wasted on the young.

Actual, Ed said, he's more bothered by life insurance aimed at old folks. Buying life insurance is betting you'll die and hoping you'll lose, he said, and the longer you live the safer your bet. So Ed said he didn't pay attention to any of the hoopla about life insurance you can't be turned down fer at any age, except the fine print where you got to live at least two more years before the policy pays anything.

Personal, I like the gag gift I got on my last birthday. It was a bottle of birthday control pills that looked fer the world like jelly beans. The perscription said to take one at a time to prevent birthdays that can be hazardous to your health.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

CUB SCOUTS working on their God and Family Award under the direction of leaders Sue Bennett and Shauna Mote helped the seniors at the Chelsea Senior center celebrate February birthdays by providing cake and entertainment.

As an added bit of fun, they put trick candles on the cake. Posing in front of the cake are Thelma Eisenmann, Mary Herrst, Ann Friday, and Arthur Kuhl.

Belser Estates Plat Considered By Council

Chelsea Village Council was scheduled to consider giving final approval of the preliminary plat of Belser Estates at the regular meeting Tuesday night.

Belser Estates is the 74-lot housing development planned for the eastern edge of the village on Freer Rd.

According to assistant village manager Lee Fahrner, it's likely developer Charles Belser could receive final approval of the final plat at the village council's March 15 meeting. That would allow Belser to begin road construction and other site improvements.

PAT HAWKINS enjoys a second piece of cake baked by Cub Scouts working on their God and Family Award. The scouts made the cakes on Thursday, Feb. 18, bringing them to the senior center the next day. The cakes were brightly decorated. Said senior center director Ruth Smith, "The seniors really enjoyed this."

Cancer Society's Great American Lock-Up Slated

Washtenaw county unit of the American Cancer Society is offering local citizens an opportunity to "do a number" on a friend, relative, or co-worker, and at the same time, help to raise money for a good cause.

On March 22-23-24, you can put your friends behind bars in the American Cancer Society's Great American Lock-Up. For just $25, you can file a complaint and take out a warrant for your victim's arrest. A Washtenaw county deputy sheriff will serve the warrant, arrest and transport the accused to the American Cancer Society jail at Arborland Mall. There, the accused will be arraigned before the judge (who sets the bail) and then locked behind bars.

While in custody, the jailbird has unlimited local use of the telephone to call friends, business associates, etc., to raise the bail in pledges to the American Cancer Society.

It's all in good fun—but along with the fun arrests, we are still serious about "arresting" cancer. All bail and arrest fees are tax deductible and go toward the American Cancer Society's programs of research, education and service to cancer patients.

To arrange to turn yourself in, or to have one of your friends or foes arrested, just call the American Cancer Society at 971-4300.

IRS Offers Tax Help on Saturdays

The Internal Revenue Service office in Ann Arbor will be open on selected Saturdays during March and April for people who need help with their 1987 federal and state tax forms but can't get to the office during weekday hours, the IRS said today.

The free tax help is available on March 5 and March 19 and the first two Saturdays in April. Saturday hours are 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The tax filing period ends April 15.

The Ann Arbor office of IRS at Wolverine Tower, 3001 S. State St., is also open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for federal tax assistance.

The IRS also provides answers to tax questions through their toll free telephone system. The number is 1-800-424-1040 and assistance is available from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Mondays; Tuesday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; and Saturday between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The toll free number for forms orders only is 1-800-424-3676, and it is available Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturdays 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor,

I would like to try to clear up a misunderstanding or the misinformation set forth in a letter by W. Parker a few weeks ago.

The breed of dog commonly known as the "pit bull" is more properly named either the American Staffordshire or the Staffordshire Bull. These two breeds are of the terrier grouping. They possess the terrier feistiness and are acknowledged to be a menace to strangers. They have rightfully earned their bad press.

Our Chelsea High school mascot, the (English) Bulldog, on the other hand, is of a totally different temperament. This breed belongs to the non-sporting grouping, and is gentle, sweet-natured and devoted. As a breed they also claim to be both stubborn and bold. They are a pet who is eager to please and retains what it learns. The unprovoked attack of innocent strangers is just not in the nature of the bulldog.

Please, rest assured, the bulldog is a fine mascot for our athletic teams. One I was proud of throughout my years in Chelsea's fine schools.

Cpl. Johnny Nicholson Receiving Cold Weather Training in Wisconsin

Marine Lance Cpl. Johnny R. Nicholson, son of Elvis R. and Joanne C. Nicholson of 7945 North Territorial Rd., Dexter, recently departed on a six-week deployment to Fort McCoy, Wis., with 2nd Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N. C.

While deployed, Nicholson will participate in cold weather training designed to teach the proper survival techniques. He will be instructed on what foods to eat, the proper clothing to be worn during freezing temperatures, how to set up camp and weapons, as well as the proper procedures for treating cold-related illnesses such as hypothermia.

A 1986 graduate of Dexter High school, he joined the Marine Corps in June 1987.

DNR Seeks Help in Bald Eagle Study

Michigan residents are urged to play a "heads-up" role in the comeback of bald eagles this winter by reporting their sightings of the majestic birds during the January-March period to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Nongame Wildlife Program.

Reports zeroing in on the Jan. 1-15 time frame are particularly important. They will be tied into a co-operative effort with the National Wildlife Federation as part of a nation-wide winter eagle survey.

Observations of eagles extending throughout the winter will help guide a management recovery plan for these spectacular birds. A good deal is known about Michigan's nesting populations of eagles in the summer, but biologists need to learn more about where the birds spend their winters.

"Our state's nesting eagle numbers reached an all-time high of 137 pairs this past summer and produced a record 149 young," reported Tom Weise, DNR endangered species coordinator. "We need to know where our eagles spend the winter so critical winter habitat may be preserved to help increase the birds' breeding population."

Many of this state's nesting eagles remain in scattered sectors of both peninsulas during the cold weather months, but some, notably immature birds, leave Michigan to winter elsewhere, noted Weise. Eagles that do winter in Michigan are most apt to be seen near open water areas where they can find food, he said.

Thanks to citizen participation and reports, a record 145 bald eagles were counted in Michigan last winter.

"Last year's response was very helpful to our recovery plans for the bald eagle under the Nongame Wildlife Program," stressed Weise. "We need another strong show of public reports this winter to crosscheck whether mild conditions a year ago accounted for the unusually high numbers of eagles wintering in Michigan."

Anyone sighting an adult bald eagle (distinguished by white head and tail) from now through March should send a postcard with the date, specific location, and number of eagles seen to: Eagle Alert, DNR Nongame Wildlife, Box 30180, Lansing 48909.

Weise concluded: "Besides helping in this fact-finding effort, we need continued public support to finance field management work for bald eagles. We hope Michigan citizens will also come through for eagles this winter by donating to the Nongame Wildlife Fund (checkoff) on Line 35 of their state tax returns."

Adult Volunteers Needed To Help Abused Children

Responsible adults interested in learning how citizens can help abused children may find out more by attending the first in a series of four sessions Thursday, March 3 at 7 p.m. in the Washington County Juvenile Center, 2270 Platt Rd., between Huron Parkway and Washtenaw Ave. in east Ann Arbor.

Appropriate applicants who complete the series on March 10, 17, 24 and pass a police check will thereafter be sworn in office by a Probate Court judge.

CASA volunteers typically supervise a weekly visit between their assigned child(ren) and the formerly abusive/neglectful parent who is being evaluated by the court to see if their child(ren) can appropriately be returned to them from foster care. Volunteers report their observations to the court at judicial hearings approximately every three months.

When active on a case (up to one year commitment, though not all last that long), volunteers usually spend about four hours a week. Most of the time generally is after regular business hours.

Naturally, such volunteers must have total integrity as well as good writing and inter-personal skills. No particular education beyond high school is required prior to CASA training. Potential volunteers are encouraged to invite interested associates to explore CASA with them. Secretarial volunteers also are needed.

Nationally, there are over 250 CASA programs, with a new one being added weekly. Locally, Community Action on Substance Abuse, an unrelated program, has the same initials.

Prospective volunteers may apply March 3 and/or call the CASA director, Dr. Stan Harbison, at 971-2995. People who would like to help child abuse victims in other ways are encouraged to join Friends of Washtenaw CASA through Harbison's office. Washtenaw County especially needs "big brothers" and foster homes—particularly for minority children.

village should stand up for itself in its disagreement with the Department of Natural Resources over the landfill.

The DNR has so far refused to issue a new operating license for the landfill until the village agrees to take sole responsibility for cleaning up any groundwater contamination.

"Definitely we should (take them to court) if we have to," Merkel said. "They're the ones who told us to put the landfill there 25 years ago. We're not going to give up, we can't give up."

Merkel said he couldn't comment on what the village's action should be in the event a new license is issued.

"That would have to be studied," he said.

In another issue, Merkel was the only trustee to vote against the purchase of two lots on Park St. as the site of a new village hall.

"I would rather see a village hall with everything at one spot, including the village offices and the village garage," Merkel said.

"Right now there is a lot of time wasted. The administrator should be with the bulk of the people because there would be better control of personnel."

Merkel admitted that that sort of complex "would take quite a chunk of property," and probably couldn't be located downtown.

Merkel has abstained in any voting pertaining to shopping centers in Chelsea due to what he sees as a conflict of interest. He said he plans to set up a retail business unrelated to the Wolverine in one of the malls.

"Also, the one mall would be right across the road and might increase my business (at the Wolverine)."

Merkel advocates controlled growth for Chelsea, saying "we can't afford to stagnate." He said he'd like to see a more concerted marketing effort of the village industrial park.

"Finally now people are agreeing we're going to push it," Merkel said. "I've been pushing for a year and a half to put an ad in the Ann Arbor News business section. And I've suggested other ways to sell it."

Merkel calls himself "just a common man on the street," and said he initially ran for office so "the common taxpayer had a voice in government." He said he believes that over his four terms village council has grown increasingly responsive to residents' concerns.

"People call and get results," Merkel said. That, he said, has been his most gratifying experience over the last eight years.

Merkel and his wife, Judy, have two sons, Joe IV and Mike, who are students at Michigan State University, and a daughter, Chris, who attends South Elementary school.

Spring 4-H Achievement Program Set

Washtenaw county 4-H Youth Program has announced the annual Spring Achievement Program, to be held Saturday, March 12, at Saline High school.

4-H members will exhibit and be judged in the areas of clothing, knitting, crocheting, leathercraft, woodcraft, demonstrations, cultural arts, crafts and photography.

Exhibits will be on display in the school cafeteria from 12 noon to 9 p.m. There will be a Style Revue at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium. 4-H members will be modeling their clothing projects and the 4-H award winners will be announced after the show.

The public is invited to stop by and view the exhibits, attend the style show and learn more about Washtenaw county 4-H programs.

The U.S. Department of Labor's Pension and Welfare Benefits Administration recovered more than $100 million through voluntary settlements and court actions and conducted 47 criminal investigations under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act during the 1986 fiscal year.

ROBYN HAFNER, a Chelsea High school senior, is a finalist for a National Merit Scholarship. The selection was based on her scores on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test taken her junior year plus her involvement in community and school activities. Robyn is a member of the Chelsea chapter of the National Honor Society. She was on the debate team for two years and participated in two Chelsea musical plays—"Annie Get Your Gun," and "Cinderella." She was a varsity swimmer for three years. Robyn is also active in St. Mary's Catholic church. Next fall she plans to attend either the University of Michigan, Brown University, or Northwestern University. She is the daughter of Dorothy Hafner, 338 Elm St., and the sister of Joseph.

Mute Swan Killed By Intestinal Parasite

The mute swan population of Portage Lake has been reduced by half, three of the six having recently been found dead. Laboratory tests have revealed that the cause of death of at least one of them was an intestinal parasite.

DNR Conservation Officer Craig Wales sent the swan to the Rose Lake Wildlife Research Laboratory near Lansing after becoming concerned that it was the third swan found dead in the area in a short period of time.

The first swan that was found dead did not have any marks, so it was obviously not the work of an out-of-season hunter. Wales was not concerned, believing it was probably a simple case of lead poisoning left from a shell. When the second swan died after flying too near some electric wires, it was assumed that it was electrocuted.

But when a third swan was found dead in the same time-period, Wales became concerned about fowl play and sent the swan to the DNR Lab at Rose Lake.

According to Stephen Schmitt, a wildlife veterinarian who directs the laboratory, the testing revealed that the swan died from an intestinal fluke, a parasite named "sphaeridiotrema." The intermediate host was probably a snail that the swan had eaten. The parasite causes death fairly quickly by creating internal hemorrhaging.

While the fluke is not contagious, often many swans from the same area will die since they are eating from the same food base. Schmitt said last year between 60 and 70 swans living near Belle Isle died from this same problem. He said this year there was a problem in the western part of the state near St. Joseph.

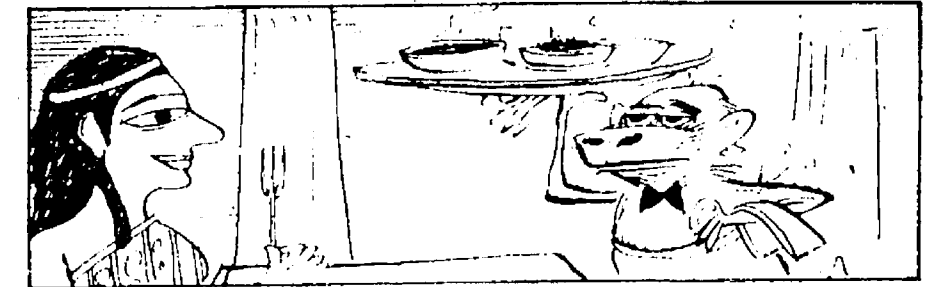

These flukes do not seem to affect geese or ducks. Tom Hodgson, director of the Dahlem Environmental Education Center explained, "Mute swans are not native to the United States and have no prior exposure to the parasite. Native waterfowl have built up a natural tolerance and can survive even when they ingest the parasite."

Wales said he did not know how many mute swans are in the area, but that in the winter they live where there is open water, such as the canal between Little and Big Portage Lakes. Another place they can be found locally is at North Lake.

Wales says there is nothing that can be done about the fluke problem, but he would still like to have any mute swan deaths reported so he can monitor the extent of the problem. The last he had heard, the remaining three swans at Portage Lake were still alive.

WCHS, Chelsea High school's television station, was on hand to film the Bulldogs' final league game last Friday as part of a tape on Winter Carnival. The game, unfortunately, was not a highlight of the season for Chelsea.

It is claimed in some legends that, in ancient Egypt, baboons were trained to wait on tables.

DNR Offers Small Grants To Budding Naturalists

Michigan school students at all levels are encouraged by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to apply for small educational grants to study or help non-game wildlife species and their habitat during this spring and summer.

Before applying, hopeful young naturalists must be endorsed for their projects by a school, youth group, or nature center. Youth groups (4-H clubs, FFA groups, Girl or Boy Scout troops) may also apply. They will need adult advisors to help complete their applications and oversee their projects.

The grants, ranging up to $100 each, are open to applications under the DNR's Budding Naturalist Program until March 26 to stimulate outdoor wildlife study and management among youngsters in grades K-12 throughout the state. Members of youth organizations are especially urged to take part.

Applications are available statewide from county offices of Michigan State University's (MSU) Co-operative Extension Service.

A total of $2,000 has been committed to this year's program, co-financed by Michigan's Nongame Wildlife Fund (state tax checkoff) and Mr. Fables' Wildlife Conservation Fund of Grand Rapids. Some 30-40 grants are expected to be awarded for the balance of the current school year and this summer.

DNR nongame wildlife specialists based that estimate on the first two years of the Budding Naturalist Program when 38 projects, averaging $50, were funded. Those earlier grants covered such outdoor activities as development of bluebird nest box trails, nest box building for barred owls, wildlife photography, plus studies on hummingbirds, pond ecology, and "life on a log."

Forms for 1988 grant applications may be picked up at local Co-operative Extension (4-H) offices of MSU. They also may be obtained from: 4-H Specialist, Department of Fisheries and Wildlife, Room 8 Natural Resources Bldg., MSU, East Lansing 48824, 517-355-7493.

March 26 marks the deadline for getting completed forms to that address. Grant recipients will be announced by mid-April.

Those receiving grants will be contacted periodically to check their progress and offer possible assistance. They will be required to make final reports, summing up their work accomplishments.

All applicants will receive free, full-color wall posters featuring a painting and tips on backyard bird feeding. Selected Budding Naturalists, upon completing their projects, will be given Certificates of Achievement from the DNR's Nongame Wildlife Program.

The over-all program is made possible by citizen donations (state tax refund check-offs) to the Nongame Wildlife Fund.

In fiscal year 1988, the budget for the Work Incentive (WIN) program totalled $210.5 million, according to the Labor Department's 1988 annual report. The objective of the WIN program is to restore applicants and recipients and their families of Aid to Families with Dependent Children to economic independence and enable them to assume a useful role in the community.

Wendy J. Carpenter Completes Army Basic Training

Pvt. Wendy J. Carpenter, daughter of Donald L. and Marcia M. Davis of 1136 Lakeshore Dr., Gregory, has completed basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Her husband, Robert, is the son of Robert M. and Mary Carpenter of 1900 Phillips, Holt.

She is a 1983 graduate of Stockbridge High school.

Bins Under Construction for County-wide Recycling Project

Roll-away bins are being constructed as Washtenaw county prepares to begin its county-wide recycling project this spring. According to county recycling coordinator Tom McMurtrie, recycling in Chelsea will begin no later than May 1 but will in all probability begin sooner. Polly's Market has been selected as the tentative site of Chelsea's recycling center due to its central and visible location, McMurtrie said.

"It will take four to six weeks to get the bins in Chelsea," McMurtrie said. "This has taken a little longer than we had thought. The bins will definitely be in by May 1."

Capital equipment for the program is being funded by a $160,000 state grant, McMurtrie said.

The program is not being conducted on a trial basis or is in any way being considered temporary or experimental, McMurtrie said.

The steel bins will look similar to a long dumpster with five doors. The largest bin, about 60 percent of the total bin, will handle newspapers. Others will handle glass and metal cans.

Material collected will be taken to Recycle Ann Arbor for processing. Those materials will be resold to companies who can use them.

Future funding for the program will come from the county's solid waste revenue fund, which is being funded in part by tipping fees at various landfills in the area, including the Chelsea landfill, McMurtrie said.

Once the hardware is in place, McMurtrie said he'll concentrate his efforts on public education.

"I really haven't had a whole lot of a chance to get into the promotion of the program," McMurtrie said.

"Once it's all in place, I'll work more with education in the schools and in other places."

Village administration is solidly behind the recycling program. However, one village official has wondered whether Polly's Market is the best location for the bins simply because the bins will probably be unattended. He said that has caused problems in other areas where some residents have used the bins as trash receptacles.

4-H Cloning Workshop Set

Washtenaw county teens and adults are invited to attend the 4-H Cloning Workshop, March 25-26, at Kettunen Center in Tustin.

The program will explore the art of cloning, with sessions for both beginner and experienced clowns. Participants will have the opportunity to develop technical skills in clowning, communications and group dynamics.

The sessions for beginners will cover make-up, costuming and etiquette, character development, balloons and mime. Experienced clowns will learn about skits and skit writing, puppetry and ventriloquism, advanced ballooning and magic.

Reservations are due March 14. This workshop is sponsored by the Michigan 4-H Foundation through a grant provided by Ralph Nichols Corp., Southfield, and Lynn Shaw Memorial Fund, Charlotte.

solid management background and that I am able to contribute a number of things from that background. Certainly the industrial relations/human resources background provides a good base for that. I've had some negotiating experience with UAW contracts, which I think has assisted Fritz (Weber, village manager) and Lee (Fahrner, assistant village manager) with some of the contracts up there. My experience with benefits and insurance contracts down here also help when we're talking about pensions and basic insurances. Hopefully my serving has been positive for the council."

Boham says that council's interaction with the planning commission to control growth in the village has been the village council's biggest accomplishment in the last two years. He mentioned all the various housing projects and two shopping centers.

"We've been able to take and keep all those projects in perspective and still evaluate what it means to the village and not make any irrational decisions. I think the planning commission should be commended on the amount of work that's been presented to them and their ability to get some of these projects off the ground and keep the integrity of the village intact. The easy way would have been to give everybody the approvals and let them run rampant with their projects. It's been a very well-controlled growth."

Boham considers the slow, controlled growth of the village the number one long-term issue. He says he favors more aggressive promotion of the industrial park through advertising in appropriate publications as well as through hiring a broker.

"We haven't done all we could have," Boham said.

However, the most pressing issue, he says, is getting the landfill licensing situation straightened out with the Department of Natural Resources.

"First reaction I'd say take them to court, but from the standpoint of prudence I'd have to ask is it worth the money to try to fight the bureaucracy," Boham was referring to the possibility that the DNR might not bend in its request to make Chelsea completely responsible for the clean-up of any groundwater contamination before it issues a license.

"I don't think the DNR is playing the game fair. I think they're using their power and influence to cover their own mistakes of the past and they don't want to admit to the liability issue. I'd be willing to push that to the higher courts if I had to, keeping in mind the cost to do that. If it's going to cost more to do that than clean up the landfill then certainly financial prudence takes precedence."

If the village obtains a new operating license, Boham favors keeping the landfill closed to commercial haulers, with the exception of the village's contractor. He'd also keep it open for individuals in the surrounding townships.

Boham supported the Downtown Development Authority's tax increment financing plan, but only, he says, because the Chelsea School District supported it. The school district would have lost the most money in the plan.

If the supreme court rules increment financing illegal, Boham said he would support a special assessment on businesses downtown, but only if the businesses supported it. Beyond that, he says, he isn't sure how the DDA's beautification projects could be financed.

Boham, and his wife, Lynne, have two children, Rick and Shelley.

Fr. Germano Pegoraro's Art Enriches St. Louis School

Two paintings by Father Germano Pegoraro, religious superior at St. Louis School for Boys, recently earned $1,200 for the building fund when sold at a silent auction. The paintings, both scenes of Fr. Germano's native Italy, were sold for $900 and $300 at the school's Building Fund Valentine Dinner held Feb. 20.

St. Louis school is raising money to pay for their latest building project, changing the living arrangements of their 60 residents from group sleeping quarters to seven cottages with only two boys to a bedroom, allowing for more privacy in a more home-like setting.

Fr. Germano, an amateur painter who has pursued his hobby since childhood, has enriched the school, not only financially, but visually, with his paintings. The dining room is decorated with 12 of his scenic murals. The front hall has two major religious paintings by Fr. Germano, several smaller ones, and a copper art frontpiece. Even the stage benefits from Fr. Germano's art with a hand-painted backdrop.

Fr. Germano has been learning about and producing art as long as he can remember. He was born and raised in Italy in a small town 30 miles from Venice called Thine. When he was in grammar school, he was always drawing. His teachers encouraged him, putting his pictures on the wall. As he got older, he won several first prizes in art.

When Fr. Germano graduated from high school, his teacher told his parents they should send him to art school, but he had already decided the vocation to be a priest.

While studying for the priesthood at the Milan seminary, Fr. Germano found he missed doing art and asked his religious brothers to buy him some oil paints. They obliged, but bought him a very inexpensive set.

Fr. Germano used his new oils to paint a picture of the Virgin Mary, but due to the consistency of the paint, the picture turned prematurely dark. To Fr. Germano's surprise, the picture was well-received, people praising its darkness as making it look antique.

Fr. Germano continued painting as a hobby, sometimes stopping for years at a time when his duties as a priest took all his time, but always taking it up again. He explained that it was "relaxing, especially in discouraging moments. Everything goes away—it's like therapy."

Fr. Germano's major inspiration has been his love of religious art. Growing up near Venice and performing his duties as a priest in different parts of Italy, Fr. Germano had ample opportunity to study the best examples of Renaissance art. While still a boy he was exposed to the works of Venetian artists such as Tintoretto and Paolo Veronese.

Fr. Germano was assigned to churches in Milan, Rome, and Bari, a town in southern Italy. Wherever he was posted, he would spend his day off traveling around the countryside studying the church architecture and the masterpieces of art inside. Living six years in Rome, he spent much time becoming familiar with the art at the Vatican, deciding his favorite artist was Michelangelo.

When Fr. Germano was sent to foreign capitals on church business he always managed to get away to visit museums such as the Prado in Madrid. He discovered that some of the greatest Italian works could only be viewed out of the country such as Leonardo da Vinci's Mona Lisa which is in the Louvre in Paris or Raphael's Madonna which is found in England.

When not visiting museums, Fr. Germano read all the books he could find on the Renaissance painters.

Fr. Germano came to the U.S. in 1961, responding to a call from the Detroit diocese under Cardinal Mooney to help with a school they were setting up for retarded boys to be called the St. Louis school. Fr. Germano's order, the Servants of Charity, sent him to the U.S. to direct the new school, which he did for 16 years. In 1976 he moved to Philadelphia, but returned to the St. Louis school as a religious superior in 1986.

Fr. Germano applied for American citizenship as soon as he could and has no plans to return to Italy, except to visit. He says of America, "I'm glad to be here. I like the U.S.—the people, their frankness, the liberty, the system. It's home."

Another step Fr. German had to take when he came to America was to acquire his special education certification, for which he enrolled at Eastern Michigan University. It was there that he had the belated, albeit limited, opportunity to formally study art.

Fr. Germano found he had one space for an elective, so he enrolled in an art class. He found it disappointing, in that it was more of a class on appreciation than on painting techniques, but he did paint two pictures which the class critiqued.

He also took a class on arts and crafts for teachers, in which a clay bust he made was so good that the teacher had trouble believing he made it. These two classes are the total extent of Fr. Germano's formal training.

Father Germano does most of his painting in a studio he set up in a deserted store room in the basement of the St. Louis school. It provides ample room for his easel and paint supplies, but does lack natural light.

Sometimes he gets ideas for his pictures from post cards or other drawings, but most of the time they spring from his imagination. The subject matter is usually either religious or a scene of Italy. The time he spends on the paintings also vary. Some he has worked on for years, others he does in a day.

Fr. Germano has no idea how many pictures he has painted. He does know that he had painted four major paintings, one of which is hanging in Philadelphia, another of the horn of plenty is in a restaurant in Ypsilanti, and two are in the St. Louis school's main hall—The Last Supper and the Pious Union of St. Joseph.

The painting of St. Joseph, which is 7 by 9 feet, is his most recent work. He started it in Philadelphia, but really worked in earnest on it for the last four months. The picture depicts the death of Joseph, patron saint of a holy and happy death, surrounded by the divine family, holy family, and a human family.

The motivation to complete the St. Joseph picture came from Fr. Germano's decision to start a crusade to

THE STAGE BACKDROP at the St. Louis School for Boys is another original painting by Fr. Germano. Using water color paints and very wide brushes, Fr. Germano was able to complete the project in just two days.

Zoning Inspector's Report Shows Busy Year for Area Construction

A total of $2,718,999 in building permits were issued for construction in the Village of Chelsea during 1987, according to a report by Zoning Inspector Rosemary Harook.

The largest of those projects was $615,000 for the renovation and restoration of the 14th district courthouse.

Harook's report indicated that 137 building permits were issued.

In addition, seven new businesses were started in the village, the same number as in 1986.

New home construction also reached a three-year high as eight homes were started, compared to five in 1986 and two in 1985. Three of those homes were started on Freer Rd., at the front of what is scheduled to become Belser Estates.

Harook issued 95 zoning compliances in 1987.

The village collected $10,400 in water and sewer tap-in fees for the eight new homes built.

In addition, the village collected rezoning application fees of $2,450 at $350 each. Four rezoning requests were approved, two denied and one withdrawn.

Thirteen variance applications were submitted at $75 each, for a total of $975. Ten of those were acted upon during 1987 and all but two were granted. One of the denials was to Robert Penskar, who has since sued the village. A May trial date has been set.

Finally, a total of $14,499 was collected for site plans and other matters that required review by the village planning commission.

Bulldogs!

Wrestlers Defeated By State's Top Team At Regional Tournament

Chelsea Bulldog varsity wrestlers finished their season last Wednesday, Feb. 24 with a 45-12 loss to Eaton Rapids at the regional tournament in Marshall.

Eaton Rapids, the top-ranked class B team in the state, later lost to Jackson County Western.

"I think the kids might have been a little afraid because they had heard so much about Eaton Rapids," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"But it was a good experience for us. It makes the younger kids tougher and helps them know what winning is all about."

The Bulldogs were paired with Eaton Rapids by the luck of the draw. Kargel said he had hoped to draw Perry, which was demolished by JCW.

"I think we could have beaten Perry," Kargel said.

"And when you win at this level it helps pick up momentum. We held our own with Western earlier this year and if we had won our first match we might have done better in the finals."

Chelsea had just three winners in the match, although several other contests were decided by a few points. Kargel said Eaton Rapids had a big edge in strength but that the Bulldogs were better technicians. Strength won out this time.

Alan Hanna, at 112 pounds, was Chelsea's first winner, taking a 7-4 decision over Jeff Griggs.

Pat Taylor, wrestling his first match since early in the season, took a 7-0 decision over Bob Coolidge at 119 pounds. Taylor has been out with a wrist injury for most of the season.

Doug Wingrove was Chelsea's final winner, at 138 pounds. Wingrove pinned Eric Palmer in 1:15. Palmer had beaten Wingrove earlier in the season.

Heavyweight Mike Taylor might have had the toughest match of the day. Don Whipp, the top-ranked 198 pounder, was moved to heavyweight and eventually pinned Taylor in 2:20.

"Mike wrestled a good match and even had Whipp on his back," Kargel said.

Bulldog Craig McCalla had the closest match of the day, losing a 3-2 decision to Jon Murton at 126 pounds.

Results of other matches follow.

98 pounds: Kelly Beard (C) lost a 15-0 decision to Rob Thompson.

105 pounds: Eric Hanna (C) lost an 8-2 decision to Chad Graham.

132 pounds: Robert Kornel (C) lost a 17-10 decision to Cash Peters.

145 pounds: Dean Sutherland (C) lost a 10-0 decision to Todd Benner.

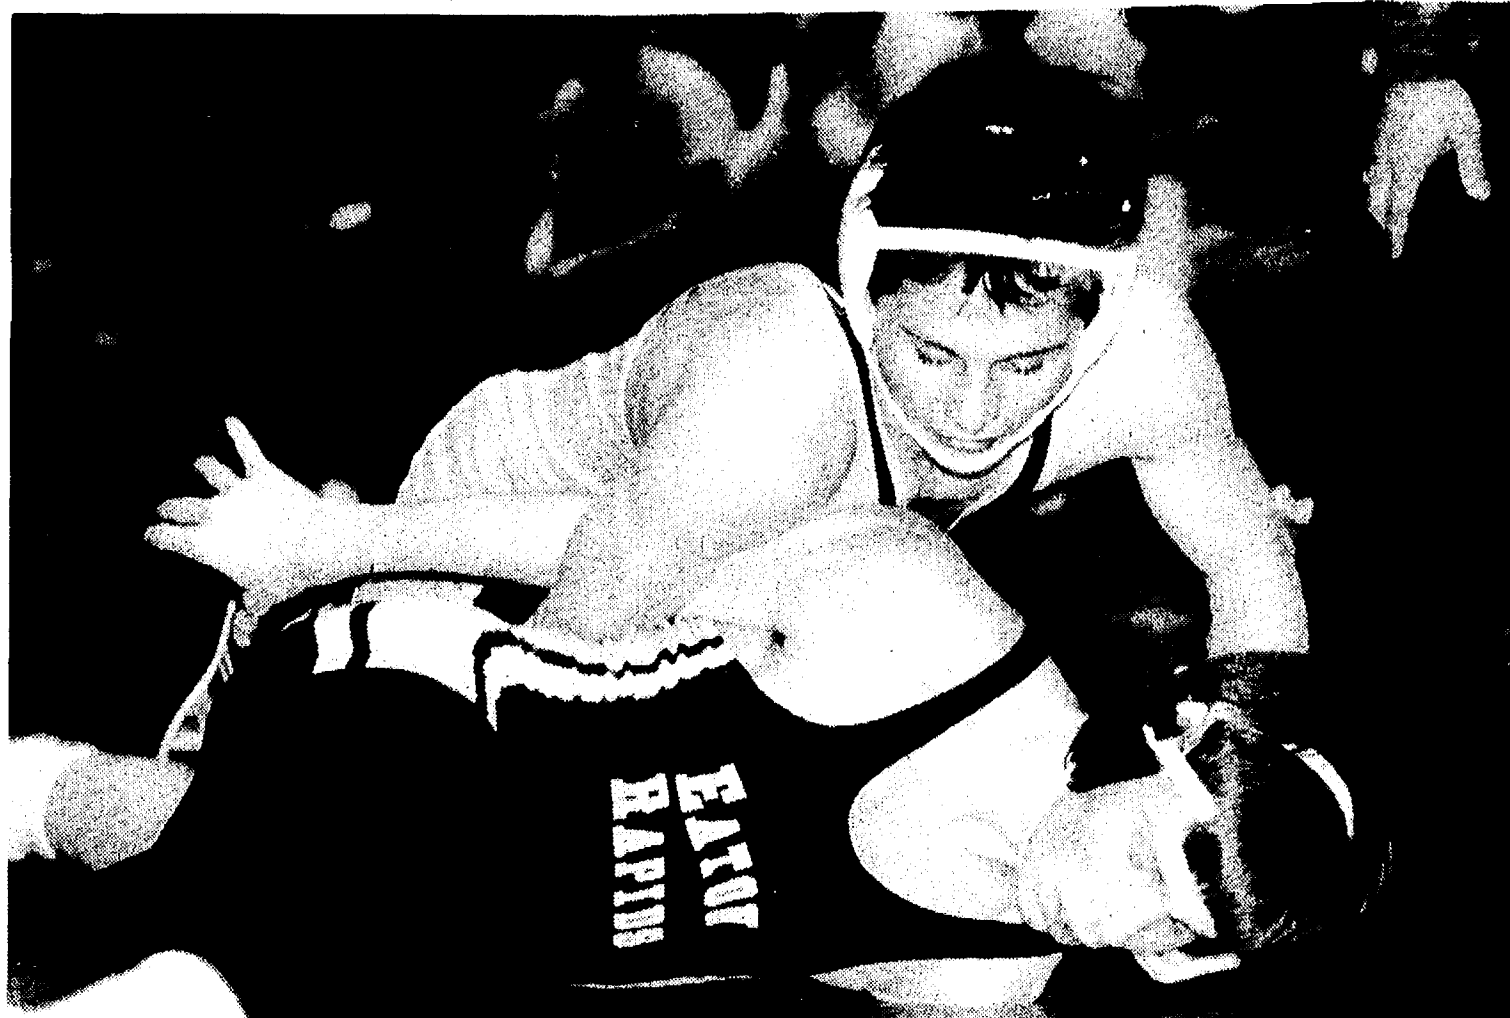

155 pounds: Gary Dosey (C) was pinned by Rod Frei in 5:16.

167 pounds: Bill Dixon (C) lost a 15-4 decision to Kyle Kares.

185 pounds: Tim VanSchoick (C) lost a 7-4 decision to Cory Worfield.

198 pounds: Todd Turkow (C) was pinned by Greg Salsburg in 1:33.

Chelsea finished the season with a 12-4 record in dual meets.

PAT TAYLOR returned to action for the Bulldogs for the first time since early in the season and recorded a 7-0 victory at the regional tournament last Wednesday. Unfortunately, the Bulldogs lost the match with Eaton Rapids and ended their season.

Pirates Tie for Title With Victory Over Dogs

Chelsea Bulldogs lost their final Southeastern Conference basketball game to the Pinckney Pirates at home last Friday night, 69-43.

Chelsea finished last in the conference with a 1-11 record. The Bulldogs finish the regular season this Friday night at home against Jackson County Western.

With the victory, Pinckney clinched at least a tie for the SEC title. Before the game they were deadlocked with the Tecumseh Indians, who lost their game with Dexter. Pinckney hosts the Indians the Friday.

Chelsea took an 8-4 lead in the early minutes of the game but by half-time trailed 29-21.

The Pirates took charge in the second half, scoring 40 unanswered points at the start of the half. T.W. Wylie, who scored 32 points for the night, led the charge with six of the 10.

On the other hand, Chelsea was 1-8 from the field in the third quarter as Tim Anderson scored six of the Bulldogs' seven points.

"They opened with a half-court zone defense and we did a nice job in the first three or four minutes," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"We had nice crisp passing and found the open man. Then they went to a man-to-man and forced us to do things with the ball with a man in our face and we had problems. If they had stayed in a zone the game probably would have been closer down the stretch. Over-all, I thought we played well. I told the kids after the game that it's disappointing to play fairly well and lose by 26 points. I was proud that they hung in there the entire game."

Pinckney's dominance was evident in two phases of the game, rebounding and shooting.

Pirate Rob Nemeth, the 6'4" senior center, and forward Steve Black, the 6'3" forward, dominated inside play as Pinckney won the battle of the boards, 37-22.

Chelsea was also out-shot from the field, 48 to 23 percent.

"Pinckney did a nice job of going to their strength," Raymond said.

"Wylie shot the ball well and had some nice penetration moves. And Nemeth and Black are good inside players."

Raymond praised the play of Anderson and Kevan Flanigan on the inside, and Junior Morseau from the outside. Morseau was Chelsea's leading scorer with 13 points and Anderson scored 12.

Rounding out the scoring for Chelsea were Flanigan, Chad Starkey and Jeff Marshall with four points each, John Collins, Larry Nix and Phil Thomson with two points each, and Greg Boughton with one point.

"We've got a shot at Western," Raymond said.

"They have a good center, who is as good as any of the big kids we've seen all year. Other than that I think we can play with them."

Chelsea finished last week's play with a 3-15 overall record. They were scheduled to play Michigan Center at home last night.

JV Spikers End Season

Chelsea's junior varsity volleyball team completed their season last week with losses to Tecumseh and Pinckney.

The Bulldogs took on the Indians last Monday, Feb. 22 in Tecumseh and played well against a team which has lost only once all season, according to coach Cheryl Vogel.

Chelsea lost in two games, 15-1 and 18-16.

"We had some nice plays at the net," said Vogel.

"Good blocking and spiking were shown by Lisa Park, Chris Tallman, Kate Dilworth, and Jennifer MacEachern."

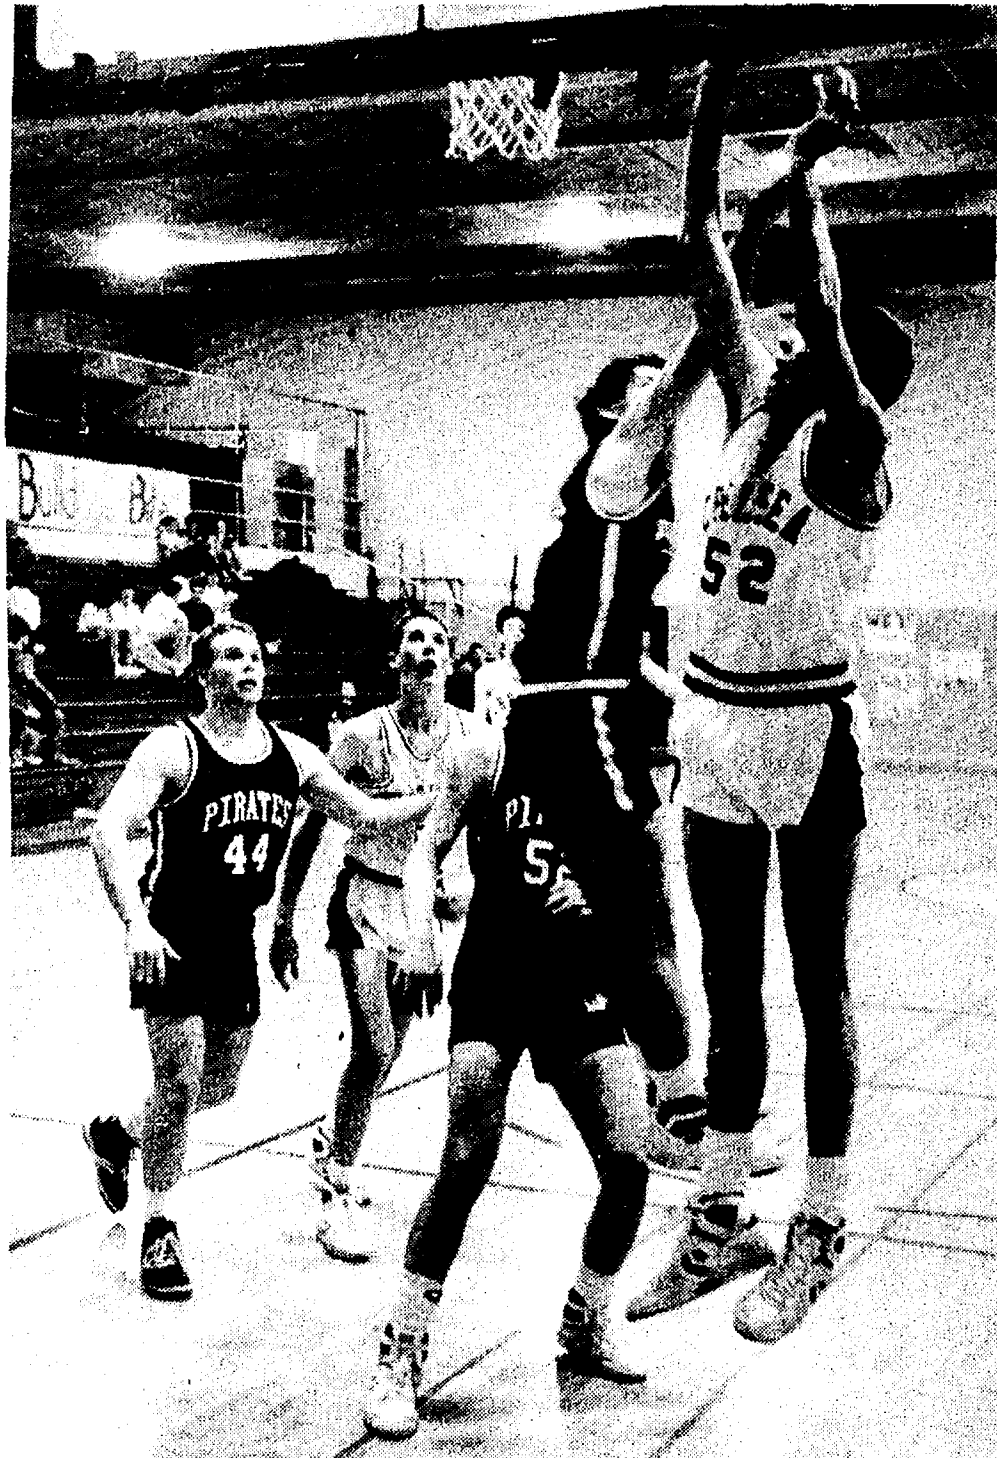

Top servers for Chelsea were Michelle Graflund and Barb Scriven with four points each, Park and Dilworth with three points each, and MacEachern with two points.

The JVs lost to Pinckney on Thursday, Feb. 25 in two games, 15-0 and 16-14.

In the first game Chelsea had trouble receiving the serve and Pinckney played good defense in general, Vogel said.

In the second game Chelsea rallied behind the serving of Scriven's seven points, four by Dilworth, two by Jill Nowatzke and one by Graflund.

Other players on this year's JV team included Heidi Boyer, Sheila Haab, Carol Hanke, Becky Harms, Amy Koenig, Joannie Marsh, and Jane Pacheco. Co-captains were Boyer and Nowatzke.

BRIAN BURG goes up for two of his 20 points against Pinckney last Friday. Chelsea lost the game by 12 points.

JV Cagers Rally But Lose Game to Pirates

After falling behind the Pinckney Pirates by 14 points in the early going, the Chelsea junior varsity cagers rallied to within three points early in the fourth quarter only to lose last Friday night's game, 70-58.

Kyle Plank's three-point jump shot closed the gap to 49-46 early in the final period. However, the league-leading Pirates scored two quick field goals to go back up by seven.

"When Kyle hit that shot I thought we were in charge," Dils said.

"But when you play a team as good as Pinckney and you make the comeback it seems like you just don't quite have enough to get over the hump. We kept battling but we couldn't quite make the play. If we played the whole game like we did the second half it would have been a different story."

Dils said he thought his team was a little too excited at the beginning, which kept the team from getting into its rhythm.

The Pirates had the superior shooting from the field, hitting 52 percent compared the Bulldogs' 38 percent. Chelsea also missed 13 free throws.

Brian Burg paced the Bulldogs with 20 points. Kyle Plank scored 11 points, Phil Eassa had nine, Kerry Plank had eight, Brandon Murrell had five, Sinisa Janicevic scored four and Chris Wilson had one point.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

The winter sports season is coming to a screeching halt.

Kerry Kargel's wrestling team fell to the state's top rated team, Eaton Rapids, last week in the team regionals. So much for the wrestling season. Unlike last year, no one is going to the state meet which is kind of ironic only because over-all the team probably had a better season in '87-'88.

The Bulldogs have a lot of youngsters on the team. Only Todd Thurkow and co-captains Gary Dosey and Robert Kornel will be gone next year.

Kargel said that when a young wrestler, or in this case a young team, reaches a regional or state meet, he often becomes a "tourist." In other words, he's so awed by the competition and the electric atmosphere that he forgets he's part of it himself and his concentration isn't what it should be.

Next year should be a different story. If the team stays together, if growing spurts don't put five promising wrestlers in the same weight class, and if the Bulldogs all wrestle to their potential, Chelsea could be one of the top two or three teams in the state. There are certainly a lot of ifs to overcome. But it is POSSIBLE. Most teams can't even say that.

The basketball team ends its regular season this Friday at home against Jackson County Western and heads into district play next week at Brooklyn Columbia Central.

Outside of the coaching staff, players and parents, there probably aren't too many people who would say the Bulldogs had a successful season. They were 1-11 in the Southeastern Conference and, as of this writing, 3-15 for the season.

Coach Robin Raymond knew coming in this wasn't going to be an easy year. He had a team with virtually no varsity experience and he found that some of his players, through no fault of their own, lacked basic basketball instincts that he expects of varsity players.

The Bulldogs were missing just about everything a successful team needs—height, experience, and shooting ability.

Fortunately, they didn't lack in good work habits and positive attitude. Many of the seniors haven't played much and it would have been easy to quit. The Dogs have played few close games yet even when they're 25 points down with two minutes to go they always look like they're still playing to win.

Next season will have a different ending. There'll be five players back—John Collins, Chad Starkey, Jeff Marshall, Junior Morseau and Larry Nix—with significant varsity experience. Kerry and Kyle Plank, along with Brian Burg, will be up from the JV and make an immediate contribution.

Burg, who might have the best chance of the three JVs of starting next year, can add one of the this year's missing elements; height. Of course, height alone won't do the trick. But Burg also has the aggressive inside game. Now, if he can just grow an inch or two.

Kyle Plank could add another missing ingredient—another dependable long-range bomber. He doesn't look like that kind of player, but he has made enough three-point shots to show that it isn't a fluke. He, Starkey and Morseau could give the Dogs quite a combination from the perimeter.

(There was momentary panic in the athletic community a couple of weeks ago when the Plank family had a "For Sale" sign on their home. Fortunately, they aren't going far.)

There should be heated competition for the other three or four varsity spots.

The volleyball team takes on Saline tomorrow in pre-district action at Saline. If they survive that round they'll move into district play at home. Chelsea is hosting the districts this Saturday.

The swim team has more than a dozen boys who've qualified for the state meet so their season is likely to last longer than any of the others. The state meet is March 11-12.

Going to the state are Kevin Brock, Von Acker, David Oesterle, Brett Paddock, Charlie Hosner, Lloyd Brown, Tyler Lewis, Terry Draper, Chris Birtles, Garth Girard, Matt Doon, Mark Luick and Wally Schmid.

Spring sports practices officially began this week. Pat Clarke will be taking the softball team to Tallahassee, Fla. Wayne Welton's baseball squad is also going to the sunshine state.

For the first time ever, Chelsea has a girls golf team. Loren Winn will be the coach.

Rahn Rosentreter returns to coach the boys tennis team. Bill Bainton and Ted Wilson will again coach the girls and boys track team.

It ought to be a busy spring at the high school.

Bulldog Spikers Face Saline In Pre-Districts Thursday

Chelsea's varsity volleyball team squares off against Southeastern Conference rival Saline in pre-district action tomorrow in Saline.

The Bulldogs have had a tough time with the Hornets in recent years and have not beaten them this season.

"I feel we are capable of beating them if we play well and with confidence," said Chelsea coach Karen Tobin.

Chelsea finished off the regular season last Thursday, Feb. 25 with a three-game win over Pinckney, 13-15, 15-12 and 15-13.

"This was a very back and forth match, a lot like the first match we had with Pinckney," Tobin said.

"It was a game of runs by each team and was probably the best we have played coming from behind. Our defense was playing well and we were moving and covering the floor better than we have all year. Pinckney was blocking well so we had trouble putting the ball away. We just kept going after them and were finally successful."

Ceia Murphy had 12 points with 12-17 serving. Chris Basso had 10 points with 14-15 serving and Meredith Hall had eight points with 14-14 serving. Mindy Ryan and Laura Walton each had five points and Sarah Schaeffer scored three.

Leading hitters were Laura Walton

(21-24, two kills), Sarah Schaeffer (18-20, two kills), and Murphy (three kills).

Scharme Petty and Jenny Pichlik both played well at the net and Stacy Norris did an excellent job in the back row defensively, Tobin said.

Hall was 46-46 in setting with four assists and Basso was 31-31 with four assists.

On Monday, Feb. 22 the Bulldogs played the state-ranked Tecumseh Indians and lost in two games, 10-15, 1-15. It was the fourth top-10 ranked team the Dogs have played this season.

Chelsea jumped out to a 6-0 lead in the first game.

"We received the serve well and were really moving well and covered the floor," Tobin said.

"I was happy with our effort because we did not give up and really stayed with it and capitalized on the mistakes that Tecumseh made."

Tobin said the team seemed to tense up in the second game and couldn't do much right.

Schaeffer had four points and was 7-7 serving. Ryan scored three points, Hall two points and Murphy and Basso one point each.

Chelsea dominated a match with the Lincoln Railsplitters on Friday,

Feb. 19, winning in two games 15-5 and 15-2.

"Mindy Ryan dominated the match with her serving," Tobin said.

"Lincoln had a lot of trouble with serve reception and were not moving well. We were able to put the ball away and take advantage of their mistakes."

Ryan scored 16 points with 18-19 serving. Walton scored five, Hall had four points, Basso and Murphy had two points each and Schaeffer scored one point.

On Thursday, Feb. 18 Chelsea lost to Dexter in three games, 3-15, 16-14 and 2-15.

"Dexter is a very good team and we played them fairly well," Tobin said.

"We just needed a little more consistency from one game to the next."

Hall scored 11 points with 17-17 serving. Walton scored five points, Schaeffer had three points and Ryan two points.

Chelsea hosts the district tournament this Saturday, whether or not the Bulldogs win their pre-district game with Saline tomorrow.

State Record Hog Sucker Fish Reported

A 16-inch, 1-pound, 14-ounce Northern Hog Sucker, taken from the Kalamazoo River in Allegan county, has been confirmed as a new state record fish—Michigan's fifth state record fish for 1987, reported Department of Natural Resources (DNR) personnel.

The record catch was landed by Larry Domnoske, 38, of Grand Rapids on Dec. 22. Domnoske was drift fishing for steelhead from the river using a spawn bag for bait when he caught the fish around 10 a.m.

Domnoske's catch surpasses the previous record set in 1982, a 15.5-inch, 1-pound, 13-ounce hog sucker taken from the Clinton River in Oakland county by Alan Wieling of Clarkston.

"As soon as I pulled the fish up from the water I knew I had a pretty good sized sucker on my line," said Domnoske, "and the DNR confirmed it later when I took it in to have it measured and weighed."

A State record certificate and a Michigan Master Angler patch will be awarded Domnoske by the DNR.

Joining Domnoske with State record fish caught in 1987 are:

—Ron Karasek, Michigan Center; 28-inch, 8-pound, 9-ounce pink salmon; Carp River/Mackinac county.

Chip Olsen, Escanaba; 24-inch, 6-pound, 11-ounce brook trout; Lake Michigan.

Martin Leach, Wyoming; 19-inch, 3-pound, 8-ounce white bass; Lake Macatawa/Oakland county.

—Richard Roth, Essexville; 36-inch, 4-pound, 1.2-ounce American eel; Saginaw Bay/Bay county.

There were 1,027 qualifying fish entries submitted in 1987 to Michigan's Master Angler Award Program, administered by the DNR, which recognizes anglers who catch fish meeting minimum weight requirements established under the program. This figure compares to four record fish caught in 1986 and 857 qualifying Master Angler entries submitted.

Bluebird Festival Set March 12-13 at Jackson

Dahlem Environmental Education Center in Jackson is sponsoring the fourth annual Bluebird Festival and Wildlife Art Show on March 12 and 13, on the campus of Jackson Community College.

The festival will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and from noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is $3.50 for adults and $2 for students 17 years and younger. A family pass is $10. All admissions are good for both days of the festival.

The event will provide a full weekend of day and evening activities including bluebird nest box building workshops, exhibits by conservation organizations, and guest speakers presenting informative and entertaining programs on various wildlife species, and concerts by song writer, naturalist and wilderness guide Douglas Wood.

Program titles this year include Return of the Michigan Pine Marten, Rehabilitating Injured Wildlife, Snakes of the Eastern U.S., The Plight of the Tropical Rain Forests, The Greater Sandhill Crane Story, Backyard Bird Behavior, Where Have All the Bluebirds Gone, The Buffalo Still Roam, and Legacy for a Lion.

In addition, a wildlife art show will feature some of the Midwest's best known wildlife artists who will display and sell their work throughout the festival. Paintings, carvings, and crafts of wildlife or nature will be included.

Saturday evening will feature a special fund raising ($25 per plate) "Banquet for Bluebirds" at 6:30 p.m. featuring the renowned wildlife photographer Betty Cottrill. Advanced reservations are necessary.

Also Saturday at 8 p.m. the Jackson Community College Department of Cultural Affairs will present the Detroit Symphony Chamber Orchestra, Salvatore Accardo conductor and violin soloist featuring music by Rossini, Mozart, Ravel and Prokofiev in the Potter Center Music Hall. Tickets are $15, $12.50, and $10. For advance reservations call 1-517-789-1600 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

Those who would like a schedule of events for the Bluebird Festival should write to the Dahlem Center at 7117 S. Jackson Rd., Jackson 49201; or call 1-517-782-3453.

TIM ANDERSON had one of his best games of the year for the Bulldogs in a losing effort against the Pinckney Pirates last Friday. Anderson scored 12 points and played well on the inside. Pinckney clinched a tie for the league title with the victory.

KEVAN FLANIGAN gets Pinckney forward Steve Black to leave his feet as he makes a move to the basket. The Bulldogs lost their final league game of the year to the Pirates.

Secrets of Driving When You're Drunk

Six common myths used to rationalize Drinking and Driving

1. "Two cups of coffee sobers me up." Wrong! Coffee—be it black, strong or straight out of the can—cannot rid your system of alcohol. It will just make you a nervous drunk.
 2. "Once I roll down the window, I'm okay." Sorry. No amount of fresh, chilly air can keep an inebriated driver sober. So you gain nothing by rolling down a window, turning on the air conditioning, driving a convertible or living in Alaska. (But, you may catch a cold.)
 3. "I'm bigger. I can handle my liquor better." Guess again! Big people don't necessarily make better drivers, better backgammon players, or better drinkers. The fact is after three to five drinks, most everyone under eight feet tall is legally drunk.
 4. "I always stay away from the hard stuff." Let's not try to kid ourselves; alcohol is alcohol! Behind the wheel, low calorie beer can be just as deadly as straight Scotch. The same holds true for all those slushy, sweet concoctions that are tropical delights!
 5. "All I have to do is splash myself with cold water." Splash all you want; you can even take a cold shower, but it won't sober you up. It is certain to make you cleaner, however, and hopefully, keep you off the road.
 6. "I just drive slower." Many people do, believing that they can actually compensate for their drunkenness by creeping along at 22 m.p.h. Others creep along at 80 m.p.h. The truth is, drunk drivers are unsafe at any speed.
- Coffee. Fresh air. Cold showers. No matter how invigorating, they cannot make you sober. Nothing can—except time—about an hour for every drink! No matter who you are, a few beers, a couple of glasses of wine or a half a shaker of weak martinis is all it takes to dim your vision, slow your reflexes and warp your judgment, and turn your automobile into a deadly weapon! So, if you really want to know how to drive when you're drunk, the answer is obvious: You don't! Stay in control of your life, you future—don't drink and drive!

DEXTER TOWNSHIP BOARD OF REVIEW

Notice is hereby given to all persons liable to assessment for taxes in the

TOWNSHIP OF DEXTER

County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan

That the assessment Roll of said Township as prepared by Ed Janicki, Township Assessor, will be reviewed by the Board of Review on Tuesday, March 8, 1988, 4:00 p.m., at

DEXTER TOWNSHIP HALL
6880 Dexter-Pinckney Rd., Dexter, MI.

Appeals and Conferences with taxpayers will be heard on MONDAY, MARCH 14, 1988
from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 1988
from 3:00 p.m. to 9:00

*THURSDAY, MARCH 24, 1988
from 2:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.
for those assessments changed, if needed at which time the Board of Review will be in session. Upon request of any person who is assessed on said tax roll or of his or her agent and upon sufficient cause being shown, said Board of Review will correct the assessment as to such property in such manner as will in their judgment make the valuation just and equal.

Such assessment tax Roll as reviewed and approved by said Board of Review will be the assessment Roll of said Township of Dexter for the year 1988.

Tentative ratios are: Agriculture 50.22, factor 0.9957; Commercial 48.16, factor 1.0383; Industrial 49.82, factor 1.0037; Residential 45.81, factor 1.0915.

A resident taxpayer may file his or her protest with the Board of Review by letter without an appearance by the taxpayer or his or her agent. A letter must be received by the first day of the Board of Review. (Monday, March 14, 1988.)

The Dexter Township Board of Review will hear appeals by appointment and taxpayers or their agents may set the appointment by calling 426-2598 Monday thru Wednesday a.m. only or Thursday and Friday 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and ask for Gail Drolett. Please call prior to March 10, 1988. Do not leave appointment request on the recorder. Thank you.

Consumers Resource Handbook Offered Free

Where do you turn for help when you have a question on how to get your dishwasher to work more efficiently, a concern about a purchase that's defective, a dispute with a remodeling contractor who isn't up to par, or a problem with a new car that nobody seems able to fix?

There is a brand new free publication that lists over 2,000 names and addresses of organizations to help you find answers to your questions and straighten out your consumer woes. It's the Consumer's Resource Handbook, published by the United States Office of Consumer Affairs in cooperation with 20 other federal agencies. The Handbook tells you how to handle a complaint and who to contact, including more than 700 corporate consumer offices plus Better Business Bureaus, trade associations, state and local government consumer offices and many other specialized offices at the federal, state and local level. And in the new 96-page, 1988 edition there is an expanded index that makes finding the information you need easier than ever. For your free copy of the Consumer's Resource Handbook, send your name and address to Resource Handbook, Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

If you have a question on how to operate your product or improve its performance, you may call or write the manufacturer. Most major companies have customer relations departments—many with toll-free numbers—that should be able to find the answers to your questions. If you don't have the company's address or phone number, check the many listings in the Handbook or call your local public library.

When you do have a problem, the Handbook provides a step-by-step guide for solving it. The first thing you need to do is figure out what happened, when and where, what you have done to try and fix it, and what kind of settlement would make you happy. Do you want your money back, your product repaired, or will an exchange do? It helps to write these details down, so you can give a clear account of the problem.

Then you need to gather all the paperwork regarding your complaint. Find and make copies of all the receipts, warranties, cancelled checks, repair orders, or contracts. They will help back up your complaint. Be sure to keep your original documents.

The next step is to go back where you made your purchase. Talk to the person who sold you the item or performed the service and calmly explain the problem and what you would like done to fix it. If that person is not helpful, ask for a supervisor or manager and repeat your complaint. Be sure to allow each person you contact enough time to fix your problem before you turn somewhere else for assistance. Most consumer complaints are resolved on this level, and chances are yours will be too.

If you are not satisfied with the response, don't give up. If you are dealing with a national company or brand, write a letter to the national office explaining your problems and what you have done, include copies (never originals) of all documentation and be sure to include your return address and a daytime telephone number.

And if all else fails there are organizations listed in the Handbook that mediate disputes between consumers and retailers or manufacturers. The Handbook also tells you when it would be best to get in touch with your state and local consumer protection office or with an office of the federal government.

For your free copy of the Consumer's Resource Handbook, send your name and address to Resource Handbook, Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. At the same time, you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog, Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U. S. General Service Administration, the Catalog lists more than 200 other free and moderately priced federal booklets on a wide variety of subjects.

Lyndon Township Board Proceedings

Lyndon Township Board Meeting
Minutes, February 24, 1988

Board worked on Proposed budget for 1988-1989.

Moved and carried to reduce General Contingency by $4,000.00 and increase Acquisition of Equipment by $4,000.00.

Coash expressed concern of increased number of junk cars within our township. Coash to create a notice to put in the paper regarding this matter.

It was suggested that we require an 18-month bond instead of a 12-month bond for trailers.

Sheriff's, Constable's, and Treasurer's reports presented.

Moved and carried to pay bills totaling $8,080.81.

Correspondence and other business presented.

Moved and carried to adjourn.
Linda L. Wade, Clerk.

Farm Prices

Rose in January

Higher prices for cattle, hogs, broilers and eggs led January farm prices to a 2.4% increase over December, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Average prices for the month were 7.4% higher than they were in January of 1987, the USDA reported.

Beef cattle prices were $2.90 per hundredweight higher in January than in December while calf prices rose $3.10 per cwt. for the month. Poultry and egg prices were 3.1% higher than the previous month. Vegetable prices were 5.6% higher in January than the previous month.

Turkey prices slipped lower for the month and dairy went down slightly with milk averaging 10 cents per cwt. lower than in December.

Schneider Trio In Concert at Free Methodist Church

The Schneider Trio will be sharing in a sacred concert on Sunday, March 6 at 6 p.m. at the Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7665 Werkner Rd. The Schneider Trio, a local group, consists of Rob, his sister, Robin, and their cousin, Melanie. Prior to forming the trio, Rob and Robin sang together for many years. Melanie traveled and sang with a group called ARC, and Rob traveled and sang with the Toney Brothers. The Schneider Trio sings a wide variety of Gospel music from the old hymns of the church to the more upbeat southern Gospel songs. Everyone is welcome. A nursery will be provided. For further information, call (313) 475-1391.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Editor, Better Investing Magazine

Q. Six years ago I bought shares in Hospital Corporation of America at $44. My broker said it was one of the greatest growth companies in the country. It did go up to $56 after I bought it, but that was in 1983. Since then it has been mostly on the down side. In fact it recently has sold at $28 to $29. My broker still says it is a good company but I would like your opinion.

A. Hospital Corporation of America has been very well managed. The problem is in the industry. As you might be aware, the hospital industry has been in trouble two ways. One is due to the fact that the government has been cutting back on what it pays for the costs of medicare patients. The other is the fact that hospital occupancy has been decreasing and costs are thus spread over a smaller number of patients.

Analysts are projecting good earnings for Hospital Corporation of America. From roughly $3.10 in 1987, Standard and Poor's is estimating 1988 earnings at $4.20 a share. Value Line says earnings per share could hit $6 a share by 1990-92. The price of the stock was doing well until the October stock sell-off. It had been up to $50, but then came down to $23 7/8. It recovered to above $30, but recently has been back to $28-29.

The company sold off 104 acute care hospitals and over 40 medical office buildings. These were sold to a new company, HealthTrust, which was formed by employees of HCA. The sale of these units produced $1.64 billion in cash. The profit on the transaction was $1 1/2 billion. Of that, $600 million was used to buy back the company's stock and the balance was used to reduce debt. In addition to the cash it received from the sale, Hospital Corporation received $260 million in HealthTrust Class A 14.5% preferred stock and $200 million of Class B 12.5% preferred plus warrants to buy 34.3% of the company's common stock.

Hospital Corporation still owns 82 general acute care hospitals, 49 psychiatric hospitals and manages over 222 facilities in the United States. Overseas it manages an additional 15 units and owns 33 hospitals.

While Value Line classifies the industry as number 79 out of 92 industries for probable performance over the next 12 months. It really looks like the worst is over and we should see better earnings and a better stock price in the years ahead. The company looks like a real bargain at a price under $30. Additional purchases in that area could lower your cost and improve your profit opportunities.

Village Joins Group Dealing With Toxic Site

Chelsea Village Council voted to spend $200 in order for the village to join a group that is working to deal with a toxic waste problem in Missouri.

The village first got involved in the issue last year after it sent a PCB-contaminated transformer to a toxic waste disposal company. The company, Rose Chemical, went out of business after it was discovered the operation had caused contamination problems. The Environmental Protection Agency is trying to get someone to clean up the mess and the village is worried that they will go after everyone who ever dumped anything at the site.

Clean Sites, Inc., a group of companies who sent toxic waste to the company, is working to address the problems, assistant village manager Lee Fahrner told the council.

Parents, Swimmers Seek To Revitalize Aquatic Club

Swimmers and parents of swimmers have embarked on a program of revitalization for the Chelsea Aquatic Club. The goals are to restore recreational, educational and competitive activities of earlier years while seeking new levels of accomplishment in the 1990's.

In a Monday night meeting a week ago at Beach school approximately 40 members met for vigorous discussion of team conference standings, updated records of individual and team performances, pool personnel, finances, information and public relations. Other discussions centered around family swims, adult lessons, water exercise classes, pool maintenance, and better scoring in the summer league.

Some questions were directed at team morale and esprit de corps.

The meeting began in the LGI room of the Beach school under the co-leadership of Ron Montagne and Mike Cross. Also on the leadership panel were Larry Reed, athletic director of the school district, and Darcy Stielstra, principal of Beach Middle school.

After some introductory remarks, Montagne called for a retrospective commentary by Reed who, in addition to his duties as athletic director, also retains the title of pool director. He relinquished his position as swimming coach two years ago but continued as pool director, a position he has held since 1976.

In addition to his coaching duties, Reed was the originator of numerous community-related swimming activities, including the aquatic club as well as swimming contracts with other school districts and interscholastic arrangements. When he assumed the duties of athletic director, involving many sports and overall responsibility for 40 athletic teams, there was the inevitable dilution of his relationships with swimming pool parents, aquatic club members and other people involved in community affairs.

Reed was willing to discuss these changes as best he could. It soon became apparent, however, that the problems facing Reed and the entire panel were too numerous and complex to solve in one evening. The issues needed to be divided into specialized tasks. A consensus was reached among the participants to seek solutions by means of five committees.

A reorganization committee was formed to delve into the relationship between the aquatic club, the pool staff and the school administration. This group will also review matters of policy and update the CAC handbook. Members will be Montagne, Cross, Reed, John Anderson, Dorothy Boughton and Larry Vosters.

The finance committee will consist of Alan Fischer, Fred Mills, assistant superintendent of the school district, Rich Schiller and Pat McVittie.

And interim committee was established by the Chelsea Aquatic Club to develop a slate of officers for 1988. Members will be Berna Street, Pat McVittie and Nancy Dymond.

The community program objectives committee will be composed of Christa Fischer, Marie Colombo, Janet Alford, Jackie Rogers and Will Connelly.

Another meeting of the group as a whole has been tentatively scheduled for March 7.

TWO NEW SCOREBOARDS have been installed at the Chelsea High school gym thanks to donations from Kiwanis Club of Chelsea, Chelsea Athletic Boosters, VFW Post No. 4076, Chelsea Rotary Club, Chelsea Lions Club, and Chelsea Post of the American Legion. The new boards have several new features. Unlike the old boards they may be used independently for wrestling meets. In addition they can keep track of player and team fouls.

CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS donated more than $5,000 toward the purchase of new scoreboards for the Chelsea gym. The scoreboards were dedicated at half-time ceremonies of last Friday's Pinckney game. From left are Jim Knott, co-ordinator of the fundraising effort, Gary Speer of VFW Post No. 4076, John Williams of the Chelsea Rotary Club, Emmie Niethammer of the Chelsea Athletic

American Legion Second District Association Meets March 13

The American Legion Second District Association will hold its spring meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday, March 13, at the Dundee Veterans Club.

Hosting the meeting will be the Harry W. Bamm American Legion Post 72.

District Commander Dallas Turley will receive reports on the status of programs from the chairmen of committees ranging from Americanism to Un-Americanism, including American Legion baseball, Veterans Affairs and Rehabilitation, Veterans Administration Volunteer Service and the annual Oratorical Contest, featuring topics concerned with the United States Constitution.

Commander Turley stated early this week, "The Second District leads all districts in Michigan with membership exceeding 100 percent of its annual quota."

Members of the Second District will be awarded the William Morrison trophy for being the first district in Michigan to achieve its membership goal.

The Second District Association includes 32 posts located in Jackson, Lenawee, Monroe and Washtenaw counties.

It has a total membership which exceeds 5,300, of a 50,000 veteran population in those counties.

All veterans are invited to attend the March 13 meeting of the Second District Association as guests of the American Legion.

Any questions concerning the meeting may be asked of Iver Schmidt at Dexter, 426-4055, or Dallas Turley, commander of the Second District.

Commercial Vehicle Driver's Licensing Rules Hit Farmers

A new law establishing minimum standards for state testing and licensing of commercial motor vehicle driver's licensing will have a substantial impact on agriculture, according to Bob Craig, manager of Michigan Farm Bureau's Commodity Activities and Research Department.

The new law permits the Federal Highway Administration to lower the gross vehicle weight rating (GVWR) threshold for commercial drivers from 26,001 pounds to 10,001 pounds.

"Such a move would automatically require all farmers who operate a vehicle over 10,001 pounds to acquire a commercial driver's license," Craig said. "By lowering the threshold to 10,001 pounds, more agricultural producers will be affected because most operate medium trucks in their day-to-day business. These vehicles are most often used to transport fuel, fertilizer and agricultural products. The hauls are short and generally do not involve travel on interstate highways."

The Federal Highway Administration has asked for comments from farmers concerning the new law.

WRITE-IN CANDIDATE FOR CHELSEA VILLAGE PRESIDENT

EVE KATHLEEN
"TRINKLE" WHEELER

I am announcing my candidacy for Chelsea Village President. I would appreciate it if you would write-in my name, EVE KATHLEEN WHEELER for the office of Village President on your Ballot, Monday, March 14, 1988. I have been a resident of this area my entire life.

I am the daughter of Clarence and Louise Trinkle and graduated from Chelsea High school. I am married to Emerson (Skip) A. Wheeler. Our home is a 121 Lincoln St., Chelsea. We have a son who is now living in this area where he grew up after receiving an Honorable Discharge from the U. S. Army with 3 1/2 years service overseas.

This is the first time I have run for a public office.

Over the years I have held many responsible positions on a volunteer basis—as a housewife with hobbies, and holding responsible positions in the community and county Social Services. I feel QUALIFIED to serve you as President of the Village of Chelsea.

I will appreciate your write-in vote.

Pinckney Community Ed Plans Open House

A community-wide open house will be held on Wednesday, March 9 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Pinckney Community Complex. Sponsored by the Pinckney Community Education Central Advisory Council, the open house will feature a variety of activities, events, and informational displays and demonstrations, and will allow people to register for the spring session of Pinckney Community Education classes.

Among the activities planned are free family swimming, cartoon shorts in the theatre, the Hamburg Township Athletic Association Soccer Sign-up, and the Pinckney Athletic Association Baseball Sign-up. Free blood pressure tests will be offered through McPherson Hospital, and diet information will be available through Chelsea Hospital personnel. The Livingston County Ambulance service will have an ambulance on display, with various emergency equipment also available. Representative Susan Grimes-Munsell is also scheduled to attend.

In addition to these activities and events, approximately 40 informational booths featuring various community resources will be available for browsing in the Community Complex Gym. Some of the community resources participating include numerous boys and girls scout troops, the Pinckney schools PTO's, the Livingston County Literacy Council, the Livingston County Food Bank, IACASA, the American Red Cross, the Livingston County Health Department, SARA, the American Business Women's Association, the League of Women Voters, and the Howell Melon Patch Quilt Guild.

Bridge Replacement Announcement Is Good News to Farmers

The Michigan Department of Transportation has announced that 36 critically deficient bridges, most of them located on county roads, will be replaced during the 1988-89 fiscal year. That's good news for rural motorists, but it's a repair schedule far less ambitious than the one for 1987, according to Michigan Farm Bureau's senior legislative counsel, Robert E. Smith.

"Federal funds pay about 80% of the cost of the bridge repair," Smith said. "The remaining 20% is split—15% from the state and 5% from local units of government. This past year, however, the federal budget was cut 30% for this purpose.

"In comparison, for 1987-88, there were 105 bridges scheduled to be repaired or replaced, and about 40 others that are in various stages of construction," he said.

Smith said that while some local units of government are prosperous enough to cover the cutback in federal funds, others can barely pay the 5% cost share.

Mayor of Fermilab Site Urges Support for SSC

The winner of the highly sought-after Superconducting Super Collider (SSC) likely will see benefits similar to those her town experienced with the coming of Fermilab, says Mayor Vivian Lund of Warrenville, Ill.

Lund addressed an audience of Stockbridge-area citizens Feb. 24, even though she is a strong proponent of her state's efforts to secure the 53-mile accelerator.

"My husband and I own a summer home near Manistee, so I've been saying yes to Michigan for many years," she said.

It is important for everyone to understand the necessity of the SSC being built, whether in Michigan, Illinois or one of the other five competing states, Lund said.

When Fermilab was being proposed in her area 25 years ago, there were concerns about possible radiation and environmental impacts, she said.

"None of those negative impacts have materialized, but many positive impacts have," she said.

Benefits from Fermilab, a four-mile accelerator, include increased recreational and cultural opportunities open to all residents, as well as improved educational opportunities, she said.

Fermilab sponsors "Saturday School" science workshops for children, visits to public schools and summer seminars for high school science teachers.

Along with Mayor Lund, Fermilab business manager Jim Finks discussed the economic benefits the facility provides.

Positive impacts resulting from Fermilab include 2,100 permanent jobs and additional contract employment for local trades people, as well as the purchase of a variety of goods and services from local merchants, Finks said.

Because the SSC will be the largest scientific instrument ever built, Lund said the benefits from it will be even greater.

Michigan's proposed SSC site near Stockbridge would create about 10,000 jobs during the construction period and 3,000 permanent jobs for scientists and support staff.

Jason M. Gehringer On Carrier Returning From Western Pacific

Navy Seaman Apprentice Jason M. Gehringer, son of Michael E. and Jacqueline K. Gehringer of 10877 North Territorial Rd., Dexter, recently returned from a five and one-half month deployment to the Western Pacific and Indian Ocean aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ranger, homeported in San Diego, Calif.

The deployment ended the USS Ranger's 18th deployment to the Western Pacific where Gehringer participated in supporting U. S. Navy operations. He also visited the Subic Bay, Republic of the Philippines; Singapore; Hong Kong; and Pattava Beach, Thailand.

A 1985 graduate of Dexter High school, he joined the Navy in January 1987.

Chelsea Day in Florida Receives Rave Reviews

Chelsea Day in Florida was celebrated on Feb. 13 with great success. According to one of the participants, Eulalee Packard, "Everyone really and truly enjoyed themselves."

More than 128 people came from all sections of Florida and even from Alabama. Some were former Chelsea residents who had permanently moved to Florida, while others were Chelsea people vacationing in Florida. According to Packard, Chelsea Day in Florida was organized about 15 years ago by former Chelsea residents who wanted a chance to visit with people still living in Chelsea.

The event was held at the Hudson Community Building, Hudson is near Port Ritchie where organizers Laurence and Laureta Boyer live. People began arriving at 10:30 a.m. At 12:30 a pot-luck dinner was served.

After dinner a short business meeting was conducted by Chelsea Day president Walter Bolonowski of Spring Hill. It was voted to have a Chelsea Day next year, "same time, same place." A collection was taken to help meet expenses.

Entertainment was provided by a female impersonator. Last year's organizers had decided to offer a program so that people would not eat and run. According to Packard, people stayed this year until 4 p.m.

More than 100 cards had been sent out by the Boyers, assisted by Rose McGibney, to tell people of Chelsea Day. Information was also transmitted by word of mouth, or "round robin" as Packard put it, and also by notices in the newspaper.

A large contingent of those participating were relatives of Packard. Besides the fact that organizer Laurence Boyer is her brother, it turned out that her son, Capt. Gary Boyer, Jr., was in Orlando with his family participating in a national bowling tournament and was able to attend.

Humane Society Sponsors Animal Photo Contest

Humane Society of Huron Valley is once again holding its annual "Animals in Photography Photo Contest." This year the contest is being sponsored by Fuji Film and Discount One Hour Photo. The entries will be judged by Karl R. Sams, II, professional wildlife photographer and members of the Ann Arbor Camera Club.

Grand prizes include a 35mm Ricoh YF-20 camera and a pair of Minolta binoculars to be awarded in the novice and advance categories. The first 200 entries will receive a coupon good for a free roll of Fuji Film, plus $2 off photo processing at Discount One Hour Photo. Entry deadline is May 20.

According to the society's director of education, Michelle Creek, the contest's aim is to promote animals as artistic subjects and foster an appreciation for them as individuals while recognizing talented local photographers.

The principal subject of the photo must be an animal or animals, but people may also appear in the photo. The photos will be judged on photographic quality, composition, and how successfully the photo captures the animal's nature, individual personality, or its particular beauty.

Ribbons and certificates donated by local camera and frame shops will be awarded as prizes in the following photo categories:

Pets: Black and white

Pets: Color

Other animals: Black and white

Other animals: Color

The category of other animals includes wildlife, zoo, insects and farm animals. The above categories fall under three separate groups: advance, novice and under 16 years old.

All entries must be the personal and original work of the entrant. No snapshots, please.

An entry fee of $2 per photo is requested. All photos must be accompanied by an entry form and be received by the Humane Society no later than Friday, May 20. All photos become the property of the Humane Society of Huron Valley and will not be returned, but may be used in various publicity and educational activities. Whenever possible, a photo credit line will appear.

For additional information or entry forms, please call the Education Department at 662-5545.

Boyce Chiropractic Center Expands Into Gerontology

Boyce Chiropractic Center announces the expansion of its services to include counseling in the areas of gerontology and mid-life crisis. The program is led by Virginia Boyce, who earned her Master of Public Health degree from the University of Michigan, with a specialty in Health Gerontology and a Certificate in Aging from the Institute of Gerontology.

Ms. Boyce is the former director of the Child and Family Service Adult Day Care Center in Ann Arbor. She has worked extensively in the areas of chronic illness and psychosocial issues affecting the second half of life.

Ms. Boyce will be offering classes through local community education programs. Individual counseling will be available at the Chiropractic Center in Dexter.

For further information, please call Boyce Chiropractic Center at 426-4140.

Most farmworkers do not have to be paid time and one-half when they work more than 40 hours a week. However, they must be paid at least the minimum wage for all hours worked, according to a fact sheet of the U. S. Department of Labor. The federal minimum wage is $3.35 an hour.

The U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor-Management Relations and Co-operative Programs conducted or co-sponsored 52 conferences and symposia in which labor and management representatives learned about the potential of co-operative activities to increase productivity, efficiency and quality during the 1986 fiscal year.

United Way Board Elects New Officers

Chelsea United Way Board elected new officers and board members for 1988 at their January meeting.

Barbara Rose was elected president. She was the 1987 campaign chairperson. She is an independent business consultant for Corporate Communications and is a three-year Chelsea resident.

Tom Huetteman, plant manager for Dana Corp., was elected vice-president. Tom was chairperson of the 1987 nominating committee and was also a member of the budget and allocations committee.

Sue Craig was re-elected secretary. She chaired the public relations committee as well in 1987. She is a teacher at Beach Middle school.

Dave Prohaska was re-elected finance chairperson. He is employed with the Washtenaw Development Council.

Retiring from three-year terms on the board were Barbara Pruess, Bill Marsh, Jay Parisho, Mike Smith, Lois Emmert, Joanne Rowe and Cathy Kimball.

Newly elected members of the board are Mike Sweet, Blake Thompson, Joan Wolf, Dorothy Lenz, Carol Brock, Jan Knott, and Kathy Gunderson.

Pat Kubany is the 1988 campaign chair. Ed GreenLeaf will co-chair.

About 1,350 Local Veterans' Employment Representatives help assure that Job Service offices and staff provide priority services to veterans in employment and training programs. They do this through supervisory activities and co-operative efforts with staff of local state employment service offices, now known as Job Service offices, according to the Labor Department's annual report for fiscal year 1986.

Dexter, Manchester Participating In Mayor's Exchange Day

Two area communities, Dexter and Manchester, have decided to participate in mayor's exchange day on Monday, May 23, as part of the 35th annual Michigan Week celebrations.

Dexter has been paired with Edmore, while Manchester will visit with Casnovia. The exchanges are determined by drawing names. Sponsors of the event, the Greater Michigan Foundation, stated that this year approximately 200 mayors and village presidents will exchange places.

Reserving space for superplants: Researchers are cultivating super strains of lettuce, wheat, potatoes, and other common plants, which may one day feed the first colonist in space. So far, they've increased crop yields, cut the growing season for wheat in half and produced mature leaf lettuce in as few as 19 days. According to National Wildlife magazine, the U.S. should be capable of putting a food-growing module into space by the year 2000.
